Final EIS release imminent

The last Environmental Impact Statement (EIS), promised by the Department of Defense for months, could be released as early as 11 a.m., Wednesday, Big Spring time.

The report's contents remain a secret but it likely will not differ too much from the EIS released last October, when Webb AFB of Big Spring and Craig AFB, Selma, Ala., were listed as prime candidates for possible closure.

The statements will be accepted locally by Capt. Dick Risk, public information officer at Webb, and distributed to the news media, the county clerk's office, the Howard County Library and city officials.

The final report will be considerably thicker than the first statement in that it will include a report on the public hearings conducted in the wake of the first EIS and perhaps embrace refinements on the incompatibilities associated with the operation of bases in their particular communities.

A Big Spring delegation consisting of Mayor Wade Choate, R.H. Weaver, J. Tom Graham and Jim Gray flew to Washington this morning to confer with congressmen and Pentagon officers prior to the release of the statement.

The final decision on the future of Webb and Craig likely won't be made for months, since the final recommendations made by the Air Force, whatever they might be, will have to be reviewed by the incoming Secretary of the Air Force.

Califano lifts flu shot ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Joseph A. Califano Jr. today lifted the moratorium on a double-barrelled flu vaccine and recommended that the elderly and those with chronic illnesses get shots to protect them from A-Victoria flu.

Califano continued the moratorium on swine flu vaccine, saying there is no immediate need for it because, unlike A-Victoria, there has been no outbreak of the swine flu strain in the United States this year.

"At the first sign of an impending outbreak (of swine flu), we will take appropriate action," Califano said. He told a news conference he did not know at this time what would constitute "appropriate action."

Califano also announced that the moratorium would be lifted for vaccine against B-Hong Kong flu, a milder strain that usually strikes children and young adults.

He said the status of the B-Hong Kong vaccine would be the same as it was before the moratorium when health officials and physicians could use it at their discretion. However, unlike the combined vaccine against swine and A-Victoria flu, the federal government is not recommending that it be used.

A panel of medical and scientific experts urged Califano on Monday to revive limited and voluntary inoculation programs in the wake of an outbreak of 59 A-Victoria flu cases in a Miami nursing home.

The panel urged the government to encourage the elderly and chronically ill to get shots, and to make them available without recommendation to anyone else who wants them.

The panel also advised lifting a moratorium on the vaccine for Hong Kong-B flu, a less severe strain that primarily infects children and young adults. If the moratorium were lifted, this vaccine would be available from private doctors, as before.

The nation has 27 million doses of A-Victoria vaccine on hand mixed with swine flu vaccine.

The government suspended all flu inoculation programs on Dec. 16 after the swine flu vaccine was linked to an increased threat of Guillain-Barre syndrome, a rare but sometimes deadly paralysis.

Thompkins won't seek third term

City Councilman Charles Thompkins, place four, has announced that he will not seek reelection on April 2.

The ordinance calling for an election on that day to determine councilmen for places three and four was approved by city fathers during today's regular meeting.

"I greatly enjoyed working on the council, but I think it's time I moved aside. It's time for some new blood. My business duties have increased in the last few years, and I am just too busy to continue my work on the council," said Thompkins.

Tompkins has served for two consecutive terms, four years, on the council. No one has yet announced an intention to run for the seat Thompkins will vacate.

The place three post now held by Mrs. Floyd Mays will also be subject to the election. Mrs. Mays has made no official announcement concerning her intentions.

The council also adopted a minute order calling for the upgrading of traffic control devices on Loop 402 between Bell and State Streets. The Texas Highway Department will do the work using federal funds to finance the project.

All the traffic signals on the thoroughfare will be upgraded to meet federal standards required by 1980. These standards include larger, double lights, both red and green.

The city will be required to maintain the signals once they are installed. At this point, plans call for lights which are suspended from poles, with a central synchronization box to regulate signal changes.

The council authorized a contract with Howard College to perform security service on campus. This will involve hiring on additional patrolman in order to help carry a heavier work load when the campus is added to the department's regular city beat.

CHARLES THOMPKINS

The cost of hiring another man will total $10,446, $10,000 of which will be provided by the college. The city will receive additional revenue from enforcement of parking violations on the campus.

"This not only allows us to hire an extra patrolman, but it also gives us the right to go onto the campus if any problems arise there," said Harry Nagel, city manager.

Councilmen approved the minutes of a Jan. 28 meeting of the Big Spring Traffic Commission which included several traffic regulation changes. Blinking lights will be installed on school zone signs near Moss Elementary School, and the zone itself will be shortened from approximately six blocks to two.

A stop sign will replace a yield sign at the intersection of Settles and Stadium which regulates north-south traffic; the speed limit on U.S. 80 near Birdwell will be lowered to 40 miles per hour; and the speed limit on the Eleventh Place Extension will be raised to 40 miles per hour.

In other business, councilmen authorized City Attorney James Gregg to condemn property, if necessary, in order to complete construction of the Eleventh Place Extension.

Turner nomination appears in no danger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Stansfield Turner, President Carter's second choice to head the Central Intelligence Agency, may face tough questioning from senators who would prefer a civilian in the job, but the nomination appears in no danger.

Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, announced today that hearings on the Turner nomination will begin on Feb. 22. Inouye said the committee staff is running a background check on the admiral.

The senator said he would take no position on the appointment until after the hearings.

Speed limit bills okayed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two bills favoring those who want to break Texas' highway speed limit were approved Monday by the Senate State Affairs Committee.

By a vote of 9-1, the committee approved a bill that would protect motorists from auto insurance surcharges if they get arrested driving 55 to 70 miles per hour.

The bill, by Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, committee chairman, also would prevent tickets for 55 to 70mph driving from being used in suspending a motorist's license.

David Irons, a spokesman for the insurance industry, said they were not opposing the plan to withhold surcharges. "Naturally," Irons said later, "we are not taking any position on driving over 55mph, because that is against the law."

The committee also approved for floor debate a bill by Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, that would give Emergency Medical Service (EMS) vehicles and those for blood banks and issue banks the same right to exceed speed limits as fire and police emergency vehicles.

Both Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and Minority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said after Carter made the nomination Monday that they knew of no strong opposition to Turner.

Turner is commander in chief of allied forces in southern Europe. Carter's first choice for the CIA post, Theodore Sorensen, withdrew from consideration in the face of strong Senate opposition, particularly among conservatives.

Another Carter nominee, Paul Warnke, named head of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, was starting the confirmation process today. He was certain to undergo detailed and hostile questioning from senators opposed to what they consider his dovish views on arms development.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has jurisdiction over the Warnke nomination, but the Armed Services Committee may also ask him to appear before it.

Readers responding to offer

Readers of the Herald are already responding to the newspaper's offer to serve as a clearing agency for Suggestions for the President.

The Herald is soliciting ideas for President Carter, who recently asked citizens of the country to share their ideas with him on how to improve the quality of life in America.

The Herald proposes to accept letters from people offering constructive ideas until Feb. 17 and print them in a special section, which will ultimately be forwarded to President Carter at the White House for review.

Some of the early suggestions came from Maxwell D. Green, a certified public accountant, and Thomas Mitchell, Box 803, Big Spring.

Green wrote that the government should encourage the individual to start a new business. "Our nation was founded upon the concept of free enterprise," Green stated.

Green also said that the "Federal Government should be fair," pointing out "the real meaning of equality if that laws should treat everyone exactly alike."

Green also emphasized the need for honesty among Government officials and suggested the Federal Government should "de-regulate" in order to promote free enterprise and create new jobs and "admit that redistributing our wealth does not create jobs."

Mitchell would like to see a new public tax-rebate investment agency, pointing out that "by encouraging those who receive rebates this year to invest in a public service."

Mitchell would also expand the "back to work" program through anti-pollution projects and concentration on marine and sea salvage programs.

Readers are being encouraged to forward the Suggestions for the President directly to The Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring 79720.

Guerrillas sought in killings

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Security forces hunted through the rain-soaked bush for black guerrillas who killed seven white missionaries on Sunday. The government announced today that guerrillas attacked a second mission, burning and looting offices.

A communique said there were no casualties reported in the raid on Nyashanu mission 125 miles southeast of Salisbury near the Mozambique border. About $5,400 was taken and a mission workshop and office were burned.

The government did not identify the denomination of the mission or indicate when the attack occurred.

Black guerrillas, apparently a different group, killed three Jesuits and four Dominican nuns in a Sunday night raid at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Mission, 26 miles northeast of the capital and about 150 miles from Nyashanu.

Today's communique said 10 guerrillas had been killed by government forces in the past two days and that eight African civilians were killed by guerrillas. Two blacks died after being caught in a crossfire and another died when his car hit a mine, it said.

SHIPPING SNOW SOUTH — Buffalo's Frontier Freight Yards loaded snow into empty hopper cars Monday as they continued to dig out from under the area's record snow fall. Disposal of the snow was made in part by sending the hopper cars south, where the snow is simply allowed to melt. One 76-car train was ready to leave the yard Monday.

—Gave permission to submit an annual application for $55,000 from the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

—Tabled a motion to close Adams Drive on the Howard College campus until further data is available on the possible effects of the closing.

—Denied an application by Juan Vasquez to keep livestock on his property because they considered the available space for the animal to be too small.

—Learned from Roy Crim, city engineer, that with certain adjustments the cost of lighting ballparks in the Roy Anderson Baseball Complex can be lowered from around $135,000 to $100,000. After eliminating light maintenance cages, climbing apparatus on the light poles, and implementing a central control box for the lights, the cost to the city will be only $53,000. A total of $43,000 will be provided by the Federal Bureau of Recreation through the State Parks and Wildlife Department.

Action/reaction: Auditorium drapes

Q.—The old drapes in the municipal auditorium have been down for some time. Are there any plans to put in new ones? The afternoon sun can be trying for spectators in events scheduled there.

A.—The drapes rotted from old age and were taken down. The expense of putting in new drapes for those two-story-high windows is staggering, up in the thousands of dollars. The city has been seeking ways to improve the auditorium, but is extremely short of funds in all facets of the budget due to inflation and the fact that taxes have not been raised in years. Very few afternoon events are held at the auditorium although there are many night events.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — "If I'm going to wear a tuxedo, my horse is too. That's all there is to it," insisted Sam Leto. He wasn't kidding.

Leto, 52, and his golden Palamino, "Thunder," rode in Tampa's colorful Gasparilla parade. Both were in top hat and tails.

Leto is honorary mayor of Ybor City, Tampa's Latin Quarter where 20,000 Cubans, Spanish and Italians are in the middle of an annual 10-day celebration commemorating the feats of the pirate Jose Gaspar.

It's customary for the mayor to wear a tux and ride in a convertible for the event.

American drug runners, 'braceros' to be discussed

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Jose Lopez Portillo says he will discuss the issues of American drug runners jailed in Mexico and Mexicans illegally working in the United States when he meets this month in Washington with President Jimmy Carter.

"I believe it is a very opportune moment ... to establish the problems well in order to resolve them well," Lopez Portillo said in an interview with CBS television Monday in the northern city of Valle de Chinitos in the state of Sinaloa. The text of the interview was published in Mexico City newspapers today.

The Mexican president said he would ask Carter to clarify "the real interests" of the United States on the question of drug arrests.

"I have found there is a certain...contradiction in the petitions of some sectors of opinion in the United States," he said. "On one hand, they ask us to reinforce the fight against drug traffic, and on the other hand they ask us to ease conditions for those who have been captured for having participated in these crimes."

He said Mexicans illegally cross the border to work in the United States for two reasons: lack of work opportunity in Mexico and a demand in the United States for their labor.

"The ideal solution to this problem would have to have two sources: An organization of the work in Mexico and a regulation of the labor demand in the United States," he said.

Lopez Portillo said the Mexican "braceros" were not criminals, even though they did cross the border illegally.

"I believe that the solution, as always, is at home, creating employment opportunities for them," he said. "But for those who cannot find it here and find it there, (in the United States), they ought to be respected as laborers and not pursued as delinquents."

On the subject of Americans jailed in Mexico, Lopez Portillo said Mexico had signed a prisoner-exchange treaty with the United States which only needs U.S. congressional action to take effect.

"The moment the United States desires it, we can exchange all the North American prisoners for our nationals, in an exchange that we believe will solve the problem," he said.

The treaty, signed on Thanksgiving Day, would allow Americans jailed in Mexico and Mexicans in American prisons to serve the remainder of their sentences in their homelands.

The treaty has been ratified in Mexico and the Mexican congress has passed enabling legislation. However, it cannot take effect until similar action is taken in the United States.

There are some 600 Americans in Mexican jails, most of them on drug related charges involving either marijuana or cocaine.

More than 100 of them staged a hunger strike at the end of last year demanding parole rights, a privilege denied drug violators since 1972, when Mexico and the United States jointly began an anti-drug campaign.

Lopez Portillo's predecessor, President Luis Echeverria, sent Congress a penal reform bill last year that would have restored parole rights for drug violators.

When congress adjourned on Dec. 31 without approving the legislation, congressional source said privately that Lopez Portillo would use it as a bargaining point when he met with Carter. The two presidents are scheduled to meet Feb. 14.

Lopez Portillo told CBS Monday that Congress had resisted the proposed legislation "precisely because in Mexico crimes against health of this type are considered very serious..."

Boyle must stay behind bars

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — W.A. "Tony" Boyle, the former United Mine Workers president whose conviction for ordering the killing of a union rival was overturned 10 days ago, must remain behind bars, a judge has ruled.

The 75-year-old Boyle's request to be freed on bond pending a new trial was refused Monday after prosecutor Richard Sprague asked the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to reconsider its order for a new trial.

Boyle, once the ruler of the 200,000-member UMW, showed no reaction to the bail denial, according to officials at Pittsburgh's Western State Penitentiary where he is bedridden, suffering from a heart ailment. He also remains weak from a 1973 suicide attempt when a lethal dose of sleeping pills was pumped from his stomach.

The high court overturned Boyle's April 1974 conviction because of evidence not admitted during his trial. But at Monday's hearing, Sprague argued that those grounds were unfounded because that evidence would not have supported Boyle's case.

Common Pleas Court Judge Francis Cantania, the trial judge who ordered Boyle to serve three life terms, refused bail until the state Supreme Court has an opportunity to review the arguments.

By law, Boyle must be tried again within 180 days of the Supreme Court order, which was dated Jan. 28.

"We do not have a final decision from the Supreme Court. What we have here is a person who has been convicted of three first-degree murders. This application for bail is premature," said Sprague, the special prosecutor who convinced a jury that Boyle arranged the 1969 murders of Joseph "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and his daughter.

TOP HAT AND TAILS — Sam Leto decided that if he had to dress up for Tampa's annual Gasparilla parade Monday, his horse had to, too. So Leto and Thunder both rode in the parade, each in a tuxedo.

Film called 'smear job'

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Cohn, one-time committee counsel to Sen. Joseph McCarthy, says NBC's filmed version of his late boss' career was "a biased smear job which didn't even make a pretense at telling both sides of the story."

"If McCarthyism is the dirty word they say it is, then this was McCarthyism at its worst," the New York attorney said of the network's "Tail Gunner Joe."

County shares mixed drinks tax

AUSTIN — Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday he has sent checks totaling $3.3 million to 313 cities and 197 counties for their share of mixed drink tax collections for the October-December quarter of 1976.

This includes a remittance of $1,460.75 to Howard County from a total tax revenue of $9,738.33. Big Spring received 1,109.55 as its portion of the total city tax liquor sales revenue of $7,397.01.

Dawson County received $205.14 from $1,367.61. Mitchell County received $317.09 from $2,113.97 and Colorado City received $268.80 from $1,792.

These taxes come from sale of mixed drinks in private clubs, which in Howard County include the Big Spring Country Club, the American Legion, VFW and in the city include the Eagles, Elks, Lamplighter, and GI Forum.

Another $8 million raised by the tax during the same period, representing the state's portion, will remain in the general revenue fund, he said.

Total mixed drink tax collections during the quarter — $11.3 million — were 23 per cent greater than the $9.2 million collected during the same quarter in 1975, the Comptroller noted.

The mixed drinks tax is a 10 per cent levy on all gross receipts from the sale of mixed drinks. The tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Bullock explained that the Comptroller's Office remits to counties and cities 15 per cent of the total mixed drink tax collected within their boundaries. The balance remains in the state general revenue fund.

The tax is collected and the remittances made on a quarterly basis.

The 313 cities will receive checks totaling $1.6 million, while the 197 counties will get $1.7 million, Bullock said.

The Comptroller said Harris County got the largest check, $500,843, based on total mixed drink sales of $33.3 million within the county during the quarter.

Publisher's corner School financing problem touchy

These are busy days for State Rep. Mike Ezzell. Ezzell, a young man from Snyder who represents Big Spring in the state capitol, is jumping because the Texas Legislature in meeting is in Austin. And that means a busy spring where literally anything could happen.

I TALKED to Ezzell by telephone last week, and he told me that the biggest two issues of many being proposed this session are 1) new highway funding and 2) public school financing.

He said the highway funding issue may come to a head early in the resolved, he speculated. The school finance issue was born after court rulings that children who live in poorer school districts and those that live in richer ones should have more nearly the same number of dollars spent on their education. Then the concept of providing some relief in the mounting pressure on property taxes got thrown into the picture.

The question is a complicated one which has the potential to affect much of West Texas in a truly negative way. Ezzell said that there are five plans for school financing proposed this year which range in cost from $800 million to $1.5 billion.

BUT IT is possible, he thinks, that none of them will be passed. The question of teachers' salaries will probably be separated from the school finance question as a whole, he speculated.

For Ezzell, the question is even more complicated because of the way the schools in his district vary in size. "I have everything from small schools with eight-man football to large 4-A schools," he said. "No plan is going to meet everybody's needs." Good luck, Mike.

Roots of evil Around the rim

Troy Bryant

The controversy over the television epic, "Roots," struck me just enough so that I had to comment.

PEOPLE WHO are finding fault with the novel and television series are the ones who "Roots" is all about. The racialization of centuries ago still goes on.

People rationalized when they kidnapped black men, women and children from their own homes in Africa "for their own good," then brought them to the United States, where they were treated like mules — all for money.

It was their "Roots" which created all the misery for the blacks in Alex Haley's "Roots."

Look at it this way. Suppose when you were 15 years old, a creature from outer space kidnaped you away from your home and your parents and stacked and chained you elbow-to-elbow with a bunch of strangers without sanitation, fed you food that made you sick and exposed you to diseases for which you had no immunity.

After you got to the new planet, where nothing was the same as here on earth, you were sold with chains around your neck to a green man, who forced you to work in the hot fields for the rest of your life.

Of course, he never punished you unless you disobeyed.

He forced you to breed with whoever he wanted and took your children away when they became old enough to sell.

Oh yes, he did teach you a trade. After you had gone through all that, maybe you would understand that slavery isn't right and never was. Maybe your grandfather did own slaves and maybe he was a "good master," but that doesn't make him right.

Perhaps "Roots" not only showed the black people where they came from, but it showed the white people and all of mankind where they had been.

THE HEADLINE across the front of the University of San Francisco's school newspaper last week read: NCAA DUMPS DONORS — THREE-YEAR PROBATION.

For non-basketball fans, the USAF Donors are the only undefeated major college basketball team and are ranked No. 1 in all the major polls.

But, they weren't put on probation. The newspaper was a phony, apparently cooked up by students at a rival university must be before a crucial game between the two.

The phony editions also included derogatory stories about a star player and the coach of the team.

Another headline read: UNIVERSITY CLOSES — ALTERNATIVES PROPOSED.

A small story on the fourth page read, "Note: the information in these articles is totally false. This is a prank. The pen is mightier than the can of spray paint."

Apparently the incident is only the beginning of printed pranks, because the sports editor for the real newspaper said, "I thought it was funny. I wish I'd thought of doing it. The wheels are still turning in my head as to what I can do in retaliation."

MOSCOW (AP) — More than 200 Soviet dissidents have appealed for release because of ill health of Alexander Ginzburg, disbarred the funds supplied by novelist Alex Solzhenitsyn to aid political prisoners and their families.

It was the third time President Carter took Jan. 20 that the United States had warned a Soviet government about human rights.

Ginzburg's Soviet porters made their plea statement addressed to 35 governments that signed the 1975 Helsinki Accords. He was released from hospital shortly before arrest Thursday.

Heat!!

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It isn't easy to keep warm when the President asks everybody to keep the thermostat down to 65 in the daytime and 55 at night. A psychiatrist friend of mine insists, though, that a lot of it is in the mind, and if you can think "warm" thoughts it will help you keep warm. I'm not certain if he's correct or not, but I'm willing to make my small contribution to the energy crisis by giving you some examples of warm thoughts to think about.

ZELDA WALKED along the beach. It wasn't easy because the hot sand almost burned the soles of her feet. She found a spot around the cove out of sight of the other sunbathers. After spreading out her beach blanket she started to put suntan oil on her brown skin. Then she took off the top of her bikini and lay down on the red towel on her stomach. The rays of the sun gently engulfed her body as she started to doze off. Suddenly, a tall bronzed man appeared and cast a shadow over her.

"Is this spot taken?" he asked with a mischievous grin.

Zelda pretended she was annoyed, but in fact she was happy to have company. The man spread out his towel next to her.

"Would you like some suntan lotion?" she asked him. "The sun is awfully hot."

"Now," he said, "I'm used to the sun. And if I get too hot I can always go into the clear blue water." Zelda thought to herself, "I hope we don't get into a heated discussion over where we can go for dinner."

THE JOHNSONS sat down to dinner. Mr. Johnson was at the head of the table. His wife brought in a steaming bowl of oyster stew and placed it in front of him. He helped himself to some in his plate and then passed the bowl around the table.

"Well," said Mr. Johnson, "what have you children been up to today?" "I got three A's on my report card," Gerald, his older son, said, "and I made the honor list."

A warm feeling of pride went through Mr. Johnson, as well as his wife.

"Father," said William, his second son, "I have decided to become a doctor. But have no fear. I intend to work my way through college."

Mr. Johnson nodded. Melissa, his daughter, chimed in, "I was going out tonight with George, but I decided to stay in instead and read the National Geographic. It has a very interesting article on Tahiti, where the temperature rarely drops below 70 and never goes over 85."

"That's nice," said Mr. Johnson as he served himself a slice of sizzling corn bread with melted butter.

Renata knew she shouldn't be there. She sat next to the fireplace as Paul threw another log on the fire. The flames shot up, lighting her beautiful face. Paul handed her a glass of brandy which she took nervously. His eyes burned into hers as he said, "Why don't you take off your coat?" "I should be going home," Renata said. "It's awfully late."

Paul sat down next to her on the cushion and gazed into the red-hot embers. "You know you don't want to go."

Renata blushed, and a strange heat overwhelmed her.

"I guess I don't," she said, touching Paul gently on the cheek. He looked at her and then slowly, gently but forcefully, took her into his arms. The crackling of the logs in the room was the only sound that could be heard except for an occasional sigh.

Well, that should get you through the day or my psychiatrist friend is all wet.

'Cleansing system' meaningless phrase

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know how carrot juice and celery juice are good for the body. How much can one safely consume? Would it be okay to drink only carrot and celery juice for two days and not eat anything else in order to cleanse the system? I've heard that carrot juice is a healer and the celery juice is very good for arthritis. — Mrs. E.L.

You hear some weird medical claims for various foods and juices. Celery and carrot juice are harmless, may even be tasty for you, but they have no major qualities. I think that by now the quacks must have exhausted the supply of juices and foods they are always matching up with people's real ailments; then along comes one that's been neglected.

Cleansing the system? You tell me what that means. How do you "cleanse" the human system? If researchers found a way to do it, I doubt it would be through carrot and celery juice. These "system-cleansing specialists" must either have vital information they are withholding from the medical community, or they don't know what they're talking about. Guess which.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please explain to me what "cardiomyopathy" means? Also, please send me your booklet, "Controlling Your Blood Pressure." I'm enclosing 35 cents in care of the Big Spring Herald. — Mrs. V.B.

Myopathy is muscle damage. Cardiac refers to the heart. Changes in the heart muscle from a viral infection, or enlargement due to high blood pressure or from a coronary attack are examples of cardiomyopathy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My brother is 5-foot-7, of medium frame and weighs 165 pounds. He is 21. To supplement his income he donates a pint of blood plasma twice a week at a commercial blood collection agency. Does he lose white blood cells? Is this harmful? — K.C.

He would lose a fraction of all blood cells, but these are readily replaced if the usual pint (450 cubic centimeters) is taken. As a plasma donor his red and white cells are promptly returned to his circulation after the plasma portion of the blood has been removed. Plasma is mostly water, containing several nutrients plus a factor important in clotting of blood. He should be sure his blood continues to contain these over the long haul. I assume appropriate tests are being done to assure this. Otherwise, if he is a healthy individual, I see no harm in the practice.

The rules are much more rigid, of course, for donors of whole blood. This can be done once every eight weeks or about five times a year because it is more difficult for the body to replace the red and white cells than the plasma.

There is a shortage of blood in most blood banks and people are urged to cooperate with Red Cross collection efforts. Well-supervised commercial collection organizations can be a suitable alternative.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I want to know about this drug I'm taking, specifically about its possible side effects. I am on this as part of a trial for osteoarthritis in my hips and knees. — C.R.C.

Can't tell you because I've not heard of the drug you mention. Measuring its effectiveness is the reason for the trial, as well as determining side effects, if any. Such testing is done voluntarily on the patient's part.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any way of knowing when you are getting too much vitamin supplements? — Mrs. H.

All you need to do is find a listing of normal daily needs. You'll find that in just about any book dealing generally with vitamins. If what you are taking exceeds this, then you are getting too much, and either your pocketbook or your health is the loser. The A and D in excess may cause noticeable reactions. More than 50,000 international units of A can cause loss of appetite, hair loss, yellowness and itching of skin. Excess of D can cause fatigue, headache, nausea and high calcium levels in the blood.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that wine is being recommended for use in some homes for the elderly instead of drugs. Your comment, please? — Mrs. Y.H.

Anytime a glass of wine can substitute for things like tranquilizers, I am all for it. A nip may well substitute for some of the more powerful poisons prescribed, for instance, in insomnia. It also perks up the appetite. I say this even though I realize my next mail will include protests from teetotalers.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am often awakened with a pain in my tongue. Can you give me any information as to cause? — Mrs. T.H.

I can list some possibilities that might be clues. One thinks first of obvious causes — tongue-biting or irritation as from a jagged tooth. Irritants, such as alcohol or hot or spicy foods eaten the night before, can cause it. So can sensitivity to a toothpaste or denture cement.

Unpleasant tongue symptoms can occur in women in menopause. This is due to a thinning of the tongue membranes. You should also be checked for possible anemia, which can cause sore tongue.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To learn more about it, write to Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I noticed you once discouraged a young woman who had faith in God from marrying a man who was not a believing man. But wouldn't she have a good opportunity to lead the man she married to faith in God? — H.A.

DEAR H.A.: There are a lot of people who have held your view and have married with the hope that they would be able to change their spouse. Sadly, however, this very seldom proves to be the result. Instead, many marriages are unhappy because the partners had unrealistic expectations about how much a husband or wife would change after marriage. Sometimes the partner with the problem simply drags down the other. The Old Testament gives many examples of this. The Israelites were commanded not to marry people who did not believe in God, because God knew that such marriages would inevitably lead to spiritual lukewarmness or even disbelief. Time and time again God was disobeyed, and the result was always the same — spiritual decline. The story of Samson and the Philistine woman Delilah is a good example (Judges 16).

The Bible says, "Be yet not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness?" (II Corinthians 6:14). God's way is the best way. He has His perfect will for our lives, including the partner we will marry. If we are patient and seek His will, He will lead us to the right one who will be a true partner in every way — including spiritually.

Funds asked for Texas prisons

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — To continue to do the same job it is doing today, the Department of Corrections must have $16.5 million more over the next two years than provided for in the Legislative Budget Board's recommendation, says prison director James Estelle.

Increases in the cost of food and utilities particularly make it necessary to increase the biennium budget from $263 million to nearly $270 million, Estelle testified before the Senate Finance Committee Monday.

Estelle also told the committee the Texas prison population has increased tremendously because Texas juries have been tougher.

The population rocked along between 11,000 and 12,000 through the 1960s, but today stands at 20,830.

There are several reasons for the jump in prison population, including the rise in the general population, Estelle told the Senate Finance Committee.

But the attitude of Texans is the main reason, he said.

"I'm simply convinced that the mood, temper and climate of Texas is demanding that more people be sent to prison, and not only more people but for longer periods of time," Estelle said.

The percentage of young adults in the population is expected "to peak out in 1985," he said, but that is nationally. If the projection for the "Sunbelt" states is correct, the peak will not occur in Texas in 1985, he said.

Estelle said he favors more paroles over work-release programs. If a prisoner can be trusted with the responsibility of returning to a cell at the end of his working day, he can be trusted with parole, Estelle said.

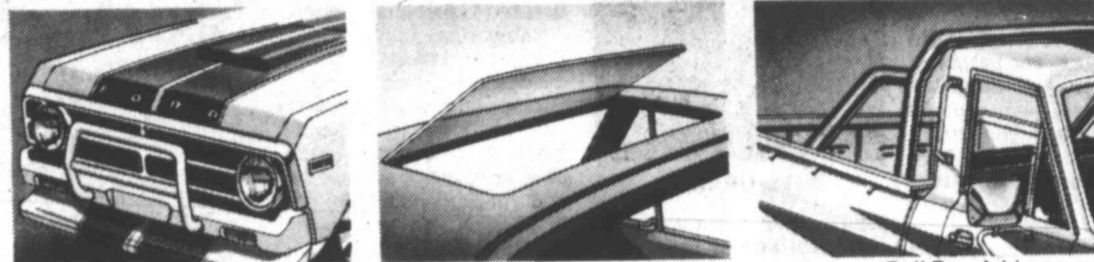

"I think parole is one of the untapped correctional tools in Texas," he said.

He supports mandatory parole proposals. "The first six months is the most critical time. If you can get 'em over that first six months, you can reduce the recidivism rate tremendously," he said.

Texas' recidivism rate is 33 per cent, well below the national average, he said.

The cost per prisoner per day in state appropriations is $7.45, the lowest in the nation, he said. In California, for example, it is $22.06. In Massachusetts it is $32.88.

Release of Ginzburg sought

MOSCOW (AP) — More than 200 Soviet dissidents have appealed for the release because of ill health of Alexander Ginzburg, who disburses the funds supplied by novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn to aid political prisoners and their families.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department said it was "watching with concern" the treatment of the 40-year-old human rights activist and has made the Soviet government aware of its views.

ALEXANDER GINZBURG

It was the third time since President Carter took office Jan. 20 that the United States had warned a Soviet Bloc government about human rights.

Ginzburg's Soviet supporters made their plea in a statement addressed to the 35 governments that signed the 1975 Helsinki Accords. It said he was released from a hospital shortly before his arrest Thursday although "still suffering from pneumonia with a tubercular infection ... and should be treated at a tuberculosis dispensary."

Jail is "certain death for a man in his condition," Valentin Turchin, head of the Soviet branch of Amnesty International, told Western correspondents.

Ginzburg is reported being held in prison in Kaluga, about 100 miles southwest of Moscow. The charges against him have not been announced, but an official publication accused him last week of illegal currency dealings.

Ginzburg says that he has distributed a total of 270,000 rubles — the equivalent of $363,879 at the official exchange rate — for Solzhenitsyn to more than 1,400 persons in the last 2½ years. The fund was started with money the novelist left behind when he went into exile and is replenished with royalties from the sales of his books abroad. Ginzburg said he was careful to deal only in rubles supplied to him by intermediaries for Solzhenitsyn so as not to violate prohibitions against traffic in foreign currency.

Other dissidents said they feared the arrest of Ginzburg was the start of a crackdown on activists who have complained to western reporters and diplomats about alleged Soviet violations of the human rights provisions of the 1975 Helsinki agreement on East-West security and cooperation.

Farm Chick cooking contest

AUSTIN — It will be the chicken instead of the goose which lays the golden egg for the lucky chef who plucks $10,000 as first prize in 1977's National Chicken Cooking Contest, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

First place honors, along with four other cash prizes totaling an additional $10,000, will be awarded at the annual cooking event in Jackson, Miss., July 27.

Texas residents may enter the contest by sending as many recipes as they desire to the National Chicken Cooking Contest, P.O. Box 28158, Central Station, Washington, D.C. 20005. Each recipe must include a broiler-fryer (2-3½ lbs.), at least ¼ teaspoon flavor enhancer, and at least ¼ cup corn oil. Deadline for the entries, which should contain the contestant's name, address, and telephone number, is March 1, 1977. No official entry forms are required.

From the Texas entries, the national sponsors will choose five as state winners, according to Commissioner White. The five Texas finalists will compete in the state cook-off in Austin, sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Texas Broiler Council.

The state winner will receive an all-expense paid trip to Jackson, Miss. to compete in the national contest.

The National Broiler Council, major sponsor of the contest, also requires that each recipe give exact amounts for each ingredient, which should be familiar to most people and nationally available. The recipe should be written for four servings, and total preparation time must not exceed three hours.

Bradford signs for scramble

Mike Bradford, FFA member and 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bradford, of Big Spring, Texas, will participate in the calf scramble at the Feb. 26 evening performance of the 1977 Houston Livestock Show Rodeo.

Always a favorite with rodeo audiences, the calf scramble at the Houston Livestock Show Rodeo has become the largest event of its kind in the world. Since the crowd-pleasing contest began in 1942, the calf scramble has awarded more than $1.3 million to help young aspiring farmers buy animals.

Every year, winners of the calf scramble receive certificates worth $275 from Houston-area sponsors. The boys use these certificates to buy registered females which they bring back to the next year's livestock show for judging. In this way, the calf scramble gives 4-H and FFA members a chance to get started in the beef or dairy cattle business.

Every performance of the '77 Rodeo will feature a calf scramble as its fourth event. In each calf scramble, 24 boys will compete for 12 beef heifers, while 28 boys will scramble for 14 dairy calves.

'Bug' scouts to be hired

Cotton insect scouting is not a job that everyone in this area has heard about, says James Lee, County Extension Entomologist. Five insect survey scouts were hired in the area for the first time last year. In 1977, plans call for eight to be hired. With summer still over three months away, probably not many youth have given much thought to summer jobs.

Cotton insect scouting is a job that is well suited to high school graduates and other students attending junior colleges in the area. Generally, the job begins in mid-May and ends the last of August. But this year scouts will be needed who can work through August full-time and on into October on at least a part-time basis.

Two scouts will be needed in Martin County, and two in Howard County, and two in the St. Lawrence area. For information and job applications, contact the County Extension Office in either Howard, Martin, or Glasscock County, or call James Lee at 756-2251 in Stanton. All persons have equal rights to participate in Extension's educational activities and employment opportunities without regard to race, color, national origin, sex or religion.

35 Howard 4-H'ers enter Houston show

Thirty-five members of the Howard County 4-H Club will be competing in the 1977 Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo. Among them, they will enter 27 market steers, eight market lambs, and ten market barrows. Their county extension agent is Ronnie K. Wood.

The Livestock Show opens Feb. 23 and runs through March 6, with rodeo performances every night in the Astrodome beginning Feb. 25.

The second week of the '77 Show will be devoted to competition among junior exhibitors of all major beef and dairy breeds, swine, sheep and goats, rabbits and poultry. It is the largest junior livestock show in the country.

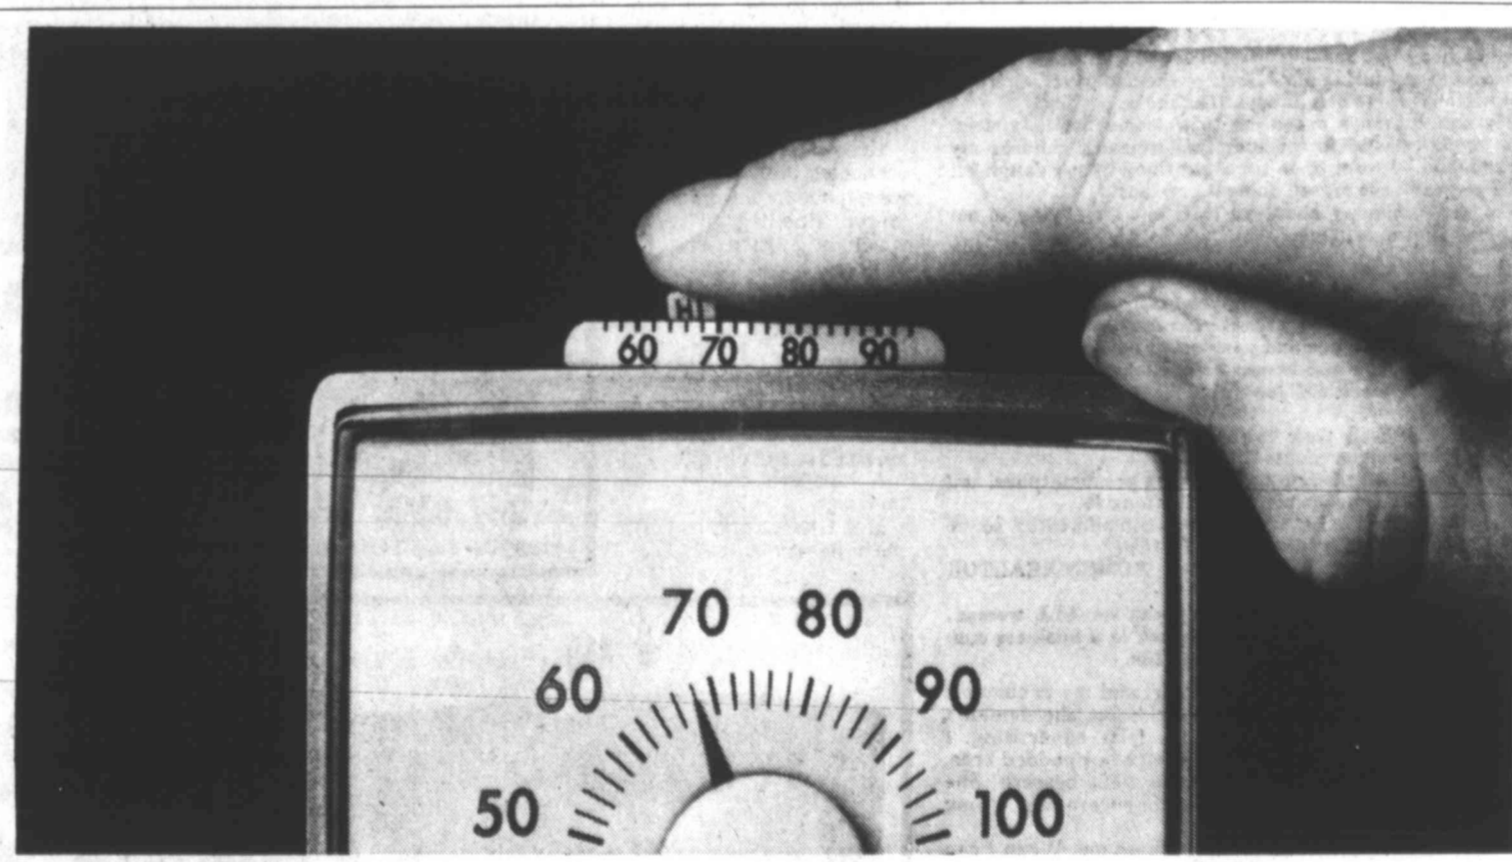

Members of 4-H and FFA groups from all sections of Texas, along with adult exhibitors, will contend for a record total of $510,363 in premium money to be awarded at the show. Approximately 20,000 entries are expected.

Rodeo audiences will be entertained by this exciting line-up of TV and recording stars: K.C. and the Sunshine Band, Feb. 25; Mac Davis, Feb. 26; Helen Reddy, Feb. 27; Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn, Feb. 28; Mel Tillis, March 1; Merle Haggard, March 2; Roy Clark, March 3; the Osmonds, March 4-5; and Charley Pride, March 6.

Pecan pruning in spotlight

A pecan and fruit tree pruning is being highlighted today in a workshop at the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Co.

The program began at 1 p.m. with a pruning demonstration at 1:30 p.m. and a pruning demonstration and workshop at 4 p.m. This was presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service here.

If you want to save on your heating costs this winter, start right here.

A lower thermostat setting will result in less energy use. A setting of 68° or lower is recommended. If you're going to be away, turn the thermostat to a lower setting or turn it off unless freezing weather could damage plumbing and appliances.

Insulation is very important and can pay for itself by lowering your heating costs. A home with six to eight inches of insulation in the attic uses about 45% less energy than one with no insulation.

Keep the filters clean. Check them at least once each month. Dirty filters cause equipment to work harder and use more electricity.

Windows and doors are big energy losers, so consider installing storm doors and windows — at least on the north side of your house. And weatherstrip around all doors and windows.

Make sure your fireplace damper is tightly closed when the fireplace is not in use.

All forms of energy cost more these days. If you're serious about saving electricity, call or write for the booklet on our E-OK Energy Efficiency program.

Electricity. You count on it today. We're working to keep it that way.

Baby's teeth always susceptible to decay

(This is the second in a series of six articles on dental health published by the Big Spring Herald, in cooperation with the Permian Basin District Dental Society, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, February 6-12.)

"My neighbor has told me about her little girl's dental problem called 'nursing bottle mouth.' How can I make sure my baby doesn't have it?"

When a child has 'nursing bottle mouth,' the teeth will literally have decayed to the gumline. Even two- and three-year-old children can have this problem. The culprit is that comforting bottle of fruit juice or formula given at bedtime.

From the moment a child's teeth begin to appear — at approximately six months of age — they are susceptible to decay.

When sugary liquids are taken in the bottle, the bacterial plaque that forms continuously on everyone's teeth combines to form acids that attack the enamel of the teeth. Continued, frequent acid attacks eventually cause tooth decay.

When a child is awake, the saliva washes much of the sugar and acid out of the mouth. At night, however, saliva production is decreased, allowing the decay acid to remain longer on the teeth.

It is important to avoid fruit juices, formula and soft drinks in the baby's bedtime bottle. Even milk when left in the mouth while the baby is sleeping can cause decay. The sugar can be a serious threat to a baby's teeth.

The longer a child is given a bedtime bottle, the greater the damage to the teeth. If the child must have a bottle at bedtime, fill it with water.

Dear Abby
Just Say Good-By, Guy

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for all those inconsiderate guys out there who may not know how to handle this situation or don't have the guts to:

Guy, when you decide to drop a girl you've been seeing regularly, please be kind and let her know it's all over. Don't lie about it and say, "Let's cool it for a while," when you really mean, "Let's end it."

You don't even have to give her a reason, just say, "Good-bye, it's been nice knowing you."

There's nothing worse for a girl than not knowing where she stands with a guy. Of course it hurts to be told it's over, but it's a lot less painful than being left hanging and wondering and hoping. So level with her, will you!

HANGING AND WONDERING

DEAR HANGING: All right, here's a message to all you guys out there who lack the consideration (and courage) to level with the ladies. But girls, the same kind of frankness on your parts would be a kindness, too. Men also appreciate knowing where they stand. Even if it's out in the cold.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was married for seven years. She has two children, 5 and 3. She recently was divorced and has told me that she is going to live with another woman because they have decided that they are lesbians and belong together. This other woman has an 8-year-old daughter and is a successful artist. (My daughter teaches children with learning disabilities.)

I am glad that my daughter told me the truth. She said she has been fighting her lesbian tendencies since adolescence and that during her marriage she had psychotherapy and was advised to accept herself as she is.

My daughter has asked me to welcome her ladyfriend into my home and to consider this woman's child as my "grandchild." I want to do the right thing by my daughter, but I just can't see myself doing it graciously.

I'm very unhappy about all this, but I'm trying to act cheerful. Please help me.

SAD MOTHER

DEAR SAD: Unless you want to lose your daughter and your own grandchildren, accept your daughter's ladyfriend and her child. Both you and your daughter are fortunate to have such an open and honest relationship. Even in these enlightened times, it's all too rare.

DEAR ABBY: A male coworker of mine has a habit of calling all his women clients "dear."

I told him that I thought he was being presumptuous, and I was sure that some women found it offensive.

He insists that ALL women feel complimented to be called "dear"—even by a stranger. Do they?

WOMEN REALTOR

DEAR REALTOR: No one can speak for ALL women, but in my opinion, "dear" has no place in a business conversation. And that goes for "honey," too.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 17-year-old girl and my problem is I'm flat. My mother thinks that if a girl is flat, she shouldn't wear a padded bra because it's like false advertising. I have a part-time job, so I bought myself a few padded bras, and when my mother saw them, she went berserk! She took the bras back to the store, said they were the "wrong kind" and got my money back.

Abby, being flat-chested really bothers me. When I can afford it and I'm on my own, the first thing I'm going to do is get silicone implants.

In the meantime, I'd sure appreciate if you would back me up and say that some girls wear padded bras so they'll look better in clothes and not as "false advertising."

Thanks.

PLENTY OF NOTHING

DEAR PLENTY: I'm on your side. I'm also behind you concerning what you don't have in front of you. Lotsa luck.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 153 Lusk Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (34¢) envelope.

Judge Hughes to appoint jail 'master'

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes is to appoint a "special master" today to be her expert at the Dallas County Jail.

Judge Hughes said the master will make recommendations to her about how much security is needed in the jail, how many inmates are eligible for transfer to the Wodlawn Detention Center and what types of educational and recreational programs are needed.

Earl Luna, a lawyer who represents the county in its five-year federal jail suit, said the master will be paid by the county, but he said he did not know what the salary would be.

Judge Hughes told county commissioners and Sheriff Carl Thomas of her plan during a meeting in the judge's chambers Monday.

The judge has issued an order for the county to improve conditions in the jail, especially overcrowding, and has threatened to close the jail to additional inmates unless a longrange program is adopted to eliminate overcrowding.

Luna, who said he believes the master will be Charles Campbell, recently retired as head of the federal correctional institution in Fort Worth, said he will not contest the appointment. Luna said he believes the master will present a report and recommendations within "two or three weeks."

After the master makes his report, there will be a hearing to allow county officials to testify about security and the county's plans for a June 7 bond election, which includes provisions for a new jail and additional courtroom space, Luna said.

New state building plea

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A new state office building, tentatively named the William B. Travis Building, could be built on the block north of the Stephen F. Austin Building at a big savings for the state in rentals, says a State Building Commission spokesman.

George Watkins, executive assistant director of the commission, testified before the Senate Finance Committee Monday that the building would pay for itself in eight or 10 years.

Like the Stephen F. Austin Building, it would be 11 stories high and contain 468,000 square feet of office space.

The Austin building, four blocks north of the Capitol, cost $11 million and was completed two years ago. The Travis building would cost $24,144,083 if it is built in the next two years, Watkins said.

the state building fund totals $10-$11 million, Watkins said, and the legislature might want to give serious consideration to using that money to help pay for the new building.

Bastrop site of new prison

BASTROP, Tex. (AP) — A new federal prison aimed at youthful offenders in the 18- to 20 range is being built in this Central Texas city, becoming the fifth federal lockup in the state.

Federal Bureau of Prisons officials said Monday that the new prison will house from 400 to 500 inmates and will cost about $12 million.

"It will not house hardened criminals," said Charles Hughes, regional director of the FBI's south central region.

Hughes said the prison is scheduled to open by 1978 and has encountered no opposition from county or city residents or officials.

He said the new facility would ease the 20 per cent overpopulation of Texas federal prisons. The first inmates will include some transfers, but most will be from the 150-mile area around Bastrop.

Lamesa police arrest three

LAMESA — City police, sheriff's deputies and state troopers raided at several locations Saturday night and made three arrests for illegal sale of alcoholic beverages in a dry area.

Arrested were Joe Lee Butler, at 13th and Akron St.; Louise Ramos at a residence in the alley between N. 3rd and N. 4th and Pedro Cortez, 1204 N. 4th.

All four were turned over to the county for bonds to be set. Cortez pleaded guilty this morning in county court.

B-R-R-R-R-R — Almost naked in near-freezing temperatures, youngsters at Machida Kindergarten near Tokyo get set for a race recently during a 15-minute a day: "Go Naked and Healthier" program. Started five years ago, the program has been very successful, officials say.

Inheritance taxes slapped

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — "We think death taxes are one of the worst taxes there is," says the head of the Independent Cattlemen's Association.

Cee City man is arrested

STANTON — Marcelle Clout of Colorado City was arrested in the bus station in Pecos Sunday on charges of felony worthless checks and forgery in Stanton.

Deputy Tim Hudson went to Pecos and returned the man to the Martin county jail. Sheriff Dan Saunders said Judge M.L. Gibson set bonds at $1,500 and $2,500 on the two charges.

Freddy Lopez, 20, of Corpus Christi, who had been working at Farmers Co-op in Gin in Martin County, was arrested Saturday night.

He was charged with rape of a 13-year-old girl. His bond was set by Judge Gibson at $10,000.

T.A. Cunningham told the House Ways and Means Committee Monday that Texans might work harder and fill the state treasury with more revenue if inheritance taxes didn't consume so much of their estates.

"A person will work much harder and pay more taxes," Cunningham predicted.

The committee heard testimony on six bills that would provide varying degrees of relief from the state's inheritance tax. Committee members hope to act on the proposals next week.

Cunningham and other witnesses urged relief from the tax, which they said was forcing many rural families to sell their land after the death of the husband and father.

Inheritance taxes now apply to all of a bequest to an individual in excess of $25,000, with a rate that starts at 1 per cent and rises to 6 per cent on $1 million or more.

The Texas tax, passed in 1923, "has changed from a tax on the estates of the wealthy to a tax on the estates of the middle class," said Pat Smith, state affairs director of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Smith added that nationwide figures indicate a fourth of all farm transfers are for the purpose of estate settlements.

One bill, HB27 by Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, would exempt husbands and wives from any taxation on estates inherited from their spouses.

"If I was Howard Hughes and I had a wife, the whole estate would go to her tax-

Fishermen rescued

HOUSTON (AP) — Coast Guard officials say three men, stranded in the Gulf of Mexico when their fishing boat motor stalled, have been rescued after spending the night in cold, 20-knot winds.

Coast Guard Petty Officer Jan Way said the men were spotted Monday in their 21-foot boat by a Coast Guard helicopter 10 miles southwest of Port O'Connor. The men left Freeport Saturday morning.

The fishermen were identified as Jerry Scott, Johnny Savage and Ronnie Coleman.

Way said Scott's wife called Coast Guard officials Sunday afternoon when the men did not return.

The boat's engine apparently developed trouble and stalled leaving the men to drift all night in the stiff winds and current, Way said.

Missing grain dealer informer 'worked over'

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A man apparently thought to have information about missing Iowa Park grain dealer Robert M. Johnson was "worked over" and hospitalized Monday night, according to Port Aransas Constable Ben Cash.

Cash said the man, who was not identified, was taken to an area hospital for observation and possible treatment for internal injuries.

The beating, Cash said, came only hours after there were news stories telling that an unidentified man had seen Johnson after he reportedly fell overboard in the Gulf of Mexico Jan. 3.

Cash said he did not know who was involved in the beating incident.

local, state and federal authorities have been investigating the disappearance of Johnson and have been looking into records of his grain firms at Iowa Park and Wichita Falls.

The unidentified man had reportedly told officers he saw Johnson alive in South Texas after the reported drowning and that Johnson told him the drowning was faked.

An assistant U.S. attorney in Fort Worth said Monday that the FBI was investigating the overall Johnson disappearance, but declined to comment further.

Hawks win 91-73

Just two weeks ago the Howard College Hawks were wallowing down in the area of cellar dwellers in the WJAC standings. Today, by virtue of a 91-73 pounding of Clarendon, they now sport the second best record in the conference.

The victory, the fifth in a row for the locals, upped their conference slate to 8-5, tied with Midland College for the second spot. Only Western Texas, at 11-2, holds a better loop mark.

The Preybirds were led by super-cool sophomore Paul Cathey, who poured in 24 points and tore down 23 rebounds. "Everytime Clarendon would try to make a semi-comeback," said coach Harold Wilder, "Paul would do something, block a shot, get a rebound, or score points to frustrate them. He played a super game."

The tall, unassuming star from Bay City has to be considered All-Conference material. He is currently leading the 10 teams in rebounding.

But team effort also played a hand in the win, as it has in the resurgence of Hawk power. Four other players scored in double figures: Eugene Williams — 13; Reggie Little — 13; Eugene Williams — 13; and Russell Tublet — 14. Lowell Walker hit for eight points to lead the second unit, and mighty Joe Cooper; "Mr. Hustle" Jim Ray and "Kid" Johnny James (just turned 18) oged a fine effort as well.

The outcome of the game was never really in doubt.

The locals would build up a big lead, relax and let Clarendon catch up a bit, then throw in the afterburners and put the game out of reach again.

Cathey's performance included six of eight from the floor the first half and 10 of 13 from the line for the second half.

THROUGH the fieldglasses

By Danny Reagan

Now that's more like it!

I don't believe too many people saw me at last night's Howard College Hawk raking of the Clarendon Bulldogs. Oh, I was there, just incognito. That way I get to see more. I was the one in the false nose right next to the guy with the whistle that the referees threatened to throw out of the game if he blew it one more time. Actually, what the refs heard was me blowing my real nose.

Yes, I was there to see the third Clarendon technical foul and read the lips of the player who justifiably garnered the penalty. Such language! His mother should be so ashamed of him.

I also heard "Leapin' Laura" Baum sing "Torn between two lovers..." as she scampered around with the initials "J.R." (Jim Ray) and "M.M." (Marc Meyers) sewn on her jeans.

Sure I saw number 15 for Clarendon "holding like Poli-grip", as Pearl is wont to say.

What was my topic for the day? Oh yes, "that's more like it!" My point being that the atmosphere at the Hawk games is finally back at its level of ear-splitting decibels and adrenal-in-racing action. The fans are returning to the fold. Fickle as they are, I'm glad to see them back. And it's just in time! The Preybirds have two more home games... biggies, too. They host top rival Amarillo College on Valentine's Day at 7:30, and king of the hill Western Texas on Feb. 21 at 8 p.m.

So if you want to revel in the electric atmosphere of Juco basketball, the players and fans clapping out the rhythm of the song "Car Wash" during warm-ups, the sudden maniacal outbursts of a half dozen ordinarily John Q. Milktoasts at once, and the general overall "thrill of victory" (the Hawks are not losing at home), then you might try to cram into Hawk gym for the last two home games. I say "try" because I doubt if there will be a seat for any late-comers.

NFL owners, players far apart

Negotiating table

WASHINGTON (AP) — The draft, or the legal prohibition of one, rates high on the list. However, there are other issues still on the National Football League negotiating table.

The players' union contends there are at least seven issues on which the owners and the union are still far apart. Management declines to include in a numbers game, conceding that they are closer on some issues than on others.

"By Wednesday night, we should know what issues separate us," said Ed Garvey, union executive director. "Hopefully, there will be a lot fewer than now."

Representatives of the NFL Management Council, bargaining arm for the owners, and the NFL Players Association meet again today in a continuation of their stepped-up discussions to reach a collective bargaining agreement. There has been no league contract since Jan. 31, 1974.

The two sides have held four meetings since Super Bowl week in hopes of hammering out a contract that would be agreeable to both the owners and the players. The main reason, at the moment, is the college draft which would have been held last week under normal circumstances.

Pro football is ridden with anxiety among management, players, would-be players and agents, all awaiting the outcome of the negotiations.

Since the draft as it was held in the NFL for 40 years was struck down by a federal judge last year as an antitrust violation, there have been questions about whether one would be held this year. If both sides can reach an agreement on some sort of draft, then most probably one could be held legally under a so-called labor exemption.

Garvey has suggested that Feb. 15 be the deadline for reaching an agreement. "If a new contract is not agreed to within the next week or two, there is no reason to have meetings for quite a while. We'll just see what happens."

Pro football's several players' agents have indicated they are ready to file suit to permit them to deal with any club for their clients' talents.

NBC pact with Reds based upon trust?

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Company is paying a record $85 million for exclusive U.S. television rights at the 1980 Moscow Olympics, and is predicting "the most massive array of people, technicians and equipment ever assembled for one event."

NBC president Herb Schlosser said Monday that "this will probably be the biggest event in the history of broadcasting."

And, he added, the network plans to make a profit. "We expect it to work out as a venture where this company will make money."

The price is $60 million more than the Montreal Games last summer cost ABC, which was outbid in negotiations for the Moscow Games. NBC, which made public some of its plans and contract terms on Monday, said it would televise 150 hours, or about nine hours a day over the 16 days of the Olympics.

From Montreal, ABC televised about 75 hours.

Robert Howard, president of NBC television and head of the network's negotiating team in Moscow, said that after NBC announced it had won the Games it had to raise its bid, apparently in response to a last-minute effort by ABC.

Howard said the contract is brief and is based upon trust between the two parties. He said NBC would not have to televise any specific vignettes of life in the Soviet Union if it did not want, and NBC will get its money back if the Games are canceled.

NBC refused to say how much money would be paid prior to the Olympics, but a source has said that the network will pay $20 million this year and $30 million in 1978. NBC said there was nothing in the contract to cover a pullout of U.S. athletes, should that occur.

Jenner asks improvement

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bruce Jenner didn't bite the hand that rewarded him, but he did suggest the Amateur Athletic Union could make improvements and improvements will be necessary to keep the United States competitive in the 1980 Olympics in Russia.

The 27-year-old who won a gold medal last year with a world record performance in the grueling decathlon at Montreal, on Monday became the 47th winner of the AAU's James E. Sullivan Trophy, emblematic of the nation's outstanding amateur athlete of 1976.

Jenner, who scored 8,618 points in the 10-event track and field test, previously had been named the Athlete of the Year by The Associated Press.

In the AAU voting, the 195-pound trackman who stands 6-foot-2, outdistanced swimmer John Naber and figure skater Dorothy Hamill who also were gold medal winning Olympians. Swimmer Tim Shaw won the award in 1975.

"That gold medal meant more to me than all the money in the world," said Jenner, who now is an ABC sports commentator. "This award is the perfect way to end a career."

After thus acknowledging the Sullivan Trophy, Jenner said he believed the AAU and other organizations must make changes to keep America's athletes in top spots.

"I really think the AAU and the others must get their stuff organized better," Jenner said. "The USA is slipping farther and farther behind the other nations in support of athletes. East Germany aids its athletes, and if it goes into a track meet against the United States and wins, there is tremendous national pride. "We're able to win, but every year we slip and things will be particularly tough at the Olympics in Moscow. "Our amateur athletes should have more support than they now receive. If there are not some drastic things done in the next few years, there are going to be problems. "Some potential Olympic gold medal winners will be left home because they do not have the funds to quit jobs and do the training necessary. "I don't want to see amateur athletes go professional, but why not get subsidization for money that is lost. I'm in support of the President's Commission proposals. The amateur program needs revision... give amateur athletes more support."

All 10 finalists in the Sullivan competition were Olympians. Jenner scored 4,017 points to win, Naber, of Menlo Park, Calif., finished second with 2,314 and Miss Hamill, Riverside, Conn., totaled 1,718.

Other finalists, in alphabetical order were diver Jenni Chandler, boxer Howard Davis, race walker Ron Laird, basketball player Scott May, long jumper Kathy McMillan, wrestler John Peterson and long jumper Arnie Robinson.

Voting was by the AAU board of governors, sports media and past winners of the award. Five points were awarded for first place, three for second and one for third.

You owe me four bucks

Mr. President, thanks

NEW YORK (AP) — "Okay, Mr. President, you lost both nines and, counting the press on the back nine, you owe exactly four bucks — fork it over."

It's a long way from presiding over an institution with an annual budget of $200 billion to scrambling for $1 Nassau on the golf course, but Gerald R. Ford has made the transition without much more than a flicker.

"He's in great shape. His attitude is good and he's hitting that three-wood a ton," comedian Bob Hope says of the most prominent new addition to the nation's unemployed, the erstwhile resident of the White House.

"I read in a magazine that Ford was despondent after the election. But it isn't true. He's moved from the ski slopes to the golf course and his mood is fantastic. "He told me only last week, 'I'm disappointed, naturally, but I feel good.'"

Ford is becoming as familiar a figure around the major golf tournaments as Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller. Fresh from partnering Arnold Palmer in the Crosby Pro a couple of weeks ago, the former President will tee it up again in the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Springs, Calif., starting Wednesday.

"Mr. Ford will play four of the five rounds," Hope said during a weekend visit to New York. "He will work a variety of partners — Sammy Davis Jr., Dave Stockton, Billy Casper, Lee Elder, Jackie Gleason and Flip Wilson."

Millions of TV viewers saw the ex-President chip in from off the green for a net eagle at the Crosby.

Steerettes nipped by Midland Lee

Midland Lee grabbed a slim lead and hung on to defeat the Big Spring Steerettes 55-53 here Monday night.

Big Spring led in a hot first quarter 19-8, but began to miss lay-ups and free throws in the second period and ended up with a 28-28 tie at the half.

From that point on, the see-saw battle saw Lee consistently grab back the edge and at the end of the third frame, the Rebellets led 43-42.

Rose Magers was high pointer for the evening with 25. Kern Schenxnayder slapped in 18 and Sherry Byrd 12 for the locals.

In the B game, which Big Spring lost, 56-32, Suzie Hernandez paced the scoring with 13 followed by Pam Banks with eight and Peggy Calhoun, six.

Big Spring coaches said Lee had the best team they had met this season. The Steerettes got to Abilene to play two games with Cooper on Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Texas sports briefs

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — North Texas State won its 17th game of the season against only three losses Monday night, rolling over Northwestern Louisiana 99-77.

The Eagles put six men in double figures, paced by Fred Mitchell's 24 points.

North Texas faces tough Creighton and oral Roberts, both on the road, later this week in their bid for a post-season tournament slot.

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Homer Taylor's basket with 43 seconds left in the game lifted Lamar to a 76-74 Southland Conference victory over Arlington Monday night.

Taylor paced the winners with 16 points as the Cardinals boosted their overall ledger to 9-13. UTA slipped to 0-4 in the conference and 2-18 overall.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Cold or no cold, the baseball season is upon us. Texas Tech opens its 1977 season this weekend, traveling to San Antonio to take on St. Mary's and Trinity in doubleheaders Friday and Saturday.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is not a good day to plan any definite course of action or campaign for many difficulties and delays are likely to occur. Think of better ways to clear the obstacles in the path of your desires.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have responsibilities to meet and want to run away from them, but it is best to carry through conscientiously instead. Use tact with your mate or you get into trouble. Be wary of strangers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure to carry through with that contract you have with another or you can get into much trouble later. A civic affair could be annoying, but handle it well just the same.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Running away from duties ahead of you would only make matters worse in the future. Concentrate on how to solve some of these problems. Be wary of one who has an eye on your assets.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Avoid those expensive pleasures you want to participate in and stay within your budget. Try to please the one you love more and gain more affection.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Do whatever will bring more harmony at home quietly. Try to understand others' views better. A new project you have in mind is not for you, so let it go. Make the evening a happy one with a loved one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Look for better ways to get errands done. Not a good day to seek advice you need from experts. Use much care in motion of all kinds.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take no chances where finances are concerned during day or in the evening or you will regret it later. Your adviser is in an unsettled mood today, so don't consult as yet. Take it easy tonight.

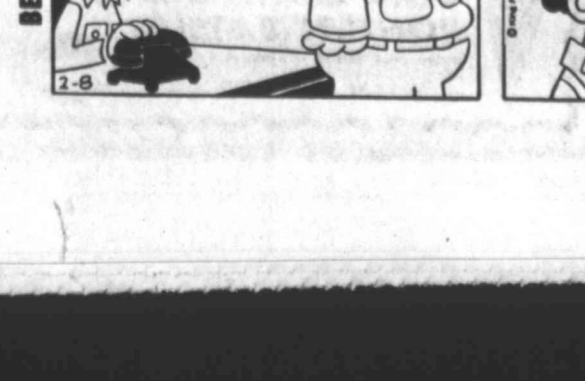

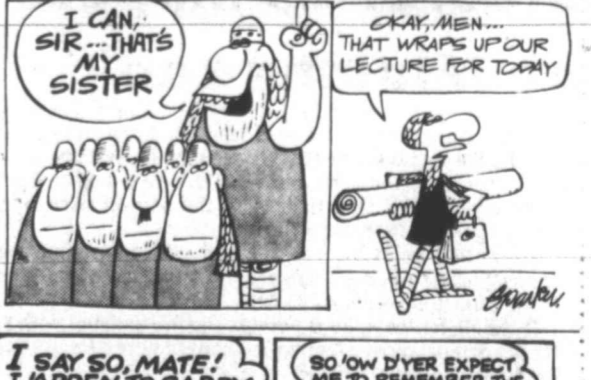

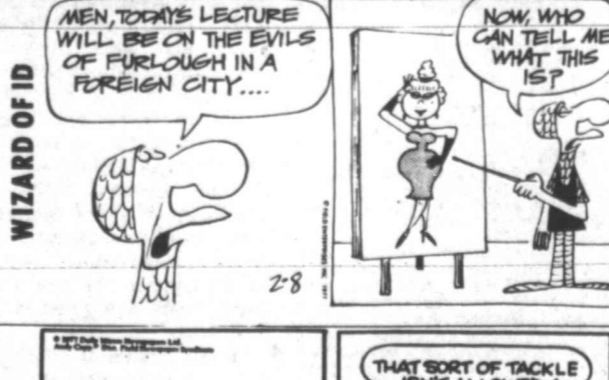

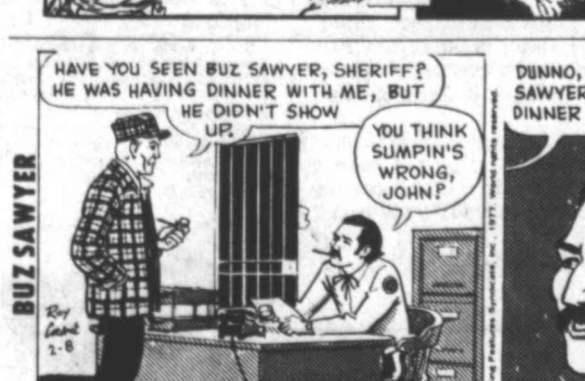

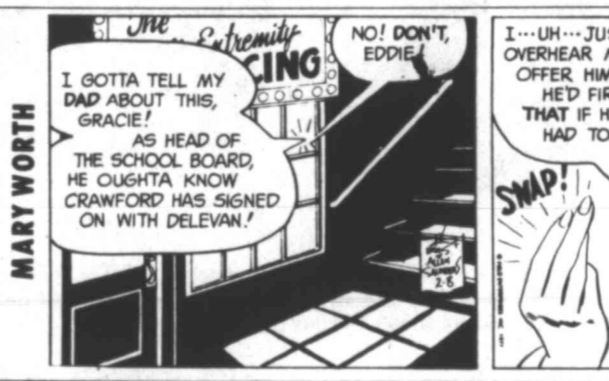

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to control yourself today when you are apt to be in a poor mood and could make some unfortunate mistake. Do not argue at a social function you may attend. Be careful of strangers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do not get discouraged in the handling of some problems and you will be able to solve it satisfactorily now. Try to be philosophical in the face of delays and obstacles.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't rely on friends today who are under pressure and have no time for you. Don't be demanding where social matters are concerned. Use tact and get right results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care that you do nothing that would make higher-ups criticize you. Pay bills on time and improve credit.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to get into new projects but this is not the time to do so, although looking into them is fine. Be patient, show wisdom and courage. Avoid one who is annoying to you.

... interesting life

But last Mother's day, I wrote a story on her sister, Ruth Carter Allen, who had ridden in a covered wagon when a child from Glasscock County to Alpine.

Gin made that trip too and was four years old at the time. She recalls that it was tough going through the Monahans sandhills and remembers a few of the other rigors of the trip. She especially remembers that her two-year-old sister, Alice, Mrs. Frank Colbert, wandered off and they thought she was lost in the salt cedars.

Miss Mondale hurt in crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Walter Mondale's 17-year-old daughter Eleanor stayed home from school at the beginning of the week to recuperate from an automobile accident in which she and five other persons were injured slightly.

"Eleanor's fine," an aide to the vice president said Monday. "She was a little stiff today and stayed home from school."

Miss Mondale was riding in a car which plunged into a wooded area about 15 miles west of Harrisonburg, Va., on Sunday.

She received an abrasion on the right wrist and a cut on the back of her head, police said. She and the five others were treated at Rockingham Memorial Hospital and released.

and who still knows how to repair windmills.

But I've never written up Gin. I often sit by her in church on Sunday mornings and the few moments we have to talk, she mentions such things as one of the other of her ten grandchildren or her great-grandchild.

Last year when the Big Spring Art Association held an art show and brought in special judges, Gin won the "best in show" award with her Indian chief.

Gin is full of surprises. She attended country schools down in Glasscock County and then came into Big Spring with her sisters to finish high school here. After she got out of high school, she attended an Art Institute in Chicago and later in Topeka.

All of her life, she has painted in between times. That meant in between four children. There's Gene Schaffer who works for an oil company in Iran and Mrs. W.G. (Joyce) Fuller whose husband works at Cosden and Mrs. Carl (Susah) Walker, whose husband is a farmer and rancher and Marck Schaefer, who ranches and sells fertilizer down around Garden City. One of the granddaughters had a grand champion lamb over at Garden City so naturally Gin was there. It was cold that day—but that didn't matter. Not if the grandchildren are involved.

Gin gets to paint a little more often nowadays. But her sister, Ruth has some paintings she has done for her through the busy years that are really good.

The Carter sisters were real fence riders who actually rode fence for their Dad on the ranch in Glasscock County.

Gin and Ruth both remember that on that covered wagon trip into the Davis Mountains, they stopped at one ranch that had an outhouse clinging to the edge of the mountain. The rancher told them, "Don't go up there after dark. There's bears."

Gin's had a life that's been full of bears, if bears are hard work. But she's come through with a big smile and in general thinks life is pretty wonderful.

Gin loves her family, her art, her church, and West Texas. She's going to be more surprised than anyone that this fence rider could glean enough information from her while "just talking about the grandchildren" to fill up a column. But Gin has a lot of interesting stories—some of which she learned while she was out ridin' fence.

'All things considered'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Starting March 3, former Sen. James L. Buckley of New York will be presenting his views as a regular commentator on National Public Radio's program, "All Things Considered."

Buckley, 53, will appear every other Thursday on the 90-minute program described as a "newsmagazine." It was announced Monday.

'Free' education for aliens?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys for 12 children of illegal aliens say they will go to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, to challenge a law barring the Houston children from attending Texas schools for free. State District Court Judge James R. Meyers ruled here Monday that children of illegal aliens cannot attend Texas schools without paying tuition.

Sammie Maver speaks here

The Big Spring chapter of the Southwest Open Heart Club held its semi-annual meeting at Malone-Hogan hospital last weekend.

Miss Sammie Lou Mavar, perfusionist at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital, was featured speaker. She presented slides documenting open-heart surgery procedure, commenting from her experience gained operating heart-lung machines during such operations.

A question-answer period followed the presentation, during which Mavar listed factors causing heart disease, including heredity, lifestyle, smoking and diet.

The best defense against heart disease, she said, was a regular medical check-up.

Mavar cited "Women's Lib" in answer to the recent figures showing women to be approaching men in frequency of heart surgery.

The next meeting will take place in August.

Calvin Hollis charged here

Charges of theft by taking were filed by Det. John Burson against Calvin J. Hollis Thursday in J.P. Gus Ochotorena's office. According to Burson, Hollis is in custody in Wharton, and will be returned to Big Spring after legal proceedings in Odessa. The charges were filed against Hollis and another man after they allegedly left the Holiday Inn here with a TV set belonging to the Inn in their possession.

after a suit by the children, ages 5 to 13, who alleged they were denied enrollment to Houston public schools unless they paid $90 a month tuition.

"I think you have a most interesting proposition," Judge Meyers told lawyers for both sides in his brief verbal statement. "But I think the statute is constitutional. That's all there is to it at this time."

The refusal of the Houston school system to permit the children to attend school free was made after the State Board of Education held on Sept. 11 that alien children couldn't attend Texas schools without paying tuition.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Suzan Thornton argued that Texas schools cannot afford to provide free education to all illegal alien children.

"It would virtually destroy the education we provide for our citizens and aliens that are legally admitted to the state," Mrs. Thornton said. "We can't afford it, we can't pay for it."

Houston district. After Meyers' ruling, Saenz said, "My first reaction, is that it is very unfortunate we could not get some temporary relief... Those children must remain out of school. I have to go back and see those children on the streets... that is very disappointing."

Williamson argued that the children were brought to Texas by their parents, who pay Social Security, sales and property taxes. "Those children are here and need to be educated," he said.

"There are children who need to go to school whether their parents can afford it or not," Williamson added.

The Houston attorney said the aliens are remaining in the U.S. since, "The Immigration Service cannot or in some cases is not or will not expel them."

COLORADO CITY — Three elections will be held in Colorado City simultaneously April 2, including the school district, city council and hospital board.

Only residents of the city will vote in the council election with patrons in the school district voting in the trustee election and all residents of the county involved in the hospital district election.

Mayor Dr. Elton Berkman says he will not seek re-election. Other city poets for the election are those of Jody Neff, Rick Perkin and J.O. Dockrey.

Dockrey plans to run for re-election and both Perkin and Mrs. Neff are undecided. Others on the council are J. Lee Jones Jr., Marion Basham and Larry Hamner. Perkin is mayor pro-tem.

The election will be at city hall and candidates have until March 2 to file. In the school board election, none of the incumbents has yet stated their intentions. Positions up for election include those of Drew Ballard, Truman Bodine and Edward Roach.

Others on the board include Tom Rees, president; S.L. (Mac) Morris, Jimmie Bolin and Larry Blassingame.

The hospital board has four positions to be filled. They are now held by Wayne Shawn, A. Preston Morris, Herbert Mearse and Willie Landau.

Shawn has been a member of the board since formed ten years ago and he will not seek re-election. Others have not yet indicated their intentions.

Other members of the board include Murrell Blassingame, president; Tom Moore and Bob Reilly.

Candidates for election should have a petition signed by 25 residents of the district to be filed at the administrative office of the hospital at least 25 days before the election. The election will be in the courthouse.

At Loraine, the city council and school board elections will also be held Sat., April 2.

On the council, positions up for election include that of Mayor Royce Mahon, and Fay Hamilton, Harris Hamilton and Evert Henderson.

Other members of the council are Roy Holland and Donnie Phillips. They also must file by March 2.

School board members have the same deadline. Those whose terms expire include Tommy Linam and Hubert Meadows. Others on the board are Ronald Bruce, president; George Martin, Linton Ray Webb, Lester A. Hill and Eugene Smith.

The school board election at Westbrook will be held the same day. There will be no city election as they are held on alternate days.

Positions open include that of Cleburne Rich and E.A. Oden. Other members of the board are Jerry Webb, president and James Dorn, Floyd Ritchey, T.A. Whitesides and Warren Zant.

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT

Write your suggestion to President Carter. Let him hear from Big Spring.

As our new president, Jimmy Carter, begins his term, he has asked the American people to give him ideas and suggestions, questions or comments about this country and its government.

The Herald thinks the president should get many comments and suggestions from people in Big Spring, since our town is much affected by what happens in Washington.

Here is our chance to send input directly into the White House. A special section of the Big Spring Herald on Sunday, Feb. 20, will contain as many ideas and questions for President Carter as this newspaper can gather from the Big Spring area. Copies of the section will go directly to the White House and President Carter.

Here's how to participate. Just sit down and write a letter to President Carter on any subject that might be of interest to our government. Begin it, "Dear Mr. President!" Be sure to include your name and address. Then mail it to:

Suggestions for the President Dept.
Big Spring Herald
P.O. Box 1431
Big Spring, Tex. 79720

Or bring it by the Herald's office at 710 Scurry. Please try to keep the letters as short and to the point as possible. The letters should reach the Herald as soon as possible but no later than Thursday, Feb. 17, to be included in the special section.

Energy

TUFCO offers to divert gas

Texas Utilities Fuel Co. (TUFCO), an affiliate of Texas Electric Service Co., has announced it is making available 50 million cubic feet of natural gas per day in cooperation with Federal Power Commission efforts to relocate natural gas to the eastern part of the country.

TUFCO is a subsidiary of Texas Utilities Co., parent firm of Texas Electric, Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light. TUFCO's gas supplies are owned jointly by the three utilities.

"We have studied for some weeks TUFCO's ability to transmit gas through the interstate system," said W.G. Marquardt, president of Texas Electric. "Our offer to assist depends on no further curtailments by our present gas suppliers and the availability of alternate fuels."

Texas Electric and the other Texas Utilities companies plan to use reserves of fuel oil now in storage as a substitute fuel, Marquardt said.

"We will continue to offer this gas as long as it is needed and we are able to deliver it," Marquardt said.

Briscoe cites 'culprits'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe of Texas says states that have refused to explore for oil and gas off their coasts "are the culprits" in the current natural gas shortage.

Texas and other gas-producing states, Briscoe told a news conference here Monday, are not "the boys with the black hats."

"It's the other way around. Here in Texas, we have done our part toward meeting the energy needs of this nation. We have done so by drilling offshore, onshore, taking the environmental risks, and I think it's time other states do their parts," he said.

Briscoe said any federal investigation of the natural gas shortage should start with "those states, those governors and those congressmen" who have refused to do their parts in the search for energy.

He singled out coastal states which have refused to permit offshore drilling for oil and gas or to allow building refineries in their areas.

The Texas governor said any investigation into whether the oil and gas industries have withheld supplies hoping for higher prices will be "just a waste of time."

Proposed rules could double price of cars

DALLAS (AP) — Proposed regulations on the sale of used cars could double prices in some cases, an official of the Texas Independent Automobile Dealers Association said Monday.

I.J. Berrier testified at Seven cities must pay more

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Seven cities in Southeast Texas must pay Southern Union Gas Co. the increased cost of obtaining gas, according to the railroad commission.

The commission issued an order Monday superseding ordinances in Port Arthur, Port Neches, Groves, Lakeview, Nederland, Griffing Park and Pear Ridge.

The cities' gas supplier, Southern Union, is paying $1.8372 per thousand cubic feet (mcf) to Texas Transmission Co. Deletion of the contract adjustment clauses through city ordinances would give Southern Union only $1.2477 per mcf, the commission said.

Federal Trade Commission hearings into the proposed guidelines.

Berrier said one proposal that would allow a prospective buyer to remove a car from the lot for up to eight hours to allow a mechanical check could double the cost of the car. He said with cars gone for that long off the lot, a dealer would lose a sale or a potential sale.

He also objected to a requirement that dealers disclose all repairs that "may affect the performance or useful life" of the car. "That's so broad it boggles the mind to visualize such an inventory," Berrier said.

Gordon Borgen of the Dallas Legal Services foundation, in a copy of scheduled testimony, sided with Berrier. Borgen said some consumer protection is needed, but he does not favor the current proposals.

FTC commissioners will review testimony in the hearings being conducted in Dallas and other cities before deciding whether to adopt the proposed regulations.

Lo-Vaca must report money

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The railroad commission Monday scheduled a Feb. 22 hearing for Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. to account for all the money it is getting transporting natural gas through its intrastate system for others.

The commission ordered Lo-Vaca not to spend any income from such service pending its approval.

The commission noted that it was acting "to protect Texas consumers" as a result of reports that Lo-Vaca is expected to make more than $1 million from one transaction transporting gas to the energy-short northeast.
