But he must hang on

Ford has enough to nominate

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Ford today gained public commitments from one more than the number of delegates he needs to win the Republican presidential nomination, and he and his managers fought to protect the lead against challenger Ronald Reagan's maneuvers.

Ford went over the top in the Associated Press survey of delegates as he and Reagan headed into their first critical test of strength at the 1976 Republican National Convention.

The President's total of legally bound and publicly committed delegates hit 1,131, one more than the convention majority needed for the nomination.

The new total came with commitments by three delegates from West Virginia and one from Pennsylvania.

The AP survey gave Reagan 1,036 delegate votes and listed 92 as still uncommitted.

Of the 2,259 delegates to the convention, only 939 are legally bound by state laws to vote for one candidate or the other. Ford's total includes 764 delegates who are not legally bound and could change their minds at any time up until the presidential balloting is completed Wednesday night.

Reagan's strategists were hopeful a victory in tonight's test of strength on procedural issues could set off a dramatic shift in preferences for the presidential nomination.

Motorcades criss-crossed Kansas City as Ford, Reagan and their families made the rounds of delegate caucuses.

Ford also met with his convention staff and then told reporters "I'm optimistic" about beating back Reagan's attempt to force him to name his choice for a running mate before Wednesday night's balloting for the presidential nomination.

One of his top aides also predicted Ford would prevail on the issue, but he added that "at this point, we can't say it's rock solid."

Ford aides also said they were under orders from the President to halt direct attacks on the Reagan camp. But the conciliatory gesture brought no change in Reagan's insistence that he would not accept second place on a ticket headed by Ford.

The roll call votes tonight, occurring just 24 hours before the presidential balloting, will be taken as a clear sign of which man will leave Kansas City as the Republican nominee for president.

A decisive victory for either man could cripple the other's chance for the nomination.

The Reagan forces are geared for a floor fight tonight on their proposal to require that each presidential candidate name his proposed running mate before the balloting on the presidential nomination.

Reagan backers call it the "right to know" rule. The Ford camp describes it as Reagan's attempt to force the President to endure an uproar similar to that which Reagan encountered when he named Sen. Richard S. Schweiker as his choice for the vice presidential nomination.

Ford's backers called the Reagan proposal the "misery loves company" rule.

The other major fight planned by the Reagan camp involves the foreign policy plank in the Republican platform which will be presented to the convention for approval.

Entitled "Morality in Foreign Policy," the Reagan amendment to the platform would insert a statement implicitly critical of the policy of détente with the Soviet Union pursued by Ford.

Texans get 'rotten' seats

Big Springers support Reagan

(Special to the Herald) KANSAS CITY — Texans turned the tide for Ronald Reagan during the primaries and their reward has been seats way back in the "amen corner" at the National Republican convention in Kansas City, according to Mrs. Harold (Dorothy) Hall, alternate national delegate in a telephone interview with the Big Spring Herald this morning.

"If you can't see the Texans on television, don't be surprised because we are practically out in the hall," she continued. "They even throw their garbage over the railing on top of us back behind. But we are having lots of fun."

"Every chance we get, we get up and holler and yell back in our corner and we understand that the national television commented last night that Texas has the noisiest delegation."

"We have to be noisy and wave our signs and jump up and down. We're getting lots of exercise. There's one woman here from Pampa that has a huge elephant on her head. She's gotten a lot of attention and pictures in the Kansas City papers."

Mrs. Hall said that their seats are right in front of the area occupied by Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Rockefeller.

Landon provides special thrill

(Special to the Herald) KANSAS CITY — An extra thrill was on hand at the National Republican Convention in Kansas City for Mrs. Dorothy Hall, one of three national delegates from Big Spring at the event.

"When Alf Landon, who ran against Roosevelt in 1936 came to the platform, I really almost cried," she stated by telephone to the Herald today.

"My father, (G. H. Hayward) was at the convention of the Grand Old Party when Landon was nominated. Landon's voice was still strong at 88 and he looks great," she continued.

"Oh, by the way," Dorothy added, "Tell my son Mike in Big Spring 'Happy 27th Birthday' today. Who knows, maybe 40 years from now, he'll be a third generation delegate from our family to National Republican conventions. Nobody could have convinced me years ago that I would ever get to go."

Carter mum on attacks

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter will have no response this week to attacks leveled at him by Republicans at their national convention, aides say.

Carter spent much of Monday evening watching the GOP meeting on television, the aides said. He heard speaker after speaker call him vague on issues and a supporter of inflationary government spending.

But aides said Carter will answer no questions on politics this week as he continues a series of meetings with experts on social programs, energy and international economics.

He was to meet today with leaders of the energy industry and the environmental movement for discussions of the nation's energy problems.

Participants in the energy briefings were to include Thomas Sigler, vice president of the Continental Oil Co.; Gerald Decker of Dow Chemical Co.; Wilson Clark, director of the Environmental Policy Institute; and Gov. David Boren of Oklahoma.

Carter had said earlier that he would have no comment on the Republican meeting in Kansas City, Mo., until it was over. However, he provided an answer Monday to one of the Republican attacks — that the Democratic platform would cost $200 billion a year to implement.

"We can meet the commitment I have made to the American people" and still emerge with a balanced budget, Carter said.

If elected president, he said, he hopes to maintain federal government expenditures at the current level, about 20 to 21 per cent of the gross national product.

He added that he would try to spell out before election day his proposed social programs and what they would cost.

60 miles per hour, Mrs. Alvin D. Gilbert, 903 W. 6th St., said. "A cop followed me one day for about seven blocks taking pictures of her," Mrs. Gilbert said. "It scared me. I thought he was going to give me a ticket."

Philippine quake leaves 1,000 dead or missing

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — More than 1,000 persons were reported dead or missing today in the worst earthquakes in Philippine history.

The National Disaster Coordinating Center reported tonight that at least 811 dead had been confirmed, 249 were missing and 251 were injured in two major quakes that hit the southern Philippines just after midnight Monday and just after noon today.

The U.S. National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., recorded the first tremor at 8.0 on the Richter Scale, only 0.2 less than the July 28 quake that devastated the Tangshan area of northeast China. Today's quake reached 6.8 on the scale.

A major tremor also rocked central China Monday night. The official Chinese news agency Hsinhua gave no damage or casualty figures, but it said damage "was very slight because the Chinese Seismological Department had forecast an earthquake and the Szechwan provincial party committee had taken precautionary measures."

Hsinhua said the tremor was centered about 135 miles north of the Szechwan provincial capital of Chengtu and registered 7.2 on the Richter scale.

Unofficial counts put the death toll in the Philippines at 1,000, with more than 500 injured and 400 missing.

Among the missing were 11 children swept away by 24-foot waves caused by the quake.

Bible fund donations exceed $2,000 mark

The pace of collections for the Howard County Ministerial Alliance's Bible Fund picked up again Monday and this morning, enough to put the total over the $2,000 mark.

Objective in the campaign is $6,500, enough to underwrite the expense of teaching a Bible course in high schools at Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan. Federal law dictates that tax money cannot be used to offer such a program.

Checks should be made out to the Bible Fund and forwarded either to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the Big Spring First Baptist Church, or to The Herald, which is helping coordinate the drive.

Mystery murder victim buried under wrong name

A man was stabbed to death under the Gregg Street viaduct near 1st on July 18 and buried under the wrong name.

At the time of death the man was carrying four different sets of identification. Local police contacted the FBI and a number of other sources in an attempt to secure a positive identification of the man. All attempts fell through.

Approximately a week-and-a-half after the man's death, he was buried under the name of Melvin Dean taken from the ID which most closely matched him. Since then, however, the FBI searched through its fingerprint files and came up with a positive identification of the man proving he wasn't Dean.

Under the bureau's armed services records were prints matching those of the victim under the name of Jim Charles Putnam.

Putnam was born Nov. 23, 1947, and his last known address was listed as 911 Lake Street in Lincoln, Ill. His only criminal record involved the passing of a bad check in 1968.

Action/reaction: Dogs, garbage

Q. How can people who have front yard garbage pickup keep the dogs from scattering trash up and down the streets? This is a constant problem in my neighborhood.

A. That's a difficult one. Dogs seem to have minds of their own, and can rarely be reasoned with when it comes to garbage. The only solution seems to be a more adequately secured trash can, or a call to the local dog catcher.

(If you have a question for Action-reaction, call 263-7331)

Says good government must start at precinct level Shaw outlines talks with ag leaders

By CANDY SMITH
The effects of even a small voice in government and the expected policies on agriculture on the Carter-Mondale ticket were the topics touched on by Larry Shaw during a breakfast talk at Coker's Restaurant today to local farmers and ranchers.

SHAW ECHOED the thought first stated by P.R. (Bobby) Smith, chairman of the Food and Agriculture Committee recently set up by Jimmy Carter. "You can have a farm program that makes sense to farmers and consumers both."
During the Democratic national convention in New York, while his brother Delano was down on the floor, Shaw said he talked to several delegates from other states and tried to "put in a few plugs for cotton." He added that it was news to several there that the cattle situation is bad here. "I told them some ranchers were losing as much as $100 a head on their cattle these days and they were surprised to hear it."

Sen. Walter Mondale promised if Carter is elected the practice of embargoing grain shipments will end. According to Shaw, the National Wheat Growers Association is threatening to bring legal action against the U.S. Department of Agriculture on this account.
The wheat growers have been stock piling a fund, now about $100,000.00, to fight the agriculture department in Washington if they attempt to place an embargo on wheat, Shaw said.

Although there is not a lot of wheat grown in this area, farmers are wary that what happens to wheat may happen to cotton, said Shaw. Speculation can raise or lower a market as much as any direct restraint, he added.

"OVER HALF the wheat of this country has always gone for export," Shaw said. "If it didn't, the price of wheat would be so low it would cause people to get out of business." He did say that the grain standards for exports hurt the farmers and it was decided that the standards would be the same as for domestic grain trade.

Shaw also said when it comes to parity income assurances to farmers, he had heard from a platform committee member, a woman from Nebraska that it had passed, despite a little trouble they had had in doing so.
Shaw said the democratic platform had passed a full parity goal for farm income. "I don't think it will hit the 100 per cent mark but you have to have a goal to shoot at. For most commodities, the price perceived by farmers is between 50-95 per cent. Cattle, however, is down to about 50-60 per cent."

CARTER, HE said, has recommended a higher price and loan rate on agriculture. Shaw explained that neither too high a price nor too low a price would be beneficial to farmers.
"If prices are too high, it may cause farmers to overproduce, and build surpluses as well as distort foreign demand. If too low, there would be no stability which we need for incentive to plant," Shaw said.

There are also several farmers on the Food and Agriculture Committee, organized before the convention, and getting ideas in that committee from farmers was a good approach to farming, Shaw said.
The Carter committee approach to farming and ranching will utilize established farmers, young farmers and others associated in agricultural enterprises, colleges and government, who are familiar with the interests of this area.

They will also allow more and better local authority by beginning with well organized top levels.
Gus Douglass, state commissioner of agriculture in West Virginia is chairman of the Southern region and Tommy Irvine of Georgia is vice chairman for Carter.

The chairman for the Agricultural Stability and Conservation Committee, James Barr of Vincent, was introduced during the breakfast and he mentioned that the committee of three members had drafted a list of the proposals which they felt necessary, along with an account of state problems, and had sent the list to Carter.

IN CHOOSING delegates for the National Convention, Shaw said Coahoma had only nominated two for the state convention, so that when they voted, he won three to two.

"Anybody can have a voice," Shaw added. "Just because it's small, doesn't mean it's not there."

Two names Shaw mentioned during his speech were Moe Pate of Lubbock, a cotton farmer on Carter's advisory committee and his wife, the former Sandy Jennings of Big Spring, who was an alternate and honorary guest.

Pate and his wife showed him around and introduced him to several people, Shaw said. It was one of these people, John White, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, who told Shaw that one of the favorites who had prospects of being named Secretary of Agriculture was P. R. (Bobby) Smith.

SHAW CITED the Webb AFB controversy as an example. "If people hadn't gotten together and sent letters to Washington, it would have been all over with by now. It's alright to be wrong, but it's not alright to stay wrong," he said.
Concerning the Carter-Mondale ticket, Shaw related that everyone here had thought the delegates had goofed when Mondale was added as vice-presidential candidate, but that Reagan has saved their life when he picked Schweiker.

Shaw added that he believed Mondale was knowledgeable on farming and ranching needs and that he felt Mondale had been added to the ticket for balance.
Mondale as a liberal would balance Carter, who is a moderate conservative, said Shaw, adding he thought Mondale was one of the best choices.

"Carter will be calling the shots and Mondale will listen," Shaw stated.
Shaw related how he was chosen at the precinct convention to go to the state HOUSE IN FLAMES — Local firefighters were forced Monday to cut through the roof of a home of G.S. Snowden, 1101 San Antonio to get to the fire inside. Officials theorize that the fire started because of a faulty extension cord leading to an air conditioner. No one was home at the Howard County-owned residence, and the fire "melted a television set and a radio before it was reported," according to Chief Alvie Harrison. Extensive damage was reported to the home.

Police beat Local lumber firm looted

Burglars hit the Rockwell Brothers Lumber Co., 300 W. 2nd, over the weekend and made off with $160 in cash and personal checks.

According to reports, the intruders knocked out the glass in the west door of the building to gain entry. The cash and checks were hidden in the building, and the thugs "apparently knew the location in the building was disturbed or missing."

Housebreakers entered the home of Bruce Flynn, 1501 State, over the weekend and lifted a tuner-amplifier valued at $400. This was the only item stolen.

Juan Polanco, Palmer House, reported the burglary of his car around 11:30 a.m. Monday.

According to reports, Polanco loaned his station wagon to a friend to drive to work. After the friend arrived at work, two women came to him and asked for the keys to the car. When the friend refused, the women went to the car, raised the hood, removed the carburetor breather and distributor wires, three them into their own car and drove away.

Celestino Cisneros, 1008 Stadium, reported a case of criminal mischief Monday.

According to reports, one of a group of three men threw a Dr. Pepper bottle through the windshield of his car as he drove over the viaduct near 2nd and Benton. Damage was estimated at $150.

Vandals shot pellets through a plate glass window at the home of Mrs. Waymon Etchison, 802 Dallas, sometime between 8 a.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday. Damage was estimated at $100.

Mrs. Bill Reynolds, 1000 Baylor, reported the theft of a CB antenna from her car, sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Monday. The item was valued at $30.

Only two mishaps were reported Monday.
Cars belonging to Linda Woodrow Jordan, 3513 Larry, and James Stephen Gay, 1409 E. collided at 6th and Birdwell, 5:17 p.m.

Cars belonging to Tina Eiani Teague, 2300 Marshall, and Donnie Michael Wiggins, 2911 West Highway 80, collided at 18th and Gregg, 5:21 p.m.

Texans at GOP confab split into three camps

By SCOTT CARPENTER
Harte Hanks Austin Bureau
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — They came for Reagan; they came for Connally, and they came for Tower and Ford — Texans at the Republican National Convention are divided into three camps.

It will be this evening before we find out which group picked the right horse to ride a choice that may well decide who controls the state party in the immediate future.

The largest contingent here, if numbers mean anything, is the 100-member delegation led by ultra-conservative Ray Barnhart of Houston and following Ronald Reagan.

THE CURRENT state party leadership, Rep. Ray

Hutchinson of Dallas and party vice-chair Polly Sowell of McAllen, are camped with the John Connally forces in an apparent effort to gain Connally the vice presidential nomination.

Hutchinson and Sowell have remained neutral in the presidential race even though Connally decided to side with Ford after Reagan named his choice for the vice presidency.

Still a third group is advocating Ford, and is led by U.S. Sen. John Tower. Barnhart certainly was the power broker at the June Republican state convention where his Reagan forces took both the national Republican committee and committee slots away from Ford backers.

THE NEW national committeeman, Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo, was Hutchinson's opponent in the race for the Republican party chairmanship only a few months ago.

Barnhart certainly will be the power broker at the September convention in Austin since the same folks will be wearing delegate badges that were wearing them in Fort Worth in June.

Indications are that if Reagan gets the presidential nod tonight, Barnhart will try to take the state party chairmanship away from Hutchinson and attempt to enrich Texas ties with the national party leadership.

Barnhart probably will leave Hutchinson alone if Ford gets the nomination. He sees the need for the Washington tie — especially if Connally gets on the ballot with Ford.

Hutchinson is not likely to stand idly by and let Barnhart get the top state Republican slot without some fight, though the Dallas state representative wouldn't risk an out in the open confrontation that might cripple the party.

HE IS prepared to argue that his record should allow him to continue to serve and to continue to work on his plan to build a new state Republican party from the grassroots. A new conservation coalition would be the best description.

Hutchinson took over a party, he says, that was $200,000 in debt and he now has it operating in the black. For the first time in the party's history it's making political contributions to candidates, including some who were in the Reagan-Barnhart camp.

Sitting on the outside is U.S. Sen. John Tower, who is tied to the Ford camp that he can't afford to work on the possible Connally nomination.

Hutchinson would probably be just as safe if it turns out that Tower made the best choice by leading the Ford Texas campaign. But it would be Tower and not Hutchinson — the Connally floor leader — who would be in control.

Harry served a two-year sentence from Howard County for defrauding with a worthless check. This conviction was dated in October 1972.

He was given credit for 41 days in jail Monday. In earlier court action, an indictment against Harold B. Hale Jr. for the February 1972 theft of a pickup was dismissed.

Pioneer delivers detailed gas info to WT city fathers

AMARILLO — Pioneer Natural Gas Company has delivered detailed gas purchase information to the various city governments throughout its West Texas system. The packets contain company testimony and exhibits for Pioneer's hearing to be held before the Texas Railroad Commission (TRC) in Austin, on Sept. 14.

In May, Pioneer petitioned the TRC for a special hearing to enable Pioneer to publicly review its cost of gas for its West Texas system, to evaluate the correctness of the company's cost-of-gas adjustment, as well as to determine the appropriateness of the policies of Pioneer in maintaining its gas supply.

In announcing this action, K.B. Watson, Pioneer president said, "We are confident that Pioneer gas acquisition practices have been in the best interest of West Texas. Our testimony shows that we have the lowest gas costs of larger companies in Texas and, in spite of this, we have been able to buy more gas than we have sold in each of the past two years."

Watson went on to say, "Without these purchases Pioneer would have been unable to fulfill its gas commitments to customers." He said that Pioneer's West Texas system has a peak-day requirement of approximately 598,000 Mcf. As of July 1, 1975, Pioneer had a daily availability of 544,281 Mcf from its old lower price contracts.

By July 1, 1975, the daily availability from these older contracts had decreased to 295,444 Mcf. "This reduction is deliverability from Pioneer's old contracts would have drastically reduced Pioneer's ability to serve its customers' requirements had not Pioneer continued to purchase new gas," Watson said.

The approximately 700 pages of material furnished to the various cities contains statements by Pioneer officials as well as exhibits of various contracts and documents used by the company in its gas acquisition and distribution activities.

In commenting on the material given the cities, Watson said, "The testimony clearly demonstrates the continued need for the cost-of-gas adjustment, if the company is to maintain its current excellent gas supply position."

The hearing in Austin on Sept. 14, will be open to all interested parties and will be held in the Ernest O. Thompson building, 10th and Colorado streets, starting at 9:00 a.m.

Usery announced Monday that the musical will be performed here on Labor Day at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

No charges in scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colleen Gardner says she is "totally bewildered, totally floored" by reports that federal prosecutors have decided against pressing criminal charges on her accusations that her congressman-boss demanded sex in return for continued employment at premium pay. The congressman, Democrat John Young, said Monday in a statement from his Victoria, Tex., office that he was "pleased but not surprised at the position taken by the Department of Justice relative to the allegations made against me."

Poison spreading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Traces of the roach poison Kepone, the cause of liver and brain damage in Virginia chemical workers, have turned up in nonhazardous levels in fish caught hundreds of miles from the plant where it was made, a federal agency says. The pesticide residue was found in migratory fish caught by commercial fishermen in Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean off the coasts of Delaware, New Jersey and New York. The Food and Drug Administration said that all of its first samples of fish taken showed traces of Kepone, but not at levels considered hazardous.

Detroit cops rehired

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit is rehiring 450 laid-off policemen two weeks early and imposing a curfew on persons under 18 to prevent recurrence of what the police chief called a "small-scale riot" on the downtown streets after a rock concert. "We're going to take the city back — beginning tonight," Deputy Mayor William Beckham Jr. declared Monday in announcing the measures. He and Police Chief Philip Tannian said police simply lacked the resources to cope with the disturbance, which started when several hundred youths attacked a crowd Sunday night at the city's CKOBO Hall. It ended in widespread robberies and assaults, including one rape, on the downtown streets. Forty-seven persons were arrested.

Minor eruption felt

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe (AP) — The 15 French scientists monitoring the Soufriere volcano were evacuated from the danger zone Monday night after an explosion inside the mountain caused an earth tremor felt 20 miles away. Dr. Robert Brousse of the University of Paris, the leader of the team of volcanologists, planned a helicopter flight today to try to penetrate the heavy cloud mass covering the 4,813-foot peak of La Soufriere. The volcano on Basse Terre island has been emitting ashes, steam and fumes for more than a month.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department is mulling a special conference to order to desegregate all Midland elementary school before the 1976-77 school year begins.

A special consultant, John Skogland, will attend the conference, as will attorneys representing the U.S. Justice Department.

MIDLAND — U.S. District Judge D. W. Suttle has scheduled a special conference in federal court here with attorneys for the Midland school district for 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, at which time a discussion of a recent federal order to desegregate all Midland elementary school before the 1976-77 school year begins.

A special consultant, John Skogland, will attend the conference, as will attorneys representing the U.S. Justice Department.

Borden, Snyder gain Fluvanna schools

SNYDER — Borden County commissioners and Gary Collins, Scurry County school board have unanimously approved a resolution for annexation of the Fluvanna school district to the Borden County and Snyder independent school districts.

All of the former Fluvanna district's properties lying within Borden County is being annexed to the Borden County ISD, schools of which are located in Gail.

Those properties lying in Scurry County will be added to the Snyder ISD.

The indebtedness and cash assets of the Fluvanna school district will be divided proportionately to the taxable evaluations as of Monday as determined by the joint board, with 10.3 per cent going to Borden County and 89.7 per cent to Snyder.

The physical properties of the Fluvanna school district, along with school records, will become the property of the Snyder ISD, excluding six teacherages which will be divided between the two school districts.

Students will attend school in the districts where they reside after annexation. The Borden County district will assume the responsibility of teacher Fred Ridenour's contract.

Voters in the Fluvanna district rejected consolidation with Borden County last Saturday by a vote of 137 to 62. Borden County voters had approved the consolidation by a 206-40 vote, but the consolidation could not become effective without the approval of voters in both districts.

Borden County voters approved a $1 million bond issue Saturday by a margin of 184-67.

Scheduled for construction are five classrooms, a gymnasium, cafeteria, resource center and an underground youth activity center.

Texas Aggie barbecue

The Big Spring Texas A&M Club will sponsor its 23rd annual Scholarship Barbecue at 7 p.m. Friday at the Old Settlers Pavilion in Comanche Trail Park.

Tickets are $3.50 per person, while all children under the age of 12 will be admitted free of charge. Everyone is invited to enjoy a feast of barbecue with all the trimmings.

Proceeds will be used for scholarship funds for Howard County boys now attending A&M University.

Roy Acuff returning

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music star Roy Acuff says he'll be ready to perform this weekend at Opryland U.S.A.

The 38-year Grand Old Opry veteran suffered a heart attack last April and made his first appearance since then on Wednesday, opening his show with his most famous song, "Wabash Cannonball."

He also did his traditional yoyo tricks and balanced his fiddle bow on the end of his nose.

"You know, I don't think anything could hurt me as bad as if I couldn't work the Opry again," the 72-year-old performer said later. "I'd have to leave town — just get in my car and start going."

IN STARRING ROLES — Mary Ann Mobley and Gary Collins, stars of Casa Manana's newest musical in Fort Worth, "Cabaret", which began Monday and runs for two weeks through Aug. 28. The husband and wife team have returned to Casa by popular demand in the multiple prize-winning Broadway success which ran three years in New York. "Cabaret" is set in Berlin at the beginning of the 1930's, just before the storm and the storm-troopers took over Germany, when a sense of impending doom drove people to a force and frantic gait. The show has been described as both brilliant and remarkable — a bright, handsome and steadily entertaining show. One can call 332-6221 for reservations for performances, Monday through Saturday nights, at 8:15 p.m. and matinees 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

USDA tries to curb illicit beef imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has started proceedings aimed at curbing a flow of beef imports that, officials say, is coming into the U.S. market through Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, in violation of trade agreements with Australia and other supplying countries.

If adopted, the new rule will redefine the meat — mainly beef used for hamburger and other products — as subject to quota restrictions. Such shipments beginning today will be charged against an individual country's 1976 allocation, the department said.

So far this year, through July 31, about 21.3 million pounds of foreign beef have been channeled through Mayaguez. The meat is altered physically by grinding, shredding or flaking then repackaged to that it qualifies for U.S. customs entry without being subject to quota regulations. Officials said another 36 million pounds reportedly are in the Mayaguez pipeline or have been contracted for delivery in addition to the 21.3 million delivered through July 31.

Under a 1964 meat quota law, imports of fresh, frozen and chilled beef, veal, mutton and goat meat are subject to annual quotas based on U.S. production. Recently, however, so-called voluntary restraint agreements have been used with foreign countries to keep imports below a maximum quota trigger level. This year's agreements call for imports totaling 1,223 million pounds, about 10 million less than the quota trigger maximum.

Although the department did not say how the 21.3 million pounds of beef that entered through Mayaguez by July 31 will be handled, a spokesman said, those shipments will be taken into consideration when a new assessment of the imports is made this fall. Another quarterly estimate of total 1976 meat imports is due by Oct. 1.

Gulf Coast gets cooling showers

By The Associated Press
 Showers and thundershowers brought welcome relief from summer heat on the middle and lower Texas coast and parts of South and Central Texas today, and forecasters promised more cooling precipitation during the afternoon. Heavy showers and thundershowers developed over a 55-mile wide area centered along a line from 20 miles south of Austin southward to 50 miles northeast of Corpus Christi. Rainfall rates of near one inch per hour was reported west of Victoria.

Other showers were reported along the coast from Port O'Connor inland to near La Grange and over the Gulf of Mexico from 75 to 125 miles southwest of Galveston.

Just before dawn, another shower developed in Southwest Texas about 30 miles northwest of Marfa.

Elsewhere in the state, skies were fair and temperatures were warm. Early readings were mostly in the 70s but ranged from 67 degrees at Dalhart and Midland to 81 at Galveston.

Houston recorded .82 inches of precipitation to lead the state Monday. Other showers formed over southern portions of North Texas and western areas of West Texas.

"I have promises to keep."

Power lines of the rural electric cooperative are often lonely ones because, in Texas, they serve an average of only three meters per mile of line. Now, inflation, fuel shortages and rising costs make higher electric rates inevitable.

But the countless uses for electricity in remote rural areas are built on the promise of dependable power at its lowest possible price. Keeping that promise is a tradition with the member-owned rural electric cooperatives.

Roadside park offers treat

One of the most pleasant, most interesting things to do in Big Spring is to picnic at the roadside park just off the Webb Air Force Base runways on an evening when the T-38s are landing.

The park, located on Highway 80 on the far west side of town near the north end of the Webb Runways, is the ideal vantage spot from which to watch the T-37s and T-38 training jets approach and land.

The City of Big Spring maintains the grounds of the two-table park, and it seems to always be clean.

ESPECIALLY INTERESTING are the times when the T-38s are landing because picnickers can hear instructions from the Runway Supervisory Unit to the pilots over an amplifier which is connected to the unit.

The Runway Supervisory Unit (RSU) is something like a control tower. The RSUs at Webb control planes in the overhead traffic pattern, according to Maj. Dick Missman, commander of the 2050 Communications Squadron.

But the RSUs are not quite like a regular Air Force control tower. Their purpose is to observe the approach and landings by student pilots.

The RSUs are manned by Webb instructor pilots. They give instructions to students as they come in for a landing. If the attitude of the approaching aircraft is not right, the instructor pilot in the RSU may tell the student pilot to abort his landing attempt and go around again.

THE RSU INSTRUCTOR pilot logs each landing and makes notes on if the plane touched down too hard or too far down the runway. Then he will debrief the student pilot later.

Maj. Missman said the RSUs greatly enhance the safety of the training program. They are especially important to student pilots flying solo in helping with what Maj. Missman called "preventative control."

The amplifier, purchased several years ago by Webb Credit Union, enables the observer to participate in these high-speed T-38 landings.

The sound, plus the location of the park, gives the observer an opportunity to imagine what it would be like to be a learning pilot bringing a supersonic T-38 in on an approach that is faster than World War II planes could even fly.

JUST WATCHING is quite a thrill. Flying must be something else again.

Any Big Spring resident who does not occasionally take a picnic supper out to the park and watch the jets land in the cool of a later summer's evening is missing one of the most exciting pastimes in town.

Finesses abortion

Evans, Novak

KANSAS CITY — A prudent strategy for the Republican national convention was being followed Tuesday night when a proposed platform plank advocating a constitutional amendment against abortion was wholeheartedly supported by the Ford campaign organization but not by President Ford himself.

The anti-abortion plank is more Ronald Reagan than Gerald Ford. Yet, the Reagan organization has not actively promoted abortion or any other platform issue running counter to Ford positions. Instead, a conservative rump group led by Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina pushed the abortion plank along with other abrasive positions. On abortion and wherever else possible, Mr. Ford's operatives dodged a fight.

THIS FITS their convention grand strategy. While the President's delegate edge seems firm, there is no doubt that rank-and-file delegates are well to Mr. Ford's right and more in one ideologically with Reagan. Therefore, the Ford convention team (headed by old pro William Timmons) has wisely decided to have the President swallow unpalatable platform positions rather than provide conservative delegates. That goal has been easier to achieve because of the Reagan campaign's strange ideological passivity here.

The Ford platform strategy was devised here Aug. 9, without the President's participation or consultation. His aides formulated these two axioms: first, the party platform reflects the views of 2,259 delegates, but not necessarily Mr. Ford's; second, the Ford campaign ought not oppose any plank that separates Republicans from Democrats, even if it does not fully match the President's position.

The first application of this formula was the politics-drenched question of abortion. When feminist groups pressured Jimmy Carter into a Democratic platform plank opposing any constitutional amendment against abortion, million of "right to life" votes became available to the Republicans. With Carter so far ahead, these votes are irresistible to Republican politicians who once locked their doors against "pro-life" lobbyists.

THE STUMBLING block has been that Mr. Ford's position on abortion is identical to Carter's: anti-abortion but also anti-constitutional amendment. Although Mr. Ford has been known to switch positions for political gain, top administration officials have doubted they can overcome Betty Ford's pro-abortion sentiments.

Nevertheless, one shrewd Ford supporter, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, for weeks has lectured the White House on the political imperative of courting anti-abortion votes. Dole and pro-life forces this week agreed on a plank, eliminating the usual blood-curdling anti-abortion rhetoric but still advocating a constitutional amendment.

The Dole proposal was offered to a platform subcommittee Tuesday night, not by Reagan forces but by conservative delegate Dorothy Zumwalt of Sapulpa, Okla., who is associated with the Helms group.

McWhorter telephoned Ford headquarters here where a platform task force headed by Stan Ebner (former general counsel of the Office of Management and Budget) quickly reached this verdict: a green light for the Dole proposal even though it advocates the constitutional amendment opposed by Mr. Ford. No call was placed to Washington to check with or even inform the president.

"YOU'RE RIGHT ABOUT THIS NEW BOMB, RONNIE... IT WILL DEFINITELY SHORTEN THE WAR."

Drugs may, may not help

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We heard from some friends about a drug given for circulation problems that had an amazing effect.

Both are in their 70s and had poor circulation and poor memories. The woman said she was given a drug called nicotinic acid. The results were simply great and improved circulation. They are like their old selves again. Would you comment please? — L.M.

Nicotinic acid is part of the B complex of vitamins and does have the effect of dilating (expanding) blood vessels. This would, of course, improve circulation, and it is sometimes effective in cases such as the one you mention.

However, it does not work in all cases of advanced senility where there is brain tissue injury (as with stroke, for example). The dilation effect of the drug can be sensed as a flushing of the body, a feeling of warmth in the skin.

I can see a lot of oldsters rushing to the vitamin counters. Don't. It is perhaps something to look into, but not something to expect too much from.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I seem to have an odor in the vagina area that I never had before. I have douches many times and I am spotless, but I still seem to have that odor.

Could it be vaginitis? — M.C.

Body odors generally are caused by bacteria acting on skin gland secretions.

There are two types of sweat glands — the eccrine, which produce a clear, odorless sweat, and the apocrine, which produce a thicker, somewhat odorous material. The apocrine are larger glands abundant in the genital area where they can produce their characteristic odor. It isn't necessarily offensive (unless you believe some of the deodorant ads).

Keeping the area clean with soap and water minimizes the bacterial action.

Vaginitis is an entirely different matter. That is an inflammation or infection of the vaginal tissue. If you had that you would have other sympoms besides odor — a discharge, genital irritation, urination disorders and such. My booklet on vaginitis might provide some clues in this matter. Generally, my view deemphasizes the need for douching except in specific instances. For a copy, send 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you please tell me why I have so much trouble with my legs? They swell as soon as the weather gets warm. I take water pills, but after four hours the legs get larger again. They also pain me.

I am overweight, but I can't keep working to keep it down. I am alone and must keep up the outside of my house. I also have a heart condition and take a heart pill every day. I also have varicose veins. Can you offer any help? — L.M.N.

Your swelling is probably a result of your heart disease, the varicose veins and the overweight — perhaps the result of all these combined. Warm weather itself is not a factor. It's just that in summer you try to be more active and put a strain on your already weakened circulation.

You seem to play down the importance of losing weight. At your age and with your circulation problems exercise alone is not feasible for you. You should try eating less, but make sure at the same time you are getting sufficient vitamins and other nutrients. Are you watching salt? Too much salt can aggravate the swelling and, in fact, defeat the purpose of your water pills.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard about kidney transplants, but is there such a thing as a muscle transplant? — Mrs. B.P.

A tendon, which is the end of a muscle, may be adjusted (transposed) in certain cases to improve joint function; but I am not aware of muscle transplantation, although one can be sure that experimental work is going on in the field.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Illegal wooing?

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

KANSAS CITY — President Ford may have violated federal law in his pursuit of Republican delegates.

The charge has been raised by Paul Kamenar, an attorney for the Federal Election Commission, in a private telegram to Atty. Gen. Edward Levi. Kamenar acted on his own behalf, since the FEC lacks jurisdiction.

"President Ford has made expenditures to delegates to the Republican National Convention in the form of favors and entertainment at the White House and at other places," the telegram alleges.

THIS WINING and dining of delegates, he suggests, may violate sections 597 and 603 of the U.S. criminal code. The penalties could run as high as three years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Kamenar cited at least nine separate incidents. For example, delegates received White House invitations to visit with the President in the oval office, to attend the state dinner for Queen Elizabeth and to view "Operation Sail" from aboard the USS Forrestal.

The President has issued written orders that "no official action or position on any matter by anyone in the Administration... shall be promised... as consideration, favor or reward for the support of any delegate."

Yet Kamenar contended that a close reading of the law indicates it is a violation even to provide food and liquor to delegates at White House soirees.

As one precedent, the FEC attorney cited indictments that were brought against a defendant for paying $1 to each voter who would vote for a specified candidate in a general election.

"The Ford situation is much more serious," Kamenar alleges. "If the Justice Department does not consider this law applicable to the convention process, then there would be no legal barrier to giving direct money payments to the delegates."

Footnote: Much of the White House entertaining was paid for with public funds. But under this law, even money spent by the President's campaign committee to sway delegates could be considered illegal.

AGNEW'S FRIENDS: The heroes of the last Republican convention, Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew, are sitting out this one in purgatory.

At San Clemente, Calif., Nixon is preparing his own version of the final days. His memoirs, according to sources who have been in touch with him, will reassert the President's right to steal and wiretap and rig court cases in the national interest.

At Crofton, Md., Agnew has taken over a moribund nonprofit foundation called Education for Democracy.

Pseudo rednecks

Around the rim

Troy Bryant

Everybody knows a redneck when he sees one, but just in case you haven't noticed, there are more and more of them these days.

AT LEAST that's the way it looks. However, an educator at North Texas State University says the redneck boom is due to a nostalgia craze and that most of those rednecks you see are pseudo rednecks. They have no legitimate claim to the "redneck" title.

He says the craze is spreading into New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Miami, and Washington D.C.

Pseudo rednecks in Texas joined the movement when the hippie fad began to fade, so now they have come full circle.

From Roy Rogers' little buckaroos, to beatniks, to hippies, and now to rednecks.

For those easily confused, here's how you can tell a pseudo buckaroo, beatnik, hippie, redneck from the real redneck.

First, a pseudo rednecks drink Coors or Lone Star beer, the latter from the foot-tall bottles called "longnecks."

They listen to Steve Fromholtz, Michael Murphy, and Jerry Jeff Walker. They drive old pickups — fully restored — wear turquoise jewelry, and would like to have boots by Charlie Dunn and a hat from Texas Hatters.

The real one was born that way and will die that way.

The genuine redneck drives a new pickup truck but aspires to a Cadillac. If he has a second car more than likely it will be a '62 Impala with the doors wire up.

The real redneck listens to Willie Nelson or anything else that comes over the country music station, drinks any brand of beer ("It all comes out of the same horse") Jack Daniels whiskey straight or mixed with cola, and watches all televised football games.

He also honks tonks when he goes out and the chances are much greater that he'll get flat drunk if he's a real redneck.

HE REGARDS the CB radio as a status symbol second only to a Cadillac and his ultimate here is John Wayne. (Larry Mahan comes in second).

The redneck male is interested in money and masculinity and the redneck female is interested in money and femininity.

If you think you're a redneck and you don't do all these things, don't blame me — you must not be doing your job.

Auld lang syne

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — A group of correspondents who had covered the previous wars at political conventions gathered for a reunion at the Golden Ox Restaurant in Kansas City this week and started to reminisce, as veterans will, of previous Republican conventions.

"This doesn't compare to the Republican Convention of '72 in Miami," remarked one of the fellows.

"NOW THAT was a convention!" someone else agreed. "I'll never forget when ole Dick Nixon held up his arms with both fingers raised and the crowd went mad."

"He, has anyone seen Dick Nixon at this convention?" Nobody had.

"I wonder where he is."

"Someone said he's living out in California."

"That's funny," another correspondent said. "He's never missed a GOP convention since I've known him. I wonder why he didn't come?"

"It beats me. But I'll tell you this, it doesn't seem like a Republican convention without him."

"Speaking of Dick, has anyone seen Spiro?"

"He wasn't on the arrival list. I was sure he would be here. Hey, remember that great moment in Miami when Dick got up and congratulated the delegates for choosing Spiro as his Vice President and said, 'I thought he was the best man for the job four years ago. I think he's the best man for the job today. And I'm not going to change my mind tomorrow.'"

"Do I remember it?" a reporter said. "I broke down and cried while I was writing the story."

"So did I," I said.

"I WISH SPIRO could be with us tonight. I loved that crazy guy."

"Let's drink to him wherever he is."

We all raised our glasses. "To Spiro, the media's best friend."

"Has anyone seen Chuck Colson around?"

"I don't think he came. Someone told me he's become a missionary or a Bible salesman or something. For some reason he lost his taste for politics."

"That's a pity. The Republicans needed guys like Chuck Colson."

"Hey, whatever happened to Johnny Mitchell?"

"I don't think he's here either. I thought he'd come since he had such a good time in Miami."

"Anyone heard from Johnny Ehrlichman?"

"Come to think of it, I haven't. Last I knew he grew a beard and was working in Santa Fe with the Indians."

"That's a funny thing for him to be doing."

"I guess he got bored with the White House."

"I heard Bobby Haldeman is out in California fishing."

"No kidding. I thought he was still in Washington."

"NAH, HE GOT disgusted and just packed up one day and said 'This town is too much for me.'"

"I wish he was here," I said. "He was a lot of laughs."

"Say, remember John Dean, counsel to the President?"

"The name rings a bell."

"Well, he did time in the slammer and now he is here working as a correspondent for Rolling Stone magazine."

"Leave it to John. He always lands on his feet."

"Anyone seen Gordon Liddy or Howard Hunt?"

"No, I guess they decided at the last minute not to come. And Jeb Magruder and Donald Segretti aren't here either."

"It seems all the good guys stayed home," a reporter said sadly. "They were the fellows who made the Miami convention in '72 something to remember. I really miss them."

"THEY WERE our buddies," I said, "and I don't think we should forget them. I say we drink a toast to those guys we shared so many happy hours with."

We all stood solemnly. "To Dick, Spiro, Chuck, Johnny Mitchell, Johnny Ehrlichman, Bobby Haldeman, Jeb and Donald, Gordon and Howard who couldn't be with us. As far as we're concerned, you're gone but not forgotten."

We drank up and then, in a final gesture of camaraderie, smashed our glasses into the fireplace.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: The Devil is trying to make me think that I am the "beast" spoken of in the Bible. I know I'm not. I am a Christian who has backslidden, but nothing more. Could you give me some reassurance however? — N.S.

DEAR N. S.: In Revelation, particularly chapter 13, there is the symbolic picture of two beasts. Both are represented as the arch-opponents of the Christian.

Let me give you two reasons why you are not the beast of Revelation 13 and 17. First, if you have any anxiety about being that evil person, you are definitely not the one. The beast is the totality of evil in such a way that no possibility exists to questioning that identity. Secondly, you would need to have such power and position that all the earth would worship you (Revelation 13:8). And that is not the case.

Satan does tempt us with fantasies of all kinds. Perhaps a counselor could help you. Beyond that, live in an atmosphere of prayerful dependence on God's support and protection.

Benefits improving

NEW YORK (AP) — Relocation assistance to new employees is definitely improving, says Tigor Relocation Management Co., an employee relocation services firm. However, most U.S. companies still offer transferring employees more generous relocation benefits than those offered new hires.

The most marked differences involved real estate assistance. The fewest relate to expenses incurred during shipment of household goods and house-hunting trips.

One thousand would testify

Southwest 'worst thing' for Austin?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An Austin insurance executive opposing Southwest Airlines' application to fly into five more cities says the Texas Aeronautics would open the hearing to public witnesses "one thousand people would be down here to testify."

John Frucella, the owner of Hill Country Life Insurance Co., said Monday he asked to testify after deciding that the Southwest application to serve Austin was the "worst thing that could happen to Austin."

Chapman of Fort Worth testified he charters planes "rather than fight the horrible traffic to Love Field."

Southwest is based at Love Field, and Frucella reasoned that Southwest's cheaper fares would siphon passengers from Texas International and Braniff airlines and they would reduce their flights that connect at the Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport with flights going out-of-state.

Muse said Johndroe had responded to his offer at the April 1974 council meeting by saying, "We don't want leeches and parasites in Fort Worth."

Cousteau gets series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new series of underwater adventures for television has been announced by Jacques Cousteau, KCET public channel and Atlantic Richfield Co.

The Cousteau Society is preparing the 12-part series with the oceanographer and his son Philippe as directors. Atlantic Richfield is financing the films, which will appear on the Public Broadcasting Service over a three-year period.

The first four programs, "Search for Atlantis," are described as "a fascinating blend of myth and reality, delving into areas never before covered in TV documentaries." Cousteau reported at an Athens press conference July 14 that his expedition had recovered gold, bronze and clay antiquities in the Aegean seabed.

Liz Ray 'covers' convention

Reporting harder than working bedrooms

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Washington sex star Elizabeth Ray made her debut as a political reporter Monday night and found working the Republican convention more difficult than working the bedrooms of Congress.

"This is more work than I thought," said the panting, perspiring siren as she was pursued by a pack of reporters and photographers at Kemper Arena.

"At least in Washington I could close my office door," added the former secretary, who traded for a tape recorder the typewriter she said she never used anyway.

In fact, the glossy blonde in a backless white dress was more of a celebrity than most of the politicians attending the convention. Miss Ray is here as a correspondent for Genesis magazine, a men's sex publication. Her identification card pictured a tiny red devil adorned with a fig leaf.

Badgered and buffeted, she signed dozens of autographs and answered dozens of questions, but didn't have time to ask her own. She was in the hall less than 10 minutes when the session ended and she waved somewhat feebly to the emptying auditorium.

Miss Ray misplaced her tape recorder, bumped her head, and at one point wheeled around, back to a wall, to face reporters like a small frightened animal. The pack closed in and Elizabeth Ray, long the lady hunter, became the lady hunted.

Ford was attending because she was not invited.

"I am here looking to be able to interview politicians and delegates, but it's difficult when I get so much attention," said Miss Ray at the convention.

Asked her political preferences, she disclosed she had never voted and was not registered to vote because "no one ever asked me to."

Howard College establishes Don Box scholarship fund

Howard College announces the establishment of the Don Box Memorial Scholarship Fund to honor the late Don Box who taught at Howard College until his death.

The memorial fund was started with initial gifts from his colleagues and former colleagues from Howard College. Other gifts to this fund will be accepted through the Business Office at Howard College. The Box family will be notified of the gifts.

Dr. Charles Hays, President of Howard College, said of the fund, "This scholarship fund, as a permanent memorial to Don Box, will be administered by the College Financial Aids Office to help needy and worthy students in their quest for higher education. Don Box was a valuable member of our faculty and it is appropriate that we honor him in this way."

First oil, gas leasing okayed for Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP) — The Interior Department won a last-minute appeals court decision clearing the way for the first sale of oil and natural gas leases in the Atlantic Ocean today.

Oil company executives will gather in a hotel ballroom here to present sealed bids for the right to buy leases on 876,750 acres lying 60 miles south of New York's Long Island and within 45 to 90 miles of the coasts of Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and Virginia.

The Atlantic acreage, known as the Baltimore Canyon Trough, is believed to hold as much as 1.4 billion barrels of oil and up to 9.4 trillion cubic feet of gas, worth together as much as $31 billion.

The sale — expected to bring as much as $600 million — was made possible late Monday when the three-man 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned U.S. District Court Judge Jack Weinstein's injunction delaying the proceedings. He had ruled Friday in a suit by the State of New York, two of its counties and environmental groups that environmental interests should be considered more fully.

Reagan County extender noted

The Reagan County oil field gained an extender and a confirmer is scheduled to another.

The Reagan County portion of the Spraberry trend was extended a 1/2 mile south and west in an east extension area with completion of Wayman W. Buchanan, San Antonio, No. 1-D Rocker B, 29 miles northeast of Big Lake for 95 barrels of 38.5 gravity oil, plus 11 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 1,180-1.

Production was through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 5,801-6,851 feet, which had been acidized with 3,000 gallons and fractured with 90,000 gallons and 180,000 pounds of sand.

Location is 1,090 feet from the south and 1,220 feet from the west lines of 15-1-T&P.

John L. Cox, Midland, will drill the No. 1-C University as a 1/2 mile east outpost to the two-well Dean sand oil area of the Big Lake multipay field of Reagan County, three miles southeast of Texas.

Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the east lines of 1-8-University. Contract depth is 7,300 feet; ground elevation 3,789 feet.

'Hello, Mr. Chips'

By WILFRID M. CALNAN, Director
Howard County Family Service Center

1938, London, England. Mr. Chips, the English school master lay on his deathbed, a few moments left, his eyes closed. A friend, in attendance whispered, "Too bad he never had any children." Mr. Chips opened his eyes, and his voice still firm, countered, "But I did have children. Thousands of them! All boys!"

1968, Spring, Lubbock. Mrs. M., a high school home and family living teacher, points out that the majority of her class are boys. She tells that when the semester began several of the boys enrolled in this course because they thought it was a "snap." They were flip-pant at first. But now they are respecting themselves and the girls in the class after discussing the essence of life in their family class.

1971, Spring, Fort Worth. A nun teacher invites me to talk with her high school class about boy-girl relationships, sex and the family. The students who meet me give me a tour of the school. Enthusiastically, they describe the modular system that is in operation. The class discussion is videotaped so that it can be played back later and discussed.

1976, May, Big Spring. Mrs. H., a high school teacher, welcomes her students on Monday morning. She thanks the students for the wonderful time they provided at the Spring training game on Saturday night.

1976, September, Primary Class, Big Spring. The children have gotten over their first nervousness and are beginning to be noisy and too playful. One little boy is particularly obstreperous. Mrs. W., the young but self-assured teacher, brings the screeching to a halt. "Children," she exclaims, "I am furious because of the way you are behaving. This class is for learning not for acting wildly!"

All these examples suggest the best qualities of teachers who understand the meaning of education. The word is derived from the Latin, "Educo, educare — I lead out, to lead out." The teacher leads out the spirit of the student. He or she does it by getting close to students without being like them. Mr.

Chips had a special investment in all his boys. Mrs. M. could be firm and direct, yet warm and kind. Her male students changed their ways as a result. The nun teacher respected life and her respect brushed off on her students. The school set an atmosphere which enabled students to feel that they had an active responsibility for running the school. The Big Spring High School teacher showed her special appreciation of the activities of young people a generation removed from her. Mrs. W., the primary teacher, was so comfortable with herself that she could let her young students see her angry. Yet, she did not label them nor did she scapegoat the little boy who was acting obstreperously.

This week throughout our community teachers will be in workshops preparing them for the 1976-77 school year. We need to support them and in every way respect them as they set out on their mission — creatively to lead out the spirits of our children and youth.

Teachers, thank you all, for being you and for what you do.

"How can I control my air conditioning costs this summer?"

UNDERSTANDING YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

Here's a checklist of things you can do to keep your cooling costs down when the temperature is up.

- Have your air conditioning unit checked to be sure it's operating at top efficiency.
- Try a thermostat setting in the upper seventies.
- Keep filters clean. Check them every month.
- Keep air vents clear so air can flow freely.
- Close fireplace dampers.
- Keep direct sunlight out with awnings, draperies, blinds or shades.
- Keep doors and windows closed. Try to limit traffic in and out.
- Vent clothes dryers to the outside.
- Use kitchen and bathroom exhaust fan only to remove excess heat and moisture.
- Schedule cooking, washing and ironing for the cooler times of day to avoid adding excess heat to your home.
- Raise your thermostat at least five degrees if you're going to be away for several hours.
- Turn off air conditioning unit when on vacation unless there are items that might be damaged from heat.
- Attics should be well ventilated to prevent excess heat buildup.
- Make sure your insulation is at least up to the latest FHA standards.
- Weatherstrip or caulk around all doors and windows.
- Keep shrubbery trimmed back from outside units to allow good air flow.
- Consider cooking outdoors more this summer.
- Consider storm doors and windows. Think of them as insulation.
- Remember that a window unit is designed to cool only one room. Turn it off if that room is not being used.
- If buying new air conditioning, get the unit with the highest energy efficiency ratio (EER) — at least seven or better.
- For a free copy of our newest booklet on how to save electricity, give us a call. Or request one on the comment portion of your bill.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are logical in your thinking today so take advantage of it. Finalize some plan for the future. Be expansive.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are now able to help others gain their ambitions and they in turn assist you with your own. Take that little trip so you can gain information you need, and then use it wisely. Be alert while driving.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You now understand how to add to your present income appreciably so that you need not worry so much in the future. Cut down on some expense, also. Avoid a spendthrift who could turn you into one.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are charming today and can make headway with others, especially higher-ups. Cultivate only those friends you like and admire.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Put more thought to what you want in the future. Contact those who have the data you need and will give it to you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use a positive approach in whatever personal aims are yours and get right results. Be charming with new contacts and gain their favor.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take care of annoying tasks early in the day. Later, a visit with a bigwig proves helpful. Make the evening a sociable, effective one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Good ideas come to you, but you are apt to toss them aside instead of doing something constructive about them. A new ally could prove quite helpful to you. Socialize in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keep promises you make conscientiously and gain the goodwill of others. Make a loved one happier and be happier yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Talking over policy affairs brings good results today and in the future. Be alert to new conditions and know how to profit from them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Tackle chores early and efficiently and you have more time later to renew your energies for the rest of the week.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make plans early for amusements that appeal to you so that all goes smoothly later. Show more affection for your closest tie.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make improvements at home that you have been contemplating for a long time. Entertain a bigwig who is able to help you in the future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will understand what is going on around him or her, so be sure to plan the finest education you can for this gifted child. There is an inventive mind here also that should be encouraged for greater success.

Bus service due to end

The shuttle bus service between AFB will be discontinued Friday.

"The bus was a success in one area," said Michael J. Prowse, operations officer, "but it failed drastically in other areas." It carried an average of 125 patrons per day, only 10 were military.

The small per capita military usage is cited as the primary reason for the decision. However, Prowse said, the bus seemed a success because it provided a service during the summer to cut costs and provide a safe environment for children.

Normal taxi service will begin again Aug. 20.

BOBBY CATHEY

Cathey renamed to position

Bobby Cathey, who farms and ranches in Salem Community, was re-elected to the Howard Soil and Water Conservation District board Saturday, J. M. Sterling, board chairman said. Having served for five years, Cathey was re-elected to another five-year term representing Zone III. This zone is bounded by Texas 350 and IS-20. Cathey serves as vice chairman on the district board. He also is a Farm Bureau board member here. The Catheys have two boys.

Bus service due to end

The shuttle bus at Webb AFB will discontinue service Friday. "The bus was a success in one area," said 2nd Lt. Michael J. Prowse, vehicle operations officer, "but failed drastically in another area." It carried an average of 125 patrons per day, but only 10 were military, he noted. The small percentage of military usage is cited as the primary reason for cancellation. However, since it seemed a success for dependents, the bus will run during the remainder of the summer to cut congestion and provide a safer environment for children, the vehicle officer said. Normal taxi service will begin again Aug. 20.

Two from here get diplomas

Wanda Jean Heckler and Shirley Ann Thomas Tate, both of Big Spring, were among the more than 1,000 students graduating the past weekend at summer commencement exercises at East Texas State University in Commerce. Ms. Heckler was awarded a B.S. degree, Ms. Tate an M.S. degree.

Age limit

The age limit for kindergarten students in the Coahoma Primary School may range from five years and seven months to five years and 11 months, as of Sept. 1, 1976.

Hugh Carey as chairman of the New York State Council on the Arts. Mrs. Hart has served as vicechairman of the council since her appointment five years ago by then-governor Nelson Rockefeller. In addition to Mrs. Hart, who was appointed Tuesday, Carey has named to the 20-member council composer-pianist Peter Duchin, consumer advocate Bess Myerson and author Kurt Vonnegut Jr.

The spokesman at Daniel Freeman Hospital said Steiger, 51, was on his feet Tuesday after being moved from the intensive care unit to a private room Monday. WALK THE LINE — A group in favor of the Equal Rights Amendment carry signs showing their support outside Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium Sunday.

Dear Abby

Old flame's mail could burn twice

DEAR ABBY: I was meeting my boyfriend at his apartment, and I got there a little early. (I have a key.) I started to straighten up the place a little, when I came across a box shoved way back in his closet. I got curious and discovered a lot of letters and pictures from his old girlfriend.

I know I shouldn't have done it, but I started to read some of the letters. I became so jealous and angry to think that he had kept all this stuff that I took the whole box out to the trash and burned it up.

I realize it was wrong, but what's done is done. Now I have such a guilty conscience and can't sleep. I keep thinking, "What if he discovers that box is missing and figures out what happened?"

I'm afraid to tell him because we've already set our wedding date, and he might be so furious with me he'll call off the wedding. Please help me, Abby. I really love him and don't want to lose him.

SORRY NOW

DEAR SORRY: Confess and get it over with. Prepare for some fireworks, but if he calls off the wedding, it's better than breaking up a marriage. It won't be easy, but tell him now and take your lumps.

DEAR ABBY: I am 9 years old and read your column every day. I have a dog named Missy. Our postman hates dogs.

One day our postman came by and Missy started to bark and run after the postman's heels, so he hit her with his mail bag. Missy gave out with a yelp, and for a while it looked like she was hurt bad, but she got back on her legs and made it back to the house.

I hear that some postmen bring treats to dogs so they will be friends, but not our postman. He is mean. What shall we do about him?

WORRIED ABOUT MISSY

DEAR WORRIED: I don't know the law in your community, but in some places it's against the law to allow dogs to run loose. Postmen are not obligated to deliver mail to homes where dogs are at liberty to attack them. I suggest you keep Missy tied up.

DEAR ABBY: May I comment on the letter from the two 21-year-old girls interested in meeting mature, responsible policemen in Chicago?

Think about it, girls. Are you aware that the divorce rate is higher among policemen than among any other profession? The pay is low and their families must learn to get along without Daddy on many holidays.

I know what I'm talking about because I've been married to a police officer for five years.

If it were up to me, would I choose a different career for him and a different lifestyle for me?

PASSAIC POLICE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It's a good thing all women don't share your sentiments.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S.O.S.: Confess to your clergyman or repent with prayers and ask for forgiveness, but the word from here is, tell him nothing.

Get along with in-laws before the wedding

Good in-law relations begin long before marriage — on both sides, Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist, points out.

"Studies show that couples who have frequent positive interactions with their prospective in-laws have a greater tendency to develop satisfactory relationships during marriage," she added.

"Couples generally find that if their parents approve of their future spouse, good in-law relationships will result.

"Also, research indicates that when parents do not approve of their child's future spouse, relationships with the son or daughter-in-law are more likely to be strained and tense," she said.

Parents may disapprove of their child's future spouse because of his family background — different religion, educational attainment, occupational potential, social class differences and personality traits, she said.

While research is contradictory in this area, it indicates that when couples are not from similar backgrounds, conflicts with in-laws are more difficult to resolve, she reported.

"Because in-laws constitute a major area of marital adjustment, establishing harmonious relations before marriage is important — particularly for couples and in-laws who will live near each other. And parents-in-law can help start things off right by being fair, honest and cooperative with their son-or daughter-in-law.

"In-laws need not be a source of conflict for the couple or the parents. The support and guidance that each generation gains from the other can strengthen the marriage as it progresses through the years.

"More is to be gained by the old rule of 'give and take' than resentment, bitterness and jealousy," Miss Johnson reminded.

Bombers finish sixth in state

BROWNWOOD — The Big Spring Bombers won their first three games, but dropped their next two to finish sixth in the 31-team field competing here in last weekend's State Class A Fast Pitch Softball Tournament.

After Jim Allen and Sam Kirby registered the Bombers first two wins manager Cotton Mize extended the streak to three with a 9-5 victory over Western Trailer of San Angelo.

Jimmy Roger and Joe Sharpnack continued their torrid hitting pace in this game, each belting two hits in three at-bats.

Eventual champion Wichita Falls sent Big Spring into the losers' bracket Sunday morning 6-3. Allen pitched well, it was 9-0 after four innings, but Wichita Falls touched him up for a couple of hits after a few miscues in the infield and that cost him the ball game.

A bases-loaded, no-out rally in the bottom of the ninth fizzled for the Bombers in their next game and they lost 9-6 to Bryan Trucking Co.

Mize said the loss to Wichita Falls seemed to take the fire out of some of the Bombers and they fell apart against Bryan. "We were riding high before our first loss, but after the Wichita Falls game some of the players lost their spunk. We played poorly and let a mediocre team (Bryan) beat us."

"Sam Kirby deserved better. He pitched a good game. Kirby had never pitched in a state tournament before, but he impressed a lot of people with his stuff."

Big Spring students last chance physical

The final makeup physicals for boys and girls, who will take part in any athletics in Big Spring Public Schools, will be held Thursday, according to athletic director Don Robbins.

This will be the last chance for students in grades 7-12 who expect to play football, baseball, basketball, golf, tennis, volleyball or any sport during the coming school year. Each must have a physical.

Each student should bring a dollar to cover lab fees. The physicals will be administered at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the high school gym.

WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE — New York Yankees' Mickey Rivers slides across the plate Monday night after rapping out an inside-the-park home run in third inning of game against the Texas Rangers. The speedy Rivers, nick-named "Mick the Quick" by his teammates, hit the first inside-the-park homer for the Yanks this season. Yanks went on to win the game on their own home grounds, 5-1.

Stanley stuns Perry, Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees have reaped a ton of publicity for the off-season deals that put Mickey Rivers, Ed Figueroa, Willie Randolph, Dock Ellis and Oscar Gamble in pinstripes, but one of their best swaps ever went pretty much unnoticed back on Oct. 24, 1972.

That was the day they acquired shortstop Fred Stanley from the San Diego Padres for minor league catcher George Pena, who never made it to the majors. But Stanley has finally arrived.

A platoon player for much of last season and the first four months of 1976, the 29-year-old Stanley's main claim to fame was as the answer to a trivia question, namely, who hit the last grand slam home run in Yankee Stadium before its renovation?

The answer is Stanley. The date was Sept. 8, 1973. And for real trivia fans, the victim was Milwaukee's Kevin Kobel and the ball hit the left field foul pole. That also was Stanley's third major league homer.

His fourth came Monday night as the Yankees trounced Gaylord Perry and the Texas Rangers 5-1 behind Catfish Hunter to maintain their 9½-game bulge over Baltimore in the American League East. Since he was installed as the regular shortstop a week ago, Stanley, a lifetime .219 hitter, has boosted his average from the regions of .200 to a solid .275.

"I have always been very high on Stanley," said Manager Billy Martin. "He's a very good shortstop. He and (Jim) Mason have only 13 errors between them (only three by Stanley). (Baltimore's) Mark Belanger has 14 and (Philadelphia's) Larry Bowa has nine, that's tops in the majors. He's changed his batting stroke. He used to hit long flies; now he hits line drives."

Stanley's latest homer came in the fifth inning when he lofted a drive down the left field line that didn't miss the foul pole by much.

"I tried not to laugh running around the bases," Stanley said. "I didn't want to make it seem that easy against Perry."

Rivers added an inside-the-park homer, Graig Nettles drove in two runs with a double and a single and Chris Chambliss slammed an RBI double as the Yankees backed Hunter's seven-hit pitching with a 13-hit attack.

Stockton scrambles to PGA title

VICTORY WHOOP — Dave Stockton throws his arms into the air signaling victory as he sunk a 15-foot par on the 72nd hole to win the 1976 PGA golf championship at Bethesda's Congressional Country Club Monday. Stockton fired a 281 for four rounds to win by one stroke over Don January and Ray Floyd.

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Dave Stockton predicted three days before the end of the PGA national championship that he would win. Few believed him.

"I'm a positive thinker," said Stockton, a student of psycho-cybernetics, the science of mind over matter. "I play well in the PGA more often than not."

But even Stockton, scrambler extraordinaire, admitted he was shocked to learn that he led by only one stroke in Monday's final round Monday of the rain-delayed PGA tournament as he stroled down the 18th fairway. His worst fear — a sudden death playoff.

"I really chopped it up on the 13th and 14th holes and I didn't want to go back out there for a playoff," he said, adding with a smile: "I wouldn't have been the favorite."

The 34-year-old Stockton, using a three-wood because he had been wild with his driver, put his ball slightly to the right near the rough on No. 18, a 465-yard par four. He was short of the green by about five feet with a two iron, the ball on a slight downslope. He chipped to about 15 feet of the pin.

Then, with the $45,000 first prize on the line, Stockton did what he does most often — he sank the 15-foot putt to give him the title by a single stroke at 281, one over par on the Congressional Country Club course, playground of presidents in the Washington, D.C., suburb.

Stockton's one-putt on the 72nd hole was a repeat of his performance during the last 36 holes of the tour-namment that was twice-delayed because of rain, causing the championship round to be held on Monday.

In the last two rounds, Stockton needed only 51 putts — 25 on Saturday and 26 on Monday — which he said was about normal for him.

He needed the hot putt, however, because his driver went awry.

Stockton, who had rounds of 70, 72, 69 and 70, gained an advantage when three earlier leaders — Charles Coody, Jack Nicklaus and Don January — suffered double bogeys on the final round.

Masters champion Ray Floyd and the veteran January tied for second — they were watching by the 18th green hoping to gain a playoff spot — at 282. January had a 72 on the final round, Floyd a 71.

Sands, Hawk star Aqua Dulce coach

Bobby Beall, a cage star for Sands High School, Howard College and Oklahoma Christian, has accepted the head basketball coaching position at Aqua Dulce High School.

Aqua Dulce athletic director Leroy Starnes said Beall would be a valuable asset to their coaching staff. "He's young," Starnes said, "but throughout his basketball career Bob has shown the leadership qualities and determination that we were looking for."

Beall, 22, made all-state his senior year at Sands, averaging 33.6 points-per-game. Sands went to state his junior and senior year.

After playing for the North in the THSCA All-Star game in 1972 he attended Howard College on a basketball scholarship. Beall was one of the leaders on the great Hawk team of '74 that won 35 and lost six.

Connors agrees, he's the best

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "I think Jimmy Connors is the player who can produce the best (tennis) game in the world. He can lose, but if he's playing at his best, he is the best player in the world."

"I'll agree to that," — Jimmy Connors. Fibak, the No. 1 player in Poland, was openly in awe of Connors' performance Monday night in the championship match of the U.S. Clay Court tennis tournament.

Connors, playing nearly flawless tennis and displaying uncommon seriousness that showed his intent to win, never trailed, coasting to an easy 6-2, 6-4 victory and a first prize of $25,000.

"I tried my best, but he was too good, too good," Fibak said, shaking his head after the nationally televised tennis lesson that cost him $12,500 — the difference between first and second prize.

Comanche Trail
Municipal Golf Course

Par three, 154-yard, hole 10, slopes up about 35 yards above the tee to an elevated, double-plateaued green. This is a fairly open hole with baby trees to the right and behind the green, but the rough to the left is a jungle.

Once again the prevailing winds are crosswinds. Because of these crosswinds, the double-plateaued green and the fact you're hitting uphill can make this short par three a deceptively difficult hole.

Club selection is very important on this hole. Most of the better golfers use a 4-iron on windy days and 7-iron on calm ones.

When the pin is set in the upper plateau a shot onto the lower green leaves a monstrosity of a putt. Ten is the only hole on the course with a double-plateaued green. Select the correct club and play your shot to the right. Anything in that rocky, jungle-like rough to the left is Trouble City.

If all else fails ask police officer J. D. Campbell how to play the hole. He registered the hole-in-one here.

Devils want top spot

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — "76. A Year to Make History."

That's the prognostication carried on the cover of the 1976 Arizona State University Football Press Guide.

And it's more than wishful thinking as the Sun Devils, ranked No. 2 at the end of 1975, have the credentials and personnel to help them achieve the No. 1 spot and the mythical national championship this year.

Fifteen starters return from the 1975 team, which went 12-0 and capped the season with a 17-14 Fiesta Bowl victory over highly-ranked Nebraska. Of the returning starters, nine are on offense and fill what Arizona State Coach Frank Kush calls the skill positions.

"Potentially, we do have a fine football team," said Kush, who usually is very cautious in his praise for his teams. "I think that our youngsters are enthused about it — the possibility of having an opportunity of being contenders for the national title."

Kush is beginning his 19th season as head coach at Arizona State, and his 151-99-1 record ranks him as the second leading active major college coach in winning percentage.

Ridin' fence
Do you know Ruby Allred? If you live around Ackerly, or if you have been active in the Sheriff's posse, or if you have done any number of other activities, you know Ruby.

She loves riding groups and participating in parades. She was instrumental in getting up the Pony Express ride last Fourth of July from Lamesa to Big Spring.

But I was really writing about her for another reason.

She has friends in New Mexico that live out from town and alone that they go over to check on every few months to be sure they are all right.

Ruby is concerned about young people. She will really get enthused about a young boy or girl that is trying hard and doing great. Some people would be begrudging from their youth, but not Ruby.

She'll be in there beating the drum telling everybody how fine they are and that young people today have NOT gone to the dogs.

Ruby has no idea I was going to write this column. She's one of those people that has constantly pursued the idea of my writing a column about everybody else.

I always like to call Ruby to check on the rain in the area, because she will already know how much rain was on half the farms in the country.

She is really concerned about neighbors, friends and acquaintances. Everybody is special to Ruby Allred. At least that's what I've determined - while out ridin' fence halfway between here and there.
