

Gas curtailments close schools

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. said today that "the greatest total winter demand for gas in 42 years" was responsible for its shutting off service to industrial users in about 400 North, West and Central Texas cities and some counties in southern Oklahoma.

Texasans raced to their thermostats Saturday night when an arctic cold front slapped temperatures into the teens and dumped freezing rain, sleet and snow on the northern third of the state. Temperatures continued below freezing Sunday and Monday, although precipitation ended Sunday morning.

Lone Star spokesman Warren Fulks said there was no way to estimate how many persons were affected by the gas curtailment. Lone Star serves more than a million customers, but only industries suffered the power shutdowns.

Company spokesmen said only a

Dr. Emmett McKenzie, superintendent of schools, confirmed that school closings here were solely the result of weather conditions, and that the schools' supply of gas remains unthreatened.

"We have been given no such notice by our suppliers, Pioneer Natural Gas," said McKenzie. "To the best of our knowledge, no such cut-off is imminent."

"catastrophe" could cause an extension of the curtailment to residential and commercial users. Herb King, director of dispatching in Lone Star's gas control center in Dallas, said service would likely be restored to schools and hospitals when temperatures hit the 30 mark. Forecasts called for that mark to be reached Monday afternoon, with temperatures falling below freezing overnight before a general warming trend set in.

King said all affected hospitals and many industrial users have alternate fuel supplies.

"The pipeline capacity is being pushed to its limit," Fulks said.

"People are consuming vast quantities, so we curtailed to keep the pressure up."

Temperatures early in the day ranged from one degree below zero at Wichita Falls in North Texas to 31 above in McAllen, in the Rio Grande Valley.

School officials in Abilene, Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Waco, Sweetwater and Llano said their schools were closed because of a combination of gas curtailment and weather conditions. Scores of smaller schools were similarly affected.

The spokesman said natural gas was curtailed to all industrial users, including schools and power generating firms. He said all of the users except schools have standby energy sources.

The area under the curtailment includes all of North and North Central Texas and a few users just north of the Red River in Oklahoma.

The curtailment, effective at 10 a.m. Sunday, was expected to remain in effect at least through today. A similar curtailment was put in force in the same area last month.

All these headaches caused by .22 inch

The first moisture of 1977 fell over the weekend and, as far as most local residents are concerned, it was a pain in the neck.

Official measurements taken at the U.S. Experiment Station here totaled .22 of an inch, all of it in the form of sleet and snow.

Mixed as it was, and combined with temperatures that fell to seven degrees early Sunday, the moisture served to create a frozen surface that made it treacherous for anyone to venture outside, whether they were walking or driving.

Nonetheless, a lot of people tried it and sometimes with disastrous results.

The temperature never rose anywhere near the freezing mark all day Sunday and this morning skidded to six degrees above zero. However, that didn't come close to a record. In 1962, the Big Spring temperature retreated to five degrees below zero and stayed there for two days before rising to six degrees above zero on Jan. 12.

Normal rainfall through Jan. 6 is 12 inches.

Fire destroys residence

Fire destroyed the George Thomas home and its contents here Sunday. The structure was located at 805 Edwards Boulevard.

An estimated 20 firemen fought the blaze, which apparently started under the floor about 12:46 p.m.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, who were at home at the time, escaped without injury.

A fireman, Larry Tubb, spent the night in a local hospital recovering from smoke inhalation. Two other firemen, Joe Willingham and Eddie Young, were treated for the same ailment and released.

Tower blasts Ford cuts in military construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., says it is critical for the United States to keep up and improve those American military bases that are being kept open around the world.

Tower said Sunday that cuts made by Ford administration budget officials in the Pentagon's request for military construction projects are "shortsighted and ill-conceived."

The Texas, ranking GOP member of the Senate military construction subcommittee, said the Office of Management and Budget had approved only $1.28 billion of the $2.4 billion sought by the Pentagon for construction on military bases.

"Since 1972 we have significantly reduced the number of bases we maintain here in the United States and around the world. It is thus all the more critical for us to maintain an adequate program of new construction and improvements at those bases which we have kept open,"

Tower said in a statement.

"It is foolish, in my view, for us to make plans for big spending increases in public jobs programs when at the same time we slash a construction plan that serves both the serious unemployment situation in the construction industry and the national defense as well," he added.

The cut Tower referred to were made by the OMB in its process of putting the final touches on the budget for fiscal year 1978 that President Ford will submit to Congress before he leaves office.

THP officer injured in accident

Highway Patrolman Bill Priest is resting comfortably in Malone-Hogan Hospital today after an incident on I-20 Sunday. Priest was investigating a truck accident at 8 a.m. Sunday morning near the Lomax cutoff. Priest apparently was sitting in his car when it was struck from behind by another vehicle which was apparently unable to stop due to the treacherous driving conditions.

Priest was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital where his injury was diagnosed as whiplash, or severe neck muscle strain.

THE OLD HOME TOWN STILL LOOKS GOOD TO ACTRESS — Jean Porter (Mrs. Edward Dmitrik), seated at right, went west from Big Spring to Hollywood to cast her lot in the entertainment business and wound up taking leading roles in a variety of motion pictures. She visited here over the weekend for the first time in 25 years, says Big Spring "still looks good" to her. Her husband is a noted film director. With Mrs. Dmitrik are her hosts and longtime friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Talbott (left) and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Talbott.

Former actress visits home town

By TOMMY HART Normally dry West Texas outdid itself by creating a "winter wonderland" over the weekend for Mrs. Edward Dmitrik of Santa Monica, Calif., who ended a visit with longtime friends, Mr. and Mrs. Friend H. Talbott of 105 Canyon Drive this morning to return home.

Mrs. Dmitrik is the former Jean Porter who as a teenager went to Hollywood to break into the movie industry. Identified primarily as a dancer and singer, talents she developed in local studios, the petit Mrs. Dmitrik acted in a variety of pictures until 1955, when she decided to devote her life to writing and being a housewife and mother.

Mrs. Dmitrik, last in Big Spring about 25 years ago, said the city still looked "beautiful" to her, especially with the winter glaze. She has many fond memories of the community.

Jean is 5-1 and even now weighs only 102 pounds. She still looks like a candidate for a movie role, says she stays in trim by riding horseback, dancing and "eating right."

At the moment, she is very much involved in writing — something she has always wanted to do. She is completing a biography of Jeff Stacy, one of the musical greats of the jazz age — an era with which Jean was very much associated. She is calling the book "Jess and the Jazz Story," and hopes the publishers don't change the title.

Mr. and Mrs. Dmitrik have three children, the oldest of whom is Rick, age 27, and who lives not far removed from the three-acre plot the Dmitrik clan calls home. Vickie, 25, is employed in a doctor's office at Sherman Oaks. Only Rebecca, 15, is still at home. None has shown much interest

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: What about sand?

Q. Why did it take until 3 p.m. Sunday for the highway department to do anything to Birdwell Lane? It was impassable all night and most of the day.

A. Part of the maintenance of Birdwell is the responsibility of the State Highway Department, and the other part is the responsibility of the Howard County Road Department.

The portion of Birdwell that was sanded at 3 p.m. Sunday was apparently the responsibility of the state.

As far as the county is concerned, "there is no policy to sand any county roads," according to Neel Barnaby, county engineer. The highway department apparently was busy with more heavily traveled thoroughfares such as I-20 and Highway 87.

Mondale following Nixon's steps?

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Walter F. Mondale heads off on a diplomatic tour later this month, he will be following in well-worn footsteps pioneered by Richard M. Nixon.

It was Nixon, vice president under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who widened the scope of the vice presidency with a variety of trips on diplomatic missions, highlighted by his so-called "Kitchen Debate" with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in 1959.

Now President-elect Carter has announced over the weekend that shortly after inauguration, Jan. 20, Vice President-elect Mondale will embark on a get-acquainted trip to several countries. The new vice president will visit West Germany, France, Japan, Great Britain and the headquarters of the European Economic Community in Brussels.

Foreign travel has in recent years been one of the most constant activities of the second in command. And if tradition holds true, Mondale can look forward to seeing a lot of the world during his term of office.

Nixon, in eight years as vice president, traveled to 56 countries, including a well-publicized goodwill tour of South America in which he and his wife were the targets of hostile demonstrations.

The nation's last two vice presidents have not followed the tradition, with Nelson A. Rockefeller making a trip to Australia and Gerald R. Ford remaining at home during his brief vice presidency. But both served short terms under unusual circumstances.

Spiro T. Agnew, the nation's last elected vice president, traveled widely, including three lengthy tours of Southeast Asia.

In 1971 Agnew represented the United States at ceremonies marking the 2,500th anniversary of Iran. He also visited Turkey and Greece.

And in 1972 Agnew was the U.S. representative at ceremonies returning Okinawa to Japan. On that trip he also visited Tokyo and made a side trip to Thailand.

Visits to Southeast Asia dominated the travels of

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as the war there escalated, a war which eventually, contributed to his defeat at the polls.

In 1965 Humphrey launched his overseas tours as the No. 2 man with a trip to Paris to meet French President Charles de Gaulle and attend the Paris Air Show.

The year 1966 was a busy one for Humphrey, starting off with a January trip to Japan, Taiwan, South Korea and the Philippines.

Within the month he was on the road again, attending the funeral in India of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri. On this trip he had the opportunity to meet, in New Delhi, with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

In February 1966, Humphrey launched a trip to nine Asian nations that President Lyndon B. Johnson termed a "mission for peace."

In July of that year he was in the Dominican Republic for the inauguration of President Joaquin Balaguer.

Humphrey's trips in 1967 included visits in March and April to seven European nations to explain U.S. foreign policy.

Also that year he attended the July 1 inaugural of President Park Chung Hee of South Korea and the inaugural of President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam in October. En route back from Vietnam he visited leaders in Malaysia and Indonesia.

And finally, beginning in December 1967 and continuing into 1968, Humphrey conducted a goodwill tour of nine African nations aimed at giving them "a better understanding of America."

Humphrey's predecessor as vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson, managed to visit 34 nations in his scant three years in the No. 2 post beginning with a 1961 trip to Senegal.

Other travels in his first year in office took Johnson to Switzerland, to several nations in Asia, to Berlin and to Sweden for the funeral of United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The following year Johnson toured the Mediterranean and Middle East, and in 1963 he visited the Benelux nations, the Dominican Republic, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland and Iceland.

Deaf-mute gang surprises police

NEW YORK (AP) — Youth gangs are no strangers to the Bronx, and from a distance the Crazy Homicide gang looked like all the rest to Detective John Daly. He had never heard of a gang of deaf-mutes.

"At first they appeared to be a normal wild bunch of kids," Daly said on Sunday after 10 members of the gang had been accused of trying to set fire to a car the night before. "We were not aware they were deaf and mute."

It was not until Daly and his partner had chased the gang members about three blocks from the crime scene that he discovered their common handicap. Even then he was skeptical, he said.

"When we corralled them and they began using sign language, we thought it was a new routine," said Daly. "We thought it was a put-on."

Daly said he spotted the suspects, some armed with chains, spikes and sticks and sporting red bandanas on their heads, and followed them for about seven blocks.

There, Daly said, one of the youths rolled up a newspaper, jammed it into the gas tank of a car and put a match to the paper. He said he bolted from his cruiser, pulled the fiery paper from the gas tank and then apprehended the youths after a chase.

Other police officers said the youths, who ranged in age from 15 to 18, were cooperative as a sign language specialist from the department interrogated them. It took until 1 p.m. Sunday to complete the paperwork.

They were charged with malicious mischief and unlawful assembly. Nine of the youths were held and the tenth was released into his parents' custody.

Daly said the Police Department's Bronx Youth Gang task force was familiar with the Crazy Homicide as a gang of deaf-mutes from around the city, many of whose members have been arrested previously.

"We come in contact with the unusual all the time," Daly said of the episode. "But this was very unusual."

Plains church rejects memberships

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President-elect Carter has joined fellow members of the Plains Baptist Church in rejecting the membership bids of a white woman and two black men, none of them residents of this community.

In announcing the unanimous vote of the congregation following Sunday services, Georgia State Sen. Hugh Carter, the church clerk and the President-elect's cousin, expressed his view that membership would be granted to any Baptist from Plains who is judged to have a sincere desire to join the church.

The President-elect had no comment on the three separate votes. The best known of the rejected applicants, the Rev. Clennon King, a black minister and politician, said his rejection was "sad." He promised to stand outside the church each Sunday "as long as they have that sign saying this is a church."

The Rev. Mr. King, who has no denominational affiliation and declined to tell reporters whether he is ordained, lives 50 miles away in Albany, Ga. The two other applicants who were excluded from membership were Austin Black and Charlotte Weinberger, residents of Los Angeles.

The Rev. Mr. King said he had received no request to meet with the panel.

Police beat Mishaps, shooting, hold-up keep police busy here

An argument between three men at 505 NW 4th resulted in the wounding of Jeff Johnson, 505 NW 4th, No. 3, and Q. B. Traylor, 505 NW 4th, No. 3, at nine o'clock Saturday night.

In the heat of the argument, the third man pulled a gun and shot at Johnson and Traylor.

According to reports, the bullet grazed Johnson's scalp, and ripped into Traylor's arm.

Johnson was released from Malone and Hogan Hospital today.

Traylor was taken to Hall-Bennett Hospital and transferred to the VA Hospital this morning. He is in satisfactory condition.

The man who pulled the trigger was arrested for aggravated assault, and is now free on $5,000 bond set by J.P. Bob West, but no charges have yet been filed.

Gear Thornton, 1209 W. 2nd, was held up at gunpoint about 7:30 last night, by a man that had come to his back door to buy a car battery.

According to reports, Thornton escorted the man to the shed behind his house where he kept the batteries. Thornton went on, and noticed the man did not follow. The man soon appeared however and was holding a rifle pointed at Thornton. The thug got away on foot with $60 of Thornton's money.

Roy Gardner, 4212 Parkway, complained that someone had stolen his car, while he was letting it warm up outside the West End Lounge at about 12:30 Sunday morning.

In Howard County between Saturday at 7 a.m. and Sunday at 7 p.m. there were more than thirty automobile mishaps. At this rate, there was an average of one accident every eight minutes in the thirty-six hour period.

Captain Sherill Farmer, Big Spring Police Department, advised that in this kind of weather, with the road conditions as they are, a driver must plan for his stops, and turns far in advance of when he would normally.

Rather than stamping on the brakes and skidding Captain Farmer suggests that one plan far enough in advance for his stop, to downshift. To use the brakes on icy roads, it could lock the wheels up and cause a dangerous skid unless the brakes are pumped.

Farmer's final advice was that everyone should stay off the roads, and if they must go out to use the well traveled streets.

Injured man is treated here

Cars driven by Hayden Griffin Hayley, Rocksprings, and Louis Alfredo Ramirez, 510 Gregg, collided on US 87 near Hearst St. Saturday night at 8:35 p.m.

According to sheriff's deputies report, Ramirez' car was stopped across the northbound lane of the icy road before the collision. Ramirez was taken to Cowper Clinic where he is being treated for a badly contused foot.

Tenant home destroyed

Fire ravaged a tenant home at the A. F. Langford farm, one mile east of the Texaco Vealmore office, in the evening hours Saturday.

According to Howard County deputies, the fire blazed for only about half an hour, but the wooden-walled structure was a complete loss.

The fire was reported to deputies at 6:10 p.m. by the Jonesboro and Sand Springs fire departments responding.

A woman resident and children were inside the structure when a hot water heater blew up, starting the blaze, but they apparently escaped without injury.

Ambitious road program undertaken by county

Howard County Commissioners after welcoming new commissioner O. L. (Louie) Brown, this morning heard 11 proposals from Neil Barnaby, County Engineer, for projects in 1977. Barnaby called 1976 "a profitable year, with new construction and maintenance."

He continued to say that these proposals would give the County Maintenance Department something specific to shoot at with the Commissioner's permission.

Two proposals were immediately accepted by the Commissioner. First, they agreed to hire an additional man, and to supply a man to run a scraper acquired recently by the city. The scraper will be used in what Barnaby called "an ambitious undertaking" by the city in the jointly-run sanitary land fill project. Barnaby said that presently the county was just wearing out its small equipment trying to keep up with the job that needed doing. Barnaby said that although the scraper operator would be used only when needed, he expected the man to be working the first six months on a full-time basis.

The court also agreed to close portions of county road 49 and 55 for a two and a quarter mile stretch southwest of Vincent. Members asked that any persons with reasons against closing of these portions appear at the next court and inform the commissioners.

Other proposals made by Barnaby were: first, condemning the east end of county Route 54 and rebuilding the road as a 90 degree intersection, saving 1,000 feet of road.

Second, condemning the portion of land required to run Dogwood St. east to 87. Barnaby stressed how important this was to the bypass.

Third, closing a two-mile center section of county Route 21A, known as Cotton Taylor Rd.

Fourth, Barnaby expressed his desire to pave 40 miles of road during 1977.

Fifth, where county route crossed Buzzard Draw, Barnaby expressed his desire to salvage steel from the collapsed bridge and rip out the remains, replacing it with a dip.

Sixth, Barnaby wished to raise the level of county Route 846 along Knott Lake three feet to prevent flooding of the road.

Seventh, Barnaby asked that the situation regarding city roads around the fairgrounds be straightened out with the responsibility for maintenance clearly defined.

Eighth, Barnaby recommended closing portions of county Routes 19 and 50.

Ninth, Barnaby recommended that the present grease truck be refitted for the Luther Fire Department and a new truck be acquired to replace the present one. Barnaby cited the truck's 100,000 miles as reason for the move.

Commissioners also heard a proposal to incorporate a radio-controlled disaster siren system with sirens in Sand Springs, Silver Hills, and Jonesboro with a city system presently designed for completion in March.

Big Spring starlet returns

in the entertainment business.

When Jean lived here, she aspired to take her act to Broadway, but her mother reasoned her best bet was Hollywood. She was "discovered" by director Allen Dwan, then employed by 20th Century-Fox, in an audition.

She remembers her first role very well — a small part in "The Song and Dance Man," starring the late Paul Kelly.

Among leading men with whom she performed were Robert Walker, Red Skelton, Ronald Reagan and Bob Mitchum. She was once chosen to replace Shirley Temple in a picture called "Til the End of Time," when Shirley backed away to fill another commitment.

The last picture in which Jean had a role was "The Left Hand of God," starring the late Humphrey Bogart.

At one time, when the movie industry was giving every indication it was fragmenting and leaving Hollywood, the Dmitriks planned to relocate in Europe — where Edward had directed many of his films. The couple ultimately decided against a change, however. Dmitrik, who last directed a picture called "The Human Factor" in Italy, is concentrating more on writing than the movies at the present time.

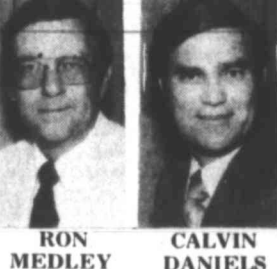

Hollywood is nothing like it was in the 40s and 50s, Jean laments when most of the major pictures were being turned out by studios like MGM, 20th Century Fox and Paramount. Movies are now being shot all over the world but rarely in the faded tinsel city and most of the old studios have been replaced by shopping centers and apartment complexes.

Mrs. Dmitrik said the trend toward exploiting sex and violence in both the movie and TV industries leaves her depressed. She sees some hope when the idea of Pay TV catches on.

Both of Jean's parents are still alive and living in California. Her father, Henry V. Porter, remained here to work for the T&P Railway for several years after Mrs. Porter had taken Jean to Hollywood. Although he is in his 80s, Jean says her father's health is excellent and he looks to be a man in his middle 50s.

The trip to Texas was offered to her as a belated Christmas present by her husband. She came alone, she visited first with a cousin, Pat Smith, in Weatherford and grasped a golden opportunity to stop in Big Spring on her return trip.

Mystery of missing man, grain probed

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — A probing look by state auditors into the books of grain storage facilities operated in part by a man reportedly drowned off the Texas Coast last week was expected to begin here today.

Says he sent sex photos to queen

LONDON — A Danish anti-pornography campaigner claims he sent explicit sex photographs to Queen Elizabeth II.

Svend Laursen, a 42-year-old father of five, said Thursday that he enclosed the pictures from a Danish sex education textbook to make sure similar photos did not get into British texts.

Department of Agriculture were scheduled to add their expertise to an investigation into the affairs of Northwest Texas grain dealer Robert Johnson.

Johnson has not been seen since he disappeared from a pleasure boat early last Monday near Port Aransas.

State agriculture department officials are investigating what they say is the disappearance of more than 500,000 bushels of wheat, valued at more than $1 million, supposedly stored in Johnson's grain elevators here.

The missing man's affairs became even more entangled last week when it was reported Johnson's life was insured for as much as $3 million. Some reports set the life insurance figure at $7 million.

"I don't know what the total amount will be and if I did I could not say in that it has always been our policy not to release such information," Tomlinson said. Additionally, state agriculture department official R. T. Williams said certain records of Johnson's Geronimo Elevator Co. and Robert Johnson Grain Co.

Carter invites Billy Graham

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — President-elect Carter telephoned the Rev. Billy Graham to invite the minister to his Jan. 20th inauguration in Washington.

Graham, hospitalized here for treatment of an inflammation of a vein in his left leg, declined the invitation, but promised Carter that he would attend the are missing. As many as 225 Wichita Falls area farmers are expected to show up at the two storage elevators with scales tickets, seeking information on whereabouts of their grain, Williams said. Johnson cashed $100,000 in cashier's checks just before he boarded the pleasure boat inauguration prayer breakfast in the White House January 27th.

"I'm really sorry to have had to miss the inauguration, because Carter is a friend of mine dating back to days in Georgia," the evangelist said.

Graham, 58, has been in Mayo Clinic since Friday with phlebitis.

along with two young Corpus Christi women and two other men. Police were told Johnson fell overboard and presumably drowned although a search by Coast Guard and police teams has turned up no sign of his body.

The cashier's checks were payment for a part of Johnson's grain operation purchased by an Oklahoma firm which later tried to stop payment when the company said it learned some of the purchased equipment was not included in the inventory.

According to a copyrighted story in the Dallas Morning News, Constable Ben Cash said Johnson converted the check into cash and that a "substantial amount" of the $100,000 was recovered after the disappearance.

There are also two civil suits for more than $175,000 filed against Johnson in federal court.

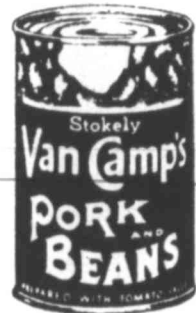

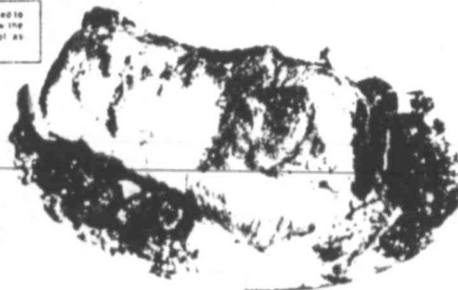

GOING MY WAY? — A hitchhiker huddles against wind as cars inch their way to downtown Toronto, Canada, today during major winter snowstorm. Snow, driven by wind, made driving conditions hazardous from Windsor, Ont. to Toronto. Weather office officials have warned that up to 30 cm. (11.5 inches) of snow might fall in the Toronto and Niagara regions.

Conflicting aims harm country

During the last week in December, new House Majority Leader Jim Wright held a news conference to announce that Democratic Party leaders hope to double the nation's public works job program.

CONGRESSMAN JIM WRIGHT, House majority leader

WRIGHT, A congressman from West Virginia who certainly is one of the most able legislators in the nation's Capitol, said the job creating program could be increased from its present $2 billion to $4 or $5 billion. The aim would be to create 150,000 to 300,000 new jobs. Upon reading this announcement, I could restrain myself no longer. I felt that I had to write Cong. Wright an open letter commenting on the proposal. Here it is: Dear Congressman Wright: I found the new program proposed in Congress to create 300,000 additional jobs at a cost to the taxpayers of $2 billion interesting. I agree that jobs are a most important goal for the new administration, and I hope that with your leadership our Congress can help us find some long-range solutions to the unemployment that devastates our people.

However, I would like to point out to you the tremendous irony of a government which is creating unemployment on the one hand and trying to solve it on the other.

Many military base closings and personnel cutbacks are in the works right now. I am not certain how many jobs will be lost as a result of both the direct and secondary effects of these cutbacks but 300,000 would probably be a conservative estimate.

The savings to the taxpayers of this nation from the combined military cutbacks would probably be far less than one billion dollars, and when costs to other agencies of the government which will be created by these cutbacks (such as FHA housing costs) are considered, the moves may reflect very little, if any, taxpayer savings.

So why are we spending two billion dollars in an attempt to re-create the jobs which the government will abandon? This is especially questionable at a time when U.S. military strength is coming under increasing question in Europe and other areas of the world as well as at home.

You will pardon us little people out here in Big Spring if we do not understand what the government is up to as we face the prospect of a government-induced depression on a small West Texas town, whose residents work hard and pay their taxes and try to believe in their government.

Wouldn't a tiny portion of $4 billion which the government is planning to spend to create new jobs be better used to preserve the ones we already have? If the base closings move ahead as planned, the resulting unemployment from these actions alone effectively negates anything the Carter administration can do for unemployment.

There may be some method to this madness, but you'll pardon the little people of Big Spring, Texas, if we cannot see it.

Sincerely, J. Tom Graham

So far as I know, there are no comprehensive numbers on what the total large and small defense closings and cutbacks will cost this nation directly and indirectly in terms of jobs.

NOR HAS there been any study that would weigh the additional costs to the government in unemployment, housing and assistance programs against the relatively small savings which the military hopes to bring out of its budget.

How can Washington make intelligent decisions on these important matters without this kind of data?

I think a majority leader of Jim Wright's abilities and wisdom will want to know the answer to some of these questions.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Not improving

Around the rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another: Petroleum may be giving the state of Alaska a lot of economic muscle but alcohol keeps the citizenry from freezing solid.

Alcoholism in Alaska, of course, brings all of its accoutrements with it — crime, suicide and trouble in large doses. There are more drunks there than perhaps any other area in the world, and the problem is growing.

IN PER CAPITA intake, Alaska leads the nation — 3.86 gallons annually for everyone over 15 years of age. The problem is especially bad among Eskimos.

In Nome alone last year, there were 1,277 drunk and disorderly arrests and Nome boasts only 2,500 brave souls. The Nome police chief said recently that 99 per cent of his city's crime is related to booze. The hospitals report 99 per cent of their emergency cases involve people who have had too much to drink.

The Nome police chief also said that if it weren't for demon rum, he wouldn't have a job. Nome is almost totally without hard-core crime. Breaches with the law occur, he adds, when people do something stupid after they take on too much liquor.

Why drink? Well, in Nome, if you're not a person who is there every time the church doors open, a voracious reader or a television addict, there's not much else to do outside of bending the elbow.

The lawmakers are trying to make it easier on the problem makers. State statutes now permit police to pick up a drunk and hold him in jail 12 hours in "protective custody" without booking him. A lot of dedicated drinkers in Alaska are saying "I'll drink to that!"

The disease keeps the state in a financial bind. It costs Alaska something like $17.8 million a year for direct treatment of people who have over-indulged, that and providing welfare money, police services and court fees.

OF COURSE, a lot of two-fisted drinkers reason that whiskey is just a tried and tested kind of anti-freeze. It's just that some who are too liberal in their use of the stimulant are prone to wind up in a snowbank somewhere, in which case they're usually not heard of again until spring thaws. Then their survivors start looking for their last wills and testaments.

Wouldn't you describe a skilled politician as one who can stand up and rock the boat, then make you believe he is the only one who can save you from the storm?

I liked the reaction of David Yunch to a critic, Stephen Berger, after Yunch resigned recently as transportation chief of New York City. Said Yunch of Berger, who was trying to make some political hay while offering for the office of the mayor of New York:

"He gets his name in the paper every time he criticizes me. He has the potency of a flea climbing up on an elephant's side with rape in his eye."

Innocents abroad

William F. Buckley, Jr.

One of the matters concerning which the new Administration ought to express itself is the credit being extended to the Soviet Union for the purpose of (choose one) a) reorienting its economy to peacetime purpose; or b) burying us. The capitalist community in America isn't quite sure which of the two it will be but, exercising its inclination to economic prudence, it appears to be betting on a).

THE OTHER DAY, in Nabuzhnye Chelny, U.S.S.R., they opened up a trucking plant built, substantially, by United States technology and United States capital. A little perspective is in order. In 1970, the Russians invited Henry Ford to Moscow where he was treated like Marco Polo, and if anyone during the banquets held in his honor uttered a whispering word of derogation of the capitalist system, the offender was no doubt sent off to Gulag for ten years. But it did not work: on returning to the United States, Mr. Ford announced that his company would not build a truck company for the Soviet Union. No doubt he was in part motivated by the flow of Russian truck-traffic from North Vietnam to South Vietnam carrying ammunition for use against American soldiers. Capitalists aren't dumb: the more American soldiers killed in Vietnam, you see, the fewer potential buyers of Ford cars.

The Russians blasted the decision of Henry Ford — all that hospitality wasted! — and said that, after all, all they needed to do was bestow their commercial favors elsewhere. However, the months went by and no other combine stepped forward, presumably because Europeans didn't have the right combination of technology, and credit.

But American companies in due course came in. A combine of the Pullman Company, IBM, Westinghouse, Ingersoll-Rand and others stepped forward, and four billion dollars later, the curtains were drawn on the Kama River Plant. Listen to the report from Mr. David Shipper of the New York Times:

... the whole effort is already being hailed by both sides as a huge monument to the power of Soviet and American economic cooperation. The Kama River Plant embodies the Soviet passion for bigness and the American aptitude for automation. By its sheer size, the huge complex, which covers more than 38 square miles and will employ 90,000 workers, is as bold as the thunder of a propaganda poster, embodying the industrial might and heroism that constitute much of the Soviet definition of socialism and patriotism.

Now it isn't as though we and our brothers in the Kremlin had had a perfect time of it. Something happened along the way, namely the Jackson Amendment, the terms of which deny to the Soviet Union the economic benefits of Most Favored Nation until the Soviet Union permits its nationals the right to emigrate guaranteed under the Soviet Constitution and the United Nations Convention on Human Rights.

Responsibility is important

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was very much interested in the letter from a woman whose 91-year-old mother is living with the family and making things unpleasant for everybody. You prescribed a bit of TLC (tender, loving care).

Maybe they are already giving her too much TLC and not letting her exercise her own will at all in regulating her life.

Is she really living with the family, informed of some of their doings, invited to take part in conversations, or even in little tasks or activities possible for her? Does she eat at the family table, if able, or must she eat alone from a tray? Do the children ignore her, or tell her a little about their interests, or ask about when she was young?

At first, she might not respond, but she really would like to feel they are interested. Since her mind is alert, she could even help with their homework!

Try to find some way she can feel she's of some use to the family. It won't happen overnight, and at first she might respond negatively, but when she is convinced that they want her (not by words, but by letting her do something in some way) she'll be happier.

Older people are unhappy mostly when they can't be of any use or are bored.

I know. I'm 92, and happy. — T.M. A good thought.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A book I have read on breast examination suggests that the best time to do this is about a week after the menstrual period. However, I have read also that the best time is at the end of the month. Can you tell me which is correct? — L.W.

The best time for the menstruating woman is after the period when any natural tenderness or swelling has subsided. That would be about a week after the period. The end-of-the-month suggestion probably refers to women who have stopped menstruating. It's best to set aside a certain time of the month (any convenient time) so that a habit is established.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: An old wives' tale is interfering with the diet of a number of elderly ladies who live in a retirement apartment.

They have heard that any food with seeds — tomatoes, strawberries, etc. — can harm the gall bladder. They believe the seeds enter the bladder and cause stones. I believe they will listen to your explanation, where mine falls flat. — Mr. J.B.

Some curious notions pop up in my mail from time to time, and I've often thought of putting a book together listing them. This is one of the more curious, and it isn't the first time I've heard it. Of course, it isn't true.

The food we eat doesn't get close to the gall bladder. Gallstones form from the crystallizing of certain materials in the bile, which is produced in the liver and stored in the gall bladder. These are often crystals of cholesterol and bile salts that aggregate to form stones. The tomato and strawberry seeds are eliminated in the stool.

I hope the ladies will accept this explanation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you have any printed material on the Kegrel exercises for bladder control? If not, do you know where I may obtain it? — J.L.H.

Sorry, I have none published specifically on that. However, your physician and certainly any urologist would. It is not very complicated, really. It is primarily a matter of consciously tightening the sphincter (shut-off) muscles as if to purposely stop urination or bowel movements. This tends to strengthen the muscles through use. The exercises should be done frequently, and may have to be continued for some time before any improvement is noted. The goal, of course, is to lessen incontinence.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what kinds of trouble to look for, read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Write him in care of the Big Spring, for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: How did God's Word get the name "The Bible," and when did this happen? The New Testament references to the Old Testament writings call them simply "The Book." — J.V.

DEAR J. V.: The word Bible is derived from a Greek word "biblos," which means book. The word originally meant the papyrus plant that was exported to Greece from the port of Byblos in Syria. It was used for making the parchment on which early books were written.

The word gradually came to be used to refer to any book, and it is used in that way in the New Testament, as in Acts 19:19, "Many of them also which used curious arts brought their books together, and burned them."

When the writings of the Old Testament were formed into a Canon, it was natural to give a general name to the collection. The earliest instance of such a title occurs in Daniel 9:2 which refers to "books" as though the prophetic writings had already been collected into one whole. Other words were also used for the writings, such as "scripture" and the Latin word "testament." The application of the word Bible to the collected books of the Old and New Testaments can be traced back to the 5th century.

When you state that the New Testament refers to the Old Testament as the Book, you are simply using the Greek word "biblos," from which we have derived the English spelling of Bible.

The first collection of writings to be called by this Greek word, using a capital "B" because of its holy nature, was probably the Torah, the Jewish book of the law. It is very likely from this usage that the Christian church later came to refer to its collection of holy writings as the Book, or the Bible.

Detente encouraged

Jack Anderson,

HONG KONG — It was a map of an obscure stretch of the Chinese-Russian border that finally persuaded Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to open the door to China.

Although then-President Richard Nixon had raised the idea, Kissinger didn't think seriously about detente with China until shooting broke out between Chinese and Russian border troops back in March, 1969.

The incident occurred on Chenpao Island in the Ussuri River, which flows between Soviet Siberia and Chinese Manchuria. Kissinger called for a map of the area. He noticed that the clash had occurred five miles from a Soviet railroad but 50 miles from a Chinese terminal, he told us.

KISSINGER IMMEDIATELY concluded that the Chinese would never have provoked an incident so far from their supply line. He decided, therefore, that the Russians had started the shooting and that the Chinese would welcome a U.S. approach.

Today, the 5,000-mile border is quiet but tense. The intelligence reports are conflicting about the degree of hostility between Chinese and Russian border troops. Apparently, this depends largely upon the local commanders. But no serious incidents have been reported in the past few months.

The best U.S. estimate is that the Soviets have 45 divisions, seven of them armored, on their Chinese frontier. Several menacing air and missile units are also deployed along the border. The total Soviet force facing China is estimated at 800,000.

According to our sources, the Chinese don't consider this to be a large enough force to invade China. They believe the Soviets would have to transfer troops from the European front. This could be detected by satellites, the Chinese believe, in time for them to strengthen their defenses.

In the opinion of U.S. experts, the Chinese would be no match for the Russians on the battlefield. The Chinese would be forced to fight largely with obsolescent weapons — recoilless rifles against tanks, inferior fighter planes against modern MIG-23s, masses of infantry against machines.

The Chinese have tested nuclear devices, with a four-megaton bang. But the ballistic missiles available to deliver the nuclear warheads are a decade behind the Soviet models.

NEVERTHELESS, THE CHINESE commanders reportedly believe that the old strategies, which Mao Tse-tung used to win the mainland, would defeat an invading force. Mao looked upon the Chinese populace as a sea which, in the end, would drown the invaders. By his book, the Chinese would draw the enemy forces deep into the sea and then overwhelm them with humanity.

Mao summed up his battlefield tactics succinctly in these words: "Enemy advances, we retreat. Enemy halts, we harass. Enemy tires, we attack. Enemy retreats, we pursue."

U.S. military strategists are skeptical, however, that the Soviets would mount the kind of invasion the Chinese are anticipating. In any war between the two Communist titans, it is more likely that the Soviets would use their superior missile power to wipe out China's nuclear capability.

The only possible invasion, in the opinion of these experts, would be a "surgical strike" against specific targets. Under an umbrella of planes and behind a spearhead of tanks, the Soviets might drive against Sinkiang's nuclear facilities or Manchuria's industrial centers.

A confidential intelligence analysis suggests, meanwhile, that the Chinese commanders have to avoid a military confrontation with Russia. This attitude could lead eventually to a Sino-Soviet detente. For it is now clear that the new government in Peking is backed by the army.

In fact, our sources contend that the real power in Peking is held by the senior military commanders. They played a pivotal part in the arrest of Chiang Ching, the widow of Mao Tse-tung, and three other Maoists in the Politburo. Our sources have gone so far as to describe the event as a "military coup."

It was executed by Chen Hsi-lien, the commander of the Peking garrison, who is now regarded by our sources as the most powerful man in China. His superior, Defense Minister Yeh Chien-ying, is in poor health and, therefore, is more of a front man.

The army anticipated a possible uprising after the October 6 move against the "gang of four" as Madame Chiang and her three cohorts are now called. They controlled the militia, which could have been called into the streets.

The most dangerous spot was Shanghai, the stronghold of the Maoists. So Shanghai party leader Ma Tien-shui and Shanghai garrison commander Chou Chun-lin were summoned to Peking. They suspected foul play and arranged a code to alert their colleagues. A telephone call from Peking, complaining of a "stomach ache" would mean the pragmatists had taken control.

Congress to examine Carter nominees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is mixing the old and the new this week. It will question most of President-elect Carter's Cabinet choices and also will hear President Ford's final State of the Union address.

Two of Carter's Cabinet choices, Juanita Kreps, named commerce secretary, and Patricia Roberts Harris, named to head the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs, had sales today before Senate committees.

Mrs. Kreps was going before the Commerce Committee and Mrs. Harris before the Banking Committee.

Five more hearings were scheduled on Tuesday, another on Wednesday and another on Thursday.

President Ford's farewell State of the Union address will be delivered Wednesday at 9 p.m. EST to a joint session of Congress. The outgoing President may ask Congress for action on a broad range of issues, but the odds are that the overwhelmingly Democratic House and Senate will listen politely and base their action on the program presented by Carter after he takes office Jan. 20.

Aside from dealings with the incoming and outgoing administrations, the House and Senate will spend most of the week getting their committees ready to deal with legislation.

One case, however, will come up on the House floor for debate and a vote on Tuesday: the future of the special committee investigating the assassinations of John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr.

The House is expected to approve continuation of the probe which got under way late in the last session. But the committee isn't expected to get the $6.5 million budget it requested.

In the Senate, the issue is a proposed reorganization of the committee structure which would reduce the number of panels from 31 to 15. It will be several weeks before final action is taken on the proposal.

Meanwhile, new senators last week were given temporary committee assignments, effective until the reorganization plan is approved or rejected. The temporary assignments enable the new senators to have a role in confirmation hearings.

39 arrested in massive gambling raid

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — State police say they confiscated so many betting slips in a Super Bowl eve gambling raid in 11 South Louisiana parishes that it might take months to audit them.

Thirty-nine persons were arrested and $18,721 seized along with the betting slips in the Saturday raids on 25 locations, police said.

They said six others are being sought on similar charges.

"They were football, horse booking and sports related operations," said state police Capt. William Lohr. "Some of these places were private residences, some were bars, pool halls, lounges, night clubs, one was a barber shop and one was an auto sales office."

Lohr said many of those taken into custody had been arrested before on gambling related charges.

Police said six places were raided in Lafayette Parish, four in Vermilion, three in Tangipahoa, three in St. Landry, two each in Jefferson and St. Mary and one each in Iberia, Acadia, St. Martin, Lafourche and Terrebonne parishes.

"Some of them were probably linked together," Lohr said. "Some of them were independent operators."

Weather Blizzard covers most of nation

(By the Associated Press)

Heavy snows, cold temperatures and a resulting shortage of natural gas gave millions a bitter taste of winter in the Midwest, Northeast and Southeast, and there was promise of more to come.

Roads were impassable in many areas, and several districts announced schools would be closed today.

Many of the 438 residents of Polo, Mo., left their homes Sunday night in the midst of subzero temperatures and gathered at the local high school so that remaining supplies of natural gas could go to the homes of the elderly and sick, said a spokeswoman for Polo Gas Service. The school was heated by propane.

Winter storm warnings or heavy snow warnings were posted this morning in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, New York and New England.

Strong winds created blizzard conditions across parts of Illinois and Indiana, and all schools in Indianapolis were closed.

Indiana state police said major highways in the state were snow-covered and slick. The National Weather Service said seven inches of snow fell on Indianapolis during a six-hour period.

Snow mixed with rain and sleet in other parts of the Midwest as well as Arkansas, Georgia and North Carolina left hazardous roads and forced dozens of school closings in each state.

Residents of many communities in Missouri, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Kansas were urged to turn their thermostats as low as possible. Jerry Duggan, president of Gas Service, said that "because of the extreme weather conditions, a critical natural gas situation is developing."

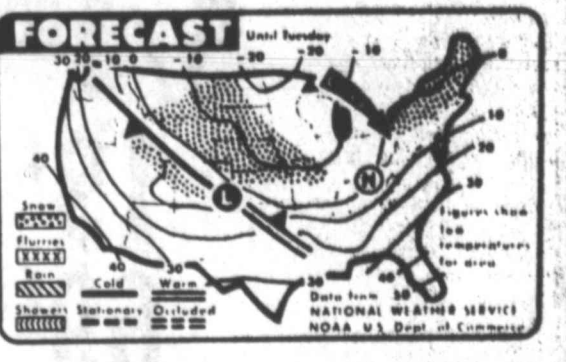

The temperature in Kansas City, Mo., fell to 6 below zero overnight, and officials said the weather apparently contributed to the deaths of four persons in the state, including an 84-year-old woman who died of exposure on the back porch of her residence in Kansas City.

Police said she apparently slipped on ice as she entered or left her home and couldn't get up.

Police in North Carolina said the storm contributed to the deaths of two youngsters who drowned in an ice-covered pond.

'Chico' faces driving charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Freddie Prinze, co-star of television's "Chico and the Man," is to appear in Superior Court here Feb. 28 on a misdemeanor charge of driving under the influence of drugs.

Authorities said Wednesday that Prinze pleaded innocent to the charge at a Dec. 29 hearing. He was not held.

POLICE STILL INVESTIGATING — No arrest has been made in the Feb. 12 slaying of actor Sai Mineo, above. But, a spokesman for the Los Angeles County sheriff's office said the case is still active, that officers have traced leads into other states; and that there is hope of resolving the case.

Mother's ID sends son to prison

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP) — Rosemary Francis' identification of her son helped send him to prison for 99 years on an armed robbery charge. Now she says she is getting letters from all over the country in praise of her act.

"Bravo to you," wrote a woman from California. "If more parents were responsible and did the right thing, there would be less crime. They stand behind their children when they are dead wrong."

Mrs. Francis had recognized her son in a newspaper photograph of a bank robbery several months ago. She said she wrestled with her conscience for 30 minutes and then called police.

"If he did that, I had to turn him in," she said. "If he did that, he was liable to do something else worse and I'd rather turn him in than have him lying dead in the streets."

A teller at the bank remains in a nursing home, unable to speak after being shot in the head.

Jerry Paul Francis, 18, was convicted in the case and sentenced to 99 years without parole.

The letters began arriving after Mrs. Francis' story was printed in newspapers across the country. Most are addressed: "Rosemary Francis, New Iberia."

Some other excerpts: —From a couple in Los Angeles: "We are tired of mothers who in an interview after their sons have killed 10 people say 'My son could not and did not do it.' We admire you for your decision."

—From a woman in Hayward, Calif.: "It was a very difficult thing to do. But you did what was right no matter what other people say to you."

—From a woman in Houston: "I am the mother of two teenage sons and I hope I will have the same fortitude you had if it is ever necessary to make a crucial decision such as you made."

—From a woman in Largo, Fla.: "I am not at all sure I would ever have the courage to do what you have done, but I want you to know I understand you doing it."

Directory Assistance Charging

We don't want your 20¢

Directory Assistance charging is now in effect statewide.

Basically, the plan calls for charging 20 cents for every call to Directory Assistance over the first 10 made during a monthly billing period.

Quite frankly, we don't want your 20 cents.

Our objective in charging for Directory Assistance is to reduce the spiraling cost of providing the service — a cost that has skyrocketed due to misuse rather than wise use.

Studies showed that some customers call Directory Assistance 25, 50 or 100 times a month from their homes. Some businesses called more than 2,000 times a month! And yet, 75 percent of the numbers requested were in the telephone directory.

Yet, the cost of excessive use of Directory Assistance was borne by all telephone rate-payers. Thus, we introduced the charge because it is the only way we can handle the rising costs of Directory Assistance fairly.

The people who use Directory Assistance the most will now pay the most.

Here's how the plan works:
Customers with single-line basic service who call Directory Assistance (1411) more than 10 times during a monthly billing period will be charged 20 cents for every call after their tenth. A maximum of two numbers may be requested during each call to Directory Assistance. Multi-line customers will have an additional allowance of one call for each line, up to 25 lines.

The Directory Assistance Charge also applies to calls for numbers in other towns within your home Area Code — with one important exception. You won't be charged for calling Directory Assistance in another town that has the same Area Code as yours provided you make a corresponding Long Distance call within your home Area Code.

That call has to be placed from and billed to your own phone within the same monthly billing cycle.

To request numbers in other towns with the same Area Code as yours, continue to dial 1-555-1212.

There is no charge for requesting numbers that have a different Area Code than yours. Just dial 1, plus the Area Code, then 555-1212.

Also, there is no charge for Directory Assistance calls from coin telephones or from hospitals.

Some customers not charged.
Visually and physically handicapped people who are unable to use the directory will be exempt from the charge. If you think you or someone in your family or a friend may be entitled to this exemption, please fill out the coupon below for more information.

If you're like most people, you'll never be affected by the Directory Assistance charge. In fact, in cities where Directory Assistance charging was already in effect with a five-call allowance, only 5 percent of customers were ever charged each month.

More importantly, 95 percent were not. This certainly indicates that 10 free calls a month will more than meet your needs if you can't find a number in the directory.

So look in the book before you call. It will save you 20 cents that we don't want!

HOW TO BE CREATIVE AND THRIFTY

Shells, bows, spirals, ribbons and elbows are but a few of the shapes that lead pasta creativity in many directions. European, American, Oriental are but a few examples of the world of flavors that can be combined with pasta for economical meals. A great extender, pasta blends easily with other ingredients in recipes for casseroles, main dishes, salads, soups and side dishes.

Durum wheat is the main ingredient in fine pasta. It is ground and blended with water to make a dough that is molded or extruded to become one of the many shapes of pasta we see in the supermarket. Since durum is the hardest of all wheats, it has a higher protein content than most other varieties. Pasta reflects this characteristic by being a fairly good source of dietary protein. But protein is only part of the story of pasta. The enriched version supplies essential B-vitamins along with iron. Carbohydrate, calcium, phosphorus and potassium are also found in pasta. As mentioned, a plus for pasta is its economy. Team it up with vegetables, meat, fish, cheese, poultry or leftovers to stretch your food dollars.

As an example of this, we have a recipe leaflet for you on "Yankee Doodle Beef", which is a tasty combination of pasta with ground beef, seasonings, vegetables and tomato sauce. Come and get your free recipe for this one-dish meal. No purchase required.

Five Texas petro-chemical plants picketed

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — Union pickets were still in front of entrances to five petrochemical plants in Southeast Texas Sunday night affecting about 3,500 employees at the facilities.

And there was some indication that a nationwide agreement between Gulf Oil Co. and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (OCAW) may be breaking down.

According to the Beaumont Enterprise-

Journal, A.F. Grosprin, national president of OCAW, said in a message sent Sunday to some OCAW locals that part of the agreement was not being interpreted correctly by Gulf.

The walkouts in Texas have been carried out by about 1,750 members of three unions.

Grosprin reportedly has called for a national bargaining policy committee meeting for Monday.

At that meeting, the Enterprise-Journal quotes the Grosprin message, the OCAW head will say that the agreement on pension plans is not being interpreted correctly by Gulf to other companies.

Grosprin is quoted as saying in view of what is happening he has no choice other than to call a national oil strike at a date and time to be determined by him.

Meanwhile, about 400 members of the Oil,

Chemical and Atomic Workers struck the American Petrofina plant at Port Arthur.

Machinists and pipefitters union members walked out at the Union 76 plant at Nederland and the Jefferson Chemical plant, while pipefitters struck at Neches Butane Products Co. and B.F. Goodrich.

About 600 workers were out at Union 76, about 350 at Jefferson Chemical and about 400 at Neches Butane.

An electrical worker at the Union 76 plant said the strikes were mostly over local issues, with contract language the main point of dispute. "There was just nothing else we could do," the electrician said.

Spokesmen for Mobil and Texaco said further talks have been scheduled with the unions, and spokesmen for the struck firms indicated they would hold further meetings in an attempt to reach settlement.

Meantime, industry officials said the plants would be operated by supervisory personnel.

Contracts between the firms and the companies expired at midnight. Two minutes into Saturday morning, the pickets went up at American Petrofina.

Machinists honored the pipefitter pickets at the Goodrich plant.

At Texas City Saturday, the local OCAW union tentatively agreed to contracts with AMOCO Chemical Corp. and AMOCO Texas Refining Co. subject to member ratification.

Whooper goes home

with Marj Carpenter

Apparently, the Howard County whooping crane has safely arrived at the Aransas Pass Refuge.

Bebe McCasland, local wildlife enthusiast, has received word that upon the last count of the whoopers at the wildlife refuge, one had been added. The wildlife people truly believe that this is the whooper who was visiting its adopted sandhill crane relatives around Big Spring.

In the meantime, the sandhill cranes continue to abound in the Big Spring area.

When they began to arrive in October this year, Mrs. James O. Long reported they first camped out in the tank in back of their place.

This is a common stopping place of the cranes and Mrs. Myrtle Lee, local artist, at one time did a painting out in that area, dubbing it Crane's Row.

There is a tank behind the house there with knee-deep water and the cranes stop there every year.

There are more and more cranes around this year and they have been coming in closer and closer to town. On Monday, there were some seen across from the Optimist Motocross track on FM 700.

Last week, Mrs. Tina Davis called in all excited because the crazy cranes came right up into the picnic area behind the OK Trailer courts.

The tall birds were right in around the picnic table eating insects. Children at the courts ran out into the area up among the birds, before they took off.

The Cuban flash, Big Spring Herald's photographer, Danny Valdes, and this columnist arrived too late to get a photo at the picnic tables so we went to the nearby fields.

We got awfully close. Danny took one picture, however, and the birds immediately took off in a perfect flight formation, leaving two determined cranes behind who were still eating. When Valdes took two more steps toward the hardy survivors, they too flew away in disgust, apparently bad-mouthing Valdes as they left.

An article brought into the office by Mrs. MacCasland says that sandhill cranes feed considerably on grain, including milo, kaffir and sorghum in New Mexico and Texas, on fall wheat in California; in all regions on insects including grasshoppers when they are common. The fact that they also apparently eat cotton bolls in the West Texas area is not recorded.

They eat corn left on the ground from the previous fall's harvest. When they reach Alaska and Banks Island, there are a few insects in evidence, but their chief diet seems to be browsing vegetation. They will also eat eggs when available.

The leg band found on one sandhill crane here by wildlife experts several years back brought about the information that some of the cranes in this area come all the way from Siberia. In Siberia, they are used as meat for the table by Russians.

Around Big Spring, very few cranes are killed. And it is definitely true that they are in recent years that they came late and stayed late, the area made money.

So who is going to go out and shoot at that nice bird that is a good omen of money in your pocket for the farmers and the entire area.

The cranes are brave this year. And they're coming right in past the fences, out where I'm riding.

Congress to try mining bill again

WASHINGTON (AP) — With encouragement from President-elect Carter, Congress is ready to try again to impose strict, far-reaching standards on surface and strip mining.

Twice in the last session of Congress, strip-mining bills survived the shoves and lugs of mining and environmental factions and were sent to the White House. Twice, President Ford scuttled the effort with vetoes.

Ford agreed with industry that the bills would hamper production, cost jobs, and increase reliance on foreign oil.

This time, supporters of the legislation are cheered by Carter's campaign statements that he would have signed the legislation.

Environmentalists claim that Carter's election denies the mining industry its White House ally. Environmentalists believe the coal industry's strategy this session will be to try to gut the bill in committee and on the floor.

Carl Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, puts it this way: "The industry is concerned with obtaining a bill that will increase production. Bagge says the legislation introduced by Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., is nothing more than "a land use bill which has the explicit purpose of discouraging surface mining."

In an interview, Bagge said the industry will try to convince the Carter administration that the best way to increase production is to forget federal action and rely on state regulation.

Environmentalists are still working out their strategy. Louise Dunlop of the Environmental Policy Center, an environmental lobbyist, says they likely will work to strengthen the bill to require more extensive reclamation, and to ban strip mining in western alluvial valleys, often prime agricultural land, and on the steep slopes of eastern mountains.

Over half of U.S. coal production comes from strip mines. Western coal, with its low sulfur content, burns cleaner and therefore is more desirable.

Strip mining involves stripping away the surface layer of earth to bare seams of coal, sometimes 80 feet thick, that can be 500 feet below. The coal then is removed with giant steam shovels.

Sinatra's mother killed in crash

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A mourning Frank Sinatra stayed secluded at his estate here as family members arranged the funeral of his 82-year-old mother, killed in the crash of a private jet plane on Southern California's highest mountain.

Recovery teams were to resume at daybreak their climb up the steep slopes of snow-covered Mt. San Geronio to retrieve the remains of Natalie "Dolly" Sinatra and three other victims.

The wreckage of the jet, its wings and tail sheared off by the impact of the crash, was spotted Sunday. Recovery attempts were hampered by freezing temperatures, darkness and forbidding cliffs. A search team said it appeared the four died on impact.

Sinatra has refused to talk with reporters since the plane was reported missing Thursday night as he opened at Caesars Palace Hotel. He played two shows after learning of the disappearance, but canceled the remainder of his week-long engagement.

A family spokesman said simultaneous rosary services will be held for Mrs. Sinatra Tuesday evening at the St. Louis Catholic Church in Palm Springs and at the Church of the Good Shepherd

Sinatra's mother killed in crash

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A mourning Frank Sinatra stayed secluded at his estate here as family members arranged the funeral of his 82-year-old mother, killed in the crash of a private jet plane on Southern California's highest mountain.

Recovery teams were to resume at daybreak their climb up the steep slopes of snow-covered Mt. San Geronio to retrieve the remains of Natalie "Dolly" Sinatra and three other victims.

The wreckage of the jet, its wings and tail sheared off by the impact of the crash, was spotted Sunday. Recovery attempts were hampered by freezing temperatures, darkness and forbidding cliffs. A search team said it appeared the four died on impact.

Sinatra has refused to talk with reporters since the plane was reported missing Thursday night as he opened at Caesars Palace Hotel. He played two shows after learning of the disappearance, but canceled the remainder of his week-long engagement.

A family spokesman said simultaneous rosary services will be held for Mrs. Sinatra Tuesday evening at the St. Louis Catholic Church in Palm Springs and at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills, where comedian Danny Thomas will give a eulogy.

A funeral service is scheduled for noon Wednesday at the St. Louis Church, with burial to follow at Palm Springs Cemetery.

Mrs. Sinatra left here on a chartered flight to Las Vegas along with an old friend, Mrs. Anthony Carboni, and two crew members, Donald Weier, 36, and Jerold Foley, 43, both of Las Vegas. She planned to watch her son's opening show.

But less than 10 minutes into the half-hour flight, the plane apparently strayed off course and slammed into the 11,502-foot mountain. The jet hit less than 200 feet from the top of a ridge.

Federal Aviation Administration officials said the normal flight pattern was 45 miles from the peak, but the jet for some reason never made a crucial turn away.

"The bodies were pretty well dismembered," said San Bernardino County Sheriff Frank Bland. "There were no signs of life..."

Parts of bodies were found in and around the debris, he said, and pieces of clothing were strewn in trees around the crash site.

Hopes had dimmed as searchers spent nearly three days scaming the snows of Mt. San Geronio for signs of the tiny white jet. When the grim discovery was made, Bland said a Sinatra family spokesman told him, "They expected it."

Mrs. Sinatra was born in Genoa, Italy, a stonegrinder's daughter. She came to America as a young girl, settling in Hoboken, N.J. She married Anthony Martin Sinatra and was 20 when Francis Albert was born.

In 1963, the elder Sinatras moved to a luxurious home in Fort Lee, N.J., an anniversary gift from their son. Anthony Sinatra died in 1969. Mrs. Sinatra moved to Palm Springs in 1970 to be near her

Raiders smear Vikings!

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — They are starting to call the Super Bowl "Grant's Tomb."

Bud Grant, the Minnesota coach with the emotional ferocity of an iceberg, brought his Vikings out of the frozen tundra for a fourth shot at a National Football League title against a fourth opponent, in Super Bowl XI.

The Oakland Raiders allowed them twice as many points as they ever had scored against Kansas City, Miami or Pittsburgh — and beat them a lot worse than had the Chiefs, Dolphins or Steelers.

"They beat us badly," Minnesota quarterback Fran Tarkenton said after Sunday's 32-14 thumping in the Rose Bowl before a Super Bowl record crowd of 100,421. "But really, what difference does it make if you lose by a point or by 20?"

The scoreboard said they lost by 18, but they really lost by a lot more. Some other numbers are more indicative.

Like the Super Bowl record 429 yards rolled up by the Raiders, surpassing the 358 by Green Bay against Kansas City in 1967.

Like the 266 yards rushing by Oakland to the 71 by the Vikings.

Like the 134 yards in punt and interception returns by Oakland to the 14 by the Vikings.

Like the 21 minutes Oakland controlled the ball during the 30 minutes of the first half, when the Vikings might just as well have pulled off their cleats, tossed in a few towels, gone out and watched the magical Disneyland halftime show from the stands and let their 16-0 score stand as a final result.

The first time the Raiders got the ball, they showed Minnesota just what they could do with it — which was just about whatever they pleased.

With Clarence Davis unleashing the opening salvo of a career-high 137 yards rushing, and with Ken Stabler connecting with Dave Casper for the first 25 of his 180 yards passing, Oakland rumbled from its 34-yard line to the Minnesota 11 before Errol Mann missed a 29-yard field goal attempt, kicking the ball into the left upright.

If the Vikings wanted to do anything when they had the ball, they were keeping it a secret. But they had a not-so-secret weapon at their disposal and, with about five minutes to go in the first period, they unveiled it — just as they had 15 times during the regular season.

In four full seasons, punter Ray Guy of the Raiders never had had a kick blocked. Fred McNeill took care of that, steaming in from the left side of the Minnesota line, and at about the Oakland 25-yard line, swatting it back toward the goal line.

It bounced lazily toward what seemed to be a Minnesota touchdown — then suddenly bounced back. McNeill pounced on it at the three. It would take only a couple of plays, it seemed, for Minnesota to do something big.

That was right — sort of. On the first play, Chuck Foreman punched into the line for one yard. On the second play, Brent McClanahan tried it. He lost a yard, and when he ran into middle guard Dave Rowe, McClanahan lost the ball, too.

Inside linebacker Willie Hall grabbed it, the Vikings remained pointless and, unbeknownst to anyone, Oakland was about to move out and never look back.

On third-and-seven at the Oakland six, Davis turned the left corner and did not stop running until 35 yards later. A Stabler pass of 11 yards to Carl Garrett, a 25-yard pass to Casper and quickly, the Raiders were on the Minnesota seven. Again they failed to get a touchdown, but this time they got Mann's 24-yard field goal.

"If you have to pick one play of theirs that made a big difference to us," Raiders Coach John Madden said of McNeill's block and McClanahan's fumble, "it would have to be when they gave up the ball right after the way they had gotten it. And then, of course, our busting away when we had our backs to the wall and winding up with some points when they were expecting to get some. That had to knock a little bit of the air out of them."

If that drive did not do it, the next two certainly did.

After the field goal, Minnesota again went where it had been going throughout the first period: nowhere. A Neil Clabo punt gave the Raiders the ball at their 36. Stabler hit a couple of short passes, Davis and Mark van Eeghen ran for a couple of short gains, then Stabler and Casper hooked up for 19 yards, Garrett stutterstepped for 13 more and Fred Biletnikoff caught a pass just shy of the goal.

It seemed time for a run, but Stabler sent Casper out into the left corner of the end zone — all alone, as it turned out. The nearest Vikings player was a distant five yards away when the big tight end caught the one-yard touchdown pass.

Now about seven minutes remained in the first half with Oakland ahead 10-0. Minnesota got the ball, went nowhere again, and punted. Neil Colzie ran the kick back 25 yards to the Vikings' 35.

One run by Davis, and two by van Eeghen gobbled up 17 yards and Stabler's pass to Biletnikoff produced 17 more. Again the ball was at the Minnesota one — and then it was over the goal line on Pete Banaszak's plunge through right tackle.

Mann missed the extra point — this time he kicked the right upright. But so what?

Instead of coming back, the Vikings dropped back, to 19-0 on Mann's 40-yard field goal with about five minutes to go in the third period.

That is when Tarkenton and the Vikings finally woke up. It was Oakland linebacker Ted Hendricks who helped wake them by running into Clabo during a punt and allowing Minnesota to keep the ball.

Tarkenton, who had completed only five of 12 passes for 59 yards in the first half, clicked on tosses of 15 yards to tight end Stu Voigt, 21 to wide receiver Ahmad Rashad, 10 to Foreman and, finally, eight yards to rookie wide receiver Sammy White for the touchdown.

It came with 47 seconds left in the third period.

The next time Tarkenton tried to pass, Hendricks chased him halfway across the field. A poor throw was picked off by Hall and returned 16 yards to the Oakland 46.

On the third play after the turnover, Stabler flipped the ball from midfield to the Vikings' 35, where Biletnikoff gathered it in and raced to the two before being hauled down. Banaszak's TD run on the next play was anticlimactic.

It also was the killer. The Vikings really were in trouble, trailing 26-7 with 7½ minutes to play. Two minutes later, they were trailing 32-7 when Brown stepped in front of another desperation Tarkenton toss and raced a Super Bowl record 75 yards with the interception for a touchdown. So devastating was that blow that it knocked Tarkenton out of the game.

"We conferred on the sidelines and decided that it was in order, since we had no chance to win the game at that point," said Tarkenton, who wound up completing 17 of 35 passes for 206 yards.

Bob Lee came on and got Minnesota's final touchdown, on a 13-yard pass to Voigt with 25 seconds to play.

There were varying explanations in the Minnesota locker room on why the Vikings were so thoroughly beaten — but they all sounded similar.

"We just didn't play any football at all," said the dejected Tarkenton, who virtually had guaranteed a Vikings victory a couple of weekends ago after Minnesota had beaten Los Angeles for the National Football Conference title.

"I think we were ready to play and had sufficient emotion to be ready to play — yet, when you come right down to it, we didn't make a single big play all day except for the blocked punt. And when we didn't score after that play, it hurt," Tarkenton said.

What hurts more, no doubt, is that the Vikings now are the only team in the NFL still wearing a "Can't-win-the-big-one" collar. The Raiders had worn one — until Sunday.

Before then, they had won eight American Football Conference division titles in nine years but had made it to the Super Bowl only once and had lost that game 33-14 to Green Bay nine years ago.

Their ninth AFC West title led to the conference title two weeks ago with a victory over two-time Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh — and finally to this ultimate step.

"They can't say it any more, that we can't win the big one," said Madden.

Hawks to play here tonight

The Howard College Hawks will hit the hardwoods again tonight in fast-paced action against New Mexico Junior College.

The game begins 7:30 p.m. at Hawk Gym, as regular Western Conference play resumes. The Hawks are currently 1-3 in league play, identical to NMJC. So both teams will make an attempt to claw their way up in the standings.

It may be cold outside, but the pace should be hot at tonight's game. The Hawks are hoping for a large turnout to set the team on fire.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1977

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Show care where any matters with associates are concerned. Changes are not good until evening. Any social invitations extended you should be accepted. Dress nicely, say little.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle duties efficiently and you gain the goodwill of others during the day. Take needed health treatments in the afternoon. Make new plans for the future so that you improve your position in life. Be happy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show more affection for those with whom you want to enjoy yourself at recreations later. Showing finest creative talents to others is wise in the evening. Avoid a talker who wastes your time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take it easy at home or there could be some difficult arguments there. Handle business matters wisely during the daytime. Don't neglect to pay bills.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be very careful on the road and in motion of all kinds. Take care you do not lose your temper with others in daytime. Then evening is pleasant.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be careful not to overstep where amusement is concerned during day, or to invest foolishly. By evening your mature judgment is good. A business expert should be consulted and ideas followed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Daytime activities could seem futile but by evening all works out to your benefit. Please good friends and then you can go out socially with fine results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You seem unable to get the information you need during the day, but by evening it is available to you. Take care of pesky chores during the day so you have time for enjoyment in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your friends are acting strangely during day, but don't criticize and then all is okay by evening. It is difficult to gain aims during daytime, but by evening all changes in your favor.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Safeguard your reputation during day and then you can have a fine time with friends in the evening. Get together with officials later and discuss important matters.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Studying into new projects is wise now but wait until evening before coming to any definite decisions. A new acquaintance can be annoying, but other friends can bring you happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make sure you listen to the voice of your intuition as well as follow your finest mature judgment. Don't argue with mate during daytime; you can be happy together in the evening.

'Biblical' gardens

The Planters Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. C. A. Holcomb, Wednesday, with Mrs. Cass Hill presiding.

The program was presented by Mrs. B. M. Keese, discussing, "The First Garden."

"Hundreds of references to gardens and trees are listed in the scriptures," said Mrs. Keese. She told the group that the Garden of Eden was built by God, "The Master Gardener," and is the only perfect garden ever planted.

In the preparation of man's first home, every necessity that he needed was provided. The Garden of Eden became the highest ideal of earthly excellence.

From Eden to Gethsemane the Bible is the Book of Gardens, said Mrs. Keese. It is with a garden that Genesis begins and with a vision of trees bearing fruit that the book of Revelation ends.

Other gardens that Mrs. Keese mentioned were Naboth Garden, the Garden of King Ahasuerus, the King's Garden and the Garden of Joseph.

Mrs. Keese told the group that primitive gardeners are known to have used digging sticks, hoes and mattocks. Paleontologists report that the hand axe is probably 500,000 years old.

Mrs. Keese concluded by saying that modern gardeners should remember their heritage.

Dear Abby

Should Imbiber Take His Business Home?

DEAR ABBY: I hope you will print this suggestion for people who spend more money in bars than they can afford:

Since you cannot refrain from drinking, why not start a saloon in your own home? Be the only customer and you will not have to buy a license.

Give your wife $55 to buy a case of whiskey. There are 240 drinks in a case. Buy all your drinks from your wife at 60 cents a drink, and in 12 days (when the case is gone) your wife will have $89 to put in the bank and $55 to buy another case.

If you live 10 years and continue to buy all your whiskey from your wife and then die in your boots, your widow will have $27,085.47 on deposit—enough to bring up your children, pay off the mortgage on the house, marry a decent man and forget she ever knew a bum like you.

THINKING MAN

DEAR THINKING: You sound more like a "drinking" man than a thinking man. What man is going to give his wife $55 to buy a case of whiskey, and then pay her 60 cents for a drink?

The way I figure it, the man will be out $55 every 12 days, and when he goes on Social Security, he'll either die of starvation or cirrhosis of the liver—whichever comes first.

DEAR ABBY: I am a male who has just read an article written by a woman who uses the word "macho" to describe men who have an exaggerated sense of male pride.

What would you call a female who has an exaggerated sense of female pride and delights in making men feel like little boys?

In other words, Abby, what word can be used to describe the female counterpart of the "macho" male?

AROUSED

DEAR AROUSED: How about "machete"? (An ideal weapon for castration.)

Club women see macrame

FORSAN — Mrs. Estelle Anderson, owner of The Treasure Chest in Big Spring, demonstrated macrame patterns when she was guest speaker for the Forsan Study Club in the home of Mrs. Hamlin Elrod.

Working as she spoke, Mrs. Anderson made several types of flowers, presenting one to each club member. She agreed to return to Forsan Feb. 21 to present instruction in macrame at 7 p.m. in the Elbow School.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Mary Hartin, vice president, and the devotion was given by Mrs. Loretta Yarbrough. Mrs. Ann Fairchild served as cohostess.

Child abuse club topic

Child abuse was viewed by Butch Sweatt when he spoke Tuesday to the Airport Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. H. Thames, 1603 Wood.

Following his talk, Sweatt answered questions from the floor, and there was a general discussion.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Francis Key, president, and reports were presented by various committee chairmen.

Mrs. Ray Parker reminded the group of the annual 4-H Food Show scheduled to be held in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church. On Tuesday, the Creative Homemakers HD Club will sponsor a program, "War of Words" which concerns family problems. To be held at 7:30 p.m. in Kentwood Center, the event is open to the public free of charge.

The women were reminded that they will assist at the 4-H Stock Show Jan. 12-14 by operating the concession booth from 5 to 10 p.m. and providing pie and cookies to sell.

Area homemakers were encouraged to view a series of television programs prepared by Mrs. Lovine McCurdy, Ward County extension agent, for showing over Channel 9 at 4:30 p.m. The first program was Sunday, and the series will continue every Sunday through April 3. Stated for 1:30 p.m., Jan. 17 in the local agent's office is a workshop on plumbing repairs and, the following day, at 9:30 a.m., there will be a training meeting in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church.

The next meeting of the Airport HD Club will be at 1:30 p.m., Jan. 18 in the home of Mrs. Jessie Lee Metcalf, Coahoma, with Mrs. Roylynn Metcalf as cohostess.
