Syrian armored forces tighten grip on Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian armored forces tightened their grip on Beirut today, readying for a drive through the heart of the devastated city to separate Moslem and Christian combatants in the 19-month-old civil war.

The Syrian vanguard of the enlarged Arab League peacekeeping force took control of all northern, eastern and southern approaches to the capital. Their arrival Wednesday gave the war-weary city its first peaceful night in months.

An Arab League military spokesman said the Syrian air force was put on the alert "just as a precaution in case any one attempts to challenge the disengagement operation."

Columns of Syrian tanks ringed the city as an armored Syrian brigade prepared to move into the no man's land cutting Beirut into Moslem and Christian halves.

The spokesman said the 3,000-man brigade would advance in 120 tanks and 50 armored personnel carriers to set up a three-mile-long buffer zone by Sunday. They will be reinforced by 1,900 Saudi Arabian and Sudanese peacekeeping troops, he said.

Bulldozers of the Syrian engineer corps today were knocking down concrete barricades crisscrossing streets on the city's eastern fringes. Unarmed Christian militiamen stood by. Across the local front line Moslem fighters slept behind their sandbags.

A watchman said there was no shooting during the night, "so they slept for a change."

Sniping and random shelling virtually ended during the night. Hospitals reported only one person killed.

In Veterans' Day rite

Ex-students honored

Veterans Day ceremonies were held at 10:30 a.m. today at Big Spring High School to honor ex-students who died fighting for their country.

The ceremony was held in front of the plaque to which the Student Council, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, G.I. Forum, Disabled American Veterans World War One Barracks, and Gold Star Mothers, all contributed.

The plaque reads: "Freedom Is A Light For Which Many Men Have Died." Underneath this heading are listed these men who gave their lives in the service of this country who once attended Big Spring High School.

The ceremonies were introduced by Steve Evans, president of the student council. His introduction was followed by an address by John F. Smith, principal of the high school.

He first welcomed the honored guests including Mrs. Truett Thomas, Gold Star Mothers; Mrs. Kate Spivey, Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary; Mrs. Margaret Barnett, Veteran of Foreign Wars Auxiliary; Mrs. Leila Metcalf, American Legion Auxiliary; Mr. and Mrs. L.R. Mundt, World War One Barracks; Gus Ochotorena, G.I. Forum; and Buck O'Neal, Commander Disabled American Veterans and also

Carter ends his vacation

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter ended his five-day vacation today and flew home to Plains to begin the process of naming his White House staff, choosing cabinet members and setting the policy course of his incoming administration.

"I'm tired of vacation, I'm ready to go to work," Carter told reporters as he boarded a chartered commercial aircraft for the flight home with his family and the rest of his entourage.

Along with fishing and sports on the secluded wooded retreat at St. Simons Island off the coast of Georgia, Carter spent some time studying policy options of the coming administration and appointments to posts at the top level of government.

On the eve of the flight back to Plains, Carter's choice of a staff to help plan his transition to the presidency was announced by press secretary Jody Powell.

representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars as vice-commander.

In his address, Smith said, "Today we want to recall the sacrifices made by veterans throughout our great land; we want to pay tribute to their contributions to peace and the preservation of our nation. We want to remember those great men and women that gave their only life to keep freedom's light aglow."

Smith's address was followed by Taps, played by Keith McQuire, and Scott Shortest. The program concluded with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Gilmore gets 'death wish'?

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gov. Calvin Rampton today issued a stay of execution for condemned murderer Gary Mark Gilmore, delaying his execution until next Wednesday, two days after Gilmore was scheduled to die before a firing squad.

The delay would allow the Utah Board of Pardons, at its next scheduled meeting on Wednesday, to consider any action in Gilmore's case. The board has the power to commute sentences or issue pardons, whereas Rampton does not.

Announcement of the stay was made by Rampton's office.

Gilmore, who says he does not want to spend a lifetime in prison, appealed to the Utah Supreme Court on Wednesday to let him die on Monday. The court agreed and vacated its earlier stay of execution.

Gilmore's attorney could not be reached immediately for comment on Rampton's action.

The execution would be the first in the United States since Luis Jose Monge died in a Colorado gas chamber on June 2, 1967.

More than 400 men and women await possible execution across the nation.

Gilmore, wearing handcuffs, white prison garb and red-white-and-blue tennis shoes, told the five Supreme Court justices Wednesday:

"I believe I was given a fair trial, and I think the sentence was proper, and I'm willing to accept it like a man and wish it to be carried out without delay."

The justices, in a 4-1 ruling, then vacated a stay they had granted Monday by a 3-2 vote and agreed to let Gilmore be shot on schedule.

"The stay of execution heretofore granted is withdrawn and vacated and any appeal filed on behalf of Gary Gilmore is dismissed forthwith," the court said.

Gilmore's role in the case left groups opposed to capital punishment in an awkward position. But Shirley Peltier, director of the Utah chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, said her group was considering at least two possible lines of last-minute appeal.

She said one was to appeal the constitutionality of the Utah law to the U.S. Supreme Court, which ruled earlier this year that capital punishment was not inherently unconstitutional.

The other possibility, she said, was to ask the courts to forbid use of tax money to pay for an unconstitutional execution.

Each of five volunteer members of the firing squad would earn $175.

Sentenced to electric chair 'I don't want to live with myself no more'

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Robert Excel White, 30, stood before the district court judge and told him: "I don't want to live with myself no more."

With those words Wednesday, White asked the court for the earliest possible execution date in the electric chair for the murder of an aged grocery store attendant in May 1974. He also was charged with the slayings of two McKinney youths at the same time.

Judge Tom Ryan then sentenced White and accomplice James Owen Livingston, 26, to die in the electric chair "before dawn on Dec. 10."

"Any compassion this court might show you, sir, is not directed at you, but at the three lives you destroyed," the judge told White.

White had told the court he did not want "any delays" caused by additional appeals. "I am asking for the earliest execution date... the reason is I do not want to live with myself no more. I have finally put together how three people died and I am the one who killed those people. It is a hell of a thing to live with, sir. I am not going to ask forgiveness from no one because I don't deserve it."

Livingston merely stood before the judge and said: "I ain't got a word to say."

The two men were convicted of murdering Preston Broyles, 73, at the Hilltop Grocery early in the morning of May 10, 1974.

Court testimony showed that Livingston and White, accompanied by Livingston's 26-year-old brother, Gary Dale, walked into the store and found Broyles and Billy St. John and Gary Coker, both 18. The two youths had stopped for breakfast on their way to work.

When White and his companions left, Broyles, St. John and Coker were dead.

Court testimony showed that White admitted to a Collin County deputy that he shot Broyles after shouting at James Livingston, "He's mine. I'm gonna kill him."

White turned himself in to Cleveland, Miss., authorities a week later. The Livingstons, both of Waco, were arrested in Texas.

The possibility of other litigation leading to a stay was raised by David Kendall, an expert on capital punishment for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Kendall said there were reports that Denis Boaz, Gilmore's new California lawyer, was a writer as well as a lawyer and might have a contract to write about the case. This, he said, might represent a conflict of interest.

"My client understands his absolute right to an appeal, but he does not wish to take it," Boaz told the state high court on Wednesday. "This is not a suicide pact or perverse death wish."

But Espin in a telephone interview after Wednesday's decision said he thinks a suicide motive "is a very real possibility" for Gilmore's recent behavior.

Espin said the convict once told him, "If they don't do it, I'm going to do it myself. I'm not going to spend the rest of my life in prison."

Gilmore, who would be 36 on Dec. 4, was convicted of first-degree murder time gas station attendant. 25, last summer during the robbery of a Provo motel.

Action/reaction: Strike three?

Q. Why is no left turn allowed onto 3rd Street if a car is going north of Main? The no-left-turn restriction sure makes getting around the square different.

A. This question has already been answered on two other occasions. Possibly it keeps coming up because many motorists are very dissatisfied with the ruling. The traffic engineer and the traffic commission, after discussing with downtown merchants the problems surrounding traffic backing up on Main between 3rd and 4th, approved the no left turn regulation with final approval by the city council. A change in this ruling would have to go back through the traffic commission and City Council, which is possible if brought to the traffic commission by calling City Hall.

Offbeat: Dog's tale

Howard County Sheriff's Deputies and Big Spring Police cleared up a grave mystery Wednesday.

It all began 5:40 p.m. Tuesday when Mark Walters, 505 Nolan, reported finding a crude grave 250 yards south of the Berkley Mobile Homes Inc. factory. The grave was marked with a wooden cross containing the legend, "K.C. - 4-26-76."

Who was K.C.? What was beneath that rough-hewn wooden cross? And what was a grave doing next to a mobile home factory?

Speculation ran rampant. One police captain guessed that "K.C." stood for Knights of Columbus. But couldn't it also stand for Kansas City?

The real answer came at 2:09 p.m. Wednesday. After minutes of investigative work, local law enforcers learned from a previous owner that the grave was the final resting place for a four-and-a-half-month-old Doberman Pinscher.

K.C.: may he rest in peace.

In order to get nectar Bees travel up to 5 miles

By BILL WERRELL
 Danny Nichols harvests about 1,200 pounds of cotton honey every fall. Nichols is a bee man and makes a second income from the labors of his bees.
 "I've got about 50 hives scattered around here and neighbors' farms," said Nichols, "and each bee may go as far as five miles to get some nectar."
 At the top of the season, which is usually around July and August, there may be as many as 65,000 honey bees in each of Nichols' hives. This gives him a working force of 3,000,000 bees all working from dawn to dusk to make the honey that Nichols sells.
 How can Nichols move his hives from one location to another, and how does he keep from being stung when robbing the honey?
 "The main body of the hive is what I call the brood chamber. This is essentially just a box with removable frames of honey comb. This part of the hive I don't try to rob because that's where the Queen lays her eggs, and the worker bees raise the new young brood," Nichols said.
 "Above this main box are any number of other boxes that also have removable comb frames. They're called supers, and are used by the bees to store all their surplus honey." Nichols takes the honey from these supers, and will sometimes get as much as thirty pounds of honey from just one of them with nine frames of comb.

 "I don't get stung too much because I'm real careful not to stir up the bees when I rob a hive," said Nichols.
 "One of my best producing hives has bees that are plumb, downright hostile; they'd just as soon sting you as look at you. That's why I wear heavy overalls, gloves, and a veil," said Nichols.
 Nichols still gets stung when the bees penetrate his coverings, "but I hardly even notice them anymore; they sting for a second, but don't even swell up now, because I've built up a resistance to them."
 "The important thing is to get rid of the stinger as soon after you're stung as possible, because the stinger has poison in it, and the longer it stays in you, the longer it will secrete poison," he said. "Never pull the stinger out with your fingers, because invariably you'll squeeze more venom into your wound; instead just brush the stinger away with the side of your hand."
 Once stung, the sight of the wound is highly attractive to other bees, so wash or mask the area with a natural odor," advised Nichols.
 As sound as his advice may seem, sometimes Nichols is unable to follow it himself when doing something ticklish in the hive.
 "There have been times when I've had to take a sting just because I was too busy to worry with brushing the stinger away."
 Where does Nichols get all his bees?
 "Most of the time I buy bees and hives from people who can't spend the time it takes to inspect the hives and make the preparations for the honey crop. I've collected quite a few wild swarms of bees that have landed in someone's backyard, and I always find more swarms in the city than I do in the country," said Nichols.
 Nichols knows the strength and condition of each hive of bees.
 "It's important to know the condition of each hive, because if you don't you could easily lose the entire hive to wax moths, foul brood, or robber bees. I've gotten to know what condition my hives are in from outside the hive."
 "I used to have to investigate each hive by taking it apart and looking for the signs inside the hive; now, I can see what condition they're in by just watching the bees fly in and out. If they're not working I know there's trouble."
 Nichols has only lost two of his hives in the last two years.
 Where do Nichols' bees gather their nectar or pollen?

"In the spring most of the honey comes from mesquite trees and any surrounding fruit orchards, and wild flowers. Spring harvest was good a couple of years ago and I got about 60 pounds of honey from just three hives. The mesquite hasn't yielded too much lately, it's been too dry," Nichols said.
 Nichols collects the most honey in the fall. The large harvest in the fall is due mostly to the cotton crop. He only took honey from 30 of the strongest hives and got over 30 pounds of honey from each of them. And that's a conservative estimate, he claims.
 "Cotton honey is comparable to the finest grades of clover honey," said Nichols, "and I personally think it's better."
 Bees are necessary (for those of you who find little use for them) for the pollination of our agricultural crops and are consequential to the Big Spring area because of this.
 The recent development of the male sterile cotton holds promise for "hybrid" cotton production in the future. The pollination and setting of this male sterile cotton by bees may be the only commercially feasible method of pollination, since any number of bees can be concentrated in the area of the cotton plants.
 Danny Nichols sells this honey to lots of people in town and also sells it from his home, on Gail Route off of the Snyder Highway.

Judge Mutscher dodges higher office question

BRENNHAM, Tex. (AP) — Former Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher has denied, but in leave-the-door-open style, that he will try to further his career beyond Washington County.

Mutscher was sworn in as county judge Tuesday, a week after his unopposed election, and afterwards he said in a telephone interview that he is enjoying his "little courthouse job." But he hedged on a statement that he has no plans to seek higher office.

"I would say—at this time—that this job doesn't point in any other direction," said the once powerful House speaker. "I like people and I like public life but it (higher office) has got to be a meritorious thing. I've got too much to do to go around running again."

Mutscher was appointed to his present job by Washington County commissioners last July only hours after a state district court judge released him from a 48-month probation.
 He was convicted in 1972 of charges of conspiring to accept a bribe from Houston bank promoter Frank Sharp. The release gave Mutscher a clean slate enabling him to again accept public office.

Despite the scandal to which Mutscher's name was linked, Washington County officials have vowed their complete support, County Commissioner Robert Gaskamp said.

"He's done a wonderful and terrific job so far," said Gaskamp. "That (Sharpstown scandal) is behind us. Besides, I don't think 99 per cent of the people around here believed it anyway."

"I've always said I thought we had one of the best Houses ever. It was a real All-American team," Mutscher said. He added that he received countless congratulatory telegrams and letters from legislators past and present when his probation was canceled.

 The wounds of Sharpstown are deep, but only Gus Mutscher knows if he will try to return to Austin once they are healed.

Mayor reveals pay raise idea

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Fred Hofheinz says he will recommend a 5 per cent across the board pay raise for police officers and fire fighters to the Houston City Council.

He said Tuesday he will make the recommendation even though it will widen longevity pay disparities in the departments as much as 14.7 per cent.

He said he would prefer a salary schedule that would give officers equal annual pay increases through the first five years of service but he opposes any increase which would average more than 5 per cent.

Eight blacks ax court plans

HOUSTON (AP) — An attorney for eight black Houston police officers says the group has dropped plans to seek a court order prohibiting police department promotions pending the outcome of a federal lawsuit.

The eight officers filed suit against the department last month alleging discrimination against blacks in recruiting and promotions.

Attorney Henry M. Rosenblum said Tuesday his clients requested that a court injunction not be sought because to do so would "not be beneficial to the citizenry of Houston and the police department."

Rio Grande City bank rumors spread by FDIC?

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — The president of the First State Bank and Trust Co. of Rio Grande City refused comment today on reports that depositors were making withdrawals from the bank because accounts were no longer insured by the Federal Insurance Deposit Corp.

Bank president Frank Anderson, however, admitted that "we've had some withdrawals."

He referred questions about the bank to lawyer Allen Wolf, but said he did not know where Wolf could be reached today.

Asked for comment on reports that depositors were standing in line outside the bank when it closed Wednesday, Anderson refused to comment.

"The FDIC is spreading all kinds of rumors and we've asked our lawyer to look into them," Anderson said.

Anderson said there were persons standing in line at the windows when the bank closed, but angrily denied that they were lined up outside the bank.

Asked if the withdrawals were substantial, Anderson angrily said "I've said all I'm going to say."

Charles M. Pickett, regional counsel for the FDIC at Dallas, said the FDIC has terminated FDIC insurance on all future deposits at the Rio Grande City bank which is controlled by secretive South Texas rancher-banker Clinton Manges of Duval County.

The bank was closed today because of Veterans' Day.

Earlier, the FDIC had been critical of the bank's policy of making loans to persons described by the federal agency as "insiders."

Frank Anderson, president of the First State Bank and Trust Co. of Rio Grande City, said the bank withdrew from the FDIC voluntarily because of what he called "so much darned interference from the FDIC."

Pickett noted that all deposits in the bank as of Wednesday would be covered for up to $40,000 and would be covered for two years by the FDIC.

Body of young woman found in fiery room

SLOCUM, Tex. (AP)—Officers in this deep East Texas town today were investigating the shooting death of a young woman who was found in the burning bedroom of her home Wednesday.

Police said the body of Mrs. Debra Joyce Robbins, dressed in a nightgown, was found near her bed by firemen after a passerby reported the house on fire. Authorities said Mrs. Robbins had apparently had been shot once in the head.

Mrs. Robbins' husband, James, told police he had left the house for work at 5:30 in the morning and his wife was still in bed. The couple had been married five months. Today would have been her 20th birthday.

Several types of flu may be stalking scene

Several varieties of flu besides swine (A-New Jersey) flu may be stalking the scene this winter. A-Victoria and B-Hong Kong are expected to appear but no one can predict if they will be as bad as in past years, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) says.

When the Hong Kong flu first appeared in 1968, it caused approximately 33,800 deaths. Since the virus has been around several years now, many people have built up some immunity to the virus so it should not be as dangerous as in 1968.

The Victoria flu caused about 11,000 deaths last year. Federal Center for Disease Control officials say increased immunity may cut down on its severe effects this year. In 1975 this flu affected mainly the elderly and the chronically ill so Victoria vaccine is included with swine flu vaccine for those two high risk groups.

A physician may advise that high risk persons also get a Hong Kong vaccine shot. Flu shots need to be taken at least two weeks apart in case a person has a reaction to shot. Most reactions involve a sore arm and/or a mild fever and minor aches and pains for not more than two days.

Drug companies are making mainly swine flu vaccine, swine and Victoria flu together (bivalent vaccine), and Hong Kong vaccine this year. Generally firms base their production on federal predictions of major flu varieties expected to appear. Only one company is making anything different. It is producing a vaccine that has A-Scotland and B-Hong Kong vaccine mixed together.

There is no cure for flu. TMA advises people to stay home, rest, drink enough fluids and eat a light diet. If fever is high or persists, a doctor should be consulted since other diseases may have symptoms similar to flu. A physician also can treat any flu complications which range from pneumonia to ear infections.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, NOV. 12, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day as well as the late evening are excellent for making long-range plans for the future. In the afternoon and early evening you need to guard against disturbing influences.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use a sensible plan of action for improving your security. Show others that you are a thoughtful person. Express happiness.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle regular routines early since you may have interruptions later. Don't neglect important correspondence.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Dive into monetary affairs with associates until everything is in fine order. Study facts and figures carefully.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Consult business expert for advice you need. Taking treatments to improve your health and appearance is wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Tap your subconscious for the answers to perplexing problems and you come up with the right ones. Think constructively.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make plans to engage in a pleasurable hobby with congenials. Study every phase of a new project you have in mind.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do whatever will improve your standing in the community in which you reside and feel happier. Avoid the social tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try a new tack where a long-standing problem is concerned and get better results. Make the evening a happy one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Use correct methods in handling responsibilities and you get better results. Be wary of strangers.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try to please associates more or you could run the risk of severance of connections. Make plans for the days ahead.

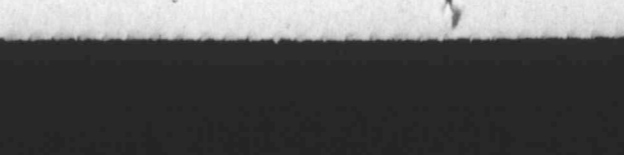

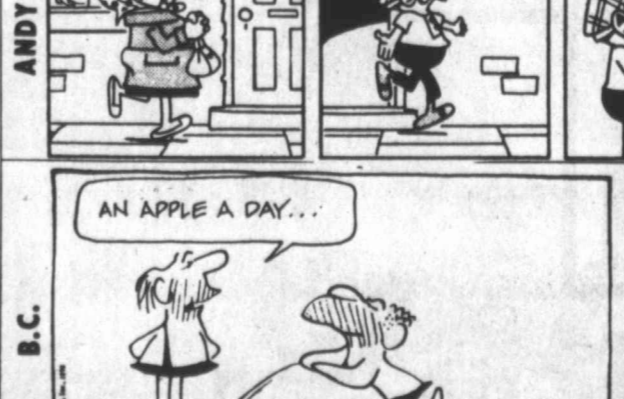

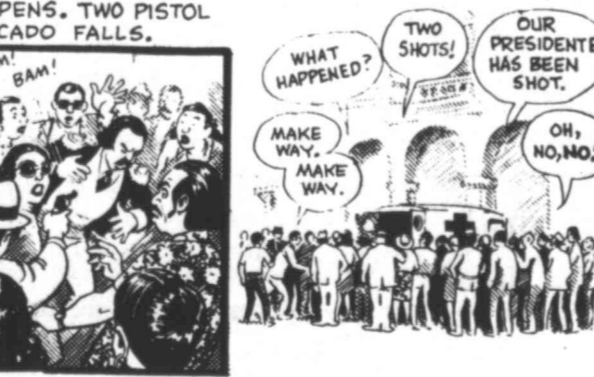

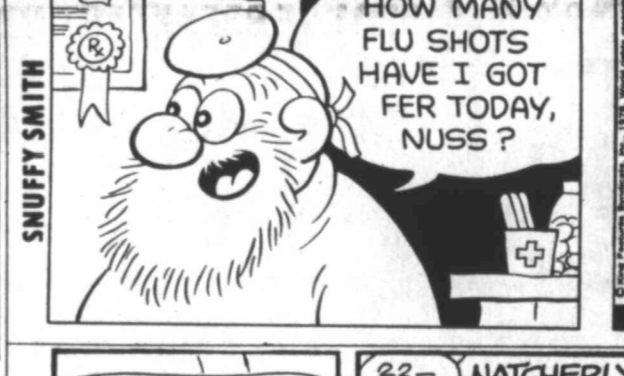

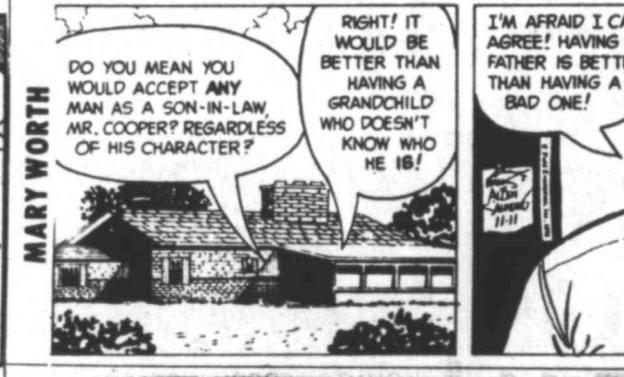

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can accomplish a great deal in your career work if you get an early start today. Come a better understanding with mate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make plans early for weekend amusements. Evening is best for study and relaxation. Improve your appearance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can easily become most successful in both monetary and emotional realms during lifetime. Teach not to be too sensitive and to be more objective. The field of merchandizing and pleasing the public is best here. Give good grounds in ethics early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Tech, Hogs can't afford mistakes

Race to cotton shrinks

Southwest Conference championship race swings into the stretch drive Saturday with Arkansas and Texas Tech at the stage where neither can afford a mistake.

Arkansas is expected to open up with the air game following a 7-7 tie against Baylor in which the Razorbacks passed only three times.

Sturdivant is out for the season. Wesson suffered a hyperextended knee last week against Rice but freshman Tony Black filled in admirably.

Texas Christian, which is plying its first game since Coach Jim Shofner announced his resignation effective at the end of the year.

Shepard makes AP honor roll

By The Associated Press. Friends jokingly suggest that Odessa High School quarterback Darrell Shepard brought Odessa Coach Dick Winder out of coaching retirement.

starter for nationally fifth ranked Texas Tech. Winder is back this season and with Shepard leading the way, Odessa has a 8-1 record going into Friday's Dist. 5-4A slugfest with archrival Odessa Permian.

Only two NFL games worth the watching

If you want to reduce the National Football Conference playoff picture to its simplest terms, you can wipe out the remainder of the schedule and concentrate on only two games — Washington at St. Louis and Los Angeles at San Francisco, both Nov. 21.

The Cardinals have a much tougher road to travel, especially in the next few weeks. Their meat grinder of a schedule has them in Los Angeles this Sunday, then Washington, Dallas and Baltimore in order before a last game let-up against the New York Giants.

KILLED HIM A B'AR — Dale Wortham, left, and Kenneth Booth, right, surround a bear, center, that Ken Hall shot last Sunday in Ontario County, New Mexico, near Timoron. The black bear, 350 pounds and approximately four years old, had attacked Hall, and Booth was forced to shoot the bear, wounding him. Booth and Wortham spent three hours tracking the bear, found him and put him out of his misery. The bear will be fully mounted and placed in Booth's office at 805 E. 3rd. The three local men also bagged their limit of deer.

Mistrial ends murder trial

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — The murder trial of Margaret O'Connell ended in a mistrial Wednesday when State District Court Judge Carl Stone said it was prejudicial to the case with jurors.

The woman was charged with shooting William Sharkey to death last July.

Two Tom Green County deputies testified they were told of the conversation between a civilian employee of the sheriff's department and a juror.

Judge Stone set a new trial date for the second Monday in April.

Mrs. O'Connell was fined $50,000 bond. She is a former resident of Big Spring.
