

Car-bus crash injures 21 here

A westbound car went out of control on Interstate 20 five miles east of Big Spring at 1:30 a.m. today and struck an eastbound Continental Trailways bus, injuring a total of 21 persons.

Mrs. Peggy Wade Carey, 22, of Box 2482, Big Spring, was driver of the car which rolled across the highway through the median fence and into the path of the bus, even though the bus driver swerved, trying to miss the catapulting vehicle.

The car, which contained three people, struck the right front section of the bus, crashing in the front door area, before rolling across the two eastbound lanes. All three persons in the auto were spilled onto the edge of the thoroughfare. The car wound up on the south service road below IS 20.

POLICE SAID Mrs. Carey had been issued a speeding ticket at 11:20 p.m., Wednesday in the 500 block of W. 4th St., in Big Spring, less than two hours prior to the accident. Patrolman Jerry Edwards wrote out the ticket.

Mrs. Carey and one of the car's passengers, Miss Carla Doris Raney, 24, also of Big Spring, are in the intensive care unit of Malone-Hogan Hospital. Both young women suffered cuts, bruises and chest injuries, with possible internal injuries.

The third occupant in the car was James R. Simms, 25, of Festus, Mo., who received a shoulder injury and a cut on the right side of his face. He was treated in the emergency room and released.

Collision jolts bus' passengers

By MARJ CARPENTER

"When you wake up on a bus with a jolt with a face full of glass, you just don't know what to think for a minute," Mrs. Lucille Langtry of Live Oaks, Calif. said in the emergency room of Malone-Hogan Hospital early this morning.

"I got a few minor cuts in the face, but I was lucky," she added. "But I think my hair is full of glass."

Mrs. Louise Jenkins of Los Angeles, added, "I saw that car rolling toward us. I was awake. The driver sure tried to miss it. Things happen so fast. Your life changes in a moment."

One passenger, who went on to Dallas on the second bus said, "A lot of us were awake because we had just stopped. All of a sudden, that car rolled into us and a baby flew out in the aisle and people were crying."

A woman from El Paso headed for Dallas, said, "I remember somebody screaming, 'This woman's pregnant, somebody help her,' and I was afraid that on top of everything else, somebody was going to have a baby."

Ms. Michelle Penfield of Big Shore, N.Y. said, "I remember somebody kept saying that this one man was a heart patient and they thought his heart had stopped. I don't know why it didn't. Mine nearly stopped."

The emergency room was clogged with activity, much heavier than the night of the Cosden fire last year.

"My nitroglycerine pills are back in my luggage," said the heart patient. "We'll get you some," the doctor answered calmly.

"I broke my foot. I broke my foot," one woman moaned, sitting up on a cart and hugging a pillow. An examination revealed bruises.

One woman called back home to tell them about the terrible accident, turned and asked, "Where are we anyway?" Then she added into the telephone, "We're in Big Spring, Texas and this car rolled across the highway and hit our bus."

The father of the driver of the car stood quietly on the edge of the emergency room awaiting word on his daughter. When they rolled her off to the intensive care unit, he followed quietly down the hall.

A TOTAL of 18 persons from the bus, including the driver, Paul Jackson of Big Spring, were treated and released in the emergency room of Malone-Hogan. One passenger, Mrs. Louise Jenkins of Los Angeles, was hospitalized with a cut over her eye.

Jackson, who had been transferred to Big Spring one week ago from Detroit, has a possible back injury. He is staying in the Settles Hotel here.

Charles Atkins of Odessa is a heart patient and was taken into the hospital on a stretcher, because of the fear of a possible cardiac arrest.

There were four ambulances from Alert Ambulance loading victims at the scene. Another 21 passengers, including two children, were placed on a second Continental Bus and taken back to the station to get the luggage straightened out and then went on to Dallas.

The 18 from the bus who were treated at the emergency room included three children, with one of them a seven-week-old infant named Shannaqua Barrett. Her mother, Ms. Deborah Cartery of Bakersfield, Calif. said that the infant "flew out of my lap and landed in the aisle." The baby was not injured, but was checked in the emergency room.

Most of the other bus passengers were struck by flying glass or twisted their feet and ankles under the seats on the moment of impact.

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — At least three persons were injured critically today when a bus carrying workers to their jobs in this West Texas city collided with a trailer truck.

It was the second bus-vehicle collision in Texas today, the earlier one occurring in Big Spring in West Texas.

Nineteen other persons also were injured in the Amarillo accident.

Those listed in critical condition were identified by police as Edmund Cantu, 53, Les Beeman, land Arvella England, 50, all of Amarillo.

Police said the accident occurred on U.S. Highway 69. The road was slippery because of a recent snowfall.

Air Force may renew lease

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City has received word that the Air Force is interested in renewing the lease on the 519-acre landing strip 12 miles northwest of here when the lease expires June 1, according to James Campbell, city manager.

"The 25-year lease on the acreage was due to expire, so I contacted the Corp of Engineers in their regional office and asked if they planned to renew the lease or whether it might be available for local use," Campbell stated.

Campbell and Dr. Elton Burkam, mayor, were in touch with the corp who sent representatives to Mitchell County to re-evaluate the lease.

"They told me that they had been in touch with the Air Force and that the Air Force was interested in renewing the lease at a $2,000 annual fee," Campbell added.

The city manager asked the engineer representatives if this meant Webb AFB might remain open. The answer to the city official was, "Well, it might, or the Air Force might use the landing strip for close-by bases such as Lubbock or Abilene."

"We are expecting to sign a new lease sometime between now and June 1," Campbell added.

military facility? They might, reason local civic leaders, in that friends of the base and the community are regrouping behind the drive to save the base.

The Pentagon has become very sensitive about information released about the status of military facilities. If the campaign to keep Webb open doesn't lose momentum, local leaders contend the chances for its survival improve.

It's no secret that spokesmen for the Air Training and the Pentagon are wearying of the job of denying that there is any substance to stories circulated initially this week by Joe Fowler, a correspondent for the Texas State Network and dignified, to a point, by the United Press International bureau in Washington, D.C.

Two men who joined yesterday to discredit the report carried over the radio network and later repeated by UPI were Joe McNalley, a civilian public information officer for the Air Training Command headquarters in San Antonio; and Richard L. McGraw, information officer in the Pentagon, also a civilian.

McGraw told The Herald by telephone Wednesday afternoon that he had had another conversation with Fowler and there was no doubt in his mind but that Fowler has used the original Environmental Impact Statement on Webb and Craig AFB, Selma, Ala., as a basis for his story that the military establishments would be closed Sept. 1.

McGraw insisted again Wednesday that no final decision relating to Webb or Craig had been made by the Department of Defense. Furthermore, he stated, that decision might be months in coming although the final Environmental Impact Statement could be released as early as Feb. 8, which is next Tuesday.

McGraw said he was certain that Fowler is not privy to any information related to the matter that has not been discussed by news media over a period of months.

McGraw reminded the Herald that a proposal made by a branch of the military does not constitute a decision. "And no decision regarding the future of Webb has been made," McGraw stated emphatically.

McGraw also said that the new Secretary of the Air Force, whoever he might be, would review any decision regarding base closures before the fate of the air bases can be determined.

McNalley said he was convinced the United Press International was merely feeding on the report circulated initially by TSN. The Air Force is forbidden from violating Environmental Impact policies, which dictate the procedures for releasing information relating to base closures and cutbacks.

Four members of the Chamber of Commerce's Legislative Action Committee, headed by Mayor Wade Choate, are making plans to fly to Washington Tuesday morning for briefings with Congressmen and officials in the Pentagon.

Choate said he hoped another letter-writing campaign could be undertaken here, in which local residents and friends of the community could write President Carter and members of the Texas Congressional delegation, appealing that Webb be kept open.

A similar campaign was mounted last spring and an estimated 5,000 persons forwarded letters of protest to Washington.

"If Freddie had lived"

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Just three hours after comedian Freddie Prinze was buried, a young girl was found dying. A suicide note near her said, "If Freddie had lived, so would I."

Lynn Ann Barillier, 13, idolized Prinze, 22, star of the television show "Chico and the Man." His suicide apparently had a devastating effect on her.

As Prinze had done, Lynn Ann put a gun to her temple and fired once. She died 28 hours later on Tuesday in Verdugo Hills Hospital.

A police spokesman detailed the death of the junior high school girl Wednesday and released her note.

In a postscript, the note said, "If Freddie had lived, so would I. He died, so will I.... Please, just please bury me by Freddie! It's my last dying wish; please grant it."

She is to be interred Friday at Forest Lawn Glendale, about eight miles from where Prinze was buried.

THANKFUL — The women leaving the Continental Trailways bus were transferring to a second bus to continue their trip, thankful not to be among the injured. The front door had to be opened by a wrecker to make room for passengers to get out. The 1:30 a.m. accident took place five miles east of Big Spring.

DEMOLISHED — This vehicle, driven by Peggy Wade Carey, Big Spring, was completely demolished after it went out of control, rolled through the fence in the median of IS 20, struck a Continental Trailways bus and ended up on the south service road. Two Alert Ambulance attendants check for persons inside the car, but all three were thrown free from the vehicle.

Effects of blizzard spread to New England

New supplies of natural gas are already flowing east, but the effects of the bitter winter of 1977 are spreading even faster.

temperatures on Wednesday gave something of a respite to cleanup crews and river pilots trying to deliver fuel.

President Carter signed emergency legislation approved by Congress Wednesday giving him the power to declare national or regional natural gas emergencies and to order gas moved from state to state to keep homes and hospitals warm — but not to reopen shutdown plants.

The prospect of a sudden thaw prompted Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania to urge homeowners and apartment dwellers to buy federally subsidized flood insurance.

Carter draws mixed reviews

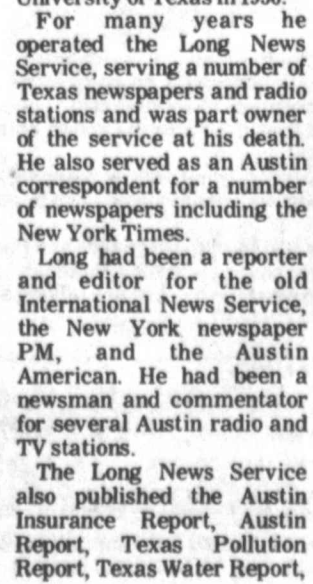

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Carter's call for sacrifice and cooperation fresh in mind, Congress moved ahead today with consideration of the new administration's $31 billion proposals to create jobs and cut taxes.

Carter drew mixed reviews for his economic stimulus program from Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who told the House Banking Committee that "our nation needs to make progress during 1977, in creating more jobs and in expanding our industrial capacity."

But Burns called the Carter proposals "an inefficient way to stimulate the economy." The Reserve Board chairman was particularly critical of the proposed 50¢ rebate on 1976 taxes. He called it unnecessary and added, "The Treasury doesn't have this money. It's not a good habit for the country to get into."

Other congressional committees met to question Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, Labor Secretary F. Ray Marshall, Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps and other top administration officials about the details and impact of the economic stimulus program sent to Congress by Carter.

His presidency barely two weeks old, Carter addressed the nation Wednesday night in a setting that evoked memories of Franklin D. Roosevelt and his radio fireside chats during the Depression and World War II.

Plan getting cold reception

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's $50-per-person tax rebate plan is getting a cold reception in Congress as a government report indicates the severe winter weather will cost each household $139 in added fuel costs.

"Heating bills will consume all of the tax rebate," Sen. Hubert Humphrey warned Charles Schultze, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, at a hearing of the Joint Economic Committee on Wednesday.

Humphrey released a Library of Congress study that estimated the extra fuel costs this winter will total $8.4 billion, or an average of $139 per household. The study also projected a possible wage loss of $1.6 billion because of plant shutdowns. "If that's anywhere near right, it's an awful blow to the economy," Humphrey said.

Schultze said a special administration task force was trying to assess the economic damage caused by the weather. He conceded that the administration may have to increase the rebates or boost the two-year, $31.2-billion economic stimulus program in some other way to offset the weather's effects.

But Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal told the House Banking Committee on Wednesday he saw no need to increase the package. While the weather clearly makes the situation worse, "the economy has performed 'better than expected' in recent months, he said.

Blumenthal said he expects the Federal Reserve Board will cooperate in its money and interest rate policies with the Carter plan. Board Chairman Arthur Burns was expected to make his first public comment on the program today before the House Banking Committee.

All 38 Republican senators came out Wednesday against Carter's $11.4 billion rebate plan, calling it a gimmick. They proposed their own $26.2 billion program to stimulate the economy by permanently cutting taxes.

Some Democrats, meanwhile, contended the rebates were wasteful and that the money should be pumped into public works and jobs programs.

Reps. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, and Otis Pike, D-N.Y., members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee. Vanik said, "I am not enthusiastic about the rebate," and Pike added, "Isn't a tax rebate a terribly inefficient way to create jobs?"

But the committee chairman, Al Ullman, D-Ore., defended the rebate plan and said he thinks it is virtually certain to win approval despite the bipartisan criticism.

Ullman nevertheless criticized Carter's proposals affecting business as a "hodgepodge." He said he would push for his own plan for a tax credit that could amount to $1,050 to an employer for each employee hired in 1977 and 1978, instead of Carter's 2 per cent investment tax credit increase or 4 per cent credit on payroll taxes.

PAWHUSKA, Okla. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Bill Hall has asked the Osage County sheriff's office to conduct another full investigation of the alleged abduction, robbery and beating of state Sen. Bob R. Shatwell, D-Tulsa.

Hall made the request as a man and woman charged with robbing the legislator last Friday were transported here Wednesday from Amarillo, Tex., where they were arrested over the weekend.

Judith Marie Rogers, 21, and John Gary III, 32, were charged Tuesday with robbery with a dangerous weapon. They also were charged in Tulsa with robbery by force in connection with a Jan. 21 robbery of a Cleveland, Okla., man.

Miss Rogers' last name previously was reported as Owen, but authorities said it was discovered to be an alias.

Hall had no comment on the discrepancies that Tulsa police detectives have reported over Shatwell's claim that he had been kidnapped by the pair, taken to their apartment and beaten.

The Tulsa Tribune has reported that Miss Rogers told authorities that Shatwell came to her apartment seeking sex and she told him to return later. She said he returned and Gary fought with him after Shatwell started yelling obscenities at her, according to the newspaper.

Two neighbors of Miss Rogers have told police in Tulsa they saw a man fitting Shatwell's description alone during that Friday afternoon.

Shatwell has denied Miss Rogers' account, saying he hasn't been near the apartment in "at least two or three years" until the night he said he was abducted.

A Tulsa policeman who regularly patrols the area in northwest Tulsa where the apartment is located has reported that he has seen Shatwell in the apartment complex several times.

Shatwell appeared Wednesday night at police headquarters to demand a copy of a police incident memo which placed Shatwell at the apartment several times during January.

The report was made by officer John Spavin, a former Tulsa Tribune police reporter who has been a Tulsa policeman since last spring.

Toll-free telephone numbers for the IRS are listed in the tax package. To help insure that employees are providing quality service, the IRS periodically monitors its taxpayer assistance telephone lines, the IRS said.

The IRS reminded taxpayers that the answers to most tax questions can probably be found in the instructions section of their tax packages, or in any number of free publications that can be requested by mailing the order blank also included in tax packages. The instructions and publications cover changes in the tax law for tax year 1976 involving child care expenses, income received during retirement, disability pay, business use of the home, and many other subjects.

Because the IRS relies on information the taxpayer gives, and does not ask for proof, the IRS advised that although its employees will try to be as useful as possible, taxpayers are responsible for the accuracy of their returns and the payment of the correct tax.

Unique council boost to city

Big Spring insurance man Roscoe Cone was in the Herald a few days ago, and he began remembering the years when he was mayor of Bloomington, Ill.

ROS COE
CONE

BLOOMINGTON IS a town about the size of Midland, but when he became mayor it was not moving ahead at all.

In fact, Cone said, the growth rate was less than the birth rate minus the deaths, and that was not good.

A group of the younger men in town, however, was determined to turn the town into a hungry, aggressive city instead of a complacent one.

The native of Fountain Hill, Ark.,

was the formation of what Bloomington called an "inter-organizational council."

This, he said, was an organization for heads of organizations. Its purpose was to keep organizations informed on what other ones were doing and to coordinate joint efforts in important areas.

This inter-organizational council helped to keep down conflicting dates and projects, but most of all it helped make a homogeneous community between all the various segments from business to labor, from service clubs to fraternal ones, he said.

"It worked wonderfully," he claimed.

When Cone came to Big Spring in 1959, he tried to transplant the idea here, and for a while it looked as if it might take. Two meetings were held with about 20 persons attending each time, he said, but then it died.

Given Big Spring's current status, the town is certainly hungry for industry and progress, and Cone wondered aloud if some kind of inter-organizational council might help.

I don't know. Certainly, most busy people do not need another meeting to attend each month.

But communication and cooperation in a town, especially in Big Spring at this time, is very important.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Rejection is no accident

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — A complaint by Ben F. Wattenberg that his fellow centrist Democrats have been excluded from foreign policy posts in the Carter administration represents the thinking of key figures in the party who, for now, are keeping silent in the interests of Democratic harmony.

Speaking to an unofficial party discussion group called the Democratic Forum here Jan. 24, author-politician Wattenberg declared that President Carter's foreign policy appointments represent only one of "two distinct sides" in the Democratic party's "hard vs. soft" dispute. "My problem is not the appointees — but the missing persons — representing a missing point of view," he added. Contending this point of view is "dominant in both the Congress and the country," Wattenberg warned that ignoring it "easily leads to grave political weaknesses and vulnerabilities."

ALTHOUGH WATTENBERG'S sympathetic audience responded with snickers, he was in fact understating the anguish felt by prominent moderates. "It is nothing less than a coup d'etat," one said in describing to us domination over the State Department, National Security Council (NSC) and, to a lesser extent, Defense Department by members of the left-center foreign policy network. The first result could be a SALT treaty which generates Senate ratification debate bitterly divisive for the Democratic party and the nation.

Thanks to Mr. Carter's hard line during the second presidential debate plus some wishful thinking, moderate Democrats thought they would be represented in the Carter administration. The centrist Coalition for a Democratic Majority (CDM), after consulting the AFL-CIO, presented 53 names for office. A sampling: former Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Nitze (an early Carter supporter), Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, former Rep. James O'Hara of Michigan, ex-trade negotiator Myer Rashish, author Michael Novak, University of Illinois chancellor J.W. Pellason, Harvard Prof. Nathan Glazer.

SO FAR, only one of the 53 — former Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming — has been named to a national security post (ambassador to the Organization of American States, which has little or no impact on policy). Dr. James Schlesinger, the only other CDM recommendation given any job at all, was kept outside the national security field as the President's energy adviser.

The mass rejection is no accident. One man recommended by CDM has abundant qualifications for a NSC staff post. NSC director Zbigniew Brzezinski summarily rejected him for one reason: membership on "Team B," the alternative group which gave a gloomier estimate of Soviet strategic objectives than the official CIA "Team A." Whereas those viewing Soviet intentions with alarm are blackballed, the new NSC staff is prepared with extreme foreign policy liberals such as Robert Hunter, formerly Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's foreign policy adviser.

WATTENBERG'S COMPLAINT is matched by rejoicing on the left. A jubilant Alan Baron, ex-aid to Sen. George McGovern, reports in the political newsletter he now publishes that McGovern "told friends that he considers the majority of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's appointments to date to be 'excellent... quite close to those I would have made myself.'"

Beware 'Read-to-wear' diagnoses

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heart palpitations, and have read about Wolfe-Parkinson-White syndrome. What I read scares me. I am 45 years old, a female. Is it a serious situation? Please discuss it in your column. — Mrs. R.T.

I don't like to discuss these fancy diseases on the basis of a single symptom as your heart palpitation. Whenever you do, then anyone who has ever had an innocent palpitation automatically thinks this is what he or she has.

First of all, the chances are you don't have Wolfe-Parkinson-White syndrome, which is an inherited defect in the heart's pacing mechanism. Has it been diagnosed as such for you, or are you assuming it from what you read?

W.P.W., as it is known in medical shorthand involves a speeding up of the heart beat impulses between the upper and lower chambers of the heart. In speedup the chambers do not fill up sufficiently between beats and a low blood pressure results. The condition is readily diagnosed through an ECG. New medications allow control of the "short circuiting" of heart pacing impulses that cause it. The outlook for the patient is pretty good.

More common causes of heart palpitation are things like excessive smoking and coffee drinking, overuse of any stimulant, nerves, etc.

It's not well to try to relate an isolated symptom, to a ready-to-wear diagnosis like W.P.W. syndrome. I suggest you get it.

If someone in your family has had W.P.W., then it would behoove you to have a thorough screening with that in mind.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I need your booklet on hypoglycemia for a friend of mine who needs to understand and control his attacks. Also, doctor, how do you find if you have it? Do you have to be hospitalized, or can you be an out-patient? My friend is about to give up altogether, and has had this for about ten years. He is 30. — J.R.

Who told him he has hypoglycemia? You don't mention symptoms, so it is impossible to comment, except to say that the diagnosis of low blood sugar can only be established through a sugar tolerance test, which is administered in the doctor's office. This booklet you ask for (35 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope) lists the various symptoms.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Exactly what is the benefit from prostate massage? I have been having this done, but don't understand why. — I.D.

The prostate makes and stores fluid that helps nourish and transport the sperm produced in the testes. It releases this by the constriction of certain muscles. If they are weakened, congestion may result. Massaging the gland helps release of the fluid and prevent this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I seem to be allergic to the lipstick I am using. Do you think these hypo-allergenic cosmetics are worth using? — Miss E.E.

The proof is in the using. There's no guarantee a hypo-allergenic brand will be less troublesome than your present one. Are you sure you are allergic to your present one? It's easy to find out: stop using lipstick. If the reaction disappears you can be fairly certain of the cause. Then, if the hypo-allergenic brand doesn't produce reaction, stay with that.

All "hypo-allergenic" means is that the substance is less likely to cause a reaction because ingredients that commonly cause a reaction in some people have been removed.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it true that drinking cold water with meals can hinder proper digestion of food? — Mrs. C.J.

Untrue. The water reaches body temperature rather quickly, whether taken hot or cold. No effect on digestion. Liquid with meals helps digestion.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a bachelor, and I have no intention of getting married. I like my life the way it is. I can't see how you can condemn someone like me having sexual relations with lots of women. — V.C.

DEAR V.C.: Several things come through clearly in your letter. For one thing, I strongly suspect that you are a very self-centered person. In addition, I doubt that you are the kind of person who gives much thought to the future.

The Bible sets an extremely high standard for us. It makes it clear that God does not approve of sexual relations outside of marriage. "Put to death, therefore, whatever belongs to your earthly nature: sexual immorality, impurity, lust, evil desires and greed, which is idolatry. Because of these, the wrath of God is coming" (Colossians 3:5-6, New International Version). It sounds as if you think of sex as something only for your selfish gratification, and women as objects to be used and then cast aside. Nothing could be further from the Bible's concept of love and marriage.

I would be neglecting my responsibility as a Christian if I did not warn you about the future if you continue to look at life the way you do now. The Bible says, "There is a way which seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Proverbs 14:12). Not only will the time come when you reap the bitter fruits of your life — fruits of loneliness and unhappiness — but someday you will stand before God, "For we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ" (Romans 14:10).

I urge you to think about your life, and then think of what Christ has done for you in providing the way of salvation if you will but turn to Him. He will not only forgive, but give you a new direction and motive for living.

Learning hard way

Around the rim

James Werrell

I wanted to be a poker player long before I knew that a flush was more than something involved with indoor plumbing.

I admired the way television's Maverick brothers bluffed into a winning hand, and scraped silver dollars off the table into their hats.

I ENVIED James Bond's coolness while he operated a chemin de fer in "Casino Royale." This wasn't exactly poker but it was close enough to the "Great American Card Game."

I tried to mimic the machobility of "The Cincinnati Kid," who was not only played by Steve McQueen, but also came from the right city.

But it was a long time before I worked up the guts to sit down at a game with the older guys. Walt Finley talks about becoming a man the day he joined in at the domino tables for a friendly game of 42 with the regulars in Durant.

It was the same with poker and me. The only way to learn is to take a chair with the boys and lose a few bucks. Gracefully, if you want to play again.

I sat in a pool of sweat during my first game with the boys, not knowing when to bluff with a pair or raise with three of a kind. I lost a few bucks.

I eventually learned to lose with dignity; to lose only what I would have spent on beer anyway; and, finally, to walk away with somebody else's money.

I don't mean to give the impression that I am a big money poker player. I have friends who talk about losing $69 a hand (small money to the pros), which curls the hairs on my poker face.

IT IS A combination of my inability to part gladly with cash and the drama of the game that allows me to play for 12 hours and come out a dollar ahead or a dollar behind and still enjoy it.

It is all relative. To win, even a dollar, is victory. To lose is humiliation.

What I enjoy is a smoke filled room, the beer sipping, the bad language, and above all the hard-fought winning hand.

Poker has almost always had a bad name in more puritanical circles. I have read that a weekly magazine sympathetic to the Republican persuasion called President Truman's friends, "The President's poker playing cronies," while referring to President Eisenhower's friends as "like's bridge playing companions."

Maybe it is a sign of changing times when Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill, deriding a fellow House member, said of the man, "Why, he'd cry over losing $40 at poker."

But I hope the game doesn't become completely respectable. Its bad name is responsible for much of its attraction.

So, if you don't like poker, or the tone of this rim, read it and weep. For I will continue to play, and never, ever draw to an inside straight.

Egg too many

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The Air Force is aghast at the outlandish behavior of President Jimmy Carter's homestate heroes, the pride of Georgia — the men of the 116th National Guard Tactical Fighter Wings.

Their antics have been solemnly documented by Air Force investigators. Dropping a dummy bomb on a road maintenance crew and shooting up an observation tower are grave enough matters. But the weekend pilots, according to sworn statements, also contributed to the delinquency of Rojo the rooster.

THEY WOULD GATHER on weekends, these modern minute men, ready to defend the nation against all enemies. But since the United States was not at war, they often whiled away the weary hours at the officers club, where they would crowd around the piano to serenade Rojo.

The rooster usually joined in the levity. His favorite drink was whiskey and water, which was administered to him through an eyedropper. From his piano perch, Rojo occasionally presided over games of "dead bug."

This was a unique training exercise. Suddenly, some devilish pilot would scream: "Dead bug!" Then, those highly trained, elite members of America's defense team would spring into the air, crash to the bar floor on their backs and furiously wriggle their arms and legs in the air. The last man to emulate a dying cockroach would be obliged to buy a round of drinks for his fellow cockroaches.

Rojo's duties sometimes took him outside the officers club to the training grounds. On such occasions, he strutted around with the air of a peacock in special battle dress. He wore red baby overalls, complete with suspenders, to keep him warm in the extremity where he was shy on tail feathers.

THE OFFICIAL Air Force inquiry into the wondrous ways of the 116th concluded gratefully that "dead bug was not played at staff meetings." But this doesn't square completely with the recollections of the joy boys themselves. Several confided to us that during at least one formal briefing, some sly dog sounded the battle cry: "Dead bug!" And the troops responded.

As for Rojo's boozing, the Air Force investigation failed to turn up any evidence that the eye-drop cocktails had impaired his official duties. The Air Force sleuths found that the activities at the club were social and that the rooster "apparently was offered, and consumed, some alcoholic beverages."

In was last October 28 that elements of the 116th accidentally bombed Brookhaven, Ga. in the heartland of their new commander-in-chief. The investigators recounted that at 2:30 p.m. on that otherwise ordinary day, a member of the county road maintenance crew was working 300 feet from the intersection of Canoochee Drive and Appalachee Drive.

Suddenly, a flight of F-100 warplanes from the 116th appeared overhead. Out of the blue, a 25-pound dummy bomb whistled down, snapped two power lines and gouged a chunk out of the county road. Although houses lined both sides of the street, there were no casualties.

Indignant county officials, however, sent a $24,622 damage bill to the National Guard. But Georgia's Adjutant General and National Guard commander, Maj. Gen. Billy Jones, eventually convinced the DeKalb County commissioners that "it would cost more money for the government to process the bill than it would be worth... We forgot about it."

This wasn't the first narrow miss for the 116th. On Aug. 11, 1975, Lt. Col. Thomas Saffold participated in a four-plane strafing attack at the Rodman Naval Range, Fla. He whipped his F-100 fighter through the tight combat pattern, searched the ground for a burst of machine gun fire. The spattering bullets barely missed an observation tower 200 yards from the target.

For this indignity to the official observers, Saffold is no longer allowed to fly F-100s. But to save his humiliation, he was promoted to colonel and was made vice-wing commander of the 116th. He now helps command the F-100s he is not allowed to fly. This doesn't bother him. "It gives me more time for (administrative) work," he told us.

The commander of the 116th, Col. William Berry Jr. also qualifies for more administrative work. Last October 12, he missed a turning point in a flight plan and led a flight of F-100s into the traffic pattern at the Gainesville, Fla., airport. This was disconcerting to an Eastern Airlines pilot who was bringing in his B-727.

According to the Federal Aviation Administration's account of the incident, "The four F-100s took evasive action and stated they came no closer than one mile." The captain of the B-727 did not take any evasive action but stated that they came within 100 yards.

The FAA took no action against Berry who, in civilian life, works for the FAA. He pooh-poohed the incident, repeating his claim that he had missed the Eastern airliner by a mile.

When the joy boys aren't training to keep at their perilous peak of readiness, they sometimes function as an appendage of the state government. In this capacity, they ferry state big-wigs hither and yon in the pursuit of public policy.

Gen. Jones told our reporter Janice Selinger that he sees nothing wrong in the ranks he commands. But he has lost one element of his command. Rojo left the 116th sometime last fall. He turned in his red baby overalls and officers club privileges for the less glamorous life of a civilian chicken.

Texarkana officer killed, another shot

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — A Texarkana police officer was shot and killed and another officer was critically wounded early today after they responded to a burglar alarm at a discount store.

Texarkana Police Chief John Butler said three teenagers were taken into custody, but that no charge had been filed. The three did not offer any resistance when apprehended, he said.

Butler said Lt. Ed Worrell, 28, died at a Texarkana hospital about an hour after he was shot in the back from ambush. Butler said officer James Clark, 30, was in guarded condition at a Texarkana hospital. Both officers were shot once in the back with a high-powered automatic rifle, Butler said.

Butler said Worrell was on his way home from his shift when the car he was in responded to the burglary alarm.

ED WORRELL

JAMES CLARK

Butler said shortly before 1 a.m., Clark, Worrell and Paul Howell responded to a silent burglar alarm signal at Howard's Discount Store. He said the officers noted that a plate glass window in the front of the building had been shattered. Butler said Clark proceeded to the south side of the building and Howell went to the north side. Butler said Worrell was protecting the front of the building.

Less than five minutes after the officers arrived at the scene, Clark was shot. Moments later, Worrell was shot.

Howell called for assistance on his walkie-talkie and other officers responded. They apprehended two teenagers inside the building. Butler said the two were armed with a shotgun and a rifle but offered no resistance. Authorities also said the youths had sacks of weapons apparently taken from the store.

A short time later, a third youngster was apprehended in a telephone booth six to eight blocks from the scene. Police said they found a high-powered automatic rifle equipped with a scope in the front seat of the youth's car. A shotgun was found between the seats and a pistol also was in the car.

Butler said Worrell was the first Texarkana police officer killed in the line of duty in at least 21 years. Worrell was wounded in a shootout at a Texarkana motel June 8, 1974.

Worrell has two sons and his wife is pregnant. He received an award last year for coaching little league baseball.

Capt. Jimmy Cowart, commander of the Public Safety Officer Division, said Worrell was the type officer, "His men would have followed him anywhere."

Chief Butler said both Worrell and Clark were "outstanding police officers dedicated to their job."

Ironically, both Clark and Worrell were hired Oct. 1, 1970. They were both public safety officers, which means they were trained as police officers and as firemen. Such officers respond to both police calls and fires.

Pay hikes step closer to reality

WASHINGTON (AP) — Automatic pay raises of nearly $13,000 a year for members of Congress and other top government officials are a step closer to reality.

The Senate voted 56 to 42 Wednesday to kill an amendment by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., to block the increases, which would boost the lawmakers' pay from $44,600 to $57,500.

The hikes for Congress, federal judges, Cabinet members and other top government officials were recommended by former President Gerald Ford and supported by President Carter. They take effect automatically Feb. 20 unless the Senate or House intervenes.

Allen told reporters the issue now appears to be settled. He said he would renew his efforts to block the increases, which would boost the lawmakers' pay from $44,600 to $57,500.

Despite the loss, Allen said at least he succeeded in forcing a roll call vote that put senators on record on the pay hike.

The vote came on an amendment Allen offered to a Senate reorganization bill. The Senate tabled the amendment, effectively killing it.

An attempt may be made in the House to get an anti-pay raise resolution out of committee. But Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill has predicted the House will not block the pay hikes.

The pay hikes affect 2,000 top federal officials directly, but also will allow 20,000 civil servants earning $39,600 to

Legislature defeats school resolution

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — In the new legislature's first skirmish over school finance, the House today defeated a resolution that would have used two sets of property value figures to gauge the impact of various proposals.

The vote was 53 for and 85 against the resolution by Rep. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, chairman of the House Education Committee.

Massey proposed to bind both houses to using only the property value figures produced by the Governor's Office of Educational Resources. One set would be market value only. The other would be smaller amounts based on valuation of farm and ranch land on the basis of their agricultural productivity.

"Overall, these are the best set of figures that have been produced," Massey said.

Plane crash 18 'safe'

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A World War II vintage aircraft sat covered with mud in a Mexican corn field today, but its former passengers were safe and waiting to return to Idaho.

Two pilots and 16 other Idaho residents saw engine trouble develop Wednesday and were forced to crash-land with landing gear up two miles from the Texas border in Mexico. No one was killed and there were no serious injuries.

Brownsville airport manager Arthur Wendt had said earlier the passengers and pilot were from Iowa, but after going to the scene he reported they came from Roberts, Idaho, and the surrounding area.

Pilot A.D. Mallord of Shelley, Idaho, and another pilot had flown their passengers on a trip to Guatemala and they were on the way home. Mallord is the owner of the plane.

"We developed a bad engine and shut it down on the left side," Mallord said. "Then about two or three minutes later we heard a banging and the aircraft was hard to control."

Passengers said cornstalks flew over the wings as the plane slid about 300 yards through knee-deep mud. The baggage door flew open, spattering the compartment's contents with mud.

The aircraft was en route to Fort Stockton in West Texas from Brownsville when the engine trouble was reported about 10 minutes after takeoff here.

"The pilot radioed he had only 100 feet of altitude with one engine out and that he was turning back towards Brownsville," said Wendt.

The airport manager said Mallord could have tried to return to the Brownsville airport but his altitude was so low he didn't want to risk flying over Matamoros,

Mexico, and Brownsville, so he decided to crash-land in the corn field.

The stop in Brownsville had been unscheduled because of engine trouble. The pilot believed the problem had been cleared up before he took off for Fort Stockton, Wendt said.

"We just fastened our seat belts and knew we were in good hands," said Kay Menan, 56, of Menan, Idaho. "It was just about as smooth as an airport landing. I've been on commercial airlines with rougher landings."

Three Mexican farm pickups transported the passengers to the border, where Cameron County sheriff's deputies met them for a trip to a Brownsville hotel.

Authorities estimated it would take weeks to pull the plane out of the mud. The Idaho residents planned to use commercial means to get home.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 4, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Your judgment is not up to par early in the day and you would be wise not to make any important commitments. Later you find that excellent influences are in effect and you have restored confidence.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure business matters are well handled, then plan your recreations early so that they work out smoothly later in the day.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't jeopardize your security by spending more money than you can afford. Get rid of frustrations before weekend begins.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take particular care in motion today and avoid possible accident. Study new outlets that could bring more abundance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be most careful where monetary matters are concerned early in the day. Plan needed repairs to property.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You may want to make some changes but this not the right time. Show more concern for mate and family members.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make sure you carry through with whatever you have agreed with others. Don't spend more money than you can afford.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is not the right time for relying on friends for favors but the evening is fine. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take no risks where your good name is concerned today or there could be dire results following. Walk away from trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't make any radical changes during the day or there could be trouble. Not a good time for taking any trips.

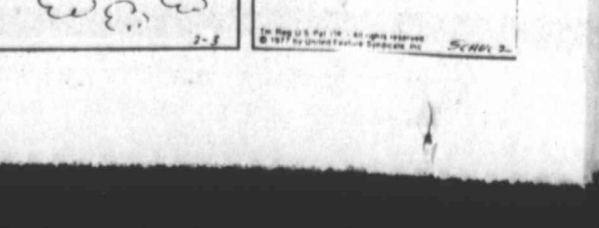

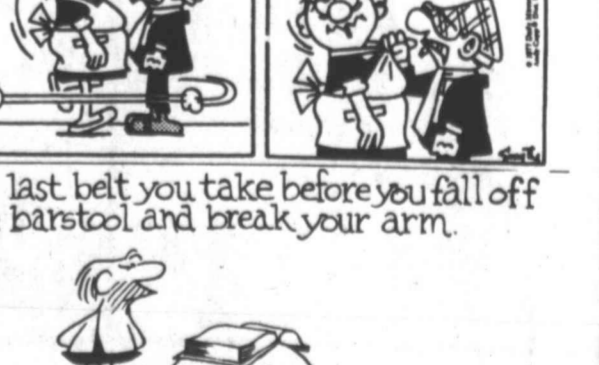

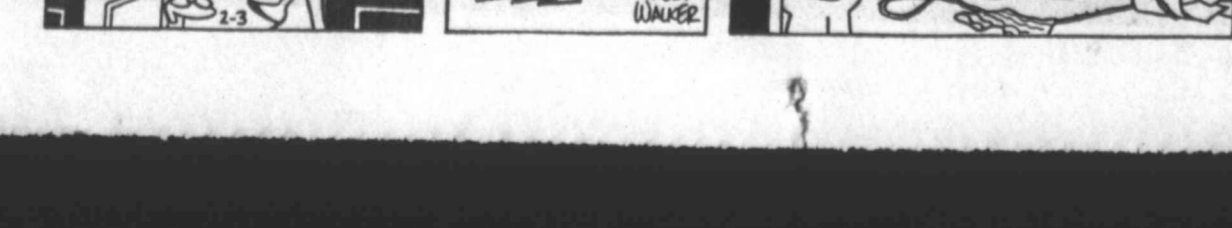

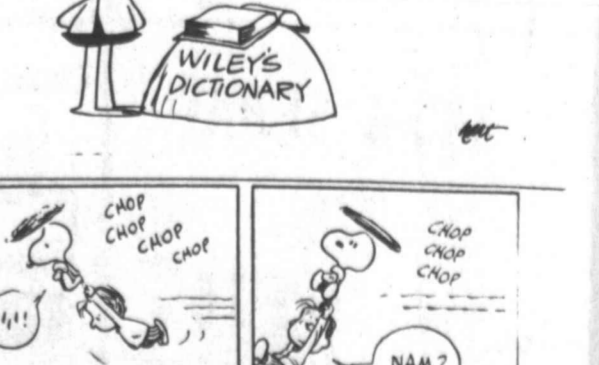

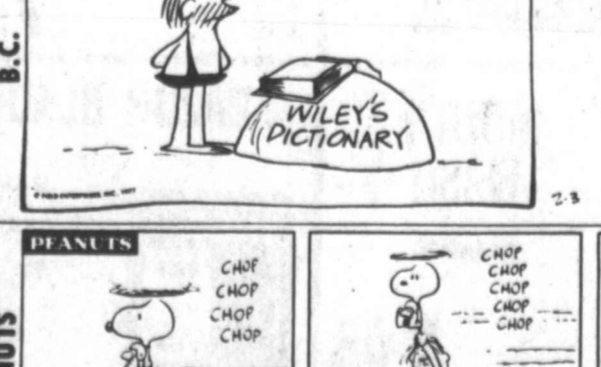

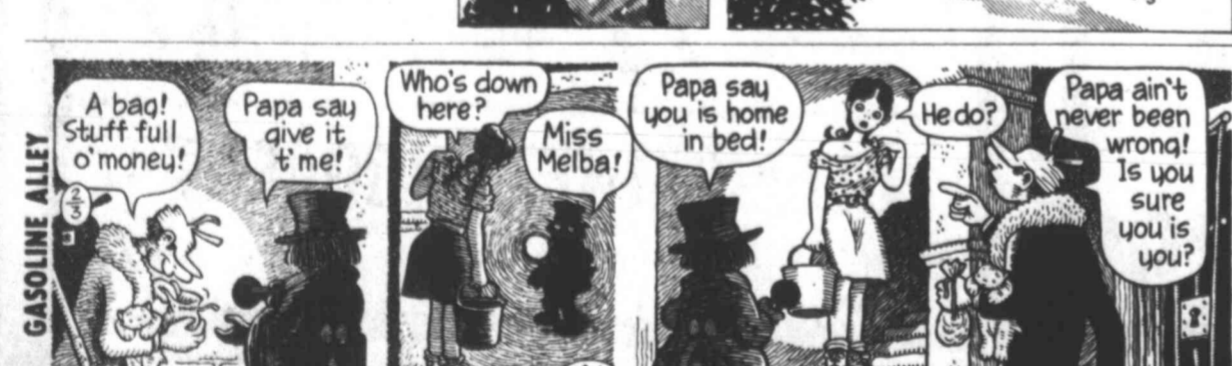

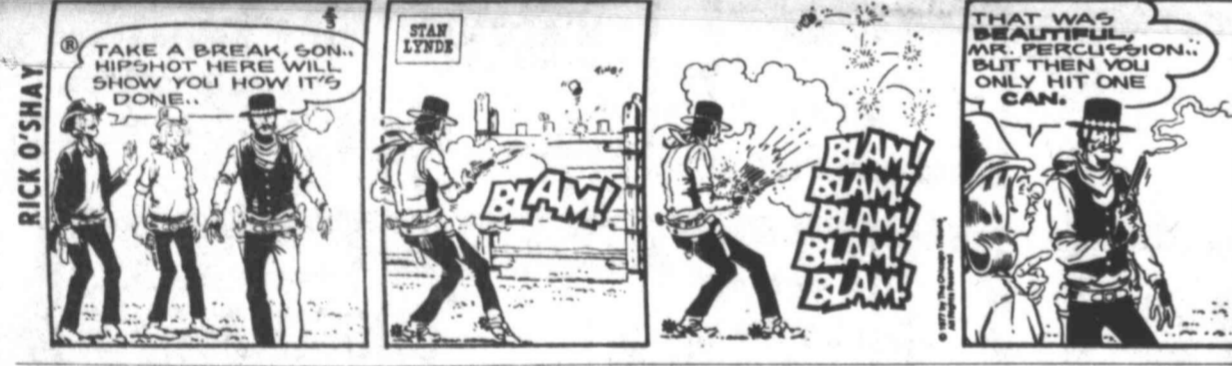

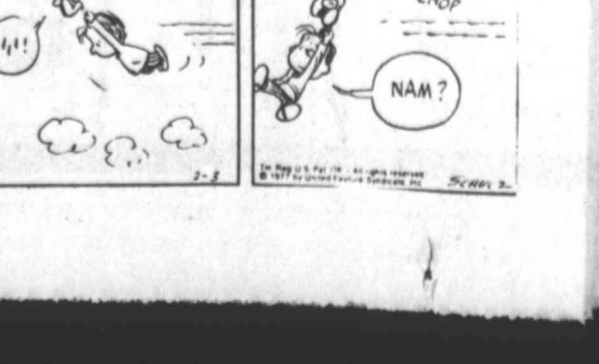

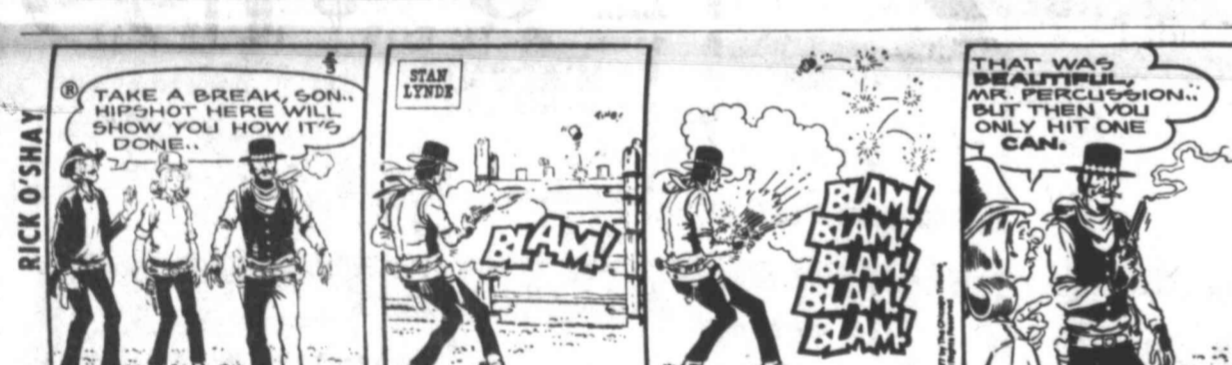

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to keep promises made to associates. Your mate is not cooperative during the day but is most gracious later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Discuss future with associates and come to a complete agreement. Show others that you are a person of wisdom.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) It is wise to study a new system for handling regular routines. A co-worker could be annoying but pay no attention.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will respond favorably to praise and should be taught early to make decisions so that life can become successful. There is much depth of thought here as well as ability to advance on a physical plane. Sports are a must here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

How to Get Kids To Visit Grandma

DEAR ABBY: I have a dear mother who lives about an hour's drive away. She's blind, but very cheerful and mentally alert. I phone her every day. She lives with a housekeeper and loves to have company.

When she had her sight, she couldn't do enough for my children. She sewed for them, bought them gifts and always made sure there were goodies in her house. Now the children are teenagers, and I have to beg them to visit their grandmother because it is so "boring" there, there's nothing to do there, etc.

My husband and I visit her as often as possible. We realize that our kids are involved with friends and activities, so we don't expect them to accompany us on every visit, but is it too much to expect them to visit her once a month?

They read your column daily, Abby. I can bet my bottom dollar that you'll agree with me, but if the kids hear it from Dear Abby, maybe they'll realize that Mom and Dad are right.

ASKING

DEAR ASKING: Your children are old enough to realize that it's a mark of maturity to do things (without whining) that aren't particularly fascinating but are well worth the effort because of the pleasure it gives others. Visiting grandparents falls into that category.

A suggestion for youngsters who resist visiting elderly relatives because it's "boring": Interview the old folks. Ask questions about relatives who preceded you, how things were back in the "olden days." You'll learn some interesting facts, and you'll find that those visits will be rewarding to you and the old folks.

DEAR ABBY: This may read like a soap opera, but every word is true.

I am 17 and for two years I dated a certain boy. We loved each other very much and even planned to marry some day.

Last spring we had a terrible fight when I discovered he had dated someone behind my back. We said some awful things to each other, and I told him I never wanted to see him again.

Three days later he signed up for the Air Force and started dating another girl. Before leaving for the service they announced their wedding plans. He left without even saying goodbye.

Six months later he wrote me, saying that regardless of his plans, he could not forget me or what we meant to each other. (Lord knows, I've never forgotten him!)

I'm heartbroken about his engagement and want so much to write back and tell him so. My friends insist that his is marrying the girl on the rebound. Even his family was stunned by his announcement.

Abby, what should I do? Should I keep quiet and preserve my pride? Or should I speak the truth, even though it may be worth nothing?

TORN

DEAR TORN: Common courtesy demands that you answer the letter. I see no harm in writing truthfully about the depth of your feelings for this "certain boy." But the next move must be his.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

VFW barbecue slated Feb. 14

A barbecue will be held at the VFW post home Feb. 14 according to plans made this week by the auxiliary to Christensen-Tucker Post 2013. The event will be for VFW and auxiliary members as well as members of the local Disabled American Veterans chapter and its auxiliary.

Mrs. Margaret Barnett presided, announcing that the auxiliary will assist the post with a 'paint-up' and 'clean-up' project.

A report was made concerning the wardrobe which will be provided for a veteran upon her dismissal from the Veterans Administration Hospital. The woman said she lost her possessions in a tornado, during which she also received a back injury.

The next meeting will be at the post home at 7:30 p.m., March 1.

Seek to improve homemaking class

Means of improving the homemaking program at the high school were discussed with members of the advisory board at a dinner Tuesday at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Fern Alexander, department head, led the discussion on suggestions for improving the department at a local level.

She also discussed needed legislation, pointing out that now the department can only count a student once for state funding, even if that student is taking several courses.

She pointed out that 527 girls and 264 boys are now taking homemaking in Big Spring High School. In Homemaking I there are 130 girls and 20 boys, with 78 girls in Homemaking II and nine girls in Homemaking III.

Home management has more boys than girls with 51 boys and 49 girls taking the course. Home and family living has 91 girls enrolled and 67 boys, while home furnishings has 35 girls and 12 boys. Consumer education has an enrollment of 52 girls and 36 boys with the child development course having 62 boys and 77 girls.

Course descriptions were distributed to the advisory board members.

Those attending included John Bagnall, head of the vocational programs, Jim Baum, Mrs. J.B. Apple, Mrs. Charlotte Hamilton, Mrs. Nancy Annen, Mrs. Janet Wiggins, Mrs. Billye Grisham, Mrs. Virginia Martin, Mrs. Johnnie Beesley, and Mrs. Marj Carpenter.

Universities to merge

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A federal court's order that two state universities in Tennessee must merge to end segregation may lead to the first U.S. Supreme Court ruling dealing with integration on the college level, lawyers in the case said.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank Gray Jr. has given the University of Tennessee's Nashville unit three years to merge with Tennessee State University.

The issue was not segregation of students enforced by law but the continued predominance of black students at Tennessee State since the Supreme Court struck down separate schools for blacks and whites in 1954, saying they resulted in unequal educational opportunities.

Tennessee State University, which would be the continuing university under Judge Gray's order, was founded 60 years ago for black students when segregation not only was legal but required by state law.

Blacks remained predominant at Tennessee State because of tradition and the alternative for whites of attending the University of Tennessee at Nashville, Gray ruled Monday.

University of Tennessee officials and lawyers were conferring regarding an appeal, but lawyers said privately an appeal to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals was certain. Whatever the outcome at that level, the case likely will end up in the Supreme Court, they added.

Television will teach homemakers

Local homemakers will learn how to make and use low-cost cleaners during this week's "You Can Do It!" television program at 2 p.m., Saturday on KMOM-TV, Channel 9.

Featuring hostess Cindy Kidwell, the educational program will teach viewers how to make cleaning products for windows and mirrors, porcelain, furniture and general household uses. "Cleaning on a Shoestring" this week's lesson, also will feature ideas for cleaning marble, tile, aluminum, and chromium.

"You Can Do It!" is a 13-part educational television series, which will run through May 14.

It was created and produced by home economics specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, through a U.S. Department of Agriculture grant.

Programs in upcoming weeks will include lessons on repairing leaky faucets, toilet repairs and adjustments, caulking and weatherstripping.

Bulletins on any of the projects taught during the series are available at no charge through the County Extension Office, 267-8469, or Box 790, Big Spring, Tx. 79720.

Next week's program will teach leaky faucet repairs, the agent said.

By CAROL HART

Big Spring has been a long stopover for Airman and Mrs. Mark E. Boyd, 610 E. 15th. The couple has lived in several towns since their marriage in April of 1974.

"We have been in Big Spring eleven months," said Mrs. Boyd, "the longest we have stayed in any town since our marriage."

Airman Boyd is stationed at Webb Air Force Base, and the couple came to Big Spring from Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, Colo., where he was stationed for six months.

Lowry AFB was the first assignment for the Boyds. They were married in Neosho, Mo., and immediately left for a honeymoon in Canada. Following their wedding trip, they lived in Seattle, Wash. for three months.

They have also lived in Cherryville, Kan. for five months, and Anderson, Mo. for four months. The Boyds worked in factories while in Kansas; at one time both worked for Kansas Box and Lumber Co. Boyd then joined the Air Force.

Mrs. Boyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard White, live in Goodman, Mo. where the family owns a farm. Boyd's parents, Maj. (Ret.) and Mrs. H.E. Boyd, live in Cherryville, Kan.

"My husband was born and raised in the Air Force," said Mrs. Boyd.

The Boyds spend their spare time working with crafts. She macramés, while he is an artist. Several of their works decorate their home. Mrs. Boyd said that her husband is presently working on a mural of West Texas.

Knitting and taking care of all types of plants are also activities Mrs. Boyd enjoys. She said she became interested in growing things because of a friend who was studying plants in college.

"He gave me a couple of plants to get started with," she explained.

She has no special formulas for healthy plants, but advises careful watering and feeding when needed. "I talk to them all the time," she added.

Mrs. Boyd has worked as a volunteer at Big Spring State Hospital and still devotes her time there when needed. She worked in the campus library and served as a hostess for several parties.

"I enjoyed that," she said, "I got to meet a lot of people."

The couple also likes to fish, and are looking forward to spring and summer, when they plan to learn to play tennis.

Cooking is another hobby that Mrs. Boyd enjoys, saying she learned most of what she knows from watching other cooks. She also took three years of home economics while in high school and said, "I made a lot of stew while in the Girl Scouts."

She said that she "makes up" a lot of her recipes. "I start cooking, and throw things in as I go." She added that most of the recipes below were those she received from her mother-in-law.

Texas citrus crop not damaged yet

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas is having better luck with its multi-million dollar citrus crop than the Florida growers, Agriculture Commissioner John White said today.

The Texas crop so far has escaped weather damage, he said.

"Experts in the Valley region do predict higher prices for citrus both in Florida and at home," White said, "due to the freeze damage in Florida. We can't say at this point how much prices will increase."

White said Texas cabbage is selling for as much as $10 a sack or nearly $1 a head as the result of less acreage devoted to the crop this year. A portion of this year's crop was also lost or damaged due to gogolung wet weather which has hampered harvesting in the Valley.

Several days of dry weather allowed farmers to finish up their harvests and some are beginning to prepare fields for spring cotton and grain crop seeding.

Farmers not ready for women 'libs'

CHICAGO (AP) — More women are taking an active interest in managing farms, but the male-dominated farm organizations are not yet willing to treat women as equals, according to Jim Thomson, editor of Prairie Farmer, a national farm magazine.

"Are farm organizations ready to treat women as equals? Not so you would notice it, but some changes may be in the wind," he said in an editorial. "Farm organizations have traditionally had boards of directors that were 100 per cent male. If women were considered, it was for an auxiliary organization. They never really were considered equals."

"With farming becoming more of a business that involves someone handy with a pencil and a calculator, more women are taking on this chore. Modern law has adapted to the idea that the wife owns half the farm. She co-signs the loan, balances the books, and drives the tractor."

Thomson says the magazine's polls indicate that men have a stronger interest in farm management than women have in general, but there are many women with a stronger interest in farming than some men.

Frozen juice should hold price down

MIAMI (AP) — A large inventory of frozen range juice left over from last year's bumper crop should hold down any large price increase that might result from last week's freeze in Florida citrus groves, an industry spokesman said Thursday.

However, other industry sources say the price of a six-ounce can of frozen concentrate could rise 2 to 4 cents.

"We sold around 156 million gallons last year and had about 56 million left," said Mike Zotti, a spokesman for Florida Citrus Mutual, which represents 15,600 of the 18,000 citrus growers in the state.

"We had estimated before the freeze that we would sell 180 or 185 million gallons this year," Zotti said, "and we still believe we can because of the leftover inventory."

But despite adequate supplies, shoppers apparently will not find many more of those promotional discounts, designed to bring people into the stores, which commonly provided some real bargains — juice as low as six cents for 88 cents. A quarter a can, or six for $1.50, is more likely now, say industry sources.

The national average retail price was 21 cents a can, but the Florida Citrus Commission expects the price to rise two cents — to the same level as last year. Other industry sources say the price could rise to 25 cents a can.

Before the freeze, housebrand frozen concentrate was priced to retailers at $1.80 per dozen six-ounce cans; promotional discounts brought the wholesale price down to $1.60 in some instances.

Many packers dropped their discounts for the freeze last week, and now the juice wholesales at around $2.25 for a dozen cans, Zotti said.

As estimates of the frost damage became available last week, several major packers stopped taking fixed-price orders. They're coming back into the market now, with somewhat higher prices.

The Florida Citrus Commission said some packers are selling as low as $2 a dozen cans, and even allowing discounts. But "that's too much of a spread in price to hold for long," said commission spokesman Art Darling. "Somebody will have to go up or down."

Though the value of the frost-damaged fruit has been estimated at more than $100 million, the record size of the crop also will help hold down prices a little, growers say. The week before the freeze, the Florida Citrus Association reported that 28 per cent more frozen concentrate already had been shipped than by the same time last year.

Panic buying, however, could turn the market around, Darling said.

Consumers warned: food prices rising

The first month of the new year brought higher grocery prices and consumers were warned to expect more of the same in the future due to the cold wave.

An Associated Press marketbasket survey showed prices increased during January for a wide variety of items, including pork chops, orange juice, coffee and eggs.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked them on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey came in the face of several discouraging reports. The U.S. Department of Agriculture said Monday that prices paid to farmers for their products went up 1.5 per cent between Dec. 15 and Jan. 15. It was the second monthly increase in a row.

The USDA report did not reflect recent damage to crops, particularly in Florida, because of the below-freezing temperatures east of the Great Plains. The government said generally abundant livestock supplies should hold down meat prices and help offset higher fruit and vegetable costs. But a private economist warned that if the cold continues through March, the nation's food bill could be boosted by $7 billion.

(The Conference Board, a business research organization, says that Commerce Department statistics showed Americans spent $166.4 billion on food in 1974.)

Consumers shopping at the start of February found orange juice prices already were up in some cities, according to the AP survey, although it could not be determined whether the increases were directly linked to the cold.

The price of a six-ounce can of frozen orange juice concentrate increased at the checklist store in six of the cities surveyed, although most of the increases were only a penny or two.

The AP survey showed that the marketbasket bill increased at the checklist store in 10 cities during January, up an average of 4 per cent. The bill decreased at the checklist store in two cities, down an average of seven-tenths of a per cent, and was unchanged in the 13th city. On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores was up an average of 3 per cent last month.

The situation represented a slight improvement over December when the marketbasket bill was up at the checklist store in 12 cities, rising an average 5.1 per cent.

The items on the AP checklist were: Chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M.; Atlanta, Ga.; Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Muniz faces prison term, fine

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two-time gubernatorial candidate Ramsey Muniz faces a possible five-year prison sentence and a $15,000 fine today after pleading guilty to conspiracy in a marijuana smuggling case.

The 34-year-old Corpus Christi lawyer entered the guilty plea Wednesday in U.S. District Court here and it was accepted by Judge John H. Wood Jr. No date for sentencing was announced.

Muniz, who was the Raza Unida Party candidate for governor in 1972 and 1974, remained in jail in lieu of $1 million bond in the case here. He still faces two more federal court trials in Corpus Christi, where he is charged with jumping bond and with smuggling marijuana in another case. He is held in lieu of $1 million bond in Corpus Christi, also. Two of the defendants had pleaded guilty earlier to conspiring to import marijuana, and three others pleaded guilty with Muniz to the same charge Wednesday.

Bennett said Saxton was the pilot of the aircraft which flew marijuana on Nov. 2, 1976.

Nippy strippers shakin' more

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Baby, it's cold inside! Nobody knows that better than the strippers at the Troc

Theater, who are taking it all off these nights in 59-degree temperatures. "Somebody ought to go out

BABY, IT'S COLD OUT THERE — Lady Stardust, a stripper at Philadelphia's Troc Theatre where the thermostat is set at 60 degrees because of the energy crisis, buttons into a fur trimmed coat after her performance Wednesday evening. "I felt cold when I went on stage but felt warmer after I started dancing," she said. The Troc is one of the oldest continuously run burlesque houses in the country.

there in a set of thermal underwear with a drop seat and strip out of them," suggested Lee Ann, one of the entertainers at the 110-year-old burlesque house. "Maybe we could dance to 'Frosty the Snowman.'" "I caught a really bad cold the first two days they turned the heat down," said stripper Virgo Lamont. "I came off after my act and I was sweating. Then I felt the chill. I started sniffing, then sneezing. I missed a show and had to go to the doctor's to get a shot."

Troc manager Bob Stephens said that to save on natural gas, he has set the thermostat as low as he dares. A newsman's thermometer read 59 at the end of the runway where the girls peel chillingly bare.

"I'm depending on the audience to provide their own heat," Stephens said. Few of the estimated 20 patrons on hand for an evening show this week took their coats off. The lobby was 56 degrees.

Last weekend, Ms. Ann, 27, said she knew there was a good size crowd on hand, "but I couldn't see anybody. Then I saw they were all in the back gathered around the radiators."

Ms. Lamont, who also manages the dressing room area, said the girls "are all pretty good sports about it" and have found ways to compensate for the cold.

"You're hesitant about taking the first piece off," she said, then "we're just shakin' a little bit more. When we come off the stage, we just zoom into the dressing rooms," she said.

In the main dressing room, situated over the Troc's boiler and a cozy 74 degrees, Ms. Lamont and Ms. Ann huddled with a newsman curious about how a showgirl keeps from getting goosebumps while grinding in such weather.

"I think you can tell this isn't the warmest place in Philadelphia," Stephens said. "I think after they lift this energy crisis, we're going to have a pneumonia crisis."

El Paso Natural Gas to pipe fuel to WT

HOUSTON (AP) — Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp reports it has completed arrangements to obtain about 130 million cubic feet of gas a day from the Pacific Northwest area.

C. H. Mullendore Jr., Transco-Companies Inc. vice president, said part of the gas was moving Wednesday toward Texas.

Transcontinental, one of the interstate natural gas pipelines hardest hit by shortages, acted under President Carter's emergency legislation.

The firm began preparations more than week ago in hopes the emergency legislation would permit the surplus supplies to be transported to its system.

The El Paso Natural Gas system is to transport the gas to West Texas and the intrastate system of Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. then will transport it across the state to Transco at South Texas delivery points. Transco then will move it to its Eastern Seaboard customers.

Bill Greehey, Lo-Vaca president, said transportation of the interstate gas will be subject to capacity limitations of the intrastate system in that Lo-Vaca's first responsibility is to its Texas customers.

24 new oil discoveries

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Twenty-four new oil discoveries were reported in Texas in January, the railroad commission reported Wednesday.

New gas strikes totaled 19. The new oil wells broke down this way: seven in Southeast Texas, four in North Texas, three in the San Angelo area, two each in the San Antonio, Midland and West Central Texas areas, and one each in the Refugio, Deep South Texas, East Texas and Lubbock areas.

The gas discoveries included six in Deep South Texas, five in the Refugio area, four in West Central Texas, three in Southeast Texas and one in East Texas.

Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy is thankful that his team does not take basketball polls too seriously.

"We haven't talked about them (polls) all year," said Tacy Wednesday night after his fifth-rated Deacons defeated Duke 89-80 in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

"We notice the polls, though," he added. "And I think we're looking better than the sixth-place (ACC) finish predicted for us at the beginning of the season."

Indeed, they are. The Deacons now are 17-2 overall and lead the tough ACC with a 6-1 record.

Forward Rod Griffin sparked Wake Forest to its latest victory with 28 points.

In other games involving rated teams, Pittsburgh upset No. 12 Cincinnati 65-64 on a 22-foot jump shot by junior Larry Harris at the final buzzer; Arkansas, No. 14, routed Southern Methodist 81-58 in a South-west Conference game, and 20th-rated Detroit beat Eastern Michigan 87-82.

"The bench told me to take the shot, even if I was doubleteamed," said Harris, whose winning basket gave Pitt's leading scorer 31 points for the game.

"We've got to start to believe in ourselves," added Harris after the 4-14 Panthers upended Cincinnati, now 15-3.

SMU left Marvin Delph open for outside shots and he scored a career-high 30 points in the Razorbacks' 10th straight victory.

Ron Brewer added 21 points for the 18-1 Razorbacks.

John Long scored 32 points and Terry Tyler 25 for 17-1 Detroit, which has won 16 straight games.

In other Wednesday night action, John Gerdy scored 28 points as Davidson nipped the Citadel 62-60 in a Southern Conference game; freshman Jo Jo Hunter scored a career-high 20 points, leading Maryland over Virginia 82-67 in the ACC; freshman Darryl Gladden hit two free throws with three seconds left, giving La Salle a 71-70 upset over Villanova in the second half of a doubleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia after St. Joseph's, Pa., downed American 77-70.

Nine consecutive points by Glenn Williams and a 28-point performance by George Johnson sparked St. John's over Georgetown 82-66, while Fordham snapped its 10-game losing streak with a 68-53 victory over CCNY.

Nugs shatter slugs in leader corral

By The Associated Press

Coach Larry Brown was not afraid to change a formula which had given his Denver Nuggets the best record in the National Basketball Association this season.

The Nuggets, Midwest Division leaders, took a 32-15 record into Wednesday night's battle against the Washington Bullets, pacesetters in the Central Division. That record had been compiled with David Thompson playing at guard most of the time.

But Thompson was at forward against the Bullets. The position was hardly a new one for the 6-foot-4½ Thompson, who earned All-American honors at that spot for North Carolina State.

"I think he (Thompson) was more comfortable playing forward," said Brown after Thompson scored 37 points, helping Denver shatter Washington's eight-game winning streak with a 119-105 victory.

"He looked more relaxed," said Brown. "I loved our guard play. I think Jimmy Price and Ted McClain took a lot of pressure off David."

Price, who had not been starting, took over Thompson's spot in the backcourt and came through with 14 points, 10 rebounds and 11 assists. McClain contributed 17 points, seven rebounds and six assists.

In other NBA action, the Philadelphia 76ers built their Atlantic Division lead to 7½ games over the idle New York Knicks by defeating Detroit 138-116, while the New York Nets topped the slumping Boston Celtics 99-89. The Phoenix Suns outscored Milwaukee 130-113, Kansas City downed Portland 119-107 and Seattle routed New Orleans 120-95. The Houston game at Buffalo was postponed due to bad weather.

76ers 138, Pistons 116

Julius Erving and Steve Mix each scored 25 points and Lloyd Free had 24 as the 76ers recorded their 12 victory in 16 games. The 76ers, who are weak at center due to injuries to Harvey Catchings and Caldwell Jones, used 19-year-old Darryl Dawkins at center against veteran Bob Lanier, who led Detroit with 23 points.

Nets 99, Celtics 89

Bubbles Hawkins came off the bench and scored 13 points in the final period as the Nets won for only the second time in 18 games. Boston dropped its sixth game in seven outings.

Kings 119, Trail Blazers 107

Ron Boone scored 28 points, sparking the Kings against Portland, which played without injured center Bill Walton, who is suffering from an inflamed Achilles tendon and may be out of the lineup until next week.

Suns 130, Bucks 113

Alvan Adams looked like the center who was named NBA Rookie of the Year last season as he combined with Paul Westphal for 56 points and 22 assists in leading the Suns over Milwaukee.

Adams scored 15 points in the first quarter and finished with 27 while picking up 10 assists.

SuperSonics 120, Jazz 95

Seattle centers Mike Green and Tommy Burleson combined for 33 points as the Sonics handed New Orleans its 11th consecutive road loss. Burleson, scoreless as a starter, returned to action and scored 17 points in the game's final 18 minutes after Green had replaced him and scored 16.

HER 'SWEDE' HEART — Swedish tennis star Bjorn Borg and his fiancée Mariana Simonescu share an affectionate hug following their signing of a $1.5 million contract with the Cleveland-Pittsburgh Nets of World Team Tennis in New York Wednesday. The signing of a three-year pact with the 20-year-olds capped a four-year international pursuit by team owner Joe Zingale.

WATCH OUT FOR ROSIE — Rosie Casals of Sausalito, Calif. moves to the attack in a singles match at a $100,000 women's tennis tournament Wednesday. She advanced to the quarterfinals with a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Valerie Ziegenfuss of El Cajon, Calif.

The strategy worked but they still lost

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Ask Southern Methodist Coach Sonny Allen. He'll tell you execution is more important than strategy.

"We kept them outside but they shot too well," Allen said after the 14th-ranked Razorbacks pounded his Mustangs 81-58 in a South-west Conference basketball game Wednesday night.

Razorback Marvin Delph was the ringleader in shattering Allen's schemes.

He connected on 69 per cent of his long jumpers and scored a career-high 30 points.

Delph said he was a bit surprised that SMU sagged on defense, in hopes of cutting off the close shots.

"This left me open for the outside shots," Delph said. "This was different than what they did in Dallas, when I got a lot of shots inside."

"We didn't panic," Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton said. "We just waited until things started going our way. Then our good shooters took charge," referring to the first-half rally led by Delph and guard Ron Brewer.

"They're our best shooters, when the going gets tough, they're the guys who have to take charge," Sutton added.

"It was one of the best games we've played," Sutton said. "Perhaps the best home game we've had."

With CBS' out of the run-

But what about Satra?

NEW YORK (AP) — The song has ended but the melody lingers on. NBC is the winner. ABC is the loser. CBS is the dropout. And Satra is still a mystery.

When NBC signed a contract with the Soviets Tuesday for United States television rights to the 1980 Moscow Olympics, the network climaxed an uphill struggle that began nearly two years ago. And that may be just the beginning. We are still 3½ years away from the lighting of the Olympic torch and a lot can happen in that time.

A lot has already happened. Basically, NBC rallied from third place in the Olympic sweepstakes to take the whole thing — a development which surprised most observers. Almost everyone agrees that CBS, in particular, and ABC were most likely to succeed as late as last December. NBC was a dark horse. Satra was a mystery.

But everything changed at a meeting in Moscow in mid-December. CBS went to Russia confident of returning with a signed contract. But the Russians became embroiled in three-pronged internal bickering among the Soviet Olympic Committee, the television ministry and political forces, and CBS lost its advantage.

Stunned, the CBS brass decided to join the other two networks in a pool arrangement. CBS had resisted the idea earlier because officials believed they could get the Games on their own.

The networks submitted a plan for pool coverage to the Justice Department, but almost immediately CBS began to have second thoughts. The plan called for the entire Olympics to be made available to all three networks with each one deciding how much of it to televise. That could have resulted in two weeks of nothing but Olympics on all three networks. And ABC, with its past Olympic track record, could have drawn the majority of the viewers.

CBS decided, all things considered, the risks involved weren't worth the potential rewards. So the network dropped out of the whole project. "There is a feeling here of intense short-term disappointment," said a source, "but immense long-term relief."

With CBS' out of the running, NBC and ABC went back to unilateral negotiations. Satra was still a mystery.

Enter Lothar Bock, a West German who served as CBS emissary to Moscow for 18 months. With CBS out of the picture, Bock offered his services to NBC. A team of NBC negotiators, including Bock, dashed off to Moscow and, by the time ABC arrived, a deal had been concluded.

Terms of the deal reportedly call for about $85 million, $50 million of it up front — $20 million in 1977 and $30 million in 1978. In addition, the network could wind up spending as much as $30 million more in assorted production costs.

Satra came into the picture in December after the networks pulled out of the talks. A New York-based international trading company, Satra signed some sort of agreement with the Russians, but it was never fully explained. The Russians later admitted that the Satra agreement didn't mean much.

Borg is walking, talking conglom

NEW YORK (AP) — At the tender age of 20, Bjorn Borg is a walking, talking, racquet-swinging conglomerate.

His racquet arm belongs to Bancroft. His feet belong to Tretorn, his head to a Swedish brewery called Tuborg and his right shoulder to a Scandinavian air line, SAS.

He gets paid handsomely for appearing on the court in the familiar striped attire of Fila and for driving sports cars made by Saab. He is immortalized in stone by a subsidized sculptor and in a syndicated comic strip. He takes it off the top from a tennis shop in Monte Carlo.

But his heart belongs to Mariana.

"You would have to say Bjorn is one of the wealthiest 20-year-olds in the world," said Bud Stanner, corporate vice-president for Mark McCormack's International Management Corp., in Cleveland, a sprawling firm which is helping Bjorn get rich quick.

"I wouldn't want to say what he is worth — a millionaire and more —" It was Stanner who orchestrated Borg's latest financial coup — a three-year, $1.5-million contract to play this summer for the Cleveland Nets in World Team Tennis.

One of the provisions is that Borg gets to bring along his pretty fiancée, Mariana Simonescu, 20, of Romania, a promising young tennis player in her own right.

Mariana was part of the package. Borg insisted on that. TV tycoon Joe Zingale, owner of the Nets, meekly acquiesced. The important thing: Keep Bjorn happy.

The golden-haired Swede is typical of the manner in which top professional athletes are packaged and sold. They are figuratively cut up and parceled out like choice pieces of beef.

Borg is a quiet, introverted young man who, like another famous Swede, Greta Garbo, probably would much prefer to be alone — with Mariana. Yet he was picked up in North Little Rock, Ark., early Wednesday morning, after playing a match the night before, and flown by chartered jet to face a battery of news and camera men at noon at fashionable 21 Club in New York. Then he was jetted to Cleveland for another press conference at 4 p.m. and from there to Pittsburgh for yet another at 7:30, flying back to Arkansas before midnight.

It's one of the burdens to be borne by a modern sports superstar, part of the blood he must shed for his fame and fortune.

Slow pitch meets Mon.

The Big Spring Slow Pitch Softball Association will meet at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 7, in the Reddy Room of the Texas Electric Building.

Officers for the 1977 season will be elected at that time.

Those teams who participated in 1976 are urged to have their manager or a team representative present, and new teams who would like to play are also encouraged to attend.

For additional information, contact Boyce Hale at 267-2655 or 267-6957.

Hawks must beat Odessa

The Howard College Hawks will be in Odessa tonight to see if they can break a road jinx that has plagued them throughout WJCAC competition this season. They have yet to win a loop game outside their own camp.

Tonight's contest is not the ideal one to try to break the jinx either. The Broncos no doubt remember the 81-80 overtime defeat they suffered in Hawk gym and will be ready to avenge the loss on their homecourt. The Hawk Queens should have very little trouble besting their Odessa competition in the preliminary game. The Odessa fems were "doubled" 92-46 by the Queens the last time the two teams met.

The winner of tonight's game will probably have the inside track to be the fourth team from this conference that will attend the Region V tournament in Abilene in March. The Hawks are currently 6-5, while Odessa sports a 5-6 record.

There is an outside chance, however, that five teams from the WJCAC will be making the trip to Region V. I talked Wednesday with David Pickle, sports writer for the Waco News-Tribune, and he indicated that the Northern Conference isn't faring that well this year. In fact, there are only two teams out of the eight who have winning season records.

Here are the current standings in the NJCAC: Hill — 16-4, 5-1; McClennan — 15-3, 5-1; Grayson — 9-10, 4-1; Cisco — 9-9, 3-3; Southwest Christian — 9-12, 2-4; Cooke — 8-11, 3-3; Ranger — 7-8, 2-4; Weatherford — 7-11, 2-3.

Ex-Hawk coach Buddy Travis leads Grayson now, and a possible meeting between the Hawks and Buddy's team could ensue. The Preybirds have already bombed Cisco and Southwest Christian this season, but have yet to mix it up with any of the other teams.

Hill, McClennan and Grayson will probably be the three quintets from the NJCAC to make the trek to Abilene, but unless the other teams improve their records, the two "wild card" teams will probably come from the WJCAC.

Western Texas, currently with a 22-2 and 9-2 record is the only team in the WJCAC that is sure to go to Region V. Midland, Howard, Odessa and Amarillo are all scrapping it out for the second through fifth slot. Clarendon and NMMI also have a shot at a berth.

Assistant coach Leroy McClendon stated that "we're not even going to worry about the fourth or fifth position. We're going to be one of the top three teams so we'll be assured of going."

The Hawks have a tough row to hoe before they see Region V, but a win tonight over Odessa, breaking the psychological block on road games, will be a step in the right direction.

Emile wins in 20th season

NEW YORK (AP) — He stood there in the center of the ring, and the grin on his face beamed his feelings as the Madison Square Garden crowd cheers poured over him.

There could not have been a better birthday present for Emile Griffith, who was 39 today, the day after opening his 20th season as a pro fighter with a victory in a 10-round middleweight fight.

"It made him feel terrific," said Howie Albert, who got Griffith into the fight game and still is with the former five-time world welterweight and middleweight champion.

The opponent was 25-year-old Christy Elliott, the decision was as close as it could be, but this time the boos most certainly would have come if Griffith had lost what was his 28th Garden appearance and his first fight in the United States since Nov. 22, 1974.

It was not always that way. As a champion and challenger, Griffith often was booed as a winner in his hometown.

"That was beautiful," said Griffith. "Maybe I oughta stay away more often. That way, when I come back, they'll love me more. I'm very glad to be back home. I like traveling, but not that much."

The decision was a majority one — one judge voting for Griffith, one calling it a draw and referee Arthur Mercante scoring it even but awarding the fight to Griffith on his strong finish, which can be done under New York rules.

"I could have knocked him out," said Griffith, who relied on a left hand, which he applied like an artist's brush, and the ringmanship he has picked up from fighting the best welterweight and middleweights in the world over the last 16 years.

One of the few right hands Griffith threw was to the body in the eighth round, and it hurt Elliott, an Irishman living in Clifton, N.J., who faded in the last three rounds as Emile came on in what he said "seemed like a good workout in the gym."

The victory was the 86th against 21 losses and two draws for Griffith and it was made sweeter by the affectionate ovation offered by the crowd of 10,930 that paid $103,457.

DISTRICT WINNERS — Shown here with Chairman W.D. Berry are the two district winners in the Big Spring Elks Lodge "State Hoop-Shoot, Free-throw Contest." They are Vicky Baggett and Karla Cregar.

Two local girls in Hoop regionals

The Texas Elks' Associations "State Hoop-Shoot, Free-throw Contest" will be held at 2:00 p.m. Saturday in the Gregory Gymnasium at the University of Texas in Austin. First place winners of all ten Elks' Districts in the State will compete to advance to the Region Contest, February 19, at the Moody Coliseum, SMU, Dallas.

The Region winners will advance to the National Contest in Kansas City, March 26. These contests will be on National Television.

There will be a total of 60 of the best "free-throwers" in the State competing — 30 boys and 30 girls. Elks' West Texas District will have very strong contenders in the contest.

Last year Big Spring Lodge placed three State winners to the Region. This year Big Spring Lodge will have two District winners, Vicky Baggett, in the 10-11-year-old group, and Karla Cregar, in the 12-13-year group. Both girls are previous State winners in the lower age groups. Both are students of the Forsan School System.

The six boys and girls to represent the West Texas District are: Girls 8-9, Nina Rae Anderson, El Paso; 12-13 Vicky Baggett, and 10-11, Karla Cregar. Boys: 8-9, San Oliver of El Paso; 10-11, Scott Cluff of El Paso; and Gregg McDonald in the 12-13 age group, of Odessa.

Donnie Trimm is the Youth Activities Chairman of the Big Spring Lodge, and W.D. Berry, P.E.R., Big Spring Lodge is the District Chairman.

Peppler for Williams

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oiler owner K.S. "Bud" Adams has a habit of eventually hiring some of his former pro football enemies.

After battling for years with irascible Sid Gillman, Adams hired Gillman for a tour as coach and general manager.

Adams did it again Wednesday when Pat Peppler, interim coach and general manager of the Atlanta Falcons last season, was named assistant general manager of the Oilers, replacing Tom Williams, who was fired Tuesday.

Peppler and Adams locked horns in the early days of the old American football League and National Football League when both the Oilers and green Bay, where Peppler then was assistant general manager, drafted All-American Texas Tech running back Donny Anderson.

Anderson eventually signed with the Packers but Adams proved again that he doesn't bear a grudge.

"Let's just say that we're on the same side now and I'm glad of it," Peppler said. "When we drafted Anderson as a red-shirt, Vince (Lombardi) told me 'well there's your project for next year.'"

YOUNG IDEAS

By DICK YOUNG

NEWS ITEM: CARDINALS ADOPT DRESS CODE
It's a hair code, really. The word had gone out from the new manager, Vern Rapp: No beards. No mustaches. No mutton-chop sideburns. No Afros. No nordic hair creeping down the back nor tied in a pony-tail.

Vern Rapp had these rules on teams he has managed in the minors. He isn't copying the Reds or Yankees, although he will remind you that it can't be a bad idea when you consider that the Reds and Yankees, two haircut teams, were in the World Series.

The usual objections will be heard; not from the St. Louis ballplayers particularly, but from the great liberals, with their simplistic philosophy.

"The length of a man's hair has nothing to do with the size of his batting average," they will tell you, as though they had discovered some profound truism. "A smooth shave does not make a smooth fielder."

True, true, true. Wise, wise, wise. I have never heard of an outfielder dropping a fly ball because his beard got caught in his glove, nor do I have to be reminded of that.

The establishment of discipline on a team goes deeper than the simplistic arguments of libertarians. Discipline builds character, and character leads to superior achievement.

When George Steinbrenner invoked his dress-and-shave code for the Yankees, he took a lot of kidding. He'd walk into the clubhouse, and somebody in the back of the room would say, "Here comes General Patton," and somebody else would shout: "Hut-Ten-Shun!"

Steinbrenner would laugh along with them, but the rules stuck, and the Yankees began winning games they hadn't won before.

"There was some bitching at first," recalls Thurman Munson, "but no real resentment. In fact we had a lot of fun with it."

Vern Rapp isn't promising that smooth faces will win a pennant for St. Louis, but he thinks it's a beginning.

NEWS ITEM: OWNER GREED PERILS TEAM SPORTS
Jack Nicklaus said that, and he's right. He proposed that the owners get together to agree on where to draw the salary line, and he's wrong.

"The owners could stop all this tomorrow," he said. "All they have to do is get together and agree on what and where they want to end it. It's as simple as that."

The only thing wrong with Nicklaus' simple solution is that it's against the law. If just two of the 26 Lords of Baseball are found getting together to limit bidding on free agents, the government would hit them with an antitrust action so fast, Marvin Miller wouldn't have time to complain.

Don't feel bad, Jack. You'd be surprised how many people are laboring under the same misconception you are. The next time you're out there in the solitude of the fairway, and you want to give thought support to baseball and football, and basketball, to keep them from going broke, go right ahead, but keep one thing in mind: The athletes can get together to discuss salary strategy, and it's called organized labor. If the owners try the same thing it's called collusion, and everybody goes to jail. It's your America.

Teens, $486,000 in unclaimed cash 'mystery'

ALICE, Tex. (AP) — The bizarre events surrounding two juveniles and $486,000 in unclaimed cash has taken a strange turn as one of the boys' relatives advised them to "stay in Waco."

The two Alice high school students were detained in Waco Monday after being stopped for a traffic violation in a just-purchased 1977 Thunderbird.

Officers found a bag of marijuana, an automatic pistol and two suitcases filled with money.

Juvenile authorities in Waco filed petitions late Wednesday accusing the 15-year-old of marijuana possession and the 16-year-old with possession of a prohibited weapon.

State District Court Judge Bill Loge set a Feb. 24 hearing date on the petitions.

"I think the boys are a lot safer in Waco," said the relative Wednesday in Alice. "A lot of drug traffic comes through the Alice area. You have to put two and two together. How many people have that much money just sitting around the house? If it was money that had been saved, why didn't someone claim it? Dope dealers don't like to be burned for half a million dollars."

If no one does claim the money, it may be returned to the two teenagers, the Dallas

Morning News quoted a judge as saying.

"Our laws would require its return unless officers show it was stolen or someone steps forward with proof they took the cash after it was misplaced. And considering the circumstances, I doubt anyone will come forward," the judge said. The relative claims one of the boys got the money from his father's ranchhouse after a family argument.

"The boys got that money and just went berserk," he said.

In a hastily-called news conference Wednesday — the first held in the Jim Wells

County courthouse since the infamous Ballot Box 13 episode in 1948 — the county sheriff, Monroe Whitman, and Alice Police Chief Juan Rodriguez said their attempts to locate either the ranch or the boys' father had proved futile.

"We don't have any arrest warrants issued and we haven't gotten any search warrants," said Rodriguez.

The police chief and sheriff remained tight-lipped during the 55-minute session because, as Rodriguez said:

"Our main function is to cooperate with the Waco police. If we make any statements now, it would be detrimental to our efforts and the efforts of the Waco police department."

They did admit, however, that the search for the ranch centered on an area north of Alice.

"We have a man checking the county courthouse records to see if this boy's father or stepfather has a title in his name, but that takes time," said Whitman.

Teams of mud-splattered deputies and policemen combed the area inundated by weeklong rains, asking ranchers for information about the boy's father.

The other other boy's parents, accompanied by a lawyer, headed for Waco Wednesday to visit their son.

Artificial reefs aid marine life studies

WASHINGTON (AP) — When American bombers sank the Fujikawa Maru in the Truk lagoon 32 years ago, no one thought they were doing marine biologists a favor. But today the Fujikawa Maru and other sunken Japanese transports, warships and supply craft form the world's largest collection of artificial reefs, and one whose age is precisely known, says National Geographic.

In 1975 marine biologist Sylvia A. Earle began studying the marine growths on the drowned fleet. "It offers invaluable clues to the growth rates and patterns of the abundant marine life that congregates around submerged reefs," she points out.

The marine growths have transformed the warships, garlanding the guns and growing like chrysanthemums out of the decks, Dr. Earle said.

The Last of the Titans' in hospital

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — F. Edward Hebert, 76, of New Orleans, who retired last month after 35 years in Congress, is hospitalized in serious condition with heart disease.

A Hotel Dieu spokesman said Wednesday that Hebert was admitted Jan. 26 "for evaluation of treatment of heart disease. His present condition is listed as serious."

However, the spokesman said that Hebert had not had a heart attack.

Hebert, who had won reelection to the House 18 times from a district that included part of New Orleans and adjacent parishes, did not seek re-election last year.

In 1975, the House Democratic Caucus unseated him as chairman of the house Armed Services Committee, which as the ranking Democrat he had headed for four years.

The ouster movement was led by young congressmen opposed the seniority system and Hebert's hawkish military views. But he said it wasn't the reason he retired.

"I want to be able to take the last curtain call while still sound in mind and body," he explained. He published an autobiography last summer entitled "The Last of the Titans."

Hebert was a newspaperman until he was first elected to Congress in 1940.

As city editor of the New Orleans States, Hebert broke the Louisiana hayride scandals that toppled the Huey Long political machine in the state.

As a congressman, Hebert was a member of several investigating committees. He was active in the House Un-American Activities Committee's investigation of Alger Hiss.

Hebert had a reputation as the military's captive friend in Congress. But he sometimes surprised his critics. In 1970, his My Lai investigating committee issued a strong report against the Army and the State Department, accusing them of covering up the massacre.

Clues hint killers of JFK, King did not act alone

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Assassinations Committee, given two months to prove his panel should stay in business, says he has new evidence that indicates the killers of John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr. did not act alone.

After the House voted Wednesday night to continue the panel through March 31, Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., told reporters that he has new, uncorroborated evidence of conspiracies in each assassination.

"We have threshold evidence, not yet completely corroborated and cross-checked, that indicates the strong possibility that James Earl Ray did not act alone" in the King slaying and that Lee Harvey Oswald was not alone in killing Kennedy, said Gonzalez.

The assassinations panel was established last September, but a controversy developed over its request for a budget of $6.5 million a year and its chief counsel, Richard A. Sprague. The two-month extension was a compromise, and Gonzalez will have to work with $84,000 a month.

Gonzalez said the new evidence had developed since the committee issued its preliminary report in December. He declined to elaborate, saying it might jeopardize the investigation, and he stressed that the leads still have to be checked out closely.

His remarks conflicted directly with a Justice Department report leaked earlier Wednesday that concluded Ray alone killed King.

After a 10-month investigation, a team of Justice Department lawyers rejected theories that Ray was only a cog in a conspiracy to assassinate the civil rights leader.

Tulsa enters no contest plea

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A Tulsa man has pleaded no contest to first degree manslaughter in the August shooting death of a Center, Tex., man.

Ronald Paul Bachman, 30, was ordered to appear in court again Feb. 23 for sentencing. He originally was charged with second degree murder in the Aug. 17 shooting of Ron Earl Finch, 26.

Authorities said evidence supported the manslaughter charge because the victim had burglarized Bachman's home and was armed with a hunting knife.

Finch was staying at the home, along with Bachman and members of a rock band. Bachman discovered Finch trying to leave with Bachman's property and the two struggled over a gun, authorities said.

Finch was shot once in the chest.

Red measles 'epidemic'

HOUSTON (AP) — The chief of the Harris County Health Department says at least 70 cases of red measles have been reported from Baytown and nearby communities since mid December.

Dr. David Williams said Wednesday the outbreak has turned into "full-fledged epidemic."

"We are really concerned and have been working with the school districts in that part of the county as well as the private physicians to get adequate immunization records and to encourage protection where needed," Williams said.

While the largest number of measles cases have been reported from the Baytown area, City of Houston Health Department officials also expressed concern over "a big increase" in incidents.

Dr. Ardash Payne, chief of the city health unit's immunization program, said 11 cases have been confirmed so far this year and another eight are suspected.

"That's more than all of the cases reported to us last year and a big increase over 1975," she said.

Blast caused by dynamite?

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A stick of dynamite probably was responsible for a mysterious explosion last month that knocked a hole in the roof of the W.T. Willis home, according to Abilene police.

The Jan. 13 blast had police and fire investigators baffled for awhile, but police Capt. George Sutton said Wednesday investigators "are more than 50 per cent sure" the blast was caused by dynamite thrown on the roof of the Willis home.

He said a blasting cap probably had been attached to the dynamite.

While awaiting the results of laboratory tests on evidence found at the scene, Sutton declined to comment on possible suspects or the motive for the bombing.

Big exhibition of fem artists

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first international exhibition of work by women artists is on display at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. The exhibit, "Women Artists: 1550-1950," is designed to illustrate the contribution that women artists have made to Western culture during the past four centuries.

"Paintings by women are generally seen as a minority phenomenon — both numerically and in terms of historical significance," states Jeanne D'Andrea, the museum's coordinator of exhibitions and publications. "This exhibition should make clear that in terms of style, subject matter and technique there are no perceptible distinctions between the approaches of the male and female artist."

THE LOCAL WITH TWO ROOFS — Drinkers at The Shears pub in Halifax, England have not only one, but two roofs over their heads. The Shears had been scheduled to be demolished to make way for a new road, but workers at a nearby mill objected, so the pub was nicely tucked away under the road.

Business activity up in T&P Railroad area

Business activity has been picking up in the area on both sides of the T&P Railroad in recent weeks. On the North Side, the Big Spring Seed and Chemical Company is in the former Co-op Gin No. 1 office building. Bryan Eubanks is operating the firm there and is quite pleased with the location of the building, which belongs to Bob Wegner. "There is a lot of rural traffic up and down this street north of the railroad," Eubanks pointed out. The gin office used to almost be a community center for rural people who years ago brought eggs and butter to sell at that location. In later years, a payroll center was operated in the gin office for bracero payrolls with the building containing a vault. Currently, the office

with Marj Carpenter

There are a few groups that receive little recognition during the Campus Revue each year that work extremely hard. They have the title of crews... and that is a synonym for hard work. Sonny Shroyer has worked eight years with the sound crews and has been assisted for the past two seasons by Richard Egan. Some of their highlights through the years include the time that they were presented their first electronic cordless microphone. "Boy, we learned a lot that year about the miracle of that little instrument," Shroyer recalls. This year's student crew included Rusty Mitchell, head; Steve Hodges, Susan Bristol, Lisa Griffice, Johnnie Blalack, Mike Thomas and David McCutcheon.

head and Alan Bristol, Marty Herron, Pete McDonald, Kerry Whitley and David Smith. One of their exciting moments this season was when a heavy set man ran into the floodlight stand in the dark at the Thursday performance of the second week. That spotlight literally zipped up and down all over that stage until the platform quit rocking.

The stage crew may have had the most fun of all this year. Carl Ribherd heads the adults and this year he had to call on a bunch of them after CR received a threatening letter telling them that something disastrous was to occur. Since the night before the letter arrived, they had a strange 20-year-old visitor in a suit who clamored around backstage and even went down under the stage. Ribherd called for volunteer parents to watch the entrances.

They had a rubber stamp which they stamped people who were allowed backstage because all of the parents did not know all of the kids. They had just enough strange things happen to unnerve them completely. Alan Partee won student head of the stage crew. The crew included Terry Fortson, Bruce Ziman, Gene Cummings, Kevin Jorday, Benny Bradberry, Suzanne Orr, Craig Strong, Renald Matteson and James Martin. I saved Martin for last because he created a lot of excitement one night by falling completely through one part of the stage to a section below. What's going on backstage is pretty exciting and it's a marvelous credit to these crews that there are so few production mistakes. When that cast gathers backstage for their moment of silence and prayer prior to the opening of the curtain, they must wish away a bunch of those mistakes by pure desire. Despite all of this, they have some wired things happen. When the anonymous stranger backstage was finally thrown out in the parking lot at one performance, he came right back to prowl around some more. Nobody ever did figure out who he was. After security was tightened, they had no more incidents.

But it certainly added a tinge of excitement to the backstage whirl. When one of the girls started the word that some guy was hiding under the stage and grabbing at the girls, the backstage crews had a moment of real panic and lots of hysterical girls until it was all scratched as simply a rumor. They needed a fence and finally found a fence of human beings to keep only the cast and crews backstage at CR. Believe me, that's enough. There's a lot of them. I went backstage and watched the madness last week when I was out ridin' fence. P.S. I was stamped.

Americans lack vitamin data

NUTLEY, N.J. (AP) — According to a recent nationwide survey conducted by the Response Analysis Corp., Americans know vitamins are important, yet lack specific vitamin information. The study revealed that less than 20 per cent of those interviewed knew that vitamin B12 is missing in a totally vegetarian diet or that vitamin E may be low in high polyunsaturate diets. And just 10 per cent recognized that vitamin B2 is in particularly good supply in milk.

third week — examining the development of the United States, 1776-1976; fourth week — looking at American in its third century. Black History Month also calls increased attention to insuring equal opportunities for blacks in all facets of American life, as is guaranteed them and all citizens by law. It lauds the progress of the past and addresses the challenges of the present.

How to Use Chop Sticks
If you can write with a pen, you can eat with chopsticks. Take the first chopstick and hold it as you would a pencil with thumb, index and middle fingers at a point about two-thirds of the way up. Straighten out the index and middle fingers allowing the chopstick to lie flat against them and slide the thumb upward. Now, with the thumb resting lightly on the chopstick, move the index and middle fingers back and forth together. The chopstick will move with them as a unit. Practice this motion for three or four minutes remembering to keep the thumb in place. Relax — that's half the battle.
Now for the second chopstick. Place it under the heel of the thumb in such a position that its tip touches the tip of the first chopstick. Get it? Now bring the tip of the ring finger under the second chopstick and press upward.
