

Dopers trading drugs for guns?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal law enforcement agents are worried about what they describe as "large-scale" traffic in guns from the United States into Mexico, particularly in view of some evidence that the firearms are being traded for narcotics destined for U.S. markets.

Another probable focus of a Senate hearing beginning today was whether guns of U.S. origin — including automatic weapons selling for as much as $1,500 in Mexico — are being delivered to terrorist or revolutionary organizations for use in Mexico or elsewhere.

In a statement prepared for the hearing before the Senate investigations subcommittee, Rex Davis, director of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, said his agency has been unable to determine the extent of illegal gun trafficking between the United States and Mexico. He said this was the result of insufficient information from Mexican officials concerning guns seized there.

Neither, he said, has it been possible to determine what becomes of the guns — whether they are being used as barter for drugs, as some evidence indicates, or whether they fall into the hands of foreign revolutionaries, as other information indicates.

The subcommittee also reportedly expected to hear testimony from Michael J. Williams, 28, identified as a one-time DEA informant who is under indictment in New Mexico for bank robbery and the slaying of an 18-year-old youth.

Williams, who also goes by the name Michael Decker, testified in a federal narcotics case in Detroit last year, describing himself as a gunman who worked for Alberto Sicilia Falcon, alleged by Mexican police to be a kingpin in that country's cocaine and marijuana traffic.

Williams was brought to Washington from Albuquerque, N.M., last Friday, but committee aides declined to say if he will testify.

Davis said he believes the key to controlling the gun traffic is to identify the sources of the firearms in the United States and to intercept them before they reach the border.

He said efforts have been made to obtain better information from Mexican officials, such as serial numbers and descriptions of seized weapons. U.S. authorities then could trace any gun from the maker at least through the first retail sale in the United States.

The law provides generally that a gun dealer cannot sell to an alien or a non-resident of his state. Davis said there are ways of getting around this, including the falsification of records by dealers.

He said that since June 1975, his agency has received information from Mexican authorities on 2,200 guns seized by them but only about 1,200 could be traced at all, and only 285 to any U.S. retail outlet.

"It is our estimation that this does not represent the total number seized by the Mexican law enforcement officials... We continue to make cases that clearly indicate the guns seized by our agents are earmarked for Mexico. In addition, the intelligence we receive from our informers and Mexican police officials supports our belief that there is a large-scale traffic in guns into Mexico," Davis said.

In two surveys conducted in 1975 and early last year, Davis said, the ATF came up with "astounding" figures showing that ammunition sold by gun dealers along the border in Texas and New Mexico had been purchased mostly by individuals with Mexican addresses.

Briscoe repeats 'no new taxes'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Dolph Briscoe told the 65th Legislature today he will continue his policy of no new taxes as long as he is governor—which could be as long as six more years.

"The last tax bill passed by the Texas Legislature was passed in 1971, the year before I was elected governor. There will be no new or additional state taxes so long as I am governor," Briscoe said in his "state of the state message" to a joint session of the House and Senate.

Briscoe's present term expires two years from now but he has given increasingly strong hints that he will run for another four-year term in 1978.

Most of the items in Briscoe's legislative program already had been made public—a broad crime control program, a shift of $825 million in general revenue to highways in the next two years, and a public school finance program that would reduce local funding requirements.

Briscoe said the new state budget should reduce state employment by 4.5 per cent—from 92,591 employees to 88,376 in 1978 and 88,448 the following year.

As indicated earlier, he recommended no pay raises for school teachers, leaving that to each local board. He recommended 3.4 per cent annual raises for state workers, compared with a current inflation rate of about 6 per cent. The Legislative Budget Board has proposed raises of 6.8 per cent in 1978 and 5.1 per cent in 1979.

Even though it would cut into the revenue available for financing the new budget, Briscoe recommended repeal of the 4 per cent state sales tax on residential utility bills. This, he said, would "return a savings in actual dollars, each month to Texas consumers."

Apparently emulating part of Jimmy Carter's reorganization of Georgia government, Briscoe proposed creation of a Texas Department of Human Resources that would combine the present Texas Youth Council, welfare department and Governor's Committee on Aging.

He also proposed establishment by law of a State Commission on the Status of Women.

The governor endorsed the recommendations of the Texas Medical Professional Liability Study Commission for solution of the medical malpractice insurance crisis, which include advance screening of malpractice claims by panels of doctors.

Court again denies execution delay

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today denied a motion for a stay of execution submitted by Jerry Lane Jurek, a Texas death row inmate scheduled to be executed next Wednesday.

In a brief statement, the court said: "Having been duly considered by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, said motion is in all things denied."

Jurek's attorney, E. T. Summers of Cuero, had said earlier that if the court denied the motion, he would go to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The appeals court Tuesday had denied a writ of habeas corpus that would have overturned Jurek's murder conviction.

Jurek is scheduled to die next Wednesday for the 1973 murder of 10-year-old Wendy Adams.

In its written order Tuesday, the appeals court said: "This court is of the opinion that the writ of habeas corpus should not be issued...and that all relief requested in said petition should be denied."

Lawyer Toby Summers of Cuero, who represents Jurek, said of the stay motion: "If the court rules negatively, which I expect it to do, then I will file an application with the Supreme Court for a stay to allow sufficient time to file an application for certiorari."

A motion for certiorari is a request for a review of a case by a court.

Summers said if the Supreme Court grants certiorari, it will consider basically the same points included in the request for a writ.

Summers had claimed six instances of illegal and unconstitutional confinement and conviction in his motion for a writ.

If he is executed Jan. 19, he would become the first Texas to die in the electric chair in Huntsville since 1964.

Action/reaction: Not much punch

Q. I frequently use the telephone while bathing, and someone told me that if I drop it in the water, I will be electrocuted. Is that true?

A. No. According to Ma Bell engineers, the telephone uses current, just like other electrical appliances, but the amperage, the electrical punch, is measured in milli-amperes (thousandths) and could not cause more than an occasional slight tingle. The thrill is apparently not worth putting your phone out of order.

Offbeat: Unique pickup

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP)—On the back of Duane Mellot's pickup truck is a bumper sticker that reads, "When I grow up I want to be a diesel." That's exactly what happened.

It took Mellot only nine months to convert his little pickup into a mean looking, open-road semi.

"Just like having a baby," says his wife, Jeane. Mellot, a sheet metal worker for 22 years, started with a 1955 half-ton pickup, took the body off and kept the frame and running gear. He mounted a Jeep pickup cab on the frame and fabricated the hood and fenders from fiber glass. He can raise the whole works, just like on big trucks, to tinker with the engine.

"I wanted a pickup and I wanted it to be different," he said. Gasoline is carried in a drum underneath the cab steps, just like a big diesel. Mellot said he'd like to have put in a diesel engine, but couldn't afford to pay $5,000 for one.

Postmaster to witness Carter's inauguration

Postmaster Frank Hardesty is apparently the only Big Springer who is planning to attend the inauguration of President-elect Jimmy Carter.

Appeals court upholds ruling

An appeal to overturn Judge Ralph Caton's ruling which certified Ismael Juarez Jr. as an adult was denied in the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals recently.

Juarez, who is presently certified as an adult although he was 15 at the time of the alleged crime, is charged with aggravated robbery for his part in the stabbing-robbery of a Winchell's Doughnut House attendant.

Juarez was indicted by a grand jury as the result of a motion by Caton to charge him as an adult. Associate Justice Esco Walter, who signed the denial of Juarez's motion, said that Caton's decision was constitutional.

Juarez's defense attorney, Richard C. Abalos, said another appeal was not pending at this time.

During the Feb. 22, 1976 robbery, the attendance was stamped 30 times by two assailants, and then left for dead. Juarez and another juvenile were arrested for the crime. The victim recovered.

Hardesty said, "I'm really lucky this time. I've been invited twice before when Kennedy and Johnson were inaugurated. But this time, the national meeting of the chapter officers and council of the National Postmasters Association is also holding a meeting."

"Since I'm president of the Texas Chapter, I get to go and I'm really thrilled over it," Hardesty added.

Dave Brazel, who received an invitation to the event as the Howard County finance chairman of the Democratic Party said, "I won't be able to attend due to my ill health. I would like to attend and appreciate being honored with the invitation."

Delano Shaw, delegate for Carter on the primary ballot, said "I only got my invitation a couple days ago and it was just too late to make plans. I understand a lot of the Democratic officials and workers in the Party never did receive one here. I think this is a shame. There must have been a mix-up."

Two just-plain citizens received invitations including Mrs. Lucile Moran, a 62-year-old widow who lives on her Social Security check. She wrote the President to congratulate him when he won the election as did many other citizens. However, in some way, her letter apparently had a special appeal.

Another local citizen who had a special appeal is apparently A.M. Nunley III, a high school student who sent a small cash donation with a letter to his campaign last year.

His was probably one of the smaller donations in cash to the campaign, but again, something about the letter apparently appealed.

Motel robbery nets $268 cash, CB radio

An armed robber made off with $268 in cash and a visitor's CB-stereo unit from the Holiday Inn, 4:47 a.m. today.

According to reports from Detective Avery Falkner, the robber was a black man wearing a dark tan jacket. He walked into the Holiday Inn early this morning and struck up a conversation with Linda Carter, the clerk on duty, asking her for a room and change for a $20 bill.

Ms. Carter retrieved the key to the cash register from the back office and gave the robber his change. He then pulled a small caliber, blue pistol on the clerk, and instructed her to fill a bag with the money in the register.

She replied that she had no bag, so the robber told her to just hand over the cash, according to Falkner. Ms. Carter was then told by the crook that she wouldn't be hurt, and was led at gunpoint to the ladies restroom and told to stay there.

She waited until she heard the front door of the inn opened, and then alerted the police.

Another item which may have been lifted by the robber was reported missing later this morning.

Gene Woodruff, a driver for the Sears and Roebuck Company in Dallas is a regular visitor at the Holiday Inn here. It had been his habit to leave a combination CB radio, eight-track stereo unit in the office of the inn.

When Woodruff checked this morning, the unit was gone. Detectives speculate that it may have been picked up by the robber while the clerk was detained.

The stereo was valued at $389.95.

Man arrested in holdup

Jerry Dale Hankins was arrested at 4:20 p.m. Tuesday by Officer George Quintero and Det. John Bursan at the Sands Motel Restaurant.

Hankins was charged Tuesday in J.P. Gus Ochotorena's office with aggravated robbery for his alleged part in the Sunday night robbery of Geary "Red" Thornton, 1209 W. 2nd.

According to police reports, the man who robbed Thornton appeared at his house to buy a battery. Thornton led the man to a shed in the rear of his house where the batteries were stored. There the man held a rifle on Thornton while relieving him of $60. The assailant vanished on foot.

Bond was set by Ochotorena at $25,000.

Wheels of misfortune spin, crippled hitchhiker aided

By MARJ CARPENTER

A 36-year-old woman in a wheelchair who was hitchhiking from Trenton, New Jersey to California for the past three months was stranded at a local truck stop Saturday afternoon by 14-degree weather and icy roads.

The woman had "come to the end of her rope" in Trenton and was trying to get to California where she has an aunt. She had no money, so she simply began to hitchhike across the country.

It was slow, because people simply pass by a woman in a wheelchair on the side of the road, apparently thinking, "Nobody could be hitchhiking in a wheelchair."

Friends she made at the local truck stop took her to the Salvation Army headquarters here.

Brig. R.S. Bell, local commander, said "Never in all my years in working to help transients have I come across a hitchhiker in a wheelchair in icy weather. I couldn't believe it."

Brig. Ball said "The woman's mother died when she was very young. She had been on her own for years but had simply come to the end of her rope. Her aunt had told her she could help her if she could get to California, but did not have the money to send her for a fare."

The local unit housed and fed her over the weekend and provided her with some extra clothing. "I never saw such determination," Brig. Ball said.

"Sunday morning, she was going to roll out of there and start to hitchhike again. Her wheelchair hit the ice and began to slip and slide and we persuaded her to remain."

"I simply could not stand it any longer. I used some of the Army's funds and bought her a bus ticket to California. If anybody wishes to assist with a few dollars to help out on this fare and expenses, it would be appreciated," he said.

The wheelchair victim told Brig. Ball, "I've been on the road three months and this is the first time that anybody really cared."

Said Ball, "I've helped a lot of weary on the road, but I sure hope I never see another wheelchair case in 14-degree icy weather."

Low-income housing ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor urban blacks or other minorities who dream of leaving the inner city for the more affluent suburbs cannot necessarily count on the Constitution for help in finding low-income housing, the Supreme Court says.

Lawyers involved in housing suits indicated the court ruling did not necessarily sidetrack similar cases and said the justices left them other avenues to pursue.

The high court said Tuesday that communities are banned from intentionally keeping anyone out for reasons of race.

But, the court said, nothing in the Constitution requires predominantly white towns to change zoning laws to allow construction of low-income housing that would attract poor minority residents.

The court did list standards that lawyers in similar cases could use to demonstrate that a zoning board had an illegal intent to discriminate. Lawyers, for instance, could show a zoning board departed from normal administrative procedures to draw up rules barring low income housing. The court also left open the possibility that existing federal statutes might be used to attack such zoning laws.

In their decision, the justices reversed a lower court ruling and found the Chicago suburb of Arlington Heights did not unconstitutionally discriminate against blacks by refusing to alter its zoning code to permit construction of low income housing.

The court's 5-3 decision evoked sharp criticism from James Compton, executive director of the Chicago Urban League. He said the court's action means blacks and low income families will continue to be trapped in disproportionate numbers in deteriorating inner cities.

"It sets progress back considerably. The Nixon-Ford era has been a damaging one as far as progress in housing, jobs and social legislation is concerned," Compton said.

But Arlington Heights Mayor James Ryan said the decision protects the rights of local governments to preserve the character of their communities through reasonable zoning standards. "It means that zoning is going to be a matter decided at the local level, rather than 1,000 or 2,000 miles away in Washington," he said.

The plaintiffs had attacked the zoning laws as unconstitutional under the 14th Amendment's safeguards of equal protection.

The court's decision expanded a major discrimination ruling handed down last year. The justices said then that the Constitution bars only intentional racial discrimination. In the Arlington Heights case, the court said those persons who think they have been discriminated against must prove discriminatory motives practiced by government officials.

It is not enough to point to the "ultimate effect" relied on as proof by the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, the justices said in an opinion written by Lewis F. Powell Jr.

Most Americans live in West, South

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's Bicentennial year marked the first time that the majority of the U.S. population lived in the South and West, the Census Bureau reported Saturday.

Thus, 1976 was a milestone not only in the nation's trend of migration out of the North and into the so-called Sunbelt states.

The Census preliminary count for 1976 showed the nation with a population of 214,689,000, up 1.63 million over 1975. Most of the growth was in the South and West, where the population reached 107,417,000, while the North population was 107,242,000.

In 1975, the nation's population was 213,032,000, with 107,092,000 in the North and 105,940,000 in the South.

Mexican-American workshop scheduled

The Mexican American Service Council will sponsor a three-day Leadership and Community Organization Workshop. Instructors for the institute will be from the Mexican-American Cultural Center in San Angelo.

The workshop will be held at the American GI Forum, 508 N.W. 4th, from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m.; Saturday, from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.; and Sunday, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The primary purpose of the workshop will be to assist in the total development of the Spanish speaking community in adjusting, contributing to and benefiting from life in the United States, without forsaking its cultural values and customs.

Some of the goals of the Institute are to encourage a cooperative spirit in the Chicano community rather than a competitive one; to formulate definite values which foster leadership qualities; to analyze and study community problems by creating an awareness of the effects of these problems.

By getting to the roots of the problems, the workshop leaders hope to set priorities

ALL-STATERS — Margaret McGee, Dana Workman, Russell Burchett, Kathy Cowan and Beverly Beil all made the All-State Choir. Big Spring High School had more all-state choir members than any other high school in West Texas.

Ma Bell turned down

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has gone to court in an attempt to keep the Public Utilities Commission from cutting Bell's revenue request by 80 per cent.

Bell filed a suit Monday in Judge James Meyers' 126th district court seeking an injunction to block the PUC's amended order that cut additional revenue from long distance calls.

The telephone company also asked Judge Meyers to allow Bell to place into effect, under court supervision, rates which would "produce a fair return on the company's investment."

Earlier Monday, the commission rejected a rehearing motion and ordered WATS (wide area telephone service) rates doubled to make up for long distance cuts, leaving Bell's total additional revenue the same.

The Bell petition charged that the commission's action confiscates the company's property and assets by failing to allow an adequate rate of return on the company's investment in Texas.

Five named to all-state choir

Big Spring High School's Meistersingers, this year's honor choir at the state Music Educators Association meeting in San Antonio in February, produced more all-state choir members than any high school in the entire region.

Five students including four sopranos and a bass made the all-state choir from Big Spring while Midland Lee produced three: Permian Midland High, Edison Junior High and Fort Stockton one each and Odessa High, none.

The Big Springers are Margaret McGee and Kathy Cowan, first sopranos and Dana Workman and Beverly Beil, second sopranos, Russell Burchett is the bass.

Jack Bowers is choir director at Big Spring High School.

The all state results showed 12 all-state choir members from Region VI-A which includes Big Spring; 15 from Region VI-B which centers around El Paso; nine from Region IX at Lubbock and 12 from Region I in Amarillo.

Call for aid more than 10 times and you will pay

Call for directory assistance more than 10 times a month, and you will pay for it.

This edict went into effect midnight Thursday, and will be reflected in the next Southwestern Bell Telephone bill for many Big Springers.

The price paid for letting the operators' fingers do the walking instead of your own will be 20 cents per assistance call after the monthly allotment of 10. The cost of assistance will be listed as a separate charge on the bill.

Local phone users will receive a slight benefit this month. Although all "263" numbers will be billed on Jan. 19, and all "267" numbers will be billed on Feb. 3, one is still entitled to 10 directory assistance calls before the added charge is tacked on.

CLARK JOHNSON

Seminar scheduled

Clark Johnson, Ph.D., of the Human Potential Center of the University of Texas at the Permian Basin, will conduct a series of seminars on the problems faced by men and women who are fast becoming a larger segment of our society each year: the formerly married.

Starting Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. the first of six seminars will be conducted at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Members of any faith are welcome.

Those who need more information or wish to enroll should telephone St. Mary's at 267-4201.

News editor is promoted

LAMESA — Stephen Henry, news editor of the Lamesa Press-Reporter since his graduation from Texas Tech in 1971, has been named assistant publisher of the paper.

Henry will continue as news editor of the Press-Reporter and shoulder additional duties with the paper as time will allow. Mrs. Henry teaches in the Lamesa public school system.

Henry is a native of Weslaco. His wife grew up in Lorenzo and also graduated from Texas Tech.

Borden pay boosts listed

GAIL — Borden County officials and employees will find more money in their next pay checks.

The sheriff-tax assessor-collector's salary will be boosted 15 per cent.

Other Borden officials were raised 10 per cent. County employees get a 34 per cent increase while monthly employees will earn an additional $88 each.

Borden County Judge Jim M. Burkett said the raises were approved because "we're just trying to keep up with inflation."

STOCKSHOW HELPERS — Four members of the Young Farmers Association are shown assisting with the junior stockshow at Sands. They include Kelly Gaskins, Johnny Peugh, Young Farmer vice president; Eddy Herm, treasurer; Marion Lea Snell, reporter and Lon McDonald, FFA Adviser at Sands High School.

Sands FFA, 4H show results

The Sands FFA and 4H livestock show at Ackery drew over 100 head of livestock, at least that many people, and a lot of excitement. It ended Saturday.

Here are the results, according to Lon McDonald.

Ford's swan song

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's third and final State of the Union address, which is being delivered tonight, is described by a senior aide as an "upbeat, statesmanlike swansong." Ford's farewell address will be broadcast by most major radio and television networks beginning at 9 p.m. EST.

Carter calls for peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Carter, beginning a day-long conference on foreign policy and international economics, today called on congressional leaders to "work together to alleviate any threat to peace."

Carter said the rest of the world looks to the United States to provide international leadership in alleviating tension and limiting weapons.

Tough time for Bell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate committees seem certain to recommend confirmation of the men and women President-elect Carter wants in his Cabinet, but Carter's choice for attorney general isn't getting a free ride. Atlanta lawyer and former federal judge Griffin B. Bell was grilled for nearly five hours on Tuesday by members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, then was called back for more testimony today.

Ambassador recalled

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel has recalled its ambassador to France temporarily as an expression of the Jewish nation's outrage at the release of Abu Daoud, the alleged commander of the Palestinian attack at the 1972 Munich Olympics in which 11 Israeli athletes were killed. The French government tried to shift the blame to West Germany for the decision to let the Palestinian leader go. French officials said the Bonn government did not follow the proper extradition procedure by confirming a Munich judge's request for extradition of Daoud.

Texas inmate says warden laughed Guards beat him with baseball bat?

HOUSTON (AP) — A state prison inmate has testified the warden laughed while guards beat him with a baseball bat.

Joseph H. Ayola was one of four state prisoners and two former prisoners who testified Tuesday they were beaten at the retrieve unit in Angleton in June, 1973 by guards who used rubber hoses, baseball bats and ax handles.

Ayola said that when he fled the beatings he saw Warden Bobby E. Taylor laughing.

The dispute which came to be known as the "Father's Day" incident occurred when 10 prisoners refused to work on a Sunday, normally a day off. They were placed in isolation cells.

The inmates claim that on the following day guards armed with weapons beat them and forced them to work on Sunday without hats or proper clothing.

The testimony came before U.S. Magistrate Ronald J. Blask in a civil suit in which the plaintiff inmates seek $3.2 million in damages from 10 prison officials of the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC).

Named as defendants are Taylor, Grady H. Stricklin, assistant warden, Maj. Sammy C. Lanham, Lt. Lon Glenn, Lt. Victor L. Huntman, Gene O. Langham, Kerry G. Brice, Obie G. Harman and John L. Nichols.

Prison officials maintain the inmates were inciting trouble and creating a potential "mutinous" situation. They said the inmate labor was needed to save the corn crop.

Ayola, who said he required stitches to repair wounds from blows to the head, testified he ran when the beatings began but was stopped by a locked door.

The guards continued to beat him, he said, and he fell to his knees.

"I wrapped my arms around my head and they backed off," he testified. When I got up, Glenn swung a bat and hit me in the head. I went back down on my knees."

He said guards unlocked the door and Glenn and Langham chased him.

Marj Carpenter named woman of achievement

Marj Carpenter, area reporter and columnist for the Big Spring Herald, was named woman of achievement by the members of the West Texas Press Women's Association and entered as their entry in the state contest this year, according to an announcement made Friday by Mrs. Tricia Shelton of Midland, president of the WTPWA.

Mrs. Carpenter has been in the news business for 25 years, the last five of which have been in Big Spring. She also has served eight years as news editor at the Andrews County News, ten years as reporter, women's editor, sports editor and then news editor at the Pecos Independent; and two years with newspapers in South Texas.

During her years in the news business, she has covered some of the top news stories in the state including work on the Billie Sol Estes story in 1962-64 in Pecos.

Her awards have been numerous and include the Associated Press Community Service award in Pecos and a share of the APME team effort award in Big Spring for the major story in a storm coverage effort.

Her awards include seven Texas Press awards, five from West Texas Press Assoc., two from the Texas Railroad Association, one from the National Safety Association, and three Associated Press Managing Editors Assoc. awards, along with several others.

She is listed in Outstanding Women in American Communications, Who's Who for American Women, and International Who's Who.

She also has won several sports awards for sports writing in Pecos and Andrews.

Currently in Big Spring, she is a deacon in the First Presbyterian Church, teaches a teenage Sunday School class and serves on both the boards of the American Cancer Society and the Caprock Chapter of the March of Dimes.

She holds a music degree from Texas A&M in 1946 and worked her way through college stringing for and working in the summer at The Corpus Christi Call-Times and the Kingsville

Her daughter, Cathy, is an editor for Harper and Row Publishing Co., and teaches extension courses for the University of Maryland at Cambridge in England; and a daughter, Carolyn, who teaches second grade at Del Valle in Austin.

Her son, Jim Bob, is a junior finance major at the University of Texas.

Gas price increase voted by councilmen

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City city council voted Tuesday evening to grant Lone Star Gas Co., an eight per cent cost increase in residential rates. The increase becomes effective in 90 days.

The vote was not unanimous. J. Lee Jones and Mrs. Tom Neff voted against the increase and Larry Hamner abstained over what he called a "conflict of interest".

However, J. O. Dockery, Mrs. Marion Bassham and Mayor Elton Berkman approved the request for the increase. Councilman Rick Terkin was absent when the vote was taken.

All members of the council voiced opposition to the request but said they felt their hands were tied because the Texas Railroad Commission or the courts would eventually approve the boost.

MONEY:

If it isn't working 24 hours a day, you're being short-changed.

It's been a good year and you've worked darned hard for every cent you've made.

So why let it sit around doing nothing while you decide what to buy and who to pay.

Put your money to work for you. Put it into a First Federal Passbook Savings Account. Whether you keep it with us for one day or one month, your money earns interest that's guaranteed, and compounded and paid daily.

STANDARD INTEREST RATE	TYPE OF SAVINGS PLAN	ACTUAL PERCENTAGE OF INTEREST PAID ANNUALLY
7.50%	4-Year Certificate of Deposit	7.79%
6.75%	2½-Year Certificate of Deposit	6.98%
6.50%	1-Year Certificate of Deposit	6.72%
5.75%	3-Month Certificate of Deposit	5.92%
5.25%	Passbook Account	5.39%

When you're ready to put your money to use, just withdraw any amount you need from your passbook account. There's no penalty and you don't lose a cent in interest.

(If you'd rather make more interest, consider a higher yielding Certificate of Deposit.) We have a variety of Certificate plans to choose from.

The point is you put in a full day's work. We want to keep your money working just as hard. Together, we're making big things out of Big Spring.

Have oil fields been hurt in state?

An allowable too high may have been letting the Texas oil production slip away too quickly.

Or so says Billings D. Barnard, an economist with the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas.

BARNARD SAYS that the Texas Railroad Commission decided in 1972 to let Texas producers turn up as much crude as deemed possible without damaging the fields, the 100 per cent allowable.

"But now it seems," Barnard claims, "fields may have been hurt after all."

"Even with care taken to stretch out production as long as possible, fields eventually wear down. Kept too long at what was considered their highest practical flows, Texas fields have become progressively less productive," he says.

"For some, the flow has slowed. For others, the same flow is taking more of the pressure out of reservoirs."

So depletion has come in many Texas fields.

Barnard notes that despite an increase of 10 per cent more applications for drilling permits and 14 per cent more completions in 1976 than in 1975, Texas crude production was down 6.5 per cent.

Since the oil embargo, drilling in Texas has more than doubled, but production still fell 13 per cent in the last four years.

WHEN THE Railroad Commission decided to lower the allowable from 100 to 99 per cent in December, the first allowable cut since 1971, the reduction wound up being only about 7,200 a day barrels because many fields were not producing at 100 per cent allowable anyway, Barnard contends.

HE NOTES, however, that the reduction was enough to make the point that Texas crude oil is a bargain with Texas producers averaging only $7.64 a barrel while OPEC producers receive more than $12.

The slipping away of what he calls the "Texas oil bargain" will make a big difference in cost to refineries since Texas provides 40 per cent of the domestic crude, or twice as much as the country buys from Saudi Arabia.

Barnard sees production declining further along with the allowable.

"The highest practical level of production in many Texas fields may be no more than 80 per cent of what was once considered their maximum efficient rates," the economist concludes. —J. TOM GRAHAM

Innocents abroad—II

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Is it the responsibility of American business firms, acting individually, to refuse to trade with the Soviet Union? The question has been argued over the generations since Eisenhower began, fitfully and cautiously, to relax the comprehensive embargo placed on trade in the late 1940s. It is a vexed question, brought home by the dispatch last week describing the dinner between American business executives and Soviet trade officials at the huge Kama River Truck Plant at which Americans sought to outdo themselves in toasting their Soviet hosts, with one American specifically apologizing to the Russians for the Jackson Amendment (withholding Most Favored Nation treatment for Russia while it denies passports to those who wish to emigrate), and thanking the Russians for their "patience."

LET US attempt a couple of fundamental distinctions. At one end of the trade spectrum are the instruments of war or of torture. Alexander Solzhenitsyn, addressing the AFL-CIO in 1975 and deploring the activities of many American capitalists, made a direct reference to a recent exhibit in the Soviet Union of United States anti-criminal technology: an exhibit that so engrossed the Russians, they put in orders for the lot, cash on the barrel-head.

The problem, Solzhenitsyn pointed out, being that we were selling our scientific paraphernalia not to the law-abiding for use against criminals, but — given the constitution of Soviet authority — to criminals (the people who would abide by the law (the dissenters, who wish to implement the provisions of the Soviet Constitution and the U.N. Declaration on Human Rights). It was rather like inventing the guillotine for the purpose of slaughtering cattle, and then selling it to Robespierre in full knowledge of the uses to which he intended to put it.

At the other end of the spectrum is, let us say, wheat. Wheat is not thought of as a grist either for Russia's torture mills or for its war machine. To be sure, if one were persuaded to think of wheat as, say, the ecologists think of the least effluent, as the nutritionists think of beef fatteners, as the conservationists think of the bald eagle, we would be arguing that wheat was an indispensable and indistinguishable part of the whole — of the entire imperialistic Soviet enterprise; and of course it is. No wheat, no guns. Still, the soritical leap from bread to nuclear missiles gives time for the easing of the capitalist conscience.

IN BETWEEN the two is such hardware as the Kama plant will produce, and such hardware as went into the development of the Kama plant. And always is the question of credit. It is estimated that the Soviet Union now owes western banks 40 billion dollars. The rule of thumb of international bankers is that a nation's debt service (i.e., yearly interest plus amortization) ought not to exceed 15 per cent of its hard currency earnings. But the figure has risen to 25 per cent; and this in a nation that devotes over twice the share of its GNP that we do to the military. In the past five years, the west has increased by ten times goods exported to the Soviet Union. The reciprocal figure is four times. The differential is, essentially, western credit.

The significance of this analysis is that Soviet economic threats against the United States ("We will take our business elsewhere!") are largely empty.

Acute pancreas attack emergency

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is pancreatitis? What causes it, and what can be done to avoid another attack? Is it a serious ailment? —S.C.P.

Pancreatitis is inflammation of the pancreas, a rather large gland located behind the stomach and liver. The pancreas gland produces insulin (a hormone that regulates blood sugar) and certain digestive substances called enzymes. If the insulin-producing tissue is damaged, diabetes (high blood sugar) results. If the tissue producing digestive enzymes is affected, severe indigestion will follow.

The two major causes of pancreatitis are gall bladder disease and alcoholism.

Insulin from the pancreas is secreted directly into the bloodstream, but the digestive juices are released into the upper small intestine (duodenum) via the pancreatic duct. An obstruction in the duct network or in the gall bladder (stones) can cause a back up of pancreas juices into the gland. There they may begin "digesting" the gland tissue. It is not clear how alcoholism affects the pancreas. Poor nutrition, specifically a protein deficiency, seems to play a role.

Pancreatitis can be either acute, with sudden, sharp pain, or chronic, with constant pain that radiates toward the back. An acute attack is considered an emergency, with vomiting and high fever. Several acute attacks may lead to a chronic condition.

About 40 per cent of acute pancreatitis cases involved gallstones, and about 40 per cent are associated with alcoholism. It may also occur as a result of abdominal surgery, from virus infections (mumps), or from use of certain drugs such as cortisones and thiazides (diuretics).

Preventing new attacks depends on the cause of the initial one. If stones are involved, then gall bladder removal usually ends the pancreas problem. Complete abstinence is essential if alcoholism is involved. Fatty stool is often found with pancreatitis (because of poor fat digestion), and thus a low-fat diet often helps.

Acute attacks may follow a heavy meal or a drinking bout. Pancreatitis is a serious ailment, requiring careful diagnosis and careful management.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If a person has deposits on the insides of the arteries, will a weight loss diet and avoiding animal fats make them disappear, or will you always have them? Is there medication to reduce cholesterol? —Mrs. T.H.

The process of deposit (plaque) formation is a long one, usually beginning as early as childhood. The hardening and hypertension that result usually don't become obvious until middle age, and it's too late to reverse the situation by then.

But weight reduction and low-fat diet are important, the first to relieve strain on the overburdened arteries, the second to prevent further build-up of plaque from the fats.

There are medicines that lower cholesterol production in the body. Studies in monkeys fed a low-fat, low cholesterol diet indicate that some reversal of the plaque formation occurs. Whether this happens in humans though is unclear.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our grandson will soon be eight and was born with blue eyes. Recently his playmates commented that he has one blue and one green eye. On close inspection we find this to be true. Can you comment? What can we expect in the future? —Mrs. D.C.

This is a relatively rare condition but nothing to become upset over. It is called heterochromia. Most Caucasian babies have blue eyes at birth. However, brown is the dominant color and will appear, especially with dark-haired children, if the darker eye genes have been inherited. Blue is recessive, but it will persist if genes for the color have been inherited.

Through some minor quirk in fetal development, pigment of the iris can be laid down unevenly. This may or may not correct itself in time. In any event it will not affect vision or cause any other eye problems. This is not thought to be hereditary.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Vaginitis can strike any woman at any time in her life. You can find out about the causes — and the cures — for this troublesome complaint in Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment." To get your copy, write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble" — it could be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I try to live a good life and treat others in a loving way. But there is something I can't understand. How can someone lie and cheat almost all his life, and then go to heaven (just like a good person), if he repents at the last minute? This doesn't seem quite fair. —Mrs. B.S.

DEAR MRS. B. S.: Jesus once told a parable which dealt with this problem. It is sometimes called "the parable of the laborers in the vineyard," and you can find it in Matthew 10:1-16. In it Jesus tells about a man who hired laborers to work for a day in his vineyard, for payment of one silver coin. Later in the day some other men came to work, and although they worked fewer hours, the owner paid them the same wage. Jesus was telling us that God wants to give salvation to men, and even hears the prayer of the person who repents at the last minute. The repentance of the thief on the cross (Luke 23:39-43) is an example of this.

There are two things I want you to remember, however. First, we must never put off accepting Christ into our lives. We do not know when death will come to us; it may come suddenly and we would be unprepared. Also, our hearts have a way of getting more calloused and insensitive to spiritual things, and the resolves we make today about turning to God later may be forgotten or scorned.

One of the most tragic figures in the New Testament is the Roman official Felix. Paul witnessed to him about Christ, but he said, "When I have a convenient season, I will call for thee" (Acts 24:25). He never came to faith.

Second, I wonder if you are trying to save yourself by your good deeds. It is only God's grace that saves us. If you have never trusted Christ for your salvation, I urge you to turn your life over to Him.

Unique individual

Around the rim

Merry Jo Bright

"Fences are made for those who cannot fly."

A small, leather-bound book containing that epigram was my introduction many years ago to a fellow with the rather prosaic name of Elbert Hubbard.

After all these years, I'm still in love with that magnificent man.

AS TO THAT particular epigram, one of Hubbard's friends said, "only those who have lived in a community where 'flying' is strictly against the rules can appreciate the stimulation in that thought to a group of young fellows who wanted to try their wings." That same young man once wrote to Hubbard, applying for a job, and wrote in great detail what he felt were his qualifications. Back came Hubbard's one-sentence reply: "If you are half as good as you say you are, I think you better come at once."

Elbert Green Hubbard is described in the Americana as being an American writer, editor and printer who was born in Bloomington, Ill., June 19, 1856; died at sea May 7, 1915. He worked as a journalist in Chicago, Ill., 1872-76 and later wrote advertising copy for a soap factory. In 1895, after travel in Europe, he settled in Aurora, N.Y. where he established the Roycroft Shop, from which developed the colony of artisans and artists known as The Roycrofters and founded "The Philistine," a pocket-sized "magazine of protest" which he edited, printed and published until his death.

He also edited "The Fra," a larger magazine which he founded in 1908. From his press also came a series of "Little Journeys to the Homes of Great Men," some 170 monthly sketches, which filled 14 volumes when republished in a memorial edition after he died.

Oh yes, and he wrote a few novels; and numerous essays, the best known of which was "A Message to Garcia," (1899).

When Hubbard founded what was to become known as the Roycroft colony, he gradually gathered about him numerous kindred spirits and, after 1900, the Roycrofters produced handsome, hand-made books, furniture and wrought-iron work and established schools of music, printing and sculpture. (Among those artisans was Dard Hunter who once decided to "make" a book, which I'll tell you about another time.) People such as Theodore Roosevelt, Jack London and Queen Victoria had standing orders for the books "done into print" by The Roycrofters.

ONLY ANOTHER book lover — Elbert Hubbard lover — can understand my joy at receiving two of the original Roycroft books for Christmas, along with a 1926 edition of Felix Shay's "Elbert Hubbard of East Aurora."

The latter book features a foreword by Henry Ford, noting that Hubbard "had a rare faculty of expression which he used to serve the cause of common sense in this country."

Some of my favorite Hubbard pearls are these:

"A little seriousness is a dangerous thing; too much is absolutely fatal."

"Occasionally, I have been known to strike thirteen; I acknowledge it myself!"

"God will not look you over for medals, degrees or diplomas, but for scars!"

"Mine is the experimental life; all we do things for anyway is just for the exercise of our faculties."

"Give me solitude, sweet solitude, but in my solitude give me still one friend to whom I may murmur, 'Solitude is sweet!'"

"I positively refuse to discriminate between good and bad people — I will not condemn, nor for an instant imagine that it is my duty to resolve myself into a section of the Day of Judgement."

And, my favorite, "If I had but two loaves of bread I would sell one of them and buy White Hyacinths to feed my soul."

It was said of Hubbard and his wife, Alice, that they lived and died fearlessly. They were last seen walking arm-in-arm on the deck of the Lusitania as it sank into the Irish Sea May 7, 1915.

Talk — for money

Liz Smith

LET THERE BE SPACES IN YOUR TOGETHERNESS, says the younger generation's pet Philosopher Kahlil Gibran. Well, there has been entirely too much space in the togetherness of those former exquisite partners, Elaine May and Mike Nichols. So here's the good news — they just signed a more than six-figure deal to write and perform together a series of radio commercials for Renault.

UNCUT PAGES: Random House head Bob Bernstein just sent a copy of Alva Mordal's new book, "The Game of Disarmament," to Jimmy Carter at the White House. The address label read "Hold for Arrival!" . . . S.J. Perelman's devastating satire in the Dec. 27th New Yorker had book editor Michael Korda's enemies chortling with glee. They say it's all part of old rapier-thin, button-cut Perelman's decision to move his funny writing from Simon & Schuster to Harcourt Brace Jovanovich. . . So many people have asked exactly what Barbara Walters said on the air to Harry Reasoner. Here's the quote as she said it: "Unless you and I go on the air, Harry and absolutely fornicate in front of everybody, people aren't going to think we're going to get along."

MEOW MIX: What was the point, many asked last week of the New York magazine staff "striking" just to show their solidarity behind Clay Felker in the fight with tycoon Rupert Murdoch? One of our best writers, Andy Tobias, explained it this way: "What we were trying to do is say to Murdoch that his expensive investment in taking over this magazine no matter the cost, is a crummy one in that he will then lose the magazine's backbone of talent, the quality will immediately erode, and he'll be paying a fortune for nothing more than an empty name." . . . Publisher Felker and his longtime best lady friend, Gail Sheehy, were both dumping a personal fortune into legal fees in the fight, which they lost. Gail was ready to sacrifice profits from her best-seller "Passages" to help Clay and she said: "Thank goodness we didn't put our money into the co-op we'd been planning to buy."

A LITTLE BITTER WITH THE SWEET: The question most frequently asked of gossip columnists is, "Do you check out your items and do you go directly to the source?"

Unfortunately, the answer is usually yes. I say "unfortunate" because going to the source is often the best way to lose the story entirely. For instance, back at summer's end I received a tip from a really fine source that the 84-year-old veteran broadcaster Lowell Thomas, widowed last year, was planning to marry again in Hawaii.

To pay Mr. Thomas the professional courtesy of checking, I spent two weeks trying to get in touch with him, holding off on the story. Eventually, after no end of trouble, I got the great man himself on the phone up at his Pawling, N.Y. estate.

Mr. Thomas turned out to be charming and even congratulatory on my having such an exclusive. But he said if I'd hold off printing the item, he would give me further information for a scoop in the near future. So I waited.

Last week I picked up the paper like you did to find Lowell Thomas married to 49-year-old Marianna Munn in Hawaii, with the whole bit laid out on the AP wire.

So much for bending over backward. I am now bending over backward to kick my own backside!

THE DENYING ONES: Right up there with "The Establishment Denial" and the "if-you'll-just-wait-to-print-it, I'll give-you-an-even-better-story" bit is my other favorite thing — the off-the-record compliment coupled with the on-the-record attack.

Take my friend Joyce Haber. In a recent WWD interview, Joyce told the reporter that my evaluations of the characters in her roman a clef "The Users" were all wrong, that I was inaccurate in my guessing and that none of the real-life people I mentioned as prototypes in her fiction were actually used in any manner in her novel about Hollywood-Beverly Hills high life.

Now isn't that funny? For right after I wrote an entire column on "The Users," I received a long-distance call from Joyce saying I had "made" her day and adding: "You sure are a good guesser, Liz!" Portions of the same column are still being used to promote Joyce's best-seller.

But don't get me wrong — I like Joyce Haber. I even understand why she did it.

NEW LGA SLATE — Mrs. Garner McAdams, right, retiring president of the Ladies Golf Association, Big Spring Country Club, installed new officers at this month's luncheon meeting at the club. Taking office are, from left, Mrs. Guilford L. Jones, secretary; Mrs. Robert (Rip) Patterson, vice president; and Mrs. Jerry Iden, president. Mrs. Sam Anderson, treasurer, was unable to be present for the picture.

New officers named for golf association

"I've had some wonderful officers; I've had a good year," said Mrs. Garner McAdams Friday when she turned over the leadership of the Ladies Golf Association, Big Spring Country Club, to Mrs. Jerry Iden, the incoming president.

Assuming office with Mrs. Iden were Mrs. Robert (Rip) Patterson, vice president; Mrs. Guilford L. Jones, secretary; and Mrs. Sam Anderson, who accepted a second term as treasurer. Mrs. Jerry Snodgrass, retiring vice president, presented a gift certificate to Mrs. McAdams on behalf of the LGA membership. The outgoing secretary, Mrs. Henry Schaedel, reviewed business of the last meeting in December.

New committee chairmen named by Mrs. Iden are Mrs. Fern Ellington, bridge; Mrs. Al Lain and Mrs. Dave Duncan, Christmas; Mrs. Tommy McCann, Easter; Mrs. Gary Turner and Mrs. Henry Butler, house; Mrs. Ed Corson, La Gallinas bridge; Mrs. Ola Mae Williamson, poker; Mrs.

Connie Edwards, pool; Mrs. Clarence Peters, publicity; Mrs. W.P. Edwards, social; Mrs. Jerry Spence, teen; Mrs. Guilford L. Jones Jr., telephone; Mrs. Tommy Ross and Mrs. John Arrick, ways and means; and Mrs. John R. Fish, yearbook. The golf chairman will be announced later.

Serving on the nominating committee were Mrs. Elmo Wasson, chairman; Mrs. Adolph Swartz, Miss Marie Hall, Mrs. G.C. Broughton Jr. and Mrs. Schaedel.

Mrs. McAdams announced that the La Gallinas bridge group has donated $500 for the purchase of new table cloths for the club. Cloths for the round tables have been received, and others will be purchased later.

Hostesses for Friday's luncheon meeting were Mrs. Walter Wheat and Mrs. M.A. Snell. Tables were laid with gold cloths, and the centerpiece was a permanent floral arrangement in yellow and gold.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Andy Swartz, Mrs. Jo Bright, Mrs. Bill Pollard and Mrs. Arnold Marshall.

The next LGA luncheon will be Feb. 4, to be followed by the regular duplicate bridge game.

Convention is discussed

Discussion of the World War I Veterans state convention was conducted at the regular business meeting Saturday of the Veterans of World War I, Barracks 1474, and its Ladies Auxiliary.

Mrs. Gladney Flynt, president of the auxiliary, announced that the convention will be held in Houston July 12-16. She added that the national convention is slated in Fort Worth Sept. 16-22. More information concerning the events will be given later.

A report was given regarding distribution of Christmas gifts to World War I Veterans in the Veteran's Administration Hospital and in area rest homes. It was announced that cake and coffee were served to the veterans Dec. 28 by members of the auxiliary.

The group held a luncheon prior to the business meeting.

Can 'divorce insurance' be logical in future?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Divorce insurance? It may sound incongruous, but there's a movement afoot saying divorce insurance is as logical today as protecting yourself with auto, life, fire and theft insurance.

The insurance industry is taking a dim view. Most companies fear couples in financial trouble would divorce simply to collect the benefits. And with the rising divorce rate (it's nearly doubled in the past decade), premiums are bound to skyrocket, too.

"It would be initiated at the time of marriage and used in a divorce to help provide a breathing period for both spouses to work out the future," said lawyer Diana DuBroff, who coined the term divorce insurance. "Periodic payments in the first few years after divorce would provide minimal child support."

Divorce insurance, she argues, "could keep children off welfare, save unemployable divorcees from hasty remarriages ... and protect guilty-ridden fathers from avoiding their children because of delinquent payments."

Richard Mink of the Life Insurance Institute, a New York-based association of 450 companies writing 95 percent of the industry's policies, said he wasn't certain divorce could be insured.

He defined an insurable event as one of sufficiently low frequency as to allow the risk to be spread over many people. The event normally must be beyond one's control.

Robert Mnookin, a professor of family law at the University of California, sees other problems. "Those who take out such insurance would be the highest risk types in terms of getting a divorce," he said. "If people think this program should be mandatory, it is a misnomer to call it insurance. Rather it is a taxing system — taxing all married people on behalf of those who break up."

Ralph Warner, who has helped author such books as "How to Do Your Own Divorce" and "The People's Guide to the California Marriage Law," rejects the concept of divorce insurance.

"It won't work for the obvious reason that everybody would get a divorce just to collect," he said.

Lucille Athearn, a prominent San Francisco divorce attorney, favors an entirely different approach to divorce.

"I have often thought a person considering divorce should be treated like the defendant in a traffic court with several moving violations," she said. "The courts have provided an educational system that compels such a driver to attend classes a certain number of times."

Dear Abby

Does Way Girls Dress Drive Men to Rape?

DEAR ABBY: It's no wonder so many girls and women are raped these days. They go around without bras, wearing halters and skin-tight pants, and some of them even leave their whole midsections bare naked. They practically ask for it!

I'm not saying we should be easy on the rapists who commit these terrible crimes, but the way some girls dress I can understand how a man can be tempted beyond his ability to control himself.

GRANDMA: GARDEN CITY, N.Y.

DEAR GRANDMA: The theory that girls "ask for it" by the way they dress is not valid. What's so tempting about a 10-month-old baby wearing a diaper? Or an 85-year-old woman in a housedress?

Rapists are more interested in humiliating and degrading a female than in satisfying themselves sexually. Any female (of any age) will do.

One piece of advice to women on how to dress to protect themselves against rape: Wear shoes you can RUN in.

DEAR ABBY: The continuing discussion in your column regarding "recycled dentures" brought to mind an old limerick, which you may have heard:

"There was an old man of Tarentum
Who gnashed his false teeth 'till he bent 'em.
When they asked him the cost
Of what he had lost,
He replied, 'I can't say, for I rent 'em.'"

My research reveals that 70 years ago, British weekly newspapers carried this advertisement: "Old artificial teeth bought. If forwarded by post, utmost value per return or offer made..."

So you see, Abby, what happens to old dentures has intrigued people for a long, long time.

M.E. RING, D.D.S.

Love shines to Plains

with Marj Carpenter

When Lucille Moran writes a letter, the love shines through. This may be why she received an invitation to the inauguration of President-elect Jimmy Carter.

She also had a letter from Rosalyn Carter thanking her for her support.

Mrs. Moran takes times to write to public officials. Of course, a lot of other people do too, but with hers the love shines through.

She wrote her first letters back when President Kennedy was killed and Governor Connally shot. She wrote both Mrs. Kennedy and John Connally and also wrote Lyndon Johnson and told him that she knew he would do a good job.

She heard from Jackie Kennedy twice and was invited to the next Governor's inauguration of Gov. Connally. She went to that inauguration along with her husband, Roy Moran, who operated Roy's Radiator Shop on West 3rd before his death in 1968.

With Lucille Moran, she doesn't send form letters. If she's really glad about something, she'll tell you so. And she's not just a collector of public figures, even though she does have the former Senator Ralph Yarborough's chocolate cake recipe and Christmas cards from Preston Smith, Lyndon Johnson, and Governor Connally.

She worries about people at a local level too. She doesn't have much and lives on a Social Security check.

But she sends sympathy cards and birthday cards and sits with the sick and tries to help everybody she can. "I wish I had a lot of money. I'd give it all away to help the elderly and the needy," she states.

She won't be able to attend the Presidential inauguration but is quite content to hang the invitation and the letter from Rosalyn on her wall along with a picture of Jimmy, Amy and Rosalyn which she has cut out of a magazine.

"He's going to make a good one," she states. "I just know that he will."

"Governor Connally was a good governor," she recalls. "When I went through the receiving line after his inauguration, he remembered my card and letter. I hugged Nellie Connally. She was wonderful."

Mrs. Moran thinks everybody's wonderful. She's so glad to get to know you that she'll quickly give you a hug. She says, "The Good Lord has looked after me through friends. I love Big Spring."

"I was born in Joplin, Mo. and we moved here in 1950. We lived in Snyder a year first running a cafe. But our happiest years have been here in Big Spring."

"When Roy died, he just dropped dead suddenly and was gone. I sold things and worked sitting with the sick until I could be old enough to draw Social Security. I rented the building that the radiator shop was in for a while, but everybody didn't pay their rent so I quit messing with it."

"People tell me that I shouldn't go around doing things for everybody else when I need so many things. But life is too short to worry about things. Aren't people wonderful?"

She said she sent the police a Christmas card. They've been good to keep an eye out for me since I have been a widow. "The police here are good," she added.

"Wasn't it wonderful for President Carter to send me that? Wasn't it wonderful?" And she again took down her invitation and looked it over. "I'll have to get me a scrapbook to keep all these things," she added.

Search for 38 called off

BOSTON (AP) — Thirty-eight Chinese crewmen on the missing oil tanker Grand Zenith and a Rhode Island seaman lost when another tanker broke up Monday have been given up for dead by the Coast Guard.

The 644-foot, Panamanian-registered Grand Zenith was last heard from Dec. 31 when it was believed to be 60 miles south of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. It was heading for Somerset, Mass., with 8 million gallons of fuel oil and the seamen from Taiwan.

"We've been evaluating the reports sent to us by the (Coast Guard cutter) Dallas, and we no longer feel there is any chance for survival," Coast Guard spokesman Richard Griggs said. "We really don't think there is any further need to keep searching."

Griggs said the sea search ended at nightfall Tuesday. The air search, which at times involved up to seven Canadian and U.S. planes, was halted Tuesday morning because of 25-foot seas and 45-knot winds.

The ship had been written off last week, but the Coast Guard had held hopes of finding the crewmen in lifeboats or rafts. Two life jackets marked Grand Zenith were found about 330 miles off Cape Cod last week.

In Gloucester, the Coast Guard declared Joao De Rosa, 41, of Pawtucket, R.I., as "lost at sea." He had been

UW luncheon set Thursday

The final luncheon and report meeting for the 1976-77 Howard County United Way campaign will be held starting at 12 noon Thursday, Jan. 20, at the Spanish Inn.

UW President Daryl Pittman has urged all chairpersons to be in attendance.

When the last report was given, the United Way campaign was within three per cent of its $134,000 objective and Pittman said he was confident that the drive would go over the top.

Arlington Mayor quits

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Arlington Mayor Tom Vandergriff, who was significant in bringing major league baseball to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, has resigned the post he has held for more than 25 years.

Vandergriff, 50, made the surprise announcement at a city council meeting Tuesday night.

"This reason simply and plainly is that I have for some time owed a debt to my family," Vandergriff told the council. "It's a debt that I cannot and will not postpone any longer."

Vandergriff, who received no salary in serving as the color analyst last year for the Texas Ranger television broadcasts, was first elected to the post in 1951 when he was only 25.

Since then, Arlington's population has grown from about 7,000 to about 125,000. Vandergriff said he chose Tuesday to make the surprise announcement since the resignation came within 90 days of the city's April elections, thus saving the city the cost of a special election.

Clubhouse, circus discussed by posse

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse met recently in the Kentwood Older Adult Center.

Bud Graham, vice president, presided. Three new members, Repps Guitar, Pete Jenkins and Sam Kirby, were welcomed to the group.

The group discussed the clubhouse that the posse is building on the arena grounds located on the Andrews Highway.

Guitar discussed the possibility of the posse owning steers and calves to use for use in practice and in open roping contests. The group also discussed an upcoming circus on March 17, to be sponsored by the posse.

New committees were named during the meeting.

Named to the steer and calf roping committee are Russell Walters, Repps Guitar and Tommy Smith.

Mrs. Ruby Allred, Mrs. Laura Duke, Mrs. Maybelle Roberts, L.V. Murphy, and Mrs. Sandy Wanner were named to the social committee. On the telephone committee are Mrs. Geneva Roberts and Mrs. Maybelle Roberts. Mrs. Maxine Tannis was named as playday chairman.

It was announced that the posse board of directors will meet Jan. 20 in the home of Babe Murphy, Gail Route.

Members are urged to bring their chaps, breast harness and show boots to the February meeting of the posse. These items will be redyed in preparation for upcoming events.

Steers 'mojoed' 90-56

By MARJ CARPENTER
ODESSA — A fired-up Permian team and a Big Spring team that played like they had come to watch saw a one-sided district basketball game end with Permian ahead 90-56 Tuesday night in Odessa.

The first half of the so-called contest appeared like a practice session for the Mojo cagers, as they bounced up and down their court scoring every time they fired the ball into the air. The luckless Steers missed their first few baskets, then panicked and made bad passes and failed to rebound.

The Steers salvaged a little pride in the second half when they actually outplayed the Mojos by a 40-38 score. However, when you are coming from behind a 52-16 deficit, that's not enough.

The combination of players that finally got it together in the third frame were Casey and Scott

Wildier, Del Poss, Elroy Green, and Mike Harris. Casey and Green turned out to be the high pointers of the evening with 14 and 12 points apiece. Green got into his old ball-stealing ways and Poss played defensively like it was a matter of life and death.

It appeared that the Steers were "psyched out" by the big Permian Mojo before they got on the court. The records for this season show that it would not have had to be that way. Big Spring has defeated Ector early in the year and Ector in turn wiped out the Mojo by 20 points.

The Mojo was reeling with confidence and shot 72 percent from the floor the first half and an average of 61 percent during the contest.

The Permian school spirit "permeated" the gymnasium. They stayed within the UIL rules and the big band on the stage played only before the game and at the half.

Their before-game production was right behind the Big Spring warm-up basket and the handclaps of the Steers during the warm-up were weak behind the music.

The Permian Maids stand down on the floor prior to the game for pre-game festivities and literally roll out a carpet and form a victory line while they introduce their Mojos.

Whether all this affected the starters or not is history and the Steers' most Permian during the second half in Big Spring, which may tell the tale. But the starting combination of Bubba Stripling, Johnny Jones, Kenneth Perry, Mike Harris and Casey Wildier failed to get it all together.

Sending in James Crosby or Frank Rubio failed to improve the outlook, although Rubio started snagging more rebounds than the previous combination. Bill Arencibia, fresh off the handball court, and Steve Hughes also saw action in the contest.

But Coach James Griffin's Steers were steering clear of any chance of upsetting the Mojo on Tuesday.

Jim McLemore fired in 19 while Bryan Strifler slapped in 18 to pace the Panthers with everybody on Coach Al Oglesby's squad scoring a few.

MOVING ALONG — Phoenix Suns' Paul Westphal (44) drives toward the basket as Chicago Bulls' Tom Kropp (44) makes an effort to block his advance during NBA action Tuesday in Chicago.

By The Association Press
 What's this? The Southwest Conference will have a new basketball leader other than 16th-ranked Arkansas by nightfall.

It's one of those situations the Razorbacks really can't do anything about. And Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton is thankful.

"We need the rest," said Sutton of tonight's schedule-enforced idleness on his Razorbacks who have whipped 1976 post-season tournament champion Texas Tech twice and thumped the talented Houston Cougars for a 3-0 start against some rugged competition.

In fact, there might be co-leaders tonight after the last whistle with both Baylor and Southern Methodist a half-length ahead of the Razorbacks.

Baylor entertains the Texas Aggies (1-1) at Heart 'O Texas Coliseum while SMU hosts rejuvenated Texas which finally won a conference game for Abe Lemons Monday night with an 87-73 victory over the Aggies.

Both private schools are 3-0 in league play with Baylor displaying some impressive offensive firepower in road victories over Texas and TCU. SMU has beaten TCU and Rice on the road.

"We thought we might be able to surprise Baylor with a zone but they shot us out of it and then hurt us inside," said TCU Coach Johnny Swaim who saw his Horned Frogs bombed 90-74 Monday night. "They (The Bears) have a lot of talent."

SMU was in a 1-7 tailspin in non-conference play before reviving just in time for league action.

"I explained to the kids that we could easily have a bad December," said SMU Coach Sonny Allen. "I didn't think we would go 1-7 but I knew it could be bad. Our season is divided into three parts—December, the conference schedule, and post-season. We've got to keep working for improvement and if we do we can get into the conference playoffs."

Texas A&M was the dominant team and won the SWC regular season title last year but Texas Tech sprang an upset in the post-season tournament.

Tech (1-2) meets TCU at home tonight and the Red Raiders can't afford another loss and still dream of the SWC title.

Houston (0-1) gets back into action with cross-town rival Rice visiting the Cougar home in the Summit, site of the SWC post-season tournament in March.

Arkansas is back on the road again Saturday against Rice in Houston.

Panthers, Rebels lead District 5-4A

The District 5-4A race for the roundball crown tightened up somewhat Tuesday night in the wake of the hectic action. Midland Lee and Odessa Permian remained tied for the lead in the league with 3-0 records.

The Panthers took a laugh over the Steers 90-56 to assure their share of the lead, while Billy Ennis hit 20 points to lead the Lee Rebels over title-contender Abilene Cooper 59-54.

In other league action last night, San Angelo won their 18th straight home game over cellar-dweller Odessa High, 80-47. Lorenzo Payne hit 25 for the Bobcats, while Mike Farr could only manage nine to lead the losers.

On the strength of 18 points by Byron Roberts and 13 by David Little, the Abilene Eagles soared over the light-switch Midland High Bulldogs 74-57. Craig Dunn led the Junkyard Dogs with 24.

Here are the current standings:

DISTRICT 5-4A STANDINGS
Team	W	L	Pct.
Midland Lee	3	0	1.000
Permian	3	0	1.000
Abilene Cooper	2	1	.667
Big Spring	2	1	.667
Midland High	1	2	.333
Abilene High	1	2	.333
San Angelo	1	2	.333
Odessa High	0	3	.000

Coahoma Dogs drop Cee City Wolfpack

COAHOMA — The hosting Coahoma Bulldogs took three out of four games from the visiting Wolfpack from Colorado City Tuesday night.

Ken "Killer" Kelso's 22 markers led the varsity to a 73-66 win, while Craig Carter had the same number for the losers. The fem varsity also bowled over the opposition 75-31. Melissa Brown led Coahoma with 30 points, while Fuller for Cee City had 21.

Colorado City took the boys' JV contest 58-40, with

Coahoma also took the JV girls' game 47-20. Stacy Hodnett led her team with 19 markers.

Buffaloes stop Grady

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes upped their season and loop records to 8-6 and 2-0 respectively by blasting the visiting Grady quintet 66-42.

Randy Cregar bucketed 14 points to lead the Buffs, as Dennis Baggett hit for 10. Wood led Grady with eight markers.

The Forsan fems also won their contest with Grady by almost the identical score, 68-45. Beverly Strickland came alive for the Buffettes and accumulated an amazing 37 points. Teammate Saunders also had 15.

The next game for both teams is this Friday in Forsan against Greenwood.

Score by quarters:
 Permian 21 31 17 21-90
 Big Spring 8 10 21 19-56

Sands takes Dawson wins

WELCH — The Sands Mustangs, both boys (23-3) and girls (24-1) teams continued their stampeades in District 9-B roundball. The boys nipped a tough Dawson County team 50-48, while the fems had a little easier time of it, 59-48, while cinching the first half crown.

Stan Feaster led the boys with 16 points, as Jesse Kitchens hit 13 for Dawson. Jill Floyd bucketed 22 markers for the victorious Fillies, while Sylvia Cardona hit 34 for the losers.

Sands remains undefeated in loop play at 4-0, while Dawson suffered its first league loss and stand at 3-1. The district records for the fems stand at 4-0 for Sands and 3-2 for Dawson.

Stacy Parker led the JV girls to a 33-30 victory to up their record to 9-1.

Comalander reaches top

San Antonio Churchill's Jerry Comalander is the Texas Sports Writers Association's High School Coach of the Year—a dream dreamed by thousands of other coaches across the state.

Churchill stormed to the Class 4A schoolboy football title with an unbeaten season despite the fact Comalander only had three offensive starters and five defensive starters to work with.

It wasn't easy for Comalander at the ballot box either.

Comalander received 46 first place votes for 1,544 points followed by Temple's Bob McQueen with 22 first place votes and 1,431 points.

Other finishers included Doug Ethridge of Port Neches-Groves third and Jack Waggoner of DeLeon fourth.

Winter draft 275

NEW YORK (AP) — The minor leaguer may be a second-class citizen on a bus ride to oblivion. But with the glamorous, jet-set major leagues a dream away, the minor leaguer will swallow his greasy hamburger, board another beat-up old bus and head to the next dusty ballpark.

There were 275 players selected in Tuesday's winter baseball draft. If they sign with their drafting club, first stop for all of them will be the minor leagues. A future stop, for some of them, may be the big leagues.

"The minor leagues don't scare me at all," said Calvin Adams of Central Arizona Junior College, who was made the first pick of the draft by the Montreal Expos.

Crenshaw picked

Ben Crenshaw, former University of Texas star who was the second leading money winner on the Professional Golders Association tour in 1976, has been named Pro Athlete of the Year by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Crenshaw, the stocky blond with the powerful swing, earned $257,759—second only to Jack Nicklaus' $266,438.

The Austin, Tex. native played in 30 events, won three, was second three times, and finished in the money 28 times.

Crenshaw received 691 points and 31 first place votes to nip Pat Zachry, the Cincinnati pitcher from Waco who was corookie of the year in the National League, winning 14 and losing 7 with an earned run average of 2.74. Zachry also won a World Series game against the New York Yankees.

Johnny Rutherford, the Indianapolis 500 winner from Fort Worth, was third followed by Roger Staubach of the Dallas Cowboys, pitcher James Richard of the Houston Astros, guard James Silas of the San Antonio Spurs and Ken Burrough, wide receiver from the Houston Oilers.

YOUNG IDEAS

By DICK YOUNG

LOS ANGELES — When you come right down to it, Harry Wismer's old league is just too much for the other guys to handle. Harry's old American Football League is called the AFC now, and as of this a.m. they have won eight of the last nine Super Bowls from the once-dominant National League, now the NFC.

It has all changed. Man, how it has changed. You walk through the AFC clubhouse now, and you hear things that you used to hear on the other side, B.M. Bear Merger.

You remember Vinnie Lombardi after that first one. He was fighting to hold back the gloat, the great man was. His Green Bay Packers, monster men of the NFL, had just obliterated the AFL champs from Kansas City, 35-10, and newsmen were badgering Vince for a mouthful of contumely. Finally, he could hold it in no longer.

"Okay," he said. "You guys want me to say it, I'll say it. There are at least three other teams in the NFL that can beat those guys."

AL DAVIS FINALLY HAS HIS DAY

You remembered those words yesterday in the jungle steam of the cramped clubhouse. The Raiders, champs of the AFC had just rubbed it into the Vikings, champs of the NFC, and Al Davis is saying: "We're just better than they are. The conference is better. Pittsburgh, New England, are tougher teams."

Al Davis is Vinnie Lombardi was, the ultimate organization man, the trigger mind.

In the second Super Bowl, Lombardi's bad men won, 33-14, and some smart-pants said the AFL was getting stronger. That certainly was better than 35-10. The loser that time was, oh ironic pigskin, Al Davis' Oakland team.

"Don't worry," Al Davis said then. "We'll catch them. It won't take long."

It didn't. Supe III was the Joe Namath bout, the first after the merger became official, and the AFC was on its way. From then till now, the Nationals have taken only one, Supe VI, 24-3, Dallas over Miami. Now it is five straight.

"That, I would say, is domination," said Phil Villapiano, one of Sunday's winners.

Villapiano had made a big contribution. It was 0-0, and the Vikings were sure to get on the board first. They had the ball on the Oakland 2. Brent McClanahan banged the middle.

"I came up and under," Villapiano the linebacker was to say later. "My helmet hit his belly. Then I heard him say something."

"What?"

"A good old-fashioned bleep," said Villapiano, mentioning the most common of four letter words: "I knew then he had lost the ball."

That play, coming when it did, took the wind out of the Vikings. They had just made history by blocking a Ray Guy punt, giving them the ball point-blank at the Raider goal, and they had blown it. The air came oozing out of them like a punctured Goodyear blimp. Oakland marched downfield, and again, and again, and it was 16-0 by halftime, and 32-7 seconds before the end when Minny scored on the scrubbins.

Five straight. It has happened in baseball, but when it did the National League said the American League wasn't really dominant. It was just one team, the Yankees that stood out. The Yankees won the five straight.

They can't say that here. The five straight have been won by three different clubs — Miami, Pittsburgh, Oakland. This is league dominance. Break up the AFC.

AND THE OLD MAN SCORED TWICE

Pete Banaszak remembers. He was a star runner on the old AFL Raiders. Now he is 32, and being pushed aside by youth, but when they gave him the ball on the 2, and on the 1, the old man scored both times Sunday, and it felt wonderful. He had waited a long time.

"We play with the big boys in our conference," he gloated.

The big boys made many big plays in this one. Tight end Dave Casper . . . Running back Clarence Davis . . . Wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff . . . The whole damn unsung attacking line of the Raiders.

Just once, they ought to give the MVP sports car to a middle lineman, but as long as they're going to keep picking the ball handlers, I'd have gone either for Dave Casper or Clarence Davis. Fred Biletnikoff was the pick of the Sports Mag editor. Oh well, it's his automobile. He can give it to Joe Namath if he wants!

She performs surgery on dolls

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP) — Some of Dot Evans' "patients" are worth hundreds of dollars, but she still takes time to do 25-cent patch jobs for little girls in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Evans, owner of Dot's Doll Hospital, performs major surgery at a worktable strewn with arms, legs, cloth and glue.

She said she repairs dolls for clients throughout the United States and Canada. "Most of the business is from Seattle and Spokane, though," she said. "You wouldn't think there would be that many doll collectors, but there are. And there are a lot of family heirlooms turning up."

Mrs. Evans doesn't advertise. She said her business has grown over seven years through word of mouth.

The doll doctor has a large collection of her own, which features a $200 German bisque (unglazed china) piece that dates back to the 1800s.

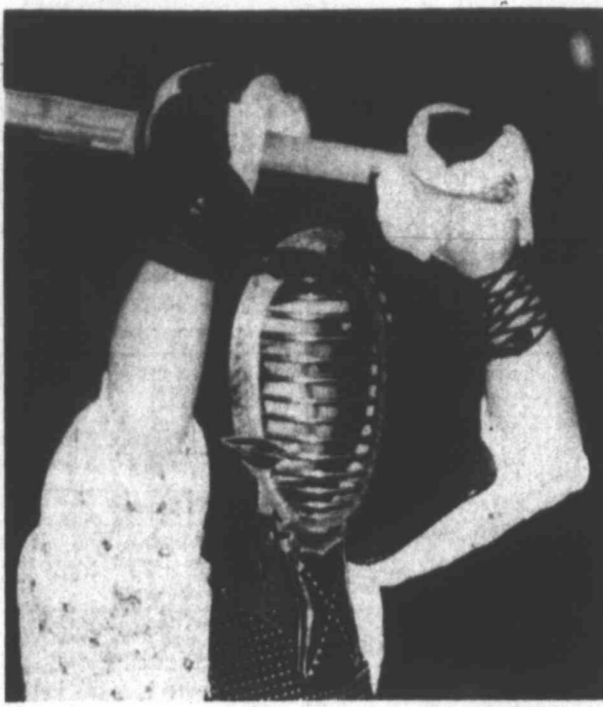

"It even has pierced ears," she noted. "The work on the old ones is very time-consuming," she said, adding that she still finds time for routine fix-it services for her younger neighbors.

"I'll charge them a quarter or something to fix their dolls," she said. "It's hard not to when they come in crying their eyes out because their favorite doll's broken."

Mrs. Evans said her pet peeve is modern dolls, which seem to have built-in obsolescence.

"The newer dolls are made very poorly, and they have defects," she said. "They're put together in such a way that they can't be repaired."

"I guess it's the manufacturer's way of assuring continued sales," she said.

Retirement home permit advanced

Councilmen gave tentative approval to a request for a specific use permit for an over-three-story building at the corner of Seventeenth and Lancaster.

The proposed building is the St. Mary's Episcopal Retirement Home to be built on a vacant lot at the corner of Seventeenth and Lancaster. That area is presently zoned for multi-family dwellings but will require rezoning due to the height of the proposed retirement home.

The major discussion about the proposal centered around possible traffic congestion on Lancaster because of the home. Councilmen stated that they would have to be assured that traffic would not pose a problem before they okayed the zone change.

Councilmen also approved the appointment of Sidney Clark, presently vice-chairman of the Planning Board, to the position of Chairman of the Board. Arnold Marshall was appointed as a board member.

A low bid of $4,804.39 by Dewey Ray Inc. to sell a Plymouth Grand Fury was accepted by the city. The car will be used to implement the Aid To Community Development Program undertaken by the city.

A high bid of $1,108.40 with a paving assessment of $1,391.60 was accepted from Bill Crane for the purchase of property from the city. The plot is located at Union and Fourth.

Stale crackers cost bundle

DENVER (AP) — If you think 53 million stale crackers aren't worth anything, you're not in the hauling and storing business. The city of Denver is paying $20,000 to have the crackers, left over from the fallout shelters of the previous decade, taken off municipal hands.

Bill Whitt's company won the bid after the city advertised for someone to haul away the crackers, which the U.S. Office of Emergency Preparedness decided are inedible.

Other survival material from 400 shelters throughout the city will also be taken away and stored in warehouses.

Whitt said it may take as long as six months to complete the job. The crackers eventually will be sold for animal feed, he said. He hopes to find another buyer for other survival gear, including sanitation and medical kits.

Harte-Hanks to acquire Tennessee papers stock

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Harte-Hanks Newspapers announced Tuesday it has reached agreement to acquire the stock of the Mountain Press Inc., of Gatlinburg, Tenn.

The announcement was made by William C. Postlewaite, publisher of Mountain Press, Inc., and Robert G. Marbut, president and chief executive officer of Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc.

The Mountain Press, Inc., publishes the Sevierville County News Record, a 5,600 circulation, twice weekly newspaper; the Gatlinburg Press, a 3,500 circulation, twice weekly newspaper; and the Mountain Visitor, a 10,000 circulation, free distribution, weekly tourist guide.

Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

Harte-Hanks now owns 25 daily newspapers and 44 weekly publications. The company also owns VHF network affiliated television stations in San Antonio, Tex., Jacksonville, Fla., and Greensboro, N. C.

Gov. Brown still popular

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. still is popular in his home state, but not as popular as when he got elected, the California Poll reports.

"Brown's current job rating, while still generally favorable, is the poorest he has received since taking office as measured by the California Poll," pollster

Mervin Field said Tuesday. The poll said that of 1,033 persons surveyed in November, 37 per cent said Brown is doing a "good job" as governor. Brown's August rating in the poll was 46 per cent. His highest rating came last March, when more than half the persons questioned said they thought he was doing a good job.
