

Carter may make early nominations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter said today he might send the Senate informal nominations to Cabinet posts before his Jan. 20 inauguration and that one might be a Midwesterner with farm experience to serve as secretary of agriculture.

Carter's statements were reported by Democratic senators meeting with him in private sessions on Capitol Hill. They said he felt the informal nominations would give Congress a headstart in the confirmation process.

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., said Carter's remarks about informal nominations were made to a meeting of Senate committee chairmen.

Congress begins its new session the first week in January and could work on the nominations before the Jan. 20 inauguration.

It was not clear, Stevenson said, whether Carter also would seek the opinions of the chairmen before he makes his decisions on Cabinet jobs.

Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., quoted Carter as saying the next agriculture secretary should be an advocate and spokesman for farmers, should have farm experience himself and probably should come from the Middle West, which Carter described as the nation's most important farm region.

Earlier, Carter said that President Ford has gone an "extra mile" to smooth the transition between administrations. Carter said Ford told him to call if he needs anything, down to the smallest detail.

"I think he's very sincere about it," Carter told Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield as he began meetings with congressional leaders to prepare for the presidency. "That makes so much difference. He's just gone that extra mile to help us."

Carter made the statement as he began his first session at the Capitol — with Mansfield, the full Democratic leadership in the Senate and Democratic Senate committee chairmen. It was attended by Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale.

Carter spent 75 minutes with President Ford on Monday and said afterwards: "There cannot have been a better demonstration of unity and friendship and goodwill than has been shown to me by President Ford since the election."

Selma reveals court fight plans

SELMA, Ala. — Joe Smitherman, mayor of Selma, has announced publicly that if the Department of Defense decides to close Craig AFB the City of Selma will take the fight into courts.

Craig and Webb AFB of Big Spring, Tex., are the two bases in the Air Training Command proposed for closure last March.

Smitherman first discussed possible court action at a gathering of Air Force officials and other dignitaries last Sept. 28, at which time Gov. George Wallace of Alabama made an appeal to keep Craig in operation.

"If it reaches a point where they (the federal government) won't give us a fair day in court... we'll go and get a federal injunction," the mayor was quoted as saying.

There has been little discussion in Selma of such a suit since that time, however.

An official closely involved with the Craig situation agreed that court action was an alternative which could be considered by the people of Selma and Dallas (Alabama) County, but pointed out there were other avenues which could be pursued.

For one, a bill recently signed into law by President Ford makes it necessary for the agency proposing cutbacks of military installations to keep Congress informed, to abide with the regulations contained in the National Environmental Policy Act, and to refrain from implementing a decision to close for 60 days after the Armed Services Committees for the attempt to fight it politically, or to go to court and attempt to delay the implementation of the decision.

"At that point," the official said, "the community would have to decide whether or not it wanted to accept the decision and look forward to getting geared up for new industry or, to attempt to fight it politically, or to go to court and attempt to delay the implementation of the decision."

Fighting the decision politically would mean getting the backing of the Alabama Congressional delegation and in that way trying to get the federal government to allocate additional funds to keep bases such as Craig in operation.

However, the prospects of this seem slim since President-elect Jimmy Carter has made it known he is for cutting defense spending by trimming the defense budget.

The official also explained the National Environmental Policy Act cannot keep the government from doing anything. It only requires that certain things be taken into consideration when a decision is being made, he said.

Craig was transferred to the ATC Sept. 1, 1950.

FDA proposes warning labels for aerosols

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration today proposed requiring warning labels on most aerosol cans containing fluorocarbons, as a prelude to a ban in the future.

The proposal would affect primarily spray deodorants, antiperspirants, hair sprays, colognes and fragrances.

The spray cans would have to carry the legend: "Warning. Contains a chlorofluorocarbon that may harm the public health and environment by reducing ozone in the upper atmosphere."

Meanwhile, the Consumer Product Safety Commission on Monday took the first step to ban fluorocarbon aerosols, saying they "present an unreasonable risk of injury to consumers."

The FDA claims it has regulatory jurisdiction over about 80 per cent of the fluorocarbon sprays on the U.S. market, or about one billion cans a year at the present sales volume.

The FDA said non-prescription drug sprays for bronchial and asthma and all prescription drug sprays would be exempt from the present labeling action, pending review of whether alternative gas propellants are suitable for those products.

Public comments on the proposed warning labels will be accepted for the next 60 days. The FDA said the proposal would take effect 30 days after a final order was published in the Federal Register.

"The purpose of this warning is to encourage self-restraint by consumers in purchasing aerosol products containing chlorofluorocarbons and to encourage them to seek alternative products," said FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt.

"Our goal is to reduce consumer use of chlorofluorocarbons in aerosols by voluntary action until such aerosols are phased out by mandatory regulation," he said.

"This action is unique and should represent the first of a worldwide series of actions by all nations to limit the release of chlorofluorocarbons into the atmosphere. Given the long-term nature of the hazard, the way in which we are going about the phase-out and warning labels on aerosols will be to the consumer's maximum benefit," Schmidt said.

City wants role in picking new Chamber-Industrial man

Mayor Wade Choate will suggest to the Board of Directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce that the City Council play a significant role in the selection of the chamber's new manager-industrial man.

Choate, who has been named as the city representative on the chamber manager selection committee, announced his plan at today's regular meeting of the council.

"I will recommend that the council meet with the chamber board to discuss future programming and how to handle the industrial business in the future," said the mayor. "In the event

No charges planned

Hunter's action 'justified'

RANKIN, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Aubrey Edwards of Upton County said today he will not file any charges against a deer hunter for killing a gunman who allegedly had just slain a Texas highway patrolman.

"The man was trying to prevent a capital murder offense," Edwards said in a telephone interview this morning. "He ought to be commended. A split second earlier he might have saved the patrolman's life."

The roadside slayings occurred Sunday in a flurry of gunfire near this West Texas town on U.S. 67.

Edwards said he would not release the identity of the hunter. "That's up to the individual involved," he said. "I will be talking to him later today or tomorrow."

Edwards said he would attend the funeral later this afternoon in McCamey for patrolman Sammy Charles Long, 39.

The identity of the man who shot the officer was not known, Edwards said. The man had no identification on him and fingerprints were sent to the Department of Public Safety laboratory in Austin.

"All we know about the man is that the pickup he was driving was stolen in San Francisco, Calif., last Friday," said Edwards. "He was found asleep at the wheel Saturday in Arizona but was questioned and released." The shootings, according to authorities occurred when officer Long stopped the pickup truck after a high-speed chase.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: No request

Q. Free Moss Creek lake passes for military personnel was proposed at a Webb Air Force Base community council meeting recently. Has any action been taken? How much money has been obtained from lake fees this year?

A. Since July when the fee went into effect, the city has taken in $2,095 in fees for cars entering the park through the month of October. There are also fishing fees, but these were collected prior to July. Since July, fishing fees total $1,730.50.

The City Parks Superintendent said "No request has yet been made, but it would have to go to the parks board and then the city council." He added, "I doubt that we could recommend free military passes, because we also have other city recreational facilities such as the swimming pool and golf course and it would start a dangerous precedent. I realize that Lake Spence gives passes to the military but they have only the lake facility. If presented, it will be considered."

PLATTE CITY, Mo. (AP) — When court reporter Earl West plays back trial proceedings on his tape recorder, he sometimes hears phrases like "That's a big 10-4, good buddy," mixed in among the "Objections overruled."

West, reporter for Platte County Circuit Court, said his recorder picks up, records and transmits radio signals along with the court proceedings. He's heard transmissions from police and the highway patrol, Citizens Band radio and commercial radio broadcasts.

West said the broadcasts seem to depend on atmospheric conditions. He said he took the machine to a repair shop, "but evidently they didn't do anything to it, because it still does it."

that Webb (AFB) closes, the money that is now put into the chamber industrial fund may need to be used for industrial development at the base facility. We will need seed money.

"If Webb closes, the facility may be used as a municipal airport. In this case we would need an airport director as well as a man to attract new tenants to the area. It would become a city function, explained Harry Nagel, city manager.

According to Nagel, state law allows the city to provide a maximum of one per cent of its general fund for industrial development. This figure totals $23,000, matched by about $11,000 from the chamber, according to the City Manager.

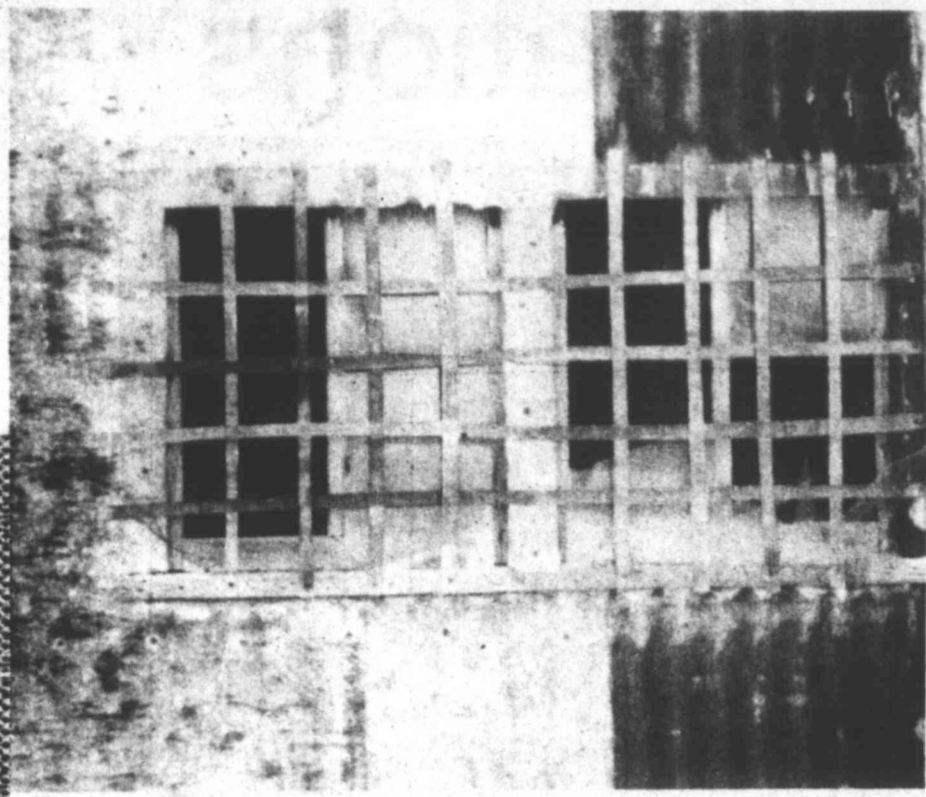

Nagel also stated that if the base facility is acquired as a municipal airport, Federal Aeronautics Association rules require that all revenue from the facility be returned to the Air Force during an 18-month interim period. After that, the funds must be used strictly for maintenance of the facility for an undetermined period.

"We don't mean to imply that we have given up on Webb. We will still work to see that it doesn't close," said Nagel. "But we have to consider that possibility. If it closes, and a base-closing officer is appointed, we will need a community representative there. Our man should be involved in the process of closures of buildings there and the search for new tenants to make sure that new leases are something the city can live with," Nagel added.

Members of the council also agreed that the person appointed to the position of Chamber Industrial Manager should be familiar with the particular industrial recruiting problems of the area.

It was also learned at the meeting that a state grant has been approved for the implementation of a master plan for the city. A grant totalling $10,000, with $3,334 being provided by the city, will be used to employ a city planner for the task.

Action in Ray case 'unusual'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief counsel of the House committee on assassinations said today it is "most unusual" that authorities did not get a full confession from James Earl Ray in return for accepting his guilty plea in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Richard A. Sprague told reporters the failure is "one thing that does stand out" in his review of Ray's plea in the April 1968 killing. "When arrangements were made for Ray to plead guilty, the law enforcement agencies never made as part of their plea bargain that there be a full interrogation or full confession by Ray," Sprague declared.

That "is most unusual where somebody is pleading guilty to the murder of an individual and questions have arisen as to whether others were behind it," Sprague said.

Ray pleaded guilty on March 10, 1969, as part of a bargain in which prosecutors agreed not to seek the death penalty. Ray was asked at the time: "Are you pleading guilty to murder in the first degree in this case because you killed Dr. Martin Luther King?"

He answered affirmatively and was sentenced to 99 years in prison.

However, at the same time Ray said he did "not accept" statements by the prosecution and by his own attorney that there had been no conspiracy in the assassination of the civil rights leader.

Sprague, who is heading an investigation by the 12-member House panel into the slayings of King and President John F. Kennedy, said the government should have assured itself of a "full opportunity to check and corroborate or disprove" Ray's statements.

He said Ray should have been interrogated at length and possibly should have been subjected to a lie-detector test. However, Sprague declined to say whether he plans to interrogate Ray.

Sprague, who spoke at a breakfast meeting with reporters, also dispelled some of the confusion surrounding reports that documents relating to King's killing recently were destroyed.

The attorney, once a special government prosecutor himself, said the documents did not pertain to King's death but to possible police surveillance of the civil rights leader in Memphis before he was slain.

In September, Memphis police said they had destroyed their files relating to surveillance of dissidents during the 1960s. Sprague said he had received information that these files included documents about police surveillance of King.

Sprague said he was trying to verify the report.

County fathers appoint Hooser

In an emergency meeting called Monday afternoon after their regular session, the Howard County Commissioners appointed Harvey C. Hooser Assistant County Attorney. Hooser will replace Bill Eysen as County Attorney in January, 1977, and the appointment will serve as introduction for the new man.

The court then heard two suggestions concerning records kept in the courthouse.

J.W. Starns with West Texas Title Company told the court that he was interested in putting county records on microfilm for his business. He told the court he had a 16-millimeter camera which could shoot all recent records, but he could not handle the larger pages of earlier records.

County Clerk Margaret Ray informed the court she would like to have an alternate copy of county records in case of fire. She told the court that, although the microfilm itself would mean no savings in space as Texas state laws require a hardbound copy of county records, the expense of tracking down and replacing county records would be astronomical without a usable copy.

The court agreed to look into the possibility of getting the county and the interested real estate dealers to invest in microfilm copies of county records.

County Tax Assessor Collector Zirah Bednar collected the court's signatures on the county tax rolls. She also informed the court that the firm of Brown, Bancroft and Miller no longer wished to represent the county as their delinquent tax attorneys. The commissioner's agreed to look for an alternative.

The court also agreed to consider changing the copying machine in the District Clerk's office from a Xerox to an IBM.

The amount reported in Monday's Herald as the figure donated by the county towards the Coahoma volunteer fire department was incorrect. The county subsidizes Coahoma for $1,500 annually. Coahoma Mayor Joe Swinney asked the commissioner's Monday for an additional $5,000 to provide adequate equipment for his department.

Divided GOP must get act together fast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divided and then defeated, Republicans are going to have to get their act together in a hurry now that Mary Louise Smith has announced she is resigning as GOP national chairman.

They have eight weeks to agree on a successor or line up sides for a fight. They not only need a chairman, they need somebody, or some group, to speak for the party on matters of national policy.

Mrs. Smith, who took the party's top post 26 months ago at the request of President Ford, announced on Monday that she will resign upon the selection of a new chairman. That will come at a Republican National Committee meeting on Jan. 14 and 15.

Neither Ford nor Ronald Reagan, principals in the 1976 fight for GOP power, had any public comment on her departure or possible successor.

Associates said Ford had indicated to Mrs. Smith that he would prefer to have her remain at the committee. Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller asked her to stay, as did other administration leaders.

But at the same time, the conservative wing of the party, where Reagan's power is based, gave signals that she should go.

Although Reagan declined comment, Pete Hannaford, an aide, noted that it is customary in both parties for the national chairman to resign after an election defeat. Hannaford said he did not know whether Reagan would make any recommendations on a successor, "but he will obviously be interested in who is selected."

While some conservatives have said Reagan should be the chairman, the former California governor has said he doesn't want the job.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Mrs. Smith met with Ford last Thursday to inform him of her decision. He declined to discuss Ford's role in the naming of a successor, but said Ford "certainly considers himself to be the head of the Republican party."

That's what the impending fight is about, for Reagan's conservative followers do not agree.

Mrs. Smith's timing surprised some party professionals, which may account for the initial silence from the two top GOP figures.

One knowledgeable Republican said she had not been expected to step aside so soon. Mrs. Smith, the wife of a Des Moines, Iowa, physician, was elected to a two-year term at the Republican National Convention in August. Had she chosen to remain, it would have taken a two-thirds vote of the national committee to oust her.

Mrs. Smith told associates she did not want to stay at the committee for two years, and that she felt it best to quit immediately, so a successor can begin to prepare for the 1978 elections.

FLAGS ADDED — The flag drill team was added this year to the Big Spring High School Steer Band, which earned a first division in marching Monday in Odessa. This shot of the flag corp was made during the same performance of "Brian's Song" during the Odessa High football game in Odessa earlier in the year.

Big Spring, Forsan bands first

By MARJ CARPENTER

Big Spring High School Steer Band and the Forsan Buffalo Band both earned first divisions in their respective branches of competition at the regional Texas Music League marching contest at Barrett Stadium in Odessa Monday.

Flags waved and bands pulled out all the stops to present as good a show as they could muster, including tympani drums, large chimes, trap drums, ragtime trombone soloists, flag drills, twirlers, and blaring trumpets.

The three judges, W.A. Anderson of Mesquite; Richard Crain of Belton and David Shepherd of West

Columbia deemed the 5AAAA bands, including Big Spring, Midland, Lee, Permian and Odessa as "five of the best bands that could be seen anywhere."

The bands are graded against a standard, instead of against each other. All five of these bands were rated superior or Division I. One judge recently stated, "The excellent AAAA bands in this region should never be compared against anything but a standard because they could win in any region in Texas."

Big Spring received a I rating from all three judges and one commented "I like your style, which is not typical West Texas band style." One of the judges even requested a copy of the arrangement of "Brian's Song." The arrangement was done by Gene Currie, according to Bill Bradley, band director.

No other section of the contest received all first divisions. Forsan was the only band in its division to collect a first division which they earn on an annual basis as the outstanding Class B band in this part of the state. Their director is Mike Neel.

In the AAA division, the first division winners were Pecos, Andrews, Monahans, Fort Stockton and Edison of Midland. The AAA schools in this part of the state competed in a different region two weeks ago in Lubbock with both Lamesa and Colorado City earning second division ratings.

In the AA division, Coahoma High School won a second division on excellent, which is higher rating than they earned last year. Their director is Ralph Sides. Borden County also rated a second division in Class B. Jim Parker is their director.

Individual trophies were presented to the bands winning first division in marching competition. This trophy also makes them eligible for a sweepstakes trophy in the spring, if they can also earn a first division in both concert competition and sightreading.

Bradley was accompanied by Currie and the two junior high directors, Dois Pace and Steve Waggoner.

Bradley said that starting this morning, the band would go immediately to work on Campus Revue '77 which will be presented in late January. This is the tenth anniversary of the production and it will feature a favorite selection from each year of the show, which will be performed by the current band group.

and exploded after crashing," police said.

It was not known if any foreigners were aboard the domestic flight.

Search parties were sifting through the wreckage and nearby brush for more bodies, police added.

The flight left Athens about 8:30 a.m. in rainy weather. The airline said the pilot approached Kozani for a landing but was advised to divert to another airport because of heavy fog.

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A Greek airliner crashed in northern Greece today and all 50 persons aboard were killed, an airline spokesman said.

Police said 17 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage of the Olympic Airways YS11, a twin-engine Japanese prop-jet that crashed in mountains south of Kozani, which is 275 miles north of Athens.

Decontrol of gas prices hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration, approaching its final days in office, will try to end controls on the price of gasoline, contending the move will have no immediate impact for motorists.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said, "our preliminary evidence indicates there will be no adverse effect on price or supply" of gasoline and decontrol would "restore some measure of competition back into the system."

A spokesman for the FEA said Monday, "There probably would be no effect at the gasoline pump. It's a very competitive market and the oil companies now are charging less than they could under the controls."

The proposal, however, may cause resentment among Democrats in Congress who feel energy decisions should be left to the new administration of President-elect Jimmy Carter.

Either the Senate or House could block decontrol by a resolution opposing it. Democrats control both houses by margins of roughly 2 to 1.

A spokesman for the FEA said that public hearings would be held on the proposal in December before it is formally submitted to Congress when the recess ends on Jan. 4.

More cattle on feed

AUSTIN — While the 1,660,000 head of cattle and calves on feed on the November report represent a 14 per cent increase over the previous month, the total remains some six per cent below a year ago, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said today. "Increases in the numbers of cattle and calves on feed can be expected this time of year, historically the period in which cattlemen place their animals in feedlots in greater numbers," Commissioner White explained.

Texas cattle feeders placed 523,000 head into their lots during October, seven per cent below October, 1975, but 62 per cent above the previous month.

Some 302,000 head of fat cattle were marketed during October, 11 per cent above October 1975, but seven per cent below September, 1976, marketings.

Other disappearance during October totaled 21,000 head compared with 18,000 head in the same month last year.

For grazing animals, available forage in the Panhandle and Low Plains of Texas on Nov. 1 was rated generally fair to poor, with only seven per cent actually being pastured, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Milk production up 8 per cent in Texas

AUSTIN — October milk production is up 8 per cent in Texas, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reported, with production estimated at 275 million pounds.

The estimate is 2 per cent above September's figure of 269 million, according to figures released this week by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Most of the increase, White noted, came from increased production per animal. Production per cow averaged 860 pounds, 80 pounds more than last October and up 20 pounds from September.

The number of milk cows was down slightly from last year, estimated at 320,000 head.

Preliminary price for all wholesale milk in October was projected at $11.20, up one dollar over October a year ago.

Nearly 85 per cent of the fall wheat had been seeded by Nov. 1, slightly behind normal. While the 18 per cent of the seeded acreage with sufficient growth to pasture was slightly higher than a year earlier, it was still 46 per cent below two years ago.

Texans pay less at gas pump

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texans pay less at the gas pump than people in other states, but the percentage of their local property taxes used for highway construction is more than twice the national average, Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday.

The national average is 6 per cent, while in Texas it is 13 per cent, Bullock said.

The Texas state motor fuel tax is 5 cents a gallon. Thirteen other states cited in Bullock's study have fuel taxes ranging from 6.5 cents a gallon in Oklahoma to 9 cents in Pennsylvania.

Farm markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were higher at midday.

A census Bureau report which placed the daily rate of cotton consumption in October at 26,349 bales, 5 per cent above September, was believed to have prompted some buying of contracts, brokers said.

The average price for strict low middling 1 1/16 inch spot cotton advanced 4 points to 75.42 cents a pound Friday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were $1.70 to $2.40 a bale higher than the previous close. Dec. 79, 70, Mar. 80, 90, May 81, 90.

Lack of rain helped problem

Big Spring was just on the southern tip of the great nuclear cloud which passed across the U. S. last weekend. The cloud, caused by atmospheric nuclear testing in China, crossed the nation in a broad sweep from the Northwest to the Southeast with the southern most edge of it probably going right over Big Spring.

Apparently, the cloud presented little danger. Rain might have washed some of the radioactive material out of the air mass, but there was slim chance for rain Sunday out this way.

The cloud of radioactive debris brought back memories of the late 1950s when atmospheric testing was a common occurrence.

In the more environmental conscious 1970s when we realize how fragile the atmosphere is around this spaceship earth, the idea of an above ground atomic blast is so abhorrent that even the Russians are willing to live up to a treaty which bans it.

Only the Chinese persist.

How long it has been since our minds went back to the cold war days of the late 50s and early 60s when bomb shelters and civil defense plans were almost a craze.

Did you build a bomb shelter in your back yard? Many persons did. I wonder what they are used for now. I wonder if those persons still keep a 60-day supply of food and water stocked and ready.

The question of civil defense in America has been raised again recently by reports from Moscow that the Russians have again stepped up their civil defense efforts.

The Soviets allegedly have abandoned their plans to evacuate the cities and are digging in to survive a nuclear exchange. Some warn that this signals offensive intentions; others caution that the Russians are far ahead of the U. S. in this type of planning, that millions of Russians might survive an atomic war where Americans would die.

The spurt in Soviet defense spending and the continued offensive build-up in Western Europe have increased the possibility that there could be a return to the cold war days.

Must we again consider how we can survive a nuclear war, if at all?

I suppose so. While a rational mind can see no other choice but to probe for a workable version of detente, the U. S. must remember that the nuclear bomb club is a large one now, and it grows every few years. The potential is there for it to be joined by small, irresponsible nations or maybe even terrorists.

That radioactive air mass which passed over Big Spring last weekend was a sober reminder of the cloud which still hangs over every American's head; the threat of planned or accidental or terrorist nuclear war.

Civil defense planning is never wasted. It can be most useful in times of disaster, as Big Spring saw during the Cosden Refinery fire earlier this year.

We must again think about the unthinkable.

Lameduck politics

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — In the gloom of the lameduck White House late last Wednesday afternoon, it was announced in a whisper that President Ford was making a nomination for ambassador that reflects the tone of politics prevailing there throughout this election year.

A presidential spokesman announced, accompanied by on press release and followed by scarcely any attention, the nomination of Jack B. Olson, Wisconsin Dells, Wis., businessman, as U.S. ambassador to the Bahamas. Since the Senate had refused to confirm an earlier nomination of Olson, this was a "recess" — between sessions of Congress — nomination permitting Olson temporarily to assume office without Senate confirmation. But since President-elect Carter obviously wants his own man in Nassau, Olson's first diplomatic service will last only a few months.

THEN WHY NAME HIM? Because it will give the guy a few months' golf in the Caribbean at the right time of year and the title of "ambassador" for the rest of his life," one Senator told us. What's more, it repays a debt owed for crucial support of Mr. Ford for the Republican presidential nomination by Olson, a prominent Wisconsin Republican. In the eyes of presidential aides, this is a distinct booting of the popular, effective ambassador now in Nassau and making the Bahamians think the U.S. regards their country as a vacation reward for political service.

Olson's nomination has generated so much attention because the man he is succeeding, Ambassador Seymour Weiss, is a respected career public servant and courageous critic of East-West detente. For daring to speak up against Secretary of State Henry Kissinger during staff meetings, he was bounced as head of the State Department's bureau of political-military affairs in July 1974 and sent off to Nassau.

With hard-liner Weiss out of phase with the soft-lining State Department bureaucracy, he seemed ideal to make way for Olson. A Wisconsin resort owner and former lieutenant governor, Olson was instrumental in lining up Wisconsin primary election support for Mr. Ford. He wanted a diplomatic post and was promised it, typical of how the Ford White House has functioned.

BUT HARD-LINE FRIENDS of Weiss caused trouble, persuading conservative Republican Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina to block Olson's confirmation in late September. Even when Republican Senate leaders leaned on him to yield the last night of the session, the tenacious Helms would not budge.

The White House denies that Olson pressed the President to fulfill his promises with a recess appointment. Nevertheless, Mr. Ford's determination to put Olson in Nassau after the election was irresistible. With Weiss still on the job and a new President elected, State Department officials, including Dr. Kissinger, were not enthusiastic. It did not matter. The nomination was made Nov. 17 without courtesy notification to Helms or any other Senator.

Helms is not happy, and neither is the Bahamian government. Although Olson wants to be sworn in Tuesday and immediately leave for Nassau, the Bahamians may delay acceptance of his papers until Jan. 21. That would raise questions about the status of a document signed by Gerald R. Ford, by then just another private citizen.

Early therapy can correct hammer toe

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My seven-month-old baby appears to be developing a hammer toe. I took him to an orthopedic specialist, who recommended he wear a shoe made specially for him. This is instead of surgery. Will it really help? I don't want surgery timed for when he begins walking. My mother always had this problem, and when she was small her toe was operated on. — D.L.O.

A hammer toe stems from a kind of tug of war between tendons — between those trying to keep the toe extended and those flexing it downward. In hammer toe the flexing tendons win out. The toe humps into an upside down "V." It can run in families, and usually occurs in the second toe (next to the great toe).

In adults especially, it is usually provoked by short, narrow shoes or from a defect in the arch of the foot.

You are wise to have an orthopedist see the child. Conservative measures, particularly if begun early, are often successful, thus avoiding surgery. Your concern about surgery may therefore be premature. Give the recommended treatment a chance. Young muscles and tendons are quite flexible and lend themselves to the kind of therapy suggested by your doctor.

If that doesn't correct things, then surgery is relatively simple and quite successful.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several years ago a gentleman wrote to you, telling you about the cramps he had in his legs. He said he found that by lying down on the floor and elevating his legs onto a chair for 15 minutes a day he had no more trouble.

My husband and I felt we had nothing to lose by trying it. We suffered from leg cramps terribly, especially during the night. We have had no trouble with them ever since. If I could thank that elderly gentleman personally I surely would. Thank you for passing on his experience. — Mrs. E.S.

I will accept your thanks for him. Circulation problems can be a factor in these evening leg cramps, true, but the kind of exercise therapy would depend on the kind of circulation disturbance.

With varicose veins there is a sluggish return of blood from the extremities. Raising the legs, as you describe, will help. If there is a generally sluggish circulation (both in the supply to the legs and return), then simply elevating the limbs won't be so effective. In such cases alternately raising and lowering the legs is suggested. This is done while lying on a bed near the edge. The leg is lowered to the floor for a few minutes, then raised to bed level on a pillow or rolled-up blanket. This circulation is assisted in both directions.

I don't want readers to get the idea that exercise is the only answer to these leg cramps. Calcium deficiency is another of many possible causes. The problem is discussed in depth in my booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Those who want a copy can get one by sending 35 cents to me in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband agreed that I should write to ask you this. Does it matter whether it is pipe smoke or cigarette smoke that we breathe in, as far as hazards to our health is concerned? — M.D.

No essential difference. Both are irritants.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We have a son who is allergic to animal dander. We have household pets (dog and cat) that are dearly loved, and we hate to part with them. Is there a way to treat the allergy and keep our pets? — Mrs. T.G.

An article in a recent issue of the magazine Modern Medicine reports a high degree of success with the injection of animal dander extracts. In a recent study, about 80 per cent of dander-sensitive patients overcame their allergy this way.

If your son's allergy source has been narrowed to animal dander, it would be worth looking into this, whether you have pets yourself or not. However, it may take some time before your son's tolerance to the dander is achieved.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How can I get a list of foods that contain potassium? — M.F.

Superstrolling down the aisles of your supermarket and noting just about every food there. Potassium occurs in all foods, and a lack of it in the body is rarely the result of diet deficiency. Bananas are particularly rich in potassium.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of The Big Spring Herald, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Recently I read some of your comments on transcendental meditation in which you seem to imply that a Christian should avoid it because it is another religion. I am active in this movement and don't see how you can say this. — R.R.

DEAR R. R.: I know many advocates of this movement contend that it is not religious in nature. Some have even sought to get public school funds to support it on the grounds that it is not religious.

I disagree with this. Transcendental meditation comes from the religious tradition of the East, especially India. In its basic form transcendental meditation is very similar to other forms of meditation found in these religions. There is, of course, a great gap between the Christian view of God and the view of God found in the Eastern religions. In addition, I believe this movement is dangerous because it may provide a temporary sense of satisfaction, while keeping a person from seeking the true answer to life as found in Jesus Christ.

There are two things that transcendental meditation cannot do. First, it cannot bring true forgiveness for sin. It is sin, the Bible says, that separates us from God, and no amount of meditation can overcome our alienation from God. We need forgiveness, and this can only come as we turn in faith and repentance to Jesus Christ. "He himself bore our sins in his body on the cross, so that we might die to sins and live for righteousness; by his wounds you have been healed" (1 Peter 2:24, New International Version).

Second, transcendental meditation cannot tell us the true meaning of life. The purpose of life is to live for God and let Him use us for His glory.

I urge you to turn to the Bible, and meditate on its truths. In it you will find the true and living God, who alone is worthy of our worship and meditation.

Can't release tapes

WASHINGTON — The public has the mistaken impression that Jimmy Carter, once he's installed in the White House, will be able to release Richard Nixon's tapes and records. They contain many dark secrets that still hang over the Nixon years.

But our sources say it will take at least five years, even with favorable court rulings, to break loose the controversial tapes and letters. Jimmy Carter will have little, if anything, to say about it.

SOME 900 ROLLS of tapes, containing the conversations of Nixon and his aides inside the Oval Office remain under court seal. Another 36 million to 42 million pieces of paper are also locked up awaiting court action.

Congress has already enacted special legislation, giving the government control of the Nixon material. But the former president has successfully tied up their release in the courts.

The most sensitive papers and all the tapes, meanwhile, are stored in the Executive Office Building adjoining the White House. The bulk of the material is kept under guard in the General Services Administration's warehouse in Suitland, Md.

The Supreme Court, if it agrees with a lower court ruling, could uphold Congress in a few weeks. Or the Supreme Court may ask for oral arguments and hold off a ruling until next year.

Even if the Supreme Court rules against Nixon, he can file a second suit on constitutional grounds and start the whole process over. This would extend the secrecy at least until the fall of 1978.

Once the courts clear the way, GSA, is drafting regulations that would permit the release of almost everything contained in the tapes and papers. The Archives plans to assign 100 workers to do the cataloguing. But this exhaustive chore would take until about 1981.

EVENTUALLY, THE NIXON papers and tapes will be open to the public, the courts willing, in 11 different cities. The only material that would be withheld would be Nixon's personal papers, such as letters to his wife; military secrets; information that might interfere with a fair trial; documents that violate the Privacy Act, and perhaps a few other categories.

But nothing is likely to be available during Jimmy Carter's first term.

BATHROOM HAZARDS — Of 396 danger areas where Americans should venture with caution, the bathroom ranks 14th. It is positively dangerous, according to government studies, to take a bath or shower.

UNLESS SAFETY MEASURES are adopted, it will cost Americans $1.6 billion for bathroom injuries and deaths over the next 40 years. Yet until a few weeks ago, neither the bathroom industry, the government nor consumer groups had done much to improve bathroom safety.

The fear of mandatory standards, however, has now forced the bathroom equipment manufacturers to prepare voluntary safety standards.

In defense

WASHINGTON — It came as a shock to many of us to discover that "brave" little South Korea was one of the big spenders in the nation's capital when it came to money for American congressmen, entertaining Administration officials and giving all-expense trips to the Pearl of the East.

There are some skeptical people in this skeptical town who refer to these gifts as "bribes."

Perish the thought.

ALL SOUTH KOREA was trying to do was endeavor itself to the officials who were trying to help them remain part of the free world.

Let's look at it from South Korea's standpoint. Here is a little country that is dependent on the goodwill of the United States. For 25 years the United States has been supplying it with food, guns and American troops at a cost of billions of dollars.

How can South Korea reciprocate this kindness? One way that makes sense is to give cash to congressmen who are friendly to the country. Another way is to throw lavish parties for our country's leaders in exclusive Georgetown clubs. A third is to present beautiful gifts to the wives of important Washington figures and, finally, they can offer all-expense trips to this exotic country steeped in tradition and history.

The price of all this is a drop in the bucket compared to what we are giving the South Koreans in aid. What better way to show friendship and love for a benefactor than to fix him up with a beautiful Korean girl in Seoul?

BUT THE SKEPTICS say, "All right, the South Koreans have every right to bribe Americans, but what right do the Americans have to accept the bribes?"

The answer is simple. If a congressman or an official refused to accept a gift of cash or an elaborate present from a member of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency he would be an ingrate and would cause the KCIA official to lose face.

The worst thing you can do to a Korean secret agent when he presents you with an envelope stuffed with cash is to give it back to him.

How will the agent explain it to his superiors? What will think of a man who doesn't even know how to bribe a member of a U.S. legislative body? Will they speculate that the bribe wasn't enough — or perhaps it was too much? A KCIA agent who fails to lay a bribe on an American public official is a marked man, and when he returns to Korea he is liable to long imprisonment or even death by the firing squad.

MOST CONGRESSMEN KNOW this, and rather than risk a man's life they have accepted the cash he has proffered or the entertainment laid on him.

South Korea is one of the staunchest allies in the free world. It must be protected and defended at all costs. Very few of us can go to South Korea and sit in the trenches facing north waiting for an attack. But we can accept money, inlaid teak tables, jewelry and even women, to show them that we are with them.

We owe it to President Park to stop badgering Americans who have willingly or unwillingly accepted money from his agents in the United States.

If President Park wants to show his gratitude to the people who are in charge of foreign aid to his country, we should not show scorn or indignation.

I, for one, am sorry that Mr. Park never considered me important enough to have a KCIA agent slip a packet full of cash under my door. Had he done it, I would have worked very hard to see that South Korea got everything it asked for. Not because he had bribed me but because I would have realized that he cared.

Besides, it was my tax money in the first place.

Killer continues hunger strike

Examining cop records

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Gilmore, weakening in his fourth day without food, will appear before a special meeting of the Utah Board of Pardons one week from today to demand that he be allowed to die before a firing squad. Board member Thomas Harrison said Monday that the three-man panel decided to move the hearing from Dec. 6 to Nov. 30 to avoid conflict with a state law requiring that executions be carried out within 60 days of sentencing. Gilmore's 60 days will be up on Dec. 7, and some officials have said they were concerned the law might be interpreted as requiring that he be released if he were not executed by then.

The 35-year-old Gilmore has fought attempts to delay his execution for the slaying of a Provo motel clerk during a robbery. He has said he will plead personally before the board for a speedy death.

The board must either uphold the death sentence or commute it to life imprisonment, and the chairman has indicated board members may have little choice but to go along with Gilmore's wishes.

One day before Gilmore was to have addressed the board last Wednesday, he and his girl friend, Nicole Barrett, 20, took overdoses of sleeping pills in an apparent suicide plot.

Both are recovering, but Gilmore began a hunger strike Friday night when officials refused to let him telephone Mrs. Barrett at the mental institution where her mother committed her. He has since consumed only water, coffee, sugar and headache medication.

Deputy Warden Leon Hatch said Gilmore, confined to the Utah State Prison infirmary, was weakening. But he said Gilmore's condition was not yet of great concern to the prison doctor.

Prison officials asked the attorney general's office Monday whether they could force Gilmore to accept nourishment by intravenous tubes.

Mrs. Barrett is in a state mental institution in Provo. Officials have declined to release information on her condition.

Meanwhile, Salt Lake County authorities said they had determined that Gilmore obtained the sleeping pills from outside the prison. Salt Lake County Assistant Atty. Bill Hyde called Mrs. Barrett "an obvious suspect," though officers said she had not been questioned.

Gilmore originally was sentenced to die on Nov. 15, but the sentence was stayed by Gov. Calvin Rampton so the pardons board could decide whether execution was "appropriate."

In Cross-X Debate, the local team of Angie Fulgham and Hardy Wilkerson went undefeated to make the Octo-Finals out of 58 teams. In humorous interpretation, Sean Grathwol placed fourth in the semi-finals out of the 24 entered.

The tough competition included Permian, Midland, Lee, Cooper and San Angelo of District 5AAAA, Coronado, Monterey, Lubbock Christian, Estacado and Lubbock High from Lubbock, Palo Duro, Caprock, and Tascosa from Amarillo, and Eastwood and Irvin from El Paso.

Others included Andrews, Dalhart, Fort Stockton, Alpine, Sonora, McCamey, Kermit, Seminole, Clovis and Denver City.

Other Andrews entries included Jan Whittington, Carol Morehead and Anita Butler, prose; Joe Edwards, Debbie Shroyer and Grathwol, poetry; Cappy Tatom, Cindy Cowan, Shannon Mullen and Cindy Roberts, girls extemporaneous.

Next tournament for Coach Janice Cooks' team will be Dec. 14 in Brownfield.

Operators still have hope Concorde jet losing money

LONDON (AP) — After six months of supersonic flying between Europe and Washington D.C., the British-French Concorde jetliner is losing money. But its builders and operators say they have hope.

New York City, still closed to the Concorde, is the key. "Concorde has broken through the barrier of acceptability," says a spokesman for British Airways. "International air travel will never be the same again."

However, Air France President Pierre Giraudet has reported the line expects to lose $32 million to $34 million on Concorde operations this year. Air France says that if flights open to New York — where the Concorde is now banned — the line should start turning a profit with four Concordes by the end of 1979.

British Airways is keeping its loss figures quiet, but a company report for the financial year ended in April said Concorde operations to Bahrain lost $4.14 million during the first 10 weeks of this year. Both BA and Air France, the only lines flying Concordes, say the transatlantic flights begun May 24 have proved more popular than they expected. Air France reports 86 per cent of available seats filled, British Airways more than 91 per cent.

The 1,300-mile-per-hour plane cuts the trip time to and from Europe in half, to about four hours, but costs 20 per cent more than first-class on regular planes about $628 one way on the London-Washington route. "The load factors are the highest in the fleet," said the BA spokesman. "They're giving us a lot of encouragement, and we're taking away first-class passengers from other airlines."

Both carriers also profess satisfaction with response on their other Concorde routes — BA's to Bahrain in the Persian Gulf and Air France's to Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, and Caracas, Venezuela.

But it will take much more than that before the Concorde is assured of success. Environmental objections have so far barred the need-nosed plane from New York, the major gateway to the rich U.S. market. Despite interest from Philadelphia and Dallas, both airlines say it can never prove itself without New York.

The Port of New York Authority is expected to report about Dec. 10 on its independent monitoring of Concorde noise levels, the principal objection to Concorde, at Washington, London and Paris.

The airlines hope New York will then drop its resistance and they can drop their court suit to force the city to go along with the 16-month trial period granted Concorde by the U.S. Transportation Department.

ASSASSINATION SCENE — This is an aerial view of Dealey Plaza on the edge of downtown Dallas where President John F. Kennedy was assassinated 13 years ago Monday. The Texas School Book Depository building is at left with sign board on top. The motorcade was moving west on Main Street, center, and turned to the right and came down Elm Street where the three cars are shown. This photo was made earlier this month.

'Memory of assassination will never be forgotten'

DALLAS (AP) — In 1975, only 14 persons appeared in downtown Dallas at the stark, four-walled memorial honoring John F. Kennedy, whose term as President was ended by an assassin's bullets here 13 years ago.

But Monday about 400 chilled mourners attended a service that city officials had cancelled for lack of participation but which was revived by the Dallas County Democratic party chairman.

"This is really the first people's commemoration of the death of the president," said Chase Hardy, who attended the brief ceremony at the memorial.

"The difference between this and all the rest is that the people here today loved and respected John Fitzgerald Kennedy, and he changed their lives," she said.

"The city's gotten over the depression, but our people haven't forgotten what happened here 13 years ago," said Mayor Bob Folsom, who did not attend the service.

have a deep regret for this to have occurred in Dallas." Folsom said he meant no disrespect by canceling the public ceremony, explaining that he felt commemorative church services would have been more appropriate.

"I think this moment is a fitting and proper one for the citizens of Dallas," said Dallas County Democratic Chairman Ron Kessler, who helped arrange the service.

"We're looked to by the world and the nation on this day and I think it is fitting and proper to pause in the busy life of this city for a short and meaningful expression by the citizens of this city," he told the noontime assemblage.

The plaza is near the Texas Schoolbook Depository, the point from which the Warren Commission said Lee Harvey Oswald fired upon the presidential motorcade. Kennedy was killed and former Texas Gov. John Connally critically wounded in the sudden burst of gunfire.

Coincidental with Monday's memorial, Dallas police, responding to a subpoena, were gathering records of the shooting for a House committee which has reopened an investigation into political assassinations.

A minister at the memorial service alluded to the threat of assassination, praying: "Oh God ... help us to amend our ways that hatred and prejudice may never again erupt into violence or an attempt to assassinate the leadership of our land."

In Austin, former Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who was riding in the motorcade that November day, said he felt the scorn directed at Dallas and Texas after the assassination has diminished.

"You can't indict a whole people... Texas cannot be held responsible, and I think most of that feeling is gone now. It's worn off," he said. Meanwhile, Dallas City Councilwoman Juanita Kraft delivered a brief memorial at the regular council meeting, saying in part that as one person who benefited from Kennedy's "immense accomplishments" she "will not cease to respectfully observe his memory."

Young man in Missouri survives swine flu

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A Missouri man who had not received a swine flu inoculation has recovered from the first confirmed case of the disease since a Fort Dix, N.J., soldier died of it nine months ago, officials say.

Federal officials who have been directing the nationwide swine flu immunization drive said there was no reason to fear the isolated case signaled an epidemic.

The man was identified Monday by the Missouri Health Division. Dr. H. Denny Donnell, director of its medical section, said he was "a young man in his 30s in western Missouri, in Lafayette County."

"He has recovered from his illness," Donnell said, adding that the man missed work for several days but was not hospitalized.

He said the man contracted a "flu-like illness" in mid-October and said blood studies confirmed the disease as swine flu. He said the man had not been immunized against swine flu then, but has since had a shot.

"We are in the process of further investigation to attempt to determine the origin, if possible, and the extent and spread, if any, from his illness," Donnell said.

In Atlanta, David Sencer of the federal Center for Disease Control said there was no reason for public alarm. "We've had cases like this before where people have had contact with pigs, and we don't get all excited about it," he said.

Blood samples have been taken from about 20 persons in the community where the man with the swine flu lives, Donnell said. He said none has shown any signs of the illness.

More than 20 million Americans have been inoculated against swine flu, says the U.S. Public Health Service. Officials have said the program is "gaining momentum," but concern

Walker takes new state job

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Rayford Walker, who has handled public information duties for the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission since 1968, resigned Monday to become director of personnel for the State Bank Department.

Walker, 42, was a public information specialist for the Department of Public Safety 10 years before coming to the ABC.

He was brought to the ABC by former administrator O. N. Humphreys when Humphreys was hired to clean up the department following a scandal over its enforcement of liquor laws.

A jarring experience

with Marj Carpenter

I never saw so many jars. But Jesse Milsap, who lives near Luther, just east of the Skelly Plant, assured me that he had many, many more packed away in boxes. Shelves in the kitchen displayed his favorites. Jesse, who lives on a Lario Oil lease, said, I originally started out collecting old bottles and old barbed wire and sold those collections — getting over instead into the jar collecting as a hobby.

FROM THE RED BOOK — Jesse Milsap is showing one of the 1200 jars in his jar collection that is listed in the official "Red Book of Jars" for jar collectors all over the United States.

It seems that America is filled with jar collectors and they even put out books and magazines setting the value on different types of jars. Some of those little dudes are worth as much as $150 to the right collectors. Jesse smiled and said, "You don't find many of that kind." However, he has jars that date back to 1858 and earlier. Some of them actually have the dates on the glass. Others have early markings that glass blowers used to designate their particular craft.

he has found in the dump yards and some at deserted farm homes. "Back in Kansas where I was from, there was an old house occupied by a fellow we called the goat man. After he died, collectors roamed the place and picked up bottles and jars. However, nobody would go into the basement because they were afraid of both rattlesnakes and skunks," Milsap recalls.

"I finally got up the nerve to go down into that old basement and ended up with two bushel baskets full of jars," he added. Milsap lived most of his life in Kansas, but was born in Arkansas. "Of course, everybody put up vegetables and fruits in jars. If they hadn't done this, there wouldn't have been much to eat during the winter," Milsap added. "I guess I now have over 1200 jars. I don't keep them all out, because that would be pretty ridiculous," he added.

The home has other lovely antiques including three antique china closets that will go to their three children and out front is an old water pump like all farms used to have in the kitchen to get water into the house. Milsap, who still misses Kansas, looked out across the West Texas prairie and said, "It took a little getting used to for us, but it's really pretty out here. And the people are good. We like it." That's the way I found Jesse Milsap and his jars — out at Luther while out ridin' fence.

Rates by areas are suggested

McMorries, an economic consultant for Abilene and other cities of similar size in the telephone rate case, told the Public Utilities Commission that it should consider setting rates based on geographic areas as well as on numbers of phone installations. McMorries was called as a witness by Abilene City Attorney Richard Tulk. He presented his written prepared testimony and then was turned over to Bell attorneys and attorneys for others protesting the Bell rate request for cross-examination. That is the system that is being used throughout the proceedings. Besides Abilene, he represented Midland, Odessa, Lubbock and Amarillo. Bell and other protestants had based rate data on the number of phones within an area, saying the number of phone units was a basis of cost of providing service. McMorries contended that geography has something to do with it too, and that the PUC should consider setting up geographical zones and then looking to the number of phones in given areas within the zones. He said such a system would "minimize rate distortions."

House panel urges higher interest rates on loans

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The House Committee on Financial Institutions recommended higher interest rates on consumer loans Monday but shied away from specific amounts. "It is the opinion of the committee that the proper adjusted rate level should be determined by the 65th Legislature. Such level should insure a reasonable return for lenders, thereby stimulating competition, while insuring that credit will be available to consumers," it said in its final report. The committee said that small loan companies' costs had "greatly increased" since the present rate ceilings were set in 1967. Regulated lenders, it said, are "experiencing returns insufficient to insure continued operations." The committee also recommended that finance companies be allowed to lend up to $5,000, double the present ceiling of $2,500 on regulated loans. It said the current ceiling, set in 1967, "has been so eroded by inflation... that it no longer serves the needs to which it was originally intended." Another recommendation would prohibit borrowers from collecting penalties under both state and federal law for violation of truth in lending requirements. "They can select their remedies but the remedies shouldn't be cumulative," said committee chairman Rep. Nub Donaldson, D-Gatesville. Consumer Credit Commissioner Sam Kelley endorsed the recommendation and said the State Finance Commission is working on proposals to amend the Texas law dealing with truth in lending. "One thing we are thinking about is asking the legislature to repeal the act and say, instead, that the Texas disclosure requirements are the same as the federal, with eight or 10 exceptions," Donaldson said. The committee rejected a proposal that would raise the 10 per cent interest ceiling on single payment loans, such as those obtained by merchants to build their inventories and paid off after Christmas. "What has happened is banks are just not making this kind of loan... This is one recommendation that is desperately needed in Texas."

'Spruce Goose' useful?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A huge wooden seaplane built by the late billionaire Howard Hughes 30 years ago may be useful to the Navy in exploring new technological developments. The Navy said Friday the flying boat — nicknamed the "Spruce Goose" — could help in research on seaplanes. But so far, the Navy said, "No agreements or commitments have been made between the government and the Summa Corp.," a firm which was controlled by Hughes. The Navy said here the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is helping evaluate the flying boat, now stored in Long Beach, Calif. The Navy said the "Spruce Goose" was "a possible candidate for a flight demonstrator" for a proposed study of new airplane concepts that includes large seaplanes.

Adobe secures sizeable loan

Adobe Oil — Gas Corporation, a domestic oil and gas exploration and production company headquartered in Midland, has announced it has obtained $35 million in unsecured, long-term loans from two insurance companies and three banks. The funds are for use in Adobe's oil and gas activities. Long-term loans totaling $15 million were obtained from Connecticut General Life Insurance Company and Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association of America. The remaining $20 million in loans are being participated in by Chase Manhattan Bank, as agent, together with the First National Bank in Dallas and the First National Bank of Midland, Texas. The private placement was arranged by Bateman Eichler, Hill Richards, Inc., a major regional investment securities firm based in Los Angeles.

Lafayette's sword bought

NEW YORK (AP) — Count Rene de Chambrun, a direct descendant of the Marquis de Lafayette, outbid the Smithsonian Institution to win possession of a sword presented to Lafayette in 1779 by the American Continental Congress. The count, a Paris attorney, paid $145,000 for the sword. The Smithsonian dropped out of the bidding for the richly ornamented sword Saturday when the price reached $140,000.

Industry at the crossroads

Was ambition faulted?

by Tom E. Roy

Industrial Manager, BS Ch. of Commerce

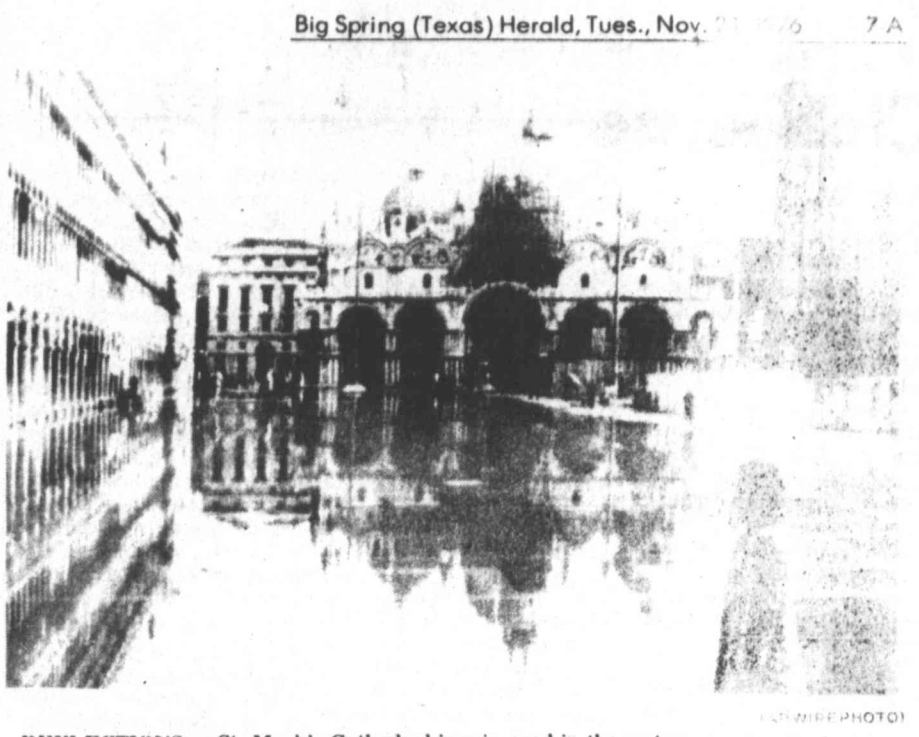

It is with mixed emotion that I write what is quite possibly the last column in this series. As you are aware by now, my duties at the Chamber of Commerce will terminate December 31, 1976. I have asked for a public statement as to the reasons for my dismissal and, to date, have received none save the statement made by Roger Brown. Since those reasons have come forth that's what I must address. First of all, I was ambitious. Maybe that was the reason. I have come to believe that ambition is not a weakness unless one's ambition exceeds one's ability. Being ambitious and successful in this line of work will do three things: (a) it will enable one to advance to bigger and better jobs (b) it could result in monetary rewards (i. e. raises) (c) it renders a lot of self-satisfaction. While success treats the individual in that manner, it puts money into the town and causes growth, giving the entire community a better chance to be prosperous. Somehow, I find it inconceivable for prudent people to use ambition as a reason for dismissing someone. Secondly, I was aggressive. Synonymous with ambition, aggressiveness is a requirement for success in this business, and we just discussed the results of success. I doubt that could be the reason. Thirdly, I was an absolute optimist. Ah, yes, maybe that's it. Maybe it's wrong to have your feet in the mud and your eyes on the stars. Maybe it's wrong to face adversity with a sense of purpose and hope. It's hardly a reason to fire someone. There have to be reasons other than these for my dismissal. No situation is hopeless; no arrangement which cannot be changed to work. I have heard rumors as to the real motive of my dismissal, and since nothing else has come forth, I must address one such rumor.

That is the question of Webb Air Force Base. I should hope by now everyone would know how I stand, and it is not inconsistent with the Board of Directors who have gone on record. But, it bears repeating. For the Air Force to close Webb would be an exercise in stupidity, but that is what they have expressed a desire to do. We owe a debt of gratitude to those who have fought the fight to save Webb, but at some point we must address the possibility of it's closing. If it does close, it will hurt the town a lot, but we will recover. To think otherwise would be to doubt the character of the people in Big Spring. If that stands as a reason to be fired, then we are all in trouble. Hopefully, the reasons for my dismissal will come forth. It's a decision I certainly didn't take lightly, and I don't think the members of the board did either. For that reason, I hope an explanation will be revealed.

Official canvass

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Jimmy Carter defeated President Ford in Texas, 2,082,319 votes to 1,953,294, the official canvass of the Nov. 2 election returns disclosed here. Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Secretary of State Mark White and Mrs. Blake Sparenberg certified the returns as members of the State Board of Canvassers. The certified returns showed that the American Party national ticket of Thomas J. Anderson and Rufus Shackelford received 11,442 votes; independent Eugene McCarthy 20,118; and Socialist Workers Party candidates Peter Camejo and Willie Mae Reid, 1,723. In other statewide races, these vote totals were certified: —U. S. Senator, Lloyd Bentsen, 2,199,956; Alan Steelman, 1,626,370; Marjorie P. ### Thanksgiving gas prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Holiday motorists should find the prices of all grades of gasoline slightly lower than on Labor Day, the American Automobile Association reported today after a spot check of 3,700 retail fuel outlets across the country. The association said regular gasoline averages 61.5 cents per gallon for the upcoming four-day weekend, down fourtenths of one cent from Labor Day, traditional end of the heavy-travel season. Premium gasoline averages 65.8 cents per gallon, down from 66 cents, and unleaded 63.8 cents, down from 63.9 cents, AAA said. Diesel fuel is averaging 53.3 cents a gallon, the association said. The association said its survey indicated that motorists should find adequate supplies of all grades over the long weekend. Over 70 per cent of the stations surveyed said they planned to be open on the holiday itself, Thursday, Nov. 25; more than half indicated they would pump gas after 6 p.m. that day; all said normal operating hours would be observed on Friday and Saturday, and only 20 per cent said they would be closed on Sunday. At least 15 per cent of the stations contacted said they would remain open around the clock throughout the four-day weekend. The highest prices found in the survey were in Mammoth Lakes, Calif., where regular grade fuel was 75.9 cents per gallon, premium 79.9 and unleaded 77.9. Lowest prices were found in the Houston and Beaumont areas, where a gallon of regular sold for 56 cents, premium 50.9 cents and unleaded 49.9 cents. On a regional basis, the highest prices per gallon were found in the Mountain states of Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, where regular was 66 cents, premium 69.5 cents and unleaded 66.6 cents. The lowest prices regionally were reported in the oil-producing West-South Central area of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, where regular was 59.9 cents per gallon, premium 62.4 cents and unleaded 61.8 cents.

Unwed father refuses to help

DEAR ABBY: The son of a wealthy professional man has gotten a girl pregnant. That may not be unusual, but the boy's father bought him a new car with the understanding that the boy not marry the girl. This I consider most unusual.

The girl is forced to go on welfare. The cost of pre-natal care and delivery, plus the cost of raising the child will be at the taxpayers' expense.

As a taxpayer I resent the idea of supporting the grandchild of a wealthy man. However, what do you advise in such a situation? The district attorney seems to feel that welfare is the answer.

DEE DEE ESS

DEAR DEE: Pity a male who is old enough to become a father but isn't man enough to handle his own problems. The wealthy professional man who would bribe his son to forestall marriage, but then offer no financial help to the girl and/or the child is as morally guilty as the son for evading any responsibility for the consequences of his actions.

To fill the gap created by such moral cop-outs, the U.S. government has created Aid to Dependent Children. And for the sake of the innocent children, it's a good thing it did.

DEAR ABBY: We are older people who have just bought a light-colored carpet. We cannot afford to replace it, so we have bought 10 pair of slippers for guests to put on before coming into our house.

The problem: We have a dear friend (he's also a relative) who refuses to remove his shoes and use the slippers we have provided for our guests.

His wife still comes, using the slippers, but he refuses to come if he has to wear the slippers.

Please advise us.

MINUS ONE GUEST

DEAR MINUS: Carpets, including light-colored ones, were made to walk on. If you want this uncooperative guest to visit you, make an exception to the rule and don't make a big deal out of it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BIBLE STUDENT IN ASHVILLE, N.C.: Psychiatry is NOT an atheistic concept. The greatest textbook on human behavior ever written is the Bible in which the principle of psychoanalysis was set forth 3,000 years ago.

"And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." (New Testament, John VIII; 32)

Not until one knows "the truth" about himself, complete with all the grim hostilities, insecurities and unresolved conflicts, is he truly "free."

It is the role of the psychiatrist to remove the camouflage, self-deception and rationalizations, and to bring the unconscious conflicts into the conscious mind where reason can deal with them. Once reason is gained, the cure begins, because the truth does make one free.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING, concerning a neighbor who was wearing out her welcome, is similar to the problem I encountered. This neighbor would pop in on me often, and always without notice. Sometimes I was entertaining a relative or another friend, and frequently I had a lot of work to do and no time for a social visit. I became frustrated and didn't know how to tell her without hurting her feelings.

Finally, in desperation, I took this nice neighbor into my bedroom and closed the door. Then I explained that I really liked her and valued her friendship, but there were times when I wanted to be alone with my friends or family, and as a favor to me to please phone to see if it was all right to come over.

She was very understanding, and thanked me for being honest with her. Now she visits me less often and always phones first. Today we are the best of friends.

Abby, if we would all speak our minds honestly and with love, we could accomplish much.

G. S. IN VA.

DEAR G. S.: Read on for a letter from a woman who lacked your compassion and lived to regret it!

Couple celebrates 25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Reese celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Oct. 31 with a reception in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Richard Walling, 600 Circle.

C. R. and Joyce Reese were married on Oct. 31, 1951 in Spur. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smallwood. Reese is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reese, Spur. His parents attended the reception. Other members of his family attending were his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs.

Wade Bledsoe, Big Spring.

Puffers tonite 7:30

Despite the obvious error in a headline yesterday, the BSHS Powder Puff Derby Football Classic will be held tonight at 7:30 in Memorial Stadium.

Action should be fast and dubious, as the upper classmen girls and lower classmen girls battle in the rubber match of the three-year classic, with the winner taking a 2-1 edge in the series.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students, and the nail-scratching contest should offer some real entertainment.

Queens fall to UTEP

The Howard College Hawk Queens made only 19 of 43 freethrows, missed 11 one and ones, and 14 lay-ups in what Coach Don Stevens called "one of our poorest efforts of the season," and fell to the University of Texas at El Paso squad 54-49.

"We should have beat them by 20 points," said Stevens.

The Queens have a chance to redeem themselves at 7 o'clock tonight in Hawk Gym as they host the Abilene Christian College quintet.

QUEENS—Joanna Sawyer 5-0-10; Trena Bayes 1-1-3; Virginia Whaley 2-5-9; Tami Edwards 3-6-12; Deidre Tucker 1-3-5; Marylynn Rich 0-1-1; Linda Batla 1-2-4; Debra Myer 1-1-3; Carla Faubion 1-0-2. Team 15-19-49.

Area roundball results

Basketball action last night was highlighted by Stanton's victories in four out of five games.

The Stanton High School varsity boys beat Coahoma 52-37, with Darryl Witte hitting 10 to lead Coahoma, and Tim Glenn bucketing 13 for Stanton.

The Stanton Junior varsity boys also beat Coahoma 34-27. Jay Shaw had top honors for CHS, hitting nine, while D. English popped in 20 for the victors.

The Forsan Jr. High boys also felt the sting of winning Stanton squads. Stanton's 7th graders, led by A. Ruiz with eight points, beat Forsan 18-15 in a defensive struggle. Kelly Long and Wayne McDavid for Forsan each had five points.

Stanton's 8th grade team also beat Forsan 33-26, with H. Lewis netting 19 for Stanton and Todd Underwood leading Forsan with 14.

—But the Stanton's girl's Jr. High squad met a pearl-hard obstacle in Forsan, losing 37-4. Lavonne Burmley had eight for FJH, while teammates Isabel Miranda and Monica Dyess had nine and 10, respectively. K. Douglas had four for Stanton.

The Forsan girls play their next games Dec. 2 at 4:30 in Coahoma.

Football cash bunch

The winners in the Herald's weekly football contest contain a rookie, a veteran and an old pro.

David Bock, 1308 Wood, came in first, Arthur Islas, 1306 Mesa garnered second, and Tommy "Boom Boom" Walker, 1100 Wood, slid into home plate with third place money.

Snyder squeaker

The Sands Girl's Varsity Basketball Team lost a squeaker to Eola in an exhibition game at the Western Texas Basketball Clinic in Snyder Saturday.

Final score after overtime play was Eola 63-Sands 60. High scorers for Sands were Jill Floyd with 28 points; Rene Roman with 16 points; and Susan Martin, 11th 16 points.

The clinic also featured a free throw contest which was won by Susan Martin of Sands.

Area BB schedule

Another night of furious action on the hardwoods.

The Howard College Hawk Queens host ACC tonight in Hawk Gym at 7 o'clock. You might want to take a radio to the game to catch the last bit of action in the Hawk game in San Angelo against their JV's at 5:30.

The Garden City Bearkats take their Boy's A team and the girl's A and B team to Irann for a 5 p.m. showdown there.

The Stanton HS varsity and junior varsity boys and the varsity girls will take a short journey to Forsan for a barn-burner beginning at 5 p.m.

Coahoma High School is on the road to Greenwood with their boy's and girl's A team and boy's JV for a 5 o'clock tip-off.

Sands will take their A and B girls and their A boys to Westbrook for a round of contests beginning at 5 p.m.

POSSIBLE REMATCH — Muhammad Ali (left) reaches down as if to choke George Foreman today at ringside in Houston. Foreman showed up at the set of a movie on the life of Ali.

Big Spring Herald

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1976

SECTION B SECTION B

Ali unretired? no one knows

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali has denied he has officially retired and indicated he might fight former champion George Foreman again.

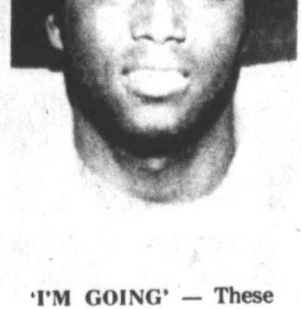

"You never heard me say I was going to retire," Ali yelled. "You heard reports out of Turkey. But you didn't hear me say I was going to retire."

Ali said Foreman was "hungry and desperate." "I'm the lord of the ring," Ali said. "I do what I want to and where I want to. Foreman will get a whuppin', in due time."

Foreman arrived on the set in Sam Houston Coliseum and was hoisted into the ring by onlookers and he immediately began to badger and challenge the champion to a rematch.

The two fighters exchanged insults and even signed a piece of scratch paper agreeing to a fight at some point in the future.

Ali said he could not make any definite plans until he talks with managers, trainers and particularly his (Muslim) people. He mentioned Elijah Muhammad.

"I'm GOING" — These are the sentiments of ex-Big Spring Steer J.T. Smith, who is now a junior at the University of Houston, and a starting running back for the Junior Varsity.

Barnes instant hero, blocks GRIE's PAT

MIAMI (AP) — Mike Barnes, who knew little glory in the Orange Bowl while toiling for the University of Miami, surfaced as a hero Monday night in the Baltimore Colts' 17-16 victory over the Miami Dolphins.

The 6-foot-6, 256-pound defensive tackle blocked Garo Yepremian's conversion kick with 12 seconds to play, preserving the victory and first place for the Colts in the American Football Conference's Eastern Division.

"You can't have a game that means more than this did," said Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones. "It makes no difference, one point or 100. The W (Win) on the board is what counts."

The victory gave the Colts a 9-2 record and kept them one game ahead of New England in the tight division race.

"It's a matter of trying every time, and sometimes you get one," said Barnes of his leap to knock down

Yepremian's kick. "The Dolphins scare me. They're a great team. But you're lucky sometimes."

Miami's Jim Langer, centering the ball because of an ankle injury to Bob Kuechenberg, blamed himself for the block because of a low snap. "I just blew it," Langer said. "It's my fault."

Yepremian blamed the miss on "timing." But holder Earl Morrill said, "It didn't seem like that bad a kick. They got three or four guys' hands in the air and it's just one of those things."

The miss came after quarterback Bob Griese had moved the Dolphins 69 yards in four plays to a touchdown, 41 yards coming on a pass to Duriel Harris at the Colts' four-yard line. The score came two plays later on a three-yard lunge by Benny Malone.

"It's a tough way to lose," said Miami Coach Don Shula, whose club fell to a 5-6 record and out of playoff contention.

Teams set in Bluebonnet

HOUSTON (AP) — Nebraska or Iowa State will be the visiting team in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl game to face Texas Tech or Houston New Year's eve in the Astrodome.

Team selection chairman Weldon Humble said Monday that Nebraska will be invited if the Cornhuskers lose to Oklahoma Friday. If the Cornhuskers win, they will go to the Orange Bowl and Iowa State will be invited to the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Texas Tech accepted an invitation Saturday to be the host team in the Astro-Bluebonnet if the Red Raiders do not make it to the Cotton Bowl. Houston will be the Cotton Bowl host if the Cougars defeat Rice Saturday, even if Texas Tech wins its two remaining games.

Midland wants game

All-Stars challenged

The Big Spring Pee Wee League All-stars, fresh from a Super Bowl "2" 38-6 victory over the Oilers have been challenged by the Midland Pee Wees to a game either this Friday or next Friday, Dec. 4.

The star team, made up of five players from each league squad, was coached by Buster Gartman, Leo Williams and Jimmy Johnson.

The All-Stars manhandled a very tough Oilier team, who finished the season in the top slot in Pee Wee action. The star-studded team had rolled up a 22-0 score by half-time, despite four TD's being called back because of penalties.

Beegie Chachinda and Pete Valenzuela of the Stars, were selected as the offensive and defensive players, respectively. Ben Rodriguez and Jerald Wrightsil were selected as the Oilers' defensive and offensive stand-outs.

The Oilers had previously won the City Championship play-off against the Dolphins 26-6, to earn the right to meet the All-Stars in the Super Bowl. Billy Pineda, Willie Mendoza and Danny Sherman coached the Oilers.

If the Big Springers do meet Midland in a "grudge" match, they will be sending a powerful offense into the contest. In the Super Bowl, Chachinda scored 24 points, Bancroft and Gartman had six, and Valenzuela and Jessie Woodruff combined for a safety.

The final standings for the year follow:

Oilers 5-1
Dolphins 5-1
Cowboys 4-2
Vikings 2-3-1
Eagles 2-4
Packers 1-4-1
Redskins 1-5

Michigan makes move

By the Associated Press

Michigan's 16-14 upset loss two weeks ago to Big Ten rival Purdue may have not been as devastating as some may have imagined.

Coach Bob Schembechler, whose team dropped from first to fourth in the rankings after the setback, has vaulted up to second behind Pittsburgh, which took over the top spot.

Apparently the Wolverines' 22-0 thrashing of Ohio State on national television Saturday was more impressive to poll voters than Southern California's 24-14 national TV triumph over UCLA.

Instead of moving up from third in the poll, Southern Cal stayed where it was and Michigan replaced previous runnerup UCLA in the balloting by 62 sports writers and broadcasters around the country.

Michigan, 10-1, and Southern Cal, 9-1, will meet in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day.

"I would say that game on the West Coast could be for the national championship," Schembechler said.

He wouldn't expand on that when pressed Monday. All season he has sloughed off the significance of the rankings, saying that he'd be concerned with being No. 1

"only in the final poll".

Pittsburgh faces 16th-ranked Penn State on Friday night. A loss could push Michigan back into first place — or maybe Southern Cal, if it can beat Notre Dame on Saturday.

If Pittsburgh beats Penn State it would still have to win over Georgia in the Sugar Bowl to expect a national championship.

Pittsburgh received 39 first-place poll votes (compared with 44 last week) and 1,172 of a possible 1,240 points. Michigan garnered 13 firsts and 1,050 points, while seven voters picked Southern Cal as No. 1. The Trojans are behind Michigan by only four points.

Georgia climbed from a sixth-place tie with Maryland to fourth place, gaining one first-place vote and 807 points. Maryland, headed for the Cotton Bowl owning its first 11-0 record, was fifth with the remaining two firsts and 790 points.

UCLA fell to sixth, followed by Houston, Oklahoma, Texas Tech and Nebraska. Orangebowl-bound Ohio State was the only team to drop from the top 10, winding up 12th behind Texas A&M.

Notre Dame is 13th and Colorado and Oklahoma State are tied for 14th. Penn State, Rutgers and Alabama follow. Mississippi and North Carolina round out the top 20, tying for 19th. They replace Iowa State and Missouri, which lost Saturday to Big Eight rivals Oklahoma State and Kansas, respectively.

Dear Mr. Graham:

As a patron of the Herald, I wish to ask for a justified, published, apology from one of your staff members. Up to a point, this year I have considered it a natural prejudice and certainly immaturity on his part to continually lambast the Texas Longhorns. But Mr. Reagan's statement in Sunday's Herald Sport Section fits neither of these.

I admire his loyalty to Texas Tech as an alumnus of that school. Perhaps he can justify his overindulgence in news-casting the Red Raiders due to the proximity and possibly the number of ex-students from Tech in the area.

I will accept that as reasonable. But I will not accept anything but very low-caliber and perhaps poor journalism his reference to Texas in Sunday's edition "those nasty has-beens."

There are many qualified alumni of Texas University present in our community who spend time just as I do trying to improve this area. I consider it a personal slander and very unprofessional to call the Longhorns or any team nasty has-beens.

All season long he has found nothing to report on the Longhorns but slanderous statements. As publisher of this fine publication, you have made some very refreshing changes in the format. Please see that the sports section is balanced out and the obvious prejudice improved.

Editor's note: It is amazing how the tolerance of a fan drops in direct proportion to the number of losses sustained by his or her favorite football team.

It is also amazing how many people in this town do not think satire is a viable form of humor. I understand this misunderstanding of humor ran one sports editor out of town. And I myself would certainly quit before I would change my style for one critic or a host of critics. Who would listen to Howard Cosell as a pussycat?

There is a quick solution for those who are dissatisfied with what I have to say in my daily column. . . . don't read it!! There's plenty else to read in the paper and I doubt that anyone's holding a gun to your head.

In the fading seconds Shula ran onto the field to protest a call and was penalized for his actions. Colts won 17-16 with Miami missed a PAT in the last 12 seconds.

Microscopes and will tell much about his life

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) — Jim Harkins is sitting behind his desk, pipe in mouth. The microscope and the pile of wills facing him tell much about his life.

At 53, with crew-cut, gray hair, he is among the 400 doctors — among an estimated 400,000 in the country — that the American Society of Law and Medicine estimates also have law degrees.

A spokeswoman for the society estimated, however, that fewer than 50 practice law and medicine both. Most, she said, have law degrees to deal with malpractice suits or testify as expert witnesses.

At the age of 28, Harkins graduated with honors from New York Medical College. He had worked as a watch repairman to pay his way through premed school at Columbia University, graduating cum laude with a bachelor of science degree in chemistry.

Ten years later, the native of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., began studying law when the youngest of his four children was only 2. It took him five years and 46,000 miles of commuting from his home in Norwich to the University of Connecticut Law School Evening Division in Hartford, an 85-mile round trip. At 43, he graduated as the top man in his class.

"I studied by using tape recorders," he said in a weekend interview. "And what I'd do is put my class notes on tape. I didn't tape the lecture. I'd jot down the pertinent facts then immediately reduce it to tape.

"I was traveling back and forth to Hartford and I'd play the tapes to myself. It was a very good review. I was carrying on a full time practice of medicine at the time. I don't think without that technique I could have done it."

Harkins operates both medical and law practices from his office with hours from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"I do the law in between patients, in the evenings and on weekends," he said. "I'm not practicing full-time either, really. I'm devoting part of the time to medicine and part of the time to law. I'm practicing both."

"There isn't that much difference between law and medicine, really," he said. "In medicine, you're taking care of the body and solving the problems of the body. In law, you're really solving the problems of the soul, the mind and personality. There are financial problems. There are wills and so forth."

Harkins said he acts as a consultant to lawyers and has defended doctors in malpractice suits. But he said medical ethics forbid him from defending a patient he is treating for accident injuries.

"Quite frankly, though," he said, "I won't take a case unless I believe in it. If a doctor's goofed, just plain negligent, I'm not going to go in there and bail him out. First of all, I don't like losing

Bus-car crash injures nine

HOUSTON (AP) — Nine persons, including seven Houston Sharpstown High School pupils, were injured Monday when a school bus and a car collided.

The seven were treated for minor injuries and dismissed from a hospital. The two occupants of the car were hospitalized.

Wild turkeys to miss feast

SEQUIM, Wash. (AP) — It's not the turkey's fault he's dumb. Man has bred the "smarts" out of him while breeding good taste in.

Experts say the domestic toms that will grace Thanksgiving tables this week are a far gobbler from the wild, wily relatives that Benjamin Franklin unsuccessfully promoted as America's national bird.

Evidence abounds at the Olympic Game Farm here, where wild toms strut about in the midst of a variety of animals reared primarily for movie-making.

Trainer Marinho Correia eyed a puffed-up turkey strutting with tail feathers spread in a great fan.

"Maybe he's getting ready to fight," said Correia. "But basically he's just showing he's a male."

A relatively rugged existence has helped sustain the wild bird's "macho." His bed is in the closest tree, while the pampered, domestic birds snuggle down in temperature-controlled brooding houses. Consequently the tame tom is far more susceptible to disease and weather.

Farm-bred turkeys are so dumb they've been known to drown while looking up at the rain, Correia said.

Another problem for domesticated turkeys is their size. Big and fat is good for marketing, bad for reproducing. Mating is virtually impossible, and an estimated 90 per cent of the birds at the poultry cubers were conceived in test tubes.

"About the maximum weight for a wild turkey gobble is 20 pounds, 10 pounds for a hen," said Correia. Even after butchering, turkeys for eating can weigh up to 40 pounds.

Microwaves could be used as quiz tool

By the Associated Press

A Pentagon report says recent Soviet research suggests that microwaves could potentially be used as an interrogation tool and as a weapon to trigger heart attacks or alter the behavior in diplomats and military officials.

The U.S. analysis of experiments in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe was released to The Associated Press by the Defense Intelligence Agency in response to a request under the Freedom of Information Act. The Pentagon said parts were withheld for national security reasons.

The report concluded Soviet studies have "great potential for development into a system for disorienting or disrupting the behavior patterns of military or diplomatic personnel. It could be used equally as well as an interrogation tool."

No mention was made in the study made by the Army Medical Intelligence and Information Agency of the current microwave bombardment of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, which the State Department has declared "an unhealthy post."

State Department officials claim the microwaves are beamed at the embassy in an attempt to disrupt electronic observation equipment in the building. The Soviets deny beaming any radiation at the embassy.

TSTA reveals three pay goals for 1977

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — legislative committee of the Texas State Teachers Association has nearly completed its school finance recommendations, which will include hefty increases for teachers, the TSTA's executive secretary said Monday.

Callie Smith said the committee met Sunday but did not complete the bill it will have introduced in the 1977 legislature.

"It won't be a carbon copy of House Bill 420 (the TSTA bill debated in the 1975 session) but it will be built on existing legislation," Smith said.

He said the legislative committee probably will meet again next Monday.

The TSTA has three teacher pay goals for 1977, Smith said:

—Recognition of rises in the cost of living.

—Average salaries that at least equal the national average of $14,000 per year.

—Addition of two steps to the present 10-year compensation schedule "to give career teachers additional money to look forward to."

Smith said the committee has made no decision on a proposal to raise the minimum salary for beginning teachers from $8,000 to $10,000.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe left teacher salary increases out of his school finance plan and said Friday that he will recommend none. It will be up to local school boards to decide whether to use part of the additional state aid they would get under his plan to raise teachers' salaries, Briscoe said.

'Boys on the Bus' reading urged by Carter's press pro

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — When Jody Powell of Spokane asked Jody Powell of Vienna, Ga., what he does for a living, the press secretary to Jimmy Carter suggested she read "Boys on the Bus," an irreverent look at press coverage of the 1972 presidential campaign.

The 13-year-old girl wrote to Powell when his name became known during Carter's campaign. But she said she "couldn't believe it" when Powell called her about two weeks before the election.

Powell, 32, promised her an autograph from Carter and one of his own and said he would try to get her an autograph from President Ford.

The telephone call didn't influence Jody's choice for president.

"I was for Carter all along," the eighth grader said.

Murdock to buy New York Post

NEW YORK (AP) — The Australian publisher who boosted the circulation of a London tabloid by introducing "Page 3 bare-breasted beauties" and who has agreed in principle to purchase the New York Post says the Post will remain "a serious newspaper."

But Rupert Murdoch, 45, said he will try to boost the circulation of the Post, which has dropped from 700,000 to around 500,000 despite its position as New York's only citywide afternoon daily.

In an interview, Murdoch said reports that he bought the Post for $30 million from Dorothy Schiff were "not far off the mark."

Murdoch, an Australian, lives in New York. In London, besides the Sun, he publishes the lurid crime-and-sex weekly News of the World.

Second wife of Dr. Sam sues

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — The second wife of Dr. Sam Sheppard has filed a $10 million lawsuit against the NBC television network for its dramatization of Sheppard's murder trials.

A similar suit was filed last week by Sheppard's sons.

Ariane Sheppard, who married Sheppard in 1964 when he was in prison for killing his first wife, charges that the television film "Guilty or Innocent: The Sam Sheppard Case" referred to her relationship with Sheppard as "one of fornication and convenience."

The Fort Lauderdale, Fla., woman claims the film suggested she was responsible for the divorce in 1969 and says it invaded her privacy, defamed her and intentionally inflicted emotional distress.
