Local Industrial Foundation rejoices

House revives nuclear fuel act

The House of Representatives passed the Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act this morning by a vote of 222-168 after earlier rejecting the Bingham amendment to the bill by the narrow margin of one vote, 193-192.

The Bingham amendment would, in effect, have struck all of the bill except Section 4, which would have authorized $225 million for a Portsmouth, Ohio, project.

Properly, the bill is identified as HR 8401.

The act itself, progress of which was being closely monitored by Big Spring observers, would allow private companies to enrich uranium.

The bill, which emanated from a joint committee on atomic energy, now goes to the Senate.

The house adopted a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to include committee amendments, with the guarantee restricted to the assurance that the government-applied technology will work.

The action taken by the house today brought rejoicing among members of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation.

Tom Roy, IF executive director, said, after hearing of the vote:

"We have cleared one hurdle in our efforts to get this piece of legislation into law."

A spokeswoman in Cong. Omar Burleson's office said the decisiveness of the vote on the act today reflected the fact that a lot of congressmen who were away from Washington last week had returned to their duties in time to consider the proposed legislation.

Opponents of the private enrichment proposal won a test vote which added the Bingham amendment to the bill last week. The margin then was 170-168.

At the time, anti-nuclear forces charged that the bill would provide government guarantees of profits to large companies and increase consumer electric bills.

Big Spring is included on a list of possible sites for such power plants.

John Currie, one of the leaders here rallying support for the act in the legislative houses, expressed elation over the decisiveness of the vote by the house, adding:

"THE IMPORTANCE of one vote

(referring to the narrow defeat of the Bingham amendment) cannot be over-emphasized. In the Senate, one vote can often be far more important (since that deliberative body is smaller in numbers).

"Anyone here who knows a senator residing in another state can perform a service for the community by getting in touch with him and appealing for support of the measure."

Currie added that Omar Burleson, U.S. representative from this district, did an excellent job of shepherding the bill through the house and the constituency should feel indebted to him. Currie also lauded House Speaker Carl Albert for his work in accelerating action on the bill.

J.D. Nelson, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, was also one who waxed enthusiastic about the action of the house today.

"NEEDLESS TO say, the Chamber was 100 per cent behind the legislation and stands ready to do what it can to promote the act."

Roy has been in contact with the Garrett Corporation of California, which builds such enrichment plants and which had expressed interest in Big Spring as a possible site for such a plant.

He said that Garrett officials expressed happiness over the result of the house vote and were grateful for the vigorous role Big Spring residents had taken in getting house action on the act.

"I know, too, a great many people in the community were interested," Roy said, "because of the number of calls we had from those intent on sending mailgrams to congressional leaders."

Four armed men escape Angelo jail

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Four prisoners armed with a pistol broke out of the Tom Green County jail about 3:45 a.m. today.

Jailer Gary Bower was making his rounds, he related, when one of the quartet—Johnny Murray, held because his parole had been revoked—produced the weapon. The inmates quickly tied Bower to their cell bars with a plaited bedsheet.

Sheriff Odell Wagoner said Bower soon freed himself and sounded an alarm.

Besides Murray, the escapees were identified by the sheriff as Rick Bowhay, 18, and Dan Jackson, 26, both held on burglary charges, and J.W. Nowlin, 28, held on a theft complaint.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Ernest Haynes said somebody apparently slipped a .38-caliber pistol to the prisoners Tuesday.

The fugitives were wearing civilian clothes and officers said there was no clue to what direction they fled.

Their break might be the last from the old jail. Within a week or two a move is scheduled into a multimillion dollar new courts and jail building next door.

IN ISOLATION — Richard Wells, of Turnersville, N.J., is cared for by a nurse in the isolation unit of a South New Jersey hospital Tuesday after he was admitted with symptoms of a mystery disease that has hit the area. Most of those that have died or become sick were connected to an American Legion convention held in Philadelphia recently. However, Wells, a truck driver, only delivered a load of canned goods to one of the hotels involved in the convention.

Death toll now 22

Mysterious disease still unknown

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — State health officials said today they don't know when they will be able to identify the mystery "legionnaire's disease" that has killed 22 persons who attended an American Legion convention two weeks ago. But some persons who had the disease have now recovered and that may aid researchers in tracking down the flu-like agent, state Health Secretary Leonard Bachman told a news conference. Doctors also do not know how to treat the 122 persons still hospitalized with symptoms of high fever, congested lungs, and chest pains, Bachman said.

"Some are getting antibiotics and some aren't and that hasn't had an effect one way or the other," he said. There are no signs that the outbreak was abating. A 73-year-old Philadelphia woman died Tuesday night and a Pittsburgh man died early today, bringing the death toll to 22.

"The disease has not leveled off," said Bachman. "Apparently both the number of deaths and the number of new cases have increased and are increasing."

More than 1,000 federal and state medical researchers have been mobilized to identify the disease. At the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, researchers planned today to harvest the first cultures grown from tissue samples taken from victims of the illness.

The cultures could provide a clue. "We are ruling out nothing," said Dr. Walter Dowdle, director of virology at the center. "This could be anything from an infectious disease to a toxin."

Howard County outlook

$49 increase in auto insurance recommended

HARTE-HANKS AUSTIN BUREAU AUSTIN — Howard County auto owners can expect a $49 increase in typical insurance premiums beginning Oct. 1, if staff recommendations made Wednesday are adopted by the State Board of Insurance.

The insurance board staff uses a different formula to determine rate increases than the insurance industry. Although staff recommendations resulted in a 20.8 per cent increase statewide, compared to the 27 per cent asked by the industry, Howard County recommendations were higher than the $44 requested in the industry formula.

The "typical" auto owner is defined as a class 1-B driver — a male between the ages of 25 and 65, or a female

All of the known victims of the disease — including two hospitalized in New Jersey and one in New York — attended or were in some way connected with a state American Legion convention in Philadelphia that ended 11 days ago. There has been no confirmed evidence of secondary spread of the disease, Bachman said, but he added that it was still too early to discount the possibility that the disease may have spread.

In an interview early today, however, a state health department spokesman said there were six unconfirmed reports of the disease among people in Philadelphia who did not attend the convention.

"That has not been verified," said the spokesman, Bob Costello. "It looks like it might be so."

All of the victims have experienced the same flu-like symptoms: headache, high fever, congested lungs and chest pains.

Bachman said those symptoms are consistent with the swine-type flu that appeared in New Jersey this year, prompting plans for a nationwide immunization program. They are also consistent with viral pneumonia, he said.

Flood waters recede, death toll near 100

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP) — As flood waters receded and residents returned to shattered homes in Big Thompson Canyon, authorities stepped up security procedures today to prevent looting in the debris left by a flash flood whose confirmed death toll stood at almost 100.

About 40 men were added to an estimated 60-man security force, patrolling the vacation area on foot, on horseback and in four-wheel drive vehicles. At the same time, recovery teams fanned out through the canyon to continue the task of digging out bodies.

Joe Ellis of Kibbey Funeral Home, which is responsible for all bodies brought out, said 74 bodies had been recovered and two dozen remain inside the canyon.

Capt. Rich Hovey of the Larimer County Sheriff's Department dismissed suggestions of widespread looting, although three persons were arrested Tuesday on suspicion. Gary Simms, a policeman at nearby Fort Collins, said the suspects had knives and rifles when arrested.

"If we can catch about 10 pilferers, put $15,000 bond on them and spread the word," looting won't be a problem, said Sheriff Robert Watson.

One problem for authorities was the return of canyon residents to the piles of debris that once were their homes.

Five roadblocks were set up on the stretch of U.S. 34 leading to the spot where the floodwaters had spilled onto the lowlands west of Loveland.

A 12-foot wall of water from rains barreled through the twisting river canyon on Saturday, floating away houses, smashing mobile homes against the towering rock walls and burying the dead under silt and slime.

National Guardsmen, volunteers and search and rescue teams began a fourth day of searching today among logjams of twisted metal and splintered wood for more dead.

Watson, who earlier predicted an eventual death toll of 200, scaled down the figure to 100-150. But he admitted to reporters, "Your guess is as good as mine."

With an airborne evacuation of survivors completed, the list of injured stood at nearly 300, the missing totaled 250.

The federal government estimated property damage at up to $100 million. Robert Rosenheim, regional administrator of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, said that much money had already been set aside for relief and reconstruction, with more available if necessary.

Watson estimated it would take a year just to clear out the tons of debris. Reconstruction, he said, won't come as quickly.

One of the first priorities for cleanup crews was Drake, the largest town in the the canyon.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Ma Bell's 'static'

Q. Why is it some phones in Big Spring make crackling and popping noises which are so loud while you are dialing it hurts to hold them to your ear?

A. Local telephone officials could not seem to find an answer to this question. Spokesmen in Midland, after numerous departmental switches, could also give no answer to the question. A man in Dallas finally said that the noises are "static."

Offbeat: Liz still can't type

NEW YORK (AP) — Elizabeth Ray will cover the Republican National Convention for Genesis magazine.

"We want her to talk to as many people as she can, get interviews with the people she knows," said Genesis publisher Norman Hill in a telephone interview Tuesday.

Hill refused to say how much Genesis will pay Miss Ray, the Capitol Hill secretary who rose from obscurity when she contended that she had been hired by Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, only to provide him with sexual favors.

But Hill said, "She'll carry a tape recorder everywhere she goes and she'll write it out in longhand. She can't type, y'know."

Hill said Miss Ray's article will appear in the December issue of Genesis and that the magazine's November issue will feature pictures of Miss Ray posing nude.

MAKING PROGRESS — Crews at the new Owens Street overpass are shown here pouring concrete in the cross junction beams of the structure scheduled for completion sometime during the summer of 1977.

CRASH SITE — Rescue workers remove a body from the charred wreckage of a private plane that crashed Tuesday night, killing Missouri Congressman Jerry Litton, his wife, their two children and two Chillicothe residents. The Littons were on their way to a victory celebration in Kansas City. He won the Democratic nomination to the Senate in the state's primary Tuesday.

Plane crash mars elections

Winning candidate, family killed

Rep. Jerry Litton climbed into a small plane in Chillicothe, Mo. for the short flight to Kansas City, hoping to celebrate his nomination to the U.S. Senate with his wife and two children.

The votes were still being counted Tuesday evening when the plane crashed 20 minutes later, killing Litton, his wife, Sharon, and their two children, Linda, 13, and Scott, 12.

The pilot and the pilot's son also died.

Early today, the votes were counted, giving Litton, 39, the Democratic nomination to the Senate.

REP. JERRY LITTON

The selection of a candidate now rests with the Missouri Democratic Central Committee.

Litton's death cast a pall over a day in which there were primary elections in Nixon, won the Democratic nomination for the Senate. He had trailed in the polls behind Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin, who was striving to become the first elected black Democratic senator.

Riegle will face Marvin Esch, a Republican congressman who easily won his party's nomination.

Litton defeated Rep. James Symington and former Gov. Warren Hearnes for the seat that is being vacated by Symington's father, Sen. Stuart Symington, who is retiring at 75.

Missouri voters also defeated a controversial proposal to allow limited aid for private schools.

In Idaho, Rep. George Hansen, who had been fined $2,000 by a federal judge last year for failing to report campaign law violations, easily won renomination over two other Republicans. State Sen. Stan Kress, 32, a school superintendent and farmer, won the Democratic nomination to Hansen's seat.

In Kansas, Republicans chose Ross Freeman, a Topeka lawyer, to oppose Democratic Rep. Martha Keyes in November. The veteran Joe Skubitz, the only Republican congressman with opposition, was renominated easily.

Wants to trim printing bills

Speaker Clayton attempting to centralize house power

By SCOTT CARPENTER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

In a move to economize operations of the House, Speaker Bill Clayton has proposed rules changes that will more centralize the power of the House and will eliminate tools used in the past by dissidents to fight the powerful members.

The proposed changes in the House structure do make a flow chart of how a bill becomes law appear much neater. They wipe out numerous small functions of House staff, shifting most of them to the Legislative Council, headed by former Rep. Bob Johnson, who has served as House parliamentarian for the last decade. The House hopes to have the Senate join in the move to produce further savings.

One of the House jobs eliminated under the plan is currently held by Adele Jacobs. In fact she's been House Calendar Clerk since before Clayton's 14th birthday. She first went to work for the House in 1937 when Clayton was 9.

The House savings appear to be enhanced by switching who pays long distance telephone bills. After a couple of years of having the general House account pick up the tab of long distance phone calls, Clayton's Administration Committee has shifted that to the individual members picking up their own phone bills in their individual accounts.

It also voted to eliminate the first printing of the bills introduced, thereby delaying general circulation until measures are approved by a committee. That will probably trim the printing of thousands of bills to the printing of fewer than a thousand bills.

Another new rule stops House members from joining together to hire staff. Currently there are only two groups who participate in a pooling of resources. The biggest one is the group formed to try to get a consumer-oriented utility regulation bill passed. Clayton had objected to formation of a utility commission, and they felt the best way to coordinate their efforts was to hire their own experts to keep up with the proposed legislation and to review proposed compromises.

In 1971, the Dirty 30 jointly hired staff to coordinate responses to then House Speaker Gus Mutscher.

Secretary of State Mark White is reurging his proposal that Congress give free postal service to persons mailing voter registration materials. White has substantially expanded the size of the staff working on voter registration and plans a drive that will hit every Texas household in time for the November election.

Minor accidents again took up valuable duty hours for city patrolmen.

Through July 31, the year's rainfall total in Dawson County amounted to 13.41 inches.

Grows giant cantaloupe

Good rains which have fallen in the Luther area this year, no doubt, contributed to the growth of a 15-pound cantaloupe on a plot of land developed by Robert and Marie Evans recently.

Ordinary cantaloupes weigh from three to four pounds but a second prize grown by the Evanses weighed about 10 pounds. Mrs. Evans said both tasted just as good as they looked.

The Evans garden has been especially productive this year, with black-eyed peas and hybrid pinto beans growing especially well.

Carter attacks Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the official start of his campaign is a month away, Jimmy Carter emerged from his Georgia farm to make a slashing attack against President Ford, criticizing Ford's leadership and labeling the Republicans "a party of backwardness." Carter also predicted the Republicans soon will launch "vicious personal attacks" against him. The Democratic presidential nominee was in Washington today to confer with Democratic National Committee officials.

CIA used drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA used federal narcotics agents to administer experimental drugs to unwitting informants and criminal suspects in a program aimed at finding chemicals that could alter human behavior, according to newly declassified government documents. According to the documents, the technical services division of the CIA contracted with officials of what was then known as the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics to have mind-influencing drugs tested on unwitting subjects.

Verdict takes time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William and Emily Harris are reported confident, and defense attorneys say they are "encouraged that it's taking this much time" to reach a verdict in the Harris' trial on kidnaping, robbery and assault charges. "The longer the jury's out the more encouraged we are," chief defense attorney Leonard Weinglass said after the jury ended its fourth day of deliberations without a decision.

The plan is one of several amendments to an omnibus tax bill.

Slanted stories, bad headlines?

Odessa American reporters barred from office of DA

ODESSA — Reporters of the Odessa American have been barred from the office of Ector County District Attorney Johnny Green, who denounced the story appearing in the paper 'linking' Green with a Las Vegas gambling trip.

The story, which also appeared in the Big Spring Herald and the Dallas Times-Herald, concerned a trip Green admitted making in 1972 with Joe D. Hicks, former Big Spring automobile dealer, a few months after Hicks was pardoned for 19 felony convictions.

Hicks currently is confined to the Tarrant County jail in Fort Worth on narcotics charges, unable to make $500,000 bail.

Green told reporters at a called meeting that the American, specifically Olin Ashley, had been trying to "embarrass" him for seven years with untruths, slanted stories and misleading headlines.

Green said the latest story concerning the relationship between himself and Hicks implied that the trip was a payoff for a letter Green reportedly wrote to the Texas Board of Pardons on Hicks' behalf.

Ashley denied Green's charge that he was out to 'get' Green or that any of the paper's stories had been slanted to discredit the district attorney.

"We feel the people in Ector County have a right to know about Green's activities," Ashley added.

Green said his trip with Hicks to the Nevada gambling center and his decision to write a letter on Hicks' behalf to the Texas Board of Pardons were unrelated, explaining he was not familiar with Hicks' full background at the time.

"I don't make a practice to check into everybody's background that I know," Green told reporters at the press meeting. "He invited me to go on a trip with him. I did not get his pardon for him. I had nothing to do with that."

"As to writing a letter, I write letters for people who are trying to do right and I will continue to do this. The man later became involved in something which I don't know anything about."

Hicks was charged recently with organizing an international narcotics operation, seven months after the Las Vegas trip allegedly took place.

Green admitted the Drug Enforcement Agency had contacted him as long as three years ago to inform him they were investigating Hicks.

Although branding the story concerning his relationship to Hicks as slanderous, Green added he planned to take no court action against the newspaper.

Local bulding permits drop sharply during July

Building permits in Big Spring showed a marked decline in July from a year ago. The construction cost figure of $36,999 was far below the 1975 figure of $277,692.

Out of the 16 permits filed in July, (down from 49 a year ago), 13 were for residence use and three were commercial permits.

The permits were broken down into seven additions to residences; one storage, residence; one enclosure, residence; one fence, residence; one re-roof, residence; two demolitions, residence; one addition, commercial, one shed, commercial; and one sign, commercial.

Bill Chrane Auto was the only firm that filed an addition permit with the city in July. That was for $2,500.

The total cost figure for permits for the year so far is still ahead of the figure for 1975 at the end of July. The 1976 total, $3,361,013, is almost $1 million above the 1975 figure of $2,400,367.

The total for permit fees collected for July 1976 was $63, as compared to the $391 of a year ago.

Electrical permits were down 14 from a year ago, plumbing permits were down 25 from July 1975, and gas permits were up a total of four.

The number of new sewer taps were up one from a year ago, and new water taps were down by four.

Robot arm stuck, life unknown

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A balky robot arm on the Viking 1 lander has jammed for the second time, thwarting scientists' efforts to make an organic analysis of the highly active Martian soil that could determine if it holds life.

A decision on how to get the arm moving again was expected today. Viking officials reported Tuesday night that the mechanical arm used to collect soil for experiments in the lander's sophisticated automated laboratory had not completed its programmed mission after digging in the Martian surface.

One of the laboratory instruments, a gas chromatograph mass spectrometer, "did not receive a soil sample today," said Viking spokesman Larry King. The extension arm reached out 96 inches, dug up some soil and retracted about six inches before it stopped, he said. Viking officials met during the night to determine what might have caused the arm to jam. It had also jammed during preliminary testing, but scientists then found a way to dislodge a pin that blocked the arm from moving. Frank Bristow, Viking news chief, said scientists believed the problem might be in a failsafe mechanism of the lander designed to halt the arm in case of some related problem. The arm had previously delivered soil to two other experiments using separate mechanical sequences. Bristow said that Viking scientists have theorized that in order for life to exist on Mars the rust-colored soil must contain organic molecules. The organic experiment that was temporarily stymied by the stuck arm would help to determine whether such compounds are present. The researchers said Tuesday the unexplained generation of gas from a soil sample had almost ceased.

Timetable for Webb uncertain

It appears that even if the Air Force decides in the end to close Webb Air Force Base, nothing will start happening to draw it down until February.

This is because of the delays in the environmental impact statement being released. The Air Force's statements have been delayed for three months, and it is bound to cause "slippage" in the target date of having Webb padlocked by Dec. 31, 1975, a Pentagon spokesman said last week.

THE SPOKESMAN noted that this is the first time bases have been closed under the National Environmental Policy Act and, therefore, everyone is a little uncertain exactly what will happen.

But this is the way the Pentagon sees the timetable from here:

Aug. 31 is the "proposed" date for all of the Air Force's impact statements to be made public. (Actually, the statements may likely be released to congressmen affected by base closings prior to that date.)

The impact statements will be public when the Air Force hand carries them over to the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ).

The CEQ must then publish the statement in the Federal Register. It could be expected to make the Federal Register on Sept. 10.

On that day, a clock starts ticking on a 45-day public comment period. This period is expected to end Oct. 24 if the impact statements are released as now planned.

This period supposedly represents a time when the public can have input into the decision-making process.

The high point of the public comment phase will be a public hearing to be in Big Spring. This must not be held earlier than 15 days after the statement is published in the Federal Register.

The spokesman guessed that the week of Sept. 27 would be a likely date for the public hearing, because the Air Force will try to hold it as soon as possible. He emphasized that the hearing is "informal." A briefing on the action will be given; then the public can ask questions or make comments either verbal or written or both. All will be included in the public hearing record.

THE INFORMAL hearing will be presided over by what the Pentagon spokesman described as "somebody neutral." His idea of somebody neutral is a larger officer from another Air Force command, such as the Strategic Air Command. This presiding officer could come from Washington or anywhere else.

Beyond the public hearing, the public can still submit written statements for inclusion in the record. This could be important for any questions that might not be answered in the hearing.

The Pentagon spokesman said that the public hearing had no special significance in terms of testimony and all statements, written or oral, received during the public comment period would carry the same weight.

Following the end of the public comment period, say Oct. 24, the Air Force goes to work on the final impact statement. The spokesman said 60 days would probably be needed to complete the final statement, making the date Dec. 24.

A final decision on Webb cannot be made until the final impact statement is filed with the CEQ.

If that can be done by the end of December, a final verdict on Webb could be made by the first of the year.

THEN, IF THE decision is to close Webb, nothing can be done for a 30-day waiting period. The draw-down would begin in early February and would probably take three or four months to complete before the gate would be padlocked.

Given the Air Force's record on getting the impact statement out according to timetable, I would say that this one is an optimum schedule that could only be achieved if everything goes smoothly, which it won't.

But it does give us some idea what to expect in the months ahead. —J. TOM GRAHAM

Trying to conform

Around the rim

Candy Smith

If you've ever been inside of the newspaper office, you might notice, and then again you might not, that the section termed "women's news" is separated from the rest of the "real" reporters by a five-foot half-glass, half-wood structure that resists all sound. No other section, I might add, has been put in a see-through cage.

I HAVE A theory as to why this was done. The theory is two-fold. First of all, they are afraid I am going to copy their news format. Second they do not want me to comment on the heavy news.

But it won't work. I've been waiting to debut the new wedding style for quite some time now. Without further ado:

"Two residents of Big Spring, a male and female, began working to rally support for their union last Saturday evening. The effort, being coordinated by the bride's parents due to a weight gain, is aimed at defeating local discussion on the subject.

"The proposed date, barring further delays, has been tentatively set for August 3. Court records show that the groom, released yesterday from the city jail, has posted bond set at $2 million. Father of the bride-elect, justice of the peace declined comment.

"Members of the wedding party have not yet been named, although sources in the home say both families will be represented. Big Spring has been studied as one of five possible sites for the event. Speculation as to the other four sites include Point Comfort, Freer, Blooming and Deadwood, other small Texas towns. "The proposal has the backing of the administration. The spokesman said the Pentagon is still trying to work out exactly what the procedures will be for releasing the statement. I am also willing, despite barriers of content, to share "society" style with the rest of the reporters here. Hopefully it will bring a little freshness to daily news. An example.

"City council met today in the home of Mayor Wade Choate for a regular session to commend the police and fire departments for a job well done during the Cosden fire.

"Mayor Choate, wearing a blue pin-stripe suit and patent leather shoes, presented a plaque to guest speaker Charles Tompkins, who expressed gratitude for keeping a bad situation from becoming worse.

"MAYOR CHOATE also told Fire Chief Alvie Harrison and Police Chief Stanley Bogard, both wearing the standard uniform, of letters received from Cosden expressing their appreciation.

"Following a business meeting, the council were served cookies and punch. Invocation was read by a council member.

"Other hosts were Ralph McLaughlin and Charles Tompkins. Harold Hall was out of town on business.

"Next meeting will take place as scheduled to discuss a new billboard reading, 'Big sky, big country, big opportunity, Big Spring.'

Live high in Haiti

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Nestled high on the hills above Port-Au-Prince are fashionable, walled villas, equipped with sparkling swimming pools and staffed by gracious servants.

This is where the U.S. AID officials reside with their families. They came to Haiti to administer U.S. aid. Their mission is to help develop the impoverished nation and feed its hungry people.

A GENEROUS portion of the U.S. offering goes to maintain the AID administrators in the high style they have adopted. They live in luxury; they are waited on by servants; they belong to exclusive private clubs. In the evenings, they attend lavish cocktail and dinner parties, where the guests can sample the varied delights of creole cooking.

Yet believe it or not, they collect extra hardship pay for enduring the rigors of Port-Au-Prince. This amounts to an additional 15 per cent, which is tacked on to their salaries. They are also granted two extra weeks of stateside vacation, on top of their normal leave, to recuperate from the hard life.

They draw a generous housing allowance to help pay the rent on their fancy villas. They make biweekly flights to Guantanamo Bay to pick up inexpensive American food from the U.S. commissary. They can claim a generous "educational allowance," too, to help with their children's education.

The AID staff had become so accustomed to the good life, they almost moved their offices into an old luxury hotel, complete with swimming pool and palm-shaded verandas. But it occurred to them the hotel might be a bit ostentatious, so they settled for a more modest building.

After hundreds of thousands of dollars have been squeezed out of the AID budget for the care and comfort of the administrators, the money is neither would be a factor. The only important factor is whether or not the cornea, the clear, transparent covering of the front of the eye, is healthy. That is what is transplanted, not the eye itself.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You have said that boils can be linked to malnutrition. However, I was wondering what should be included (or excluded) in a diet to prevent possible occurrence of boils. —C.S.

The immediate cause of boils is an infection (staph) and no special diet has any direct effect on whether you get them or not. Malnutrition can weaken the body's natural resistance to an infection, however. Thus, any diet that keeps you fit will help. With some folks a food allergy may be a factor.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Christ, and Christ alone, is our hope of eternal life. Because of Him, "death is swallowed up in victory" (1 Corinthians 15:54). I pray that your friend will turn to Christ and find Him before it is too late.

usually turned over to the Haitian government to distribute.

Additional amounts are diverted into the pockets of Haitian officials. Grain intended for the poor, for example, has been stolen and sold for profit by corrupt customs officials.

We sent our reporter, Hal Bernton, to Haiti to find out whether any of the aid reaches the people for whom it was intended. With a knapsack on his back, he traveled to the most desolate, drought-stricken region of the tiny Caribbean country. He hiked through the parched mountains to a remote village and lived for more than a week with the people.

He saw naked children too weak from hunger to play, their hair rusted and their bellies bloated by malnutrition.

THE VILLAGES subsisted largely on mangoes, sucking out every precious drop of juice. But the last mango would soon be devoured. The people didn't know what they would eat after that.

The U.S. AID officials are usually too busy planning and partying in Port-Au-Prince to visit the villagers in their mud huts. Those who make rare appearances usually drive through on jeeps. Most are too tied up with paperwork to leave their desks. They are also reluctant to leave their comfortable quarters.

During the fiscal year that ended on June 30, the U.S. taxpayers donated nearly $18 million in foreign aid to Haiti. A tiny trickle of food-for-work has reached the remote village Bernton visited.

In the past, U.S. aid has also helped to build hospitals, construct roads, tap water and distribute food. This has saved lives and alleviated suffering. But it's the AID officials who are the most comforted, the Haitian officials who are enriched.

Bernton inspected a road construction project, which is partially financed with U.S. development funds. He found 240 peasants slowly building a road to their village, which was located on top of a high mountain plateau. With picks, shovels and wheelbarrows, they moved the road ahead a few inches at a time.

Big Spring Herald

Dear Editor: I would enjoy seeing the Herald's editorial page used for more editorials. Perhaps it is not a true editorial page as you see it, but that is what it appears to be to most people. Therefore, I feel that the advice columns should be moved to another page. I think that the advice columns are okay, but personally I feel that they detract from the editorials. This idea becomes even more keen during the political season.

While I am unfamiliar with journalism practices, I know that I find it much more pleasant to read advice columns when they are found in the "society section." Even though I do not always read about social events, they at least keep a constant train of thought going.

Please don't think that I am incapable of keeping a clear head as I make the transition across the editorial page. I believe that I am able to conquer columns on presidential platforms, hemorrhoids, or sinning with equal ease. Thank you for your time and space!

The afterbirth

William F. Buckley, Jr.

It is interesting how useful politicians find it to express themselves on matters of principle. Ronald Reagan advertises his intention to nominate a domestic liberal as his Vice President, and is denounced for breach of principle. Breach of principle is here defined as the acknowledgment that there are many Republicans and other Americans who view in certain areas fall to the left of one's own. Whereupon John Connally (a man I greatly admire) suddenly discovers that Gerald Ford would be the "better candidate" and endorses him.

CONNALLY MANAGES to give the impression that he has been in communion with the Lord Almighty to these many months, attempting to decide which of the two men is the better candidate for President. With a single move, Reagan convinced him — that Ford was the stronger candidate. Cool observers must be permitted to conclude that John Connally reasoned not that Ford would be the better candidate, but that he would be the candidate named in Kansas City. That is why he came out for Ford. The Thomists call that "sufficient reason."

Clarke Reed (a man I greatly like) rose up through the ranks of southern Republicanism as a conservative of the new school, here defined as a conservative who actually reads books and reacts other than viscerally in arriving at his public positions. Reed promised time and again that he would stand by Reagan, whose positions on most public matters are Reed's own. The pressures on Reed, to give him his due, were awful. It isn't easy to arrive at the point of having to tell your secretary not to take any more calls from the President of the United States. Still, the fact is he crumbled. And it is unreasonable to suppose that he did so for reasons other than John Connally's. After all, he was beginning to wobble before anybody ever heard of Schweiker. Which ends us with the following summary:

Clark Reed, objecting to Reagan's lack of principle in naming a liberal Vice President, affirmed his own devotion to principle by rejecting the candidate to whom he had pledged his support, in favor of the candidate who selected his liberal Vice President two years ago. It is hard to say how the cause of principle is being served by those who in its name are denying the Republican party the chance to field a candidate who can convincingly articulate conservative principles.

The ironies shine through the situation. It cannot, I think, be persuasively contended that, against Mr. Carter, Mr. Ford would do better than Ronald Reagan. Surveying the general chaos, Mr. Carter issued a wonderfully cool statement to the effect that he thought Schweiker was a very good man. In doing so, he inflamed the resentment of Schweiker by disappointed Reaganites; and, in so doing, strengthened the hand of the adversary he hopes to be contending against in the election campaign.

ALTON FRYRE, of the Council on Foreign Relations, writing in the Wall Street Journal is jubilant about the political effect of Mr. Reagan's maneuver. Look what has happened! he says. By saying he would accept a liberal running mate, Reagan has knocked himself out. But in doing so, he has revalidated the very idea of a liberal running mate. And this means that President Ford can take as his Vice President not a conservative like Connally or Reagan, but a truly qualified candidate, like Percy or Mathias. In other words, Reagan has, however inadvertently, performed a public service.

Clearly it is not going according to plan for the Reagan people. Senator Schweiker hasn't come forward with the names of the delegates whose concern for the elevation of Senator Schweiker was to have led them into Reagan's camp. We do not know, as yet, whether they are intimidated, or whether they were always illusory.

Eye, mouth dryness may be Sjogren's

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like you to shed some light on my problem. My throat is so dry that I have to drink water during the night. Sometimes I gag. My eyes are also dry. My doctor gives me eye drops for that. The eye doctor said that with some women my age (55) this drying process is common. I have arthritis.

My family doctor does not have an answer to my condition. A few years ago I had no dryness at all. — Mrs. S. B.

You have all the symptoms of Sjogren's Disease (pronounced SHOGREN). The dry eyes, dry mouth and chronic arthritis are features. Some have only the dry mouth and eyes, others dry eyes along with arthritis. There are many combinations of symptoms. About half of those with Sjogren's have rheumatoid arthritis, which usually precedes the other symptoms.

We really don't know much about Sjogren's disease except that it is seen frequently in menopausal women. In fact, it is almost exclusively a female disorder. It may have to do with female hormone imbalance. We just don't know why the tear ducts and salivary glands stop functioning in this way.

The dryness is relieved temporarily by the eyedrops and mouthwashes. Unfortunately, that is the only treatment available, except for therapy to keep the arthritis under control or to treat any menopausal problems.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Most articles I have read lately mention iron as being the thing most lacking in diets of elderly persons. I am 76 and have been taking daily a geriatric capsule containing 55 milligrams of iron and 100 milligrams of desiccated liver. Is this too much? Could this be the cause of brown spots one sees in some elderly persons? — Mrs. R. P.

Iron is obtained in adequate amounts with a normal diet. The need for supplements arises from an anemia, and that usually results from an excessive loss of iron in bleedings with menstruation or hemorrhoids. And, of course, an inadequate diet can lead to iron deficiency.

It would be wise to have your blood checked to see just where you stand with regard to iron. If it is at a normal level any additional intake as from pills is not advisable.

You are taking 55 mgs. of iron and more with the liver extract. The average daily requirement is only from 10 to 15 mgs. Your intake is excessive. Increased skin pigmentation can be one result.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Settle this for us, will you? Just how long does it take for blood to circulate in the body — from the heart and back again? — H. T.

It takes from 20 to 25 seconds.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor has told me that I have a stone in my prostate gland. He has checked it for the past five years and says it is not cancerous. But I am wondering if I still can have sexual intercourse as before. I am 61. — G. C.

You are wise to keep a continual check on the gland. If it gives you no discomfort it is best left alone. The stone would not be removed by itself, but with the entire gland.

There is no reason why you should not be able to have sexual intercourse as before. The stone itself would not necessarily interfere with that, but it could if it enlarges. By the time removal would probably be in order anyway.

Kidnap suspects get heavy protection

NEWSPAPER EMPIRE HEAD DIES — Lord Thomson of Fleet, Canadian-born chairman of the vast Thomson newspaper empire, died in a London hospital Wednesday at the age of 82, his office announced in the British capital.

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — Stringent security ringed this small farming community today for court appearances by three young men accused in the abduction of 26 school children and their bus driver.

Madera County Sheriff Ed Bates said deputies would be posted on rooftops along the two blocks of main street. Outside help was available, and the entire 12-man Chowchilla Police Department was on duty.

The precautions were taken for the arraignment of Frederick N. Woods and James Schoenfeld, both 24, at Chowchilla's tiny Justice Court.

Judge Howard C. Green said he would arraign the pair first "and then let the lawyers take it from there as before the other two were apprehended. All three are jailed in Alameda County, 95 miles to the north.

Defense attorneys have hinted that a request to hold the trial outside Chowchilla is a virtual certainty.

The July 15 mass kidnaping and the arrests of the three young men, members of families living in the affluent suburbs south of San Francisco, have kept tension high in Chowchilla.

Nearly three weeks after the abduction of the farm children and bus driver Ed

Ray, no motive has surfaced, and speculation is rampant.

A gag order has barred disclosure of evidence, but published reports quoting unidentified sources have said a rough draft of a $5-million ransom note was found at Woods' home in Portola Valley on the San Francisco Peninsula.

The sources were quoted as saying the handwriting appeared to be James Schoenfeld's and that the draft note bore the words "We are Beelsabub" — apparently a misspelling of Beelzebub, one name used in the Bible for Satan.

Bates expressed skepticism that money alone triggered the bizarre kidnaping on July 15.

"I'm not satisfied with that, and most people with an inquisitive mind wouldn't be, either," Bates said. "I intend to develop psychological profiles of these three men to see what makes these people go."

The Oakland Tribune reported Tuesday that searches of the homes of the three suspects turned up material dealing "with satanic theory." The Sacramento Bee and the Fresno Bee earlier quoted sources as saying evidence of a "devil cult" had been found.

The 26 children were snatched from their school bus and imprisoned for 17 hours in a buried moving van in a Livermore rock quarry owned by Woods' father. They have been sheltered from most of the activity surrounding the capture of their accused abductors.

to what we do next." At some point, Schoenfeld's brother, Richard, 22, who pleaded innocent last week, planned to argue for reduction of his $1 million bail.

The elder Schoenfeld, arrested on a San Francisco Peninsula freeway July 29, and Woods, captured in Canada five hours later, are expected to plead innocent to 43 felony counts of kidnaping and robbery.

They are also held on $1 million bail each.

The younger Schoenfeld surrendered nearly a week

Decathlon champ gets movie offers

NEW YORK (AP) — Olympic decathlon winner Bruce Jenner says he's received a bundle of offers from movies to television since winning the gold medal in the Montreal Olympics.

On his way home to San Jose, Calif., Jenner, 26, told reporters Tuesday that "I really don't know how many offers we have. There are still unopened telegrams back at the hotel and you just can't believe the offers that poured in during the first two days."

Sudan government executes 81 men

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — The Sudanese government executed 81 men early today for the abortive attempt to overthrow President Jaafar el-Numairi last month, the official Omdurman Radio announced.

The broadcast said 16 other persons were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 10 years to life. Numairi personally approved all the sentences, the radio said.

Sentences against Brig. Mohammed Nur Saad, the alleged leader of the rebellion, and 230 others also tried last week by two special military tribunals will be announced after Numairi reviews them, the broadcast added.

More executions were expected.

The broadcast did not say how the men were executed or give their names. But a list of the defendants published last week showed all were Sudanese.

Numairi charged after the attempted coup was put down July 3 that it was the work of 2,000 mercenaries and fugitive Sudanese who were trained and armed by Col. Moammar Khadafy's radical Libyan government.

The coup attempt began July 2 as Numairi was arriving at the capital's airport after a trip to the United States and Western Europe. The Sudanese president said 700 of the insurgents were killed in the two days of fighting in Khartoum. Heavy casualties also were reported among government forces.

It was the third unsuccessful attempt to oust Numairi, who came to power in a military coup in 1969.

Ford casts 54th veto in 24 months

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some congressmen may take President Ford's latest veto personally.

The President cast his 54th veto on Tuesday to block a bill that would have exempted congressmen who live temporarily in Maryland from paying Maryland's state and local income taxes.

The bill would have applied to an estimated 125 senators and representatives who live in the Maryland suburbs around Washington, Virginia and the District of Columbia already voluntarily give tax exemptions to congressmen with permanent residences elsewhere.

The bill Ford rejected also would have prevented Virginia and the District from ending the tax exemptions.

Ford, who still pays taxes to his home state of Michigan, said in his veto message that the bill would have benefited a "narrow and special class of persons," and violated "the basic concept of equity and fairness."

The President said it was one thing for Virginia and the District to voluntarily exempt congressmen, "and quite another for Congress to mandate a federal exemption on a state income tax system."

Energy Environmental pros give superport okay

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A panel of environmental experts has given a go-ahead to plans for the Louisiana superport and approval from the state regulating agency is expected in September.

The three-man panel reported Tuesday that they saw no objection to most plans for the $350 million floating port for deepwater oil tankers.

Their only objection was to a scheme to hollow out a salt dome for underground oil storage, which they said needed further study.

The Louisiana Superport Authority is expected to act on the panel's recommendation at a meeting in September.

Louisiana Off-Shore Oil Port, Inc. (LOOP), which is building the port, wants to use fresh water to hollow out the Clovelly salt dome and pump the resulting brine into the Gulf of Mexico.

The company wants to use Little Lake as a fresh water source, but the environmental panel said Bayou Lafourche has been recommended as a better source by a study done for the Coast Guard.

LOOP President William Read said more data was being gathered.

The environmental panel consisted of Jack Van Lopik, head of Louisiana State University's Center for Wetland Resources; Lyle St. Amant, assistant head of the state Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, and Shepard F. Perrin Jr., chief of the superport authority.

LOOP wants to build a port that would dock the big tankers 20 miles offshore and pipe the oil inland.

Offshore docking is needed because supertankers draw too much water to reach many conventional ports. Projections are that the superport might eventually pump 1.4 million barrels of oil a day.

The state of Florida has been stymied in attempts to gain certain veto powers over the Louisiana superport and another planned for the coast of Texas.

The Interior Department turned down Florida's application to be considered an "adjacent state" under federal offshore law.

Less increase in August say Marketbasket survey

By The Associated Press
Bad news for consumers who like to start the day with a hearty breakfast! An Associated Press marketbasket survey shows prices for such staples as butter, eggs and coffee increased during July.

The increases at the retail store generally reflected trends at the wholesale level which, in turn, mirrored the over-all supply situation.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed the marketbasket bill increased last month at the checklist store in eight cities, rising an average of 1.7 per cent. The bill decreased at the checklist store in four cities, down an average 2 per cent, and was unchanged in the 13th city. Overall, the marketbasket bill at the checklist store increased a little less than half of one per cent during July.

The situation represented an improvement over June, when the marketbasket bill went up at the checklist store in nine cities and the over-all total was up 1.3 per cent.

A comparison of prices at the start of August with those in January showed the marketbasket bill for food and nonfood items surveyed went up at the checklist store in eight cities, went down in four cities and was unchanged in one city. The over-all increase was 1.7 per cent.

The government has predicted that retail prices for food alone will increase about 2 per cent to 5 per cent this year, although the exact size of any increase depends to some degree on the crops still being harvested. The recent strike by California cannery workers could provide an unexpected boost in the cost of canned fruits and vegetables.

The major increases in July occurred in breakfast items. The price of a pound of butter went up at the checklist store in 11 cities, rising an average of almost 10 per cent. In June, the price of a pound of butter went up in nine cities, increasing about 5 per cent.

A strong demand for milk and other dairy products is blamed for the increase in the price of butter. An Agriculture Department spokesman explained that there is a particularly strong demand for cheese, which is a more profitable item for manufacturers than butter. The more milk used for cheese, the less there is available for butter.

Other developments: —The price of a pound of coffee increased at the checklist store in seven of the cities surveyed. Coffee now averages about $2 a pound, an increase of more than 50 per cent over the past year. The increases are blamed on last year's frost in Brazil.

—The price of a dozen eggs went up at the checklist store in 12 of the cities surveyed. Higher prices for chicken feed, combined with lower production, are blamed for the boost.

—On the bright side, the price of frankfurters decreased at the checklist store in eight cities, as did the price of a pound of chopped chuck. Increased supplies, combined with scattered summer sales, were responsible for the drop in prices.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Varsity team wins stick at SMU

Five Big Spring High School students, members of the Varsity Cheerleading section, returned to Big Spring from the Southern Methodist University Cheerleading camp bringing home the spirit stick and three ribbons.

The three seniors and two juniors were one of about twenty squads out of 170 to bring the spirit stick home.

The girls spent five days at SMU, spending nights in the dorms there. They rose at 6:30 learning about three cheers each morning, practicing them in the afternoons, and being evaluated on their performances in the evening. "It was fun but it was hard work," said Cathy Valdes, one of the cheerleaders from Big Spring. The five high school students attended the camp in order to learn cheerleading skills and teach them to the rest of the student body here.

Refreshments were homemade ice cream, ginger ale with lime sherbert punch and the beautifully decorated cake.

The Jiffy Knitting Club met in the home of Mrs. Edith Davis July 26 at 7:30 p.m. with seven members present and one visitor, Mrs. Abbie Clearmen. Bernice showed a baby sweater knitted of white orlon yarn and trimmed in blue orlon yarn, she also showed a knitting bag that she had knitted of orange and royal blue orlon yarn. Her holder for the bag was made of wooden coat hangers put together with dowel pins. This was very attractive.

Edith Davis showed a set of pot holders and cup coasters to match knitted of yellow crepe yarn, Mrs. L. B. McElrath showed some place mats that she had knitted out of yellow orlon yarn. The next meeting place will be announced later and the date of the next meeting will be August 22.

New advances found for pregnancy contraception

For the first time ever, women who want to prevent pregnancy have available a method of hormonal contraception that approaches the Pill in effectiveness and that has been designed with enhanced safety in mind.

Among the major drawbacks of the Pill are the hormonal side effects many users suffer. The new contraceptive uses the hormone progesterone to enhance its effectiveness. The reason for this is simple: for the Pill's chemicals to work they have to be taken by mouth in large quantities, get into the bloodstream and be transported throughout the body. The new system avoids systemic circulation since its effect is achieved locally in the uterus.

tiny quantities of the active drug.

It consists of a small, soft, flexible plastic placed in the uterus by a physician. The vertical portion of the T is a reservoir that holds progesterone, a natural female hormone. The system delivers progesterone in minute quantities directly to the uterus (womb) continuously for one year. Since the hormone is already at its site of action, the uterus, it can provide highly effective hormonal contraception without hormonal side effects, something other contraceptive methods can't

How much interest behind this loan behind this loan?

DEAR ABBY: There is a divorcee in my husband's office who has a small child and lots of problems. I really blew my stack when Paul told me that he lent her $1,500 so she could have (are you ready for this?) silicone implants to increase the size of her breasts!

This girl told Paul that a psychologist told her that her feelings of insecurity stemmed from the fact that she had always been flat-chested, and the silicone implants would make her feel more womanly and self-confident.

Abby, I don't want to appear unreasonable, but I can't see where the size of this girl's breasts are anything my husband should be concerned with. What are your thoughts on the subject?

SHORT FUSE IN LONGVIEW

DEAR SHORT: At least your husband made a clean breast of his uplifting generosity. Ask him what the terms of the loan were—ALL of them.

DEAR ABBY: A year ago I married a childless widower. He had been happily married for over 20 years until his first wife died five years ago. I was a widow with grown children. Everyone told me how lucky I was to get him because he was very well-to-do.

He is a good husband, but I feel like a substitute for his first wife. He still carries her picture in his wallet instead of mine, and on my birthday and at Christmas he presents me with a piece of her jewelry. I feel uncomfortable wearing her things in the presence of those who remember seeing them on her.

I have made a very nice home for him, but I almost feel as though I am working for my room and board—and bedroom privileges. I'm not a mercenary, but I long for some identity of my own.

I've always kept the memory of my first husband from intruding into this marriage. Why do I feel like an intruder myself?

NUMBER TWO

DEAR NUMBER TWO: Because you don't have the courage to tell him that (a) it hurts you that he carries his deceased wife's picture in his wallet instead of yours, and (b) you don't enjoy hand-me-down jewelry.

DEAR ABBY: Although my wife is reasonable most of the time, she refuses to acknowledge that it is her duty to hop out of bed first in the morning and get the coffee going. We have a double bed and established routines make it impractical for us to arise simultaneously.

I hope you will admonish my spouse for her unwifely and stubborn non-action.

State employees paid to keep in shape

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state of Michigan is paying some of its employees to keep in shape.

Employees can spend up to three hours of work time a week jogging and exercising under a pilot physical fitness program run by the Department of Public Health.

"We started it here because we think that the public health department, in its commitment to good health, should try its own medicine," deputy department director Theodore Ervin said.

Joggers can run along a lane in back of the health department complex, and there is a small exercise and shower room.

The program began when the department's Public Health Advisory Council set up a committee to formulate a yet-to-be appointed Michigan Council on Physical Fitness and Health.

In the course of its work, the committee suggested that the public health department set up its own employee fitness program as an example for state government as a whole.

"Everyone we've talked to especially those from industry where such programs have been installed, say that use of work time is more than repaid with improved productivity, higher morale, and just generally livelier employees," Ervin said.

Of the 1,000 employees at the complex, 220 joined the program, paying a $20 fee for two electrocardiograms and a $3 fee for counseling.

"We think the need to pay a fee will mean more of a commitment to following the counseling advice," Ervin said.

Those test results and the person's age are used by Wayne VanHuss, professor of exercise physiology at nearby Michigan State University, and five doctoral candidates to design personalized exercise regimens for workers.

Participants are about evenly distributed in the 24-54 age group and evenly divided between men and women. Officials said the heart tests indicated problems for 30 employees who were referred to their family doctors.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie A. Hobbs, Jr. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Anita Faye to John H. Cline, son of Mr. & Mrs. John W. Cline. The couple plans to be united in marriage on September 4th at 7:00 p.m. in the Cedar Ridge Church of Christ.

Problems with laundry

COLLEGE STATION — Although modern washdays are a "breeze" compared to frontier days, homemakers still experience problems with home laundry, Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist, says.

"Commonly heard complaints relate to energy costs, lack of cleanliness and excessive wrinkling."

"While these problems sometimes can be blamed on the ineffectiveness of laundry products or equipment, often they can be eliminated by changing laundry practices," she added.

Miss Rhoades is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Soil builders hear story

The Organic Soil Builders Club met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Wolfe Monday night August 2.

Sixteen members and three guests attended. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lee and their sister Mrs. Sung Lee of Los Angeles.

Business stated that the next meeting would be in September in the Flame Room. Mr. and Mrs. D. Leonard will be the hosts.

Mr. Wolfe has called a meeting for the executive committee Monday August 9. The purpose is to plan the programs for the balance of the year. Mrs. Eva Nall presented a program on recycling materials such as waste vegetation, human waste, and animal wastes, including a dead carcass.

She also told a story titled, "Who Ate Roger Williams." It recounted what was found during a recent examination of the graves of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Williams, founders of Providence, R.I., in the early colonial days. The remains of the caskets and bodies had completely deteriorated, leaving only a braid of fine human hair and a button where the man's grave had been. A nearby tree was thought to have absorbed the dissolved bodies.

After the program, Mr. Martin and Mrs. Johnny Johansen displayed cantaloupes and peaches they had grown. The group toured the organic garden of the Wolfes. The guests sampled white grapes out of the garden. They also observed a tomato patch where they grew in large wire barrels.

Homemade ice-cream was served for dessert.

Millionaire released on posting $80,000 bond

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Millionaire Thomas Cullen Davis, charged with two counts of murder and two counts of attempted murder, was free today under $80,000 bond.

The oil industry heir was charged in a shooting spree early Tuesday at the mansion of his estranged wife, Priscilla Davis, 35, who was wounded.

Police identified the dead as Stan Farr, 30, a former basketball star at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, and Andrea Lee Wilborn, 12, Mrs. Davis' daughter by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Davis had often been seen with Farr. She filed for divorce from Davis in July 1974, but those proceedings have been stalled over property settlement. Davis is president of Stratoflex, Inc., makers of oil field equipment fittings. The couple married eight years ago.

Mrs. Davis was reported in fair condition at a Fort Worth hospital, suffering from a gunshot wound in the stomach. Also wounded, and in critical condition, was Gus Gavrel Jr., 21.

Davis was arrested at a private home across town from the shooting scene. Justice of the Peace W.W. Matthews set bond, and honored a prosecution motion to have Davis examined by a Dallas psychiatrist.

Davis refused to answer questions of Dr. John Holbrook, the psychiatrist, and returned to Fort Worth Tuesday afternoon to post the bond.

Police recounted at a news conference how they said the killings occurred:

Mrs. Davis and Farr returned around midnight to the darkened mansion, where they found the body of Andrea Wilborn in the basement, shot once in the chest. A gunman tried to force the couple into the basement. Farr was gunned down and Mrs. Davis was wounded.

Gavrel was bringing Beverly Bass, 18, to the mansion to spend the night with Dee Wilborn, 18 and also a daughter of Mrs. Davis by previous marriage. Gavrel and Miss Bass encountered the gunman as he was leaving.

Auto makers anti-trust probe launched by FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government regulators are going to scrutinize the auto industry's economic structure in what may be the first skirmish in an antitrust battle against the U.S. auto giants, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The Federal Trade Commission announced Tuesday that it is proceeding with a full-scale probe that its staff called for last November. The agency said it has cleared the action with the Justice Department.

The investigation itself is expected to be time-consuming, and if the government finally decides to file antitrust charges, a court battle is certain to stretch on for years.

The Justice Department will not be directly involved in the probe, but if the FTC develops a criminal case against the automakers, Justice Department officials will move in. The FTC is empowered to bring only civil cases.

In Detroit, the automakers denounced the latest government action, which climaxes sporadic federal attempts over the years to challenge the bigness of the "Big Three."

General Motors Chairman Thomas A. Murphy, whose company controls more than half the U.S. auto market and is considered the prime target of any antitrust effort,

Barbara Culver on committee

MIDLAND — Midland County Judge Barbara Culver has been named to the GOP Platform Committee for the Republican National Convention, scheduled to get under way in Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 16.

She is one of two Texans who will serve on the committee. The other is James Lyon, Houston.

declared in a statement: "After decades of almost constant investigation by the Congress and the antitrust agencies into every facet of the American auto industry, it seems that we will be called upon to demonstrate once again that the business is intensely competitive and operating in accordance with the law. We expect to do so, but deplore the waste of public and private resources that the task will entail."

Ford President Lee A. Iacocca called the FTC decision "unfortunate and unnecessary."

The Justice Department itself was on the verge of launching a major antitrust attack against GM in 1968, but dropped the suit because of a lack of support from the incoming Nixon administration.

The Justice Department is already waging protracted antitrust battles against two other titans of American industry, IBM and American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Mark Williams crashed a two-out, bases loaded triple and Teddy Bartley hurled a two-hit shutout Tuesday night to lead the Midland Northern Little League All-Stars to a 4-0 triumph over San Angelo Southern in a bi-district game at Pittman Field.

The victory clinched a spot for Midland in the State tournament in Waco. Northern's first game will be against Victoria.

Bartley, an ex-Big Spring, mowed down 11 Southerners enroute to his two-hit shutout. He is a victim of polio, but the disease has never dampened his competitive spirit. When he lived here Bartley played in the LL Pee Wee League, leg-braces and all.

Poor fielding did in losing pitcher Sammy Freeze. He went the first three innings, surrendering four unearned runs on three hits. Andres Morin went the rest of the way for San Angelo blanking Midland on no hits. But by then the damage had been done — most of it coming in the opening frame.

Rookie blanks Rangers again

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The image of the California Angels is that of a team built around strong-arm strikeout artists like Nolan Ryan and Frank Tanana, but that image is being tarnished by rookie Paul Hartzell.

every time he's started although he hasn't had shutouts like he has against Texas," Sherry added. "When you have a good location on your pitches like he had, you will be tough against anybody."

Hartzell tossed a four-hitter against Texas Tuesday night, nearly matching a three-hit whitewash in his previous start against the Rangers, as the Angels won 4-0.

Texas managed two hits in the seventh against Hartzell, now 3-2 with a 2.29 earned run average, but otherwise he was in control throughout the game.

"I'm not trying for strikeouts out there. I'm just not that kind of a pitcher," Hartzell said, "and I never will be."

Jim Umbarger, who has been given a total of one run in his last three starts and now has lost five decisions in a row, blanked the Angels until the sixth, when they started a streak of four consecutive one-run innings.

The lanky rookie, 14 months out of Lehigh University, relied on an assortment of sinkers, sliders and changeups to induce the Rangers into 18 groundouts. He struck out only two.

Tommy Davis singled home a run in the sixth inning and hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth. Rusty Torres hit his fourth homer in the seventh and Jerry Remy singled in another run in the ninth.

The Rangers, in the doldrums of 21 losses in 26 games caused primarily by a batting slump, beat the Texas League All-Stars 18-4 Monday night, but they obviously left their hits in San Antonio.

Davis spent spring training with the New York Yankees, but was released just before the season started and was signed by the Angels as a designated hitter.

"My career would probably be over if it wasn't for the designated hitter," said Davis, who started the season with the highest lifetime DH batting average.

"Any team might knock out the best pitcher in the league at any time. Looking back, I feel like I let up on just one pitch all night and that the hardest ball they hit—a single by Jeff Burroughs. That just improves that you can't ever let up."

Montreal still plagued by Olympic site woes

MONTREAL (AP) — The Games are over, the thousands of athletes and spectators are gone. Now Montreal must decide what to do with the Olympic facilities, which barely were ready for use in the recently concluded two-week spectacle.

Victor Goldbloom, the Quebec minister in charge of the Canadian Olympic Installations Board, says that work will continue in order to complete the $788 million Olympic Stadium and pool, the $85 million Olympic Village and the $62 million Velodrome.

"The Board may be in existence for another seven or eight years," Goldbloom says, "until the financial situation is cleared." The "financial situation" includes the $120 to $130 million still to be spent on construction through the next 18 months.

The baseball Expos and Canadian Football League

Alouettes expect to use the Olympic Stadium for their games. The Alouettes had hoped to finish the current season in the 72,000-seat facility, which will have artificial turf installed to replace the natural grass used during the Olympics.

The stadium tower — complete with a retractable roof — will be built, but Goldbloom notes that it hasn't been decided whether to use concrete, as originally planned, or steel in the construction.

"It may take more than a year to get the tower completed," says Goldbloom.

The pool will become a municipal facility later this month. Fees similar to those charged for other city pools will be charged.

The Village is being converted into a housing complex, but it will not be a low-income project, nor will it be a luxury condominium, both of which have been suggested.

The Velodrome is ready for use and will host the Canadian cycling championships August 12-14.

Soviet defector romance denied by both parties

CINCINNATI (AP) — A wealthy Cincinnati businessman has denied reports that his daughter was involved in the defection of 17-year-old Russian diver Sergei Nemtsanov and the diver's lawyer has confirmed the denial.

Richard Lindner, president of Thriftway, Inc., a local supermarket chain, issued a statement Tuesday night following speculation that romantic involvement with an American female diver had influenced Nemtsanov's decision to defect.

Lindner's daughter, Carol, 21, was a diver at Indiana University and finished seventh in the U.S. Olympic Trials in Long Beach, Calif. in June. She was in Montreal for the Olympic Games.

Miss Lindner's uncle, Carl Lindner, is publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The statement said: "There have been numerous rumors that my daughter was in some way connected with the defection of Russian diver Sergei Nemtsanov. Knights play tonight

BROWNWOOD — The Big Spring Knights, district Teenage Junior League champions, take their first step toward the state title here tonight (7:00) versus a team from Northeast Houston.

Ricky Cluck, who hurled a 19-strike-out, no-hit game against Clyde in the district play-offs, will probably be on the mound for the locals.

Knights manager Bob Knight said Cluck pulled a leg muscle during his masterpiece over Clyde, but should be ready after a week's rest. The Knights won all three of their games in last week's double-elimination district tourney and go into tonight's fray with a record of 16-2 for the season.

El Paso pads lead, Cubs rip San Antonio

By The Associated Press

El Paso padded its lead in the Texas League West to two games by nipping runner-up Amarillo 4-3 Tuesday night.

Shreveport, however, bowed to Arkansas 8-3 and saw its margin atop the league's East Division shrink to one-half game over second-place Jackson.

Jackson measured Lafayette 6-1 and Midland defeated San Antonio 7-3 in other games.

El Paso snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning when Orlando Ramirez tripled one run home and scored himself on a wild pitch by Amarillo reliever Don Alfano. Solo homers by Lawrence Rulo and Steve Stroughter accounted for the winners' other tallies. Lamar Wright, 4-1, was the winning pitcher and Bob Owchinko, 3-2, the loser.

Jackson made the most of nine hits while Lafayette was able to score only once on the same number of base knocks. Mike Bruher, 2-6, claimed the mound victory and Ron Hodges, 1-1, absorbed the loss.

Bill Huisman went four-for-four at the plate for Midland, hitting two doubles and driving in three runs. Teammate Earl Chew socked a triple and a double. Pitcher Darrell Turner, 3-7, was the winner and Ed Holman, 5-8, took the loss.

Pirates split despite termite infested bats

Four runs in the last 38 innings, four losses in the last five games for the Pittsburgh Pirates. It seems there are termites in the Lumber Yard.

That's what people were calling the Pirates earlier in the season, when the power-laden lineup was hitting baseballs out of sight and first place wasn't 13 games away. But in the last eight games, three of which have gone extra innings, just 17 Pittsburgh runs have crossed in 83 innings.

Tuesday night, Don Kessinger of St. Louis drove in more runs than the Pirates could manage in their doubleheader, though Pittsburgh managed to beat the Cardinals 2-1 in the opener before dropping the nightcap 4-2.

Pittsburgh's opening-game triumph went to Jim Rooker, who pitched a six-hitter and drove in a seventh-inning run with a sacrifice fly.

Kessinger, who plated the St. Louis run with an eighth-inning double in the opener, drove in all four in the nightcap.

Reds 9, Giants 0
Jack Billingham held San Francisco to three hits and Dave Concepcion drove in three runs as the Reds — winners of 17 in 22 since the All-Star break — blasted the Giants for their seventh consecutive triumph.

Cubs 4-5, Phillies 0-8
A grand-slam homer by Garry Maddox powered Philadelphia past Chicago in the nightcap after the Cubs backed Rick Reuschel's nine-hitter with home runs by rookie Wayne Tyrone and Jerry Morales in the opener.

Braves 7, Padres 3
Atlanta's Clarence Gaston, who had started only two games previously this season, hit two home runs and drove in five in support of Andy Messersmith. "Sometimes I get a little upset about not playing," said Gaston. "When I do, I take extra batting practice and take it out on the ball." Tuesday night, he took his frustration out on San Diego.

Mets 9, Expos 8
Ed Kranepool's 100th career home run, a two-run shot in the eighth inning, lifted the New York over Montreal. The Expos had scored six runs in the seventh and eighth innings to take an 8-7 lead in the wild contest.

Mark Fidrych is usually the main attraction when he pitches, but the New York Yankees won't be upstaged by the Birdman of Detroit.

The Yankees showed Tuesday night that they also have a flair for showmanship, sprinkling beans on the mound while the reknown "Bird" was performing.

While the Yankees fed Fidrych "bird seed", Fidrych was feeding the Yankees fastballs. Both Roy White and Oscar Gamble hit them out of the park, helping New York to a dramatic 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers and their flashy rookie.

Royals 7, Twins 1
Sore-legged Hal McRae hobbled around the basepaths with a double and a home run and Buck Martinez added a two-run double to spark Kansas City over Minnesota and snare the Twins' eight-game winning streak.

The victory raised Kansas City's lead in the American League West to 9½ games over the Twins, who had surged into second place the past week.

Indians 1, Red Sox 0
Dennis Eckersley pitched a three-hitter and Tommy Smith drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning as Cleveland ended Boston's four-game winning streak.

Brewers 4, Orioles 2
George Scott drove in two runs on a pair of base hits, leading Milwaukee over Baltimore. The Brewers sewed up the game with a two-run fifth inning that gave them a 3-2 lead. A leadoff double by Von Joshua, a single by Jack Heidemann and a fielder's choice by Robin Yount scored the tying run. The winning run then came home on Scott's single.

A's 7, White Sox 3
Joe Rudi smashed two doubles and a single and drove in two runs to lead Oakland over Chicago. Dick Bosman, 4-0, scattered five hits over five innings and picked up his eighth career victory over the White Sox with relief help from Paul Lindblad and Rollie Fingers, who was credited with his 15th save.

THE IMAGE OF SUCCESS — New Zealand's John Walker admires his Tanqueray Achievement Award in New York, Monday. The award is presented for excellence in the field of amateur sports. Walker, who won the gold in the 1500 meters at the Montreal Summer Olympics last week, will run his first outdoor mile in the U.S. at the Bicentennial Track Meet Wednesday in Philadelphia.

South African shadow falls on Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

After taking the Olympic gold medal in the 1,500-meter race, rangy, long-maned John Walker of New Zealand announced he was "two seconds better ... than last year" when he broke the world mile record in Sweden with a clocking of 3:49.4.

Walker gets a chance to make good his boast tonight when he steps onto the new all-weather track at the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field to stage off the efforts of four sub-3:54 milers.

The Bicentennial Meet of Champions, starting at 7:30 p.m., runs through 11 events.

Among those competing against Walker will be West German Olympians Tom Wessinghage and Paul Heinz Wellman, who won the 1,500 bronze; Eamonn Coughlan, who ran fourth in the Olympic race; Marty Liquori, recovered from the hamstring pull that kept him off the Montreal team, and fellow New Zealander Rod Dixon.

Not testing Walker will be Filbert Bayi of Tanzania, who held the record until the Swedish meet. Tanzanian officials say Bayi cannot run in any race with Walker because New Zealand sent a sports team to South Africa, the same reason why the two men did not meet at the Olympics.

But there will be plenty of Olympic personalities on hand for fans suffering from post-Montreal letdown. Hasely Crawford of

Furness future in the sack

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — If preseason games counted in computing National Football League statistics, Steve Furness would be well on his way to achieving a lofty goal.

"Getting 14 quarterback sacks by the end of the year would please me," said Furness, a fifth-year defensive lineman, during a break in a recent Pittsburgh Steelers workout.

In exhibition victories over the College All-Stars and the New Orleans Saints, the 6-foot-4, 255-pounder has four sacks, as many as any three other members of the Steelers front four.

But that front four provides the major obstacle to Furness achieving his ambition. As the team's fifth defensive lineman, his playing time is usually determined by the condition of the starters.

Furness has been splitting playing time this preseason with All-Pro tackle Joe Greene, who is recovering from a pinched shoulder nerve that sidelined him much of last season.

"It takes a freak accident where someone gets hurt for me to get a chance to get in there," Furness admitted. "Our front four is the most consistent in football. It's hard to do anything about that."

When Greene missed four games last year and saw only limited action in four others, Furness stepped right in.

He started six regular-season games and the first-round playoff game against Baltimore, and ended up third on the team with 6½ quarterback sacks, behind tackle Ernie Holmes and end Dwight White.

"Greene and White helped me with my technique," said Furness. "I'd say that my technique is a combination of theirs."

A fifth-round pick from Rhode Island in 1972, Furness spent most of his first season on the taxi squad.

"If it wasn't for the special teams, I don't think I would have been on the team that year," he said. "I had to refine my skills."

He became a special team regular in 1973 and 1974 and got one start in that span. Although he is used as both an end and tackle, the Steelers like to keep him inside because of his great strength.

"Even if I'm not starting, I don't get down on myself," said Furness, who led all Pittsburgh linemen with 10 tackles in last year's Super Bowl victory over Dallas.

Padres try Griffin

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Padres have acquired pitcher Tom Griffin from the Houston Astros and will try him in a starting role.

The Astros have been using the 28-year-old right-hander mostly in relief this season. He has a 5-3 record.

Griffin's best season with the Astros was in 1974, when he had a 14-10 record and a 3.54 ERA as a starter. He was hampered by a shoulder injury last season and underwent surgery during the winter.

The Padres said Tuesday that pitcher Dan Spillner, who has a back injury, was put on the disabled list to make way for Griffin.

Weed out hobby owners Sport csars tell woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three sports entrepreneurs have told Congress of the many problems and pitfalls of owning a team not belonging to one of the established major leagues.

Each cited the lack of a national television contract for income, high salaries for players and the "minor league" tag put on their club as reasons for losing hundreds of thousands of dollars and, in at least one case, millions.

Testifying Tuesday before the House professional sports committee were John Y. Brown Jr. of the American Basketball Association's Kentucky Colonels, A.E. Burgess of the defunct World Football League's Birmingham Vulcans, and Jay P. Moore of the Cleveland Crusaders in the World Hockey Association.

They followed Bob Short, former baseball owner who moved the Washington Senators to Texas in 1971.

Short said there should be baseball in the nation's capital — a pet project for several congressmen. But he cited several conditions, including a favorable lease and better stadium security, that had to be achieved before such a franchise could become successful.

Brown said he believes professional basketball has a good future now that the ABA and the National Basketball Association have merged. But he recommended that steps be taken to eliminate owners who are not in the sport for the business.

"In the horse business, if you don't make a profit in two of seven years then the burden of proof is on you to prove that it isn't a hobby," he said. "There has to be some burden on the owners to make them operate like a business. You won't survive."

He said that although the NBA has failed as much as the ABA in the past 10 years, "the fact is they had national television and standing among the fans. They had stronger and wealthier owners than we did."

"The whole industry has been distorted by the money being thrown around," he said. "I don't blame it on the players. I blame it on the owners who don't operate like a business."

About the short-lived World Football League, Burgess, who was joined by Vulcans former coach and general manager Jack Gotta and part owner Bill Kelce, said the lack of a national television contract during the second year was the principle reason the league failed.

Oiler back injured

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Doctors were expected to decide today if Houston Oilers running back Warren McVea needs another operation on his right knee.

McVea, one of seven running backs trying for a spot on the Oiler roster, injured the knee in the third quarter of Monday night's exhibition game with Kansas City.

He was hospitalized when the team returned to Houston early Tuesday and the knee remained badly swollen Tuesday night.

McVea, 30, first injured the knee while he was with Kansas City. He sat out the 1972 season after surgery and was waived by the Chiefs the following year.

He signed with the Oilers as a free agent this summer but missed most of the first two weeks of camp with a pulled hamstring muscle.

Hoopers to Chargers

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Danny White, former quarterback and punter in the World Football League, is now the Dallas Cowboys' punter and quarterback.

The Cowboys traded last year's regular punter Mitch Hoopes to San Diego Tuesday, leaving the punting chores to White. This move allowed Dallas Coach Tom Landry the luxury of carrying a third quarterback.

Hoopes, Dallas' eighth-round draft choice in 1975, went to the Chargers for an undisclosed draft choice.

White led WFL punters in the abbreviated 1975 season with a 45.1 average and will occupy the third quarterback slot, behind Roger Staubach and Clint Longley.

Okie CHL president

DALLAS (AP) — The Central Hockey League's board of governors named Oklahoma City General Manager Ray Miron president of the CHL Tuesday.

Miron, 53, will assume his duties immediately. He was anager for the Tulsa Oilers in 1964-74 and has been Oklahoma City's general manager the past two years.

He also said the WFL was "hurriedly and not properly organized."

He said attendance at Birmingham's games dwindled because of the WFL's problems, primarily stemming from the folding of such teams as Chicago, Portland and San Antonio.

Moore, who also is a partner in the Cleveland Indians baseball club, said his club was not successful in Cleveland "because we were in the WHA and not the (older, more established) National Hockey League."

"We were constantly fighting the stigma of not being major league in a city which has the Indians, Browns and the Cavaliers," he said.

In answer to a question, he said the California Seals, an NHL hockey team which has been moved to Cleveland, "will have the overall cost but they can charge more. The NHL seal means something."

Talkative Hooton mows down Astros

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Burt Hooton has had the kind of fortune that would make a guy talk to himself.

So he did and, what's more, he listened to what he had to say.

"I talked to myself the whole game, telling myself to keep at it, not to give in, to keep concentrating," he said.

The result was a two-hit, 2-0, shutout over Houston, Los Angeles' fourth win in a row and eighth straight over the Astros.

"I had been thinking all kinds of negative things and I wasn't going to let it happen this time," said Hooton who had dropped six of his previous seven decisions.

Bill Buckner singled home Dave Lopes twice, the Dodgers' only runs off loser Dan Larson, 1-3, but, as Hooton said later, that was all he needed.

The Astros got two hits in the first inning, by Greg Gross and Cesar Cedeno, and not another the rest of the way.

Yet Houston threatened in the final two innings when Hooton issued four of his five walks.

He walked the first two batters in the eighth and got out of it. He walked two more in the ninth, but struck out Cedeno, got Bob Watson on a deep drive to right and

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to think out how you can best solve whatever has arisen that is foreign to your experience. Seek out information that can help you face such matters from a new angle.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have good ideas now so that you can make your many interests work more efficiently and profitably. Get the cooperation of some new associate that can be very helpful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle responsibilities more efficiently now, especially where collections and payments are concerned. Use direct approach with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be more skillful at your work now and increase benefits. Buy clothing that will enhance your charm. Let quality be your guide, but stay within your budget.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Improve your health and your outlook on life and you realize a greater abundance. Relax tonight and build up your energy.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Enjoy yourself at whatever will not make a big dent in your wallet. Not a good day for considering new investments. Do only necessary work.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get into those activities that will please kin more and home life improves. Study new projects and see where you may benefit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take a more direct approach in dealing with others and you gain your aims more quickly. Turn to the experts for advice. Avoid one who tries to downgrade you. Make appointments early for best results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to get backing you need from an influential person. Join in public work that brings more esteem and success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be persistent in going after information you need for advancement. A prominent person you met recently can be of help.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have good ideas for keeping promises more easily and should try them out immediately. Try to please a loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you appear at some business meeting with associates so that the results will prove to be successful. Come to a better understanding with one who is egotistical. Avoid limelight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan time to get your surroundings improved. Be more concerned with that which is ecological in nature. Cooperate more with associates.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she can become truly successful in life provided you teach early to be more cooperative with others. Give as fine an education as you can and slant along lines of government work, corporations, big business or whatever has to do with the masses. Give good religious training.

Senate theft trial continues

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Court-martial board mulls TI punishment

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A court-martial trial board pondered today the punishment for a Lackland Air Force Base training instructor who pleaded guilty to physically mistreating eight basic trainees.

The instructor, E.Sgt. Billy L. Drake, 32, entered his plea at the start of the proceedings against him Tuesday.

But the 12-year Air Force veteran, who enlisted at Sedley, Va., said he could not recall specific actions against the complaining trainees.

The court-martial trial board heard testimony from the trainees Tuesday before weighing Drake's punishment.

Trainees accused the sergeant of a long series of physical mistreatments, among them pushing, kicking, shoving, pinching and pulling hair June 25.

Officers in Drake's 3704th Basic Training Squadron conducted a probe of the trainees' accusations and the squadron commander filed the charges against the instructor, a Lackland spokesman said.

Drake has been relieved of all training duties.

Marine captain may face trial for death

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The government has rested its case in the hearing to determine if Marine Capt. Cecil V. Taylor will be tried on charges stemming from the death of a recruit.

Maj. John Grant, counsel for Taylor, was expected to complete the defense presentation today.

Maj. Ernst U. A. Schultes, who has been conducting the hearing, will then recommend whether Taylor will face a general court-martial on charges of dereliction of duty in failing to instruct and supervise personnel under his command.

Taylor is former head of the Special Training Branch, a unit for problem recruits, at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot.

It was in Taylor's unit where Pvt. Lynn E. McClure, 20, of Lufkin, Tex., was injured Dec. 6 while being forced to undergo special pugil stick bouts. McClure remained in a coma until his March 13 death in a Houston hospital.

Schultes recalled S.Sgt. David Duffy of El Paso, Tex., to the stand Tuesday because of conflicts in testimony Duffy had given investigators earlier and statements he made last week in Taylor's hearing.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The defense resumes its case today in the trial of Alex Martinez and Penni Stoner on a charge of stealing $6,000 worth of Senate paper.

Martinez testified Tuesday that three witnesses for the state simply were mistaken.

He said he was in Dallas for three days visiting a cousin he hadn't seen in a long time when the alleged theft took place.

Martinez, fired as supervisor of the Senate Print Shop last September, said he told Euna Faye Pryor, a print shop employee, to put down those three days as vacation on the time card used by the payroll department.

Prosecutor Dave Sheppard asked why the time card failed to show that.

Martinez said he decided to give all print shop employees three days off. "Apparently, she didn't put it down because she was going to get some time off, too," he said.

Mrs. Pryor had testified that she and her 12-year-old daughter went to the print shop one night in April 1975 but saw Martinez in the shop holding hands with Penni Stoner. She said she was "reluctant" to go into the shop because "I did not care to explain" what was going on.

Asked about that, Martinez said, "I don't know about holding hands or anything—we had a full crew there."

Miss Stoner also is on trial on a charge of stealing $6,000 worth of Senate paper. Martinez' wife, Marcella, sat back in the middle of the courtroom most of the day.

Booklet is ridiculed

(Special to The Herald)

Cong. George Mahon has called upon the Secretary of Labor to review the performance and take corrective action against officials of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration responsible for "a ridiculous waste of the taxpayers' money" to produce a booklet entitled, "Safety with Beef Cattle," which has been held up to scorn by farm and ranch groups across the nation. At the same time Mahon lashed out in a House speech on July 30 at OSHA officials for proposing field sanitation standards for farms and ranches which "are totally unworkable and ridiculous."

The 19th District Congressman used these examples to complain about harassment of the private citizen by government personnel charged with the administration of laws passed by Congress.

The booklet referred to by Mahon contains numerous admonitions such as, "When floors are wet and slippery with manure, you could have a bad fall"; "you can get too tired when working with cattle."

"We must declare war on such ineptness if respect for government is to be restored and maintained," said Mahon.

The proposed sanitation standards, which among other requirements, would make mandatory toilet and handwashing facilities within a five-minute walk of farm and ranch workers, have also been heavily criticized by farm and ranch groups.

In his speech Mahon pointed out that those responsible for the actions "do not have to answer to the public for the outrages they perpetrate in the name of administering the law. By their actions they bring contempt on the government. If there is to be a free democratic society, the people must support and believe in their government. Without this trust, government breaks down. We must find a way to instill in the Federal worker that he is a servant of the people and that he holds a public trust."

But Fred has had quite a lot of hardships. Enough to make us all stop and think. So I finally got around to running it. Not as a slap at naturalists, but simply a tribute to a West Texan who has overcome hardships.

Adversity has been a way of life for Fred Hardy. He runs a bookkeeping and tax service in Fort Stockton. Fred Hardy hasn't had one hard knock. He's had three that would have counted some people out of life as a

Bribe trial set for Judge Bates

HOUSTON (AP) — A trial date of Sept. 21 has been set for State District Court Judge Garth Bates, charged with accepting a bribe to ensure that a defendant in his court would not go to prison.

Bates, 61, pleaded innocent Monday at his arraignment before Judge John Barren of Bryan, a visiting judge assigned to hear the case.

"I enter a plea that I am not guilty," Bates told Barren, a retired justice of the 11th Court of Civil Appeals.

Barren set Aug. 18 as the deadline for pre-trial motions and Aug. 30 as the date for a hearing on the motion.

Ridin' fence

Back during the controversy years between the Jaycees and the Audubon Society on rattlesnakes, a local woman brought me an article about Fred Hardy.

The woman was quite upset and said, "I wish you'd run this sometime and let people know what harm a rattlesnake did for this man."

I looked at the article and smiled, and said, "I've known this man for a long time. He used to be the press man at the Pecos Independent."

So he started a new career — printing. He worked 12 years at the Pecos newspaper. His speech was natural after "he learned to talk all over again." He talked a little bit loud, but he had fortunately learned to talk before he went deaf.

He went to San Angelo to work in their printing department. Then came the third job. He was going to a funeral in Balmorhea and about 40 miles out of Fort Stockton, two men stopped his car and asked for assistance in killing a large rattler.

Fred shot the snake. He reached down and grabbed behind the head. He said later, "I don't know why I picked it up." The snake struck Hardy repeatedly in the left hand. The venom went right into the veins. A fast ride to the hospital in Fort Stockton was the first step to a series of long stays in the hospitals. It ended with the amputation of Hardy's left arm below the elbow.

That's when he changed his career again and started keeping books. Fred has a wife, Mary, who is a nurse and two daughters, Cindy and Debbie.

He also has a lot of hope. The family camps out. Fred still manages to shoot bows and arrows. He has always been an expert archer. And they're a happy family.

I hope one of these days to run across Fred again, because he's a good lesson for all of us. Maybe I'll run across him — one of these days when I'm out ridin' fence.
