CHURCHILL PAINTINGS SOLD — The scene in the auction room of Christie's in London today as a painting by the Late Sir Winston Churchill — called Mimizan — was sold for 48,000 pounds (about $82,000). In all, five of Sir Winston's paintings were put up for sale by Lady Churchill, widow of Sir Winston, to help her depleted finances.

Lamesans attempt to save industry

LAMESA — Doty Dan Manufacturing Co. of Lamesa, employer of more than 150 persons in its sewing plant here, has notified employees it will not produce fall and winter lines of clothing, which in effect means the plant will lay off all employees within the next 30 days.

Plant officials said the weekly payroll was an estimated $30,000 or $1.5 million annually.

No official announcement of the closing has been made by Magnatex, the Midland-based holding company which owns Doty Dan.

However, Lynn Hunt, vice-president and Dick Griffin, top executive of the local plant, met with the executive committee of the Lamesa Industrial Foundation Tuesday in a last ditch effort to head off shutting down the company by seeking to attract local capital and investors by Friday night.

The company has been located there since 1952. Hunt, in explaining the decision to close said that the directors of Magnatex were men of expertise in the oil, gas and petrochemical industry but were not knowledgeable in the apparel industry and this resulted in top-level management decisions which have proven "very unprofitable."

Magnatex closed the Gear Works in Brownfield this week pending sale of the facility and previously had closed plants in Groveton and Seminole.

Hunt said Magnatex was placing Doty Dan on the market, but pending sale of the facility wanted to offer the plant to Griffin and local investors. However, discussions by Griffin with local investors indicated that he had met with very little enthusiasm from potential investors.

Leroy Olask, head of the Industrial Foundation and manager of Texas Electric in Lamesa, said this morning, "This came up too suddenly for local investors but we do plan to back any potential buyer that Magnatex may locate for the plant."

"We met briefly this morning with Allen Bligh, chamber manager; Ray Renner, head of the industrial team; Walter Buckel, local publisher and others to discuss any possibilities of aiding in any way to keep the facility in Lamesa."

Dial-a-President show set, button pusher poised

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a room in the White House complex now that looks like a bookie joint. Or maybe one of those potboiler operations where telephone pitchmen sell stock in the Brooklyn Bridge.

It is the heart of Dial-a-President, or "Ask President Carter" as it's called, the two-hour period Saturday afternoon when you can get on the telephone and talk with Jimmy Carter about whatever bugs you.

Banks of telephones are at one end of the room, complicated electronics equipment at the other. And in the center, like Zeus, sits Emerson Stone, his finger on the wipe-out button.

President Carter and Walter Cronkite, the two voices on the White House end of the radio talk show, will not be in the mission control center in the Old Executive Office Building. They will be in the Oval Office, seated before microphones and a television set that flashes the caller's name and its pronunciation.

Cronkite's major role will be to say "The toll-free number to call is 900-242-1611." (Yes, it's a 900 area code — the first). He will also act as the talk show host, gently easing off the verbose and redundant and keeping things moving. He can ask follow-up questions.

Emerson Stone's role will be different. When the show goes on the air at 2 p.m. EST, his finger will be poised over a silvery button, ready to strike if the language gets saltier than hell and damn.

"The President and I will be the only people with The Button that day," he jokes.

Stone is a CBS Radio News vice president cast in a role performed by call-in talk show hosts on late-night radio all over the country.

There'll be a 6½ second delay before the conversation goes on the air. If your radio is on while you talk

Rountree announces for city council

Doug Rountree, 2504 Carlton, has thrown his hat in the ring for the race for the place three seat on the Big Spring City Council.

Rountree is the general manager for the Ken Sewell Distributing Company, 400 W. 3rd. He has been with the firm for the last six years.

Although not a native Big Springer, Rountree has spent most of his life in the city and calls Big Spring "home." He graduated from Big Spring High School in 1965, and spent two years at Howard College after graduation.

He spent two years in Dallas as an employe of LTV Aircraft Assembly before returning to Big Spring and joining Sewell.

He has a wife, Terry, and a son, Michael, 12.

"About all I can say at this point is that if I am elected to the council, I will do the best job I possibly can," said Rountree.

Election needed?

Briscoe 'looking' at tax

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe is still looking over a proposed refinery tax as a substitute for the property tax in supporting Texas public schools.

"It is a new and different approach," Briscoe told a news conference Thursday afternoon.

"I have asked my staff to study the proposal. I would not now be ready to answer whether it violates the no-new tax policy."

"I understand this is new because it requires a constitutional amendment approved by the people."

The refinery tax has been introduced in both the House and Senate by a group of prominent legislative leaders. The measure would allow the property tax to be replaced by a five per cent levy on crude oil entering refineries as the main support of Texas public schools.

If approved by voters in November, 1978, it would be up to the 1979 Legislature to put the tax to work.

Briscoe also said he was disappointed that the Senate has not acted on his highway financing bill but "I am confident we will have an adequate highway financing bill and I have hopes the Senate will take action in the very near future," Briscoe said.

The measure was rushed through the House Feb. 9 after Briscoe labeled it an "emergency" but has lingered in a Senate subcommittee since then.

He said he had "a very pleasant, private conversation" over the bill's future with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and "I feel optimistic."

Briscoe also said he was optimistic about the Senate confirming Dr. John B. Coleman, Houston, to the Texas A&M University board. Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, has asked that consideration of Coleman be delayed until he could find out more about him.

"I have had some private conversations with the Senate," Briscoe said. "I feel very confident that Dr. Coleman will be approved."

Briscoe was asked whether he had ever thought of putting his private holdings in trust like President Carter or Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex.

"No, I have not," he said. "I don't see any sense in it. If you can point out at any time that I have a conflict, well point it out."

"I came in this job not to make money but to serve the people of this state."

The governor was asked again about his reported plans to run for a third term.

"Well, I'll say as I have before. I have found stronger support for my administration the last six months than I have ever found at any time. I like this job. It is a challenging job, and I'll be making an announcement, sometime.

"But not in the immediate future. Certainly not until after the legislature."

Miner rescue hopes set for tonight

TOWER CITY, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers, wary of a possible cave-in in the four-foot escape passage they were carving, today tediously chipped through a 50-foot wall of coal to reach an imprisoned miner.

They hoped to free him tonight.

As rescuers inched sideways toward him from a nearby tunnel at the rate of one foot an hour, Ronald Adley, 37, waited a mile inside a 400-foot mountain in the heart of Pennsylvania's hard coal region north of Harrisburg.

Only one base to close?

An analysis

Is the Air Force (and the Department of Defense) delaying a decision about the future of Webb AFB of Big Spring and Craig AFB of Selma, Ala., because the agencies are considering the closure of only one Air Training Command facility?

An Alabama delegation had some cause for such reasoning after going to Washington earlier this week to confer with Pentagon and Congressional officials.

The Alabama party, which was headed by Gov. George Wallace, was favorably impressed by the warmth with which it was greeted. At the same time, the Alabamians learned absolutely nothing about the future of the two bases, perhaps because that future has not been determined.

There was definitely an indication, according to a source close to the group, that the Pentagon is taking a second and more penetrating look into the moves for cutbacks and proposed closures.

Wallace and an Alabama Congressional delegation which included Sens. John Sparkman and Allen and Cong. Walter Flowers and Bill Nichols were given an audience with President Carter.

Wallace said later that Carter made no commitments about Craig but had long been "aware" of the economic impact that the closure of the base would have on that part of Alabama and promised to confer with military officials about it.

Wallace said that Carter pledged all the government help possible to the area in order to soften the economic blow in event Craig was closed.

If the Alabama delegation was cheered by the visit to Washington, a local group concentrating on efforts to salvage Webb remains apprehensive about a possible confrontation with President Carter.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, in Washington to attend a conference of governors, appealed personally to Carter for a meeting with a Big Spring group. That representation would be headed by Mayor Wade Choate. Gov. Briscoe's office was to alert Choate sometime if such a meeting could be arranged.

No word heard on Carter meet

No word had been received by noon Friday on attempts to set up a meeting with President Jimmy Carter over the future of Webb Air Force Base.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe's Washington office was expected to call Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate with more information about the meeting sometime Friday.

Closing officer appointed at Webb

A closing officer has been appointed at Webb Air Force Base, but the last class has not yet arrived at the base, according to information officer Capt. Dick Risk.

The officer, not identified by Risk, has been designated, but will not become active unless the base is actually being closed. He was not asked to remain after a transfer date.

Craig AFB in Alabama also has a closing officer designated. Capt. Risk said, "The other ATC bases considered as alternatives for closure may also have a closing officer designated."

A rumor this week that the very last class to be trained at Webb has arrived is a false rumor.

A Fixed Wing Class arrived on Feb. 3. A T-37 Security Assistance Class arrived on Feb. 9. A T-38 class is due on March 10.

According to Risk, the projected classes for the Air Training Command at Webb have been projected as far into the future at this base as any other base. They are projected into the middle of 1979.

Snyder jury sentences kidnaper

SNYDER, Tex. (AP) — A nine-man, three-woman jury here has sentenced an already condemned man to ten years in prison for kidnaping a state trooper.

On Wednesday, Charles Francis Rumbaugh, 19, was found guilty of kidnaping Trooper Keith Pherigo Dec. 7, 1975. The jury deliberated three hours Thursday before agreeing on the sentence.

Earlier, an Amarillo jury had found him guilty of killing a jewelry store clerk during a robbery and sentenced him to die in the electric chair.

The San Angelo resident and two other prisoners escaped from the Potter County jail in Amarillo and captured Pherigo when he stopped drove to the Scurry County Courthouse here, where he later was released unharmed when the men were arrested.

Accused killer fights extradition

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — The attorney for a man accused of murder in Texas said today she will fight his extradition.

Bernalillo County District Court Judge Richard Traub Thursday authorized the extradition of David Grijalva, 25, who is wanted in connection with the murder of an Amarillo, Tex. woman.

Amarillo police said Mary Janette Powers, 30, was killed when a masked robber forced her head into a pizza dough mixer in a $300 robbery.

Alice Hector of the state public defender's office said Grijalva is not competent to participate in extradition proceedings and said papers filed by Texas authorities don't meet requirements.

Country Club sued after fall

A lawsuit was filed in 118th District Court Thursday by Mrs. Margaret D. Miller against the Big Spring Country Club asking, "at least $50,000 in damages" for a fall she allegedly sustained there "on or about July 25, 1976."

Mrs. Miller, with her husband, John R. Miller, a pharmacist at the Veterans Administration Hospital, were members of the club for about six months during 1976, according to the club manager.

The lawsuit claims that Mrs. Miller fell in the club building hallway after playing a game of golf.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Comic query

Q. Why were Li'l Abner and Dick Tracy dropped from the comic sections?

A. It was a decision of management that their replacements, Lolly and Gil Thorpe, were more in tune with the times. After many years, Al Capp's humor and social messages projected in Li'l Abner seemed to get a bit repetitious. Chester Gould, creator of Dick Tracy, was very effective as long as he had Tracy fighting the mischief makers in his community but he began to get a little unbelievable when he found people living on the other side of the moon. He somehow could not bring them back to the mundane things on earth. At 77 (or thereabouts), Gould still insists on doing all his own art work and plot-planning — certainly no sin, but he could use some fresh ideas.

Offbeat: Pledge preserved

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Howard Freed has sworn off cigarettes. You can look it up.

Freed, president pro tem of the state senate, was moved to say, "I'm finished with smoking forever" after a 26-24 vote on a bill that would require no-smoking sections in public places such as government buildings, restaurants, theaters and auditoriums. Violators would be subject to a $100 fine.

As the vote was being tallied, Freed pitched his pack of cigarettes into a wastebasket behind him and then stood to announce to the chamber: "I just threw away my cigarettes. I'm finished with smoking forever."

His pledge is preserved for posterity in the Senate Journal.

Massage bill gets slow rub

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas representatives have put off until Monday a proposal that would let counties control massage parlors.

The House tentatively approved Thursday, 115-5, Rep. Gene Green's bill enabling counties to pass ordinances to regulate massage parlors, many of which have moved into rural areas to escape ordinances passed by city councils.

A final vote next week could send the bill to the Senate.

The Senate quit until 11 a.m. Monday and the House until 2 p.m.

Senators ended their work week by refusing, 13-17, to take up Sen. Lloyd Doggett's bill that would stop state universities from issuing construction bonds backed by students' tuition payments.

Doggett, D-Austin, said $23.7 million in such bonds had been issued in the past nine years — not to mention other bonds backed by building use fees, also paid by students.

"It seems to me these bonds have served a very useful purpose in building our schools. It would just compound the revenue problem," protested Sen. Pete Snelson, D-Midland. Green, D-Houston, said Harris and Dallas County already had a problem of massage parlors operating wide open in rural areas after tight city regulations shut them down.

He predicted the same problem soon would arise in other counties.

The House passed, 84-56, and sent to the governor a bill allowing the Department of Public Safety to issue alias driver licenses to undercover agents.

Green, also the sponsor of this bill, said agents are obtaining alias licenses now, with no control by the DPS. Also sent to the governor was a bill allowing the University of Texas to set up a fund to pay medical malpractice claims against its — medical students, residents and faculty. The university's malpractice premium is $3 million, against claims of about $100,000 a year.

The House amended, then passed, a bill prohibiting state banks from moving across county lines, the outgrowth of the move of a bank in Hearne to the Bryan-College Station area.

Senators must approve a House amendment, allowing such moves if within the same city, before the measure can go to the governor.

House members also passed, 113-5, and returned to the Senate an amended bill that would remove from birth certificates any indication whether a baby was legitimate.

The Senate passed 25-5 and sent to the House a bill that would prohibit the netting of fish in passes to the Gulf of Mexico. Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, protested that commercial fishermen has not had adequate notice of the bill in order to protest it. Sen. Grant Jones, D-Ablene, said the measure merely reinstated what had been state before a rewrite of state game and fish laws in 1975 inadvertently omitted it.

Also approved was a Senate bill prohibiting a commercial fisherman from being a fish farmer.

Senators approved 30-0 a bill that would let retired teachers act as substitute teachers for 120 days a year instead of 100, without losing their retirement benefits. Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, said the substitute teachers were widely needed

Suddenly from Datsun:

200-SX

A sporty car with everything but a sports car price.

Exit dull, sluggish economy cars. Enter Datsun's spicy 200-SX. Sweet-handling. Tasty appointments. And no bitter price to swallow. Enjoy.

Fun and frugal 5-speed. Datsun 200-SX sports a 5-speed transmission which works like over-drive. So it not only zips around traffic, it zooms past gas pumps.

According to EPA estimates, it squeezes 34 MPG on the open road, 23 around town. Naturally, your actual mileage may differ, depending on how and where you drive, the condition of your car and its optional equipment.

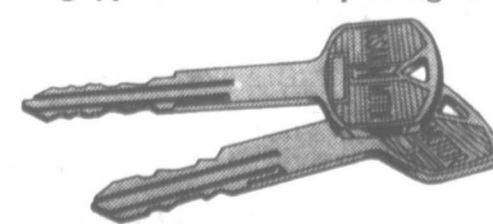

Tough sport. Solid, all-steel unibody is but one example of how the Datsun 200-SX is put together to stay together.

Fact is, it's tough all over. Because when we made this fun little car, we made sure of one thing. The fun would last.

Extras, yes. Extra cost, no.

- Sporty 5-speed gearbox
- Power-assist front disc brakes
- Steel belted white sidewall radial tires
- Fully reclining bucket seats
- Electric rear window defogger
- Tinted glass
- AM/FM multiplex stereo radio
- Tachometer
- Electric clock
- Cut-pile carpeting

These and other high standards are all included in the low sticker price: $4399. (M.S.R.P. for a 1977 Datsun 200-SX. Not including taxes, destination charges, license or title fees and optional tape stripe and mag type wheel cover package.)

Suddenly it's going to dawn on you.

Weather

Mercury plunges to 9 degrees

By the Associated Press

Texas weather calmed today as threatening turbulence surged out of state toward the east and a sharp cold snap nipped the western mountains.

Rivers and smaller streams still flowed full in the east third of Texas with runoff from 2 to 5 inches of rain from Thursday's bristling thunderstorms, but there was no word of serious flooding.

Although tornado warnings went up Thursday evening in extreme Southeast Texas, the National Weather Service said no twisters appeared. It reported limited damage here and there from straight winds accompanying an east-bound cold front.

Skies cleared at many points — even at Dalhart in the Panhandle, where there was a brief snow shower before midnight but not enough to measure.

Near dawn the mercury plunged to a frigid 9 degrees above zero in the mountains of far West Texas.

Among other chilly spots were Dalhart 21, Lubbock 23, Wink 25, Midland-Odessa 26, El Paso 28, Abilene 29 and San Angelo and Wichita Falls 31. Readings elsewhere ranged through the higher 30s and 40s, staying as high as 58 at Brownsville in the extreme south.

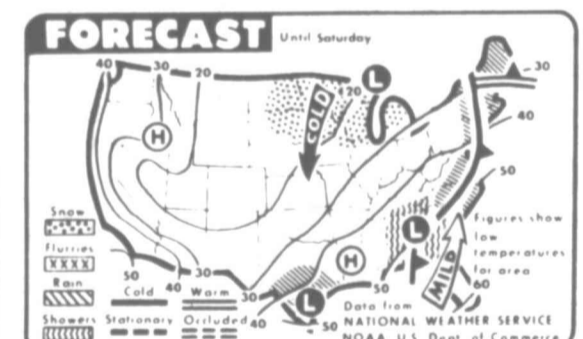

Increasing cloudiness and cooler weather were forecast in all sections tonight and Saturday with scattered showers developing in the south part of West Texas and possibly in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Becoming mostly cloudy tonight through Saturday. Scattered showers developing south portions tonight and continuing through Saturday morning. Cool days and cold nights, except extreme south through Saturday. Low tonight 20s north to upper 30s south except Texas mountains. High Saturday 40s north to 50s south and 70s Big Bend.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Dry with a slow warming trend Sunday through Tuesday. Lows north 20s warming to mid 30s Tuesday, south 30s warming to 40s Tuesday. Highs north 50s warming to 60s Tuesday, south 60s warming to 70s Tuesday.

Selecting jury mammoth task

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys will be trying to select the second juror in the capital murder trial of multimillionaire Cullen Davis today in this, the ninth day, of what appears to be a mammoth undertaking.

Thirty-seven prospective jurors have been questioned thus far, and only Richard Ard, a Federal Aviation Administration employee, has been chosen to decide Davis' fate.

The Fort Worth industrialist is on trial for the Aug. 3 slaying of his stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, 12. He has also been charged and indicted for capital murder in the shooting death of Stan Farr, 30, his estranged wife's boy friend. The shootings occurred at Davis' $6 million mansion on Fort Worth's southwest side. Dist. Atty. Tim Curry said he will seek the death penalty in both cases.

Davis, 43, is also charged with attempted capital murder for allegedly shooting Gus Gavrel, 21, a chance visitor to the Davis mansion that night, and attempted murder in the shooting of his wife, Priscilla, 35.

Jury selection began Feb. 24. At the time, the attorneys estimated it could take upwards of six weeks before 12 jurors were found that satisfied both sides.

Gammage wins round

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Gammage was the picture of confidence. Gone was the ashtray filled to overflowing with cigarette butts. In their place, sat a big celebration cigar.

Thursday was a day for such traditional smokes in the Democrat's camp. The day before, the Texas Supreme Court ruled that it had no authority to overturn his 265-vote victory over incumbent Republican Ron Paul in last November's election.

The district includes Fort Bend and Brazoria Counties and takes in part of heavily-populated southeastern Harris County.

"Half that ton of lead I've been carrying around on my shoulders has been lifted," Gammage said, smiling through the cigar smoke. Still to contend with is the protest Paul filed with the House, challenging his opponent's right to the seat. The House Administration Committee has appointed a three-member subcommittee to deal with it, but not many people, including Paul, are convinced anything will come of the protest.

The subcommittee has a two-to-one Democratic majority, as does the full House. After the court's ruling, Paul conceded he didn't expect his House appeal to generate any enthusiasm, much less success.

"I don't even contemplate it," he said with finality, adding that he expects to run for the seat in 1978. Gammage has already filed a motion asking summary dismissal on the grounds that Paul has failed to document the election chicanery he alleges within congressional time limits for presenting evidence. The subcommittee has not scheduled a public meeting for deciding the case.

With the election outcome apparently resolved, Gammage now turns his attention to other problems like his $42,000 campaign debt that may be aggravated by the fees of the six attorneys he has hired to fight various phases of Paul's challenge.

The House, under the federal contested elections law, may reimburse him for some or all of those legal fees. Gammage has requested that it do so.

Twisters rip barns, smash power lines

MONROE, La. (AP) — Tornadoes knocked over several trailers, wrecked a few barns and sheds, felled trees and power lines and damaged roofs before departing North Louisiana late Thursday.

No injuries or major damage were reported from the twisters, which sprang from a cold front that swept eastward across the state.

The National Weather Service said five tornadoes touched down at several points in Lincoln, Union, Caldwell, West Carroll, East Carroll, Morehouse and Richland parishes.

Heavy rain caused brief street flooding in Monroe, Bastrop and other places. The weather service said Monroe got 2 1/2 inches of rain within two hours.

Cynthia Marler was at her desk in a 2,000-square-foot metal shed when what was believed to be a twister damaged the building at the Louisiana Mud & Chemical Plant in Ruston.

"She said it got real dark, and the rain started beating on that metal building and she looked outside," a co-worker related. "She said she saw that shed raise up and set back down, raise up and set back down. The next time it raised up, it just got turned inside out."

Poisoning people for loot?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — "You're poisoning people for a dollar bill," farmer Ronald Thomas said, fighting back the tears as his voice broke when he told legislators his son had been poisoned with the chemical PBB.

Thomas then broke down in sobs as he told the state House Public Health Committee Thursday that the PBB-contaminated grain fed to his dairy herd caused his 4-year-old son's enlarged liver and spleen.

"I don't know what's going to happen to him, but if anything does there's going to be all kinds of hell to pay in this state," warned the 43-year-old dairy farmer from Gregory.

"My wife is having trouble with her vision, and I'm so tired it takes me all day and all night to do my chores," he said. Thomas was among a group of farmers who told legislators of bizarre illnesses which struck their families after their livestock ate feed contaminated with PBB, polybrominated biphenyl, a fire retardant.

The accidental contamination occurred in 1973 at the Battle Creek plant of the Michigan Farm Bureau Services when bags were mixed up and workers thought they were putting a food additive in the feed.

The farmers urged passage of a bill sponsored by state Rep. Francis Spaniola to lower the permitted levels in animal products from the current 300 parts per billion to 20 parts per billion.

They detailed symptoms ranging from diarrhea to swollen joints that occurred since the 1973 PBB contamination.

Many said their herds' contamination levels were within so-called "safe" state and federal guideline levels.

Medical studies in the past have registered PBB in milk from new mothers, and a controversial state-sponsored study by Dr. Irving Selikoff cited possible links between PBB and human illnesses.

In another part of Lansing, meanwhile, a group called the Young Farmers Committee held a news conference to warn of the economic effects on Michigan farmers if the PBB levels are lowered.

"I'm healthier than I have been in the last three years," said Jerry Heck, 27, a Monroe County farmer who said he has consumed large amounts of PBB from his own once-quarantined farm.

Since 1973 when PBB was mixed in Michigan livestock feed, thousands of animals have been destroyed and nearly $8 million paid to farmers in settlements reached with the Michigan Farm Bureau and Michigan Chemical Co., which produced the chemical.

Frost's appointment voted

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas senators approved 28-3 the appointment of Mike F. Frost of McAllen to be a member of the Texas Water Quality Board.

Sen. A.R. Swartz, D-Galveston, asked Thursday that Frost's appointment be voted on separately but had no other comments.

On Wednesday, Schwartz told Frost and Frank Lewis of Matagorda County that he opposed their appointment to the Texas Water Quality

Board because they were against his bill to allow the attorney general to sue water polluters without board permission.

The Senate Nominations Subcommittee approved Frost's appointment but delayed Lewis's nomination until further study.

AFTER FUNERAL — Puerto Rican nationalist Lolita Lebron is shown just behind Puerto Rico Independence Party president Ruben Berrios, who is holding his right hand up to the crowd. Mrs. Lebron, one of five nationalists who shot up the U.S. Congress in 1954, was given special permission by President Carter to leave her prison cell to attend the funeral of her daughter in San Juan, Puerto Rico, Thursday.

'Shock probation' suggested

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A subcommittee of the "Little Hobby Commission" says only one new prison facility would be needed if Texas overhauled its parole system.

Such an overhaul dominated 22 recommendations made by the corrections subcommittee Thursday.

Among the panel's innovative suggestions is one calling for a "shock probation" program in which first offenders whose crime did not involve violence would be held long enough to give them a "taste" of prison life but not long enough to acquire "social values."

The committee also recommended construction of a prison medical facility on the campus of the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston.

The medical facility proposal won the praise of Jim Estelle, director of the Texas Department of Corrections.

Estelle said, however, the committee's estimates on prison population over the next few years are unrealistically low.

The committee said a new prison should be built, but a second prison — recommended by Estelle — need not be because the streamlined parole system would reduce the need for one.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, joint chairman with Speaker Billy Clayton of the efficiency-innovation commission, said the recommendations "hold great promise. They are very innovative."

Among the recommendations are ones that call for:

- Movement of the Board of Pardons and Paroles from Austin to Huntsville.
- Mandatory supervision of all offenders after release from prison.

- Contracting with the medical branch for 60 to 100 psychological or psychiatric evaluations a year on inmates about whom the board feels it needs additional information.
- Asking the governor's office to expedite final review of parole cases in which the inmate: did not use firearms; did not assault anyone; receives no negative comment from trial officials; and receives the unanimous approval of the parole panel reviewing the case.
- Interviewing each new inmate within 90 days of his arrival at prison, explaining the parole law to him and when he will become eligible for parole.
- Establishing "mutually compatible computer systems" between the board and the corrections department.
- Repeal many of the laws prohibiting licensing of ex-felons for certain professions or occupations.

—Expansion of inmate training programs to provide marketable skills.

Laredo air service applicants assailed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Laredo needs more air service, but the city would be worse off than before if any of the three airlines that want to provide it gets permission to, says the man who heard all the evidence.

John Soule, former aeronautics commission hearing examiner now with the railroad commission, Thursday said his recommendation to the aeronautics commission would be to turn down all three applicants.

The route currently is being served by Texas International.

Soule said, "The city (Laredo) would benefit from more service — no doubt about it — but it would cause Texas International either to reduce its service or stop it entirely, leaving the city worse off than before."

The applicants are Amistad Airlines, Metroflight and Tejas. Tejas is not yet in existence but would be organized for the San Antonio-Laredo flight.

Mess Coahoma is exotic dancer

By MARJ CARPENTER

Harold Abergg, a member of the Coahoma school board, and sponsored by Little Sooper Market, won the second annual Mess Coahoma pageant at the high school auditorium Thursday night.

The benefit tongue-in-cheek event saw the Band Boosters Club net a nice profit and eight men in the community demonstrate good humor and good sportsmanship as well as dubious beauty and talent.

Abergg won with what was called "a number by the only modern exotic dancer in Coahoma." He was attired in a tight, short skirt and jacket which had been resurrected from somebody's late '60 wardrobe and he had a physique reminiscent of Mae West.

A close runner-up and deemed winner by at least part of the judging panel was the Rev. Charlie Murphy, Presbyterian pastor, sponsored by Sub Surface Speciality Inc.

The first runner-up presented a gourmet cooking routine and appeared in a dubious cook's outfit, and a five o'clock shadow claiming that "Women can do anything men can do and I'll grow a beard if I want to."

Second runner-up was Johnny Zitterkopf, with a "Tiptoe Through the Tulips" routine reminiscent of Tiny Tim. Zitterkopf, a Cosden employee, was attired in a white formal and sponsored by Coahoma Kitchin.

John Snyder, Church of Christ minister and Dr. Coy Little were judged "the prettiest" by the judging panel but had little talent.

The judges, in their commentary also decided that Brad McQuerry, attired in a woman's worn out pink robe, was a great sport but had no talent at all. The Rev. Gerald Langdon, Baptist pastor, was judged the bravest because he came out on stage first.

Dr. Gayle Kilgore, who did a Minnie Pearl routine and Fred Davis, who dressed as a healthy Hawaiian hula girl were judged to be imposters because the judges knew they resided in Big Spring.

One of Davis' henchmen threatened the judging panel of Bill Burroughs, this reporter, and Mike Neel of Forsan as they were leaving the auditorium.

Roy Carden acted as master of ceremonies and male members of the band attired in formals served as ushers. Alvie Ballard, the real band sweetheart, presented the flowers and crown.

Rev. Murphy, who also had been named "Miss Congeniality" threw a tantrum on the stage because he didn't win the crown. There was some discussion of revoking his Miss Congeniality crown.

The winner is eligible to compete for Mess America if there is such a contest. The Big Spring Herald, which correctly spelled "Mess Coahoma" in the calendar for four days, are considering a lawsuit because

'Sweet, honesty'

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Roger Young, who earns $153 a week as a janitor, doesn't believe in keeping things that aren't his.

When he found a wallet on the shelf of a pay telephone in the state Capitol basement recently, he turned it in to his boss. Had he bothered to look inside, he would have found ten $100 bills.

"I wouldn't care if it was one dollar or a million dollars," said Young, 30, of nearby Mission Hollow. "I wouldn't attempt to keep a man's billfold. I lost mine once, and I never found it."

Dale Smith, president of Electrolert Inc., the owner of the wallet said he was pleased the wallet was returned and rewarded Young with one of the $100 bills.

it's one of the few times it spelled an item correctly for four consecutive days when everyone thought it was incorrect.

Other sponsors of the Mess were Harding Well Service, D&A Well Service, Coahoma State Bank, Fowler's Texaco, Coahoma Ins. Co., Jack Lewis Buick and O.D. O'Daniel Trucking.

Construction at Gail pushed

GAIL — Construction is under way at the Borden County Schools on the $1 million worth of improvements voted by the school patrons.

The project includes a new cafeteria, a new gymnasium, two recreation centers and locker areas similar to the Greenwood school.

There will be five new classrooms, and a new kindergarten. The present cafeteria area is being changed to a learning center.

Forsan open house dates

FORSAN — To coordinate with Texas Public School Week, the board of trustees set Monday, March 7 and Thursday, March 10 as open house dates for Elbow Elementary and Forsan Junior and Senior High Schools.

The public is especially invited on these two nights to visit the schools. The Elbow PTA and the Forsan Booster Club will sponsor a "Meet Your Board Candidate" night in conjunction with the Elbow Open House Monday, March 7 at 7 p.m.

This year's board election is attracting more than usual attention with the announcement by Gene Adams, D.W. Day, H. Boyce Hale, A.J. Stanley along with incumbents Bill Mims and Elbert Strickland for the two positions.

Babysitters will be provided during the program and school visitation time at Elbow. The open house at Forsan Junior and Senior High will be from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday, March 10. Other public school week activities will be announced by the two principals.

In other action, the board of trustees extended until June 30, 1980, the contracts for Bill Cregar as elementary principal at Elbow and for Jack Woodley as junior and senior high principal at Forsan. Cregar is presently in his 12th year with the Forsan Schools and Woodley his sixth year. Both principals have new curricular programs in progress and are beginning to see the conclusion of an extensive building and remodeling program.

Parents interested in transferring their children in or out of the Forsan school district are reminded that this action must be taken prior to May 1. Those interested in transferring should contact the administrative offices of the district to which they desire to attend. Transferring is an annual requirement for those effected and must be accomplished by May 1.

TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 7:30 P.M.

HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

That's right!! Up With People, the exhilarating group of young performers who have warmed hearts throughout the world, will be returning to Big Spring next month.

Under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Herald, a Up With People cast of more than 80 young people from every state in the nation and eight foreign countries will perform at the High School Auditorium March 8.

Last year alone, Up With People performed at the Kentucky Derby, Indianapolis 500 and as the featured halftime entertainment at Super Bowl X.

They have brought their message — "People are what matter in this world" — to nearly 600 communities throughout the world in the past year. And they have left their happy audiences numbering more than four million, believing that message is one worth celebrating.

Up With People is a non-profit, educational organization made up of some of the most dedicated and sincere young people in the world.

Besides all that, Up With People is darn good entertainment — inspirational in a way none other can be. You owe it to yourself to experience Up With People.

Tickets will be sold and seating will be limited for the performance. Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for students.

Tickets will go on sale Feb. 17, and if any tickets remain unsold on the night of the performance, they will be sold at the regular price.

Blocks of reserved seats are available for businesses, clubs or other organizations and can be reserved before the general ticket sales open. Persons interested in purchasing blocks of tickets should contact the Herald.

Firing of nurse to help pass law

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A controversy over the firing of a Dallas nurse who openly supported revision of the Nurse Practice Act has reached the House and Senate, where bills proposing such revision await action.

Rep. Frank Gaston, R-

Dallas, called the firing of Pat Driscoll "tragic," but predicted Thursday that the incident will help the proposed legislation to overhaul the 53-year-old act.

"I think it helps us tremendously," said Gaston, the co-author of the House measure. "It was tragic that it had to happen, but it illustrates one of the major problems in medicine today."

In a brief personal privilege speech before the Senate Thursday, Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, said, "As a result of this, at least 11 nurses who had planned to testify on this bill have decided not to testify and risk their jobs."

"People should be able to express their views before the legislature without fear of losing their jobs. I think you should know about this and be aware of it," Clower added.

Rep. Eddie Bernice Johnson of Dallas said earlier that she is resigning from the hospital's advisory council to "condemn" what she called "repressive action."

The bills, which await committee action in both houses, would define and set minimum standards for Texas nurses and give a new board the power to enforce those standards.

Mrs. Driscoll, who was fired Monday from her post as vice president of nursing services at Dallas' St. Paul's Hospital, indicated prior to a Capitol news conference Thursday that she won't file a suit to reclaim her job.

"We're looking at what options are available to us," she said.

But when asked if that included a lawsuit, Mrs. Driscoll answered, "It doesn't look like a realistic option right now."

The Texas Nurses Association, which is actively supporting the bills, branded the firing as "typical of intimidation being practiced against nurses who dare to stand up for reform of health care standards."

Mrs. Driscoll said authorities told her that she had been fired because of "philosophical differences," but added that her supervisor indicated those differences included Mrs. Driscoll's support of the reform measures.

She said she doesn't know what her future plans will be.

Donald Duck quacking down

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP) — Donald Duck and his sidekicks are quacking down on weekend burglaries in this Rio Grande Valley town.

As comical and outlandish as it may seem, Donald and his citizen's band radio buddies are no laughing matter, said San Benito Police Capt. Ovidio Gonzalez.

"They are the eyes and ears of San Benito," noted Gonzalez. "They don't make arrests but they call us when they see something or someone suspicious."

"I don't have exact percentages, but the number of weekend burglaries have drastically reduced," he continued. "Before the REACT patrols, we would have a wreck on one side of town that would keep the police busy and the burglars would be hitting the other side of town, but not any more."

Radio Emergency Associated Citizens' Team (REACT) is a nationwide organization which monitors the CB emergency channels.

"The mayor came to us and asked our help," said Don Poenisch, the president of REACT, based in San Benito. "We've been patrolling for about a month and it seems to have helped."

Poenisch, whose CB handle is Donald Duck, said the patrols are set up on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights when the police force in this town of about 17,000 is busy handling bar brawls, wrecks and other disturbances.

"The police can't be everywhere at once and the burglars have CBs...they know where the police are," added Poenisch, a former police officer. "We have from four to eight vehicles patrolling a night and we have a man at the police station monitoring our reports. If he hears of a bad situation, he informs the police dispatcher."

"These guys are performing a tremendous service," complimented Gonzalez. "They don't get paid. They use their own cars and their own gas."

"We probably can't stop all the burglaries in town, but we can sure try," said a REACT member known as Captain Midnight. "Maybe when the word gets around about our patrols, the burglars will stay out of San Benito."

Cancer event slated April 4

Details of the forthcoming Cancer Crusade were discussed at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the local unit at noon Wednesday at Spanish Inn.

The campaign date has been set for April 4, in accordance with the campaign throughout the nation, with Dave Morrison as crusade chairman. He announced Wednesday that Coach Don Robbins will head the door-to-door campaign; Mrs. John Currie, special gifts and Curt Mullins, business campaign.

Mrs. Sherrie Bordofski presided and heard a report of a total of $4,487.64 deposited thus far this year for a combination of the Bike-a-thon and memorials.

Memorials for the Cancer Society go to Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart at Box 2121.

Mrs. Clyde Thomas reported that the local unit has bandages, hospital beds and other items available for cancer patients upon request. The unit is not allowed to give financial assistance.

A report by Mrs. Kay Clark on educational activities included films shown at the high school, and plans for the lung machine to be taken to Rannels Junior High and to the Boy Scout Exhibition.

The possibility of an "I Quit Clinic" was discussed with Maj. Edward Morton.

Board members present included Al Valdes, Bob Hecker, Dr. Jim Cave, Mrs. Ann Fairchild, Mrs. R. Coates, Mrs. Marj Carpenter, Mrs. Bordofski, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Currie, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Thomas, Maj. Morton, Morrison, and Mullins.

Rodeo vet ropes cash in Tucson

DENVER, Colo. — Sonny Davis, a 42-year-old rodeo veteran from Kenna, N.M., wound up the big winner at the Fiesta De Los Vaqueros rodeo in Tucson, Ariz., which ended Sunday.

Davis took first in the calf roping "average" with a total of 22.0 seconds on two calves, winning a total of $2,756. The six-three, 220-pound cowboy has been a member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association for 24 years, winning three world championships in steer roping and finishing as high as second for the season in calf roping.

He ranches near Kenna, and competes on a limited basis, entering nearby rodeos and a handful of the country's biggest contests, including the Cheyenne Frontier Days rodeo in Cheyenne, Wyo., where he has been an all-around winner.

All-around winner at Tucson was Bob Berger of Norman, Okla., who split first and second in saddle bronc riding and took fourth in bull riding for a total of $2,410. In saddle bronc, he and Paul Mayo, a two-time world champion in bareback riding from Farmers Branch, Texas, both scored 78 points, winning $1,422 apiece. Berger has qualified consistently for the National Finals Rodeo for the past 12 years.

First in bull riding at Tucson was won by Rick Zier of Hardin, Mont., who scored a solid 72 for $1,823.

Danny O'Haco of Winslow, Ariz., took first in bareback riding with 78 points for $1,541. Aron Fertach of Redmond, Ore., was first in the steer wrestling average with 11.4 seconds on two runs for $2,238, and Matt Silveira of Nipomo, Calif., and Les Hirdes and Turlock, Calif., were first in team roping with 17.4 seconds on two, good for $1,739 each.

Courthouse pot missing

TERRELL, Tex. (AP) — A burglar with a key has hauled off 634 pounds of marijuana valued at approximately $135,000 from a locked room at the Kaufman County Courthouse.

Sheriff Ray Brock said Thursday he was given two keys to the storeroom, but apparently there are several in existence. The room showed no signs of forced entry, he said, but a key had been broken off in the lock.

The marijuana was being held as evidence from a Feb. 19, 1976, seizure at the Terrell Municipal Airport.

The marijuana was discovered missing February 3, Brock said.

"At the present time we have knowledge of the location of some of the missing marijuana," Brock said. Both state and local authorities are investigating the case.

Jaycee deplores energy shortage

"The reality of the energy shortage has finally hit home, and we need to emphasize to our government leaders to deregulate oil prices, encourage exploration and explore the alternate fields of energy," Jim Wilson told the West Texas Republican Women when they met at noon Thursday in the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Wilson talked to the group concerning the energy crisis and the needs which it will bring about. He warned that action is "needed yesterday" and "we are already far behind in replacing our energy sources when the oil and gas run out."

Wilson, one of two local Jaycees who took a seminar on energy needs, pointed out that the alternate sources of energy, nuclear, solar, wind and geo-thermal are far behind.

He included the warnings of the dangers of nuclear energy and compared them to Thomas Edison's warnings not to develop electricity because people would be electrocuted.

"Over 1,000 per year are, but this is offset by the tremendous good done by electricity," Wilson added.

"I am for a clean environment but when you start comparing pretty scenery to an environment where you can feed and clothe your family, it isn't hard to choose."

Wilson and Perry Culwell have been speaking to various clubs on the energy crisis, in keeping with a statewide Jaycee project.

Mrs. Winston Wrinkle, president of the group, discussed the scholarship fund asking those who plan to donate to give it to the club treasurer, Mrs. Wallace Hunter.

Mrs. Dene Sheppard, legislative chairman, distributed sheets listing current bills before Congress that are of concern and addresses to write.

Members were urged to write state legislators regarding the "possible disaster" of the refinery school tax.

Mrs. Sheppard pointed out the programs of the present national administration since January including a "huge welfare bill, defense cutbacks and the raise in salary for Congressmen" to which the Republican women were opposed.

Luncheon was served with Mrs. Floyd Mays and Miss Helen Ewing as hostesses. Mrs. Lola Sheppard will be hostess for the April meeting at the same location.

Bill Smith will address DKG

Bill Smith, minister of the First Christian Church, will speak on the topic, "Accountability of Your Life," at the meeting of Beta Kappa Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, Saturday. The program will be in Room S-100 of the Science Building, Howard College at 2 p.m.

Twelve members of the chapter attended a luncheon in Snyder Feb. 26 to honor Alpha State President Lunelle Anderson, who addressed the group.

Variety in food sparks interest

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — To spark a child's interest in food try fixing it in a different way or serving something as simple as pancakes the shape of the child's initials, says Jeannie Sneed, Extension nutrition staff assistant at Oklahoma State University.

Mrs. Pam Carroll, president, said the BSP City Council meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., today at 1400 Tucson. A scavenger hunt for members, their husbands and guests will be March 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Norma Friesen.

Chapter members and the BSBS Student Council will participate in a "Stick 'em up for M.S. Day" April 2. Students will have a "road block" on FM700 and Gregg Street and will also collect in Highland Shopping Center. Proceeds will be used to benefit multiple sclerosis victims in the Permian Basin.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lauretta Glass and Mrs. Rose Stukel. The next meeting will be at 6:30 p.m., March 14 at La Posada.

Mrs. Melvin Newton, Mrs. A.F. Hill and Jim Mitchell were honored in observance of their birthdays at the Tuesday meeting of Rebekah Lodge 284. Cake and coffee were served.

Cites health hazards of obesity

Health hazards related to obesity were explained by Mrs. Nancy Dickens, manager of Magic Mirror Figure Salon, to members of the Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Dickens said American holidays are geared to food, and "everyone has a tendency to overeat." She stressed the need for sufficient exercise to burn excess calories.

Mrs. Hazel Mixson, the vocational speaker, gave a description of her duties as fiscal officer at Webb Air Force Base.

During a candlelight ceremony, Ms. Kristi Perrow of Rowland Real Estate, was inducted into the organization by Mrs. Lou Thompson, president.

It was announced that the spring enrollment tea is slated March 13.

Visitors were Mrs. Esther Trantham, Mrs. Margurite Bryans, Miss Jane Vargo and Ms. Aline Boudreaux.

'Esthetic' preferences

Paintings by Picasso and Van Gogh and sculptures by various artists were compared by Mrs. Beverly Knous and Mrs. Katherine Bartholomew during a program on esthetics presented Monday for Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. Members brought something of their own depicting their personal taste in art or nature.

The dinner meeting featured salads made by members who brought recipes as gifts for guests. The guests, welcomed by Mrs. Doris Arcand, were Mrs. Kathy Foster, Mrs. Judy Hagle, Mrs. Mary Louise Heitz, Mrs. Toni Shellenberger and Mrs. Jackie Taylor.

Mrs. Pam Carroll, president, said the BSP City Council meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., today at 1400 Tucson. A scavenger hunt for members, their husbands and guests will be March 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Norma Friesen.

Blacks Upset About Mixed Marriage

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is in her senior year at college. She is a beautiful girl who has won many honors and beauty contests, but she never let it go to her head. She was always very popular with both boys and girls, and she never gave us any trouble.

She wrote to tell us that she plans to get married after she graduates in June. The man (from what she says about him) is a fine person. He is her college professor.

My husband is heartbroken and says if she marries him she can't set foot in our house again. You see, he is of a different color. I also feel that she would be better off marrying her own kind, but I would never turn her away from our door.

How can I get my husband to change his mind and accept our daughter's husband even if he is white? We are black.

MICHIGAN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Remind your husband that for a people who have suffered from racial discrimination for centuries to insist on "reverse discrimination" in choosing a mate makes no sense. He'll lose his daughter and gain nothing for his race.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 40-year-old divorced woman who came to visit Chicago from a foreign country last October. Without going into detail, I find myself now in a most distressing circumstance.

I am confirmed to be pregnant. The man has left me, and I am without friends, without funds and no source of income.

I will not submit to an abortion as it is against my religious principles. Where can I get help? I feel my obligation to give life to this child, but I cannot see my way clear to be a proper mother and raise a child.

Please, please help me.

STRANDED IN CHICAGO

DEAR STRANDED: Call BIRTHRIGHT—312-233-0353. A courteous, understanding woman will answer all your questions and offer suggestions that are alternatives to abortion. At no cost to you you will be offered medical care for yourself, and arrangements for the adoption of your child. Counseling is available free, too. I urge you to call them at once. Good luck and God bless. Please let me know how you make out. I care.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has two daughters, ages 7 and 5. The 5-year-old strangled her cat with a ribbon and seemed very pleased with herself. When I asked her whatever made her do such a terrible thing, she said, "My brain told me to do it," and she showed no remorse whatsoever.

The 7-year-old confided that she has been stealing money from her friends and school supplies from school. She says she knows it is wrong, but she can't stop doing it.

The girls' mother knows all this, and says she doesn't see anything "unusual" about it. ("All kids steal and kill animals—it's just a part of growing up.") She even hides these facts from her husband.

I am worried sick. Tell me what to do before it's too late.

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: The mother and daughters need treatment, and as a friend who's "worried sick," you should tell the woman's husband what's going on immediately!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Game results in club play

Results of two duplicate games have been announced by Mrs. Fern Ellington, bridge director at Big Spring Country Club.

Mrs. J.H. Fish and Mrs. Ellington place first in the Feb. 23 game, with other top scores going to Mrs. J.H. Parks and Mrs. Travis Reed, second; Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. D.A. Brazel, third; and Mrs. Mary Greenwood and Mrs. W.B. Gill, fourth.

Taking first place in Friday's game were Mrs. Joe Hayden and Mrs. Brazel. Other winners were Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Mrs. Jack Irons, second; Mrs. Hollis Webb and Mrs. Ward Hall, third; and Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. J.H. Fish tied for fourth and fifth places with Mrs. Hayden Griffith and Mrs. James Raoul.

College offers three new sewing classes

Just in time for spring sewing, three new classes will be offered at Howard College under the Continuing Education Program for those interested in making their own clothes. The new classes will be taught by Mrs. Frances Barr, a well-known seamstress in this area.

The first class is "Making Ladies' Pants" and will be offered for three class periods March 14, 16 and 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Science Building, Room 104. The cost is $25 which includes all supplies. Class size is limited. This course will be a demonstration and lecture with no actual sewing in class. It will include introduction to pants patterns, cutting techniques and fitting tips.

The second class is "Basic Sewing with Knits" and will include cutting out patterns, hemming, binding, stitching with lace, sewing zippers, and the basic sewing techniques of sewing with knits of all types. This course will involve actual sewing by the students. Two classes have been set up for this course, each meeting six times. One class will meet Tuesday and Thursday afternoons April 5 and ending April 21. The second class will meet Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning April 4 and ending April 20. Both classes will meet in the Horace Garrett Building Library. Cost for this course is $32.50 and will also be instructed by Mrs. Frances Barr.

The third course planned in this series is "Sewing with Knits-II" which will meet for four weeks Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning April 5 and ending April 28. This is a lecture demonstration class with no actual sewing by the students. Instruction will include a review of the basic knit techniques, sewing zippers, hems, cutting, stitching, binding, bound buttonholes, and advanced techniques of tailoring with knits.

The cost for the advanced knit instruction is $32.50 and will be taught in the Horace Garrett Building Library by Mrs. Frances Barr.

All these of the above described courses are limited in enrollment. To pre-register or get more information, those interested should contact the Continuing Education Office at Howard College, 267-6311, Ext. 70.

Energy Settlement to lower rates

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An out-of-court settlement of San Antonio's half billion dollar suit against its natural gas supplier could mean lower rates for local utility customers by next winter.

The city council, in voting 6-3 Thursday to approve the negotiated settlement, promised to enact by March 31 an ordinance aimed at reducing winter gas rates by about 25 per cent for customers of the municipally-owned City Public Service (CPS) utility.

Exact details of the rate relief plan have not been worked out yet, but it is certain that proceeds from the settlement — estimated at $84 million for San Antonio — will be the key to lower rates.

The city's gigantic damage suit was filed more than two years ago against Coastal States Gas Corp., its chairman, Oscar Wyatt Jr., and its Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. subsidiary.

San Antonio and other customers of Coastal States and Lo-Vaca have suits pending against the gas supplier totaling more than $1.6 billion.

San Antonio's suit, one of the largest litigations in Texas history, is the largest of the customer actions and approval of the settlement here was considered necessary to overall acceptance.

In Houston, Don E. Newquist, Lo-Vaca vice president for public affairs, said the council vote "probably is the first real major step" toward settlement of the old dispute.

"San Antonio has been a real leader in the overall settlement," Newquist said. "I think their taking an official step probably will furnish motivation to go ahead. There are numerous other customers involved and I think the vote, hopefully, will give some motivation to go on in a timely way with the other boards and governing bodies considering the matter. Hopefully, this is a step toward getting some reconciliation to a problem that is not benefitting anyone."

The settlement still has a number of hurdles to clear before it can be finalized. Other customers also must approve it, as must the regulatory Texas Railroad Commission.

And, it will require federal tax rulings and the scrutiny of the U.S. Securities Exchange Commission.

The settlement includes creation of a new "spin-off" natural gas company to be financed by Coastal States. Customers also will receive stock and Coastal States will provide initial funding for an extensive gas search program.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill also has said he expects the pact to meet certain legal criteria.

Westinghouse to pay estimated $2 billion

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three power companies that wanted to force Westinghouse Electric Corp. to honor a contract to supply uranium at one-fourth its current cost have settled instead for cash, equipment and advice.

The difference between the contracted price of $9 a pound and the present price of about $40 a pound would have cost Westinghouse an estimated $2 billion over the next 20 years.

Westinghouse still faces suits from 24 utilities in Virginia and Sweden. Those cases have not yet been heard.

Allegheny County Judge I. Martin Wekselman, who mediated the settlement and announced it Thursday, said the economy of southwestern Pennsylvania had been spared a severe blow.

"The people affected by this case were not just stockholders and chairmen of corporate boards. Thousands of citizens' jobs and the interests of all consumers of energy were at stake," said Wekselman.

Duquesne Light, Ohio Edison and Pennsylvania Power companies had asked the county court to force Westinghouse to provide uranium for their power plants at the price contracted for in the mid-1960s.

Westinghouse had declared it was relieved of contractual obligations because unforeseen market conditions pushed the cost up to about $40 a pound.

Under the agreement, the giant electric equipment maker will give the utilities cash, products and technical advice instead.

There is a provision in the agreement to up the settlement if later deals in other courts are more lucrative.

Further details of the settlement were not revealed pending official approval by corporate boards and by the court, which should take about a month.

Westinghouse's trouble with uranium began when it decided to sell ore in order to boost sales of its nuclear reactors.

Oil starvation warning issued

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A Saudi Arabian newspaper mustered Arab and Western experts today to warn that the world could face oil starvation unless Western countries reduce consumption and Arab countries find new reserves.

Mahmoud Amin, assistant secretary-general of the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries, told the Arab oil producers they are being imprudent by emphasizing production without worrying about exploration.

"Although the total number of exploration wells has been decreasing, more production wells have been added. Production has been outpacing exploration, that is," Amin wrote in OAPEC's monthly news bulletin. His warning was reprinted by the Saudi Gazette, which is owned by Saudi businessman Aly Shobokshi.

Between 1960 and 1974, total reserves of OAPEC crude oil increased from 283 billion barrels to 389 billion, or an increase of 106 billion barrels, Amin said. But during that period, 46 billion barrels were pumped, making the net additional reserves only 60 billion barrels.

Meanwhile, the total number of exploration wells in the OAPEC countries steadily declined, according to official figures, from 134 in 1970 to 101 in 1971, 67 in 1973 and 60 in 1974.

"It is the duty of constantly expanding Arab national oil companies to maintain a balanced petroleum industry, upon which the economies of the Arab oil producing countries solely, or at least largely, rest," Amin added.

More tests in Howard

Tests continued this week at a Howard County prospect in the oil patch.

Great Western Drilling Co. Midland, No. 1 Grantham, in 8-33-2n-T&P, Howard County prospective discovery, one location east of the re-opener of the Knott, West (Pennsylvanian reef) field of Dawson County, and two miles northeast of Knott, pumped 22 barrels of oil and 36 barrels of water in 20 hours.

Recovery was through perforations at 6,826-7,031 feet. Testing continued.

A re-entry operation, it was the former Pennsylvanian opener of the Knott, West field. Drilled to 9,120 feet, it was finished March 14, 1974 for 75 barrels of 42.6 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,773-1, through a 13-64-inch choke and perforations at 9,086-106 feet. It topped the Spraberry at 6,523 feet and the Dan at 7,800 feet.

'Right to work law' repeal still top goal

HOUSTON (AP) — The president-elect of the United Steelworkers of America says he does not believe the inclusion of the repeal of the national "right to work law" will jeopardize a general labor law reform package which is expected to be introduced in the Senate.

Lloyd McBride said Thursday repeal of the Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act must remain the top priority of labor.

"Our goal is to take advantage of Jimmie Carter's pledge to sign the repeal of the notorious 14B should it come to him," McBride told some 350 delegates to the USWA District 37 conference.

Some members of the AFL-CIO reportedly have expressed reservations about lumping the reform legislation with repeal of the 14B issue.

The provisions of the act permit states to pass laws prohibiting the union shop.

Not many people say "Grace" anymore. They sit down and eat. Often they don't even eat together, as a family unit. Sometimes the TV set is the mealtime focus of attention.

When you do go to a house where people say Grace, it can be uncomfortable. You fold your hands and lower your head, but you feel foolish. Why? Giving thanks to God is a habit that goes awayback. So is going to church.

If we turn away from good habits, things that have endured, could it be that we're the losers?

Houston policeman shoots man 13 times

HOUSTON (AP) — Police Chief B. G. Bond says a policeman who shot a man 13 times and killed him during a burglary investigation will be taken off patrol duty pending the outcome of a police administrative personnel review committee.

Bond said Thursday officer J. T. O'Brien will be assigned to a desk job in the patrol division.

Bond said he ordered the committee to make a more in-depth investigation of O'Brien's conduct under stress because questions about why the officer fired 13 shots and reloaded his pistol to do so remain unanswered.

O'Brien said Tommy Hanning, 39, attacked him with a pair of scissors during the investigation of the burglary.

The police report of the incident has been sent to a grand jury for review.

Meanwhile, another police officer has filed an $800,000 libel and slander suit.

W. J. Stewart, a city narcotics officer, filed the lawsuit Thursday against a Houston lawyer and two women. The action came only a few days after Stewart had been cleared by a grand jury.

Stewart fired the shots that killed Sanford Radinsky, 36, a wealthy attorney, during what police called a drug raid at a downtown hotel

Law training offered

The Permian Basin law enforcement academy has announced the ninth session of basic recruit training, commencing March 7, through April 15.

This course of training is offered to all recruit law enforcement officers in the Permian Basin region. Students will receive an extensive training program covering all aspects of criminal law enforcement and investigation, community relations, patrol procedures, and emergency care of the injured in situations most often encountered by officers. The school will be funded through a criminal justice division grant through the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Body identified, suspect questioned

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A Houston man who took several hostages and led police on a back-and-forth chase across South Texas last month will be questioned about the death of a Brownsville service station owner, a Cameron County sheriff's spokesman said.

Officials said fingerprints taken from the hands of a badly decomposed body found last month identified the man as Ruben Gonzales Rios. Chief Deputy George Solis said Rios was last seen Feb. 4 driving a pickup that belonged to Roy Aguilar Parrish, who has been charged with four counts of aggravated kidnaping.

Solis said Rios was to deliver the truck to Parrish, but it was not found until Feb. 25.

Rios' body was discovered by two youths behind a Brownsville motel. Officials said he died from a blow on the head.

Parrish created his own version of the movie "Sugarland Express" when he allegedly shot a Border Patrol guard at the checkpoint in Sarita and then abducted eight people during a 10-hour chase before holing up in a Harlingen motel where police managed to subdue him.

Kiwanians ready to flip pancakes

Kiwanians set March 24 as the date for their annual pancake supper, when they met this week for their weekly meeting.

Co-chairmen of the event this year will be Noel Reed, Jack Davis and Jere Sink.

Harold Canning heads publicity; Bob Goodwin, ticket sales and Pete Hull and Reed, procurement.

The batter mixers are Willie Lane, Harvey Clay and Robert Stripling while Henry Thames heads grills and Jack Alexander will coordinate serving.

The cooks, unfortunately will be Jim Beam, Billy Smith, Dub Moore, Wendal Parks, Herman Smith, Joe Walker, Sherman Smith and Ernest Welch.

Bill Sanders, Louis Dunning and Don McGonagill serve as batter carriers while bacon cooks (or burners) will be Don Green, Jack Lee, William Rothel, Robert Bail, Eugene Gresham, Craig Fischer and Charles Warren.

Jasper, Atkins and Ed Corson will serve the bacon and the Key Club and Circle K will serve the milk. Robert Crowell and J.C. Pickle are the coffee committee and Ben Bancroft and John Hale were selected to represent the syrup.

The table committee is Clyde Hollingsworth, Alan Tinnerstet, Dale Glenn, Charles McCamant, and John B. Phillips.

Ticket sellers are Horace Regan and Roscoe Cowper and talkers are Joe Gordon and Merle Stewart.

The line supply chairmen are G.G. Morehead and H.W. Smith with Gene Adkins in charge of entertainment.

This event will again be at the Howard College cafeteria and tickets will be $2 and on sale soon.

At the meeting Thursday, Jack Davis introduced Ms. Linda Creech, therapist at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

She told of plans for a Cardiac Rehab program for persons released from the hospital before they return to work. This therapy program will be held at the hospital directed by DRRC therapists.

Houston's traffic mess solved?

HOUSTON (AP)—Peter Webster believes if the City of Houston doesn't come up with a mass transit system it soon will be up to its eyebrows in trucks, buses and cars.

Webster, a millwright at a world wide engineering and construction company, has built a scale model of a monorail system that would whiz 18,000 persons an hour from downtown Houston to their suburban homes.

The design was on display recently during an engineering exhibition in Houston and Webster said, "The City Department of Transportation is interested."

It has taken Webster, 53, two years to build his exhibit. He took the exhibit approach because "I wasn't much good with words and I wasn't much good at drawing, so I built this model to show what can be done to eliminate the traffic problems of Houston."

Working during his spare time and days off, Webster constructed the working model "and everybody that has seen it likes the idea. You know we must do something because the freeways will handle only a few more cars. It's a mess now and it's going to be a bigger mess as the city continues to grow."

Not only did Webster come up with his model, but he calculated the total

She will stop advertising

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — In an unusual turnaround, the state Attorney General cracked down on a woman who wasn't selling marijuana.

Carole Corbo of Port Washington, a community on Long Island, placed an advertisement in the Village Voice, a weekly newspaper, early in January, according to Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz.

It read: "MARIJUANA cannot be sold through the mail but 'Grass' can; Grass Homegrown Grass; First Time Ever Sold Publicly; 1/4 oz. bag $5.00!"

Lefkowitz said Thursday the advertisement implied the woman was selling marijuana, when she really was offering lawn grass.

He said she agreed to refrain from similar advertising in the future and also agreed to pay $100 in costs. She did not admit any violation of law, he added.

Marshal must undergo psychiatric exam

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Castroville marshal Frank Hayes must undergo a court-ordered psychiatric exam before he can be arraigned on federal charges that he violated the civil rights of a Mexican-American prisoner he shot to death in 1975.

U.S. District Court Judge Adrian Spears issued the order Thursday and said formal arraignment would be delayed until he receives a report from Wilford Hall USAF Medical Center here.

A pale and casually dressed Hayes was brought to the courthouse Thursday from his cell at state prison in Huntsville, where he is serving a 10-year term for aggravated assault.

He was convicted of the Sept. 14, 1975, shotgun death of Richard Morales, a 27-year-old Castroville construction worker, who was arrested and later was accused of killing on a rural Medina County road.

The former peace officer was originally charged with murder last summer, but was found guilty of the lesser charge. During the trial, Hayes contended he shot Morales accidentally.

Hayes' psychiatric exam is expected to be finished by late next week. He has already been declared sane by physicians prior to his state trial.

The federal intervention comes at the request of Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill. During a recent news conference, Hill told reporters he thought the brevity of Hayes' state sentence was the "initiating concern" for the federal civil rights probe.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell ordered his civil rights division last month to seek indictments in the case. A federal grand jury here last week indicted Hayes, his wife, and sister-in-law.

Hayes' wife, Dorothy, and his sister-in-law, Alice Baldwin, are accused of participating in the transportation of Morales' body to a farm in East Texas. The body was found in a shallow grave there.

Both women pleaded innocent at the arraignment Thursday to charges they were accessories after the fact of a civil rights violation.

Mrs. Hayes was convicted by a state judge of tampering with evidence, a misdemeanor, and given a probation sentence and a fine. She and her sister were free on bonds last week after they appeared before a U.S. magistrate following their indictments.

Pharmacists should be allowed to sub less expensive drugs?

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The ever-increasing price of prescription medicine is causing more people to question whether pharmacists should be given the discretion to distribute less costly drugs to the public. At issue is whether pharmacists should be allowed to substitute less expensive but chemically equivalent drugs for brand-name medications listed by doctors in prescriptions.

Consumer advocates believe such substitutions at the drug counter could save the poor and the elderly millions of dollars a year. They say a doctor often prescribes for example, a $12 penicillin with a brand name when he could just as easily prescribe a $6 penicillin marketed under its generic name.

Doctors are united against substitutions at the counter. They see the proposal as an infringement on the traditional doctor-patient relationship.

The House Health and Welfare Committee is looking at a bill by Rep. Mickey Leland of Houston which would give the power of substitution to pharmacists.

Leland's bill also would create a State Formulary Commission under jurisdiction of the State Board of Pharmacy. The formulary commission — composed of three doctors and three pharmacists — would be charged with developing a list of drugs for which there are no safe substitutes.

The list would be sent to pharmacists, who then would be bound not to make any substitutions for drugs on that list.

Present law allows pharmacists to substitute one brand of a drug for another with the doctor's permission, but Leland, who is a pharmacist, says there often is not time to call a physician about a substitution.

Although the Texas Pharmaceutical Association is on record in support of the Leland bill, pharmacists are by no means united on the issue.

There is the question of a pharmacist's liability insurance.

"I fully expect that the widespread substitution by pharmacist of prescription drugs other than those prescribed by the physician will ultimately result in increased legal suits and, therefore, result in liability insurance premiums as prohibitive as those of the medical profession," Bill Oxford, an Irving pharmacist, testified recently before the House committee.

Additional liability insurance costs could cause pharmacists to raise their prices to a level that would offset any savings to the consumer, Oxford said.

T.L. Vordenbaumen, vice president of TPA, said the State of Texas could save millions of dollars on its Vender Drug Programs if Leland's bill is adopted.

Annual salute to industry

HOUSTON — Texas Industrial Week celebrates its second quarter century with the 26th annual salute to business and industry, April 1-7.

Entitled "Salute '77 — The Climate is Right for Business and Industry in Texas," the observance is sponsored by the Texas Association of Business (TAB). The slogan underscores the role of business and industry in the state's designation as having the number one business climate in the nation.

The week is celebrated in communities throughout the

The money will be used for the purchase of equipment.

Thank-you card arrives late

BRISTOL, Conn. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. E. Suchodolski were pleased recently to receive a thank-you card from their granddaughter Linda Karowski, even if it arrived five years late.

The card was sent from the Karowski home in Bristol to the Suchodolski home, which also is in Bristol, in 1972.

Son of Big Springers credited with saving life of small girl

Gustavo Hernandez, one of two men credited with saving the life of a ten-year-old girl in El Paso's Social Security office last week, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hijinio Moreno of Big Spring.

The girl, who was unidentified, collapsed and appeared dead before she was revived by Hernandez and Salvador Licon, both employees of the Social Security office in El Paso.

Mrs. Elvia Tafoya, an office receptionist, saw the girl fall to the floor and immediately summoned help.

Hernandez and Licon determined the girl was not breathing and had no pulse. They at once applied artificial resuscitation. Four quick breaths applied by Hernandez revived the girl, according to Mrs. Frances A. Whited, Social Security district manager.

Shortly thereafter, a fire department rescue team, summoned by Mrs. Tafoya, arrived to administer oxygen.

The girl apparently has a history of such seizures. Asked if she wanted her daughter taken to the hospital, the mother reportedly replied: "Not if they're going to charge me. We haven't got any money."

The mother and daughter later returned to their home in Juarez.

Say it isn't so!

It's hard to accept the fact that the Howard College Hawks won't be playing anymore until next November. That eight-month wait for the start of the 1977-78 season will be just as painful as all the intervals before.

The bleak prospects of that spring and summer hiatus are brightened somewhat by the fact that the Preybirds are losing only three men to graduation. Throwing a damper on that brightener, however, is the fact that those three players are top quality.

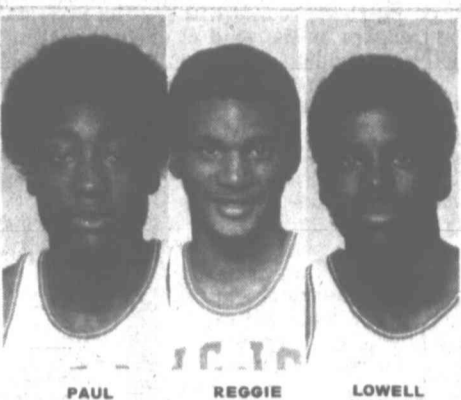

Paul Cathey, everyone's All-Conference choice who for some inexplicable reason didn't get first team honors, has to be the most under-rated player anywhere. His quiet unassuming manner, and lack of "flair" no doubt attributed to his "lack of votes."

Biased as I am, but as objective as I'm trying to be, I can think of no one in the WJAC who did his job better. Paul led the conference in rebounding and gave 100 per cent every game. You can bet your next season's ticket that he's going to start at some four-year college next season.

Lowell Walker, an early season starter for the Hawks, would no doubt be a full-time starter for any other Juco team in the state. He showed what he was made of last night in Abilene by hauling down five consecutive rebounds in the space of 90 seconds.

Lowell's the gentleman of the team, and it will be like losing a good friend. Look for him also to continue his roundball career next year, hopefully at Lubbock Christian College, close to home, where we'll be able to see him.

The other graduating sophomore is Reggie Leffall, who, on a great night is All-American, on a good night is the best working guard in the conference and on a bad night is still pretty damn good.

PAUL CATHEY REGGIE LEFFALL LOWELL WALKER

Blasphemy as I am, but as objective as I'm trying to be, I can think of no one in the WJAC who did his job better. Paul led the conference in rebounding and gave 100 per cent every game. You can bet your next season's ticket that he's going to start at some four-year college next season.

Lowell Walker, an early season starter for the Hawks, would no doubt be a full-time starter for any other Juco team in the state. He showed what he was made of last night in Abilene by hauling down five consecutive rebounds in the space of 90 seconds.

Lowell's the gentleman of the team, and it will be like losing a good friend. Look for him also to continue his roundball career next year, hopefully at Lubbock Christian College, close to home, where we'll be able to see him.

The other graduating sophomore is Reggie Leffall, who, on a great night is All-American, on a good night is the best working guard in the conference and on a bad night is still pretty damn good.

Reggie can also only get better, and some major college will also be gaining a good prospect for next season when they sign him.

I sure had to see that trio leave, but the sextet that's left, Mike Little, Russell Sublet, Joe Cooper, Eugene Williams, Jim Ray and Johnny James is an unbelievably solid nucleus for coach Harold Wilder to start his rebuilding program. The Little and Sublet dub will probably combine to form the best set of guards the WJAC has ever seen.

Joe Cooper is quickly approaching the 6-10 mark and still growing. If his skills keep pace with his body, he'll also be dynamite. Eugene Williams will undergo knee surgery shortly to correct a problem that has been plaguing him for the last half of the season. Next year he'll be 100 per cent and it will surely be to the disadvantage of the rest of the WJAC.

Jim Ray told me he's going to work on his jumping during the off-season, and "Kid" Johnny James practices so much he wears the leather off the basketball. Those two will also add greatly to the potency of the 1977-78 Hawks.

One young man once said that the Hawk games are the only thing that makes Big Spring liveable. Jim Baum said that the HC basketball season was just like Christmas for four months. It gets into your blood, there's no doubt, and that eight-month wait is never long enough for it to ever get out again.

It was a very good year. Thanks Hawks.

Unfamiliar head Citrus

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Hale Irwin surveyed the big board showing the position of the tournament leaders and, as usual this year, found a relatively unfamiliar name — Bill Rogers — at the top of the list.

Rogers, a non-winner who had to survive the Monday qualifying round to gain a spot in the tournament, reeled off two strings of three consecutive birdies in the gusty, swirling winds, had eight birds in all and one-putted 10 times — only once from more than 12 feet.

That provided him with a one-stroke margin over

Wally Armstrong, Terry Diehl and Mexico's Victor Regalado, all with 67s on the heavily-wooded, 6,929-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course.

Palmer, Masters champ Ray Floyd and Ben Crenshaw tied for 68th.

Previne, in only his second start after back surgery last year, bogeyed his final hole for a 73 and must improve today if he is to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. The winners of all previous tournaments this year — Nicklaus, Lietzke, Tom Watson, Rik Massengale, Purtzer and Jerry Pate — skipped this event for one reason or another.

Border Olympics crowd to watch 'Johnny Gold'

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Johnny Jones is running with a faster crowd these days.

The University of Texas freshman sprinter returns to the scene of his many high school triumphs when the 45th annual Border Olympics commences Saturday.

Jones won the schoolboy 100-yard dash here last year while still a member of the Lampasas High School squad. Saturday, however, he will compete in the quarter mile for the first time as a collegian.

"I think you've got to be careful with a sprinter this early in the season," explained Longhorn track Coach Cleburne Price when asked why Jones, a member of the gold medal U.S. Olympic sprint relay team at Montreal, would not compete in the 100. "Laredo has a cinder track and cinders tend to make your sore. I just don't want to take any chances."

Jones tied the collegiate century mark last week when he zipped to a 9.21 clocking.

Jones joins two other Montreal Olympians — Texas miler Paul Craig and Texas Tech long jumper Jim McAndrew — at the Border Olympics, billed as the year's first major outdoor track and field meet.

Craig and McAndrew were members of the Canadian Olympic team.

Baylor edged Texas by three points to claim the team title in last year's university division.

Texas sports briefs

UTA starts spring training
ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Cheered by recruiting success, the University of Texas-Arlington cranked up spring football drills Thursday.

Only seniors are excused from the first week of drills, which will last until March 31 and be capped by the annual Blue-White intrasquad game.

Coach Bud Elliott, long an exponent of the Wishbone offense, is inclined to change only its name. He said, "I've given it a lot of thought. I really believe the name 'Multiple Triple' best describes our offense... Whatever formation we set in, we'll still use some form of triple option, not just the Wishbone set."

More honors for ETSU
COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — East Texas State's Nate Granger, a 6-foot-5 forward, and Larry McGhee, a 5-foot-11 guard, have their sights trained on more honors.

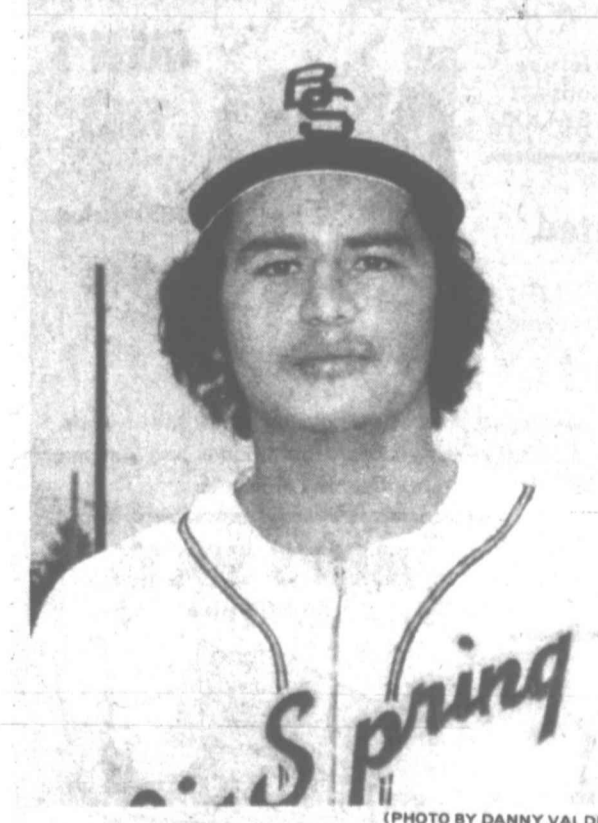

So far they have been named to the all-Lone Star Conference basketball team and the NAIA all Dist. IV team. Now they're headed with the East Texas Lions for the NAIA national basketball tournament, which starts Monday in Kansas City.

McGhee, the Lions' junior playmaker, scored 73 points in three games as they took the LSC championship. Granger has been an East Texas State starter for four seasons.

Navjar going to A&I
KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — All-state tight end and linebacker Donald Navjar of Falls City, who stands 6 feet-3 and weighs 205 pounds, has signed a letter of intent to enroll at Texas A&I University.

He averaged 14 tackles a game last season, recovered 17 fumbles and caught 16 passes for 428 yards.

Meet the Steers

FRANKIE RUBIO — This 17-year-old senior is a pitcher for the 1977 Steers, and bats and throws right-handed. After the first game of the season, Frankie was batting 1000, going three for three. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Rubio and has three brothers and four sisters. Rubio's goals for this year include finishing with a 3.5 grade point average, making all-district in the pitching slot, and having a high batting average. After college, he hopes to have a good job and continue playing baseball. Frankie spends a lot of his spare time on the golf course.

Midland advances to semi's
Hawks' season ends 108-91

ABILENE — The Howard College Hawks found themselves involved in two separate battles Thursday night against the Hill County College Rebels in the opening round of the Region V tourney — the battle of the run and the battle of the turnover.

The Preybirds won the battle of the turnover, but lost the battle of the run, both decisions adding up to a lost war, 108-91.

Hill County, now 25-6, was almost a mirror image of the style of basketball the locals put on the hardwoods. . . . run and gun for 40 minutes. However, with almost twice as many players as the Hawks, they could afford to sprint up and down the court all night, just waiting for the opposition to tire.

The pace of the game, however, wasn't really the major factor in the loss. The Hawks have always been in excellent condition. A textbook perfect back-court press by the Rebs was the deathknell for the locals.

The press contributed to about half of the 28 turnovers given up by HC. Hill coughed up the ball only 15 times, about half of those late in the game when the outcome was already known.

Russell Sublet, sensational freshman from Houston Kashmere, ended the 1977 season with his best performance of the year. He canned 30 points, an HC career high, and constantly neutralized the bad effects of miscues with clutch baskets.

Reggie Leffall and Mike Little, in a media-imposed homecoming, (both are Abilene natives) each scored 18 points, an ordinary good night, except for the offensive power of Hill.

Despite seven turnovers in the first quarter, the Preybirds held their own and were only down by one, 25-24, at the first 10-minute mark. Seven more bobbles in the second period put them down six more, however, and HC was headed by seven, 55-48, at intermission.

The Hawks remained even in the third quarter, scoring the same number of points (22) as Hill, and only giving the ball away three times. Eleven disastrous turnovers in the last quarter, however, ended the locals' season, as the Rebs took advantage of the gifts and scored 10 more points than the locals.

The taller Hawks found themselves out-positioned underneath the baskets and were beaten in the battle of the caroms as well.

Hill became the only northern conference team to survive the opening round, as the only bright note for the local fans who followed the team was a win by Delnor Poss' Midland Chap team. Midland beat Cooke County College 60-57 in a come-from-behind effort.

Midland meets Clarendon, upset winners over McLennan 93-92, tonight at 9 o'clock, while Western Texas, 75-65 winners over Ranger, meets Hill tonight at 7.

Coahoma's Kelso makes All-district

COAHOMA — Word was received here Thursday afternoon that Coahoma's Ken Kelso had been named to the 6-AA All-District Basketball team. Ten players were named, plus six honorable mention candidates.

Kelso, a 6-2 senior, was the leading scorer for the Bulldogs this past season and was a sparkplug for many of the victories the Red and White had.

Colorado City's Jackie Ellis, a 6-3 senior, also made the team. Tony Maudlin, coach of district champ Merkel, was named coach of the year.

Here's the entire list:

6-AA ALL-DISTRICT
Ken Kelso, 6-2 sr., Coahoma; Jackie Ellis, 6-3 sr., Colorado City; Allen Ritchey, 6-3 sr., Bellinger; Brad Presley, 6-0 sr., Merkel; Donnie Riggen, 5-11 jr., Merkel; Keith Wolf, 6-4 sr., Merkel; Don Earl, 5-8 sr., Stamford; Wes Easwell, 6-2 sr., Stamford; Flint McNeill, 5-8 sr., Winters; Lance Wolf, 5-10 soph., Wylie.

HONORABLE MENTION
Mark Henderson, 6-1 jr., Bellinger; Wayne McKee, 5-10 sr., Colorado City; David Plester, 6-1 jr., Merkel; Bill Harid, 6-3 sr., Stamford; Byron Tabor, 5-11 sr., Stamford; Joey Light, 6-0 jr., Wylie.

CLUBHOUSE CONFIDENTIAL

St. Petersburg — Cleon Jones dying to return to baseball. His Mobile buddy, John Milner, says Jones is in great shape. You'd think expansion club like Toronto would grab at him. Must be better hitter than half their men...

Many ballplayers driving south installed CB radios to escape trooper traps in Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. Clubhouses abound with colorful jargon of CB truckers, viz: "Plain wrapper," an unmarked patrol car, or "County mountie," a local cop. I like best the radar trap: "Kojak with a Kodak."

COCKFIGHTS ON OTB VETOED

Pressure from party induced withdrawal of bill No. 1269 from State Assembly by Armando Montano (D-Bx). It called for legalized cockfights with OTB betting. Paul Serevane wouldn't want his drive for all-sports betting to be dirtied by bloody birdfights, now, would he?

Jerry Koonsman came to ballpark with Schnauzer named, would you believe it, Jaeger Wilhelm Jela. Pooch could be hiding from war crimes commission...

Tech, UH meet for Hog date rights

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Tech and Houston collide tonight for the right to meet Arkansas for an NCAA basketball playoff ticket and the form chart weighs heavily against the Tech Red Raiders although they upset the Cougars in the regular season.

Houston's depth destroyed Texas A&M 96-77 Thursday night before a roaring record crowd of 14,330 in The Summit as the second annual Southwest Conference Postseason Tournament got under way. Under Birdsong poured in 30 points with his soaring 20-foot jumpers as the Cougars shot 51.5 per cent from the field.

Myers, who took the Red Raiders into the NCAA playoffs last year by upsetting regular season champion Texas A&M, said Tech is just happy to reach the semifinals.

"To be honest, in December we were thinking about finishing with more wins than losses and trying to finish in the first division," he said.

Tech is a disciplined ball-control club which tries to work inside to Russell, a 6-foot-8 jumping jack from Buffalo, N.Y. The strategy has worked for 20 victories in Tech's 28 games.

Houston is a run-and-gun outfit which gets physical on the boards. The Cougars outrebounded the game Aggies 51-35 and a clawing, full-court press panicked A&M into 21 turnovers.

have to play harder tomorrow night. "Mike Russell is the most dominating player in any game we've been in this year. We held Birdsong to something like 20 points but we couldn't stop Russell."

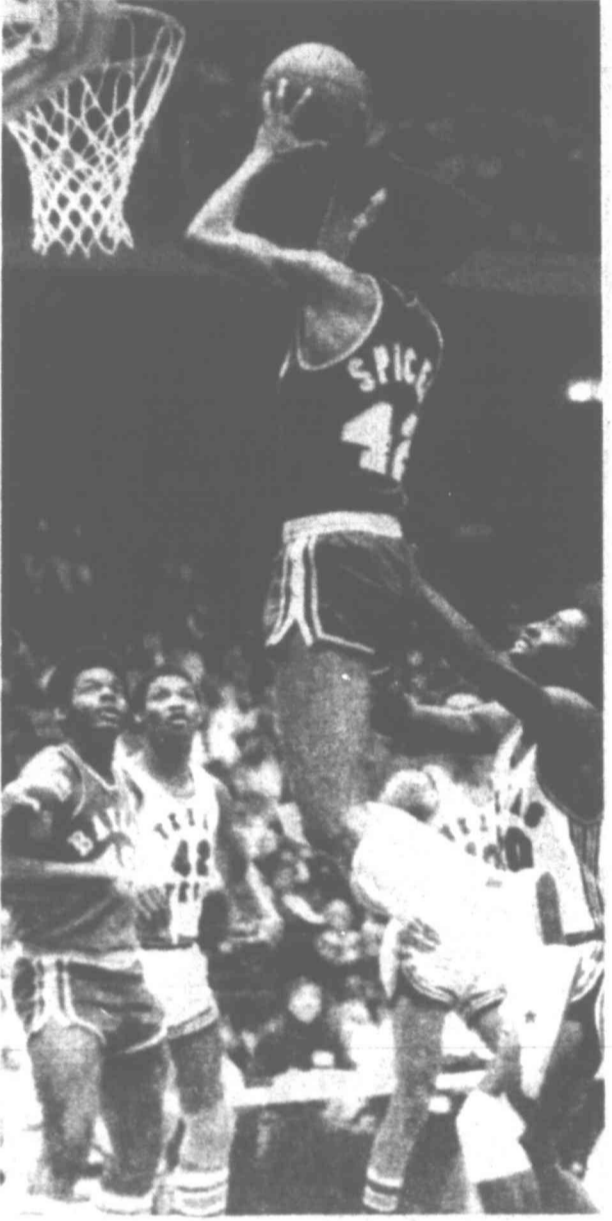

The seventh-ranked Razorbacks, 25-1, tackle tonight's winner for the right to travel to the Midwest Sub-Regional at Norman, Okla., next week. Arkansas will not have played in 10 days.

After an opening basket by Willie Foreman of the Aggies, Houston took control and led by as much as 21 points over the Aggies, who got a 29 point night out of Wally Swanson and a 24-point effort from Foreman.

Tech was unimpressive in its victory over Baylor (11-19) but Myers liked it anyway, although Larry Spicer of the Bears escaped for 27 points.

"There was hard play by both teams," he said. "They played with patience and good defense."

Baylor Coach Jim Haller said, "I knew it would be the type of game it was because we stress defense and Gerald

Linblad sale settled, Finley upset anyway

NEW YORK (AP) — The Paul Lindblad sale has been settled but the next round in the long-running feud between Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley and Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn may be just around the corner.

"I'm working on deals every day," Finley told The Associated Press from his home in Chicago. "They might include players or they might include cash, it all depends. Nothing is imminent, but you never know with baseball deals. I might have something in the next few days."

Meanwhile, reliever Jim Todd, one of 13 unsigned A's, failed to reach a salary agreement with Finley and said the owner told him that any players who don't sign will be traded.

Linblad sale settled, Finley upset anyway

He said he would "scrutinize with great care" any deals which involve substantial cash payments to the A's and "will not hesitate to disapprove such assignments if I find that they are not in the best interests of baseball, and to take other action, either remedial or punitive, as the circumstances may warrant."

The decision was announced in a five-page release distributed by the commissioner's office to the media as well as "to the Oakland club and every other major league club." Kuhn was unavailable for comment.

Finley promptly fired off a lengthy telegram to Kuhn warning him that "any attempt by you to disapprove the sale or trade of a contract by Oakland made within the rules of baseball will be met by legal action once again filed against you."

Correspondents feeling more pressure in Asia

SINGAPORE (AP) — Foreign correspondents appear to be under increasing pressure from governments in Southeast Asia.

In recent months several have been expelled, threatened with expulsion or denied re-entry by countries in this region. Curbs on news coverage by foreigners have been imposed, most recently on Indonesia's May elections.

Politicians in Singapore, Indonesia, the Philippines, Thailand and elsewhere regularly chide the foreign press for what they deem to be unfair comment, unsympathetic coverage or subversion.

Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore and President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines alleged recently that the Western press simply doesn't understand leaders in this part of the world.

"They treat presidents and lowly prime ministers like clay pigeons, load them up and shoot them down," Lee told a joint news conference in January at Baguio City in the Philippines.

Marcos told the session that he saw "manifestations of paranoia" in Western media, adding that if the world degenerated into a second dark age, the Western press has contributed its share to bring this about.

Freedom of the press, as generally understood in the United States, is unknown now in Southeast Asia. Nowhere is it constitutionally guaranteed. Publishers in most countries must have government licenses.

Under Marcos' martial law government, all publications must belong to the Publishers Association of the Philippines before they are granted a license. Association guidelines bar criticism of Marcos and his family, government policies and the armed forces.

Virtually no editorial criticism of basic government policies appears in Singapore newspapers. A two-year-old law requires newspaper proprietors to renew their permit to publish each year. Ultimate control is assured through a special kind of stock called "management shares" which have the same par value as ordinary shares.

Management shares give the government power to determine who shall operate newspapers in this island republic. They are not quoted on the local stock exchange and can only be owned by Singaporeans who have written permission from the minister of culture. Newspapers cannot refuse to issue management shares to those with official permission.

What is called "development journalism" has become popular in the region in recent years. Some critics call it don't-knock-the-government journalism since it sanctions full support of the administration and its policy goals.

With publishers legally proscribed and editorial voices muted in the name of patriotism or due to political pressure, only foreign correspondents seem regularly inclined to write in full about a country. This sometimes distresses politicians who have tamed their own media. Some recent evidence:

—Indonesia banned Newsweek magazine last November and its Asia regional editor, Richard M. Smith, was barred from the country after he wrote an article titled "Indonesia's Fading Hopes." Among other things, the story described high-level corruption and suggested that President Suharto was losing his political grip.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik described the Newsweek article as "an insult to the Indonesian people." Many foreign correspondents seek only what is bad about the country, Malik claimed.

Smith said Indonesian officials denied none of the facts in his story, just the fact they had been published.

—Indonesia's dim view of foreign reporters was reiterated last month by Information Minister Mashuri following an announcement that non-Indonesian journalists would not be allowed to cover the May 2 general elections at the village level where 80 percent of the population lives.

"The restriction is made in order to avoid unwanted, harmful reports because we are dubious of the motives of foreign journalists," he said.

—The government of Thailand recently expelled British-born Norman Peagam, 31, a Bangkok correspondent for the Far Eastern Economic Review of Hong Kong. Officials contended that Peagam's articles "created misunderstanding" among Thais and were "detrimental to national security." Peagam has made no comment about his expulsion.

—The Philippines has accused American correspondent Bernard Wideman of being a security risk. Among other charges, the government alleges that Wideman's articles in the Far Eastern Economic Review spread rumors, incited sedition and made his continued presence "inimical to the interests and security of the nation."

Wideman, 40, of Seattle, Wash., also writes for The Washington Post. He has denied any actions that went beyond those required of him as a reporter in three years in the Philippines.

—Arnold Zeitlin, 44, Associated Press bureau chief in Manila, was denied re-entry to the Philippines last November after a trip to Hong Kong. An American, he had been based in Manila for three years.

Marcos told the Foreign Correspondents Association that Zeitlin was charged with activities that "endanger the security and prestige of our country." The major charge was that he had been in contact with elements opposed to the Marcos government.

Zeitlin denied the charges. AP President and General Manager Keith Fuller commented: "This won't be the last time that a journalist is penalized for coverage displeasing to those in authority."

Teen enters Mayor's race

SHALLOWATER — A teenager has entered the race for the office of mayor in this northwest Lubbock County community.

He is David Wayne Monteith, 18, a senior at Shallowater High School.

He said he was inspired by his civics teacher, who told his pupils they should get involved in government.

City councilman Joe Cox, 50, and Bill Boone, 48, are also contending for the position.

Mrs. Onassis is elected

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Center of Photography, the only museum in New York devoted exclusively to photography, has elected Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and Rupert Murdoch to its board of trustees.

Mrs. Onassis is a consulting editor for Viking Press. Murdoch is the head of an international publishing empire that includes the New York Post, New York Magazine and the Village Voice.

The center has a 39-member board, and each member serves a two-year term.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAR. 5, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Direct your attention now on what has proven successful in the past since muddled thinking could cause considerable difficulty. Don't get involved in anything of a deceptive nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) It would be wise now to follow every rule and regulation that applies to you for best results. But stand your own ground.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Carry through with proven pleasures, otherwise any novelty could prove worrisome at this time. Sidestep a troublemaker.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to please others more at home and gain their support. A new project you have in mind needs more study to be successful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Stay close to persons who have made a big success now and avoid opponents who could do you harm.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be careful not to spend more money than you can afford. Extreme care in motion is necessary at this time to avoid possible accident.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) It's important now to know what associates expect of you. One who opposes you could be deceiving so be careful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can accomplish a great deal if you apply yourself to the task at hand. Avoid one who is detrimental to your best interests.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take part in recreations that have satisfied you in the past and don't try something new that could lead to trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can accomplish much at home if you forget outside appeal that would not be satisfying. Be poised.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make long-range plans that will give you more abundance in the days ahead. Steer clear of danger at night.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use the formula in handling any monetary matters of importance. Make the evening a happy one from a social standpoint.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Contact those of lofty thinking and get them to do you favors that are important to you. Avoid one who has strange ideas.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have to learn to be more objective, otherwise there could be much struggle in this life and little accomplished. There is much idealism and vision here. Teach to pay attention to detail. Don't neglect spiritual training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, I'M A MOMMABOY?

YOU ARE THATS WHY YOU DON'T GET MARRIED.

NOT TRUE!

YOUR MOTHER HAS BABIED YOU SO LONG THAT YOU CAN'T LEAVE HER APRON STRINGS.

BOY, IF MY MOM HEARD YOU SAY THAT SHE'D SEND YOU TO BED WITHOUT YOUR DIN DIN!

WELL, MAGGIE GIRL... WHAT NOW?

I TOLD CHARLIE I HAVE MONEY SAVED AND PLANS FOR THE FUTURE... BUT IT'S NOT TRUE.

I GUESS LIKE MOST PEOPLE I'D RATHER BE FROOLIP THAN TRUTHFUL.

THAT WAS A DIRTY TRICK, PRETENDING I WAS LEAVING SIS'S SPOONS WITH THAT MISS PENNYWIT.

WHY DO I DO THOSE THINGS?

WHY'D I GRAB THEM FROM SIS IN THE FIRST PLACE?

DARN! WHY CAN'T I GO STRAIGHT?

IT'S BECAUSE MUSCLE'S IS ALWAYS NEEDING MONEY. HE TAKES EVERYTHING I HAVE. BUT I'LL BE DOUBLE-DARNED IF HE GETS MY APOSTLE SPOONS.

Slim, you don't eat Brahms!

Do tell! Well, see you!

What a clown! Have you know him long?

Ridin' fence

Refine the lawmakers

with Marj Carpenter

The letter to the editor section is always interesting and I found the letter published Monday and written by John Currie to be a particularly good one.

The story that some idiot in Austin was considering slapping a tax on refineries to support the schools, to be used rather than property taxes, left me completely cold.

You can't overload one guy to save another. That's not the American way. They tried that in Delaware and they have one refinery left. Everybody quickly got out of Dodge.

If they pass that law in Texas, the same thing will occur and the thought of Big Spring possibly losing the refinery leaves me with a bad case of the horrors.

Anybody who has time to write should urge the state legislators — Mike Ezzell and State Sen. Ray Farabee to not even consider such a law.

It's just another example of the current trend of suggestions to simply jump on the oil companies.

I really don't think the law will pass. I find it hard to believe that anybody would even suggest it. There was one suggestion to tax personal cars and people screamed over that one like pigs stuck in a gate.

I don't want that one either, but it would even be fairer than the so-called refinery tax.

I know I have quoted many times Abraham Lincoln's statement, "You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich." For goodness sake, if you destroy the rich, the poor have nowhere to work. It's idiocy.

Everybody who has lived in Big Spring any length of

THE GOLDEN SKYLINE
Of Which Big Springers Are Proud

time has friends and acquaintances that work at Cosden. We're not saying that if this proposed school tax law passes, the refinery will immediately close.

We are simply saying that if such an unfair tax should be slapped on Texas refineries, all major oil companies will attempt to move their facilities to a state that would treat them fairly.

Sometimes I wonder if any of our politicians ever heard of the word fair. The proposed 25 cent tax per gallon that President Carter has mentioned is going to make the distribution of gasoline unfair, in that those with money will be able to buy all of the gas they want; while those who are poor, or on fixed incomes will not be able to do so. Gas rationing would be fairer than that. Sometimes I think it's the lawmakers who need refining.

Writing this kind of column leads me to get all stirred up, so I'll try to think of something funny with which to conclude.

And my funny comes from Johnny Johansen. He read the column about Coy Nalley and then recalled the time that they were all digging a grave and Coy's glasses dropped in. "We had to dig back down and get them out," Johansen laughingly recalled.

Well, I didn't mean to get off on such a tear, but when you're out ridin' fence, you hear lots of people talking about lots of things... And one of the things they were talking about this week is how much Cosen means to Big Spring.

So — that's what's happening — out by the fence posts, where I'm ridin'.

Two cops, 17 pupils wounded by gunfire

OAXACO, Mexico (AP) — The police patrolled downtown streets in this southern Mexico town Thursday after a confrontation with university students left 17 students and two policemen wounded by gunfire.

Newsmen at the scene said the police opened fire with automatic weapons in order to halt a student march, but policemen say that the demonstrators opened fire and that the police were not armed.

A television newsmen, Miguel Angel Serrano, said that his film shows the police firing on the students. It was the third shooting involving police during a demonstration in the Pacific coast state of Oaxaca. Students are demanding the resignation of Gov. Manuel Zarate Aquino.

The trouble began Feb. 22 when a group of Zapoteca Indians demanded the release of students jailed in the small town of Juchitan. Guards opened fire on the protestors and five of the demonstrators were killed.

Last Sunday a group of small farmers tried to free their leader in the small town of Montenegro, a town in the mountains of the northeast part of the state. The police opened fire after the police chief was injured by a protestor's machete. Ten of the demonstrators were killed.

Wednesday night's demonstration was intended to be a march into the city where a congressional investigating committee was meeting. The students were going to demand that the governor should be fired.

A spokesman for the government said the students heavily damaged a government store by throwing rocks, damaged automobiles and threw bombs at a private hospital. Employees at the hospital denied that any bombs were thrown at the hospital.

Prince leaves for safari

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles leaves today for a safari in Kenya and visits to Ghana and the Ivory Coast.

The 29-year-old heir to the British throne is scheduled to arrive in Nairobi Sunday after stops in Naples, Cyprus and Khartoum. Charles, who will be armed with a camera during the safari, took a similar trip in Kenya in 1971 with his sister, Princess Anne.

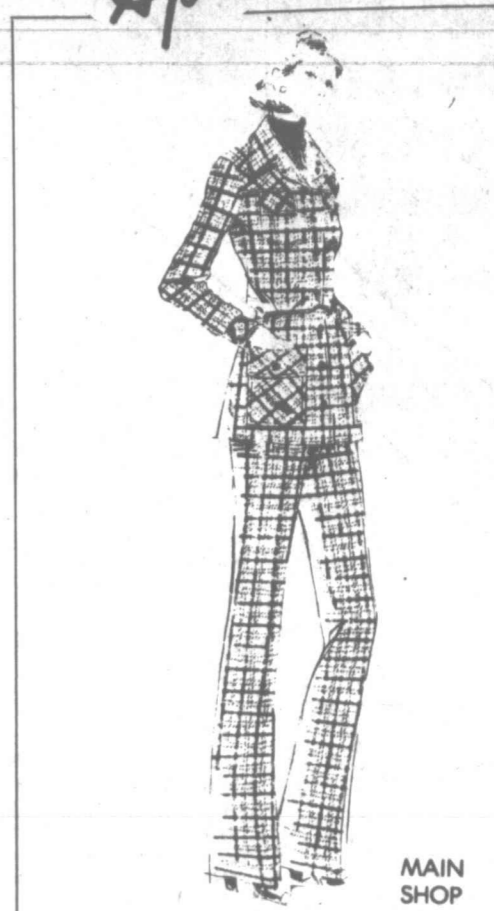

Ballet master backs Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Balanchine, the Russian-born ballet master, has endorsed President Carter's policy of speaking out in favor of human rights in the Soviet Union.

"President Carter is great if he would insist on that," Balanchine told a luncheon audience at the National Press Club Thursday. "I wouldn't send them barley or wheat unless they let everybody go who wants to go. But they won't do that..."

"You have to read (Alexander) Solzhenitsyn to realize what's going on there," he concluded. Balanchine, 73, was born in Russia and came to America in 1933. He has choreographed dances for the New York City Ballet and its predecessor companies.
