About 60 killed in flood

Rain delays rescue

SLICED ROADWAY — Motor vehicles are backed up and stranded Sunday on either side of a slice knocked by flood waters from U.S. 34 through the Big Thompson Canyon. The river rushes by on the left.

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP) — Survivors of a weekend flash flood huddled on mountainsides and in isolated homes today as rains and winds forced a delay in air rescue attempts. Officials said the flood killed about 60 persons, and they said "dozens" more bodies may be found.

The National Weather Service said it appeared there would be no break in the weather for at least two days. Capt. Rich Hovey, the Larimer County sheriff's press spokesman, said it was thought that most of the critically ill or injured survivors were evacuated on Sunday from the Big Thompson Canyon.

"At this stage, except for three coronaries we have up there, everybody is the same," Hovey said. "To the best of our knowledge, everybody who had some major problem was not in there last night."

He said the persons with cardiac conditions were reported by rescued friends or relatives, who said the three had histories of heart trouble.

Authorities said recovery of the dead from the Big Thompson River flood, reported strewn along the walls of the Big Thompson Canyon, was their last priority. Dave Feldman, chief of investigative services for police in nearby Fort Collins, said it could take weeks to locate the dead, and some never may be found.

Nearly 150 National Guardsmen, law enforcement officers and volunteers waited for orders as search leaders mapped their strategy.

Helicopters were to be used today to ferry the survivors, many of whom were trapped on inaccessible patches of high ground, to safety. But the rain that began again Sunday night continued today, grounding air rescue equipment.

"Helicopters will be grounded until they can get in, perhaps by noon," said John Englebert, chief of operations for the Larimer County Sheriff's Department. "We've got steady rains into Estes Park and some winds."

There was no immediate estimate on the number stranded. Gov. Richard Lamm, in asking President Ford for disaster assistance, said 250 persons were reported injured and another 40 missing.

Ford, in Washington, declared a major disaster area. This will permit the use of federal funds for relief and recovery work.

On Saturday night, a 10-inch rainfall running down from nearby Rocky Mountain National Park churned the Big Thompson River into a wall of water 12 feet high and sent it on a 15-minute frenzy.

It tore through campsites and trailers, motels and bridges, raking a path of destruction 30 miles long. There were varying reports about whether warning was given; everyone agreed there wasn't much.

Some 500 survivors were ferried to a horse pasture-turned helicopter pad on Sunday. Another 1,000 had to stay amid the devastation for a second night.

Officials flew over the canyon, dropping leaflets that asked survivors to signal their immediate needs: blankets stretched on the ground in the form of an "F" meant food, "W" meant water, "A" meant medical aid.

Larimer County Sheriff Robert Watson said 43 bodies were in a makeshift morgue and 15 to 20 bodies had been spotted and numbered throughout the canyon. The river had been lined with tourist cabins and motels. Many are gone now.

The Big Thompson River runs down from the heights of Rocky Mountain National Park through Estes Park, some 60 miles northwest of Denver. The Big Thompson Canyon, which runs east from Estes Park toward Loveland, was the site of the worst destruction.

Watson said six or seven people died in the same area in a 1962 flood.

The water ran off the mountain as rain also pelted the canyon itself. It funneled into the canyon, 150 yards wide at the most, between bluffs hundreds of feet high.

The rescue work — ferrying by helicopter, carrying wounded, leading groups out of danger by foot — was being done Sunday and today by National Guardsmen, sheriff's deputies, and search and rescue teams.

Forty National Guardsmen were airlifted in teams of two and three to bring food, water and medical supplies to those still trapped. Watson said it might be the last part of the week before all the victims finally are reached.

The dead were brought to an old hospital where they awaited identification. Officials said the process would be slow because most were recovered without clothing.

Dr. Patrick Allen, deputy county coroner, said only one positive identification had been made by early today. The victim was W. Hugh Purdy, 53, a 26-year veteran of the state patrol.

Many of the survivors were taken to a nearby high school lunchroom where local residents brought relief supplies.

Chamber works for nuclear act revival

Big Spring Chamber of Commerce officials began working by telephone Monday morning to rally support for the original version of the Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act.

Big Spring residents were urged Monday to send mailgrams to Congressmen urging that the Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act (House Bill 8401) be passed in its original form.

John Currie, who is coordinating the Big Spring effort to support the measure, said that it is important that the mailgrams be received in Washington before the crucial vote at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The effort, being coordinated by John Currie, president of State National Bank, aims at defeating an amendment which gutted the private enrichment of uranium bill late Friday.

The officials are contacting Texas congressmen before a critical vote on the measure is taken Wednesday.

Friday's amendment, which came up as a surprise after 197 congressmen had already headed for their home districts for the weekend, removed the portion of the bill which would allow private companies, and not the government alone, to enrich uranium.

Big Spring had been studied as one of five possible West Texas sites for a private enrichment plant should the measure become law.

The proposal has the backing of the Ford Administration.

Alibi offered for suspect

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — A mechanic who worked for Frederick N. Woods has told the San Francisco Examiner that he saw Woods 150 miles from Chowchilla on the afternoon a busload of school children was kidnapped here.

"I saw Fred Thursday, July 15, and there was not a thing different about him, not a thing," Craig Hunt, 18, told the Examiner in an interview published in the newspaper's Sunday editions.

Hunt, who repaired old cars for Woods, said Woods was at his parents' 100-acre Portola Valley estate between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. the day the 26 children and their bus driver were kidnapped. Woods was arrested last Thursday at a Vancouver, Canada, post office where he had gone to pick up mail.

Woods, James Schoenfeld, 24, and his brother, Richard Schoenfeld, 22, were all charged in the kidnaping. Bail is set at $1 million each.

Environmental impact report due Aug. 31

Aug. 31 is the new proposed date for the release of the environmental impact statement on Webb Air Force Base, Cong. Omar Burleson's office announced Monday.

A Burleson aide said that the office had just been notified by the Air Force of the new release date for the impact statement, which has been postponed three times since the first of June.

The aide said that Aug. 31 was described as the "proposed" date, noting that Air Force officials have said that additional information being received could throw the target date off again.

A Pentagon spokesman said later in the morning that it was his understanding that all the environmental impact statements for Air Force bases announced in March as candidates to be closed will be released on or about Aug. 31.

This would include the impact statement on Craig AFB in Selma, Ala., also an Air Training Command base like Webb.

The spokesman said the Pentagon is still trying to work out exactly what the procedures will be for releasing the statement. He noted that this is the first time this procedure has been done under the National Environmental Policy Act.

In the March time-table, the Air Force said it targeted Webb to be closed by Dec. 31, 1976, but this was when the impact statement was to have been ready by early June.

A public hearing in Big Spring will follow the release of the impact statement by 45 days with a final decision on Webb coming 60 to 90 days later.

Former Webb wing commander, Col. Robert Owens, told the Big Spring Rotary Club earlier this year that as a practical matter the base probably could not be completely shut down until next March.

Burleson's aide said that she had no indication from the Air Force that there had been any change in the timetable announced in March.

If convicted

Former resident could get life

Joe D. Hicks, the former Big Spring auto dealer accused of organizing a multi-million dollar narcotics ring, received a full state pardon for 14 felony convictions in 1972.

At the same time, court records show he was operating a $300,000 auto sales fraud.

Hicks, 39, received the pardon for convictions ranging from arson to embezzlement.

State officials refuse to reveal the reason he was given the pardon, saying such records are considered "confidential."

FIVE YEARS BEFORE the pardon was granted, the Texas Department of Corrections classified Hicks' chances of rehabilitation as "very poor."

Hicks served three separate terms in Huntsville Penitentiary between 1957 and 1967. He also received an undesirable discharge from the U.S. Army in 1956. If convicted on the current narcotics conspiracy charges, he faces a maximum life sentence in federal prison.

Details of the auto sales case are contained in documents filed in a federal court in Abilene by the General Motors Acceptance Corp., which filed a civil suit against Hicks. No criminal charges were filed in the case, but a Howard County grand jury investigated.

The petition charges that Hicks and two other men defrauded GMAC of a total $307,971.20 while Hicks was operating a Pontiac dealership in Big Spring from Feb. 1, 1971 to Dec. 13, 1972.

THE SCHEME, allegedly begun almost two years before Hicks received his pardon, involved the sale of 79 automobiles and nine non-existent cars.

The court issued a summary judgment against Hicks for $111,266.76. It remains unsatisfied. The balance of the principal due was obtained by repossessing the cars.

No criminal charges were filed because an agreement was reached between Hicks and GMAC under which Hicks signed a document agreeing to the debt in return for a promise of non-prosecution.

Also accused as taking part in the scheme were two other Big Spring men, one of them an attorney.

HICKS WAS ARRESTED several times after the pardon was granted, the most recent being July 1 after he was named with 14 others in a conspiracy indictment issued by a federal grand jury in Fort Worth.

He is currently being held in the Tarrant County Jail under a $500,000 bond and is scheduled to go to trial Aug. 23.

Details of the steps involved in Hicks being granted a pardon also are sealed in the confidential file. However, records show the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles unanimously recommended Sept. 11, 1972, that the pardon be granted.

Former Texas Gov. Preston Smith and the Secretary of State Bob Bullock signed the pardon Sept. 28, 1972, documents show.

That month, Smith granted full pardons to 11 persons and denied no requests for full pardons. His last four months in office he granted a total of 5 pardons.

DURING THE SAME TIME, Hicks maintained a friendship with Ector County Dist. Atty. John Green, according to several persons who knew both men at the time.

Green said that he considered Hicks "an alright guy" at the time. He said he "just knew him like anybody else."

In November, 1972, Hicks and Green took a private flight to Las Vegas, Nev., with Hicks paying the cost of the flight, $885, records show.

The two spent a weekend gambling in that city, Paul Kessler, the pilot who flew them there said.

Asked about the trip, Green said, "I flew out there. We were on the same plane together, yeah."

The plane was a twin-engine, six-seater Beechcraft Baron, records show. Hicks was billed for the flight, Nov. 15, 1972 and later paid the account.

Green said he remembers Hicks discussing his pardon application prior to its being granted. When asked if he had any part in the application, he said he "might have" written a letter to the board in support of Hicks.

"I'm just going to say I don't recall," Green said. "wouldn't have a copy of it either I don't suppose. I could have and could not have..."

"I'd just like to keep out of the whole deal. I don't want to get involved..."

BORN IN GILMER, Hicks attended Denton High School but dropped out after the 10th grade.

One of eight children, he joined the Army Oct. 4, 1954, five months after leaving school, but received an undesirable discharge two years later because of a civilian conviction.

He was first married in Clovis, N.M., in November, 1956, but was divorced in Dallas in March, 1965. He has four children by his first marriage, records show.

He has been arrested in numerous cities across Texas. His arrest records with the Dallas County Sheriff's Office cover eight pages.

One of his longtime associates is Kammel Kouri, 41, operator of Sam's TV & Stereo, Dallas.

In 1964, Hicks and Kouri — who also is charged in the present narcotics case — were arrested following a fire in a house on Second Avenue in Dallas.

Hicks was convicted and received a two-year prison term, but charges against Kouri were dropped.

Records show Hicks admitted to officials that the owner of the house paid him $1,000 to set the fire and that he did so by sloshing 10 gallons of gasoline throughout the building.

His rationale in all the offenses was that he "just needed money," documents state he told officials.

The current indictment is the result of almost three years of investigation into Hicks activities by the federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA).

IT STATES that by June 12, 1973 — eight months after the pardon was granted — Hicks had organized a sophisticated international drug smuggling operation stretching from Bangkok, Thailand, to Bogota, Colombia, to California and Texas.

Exact details of the alleged narcotics structure have not yet emerged. However, records show the indictment names five men as couriers for Hicks.

They are: Dale Norris, 42; Jackie Norwood Kennedy, 28; Lloyd Pitchford, 25; Jerry Coffman, 45; and Coleman Ray Bandy, 35, formerly shop foreman for the Big Spring car dealership. All have been arrested.

Others include Pon Veerapol and Alberto Bernal, alleged suppliers for Hicks in Bangkok and Bogota. Both are still being sought.

Kouri and Hicks' present wife, Janet, 39, are accused of being in-

(See Former Resident, p. 2A, col. 1.)

IN CUSTODY — Joe D. Hicks, formerly of Big Spring, left, and Kammel Kouri leave Fort Worth Federal Courthouse July 9. Hicks, the accused master-mind of a multimillion dollar international narcotics operation based in Dallas, received a full state pardon for 14 felony convictions in 1972 at the same time court records show he was operating a $300,000 auto sales fraud. Kouri is a longtime associate.

Action/reaction: 'Saving' newspapers

Q. I very much enjoyed the special Bicentennial edition of the Herald that ran July 4. I've tried to keep clippings and such from time to time, but the paper always yellows and falls apart after a while. Is there any way to keep a newspaper from doing this?

A. Glad you asked. There is such a process to treat papers so they will not deteriorate. Here's the recipe.

Disolve one milk of magnesia tablet into a quart of club soda. Chill overnight. Pour solution into a tray large enough to handle a page of newspaper. Soak newspaper one hour and pat dry.

The solution retards acidic decomposition which destroys newspapers. Newspapers normally have a life of between 50 and 100 years. By repeating the process every 50 years, this can be extended as much as 250 years.

U.S. diplomats evacuated

Zoo animals signal more quakes

TOKYO (AP) — The first group of American women and children evacuated from the U.S. diplomatic mission in earthquake-threatened Peking arrived here today.

The eight women and 12 children looked calm and well-dressed, and one said the Chinese seemed more frightened than Westerners in the aftermath of the powerful earthquakes that hit northeast China last week.

Many foreign residents were leaving Peking today, urged to do so by Chinese authorities who said a new major quake was imminent.

The Peking government reported 110 aftershocks — an average of almost five an hour — in the devastated Tangshan area Saturday night and Sunday.

The aftershocks, combined with such other indications as nervous behavior of animals, prompted the warnings of a new quake, the third warning since Friday. Animals in the Peking Zoo were reported to be making loud noises and acting violently. The Chinese believe this is a sign of an oncoming tremor.

David Dean, deputy chief of the U.S. Liaison Office in Peking, said 18 wives and eight children of American staff members would be leaving, but there were no plans yet to evacuate any of the 31 staff members.

The British Embassy sent 50 dependents off Sunday. Planes leaving the Chinese capital were booked to capacity for the next few days with families of diplomats bound for Canton, Hong Kong or Tokyo.

The diplomats themselves and other foreigners joined millions of Chinese camping outside, away from big buildings.

Japanese correspondents in Peking said the Foreign Ministry's information bureau reported 10 aftershocks between 6 p.m. Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday. It said all registered at least four on the Richter Scale, and 15 registered more than five.

The first quake early Wednesday registered 8.2 on the Richter Scale, the highest reading recorded in the world since the Alaska quake in 1964. It devastated the heavily populated Tangshan area 100 miles east-southeast of Peking, caused widespread damage in Tientsin, China's third largest city 40 miles south of Tangshan, and did lesser damage in the capital.

A second quake about 15 hours later registered 7.9 on the Richter Scale.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. In populated areas, an earthquake of 4.0 on the Richter scale can cause moderate damage, 5.0 considerable damage, 6.0 can be severe. A reading of 7 is a major earthquake, capable of widespread, heavy damage; 8 is a "great" earthquake, capable of tremendous damage. The San Francisco earthquake of 1906 registered 8.3 on the Richter scale.

Though the Chinese have not reported the number of casualties, tens of thousands are believed to have died in Tangshan, a coal mining and industrial city of 1.6 million.

There was speculation that thousands of miners might have been trapped. But Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency, said "an overwhelming majority of the miners who were underground when the earthquake struck returned to the surface safely."

A "mighty contingent" of rescue workers converged on the Tangshan area from all parts of China, Hsinhua reported.

The Chinese government refused all offers of aid from the United States and other foreign countries. But Hsinhua said manpower, medicine, food, and prefabricated houses and bridges poured into the stricken area from Peking, Shanghai, Tientsin, the Liaoning peninsula, and from Shantung, Honan, Fukien, Kiangsu, Shansi and Hupeh provinces. Even distant Sinkiang sent help.

CHINESE QUAKE VICTIMS EXAMINED — Doctors examine victims in Tangshan following the severe earthquake which devastated the heavily populated city 100 miles east-southeast of Peking. The tremor also caused widespread damage in Tientsin, China's third largest city 40 miles south of Tangshan and did lesser damage to Peking.

EVACUATED FROM CHINA — An unidentified woman evacuated from British Embassy in Peking for fear of another major earthquake, holds two children as she gets a helping hand on arriving in Hong Kong today. She was among the 50 British Embassy dependents evacuated to Hong Kong.

Police beat Man stabbed; another uses brass knuckles

Officers Jerry Pruitt and Robert Sims were called to the corner of 8th and Scurry on a fight in progress report. Before the action was over, lawmen had arrested a man for carrying a prohibited weapon, he was using brass knuckles on another man; and Eddie Puga, 1604 Owens, had been stabbed in the lower right part of his back by two unknown Mexican males.

Puga was taken to a local hospital where he was treated and released.

Detective Tom Belshe that an acquaintance had come to her residence, and had used hands and feet, to break down doors, a telephone mirror, and some personal effects. Total damage was estimated at $350.

Officer Frank Costabile responded to a burglary call at the Green Acres Flower Shop, 700 E. 17th. Persons unknown had gained entrance through an unlocked rear door, and had taken $74 worth of pots and plants.

noticed that he had a baggie of alleged marijuana sticking out of the bib in his overalls. Upon closer examination, the passenger was found to have a baggie of the same alleged weed in the top of his sock. They were both taken to PD and booked with alleged possession of marijuana, less than two ounces.

One local concerned citizen reported to police that a "hobo" was sleeping in a vacant house. Upon arrival, Officers Allen Parrish and Jimmy Wallace found an intoxicated man sleeping in the house. They also found two bags of alleged marijuana sticking out of his front pockets. He was taken to PD and charged with public intoxication and misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

taken the CB antenna from his car as it was parked at his residence. Value of the missing item was $20.

Officer George Quintero responded to a possible overdose call Sunday. A local man was reported to be intoxicated, fighting with his parents and brother, and believed to be suffering from an overdose of some other substance. He was taken to a local hospital where his condition is "good" today.

Quintero had earlier responded to a criminal mischief report from Bridget Bostick, Westward Ho motel. Someone had broken out the right rear passenger window to her car as it was parked in the alley. Damage was put at $50.

involved at the highest level of the operation. They were arrested at the same time as Hicks.

Two California men, Robert Sutton and Vernon "Chubby" Crank, a Hollywood talent agent, are still being sought. They are accused of running the California end of the narcotics ring.

Charles Bolts, 49, is accused of handling distribution in South Dallas while a North Dallas auto dealer, Benny McKnight, 37, and his close associate, John Wall, 37, are accused of handling distribution in North Dallas.

LAST FRIDAY, all the accused couriers except Bandy pleaded guilty. They reportedly will testify against the others in trial later this month.

First news of the DEA probe was revealed May 7 in a newspaper article that stated that about 20 persons were being subpoenaed before the grand jury.

AMONG THEM were country and western music stars Willie Nelson and Ray Price.

A relationship between Hicks and Nelson first appears on record June 27, 1972, according to the suit. Nelson purchased a car from Hicks in Big Spring. The car was repossessed a little more than four months later by GMAC, court documents state.

Another pilot, Leon Anderson, said he flew Hicks to Austin to meet with Nelson Sept. 15, 1972, several days before the pardon was granted.

Kessler, meanwhile, said he flew Hicks to meetings with Price on several occasions. He also stated that Hicks kept a racehorse at Price's Mount Pleasant ranch.

Also named in the GMAC suit as one who purchased a car from Hicks was the alleged chief courier of narcotics, Bandy. He bought a car Sept. 29, 1972 that was repossessed 11 months later.

A STATEMENT FILED by Bandy in federal court in Fort Worth shows he has not worked since Aug. 20, 1974 and that his wife earns $650 a month.

However, the couple who have two children own a $25,000 mobile home, two lots of land in Argyle, a $5,000 truck and a 1976 Oldsmobile sedan.

Their payments on the house, land and sedan total $468 a month, the court document states. Only $4,000 remains to be paid on the mobile home.

Bandy and Kennedy were arrested at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport in February and charged with possession of seven pounds of cocaine worth an estimated $1 million.

Norris, Pitchford and Coffman also had been arrested earlier bringing in large supplies of heroin and cocaine through Honolulu and Miami.

Factual resumes filed in federal court along with the guilty pleas Friday show that four of the alleged couriers already have admitted conspiring with Hicks and Bandy as early as June 20, 1974 and as late as April 8.

Further links between those involved are indicated by the fact that Coffman, when arrested in Miami importing 25 ounces of heroin, listed the same home address as Kouri.

Norris was arrested last year in Miami with 2.2 pounds of cocaine.

Both Coffman and Norris are currently serving federal prison terms for narcotics smuggling convictions in those cases.

Sam Dawson, 311 NE 10th, advised Officer Gary Porter that a subject known to him had broken into his utility building and had removed a minibike. The subject then took a 1/2-gallon of gas from the garage and drove off on the bike.

Police reports indicate that Dawson yelled for the intruder to get off the bike back, but the man didn't.

The bike was found later, and was reported to have sustained about $175 worth of damage.

Officer Allen Parrish was called to Northcrest Apt., No. 15, Sunday, on a burglary report by Gary Peterson. Peterson advised Parrish that someone had broken into his apartment through the bathroom window and had stolen a watch valued at $93.50. The burglars also left a threatening note on the TV.

After three disturbance calls within a 30-minute span by local citizens pertaining to a loud party at the OK Trailer Park Sunday night, police arrested one male and three females on five accounts of disorderly conduct, one count of assault upon a police officer, and one count of inciting a riot.

One woman was taken to a local hospital after complaining of being "roughed up" by police. Once at the hospital, she complained of being "roughed up" by personnel there. She was found to have a slight kidney infection. She was expected to be brought down to the PD Monday morning where she was to be charged with assault upon a police officer, and possible other counts, said a police spokesman.

Faye Welch, 2715 Carol, reported to Officer Gary Porter that a $69 pocket calculator had been taken from her residence during a garage sale Sunday. Police are investigating the theft.

At 9:10 p.m. Saturday, Officer Raymond Hall arrested a local man for being drunk in his auto. Upon further investigation, Hall found a 20-gauge shotgun with an 8 1/2" barrel lying in the front floorboard of his car. He also found a chunk stick in the man's boot. The man was taken to PD and charged with being drunk in auto and carrying a prohibited weapon.

A minor fire at the Big Spring State Hospital was reported to the local fire department Sunday. A spokesman at the hospital indicated that a small mattress fire had broken out in unit seven, but there were no injuries and little damage sustained.

Bernice Patterson, 609 Linda Lane, advised Officer Allen Parrish Sunday that someone had broken two windows out of the family camper parked at the residence. Damage due to the criminal mischief was placed at $30.

In another case of criminal mischief, Vada May, 1323 Wright, advised local police that someone had broken the radio antenna from the rear of her automobile.

'I love Chairman Mao' Ex-POW visits home

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (AP) — "My life has been unique, something very few people have," says James Veneris, who refused repatriation while an American prisoner of war in Korea and instead chose life in Communist China.

"I'm like most Americans. When I think something's right, I do it and I don't care what other people think," added Veneris, who at 54 is in the United States for the first time in 26 years. He is visiting his mother here.

"Some people think I'm a turncoat," he said. "I think I'm patriotic. Since I went to China, I tried never to let Americans down."

He also said, "I love Chairman Mao. I think of him as my father, and of the Chinese. Communist party as my mother. But I don't think that necessarily makes me a Communist."

He praised Richard Nixon as a "far-sighted statesman" who will be vindicated of his "demerits" and remembered as one of history's greatest diplomats.

In October 1950, Veneris, then a U.S. Army private, left to fight in Korea. Little more than a month later, his unit was captured by Chinese troops and he was a POW until peace came in 1953.

Then, along with 23 other Americans, he refused repatriation. Of the 24, only Veneris and Howard G. Adams eventually remained in mainland China.

He said he has no regrets and denies he was indoctrinated or coerced into choosing to stay.

Mike Clark, Hewitt, was the best All Around Cowboy and Sherry Altizer, Del Rio, the best All Around Cowgirl at the 1976 Howard County Junior Rodeo.

Energy Shallow gas field target of system

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP) — Shallow natural gas production, which has been disregarded in past years, is now the target of a $15 million to $20 million gathering system projected for Oklahoma's Okmulgee, Okfuskee and McIntosh counties.

The system is the goal of three groups: Independent drillers of this region, who usually go to only about 3,000 feet; Phillips Petroleum Co., which is gathering the gas, and Public Service Co. of Oklahoma, which will consume the gas for generating electricity.

Phillips bought a retired pipeline, converted it to gas capability and moved to acquire gas from local producers.

The pipeline runs from a point southeast of Jenks, about 55 miles to the north side of Lake Henryetta in Okmulgee County. The main line splits north of the lake with one leg going about 12 miles east to the Pierce Field on the shore of Lake Eufaula and the other section going to a point west of Bryant.

Four booster stations are in operation, four more are under construction and another four are planned, Kenneth Heady of Phillips said.

The project has been made economically feasible by increases in the price of natural gas recently.

Reagan, Schweiker optimistic on nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Republican National Convention two weeks away, the delegate fight continues in the trenches between the political armies of President Ford and Ronald Reagan.

But on Sunday Reagan's campaign manager, John Sears, insisted the move has not backfired. "We haven't lost any delegates, not a one," said Sears on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

"It almost immediately cinched the nomination for him," said Scott, a Ford backer. Scott claimed the President already has 1,141 votes locked up.

Over the weekend, the latest Associated Press delegate poll showed Ford with 1,105 votes, Reagan with 1,025 and 131 uncommitted.

Ford played host at the White House last week to several GOP state delegations. Although no receptions are scheduled this week, Ford and his backers are expected to continue canvassing uncommitted votes by phone.

weiker said that in a personal appearance he showed South Carolina delegates "that I didn't have horns, and when I left they did issue a statement saying there were standing solidly behind Gov. Reagan."

Young Americans for Freedom endorsed Reagan, although its chairman, Robert Heckman, said, "Frankly, we are extremely disappointed in the selection of the Republican party's most outspoken liberal as a running mate for Mr. Reagan."

Although both sides boast they have enough votes lined up to ensure victory in Kansas City, most independent tallies show neither candidate with the 1,130 delegates needed but with Ford ahead and inching closer.

Schweiker himself echoed Sears' optimism on NBC's "Meet the Press," while Pennsylvania's senior senator, Hugh Scott, said Reagan's choice of a running mate was "a very fortunate thing" for Ford.

We'll have to wait while longer

Everything is standing still, awaiting the release of the Air Force's environmental impact statement on Webb Air Force Base.

It now appears that the statement will not be released until mid or late August.

The government has found that determining the total impact of any action is most difficult, time consuming and expensive.

IN YEAR'S past, the military announced a base closing, and, zap, five was to be ready June 1, then mid-June, then mid-July and now most likely late August.

No one can say for certain if the delay in releasing not only Webb's impact statement but those of other Air Force bases being considered for closure is a good or a bad sign.

The environmental impact statement concept has simply placed on government the same kind of shackles that government had placed on private industry.

months later it was padlocked. Now the law requires that the military announce that a base is being considered for possible closure and an environmental impact statement, complete with public hearing, be written before a final decision is made.

Will it really work that way? Will the Department of Defense really look for and consider alternatives to closing Webb?

Unfortunately, we have no way to know. This is the first effort of its kind under the new law, the National Environmental Policy Act. The Pentagon could use the impact statement process to exhaust all the possibilities for Webb, or it could use the statement simply to justify a decision that already has been made.

Where is the impact statement right now? Nobody seems to know. In a conversation with KBST owner Winston Winkle last week, Lt. Gen. John Roberts, commander of the Air Training Command, said that the ATC portion had been done, but he added he had staffers in Washington at the moment discussing it.

PENTAGON SPOKESMEN say that the pile of paperwork is going from agency to agency for comments and rewriting.

Until the statement is made public, we won't know if the Air Force is making a complete and in-depth study of all the possibilities and all the ramifications concerning Webb, or if the effort is only pro forma.

Worthwhile stops

Around the rim

Danny Reagan

As you travel the highways and byways of the scenic asphalt ribbons that snake across the wide open spaces of West Texas, you no doubt see numerous signs indicating "Historical Markers" somewhere up the road a piece.

I would hazard a guess that most motorists drive right on by without so much as a thought about these landmarks. But for those of you who are not in any big hurry to get where you're going, they make an interesting interruption in the course of a trip, whether it is long or short.

There are five types of markers. Historical Building Medallions and Plates identify authentic homes and buildings of historical and cultural significance. The plates interpret the history of the structures. You have to make local inquiry as to the exact location, houses open, etc.

Aluminum Historical Markers direct interest to sites of historical importance of either local or statewide significance.

Granite Historical Markers denote places and events whose importance to the Texas Heritage occurred prior to the end of the Civil War, including the eras of the Texas War for Independence and the Republic of Texas.

County Information Markers relate a brief history of the county, the basis for the county name and other items of historical interest.

And finally, there is a category of markers known as Private State-approved Markers, denoting various points of interest throughout the state.

There are five historical markers in Big Spring, the Howard County marker, five miles south on US 87 in a roadside park; a Moss Springs marker, four miles east on US 80, four miles south of East Creek Road (unavailable to the public); Marcy's Route marker in the city park; the Finch Building marker at 121 Main; and the Comanche War Trail marker at the Big Spring State Park.

There are also a number of markers in Colorado City, just some of which are: the Comanche Indian Village in Ruddick Park, the Mitchell County marker on the courthouse ground, the Buffalo Trails marker at Chestnut and Third, and the Spade-Renderbrook Ranch, 25 miles southwest on State 163.

IN GARDEN CITY there are two markers, the Glasscock County marker on the courthouse grounds, and the Old Courthouse and Jail marker in the Courthouse Square.

In Lamesa there are four markers, the county marker on the courthouse grounds, the M.C. Lindsey Home at 602 S. Bryan St., the Hardy Morgan Home, 12 miles south on state 137, (both homes unavailable to the public), and the Pioneer Cemetery marker at the city cemetery.

Scurry County is loaded with historical markers, 30 in all. Many of them are historical houses and buildings, all available to the public, and others include the Witness Tree, on the library grounds, Engine No. 5 marker in Towle Park, Camp Springs marker on FM 1614 and county road 10 miles east, and the Mackenzie Trail marker on the Courthouse Square.

Sterling City has two markers, one on the site of Camp Elizabeth, nine miles northwest on US 87, and one at the R.P. Brown home on 4th avenue.

There are over 4,000 historical markers in the state, and you can't miss passing one no matter where you go.

There's not a lot of excitement going on at these markers, but they have something to offer the dog-tired traveler who is in need of rest, and perhaps a little more knowledge.

Naval menace

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The father of the modern Soviet navy has drafted a frightening blueprint that for the first time publicly projects Soviet naval power "to effectively utilize the world ocean in the interest of building Communism" in direct contradiction of detente.

This projection is the heart of a new book by the brilliant Soviet naval strategist, Admiral of the Fleet Sergei Gorshkov. While contradicting official Kremlin policy, his grand strategy is viewed by officials here as an accurate mirror of Kremlin designs.

THERE ARE indications that Gorshkov's book, "The Sea Power of the State," was designed strictly for internal consumption by Communist party leaders and cadres within the Soviet military. Accordingly, excerpts which have reached the West are being closely studied in military and intelligence circles for a rare glimpse of inner Soviet strategy on maximum use of sea power in the struggle for world supremacy.

For the first time, that strategy emerges vividly through propaganda wraps stripped away, raising obvious implications for the current debate over U.S. naval construction.

Desire to keep Gorshkov's study out of Western hands is understandable. Gorshkov's repeated references to the "enemy" that is, the U.S. — are incompatible with the official Soviet line.

His message is powerful and unmistakable: Soviet sea power, merely a minor defensive arm when Stalin died in 1953, has become the optimum means to defeat the "imperialist" enemy and the most important element in the Soviet arsenal to prepare the way for a Communized world.

Gorshkov, Soviet navy chief for 21 years, was architect of its shift from a coastal to a blue-water navy with an extraordinary variety of ships and weapons. His vision is without limits, as in this candid assertion: "Establishing the conditions for gaining sea control has always required prolonged periods of time and the execution of a series of measures while still at peace."

WHAT ARE these measures? According to Gorshkov, they include: adequate ships and weapons in constant readiness for combat; disposing of naval forces in prospective war theaters so that "they will have superiority of position over the enemy"; building up "a base system" to handle these forces together with a system for controlling the bases.

Gorshkov thereby spells out as the modern role of Soviet naval power a system which almost exactly fits the routine Soviet description of capitalist imperialism, the declining system of Western preeminence that Gorshkov evidently intends the Soviet Union to make its own.

The astonishingly rapid development of the Soviet navy is no secret. It has reached virtual equality with the U.S. in the Mediterranean (where the Russians recently introduced their first aircraft carrier), the Pacific and the Indian Oceans. With the ships and weapons come Soviet bases strategically placed such as in Cuba off the U.S. coast and in Somalia on the Red Sea coast. But never before Gorshkov has the meaning of this rapid advance toward sea power equality and future superiority been so starkly or publicly spelled out by a Russian.

CONSIDERING the momentum and rising trend of Soviet naval power since Gorshkov took over in 1955, the safe assumption is the majority position: Gorshkov is spouting clandestine but official Soviet policy.

Eye drops can control glaucoma

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My sister has glaucoma. She is under the care of an eye doctor and has been using eye drops. Her doctor says the pressure stays normal, but she worries. Using the drops disturbs her, and yet she wants to do what is right.

Why won't doctors operate earlier on people with glaucoma? — Mrs. E. H.

Your sister apparently has the non-acute or more gradual form of glaucoma. While the precise underlying cause of glaucoma is not known, there are two basic reasons for the build-up of fluid pressure within the eye: either a blockage of the tiny drainage canals that remove the fluid normally, or an overproduction of the fluid.

In the chronic (non-acute) form of glaucoma the build-up is usually so gradual that it goes unnoticed until vision is affected. In the acute state the fluid build-up is sudden and accompanied by obvious symptoms (pain and vision disturbance). In this case, surgery is usually an emergency measure to preserve sight.

In either type, treatment has one goal — to relieve the pressure, either by physically opening the drainage canals or, in the milder cases, using eye drops to constrict the pupils. This opens the areas of the eyes where the canals of Schlemm — the chief drainage structures — are located.

If detected early enough the problem usually responds well to conservative treatment (drops). This can be and often is continued for life in order to maintain proper eye pressure. Your sister should have frequent checks of her eye pressure to be sure the drops are doing the job.

It is always best to handle such problems non-surgically where possible, which is the view your sister's eye doctor takes. If the drops become ineffective, then surgery to assist the drainage would be considered.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Approximately five months ago I had an IUD inserted by my family physician. Since then I have had recurring pelvic inflammation and discharge and pain and bleeding.

I have been treated by my physician five times, but the infection comes back after the medicine is finished. I did not have this before the insertion of the IUD. I feel certain the inflammation is directly related to the IUD. My physician does not appear concerned, nor does he advise me to have the apparatus removed. What should I do? — Mrs. B.H.

I'd say it is time to think about having the IUD (intrauterine device for contraception) removed — unless your doctor can give you some pretty good reasons why he does not suspect it as a factor in your pain, bleeding and discharge. The evidence in your letter seems convincing that it is. A significant percentage of women who use them do have just such problems as yours.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I just had my first baby eight months ago. I was left with several stretch marks. My girlfriend tells me they won't tan over this summer. Is that true? — P.M.

Sorry to say, it is true. Not much you can do about the marks but wait for them to fade with age or mask them with preparations.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How beneficial is lecithin? It has been described to me as a miracle medicine. I would like to know if it is something worth-

Reagan and right

William F. Buckley, Jr.

There are American conservatives who are saying that they have been betrayed. This sentiment is at most understandable. But it does not survive analysis. Reagan set out to achieve the Presidency without advancing his political philosophy. The ideological coloration of one's running mate isn't a part of one's "philosophy." It is a matter of adaptation to political reality. Some conservatives sometimes talk as if Ronald Reagan were running for chairman of the political science department of Bob Jones University.

What is distressing is the form of their contemplated revenge. Namely to switch to Ford. It was Gerald Ford who nominated as his Vice President the political figure most feared and disliked by the right wing, Nelson Rockefeller. Gerald Ford, in naming Rockefeller, sought to do the more or less traditional thing: the consolidation of party support. Roosevelt had his Garner; Adlai Stevenson his Jim-Crow running mate, John Sparkman; John Kennedy his Lyndon Johnson — it is a tradition as old as Jackson and Calhoun. They said it about Kennedy also — the Camelot gang; but they had the good sense to stop grudging and go to work, and elect their candidate. The irony is that when in fact his Vice President did succeed him to office, he turned more sharply to the left than Kennedy. There are very few grounds for predicting authoritatively exactly how a Vice President will act when in office.

IT IS SURELY more significant that Schweiker should be willing to acclaim Reagan for President than while to take and if it is beneficial to everybody. — Mrs. E.B.

Lecithin is a substance (a phospholipid) which appears to be important in the body's use of fats. Studies show that it increases in the blood with fat intake. Lecithin is produced abundantly in the liver, which is where most of its work is done. The liver seems to produce it as needed.

I have no evidence that taking lecithin as a supplement to your diet has a beneficial effect. On the basis of this, you can save your money.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband and I desire a baby very much, but so far we have been unsuccessful. Why isn't God allowing us to have a child? Have we done something wrong? — Mrs. J.A.

DEAR MRS. A.: I know this is the feeling of many people in your situation. Actually, the Bible records several instances of people who deeply yearned for a child, and yet were not given their wishes immediately. The examples of Abraham and Sarah (Genesis 17), Hannah (1 Samuel 1), and Zacharias and Elizabeth (Luke 1) come to mind. We cannot always say why things like this happen to some of us. The important thing is for you and your husband to seek God's will for your lives, regardless of what His will might be. Perhaps God has a specific ministry for you that can only be achieved if you do not have the responsibility of children. Perhaps He would have you investigate adopting a child or becoming foster parents to children who need a Christian home environment.

You will probably want to continue seeking to have children. However, in the meantime, you should not be bitter or unhappy, but seek instead to accept your situation and use it to honor Christ.

Probe corporate bagmen

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Those corporate bagmen who have been delivering bribes to foreign officials may wind up behind the eight ball.

Federal lawmen are quietly investigating the couriers, some of them as high as company vice presidents, who have smuggled payoff money overseas.

Under the law, the couriers were required to report to Customs any amounts over $5,000 that they took in or out of the country. The law, which went into effect in 1972, was intended to catch couriers for world drug rings. But it will now be used to nail the boardroom bagmen as well.

More than 215 firms are suspected of sending tens of millions of dollars overseas to pay off foreign princes, potentates and politicians for contract favors.

Baksheesh, cumshaw and cold cash reportedly have been delivered to Brazil, Colombia, France, Gabon, Iran, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Netherlands, Saudi Arabia, South Africa, South Korea, Taiwan, Turkey and West Germany.

SOME OF THE nation's most powerful and prestigious corporations have admitted making foreign payments. Among them are Ashland Oil, Burroughs, Exxon, Gulf Oil, Lockheed, McDonnell Douglas, Merck, Northrop, G. D. Searle, Tenneco and United Brands.

In some countries, notably Italy and Japan, the revelations of large-scale bribery have shaken the governments. Yet the corporate executives, who paid the bribes, have largely escaped punishment.

The Securities and Exchange Commission forced the firms to disclose the bribery to its stockholders and, thereby, to the public. But because the SEC's main role is to regulate the markets, not to prosecute malfeasance, the boardroom bribers have gone free.

Yet probing by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Rep. Ben Rosenthal, D-N.Y., has turned up evidence of criminal violations that cry out for prosecution. At stake is the principle that justice in this country should apply equally to the rich and the poor.

Therefore, the Justice Dept., Customs Service, SEC and special prosecutor's office are quietly cooperating to bring indictments against offending firms and their corporate couriers.

The Currency and Foreign Transactions Reporting Act, which sets the $5,000 limit, will be used to catch the couriers. Tourists leaving the United States usually aren't checked by Customs. Thus the bagmen have had no difficulty getting money out of the country.

Probably more often, the payoffs have been channeled through the foreign subsidiaries of multinational companies, thus avoiding the physical transportation of the money out of the United States. Yet these transactions can be traced and conspiracy cases possibly can be made.

One fact is evident: Illegal loot was delivered overseas. Federal agents intend to find out who delivered it.

Footnote: The Internal Revenue Service, meanwhile, is investigating the misreporting of foreign bribes as business deductions. And SEC sleuths are still digging out more evidence of corporate bribes.

ONE FOR THE ROAD Comedian Bob Hope is appearing now in movie houses across the country in another of his famous "Road to..." pictures. However, this one was produced not by Paramount but by Texaco.

The oil colossus is laying out an estimated $25 million to fight the proposed breakup of the major oil companies. As part of its multimedia effort, Texaco has produced a Bob Hope short film called "Road to Energy."

IT HAS BEEN offered, free of charge, to motion picture theaters as a public service. Ostensibly, it spreads the gospel of conservation, but it also gets across the not-so-subtle message that the oil companies are upstanding, public-spirited organizations. To put it bluntly, the movie is a propaganda film.

Our sources say the wisecracking Bob Hope will get between $1 million and $3 million for his role in the lobbying effort. Neither Hope nor Texaco, however, would discuss finances with our reporter, Mike Viner.

'There's no public outcry or complaints'

Male prostitution problem growing

EDITOR'S NOTE — By and large, police reaction to male prostitution is one of live and let live. "Our attempt is to keep it within due bounds," says a Los Angeles police official. "We try to limit, not deny, this kind of activity."

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer

On any night, in many major cities in the United States, they can be found working the bars, dawdling on corners, smoking nervously as they pace the streets of that part of a city known as their territory.

Although statistics are scarce, a survey shows that male prostitution is a growing urban problem, or at least a more visible problem than ever before. This is the belief of police department officials in New York, Atlanta, Chicago, Washington, Detroit, New Orleans, Los Angeles, Boston, Houston, San Francisco, Sacramento and Denver.

THE SURVEY turned up only one city — Miami — where the police said male prostitution is non-existent.

A Los Angeles lawyer, who says he represents male prostitutes and is himself bisexual, agrees that male prostitution is on the rise. "Where there is gay life, which is everywhere, there is male prostitution. It's convenient, it's usually discreet, it serves the same purpose in the homosexual world that it serves in the straight world," said the lawyer, who permitted only the use of his first name, Allen.

Loitering, laughing, sometimes hassling passersby, always keeping a vigilant eye open for vice officers, male hookers in some cities are as familiar as their female counterparts.

THE STREET hooker is not always a homosexual. In Chicago's uptown section, says Ron Dickson, a spokesman for gays, "it's almost considered an acceptable thing for a young boy to go out and sell his body at $15 to $25 a trick to help support the family."

In New York, where one of every five prostitutes arrested last year was male, the hookers stroll along East 53rd Street, between Second and Third Avenues.

"I'd say male prostitution is more visible, I think because there is more awareness, more coming out of the closet. As far as whether it's more prevalent, I don't know. It is more visible," says Capt. John Saylo of New York's 17th police precinct, which includes East 53rd Street.

The police in Washington say they've stopped arresting male prostitutes so they can concentrate on an upsurge in female prostitution during the Bicentennial, which has attracted thousands of tourists to the capital. Lt. Edwin Casey of the prostitution and perversion squad says male prostitution is apparently increasing in Washington, but most of it is behind closed doors and the police therefore don't bother with it.

THE DENVER POLICE take the same approach. "There's no public outcry or complaints," said Capt. Jerry Kennedy of Denver's vice squad. "It's all clandestine, and the rings are not penetrated. There are people out there who are aware of the desires of confirmed homosexuals, and they try to fill those needs for a price."

"Of all men who patronize male hookers, maybe 15 percent go to the street hooker," says Allen, the Los Angeles attorney. The rest go to bars, or make contact with prostitutes through friends, or answer ads placed by male prostitutes in underground newspapers.

Hollywood's "Spotlight" is one of the better known male prostitute bars. Every night, underneath a sign that reads, "The Bartender is Not A Sissy," dozens of men line the bar, waiting to pick up a male prostitute.

And in the backroom, seemingly oblivious to the anxious stares of those along the bar, several hustlers shoot pool, calmly "sizing the tricks."

Pickets smash coal settlement hopes

By The Associated Press
Picket lines today dashed the hopes of West Virginia coal operators that some miners would break ranks in a two-week-old wildcat strike that has spread to 80,000 miners in seven states. "It didn't pan out," said a spokesman for Consolidation Coal Co. Pickets were marching at its 11 mines, which employ 3,700 men, and no workers showed up for the early shift. A spokesman at the Eastern Associated Coal Co.'s Federal No. 1 mine at Grant Town said "a carload and a truckload" of pickets appeared and no miners reported for work. Meanwhile, many of California's canneries reopened after settlement of a harvest-time strike by 60,000 cannery workers, and the nation's air traffic controllers ended a work slowdown that caused delays at a few airports. No solution was in sight, however, for the rubber workers strike that has idled 60,000 workers for 104 days. A weakening in the coal strike had seemed likely after United Mine Workers' District 31, representing about 20,000 miners in northern West Virginia, voted over the weekend to heed its leadership's call to return to work today. But more than 1,500 miners in the southern areas, including the 213 members of Local 1759 who started the strike, vowed Sunday to press their walkout, despite a federal judge's offer to cancel $300,000 in fines if they went back. Local 759 president Hayes Holstein had predicted after the vote that "if they (miners in the north) go back, we'll just send up pickets and have them out again." The weekend meetings had been called at the direction of UMW President Arnold Miller, who told local union presidents on Friday in Charleston, W. Va., to order their members back to work. The miners said they would not return unless they got to meet with officials of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association to discuss their grievances. They claim the association relies too much on the courts to solve disputes which could be handled at the local level through union grievance procedures. Local 1759 struck last month over a job-posting grievance at the Cedar Coal Co. mines. When a judge fined the local $50,000 plus $25,000 a day, other locals joined the strike in sympathy. By Friday, an estimated 80,000 miners were out in West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania. In other labor developments: —California's 76 canneries began reopening to process tomatoes, apricots, pears and peaches after 13 Teamsters locals representing 60,000 cannery workers ratified a settlement late Friday of an 11-day strike. The three-year pact, hammered out by negotiators in Washington, will raise the current $4.93 hourly wage by $1.60. —The Federal Aviation Administration said air traffic controllers had ended their four-day "work by the book" slowdown after the FAA agreed to expedite action on a pay reclassification study. —U.S. Labor Secretary

W.J. Usery said he would "double our efforts" this week to settle the strike over wages by the United Rubber Workers against the four major tire makers. The latest negotiations for a new three-year contract broke off last Thursday. Liz Taylor in movie VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor is in Vienna to play the role of Desiree in the $7-million film of the musical "A Little Night Music." Miss Taylor, who arrived Sunday, is staying in a suite of Vienna's Imperial Hotel, usually the residence of visiting royalty and heads of state. Harold Prince will produce the movie.

The Original SELF SERVICE

Ridin' fence

Book is in demand

with Marj Carpenter

Back during the Big Spring rodeo, when a special luncheon was held honoring Toots Mansfield, Lee and Lela Karr of San Angelo were two of the guests.

They recently put out a unique book that has just about sold out on its first printing and is going to be reprinted. The Karrs also are working on a second book.

The book did not really have much writing in it. But they concentrated on pictures. Lee is a well-known western photographer.

The pictures are on a specific subject. The book is all about ropers.

Appropriately named "Rope Burns," it shows pictures of ropers — old and young that live all over West Texas and New Mexico.

It refers back to ropers as old as Allen Holder in 1926. That's 50 years ago.

Anybody who has attended any West Texas rodeos or ropings at all, would recognize a lot of the faces and names in that book.

I sat by the Karrs at that luncheon and heard about the book. Then later, when I was in Stanton and visiting in the Wayne Mitchell home, there was the book "Rope Burns" on the coffee table.

Mitchell had served as an announcer at many West Texas ropings so he wanted one of the books since he knew so many of the ropers.

I flipped through the pages to see how many of the ropers I knew and was stunned as I realized how many of them I did know. Of course, I'm so old that I've seen Tony Salinas rope years ago in South Texas and I've watched ropings in such recent years that I've seen Dan Fisher rope in West Texas.

Those might be two of the extremes in age in the book. Dan is an Andrews youth who lived in the next block from us and I watched him grow up. His dad, Junior Fisher was a good roper. Dan kept wooden horses with a cowhead tied to the front in his front driveway and everytime he would go in and out the front door, he'd catch one with his rope.

That's the way to get good at it. I hear by the grapevine that Dan Fisher is about to get married. He's roped him a pretty gal.

Toots, of course, is a big item in that book. Skipper and E.P. Driver are also in the book.

I started copying down the names of some of the other ropers that I had known or seen through the years and got worn out in the process.

I bet you've heard of some of them — Jim Bob Altizer, Del Rio. I had to list him because the reason my son is called Jim Bob might be partly because my husband had admired Jim Bob Altizer so much. I was thinking about calling him James, but Dad said, "Jim Bob — like Jim Bob Altizer."

Other names included Jiggs Barfield, foreman of the Holcombe Ranch in Pecos; Bob Conatser, Canadian; Troy Fort, Lovington, N.M.; Jim and Tim Prather, Post; Sonney Wright, Roswell; Ernest and Earl Acton, Ozona; Pate Boone, Christoval; Jim Boatwright, Del Rio; Bobby Bower, Colorado City; C.M. Edwards, Midland; Jim and Clay Espy, Ft. Davis; Alton Felts, Pecos; John D. Holleyman, Corona; Mark Altizer, son of Jim Bob; Roy and Tuffy Cooper, Monument; Walton Poague, who roped a lot with Toots.

Then there's Pancho McMullen, Big Lake; Dan Riggs, Iraan; George Teague, Crane... the list goes on and on.

Somebody said Buck Jackson in Pecos retired as rodeo announcer there this year after 25 years. He only came out and announced the grand entry.

A lot of people will be glad to not hear his old corny jokes, but for announcing a roping, I can still hear him. He's good at it.

And this part of the world has the best ropers in the world. Or so I've found it when I'm out ridin' fence.

STARTS TODAY — "Guys and Dolls," the long-run Broadway musical hit about the gamblers and chorus-girls of New York's Times Square, comes to Casa Manana in Fort Worth. The musical starts George Maharis as Sky Masterson, the handsome and slick professional betting man with the sky the limit, and Linda Michele, the Salvation Army lass. Sixteen song hits by one of America's most popular song-writers, Frank Loesser include "I Love You a Bushel and a Peck," "More I Cannot Wish You," "If I Were A Bell I'd Be Ringing" and others. One can call 332-6221 for reservations for performances, Aug. 2-14 Monday through Saturday nights at 8:15 p.m. and matinees 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Problems of secretaries

By WILFRID M. CALNAN, Director
Howard County Family Service Center

It was 5:00 p.m. in another office, in another city, in another year. Maureen came in. She was tall, dark-haired, lissome, every inch a woman.

Her blue eyes looked at me directly. Then in her soft but firm tones she made a statement. "Mr. C," she began, "I like being your secretary. It's different from my last boss. I couldn't let him be on the same side of the desk with me."

"I guess I'm too old for that," I responded. "Yes," she replied. "Later, I joked that this was a blow. Yet, I really knew that Maureen, in the same vein that she had begun her statement, was equating "old" with "mature." And I was proud.

It's time to talk about secretaries.

What is a secretary? She is a professional woman. Professional. She assumes the delegated responsibility to manage the office. She sees that routines are ordered. She attends to those who call or come in. She sees that the office is supplied with its needs. Hers is the responsibility to convey to the outside world the character of the office. In her being and in her bearing she expresses what the office is. To be sure, she has technical abilities. Yet, I resent it when the personnel officer refers someone who, he assures me, can type so many words a minute. If she is qualified, she should be able to do that.

The secretary is a woman. She is comfortable in being that. If she is a wife and mother, she takes pride in this status. If she has faced divorce, she has come to terms with herself. It is her glory that she is a person, that she is a woman. In that role she asks no favor, and gives none.

The secretary attends to her own family and is happy in doing it. She also attends to the family of her boss and is happy in doing it. She knows success when her boss's wife brags on her. She promotes her organization. She promotes her boss's family life. She expects nothing in return. After all, she knows that she can type, that she can file, that she can manage the office. What else is needed?

Why do I speak of secretaries now? Because Congressmen have misunderstood. But, also because, in our office, there is a change of secretaries. The outgoing and incoming secretary are two very different persons with different styles. But they are true secretaries, professional women, who know their abilities as secretaries, know themselves as women that are "female-female," and respect themselves.

God-speed you, Martha. Welcome, Sue. God love you, Nancy, Jane, Eliviva, Helena and you many others who know your role as the professional woman, the secretary.

Youth jobs program recommended

BOSTON (AP) — The director of the National Urban League has proposed a national youth employment program to save young people from "the rubbish heap of economic surplus and dependency."

Vernon E. Jordan Jr. said Sunday the league estimates the unemployment rate among young blacks 16 to 19 is 64 per cent.

"Denied the opportunity to equip themselves for self-sufficiency, they face enforced idleness, frustration, the temptations of the street and lifetimes of poverty and dependence," Jordan said.

Gladys gets new Pip

DETROIT (AP) — Gladys Knight, lead singer of the Motown group Gladys Knight and the Pips, is the mother of a 10-pound baby boy.

Miss Knight's husband, Barry Harkerson, said after seeing his 23-inch son, "I bet it was her vegetarian diet. That boy is as big as two sacks of sugar."

Miss Knight, who has three children from a previous marriage, was in good condition Sunday at a Detroit hospital after the caesarean birth.

Dim view is taken of chain letters

The Department of the Treasury is aware that, despite its efforts — in association with the Postal Service, Federal Reserve Banks, issuing agents and others — to stop chain-letter activities involving the use of U.S. Savings Bonds — schemes continue to reappear, from time to time.

Chain-letter schemes, including those involving U.S. Savings Bonds — which use the mails to facilitate their purpose — are considered by the postal authorities as in violation of the Postal Lottery and Fraud laws (18 USC 1302, 1341). Such schemes are considered lotteries, because the question as to whether the chain will be broken is a matter of chance; it is also a matter of chance whether a participant will reap anything from his participation.

The fraud aspect enters into the schemes, because representations are made that the participants will eventually, receive substantial rewards. In the usual case, however, the chain of gullible persons soon vanishes — and there is no way by which a new participant can determine whether there is available a reservoir of interested persons sufficient to move his name to the top of the "list."

Postal officials have warned that, even though the lists of participants are not circulated in the mails, it does not alter the illegality of the operation since, usually, the bonds or other evidence of participation in the schemes are mailed. There is also the possibility that the scheme may violate state or local anti-lottery laws, even though the mails were not used in any way.

In addition to the fact that chain-letter schemes violate federal law, the Treasury believes that the public should be made aware that such schemes — which are essentially get-rich-quick endeavors — do a distinct disservice to the bond program. Instead of encouraging persons to make genuine investments, they create the illusion that participants are both aiding their government and themselves.

Accordingly, banks and other issuing agents have been requested to refuse to sell savings bonds in cases where they know — or have reason to suspect — that the bonds will be used in any type of chain-letter scheme.

Nitrogen can often add to problems with lawn

COLLEGE STATION — Homeowners who use too much nitrogen fertilizer on their lawns may be covering up some serious lawn problems.

That's the contention of Dr. Richard Doble, turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Grass invaded by weeds, weakened by insect or disease attacks, or showing the effects of thatch accumulation may be boosted temporarily by nitrogen fertilizer. However, unless the primary problem is diagnosed and solved, the addition of nitrogen will only add to the problems," says Doble.

Excess nitrogen stimulates growth which adds to thatch accumulation. Also, excessive use of nitrogen produces succulent growth that is more susceptible to chinch bugs and such disease as brownpatch and leaf spot.

Welcome home Jones

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP) — Twenty hours after Johnny Jones won a gold medal in the Montreal Olympics before a worldwide audience, the 18-year-old stood before 1,000 Lampasans and others who swarmed the small airport here to welcome him home.

JOHNNY JONES
Only five can catch him

Jones ran the second leg on the U.S. 400-meter relay team that won the gold medal at Montreal Saturday. During most of the ceremony, Jones looked as if he would have preferred being anywhere else but where he was.

But when his grandparents, the retired Rev. Arthur Anderson and his wife Mary, stepped up on the platform, Jones hugged them and dabbed his eyes with a handkerchief several times after that. Jones lives with his grandparents.

His mother, Mary Jones, a Lawton, Okla., sheriff's deputy, flew in on the same plane with her son. Jones wore his gold medal as he got off the plane. His grandfather, a Methodist, also wore a heavy gold item around his neck—an ornate crucifix.

The normally tight-lipped Jones responded to the adulation with one sentence, "I'd just like to thank everyone for all the support you've given me and our team through the years, and I guess that's all I've got to say."

The biggest applause followed the reunion of Jones and the other three runners on the Class 3A state championship mile relay team.

Jones' high school coach Scott Boyd, who has traveled with Jones to all of the post-high school track meets and to the Olympics, said Jones had received tremendous publicity, but "He has remained the same proud, yet unselfish and lovable, individual that we all know."

Among those on hand to welcome Jones home was University of Texas football coach Darrell Royal and Jim Hines, the 1968 gold medalist and world record-holder (9.95) in the 100 meters.

Jones will enroll at UT this fall on a football scholarship. Royal said one sports writer feared Jones would get crippled playing football for Royal and that would destroy his promising track career.

After reading that, Royal said he thought, "Before they are going to hurt him, they are going to have to catch him. And then I thought the only five guys who might catch him don't even play football. So I think he'll be safe playing football."

Jones finished sixth in the 100 meters at Montreal. Hines predicted Jones would win that event at the 1980 Olympics in Moscow.

The grandfather closed the ceremony with a long, heartfelt prayer. Jones stood behind him, shielding his grandfather from the brain-baking sun with an umbrella.

"Boy, if that didn't move you," Royal told reporters later, "there's no hope for you."

CRUNCHED QUARTERBACK — The Dallas Cowboys' quarterback, Roger Staubach, gets thrown for a six-yard loss by Oakland Raider Frank Tate (top) in first quarter action at the Oakland Coliseum Saturday night. Staubach completed 10 of 20 passes for 153 yards, but was unable to overcome the Raiders defense and lost 17-14.

Raiders not kicking

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Both teams suffered serious injuries in the Oakland Raiders' 17-14 win over the Dallas Cowboys. But rookie place kicker Fred Steinfort's debut made the mishap easier for the Raiders to take.

Oakland's six-year veteran defensive end Horace Jones tore a knee ligament on the first defensive series in the National Football League pre-season clash. That type of injury "usually requires surgery," coach John Madden said after the game Saturday night.

But Steinfort showed the form he'll need to maintain throughout the pre-season to oust 48-year-old George Blanda, the grizzled legend who's working on his 27th season. Steinfort, 24, a 5th-round draft pick from Boston College, punched over two extra points and a 27-yard field goal in his only opportunity to give the Raiders their slender margin of victory.

Steinfort said he and Blanda definitely were "competing for the same job" and admitted he was less than pleased with his four kickoffs, the longest of which penetrated to the Dallas seven. Madden said the youngster was troubled by a sprained ankle.

Quarterback Ken Stabler, who fired an 11-yard touchdown pass to Mike Siani for the game's first score, said the powerful Raiders are ready again this year to go all the way to the Super Bowl.

"We're the same as we have been for the last two or three years," Stabler said after the game. "We have the same opportunities; it's up to us to go out and do it. I don't see anything stopping us."

The Raiders went ahead 14-0 on a one-yard sprint by Clarence Davis. For the Cowboys, Drew Pearson scored on a pass from Roger Staubach, but the score jumped to 17-0 when Steinfort's fourth-quarter field goal. Dallas substitute quarterback Clint Longley scored on a one-yard keeper.

Good news for Harris

DALLAS (AP) — The bad news for Dallas Cowboy Head Coach Tom Landry came Saturday night when All-Pro free safety Cliff Harris went down with a knee injury.

However, good news followed Sunday. Team physician Dr. Marvin P. Knight said Sunday that no surgery is planned on Harris' right knee, injured in Dallas' 17-14 National Football League pre-season-opening loss to Oakland Saturday night.

The veteran defensive back, who flew to Dallas Sunday for the examination, should be back in action within about seven weeks, Knight added.

He explained that Harris will wear a cast for a week to 10 days.

The Cowboys open their regular season Sept. 12 against the Philadelphia Eagles.

"This is good news," said Dallas Head Coach Tom Landry. "We were afraid Cliff's injury was much more serious. Now we can have real hope that he'll be with us for most of the season."

Landry said second-year man Randy Hughes would replace Harris at free safety against the Los Angeles Rams Saturday night in Los Angeles. Depth at both free and strong safeties will be provided by veteran cornerback-safety Benny Barnes.

Harris, in his seventh year with the Cowboys, played in the Pro Bowl the past two seasons and received All-Pro honors for the first time in 1975. Knight said Harris apparently suffered a superficial tear of a knee ligament.

Final Olympic curtain?

MONTREAL (AP) — The 1976 Summer Olympics are over. Now the question is, are the Olympics over? Has the world outgrown the vision of Baron de Coubertin, who sought brotherhood through sports in founding the modern Games in 1892? Has, as International Olympic Committee director Monique Berlioux said, the soul gone out of the Olympics?

The Games ended Sunday, as they started more than two weeks ago, with pomp and ceremony clouded by controversy and international political wrangling.

They ended with the Soviet Union, the host country for the 1980 Games and the country whose athletes won the most medals here, accusing Canada of kidnapping a 17-year-old diver and angrily demanding his return to Russian control.

It was symbolic of the course of the Games — athletes serving as pawns in a larger game, mere walk-on participants on a global stage concerned with politics, international diplomacy, racial tensions, wheat deals, fears, security.

"They have placed an iron collar on the Olympics," said Madame Berlioux. "The soul has gone. The Olympic spirit is missing."

The next Games are in Moscow, four years from now. There is no way of knowing how they will fare.

There are reports from China indicating that enormous nation, not an Olympic participant, may stage conflicting games with invitations to the 28 African nations that boycotted the XXI Olympiad.

Beyond Moscow, the future is even more cloudy. Conflicting proposals have been made — disperse the Olympics among various countries, or give the Games a permanent site in Greece.

Phillip Krumm, the head of the United States Olympic Committee, opposed the latter suggestion and insisted that (1) the Games will continue and (2) the Americans will improve. "The name and the Games will carry on," he said, but noticed, "we face some gigantic problems of organization."

As to the Americans' performance, which ended on a high note Saturday, Krumm said, "We did better than the last Olympics against tougher competition. We spend $1 million a year on team development. The East Germans spend $50 million. We are the only country that does not have some government assistance."

The Americans won eight gold medals Saturday, five of them in boxing, for their best showing of the Games. But there was disappointment, too. They lost a couple they figured to win — Frank Shorter in the marathon and Dwight Stones in the high jump.

The United States finished with 34 gold medals, 35 silver and 25 bronze, a total of 94. Russia led with a count of 47-43-35, 125. East Germany, backed by a massive government subsidy program, produced 40-25-25, 90 over-all. Most of them came from its women, who dominated the swimming events almost to the extent the American men ruled theirs.

Shirley Babashoff, America's top woman swimmer who won three silver and a gold, cast a glance at the broad-shouldered East German women and sniffed.

Shaky Allin tops Pleasant field

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Brian "Bud" Allin, who collected a fistful of decorations as an Army artilleryman in Viet Nam, now is a bundle of nerves on the pro golf tour. And he likes it that way.

"It's nice to be nervous, that's what this game is all about," the 31-year-old Allin said Sunday after collecting $40,000 with a pressure-packed, one-stroke victory in the $200,000 Pleasant Valley Classic.

"I was nervous, kind of shaky out there," Allin said. "It's been so long since I've won, since 1974, I really wanted this one. I was so nervous I quit looking at the scoreboard."

"I didn't know I was ahead. I didn't look at the leader board from the 10th hole until the 18th. Then I looked up at the board when I was on that last green. I knew I needed just two putts to win and I went out and got them."

While admitting to a case of nerves, he gave the jitters to rivals as the 72-hole tournament turned into horse race in the final round, interrupted by a thunderstorm for 1½ hours in late morning.

After six holes, there was a five-way tie for the lead. Allin took a bogey 5 on the 64th hole, but then settled down, and his challengers gradually faded. Allin took the lead for good when Bob Menne had a bogey on the 68th hole.

event and then went out and won both ends of the doubleheader—unprecedented in USAC history.

Battling 122-degree track temperatures, Foyt gunned his innovative Coyote-Ford Indy car to a winning average speed of 172.885 miles per hour in the first race, leading from start to finish.

The second race was more exciting with Sal Tovella, Addison, Ill., challenging Foyt until the 51st lap when Foyt pushed his 1976 Chevelle into the lead for good after 26 caution laps. The yellow-flag marred race had an average speed of 115.981 mph.

It didn't take the 32,800 fans long to figure out it was Foyt's day. A recording of "The Ballad of A. J. Foyt" blared repeatedly over the loudspeakers.

"If I have to win somewhere, I'd just as soon be here as any place in the world," the sometimes controversial Foyt drawled in victory circle after winning the Indy race. "I'd like to see this track go over real big."

February and only second triumph this year.

"I hope I don't have to wait that long for the next one," Petty added.

Petty's woes are, according to crew chief and cousin Dale Inman, traceable in good measure to NASCAR's jockeying around with the carburetor rules this season.

"We were okay until March, when they made the one change," Petty explained. "Until then we were running good but just not winning."

One gold medal diver coming up — for U.S.?

MONTREAL (AP) — The United States took an inventory of its Olympic medals today, all 94 of them, then began pondering the inevitable question:

Can a nation operating as a free society continue to match athletic skills with highly regimented and totally subsidized teams from countries such as the Soviet Union and East Germany?

Must America resort to the "factory system," glorified by the East Germans, and start turning out Olympic medalists the way Detroit produces automobiles?

The U.S. medal total equaled the count four years ago but there was one additional gold, 34 to 33, and improvement in a number of the more obscure sports.

On the other hand, the Soviet Union enlarged its over-all superiority, increasing its total medal count from 99 to 125, and East Germany, with a population less than one-tenth that of the United States, climbed over Uncle Sam's back into second place in the standings based on golds.

The Russians won 47, East Germany 40 and the United States 34. This subordinate position to Communist rivals is certain to provoke fresh howls from the traditional "Viewers With Alarm," who think the powerful United States should never lose sports contests.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association will say it is all the fault of the Amateur Athletic Union. The AAU will blame the NCAA. And the President may name another commission to look into it all.

Yet, America isn't ready to set up a robot school such as the East Germans have at Leipzig, with its teams of white-coated doctors, test tubes, wires and treadmills to produce world-class athletes. Nor does America seem inclined to turn all of its top athletes into students and teachers on a permanent payroll with special bonuses for extra athletic achievement, as in the Soviet Union.

The thought of a national team is offensive to most officials and athletes. Gold medalist Mac Wilkins, one of the harshest critics of the U.S. Olympic Committee, admitted he might have thrown the discus 250 feet if he had been a product of the Leipzig factory, but added:

"That's not for me. I wouldn't trade my personal freedom for all the records in the world."

Soviets cancel meet

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — A two-day swimming meet between the Soviet Union and the United States at Dartmouth College this week was cancelled today after the Russian team was called home.

A Dartmouth College spokesman said school officials were notified this morning that the Soviet team would not compete.

The Russian team was recalled after the apparent defection of 17-year-old diver Sergei Nemtsanov in Montreal during the Olympic games last week, the Dartmouth spokesman said.

The Soviet team gave no official reason for withdrawing from the meet, but the Nemtsanov defection "obviously is what it's all about," Jack Degange, the spokesman, said.

Six Olympic medal winners, including two gold medalists, had been scheduled to compete in the meet between United States and Russia on Thursday and Friday.

Organizers of the meet had hoped to make it an annual event, alternating sites between the two countries.

Ranger victory finger lickin' good

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Give Frank Lucchesi a drumstick — and eight runs — and you'd have to go pretty far to find a happier man.

"This is the best fried chicken I've had in a long time," the gray-haired Texas manager said over his postgame meal Sunday night after his Texas Rangers throttled the Kansas City Royals, 8-4.

"I've been waiting for that one for a month," Lucchesi said of the Rangers' second straight win. "We had more runs tonight than in the whole Minnesota series, I think. That's the way we're supposed to hit."

The Rangers, who had dropped 20 of their last 24 games, pounded out 14 hits against four Royal hurlers, including Andy Hassler, 0-7, who dropped his 19th straight decision.

It was the most runs scored by Texas since July 10, and Perry's first victory since June 30.

"You just gotta keep hanging in there," said the grizzled right-hander, 10-8, who survived a two-run outburst by the Royals in the first inning and a solo score in the second.

REAL ASSETS — Trainer A.D. Stowe leads Real Wind into the winner's circle here after the filly stepped off a brilliant length's win in the $368,784 Rainbow Futurity Sunday. Jockey Jeff Fair is riding.

Retired teachers gain Real Assets in Rainbow

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (AP) — Two retired school teachers who bought a horse for $2,000 saw their investment pay off royally when the filly won the 13th running of Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso Downs and a paycheck of $120,858.

Real Wind, which had won only $3,815 prior to Sunday's regionally televised $368,784 Rainbow, covered the muddy 400 yards in :19.97 seconds to beat second place Megahertz by a length in the second leg of the Triple Crown of quarter horse racing.

The finale to the three big money races — the $1 million All American Futurity — will come Labor Day. The first leg of the Triple Crown — the Kansas Futurity — was run in June but the winner, Lord Winsalot, didn't qualify for the Rainbow.

J.D. and Elsie Kitchens of Fort Sumner, N.M., are the retired teachers who saw their $2,000 investment pay off Sunday when Real Wind blew past the other eight 2-year-olds in the race.

Real Wind slipped around on the muddy turf as she broke from the gate, but jockey Jeff Fair found clear sailing on the far outside and the filly opened up a lead by the halfway point.

Real Wind was practically unknown less than a month ago. But she posted the best time in the Rainbow trials to establish herself as the betting favorite Sunday in her first race in stakes company.

Megahertz, owned by Larry Brumbaugh of Fort Worth, Tex., was never far off the early lead and moved into second in the final stages of the race but never seriously challenged Real Wind for the lead.

Cutie Kiss, owned by Robert A. and Bruce E. Gentry of Lubbock, Tex., got one of the early calls, dropped back and then came on at the end to finish third, a neck behind Megahertz.

Real Wind refunded $6.70, $5.00 and $4.40. Megahertz, ridden by Terry Liphman, paid $6.00 and $5.00.

Dierker comfy under the Dome

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Watson's second-inning home run, his 13th blast of the season.

Houston added another run in the third on a single by Enos Cabell, a balk and Jose Cruz' RBI base hit.

Roger Metzger's run-scoring single and Dierker's fielder's choice brought home two more Astro runs in the sixth, with seventh-inning singles by Watson and Cruz and shortstop Darrel Chaney's throwing error accounting for Houston's final two runs.

"I've always felt real good pitching in the Dome," said Dierker, now 11-9. "I've never pitched any better during a short period."

The Astros took a 1-0 lead against Atlanta starter and loser Phil Niekro, 11-7, on Oilers open tonight vs. Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Houston Oilers and their game-breaking wide receivers Billy Johnson and Ken Burroughs open their 1976 National Football League exhibition season here tonight against the Kansas City Chiefs, who are rebuilding and frightfully short of experience in the defensive secondary.

About 30,000 fans are expected for the 7:35 p.m. CDT kickoff.

Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips, who led the once lowly Oilers to a 10-4 record last year, plans to alternate Dan Pastorini and John Hadl while playing all regulars about one quarter.

Phillips and Chiefs boss Paul Wiggin both say they will use the game to test newcomers.

"We'll take a good long look at a lot of people, yet try to win," said Wiggin.

"I think it's important that we make every effort to win our pre-season games. With the number of young players we have, it will be important to see what they can do under pressure situations."

The Chiefs, who have struggled to 5-9 records the past two years, will start four rookies, two free agents and a player obtained in a trade.

The secondary, with rookie cornerback Tim Collier, rookie free safety Gary Barbaro and newcomer Tim Gray at strong safety, will be the least experienced the Chiefs have fielded in years.

"It'll be different," agreed veteran middle linebacker Willie Lanier.

"We've had changes in the 10 years I've been here, but we never had this many at one time. We've had a chance to work together for three weeks so that should help."

Lanier is expected to be spelled much of the game by rookie Jimbo Elrod, the converted defensive end from Oklahoma.

Mike Livingston will start at quarterback for Kansas City and may play into the second quarter before yielding to Tony Adams or rookies Mike Nott or Joe Bruner.

HOLDING SECOND — Big Spring All-Star Lauri Calhoun returns to second Saturday after slapping a two-bagger against Odessa Blue in Big Spring's 38-2 win. Odessa's Cathy Fields covers the base and Tracy Lewallen backs her up. Midland Gold beat Big Spring 23-13 in Sunday's final.

Midland Gold wins MSA Minor tourney

The Undeclared Midland Gold All-Stars clipped Big Spring 23-13 Sunday to win the Miss Softball America Minor League Area Tournament held on the Roy Anderson complex.

The Midland team will go to the MSA state tournament in Sweetwater August 13-15.

Big Spring gave the Gold its most competition in the tourney. Midland trounced Odessa Blue 22-8 and Odessa Orage 23-2 to advance to the finals.

NEWSPAPER CARRIERS... A TRADITION OF SERVICE

HE NEEDS TO BE PAID ON TIME, TOO
"PLEASE, PAY BEFORE THE 5th OF THE MONTH"

The young girls and boys who deliver your newspaper today are carrying on a fine tradition established more than 150 years ago during the days of the Penny Press. They are also learning to manage their own businesses in the tradition of free enterprise, a valuable experience for their future.

Your newspaper carrier is in business for himself. He buys his newspaper at wholesale and sells them at retail. The difference is his profit. He pays for his newspapers every month, so it's important that he collect from his customers each month.

Why not set aside his money so it will be ready when he calls? That way, it will be helpful to him and convenient for you.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to keep busy at whatever your tasks and duties are. Definitely not a day to indulge in recreations and entertainments which appeal to the lighter side of your nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Show that you can handle responsibilities carefully and gain the approval of higher-ups. Heed complaints of a loved one.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have made certain promises to others and should not try to change them now. Carry them through wisely. Take in stride any public annoyance that may arise. Do not lose your temper.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get at that work ahead of you and do not be distracted by little things as you may lose out where it counts the most. Take no risks where health is concerned, either. Be more practical.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Forget all that frivolity you have in mind and get busy on practical and worthwhile things. Do something nice for a loved one. Think clearly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Some little sacrifice may be necessary if you are to add to the harmony needed at home. Forget that martyr complex and become more aggressive. Put finest talents to work.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Thoughtlessness could cause much trouble today, so be alert, courteous. Choose your words well. Associate with congenials today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't invest too heavily or you could lose that security you now enjoy. Organize your budget so that it is more flexible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Analyze personal interests so that you know exactly where you stand and how to improve them. Don't take chances with strangers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put aside fun today and get busy at those important duties. Run errands for a loved one, also. Work in closer harmony for best results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Steer clear of a friend who wants to waste your valuable time. Group meetings could also be a waste of time now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Not a good day for handling outside matters, but fine for the personal side of your life. Some credit affair you may have can be solved.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Keep any promises you have made to others instead of procrastinating. A new acquaintance could prove to be a bore, so steer clear.

TV program grounds for Alaniz mistrial?

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Defense lawyers in the burglary and theft trial of lawyer Nago Alaniz of Duval County sought a mistrial on grounds that publicly, including CBS' 60 Minutes' television program, has prejudiced the jury against the defendant.

After filing the motion, defense lawyers Dick DeGuerin and attorney Raul Longoria met in chambers with District Court Judge Darrell Hester.

There was no immediate ruling.

Alaniz of San Diego, Tex., is being tried on a charge that he burglarized the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District office and stole records.

The records were being sought by a federal grand jury for an investigation into the income tax returns of the late political boss George Parr, the "Duke of Duval."

In the motion for a mistrial, the defense said that prospective jurors and jurors have been "bombarded with prejudicial publicity about Alaniz and his association with Parr."

The motion said that "the crowning blow" came Sunday night when CBS broadcast a segment about Parr on "60 Minutes." The motion said the program "went above and beyond news reporting in that it was largely editorial."

DeGuerin said the program described Duval County as "the most corrupt county in the nation" and said public officials in the county have been "filling their own pockets with tax money."

The motion also noted that the news program showed film of Parr walking out of a court house with Alaniz. That particular piece of film was taken during Parr's income tax evasion trial several years ago at Corpus Christi.

The defense also alleged that the showing of the program at the time that it was broadcast may not have been "mere coincidence," but may have been "an effort to sabotage the judicial process."

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were lower in midday dealings today.

Prices again fell the $10-a-bale trading limit on continuation in speculative liquidation.

The average spot price cotton declined 136 points to 71.42 cents a pound Friday.

Midday prices today were $9 to $10 a bale lower: Oct. 73.20, Dec. 72.47, March 73.10.

RECOVERING REMAINS OF ANCIENT BISON — Lubbock Lake Site area crew chiefs are preserving and recovering the bone remains of several extinct bison. They were killed by Indians, probably 10,000-plus years ago, in the early Folsom Period of archeological history, on the beach of an ancient pond. The ancient kill sites are recognized by the piles of bone remains and the location of bone and stone tools in or near the remains. The workers are, left to right, Cristi Assad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Assad of Sacramento, Calif.; Peer Moore-Jensen, senior anthropology major and son of Mr. and Mrs. Aage Jansen of Copenhagen, Denmark; and Michael J. Kaczor, graduate student in museum science and son of Mrs. Joan Kaczor of Woodbridge, N.J.

Saber-toothed tigers roaming Texas?

LUBBOCK — A fair-sized stream running year-round for good muskrat habitat, invaded from time to time by elephants, saber-toothed tigers, a herd of native North American horses or camels . . . that is the picture emerging for the semi-arid West Texas plains 12,000 years ago.

Archeologists scraping away eons of soil at the Lubbock Lake Site are piecing together the environment, the plants and animals that have flourished there for the past six centuries. Among the debris of the past are evidences of man's activity.

bones, shells, seeds — anything that will help reconstruct the history of the climate and environment.

Dr. Eileen Johnson is field director and co-principal investigator on the project with Dr. M. Elizabeth King, curator of anthropology at The Museum of Texas Tech University and professor of museum science.

The climate from 10,000 to 7,000 B.C. was "more equitable" than it is today, Dr. Johnson said. Summers were cooler and winters milder.

For instance, ground squirrel bones found at the site were the remains of forbears of ground squirrels found now no farther south than central Colorado, indicating the summers were cooler and more to the animals' liking. The types of tortoise bones found belong to a kind of turtle existing now no farther north than the eastern or gulf borders of Texas, and the tortoise could not have survived present-day winter freezes.

Erosion, both natural and that made by motorcyclists, and some vandalism also have thwarted scientific exploration of the site.

"But our greatest problem," Dr. King admits, "is outguessing Early Man — trying to determine where the best archeological finds are to be found at the site, buried under about 20 feet of history along the embankment."

Thomas Stafford, who is working toward the doctoral degree in geology at the University of Arizona, heads the geological aspects of the current project. This year he has made several cuts, as deep as 20 feet, into that embankment. The cuts reveal not only geologic changes but also possible archeological lodges.

In addition to the National Science Foundation the work at the Lubbock Lake Site has the support of the city and county of Lubbock.

Others working on special features of the Lubbock Lake Site are in: soils, Dr. B. L. Allen and graduate student Vance Holliday of San Antonio; entomology, Dr. James Wangberg; invertebrate paleontology, Dr. Harold G. Pierce; paleobotany, Dr. David Northington, Dr. Russell D. Pettit, Mrs. Elsie Morey, and Jerome Thompson, a graduate student from Ames, Iowa.

SEED FINDS indicate that from 9,000 to 12,000 years ago hackberry groves lined the lake site and the stream which fed it. This is an indication that a stream, probably running at least two feet deep, was constant. Today there is no stream, although the dig has revealed its channel.

Two facets of the dig at the Lubbock Lake Site are especially rewarding for scientists: For one thing, man's activity can be traced there from eon to eon, beginning 12,000 years ago and brought chronologically forward to the pop bottle era.

The other unusual feature of the dig is that the archeologists are washing and sifting all the soil they remove for traces of small

Four physicians added to staff at Webb AFB

The recent addition of four medical doctors and expected arrival of another one in September will come close to bringing the Webb base hospital up to strength, according to Maj. Edward C. Morton Jr., director of medical services.

"We still will not have a pediatrician," the director said, "but the general medical officers will rotate in that area."

Three of the new doctors arrived on base last week and the other one, Lt. Col. (Dr.) Donald D. Downing, came in May. He spent 22 years in private practice in Michigan prior to his entry on active duty this year.

Since arriving, Downing has assumed the additional duties of drug and alcohol abuse medical monitor. A former Navy enlisted man during World War II, he received his Doctor of Osteopathy degree in 1952 from the Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery.

Downing's most recent practice was in Bridgman, Mich. He is single.

Maj. (Dr.) Gilbert Miller, a general medical officer, spent 20 years as a family practitioner at Lawrenceville, Ill., a city of about 6,500 people. He entered the Air Force this month because he "wanted a change."

Miller received his Medical Doctor degree from the University of Illinois, College of Medicine. He and his wife, Elaine, have five sons and one daughter. His hometown is Olney, Ill., while Elaine came from Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Maj. (Dr.) James Eckenrode, a general surgeon, also entered the Air Force the first of July. He had just completed five years surgical residency at Conemaugh Valley Memorial Hospital in Johnstown, Pa., which is his hometown.

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh with both his Bachelor and Master degrees in Chemical Engineering, Eckenrode's hobby of ice skating led to his decision to become a medical doctor.

While working for a Du Pont league, Eckenrode broke his leg. It sparked a new interest for him and a friend in medical school helped convince him it was what he wanted to do.

He and his wife Marian, a hometown sweetheart, reside at 73 Ent Street. They have a son, Jimmy Jr., 2 1/2.

Capt. (Dr.) Haywood S. Davis is a general medical officer. He completed his internship at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., and entered the Air Force July 1 with "no vacation."

Davis received his Medical Doctor degree from Medical College of Virginia at Richmond. He plans to take more training after spending two years here.

While he was still in high school, Davis decided to become a doctor. He grew up in Norfolk, Va., and married Deborah from Hampton, Va. They have no children.

Davis says his hobbies are photography, swimming and chess. The couple plans to move on base when quarters are available later this month.

Eleven mysteriously die after convention

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Eleven persons who attended a state American Legion convention in Philadelphia July 21-24 have died of similar symptoms, a legion official said today.

Edward T. Hoak, the legion's state adjutant, said, "We don't know what it is but it's all over the state."

He said 10,000 people attended the convention.

A state health official said an investigation was begun today. He said he had no indication as to the causes of the deaths.

Hoak said many persons who were at the convention have been admitted to hospitals around the state,

Strong earthquake shakes Hebrides

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — A strong earthquake shook the New Hebrides Islands in the South Pacific early today, a spokesman at the National Earthquake Information Center said.

Marvin Carlson, a staff geophysicist, said the quake registered 6.9 on the open-ended Richter scale.

The earthquake could have caused widespread damage if it struck a populated area, Carlson said. There were no reports of severe damage in the New Hebrides.

The New Hebrides are about 500 miles west of Fiji.

On the Richter scale, every increase of one number, say from magnitude 5.5 to magnitude 6.5, means the ground motion is 10 times greater. Some experts say the actual amount of energy released may be 30 times greater.

In populated areas, an earthquake of 3.5 on the Richter scale can cause slight damage.

Russian tank mysterious

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia reportedly has moved into major production of an advanced battle tank that is still largely a mystery to U.S. military officials.

Pentagon officials said the T72 went into production about two years ago and that some 1,000 tanks have been turned out so far.

From what they have been able to learn, Pentagon officials say the T72 can shoot on the move, has a laser rangefinder to give its 115mm gun greater accuracy, uses a higher powered engine than the older T62 tank, and is better protected.

The 40-ton T72 reportedly has been equipped with an automatic gun loader, permitting the Russians to

Dear Abby

A surgeon can get behind a problem

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old male who needs your help with an embarrassing problem. It's my behind. It is enormous! I'm 5 foot 8 and weigh 180. I work out three times a week at a health club and am in pretty good shape except for the abovementioned. I've tried every conceivable exercise and diet I've come across, but I can't seem to lose any of the flab back there. It's just plain fat, Abby, and no amount of exercise can firm it up.

Someone told me that it can be removed by surgery. Is that so? I don't care if the operation is painful and leaves a scar. Anything would be better than hauling around this outsized caboose all my life. I'm not exaggerating; I look practically deformed. It's so bad I hate to go to the beach. If this kind of operation can be done, who would do it?
A YARD OF LARD

DEAR YARD: A plastic surgeon. (But try to find one who doesn't mind getting a little behind in his business.)

DEAR ABBY: I live in an apartment building. Directly above me lives a woman and her 11-year-old son. He takes piano lessons and hates to practice, so her idea of the ideal punishment is to make him practice "extra time."

Lately he has been punished a lot, but I am being punished more. I have been hearing "The Blue Danube Waltz" in my sleep!

The mother is a music lover, and she's decided that her son is going to learn to love music if it kills him.

Please print this. I know my neighbor reads your column, because every time you knock smokers she cuts out the article and sticks it in my mailbox. (I smoke.)
Thanks a million.

HIGHLAND PARK HEADACHE

DEAR HEADACHE: If your neighbor wants her son to hate music, she's going about it in exactly the right way. Now, stick this in HER mailbox, and lotsa luck!

DEAR ABBY: Sunday evening at 8:45, my wife and I received a phone call from a couple who have been very dear friends of ours for many years. They asked us to please come right over for dinner because at the last minute, the couple whom they had invited couldn't make it.

Our friends live about an hour's drive from us. We weren't dressed and were all set for a quiet evening at home. Also, we needed a babysitter and had made no plans for one.

My wife thought there was nothing wrong with their invitation, but I was amazed at their chutzpah.

Please understand that we have been their dinner guests many times, and I wasn't put out because we hadn't been invited initially. But to be called so late because, as they put it, "we have all this delicious food, which you would just love," was not a good enough reason for us to rush over there. We thanked them and declined.

How would you have responded to such an invitation?
ENCINO

DEAR ENCINO: The same way you did.

DEAR ABBY: About LONG SUFFERING HUSBAND, whose wife would not permit smoking in the house: There is no point in my repeating the damage that smokers do to themselves, but they should realize the suffering they cause others and not expect nonsmokers to remain silent.

I would like to ask that clown this question: If his wife had had lever, would he expect her to tolerate ragweed in the house?

MRS. MICHAEL R. PRICE

Miss Wolverton weds Michael Price Sunday

Miss Renee Wolverton and Michael R. Price exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony conducted Sunday afternoon in the garden of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Seay.

Dr. Jimmy Law performed the ceremony in front of an altar decorated with candelabra and palm leaves. Trees formed an archway. Memory candles also adorned the altar.

The bride wore a gown formed of white cotton eyelet. The sleeveless gown featured an empire waist with a sash. The bride wore a shawl of matching eyelet with eyelet lace, and a white garden hat decorated with yellow spider mums, baby's breath and green ribbon. The dress had soft pleats at the neckline.

The bride carried a bouquet of white majestic daisies, yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath set on English ivy.

Mrs. Truett Vines served her daughter as matron of honor. Truett Vines, stepfather of the bride, was best man.

Following a trip to Ruidoso, N.M. the couple will make their home in San Marcos, where they will attend South West Texas State University. Both are graduates of Big Spring High School. The bride attended Howard College.

Mrs. Alma Krumnow, Mart, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson, Boerne, were special guests.

A reception was held honoring the couple in the Seay home. Serving at the reception were Hoylene Nix, Dawn Burt and Patricia Cherry, Coahoma. Robin Nix attended the registry.

Millions of maps diminishing in number

By The Associated Press
The millions of road maps traditionally given out free at the nation's service stations are changing these days. They are often smaller, there are fewer of them and, in some cases, they cost money.

The problem goes back to 1973. First there was the energy crunch. Service stations no longer needed maps to attract customers. Then there was inflation. Costs rose, and the free map became an expensive proposition for the oil companies.

Today, according to a spokesman for one manufacturer, a consumer looking for a particular type of road map may have to try several places before finding exactly what he or she wants.

There are no nationwide statistics available on how many oil companies still distribute the maps free of charge. "I do know it's not like it once was," said a spokesman for the American Petroleum Institute.

He said some oil companies charge their dealers for the maps, leaving it up to the individual station owner to decide whether to pass the cost on to the consumer. A few stations have installed vending machines and are experimenting with 50-and-75-cent maps.

Conroy V. Erickson, a spokesman for Rand-McNally Inc. of Skokie, Ill., the largest producer of road maps in the country, said the free road map is not dead. But he said many of the oil companies have cut back. "They have gotten out of city maps and ... have less ambitious map programs." Regional maps are replacing state maps.

Erickson said one company, which he declined to name, experimented last year with a kind of "minimap," but was dissatisfied and returned to regular maps. He said other companies are buying pads of maps which are smaller and cheaper to produce since they do not require the complex folding of the standard map.

Rand-McNally does not disclose sales figures, but some industry sources have estimated that $11 million worth of road maps are distributed by oil companies each year.

Erickson said between 225 and 250 million maps were given out in 1972, the latest year for which he had complete figures. The number declined sharply in 1973 and 1974, he said. It has started rising again, but the 1976 total still will be less than the 1972 figure.

Americans tend to think of the free map as a universal fixture. Service stations abroad do not give out maps, however, and never have, Erickson said. Even in the United States, the concept of free road maps was not introduced until the late 1930s.

Erickson said Rand-McNally has kept down the cost to oil companies by introducing technological improvements to make manufacturing more efficient. "But of course paper is more expensive," he said, and distribution costs for the oil companies have risen sharply.
