

Oil producers upset with chat

HOUSTON (AP) — Oil operators are a little upset that President Carter questioned their honest in his fireside chat last week.

They didn't like it when Carter remarked that the oil and gas companies "must be honest with the people about their reserves and profits."

Michael T. Halbouty, an independent operator and internationally known geologist, said the Carter comment "shocked me, both as an oilman and a citizen." "This is an implication there are a bunch of liars and thieves in the oil industry," Halbouty said. Halbouty said the nation would not be as great as it is if it were not for the oil industry.

large deliverability of our Bammel storage field," he said.

Gas is purchased by Houston Natural during periods of low demand and stored in the field northwest of Houston for use in peak periods.

"I'll guarantee that there is not one developed source of natural gas, unless it came in the last three days, that is not going to the markets," Herring said.

Herring said Houston Natural's intrastate gas pipeline subsidiary is selling 3 million cubic feet of gas to the Columbia Gas System, Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp., and United Gas Pipeline Co. to help relieve shortages along the interstate systems.

W.J. Bowen, president of Transco Companies Inc., said the interstate pipeline systems are "completely regulated" by the Federal Power Commission.

"The FPC knows where every penny is," Bowen said.

Transco's transcontinental gas pipeline is operating under a 44 per cent curtailment program because of supply shortages.

Carter declares major disaster area

By The Associated Press

The eastern half of the nation was put to the test last week as blizzards and frigid weather turned everyday life into a struggle for endurance and put severe strains on supplies of natural gas.

By Saturday, the worst of the cold appeared ended for most areas. But the problems caused by the weather were far from over.

Rapid passage of energy legislation requested by President Carter enabled the administration to divert natural gas from the West and move it to fuel-starved areas of the East and Midwest.

But there was not enough fuel to reopen factories which have a low priority on the list of natural gas users and an estimated 1.5 million American workers remained off the job.

Schoolchildren in many areas got an unexpected holiday as classrooms were closed to conserve natural gas needed for homes and hospitals.

The cost of the cold was still mounting. The legislation that enabled Carter to allocate gas to places where it was needed most, also allowed pipelines to temporarily purchase the fuel at prices higher than current federally regulated levels.

Utilities said the higher priced natural gas mixed in with regular supplies would not cause a severe boost in customers' bills. But there were estimates that the cold itself would add billions to heating costs as well as food prices.

The week started with a snowstorm that hit hardest at Buffalo, N.Y., virtually isolating the city. Thirteen persons died in the upstate New York community; they were among nearly 100 cold victims across the country. As the week wore on, the snow continued intermittently.

President Carter on Saturday declared nine northern and western New York counties, including Buffalo, a disaster area.

"This is something that is rarely done except under extreme circumstances," Carter said as he signed the declaration.

It will provide unemployment assistance for the self-employed and migrant workers, low-interest loans for businessmen and home owners, and emergency food stamps.

By midweek, in most areas, temperatures had moderated somewhat, moving into the 20s. "It has stabilized," said Harold Meyer of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission. "It hasn't worsened." But Meyer warned: "We aren't out of the woods until the end of February and problems could still develop in March."

Like Buffalo, Preston County, W.Va., was inundated with snow — nearly 200 inches this season. "It's unbelievable how some people are living," said Pvt. Joe Williams, 20, a National Guardsman on emergency duty in the county. "It's been below freezing in some of these houses," he said. "People are just cut off from everything."

Richard Wolfe, Preston's director of emergency services, said his part-time office has been on overtime for several weeks. "It's been a losing battle," he said. "As soon as we get a road cleared, the wind shifts the snow and buries it again."

Individuals turned down their thermostats; many, like Carter in his "fireside chat" to the nation Wednesday night, wore sweaters indoors. Businesses were required to limit their hours of operation and keep temperatures low. The curtailments cost millions. But there were some unexpected benefits.

"I love it," said A. D. Chewning, owner of a Roanoke, Va., grocery store that used to be open from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. and now operates from noon to 6 p.m. "I haven't lived for years," Chewning said. "I'm doin' almost as much business in six hours as I used to do in 17 and I'm saving on heat and electricity."

RELIEF FOR BUFFALO — President Carter, clad in a cardigan sweater, signs a disaster relief declaration for cold stricken Buffalo New York in the Oval Office of the White House Saturday. Carter wears a sweater to chase the chill in the lowered-temperature Executive Mansion as he inks the measure.

Choate leads group to D.C.

The case for Webb Air Force Base will again be pressed in Washington, D.C., this week.

Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate, chairman of the Legislative Affairs Committee, will be leading a delegation for a two or three-day visit.

The Big Spring delegation will be meeting with senators and congressmen as well as others in Washington to discuss Webb.

Specific plans for the trip are still being made, but the stops will probably include another trip to the Pentagon.

Webb, which was announced as a candidate to be closed last March 11, has been the subject of an environmental impact study for the past year along with five other Air Training Command bases which have been listed as either candidates or alternates to be closed.

The Air Force has said that the final environmental impact statement was expected to be filed on Tuesday or Wednesday. The filing of this statement will make possible a decision on the future of Webb and the other five bases.

The Air Force has said this decision will be made by the Secretary of the Air Force, but the Carter Administration's new secretary has yet to be appointed.

Air Force officials have indicated that the decision will await the arrival of a new Air Force secretary, possibly delaying it for several months.

The Big Spring delegation will be visiting Washington on Wednesday and Thursday. Air Force officials have said that the final impact statement would not be made public until a decision is made. The decision could come as early as March or as late as May, depending upon how much reassessment might be done by a new Air Force secretary.

The present secretary, Thomas Reed, was an appointee of the Ford Administration. Reed has said that he will probably not make the decision. This could change, however, if there should be a long delay in finding a new Air Force secretary.

In addition to Mayor Choate, others from Big Spring who will be involved in these Washington talks this week are expected to be R.H. Weaver, J.H. Gray, Ben Bancroft and J. Tom Graham.

CBer pursues stolen vehicle

A stolen car, a mysterious CBER, and a missing wreck combined Saturday night to temporarily perplex Big Spring police.

The police received a call from a CBER who had witnessed a hit-and-run accident at a local store and had hit out in pursuit of the white car. Police had trouble locating the store from the vague report, and especially the "wrecked vehicle" which was not in the area when officers arrived on the scene.

Meanwhile, by tracing the registration of the car on information given by the caller, police found that the car being followed had been stolen from the Sacred Heart Church, on the north side of Big Spring.

CBER and quarry dropped from sight at 9 p.m. at the Forsan cutoff on south Highway 87 despite a security unit which was apparently in pursuit. The location of the fading vehicle was passed on to Sterling City police.

The vehicle or the driver had not been located as of press time.

Action/reaction: Locked doors

Q. Why are the inside side doors of the Hawk gymnasium chained during games. Does this create a fire hazard?

A. If the locks were locked, it would be a fire hazard. The padlocks are unlocked before each game and attendants instructed to quickly open them in case of emergency. They are chained to save on paying attendants to watch every door.

All tickets are sold at the front door, according to college officials.

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Harvey Gartley lost his boxing match by dancing himself to the canvas in the first round. His opponent never landed a punch.

Ringside observers said Gartley "danced himself into exhaustion" and collapsed after 47 seconds. His opponent, Dennis Oulette of Rogers City, was awarded a technical knockout victory.

The nonbattle came in the preliminaries of the 15th annual Saginaw Regional Golden Gloves Tournament.

Gartley, of Saginaw, was the target of several punches by Oulette in Monday's fight, but none of them connected.

Invite Carter into your home?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next time President Carter is visiting your area, invite him to spend the night. He might take you up on it.

Carter is considering staying in private homes in some of his travels around the country and to have American citizens meet with him in the White House as part of an effort to bring the presidency closer to the people.

The White House is looking into the legality of having a private institution pick up the tab for those citizens to visit Washington and spend an evening with the President.

Herald to help you 'talk' to the President

President Carter has asked for an input of ideas by the people to accelerate the nation's economic growth and improve the quality of life.

The Herald is willing to cooperate with the President and serve as an agency for receiving the suggestions.

Those individuals who reason they can propose ways to help are encouraged to compose letters and forward them directly to the Herald. Mark them in care of the Suggestions for the President Dept., c/o The Herald, Box 1491, Big Spring, Tex. 79720.

Contributors need not limit their suggestions to subjects like the retention of Webb AFB or the conservation of fuel, although such ideas are welcome.

Letters with merit will be edited for a special section planned by the newspaper. The section will be forwarded to the White House for review.

Those who would contribute ideas for such a section are encouraged to limit their suggestions to two pages or less and to get them in the mail no later than Feb. 20.

All will be carefully read and assayed by members of the Herald staff.

Motorman to blame for el crash?

CHICAGO (AP) — City transit officials Saturday blamed a 34-year-old motorman for a rush-hour elevated train collision that killed 11 persons and left 200 injured.

James McDonough, chairman of the Chicago Transit Authority, said the Loop elevated train system remains safe for commuters despite Friday night's collision that sent cars and passengers plummeting onto a downtown street. Some riders were buried under tons of twisted metal.

As federal and local investigations opened an investigation into the latest tragedy on the accident-plagued Loop "L," which was constructed in the 1890s, McDonough told a news conference that safety equipment installed after the last serious crash remains in proper working order.

Although he blamed motorman Stephen Martin, who remained in serious condition in a hospital, McDonough refused to say precisely what the driver of the train had done wrong. He said investigators questioned Martin and the answers convinced him the problem was "man failure."

Meanwhile, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., told reporters the wreck should hasten the replacement of the "L," which has been troubled by a series of major accidents over the years.

Percy said the tragedy should add impetus for action on a 5-year-old plan to tear down the elevated tracks that circle the 7-block by 5-block Loop in the downtown district and put in a subway system.

Chicago's elevated trains and subways are the main mode of transportation to work for hundreds of thousands of workers.

In 1972, state officials announced that the federal government had awarded $5.8 million to the city to study a Loop subway to replace the "L." Chicago recently got another grant of $3.5 million for engineering and environmental studies for the project.

Although officials said they hoped to get the project rolling before this year, the plan supported by both the late Mayor Richard J. Daley and acting Mayor Michael A. Bilandic, tentatively known as the Franklin Street subway, has been stalled. The city says it lacks money to begin the work.

McDonough said he was "confident that the CTA system is safe ... and even though the investigation is not complete and is very preliminary" the cause was "man failure."

Preliminary testing of Martin for drugs or alcohol proved negative, McDonough said.

Martin's train, a Lake-Dan Ryan train bound for the western suburb of Oak Park, slammed into the rear of a Ravenswood train headed for the Northwest Side, at about 5:30 p.m. at Lake Street and Wabash Avenue — the northeast corner of the Loop. The lead train was stopped on the tracks.

Two cars lay in the street on their sides. One came to rest with one end on the pavement and the other leaning against the superstructure that supports the tracks. A fourth dangled from the girders, one end resting on one of the horizontal coaches.

One-dimensional characters?

with Tommy Hart

A woman called to say she thought the television blockbuster, "Roots," was good theater but the characters were one-dimensional — the whites were portrayed as blackguards all and the blacks invariably of noble character.

Not all Southerners owned slaves in the middle 1800s, the caller reminded; in fact, there were those who were thoroughly repelled by the thought of human bondage. Should West Texans, for instance, share a guilt complex with other Southerners? Probably not, the caller thought — the first white settler hadn't even arrived in West Texas when U.S. Grant and Robert E. Lee met at Appomattox to declare an end to hostilities in the War Between The States, an event which served to outlaw slavery forever in America.

The concerned viewer conceded that great cruelty and terror were often visited upon the slaves, sins for which America is still feeling remorse, but pointed out that the American Negro — when compared to his cousins in Africa has made tremendous strides.

The lucky ones who were not enslaved are still living much as they did in Africa 125 years ago — under thatched roofs, hunting down their food with spears, often discriminated against by their own kind. Those subjected to the indignities of servitude and then liberated have progressed to the point that some write books that make them independent for life. Countless others are distinguishing themselves in a variety of other endeavors.

Despite their incredible hardships, the Africans have moved farther up the ladder toward respectability and acceptance on this side of the great waters of the Atlantic than anywhere else in the world.

The caller also expressed some concern that the television epic, even though it did point to the importance of taking pride in one's heritage, might very well stack unnecessary pressures on the relationships of the two races and what we don't need now in these parlous times are new stresses within the social structure.

Federal officials get raises

WASHINGTON (AP)—An elite group of Washington-area families can look forward to March 1 when they'll apparently get a healthy boost in income.

They include the Mondales, the Burgers, the O'Neills and the Byrds, the Vances and Browns and the families of other high government officials.

All told, members of Congress, Supreme Court justices, Cabinet members and other top executive department officials and a smattering of other high-level bureaucrats such as the librarian of Congress will get the pay increases unless Congress rejects the hikes.

Such a rejection appears unlikely.

The planned pay hikes would raise salaries of Senate and House members to $57,500 a year from the current $44,600. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, Vice President Walter F. Mondale and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger would have their salaries increased to $75,000 from $65,500.

All Cabinet members, such as Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Defense Secretary Harold Brown would get a $3,000 raise to $66,000. Associate Supreme Court justices would go to $72,000 from $69,000.

Lower federal court judges would get a raise to $54,500 from $42,500 and some 20,000 top civil servants whose salaries have been frozen at $39,000 for several years would receive hikes of up to $7,900.

Out of all the people who will benefit from the pay raise, one group had a chance to say, "No, thanks." That was Congress which has until Feb. 19, to reject the recommendation submitted by former President Gerald R. Ford.

Unless the House or Senate votes to reject by that date, the pay increases automatically go into effect.

The Senate voted 56 to 42 last week to table a motion to reject the pay raise. And the House apparently isn't going to vote at all. That was assured when the leadership sent the matter to the Post Office and Civil Service Committee which plans three days of hearings this week.

Then, before the committee can do anything else, the House will break for its annual Lincoln Day recess.

When the House returns on the 16th, the committee will meet and decide if it wants to recommend that the House reject the pay raise, an action not considered very likely.

But if the committee did recommend rejection, there still wouldn't be enough time to bring the matter to a vote on the House floor before the Feb. 19 deadline expired.

Under the House rules, matters reported to the full House for a vote must lay over for three days after the report has been printed in order to give members ample time to study the measure.

So, by its silence, the House indirectly will give final approval to the controversial salary measure.

U.S. asks help for economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration is stepping up pressure on Japan and Germany to follow the U.S. lead in expanding their domestic economies to help the rest of the world.

Two top Carter administration economic officials made that clear to newsmen last week after their return with Vice President Walter F. Mondale from his globe-circling visit to major U.S. allies.

The administration's pressure is directed chiefly at Japan and Germany for two reasons:

—Their economies, along with that of the United States, are the only ones large enough and sufficiently healthy to be able to help the rest of the world.

—The United States clearly feels both have been dragging their feet up to now. This attitude isn't new with the Carter administration. Many top officials of the Ford administration "felt the same way."

What prompts the renewed pressure from the Carter administration is worry over the state of the world economy, which, like the U.S. economy, is in the aftermath of the worst recession since the 1930s.

Richard Cooper, undersecretary of state for economic affairs, said that while the world economy has started to recover, "it is a slow recovery and a fragile one. There is cause for concern, if not anxiety."

Not only the world's poor nations, but also some of the normally wealthy ones, especially Great Britain and Italy, have had to borrow heavily to get through the problems caused in large part by the fourfold increase in world oil prices.

Cooper said the heavy borrowing cannot continue unchecked, and that steps must be taken to ease the burden on poor nations and struggling industrial nations to keep their economies from crumbling further.

The unstated assumption for this concern is that if one major economy should go, then others could follow suit. The same is true for poor nations and their debts.

Police beat fleeing student arrested Friday

A Howard College student was arrested Friday night at 11 p.m. by Officer Mike Hillers after a high-speed chase down Gregg Street.

According to Hillers, he attempted to pull the student over after clocking him at 42 miles-per-hour in a 30-m.p.h. zone, but the car took off at speeds up to 70-m.p.h. from 4th St. to the north. The student was apprehended and arrested for attempting to flee and elude a police officer.

Three auto burglaries were reported over the weekend. E.W. Smith, 1906 Hale, reported a 22 caliber rifle stolen from his car while it was parked in the 500 block of E. 1st. The rifle was apparently taken between 2:30 and 3 p.m. Friday.

W.W. Morris, Gail Rt. Box 2463, reported the loss of a windbreaker, a carton of cigarettes, several tapes and a blanket from his car. The items, apparently taken Friday evening, were valued at $78. The loss occurred while the car was parked at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Leonard Buie, Webb AFB, reported the loss of a coat and several 8-track tapes from his car after he abandoned it for the night Friday evening. The car was apparently left on West 16th St. overnight. The loss, along with a smashed window, was discovered the next day. The merchandise and damage was estimated at $141.

Two thefts were reported to police Friday. Jessie Doss, 211 W. 3rd reported the loss of a wallet containing $25 in cash and a $249 Colarado City livestock auction check from the high school locker room Friday between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. while he was playing basketball.

Robert Byrd, 1010 Main, reported that some time between Wednesday morning and Friday afternoon, someone had absconded with two cabinet-type tool boxes from his house. The boxes were apparently filled with Snap-on and Craftsman tools used for working on diesel engines and were valued at $250.

There were two break-ins over the weekend, which were notable for the fact that the thieves did significantly more damage than stealing.

The Alcoholics Anonymous Club was broken into. The burglar ripped some change from a Coke machine, and damaged a P.A. system. Damage was estimated at $205.

Unknown persons entered the Phillips Grain Co. at 403 E. 1st Friday night, gaining a radio and calculator worth $25. and doing $200 damage to the window frame and bar they pried open.

Mrs. Floyd Louis Odom misplaced her purse in the Gregg St. survey. A thorough search by store personnel failed to produce the missing item, which contained an endorsed Social Security check worth $243 and a $50 teacher retirement check.

Several minor accidents reported over the weekend:

—Vehicles driven by Nancy McVey Doolin, Rt. 1, Box 193, and Richard Alan Kitchen, 1706 Owens, collided at the 100 block of E. 4th at 11 a.m. Friday.

—Vehicles driven by Marsha Atkins Huskey, 1315 Mulberry, and Michael Leroy Pruitt, 1500 Stadium, collided 8:40 a.m. Friday in the 1400 block of Stadium.

—A vehicle driven by Rex Clifford Edwards, 1006 Wood, collided with a parked car belonging to Tom Meyers, Rt. 2, Box 152, in the 1500 block of Wood.

Are you stuck for something to say after you say "hello?"

In this age of television, says Roy Larson of the Chicago Sun-Times, conversation has become a spectator sport. Instead of talking, we watch television.

In one of Eliot's plays, one of his characters lamented: "Do you know — it no longer seems worthwhile to speak to anyone.

"No... it isn't that I want to be alone. But that everyone's alone — or so it seems to me. They make noises, and they think they're talking to each other."

Let it be said that the experience of taking part in good repartee is rare, even though most people hunger for good conversation.

The art of good conversation begins with good listening. In other words, listen to what the other person has to say before responding.

U.S. expels Russian journalist

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced Saturday that it has ordered a Russian journalist to leave the United States. The move was made in response to the Soviet expulsion of an Associated Press correspondent in Moscow.

State Department spokesman Frederick Z. Brown said the department "notified the Soviet Embassy today that Vladimir I. Alekseyev, a Washington correspondent of Tass, must leave the country within a week."

George Krinsky of The AP was given a week to leave the U.S.S.R. after being accused of espionage activities and of violating Soviet currency regulations.

Krinsky was the first journalist to be expelled from the Soviet Union since 1970. The AP and Krinsky rejected the charges and pointed out that Krinsky has reported extensively on Soviet dissidents.

"We have specified that our expulsion of Alekseyev is in response to the Krinsky expulsion. We regret this course of events, which is a step backward from the objective of improving working conditions for journalists contained in the Helsinki final act, and from the more fundamental interests of promoting a freer flow of information," Brown said.

Earlier Saturday, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., referring to Krinsky's expulsion, said:

"We ought to tell one of their people right away to start packing his bags. I believe in retaliation to this sort of thing."

The White House had said earlier that President Carter asked the State Department for a report on the expulsion.

In delivering the notice Friday to David Mason, AP bureau chief in Moscow, Valentin A. Khazov, deputy chief of the Foreign Ministry Press Department, repeated charges that Krinsky is a U.S. intelligence agent and has been involved in illegal currency dealings. On Wednesday, the Soviet Literary Gazette had renewed the spy charge, which it first voiced last year, and accused Krinsky of illegally giving hard currency certificates to a Soviet citizen who was not identified. The magazine, organ of the Soviet Writers Union, implied that the certificates were used to buy information. Krinsky, 35, who has been in Moscow since Sept. 12, 1974, denied the charges. The AP headquarters in New York said the so-called illegal currency operations involved payments in hard currency certificates by Krinsky to his maid as part of her salary. The certificates permitted her to shop in special stores. The AP said

Krinsky's only "violation" was that he had not given the maid a work contract.

Keith Fuller, president and general manager of the AP, said:

"The expulsion of George Krinsky, in our view, is a flagrant violation of the Helsinki agreement as it pertains to news reporters carrying out their mission."

Local schools observe Black History Week

The 64th Legislature passed House Concurrent Resolution 36 designating the second week in February as Texas Black History Week.

In accordance with a communication from Dr. M. L. Brockett, Texas Commissioner of Education, Big Spring Schools will be involved during the week of February 6-12 in programs and curriculum activities that stress the appreciation of the history, contributions, culture, language, life style diversities and aesthetic values of the Black American.

Bulletin board displays, books relating to Black history displayed in school libraries, oral reports, written reports, and opportunities to hear and sing music that is a distinctive contribution of Black Americans will all be part of the effort to commemorate this week.

Teachers and students in the Big Spring schools will utilize this occasion to study contributions to our national development and enrichment of our heritage.

Energy Regulation blamed for gas shortage

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Saturday that people in the northeastern United States brought the natural gas shortage on themselves by ignoring the economic realities of the nation's oil and gas industry.

"The price of gas has been artificially suppressed through regulation in an effort to assure a cheap supply of gas to the northeast," Tower said.

"Now, they've burned the gas, and they don't have anymore so they want to take it away from everybody else."

Tower was one of just two senators who voted against the emergency energy legislation passed by Congress last week and signed by President Carter.

Tower said if natural gas prices had been deregulated years ago, "there would be more gas in production right now and a better availability to everyone."

He said the "controls and regulations and price fixing" by the federal government on interstate gas sales "has resulted in a shorter supply."

"I don't think we should help them (northeastern states) at our expense," Tower told a news conference.

Tower said residents of gas-producing states like Texas have paid for their gas supplies through higher intrastate prices.

"We have, in effect, been subsidizing this cheap interstate gas that's been held at artificially low price levels. And I don't think we should be punished for their shortsightedness" in the northeast.

He said gas users in producing states, through their higher prices, are "paying for the exploration, development and production of the gas resources in the state."

Tower said he is hopeful that a permanent gas price deregulation bill can be passed by Congress this year and noted that President Carter "has indicated an inclination toward deregulation."

He said he doesn't think energy self-sufficiency is within the grasp of the United States "in the immediate future." But he said steps should be taken to increase the degree of self-sufficiency by reducing the dependence on external energy supplies.

Tower, whose Senate seat is up for grabs next year, said currently he is "tilted strongly, heavily, in the direction of running" for another term.

Tower also said he is very disturbed at the early indications of the Carter administration's defense posture. He said that if defense budget cuts continue, "we will be putting ourselves in a hazardous position vis-a-vis the Soviet Union."

Tower said he opposes President Carter's proposal for end a $50 income tax rebate. "I favor a permanent tax reduction," he said.

News blunder was sad commentary

I was driving west out of Fort Worth when I heard the two-sentence news item on a Wichita Falls radio station:

"It has been learned that the Air Force has decided to close Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring by Sept. 30. A formal announcement will come later."

That's all I could pick up, and I wasn't exactly sure that I had even heard correctly.

AFTER ALL, the final environmental impact statement has not yet been filed in Washington, and it would be illegal for the Air Force to have made a final decision on Webb at this point.

But I wasn't certain, since the process of closing Webb has already resulted in several serious and distinct violations of the law.

It was not until I was able to get my hands on a copy of a Tuesday afternoon edition of the Herald that I understood what had happened.

Apparently, it was a rather large mistake, or what in technical terms might be called a boo-boo.

The regional radio news network, Texas State Network, had asked its Washington stringer to see what he could find out about the Webb situation, a normal request.

The stringer, Joe Fowler, apparently wondered into the Pentagon and got his hands upon a copy of the draft environmental impact statement. It seems to be the same one that has been floating around for months.

Like a movie patron who walks in the middle of a film, he appears to not have understood very much of what had happened before. He jumped over more conclusions than Evel Knievel does barrels.

He asked an anonymous Air Force spokesman about the impact that such a closing would have on Big Spring, and the addition of this voice to his "report" added false air of authenticity to the news item. The anonymous spokesman was giving only information from the draft impact statement, which has been known for months.

THEN HE SPRINKLED in a few dates, Sept. 30, which could only be assumption on his part. All of this seemed to give much credence to his "scoop."

Then, unfortunately, UPI picked it up from Texas State Network, and the word went out everywhere that Webb was definitely closing.

It was, as owner of KBST Radio, Winston Wrinkle said to me, one of those moments which make one ashamed to be a part of the news media.

KBST, a Texas State Network subscriber, did not air the item locally as sent by Fowler. The local radio stations knew better.

But the rest of the state did not. Late last week, I was still getting calls of condolences about the closing of Webb despite the disclaimers which went out from the Air Force and others involved.

It is a sad commentary on our newsmedia that retractions seldom get the same play as the original erroneous story.

SOME LOCAL PEOPLE, believe it or not, seem reluctant to accept that the story was a faux pas. One person told me he thought it was a "trail balloon" on Webb, just to see what would happen. It would be a useless and illegal trial balloon, and I cannot believe that is possible.

Could it be that Fowler really had an inside scoop? I have never seen the Air Force more adamant in its denials of this.

Fowler was questioned closely by KBST news director Carl McMillan, and after listening to a tape of the interview, I am convinced that Fowler knew nothing that has not been public knowledge for half a year and he understood even less than what he knew.

There have recently been some indications that Webb may indeed be getting a fair and impartial hearing by the Air Force. Despite last week's report, Webb is not out of the running yet.

Ex-Big Spring Herald reporter John G. Edwards, now scoring scoops for the El Paso Herald-Post, while visiting in our fair city this weekend suggests: "If the pourers that be could maneuver the oil slick down over Bermuda Triangle, it could be called OIL OVER TROUBLED WATERS."

A disc jockey in Midland was skipping through the many commercials and storm information and came up with one for a cleaning establishment. DJ John ad libbed: "Just drop your clothes off at the cleaners."

On a frigid day? In a discussion of air bags to increase safety in automobiles, one husband commented: "Isn't my wife into too many things already?"

Curvaceous Carla Walker, who nearly defeated me in tennis once, is now a staff writer for the San Angelo Standard-Times. She is also a senior at ASU and wonders:

"Do you know the Oval office is going to be called the Nutcracker Suite? Joan Rivers said so."

Curvaceous says historians are going to have to scramble a lot to get much in the way of famous quotations from this generation.

Kenneth Hart, that travelin' man, rolls out a couple of gags:

Bank manager: What makes you think you are losing your looks? Lady teller: Because the men are beginning to count the money I gave them.

Boss: I gave that man a week's pay and fired him for loitering. How long has he been with us? Shipping clerk: Oh, he was just delivering a package.

Proof-positive Sitty Landers, back from vacationing in "beautiful" Washington, asks:

"Did you know that the letter 'e' is the most used letter in the alphabet? It is also the most unfortunate because it is never out of cash, forever in debt, always out of danger, and in torment all the time."

"Still, it is never in war, always in peace and always in something to eat. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of easy, and the end of trouble. Without it, there would be no Heaven, it is the center of honesty, and always in love."

I have a new "knock knock" for Mrs. Dwayn Crow, Herald word maker:

Knock, knock. Who's there? Dwayn. Dwayn who? Dwayn the tub, I'm dwoing.

Glossary REMEMBERING...

By BILL BROOKS

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — What are the key factors in the energy crisis? What are we really talking about? Here is a glossary of terms to help you understand it.

GAS — ONCE used to explain a joke as in "that's a gas." Also used to describe someone who was long-winded as in "he is full of gas." Occasionally said to a person you wanted to hurry as in "Step on the gas."

But now it turns out that it is a colorless substance that everyone thought we'd never run out of, and was cheap, something you had nothing to do with except to open the door once a month and let the "gas man" go down into your basement and read your meter.

SNOW — once a beautiful white substance that fell two or three or six inches and gave everyone pleasure to watch from their warm living room and bedrooms which were heated by gas or oil which are now very much in short supply. People used to welcome snow; now they fear it. Now it falls in the cities and in many cases misses the ski areas altogether, which doesn't make economic sense and is another example of bad environmental planning by the government.

ICE — once used to put in drinks to make them cold. The first thing a wife said to a husband when they were giving a party was "We're out of ice." It is now found on streets, sidewalks and house steps, and what usually was palatable to mouth has now become more dangerous to foot and car. Ice usually forms under snow where you can't see it. It loves to chew up snow tires. You can spin for hours in one tiny segment of the stuff and never move an inch.

THE REASON your insurance rates will be going up this spring can be blamed on the ice you see this winter. The only people who like ice are people who sell safety glass or fenders or orthopedic equipment such as crutches.

SALT — once put in food, now it's supposed to be put on roads. Unfortunately, there is a shortage of salt because of the ice. The salt is supposed to melt the ice so you won't skid on it. But the salt also melts the road as well. When salt seeps through the asphalt it makes what is commonly called a pothole, which will only be repaired during an election year.

WIND CHILL FACTOR — the combination of the temperature plus the speed of the wind produces what is known as the wind chill factor. No one ever heard of the wind chill factor before television weather reports. It was either cold outside or very cold, or if you came in with a really red face it was freezing. Now you know that with the wind chill factor it is 10 below zero, 20 below zero or 40 below zero. People who would ordinarily go about their business are now so intimidated by the wind chill factor that some of them won't get out of bed for days.

SLUSH — IS what gathers when it gets warm and the ice and snow melt. Its main function is to accumulate at curbs and intersections where automobiles can splash it at people waiting for a bus or to cross the street.

LEARNING HOW TO SWIM

We had a concrete tank by our windmill that was deep enough to swim in but I used to sit on the side and dangle my feet in the water. While the other kids were splashing, diving, jumping, swimming and floating on their backs pretending to be whales spewing water out of their mouths I was sitting dangling my feet in the water. Oh, how I wanted to know how to swim. They would try to get me to float on an inner tube but I was afraid I would fall off, go under and drown.

They would sometimes tease me, singing "Little

Billy's a fraidy cat, he's ascered of the water!" I would get so mad I'd want to jump in that water and show them, but I just couldn't. They would tell me how easy it was and how they had learned. Sammy Burns, a good friend of mine, said his dad had taught him how to swim. He said his dad had just taken and tossed him into water over his head and Sammy learned how to swim in a hurry. He even agreed to teach me in the same way but I declined, said I'd just as soon learn on my own.

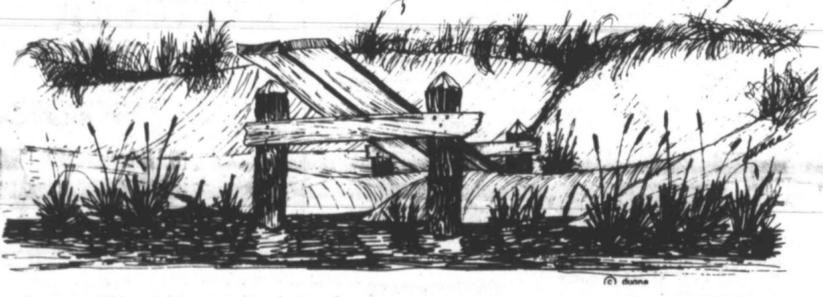

In the summer we went to Grandmother's over in Arkansas and she had a river running right behind her house. It had a nice, sandy bottom and the water was crystal clear about chest deep to me. A log had fallen across the middle of the stream and I would stand about three feet away from it, push off with my feet and catch the log with my hands. I would hold to the log and splash my feet furiously. Each time I did it I would get a few inches farther away from the log. Once I backed up farther than I really had intended. When I jumped my hands missed the log but came up thrashing my arms and legs certain I was about to drown. I made a couple of grabs at the log but missed, then suddenly I realized I was swimming! After that it was easy. Within an hour I was an expert, looking for deeper water. The next day I tried my hand at diving. The form was not good but I was proud of myself. I could hardly wait to show all my friends at home what I had learned to do but on the way I started having doubts. I ask Mother if she thought I would remember how when I got there. She said, "Of course, you will. Once you learn to swim that's one thing you never forget." I hoped she was right.

I have heard from several druggists who were upset concerning my response to a writer who asked about the continued use of a certain drug. The writer noted that her pharmacist questioned her about continued use of the medication over a long period of time, and she asked me what she should do. My response was that her physician was the best judge of the matter, because as her doctor, he is the one best qualified to balance any potential risks against her specific needs.

This response was, of course, not intended to imply that the lady's druggist was wrong in suggesting a review of the drug therapy. In fact, in an earlier column I strongly emphasized the vital role pharmacists have always played in this matter. Any long-range medication use must be reviewed from time to time to note any possible adverse effects. But, as I suggested, the attending physician is the one to do the monitoring and, of course, make the decision based on the patient's needs.

Well, all this got me in the soup with some of my pharmacist colleagues. It is important that the pharmacist in the above case did question the prolonged use of the drug, as it is with any potentially hazardous drugs. In fact, many pharmacists will contact a physician about such continued use. The physician may not always be aware of it. Teamwork is necessary. So I stand by my previous comments, even though I regret any misunderstanding that may have been created.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Maybe this story will be of interest to parents who are at their wit's end about an older child wetting the bed.

One of our granddaughters wets the bed. She had had an extensive examination by a urologist, who found nothing wrong. So I purchased a flashlight especially for her, and told her it was hers and that she should use it when she needed to go to the bathroom at night. That, doctor, was the end of the bedwetting. — Satisfied Grandmother.

The story doesn't surprise me. Bedwetting is often a strange phenomenon (once physical causes have been ruled out), and strange remedies can have unexpected results.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can your menses cause a 99-degree body temperature? — L.B.

Yes, the temperature can rise with the menstrual period. You might check it in the afternoon on a day when you are not menstruating and haven't been too active. If it goes above 99.6, another cause for the elevation should be looked for.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why are people so worried about crime in the streets? I believe as a Christian that I will be protected by angels and don't need to worry. Why don't people know about this supernatural help? — Mrs. S.S.

DEAR MRS. S.: It is certainly true that God provides for us. I am convinced that we actually are not aware most of the time of the special protection God gives us from physical harm. The Bible sees God's protection over us in various ways, including through His angels. "For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways" (Psalms 91:11).

But this does not mean that we should neglect taking precautions against possible harm. Just as God would have us eat a balanced diet so our bodies will be strengthened against possible disease, so He would have us take all necessary precautions against something like physical attack.

David, who may have written the Psalm I quoted above, found it necessary to flee from the threats of Saul, and to protect himself when his son Absalom led a revolt against him. The same verse was quoted by Satan when he tempted Jesus to throw himself down from the pinnacle of the temple (Matthew 4:6). Jesus, however, refused to do what Satan suggested, since Satan was distorting the meaning of the Bible.

Read the last chapter of Hebrews 11 beginning with verse 35: "And others. . . Remember that the Bible tells us that Christians are not exempt from physical problems and attacks. But it also promises us that we are spiritually kept safe, regardless of what may happen to us physically. Peter and James were imprisoned in Acts 12; Peter was miraculously delivered; James was beheaded. Stephen, one of the great Christians in Acts, was stoned to death, and yet he was spiritually victorious (Acts 7:54-60).

We should take all sensible precautions and leave the rest to God.

Marked for death

Jack Anderson, Les Whiffen

WASHINGTON — Not long ago, Argentina's handsome, mustachioed military dictator, Gen. Jorge Videla, assured Pope Paul melodramatically that his government was dedicated to defending "human life against any unjust aggression which might end it or curtail its dignity."

Yet we have just received a "death list," smuggled to us from inside Videla's government. It contains the names of several prominent Argentinians whom the military junta allegedly would like eliminated. The list was brought to us by couriers who risked their own lives in the hope that we would raise enough clamor to save the doomed prisoners.

THE COURIERS ARE not radicals, with political motives, but Argentinian officials and clergymen. Even one U.S. diplomat quietly helped the intermediaries smuggle the death list to us.

Part of the list, apparently, was written in invisible ink on a page of an innocent book and entrusted to an air traveler. Another section was carried through the streets of Buenos Aires by a frightened but brave cleric under his religious garb.

We reported last October 10 that Argentina had become one of the most dangerous, most chaotic countries on earth. Kidnappings, killings and torture are daily occurrences. "More people are killed in one year in Argentina," one State Department source told us, "than in five years in Northern Ireland."

The military dictatorship, rather than join in the murder and mayhem directly, permits right-wing parapolice and para-military squads to roam the cities and countryside, dispensing street justice on the spot. An extraordinary number of prisoners, like journalist Dardo Cabo and trade unionist Rufino Ruiz, have died during "escape attempts." This style of execution has become so common that it is known bitterly among Argentine dissidents as "la ley de fuga" — the law of escape.

The 41 names on the death list are a tiny percentage of the 15,000 political prisoners in Argentina. They were put on the list by the Argentine Commission for Human Rights because of their prominence and their imminent danger.

Indeed, some may have been executed or tortured to death during the time it has taken for the death list to reach us. Most of the people on the list are moderate democrats who are anti-communist but also anti-junta. They include such men as Dr. Ernesto Villanueva, former dean of the University of Buenos Aires; Jorge Taiana, son of a former education minister; and Eduardo Jozami, a former professor and articulate defender of democracy.

There are too many names on the list for us to publish them all. But we have retyped the list to protect the couriers and submitted copies to the Argentine Embassy and State Department. We demanded to know what is being done to protect the lives of the 41 prisoners.

FOOTNOTE: We went over the credentials of the couriers and the backgrounds of the prisoners with a State Department source, who vouched for the authenticity of the list. High U.S. intelligence sources confirmed that murders of prisoners are occurring in Argentine jails. Of such charges, an Argentine spokesman said "I have to laugh." He agreed, however, to send the 41 names to Buenos Aires.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST — More than 200 officials of the Energy Research and Development Administration once worked for, or have a financial interest in, companies dealing with energy.

These officials are linked with major oil, gas and electric companies as well as public utilities and energy research firms. Some of the companies actually have contracts with ERDA.

Dear Editor: Hundreds of copies of Marj Carpenter's extravagantly kind article have been sent to me along with many good wishes, beautiful flowers and sincere prayers. I may never be able to reply to all of them individually, but want to thank the whole town for the magnificent support of my fight. Mary Joy Cowper

Dear Editor: In regard to the RV show "Roots." It was a very degrading, misleading, untrue show, which does not justify all white people to be that cruel. Only a few Negro men who disobeyed were punished, not the entire group of slaves.

My grandfather, 50 years ago, told me the masters were very good to the slaves. Only the buyer and seller did the cruel punishment, which was not right. The white man taught the slave various trades, from which the Negro today has greatly benefited.

In the years 1947-48-49, we hired Negroes to work in the cotton fields, gave them the customary wage, houses and etc. They all went home with rolls of money, did not have to pay a tax out of that, earned plenty to support them for the rest of the year.

I feel the church, the schools and the college should have discussions to explain more fully the slavery days and stress to the pupil the most important thing of all. President Carter stated: "We must all work together in kindness and love to have a better, decent world to live in."

Unruly crowd mars Indira's rally

A little lower

No mind-reading, please

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's first campaign rally for the March parliamentary elections ended abruptly Saturday when thousands in the crowd walked out even before the politically embattled Indian leader finished speaking.

About 100,000 persons packed the Delhi fairgrounds for the well-publicized rally to kick off the ruling Congress party's campaign, but large groups became unruly and defied baton-swinging police and the pleas of party volunteers to remain seated.

In a fiery half-hour speech, the 59-year-old prime minister defended her 19-month-old emergency rule and condemned the surprise defection of some major Congress party figures last week.

The rally, which lasted only 90 minutes, ended before party president Dev Kant Borooah and other scheduled speakers could address the crowd.

Significantly, Mrs. Gandhi's 30-year-old son, Sanjay, the target of increasing criticism from opposition politicians and Congress dissidents, did not attend the rally, although he had been billed as one of the main speakers in posters plastered on walls in downtown Delhi.

Fifteen-foot-tall color paintings of Sanjay and his mother flanked the speakers' platform overlooking the spacious Ram Lila grounds.

It was the same site where the non-Communist opposition launched its campaign last Sunday with a more orderly and enthusiastic crowd of 50,000, most of whom walked or took public transport to the rally and stayed until it ended four hours later.

OC hosts UIL vocal meet

ODESSA — Odessa College will host a rea junior high and high schools when they participate in the University Interscholastic League Vocal Solo and Ensemble Contest to be held all day Saturday, beginning at 8 a.m., in OC's Fine Arts Auditorium.

Vocalists from over 25 schools will present selections to 13 judges from universities and high schools in Texas and New Mexico. Piano competition also will be included.

Entrants will be graded according to general musicianship, accuracy, memorization, and mechanics of music. All who qualify in this regional meet will be eligible for state contests to be held later in Austin.

Co-chairpersons for Saturday's activities are Suzanne Medlen, choir director at Odessa High School and Sue Ferguson, assistant choir director at Odessa High.

OPENING RALLY CUT SHORT — India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi speaks in New Delhi Saturday during the opening rally of her re-election campaign. The speech was cut short when violence broke out after some of the estimated 100,000 people trucked in for the rally tried to leave and were forced back by organizers of Mrs. Gandhi's ruling Congress Party. The violence may mark the start of a difficult campaign for Mrs. Gandhi against a united political opposition.

In contrast, many attending Mrs. Gandhi's mass meeting were brought in from neighboring rural areas in buses and trucks chartered on behalf of the Congress party. They gathered in pleasant weather, but were largely unresponsive, often cheering only when Congress workers stationed throughout the crowd began shouting and clapping in support of the prime minister.

Farm 'Chomping at the bits'

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Farmers in many sections are "chomping at the bits" to get into their fields to prepare their land for spring planting, but water is still standing in many fields and the ground is cold.

And ranchers, who have been feeding their livestock heavily since last fall, are finding their hay and feed supplies about gone.

That's the word from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Nothing could give a bigger boost to the Texas agricultural outlook for 1977 than an extended period of open, dry weather, said Dr. Daniel C. Pannstiel, service director.

Without a break in the weather, spring planting will be delayed and this could add problems to producers on down the line. As far as ranchers are concerned, every day of feeding means more dollars invested in their stock. And with current market conditions, those dollars may be hard to recover, said Pannstiel.

Weather conditions are particularly affecting field operations in South Texas where harvesting of winter vegetables and citrus is far behind schedule, noted Pannstiel. Furthermore, spring planting of some vegetable crops has already been delayed as farmers have been unable to prepare the land.

Small grain crops continue to make little progress over the state due to the adverse weather. This has added to the woes of producers who normally depend on small grains to provide some green forage for their livestock, said Pannstiel.

Reports from district extension agents showed the following conditions.

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture continues to be short. Wheat is making little growth, and many fields are becoming highly susceptible to wind erosion. Land preparation is making good progress, and producers are busy feeding cattle. Feedlots are about full due to cattle coming off wheat fields earlier than usual. Feeder cattle prices were up $2 to $4 at local auctions.

SOUTH PLAINS: Farmers are putting down fertilizer. Topsoil moisture is short but subsoil moisture is generally good over the area. Wheat continues to make little growth due to the cold weather. Feeding of range cattle is active.

ROLLING PLAINS: A slight reprieve in temperatures has caused wheat to green up some. Farmers are busy preparing land for spring planting, some spring oats will be planted over the area. Livestock feeding remains heavy and ice must be broken regularly on stock tanks to provide water for stock. Livestock marketing has been heavy due to poor grazing conditions and the need for supplemental feed.

NORTH CENTRAL: Land preparation is making limited progress due to continued wet fields. Heavy feeding of hay and protein supplement continues as cattle have limited grazing.

CATTLE: Most cattle are in poor shape and there have been some deaths due to the adverse weather.

NORTHEAST: Wheat and oats have made some growth in recent days due to warmer temperatures. Some home vegetable gardens are being prepared, and farmers are starting to get cropland in shape for spring planting. Supplemental feeding of livestock is heavy. Hay supplies are dwindling.

FAR WEST: Preparation for spring planting is making

Mrs. Gandhi reiterated her charge that the more than halfdozen opposition parties uniting against her rule were a "hotchpot of a combination."

"They have come together to weaken the central government and cause instability in the country in the name of democracy," she said.

She publicly reaffirmed her "total faith in democracy," declaring, "Democracy has been, is and will remain in India."

But she warned that her government would not tolerate violence or attempts to disrupt the election. She said she had already received reports of attacks on Congress workers, and she said one member of the youth wing had been murdered a few days ago.

Mrs. Gandhi relaxed her emergency rule last month, freeing many political prisoners and scheduling the March national elections, India's first in six years.

Several non-Communist opposition parties immediately formed a coalition aimed at ending Mrs. Gandhi's 11-year-old rule.

As Mandy and Jason sat down for their weekly session with Helen, it was obvious that Mandy was upset. Her body was rigid as she bent forward and glared angrily at Jason. She looked quickly at Helen, then turned back toward Jason who looked back slowly at her.

Quietly Helen asked, "Well?" "Jason," spouted Mandy, almost furiously, "I can tell what you are thinking. You always look like that when I do something you don't like!" Jason said nothing, only moving his shoulders slightly.

"Why do you say, Mandy," Helen interjected, "that you can tell what Jason is thinking?" "Helen, I just know. I'm used to him," she pouted. "Used to him?" Helen echoed. "Yes, I've been married to him two years and went with him six months before that."

"I know," responded Helen. "That's a long time. Yet, can you be so sure?" Helen looked directly at Mandy but she asked her question with a warm concern. "You're not so sure?" Mandy returned to Helen. "But I don't want to make a mistake — the same mistake that you may be making," stated Helen. "Mistake? What do you mean?" "I don't want to find myself reading Jason's mind. Yes, I have my ideas of what he is thinking but I could be wrong. I know that you could be, too, Mandy. In fact, you may be expecting something that isn't there."

Mandy looked puzzled but began to relax as Helen obviously showed concern for her. "Jason," Helen asked, "can you tell Mandy what you were thinking when you came in?" Jason shifted uncomfortably and began hesitatingly. "Helen, I don't quite know how to say it," he stammered.

"Try Jason," Helen encouraged. "Well — I — I was feeling worried when we started down here. I began to be afraid this wouldn't work."

"You mean the counseling?" "Yes," "How does that sound, Mandy?" Helen queried. Then, softly, suddenly changed, almost in a whisper, Mandy breathed, "It sounds like you care Jason."

"Oh, Mandy!" Jason exclaimed, half arising from his seat. "Mandy dear," Helen ventured, "I think an old memory is gripping you. When you were a little girl, you've told me, you saw your mother as dominating everybody including you. Why, you said once that mother always told you what you were thinking, never let you make an explanation. What did your Dad do at times like this?" "He just sat and said nothing," "Like Jason?" Helen asked. "Yes." "And Jason," Helen went on, "Your mother dominated the family including your father. He would just sit still, you've told me. You didn't like it and you swore that you would never be like him. But you learned to be quiet like him."

"Mandy and Jason, you need to begin talking with each other. It may be hard, Mandy, but you need to dare to ask Jason what he is thinking. And Jason you need to try to explain."

"Mandy, you can't read Jason's mind. And Jason, you can't expect Mandy to. Mind reading won't work. Talking, I promise you, will."

When making pastry, use a pastry blender for cutting the shortening into the flour. The particles formed will flatten during the rolling out, and thus provide the tenderness and flakiness characteristic of good pastry. A fork or spoon should not be used because it "creams" or blends, rather than cuts. Use cold water — it will keep the shortening from melting. Use just enough water to moisten flour, if dough is sticky, too much flour has to be added during rolling, and this toughens the pastry.

Wanted man dies in car crash

WALDHEIM, La. (AP) — A Laredo, Tex., man, who deputies said was driving home to kill himself on his wife's grave, died in a car crash late Friday as he fled from sheriff's deputies trying to arrest him.

Tammany Parish deputies said evidence found in the wreck indicated 50-year-old Edward D. Arnold, wanted in the January slayings of his wife, mother-in-law and stepdaughter, may have taken his own life rather than surrender.

Arnold's car crashed head on into another car as he fled from deputies on La. 21 three miles north of this town, which is 30 miles north of New Orleans.

State police said the persons in the other car, Huey Powe, 42, of Bogalusa, and his 46-year-old wife Lillian, were seriously injured.

St. Tammany Sgt. Keith Bruhl said a note found in Arnold's car said Arnold was heading home planning to commit suicide on his wife's grave.

"However, the note stated that if he was interrupted during his return trip, he would then kill himself at the time of interruption," the sheriff's office said in a prepared release.

The release said a pistol was found in the car, but said it would not be known until after an autopsy Sunday whether Arnold shot himself and lost control of the vehicle or whether he deliberately rammed the other car.

The release did not indicate whether the note contained a confession. Sheriff George Broom said deputies began chasing Arnold after running a license check of the Texas plate on Arnold's car, which was parked outside a closed business near Bush, eight miles northwest of Waldheim.

Arnold, a gun collector, was charged with three counts of first degree murder after the discovery Jan. 24 of the bodies of his wife, Yolanda, 43; his mother-in-law, Teresa Carrillo, 63; and his stepdaughter Irene, 14.

Neighbors found the bodies on the floor in a bedroom of their Laredo home. Police said they had been shot in the head and chest with a .22 caliber pistol and covered with a sleeping bag.

The body of a dog with a broken neck had been laid over the bodies of the wife and child, police said.

Authorities said they believed the three were shot either Jan. 22 or Jan. 23. They said another stepdaughter said Arnold phoned her Jan. 23 to say she should go to the house because her mother wanted to see her. The stepdaughter never went.

Police in Laredo said Arnold was seen in San Antonio, Tex., on Jan. 24. Louisiana deputies said evidence in the car showed he also had been in Key West and Miami, Fla., and Mobile, Ala. since the incident.

No motive is known for the slayings but police said Mrs. Arnold had filed for a divorce.

Fancy rug sells for $200,000

NEW YORK (AP) — "This is not the kind of rug you would walk on," said a Sotheby Parke Bernet gallery spokesman after a Persian carpet was sold at auction for a record $200,000.

Rug dealers from Iran, England, South Africa and other nations sat in the Madison Avenue gallery Friday and gapsed as bidding passed the old record for a Persian of $112,000. A European Sabonneire rug once went for $150,000.

The gallery said the price reflected the unusual mint condition of the 125-year-old rug, which was last used as a cover on a billiards table in a home in Wheeling, W.Va. It was auctioned as part of the estate of steel heiress Emily Stifel. The buyer was a London dealer, Emanouel Antiques.

The rug, measuring 12-by-9 feet, has a flowering vine border around light blue medallions in the center.

IS THAT SOUPY SALES? — No, it's Bill Etchison, executive director of the Big Spring YMCA, getting a pie in the face after losing a challenge to new board president, W.A. (Dub) Moore Jr. (right).

YMCA drive reaches 84 per cent of goal

The Big Spring YMCA held its second report meeting of the 1977 Participating Membership Campaign Wednesday afternoon.

Workers reported a total of $4,344.90 subscribed memberships bringing the grand total of $21,509.45 secured thus far in the campaign or 84 per cent of the $25,500 goal set for this year's campaign.

Highlights of the meeting included a pie-in-the-face for Bill Etchison, executive director. Etchison lost a challenge to new Board President W.A. U.S.-Mexico inmate treaty okayed MEXICO CITY (AP) — A constitutional amendment allowing Mexico to comply with the terms of a prisoner-exchange treaty negotiated with the United States was published in the official gazette Friday and takes effect immediately.

The treaty was signed last Thanksgiving.

When ratified by each country's Senate, it will allow U.S. inmates in Mexico and Mexicans jailed in the United States to serve the remainder of their sentences in their homelands.

U.S. diplomatic sources predict it will take until April for the first exchange if the U.S. Senate ratifies the treaty and the U.S. Congress approves enabling legislation.

The Mexican Congress has effectively shelved penal reform legislation submitted as the result of a campaign led by U.S. inmates seeking parole from prisons in Mexico.

Several hundred inmates went on a hunger strike in December in support of the legislation, which would have reinstated parole rights

Performer longs for Mafia-controlled days

DALLAS (AP) — Rock-soul performer Wayne Cochran yearns for the good old days in Las Vegas when, he says, the Mafia controlled the city and made it a better place for entertainers and customers.

"Those people knew nightclubs," Cochran said in a Dallas Morning News interview. "The people who run the clubs now just think about profit formulas and big numbers."

Cochran said mobsters never let a high-roller leave town broke. "They would bring this roller over to a corner, stuff $5,000 into his pocket and then have two henchmen escort him out to the airport, buy his ticket home for him and put him on the plane. First of all they wanted to make sure he left town with money and second they wanted to make sure he left town and didn't go spend their club's money at some other club."

Cochran said treatment like that made people return to the casinos later.

He said Howard Hughes changed all that.

"He started the flow of the businessmen into Vegas," Cochran said. "Hughes started playing the numbers game and everyone followed him."

Cochran said the Mob also treated performers like stars, no matter how big a name they were or weren't.

He said the numbers game played now involves getting as many people into one place as possible, cutting costs by firing good help and replacing them with inferior workers.

"People start noticing this and they don't come back any more," he said.

He said Atlantic City's new gambling law might make it a fun place to play — "If they let the Syndicate run it."

IRS says good records helpful in filing

Taxpayers who keep good records during the entire year will be better prepared to file a complete and accurate tax return, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

By keeping good financial records, the taxpayer can not only substantiate expenses, income and itemized deductions listed on his or her tax return but also be aware of certain deductions that might otherwise be overlooked.

Taxpayers are not required to keep any particular type of records, but they must retain all receipts, cancelled checks, bills, and other written documents to provide their expense.

These records must be kept for at least three years from the date that the return was due or filed, or two years from the date that the tax was paid, whichever occurs later.

Some records should be kept even longer, the IRS advised, such as property records which should be retained as long as they are useful in determining the basis of the original or replacement property. In addition, copies of past tax returns can help the taxpayer prepare future returns.

For additional information on recordkeeping, taxpayers can order the free IRS Publication 552, "Record-keeping Requirements and a Guide to Tax Publications," by sending in the order blank found in the tax package.

HC hosts career seminar March 1

Advance plans have been made for Career Awareness Seminar which will be held on the Howard College campus Tuesday, March 1, from 8:30 a.m. through 3:45 p.m.

The purpose of the seminar is to bring graduating seniors of area high schools on campus, introduce them to the college, its offerings in both the academic and the vocational-technical fields, to tour the facilities, and to learn first-hand from expertise available how our programs at Howard College can prepare students for the business and industrial

Each division is responsible for its own booth — planning, decorations, arrangements and materials to be placed for handouts to the students.

Anna Smith, Dean of Students at HC, is the seminar coordinator. Helping her with the arrangements and tours is Gary Stretcher, Director of Student Activities.

A team of administrators and faculty members have contacted by personal visits over 70 schools to tell them about the seminar and its purpose and to invite them to attend.

The seminar will begin at 8:30 with registration and the serving of coffee and donuts. From 9:00 to 10:15 there will be browsing and visitation by the students to the booths. At 10:15 students may attend sectional meetings in individual interest areas. Time is provided to enable each student to choose three meetings of special interest to them.

At 11:45 a lunch, courtesy of Howard College will be provided to the students and their sponsors. Harlen Thornton will provide the dinner music as the students enjoy steak fingers and all the trimmings in the Howard College cafeteria at the Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

Following lunch, the students will attend a drama production, "Butterflies Are Free", staged by the Howard College Hawk Players under the direction of Mr. John Gordon. The day will be ended with a social period allowing games, dancing, or additional browsing and teacher visitation.

Tour guides have been set up under faculty and student captains. Serving as faculty tour guide captains are: Ronnie Phillips, Hal Ward, Harold Wilder, Tony Ortiz, Sam Scott, and Paul Ausmus.

New scout executive moving to Big Spring

A long awaited district scout executive will be moving this week to Big Spring.

Phil Corbin, the new district executive, had been serving this district from Midland but was moving here this week to concentrate on improving service to the district.

Corbin has a BBA degree from the University of Texas from the Permian Basin. He obtained this degree in 1974 after he retired from the army with 21 years service.

A lot of his army career was spent in El Paso at Fort Bliss and he worked with scouting ten years at a troop level.

Originally from Blanchardville, Wisc., he married his wife, Jane Etsuko Corbin while he was stationed with the army in Tokyo in 1953. Corbin replaces Art Hyman who resigned recently. The scout executive is over the Lone Star District, which includes Howard, Glasscock and Sterling Counties.

PHIL CORBIN

In Big Spring, there are 16 cub packs, 14 boy scout troops and six explorer posts. Plans are currently in progress for the annual scouting exposition, scheduled this year from March 19.

The Corbins have four children, three of whom are grown and one son, Frank, 15 at home.

Corbin has two and one half years experience as a scout executive, with one year in El Paso and one and one half as an assistant in Midland.

Ridin' fence

Bottom fell out with Marj Carpenter

On Oct. 1, 1930, Big Spring got a hotel as large as any hotel at that time in almost any Texas city and Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Settles began their road to bankruptcy.

The 15-story $500,000 hotel opened with much fanfare and a two-day celebration. Michael Cool and his 11-piece stage band played for two nights at the Settles ballroom packed with over 300 people. Garland Woodward, a local attorney, and Edwin Kelley, local utilities director, alternated as masters of ceremonies.

Guests poured in from Dallas, El Paso, St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City and Louisville. Big Spring has never had so much excitement. Fred Crow, the new manager, proclaimed to all who would listen that the hotel facilities were better than those of the New Yorker. E.V. McCright, who graduated from Big Spring High in 1907 had been general contractor and David Castle Co. of Abilene were the engineers.

The hotel sported a men's club on the 14th floor with two porches and a number of billiard tables. There was also a club where cards and dominoes could be played and drinks were served.

Elaborate suites rented for $3 a night. There were 45 employees, including 37 from Big Spring and two house physicians, Dr. James Barcus and Dr. Charles K. Bivings. They also operated a private hospital.

R.D. Coker was in charge of catering. J.S. Davis was chief clerk, Leo South was night clerk and Leroy Fife was chief bellman from the first day for years and years.

Mr. and Mrs. Settles and M.L. Tinsley, a former oil gauger and their business manager had formed the Settles Corp. with their oil property as the surety.

Then the Depression hit. Oil dropped from $3 or $4 per barrel to ten cents per barrel. Their oil discovery, which suddenly made them rich in March 1927, was lost in bankruptcy proceedings on the hotel note. They fought it in the courts until 1937 but never recovered. He died in 1947. She died in 1956.

The story is a sad one in a way. But in another way, Mr. and Mrs. Settles left a mark in their town that very few people do.

There is a plaque honoring them in the older portion of the First Presbyterian Church, to which they were 45 employees, including 37 from Big Spring and two house physicians, Dr. James Barcus and Dr. Charles K. Bivings. They also operated a private hospital.

BIG SPRING LANDMARK
Settles Hotel

Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Settles were apparently an unpretentious couple who continued to ride in a buggy when they could have ridden in a Cadillac. When they had money, they were generous to their church and to their friends.

They made an investment that probably would have been protected if the Depression had not come. If it was bad business judgment not to expect the Depression, they were in the company of almost all the Wall Street financiers.

They were suddenly rich and suddenly poor. But those who knew them will remember Mr. and Mrs. Settles for a lot of things other than the hotel.

The hotel is quite a conversation piece in Big Spring. For every stranger who moves to town, this is one of the first things they ask about. A lot of people have asked, "Why don't you write about the Settles?"

Well, that's the way it was — everybody — back in the '30s just prior to the fall, in the days of ceremony and happy occasions at the end of the roaring 20s — in Big Spring, where I ride fence.

RESPECT — Respect for the flag and patriotism is one of many qualities which have been emphasized from the very start of the Boy Scout program and continues to be an important element of its concern. Jim Head of Cub Pack 305 is shown with a properly-folded American flag.

Readers Digest contest

Scouts in the Lone Star District, which includes Howard, Glasscock and Sterling Counties, are being urged to take part in the annual speakers contest sponsored by Readers Digest.

Troop winners must be selected in April, and district winners soon after that. The Buffalo Trail Council will select its winner between May and August, and area competition is set for September and October, with the 12 regional winners to be selected by Nov. 30. There will be scholarships for all regional winners, and those sixth and above will receive $500 or more toward their college expenses according to the rank of finish in the contest.

All council, area and regional winners will receive handsome trophies provided by Readers Digest. The topic must deal with some Scouting or Exploring experience.

After an absence of one year, the Scout Exposition will be staged again this spring with the event set for March 19 in Highland Mall.

Last year the Exposition was passed over in favor of a historical pageant since that was the Bicentennial Year.

Tickets for the 1977 Exposition will go on sale Friday (Feb. 11). Don Sieler, general Exposition chairman, said that Mrs. Shirley Sullivan, ticket chairman, would distribute the tickets at the Scout and Cub Round Tables set for Thursday 7 p.m. at St. Paul Presbyterian Church. Clem Jones, Lone Star district chairman, urged every unit in the district to have a representative present in order to obtain tickets for distribution to the boys.

Winning salesmen among the boys will earn various prizes, topped by a trip to Six Flags for the boy selling 100 tickets or more and leading this district. Moreover, out of every ticket sold, the boy's unit will receive 40 cents for buying camping and other supplies, and promoting various programs. After expenses, the remainder goes to support the council.

Unit leaders, or anyone needing tickets may call Mrs. Sullivan at 3-7708.

There will be a wide variety of displays on Scouting and Cubbing skills and special activities. Art Richards is chairman of unit participation, and he indicated that there also will be outside exhibits for monkey bridges, towers, camping set-ups. Art Hyman is chairman of brochure and advertisement; Bill McRee chairman of judging; Dr. Bradford Glass, chairman of health and safety.

There is a possibility of having Iranian students at Webb AFB put on an exhibit about their native country since the World Scout Jamboree will be held in Iran in 1979. The Order of Arrow also will be invited to stage a special exhibit, said Sieler.

Get campsite reservations

Scoutmasters and other troop officers are being urged to get their reservations in for campsites at the annual summer camp at Boy Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains.

Thus far, only two local units have made reservations, said Clem Jones, district chairman. Campsites are reserved in the order of receipt, or in order of the request, he said.

The Scout Ranch is essentially a wilderness camp that stresses hiking, camping and exploration, although it does have a new, modern dining hall, infirmary, swimming pool and their permanent structures. It is located between Balmorhea and Fort Davis and has spectacular terrain.

JIMMY FERGUSON

Ferguson will make report to governor

Jimmy Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Ferguson, 1419 Stadium, has been selected to make the Lone Star District, Boy Scouts of America, annual report to the governor. One Scout from each district is chosen for this honor.

Jimmy, an Eagle Scout, will join five other representatives who will give the governor a first hand report on the status of Scouting in our eighteen-county West Texas area. He will personally meet Gov. Briscoe, have a picture taken with him and receive a special certificate signed by the governor.

The three-day trip will also include a tour of the capitol building and other points in Austin. All Scouting representatives from the entire state will then participate in a parade through the downtown area.

ALTO, Ga. (AP) — Banks County sheriff's deputies say Sheriff Henry Crane curbs crime by scaring the crooks away.

The deputies started their joke after thieves broke into a sawmill in Alto and left without taking anything.

Hanging on the wall of the sawmill was a calendar with a picture of Crane.

"We told him his picture scared them away," said one deputy.

Crane says he is considering posting the calendars in more businesses as a deterrent to crime.

Poll shows readers' favorites

A survey, like an Englishman's review of the Koran, can tell a lot and not tell anything.

The Herald asked its readers to participate in a readership survey recently. Roughly one per cent of the readers were nice enough to respond. Some of the replies were very revealing but some questions remained unanswered: Did the people who really love sports, for instance, take the trouble to voice their likes and dislikes about what appears in the Herald, or are they content with things as they are? Be that as it may, the survey produced some interesting results.

For instance, a majority of (60 of 105) those subscribers who filled out the form, said they read Leisure Magazine regularly. Another 24 replied that they often read the supplement. Thirteen turn only occasionally to Leisure. Another eight insist they never consult the Sunday section, although it devotes itself largely to listings of television shows.

The stock market report got poor grades — only 18 readers say they scan that column daily. However, not everyone owns stocks. Those who do are faithful in following the reports.

Jumble, a word game appearing on the comic page, has a small but loyal following — though far more ignore it altogether than the number which looks for it every day and those who sometimes like to participate in the mental gymnastics it requires.

Liz Smith, a gossip columnist located in New York and only recently added to the editorial page of the paper, hasn't developed any kind of a following — only eight persons among those surveyed read it.

The Horoscope did about as expected — about half of the readers consult its wisdom all or most of the time. The other half rarely, if ever, bother with it.

The Action-Reaction section of Focalpoint, always on Page One, came up with the top marks of any section. Eighty-two readers say they never miss it. Another 16 consume its information most of the time. Only nine said they can do without it.

The Calendar has a good following. So does the Off-beat story also appearing in Focalpoint. TV's Best Bet has a large and loyal following, although the readers don't always agree with the way the Herald sees the best show of the night.

Everybody talks about the weather and most everyone likes to read about it, the survey showed. The Police Beat also attracts a great deal of interest. Of the 105 polled, 73 lend attention to it daily and another 20 often scan it. The Obituary section has almost exactly the same percentage of following.

The Energy, Farm and Military sections are widely read, if results of the survey can be believed, but again those are for special interest groups.

The editorial page cartoons and the Publisher's Corner both came in for high marks. The Rims, authored by various members of the editorial department, did reasonably well, although 25 subscribers confess they never read them.

Among syndicated columnists appearing on the editorial page, Dr. Thosteson has the top following his appeal can't compare with that of Dear Abby, following by both sexes and all age groups. It proves again that people like to read about other people's problems.

Both Ridin' Fence (written by Marj Carpenter) and the Mailbag did well in the survey, something that was not unexpected.

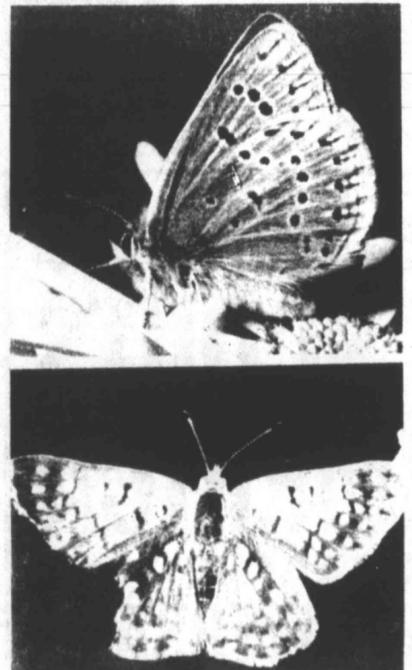

Syndicated sports

columnist Dick Young didn't fare very well in the poll but the editors have great confidence in him. His provocative articles are bound to attract more and more interest. Only three readers said they read that special section daily, another five consulted it "often." The pollsters can only conclude that not many bowlers took the trouble to make known their reading habits.

The women's section does famously with the market it aims for — housewives, hosts and hostesses, party-goers, celebrants of anniversaries and etc. The Herald hopes to concentrate more and more on family news in the future.

Not surprisingly, Peanuts rallied more support among readers of the comic page than any other strip, followed by Dennis the Menace, Blondie, Snuffy Smith and Beetle Bailey in that order. Buz Sawyer, the Wizard of Id, Andy Capp, B.C., Nancy and Gasoline Alley are in the middle of the pack. Lolly is gaining fast. Gil Thorpe, a newcomer, is having trouble maintaining support. Continuity strips like Mary Worth did a lot better than another continuity strip, Rex Morgan.

Other aspects of the survey will be discussed in future editions.

Arkansas' Jim Counce (42) and Houston's Mike Schultz (30) were in back of him also ready to try for the rebound. Keeping an eye on the ball is Houston's Cecil Rose (00).

Cougars claw and scrape, but Hogs hold on to win

HOUSTON (AP) — The 14th-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks, led by sharpshooting Ron Brewer and Marvin Delph, rallied in the second half to defeat Houston 82-80 and virtually clinch the Southwest Conference basketball championship Saturday.

The victory gave the Razorbacks an 11-0 record in the SWC and handed them a three game lead over the Cougars, who are now 7-3.

Houston, which has not lost at Hofheinz Pavilion in 16 straight games including 11 this year, almost made it in a row until the Razorbacks started their surge in the second half.

The Cougars took a 41-38 halftime lead and built it to a 57-51 margin early in the second half for their biggest edge of the contest.

Houston led 65-60 with 10 minutes to go but Arkansas chipped away and two free throws by Sidney Moncrief with 6:09 to play tied the game 70-69.

Cecil Rose, who scored 21 points for the Cougars, then traveled and Arkansas took the lead for good at 5:19 on Steve Schall's basket.

Delph, who finished with 24 points to lead Arkansas in the regionally televised game, and Rose were involved in a heated shooting contest in the first half.

Rose hit his first five shots from the field and Delph had 12 points after nine minutes of play.

Arkansas shot over 60 per cent from the field and the Cougars, the No. 2 scoring team in the nation, hit over 50 per cent before the crowd 10,061.

The Cougars are 17-6 and Arkansas is 19-1.

Arkansas is shooting for its first SWC title since 1958 and seeking to become the first team to own an unblemished league ledger since Southern Methodist turned the trick in 1956.

The Cougars, who had not lost on their home court this season, led most of the game but Arkansas came through when the contest reached its most dramatic moments in the last six minutes.

"To me that was the turning point," said dejected Houston Coach Guy Lewis after talking at length with his players in the privacy of their dressing room.

Baseball!

For those of you who just can't wait to see the horsehide meet the ash, your time is drawing near. The Steer diamond men will be taking to the mound and batter's box in just a little over three weeks.

The new Steer baseball coach is Tommy Collins, who was hired in the latter part of the summer of '76 with the expressed intent of making the spring of '77 a bright one for the Steer baseball fans. Tommy is in his first year out of Northwestern Louisiana and has already turned quite a few heads with his knowledge of the game. Brother Dave plays for the Los Angeles Angels.

More about Collins in a little while, but for now, check out the story and schedule on page 2-B and be prepared for a fine baseball effort by the locals.

Officials are people too

Now look, I don't want to say anything bad about basketball officials. They have a tough job, right? And it's thankless, right? So why should I add any vilification to a group of men who have been lambasted unjustly for so long, right? I'll tell you why... because sometimes they burn me up.

I'm not going to pick on local officials anymore. They take it personally, and I'm sure enough people let them have it anyway. Also, I'd like to keep the few friends I have.

NO! My sermon today is about that Lubbock duo Sharshay and Carraway, who called the Hawk game last Thursday night in Odessa. I'm sure they have fine families that love them, and those guys would never purposely miscall a play. Officials like that don't last very long.

But, they can steam the fans so easily (yours truly included) that they have to receive the fewest Christmas cards of anyone every year. There were 67 fouls called in the Hawk game... entirely too many. If the game is rough and tumble at the beginning, the officials sometimes have to call close fouls to calm the players down.

But I'm convinced a dozen officials would watch one particular battle for a rebound underneath the basket, and six of them would blow their whistle and the other six would let the play continue.

Some fans have accused various refs of evening up the calls. I don't believe they would do that intentionally, but mysterious is the ways of the subconscious. Consciously and subconsciously, 99 per cent of the officials no doubt want to be as fair as they can. But the excitement of the moment can sometimes be overpowering.

And another thing... oh, never mind.

Hawk miscellany

About that game... I thought my wife and Jim Ray's sweetie Diane were going to get into a fist fight with a couple of female Odessa fans. During the last three minutes of regulation play, the action off and on the court got so hot people were dropping like flies. That could be an exaggeration, but I'll never admit it.

One more note about the Hawks: This

Monday night, they entertain Clarendon (6-68 in Hawk Gym. The Hawks are currently 7-5 and need to win this game to keep in the race. It should be a game to rival the Midland shootout. Oops, one more note, don't be concerned about a missing Marc Meyers Monday. He's gone back home to Buffalo, N.Y. for a few days.

The year of the Cougar pervades SWC sports pic

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — 1977 is 36 days old and the Houston Cougars have already won the Cotton Bowl and the Southwest Conference Indoor Track and Field Championships. And they still have a shot at going to the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Anyone want to wager a Cnote on their tennis and baseball squads?

Under new Coach Tom Tellez, a former assistant at UCLA, and an explosive sprinter, Greg Edmond, the Cougars shocked what was left of a record crowd of 9,533 at Tarrant County Convention Center Saturday night with a half-point victory over defending champion Baylor.

With a thousand or so fans left and the clock striking midnight, Houston's Greg Caldwell earned vital second place tie in the high jump for 43 and one-half points to Baylor's 43. Texas A&M had 41 and Texas 38 and one-half in the closest indoor meet of the four on the swc record books.

The performance sent the Cougars into unrestrained joy with one over-enthusiastic athlete "spiking" a shot on one of the track boards with a resounding crack.

Texas Coach Cleburne Price had warned earlier in the week, "Houston is the team to watch. Tellez is a good coach and recruiter. He's going to force some folks to get with their programs in this conference."

Tellez turned loose Edmond on Olympian Johnny Jones of Texas in the 60-yard dash. Edmond knocked off Harvey Glance two weeks ago in the event. This time it was Jones who fell. Jones, a footballer, posted a respectable 6.28 but Edmond won in a rush at 6.25.

That means Edmond has now beaten half of America's gold medal sprint relay team at Montreal last summer.

"Johnny has a slow start and that makes him a target at 60 yards," admitted Edmond.

Jones ran an unofficial 49.7 in anchoring the victorious Texas mile relay team and appeared to be coasting with his fluid stride.

Only two records were set — one by a Cougar. Niall O'Shaughnessy jogged the 1,000-yard run in 2:06.75. The Irish Olympian eclipsed the old record of 2:11.6 by Canadian Olympian Paul Craig of Texas.

Cecil Overstreet of Houston sailed 25-4 one-half in the long jump to beat the old mark of 24-7 3/4 by Baylor's Ricky Thompson.

Houston had only one other first place finisher — Randy Coffman in the shot put. But track's a team sport like everything else Houston has been winning lately in the SWC.

It seems like only yesterday when Houston was just trying to get somebody to answer its knock at the door to get in.

BSSH linksters finish fourth

SWEETWATER — "We showed today that we can compete and will definitely be district contenders," said Steer Golf Coach John Stiles Saturday after his varsity team had finished fourth in a field of 12 teams and his JV groups ended second in a 10-team field in the Sweetwater Invitational.

Twenty-two teams from 4-A and 3-A schools met Saturday, with Abilene Cooper taking the top honors with a two-day total of 624, followed by Permian with 733, San Angelo with 636, and the fourth-place Steers with 637.

The junior varsity team finished only eight strokes out of first with a total of 632. San Angelo JV's took top honors with 624.

John Hernandez, medalist, and third best in the tourney lead the varsity team with a 256 two-day card. David and Gary Howell finished with 159's, and Bruce Carroll carded a 163. Scores for the JV's went thusly: John Burroughs — 160; Chris Howell — 163; Carl Cresham 163; and Dwayne Thomas — 164.

The continuously improving linksmen will be in Odessa Feb. 17 and 18 to compete with 20 other teams.

Tech fixes Owl soup

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech toyed with the Rice Owls Saturday to post an 84-65 Southwest Conference basketball victory behind Grant Dukes' 18 points to remain in third place.

Ten of the 11 Tech players scored, with four of them in double figures. Mike Russell, getting 15 of his 17 points in the last half, followed Dukes and Mike Edwards had 13 and Geoff Huston had 12.

Elbert Darden paced the Owls with 20 points, getting 10 in the second half. The Raiders now stand 7-4 in SWC play and 13-8 on the season. Rice is 2-9 and 8-13.

Rice kept close the first 12 minutes before Tech pulled steadily away, leading by as much as 19 points in the first half.

The Owls shaved the lead to 11 in the second half against Tech reserves.

SECTION B

January in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Easy-going old pro Don January, who once appeared poised to make a rout of it, had to birdie the final hole — after the television cameras had ended their coverage for the day — to retain a share of the third-round lead Saturday in the $240,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

January had a two-stroke lead at one time, blew to a double bogey six on the 14th hole, then rallied with the twopenit birdie on the last hole to tie Bruce Lietzke for the top spot with matching scores of 204, 12-under-par on the 7,234-yard Waialae Country Club course.

January, at 47 the oldest man in the field, had a 69 in the bright, sunny weather with temperatures in the lower 80s. Lietzke, a hard-hitting 25-year-old who won the Tucson Open earlier this season and hasn't had a round over par this year, closed up with a 67.

Lanny Wadkins ripped out a six-under-par 66 and was within a single stroke of the lead at 205.

Japanese star Takashi Murakami and Fuzzy Zoeller were next at 207. Zoeller had a 70 while Murakami had to struggle to a 73, one-over-par in occasionally gusty Trade Winds.

Tom Watson, a record-setting winner of his last two starts, shot a 66 and was tied at 208 with Al Geiberger and Andy Bean. Bean and Geiberger each shot 69 on the oceanside layout that huddles under the shoulder of Diamond Head.

"Five shots back probably would be too much," Watson said. "Four is possible."

Arnold Palmer rewarded his still-loyal army with a solid 66 — matching the best round of the day — but it may have been too little, too late. He was still six strokes back at 210.

A starry field of Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, J.C. Snead, PGA champ Dave Stockton, Billy Casper and Gene Littler all failed to qualify for the final two rounds.

Steer netters fall to PHS

The Big Spring High School tennis team fell to Permian High School 15-3 here Saturday. The score was more lopsided than the actual competition, as the locals lost three split sets.

Winning for the Steers were Danny Olesen and David Stull in single matches, and the doubles team of Barry Fish and Craig McMahon.

The boys team won three of their nine matches, and the girls team, made up mainly of sophomores lost all nine of their contests, despite a good effort by the doubles team of Susan McMurry and Cindy Jones.

The local netters will be back on the courts this Tuesday at the Tennis Center in a district match against Abilene Cooper.

Steers mojoed again, 81-59

The highlight of the half came in the second quarter at 4:59 when, down 15-21, the Steers came out with a full-court press, forced a turnover, and began to rush. Buckets by Wilder at 4:33 and Bubba Stripling at 3:40 brought the Boves to 19-22, when Perry took a fancy inside shovel pass from Jones and climbed into the ozone to do battle with Mojoer Tony Smith. When Perry came down he had two free shots — both of which went home to pull the Steers within two, 21-23, at 2:45.

The rest of the half was Wilder and Strifler, sending both teams into the second half determined to come on strong.

Unfortunately, at 4:20 in the third quarter, Bubba Stripling was looking lonely on the court with the only two Steer buckets, while Permian had the man-to-man on Wilder and were using McLemore's height to great advantage at both the high and low post. Things were still tough at 2:55 in the quarter when McLemore picked up his fourth foul and a technical to boot. But it was still his quarter as he finished with four of his six field goals, and pushed the Panthers to a 13-point lead.

Bubba Stripling capped off his 14-point performance at the beginning of the fourth quarter when he took the tip to the hoop. Stripling scored three baskets in the third quarter and two in the fourth to bolster Steer nerve, but the score fell away from the Boves, dropping from 51-61 at 4:52 to 53-71 at 2:56. The Steers tried the full court press at 2:05, and the Panthers ran away again, from 57-73 to 59-81 at the gun.

The turning point of Steer fortunes might have come from Mike "Moondog" Harris early in the game. Harris swept the boards from the taller Panthers on a couple of occasions, and left several footprints on Mojo shoulders, but finished with only five points. Harris can look forward to a time when the basket won't jump out, from under his shots.

'NOW LISTEN UP!' — Steer baseball coach, Tommy Collins, goes over the schedule for the daily drills in practice Friday afternoon. The Steer baseballers, who will be pictured in their various positions in next week's sports pages, begin their season March 1 in Steer Park against Lamesa.

Baseball season looms

Take-me-out-to-the-ballgame time is right around the corner, and with the weather the local team has been basking under this weekend, they feel ready to begin this afternoon.

Tommy Collins' Steer roster is not complete at this time, as a few players will be making the transition from basketball to baseball, but the other approximately two dozen stick-men have been undergoing practice every school day afternoon for weeks now.

Fundamental drills have been taking up a lot of practice time lately in preparation for starting line-up finalization.

The Steers have three of their non-title games at home this year, opening the season itself on March 1 with Lamesa at home, followed by a Steer Park meeting with Ft. Stockton March 4, and a meeting with Ranger Junior College on March 12 on the homefield.

The Black and Gold begin their District 5-4A campaign March 22 against Abilene High in Steer Park.

x - Denotes District 5-4A game

'If we can't have Borg, we'll sue!'

DALLAS (AP) — While tennis superstar Bjorn Borg denies ever signing a contract to play the World Championship Tennis circuit this year, wct officials are saying his jump to another circuit represents a "new level of irresponsibility."

That disagreement between the Swedish tennis champion and WCT will be the basis of arguments in the $5.7 million suit filed in Dallas Friday by WCT officials.

The suit contends Borg's jumping to the competing Grand Prix circuit constituted breach of contract, misrepresentation and contract interference.

Borg has said previously that he never signed a WCT 77 contract, but permitted his agent, International Management Group (IMG), and WCT to include his name on a list of WCT players last Oct. 27 at their own risk.

WCT executive director Mike Davies said Borg's action "suggests that a new level of irresponsibility may be affecting professional tennis."

Named as defendants in the suit are Borg, IMG, Colgate, Bancroft and others. Bancroft, an equipment manufacturer, has an endorsement contract with Borg and is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Colgate.

Borg, in Little Rock, Ark., for a Grand Prix circuit tournament, had said Thursday night when asked about a possible suit by WCT: "If they file a suit, I'll never become involved with WCT in the future."

He said Friday, "The lawsuit is not good. I have no other comment."

"Prior to Oct. 27, Stenner had agreed to the basic terms of the agreement and had authorized WCT to announce Borg's participation in wct 77," Davies said. "As in the past, WCT relied on IMG authorization when announcing Borg's name with its field of players."

Davies added: "Borg has played the WCT circuit for the past three years and is an outstanding young man and a credit to tennis, but in my 17 years of involvement in professional tennis I have never seen a player or his representatives repudiate a commitment in this manner."

Norton bout delayed

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Norton, who can't fight Duane Bobick in March, wants to fight Earnie Shavers, but that match appears to have received a knockout punch from television and Madison Square Garden.

A rib injury received by the undefeated Bobick while sparring with his brother Rodney has forced his March 2 fight with Ken Norton to be delayed until May.

"I'll keep working," said Norton after learning about the postponement. "I'll fight Shavers in the same time and place. I'll have to increase my work for Shavers. He's a better puncher and his harder than Bobick."

However, NBC, which is scheduled to televise the Norton-Bobick match, has vetoed a fight between Norton and Shavers. And since the Garden needs the television money to pay Norton's $500,000 guarantee it has decided to leave the March 2 date open.

In the meantime, Norton will just have to wait for that $500,000 check.

LUNKERS EVERYWHERE! — Moss Creek supervisor Ed McCain, left, and Game Warden Curtis Thompson examine some very large fish that were taken out of the lake Friday on a Texas Parks and Wildlife netting survey. Assistant City Manager Jerry Foresyth looks on. Ed Akinson, R.E. O'Keefe, J.F. Lee and H.R. Welch from the inland fisheries department in San Angelo set out six nets overnight and hauled in catfish to eight pounds, black bass to six pounds and Walleyes to three pounds. The experts stated for a lake this size, Moss Creek was in "very good shape" and that fish were hungry.

Sands 5's win

ACKERLY — The two dynamic varsity basketball squads from Sands High School maintained their unchecked lead to the District 9-B throne room Friday night by virtue of a pair of wins over top rival Dawson County.

David Hall and Danny Peugh led the JV boys to a 55-22 win, upping their record to 11-1.

STANTON — The two Stanton quintets moved even closer to district crowns of their own Friday night by defeating Shallowater, and setting up the crucial deciding match with 2-0 Seagraves Tuesday night.

Tim Glynn's 14 points led the Buffs to a 58-37 pounding of the opposition and upped their record to 3-0, with one district meeting left on the books.

Paula Christian led the fens to a 45-42 nipping of their competition. She had 21 markers! The girls' record now stands at 3-0.

Coahoma upset

COLORADO CITY — The Wolfpack from Colorado City held a rude welcoming party for the Coahoma Bulldogs Friday night, outlasting the visitors 71-67.

Ken "Killer" Kelso led Coahoma with 23 markers, while Edwin Dickson hit 12, Tim Greenfield scored 12 and Daryl Witt had 10. Wayne McKee, Jackie Ellis and Cornell Ausbie led the pack with 17, 16 and 14 respectively.

Coahoma won the girls game running away, 73-26, while Cee City took the boys' JV game 60-55. Coahoma won the JV girls' contest 40-24.

Forsan wins OT

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes stayed in contention for the district crown Friday night as they beat Garden City 61-57 in an overtime duel. Darrin Crooks and Randy Cregar led the victors with 19 and 16 points respectively. Smith had 20 markers for 99 City.

The Forsan fens upped their record to 3-1 by a 67-46 pounding of their adversaries. Forsan's Beverly Strickland scored an over-powering 40 points in the game.

Big American League begins slate April 6

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League, which expands to 14 teams this season, will open its 1977 campaign April 6 with a night game in the Seattle Kingdom, it was announced Sunday.

American League clubs will play 162 games this season, the same as last year, but the number of games teams will play both in and out of their divisions has been changed to accommodate the new clubs — Seattle and Toronto.

Teams will play 15 games against each of its division rivals and 10 against each opponent in the other division. That totals 160 games. The remaining two will be interdivisional meetings. Boston, for example, will play an extra game at home with Seattle and an extra game on the road in Oakland.

Last season teams played 18 games against each of their interdivisional rivals and 12 against clubs in the other division.

(Special to the Herald)

HARLINGEN — A West Texan has won the Life Begins At 40 Golf Tournament here for the third straight year.

The new titlist is Jack Williams of Plainview shot a five-over-par-149 over 36 holes Friday to beat out Fred Rhode of San Antonio by one stroke.

Williams succeeds Roy Peden of Kermit as the champion. Two years ago, Billy Bob Coffey emerged as the champion. Last year, Williams was eliminated in the tournament semifinals. Peden wound up fourth in this year's tournament, four strokes off the pace.

Ricky Romero returns to Big Spring soon

All the thrills, chills and spills of big time wrestling is marching its way towards Big Spring again.

Four big bruising matches are slated for Wednesday night, Feb. 9, in the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The main event will feature Ricky Romero in a grudge match against Lord Alfred Hayes, the swaggering bragadosio from the banks of the Thames.

Also on the bill is a tag team match coupling Swede Hanson and Rip Hawk against Reggie Parks and Johnny Weaver. A match between enormous Teddy DeBiase and speedy Alex Perez will follow that crueling contest.

Rounding out the card is free-for-all between Randy Brewer and mysterious El Bracero.

Tickets go on sale at 4 p.m. the day of the match (Wednesday) and range from $3.50 down to $1.50. The National Wrestling Alliance is bringing the furious action to Big Spring.

WORLD RECORD SMASHER — Rosalyn Bryant waves to crowd after she smashed the world record in the 500-meter run Friday night at the Times Indoor Games for her second world indoor mark in two weeks. The 21-year-old Los Angeles State College senior was clocked in 1:11.8 as she wiped out the previous mark of 1:12.1 set by Brenda Walsh of Canada in 1972. Miss Bryant set a world record for 400 meters indoors last week of 53.5.

Sugar Ray wins first

BALTIMORE (AP) — Olympic champion Sugar Ray Leonard scored a unanimous victory over Luis "The Bull" Vega, winning each of the six rounds in a nationally televised junior welterweight bout Saturday.

The victory for the charismatic Leonard in his pro debut was a popular one for the crowd at the Civic Centre, which by early estimates exceeded 9,000 and produced a gross gate of more than $50,000.

Leonard, who won 145 of 150 amateur bouts, scored impressively in the fourth round, opening a cut over Vega's left eye. The Puerto Rican won fighting out of Reading, Pa., held his own after that but was unable to land any heavy blows against the fast-stepping Leonard.

Leonard, whose previous fights had never gone more than three rounds, appeared to try for a knockout in the final 30 seconds. But, Vega, who has never been knocked down in 26 pro fights, weathered the furious attack.

Leonard, from Palmer Park, Md., was a crowd favorite with his bolo punches, and an occasional stutter step, and once drew a loud cheer when he motioned to Vega to come after him. Vega weighed 141 pounds, one-quarter of pound less than Leonard.

Leonard, who won 145 of 150 amateur bouts, scored impressively in the fourth round, opening a cut over Vega's left eye. The Puerto Rican won fighting out of Reading, Pa., held his own after that but was unable to land any heavy blows against the fast-stepping Leonard.

LOOK OF A WINNER — Chris Evert wears a smug look after defeating Kristien Shaw 6-0, 6-9 in the quarter-finals of a tennis tournament in Friday night action at Seattle Center Arena.

Johnny Goldmedal nipped by Edmond

Olympic gold medal winners don't intimidate dash man Greg Edmond. In fact, he's already beaten two—and has his sights set on a third Olympian scalp.

"I need one more meet and then I'm ready," says the University of Houston runner. "Then I can go against Steve Riddick."

Riddick, of course, was a member of the America's gold medal winning 400-meter relay team at Montreal during last summer's Olympic Games.

Edmond has already wiped out half of that team with dash victories over Auburn's Harvey Glance and Texas' Johnny Jones. Edmond, who beat Glance last week, nipped Jones Friday night in the 60-yard dash at the annual Southwest Conference Track and Field Meet.

Edmond, a transfer from Louisiana State, beat Jones out of the blocks and the Olympian could never make up the stride difference. Edmond was timed in 6.25 seconds while Jones was second at 6.28.

"Johnny Jones has a slow start—that make him a target for 60 yards," said Edmond. "He has a gold medal, so beating him is prestigious."

Texas A&M's Shifton Baker was an easy winner in the 60-yard hurdles with a 7:31. And Rice won the distance medley medal.

Olympian distance runner Niall O'Shaughnessy, a native of Ireland running for Arkansas, and Canadian Paul Craig of Texas both won.

O'Shaughnessy established a new SWC record in the 1,000-yard run in a time of 2:06.75, breaking by almost five seconds the old record of 2:11.6 by Craig, Craig, who did not run at Texas last year to compete for the Canadian Olympic team, beat back a spirited bid by Arkansas' Tom Aspel to win the mile in 4:10.5. Aspel was timed in 4:11.2.

Houston unseated champion Baylor in the meet. In Ingleswood, Calif., Rosalyn Bryant broke the world record in the 500-meter run at the Los Angeles Times Indoor games for her second world indoor mark in two weeks.

Knowles acquired ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Lethander Darold Knowles, 35, a short reliever with nine saves and a 2.28 earned run average last year for the Chicago Cubs of the National League, was obtained by the Texas Rangers Saturday for cash and player to be named later.

Knowles cleared NL waivers so he could become available to the American League team. Knowles was 5-7 last year and has a career record of 56-63. He pitched in all seven games of the 1973 World Series for Oakland against the New York Mets and didn't allow a run in six and one-half innings.

He has had 96 saves in the last eight years. Knowles was pitched for Baltimore, the Philadelphia Phillies, Washington, Oakland and the Cubs, the last two years.

Officers for the 1977 season will be elected at that time. Those teams who participated in 1976 are urged to have their manager or a team representative present, and new teams who would like to play are also encouraged to attend. For additional information, contact Boyce Hale at 267-2655 or 267-6957.

UP AND OVER — Taking advantage of the excellent weather Friday afternoon, the Runnels Jr. High girls track team got in some good practice for the upcoming season. As teammates look on, high jumper Brenda Trevino goes over the bar frontways for the photographer.

North Little Rock, Ark. — Nick Saviano of Los Altos Hills, Calif. moved into the semifinals of a $50,000 Grand Prix tennis tournament defeating sixth seeded Colin Dibley of Australia 7, 5, 7, 7, 6.

Memphis 111-92 LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Ninth-ranked Louisville exploded to a 31-8 lead in the first 10 minutes behind guard Rick Wilson and went on to rout Memphis State 111-92 in a Metro-7 Conference basketball game Saturday.

Memphis State, 18-4 and 2-3, had been in the Top 20 for most of the season before dropping out last week.

Edmond, a transfer from Louisiana State, beat Jones out of the blocks and the Olympian could never make up the stride difference.

Edmond was timed in 6.25 seconds while Jones was second at 6.28.

"Johnny Jones has a slow start—that make him a target for 60 yards," said Edmond. "He has a gold medal, so beating him is prestigious."

Texas A&M's Shifton Baker was an easy winner in the 60-yard hurdles with a 7:31. And Rice won the distance medley medal.

Edmond, who beat Glance last week, nipped Jones Friday night in the 60-yard dash at the annual Southwest Conference Track and Field Meet.

O'Shaughnessy established a new SWC record in the 1,000-yard run in a time of 2:06.75, breaking by almost five seconds the old record of 2:11.6 by Craig, Craig, who did not run at Texas last year to compete for the Canadian Olympic team, beat back a spirited bid by Arkansas' Tom Aspel to win the mile in 4:10.5.

Aspel was timed in 4:11.2. Houston unseated champion Baylor in the meet.

In Ingleswood, Calif., Rosalyn Bryant broke the world record in the 500-meter run at the Los Angeles Times Indoor games for her second world indoor mark in two weeks.

Knowles acquired ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Lethander Darold Knowles, 35, a short reliever with nine saves and a 2.28 earned run average last year for the Chicago Cubs of the National League, was obtained by the Texas Rangers Saturday for cash and player to be named later.

Knowles cleared NL waivers so he could become available to the American League team.

Knowles was 5-7 last year and has a career record of 56-63. He pitched in all seven games of the 1973 World Series for Oakland against the New York Mets and didn't allow a run in six and one-half innings.

He has had 96 saves in the last eight years. Knowles was pitched for Baltimore, the Philadelphia Phillies, Washington, Oakland and the Cubs, the last two years.

Officers for the 1977 season will be elected at that time. Those teams who participated in 1976 are urged to have their manager or a team representative present, and new teams who would like to play are also encouraged to attend.

Crappie at Lake Spence Crappie fishing has picked up at Lake E.V. Spence, and the striped bass continue to bite, according to reports from the lake during the past week.

The Colorado River Water District is getting ready during the winter season for the increased traffic of visitors in the spring by a general cleanup, beautification and clearing of parking areas. Also, a new patrol boat has been received to replace one previously in service, enabling patrolmen to give faster and safer service to boaters.

Among reports from the lake were: Y.J.'s Marina — Jim Crownover, Odessa, an 8-lb. striped bass; Ike and Bernie Bailey, Jal. N.M., two striper, 9 and 11 lbs. in the Reddy Room of the Hillside Grocery — Leslie Bagwell, Robert Lee, at 3 1/4-lb. striper and two black bass to four pounds. Ray Doughart and party, Arlington, four striped bass weighing 3, 4 1/4, 4 1/2 and 6 1/4 lbs. Triangle Grocery and Bait — R.C. Rainwater, Robert Lee, two black bass to 2 lbs., three channel catfish to 7 lbs. and a 3-lb. striped bass.

Johnny Goldmedal nipped by Edmond

Olympic gold medal winners don't intimidate dash man Greg Edmond. In fact, he's already beaten two—and has his sights set on a third Olympian scalp.

"I need one more meet and then I'm ready," says the University of Houston runner. "Then I can go against Steve Riddick."

Riddick, of course, was a member of the America's gold medal winning 400-meter relay team at Montreal during last summer's Olympic Games.

Edmond has already wiped out half of that team with dash victories over Auburn's Harvey Glance and Texas' Johnny Jones. Edmond, who beat Glance last week, nipped Jones Friday night in the 60-yard dash at the annual Southwest Conference Track and Field Meet.

Konny's Korner

Konny Service

The fishing this week at Lake Spence has been pretty good, considering the bad weather that we have been having around here lately. The striper have slowed down some on their biting, but the crappie have decided to take up the slack.

There has been a rumor floating around this week that one group caught about 105 crappie. That's pretty good fishing! Most of these fish were supposedly caught on small minnows.

Well, the trapping season has officially ended for another year. Reports indicated that the overall trapping in Coke County was slow, but that those hides brought in were very high quality, and brought very good prices on the average.

Of course, there are always those who claim that the trapping this year was not slow at all. Just look at all those skunks, possums and other varmints that were pulled from the steel jaws. If those were counted this year, it might have proved to have been one of the best years' trapping yet. But as it stands now, what can you do with those critters?

Yeah, what do you do with a skunk after you have caught one in your trap? Well, first of all, you probably fill the air with a flow of words that your grandpappy taught you, but that your mother spanked you for.

After that, you either skin the skunk and try to find someone who will come close to you (mainly a buyer who will give you top price at $1.50), or you leave the skunk lying there and hope that next time you'll be a bit luckier.

Tickets, tickets, etc for big Red Head bash

Tickets are becoming more and more available for what should be an evening of surprises when Moore's All-American Red Heads, the world champion women's professional basketball crew comes to Big Spring to play local coaches and teachers Feb. 22.

Students involved in all athletic events are selling the tickets, as is the BSHS athletic department at the school. Cheerleaders are also expected to be giving out tickets to various service organizations to sell.

The center for the local squad "Jumpin' Jerry" Foresyth is also hawking ducats to the big event, and Athletic Director Don Robbins said that a telephone call to him will assure the interested fan of finding a ticket.

Money raised by the sale of the tickets will go to financing the Sports Spring Banquet, and local Big Spring Quarterback Club members are hoping to have a SRO crowd at the event to assure the athletes of a successful banquet.

YOUNG IDEAS

By DICK YOUNG

SCOTTSDALE, ARIZ. — Heard at American Airlines' Golf Classic, where baseball and football players get away from the winter snows:

Namath has backed off recent dictum he'll play only for Rams next season. Now he says he'll play for any contender. Who's he kidding? Next it'll be anybody who'll take him and his $450,000 salary load. . . . Joey Baby makes it sound as though he's firing Jets. Actually, they have no need for him, and have quietly told him so. . . . Breaking up as the man sings, is so very hard to do.

Namath says he intends taking drama lessons, and music and dancing, for post-football movie career. Meanwhile, he should take a lesson on how not to stubbornly throw hanging sideline passes. . . . Walt Michaels gets Joe's endorsement as new coach. "He won't take any crap from anybody," is Namath's evaluation — which also gives a clue on what has been wrong with recent Jets' coaching.

Bobby Murcer has submitted terms for 5-year-contract to Giants. Awaiting answer. If not acceptable, will play out option and go elsewhere for remainder of career. "Next contract I sign will be my last," he says. "I'm 30 now and figure I'll play till 35". . . . Many big leaguers in thirtyish age bracket are thinking this way, including Ray Fosse. "You like to be rid of the hassle of negotiating a new contract every year," says Cleveland's catcher. . . . Bad news, Mets. Sal Bando predicts Chuck Tanner is pump-up type of manager. Pitt talent needs, and that Pirates will run off with NL East.

NETTLES, TUCKER HANDICAPS CLIPPED Not since watching The Exorcist have I seen heads take 360-degree turn way they do when Mrs. Don Pastorini walks by. I have to believe Jack Benny hadn't met her when he said, "You see two, you've seen them all". . . . Golf committee has clipped Graig Nettles' handicap from 14 to 12, and his partner, Bob Tucker, from 17 to 15 to keep them from running off with this best-ball tourney as they did last year with 55-55-55. . . . Ron Santo says Phil Wrigley is making big mistake if he trades off Bill Madlock. "Cubs have to build around Madlock," says Santo, who preceded Bill as third base star in Chi.

Roger Staubach had psychosomatic sore arm during NFL playoffs, according to Billy Joe DuPree. "He read so much in the papers about his arm bothering him," says Dallas' tight end, "that he got to believe it, and was walking around shaking his arm". . . . Which reminds me: Ray Fosse says Catfish Hunter was pitching with sore arm since early last season. Yogi Berra confirms this. "I tried to tell him he was crazy, that he shouldn't go out there," says Yogi. "but he's one guy who wants to pitch. All that money hasn't changed him one bit."

Ray Guy, best punter in football, pulled out of American Airlines tourney, and not because they wouldn't let him kick the ball out of the traps. . . . James Harris, Rams QB, replaced him. . . . Jimmy Wynn, asked what he expects to do with Yankees this year, says "survive". . . . Footballers here credit Bert Jones' looney-goose attitude for his spectacular success in NFL. "His whole approach is okay, fellows, let's play a little catch," says DuPree. . . . Phil Villapiano, one of those mean Raiders, says face-mask violations usually are accidents. Or did he mean getting caught was an accident?

What little is left of Charley Finley's A's will disintegrate this year. Pitchers Stan Bahnsen and Mike Torrez will play out option.

Carter's cardigan stirs designers

The cardigan sweater — classic, simple, warm. And it's worn by millions of American men in and out of their homes.

But when President Carter wore one on national television Wednesday night, in his first "fireside chat," the mohair began to fly. What does this mean to the fashion world? A new trend?

Fashion designers, it turns out, are divided in their opinions on the Carter cardigan look.

"I enjoyed the fact that he was wearing a sweater," said French designer Pierre Cardin. "I'm in favor of a relaxed mentality, and I can only applaud his sense of self-expression."

"What he's presenting is an attitude about himself and what he feels," added American designer Ralph Lauren. "He wanted to have an informal discussion with the American people the way he would if he invited them into his home."

But some designers thought Carter went too far.

Said Bill Blass: "It seems a little obvious to me. A blazer would have been a breakthrough. But this is an extreme jump."

And Giorgio di Sant'Angelo said, "The whole environment he was in was a bit elaborate for the average man. Sweaters are already a part of the lifestyle of the average man. But the President's sweater was a little bit too sloppy.

"Someone should advise him about the way he dresses. He's really a young man and could be quite dapper."

Most designers thought the President's style of dress should remain the same. If they designed for him, they would change very little.

"Up to now, in every one of his public appearances, he's been appropriately dressed," said Blass. "I think he must always be conservatively attired."

"I think his style of dressing is excellent," said Lauren. "He's not a fashion guy, but he has style."

But others said Carter should take a second look in his closet. "I have many suits in my line where the jacket is almost sweater-like and they can be worn with a shirt and tie," said Cardin, noting Carter's penchant for informality. "These would be suitable to give a soft and easy look."

Oscar de la Renta thought the President's wardrobe should consist of clothes "that are not controversial and carry the dignity of his job."

The menswear designers do not think there will be a major trend toward the cardigan among American men. But Carter's appearance certainly won't hurt the sweater industry, they agreed.

"Cardigans are a classic that are fashionable now," said Larry Bloom, president of Puritan Sportswear. "The difference is that the President appeared to wear it as a simply utilitarian garment rather than as a fashionable article. I must admit, though, I think it will accentuate the appeal."

Said Cardin: "Hopefully, it will set a trend. It's a sweater, but it's also unconstructed. He looked much more comfortable than I've seen a lot of presidents look

Victorian flu symptoms mild

MIAMI (AP) — The strain of A-Victoria flu that first appeared at a Miami nursing home and apparently killed two elderly patients does not have severe symptoms, but it can be very dangerous to the old and infirm, officials said Saturday.

Fifty-seven patients at the Treasure Isle Convalescent Home were affected by this season's first outbreak of the A-Victoria flu, which generally is more severe than Hong Kong-B flu. Hong Kong-B has been reported in about 30 states so far this season.

Last year, more than 11,000 deaths nationwide were blamed on A-Victoria.

Dr. Richard Morgan, director of the Dade County Health Department, said one of the nursing home residents, a woman in her 80s who was not identified, died Friday after being transferred to a hospital. A second woman, 88 years old, died within the past week, he said.

Morgan said both deaths apparently were caused by A-Victoria influenza. Another death, that of a 98-year-old patient, might have been connected with the flu, Morgan said.

He said laboratory tests were being considered in an effort to determine a definite cause of death of all three patients.

Nursing home officials refused comment.

The national Center for Disease Control in Atlanta confirmed on Friday that the A-Victoria flu strain had been found in Miami. The outbreak began Jan. 26.

Morgan said that although the illness does not have severe symptoms, it can be very dangerous to old people.

"People who are old often have underlying illnesses that make them very susceptible to this type of disease," Morgan said. "Even a mild cold can be devastating."

He said the general symptoms of the disease at the nursing home were a 101- to 102-degree fever, cough, nasal discharge, loss of appetite, sore throat and muscle aches.

He expressed surprise that the disease first showed up in Miami, especially in view of the severe weather in much of the rest of the country.

"This is not the usual pattern," Morgan said. "Ordinarily, what we see is that there are outbreaks in the North. The flu season there is usually a month ahead of this area because of the cold weather."

He said special checks have been made of area nursing homes and hospitals, but so far there was no evidence that the flu has spread into the general population.

Reports of the outbreak in Miami prompted the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to ask medical experts whether the nationwide influenza vaccination program should be resumed.

The program was suspended in December when the CDC found evidence linking swine flu shots with a rare, occasionally fatal, paralyzing disease called Guillain-Barre Syndrome.

The moratorium halted all influenza immunizations.

Coors brewer gets bonehead award

DALLAS (AP) — The board chairman of the Coors beer Co. is a bonehead as a matter of fact he's the Bonehead of the Year.

William K. Coors accepted the title from the Dallas Bonehead Club Friday.

The club, dedicated to no particular purpose, cited Coors' new press-tab beer cans in presenting the award.

Club members pointed out that the press-tab system results in thumbs or fingers being plunged into the beer. "That just proves our beer is fingerlicking good," Coors told the group.

The press-tab system works thusly: first you press a spot designated on the can. Then you press a second spot, also designated. These steps break the seal on the can. Then you press down on a keyhole-shaped portion of the top, which folds down into the can and provides the opening.

Speaking in a serious vein, Coors said he felt that a mandatory deposit on beverage cans would be a reality. "It's not in the best interests of our industry," he said, "and will create monumental problems for retailers. But it's coming, it's inevitable and we're going to have to live with it."

Coors marketed the system as an ecological advance, doing away with disposable ring-pull openers that often found their way into streets or other places instead of being disposed of properly.

William Coors said the cans can be opened easily with anything from a golf ball to the corner of a desk. This statement prompted the boneheads to produce a chimpanzee, which took a shot at opening one of the cans.

That experiment proved that one cannot use a chimpanzee to open one of the cans.

Rape-murder suspect flees, gives up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A man who faces trial for a rape-murder next month gave himself up Saturday, less than 24 hours after walking out of the police station on the pretext of a visit to the men's room.

Police Sgt. James Beck said Lyle Brummett called him from a telephone booth in South Austin. Beck picked him up and returned him to the city jail.

"I screwed up. I'm in the habit of screwing up. I don't know why," Beck said Brummett told him.

Brummett, 20, walked out of police headquarters Friday during questioning. He is scheduled for trial

March 7 for the rape and strangulation murder of Diane Roberts, 22, and on sexual abuse charges stemming from an attack on a fellow inmate of the Travis County Jail.

Brummett also led officers in August to a grave containing the decomposed bodies of two missing teenage girls in Kerr County.

Dist. Atty. Joe Tuck said Brummett had agreed to testify against a companion, Allen Ladd Woody, 19, in exchange for two life sentences in the murder cases pending against him.

Woody goes on trial March 28 in Kerrville on charges he killed Mary Beth Pearson, 15, they agreed.

Promise of Spring Paris Showings

By VICTORIA GRAHAM
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The miniskirt. You remember, that merest suggestion of a coverup, that excuse for a dress that glorified ankle, calf, knee, thigh — and frequently a bit more.

It was the stuff of which bad jokes were made. It made an industry of pantyhose and an historical marker of the office drinking fountain.

Well, after seven years of banishment by the fashion arbiters, the miniskirt is making a comeback. Not too fast. Not too short. Not for everybody. Not for everybody.

But a comeback. Of course, here and there — what with holdouts like Mary Hartman around — the mini, like the beehive hairdo, never went out of style.

Some Paris designers, like Pierre Cardin and Kenzo, are showing minis strictly for playwear, at the beach, on the cruiseship or at the resort. And there are some shorter cocktail dresses.

It remains to be seen whether women will approve. There surely won't be a mini revolution and, fashion experts say, few women would shuck their wardrobe of longer, comfortable skirts for frivolous frocks.

After all, some suspect the mini had a greater and more zealous following among men than among women who found it a chilly concession to vanity.

"The miniskirt or mid-thigh tunic looks sensational for playwear. It's great for the young and those with great legs," says Helen Saltzman, fashion director at Saks Fifth Avenue. "I don't believe women will be dictated to any longer, and I don't think there ever again will be one length or one style."

"Variety makes sense." Ann Jones, fashion coordinator for Macy's of New York, says: "I don't think we'll see them except in the contemporary department, maybe in juniors, and then just a few for spring and summer.

"I don't think minis are very saleable. They're just not comfortable. The fashion customer wants longer skirts, and we have a hard time selling them if they're not long enough."

When confronted by the mini issue, men are predictably enthusiastic, often reminiscing about the magnetic minis they trailed on busy streets, up the escalator and to the filling cabinet.

But in fashion departments around the country, the sentiments are the same: Yes, minis will be about. But not in abundance. And there won't be a stampede.

LAROCHE PRESENTS — Designer Guy Laroche designed this emerald green chiffon gown with ribbons for his summer collection. Dress was shown in Paris Wednesday.

A COMEBACK FOR THE MINI — Models wear mini-skirts from the collection of Jean-Louis Scherrer Thursday in Paris. After seven years of banishment by the fashion arbiters, the mini-skirt is making a comeback. But it's not for every day, and it's not for everybody.

FROM THE HOUSE OF CHANEL — These two designs are shown in Paris as part of the spring-summer collection from the House of Chanel. At left is a coat of almond-peach tweed over a green and white flowered chiffon dress. At right is a blue flecked and white tweed dress.

gossamer organza, overlaid with sprigs of lily of the valley, for evening. Olive's side-swept draped rayon turban with a cascading drape at the side.

Focus on family living Homes show revival of wicker furniture

By JANET SARGENT
(Assistant County Extension Agent)

Reviving wicker furniture takes only the proper cleaning, repairing and refinishing techniques that almost anyone can do.

Wicker, used at one time only for porch furniture, has found its way into every room in the house. Because it is cheerful, lightweight and easy to maintain, it blends with almost any style of furniture. Its openwork construction also makes it a popular choice of furnishings for small areas.

Wicker is a "generic" name for any furniture made of woven reeds. Rattan, for example, is a reed that belongs to the palm family. Unlike bamboo, which is hollow, rattan is a solid wood. The core of rattan is used in furniture for structural support, while the peel is used to lash the supporting elements together.

Unfinished rattan or wicker has a pleasant tanivory appearance, although it can be painted and repainted as needed.

Designs range from whimsical reproductions of Victorian motifs to modern. It can be shaped into chairs, tables, stools, mirror and picture frames, headboards, baskets and other items.

TODAY'S WICKER
Today, new and used wicker pieces are being sought as additions to most every room in the home. It may often be purchased at reasonable prices at garage sales, Goodwill Industries, Salvation Army and other similar outlets and through classified newspaper ads.

It is easy to clean and refurbish, so many setting up housekeeping choose it, knowing it will be suitable for other rooms when they can afford more permanent furniture.

Wicker or rattan furniture is made by wrapping or weaving strips of reed over a wood or steel framework. As in other types of furniture, there is a great deal of variation in quality and price in both new and used wicker pieces. Overall strength of the piece should be carefully checked by close examination and by applying weight from different positions. Flimsy, wobbly pieces are difficult to strengthen where a light-weight wood frame is used. Better quality new wicker may have steel framework.

Used wicker that has been abused, that sags, has holes or slits in several places, or that appears to be in generally bad condition is rarely a bargain at any price. Because of the way wicker is made, it is difficult to repair severe damage. Used wicker that's in reasonably sound condition, however, may be restored to use quite easily.

CLEANING WICKER

Begin by giving the piece a thorough cleaning. Wicker collects dirt, dust and grime quickly, so chances are few pieces should be spared a good cleaning.

Wicker that has been neglected may be dry and brittle. A good scrubbing will (1) give the reed flexibility and make repairs easier, (2) remove loose paint, and (3) ready the surface for a new finish.

Use a good stiff scrubbing brush and a solution made of one gallon of warm water, one-fourth cup detergent, and either one-half cup TSP (trisodium phosphate) or one-half cup sal (washing) soda to wash down the wicker.

Add one-half cup household bleach to the solution to remove any traces of mildew. Work out-of-doors or on a plastic drop cloth to protect the surrounding area from splattering. Rinse well with clear water to remove all traces of the washing solution.

If you work outside, rinse with a fine spray from a high pressure water hose. Allow the furniture to dry thoroughly since any dampness in the interstices of the wicker will prevent a new finish from adhering. An air compressor, hand-held hair dryer or vacuum cleaner can be used to speed up drying at joints and around the frame.

Low fat diet for healthy heart

Sherbet tips

If you keep some fruit sherbets on hand in the freezer and some liqueurs in a cupboard, you'll have fine desserts for guests. Lemon sherbet is delicious with a topping of creme de menthe; orange sherbet with an orange-flavor liqueur; and pineapple sherbet takes to either the creme de menthe or the orange liqueur.

Speed process

When you need to chill a gelatin mixture until it is "as thick as unbeaten egg white," you can speed the process by placing a bowl of the mixture in a pan holding cold water and ice cubes. If you do this, stir often and watch carefully so the mixture does not get too thick.

Child Abusers Can Find Help

The National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse tells us that child abuse is now epidemic not only in the United States, but throughout the world. Last year, approximately one million American children were abused, and two thousand died painful deaths from beatings, burns, immersion in scalding water, etc.

Neglect (failure to provide a child with the basic necessities of life: food, clothing, shelter or medical care) is also child abuse. So is using a child for sexual gratification. Child abuse can leave permanent physical scars—a crippled limb, impaired vision, a hearing loss and even brain damage. It causes antisocial behavior, failure in school, juvenile delinquency and emotional problems.

Parents who abuse their children need the kind of help that is now available through Parents Anonymous. It was founded by parents who had abused their children and had the courage to organize and seek solutions to their problem. They are headquartered at 2810 Artesia Blvd., Redondo Beach, Calif. 90278.

There are now 450 chapters in more than 300 cities. You can reach them toll free. In California dial 1-800-352-0386. Outside California, dial 1-800-421-1353.

Some questions: Do you sometimes physically hurt your child because you're angry with yourself? Were you mistreated as a child and now find yourself repeating your past? Do you feel inadequate as a parent? Depressed? Unable to cope?

After punishing your child severely are you heartsick, ashamed and disgusted with yourself to the point of prayers and tears? Have you ever injured your child, and then lied about it? ("He fell down the stairs"—or "out of bed")?

If you can see yourself in any of the above situations, don't be ashamed. You are not alone. Call P.A.

Here are some questions and answers that might be helpful:

Who may report a case of child abuse? Anybody can. Do I have any legal protection when I report a suspected case of child abuse? Yes. Persons who report in good faith are granted immunity from civil and criminal court action, even if the report proves to be erroneous.

How sure must I be before I report? There is no rule. If there is serious doubt, resolve the doubt in favor of the child, and report.

Must I identify myself when I report? No, but it would be better if you did.

Is hitting "child abuse"? It depends on the age of the child, what part of the body was hit, what was used to inflict the punishment and how serious the injuries are.

Do abusive parents hate their children? No. Most parents love their children, but in times of anger, they strike out at whoever is closest.

Do abusive parents ever learn to cope with their problems, and can the children be safely returned home? Yes. If parents receive the right kind of support and treatment, they can learn to handle their anger, and their children can be left safely in their care.

Does jailing abusive parents help solve the problem? No. It only satisfies society's need for retribution and protects the child only temporarily. Imprisonment does not provide treatment and counseling, which is what the abusive parent desperately needs.

There are more than a dozen government, private, volunteer and specialized programs dealing with the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect. Parents Anonymous is a good place to start if one wants to know more about the project.

If you think you need help, call P.A. now. If you suspect that a child you know is being abused, please, please report it. All reports will be strictly confidential, and your name will be withheld.

Children should be seen—and not hurt.

Cold couple want trip to California?

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — Somewhere in the East or Midwest, thoroughly chilled and perhaps snowed in, there must be a husband and wife who wouldn't mind spending a few months in sunny California — rent free. Frances and Harold Stark know just the place.

"We'd like to open our home to a couple who'd like to get out of the cold," Mrs. Stark, 62, said Wednesday. "It's so cold in the East and there are people out of work and having trouble making ends meet. Maybe it would be cheaper for someone there to come out here and get warm."

The Starks live in a two-bedroom, two-bathroom mobile home here with their 13-year old cat Rusty. They say there's plenty of room for two refugees from the deep freeze. The temperature rarely dips to freezing in Sunnyvale, which is about 35 miles south of San Francisco.

"I think it would be good if lots of people in the warmer parts of the country did this," said Mrs. Stark. "We have to help each other."

She said their guests will get their own bedroom, can share the kitchen, living room, dining room and television, and are entitled to use the recreational facilities at this adult mobile home park — a swimming pool, billiard tables, bridge clubs and a social club.

They'll have to pay their own way to Sunnyvale and help out with the food bill, she said.

Mrs. Stark said she and her husband, a 60-year-old tool and die company worker, don't care about the age, religion or ethnic background of their guests.

"They can even bring a pet," she said. "A small dog or a cat would be no problem. But they better not bring a bird, because we've got a cat."

Doctor develops Home Treatment to Rinse Away Blackheads

See Blackheads "Wipe Off" After A Single Queen Helene Skin Treatment

By INA LEE
A leading New York dermatologist has developed a simple medicated home treatment that rids away blackheads & whiteheads in a matter of minutes.

I saw it demonstrated on five women and two teenage boys. The results were breathtaking. Blackheads really rinsed away. In fact, many could be seen on the cleansing tissues that finished each treatment.

But this wasn't all! In the case of two older women, I saw enlarged pores reduced, and rough, muddy complexion made cleaner, clearer and smoother looking. In the case of teenagers, I saw acne pimples improve after one application. After seeing these results I can well understand why so many beauticians are acclaiming this doctor's treatment as an important beauty discovery.

Anyone Can Use It
The treatment starts with a thorough skin cleansing. A special laboratory-developed whipped cleansing cream is used that takes off not only surface dirt, but also softens and loosens pore-caked grime with its emollient action. It liquefies as soon as it is applied and literally floats the dirt right off your face.

After this is issued off, a delightful mint-scented cream is applied. Within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this specially medicated cream into a plastic-like masque. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws on waste matter in the pores. In 8 or 10 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with luke-warm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your tissue. And your skin feels clean — really clean — and refreshed and smooth, like velvet!

Pore Sponging & Closing
The third step in the treatment is an exhilarating application of a unique anti-septic astringent — a facial "mint juice" that sponges and tightens emptied pores and tones up your complexion.

Nothing Else Like It
Even after a single treatment, women who have been troubled by blackheads for years see a marked improvement. Many find it hard to believe their eyes. Some blackheads and whiteheads just rinse away. Others are softened and made ready to be drawn out by future treatments. Enlarged pores appear to be smaller. The skin looks smoother and firmer — feels fresher and more alive!

Look! See them come off on your cleansing tissue — and without squeezing or digging!

In short, after a single treatment taking only 15 minutes, you can expect to see results that normally you would not dare hope for even after many weeks ... but don't expect everything at once. Damage done by years of neglect can't be undone in a day. Yet with 3 or 4 treatments a week, you may confidently look forward to startling complexion improvements within 30 days. Then one treatment a week—or every second week—will probably be all your skin will need to keep it clear, lovely and healthy looking.

The medically developed products used in this treatment are manufactured and quality-controlled by QUEEN HELENE. They are Queen Helene Whipped Cleansing Cream, Queen Helene Medicated Masque and Queen Helene Penetrating Astringent. The three items are sold as a complete skin and beauty kit for $5.00. Quite a bargain when you think of what it will do for a person's good looks — and self-esteem!

Cuin Grigsby chosen "Boss of the Year"

M.C. Grigsby, manager of C.R. Anthony Co., has been named the 1977 Boss of the Year by Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

The award was presented by Capt. Vivian K. Elmador, winner of the title in 1976, during the chapter's annual Boss Night banquet and meeting at 7 p.m., Tuesday in the Big Spring High School cafeteria.

M. CUIN GRIGSBY

Grigsby was nominated for the award by two of his employees, Mrs. Gloria Carnell and Ms. Huby Hill. The following excerpt is taken from their winning letter:

"Our boss has secured and trained many employees who later became managers of a business like ours in other parts of the United States, probably more than any other boss in the organization. Our firm here consists of at least 20 full-time employees and, at times, that many part-time workers. Our boss goes to and fro among us, always willing to lend a helping hand where needed and has never shown partiality to race, creed or color.

Grigsby was further described as having been reared in Snyder, Okla. and having attended A&M College at Stillwater, Okla. He majored in business management and developed his talents in this field by entering a firm, becoming a branch manager, then "being promoted from time to time with greater opportunities in management."

Grigsby moved to Big Spring approximately 45 years ago. He and his wife are parents of three children, and they have six grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He has been active in organizations such as the Girl Scouts, American Legion, Downtown Merchants Association and has helped underprivileged children as well as working with the diversified education program at Big Spring High School. He is now one of the major stockholders in C.R. Anthony Co.

In his leisure time, Grigsby enjoys hunting and fishing.

Guest speaker for the banquet was Mrs. Clyde Angel, a well-known book reviewer, who spoke in a humorous vein about civic and cultural involvement.

Salads benefit

Tossed salads benefit from crisp dry greens; many cooks find that a spin-type lettuce dryer is a worthwhile investment.

Add powder

Recipes sometimes suggest adding curry powder to eggs that are to be scrambled. Warning: you may like the flavor but not the color.

Breakfast fetes nuptial attendants

A breakfast honoring attendants and out-of-town participants in the wedding of Miss Susan Green and Larry G. McLellan was held at a breakfast Saturday morning.

The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Willis Burchett, 2407 Cheyenne, with Mrs. Ronnie Broadrick and Miss Catherine Dawson as hostesses.

Miss Green and McLellan were married Saturday in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Green, Oil Mill Rd. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McLellan of Fairmont, N.C.

National Children's Dental Health Week begins today

NOTE: Feb. 4-12 is National Children's Dental Health Week. The Big Spring Herald, in cooperation with the Permian Basin District Dental Society, today begins a series of six articles about dental health.

"I have seen references on television to the child's 'cavity-prone years. What is this condition?"

By the age of 12 or 13, most of a child's permanent teeth are in position. Unfortunately, the teen years are when the highest rate of tooth decay occurs. Statistics indicate that by age 14 the average person has 14 decayed, missing or filled teeth.

There are three major factors that play a role in tooth decay by triggering a chain reaction: plaque, sugar and tooth susceptibility. By paying more attention to these three items, teenagers could make a drastic change in the statistics. First, plaque is the sticky, almost invisible film of bacteria that forms on everyone's teeth. When sugar is consumed, bacteria in plaque use it and form acids that attack the tooth enamel, eventually causing decay.

Teenagers often neglect good oral hygiene habits. But brushing and flossing once a day to remove plaque can make a big difference.

At the same time, it is wise to cut down on the number of times sweets are consumed. It is especially important to avoid sweet snacks. Parents can make sure that a child has a well-balanced diet at home that will aid in the building of strong teeth and bones. But teenagers spend more time away from home and often choose the wrong foods, including sugary foods and beverages as between-meal snacks. Careful selection of their own foods can also help to reduce decay.

The final factor is susceptible teeth. Scientists are trying to find ways of making teeth more resistant to decay. They have found, for example, that fluoride is a compound that helps to significantly reduce tooth decay. Drinking water containing adequate fluoride from birth is known to curtail tooth decay by about 65 per cent. Another practical way of getting fluoride is to use an accepted fluoride toothpaste.

Plaque removal, avoiding sweet snacks and using fluorides every day can add up to better dental health.

Alterations can make good fit

COLLEGE STATION — Simple alterations can turn a poorly fitting garment into a "good fit," making it more attractive and comfortable to wear, Mrs. Becky Culp, an area clothing specialist, points out.

"Fit is one of the most frequently listed reasons for buying (good fit) or not buying (poor fit) a garment. Influencing need for fitting alterations are weight gain, or loss, changing fashion trends such as hem lengths, individual preferences and fabric shrinkage."

Mrs. Culp is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Dr. Jimmy Law of College Baptist Church performed the ceremony before an improvised altar marked by a kneeling bench flanked by branched candelabra entwined with white gladioli and blue carnations tied with blue bows. Nuptial music was performed by John Autry, organist.

Carrying a cascading bouquet of white gardenias, stephanotis, gypsophila and ivy, the bride was attired in a formal gown of sheer silk organza enhanced with Venise lace. The fitted bodice and rounded yoke neckline were finished with a pleated sheer ruffle and band of lace; long, fitted sleeves ending in a lace cuff. Forming an A-line silhouette, the skirt was bordered by a deep-pleated ruffle and double rows of lace. Her mantilla veil of silk illusion was edged in Venise lace and extended to form a chapel-length train.

The maid of honor, Miss Catherine Dawson of Austin, wore a floor-length dress of Carolina Blue dacron fashioned with cap sleeves. She carried a nosegay of white daisies and gypsophila.

Charles H. Thomason of Winston-Salem, N.C., served as best man.

Republicans urge free enterprise

The West Texas Republican Women met for a salad luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. Winston Wrinkle. Mrs. Wrinkle presided, welcoming 16 members and guests, and guided the club to a decision to join the Alliance of Clubs.

Mrs. Floyd Mays presented results of a survey on the free enterprise system. She said results have shown that Americans are gradually losing a system providing the country with the highest standard of living in the history of man. Poverty level in America is eight hundred per cent above the average world citizen's level. Also, 63 per cent of Americans believe in government ownership of banks, railroads, and steel companies; 61 per cent felt there was no need for business profits. Due to the growth of government, today one out of six work on public payrolls.

In America, only 22 per cent of the people vote in elections.

In America today it takes a worker only 15 minutes of work to buy one pound of roast beef while, in Sweden, a worker under a Socialist government would work 34 minutes to buy one pound of beef.

The consensus was that all Americans must become active and concerned, if the country is to retain the free enterprise system.

Market basket values

COLLEGE STATION — Record large orange supplies — barring a freeze or other weather damage — are making prices relatively low on fresh oranges and canned and frozen juice for Texas grocery shoppers.

Also, grapefruit will produce a record crop, forecasters say.

"Oranges and grapefruit in 'bag lots' have more economical prices. These are medium-to-small-size fruit, but quality is excellent," according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Apple prices are trending upward but quality remains good — and reasonable prices also appear on smaller sizes of that item, the specialist said.

50-year-old feels loved

DALLAS (AP) — George Martin sure knows how to make a gal become 50 and love it.

When his wife Alice hit the landmark this week, Martin, a women's sportswear distributor, paid $225 to have city buses carry signs saying: "Happy Birthday, Alice Martin."

Then he sent her an inter-family memo that said:

"This is to serve as a gift certificate entitling you to one super facelift, to be performed by the doctor of your choice... the sequined theatrical mask is for your use after the operation to cover any temporary blemishes that might appear.

"As soon as the anesthetic has worn off, you will be whisked away for one week of complete rest, relaxation and recuperation at your favorite playground, (a California beauty spa).

Four years ago, Martin, who has been married to Alice for 10 years, hired a helicopter for $300 to fly around Dallas trailing a steamer that said: "Happy Birthday Alice Martin."

LEILANI THOMAS

Miss Thomas dedicated her term to her father and selected for her theme "The Rainbow."

The invocation was given by Michael Thomas, Miss Thomas's brother, her song, "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" was sung by David Trimm.

The Rev. Milton Thomas, grandfather of Miss Thomas, was guest speaker. Rev. Thomas is from Pennsylvania.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Beverly Millwee of Lubbock, sister of Miss Thomas. Miss Thomas's parents presented her with a white Bible. Miss Von Rosenberg was presented a gavel by her parents. Miss Thomas presented a past worthy advisor's pin to Phyllis Hart and Miss Hart presented the traveling worthy advisor's pin to Miss Thomas. Rev. Collins Moore gave the benediction.

The Assembly will be attending church with Miss Thomas this morning at Hillcrest Baptist Church at 10:45 a.m.

French lace trimmed the bodice, high collar and long, fitted sleeves which ended in wide lace cuffs. She carried a nosegay of white carnations and pale green rosebuds adorned with white satin ribbons and leaves.

Miss Stephanie Dickens served as maid of honor, and Jeff Bartlett was best man.

The ceremony was followed by a reception with the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Uli Palacios serving cake, and Mrs. Jeff Bartlett presiding at the punch service. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a silver candelabrum.

One type of cancer may be contagious

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. George S. Hofer, Huron, S.D. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Georgine J. (Gigi) Hofer, Big Spring. Miss Hofer is the bride-elect of AIC. Ronald Wayne Barnes, Webb Air Force Base, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. R.C. Barnes, 708 Oakwood, Clinton, Miss. The couple will be married March 4 in the Webb AFB Chapel with Chaplain T.R. Chumley officiating.

BOSTON (AP) — A surprisingly high incidence of the type of cancer known as Hodgkin's disease among siblings suggests that it may be contagious if people have long, intimate contact with victims, a Harvard study says.

"Siblings of persons with Hodgkin's disease under the age of 45 have a sevenfold increased rate of development of the disease relative to the rate in the general population," the doctors wrote.

A report on the research, conducted at the Harvard School of Public Health, was published in today's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

The cause of Hodgkin's disease is unknown. Last year, it killed 3,000 Americans. Most of the victims are between the ages of 20 and 40.

Hodgkin's disease attacks the lymph nodes, liver, spleen and other organs. The disease can often be slowed or halted if caught in its early stages.

The doctors reviewed the cases of 1,577 victims of the disease in the Boston area, and among them they found five pairs of siblings. The expected number, they said, would have been less than one.

They added, however, that their estimate of a seven times greater risk could be too low, because they might have missed some pairs of brothers and sisters with the disease when they gathered their statistics.

The rates are highest, they found, among offspring who are the same sex and close in age.

If their results are accurate, the doctors said, it appears unlikely that the infection is widely spread by victims of the disease.

"Rather, intense or prolonged contact — as experienced by siblings who share a bedroom, for example — seems necessary to transmit any agent," they said.

"Another possible explanation is common source exposure. Siblings of the same sex probably have more experiences and acquaintances in common than siblings of opposite sex."

In the study, the pairs the doctors found were usually either both boys or both girls but rarely of mixed sexes. For this reason, the doctors discounted the idea that the disease runs in families because of heredity.

"Genetic mechanisms would not explain the sex concordance for both sexes that we found," they wrote.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Wood, 2409 Alabama, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Tawa Jo, to AIC. Stephen Craig Cleveland, Webb AFB. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Cleveland, Kalamazoo, Mich. The Rev. William Hatler will perform the ceremony March 9 in the Baptist Temple.

Coffee prices affecting trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soaring prices for imported coffee are taking huge bites from the U.S. trade advantage held by farm exports, according to Agriculture Department analysts.

Last November, the most recent month examined, farm exports totalled slightly more than $2.12 billion, a drop of two per cent from nearly $2.18 billion in November 1975.

But agricultural imports in November jumped 21 per cent to $972 million from $805 million in the same month a year earlier, the department said Tuesday.

Inmates file suit to hold 'religious' pizza parties

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — A group of federal penitentiary inmates here has filed a $110,000 suit for the right to hold religious pizza parties in the prison chapel.

The 52 Marquette Prison inmates are members of the Universal Life Church (ULC), a California-based group famous for its mail-order ordination of ministers for a $2 fee. They won recognition as a legitimate religious congregation in 1975.

ULC member Leonard H. Lundberg, a convict serving a life term for murder who represents the group, says the pizzas actually are part of a "feast day" held by the group to commemorate Christ.

"It doesn't matter if we order a couple of canned hams, a pizza or whatever, as long as the ritual of the church is involved," Lundberg wrote in an official grievance filed with the Michigan Corrections Department. "What's the difference between pizzas and wine and wafers? Whatever a group feels commemorates the body of God in Christ should be allowed."

In world esteem

Loretta Lynn tops

Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty will head a country-western show scheduled for 8 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 23, in the Ector County Coliseum in Odessa.

Loretta Lynn is like no other woman you've ever met or read about. In little more than a decade she has risen from obscurity to the top of the country music world. A recent Gallup poll asked people what women in the world they admired most. The standard names such as Golda Meir, Rose Kennedy, and Indira Gandhi were mentioned. This year people in all regions of this country and from all walks of life chose Loretta Lynn to this elite category.

The Gallup Poll came on the crest of a surge of interest in country music, and in its top female vocalist, Loretta Lynn. Newsweek Magazine featured articles on her twice in a seven-month period, including a cover story in June of 1973.

"Mom," as she is affectionately called by her band, the Coal Miners, has managed to maintain the small town, country charm that has won the admiration of thousands of dedicated fans. Born the daughter of a coal miner in Bulcher, Kentucky, Loretta began entertaining at school socials at the age of 13. It was there she met "Mooney" Lynn, was soon married and moved 3000 miles west to Custer, Washington where Mooney was employed at nearby logging camps. Loretta's next four years were spent raising a family, as she gave birth to four children by age 18. In the midst of her family chores, Loretta continued singing at home and in local clubs, and a short time later recorded

Claudine won't enter until cell remodeled

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Claudine Longet won't enter the Pitkin County jail to serve her 30-day sentence until after a cell is remodeled to provide "more suitable" accommodations, one of her attorney says.

"The Pitkin County sheriff expects by June 1 to have a newly remodeled female facility at the jail," said attorney Ron Austin.

The French-born entertainer was sentenced Monday to serve the time for negligent homicide in the shooting death last March of her lover, pro ski champion Vladimir "Spider" Sabich. The term is to be served at her convenience between now and September 1.

LORETTA LYNN, CONWAY TWITTY

her first record on the Zero label. This record, "I'm a Honky Tonk Girl," became a nationwide hit and started Loretta on her long climb to the top of country music. "Mooney" and Loretta toured the country promoting her first record in a station wagon complete with kids.

Eleven years have passed since that first recording and Loretta has recorded more than twenty albums for Decca (Now MCA) that has climbed to the top of the bestseller charts. Many of her singles have been blockbuster hits, such as "One's on the Way," "You Ain't Woman Enough to Take My Man," "Don't Come Home a Drinker," "The Pill," and her autobiographical tune, "Coal Miner's Daughter."

Loretta now so dominates the country music field that nearly every major poll has selected her as the top female country singer. The Country Music Association has twice named her the world's top female vocalist, and also chose her as the only female in the history of country music to be named "Entertainer of the Year". Loretta and her singing partner, Conway Twitty, have completely dominated the polls for singing duo of the year for the past five years. Aside from her music, Loretta has been recognized as an outstanding personality, her home state honored her as "Distinguished Kentuckian of the Year". The Gallup Poll selected her as one of the world's ten most admired women, various

Reagan says action may 'haunt us later'

TORONTO (AP) - Ronald Reagan says President Carter's pardon of draft evaders destroyed the process of justice and may "haunt us later."

Reagan, in Canada for a speech to a local political association, told a news conference Thursday that draft evaders and military deserters broke the law and should receive no leniency.

Carter's pardon, announced last month, did not apply to deserters. The former California governor, who lost the Republican nomination to former President Gerald R. Ford at last year's GOP convention, said he thought Manges' troubles began with Connally?

Editor's Note: "Fighting the government is like making love to a baboon," says Clinton Manges, forcing a rare smile. "You don't quit until it's ready to quit." From his palatial ranch headquarters near Freer, the beleaguered South Texan recently spilled out for the first time the pattern of alleged political and financial harassment he says is designed to topple his empire. The time has come, he said, to fight back.

Freer, Tex. (AP) - Grumbling darkly of fate, phantoms and conspiracies, millionaire mystery man Clinton Manges strode through the chilly nighttime mist, cursing John Connally.

"Connally's trying to destroy me," he barked, sweeping through the entrance of his baronial South Texas ranch home.

"It's time to fight back!" Later, in the lavish office of his Houston law firm, Connally would dismiss Clinton Manges and his allegations thusly:

"Utterly ridiculous." But this night belonged to Manges. It had been a long, frustrating day for the secretive South Texan, and he was poised to lash out at his tormentors—either real or imagined.

He would, he concluded, tell his story for the first time. "They're like a bunch of damned mad dogs...they're out to get me, to destroy me," he said, guiding two newsmen across his 100,000-acre ranch and into his magnificent fortress.

The time had come, he said, to speak out: to take his battle against Connally, Washington and Austin into the courtrooms of Texas; retaliation against those who threaten his self-professed financial and political empire.

"He may be paranoid but he's got justification for it," close friend Bob Bullock, the state comptroller, would observe wryly. Whatever the justification, Manges this night resembled a mighty bull, backed into a corner, harrassed and, finally, pushed too far.

Quietly but angrily, he earlier had surrendered to Texas Rangers in response to a second-degree felony indictment stemming from a bad check.

Accused of "theft of service," he roared: "This is a raw, phony indictment. How the hell do you steal a man's services?"

Questioned and fingerprinted, he was freed on $10,000 bond—posted by former South Texas political strongman Oscar Carrillo, a one-time state representative.

At 53, Manges is a stereotype of no one, hefty but not hearty, rough but not rugged, a brooding rancher-banker-oilman with at least an aura of power.

Slumping into a chair, toying with a plate of cabrito and sipping cherry Kool-aid, he rattled off an awesome list of allegations, none readily substantiated:

—Federal and state banking officials, responding to political pressures, conspired to rob him of his Rio Grande City bank;

—The U.S. Attorney's office assembled a five-man investigative force called the "Tiger Team" to monitor his activities;

—The Internal Revenue Service tried but failed to uncover tax inequities in his far-flung enterprises;

—Persons unknown led officers to his San Antonio bank to suspect an extensive wiretapping campaign;

—State authorities schemed to plant narcotics on his ranch in an attempt to further erode his self-professed South Texas power base;

—The Texas Attorney General's office pressured grand juries into three "rotten and ridiculous" criminal indictments against him;

—State and federal officials conspired, successfully, to dry up many of his once-liquid money sources;

Perhaps most astonishing, Manges contends it was former Gov. John Connally who inspired the conspiratorial, buckshot attack.

Why, one might logically ask, is a naval fleet needed to sink a noisy gunboat?

"It's just the same old thing," Manges repeated. "Breaking up the political power in South Texas. They got the Carrillos and the Parris and now they want my hide..."

"Connally knows you can't win Texas without carrying people down there." In response to a question, Carr also said: "If there's a man in the world who understands South Texas politics better than John Connally, I don't know who it would be. He was a master at it."

Published reports suggest Connally's path into the GOP hierarchy was partially paved with promises of delivering South Texas into the Republican fold.

"John's a very effective campaigner down there because he understands their politics," Carr noted wryly. "But you're not going to turn those people into Republicans overnight."

Carr said Manges was not among his targets while in office but acknowledged that the potential for abuse of power is not uncommon in an office such as the one Carr held.

"The danger is, once the top man tells his subordinates to go down and look into a certain matter, they may go in wearing their white hats and swinging the whip," he said. "They wield that power with a bloody bucket because they are convinced they are right, either because of ambition or just youthful inexperience."

The bloody bucket, says Manges, is swinging his way. He pointed to three "trumped up" criminal indictments against him as evidence.

Furthermore, he contends the closing of his bank in Rio Grande City last November was politically motivated, as is the continuing pressure on his Groos Bank at San Antonio.

Of the "theft of service" indictment, he said: "John Hill is an old running mate of Connally's and he's trying to ride this into the governor's mansion."

Hill's political ambitions are no secret, but the attorney general countered: "This probably comes as a shock to Mr. Manges, but I don't even know him. As for some kind of vendetta, that is absolutely, totally false, a figment of his imagination."

"I can categorically say we have never undertaken action against a person because of his political alliance."

There is no evidence that Hill's office initiated the theft of service indictment against Manges.

However, Manges argues and witnesses concur, the worthless $57,000 check around which the case revolves was issued with an understanding it would not be cashed until funds in Rio Grande City in the name of a Swiss broker were released to Manges.

In the so-called "hog poaching caper," even highly respected state District Court Judge Darrell Hester seems sympathetic to Manges' circumstances.
