

Farm land tax bill okayed by Senate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senators passed 25-3 and sent to the House today a proposed constitutional amendment that would let agricultural land be taxed on productivity instead of market value. An amendment that would have limited the appraisal benefit to small farms and ranches failed 14-16. "This is a speculator's bill of rights," protested Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, who offered the amendment. "It would give benefits to the large farm corporations and the big timber interests."

Doggett said his amendment would have put the amendment in line with a legislative bill already passed by the House to limit benefits to natural persons, small corporations, and trusts. The House bill, if approved by the Senate, would not become effective unless voters approved the constitutional change. "A lot of our school district people are afraid of this already and without this amendment the constitution change will be defeated by voters," predicted Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland.

Doggett said some estimates were that the amendment would take $40 billion off tax rolls. Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, sponsor, said the change to appraisal by productivity might actually increase tax rolls. "It will be up to the legislature to decide who, what, where and when if the voters approved this amendment," he said. Creighton's measure, if finally approved by two-thirds of the House, calls for a vote in November of this year. Ballots would ask voters to vote for or against giving "the legislature limited power to provide separate appraisal formulas to promote the preservation of existing uses of open space land devoted to farm, ranch or forest purposes." A "compromise" medical malpractice insurance bill, with support from most affected groups — except doctors — was approved today by the House State Affairs Committee. It now goes to the floor for debate, probably this week. Attempts to delay action, even until tonight, were withdrawn after Committee Chairman Tom Uher, D-Bay City, said that any delay "would play into the hands of defeating the legislation." Key provisions would: —Place a $500,000 ceiling on malpractice judgments — except for actual medical and custodial care costs. —Require all medical malpractice suits to go before screening panels consisting of three physicians before they can be tried. The panels' findings would not be submitted as evidence in court, but the intent is to discourage the filing of suits that could not be won. —Require that all malpractice suits be filed within two years of the date of the alleged negligent act. Present law requires the victim to file within two years after discovery of the medical injury. "This is experimental legislation. We have no guarantee that with the cap (on judgments) and everything else we have in here we will affect insurance premiums," Uher said.

Appeal 17 years overdue due to be heard here

Andres Marcus, 35, who 18 years ago was sent to the state penitentiary on two concurrent 99-year terms, has requested a habeas corpus appeal of his case in 118th District Court here. Marcus is due to arrive this week and the hearing will be set by Judge Ralph Caton. The judge will appoint a new attorney to the case since the appeal was filed shortly after Carroll Smith, attorney on the original case, died in December 1975. Marcus now contends that he had been waiting for 17 years for the attorney to appeal the case. At the time that Marcus was sentenced, a period of terror had occurred in Big Spring involving assassination-robberies of filling stations, with the robbery often including killing of the attendant. One attendant lived through the ordeal and the case was broken. Prior to the arrest and trial, filling station attendants had reached the point, officers recalled, where they stayed locked inside the building and only came out to wait on night customers with guns in their hand, according to one of the persons involved in the original trials. Judge Charlie Sullivan was district judge at the time of Marcus's sentence. Marcus was 16 years old at the time of his arrest and was tried as soon as he turned 17, according to the records.

Leftists win first round in France

PARIS (AP) — France's left wing has won its biggest election victory since World War II, underscoring the strong possibility that the Socialist-Communist alliance will win the National Assembly elections next year. In nationwide municipal elections Sunday, leftists won control of nearly four times as many cities as the Gaullists and supporters of President Valery Giscard d'Estaing won.

Agence France-Presse, the French news agency, said city councils were elected by majorities in 156 of the 221 cities of more than 30,000 population, leaving 65 to be decided in runoff elections next Sunday. Of the 156 decided, AFP said 116 went to the Communist-Socialist alliance and three to other leftists, while the Gaullists won 14, Giscard d'Estaing's Independent Republicans and the Centrists each took six, and other tickets favorable to the Gaullist-Centrist-Giscardist majority that controls the National Assembly got eight. Two others were won by nonpartisan tickets, and one by independents. In Paris, where the new municipal council will elect a mayor for the first time in 106 years, the Socialist-Communist ticket won only 40 per cent of the vote. But this was no comfort to President Giscard d'Estaing since a ticket of his supporters headed by Industry Minister Michel d'Ornano ran behind the Gaullist ticket headed by Giscard's rival for leadership of the centrist and conservative forces, former Premier Jacques Chirac. Chirac's slate got 28 per cent of the vote, d'Ornano's got 20 per cent and a new ecology party polled about 10 per cent. The ecologists were eliminated from the runoff because they did not get 12 1/2 per cent of the vote. In the second round, a majority is not required for election, and victory will go to the ticket that gets the largest vote. But the leftists will win Paris also unless d'Ornano withdraws and Chirac gets enough votes from his supporters and the ecologists. The leftists were helped by continuing inflation and unemployment, Chirac's break with Giscard d'Estaing, which split the conservative vote, and the formation of joint Socialist-Communist slates for the first time, which united the leftist vote.

Water hearing lures Coahomans

Long way just to listen
By MARJ CARPENTER
COAHOMA — A busload of Coahoma citizens arose at 4 a.m., today and whisked their way to Austin to attend public hearings on the recent ruling of the State Utilities Commission on a certificate of necessity filed in connection with the water district.

Members of the water district board expressed surprise when they heard the delegation had gone to Austin.

To combine tax services

Mrs. Zirah Bednar, Howard County law assessor-collector, was scheduled to go before Howard County commissioners court today and request their backing of a possible combination of tax collection services in the county.

Mrs. Bednar to offer plan

Mrs. Zirah Bednar, Howard County law assessor-collector, was scheduled to go before Howard County commissioners court today and request their backing of a possible combination of tax collection services in the county. Mrs. Bednar has prepared details of a possible combination of tax collecting services for the county, city and school district. She was to request the backing of the court on the proposal and was scheduled on today's agenda for the court. She has prepared details which, according to Mrs. Bednar, show that the service could be more economically run for all agencies if handled by the county tax assessor-collector's office. She was to request the commissioners for permission to take the request to the city and school. In other action, the commissioners postponed until after a decision on the possible hiring of a children's librarian for a period of a few months. John Deats, county librarian, requested that an applicant be hired who will be in Big Spring through August. She has both teaching experience and 18 hours of college library work. The library has been without a children's librarian since November when the one hired went to Lubbock. The librarian explained that "It is getting ready to be our busy season for a children's librarian." Ikey Rupard asked if there were any employees presently employed qualified for the position and was told there were not. The item is already included in the county budget as the librarian is still seeking a permanent children's librarian with a master's degree in library work. The commissioners discussed use of the fire trucks obtained for the volunteer fire departments at Jonesboro, Sand Springs and Silver Heels. The commissioners also discussed the public notification by the Coahoma Volunteers that they would no longer fight fires outside of Coahoma, other than large fires which they have an agreement with Big Spring and Webb to help combat. Commissioner Rupard emphasized that the other volunteer units would still back up on bad fires in Coahoma, such as a gin blaze or other large fire "and I want the citizens of Coahoma to know that." County Judge Bill Tune asked when the county had given Coahoma its year's funds and was told that the funds were issued in October. In other action, the commissioners heard a lengthy report from Neel Barnaby, county engineer, on possible danger areas if the county receives heavy spring rains. He pointed out that one county resident who was complaining about water standing in his yard had some problems in the yard itself, which was high. Other details were discussed. Barnaby also asked the commissioners to get the volunteer fire chiefs together and discuss fire fighting practices. He claimed that, sometimes, ranch fences are being cut when not necessary. Judge Tune presided, with all members present including Bill Crooker, Jack Buchanan, O.L. Brown and Rupard.

Spanish airliner hijacked by gunman

MADRID, Spain (AP) — A gunman brandishing a pistol and a rifle commandeered a Spanish airliner shortly after it took off today from Barcelona with 37 persons aboard and ordered it to fly to the Ivory Coast in West Africa, a spokesman for Iberia Air Lines said. The spokesman said the Boeing 727, with 30 passengers and a crew of seven, made a refueling stop in Algiers before resuming the trip to Abidjan, capital of the former French colony. The airliner had been on a flight to Palma on the Mediterranean island of Mallorca. The hijacker, identified only as an Italian named Zosi, ordered the plane to refuel in Oman, Algeria, but the destination was switched because the airport in Oman lacked enough fuel. The airline said the hijacker boarded the flight in Barcelona. Iberia said it was maintaining radio contact with the airliner and there had been no injuries. The spokesman said Zosi had not made known his demands. But there was speculation that he might demand the release of six Italian rightists held in Spain for terrorist activity. The Spanish government is considering an Italian request for their extradition.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: It'll be moved

Q. I was checking on the progress of the new coliseum at Howard College (which may do more for our community than any single structure in history) and was surprised to see a huge crane still on the floor of the gym. The sides have practically been closed in. How do they propose to get it out — by dismantling it?
A. Dr. Charles Hays, president of the school, says the contractors weren't caught napping. Hays says the boom on the crane will be lowered and the vehicle will be moved up the east ramp, after it has been stabilized. The late Goose Tatum says he learned to play basketball in an old meeting hall separated by a partition. He'd have to stop to open the door in the partition everytime he dribbled down the court. The basketball players using the new coliseum might find an abandoned crane on the floor of the coliseum too much of a handicap, however.

Offbeat: Well read deputies?

RUSTON, La. (AP) — The Lincoln Parish Sheriff apparently can't keep track of the girls magazines he confiscated from the local store shelves. First, 71 magazines turned up missing from the sheriff's office when Assistant District Attorney Joe Bleich ordered deputies to return the surplus magazines of the 890 issues they confiscated. Bleich said he only needed 21 issues, but when deputies brought the rest back to stores, they ended up 71 short. A convenience store clerk said the sheriff's office ended up paying $113 for the missing issues. "Maybe some deputy took them home to read," Bleich suggested. "I really don't know." Then, a few days before Bleich was scheduled to go to court to argue that the 21 magazines were obscene, the sheriff's office found there were only 19 issues of the evidence. Deputies dispatched to repurchase the issues said "Genesis" and "Gent" had sold out in Ruston. Sheriff George Simonton had to borrow the two copies from the nearby Caddo Parish sheriff so the Ruston case could be prosecuted. As it turned out, Bleich and district attorneys across the state had their obscenity cases delayed until the Louisiana Supreme court can review constitutional arguments. Bleich is hoping that in the meantime, his evidence will stay put in the Lincoln Parish sheriff's office.

Tops on TV: Hour of swing

If you want music from the so-called Golden Era, tune in at 7:30 p.m., to PBS (Channels 5 and 13) to catch the All-Star Swing Festival, when arrangements by Benny Goodman, Ella Fitzgerald, Duke Ellington, Count Basie and Dizzy Gillespie will be heard. It's a complete hour devoted to the big band era. There's a comedy on NBC, 8 to 10 p.m., called "Rafferty and the Highway Hustlers" which, no doubt, is worth looking into.

AFTERMATH — Rae Ehrlich is framed by a broken glass partition, at B'nai B'rith headquarters in Washington Sunday, as she explains how gunmen broke the glass with a rifle butt and took her and others hostage. Over a hundred captives were held for 38 hours.

Hanafi leader booked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, leader of the Hanafi Moslems who held 134 people hostage last week, was booked today on a charge of armed kidnaping, an offense that carries a maximum sentence of life in prison.

"You hate me, you hate the ground I walk on, but I don't hate anyone," Abdul Khaalis told photographers as he left his sect's headquarters for downtown for the brief booking procedure.

Abdul Khaalis and 11 of his followers were arraigned Friday after the hostages were freed from three different places where they had been held 38 hours. But in the negotiations that led to the surrender, Abdul Khaalis was promised he would not be formally booked until later and that he would remain free on his own recognizance at least until a grand jury returns an indictment.

Abdul Khaalis was taken from his headquarters by Capt. Joseph O'Brien, head of the homicide division, and another policeman.

"You ought to pray to Allah that nothing ever happens to me," he said. "If I die, it all comes down."

The booking procedure at the downtown police headquarters involved fingerprinting and photographing.

Abdul Khaalis went free again when the procedure was over.

A grand jury is expected soon to receive evidence on the siege.

For the hostages who lived through it, and for those who were close to the man who was killed, the memories remain fresh and painful. Some who were imprisoned at the B'nai B'rith International Center, and those who narrowly escaped, recalled their agonizing experiences.

Agnew hearing under way

BALTIMORE (AP) — A judge heard arguments today to decide if former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew must face a parole revocation hearing despite a Justice Department recommendation that no action be taken.

U.S. Dist. Judge Roszel C. Thomsen ordered the Justice Department to investigate allegations in a $1 million civil suit filed by Miami lawyer Sam Polur against Agnew.

The suit accuses Agnew of violating federal law by failing to register as a foreign agent in connection with his work for Education for Democracy, Inc., an organization which transmits pro-Arab views.

It also argues that Agnew violated the law by failing until April 1974 to give up gifts he received from foreign governments while he was vice president.

In a second suit, Polur had asked the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond on Friday to delay the hearing. The court clerk in Richmond said today that no arguments were scheduled on the second suit and there was no indication when a ruling would be issued.

The federal Foreign Gifts and Decoration Act requires public officials to surrender to the State Department foreign nations' gifts valued at more than $50 because such gifts are considered property of the government rather than the individual.

'Open Government Award'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Members of the advisory committee of the Texas Coastal Management Program presented Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong today with an "Open Government Award" for his help in drafting the coastal management proposals now before the legislature and Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

"It was his openness and fairness to all interests that made this possible," said Sharron Stewart, Lake Jackson, a member of the committee.

"I said when we started that the only way to do this was to go to the people and start from the people up," Armstrong said.

George McGonigle, Houston, said the coastal legislation proposals to be heard by House and Senate committees this week were developed only after a series of 30 public hearings up and down the coast.

Violent deaths in Texas

Traffic accidents claimed ten lives, two persons died in shootings and one man burned to death in a fire at his home as at least 13 persons died violently in Texas during the weekend.

The violent death count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The deaths included: Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson of Wichita Falls died Sunday after a motor home in which she was a passenger, left U.S. 287 and overturned near Wichita Falls.

A San Angelo man was shot to death after a fight at a peacan company Saturday. Police said Floyd Johnson, 63, was shot by the business owner after Johnson struck another employee. The employee was hospitalized and no charges were filed.

Police beat Sunday time of travail

A westside man would have been better off had he stayed in bed Sunday. Instead, he parked his pickup truck at the old service station at 15th and Gregg at about 5:25 p.m. and walked over to the Safeway parking lot.

At about that same time police officers arrested the man for public intoxication and took him to the station.

While he was in custody, his pickup disappeared. When the truck was found at about 7:30 p.m. behind the same service station, it was stripped of a few essentials, including the tires, wheels and a tapecock.

An attempted burglary of the Bólinger Grocery 300 blk. of N. Gregg was thwarted by an observant police officer early this morning.

Police Officer James VanNess, while on a routine patrol, saw some movement through the east side door of the Gomez building, to which the Bolinger Grocery is attached, at about 1:35 a.m. today.

Upon investigation police officers found that someone had attempted to cut a hole through the wall between Bolinger's and an empty store room of the Gomez building, apparently to gain access to the grocery.

Further investigation found a man that had hidden in another part of the Gomez building, and he was taken into custody on suspicion of burglary.

Mendoza advised that he had gone to Lamar St. to talk with some people and discuss some earlier difficulties. He said that when he pulled up in front of the house in his car, someone from the house took three shots at him. Mendoza put off discussing the difficulties, and went to the police station.

Oil firms damaged

Vandalism hit the oilfields in the Forsan area during the night Saturday with three different oil companies notifying Sheriff Aubrey Standard of damage Sunday morning.

The damage is over $1,000, with chemicals running out of 12 different 55 gallon drums which had been shot with a gun of 300 calibre or over. The bullets were to be obtained from inside the drums today, according to Sheriff Standard.

At two of the locations, drums had also been turned over and drained on the ground. Four beer cans were found, possibly from the same six-pack, with two at one location and one each at the other sites.

Mobile Oil reported damage on the Mary Chalk lease. L.L. Trammell called that six 55 gallon drums were shot there and one 300 gallon fiberglass tank was also shot.

Over 320 gallons of chemicals were lost in the criminal mischief action at that lease.

Louis L. Blake reported that Gulf Oil had damage on the Otis Chalk lease with one drum pulled from the rack and drained and four drums shot full of holes. They lost over 200 gallons of chemicals.

Energy Cosden employees graduate at HC

Nine Cosden employees graduated last Friday from the industrial electricity job training program offered through Howard College at the request of Cosden. This special course was tailored specifically to meet the job needs of the company and its employees.

The nine graduates received certificates of completion in special ceremonies at a luncheon in their honor in the dining room of the Howard College Union Building. Bert Andries, instructor for the course, presented certificates to Ross Bradford, Tommy Young, Ted Thomas, Phil Elliott, Bob Stewart, Bobby Howell, Carroll Kinman, Don Murphy and Ray Morgan.

In these ceremonies, congratulations were extended in an opening address by Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College. Don McKinney, foreman of the electrical and instrument department, acted as emcee of the luncheon program. Tommy Young made a response on behalf of the graduates.

Special guests at the luncheon included officials from Cosden: Ed Dennis, Ron Medley, Richard Grimes, Jimmy Wood, Coy Mitchell, Tommy Shirley and Spencer Wolfe. Representatives from Howard College who helped in the planning and implementation stages included Dr. Bobby Wright, dean of occupational education and Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, assistant to the president.

Tom Farquhar was introduced as the lab assistant who aided Andries in the instruction.

Howard College and Cosden are already looking at the possibility of offering another class. Other companies who may have an interest in having their employees attend a class of this nature should contact Dr. Wright at Howard College for information about the possibilities.

This innovative program featured a personalized, individual approach with the students going to class eight hours a day for eight weeks to complete a 240 clock hour instruction curriculum. The students earned six college credit hours upon completion Friday. Cosden allowed these men to be on released time from their work and paid all tuition costs involved.

This course was designed to be an on-going program that could be broadened to include teaching basics to the new employees as well as teaching advanced electricity and continuing education and upgrading for the other employees. Other courses that may be planned would include instrumentation and electronics.

After the second day, the group will jet home.

International Harvester sponsors these yearly tours to let farmers see first-hand the building of farm equipment. Overall, about 6,000 farmers from throughout the nation will visit the two plants during the first three months of 1977.

BEAUTIFUL TEXAS — Apparently the severe sand storms last week failed to diminish the flock of robins in the Big Spring area this winter. The one here is perched on a mesquite and you notice that "the mesquites ain't out". An old West Texas saying is that when the mesquite comes out, the last freeze has passed.

per cent, compared with insurance industry requests for a 6.6 per cent hike. The board will take the proposals for study and issue new rate schedules later, probably for a July 1 effective date.

For Big Spring and other cities in the northwest rating territory, extended coverage rates would go down by 5.2 per cent under the staff proposal and 2 per cent under the industry proposal. Extended coverage includes various forms of damage protection such as from storms.

The typical home owners' policy would increase by 2.4 per cent under both proposals. Farm and ranch coverage would go up by 1 per cent under the staff recommendation and 6.1 per cent under the industry recommendation.

Fire insurance rates vary from city to city under a schedule that takes into account each city's fire-loss record and fire fighting capabilities. But, according to Insurance Board staff figures, the standard rate in the northwest territory would increase by $1 from the present $42 a year.

The staff proposal typically would decrease extended coverage by $10 from the present $25 (with 1 per cent deductible) and increase home owners' policy cost by $8 from the present $32.

These figures were compiled by the Insurance Board for an owner-occupied $25,000 house with brick veneer and a one-year policy with 1 per cent deductible.

In a news release from the Texas Insurance Advisory Association, the staff proposals were attacked as "a contradiction of current and foreseeable conditions."

The association said, "A less-than-2-per-cent increase laughs at inflation, but the joke is on you and me." It warned that insufficient rates would make property insurance harder to obtain.

Six more Spelling Bee champions to compete

Leticia Hernandez, Runnels Junior High; Esther Strain, Boydston Elementary; and Kristy Mathews, Kentwood Elementary; have joined the list of school champions who will compete in Tuesday's County Spelling Bee, which will start at 4 p.m. in the Howard College Auditorium.

Leticia, a 14-year-old eighth grader, daughter of Mrs. J.B. Hernandez of 303 N. Aylford, edged Marianne Burchell for the honor at Runnels.

Marianne, 14, also an eighth grader, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Burchell of 906 Baylor St.

Marianne missed the word "armistice." Leticia spelled that word and then closed out the competition by spelling "avalanche." It took 14 rounds of competition to decide the winner at Runnels.

Esther Strain won the bee at Boydston by spelling "ancient" after John Martinez had missed it, then put the proper letters together for the word "angel."

Esther, who will be 12 in April, a sixth grader, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Strain of 1019 Nolan.

John Martinez will be the Boydston alternate and will compete in case Esther will be unable to enter the County Bee. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Martinez, Rte. 2, Box 59A.

More discouraging news

Fruit costs to spiral

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Federal and state officials are measuring the impact of the West Coast drought and Florida frost on the nation's food bill. But consumers already are paying the price for bad winter weather, and more discouraging news lies ahead.

"There will undoubtedly be a shortage in canned fruit and vegetables and the retail side will be feeling it late this year and throughout 1978," said Robert Gibson, president of the California Canners and Growers Association and president of the National Canners Association.

Gibson was quoted by Supermarket News, a trade publication, as saying: "There is every indication of extremely curtailed production this year."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture index for vegetables was 30 per cent higher in January than in December. The USDA said that prices paid to growers for fresh vegetables are likely to remain high through April and warned of "firm to moderately high prices" for most processed vegetables during the first half of 1977.

Frost in Florida cut the citrus crop, although it is still expected to be a record. Wet weather in the Rio Grande Valley in Texas interfered with carrot planting, sharply boosting the cost of that vegetable.

Industry experts differ about the supply situation and the extent of price hikes, but they all agree that consumers face bigger bills.

Don Hodgson, a produce expert for the Independent Grocers' Alliance in California, said he expected adequate amounts of most products. But he said the frequent canned goods specials of last year would disappear.

Hodgson said it was too early to tell exactly what would happen as a result of the drought. "It's still kind of anybody's guess," he added. He noted, however, that lack of water for irrigation in California would cut sharply into the number of acres planted with tomatoes, meaning that whole peeled and stewed tomatoes may still be in short supply in some areas. California produces 85 per cent of the nation's tomatoes.

Federal and state authorities have been monitoring the drought situation. California officials held a two-day conference on the drought last week and Ron Robie, director of the State Department of Water Resources, warned that everyone will be affected "by less agricultural production, higher food prices, energy shortage problems and the general economic problems the drought will cause."

Weather

Blowing dust due to continue

By the Associated Press

Blowing dust was expected to continue in the Panhandle and South Plains today, but most of Texas was expected to have fair skies and warm temperatures.

Forecasters said there would be gusty winds across West and North Texas. The latest gusting wind results from an approaching cold front, they said.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 50s, but temperature extremes ranged from the 30s in the mountains of Southwest Texas to the upper 60s in the Lower Rio Grand Valley. Some representative readings included 45 at Amarillo, 47 at Wichita Falls, 56 at Texarkana, 53 at Waco, 51 at Austin, 60 at Galveston, 61 at Alice, 69 at Brownsville, 57 at Del Rio, 48 at El Paso and 53 at Lubbock.

While most of the state had clear skies, some fog and low clouds were reported early today along the gulf coast inland into southeastern and South Central Texas.

Four cities shared the high reading in Texas Sunday with Dallas, Junction, Lubbock and San Angelo all reporting 84.

It Works . . . Stop Hair Loss, Then Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done" . . . But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women . . . that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk . . . and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days — at their risk — if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail. Adv.

ATTENTION: Residents of Howard County

Effective March 15, 1977, the COAHOMA VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT will be unable to respond to fire alarms outside the City of Coahoma. (This does not effect the mutual aid agreement with the City of Big Spring or Webb Air Force Base.)

This action is not one that is desired by the department but one that is forced upon us by the lack of financial aid by the County. The County gives us $1,500 a year, which averages $125 per month. This does not begin to support the fire department. Gas for the rural truck takes the $125. Then when you add on repairs and damages, the City of Coahoma has to take up the rest of the tab.

A hole was knocked in the tank on a county grass fire, costing $1,475 to replace and after years of use, a new pump was needed costing another $1,457.94. The clutch went out on the Fina Truck Terminal fire, hose lost and damaged at the Corden fire, two men were hospitalized after the compress fire in Big Spring, all these, just to name a few, of the department's expenses, clearly show why the Coahoma Fire Department is unable to continue to help the County without further financial aid.

The County Commissioners, for some reason, do not feel that the residents of Howard County deserve an efficient fire protection program. Our Mayor met with the County Commissioners several times; Spokesman for the department has met with them and each time the Commissioners "table" the matter. People, we are willing to and want to help you but the County Commissioners won't let us. We have 17 volunteer firemen on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week, willing to risk their lives for you and we don't even have enough gloves to wear, let alone other bunker gear.

All we are asking of the Commissioners is "If we are willing to risk our lives for you, at least give us the equipment so we can feel safe when fighting a fire."

As we stated before, we are willing and want to help you or we would not have volunteered in the first place, but we can not under the present circumstances.

It is now up to you, the residents of Howard County. If you want better fire protection for you and your family, call your Commissioner, be at the next board meeting, ask him why he refuses to help us. Please, help us help you.

Commission can point to record

A measure has been introduced in the Texas Legislature this session which would strengthen the Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission.

THIS MEASURE, introduced by State Sen. Jack Ogg of Houston as Senate Joint Resolution 30, would seek a constitutional amendment which would allow the commission to function more efficiently.

I read recently where State Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan opposed the resolution because, he said, the Judicial Qualifications Commission had done nothing since it was created. That, of course, is following Bull of the Brazos nonsense. A lot of folks down in Duval County think the commission did quite a bit.

I can personally attest to the fine work of the commission in investigating a bad situation in East Texas. The investigation resulted in a resignation which will do more to help one particular Texas county than anything that has been done there in two decades.

I have seen the commission staff under pressure from all sides conduct fair and thorough investigations into the conduct of judges. This is a task no one else could accomplish.

The majority of Texas judges are good, honest men, but it is not true without exception.

Without a strong commission of this type, it is more difficult, if not impossible, to probe possible judicial misconduct.

Sen. Moore should get his own house in order before throwing stones at the Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission.

This session, Moore introduced a bill in the Senate which would prohibit state banks from moving their offices across county lines. Whether or not this is a good piece of legislation, Moore should not be involved in it since he has a clear conflict of interest.

ACCORDING TO THE Bryan College-Station Eagle, the bill is a reaction to a decision by the State Banking Board to allow First State Bank of Hearne (Robertson County) to move to College Station (Brazos County). Four Bryan-College Station banks filed suit challenging the move. Moore owns stock in Bryan banks. He is, in effect, sponsoring legislation which would keep out competition for them.

The resolution to strengthen the Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission is, despite Moore's opposition, a good one. Some of the major provisions are:

—Change the name to State Commission on Judicial Conduct (qualifications is a misnomer).

—Add two commission members, one a layman and one from the justice of the peace courts.

—Provides that formal hearings be public.

—Provides that a retired judge of justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals or the Supreme Court may sit as a master along with active and retired district judges and justices of the Courts of Civil Appeals.

—Gives the master the same authority of a district judge.

The Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission has proven its value to the State of Texas.

This resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to strengthen the commission should be approved by the Texas Legislature.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Waiting for oil

William F. Buckley, Jr.

LONDON — There are as always so many grounds to be gloomy, indeed to be sad. The indices are bad at every level. Yesterday an official government report divulged the unhappy news that the English working man, although he is earning 30 to 40 per cent more than in 1971, has not improved his lot since that time, thanks to inflation and taxes. Although everyone appears to know that by the rites of progressive taxation, any pay raise is progressively taxed, there is a strange reluctance to adapt fiscal policy to this datum. The result is higher and higher wages without any increase in purchasing power.

NEEDLESS TO SAY the middle class are especially hard hit inasmuch as where they dwell, the rise in the progressive rate is precipitous. The figures are also available here. The middle-class manager who has hit the top of his ladder — let us say he manages a small plant — is far worse off than ten years ago. A man earning $10,000 in 1967 is now earning $17,500. But the combination of tax and inflation has caused his take-home pay to diminish by one-third.

Those highly mobile members of the middle class who give way to despondency tend, in increasing numbers, to move out. There are cackles of glee among Rhodesian-baiters in Great Britain about the exodus of whites from Rhodesia. They are fleeing the terrorists. A greater percentage of British professional men have fled socialism than Rhodesian whites have fled Mau Mau. Although socialism does not threaten to rouse you in the middle of the night for the purpose of slaughtering you, it is there to tell you that, as a mildly productive member of society, you are a class enemy.

Among the critics of socialism in Great Britain there are those who fear that the very worse is conceivable. Mr. Robert Moss, the editor of The Economist's "Foreign Report," gives Britain about a 30 per cent chance of rejecting communism. This must be carefully understood. What could happen in Great Britain is the kind of thing Karl Marx specifically envisioned in the Manifesto. The principal goal of Marxism is the elimination of private property. Property is substantially eliminated when it is taxed at levels as high as 90 per cent, and when the government in power is pledged to a 100 per cent inheritance tax. Beyond that, Marx called for the nationalization of industries, the confiscation of all the property of those who seek to emigrate, the abolition of private schools, programs that are substantially in force or prospectively in force under the current government.

Others will tell you that, somewhere along the line, the British government is going to run into the great impendable that defies the schematic ideology of Marx. To wit, the British character. It is a phenomenon that the Communist Party makes absolutely no headway among the voters. Last time around, the Communists got less than one-half of one per cent of the vote.

But the government is, in fact, run by a fairly small group of trade unionists, within which group the Marxist ideologues are heavily represented.

Test can help detect recurrence

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About ten months ago I was operated on for obstruction of the colon, which was found to be malignant. I wore a colostomy bag for three weeks. A second operation removed the diseased section of the colon. I no longer need the colostomy bag.

The surgeon told me there is no further spread. With health and strength back, all the tests are clear. What in your opinion are my chances for recurrence? I am 69 and holding. —G.D.B.

I threw away my crystal ball years ago — a couple of days after leaving medical school, in fact. Modern medicine is providing more and more reliable alternatives to tea leaves.

In fact, a substance was recently found in the blood of cancer patients. It is called CEA (carcinoembryonic antigen). It is present in the internal membranes of the normal fetus and tends to disappear in the third month of development. CEA's value in adults with cancer is that it causes a certain telltale reaction in blood tests. The degree of reaction can determine if cancer has recurred or spread.

This test is particularly useful on an individual basis after surgery for cancer of the colon. Although it will not tell the type of malignancy or its location, it is a means of answering your central question. It is not recommended as a routine screening test to determine if cancer is present. In your case it would be better than guessing about things.

Your physician is undoubtedly aware of the test, and in fact may well have conducted it. In any event he has had the opportunity of seeing your innards, and has announced there is no indication of recurrence or spread. There are still a good many people who would rather avoid knowing about such things as you ask. But doctors are learning that there are many like yourself who want to know everything and are entitled to know.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will a bladder infection cause a strong odor in the urine? Sometimes it isn't as strong as at other times. Or could the odor be from certain foods I eat? —Mrs. E.

There are several causes of urine odor. One of the commonest is a concentrated urine resulting from insufficient fluid intake. Be sure you are getting enough liquids.

Infection can be a cause, but then there usually is frequent urination with a burning. A urine test would reveal infection. A sagging bladder may cause a puddling of urine, allowing chemical changes that produce strange odors.

Certain foods can cause it. Asparagus is a chief one, but other vegetables would have to be eliminated also. The urine odor should occur within 24 hours after eating an offending food.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me information on how to obtain a menu for a person with sugar diabetes. My mother-in-law is a victim of this disease and her doctor failed to give her much information concerning this. —Mrs. B.H.

Individual diet for diabetes is much too complicated to deal with in any detail here. It depends on how severe the diabetes is, whether she is on insulin, oral medicines or not. Her own doctor should advise her specifically. If not, a local chapter of the American Diabetes Association has dietitians who would be helpful.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Thanks for your frank article on arthritis, in which you say there is "no cure." However, wouldn't it be better to say there is no cure "yet," since much research continues into possible cures? —H.R.

There is very likely a cure for every ailment under the sun. Some of them we haven't found yet. So I agree with your language, the "yet" is always implied.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For a better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Can you please tell me anything that will help my husband and me at this time? Our eldest son was killed in a car accident and our minds are full of unanswered questions as to how and why it happened. He was a good boy and never missed church. It seems so tragic. —A.B.

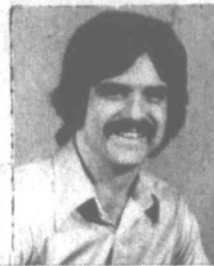

DEAR A.B.: God has a perfect plan for each of us. A very small part of that plan is that we should spend time in a very sinful and cruel world where we may suffer all kinds of disappointments, sorrows and pains and be tempted almost continuously by Satan. Our time on earth teaches us how terrible sin can be and how great is our need of God's deliverance from sin. It is also a time for testing our faith and for continuous warfare against Satan.

To be sent to this earth for a few years is like sending your son off to war. Everyday you hope for news of his return and of the coming of peace. Our heavenly Father feels the same way about us. He has sent us into the battlefield of this world to serve Him and to save humanity, but He yearns for the day when He can call us home to Himself and to eternal peace. That day has come for your son.

It is a very human reaction to want his continued company, without realizing that you would be denying him love, joy and peace with Christ. As Christian people you must learn to praise God for the complete deliverance He has granted to your son from the evils of this world. God did not cause that car accident — it is one more evidence of evil — but God will have honored the faith and trust your son has in Him. Satan attacks us on every side, but even when he uses his greatest weapon of death, God always delivers us out of Satan's grasp.

You are still in the warfare but one day your deliverance will come and you and your son will be reunited. Remember how Paul thought: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day" (2 Timothy 4:7-8).

Time once again to clean out the old letters drawer, and to share with you a bit of the correspondence that has reached me here.

Sir:

Fuel shortage my full-size economy car! I'll tell you what it is. I'll tell you exactly what it is. It's extra-terrestrial beings stealing all our gasoline everywhere on Earth. Scoff at me, go ahead and scoff at me! Everyone's scoffing at all the sightings of UFO's and writing them off as wild tales from idiots, paranoids or drunk fishermen.

I KNOW IT'S the truth and I have proof. I have seen their spaceships on several occasions hovering over gas stations late at night with hoses extending down with which they osmosize all the gas out of the stations for the purpose of nourishment.

And besides that, I've seen them in person. They look like big thumbs. It's awful! Great big icky pink thumbs, with hair coming out of the thumbnail. And do you know who is behind this alien conspiracy to conquer us by stealing all our gasoline?

Judge Crater! Shoot, he's not dead; no one ever found him, did they? The aliens got him and brainwashed him. They got Amelia Earhart too, but I don't know what they did with her.

We don't have much time left to save ourselves from these gasoline-sucking thumbs. The only solution is to convert to battery-powered vehicles, and then they'll starve to death or go back where they came from.

WHAT WOULD YOU think if I told you that I know what it was like to play the cigarette lighter with the letter opener. And what would you think if I told you I think Fleetwood Mac's new "Rumours" album is the best piece of music to hit the street since Jesse Colin Young's "On the Road" album?

I also sing and beat my legs, and can say "Go yellow monkey" and think I'm saying more than three words. I also know what it's like to look at a silver pen, a letter opener and a hemofrabastat and not know which one to pick up.

I also form letters out of my body while in the kitchen and can do John Wayne and the calvary imitations with finger people. Would you say I'm crazy?

WASHINGTON — Even as president, Richard Nixon rarely missed an opportunity to save a few personal dollars. His efforts to wrangle a tax deduction for his papers were almost as embarrassing as the sordid Watergate tapes.

But the penurious former president, harassed by mounting legal bills, has now devised another novel method to get himself off the financial hook. Nixon is trying to cover his legal costs with a homeowner's insurance policy.

THE DETAILS ARE spelled out in a letter in our possession from the Great American Insurance Companies to the exile of San Clemente. The insurance firm was responding to a letter from Edward O. Sullivan, Pat Nixon's second cousin and the man who handles the Nixon family's insurance.

Sullivan told Great American that under court rulings, Nixon could be personally liable in the four major civil suits against him. One charges Nixon and his ex-cohort with bugging top government officials. Another blames him for using the CIA and others to harass me and my staff.

The ex-president, fearing he'll be slapped with fees and damages in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, offered an ingenious interpretation of his homeowner's policy. He had Sullivan ask Great American for assurances that it would foot the bill for the lawsuits.

On March 1, Great American's casualty claims chief, Henry Schillin, turned Nixon down cold. Nixon's policy covers only "damages for bodily injury and property damage." Schilling wrote. Lawsuits "against you arising out of your actions as President of the United States," are excluded, he reminded Nixon.

Nor could Nixon use his personal "umbrella" policy to pay for presidential lawsuits. Nixon's problems do not involve "bodily injury, sickness, disease, disability" or a host of other ills, including "humiliation," the firm indicated. Besides, the policy excludes any act "committed . . . with the intent to cause personal injury."

None of Nixon's insurance policies, the firm added bluntly, "afford coverage for conspiracy alleged in some of the causes of action." The insurance company flatly refused to pay any damages which might arise from presidential wrongdoing.

Footnote: Insurance man Sullivan said he would have been "remiss not to make a claim" following the court ruling that Nixon could be held personally liable. Sullivan is now contemplating legal action against the insurance company. Nixon's lawyers declined comment.

CHEMICAL NIGHTMARE — It began with a simply human-mix-up. But the contamination of cattle feed in Michigan with the toxic chemical PBB has mushroomed into a disaster of alarming proportions. The dangerous chemical has infected the state's food supply and has even been detected in mother's milk.

"Oh, sure . . . we nibble, peck, threaten, cajole, lie and scare hell outa 'em . . . but only in extreme cases do we devour the stupid debtors."

Goldwater linked to mob figures

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Mon., March 14, 1977 5-A

By the Associated Press
Published accounts of reports by a group of investigative journalists say U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, his brother and a close friend had dominated Phoenix and Arizona for nearly 30 years "while condoning the presence of organized crime through friendships and business alliances with mob figures."
The Indianapolis Star and the Miami Herald, in Monday editions on sale Sunday night, carried stories based on copyright articles by 36 reporters and editors who spent six months in Arizona following the murder of reporter Don Bolles of the Arizona Republic.
Both the Star and the Herald participated in the project sponsored by the Investigative Reporters and Editors, Inc. The reports in the Monday papers were the second in a series designed to span 23 days.

According to the published accounts, the reporters said that the senator, his brother Robert, a businessman who controls the Goldwater family mercantile business, and Harry Rosenzweig, former Republican state chairman, "achieved national prominence... after growing in a web of relationships in Arizona, Nevada and California with important lieutenants of underworld financier Meyer Lansky."
The Republican senator, reached at his Washington home Sunday night, said of the story: "I don't want to comment until I've had a chance to see it." He said his hometown paper, the Arizona Republic, was not carrying the report. (The Republic did not carry the Sunday or Monday installments of the series, but said it might carry some of the reports later.)

Goldwater said he had not seen his brother Robert since Christmas. He declined to answer questions about specifics in the published accounts. "It may be the world's biggest lawsuit so I'd be very careful," he said.
Robert Goldwater could not immediately be reached for comment on the stories appearing in Monday papers. In a letter dated March 8 and sent to the attorneys for the Investigative Reporters and Editors, Goldwater disputed and denied several allegations he said were put forward by members of the team who questioned him on what they called "investigational hypotheses."

Rosenzweig also could not be reached for comment. His wife, telephoned at their Arizona home, said of the series: "We haven't seen it." She asked for specifics of the articles and said much of the information had already been published some time ago.
The Monday published articles said Rosenzweig confirmed on the record that he had received a $5,000 contribution, which he put into Barry Goldwater's first Senate campaign in 1952, from the late Willie Bloff, described by the reporters as a racketeer. "This was in addition to the $1,200 Bloff gave directly to Goldwater earlier," the stories said.
The stories said Sen. Goldwater refused to be interviewed. They said both Robert Goldwater and Greenbaum were interviewed with their attorneys present.

Among other highlights of the story as presented in the Herald and the Star:
—Barry Goldwater was friendly with Gus Greenbaum, described as a Lansky lieutenant, and Greenbaum — now dead — "was host to the Goldwater brothers when he operated the mob-dominated Flamingo and Riviera hotel-casinos in Las Vegas. After Greenbaum was murdered, Rosenzweig served as an unpaid appraiser for his estate along with an officer of the Valley National Bank of Phoenix." The accounts said that the bank, of which Robert Goldwater is a director, loaned money to help finance the Flamingo. They also said Sen. Goldwater attended Greenbaum's funeral.

Greenbaum was described as having run organized crime's gambling wire service in Phoenix before he went to Las Vegas.
According to the published accounts, Robert Goldwater told the IRE team that he did not believe he knew Greenbaum before he went to Las Vegas and denied knowing about the Valley National loans to the Flamingo.
—Clarence "Mike" Newman took over the gambling operation in Phoenix when Greenbaum left. "A sizeable share of his operation was catering to a clique of prominent businessmen who could plunk $15,000 on a sports wager... The businessmen bettors included Bob Goldwater," the accounts said.

KOLE AND LINK

Certainly did enjoy visiting with Ronnie Kole and Everett Link Jr. of the Ronnie Kole trio. The drummer had escaped back to the motel to call his daughter on her birthday by the time I talked to Ronnie and Everett.

Not nearly so many people take advantage of the concert series here as should. Hopefully, next year more will join. Sometimes they're probably glad they didn't. But on occasions, they really should wish that they had. And this was one of those occasions.

As far as I'm concerned — anytime you get a chance to hear the Ronnie Kole trio from New Orleans and miss it, you've missed a real treat.

Kole is a pianist that doesn't look like a pianist, doesn't have hands like a pianist and doesn't talk like a pianist (although I'm not sure what a pianist should talk like) — but man alive, can he tinkle those ivories.

He said that he took his first piano lessons when he was 11 years old under a private teacher in Chicago. "By the time I was 14, I had my first piano playing job — in a strip joint."

He laughed and paused. "I guess I never did intend to do anything else but play the piano. His first group was called Ronnie Kole and the Heavyweights — and he migrated to New Orleans, working out of that city ever since."

Why his group was called the Heavyweights, I'll never know. This slender young man is not heavyweight, but does have heavyweights hands, as far as pianists go. He has muscular hands and plays the piano with an unreal force, sliding his hands up the keys in a chord glissando that would absolutely tear up the hands of most musicians.

He has an amazing talent and an amazing ease. He came into the lovely home of Myra Robinson after the concert last Monday and sat down at the grand and played a few more tunes, knowing darned good and well everybody would be delighted to hear them.

Maybe his secret is simply that he really likes to play the piano — and boy does he have the repertoire. Name that tune and Ronnie Kole will play an expert version.

Now, the bull fiddler — Everett Link Jr. was born and raised in New Orleans. He recalls that he played the cello in the fifth grade. Then he went on his way and forgot about music and one day he was in a woodworking class in high school and an announcement came over the speaker, "Anybody wanting to take a beginning string class, report to room 103."

Everett said, "It's funny how well I remember that announcement. It changed my entire life. I went to the class and told them I wanted to learn the bass violin. They thought I ought to continue cello, but something told me to play the bass violin."

Everett said the three members of the trio live in three different suburbs on three different sides of New Orleans.

During this concert here, Kole talked about Brazil having a pulse for music that absolutely follows you up the street. So does New Orleans.

And anybody that can play "St. Louis Blues," "Deep Purple" and many others like Ronnie simply has a melody all their own.

You know when you count the years, life is short. You can only meet so many people, read so many books, hold so many infants in your arms, and hear so many songs.

I really love music. I was thinking about what music I had most enjoyed in the last couple of years. You take it where you can find it.

Freddie Hubbard's bongo drummer in the Music Hall in San Francisco, George M. Cohan melodies by the Mormon Youth Choir at Salt Lake City, Frankie Laine in Dallas, local youth singing Cum By Yah on the mountain top, local youths singing in the Campus Revue, and the Ronnie Kole trip whipping out St. Louis Blues...

You take good music where you can find it. And in between visiting concert artists, I have to hum and tap my foot a lot.

I remember once years ago when somebody had told me I was going to have lead the "Star Spangled Banner" at a banquet. That's a terribly difficult song to sing. So I practiced by singing it in the car while driving in between towns hunting news.

I was singing one rousing portion of it when I pulled up to a traffic light in one town and stopped at the red light. It was fall and the car windows were down and you should have seen the look on the guy's face in the next car when I came down hard on "O'er the la—and of the freeee and the home of the brave."

Every now and then I startle people — when I'm out ridin' fence.

Bukovsky urges trade squeeze

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Soviet political prisoner Vladimir Bukovsky is urging free nations to use pressure on trade agreements with the U.S.S.R. to help end oppression in his native land.

The human rights advocate, whose freedom from the Soviet Union was obtained through a U.S.-engineered prisoner exchange involving Chile, says indiscriminate and unrestricted trade with the Soviet Union serves to strengthen "slavery" of his people.

Alcohol info sessions set

A six-week series of Alcohol Information sessions will be conducted at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Big Spring, for citizens of Big Spring and the surrounding communities.

The sessions will begin March 15, and every Tuesday night for six weeks. The sessions will be held in room 219 from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Anyone interested in knowing more about alcoholism is urged to attend.

Touchdown against cancer

Courage on the football field can sometimes mirror courage in real life. One person who has shown both is Jack Pardee, former all-pro linebacker for the Washington Redskins.

Pardee was in the middle of an exciting football career when he noticed a black mole on his right elbow. It turned out to be melanoma, an often fatal form of skin cancer. Pardee underwent an 11-hour operation. Despite cancer and despite surgery, he made it back to the football field, and his super-active life. He not only played again, he regained his all-pro status.

Pardee, who holds the American Cancer Society's Courage Award, has starred in an ACS film shown in employee education and social club meetings. He is a cured cancer patient who offers living proof of the importance of early detection and prompt treatment of cancer.

His message is very much part of the 1977 ACS educational and fund-raising Crusade now being conducted. "Won't you help by fighting cancer with a checkup and a check?" Dave Morrison, local crusade chairman, said here today.

Letters are going out soon in the special gifts division headed by Mrs. John Currie and in the business drive, headed by Curtis Mullins.

Two 'lemon' bandits strike

DETROIT (AP) — Two bandits held up a west side Detroit bar, armed with an aerosol can of lemon-scented air freshener.

Police said it was the fifth robbery in the past month carried out by aerosol spray-wielding bandits.

Barmaid Roberta Salowski said two men in their early 20s came into the bar Friday morning and drank for about an hour.

When there was no one else in the bar, Miss Salowski said, one of the men ordered her into a back room while the other tried unsuccessfully to pry open the cash register.

The barmaid re-entered the room, and one of the men produced a spray can, pointed it at her face, and pushed the nozzle.

Miss Salowski said she turned her head to avoid getting hit by the spray.

Six Mexican nationals die in mobile home flames

Crowd views Swartz show

By JO BRIGHT

"Bare shoulders, bare midriffs, plunging necklines, low back halters, cut outs that are either arty or tarty

With so much body being bared — would beautiful garments be gone with the first summer breeze?

There was almost a sigh of relief as Mrs. James Cowan's opening remarks at Thursday's fashion show turned out to be "teasers."

As always, Swartz showed Big Springers what they wanted to see — some of the most gorgeous fashions between Frisco and New York City, fashions that can be worn in West Texas as well as anywhere else in the world.

The show, a benefit for the Northside Day Care Center, was sponsored by the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary and was held at Big Spring Country Club where a "packed house" once again proved that women want to know what is new in fashion and how they can apply it to their own lifestyle.

Leisurely paced, with models pausing to exchange patter with those in the audience, the show was narrated by Mrs. Cowan to background music by Mrs. Champ Rainwater. Models were five auxiliary members, Mrs. Jack Affleck, PTA elects officers

Members of the Kentwood PTA elected officers at the group's meeting Thursday evening at the school. Mrs. Jimmy Stokes, president, presided.

Elected to serve during the 1977-78 school term were Rob Allan, president; Mrs. Martha Bres, vice president; Mrs. Nelda Cruson, secretary and Mrs. Beth Freshour, treasurer.

The club voted to conduct a Halloween carnival in October. Dues for the coming year were discussed. Open house, in observance of Texas Public Schools Week, was conducted following the meeting. Parents visited various classrooms.

Mrs. Robert Griffin, Mrs. Ray Owen, Mrs. John Fish and Mrs. Robert Stenberg, along with guest models, Mrs. Tommy McCann, Mrs. Jerry Iden, Mrs. David Klatt, Mrs. G.C. Broughton Jr. and Mrs. Gary Turner.

Chairman was Mrs. Henry Butler, with Mrs. John Hogan assisting with table decorations and Mrs. Clyde Thomas in charge of displaying a collection of early day medical instruments. Mrs. Wallace C. Hunter, president, joined other members of the auxiliary in serving as hostesses during a coffee hour which preceded the show.

"Coming up for summer is something to please everybody; from the basic shirtwaist to the barest bikini," said Mrs. Cowan. "You could say summer is divided into four sections. The first is togetherness, featuring matchmates with wanderlust; second, the country components, an update on jeans, gingham and work wear; third is softness, the key to city dressing; and last, the romantics of 1977."

In all except the active sportswear area, the one thing that seemed destined to remain covered was the knee, as daytime dressing continued to make women look like "ladies."

New ideas, and the revival of some old ones, included peasant blouses for day or evening, short, boxy jackets, double breasted blazers, fuller skirts, Bermuda shorts, pedal pushers, wide waistbands, important belts, ruffled petticoats, tap shorts and blouson tops for most anything. Fabrics may be "good old gingham" or glamorous crepe de chine, comfortable calico or contemporary Quiana. The show lived up to its promise, something for everyone, even in the feminine footwear furnished by Barnes-Pelletier. It was a good way to welcome spring — and benefit a worthy cause.

Shower held in Sand Springs

Mrs. Alan Matthies, the former Diane Hillman, was honored at a gift shower recently in the home of Mrs. Kay Ratliff, Sand Springs. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Gene Stephens, Mrs. Kay Barnett, Mrs. Patsy Shaw, Mrs. Bernice Nail, Mrs. Francis Swan and Mrs. Dick Stone. Corsages were presented to the honoree and her husband's mother, Mrs. Herschell Matthies.

Tasteless TV Ads Not For Mixed Crowd

DEAR ABBY: I see that you've launched a campaign to get rid of "offensive" TV commercials. You told your readers to write to the heads of the networks, and to boycott the products whose TV commercials offend you. You insist that if enough people protest in this manner, offensive commercials will be driven off the air.

According to you, ads for Kotex, Tampons and douches, plus aids for hemorrhoids and diarrhea are "offensive."

Why pick on TV? Why not extend your crusade to cleaning up newspaper ads, too? Is it because newspapers publish "Dear Abby" and provide your bread and butter, and TV does not?

Just where do you draw the line, Abby?
CURIOS IN CHICAGO

DEAR CURIOUS: I draw the line when while entertaining my rabbi, my father-in-law and my teenage nephew, the TV is turned on and suddenly we are informed that a new disposable douche now comes premeasured and in two lovely fragrances!

Had I read this ad in a newspaper it would not have been offensive. But to hear it in the presence of the aforementioned company is an embarrassment that I certainly would have avoided—given a choice.

DEAR ABBY: Is there some gracious way I can encourage my daughter-in-law to invite us for dinner? My son has been married for three and a half years and we have never been invited to their house for dinner. She has been to my home for all holidays, and drops in right at dinnertime several times a month. So obviously she is willing to eat with me—but just at my house.

My feelings have really been hurt when I hear that they have entertained their friends, my other son and his family, and my daughter and her friend for dinner.

Should I say something to my son? I am really surprised at him because we've always been a very close family.

They both read your column, so maybe they will read this and get the idea. Please don't mention my name or town. Oh, her folks have never been invited, either. Thank you.
HURT

DEAR HURT: There is no gracious way to invite yourself to anyone's home for dinner. No, I wouldn't mention it to my son if I were you. He knows. And I'd rather stay home than ask to be invited.

Weekend college roundball action Titans appeal to St. Jude

By the Associated Press

Dick Vitale did some praying when his Detroit basketball team fell behind in the second half.

"I reached into my pocket and pulled this up," said Vitale, displaying a card dedicated to St. Jude, patron saint of hopeless causes.

"It might have helped—but it did not hurt Vitale to have Terry Tyler in the middle, either.

The big man scored 29 points and played a dominating inside game, leading the Titans to a 93-76 victory over Middle Tennessee in the first round of the NCAA's Midwest Regionals Sunday at Baton Rouge, La.

The victory set up an intrastate match in the Midwest Regional semifinals Thursday night at Lexington, Ky. Detroit will play top-ranked Michigan, a 92-81 winner over Holy Cross in a Midwest first-round game at Bloomington, Ind.

Syracuse and North Carolina-Charlotte earned berths in the other Midwest semifinal game with victories Sunday. Syracuse, the nation's No. 10 team, defeated No. 7 Tennessee 93-88 in overtime at Baton Rouge and North Carolina-Charlotte whipped Central Michigan 91-86 in overtime at Bloomington.

As a result of action Saturday, these semifinal pairings were established for the other RCAA regional playoffs:

East — Kentucky vs. VMI and Notre Dame vs. North Carolina at College Park, Md. — UCLA vs. Idaho State and Utah vs. Nevada-Las Vegas at Provo, Utah.

Midwest — Marquette vs. Kansas State and Southern Illinois vs. Wake Forest at Oklahoma City.

Kentucky, the nation's No. 6 team, routed Princeton 72-58; VMI beat Duquesne 73-66; No. 15 Notre Dame turned back Hofstra 90-83, and No. 6 North Carolina trimmed Purdue 69-66 in the East's first-round games Saturday.

UCLA, ranked No. 2, outscored No. 14 Louisville 87-79; Idaho State beat Long Beach State 83-72; No. 19 Utah eliminated St. John's 72-68, and No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas blasted No. 3 San Francisco 121-95 in West first-rounders.

In the Midwest Saturday, No. 16 Marquette downed No. 11 Cincinnati 66-61; Kansas State ousted No. 13 Providence 87-80; Southern Illinois defeated No. 20 Arizona 81-77, and Wake Forest upset No. 8 Arkansas 86-80.

Detroit lost a 14-point lead midway through the game before making a comeback behind Tyler. The Titans led 44-30 with 4:05 left in the first half. But Middle Tennessee rallied, and six minutes into the second half, went ahead 54-52.

But Tyler led Detroit on an eight-point streak, giving the Titans a lead they never lost.

Rickey Green, recovering from a hip injury, scored a career-high 35 points, handed out nine assists and made three steals, leading Michigan's victory. The Wolverines, who trailed by one point at halftime, broke open the nationally televised game with about five minutes remaining, scoring eight straight points for an 80-70 advantage.

Led by guard Larry Kelley, Syracuse rallied from a 10-point deficit in beating Tennessee. Kelley, who never had scored more than 26 points in a game, had 32 Sunday.

Both Ernie Grunfeld and Bernard King, Tennessee's high-powered forwards, and guard Mike Jackson fouled out.

North Carolina-Charlotte lost a 13-point lead in the first half, then rallied with five free throws in the final two minutes of overtime in beating Central Michigan behind Cedric Maxwell's 32 points.

Led by Rick Robey, Kentucky hit on 11 of 12 second-half shots and went on to beat Princeton. The Wildcats' center scored 20 points.

Ron Carter and Will Bynum pumped in 18 points apiece as VMI used a patient offense in defeating Duquesne. Norm Nixon scored 27 points for the Dukes. Don Williams scored 25 points, leading Notre Dame past Hofstra. The Irish overcame a 35-point performance by Hofstra's Rich Laurel.

Tom Zallagiris hit the go-ahead shot with 1:17 remaining, then North Carolina used a four-corner offense in beating Purdue. The Tar Heels played without two of their starting front court players, Walter Davis and Tom LaGarde, both of whom were injured.

Brad Holland scored 16 points in the second half, sparking UCLA past Louisville. Holland poured in 11 points in five minutes, triggering the Bruins into a 66-65 lead, and had a three-point play in the last four minutes, breaking open the game.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, MONDAY, MARCH 14, 1977

Barker wins $40,000 at nets Just incredible string of luck?

DALLAS (AP) — England's Sue Barker won $40,000 in just two weeks of tennis but fellow countrywoman Virginia Wade says the 20-year-old blonde is just riding an incredible string of luck.

Miss Barker has won 10 straight matches, two straight tournaments, a grand total of $80,000 in 1977, but Miss Wade says the saucy 1976 rookie of the year isn't that good.

To which Miss Barker calmly replies, "I've been in five finals this year — that can't all be luck."

The bouncy Miss Barker, who peppers the baseline with an assortment of top spin forehands and bristling backhands, defeated Californian Terry Holladay 6-1, 7-6 Sunday in a $100,000 women's tournament here.

"Everyone on the tour knows that Sue is making her big move," says Miss Holladay. "She is a very determined person and that wins a lot of matches."

Miss Wade has been beaten two straight weeks by Miss Barker and the 31-year-old No. 1 ranked player in England snipped "She's not good enough to win matches by the scores she's been winning yet."

"I still think she's lucky to hit so many balls on the line."

Miss Barker, who doesn't have a big serve, counters "I'm disappointed Virginia feels the way she does. I don't have a serve and volley game so I work on hitting winners. What may seem like luck is something I work on."

Asked if she thought Miss Wade was jealous or felt a threat to her No. 1 English ranking, the world's No. 6 player said "I wouldn't like to think it was jealousy. She has helped me with my game."

"Virginia had a great year last year but hasn't been playing well this year. I had match point in both matches I lost to her last year. I've improved my backhand so I must be getting better."

The graceful Miss Barker is in third place on the Virginia Slims tour and suddenly is a threat to Chris Evert as the queen of the tennis world.

"With Evonne Goolagong

out to have a baby it gives someone the opportunity to step in," said Miss Barker.

"Christ and Martina Navratilova can't play in them all."

Miss Barker won $120,000 last year and prevailed in the French and German Opens. Now, she's looking forward to the English rankings coming out in January.

"If I do well at Wimbledon, it will mean a lot," said Miss

Barker. "I feel very confident in my game."

Miss Barker will play at Philadelphia this week and has committed herself to tournaments every week through September at Forest Hills.

Is she lucky or good?

Told that she hit seven lines in her victory over Miss Holladay Sunday, Miss Barker's eyes widened and she chirped, "Is that all?"

Ken Rosewall thinks young

LAKEWAY, Tex. (AP) — Retirement was the last thing on Rosewall's mind when he ransacked Eddie Dibbs, a tenacious ground-stroker 17 years his junior, 6-2, 6-2 Sunday for a berth in the Sept. 10 final at Madison Square Garden.

Under the tournament's unique format, the other finalist will be determined in a July event at the World of Tennis. Jimmy Connors, Arthur Ashe and Manuel Orantes will be among the competitors, and the winner will play Rosewall for a $60,000 first prize.

"Now I'll have to stay in training for six months to be ready for the final," Rosewall said after beating Dibbs. "At my age, a six-month wait can't do me any good."

Age was no detriment to the Australian against Dibbs. The Floridian tried to wear his veteran opponent down with long baseline rallies, but Rosewall chose to play a more aggressive game and put away numerous forehand volley winners.

When Dibbs did approach the net, Rosewall countered with high, floating lobs to the baseline.

"He just outplayed me," said Dibbs, who had beaten Rosewall in two previous matches. "He's a phenomenon. Geez, I just hope I'm still alive when I'm 42."

The Tournament of Champions is sponsored by World Championship Tennis in conjunction with Shakey's.

Security doesn't bother Abdul-Jabbar Seven-footers edge Nets 84-81

By the Associated Press

A good little man is nice, but a good big man is even nicer — as 7-footers Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Elmore Smith and Artis Gilmore showed Sunday.

Abdul-Jabbar scored 23 points, including eight of his team's last 10 points and the two which put Los Angeles ahead to stay, as the Lakers edged the New York Nets 84-81.

Smith, playing his best game since joining Cleveland in midseason, poured in 30 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, leading the Cavaliers past the Atlanta Hawks 115-113.

And Gilmore, playing in his 487th consecutive pro game, scored 23 points including six in the final four minutes, powering the Chicago Bulls to a 106-102 decision over the Philadelphia 76ers.

In other National

Basketball Association games, the Boston Celtics beat the Phoenix Suns 124-107, the Buffalo Braves defeated the Denver Nuggets 102-95, the Detroit Pistons topped the San Antonio Spurs 102-97, the Golden State Warriors edged the Washington Bullets 122-119 and the Kansas City Kings beat the Indiana Pacers 103-98.

Abdul-Jabbar's effort came despite increased security measures in effect because of his membership in the Hanafi Muslim sect. He claimed the extra protection, which included 16 special policemen at the Nassau Coliseum in Uniondale, N.Y. and other security officials at his hotel, did not bother him.

"I have a job to do," Abdul-Jabbar said. "I don't think the tight security is necessary, but it doesn't bother me."

The Nets had taken an 81-80 lead on the Bubbles Hawkins' three-point play with 59 seconds left, but Abdul-Jabbar sank a pair of free throws 18 seconds later, putting the Lakers ahead.

Cavaliers 115, Hawks 113

Cleveland led most of the final period. Len Robinson, who topped Atlanta with 31 points, sank two free throws with 22 seconds left, bringing the Hawks within two, but the Cavs held on.

Bulls 106, 76ers 102

Gilmore scored on a bank shot, a tip-in and two free throws, giving Chicago a five-point advantage with just over two minutes left and the Bulls were able to withstand three late baskets by Philadelphia's Julius Erving.

Warriors 122, Bullets 119

Elvin Hayes had a season-high 47 points and grabbed 20 rebounds for Washington, but they were not enough as the Bullets suffered their fourth consecutive defeat.

Celtics 124, Suns 107

Phoenix suffered its 12th straight loss as six Celtics scored in double figures, Dave Cowens leading the way with 21.

Braves 102, Nuggets 95

Adrian Dantley scored 33 points as Buffalo handed Denver its fifth loss on a seven-game, 14-day road trip.

Pistons 102, Spurs 97

San Antonio saw its six-game winning streak end. Five Detroit players scored in double figures and the Pistons' defense forced 24 Spurs turnovers.

Kings 103, Pacers 98

Scott Wedman scored 23 points, leading the Kings to their fifth straight victory, increasing their lead over Seattle to 2½ games in the race for the final Western Conference playoff berth.

Crowd views Swartz show

"Bare shoulders, bare midriffs, plunging necklines, low back halters, cut outs that are either arty or tarty

With so much body being bared — would beautiful garments be gone with the first summer breeze?

There was almost a sigh of relief as Mrs. James Cowan's opening remarks at Thursday's fashion show turned out to be "teasers."

As always, Swartz showed Big Springers what they wanted to see — some of the most gorgeous fashions between Frisco and New York City, fashions that can be worn in West Texas as well as anywhere else in the world.

The show, a benefit for the Northside Day Care Center, was sponsored by the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary and was held at Big Spring Country Club where a "packed house" once again proved that women want to know what is new in fashion and how they can apply it to their own lifestyle.

Leisurely paced, with models pausing to exchange patter with those in the audience, the show was narrated by Mrs. Cowan to background music by Mrs. Champ Rainwater. Models were five auxiliary members, Mrs. Jack Affleck, PTA elects

Members of the Kentwood PTA elected officers at the group's meeting Thursday evening at the school. Mrs. Jimmy Stokes, president, presided.

Elected to serve during the 1977-78 school term were Rob Allan, president; Mrs. Martha Bres, vice president; Mrs. Nelda Cruson, secretary and Mrs. Beth Freshour, treasurer.

The club voted to conduct a Halloween carnival in October. Dues for the coming year were discussed.

Mrs. Robert Griffin, Mrs. Ray Owen, Mrs. John Fish and Mrs. Robert Stenberg, along with guest models, Mrs. Tommy McCann, Mrs. Jerry Iden, Mrs. David Klatt, Mrs. G.C. Broughton Jr. and Mrs. Gary Turner.

Chairman was Mrs. Henry Butler, with Mrs. John Hogan assisting with table decorations and Mrs. Clyde Thomas in charge of displaying a collection of early day medical instruments. Mrs. Wallace C. The show lived up to its promise, something for everyone, even in the feminine footwear furnished by Barnes-Pelletier. It was a good way to welcome spring — and benefit a worthy cause.

Tasteless TV Ads Not For Mixed Crowd

DEAR ABBY: I see that you've launched a campaign to get rid of "offensive" TV commercials. You told your readers to write to the heads of the networks, and to boycott the products whose TV commercials offend you. You insist that if enough people protest in this manner, offensive commercials will be driven off the air.

According to you, ads for Kotex, Tampons and douches, plus aids for hemorrhoids and diarrhea are "offensive." Why pick on TV? Why not extend your crusade to cleaning up newspaper ads, too? Is it because newspapers publish "Dear Abby" and provide your bread and butter, and TV does not?

Just where do you draw the line, Abby?
CURIOUS IN CHICAGO

DEAR CURIOUS: I draw the line when while entertaining my rabbi, my father-in-law and my teenage nephew, the TV is turned on and suddenly we are informed that a new disposable douche now comes premeasured and in two lovely fragrances!

Had I read this ad in a newspaper it would not have been offensive. But to hear it in the presence of the aforementioned company is an embarrassment that I certainly would have avoided—given a choice.

DEAR ABBY: Is there some gracious way I can encourage my daughter-in-law to invite us for dinner? My son has been married for three and a half years and we have never been invited to their house for dinner. She has been to my home for all holidays, and drops in right at dinnertime several times a month. So obviously she is willing to eat with me—but just at my house.

My feelings have really been hurt when I hear that they have entertained their friends, my other son and his family, and my daughter and her friend for dinner.

Should I say something to my son? I am really surprised at him because we've always been a very close family. They both read your column, so maybe they will read this and get the idea. Please don't mention my name or town. Oh, her folks have never been invited, either. Thank you.

HURT

DEAR HURT: There is no gracious way to invite yourself to anyone's home for dinner. No, I wouldn't mention it to my son if I were you. He knows. And I'd rather stay home than ask to be invited.

"Ground beef" is just what the name implies. No extra fat, water, extenders or binders are permitted. Seasonings, however, may be added as long as they are identified on the label, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

Weekend college roundball action Titans appeal to St. Jude

By the Associated Press

Dick Vitale did some praying when his Detroit basketball team fell behind in the second half.

"I reached into my pocket and pulled this up," said Vitale, displaying a card dedicated to St. Jude, patron saint of hopeless causes.

It might have helped—but it did not hurt Vitale to have Terry Tyler in the middle, either.

The big man scored 29 points and played a dominating inside game, leading the Titans to a 93-76 victory over Middle Tennessee in the first round of the NCAA's Midwest Regionals Sunday at Baton Rouge, La.

The victory set up an intrastate match in the Midwest Regional semifinals Thursday night at Lexington, Ky. Detroit will play top-ranked Michigan, a 92-81 winner over Holy Cross in a Midwest first-round game at Bloomington, Ind.

Syracuse and North Carolina-Charlotte earned berths in the other Midwest semifinal game with victories Sunday. Syracuse, the nation's No. 10 team, defeated No. 7 Tennessee 93-88 in overtime at Baton Rouge and North Carolina-Charlotte whipped Central Michigan 91-86 in overtime at Bloomington.

As a result of action Saturday, these semifinal pairings were established for the other NCAA regional playoffs:

East—Kentucky vs. VMI and Notre Dame vs. North Carolina at College Park, Md.

West—UCLA vs. Idaho State and Utah vs. Nevada-Las Vegas at Provo, Utah.

Midwest—Marquette vs. Kansas State and Southern Illinois vs. Wake Forest at Oklahoma City.

Kentucky, the nation's No. 6 team, routed Princeton 72-58; VMI beat Duquesne 73-66; No. 15 Notre Dame turned back Hofstra 90-83, and No. 6 North Carolina trimmed Purdue 69-66 in the East's first-round games Saturday.

UCLA, ranked No. 2, outscored No. 14 Louisville 87-79; Idaho State beat Long Beach State 83-72; No. 19 Utah eliminated St. John's 72-68, and No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas blasted No. 3 San Francisco 121-95 in West first-rounders.

In the Midwest Saturday, No. 16 Marquette downed No. 11 Cincinnati 66-61; Kansas State ousted No. 13 Providence 87-80; Southern Illinois defeated No. 20 Arizona 81-77, and Wake Forest upset No. 8 Arkansas 86-80.

Detroit lost a 14-point lead midway through the game before making a comeback behind Tyler. The Titans led 44-30 with 4:05 left in the first half. But Middle Tennessee rallied, and six minutes into the second half, went ahead 54-52.

But Tyler led Detroit on an eight-point streak, giving the Titans a lead they never lost.

Rickey Green, recovering from a hip injury, scored a career-high 35 points, handed out nine assists and made three steals, leading Michigan's victory. The Wolverines, who trailed by one point at halftime, broke open the nationally televised game with about five minutes remaining, scoring eight straight points for an 80-70 advantage.

Led by guard Larry Kelley, Syracuse rallied from a 10-point deficit in beating Tennessee. Kelley, who never had scored more than 26 points in a game, had 32 Sunday.

Both Ernie Grunfeld and Bernard King, Tennessee's high-powered forwards, and guard Mike Jackson fouled out.

North Carolina-Charlotte lost a 13-point lead in the first half, then rallied with five free throws in the final two minutes of overtime to defeat Central Michigan behind Cedric Maxwell's 32 points.

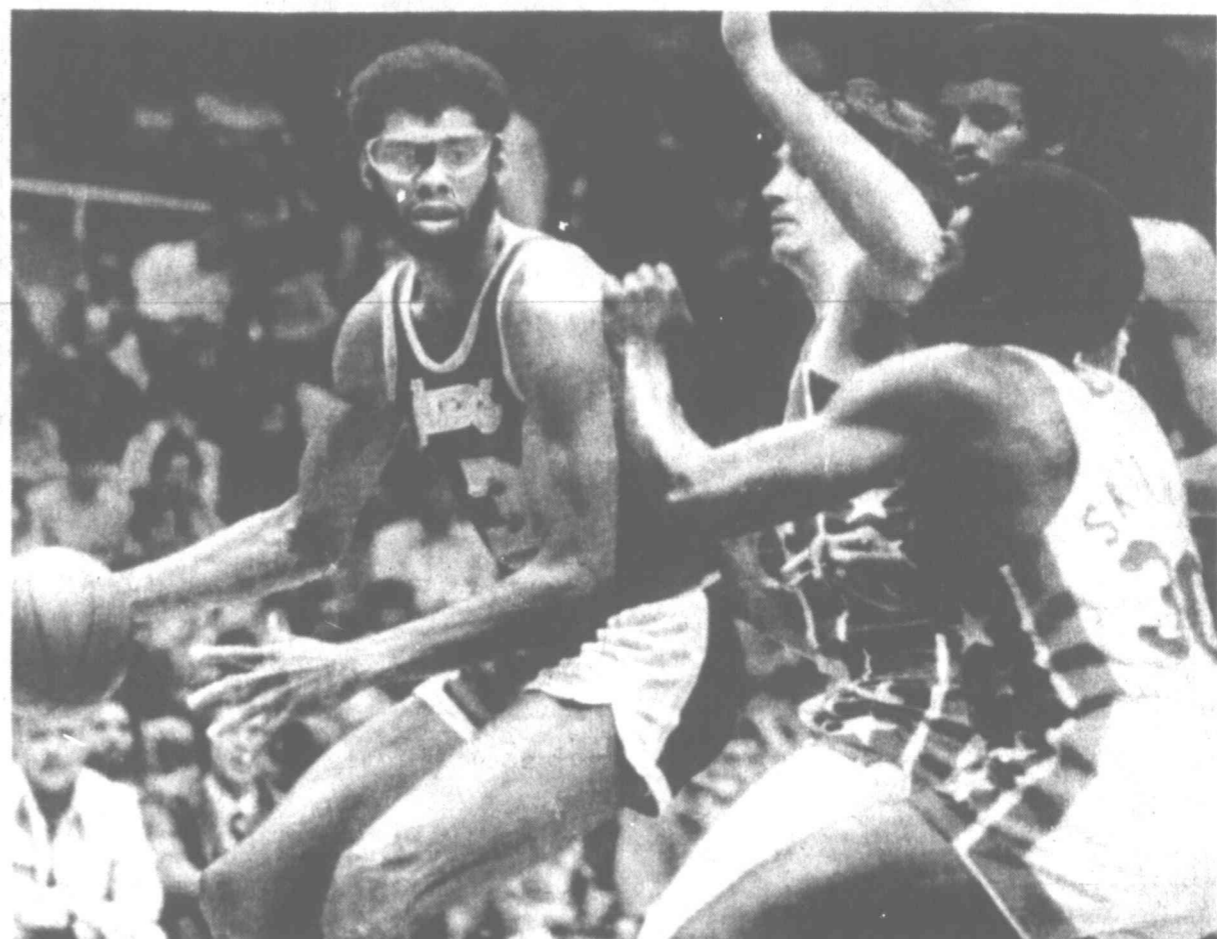

Led by Rick Robey, Kentucky hit on 11 of 12 second-half shots and went on to beat Princeton. The Wildcats' center scored 20 points.

Ron Carter and Will Bynum pumped in 18 points apiece as VMI used a patient offense in defeating Duquesne. Norm Nixon scored 27 points for the Dukes. Don Williams scored 25 points, leading Notre Dame past Hofstra. The Irish overcame a 35-point performance by Hofstra's Rich Laurel.

Tom Zallagiris hit the go-ahead shot with 1:17 remaining, then North Carolina used a four-corner offense in beating Purdue. The Tar Heels played without two of their starting front court players, Walter Davis and Tom LaGarde, both of whom were injured.

Brad Holland scored 16 points in the second half, sparking UCLA past Louisville. Holland poured in 11 points in five minutes, triggering the Bruins into a 66-65 lead, and had a three-point play in the last four minutes, breaking open the game.

TRIPLE COVERAGE — Los Angeles center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, left, maneuvers the ball around three New York Nets Sunday as he heads for the basket. Nets defenders are Kim Hughes, Mike Baton, and Al Skinner. Action came in fourth quarter of game at Nassau Coliseum. Lakers beat the Nets, 84-81.

Security doesn't bother Abdul-Jabbar Seven-footers edge Nets 84-81

By the Associated Press

A good little man is nice, but a good big man is even nicer — as 7-footers Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Elmore Smith and Artis Gilmore showed Sunday.

Abdul-Jabbar scored 23 points, including eight of his team's last 10 points and the two which put Los Angeles ahead to stay, as the Lakers edged the New York Nets 84-81.

Smith, playing his best game since joining Cleveland in midseason, poured in 30 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, leading the Cavaliers past the Atlanta Hawks 115-113.

And Gilmore, playing in his 487th consecutive pro game, scored 23 points including six in the final four minutes, powering the Chicago Bulls to a 106-102 decision over the Philadelphia 76ers.

In other National

Basketball Association games, the Boston Celtics beat the Phoenix Suns 124-107, the Buffalo Braves defeated the Denver Nuggets 102-95, the Detroit Pistons topped the San Antonio Spurs 102-97, the Golden State Warriors edged the Washington Bullets 122-119 and the Kansas City Kings beat the Indiana Pacers 103-96.

Abdul-Jabbar's effort came despite increased security measures in effect because of his membership in the Hanafi Muslim sect. He claimed the extra protection, which included 16 special policemen at the Nassau Coliseum in Uniondale, N.Y. and other security officials at his hotel, did not bother him.

"I have a job to do," Abdul-Jabbar said. "I don't think the tight security is necessary, but it doesn't bother me."

The Nets had taken an 81-80 lead in the Bubbles Hawkins' three-point play with 59 seconds left, but Abdul-Jabbar sank a pair of free throws 18 seconds later, putting the Lakers ahead.

Cavaliers 115, Hawks 113

Cleveland led most of the final period. Len Robinson, who topped Atlanta with 31 points, sank two free throws with 22 seconds left, bringing the Hawks within two, but the Cavs held on.

Bulls 106, 76ers 102

Gilmore scored on a bank shot, a tip-in and two free throws, giving Chicago a five-point advantage with just over two minutes left and the Bulls were able to withstand three late baskets by Philadelphia's Julius Erving.

Warriors 122, Bullets 119

Elvin Hayes had a season-high 47 points and grabbed 20 rebounds for Washington, but they were not enough as the Bullets suffered their fourth consecutive defeat.

Celtics 124, Suns 107

Phoenix suffered its 12th straight loss as six Celtics scored in double figures, Dave Cowens leading the way with 21.

Braves 102, Nuggets 95

Adrian Dantley scored 33 points as Buffalo handed Denver its fifth loss on a seven-game, 14-day road trip.

Pistons 102, Spurs 97

San Antonio saw its six-game winning streak end. Five Detroit players scored in double figures and the Pistons' defense forced 24 Spurs turnovers.

Kings 103, Pacers 98

Scott Wedman scored 23 points, leading the Kings to their fifth straight victory, increasing their lead over Seattle to 2½ games in the race for the final Western Conference playoff berth.

Barker wins $40,000 at nets Just incredible string of luck?

DALLAS (AP) — England's Sue Barker has won $40,000 in just two weeks of tennis but fellow countrywoman Virginia Wade says the 20-year-old blonde is just riding an incredible string of luck.

Miss Barker has won 10 straight matches, two straight tournaments, a grand total of $80,000 in 1977, but Miss Wade says the saucy 1976 rookie of the year isn't that good.

To which Miss Barker gamely replies, "I've been in five finals this year — that can't all be luck."

The bouncy Miss Barker, who peppers the baseline with an assortment of top spin forehands and bristling backhands, defeated Californian Terry Holladay 6-1, 7-6 Sunday in a $100,000 women's tournament here.

"Everyone on the tour knows that Sue is making her big move," says Miss Holladay. "She is a very determined person and that wins a lot of matches."

Miss Wade has been beaten two straight weeks by Miss Barker and the 31-year-old No. 1 ranked player in England snipped "She's not good enough to win matches by the scores—she's been winning, yet."

"I still think she's lucky to hit so many balls on the line."

Miss Barker, who doesn't have a big serve, counters "I'm disappointed Virginia feels the way she does. I don't have a serve and volley game so I work on hitting winners. What may seem like luck is something I work on."

Asked if she thought Miss Wade was jealous or felt a threat to her No. 1 English ranking, the world's No. 6 player said "I wouldn't like to think it was jealousy. She has helped me with my game."

"Virginia had a great year last year but hasn't been playing well this year. I had match point in both matches I lost to her last year. I've improved my backhand so I must be getting better."

The graceful Miss Barker is in third place on the Virginia Slims tour and suddenly is a threat to Chris Evert as the queen of the tennis world.

"With Evonne Goolagong

out to have a baby it gives someone the opportunity to step in," said Miss Barker.

"Christ and Martina Navratilova can't play on the line."

Miss Barker won $120,000 last year and prevailed in the French and German Opens. Now, she's looking forward to the English rankings coming out in January.

"If I do well at Wimbledon, it will mean a lot," said Miss

Barker. "I feel very confident in my game."

Miss Barker will play at Philadelphia this week and has committed herself to tournaments every week through September at Forest Hills.

Is she lucky or good?

Told that she hit seven lines in her victory over Miss Holladay Sunday, Miss Barker's eyes widened and she chirped; "Is that all?"

WINS SLIMS TOURNERY — Sue Barker of England serves to Terry Holladay during action in their final match of the Dallas Virginia Slims tournament Sunday. Barker won the tournament, 6-1; 6-6; with a 5-4 tie breaker.

Ken Rosewall thinks young

LAKEWAY, Tex. (AP) — Retirement was the last thing on Rosewall's mind when he ransacked Eddie Dibbs, a tenacious ground-stroker 17 years his junior, 6-2, 6-2 Sunday for a berth in the Sept. 10 final at Madison Square Garden.

Under the tournament's unique format, the other finalist will be determined in a July event at the World of Tennis. Jimmy Connors, Arthur Ashe and Manuel Orantes will be among the competitors, and the winner will play Rosewall for a $60,000 first prize.

"Now I'll have to stay in training for six months to be ready for the final," Rosewall said after beating Dibbs. "At my age, a six-month wait can't do me any good."

Age was no detriment to the Australian against Dibbs. The Floridian tried to wear his veteran opponent down with long baseline rallies, but Rosewall chose to play a more aggressive game and put away numerous forehand volley winners.

When Dibbs did approach the net, Rosewall countered with high, floating lobs to the baseline.

"He just outplayed me," said Dibbs, who had beaten Rosewall in two previous matches. "He's a phenomenon. Geez, I just hope I'm still alive when I'm 42."

The Tournament of Champions is sponsored by World Championship Tennis in conjunction with Shakey's.

KNOW YOUR FOOD

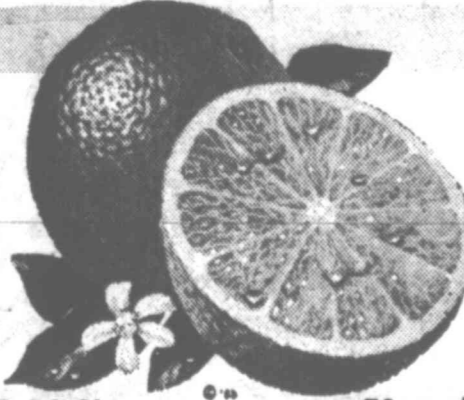

The best of us can sometimes use help in calculating the number of servings to expect from a pound of fresh vegetables or the canned, frozen or dried varieties. The following table can guide you in your mathematical computations. Do file it as a handy reference! In this listing, a serving is a half-cup. Granted, it's not always possible to buy the exact amount you'll eat but with a little ingenuity, you can use any leftovers in an interesting way. For example, some leftover swiss chard, cabbage and celery combine well with minced hard-cooked eggs to bake in a cheese sauce with croutons.

Peace prospects dim

Prospects for Arab-Israeli peace negotiations looked less favorable today following hardening of both the Palestinian and Israeli positions. The Palestinian movement's policy-making body refused to drop the destruction of Israel as a national goal and will not discuss links with Jordan until after a Palestinian state is created, a spokesman said. Meanwhile, Premier Yitzhak Rabin said Israel won't give up as much territory as the United States wants it to and "will not return to the lines that existed before the 1967 war." There had been considerable expectation that the Palestinian National Council, at a meeting in Cairo which began Saturday, would open the way to negotiations with Israel by abandoning the destruction of the Jewish state as one of its chief goals. It was also expected to discuss linkage with Jordan so Palestinian representatives could negotiate with Israel as part of a Jordanian delegation. Instead, spokesman Mahmoud al-Laboudy said after a meeting of the council Sunday that destruction of Israel remains a Palestinian goal. "Israel is preparing for a

Blizzard takes 16 lives

Warm weather returned to the western Plains today, melting some of the snow piled up by a blizzard that paralyzed the area over the weekend and took 16 lives. Crews in Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska began on Sunday to open highways clogged by snow that piled into drifts up to 15 feet high in some areas and to restore downed power lines. In the mountains, snow was falling early today over parts of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and Utah — up to four inches in some areas — and a travelers' advisory was in effect for eastern and south-central Montana. At the same time, rain during the night in the East caused some local high water, and flash flood watches were posted in some places. Authorities in Alabama were watching an earthen dam threatened by a rain-swollen lake. "We will probably be asking for federal assistance tomorrow, if we have the facts and figures to support it," Nebraska Gov. J.J. Exon said Sunday during an aerial tour of western Nebraska. Exon issued a disaster declaration Saturday for the sparsely populated region, where six deaths were attributed to the storm. Nine persons were found dead in Colorado after the storm passed, and one was dead in Kansas. Several of the dead had been asphyxiated in snow-bound cars. In one 32-mile-long stretch between Ogallala and Chappel, Neb., Exon pointed out "mass destruction of power lines," including 230 downed towers that had supported a 230,000-volt transmission line. Traffic began rolling again Sunday between Denver and the Kansas line along Interstate 70, which had been closed since Thursday. But police on Sunday were still restricting traffic in an area east of Denver, where visibility was limited by blowing snow and dirt, and in some areas only one lane had been cleared through the deep snow. Utility workers in Kansas said they were restoring power lines more quickly than they had expected, but power was off in some outlying areas. About 1,500 power poles in Sherman County alone were downed by the storm. Many persons stranded on highways and in isolated houses by the blowing snow were being rescued by Kansas National Guard helicopters. A Union Pacific snow plow-equipped train that derailed Saturday near Cheyenne Wells, Colo., because of the blizzard, was put back on the track Sunday but had to sit there until the snow melted or could be removed. In the Northeastern part of the nation, heavy rain fell overnight, flooding some rivers in New York and New England, and flash flood watches were posted in some areas. Melting snow added to the runoff. As rain moved across the middle Atlantic states during the night, a tornado touched down at Greenbrier, Del., about seven miles west of Dover, the Weather Service said. It blew down some small buildings, causing total damage estimated at $5,000-$10,000. No injuries were reported.

Fake bomb robbery

DALLAS (AP) — A mystery bandit used a fake bomb and a telephone call to obtain an undetermined amount of cash from a Dallas grocery store Sunday night. Officers said John Day, 32, an employee of a Safeway store in Northeast Dallas, received a telephone call from a man who said his wife had left her purse in a shopping cart in the store. Day said that while the man waited on the telephone, he went out of his office and found a tote bag in a shopping cart. He said he returned to the office, told the man he had found the purse. The caller told Day to open the bag. Inside, day found a red light gleaming atop what appeared to be several sticks of dynamite wired into a bundle. Day said the man told him it was a remote control bomb and threatened to set it off unless Day took the bomb out of the bag and put money from the safe inside the bag and leave it outside the store near a trash can. Day said he complied and then called police. When officers arrived, they found the bag of money missing. Bomb squad officers said the "remote control bomb" turned out to be a phony.

Sinking cities

CHICAGO (AP) — What do Birmingham, Ala., Houston, Tex., and Baton Rouge, La., have in common? They're sinking, because more water is being taken from the ground than nature can replenish, according to water treatment engineers at Ecodyne Corp. This phenomenon, called "subsidence," has caused the ground level in the Houston-Galveston area to drop an average of five feet since 1918. Baton Rouge will fall five feet by 1990.

ATTENTION CABLE SUBSCRIBERS

The Dallas television channels Cable Channels 5, 6, 8, 11) are transmitted to West Texas cable television systems via a microwave system owned and operated by West Texas Microwave Company, a common carrier operating out of Austin, Texas. In response to questions from cable TV operators about why the Dallas channels flash off and on during severe wind and dust storms, an executive with West Texas Microwave Company said "We have a tower in Colorado City that twists in a high wind and this causes the flashing. We are aware of this problem and we are presently conducting an engineering study to determine what needs to be done. When we know what needs to be done, we will hire someone to do the work." This executive could not give a promise as to how long this might take, but did promise more detailed information by March 18th. Big Spring Cable T-V regrets this interruption of service to cable TV customers and will press for a speedy repair or replacement of this tower.
