Mrs. Gray's car collided with a car (background top) driven by Nancy Bedwell with her son, Mark, a passenger. The Bedwells were treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital. Mrs. Gray was taken to Webb Hospital where she was treated and released with multiple lacerations.

Will Ford veto jobs measure?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Democratic leader said today Congress will stay in session beyond its scheduled adjournment if necessary to keep President Ford from letting a public-works jobs bill die by refusing to act on it.

Ford has criticized the bill. Jimmy Carter has challenged him to sign it. Ford earlier this year vetoed a similar $6-billion jobs bill, and Congress overrode the veto.

Democratic congressional leaders, who want time to attempt a veto override if necessary before they adjourn Friday, won a promise from Ford to disclose his decision on the new bill today.

This bill would die for lack of Ford's action 10 days after he received it if Congress adjourns. As long as Congress stays in session, such a pocket veto cannot occur and the bill would become law without presidential action.

Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said the House will hold token sessions next week without conducting business if such a move is necessary to keep the bill from dying by pocket veto.

The new bill would appropriate $3.7 billion for public works construction projects and for local governments in areas of high unemployment to hire public workers.

Proponents say the measure would put some 300,000 unemployed persons to work, but Ford has said the figure would be lower than that.

During the campaign, Ford also has said that the creation of public jobs is the wrong way to fight unemployment, contending that it provides what he calls dead-end jobs and leads to "larger deficits, higher taxes, higher inflation and ultimately higher unemployment." He advocates improving the overall economy so that private business hires more workers.

Nevertheless, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, predicted that Ford would agree to sign the bill.

Tuesday night, in a statement issued by his Atlanta headquarters, Carter, the Democratic presidential nominee, said, "I call upon him (Ford) to put aside traditional Republican policies and to approve this emergency funding, which would provide approximately 300,000 jobs for teachers, firemen, policemen and others in areas of high unemployment such as Detroit, Miami and Buffalo."

Ford has more than 60 bills to consider this week, and some of them may provide him a chance to discuss issues that have come up in the campaign.

The White House announced that he would sign a bill in the Rose Garden today to keep a promise he made to the nation's police chiefs at a Miami convention over the weekend. The measure provides $50,000 in death benefits for state and local police safety officers who die in the line of duty.

Nixon will deny personal Wrongdoing in his memoirs

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon will maintain in his memoirs that the Watergate scandal was a partisan weapon his enemies used to drive him from office and he will continue to deny personal wrongdoing, the New York Times said in today's edition.

The book will picture him as the victim of injustice and say that he resigned to spare the nation the division an impeachment trial might have caused, the Times said in a story from London.

Reporter Herbert Mitgang said some of the contents of the yet to be completed book were pieced together from publishing sources in the United States and Europe who have seen 164 pages of completed manuscript dealing with Watergate.

Nixon says in the book that he regrets not questioning his aides more closely because he knew little about the Watergate break-in and events that followed, the Times said. The newspaper account also said these points come up in the book:

—When Nixon summoned then Vice President Gerald Ford to advise him to prepare to assume the presidency, Ford said he wanted to talk it over with his wife.

—Nixon pleaded with Ford to keep Henry A. Kissinger on as secretary of state.

—Nixon says he and Kissinger stood and prayed together, rather than dropping to their knees as reported in "The Final Days," by Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein.

—Gen. Alexander Haig Jr., the White House chief of staff in the final months of the administration, believed from the start that Nixon would have to resign but the White House press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, opposed resignation.

Nixon's book is to be published by Warner Books, which has been conducting an international sales campaign.

The company's contract with Nixon bars disclosure of what the former president will receive, but the Times cites sources as putting the figure at $2 million plus up to $300,000 for expenses.

'Momma June' nabbed in Corpus drug raid

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Five persons, including the warden of a federally-funded halfway house in Corpus Christi, were to be arraigned today following a drug raid that netted officers 2½ pounds of Mexican brown heroin.

Peter Bensing, administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration, said in a statement from Miami, Fla., that the heroin was valued at $10 million.

Charged on warrants from the DEA's southern district at Corpus Christi alleging conspiracy to distribute heroin were:

- June Bunch Mendoza, 48, known locally as "Momma June." She is warden of the Knotty Pines Community Treatment Center in Corpus Christi.
- Oscar and Santos Mendoza, both 43 of Austin, brothers-in-law of Mrs. Mendoza.
- Arturo Mendoza, 36, of Corpus Christi, Mrs. Mendoza's husband.
- Eldridge Sneed, 34, of Corpus Christi.

"This case has cracked one of the major heroin distribution organizations in the United States," Bensing said.

A spokesman for the DEA said more than 40 federal, state, county and local law enforcement officers participated in the raids here and at Corpus Christi. The heroin was seized in an Austin motel room.

Officers said the heroin was brought to the motel in the trunk of a car.

Mrs. Mendoza bought the treatment center in Corpus Christi three years ago and first operated it as a hotel, authorities said. She had previously operated a treatment center at Fort Worth.

Knotty Pines is operated on a contract basis, with funding coming from federal and state grants.

Authorities said a small caliber pistol and nine rifles and shotguns were also seized.

Officers said the investigation leading to the raids began in Buffalo, N.Y. DEA agents then infiltrated what they called a trafficking organization in Corpus Christi. The agents said they purchased about 2½ pounds of heroin during their undercover work.

BILLY G. KING

Winner of contest plans to buy shotgun

Billy Gene King, whose principal hobby is remodeling houses, Tuesday correctly identified the Great Puzzle contest appearing in the Herald as the north brick wall at Carter's Furniture Store to qualify for the $100 first prize.

Billy's reward would have been half that had he not been a subscriber of the Herald.

There's no doubt about how the former Coahoma resident will invest the money. He plans to buy a new shotgun. His old one was stolen recently from the cab of his vehicle. He likes to hunt for doves north of Coahoma and keeps a bird dog.

Billy got in his car recently with his wife, Susan, and drove around town, firm in the belief that the pieces to the puzzle offered enough evidence that the picture was that of a building wall. He ultimately concluded that the photo was the wall of either Byron's Storage or that of Carter furniture, so he turned in both suggestions, just to be sure.

Billy, who is 26 and who has never won any kind of contest of any consequence before, is employed by Belco Electric Co., and makes his home at 1108 Mount Vernon St., in Big Spring.

Choice of fire chief accepted

City Councilmen accepted a bid for a new fire truck at Tuesday's regular meeting.

The accepted bid was from Mack Fire Truck Co. for $69,896, and was the highest bid offered. The truck, however, was the first choice of Fire Chief A.L. Harrison.

The truck has a stainless steel tank and pump control panel, and is the only truck among those offered that is built completely by one company, according to reports from officials.

The bid was one of six reviewed by councilmen Tuesday. Others included Seagraves Firefighting Equipment, $60,183; Fire Appliance of Texas, $60,492; Clark Fire Apparatus, $60,863; Martin Fire Apparatus, $67,902; and Fire Fox Corp., $68,896.

Congress rushing to adjourn

War, peace mulled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, rushing to adjourn by this weekend and head to the political campaigns, is deciding a wide variety of issues ranging from dams on the Mississippi to matters of war and peace in the Middle East.

The House early this morning voted 307 to 31 for a bill that would require lobbyists to make public who they work for and how much money they spend trying to influence Congress and federal agencies. Present law requires only that lobbyists report their income and expenditures twice a year.

Sponsors of the lobbying bill, which now goes to a Senate-House conference committee, said they were concerned that the measure might have been doomed by a last-minute amendment requiring disclosure of big financial contributors to lobbying groups. They said the amendment might lead some groups to withdraw their support for the overall bill.

The Senate today was to take up a bill that would increase unemployment taxes.

The lawmakers' schedule might gain another work item today if President Ford decides to veto a $3.7-billion money bill for public works construction. Ford promised congressional leaders Tuesday that he would make his decision today to allow time for Congress to attempt a veto override before adjourning Friday or Saturday.

Following are some of the items that Congress acted on Tuesday:

FOREIGN AID
Congress gave final approval of a $5.1-billion foreign aid money bill that is $684 million below President Ford's request.

The bill allots $1.1 billion for economic aid, $982.4 million for the Peace Corps, international development banks and certain refugee programs; $192 million for the Agency for International Development and nearly $3 billion for military and security supporting assistance.

One-third of the total is for Israel, which gets $1 billion in military credit sales with repayment for half to be waived, and $735 million in security supporting assistance grants.

CHEMICAL SAFETY
Chemical manufacturers will have to test new chemical products for their effects on humans and the environment, according to legislation sent to President Ford by Congress.

The bill requires chemical makers to submit information on new chemical substances to the Environmental Protection Agency 90 days before the company plans to market them.

DISASTER AID

The Senate approved a measure appropriating $334 million to repair government facilities and compensate victims of disasters in Idaho and Guam. The problem in Idaho was the flood caused by the collapse June 5 of the Teton Dam. Guam was hit by Typhoon Pamela earlier this year. The measure goes to the House which has not voted on Idaho relief.

POSTAL SUBSIDIES

The Senate approved spending $500 million to pay off a portion of the Postal Service's $3 billion debt. Postal officials say the only alternatives to the payments are higher mail rates or reduced service. The bill goes to the House.

INLAND WATERWAYS

The Senate put off until next year any decision on the controversial Alton Lock and Dam project on the Mississippi River.

The $390 million project would have linked approval of major navigation projects to the imposition of fees on barge owners and other users of the inland waterway system.

CIA PAYMENTS

Final congressional approval was given to a bill to pay $750,000 to the family of an Army scientist who leaped to his death in 1953 after being given LSD without his knowledge as part of an experiment.

The Senate had voted $1,250,000 for the family of Frank Olson of Frederick, Md., but the House cut it to $750,000. The Senate agreed.

CLEAR CUTTING

A compromise was reached on legislation to allow clear-cutting in national forests but under strict rules. The bill, approved by a House-Senate conference committee, repeals an 1897 law that federal judges have interpreted as banning clear-cutting in national forests, the timber industry's practice of leveling an entire stand of timber instead of selectively cutting trees. The compromise now goes to both the House and Senate.

Drug ads ban ruled illegal

AUSTIN (AP) — A Texas law prohibiting the advertising of prescription drug prices is unconstitutional, the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today.

Gibson's Discount Center, Inc., and other corporations sued the Texas State Board of Pharmacy to strike down the law, which was passed by the 1973 legislature.

The appeals court agreed with a decision by District Court Judge Charles Mathews of Austin that the law deprives Gibson's of property without "due course of the law of the land."

It said the state had not challenged Mathews' findings of fact and had failed to prove the prohibition was a justifiable use of the state's police power to protect the public's safety, health, security and general welfare.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Not infallable

Q. Over the weekend a young lady came to the door and said she was conducting a labor survey for the city. Is this legitimate? The last time someone came to the door claiming to be conducting a survey, it turned out to be a salesman.

A. "This is a legitimate survey," said Tom Roy, Chamber of Commerce industrial man. "Half of the survey was conducted last weekend, and the other half will be completed this weekend. The people involved in the survey will carry letters of introduction from the mayor (Wade Choate) and the Chamber of Commerce. If there is any question, ask for the letters," he added.

What will the survey accomplish?

"A professional research company from the Midland-Odessa area is conducting the survey. We will use this information, along with the already good information provided by the Texas Employment Commission, to better aid industrial development. This survey will provide more detailed information for backup material for future projects," said Roy.

Offbeat: Good breeding stock

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers received a starter kit of breeding sand Monday with a suggestion it could be the solution to beach erosion problems. Col. Jon Vanden Bosch of the Corps said, however, that an "exhaustive study showed the breeding sand is not quite what we are looking for." The district engineer received the samples at 10:30 a.m. and issued the test results at 10:31 a.m. The separate vials of "male and female" sand were accompanied by a 44-page sand breeder's guide. The guide states that with the kit a person could produce his own beach, kitty litter box or filler for hotel ashtrays. The samples were believed to have come from the same persons who earlier gave the world the pet rock.

'Broke' Hicks spent $10,000? Drug ring connection denied

DALLAS (AP) — Prosecutors have attempted to show that Joe Dee Hicks, charged with conspiracy in an international drug operation, spent at least $10,000 during the period Hicks claims he was broke.

Hicks is a former Big Spring news dealer.

Hicks testified in a Dallas federal court here Tuesday that he knew nothing about a multimillion dollar international narcotics operation he is charged with operating.

Hicks and Charles Lidge Bolts are being tried before U.S. District Court Judge Eldon B. Mahon on charges of conspiracy to import and distribute cocaine and heroin.

More than 12 pounds of narcotics, valued at $2.1 million, has been placed in evidence in the trial that is now in its second week.

Hicks said if all the accusations about him leading the drug ring were true then he would be "a very wealthy man."

But the Plano man testified he had mortgages or liens against all his assets, including his Plano home, a 900-acre ranch, automobile and pickup truck.

Hicks said progressive country singer Willie Nelson had to lend him money to make the down payment on Hicks' ranch and that he owed Nelson about $60,000.

Hicks testified that his overseas trips were for legitimate business purposes, to buy war surplus and items like ceramics to sell at an import store.

"I'm broke. I think I can prove I'm broke. I lost everything," Hicks said.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jay Ethington pointed out that Hicks chartered a plane to Las Vegas and spent more than $10,000 in air fare for overseas flights during the time he said he was broke.

Hicks said under cross examination that he never bought any surplus outside of the United States during his 11 overseas trips.

Ethington also asked Hicks about paying for a codefendant in the case, Jerry Coffman's air fare to Bogota, Colombia.

Hicks testified earlier that he paid Coffman's way because he wanted someone to go with him.

Ethington disputed Hicks' testimony that he paid $10,000 on air fare during the time which he claimed to be broke.

Ethington said, "How about $30,000," Hicks answered, "No sir."

Then Ethington asked, "Would you like to give us the number of your Swiss bank account?"

At that time defense attorney John Brunette made a motion for a mistrial which was overruled after a lengthy conference.

Ford's golfing trips, campaign funds eyed

Democrats are beginning to take pointed notice of federal investigations into President Ford's corporate golfing trips and handling of campaign funds while he was in Congress.

While Jimmy Carter, at home for a rest in Plains, Ga., has avoided direct comment, running mate Walter F. Mondale and Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss both touched upon the issue Tuesday in their attacks upon the Republican ticket.

Mondale, in Toledo, Ohio, said Ford has been "ducking and hiding" from questions about the probes. And Strauss chastised Republican vice-presidential nominee Bob Dole for suggesting that the investigations were politically motivated.

The Watergate special prosecutor's office is exploring the records of Ford's home district GOP organization in Kent County, Mich., reportedly to check whether Ford, as a congressman, illegally diverted campaign contributions to personal use by laundering the money through local party groups.

In addition, the Securities and Exchange Commission reportedly is investigating golfing trips made by Ford as a congressman. Those trips were paid for by the U.S. Steel Corp.

The White House said Tuesday that Ford had made trips to corporate golf courses while in Congress, but Ford press secretary Ron Nessen declined to comment when asked if Ford had, as a congressman, converted campaign funds to his personal use.

Ford has not personally mentioned the investigations and has not been available for questions.

Ford remained at the White House on Monday, meeting with foreign dignitaries, setting the scene for his next debate with Carter on the subject of foreign affairs.

At Tuesday's briefing session, Nessen disclosed that Ford had played golf on courses operated by Firestone Tire, Bethlehem Steel and Alcoa Aluminum.

He said he didn't know if the companies paid for Ford's expenses.

U.S. Steel reported last week that it paid for three Ford golf outings in New Jersey and for two visits to a company guest house near Disney World in Florida.

Explaining the golf outings, Nessen said, "The President is an avid golfer. He has played with regularity during his 26 years in Washington and he has accepted invitations at various clubs, which is customary. He played with friends, and at other times he invited his friends to be his guests at his club."

He said Ford quit accepting golfing trips when he became vice president in 1973. Asked why, Nessen replied, "He's in a different position now. He was vice president then and now he's President. Before that, he was a member of Congress."

Mondale at first avoided questions on the probes, saying: "I don't think I should be commenting on that until I'm personally sure what the situation is. Those questions shouldn't be put to me. They should be put to the person in the White House. I am told the President is unavailable for comment. I'm told he won't answer questions."

Then, in Toledo, he said Ford was "ducking and hiding behind his desk" and should answer questions about the investigations.

Dole said Monday that the Watergate prosecutor's investigation was "nothing but election year politics."

Told about the White House revelation about the corporate golfing trips, Dole said he had no information and could not discuss it.

But Strauss said Dole's remarks about Watergate Prosecutor Charles Ruff were off base.

"I would remind the public and Sen. Dole that this is the very response Americans got from Nixon, Agnew — and Dole — in 1972, covering up the Watergate scandal until after the election."

Hicks testified Tuesday that he first learned of the ring after he was jailed with Coleman Ray Bandy, who earlier pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charges.

Hicks said under cross-examination, Jerry Coffman's air conspiracy charges. Bandy was a shop foreman for Hick's dealership.

Bandy and several other codefendants told jurors last week that Hicks hired them as couriers to smuggle

Light turnout for meeting

A very light turnout occurred at the second public hearing for input by citizens into designation of the use of Community Development funds.

The city is to apply for an additional $250,000 to be used for poverty fund projects. Since there was so little interest shown in two widely advertised public hearings, the city council will make the decision as to the type of application.

City Manager Harry Nagel said he intends to recommend a combination of needs for drainage and mosquito eradication of One Mile Lake in the low income area as well as a possible inclusion of additional paving in the area designated as low income.

The city advertised in the paper and on all three radio stations with spot announcements about the hearings.

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Chip Carter, son of the Democratic presidential nominee, is on his version of a whistle-stop campaign by airplane through Texas defending Jimmy Carter's controversial Playboy magazine interview.

Carter's 23-year-old son, who has campaigned for his father for 15 months, said here Tuesday night that his father's remarks in the interview were taken out of context and misunderstood.

The young campaigner said earlier in Wichita Falls, "Dad said three or four real nice things about President Johnson in that interview, and I have never heard my father say one bad thing about Lyndon Johnson."

Emergency Medical Training 'popular'

The initial enrollment for the Emergency Medical Training Class at Howard College flowed over the top of one class to a total of 40 students, causing the college to change to two classes as the program begins here today.

Classes will have 20 pupils each and will include a session on Monday and Wednesday nights and one on Tuesday and Thursday.

Hours of the class will be 6-10 p.m. with Bob Harbin as instructor. Harbin is newly certified in the program and approved by the Texas Education Agency. Prior to this teaching assignment, Harbin was in the military service and engaged in farming and ranching activities.

The classes include approximately 21 members of the city fire department. Chief Alvie Harrison said recently, "We intend to qualify all of our firemen for emergency medical training. We don't know how many years it might be before the ambulance service might possibly be changed over to the department."

"This could be dictated by law in the future, and if this happens, we'll be ready," Harrison stated. Other students include interested citizens of the community and some employees involved in safety at local industry.

Dr. Bobby Wright, dean of occupational education, said, "We are extremely pleased with the turnout for this first class. We have a lot of new equipment and are enthusiastic about the program."

According to reports, thugs entered and exited through the tavern's back door.

A local man was arrested for public intoxication and disorderly conduct Tuesday night, but later slipped through the long arm of the law.

According to reports, Officer James Nettles reported to the West Inn Lounge, 400 block of S. Nolan, after receiving a "fight in progress" call. When he arrived he arrested the man, and was escorting him to the back door of the tavern when the man made an obscene statement, fought (Nettles) with feet, mouth and hands, and ran west "out of the tavern."

Cure draws prison term

ABILENE — Abilene businessman Elmo Cure Sr., convicted Monday of the Feb. 12 murder of his wife, was given an eight-year prison term by a 42nd District Court jury here Tuesday. The jury did not recommend probation.

Cure entered the Big Spring State Hospital of his own volition to undergo treatment following the slaying.

Any sentence of less than ten years could have been probated by the jury.

Frank Scarborough, attorney for the defendant, said he met with members of the Cure family before deciding on a possible appeal.

Judge Don Lane did not immediately set time for formal sentence and allowed Cure to remain free on $5,000 bond, which he set last May following Cure's release from the Big Spring State Hospital.

According to reports, two women came into the shop and requested assistance from Ms. Mauldin. While one of the women kept the clerk busy, the other pilfered her purse from under a back-room counter. The purse contained $42 in cash and a credit card.

Ellis Henderson, 404 Glasgo, reported that a visitor stole $20 from his wallet while he took a bath, 12:30 a.m. today.

Jackie Thomas, 504 E. 16th, reported the theft of a helmet from his parked motorcycle sometime between 8:30 a.m. and noon Tuesday. The helmet was valued at $55.

Not involved in knife fight

Jimmy Reynolds, resident of the Big Spring Halfway House, reported in Monday's Herald to have been involved in a knife fight was actually hit over the head with a pitcher sometime during the fight, according to later reports.

Details surrounding the fight are still unclear, and no charges have been filed. There is no evidence, however, that Reynolds had been drinking, arguing or involved in the original fight between the two other residents of the Halfway House.

Bengal Oil agreement

MIDLAND — Bengal Oil & Gas Corporation, Midland, Tex. and Denver, Colo.-based independent oil and gas producing firm, has announced that an agreement has been entered into for the purpose of raising drilling funds in the European market. The agreement is on a best effort basis and, if successful, it is anticipated that a substantial amount of the money will be invested in Indiana County, Pa., where the company already has established gas production.

Confirmer located close to Patricia

A Dawson confirmer is located near Patricia. Miller Exploration Co., Midland, will drill the No. 2 Beam as a location east offset to its No. 1 W. E. Beam, opener and lone producer of the Milagro (Fusselman) field of Dawson County three miles southwest of Patricia.

Location is 467 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east lines of 12-252-Borden, CSL.

The No. 1 Beam was finalized Aug. 11 for 2,880 barrels of oil through a 25-64 in. choke and open hole at 12,110-170 feet.

In Martin County, the Bredlove, south multipay field gained its seventh Sprabery producer and a one-mile north extension in the middle portion with completion of Dalco Oil Co., Dallas, No. 2-B Mabee, five miles south of Patricia for a daily flowing potential of 104 barrels of 40 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 500-1.

Production was through perforations at 9,438-542 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 27,000 gallons and 21,000 pounds.

Location is 467 feet from the north and east lines of 34-Briscoe CSL No. 255.

Congress considers legislation opposed by Arab nations Effort to stop arms sale believed 'dead'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration cleared away one obstacle threatening relations with Saudi Arabia, but Congress is still considering legislation opposed by the oil-rich Middle East kingdom.

At issue, according to the administration, is a possible price rise for oil that Arab nations ship to the United States.

Responding to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's plea, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Tuesday cleared the first obstacle by killing any chance that Congress would block the sale of $30 million worth of sophisticated airborne missiles to the Saudis.

The second obstacle is an amendment that would prohibit U.S. firms from participating in the Arab boycott of Israel.

Reversing an earlier decision, the Foreign Relations Committee refused to send to the floor a resolution by Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., that sought to stop the administration from selling 650 Maverick air-to-ground missiles to Saudi Arabia.

Technically, Case could still raise the issue directly on the Senate floor, but a source in his office acknowledged that the chance of success is nil.

In addition, the House does not even have a similar resolution before it. Because Congress expects to adjourn for the year by week's end, it is unrealistic to expect the matter to be pushed through.

In fact, one of the House's leading opponents of the sale, Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., said of the effort to stop the sale, "It's dead."

Under the law, the administration can sell arms to a country unless both houses of Congress pass identical resolutions opposing the sale.

Kissinger made a personal appeal on behalf of the missile sale, saying Saudi Arabia "has been a good friend... has been helpful in (Middle East) peace efforts and it is in our interests to retain the friendship."

The issue is not a renewed oil boycott, he said, but the Arab nation "is in a position to use its influence in other ways." This was a reference to an increase in oil prices. "The issue is one of our basic relations with Saudi Arabia," he concluded.

State Department officials said Tuesday after learning of the Foreign Relations Committee action that the next step is to arrange shipment of the missiles to the Saudis.

Meanwhile, the struggle over the anti-boycott amendment is unresolved. At issue is a rider that would prevent American businesses from boycotting Israel or other U.S. firms that do business with Israel. The amendment is attached to a bill setting out controls on the export of strategic goods.

Steelman picks Gamer for post

Cong. Alan Steelman of Dallas has named Bobby Garner, Big Spring to chair his Howard County campaign for the U.S. Senate.

Active in many civic affairs, Garner has also been involved in state Republican politics, formerly serving as Harris County co-chairman of Granberry for Governor.

"I feel strongly about the need to free our political system from the over-influence of big-money special interests, to return the reins of government to the average taxpayer and working person," Steelman said. "Thus the commitment of citizens like Bobby Garner to this U.S. Senate race is very encouraging."

"I look forward to a successful outcome in Howard County in the November election."

Nine major adverse impacts listed

The environmental impact statement on Webb Air Force Base and five other Air Training Command bases...

1. An estimated total increase in unemployment of about 1,560 persons results in a projected unemployment rate of 12.9 per cent in Howard County.

2. Direct payroll loss of $30.2 million and an estimated reduction in regional economic output by about $50 million.

3. An estimated 14 per cent loss in county retail sales.

4. ESTIMATED LOSS in state sales taxes of $788,000. Local sales tax losses will be $197,000 (30 per cent reduction).

6. Closure of Webb would decrease contributions to Combined Federal Campaign and local charities.

7. Numerous public facilities and utilities that generate revenue from user charges could experience decreased revenues as a result of reduced population and user demands.

8. Housing vacancy rates would increase in the short run. An estimated total of 1,307 units would be affected of which 653 units are owner-occupied and 654 are renter-occupied.

9. Local school districts would experience a drop in students of 17 per cent and an associated decline in funds of $371,000.

THE AIR FORCE said this impact is based on the "worst possible" case, reflecting a "sudden" effect. Some of the impact would be spread and thus lessened, it said.

The impact statement says, "... (Big Spring, Howard County) will suffer immediate effects from the closures which will check projected growth and may result in long-term effects upon the growth and development of the region.

Though the Air Force projections are chilling enough, they appear to fall short in several areas. Especially lacking is treatment of secondary reaction to the closing.

More on that Thursday. —J. TOM GRAHAM

Hard to check

Around the rim

Candy Smith

I was going to continue the story of what happens to entrance fees taken in at Scenic Mountain.

Instead, the story that may be more appropriate in the wake of the last few days of trying to get information from Austin would be what happens when you try to extract specific information from a bureaucratic conglomerate.

I FIRST contacted the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife in Austin and reached Bob Houser. He was able to give me the total amount spent on salaries to provide an employee to operate the entrance gate of Scenic Mountain, $5,020.12, and the total amount collected from entrance fees, $6,481.75.

Whether or not the total spent on salaries included amounts spent on taxes, retirement funds, etc., he couldn't tell me. Whether the total entrance fees collected were gross or net income, he couldn't tell me.

Going to law books to see where the money was supposed to go, Article III, Section 49-e of the Texas Constitution says, "income derived from the fees less expenses incurred in collecting the fees, shall be deposited in a specific fund with the state treasurer. The amounts deposited are net income."

OKAY, I'LL just call the treasurer's office in Austin and ask what was deposited from Scenic Mountain in the way of entrance fees. Whatever it was would be the net income from entrance fees.

"No, I'm sorry," said Jerry Tucker at the state treasurer's office. "You'll have to give us the fund number and department for us to look up that information." Back to Parks and Wildlife department.

"Do you please have the fund number and department under which the entrance fees were deposited in the treasurer's office," I ask.

"Well, it comes into this department in fund number 965 but it's deposited in the treasurer's office under fund number 409," says Houser. Back to the Treasurer's office.

"Mr. Tucker, it comes into your office in fund 409," I call back. (Pause while he looks it up).

"I have it here but it looks to me as if this includes entrance fees deposited from all state parks. It runs about $900,000," he says. No, I don't think that's it.

"Do you possibly know where I could find these figures broken down," I ask.

"You might try calling the Department of Parks and Wildlife," he offers. No way, four times is enough.

It was suggested that I call the local park manager. He was very helpful with others I could contact but couldn't tell me either what the net income from entrance fees were.

I tried the Regional Director in Buffalo Gap and got what I was expecting. He didn't have the figures yet because the fiscal year of 1975-76 had only ended August 31, 1976.

I just thought that since the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife had them, he might, too.

I THOUGHT about trying the prairie dogs for some inside information but we would probably have a pretty stiff language barrier.

Well, then how about the Head of Parks Operating and Maintenance in Austin. Why not.

"Hello, is Mr. Johnny Buck in please?"

"I'm sorry, he's out of the office. He'll be back sometime this morning, would you like to leave your number?"

"No, thank you, I think I'll just make up some figures and write the story with them. After all, who's going to know the difference.

In the meantime, if all you're interested in is getting out of paying 50c at the gate, take a senior citizen with you. The whole car gets in free under the State Parklands Passport. I did get that much information.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: How does a person know for sure what God wants him to do? I am facing some crucial decisions right now about my life. —S.J.

DEAR S.J.: You may know God's will and be led to a clear understanding of God's plan for your life. As you seek God's will, you have positive sources of guidance: first, the Bible, which strengthens one's sense of divine guidance; second, the inward counsel coming from the Holy Spirit; and finally, a trend of circumstances through which God indicates His leading.

In this connection, Proverbs 3:5-6 is a wonderful promise: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."

However, God does not lead us unless we are willing to be led. He never forces His will upon us, and He respects our power of choice. The wise person will bend his will to the will of God and trust His unerring judgment in all things. Even though narrows, and suffering may be involved, that person knows that obedience to God's voice will bring rich rewards in joy, peace and satisfaction.

Happy is the person who proves the promise of James 1:5: "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not."

Francisco.

THEIR ANXIETY is intensified by Carter's method of preparation for Debate No. 1. He was mostly alone, save for talks with press secretary Jody Powell and media adviser Gerald Rafshoon — two trusted, clever lieutenants with only minimal experience on national issues.

Less intimate but more experienced Carter advisers, such as ex-Kennedites Ted Sorensen and Frank Mankiewicz, wanted to go South to grill the candidate. Absolutely not, said Carter. Only at the last minute did Stuart Eizenstat, Carter's longtime issues chief, on his own go from Atlanta to Plains and literally force the candidate into a mock question-and-answer session.

Save for the aberration in praise of Nixon, Carter avoided Playboy-style mishaps. But some practice grilling by nationally experienced interrogators might have improved Carter's performance — perhaps modifying tax reform statements that even Democratic politicians considered demagogic.

Urged by advisers to pin down blue-collar votes, Carter stressed a so-called rich line on tax reform. But Carter's claim that eliminating business deductions for "jet airplanes, first-class travel, the $50 martini lunch" is "very important" to tax reform is scoffed at by experts. "I wish somebody would explain to Jimmy," one liberal Democratic member of the House Ways and Means Committee told us, "that tax reform is not part of the class struggle."

The debate

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Listening to the debate, I thought back to an article on the Nixon-Kennedy debates by P.G. Wodehouse 16 years ago. He couldn't quite believe that two urbane men had got through two entire hours without a trace of wit or humor escaping from either of them.

BESIDES, POOR Jimmy Carter was visibly strained. During the week he had made so many misjudgments, the viewers were tempted to think it was he who had arranged the microphone system for the debates. He wasn't going to take any chances. That's why he kept coming back to the cliches. The cliches of populism: the big and the strong and the rich are the enemy. They should be brought to heel, and made poor and weak like everybody else. That's equality.

In a debate, when pressed, the technique is to fall back on cliches that have stood the test of time. Crawl back to their ample bosom, hug it hard, and hope for the best. It is the equivalent of the clinch in boxing. Jimmy Carter had, at the hands of Mr. Ford, a relatively easy time of it in the sense that Mr. Ford, for reasons unknown and unfathomable, let Congress go for what seemed forever. The debate, which began at 9:30 EDT, had stretched to 10:37 EDT before Ford made a single mention of the responsibility of Congress for the tax code.

This was so obviously the favorite hunting ground of Jimmy Carter, one wondered why Mr. Ford took so long to say it. The tax laws are certainly subject to criticism (though not so much of the kind Jimmy Carter chooses to criticize them for); the authors of the tax laws should be identified. They are primarily Democrats. The last American President who went on the air to beg for what Mr. Carter would call a "pro-business tax break" was John F. Kennedy, followed by Lyndon Johnson, stressing the need for an investment tax credit. It was a Republican President — Nixon — who presided over its brief repeal. And a Democratic Congress, frightened by the results of its repeal, who reinstated it. A recent beneficiary of it was — Jimmy Carter.

MR. FORD is too gentle to have turned to Mr. Carter to ask whether he, Carter, was one of those rich powerful men who had benefited from the tax laws. Because indeed Mr. Carter did. He spread out his income over four years, helped himself to the investment tax credit — and ended by paying $17,484 or $136,926 of income. Some of us do not judge these data to be shocking. But they would certainly shock Jimmy Carter, to judge from his recent rhetoric.

Mr. Ford has no appetite for the generic arguments. He is satisfied to talk about his own recommendations for relief from taxation, and his determination to keep down the cost of government. It is a pity that he is not prepared to say that the United States is the land of opportunity, and a land of opportunity is a land in which people are free even to become rich — like Jimmy Carter, Averell Harriman, LBJ, Joe Kennedy, FDR, — and George Washington.

Some folk medicines had good roots

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My dad used to make a sassafras tea from the roots of a plant and drink it for a spring tonic. What is it good for, if anything? — Mrs. J.C.H.

This is one of those interesting folk medicines of dubious value.

Sassafras tea is extracted from the root of a common North American tree. There was a stir several years ago when it came under the scrutiny of the Food and Drug Administration. Drs. Elizabeth Wheilan and Frederick Stare in their book, "Panic in the Pantry," recount the history of sassafras.

About 1960 the root was found to contain safrole, which in turn was found to produce cancer in the liver of some test animals. By 1970, the FDA had seized the product and removed it from shelves.

Its chief use was as a flavoring for root beer. It still can be so used today if the safrole is removed.

While most "root medicine" of this type has been long since discredited, some of it can be supported in fact. Several of the sophisticated drug laboratories have turned out contain substances found in natural foliage — certain heart medicines, for example. Sassafras, as you indicate, was once commonly taken as a "spring tonic."

Why spring tonics were ever needed is somewhat of a mystery. However, the pith of the sassafras root contains a substance that is soothing to irritated membranes, such as those in the intestinal tract.

Apparently your dad and his contemporaries were not among the best "animals" to develop cancer from the portion.

Since it would take a bit of practical chemistry to remove safrole from the sassafras root, you would do best to stick with approved medications.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been having problems with my eyes and am worried that it might be serious.

At times my eyes become very teary and run for awhile. They seem weak and strained all the time.

Recently I have been having headaches around the forehead and temples. What might this be? — Mrs. S.M.

With these symptoms a thorough examination by an ophthalmologist is in order.

The problem may be as simple as a slight error that corrective eyeglasses would solve. Also, one thinks of glaucoma or cataract formation as other possibilities. Such tearing can result from inflammation or an allergy.

Cosmetic allergy is a growing problem because of the very heavy use of a wide variety of new eye (and other) makeup in recent years. You can find out if that is a factor by eliminating such makeup for a week or two.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

As a father and head of an average American household, I am deeply concerned with the outcome of the Nov. 2 election. Who will be elected the President of the United States?

The news media is providing considerable coverage on remarks made by candidates Carter and Ford. Carter has personality. Ford has the benefit of incumbency. Let's therefore look at what has happened to the average taxpayer and citizen in the last 7 1/2 years of Republican leadership and compare with the previous 8 years of Democratic leadership.

Consumer prices rose 64.2 per cent during the Nixon-Ford years. During the 8 years of Kennedy-Johnson, prices rose only 17 1/2 per cent.

Prices for groceries rose 71 per cent in the past 7 1/2 years with the cost of bacon, potatoes, sugar and coffee more than doubling.

Gasoline prices rose 76 per cent during the Nixon-Ford years against a 9.6 per cent rise in the Kennedy-Johnson years.

Residential electricity rates rose 76.4 per cent during the Nixon-Ford years against 1.1 per cent rise in the Kennedy-Johnson years.

Natural gas prices rose 96 cents per 100 cubic feet under the Nixon-Ford administration against a 1 cent rise under Kennedy-Johnson. Texans suffered even worse with no intrastate gas regulations on prices.

Under the Nixon-Ford years federal budget deficits soared to $173 billion, a total higher than the total U.S. deficits between the years of 1944 and 1969. Interest rates under Nixon-Ford soared to heights unprecedented in this century.

Thanks to tax loopholes available to corporations, the tax burden for the federal government has been shifted to the individuals. Under the Kennedy-Johnson years, the corporate income tax share averaged 32.8 per cent but under the Nixon-Ford years, the corporate share has dwindled to 25.5 per cent. The individual taxpayer had to pick up the difference.

Corporate profits are soaring beyond belief. Exxon, $880 million plus in the last quarter of 1974, General Motors, $900 million plus in the second quarter of 1976, J.C. Penney reported first quarter profits for 1976 jumped 486 per cent. These are only a few examples.

There are 7 1/2 million workers unemployed in the U.S. or 7.8 per cent as opposed to 3.4 per cent unemployed in January of 1969 when the Republican leadership took over our country.

From 1972 thru 1975, just 3 years, food prices rose 38.8 per cent, housing costs rose 28.6 per cent, auto gasoline rose 51.3 per cent, natural gas costs rose 43.7 per cent and electric costs rose 38.2 per cent. These are the items the American provider and taxpayer spends most of his hard earned wages on.

I personally feel that Americans deserve more than unemployment and higher prices from the Federal Government they support with hard earned tax dollars. If you feel the same way, vote Democratic Nov. 2.

2503 Carol

Dear Editor:

Last week I called Howard College to inquire as to whether it had a course for girls in the age bracket of 11 to 14 on Charm and Poise. I was informed that it did, but not one single solitary person (parents or girls) seemed to be interested in this enlightening course. I was amazed!

I have a granddaughter in this age bracket and, I am sure, there are a lot of parents in this same situation who wish for their girls to have this little extra touch of poise and charm which they could achieve through this course.

The course is very inexpensive — only $1 a week! The girls would meet for one hour each week on the appointed day and time of Howard College for about 15 weeks.

If you are interested, just pick up your telephone and call Howard College and enroll your girl or girls for this interesting course.

It takes 10 to get the class started. Gee, I know there must be at least nine more girls in Big Spring interested in this particular course. — Mrs. Frank Baggett Tom Lorance of Houston, who describes himself as the only "qualified candidate in the race," came to Big Spring Tuesday to line up support for a write-in candidate for the office of Texas Supreme Court associate justice.

Lorance, who says he is neither a Republican or Democrat, adds he is the only man in the race who is not playing the "name game."

"The real issue is qualification," Lorance pointed out, "not a trick name, nor Democrat or Republican, nor conservative or liberal, nor economics or politics."

Lorance was the first to enter the race for the office in opposition to Don Yarbrough, the Democratic nominee and the only name which will appear on the ballot in the Nov. 2 general election.

"I'm not a politician," Lorance concedes. "I'm a trial lawyer and I have been most of my life. I entered this race knowing that most write-in candidates are unsuccessful."

"If you want to know the truth, I'll tell you I'm in this race to keep Don Yarbrough from getting on the bench."

After twice assuring Lorance that he would not enter the race, Judge Sam Houston of Denton ultimately announced he would seek the office as a write-in candidate.

This, says Lorance, is when the race became even more of a "name game."

Yarbrough, whose name is almost identical to that of an unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate several years ago, has seen his name and reputation assailed as a result of 17 civil lawsuits against him, only one of which has been tried.

In that trial, a jury found him to have engaged in civil fraud and legal malpractice in a 1975 bank deal.

In addition, a State Bar Grievance Committee is presently considering numerous charges against Yarbrough that could result in action ranging from disciplinary measures to disbarment.

All of Yarbrough's dealings surfaced shortly after he won the primary election last May. When three months went by without anyone stepping forward to oppose him, Lorance made the decision to launch a write-in campaign as an independent.

Lorance, senior partner in the successful law firm of Lorance, Thompson and Witting, Houston (he deals extensively in trial and appellate work), said other attorneys and friends convinced him to run "because I am qualified and someone has to stop Yarbrough."

"I know the job confronting me," Lorance said here Tuesday, "but friends not only in the legal professional but out of it have assured me I can win."

Born in Vernon, Lorance practiced law in Dumas and Amarillo before moving to Houston. This is the first time he has ever offered for public office.

Of Sam Houston, Lorance says:

"He's an honest judge, but he's not qualified, and he's not the 'real' Sam Houston — he died in 1863. I am the real Tom Lorance and I am what I purport to be..."

He has never met Yarbrough but the two of them have a date with destiny Nov. 2.

Lorance does not see this as purely a political race, explaining:

"There are no issues. The only question is one of qualification."

$130 million loss claimed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs said today that Texas has lost $130 million over the past 20 years by keeping so much money in non-interest bearing accounts.

"With increasing state revenues, there exists an increasing potential for losses in the foreseeable future," the report said.

The report was presented to a subcommittee of the "Hobby Commission" that is seeking ways of saving money in state government.

Demand deposits to pay the state government's bills are kept in more than 1,200 banks in Texas, the report noted, and in 1971 "most of these accounts averaged less than one transaction per year. If this money could have been placed in interest-bearing accounts, it could have yielded approximately $34 million in the past five years."

Dr. John Hamilton of the LBJ School said state law prohibits investing state money in anything other than bank deposits.

Cattlemen throughout West Texas are concerned about the cattle business at this time, but being typical West Texas cattlemen, they are rather close-mouthed about it.

Too many cattle is the reason given for the low cattle prices, but cattlemen are not sure what to do about that plight either.

The money and market experts are predicting that 1978 will be a great year for the cattle industry, but a lot of cattlemen wonder if they will survive until 1978.

They were told two or three years back by these same experts that it would take two or three years to work out of the crisis. The time span is now growing to three or four.

Cattlemen will not see higher beef prices in 1977 unless a lot of cows and calves are slaughtered this year.

Last spring, in March and April, cattle prices showed a little upswing. However, the cash market has since fallen below break even costs. The price of feed continues to go up and the price of beef doesn't show the same rise.

The members of the cattle industry are doing everything they know to help. They conduct "eat more beef" drives and try to make the consumer demand more beef.

Farm markets

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Livestock Wednesday. Cattle and calves 100. Limited supply slaughter cows steady but not enough classes to establish trends. Slaughter cows: Utility 2-3 20.00-22.00, cutter 18.90-20.00, feeder steers: Good and low choice 500-650 lbs 27.00-31.10, Feeder heifers: Good and choice 400-500 lbs 24.00-26.00, Hogs 200, Barrows and gilts 25-50 lower, 1-3 200-250 lbs 33.75-34.25, Sows 25-50 lower, 1-3 300-600 lbs 29.00, Boars: 500-600 lbs 20.00-21.00.

The average housewife, has enjoyed the drop in prices of roast beef and steak without really using more of it. The middleman still continues to get an enormous cut with neither the ranchers or the housewife getting to enjoy much of the profit.

The total number of cattle went to an all-time high in mid-1975. It has been slowly dropping off, but there is still a large total beef supply in the United States.

The Texas Cattle Feeders Association spokesman pointed out recently that at least 10 million cows, 5.8 million on-fed cattle and five million calves need to be slaughtered in 1976 for choice feeder cattle prices to reach the $50 per hundredweight level in 1977.

Cattlemen are constantly told that they must reduce the total number of cattle by keeping up a high level of slaughter or beef prices in 1977 will be no better.

Some of the best ranchers in the area were gathered at the annual Hereford Sale at Wallace's this week. Leland couldn't help but be disappointed at the prices he was receiving for some of the best Hereford bulls around.

"Everybody is just kind of playing a waiting game," Wallace said and added ruefully, "It's hard when you put a whole year's work into something and you know you have a good product and can't get a top-notch price."

Most of the ranchers realize that if feed grain prices go up, there will probably be more non-fed cattle slaughter and even lower beef prices this fall.

If, on the other hand, the price of grain would drop, there will be alot of cattle put on feed lots, delaying marketings and resulting in higher cattle prices.

Winter pasture conditions are also important. With good winter pastures — and it looks like there might be these conditions in this area — cattle prices will be stronger.

Ranchers are used to being at the short end of the stick. Through the years, they have maintained their industry with less help from big government than nearly any other industry.

They were hardy in the beginning when they came out and settled the west and they are hardy now. But they're a little bit worried.

They have to anticipate and plan a lot to come out ahead nowadays — and they're playing a waiting game.

One old timer recalls that there used to be a saying "You can get rich quicker than poor quicker in the cattle industry than at any other calling. But I'd kind of like to know when that 'rich quicker' phrase is going to come along again."

Cotton funding likely

DALLAS (AP) — A National Cotton Council official says that a proposed increase in cotton producer assessments to add funds for industry research and marketing promotion "has the support" to be approved.

Herman Propst of Anson, Tex., the vice-chairman of the Producers Steering Committee for the Cotton Council, said Tuesday, "I feel the proposed additional funding has the support to pass."

Propst and about 45 other cotton industry spokesmen told a Department of Agriculture hearing Tuesday that cotton is beginning to regain its share of the textile market, but more money is needed to retain and expand

it. The hearings are part of an effort by the USDA to hear cotton growers' comments on the possibility of an increased producer assessment.

Depending on the growers' opinion, the USDA may call for a referendum late this year on the proposed assessment of four tenths of one per cent of the gross sale price of each bale.

Another industry spokesman, Donnell Echols of Lamesa, Tex., said, "The producers are very much in favor of the added funding. It's somewhat of a foregone conclusion that we should increase the amount of the assessment."

He added, "The only question is the amount of the rate and whether it is a percentage or another flat rate per bale assessment."

If the assessment is approved, cotton growers will continue to pay the $1 per bale that now goes for promotion and research, Echols said.

Echols said the proposed additional assessment of four tenths of one per cent on the gross sale price of each bale is favored by producers, while others in the cotton industry, such as merchants, might favor another fixed figure per bale assessment.

Billy W. Golden of Seymour, Tex., treasurer of the Cotton Board, testified that cotton's "most compelling problem is to hold and fill its market."

United Way challenge

Workers in the 1976 Howard County United Way campaign are slowly revving for the challenge facing them.

Co-chairpersons in the drive met with Dearly Pittman, UW president, for a Dutch treat luncheon at Coker's Restaurant Tuesday and were told that an estimated eight per cent of the $134,000 goal had been raised to date. Collections have totaled $11,942.

That figure is deceptively low, however. Some of the divisions are not fully organized, which means workers have not yet been assigned to the areas in which they will work.

Pittman says the campaign actually is ahead of the pace established a year ago and saw no reason why the drive could not be successfully terminated within a matter of weeks.

By divisions, collections reported to date include: Out-of-Town, $2,590; Advance, $6,625; Special, $140; Employee, $30; Women's, $2,557.

The end is in sight for the Combined Federal Campaign, which is being orchestrated by Col. John Wickman of Webb AFB. The CFC objective is $25,335 and Wickman told the group Tuesday that approximately 84.5 per cent of the goal had been raised. Of the CFC money, 71 per cent goes into United Way coffers. Should the CFC campaign reach its goal, $18,697.85 would be channeled into the United Way.

The division chairpersons present were asked to report on the scope of their organization.

Ellis Britton, head of the employe campaign, commented that he could "use more workers." Al Stephens, chairman of the Special Gifts committee, revealed he is still recruiting workers.

Jerry Foresyth, chief of the City and School Employees division, said all his cards had gone out but he didn't expect a report from such segments (e.g., the school teachers) before Oct. 15. Donations from city employees, he added, are beginning to "dribble in."

Virginia Black, chairwoman for the County and State Employees, said that her division's problems were complicated by the fact that some state agencies were prone not to cooperate in the drive.

Delbert Donelson, head of the Rural Area division, suggested his problems were complicated that people living in non-urban areas were inclined to reason that the UW dealt with problems which were strictly urban in nature.

He had, he added, put 400 solicitation cards into the mail.

Alyce Butler and Linda Faulkner, who share duties in the United Way headquarters, were present for the luncheon.

Chairpersons who couldn't be present for the meeting included Ken Perry, Out-of-Town division; John Currie, Advance Gifts; Ray Don Williams, Metropolitan; Jackie Casey, Women; and R.H. Weaver, Professional.

Town meeting is topic

Big Spring's Town Meeting was the program subject when the Altrusa Club of Big Spring met at Cokers for luncheon Thursday, Sept. 23. Tot Sullivan gave a report of the meeting. "Story and Song" was the symbol of the meeting with the theme being "challenge of today."

There was a discussion on the closing of Webb. The need for activities for young people and elder people was also brought out. The lack of communication between the public and different parts of government was brought out. Also mentioned was apathy on the part of the public and the government in finishing projects that are started.

The group decided it was necessary to get more information for voters and a great need to speed up the courts. Justice should be much swifter than it is, said one member. The crowd was not as large as was expected. Tot Sullivan won the CB radio.

Bonnie Bennett gave the Altrusa accent for the day. She asked the question "when does a new member become an old member?" The answer, when she gets a new member.

Since the group doesn't have a scholarship student this year, they voted to give $100.00 a semester for 2 semesters to Katherine Dawson.

Ivah Lou Parker was appointed chairman of the social committee.

It was announced that there will be a make-up meeting on Thursday night, September 30 at La Posada.

Emily Breckham was the guest and there were 18 members present.

Project is macrame owls

The Busy Bee Hobby Club met Thursday morning September 23 at the Hobby Center with Edith Gregory as hostess. The door prize was won by Onieta Hardy.

The main project of the day was macrame owls while others crocheted. Some quilts were pieced and other members made seed flowers or embroidered.

Laura Duke and Jimmie Robertson displayed quilted Christmas trees of gingham.

Eltea McMains was welcomed as a new member and Mary Haynes was a guest. Onieta Hardy will be hostess for the next meeting. General projects will be continued.

Don't force son to get college degree

DEAR ABBY: Our middle son, Andy, is a very intelligent young man of 19. He went to college for one year just to please us, then he quit, saying, "I don't want to waste any more of my time and your money."

His grades were fine, but he says he prefers working with his hands. He's now enrolled in a trade school and we're so disappointed in him!

I'm not putting down people who work with their hands, Abby, but it seems to me that people who work with their hands do so because they aren't smart enough to work with their minds.

Andy's father is a professional man, and both of Andy's brothers plan to enter professions.

Please say in your column that a college degree is absolutely necessary these days. After Andy graduates from college he can do anything he chooses, but we desperately want him to have a college degree first. Thank you.

ANDY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I disagree. College is NOT for everybody. If Andy prefers to work with his hands, that's what he should do.

It's not true that people work with their hands because they aren't smart enough to work with their minds. Some handwork requires more skill, talent and know-how than many professions. You do your son a tremendous disservice by telling him he's "disappointed you" and urging him to go to college. Change your tune.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine was married for 22 years when her husband died. Two years later she married another man. That marriage lasted just about a year and ended in divorce.

She calls herself a widow now. Inasmuch as her most current status was that of a divorcee, shouldn't she be calling herself a divorcee instead of a widow?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Technically she's a divorcee, but if she wants to call herself a widow, it's all right with me.

DEAR ABBY: My date and I were dining out, and as he was adding the tip to the credit card, the waiter said, "Don't bother adding the tip to that—I won't get it anyway." Then the waiter explained that after the restaurants are reimbursed by the credit card companies, the waiters rarely get their tips.

Abby, with so many diners paying with credit cards, I'll bet a lot of waiters get gypped this way.

You'd be doing waiters a tremendous service if you'd ask people who use credit cards to give the waiter his tip in cash. Thanks.

MARION

DEAR MARION: The top credit card companies and restaurants state that waiters are reimbursed immediately by their employers for their tips. Most waiters insure themselves against being gypped by keeping a record of tips due them.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Estrogen must carry labels

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sex hormones that an estimated five million American women take to relieve the symptoms of menopause must carry stronger health warnings, the Food and Drug Administration says.

The FDA, in an order issued Monday, said new labels directed at physicians prescribing estrogen must be printed and distributed within the next 60 days.

But the FDA said it wants to hear from the public before it orders other new labels that would explain estrogen risks in plain language for women who take the hormones.

Estrogens for women too old to bear children "are valuable drugs. They are needed when the symptoms of the 'change of life' become severe. The FDA's purpose is to keep these drugs on the market but to reduce overuse and misuse," Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt said in a statement.

"Because these drugs can cause harm as well as good and because they are different from many other drugs in that they are given to otherwise healthy women undergoing the natural process of menopause," he said, "the FDA believes it essential that women be informed and that they decide for themselves if the risks are worth the benefits."

The proposed warnings for users of estrogen note that it is estimated that more than half of all women undergoing menopause experience only mild symptoms or none at all from "the change of life" and therefore should not take the hormone.

Valentine queen chosen

The Texas Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Sept. 27 in the Reddy Room in the Texas Electric Company building. Guests for the evening were Mrs. Karen De La Rosa, Mrs. Rose Stukel, Ms. Elizabeth Phelan, Mrs. Beverly Knous, Mrs. Lauretta Glass, Mrs. Fran Roberts and Mrs. Sally Martinez. A pre-meeting salad supper was given for all the members and guests with Mrs. Becky Childers and Mrs. Stephanie Roll serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Pam Carroll, president, presided at the meeting and welcome the guests. October is the traditional month to welcome new members to Beta Sigma Phi. Founded in Abilene, Kansas, in 1931, the organization now has over 250,000 members in more than twenty countries.

A citywide salad supper and fashion show will be held on Oct. 14 at the Flame Room in the Pioneer Natural Gas building at 7:00 p.m. All members and their guests are urged to attend.

Plans were made for many of the members to attend the area convention that will be held on Oct. 15-17 in the La Quinta Ramada Inn in San Angelo. Special guest for the convention will be Ms. Jean Weiss from the International Office, Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Becky Childers was chosen as Valentine Queen to represent the Beta Omicron Chapter at the Valentine Ball that will be held in February 1977. Mrs. Childers will also be entered in the International Valentine Queen Contest sponsored by the sorority's newspaper THE TORCH.

A program on parapsychology and ESP was presented by Ms. Katherine Bartholomew and Mrs. Lillie Curry. After hearing of the life and experiences of Uri Geller, all the members and guests participated in an experiment in mind over matter.

The evening was concluded with the Closing Ritual. Cake and tea was served after the meeting for the ladies during a social hour.

The next meeting of Beta Omicron Chapter will be held on Oct. 11, 7:30 p.m. at 1400 Tucson.

Indochina refugees suffer from mental depression

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the 138,000 Indochinese refugees who fled to the United States after Communist-led victories in Southeast Asia are adjusting to their new country but many suffer from mental depression, a new report to Congress says.

The congressional task force on refugees said that in the nearly 18 months since the fall of South Vietnam and Cambodia, most of the refugees have made "vast strides toward assimilation into American life."

The percentage of refugees drawing welfare has stabilized for the first time, the report said, and most have found jobs and left the homes of their initial American sponsors.

While many serious problems in adjustment remain, the Vietnamese, Laotians and Cambodians who fled to the United States when the Communists overran Saigon and Phnom Penh in the spring of 1975 "are progressing better than many expected in the early days of resettlement, and the overwhelming majority are moving toward economic self-sufficiency," Congress was told.

Starr drugs quiz pushed

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — Starr County is trying to rid itself of drug dealers before it gets hooked.

The Starr County grand jury asked Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill for help in investigating the problem brought to the limelight by three recent gangland-style slayings reportedly linked to drug trafficking.

Hill, after meeting with the grand jury and Starr County Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra, responded to the plea by the dope-plagued county sending Asst. Atty. Gen. Neal Duvall and Special investigator Don Lee to this Rio Grande Valley county which shares a border with Mexico.

"The people of Starr County have to realize we must stop this situation from spreading," said Guerra. "The murders really woke up people. Everyone turns the other way until they find a body in their backyard."

Guerra also said the drug dealings have "permeated every aspect of the government."

Hill said the investigation would "extend into organized drug trafficking, possible official corruption and general breakdown of law and order in Starr County."

Guerra said Hill's statement was "not a reflection on the Drug Enforcement Administration, Customs officials and the Border Patrol. They are fighting a long battle."

"The funding is limited, he said. 'My annual budget ($34,000) is worth about 400 pounds of marijuana but 20,000 to 40,000 pounds of marijuana passes through Starr County every week.'

"Given a street-sale value of $80 to $60 a pound, you can imagine the amount of money that is generated."

"We have about 17,000 persons in Starr County," continued Guerra who added 2,000 persons are involved in the illicit drug operations.

"And that's a conservative estimate," he said.

"We are dealing with groups of organized people whose mobility is very extensive," he added. "They are pouring money into legitimate enterprises. We've got to do something before it's too late."

Debate on TV called lousy

TORONTO (AP) — Marshall McLuhan, media analyst and director of the Centre for Culture and Technology at the University of Toronto, says it is unlikely either Gerald Ford or Jimmy Carter will come out swinging in their second televised debate.

He said Tuesday that because of images both U.S. presidential candidates are trying to project the Oct. 6 debate should be similar to the first.

"The temptation will be for them to come out swinging," he said. "But it'll ruin them if they do. You can't do that on television."

McLuhan said the first debate, last Thursday, was "lousy television." He objected to the set's design and reporters who questioned the candidates. He suggested an informal setting with less authoritative questioning, therefore making the candidates appear less inept.

An increasing incidence of mental depression among refugees has been observed, the task force said, "a natural result of resettlement in a new country."

Treatment of the mental illness through conventional therapy, however, is extremely difficult because modern psychiatry is virtually unknown in Indochinese culture, and language and cultural barriers make it almost impossible for psychiatric workers to assist refugee patients, the report said.

The task force recommended that Congress approve a Ford administration bill to open the door for citizenship for the refugees by declaring them to be resident aliens. Similar legislation was enacted to assist refugees from the Hungarian and Cuban revolutions.

Unless the Indochinese are declared resident aliens, the report said, it would take nearly 30 years before all the refugees could gain resident alien status, the first step toward citizenship, because the law provides that no more than 5,100 persons from all countries in a given year can be admitted to the United States in that classification.

The task force said a July-August survey found that 80 per cent of the refugee men are working or looking for work, slightly higher than the general American male rate of 75.6 per cent, and that 45 per cent of the refugee women are in the labor force, about the same as the American rate for all women.

The refugee men and women were experiencing a 13 per cent unemployment rate, however, which is higher than the 7.9 per cent unemployment rate in August for the general population but still a improvement over the 21 per cent jobless rate for refugees in a December-January survey.

"Most refugees are in relatively unskilled jobs and many families have more than one wage earner," the report said.

The latest survey found that 20 per cent of the families had annual incomes of less than $5,000, and another 35 per cent had incomes of less than $10,000.

Homecoming plans are taking shape

Plans are already under way for the Big Spring High School Homecoming to be held Oct. 7-9. Entries are needed for the parade to be held on Friday at 4:30 p.m.

The divisions include large group division with awards $100, $50 and $25; the small group division with awards of $75, $35 and $20; the car and other division with prizes of $25 and $10 and the non-school division with plaques awarded.

Anyone wishing to enter the parade, contact Craig Fischer at the high school by calling 267-7461.

The community pep rally will be held at the courthouse at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 7 following a torchlight parade.

A special pep rally at Steer gym will be followed by the Homecoming Parade. The pre-game crowning of the queen will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the stadium.

The football game that night is with Midland High. This is not to be confused with the district opener this Friday night with Abilene, also here.

There will be a number of individual class reunions to be announced.

The open house at the high school for all exes will be 2-4 p.m. Saturday.

A Hall of Fame induction at 2 p.m. will be in honor of football players of Big Spring High who have become pro football players.

The group includes Olie Cordill, Bob Flowers, Sam Flowers, Cliff Patton, Jimmy Evans, Danny Birdwell, Charley Johnson and Charley West. Many of these plan to attend.

The student dance will be held at the high school cafeteria on Saturday with the exes holding their dance at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Big Spring pupils get holiday Oct. 4

Monday, Oct. 4, will be a holiday for all students in the Big Spring schools while instructors have an in-service work day.

Purpose of the work-study day for teachers is a follow up on the August crime prevention and drug education in-service. Systemwide, the teachers reacted to the program as 50 per cent highly positive; 40 per cent generally positive and 10 per cent negative.

Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of instruction, stated that this survey shows that a large majority of the staff believes there is merit to the approach the local schools are now attempting to take in the program.

The teachers will meet in general session Thursday at 8:15 a.m. followed by a break at 10:15 a.m. and resuming at 10:45 a.m. The third session is from 1:30-3:30 p.m.

Teachers remain in the same groups they were assigned to in August for follow-up. The Fulgham-Willbanks group reports to the high school cafeteria; the Alred-Tanner group goes to rooms 117-119 at the high school; the Carlile group to the band hall at the high school; the Gladden group to rooms 231-232, high school and the Phillips group in the high school choir room.

Individualized program aides report to Moss Cafeteria. Migrant aides go to the school board meeting room with Mrs. Clara Hernandez as leader. Library aides go to the West Texas Education Center with Miss Sharon Welch as leader.

Title I and compensatory education aides, kindergarten aides and head-start aides check with their building superintendent.

'Mossback' called off

COLORADO CITY — "Mossback," a play planned for production by Colorado City Playhouse Inc., the first two weekends in December, will not be staged this year, according to George Womack, who was to direct the play.

Womack indicated that a shortage of persons seeking tryouts for parts dictated the cancellation. Of the 11 who sought tryouts, five were women — leaving the cast ten parts short. The play calls for a cast of 18, 17 of them men.

The Playhouse's board of directors will decide later whether to try another production. The group ordinarily produces four plays each year.

Slaton outgo may top income

SLATON — This West Texas city may adopt a 1977 budget where revenues fail to meet expenditures by $60,000.

Receipts will likely reach $889,000 but expenditures will total $950,000.

This would be due largely to a five per cent pay raise granted city employees.

The deficit would not mean an immediately tax boost because Slaton has a surplus of about $145,000 in the general fund and $35,000 in surplus sewer and water fund money.

Friday last day to register

Friday at 5 p.m. is the last day citizens may register to vote in the Nov. 2 Presidential election, Zirah L. Bednar, county tax assessor-collector, said.

Ma Bell wants to ax competition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bell Telephone, the first company in the nation to ever make more than $1 billion in profits in three months, intends to ask for higher rates unless competition in the industry is eliminated.

AT&T Chairman John D. DeButts told a House subcommittee on communications Tuesday that the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. will ask for a rate increase for residential customers if the Federal Communications Commission is allowed to permit competition in the field to continue.

"I am here for one reason and one reason only," said DeButts. "And that is because it appears to me inevitable that over the long run, the FCC's policies will hurt service and add to its cost for the vast majority of our customers, particularly home telephone users."

He testified at the opening of three days of hearings on a proposal to overturn FCC rulings that permit competition in the telephone industry. The hearings continue today with supporters of competition testifying.

The FCC has already said, in a report to Congress earlier this year, that the pending legislation would result in "a telephone industry monopoly" beyond the reach of federal scrutiny. The FCC has opened up competition in two areas: in customer equipment and services on private lines between cities.

Legislation to overturn the agency's policies has 185 cosponsors in the House and 16 in the Senate.

Rep. Lionel Van Derlin, D-Calif., chairman of the communications subcommittee, said that the burden of proof to overturn the FCC rested with opponents of competition.

DeButts said the FCC rulings, if allowed to remain, will force the phone company "to press for a massive cost-related restructuring" of its rates. He said that means it would ask for lower charges for some business customers and higher rates for home phones.

A general clean-up of the exterior of the Westside Center was conducted by 85 members of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y, as their monthly service project.

The group also painted window sills, doors and tractor tires for playground equipment. The girls did the painting while the boys landscaped, planted trees, picked up trash and removed hazards around the center.

Following the work session, punch and watermelon were served to the workers.

At the Monday night meeting of the council, plans were made for a dance after the Friday night Steer game.

The senior club and the junior boys club will sponsor the dance, which will be held in the Y gymnasium.

Disco music will be provided along with a D.J. All students in the area are invited to the dance, starting at 11 p.m. Friday.

It was also announced that the senior club had won the first membership contest. A trip to one of the Texas Tech football games will be the prize.

Ridin' fence

From cradle to diploma

with Marj Carpenter

Jack and Jill went up the hill and all that good stuff. But last week out at the Jack and Jill Kindergarten, they actually went around the block, not up the hill.

This was their annual red, white and blue parade that goes from in front of the school, across the street, down the alley behind Arah Phillips house and back to the kindergarten.

The year before that they called it a Bicentennial parade and this year they settled for red, white and blue.

They always seem to manage to pick a beautiful day for it and the children, in addition to having a good time, learn a lot of patriotism and enthusiasm for America.

But that's not all I'm going to talk about today. The one that is amazing at that school is Arah. She heads the kindergarten and school. She previously worked for years out at Howard College before she began to fill a definite need in the community with the day care program.

Her longtime friend Anna Smith, is dead of students at Howard College. The thing that never ceases to amaze me about these two tireless women is their enthusiasm for youth.

Arah worked with college students and then found it just as easy to work with small children — all the way down to the toddling infant.

Anna continued to work with college students and as the college students showed drastic changes in the past two decades, many educators were unable to change with them.

Not so — Anna Smith — She kept up with the trends. If there were trends she didn't like she worked for something better. But she never quit trying to understand youth and their problems.

Arah, in a visit down at Jack and Jill the other morning, commented on how very many mothers nowadays must have a place to leave their children while they work.

Main aims of day care centers, of course, are for good food, good care, rest periods and more good care.

"Some mothers have to leave children as early as 6:30 a.m. nowadays," Arah, sighed.

Then Anna came in to join us for lunch and discussed the new enthusiasm at Howard College.

"There was a large group at the dance last night," she stated, "and we had a large class offices. I think it's wonderful."

But I think it's wonderful that these two educators have kept so abreast of the times.

And I think it's wonderful that they have given such long dedicated hours of service to Big Spring and the youth of Big Spring.

There was an old saying about cradle to grave. They don't cover that much territory.

But they cover from the cradle to as far as you can proceed educationwise in Big Spring.

Hats off to Arah and Anna. I'm always glad to see either of them when I'm out ridin' fence.

Zero-based budgeting idea backed by Briscoe

By SCOTT CARPENTER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Texans should keep a close eye on what happens to Georgia state government in the wake of Jimmy Carter's terms as governor. Whether Carter beats President Gerald Ford or not, he certainly will have his influence on Texas.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe was one of Carter's earliest admirers and two years ago, under Briscoe's leadership, Texas adopted the Georgia system of zero-based budgeting, a complicated system that state bureaucrats generally don't like.

The real effect of zero-based budgeting and its companion program review hasn't been felt in Texas yet, but basically it is a system that forces each state agency to prove the need to continue programs at current levels and really forces them to come up with hard cold facts to support any requested increase in levels of operation.

The companion program review takes individual actions of the agencies and measures them to see what product the state is getting per dollar it spends. Of course cost-benefit for government is not a true measure for it is always cheaper to do less, and benefits really are hard to measure in dollars for things like dental check-ups or required hearing tests for babies or school children.

Coupled with the budgeting examination is the so-called Hobby-Clayton Commission which is reviewing the activities of state agencies to see if duplication can be eliminated. The report from that commission, it appears, will call for consolidation of governmental functions in much the way Carter combined the activities of the Georgia state government during his tenure as chief executive of that state.

The Hobby-Clayton Commission has long been the dream of Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado, who has introduced a bill to create such a body in every session of the legislature in which he has been a member.

But it took the helping hand of the governor and lieutenant governor and the proof from Georgia that such a system could work to get the bill adopted by the legislature.

Carter, during last week's debate said his reorganization of government slipped up on the strong lobby forces who really didn't believe such legislation would pass until it was too late.

That could well be the case in Texas, although lobbyist are going to have rough sledding trying to overturn recommendations of the blue-ribbon commission and of the governor, lieutenant governor and speaker of the House.

The reason Texas has more than 250 state agencies is that every time a new function of government, particularly a regulatory one, is passed a new agency seems to be created. There are boards to regulate new car dealers, private security guards, landscape irrigation architects, hearing aid salesmen and those are some of the larger ones.

The reason for the multiplicity of regulatory agencies is that those who are to be regulated want to control the regulatory agency. They want to be reviewed by those that do the same thing they do, rather than by "disinterested" persons.

So what else is new Ali wins controversial fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali, the winner and still heavyweight champion of the world, will go into a huddle with himself during the next few days and ponder two alternatives affecting his remarkable ring career.
 At age 34, his skills diminishing, should he be content to retire on the negative note of his widely disputed 15-round victory Tuesday night over challenger Ken Norton?
 Or should he try for one last, glorious hurrah — a repeat triumph over the hard-punching George Foreman — with a guaranteed price tag that could reach $10 million?

Boxing expects more blood and thunder from its heavyweights.
 "I outfought him completely," Norton said afterwards, not attempting to restrain the tears of disappointment. "I thought I whipped him decisively in our first fight and won the second fight although the decision went to Ali. I think I won this fight by a bigger margin than either of the others."
 The 31-year-old Norton, a rugged, picture athlete who tugged 6 feet, 3 inches, broke Ali's jaw and won a decision March 31, 1973, in San Diego but six months later lost by a slim margin because of a last-round Ali rally. Both fights were non-title over 12 rounds.
 Norton complained that it is impossible to beat the popular champion by decision.

significant whispers.
 "To enhance boxing's credibility, it is necessary now to call on the awesome punching power of George Foreman," King said. "He deserves another shot. I think an Ali-Foreman return bout would exceed any extravaganza yet staged in the boxing game."
 The big onetime Cleveland numbers king said he has been discussing prospects of such a fight with Herbert Muhammad, Ali's Muslim business manager, and he has been encouraged by the response.
 "I don't like to fix a figure but it could be a $10 million windfall for Ali and a big payday for Foreman," King said. "I have made contact with several foreign governments who are interested in the promotion — Turkey, Syria and Nigeria. Montreal, the Olympic capital, also is very interested." The prospective date is sometime within the next three months.
 Talk of a return bout with Foreman, whom he knocked out Oct. 30, 1974, in Zaire, quickened the interest of the somber Ali.
 "I say I been thinking about retiring," he hedged. "But maybe in a few days when my back don't hurt so much and my hands don't feel so sore I will change my mind. So I don't want to make a snap decision right now."
 Meanwhile, less than 100 yards away, over in the dressing room of the baseball Yankees, Norton, the defeated challenger, was venting his frustration on all within ear shot.
 "I was robbed," he insisted. "I won 10 rounds, at least nine. The judges gave the decision to Ali because they see him making a lot of money for boxing."
 Judges Harold Lederman and Barney Smith each scored the fight 8-7 in rounds for Ali while referee Arthur Mercante had it 8-6-1. A majority of the newsmen — by random sampling — gave the nod to Norton. A loud roar of boos came from the pro-Ali crowd when the verdict was announced.
 Overall, it was a heavyweight fight of little distinction. Here were two of the supposedly most powerful fighting men on earth — Ali at 221 and Norton at 217½ — slamming away at each other for 15 rounds and hardly making a dent in each other's facade.
 After the skirmish, in which there were no knock-downs and no visible blood, Norton suffered a bump under his right eye. Both men were red and bruised from the pounding but virtually unharmed.
 Ali started out with a flat-footed, bore-in style as he promised, fell back on his familiar dancing routine in the middle rounds and held his own in some wild but futile hitting sprees at the finish. Norton slumped badly after dominating five of the first six rounds.

THROUGH the fieldglasses

By Danny Reagan

If you've been checking the Abilene paper recently, searching for any mention of the upcoming game between the Eagles and the Steers, well, good luck.
 Word has it that they aren't taking the Bovines too seriously. Seems like they didn't even hold practice last Friday, just ran a mile or so and that was it.
 Abilene may be swifter than the $6 million dollar man, but their record is the same as the Steers, 1-2, and you know what THEY always say, "THEY being those people who are always quoted for one reason or another"; THEY always say that football is 90 per cent mental, and on any given night anything can happen.
 So if you haven't bought season tickets, go down to Don Green's office across from the High School, wake him up and buy a few tickets to the game this Friday night in Memorial Stadium.
 You may be surprised at what the locals have in store for those who would strive to be beef-beaters.
 There's a rumor going around (seems like there's always one going around somewhere), that the whizz-kid quarterback for the Goliad 8th grade football squad, Ben Watson, is 16 years old.
 I asked Herald employe Sandra Green, who happens to be Ben's aunt, just how old he was, and she assured me that he had just turned 13 this school year.
 Was she sure, I inquired?
 "I ought to be," she replied. "I almost had him myself."
 Ben is one outstanding football player that not only dominates play because of his bigger-than-average-size for his age, but because he has a lot of natural talent as well.
 Ben is not only an ace on the field, but he makes straight A's in the classroom.

"I've whipped everybody I should whip. I got nothing more to prove. I am the champion. I keep saying maybe I ought to quit and spend more time with my kids."
 Ali has five.
 Don King, the Rockefeller Plaza ring entrepreneur who staged multi-million-dollar promotions involving Ali in Zaire, Africa, and the Philippines, came into the hectic dressing room and sat beside the prone titleholder. They talked in low and

Big Spring VB's bop Permian

The Big Spring Steerettes defeated Permian 15-6 and 15-9 in an easy victory in Odessa Tuesday night. This brings the Big Spring district record to 2-1 and their overall record to 7-9.
 Always glad to defeat Permian in any sport, the girls made up for their loss at Midland High last week. They are waiting to face Midland at home in the second go-round.
 In the game with Permian, Cassandra Green was high pointer with seven while Eva Rich served five.
 Outstanding spikers during the evening were Rose Magers, Becky Reagan and Eva Rich while Cathy Foreman played outstanding on defense.
 Coach Nancy Deason's charges play Midland Lee here Thursday night with the junior varsity game at 6:30 p.m. and varsity at 7:30 p.m. They are hoping for a crowd.
 The junior varsity lost to Permian 12-15 and 4-15. Shanna Farmer was high pointer with six points.
 The Big Spring team leaves for Duncannonville Friday to enter tournament of champions and will open against Spring Woods of Houston.
 Last week, Abilene High, earlier defeated by Big Spring, left the Big Spring team out of their tournament

'I know I won it,' Norton

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Norton was in tears as he entered his dressing room at Yankee Stadium Tuesday night after losing a unanimous 15-round decision to heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali.
 "I know I won it, you know I won it," Norton said. "I think even Ali knows I won it."
 "The fight speaks for itself. I outfought him completely. I wasn't even breathing hard. I've worked harder in the gym."
 Norton said he was never hurt during the fight, with one exception. "He stuck a thumb in my eye. That was all he could do," Norton said.
 "I won at least nine or 10 rounds. I didn't think there was any question about that," Norton said. "I knew he was hurt two or three times and he never hurt me."
 "I was robbed—what else can I say?" Norton kept newsmen waiting outside his dressing room for more than 30 minutes following the fight.
 "He needs time to get his head together," one of his aides said. "They ripped the fight off from us."
 One official reportedly had the fight even after 14 rounds, but gave it to Ali on the basis of the final round.
 Norton didn't buy that.
 "I thought I was far ahead," Norton said. "And even if it was even, I didn't think he did enough to win the 15th. All he did was dance around."

 Norton said he was able to do whatever he tried to do.
 "I trained hard and was ready physically and mentally," he said. "From beginning to end I won the fight."
 "I didn't jab as much as I had planned, but that was because I was able to hit him whenever I wanted to. In the middle rounds I was playing with him, ducking my head to show him he couldn't hurt me."
 During the first few rounds Ali spent much of the time talking to Norton, taunting him, apparently part of his psych job. But by the latter rounds, it was Norton who was doing the talking.
 "Was he mocking the champion? Yes, I was," Norton said. "I was angry. I was upset at the way he was behaving. It was ridiculous."
 What did Norton feel when the unanimous decision was announced?
 "Disappointment, grave disappointment," he said, shaking his head. "It was those New York judges—they were thinking of the money. If Ali wins he fights Foreman and that's big money, right?"
 "Well that shouldn't happen. I should have a rematch first. That should be mandatory."

Oakland hangs in

OAKLAND (AP) — Sal Bando's seventh-inning home run and the two-hit pitching of Mike Torrez gave the Oakland A's a 1-0 victory over Kansas City Tuesday night, trimming the Royals' American League West lead to 2½ games.
 The second-place A's, who have won five of their last six games, have five games remaining and the Royals have four left, including one here Wednesday night.
 Bando, leading off the bottom of the seventh, drilled a 2-2 pitch over the left field fence. Kansas City starter Marty Pattin, 8-14, had allowed only three hits through six innings before Bando hit his game-winning shot.

Let Eagle Pass

EAGLE PASS, Tex. (AP) — A policeman has been fired, five players have quit the team and the governing body of Texas high school football has conducted an investigation in the wake of a brawl at a game here.

Laredo Nixon was leading Eagle Pass High School 39-13 in the third quarter Sept. 17 when a fight broke out between two players. Both benches emptied and the ensuing fracas continued for three or four minutes before officials and coaches separated the participants and stopped the game.

Bailey Marshall, director of athletics for the University Interscholastic League (UIL), said it was only the second time since 1968 that a game has been stopped by officials before time ran out.

"As far as we can find out it was strictly players fighting on the field and not fans," Marshall said Monday. "Officials evidently did a good job under the circumstances."

In his report to the UIL, referee Richard Keene said he stopped the game because "both teams engaged in an affray which could not be controlled by game officials, the coaches, or the local police officers on duty at the game."

However, it was police intervention that got patrolman Juan Picon fired, City Manager Jim Brown said.

Brown said it is city policy for school officials to handle players and for law enforcement officers to handle crowds if any fights break out at high school events. He said this policy was arranged after a fight occurred at a baseball game last spring in which Picon ran on the field and fired his service revolver in the air.

"The problem at the football game was that officer Picon left his post near the stands in violation of direct orders," Brown said. "Because of his past record, we felt another suspension would not be advantageous to discipline in the police department."

Brown said Picon had several temporary suspensions from the police force earlier.

Eagle Pass Coach Gary Griffin and principal Dan Bustamante said the brawl was exaggerated by area media.

"This was just a fight between players on the field," Bustamante said Monday. "It wasn't a riot. But there were so many players involved that officials stopped it. We told the players the next Monday and told them this behavior would not be tolerated. We have a fine school and want to keep it that way." He said they wanted a good program with good sportsmanship here and anybody who didn't want to play by the rules should leave. Five of them left. I believe the players we got left really want to play football," Griffin said.

Griffin said some players decided to quit after talking with their parents.

DALLAS COWBOYS

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys aren't publicizing the victim but they've stolen the signals of at least one National Football League team this fall.

"We've picked off the signals on one team this season," Cowboy assistant Eralm Allen admitted Tuesday during Coach Tom Landry's preseason press conference.

Dallas, of course, wasn't saying how or who or whether it was preseason or regular season.

Dallas played Oakland, Los Angeles, Denver, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Houston in the preseason. The Cowboys have beaten Philadelphia, New Orleans and Baltimore in the regular season.

A number of teams use signals from the sidelines in the NFL. Coach Dick Vermeil of Philadelphia and his staff signal quarterback Mike Boryla from the sidelines.

The Cowboys shuttle their plays from Landry by either the guards, running backs or wide receivers. Assistant Ernie Stautner signals the Cowboy defense from the sidelines and wears brightly colored garb so middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan can find him.

"Ernie changes his signals up each week," said Allen. "Sometimes you can pick up things by watching the films."

Allen recalled the time when he was at Kentucky and Tennessee had a quick kick signal.

"The coach would take off his hat and brush his hair," said Allen. "We blocked the kick and upset them 23-0."

So, what Allen was saying, was that despite the computer technology of modern football there was still some old time detective work going on in the film rooms.

Allen seemed almost sorry he brought the subject up after undergoing some questioning on the subject and switched topics. Allen gives a scouting report on the upcoming Cowboy opponent for the press at the end of each of Landry's press luncheons.

"That's all I'm going to say about that," he said.

Wrestling is back!!

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

Do you thirst for the sight of two hulking sweaty bodies battering each other inside a rope-enclosed canvas platform?

Are you hungry for action-packed live entertainment with a capital ACTION, and a flair for the dramatic? Can you not sleep at night because you haven't seen anyone rip someone's nose off lately?

Would you like to go some place where, even though you are surrounded by perfect strangers, you can yell your guts out, and spout mild epithets, and have just one big of time?

Then brother, Wrestling is for you! For the first time in eight months, the Nation Wrestling Alliance (NWA) proudly presents Big-Time Wrestling in Big Spring.

Promoter Don Slaton has lined up a couple of head-busters for the night of Tuesday, October 5, in the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The main event features an ever-popular favorite of Big Spring fans, "Rapid" Ricky Romero, teamed with Dory Funk Jr. in a great tag team bout against Rip Hawk and Swede Hanson.

Four other events slated for that night's activities include bruising bouts between Super Destroyer and Cowboy Bob Ellis, Dennis Stamp versus Pistol Pez Whately, Scott Casey up against Tank Patton, and Teddy Dibassi versus Dan Burdick.

Slaton predicts this season's action to top all previous performances, as the wrestlers are in top flight condition and are "arin' to go."

Slaton is also looking forward to the opening of the new Howard College Coliseum. His wrestling bouts have already opened two brand new area coliseums, and he would like nothing better than to hold the inaugural event in the local facility.

Tickets for the October 5 matches go on sale at 4 p.m. that day at the Auditorium Box Office, and include ringside, general admission and tickets for kids three to 11.

Author, NASA presented 'golden fleece' award

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texas author has denied that he is being overpaid for a writing assignment from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., sharply criticized NASA Tuesday for offering a $140,000 magazine and book deal to the author.

Proxmire, a frequent critic of government spending, gave the NASA contract with author Edward Clinton Ezell of Webster, Tex., his "golden fleece of the month" award for bureaucratic waste. Both the author and a Johnson Space Center spokesman denied that the contract overpays Ezell for what they called a "highly technical" history which is expected to take three years of fulltime work to complete. Ezell was not mentioned by name by the senator but was identified by the Houston Post's Washington Bureau by a Proxmire aide. Under the contract, Ezell will receive $20,000 plus $4,000 in expenses to write a 6,000-word article on the landing and initial operations on Mars of the two Viking spacecraft. As part of the agreement, Ezell will also provide the agency with a survey of the available historical documentation needed for a book-length history of the Viking project. NASA then may exercise an option clause in the contract, Proxmire said, and pay Ezell $116,000—including $6,160 in expenses—to write such a history of between 100,000 and 150,000 words. "If a major publishing firm had given an author $24,000 for a 6,000-word short story with a promise of another $116,000 for a book, pending further negotiations, the lucky recipient would be an overnight celebrity," Proxmire said. Ezell said he was "getting paid to do a professional job." "They're calling for a 150,000-word book, and that doesn't count source notes," he said. He said his contract with NASA was approved by an "outside watchdog" historical advisory committee established by the agency and that the work must also satisfy that committee when completed. John McLeish, public information officer at the space center, said the contract "provided compensation of $20,000 for six months fulltime work for two people, the author and a research editorial assistant."

"Now That's More Like It"

Caprice Classic

October issue of CAR AND DRIVER magazine — "The most jaded car critics are in fact tripping over each other trying to be the first to anoint this sedan (Caprice) the best full-sized Chevrolet ever made . . . So it's our turn again, folks. The embers in our car-loving hearts are about to be fanned with a whirlwind that starts right here."

Prisoner swaps progress

HOUSTON (AP) — The U.S. Ambassador to Mexico says negotiations on an exchange of prisoners between the two countries are "progressing very well."

Joseph John Jova said Tuesday some constitutional problems, such as whether a trial and sentence in one country are valid in another, still must be worked out but negotiations should be completed by Dec. 1.

Complaints of alleged mistreatment of Americans in Mexican jails prompted negotiations on a prisoner exchange.

He said claims of mistreatment of American prisoners in Mexican jails must be balanced with the allegations of mistreatment of illegal Mexican aliens in the United States.

"Both sides have to look, above all, on the protection of human rights, human personalities and that includes undocumented aliens here and prisoners in Mexico," he said.

Jova, in Houston for a series of speeches, said the Mexican government views the influx of illegal aliens into the United States as a Mexican problem which must be solved through the creation of jobs and better living conditions.

He said relations between the two countries are basically good.

Endangered species act violated by two?

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted a Houston gun shop owner on a charge of violating the Endangered Species Act and U.S. Customs laws.

Glen Slade and a professional big game hunter, Rolf Rohwer of Lusaka, Zambia, also named in the indictment returned Tuesday, were accused of participating in a 1973 conspiracy to smuggle into the United States the horns and capes of two black lechwe in Zambia.

Tom Riley, special agent for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said there are fewer than 10,000 such animals on earth. The lechwe is a member of the antelope family.

Slade is free under $5,000 personal recognizance bond. The government contends that the black lechwe were killed by Slade and Roy M. Horlock while on a hunting safari arranged and led by Rohwer.

Horlock, president of a Houston construction firm, pleaded guilty recently to a federal criminal information of violating the endangered species law.

Horlock told U.S. District Judge Ross M. Sterling he had never heard of the lechwe and they could not be brought back to the United States.

Sentencing on Horlock's misdemeanor charge was set for Oct. 28. The maximum sentence is one year in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The government charges the capes and horns of the two animals entered the country at New Orleans and were listed as impalas and were sent to a Conroe, Tex., taxidermist.
