

Assassination probe just a farce?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. House Assassination Committee is a "hideous farce that was never intended to work," says Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, who resigned last week as chairman of the panel.

In an interview published Sunday in the San Antonio Express-News, the Texas Democrat called the committee a "put-on job."

Gonzalez also said the assassination of John F. Kennedy will never be investigated in a meaningful way "because vast and powerful forces, including the country's most sophisticated crime element, won't stand for it."

"This criminal element is all-pervasive, loaded with nothing but money and in many ways more potent than the government itself," Gonzalez said. His resignation has not yet been formally accepted.

Gonzalez said other forces against the investigation include "the Kennedy family and heavy business interests in the Dallas-Fort Worth area who don't want all the old JFK muck raked up."

An aide to the committee's ranking Democrat, Richardson Preyer of North Carolina, said Preyer is disputing Gonzalez' allegations and saying that he has not had "any pressure from anywhere, any source."

The aide said Preyer not only has not been pressured by anyone but has not been contacted by anyone closely interested in the assassination, including any members of the Kennedy family, on how the assassination investigation should proceed.

Gonzalez criticized the committee's chief counsel, Richard Sprague, as an "unconscionable scoundrel" and added:

"Sprague tried to spend committee money on long-distance phone calls to his Philadelphia law firm and to the home of his girlfriend there. And get this. He actually took a little Acapulco vacation for himself while on the committee payroll."

Contacted at his home in Philadelphia Sunday, Sprague refused to comment on Gonzalez' statements.

Gonzalez predicted the committee will forget about the Kennedy assassination now and go into "a weak, one-legged investigation of the Martin Luther King assassination as a sop to blacks."

Gonzalez resigned as committee chairman following a showdown with Sprague during which Gonzalez tried to fire Sprague but fellow committee members supported the former Pennsylvania prosecutor.

His resignation has not yet been formally accepted.

Gonzalez said he tried to call House Speaker Thomas O'Neill and fellow Texan Majority Leader Jim Wright, to enlist their support.

"It was an exercise in futility," Gonzalez said. "The fix was in." He said he was then aware "at last that the House leadership never had intended for the JFK investigation to fly, and indeed had prefabricated the whole thing for the skids."

Without being specific, Gonzalez said that "powerful forces, including criminal elements" had deliberately put Sprague and himself into the committee picture on an automatic collision course.

"They never did want the Kennedy assassination conspiracy unmasked," said Gonzalez. "They knew I was an honest, direct man who wouldn't hold still for a transparent phony like Sprague. They were so right. The JFK investigation is over."

Buddies lay dead near rescued miner

TOWER CITY, Pa. (AP) — Ronald Adley waited five days for rescuers to save him from a flooded coal mine, knowing all the while that two of his buddies lay dead in the same underground chamber.

He had seen them swallowed by a torrent of rushing water which crashed through a shaft ceiling, battering support timbers and triggering roof falls beneath 400-foot Big Lick Mountain. In all, 10 men were trapped. Four bodies have been brought out and rescuers were looking for five miners who were unaccounted for.

"Ever hear of a miracle? A second miracle? There's always a chance," John B. Shutack, regional director of the federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration, said today.

"Until we have a hand on the body we'll consider that the man is alive and we'll keep trying to get him out."

Adley, a rugged miner who scrambled into an air pocket deep inside the flooded Koeber Co. coal mine, dug the final part of his own escape tunnel Sunday and walked unaided to freedom. He rested in good health today at a nearby hospital.

Drillers sinking a probe hole 430 feet from the top of the mountain had to stop Sunday after reaching the 375-foot mark and ease the eight-inch hole to prevent water from filling it.

A television camera and a microphone will be lowered down the shaft to where the missing men are believed to be. Drilling was to resume sometime today.

"I want to get the hell out of here," Adley told rescuers on Sunday as he refused a stretcher and walked about 1,000 feet to a waiting coal car that took him the remaining 4,000 feet to the surface.

The bodies of Ralph Renninger, 40, and Donald Shoffler, 41, were discovered further down the upward slanting shaft where Adley had been trapped since midday Tuesday. Their bodies were removed after Adley was freed.

"Adley told us the other men were there," said one mining official. "Renninger and Shoffler worked in the same crew with Adley. He saw them go down when the water broke."

Adley, a 37-year-old father of two, escaped to the top of a 93-foot long chute. Water pushed debris 68 feet up the slant.

"Adley told us he saw the water and started running. Then he had to swim. He turned and yelled to the others, 'Get up the side! Hurry!' They tried to outrun it. They didn't make it," the official said.

Officials briefly halted activity inside and outside the mine Sunday when they fired three light blasts of dynamite from the surface.

Three blasts are a beckoning for response recognized by all miners. A two-tap reply — like the one Adley beat on a coal seam to let rescuers know he was alive on Wednesday — is a message of life.

Listening devices capable of hearing a distant footstep did not pick up any sound.

More than 122 hours after he entered the mine, Adley, covered with grimy coal dust, stepped into the sunlight. His wife, Anna Mae, joined him in the back of an ambulance that whisked him to Pottsville Hospital.

Adley was in good condition in the intensive care unit. His two children visited him Sunday night.

MINER OVER — Ronald Adley wears a five-day beard Sunday after spending that much time trapped in a coal mine shaft at the Koeber mine, near Tower City, Pa. Adley, shown lying on an emergency room table at the Pottsville, Pa., hospital, was entombed in the mine when it suddenly flooded Tuesday.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Officials at Tallahassee Community College are scratching their heads over a series of thefts in the past five months — someone is stealing toilet paper.

But college officials aren't laughing. They say the thefts of eight rolls at a time have reached about 400 rolls a month and over a five-month period has meant a loss of $400.

To combat the thefts, school officials put a plea in the campus newsletter asking for help.

One school official said, "It's beyond me how someone can walk out of a restroom with eight rolls of toilet paper and not be noticed."

Quake hurts chance for independence

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — The massive quake that hit Romania could seriously set back this Communist country's efforts to set an independent economic course, diplomats said today. The death toll in Bucharest mounted and the first plane load of U.S. emergency aid was reported on its way.

The official Romanian news agency Agerpres said that in addition to the heavy toll in lives and housing, "scores of economic enterprises were damaged, with their productive activity being partially or completely interrupted" in Bucharest.

Romanian officials said 580 persons have been confirmed dead, 508 of them in Bucharest, where Friday's quake collapsed 32 high-rise apartment houses. But rescuers were finding a few survivors in the ruins.

RESCUED FROM RUINS — A Romanian soldier carries a battered suitcase of belongings from ruins of a collapsed building Sunday. Soldiers and other rescue workers are probing rubble of buildings shattered by an earthquake that struck two days ago. More survivors were pulled from ruins Sunday but the death toll, officially placed at more than 600 persons, was expected to rise above 4,000.

Carter meets with Israel prime minister

WASHINGTON (AP) — Having touched the pulse of America and found people worried about taxes and health care, President Carter met today with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin while Congress began work on some of his key domestic proposals.

Carter told Rabin, who arrived in Washington on Sunday, that the United States wants to explore "some common ground for peace so that Israel might have defensible borders so that these commitments might never be violated."

The purpose, Carter said, would be to assure "a sense of security about this young country in the future."

Rabin, welcomed at the White House by a small, 36-member section of the Marine Band and a color guard of four soldiers, replied: "Israel shall continue to work tirelessly for the peace and welfare of our region." The Prime Minister called peace "our highest aspiration" and "the essence of the heritage we share and the goal of policy we pursue."

Escape 'isolated incident'

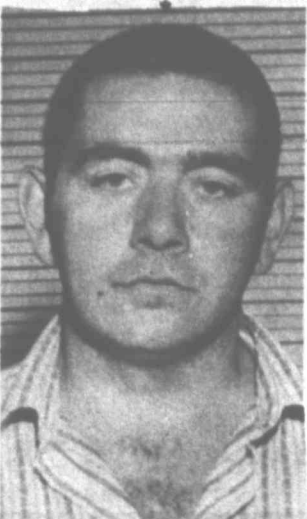

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Warden Richard Crisp of the Oklahoma State Penitentiary here says he has no plans to change the trusty program after a trusty allegedly killed an unarmed prison guard over the weekend and then escaped.

Crisp said Saturday's slaying of guard Albert J. Cox, 46, Ulan, Okla., was "an isolated incident."

He noted that no corrections officers had been killed since 1941 when Warden Jess Dunn was shot to death in an aborted escape attempt by four convicts.

Crisp discussed the implications of the weekend incident as no progress was reported in the search for convict Edward L. Hall, 30, Tulsa.

The warden said he had no plans to issue weapons to guards at the trusty units because the "convicts would just take them away from them and kill them. We can't have a guard for each of the 2,000 inmates. That's not the answer."

EDWARD HALL runs to Texas?

Dale Newberry was re-elected treasurer and Mrs. Dorothy Haney was named campaign chairman.

Ricky Smith, retiring vice-president, presided at the meeting. The campaign president, Ron Rhodes, was transferred.

New members to the board include Blain Benton, Jesse Gilbert, Ronnie Cloud, Mike Adams, Roy Byrd and Ron Layton. Claude Estes was elected to the unexpired term of Rhodes.

Gag order struck down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today struck down a decision by Oklahoma courts barring three Oklahoma City newspapers from publishing the name and picture of an 11-year-old boy charged in a shooting death.

The court's unsigned opinion was the first free-press decision since it ruled last June that prior restraints on reporting rarely could be justified and that judges must take all other available measures to insure fair trials before resorting to so-called "gag orders."

The high court said that an Oklahoma judge abridged freedom of the press by issuing his gag order. The court said the information barred from publication was obtained in a public hearing and could not be suppressed.

The gag order challenge by the Oklahoma Publishing Co. took on added significance when the American Newspaper Publishers Association, in a friend-of-the-court brief, urged the justices to use the case to establish "perimeters within which courts may issue prior restraints upon the press, if there be any such."

The court today did not go that far.

Death appeal hearing refused

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to hear arguments from a condemned Texas convict that states are barred by the Constitution from imposing the death penalty against non-killers.

With three justices dissenting, the court voted not to hear the appeal of Ernest Benjamin Smith Jr., convicted and sentenced to die in the electric chair for his part in an armed robbery in which a convenience store clerk was shot and killed.

Smith was not the trigger man, and argued in seeking Supreme Court review of his sentencing that the death penalty for non-killers is cruel and unusual punishment.

Texas is one of several states in which persons convicted of committing a crime in which someone dies can be convicted for murder and sentenced to death.

Smith, 29, was convicted for taking part in a Sept. 28, 1973, armed robbery of a Dallas convenience store. Trial testimony showed that Smith, although he was carrying a pistol during the robbery, did not kill store clerk William Moon. The actual killing was committed by Smith's companion, Howie Robinson, Smith's appeal stated.

Smith, a black man, also argued that prospective jurors at his trial were improperly excluded for expressing scruples against the death penalty in general and "on the admitted ground of race."

The Supreme Court upheld the death penalty laws in Texas, Florida and Georgia last July but only as those laws apply to the sentencing of convicted murderers.

The court next week will hear arguments on whether the death penalty is constitutional for persons convicted of rape.

Bing still hospitalized

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Bing Crosby got a shave from his wife, Kathryn, at Huntington Memorial Hospital, where he is being treated for bruises suffered in a 20-foot fall from a stage.

"He's still too uncomfortable to travel," said a spokesman for the hospital. "He'd rather not travel in that condition." The Crosbys live in Hillsborough, Calif., south of San Francisco.

The 72-year-old entertainer fell from the Ambassador Auditorium stage Thursday night at the close of a benefit performance celebrating his 50th year in show business.

CBS taped the three-hour show and will air 90 minutes of it as "Bing!" on March 20.

U.S., India to reconcile?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and India are seeking a political reconciliation that could mean a reduction in New Delhi's reliance on Russia. India's plans for national elections this month may help the process. U.S. and Indian political experts here say this process, which began last year, has advanced since President Carter took office. A helpful factor plainly has been Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's decision to hold elections.

Police searching for wino mugger

FORT WORTH (AP) — For the last six months, they've been beaten, robbed and humiliated, but none of the winos had the courage to file a complaint against the youthful gang suspected of terrorizing them.

Yet, even though the transients are "scared to talk," patrolmen J. M. Dodd and T. W. Richardson have developed a special interest in putting the gang leaders behind bars.

"It's cold what this guy's been doing," Dodd said. "He usually takes about three other men with him to mug the transients after they cash their welfare checks every first of the month."

Police came across the latest incident Tuesday night when they responded to the report of a streaker in downtown Fort Worth.

The 63-year-old man, who was wearing only black socks, told officers he had taken an unopened bottle of wine behind a building when a man approached and began hitting him and kicking him.

After taking the victim's money—he recently had cashed his Social Security check—the mugger then started laughing as he ripped away the wino's clothing and drove him naked into the streets.

Court seeking jury for trial

Jury selection began today in 118th District Court for the trial of Dorothy Lynn Hicks, charged with murder.

The five-year-old case concerns the shooting death of Joe Willy Winters, who was found by police March 25, 1972 in a front yard at 309 W. 9th, shot once in the chest with .22 caliber bullet.

Winters was pronounced dead on arrival at Cowper Hospital.

According to police reports, the defendant appeared at the police station while officers were still en route to the murder scene. She apparently made a statement to police which led to her being charged with murder with malice.

CC against refinery tax

The Big Spring area Chamber of Commerce telegraphed Gov. Dolph Briscoe asking for his vigorous opposition to the new tax on refineries.

W.L. (Bill) Albright, executive vice president, sent the wire, which said in part, "To the oil industry in this unparalleled era of energy crisis, such an increased burden would be analogous of offering a drowning man a drink of water. A mistaken idea that such a tax would shift some of the cost to consumers outside our great state is not sound."

"In many instances, the increased cost to our refineries would place our petrochemical products in a non-competitive position and result in a severe loss of jobs."

The telegram was signed, "Texas First."

No obstacles are foreseen

Howard County Commissioner's Court met today in the Howard County Courthouse to discuss problems at the County Airport and in the Coahoma volunteer fire department.

Leon Anderson, manager of the Howard County Airport, told the commissioners that with three exceptions, there were no obstacles to recertification by the Federal Aeronautics Administration. The inspection, which was held over the weekend, was "satisfactory" according to Anderson.

Problems with recertification were the topping of a cottonwood tree which apparently interferes with the instrument approach path, replacing "Light water" firefighting material which was used during last year's Couden fire and never replaced, and the grading of a nearby ditch to provide safe runway travel and safety margins.

The court agreed to investigate the best solutions to all problems.

Coahoma volunteer fire chief Ken Lawhon appeared before the court today to request $1,548 in funds to meet unexpected debts in the fire department. According to Lawhon, the debt was the result of an unanticipated bill for rebuilding a tank on the fire engine. Other repairs had been footed by the city and the department's own funds in the amount of $2,900, but according to Lawhon, "there is nowhere else we can go."

The court is considering Lawhon's request.

Also appearing before the court in their morning session was Charles Weeg, representing the Howard County Council on Aging, to request parking facilities for a new bus to be used for transportation by the Council.

Farm Labor, agriculture must work together for economy

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The labor and agriculture departments must work together to stimulate employment and economy on the nation's farms, according to Labor Secretary F. Ray Marshall.

Addressing delegates to a convention of the National Farmers Union (NFU) Sunday, Marshall said, "Traditionally, the labor department has had a strong urban bias."

"To the labor department, unions meant groups like miners and auto workers, not groups like the National Farmers Union," he said.

The former University of Texas professor said, "Unemployment feels the same in small towns in Texas and Oklahoma as it does in New York, Chicago or Los Angeles."

"Jobs are jobs no matter where they are located. In fact, the problem has been that far too few of them have been located on the farms and in the small towns of our rural areas," he said.

The secretary said the pursuit of solutions to rural unemployment must be as vigorous as that in the search for jobs in urban areas.

Marshall said he has discussed with Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland "the idea of the agriculture and labor departments working together to battle rural unemployment."

Bergland is scheduled to address the NFU convention Wednesday.

Marshall said, "we must mesh our labor policies and our agriculture policies so that as many Americans as possible can live the kind of life they want."

"We're a big country. Americans should be able to find jobs in all parts of it."

In an opening address to the 3,000 delegates, NFU President Tony Dechant called for floors under world agriculture prices as well as under U.S. Farm prices.

"We are in the global age of agriculture and what a farmer can get for his products today is determined by conditions and forces which prevail in the world market," he said.

Dechant said American farmers would benefit most from the establishment of a reasonable floor under world farm prices "because the U.S. internal support level on most commodities is consistently on the low side, if not the lowest in the world."

Dechant said both Congress and the administration "must assert themselves at once to establish a farm and food security policy which will enable producers to sustain themselves in full production which we are being asked to provide."

Weather El Paso sets record for low temperatures

By the Associated Press For the second morning in a row, El Paso set a record for low temperatures today but there was nothing else in the Texas weather picture to dull the spirit.

As the sun came up in the state, there was hardly a cloud to be found, nary a whisper of wind to stir up the dust and except for El Paso, temperatures were not too nippy.

A few clouds that were over the Rio Grande Valley floated away Sunday night, so skies were clear all over the state.

El Paso continues reported 22 degrees at dawn, a record low, but elsewhere in Texas most readings were in the 30s and 40s and weathermen predicted considerable warming as the sun got higher.

Other early morning readings included 26 at Lubbock, 30 at Amarillo, 36 at Abilene, 32 at Midland, 38 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 36 at Tyler, 39 at Austin.

WEST TEXAS: Sunny and warmer Tuesday. Fair and not as cold tonight. Lows tonight upper 20s mountains and Panhandle to near 40 south. Highs Tuesday low 60s mountains to mid 70s Panhandle to mid 80s south.

WEST TEXAS: Dry and warm mid week and cooler Friday. Lows 35s north and mountains to near 50 south. Highs Wednesday and Thursday 60s north to mid 80s Big Bend. Highs Friday near 60 north to lower 80s Big Bend.

Forecast for the coastal areas of the Pacific Northwest. Snow flurries are expected inland. Showers are forecast for southern Florida. Warm weather is forecast from the West to the Mississippi and seasonal temperatures for the East. Skies will be mostly clear.

Hill country all abloom

AUATIN — It's peach blossom time in the Texas Hill Country, and Agricultural Commissioner John C. White has advised that the blossoms in the Fredericksburg area will be in full bloom from now until the middle of March.

Jack Smith, peach coordinator with the Gillespie County Extension Service, and the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce have compiled a map of orchards in the area for those interested in visiting the area while the trees are in bloom.

Copies of the map are available through the Chamber offices, at the LBJ National Park and at the County Agent's office in Fredericksburg.

Cold weather which dipped into the area recently did minimal damage to the 1977 crop and "the orchards are beautiful right now," Smith said.

"In touring the orchards this week," he added, "we did find some damage. The cold weather thinned out some of the blossoms, but those that were lost would probably have had to be thinned before the bearing season anyway. We still have good peach crop setting now."

Gillespie County is the largest peach producing area in the state, with an estimated 100,000 bearing trees and an additional 30,000 new trees planted this year.

Baboon hearts to help keep men alive?

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — South African heart surgeon Christian Barnard says he plans to transplant baboon hearts into humans as a temporary means of keeping a person alive in heart emergencies.

The 53-year-old surgeon, who pioneered human heart transplants 10 years ago, said that because of rejection problems the baboon heart could give no more than a temporary respite to a dying patient.

"It (rejection) may take three or four weeks, but I'm not sure," Barnard said. But he estimated the temporary heart would beat long enough to allow the patient's own heart to make some recovery or to keep a patient alive until a suitable human heart became available.

Why does a person join the Up With People cast and spend a year traveling from town to town, from home to home?

I asked that question of Christine Hospied of Belgium who is a cast member and one of two advance persons for the Tuesday night performance here in Big Spring.

SHE OFFERED to write a short summary of why she joined, and here it is just as she wrote it (to be read with a French accent):

FEW WORDS ABOUT 'UP WITH PEOPLE'

If you are young and full of life, if the world doesn't scare you, if you enjoy meeting people, learning about everything; if you'd like to have friends from Europe, Japan, South America, Canada, or maybe even someone from your own city; if you want to learn about yourself, your goals, your ambitions; if you want to learn another language; or if you care about other people, you're like one of the many persons for 'Up With People.'

If you like to sing and dance, and if you want to know more about stage techniques, operating, control, you've got the best opportunity to learn everything about it with us.

Why I decided to join 'Up With People'?

I decided for these reasons, and for sure I have not been deceived.

Now it seems like my world is too small. Now I know how many good friends I have all over these countries, and these friendships are so important and so true.

YOU CAN'T believe how much we become close to so many different people, Canadians, Indians, Mexicans, Japanese, etc.

And after one year to traveling around the world like I have been, I already know I can face any type of situation, able to find a solution right away anytime. And that is what I believe when I think 'Up With People.'

Christine Hospied from Mouscron, Belgium

Christine will sing a Belgium song in the show Tuesday night.

She invites everyone to come. Tickets are $2 for students and $3 for adults.

She and 70 others will be performing at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Spring High School auditorium.

Sam Bass, while famous as Texas' most notorious outlaw, was also probably one of the most popular subjects of fable and best liked of villains since Robin Hood.

Stories of Sam Bass' generosity and kindness towards the poor run rampant through Texas folklore.

Sam was supposed to have killed only one man, and that was a few minutes before the end of his outlaw career, and his death. Records still don't show whether it was Sam or one of his henchmen that pulled the trigger that killed the deputy sheriff of Round Rock, Caige Grimes.

coffee. "Take the candy and apples home to your children", he said. "When you get there make yourself a big pot of coffee and never tell a soul you have seen Sam Bass".

According to Dobbie, Hide waited 30 years to tell his story.

Another story about Sam Bass, not quite so well known, involved my great-grandfather, John Edward Savage, of Florence.

ACCORDING TO GRANDMOTHER, who said "daddy never talked much about it," Sam Bass stole two of her horses from the farm in Florence.

Not being wealthy enough to give up real easily, and being of stout Irish blood, my great-grandfather Savage took off after the horse thieves.

There being a group of them, and all heavily armed, Bass didn't go to great pains to elude Savage, and he soon caught up.

HERE THE STORY becomes hazy in everybody's memory. Anyway, my great-grandfather got his horses back, and also told that he'd been given a gruff apology; something to the effect of, "Sorry, didn't know you needed them".

I'm sure Savage would have been more reluctant to follow Bass, had he known that at one time Sam supposedly six-shooted his name into an Oak tree he happened to be galloping by.

On July 19, 1878, Sam Bass and his two trusted companions rode into Round Rock to case a bank they were going to rob.

Already present, and secluded near the bank waited three Texas Rangers, among them R.C. (Dick) Ware. In the ensuing melee one of Bass' companions was shot dead, and Bass himself was mortally wounded, by Ranger Ware.

Bass got away with the help of Frank Jackson, his unscathed accomplice, but gave out after a few miles.

A saddened Frank Jackson finally acceded to the pleas of Bass, and took off on his own, never to be seen again.

Sam dragged himself under an old Oak tree, and the next day (his birthday) died despite the medical help the Rangers gave him.

While he was dying, according to J. Frank Dobbie, he said to inquisitors of the law, "It's agin my profession to blow my pals. If a man knows anything, he ought to die with it in him."

No mention

William F. Buckley, Jr.

I had resolved to give up for Lent any mention of Paul Hughes now that we have been catapulted back into a general discussion of the McCarthy years. But this now proves impossible having seen a statement by Mr. Alfred Friendly, retired managing editor of the Washington Post, indignantly denying any wrongdoing in his association with Paul Hughes.

The Hughes story is probably the single most embarrassing thing that happened in the fifties to the liberal establishment. The success of their subsequent cover-up is the kind of thing Nixon dreams about in his prison at San Clemente. Mr. Friendly, in his reminiscences about the McCarthy years, notes that the "best book" ever written about McCarthy is Richard Rovere's ("Senator Joe McCarthy, 1959"). When National Review exposed the Hughes case in 1956, the editors teased the court historians for failing to write about it. Mr. Rovere replied huffily, "I agree... that the Hughes case is full of import. I know that I shall deal with the Hughes case in (my forthcoming book)." But Paul Hughes was not mentioned in the book.

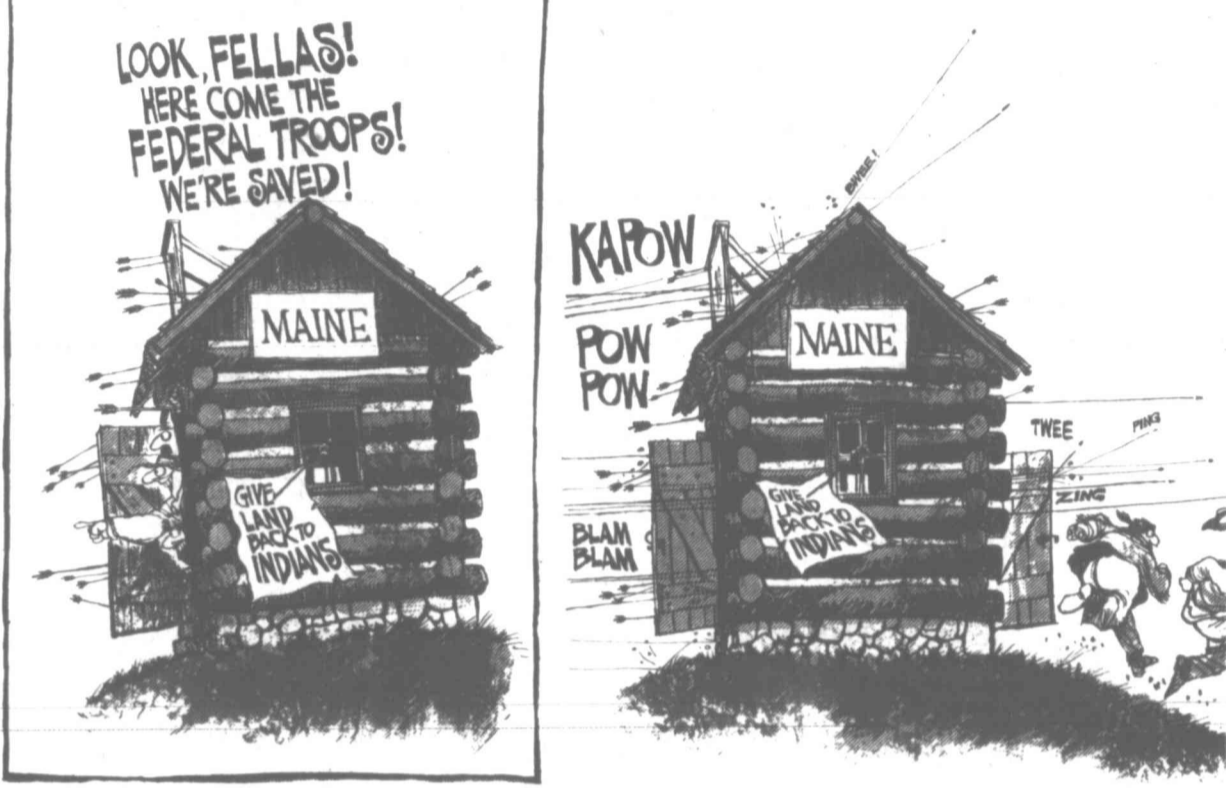

PAUL HUGHES was a young confidence man. He represented himself, in 1953, to Joseph L. Rauh Jr., the civil rights lawyer; to Clayton Fritchey, then editor of the official journal of the Democratic Party; and to Alfred Friendly, representing the Washington Post, as a disaffected member of Senator Joe McCarthy's Senate staff, willing to feed Rauh, Friendly et al confidential information about McCarthy. Rauh's opposition to secret informers vanished overnight, and there was cranked up surely the strangest transmission belt in modern history, establishing a credulousness among top American liberals that would make John Birchers blush.

He gave them "evidence" of a secret alliance between Eisenhower and McCarthy; of tantalizing rivalries between the staffs of the Internal Security Committee and the McCarthy Committee; of imminent plans to enter into forbidden communication with Igor Gouzenko, the Soviet defector in Canada; of marital problems developing between Senator and Mrs. McCarthy; of a clandestine White House conference at which a smear campaign against the Democratic Party was programmed; of McCarthy's informers in the White House, in the Louisville Courier-Journal, in the New York Post (the cooking editor); exonerating teasers about informants whose identity had not been disclosed; and (my very favorite) news that Senator McCarthy had amassed an arsenal of pistols, Lugers, and sub-machine guns in the basement of the Senate office building. All this wrapped up in a chaotic package of notes, official memoranda, interoffice communications, secret transcripts, some illiterate, some eloquent, always steaming with drama and emitting a sex appeal irresistible to the professional anti-McCarthyites.

NOW THIS association continued with, and a sum of almost eleven thousand dollars was paid over to, a man who had written what nowadays might be called a premature Huston Plan. The memo from Paul Hughes to Clayton Fritchey dated December 1953, prepared for Joseph Rauh, said: "Phone taps can be utilized (against McCarthy)... don't discount the tremendous values in just bargaining power of recorded phone discussions."

Gap exists between patient, doctor

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read your column and find it interesting and informative. There's one thing I cannot for the life of me understand.

Why would a grown person pay good money to see a physician or specialist concerning an illness and still feel so uninformed about a problem to write you for further information? I imagine there are doctors who won't take the time to explain. Or is it that the patient doesn't ask?

I was always afraid to insist on such information until I realized that often you must be firm and see to it that all your questions are answered. The general questions in your column are fine, but maybe you could help these people by printing a set of guidelines on how to ask and get answers from a physician. —A Reader.

The problem of communication between doctors and patients is as old as medicine itself.

The answer is not as simple as it first appears. Most physicians agree with you that an informed patient is a better patient. But the barriers to full understanding are formidable. In the first place, diagnosis is often a long procedure. There are times when the doctor does not know or is unsure about things. At times he (or she) may feel he knows but is not sure enough to say. Often the patient is reluctant to seek information for a variety of reasons. He may be unequipped to understand medical terms or may not want to know.

The doctor may be hard put to explain in understandable non-technical language just what is wrong or what he suspects is wrong. Often he may not have enough time for a detailed explanation. One answer to some of these problems may be a specialized kind of medical professional, such as the new Physician Assistants. These are men and women highly trained in general medical problems, anatomy, nursing, etc., and with the time and ability to inform individual patients in detail about illnesses and their prescribed treatment. Many doctors are hiring such people to work with their patients.

Communicating medical information is not the easiest task in the world. Most ailments do not lend themselves to description "in 25 words or less." I have learned this from years of answering readers questions. It is as easy to oversimplify as to over-technical and complex.

This may seem a long, roundabout way of not answering your question. The truth is there is no set of guidelines to cover all individual situations between doctors and patients. So I suspect there will always be the need for columns such as mine, which hopefully do help bridge the communications gap somewhat at least.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does the word "bruit" mean? My doctor told me I have this. —M.N.

It is a French word that means noise. Medically it means a sound or abnormal noise in an artery or from the heart detected with a stethoscope. A heart murmur is a bruit (pronounced with an "ee" ending).

NOTE TO MRS. O.L. — Yes, thermograms can give false readings. The thermogram picks up patterns of heat in body tissue. There may be a concentration of heat in one spot, which may or may not represent a malignancy. A recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association recommends that thermography be done before manipulation examination of the breast or before X-rays done before thermograms, can disturb tissue and produce subtle innocent changes that can be mistaken for abnormalities.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson gives all the answers in his invaluable, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It; How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

NOTE TO R.P. — The cervix is insensitive to heat, thus the cauterization should produce no pain.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Acne is a terrible problem for anyone growing up. If you are afflicted with it, or have children who are, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

Dear Dr. Graham: What does the Bible mean when it says we are to fear God, yet love Him at the same time? I can't see how these two can exist together. —U.O.E.

Dear U.O.E.: You are right in saying that the Bible stresses both the fear of God and the love of God. "Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him" (Psalm 33:8). "Take good heed therefore unto yourselves, that ye love the Lord your God" (Joshua 23:11).

The Bible actually uses the idea of fearing the Lord in two ways. First, there is an awesome fear, a fear that naturally comes to men when they consider the power of God and the judgment of God. This was the kind of fear Job described: "The wicked man travelleth with pain all his days. For he stretcheth out his hand against God" (Job 15:29, 23, 25).

But usually the real meaning of "fearing" God is "deep reverence." It is not fear in the sense of terror, but fear in the sense of wonder and awe and respect.

Perhaps an analogy can help us. We should both reverence and love our parents. A child should have a healthy respect for his father, and at the same time he should love his father. We are children of our heavenly Father, and should both reverence Him and love Him.

"What doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him" (Deuteronomy 10:12). Only when we reverence God will we really worship Him; only when we love Him will we really serve Him.

Big Spring Herald

Dear Editor:

Sen. Walter Mengden and Rep. Clay Smothers have introduced into the Texas Legislature resolutions which would recall Texas' ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

The ERA is not needed. All laws necessary to give women equal rights are already on the books. (Civil Rights Law; Equal Opportunity Act, guaranteeing equal pay; Banking and Depository Act, granting women equal rights in obtaining credit.) All we have to do is enforce them.

The ERA is being fraudulently presented as giving women equal rights. Nowhere in the amendment does it say it will give women anything. All it says is: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex." This means that any law which favors either sex above the other will be abolished.

Women will lose all the protections they now have. No longer will husbands be held liable for support of their children. This has already been declared by courts in States which have passed their own equal rights laws.

Women will be stopped from drawing Social Security benefits based on their husbands' earnings. The suffering this will bring to elderly widows is, alone, enough reason to demand the recall of Texas' ratification.

U.S. Rep. Barbara Jordan sponsored a bill which would force Social Security coverage on every woman from 18 to 65. This would require unemployed women to pay Social Security taxes. A husband with a home-maker wife would have to pay taxes twice with his earnings. Someone came up with the figure of $10,000.00 as the value of a home-maker's earnings in one year. If, as may happen, it is decided she is "self-employed", she will then have to pay $800.00 a year into Social Security, in addition to what is deducted for Social Security from her husband's paycheck. The ERA, if passed, will require this — if the Jordan bill has not already become a law.

Women would lose their "dower rights" to property left by deceased husbands. Laws which provide penalties against a man for beating a woman; laws against rape, forcing women into prostitution and seduction of young girls by adult males; industrial laws protecting women from unsuitable jobs beyond their strength and the provision of maternity leave — all would be nullified and done away with, if the ERA goes into effect.

Under the ERA, women will be drafted into the military service on an equal basis with men. Since the ERA bans all sexual separation, women would share sleeping quarters and latrines with men. Government officials readily admit that the passage of the ERA will force women into the front lines of war-time combat.

In 1972, The Selection Service Bulletin published a policy announcement by Director of Selective Service Curtis W. Tarr: "When the President's authority to induct expires, the Selective Service must register young men at age 18 (and young women as well if the Equal Rights Amendment becomes a part of the Constitution.)"

Report 32-359, issued by the House Judiciary Committee, says: "Not only would women, including mothers, be subject to the draft but the military would be compelled to place them in combat units alongside men."

Do you want your wives and daughters to be subjected to the indignities of sexually integrated barracks, to suffer the horrors of front-line combat, to be taken as Prisoners of War? If not, then write to your Representative and Rep. Smothers (P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Tx. 78769) and to your Senator and Sen. Mengden (P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Tx. 78769), telling them you want a Recall of Texas' Ratification of the ERA.

"We owe to the middle ages the two worst inventions of humanity — gunpowder and romantic love," wrote Andre Maurois.

Michael Douglas, who has made a career of both these "inventions," is going to squash those rumors of an emotional involvement with actress Louise Fletcher by getting married within three weeks to a Spanish foreign service student whom he met recently in Washington's Georgetown section. Her first name is Deandra, but she is already using Douglas as her last name.

Michael is a guy who overcame a handicap. He started out in show business as the son of Kirk Douglas, but now they refer to the old man as the father of Michael Douglas. That's what TV fame of the type won by Mike on "Streets of San Francisco" can do for you. Of course, he went on to Oscar-winning glory producing "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

The 31-year-old Mike and his twentyish bride will have a small L.A. wedding, a huge reception and a brief honeymoon in Palm Springs. They are already house hunting. Michael can't get away for long because he begins production of a new Tom Cook screenplay called "The China Syndrome" any minute.

Public financing for Senate races?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Decrying the increased flow of special interest money into congressional campaigns, five senators today introduced a bill to extend public financing to Senate races.

They also said similar legislation would be filed soon dealing with races for the House.

"The very success of public financing of presidential elections makes the public financing of congressional elections especially urgent," the five said in a joint statement.

Introducing the measure were Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Alan Cranston, D-Calif., Dick Clark, D-Iowa, Charles Mathias, R-Md., and Richard Schweiker, R-Pa.

President Carter has voiced his support for public financing of congressional elections. Their bill would establish spending limits of 20 cents for each registered voter or $300,000, whichever is greater. It also would limit candidates to spending $35,000 of their own money in a primary or general election. The limit would apply only to candidates who accepted public funds.

In cases where one candidate turned down public funds and spent more than the limit, it would be waived for his opponent even if the opponent was accepting public funds.

Candidates of major parties would receive in public funds 25 per cent of the spending limit for their state. In addition, they would receive matching funds for every contribution they receive of $100 or less.

Trial for former candidate begins today

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The trial of former Texas gubernatorial candidate Ramsey Muniz on charges of marijuana smuggling and bail jumping was scheduled to begin today in federal court here.

Last month, Muniz pleaded guilty to federal charges in San Antonio that he conspired to smuggle over 800 pounds of marijuana into the United States from Mexico.

The Corpus Christi lawyer was sentenced last week to five years and a special 10-year parole on the San Antonio charges.

A Corpus Christi federal grand jury returned an 11-count indictment against Muniz, 34, last July accusing him of participating in the smuggling of 6,000 pounds of marijuana into the U.S.

An arrest warrant was issued for Muniz when he failed to appear at a Corpus Christi federal court in November. He was arrested by Mexican authorities in December and turned over to U.S. officials in Laredo on Christmas Day.

Muniz ran for governor on the Raza Unida party ticket in 1972 and 1974. Muniz has been jailed in lieu of a $1 million bond since returning to the U.S.

His brother, Roberto, has pleaded guilty to charges stemming from the Corpus Christi indictments and has been sentenced to five years in prison.

STEAM TRAIN'S COMING! — The mighty '4449' steam locomotive will power Amtrak's cross-country steam excursion train from Birmingham, Ala., to Portland, Ore., via New Orleans and Los Angeles, starting April 13. The locomotive is being returned to its home base in Portland after hauling the American Freedom Train across the nation as part of the American Bicentennial celebration. The public will be able to ride the special train. Information on schedules and fares is available through Amtrak ticket offices and travel agents, or from Amtrak's toll-free reservations system.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Amtrak will operate a 3,655-mile transcontinental steam excursion train from Birmingham, Ala., to Portland, Ore., via New Orleans and Los Angeles beginning April 13.

The special train, hauled by former Southern Pacific steam locomotive No. 4449 — one of a vanishing breed of steam engines — will give rail aficionados a unique chance to be aboard as it returns to its home in Portland. For the past two years, the locomotive has powered the American Freedom Train.

Amtrak President Paul H. Reistrup agreed to the Freedom Train Foundation's request to return the locomotive to its home base. The huge locomotive, which with its tender weighs 425 tons, is owned by the City of Portland. Railfans will recognize it as a "4-8-4" Northern-type engine.

In its heyday, No. 4449 pulled premier trains on the Southern Pacific Railroad such as the Daylight, Sunset Limited, Starlight and San Joaquin, name trains which operate today under Amtrak's banner.

Amtrak announced fares and schedules today for the 19-day special trip, which will operate in daylight segments of about 300 miles a day from April 13 to May 1. Passengers can ride for part of one day, for one or more days, or for the entire trip.

Starting March 8, information on schedules and fares can be obtained and reservations made by calling Amtrak's nationwide toll-free telephone numbers. On approximately March 15, complete information will be available through Amtrak ticket and travel agents.

Passengers are urged to make their reservations as soon as possible, since some segments of the reserved-seat-only train's route may be sold out even before departure from Birmingham.

As a special inducement to encourage steam train fans to take the entire trip, Amtrak will have a special fare of $299 for the full route. Another special fare will be a combination of the steam train's full-length rate and a 14-day U.S.A. Rail Pass.

Pedestrian deaths up violent toll

By the Associated Press

Three pedestrians were killed in after-dark accidents in Texas over the weekend, swelling The Associated Press tabulation of violent deaths in the state.

The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Saturday.

Early today, the eight deaths included four traffic fatalities, two shooting deaths, one in a stabbing incident and one in a boating accident.

The deaths included: A 57-year-old Granbury man, Jack Uselton, was killed early Sunday when his car struck a tree four miles east of Granbury, the Department of Public Safety said.

Houston police said two men were shot and killed Saturday when they attempted to rob a grocery store owner. Harris County sheriff's detectives identified the dead men as Johnny Joe Flores, 22, and Larry Ramirez, both of Houston. Police quoted 62-year-old Chester Ilo as saying he fired a shotgun hidden in his office at the two men after they forced three store employees and four customers into a stock room.

Juanita Myrtle Pyles, 65, of Dallas was killed last Saturday night in what police called a hit-and-run incident. Mrs. Pyles and Ernest Bowden, 46, were attempting to cross a busy Dallas street when they were hit. Bowden was injured critically.

Samerra Cribbs Thompson was found stabbed to death Saturday in a Pasadena apartment parking lot. Harris County authorities said the woman died of stab wounds in the back.

A Midland couple, James and Martha Shafer, 58 and 67, were killed Friday night when a motorist skidded into the two pedestrians in trying to avoid a collision. The mishap occurred on a service road just west of Midland.

Thomas T. Tucker, 54, of Houston, died Saturday when he fell from his boat on Lake Conroe in Montgomery County and was struck by the propeller.

Wants Women Workers To Stay Ashore

DEAR ABBY: My husband works for an oil company, offshore seven days and onshore seven days. I'm just a housewife who can't even get to her own husband when he's working offshore, but listen to this, Abby. There are seven females who are now working side by side with the men on that rig, thanks to the government and Women's Lib!

Those women also eat and sleep under the same roof as the men. My husband says his company is bound by law to hire women, and there's nothing he can do about it.

There are plenty of jobs for decent women on land, so why would a decent woman want to work on an oil rig with a bunch of men? They say these women demanded equal rights. Where the hell are MY rights?

My husband says I don't have to worry—no funny business is going on and the men treat the women just like they were guys. Do you really buy that, Abby?

M.B. FROM TEXAS

DEAR M.B.: Yes, I buy it. And furthermore, any woman who works alongside a man on an oil rig is earning her bread the hard way. If she wanted to cash in on her femininity, I can think of several other jobs she could have chosen.

DEAR ABBY: My son got married, and a week later he came back home because he learned that the woman he married prefers women to men. Her lesbian friend moved in the day my son moved out.

The problem is what to do with the wedding gifts. Some say to return them, others say that if the wedding ceremony has been performed and the couple has lived together—even if only for a few days—the gifts don't have to be returned.

My son wants to do the right thing, but he's not sure what that is. Also, what should he tell people?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Your son should return the gifts that came from his friends and family. And no explanation is in order.

DEAR ABBY: That 18-year-old girl who wanted to know how to refuse a date with a 55-year-old man without hurting his feelings reminded me of something that happened to me when I was 45 and carrying mail.

Every morning I exchanged pleasant greetings with a pretty young secretary to whom I delivered office mail. (She looked about 20.)

One day she said, "Know what? The people in this office say I have a crush on you, but that's ridiculous, because you're way too old for me."

I said nothing, but started to wrack my brain for a cute comeback to her rather startling pronouncement. The next morning I had the answer.

Handing her the mail I said, "Say, I've decided that YOU'RE too old for me."

"Too old for you?" she said. "And how did you figure that out?"

"Well, if you were 3 or 4 years old," I replied, "I could hold you on my lap, put my arms around you, kiss you, and no one would think a thing of it—not even my wife. So you see, you're just too old for me."

LOU IN HAMILTON, OHIO

DEAR LOU: Beautiful! Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Mothers protesting school dress code

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Mothers fuming over a Woodlawn High School dress code which says girls must wear dresses — no pants — are whipping up a protest petition.

Five of them, bearing placards, picketed the school here Monday and said they will be on hand when the Caddo Parish School Board meets Wednesday night.

"I don't believe the Constitution says you have to have a dress on to get an education," said Viola Matthews, spokesman for the group.

"My daughter is out sick because she came to school in snow and cold wearing a dress," she added.

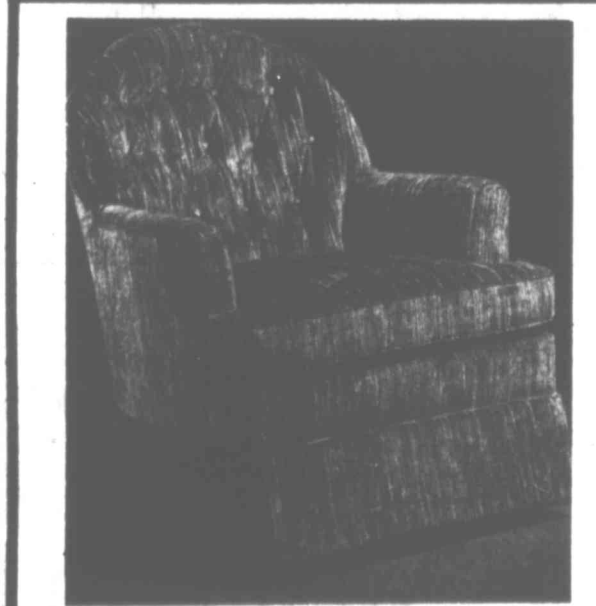

"Other schools change with the times and allowed pants suits when they became fashionable."

Mrs. Matthews said the "concerned mothers" had a petition signed by about 100 parents.

Despite the threat of a law suit by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) unless the dress code is changed by March 1, the board recently upheld the dress code at Woodlawn and South Woodlawn.

However, the board said the system of allowing each school to adopt its own dress code probably cannot continue if it is going to involve court fights, and a parish-wide guidelines will be drawn up before the next school year.

TRAFFIC JAM — Dallas Police cars block one of the roads in the White Rock Lake area Sunday afternoon when a disturbance broke out following the arrest of a traffic violator. The vicinity was jammed with people enjoying the sun-soaked lake area when the incident occurred. The area was cleared after 26 arrests were made.

Park disturbance nets 42 arrests

DALLAS (AP) — One police officer remained hospitalized today following a confrontation Sunday between policemen and several hundred bottle and rock throwing youths at White Rock Lake Park, officials said.

Forty-two persons were arrested during the two-hour-long melee that police said was sparked by an officer trying to make an arrest.

Eight persons, including six police officers, were injured during the disturbance, police spokesman Bob Shaw said.

Police Sgt. Kenneth Heard was hit in the head with a rock and was hospitalized after later complaining of chest pains, Shaw said.

Wrong number big headache

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Otto Flaig was busy Saturday answering calls from people wanting to talk to President Carter.

It all started Friday after the telephone number to be used for the President's call-in show Saturday was publicized. Flaig's number — 242-1611 — is the same except for the area code.

He said the callers started ringing his phone about 6 a.m. Saturday.

Flaig said the telephone company told him the callers were apparently dialing "1" and then neglecting to include the 900 area code necessary to reach the President's number.

ACS chapter meeting set

The next American Chemical Society chapter meeting will be staged in the DKT Coors Hospitality room on West Highway 80 between Midland and Odessa, starting at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 16.

A catered meal will be served at 7:15 p.m.

Chief speaker of the evening will be Dr. Lewis R. Hamilton of the Colored Photography division of the Eastman Kodak Research Laboratories. His topic will be "The Inside Story of Instant Color Photography."

Reservations should be made no later than March 14. Bob Greene of Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., is accepting reservations in this area. His number is 263-7661.

It has also been announced a Saturday, April 2, meeting will be held at Sul Ross State University in Alpine.

Others injured were treated at local hospitals and released.

Shaw said the disturbance was "probably the result of youthful exuberance."

"Every Sunday when the weather is good, there are lots of cars on the east side of the lake," Shaw said. "Today something went wrong. Before you knew it, it was them versus us."

The area of the park where the disturbance occurred is a favorite spot for young people to gather on warm afternoons to drink beer and loss frisbees.

Officials said the melee began when several young persons on the east side of the lake objected to an arrest made by an officer on the drive that runs alongside the lake in North Dallas.

About 100 police officers responded to help control the crowd and divert traffic from the area, which was jammed with people taking advantage of the warm weather.

Police stopped traffic from entering the drive and began ordering the young people, estimated at between 1,500 and 2,000, to leave the area. A police helicopter hovered over the crowd and broadcast orders for the crowd to disperse. The park was closed for 2½ hours.

One officer fired a warning shot into the air when he and several other policemen were surrounded and physically attacked by part of the crowd, Shaw said.

Shaw said 26 persons were charged with disorderly conduct while 13 were arrested for investigation of more serious charges to be filed later. Three juveniles were also taken into custody.

EPA rulings devastating

By Bill Albright

Executive Vice President, Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce

FEDERAL REGULATION! Think we have more than we need? The word from Washington is that "We haven't seen anything, yet!" A good example, or in this case, a bad example of Federal Regulation is the EPA interpretive ruling regarding regulation of new pollution sources (emission offset policy). It is so restrictive that it has banned construction of a G M plant in Oklahoma City with 5000 new jobs; a $500 million Dow Chemical plant in California — plus a $1 billion ARCO facility also in California; the Volkswagen plant in Pennsylvania; the multi-billion dollar Seadock facility at Houston; and a $125 million power plant in Florida! All this since the first of the year, and that's just the beginning.

Another piece of pending legislation pertains to the resurrection of the construction site picketing bill which was vetoed last year. Enactment would force shut down of entire jobs when a labor dispute pertained to only one segment of the job. And if that's not enough, the repeal of section 14b of the Taft Hartley Law would force all workers to join a union thus eliminating our right to work law.

In addition the congress is working to increase the minimum wage which will surely force a higher degree of unemployment and even force some smaller businesses to close.

And there's more: If you're a cotton farmer or a gin operator you know that the present OSHA law if allowed to stand will require such extensive and costly changes that most gins will actually have to shut down.

Then if that's not enough there's surface mining controls, the land use act, petroleum divestiture, wage price controls, unemployment compensation and the list goes on and on.

As an interested American and as an interested Texan — let our elected federal officials know that "we don't want and definitely don't need (1) Additional Federal Controls and (2) Additional Federal Spending." It's our country — it's our legislators and it's our future that is being legislated — If you don't agree with increased controls and regulations at the Washington level write or call and let them know — now — before it's too late! Make sure that your voice is heard and that they are aware of our feelings and that we can back up our position with a whole county full of Hustle Hustle.

Injury-riddled team Pistons get ring job

By the Associated Press
The Detroit Pistons are working smoothly again after a nifty ring job.

Seven players scored in double figures Sunday, led by Marvin Barnes' 23 points, as the injury-riddled Pistons snapped a three-game National Basketball Association losing streak by beating the Atlanta Hawks 115-105.

Barnes, replacing All-Star center Bob Lanier, who suffered a broken hand Friday night, tossed in eight points in the last quarter while Howard Porter chipped in seven more to enable the Pistons to fight off the Hawks.

Elsewhere, the Boston Celtics edged the Denver Nuggets 112-110 in overtime, the New York Knicks downed the Philadelphia 76ers 110-102, the Washington Bullets topped the Phoenix Suns 118-110, the Chicago Bulls turned back the Golden State Warriors 94-89, the Los Angeles Lakers outlasted the Cleveland Cavaliers 104-99, the Houston Rockets beat the New York Nets 99-91, the Kansas City Kings nipped the Milwaukee Bucks 109-108 and the Indiana Pacers defeated the New Orleans Jazz 110-106.

Barnes and M.L. Carr paced a 12-0 Detroit burst in the second period that enabled the Pistons to grab command and they led the rest of the way despite a 36-point performance by Atlanta's John Drew.

Howard Porter and Ralph Simpson each had 17 points for the Pistons, Carr had 16, Chris Ford 14, Kevin Porter 12 and Leon Douglas 10.

Celtics 112, Nuggets 110
Kevin Stacom and John Havlicek connected on three-point plays late in overtime to nail down the victory. Stacom hit his three-pointer with 2:12 remaining to give Boston a 109-106 lead, then Havlicek came through after Jim Price got a field goal for Denver. Curtis Rowe's three-point play for Boston with 1:45 remaining in the fourth quarter tied the game at 100-100 and sent it into overtime.

Knicks 110, 76ers 102
Earl Monroe scored 27 of his 31 points in the first half as the Knicks took command in the first 4½ minutes and led the rest of the way.

Bullets 118, Suns 110
Phil Chenier connected on 16 of 24 shots for a season-high 33 points on the heels of a 30-point effort Saturday night against New Orleans and 21 Friday night against Atlanta.

Lakers 94, Warriors 89
John Mengelt sank six free throws in the final four minutes to push Chicago safely ahead of Golden State for the Bulls' seventh straight triumph.

Lakers 104, Cavaliers 99
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Cazzie Russell paced Los Angeles with 20 points apiece. The victory maintained Los Angeles' 1½-game lead over Portland in the Pacific Division.

Rockets 99, Nets 91
Moses Malone scored 17 points, grabbed 21 rebounds and blocked seven shots to go along with Rudy Tomjanovich's 24 points as Houston dealt the hapless Nets their fifth straight home-court loss.

Kings 109, Bucks 108
Scott Wedman scored the final four points and Brian Taylor stole the ball with four seconds remaining to preserve Kansas City's victory.

Pacers 110, Jazz 106
Clutch free throw shooting by Billy Knight helped Indiana defeat New Orleans. John Williamson led the Pacers with 27 points and Knight had 20.

Knicks coach ends an era

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was the end of an era when Red Holzman said he won't be back next season," Willis Reed said softly. "Almost from the beginning until now, he has been basketball."

Holzman, who has been around the National Basketball Association every year since 1948, announced Saturday that he will step down at the close of this season after 10 years as coach of the New York Knicks.

Reed, the burly center who captained the Knicks' championship teams in 1970 and 1973, is the leading candidate to succeed Holzman. The Knicks say the field is still open, but they expect to name a new coach within the next two weeks.

The announcement that Holzman would move up to the front office next season came as little surprise to the Knicks, who split a home-and-home weekend series with Philadelphia.

The announcement was prompted by a published report that Holzman would step down immediately and veteran forward Bill Bradley would serve as interim coach. Bradley, the former Rhodes Scholar who will retire as a player at the end of this season, said he had no desire to coach.

"They asked me if I would be interested and I said no," Bradley said. "I'm interested in a career in public service. My basketball career will end with my last game."

One man who is interested in coaching the Knicks is Reed.

"I expect to be coaching next year, and I would like it to be with the Knicks," said the 6-foot-10 Reed, who played 10 seasons in New York before knee injuries ended his career in 1974.

Knicks President Mike Burke said, "Willis is an obvious candidate, but not the only candidate."

There was a report that the Knicks were interested in New Yorker Al McGuire, the highly successful Marquette coach who is retiring this month. But McGuire has turned down offers from the pros in the past, saying he did not want to coach anyone who was getting paid more than he was — which, even if McGuire was to become the highest paid coach in the NBA, would mean about half the Knicks.

The remark was made that with McKay, Ara Parseghian, Darrell Royal, and Frank Broyles now gone, the old coaching wedge in college football has been broken except for Alabama's Bear Bryant and Ohio State's Woody Hayes.

"Woody will never die," McKay quipped. "Neither the Lord nor the Devil would take him."

Yanks having sign-up trouble

Sparky Lyle says if he isn't signed by opening day he won't play out his option. He

Aqua Steers splash in Odessa JV meet

The Big Spring High School Swimming Team traveled to Odessa Saturday for the annual Junior Varsity Regional Swim meet at Permian High School. Participating for the Steers were: freshmen Carrie Little and John Turk; sophomores Maynard Calkin and Randy Stukel; and junior Kevin Crenwelle.

Carrie Little scored 15 points as she placed 3rd in the 100-yard breaststroke and 10th in the 50-yard freestyle. Her time in the 100-yard breaststroke was 1:25.963 which is her best time of the year. Maynard Calkin placed 5th for 10 points in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:14.592. The men's 200-yard medley relay team of Randy Stukel, Maynard Calkin, John Turk, and Kevin Crenwelle placed 7th for 14 points with a time of 2:08.219.

They're not even close to what I want," said Lyle, who is asking $500,000 over three years. "I told Gabe I'd play for the same thing I got last year for the next three years, but the money I want guaranteed for when I'm out of baseball is the problem. I want guaranteed money that's going to be there come hell or high water, if the club is defunct or not."

What else did the 32-year-old Lyle tell Paul?

"I said I either wanted to agree with them or be traded by the time the season starts. One thing I don't want to do is play out my option. I will not play here without a contract. If they haven't signed me or they haven't traded me, I won't play when the season starts. That's it in a nutshell."

The Yankees also are having salary problems with starting pitcher Doc Ellis, a 17-game winner.

Two records broken in Relays

The unusually cold temperatures have made for a few chapped lips and chapped lips Saturday during the Optimist Relays, but the weather didn't take any of the bustle of competition away for the gargantuan event sponsored by the local organization.

Despite the slowed bodies, two records were broken, one of them which had stood for 11 years. Jimmy Stovall from Midland Austin broke the 8th grade record for the high jump with a leap of 5'8", one inch over Snyder Lamar's Bagley, who cleared 5'7" in 1974.

Bob Wilson, also from Midland Austin, tied the high jump record for the ninth graders, clearing 6'0" to tie Bowie's J. Heap mark set in 1966.

The local Optimists would like to thank all the people who stayed the entire day and helped make the Relays a success: meet referee Don Robbins, meet directors

They would also like to thank scorers John Hamilton, Clayton Alred, British Daniels, Carlene Barrow, Kathy Sullivan and Deanna Adams, hurdle chiefs Montez and Smith, shot chiefs coach Webb and Richard Doane, disc chief Ron Thompson, high jump chief Greg Grice, long jump chief Tom Henry and Melton Brown, pole vault chief Jim Moss and Triple jump chief Sidney Clark.

RUNNING COLD — Various members of area West Texas track teams leap over the first hurdle in their attempt to break a record at the Optimist Relays Saturday in Memorial Stadium. Cold weather slowed some times, but the competition was brisk.

Sparkling wine and golf; celebrities toast Lema

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — Champagne flowed from four sterling-colored spigots in the clubhouse of the Marco Island Country Club. It never stopped.

Neither did the chatter of a broad cross-section of the nation's sports and show business Lema would have loved it. It was his kind of party — sparkling wines, conversation to match, wild tales and golf.

It was the 11th annual gathering of the clan, friends and admirers of Tony Lema, paying tribute in the Lema Memorial Pro-Am to the colorful San Franciscan, whose brilliant career was cut short by a private plane crash in 1966.

"If Tony had lived, golf would have been different," said Gene Sarazen, the boney squire in knickers still able to shoot his age at 75. "He was the one player who could have stood up to Jack Nicklaus."

Legends of the sports world — Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Mickey Mantle, Johnny Unitas, Eddie Arcaro, coaches John McKay and Don Shula — sparred banter with such golfing-business personalities as Perry Como, James Garner and Gordon McRae.

Ralph Kiner, one of the recent inductees into baseball's Hall of Fame, fielded questions about the dollar of multimillion contracts, particularly the reported $3 million demands being made by the New York Mets' home run slugger Dave Kingman.

"Can't last," commented Kiner, who hit 54 home runs for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1949. "Clubs can't keep paying out that kind of money."

Kiner disclosed that he signed for $90,000 after his big year, a National League high at the time.

"What would you be worth on today's market," someone asked? Kiner only gazed into space.

"Hollywood once talked to me about playing Williams if a film was ever made of his life," said Garner of TV's Rockford Files. "I said I couldn't hit from that side. Garner is a right-hander, almost good enough to play the golf tour."

Unitas was asked what he thought of the football future

Amin hoping to visit New York

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — President Idi Amin says he wants to improve relations between Uganda and the United States and hopes to visit New York later this year.

"President Carter one day will be one of my best friends," Amin said Sunday in an interview with The Associated Press, CBS and NBC.

"I like Carter as a person, but I don't think he understands me or even Africa. He doesn't know African policy and only follows reports from exiles."

"The exiles will never speak much good about his own government. They are speaking bad things about me to get money from the newspapers."

Amin said he hopes to visit United Nations headquarters in New York this year. If Washington bars him from the United States, he added, other nations would demand that the headquarters of the world body be moved.

He also said he plans to attend the Commonwealth Conference in London in June despite demands in Britain that he be barred from that country because of alleged violations of human rights in Uganda.

Amin denied charges by refugees and foreign churchmen that he murdered Anglican Archbishop Janani Luwum and two cabinet ministers accused with him of plotting against Amin. He insisted that they died in an automobile wreck shortly after their arrest Feb. 16. He also denied refugees' reports that his army is exterminating members of the Christian Acholi and Langi tribes.

Amin said his ban on the 240 American residents of Uganda leaving the country was not issued because he wanted to hold them hostage but because he wanted to meet with them and thank them for the "very, very hard" work they had done for his country.

The ban was called off last week and the meeting was canceled. Amin said his "sincere appreciation" of the Americans was

The president said he would like to see the U.S. Embassy in Kampala reopened as well as more Americans working in Uganda. The embassy was closed in 1973 in a dispute over its U.S. Marine guards, but diplomatic relations were not broken.

his friends and enemies, the field marshal said: "Some of the top people in the CIA are my friends and some are against me."

Amin said the only condemnation he had of the United States was the "way the Zionists control the economy of the country." As an example, he pointed to the recent economic problems of New York City. But he also repeated his charge that some 2,600 mercenary troops working with U.S. Navy ships in the Indian Ocean and the Kenyan army are "coming towards Uganda's borders."

It was Amin's first meeting with American correspondents since the death of the archbishop touched off widespread foreign condemnation of his regime.

KNOW YOUR FOOD

Barbecue time is here!

Home barbecues vary from a hooded or open grill to an elaborate fireplace with oven and flue. But with a little practice, you can become an expert barbecue chef in no time. If you're a beginner, frankfurters, chops, steaks and hamburgers can get you started. Chicken is easily barbecued, split or in pieces. Experiment with various barbecue sauces to determine favorites. If your barbecue has a rotisserie attachment, a whole chicken can prove easy to cook. Just truss the bird and baste occasionally as it lazy cooks to tender goodness. To tell when it's done, shake hands with the whole bird! About 20 minutes before roasting time is up, snip the cord that holds drumsticks to the spit rod to let heat reach all parts of the bird. Grasp end of drumsticks with paper towels; when leg moves easily, the bird is done.

It's necessary to be somewhat knowledgeable about various meat cuts as a guide in outdoor cooking. Learn which cuts are tender and which need to be marinated before cooking to tenderize them. The United States Department of Agriculture Grades are a helpful guide to the best quality grades for beef and lamb. Other favorites for barbecuing are pork, poultry and seafood.

You may also want to explore kabob cooking, which will let you experiment with many kinds of meat, poultry and seafood cubes along with appropriate fruits and vegetables. Never limit barbecuing to a monotonous menu. The varieties are endless... have fun and enjoy.

Ridin' fence

Back in 1881

with Marj Carpenter

Texas and Pacific Railroad arrived in Big Spring in 1881 mostly because of the Big Spring. Earlier, soldiers and buffalo hunters and Indians and a little bit of everyone else followed the trails to the Big Spring.

When the railroad arrived, however, the town took its first spurt of growth. Railroad workers were proud men and they really settled whatever area they moved into in the old West.

Nowadays, all of the railroad operation is computerized. In St. Louis, a big computer lists the car distribution, handling and location of all the trains.

In Big Spring, a dozen persons, who have been locally trained, type and cut computer cards and operated the system here around the clock.

A few things of this nature are still done by hand but most all of the work is computerized.

The old hand written dispatch sheets are a thing of the past. W.E. Wozencraft, retired railroader, has a stack of them.

He saw a bunch of them about to be burned and he rescued a handful of those sheets that were written up in 1891, a decade after the railroad arrived in Big Spring.

A list of names of the conductors, engineers and brakemen on those old sheets include such old Big Spring names as Daniels, Connelly, Deats, Inkman, Buckels, McKeller, Rives, Graff, Faulkner, McLeon, Chambers, Everly, Mathis, 'ack, Aikens, Hays, Smith,

GLAD FOR THE TRAINS
... now on computers

Lesiure, Paylor, Linder, Hitzner, Bassett, Bennett, McKay, Blair and many more.

Stations included between Baird and Big Spring (as it was then called) included Clyde, Elmdale, Abilene, Tebo, Merkel, Trent, Eskota, Sweetwater, Vista, Loraine, Stock Yards, Colorado, Westbrook, Iatan and Signal Mountain.

Nowadays, the list is narrowed to Sweetwater, Escota, Clint, Merkel, Zylar, Loraine, Roscoe, Colorado City, Coshoma, Dome, Iatan and Couden Yard.

The story of how Iatan was named is a familiar one. That stretch of the railroad was a headache with red sticky mud pouring up across the tracks. Wagons often got stuck in the area and trains even had trouble. Somebody sent in the name for a post office as Satan Flats. Somebody couldn't read their handwriting and approved the name as Iatan Flats and the name has survived.

The old dispatch sheets had a special place for a stock report. One sheet lists 17 horses, 15 cows and a calf and notes at what time they were fed and when they were let out. The regulations were that all cattle had to be taken off the trains, exercised, watered and rested every 36 hours.

The sheets that "Woody" has include ten in May 1891. During that spring month, the weather shows a low of 48 and a high of 59. That was a cool spring.

The weather was as changeable in 1891 as it is in 1977. On May 4, high water delayed the train at Loraine. Four days later, on May 8, there was a delay at Abilene due to high wind and blowing dust. "If you don't like West Texas weather, wait an hour and it will change."

On May 9, the rings went out on a brake cylinder at Merkel and on May 7, a cow insisted on standing in the track near signal Mountain. I don't know how the computers record all of this. For instance, I hope the computer had a place for the abandoned car on the track last week.

But the old dispatch sheets were interesting. And I'm glad Woody rescued them. Perhaps, some day, some group or person here will start a club coupled with a railroad museum. And if they ever do, there ought to be a lot of interesting early railroad items stashed out around Big Spring, or out in the area, where I often cross the tracks - while ridin' fence.

Equality is tough on waiters

DALLAS (AP) - These days of equality for women are tough on waiters who in years past rarely had to deal with a lady paying the check for a man's dinner.

Paul Borge is a waiter in one of Dallas' most exclusive French restaurants. Like most men in his profession, he is instructed to present the bill to the man who made the reservations.

"If it was a woman who was paying for the dinner," Borge says, "there used to be firm rules. Never insult the lady by handing her the bill directly. The bill would be left with the maitre d'."

But things aren't that simple now.

"One night awhile back, I wasn't sure who made the reservation. So I handed the bill to the man who seemed to be at the head of the table."

"To my surprise, a woman from the other end of the table announced she was taking care of the bill. I apologized and quietly took the bill to the maitre d'.

Before long, she complained that she had not received the bill. I quietly told her to see the maitre d' ... I told her I didn't want to embarrass her by handing her the check in front of her guests."

Borge said the woman looked appalled and then started laughing. She said she wouldn't embarrass Borge by leaving him a tip.

The waiter learned his lesson from this and started boldly handing the bill to women right at the table.

But Borge discovered all women do not take to women's lib. One night, a woman brought in a party of eight and explained she would pay the bill.

When Borge brought the bill to her, she was shocked and insulted. Borge finally said he would mail the check to her, but she told him that under the circumstances she couldn't leave a tip.

Several more times, Borge got in embarrassing situations with women paying bills and each time he lost his tip.

Finally he came upon a solution.

"When a woman says she's taking care of the bill, I don't say anything. When she orders her entree, I always suggest one item that I point out is a nice ladies' portion. If she glares and makes it a point of ordering the large portion, she gets the check.

Mutilated cow found near Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP) - A Holstein cow was found killed and mutilated in a East Fort Worth pasture Sunday afternoon in a manner similar to other mutilations four years ago.

The animal's sex organs and one teat had been severed and removed from the scene, said Troy McCarley, the owner of the animal.

"The only thing I noticed around the cow were two fresh shotgun shell casings," he said. "I turned the cow over, but I couldn't find any place where she had been shot."

McCarley theorized the animal may have been tranquilized before her organs were removed.

"She had struggled some because her horns made an
