

Execution viewing said dangerous

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge's ruling that would allow filming of Texas executions has taken the form of an injunction at the same time a condemned man's attorney told the U.S. Supreme Court such filming would be indecent.

It would be "dangerous" to permit the government to decide what "is or is not fit for public viewing on television," U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor said Thursday.

Taylor's comments were included in an injunction sought by a Dallas television newsman against the Texas Department of Correction which had tried to keep TV newsmen from filming executions in the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

The judge ordered that the execution be filmed for later broadcasting on the condition that the film be made available to other television stations.

The judge's ruling was cited Thursday in an appeal filed with the U.S. Supreme Court by Jerry Lane

Jurek, who is scheduled to die next Wednesday.

In his request for a stay, Jurek contends, among other things, that Judge Taylor's ruling is inconsistent with "evolving standards of decency as required" by the U.S. Constitution.

Jurek also contends that prospective jurors were illegally excluded from serving at his trial after stating only general reservations about the death penalty, that he was denied "effective assistance" from his lawyers and that the prosecutor mentioned crimes for which Jurek was never convicted.

Jurek, 25, of Cuero, was convicted of the 1973 strangulation death of 10-year-old Wendy Adams, also of Cuero.

Meanwhile, E.T. Summers, another of Jurek's attorneys, filed a request for a stay of execution Thursday with U.S. District Court Judge Owen Cow

First 1977 traffic fatality

Long-time resident killed

Henry Clyde Denton, 74, Gail Route, became Howard County's first traffic fatality of 1977 Thursday at about 7 p.m.

He was killed when the car he was driving crashed into the rear of a stalled pickup-trailer on Farm Road 846 just east of its intersection with U.S. 87, about 10 miles north of Big Spring.

Denton was driving east on the farm road when his car hit the back of a flatbed trailer loaded with large equipment owned by Leanco Bearing

Co. of Midland. The trailer was stalled in the eastbound lane of the road.

Denton apparently saw the vehicle at the last minute and attempted to swerve toward the ditch. The skid marks were only a few yards long.

The Denton vehicle slammed under the rear corner of the trailer and came to rest in the ditch with the entire right front of the car torn away.

Denton apparently died of massive head injuries and was determined dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena.

The trailer, which was driven by Elton Leon Kelly of Midland, had stalled on the road and all attempts to start it had failed, according to the report. Kelly left his flashing lights on and walked back to a farmhouse for help, according to a state trooper. When Kelly returned, he found Denton dead in his wrecked vehicle.

Kelly, who had been unable to push his vehicle from the road before going for help, was noticeably shaken at the scene.

Highway Patrolman Ken Joyce, assisted by Patrolman David Jones had Dep. Robert Puente investigated the accident.

Services will be at 2 p.m., Saturday in the First United Methodist Church, with Dr. Weldon Butler, pastor, and the Rev. Elra Phillips, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will occur in Mount Olive Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Denton was born Nov. 10, 1902, in Taylor County, Tex. He was married to Othella Lee Hill Nov. 12, 1922, at Tuscola, Tex. He moved to Howard County in December, 1925. They settled in the old Richland community and were still living on the same farm at the time of his death.

Mr. Denton retired from farming in 1959. He owned and operated the Howard Implement Co., from 1938 to 1949. He had been working at the Farmer's Co-op Gin at Knott during the ginning season for the past six years and was on his way home from Knott when the accident occurred.

Mr. Denton was a member of First United Methodist Church for over 40 years. He has served on the official board at the church. He was a member of the Men's Bible Class and was on the board of directors of West-Tex Telephone Corp.

The family suggests memorials to the building fund of the First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his widow, of the home; a daughter, Mrs. Winstow (Eris) Kilpatrick, Big Spring; a son, Donald Denton, Davenport, Iowa; two grandsons, James Denton and Mark Denton, both of Davenport, Iowa; two granddaughters, Kimberly Denton and Leslie Denton, both of Davenport, Iowa; a number of nieces and nephews. He was the last survivor of a family of nine children.

Pallbearers will be Don Brownfield, Glen Gates, Hayes Stripling Sr., S.A. Yates, Clyde Waits, W.A. Bynum, H.G. Keaton and Glen Cantrell.

Members of the First United Methodist Men's Bible Class and the board of directors of both the Knott Co-op Gin and the West-Texas Telephone Corp., are considered honorary pallbearers.

CRMWD okays higher rates

Slight increases in rates for water to member cities were approved by the Colorado River Municipal Water District directors at their meeting Thursday in Big Spring.

Rates are determined by assessing a fixed monthly charge, based on a complicated formula of production and other operational expenses and a distance-from-source factor, plus six cents per thousand gallons of water actually delivered. For 1977 the fixed monthly charge to Odessa will be $135,624, Big Spring $56,122 and Snyder $16,155.

To achieve this, the board applied

$2,035,000 of non-member city revenues to rate modification. Had this not been done, Odessa would have had to pay a fixed monthly charge of $202,153, Big Spring $94,445, and Snyder $28,136.

Other rates are based on those to member cities for the previous year.

For instance, Midland will pay the actual rate for Odessa in 1976 (36.64 cents) plus a differential of 3.227 cents per thousand, which makes its rate for 1977 come out to 39.867. Next year Midland will pay 3.227 cents in addition to whatever Odessa's rate comes out to this year.

Eight collared in drug raids

Four and a half months of undercover work ended with the arrest of eight Big Springers for sale and delivery of marijuana and narcotics Thursday.

The first arrest took place 8:15 p.m. Thursday, and the roundup ended 12:20 a.m. today. The Howard County Sheriff's Office, the Texas Rangers, the County Game Warden and members of the Police Department all assisted in the arrests.

Those suspected of dealing in drugs were tripped up by an undercover policeman and his liaison man in the department. According to Police Chief Stanley Bogard, the local narcs witnessed a number of sales of up to a pound of marijuana, and a variety of narcotics.

One other warrant has been issued for an out-of-state resident who will probably be arrested later today, according to Bogard.

Most of the suspects in Thursday's bust were arrested in their homes. Two were picked up in local bars, Mae's Sunflower Lounge and The Oasis Club. Ages of the suspects ranged from 49 years to 17 years.

Bond was set on the eight men today by J.P. Bob West:

James William Brown, 49, 1301 Lindbergh, was charged with two counts of sale of amphetamines, Dec. 21 and Dec. 30, 1976, to an undercover policeman. Brown's bond was set at $150,000 for both counts. He was convicted in 1972 on eight counts of sale of amphetamines and barbiturates, and was sentenced to five years.

—Michael T. Cramer, 20, 1303 Lexington, was charged with one count of sale of a controlled substance, methaqualone. Bond was denied as Cramer is on probation for an Aug. 25, 1976 conviction of burglary, for which he was sentenced to ten years probation.

—Sammy Joe Freitag, 34, 3907

Hamilton, was charged with two counts of sale of barbiturates, Jan. 9 and Jan. 10. Bond was set at $30,000.

—John Randal Lewis, 17, 3907 Hamilton, was charged with two counts of sale of barbiturates, Dec. 18 and Dec. 16, 1976. Bond was set at $26,000.

—Austin George Sherill Jr. was charged with two counts of sale of a controlled substance, phenacyclidine, Sept. 20 and Oct. 19, 1976. Bond was set at $26,000.

—Roy Molina Leos, 26, Wyoming Hotel, was charged with four counts of sale of marijuana. Bond was set at $52,000.

—Daniel Ray Heckler, 24, 4204 Parkway, was charged with two counts of sale of marijuana. Bond was set at $26,000.

Richard Paul Lyons, 21, 2414 Main, was charged with one count of sale of marijuana. Bond was denied as Lyons is presently on 10 years probation for a March 10, 1975 burglary.

MAN HURT — A major automobile accident involving three vehicles left William Arthur Reed, Box 76 Jonesboro Rd., in Malone and Hogan Hospital in stable condition. The accident occurred at about 9:30 this morning on the 1000 block of Baylor. Officer Hiller, Big Spring Police, gave this account; Raul F. Garcia, Abilene, with Reed as his passenger, were driving south on Baylor and attempted to pass a stationwagon driven by Mrs. Tom Ferguson, 1606 E. Fifth, when he went out of control and hit a parked pickup. The impact caused the ¼ ton pickup to skid back about 17 feet.

Speculative building proposed for industry

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Team has proposed to the Industrial Foundation that a speculative 40,000-square-foot metal building be constructed to attract industry.

The proposal was made possible, said Ellis Britton, member of the industrial team and manager of the Texas Employment Commission, by the offer of a local businessman to purchase the building if it cannot be sold.

Winston Wrinkle, owner of KBST and industrial team leader for the coming year, told a joint meeting of the foundation and industrial team late Thursday that such a speculative building would give the team "something to sell." Existing buildings are much in demand, he said.

Roger Brown, last year's team leader and incoming chamber president, said that the team had eight or ten prospects who would consider such a building.

The specifics of the proposal were presented by metal building contractor Paul Shaffer. He presented plans for a 200 by 200-foot building with skylights and three rows of internal columns. The building would remain a shell with no concrete slab, plumbing or electricity since these would be done later to the specifications of the industry.

The building would have one overhead door for access, and others could easily be added as the tenant desired.

Shaffer said the building would take 90 days to build and would cost $108,000. It is designed so it can be expanded.

No specific site has yet been pinpointed for the building.

Britton said that the proposal was an opportunity given to the industrial arm of the chamber by an anonymous local businessman. This businessman, he said, is planning to expand his facilities within the next five years, but he is willing to move his timetable up to guarantee a buyer for such a speculative building, if an industry cannot be attracted here.

The expense to the foundation would be the interest payments on the building during the period when the industrial team was attempting to market it, probably about one year.

The project would enable the industrial team to sell a particular building and site, such as was done with the Intech building when Highwood Products Co. was brought to Big Spring.

Britton said that the venture would be a very low risk one to the foundation with the underwriting by the local businessman. He noted that Waco has successfully used a speculative building approach for years.

Wrinkle, in urging the foundation to consider the idea, said that the local businessman has given the industrial team a chance to see what it can do.

The foundation will decide within the next week or so whether to undertake the project.

Action/reaction: Hawks best record

Q. Why do the Howard College Hawks have two coaches with just nine players and why hasn't the team been any further than regional play-offs in many years?

A. The Howard College Hawks have one coach and a student assistant. Because of his age, the assistant, who retired from the military, doesn't appear to be a student assistant and in the words of Harold Wilder, athletic director and coach, "We have been so lucky to have him while he was doing work at Howard College and then at UTFB. He has just graduated and this will be the last season we are able to afford him because he will go into full-time coaching at some location. He also served as director of the Upward Bound program at the college."

Wilder added, "As to our record, it is the best of any athletic group in Big Spring and we have more wins through the years than any junior college in the region. We have made it to the regional playoffs every year, when only three of the ten teams in our conference go. We have been in the finals on three occasions and through the years, Howard College went to nationals four times. To get to national finals, you play a full ten teams in district and then face the best from other districts. It is much more difficult than in sports with less contenders."

Drugs-weapons link traced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a Senate subcommittee says that two days of public and secret hearings have convinced him there are "very significant" links between illicit traffic in drugs and weapons across the U.S. border with Mexico.

Speaking to reporters outside the room where secret testimony was continuing, Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., said Thursday he also believes that U.S. laws contained some "major loopholes" that must be closed if the firearms traffic is to be controlled.

While declining to discuss the secret testimony, Nunn confirmed the identity of the three persons who had been called in connection with a 1974 gun deal involving the attempt by a Cuban-born narcotics lord to get production rights to a sophisticated military rifle he apparently intended to use in antigovernment and terrorist activities in Latin America.

Nunn said Lt. Booth Shaw, a Los Angeles policeman who had been publicly linked to the incident, had proved a "very cooperative" witness.

But the two others refused to testify. They are James L. Morgan, former president of the Morgan Arms Co. of Los Angeles, developer of the M101, the sophisticated, military-style assault rifle involved in the deal; and Sara LeSeigneur, a former officer and stockholder of the company.

They refused to testify on advice of their lawyers.

The hearings have looked into whether large-scale shipments of arms from the United States are falling into the hands of Mexico-based terrorist and revolutionary organizations.

Following testimony from the heads of several law enforcement agencies responsible for policing the 2,000-mile frontier, Nunn ordered the hearing closed to protect the identity of confidential witnesses.

Nunn said both Morgan and Ms. LeSeigneur had said they wanted to have "further discussions with staff" before testifying and they might be recalled at a later date.

Published reports and federal authorities said Shaw, who had invested money in Morgan's firm and also worked for it, met twice in Mexico with Alberto Sicilia-Falcon, who sought to arrange a deal to manufacture the M101 in Bolivia.

Officials said information from other sources indicated Sicilia and an associate, a Mexican bullfighter named Gaston Santos, were planning to use the guns for revolutionary activities in Latin America.

Shaw has been quoted as saying he reported the meetings to police. No deal was ever worked out, and Sicilia last year was arrested and convicted in Mexico of being the kingpin of a multimillion dollar cocaine and marijuana smuggling operation whose connections extended into Europe and at least 20 American states.

The M101, which has an attachment that can fire anti-aircraft rockets, never has actually gone into production.

Robinette plans to fish

Joe Robinette, 39, superintendent of Lake Colorado City State Park, has resigned and said he plans to take an early retirement.

Robinette plans to go fishing and may be the envy of all around if he can retire and fish at the age of 39.

He and his wife and child will move soon from the Park Superintendent's house at the lake and will live northwest of Colorado City about nine miles.

Robinette first refused to comment on his resignation and then said simply "I am taking an early retirement."

Margolis said that the mission of the VA Hospital has changed during the last couple of years and that now, rather than concentrating only on the best patient care, the hospital has taken on the responsibility of training new physicians from Texas Tech. It is a comprehensive program that now includes residency past internship.

As Chief of Staff, Margolis will provide leadership, and direction to his staff of professionals.

Dr. Margolis said that the hospital was constantly in the process of upgrading every department, and said that the newest and most advanced medical equipment was being integrated into the hospital.

Every professional in the hospital will attend seminars with fellow practitioners from all over the country to learn the newest and best remedial techniques.

Margolis says that many new professionals have joined the staff at the hospital including, recently, a psychologist, and a clinical pharmacist.

Margolis' wife, Evelyn, is also part of the staff at the hospital. They have five children, Robert, Larry, Maridene, Glenn, and David. Two of them, Maridene and Dene, have participated in the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C.

It's up to the jury

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — It took a week to find 12 citizens of this swinging ski town who didn't already think she was guilty. Now, after four days of testimony, they must decide whether Claudine Longet was reckless or just the victim of an accident when her lover died. The French-born entertainer's manslaughter trial was to go to the jury today following lawyers' closing arguments and instructions from state District Court Judge George E. Lohr. Both sides rested Thursday after testimony on why a gun went off in Miss Longet's hands, killing champion skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich, 31, in the bathroom of his $250,000 mountain home last March.

Energy FPC hears emergency pleas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission, torn between court restraints on its authority and natural gas shortages sharpened by record cold weather, is searching for the best way to guide emergency gas supplies to hard-pressed interstate pipelines.

The FPC heard witnesses on the complex problem all day Thursday and planned to decide today whether it will permit emergency gas sales that could set a new nationwide pattern for easing the natural gas crunch.

On Jan. 5, the FPC authorized Houston Pipe Line Co. to extend for another 60 days its emergency gas sales to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. and United Gas Pipe Line Co., major interstate suppliers of gas to Atlantic coast and Gulf coast states.

Gas shortages in those areas were forcing some industries and institutions to shut down. Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., said unless Transcontinental Gas gets more fuel, some 10,000 workers may be thrown out of jobs in his state alone.

Furthermore, the National Weather Service said it should continue unseasonably cold in much of the United States for the next 30 days.

Houston Pipe Line has proposed some rearrangement of its emergency sales to Transcontinental and United, and wanted the FPC to consider these as completely new emergency sales, not extensions of old ones.

Either way, such emergency sales, which are limited to 60 days each, allow sales of gas to interstate pipelines without the normal price ceilings of FPC regulation.

For example, Houston Pipe Line sold emergency gas in November—and December at $2.15 per thousand cubic feet, 71 cents higher than the current FPC ceiling price on normal gas sales to interstate pipelines.

But Commissioners John H. Holloman III and James G. Watt pointed out Thursday that if the FPC interpreted such arrangements as new 60-day sales, there would be nothing to stop natural gas companies from selling gas to interstate pipelines at prices above FPC ceilings all year around, in a series of "new" emergency 60-day contracts.

They said this would amount to abandonment of federal price regulation, a move barred by Congress so far. When the FPC tried in 1975 to authorize 180-day emergency sales at unregulated prices, the courts overturned the policy as a form of back-door "deregulation."

Thus, the FPC faced a dilemma in the Houston Pipe Line case.

If it accepted Houston Pipe Line's request to authorize a second round of emergency gas to the same two pipelines, calling them "new" sales, the FPC might be violating the previous court decision and the stated will of Congress.

If the FPC did not accept that interpretation, Houston Pipe Line might call the whole thing off and refuse further emergency gas sales outside Texas, where its sales are beyond the reach of FPC price controls.

The real losers in that case would be the states most dependent on Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line — North and South Carolina, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania — and those served by United Gas: Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida and Texas.

Utilities cut energy

Big Spring utility companies survived the recent cold weather period in good shape, but both took action which reduced energy flows to the community's large industrial users.

Dearl Pittman, manager of Pioneer Natural Gas, said his company curtailed supplies to large industrial users here for four days during the worst of the icy, cold weather which increased demand.

Jack Redding, manager of Texas Electric Service Co., said that the cold weather forced several generating units to drop off the line, and industrial customers voluntarily cutback to reduce the possibility that they might have to be suddenly shut down.

The peak demand for natural gas, said Pittman, came Sunday night, and he said it was routine during peak demand periods to cut back heavy industrial users, such as Cosden, Grace, Sid Richardson and Cabot at the petrochemical industrial complex east of town and the West Texas Industries complex.

Pittman said the company did not have to curtail supplies to schools or homes, as happened in several other parts of the nation.

Pittman said he was still feeling good about Pioneer's ability to supply gas for schools and homes this winter even though it is a cold one.

Redding said that the large Electric Service Co.'s problems were not ones of capacity but of severe cold weather which shut down some generators, reducing the total electrical load which the system could put out.

The manager notified major customers this week that a possibility existed that industries might have to be shut off suddenly.

Redding said that large users, such as Cosden, voluntarily cut back so this would not happen. This was done throughout the system, he said, and the electric company was able to ride through the problem.

Temperatures eased in Big Spring Thursday and Friday, but another cold front is headed for Texas and will send temperatures dropping again Saturday night.

People mover system needed

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Fred Hofheinz says Houston's central business district "will face a transportation crisis by the mid 1980s" unless the city builds a proposed "people mover system."

Earlier this month, the federal government awarded Houston a $34 million grant to help finance an elevated transit system for the downtown area.

Hofheinz told a Houston civic club Thursday "the people mover system not only is essential in the economic well-being of the central business district, but is the key to our entire transit effort."

GOP needs program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are electing a new party chairman and you can't tell the candidates without a program.

With seven entries and no consensus, they're worried that today's balloting could intrude on one of their last opportunities to have cocktails in the White House of a Republican President.

After weeks of inconclusive maneuvering, and President Ford's embarrassing attempt to promote his former campaign manager for the job, the GOP National Committee will settle down to make its choice.

To the winner goes the management of a defeated party, a $44,600 salary and the advice of Republican congressional leaders not to get too pushy in dealing with matters of party policy.

Such selections customarily are tidy affairs, all programmed in advance by party elders. Not this time. Ford's chosen candidate, James A. Baker III, withdrew five days after the President endorsed him, saying he wanted to avoid a divisive fight.

Then, too, there was the fact that the President's support wasn't delivering enough votes to assure Baker's selection to succeed the retiring Mary Louise Smith.

So the field now includes: —Former Sen. William E. Brock III of Tennessee, 45, defeated for re-election, and anxious to find a new foothold to keep his truncated political career going. He is rated among the favorites.

—Richard Richards, 43, Utah Republican chairman, and the preferred candidate of Ronald Reagan. He may have more commitments than anybody else in advance of the balloting, but election takes a clear majority and rivals contend he can't gain enough votes to reach one.

—Robert S. Carter, the co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, who knows the ropes and the committee members. Carter, 52, believes the final test will match him against Brock.

—Thomas S. Milligan, 41,

the Indiana chairman.

—Buehl Berentson, former executive director of the GOP Senate and gubernatorial campaign organizations.

—Kent B. McGough, 59, Republican chairman in Ohio.

Those applicants made the rounds of private, regional meetings Thursday, offering their prescriptions for the GOP future.

Frederick K. Biebel, 50, the Connecticut chairman, said late Thursday that he was withdrawing from consideration, saying there already was a large number of qualified candidates. He did not say which candidate would get his support. Ford allies had been sounding out his prospects.

But the President himself ventured no new endorsements after his futile attempt to propel Baker to the chairmanship.

The 162 national committee members were due at the White House for a late afternoon reception, and party officials were concerned that multiple ballots might delay them.

Misty curtain around Abilene

By The Associated Press

Blinding fog made travel hazardous in parts of Texas today as damp weather persisted across the east half of the state. Skies were clear in the west.

One of the worst spots, however, was around Abilene in West Central Texas, where a misty curtain dropped visibility to zero in early morning.

Drizzle lingered with the fog in areas east of a line linking Dallas, San Antonio and McAllen. Travelers were able to see less than a mile at many places along the Lower Texas Coast and in the Central Texas Hill Country and the East Texas piney woods.

Moisture in the six hours before midnight were light, topped by .31 inch at Lufkin in East Texas.

The weather remained mild in most areas although weak cool front was headed southward through North Texas. It promised to have little effect on temperatures in most areas.

Early morning readings in the Panhandle, however, sagged to 14 degrees at Dalhart and 16 at Amarillo.

Where were good Samaritans?

It is difficult to imagine a person so desperate as to attempt hitchhiking across the United States in a wheelchair.

Yet, that's exactly what was found in Big Spring last weekend.

BRIGADIER R. S. BALL, Salvation Army

THE WOMAN was 36 years old and lived in Trenton, N.J., all by herself. She "came to the end of her rope" and set out hitchhiking to California where an aunt lived. She had no money and was apparently traveling on determination alone.

The most difficult thing to believe about the story is that the woman could leave New Jersey and make it all the way to Big Spring, Texas, before someone really helped her.

I would have thought that friends in New Jersey, or someone traveling along the road, would have assisted her in getting to California. But not until she reached a truck stop in Big Spring did her bad luck change. The people there took her to the Salvation Army Headquarters here, and after a night's sleep, the woman was determined to continue on her way in the ice and 14 degree weather. Brig. R. S. Ball, local Salvation Army commander, used the organization's money to purchase a bus ticket for her.

That is certainly one of the strangest stories I've ever heard. It makes one wonder: Are there no good Samaritans in Trenton, N.J., or anywhere between that northeast city and Texas?

I can understand why drivers would be reluctant to pick up someone in a wheelchair rolling along the side of the road. It would have to be a trick, wouldn't it? Nobody would hitchhike along the interstate highways in a wheelchair, would they?

BUT WHY DIDN'T someone at some cafe or truck stop discover her plight and assist her, as happened here in Big Spring?

To the people of Rip Griffin's Truck Terminal who helped her and to the local Salvation Army who gave her food, extra clothing and a bus ticket, I think we owe a big round of appreciation.

Big Spring is a town that "lives by the side of the road," as the poet expressed it. Interstate 20, perhaps the major highway in the nation, brings many hard luck stories through our town.

Personal charity is still the most important kind, and unfortunately, there seems to be less of it in today's welfare state where assistance to people is being thought of in some quarters as only a governmental function.

Since we do live by the side of the road, let us help the Salvation Army in its role of "being a friend to man."

Just not so Around the rim

Bob Burton

Cold, wasn't it?
The recent sub-freezing temperatures were, as best I can ascertain, a rarity in Big Spring. Usually, I am told, the cold fronts blow right in, and then blow right out again, leaving behind sunny shirt-sleeve weather.

The weekend and the beginning of this week, with its temperatures and its ice and snow, made this city look like another town entirely, possibly a town in Massachusetts, or Vermont, or a Yankee town.

WHICH BRINGS me to my point. It is hard for someone labeled "Yankee" like myself (although the title was not my idea, no sir. It was attached to me, almost stapled to my forehead upon my arrival) to get all worked up over Texans' outcry that their state is being bled dry by a bunch of worthless know-it-alls from some snowy concrete palace up north. The argument seems to run that those states "up there" are sitting on their vast, untapped oil reserves. Those parasitic states are bleeding Texas black gold dry, and then they'll do something horrible, like sell the withered husk of Texas with no oil back to Mexico.

Texans howl that they are forced by government regulation to pay a higher price for their natural gas. Its a complicated argument, and one I don't pretend to fully understand, but as a basis to lay blame at the doors of the rest of the country is simply pig-headed.

First of all, Texas is built on oil. Or at least half built. In 1972, petroleum and natural gas brought $6.8 billion to the state. Agribusiness, all of it, brought $10.1 billion. When I first arrived here, I asked Marj Carpenter what that funny smell in the air was. She looked me right in the eye and said, "That's the smell of money."
So it is. And the smell of money was sadly lacking this week when Lone Star Gas couldn't come up with the stuff for schools and hospitals here in Texas that needed it. Those institutions had to close, at least temporarily.

Texas, that is one of your companies. That isn't anything dreamed up by another section of the country.

I THINK, UNDER CLOSE examination, the hue and cry for the pelt of those "dam Yankees" is more a blind super-patriotism than a realistic view. If Texans are being bled by anyone, it's by big oil companies, often located right here in your own state, that are willing to go to inhuman lengths to drive up prices and increase profits.

And however much it pinches you, it pinches worse in the northeast. When was the last time you paid 75 cents a gallon for gas or had to get up at 5 a.m. to get in line for a 7 a.m. gas station opening so you could get your five gallon quota?

AND WHILE YOU are accusing the Yankees of profligate waste, look how you yourselves rush to the thermostats at the first sign of what for other parts of the country would be a balmy breeze.

Texas has for years been proud of its exceptional production of petroleum products. Now it seems they have been duped for all these years by carpetbaggers who rode the wealth right out of the state.

The energy situation, those "Oh heck" countries who seek the wealth of the earth in return for heating it, and the large oil companies, international in nature — not merely Yankee. These are the real villains.

So, as much as I'd like to say that all the money being "drained" from Texas was being split-up on a weekly basis by everyone living north of the Mason-Dixon line, it just ain't so.

We Yankees feel just as stripped as you do.

What are you worth?

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It is not generally known but President-elect Jimmy Carter is having a hard time recruiting business people for his Administration. One of the reasons is his insistence that all his appointees must make full disclosure of their financial worth and itemize their holdings in stocks, bonds, bank accounts and real estate. On the surface this sounds like a good idea as it keeps the Carter appointees clean — but on the other hand, you can take Melnick's argument that full disclosure could destroy him forever.

MELNICK TOLD ME he had been offered a high post in one of the federal departments. He would have taken it if he hadn't had to reveal his net worth.

"I don't care if Carter knows what I own," Melnick said. "But I'll be damned if I want my brother-in-law to know it. If he ever finds out what I'm worth, he'll haunt me for the rest of my life."

"I never thought of that," I admitted. "It's one thing for the public to know what a man in government is personally worth — but it's another for his relatives to find out."

"I have a fraternity brother who came to see me last week and wanted to borrow $20,000 to open a Pizza Hut in New Jersey. I told him I didn't have any money. Once my financial report is published in the newspapers, he'll come back and ask for $50,000."

"It's hard to say you're broke when your true net is reported in the newspapers," I agreed.

"IT ISN'T JUST my relatives and my friends," Melnick said. "I have to worry also about my wife. If she ever finds out how much money we have, she'll go crazy redecorating the house."

"She doesn't know?"

"She hasn't a clue. She believes if she makes one mistake with the household allowance, we're going to have to apply for food stamps."

"That's a good way for a wife to think. It makes her more careful with a buck."

"And my kids. I've never told them how much we have."

"Why not?"

"Because they'll find out I'm worth a lot more to them dead than alive. If I have to publish my holdings the first thing they'll want to know is if I made out a will. They'll have me buried in Forest Lawn before I'm even sworn in."

"Carter should have thought his guidelines through."

"You know I have a partner in my business."

"I knew that."

"WELL, I'VE ALWAYS leveled with him about our investments, but I've made a few without his approval, and if he finds out what I did with the company's money he'll go through the roof."

"Such as?"

"I never told him I traded our Standard Oil preferred for New York City bonds several years ago, or that I sold our IBM stock and bought Penn Central shares with it instead. I figured what he didn't know wouldn't hurt him."

"I could see if you took the government job and he read what you had in the portfolio, you 'could' hurt him."

"And then there's the bank. I have a loan from the bank on some property I bought in Florida.

Blackhead is matured whitehead

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the difference between whiteheads and blackheads, and how do you get rid of them? I have them on my face, nose and forehead. —R.S.

Either is called a "comedo" (KOM-e-doe), a plug of dried material from a skin oil gland. A comedo becomes a blackhead when the tip is exposed to the air. The blackness is not, as some believe, dirt, but a chemical reaction of the oil with the air.

Thus blackheads tend to be more matured whiteheads. They are more easily removed. You will notice if you examine one that the tip is black, the rest whitish.

Either can signal potential acne, and removal must be approached cautiously. Acne scars develop because the material of the comedones, if left in place long, can act as a foreign substance. This may cause a reaction (pus formation) and result in further irritation. Eventually there may be deeper scarring of tissue.

If you try removal yourself be careful. Many an innocent pimple has been manhandled into a festering sore. Good hygiene is essential. Don't use your fingernails to squeeze. Buy one of the commercial removers designed for the purpose. Your druggist will have a selection.

Apply hot packs first, then alcohol. When you squeeze, use just the right amount of pressure to release the material. If it seems stubborn, delay removal for a day or two until the head releases easily.

If your whiteheads (or blackheads) multiply, you should see a skin specialist. There are ways to forestall a serious acne problem. Some pimples are expected in most adolescents, so it's wise not to overreact to a few. Keeping the skin squeaky clean may be all you need to do to prevent a worsening.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband was told he has rider's syndrome. Could you please tell us about this.

Does a back injury have anything to do with this. Will it clear up by itself with no treatment? — Mrs. C.H.

I suspect you mean Reiter's syndrome. This is a rather odd ailment that affects men primarily. I call it odd because of its assortment of symptoms — urethritis (inflammation of the urinary canal), conjunctivitis (eye inflammation), and joint pains (arthritic type).

There is a scant discharge from the penis, which may last a week, usually followed by the eye problem, then the joint pain, usually in large joints of the legs, sometimes the spine. The pain may last one or two months or longer.

The cause is not known, and treatment consists of use of antibiotics. Because of the urethritis a condom should be used at intercourse.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had my first child when I was 25. To my astonishment I had a rash. I had another child when I was 29, which didn't help my skin either. After the baby was born the skin got worse. Now it has leveled off.

The rash is on my face, neck, shoulders and chest. Can this be a hormone change with pregnancy? —K.S.

Yes, and it most likely is just that. It's one of those extra little "bills" the body presents for all of the overtime work it must do in hormone production during pregnancy. The pill can produce the same effect in some.

The rash normally disappears rather soon after pregnancy, although with some women it can linger. About all you can do for it is to use a soothing lotion until it disappears.

Other women get pregnancy rashes having nothing to do with the hormonal changes. Often weight gain can promote extra perspiration in heavy skin folds and produce an outbreak of splitches there.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please tell me about a new weight control method where they put a staple in your ear. I'm very overweight. I heard about this recently, and want to try it out. — Mrs. N.L.

Is this gimmick still making the rounds? It is not going to help you lose weight any more than a string around your finger would.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: How do you explain Jesus' miracle of changing water into wine? I have friends who say a Christian should not drink, but I wonder if they have any support for this? — M. D.

DEAR M. D.: In John 2:1-11 we read of Jesus' miracle of changing water into wine at the beginning of His ministry during a wedding feast. It demonstrates His power to transform, and shows us how He can transform even our lives if we yield to him.

Many Bible scholars have reason to believe there were various types of wine in Jesus' day, some of which were not intoxicating. We do not know which kind of wine was involved in this miracle. However, the Bible is clear in condemning drunkenness, and no Christian should have a part in it: "Do not get drunk on wine, which leads to debauchery. Instead, be filled with the Spirit" (Ephesians 5:18, New International Version).

Alcohol has a specific function in our society which it did not have in Jesus' day. In the ancient world water was often impure and unsafe. In our modern world alcoholic beverages usually have little purpose except for social functions or individual escape. Alcoholism has become such a major problem in our country that a decision to drink should be taken very seriously. Not only do we expose ourselves to the possibility of greater sin, but we may influence others in a harmful way by our example.

Many Christians feel they lose nothing by refusing to drink, and feel that drinking does no honor to God. "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise" (Proverbs 20:1).

What caused defeat?

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — President Ford's campaign aides may have blown the election for him by failing to spend $1.7 million that was available for last-minute TV spots, voter drives and speaking campaigns.

The extra money, a White House aide told us bitterly, would have put the president over the top. Other aides agreed, some of them less certainly, that the incredible miscalculation may have cost him the election. At least in the key state of Ohio, GOP strategists suggested, the money could have made a difference.

THE $1.7 MILLION went unspent, ironically, because of the president's determination to keep his campaign free of any Watergate-style financial abuses. At secret meetings in Washington during September, the Ford strategists carefully analyzed the new election law.

It allowed both candidates to spend $21.8 million of their own campaign funds. But the Republicans had come up with another $3.2 million which could be spent, quite legally, by the president's campaign committee.

The money came out of the till of the Republican National Committee. But Ford's campaign chief, Jim Baker, prudently insisted that up to $750,000 should be held back to make sure the president didn't exceed the legal limit.

So the spending rate was kept down. The Ford campaign, meanwhile, began to pick up momentum. As the president gained on Jimmy Carter in the polls, the Republican National Committee urged the campaign committee to loosen the purse strings.

But it was mid-October before the president's campaign aides realized they had been spending money far too slowly. By then, programs to enlist black voters and to step up TV promotion in several key states had already been rejected as too expensive.

Hurried meetings were called, but it was too late to spend the money usefully. On the day after the election, the beaten Ford campaigners began to add up their expenditures. The latest tally shows that Ford could have spent from $1.7 to $1.8 million more than he did.

At the Republican National Committee, a spokesman said bluntly that "we had it available to be spent." The implication was that the president's campaign committee had been too miserly.

A SPOKESMAN for the campaign committee acknowledged: "We were disappointed we didn't spend the budgeted amounts. We were conscious of the requirements of the new law and the excesses of the past. We wanted to be damned certain we were within it."

It was pure conjecture, he added, to blame Ford's defeat on the $1.7 million miscalculation.

SUGGESTION BOX: The taxpayers provide their top leaders with chauffeur-driven limousines to get around Washington. The government bigwigs like their limousines to be warm in the winter and cool in the summer. Obliging chauffeurs, therefore, often idle the motors so the limousines will be comfortable when

The commission members were in such awe of the late FBI director, J. Edgar Hoover that they never dared ask for the files, but depended upon what the FBI wished to provide, inside sources say.

The special House committee which is now investigating the assassination will belatedly request the full FBI files.

Special force to battle border dopers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — "Things will get hot for some of those people out there," says a Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman in announcing that a special "strike force" has been sent to combat drug smuggling in the Del Rio and Brownsville area.

The spokesman said Thursday that the special force of agents will devote their attention to drug smuggling between Laredo and McAllen.

The strike force of 33 commissioned officers from the criminal and traffic division of the DPS will be added to personnel already working in the Valley along with federal and other state agencies.

The campaign will be financed by a special $1,075,000 federal grant administered by the Governor's Criminal and Justice Division that is expected to give its formal approval next month.

"The grant request meets all specifications and requirements" said a spokesman for the division. "But until it is approved, the DPS will spend its own money and then it will be reimbursed."

The DPS recently opened a new narcotics division office in McAllen, in the center of the Valley.

A DPS spokesman said the agency has stepped up its battle against drug traffic and has met with some success in recent months. "In 1975 our agents seized drugs valued at $1 million," he said. "But in the first 11 months of 1976 the drug confiscated was valued at $20 million."

The total did not include two tons of marijuana, worth about $2.8 million, confiscated in late December in Donna, just west of McAllen.

"The purpose of the project is to accelerate a major drive against organized crime and narcotics along the Mexican border," the DPS spokesman said.

He said details of how the strike force will operate have not been worked out yet, but it will work closely with the Drug Enforcement Administration, U. S.

Customs and Mexican officials across the border.

The force will be under the command of Lt. Col. Leo Gossett, assistant DPS director.

THE COMPETITORS AND THE PRIZE — J.B. Todd (left) and Harry Fayonsky are shown during their meeting last August in Walhalla, S.C., reaching for a bottle of 1937 California wine. Todd died Wednesday night, making Fayonsky, as the sole survivor of the Walhalla "last man club," the winner of the bottle. Todd and Fayonsky were the last of the 13 World War I veterans who formed the club 40 years ago.

Farm

Number of farms to decline in '77

AUSTIN — For the first time in four years, farm land in Texas is expected to decrease, by a projected 400,000 acres, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has reported.

"Though the number of farms has been decreasing at a fairly steady rate, the actual amount of farm land remained at 141,800,000 acres from 1973 until last year," White stated. "In 1977 acreage is expected to be around 141,400,000."

Estimates made by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service indicate that the number of farms will continue its decline from 205,000 farms in 1976 to 202,000 in 1977.

"The loss of farms in the past did not have the impact that it does when coupled with a loss in acreage. At one time, the diminished number meant that small, marginal farms were being absorbed by other farmers increasing their acreage," White said. "But now we are not only anticipating that 3,000 farmers will be going out of business; their land will either be sold for residential or commercial development, or will lie fallow."

"There are several reasons for this situation. One is that many Texas farmers are losing their shirts. Production costs have gone up and are continuing to rise, while the market prices have remained under those costs on most commodities.

"Unfair tax structures for farmland around metropolitan areas are another cause. Inheritance taxes put another bite on families, who might otherwise keep the family farm operating. Some of the land has to be sold, just to pay the inheritance taxes," White explained.

"The average size of farms has risen steadily since 1950 when the tabulations were started in Texas from 435 to 692 this year," White said.

Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service records reveal that farm acreage in 1950 was 150,000,000. In the next ten years the figure rose to 154,000,000 and remained at that size until 1960. Since then, the rate of loss had been 500,000 to a million acres a year until 1973, when acreage began to stabilize.

Farm numbers in the United States have decreased by 15 per cent during the past ten years, but only a 4 per cent drop was recorded in land in farms.

These changes are reflected in the average size of farms, which increased from 213 in 1950 to 390 acres in 1976. The projection for 1977 is 393 acres. Total land in farms in the U.S. is expected to be 1,081 million acres with 2.75 million farms.

Does Belief in Santa Hurt Little Children?

DEAR ABBY: Is there a way my child can enjoy the fun of believing in Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny without being lied to?

It doesn't seem fair to tell a trusting child such lies, and yet I hate to deprive him of the pleasure of fantasizing about these make-believe characters.

My son is still a wee baby, and I hate lying to him, knowing that one day he'll learn the truth and wonder how many others things I lied about.

DEAR DEBBIE: Childhood fantasies are not only fun for children, but also useful aids in developing healthy imaginations and creativity. If you tell your child from the start that Santa, The Easter Bunny (and don't forget the Tooth Fairy) are all make-believe characters, they won't feel deceived when they learn the truth.

The mistake most parents make is to insist that these imaginary characters actually exist after the child has questioned their authenticity.

DEAR ABBY: Our parents have been asking us what we want for our birthdays. (We're twins.) O.K., you tell them for us, Abby. Other kids might like the same "present."

Dear Mom and Dad: We would like you both to quit smoking, for your sake and ours. Here are our reasons.

First, there's a good chance you'll get cancer, and we love you too much for that. Second, the smoke bothers us, especially when you sit by us watching TV or at the dinner table. Third, nothing in our home smells clean and fresh. The stale scent of smoke is everywhere. Fourth, smoking gives you bad breath, and we find ourselves holding our breaths when we kiss you hello and goodby.

We hope you understand that we love you and are not asking this just for ourselves.

Gardeners protecting bird life

The importance of providing water and feed for birds was stressed by Mrs. Charles Harwell when she spoke Wednesday to the Oasis Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Spencer Wolf. Mrs. James Wilhelm was cohostess.

Noting that there are at least 250 species of birds in Howard County, Mrs. Harwell said evergreen bushes and trees not only attract birds but provide them protection from unfavorable weather.

During the business session, Mrs. Harwell, president, expressed appreciation to Mrs. H. E. Tubb and Mrs. Bill Conger for being hostesses at a dinner in the Tubb home for club members and their husbands.

It was announced that Mrs. Walker Bailey and Mrs. Harwell will present a program on the study of birds Jan. 20 for students at Moss Elementary School.

The next club meeting will be at 9 a.m., Feb. 9 in the home of Mrs. L. S. Bonner with Mrs. D. Gordan as cohostess.

Along with their stateside ministry, Max and David Sapp have been involved in impact crusades overseas. They have been on five continents and in over 40 countries of the world. Plans are being made now for another missionary trip to Europe, Africa and Asia.

Max and David are the co-authors of "Ther is a River." This son has been the number one gospel song for over two years. Also, David has recorded six solo gospel albums. Their blend of music and ministry appeals to every age group.

These young evangelists have Sunday television programs; one at 9:30 a.m. on Channel 11, then at 4:30 p.m. on Channel 39 (cable 6). The television ministry is called the "River of Life."

KFYO-790 "Words of Love" Sunday, 9:06 a.m.

A Series of Sermons on The Lord's Supper is Now In Progress. Sermon Subjects are:

- "What is the Cup of the Lord?" Jan. 16
- "Why Only One Cup?" Jan. 23
- "Is a Plurality of Communion Cups Scriptural?" Jan. 30
- "Literal Until Proven Figurative" Feb. 6

The use of one cup containing the fruit of the vine in the Lord's Supper is taught by example, command and inference.

"He took the CUP" (cup is from the Greek word "Poteerion").
"Poteerion — a drinking vessel," Robinson's Greek-English Lexicon, page 611.
"Poteerion — a drinking vessel," Thayer's Greek-English Lexicon, page 532.
Many other lexicographers also say "Poteerion" means a literal drinking vessel.
"and gave thanks and gave it"
"the vessel containing the drink," Robinson, page 182.
"to them saying, Drink ye all of it" ("of" is from the Greek word "ek").
"ek — out of," Thayer, page 187.
"gave ek (drink out of) — with a genitive of the vessel out of which one drinks," Thayer, page 516. Many translations say "Drink all of you OUT OF it."
"IT"
"the thing out of which one drinks — the vessel out of which one drinks, Matt. 26:27."
Thayer, page 189 and 516.
"for THIS"
"the contents of the cup," verse 29. "this fruit of the vine," Smiths Bible Dictionary, page 1778. (See No. 3 on "metonymy" below).
"(a) Matt. 26:27, poteerion (cup) means a literal cup, while 'toute' (this) refers to the contents," Dr. A. T. Robertson, a Greek Scholar.
"is my blood of the new testament . . . Matt. 26:27.
the fruit of the vine represents the blood which made effective the New Testament.
The use of one cup containing the fruit of the vine in the Lord's Supper is taught by the use of Metonymy.

Metonymy — "a figure of speech in which an object is presented to the mind NOT BY NAMING IT but by NAMING SOMETHING ELSE that readily suggests it." (Williams' Composition & Rhetoric, page 220).

- The object named (cup) is NOT the thing suggested (fruit of the vine).
- There is a REAL OBJECT (cup), not an imaginary one, named.
- BOTH the THING NAMED (cup) and the THING SUGGESTED (fruit of the vine) must exist.
- (a) Paul named "this cup" (1 Cor. 11:26-29) to suggest its contents, the fruit of the vine.
- (b) Since the object named is NOT the thing suggested, "cup" is NOT the fruit of the vine.
- (c) BOTH the cup (which is named) and the contents, (which are suggested) MUST EXIST.
- (d) The cup (which is named) MUST CONTAIN the thing suggested (the fruit of the vine).
- (e) Since ONE CUP was named, the CONTENTS OF ONLY ONE CUP is suggested.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
610 ABRAM
BIG SPRING, TEXAS. COME WORSHIP WITH US SUNDAY—10:30

The Solid Rock
209 W. 3rd 267-2711

But you, dear friends, must build up your lives more strongly upon the foundation of our holy faith, learning to pray in the power and strength of the Holy Spirit.

Stay always within the boundaries where God's love can reach and bless you.

Wait patiently for the eternal life that our Lord Jesus Christ in His mercy is going to give you. Try to help those who argue against you. Be merciful to those who doubt.

Save some by snatching them as from the very flames of hell itself. And as for others, help them to find the Lord by being kind to them, but be careful that you yourselves aren't pulled along into their sins. Hate every trace of their sin while being merciful to them as sinners.

—Jude 1:20-23 (The Living Bible)

"Attend The Church of Your Choice"

So, you sang in the choir when you were a kid. And sometimes you snatched cigarettes back of the church while the grownups were having their social hour inside. Sometimes you pretended to have a sore throat, so you could be "excused." You looked like an angel, but were you one?

No way!

But no one held it against you. The door to the Church stood wide open then, and it still does. Why not take a walk inside some Sunday? See what it's like today! The years in between won't seem to matter.

Holme designed the work.

Fib tester gets job back

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation agent who had been fired for giving lie detector tests to 14 University of Oklahoma football coaches was given his job back late Thursday night by the state Personnel Board.

The board voted to give agent Frank Brady a 60-day suspension, but he has already been off the job that long, after being fired Nov. 19.

University of Oklahoma football Coach Barry Switzer testified Thursday that Gov. David Boren told him Brady probably would not be fired.

Switzer was one of many witnesses who testified before the Personnel Board as he heard an appeal by Brady to overturn his firing.

Switzer said he believed he was responsible for Brady's troubles, and said he called the governor to talk about it.

After adjourning its meeting after 11 p.m. Thursday, the Personnel Board deliberated for less than 15 minutes before announcing its decision.

Brady administered lie detector tests to Oklahoma coaches at Switzer's request. Switzer said he wanted to prove that his assistants had not violated recruiting practices.

Brady's boss, OSBI Director Jeff Laird, said Brady had violated bureau regulations by using the lie detector tests as part of a private business — without getting required permission from the bureau.

Brady testified that, in total, he had conducted 35 polygraph tests outside the bureau since the time he became qualified to do so in April 1969.

After news reports surfaced in October linking Brady and Charles Ryan, an investigator for the district attorney's office in Garfield County, with the polygraph testing of Oklahoma coaches, Brady was suspended. Shortly afterward he was fired.

Brady contended on the witness stand that he was following a code of ethics established by Laird, which said an agent could engage in outside activity only if it would not prevent him from properly doing his job.

Laird's predecessors, Sam Watson, of Oklahoma City and Frank Hagedorn, of Tulsa, testified that they had allowed Brady to administer the outside tests when they were running the bureau.

Pom-poms fire burns child, fund started

A fund has been started in care of the First National Bank to help the family of Monica Martinez who was severely burned Jan. 6.

Monica, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Martinez, was burned when pom-poms she was playing with caught fire from an open heater. The child was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital and later transferred to the Shriner Burn Institute in Galveston by private plane, where she is still reported in critical condition.

The George Martinez family was born and raised in Big Spring, and moved to Midland only recently.

Funds mailed or delivered to the First National Bank care of the Monica Martinez fund will help pay Malone-Hogan costs, the private plane costs, and the cost of maintaining the parents in Galveston, where they remain near their daughter.

The Burn Institute costs are provided by the Shriners.

Inauguration card dealt Wozencraft wrong time

For C. M. Wozencraft of Big Spring, an invitation to attend the inauguration of President-elect Jimmy Carter came along at the wrong time.

Wozencraft underwent surgery at M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston before Christmas. He returned to Big Spring to undergo more surgery in a local hospital.

He's now recuperating at home and will likely be away from his job as a conductor for the T&P Railway for another six weeks.

Wozencraft is one of the numerous Big Spring residents to receive an invitation to attend the quadrennial event in Washington, D.C., net result of which means a changing of tenants at the White House at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington.

Self-service gasoline stations 'dangerous'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Hill said Thursday unattended self-service gasoline stations are not prohibited by law, but that the State Board of Insurance could outlaw them.

Joe Christie, chairman of the board, said there are such stations in Abilene and Corpus Christi.

The state fire marshal, who works under the board, has suggested this practice is dangerous and should be stopped. The board asked for Hill's opinion on whether the law forbids such stations.

Customers insert a plastic card with a magnetic tape in a slot to activate the pump, and the amount of gasoline they take is charged to their account by computer, Christie said.

The board is charged with state regulation of flammable liquids. The law prohibits the board from banning self-service stations merely because they are self-service, Hill said.

"Since the statute does not expressly prohibit unattended stations, we believe that it contemplates that any decision as to their prohibition is to be made by the board, in accordance with the general regulatory design of the statute," Hill said.

Christie said the matter needs to be brought up as soon as possible, but the board must give at least 10 days' notice under the open meetings law.

Price fixing rap hits dentists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission today charged the American Dental Association with price fixing and other unlawful practices that allegedly prevent patients from benefiting from competition.

The commission said that ethical codes observed by the ADA and its local chapters violate federal antitrust law by barring advertising and "by preventing price competition."

The FTC said the dental group, through its professional codes, "has eliminated competition among dentists in the United States."

The 124,000-member ADA, headquartered in Chicago, denied any wrongdoing.

"The ADA has neither fostered any practices nor engaged in any conduct relating to its advertising ethics which is in violation of the Federal Trade Commission Act," the association said today.

The commission also announced it was beginning an investigation of the entire dental care industry "to determine whether restrictions imposed by private and governmental entities on the provision of dental services may be unfair methods of competition."

The probe will include a look at state or private rules regarding advertising, accreditation of dental schools, licensing requirements, and transfers of licenses from one state to another, the FTC said.

Named in the complaint as defendants were the ADA, the Indiana Dental Association, the Indianapolis District Dental Society, the Virginia Dental Association and the Northern Virginia Dental Society.

It was understood that these particular ADA-related groups were singled out because each has variations of the parent code that the FTC thinks should be struck down.

The commission said each of the ethical codes "fixes prices or otherwise interferes with the prices of dentists' services; deprives consumers of information pertinent to the selection of a dentist; (and) restrains the development of innovative systems for the delivery of dental services."

The commission's complaint will be heard by an administrative law judge who will then make recommendations to the commission. If the judge agrees with the complaint's allegations, the commission then could order the ADA to halt certain practices.

In its statement, the ADA said restrictions on dentists' advertising are included in state laws, in addition to the dental codes of ethics.

The association defended its own restrictions on advertising, saying that "unrestricted advertising would have no economic benefits for the public and, instead, might lead to serious abuses in the delivery of dental care." The statement did not explain how this would occur.

Steers host Rebs

The Big Spring Steer roundball quintet will try to urge history to repeat itself tonight as they host the league-leading Midland Lee Rebels in Steer gym at 8 p.m.

Last year, just about this time, the Abilene Eagles, who were then picked to take the 5-4A crown (and did!), swooped into Steerland and were immediately plucked by the local fired-up five. This season, Lee was given the nod to haul home the conference bacon, and Head Coach James Griffin is hoping his crew can do the same number of the Johnny Rebs.

"I think we'll do alright," said Griffin. "We had a good workout Wednesday and Thursday and even though we have a few problems, overall, we seem to be doing pretty good."

Despite the drubbing the locals took at the hands of Permian last Tuesday night, the moral seems to be in the upper levels going into the game.

"I kept telling them 'We can beat Lee,'" Griffin said, "and now they keep saying it back. The kids will come back, there's no doubt about that. You can't call a person a loser because he falls down. He's a loser if he falls down and stays down. We got knocked down Tuesday, but with the bunch of competitors we have, we'll be back up Friday. They're a good bunch of kids, probably the closest team I've ever coached."

Griffin indicated that his players have been coming in to view the Permian game film again, and that they've been working on individual problems with enthusiasm.

The tentative starting line-up for the Steers includes Casey Wilder, who will play low post instead of outside to increase the effectiveness of the Bovine inside attack. Bubba Stripling will probably start as well, if he is feeling no after-effects from a leg injury sustained on an icy sidewalk.

Mike Harris Or Kenneth Perry will be the muscle man for the locals underneath, while Johnny "Bam" Jones, Elroy "Mr. Invisible" Green or Del Poss will round out the starting five. Jones is questionable because he twisted an ankle in the Permian game, and Griffin won't be sure of his status until gametime.

Midland Lee currently shares the district 5-4A lead with a 3-0 record, and will offer the stiffest competition the Steers have faced since the Plainview Tournament right before the holidays.

Mike Denny, 6-5 senior, leads the Rebel attack and is the tallest man on the team. Other Lee roundballers expected to give the Steers fits are 5-11 Wallace, 6-1 Alexander, and 6-1 Smith.

Sophomore and JV contests precede the varsity match-up at 5 p.m. and 6:30.

Stanton opens 5-A warfare

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes, currently 19-2 on the season, open district 5-A play tonight against the tough quintet fielded by Plains.

The Buffs, coming off one of their best hustling performances of the season in the Tuesday night 63-49 win over Crane, will be facing one of the two teams they will have to beat this season to win the 5-A crown. Plains sports a 13-3 slate, and along with Seagraves, which holds a deceptive 1-3 record, will offer Stanton crucial competition right off the bat.

Ken and Doug McCalister, with teammates Tim Glynn, Marvin Jones and Rocky Blutworth are leading the herd of Buffs this year. But any member of the 12-member roster can come in and play aggressive roundball. Other members of the squad include George McCalister, Tommy Morrow, Todd Smith, Terry Smith, Joe Dean, Russell Mims and Oscar Perez.

Doug Parker, first-year head coach for the Buffs, is confident that his team can continue to play quality ball despite a few injuries. In an interview given to Terry Neill, Stanton Reporter editor, Parker talked candidly.

"This week we're injured and sick, with Glynn out with a bad ankle and Tommy Morrow and Oscar Perez sick. Todd Smith has also had an eye problem," Parker said.

"Our workouts have been good recently and I've seen some improvement. I'm mostly optimistic and ready to play. Our main strengths should be rebounding and defense, and our main weakness is a tendency to get into foul trouble," Parker continued.

"Our kids do not want to quit playing basketball for another 14 or 15 games, through the state tournament. District is our first concern, however, and that means Plains Friday night. They have a fine team and the game should not be decided by more than five points," Parker predicted.

If the Stanton Buffs continue to play with the fire and clutch-hitting that has characterized their efforts so far this year, Parker may have been a little conservative in his estimate.

The game will follow the boys JV game at 5 p.m. and then the girls' varsity game at 6:30.

Hawks badgered by AC 105-89

AMARILLO — The Howard College Hawks dropped their fourth game in WJCC competition Thursday night 105-89 to Amarillo College and fell two games out-of-first place in the race to a berth in the regional playoffs.

The Preybirds "gave up a lot of real easy shots early in the game," according to Head Coach Harold Wilder, and could never overcome to breakdown in defense.

In the first half of action, HC fell behind by as many as 17, but rallied to only trail by six at intermission. They zoomed out of the locker room to cut the lead to four, but that was as close as they came the rest of the night.

"We suffered another spell where our defense let down, and they (Amarillo) pressed us all night which also seemed to bother us," said Wilder.

The two starting guards for the Hawks, Mike Little and Reggie Leffall, combined for 50 points, 28 for Mike and 22 for Reggie, but a lack of rebounding and markers by the big men wrote the ending to the Hawks dime novel.

Russell Sublet, a 6-3 freshman from Houston Kashmere, joined the team this semester and contributed two points to the cause. "Russell has only worked out with us twice and is not that familiar with our play," said Wilder, "but he's going to be a good one."

The next game for the Hawks will be Monday night in Hawk gym against cellardweller Frank Phillips.

Fran slaps Hart

SAN DIEGO (AP) — They're saying some pretty nasty things about Fran Tarkenton at the Pro Bowl, mainly because he's not a part of it.

National Conference championships and in the Super Bowl. "It's not the first time he's pulled this," Hart said of Tarkenton's withdrawal. "Personally, I couldn't be happier. It gives me a chance to play in a game that only a few players get a chance to play in. I'm absolutely delighted to be here. Listen, it's more than just another game. It's an honor."

stars. Five others have done the same — but that hasn't stilled the criticism of Tarkenton. "If a guy's chosen to play in a game like this," said Hart, "he should have the decency to be a part of it. It's not asking too much."

Hart is closer to the situation than anyone else. He would not be a part of it, if Tarkenton, the quarterback of the Minnesota Vikings, had not decided to skip Monday night's game in Seattle.

Tarkenton, it must be noted, is not the only Pro Bowl selection pulling out of this meeting of American and National Conference

Even one of Tarkenton's teammates, rookie wide receiver Sammy White, was critical of his quarterback. "If it was really a bad injury that was keeping him out, like Franco (Harris of the Pittsburgh Steelers), I could see it," White said. "But from what's being said, I just don't know."

OU pact extended

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — University of Oklahoma football Coach Barry Switzer has received a contract extension of at least four years, along with a $3,000 raise.

University regents gave Switzer the new contract Thursday. It boosts his salary to $36,000 a year. In another sports matter, the regents were notified that a set of guidelines has been drawn up to deal with the distribution of football tickets among Sooners coaches and football players.

Sharing the top spot with Watson were nonwinners Andy North, Alan Tapie, Gary McCord and Dr. Gil Morgan.

Majors voted CoY

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Johnny Majors, who coached the Pitt Panthers to the top of the college football world, has been honored by his colleagues for the achievement.

The 2,600 members of the American Football Coaches Association named Majors the Coach of the Year for Division I schools Thursday, making his father a proud man.

The junior Majors guided Pitt to its first national championship in 39 years before accepting the task of trying to restore his alma mater, the University of Tennessee, to a college football power.

Hawk Queens crown ENMU

The Howard College Hawk Queens topped their season record to 10-4 by virtue of a 54-45 win over Eastern New Mexico University Thursday night.

The Queens were led by Linda Batla and Tami Edwards, who scored 18 and 12 points respectively. The Queens led at halftime by the score of 32-21.

Coach Wanda Ferguson's charges saw Rose Magers pour in 20 while Keran Schexnayder scored 17. However, Deborah Kittle of Lee, who is not an unusually tall girl, slapped in 30 big points. For the Steerettes, Gail Allen was outstanding on defense.

OSU forfeits nine games

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — The Big Eight Conference has been asked to investigate how Oklahoma State basketball player Ricky Daniel was reportedly able to receive credit for summer college courses he didn't take.

Oklahoma State Athletic Director Floyd Gass said he requested the investigation, after Daniel was declared ineligible to play for the rest of the season.

Since Daniel has been declared ineligible, Oklahoma State will have to forfeit nine games in which he played.

Five share Tucson lead

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Miller has the putting miseries.

Miller, who had won the last three times out here, struggled to a two-over-par 74 Thursday that left him seven strokes back of Tom Watson and four others who shared the lead at 67 in the uncompleted first round of the $200,000 Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

Sharing the top spot with Watson were nonwinners Andy North, Alan Tapie, Gary McCord and Dr. Gil Morgan.

Steerettes lose 58-43

The Big Spring Steerettes lost to Midland Lee there Thursday night by 43-58.

The Big Spring team was playing only their fourth game while Lee had played 12 games and two tournaments this year. The Big Spring girls are playing catch-up, both in the season and the game.

The Steerettes missed 11 free throws and shot only 26 per cent in a cold first half and suddenly revived in the fourth frame and began to hit the basket.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JANUARY 16, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have all sorts of pressure and inner urges facing you. Use the morning to plan just what you want to do and then in the afternoon you are able to come up with a plan of action that will enable you to cope with these situations.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is not the right time to get into new ventures, but the afternoon is fine. Contact a new acquaintance and make a friend of this person. Avoid one who is hostile to your best interests.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take care of annoying commitments and then you have time for whatever it is you like to do. Show true affection for your closest tie and increase happiness. Be careful of tricky individuals.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take care you do not argue with a partner in the morning; after that you can have true understanding between you. Socialize in the evening.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Tackle that work load ahead of you early and build a more solid foundation for your life. Take health treatments you need and build up your energy. Arrive on time for appointments.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan early the recreation you need later and it works out fine. Contact congenials you want to be with. Handle money wisely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study conditions at home and know what must be done to improve them. Find a better way of putting your finest talents across to others. Evening can be a one with one you love.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan how to have more rapport with good friends during morning hours then test it out later. Take that trip in the afternoon to see someone important to you. Drive with utmost care, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan time early to get your finances tended to since you can add much to present security. Talk to an expert in property affairs and get good advice you need. Take time to see friends in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make plans early for those personal aims you have and then put them in operation quickly and wisely. Spend more time on hobbies that mean so much to you. Evening is fine for social fun.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan early how to organize your life so you have greater success and happiness, then get wheels rolling in right direction. Spend time with a loved one and be happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Morning is not good for being with friends but the afternoon is fine. Evening is ideal for gaining some aim that means a good deal to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take care you do nothing to jeopardize your good name in the morning. Then you can handle outside activities well. Get into some community matter and help make a success of it.

Brinks bandit Rees apprehended

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) - Former Brinks guard Richard Rees, who brazenly made off with $500,000 cash from an armored car 11 months ago, has been captured with less than $400 in his pockets.

Rees, 27, described by police as "maybe the greatest rip-off artist of all time" was to be arraigned before a federal magistrate today on a charge of bank larceny after his arrest Thursday by the FBI and New Mexico state police.

The former guard had been sought since Feb. 11, 1976, when he asked his driver to stop at a San Mateo, Calif., restaurant so he could deliver a box of champagne to a girl. He stepped off the truck and vanished with the money.

The FBI said Rees was taken into custody at Villanueva, N.M., a small community about 40 miles north of here, following a stakeout by authorities who had learned he was in the area.

Details surrounding the arrest were skimpy. The FBI said only that Rees was known to have been camping out in Texas, Nevada and New Mexico and that the bureau had been tipped that he was in Villanueva.

He was arrested while at the home of a man identified by state police only as Kent Scott. Scott was not taken into custody.

Following the theft, a San Mateo police sergeant said Rees, who left a wife, an ex-wife and a daughter behind, might be "the greatest" rip-off artist ever.

"We can't think of another case where a single man, using no violence or weapons, escaped with such a large amount of untraceable cash," the policeman said.

The arrest came a week after the FBI in San Francisco was given a 17-page letter Rees had sent to San Francisco Chronicle columnist Herb Caen asking that it be relayed to the federal agents.

In it, he described how he played his way through most of the $500,000 through associations with women in Ft. Worth and Austin, Tex., and $2,000 in race track bets.

The letter which the FBI said was authentic, was postmarked Kansas City, Mo., and was the first word from the former Marine since he disappeared.

After disappearing with his box of cash, Rees said, he hid in nearby bushes until nightfall, then moved around California for several weeks before busing to Texas.

Bank officers re-elected

COAHOMA - Stock dividends in the amount of $100,000 were paid to all Coahoma State Bank stockholders at the annual meeting of directors held here Thursday.

All bank officers and directors were re-elected for another year.

Bank President Bill Read said the bank experienced a "very successful year" and deposits were at an all-time high. At the close of business Dec. 30, the bank had total assets of $6,154,979.33.

In addition to Read, officers re-elected included James C. Barr, vice-president (inactive); Johnny Justiss, vice-president and cashier; and Miss Frances Swann, assistant cashier.

Directors renamed included Barr, Justiss, Read, Briggs Todd and C. C. Wolf.

Medicaid woes critical

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The State Board of Public Welfare hopes a task force of forty-seven distinguished Texans, including Janey Briscoe, can come up with better ways to deliver Medicaid services.

The task force held its first meeting Thursday in the Senate Chamber.

"I do not think a more important study could be made at this time," Gov. Dolph Briscoe told them.

"There is no more critical problem facing this state than this country, for that matter," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Briscoe and Hobby received standing ovations before and after their brief remarks. Then they left. The governor's wife left less than half an hour later.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell came up with the idea for the task force in the face of rising expenses and declining federal and state money.

Jamie Clements, chairman of the state board, said federal matching funds for Texas are going to be reduced. "And you know why? It's because we're doing such a good job," he said.

He explained later that Commerce Department figures show the Texas economy is doing better than that of most other states.

Also, Clements said, "state officials are indicating intentions to restrain state spending, and this seems to be the prevailing wish of the people of Texas."

Asked later which state officials he referred to, Clements said Briscoe, Hobby and Speaker Billy Clayton.

Clements said the board spent $364 million on health care in 1973. For the current fiscal year, the budget is $734 million, and in 1979, it is expected to be $983 million.

Marvin Watson, former postmaster general and special assistant to President Lyndon Johnson, said he accepted the role of chairman, "or chairperson," of the task force "with great pleasure and an overwhelming sense of purpose."

"Nuclear-age families" no longer feel the same responsibility toward older members of the family that generations past did, Watson said. "Children no longer grow up at their grandparent's knee, where dwells within the older generation much wisdom - and much understanding," he said.

And those grandparents live longer now, he said. Each day, 5,000 U. S. citizens reach the age of 65. Thirty-five per cent of the people on Medicaid in Texas are over 65, and 30 per cent of those are over 80, he said. There are 9,000 persons in Texas over 100, he said.

There are 680,000 Texans eligible for Medicaid today. Dependent children on Medicaid get only $1 a day from welfare, Watson said. "Supporting a child at this figure leaves a small margin for 'welfare profit,'" he said.

The task force is scheduled to do most of its work in committees. Members will visit several Texas cities over the next two months. A final report is expected before the end of March.

Number of rabid dogs in Laredo climb to 27

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) - Health officials said the number of confirmed cases of rabid dogs in this border city since November has climbed to 27, according to health authorities here.

The figure reached 27 Thursday after tests confirmed that three dogs shot by police on the streets of Laredo this week were rabid.

Police officers were given permission to shoot dogs recently as part of a city campaign to stem the first outbreak of rabies in Laredo in 29 years.

Twenty-two persons who were either bitten by rabid dogs or exposed to the disease in other ways are currently undergoing preventive treatment, officials said.

Health officials said the dogs were among five shot by police officers at the request of their owners or at the officers' discretion.

So far, 7,300 dogs have been vaccinated.

Health officials said that because of the long incubation period, it would be a long time before the disease is "brought under control."

Victor Oliveros, health educator with the Laredo-Webb County Health Department said "It is too early to tell just how bad this thing will be. It is serious, and the next few months will tell."

Bullet found lodged in Manges' office

FREER, Tex. (AP) - A bullet found lodged in a restroom door in the office of banking magnate Clinton Manges was fired through the front wall of the office building sometime Wednesday night or Thursday morning, according to investigators.

The bullet hole was discovered Thursday morning by a cleaning woman.

Police said Thursday that the slug entered the front wall of the building about a foot and a half off the ground, ricocheted upward and missed Manges' chair in his private office by some three feet before lodging in the door.

Texas Ranger Gene Powell turned the bullet over to the Department of Public Safety in Austin for testing.

Manges, who said the shooting incident made him a little nervous, described the shooting as "more than normal harassment."

Gertrude's first date

SEATTLE (AP) - Gertrude the Hippo has had her first date with Kubwa Sana, but it's too early to tell if she and the Portland Zoo's hippo have a meaningful relationship in their future.

The chaperoned tryst took place in the Woodland Park Zoo's elephant compound on Sunday. Several pounds of carrots were spread on the floor to help break the ice.

The meeting seemed amicable enough.

Kubwa Sana, on loan here, is 13 years younger than Gertrude and, at 550 pounds, 4,450 pounds lighter. Gertrude gave the younger hippo a few nips on the hide - "nice, normal little nips," according to Helen Freeman of the Woodland Park Zoo staff - and gave chase when he made a break for the barn.

Kubwa Sana eventually came back into the ring and sat down - a sign of submission in female-dominated hippo society.

Electricity boost asked

HOUSTON (AP) - The cost of electricity for Houston residents will increase 5.4 per cent in February if the Houston City Council approves adjustments sought by Houston Lighting & Power Co.

The hike would mean the monthly bill for a typical Houston homeowner would increase from $28.46 to $30.01.

HL&P's proposed adjustments for higher costs of fuel, labor, depreciation and capital were released Thursday by George E. Globber Jr., public service director.

Globber said he is analyzing the request and will make a recommendation to the city council later this month.

Gems, cash robbery

HOUSTON (AP) - Police hunted today for three men who robbed a jewelry store of an estimated $75,000 in cash and jewelry.

Richard M. Ferguson, manager of Corrigan's Jewelry Co., said three armed men entered the store late Thursday afternoon and held 11 persons - four employees and seven customers at gunpoint. He said they took rings, bracelets, watches, necklaces and loose diamonds from a display case and cash from a register.

Officeholders must file annual reports

County Clerk Margaret Ray announced today that annual reports due from officeholders, candidates for office, and committees supporting these officeholders have a deadline of Jan. 17.

According to a letter from Mark White, Texas Secretary of State, this report should "disclose all contributions received and expenditures made during calendar year 1976 which have not been previously reported. Officeholders and candidates should also include in their reports a list identifying the name and address of each political committee and its campaign treasurer receiving contributions or making expenditures on behalf of the officeholder or candidate."

The report is not required of officeholders or candidates who have had no activity since the last required reports.

Queries should be directed to Margaret Ray, County Clerk.

Auditorium filled with music

with Marj Carpenter

The city auditorium used to be the gathering place of most of the city functions. There were a lot of wonderful programs there and at one time it was also used for school events prior to the construction of the present high school.

It was built during the depression days when E. V. Spence was mayor. A lot of things in town were built along about that time under COC programs including the amphitheatre and sheds on the municipal golf course.

Near the same time, the city auditorium and city hall and central fire station were constructed.

I got to thinking a lot about that auditorium this week when I had a letter from Martha Keaton. She was so delighted that a column had been written about Elsie Willis. She says, "Not only was Elsie a quiet melody, she was also a rhapsody."

Her letter said, in part, "Many years ago, Big Spring built a magnificent new city auditorium. And even managed to get a full grand piano. I'm certain it wasn't easy. We had no civic music nor concert series, but only Harley Sadler and the Sons of the Pioneers to fill it."

"Somebody or group decided to ask local talent to give Sunday afternoon concerts. Elsie was teaching, either at TCU or North Texas. But, of course, she was invited when it was possible for her to be here."

"I loved piano and was one of the ones that went to hear her concert. I had never heard her. A lovely, dark-haired, dark-eyed, English lady walked quietly across the stage, sat calmly down at the grand piano and began to play."

"That auditorium, which could seat 1200, was filled with such glorious music as I hadn't heard since Paderewski, I thought. She played a concerto — Hungarian Rhapsody, the larger Chopin my limited technique had never been able to conquer. My soul was wuffed away "Oh Wings of Music" with many variations. It was a Sunday to remember."

Mrs. Keaton recalls that when she heard that Elsie was coming back here to open a studio, "It broke my heart for her. I think she was concert calibre." Mrs. Keaton quoted from Thomas Grey, "Full many a flower is born to blush unseen and wasted its sweetness on the desert air."

But Mrs. Keaton added that it was fortunate for Big Spring that Elsie came back to teach piano here and graciously share her Liszt, Chopin, Rachmaninoff and other compositions wherever she could.

Mrs. Keaton recalled that there was a Music Club Piano Ensemble with "fifteen of us, we practiced hours at our local music store and the manager tuned all the pianos to the same pitch, then moved about three to the auditorium and tuned them to the Grand.
