Ford, Reagan fight for votes

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — President Ford's backers won a key test at the start of Minnesota's Independent-Republican convention and appeared ready today to claim the state's 18 remaining national nominating delegates.

The convention, with more than half of the attending delegates Ford supporters, voted to require majority support for each of the 18 delegates left to be picked.

Ronald Reagan, challenging Ford for the GOP nomination, arrived here from Mississippi after the vote and reacted angrily to word of the rule change. He said he would support his backers if they decided to walk out of the state meeting in protest.

"If party unity is being hurt, it is being hurt by the other side," the former California governor declared. "We have done nothing divisive. They have done nothing except be divisive."

Reagan and Ford are locked in a tight race for the GOP nomination, with the President holding the edge, 1,008 delegates to 928 for Reagan with 1,130 needed for the nomination and 161 to be picked.

The challenger and First Lady Betty Ford were scheduled to address the Minnesota convention and mingle with delegates today.

Delegates to the Minnesota convention voted 877 to 787 to adopt the rule requiring that each national delegate get a majority vote at the state convention. About 55 per cent of the delegates favor Ford. Reagan strategists wanted a single ballot with delegate slots given to the top 18 vote-getters.

During a two-hour debate on the rules, Reagan backers warned that a failure to split up the 18 delegates could tear the party apart and hurt state legislative races.

Reagan forces had another complaint earlier in the day on a separate matter. They charged that the GOP's convention in August may be stacked against them because two Ford supporters will hold key positions.

The Republican National Committee's arrangements committee chose Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee as the keynote speaker for the convention and Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas as the temporary convention chairman.

The two appointments are subject to national committee confirmation today, and Reagan's convention director, Lyn Nofziger, said they probably would not be challenged then. He said they may be fought, though, when the convention begins in Kansas City.

Nofziger said the Reagan camp had "never been asked for any suggestions" on convention officers. "We're not getting even treatment," he said.

Carter, meantime, spent Thursday in Washington in public and private meetings with congressmen. Leading Democrats emerged from the meetings warmly endorsing his drive for the presidency.

The candidate promised if he is elected he will make Congress an equal partner in domestic and foreign policy matters.

And he said the vice presidential running mate he chooses will probably be a Washington figure who, unlike himself, is intimately familiar with Congress and with the way the federal government works.

"I just can't believe all this harmony and euphoria," said Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who at one point was a key competitor with Carter for the nomination.

Freeman inquiry completed at Webb

The Article 32 investigation into allegations of misconduct by Maj. Harold R. Freeman was completed at Webb Air Force Base Thursday.

An announcement of the recommendation by the investigating officer to dismiss the charges, order non-judicial punishment or call a special or general court-martial is being awaited.

Jody Miller: She's so fine

Eastland cowboy still first in bareback riding event

By CANDY SMITH

"There were some good men with some good scores, and some good men with some bad scores," said Tom Hadley, announcer on the second night of the 43rd annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Thursday.

T. J. Walters of Eastland stayed on top in the bareback riding event with a posted score of 79 that he made on opening night. No bareback rider scored in the competition Thursday night leaving Gene Reec of Dayton second with 64 and Aubrey Henderson of Kerrville third with 63.

The big western show draws to a close Saturday night with an 8:15 performance.

Jody Miller, a former Grammy Award winner, followed with a star performance, including hits like "Queen of the House," which she dedicated to the women in the audience, "There's a Party Going on," "He's So Fine," and ended with the "American Trilogy," which she dedicated to "the great athletes performing in the rodeo" that night. Miss Miller also shared the bill with an impromptu drum solo by an anxious calf in a chute behind her.

Ronnie Sewalt of Chico had the top score of 11.5 Thursday night but was still unable to top Wednesday's 8.4 score by Greg Sindham. Several ropers Thursday night had no trouble getting the calf, but faced kicking hooves trying to tie-up. Roy Burk had a good time of 10 even but then lost it when the calf got away.

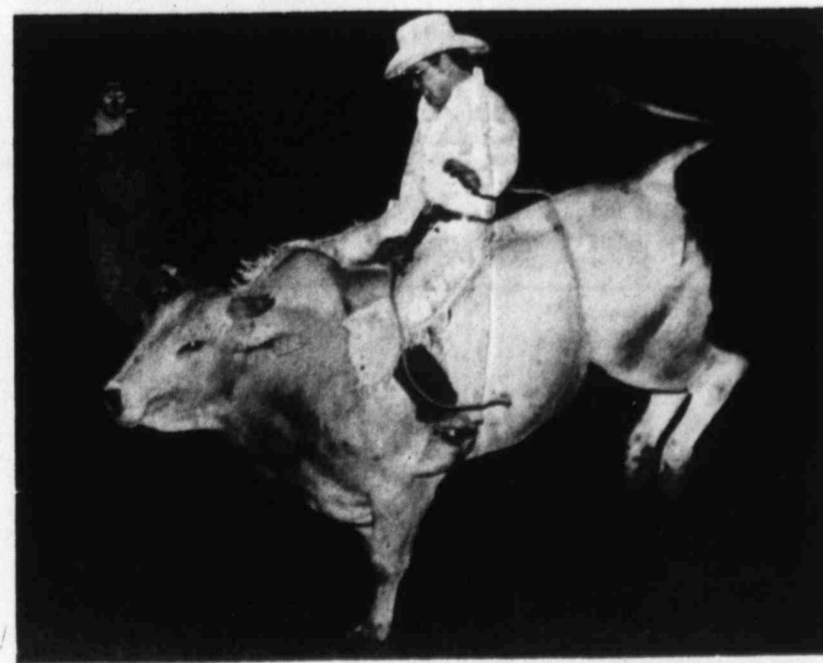

Even Mary Rivers and the Golden Rockets were having their problems. From Camden, Missouri, Miss Rivers has been riding rodeos for one and a half years as a Roman riding artist.

WESTERN WEEK — Fuzz, who belongs to Johnny Godfrey, says that western week is just downright silly for some of us. However, cowboy hats keep off the West Texas sun on these long, hot days.

Although it was a perfect performance Wednesday night, she downed her top jump bar twice. Not to be daunted though, she went for a third try and completed it flawlessly.

Girls competing for the $1,000 prize in barrel racing were unable to top Wednesday's score of 17.85 by Thay Lewis of Big Spring, Gail Petska of Norman, Okla., 17.95, and Kay Proctor of Odessa, 17.96, also held their times.

ROCKIN' ALONG — Wacey Cathey, who is sitting third in the world in bull riding, is a Big Spring cowboy who makes riding Brahma bulls look easy. He posted a 72 score the first night out, but Denny Flynn has a 74 and John Gloor a 75 to lead the standings. There will be more bull riding tonight and Saturday at the two final performances.

Carter clinches Demo ticket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter has now collected enough committed convention delegates to give him the Democratic presidential nomination, an Associated Press survey shows.

Carter, who never trailed any other contender in his bid for the necessary 1,505 delegates, pushed over the majority barrier Thursday, exactly four months after he won the opening primary in New Hampshire.

With the convention still 17 days away, Carter's total edged up to 1,510, the AP delegate survey found.

The survey counts only delegates who are legally committed or who have publicly declared their preference for one candidate. It does not include any delegate who is leaning toward a candidate, nor does it count delegate votes simply on the statement of a party leader.

Carter's nomination became virtually certain when the primaries ended June 8 and his victory in the O.L.O. primary boosted his delegate total to 1,125. Democratic leaders and former opponents rushed to endorse him.

George Wallace endorsed Carter June 9, and many of Wallace's delegates followed the Alabama governor's lead, providing nearly a third of the 380 votes Carter needed to go over the majority mark. Another third came from the ranks of the uncommitted delegates.

The 380 delegates were scattered all over the country. Carter also picked up some support from those who backed Rep. Morris Udall and Sens. Henry Jackson and Frank Church.

Carter, who met Thursday with Democratic congressional leaders in Washington, said he welcomed the AP survey finding.

"I'm glad to hear it," he said. House, Senate agree on B1

production bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees agreed Friday on a weapons bill permitting production of the B1 bomber.

They dropped a Senate amendment to defer spending on the expensive new supersonic bomber until after Feb. 1, to permit the next president to decide whether it's worth the money.

Webb captain, sergeant win

AFA honors 'real feather'

A Webb AFB captain and sergeant have received top honors from the Air Force Association, Big Spring AFA president Ralph Brooks announced Thursday night.

Capt. Ted Moseley, 26, has been named the national "instructor pilot of the year" for the Air Training Command.

Senior MSGT. Samuel R. Ray, 43, has been picked to represent the State AFA as the top noncommissioned officer of the year.

Both will receive their awards at the state AFA convention July 23-25 in Houston.

The two awards are "a real feather in our cap," said Col. Harry A. Spannaus, wing commander.

Sgt. Earl, whom Spannaus described as "my left and my right arm," is senior enlisted adviser at Webb. Before that, he was a jet aircraft mechanic. He was born at Mt. Hope, W.Va., and enlisted in the Air Force in 1964.

Capt. Moseley, who works in the standardization evaluation division, is a native of Grand Prairie. He earned his bachelor and master's degrees in political science at Texas A&M. Moseley received his pilot training at Webb, and he has been assigned to Webb as an instructor pilot since 1972. He earlier was selected Webb "instructor pilot of the year."

Also nominated from Webb was Lt. Col. Art Burer, who was in the contest for AFA "officer of the year." The award was won by an officer from Sheppard AFB in Wichita Falls.

"We've got a very good certainty of a first ballot victory."

Carter called the AP survey "a very conservative count."

"Our confidential delegate count is approaching 1,800," he said.

Carter has delegate support in every state, except North Dakota, where the 13 delegates will be picked today.

From the time he picked up 19 delegates in New Hampshire's Feb. 24 primary through four months of primaries, state conventions and caucuses, Carter never fell behind any other contender in committed delegates.

By the opening of the convention in New York, Carter is expected to pick up many more delegates from among those released by his onetime opponents and from among the 477 uncommitted delegates.

A spokesman for California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. Carter's only remaining active challenger, said there would be no official reaction to the results. Brown admitted last week that Carter has the nomination "in hand" barring any unforeseen events, the spokesman said.

Brown has 303 delegates, while Arizona congressman Morris Udall, who has given up seeking delegates, has 111.

Jackson, who has endorsed Carter and released his delegates, still has the allegiance of 194 delegates. Church, who also has released his supporters, is still the choice of 60 delegates.

Noncandidate Sen. Hubert Humphrey has the support of 72 delegates. The largest pool of non-Carter delegates is the 477 who say they have no preference at this time.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: No Webb connection

Q. I read in Thursday's San Angelo newspaper that Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring was being considered as the site for a uranium enrichment plant "depending on the closure of the facility." This information supposedly came out at a Midland Chamber of Commerce meeting. Is this true?

A. This is absolutely untrue. According to attorney Roger Brown, head of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce's industrial team, "Our site proposal made to Garrett Corp. approximately two years ago had no connection then and has no connection now to Webb Air Force Base, either open or closed."

Offbeat: Truck interrupts 'Kojak'

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — It's a bit crowded in Mary Pannell's kitchen since the dump truck smashed through the wall, but she's learning to live with it. Mrs. Pannell, 32, and her five children were in the living room Sunday watching the television detective series "Kojak" when "we heard a great big boom... I wasn't sure what it was. I thought maybe it was lightning."

Police said the big truck, parked at a construction site 300 feet away, plowed into the two-story frame house after someone apparently released the brakes.

Photos prolong Mars' mysteries

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Far from solving Martian mysteries, fresh photos from Viking 1 are instead challenging scientists to explain a landscape that grows more puzzling day by day.

On one count, however, pictures received at Jet Propulsion Laboratory early Thursday were reassuring: they seemed to show there will be enough hazard-free terrain for a safe Viking landing July 4.

"There is an enormous variety of terrain; some looks catastrophic but some looks just fine," said Dr. Harold Masursky, landing site team leader.

Another scientist described the newest pictures taken by the orbiting Viking spacecraft as "comforting" and expressed increasing optimism that the landing site chosen long before the mission started would prove feasible.

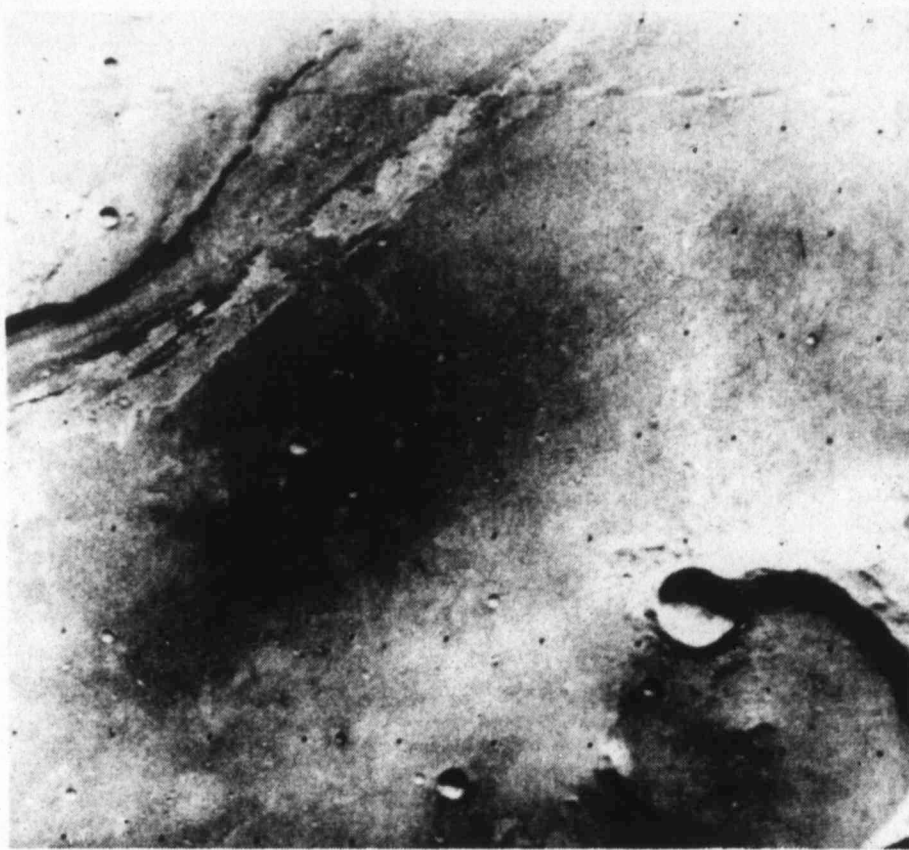

The photos, the second batch received since photography from orbit began on Tuesday, again showed channels and numerous other features carved on the surface by natural forces.

A peppering of large and small craters was seen again, some of them now being viewed as the mouths of young volcanoes. Some cratered areas are much like regions at the moon, it was reported.

The photos also showed several thin, bright lines which scientists were at a loss to explain.

"We don't have the vaguest clue of what this feature is," said Masursky as he pointed out one of the lines that led to the base of a volcanic crater, continued on the other side and went on to touch two distant craters.

Because of so much past

CHANNEL NEAR LANDING SITE — A channel near the potential landing site of Viking 1 was photographed by the spacecraft 3½ minutes before it reached the lowest point in its orbit around Mars on June 22. This frame was the 33rd of 58 taken during a seven-minute period and the first of the sequence transmitted to Earth for scientific analysis. The slightly raised rim and floor markings of the channel are common in Mars channels. A highly degraded crater, about 8 miles in diameter, and a fresher, smaller crater lie in the upper left corner. The channel bank cuts into the margin of the larger crater. The picture was taken from a range of 963 miles.

speculation about intelligent life on Mars, Masursky in just referred to the feature as a road, and even got a small rise out of a colleague — Dr. B. Gentry Lee — by calling it "Gentry's Freeway." It was a joke precisely because the idea of artificial structures on Mars was discarded long ago. The landing area, called

Not much chance seen for Ford busing bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The President's bill has as much chance of passing this year as Harold Stassen has of getting the Republican presidential nomination."

That gloomy assessment of the prospects for President Ford's proposals to limit school busing came Thursday from Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan.

Dole's comment pretty much summed up the pessimism of the anti-busing bloc in the Senate.

Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska, ranking Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee said, "It's going to be tough," when asked about the prospects for passage of the bill.

With Hruska and Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, among the sponsors of the White House proposals, the Judiciary Committee is expected to schedule early hearings.

Key House members could give no indication when there might be action in that chamber.

Ford asked Congress to limit busing programs imposed to desegregate public schools to a maximum of five-years duration.

The President also would limit busing to cases where segregation was the result of illegal discrimination by school officials.

An opponent of prior efforts to restrict busing said the key to the future of the Ford proposals was whether they were "good enough to split the civil rights bloc." Key members of that group were withholding comment until they had more time to study the plan.

But these initial questions were raised: Was it constitutional and would it protect the rights of black children to equal educational opportunity?

An example of the dilemma faced by some northern senators is that of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. Sources close to Kennedy said the violence surrounding court-ordered desegregation in Boston has left him anxious to find an acceptable alternative to busing as a method of integrating urban school systems.

But Kennedy also was described as adamantly opposed to proposals that offer no more than a cutback in the use of busing.

One of his constituents, Boston City Council President Louise Day Hicks, said she opposed Ford's proposals.

Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch receives outstanding rating

The Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch received an outstanding National Standard Camp Rating by a National Council team that conducted the annual inspection last Tuesday.

John Clardy of Lubbock headed the inspection team. Clardy is the area director of Area IV of the South Central Region, Boy Scouts of America. Assisting him was K. D. Van Horn of Midland, the Camping Chairman of the Buffalo Trail Council.

Clardy gave special commendation to the camp for the improvement in program facilities over the past year.

He also commended the plans to develop a new outpost camp in the rugged interior of the Ranch and other improvements to be made through funds raised in the recent Scout Camp and Program Development Campaign of the Buffalo Trail Council.

The Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch is a 6,000 acre property in the Davis Mountains near Balmorhea, owned by the Buffalo Trail Council with headquarters in Midland. Scouts from throughout the Permian Basin-West Texas area camp at the Ranch on a year-round basis, with four weeks of summer camp being conducted in the summer.

Probation granted three men

Probation was granted three defendants pleading guilty in Howard County's 118th District Court Wednesday afternoon.

Lloyd Harold Cannon, 49, Tullia, Tex., and Maurice Edward Henry, 43, Midland, pleaded guilty to theft of welding equipment from the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. June 11. Deputy sheriffs had arrested the two men with some of the stolen property.

Cannon was placed on probation for 10 years; Henry, for six.

Loydean Paul Hodde, 50, Austin, Tex., was given five years of probation for second-offense driving while intoxicated.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eysen Jr. prosecuted in the absence of District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III. Moore was representing the state in a murder trial transferred to a San Angelo district court.

Intruder flees

COAHOMA — Deputy sheriffs reported seeing a male flee through a vacant lot near the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 office at 1:30 a.m. today.

Sgt. Robert Puente and Willie Rangel, reserve deputy, failed to catch the individual. Although the office door was open, nothing was reported missing.

Chryse, lies on a low plain etched by a number of winding channels. The area is thought to have been shaped by water in the distant past, but Masursky and other scientists are somewhat at odds over how this happened.

Dr. Michael Carr, leader of the team that studies photographs from the orbiting Viking, said that subject has developed into a "quite a wide controversy."

On one extreme, he said, are those who believe the area owes its peculiar features to catastrophic floods that raged once or several times and quickly cut the channels. Some teardrop-shaped plateaus, looking like islands in a streambed, could have been shaped by such water currents, in Masursky's view.

On the other hand, Carr continued, there is the opinion that modest streams eroded the channels — Carr referred to them as valleys — over a much longer period of time.

Whatever the history — repeated massive flooding or gradual stream cutting — Mars is now thought to be completely dry.

U.S. files antitrust suit against lawyers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government filed an antitrust suit against the American Bar Association today asking that its restrictions against public advertising by lawyers be declared illegal.

The Justice Department said ABA advertising prohibitions restrain price competition among lawyers and deprive persons needing legal services the opportunity to obtain information about the costs and availability of legal services.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court, also said the ABA restrictions have restrained lawyers from making legal services readily available, such as through the development and advertising of legal clinics and prepaid legal plans.

The ABA, with headquarters in Chicago, is the country's largest professional association of lawyers with a membership of about 200,000.

Delegates to its February convention in Philadelphia voted to permit limited advertising of fees and specialists by lawyers in ABA directories or ABA telephone books, but not in consumer publications.

The policy, subject to approval by state bar associations, allows lawyers to include some information, such as their specialties, in the yellow pages of telephone books.

Consumers Union said after the Philadelphia convention it would continue with a lawsuit it has filed against bar officials in Virginia for the right to obtain fee information from lawyers and publish it in a directory for consumers.

Similar suits are pending in California, Wisconsin, New York and Hawaii.

Mendoza info remains hazy

Robert Mendoza, 28, who had been expected by his family to arrive in Big Spring Thursday, still was reported missing here today.

The FBI and Texas Rangers conferred again with the family late Thursday, but there is apparently no new information.

Mendoza has now been missing 10 days. He is out on $64,000 bonds on narcotics violations. He is believed by his family to be held against his will.

Lot. Col. Grimes to command 78th Air Base Group at Webb

Lt. Col. Jerry S. Grimes, a colonel selectee, will become commander of the 78th Air Base Group at Webb AFB effective Monday.

Grimes is succeeding Col. Robert F. Brodman, who is being reassigned to Air Training Command headquarters at Randolph AFB, San Antonio, in early July.

Col. Brodman, base commander since last July, will become the director of Resource Management under the assistant chief of staff for Technical Training Operations.

A native of Rocky Mount, N.C., who now calls Big Spring home, Col. Grimes has been at Webb since June 1972. He was previously commander of the 83rd Flying Training Squadron.

World

Can't exclude blacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court said today that commercially-operated, non-religious private schools can't refuse black children because of their race and ruled that whites as well as blacks are protected under the law against discrimination in private employment.

The court made the rulings in separate opinions. It was split 7 to 2 in deciding the schools case. It ruled unanimously, but for two partial dissents, in the employment case involving so-called reverse discrimination.

Underestimates deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency says a major nuclear power plant accident could kill two to ten times more persons than estimated by the federal agency that licenses atomic plants. A detailed EPA review also says the chances for such a nuclear power disaster may be several hundred times greater than estimated in the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's "Rasmussen Report."

Kissinger sees peace

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says his talks with South African Prime Minister John Vorster convinced him "the process is in motion" for eventual peaceful transition to black rule in southern Africa. The problem, he told a news conference Thursday in Munich, is whether sufficient guarantees can be arranged for the white minorities to make the change to majority rule bearable.

Sex zoning upheld

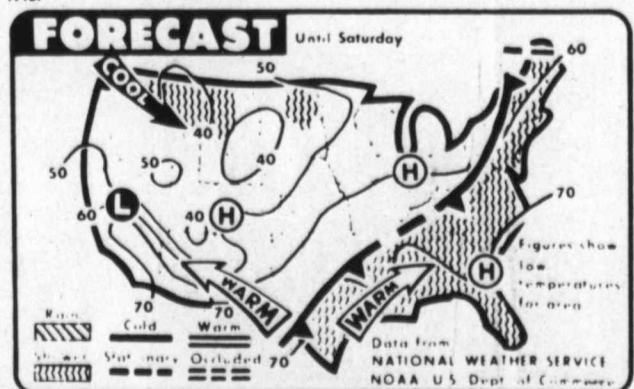

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Supreme Court decision allowing cities to use zoning laws to restrict topless bars, adult bookstores, movie theaters and dance halls could help stop growth of "sex strips," a prosecutor predicts. The prosecutor, Maureen Reilly of Detroit, says "clusters of this sort of business draw prostitutes and dope like magnets."

Stacked convention?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan's campaign aides are complaining that the Republican party's convention in August may be stacked against them because two supporters of President Ford will hold key positions. The Republican National Committee's arrangements committee has chosen Sens. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., as the keynote speaker and Robert Dole, R-Kan., as the temporary convention chairman.

Equal protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that whites as well as blacks have protection under the law against racial discrimination in private employment.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast today for the Gulf and Atlantic coast states. Showers are also expected in the northern Plains. Temperatures are expected to be warm to hot in the Southwest, Southeast and east coast and mild for the rest of the nation except the northern Rockies where cool weather is forecast.

What will reaction be to rider?

The rider on this year's military construction bill, now before President Ford for his signature, is most important to Webb Air Force Base.

The rider, passed overwhelmingly by Congress, is actually a procedure aimed at giving the Washington lawmakers a role in base closings or reductions.

THERE HAS BEEN quite a bit of confusion over what the rider would do. Will it give Congress an opportunity to reverse a Department of Defense decision on a particular base? When will the year period of notification begin?

Reforms are coming!

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — I was on Capitol Hill the other day, and everywhere I went I heard congressmen talk about reform.

I'M NOT USUALLY a suspicious type, but I did ask Congressman Halo if the House's sudden desire for reform had anything to do with the Wayne Hays scandal.

"Of course not," he said angrily. "We've been discussing reform up here on the Hill for years."

"You've discussed it, but you apparently haven't done anything about it, until Elizabeth Ray confessed she didn't know how to type etc. etc."

"The desire of Congress to reform had nothing to do with Miss Ray's revelations. All of us have felt for a long time that committee chairmen wield too much power, and we have been studying ways and means to put checks and balances on them. I was just saying to Tip O'Neill the other day, 'Tip, I think we ought to figure out some way of seeing to it that one man does not get in the position where he can do anything he damn pleases, because he has us all over a barrel.'"

"When did you say that?"
"The day after Wayne Hays resigned from the House Administration Committee. The man was a virtual dictator. He held a sword over all our heads."

"Why didn't you throw him out before now, if that was true?"
"Because he was the chairman of the committee."

"YOU DON'T THROW out the chairman of Administration Committee just because he has a sword over your head?"
"Why not?"

"Because if you fail in throwing him out he'll take your parking place away from you and refuse to sign your travel vouchers, and cut down your office space. The time for reform is when a chairman gets himself into so much trouble he won't be a threat to you any more."

"It doesn't take much courage to throw out a bad guy when he's no longer a threat," I said. "The test is when he's the head of a committee and everyone knows he's no damn good."

"Who's talking about courage?"
Congressman Halo said. "I thought we were talking about reforms."

"I forgot."
"The thing the American people don't understand is that Congress is a club, and we have certain rules we live by. When somebody breaks these rules, then it's up to us to see that something is done about it. That's why we have an ethics committee."

"Which meets about once every two years," I said.

"THAT'S BECAUSE we don't want to waste the taxpayers' money holding a bunch of hearings that would only embarrass the men and women the people elected to office," Halo said. "But apparently there is now unanimous consent amongst all congressmen running for office that perhaps some of the rules should be changed, and without any pressure from anybody we're going to do it. It's unfortunate the Wayne Hays scandal broke just at the time we were all calling for reform, because many people will think we were railroaded into policing ourselves more carefully because of a silly sex scandal."

"I'm glad to hear that, Congressman Halo. When a body such as yours is willing to admit that even you are imperfect, it makes everyone in the country feel better."

"Son, I know it's hard for you as a member of the press to believe this, but there are even sinners up here on the Hill. We're flesh and blood like everybody else. The only difference between us and the rest of the American people is that we're the first to admit when we're wrong. If we weren't reform-minded, the country would never trust us to make the laws of the land."

The answers to these questions cannot be worked out with absolute certainty until the Pentagon actually goes through the procedure with a specific base.

The best interpretation seems to be that the rider gives Congress only a chance to study and perhaps hold a formal hearing upon the Pentagon's detailed justification for any base realignment. But it is definitely a foot in the door for Congress to get involved in base closings. For Webb, the year of notification would appear to begin March 10 when the Air Force let it be publicly known that Webb was being considered for closure.

To the Big Spring reader, the specific wording of the rider, known as Section 612, is significant.

So here is the exact wording of the rider. This is the entire text for Big Spring citizens to read and interpret for themselves:

BASE REALIGNMENTS

SEC. 612 (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no action may be taken prior to October 1, 1981, to effect or implement—

(1) the closure of any military installation;

(2) any reduction in the authorized level of civilian personnel at any military installation by more than one thousand civilian personnel or 50 per centum of the level of such personnel authorized as of March 1, 1976, or the end of the fiscal year immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the Secretary of Defense or the Secretary of the military department concerned notifies the Congress that such installation is a candidate for closure or significant reduction, whichever occurs later; or

(3) any construction, conversion, or rehabilitation at any other military installation (whether or not such installation is a military installation as defined in subsection (b) which will or may be required as a result of the relocation of civilian personnel to such other installation by reason of any closure or reduction to which this section applies; unless—

(A) the Secretary of Defense or the Secretary of the military department concerned notifies the Congress in writing that such military installation is a candidate for closure or significant reduction; and then

(B) a period of at least nine months expires following the date on which such notice was given, during which period the department concerned has identified the full range of environmental impacts, as required by the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, that may result from the proposed closure or reduction; and then

(C) the Secretary of Defense or the Secretary of the military department concerned submits to the Committees on Armed Services of the House of Representatives and the Senate his final decision to close or significantly reduce such installation and a detailed justification for his decision, together with the estimated fiscal, economic, budgetary, environmental, strategic, and operational consequences of the proposed closure or reduction; and then

(D) A PERIOD of at least ninety days expires following the date on which the justification referred to in clause (C) has been submitted to such committees.

(b) For purposes of this section, the term "military installation" means any camp, post, station, base, yard, or other facility under the authority of the Department of Defense—

(1) which is located within any of the several States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or Guam; and

(2) at which not less than five hundred civilian personnel are authorized to be employed.

(c) For purposes of this section, the term "civilian personnel" means direct-hire permanent civilian employees of the Department of Defense.

(d) This section shall not apply to any closure or reduction if the President certifies to the Congress that such closure or reduction must be implemented for reasons of any military emergency or national security or if such closure or reduction was publicly announced prior to January 1, 1976.

Fulfills mission

Around the rim

John Edwards

"One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," a movie premiering locally at the Ritz Theatre today, shows mental patients being intimidated, beaten, punished with "shock treatments" and reduced to vegetables through surgery.

"I THINK it's a good movie," Dr. Wallace C. Hunter, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, said.

Dr. Hunter has discussed the movie with the Oregon State Hospital superintendent who plays a psychiatrist in the movie.

"He agreed that conditions were like that, say 20 years ago, in some state hospitals," Dr. Hunter said. "It does not do a fair treatment of psychiatry as it is today in his institution or this institution."

Dr. Dean Brooks, the real-life superintendent of the mental hospital at Salem, Ore., wrote Dr. Hunter: "I have seen 'Cuckoo' four times, and it gets better with age."

"I think it important that people not look at this film as if it were a documentary about this or any other mental hospital," Dr. Brooks stated in a psychiatric publication story. "It is an allegory—a story of what happens when people get caught up in a system."

Dr. Hunter noted several ways in which life at the Big Spring State Hospital differs from that portrayed in the movie.

The psychiatrist who has been employed at the local hospital two and one-half years said, "I've never heard of a patient that had a frontal lobotomy. We don't have any here."

Frontal lobotomy, a type of brain surgery, was done "before anti-psychotic drugs became available," Dr. Hunter explained.

ELECTROSHOCK therapy (ECT), which was "over-dramatized" in the motion picture, is utilized at the Big Spring institution and elsewhere. But Dr. Hunter said, "Certainly, ECT isn't used as a punishment today."

Nor is ECT administered "nearly as frequently as in the past before anti-psychotic drugs were available," Dr. Hunter said.

Now and in 1962, when Ken Kesey wrote the novel, muscle relaxants and anesthesia make and did make ECT more humane, Drs. Hunter and Brooks said.

Patients at the Big Spring State Hospital are not kept behind fences like those in the movie, Dr. Hunter said.

"We have an open campus," the local superintendent said. "We do have units that we lock for patients with elopement tendencies, who tend to run away. We can lock the doors in a couple of units at night to keep folks from running off."

The state hospital here is not crowded and provides more privacy than the fictional institution in the movie, Dr. Hunter said.

Patient population reached its maximum of 1,002 at the state hospital in April 1970. Today, 428 patients live at the facility which looks more like a college campus.

Dr. Hunter, who also read the book, recalled the patients in the movie wear "funny-looking hospital pajamas." He said, "The patients now wear street clothes in general."

"I hope we don't have any Nurse Ratched at this institution," the psychiatrist commented. He was referring to the vindictive, domineering woman played by Louise Fletcher.

He noted, however, the state hospital has "better safeguards" for the rights of patients than were provided 20 years ago.

The Big Spring State Hospital has a public responsibility or ombudsman committee composed of community representatives, Dr. Hunter said.

EVERY UNIT has a locked box to which the staff does not have access, he continued. Patients may leave notes in these boxes complaining of what they consider unfair treatment or grievances.

The committee confers with complaining patients and investigates.

There were no gripe boxes for patients in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

While the movie starring Jack Nicholson may give the public an incorrect impression of mental institutions today, Dr. Hunter believes the movie will focus attention on the plight of the mentally ill.

The edge of war

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Armies and navies, some of them armed with hydrogen-headed missiles, are poised on the edge of war in the Middle East, on the African continent and along the Russian-Chinese border.

WE HAVE STUDIED intelligence reports and interviewed top defense officials to determine the prospects for war or peace. Here is our assessment:

—MIDDLE EAST: Senior military officials describe the Middle East as a "boiling cauldron" and a "witches' brew" where "anything can happen." They also fear, in the words of one high official, that the situation "will get worse before it gets better."

Part of the problem is that the orthodox power struggles — Arab vs. Jew, Christian vs. Moslem, pro-Soviet vs. pro-American — have become blurred by the politics of chaos.

The most explosive spot, of course, is Lebanon which is in the grip of anarchy. Intelligence reports indicate the situation is "out of control" of anyone, including the Syrian forces on the scene.

—AFRICA: Despite the Soviet-Cuban success in Angola, U.S. strategists regard the triumph as a "very short-term gain." The appearance of Soviet-backed Cuban forces in Angola, according to a Pentagon assessment, has upset such African nations as Tanzania, Uganda, Zaire and Zambia.

These young nations were far from pro-American, but the Soviet-Cuban incursion on the African continent has helped to break down age-old antagonisms and to unite these nations against the Communist threat.

There has also been a beneficial effect for the United States in South America. The intervention of a Cuban expeditionary force in faraway Angola "has scared the pants off" Fidel Castro's Latin American neighbors, said one Pentagon strategist.

LATIN AMERICAN nations are painfully aware that, if Castro's troops can fight on the African continent, they could more easily move against any nation in South America. Many Latins fear Castro "is practicing" in Africa for adventures in South America, according to Pentagon planners.

The result has been to make South American governments more dependent upon the United States for protection. This was a subject that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger discussed with Latin leaders on his recent South American tour, say our sources.

—ASIA: Intelligence reports claim that the Soviets now have approximately 25 per cent of their available combat ground and tactical forces dug in along the cold, barren Russian-Chinese border.

This has caused concern in the Pentagon whose military strategists still consider Russia, not China, to be the greater threat to the United

Weakened vein prelude to clots

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Recently there was an interview on TV in which some doctors said thrombophlebitis arises from mental or physical strain. This was during a discussion of former President Nixon's thrombophlebitis.

I thought long working days, long hours standing, much walking and fatigue were the causes of thrombophlebitis. Am I correct? — M. S.

Partially correct. However, you don't mention weakened (varicose) veins, which must be there to begin with. People with strong vein structure are not susceptible to such problems.

Weakened valves cause a faulty flow of blood "uphill," and this is aggravated by long periods of standing. Sitting also places pressure on the abdomen and on important leg vessels nearby. This abdominal pressure is a reason why some women develop varicose veins in pregnancy.

Thrombophlebitis, inflammation of a vein wall with clot formation, occurs where there is a sluggish flow of blood (stasis). Leg injury, infection or a malignant growth elsewhere in the body can be factors along with the weak veins. Incidentally, about 40 per cent of men and 70 per cent of women develop some degree of varicose veins.

Walking does not promote varicose veins. In fact, it helps by promoting circulation to the limbs. Nor can they be caused by tiring work, unless it involves long periods of standing or sitting. Anything that provokes blood coagulation may lead to clot formation in these weakened veins. Thus the contraceptive pill is discouraged for women with the problem.

There is no direct relationship between mental strain and thrombophlebitis. There are just too many obvious physical factors involved. Men in public life do spend many hours standing stationary (in reception lines). In the case of former President Nixon, photographs of him seated usually showed him to be an habitual "knee-croser." This places extra pressure on the veins supplying the legs and can contribute to the problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The doctor told me my uterus was pulled away and was pushing the cervix, bladder and rectum out of position. He suggested surgery, although it is not urgent.

Is this called a prolapsed uterus? There is no bleeding. Will it cause more trouble later on? I am 68, in good health, and do not want an operation. — Mrs. M. B.

You have the right name — prolapsed uterus.

Organs are held in position by fibrous tissue. When that tissue weakens, as it can with the uterus in women who have had several children, then both the uterus and the cervix descend into the vagina. Eventually, the bladder follows suit.

Much as you dislike the idea of surgery, it might be your best bet. No need to burden your later years unnecessarily with such unpleasantness.

It is a commonly performed operation with a good success rate. The surgeon secures the structures in their proper places. Your good health is another reason your doctor suggests the surgery. That's a plus for you, and you should probably take advantage of it.

You also have the luxury of time in which to schedule the operation for when it best suits you. Meanwhile a ring pessary can be inserted into the vagina as a temporary aid.

If you are unalterably opposed to surgery, a pessary can serve you tolerably well for years.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

'Love Train'
LaCosta more refreshing than showers during June

By MARJ CARPENTER
"It's almost like being back home to come to West Texas," LaCosta said here Wednesday night as she ran out of the arena after a performance that brought a lot of applause from the West Texas crowd.
The Columbia recording artist has had top sales with her record "Love Train" and also is known for her recording of "Western Man" and "Show Me the Way."
She was almost home when she got to Big Spring because she was born in Seminole and raised in Denver City. Her first public performance was at an amateur show in Snyder when she was four years old.
She graduated out at Willcox, Ariz., from high school and went into singing along with her sister.
When asked if LaCosta was her real name, she laughed. "It really is. I was named for a woman named LaCosta

Farm Bureau leaders will speak at Waco

WACO — An outstanding array of speakers will address the Texas Farm Bureau Statewide Commodity Conference for Policy Development July 6-7 in Waco. Sessions will be in the Waco Convention Center.
County Farm Bureau presidents and chairmen of county peanut, rice, cotton and dairy commodity divisions are invited to the Waco meeting which will get under way at 3 p.m., July 6.
The meeting is being held in preparation for the organization's policy development process which gets under way soon in counties.
Local commodity meetings have been held recently in counties to "surface" issues related to those commodities. These issues will be discussed at the statewide conference and recommendations made for consideration at county annual conventions later in the year.
Congressman W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, vice chairman of the U.S. House Agriculture Committee, will talk on the "Farm Program Outlook for 1977" at the opening session.
Two Farm Bureau leaders will speak at a banquet that evening at the Holiday Inn on Interstate 35. Bob Delano, vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation and president of the Virginia Farm Bureau, will discuss "National Legislation in 1977." TFB president Carrol Chaloupka will speak on "Action Today — Results Tomorrow."
Farm Bureau and agricultural research and education officials will address a general session Wednesday morning. John Datt, director of the AFBF's Washington office, will discuss "Government Regulations and You in 1977." Dr. Jarvis Miller, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, will speak on "Research for Low Cost Production."
"Extension Education Needs for Texas Producers" will be handled jointly by Dr. H. O. Kunkel, dean of Agriculture at Texas A&M University; and Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, new Agricultural Extension director.

YOU'RE INVITED
To attend the Pastor's class at First Baptist Church, Dr. Patrick will begin a survey of the New Testament this Sunday at 9:45 a.m. If you are not a member of any Sunday School class — join your friends and neighbors here.

Hail damages cotton in Lomax area
The Wednesday night storm was accompanied by hail which proved harmful to cotton in some areas.
Serious damage occurred in the Lomax area where golf-ball size hail stripped foliage from cotton in some fields.
The Howard County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office notes these options for producers who sustained hail damage:
1. No report by the producer is necessary if the crop will be carried through the harvest.
2. A report must be filed with the local ASCS office if the producer intends to replant the cropland to cotton or another crop. The report must be filed before plowing up the damaged crop. In addition, the crop must be appraised before destroying the crop residue.

No 'sporting chance' for women's sports

AUSTIN — Higher education is retrenching and thereby male athletic programs also may have to retrench, the executive associate of the Association of American Colleges said recently.

Dr. Bernice Sandler made that observation at a University of Texas Conference on Student Personnel Administration in Higher Education. Her remarks were included in an address devoted to Title IX of the Education Amendments Act of 1972 that forbids sex discrimination against students and employees in education programs receiving federal assistance.

The Title IX provision pertaining to equal opportunity for women in sports is, according to Dr. Sandler, "one of the most complex to deal with."

CHILDREN IN THE Summer Reading Program, under the direction of Jan Stephenson, children's librarian, make boats, planes, trains, and various other modes of modern transportation Wednesday morning from 10:30-11:30. Other activities the children can take part in are films, visits to museums and group games.

Library site of varied activities for children

Reading isn't the only thing going on at the library. Along with the 1976 theme "Movin' On . . . Then and Now," the Summer Reading Program sponsors various other activities also relating to transportation.

Each Wednesday from 10:30-11:30 a.m., children gather under the direction of Jan Stephenson at the Howard County Library for story telling, coloring, making a transportation mural, field trips to the Heritage Museum, singing and games.

Wednesday, June 23, the children made cars, trucks, boats, trains and airplanes. The librarians gathered the supplies from old stock boxes, coke cans from the staff lounge and egg cartons.

The program is sponsored by the state library which furnishes posters and the reading logs. Howard County also has a Story Hour on Friday mornings.

"You never know how it's going to work out, whether you've planned enough or too much, but it's always a lot of fun," said the children's librarian.

Wednesday's morning hour is part of a larger program which focuses on reading for enjoyment.

Held on successive Wednesdays until August 10, except for the Wednesday following July 4, the program encourages children to read at least 12 books during the summer. Upon completion, children will receive a certificate presented at an awards ceremony 7 p.m. August 10 at the Pioneer Gas Room.

Any child that can read may register at any time.

Mom anxious about teens' crash diets

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters, 16 and 19, who eat like stevedores, then force themselves to up-chuck so they can eat again without gaining any weight. They also take a lot of laxatives for the same reason.

About a year ago they were both overweight and went on a diet I thought was sensible at the time. But after they got skinny, they started with the throwing-up business and laxatives to stay thin.

I have tried to tell them they are ruining their stomachs, but they won't listen to me. They are both underweight now and think they look wonderful. They look sick to me.

I am beginning to think there is something more wrong with these girls than just the determination to be thin. Would a psychiatrist help?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes, a psychiatrist would help. The condition from which your daughters are suffering is well-known to the medical profession. I urge you to get the girls into therapy as soon as possible.

DEAR ABBY: You were much too soft on smokers when you said: "Don't give the back of your hand to those who have to recognize the hazard of their habit or are unable (or unwilling) to give it up."

Abby, the air pollution generated by smokers has too long been tolerated by nonsmokers, whether out of timidity, ignorance or lifelong training. There is now ample evidence that tobacco smoke is just as injurious to the health of exposed nonsmokers as it is to that of smokers. Furthermore, it stinks, clings to clothing, hair and upholstery, and fogs windows.

You can bet your syndication that I don't permit people to smoke in my home or car!

W.H. VAN DEN BERG

DEAR VAN: I am hearing from an increasing number of readers who say they have finally gathered the guts to tell their guests that if they must smoke, please go outside. (And I just may join their ranks.)

Senior girls hold shower

Mrs. Sam Jones, the former Teri Airhart, was honored with a shower May 12 by senior girls at Klondike School. Hostesses were Lesli David, Janna O'Brien, Jackie Fancher, Ronee Robinett, Cyndie Mullins, Susan Hill, Glenda Langston, Bonnie Keane, Debra Hayes and Teresa Barron.

Guests were served punch and cake from a table centered with a white and yellow arrangement of daisies. Honoree and the mothers were presented daisy corsages by the hostesses.

Mrs. Jones was honored with a shower in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric May 5. Serving at the shower were Tracey Airhart and Tanya Airhart. Elonna Airhart registered the guests. Hostesses were Nellie May Beckmeyer, Inez Turner, Loma Clemens, Naomi Hayes, Judy Turner, Mary Lane Peterson, Sandra Bearden, Peggy Webb, Joyce Hanson, and Lola Dennis.

Other hostesses were Carol Schriener, Billie Fern Foster, Nancy Ferguson, Sue Davis, Pat Warren, Ila Smith, Janice Cope, Martha Stone, Lillie Fay Seely, Penny Maxwell and Shirley Brown.

Clubhouse

Newcomers

The Newcomer's Bridge Club played Wednesday in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Gas Company. Guests introduced were Mrs. Linda Fraser, Mrs. Mary Getchell, and Mrs. Suzanne Haney. New members are Mrs. Carolyn Holliday and Mrs. Joyce Ydancy.

Mrs. Katherine Bartholomew was the winner, and Mrs. Carolyn Holliday won second place. Bridge-o was won by Mrs. Jo Munsell. Hostess was Mrs. Linda Fontes.

The next bridge meeting will be held on July 14, at 9:30 a.m. in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Gas Company. Interested persons are invited to attend.

DAVets

Members of the DAV Auxiliary met Monday evening in the VFW Hall for a salad supper and for election of officers.

The group presented Mrs. Katie Spivey and Mrs. Margaret Caldwell with photo albums in appreciation for the work they have done this year.

Mrs. Oletha O'Neal and Mrs. Gladys Miller reported on the state convention in Austin. They brought back two citations for the Big Spring Auxiliary. The citations were recognizing the auxiliary for meeting its membership quota, and for merits of achievement during the past year.

Mrs. Miller reported on a birthday party conducted at the state hospital. Mrs. Delores Scott reported serving approximately 80 patients refreshments June 12. She was assisted by Mrs. Lois Ferguson and Mrs. Fannie Clark.

Mrs. O'Neal installed officers for the coming year. They are Mrs. Spivey, commander; Mrs. Nelda Burkhardt, senior vice-commander; Mrs. Delores Scott, junior vice-commander; Mrs. Caldwell, adj.-treasurer; Mrs. Myrtle True, chaplain; Mrs. Clark, state executive committee-woman; Mrs. Miller, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Ferguson, alternate.

Next meeting for the group is at 7:30 p.m. July 19 in the VFW Hall.

Rainbows

Miss Kaci Bunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bunn, received the degree of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls at the initiation Tuesday evening in the Masonic Temple.

Miss Pam Parmenter, worthy advisor, presided. Mrs. Zina Wood and Mrs. Sarah Lou Armstrong, both past grand representatives, were introduced.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pat Parmenter, Mrs. Wood, Miss Parmenter and Miss Cindy Roberts.

Knott Post Office to escape closure

The Knott Post Office, the only fourth-class facility in the Big Spring area, is not being recommended for closure like some small rural post offices, Frank Hardesty, Big Spring Postmaster, said.

"I just don't see anything anywhere in our county that's in danger," Hardesty said.

Private individuals may be contracted to replace fourth-class post offices which are closed or rural or star routes may be established, Hardesty said.

The Midland section center is one of the few which make mail deliveries to post office boxes on Sunday, B. W. (Bill) Jackson, assistant section center manager, said.

He predicted that Sunday service would be discontinued in this area soon because of the little mail being distributed Sundays.

Oil drilling complex blast hurts five men

SNYDER — The Go International Inc. plant here was the scene Thursday afternoon of an explosion which injured five men and caused major damage to the oil drilling complex.

The blast occurred at approximately 4:35 p.m., when a burning 55-gallon drum, containing a loosening agent for oil bits, was detonated.

The five men injured in the explosion were Carl Basin, 35; Russell Parnell, 32; Eddie Kirby, 30; Pat Morris, 24; and Alejandro Gonzales, 26. All were taken to a Snyder hospital for examination and treatment.

A police department spokesman, Capt. Henry Holley, said several of the employees were standing in a nearby doorway when the blast occurred.

Holley said that burning material thrown out of the drum set off a grass fire adjacent to the plant. Holley added that the force of the explosion knocked windows out of the plant building and caused light fixtures within the structure to fall. Several vehicles were damaged and material was blown through the side of the building.

Emergency communications demonstration scheduled here

Antennas will spring up on Scenic Mountain this weekend like an angry porcupine.

The Big Spring Amateur Radio Club, Inc. will take part in a nationwide amateur radio practice demonstration on emergency communications.

Across the nation, some 12,000 radio "hams" will take part in the demonstration with the 30 members of the local club to man their stations from noon Saturday continuously until Sunday night.

The club will set up on Scenic Mountain at noon Saturday and the public is invited to come up and view the contest, according to Guilford Jones III, active in the local organization.

The full day of exercise will also include a national contest to see how many different ham radio stations can be contacted.

Organ recital scheduled Sunday

The music department of the First Baptist Church will feature Dr. Albert Lance Travis, associate professor of music at Dallas Baptist College, in a sacred organ concert at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

In addition to this concert, he will be guest organist at the morning worship service at 11 a.m.

This is the second annual organ concert since the church received their new Allen Digital Computer Organ as a gift from the D. L. Dorland family.

Dr. Travis is organist at First Baptist Church in Richardson in addition to his duties as professor at Dallas

DR. ALBERT TRAVIS
Baptist.
A native of Batesville, Miss., he graduated from Oklahoma Baptist University and received a MM degree from Syracuse University and the doctorate of musical arts from the University of Michigan.

From 1964-65, he was a German government grant student and studied with Helmut Walcha in Frankfurt, West Germany. He has frequently served as organist for Music Week at Glorieta Baptist Assembly.

He has performed concerts in New York, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia, Ohio, Michigan and West German, as well as Texas. He has also performed with the Jackson, Miss. symphony.

THE CONTINENTAL SINGERS
... due on Monday

Continental Singers due at Comanche Trail Park

The internationally known Continental Singers and Orchestra will present a live concert of contemporary Christian music on June 28 at the Comanche Trail Park Amphitheater at 8 p.m.

Their two hour performance, "A Celebration of Musical Praise," includes anthems, spirituals, hymn arrangements and contemporary gospel music.

Also, they will feature selections from "The Apostle" and other Cam Florida musicals, plus a stirring American Bicentennial production — "Here's Life, America!"

Selected by audition from thousands of high school and college-age young people across the nation and around the world, the Continental Singers are highly trained and talented musicians.

Consisting of 24 vocalists and a 12-piece orchestra, they are completely equipped with sound and lighting for the staging of their performance.

The Continental Singers have been on tour each summer since 1963. In addition to performing in all fifty of the United States, they have toured throughout Europe, South America, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the Orient, the Caribbean Islands and Canada.

Last summer they spent six days in the Communist countries of Poland and East Germany singing to over 12,000 people.

This summer the Continental Singers will perform in every section of the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, as well as ten European countries, Canada, the West Indies, Japan, Taiwan, Singapore, the Philippines and the Communist countries of Poland, East Germany, and Czechoslovakia.

Their summer tour begins with an intensive ten-day rehearsal in the Los Angeles area. Traveling from 100 to 500 miles daily by bus, boat or plane, they will perform nightly during their 75-day tour. Concerts are held in military bases, hospitals, churches, auditoriums, outdoor pavilions.

The Continental Singers have performed on local and national television both in the United States and overseas. They have recorded eleven record albums on the Word and Light labels, the latest being "I Believe in Heaven" and "Majesty and Glory."

Continental Singers are a presentation of Continental Ministries of Thousand Oaks, California, Cam Florida, president. They are sponsored in Big Spring by the Hillcrest Baptist Church, Collins Moore Jr., pastor.

Christian Youth Fellowship leaders take part in retreat

Two young people from Big Spring are currently sharing in leadership of the West Central Texas Christian Youth Fellowship Conference being held at Lake Brownwood Christian Retreat in Brownwood.

Barry Rosson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rosson, and Jan Hoover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hoover, are among ten high school-age young people sharing in the leadership of this event.

Sponsored by the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), C.Y.F. Conference is an annual summer camping experience for high school youths from the West Central Area, a geographical area from Midland to Stephenville. Other similar events are offered during the summer for other areas of Texas.

The conference is being directed by Dr. Phil Miller, associate minister of the First Christian Church in Abilene. The master teacher is Dr. Bryan Feille, associate minister of the First Christian Church of Wichita Falls.

Approximately one hundred young people will be involved in the event.

C.Y.F. Conference is a six-day event held on facilities owned and operated by the Christian Church of West Central Texas.

The event includes opportunities in growth through presentations of the master teacher, group discussion and feedback, leadership development, expression labs in crafts, art, music, drama, and worship, as well as experiences in traditional and creative worship, and sports such as swimming, canoeing, sailing, volleyball, tennis, basketball and baseball.

Other young people attending from Big Spring are Kathy Birdwell, Mark Vassar, Jana Kelley and Bridgette Wells.

THE COLLEGIANS
... to sing Tuesday

Nazarenes host vocal ensemble

The Collegians, of Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Oklahoma, will appear at Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster St. on Tuesday, June 29.

The Collegians travel extensively over the four state regions of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, and Louisiana. Thus far in their two years of existence, their travel has taken them over 80,000 miles and presented them in over 500 appearances; ranging from revival services in local churches to summer youth camps and civic organizations, as well as appearances in on-campus activities. All five are members of The Church of the Nazarene.

John Haines, baritone, is a senior religion major from Marietta, Georgia. John plans to enter the Nazarene pastoral ministry.

Steve Coleman, bass, is a junior religion major from North Little Rock, Arkansas. Steve's emphasis in the religion department is in missions.

Tim Marvin, first tenor, is a junior religion major from Lubbock, Texas. Tim plans to enter full time Christian service using both his musical abilities and religion training.

John Dorrough, second tenor, is a senior music major from Wichita Falls, Texas. John plans to enter the field of music or music education.

Dave McDonald, pianist for the group, is a senior music major from Tulsa, Oklahoma. Dave does all of the musical arrangements for the Collegians. He plans to enter full time musical arranging for choirs and other smaller groups.

Bethany Nazarene College is a fully accredited four-year Liberal Arts College located in Bethany, Oklahoma, a suburb of Oklahoma City. Founded in 1899, it is now in its 76th year of Christian education under the leadership of Dr. Stephen W. Nease, president.

Bethany Nazarene College offers majors in 21 fields and masters degrees in religion, elementary and secondary education. BNC is fully accredited in its undergraduate and graduate programs by the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities.

Church leaders view Vietnam

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — An interdenominational delegation of church leaders has returned from a two-week visit to Vietnam, saying churches there are vigorous, and urging U.S. help for rebuilding the war-torn country.

"Such devastation has been brought to that nation that it is imperative that the government of the United States respond with symbolic and substantial help," says United Methodist Bishop James A. Armstrong of Aberdeen, S.D., one of the six-member delegation.

"Americans should be helping and American Christians have a responsibility in Vietnam," says Benard A. Confer, head of Lutheran World Relief, who made the trip.

Baptists slate brush arbor

The First Baptist Church plans to celebrate the Bicentennial with an old fashioned brush arbor tent revival starting July 4-9.

They will hold a dinner at 6:30 p.m. nightly followed by prayer service at 7:15 p.m. and the preaching at 8 p.m. Conducting the revival will be Dr. Carlos R. McLeod of Farmersville.

He holds his doctor of divinity degree from Wayland College, and also attended Howard Payne and Texas Tech, as well as the southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth.

He has been pastor of the First Baptist Church, Halfway; Hillbrun Drive Baptist, Dallas; First Baptist, Silverton; San Jacinto Baptist, Amarillo; and First Baptist, Plainview.

He is a trustee of Wayland Baptist College, member of the Human Welfare Commission of the Baptist General Convention and has held many other important church and civic positions.

Big Spring citizens are invited by the local congregation to set plans to share their tent revival with them starting July 4.

First Presbyterian pastor due installation here this Sunday

The Rev. William F. Henning Jr., will be installed as minister of the First Presbyterian Church in special ceremonies Sunday at 11 a.m. service.

A reception will be held at the church from 4-6 p.m. Sunday in the parlor for all members and friends of the church to meet the new minister.

Members of the commission who will conduct the installation service include Bert Allison Jr., ruling elder of St. Paul Presbyterian Church in Big Spring; J. S.

Bell, ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church in Odessa; Myra B. Robinson, ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church in Big Spring; the Rev. S. C. Guthrie, minister, Presbytery of Tres Rios; the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, minister, Presbytery of Tres Rios; Dr. F. Ray Riddle, associate minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Midland and Dr. R. W. Jablonowski, minister of St. Stephen Presbyterian Church in Fort Worth and Dr. Thomas H. McDill, professor of Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur, Georgia.

The Rev. Henning of Atlanta, Ga. was called by the congregation of First Presbyterian Church at a meeting on May 23. He was received by the Presbytery of Tres Rios at a meeting in Odessa on June 9.

The new minister most recently served as director of support services for the Presbyterian Church in the United States (PCUS). In this position he was treasurer and chief corporate officer for the denomination, having responsibility for media and communications, publishing, and the business affairs of the PCUS.

Most of his ministry prior to going to Atlanta, in 1973, was spent in Texas. He was ordained in 1956, by the Presbytery of Brazos where he served first as assistant pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Beaumont and then as minister of the Robbins Memorial Presbyterian Church in that city.

Former area resident holds 70-year record

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—When Bill T. Adams was seven years old, he showed up for a Sunday school class at a small church in Colorado City, Tex.

When he was 77 years of age, he was there for Sunday school at the Wichita Falls First Baptist Church.

He hadn't missed a Sunday during that 70-year span. Adams, a retired educator, started his string on the second Sunday in June of 1905.

He made the 70-year perfect attendance mark June 13 this year.

The closest Adams came to ruining his record was in 1950 when he was taken to a Wichita Falls hospital for surgery. Deacons of the First Baptist Church passed a resolution to move the Sunday school class to Adams' hospital room. Back in 1933, Adams was on the way to the Chicago World Fair with a group of friends, and convinced them to stop in Peoria, Ill., so he could attend Sunday school.

Adams said in a recent interview that "Sunday school has meant much to my development as a Christian down through the years, and afforded me a place to work in the church with gratifying results."

Adams is to receive a 70-year perfect attendance pin later. Melvin Bradley, the church education director, explained the delay: "They just don't stock many 70-year pins."

During his teaching years, Adams was on the staff of Wichita Falls Junior College, Hardin College and later in government service.

Orthodox group to decentralize

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—Archbishop Iakovos, primate of the Greek Orthodox Church in North and South America, has initiated steps here for decentralizing authority in the body of 2 million members.

The plan, already tentatively approved by the Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople under which the church functions, would shift from collective over-all direction to provincial administration under eight regional bishops.

ONE, TWO, THREE KICK — What looks like a chorus line practice for a dance number is really Cincinnati Reds runner Johnny Bench getting back to second base as Philadelphia Phillies second baseman Dave Cash, right, makes a move to tag him out while Phillies shortstop Larry Bowa tires to influence the umpire's decision. Bench was nearly caught off the bag when Reds batter Doug Flynn hit a fly ball which was caught in the fifth inning of a game in Cincinnati Thursday night.

Baseball's magic moments

Perfect game honored

NEW YORK (AP) — The crewcut is gone, replaced by a more modish, longer style. His hair has turned gray, but the years have been kind to Don Larsen.

It has been two decades since the tall right-hander spun baseball's only World Series no-hitter, a perfect game for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers Oct. 8, 1956.

And baseball has not forgotten that incredible achievement. It has been voted the Most Memorable Moment in World Series-All Star Game history.

Also saluted in the special bicentennial promotion were Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak in 1941, recognized as the American League's Most Memorable Moment, and Hank Aaron's record-breaking 715th career home run, April 8, 1974, the National League's Most Memorable Moment.

Two other category winners, the Most Memorable Personality and the over-all Most Memorable Moment, will be announced at the All-Star Game in Philadelphia next month.

Larsen was as flabbergasted by his selection as the baseball world was when he set down 27 consecutive Dodgers in the fifth game of the 1956 World Series.

"I'm more nervous now than I was 20 years ago," he said. "When the commissioner called me to tell me I had won it, I just about flipped."

The announcement brought back memories of the brisk October day in Yankee Stadium when Larsen wrote baseball history.

"I was okay on the mound," he said. "I was more nervous in the dugout. I mentioned it a couple of times and everybody just walked away."

Baseball tradition believes it is a jinx to mention a no-hitter to a pitcher when he is working on one. Two of the most loquacious Yankees, Manager Casey Stengel and catcher Yogi Berra, steered clear of Larsen as he worked on his masterpiece.

"Casey usually didn't say much if you were pitching a good game," recalled Larsen. "He never said a thing that day. And Yogi never came out to talk to me either. He called a heck of a game and I went with his judgment on every batter."

In the ninth inning, the pressure became intense. Larsen said he felt weakened as he worked on the final three Brooklyn batters.

When Larsen whipped a called third strike past pinchhitter Dale Mitchell for the final out, Berra raced out and jumped into his arms, wrapping his chunky legs around the lanky pitcher's waist.

It was a magic moment for the pitcher who, except for that single day, had a mediocre career with an 81-91 won-lost log for 14 major league seasons.

Larsen, now a sales representative for a San Jose, Calif., paper manufacturer, often is asked about his perfect game and his brush with baseball immortality. He never tires of talking about it. "Why should I?" he wondered.

Two old Dodgers keep LA in race

HOUSTON (AP) — Ted Sizemore played second base for St. Louis last season and lefthander Tommy John sat out the entire campaign with an injured left elbow as the Dodgers finished a distant second behind division champion Cincinnati.

Now both players are back with Los Angeles, and their presence is reflected in the National League West standings.

Sizemore, returning to Los Angeles after five years with the Cardinals, drove home three runs with a pair of singles and John scattered seven hits over the first seven innings Thursday as the Dodgers defeated the Houston Astros 5-1 to move to within three and a half games of division-leading Cincinnati.

John, 44, was relieved in the eighth by right-hander Charlie Hough as the Dodgers swept their two-game series with Houston. Astros starter Larry Dierker, 6-7, fell victim to all five Dodgers runs in absorbing the loss.

The Astros jumped on John for a third-inning run on a single by Roger Metzger. Dierker's sacrifice and Rob Andrews' run-scoring base hit.

The Dodgers tied it in the fourth on Bill Buckner's double, a single by Reggie Smith and Bob Watson's infield error.

Rangers rip Royals, move to within two

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Rangers have suddenly found themselves a patsy who fortunately happens to be their No. 1 rival in the American League West Division.

The Rangers took advantage of clutch pitching by veterans Steve Hargan and Joe Hoerner and Kansas City mental lapses to rip the Royals 5-2 Thursday night and move within two games of them in the hottest chase in baseball.

"They have beat the hell out of us for two years, but now our guys feel they can be had," said Rangers Manager Frank Lucchesi.

The crippled Royals have dropped six consecutive games and have lost four straight to the Rangers — a team they owned with a 14-4 season record in 1975.

Lucchesi said, "I wish we had them in town for a couple more games, because when a team gets going bad it very often gets worse."

"It should be a very interesting race, but if you think I'm fool enough to predict it will be between Kansas City and Texas, you're crazy. It is way too early in the year for that kind of talk."

"I do have a lot of confidence in my team. We are kind of a streaky club but that is because we are young. Our veteran pitching staff should help settle the club down."

The Royals turned in a dismal display of base running as they saw three runners thrown out. On the other end of the scale, Texas twice scored runs after the Royals picked off Rangers base runners and then threw the ball away.

Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog was livid in the Royals' dressing room, fuming. "That's the worse game we've played since I've been here. We ran into five outs on the bases and gave them three runs."

"I never thought I'd see these guys play like that. I never imagined we've ever be that bad."

Pate frets cut Dickson leads

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Jerry Pate says he is emotionally and physically drained, can't hit full, solid shots anymore and just hopes he can make the cut today in the Western Golf Open.

After playing 85 rounds this year and winning the U.S. Open Sunday, the 22-year-old four rookie says he is taking next week off before going to the British Open.

"Phones have been ringing so much I hear them in my sleep," said Pate. "Before I started Thursday's first round I was trying to eat breakfast at 7 a.m. and at the same time talk to a sports fella making me an offer."

Pate's first-round card was marred by eight bogeys on a seven-over-par 78. He will have to struggle Friday to make the cut, which figures to be around 149.

Faced with the same thing, also with 78, is Tom Watson, current British Open champion and 1974 Western winner.

Pate said, "I drove well but I hit five or six approach irons short and took bogeys. I tried as hard as I could, but I guess I'm tired out."

Meanwhile, Bob Dickson, winless since 1973, will try to keep his game together to maintain a two-stroke lead. He took advantage of clearing afternoon weather at the soggy Butler National Course to come in four under par with 67.

"I putted well, capitalized on a few good breaks, and kept the ball in play, which is really the secret on this course," said Dickson, who has won only $20,224 this year. "I missed only two fairways and when I did I had shots to the green. It was by far my most satisfying round of the year."

Bruce Crampton, seeking his first tour victory of the year, missed putts of 5 and 4 feet that cost two bogeys as he fashioned a 69. He had three birdies on the back side in opening his bid for a second Western Open title.

Veteran Charles Coody and tour rookie George Burns were the only others to break par with 70s.

Three rookies — Tony Cerda, Rex Caldwell and Ted Goin — were among nine players bracketed at par 71.

In this group were Al Geiberger, having one of his best years on the circuit, and defending champion Hale Irwin, who double-bogeyed the last hole when a bad drive hit trees and plunked into the water.

BSGA tournament Sunday

The Big Spring Golf Association will have its fifth tournament of the year Sunday on the Munny course.

It will be a Louisiana Draw. Players must be registered by noon and have their $3.00 entry fee paid by 12:30. Tee off time for the shotgun start will be 1:30.

To be eligible for the Grand Tournament a member must have participated in four of the eight

THIRD BASE SCENARIO — Everybody is where he's supposed to be and doing his job in this scene from Thursday night's first place playoff game between the Pollard Chevrolet Cardinals and the Big Spring Herald Bangers. Ranger third baseman Robert Eggleston reaches for throw from catcher, after a wild pitch, shortstop Dennis Perea backs him up, umpire James Griffin is in position to make call and runner Kip McLaughlin has his foot safely tucked into third with his tongue safely tucked between his teeth. The Cards won 6-1.

Johnson 4-hits Rangers Cards win NLL title

The Pollard Chevrolet Cardinals whipped the Big Spring Herald Rangers 6-1 Thursday night to win their playoff for first place in the National Little League.

Randy Johnson scattered four hits while striking out 12 to pick up the win. Matt Warren sparked the Cards at the plate knocking in three runs and scoring their fourth run in the team's four run fifth inning.

Pete Valenzuela rapped Johnson for two of the Rangers hits and knocked in their only run. Ramon Dominguez was charged with the loss. The Cardinals finished with a 14-2 record while the Rangers came in at 13-3. The Cardinals will be host to the Oilers of the American League Monday night, June 28, while the Cards will host the winners of the Texas League Tigers and International League Talons Tuesday night. The entire schedule of the Big Spring Little League City Championship will be in Sunday's Herald.

The Cardinals were able to tie the Rangers because they beat the Rebels Tuesday night 18-5. George Bancroft hurled a three-hitter to register the win. Kip McLaughlin, Chris Austin, Randy Johnson and Matt Warren all rapped out two or more hits for the victors.

Bill Baum slapped two hits for the Rebels (5-10). The game was called after four innings due to bad weather.

Score by innings (Tuesday):
Rebels 010 4 — 5 3 5
Cards 450 9 18 17 4

Score by innings (Thursday):
Cards 200 040 6 6 0
Rangers 100 000 1 4 3

Miss Softball America Angels smash Crystals

The Blue Angels concluded their season on a bright note smashing the Crystals 22-7.

Peggy Calhoun (6-4), the winning pitcher, smacked two home runs and Amy Cooper and Karla Fierson each cracked one round tripper. The win evened the Angels season record at six and six. Debra Green took the loss despite homers by her and Dineta Spears.

Evette DeLeon and Christy Martin each had big hits for the Angels victory. The winners' cause was helped quite a bit by the defense turning over two doubleplays.

Misfits mistreat Elks

The Forsan Oil Well Service Misfits won the first game of the Miss Softball America Minor League city playoffs 15-8 over the Elks.

Losing hurler Diana Martinez shutdown Karla Gregar's potent bat, but Gregar (5-1) received enough support from her teammates to register the win.

Lori Calhoun sparked the Misfits 14-hit attack by drilling four hits. Cynthia Elizabeto and Dana Thomas each cracked three hits. Donna Anderson had two hits and Karla Nix, Vicky Baggett and Mary McDiffitt had one apiece.

Martinez struck two of the Elks' nine hits. C. Hernandez, Laura Varren, T. Washington, Lue Hernandez, L. Wilkerson and A. Burleson each rapped out one.

Women's lib hits Wimbledon tourney

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Under the threat of a women's boycott of Wimbledon next year, the All-England Club is expected today to answer demands from Chris Evert and other top women tennis stars for equal pay with the men.

"Percentage-wise, we want equality. And unless we get it next year, we won't come," said Miss Evert, the 21-year-old honey blonde from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and No. 1 seed for the women's title.

This year the men's champion will get $21,875 while the women's champion will get $17,500. There is also less for the other women prize winners.

Miss Evert, president of the Women's Tennis Association, said the WTA was asking its members to sign a form agreeing to boycott Wimbledon in 1976 unless their demands are met.

She declined further comment on the dispute

Thursday after leading the women's seeds through to the fourth round by cruising past Lesley Hunt of Australia 6-1, 6-0.

"I shall be meeting the All-England Club and presenting our case Friday morning," she said.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Henry Thames, Big Spring, was among the more than 18,000 people attending the 61st annual convention of Kiwanis International in San Diego, Calif., June 20-23. Thames was present during the election of new Kiwanis International officers and trustees, the passing of resolutions upon which the organization's 1976-77 community service programs will be built, and the amending of the Kiwanis International constitution. Kiwanis International, a worldwide men's service organization, has over 282,000 members in 6,800 clubs located in 50 countries or geographical areas of the world.

Among noted individuals speaking before the conventioners were famed Olympic track star Jesse Owens, Phoenix, Ariz.; Virginia Graham, well-known television and fashion show host; Dr. Robert H. Schuller, nationally-recognized television evangelist on "The Hour of Power"; and Kiwanis International President Ted R. Osborn, Lexington, Kentucky. Other convention activities included various awards luncheons and banquets.

The Civil War nobody knows — III

Gray tide at Valverde

By the end of February, 1862, America realizes that her less-than-year-old Civil War promises no quick end, but a fearfully drawn-out struggle. In fearful fighting, Richmond has refused to fall. At Fort Donelson on the Tennessee, some new Union general named Grant has exacted unconditional surrender. Fighting has spread to Missouri and Arkansas. Rumors surface about iron ships that float — a Confederate Merrimac, a Union Monitor. A long, grim war.

a crack Union artillery battery, his ragged troopers have taken to themselves what will prove their only western trophy, yet even in defeat, a symbol of prim heroism seldom matched in our military annals. But that is getting ahead of things. With some 3,800 men in central New Mexico — less than half of them regulars — Col. Edward R. S. Canby had chosen the battleground. Near Socorro on the mountain-girt Rio Grande, he felt that the walls of Fort Craig provided his West's best stronghold. Most of Canby's troops were hurriedly-enlisted New Mexico militia, and even one of their commanders, the indomitable scout, Kit Carson, doubted his men's zeal for battle. Against Indians, yes; they had held this country for more than two centuries. But these men had little interest in the cause of either North or South.

Time, terrain and weather he knew were on his side. His spies reported that Sibley's army was freezing and had scarcely two weeks' rations remaining. And that army had toiled north, 200 miles from El Paso into the teeth of mountain winter. Now, if he could repel attack on this fort. SIBLEY'S BRIGADE does not attack. From desert rock and fort walls for a week, almost seven thousand men stare at each other, while sand and snowstorm beset them all. Then the Confederates — a column of 3,000 men with their long, creaking supply train — take a strange gamble. Short of the fort, they leave the meagre riverbank road and across fourteen miles of volcanic rock and scrubby sand hummocks, hack their own new trail. They will bypass Craig and regain the Rio Grande's water to the north. For almost three thirtortured days, they toil their desert circle, wagons breaking down, teams stampeding for drink. Just beyond artillery range, Craig's defenders watch, faint occasional attack, raid the strung-out lines at night. Then under the stern half-cone of a mountain called Black Mesa, the guard and landmark of Valverde ford even today, Canby's men come out to hold the crossing. Like almost all other battles, Valverde is an unrelenting if confused struggle by each adversary to turn his enemy's flank. All day, February 21, it fills the narrowly-confined, bosqued approaches with charge and counter attack. A Federal assault is thrown back; Confederate lancers are decimated in canister, then a battalion in head-on charge. But that charge proves a feint. THE MAIN attack sweeps a quarter mile to the river where six guns had been crossed, takes those guns at shotgun point, pins Canby's troops against Black Mesa and the river itself. Cold twilight sees very nearly a rout. Then Sibley's strange decision. Instead of assaulting the fort with its own guns, he grants an astonishing two-days' truce. After that it is too late; the Confederate Army of New Mexico will eat and rest and sleep warm another night. Not all of them will sleep warm; that was the other pyrrhic factor in the victory. The night raids against Sibley's exposed, desert-circling column had burned most of the First Regiment's wagons and had stampeded its teams. The battle had cost their horses. They were now afoot, without tents and blankets. And it had begun to snow harder. SIEGE IS UNTHINKABLE. Then leave Fort Craig "corked in its bottle," Sibley exhorts. Supply dumps lie ahead, at Albuquerque, Santa Fe and — prize of them all — at lightly-held Fort Union, only 300 more miles northward.

Sibley's men, suffering and furious, take up the line of march. No choice but north; the other way, starvation waits. RETREAT IS not far ahead. Before that comes a battle won and a strategy lost in a narrow-walled canyon debacle called Gorieta Pass by the Gray. The Blue will know it as Apache Canyon and Pigeon's Ranch, high in the mountains east of Santa Fe. By whatever name, it will prove to be the first Gettysburg — the one in the West. Next: Gettysburg at Gorieta.

YET ALMOST UNKNOWN to the country — telegraph scarcely reaches beyond the Mississippi — its new West appears very nearly in the hands of the Confederacy. On February 21, 100 miles south of Albuquerque, General Henry H. Sibley's Army of New Mexico — principally Texas cavalry — has won a signal victory at a rocky Rio Grande ford named Valverde. Tiny Albuquerque is about to burn and Santa Fe, to fall. Within a week, Arizona Rangers will hoist the Stars and Bars over Tucson and post scouts near Fort Yuma on the California line. High tide, Confederacy west. There is no way to know that in victory, Sibley has planted the seeds of ultimate failure, and in the capture of

STILL, CANBY reasoned that they were as tested as the rawhide troopers nearing collision with them. He had a sprinkling of other westerners, principally Colorado mountain men; he occupied the strengthened redoubts at Fort Craig with excellent artillery and the best small arms in the army. He had faced his problems — high command disinterest

LEGAL NOTICE
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS AMENDING THE TITLE 18 OF THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS, CONCERNING RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES AT MOSS CREEK LAKE AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SECTION 18.01 AND SECTION 18.02 THAT, Section 18.01 shall read as follows:

Section 18.01. Fees. (a) Admission. No person shall enter the Moss Creek Lake area without paying a $0.50 fee for each motor vehicle.

Any person holding an annual fishing permit will be exempt from this fee. (b) Fishing. No person shall fish in Moss Creek Lake without having first procured a fishing permit from the lake attendant. Fees for fishing permits shall be as follows:

(1) Annual permit for resident of the City of Big Spring: $5.00

(2) Annual permit for non-resident of the City of Big Spring: $10.00

(3) Daily permits, each in individual: $0.50

No fishing fee shall be charged for children under seventeen (17) years of age or adults sixty five (65) years of age or over. Daily permits shall be considered in effect from 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Annual permits shall be considered in effect from January 1 to January 1.

The lake attendant may revoke any permit issued under this section for any period not exceeding one (1) year if the holder thereof violates any provisions of this chapter or any rule or regulation governing the lake or its surroundings. Notice of such revocation shall be given in writing and the holder may appeal to the City Council by filing a notice of appeal with the City Secretary within ten (10) days after the notice of revocation. Failure to so appeal shall render the action of the lake attendant final.

Section 18.02. Size of boat motors. Boat having more than fifteen (15) horsepower are expressly prohibited on Moss Creek Lake. No person shall operate a motor boat, aqua plane or any other water vehicle on said lake which has a motor of more than fifteen (15) horsepower.

Ridin' fence
Money goes to rodeos

Why do cowboys follow the rodeo? Many people ask that when they first view one of those events and find out that the performers pay their own expenses to compete for prize money that some of them never win.

It's kind of like anything else that's a little bit exciting or unusual. It gets in your blood. There's plenty of people who ask why anybody stays in reporting? It's only because we get to liking it.

And we think possibly rodeo performers are the same. They get to liking it. They enjoy each other's company. They enjoy the competition. And they must enjoy traveling up to a point.

We are sure that even those who like to travel finally get enough of it as they jitty back and forth across the United States from one event to another.

For years and years and more than I like to recall, I've gone to rodeos. When I first got married, my husband liked to try his hand at a little calf roping in his spare time and we went to many a South Texas roping.

But when he decided that he just didn't have enough time and really wasn't very good at it, we still followed the shows every chance we got.

I remember getting severely lectured by an economy minded mother-in-law for spending so much money following the rodeos.

At that point her son made up a little song that he would sing to her: "That's where our money goes, to go to rodeos. Nobody's business if we do, do."

She didn't think too much of that song. But we had a lot of fun.

Rodeo people are a fine bunch of folks. I've seen them pitch in and help out when they knew a performer that was hurt was really in dire straits. I've seen them loan each other expensive horses, and help teach their knowledge to those just learning.

I've seen them really rejoice for a friend when he began to be a winner. I've seen children raised around rodeo performing parents grow up and be top performers themselves.

Coahoma swimming pool plans advanced

The Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission board of directors gave the first step of approval for funds for a Coahoma swimming pool.

The group met Wednesday and approved a request by Coahoma for $50,000 from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The request still has to go to these state boards for their approval.

Coahoma will add $50,000 to the project if approved. The board also approved grants for Midland, Odessa and Andrews.

They agreed to hold the regional planning commission's semiannual meeting in Fort Stockton during the last two weeks of July, with a date to be set.

NO CAVITIES — Lisa Chin, 4, of Boston looks at the new 100-foot dragon given to Boston's Chinatown as a Bicentennial gift from Taiwan. The dragon will make its debut during Chinatown's August 22 Moon Celebration.

Jaycees sponsoring fun in park July 5

The Big Spring Jaycees are sponsoring the Fifth of July celebration in Comanche Trail Park which opens at 10 a.m. with bicycle racing sponsored by the Elks Club.

Patriotic speakers will be featured at 11 a.m. with Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery in charge of this event. There will also be square dancers with Gary Davis as chairman.

The noon luncheon sponsored by the Evening Lions Club will be served at noon and catered by Al's Barbecue.

There will also be a parade through the park, a beard growing contest, a bubble gum blowing contest, horseshoe pitching and tug of war. The parade is at 1 p.m. followed by the beard judging at 2 p.m. and bubble gum contest at 2:30. Horseshoe pitching is at 3 p.m. and the tug-of-war follows.

The Big Spring Art Association will have a display under the pavillion and the Airport Baptist Church will have a puppet show on a wagon. The Immaculate Heart of Mary group will sell Cokes and the Volunteer Services from the Big Spring State Hospital

ASU to host med personnel

SAN ANGELO — Nurses and medical personnel from across a wide area of Texas will gather in San Angelo for two seminar sessions at Angelo State University July 16 and August 20.

The seminar on "Pharmacological Considerations in Patient Care" is sponsored by the Concho Valley Continuing Education Committee for Nurses and the Division of Adult and Continuing Education at ASU. Each session will present different information on up-to-date nursing practices relating to drug therapy.

Registration fee for each part is $15 before July 6. The fee is $17.50 after that date. Cost for the combined two-session seminar is $25 before July 6.

Interested persons should contact the Adult and Continuing Education Office, PO Box 11022, ASU Station, San Angelo, 76901, or call 942-2339.

The fee includes a luncheon and all printed information to be handed out.

will sell decals and albums. Parents without Partners will sell cakes, pies and sandwiches and the Immaculate Heart Youth group will sell burritos and lemonade.

Sig Rogers will have a gospel singing trailer on Sunday. Other items on Monday include a motorcycle safety display, Mrs. E. L. Long, display of oil works; Elks Club, watermelon sale; Ladies Auxiliary of the Elks, dart throwing and ring the Cokes. Dorothy Earhart will have a jewelry and dried flower sale and Jaycees sponsor the dunking booth. Miss Softball America and Mexican American Service Council also have a concession stand.
