

Inaugural bash starts sans Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fireworks, folk dancing and symphony music officially open Jimmy Carter's inaugural celebration tonight. It's the start of a five-day, $3-million marathon of parties, concerts and receptions.

Carter himself hasn't arrived in town, so the festivities and the celebrants will be starting without him.

Four tons of fireworks will start exploding at 7:30 tonight on the Mall, which stretches from the Washington Monument to the Capitol.

But zero-degree temperatures are predicted, so those who want to witness the predominantly green and white display — Carter's campaign colors — will be wise to wear long-johns.

Music from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" and Beethoven's Ninth Symphony will be featured at a dual concert at the Kennedy Center by the National Symphony Orchestra and the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, starting at 7 p.m.

The American Folk Dance and Concert, a potpourri that includes Indian and Cajun music, begins at 9 p.m. at the railroad station, now known as the National Visitor's Center.

At 8 a.m. Wednesday, there will be a 35-minute inter-faith prayer service at the Lincoln Memorial. The service, conducted by the pastor of Carter's Baptist church in Plains, Ga., will include Carter's sister, Ruth Stapleton, and the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr.

Carter, who arrives in town late Wednesday, will miss receptions for his vice president, Walter Mondale. But he plans to attend the "New Spirit Inaugural Concert" at the Kennedy Center on Wednesday night. Only 2,000 VIPs are invited, but the show will be televised by CBS.

Carter and his family will spend inauguration eve in Blair House, the official guest quarters across the street from the White House.

Thursday morning, he goes to the White House for coffee with President Ford and Mrs. Ford, Mondale and Mrs. Mondale and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mrs. Rockefeller.

They will then go to the Capitol for the 11:30 swearing-in ceremony, the last function Ford attends as President. The Constitution calls for his term to expire precisely at noon on Thursday, Jan. 20.

The Fords will go from the Capitol to Andrews Air Force Base where a plane from the presidential fleet will take them to Monterey, Calif.

At the same time, the newly installed President Carter will be escorted up Pennsylvania Avenue — "The Street of the Presidents" — in a motorcade led by a man who wanted to be president himself, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, grand marshal of the parade.

Then there will be seven inaugural parties that night. Carter and Mondale will make appearances at each. The seventh party was added Monday in an effort to accommodate an extra 5,000 revelers.

SITE OF GILMORE EXECUTION — Newsmen view the sandbagged chair where Gary Gilmore sat to face a firing squad shortly after dawn at the Utah State Prison on Monday.

After bullets hit

Gilmore lingered for two minutes

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — In death, Gary Mark Gilmore got what he wanted with a speed denied him in life.

Within minutes of his execution by firing squad Monday morning, technicians were working on the body to preserve portions for medical use. By night, in compliance with his instructions, Gilmore's body had been cremated at a funeral home in Provo.

Family sources said the ashes would be spread by airplane over Provo, where Gilmore lived, and nearby Springville, where his girl friend Nicole Barrett lived before she was confined to a mental hospital.

Gilmore's pituitary gland, eyes, kidneys and liver were removed for possible transplant or study, said a brief statement from the University of Utah Medical Center.

But the kidneys, "because of the nature of Mr. Gilmore's death, are not medically usable for transplantation," the statement said. "At least one of them can be used for medical research."

Thus ended the ordeal for the 36-year-old killer who had cold-bloodedly executed two young men, then demanded he in turn be put to death for his crimes.

He had fought all attempts to save him from death and was angered and frustrated with the dramatic last-ditch middle-of-the-night events that pushed his execution 18 minutes past the scheduled time of sunrise and made him the first person executed in the United States in nearly 10 years.

He did not die immediately. Dr.

U.S. servicemen death toll hits 44

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Divers pulled 20 more bodies from the waters of Barcelona harbor today, raising the known death toll to 44 in the capsizing of a U.S. Navy launch filled with American sailors and Marines.

U.S. officials said a search for six servicemen still missing would continue until all hope is lost.

The launch flipped over after colliding with a Spanish freighter early Monday. More than 50 survivors swam to shore or were fished from the harbor, and 30 of them were hospitalized with injuries, about a half-dozen in serious condition.

The search by Spanish frogmen and a U.S. Navy demolition team was stopped at sunset, to be resumed Wednesday. Navy officials said the divers were hampered by cold and the murkiness of the water.

Navy officials had said earlier that some of the men missing from roll calls might be on leave and not aboard the launch. But the recovery of more bodies dimmed their hopes.

The Navy said 20 other servicemen still were unaccounted for more than 24 hours after the launch turned over in a collision with a Spanish freighter. Navy officials said earlier that 12 of the missing might not have been aboard the boat.

Spanish frogmen and a Navy underwater demolition team worked in shifts as the search continued.

More than 50 survivors swam to shore or were fished from the harbor, and about 30 of them were reported injured.

Cmdr. John Dewey, spokesman for the U.S. 6th Fleet, said that 24 bodies recovered Monday had all been identified. The Navy was expected to announce the names of the dead and injured in Washington today.

In a recent interview, Jurek told The AP, "I know I will get a stay. I won't be executed. I'll get out of here someday."

Jurek was convicted in February 1974 for the August 1973 slaying of Wendy Adams, the daughter of a law enforcement officer in the Southeast Texas town of Cuero.

The child's body, clad in a two-piece bathing suit, was found floating face down in the Guadalupe river several days after she disappeared from a

Coahoma man hurt in wreck

STANTON — James Earl Neill of Coahoma is in guarded condition at Medical Center Hospital in Odessa from head injuries received in a one-vehicle turnover Monday at 10:30 p.m.

Neill apparently lost control of his pickup which turned over at the exchange road between the North Service Road off IS 20 and FM 829.

He was rushed immediately to Odessa Medical Center upon removal from the vehicle, according to officers of the sheriff's department in Stanton.

Krueger trying to deregulate natural gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Krueger, D-Tex., said today the country faces a natural gas crisis and that he is reintroducing legislation to deregulate the price of natural gas.

Deregulation, said Krueger in a news conference, would stimulate exploration and increase the supply. His bill would also allow emergency purchases of gas by interstate pipeline companies to increase their supplies.

Last year the Senate approved deregulation, but the proposal failed in the House by a vote of 205 to 201.

The fixed federal price for so-called new natural gas being purchased for interstate shipment is now $1.42 per thousand cubic feet. The price for gas bought and shipped within a state now ranges as high as $1.70. The intrastate price is approximately what the pipeline companies would be paying for their emergency supplies of gas.

city park where she had gone to swim with friends.

During the trial, the prosecution entered as evidence a statement from Jurek saying he had taken the girl from the park to Hell's Gate river bridge, about four miles away. The statement said the girl began to scream and Jurek choked her until she fell to the ground unconscious. Then he threw her into the river.

Jurek, while on death row, filed a lawsuit challenging the Texas death penalty. It was this challenge, along with similar ones in two other states, that the high court used last July to rule that capital punishment is not necessarily cruel and unusual.

Last week attorneys for Jurek asked Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. to postpone the execution. Powell referred the request to the full court.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, while agreeing with the court's granting of an execution delay, criticized his fellow justices for imposing a filing deadline.

Marshall said, "I cannot comprehend, and emphatically dissent from, the court's decision to compel petitioner to prepare his petition . . . on an expedited basis. When human life is at stake, such haste is as unseemly as it is inappropriate."

The last person to die in the Texas electric chair was Joseph Johnson, 30, who was put to death July 30, 1964, for the slaying of a Houston man during a robbery.

The next scheduled execution in Texas is Feb. 10, when Calvin Woodkins of Marshall, Tex., is to die. Woodkins was convicted in the slaying of Jimmy Kuykendall of Marshall.

Kuykendall was abducted the day before Thanksgiving 1972, taken to a rural area, robbed, and shot three times with a small caliber weapon.

Offbeat: Perfume ban proposed

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Angered by the state General Assembly's no-smoking rule, Rep. Will Mahoney has proposed a ban on perfume in the legislature and the return of spittoons for tobacco chewers.

"I can't stand perfume unless it's $100 an ounce," Mahoney said Monday. "To people allergic to cosmetic scents, the aroma is more unhealthy than tobacco smoke," he added in a statement.

Mahoney, a Millford Republican, called for repeal of a legislative rule banning smoking in the house and senate chambers during sessions and in committee meetings and hearings. He also said he's asked legislative attorneys to prepare a measure that would put spittoons in the capitol. The receptacles for spitting tobacco juice used to be in the building but were taken out many years ago.

'Closed' base gets reprieve

(Special to the Herald)

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Judy Curtis of Cong. Omar Burleson's office said this morning that the Naval Department had confirmed the report that the Boca Chica Naval Air Station at Key West, Fla., would not be closed this year.

Rep. Dante Fascell (D-Fla.) had issued a weekend statement approved by Secretary of the Navy J. William Middendorf II saying there would be "no closure or change of status (concerning the base) . . . at this time."

There is no indication the decision originated with the Department of Defense, something that would indicate the DOD is taking a new look at its list of possible closures of military bases around the world. One of the bases which has been on the list since last March is Webb AFB of Big Spring, Tex.

Fascell warned that "the decision is no guarantee that next year the Navy won't change its mind. As far as I know, this concludes the matter, but you could have another study in 1977 or 1978."

He suggested that Key West residents "continue to seek new sources of economic development."

The Navy started a study in March 1976 into reducing operations or closing the Key West base. It had considered reducing the number of employees from 3,900 to about 700. Those reductions were originally proposed to start June 1.

Key West residents reacted much as did Big Spring area people when the Navy made its original announcement by expressing fear that the proposed cutbacks would cause serious damage to the economy in that part of Florida.

They predicted a 30 per cent drop in county school enrollment, with a loss of about 70 teaching positions and $2.2 million in education funds.

Pentagon eyes impact report

"The Environmental Impact Statement on the proposed closing of Webb Air Force Base has left the Air Training Command Headquarters and is at the Pentagon, according to Col. Harry Spannaus, wing commander at Webb.

Col. Spannaus told members of the Base-Community Council at their meeting Monday at noon that the legislative liaison operations office has the report.

The report is now to be studied by the new Secretary of the Air Force, when he is nominated and then by the new president of the United States.

J. Tom Graham, publisher of the Big Spring Herald, had earlier reported to the group in his legislative action report that "As far as we know, February 8 is a target date and an announcement could be made any time after that date."

Adolph Swartz, president of the Century Club, read a copy of a letter sent to Congressman Omar Burleson and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen by Mayor

Wade Choate asking for any help they could obtain from President Carter in regard to the final decision.

Graham also told the group that the final statement for the Richards-Gebaur Air Force base, which will be the first test case of the environmental impact study route, has now gone to the Pentagon.

There are no indications as to just how long it will take for an announcement to be made, with the change of administration.

Winter tightens stranglehold

The bitter weather — two inches of snow was reported in wide areas of Mississippi, a record 25 below was recorded today in Cincinnati — forced utilities to divert electricity and already scarce natural gas supplies from factories to home furnaces.

The Fisher Body plant in Columbus has 4,500 workers. In hard-hit Pennsylvania, where gas shortages Monday caused the closing of some steel-production units, utilities reported pressure up in gas pipelines where it had been dangerously low Monday. They said, however, some customers were still not getting enough heat. The federal Winter Navigation Board said it is considering closing the Great Lakes to shipping because of ice. An experimental program has kept lakes ships moving for more than 2 1/2 years.

Thunderbirds may show in May

There's a possibility we may get the Thunderbirds here in May. Col. Harry Spannaus told members of the Base-Community council when they met at the Officers Club at noon Monday.

Capt. Farmer also stressed that persons in the community who own dogs should again make special efforts to get rabies shots due to the sudden influx of rabies in South Texas. A report showed that more animals were vaccinated last year on base than in the community percentage-wise.

Seventeen Amtrak trains serving Chicago were canceled, and tugs had trouble navigating the Ohio River. The Ohio was totally frozen over at Cincinnati for the first time since 1963, and police at Covington, Ky., across the river, said they arrested four persons who attempted the dangerous task of walking across the frozen waterway.

Grins spread across the faces of the large crowd attending the bi-monthly session at the optimistic sound of this possibility. The colonel reported that an area fly-in will also be scheduled. Col. Spannaus also told of numerous inspection teams which have arrived at the base, who traditionally come after the first of the year. He also announced the forthcoming West Texas Kennel Show, which will be held here Saturday and which is the largest in this part of Texas.

The report also showed that many citizens have had catalytic converters and leaking gas lines checked after the council warned that they were the cause of many motor fires. Lt. Col. Ronald Miller reported on housing problems and said that the Big Spring Board of Realtors have requested a talk with the Corp of Engineers when they arrive, or if necessary sent a delegate to Fort Worth for clarification on many questions concerning upcoming regulations, if the base closes.

Two Ohio River communities remained without water after pipes or pumps froze when the temperature dropped to 12 below zero. Water was off to the 2,400 persons in Chesapeake and 300 customers in Proctorville.

Dogs and their owners are expected to begin to arrive in Big Spring Friday night for the show at Webb AFB. In other action at the council meeting, Capt. Garden City renews pact

Dr. Charles Hays reported on recreation, education and religious welfare. He reported on the successful Christmas parties and tours at local nursing homes, reported on the Officers Women's Club bingo parties at the nursing home, and a report from the school setting up free admissions for senior citizens to many school events.

Commissioner Mack Wallace illustrated how much foreign oil is costing working Americans. The commission noted that crude imports into the United States totaled 5,864,000 barrels a day for the four-week average of January 7, an increase of 1,142,000 barrels over a year ago.

GARDEN CITY — The contract of Supt. Don Stringer was renewed for another year when the school board of trustees met Monday night at the administration building. The school has made a lot of improvements in both facilities and programs since Supt. Stringer has been in Garden City and are planning more improvements in the future. Supt. Stringer said, "I have a very progressive school board at this time and we are able to accomplish a lot of things."

A possible rock concert in the city park was also discussed. It was announced that the city turned down free passes to Moss Creek Park at the recommendation of Lubbock, and Mary and Anna, both of the home; and three brothers, Jimmy Salazar of San Antonio, Rosendo Salazar of Lovington, N.M., and Raymond Salazar of Lamesa.

Wallace, the new chairman, said the United States paid $35 billion for foreign oil in 1976, which is the equivalent of $400 for each of the 88 million workers in America. He said the high cost is the result of natural resources being "improperly managed in Washington. There can be no other reason."

The board Monday night awarded the contract for painting the football field to Caldwell Electric of Big Spring on a low bid of $10,300. The board awarded the heating of the gymnasium to Scooter Mechanical of Midland on a low bid of $23,000.

Council members also viewed estimates on utilities and paving for the new city property which will climb close to the $200,000 mark. The council officially called the city election for Saturday, April 2 and agreed to allow the school district to hold their election with the city at City Hall.

Major buyers of Texas crude oil asked for 3,965,829 barrels a day next month, a decrease of 5,211 from January. Amoco Production Co. and Phillips Petroleum Co. lowered their nominations for February, with the Amoco spokesman saying it was merely an effort to get nominations more in line with actual production.

Security tightened at Webb AFB

Security has again been tightened at Webb Air Force Base. "Recent events and citizens who have been taking advantage of Webb Air Force Base and coming on the base when they have no business there has made us again tighten security," Col. Harry Spannaus told the members of the Base-Community Council.

State agencies hunt funds

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Several of Texas' more troubled or controversial state agencies carry their money requests to House subcommittees for the first time today.

The alcoholic beverage commission, banking department, treasury, good neighbor commission, Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations and the board of pardons and paroles were set for hearing.

Economy growth lags

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economy grew during the final three months of last year at the slowest rate since the end of the 1974-75 recession, the government reported today. It marked the second consecutive quarter of growth slower than necessary to cut unemployment.

The Commerce Department said the volume of Gross National Product, the total output of goods and services in the economy, grew at an annual rate of 3 per cent for October through December.

That compared to a 3.9 per cent growth rate for the third quarter of the year and was the smallest growth rate since Gross National Product, or GNP, ended five consecutive quarters of decline with a 5.6 per cent rise in the second quarter of 1975.

President Ford's economists had predicted this time last year. Most economists are projecting GNP growth in the 5 per cent to 5.5 per cent range for the current year.

Per capita disposal income for 1976 stood at $5,494 — up $432 over 1975. After adjusting that for inflation the increase amounted to 3.3 per cent.

The signal of increased demand during the fourth quarter was the growth in the volume of final sales in the economy at an annual rate of 4.8 per cent. That compared to 4.3 per cent in the previous quarter. Commerce explained that the slower growth rate in spite of stepped up final demand was largely the result of a slower accumulation of inventories by business.

Energy — Lo-Vaca sickest system in Texas?

Tanker carrying crude oil sinking

HONOLULU (AP) — A tanker carrying 3.15 million gallons of light crude oil cracked across the middle and was sinking 204 miles southeast of Midway Island in the Pacific, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

Challenger, owned by Tsakos Shipping and Trading Co., of Piraeus, South Africa, and under Liberian registry, had been en route to Japan and Venezuela with its cargo, Gilman said.

"Reports from the scene indicate it is breaking in half and some oil spillage has been seen," Gilman said.

A Coast Guard C130 aircraft flying over the scene during the rescue operation returned to Honolulu and another plane was due in the area at first light Tuesday, Gilman said.

The Honolulu-based Coast Guard cutter Mallow was diverted from another mission to the scene of the Irenes Challenger and was expected to reach there Wednesday morning, he said.

The weather in the area was reported good, with seas six to eight feet high and winds of 10 to 15 knots. The cause of the tanker's distress was not known, said Lt. Robert V. Renaud, a Coast Guard public information officer.

The Irenes Challenger incident was in the same general area where the Panamanian freighter Crown Pearl was abandoned by its 25 crewmen Sunday after the ship, with a cargo of logs, began taking on water. Those crewmen were rescued by a Swiss freighter.

At least seven Liberian-registered oil tankers have been involved in accidents in or near U.S. waters since December.

Judge will step aside for George Washington

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Defense lawyer Richard Haynes' nationwide court schedule won't delay a multimillionaire Cullen Davis' capital murder trial, Judge Tom Cave has vowed.

And neither will turtle pace on 129 pretrial motions that have all but put the brakes on the case.

But for George Washington, the judge will step aside, if even for only a day.

Davis' trial, set months ago for Feb. 21 in Cave's 213th District Court, has been changed to Feb. 22 because the county courthouse will be closed on the 21st in observance of Washington's birthday, a legal holiday for county employees.

Cave cancelled a county holiday for his courtroom employees Dec. 23 because he felt the slow-moving pretrial hearings needed another day in court.

But he said Monday he won't take away another holiday from his staff.

Haynes was in federal court at Houston Monday as a hearing of pretrial motions was resumed. Fort Worth police crime lab director Frank Shiller occupied the witness stand most of the day.

Lawyer Phil Burleson's often tedious questioning of Shiller on physical evidence ended after the crime lab director had spent several days on the stand.

Shiller spoke only generally about stains and fingerprints found on objects at the Davis mansion where two people were killed and two others were wounded Aug. 3.

Body of young fem identified

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The body of a young woman found face down in Polecat Creek last Saturday was identified Monday as Bernice Kuhlman, 20, who originally was from Canyon, Tex., but had been living and working in Tulsa for a short time.

Miss Kuhlman was employed by a local travel agency.

Police said they finally traced a Miss Kuhlman through dental records.

The nude body of Miss Kuhlman was found about noon Saturday by two hunters. Authorities said she had been raped, beaten and strangled before being thrown off the bridge.

Authorities said they did have some suspects in the case, but refused to comment further.

Valdes named director of health systems unit

Five Big Spring representatives attended the Permian Basin Health Systems Agency board of directors meeting at Terminal Monday night.

Danny Valdes, chief photographer at the Big Spring Herald, was named a board member to replace Tony Ortiz, who resigned recently. Valdes, who is a past president of the Civitan Club, a YMCA director and a member of the National Press Photographers Association, will serve as a consumer member of the board.

All board members are classified as provider, such as hospital administrators, doctors, or nurses or persons involved in the medical industry; or consumers, which are persons who use the medical industry as a customer.

The other members from Big Spring are Lanny Hamby, a consumer member and Norman Knox and Jack Powell, and Ron Cohorn, provider members.

This group operates under the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council board, which includes Harold Hall and Judge Bill Tune as members.

"Purpose of the group is to maintain and improve the health status of the residents of the Permian Basin Region over a five-year time span in accordance with local, state and federal regulations and objectives. Dr. Z. W. Hutcheson of Andrews is chairman of the group.

Weather

Light snow noted in East Texas

(By the Associated Press)

Still another norther barreled through Texas today, reinforcing predictions by some oldtimers that this winter season will go into the records as one of the roughest in years.

Bitter winds propelled arctic air southward. Dallas police reported gusts up to 60 miles per hour as the weather front raced downstate.

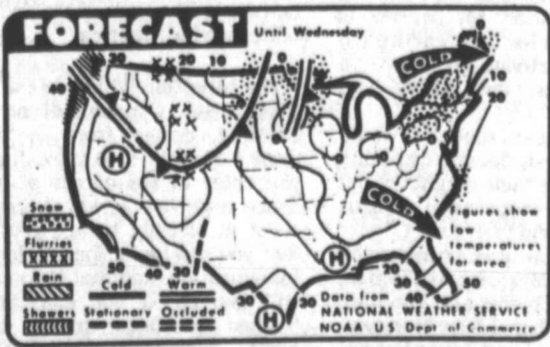

There was even some light snow in East Texas today from around Henderson and Longview into Louisiana.

Near dawn the forward edge of the frontal system stretched along an east-west line linking Lufkin, San Antonio and El Paso. Low clouds moved in a band immediately behind it and skies were clearing quickly in its wake.

Temperatures dropped to freezing or below in most areas, and early morning marks in the semitropical Lower Rio Grande Valley skidded as low as 32 degrees at Brownsville. Among the colder spots near daybreak were Wichita Falls, 14, Amarillo and Mineral Wells, 17, Childress 16 and Marfa 18. Readings elsewhere ranged up to 43 at San Antonio and 44 at Austin.

Top marks Monday went as high as 66 at Presidio in the Big Bend of West Texas.

Forecasts promised mostly clear skies and overnight temperatures as low as the teens in all sections of the state.

WEATHER FORECAST — Very cold weather is forecast today for the East. Mild weather is expected from Washington state into the northern Plains. Warm weather is forecast on the Pacific coast. Snow flurries and snow are forecast in the snow states from the Plains to the Northeast.

Farm

Weevils $3 million 'enemy'

Boll weevils destroyed 10 per cent of the Howard County cotton crop and may have cost farmers as much as $3 million, said County Entomologist James Lee Tuesday.

Lee, speaking to the monthly agriculture breakfast at Cokers Restaurant, said that when fields were first infested during July, 6 per cent of them were infested with boll weevils.

This figure climbed to 34 per cent in August and 68 per cent in September, he said, but most of the damage was done to the early infested fields.

The infestation was much less in Martin and Glasscock Counties, he said.

The entomologist has just completed his first year in this area in which he and others surveyed 27 fields for a complete insect check and made 348 spot checks for boll weevils alone.

Some cotton fields in Howard County had an 80 to 90 per cent yield reduction because of the insect, he said.

Lee placed 30 boll weevil lure traps in selected areas of Howard County and a similar amount in Martin County. The traps, used only to determine insect population, caught the following number of boll weevils by month:

HOWARD COUNTY	MARTIN COUNTY
June	203
July	0
August	202
Sept.	924
Oct.	940
TOTAL	2,290

Lee said that while the dollar damage was hard to figure in dry land farming, he estimated that $2½ to $3 million would be a good "ballpark" figure for losses this year to cotton bolls.

He said no one program could provide the total answer to the weevil problem for Howard County, but after this first survey year the county is beginning to get a pretty good handle on where the weevils are.

The entomologist also told farmers the results of a survey done to determine how many boll weevils were going into hibernation for the winter.

Eleven samples were taken, he said, and nine of them contained the insect. In a typical eastern Howard County wintering site, he said that the sampling had uncovered four to five weevils per square yard. This would translate into 16,000 boll weevils per acre.

"One thing we've got going for us this year," he said, "is that we've had a good hard winter. A cold, dry winter does a pretty good job on them. It can reduce their numbers significantly."

Sampling in the spring will determine how many of the insects survived the winter, he said, but he expects the infestation next year to be about equal to the 6 per cent which Howard County began with in 1976.

Hidalgo income tops

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Hidalgo County edged out Deaf Smith in 1976 for the title of the Texas county reporting the most agricultural cash receipts, according to the Department of Agricultural Extension Service.

Preliminary figures gathered from county agents by Charles K. Baker, general marketing specialist, shows that Hidalgo had an estimated income in cash receipts from marketing of crops and livestock of about $196 million, compared to $161 million for Deaf Smith. The figures do not include government payments.

In 1975 the situation was reversed with Deaf Smith, which gets most of its farm income from cotton and grain sorghum crops had $108,860,000 in receipts to $175,652,000 for Hidalgo, where the key crops are grain sorghum and vegetables.

The other top 10 counties in 1976, according to Baker's preliminary figures, are Parmer, third with $149 million, mostly from wheat, corn and grain sorghum; Hale, $138 million from major crops of grain sorghum, cotton and wheat; Castro, $133 million mostly from corn, wheat and grain sorghum; Lubbock, $105 million from major crops of cotton and grain sorghum; Wharton, about $105 million from grain sorghum, rice and soybeans; Gaines, $101 million, mostly from cotton and grain sorghum; Lamb, $92 million, mostly from cotton and grain sorghum, and in 10th place, Gonzales, $90 million, mostly from grain sorghum, wheat, oats and poultry and hogs.

Williamson County in Central Texas is a leader in the rich agricultural area of that region.

According to preliminary figures, Williamson county had a cash agricultural income in 1976 of $42,725,800 compared with $34,540,000 for 1975. It ranked 28th in the state. The field crop income of more than $30 million comes mostly from grain sorghum and cotton plus another $11.9 million from livestock and leasing.

Other Central Texas counties include 1976 income of about $33 million from Bell County, mostly from grain sorghum and livestock products; Travis County $18,360,000, most from livestock income plus $8,490,000 from field crops. Bastrop County had $16,017,000, mostly from livestock.

No man-to-man transmission

I'm sorry. On Dec. 3, I advised, even urged, readers to have their swine flu shots. It certainly appears I was wrong. Not only has there not been an outbreak of swine flu, but the immunization program has been suspended by the government while it investigates whether the vaccine could be a factor in causing a certain type of temporary paralysis in isolated cases.

WHAT HAPPENED? The federal government rushed through this crash program to prevent an outbreak of swine flu. It cost millions. I asked Dr. Stuart I. Draper, director of the City-County Health Unit at 201 Lancaster which had been administering the program in Big Spring.

There have been extremely few cases of swine flu; in fact, two, he said. One of those involved a man who kept six or eight pigs. Thus far, there have been no man-to-man transmission of the illness this year.

The types of flu which have been breaking out is the Hong Kong B and the Victoria A strains, but these have not been major problems in this area.

According to Dr. Draper, the heavy flu season in Big Spring is normally at the end of January, so this area should be starting an outbreak of whatever will hit here.

However, thus far it has been light in terms of flu cases.

Dr. Draper speculated that the swine flu shots may have done some good.

IN ANY PROGRAM of this type, he said, the person receiving the vaccine gets some nonspecific protection, and this could have contributed to the light flu season Big Spring is having.

The health center director felt it was unlikely that the immunization program would be resumed unless an epidemic of swine flu should break out.

Whatever happens, the swine flu crash program will probably not go down in history as one of our federal government's wisest moves or greatest achievements.

Boondoggle (a useless or wasted activity) may be the word historians use.

Unenviable record

Around the rim

Troy Bryant

For all you record breakers out there, here's one you can shoot at:

—"The Guinness Book of World Records lists Roy Sullivan, a 61-year-old forest ranger in the Shenandoah National Forest, as 'the only living man to be struck by lightning four times.'"

"Individuals wishing to top his feat will now have a slightly harder time of it. On August 7, Sullivan stepped out of his park service truck along Skyline Drive near Waynesboro, and was struck a fifth time.

"I ACTUALLY saw the lightning shoot out of the cloud this time," Sullivan said, "and it was coming straight for me. The bolt struck me right on the head, set my hair on fire, traveled down my left arm and down my left leg, knocking off my shoe but not untying the lace."

"Sullivan poured a five-gallon can of water from the truck onto his head to put out the fire and ease the second-degree burns. He then drove to a ranger's home nearby for assistance."

"Sullivan was first struck by lightning in 1942, when a bolt clipped off a toenail. In 1968, lightning burned off his eyebrows and knocked him unconscious. In 1970, he was struck again, and was burned on the shoulders. In 1972, a bolt burned his hair off."

"Sullivan said that prior to the most recent incident he dreamed that he was going to be struck again. He also admitted that after being struck for the fourth time, he began to feel that a supernatural force was out to get him."

"He now reports that following the fifth incident, he had another dream in which he was informed that he would not be struck again.

"GOD SPARED me for some good purpose," he said. "I know what it is, but it's between God and me, and nobody but us will ever know."

And for those who are more concerned with consumer protection: —Richard Arnold, a farmer in Russell, Iowa, has sued Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., and Hawkeye Breeders Service, Inc., for $250,000, claiming that he was blinded by some bull semen which they produced.

"In his suit, Arnold contends that he lost the sight in his right eye when a 'dangerous and defective' bottle of frozen bull semen he was thawing exploded, sending its contents into his face."

"ARNOLD SAYS a small amount of semen perforated the cornea of his right eye, penetrating the eyeball and causing an irreparable loss of vision."

And, finally for the sports minded: —"The annual boat races in Alice Springs, Australia, will not be held this year because there is water in the Todd River. The highly competitive event traditionally consists of a sort of footrace between two-man crews who stand inside bottomless boats, grip the gunwales, and dash around a course marked out on the normally dry river bed. Unexpectedly heavy rains have flooded the river with three feet of water, dooming the regatta."

Well, that's something for almost everyone. If you're not satisfied, cheer up. I could have written about nematodes.

Tells all

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — William "Fish-bait" Miller, the guardian of many Washington confidences as House Doorkeeper for 24 years, has written a tell-all book. The news should send dozens of notables scurrying for the storm cellars.

The frog-throated Fishbait, who used to proclaim to the House the arrival of presidents and potentates, became one of its most colorful characters. But he lost favor in 1975 and was voted out of office.

HE WASTED NO time brooding over the ignominy. Instead, he got together with ghostwriter Frances Spatz Leighton and began work on his memoirs. He is now hiding out in Atlanta, waiting for the roof to fall in when the book is published later this year.

Some of Fishbait's recollections are so torrid that Prentice-Hall's lawyers are still debating whether to strike out the names. But here are a few highlights that have been cleared:

—While Richard Nixon occupied the White House, he traveled up to Capitol Hill every year to lunch with key congressmen. Fishbait swears that one luncheon was "bugged" by the president. He wanted to find out what the congressmen out of his earshot were saying about him, alleges Fishbait. (The Secret Service is unaware of any such recordings, a spokesman said).

—Fishbait even reveals the deepest secret of his idol, the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn. It was always thought that Rayburn, after a short, disastrous marriage, preferred politics to pretty women. But according to Fishbait, Rayburn was deeply in love for years with a mature, secret mistress. Every time they had a tryst in their love nest off the Capitol ground, recalls Fishbait, Rayburn would return positively glowing.

—But the champion lovermaker, as Fishbait tells it, was the late, flamboyant Rep. Frank Boykin (D-Ala.). His campaign motto was "Everything is made for love," and he practiced what he preached. Fishbait says Boykin was once caught by a relative in a hotel bed with two beauties. Unabashed, Boykin engaged the ladies in casual conversation as they got dressed.

—Fishbait also confides that a number of homosexual senators and congressmen led clandestine lives without detection on Capitol Hill. But apparently, their names will be removed by the lawyers.

The irrepressible Fishbait drops names on every page of the book. He tells how he served as a tipster for young Jackie Bouvier when she was a photographer-reporter for the defunct Washington Times-Herald. But he got in trouble with the man she married, then-Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), by introducing him in the middle of a big fund-raiser. Kennedy complained that the goof brought the affair to an early climax and cost donations.

WHEN HUBERT HUMPHREY was vice president, he once became irritated with Fishbait for introducing him as "Gabby." Earlier, President Harry Truman invited Fishbait to the White House. The bluntpoken Truman took the occasion to berate Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Fishbait tells what he thinks of the congressmen he was obliged to please to keep his job, ranging from ex-Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) (brutal, insulting) to ex-Rep. Frank Chelf (D-Ky.) (a decent, kindly man).

Oh yes, we offended Fishbait terribly by reporting that he was collecting a private percentage on the sanitary napkins vended on Capitol Hill. He angrily denies it, but we stick by the story.

MITCHELL'S WOES — Ex-

Attorney General John Mitchell, who selected "law and order" as the main theme of the 1968 presidential campaign, departed Washington not only with an eight-year prison sentence hanging over his head, but with a $26,093 tax debt at the Treasury.

A FEDERAL tax lien has been filed against Mitchell in both Washington and New York. The records specify that he owes the government $26,090 for 1973 and an additional $33 for 1974.

The Internal Revenue Service slapped Mitchell with an assessment in August, 1975, but couldn't collect the money. The lien was filed against him last March.

The embattled Mitchell is appealing his Watergate conviction and disputing the tax bill. Through his attorney, Plato Cacheris, the nation's former chief law enforcement officer told us the tax claim is "in dispute."

"They think they're right," Cacheris quoted him as saying. "I think I'm right."

OH—POSTSCRIPT—A United States senator played an important backstage role in the decision by some Arab states to hold down oil prices.

James Abourezk (D-S.D.) visited the Middle East shortly after the November elections for the explicit purpose of asking Arab officials not to increase prices.

Tots and tics often go together

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Over the past year my 10-year-old son has developed some nervous habits — constant blinking, twisting his mouth, sniffing his nose, etc. So far he has been able to overcome these habits, but he replaces one with another. Recently he has begun a new one, which I consider serious. It's hard to describe. He makes an odd noise with his throat.

He sleeps peacefully at night with no breathing problems. Please shed some light on this. I am very worried. He seems normal in other respects, and is average in school. —S.R.

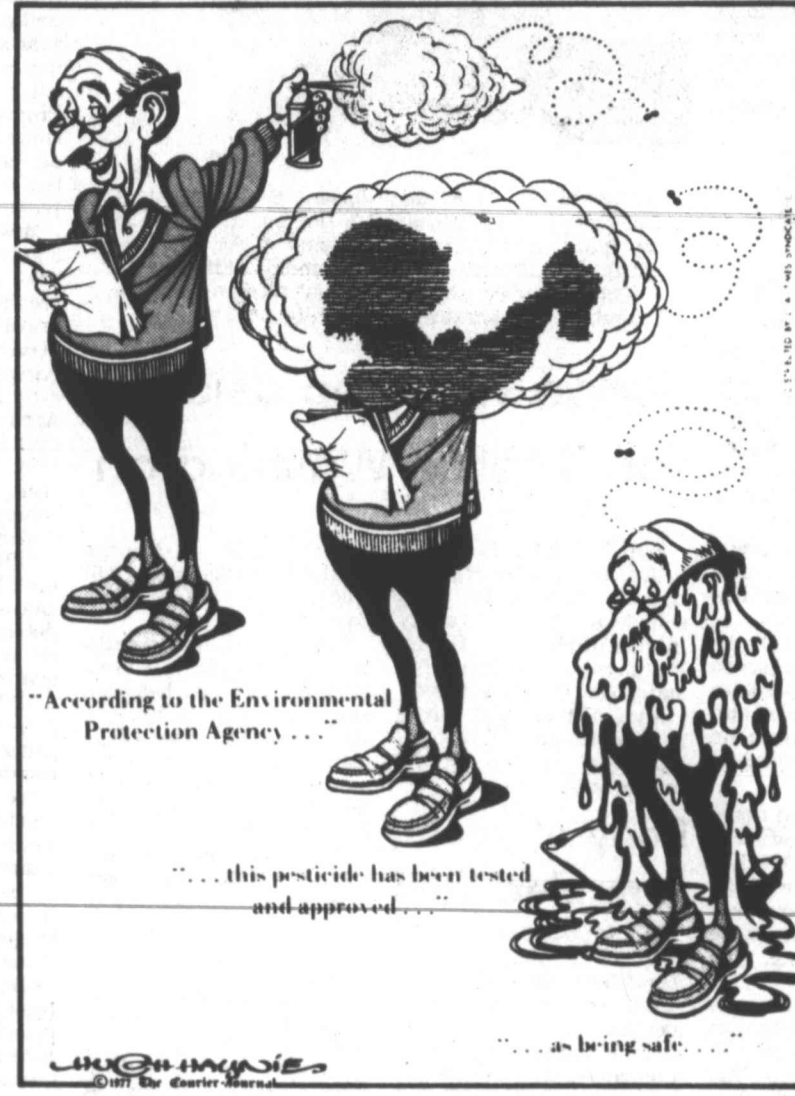

Tics are spasmodic movements made involuntarily by muscles normally under voluntary control, and this seems to fit your description of your son. I doubt there is anything serious going on. While tics can occur at any age, they are most common in children between 5 and 12 years old. I have seen some real dillies.

Tics usually appear, then subside, although the situation must be watched. Some can persist into adulthood. They are found chiefly in children with nervous personalities or some psychological problem. The fact that they do not occur at night, when he is sleeping, is an indication that they are not serious symptoms.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What would you say about a woman who says this doctor is going to cure her diabetes, and that she can stop her insulin, which has kept it under control for years? —H.F.

I would be highly suspicious, especially if this doctor didn't have proper qualifications to handle diabetes. The problem with diabetes is a defect in the pancreas, which does not produce sufficient insulin to burn up blood sugar fast enough. We don't know any way to correct this situation, which is why we call diabetes an incurable disease.

In some cases, where only a little insulin is required to control things, diet, weight loss and some of the oral medicines may take the place of insulin. But this is not the usual case. Most patients who require insulin will

WASHINGTON — It is no secret that many of the people who will work with President Jimmy Carter have never been to Washington before. They will have to learn the ropes on how this town operates over a period of time. But I think someone should warn Carter appointees about a few of the things to beware of.

WHEN SOMEONE OFFERS you a free trip to South Korea and sticks a plain white envelope for expenses in your pocket, do some serious Seoul-searching before accepting it.

If a Washington vice president of Multi-National Co. tells you he knows a nice girl who has nothing to do with her afternoons—or evenings—make certain she is not writing her memoirs.

When the president of a major aircraft company invites you to the corporation's hunting lodge for the weekend he isn't just shooting ducks.

If the Pentagon offers you a ride in their B-1 bomber, it doesn't mean they're trying to save you the air fare to Atlanta.

There is no such thing as "free lunch" at the Sans Souci.

The first thing to do when you get to Washington is find a literary agent. The second thing is to buy a four-year diary and fill it every day with vignettes about the mistakes made by the people you work with in the Administration. It is never too early to start writing your book.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: I am a mother of three small children. Last night my husband and I went to a local theater to see "Wilderness Family" a 'G' rated movie. The theater was full and there were many children in the audience. One 4-year-old girl sat beside me.

Before the movie started they showed previews of movies coming soon. One of these previews was "The Sailor Who Fell from Grace With the Sea." The previews of this movie contained mainly nude or love scenes one of which was a full length nude scene of both Sarah Miles and the co-starring male. The child beside me asked her mother what they were doing and why they had no clothes on.

I was very disturbed by this incident as many people are by preview nudity. I feel I have to at least express how I feel. What possible good does a rating system accomplish if nudity is shown in the previews?

Theaters who do this are unfair to their audience by showing offensive scenes to people who are expecting to see good clean entertainment.

Theaters like the one we attended make it even harder for parents to find decent things for their children to see. Couldn't cartoons be shown in place of these previews at 'G' and 'GP' rated shows?

I think American mothers would like to raise honest, decent, Christian children who love their neighbors but we need help and cooperation. Help us make a better world to live in.

Dear Editor: As you know, several Texans will be assuming new positions of broad national responsibility in Washington. Dr. Ray Marshall of the University of Texas at Austin has been chosen by Governor Carter as Labor Secretary; Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth has been elected House Majority Leader. Charles Duncan of Houston has been nominated as Deputy Secretary of Defense, and still other Texans are being spoken of as likely candidates for high positions in the new Administration.

I am writing now on behalf of the Texas Congressional Delegation and Governor Briscoe to invite those people from our state who are coming to Washington for the Inauguration to meet these distinguished citizens of our state. If you will be in Washington, we would like you to have the opportunity to get to know these people, if you do not already, for we are sure that in the years ahead all of us will be hearing much more about them. Your questions and suggestions to these leaders will assist them in doing a better job for America.

The reception will be in the Caucus Room, 345 Cannon House Office Building, across from the Capitol, from 4:30 until 6:00 p.m. Jan. 20. If you enter at the corner of Independence and New Jersey Avenues, the room is directly before you. I hope that you will be in Washington for the Inauguration, and that if you are, you will join us. If you can, and have further questions, please call my press secretary in Washington, Melinda Mendenhall at (202) 225-4236, and she will be glad to assist you.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Can you give me some guidance on judging other people? My husband and I don't want to judge others, but does the Bible teach that we should just overlook problems? —Mrs. E.M.

DEAR MRS. M.: Jesus said, "Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with that judgement ye judge, ye shall be judged" (Matthew 7:1, 2). The Bible stresses that we are not to judge, because God alone is the ultimate judge. Why is this? For one thing, He alone has a perfect standard of justice. In addition, He alone knows the hidden actions of each of us, and He alone knows our true motives. "It is the Lord who judges me. Therefore, judge nothing before the appointed time; wait until the Lord comes. He will bring to light what is hidden in darkness and will expose the motives of men's hearts." (I Corinthians 4:4, 5, New International Version.)

However, this does not mean that we are to be undiscerning in our contacts with people and ideas. "Discerning of spirits," in fact, is one of the gifts of the Spirit mentioned in the New Testament (I Corinthians 12:10). We are called upon to discern truth from error, as well as to discern truth from wrong in the actions of people. Jesus, for example, condemned the false beliefs and practices of His own day, as did Paul and others.

What the Bible condemns is a judging spirit in which we set ourselves up in a superior way over others. We must examine our motives. Are we simply tearing someone else down (perhaps even falsely)? Or are we concerned to help them become more mature in their Christian faith and life?

Certainly a good guideline is the statement of Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount: "How can you say to your brother, 'Let me take the speck out of your eye,' when all the time there is a plank in your own eye? You hypocrite, first take the plank out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother's eye" (Matthew 7:45, New International Version).

At least 80 die in train wreck

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Police estimate that more than 80 people were killed today in the wreckage of a commuter train that jumped its tracks 20 miles outside Sydney, crashed into a support station for a high-way overpass and brought the 45-ton bridge and several automobiles down on two crowded coaches.

Officials said 95 persons were injured, many of them critically.

After 13 bodies had been removed from the wreckage, police Supt. George Marshall said there was little chance any of those still trapped in the two coaches were alive.

"We believe there may be as many as 70 to 80 people dead in there," he said.

The train came from Mount Victoria, 50 miles northwest of Sydney, and was crowded with people bound for work in the city. The wreck occurred at 8:12 a.m.

"It's smashed like match-wood," said a man who staggered from the leading car. "We were upside down, inside out and then the carriage burst like a bloody sardine tin."

Nine hours later, cranes and other lifting equipment had been unable to move the bridge. Police said it might be Wednesday before this was accomplished and all the bodies were removed.

High-voltage power lines fell with the bridge, increasing the danger to any survivors in the wreckage and rescue workers.

Medical teams crawled into narrow spaces to operate on trapped persons

Texas Rangers enter probe of missing grain dealer

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Rangers have entered an investigation into the disappearance of North Texas grain dealer Robert Johnson, who reportedly fell into the Gulf of Mexico from a pleasure boat earlier this month.

ROBERT JOHNSON

Jim Peters of the Rangers' Corpus Christi office said Monday that he expects to go back over the case with Port Aransas Constable Ben Cash.

Cash returned over the weekend from Belize in Central America, where he said he made inquiries about the whereabouts of Johnson.

Johnson vanished Jan. 3 and his body has not been found.

The 41-year-old man cashed checks totaling $100,000 in Corpus Christi before he disappeared, and was believed to have more than $3 million in life inurance.

Farmers from three states have presented scale tickets for at least 550,000 bushels of wheat that have not been found by state officials in Johnson elevators.

Meanwhile, in Wichita Falls, R.T. Williams of the Texas Department of Agriculture said his men are still trying to determine the exact amount of missing grain. Williams added that his investigators were cooperating with the bankruptcy receiver appointed to look into the Johnson affairs.

Cash said he and his deputy, Charles Titus, visited Belize primarily as a vacation.

Asked what he had learned there, Cash said, "Nothing, if you're talking about the (Johnson) case." Cash said he talked with the chief constable in Belize, who told him a man named Robert Johnson and fitting Johnson's description visited in Belize last November.

Over the weekend Nueces County Probate Judge Max Bennett refused a request for a Johnson death certificate that had been asked by Fort Worth lawyer George Carlton, representing Johnson's estate. Bennett said the "totality of the circumstances" and his belief that enough time has not elapsed since Johnson's disappearance prompted his decision not to issue the certificate.

Ford to ask funds for F16s

FORT WORTH (AP) — President Ford has agreed to ask Congress for funds to construct 1,388 F16 fighter planes—more than double the number previously authorized, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today.

In a copyrighted story the newspaper said Defense Department officials and representatives of the Air Force are expected to justify formally the increased production schedule at a hearing before the Senate Armed Services Committee early next month.

Sen. John Tower of Texas, the ranking Republican on the committee, confirmed that General Dynamics-Fort Worth will be asked to construct the additional aircraft, a move that would extend the life of the contract up to 15 years.

A General Dynamics spokesman said Monday that company has received no word from the Air Force on the increase, but "it certainly sounds like it would be good news."

He noted, however, that the original order for the F16 had been for "at least" 650 of the fighter planes.

"There's never been any doubt that the order would go up," the spokesman said.

The company refused comment on a possible extended production run or the hiring of additional employees.

In a related move, Los Angeles (AP) — The parents of baby twins who take turns portraying Archie Bunker's grandson on television's "All in the Family" program are suing for $2.5 million over production of a doll named for the character their children portray.

Superior Court officials said Monday that Steven and Dara Draeger filed the suit and also asked for an injunction to halt marketing of "Joey Stivic Dolls" by the Ideal Toy Co. of New York.

Their sons, Jason Charles and Justin Steven, are just over a year old.

The suit charges defendants Tandem Productions, Ideal Toys and Marvin Glass Associates with breach of contract.

The defendants were not immediately available for comment on the suit.

Editor will call local square dance

The Big Spring Squares are hosting a square dance tonight at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Building on Howard College campus with Stan Burdick as guest caller.

STAN BURDICK

Burdick, who is from Sandusky, Ohio, is thoroughly involved in numerous aspects of modern western square dancing. He is editor and publisher of the best known square dance magazine in America and travels many miles to call square dances.

On Monday, he called a square dance in Corpus Christi and the previous night in Los Alamos, N.M. While in Big Spring, he will be the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Frenchy Stewart. They are the vice presidential couple of the state square dance association.

Stan and his wife, Cathie combine to edit the "American Square Dance." This national publication is taken by many square dancers, callers and leaders and is in its 32nd year of publication.

The square dancers are especially enthused about the fact that there will be square dancing at the presidential inauguration this week for the first time in American history. "Square dancing is finally becoming the American dance," Mrs. Stewart said here this week.

Burdick is also a trainer of callers, averaging one clinic per month for meeting with calling groups throughout the United States and Canada.

The public is invited to watch the square dancers perform here tonight. Burdick, who will be calling, has also published several books on the subject and is a square dance cartoonist and illustrator.

The caller has also been recorded on a dozen square dance discs including Red Boot, Grenn and top labels.

In fact, if it's anything to do with square dancing, Burdick has probably tried it.

Practitioner program

SAN ANTONIO — Mrs. Peggy Malone, Big Spring, has completed the year-long Family Nurse Practitioner program at The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio School of Nursing.

Students in the program, all of whom must be registered nurses with clinical experience, spend four months on the San Antonio campus in classroom work. The balance of the year is spent in a preceptorship, working under the supervision of a physician.

Mrs. Malone spent her preceptorship as a volunteer with Dr. J.D. Wilson, USAF Hospital, Webb AFB.

Mrs. Malone's husband is Edward Malone, instructor pilot with the 83rd Squadron at Webb.

The sun is the most powerful source of energy known, if only it can be harnessed. Someday, we hope, widespread solar-generated electricity will be a reality.

Sunshine is free. So why aren't we using it to make your electricity?

Sure, sunshine is free. But right now the equipment needed to generate electricity with it is very expensive. It will be years before solar power can provide large amounts of electricity at reasonable prices.

To hasten that day, Texas Electric participates in and supports a national solar energy development program.

Meanwhile, we have to make your electricity with fuels available now. That's why we're building lignite coal and nuclear power plants.

While this means electricity will have to cost more, it also means we'll be able to make sure you continue having the electricity you need.

Electricity. You count on it today. We're working to keep it that way.

Never too old

with Marj Carpenter

"You Are Never Too Old to Start Again." This is the motto that hangs in the home of Ky Ven Nguyen. Sometimes, he is called Nguyen Ven Ky.

Either way, he has an appropriate motto. This Vietnamese, who is in his 40s just completed the first half of his nursing training at Howard College. Saturday night when the other nursing students were capped, he was pinned.

He not only has had to conquer English, he has had to conquer scientific nursing terms. The days were not long enough for all he has wanted to learn.

In his bedroom at night, he kept a chalk board and would write on the board the terms he was trying to learn and would lie in bed at night studying the chalk board until he fell asleep.

This is the only way he could keep up with his English-speaking fellow students. Ky is educated in his own country. The reason that he had to leave Vietnam in such a hurry that he could not even go home and get his family was that he was a major, an ordinance specialist and also had published several books.

These were the kind of people who were quickly eliminated by the North Vietnamese, so Ky knew that he had no choice but to leave.

He had made a mistake. He just did not think that Saigon was going to fall and had made no early preparations to leave. His sister and her husband and children had been planning for weeks and they left and went to Big Spring, sponsored by the Joe Mathews family here.

Ever since that time, Ky has tried to get his family out of Vietnam. He has written to the Red Cross in Geneva, Switzerland, to the State Department and to President Gerald Ford. Ky admits, however, that something must be done about additional information about those Americans Missing in Action before diplomatic negotiations can resume.

The Mathews family have certainly given their all as sponsors. They originally took five refugees from Abilene a couple of years ago and kept the couple and their children, who were four, five and six in their home until they could get settled.

During the second month of that time, the woman they were keeping in their home heard from her two brothers, who were in New Orleans. One of these was Ky.

They had a real bad experience in Louisiana and were wanting to come to Big Spring. The Mathews helped them come and eventually helped all seven of the Vietnamese get settled.

Major Ky left his wife and five children back in Vietnam. Of course he is lonely and worried and constantly trying to find a way to bring them to America.

In the meantime, he is staying in close contact with everybody concerned. He is working night and day so that he can make a good living for them if he can eventually bring them here. "I know they understand why I left. I would be dead if I had stayed," Major Ky explains.

He investigated what route to take in learning a new profession and chose nursing because of the demand for nurses.

And Ky, who is plagued with problems of making a living, learning a new language, learning a new profession and constantly attempting to bring his family to America — still says, "You Are Never Too Old to Start Again."

Rockefeller will bid farewell to public life

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a brief career in the office he once called "standby equipment," Nelson A. Rockefeller is ready to bid farewell to public life.

The vice president makes his farewell address to the Senate today.

When Rockefeller leaves office on Thursday, it will mark the end of an 18-year period — with one brief interruption — in which he has been a national political figure, first as governor of New York and then, after a few months in private life, as vice president.

During most of that time, the office Rockefeller wanted most was the presidency. He often said he had no desire to be No. 2, but he finally did agree to become the appointed vice president to Gerald Ford.

Rockefeller recalled in a recent interview with The Associated Press that in 1960, Richard M. Nixon had offered him the vice presidential nomination and he had turned it down.

He said he told Nixon he considered the job standby equipment "except in a time of crisis."

Why did he accept the job when Ford offered it?

"I did it because we were in a constitutional crisis and I was delighted to help, if I could, in a very small way and, of course, the function of the vice president is to have somebody there with the capacity to be president should anything happen to the president, that's the only real function."

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Do you need a lawyer? Legal services at very reasonable fees."

That advertisement headline and the information that followed on legal rates charged by a Phoenix law clinic could shake an entire profession.

The Supreme Court was to hear arguments today that the legal profession's traditional taboo against advertising violates both the First Amendment right of free speech and federal antitrust laws.

The taboo was shaken Monday in Lansing, Michigan, where the state supreme court approved a state bar association plan that substantially expands lawyers' rights to advertise.

The Michigan plan allows lawyers to put their fees for an initial conference, age, experience, office hours, fluency in foreign languages, and areas of specialization in the telephone directory, providing the local phone companies agree.

That plan applies only to Michigan, however. In other states, bar association rules, backed by the courts, limit lawyers to putting their names, addresses and telephone numbers in the phone book.

Two Phoenix attorneys, John R. Bates and Van O'Steen, knew perfectly well the controversy they were about to stir when they placed their ad in the Arizona Republic's Feb. 22, 1976 editions. They objected to the professional bans against advertising and thought the time was right for a head-on assault.

The two lawyers run a legal clinic "consciously designed to serve persons of low or moderate income — those now served least," their appeal of a censure by the Arizona Supreme Court stated.

Widespread information concerning their clinic was essential, they felt, and advertising thus was necessary.

The Arizona Bar, relying on canons of ethics backed by the American Bar Association, filed charges against the attorneys.

The state bar said the two had violated the Arizona Supreme Court's disciplinary rule against advertising by lawyers in media of general public circulation. The bar urged suspension for six months, but the state court reduced the penalty to a censure.

The Justice Department, long a foe of such an advertising ban, has intervened on the side of Bates and O'Steen.

"Such a ban ... is fundamentally incompatible with a system of free expression," Solicitor General Robert H. Bork told the high court.

Big dividends to be given

Veterans living in Texas who are insured under government life insurance policies issued during World War I, II and the Korean Conflict will receive $20,290,000 in dividends during 1977, Jack Coker, VA Regional Office Director, announced today.

The dividends are being paid to holders of World War I U.S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI), World War II National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) policies and Veterans Special Life Insurance (VSLI) policies.

Coker explained the record $403.4 million in total 1977 dividend payments is attributed chiefly to higher interest earnings on the VA-administered insurance funds.

The national average dividend being paid to 114,452 World War I veterans with participating policies is $202. Some 3.5 million World War II veterans will receive dividends averaging $104. Korean Conflict veterans with current policies total 554,382. Their average dividend is $22.

The average SGLI dividend for 5,502 World War I veterans living in Texas is $211. NSLI policyholders in Texas total 174,210. They will receive dividends averaging $107. There are 22,625 VSLI policyholders in Texas. Their average dividend is $20.

"Veterans expecting checks need not contact the VA," Coker said. "Dividends will be paid automatically on anniversary dates of the policies."

Coker explained that dividends vary depending on plan of coverage, amount of coverage, age of the insured and age of the policy.

Howard College Hawks paste plainsmen 102-75

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

How does one defeat a Region V basketball team by 27 points? First of all, turn the ball over six times in a row during the first three minutes of play, have your leading scorer bucket only 11 points, and you have it made.

If that recipe sounds a little uncharacteristic of the outcome, then follow the first quarter of relatively slow ball with three quarters of hog-wild basketball, baked at 500 degrees until the other team is thoroughly well-done.

The Howard College Hawks threw together a little culinary delight for the starving Plainsmen from Frank Phillips Monday night in Hawk Gym, and won the bake-off going away, 102-75.

Despite six consecutive HC turn-arounds in the early going, FP could not capitalize on them because of a grit tough Hawk defense. The visitors didn't find the hole in the net for four minutes, and then could only bucket enough to tie the score four times, 6-6, 8-8, 10-10 and 16-16, before the Preybirds completely ran away from them.

to close out the first quarter, and after a block by super-defender Paul Cathey and the first points of the night by big Joe Cooper, the Hawks held an 18-16 edge with 8:38 to go in the first half. The locals were never to be tied or threatened again after that point.

Brand new Hawk Russell Sublet started the pull-away. He picked off a rebound and fired it down to lonely Jim Ray, a solitary figure underneath the enemy bucket, who layed it in for an easy two. Eugene Williams added a quick three-point play, Lefall stole the ball and eased in another two, Marc Meyers added another goal, and at 3:57 in the first half, the Hawks led 32-21, and the Frank Phillips coach sent in five new players. It didn't help.

Free throws by Mike Little, and Lefall's brimstone act, which included a three-point play right before the buzzer, gave the Preybirds a 45-33 half-time bulge.

The second half saw Hawk execution of the game to top any band of volunteers from Utah. Big Paul Cathey was a team of horses underneath the basket, and big Joe Cooper started his drive toward his best night as a Hawk (21 points).

Speedy Marc Meyers, the most effective passer for the locals, handled the ball like it was an old girl friend. Lefall hit three more buckets in a row, Little played psychic defense, Sublet added a bucket, and by the time the smoke had settled, the Hawks had scored 25 points and the visitors had tallied only two, and a 70-35 lead by the Hawks with 11:20 to go in the game looked cinched even if the Hawks "laid down their hammer and died, lawd, lawd!"

But lay down they didn't. Lefall, Cathey and Cooper all had stuffs in that second half, bringing the crowd alive, and showing them the Preybirds still burned with emotion.

Reggie Lefall garnered top scoring honors with 24, as he got hot offensively, while other guard Mike Little covered his man like defensive pea soup on Linda Blair.

Another superb team effort by the locals assured them of staying alive in the WJCC race. They travel to Western Texas Thursday in Snyder to settle an old score left over from ABC tourney play.

Meanwhile, San Francisco's undefeated Dons maintained their hold on first place, mauling Pepperdine 107-72 and Los Angeles Loyola 90-62 last BIG MEN — Howard College giant Joe Cooper (6-9), reaches over an opponent to grab a rebound during ABC Olympic Classic tournament action two weeks ago. Teammate Lowell Walker waits to give assistance. Monday night, "Coop" poured in 21 points, his personal high as a Hawk, as the Preybirds whipped the visiting Plainsmen from Frank Phillips, 102-75.

Lynch resigns at Coahoma HS

COAHOMA — Coahoma Superintendent W.A. Wilson received a letter of resignation Monday afternoon from Charles Lynch, athletic director and head football coach at Coahoma High School.

Wilson indicated that Lynch may be moving back to Oklahoma, his home, and that the school board will meet soon to choose a successor.

Forsan bops CJH

FORSAN — The Forsan Jr. high teams scored the same number of points to defeat their respective opposition from Coahoma Monday night.

Todd Underwood's 14 points led Forsan past the visitors 35-34. Phillip Ritchey was high pointer for CJH with 15.

Lavonne Brumley scored 21 markers to lead her team past Coahoma 35-14. Karen Woolvorton was high for CJH with seven. Next game for the Forsan teams will be this Thursday in the Grady Tournament with fem action beginning at 3:30.

Steerettes scratch Coogettes in overtime

The Big Spring Steerettes defeated Abilene Cooper in overtime action here Monday night, coming out on top of a 50-44 pointer.

Rose Magers, who hadn't been able to buy a basket all evening and had collected only 14 points in the game, settled down to fire in six straight free throws in the overtime to nail the victory for Big Spring.

Cooper had played a full year prior to this season and also fielded several seniors while the other schools are playing their first girl's basketball this year.

Keran Schexnayder was the big gun for Big Spring Monday with 26 big ones. The forwards had a little trouble during the early part of the contest trying to keep their shots from rolling off the top of the hoop.

Defensively, Big Spring played their best game with Brynn Zimen, Debbie McNew, Beckie Ragan and Gail Allen all coming through in the clinches.

The B team didn't fare too well, and came out way short on a 65-21 score.

However, many of the Cooper girls who played in the B game also saw A game competition. Big Spring played some new faces in the contest and Suzie Hernandez scored six and Peggy Calhoun, five for the Steerettes.

Steers trail drive to Abilene Cooper

The Big Spring Steer roundballers, coming off their finest performance of the year last Friday night against league-leading Midland Lee, travel to Abilene Cooper tonight to see if they can chop down a few trees.

"Griff's Group" is not 100 per cent healthy going into the contest. Casey "Wildman" Wilder, the team's leading scorer, has spent the past few days and nights in bed with the flu. Reports are that he did attend school today and will suit up for the game in Abilene.

The Coogs dominate the Steers in height and weight, and the locals will have to rely on quickness and guts to overcome the muscle men of Cooperville.

The Steers are currently 11-10 on the season, and 1-3 in loop play, while Cooper sports slates of 17-6 and 3-1.

The game will be broadcast live on local radio station KBST beginning at 7:50 p.m.

'Here take this job,' I've got a golf date

NEW YORK (AP) — The Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, golf's sauciest kettle of tournament pros, Hollywood celebrities and industrial tycoons, celebrates its 40th birthday this weekend with its most prominent amateur ever — Gerald R. Ford.

The President of the United States will turn over the reins of government to a Georgia peanut farmer at inauguration ceremonies Thursday and catch the next flight out for a golf date with Crosby at Pebble Beach, Calif.

He becomes the first chief executive to play in a pro golf tournament.

"The Crosby has come a long way in 40 years," Fred Corcoran, a golf Hall of Famer, reminisced today in his 40th floor suite atop a Rockefeller Plaza skyscraper. "I'll never forget how it started."

Corcoran was running the Los Angeles Open at Griffith Park in 1937 as the newly named tournament manager of the PGA when he was approached by a slender figure in a sky cap, turtle neck sweater and blue blazer.

"Excuse me," the man said tentatively. "You must be Fred Corcoran, the new PGA supervisor. My name is Bing Crosby. I am going to have a little tournament of my own at Rancho Santa Fe next week and I need your help."

"Certainly," said Corcoran.

Crosby explained that he wanted to invite his friend, Lawson Little, who had turned professional after winning both the U.S. and British Amateur titles consecutively in 1934 and 1935, but that the PGA had insisted Little must first serve a five-year apprenticeship.

"Leave it to me — I will fix that," Corcoran promised. And he did.

Scheduled as a two-day event with 82 invited amateurs and as many pros, the tournament got off to an inauspicious start. A heavy rainstorm moved in Saturday and made play impossible.

A few pros left for the next tournament site in Houston. Most, enjoying the social atmosphere, chose to remain. They were named destined to decorate golf record books — Denny Shute, Lloyd Mangrum, Johnny Revolta, Harry Cooper, Craig Wood and Sam Snead, among others.

Despite miserable weather, Snead won both the pro-am and the one day tournament with a 68, collecting a grand total of $762.50. The winner of the 40th event Sunday will get $30,000.

AFC plunders show from NFC

SEATTLE (AP) — Mel Blount and his merciless band of bandits simply stole the show.

The Pittsburgh Steelers' cornerback intercepted two Jim Hart passes in the final period Monday night, one of them killing a National Football Conference scoring threat and the other setting up Ken Anderson's game-cinching touchdown pass, helping the American Football Conference to a 24-14 victory in the 27th Pro Bowl game.

But the bald Blount, one of eight Pittsburgh players on the AFC squad coached by Chuck Noll, was not the only Steelers player who made things miserable for the AFC.

Linebacker Jack Lambert picked off a Hart pass intended for Minnesota rookie Sammy White in the fourth period, and safety Mike Wagner intercepted Hart again just 10 seconds later on a toss aimed at Dallas' Drew Pearson.

And Pittsburgh safety Glen Edwards intercepted a pass by NFC starting quarterback Roger Staubach, also intended for Pearson, stopping a drive late in the first period.

"It's a good feeling," said Blount, who was named the Player of the Game in a contest he once thought he would skip.

"I hurt my ankle in the first day of practice and really had my mind set on going home. I didn't want to ruin my career in one game," said Blount, the first defensive player since Kansas City's Willie Lanier in 1972 to be named the game's most valuable player.

In all, the AFC intercepted six NFC passes, five of them off St. Louis' Hart in the second half. The six thefts were a Pro Bowl record, as was the twoteam total of seven.

"I don't know how I can smile after that performance," said Hart, who completed only six of 17 passes for 53 yards before a Pro Bowl record crowd of 63,214 in the Kingdom. "I have no excuses though. Let's forget the game."

Anderson, the pinpoint passer of the Cincinnati Bengals, hit San Diego wide receiver Charlie Joiner on a 12-yard touchdown pass in the second period, giving the AFC a 17-7 lead, then put the game out of reach with 6:47 to play, hitting Oakland's Cliff Branch on a 27-yard TD strike.

The AFC built a 10-0 lead in the first period on a three-yard TD run by Buffalo's O.J. Simpson and a 31-yard field goal by Toni Linhart of Baltimore. But the NFC came to life in the second period.

HOUSTON (AP) — Czech Regina Marsikova says a comparison between her and countryman Martina Navratilova can go no farther than the tennis court.

Miss Marsikova, an 18-year-old high school youngster, played like top seeded Navratilova Monday night in easily beating No. 6 seeded Olga Morozova of Russia 6-3, 6-1 in a first round match of the $100,000 Women's Pro Tennis Tournament.

But Miss Marsikova says she wouldn't choose to remain in the United States as has Miss Navratilova.

"I wouldn't do it," Miss Marsikova said. "I enjoy going home too much. Martina and I are good friends but not close friends. We speak when we see each other."

Stanton JH takes win

STANTON — Visiting Greenwood took two of three games from Stanton Jr. High Monday night, winning the 8th grade fem contest 37-15 and 8th grade boys' 57-35, while the future Buffs took the 7th grade boys game 38-16.

Arthur Ruiz led the 7th boys with 10 markers, while Carrie Douglas hit seven for the girls. Lewis Henry had 17 points for the 8th boys in their effort.

The 8th grade boys record now stands at 10-3.

THE RACE IS ON — Tommy Tapley, Arkansas State's guard, heads down court with the ball in first half of action at Denton, Tex., Monday night against North Texas State. Keeping in close quarters with Tapley is North Texas States Danny Kaspar. North Texas won the squeaker.

Barnes to slammer

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The judge who sentenced Detroit Piston forward Marvin Barnes to a year in prison says he evaluated Barnes' past and tried to anticipate the future before reaching a decision about the former All American.

In issuing his ruling Monday, Judge Anthony A. Giannini of Providence Superior Court said he denied Barnes' request for a work-release program with disadvantaged youths because he did not see Barnes as a good example.

Barnes, who was sentenced for violating probation, was allowed to remain free pending an agreement between defense and prosecuting attorneys on a date the sentence will begin. Giannini said he would let Barnes finish this basketball season.

The judge had agreed last month to give Barnes' attorneys until Monday to draft a plan under which the basketball player could help youngsters who had run afoul of the law.

However, Giannini turned down two plans offered by the lawyers, saying he did not think Barnes would be a very good example for such youth either here or in Detroit.

"In reaching its decision on this motion for reduction of sentence, the court has evaluated the past and sought to perceive the future," Giannini said.

"It is important to recall that the defendant has been convicted of a crime of violence and that he avoided imprisonment by a simple promise... that he would be of good behavior."

INAUGURAL GOWNS THROUGH THE YEARS — The fashions change, but the importance of the First Lady's inaugural gown remains of some significance as these former first ladies demonstrate: at left, Bess Truman in 1949; next, Mamie Eisenhower smiles in 1953; and next to her, Jacqueline Kennedy on the arm of her husband in 1961. Mrs. Kennedy's dress was a specially-designed sheath in white with matching cape. The fourth picture shows Lady Bird Johnson wearing a fur-trimmed coat over a matching dress for a series of inaugural balls Jan. 20, 1965, then, Pat Nixon acknowledges the plaudits of guests at an inaugural ball in 1973. At far right, Rosalynn Carter, dancing with her husband at his inaugural ball as governor of Georgia in 1971, has said she will wear the dress again to the presidential inaugural balls for sentimental reasons.

Newcomers elect officers

Mrs. Marylou Heitz took over the presidency of the Newcomers Handicraft Club during an election of officers in the home of Mrs. Joseph Woodard, 1607 Kentucky Way.
Completing the new slate of officers are Mrs. Woodard, secretary; Mrs. Frances Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Marilyn Gormiey, project chairman; Mrs. Theresa Lewis, hostess chairman; and Mrs. Karen De La Rosa and Mrs. Liz McConahay, notification co-chairmen.
Plans for upcoming projects include making clocks, decoupage and creating decorative items from liquid resin.
During the next meeting, slated Jan. 19 in the home of Mrs. Linda Williams, 49-B Chanute, instruction will be given in inking on glass.
A club spokesman said that anyone who is interested in participating in the class should call Mrs. Heitz, 263-6622, or Mrs. Woodard, 263-4675, for more information.

Mrs. Moren is 'sweetheart'

Mrs. W.E. Moren has been selected Sweetheart of the Year for Texas Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha, it was announced Tuesday during a meeting in the home of Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, Rt. 1, Snyder Hwy.
Mrs. Moren is a long-time, active member of the chapter, which she has served in numerous capacities. She and her husband, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Jan. 2, were married on that date in 1927 at Fort Worth. Moving to Big Spring in 1949, the Morens operated the Western Auto Store until their retirement several years ago. They are active in the First United Methodist Church.
In other business at the meeting, further plans were discussed for the Permian Basin Spring Area Assembly to be held here March 11 at Holiday Inn. Approximately

MRS. W. E. MOREN
50 persons are expected to attend, with the local chapter being the host group.
Mrs. Johnnie Winham presented a program, "The Home," taken from the current sorority study book. Comparisons were made of domestic and social lives of women in the past and present time, stressing the many changes that have taken place in lifestyles. During a question and answer period, members agreed that the most popular and used household appliance today is the washing machine.
The next meeting will be Feb. 8 in the home of Mrs. Moren, 1301 Eleventh Place.

Classmates Snubbed By Party Invite

DEAR ABBY: My heart aches, not for me, but for my 11-year-old daughter.
Here's what happened: She came home from school with tears in her eyes, saying that a classmate had gone up and down the aisles passing out invitations to the birthday party she was having at home next week. Abby, there were 34 kids in the class. Twenty-nine were invited and five were not. (My daughter was not.)
She said everyone knew who was left out. Two girls and one boy cried, and another girl went home "sick" at recess and never came back.
Abby, I hope you'll put this in your column, so youngsters will realize how cruel something like this is.
A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Consider it done. Even if the girl didn't know better, her mother should have. And if mailing the invitations was too expensive, she could have used the telephone.

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think there would be fewer divorces if there was something else to watch on TV besides sports on weekends?
My husband and I have been married seven years. We have two small children, so I'm pretty much tied down during the week. On weekends my husband is glued to the TV while I serve him beer.
Meanwhile, I'm entertaining the kids because there are no other kids in the neighborhood—thanks to "zero population growth."
It's a beautiful day and I would like to go to the park or somewhere just to get out of the house. I love my husband, but what's a mother to do?
COMING UNGLUED

DEAR UNGLUED: You entertain the kids and serve your husband beer while he sits in front of the TV, and you're asking ME for help?
Good grief, lady, ask your husband for help! Demand that he share parental duties on the weekend, and insist that he treat YOU and the kids to an occasional outing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 73-year-old man who lost his wife seven months ago. We had 44 good years together, and I cried my heart out when they put her in the ground.
My next-door neighbor, who has been a widow for three years, has been wonderful to me. We have been seeing each other for about a month, but on the q.t. because we don't want tongues wagging.
The big problem is my children. When I mentioned that maybe I would like to marry this woman, they said that if I did, I would no longer be welcome in their homes and they wouldn't want to know me. All my children are married and have families. I am alone and time is running out for me.
Should I make a choice?
LONELY WIDOWER

DEAR LONELY: It appears that your children have already made the choice and have given you an ultimatum. Go ahead and marry the lady, and if your children don't want to know you, that will be their problem.

Audubons' aims told

The aims of the Audubon Society, in regard to preservation, conservation and ecology, were explained by Mrs. Bebe McCasland when she spoke recently to the Potpourri Club in the home of Mrs. Wesley Deats, 702 Tulane. Mrs. McCasland said the society is not only interested in birds, but in natural resources.
The club will meet again Feb. 14 in Texas Electric Reddy Room when Mrs. Sandra Killough, home economist, will discuss ways to conserve energy. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.
