GOP chief quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Mary Louise Smith, a target of insurgent conservatives within the GOP, announced today she will resign in January but urged Republicans to avoid any "fatal lurch" to political extremes.

The resignation, which becomes effective at the Republican National Committee meeting here Jan. 14-15, is an apparent peace move to avoid a bitter leadership fight. Mrs. Smith said she hopes it will pave the way for a compromise chairman.

Conservatives have indicated they will move to take over the party leadership in the wake of President Ford's loss to Democrat Jimmy Carter.

"During the next six weeks I hope that all Republicans will consider carefully the results of past elections at the local, state and national levels," Mrs. Smith said in a formal announcement of her resignation.

"My own personal review of those election returns persuades me that we must maintain a party that simultaneously expresses concern for people's problems, embraces a healthy diversity of viewpoints and stands behind traditional Republican principles," she said.

"Surely, this is not time for destructive division within our party, just as it is no time for a fatal lurch to either extreme of the political spectrum."

Mrs. Smith said she resigned voluntarily.

"I have reached this decision after a great deal of thought about the future of the party and the role of the chairman," she said. "I hope that a broad consensus on my successor will develop within the party so that an orderly transition may take place at the committee."

Mrs. Smith, who had been a national committee member from Iowa since 1964, served as co-chairman of the party briefly before Ford recommended her to become chairman on Sept. 16, 1974. She was re-elected to another two-year term at the Republican Convention in Kansas City which nominated Ford for the presidency.

Although a leadership challenge had been expected at the January meeting of the national committee, it would have taken a two-thirds vote to oust her, which was considered unlikely.

Democratic Party Chairman Robert Strauss, who has been chairman since shortly after the 1972 presidential election, also has announced he is stepping down, probably early next year.

President to work on federal budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, after a relaxed golfing weekend at the Rockefeller estate in New York, returned to the White House to work on the federal budget and meet with President-elect Jimmy Carter.

Carter and Ford, in their first meeting since the election, planned to discuss the transfer of presidential power at a mid-afternoon session today.

The last time the two men were face to face was during their third debate at Williamsburg, Va., shortly before the Nov. 2 election in which Carter defeated Ford.

Ford planned to work several hours on the fiscal 1978 budget before the meeting with Carter.

According to Ford aides, the session with Carter was to be an unstructured meeting, open for discussion on any matters the President-elect wants to bring up.

Ford has promised to help provide a smooth transition from a Republican to a Democratic administration.

While in Washington, Carter and his wife, Rosalynn, will stay at Blair House, the official government guest residence across the street from the White House. Their initial trip to the nation's capital is expected to last two days.

Ford is to give Carter a tour of the White House and the West Wing working offices that include the famous Oval Office.

Betty Ford will do the same for Mrs. Carter, introducing the incoming First Lady to the household staff.

Deer hunter kills truck driver Highway patrolman slain near Rankin

RANKIN, Tex. (AP) — A deer hunter who witnessed the fatal shooting of a highway patrolman grabbed his rifle and killed the patrolman's alleged assailant Sunday four miles east of this west Texas town.

The hunter pulled off U.S. 67 near this West Texas town, grabbed his 6 millimeter rifle and shot the killer to death, said authorities who refused to name the hunter.

The dead patrolman was identified as Sammy Charles Long, 39, of nearby McCamey, Tex., an 18-year veteran.

Authorities said Long died from three bullet wounds in the back from a .32-caliber pistol. Long had been chasing the pickup at a high rate of speed, witnesses said.

Dist. Atty. Aubrey Edwards said Long had stopped a pickup truck, later determined to be stolen from California, after a high-speed chase. As he walked toward the truck, the motorist began firing, police said.

The hunter and his son saw the motorist shoot Long four times as he lay on the ground, Edwards said.

Authorities said Long died from three .32-caliber bullet wounds in the back.

"The hunter got out his 6 millimeter rifle and scope and shot the motorist.

SAMMY LONG

He said he shot four or five times, but I think he hit him only once," Edwards said.

Two San Angelo, Tex., coeds witnessed the killings and used their citizens band radio to summon help.

Carter gets new look at new home

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter, getting a look at his new home on his first post-election visit to Washington, met with a parade of high-level administration officials today before an afternoon session with President Ford at the White House.

James Lynn, who is Ford's director of the Office of Management and Budget, began the parade shortly before 9 a.m. EDT. He went to Blair House to meet with Carter, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House and the Old Executive Office Building complex.

As he left, Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld walked in. Shortly before Rumsfeld left, David Mathews, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, entered. The three men were preceded by the vice president-elect Rumsfeld said he had "a good meeting, a good discussion" with Carter. He promised to "cooperate fully and try to have the smoothest transition in history." Asked whether there was discussion about anyone to replace him, Rumsfeld said: "Oh, goodness, no."

He turned aside questions about other specific areas of discussion, including Defense Department budget cuts.

Carter has said he will cut $5 billion to $7 billion from the Pentagon budget by cutting administrative waste, increasing the time servicemen stay at one post, raising the ratio of military students to instructors and standardizing weapons used by NATO countries.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen declared: "The transition is going smoothly in accordance with the President's orders to his staff." Nessen said there was no format or agenda for the Ford-Carter meeting.

President and Mrs. Ford would meet the Carters at the South Lawn driveway and the President and President-elect would go immediately into the Oval Office, Nessen said. Meanwhile, he said, Mrs. Ford would show Mrs. Carter the living quarters.

Ford and Carter planned to confer alone at first, Nessen said, adding that aides might join them later. Both men would have an opportunity to volunteer comments to reporters afterwards but answering questions "was not part of the plan."

"I don't know of any other plans now to have an additional meeting," Nessen said.

Fire truck loaned to coahoma

Howard County Commissioner's Court today approved the loan of the County's reserve fire engine to the City of Coahoma.

Coahoma Mayor Joe Swinney appeared before the Commissioners today to ask their help for the Coahoma Fire Department. Swinney told the Commissioners that the $5,000 they provide each year helps cover the expenses of fighting fires, but does not help with the equipment the company requires. Swinney said the volunteer Coahoma department had fought 56 fires this year, that 90 per cent of those fires were beyond the city limits, and the wage of $3 paid each fireman for each fire attended just about accounted for the County money.

Swinney asked for $5,000 additional funds to provide needed equipment for the department, including a new tank on the engine and costs and helmets for the men.

Swinney pointed out that the city's ten-year-old truck had been answering calls all over the county and needed new tires in addition to the new water tank.

Commissioner Simon Terrazas pointed out that the possibility of a state or federal grant should not be overlooked by the court.

The court decided to loan their reserve engine to Coahoma as long as the city engine is crippled.

In other business in the morning, County Engineer Neel Barnaby reported on runoff problems in county road systems. He said the county had weathered the heavy snow in good shape with the exception of the access road to Coahoma's sanitary fill facilities.

Barnaby said this situation was "hopeless." He said the road was super-saturated due to its location in a run-off and that in the last 30 days $6,000 had been spent attempting to put the road in shape.

"It looks good now," said Barnaby, "You can drive 50 m.p.h. on it now, but one heavy rain will put a 500-foot stretch down into the neighboring ranch."

The Commissioner's agreed to examine several alternate solutions, including a different site for the facility and different access to the facility.

Barnaby also protested strongly the preference some people have shown to dump their garbage on the county roads rather than in the dumps.

"We picked up four piles in the past week," the angry engineer said, "And it's provoking to find the problem continuing not only with garbage and deer entrails, but with vandalism to signs and other county property."

Finally, in the morning session, the Court accepted a new Blue Cross-Blue Shield policy. The policy will entail a small additional cost to county employees and an additional cost to the county of $150 per month.

Action/reaction: A challenge

Q. How can you say it is illegal to turn left on double stripes on Gregg Street when the state law says differently?

A. A local traffic officer said that it is always illegal to turn left on the double stripes. However, the state law says that where markings are in place to define a no-passing zone, it shall not be construed as prohibiting the crossing of such pavement striping, or the center line within a no-passing zone marked by signs only, in making a left turn into or out of an alley, private road, or driveway. If parking lots in front of stores are driveways, you can turn left. Since the traffic experts fail to agree, perhaps everybody can do whatever they want to in this regard. Which is pretty much what they are already doing.

Offbeat: Need a bus driver?

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Darryl Eugene Bell says he simply likes to drive buses.

Bell, 24, of St. Louis, has been accused of "borrowing" more than 100 buses from Greyhound and Continental Trailways since the first incident when he was 9 years old.

This week, officials said he went AWOL from the Army and took a bus from St. Louis to Columbia. On other trips Bell has taken the buses as far as Los Angeles and Memphis. All of the buses have been returned without a scratch.

Bell was allowed to join the Army last spring while he was serving a one-year term in the Missouri Training School at Boonville for taking another bus.

While he was home on leave from Ft. Gordon, Ga., last May he was caught driving a Greyhound bus through the streets of St. Louis.

Greyhound was once asked to give Bell a job as a driver in view of his demonstrated skills, but the firm said it didn't hire drivers under 25.

Only bank in Starr County closes doors

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — The only bank in Starr County closed its doors today by order of Daniel Flynn of the State Banking Commission.

The First State Bank & Trust Co., owned by wealthy rancher-banker Clinton Manges, had been facing financial problems since it announced withdrawal from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

The notice from Deputy Commissioner Flynn was posted at the bank this morning and said the bank was closing because of insolvency.

Flynn and a team of state bank examiners have been at the Rio Grande City bank for the past 10 days.

The remaining $49,000, which the suit claimed was a personal loan to Manges, was secured with 3,000 shares of stock in the Groos National Bank of San Antonio which Manges also owned.

Manges had been trying since Wednesday to satisfy the demands of the lawsuit, sources said.

Manges said he withdrew from the FDIC to "try to destroy me."

Wrong way week

with Marj Carpenter

Just couldn't resist running this picture that turned up in the old Big Spring Herald files. If you're old enough, you'll remember Wrong Way Corrigan.

He's the one that the FAA officials — or whatever they were back in the 30s told Corrigan he could not have permission to fly from New York to Ireland, but that he could fly to the West coast. When he landed in Ireland, he said, "Oh my goodness, I must have flown the wrong way."

It's been that kind of a week. I got an anonymous letter. I've had anonymous letters on a lot of funny subjects but this one took the cake — or maybe I should say crown.

It said, "You had it all wrong when you said the Hayden girls were Homecoming Queens. They were El Rodeo Queens for the yearbook."

Come to think of it, that makes sense, because probably there wasn't any homecoming and nobody came home to Big Spring High School in 1921 and 1923. Only why send the letter anonymously?

If you're an authority on early schooldays, I'd love to talk to you about them.

Then there's another early-day student at the high school that told one school official that she had sent me a bunch of information about early Big Spring days. She also said I had never run any of it. That statement is true. Because I have never received it. If I knew where she sent it, I would rush out and pick it up.

All of you who have sent in suggestions for the columns, thanks a million. I intend to get to everyone of them. Some of them I have tried and have not yet been able to get together and some are still on the list. But I really appreciate them. Through you the reader, I am continuing to meet some of the most interesting people in the county and the area.

I also heard from somebody I had been trying to locate the previous week. The four-wheeler that was helping push Forsan cars over the top of the 13-mile hill last frozen weekend was a guy named Jim Rankin.

He doesn't particularly want any thanks for his three hours of hard work, but said somebody ought to thank the Thrifty Lady, who operates Thrifty Lodge. That's her CB handle and she got on the radio and located someone to go out and help the group over the hill after she got a frantic CB call.

REMEMBER THIS GUY?

She and the Coffee Man sent Rankin and another truck with an operator called the Prune Picker out there to pick up all of us prunes on that hill. Rankin said when he topped the hill in his 4-wheeler and saw two trailer trucks, two school buses and 45 cars more or less stranded out there, he nearly had a heart attack.

We did have enough to set up a new community if we'd had a few houses around.

I got a couple of other laughs this week. Jerry Worthy swears that he heard that the Columbus AFB wing commander had to land on one of Webb's two runways during the freeze-out and couldn't get to Columbus to use one of those three runways. Air Force officials here are absolutely mum on the subject.

Then I noticed a snowman with a sign up on E. 16th that caught my eye. They had driven a car up in the front yard, built a snowman beside the car and the snowman held a "For Sale" sign.

I don't know where the sign is now that Mr. Snowman melted.

But I know it's been kind of a turnaround week. I'm perfectly willing to admit that the Hayden girls were El Rodeo queens, that the CBers saved the day on Forsan hill, and that two runways are usually enough — if they're at Webb.

And if we all keep our sense of humor, no matter what transpires, everything's going to be all right.

Wrongway Corrigan certainly believed that. I never did get to see that guy — but I saw Lindberg once and I saw Amelia Airhardt once . . . a long, long time ago when I was hopping and skipping past all the fences.

Syrian forces occupy Lebanese Moslem ports

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Most of Lebanon was at peace and under Syrian occupation today on the 33rd anniversary of independence from France. Moslem and Christian leaders pledged to cooperate with President Elias Sarkis in rebuilding the ruined nation.

"Peace, peace with ourselves, peace in our country," Sarkis proclaimed in a broadcast after Syrian armored forces on Sunday occupied Moslem-controlled Tripoli and Sidon, the nation's second- and third-largest cities, without opposition.

The Syrian takeover, which touched off joyous celebration by the residents of the two port cities, came after 19 months of civil war between right-wing Christians and an alliance of Moslem leftists and Palestinians that took more than 37,000 lives.

This extended Syrian control to all of the country except a strip along the Israeli border, an area disputed between Palestinian guerrillas who formerly raided Israel from there and right-wing Christian militiamen who moved in when the Palestinians went north to fight on the Moslem side of the civil war.

The Palestinians have been moving south again to reopen their guerrilla bases, and the Israeli military command reported guerrillas fired a salvo of rockets across the border Sunday into the Israeli border town of Nahariya, damaging a house. The command said Israeli forces returned the fire.

Israel has said it would not tolerate the return of the Palestinians to the border area and has been aiding the Lebanese Christians in their efforts to take over the region. Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres said Sunday that his government would also object to the presence of Syrian troops in the border area.

Jordan's King Hussein went to Damascus Sunday to see Syrian President Hafez Assad.

A little lower The spirit of Thanksgiving

By WILFRID M. CALNAN, A.C.S.W. Director, Howard Co. Family Service Center

The year, 1621. The third Thursday in November. Late in the afternoon, Massachusetts Bay. A crude log house. The home of Ephraim Johnson.

It is a time of thanks.

In your history books you won't find the name of Ephraim Johnson listed among the Pilgrim Fathers. You see: He was the quiet one. He kept his own counsel. Except on rare occasions. The other members of the settlement very gradually came to know him and respect him. Quietly he helped build the town hall. Nobody ever knew where he acquired his carpentry skills. But carpentry skills he had. He would look at a building problem, then study it. Then he would make his suggestion. His fellows, started at the soundness of his suggestion, would bid him go ahead and then fall in behind him.

It was like that at town meetings. He would be silent. There would be a debate and an argument. Suddenly, someone would say, "Yon Ephraim is wise. Let us ask him."

Life in Ephraim's family was like that, too. Mistress Johnson went quietly about her mothering, her canning and preserving. Always with confidence. Because Mr. Johnson was at hand. He knew just how to win vegetables and fruit from the stubborn soil. When he was gone on a hunt, she had confidence he would return with the meat their family needed.

In dead of winter, Mr. Johnson, she was assured, knew how to take care of the fevers of their two little girls.

This afternoon, the simple feast was prepared. Mrs. Johnson brought the fowl, the stuffing and the herbs to the table. Abigail, the four-year-old daughter, playfully poked her six-year-old sister, Ann, as sisters always do.

"Mr. Johnson," Mrs.

Johnson asked, "will you please say the prayer." Ephraim quietly looked over his family, successively gazing directly at each one. Then he prayed:

"Loving and Divine God," his deep voice intoned, "we acknowledge Thy greatness in giving us our world and bringing us to freedom. Forgive us, we pray, that more often than we would have wished, we have failed Thee in Thy expectations. Thank Ye, Father, for the blessings of this new land and for our harvest. Thank Ye, for our family. For my faithful wife Ruth, for our daughters, Abigail and Ann. For Jamie, his brief life which brought us such great joy. Thank you for adversity that gives us the opportunity to test our strength.

"Now we ask you for the continued courage to suffer our loss of Jamie. We need courage, too, to withstand the hostile elements of our environment. Help us, we pray Thee, to look for and work for the freedom that we so long have cherished and which brought us to this new land of hope. We pray Thy succor and Thy blessing. Fill this feast with Thy Spirit. Amen."

Thursday, November 25, 1976, 4:00 p.m. C.D.T. Big Spring, Texas. In the neat small home of Sylvester Adams.

It is a time of thanks. Sylvester Adams does not wield power in Big Spring. At the plant where Sylvester works, though, fellow employees know this quiet man for his brilliance in solving intricate problems. They respect him for his thoughtful answers to their puzzles. He looks unafraid when friends are anxious about their future.

Sylvester lives with the assurance of a history that records faith and exudes hope. He remembers fondly his paternal grandfather, the Congregational clergyman, who related the family legends and the centuries of freedom and the principles that stake lives.

At home Sylvester is quiet. Nita, his vivacious wife, always seems assured and secure in his presence. Their children are their joy.

Nita calls that dinner is ready. On the way to the table Alma, their six-year-old daughter, pokes Elna, aged four, as little sisters always do. Sylvester looks in on baby Joey before he comes to the meal.

"Syl, the blessing?" asks Nita.

"Quite now, girls," Syl admonishes. "Remember school this week — when you acted out the First Thanksgiving. Now it's real again. Let's join hands."

"Heavenly Father," Syl begins, "we are proud to be your children and that you are our Father. Forgive us for failing you at times this past year. Thank you for your rich blessings. For this city which in its physical appearance with its desert hills reminds us of Bibleland. For this family and our wholeness. For the miracle that has kept Joey with us.

"Now we ask for strength, to know the blessings of adversity that test our mettle. Give us the courage to face the new world that opens to us. Help, we ask, all of us in this city, to be thankful for what you have given us these past years, and for the challenge that opens to us now to use our creative genius to re-new our city, that it will be renowned for decency, the protection of freedom, and that in all ways will be acceptable to you, Our Only God. Bless this dinner and may it nourish our bodies as your Spirit enables our soul. Amen."

Is another energy crisis nearing?

Is another energy crisis on its way for early next year? Some experts think so, and they have reasons. First, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is considering a price increase of what many people believe will turn out to be 15 per cent.

THIS WILL add one cent a gallon to gasoline at the pump in the U.S., they say, and more than that in Europe. And it will put more inflationary pressure on western industrialized countries.

The energy experts also predict what they call a "shortfall" in supplies of natural gas for this winter, especially if it is a cold one which it is starting out to be. They mean simply there won't be enough natural gas to meet all the needs in some portions of the country.

Although home owners will probably have enough, the "shortfall" will slow industry, particularly in the Northeast.

The promised "project independence" which was to reduce America's dependence on imported foreign oil was a disaster. Neither Congress nor the Ford Administration was willing to pay the political price of such a project.

So nothing happened, and we are now importing more foreign oil than ever before, while the prospects for a peace settlement in the Middle East remain elusive.

With these points in mind, the Texas Railroad Commission's decision to cut the statewide oil allowance for the first time in 56 months is interesting.

Until about five years ago, the oil allowance decision each month made important news in Big Spring and Texas. But since April 1972, the amount of oil allowed to be pumped from Texas wells had not, for the most part, been limited.

The wells could run wide open, 100 per cent.

The allowable decision, always 100 per cent, ceased to be big news in the 1970s.

However, the commission's decision leaped back onto the front page again last Thursday when it announced that the allowable will be reduced beginning Dec. 1 from 100 to 99 per cent.

The purpose of this decision was to put Washington on notice that the nation is running out of oil, Commissioner Jim Langdon said.

The one per cent will save 7,500 barrels a day, not a really significant amount.

But it is the principle that is important.

PERHAPS THE commission's action will "alert the nation" of the oil shortage. Nothing else seems to work in alerting Washington.

Three years after the big energy crisis, the country still does not have a comprehensive energy program of any kind, much less a good one.

What little has been done by Washington has come too late, and much of it has done more harm than good. The politicians just cannot face that America has a serious, long-range problem. The drilling rigs have been allowed to start piling up in disuse again, and still the politicians permit petroleum to be squandered through artificial pricing.

The oil out here in the Permian Basin is a portion of the life's blood of an energy hungry nation.

Maybe the Texas Railroad Commission's decision will encourage Washington to confront this problem before time has run out.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

An evil pickup

Around the rim

Danny Reagan

The first rim I ever penned many moons ago, under the name Starbuck Woolf, was about pickups my opinion of those four-wheel vehicles has changed. I'm even looking for one to purchase. But, there is one particular pickup in town that I don't like one bit. It's big and black and wakes me up every morning with its B-52 engine revving 2,000 rpm's.

THIS PICK-UP is evil. I can feel it. It has a mind of its own, and would surely lead a pick-up revolt vis-a-vis Alfred Hitchcock's "Birds."

Here's the story. Imagine a sleepy little hamlet set in the rolling foothills of some long-lost mountain range. The inhabitants of the village, especially those of two apartment complexes are sleeping blissfully, unaware of what is to befall them.

All of a sudden, before the sun peeps its orange-rimmed pumpkin over the smog to the east, a thunderous roar besets the early morning air, causing wild animals and fowl alike to scurry for cover.

A species of pickup known as PITE (Pain in the ears) has just started its howls on fire. The PITE makes its home between two clusters of human-beings dwellings known as Barc-Park.

The PITE, its black plumage adorned with headlights, tail-lights, running lights, fog lights, top lights, tacky lights and loud lights, begins its morning ritual of growls and howls for 20 minutes.

SLOWLY THE creatures of nature come out of hiding and run off to quieter surroundings. Scores of human-beings on either side of the PITE are not so lucky. Bounced rudely out of bed before the school lunch menus even crack the airwaves, they have no choice but to lie in bed, their beauty sleep abruptly ended, and silently curse the wild PITE.

As soon as the PITE is certain everyone in ear-shot is wide awake, it leaves for one of the area Oil Well Service companies, its daily task a mystery.

Vigilante groups have been spoken of over coffee and during parties by groups small and not so small. But there seems little that can be done under the laws that govern men.

Tar and feathers would only incite the vicious PITE. The only hope left for the blood-shot eyes of the inhabitants of Barc-Park is that the PITE will find its home elsewhere, or will one day blow a rod or be traded in on a NICE (nice inconspicuous Chevy economy) car.

Return of Edgar Smith

William F. Buckley, Jr.

I am behind the curtain of the auditorium at the University of Alabama in Huntsville, and my host now slips through to the podium. Presently he will introduce me, I am to follow in his footsteps, and begin my speech. Just then a student puffs in, having taken the steps three at a time. Before I go on — he stammers out — I am to telephone Bodino Rodino at the Bergen Record, re — Edgar Smith. I stuff the message in my pocket, a bottomless pit by now for messages from people who wish to speak to me about Edgar Smith.

NOW IT IS a television studio, a live show, coast to coast, Good Morning America. I am there to discuss a new book I have written on a subject far removed from the world of getting and spending and killing — sailing boats. The props — enticing pictures, taken at sea — are all in place, and the star of the show opens up: "First, Mr. Buckley, I'd like to ask you about Edgar Smith."

Very well, I surrender.

1. Edgar Smith was tried and convicted in 1957 of murdering a 15-year-old girl. In 1964, we began a correspondence. Over the ensuing seven years, he wrote me 2900 pages of letters (he counted them). I became convinced that he had not been fairly tried, and that he could not have committed the murder in the time and under the circumstances alleged.

Two gifted attorneys, for the most part volunteering their services, persuaded a very bright judge that Edgar Smith had not been fairly tried. Rather than re-try him for first degree murder, the New Jersey court bargained with him. If he would say that he killed the girl, the prosecution would reduce the charge to second degree murder. Counting "good" time, his release would be effective one hour after he stood up in open court pleading guilty. One hour later, he emerged from Trenton State Prison into my waiting car, and drove to New York City where, before the cameras, he retracted his confession, which he attributed to the requirements of "court theater." He had been in the death house longer than anyone in American history. The judge who let him out was profoundly convinced that Smith had in fact, as a seedy, shiftless 23-year-old, killed the girl. But, said the judge, if he had ever seen a rehabilitated man, here he was. Edgar Smith, member of Mensa, author of two best-selling books.

2. Just short of five years later, one of the attorneys telephones. He has received a report that Edgar Smith is wanted in San Diego, California, for "atrocious assault," kidnapping, and attempted murder. A young woman, her week's forlorn salary in her handbag, is dragged into a car by a man who announces that he wants her money. She resists and he plunges a six-inch knife into her, narrowly missing vital organs. She is a tiger, thrusts her two feet through the windshield, lunges against the wheel of the car, which lurches now off to the side of the freeway.

Desperately she maneuvers to open the door, and spills out in sight of a half dozen pedestrians who take the number of the license plate of the car that careens screeching off. The car is registered in the name of Mrs. Edgar Smith. The woman recovers in the hospital, is shown a picture, and identifies her assailant as: Edgar Smith.

Facts about Parkinson's Disease

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told by my doctor that I have Parkinson's syndrome. Please tell me what you can about it. I am 73. My left hand shakes so due to this condition. I also suffer quite a bit with my back at the end of my spine, which I think is arthritis. — S.P.K.

Research continues into this brain disorder which affects about a million elderly persons in the U.S. alone. It was described as early as 1817 (by Dr. James Parkinson) yet much remains to be learned about its cause. Progress continues to be made with regard to controlling symptoms.

The chief ones are tremor in the limbs, muscle rigidity (which produces a mask-like facial expression), instability in walking and a "pill-rolling" tremor of the fingers. These symptoms are particularly pronounced when the patient is at rest and tend to subside during activity.

In the vast majority of cases the cause cannot be pinpointed, but symptoms can follow brain inflammation (encephalitis) or the use of certain drugs, notably tranquilizers.

Parkinsonism usually strikes after age 50, most victims in their 60s or 70s. Today's longer life span has been a factor in the increase of reported cases.

Parkinsonism progresses rather slowly. It may be 20 years after its onset before a patient is incapacitated. Recent studies have shown periods of as long as five years between worsening phases. In some, speech may be slurred. Drooping can accompany facial nerve weakening. Your back problems may be a part of the general picture. It's usually caused by muscle spasm there, but arthritis can't be ruled out.

Researchers have found that in Parkinsonism there is a deficiency of a chemical (dopamine) in the part of the brain that controls movement. In the late 1960s a drug called "L-dopa" was developed. It acts for the missing brain substance, and has brought improvement in most patients. Before this, drugs of the belladonna group were the mainstay of treatment. Drugs such as amantadine have been used for milder cases.

Medicine is not a cure, but a control measure, and side effects such as mouth dryness and blurred vision are experienced by some patients. Physical therapy is also important in control, and I advise you to find a therapy unit in your area if you haven't done so.

Surgery, and more recently cryosurgery (freezing), has been used to eliminate the affected brain cells, but this is limited to a small percentage of patients for whom other treatment has no effect.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible to get pinworms from eating cherries with worms in them? The worms sort of remind me of pinworms. — Mrs. R.M.

There may be a resemblance, but they are not the same. Pinworms are pinworms.

They grow from their own eggs which are deposited about the rectum and then conveyed by hand to the mouth. Scrupulous hygiene is essential, especially cleanliness of the hands and nails. One must use caution in dealing with an infected person.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible that an electrocardiogram can fail to detect an inflammation or scar tissue from a coronary attack? I am a prisoner serving 40 years, and the EKG is the only test I can get here. — G.M.

The reading of electrocardiograms has become so precise over the years that the doctor skilled in reading them can pretty well pinpoint heart muscle damage. When the blood supply is shut off from a specific portion of the heart, there is damage and scar tissue. The EKG does not allow the physician to "see" this scarring, but it makes him relatively certain it's there.

Thus doctors can tell whether or not a patient has ever had a "silent heart attack" — one that was so minor as to not have given any outstanding symptoms. Nevertheless, telltale scarring will be there.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do you take time in your crusade to talk about sex? I think sex is disgusting and evil. — C.M.

DEAR C. M.: It is true that sex is sometimes perverted and distorted by people. We live in a sex-saturated society, it seems, and I believe Satan has used this to wreck the lives of many people and families.

However, I believe you also have a distorted view of sex, opposite to the view of those who worship sex. The Bible teaches that God gave sex to the human race as a gift; it can be a source of great blessing and happiness when guided by God's principles. Within marriage, the sexual relationship can be fulfilling and joyous. "Marriage should be honored by all, and the marriage bed kept pure, for God will judge the adulterer and all the sexually immoral" (Hebrews 13:4, New International Version). If it were not for sex neither you nor I would be here.

Sex becomes distorted and evil when it is used selfishly. Many have discovered the tragic consequences of sex that is practiced without love. That which was intended by God to be a source of joy becomes instead a source of bitterness and insecurity.

This is why I often talk about family life in my crusades. God has given marriage to the human race, and He has a purpose in it. A good marriage must be based on a number of things, not only physical attraction. However, we are seeing an alarming breakup of the family in our modern world. The only cure for this is to get back to the Bible's teaching about the family, and learn what God has to say about this important matter.

Will he 'talk'?

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — When Richard Nixon faces the television cameras for his first interview since he abandoned the White House, he'll be cross-examined as if he were on the witness stand.

TV interviewer David Frost, in the strictest of secrecy, has drawn up a set of questions that would satisfy a Watergate prosecutor. If Nixon balks over the rough line of questioning, the entertainer-turned-investigator may take legal action to compel him to reply.

SOURCES CLOSE to Frost say that any refusal to answer the hard questions would "not be in the spirit of the contract," which provides for an estimated $750,000 payment to the former president. They consider a lawsuit, however, only an "extreme possibility."

Frost himself, in a guarded talk with us from Paris, played down any such possibility. "I think," he said, "that (Nixon) wants to confront his past." Frost declined further comment.

To prevent the questions from leaking out before the taping session with Nixon next March, Frost has written harsh confidentiality clauses into the contracts with his three researchers. Nevertheless, we have learned that pointed questions will be put to Nixon:

—Was he responsible for the criminal erasure of the famous 18 and one-half-minute tape segment, which might have implicated him much earlier in the Watergate coverup?

—Does Nixon know of any other illegal acts, besides those already in print, that the White House plumbers carried out?

—Is he aware of other improper activities, not yet revealed, of the FBI, Central Intelligence Agency and Internal Revenue Service?

—Did Nixon authorize the so-called "Kissinger wiretaps" of newsmen and Kissinger aides? Did he approve any other wiretaps?

Frost also plans to ask the deposed president personal questions about his emotional reactions and his phlegmatic attack after he was forced out of the White House. And there will be historical questions, of course, about Nixon's role in ending the Vietnam war, negotiating the detente with Russia and China, the SALT talks, and the military coup in Chile.

Frost will conduct 12 two-hour, raw interviews with Nixon at San Clemente. These will be compressed into four shows, each to run 90 minutes. Frost hopes to put the programs on the air during consecutive weeks, beginning in May.

HE WROTE into his contract a clause that no one, including Nixon, will have the right to edit the raw material but Frost himself. He has hired three crack investigators — James Reston, Jr., Phil Stanford and Robert Zellnick — to help him with the basic research. Clearly, the famous TV interviewer will pull no punches.

MOON TROUPE — Rev. Sun Myung Moon, the self-proclaimed Korean holy man, has frequently lobbied in the halls of Congress on behalf of his religion, his country and the anti-Communist cause. We have previously reported how his missionaries collar congressmen and even frequent the inner sanctums of House Speaker Carl Albert's office.

Now confidential State Department cables reveal that Moon's minions have been throwing their weight around in the United Nations, in Africa and in the Middle East.

A June, 1975, classified cable from the U.S. mission at the United Nations to the American embassy in Sierra Leone, for example, claimed that Moon's Unification Church had acted as a "professional, well-financed lobbyist group at the 29th UNGA (United Nations General Assembly)." The Moon disciples, stated the cable, had worked with another group, protesting the treatment of Japanese nationals living in North Korea. The Moon troupe "consisted of very determined and well-organized people who are not willing to give up without a fight," the UN mission reported.

SOS from Schmidt

Evans, Novak

BONN — West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, coalition victor in the October election here which was even closer than the U.S. presidential election, is sending an SOS to Jimmy Carter on behalf of the Western alliance: take the lead in finding the elusive "joint Western position" to stave off economic disaster and fortify the West's defenses before it is too late.

IN AN exclusive talk with us — his first interview on the Nov. 2 American election — Schmidt praised defeated President Gerald Ford for having built up in Europe "the highest degree of confidence" in the U.S. in his brief presidential term.

Yet, he said, "the world recession now persists for three years" and there is not the slightest assurance that partial economic recoveries are any more than "upward bumps in a downhill road."

Schmidt wants a kind of permanent floating game of Western cooperation and consultation, an "intensive personal exchange of minds." The object: align the West and Japan in a new effort to stop the economic decay growing out of the "structural upheaval" in monetary and economic patterns, with particular attention on raw materials prices (including oil) and the balance of payments.

Behind Schmidt's insistent appeal for common economic and monetary policies is the rising fear in both his own Social Democratic party (SPD) and the Christian Democratic opposition party (CDU): that the West's military defenses are beginning to show gaping holes at the same time the Soviet military buildup is moving at what Schmidt told us was "enormous velocity."

ALTHOUGH SCHMIDT ignored the subject, lesser officials said that strong hints to Moscow have been quietly dropped through diplomatic channels here, informing the Kremlin that the U.S. would not tolerate for long the Soviet naval buildup without launching a comparable naval rearming which would touch off a vast new arms race.

Schmidt, a hard-line realist compared to the powerful left wing of the SPD, said nothing of this, but expressed confidence that the Carter administration, when confronted with the full picture of Soviet vs. Western defense spending, will be far more inclined to raise rather than cut the defense budget.

What singularly worries Schmidt about the obvious weaknesses now showing in the West's defense is that they dramatize the far larger U.S. and West German contributions to NATO, tending to lift the Big Two to preeminence over other NATO members. Down that road, Schmidt thinks, lie the gravest perils for Germany, Europe and the West.

In the first place, the elevation of Bonn to favored status in Washington would damage the slow progress being made toward Western unity, raising nightmare fears about a resurgent Germany. For that reason alone, Schmidt feels the trend by many NATO members toward reducing their NATO contributions must be stopped and stopped fast, so that NATO doesn't become a cloak, or disguise, for a U.S.-German alliance.

HOMEMADE ELECTRIC CHAIR — Dan Hottel, left, and Walter O'Bryant look over the homemade electric chair they built for a display. "Dan volunteered to do the carpentry work and I did the wiring," said O'Bryant, a former deputy now teaching law enforcement at a Cincinnati vocational school. The electric chair is capable of delivering 100,000 volts of electricity.

Teacher, pupil build 'hot seat'

CINCINNATI (AP) — In the corner of a classroom at Scarlet Oaks Vocational School sits a macabre student project covered with a tarpaulin — an electric chair, wired to produce a lethal charge of 100,000 volts. Dan Hottel, a junior in Walter O'Bryant's law enforcement class, built the chair under his teacher's guidance. The Cincinnati Bar Association had asked the school to "do something" for a display at a shopping center during National Law Enforcement Week last month. "Dan volunteered to do the carpentry work, and I did the wiring myself," O'Bryant said in an interview.

Southern Ohio Correctional Facility in Lucasville. They are identical except that the school's chair is made from pine rather than seasoned hardwood.

"I don't know exactly why I did it," Hottel said. "I thought it would be an interesting project. I'm not sure exactly whether capital punishment is right, but I wouldn't think twice about using the electric chair on some people, like mass murderers."

The project comes at a time when several states may be on the verge of carrying out executions for the first time in more than nine years, in the wake of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that upheld capital punishment.

Hottel said he has already decided what to build for next year's class project. "I've got this friend who's a policeman in France," he said. "I'm going to ask him to send me the specifications for one of their guillotines."

Farm — Corn Belt cash 'clean'

WASHINGTON (AP) — For several years corn prices have been high enough that many farmers have been able to sell it for Italy may buy U.S. wine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The idea of Italy importing wine from California sounds almost as absurd as Kansas buying wheat from Russia but that's exactly what the Agriculture Department says might happen.

Two U.S. wine producers exhibited their wares at the annual Vini d'Italia show in Verona, Italy, this fall, Sept. 19-26.

In 1975, for example, Italy sold $466 million worth of wine overseas, including $56 million of it to U.S. buyers.

cash and make money without having to slosh through mud and snow to feed it to hogs and cattle.

Traditionally, Corn Belt farmers — who produce most of the nation's meat supply — found that unless grain prices were unusually high they could make more money by feeding at least a large part of their crop to livestock.

But during most of the time since big exports caused grain prices to boom in 1972 it has been far easier — and often much more profitable — to sell corn on cash markets for shipment to the Soviet Union, Europe, Japan or to big U.S. feedlot operators.

Now, however, corn prices have dropped from their record peaks of two years ago because of back-to-back record harvests in 1975 and 1976 and there are indications that the 1977 crop may also be huge.

Also, there is some recovery ahead in the depressed cattle market which could eventually stimulate the feedlot industry. But the experts are not all that positive.

Cotton samples turn whiter

LAMESA — The Lamesa Cotton Classing Office reported it classed 27,166 samples this week, raising the season's total to 63,282. There are also an additional 17,000 samples on hand to be classed.

Don Lewallen reported that the samples were whiter than those being reported in other offices.

Grades 32 and 42 were predominate with 32 and 30 per cent respectively. Grades 52 and 33 both accounted for eight per cent. Grade 43 was nine per cent; grade 41, five per cent and grades 31, 51, and 53, all two per cent each. About 25 per cent were reduced for bark.

Staple 31 accounted for 34 per cent; staple 32, 28 per cent; staple 30, 19 per cent; staple 33, 12 per cent and staple 34, five per cent.

Eighty-eight per cent of the samples fell in the base micronaire range of 3.5-4.9.

Pam Holcomb shows champ

STANTON — Pam Holcomb, Martin County 4-H clubber and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Holcomb, showed the grand champion single in the West Texas Capon Show Saturday.

The Stanton Chamber of Commerce annually sponsors the show, which is one of the largest in the entire Southwest. Some 84 capons were entered, all of which were Cornish white rock crosses.

Showing the grand champion trio was Billy Shanks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Shanks.

The reserve champion single was shown by Leandro Gonzales, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gonzales and Cindy Stroud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stroud, showed the reserve champion pen of three.

Preston Faris, county agent, expressed appreciation for those who sponsored and helped with the show.

He also stated that plans are now under way for the county pecan show Dec. 1 and 2 in the Caprock Electric Building. Entries in both locally grown pecans and pecan foods will be accepted Dec. 1 with judging and prizes Dec. 2.

No talks at service for JFK

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas was to briefly and silently mark the anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy today — two blocks from where shots shattered the calm of a sunny November day 13 years ago.

Meanwhile, Dallas police gathered records of the killing, subpoenaed by a House committee investigating assassinations.

A short prayer and a moment of silence were scheduled at the Kennedy Memorial, close to the spot where — according to the Warren Commission — Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, shot and killed Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963.

"There will be no speeches," Dallas County Democratic Chairman Ron Kessler said of the short service.

The Rev. Zan Holmes, a former Texas legislator, and Dr. Paul A. Stauffer, executive director of the Greater Dallas Community of Churches, were to officiate at the memorial service.

Banks in Mexico refusing to sell pesos to tourists

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's central bank said Monday it has suspended the sale and purchase of all foreign currency because of recent "excessive conversions."

The exchange controls came 11 weeks after the government floated the Mexican peso Sept. 1. The peso was trading at about 24 to the dollar Friday, only one of eight private banks checked then was selling dollars and with a $1,000 limit.

Even banks at the Benito Juarez international airport exchanges of pesos to foreign currency had created "disorderly situations that have seriously altered the exchange market."

"Beginning Nov. 22 and until further notice, credit institutions will abstain from buying and selling foreign money and gold," the Banco de Mexico said in an announcement published in all of Mexico City's major daily newspapers.

Most private banks unofficially suspended the sale of dollars last Friday, claiming that they had depleted their supplies of the U.S. currency.

Mexican banks will continue to accept dollars for debts due to banks, savings and loan institutions and other financial institutions, the central bank said.

The Banco de Mexico said in Mexico City were refusing to sell pesos to tourists. A black market operation cropped up, and some tourists were able to buy pesos at 26 to one, one newspaper reported.

Rumors have been running throughout Mexico for several days that the government was planning to either nationalize private banks, invoke currency exchange controls or support the peso at new exchange levels to permit another devaluation.

Soviet leader arrives in Bucharest for talks

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev arrived in Bucharest today to tighten the Kremlin's ties with its maverick East European ally. But Romanian leader Nicolae Ceausescu appears certain to retain the independence he has established.

Even as Ceausescu welcomed Brezhnev at Otopeni Airport, U.S. Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson was talking with officials a few miles away in downtown Bucharest about ways of expanding U.S.-Romanian trade.

Diplomatic observers said that although Romania may be showing willingness to improve relations with the Soviet Union it hasn't changed its basic stance of being independent and developing ties with non-Communist countries.

Brezhnev's arrival today marks his first visit in 10 years. In the interim, both Presidents Nixon and Ford have visited Ceausescu and received warm welcomes. Strained relations between Romania and the Soviet Union dating back to the mid-1950s have improved, at least outwardly, since the summit conference of European Communist parties in East Berlin last June.

Brezhnev at that meeting appeared to accept the right of each Communist party to chart its own course without directives from Moscow. And in a visit last week to the pioneer European rebel against Moscow's domination, President Tito, the Soviet Communist party chief renewed his acceptance of Yugoslavia's independent stance.

Observers believe Brezhnev's trips to Yugoslavia and Romania are part of a campaign to present a unified Communist front when the 35 signers of the 1975 Helsinki Agreement on East-West cooperation meet in Belgrade next summer.

Relations between the Soviet Union and Romania hit their lowest point in 1968.

Irish potatoes smuggling up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ireland had a big potato crop this year while much of Europe's crop was reduced sharply by drought. Prices have jumped, and so has potato smuggling, the Agriculture Department said today.

The department's Foreign Agricultural Service said that the Irish potato crop of 1.28 million metric tons is more than enough to meet domestic needs. A metric ton is about equal to about 22 bags of potatoes weighing 100 pounds each.

But officials said that Ireland's restrictions on potato exports "have led to an increase in smuggling activity" and that up to 1,000 tons of potatoes have been leaving Ireland weekly in recent months for sale at lucrative prices abroad.

Growers and potato traders want the government to relax the regulations so the surplus potatoes can be sold overseas legally.

Weather — Mercury dives to 28 reading

By The Associated Press

A Sunday cold front has left Texas weather partly cloudy and crisp, as cool temperatures and no precipitation were expected today.

The front brought sub-freezing temperatures overnight to some parts of Texas. Abilene recorded a 28 degree reading, while the mercury dipped to 29 at both Wichita Falls and Longview.

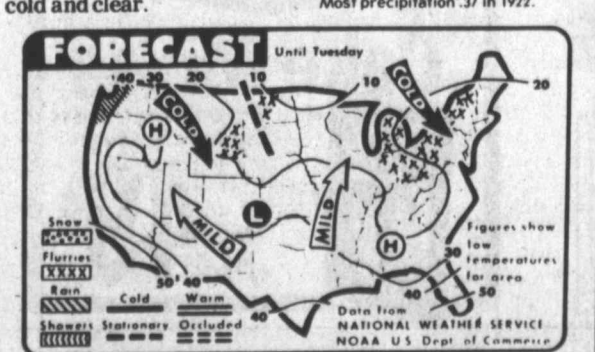

It was in the low to mid 30s elsewhere, except for some readings in the 40s in southern sections of the state.

Partly cloudy skies were expected over most of Texas today, although clear skies were predicted for the Panhandle.

There was no precipitation reported in Texas Sunday and high temperatures ranged from 72 at Brownsville and a 71 at Presidio to only 40 in Amarillo, which bore the early brunt of the cold front.

WEATHER FORECAST — Cold weather is forecast today in the North and East. Mild weather is expected for the Southwest and central Rockies. Snow flurries are forecast in the northern Plains and from the Great Lakes to New England.

Body of man found in pot-laden plane

GONZALES, Tex. (AP) — The wreckage of a light, marijuana-laden plane littered with money, an injured woman and the body of a man were discovered Sunday by a party of Texas Hill Country deer hunters, police said.

The Cessna 210, registered to Dr. John L. Moore of Sarasota, Fla., was found some 75 miles east of San Antonio. It had been missing since Friday.

Moore said in Sarasota that he had sold the plane several months ago to a man in Waco, Tex.

Officers identified the dead pilot of John F. Stormont, 29, of Victoria, Tex. The injured woman, identified as Roxanne Eichner, 29, of Garland, Tex., was reported in good condition late Sunday night

'Miracle' only one killed in gum factory blast

NEW YORK (AP) — The explosion and flash fire that injured 55 workers at the American Chicle gum factory claimed its first life today.

Officials at Elmhurst Hospital said Samuel Aeyekum, 34, of Brooklyn, died this morning from burns of 95 per cent of his body.

The explosion ripped through four floors of the factory early Sunday morning, spewing steel, concrete and molten gum into the street.

About 25 persons were burned severely. Because of a shortage of burn facilities here, some had to be taken to hospitals in neighboring states. A few of the critically injured had burns over 90 per cent of their bodies, and hospital officials said they feared some would not survive.

"It was really horrible. I saw men with their clothing and skin burned off," said Chris Boggio, 19, a helper at the plant. "The blast threw me clean across the room." Teddy Orzechowska, of Brooklyn, suffered burns over 30 per cent of his body.

Son wants Ford to 'slow up bit'

RAMONA, Calif. (AP) — Steve Ford, the President's youngest son, says he wants his father to take a post of visiting scholar at one of several universities.

"He's the kind of person who has to keep going," said

"I was in the middle of the flames, I didn't know where to run," he said.

The aroma of spearmint filled the air, and hot gum stuck to the boots of firemen battling the blaze.

Fire marshals, sifting through the debris in the six-story brick structure in the Long Island City section of Queens, theorized that a stray spark may have ignited combustible dust, triggering the blast.

Witnesses described a nightmarish scene of victims stumbling from the building, their clothing burned away and flesh peeling from their bodies. In many cases the burns were compounded by molten gum stuck to the skin.

The company, a division of the Warner-Lambert Company, closed operations at the factory pending clearance from safety officials. A spokesman advised the plant's 1,600 employees to stay home until supervisors contact them.

But the company said the availability of its products—Chiclets, Dentyne, Trident, Freshen-Up and Dynamints—probably would not be affected.

Soldier killed

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Police were awaiting results of an autopsy today as they continued their investigation of the shooting death of a Texas soldier stationed at Ft. Sill here.

The body of Terrence Johnson, 22, of Silsbee, Tex., was found by his wife Sunday morning with at least one bullet wound in the head, police said.

Police said three neighbors heard two gunshots coming from Johnson's apartment at 1:30 a.m. Sunday, but did not call police.

"One neighbor even saw a suspect come out of the house after the shooting, look to the left and right and then get into a car," said Det. Mark McFarland.

The body of Johnson was found when his wife, Terri, 22, arrived at the duplex later in the morning, police said.

Police believe Johnson knew his killer because "there were no signs of forced entry and it's probably not a robbery case," McFarland said.

The detective said $30 was found in the bedroom and a television and stereo were still in the living room where Johnson's body was found, face down on the couch.

'The South is the future'

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — "The South is the future," says poet and novelist James Dickey, best-known for his tale of Southern backwoods violence, "Deliverance."

"It is the political pivot of the country now," said the Columbia, S.C., resident. "It's very gratifying to see Jimmy Carter become president, to see the South finally win out after all these years."

Dickey, 53, who was in the area for an appearance at High Point College on Thursday, said the South offers "a better way of life than anywhere else, and it's something people are grasping for."

Nuclear cloud winding across ocean

WASHINGTON (AP) — Debris from a Chinese nuclear explosion, leaving a windblown, invisible trail of radioactive material across the United States, is now winding across the Atlantic Ocean on its way around the earth.

The leading edge of the immense cloud of radioactive debris completed a journey across the United States on Sunday. Government experts insisted there was no danger, even in areas where rain washed the material to the earth.

Federal monitors said there was some evidence of increased levels of radioactivity in the wake of the forward edge of the cloud, which has the heaviest concentration of radioactive material.

But a spokesman for the Environmental Protection Agency said there had been no significant increases in radiation readings and that increases that were noted were not serious. The readings were made as the cloud billowed across the country after crossing the Pacific Ocean following the nuclear explosion in China last week.

The EPA spokesman said the forward edge of the radioactive material will eventually reach China again, then will cross the Pacific and pass over the United States again in about a week.

The cloud's forward edge will leave behind it a trail of radioactive material that will encircle the planet's northern hemisphere like an invisible radioactive doughnut for about two weeks. The shape and speed of the debris is determined by prevailing winds.

The cloud of material is made up of microscopic dust particles and is not visible or detectable except with special instruments.

It was raining along some sections of the East Coast as the cloud reached the Atlantic Ocean, and officials earlier had worried that rain or snow could wash more than a normal amount of the radioactive material to earth. This could produce some higher radiation readings in the areas touched by rain, the EPA spokesman said.

But, the spokesman said, the additional radiation is "not enough for individuals to worry about."

The radioactive debris was hurled into the upper atmosphere in an above-ground nuclear test last Wednesday.

The dust and debris advancd from the Pacific Northwest on a front that stretched from Montana to

New Mexico and during Sunday reached from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio to Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Public not always sure to get money's worth in restaurants

LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
Americans are spending more money at restaurants these days, even though menu prices are rising at a much faster rate than the cost of food at home.

Restaurant Association; the criticism comes from Franz K. Lemoine, director of a Providence, R.I., school that trains would-be chefs.

The restaurant association predicted recently that sales for the food service industry as a whole — including everything from school cafeterias to fancy restaurants — would total $86.9 billion next year, up 10.6 per cent from 1976.

"Today, for every $100 that an American family uses to purchase food, around $34 is spent on food away from home — one out of every three food dollars," said the association president, Patrick L. O'Malley. "By 1980, we feel confident that Americans will be spending two out of five dollars in our industry."

The biggest growth, said O'Malley, will be in fast-food establishments, "a segment (of the industry) which literally did not exist 20 years ago." The fast-food establishments now account for almost one-third of eating place sales and will increase 14.1 per cent next year, O'Malley said.

Menu prices in 1977 will rise an average of 6.5 per cent, a little less than this year's increase, according to the trade association.

Figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Consumer Price Index show that the cost of food away from home rose 6.9 per cent from September 1975 to September 1976. The cost of food at home rose only 1 per cent in the same period. (The figures are not seasonally adjusted.)

Is the food worth the price?

Not always, says Lemoine, whose School of Culinary Arts at Johnson & Wales College claims to be the second largest culinary training institution in the nation.

Lemoine was critical of restaurants which offer frozen, pre-prepared and mass-marketed entrees at high prices. A filet of sole dish that is essentially the same thing you can buy for a couple dollars in the frozen food department of the grocery store may wind up on a restaurant menu for $8.50, he said.

The customer is as important as the kitchen staff in determining food quality, Lemoine said. "What makes food good is not trained chefs, but a discriminating public."

Lemoine said consumers can generally judge the quality of restaurant food before they taste a bite.

Among the things to look for: a well-lit dining room, no stale odor of food, tables arranged neatly with space between them, a menu that is in good condition without grease spots or ragged edges, an attractive table setting, friendly help and a clean rest room.

When it comes to the food itself, Lemoine said, hot food should be served hot on a hot plate; cold food should be cold. The plate should not be overcrowded; most restaurant food portions are "ridiculous," he said.

Circuit Riders on craft trail for Christmas

Starting as a government grant, and finally absorbed by the Big Spring State Hospital itself, the Circuit Riders volunteer group has helped the senior citizens in the hospital since 1967.

A program described as "the aged helping the aged," by Sonya Swindell, director, gives birthday parties and helps in craft making. Volunteers also play games with patients, such as bingo. Mrs. Swindell picks up aged volunteers from Lamesa and Colorado City each Friday and brings them to the State Hospital here. At the end of the day she drives volunteers back home.

Her agent in Lamesa is 86-year-old Pearl Wilkes. Dona Reed is the Colorado City agent. "Most of the volunteers are 70-plus in age," said Ms. Swindell. Another part of the program is volunteers working with senior citizens in rest homes in their own towns. The volunteer program also includes men in its ranks.

All volunteers of any age are welcome, said Ms. Swindell. "We have young and old ones. The older ones naturally relate well with aged patients, but we have several younger ones to whom the patients are like grandparent figures," she added. There are between 50-60 volunteers in the Howard County area at present.

Currently, the group is preparing arts, crafts and baked goods for the Craft Corner to be held in the Highland Mall Dec. 4. The group invites any person to help them with the coming projects.

Plan ahead for holidays

Getting through the holidays with energy left to enjoy them takes good planning. One help is to choose recipes that make few demands on the cook whenever possible.

Cheesy Mushroom Puffs is a three-time winner for holiday entertaining: A hot appetizer always adds a festive touch to a company meal. These give you a big effect for very little effort, because they are made with refrigerated crescent roll dough. So the tender, flaky pastry which encloses the mushroom-cheese filling is achieved almost as quickly and easily as opening the can.

Finally, you can form these appetizer puffs ahead of time, refrigerate until your guests arrive and serve them still warm from the oven.

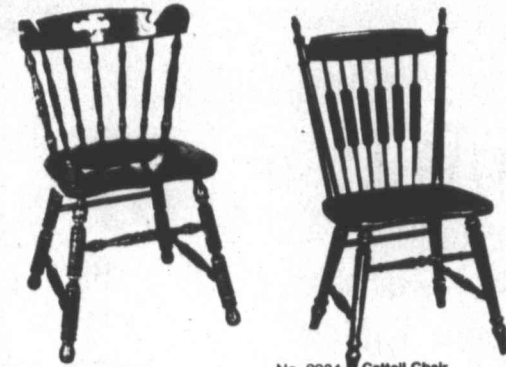

CHEESY MUSHROOM PUFFS
3-oz. package cream cheese, softened
2-oz. can (1 3rd cup) mushrooms, drained and chopped
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1 teaspoon instant minced onion or 1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 drops Tabasco pepper sauce
8-oz. can Pillsbury Refrigerated Quick Crescent Dinner Rolls
1 3rd cup finely chopped nuts

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In small bowl, blend first 5 ingredients. Separate crescent dough into 4 rectangles; press perforations to seal. Spread each with about 1 tablespoon mushroom mixture. Starting at longer side, roll up; seal. Cut each into 6 pieces. Roll in nuts. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown. Serve warm. 24 appetizer puffs. (Refrigerate any leftovers).

MAKE AHEAD TIPS: Prepare, cover and refrigerate up to 2 hours; then bake as directed. To reheat baked appetizers, wrap in foil; heat at 350 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes.

First wife would be fifth wheel

DEAR ABBY: My husband and his first wife were divorced after 26 years of marriage. The divorce was her idea, and I was in no way involved. They have three grown children with whom I have a warm relationship. My husband and I invited his children to our home for Thanksgiving dinner. All have accepted, which means his ex-wife will be all alone on Thanksgiving, so my husband asked me to please invite his ex-wife.

I have met her, and although I bear no ill feelings against her, I really don't see why she should be included. She divorced him because she wanted her freedom, so being alone on holidays is part of the price she has to pay.

Also, I'm afraid that if the entire family is together, I'll feel like an outsider. I really don't want her. What should I do?

NUMBER TWO

DEAR NUMBER TWO: Don't assume that she'll be alone if you don't include her. (She may have other friends.) Feeling as you do, tell your husband you'd feel awkward having her as your guest, and that should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this because we want to see if other parents of teenagers feel the same way. Why can't we sit down for a family evening of TV without every other commercial being for bras, douches, tampons, Kotex or some other personal feminine product? Our teenagers have more than once gotten up to leave the room because they're uncomfortable.

When teenagers in this day and age are embarrassed, it must be pretty bad.

We aren't prudish, Abby, but we think there is a time and place for everything. Newspaper and magazine advertising seem more appropriate for such advertising, not television!

Let's get some pros and cons on this from your readers. Maybe we can influence the networks.
V.G., SHREVEPORT, LA.

DEAR V.G.: You have my vote, for what it's worth, but don't get your hopes up.

DEAR ABBY: I notice you sometimes print people's pet gripes. Would you please print mine? To put it simply: My name is Patricia. It's not Pat, Patty or Tricia. It is PATRICIA, which is, I think a very beautiful name.

Why then do new acquaintances insist on calling me "Pat" or "Patty," especially after I have pointedly introduced myself as Patricia?

If someone introduces himself as Robert, I call him Robert. Unless someone gives me permission to call them by a nickname, I think it's bad manners to do so.

Further, if a yo-yo continues to call me by a short name after I've told him (or her) that my name is Patricia, I become extremely irritated. A person's name is a very personal thing, and goofing around with it is a direct insult.
PATRICIA

DEAR PATRICIA: Few people feel as strongly as you about having their names shortened. I don't regard it as an insult, but if you do, you can save yourself many insults and much irritation by emphatically stating each time you're introduced that you wish to be addressed ONLY as Patricia.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Flu shots 'steady'

Since the last report on swine flu shots given in Big Spring, the traffic in and out for shots has been "steady," said a member of the Health Unit here.

The schedule giving shots each day, has changed to each Wednesday from 8-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. "We can give as many in one day now as we did in two days before. We had lapses where no one came in," said a unit staffer. Nevertheless, the response has been substantial. The unit stated also that the volunteers have been a tremendous help in giving flu shots.

Only one adverse reaction, which was not serious, has been brought to the attention of the health unit in the last week following administration of the shot.

Braise and broil

Some beef cuts, such as short ribs, are best pre-cooked by braising. They can then be finished to flavor perfection by brushing with a barbecue sauce while broiling for 10 to 15 minutes.

Stew Foo

Beef cubes for stew, first braised tender in liquid seasoned with soy sauce and ginger, mix harmoniously with vegetables cooked tender-crisp. Mandarin orange segments add color and water chestnuts contribute crunch for a delicious dish inspired by Far Eastern cookery.

Clubhouse Members take trip

The Sky Rider Four by Four Club had a social meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kinsey, Friday, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. in Midland.

Included in the program were highlights of a hunting trip to Cloudford, N.M. taken by five of the members. Also included will be a birthday cake for two of the members with birthdays this week.

Anyone wishing further information about the meeting or joining the club in Big Spring can call Jim Parry, 915-263-8950.

Rook club's high score

The Rook Club met Friday at the Texas Electric Reddy room with Mrs. Pat Allen as hostess. Two tables were in play.

High scores for members was won by Mrs. S. R. Nobles. Three guests attending were Mrs. Alice Holt, Mrs. T. G. Adams and Mrs. J. L. Terry. Mrs. Terry won high score.

Refreshments were served at the close of the game. A Christmas luncheon will be held Dec. 17 with Mrs. S. R. Nobles as hostess.

Think Cotton

Tech to regroup

By the Associated Press

The Houston Cougars wore T-shirts with "Think Cotton" stenciled on them during workouts in late August. With another strong 60-minute Saturday in the incredible Cougars will be in high cotton.

All it takes is a victory over the lowly Rice Owls and Houston will be the host team New Year's Day against undefeated Maryland in the Cotton Bowl.

Houston swept the Southwest Conference Game of the Year Saturday with a 27-19 victory over previously unbeaten Texas Tech.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman was a numb but happy man.

"I'm sure that when I get my feeling back I will be elated with the same," he said. "It's encouraging to the team and the whole program when you find that you can compete when people had indicated earlier that they (thought) you could not."

Meanwhile, Texas Tech hopes to at least salvage a tie for the SWC title. Tech, which will go to the AstroBluebonnet Bowl if Houston takes off to the Cotton Bowl, meets Arkansas Saturday in Little Rock.

Houston is 6-1 and Texas Tech is 5-1.

"We've got to regroup, reload and refire," said Tech Coach Steve Sloan. "It's a shame we had to lose."

Sloan said "I really hate it for our fans, but we've got to keep in mind that if we win the rest of our games we get the co-championship and Tech's never done that before."

There are few other things that may happen that never happened before—like Houston becoming the first team in history to share in the SWC title and go to the Cotton Bowl in its first season as a league contender.

And Houston was 2-8 in 1975 and generally picked for sixth place this year.

"We won't have any time to celebrate this win," said Houston quarterback Danny Davis. "We've got to be ready for Rice. We've come too far to slip up now."

Another SWC team, Texas A&M, clinched a Sun Bowl berth Saturday with a 59-10 romp over Texas Christian. The Sun Bowl will be played on Jan. 2.

Southern Methodist, behind senior quarterback Ricky Wesson, shocked Arkansas 35-13 and it's little comfort to Tech fans to know that if the Red Raiders had beaten Houston that the West Texans would be in the Cotton Bowl.

The loss knocked Arkansas out of Liberty Bowl consideration.

In other games, Rice lost to Florida 50-22, and Baylor bashed Texas 20-10.

Texas A&M and Texas play Thanksgiving Night while Tech is at Arkansas, and Baylor is at TCU.

Playoffs up for grabs

By the Associated Press

"We had a chance to fail and we didn't." Those were the words of Coach Bud Grant, whose Minnesota Vikings beat the Green Bay Packers 17-10 and won the championship of the National Football Conference Central Division for the eighth time in nine years.

"This is only the first step." Those were the words of Coach John Madden, whose Oakland Raiders clubbed the Philadelphia Eagles 26-7 and clinched their fifth consecutive American Conference West title and their ninth divisional crown in 10 years.

They were expressions of slight relief, ones used by men who realized divisional championships mean little should their teams fall short of a trip to Pasadena for the Jan. 17 Super Bowl game.

"We've still got hope and we've still got a chance," said Washington Redskins Coach George Allen. "We've just got to keep it going and never let up."

"We win them or else we are out. We can't save anything," said Cleveland Browns Coach Forrest Gregg.

Those were the words of men who saw the chances slipping away for a chance to reach the playoffs.

Here is what is left of the divisional races, brought to you by the National Football League.

Allen's Redskins, who could have been eliminated by a loss, kept their playoff hopes alive in the National Conference East with a 16-10 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. The victory, combined with Atlanta's 17-10 upset of Dallas, kept Washington within two games of the first-place Cowboys and one game of the Cardinals.

Gregg's Browns helped themselves in the American Conference Central, lashing the winless Tampa Bay Buccaneers 24-7 Sunday and remaining hopeful of the wild card slot for a playoff trip.

In the other divisional races, New England's Patriots inched within one-half game of the AFC East-leading Baltimore Colts — who visit the Miami Dolphins tonight — with a 38-24 victory over the New York Jets. Pittsburgh's surging Steelers kept pace with Cleveland at two games behind AFC Central-leading Cincinnati, ripping the Houston Oilers 32-16 for their sixth straight triumph.

The NFC West-leading Los Angeles Rams put down second-place San Francisco 23-3 and opened a 1½-game margin over the 49ers, who lost their fourth in a row.

Meanwhile, the Bengals nipped the Kansas City Chiefs 27-24, the San Diego Chargers pummeled the Buffalo Bills 34-13, the Detroit Lions bested the Chicago Bears 14-10, and the Denver Broncos clipped the New York Giants 14-13 and the New Orleans Saints blasted the Seattle Seahawks 51-27.

Vikings 17, Packers 10
Fran Tarkenton completed 23 of 43 passes for 180 yards and two touchdowns as the Vikings, 9-1-1, nailed down the crown against Green Bay, 4-7. His 11-yard pass to Ahmad Rashad in the fourth period broke a 10-10 tie.

Raiders 27, Eagles 7
Clarence Davis and Mark V. Clough combined for 206 rushing yards and two touchdowns, lifting the Raiders to their seventh straight triumph and their 10th in 11 games. Philadelphia, 3-8, got its score on Roman Gabriel's 20th career touchdown pass.

Redskins 16, Cardinals 10
The Redskins, 7-4, got their only touchdown from Mike Thomas, who rushed 31 times for a team-record 195 yards. The other points came on Mark Moseley field goals.

"We didn't do the job," said Coach Don Coryell of St. Louis, 8-3.

Browns 24, Buccaneers 7
Forrest Gregg got his players in the right mood for a second-half surge with a tongue lashing of which defensive end Joe Jones said, "What we had isn't printable." But the results were: 17 second-half points against Tampa Bay, 0-11. Quarterback Brian Sipe hit veteran Paul Warfield for a 14-yard touchdown, breaking a 7-7 tie in the third period as the Browns improved their record to 7-4.

Falcons 17, Cowboys 10
"You got to make the plays to win, and we didn't," said Coach Tom Landry, who saw his Cowboys' NFC East lead trimmed by the Atlanta upset and now faces a game against St. Louis with just three days to prepare. The Falcons, 4-7, turned two pass interceptions and a short Dallas punt into 17 fourth-quarter points in beating the Cowboys, 9-2.

Patriots 38, Jets 24
New England, 8-3, intercepted seven passes and recovered three fumbles in blasting the Jets, 3-8. Prentice McCray picked off two of the passes and turned them into touchdowns of 63 and 55 yards. Steve Grogan threw three scoring passes for the Patriots.

Steelers 32, Oilers 16
Pittsburgh, 7-4, gave up a touchdown for the first time in six weeks — 22 quarters, when Houston's Ken Burroughs hauled in a 69-yard touchdown pass from Dan Pastorini. Pittsburgh used a pair of scores by Reggie Harrison to hand Houston its sixth straight loss.

Rams 23, 49ers 3
The Rams, 7-3-1, managed eight first downs and three pass completions. But Jim Youngblood picked off two Jim Plunkett passes, and Monte Jackson — the NFL's interception leader — returned his 10th of the season 41 yards for a touchdown to embarrass San Francisco, 6-5.

Bengals 27, Chiefs 24
"We're not afraid of Pittsburgh. We're absolutely going to win," said the Bengals' Bob Trumpy of next week's clash with the Steelers. A triumph would clinch the division for Cincinnati, 9-2, which beat Kansas City on a one-yard Tony Davis plunge in the fourth quarter.

The Bengals lost five fumbles and an interception, and the Chiefs, 3-8, missed a chance to tie the game when a 46-yard Jan Stenerud field goal attempt went wide at 1:48 of the final period.

Chargers 34, Bills 13
San Diego, 5-6, snapped a four-game losing streak as Dan Fouts threw two touchdowns and collected 198 yards on 19 completions against Buffalo, 2-9. The Bills' O.J. Simpson rushed for 118 yards on 25 carries and now has 856 yards for the season.

Lions 14, Bears 10
Greg Landry threw two touchdown passes 90 seconds apart in the second period and the Detroit defense held Chicago rushing star Walter Payton to 40 yards in beating the Bears. "They just have too much defense," Payton marveled after the game.

Both teams are 5-6.

Broncos 14, Giants 13
The Denver defense protected a lead built on two first-half touchdowns passes by Steve Ramsey. The Giants, 1-10, broke a streak of 19 quarters without a touchdown when Jim Steinke picked up a blocked punt and ran one yard for the score. But the extra point by Joe Danelo was blocked, making the difference in the game.

Saints 51, Seahawks 27
New Orleans, 4-7, intercepted three passes and recovered two Seattle fumbles in crushing the Seahawks, 2-9. Getting two touchdown runs from quarterback Bobby Douglass and one each from rookies Tony Galbreath and Chuck Muncie, the Saints tied a team record for point production.

Powderpuffers meet tonight

By JERRI DAVEY

This year marks the rubber match for the third annual powder puff derby.

The BSHS underclass and upperclass will battle it out Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Memorial Stadium. The cost will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. All proceeds will be given as donations to the March of Dimes. The powder puff game is sponsored by the student council.

The first year the upperclass won 22-14 but the next year the underclass pulled through with a win of 28-14. Powder puff is flag football but sometimes it ends up in tackle football.

Boy cheerleaders will cheer the girls on to victory and there will also be a mock half-time.

There will be a pep rally for the girls Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the Steer gym.

Everyone is invited to come and see which team will puff through to a win.

Hawks travel to Cisco today

The Howard College Hawks will meet Cisco Junior College 7:30 p.m. today in Cisco.

The Hawks will hit the hardwood at a gallop trying to turn around a two-game losing streak. After a perfect three game record, the two losses give the Hawks a 5-2 record.

Those who aren't able to cheer on the Hawks in person can catch the game on KBYG and KBST radio stations.

The Hawk Queens will also take to the courts in a game with Texas El Paso, 5 p.m. today.

Four of five in the running

By the Associated Press

Four of the five top-ranked teams in Texas high school are still in the running for state championships going into this weekend's second round of playoff action.

Houston Kashmere meets fifth-ranked Spring Branch Memorial Friday night in the Astrodome in the key Class 4A regional playoff.

Class 3A leader Beaumont Hebert tackles Waco Midway Friday night in College Station, 2A kingpin Bowie faces Wylie at Denton and faces Class B's Gorman meets third-ranked Italy. Aledo, tops in Class A in the final Associated Press poll, was defeated last Friday by Clifton.

If Kashere beats Spring Branch Friday, it will have to play the winner of the regional matching Port-Neches Groves and Galveston Ball. PNG is the defending 4A state champion and was third in the final Associated Press poll.

Another top 4A regional will be held Saturday afternoon at Texas Stadium between sixth-ranked Sherman and No. 4 Temple. Sherman beat second-rated Longview 10-3 and Temple stopped unranked Cypress-Fairbanks 21-7 in bi-district.

Other Class 3A quarterfinals besides the Hebert-Waco Midway clash are No. 2 Gainesville against No. 9 Longview Pine Tree, third-rated Brownwood against No. 7 Perryton and No. 8 Gregory-Portland matched with New Braunfels.

POUGH RETURNS — Steelers wide receiver Ernest Pough (85) returns a kickoff to the Pittsburgh 38-yard line before being tackled by Houston Oilers middle line backer Ted Thompson during second quarter action in Pittsburgh Sunday afternoon. The Steelers beat the Oilers, 32-16.

Landry worried

ATLANTA (AP) — Coach Tom Landry says he hopes the stunning loss to the Atlanta Falcons Sunday may shock his National Football Conference Eastern Conference leading Dallas Cowboys out of the doldrums.

But he admits he is worried about Thursday's confrontation against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Falcons turned a pair of interceptions and a short punt into 17 points within a five-minute span of the final quarter and upset the Cowboys 17-10 Sunday in a National Football League game, setting up a Thanksgiving Day showdown with the Cardinals for the conference lead.

"We've got to win now," said Landry as his club continued to struggle after three consecutive punchless games against the New York Giants, Buffalo Bills and Falcons.

Dallas, 9-2, beat the Giants and Bills by 9-3 and 17-10 scores, relying mainly on its defense.

Landry, whose club has been in the playoffs 10 of the last 11 seasons and is fighting for a playoff berth again, said, "This loss won't help since we only have three days to prepare for the Cardinals and I don't know if we can get over it that quick."

The Cowboys took a 10-0 lead on Scott Laidlaw's 16-yard run and a 23-yard field goal by Efrén Herrera before the Falcons broke loose.

The Falcons, recording their first triumph ever against the Cowboys, turned an interception by Dewey McClain into a 21-yard field goal by Nick Mike-Mayer, a 15-yard punt by Danny White into a 35-yard touchdown run by Mike Esposito and an interception by Ray Brown into a one-yard TD run by Scott Hunter.

"We moved the ball well when we weren't making mistakes," said Landry. "But we had too many holding penalties, interceptions and dropped passes."

"In professional football you get in a streak where you don't play well and still win like we were doing. Then you get beat. Now we have to try to come back."

"We stopped ourselves," agreed Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, who was intercepted three times—the last by Tommy Nobis on the Atlanta nine in the final minute. "It was a combination of interceptions and penalties. Just a bunch of mistakes that Atlanta created."

Claude Humphrey, Atlanta's defensive end, was a big factor, sacking Staubach twice and tipping two passes.

"Claude was all over the place. He had his hand right in my face and had a lot of big plays all day," said Staubach.

Humphrey said after the victory, Atlanta's second consecutive upset triumph after defeating San Francisco 21-16 a week ago. "We knew if we were to have a chance, we had to pressure Staubach. When they go into the shotgun offense, they're throwing out a personal challenge. I know I took it personally. They're telling you they're going to pass and they challenge you as a man. Today we rose to the occasion."

A SHOW OF HANDS — The ever-present Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (hidden, background) of the Los Angeles Lakers blocks a shot by New York Nets' Kim Hughes in Sunday night's NBA game. Lakers defeated the Nets 96-91.

The Seattle SuperSonics are really the Seattle Supermen at home when they play basketball in arenas around the National Basketball Association, they rise to uncommon heights at the Seattle Center Coliseum. The Sonics have a modest 10-7 record so far this season but after Sunday night's 115-106 beating of Milwaukee, have won 26 straight games at home over the past two years. The NBA record for consecutive home-court victories is 36. Bill Russell's players fashioned their latest home-court victory behind Fred Brown's 25 points and a 16-rebound performance by Tom Burleson. "This is the best ballgame we've had from Tommy," said Russell. "He's capable of a lot more than he showed tonight. It was a funny kind of game in that they were playing well enough to keep us from blowing them out." The Sonics put the heat on the Bucks with a sizzling thirdquarter performance that put them 23 points ahead at one time. Elsewhere in the NBA, the Los Angeles Lakers downed the New York Nets 96-91; the Phoenix Suns trimmed the Chicago Bulls 101-96; the New Orleans Jazz whipped the Cleveland Cavaliers 97-92; the Kansas City Kings beat the Atlanta Hawks 106-83 and the Portland Trail Blazers blasted the Buffalo Braves 128-98. Lakers 96, Nets 91: Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 33 points to lead Los Angeles past New York. Abdul-Jabbar, who made 14 of 16 shots from the field, also contributed 15 rebounds. Suns 101, Bulls 96: Paul Westphal, with 15 second-half points and 26 overall, led Phoenix over Chicago. The teams were tied 21 at the end of the first quarter, then Westphal hit 10 points in the second quarter to help the Suns edge ahead 48-45 at the half. Phoenix held a 72-68 lead at the end of the third quarter. Scott May, the top collegiate player last season for the NCAA champion

Indiana Hoosiers, made his first NBA start after being sidelined with mononucleosis. He had 15 points, including 5-for-5 from the floor in the first half. Jazz 97, Cavaliers 92: Pete Maravich ignored a sore ankle and scored 41 points, leading New Orleans past Cleveland. Maravich, who missed last Friday night's game against Philadelphia with an ankle sprain, had 18 points in the fourth period when a Cleveland rally fell short. Kings 106, Hawks 83: Ron Boone scored 30 points, including 18 in the third period, leading Kansas City over slumping Atlanta. The victory snapped a four-game losing string for the Kings, who had won only one previous road game this season. The defeat was the Hawks' fifth straight. Trail Blazers 128, Braves 98

Dave Twardzik led a balanced Portland attack with 19 points as the Trail Blazers ran away from Buffalo. Twardzik, who hit seven of nine field goal tries, was one of seven Blazers who scored in double figures.
