

No immunity for jailed kidnaper

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Anthony G. Kiritsis, the revenge-minded gunman who thought he could walk away free by releasing unharmed a hostage he held for 63 hours, instead faces kidnaping charges after police grabbed him in what he called "a cheap shot."

Despite a promise of immunity from prosecution, Kiritsis, 44, was seized Thursday night after he freed mortgage company executive Richard O. Hall from a third-story apartment he had fooled police into thinking was rigged with dynamite.

Kiritsis, enraged because he felt Hall's company swindled him in a property deal, was held on $250,000 bond awaiting arraignment on state kidnaping charges.

He was ordered arraigned at 2 p.m. today in Municipal Court on charges of kidnaping, inflicting injury in commission of a felony, armed robbery, obtaining a signature by threat, commission of a felony while armed, committing a crime of violence while armed and disorderly conduct.

Hall, 42-year-old father of four, was taken out by stretcher, checked briefly at a hospital and returned to his family. Authorities said his only physical scars from the three-day, two-night ordeal were minor abrasions on his neck and wrists.

Police, who had waited frustrated outside the building since the siege began Tuesday, entered Kiritsis' apartment to discover that what he had claimed was 100 pounds of dynamite wired to explode was nothing more than a maze of string, weighted to break two glass wine jugs — possibly filled with gasoline — placed near a single burning candle.

Prosecutors said the immunity offer was invalid because Kiritsis failed to keep his part of an agreement to let Hall come out of the building alone.

Instead, Kiritsis shocked police by marching Hall out with the shotgun he used to abduct him still wired to his victim's neck.

Surrounded by police sharpshooters, Kiritsis then staged a 30-minute confrontation on live television, alternately cursing, shouting and joking with reporters and onlookers as Hall stood frozen in fear. He repeated his statement that he abducted Hall because he was convinced the mortgage company had tried to cheat him on a $130,000 land loan.

Kiritsis listed seven wrongs he said the company perpetrated against him, including blocking commercial development on the land where he wanted to build a small shopping center, and demanded $5 million he said the project would have earned him. After finally releasing Hall back inside the building, Kiritsis walked to an open sliding glass door and fired his sawedoff shotgun into the sky.

"See, I told you this was loaded," he said, as a terrified Hall bolted from the room.

Then, as Kiritsis laughed to police that "I really pulled one over on you" with the dynamite bluff, officers grabbed him and took him away in a patrol car.

"Tony, you lied to us," Police Chief Eugene Gallagher told Kiritsis. "You didn't let him go as you said.... You blew it."

"This is a cheap shot, a cheap shot," a disbelieving Kiritsis shouted, before slumping down in the seat in silence.

Marion County Deputy Prosecutor George Martz said Kiritsis, who described himself as a "stable man," would undergo psychiatric testing. The immunity that had been promised him earlier in the day specified he would not be mugged, fingerprinted, booked or subject to mental tests.

HEAD TWIST — Anthony Kiritsis twists Richard O. Hall's neck with the wired shotgun near the end of the 62-hour ordeal in Indianapolis late Thursday night. Hall was released without injury and Kiritsis was taken into custody.

Hooser shooting case presented to grand jury

District Attorney Rick Hamby said today that he will submit evidence in the shooting death of Danny Hooser to the next Howard County grand jury.

Hamby said he was submitting the case "to resolve any possible questions" about the incident.

Hooser was shot and killed by Elmer's Liquor Store owner V.A. Whittington in a holdup attempt Jan. 20, according to Whittington. Hooser apparently entered the store wearing a ski mask, and brandishing a .38-caliber pistol.

Whittington, who told police he always kept a gun behind the counter at night, said he shot and killed Hooser with a Webley .45.

Hamby said he expects the next grand jury to convene in early March.

Hooser, 26-year-old son of the county attorney, was under $15,000 bond, set by J.P. Gus Ochotorena for a Nov. 17, 1976 armed robbery of a Seven-Eleven store.

A complete police report of the incident arrived on the D.A.'s desk Thursday. The investigation was handled by Detective J.D. Carter and Tony Lujan.

Whittington has apparently been the target of some harassment since the incident, climaxing when the window of his store was shot out Jan. 26, apparently by unknown person wielding a shotgun from a passing car.

Execution by drugs bill introduced

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Bills have been introduced in the House and Senate that would require executions in Texas to be done with drugs instead of by the electric chair.

Reps. Ben Grant, D-Marshall, and Bob Close, R-Perryton, introduced a bill Tuesday calling for execution "by intravenous injection of a substance or substances in a lethal quantity sufficient to cause death, such execution procedure to be determined and supervised by the director of the Department of Corrections."

A similar bill has been introduced by Sen. Bill Braecklein, D-Dallas.

Grant said today he talked with the chief physician at the Huntsville prison before drafting his bill. The doctor told him of a three-step injection procedure that would be painless, Grant said.

Tower elected top GOP on Armed Forces panel

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who has championed Big Spring's cause in Washington since it was announced last March that Webb AFB was a candidate for closure, has been elected ranking minority member of the Senate Armed Forces Committee.

Tower succeeds Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who used his seniority to become ranking member on the Judiciary Committee.

Tower gave up his ranking position on the Banking Committees to assume his new duties, yielding that post to Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts.

Tower noted that Texas had "strong ties" to the military services. Last year, almost $2.5 billion was spent by the Department of Defense in Texas on the military and civilian payroll.

As ranking Republican, Tower will manage legislation and budget recommendations reported by the committee to the Senate floor.

When it was announced that Webb was on the list for possible closure last March, Tower reacted by saying he would "fight to the last bloody ditch" to keep Webb open.

Carter asks tax credits

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says he will ask Congress to substitute a $240-per-person tax credit for the existing $750 exemption, a change which would favor poor taxpayers and raise the taxes of those with higher incomes.

Carter revealed the plan in a talk to employees of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Thursday. Sources in the Treasury Department said the shift in the tax burden might be offset by other portions of the Carter tax package which have not yet been disclosed.

The President plans to submit his tax reform package to Congress in the fall.

The flat dollar amount would also replace an existing credit of $35 per person.

The present $750 personal exemption means a $1,500 tax saving for a family of four with enough income to be taxed at the rate of 50 per cent. But a family of four in the 14 per cent bracket saves only $420.

Treasury officials said the credit system, unless offset by other parts of the package, would benefit taxpayers with incomes below around $20,000 to $25,000 a year at the expense of those earning more.

The President said the move to a tax credit was originally considered as part of the economic stimulus program he has already sent to Congress, but was abandoned because "we couldn't afford it."

A tax credit is subtracted from what the taxpayer owes. A deduction or exemption is subtracted from his income before taxes are calculated.

Poll says motorists prefer 55 m.p.h. limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most American motorists favor continuation of the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit, according to nine independent surveys analyzed by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Two of the surveys were national in scope and the others involved individual states: California, Georgia, Maryland, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico and New York.

The polls were conducted separately by local, state and national organizations, including newspapers, state highway patrols, highway safety departments and national independent research firms.

Results of the two national polls were almost identical, the safety administration reported today. A Gallup Poll showed 73 per cent in favor of the 55 mph limit and 21 per cent opposed. A safety administration Advertising Council poll registered 72 per cent for and 20 per cent opposed.

A state survey conducted by the New Hampshire Highway Safety Agency showed 87 per cent in favor and only 10 per cent against. A New York Daily News poll gave an 83 to 14 per cent edge to the speed limit in that state.

Even the least favorable survey, taken by the Nevada Office of Traffic Safety, showed 58 per cent favored the law, with 34 per cent opposed. Before Congress imposed the speed limit in 1973 to conserve fuel, Nevada had no speed limit except in incorporated areas.

The safety administration said analysis of the surveys showed support for the speed limit was widespread among all age groups, sexes, income levels and geographic locations.

ATC chief to be quizzed by aides

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. John Tower (R-Tex.) announced today two staff members will meet on Monday with Lt. Gen. John W. Roberts, commander of the Air Training Command at Randolph AFB near San Antonio, to discuss the current status of Air Force plans relating to Webb AFB in Big Spring.

The Air Force is expected to release, possibly next week, the final version of the Environmental Impact Statement on the proposed closure of two Air Training Command Bases, Webb AFB and Craig AFB, near Selma, Ala. Tower stated that William Bell, his assistant to the Senate Armed Services Committee, and Elbert Dawson, member of the Joint Committee on Defense Production, will discuss questions that remain concerning the proposed closing of Webb AFB.

"I made numerous comments on the Air Force's draft statement concerning Webb, both here in Washington, and at the public hearing held in Big Spring. I will, of course, want to carefully review the final version before making any comment on it, but there are some questions at this stage that I have asked my staff members to take up with Gen. Roberts," Tower said.

A comprehensive report on the Big Spring delegations' trip to Washington for conference with congressional and Pentagon officials concerning Webb AFB will be released in Sunday's edition of the Herald.

The four men into Big Spring party returned to West Texas Thursday night but their airplane was unable to land at Midland after almost touching the ground. Bad weather moved in and the aircraft was rerouted to Albuquerque. They are due in this afternoon.

Members of the Big Spring delegation are Mayor Wade Choate, R.H. Weaver, J. Tom Graham and Jim Gray.

The Big Springers' meeting Thursday in Washington with Deputy Defense Secretary Charles Duncan was arranged by Senator Lloyd Bentsen. Duncan pledged that he would make sure that there was an objective study of a proposal to close Webb.

Duncan, whose home is in Houston, is a longtime friend of Bentsen.

"Last March, the Department of the Air Force announced its proposal to close Webb. The previous year, Webb had been at the top in graduating pilots. Now, even though the Secretary of the Air Force (recently resigned Thomas Reed) had assured that no final decision has been made, there are job losses and Webb activities have already been reduced," Bentsen said, in a letter that was hand-carried to Duncan.

"Figures released by the Air Force show that Webb has cost less to operate than most of the other bases, while it has been one of the most productive in pilot training. Now the Department of the Air Force proposes to reward this efficiency by closing the base," the senator said.

"When one looks at the valid arguments, it can only be concluded that insufficient thought has been given and insufficient background gathered to make an accurate decision.

"The proposal to close Webb was a bad call and I hope that you will take a personal interest in this matter. If a

Mobile missile agreement would save

WASHINGTON (AP) — If President Carter reaches an agreement with the Russians not to deploy mobile missiles, it could save the United States up to $30 billion while neutralizing a worrisome new Soviet weapon.

The United States is in the early stages of developing a mobile long-range missile called the MX, with the bulk of the cost lying ahead. Current plans call for it to be combat ready in about seven years.

Strategists say a mobile missile that could be moved about on a launch vehicle would be less vulnerable to a Soviet nuclear attack than the current generation of land-based U.S. missiles.

Mystery man no-billed

RANKIN, Tex. (AP) — Upton County grand jurors no-billed, then thanked a deer hunter Thursday for shooting to death a man who had just killed a highway patrolman.

The shootings occurred last November, and the deer hunter's name has been kept a secret since then.

He watched Larry Ewers gun down Highway Patrolman Sammy Long on U.S. 67 in West Texas, then opened fire and killed Ewers from a roadside park across the highway.

The jury report said in part: "We, the duly acting and empaneled grand jury in and for Upton County, do on this date express our sincere thanks to the hunter for taking the action he took at such time and extend from the people of Upton County our sincere and unequivocal immunity from prosecution forever."

One juror said he wanted to shake the hunter's hand.

State District Judge Charles Sherill granted the request of Dist. Atty. Aubrey Edwards that evidence in the case be sealed to prevent disclosure of the hunter's name.

cost-saving must be realized within the Air Training Command, it can better be accomplished by actions other than the closing of this outstanding installation," Sen. Bentsen said.

Following his meeting with the Big Spring delegation, Duncan made his pledge to assure that the proposal to close Webb is given an objective study.

Action/reaction: Credit union stays

Q. What will happen to Webb Credit Union if Webb Air Force Base should close?

A. The credit union will remain here in Big Spring and be as active a credit union as it has always been, offering the same services for the many members who would remain. The credit union includes as members many other federal employees, city employees and others.

Offbeat: Undercover agents nab six

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Six employees of an Irving motel have been arrested by city police on charges of commercial obscenity.

The six work for The San Antonio Inn, a motel that features adult films in the rooms. St. Billy Davis said police also confiscated four untitled adult films and a video tape machine during the raid Thursday.

Police said the arrests resulted from a month-long investigation by undercover agents "assigned to the case since they started showing movies at the motel about five weeks ago."

The arrests came a little more than a month after the Irving City Council passed two ordinances regulating the showing of sexually explicit movies and the operation of bookstores offering sexual reading material.

The ordinances prohibit movies with sexually explicit material and adult bookstores from operating within 1,000 feet of churches, schools or residential areas.

Sgt. Davis said, however, that the raid was carried out under a state law concerning commercial obscenity.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — President Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed, India's 71-year-old figurehead chief of state, died of a heart attack today, bringing a temporary halt to the heated election campaign threatening Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. The government proclaimed a 13-day period of national mourning but announced that the election of a new lower house of Parliament would be held as scheduled on March 16.

Carter going home

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter flies home to Plains, Ga., today for the first time since his inauguration on Jan. 20. Press Secretary Jody Powell said the President would review major budget issues during his weekend stay. Carter continued his tour of government agencies on Thursday, speaking to employees at the Treasury and Housing and Urban Development departments. He said no one would be discharged or demoted because of his proposed government reorganization.

Assassination feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard A. Sprague, chief counsel of the House assassinations committee, said he would stay on the job despite an effort by Chairman Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., to fire him. Gonzalez, calling Sprague a "prima donna," ordered him to vacate his office by 5 p.m. Thursday. Sprague collected letters of support from the committee's 11 other members and refused to leave. With the House in recess and the committee not scheduled to meet until next Wednesday, no immediate break in the impasse was expected.

Hanke home burglarized

Sheriff A.N. Standard is investigating another burglary in the pattern of the northwest gang today. The burglary apparently took place between noon and 6 p.m. Thursday, when the thieves broke into the mobile home of Donald Hanke, Sterling City Rt., box 159K, while he and his wife were absent. Missing from the home was a CB radio, a 12-gauge shotgun, a .22-caliber Remington automatic rifle, a powermike, and a stereo.

Ice presents double dangers

By The Associated Press Unseasonably warm temperatures brought hibernating Easterners back into the outdoors and reopened hundreds of thousands of jobs, but also produced the first signs of what may be a season of floods.

Temperatures ranging from "unseasonably mild" to "warm" were forecast for today in the East and Midwest, which until the last few days had been locked in bitter cold and heavy snow. The good weather produced a touch of spring fever. In Atlanta, for example, where the temperature hit 63 Thursday, overcoats were turned into picnic blankets in Central City Park as residents crowded the grassy hills for lunch.

Concorde air service eyed

DALLAS (AP) — Federal approval is the final hurdle to be cleared before Concorde air service between Texas and Europe can begin. Braniff International, Air France and British Airways signed an agreement Thursday setting up Concorde service between Dallas-Fort Worth and both London and Paris on a six-times-a-week basis. Braniff would handle flights between Washington and London, while Air France would operate the Washington-Paris route.

Brother charged with murder

ODESSA — After Meron Leon Long, 20, Odessa, died in the emergency room of an Odessa hospital here Wednesday night as the result of stab wounds, his 25-year-old half brother was arrested and charged with first degree murder. Accused of wielding the murder weapon was William Harrison Adams, also of Odessa. Bond was set at $10,000.

The new shop will have 3,300 square feet of floor space and will contain all of the men's and women's locker rooms. The club itself will see the kitchen and bar area remodeled, with a private dining room situated near where the former locker rooms were.

Bare heads and open coats constituted an overreaction to temperatures that rose into the 40s, highest in weeks, in such cities as New York, Detroit and Chicago. But several parts of northern Illinois reported serious flooding on roadways, with standing water from melting snows deep enough to obstruct traffic.

In Buffalo, N.Y., one of the cities hardest hit by the winter storms, temperatures close to 50 were expected today. But the National Weather Service said there was little threat of flooding because there is so much snow on the ground that whatever amount melts will be absorbed by the snow below.

Nigeria's strongman favors pressure

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigeria's strongman, Lt. Gen. Obasanjo Obasanjo, says heavy pressure by the United States on the white Rhodesian regime is the only way to bring a peaceful transition to black rule. Obasanjo made the statement at a news conference Thursday following a three-hour meeting with touring Ambassador Andrew Young.

Young leaves for London today, winding up a 10-day visit to Tanzania, Kenya and Nigeria, where he talked with leaders from 16 African nations.

Obasanjo said that if the United States joined in a massive economic and diplomatic offensive against Rhodesia, "there is no doubt that with African leaders and African governments giving backing and support to Zimbabwe, we can jointly achieve our objectives."

He also expressed concern that Rhodesia and South-West Africa, or Namibia, might be destroyed by civil war unless black nationalists achieve peaceful settlements there. South-West Africa is governed by South Africa under an old League of Nations mandate in defiance of U.N. resolutions calling for independence.

The Carter administration opened a drive in Congress Thursday to repeal the 1971 Byrd Amendment, which allows American companies to import Rhodesian chrome in violation of United Nations sanctions.

Downpours pose flood threats

By The Associated Press: Soaking downpours posed flood threats in parts of Texas and bristling thunderstorms belabored others as wet weather wrapped most of the state in a springlike blanket today.

A flash flood watch covered the east part of South Texas, generally east of a line linking Austin and Victoria. As much as 2.03 inches of rain at College Station left parts of that section awash.

Scattered and often heavy thunderstorms mixed with light rain in the central into the west part of the state, booming through such areas as Dallas-Fort Worth, Austin and San Antonio.

At the same time dense fog cloaked many localities.

Textbooks hearing March 7

Big Spring school district is in the final stages of textbook adoption.

According to Lynn Hise, the following list of schoolbooks under consideration was mentioned: third grade bilingual, dictionaries, grade 7 and 8 spelling, high school math, science, journals, world history, French, bookkeeping, recordkeeping, shorthand, cosmetology, and aerospace aviation.

Sample copies of books being considered are available for any citizen to examine in the board meeting room at 708 11th Place.

"The concern and interest of parents and other citizens in the textbook adoption process is welcomed by the Texas Education Agency."

"Adoption," said a state release, "is a well-defined sequence of events which includes planning to meet curriculum needs, allocation of funds, professional and citizen review of materials, and final selection."

"Citizens who, as a result of their study, find any of the text material objectionable, may voice their concern at a series of two public hearings held in Austin. "School districts under current legislation are required to use textbooks adopted by the State Board of Education."

When the release refers to "textbooks" however, they may not mean exactly what they say. "A textbook may be the traditional collection of printed pages assembled between two covers. For bilingual and kindergarten classes, it may also be a 'teaching system' designed to meet the special needs of these pupils and their teachers. The 'teaching system' is a complete, integrated package of materials which may include audio and visual tapes, games, blocks and other paraphernalia in addition to books."

In his release, Hise points out that "a public hearing is scheduled for 4 p.m. March 7 in the board meeting room, at which time the Official Textbook Committee will present their recommendations for adoption. This is an open meeting and any citizen who wishes to do so may attend and shall be given an opportunity to express any opinion they might have regarding any

'No growth' philosophy harmful

The California boom is over. The West Coast giant is no longer booming or attracting people and business like it once did. It has gone from one of the most prosperous states to just another troubled one.

So says a recent article in Forbes magazine.

"CALIFORNIA HAD ITS DAY," the magazine says, "... and now it is the turn of other states in the Sunbelt, in the crescent sweeping from Florida westward through the South and Southwest, which still have the open space, the eager labor pools and the motivation with which to lure new business."

But Forbes notes that the maturity of the California economy is only partially to blame.

Another factor which has to be considered is the "no growth" philosophy and emphasis on environmental rigidity which California has adopted, and which is best summarized in the person of its youthful and attractive governor, Jerry Brown.

This philosophy was so attractive that it almost propelled Brown into national contention for the presidency, even late in the race.

But in California, there are signs that this philosophy is beginning to come under attack by a sluggish state economy which had unemployment at 9.4 per cent in 1976, considerably higher than the nation average.

While the gains from the Brown philosophy were immediate and easily apparent, the cost of it is now becoming apparent.

Brown could be in trouble with his re-election bid if the state economy does not improve.

THE AUTHOR of the Forbes article had a tough interview with Gov. Brown. When pressed, Brown admitted that the trade-offs between job and the environment were tough ones. He described it as a "chess game with very few moves."

Then Forbes asked if it wasn't a case of making the poor, many of them blacks and Latins, pay the price in unemployment for keeping Lake Tahoe a sparkling blue. The magazine reported:

"The question made Brown visibly edgy. Carefully choosing his words, he replied, 'Maybe we are too fastidious about the environment.'"

This is important to Big Spring and Texas because it demonstrates that being in the Sunbelt alone is not enough to keep the economic climate strong enough so jobs will be plentiful for our people.

Texas has a good economic climate right now. Big Spring has a good economic climate right now.

But we must be diligent in our efforts to keep it so.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Settling down

William F. Buckley, Jr.

SANTIAGO — There are two kinds of people who exercise power. One thinks of Colonel Papadopoulos on the one hand, and on the other, of his foreign secretary, Mr. Panayotis Pipinelis; the one proud, assertive, a little suspicious; the other studious, preoccupied with problems, problems, problems, gentle in manner, fatalistic.

IN CHILE, GENERAL Pinochet is archetypically the leader. His picture is now seen in every government office: standing erect, big-chested, penetrating eyes, the faintest glint of suspicion there, coordinating with the slightly arched, lightly traced moustache; regal, is another way to put it. His minister of Justice, Miguel Schweitzer, is scholarly, dulcet in speech, manifestly concerned with his explosive portfolio; anxious to persuade, but long in the knowledge that you do your best to persuade, and after that it is in the hands of a jury; for 40 years, he had been involved with criminal law, as a lawyer, and criminologist. He spends half his time extirpating organized Allendist resistance, the other half persuading visitors to Chile that he does not preside over a Latin American Gulag.

One of the difficulties, he will tell you, is that it is very hard to get anyone to believe you. "They" will believe anybody, before they believe you. He cites an example. Not long ago, an American senator (he named him), with whom he had had a professional relationship, asked him as a personal favor to look into the fate of one Alberto R. (we'll call him). Schweitzer dug deeply into the records of his own government, establishing that Alberto had been deported to Argentina on a certain date. He requested of the Argentine government the record of his arrival there and in due course got word that indeed he had landed aboard the specified aircraft, went through immigration, and that there was no further record of him.

Schweitzer carefully reproduced all the documents, and sent them to the senator: who replied that a recent refugee from Chile reported that he had been Alberto only one month earlier at a designated prison in the Buenos Aires area. Astonished, Schweitzer ordered the records of that prison examined, and learned that Alberto had never been there at all, let alone one month earlier. He sent the report of that investigation to the American senator — who wrote back that, unfortunately, he could not believe his old Chilean friend. Schweitzer shrugged his shoulders. "What can one do under the circumstances?"

HE SPOKE OF traveling late in the evening — "after midnight. With my experience in criminology, that is when the dirty work is usually done" — with a Red Cross representative to a prison alleged to be a center of Chilean brutality. The accusation, specifically, charged that mattress springs had been wired in order to torture prisoners. A diligent search turned up no such paraphernalia, and no barbarous conditions in the prison.

ASKED WHETHER THE Chilean press was permitted to report on alleged Chilean torture, he cited that morning's paper, reproducing allegations of Luis Corvalan, recently released from Chile in exchange for the release of Bukovsky.

Infection may be cause of kidney stones

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A urologist told me I have staghorn stones in my kidneys. I have been having bladder infection for a number of years and no one ever found out before that this was caused by kidney stones.

My doctor told me he will try to control them with antibiotics, but that I may have to have surgery to remove one of my kidneys. He did not put me on a special diet, and I thought diet had something to do with stones.

I never had any symptoms, such as backache, etc. The doctor was really surprised to find the stones. I am 55 years old and never had any kidney ailments before my menopause. I also have had a hysterectomy. Does either of these things have anything to do with my stones? — Mrs. G.D.R.

A staghorn stone is a large irregularly shaped one that fills the entire urine-collecting chamber of the kidney. Often, the only symptoms of such stones are repeated infections. You admit that you have been bothered with bladder infection over the years. Stones can either cause infection or be the result of infection. Neither your hysterectomy nor your menopause has any bearing on this.

Usually stones are not discovered unless continuing colic or infection prompts X-rays. You can have stones a long while without knowing they are there. It is a long process, sometimes involving diet, sometimes not. If diet was at fault in your case, altering it now would not have any effect.

With staghorn stones, surgery is usually necessary because of their size. If they are not removed the kidney will continue to degenerate. Kidney removal is a serious matter, and I cannot comment specifically on your case, except to say this is always worth a second opinion.

Stones form because of an excess of either calcium or uric acid in the urine. It's a matter of how well the body utilizes these materials. Hyperparathyroidism (overactivity of that gland) is sometimes a factor in the forming of calcium stones. Have your doctor advise you as to water intake. He may want you to be getting more of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would really like to know the definition of "arteriosclerosis." I spent some time in the hospital recently. The doctor told me I had this. I was afraid to ask him what it meant, but now I want to know. I was in the hospital recovering from a bad fall off a ladder. I am 69 — Mrs. H.O.

It means hardening of the arteries, the vessels that carry blood to nourish the body tissues. By 69, we can all expect some degree of this to have occurred. Often, older persons may see the word on a medical report and panic. If your doctor mentioned it to you personally, he probably meant there was more hardening than is to be expected. In that case, you should now be wary of things like your blood pressure and see that you are getting sufficient exercise to keep the arteries as supple as possible. Everyone gets arteriosclerosis.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I love potatoes and am on a low-calorie diet. Just what is the difference between having a potato now and then as a substitute, for, say, an apple? — Miss D.W.

The difference is not really very great — depending on how the potato is prepared. It's what we do to potatoes that makes them treacherous fare for reducers.

A medium-sized potato (three to the pound) peeled and boiled has about 80 calories. The same size apple (raw) contains about 70 calories. The carbohydrate level of each is about the same (18 grams).

It's when you add the butter or gravy, or the fats in frying, that the potato becomes fattening.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In your reply to a question from a reader complain-

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Please tell me how to discover what spiritual gift God has given me, if any? — Mrs. L.S.

DEAR MRS. S.: One of the thrilling truths of the Bible is that all believers in Jesus Christ have been given at least one spiritual gift. God has given these various gifts so that believers might help build each other up in the Lord. "As each one has received a special gift, employ it in serving one another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God" (I Peter 4:10, New American Standard Version).

The first step in discovering your spiritual gifts is to believe that you have been given a gift, and that God wants you to use it for His glory. You should also ask God in prayer to show you what your gifts are. But remember, if you ask Him to show you your gifts, you must be willing to use them in the way God wants you to use them. I don't believe God will reveal them fully to us if we are unwilling to follow His will in their use.

ing of vaginal itching, you did not mention that this is an important indication of an active case of diabetes. Your column is a good one, and pertinent to everyday life for most of us. Keep up the good work. — Miss M.C.

I certainly should have mentioned the diabetes possibility. A slip.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We have a question regarding milk. Both my husband and I are up in years — 79 and 81. We use a lot of milk, both in cooking and baking, also as a beverage. We have inquired about it and they tell us it's okay without saying how much is adequate. Can drinking too much milk cause hardening of the arteries? — Mrs. N.A.

At your ages there is no harm in drinking as much milk as you want to. The average adult consumes about eight to 16 ounces of milk a day. Most older persons don't get that much. It's a good protein food at any age.

Hardening of the arteries is an aging process that may or may not be related to diet. Both of you undoubtedly have a few "pipstem" arteries that are serving you tolerably well. There is some thought that low-fat milk should be used in children and persons with a cholesterol problem, but that would not apply to you at your age.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in this column whenever possible.

Next you should study what the Bible has to say about spiritual gifts. In Romans 12, I Corinthians 12 and Ephesians 4 a number of gifts are listed. Altogether there are over a dozen gifts mentioned in Scripture. Some have to do with special ministries, such as teaching or evangelism. Some involve leadership, such as administration. Some include helping others, such as listening, encouraging, preparing a meal or baby-sitting for a tired mother. Some emphasize special abilities, such as music or craftsmanship.

You will need to look at your own interests and experiences. Are there special abilities you know you have because you have used them successfully before? Have others told you they think you have particular strong points?

Remember the Bible says, "By love serve one another." This may be included under the gift of helps. If so, the command implies that we all have this gift. Let's make sure we use it.

Layer of absurdity

Around the rim

Bob Burton

Larry Flynt said it. "This court has not made an intelligent decision during the entire proceedings, and I don't expect one now."

Flynt was convicted Wednesday of organized crime and obscenity in my home town, Cincinnati, for his magazine Hustler. In the process, my city has embarrassed me.

THE OLD axiom runs, "You can't legislate morality." The First Amendment says, "Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." And yet this conviction adds another layer of absurdity onto the legal melting pot of public morality. Past victims of this idiosyncrasy include James Joyce, D.H. Lawrence, Ralph Ginzberg and Harry Reems.

Morality, or obscenity, is obviously a localized thing. What was inexcusable in 1930 is normal today. What is passe in New York would curl some toes here in Big Spring. So how can anyone prosecute a national publication locally?

Well, it's been done. One New York publisher went on trial in Kansas. His magazine sold several hundred thousand copies, of which three went to Kansas. All were mailed subscriptions, all were asked for. But he was fined for violating community standards.

Flynt was sentenced to 25 years "for organized crime" which in Ohio is defined as "more than five people in an illegal activity for profit."

Apparently, in Cincinnati people are willing to believe that Flynt's magazine was obscene before it was labeled as such by the court.

One juror said, "magazines like that shouldn't be around, younger kids can get hold of them and I wouldn't want my children to read that."

Sure. But we can't legislate a world limited to things which are "approved safe" for children. Automobiles, alcohol, firearms, cigarettes, movies, and betting are among the privileges of age, and while there are groups against each of the above, their arguments are based on intrinsic values, not on the threat these things present to our children. I think children are best left to parental responsibility, not the D.A.'s office.

Frightened perfumers

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The corporate giants who dominate the billion-dollar-a-year perfume industry couldn't stand the smell of a little competition.

They quietly put the squeeze on a small businessman who succeeded in duplicating their expensive perfumes and selling them at cut-rate prices. The cosmetics tycoons pressured suppliers not to provide him with perfume and urged newspapers not to run his ads.

THE CONSPIRACY AGAINST Murray Poznak can be documented directly from conversations which he secretly recorded. We have listened to the tape recordings.

The enterprising Poznak thought he had a million-dollar idea. He would duplicate the fragrances of famous perfumes and offer them to low-budget customers.

It was all quite legal. It would also have been quite profitable if the big perfume companies had left him alone. Poznak began to advertise brazenly: "We want Chanel No. 5 customers." Then he bottled a delicate fragrance similar to Chanel No. 5 and labeled the substitute "Copy Cat."

An ounce of Chanel No. 5 costs $40, but Poznak offered the same aroma for $16. Moreover, Poznak perfumes were as fragrant and lasted as long as the famous brands.

As sales began to escalate, Poznak suddenly had trouble getting supplies. Commitments were abruptly cancelled. A salesman for one large perfume maker, the Givaudan Corporation, told Poznak bluntly: "I'm sorry, but the pressure is too great, and the company does not want to supply you."

Frustrated, Poznak arranged a meeting with Givaudan's president, Norman Grief, who reiterated the new policy. "I am afraid," said Grief, "that if it became known that we were supplying fragrances to your company... it could hurt us. I have talked to two people, both presidents of large fragrances and cosmetics companies... and both of them told me that it would probably hurt the relationship that we have."

"Which companies were they?" demanded Poznak.

"Revlon and Chanel," replied Grief. "They both were extremely concerned about the obvious impact that your business will have on them." He said other perfume companies, whose business was worth millions to him, had also pressured him not to supply Poznak's company, Sherrill Perfumers.

THE AGGRESSIVE POZNAK, posing as a perfume supplier, called the perfumers' trade association, Fragrance Foundation. A hidden tape recorder picked up his conversation with Annette Green, a

THE ACLU said, "Those involved in the prosecution and the judicial process not only have made Cincinnati a laughing stock but actively chilled the exercise of constitutional rights throughout the nation." I agree. And I find one of the chief offenders was the Cincinnati Post. The Post's advertising director refused to handle an ad which attacked censorship, and closed with the question, "Isn't it better to defend his (Flynt's) right to print than to let the government decide what you have the right to read?" Yes, a thousand times. If I don't like Hustler, I don't have to read it, or look at it, and that's a decision I want to make myself. The Post sold itself down the river by refusing an ad, and by doing so, taking a position far more biased than running the ad would have been.

"Moral boundaries have been established in this county and this country which will put limits on how far smut peddlers will be allowed to go," said prosecutor Simon Leis Jr. "Murder is a crime. Writing about it isn't. Sex isn't a crime. Writing about it is. Why?" said Flynt.

Several other facts are significant in the pornography debate. One is that there is no study, no proof, that pornography in any way leads to crime. The person who reads any of the porn books is not necessarily a criminal. The books, or movies, do not necessarily drive people to commit crime.

THE SECOND is that I feel, in effect, that moral standards are self-enforcing. If there is no market for something, it can't continue to exist. Hustler has a circulation rate of 1,448,000. How does "1,448,000 people can't be wrong!" sound.

Finally, I do believe that such stuff should not be forced on an individual. Glaring marquee and window magazine displays can offend people and should be prosecuted as such. But if people want to see or read something, and in the process no one is libeled, or hurt, or injured in any way, then I say more power to them.

Cincinnati, which I always knew was conservative, has this time shown itself to be just plain dumb.

foundation official. The undercover Poznak asked her whether he should fill an order for Sherrill Perfumers. Green advised against it. "You're just one of a number that have called," she said, "and the general feeling is, no, we shouldn't cooperate with them." But she added cautiously: "Legally we have to be very careful."

She explained how the leading perfumers felt about the sudden appearance of Copy Cat on the market. "You start selling famous fragrances for $5 or $6, copies of them... I mean it's just the law of diminishing returns."

Copy Cat was also frozen out of some of the nation's top newspapers and magazines. Off the record, the add salesmen told Poznak that their publications were under tremendous pressure. As one salesman put it, "What do you think I am, crazy? I am not going to jeopardize my Chanel advertising and others by accepting yours."

SEN. GAYLORD NELSON, D-Wis., who has been investigating the anti-competitive practices of the perfume industry, has turned the case over to the Federal Trade Commission. Meanwhile Poznak has been put out of business, and the big companies are continuing to charge top dollar for their perfumes. The threat of Poznak's cheaper imitations has been eliminated.

Yet the FTC, we have learned, has dropped the investigation. A confidential FTC memo cites an explanation from Norman Grief that he "had not wished to be so blunt with Mr. Poznak and, therefore, had responded with the story of competitor pressure."

In other words, the FTC accepted Grief's attempt to explain away the damage, taped statements. The FTC didn't even ask him why, if he was under no pressure, he had refused to supply Poznak. One investigator told our associate, Howie Kurtz, that he had seen "antitrust cases brought on one fraction of the evidence we have here."

Footnote: The frustrated Poznak, unable to get action from the government, has brought civil suits against several major perfume companies. Because the suit is still pending, none of the parties involved would talk to us about the matter.

WATCH ON WASTE — The Veterans Administration can no longer cope with the paperwork of distributing $14 billion in checks to veterans each year. So the beleaguered bureaucrats have asked for $94 million to set up a computer system to help process the checks.

The fancy, five-city computer system, called Target, is already off target. The projected cost, for example, has jumped from $50 million to $94 million.

Metal worker sees again

A retired sheet metal worker decided he still liked to work with metal and after his retirement began to make miniature windmills and oil rigs.

"I couldn't believe there was such a demand for them," Jack Turney said here this week. "People want windmills that are eight feet tall and eight inches tall. But there are a lot of people who like them."

Turney and his wife, Lucille, have lived in and around Big Spring off and on since 1929. Lucille was Lucille Ammons, whose father, Irvin, was a car salesman and ran a little cafe called Leonards in Lamesa years ago. "I remember the five cent hamburgers," Lucille stated wistfully.

Turney came to Big Spring in the '40s to work at the Bombardier School. He also worked around Lamesa for many years in the sheet metal business.

He recalls that his father was a photographer around Quannah at one time. They also lived in San Angelo for a while where he worked at Goodfellow.

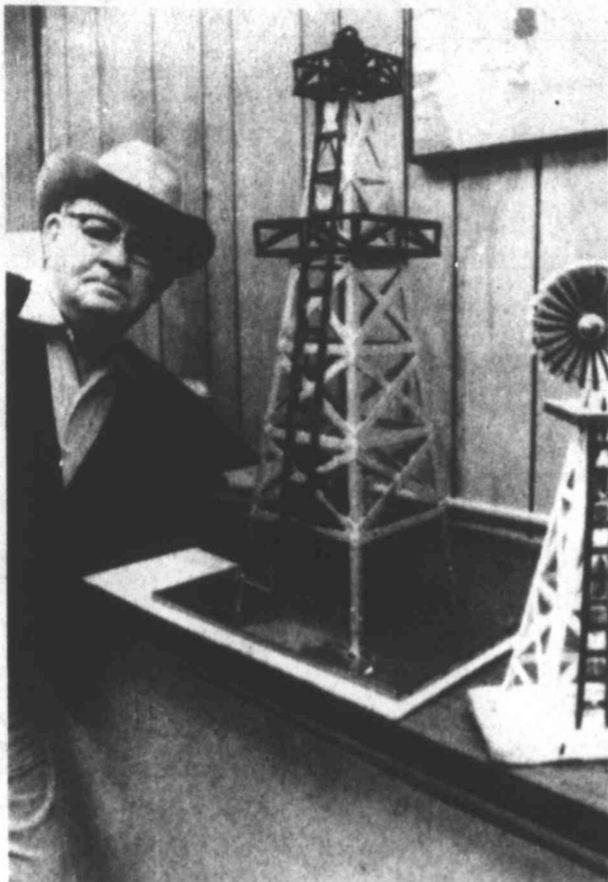

"I had to retire early out at Webb in 1956-57 because I went blind," Turney recalls.

He said that later, a local physician removed cataracts from his eyes and "I could see again." Turney added, "Boy, you don't really appreciate your sight until you have lost it and gotten it back. I just never have had enough accolades for this local doctor."

In recent years, Turney has operated a Fix-It Shop at 1000 E. 12th. "I'll try to fix anything that's broken," Turney stated.

"I sharpen saws, scissors and knives. I will try to repair any item," he added.

"After the gout and arthritis began to slow me down I really started enjoying building these little oil rigs. I put an electric motor in the last one for fun so that

Back in the days when he went blind, he immediately blamed the welding torch. "I got angry and sold all of my tools."

"Then when I finally got around to listening to the doctor and had the operation, I could see again and realized that the doctor was right. He told me a lot of people had cataracts that were never near welding apparatus."

"So I bought all my tools back and started welding and working with sheet metal again."

Liability insurance hearing set Feb. 22

State Rep. R.E. (Gene) Green, D.-Houston, has announced that a hearing will be held in the State Capitol in Austin on Tuesday, Feb. 22 at 7:30 p.m., to consider passage of a law requiring all Texas motorists to carry liability insurance. The bill will be heard by the Texas House of Representatives Insurance Committee.

Department of Public Safety statistics show that uninsured drivers are involved in 65 per cent of all serious accidents in Texas, an average of 433 per day," stated Representative Green. Green noted that the victims of uninsured drivers are usually left with the burden of paying their own family's funeral, hospital and car repair expenses with no way to force the uninsured driver to repay them.

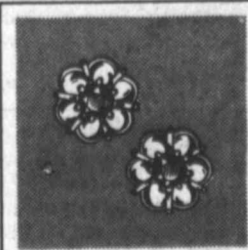

Several bills have been introduced on the subject of mandatory auto liability insurance. House Bill 31, by Representative Green, would require the listing of the insurance company's name and policy number of the certificate and the issuance of identification cards by insurance companies. Persons involved in accidents while uninsured would face immediate suspension of driving privileges and a fine for being in violation of the proposed law.

Green urged Texas who have an opinion on the mandatory liability insurance issue to contact their representatives and senators.

Carter's rebate plan lauded

The Herald's offer to serve as a sort of clearing house for citizens who would help President Carter with ideas to stimulate economic growth and improve the quality of life is beginning to snowball.

If enough enthusiasm is manifested, the Herald will include all the suggestions in a special section of the newspaper which, in turn, will be forwarded to the White House for review by Mr. Carter and his staff.

One of the most recent contributors was Gladys Sudberry of 1416 Lancaster, who not only applauded the President's plan for giving tax payers a rebate but suggested a sizeable reduction in taxes for both the middle and lower income groups.

Ms. Sudberry doesn't like the idea of "wasting" tax dollars by increasing the pay of Congressional leaders and (Vice-President) Walter Mondale "because they have their living made while the poor and middle class have to live on food stamps and welfare."

Ms. Sudberry also would like to see single persons and widows draw social security before the age of 62 and to be able to declare themselves as heads of households on income tax returns. "Our retirement should be tax exempted," writes Ms. Sudberry.

W.L. (Bill) Albright, new manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, recommended that Mr. Carter start a vigorous program to promote free or private enterprise with a minimum of government regulation and interference. "We are simply overwhelmed with bureaucratic inefficiencies and pettiness," says Albright.

Albright also reminded that government cannot survive when it continues to spend more than it acquires in taxes and petitioned the President to use his office to "steer us away from socialism and back to the American Way" of free enterprise in a free society.

City councilman Ralph McLaughlin wrote: "Isn't it strange that since the oil depletion allowance was removed and natural gas became a "regulated" item that there have been shortages in those commodities?"

"Could it be that the free enterprise system might once again be prevailed upon to provide the nation's needs? Would it not be reasonable to restore the same tax advantage to those who provide oil and gas as to those other producers of depletable natural resources since the latter do not suffer obvious shortages?"

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Cline of 1500 Tucson appealed to the President to help keep religion free in this country.

Dr. Gale Kilgore questions the wisdom of the Congressmen voting themselves a pay raise and paying the President himself $200,000 a year (a pay level determined, of course, long before the incumbent took office).

Kilgore reasons the President could set a good example by cutting his own salary in half, pointing out, in effect, that Big Spring will be in a similar situation when and if Webb AFB is shuttered.

Kilgore would also place more emphasis on cancer research, thinks problems in flood-prone areas could be alleviated if the excess water were piped into West Texas.

Mrs. Gladys Cline of 502 Douglas Street reminded the President she is "praying you will help the nation keep free religion." Bill Black of 1526 E. 17th St., wrote:

"What could be the logic for the continuation of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration when the billions of dollars required for compliance, dollars that have been added to the raging fire of inflation and eventually paid for by the consumer, have not reduced industrial accidents 1-100th of a percentage point?"

Those who would like to offer help to the President can write their letters in care of Suggestions for the President, c-o Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring 79720. The ideas will be collected through Feb. 17 and will likely appear in comprehensive form in the newspaper around Feb. 20.

'Roots' son teaches GIs

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — Sgt. William Alexander

Haley teaches young soldiers the history of minority groups, but he refuses to use his father's famous book.

"Roots" leaves me with personal feelings that deal with my family. I wouldn't want to convey these feelings in class," the son of Alex Haley said in an interview Thursday.

Still, for William Haley there's no escaping the impact of "Roots," which is the nation's best-selling book and history's most-watched television program traced the Haley family tree back to pre-slavery days in Africa.

"I walk down the hall and I hear people saying, 'That's the son of Roots,' and I just laugh," Haley said.

"They just can't believe that the author of 'Roots' has a son who has chosen the Army as a career," said Haley, 31, whose classes are conducted at the military base here.

Woman frigid for 1,600 years

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — The frozen remains of an Eskimo woman who lived 1,600 years ago show that air pollution was a problem even then.

"She definitely had severe black lung," said George S. Smith, a National Park Service anthropologist. Black lung, caused by inhalation of coal dust, is common among miners.

Smith said the woman, who apparently died in a landslide or earthquake, probably acquired the lung condition by inhaling fumes that accumulated in constricted living quarters from lamps that burned seal oil or whale blubber.

He said the remains found on St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea — the oldest human body ever found in Alaska — also indicated that the woman suffered from coronary atherosclerosis and emphysema.

But there was no evidence of tuberculosis, a disease that has been prevalent among Eskimos since their association with the white man.

"We were hoping there would be some indication of diseases that still afflict Eskimos," said Zorro A. Bradley, a research anthropologist with the park service. "But there was not."

Dr. Michael Zimmerman of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, who did an autopsy, said he found the internal organs "remarkably well preserved," indicating that the body was frozen immediately after the woman died.

Three Eskimo brothers from Savoonga — Ray, Gabriel and Bradley Gologergen — found the body, partially exposed, in October 1972. They reburied it in the permafrost, then told Bradley of their find.

The body was exhumed, shipped to the University of

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT

Write your suggestion to President Carter. Let him hear from Big Spring.

As our new president, Jimmy Carter, begins his term, he has asked the American people to give him ideas and suggestions, questions or comments about this country and its government.

The Herald thinks the president should get many comments and suggestions from people in Big Spring, since our town is much affected by what happens in Washington.

Here is our chance to send input directly into the White House. A special section of the Big Spring Herald on Sunday, Feb. 20, will contain as many ideas and questions for President Carter as this newspaper can gather from the Big Spring area. Copies of the section will go directly to the White House and President Carter.

Here's how to participate. Just sit down and write a letter to President Carter on any subject that might be of interest to our government. Begin it, "Dear Mr. President." Be sure to include your name and address. Then mail it to:

Suggestions for the President Dept.
Big Spring Herald

India's President Ahmed dies

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — President Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed, India's figurehead chief of state, died of a heart attack today, bringing a temporary halt to the heated election campaign threatening Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

The government proclaimed a 13-day period of national mourning but announced that the election of a new lower house of Parliament would be held as scheduled on March 16. Mrs. Gandhi and her foes united in paying their respects to the 71-year-old Moslem who was elected India's fifth president in 1974.

Vice President B.D. Jatti was sworn in by the chief justice as acting president. A new president will be elected for a full five-year term by the new parliament and the state legislatures, a process the constitution says must be carried out within six months. Flags flew at half staff, government offices and some private businesses closed, and thousands went to the presidential palace after Ahmed's death was announced. Many wept as they waited outside to view the body, which will lie in state until burial Sunday.

Ahmed had had a heart ailment for many years and cut short a state visit to Southeast Asia last week because of illness. He collapsed in his bathroom about 6 a.m. and succumbed later to a massive heart attack at the red sandstone palace where the British viceroys lived before independence in 1947.

Mrs. Gandhi, who brought

Ahmed into her cabinet when she became prime minister in 1966, looked distraught and tired as she emerged from the presidential palace. She was at Ahmed's bedside with his wife, Abida, and the president of the ruling Congress party, D.K. Borooah, when he died.

In a message to the president's family and the nation, Mrs. Gandhi hailed him as "a great Indian, a great gentleman and a great Moslem who represented the best in our tradition, a man of humanity, culture and humility."

The Indian president's functions are largely ceremonial, although he is the titular commander of the armed forces and is empowered by the constitution to appoint the prime minister. But a constitutional amendment passed last year requires him to follow the advice and orders of the prime minister's cabinet.

In addition to his wife, Ahmed is survived by two sons and a daughter, and all three were abroad when he died. His elder son, Dr. Parvez Ahmed, is doing medical research in New York City. The younger son, Badar Dureez Ahmed, is a student at Cambridge, in England. The president's office said the daughter, Samina Khan, was also in the United States on a visit. All were informed of their father's death.

Church leaders seek protection

NEW YORK (AP) — United Church of Christ leaders appealed to federal and Texas authorities Thursday for protection of a new black congregation in Port Arthur, Tex., following repeated threats and fire damage to it.

Denominational executives said local officials there have refused to investigate the incidents or act to assure safety of the new congregation of blacks, scheduled to be dedicated this Sunday.

A note pinned to the church door Tuesday threatened to bomb it unless its leaders left town. Earlier, on Jan. 22, a fire of suspicious origin gutted the church's temporary headquarters, the denomination said.

Its national leaders, at a meeting in Winter Park, Fla., sent a plea to the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Justice Department to intervene to protect the church.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph H.

Evans, president of the 2 million-member denomination, also urged Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Port Arthur Mayor Bernis Saddler to get state and local officers to protect the congregation.

"We have reason to believe that the fire ... was deliberately set to harass this congregation," the message said, also citing threats by telephone and in the note pinned to the church.

Its congregation has been involved in a black voter registration drive there.

The new church, led by the Rev. William Land, had experienced considerable difficulty in obtaining a building.

Denominational officials said it first attempted to buy the vacated Central Baptist Church, but this was turned down, and subsequently that building was sold to the city at a price reportedly less than offered by the black congregation.

Ex-airlines employe fired for aiding FBI?

HOUSTON (AP) — A former American Airlines employe, claiming he was fired for cooperating in an FBI probe, has sued the airlines for $11.5 million.

David Brandon, 31, of Houston claimed in the state suit filed Thursday he was fired for cooperating with the FBI in an investigation of alleged wrongdoings in the airlines' office in San Juan, Puerto Rico in 1975.

The suit alleges Brandon, a former manager of grounds and facilities in San Juan, was asked by the airlines' security chief to help clear up the alleged wrongdoings.

The suit said Brandon came into possession of an All-state band members

Paul Ruiz and Gilbert Chavez, two members of the Big Spring Band at the Texas Music Educators Association Convention in San Antonio, held this week. Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Chavez, holds second chair in the first band. Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ruiz, holds sixth chair in the first band. Both have participated in competition on regional, pre-area and area levels to achieve this goal.

Pinewood Derby champs

Cut Scout Pack 136 of Sand Springs held its annual Pinewood Derby recently. Each Scout carved, whittled, sanded and painted his own car with a little help from his dad. There were 19 entries and all cars met specifications.

Winners were Scott Warneke, first; Scott Earnest, second; and Mike Owens, third. Awards were also given to Jody Reid, prettiest car; Jeff Todd, most modern car; Darrell Aberegg, most original car; and Tommy Burgess, best designed car.

A number of Webelos Badges were awarded at the monthly meeting: Larry Sharp, Naturalist and Citizen Badges; Mike Owens, Aquanaut and Outdoorsman Badges; Rusty Lewis Naturalist and Citizen Badges; and George Bodin, Citizen and Aquanaut Badges.

Rodger Stafford and Lawrence Witkowski received achievement badges and colors.

bank statement that indicated 'a payoff' to one of American's managers from an outside source.

A short time later, the suit contended, the FBI in San Juan asked Brandon to help it investigate the airlines' operations in San Juan. Brandon said in the suit he was fired Jan. 19, 1976 after repeated threats by his supervisors he would be fired if he continued to cooperate with the FBI.

A spokesman for the airlines here said the firm had not seen the suit and could not comment.

Dance to aid burns victim

Proceeds from a dance scheduled Feb. 19 in the Howard County Fair Barn will go to a fund benefitting Monica Martinez, who is confined to a Galveston hospital suffering from burns sustained in a fire. Manuel Lemon is sponsor of the event.

Music will be furnished by the Conjunto Los Navegamtes Band of Sweetwater. Dancing will get under way at 8 p.m., and continue until 1 a.m.

Free movies at library

Howard County Library will feature three films in a free program beginning at 1:30 p.m., Saturday.

The first color film, "Coyote Country," explores the world of an American female coyote as she finds a den, gives birth to four pups, and then teaches them how to hunt.

Next, "Seven Little Ducks" focuses on a six-year-old child as she takes care of her pets — a good film about bird study.

Charlie Chaplin concludes the program in a Keystone comedy, "Those Lovely Pangs," which was produced in 1914.

Clean water to cost $96 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — It probably will take 15 years and $96 billion to clean up waste from municipal water treatment plants, the government says, but much progress has been made. "We have made very genuine progress toward clean water in this country," said John R. Quarles Jr., deputy administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. "Fish are returning to streams. The stench of water has been abated. Rivers and beaches that were closed to swimming have been reopened. Progress is being made in the fight against water pollution."

Quarles made public Thursday a report his agency sent to Congress revising substantially downward an estimate made in 1974 that it would cost $151 billion to achieve reasonably clean water.

He said the new estimate is based on more sophisticated estimates than the ones available earlier when the nation was just becoming conscious of the water pollution problem.

In the meantime, the agency says, about $28 billion has been committed to construction by federal, state and local sources, meaning the total bill will be about $124 billion.

The figures cover only municipal plants, which EPA says are the major source of water pollutants. The costs of alleviating industrial wastes are not included.

The agency distributed a summary of some major accomplishments toward cleaning up pollution, listing:

—The Mohawk River running through the heavily industrialized Utica-Rome area of New York, now has 75 per cent of its industrial waste water treated. "Largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, perch, sunfish and even trout have returned to waters they were once forced to leave."

Susquehanna upward from Binghamton, N.Y., "such fish as walleyed pike, smallmouth bass and muskellunge are back in numbers. That stretch of the Susquehanna, once mired in pollution, is again taking on the characteristics of a healthy river."

—West Virginia's Kanawha River, still far from clean, has seen a return of fish and fish food organisms.

—Lake Erie, regarded 20 years ago as a dead inland sea and the most tragic case of pollution in the nation, is showing improvement. "Aircraft pilots began to notice that the sheets of shimmering green algae were receding."

Spelling Bee lures students of Coahoma

For the first time in many years, both Coahoma Junior High and Coahoma Elementary will enter their students in the Howard County Spelling Bee, an annual contest staged at the county fairgrounds, Tuesday, Feb. 14, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Spelling Bee participants are assured a prize of $100, since the 1976-77 contest, in which the local tournament was held at the Howard County Fairgrounds in Coahoma, starting at 12:30 p.m. on Monday, April 16.

Spelling Bee participants in all schools will determine champions and alternates. Spelling books can be purchased at a cost of 35 cents either at the various schools or at the fair.

Bonds selling in Howard

November sales of Series B and H United States National Bonds in Howard County were reported today by County Bond Chairman Jimmy Taylor. Sales for the eleven month period totaled $25,000, or 100 per cent of the 1976 sales goal of $25,000.

Taylor said during the month amounted to $22,500, while sales for the first eleven months of 1976 totaled $254,807,405 with 94 per cent of the yearly sales goal of $272.4 million achieved.

policies when it meets Monday.

Other items include: a request for the Boydston PTA for air conditioning, discussion on the upcoming trustee election, employment recommendations and the superintendent's report.

The upcoming election will see the positions of trustees Delbert Donelson, Bobby Fuller, and Al Valdes up for election. Donelson and Fuller have been members of the board since late '76 when they were appointed to serve out the remaining terms of Jerry Jenkins and Tom Fellers.

According to the superintendent's office, filing to run for the positions may take place through March 2 at the business office of the school district. Absentee voting will be March 14 through 29 at the county clerk's office. The election itself will be April 2.

NOMINATED FOR AWARDS — Sylvester Stallone, left, and Talia Shire are shown in a scene from the motion picture "Rocky". The two were nominated Thursday by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for best actor and best actress. "Rocky" is the story of an average club fighter who gets an unexpected chance for a world championship fight.

Men," which placed third in nominations with eight; "Bound for Glory," which copped six nominations, and "Taxi Driver."

But "Rocky," whose behind-the-scenes story is as compelling as the one it tells on the screen, was the big choice for Cinderella Story of the Year.

"Sylvester came to us and told us he was a writer," said Irwin Winkler, who along with Robert Chartoff, produced "Rocky." "We stared at him in disbelief ... he doesn't look like a William Shakespeare."

Several other producers offered as much as $250,000 for the "Rocky" script, but Stallone insisted that he be part of the deal or there was no deal at all. "He had $130 to his name and a pregnant wife on his hands," Winkler said. "We told him we'd take a gamble on him if he'd work for scale and a piece (10 per cent) of the movie. It was the wisest decision any of us ever made."

"His story proves the point of the movie — if you believe in yourself and take a shot, it could work out good for you."

"Rocky" was made for $1 million. Dino De Laurentiis' "King Kong," which cost $24 million to make, was nominated for two Oscars, for cinematography and sound.

Bright child, proud father

MANCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — Ann Marie Green's parents know their daughter is intelligent. But even they were stunned when she was awarded a doctorate degree in arts from the University of Michigan.

Ann Marie is 5. The degree came in the mail this week. But it was intended for another Ann Marie Green who lives in a rural area north of here, U-M officials said. Manchester Postmaster Marvin Kirk said the transcript was delivered by mistake.

"I'm a very proud father and when we received the transcript I was very pleased that the University of Michigan recognized the outstanding education program we have and the brilliant children we have in Manchester kindergarten classes," said William Green, Ann Marie's father. Green is superintendent of Manchester schools.

Mom calls draft evader courageous

HOUSTON (AP) — For six years, Margaret Romeike lived in fear her son Sidney would be found and placed in jail.

"The worry, the anxiety, the unknown was something I carried day after day and year after year," she said.

Sidney Romeike was a draft evader.

He left his Houston home at the age of 19, one year after graduation from high school, moved to an Eastern city and took an assumed name.

When President Carter issued the pardon for draft evaders, Mrs. Romeike said, "I was so thrilled, so happy, and it was a big, big burden thrown away. I go around now in a jubilant spirit, so jubilant that perhaps I act a little silly."

Mrs. Romeike, in a recent interview, said her son opposed the U.S. foreign policy in Vietnam and was the type of boy "who was non-violent, who wouldn't hurt someone even if he was assaulted."

Sidney, now 25, is a karate instructor in a city Mrs. Romeike refuses to name.

When he son first mentioned "he was going to evade the draft, I sat down with him and discussed other possibilities. He thought I was against him, but I was thinking only of his safety and the horror of having to be jailed," she said.

"He insisted he knew what he wanted and then he left. As the war progressed, I understood more and more why he had gone. His sister and I sent him money to go to Canada, but he never went. He stayed in the United States with an assumed name and a new Social Security card," she related.

Mrs. Romeike said during the first few years the FBI was very diligent. "They came to our house regularly. They went to my daughter's office. Then the visits stopped and the agents would only telephone us now and then asking if we had heard from Sidney. Of course, we said we hadn't."

The Houston mother said she realized the families of Vietnam war veterans may be opposed to the presidential pardon, "but it was difficult for my son. In some ways I think it would have been easier to go into the Army. I think he was very courageous."

"Sidney's father died in 1968, but I believe he would have supported his son in this all the way," she said.

Dear Abby

Strike Out Fifth-Time Loser

DEAR ABBY: I am 23, and five months ago I got married for the fifth time. All my previous marriages ended in divorce.

My husband is 29, divorced and has four children. He had a vasectomy that he didn't tell me about until after I married him. This was a dirty trick because I've never had children and have always wanted some.

My biggest problem is the way he treats me. I've gone to the hospital for emergency first aid four times after he's beaten me up. He uses the excuse that he's drunk when he beats me, so he's not responsible for what he does. He's locked me out of our trailer overnight and refused to give me any of my personal belongings. (It's my trailer.)

Should I try to make this marriage work? I really love him because he's so sweet when he's sober and he's awfully good to my dog.

G. IN GAINESVILLE, FLA.

DEAR G.: I think you both need help. Having picked five losers at age 23 should tell you something. And to stick around for the physical abuse he hands out (drunk or sober) is literally asking for it.

Please go to your nearest mental clinic for counseling, unless you don't mind having your bridgework rearranged. (P.S. Take the dog with you. That bully you're living with might get drunk and take it out on the dog.)

DEAR ABBY: One day my husband came home from work like an enraged bull because the lunch meat in the sandwich I had packed was spoiled. (He accused me of trying to poison him!)

Abby, it must have spoiled between 7 and noon while his lunch bucket was sitting in a warm locker.

I told my friend how mad my husband got because of this. She said she always makes her husband's sandwiches the night before and puts them in the freezer overnight. By lunch time, they're all thawed out and fresh.

Well, I did this for a while and everything was fine—no complaints. Then one night, my husband saw me putting his lunch in the freezer, and he blew his top. He said I was feeding him like a dog because I was too lazy to make fresh sandwiches in the morning.

This isn't true. I told him that I'd go back to making them fresh every morning, but if he ever came home complaining that his lunch meat went bad, he could just buy his lunch, which I think is what he wants. Any suggestions?

CAN'T GET THROUGH

DEAR CAN'T: If you think that's what he wants, let him buy his lunches from now on, and you'll both be happier.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 86-year-old man with a pet peeve of long standing.

Some suits for men come with two pairs of trousers, but pajamas come with only one pair of pants.

Coats outlast pants, so I have accumulated many pajama tops that lack bottoms.

If my complaint appears in your column, maybe it could start the manufacture of pajamas with two pairs of pants.

J.B.S., STATEN ISLAND, N.Y.

DEAR J: Some men wear only pajama tops, and some wear only bottoms. A new kind of "pajama game" could be the exchange of tops and bottoms—unless some courageous pajama manufacturer starts selling tops and bottoms separately.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

Mrs. David Ebert speaks to group at activity center

Mrs. David Ebert of Plainview, an active member of the Association of W's (Women Who Want To Be Women) spoke Tuesday evening at the Kentwood Senior Citizens Activity Center.

The Association of W's is described as being a Fort Worth-based group of women and men "interested in preserving the family in today's society." It is currently active in Texas and other states opposing the Equal Rights Amendment. Mrs. Ebert told her audience that a bill to "recall" Texas' ratification of the ERA is before the Texas Legislature and she encouraged those present to write their state representatives to support the bill.

Mrs. Ebert said Sen. Sam Ervin had likened the ERA to using "an atomic bomb to kill a few mice."

"The wording sounds simple and harmless," continued Mrs. Ebert, "but the ERA will give the federal government control over marriage and divorce laws, child custody laws and laws about abortions and homosexual behavior. Both pro and anti-ERA backers agree that this amendment, if ratified, will mean women will be the subject to the draft and would serve side by side with the men in combat should the draft be reinstated."

Mrs. Ebert also discussed child care legislation, child abuse laws, secular humanism and education in public schools. She urged parents to visit their public schools.

She said persons wanting more information on the Association of W's may contact Mrs. David Elrod, 263-7828.

Gift shower in Garrett home

Mrs. Donald Black and infant daughter, Stephanie Dawn, were honored at a gift shower recently in the home of Mrs. James W. Garrett, 100-A Gunter Drive.

Co-hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Chad Morse, Mrs. George Stokes and Mrs. Ron Lewis.

Mrs. Black was presented a corsage of pink rosebuds, and the centerpiece for the refreshment table was made of pink gingham flowers. The cloth featured a baby shower motif. Cake and punch were served.

PSA studies problems of 'life alone'

How widows, divorcees or other middle-aged single women learn to deal with their particular stage of life in today's society was discussed by Mrs. Clyde Cantrell in a program Tuesday evening for Texas Delta Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha.

Basing her talk on the current sorority study book, "One Woman," Mrs. Cantrell said women are better able to cope with living alone if they have prepared for this eventually. She said wives and husbands should speak openly in discussing the possibility of one or the other's death.

Adjustments are harder for the woman who is widowed or divorced if she has not taken the time to learn how to handle financial or business affairs.

"The time and trial of adjustment is different for everyone," said the speaker. "Some women marry again, some prefer a number of companions and others take up their time with careers or hobbies. It is hard for some, easier for others, but it always takes time."

Mrs. Cantrell said there are many different sources of help for the woman alone, including lawyers, local and state agencies and private groups who can provide informative literature.

During the business session, it was announced that the Permian Basin Area Assembly will be held here March 11 with the local chapter as hosts. Preparations are underway for the event.

A monetary gift was designated for the building fund of First United Methodist Church in memory of a deceased chapter member, Mrs. W.E. Moren.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Johnnie Winham, with Mrs. Callie Jo Mason as co-hostess. The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., March 8, in the Mason home.

LVNA advised on convention

The Licensed Vocational Nurses Association will hold its national convention April 18 in Atlanta, Ga., according to correspondence read at the local group's meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Hugh Rhyne.

Mrs. Rhyne, president, conducted the business session following an invocation by Mrs. Vera Winn. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rhyne and Mrs. J.F. Reidy.

The group will meet again March 7 in the home of Mrs. Ollie Branson, 422 Ryon.

Clunking mechanical tuners break down, wear out and catch picture spoiling dust. They also attract big repair bills. That's why Curtis Mathes is happy to introduce SST, the most advanced, most trouble-free tuning you can own. SST is totally electronic. There are no mechanical parts to break down. A light touch on the sensor plate selects your channel. You can bypass other channels (both VHF and UHF) and go directly to the one you want. You can even select the order of the channels, putting your favorites at the top, pre-tuning each one to lock in the picture quality for keeps. SST is quiet and convenient. But mostly it's trouble free. It's also another good reason why Curtis Mathes is able to offer our exclusive four year warranty.

Farabee rushes to aid schools

AUSTIN — State Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls has introduced a bill to relieve school districts forced to close schools from the unattractive alternatives of either making up the lost days or facing loss of state funds. The bill was drafted last week after a meeting at the Capitol with area State Representatives, state officials, and area school officials.

State law requires schools to offer 180 days of instruction to obtain state funds. This season's severely cold weather accompanied by gas curtailments has forced repeated closings of many North Texas schools. "Quick action is essential on this problem since extensive rescheduling of classes affects previously planned church and civic activities, family vacations, industry scheduling of vacation time, and teachers' ability to continue their education during the summer," Farabee noted. He told school administrators gathered here that the energy problem may continue to plague school schedules.

"I have consulted with the Governor's office, legislators and the Texas Education Agency, and with the assistance of these people and the many concerned school officials at the local level, I am confident we can find a ready solution to this problem."

Farabee's bill would allow approval of operation of schools for less than 180 days

Joan Little's application

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Joan Little's application to join the work-release program at the Women's Correction Center here is expected to be approved within two weeks by state parole officials. Ms. Little gained national fame in 1975 when she was acquitted of murder charges in the death of a jailer she said attacked her in the Beaufort County Jail. She had been jailed pending appeal of a breaking and entering conviction for which she is now serving a 7-10-10-year sentence.

Marriage revealed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Natalie Cole and her producer, Marvin Yancy, wanted to break the news on Valentine's Day. They waited more than six months but couldn't make it until Monday — they've been married secretly since July.

Miss Cole, daughter of the late Nat "King" Cole, won Grammys last year as best new female performer and rhythm and blues performer of the year.

She and Yancy, her producer at Capitol Records, were married in Chicago last year.

Pancake supper date shaped

The Big Spring Kiwanis Club set March 24 as the date for its annual pancake supper, held each year in the cafeteria at Howard College.

Tickets will be on sale in future weeks for the event. Pete Hull, president, led a discussion on this item at their regular meeting at noon Thursday.

David Mitchell of Midland discussed a project called "Child Find" which is funded through the Education of the Handicapped Act.

They are seeking to locate all persons from age three through age 21 who are mentally retarded, crippled, blind or partially sighted, deaf or hard-of-hearing, emotionally disturbed, multi-handicapped or have other impairments of health.

The project will provide at no expense to the family appropriate diagnostic, psychological and educational information concerning each referred handicapped person not presently receiving services from the local school district.

Anyone knowing of such a person may contact Gene Adkins, individualized service in Big Spring by calling 267-5384.

John Phillips, a prospective member, was introduced as well as Earl Bohannon, and Larry Speck, local guests.

REBOUND MEN — Howard College Hawk Eugene Williams (44) comes down with a rebound as teammate Paul Cathey waits below to help. The action occurred in the Clarendon game Monday night. Thursday night, the Hawks won their sixth game in a row, defeating New Mexico Junior College, 110-84.

HOBBS — The Howard College Hawks, one of the hottest Juco teams in the country right now, eased into sole possession of second place in the WJAC race Thursday night with a 110-84 tree-topping of the New Mexico Junior College T-Birds.

Five of the Hawk players carried chainsaws all night and finished with a nice mess of double figure firewood. Abilene ace Reggie Leffall and Mike Little shared top scoring honors with 24 points apiece. Houston Kashmere freshman Russell Sublet added 21 more, many of them on combo plays and long jump shots.

The conference's leading rebounder, Paul Cathey, (19 a game), added 14 markers, but was frustrated on the offensive boards because his teammates weren't missing very many shots. The Preybirds shot an amazing 70 per cent from the field and 73 per cent from the line.

Eugene Williams, whose hurt knee is getting better in each outing, poured in another 11 points to round out the double figures men. Sophomore Lowell Walker entered the game early and paced the team late in the first half when NMJC was trying desperately to make a comeback. He hit for six in the first half.

Freshman big guy Joe Cooper also scored six points and combined with the other Hawks to give the locals a 40-29 edge in the rebound department. Ex-Steer Jim Ray hit 100 per cent of his shots (four points), and "Kid Johnny" James gave the starters breathing room throughout the game.

The game was HC's all the way. The trio of Little, Leffall and Sublet couldn't miss in the first quarter, as the Preybirds scored 32 points in 10 minutes and had built up an 18-point lead before the game was nine minutes old. Their biggest lead of the night was 27, with 7:16 remaining in the game.

The Hawks will be back home Monday night against Amarillo College in what the coaches and players would like billed as the St. Valentine's Day Massacre. They will be trying to avenge their worst defeat of the season. Game-time is 7:30, and it should be SRO.

Rumors hint that Ali will fight Foreman

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Nothing is official yet, but it appears that the suspect retirement of Muhammad Ali is about to end.

Herbert Muhammad, Ali's long-time manager, has given promoter Don King permission to set up a May title bout for the heavyweight boxing champ in Seoul, South Korea.

The 35-year-old Ali hasn't fought since scoring a disputed decision over Ken Norton last September, but the Korean venture is viewed as Ali's tune up for a lucrative return match with George Foreman — who lost the title to Ali in 1974.

"I'm convinced that Ali wants to fight again," King said Thursday, reiterating that in a Dec. 19 letter from Ali, he was given 90 days to arrange a rematch with Foreman.

King still is trying to put together a money package worthy of an Ali-Foreman bout, but his efforts should gain fresh impetus with the positive signs from the Ali camp.

In Korea, King said, Ali would fight "someone of repute," and mentioned such possible opponents as the upcoming young Americans Johnny Boudeaux and Larry Holmes, or South African champion Mike Shutte.

Two other productions promoted by King will be staged this weekend, even as he works to tie up loose ends on two more bouts scheduled for March 17.

King spent two days in Annapolis, promoting the second of four quarter-final cards of his U.S. Boxing Championships. They will be held Sunday at the U.S. Naval Academy.

On Thursday night, King hustled off to Puerto Rico for the lightweight title bout he promoted between World Boxing Council champion Esteban de Jesus and Buzzsaw Yamabe of Japan.

Steers seeking win tonight over Coogs

The Big Spring Steers roundballers, thwarted from placing any scratches in the win column during the second half of the District 5-4A basketball race, will entertain the Abilene Cooper Cougars in Steer Gym tonight at 8 p.m.

Coach James Griffin was very pleased with the play of his reserves Tuesday night against Midland Lee, and indicated today that a concerted team effort will be needed to best the weighty Cougars, who currently have a 3-1 second half record and tied for the first half crown with Permian at 6-1.

The contest will feature a match-up between the district's second-leading scorer, Big Spring's Casey Wilder, (206 points and a 20.6 average), and Cooper's ace Bob Bradford, who has a total of 165 points in district action.

The Sophomores and JV's will also be in action tonight, seeking revenge after also being nudged by Midland Lee Tuesday. All the action begins at 5:15 p.m.

Steerettes fall 54-36

ABILENE — The Abilene Cooper Cougarettes took revenge on the Big Spring Steerettes Thursday night, winning the "A" game 54-36 and the "B" game 47-16.

Rose Magers and Keran Schexnayder led the first string with 16 points each, and Sherry Byrd popped in eight. Peggy Calhoun and Mary Rodriguez netted eight markers each for the "B" team.

"We just had a bad night shooting, and on defense," said coach Nancy Deason.

Cooper's LuAnn Pritchard exploded for 27 points in the first quarter, and ended with 31 for the night to fire her teammates past the locals.

The Steerettes record is now 5-6, while Cooper advanced to 17-4. Next game for the home-team will be Monday night in Odessa at 6:30, "A" game only.

Forsan Jr. fems win

GRADY — The Forsan Jr. High girls team, coached by Gloria Dodd, defeated Greenwood 32-23 Thursday night in a district playoff, ending the fem's season with a healthy 15-2 record.

Hogs just one away from SWC title-time

By The Associated Press
 Arkansas reduced its magic number to one for its first Southwest Conference basketball title since 1958 Thursday night while Texas all but clinched a host role in the postseason tournament along with Houston, Texas Tech and Texas A&M.

The 13th-ranked Razorbacks blew away Baylor 77-57 for their 12th league victory in as many outings for a three game lead over Houston with four games to play.

Arkansas can clinch at least a tie against Rice Saturday night in Fayetteville. Houston isn't likely to lose at home against hapless Texas Christian but Arkansas can put the crown in cold storage next Tuesday.

Steer tennis here Saturday
 The Big Spring tennis team, boys and girls, is hosting Ft. Stockton at the Figure Seven Tennis Center Saturday morning at 10:30.

The netmen are seeking their first team victory of the season after dropping their first six dual meets.

Arkansas gains a bye to the championship game on March 5 at the Summit in Houston if it bags the title as expected.

Steve Schall, a 6-foot-11 sophomore center, scored a career high 15 points and Marvin (The Machinegun) Delph drilled home 18 points in the easy victory.

Larry Spicer was high for Baylor with 22.

Arkansas, called "the best team I've ever had" by Coach Eddie Sutton, last won an outright title in 1941. And Arkansas has recorded 20 victories only one time in its history — the 1936 team compiling a 24-3 record, reaching the semifinals of the Olympic Trials.

FORD KICKS UP SOME GRASS — Former President Gerald Ford hits out of the tall grass during play in the Bob Hope Desert Classic alongside the 5th hole on the Tamarisk golf course Thursday. Ford's team finished the day at 18 under par.

Rik still leads Hope

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The 66 that staked him to a four-shot lead wasn't the toughest part of the day, said Rik Massengale.

"Actually, I'm hitting my irons so good, it was a pretty easy 66."

RIK MASSENGALE

The tough part came after the round. He had to rush from the course to buy a birthday present for his wife, Cindy.

"It's her birthday and I always put off things to the last minute," Massengale said. "Ah, but I hate shopping for a woman. That's a lot tougher than shooting 66. I didn't know what to get her. Ended up with a watch. Hope that's okay."

The six-under-par 66 was considerably more than okay on the tough Tamarisk course in Thursday's second round of the five-day, 90-hole Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic. It went with an opening 64 for a 130 total, 14 under par and the best two-round effort on the tour since late in the 1975 season.

In those two rounds, he's had 15 birdies and a single bogey, missed only two fairways and two greens. He's had a total of seven birdie putts of 20 feet or more, two of them from 40 feet or more.

"Absolutely fabulous golf," said Bruce Lietzke, the only man able to keep Massengale in sight. "He is definitely the man to beat."

Lietzke is a two-time winner this season and suddenly the hottest man on the tour. He extended to 23 the number of consecutive rounds at par or better with a 67 that put him in second place at 134.

Niall tested Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — He is just a slip of a lad — 5 feet, 6 inches tall and only 130 pounds — who appears lost inside his heavy storm coat.

"It isn't the size of a man that determines how fast he can run the mile," insists Niall O'Shaughnessy, the tiny veterinarian's son from County Limerick in Ireland.

"It's how tough he is and how quickly he can move his legs."

The supreme test of Niall's toughness and speed comes Saturday night in the U.S. Olympic Invitational Track Meet at Madison Square Garden with much of the country watching on television (NBC-11:30 p.m. EST).

He will go head-to-head with, among others, New Zealand's 6-foot-1 John Walker, the Olympic 1500-meter gold medalist, world record-holder in the mile and premier distance runner for the last three years.

With Filbert Bayi of Tanzania, who holds the world mark for 1500 meters, still duking a confrontation with Walker for political reasons, O'Shaughnessy figures to be the severest threat to the big New Zealander in the blue-ribbon mile.

Some track buffs are predicting a likely upset for the 21-year-old kid from across the Atlantic who has put a splash of green on the cardinal and white colors of the University of Arkansas, where he is studying to be an engineer.

"I am really looking forward to the race," O'Shaughnessy says. "I am no longer awed by names and reputations. I now go into

Gophers dig holes

By The Associated Press

The Minnesota Gophers have one of the most successful road shows in college basketball this season.

Among their big hits of the year, the Gophers have won by 24 points at Detroit, 19 at Indiana and 17 at Illinois and Marquette.

Thursday night, they played another smash performance by beating Ohio State at Columbus 91-65.

"We're a much better road team and I don't know why," said Minnesota Coach Jim Dutcher. "I can only enjoy it."

The eighth-ranked Gophers have won 17 of 19 games and are challenging for the Big Ten lead. The splendid season has restored some dignity to a school on NCAA probation and shorn of any post-season playoff hopes.

"Being a conference contender is enough," said Dutcher. "We've got a chance at our school record of 11 conference victories and 21 over-all. I told our kids they were eighth in the country and there are only a handful of teams with better records. That's incentive enough."

Hawk Queens stop Grayson

SHERMAN — The Hawk Queens racked up their fifth win in a row Thursday night with a 78-59 win over Grayson College. Tami Edwards scorched the net for 32 points, while teammates "L'thal Letha" Strickland and Linda Batla hit for 17 and 10, respectively.

The Queens led 43-30 at half-time, and the host team pulled to within eight, 48-40, early in the second stanza, but they never came any closer.

The women's record now stands at 15-7, and they will be in action tonight on the road against Dallas Baptist at 7 o'clock.

Wally Armstrong, with another 67, was another two strokes back at 136. Tied at 137 were former Hope winner Hubert Green, with a second-round 68, and Alan Tapie, 70.

Tapie played at La Quinta, the host course and site of the pro-only final round Sunday. The rest of the leaders were at Tamarisk, where former President Gerald Ford drew another enormous gallery to watch his round with PGA champ Dave Stockton, Flip Wilson and tournament director Saul Kamin.

"With all those people out there — it was a huge, huge gallery — it was pretty difficult for the President," Stockton said. "He played pretty well, made three pars, but he was kind of nervous."

The three-man amateur team was eight under par, including their handicaps, but no scores are compiled on individual amateurs.

Stockton's score ballooned to a 77 after a front side 35. "The golf course just kind of went out from under me," he said.

Surprise performer on Garden card other night was Bill Connell, 197, who made pro debut with fourth-round okay. He's 22, from Jersey Highlands, takes good shot and throws nice straight right. Now it's up to Gil Clancy to get some of that flab off Connell's waist.

After the Rangers had taken recent hosing, natty John Ferguson blurted, "Dammit, I can't stand officials. They all dress like undertakers!" Last place leads to strange forms of paranoia... To mark 40th anniversary of NIT, all-time tourney team being picked. Committee asks for three guards, three forwards, two centers. Here are mine: Guards — Walt Frazier, Len Wilkens, Ernie Calverley; forwards — Tom Gola, Maurice Stokes, John Shumate; centers, George Mikan, Ed Macauley.

Comic Pat Henry, on same dais with Mark Fydrich, shakes head at mop-top and says, "I never knew Harpo Marx had a kid in baseball"... Would you believe that Sy Berger of Topps, which puts out baseball bubble gum cards, makes three tips yearly to London for production of soccer cards?

Texas given baseball nod

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Defending champion Texas has been tabbed the favorite to capture the 1977 Southwest Conference baseball title in a poll conducted by The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Texas gained seven of the eight first place votes. The Texas Aggies got the other first place nod.

Finishing behind the Longhorns and Aggies in the poll were Baylor, Houston, Arkansas, Texas Tech, Texas Christian, Rice and Southern Methodist.

Those in the poll included Carter Cromwell, Lubbock A-J; George Breazeale, Austin American-Statesman; Ish Haley, Dallas Times Herald; Mark McFarlane, Waco Tribune-World; Joe Kammiah, Bryan Daily Eagle; Nate Allen, Arkansas Gazette; and sports information directors Bill Whitmore of Rice and Ted Nance of Houston.

Off-season just 'routine' for Pokes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a three-part series on the Dallas Cowboys' off-season.

DALLAS (AP) — Bob Griffin has just flown in from Camp Zama in Tokyo from a scouting trip.

Kay Lang has just returned from Las Vegas $100 richer ready to go one-on-one with a new computer.

Jerry Tubbs has returned from lunch, given secretary Jerri Mote a playful tug of her pigtail, and disappeared in the film room, breaking down more shots of his favorite subject — linebacking.

Joe Bailey has just finished eyeballing a calendar for the 100th time, carefully detailing training camp schedules and hotel reservations.

Secretary Pam Adams has just taken another order for the Cowboy Trading Post ...

pennants, wrist bands, decals...the works.

Secretary JoAnne Smith has just filled another order for a Cowboy player to make a personal appearance at a high school football banquet. Going price is $150 in-town and $300 out-of-town.

This isn't mid-season understand. It's OFF-SEASON for the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

And Coach Tom Landry and Club President Tex Schramm's shock troops are in full gear with the January snowflakes drifting down hard outside the 11th floor on North Dallas office building.

GRIFFIN: "I left Christmas Day and hit the West Coast All-Star games and then went to the Hula Bowl and then on to the Japan Bowl. I was the only NFL scout at Camp Zama. People just swarmed me asking for Cowboy stickers, camps, and pictures. Besides looking at all the American players I got to see a few Japanese play. One guy was pretty good, but he was only 5-10. I can't pronounce his name but we have film on him. He was No. 43."

TICKET MANAGER LANG: "We're changing our computer system and it's a job. We are trying to consolidate the parking and the season tickets in one grouping. Also, we've got to update all our season ticket lists. It's unreal how many people move, mostly younger people. I've been with the Cowboys since 1960 and things keep getting more sophisticated. But we've managed to cut the customer complaints down to just a few. We have a great crew. The computer is being setup in Atlanta, Ga. I bet I'm on the telephone 20 times a day to them."

TUBBS: "This is kind of a welcome time of year for the assistant coaches. We work hard but it's relaxed. Coach Landry has us going over films and reevaluating personnel. This sport has come a long way. I got a $2,000 bonus in 1957 as a No. 1 draft choice. Look at it now. And things are much more scientific."

BUSINESS MANAGER BAILEY: "Right now we are deciding when to go to camp and get our hotel reservations. Now is when you make your plans for the season and just hope the plans carry you through. Of course, we're trying to end our fiscal year. And answer letters. It's trickled off now. We get about 250 letters a day during the season asking for a decal or picture. We answer them all."

ADAMS: "I'm filling out orders for the Trading Post for pennants, wrist bands, mugs, caps, footballs, decals, bike tags, etc. I also have to handle plane reservations. People don't realize how busy our off season can be. I wouldn't want to have to pay our stamp bill."

SMITH: "I handle all the calls for player appearances and speaking engagements.

Rayfield Wright, for example, is going to Montana to speak to some Eagle Scouts. One player made $2,500 last year in off-season speaking engagements. Of course, the better the year for the team the more people call. We handle the calls as a courtesy to the players."

For the Dallas Cowboys without helmets, it's just another routine day at the office...like some 300 more to come.

CLUBHOUSE CONFIDENTIAL

Billy Martin-Sparky Anderson reunion on banquet circuit. Sparky gives Billy some advice on Don Gullett, a transferee: "If they're hitting fly balls off him in the first two innings, just sit back and relax. That means he has it. When he's good, his ball jumps and they hit him in the air. But if they're hitting ground balls, watch him. Have somebody ready."

Don Grant has offered Jets one exhibition date and two regular games at Shea during baseball season, but NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle nixed proposal. He didn't like string attached. String is right reserved by Mets to postpone game from Friday night to Saturday, from Saturday to Sunday, if weather poses problem to turf. "Who is to say what is bad weather?" asks Rozelle. Mets spurn Jets' offer to pay for Astro Turf installation; claim it's a different ballgame on artificial surface, and they're right.

Joe DiMag, whose playing career ended with painful heel spur, has developed similar calcification on side of neck. Sudden turns produce pain, so he'll cut back on celebrity golf. Still one of best-looking guys on TV commercials.

CAMPY NEEDS BLOOD AFTER SURGERY

Roy Campanella needs 17 units of blood after undergoing skin graft for ulcerated buttocks at NYU Hospital, 35th St. and First Ave. When you donate, specify it's for Campy, or he won't get credit... Boxing Commissioner Jim Farley objects to newspapers dropping junior after his name, now that Big Jim has died. "I want to keep the junior because it helps keep my father's memory alive," he says... Farley should resign from Don King's tournament committee, because bouts are held in unsupervised locations. Also, King's tie-up with George Foreman makes it appear that Farley, and New York State, give their blessings to such mismatches as Foreman-Agusto, which Jim's commission never would okay.

Backslapping Texan faces criminal raps

MIAMI (AP) — A Texas oilman who acknowledges patting stewardess' backsides is facing criminal charges because of it.

Audrey Bumgard, 45, of Galveston, Tex., a drilling supervisor on the North Sea project off the coast of Scotland, is free on $1,000 bond awaiting federal grand jury action.

National Airlines stewardess Patti DeWoody told U.S. Magistrate Charlene Sorrentino on Tuesday that one of four pats she received during a Jan. 20 London-to-Miami flight was so strong she almost fell. "I told him each time, 'Cut that out,' and he mimicked me," she said.

Another stewardess, Jane Otto, testified that Bumgard slapped her backside twice. She said that after the third slap she told the pilot and he warned Bumgard to stop. But she felt another whack on her bottom a few minutes later and turned to confront Bumgard again.

Defense attorney Donald Ferguson asked if Bumgard had been drunk. Miss Otto said she thought "he had a few" before boarding and said when she served him she "poured out only a little of each drink."

"I had a feeling he might be a problem," she testified.

FBI agent Gary Dunn said he questioned Bumgard at the Miami airport after the women complained. "He told me he had patted one of the stewardesses 'maybe twice' and that maybe he patted her harder than intended," Dunn said.

Magistrate Sorrentino ordered the case held over for a grand jury.

Bumgard is charged under the federal air piracy law, which makes it a felony for any passenger to intimidate or assault a crew member "so as to interfere with" his or her duties. It's a felony punishable by 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Gin rummy lovers unite

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — C.L. "Pat" Patterson is a man with a cause. The president and co-founder of the U.S. Open Gin Rummy Association wants to organize lovers of the game all over the nation.

Peterson, 34, hopes the association, officially chartered less than a year ago in La Crosse, Wis., will someday rival the American Contract Bridge Association.

"It is very, very rare to find a game this popular that hasn't already been organized," he said. Patterson estimates that 65 million people play gin rummy or are acquainted with it.

Patterson doesn't claim many members yet. Dues are $200 a year, most of it going towards cash prizes at tournaments.

Plan valentine of balloons

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — With help from 100 volunteers, four members of the Kansas State University Art Department plan to create a valentine of balloons as high as a 20-story building on Sunday, then let its pieces fly greetings to wherever the winds take them.

"It's been a cold winter, and we were looking for something that would be fun and brightening," said planner Gary Woodward.

The teachers tested it with a small prototype last Saturday and are shelling out the $200 or so it will cost.

The outline of a heart will be formed by 250 red helium-filled weather balloons tethered to 100 steel fence posts by nylon cords.

After everyone admires the pattern, volunteers will haul the balloons down, attach greetings and return postal cards, and release them. The greetings will contain a packet of a new strain of hard red winter wheat developed by the university's agricultural researchers.

The teachers hope some balloons will rise to 18,000 feet and come down all over the United States and even in foreign lands.

Millionaire Davis exhausts options?

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Turned back by two U.S. Supreme Court justices in three days, millionaire Cullen Davis may have run out of options in his efforts to win his freedom from jail before his capital murder trial here.

Defense lawyer Phil Burleson said Wednesday Justice Thurgood Marshall's decision to deny Davis' latest request for bail exhausts any practical chance of freeing Davis before his Feb. 2 trial.

Marshall issued the denial without comment Wednesday, joining a growing list of judges who have ruled that Davis should be jailed without bond for the shooting death of his 12-year-old stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn.

Davis is also charged with the murder of ex-Texas Christian University basketball player Stan Farr and the attempted murders of Davis' estranged wife Priscilla and Gus Gavrel Jr. in the Aug. 3 shooting spree at the Davis mansion.

Marshall's decision was identical to one issued by Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell Monday. Burleson said he thinks Davis will not be allowed to make emergency appeals to more than two members of the high court.

Davis could ask to have his case reviewed by the entire court, but it does not reconvene for oral arguments until Feb. 18, just four days before the trial.

Burleson said his view that the bond issue is dead is "as definite as I can be right now."

The strategy decision may also bring an end of the involvement of Washington attorney Samuel Dash as one of Davis' lawyers.

Dash, who gained national prominence as chief counsel during televised Senate Watergate hearings, was employed for "limited involvement," Burleson said, and will be used only if the Davis case returns to the Supreme Court.

Dash's involvement was limited even further by Justices Powell and Marshall, who denied Dash the opportunity to make oral arguments on behalf of Davis' bond appeal.

Purple People Peckers

HOUSTON (AP) — Apparently there are two kinds of cowbirds — the kind that get along with humans and the kind that have been tabbed Purple People Peckers.

The Rice University biology department, as part of its continuing research on the winter colony of campus cowbirds, has banded a number of the black birds with purple or white streamers.

Aggressive birds — judged by how hard they peck the hands of banders — are given purple streamers. Docile birds get white streamers.

The birds were tagged to test a theory, according to Hedi Good, a graduate biology student. The theory is that the aggressive birds range out to rural fields daily to feed while the docile ones may dine at bird feeders around urban homes.

The biology department would appreciate reports on any sightings of tagged birds.

An estimated half million cowbirds are roosting this winter in Rice's campus oaks and some have had their tails daubed with fluorescent orange paint in an experiment to determine if the birds return to the same tree every night.

Good news Mr. Wilson! Dennis is 'in prison'

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Dennis Ketcham, 30-year-old son of cartoonist Hank Ketcham, was the mischievous inspiration for Dad's famous character, Dennis the Menace. Now he's on the other side of mischief — a prison guard.

The younger Ketcham said it all began when he was 4 or 5 and broke a lamp. His mother, talking to Dad, dubbed him a "real menace."

He was at boarding schools from the age of 12. Then, after a stint as a Marine in Vietnam, he said, he did some "horse wrangling" in Arizona. Three years ago he quit and came here, where he met Roxanna Waites in a restaurant and married her. They have a 16-month-old daughter, Jennifer.

For two months he has worked as a corrections officer at the Ohio correctional reception and medical center in Columbus.

Kissinger's memoirs

NEW YORK (AP) — The memoirs of former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, including "some of the most momentous events in United States history," are scheduled for publication in the fall of 1979.

Kissinger has signed a contract with Little, Brown and Co., the firm announced Thursday. Arthur Thornhill

Jr., chairman and president of the publishing house, refused to discuss financial arrangements, but there has been speculation Kissinger might gross $2 million for his memoirs.

"I expect the book to be completed in time for publication in the fall of 1979," Thornhill said.

Only one cotton herbicide really fits the sandy soil conditions in West Texas.

Sancap® The cotton herbicide made for sand, loamy sands and sandy loams. Made for the soil conditions that make growing cotton in West Texas different from most any other place in the world.

Sancap controls your toughest weed problems. Carelessweed and Russian thistle.

And Sancap does the job without injuring your cotton. Just follow the label. There's no guesswork about rates—no worry about applying too much or too little.

So build your weed control program around Sancap this year. Then watch your cotton come through clean and healthy. Because now you've got a herbicide that really fits your conditions.

Is Seeing Believing?

Ever talk, really talk, to someone who's blind? Someone who depends upon their fingertips to get the message, and knows that it's late afternoon only when the warm sun kisses their cheeks?

You may find that they "see" a lot more than we do!

In a dark world, people come to the truth by the sound of voices, the feel of things, the touch of others. Much of life is a sham. Hairstyles don't matter, nor the kind of car someone drives, or the cost of their clothes, or the lavishness of their home. It is the person who counts.

A blind person knows faith, too, because he has needed it desperately, because he's had to grope for it, because it's become very tangible, very precious, when finally he has found it.

We could take lessons.

Webb Captain relates experiences in Thailand

The women's group from the First Church of God heard Captain Frederick V. Riccardi speak on the country of Thailand at their mission study this week.

Mrs. Anna Smith, president, presided at the meeting at which the captain showed slides and discussed the customs and culture of "these traditionally happy people." He pointed out that they were easily offended, however, by a tone of voice and harsh words. Over 95 per cent of the population belong to the Buddhist religion.

Capt. Riccardi, the new chief of security police (SP), said after his second week on base, "It's going to be a good tour."

Coming here from an assignment in the Air Staff Training (ASTRA) program, Captain Riccardi feels that was a "most worthy experience."

"The ASTRA program gives the officer an opportunity to serve as an action officer handling projects similar to personnel permanently assigned to the Pentagon," he said.

In speaking of his job here, Captain Riccardi pointed out that the SP is both a service organization and it has the enforcement aspect as well. He said it is important that all of the base population participate in protecting their own property and that of the government and their neighbors through the Crime Stop program.

In between that assignment and his present one, Captain Riccardi completed the FBI National Academy. He has degrees in economics from Loyola University, Los Angeles, and in law from University of San Diego.

FREDERICK RICCARDI

In prior assignments, Captain Riccardi served at Detachment 3, Space and Missile System Organization (SMASO), Buckley ANG Base, Curora, Colo., at Nakhon Phanom, Thailand, and Ent AFB, Colo.

Of his ASTRA experience, Captain Riccardi said they met often, formally and informally, and heard Gen. David Jones, chief of staff, as well as many deputy chiefs of staff, Lt. Gen.

Warren Johnson of Defense Nuclear Agency, Lt. Gen. Robert Marsh, Systems Command and Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force Thomas Barnes.

He said a Soviet awareness program preview for the ASTRA officers was particularly informative in recognizing the strengths and weaknesses of the Soviet officer and military.

ASTRA officers serve throughout the Air Staff; however, they normally rotate through the particular directorate or staff office to which they are assigned.

Captain Riccardi offers to answer questions for anyone who may want additional details on the ASTRA program or a Washington tour.

Nashville Gospel group due at Assembly of God

The Singing Dews of Nashville, Tennessee will present a gospel music concert at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 13 in the First Assembly of God church.

The family group consists of Levo and Cleon Dewey and their two daughters, Cindy and Susie. The Deweys have traveled as a family unit since 1967, singing across the United States at denominational conventions, churches, fairs, colleges and on television.

They have sung on the Grand Ole Opry, at the People's Church in Toronto,

Canada, and in the Avon Shakespearean Theatre. Recent trips include several visits to Central America; the last of which resulted in a fund raising effort to help build a church for missionary work among the Indians of the San Blas Islands.

Lamesa Baptist Association set

The Lamesa Baptist Association will hold its monthly worker's conference at the Gail Baptist Church, Gail, on February 17.

Beginning with the Associational Executive Board meeting and the Associational W.M.U. meeting at 6:30 p.m., supper will be served by the host church at 7:15 p.m. and the program for the evening will begin at 8 p.m.

Dr. Ed Laux, director of the Special Services Divisions of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will be the guest speaker for the program.

Dr. Laux will be emphasizing associational work among Texas Baptist churches in relationship to the local churches mission of "spreading the Good News of Jesus Christ to the world."

In other church events, Paschal Odum, clerk of the session, the Rev. Wm. F. Henning, Dr. Shirley Guthrie and Dr. R. Gage Lloyd all went to El Paso to the meeting of the Presbyterian of Tres Rios on Friday and Saturday.

It can be served at the school or plates may be prepared "to go." This annual event is held each February at Immaculate Heart.

Plans are underway at First Presbyterian Church for a missionary speaker on the night of Sunday, Feb. 20. The speaker will be from the African mission field, in which there is so much interest at this time.

He will speak at a covered dish supper at the church. On this Sunday at 12:30 p.m., the Couple's Class will host a covered dish dinner at the church with special guests invited and other members of the congregation urged to attend.

A Mexican dinner will be served at the Immaculate Heart of Mary school cafeteria, Sunday, Feb. 13.

The event is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. and last until 2 p.m. Tickets for the event are $2.75 for adults and $1.75 for children.

It can be served at the school or plates may be prepared "to go." This annual event is held each February at Immaculate Heart.

Westbrook Baptist girls slate coming activities

WESTBROOK (SP) — Girls in Action of First Baptist Church met Wednesday, Feb. 2 in the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. Donald Burnett was in charge of the program which consisted of "What G.A.'s Are All About."

The group joined hands in a circle of prayer. Each girl present drew a picture of a likeness to what the missionaries are doing in their work, or what the mission money is spent for.

Mrs. Floyd Rice, counselor, reviewed what the girls would be doing this month in mission work. At the next meeting the girls will make bookmarkers to be used in the read-a-thon in observance of focus week.

Other displays of their work will be shown in fellowship hall. The group will make Valentines for their adopted grandmothers at Claxton Lodge, Mrs. Jewell Smith and Mrs. A.C. Moody.

Dr. Duane Bruce to speak Sunday

Dr. S. Duane Bruce of Oklahoma City, will speak at First United Methodist Church, at 10:50 a.m. Sunday.

Born and reared in Loraine, Dr. Bruce holds ministerial membership in the Texas Annual Conference. He has served as pastor, district superintendent, conference program director and is now the executive director of the south Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church.

He received his education at McMurry College and at SMU. Dr. Bruce will be leader of the section for work area charimen at the district-wide "Know Your Job" workshop to be held in the church here Sunday afternoon.

The workshop is open to the entire district. Leadership for the event includes Dr. Darris Egger, conference program director; Dr. Bruce; Dr. Charles Whittle and Dr. Ed Lang of Abilene, Miss Rita Crowell of Lubbock, Mrs. Frances Richards of Paducah and others.

READY?
Alas, you who are longing for the day of the Lord, for what purpose will the day of the Lord be to you?
— Amos 5:18(a) (NAS)
And he said to me, "Do not seal up the words of the prophecy of this book, for the time is near."
"Let the one who does wrong, still do wrong, and let the one who is filthy, still be filthy; and let the one who is righteous, still practice righteousness; and let the one who is holy, still keep himself holy."
"Behold, I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me, to render to every man according to what he has done."

Energy Electric bills shocking Texans

DALLAS (AP) — Electric bills are shocking Texas residents these days as the longrange implications of the current energy crunch begin to hit home.

Figures surfacing in all-electric homes from Dallas to San Antonio emphatically show that Texas, with its energy-production reputation, is not immune to the problem.

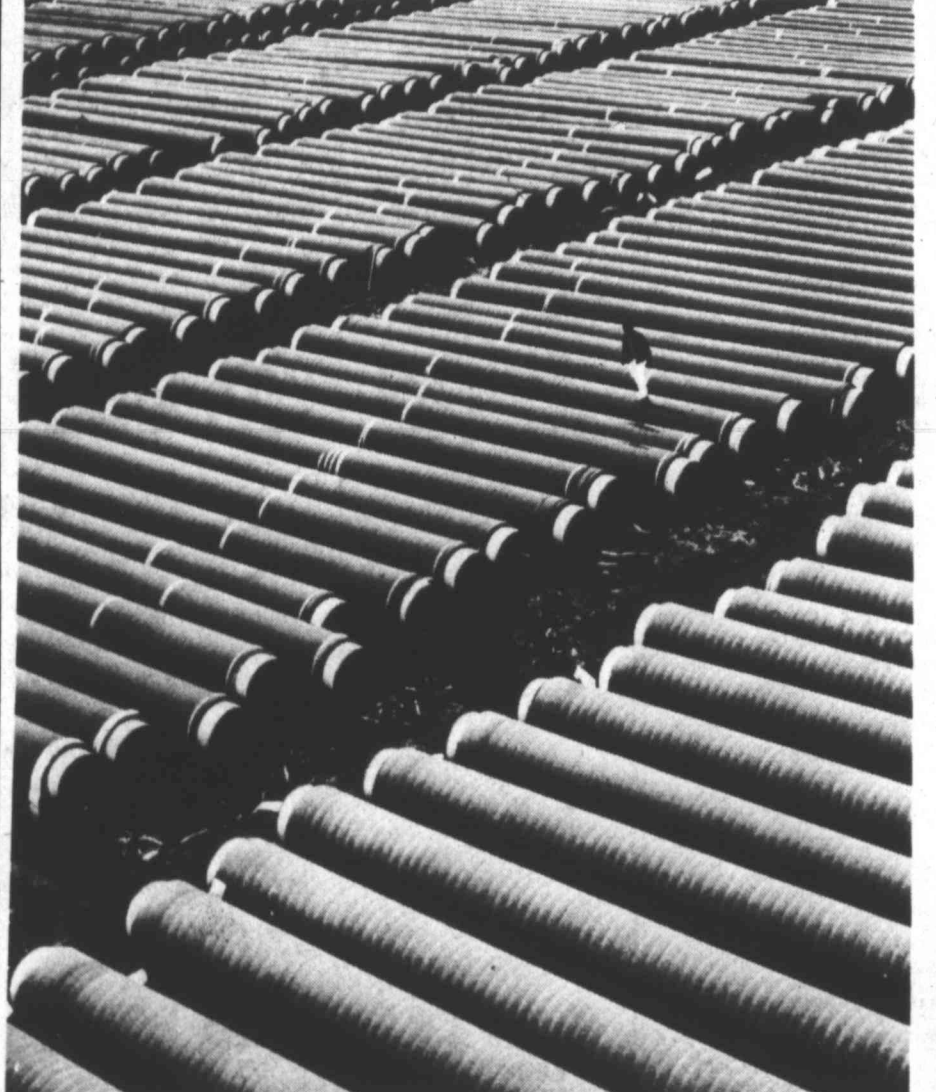

In suburban Dallas, the average all-electric home owner is finding this year's bills from $50 to $100 per month higher than those for the same period last year.

The electricity increases are directly related to the natural gas shortage, since gas is normally used in Texas to fire electric generating plants.

Garland housewife Liz Plant has called for a public meeting on the issue. "There are just too many of us who can't afford these kinds of electric bills every month and who want to know what we can do about it," Mrs. Plant said.

The Plant family received a $193 electricity bill last month.

A spokesman for a North Central Texas power and light company said use of alternate fuels like oil during the hard winter account for much of the increase. The spokesman said more than half of the electricity for his firm will eventually be produced by lignite coal, which is even cheaper than natural gas.

Active rigs in West Texas

Active rotary rigs in oil fields continued to climb in Texas with a total of 732 compared to 719 the previous week and 623 a year ago.

However, last month the total was higher at 736. This is out of a total of 1,884 rigs in the United States one month ago that were active and 1,818 last week.

The biggest portion are still in the three West Texas districts where there were 96, 59 and 55 active rigs out of the 732 total.

Borden, Dawson wildcats

Borden County has a wildcat slated and Dawson County has both a wildcat and a confirmer designated.

H.L. Brown Jr., will attempt to re-open the Myrtle (Pennsylvania oil) field of Borden County with the staking of his No. 1 McKnight, an 8,400-foot test, ½ mile north and slightly east of the original opener and six miles southwest of Fluvanna.

Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,650 feet from the east lines of 3-67-97-H&TC.

The opener, Vickers Petroleum Co., Inc., No. 1 Myrtle-McKnight, was finished Sept. 1, 1951 to pump 11 barrels of 38 gravity oil, plus 69 per cent water, with gas-oil ratio of 100-1 through perforations at 7,732-44 feet.

Vaughn petroleum Inc., Dallas, will drill the No. 1 R.F. Brown, a 9,100-foot wildcat in Dawson County, ¾ mile east of an undesignated Cisco reef oil discovery, 1½ miles northeast of Dean production in the Ackerly multipay field and 10 miles southeast of Lamesa.

Location is 2,267 feet from the north and 21,167 feet from the east lines of 6-34-4N-T&P.

The undesignated discovery, Continental Oil Co., No. 1 Bertha Kilgore, et al, was finished Oct. 12, 1973 to pump 39 barrels of 40.9 gravity oil, plus 66 barrels of water, through perforations at 8,959-973 feet.

Eat and Stay Slender
The Chinese Women's Secret —

The Chinese diet is the most wholesome in the world. It is low in butter fats, starches, sweets and high seasonings. Meat is subordinated to vegetables. Chopsticks discourage hasty eating and foods eaten with them are prepared in small easily-digested pieces. The variety in a Chinese meal provides balance in the diet. Repeated washings before cooking, remove most of the starch in rice, the greatest staple Chinese food.

Let us bring "China" to your through its delicious food. Try our Polynesian Charbroiled Chicken. We Serve American Food Too!
