Auto crash kills one, two hurt

A two-car crash at the intersection of FM 700 and Virginia streets at 11:30 a.m. today killed a man and injured two seriously.

Archie B. Hodges, an elderly retired man who resided at 907 E. 15th, was dead on arrival at Malone-Hogan Hospital. His car was headed south on Virginia, crossing FM 700.

A second vehicle contained Mrs. Faye Conrad Walker and her teenage daughter, Teri. This vehicle was headed east on FM 700 when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Walker, believed by investigating law officers to have been driving the vehicle, was thrown out of the car and was lying on the south side of FM 700 when officers arrived.

She and Hodges were rushed immediately to the hospital. Miss Walker was pinned in the car and released by law officers and ambulance attendants who rushed her to the hospital in a second ambulance.

Teri was suffering a fractured left leg, a possible pelvic fracture and had severe facial lacerations. Mrs. Walker's injuries were unknown as press time, but believed to be serious.

Jimmy Wallace, investigating patrolman at the scene, was in the emergency room of the hospital at tempting to obtain additional information on the crash at press time.

The Hodges vehicle caught on fire and the Walker vehicle spilled gasoline out on the highway. A firetruck was sent to the scene, and quickly extinguished the fire.

Services for Hodges are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Civil rights leaders fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leaders say they will fight a Ford administration proposal that would force an end to court-ordered busing after five years in some cities.

"We are against that," said Clarence Mitchell, head of the Washington office of the NAACP.

"There is no reasonable basis for any such limitation," said Joseph Rauh, chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

In interviews Wednesday, they discussed their objections to the plan. Atty. Gen. Edward Levi had outlined at a news conference earlier in the day.

Sex-related arrest covered up by Feds?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Louisiana congressman was apprehended by vice squad agents who said he tried to solicit a woman police decoy for sex early this year, it was reported today. The report said federal officials suppressed records of the incident.

However, another report apparently referring to the same incident, said no charge was made because members of Congress are provided by the Constitution with immunity from arrest for misdemeanors while Congress is in session except for breaches of the peace.

The New York Post said it learned from unnamed sources that the cover-up of the incident involving Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, D-La., reached to the top levels of the Washington, D.C., police department and into the U.S. attorney's office.

A written report of the incident is known to exist, the Post said. That report, it's sources said, went to top police officials and to the office of U.S. Atty. Earl Silbert. The newspaper said Silbert denied knowledge of any such incident or of a cover-up and promised to investigate. It said Washington Police Chief Maurice J. Cullinane was unavailable for comment and that an aide had no comment.

There was no immediate response

WAGGONER REPORT — The New York Post reported today that Rep. Joe Waggoner, D-La., shown in a file photo, was apprehended by vice squad agents who said he tried to solicit a woman police decoy for sex early this year in Washington. The report said federal officials suppressed records of the incident.

from Waggoner, Silbert or Cullinane to the Post story.

However, the Washington Star said Wednesday it had learned a congressman was taken into custody last winter by police who said he solicited a policewoman disguised as a prostitute. The Star did not name the congressman.

The Star said the incident occurred last February. It said the congressman was freed with profuse apologies and that there is no record of his apprehension, "not a shred of paper bearing his name or any details of the incident."

"Apparently it was all legal," the Star said. "The congressman was released under provisions of the U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 6 — a little-known passage that Washington police officers memorize in rookie school and are encouraged, not to forget."

That section of the Constitution says: "The senators and representatives shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same..."

The reports came after a Washington attorney sued Rep. Wayne L. Hays and Elizabeth Ray under a 19th century law allowing damage suits against persons who make false claims against the government.

Miss Ray has accused Hays, a ranking House Democrat, of placing her on the government payroll at $14,000 a year solely to be his mistress. Hays has denied Miss Ray's claim that she did not congressional work in return for the salary.

TRAGIC SCENE — Police work to free Teri Walker. Teri's mother, Mrs. Faye Walker, was injured seriously trapped in the wreckage of a two-vehicle accident at 11:30 a.m. today. Archie B. Hodges was killed in the wreck and Virginia streets.

Moslem group believed to have killed envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials believe a Moslem fringe group murdered Ambassador Francis E. Meloy Jr. and another American diplomat in Beirut to provoke U.S. intervention in the Lebanese civil war.

American sources commented on the situation prior to an announcement in Beirut that a number of persons had been arrested in connection with Wednesday's slayings of Meloy, economic counselor Robert O. Waring and their Lebanese driver, Zohair Moghrabi.

According to Beirut police sources, Al Fatah Palestinian guerrillas arrested five members of the Lebanese Socialist Revolutionary Organization, an urban guerrilla group. A statement issued by the Palestinians and their leftist Lebanese Moslem allies said that "investigation of those responsible for the crime is under way."

President Ford said Wednesday that U.S. policy in the Middle East "must remain unchanged." He said "all appropriate resources of the United States" will be used to find the killers.

He also ordered the State Department to ask Middle East nations and some of the Lebanese factions to help find the killers.

The U.S. officials say the killers probably hoped to spark a violent American reaction that would then result in the splintered Moslem and Lebanese leftists solidifying against "imperialist interference."

There is no indication that the United States will follow that course. Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Wednesday they will continue efforts to find a solution to the civil war between the Moslem and Christian Lebanese.

"The United States will not be deterred from its search for peace by these murders," Ford told reporters in an emotion-laden voice in the White House briefing room Wednesday afternoon.

Kissinger, Ford went on, has been ordered "to continue our intensive efforts" to solve the Lebanese crisis.

Freeman's defense wins inquiry recess

An investigation into allegations of misconduct by Maj. Harold Freeman at Webb Air Force Base was recessed until Tuesday afternoon.

The investigating officer made the decision at the request of the defense Wednesday afternoon.

The Air Force is investigating allegations made about the activities of Freeman while he was stationed on base in the Philippine Islands.

Freeman and his wife face trial in Howard County's 118th District Court for family sex crimes said to have happened in their Sand Springs home.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: What killed them?

Q. Two years ago, the City of Big Spring began to spray for mosquitoes, and the spray killed the wisteria and the mimosa trees in my back yard without seeming to hurt the mosquitoes at all. This year, the city sprayed and killed the wisteria in my front yard. The mosquitoes are still fat and healthy. Why does this spray kill trees? Do we know what we're doing?

A. City Manager Harry Nagel, a veteran of Action-reaction answers, said, "Everytime we spray someone complains that we killed a tree somewhere, but," he added, "something else killed his tree. Our spray does not kill trees."

The bull did damage to one city patrol unit and one private vehicle that left the scene. The bull was last seen running down 11th place extension and Midway Road.

Best bet on TV: Art Carney

'Americans by choice'

U.S. is last hope for freedom

By MARJ CARPENTER

"I sat in a movie in Big Spring and cried when I watched a newsreel showing my uncle, who had been hung by Hitler."

This statement was made by George von Hassell of Big Spring, who was born in New York City and taken back to Germany when he was one year old. That made him an American citizen until he would reach maturity.

His grandparents had fled the Kaiser in 1917 and come to America. His great-grandfather was Grand

EDITOR'S NOTE: Most of us are Americans by chance. We live in this country because we were born here. But there are many Americans who came here by choice. In this series of stories, a special Bicentennial feature of the Big Spring Herald, these "Americans by choice" tell their stories and give their reasons why they have chosen to become Americans.

Admiral von Tirpitz and the Kaiser was not fond of families in the aristocracy.

So, the grandparents fled to New York. The parents eventually came to join them and were in banking in New York. Then the Great Depression hit. They were out of work and decided to go back and take their chances in Germany.

Nothing got better because the family was caught up in the Hitler regime. The Big Spring citizen, who now works both for the state hospital and part time for St. Paul's Lutheran Church, recalls that things got really tough in Germany.

"We were hungry. We ate lots of cabbage soup. It did something to me. I still have a fear that we are going to run out of food and I buy things ahead. I have a feeling of panic and want to stock up," von Hassell recalls.

When he got a chance, he fled out of Germany and came back. "More than anything in the world, I wanted to retain my American citizenship, which I had obtained through birth," he states.

When he got back in the states, he joined the Air Force and was stationed in Big Spring. He and his wife, Rose, were attending a sneak preview at the Ritz Theatre one night.

Von Hassell's uncle, who was on the German general staff, had been in on the plot to kill Hitler in 1943 when a bomb was placed in a briefcase near Hitler.

"Either the briefcase was moved, or Hitler moved at the conference table, because the bomb went off and injured the dictator, but failed to kill him," von Hassell relates.

"Hitler then had the entire group involved in the plot hung and also killed many members of their families. It was this uncle that I saw hanging there in the newsreel," he continued.

"My aunt was sent to Buchenwald Concentration Camp along with two of her daughters. One of the girls died there. Their four grandchildren were taken from them and put up for adoption. We have never contacted those cousins again," he said quietly.

"Do you really need to ask why I came back to America?" von Hassell continued. "I had already given up on Germany and come home to America. But if I had any inclination to go back, that news preview finished me off. The victims were strung up on meat hooks and hung with piano wire. They were revived and hung again. I was a young airman then and I sat in that theater with tears streaming down my face," his recollections continued.

The von Hassells, with their three children, have lived in some tough parts of the United States. They were HAPPY IN AMERICA — George von Hassell was born in America, but went back to Germany when one year old. He came back to America during the Hitler regime before he lost his citizenship by birth.

Shaw playing major role in Demo posts selections

By TROY BRYANT
Delano Shaw, national Jimmy Carter delegate from Big Spring, was in the middle of a pre-convention battle in Houston today over which Texans sit on the Democratic National Committee (DNC).
Shaw, his brother Larry Shaw and James Baird, three of 16 Howard County delegates arrived in Houston Wednesday night and have been "politicking" since.
They along with Marguerite Snyder, Baird, District 30 committeewoman and Charles Stenholm, Stamford, District 30 committeeman, expect this weekend's State Democratic Convention in Houston to be "Harmonious."

THE CONVENTION will convene at 6 p.m. Friday for the first session and will reconvene on Saturday at 11 a.m. Both sessions will be held at the Sam Houston Coliseum.
The Howard County delegation will be headquartered at the Sheraton-Houston Hotel, downtown.
Shaw, Mrs. Snyder and Stenholm agreed that the biggest struggle will be triggered by the election of seven Texans to the DNC.
Mrs. Snyder said District 30 "definitely will have a candidate" for one of the committee posts. She refused to identify the candidate or the post.

It is expected the apportionment of the 32 at-large national delegates "will be governed largely by the sign-in" (presidential preference poll) and the slates filled by state candidates' campaign organizations," Shaw said.
BILLIE CARR of Houston, an uncommitted delegate to the convention is trying to piece together an uncommitted slate of delegates to the national convention.
The national committeewoman said in a letter to delegates that "Jimmy Carter is a cinch to win" but uncommitted delegates should vote uncommitted anyway.

She said that Carter delegates would be subject to a screening committee's decisions and he will be interested in "stroking" the political leadership of the state.
"Delegates elected by the Carter group will more than likely be people like Dolph Briscoe, Mark White, John White, John Hill and Bob Armstrong, etc." She added, "The uncommitted caucus is the only group where delegates will be picked in a completely democratic process."

Rosenbaum claims

State lawmaker helps Eagle, Chaparral fly

By JOHN EDWARDS
Why did the Texas Aeronautics Commission (TAC) Wednesday deny Trans Regional an application to provide commercial air service to several other Texas cities and grant approval to two other airlines?
Louis Rosenbaum, president of Trans Regional, in a telephone interview today noted a state representative was the attorney for one of the two airlines seeking the routes.
State Rep. Lynn Nabers,

Brownwood, represented Eagle Commuter Airlines, Brownwood, in the firm's bid for an air carrier certificate.
"Eagle and Chaparral (Airlines, Abilene) worked hand in hand," Rosenbaum explained.
"I rendered my decision based on the information in the recommendation," John Soule, general counsel for the TAC, said. "It had absolutely nothing to do with the question of who represented whom."
Don Nobles, an attorney representing Trans Regional, was a former law school professor of his, Soule said.
The TAC adopted the recommendation Soule made concerning which airlines got the flights and why.
"Eagle and Chaparral exhibited much stronger support in the respective communities than did Trans Regional," Soule said. The TAC attorney explained that, while Trans Regional had Big Spring support, the cities to be served by the Big Spring airline favored the other firms.
"I don't have anything disparaging to say about Trans Regional at all," Soule said.

Financial ability was one of the reasons cited in the recommendation.
The attorney for Trans Regional "has done the best he could to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," C. G. Whitten, attorney for Chaparral told the TAC Wednesday. But Whitten called the Big Spring's airlines financial makeup inadequate.
"If I didn't have sufficient finances - I'm a businessman - I wouldn't go into the business," Rosenbaum, a wealthy El Paso entrepreneur said. Airline service is "not a kid's game," Rosenbaum added.
"Our financial figures are better than some of the others," Rosenbaum said.

Nobles suggested Trans Regional might seek a rehearing, but Rosenbaum today said his attorney had not conferred with him about the TAC decision.
The TAC denied the Trans Regional bid to provide air passenger service from Abilene and Brownwood and seven other Texas cities.
Chaparral Airlines, Inc., of Abilene was given permission to provide two nonstop round trip flights per day between Abilene and Austin, Houston (Tobey Airport), Lubbock and Midland-Odessa.
Chaparral plans to utilize a twin-engine Piper Navajo Chieftan, which carries eight passengers and a crew of two.
Eagle was authorized to fly three round trips daily between Brownwood and the Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport. Eagle plans to use twin-engine Cessna 402 aircraft, which also carry eight passengers and a crew of two.
In other action, the commission:
-Approved granting $93,000 in state funds to improve airports at Carthage, Eastland and Wharton.
-Voted to cancel a certificate authorizing Metroflight Airlines to provide air service to several points in the Dallas metropolitan area, because Metroflight had failed to begin service after obtaining a certificate to do so.

Police beat Mom shot, unborn child survives

An apparent suicide attempt victim is in satisfactory condition today, and the unborn child she is carrying was unaffected by the bullet which entered the woman's abdomen, according to a hospital spokesman.
At 4:35 p.m. Wednesday, Officer Raymond Hall was called to a residence on the west side of town in reference to an apparent attempted suicide.
Hall found a 23-year-old woman lying in the bedroom of her home on the floor next to the bed. She was approximately nine-months pregnant and was suffering from a gunshot wound to the stomach, just above the navel.
A small caliber pistol was found by the door, next to the woman's head.
Alert Ambulance personnel rushed the victim to Malone-Hogan Hospital, where spokesmen there report that the woman is "doing good" and the "heart tones of the unborn baby are also good."

Big Spring firemen were called to the scene of a house fire yesterday at 9:10 a.m.
The minor blaze at 707 Settles was caused by a cushion being left on a floor furnace. A spokesman at the fire department said that the unseasonably low temperature (approximately 55 degrees) caused the furnace to "kick on," which resulted in the fire.
Damage to the house and contents was minor.
A child called police Wednesday to report a burglary in progress at 3702 Hatch. Officer Frank Costabile arrived at the scene, contacted the subjects and determined that the people were just moving into the residence.
Sgt. Melvin Daratt investigated the theft from the auto of Garland Coulter, 6 June Cove. A Cobra No. 138 CB radio was taken from his car as it was parked at the Deep Rock Service Station at 200 N. Gregg.
The thief used the man's tools to take the radio.
Roy Thornton, 1602 A Virginia, reported a case of criminal mischief being perpetrated on his vehicle. He reported to officer James Nettles that persons unknown broke the windshield out of his car as it was parked in front of his house.

Total damage was placed at $190.
In another case of criminal mischief, Officer Tony Chavez took a report from W. F. Harrold at the Jet Drive-In that vandals unknown broke the plate glass door to the snack bar.
Damage was estimated at $100. Entry was not gained.
In a final case of criminal mischief, thugs threw a rock through the window and screen of the Nursing Inn, 801 Goliad.
Officer H. W. Kloss advised that total damage had not been estimated at this time.
Officer Jimmy Wallace was kept busy again Wednesday investigating a number of minor accidents.

At the corner of 18th and Gregg, Wallace probed the results of a three-car collision involving Cindy F. Day, Box 226, Forsan, Peggy L. Newton, Rt. 1, Box 199, and Eligio Alcantar, 819 W. 6th.
Wallace also arrived at the scene of a fender-bender in the 100 block of E. 4th, involving Michael McDonald, 201 Benton, and a parked vehicle belonging to J. W. Parmley Jr., 1314 Wood.
In another incident, Wallace cleared a hit and run accident which occurred at the city dump ground. A local man was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.
Officer Jimmie Hensley investigated a wreck in the 200 block of S. Main involving cars driven by James Dierzen, 511 W. Troy, Houston, and Cynthia Hopper, Rt. 1, Knott.

Sterling City shooting suspect free on bail

STERLING CITY - Jessie Amador, 17, is in jail charged with attempted murder, after he was arrested in Laramie Wednesday night by Sterling County Sheriff Jim Cantrell and State Trooper Bob Brown.
Amador's bond has been set by a peace justice at $20,000. He was arrested approximately three hours after he wounded Manuel Lujan, 31, in a shooting in the southwest part of Sterling City.
Amador was reported to have poked a shotgun out the window of his vehicle, fired and struck Lujan in the back. Lujan was visiting in the front yard of the Moses Rodriguez residence.

Immediately after Lujan was hit, Rodriguez was said to have grabbed a .38 caliber pistol and attempted to fire at the fleeing Amador.
Rodriguez' father jumped in and attempted to keep his son from firing the pistol. In the scuffle, the gun went off and Rodriguez was shot in the leg.
Law officials said that an apparent feud had developed in recent weeks between Rodriguez, Amador and their friends. Amador fled from Sterling City in a 1974 maroon and white Buick Regal and headed out of the city on US 87 north.

Revenues, expenses of CRMWD spiraling

Both revenues and expenses for the Colorado River Municipal Water District are up for the first months of the year. Part of the revenue increase is through sale of 406,000,000 additional gallons of water for the period over 1975, also from a rate increase to generate more funds for increased debt service.

Through May, revenues amounted to $1,467,012, from sale of water to cities, up $259,000; $887,842 from sales to oil companies, up $120,000; $32,862 from recreational facilities, up $5,000; miscellaneous $7,268, up $1,000; a total of $2,394,986, up $385,000.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of heroin is being smuggled into this country from Mexico, much of it in "guns-for-dope" swaps, says Atty. Gen. John Hill.

American art to be bought

NEW YORK (AP) — The Whitney Museum of American Art has received a grant of $250,000 for the purchase of works by living American artists.

He said he flew to Monterrey, Mexico, Tuesday to meet with Salvador del Toro Rosales, special attorney general for the border states of Nuevo Leon, Tamaulipas and Coahuila. Hill called del Toro "almost a folk hero" and the "Elliot Ness" of Mexico.

Plans were made for more effort on the Mexican side to capture these guns. They realize they have not made a maximum effort to get these guns," Hill said.

Asked if he would give Mexican officials the names of revolutionaries that he might learn from Texas sources, Hill said, "Yes, I would."

Would this constitute meddling in the political affairs of another country? "Well, it would have that effect," Hill said, "but that's not by responsibility... I wouldn't regard it as an impediment to my doing my duty" to enforce Texas narcotics laws.

More goes than ever before... because the Mexican government is finally showing some initiative because they are so worried about these guns. They have identified about 10 revolutionary groups," he said.

Highland parade hurrah

with Marj Carpenter

The Highland South Parade is a traditional part of Big Spring's Fourth of July. It started about five years ago when Paula Thorp, wife of a local physician who later moved to Wharton, decided it would be a good idea.

held on Sunday afternoon, due to morning church services. The exact hour will be announced later. The speeches have been good each year, the punch refreshing and the firetruck a success.

their tricycles. Winners receive good old American silver dollars. Dogs bark and everybody has a good time. Nobody gets bent out of shape if they don't win. They all know they are the prettiest anyway. It's a great event.

So, the very first parade was on the morning of the Fourth of July. Paula had wangled the city firetruck which became part of the tradition. The children decorated their tricycles and bicycles and lawnmowers and golf carts and wended their way down the street. Cookies and cold drinks were served at the end of the parade.

Chinese cuisine big in small Texas town

Formerly the American Cafe, the site is now Lee's Chinese Garden. Although some people who have been around Big Spring a long time still call it by its previous name, there is no mistake that the cuisine has changed.

The restaurant, owned and managed by Porchi Visapatana, serves an exquisite variety of Northern Chinese fare, from the well-known chow mein to Shrimp in Lobster Sauce which features uncommonly large shrimps.

According to Porchi, many of the ingredients used in the restaurant must be brought in from San Francisco, although it is possible to purchase them in Chinese markets located in larger Texas cities.

Porchi, a native of China, has lived in the United States

PORCHI VISAPATANA for six years, three of those spent overseeing his restaurant here. He does some of the cooking himself, he said, and his specialty is the spicy South China curries.

Mom haunted by death of twin

DEAR ABBY: This problem is driving me crazy, and I've got to get to the bottom of it to have some peace of mind.

I was married at 17 and had a pair of twin girls at 18. I've been married now for 34 years, but I still have a big question nagging at me.

I gave birth to the twins in a New York City hospital, which I still live near. My doctor didn't know I was going to have twins until I was giving birth. After one baby came, thinking it was all over, I heard the doctor say, "Wait, there's another one coming!" (I was conscious the whole time.)

I said, "I don't want it!" The doctor calmed me by saying, "Don't worry, I'll take it."

Abby, I really think that doctor gave my second baby away. I saw both babies alive and crying at birth, but the next day I was told the second baby had died. We never were given a birth certificate or a death certificate, and neither my husband nor I ever saw the "dead" baby.

A few weeks ago, someone told me that my baby never died, and I can still look into the matter. I really think she's alive. The doctor is probably dead by now, but I know his name. Would the hospital still have those records? Would they let me see them? Do I need a lawyer? Don't tell me to forget it, I have to know.

I promise not to hurt anyone or sue the hospital.

J.M. IN NYC

DEAR J.M.: You say you "gave birth to twins" some 34 years ago and now you want to know what happened to the second baby? A lawyer could help you search the records and take affidavits from any person present at the event.

But another question hangs in the air: Why did you wait for so long? (P.S. If you can establish the fact that you had twins, and no birth or death certificate was ever filed, the hospital is vulnerable to serious action.)

DEAR ABBY: A lady signed TEETH ON MY HANDS wrote that she had six sets of dentures from deceased relatives and didn't know what to do with them.

You should tell her to drop them off at the local undertaker's. In my home town, it was a common practice for the bums and others of lesser means to stop by the back door and "try on for size" the used choppers.

TRAVELIN' MAN

DEAR MAN: Recycled dentures? You're puttin' me on!

DEAR ABBY: I never cease to be amazed at some of the letters you get, and no less so at some of your answers. Any woman who would stretch herself out on the couch, stark naked, to "surprise" her husband when he came home from work must be crazy.

If I ever pulled a stunt like that, my husband would have kicked me out of the door and thrown my clothes out after me, and that would have been the end of our marriage!

Malone-Hogan program lends career experience

Some of Big Spring's teenage girls, in an effort to scout out a nursing career and contribute in the community, have become part of a new pilot program at Malone-Hogan Hospital, "Candystripers."

The girls range in age from 14-18 and number 16 now. "We kept getting calls from kids in the area, at first wanting experience in home-making projects," said Emily Ward, director of public relations at Malone-Hogan.

Last year, she said, there was just too much to do to plan a volunteer program. But the Candystripers did get off the ground this year, and "the girls are loving it," she said.

Positions are filled by Cathy Birdwell, Dianna Garcia, Pat Hamilton, Marie Gilbert, Joni Jones, Irene Little, Terry Sharp, Peggy Newton, Paige Little, Jeana Miller, LaVoy Moore, Suzanne Orr, Katie Reynolds, Leigh Reynolds, Dolores Tercero and Sandy Kuykendall.

The program, which is chaired by Kate Irons, employs a system of complete supervision. Each floor's chief nurse is responsible for direct supervision and the girls are placed each week by Ms. Ward.

The supervision includes job orientation and on-the-job training.

Services are performed by the trainees in recovery, radiology, patient floors and by doing the little "extras" that mean so much to both patients and visitors.

Although the girls training are not allowed to perform nursing duties as such, they can set up tray equipment in the patient's room, pick up the trays, fill water pitchers and visit with the patients. These are the valuable services needed in a hospital that the registered nurse often does not have time to perform during a busy day.

The young girls also have a chance to observe, both in recovery and in surgery. They can run errands for different departments, said Ms. Ward, for example if an X ray needs to be run down to the radiologist. Right now there are five in surgery.

"They (the girls) work here and get a chance to see what a hospital is really like. They also see if they really want this kind of career. Some are happy just to bring flowers and visit, but some of the girls are really sincere about the work," she said.

The girls work about 1 1/2 days a week. "I don't want to overwork any of them so that they would get tired," said Ms. Ward.

Ms. Ward praised the program, both in terms of experience for the girls and in benefits to the hospital. "This is part of the idea of what volunteers can do for hospitals."

Journalism school grads continue to find jobs

PRINCETON, N. J. — Journalism school graduates continued in 1975 to find new jobs. Most were hired within the first month after graduation.

The Newspaper Fund's 1975 employment report found that 60.4 per cent of the journalism graduates entered media jobs. Of those who found work, 52.4 per cent needed less than one month to be hired.

The fund projects that there were about 2,500 journalism graduates hired by daily newspapers in 1975. Nearly seven of every 10 graduates who prepared for news careers by majoring in a news-editorial sequence found daily or weekly newspaper jobs. The study showed that 7.7 per cent of the 1975 graduates were unemployed.

Daily newspaper work continued to attract the largest percentage (16.8 per cent) of the graduates, with public relations attracting the next largest percentage (10.9 per cent). Weekly newspapers attracted 6.4 per cent, and 6.0 per cent went to radio stations.

Salaries for those in the media were mostly above the $140 per week level, with 18.0 per cent of the media workers earning salaries of more than $200 per week.

Police hunt most wanted

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Police searched today for a man whom ambulance attendants have identified as James Ray Renton, 38, of St. Louis. He is sought in the killing of an Arkansas law officer.

Renton has been on the FBI's "10 most wanted" list for about two months.

The FBI entered the case after attendants told sheriff's deputies a man hurt in an auto accident pulled a pistol on them and demanded to be released. The two attendants later identified the man as Renton.

FBI agent Fred Lee said Renton is believed to have suffered internal injuries when his car rolled over, but no doctor has reported treating him.

Renton is 5-8 and weighs about 150 pounds. He has reddish-brown hair and blue eyes, with the right eye discolored.

The median salary for graduates in daily newspaper work is $141-$150 per week, while the median salary is $151-$160 per week for all graduates in media jobs.

Males comprised 57.8 per cent of the J-graduates; females comprised 42.2 per cent. Minorities made up 5.9 per cent of the Class of 1975.

Most journalism graduates took one of the three major sequences of study in college; 42.1 per cent were news-editorial majors; 17.4 per cent majored in broadcasting and 13.0 per cent majored in advertising. An additional 9.9 per cent majored in public relations and 9.0 per cent were general mass communications majors.

Of the total number of grads who found media work, 91.2 per cent needed less than six months; 33.3 per cent had their jobs before graduation; 19.1 per cent needed less than one month; 24.5 per cent used less than three months; and 14.3 per cent used less than six months. The remaining 8.8 per cent spent more than six months, but less than one year looking for media work.

Of those in media jobs, 60.0 per cent said their present job was their first media job; 40.0 per cent said it was not their first media job, indicating a high degree of mobility among the 1975 graduates.

Those in non-media work were involved in the following areas: sales (5.8 per cent); secretarial (2.7 per cent); management (3.7 per cent); graduate school (4.4 per cent); and law school (2.0 per cent). The other grads were involved in non-media work, but no single area had significant numbers.

A total of 548 graduates responded to the fund's

Venezuelan oil takeover continues

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela nationalized its huge, mostly U.S.-operated oil industry a little more than six months ago, but the industry still depends heavily on multinational companies. Government leaders say the takeover process is far from complete.

"As long as the present structure of refining is not changed, as long as we do not handle the marketing of our oil, as long as we are incapable of producing much of our own technology, we will not have completed the nationalization process," says the nation's president, Carlos Andres Perez.

Long-term plans already are in effect or under study to remedy those problems and to increase the nation's reserves, which now total some 18 billion barrels.

Despite the work still to be done, President Perez said recently that his government is "very satisfied" with progress made since the Jan. 1 takeover affecting about 30 foreign companies, whose local subsidiaries were nationalized and renamed.

Venezuela's center-left government took over the vast industry at the stroke of midnight on Jan. 1 and agreed to pay the private firms more than $1 billion in compensation in return for concessions involving more than 11,000 producing oil wells on some 5.5 million acres of land.

Replacing the private firms were 14 so-called state operating companies which function under Petroleos de Venezuela S.A., a state holding company. The new state operators largely preserved the administrative and operational procedure of their private predecessors.

The new state operators include Lagoven, formerly Exxon's Creole Petroleum

Corp. and the country's largest producer, Maraven, formerly owned by Royal Dutch Shell and the No. 2 producer, and Llanoven, previously owned by Mobil.

"It probably will prove advantageous to reduce the number from 14," said Rvvard, pointing out that there may be only six or seven operators in the not-too-distant future.

Gasoline pipeline blast kills two

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Their hair and clothes on fire, dozens of people streamed into the street after thousands of gallons of gasoline gushing from a ruptured pipeline ignited.

The holocaust turned a busy West Los Angeles business district into an inferno Wednesday and left at least two persons dead. Twenty-six others were hospitalized, at least eight in critical condition.

Investigators said the gasoline exploded when street construction crews pierced a Standard Oil Co. pipeline leading from a refinery to a distribution terminal. Bill Wofford, a spokesman for the Los Angeles Fire Department, said he understood a construction map for the street project showed there was a pipeline beneath the area.

"There was no reason for them not to know there was a pipeline there," Wofford said.

Hours before the gasoline blaze, a fire at a swimming pool supply company in suburban Van Nuys spewed toxic fumes over a wide area, forcing evacuation of 5,000 people from their homes and hospitalization of 63 persons.

URW rejects deal, strike drags on

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. proposal to increase wages in exchange for work rule changes that would increase productivity has been rejected by the United Rubber Workers.

The rejection maintained the no-progress status of the bargaining in the 59-day-old strike of about 60,000 URW workers against the industry's Big Four companies.

Another 1,100 employees of the Mansfield Tire & Rubber Co. will decide probably on Friday whether they want to continue their strike. They walked off their jobs after their contract expired at midnight Tuesday.

The Mansfield company, about 75 miles south of here, said it would reconsider its May decision to keep the plant open. The company previously had threatened to shut down the plant as un-competitive but then decided rising production warranted keeping it open.

Mansfield officials said they would pay the wage set in national rubber contract talks only if productivity improved.

The same issue of productivity was raised this week in contract talks between the URW and Firestone, the target company chosen for an industrywide settlement.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich and Uniroyal, Inc. also have been struck since April 21.

On Tuesday Firestone offered to add 10 cents to its offer of an additional $1.15 an hour over three years if the union accepted five major work-rule changes. Firestone said the work rule changes would improve productivity and thus keep Firestone competitive with smaller, nonunion companies. But the URW rejected the proposal, saying that the changes would remove wage protection the union had won over the years.

The proposal called for specifying break times that now largely are discretionary within a work shift. It also set production quotas for some workers who have none and set speeds for measured day work.

In addition, the proposal called for changing the system by which piece-work rates are translated into individual earnings averages used to determine certain pay and benefit levels. A fifth point dealt with employee absenteeism.

The URW is still sticking to its demand of a 42 per cent increase in its package of wages and benefits that averages $9.05 an hour, with wages making up about $5.50.

Mrs. LBJ to participate in special Arbor event

LUBBOCK — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and representatives of five foreign nations will participate in a special arbor ceremony at the formal opening of Texas Tech University's Ranching Heritage Center July 2.

The wife of the late President Johnson will deliver the dedicatory remarks at the opening. She also will plant a pecan tree in the area of the center representing the Texas hill country.

The Ranching Heritage Center of the Museum of Texas Tech University includes more than a score of buildings brought from the earliest ranches and authentically restored at the 12-acre site. Landscaping at the location of each building emphasizes plants indigenous to its original location.

Participating with Mrs. Johnson will be Dr. Jose Juan de Olloqui, the ambassador of Mexico, and the consuls general of four other countries, each represented at the center for its contribution to America's ranching past. In addition to Mexico, Britain, France, West Germany and Spain will be represented.

Prof. Emeritus Ego Urbanovsky, former chairman of Texas Tech's department of park administration, landscape architecture and horticulture, is coordinator for the ceremony.

The Mexican ambassador will plant a maguay, or century plant, at the Picket and Sotol House. Roy Fox, consul general of Great Britain, will plant a walnut tree at the Matador Office. Consul General Louis Vorms of France will plant grapes at El Capote Cabin. Dr. H. W. Bornemann, the consul general of West Germany, will plant a pine tree at the Hedwigs Hill double log cabin, and Erik I. Martel, of Spain, will plant an oak in the Spanish compound. Each of the foreign guests is stationed in Houston.

The house of picket and sotol construction shows an adaptation from Indian building methods used by the earliest settlers in the Southwest. Developing the skills necessary both for cattle and sheep and goat raising, the Spanish and Mexicans who began ranching in the American West passed the method along to later settlers.

Stalks of sotol, a yucca-like plant, are used for walls and the roof was thatched with a coarse sacahuiste grass. The Ranching Heritage Center house came from Crockett County in western Texas.

The Matador office building came from the Matador Land and Cattle Company, owned by Scottish stockholders. When the foreign owners visited their vast American holdings, they stayed in what cowboys called the "Scotsmen's Dive." This building, constructed in 1880, became the Matador Office and was moved to the center and restored.

The one-room El Capote log cabin was built to serve a Revolutionary War captain who came to America to serve with Lafayette and stayed to become one of the early western ranchers. He was Jose de la Baume oldest son of the Count de la Baume of Avignon, France. The cabin served as a shelter for a century, from the 1830s to the 1930s. It was brought from the banks of the Guadalupe River to the center.

Hedwigs Hill from Mason County was built about 1853 and inhabited first by early German immigrants who came to Texas, lured by promises of easy wealth and rugged enough to carve out a hard-won frontier life. The cabin served as home, travelers' station, store and post office.

The Spanish were the first to bring livestock and start ranching operations in the New World. Although not yet at the Ranching Heritage Center, there is to be a Spanish blockhouse representing ranchers of the 1700s. It is at the site for this ranch house that Consul General Martel will plant a maguay as a memorial to the "granaderos" who began traditions still in evidence on western rangelands.

The arbor ceremony will take place at 4:30 p.m., July 2, and formal dedication of the Ranching Heritage Center is scheduled for 6 p.m. that day, after the Texas Tech Bicentennial Trail Drive from San Antonio to Lubbock arrives at the site.

All events at the opening are free except chuck wagon meals and a Harley Sadler tent show, recreated by the Texas Tech University Theater. For reservations and information call AC 806: 742-1125.

The interpretive program for the Ranching Heritage Center was made possible by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities Washington, D. C.

NURSES INDICTED — Leonora Perez, left, and Filipiana Narciso leave courthouse in South Bend, Ind., following their appearance last April 26. The two nurses were indicted Wednesday for the murder of five persons and the poisoning of ten others at the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich.

VA nurses indicted in patient murders

DETROIT (AP) — "It doesn't make sense. They've got too much to lose," said a fellow nurse of Filipiana Narciso and Lenora Perez, who face charges of murdering five patients and poisoning 10 others at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich. The indictment returned Wednesday by a federal grand jury in Detroit also charged them with conspiracy to commit first-degree murder.

The FBI said Miss Narciso, 30, of Ypsilanti, Mich., would be arraigned today in Detroit and Mrs. Perez, 31, of Evanston, Ill., in Chicago. Miss Narciso still works at the Ann Arbor hospital and Mrs. Perez at a Veterans Administration Hospital in Chicago, where she transferred last fall. Both have been placed in clerical jobs.

At a news conference Wednesday, Jay E. Bailey, acting special agent for the FBI in Detroit, declined to discuss a possible motive for the poisonings. Eleven patients died at the hospital last year from breathing failures. Investigators linked the deaths to the drug Pavulon, or pancuronium bromide, a curare-like, muscle-paralyzing drug which renders patients incapable of breathing without mechanical aid.

While official suspicion turned toward the two registered nurses almost as soon as the FBI started investigating the deaths at the Ann Arbor hospital, their friends and hospital coworkers call Miss Narciso and Mrs. Perez dedicated medical professionals and say they have been victimized by authorities.

"What gets me is that they put the finger on Leonie and P.J. but nobody has ever said that was the night both of them folded. Nobody ate all night. And Leonie just passed out. Then P.J. got so worked up ... she started to get weak in the knees and faint and then ... she got sick to her stomach."

"P.J." is Miss Narciso's nickname. "The night" was Aug 12, when there were eight respiratory arrests in one hour.

Both accused nurses were on duty when the eight cases suddenly overwhelmed the intensive care unit of the hospital. And both worked so long and hard they collapsed and fainted, said another nurse on duty then.

The two women are Philippine citizens in the United States as resident aliens. They arrived in 1971, but never met until late spring 1975 when they were assigned to the intensive care unit at the Ann Arbor hospital.

Miss Narciso is the daughter of a retired building contractor, and one of nine children. After her arrival in the United States, she worked for two years at the University of Alabama Hospital in Birmingham where she acquired the nickname "P.J."

Curt Branham, her landlord and neighbor, called her "a friendly, outgoing person." He said he believes the FBI took advantage of Miss Narciso's ignorance of the U.S. legal system in interrogating her repeatedly for two months before she and Mrs. Perez were persuaded by friends to get an attorney.

Mrs. Perez came to Evanston, Ill., five years ago and a year later she married another Filipino migrant, Epifanio A. Perez Jr. In 1972, the couple moved to Ann Arbor, where their son was born.

Cauley receives doctor of dental surgery degree

HOUSTON — The University of Texas Dental Branch has conferred 193 degrees and certificates on its spring graduating class in a joint ceremony with the other health professional schools at the UT Health Science Center in Houston (UTHSC).

The students receiving recognition included 102 presented Doctor of Dental Surgery degrees, 31 receiving Master of Science degrees in various dental specialties, and 60 students presented with certificates in either dental hygiene or dental assisting.

This is the first class of dental students to graduate under the school's new self-paced curriculum in-troducted throughout the school last fall. Thirteen students from this class graduated last February, six months ahead of schedule, because of the self-directed study program.

The UT Dental Branch in Houston is the oldest dental school in Texas. Providing education and training for 496 dental students, the school also offers graduate education in all dental specialties. Other educational programs at the school include the two-year dental hygiene program and the one-year certification program in dental assisting.

Among students receiving doctor of dental surgery degrees was Richard C. Cauley, son of Dr. and Mrs. Marshal Cauley, Big Spring.

Conservation highlights

'The greatest patriot is he who stops the most gullies'

Highlights of the conservation movement, especially as applies to soil, were projected for the Downtown Lions at their weekly meeting Wednesday at the Settles.

Richard Christie and John Kelly of the Soil Conservation Service presented a program which showed how what Alex de Tocqueville, French historian, thought a century ago were inexhaustible resources were not inexhaustible after all.

Instead of bountiful forests and new land, there came to be denuded and eroded lands, and instead of rich farm lands there were deep scars of gullies and the catastrophic dust bowl.

This, said the program outline, helped to put in action conservation ideas dating back to Thomas Jefferson (contour furrows) and Patrick Henry ("the greatest patriot is he who stops the most gullies"). Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, who became father of the Soil Conservation Service in the 1930s preached a gospel of every acre of land treated for its capabilities and its needs. This led to restoration of timberlands, pastures, ponds and the Great Plains program to put back millions of acres into pasture lands.

Special citations for exceptional service during the year were presented by President Joe Horton to Ernie Boyd, Verle Green, Dave Morrison, Dub Martin, and Gary Brandbury. John Quigley announced that the Lions Auxiliary will host a covered dish picnic at the Quigley home Friday at 7 p.m.

Merchandise galore

City-County Auction scheduled Saturday

The City-County Auction will offer thousands of dollars worth of merchandise to bid for this Saturday.

"This is the first time the city (of Big Spring) and (Howard) county have joined hands for their auctions. It will have a really well-rounded selection," said Col. Al Stephens, auctioneer.

According to Stephens, items up for sale will include 14 vehicles of various kinds, 33 boys' and girls' bicycles, television sets, office supplies of all kinds, three golf carts, men's and women's watches and a vast variety of other merchandise.

Those interested in bidding at the auction may view the merchandise beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday. The auction itself will begin at 1 o'clock that afternoon.

Stephens will be joined on the auction block by fellow Colonel, Keith Carey.

Stephens is the past secretary-treasurer for the Texas Auctioneer's Association, and was named as the association's Auctioneer of the Year in 1975. Both he and Carey recently returned from an association convention in Dallas where Stephens was appointed as a member of the group's board of directors for a three-year term.

Carey, who is a past president of the association, will fill the secretary-treasurer post vacated by Stephens.

In addition, both men were appointed to an auctioneers advisory committee sponsored by the commissioner of the Texas Department of Labor and Standards.

Stephens' wife, Lennie, was selected as secretary for the Ladies Auxiliary of the association at its Dallas meeting.

Guest speakers for the meeting included a number of Texas dignitaries such as State Representative Mike Ezzell, Jackie Sinclair, commissioner for the Texas

'Nasty' Nastase

Rivalry renewed

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — The old tennis rivalry between Stan Smith and Ilie Nastase is on again as Wimbledon approaches. "Somebody should do something about him," said Smith, an American. "I don't speak to Smith because he doesn't want to speak to me," said Nastase, of Romania. Fate has kept these two apart since 1972, the peak year of their rivalry when Smith beat Nastase in the Wimbledon final and led the United States to victory over Romania in a stormy Davis Cup final at Bucharest. But they played each other Wednesday in the third round of the $64,000 John Player tournament, the last warm-up event before Wimbledon.

Nastase won 6-4, 6-3 amid undercurrents that were partly comic and partly sour. At the start of the second set, the Romanian began clowning. He imitated Smith's walk and pretended to serve but bounced the ball instead. Smith walked up to the umpire and asked that play be continuous.

The tournament referee, Calvin Dubois, was called to the side of the court. "Who is this — a new ball boy?" said Nastase. Dubois smiled and Nastase got on with the match. He once spat in the direction of somebody whose movements distracted him, and he muttered about linesmen's calls. But the storm died down.

"I wasn't very bad," Nastase said afterward. "I have often behaved far worse."

Smith said he had asked specially for a strong umpire.

"I was not surprised by Nastase's behavior," said the big star from Sea Pines, S.C. "I have played him often enough in the past, in different situations. I enjoy playing him but I do not enjoy losing to him. He has been responsible for some of my great wins."

"I simply asked the umpire to keep the match moving, as I am entitled to do. A player may do whatever he wants on court, so long as he does not disturb his opponent."

Two in tournament

AFTER OPEN WIN — Hale Irwin, 1974 U.S. Open champion, says he wants to repeat this year while playing in the 76th Open at Duluth, Ga. that gets under way today. Irwin is shown here warming up on the practice tee Wednesday before the final practice round.

EXPLAINING HIS ROUND — Three-time U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus points his finger as he explains his practice round at the Atlanta Athletic Club Wednesday.

U.S. Open course in Atlanta is rated 'tough' by the pros

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) — Hale Irwin has a history of playing well on tough golf courses, although he's not sure why. "I don't know if I play harder because the course is tougher or if the field just doesn't do as well as it normally does," Irwin said Wednesday on the eve of the 76th U.S. Open Golf Championship.

"But I like to respond to that challenge on a tough course. I think it's a day-to-day thing, though. The trick is to eliminate the bad errors."

The former University of Colorado football star has recorded most of his seven tour victories on courses considered difficult.

Twice he has captured the Heritage at Hilton Head. He won the 1974 U.S. Open at Winged Foot. He won twice last year on tough layouts — the Western Open at Butler National and the Atlanta Classic on the rolling hills of Atlanta Country Club. Irwin won at Los Angeles this year on the tough Riviera course.

The soft-spoken Missouri native faces another challenging course today, ranking among the favorites to win the first National Open ever held in the South. This one is at the Atlanta Athletic Club, a 7,015-yard layout that plays to par 70. "The U.S. Open course is always in the tough course category," Irwin said, "and this one is no exception."

Many of the 150 players entered have tabbed Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Irwin as the players to beat. "You could throw in a whole bunch of other people," Irwin said. "Why not Johnny Miller? Why not Ray Floyd? It's a good course for him. There are others, too."

"There's just no way to fairly predict anybody to win," he said. "This isn't like football. There you've got two teams and one has to win. There's just too many out here who can win."

Still, the man most will be watching is Nicklaus, acclaimed as the greatest player today even though he isn't having a good year.

Nicklaus complained about "terrible" play on the eve of the tournament, but also said, "My game's in pretty good shape. I don't see any reason why I shouldn't play well. But, again, I don't know."

Lou Graham is the defending champion, but he has been virtually ignored in pre-tourney hoopla. The same can be said for Hubert Green, the only three-time winner on this year's tour and the leading money winner. Irwin, Miller and Ben Crenshaw are the only two time winners competing. South African Gary Player is thirsting for another U.S. Open title which would give him two or more triumphs in each of the four major events.

Gibson Gals win it Title clinched

Cathy Guzman drilled a home run into right centerfield in the bottom of the seventh to break up a tight duel with the Mixers 16-15 and clinch first place for the Gibson Gals in Miss Softball America. Guzman also had another homer and winning pitcher Selena Harris drilled two homers and a single to lead the Gals' attack. Jackie Roach blasted two homers for the winners and Pam Banks and Julia Montanez each stroked triples. The win upped Harris' record to 7-0 and the team's mark to 10-0. Penny Coffee took the loss which dropped her record to 5-1 and the Mixers to 5-4.

Both teams turned in a doubleplay. The Mixers got theirs in the bottom of the second when Kerrie Morrow caught a fly and threw to first before the runner could make it back. The Gibson Gals got revenge in the top of the third as Pam Banks tagged the runner from first coming to second and threw to first to nail the batter.

Gridders late in gay 'Paree'

PARIS (AP) — The Texas A&I and Henderson State football teams, 103 players, coaches and cheerleaders, are alive and well in Paris after their trip to bring the sport to the Europeans was delayed because of money problems.

The teams, scheduled to play an exhibition in Paris Thursday night, arrived here two days late from Nuernberg, Germany when a bus company insisted on being paid in advance and their hotel insisted a bank draft had not cleared.

The teams' trip is being sponsored by Bob Kap, promoter of the projected but non-existent Intercontinental Football League and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Dr. Charles Morris, assistant to the executive director of the NAIA, said, "There was a misunderstanding about the contract for the buses. The contract said the fee was to be paid in Paris, but the company insisted on payment first. For the hotel, there was a misunderstanding on whether a bank draft had cleared or not. We said it had, and we were right, but we were delayed."

The teams — Texas A&I was the top-ranking small college team last year — have been in Europe for three weeks and running into cancellations and problems most of the way. The game in Vienna was delayed and three games scheduled for Italy were canceled because "of the political climate." Crowds at substitute sites in Mannheim and Nuernberg, Germany were described as "very small" by Morris.

But Fred Nuesch, sports information director at Texas A&I, said that when there were Europeans watching "we had a pretty enthusiastic reception. They really liked good hitting and tackling. They cheered the calisthenics, too. The players have enjoyed it and most of them are getting a chance to see things they might never have otherwise."

"From a football point of view it wasn't all that useful. Most of our guys have been together for two years and we normally don't have spring training."

Tables turned, Mom is at bat

Okay, kids, it's your turn. Get out the fog horns, take the cow bells out of storage and practice your raspberries — Mom's playing ball. The mothers in the Pee Wee and Minor League of the National Little League are going to team up to do battle against Major League mothers on the league's field (or Route 87) Friday night. "The mothers' game will begin after the regular National Little League game is finished, probably about 9:45 or 10:00 p.m. Now, if old mom has been understanding all along... "You tried, Johnny, that's all that counts," and "Don't worry, everybody strikes out once in a while," or "You can't make an error if you're not trying"... go easy on her.

However, if you've had to listen to... "How could you just stand there and let that ball go by"... "That ball rolled right between your legs. Why didn't you pick it up?... or if you're a pitcher... "My goodness, why did you walk all those players — let them hit it"... Ha, Ha, pour it on.

Let's see if that little old pelota's as easy to handle as Mom's been telling us.

Hot fish

By Danny Reagan

Fishing over the past weekend really shaped up into a worthwhile adventure...

LAKE THOMAS "Everyone's catching big fish," exclaimed Mrs. Tidwell from Lake Thomas Lodge...

The previous Thursday, a Snyder man brought in an 18-lb. yellow, and the next day a 12-lb. yellow caught on shad...

By the way, one of the four 20-pounders was caught by a Big Spring man, John Hensley...

Mrs. Tidwell said that "real big crappie" and "good bass" are being brought in by fishermen...

Mrs. Tidwell also reported the luck of a 12-year-old boy, "the cutest kid I ever saw in my life..."

Thomas is really looking good now.

LAKE COLORADO CITY I couldn't contact my old buddy Luie at the lake this week...

Crappie are almost non-existent right now, and the yellows are few and far between...

The carp is a real fighter, comparable to the striped bass for tenacity in putting up a struggle.

The lake is rather slow, fishing-wise, at this point in time, but that situation could change any day...

LAKE SPENCE Record-breaking temperatures over the past weekend didn't dim the bulldogged angler...

Record-breaking temperatures over the past weekend didn't dim the bulldogged angler from wheeling to the lake...

Here are the few who did report, however:

WHO CAUGHT WHAT? Larry Bailey and wife, Denver City — 60 channel cat...

Also, Ginger Hagen, Robert Lee — 1 striped, 7 lbs.; Don and Barbara Register — 38 channel cat...

And, a word from that Kountry Girl Reporter, Konny Service, who sounds like she had an exciting weekend:

KONNY SAYS "This past weekend a camera crew from Lubbock came down to shoot a few series from Lake Spence for Channel 28..."

"So, on Sunday, around noon, after taking pictures all day Saturday on the southwest side of the lake, we journeyed to the northeast side to take a few shots."

"We travelled to the high bluffs where we found ourselves quite frequently leaving our cars and traveling on foot to the edge of the bluffs..."

"At one point in the afternoon we found ourselves overlooking Lake Spence from the edge of an 80-foot bluff..."

"In the water below us swam a school of black bass, feeding on the top of the water. A purist fly-rod buff who happened to be in our group explained that these large bass were feeding on bugs that had been blown into the bluff and had fallen into the water stunned."

"The bass quickly took advantage of these invalids and engulfed all they could find very quickly. I was amazed at the size of these bass. The fly-rod buff quickly spotted the largest and estimated its weight at about 8 lbs."

"Our group stood admiring these fish for some time, and because of the irritating feeling of not having any fishing equipment with us, we moved on."

"From there we returned to our cars and travelled to another bluff. Again we found ourselves on foot, headed for a very peaceful miniature gravel beach..."

"The beach is also surrounded by high bluffs on three sides which makes it secretive. Needless to say, the photographer went crazy."

"After swimming for a short time, the equipment was gathered, and we struck out for the cars, but in everyone's mind was a lasting impression of the scenic water beauty which seemed so out of place in the dry West Texas sun."

Your country girl poet, Konny Service

MOSS CREEK One final word... earlier this week, the city council, in an "emergency" rendering, passed a 50 cents-per-car charge to visit the nearby small lake.

It was a move, on first glance, that would seem to benefit the fisherman, for believe it or not, there are a few fish out there, some of them quite big.

But, many more people visited the lake in the past to picnic, swim and just sit around and enjoy the view. Fifty cents won't hurt that many people's pocketbook, but the fee will no doubt keep many people away from the facility for the "principles" involved.

This is indeed unfortunate, for it was the nearest fishable body of water to Big Spring, and it was a place fishermen and their families could go and have fun, even if they didn't catch any fish.

But, as they say, you can't fight city hall. (Well, maybe.)

-D.R. P.S. Veteran 82-year-old angler Wyatt Eason is recovering from injuries sustained in a head-on collision. He's itching to do some fishing. Go by and listen to one of his fish tales and help speed up his recovery.

BIG CAT CATCH — James B. and Freddy Ward, Rte. 1, Box 582, display a 35-lb. catfish they caught at Champion Creek last Saturday...

Choose-your-partner mixed doubles tennis

The Big Spring Tennis Association invites one and all to come out and have a ball meeting new faces through friendly competition during their Choose-Your-Partner Mixed-Doubles Tennis Tournament...

No husband and wife teams will be allowed (there will be a husband-wife tourney later in the summer). Competition will be divided into two age brackets — 21 and under and 22 and over...

Everyone will play at least two matches. Trophies will be awarded for first, second and consolation winners. Entry fee is $1.50 for BSTA members and $3.00 for nonmembers.

ABA to fold?

NBA family grows

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — The National Basketball Association decided today to expand by four teams, adding San Antonio, Denver, New York and Indiana from the American Basketball Association.

Each of the four clubs will pay $3.2 million in cash. Owner Abe Pollin of the Washington Bullets, chairman of the NBA's merger committee, announced other conditions of the merger...

They included: —The players from the Kentucky and St. Louis-Utah teams would be put into a dispersal draft...

—All contracts of ABA players will be honored, according to an agreement reached with the ABA Players Association.

—The ABA will not share in any television revenue for four seasons. —The ABA will not have a vote on a resolution regarding gate-sharing for the next two seasons...

—ABA rosters will be frozen as of May 1, 1976. —The New York Nets of the ABA have agreed to pay an indemnity to the New York Knicks of the NBA for infringing upon their territorial rights...

The historic agreement was hammered out after an all-night series of meetings involving representatives from both leagues, who met both separately and jointly.

ABA Commissioner Dave DeBusschere said that there still was disagreement over several issues as late as 4:30 a.m., EDT. "At that point, we got to the definite bottom line," he said...

DeBusschere also said the lengthy negotiations were, at times, "very dismal and discouraging. The general feeling of our group during many points while we were here was very low. But we stayed with it, and I am pleased that something was worked out between the leagues."

The ABA commissioner—now out of a job—added that he wanted all six clubs from his league to join the NBA, but acknowledged, "It proved a big stumbling block to the NBA."

Parks and Wildlife Commissioners in 1974 banned piranhas and 11 other groups of potentially harmful fish from importation into Texas.

The piranha-like fish was first discovered by a Brownwood fisherman checking his trotline set in the Colorado near Brady. It weighed 1 1/2 pounds and measured 13 inches in length.

Blyleven embarrassed again Indians in second place

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Hum.

So the Cleveland Indians roughed up Bert Blyleven again. What else is new?

It is getting a little embarrassing, however, for the ace Texas Rangers right-hander and his teammates.

The Indians, 10-4 against Blyleven, best in the American League, shelled the former Minnesota hurler for 11 hits in a 9-4 romp Wednesday night to hold second place in the American League East.

Adding a touch of insult to injury, it was Jackie Brown, 6-2, a former Ranger, who put down his ex-colleagues on 10 hits. Unable to stifle a grin, Brown said:

"This victory was especially sweet, since I asked for the opportunity to pitch tonight. I asked Frank (Manager Frank Robinson) if I could pitch here. I wanted to beat Texas because they got rid of me."

Across the way, Blyleven looked despondent and admittedly was frustrated. He has dropped three games in as many appearances since joining the Rangers June 1.

Unfortunately, those are the only three games Texas has lost in its last 11 outings as the Rangers have battled to stay in range of Kansas City, the AL West leader by 3 1/2 games.

"I'm in a rut," said

Blyleven, 4-8. "I'm throwing strikes and I'm not getting away with it. I've got to get the ball down. They're hitting my good pitches and they're hitting my bad ones."

Third baseman Buddy Bell hit three of some kind in collecting a single, an RBI triple and a three-run homer, the latter off Rangers reliever Steve Foucault in a four-run eighth inning.

George Hendrick belted a two-run homer in the third inning but his single in the second broke a Blyleven spell that was looking ominous.

Blyleven struck out the first four batters he faced before Hendrick lashed a single to left.

"I don't know what it is with him," Bell said. "We got one guy who rises to occasion whenever he faces Bert, and that's Hendrick. He gets a hit and it starts something for us. ... "I think Bert's got the best stuff in the American League, but he seems to get in trouble with it, and I don't know why."

Robinson said Blyleven's got a problem but he, too, was unable to explain it.

"Bert has a tendency to make bad pitches once he's ahead of you," Robinson said. "He gets two strikes on you. Then all of a sudden he doesn't put the ball where he wants it...."

"I don't think it's carelessness.... It might be concentration, but I'm only guessing. I don't know... but he does have a tendency to make mistakes once he's in front of you."

At least 23 killed in South Africa riots

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Rioting students in the Soweto black ghetto stoned cars, started fires and clashed with police.

Heroin sale nets 20 years

LAMESA — Susie Salinas pleaded guilty to a charge of delivery of heroin and was sentenced to 20 years in the state penitentiary.

The term was assessed by District Judge George Hansard. The case originated from a sale of heroin to an undercover narcotic agent May 13, 1975. Roy Harris confessed selling marijuana and was assessed a seven-year sentence in the pen.

In another guilty plea, Frank Gomez was sentenced to three years for a charge of criminal conspiracy to sell heroin.

today in the second day of racial violence. At least 23 persons were killed Wednesday, and 21 of them were black. It was the worst racial violence in South Africa since police killed 69 blacks in the Sharpeville massacre in 1960.

About 1,000 police, some of them in armored cars, were patrolling the huge black township eight miles south of Johannesburg. But the rioting resumed after a brief lull between 2:30 a.m. and dawn.

Police Inspector J.J. Gerber said the rioting was spreading throughout the 26-square-mile district, in which about a million blacks live.

One rock-throwing crowd tried to storm the grounds of the Baragwanath Hospital but were stopped by police tear gas.

About 220 persons were reported injured and 126 arrested during Wednesday's violence, which erupted when police tried to break up a demonstration by 10,000 students protesting mandatory courses in the Afrikaans language. The language, derived from Dutch, is the tongue of the Boers, the dominant white faction, and a symbol to the blacks of the Boers' apartheid policy of racial segregation and repression.

Alridge on parole

AUSTIN — Leroy Alridge Jr., who was convicted in Howard County's 118th District Court in November 1974, has been released on parole.

Alridge was paroled to Howard County after serving or receiving credit for two years and eight months of a five-year sentence. He was convicted of burglary of a motor vehicle, burglary and possession of marijuana.

When tear gas failed to stop the youths pelting the police with rocks, the police began shooting into the crowd. "It's no good firing over their heads," a senior police officer told reporters.

But Police Minister James T. Kruger said he believed the police used as little force as was necessary to contain the violence.

A white welfare officer was killed when rioters attacked a government building. Two officials of a government board, one white and one black, were dragged from their cars and beaten to death. Other whites driving through the township were stopped and beaten.

All white officials were ordered out of the area. White members of the staff at the Baragwanath Hospital, the largest in southern Africa, were withdrawn.

The police put guards on trains and buses carrying workers from Soweto into Johannesburg after nine buses were burned and 50 others damaged. There were reports of a black stay-at-home campaign, but the response could not be determined.

Ma'am, Major

HOUSTON (AP) — Maj. Eloise Dots, ROTC instructor at Sam Houston High School, is believed to be the first woman to hold such a position in the history of the Houston Independent School District.

The student commander of the corps, where girls outnumber boys, however, is Rex Cauter, a male.

"TO HELL WITH AFRIKAANS" — Pupils hold up placards which read "To Hell With Afrikaans" during Wednesday's riot in Soweto, South Africa, where students went on a rampage protesting the mandatory use of the language Afrikaans in the schools. Reports said at least 23 persons were killed and 33 injured.

Public invited to join campaign against crime

Big Spring police chief Stanley Bogard is inviting the public to join the fight against burglaries. "Every citizen of Big Spring can help in the Burglary Prevention Month campaign to reduce losses due to burglary," Bogard said today. Your cooperation is needed to help reduce the surge in burglaries which result each summer when families leave their homes for vacation trips and weekend outings. By learning and practicing a few simple home protection hints, residents can keep their homes from falling victim to a vicious intruder.

MONTH DECLARED
The month of June, 1976 has been declared by Mayor Wade Choate to be "Burglary Prevention Month" in Big Spring. During this month, your Police Department will provide information to help you protect your home from burglars.

Failure to know and practice the fundamental techniques of home protection was largely responsible for the 348 residential burglaries committed in our city last year. Although most people didn't intentionally invite intruders to ransack their home, they might as well have hung up a sign saying, "No one's home, burglars welcome!"

A stroll around your neighborhood any day will tell you a glance who's away; their porches will be cluttered with circulars; an accumulation of milk bottles on the stoop; an unkempt lawn; an empty garage with the door open; or a bulging mailbox. All of these are tip-offs that'll broadcast "no one's home" to anyone canvassing the neighborhood.

In the evening, most empty homes can be spotted too — just look for the dark houses. It's a known fact light is one of the best deterrents to crime, yet most homeowners go out for an evening and leave their homes completely dark. Or, they'll go off for a weekend or vacation and leave the same light burning day and night. No light at all, or a light burning continuously is a good giveaway "no one is home."

A simple, but effective means of having light in your home every evening, is by connecting a Time-All automatic timing device to one or two lamps. Such a timer will turn a lamp "on" early in the evening, then turn it "off" several hours later. With lights turning on and off during the evening hours it'll give the appearance someone is home and may avert a possible burglary attempt!

EASIEST TARGETS
Bogard went on to say that most burglars pick the easiest targets they can find. They want to get in, get the loot and get away as quickly as possible. Therefore, if you put several obstacles in his way, he is less likely to try to break into your home, but will seek "easy pickins" elsewhere. By observing these few simple precautionary steps, you can reduce the possibility of a burglar selecting your dwelling as his target next time you're away.

Close and lock all doors, including porch, basement and garage. Use pin-tumbler cylinder locks on outside entrances and safety latches on the windows.

Connect a lamp to a Time-All automatic timer to turn lights in the home on and off each evening. Since noise is a deterrent connect radio or TV to a timer.

Shyness course

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Shy students at the Claremont Colleges are invited to overcome their shyness in special workshops by staff psychologist Dorothy Smith.

Aided by a student co-leader, Miss Smith, who has a master's degree in clinical psychology, works with groups of 10 students.

So far, she has had students from each of the six Claremont colleges, an equal number of men and women. Students' shyness ranges from speaking out in class and asking for a date to saying hello to other students on campus, Miss Smith said.

3. Protect all doors and windows with an inexpensive, portable burglary alarm which sounds whenever someone attempts to break in.

4. Light up your porch and yard with outdoor lights to increase the likelihood that an attempted burglary would be seen. These lights can also be timer-controlled, if desired.

5. Be sure all screens are fastened from the inside.

6. Never leave valuables lying around; keep them in a safety deposit box, and, if you're leaving for a weekend or longer, Chief Bogard also suggests:

7. Notify your police department when you'll be leaving and how long you expect to be away.

8. Cancel all deliveries, such as the milk, laundry, cleaning, etc. Also, be sure to discontinue the newspaper or arrange to have it sent to your vacation address.

9. Have a neighbor, or your post office, hold all mail until you return.

10. Arrange with a friend to mow the lawn and sweep your sidewalk once a week. Also ask him if he'll pick up any circulars or handbills that may be left on your porch.

11. Leave your shades and blinds as you normally do; closed blinds keep the sun out, but also make an effective screen for the burglar.

12. Never advertise your departure with an item in the local paper. Give the story about your vacation to the newspapers after you've returned.

There is no such thing as a "burglar proof" home, said Bogard. But, he went on to say, following the suggestions listed above will help to protect your home whenever you're away.

NIGHTMARE BECOMES REVERIE — This photo of Tran Thi Het Nhanny lying in a cardboard box next to a brother who begged on the streets of Saigon in Vietnam, was distributed by the Associated Press in February of 1973. The photo so touched the hearts of Americans that money was raised to bring her to the United States to undergo surgery to correct a congenital heart defect. A Houston, Tex., couple has been caring for the four-year-old and is involved in adoption proceedings. The youngster is now a healthy, happy, responsive child.

'If you have no problems, we will help you get some'

OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th District, Texas
 WASHINGTON, D. C. — This past week the Congress re-enacted for a period of a little less than four years, the so-called Revenue Sharing Act. This idea of granting federal money to the states and local entities of government was first enacted in 1971 and expires at the end of this year.

The extended law calls for the distribution of about $6.5 billion per year to be used rather freely by local governments. An effort was made to require municipal and county governments to "restructure" their system if, in the opinion of federal officials, found to be "inefficient" in its present operation. The attitude of the sponsors of such a move seemed to say, "If you have no problems, we will help you get some."

A case of this kind exists in a small town only 50 miles from Washington. The community of Hillsboro, Va., is one of the oldest incorporated towns in the country. It was there that George Washington, accompanying General Braddock, marched through with an army during the Revolutionary War.

More recently, however, the State of Virginia and the federal government have been trying to get this small town to change its ways. The town gets its water from a spring on the side of the Catoctin Mountains which flows pure water at the rate of five gallons per minute. It is brought into the town through glass-lined pipes. The spring is covered by a handsome little stone building with a tin roof and is carefully tended. The unused water finds its way into the head waters of the Potomac where it must be a stranger in that polluted stream. Officials who seemingly are suspicious of water that flows pure out of the ground require a sample of that water to be sent in for testing every two weeks. The report comes back "pure water" and is posted on a bulletin board outside of the post office for all to see.

This seemingly does not satisfy technicians who come along and nag the water commissioner for a valve to be placed here and an unneeded storage tank to be installed there. They also tell the town that it must plan for the future in order to handle increased population. The fact that the population of Hillsboro has not varied significantly in the past 200 years does not matter. The state hired a planning firm to make a population projection as to what the population might be by 1995. They wanted them to build a modern sewer system but the City Council says that a modern sewer system would mean suburbs which they don't want.

In the report of the survey, it says, "The town is very clean and well kept." In the body of the report it says that the community is served by inadequate septic tanks and malfunctioning cesspools and outdoor privies, this in spite of its cleanliness.

If the people of Hillsboro understand the matter properly, what the planners want is to take water from the Catoctin Creek fed by the spring, pour chemicals in it and use this treated water to supply their needs. The sewage would then be treated with more chemicals and dumped back into the creek. All this could be done at an estimated cost of $230,000 which amounts to about $2,000 for every man, woman and child in the town.

Refugee cosponsors sought by committee

Looking at the eventual reassignment of military cosponsors for the Southeast Asia refugees, the New Citizen Sponsorship Committee is searching for permanent area residents to act as cosponsors.

Last year, during the fall of the Republic of Vietnam and Cambodia to Communists and in the aftermath, many residents fled to the United States. Because Webb AFB had been the training site for some 90 Vietnamese before that country fell, many refugees returned to the Big Spring area.

Most of the current sponsors are military families. Because of their eventual reassignment from this area, the committee hopes that the addition of civilian cosponsors now can avoid a transition later. Many former military sponsors have already been transferred through normal rotation policy.

Between 25 and 30

cosponsors are needed. Col. Robert F. Brodman pointed out that the term "sponsor" doesn't mean dollars. Rather, they act more like good neighbors in providing guidance, advice or know-how for those who are new to America.

Anyone interested in becoming a cosponsor can contact Colonel Brodman's office, the base commander, ext. 2888. He has records of the families and military sponsors.

If an interested cosponsor already knows one of the refugees or the Air Force sponsoring family, they may wish to state a preference of whom they wish to cosponsor.

Persons potentially interested in being cosponsors may want to talk with a military sponsor family to find out more about sponsorship. Or, they may wish to invite sponsors to refugee families to speak to church groups or civic organizations.

Other items of business covered by the committee included jobs and educational opportunities. Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College, discussed educational problems caused by state law, state residence requirements and citizenship. The local community will work these out.

Vietnamese representatives on the committee to determine what the other refugees need or desire in the way of assistance or orientation courses, such as the successful income tax clinic conducted by base volunteers, or such subjects as legal assistance, medical care and hygiene.

The committee also reviewed a directory listing various services available in the area. These will go to sponsors to help them determine what help is available for their refugee families.

Mrs. De Tucker explained the Southeast Asia Summer Educational Program (SEA-SEP), which will be funded through the Catholic Church. SEA-SEP will involve classroom studies as well as recreation such as swimming.
