Senate panel flaws medicaid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kickback schemes are present "in every aspect of the Medicaid system" and a law against them is not being enforced, a Senate committee reported Saturday.

attacks on the federal-state health program for the poor, said. "There is new and mounting evidence that the (Medicaid) program is not only inefficient but riddled with fraud and abuse." However, only one case has been successfully prosecuted under a 1972 law against offering or accepting Medicaid kickbacks, the panel said. The committee's report said many pharmacists are forced to pay nursing home operators a certain percentage of the price of nursing home prescription drugs in return for the business. While the kickbacks are most frequent in nursing homes, "increasing evidence points to hospitals, medical practitioners, clinical laboratories and other suppliers," the committee said.

The report, a summary of findings from the committee's more than 50 hearings on the Medicaid program over the last seven years, told of evidence of widespread kickbacks in California, New York, Florida, Illinois and Wisconsin.

"Kickbacks ... have the effect of increasing the cost of the Medicaid program," the report said. "They undermine the quality of services which are offered since operators become more concerned with rebates than with care."

The committee said it sent a questionnaire to all California pharmacists and 200 others around the nation. "Sixty-three per cent of all pharmacists responding indicated an actual experience or a positive belief that kickbacks were widespread," the report said.

The panel reported written comments from pharmacists from all parts of the country "with actual names of pharmacists and nursing home operators."

"In some cases, they made incredible admissions relating to their participation in forced profit sharing, allegedly to secure and maintain a nursing home account," the report said.

However, the committee's report did not identify the pharmacists by name or state.

Action/reaction: Who knew?

Q. I read with some interest the story on page one of a recent Herald that Webb AFB and the city had no advance knowledge that Secretary of the Air Force Thomas Reed was going to visit here. How then did the base hospital and Security Police learn 24 hours ahead of time that Reed would be here?

A. Col. Harry Spannaus, wing commander, was notified in advance of Reed's plans and was asked not to broadcast the news. He then alerted only the agencies which were to be responsible for Reed's well-being while here. Reed's mission was to inspect the base, not to explain his reasons for the trip to news media and the inquiring public. Spannaus was merely adhering to the Reed's wishes.

Offbeat: State got stung?

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The Iowa House is buzzing over the bumblebee yellow uniforms of its pages.

Contending that the state got stung when it purchased the bright yellow uniforms, Rep. Scott Newhard, D-Anamosa, proposed a resolution to excuse the pages from wearing them.

They're of poor quality material, ill-fitting and look terrible, Newhard said.

"I came down here this morning and saw these bumblebees running around again, and it just sort of made me sick," he said.

The pages hadn't been wearing their uniforms for several weeks, but the House Administration Committee on Friday ordered them to resume doing so.

Rep. James Wells, D-Cedar Rapids, chairman of the House Administration committee, admitted the state got a poor deal on the uniforms. But he said the present set of pages can put up with the uniforms for the two weeks they have left to go on their legislative stint.

New uniforms have been ordered for the second half of the session, Wells said.

MIA accounting said linked to U.S. money

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A U.S. presidential commission arrived here Saturday to continue its quest for information on Americans missing in the Indochina war. An official newspaper said any such accounting was linked to a Laotian request for U.S. economic aid.

The five-member commission flew from Hanoi aboard a U.S. Air Force jet, which continued to Bangkok with the remains of 12 American pilots killed in the Vietnam war. The remains, in small black caskets, were handed over to the delegation Friday by Vietnamese authorities.

After refueling in the Thai capital and at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines, the jet left for Honolulu, where it was due about midnight EST. The U.S. Embassy in Bangkok said another plane would be sent to Vientiane to pick up the commission Sunday after it finishes talks with Laotian officials.

The commission, led by Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers Union, was greeted at the Vientiane airport by Foreign Secretary Noupphan Sitphasay.

The Americans were to hold talks with several top Laotian officials, including President Souphanouvong, before flying back to the United States.

Ezell to speak at Austin rally

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A morning rally in the Capitol and an afternoon press conference have been scheduled Tuesday by the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens.

Speakers at the press conference will include Reps. Michael Ezzell of Snyder and Lyndon Olson of Waco.

The association has billed the day as "Liberty and Justice for All Rally Day."

President Gene Karaffa of the association said, "We want to share with the legislature the concerns that liberty and justice for all includes mentally retarded people."

County Judge Bill Tune said Friday that, despite a letter telling Trans Regional Airlines to "get an electric meter installed in your name," he has no intention of pulling the plug on the fixed-base operation.

But meanwhile, the airline has moved its screening device from a trailer which had been loaned to it, and is operating temporarily without passenger screening service.

Tune said that he felt the Commissioner's Court would accept the alternate solution named in Thursday's Herald by Commissioner Jack Buchanan, namely, a separate meter for the heater-air conditioner attach-

President Carter sent the commission to Indochina to seek an accounting of the 795 American servicemen still listed by the Pentagon as missing in action and to lay the foundation for diplomatic relations with the Communist governments who now control the region.

A commission spokesman said the delegation was bringing a letter to Carter from Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong, in response to a letter from Carter the commission delivered after arriving in Hanoi last Wednesday. The contents were not released.

Woodcock told reporters Friday he hoped the entire question of Americans missing in Indochina could be resolved in the near future.

But Cambodia has refused to let the commission into that country, where some 60 American servicemen and a number of journalists remain unaccounted for.

Cold weather Damaged roads

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The severe winter has caused damage of more than $100 million to Texas' 71,000-mile highway system, the Texas Good Roads and Transportation Association reported Saturday.

The association said the preliminary estimate was made by officials of the state Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

"Engineers of the department have termed the winter of 1976-77 as the hardest — from the standpoint of freeze and thaw cycles — in the history of the state," the association said in its most recent newsletter.

The $100 million figure, the association said, "involves major rehabilitation — over and above routine maintenance. The estimate would not include filling thousands of potholes and other minor repairs."

ed to the Trans Regional offices at the Howard County airport.

R.E. McClure, manager of Trans Regional Airlines, said Saturday that, "they can come out and pull the plug on that little heater. It won't make more than six dollars difference in the bill."

McClure said that Trans Regional had no finalized plans for moving, although "we are looking, I can promise you that."

McClure said that Trans Regional had been using three electric heaters along with the butane heat already in the building. McClure called the butane heat "inadequate."

HONORING HOSPITAL CO-FOUNDER — Don Stroud, South Plains College art professor of Levelland, poses with his sculpture of the late Dr. John E. Hogan, co-founder of the Malone-Hogan Hospital, which will be unveiled at 2 p.m., here today. Stroud will be unable to attend the ceremony.

Dr. Hogan memorial to be unveiled today

A bronze sculpture by South Plains College art professor Don Stroud will be unveiled at 2 p.m. here today as part of ceremonies in memory of the late Dr. John Hogan, co-founder of the Malone-Hogan Hospital.

The commemorative service at the hospital for employees and close friends of Dr. Hogan also will include the dedication of an oak tree planted last fall by the operating room staff in memory of the physician.

Dr. Hogan died April 21, 1976. Not long afterwards, employees at the hospital took up a collection and selected a committee to decide on a memorial to Dr. Hogan.

"They wanted a memorial that would honor the doctor as he would never honor himself, but which he so richly deserved," said Carmen Phillips of the hospital's operating room staff. "The bust seemed a fitting tribute, one that all employees could contribute to according to their means."

The committee learned of Stroud through Kenneth Wyatt, Tulsa artist, me later to commission me to do the same of my sculpture and they called me later to commission me to do the bust," Stroud said.

Stroud began working on the bust in November, working a little each evening from photographs of Dr. Hogan supplied by the hospital. "It's extremely difficult to work just from snapshots," Stroud added. "I never knew Dr. Hogan, never saw him. But I met twice with the committee while working on the bust and they were well pleased."

The bust was done first in wax and then was cast from a mold made from the wax model. Stroud saved the difficult part for last. "It was extremely hard to cast the small, wire-rimmed glasses," Stroud noted. Once they finished, however, Stroud took the complete sculpture to Big Spring. The bust is being mounted on a special podium, Stroud said, and will get its first public showing at the memorial services.

Different lessons

with Tommy Hart

The British schoolchild isn't confronted with the same lessons in American history offered our heirs and heireses.

Our chronicles tell us our gallant troops rallied to the side of G. Washington, went forth to seek out the enemy and ultimately brought him to heel because God was on our side.

The British teach their children that prominent among the causes of the War of American Independence were those very English victories which had been so lightly purchased.

The expulsion of the French from Canada and of the Spanish from Florida, which served to relieve the English colonists of their two most dangerous neighbors, weakened the Americans' dependence upon the mother country.

Taxation without representation, werale. The British say they proposed a tax upon the colonies to help defray part of the cost of keeping troops to protect us.

England's claim that, of all the European settlements in the New World, the 13 English colonies in North America enjoyed the greatest measure of liberty goes unchallenged on both sides of the Atlantic.

The British deprived us of industrial development, we say.

Defenders of the crown demur by suggesting it worked no hardship on anybody to ship raw materials to a country already geared to turn them into marketable products in exchange for manufactured goods.

The British recall that so domestic was the quarrel in its early stages that officers in the king's battalions could, without social stigma, abdicate their commission rather than bear arms against their kith and kin across the great waters.

The British concede that the army of Sir William Howe, composed largely of Hessians and Hanoverians, pillaging as they did the houses of friend and foe, did much to erode the support in America for the crown. It is a sufficient commentary upon their deplorable conduct, remind the British historians, that during the whole course of the war no more than 2,500 volunteers were enlisted in the British ranks. And, they sigh again, the bright red uniforms the mercenaries wore could not camouflage the fact that they had neither the capability nor the inclination to support political causes. The money alone motivated them.

Nevertheless, the British point out, had not France and Spain entered the ranks on the American side, the colonists likely would have lost the war. The Americans were far from being a people united in spirit and resolve. More than a few were quite prepared to start dancing again to the tune the English called. They were weary of the ever-present threat of disaster. The fact that Mr. Washington was never able to mobilize an army of more than 20,000 men didn't do anything for their enthusiasm, either.

The European continent looked upon England's trouble in America as a sign that Britain was in retreat as a world power. It was true that an empire had been lost. In reality, however, a constitution had been salvaged and the failure of the crown's American policy involved the breakdown of the last effectual experiment in personal rule tried in England.

County won't pull plug on airline

County Judge Bill Tune said Friday that, despite a letter telling Trans Regional Airlines to "get an electric meter installed in your name," he has no intention of pulling the plug on the fixed-base operation.

But meanwhile, the airline has moved its screening device from a trailer which had been loaned to it, and is operating temporarily without passenger screening service.

Tune said that he felt the Commissioner's Court would accept the alternate solution named in Thursday's Herald by Commissioner Jack Buchanan, namely, a separate meter for the heater-air conditioner attached to the Trans Regional offices at the Howard County airport.

R.E. McClure, manager of Trans Regional Airlines, said Saturday that, "they can come out and pull the plug on that little heater. It won't make more than six dollars difference in the bill."

McClure said that Trans Regional had no finalized plans for moving, although "we are looking, I can promise you that."

McClure said that Trans Regional had been using three electric heaters along with the butane heat already in the building. McClure called the butane heat "inadequate."

The other issue presently in question is the security trailer which is connected to the Trans Regional office. The trailer was loaned to the airline by a local construction firm which now has recalled the trailer for use on a construction site.

McClure said that no alternate solution had been found. He said the airline is not presently using the trailer, and that he has received temporary authorization from the F.A.A. to run without passenger screening service. McClure said there is no guarantee of how long that will last.

Tune said he had been approached by Chamber of Commerce Century Club President Adolph Swartz and Chamber Transportation Chairman Clyde McMillon earlier this week in connection with the trailer. The two men, according to Tune, asked him whether the Commissioner's Court might be willing to provide another structure to replace the trailer. Tune said that he felt it was not the county's responsibility to provide such facilities for the airline.

According to Tune and Swartz, there is a good "possibility" that members of the Chamber of Commerce will appear at the next Commissioner's Court, scheduled for March 28.

HOPE ENDS — Virginia Capling and daughter, Kris, 13, are shown in their Chicago suburban Roselle home, Friday, as they talk with newsmen. Mrs. Capling received word from the Vietnamese government that it had agreed to release remains of her husband, Lt. Col. Elwyn R. Capling, who was shot down on Sept. 18, 1968. "It's over for me," said Mrs. Capling, "but this is just 12 out of 2,500. It's still agony for the rest of them, but I hope this is the beginning of an accounting."

Davis jury half picked

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Half of the 12-member jury who will hear testimony in the capital murder trial of multimillionaire Cullen Davis has been empaneled.

The sixth juror, Monte C. Burns, 48, of Fort Worth, was selected Saturday.

Burns, an engineer at a local aircraft manufacturing plant, was the 71st juror to be questioned by attorneys since the selection process began Feb. 24.

Jury selection was forecast as a lengthy ordeal by attorneys for both sides at the outset due, in part, to the vast publicity the case has received.

Davis, 43, is charged with two counts of capital murder, one count of attempted capital murder and one count of attempted murder. He is accused of the fatal shootings of his stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, 12, and his estranged wife's lover, Stan Farr, 30, Aug. 3, 1976. Both victims were found at Davis' $6 million mansion in Fort Worth.

The state has also charged Davis with wounding Gus Gavrell Jr., 21, a chance visitor at the mansion that night, and his wife, Priscilla, 35.

Jury selection will continue Monday.

Kidnaper dies during seige

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A man who shot two people and held five others hostage for more than 10 hours refused to surrender and died Saturday in a blazing, tear gas-filled apartment. Police said he probably had shot himself.

The hostages, two women and three children, were safe and not seriously hurt.

Police Chief James York said "the real tragedy" was that the dead man, Algie Simmons, twice before had been charged with taking hostages and kidnaping.

York said that in August 1972 Simmons released two hostages from an Orlando apartment after police used tear gas. On another occasion he was charged with forcing a woman at gunpoint to accompany him from Atlanta to Orlando, York said.

"He shouldn't have been on the streets," said York.

York said a preliminary report showed that Simmons, 42, suffered two gunshot wounds. "The wound which was probably fatal was probably self-inflicted," said York.

On Saturday, Simmons released the children and a police department SWAT team rescued the women before tear-gas canisters set the second-floor apartment ablaze.

Prisoner suing Briscoe

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A prisoner serving 85 years for robbery has filed suit challenging Gov. Dolph Briscoe's right to deny paroles to inmates recommended by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Briscoe has turned down almost one out of seven paroles recommended by the board in the past six months, according to his clemency office.

Blast claims second life

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — A second person has died of burns suffered in a Texaco refinery blast here.

Dennis R. Stuckey, 24, of Nederland died late Friday at Parkland Hospital in Dallas where he was transferred for treatment.

Lawrence Guidry, 56, of Port Arthur, who was burned in the Thursday incident died earlier Friday in Hermann Hospital at Houston.

Thirteen others remain hospitalized in critical condition. Six were patients at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, five at Houston's Hermann and two at Brooke Army Hospital in San Antonio.

Of the others injured in the explosion, one was in serious condition at Parkland, one was in fair condition at Baptist Hospital in Beaumont and three were in good condition at St. Mary's Hospital here.

They were working on a hydrocarbon removal unit at the refinery when a "fog" of flammable gas apparently escaped and exploded, authorities said. The cause of the blast is under investigation.

Olympic upgrade favored

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has given his support to work done by a special commission on Olympic Sports to upgrade America's amateur athletic system.

In a letter to Michael T. Harrigan, the commission's executive director, Carter thanked the panel "for its work on focusing national attention on the importance of amateur sports and physical fitness in the lives of our people."

"I support the view that efforts should be made to resolve organizational and other problems relating to amateur sports programs," said Carter. "It is my hope that because of the commission's efforts, more people will become actively involved in sports and physical fitness programs."

The letter, which arrived at the commission on Tuesday, the day it went out of business, comes at a time when the recommendations of the 22-member President's Commission on Olympic Sports have received criticism from two of the major organizations involved in amateur athletics—the Amateur Athletic Union and the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Printed accounts of the series, which runs 100,000 words in all, present a massive collection of names, dates and places figuring in intricate stock, land and other business deals, mainly in Arizona and Nevada. It also details a web of social relationships bringing together businessmen, celebrities, the sports world, unions and gangsters.

For the most part, the published accounts so far have not alleged any new crimes. Rather, they present a picture of well-known business and political leaders dealing with people who are linked — sometimes indirectly — to organized crime and who are therefore accused of condoning the mobsters' presence in Arizona.

MIDLAND — The body of an unidentified black man was found about a quarter of a mile from FM 137 on property belonging to Charles Erwin here Friday.

A group of horseback riders sighted the remains and notified police. The victim may have been dead as long as four months ago.

Death was attributed by members of the sheriff's department to natural causes, possibly a heart attack.

Arizona has a lot of trouble declined to participate and because of the length and complexity of the results.

The 23-part series was released to participants for use starting last Sunday. Some of the participants, including the Arizona Star, started it on schedule; others, including the Milwaukee Journal, delayed the stories to allow time for editing; and a few newspapers and one broadcaster, KGUN-TV of Tucson, have not used any of the series so far. Some participants have used only part of the series.

Some of the information in published accounts has already been reported in print. Anthony Insolia, managing editor of Newsday, the Long Island newspaper, and story editor for the IRE project, said: "It's obvious, some of it's old. But it's never been put together in this way and there's additional information..."

"There's a lot more to the series. When you take the series in a total context, I think it explains and backs up what our lead story said: That Arizona is a state that has a lot of trouble."

Mike Sophy, special assistant attorney general in Arizona, said his staff was following published accounts of the reports. Asked if the disclosures were new, he said: "It's a mixed bag but some of it is new and it's better condensed so you fit some pieces together."

Jerry McElfresh, managing editor of the Daily Progress in Scottsdale, a city of 100,000 on the eastern border of Phoenix, said, "I've lived in this state 15 years and I'm a newspaper reader and I've never seen much of this in print."

It is very important to keep the gutters around the house in good repair to allow for proper drainage. Be sure they are cleaned and the downspouts and leaders checked for any obstructions. Gutter should be placed every three feet or so to keep the gutters from sagging. If they are in need of repair, the following is a good guideline to use WOODEN — gutters should be painted on the inside to keep them from rotting and any openings or cracks should be filled with a weatherproof caulking before the final painting. METAL — smaller openings can be corrected with self-adhesive aluminum foil tape. The larger openings should be covered with aluminum sheeting cut in a size large enough to afford complete protection and held together with aluminum cement. Taking care of the smaller repairs as they come will protect you from costly repairs at a later time.

Lack of planning may be costly

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization reportedly wants a pilot training base in the U.S. by 1980.

President Jimmy Carter wants to cut defense spending by cooperating with NATO on weapons and other areas.

So why is the Air Force thinking about closing Webb Air Force Base?

It looks like one of those numerous cases where lack of governmental planning will cost the taxpayers millions of dollars.

IF THE AIR Training Command goes ahead and closes two pilot training bases as it has proposed, the command will be operating near 100 per cent of its capacity by 1981.

How is it going to accommodate the needs of NATO for an American base?

We all know what will happen. The Air Force will have to go back and reopen a base at a cost to the taxpayers of tens (maybe hundreds) of millions in extra expense.

In the final environmental impact statement, the Air Force discussed the possibility of Webb becoming a NATO base, noting that the idea of such a base had been discussed, but nothing had come of it.

Sen. John Tower, the ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, is a member of the NATO committee. He recently traveled to Europe to attend a NATO conference.

The need for this type of base and this kind of cooperation between the U.S. and her European allies is obvious. The idea should be given priority.

AT THE VERY least, the Department of Defense should consider closing two Air Training Command bases until it can determine whether the new NATO base will be required by 1980.

Webb, with its excellent weather and flying airspace, is too valuable to be abandoned because of a temporary lull in the pilot training requirements of years 1977, 1978 and 1979.

Webb has demonstrated itself to be the best operational base of the six being studied for closure in the Air Training Command.

President Carter should take a long, hard look at Webb and the future requirements of NATO before allowing a final decision to be made on the Big Spring base.

Jail plight

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Three months ago we described the plight of 35 Americans who are languishing in grim, rat-infested Bolivian prisons, uncertain when they will get out.

Some have been held for years, without trial, on suspicion of possession of marijuana or cocaine. They can thank their own government for their misfortune. They were dumped in jail as a direct result of U.S. pressure upon Bolivia to crack down on drug violators. The Justice Dept. even sent an attorney to help the Bolivians draft a tough drug law.

The U.S. government is also subsidizing the police who arrested the Americans. No less than $4 million of the American taxpayers' money has been pledged to the Bolivian drug enforcement program.

THIS $4 MILLION bequest hasn't noticeably softened the hearts of the Bolivian police toward the American prisoners. At least five young Americans have written home about police brutality. One complained that the police beat him with a rubber hose. Another wrote that he had been beaten and threatened with execution before a firing squad at sunrise. A long-haired youth was dragged across the prison courtyard by his ponytail.

Most of the prisoners have complained bitterly about sanitary conditions. The prisons are infested with rats and cockroaches. The food and water have caused dysentery, intestinal infection and hepatitis.

One prisoner almost died, according to his parents, of hepatitis. Another lost 70 pounds in prison as a result of an intestinal infection. Yet the prison authorities refused him treatment for nearly a year. Another man would have received no medical treatment for flu and malaria except for the kindly intervention of a priest.

But it is the uncertainty that has caused the most anguish. Most of the Americans were arrested for possessing no more than a pinch or two of marijuana or cocaine. Some pleaded innocence, claiming they had just happened to attend a party where pot was smoked.

Yet they have been stuck in the slammer for months, some as long as three years, without a trial. Their parents have hired Bolivian lawyers who have collected fat fees but accomplished nothing. The parents have also complained to us that the U.S. embassy in La Paz seemed more concerned about the sensibilities of the Bolivian authorities than the suffering of the imprisoned Americans.

AFTER WE WROTE about their sad situation, the State Dept. dispatched a special team to Bolivia to investigate. The investigators visited the Americans in prison, with the full cooperation of the Bolivian government. Their report is still in the drafting stage, but we can disclose the main findings:

The State Dept. confirmed that most of the American prisoners have been denied due legal process. This is regarded as a "flagrant violation" of their human rights. The Bolivian judges have deliberately held up the trials, however, to spare the Americans harsh sentences under the existing law. The judges are waiting hopefully for the law to be modified.

The investigative team also confirmed that Americans have been mistreated in Bolivian prisons. Not all the complaints about beatings and brutality could be verified, although the report about one youth being dragged by the hair was affirmed. But the investigators concluded that the Americans were treated no worse than Bolivian prisoners in the same circumstances.

There is also no question that sanitary conditions are substandard in the Bolivian prisons. The investigators actually saw the rats and cockroaches with their own eyes. As a result, many prisoners have had health problems. But again, the American prisoners are no worse off than their Bolivian cellmates.

The State Dept. agrees that most of the Americans were arrested for simple possession. But a few of the prisoners were drug traffickers. One was caught with 50 pounds of cocaine in his suitcase.

BELATEDLY, THE STATE Dept. has now moved to protect the basic rights of the jailed Americans. The department has even cautioned the Bolivian authorities delicately that U.S. aid could be withdrawn if the human rights of the prisoners are violated. The U.S. embassy has also been authorized to retain a Bolivian attorney to give legal advice on the prisoner problem.

WASHINGTON WHIRL — Among the last of the Republican appointees, Frank Barnako was tapped to rejuvenate morale at the Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission. But Barnako, who developed his supposed concern for workers as a bigwig at the National Assn. of Manufacturers, has seemed more concerned with a costly redecoration of his executive offices. Vouchers show he ordered new drapes, a desk and a conference table for himself.

Kenneth Frick, the U.S. representative on the International Cotton Advisory Committee, promotes cotton throughout the world. Therefore Egypt, which is eager to export more cotton, wants to maintain friendly relations with Frick.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS

I am a TV camera

Art Buchwald

MY RESTLESS EYE searches out the terrorists in the night, holding hostages with guns and machetes on the top floor of a building. I watch helmeted police in flak jackets clamber across roofs with their rifles at the ready. I try to pierce the painted windows looking for shadows of angry men who threaten to send heads rolling through the streets if their harsh demands are not met.

I am a TV camera. I sit and watch as police cars with their red lights twirling go flying through the streets. I see the ambulances loading up the wounded and go screaming off into the dark. I pick up the lonely correspondents standing in the cold waiting to report that nothing is happening.

I am a TV camera. I close in on the anguished faces of relatives waiting fearfully for word of their loved ones. I search for tears. I look for heart-break, for any kind of emotion. I seek out a police official, a government spokesman, anyone will say anything into my lens so I can transmit it to your screen. Every time my red light goes on, the crowds that always stand around me wave their arms to get attention and hope their friends at home will see them at the scene.

I am a TV camera. I PLAY AN all-important role in any act of terror. Everyone wants to be famous and it isn't enough to get your name in the newspaper any more. Television is the name of the game and if I can put a terrorist or a kidnapper on the air I can fulfill a madman's fantasy overnight.

I used to be very bulky and had to be placed on top of a truck. Now one man can hold me on his shoulder. I can go places other TV cameras could never go before. I can peer into corners, up into windows, down dark alleys. I can make terrorism come alive. I can create theater in the streets. I can transmit fear far beyond the printed word, beyond anything people have ever seen before. I can do it live and in color.

I wait for each act of the drama to unfold. There goes a shadow across the window! A light has just been turned off! The police have brought a package into the building! The police have brought a package out of the building! A hostage is running across the grass or is it a member of the SWAT team? Sometimes they won't let me get close enough to see what is going on. How can I photograph every detail of this nightmare when they keep me so far away? Don't they know the people who planned this whole thing want me here? Don't they realize that I am not just a bystander but part of the action? Don't they know that?

I GO INTO hospital rooms to interview the wounded. They have tubes in their noses and in their arms. Some can hardly speak. But it doesn't matter so long as I have enough light. I do not linger long because I am needed back at the scene of the horror. Once again I look up at the floodlit building. The people at home are getting restless. The people in the studios are screaming at me. Where is the action? Find the action! Don't just stare at a glass wall! We're losing our audience to the other stations! I hate the screaming and shouting but it's all part of the game.

Who knows how long the siege would last if I were not here? Who can predict what these men yelling their oaths of defiance would have done if they'd heard I wasn't coming? Who knows how big a role I play in their plans to bring a city to its knees?

Don't become an exercise victim

Dr. G. C. Hosteson

Dear Dr. Hosteson: I am 26 years old. I have been doing an exercise that involves lying on my back and lifting both legs about six inches from the floor, then holding them there for about three minutes at a time.

I have begun to have back pains, also pain in my arms and a stiffness in my neck when I turn my head. I have had pelvic X rays, complete blood tests, urine analysis, chest X rays, cardiograms, and have been examined by my gynecologist several times. Can you comment? — Mrs. J.W.

With all that attention I'm amazed no one has suggested the obvious — quit those exercises if you haven't already done so. The exercise is rather strenuous, especially if you were relatively inactive prior to starting out on your conditioning program. Lying down with the legs raised is not one of the purposes for which the human body was designed. It may be fine for some, apparently not for you.

The strain is chiefly on the thigh muscles and the long muscles of the back and neck. With some people a slightly forward curvature of the lower spine may produce the pain you report. X rays, if taken from the sides, would show this.

I suspect though that your problem is entirely muscular. If you must do such exercises find better ways to go about them. Build up to them gradually within your limits. Try soaking in a hot tub before retiring, and be sure your mattress is sufficiently firm for your weight.

If your pain doesn't go away with these conservative steps, then you had better see an orthopedic doctor. Your spine may be slightly out of line, aggravated by these exercises.

Your letter is proof that one doesn't have to be "past 50" to develop serious problems from unwise exercising.

Dear Dr. Hosteson: Do you have any information you can send me on colitis? Is there some organization I can write to? — H.R.

The National Foundation for Ileitis and Colitis, Inc., has some excellent material on the subject, and a particularly interesting pamphlet usually together. It would be after dark when Dad got home from the fields and all of our chores would be done. We'd all get to the house about the time Mother would be setting the supper table. She'd yell, "Come and get it before I throw it out!" She had heard that expression somewhere and she would laugh everytime she used it. There was no need to call us twice, I can tell you, because appetites were good on the farm.

After supper dishes were done we would all sit around in the living room. Dad would read his paper or the Farmers Stockman and Mom would busy herself with mending and such.

Finally, Dad would say, "Wonder who's goin' to help me get these old boots off." I don't know now why it was so much fun to try to pull off his boots but it was something we looked forward to each evening. We would jump up and start tugging. I would straddle his leg and push while my brother would. Dad would laugh and say, "You boys 'er just not strong enough, maybe your sister better do it." That would make us tug harder than ever, then all of a sudden, the boot would shoot off, causing us to tumble to the floor laughing.

Dad wasn't one to hang his clothes up, a trait I seem to have inherited. Mom tried for years to get him to put his boots and hat away in the closet at night but he never would. Said he couldn't see the point of that since he'd just be getting them out again the next morning.

"But, what if company comes unexpectedly late at night?" Well, if company comes I'll just put my boots on, sure don't aim to be walking around barefoot with company here." So the boots would stay by his favorite chair till the next day.

Day's end was a time when we talked. We shared what we did that day and planned on what we would do tomorrow. Before the lamps were blown out a Bible story was always read and memory verses recited. Come to think of it, I remember very few unhappy evenings I spent as a child and for that I will always be grateful to my parents.

CROSSED my desk quite recently. The foundation is a non-profit, research-oriented organization dedicated to finding causes and cures of these two intestinal disorders. I am not sure whether the material is available generally, but you can write the national headquarters at 295 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017. There may be a local chapter in your phone book. My own booklet on colitis can be obtained by sending 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Hosteson: I have heard of friends having blood tests called "SMA" and "CBC." Someone told me they cover many possible diseases. What did she mean by this? — Mrs. N.O.

"SMA" stands for "sequential" multiple analysis." With this test a single sample of blood is examined for several substances — blood sugar, nitrogen, uric acid, calcium, etc. Usually from six to twelve readings are produced, any of which might suggest a possible problem. Such tests are used in some of the group health programs, as with entire union memberships, where hundreds or thousands of members are screened en masse. The idea is to nip potential health problems in the bud through early detection.

"CBC" stands for "complete blood count." It is a more basic test, where blood is examined for basic substances — red blood cells, white blood cells and the clotting factors. This is done in diagnosis. A patient with fever might show a high white blood cell count, which would indicate infection, since white blood cells are produced in greater numbers to fight infection. A low red blood cell count would indicate anemia, and so on.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. J.B.— The fact that your son (8) has had dry nights for as long as three weeks running suggests there is nothing structurally wrong. Since he is allergic to certain substances, that could be a cause. Perhaps you can identify some substance he is in contact with during his dry periods. Otherwise I would consider his bed-wetting an emotional problem.

Bed-wetting can be a frustrating problem but it can be controlled. To learn how, write to Dr. Hosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Bed-Wetting: Ways to Stop It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Hosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Editor: On behalf of the Big Spring Independent School District, I thank the Herald for sponsoring the County Spelling Bee. As you are aware, much interest is generated in the bee among students and parents.

We feel the bee is a boost to our elementary and junior high curriculum.

My answer
Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Does God give a person only one chance to be saved? It surely takes longer than an instant to repent, believe, have faith, trust and obey. You have to do all of these in order to be saved, don't you? — K.M.A.

DEAR K.M.A.: No one knows how many opportunities may be given to accept God's salvation. Every opportunity may be the last; there is no way of knowing. That is why the Bible emphasizes that we must not put off the opportunity when it comes. "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation" (II Corinthians 6:2). The teaching is of the urgency of the moment of opportunity.

When the Roman governor Felix came under the convicting power of the Holy Spirit, that was the moment when he should have repented and believed. Instead he said to Paul: "Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee" (Acts 25:25). Paul and Felix met on a number of occasions after that but never again do we read of the Gospel having the same effect on the governor's life. He appears to have missed his opportunity of repentance. It is the cry to the Lord for help that brings salvation to us. All other experience follow from that. "Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Romans 10:13). Many ingredients, perhaps over a period of time, go towards making possible that one heartfelt cry to the Lord, but the person making that call is not necessarily conscious of all of those aspects taking place in his life. In one instant he can cry out and the Lord saves him. He then goes on to learn what is meant by repentance, faith, trust, belief and obedience.

National Agriculture Day set

Monday is National Agriculture Emphasis day and anyone involved in eating in America is also involved in agriculture. Agriculture is the nation's biggest industry with its assets totaling $331 billion, equal to about three-fifths of the capital assets of all manufacturing corporations in the United States.

In Howard County farming and ranching are important industries and the Texas Chapter of the Cowbelles join this week in saluting the ranchers and farmers in this area.

They point out that beef may have a big role in feeding the hungry of the world. Pound-for-pound, in amount and quality, beef protein cannot be matched by any single vegetable, fruit or grain.

The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization recognizes this and is on record as saying that cattle "as a source of high-quality assured-quality protein, are needed by the world's peoples for adequate nutrition as well as maximum land usage. This is true for both industrialized and developing nations."

American farmers today produce over 53 percent more crops on six percent fewer acres than did earlier farmers. Today, one hour of farm labor produces nearly nine times as much food and other crops as it did in the 1919-21 period.

Howard County's agriculture interest lies primarily in the field of cotton and beef production. These are the mainstays of agriculture in this county.

Spring planting in full swing

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Beautiful weather has allowed spring planting to get into full swing in southern sections and is extending into North Central Texas, says Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton planting is about 15 per cent complete in the Rio Grande Valley and 25 per cent complete in the Coastal Bend. Up to 25 per cent of the sorghum is planted in those two areas, and sorghum planting has also been active in Southwest Texas (Uvalde area) and Central and South Central Texas. Up to half the sorghum acreage is already in in Bell County.

Soil temperatures are beginning to move up, and this is one factor that most farmers take into consideration when planting, Pfannstiel said. Temperatures at the four-inch depth are now averaging 70 degrees at Weslaco, 62 at Corpus Christi, 64 at Uvalde, 63 at Eagle Lake, 61 at Austin, 60 at Beaumont, 57 at Lufkin and Stephenville, 54 at Lavon Lake near Dallas, 60 at San Angelo, 58 at Pecos and 56 at Throckmorton.

Continued dry weather and high winds took their toll of winter wheat in the Panhandle the past week, said Pfannstiel. Some reports indicated a 10 per cent overall loss in acreage valued at $10 to $15 million. Elsewhere, wheat and other small grains are responding to the warmer weather and are providing good growth for grazing livestock. Pastures are also starting to green up, boosting the livestock picture.

Reports from district Extension agents showed the following conditions.

PANHANDLE: High winds and blowing dust have severely damaged much of the winter wheat crop, with losses as high as 10 per cent. Irrigated wheat and that in southeastern counties is generally good. Some land preparation continues, with onions being set out in Deaf Smith County Cattle are in fair to good shape, with marketing heavy. Feeder cattle prices were up 50 cents to $1.

SOUTH PLAINS: Topsoil moisture is getting extremely short although there is good subsoil moisture. Wheat is suffering from blowing sand; much acreage is being irrigated. Land preparation and fertilizing continues along with some preplant irrigation. Greenbugs are infesting some wheat fields. Range conditions are generally below average.

ROLLING PLAINS: Small grains are making good growth although blowing dust and greenbugs have caused some damage. Farmers are busy applying fertilizer and herbicides to cropland. Livestock are in fair to good shape, with more cattle moving to wheat fields that will be grazed out. Irish potatoes are emerging in the Knox County area.

NORTH CENTRAL: Some sorghum is underway in scattered locations. Wheat continues to make good growth although greenbugs are causing some damage. Some topdressing continues. Home gardening is increasing. Pastures and ranges are below average so cattle feeding continues. Calving is heavy.

OSHA cotton dust tests set in Lubbock

Cong. George Mahon announced this week that officials of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration have agreed to conduct field hearings on their proposed cotton dust standards in Lubbock May 10 and 11.

"I am most disturbed over the potential impact these cotton dust standards could have on the economy of West Texas and the nation," the Congressman said. "If implemented as they are now written, these unreasonable standards could have the effect of shutting down thousands of jobs across the Cotton Belt, and would cost millions of dollars in the loss of jobs and other economic benefits."

"The standards would have a similar devastating effect on cotton seed oil mills and other cotton industries, producing a ripple effect throughout the agriculture economy of West Texas and other cotton-producing areas of the country," Mahon continued.

OSHA officials in Washington agreed to conduct field hearings in Lubbock and Greenville, Mississippi, after Mahon and other farm leaders in Congress insisted that the agency undertake efforts to get the views of the people who would be most affected by standards developed by the agency. The formal hearing process begins in Washington the week of April 5.

Mahon urged cotton industry representatives in West Texas and area citizens generally to provide as much information as possible at the field hearings in Lubbock. Requests to appear at the hearings may be made at the OSHA office in the Lubbock Federal Building. The hearings will begin at 9:30 a.m. May 10, and will be held at the South Park Inn.

CRMWD reports revenues

Revenues were up substantially for the Colorado River Municipal Water District through the first two months of the year, but so were operating expenses. Nevertheless, the district had a gain in the margin of revenues over expenses, and was able to transfer $625,000 to the net revenue fund for debt service and indentured funds.

Through the first two months of the year, revenues aggregated $1,011,550 and operating expenses $378,623. A year ago the total revenues were $853,620 and operating expenses $332,302.

Revenue sources included water sales to cities of $576,272 as compared to $786,787, with largest gains coming from Odessa and Midland.

Revenue from sales to oil companies stood at $409,039 compared with $350,157 a year ago, SACRO operators were up by $34,000 and Cosden Oil & Chemical by $24,000.

Recreational revenue of $20,562, compared with $14,550 a year ago, showed a $7,000 increase in lot leases. Miscellaneous income of $5,675 compared with $2,125.

Because the Ward County well field was resting during the winter months more than a year ago, electric power costs of $143,935 were up by only $8,000 over the same period of 1976. Most other increases were in operational maintenance labor costs. Administrative expense of $105,953 compared with last year's two-month total of $79,437, some $6,000 of it in salary and wages, $10,000 more in bond handling charges and $5,000 more in contributions to the employee retirement fund.

Water deliveries for the first two months amounted to 2,615,795,000 gallons as compared with 2,672,573,000 a year ago.

Lockett
4789-A

THE EARLY BIRD

This relatively early Lockett variety is getting more and more recognition as a fine, early cotton for this area.

Its early maturity (slightly earlier than Paymaster 18) along with being a highly determinate variety, allows it to set bolls early, then "cut-out," resulting in the production of more mature bolls with higher lint quality. It is well adapted to narrow-row as well as conventional planting because it matures early and the close-fruited plant holds the low bolls off the ground. Lockett 4789-A normally produces a good yield of quality fiber with staple length of an inch or more. It is recommended for both dry and irrigated land. However, under irrigation it should be grown only on wilt-free soils.

To be sure you're planting the real thing, buy only certified seed from a Pioneer Seed Dealer. Reserve your supply of Lockett 4789-A planting seed now.

Energy WTCC opposes refinery tax

In a letter to the 56 West Texas Chamber of Commerce members of the Texas Legislature representing portions of West Texas, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has expressed its opposition to H.B. 1200 that proposes to tax Texas refineries at five per cent of the value of the crude oil and distillate processed. Texas has 45 refineries

SULPHUR RECOVERY UNIT ON STREAM — One of the largest sulphur recovery complexes in the country is now on stream at Amoco's 333,000-barrels-per-day refinery at Texas City. The equipment will recover elemental sulphur from 160,000-barrels-per-day of high-sulphur Saudi Arabian crude. The complex includes an amine treating unit, two 200-ton-per-day sulphur recovery units, and a tail gas treating unit. Ford, Bacon & Davis, Dallas, handled the complete design, procurement, and construction of the facility.

located in 27 counties. The refineries employ 38,900 workers with total wages of about $613 million a year. Secondary related jobs, such as petrochemicals, retailing, banking, etc. would run into the hundreds of thousands. All of these jobs would be in immediate jeopardy if the refinery tax were imposed. Refining in Texas ranks as the second largest manufacturing industry in Texas. Largest is the chemical industry which exists in Texas because refining is the source of its principal feedstock.

W.H. Collyns of Midland, WTCC president, says that "this tax cannot be 'passed on' as sponsors glibly claim. Nor can it be absorbed by Texas refineries. It would immediately penalize all Texas refineries with a five per cent price handicap with out-of-state competition. Texas does not have a monopoly on refining. In fact, 74 per cent of U.S. refining is done in other states.

"Competition would probably force Texas refineries to move or to divert their refining operations to other states that do not have a refinery tax in order to meet national and world competition. Profit margins are now in the fraction of a cent range and certainly provide no margin for absorption of such a tax.

Moderate Democrats set meeting March 26

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A new organization known as "Moderate Democrats of Texas" will hold a statewide meeting in San Antonio March 26 with Atty. Gen. John Hill as the keynote speaker. The announcement was made by Hugo G. Durand, Corpus Christi, state chairman of the group formed by early organizers and supporters of Jimmy Carter in Texas. Durand said the organization has a coordinator in each of the 31 senatorial districts and many counties have coordinators. "Many of the early Carter supporters felt that they needed an organization to express the viewpoint of the centerist or middle-of-the-road Democrats, whose views all too often are overlooked by the party's conventions and executive committee's activities," he said.

Second motorcycle patrolman injured

The Big Spring Police did have two motorcycles and cyclist for the department last week. Jimmy Wallace broke his collarbone while pursuing another motorcycle and is hospitalized. On Friday afternoon, John Minnick, veteran motorcyclist for the department while pursuing a truck on IS 20 inside the city limits. Minnick escaped with minor injuries but did roll the cycle completely over in the accident. He was hospitalized and released for cuts and abrasions.

Glasscock gets discovery

Glasscock County gained a discovery and one was indicated in Dawson County. A confirmer was also completed in Glasscock County.

Belco Petroleum Corp., Midland, No. 1-24-G.W. Currie, Glasscock County Strawn oil discovery, five miles east of Garden City, 3 1/2 miles east and slightly north of the opener and lone producer of the Garden City, southeast (Strawn oil) field and the same distance west-southwest of Strawn oil production in the Garden City field, was finalized to pump 78.63 barrels of 43.4 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,284-1.

Production was through perforations at 9,063-095 feet, which had been acidized with 1,500 gallons.

It recovered three feet of free oil and 88 feet of gas-cut drilling mud on a drillstem test in the Wolfcamp at 7,650-770 feet.

Drilled to 9,738 feet, where 4 1/2-inch casing was set, it is plugged back to 9,653 feet.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the west lines of 24-33-48-

T&P. The Black Lake, East (Wolfcamp) field of Glasscock County gained its sixth producer and a location southwest and northwest extension with completion of Diamond Shamrock Corp., Amarillo, No. 1-B Steve Calvery Jr., eight miles northwest of Garden City, to pump 26 barrels of 41 gravity oil, plus 40 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 385-1.

Production was through perforations at 7,836-844 feet, which had been acidized with 1,300 gallons.

Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of 14-35-38-T&P.

John L. Cox, Midland, will drill the No. 1-B Reynolds as a 4 1/2 mile southeast outpost to the two-well Wolfcamp oil area of the Clyde Reynolds (Wolfcamp, Clearfork and Queen) field of Glasscock County, ten miles northeast of Garden City.

Location is 660 feet from the north and west lines of 14-32-48-T&P.

IN DAWSON COUNTY, an unidentified discovery was indicated with the flowing of oil at the estimated rate of 400 barrels daily on a drillstem test at Vaughn Petroleum, Inc. and Great Plains Exploration Co., Dallas, No. 1 R.F. Brown in 6-34-4n-T&P, 3/4 miles east of the depleted opener and one of the Goldcreek (Cisco oil) field an ten miles southeast of Lamesa.

Oil surfaced in 30 minutes, flowing at the above rate, on a 1 1/4 hours drillstem test taken at 8,860-943 feet, probably Cisco. Flowing pressure was 1,869-2,363 pounds; one-hour initial shut-in pressure, 3,761 pounds and two-hour final shut-in pressure, 4,111 pounds.

The project, scheduled to 9,100 feet as a wildcat, was bottomed at 8,943 feet, running casing at last report.

The Goldcreek opener, Continental Oil Co. No. 1 Bertha Kilgore, et al, was finalized Oct. 12, 1973 to pump 39 barrels of 40.9 gravity oil, plus 66 barrels of water, through perforations at 8,959-973 feet.

Abducted sick daughter

Father only wanted to 'live normal life'

PASADENA, Tex. (AP)— A father's desire to live a "normal life" with his sick 4-year-old daughter led him to abduct her from a Florida hospital and bring her to Texas.

"I just want everyone to leave me and my little girl alone so we can lead a normal life," said Lloyd Thornton, whose daughter, Wanda, suffers from hydrocephalus, known as water on the brain.

"I've been with her since the day she was born," said Thornton of Wanda. "I know enough about her condition to handle the situation."

Florida officials said Thornton took Wanda last Sunday from the University of Florida hospital at Gainesville, where the girl had been taken for treatment by her mother.

Doctors at the hospital said they feared a tube draining fluids from Wanda's brain was malfunctioning.

Authorities issued a warrant for Thornton's arrest on kidnapping charges. They later said they did so only in an effort to insure that Wanda was treated.

Thornton surrendered Thursday to Pasadena police, who took Wanda to John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, Tex., where doctors said the girl, nicknamed "Sissy," was in good health.

The kidnaping charges against Thornton were dropped and the 34-year-old carpenter told his story Friday night to the Pasadena News Citizen.

"Sissy is my child," Thornton said. "She means more to me than anything, and I made a vow to God when she was born that I would look after her and give her the best."

Thornton said he came to Texas to look for work and also because he thought John Sealy Hospital is a good facility for treating the girl.

As to the drainage tube, also known as a shunt, Thornton said, "I know just about everything about the shunt. It's a release valve for pressure and if I would have thought there was any reasonable doubt about her safety, I would have taken her right back."

He said he did not realize the severity of his taking Wanda until he read news accounts of the search for him. Thornton said he contacted Pasadena police through a third party. Lt. Edwin Goad said he negotiated with Thornton for four hours before the father agreed to turn himself in.

DON'T TREAD ON THAT! — Chicago policeman separates National Socialist Party of America member from flag upon which he was standing during brief skirmish on Chicago's Daley Center Plaza on Friday. Lamesa's garment industry revived LAMESA — A distribution center for the recently formed Seminole Garment Co. Inc. is being opened here. They are both replacing Dotty Dan facilities which left suddenly.

The center, located in Winford White's building on N. 1st will employ 15-20 people in the cutting and spreading facility. They plan to hire these people as they are phased out at Dotty Dan who expect to shut down at the end of the month.

Joe Sutton, spokesman for the company, said that the company is beginning with a year's work to do, having contracted with Longview Manufacturing for 78,000 robes by Nov. 15, with Diaper Jeans of Dennison for 160,000 pairs of shorts by April 15 and 400 dresses a day for another outlet.

Several Lamesa people invested in the company including Andy Kimbell, Hilda Estrada, Debbie Estrada, Chay Alvara, Pat Childress, Willie Smith, Bea Perez and Joe Vera.

In Spain there lives a former Caribbean named Richard Max-Boulous who is intent on destroying the image of Tarzan. That way, he reasons, he will help eradicate the myth of white-American superiority.

His campaign may be a bluff on what the palefaces are in for during the next century.

Max-Boulous has filmed an anti-Tarzan picture in which the Man of the Apes falls on his face in all his would-be-hero trysts.

that demanded skill and dexterity. If you think some of today's rock-and-roll luminaries are looting your kids' pockets, fault Mercury, or maybe Apollo. Apollo conned Mercury into trading him the lyre for the caduceus, a rod entwined with two serpents. Unto this day, the caduceus symbolizes the medical profession.

If he could hear some of today's musical sounds, Mercury might reason he needed medical help, or might trade the caduceus for ear plugs.

The female employees at the State National Bank don't all dress alike by accident. The bank outfits them becomingly in various costumes and volunteers instructions on what days the combinations should be worn. For instance, last Thursday (St. Patrick's Day), all came out in green.

An awful thought occurred to me: What if Alex Haley (author of 'Roots') returned to his research and discovered he was adopted?

The Rev. Jimmy Patterson, who developed certain golfing skills around here that still stand him in good stead, currently is teaching Theology at the Golden Gate Seminary in San Francisco, Calif.

Mrs. Patterson's two sisters date players on the Oakland Super Bowl championship team and for the past several years a number of the Raiders have huddled regularly for Bible study in the home of Dr. Patterson's parents-in-law.

The price of coffee may be going through the stratosphere but, compared to what they're asking for suds, and milk, it still appears to be a bargain.

A six-pack doesn't last too long with one who likes his schnapps. Contents of a coffee tin, on the other hand, will be around a kitchen for a while.

Emily Dickinson, who regulated a delicate kind of poetic meter that can only improve one's appreciation of the English language, is responsible for these lines:

After leaving high school here, Jimmy played on two of Odessa College's National JC championship teams. He later was active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at North Texas State University and, at one time, thought of following the sun with the pros.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Patterson of Big Spring. His mother, Terry, is one of the better known artists in the state.

It was that great patriot of two centuries past, Thomas Paine, who said "character is much easier kept than recovered."

If I can stop one heart from breaking,
I shall not live in vain;
If I can ease one life the aching,
Or cool one pain;
Or help one fainting robin
Upon his nest again,
I shall not live in vain.

Legend credits the invention of the lyre, from which all stringed musical instruments have evolved, to the ancient god, Mercury.

Mercury found one day a tortoise, from which he took the shell, made holes in the opposite sides of it and through them drew nine cords of linen.

The cords honored the nine Muses, daughters of Jupiter and Menemosyne (Memory). They presided over song and prompted the memory. Each of the nine was assigned to preside over some particular department of literature, art or science.

From the lyre, Mercury nursed hauntingly beautiful sounds. He reigned over commerce, wrestling and other gymnastic exercises — also over thieving. In short, he influenced everything

Jimmy himself attends some of the sessions and has come to know several of the Raiders quite well. Defensive lineman Art Thoms and guard George Buchler are the two sparking Patterson's sisters-in-law. Often heading up the study of scriptures is defensive lineman Dave Rowe and punter Ray Guy is a frequent visitor.

Howard College has abandoned hope of hosting the Region V Basketball Tournament in the new coliseum. HC committed the unpardonable sin. It won too often and no coach relishes the idea of again giving the Hawks a home court advantage.

College officials will concentrate instead on getting a Class AAAA Regional playoff series here, reasoning it is more important to impress future rather than current collegians, anyway.

Wolverines stunned in NCAA playoffs

By The Associated Press

North Carolina-Charlotte carved its niche among major college basketball's elite Saturday by stunning top-ranked Michigan 75-68 in the Midwest Regional final of the NCAA basketball championships.

"This is just an unbelievable experience," said Lee Rose, coach of the Cinderella 49ers, after the biggest victory in the school's 12-year-old basketball program sent Charlotte into next weekend's final four shootout at Atlanta along with two of basketball's more familiar names, North Carolina and Marquette.

North Carolina earned its berth in the finals by racing to a big first-half lead and then holding off Kentucky 79-72 in the East Regional, while Marquette kept Al McGuire in the coaching business for one more week by rallying in the second half to beat Wake Forest 82-68 in the Midwest Regional.

The remaining berth was decided later Saturday when No. 4 Nevada-Las Vegas took on unranked Idaho State in the West Regional final at Provo, Utah.

The national semifinals, to be played next Saturday at the Omni in Atlanta, pit 17th-rated UNC-Charlotte, 28-3, against No. 7 Marquette, 23-7, and No. 5 North Carolina, 27-4, against the winner of the West Regional.

The shocking upset of Michigan was the latest chapter in Charlotte's meteoric rise in the sport. The school of 8,000 students, a branch of the University of North Carolina, first came to attention last year when the 49ers lost to Kentucky in the final of the National Invitation Tournament at New York.

The big man for Charlotte was center Cedric "Cornbread" Maxwell, a smooth 6-foot-8 senior who scored 25 points, dominated the boards with 13 rebounds and showed poise in bringing the ball upcourt against Michigan's aggressive, pressing defense.

The 49ers raced to a 40-27 halftime lead, but Michigan got untracked after the intermission and pulled in front 49-48 with 12:08 to go. The two teams stayed close for the next seven minutes before Charlotte broke the game open with 10 straight points to take a 73-61 lead and sealed the fate of the heavily-favored Wolverines.

Michigan, beaten in the NCAA finals by Indiana last season, finished with a 26-4 record. All-American guard Rickey Green topped the Wolverines with 20 points.

"We had chances, but it just wasn't our day," said Michigan Coach Johnny Orr. "We tried to get the tempo going but it was difficult. We just didn't seem to do it."

North Carolina opened a 15-point lead in the first half and was ahead 53-41 at halftime before Kentucky pulled within six with 15 minutes to go. The Tar Heels then went to their four-corner offense and held on, thanks to some stunning free throw shooting, hitting 33 of 36 — including their last 21 in a row and 16 straight in the second half.

Senior John Kuester ran North Carolina's offense in the absence of injured, foul-plagued All-American Phil Ford and scored eight of his 19 points in the closing 5½ minutes. Ford, playing with a painful hyperextended right elbow, committed his fourth foul in the first minute of the second half and went to the bench for good. But Kuester took command and sank four free throws in the final 72 seconds, after Kentucky closed to within 71-70, to put the game away.

"The important thing is we kept our poise," said Kuester. "Phil is the finest guard in the nation. It's too bad we had to go without him."

Walter Davis led the Tar Heels with 21 points, 15 of them in the first half. Jack Given scored 26 points and led Kentucky's comeback.

Marquette Coach McGuire, who has announced his retirement for the end of this season, will work another week thanks to a second-half comeback that erased a 35-31 halftime deficit.

Reserve center Bernard Toome came off the bench for Marquette when Jerome Whitehead picked up his fourth foul with 16 minutes left and scored six straight points to put the Warriors up by five. They never trailed again.

Bo Ellis led Marquette with 20 points, Butch Lee had 19 and Toone finished with 15.

Nevada-Las Vegas, another school which has climbed to national prominence only recently and has never made the final four, trailed 52-51 at the half to unranked Idaho State, which had eliminated UCLA in its previous outing.

But the Rebels pushed their running game into high gear in the second half and wore down the Bengals.

Forward Eddie Owens, who scored 13 of his 24 points in the second half, had a steal and a stuff shot, then forced another turnover and hit a jumper to move Nevada-Las Vegas to a 65-57 lead with 14:25 left. The Rebels were off and running. Eight minutes later, they were ahead by 21 and only a fourcorner control offense in the final minutes kept the score down.

Tony Smith added 12 of his 18 points in the second half for the Rebels, while Reggie Theus and Sam Smith scored 16 apiece.

200 mile mark broken at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "I had to keep talking to myself to keep my foot off the brake," Gordon Johncock said Saturday after shattering the 200 mile-an-hour barrier at Indianapolis Motor Speedway with an unofficial track record of 200.4 m.p.h.

Johncock, the 1973 Indianapolis 500 winner and the defending U.S. Auto Club national driving champion, ran several laps at better than 199 m.p.h. in his new Mustang-DGS, then he returned briefly to the pit area for a few adjustments and went back out for his history-making ride.

"I went flat out all the way, but I'm still kind of amazed," said the 40-year-old Johncock, who earlier this week was doubtful the long-sought barrier would be broken this year.

The official record—which may be set only during qualifications for the Indy 500 or during the race itself—is 199.071 m.p.h., set in qualifications in 1973 by two-time 500 winner Johnny Rutherford. Johncock held the previous unofficial mark of 199.6 m.p.h., also coming in tire tests.

Rangers fall to Braves

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Clarence Gaston's two-run single and four innings of shutout relief by Buzz Capra helped the Atlanta Braves beat the Texas Rangers 9-5 Saturday afternoon in a Grapefruit League exhibition game.

Capra came on for starter Phil Niekro with the score knotted at 5-5 and permitted only one hit over the final four frames. Gaston, meanwhile, keyed a three-run uprising in the seventh that broke the tie against Ranger reliever Andy Devine.

The Braves had jumped Texas starter Bert Blyleven for three runs in the first inning when the first four batters in the lineup stroked hits. Biff Pocoreba nicked Blyleven for a solo home run in the third to make it 5-2.

The Rangers tied it on five hits in the fifth, the key blow a two-run single by Tom Grieve. But in the Atlanta seventh, an error opened the door for the Braves, whose three runs were all unearned.

CAROLINA CUT UP — North Carolina's Tommy LaGuarda cuts down the net at College Park, Md., Saturday after his teammates defeated the University of Kentucky Wildcats in the NCAA Eastern Regional Basketball Tournament. The Tarheels won the game 79-72.

Coogs given nod in NIT

NEW YORK (AP) — Houston's Cougars are slight favorites to beat St. Bonaventure Sunday for the championship of the new-look National Invitation Tournament—the nation's oldest post-season collegiate basketball classic.

Houston's hopes, say both Cougar Coach Guy Lewis and St. Bonaventure mentor Jim Satalin, could rise or fall on the play of Houston's Otis Birdsong, the tournament's leading scorer with 78 points in three games.

Despite Birdsong's point production, Lewis laments that the 6-foot-4 guard is not playing up to par. Birdsong's 26-point pergame average for the tourney is four shy of his season average.

"If Birdsong is having a bad tournament and he has a good game against us, then we are in for bad, bad trouble," said Satalin. "He is one super player."

The Bonnies appear to be peaking as they move into the NIT final against Houston. Satalin's squad, 23-6, has won 17 of its last 20 games.

"We've played exceptionally well in getting here," Satalin said in assessing St. Bonaventure's route to the NIT championship showdown. "We played our last six games on the road and won five of them."

Watson shares lead in tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Tom Watson's wildly-erratic, two-over-par 74—including bogeys on two of his last three holes and an earlier double-bogey seven—was good enough to tie faltering Mike McCullough for the third-round lead Saturday in the $300,000 Tournament Players Golf Championship.

McCullough, the outsider in a field of the game's greatest players, had held a surprising lead through the first two rounds of this ambitious event. But he blew a two-stroke lead with a no-birdie, four-over-par 76 in raked much milder than the gales that raked the course Friday but still strong enough to test and torment the game's premier performers.

With McCullough and Watson having their troubles, the field bunched up and such big guns as Hale Irwin, Masters champ Ray Floyd, defending champion Jack Nicklaus and J.C. Snead wheeled into position for a shot at the title in this annual championship of the touring players.

Watson, already a two-time winner this year, and McCullough, who hasn't even challenged seriously in five years of tour activity, were tied for the top at 216, even par on the 7,174 yards of reclaimed swamp and marsh that make up double-tough Sawgrass.

Mark Hayes was only one shot back at 217 after a third round 71. Floyd, with a scramble 74, and the dangerous Irwin were next at 218, two over par. Irwin, who has a happy habit of playing the tougher courses very, very well, had the best round of the hot, sunny, breezy day, a three-under-par 69.

Nicklaus followed at 219 after a par 72 that produced a series of scowls and unhappy shakes of the head from the man-who has won two of the three previous TPC events.

playing the best we have all season." Even if St. Bonnie finds a way to contain Birdsong, Satalin's quintet will find that Houston, 29-7, isn't strictly a one-man outfit.

Lewis points to the play of Mike Schultz (47 points) and a tourney-high 46 rebounds) and Cecil Rose (43 points) as factors in the three earlier Houston victories in the NIT.

"They've come through for us and picked up any slack left by Otis," said Lewis, one of the nation's veteran college basketball coaches. He is looking for career coaching victory No. 401 in Sunday's final.

"It wasn't easy getting here," said Lewis. "We started with a one-point win, had another one-point win and then had to struggle against Alabama

Fish thinclads first, Varsity, JV's in pack

SNYDER — The Steer varsity and junior varsity track teams didn't fare too well here Saturday. Pulled muscles, measles, flu and tough competition took its toll, but the Steer freshman team bowled over its opponents and finished on top of its seven-team division.

The freshmen captured 167 points to lead second-finisher Snyder (143) and San Angelo Lakeview (121). The fleet feet of Joe Willie Jones, Eugene Boadle, Mark Harris, Jimmy Marquez, Carl Trevino, Daniel Martin all ran to first-place finishes.

Doug Archer took the only points for the JV's, second in the discus. Kenneth Coffey and Ray Ludecke had the highest place finishers for the varsity, third in a high jump and 220-dash, respectively. Ector won the varsity division with 92 points. Big Spring had a total of 30 for 8th spot in the 11 teams.

The locals are revving up their engines and nursing the bruises and illnesses, preparing for next Saturday's ABC Relays in Memorial Stadium.

Tuesday, 4 P. M., Steer Park

Now I'm not what you call one of your basic "Baseball Nuts", you know the type, records memorized, can tell you verbatim what Roger Maris said at his press conference after he hit his 60th homer.

I don't even know the enormous size of Dizzy Dean's pants. Basketball and football have always been my sports to watch. Fanaticism has a way of standing my hairs on end during those two events, if the right teams are playing.

But being a typical fan, when the sport is close to home, and when the locals are faring well in it, I tend to get a little more excited.

Tuesday afternoon at 4 p.m. in Steer Park, the Steer diamond men host the Abilene High Eagles, the coaches' and sportswriters' overwhelming choice to win the league banner this season.

Big Spring High School sports this year has grown increasingly better. The football season didn't finish all that well, of course, but rebuilding seasons will be like that... they will.

But the basketballers took the smoldering embers and built them into quite a respectable fire. The tracksters felt the warmth and came through with a couple of four alarmers of their own.

Now the baseball team, who most observers felt wouldn't be anywhere near the squad they were last year because of losing seven of their starters, is showing a little class.

District basketball coaches were unanimous in their appraisal of the Steer roundballers as having the best attitude of any team in the league.

This baseball season, they just might be saying the same thing about the mound men of Big Spring. Those guys want to win bad. If some people thought a lack of pride was what was wrong with Big Spring athletes, then they can forget it now.

Tom Collins, Mike Scarbrough and Rex Scofield have put together a package that just might surprise a few people this season. Drop by Tuesday and see for yourself.

HC rodeo approaches

Howard College has announced plans to sponsor an intercollegiate rodeo which will be held on Thursday, April 7 and run through Sunday afternoon, April 10. Performances will be held on April 7, 8, and 9 at 7:30 p.m., and on April 9, and 10, at 1:00 p.m.

The rodeo is an NIRA-approved and sanctioned event and will feature leading rodeo contestants from the Southwest Region which includes 17 colleges. Participants are expected from:

- Eastern New Mexico University, New Mexico Military Institute, Sul Ross State University, Texas Tech University, West Texas State University, South Plains College, Midwestern University, Western Texas College, Hardin-Simmons University, Cisco Junior College, New Mexico Junior College, Clarendon College, New Mexico State University, Howard College, Texas State Technical Institute of Amarillo, Angelo State University, and Tarleton State University.

Members of the Howard College rodeo teams include: Men's team: Mack Altizer, Bryon Walker, Charlie Burns, Ken Smith, Ron Mitchell, Rex Cox, Bud Marshall, Kelly Marzett, Joe Martinez, John Hutto, and Jack Himes. Women's team:

Lisa Mann, Margo Powell, Toby Hutto, Terece Teague, Patricia Cherry, Carla Faubion, Terry Himes, Marla Cathy.

The HC men's and women's teams have participated in seven rodeos this school year and won nine out of a possible 14 trophies and are leading the region in both men's and women's competition.

The National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association eligibility requirements are among the strictest of any organized collegiate sport. Rodeo athletes must maintain a minimum of C average in their cumulative academic work, and complete a full year's course work each year. Motivating students to excel in their academic programs is a primary objective of the Association.

The HC rodeo will have an added attraction each night and afternoon performance with a "cal" dressing contest in which the object is to catch and dress with bloomers a young calf. Teams of 3, made up of people from the community, will be participating in this event.

Hoyle Nix will play at the Rodeo Friday and Saturday night during breaks in action. He will sponsor a dance at the Stampede after the Summer camps of not?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Director Rhea Williams of the University Interscholastic League says coaches favor athletic training camps simply because they want to recruit and make money.

A UIL rule prohibiting such camps has been criticized by some coaches, including SMU basketball Coach Sonny Allen, who said he plans to send his son to a camp and will sue if the boy is declared ineligible.

"More power to him," The Austin American-Statesman said in a recent editorial.

Williams defended the training camp rule in the UIL newspaper, the Interscholastic Leaguer, noting that it had been adopted several years ago by a near-unanimous vote.

"Special training camps have become a haven for recruitment of high school athletes," Williams said. "A college coach will make every effort to see that outstanding prospects go to his selected camp so he may keep them under his wing, and influence them to enroll in the college where he is coach when they graduate."

"It is strange," he said, "that intercollegiate rules forbid special training camps for college athletes, but these same college and professional coaches insist on such camps for high school students."

Williams said many college and professional coaches operate the camps and, in many cases, "make thousands of dollars out of them." He said high school coaches generally are hired to work in the camps and often get a percentage of the tuition of the players they secure for the camps.

Williams listed other objections, such as poorer players not being able to attend, and he said basketball players get enough practice during their 3-12 month season and through unorganized summer activity.

"The two strong motivating factors for special training camps on the part of college and professional coaches must then be to recruit and to make money," Williams said.

Pace killed in Brazil

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Carlos Pace of Brazil, off to a good start in what promised to be the best year of his Formula One racing career, was killed in a crash of a small plane near his home here Friday night. He was 35.

The Sao Paulo medical examiner's office said Saturday that Pace's body was identified by fingerprints. Two others died in the crash of the single-engine plane.

They were identified as Marivaldo Fernandes, the pilot, and Carlos Roberto de Oliveira. Fernandes, a former race driver, had helped Pace get his start in racing 15 years ago.

Pace was flying to join his wife and their two small children at a farm near Araraquara, a city about nearly 200 miles from here.

Pace had been taking flying lessons and only last Thursday had taken the written exams for his private pilot's license.

The race car driver was scheduled to leave Sunday for Long Beach, Calif., where he was to drive in a race April 3.

Burial will be Sunday in Sao Paulo.

Howe about that night

HOUSTON (AP) — At the age of 48 Gordie Howe admits that he has his good nights and his bad nights.

For Gordie, Friday night was a good night.

Howe scored the 904th goal of his 29 year career in the first period and added two second period assists as the Houston Aeros rolled to a 6-3 World Hockey Association victory over the Phoenix Roadrunners.

The triumph stretched Houston's home ice winning streak to 20 games, tying a major league record held jointly by the 1929-30 Boston Bruins and the 1975-76 Philadelphia Flyers.

YOUNG IDEAS

CLUBHOUSE CONFIDENTIAL

ST. PETERSBURG — Dave Kingman about to fly in a New York lawyer to hammer out his contract impasse with Mets. . . Dave fears most a possible hazing from fans. . . Man who strikes out as often as he does would be sitting duck for hecklers after each whiff. . . No way he could put in a season under that kind of pressure. He loves to be loved.

Jets, after getting concession from Mets on early-season games, now balking at signing agreement. Seems Mets want them to promise no further demands will be made for duration of Jets' lease, seven years Mets suspect Jets desire to cut into hotdog and beer money. . . Jets sent Stanley Friedman, deputy mayor, to Commissioner Kuhn to do their bidding. . . It's about time for Mayor Beame to say to Jets, you got your dates, now stop being greedy.

Mary Jane Johnstone, wife of Philly outfielder, says she and Jay had more good times years ago when they were in minors and there wasn't so much money on everyone's mind. . . Doc Medich slimmed down 25 pounds, "See if I'll help," says ex-Yank who had disappointing 8-and-11 year with Pitt.

GLOVES WERE WORTH THE TRIP

I flew up to New York for Golden Gloves finals, and believe me it was worth every sleepless hour. About 14 of 18 bouts were bammers, plus a few in stands. Couple of heavyweight destroyers, Ed Gregg and Mitch Green, are going to be awfully tough for Chi to top in intercity renewal, April 18.

The way I read the announcement out of Los Angeles, Muhammad Ali is contracted to fight some opponent in some country sometime this summer for $12M. They'll have to come up with more facts than that to make it believable. . . To mark 20th anniversary of Dodgers arrival in California, souvenir tix will be issued Opening Day. And in Brooklyn, event will be marked by burning O'Malley in effigy. Again.

Rully Carpenter, prez of Phils, phoned collect from camp to Delaware to wish his wife a happy birthday. Stephanie laughed at prank, went down to Hickman's store in Wilmington, purchased $450 worth of pants suits, and had bill mailed to hubby with note: "Happy Birthday to Me!"

Jim Bunning, once considered upcoming managerial talent, is now ballplayers' agent after being bounced from Phils' organization. He was regarded too pro-Marvin Miller to become management man. . . Marvin Barnes is most popular basketball player in Detroit, which should tell you something about Detroit. . . Ken Norton tried to phone Pres. Carter on the open line show but didn't get through. No, he didn't want to invite him to Bobick fight, May 11. "I wanted to ask him if he would consider appointing a federal commissioner of sports," says heavyweight challenger, who feels need for some regulation following bum decision against Ali. . . What makes Norton and others think that federal regulation produces infallibility, when there is such heavy evidence opposite is true?

That was so nice of Ranger teammates to chip in $150 each to bestow Rod Gilbert with steel-and-marble statue of himself. Trouble is, figure is shooting lefty, and he's strictly right-handed shot. No way it can be fixed. . . Does name Rick Herscher ring bell? He played a little first and third base for Mets in 1962. Now Rick's an orthodontist in Dallas. He fitted braces to Danny O'Brien, Ranger g.m., to correct underbite.

Yankee players, instead of using heavy rubberized suits under their uniforms to induce sweating, are wrapping selves in those large bags generally used for garbage disposal, and no cracks please. . . Pete Rose, who is making noises about possibility of playing for Yankees:

Konny's Korner

Konny Service

Fishing anyone? It's getting better each week. For example: Monroe Copeland of Big Spring brought in a six- and a 10-pound striper, in addition to 12 crappie to 1 1/2 pounds, and two channel cat to three pounds.

Kenneth Flint, also of Big Spring, took a four-pound stripe, five whites to one pound, and two blacks at three pounds each.

Everyone was catching something, but C.C. Weir of Robert Lee took the most impressive fish of the past week — a 30 1/2-pound yellow cat, brought in from a trotline near the Big Spring pump station. Chicken gizzard was the bait.

By the number of catches that were at the lake this week, you can tell that Lake Spence is really the place to go for good odds in catching fish. The stripers are biting well, along with the other bass and crappie.

The water temperature of the lake is about 53 degrees now. This is still a little too cold for the fish to start spawning yet. The average temperature for fish to spawn is something like this: Stripers — somewhere around 59-65 degrees; black bass and crappie — just about 65-75 degrees; and catfish — in about 78-degree water.

These temperatures will tell you a little about the habits of the fish you are trying to catch. For example, although the water is still a little too cool for the stripers to spawn, they are moving up river to get ready for the time. This is a good place to start striper fishing. The fishermen here are slapping or trolling (usually with Hellbenders).

There have also been reports of striper catches made by the red bluffs near Y.J.'s Marina, so you might try there as well. The north side of the dam is also a good spot at times.

Fishermen who have been bringing in blacks say that crank baits are the best to use right now. They have been experiencing their best luck fishing in the coves at

Only area first-teamer Donna James All-State

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — State champions Canyon, Spearman, and Nazareth and runner-up Waco Midway each grabbed at least two first-place spots on the 1977 All-state girls' basketball teams selected by the Amarillo Globe-News and announced Sunday.

Canyon, which defeated Waco Midway, 58-54, for the Class AAA state championship, led all teams by grabbing four first-team berths.

Merry Johnson, a first-team guard last year but switched to offense this season, and Becky Williams made the first team for Canyon at forward, while teammates Deedy Johnson and Sharon Brown made the first unit at guard—all four also were named to the all-state tournament team.

Midway's 6-0 forward Jean Smith, a second-team pick last year, and 5-7 guard Sandra Hamm also made the first unit.

Spearman defeated Waco Robinson, 61-58, for the Class AA state title and grabbed first-team berths with 5-7 forward Carla Harper, who scored 33 points in the state championship game, and 5-11 sophomore guard JoNell Comegys. The other guard was Coahoma's Donna James.

Nazareth's 5-11 junior forward Cheryl Hartman and 5-7 guard Rosemary Schulte represented the Class B state champions on the first unit. Nazareth beat May, 73-54, in the state tournament finals.

South Oak Cliff defeated Shertz-Clemens, 79-65, for the Class AAAA state championship and is represented on the first team by 5-11 senior guard Barbara Brown, a repeater from a year ago.

In local horse 'Mal-Don-D' Blood will tell

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

There may be another horse somewhere around these parts with better "Roots" than "Mal-Don-D", a local chestnut owned by Jack Cox, but it's unlikely.

"Mal-Don-D" is the great-grandson of both "Hyperion" and "Man O' War" and the grandson of "Heliopolis". Many people consider those three horses as the best to ever hit the tracks.

Some of the present day top racing quarter horses have "Hyperion" in their pedigrees. One of them, "Dash for Cash", won the Champion of Champions held last December at the Los Alamitos Race Track in California.

In that race, "Dash for Cash" broke the world record that had been set and held by "Jet Deck" for 13 years. He ran the 440 yards in 21.17 seconds which gives him a 113 speed index, good enough to probably etch his name in the history books next to "Man O' War" and "Hyperion."

"Mal-Don-D" probably won't get into too many history books, because even with his exceptional breeding, he only raced infrequently over a period of seven years. He did win 19 races, however, and tallied a purse of $53,936 at major Eastern tracks such as Belmont, Aqueduct, Garden State and others.

At one point in his career he won four races in 21 days. The fourth race put him into the record books for three years. On July 29, 1961, he set a track record in the Manchester Handicap of one mile 70 yards with a time of 1:41.3-5.

That was the best time in the world until October of 1964 when Drill Site beat his time with a 1:38.4-5 that still stands in the record books.

"Mal-Don-D" has 50 percent or 8-16 traces of blood in his pedigree to the top 16 ranking sires which have stood in North America during the 20th century. In addition to "Man O' War" and "Hyperion", "Mal-Don-D" can count "Broomstick", "Peter Pan", "Fair Play", "Black Toney", "Pennant" and "Heliopolis" as his ancestors.

Roscoe L. Gillean has leased "Mal-Don-D" from Cox from time to time and has produced some fine looking offspring. "Mal-Don-D" is just about the spitting image of his great-granddaddy "Man O' War", who had the nickname "Big Red". The local horse is a striking red chestnut sorrell, good-headed, straight legged, and with quarter horse conformation that is near perfect. He is also probably has the best blood in him of any stallion available for breeding in the United States.

He weighed in at just over four pounds, by Ed McCain's scales at the concession, but I'm telling everyone it was 4 1/2 even. What a fish! (See picture at concession).

Neighbor Charles McCamant, Big Spring Bass Clubber extraordinaire, (whose waders sprung a leak on him and spoiled his day), arrived back at the house just in time to hear the whole story as I was cleaning the lunger.

McCament allowed that my fish was probably just one of many along the dam during the middle of the day at this time of the season. The big fish are lured to the shallows by the warming effect of the rocks and will no doubt hang out there until the rest of the lake warms up.

Proof positive. In 10 days there have been two 4 1/2 lb.

Monsters at Moss Creek

If you don't think there's some big bruisers in Moss Creek, then you have another think coming, Jack!

Spent a few minutes at the local watering hole Friday afternoon, sitting on a rock of the dam, casting with a six ounce gray and white slab.

My quarry was Walleye, but not 10 minutes after I situated myself on the softest part of the rock, the old Zebco One whined, the rod bent double, and the dark green back of a black bass rippled the still water.

My lure was almost out of the water, not two feet from the bank when the booger took the bait. So the biggest black bass of my life was out of the water really before I could enjoy the thrill of it all.

blacks, a 5 1/2 lb. and a 7 lb. 14 oz. beauty taken from the dam.

Ed McCain also told of a 5 1/2 black that had been taken off the dock on the far side of the lake. Two fourteen-year-olds tied a length of monofilament to the dock, with a half-dead minnow on the rusty hook. When they came back later, the monster was tugging at the other end of it, securely hooked.

Wonder how much a rig like that costs?

Spence, Thomas

An excellent mix of fish characterized the catches at Lake E.V. Spence during the past week. There were many striped bass landed, although the biggest were 11 pounds and 10 1/4 pounds and missed the whopping record 24-pounder brought in the previous week. One 30 1/2 lb. yellow catfish was reported, along with a 5 1/2 lb. black bass. Crappie and white bass were biting, too. Vic Keyes, Big Spring, landed an 8-lb. black bass at Lake J.B. Thomas.

Reports from the various points on the lake included:

Y.J.'s Marina — Jim Babb and Don Lester, Hobbs, N.M., 42 crappie to 12 lbs., C.C. Weir, Robert Lee, a 30 1/2 lb. yellow catfish; Royce Crowell, Eunice, N.M., a 9 1/2 lb. strip; Morris Huckleba, two strippers to 8 lbs.; Dale Lipsey, Kermit, eight black bass to 5 lbs.; Jess Clement, Big Lake, a 5 1/2 lb. strip; Kenneth Fillet, Big Spring, 4 lb. strip; five white bass to 1 lb., and a pair of 3 lb. blacks; Ike and Burnie Bailey, Ja., N.M., two strippers to 11 lbs.; Tip Tippet, Odessa, a 9 1/2 lb. strip; D.W. Parker and party of Odessa, four strippers to 8 lbs.; Roy Eakins, San Angelo, 10 1/4 lb. strip.

Triangle Grocery and Bait — R.C. Rainwater, Robert Lee, 25 channel catfish to 8 1/2 lbs.; Dee and Cleo Reed, Big Spring, 32 crappie to 2 lbs. and six black bass to 3 lbs.; George Pierce, Odessa, a 7 1/2 lb. strip.

Hillside Grocery and Bait — Cecil Woods, Hobbs, N.M., 9 lb. yellow cat, also a pair of 4 lb. strippers; Monroe Copeland, Big Spring, two strippers to 10 lbs., two channel catfish to 5 lbs. and 12 crappie to 1 lb.

LOUIE'S LAKESIDE LODGE
Mrs. Luttrell reported that Glenn

Sullivan from Coahoma caught six crappie from 1/2 lb. to 1 lb. and a 3 lb. black bass. A man from Odessa caught a 42 lb. yellow cat. There was a lot of small crappie caught in the fishama.

FISHER PAK
Mrs. Taylor reported that a lot of pan size crappie were caught. One man from Andrews fished by the rock bluff and caught one 5 1/2 lb. and one 6 lb. black bass, on a black and yellow H&H spinner.

COOPER'S COVE
The channel cat were real good this weekend and the crappie have been good. Cooper's Cove has free boat launching and camper hook-ups for overnight.

BOJO'S
Bob Tammen said several 3 and 3 1/2 lb. bass have been caught. There wasn't many that reported their catch but there were a lot of people in his store that were staying at the State Park. Bob's have ratters for rent.

STATE PARK
Steve McMann and Don Warren from Snyder had a good catch, one black bass weighing 4 lb. and 13 oz. and 5 lb. and 13 oz., and two 3 lb. black bass. The black bass have been good. There were 2,815 people registered at the State Park over the three day weekend.

ANOTHER HYPERION? — "Mal-Don-D's" offspring "Lady Don" and mother "Gee's Vicky" pause for a bit of refreshment. "Lady Don" has fifth generation blood of world champions "Hyperion" and "Man O' War" in him. He is just one of many colts sired by the local horse.

Stanton Girls' FCA helps feed spectators

By DEE DEE ADKINS
The girls' FCA helped hungry spectators Friday at the track meet with homemade ice cream and cakes. Girls volunteered for the work shifts.

The past week, short because of spring break, was mostly filled with preparation for the Big Lake tournament Saturday. Speech events, journalism, typing, math, and science are the subject matter for competition, plus the first public performance of the one-act play.

Much of Wednesday found students and teachers utilizing class time and after-school-and-into-the-night time for adjustments on costumes.

The band's possible trip to Six Flags was approved by the school board Tuesday night. Also, the dates for state solo and ensemble contest are May 28 and 30.

Cross-country skiing still growing

By the Associated Press
PUTNEY, Vt. (AP) — John Caldwell says he made such a poor showing in the 1952 Olympics he came home determined to help Americans learn cross-country skiing.
 Since then he has written two books on cross-country skiing and coached the U.S. Olympic team twice. Last year, one of his students, Bill Koch, won the only cross-country Olympic medal ever won by an American.
 Cross-country, or touring, said Caldwell, is as simple or as complicated as a person wants to make it.
 "If you can walk you have a good chance of enjoying cross-country. It's easy to learn, safe and thrilling, and there's no better winter exercise," he said in an interview at his southern Vermont home.
 "I went for a tour this morning," he said. "The hardwoods and evergreens protect you from the wind. Gosh, it's really beautiful."
 "You put your skis on and go. You can ski on a city park, golf course, riding trail or power lines."
 "Some people say cross-country is just catching on now because of Bill Koch's silver medal. Some say it started to blossom in the '60s. It's still growing and it'll keep on growing."
 "Waxing is the biggest single hang-up for beginners. There are hundreds of different waxes.
 "If skis aren't waxed right, they slip when going up a hill, or they ice up. That's the worst thing that can happen."
 "But the new, no-wax skis are taking care of that," he said.
 Caldwell's first book was published in 1964 and is in its fourth edition, "The New Cross-Country Ski Book."
 "It was the first book on cross-country. A lot of other books are sort of modeled or copied after it," he said.
 "If you want to do your own thing and ski your own way, just skip this chapter and no one will be the loser," says the introduction to the chapter on technique.
 Cross-country skiers are a bit different from Alpine skiers, said Caldwell.
 "Some people want to sit down in a chair and be carried to the top of the mountain. Cross-country will never attract those."
 "A lot of people who ski cross-country like to go out and be alone in the woods. They don't want to go with the crowds and machinery and noise," he said.
 For the serious competitor, Caldwell said, cross-country skiing "is much more strenuous than any of those silly track events. Marathon is a piece of cake compared to cross-country."
 "The longest cross-country race is 31 miles, these marathons are only 26 miles. And cross-country terrain is much more rugged."
 "Caldwell on Cross-Country," his second book, was published two years ago.
 "It's mostly on training. People will have a hard time copying this one," he said.
 Caldwell was in combined competition in the Olympics, in which skiers compete in both cross-country and jumping.
 "I was never noted for my cross-country skiing ability. I was a good jumper

Police shows going 'frothy' TV violence getting cut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television violence is not dying, but there are signs that it is slowly fading away.
 Generally, network spokesmen say that current popular shows will not be dropped because of violence themes, but recent directives probably will limit the number of new action shows slated in the fall and possibly further into the future.
 Some are taking the trend in stride: others, like David Gerber, executive producer of "Police Story" and "Police Woman," are biting the bullet, contending that the end of tube violence ultimately would mean the downfall of action adventure shows.
 "Pressure groups, not the viewing audience at large," says Gerber, "are leveling such strokes at television that they are crippling any attempt at honesty in drama, honest reality, or just plain entertaining actions shows, which people are entitled to."
 "They are ruining serious quality, hour-long dramas."
 A censor for NBC, which buys Gerber's two police shows, admits that the pressure groups are making an impression.
 "We have certainly been not unaware of the various groups which have been complaining about violence on television, and we have reacted to the extent that we have been examining the area much more carefully than before," says Jerome H. Stanley, NBC vice president of broadcast standards for the West Coast.
 Among the groups decrying TV violence are the American Medical Association, the Parent-Teachers Association and the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting.
 ABC Vice President Alfred R. Schneider, in a recent speech, makes clear that his network plans to continue some violence as part of a diversified program mix. But, he said, "It is clear that gratuitous, excessive violence serves no useful purpose."
 CBS Dick Kirschner, the West Coast program practice chief, doesn't see anti-violence as a new movement. "We've been involved in trying to cut down violence since 1968."

Some members of the advertising industry have vowed to monitor more closely where their dollars are spent, and the U.S. surgeon general has tentatively indicated that TV violence could have an effect on children.
 NBC president Robert T. Howard has called for a reduction in violence. "We're saying 'enough of that.' We're going to try new avenues."

For a fashionable springtime

Spring is the time when a young woman's fancy turns to love. This year, designers have taken their cue from there and come up with some of the softest, most romantic looks ever.

It's a season of contrasts. You can aim for a very narrow line in pants and skirts, or swing full circle in billowy peasant dresses and tops. But whatever look you decide upon, make sure it's soft and feminine.

Take your fashion inspiration from a variety of sources. Go Edwardian in a ruffly white tea gown. Or turn to the Mideast for caftans and tassels. Draw on the peasant in you and turn up in a kerchief and long skirt. Or, for a bit of nostalgia, go back to the early '60s for your inspiration and don a pair of pegged silk pants and heels.

Your fashion options are diverse, but here is a brief listing of the season's most popular trends:

In fabrics, look for thin, light or crisp-soft materials. Watch for handkerchief linens, fishnets, silks, gauzes, cotton piques. Seek out miniature floral print and border print fabrics, dazzling white and very bright solid colors.

In details, search for ruffles, embroidery, lace and eyelet rims, ropes and bows and tassels.

In skirts, watch for tiers and layers. Choose full skirts that emphasize the waist or styles that release below the waist, narrow skirts that emphasize your curves.

In dresses, look for light, breezy styles, soft and full; body-hugging tubes; bare strapless fashions.

In pants, head for drawstrings and loose-fitting styles.

In tops, choose peasant blouses, camisoles, handkerchief-pointed tanks, silk jersey pullovers and fleecy sweaters.

This is your season to be totally feminine, to select some soft, romantic clothes you'll love and be loved in for years.

GOLD AND SILVER accent bracelet, earrings and rigid necklace in this handsome trio. Small silver rings flash in mobile splendor against the deeper golden hue, and chunky gold ring with surface interest finishes the look.

Dig that Gold

Forget the California and Klondike Gold Rushes, for there's a new gold rush building, only this time it's in jewelry fashions, with the sought-after treasure composed of handsome gold necklaces, rings, pins, bracelets and earrings, reports the Jewelry Industry Council.

Borrowing richly from the past, gold jewelry designs show inspiration from Persian, Egyptian and Byzantine artifacts. Handsome gold chains form rich bib necklaces, wide bands of hammered gold make up royal cuff bracelets and necklaces. White gold and yellow gold contrast for eye appeal, and rings are richly encrusted with pave diamonds. The new gold look carries thru from artfully crafted fashion jewelry to precious jewelry. The word is out — the gold rush is on for Spring-Summer '77, and smart fashion-watchers are joining it.

THE PEASANT LOOK, billowing with ruffles and gathers, reflects spring's light-hearted mood and a return to romantic styles.

NEW SPRING SILHOUETTES in this double breasted suit by Campus Sportswear has a casual elegance. It comes designed in a cotton chambrayed canvas. At right, her straight skirt by Rumble Seats in indigo denim has leather trim at the front slit and pockets.

Color on the courts

At one time, only white clothes with perhaps a touch of color trim were allowed on tennis courts. Now, thanks in part to television, any and all colors can be seen on public and private tennis courts from Beverly Hills to Wimbledon.

At the urging of television camera people, professional tennis stars exchanged their traditional whites for pastels and eventually, deeper colors. White does not photograph well for either black and white or color television cameras. Thus, the tradition of tennis whites ended as recreational players adopted the colors of professional players.

Tennis clothes today span the color spectrum from pale pastels to bright reds and oranges for both men's and women's styles. Although many tennis players still wear white, their clothes are usually accented with bright colors, stripes and even checks.

Top designers in both women's and men's fashions have created tennis clothes for the ready-to-wear market. Noted tennis professionals such as Jimmy Connors and Rosie Casals have endorsed tennis wear, along with entertainment personalities who are also good tennis players.

Warm-up suits which cover tennis clothes are also designed in various colors with bold stripes and patches. Warm-ups can be worn for jogging and other activities, along with tennis.

Tennis sweaters are coordinated with tennis clothes by some designers to give players a complete fashion ensemble.

Many women prefer the one-piece tennis dress now available in halter styles, in addition to more conventional scoop neck and V-neck styles. Several manufacturers of tennis clothes are offering women mix-and-match separates which include tops, skirts, shorts and sweaters in coordinated colors.

Dressing for tennis may even be as much fun as the game, now that such a great variety of styles is available.

And, best of all, most of the tennis clothes are made from cotton blended with synthetic fabrics which wash easily and require little, if any, ironing!

IT'S TENNIS, EVERYONE, it seems in recent years, and spring is sure to bring out the "love" set in full force. Smart fashions like this tennis dress are contributing to popularity of the game.

Women's groups plan art exhibition, auction

Residents of this area will have an opportunity to view and purchase works from the Collier Art Corporation when the Officers Wives Club and the OWC Charitable Association presents its annual benefit art exhibition and auction at the Officers' Club Saturday. Nearly 200 original, signed and numbered lithographs, etchings, drypoints, serigraphs, woodcuts, oils and watercolors have been selected from the International Collection of Collier's for the show.

Works will include such masters as Picasso, Chagall, Miro, Dali, Neiman, Calder, Amen, Toulouse-Lautrec, Schoneberg, Lambert, Vanderbilt, Lebadang and a host of other artists plus works by young new artists.

All of the work is authenticated, custom-framed, ready to hang in the home, gallery or office.

Collier Art Corporation conducts more than 500 such events each year throughout the United States including Alaska and Hawaii, and in Europe. Their art experts constantly search studios of Europe and this country for quality art. By dealing directly with artists, by buying entire editions of original graphics, and by doing its own custom-framing, the company is able to bring to its clients fine art at extraordinarily low opening bid prices.

Proceeds from the auction will be used for the OWC and various groups and projects to which the OWC Charitable Association contributes.

Exhibition time is 6 p.m. with the Auction beginning promptly at 8. The Officers' Club will feature a prime rib buffet from 6-8 p.m. Call 263-8381 for reservations.

Square dancers to demonstrate The Big Spring Squares will stage a square dancing exhibition at 8 o'clock this evening at Webb Air Force Base.

The event is free and open to the public with anyone interested in square dancing invited to attend.

Speaker delves into mystery of dreams

"To all, to each, a fair goodnight — And pleasing dreams, and slumbers light!" wrote Sir Walter Scott many years ago.

Mrs. Jack Irons has delved deeply into the mystery of dreams and shared the conclusions reached from her research with members of the 1948 Hyperion Club at their meeting Thursday at Big Spring Country Club.

Mrs. R. W. Whipkey and Mrs. Zollie Boykin (who substituted for Mrs. John Hodges), were hostesses.

"The question of what dreams are has perplexed mankind from time immemorial," said Mrs. Irons. "Any or all of our diversified interests or frustrations in this complex world are apt to come to the fore during sleep and, thus, compose the stuff that dreams are made of."

It took Sigmund Freud to 'open the letter' and rescue the study of dreams from the occult according to Mrs. Irons. Freud contends that dreams represent a safety valve — a compromise between the conscious and unconscious minds.

"Modern science now enables researchers to carefully monitor every aspect of our sleeping habits," continued the speaker. "This study shows that dreaming is a regular biological activity of sleep. In fact, it seems to be somewhat of a necessity for a balanced mind. Scientists say that many people dream without realizing it."

Mrs. Irons pointed out that regardless of the scientists, dreams remain an impenetrable mystery. After the program members recalled dreams mostly recurring ones and ones that seemed to carry a definite message.

Mrs. W. A. Archer, president, presided at a brief business session. The next club meeting will be April 21 at Big Spring Country Club with Mrs. Harvy Williamson as hostess.

Mrs. Stevens is honoree

Mrs. Doug Stevens was the honoree at a surprise baby shower March 16.

The event was held in the home of Mrs. Joseph Woodard, 1607 Kentucky Way, where yellow and white color scheme was used in the party room.

A centerpiece of yellow and white gingham flowers, yellow pussy willows and white baby's breath centered the refreshment table.

Newcomers' handicrafts

Members of the Newcomer's Handicraft Club were instructed on making unusual designs on decoupaged boards with nails at the group's meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John De La Rosa, 3200 Auburn Ave.

Anyone interested in the club may attend the business and idea meeting at 9:30 a.m., March 30 in the home of Mrs. Raymond Heitz, 136-A Dow, or call Mrs. Heitz, 263-6622, or Mrs. Lisa Woodard, 263-4675.

Fashion footwear fancy, footloose

Kicking off your shoes to run through grassy fields or tip-toe through the tulips may be a "natural" for you this time of year. But stepping into spring totally "footloose and fancy free" is not often such a good idea, according to Dr. Jack Stern, a leading podiatrist and a consultant to the Sole Leather Council.

Feet need more of a helping hand than we give them, according to Dr. Stern, who builds a good case for laying a healthy and strong foundation. Especially in the warmer months, when big and little feet are more active, special care should be taken of those appendages that are "the most neglected part of our bodies." To help put a spring in your step this season, the Sole Leather Council asked Dr. Stern to recommend some "tips on toes."

Reserve "barefootin'" for the beach, where flexible sand surfaces can "give" with your step. Walking barefoot on hard floors or cement sidewalks can break down muscles and ligaments, and can sometimes cause foot bones to shift. An added benefit to beach strolling is that sand acts as a natural pumice to gently "file" away rough calluses.

"Soft soap" your feet in the bathtub whenever possible. Use a lathered-up pumice where needed, and always be sure to dry feet thoroughly after bathing, especially between toes.

Do some "sole searching" before buying shoes, and make sure to opt for the shoe with a leather sole. Leather is better for feet than man-made materials because it's more flexible, bending and stretching to the different foot positions. And, leather "breathes" to keep shoes healthfully dry and comfortably insulated against excessive heat and wetness.

Avoid "walking to the beat of a different drummer." Instead, step with a natural cadence, and keep feet parallel. Stop-and-start window shoppers or store clerks who stand on their feet for long hours should finish off the day with a slow, but steady stroll to relax muscles and get circulation pumping again.

This season, step with a light and lively step — making sure that you build a "strong foundation" by starting at the bottom with a shoe soled in genuine leather.

NCO wives club slates 'potluck'

A potluck supper is planned by the NCO Wives Club members at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Rose Stukel's home.

At their meeting this week the members also discussed fund-raising events for March. They plan to sponsor a car wash in mid-April.

Free tennis lessons are to be given to members of the group. They should begin the last week in April.

Any NCO wives wishing to join the club are invited to call Kathy Foster at 263-6624 or Liz McConahay at 267-6008 for more information.

Mrs. Hale hosts meet

The Big Spring chapter of the American Gold Star Mothers met March 17 in the home of Mrs. Leola Hale, 909 Golf Course Road, Andrews. Mrs. Hale is formerly of Big Spring.

A business meeting followed a visitation session. Mrs. Truett Thomas presided.

Plans for the State Convention, slated in El Paso April 15-17, were discussed. Mrs. T. D. Peacock and Mrs. S. R. Nobles were elected to attend as delegates with Mrs. Alfred Moody as alternate. Others planning to attend are Mrs. Truett Thomas, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Huey Rogers and Alfred Moody.

Mrs. Moody, hospital chairman, reported that 69 patients were served coffee and cake at the Veteran's Administration hospital March 16. Two patients were given canteen books as door prizes.

Mrs. Enda Peacock, community service chairman, reported that 18 dishes, 38 visits, 56 phone calls, 18 floral offerings, 24 cards and $40 had been donated to the sick and needy in past months.

Following the business meeting, the group attended a buffet luncheon hosted by Mrs. Hale at the Andrews Country Club.

Automobile workshop for women

When your car talks to you, do you know what it is saying? For today's women, knowing how to operate an automobile is not enough. A woman must know more about the way an automobile works and how to maintain her car for safety and economy.

"Car Talk for Women," a workshop sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will not make you a "lady mechanic" but it will offer you some basic information about the functioning of your car and give you some practical tips for maintaining and checking out your own car.

Subjects to be covered in the workshop include "How to read the Instrument Panel," "Parts Identification," "Practical Preventive Maintenance," "Hints on Saving Money," and "Traveling Hints." Henry O'Neal, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will present the program.

The workshop will be held Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. The workshop is open to everyone.

For more information, contact Miss Janet Sargent, county extension agent, 267-8469.

Meal planning is club topic

Miss Janet Sargent spoke on meal planning at the recent meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. D. D. Johnston was the hostess. Mrs. E. A. Turner gave the devotional. Mrs. Merle Hodnett won the hostess gift.

Miss Sargent advised members to use their imaginations when preparing leftovers. Leftovers can offer a variety and can give a meal personality if prepared correctly, she said.

The next meeting will be a "Creative Arts Day." Each member will bring a hobby or craft and explain how it was made. The event is in the home of Mrs. W. N. Norred.

Mrs. Al Lancaster, Mrs. B. F. Mobe and Mrs. Alton Underwood will attend the leader program on "Car Talk" at 1:30 p.m., March 21 at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

WILL WED — Mr. and Mrs. Esequiel Valles Sr., 1410 Bluebird, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Cruz, to Senior Airman Ariel Rodriguez of Webb Air Force Base, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Rodriguez of Brooklyn, N.Y. The couple will be married July 9 in Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church with the Rev. Louis Moeller officiating.

Mrs. Clyde Angel reviews book

Mrs. Clyde Angel reviewed the book, "Trust and Obedy," by Virginia Carry Hudson, a book of letters written by a devout, but strong southern widow who ran a boarding house, when the 1905 Hyperion club met Thursday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club.

Mrs. Angel said that the letters were written to the widow's married daughter who lived in a distant city and were accounts of incidents of everyday happenings of her boarders and friends.

Mrs. Angel closed with some thoughts about the Easter season, which she said was "the message of renewed life." She read a poem by Paul Myres, author of the book, "The First Easter."

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Ted Hatfield and Mrs. Earl Ezzell. The St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out in the refreshment table and appointments.

Mrs. Rogers Hefley collected opinion ballots that had been distributed to club members at an earlier date.

4-H winners in district food show

The District 4-H Food Show was held March 12 at the Andrews County Civic Center using the theme "Gourmet Foods."

The six 4-H members from Howard County received blue awards. The junior contestants receiving top honors were Scott Underwood, main dishes; Shellie Peterson, side dish; Paula Kay Allen, breads and desserts; and Dawn Underwood, snacks and beverages.

Both senior contestants were designated as alternates to the state food show which will be held at Texas A&M University in June. Donna James was selected as alternate in the breads and desserts division, and Karen Earls is alternate in the snacks and beverages division.

Mrs. W. N. Norred, District 6 Texas Home Demonstration Association director from Howard County, assisted with presentation of awards to all district contestants.

Dried corn

Hominy — from which grits is made — is a dried hulled corn. The word comes from the Algonquin Indian word "rockahominie."

Brilliant Savarin, one of the greatest gourmands of all time, hailed the truffle as "the diamond in the art of cooking." The truffle is a member of the fungi family, but it is far from the ordinary garden variety of mushroom. There are black and white distinctions in truffles, the black coming from France, and the white — only called white in contrast to the best, blackest of the French variety — come from Italy. Truffles are inhibited things, growing deep underground in France employs specially trained pigs and Italy uses dogs to gently seize them from their hiding place.

You won't have to travel very far for the greatest family style dining. Just come to the WESTERN SIZZLER, 388 Gregg, 267-7444 and you will see for yourself what we mean. We consider ourselves the finest family style dining in the area and we feature a menu that even the fussiest eater will enjoy. Whether it be steaks or hamburgers we have it all for you, and it's all you can eat, so hurry in soon. Open: 10 a.m. - 9:30 p.m., 7 days.

GOURMET FACT: Even when truffles grow in abundance, connoisseurs of the fungi hoard and cherish them. Collectors in Perugia lock them in their safes!

How To Locate Missing Relatives

DEAR ABBY: A recent article in the Birmingham (Ala.) News credits you with helping to unite two sisters who hadn't seen each other for 23 years.

The older girl came to the U.S.A. as a war bride. Six years later, both parents died and the younger sister, then 13, was placed with a German family. That's when her American sister lost track of her. Even the German courts were unable to locate the younger sister to inform her that she had been left a small inheritance.

Three years ago, the American sister wrote to you asking for your help in locating her sister in Germany, and you suggested that she write to the Salvation Army. She did. It took them three years, but they found her. (She had married, and her name had been changed.)

Now I would like to locate a brother I haven't heard from in 12 years. I don't even know if he's alive. How do I go about getting the Salvation Army to help me? How much do they charge? Thank you.

LOOKING FOR LEO

DEAR LOOKING: The Salvation Army's Missing Persons Bureau has branches in every state in the nation and has located more than 8,500 lost or strayed persons in the last year.

When no crime has been committed, the police, Red Cross and welfare agencies refer callers to the Salvation Army. They have reunited adopted children with their "real" parents, returned to their families men who got tired of "freedom" but were too embarrassed to go home. Brothers and sisters who had been separated in childhood have also been brought together.

The Salvation Army has no special method. They check forwarding addresses and military records, telephone old friends and ex-employers.

Some people do not want to be found because they have found a better life than the one they abandoned. In that case, the Salvation Army reports that they have located the missing person but cannot reveal his whereabouts.

Whether a search requires two days or 10 years, the cost is the same—one dollar. And believe it or not, some folks don't pay.

If you want help in locating a lost relative, write to me and I'll forward your letter to the Missing Persons Department of the Salvation Army.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a father who takes showers and baths with his 8-year-old daughter?

He and the girl's mother are divorced, and he has custody of the girl. (The mother wanted her, but the court decided in favor of the father.)

The girl is large for her age, has reached the stage of curiosity about her own body and has very little modesty. She adores her father and likes to cuddle up with him and kiss him while watching television.

He has two bedrooms in his apartment, but I know this child crawls into his bed at night.

Am I concerned for no good reason? And at what age do children outgrow such behavior? There is no communication between the parents.

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: The child is much too old for the intimacies you describe. Cuddling is fine, but showering and bathing together, and sharing one bed are out! If the mother can prove that the above allegations are indeed true, she could go to court and possibly gain custody of the child.

STYLES OF SUMMER — Four favored summer headwear shapes include the "garden party" shape of white panama and giant flowers by Frank Olive, upper left; the tailored straw "boater" by Halston, upper right; a new treatment of the popular fedora, also by Halston, lower left; and an Albrizio designed cap of organdy leaves, lower right.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Dodson, Coahoma, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Paula Yvonne, to David Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Weaver, Odessa. The wedding is slated May 13 at First Baptist Church, Coahoma, with the Rev. Monroe Teters officiating.

Fashion turning back the clock

Paris designers are offering a dance-hall girl costume look this spring. Velvet tops sporting spaghetti straps and tied like a corset are featured over full skirts in bright taffeta fabrics. High-heeled shoes with ankle straps and fringe shawls complete this costume look. The nipped-in waist and the full skirt could bring back the merry-widow foundation garment popular in the 1950s. This version of the corset gave women a trim silhouette and a tiny Scarlett O'Hara waist, although many women complained that it was not the most comfortable undergarment to wear!

And, in keeping with the trend of the 1950s, the strapless look is back.

Scenic chapter garden party

The Home of Mrs. Hazel Mixon was the setting March 13 for the spring enrollment tea for the Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

Carrying out the theme of a "Bloomin' Garden Party," the house was decorated with a profusion of spring flowers. The refreshment table was centered with yellow tapers and an arrangement of daisies and featured crystal and silver appointments.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Lona Hood, while those presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. Opal Wooten and Mrs. Gerri Deitz.

Enrolled as new members were Ms. Muriel Denton, Ms. Jane Vargo and Ms. Helen Ball.

Hoods called 'chaperones'

In the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries, women frequently wore small hoods called chaperones. In time the older woman who accompanied a young woman in society came to be known as a chaperone since, metaphorically, the experienced married woman sheltered the youthful debutante as a hood sheltered the face.

'You have car trouble, lady?' learn basics of maintenance

By JANET SARGENT
(City, Ext. Agent)

Cars are very important to women. They are one of the links from home to the outside world. The car is a way to friends, stores, church, club meetings and jobs. How would a woman manage all the errands and activities she has each day if she didn't have a car that was in good running order?

Car maintenance is a flexible expense that eats away at the family budget. Too often women think of themselves as consumers at supermarkets and department stores, but not in service stations or garages.

It is time for women to develop consumer skills in the area of car maintenance. If a woman is a wise consumer of car service, she'll save not only money, but time and annoyance. She will decrease the risk of trouble on the road. Her car will handle better, look better, and have a higher trade-in value.

How can you save on car repairs? First, follow some basic guidelines. Know something about your car besides the color of the upholstery. Read and follow your owner's manual. See that your car gets preventive maintenance. Take it in for servicing at first sign of trouble. Be as sure as you can that you are taking your car to a good mechanic. Learn how to talk to a mechanic so you will know what you are asking for and should get.

There are ways to bridge the communication gap for those who can't talk in mechanical jargon. To make communicating with a mechanic easier: — Go on a slow day. The busiest day is usually Monday. Call first to see if they have time for you.

Take a list. If your car troubles are many, list them to help you remember and to provide a reference for the mechanic. It's also wise to know in detail what previous work has been done on your car.

Approach without fear. Select a garage based on its reputation for reliability, then trust in the mechanics.

Explain it in your own words. Don't worry about using the correct technical term. Describe the problem as specifically as you can — rattle, squeak, or roar. Tell the mechanic as much as you know about the problem. Describe when and how it happens. If possible, take the service representative for a ride around the block.

Don't make your own diagnosis. One alternative would be to ask the mechanic to "check and advise". In this manner he can give you an estimate and get your approval before he proceeds with the work.

Don't sign without checking. Before you leave your car for service, you will be asked to sign a work order. No work can be done until you sign. If a service is performed that you did not authorize, you do not have to pay for it. Your signature commits you to pay for the work described and parts used. It acknowledges that you understand the dealer has a lien on your car until the bill is paid and authorizes employees to drive your car for testing purposes. Before you sign, read the work order carefully. If your trouble has not been diagnosed, be certain the work order states "check and advise."

As you drive home check the car's performance.

Big party coming up Members of museum will be entertained

"How do I become a member of the Heritage Museum Association?" That question is being asked often of Mrs. Toots Mansfield, president of the association, and she has a ready answer.

"Membership in the association is by annual donation," said Mrs. Mansfield. "The Heritage Museum is a community project preserving and displaying our rich heritage and history. Since we were unable to have a larger building, with the help of the Dora Roberts Foundation, we are striving to provide a better arranged and more attractive museum by assembling a permanent core exhibit, yet still have an area for our interim art exhibits. Charles Paramore of Dallas, a museum consultant, is designing the permanent exhibit, and working with him is Daryle Hobertz, a past president of the association.

"A membership not only entitles you to previews of interim art shows and exhibits, admittance to the annual chuck wagon party and a copy of our quarterly newsletter, it also affords you an opportunity to show a personal interest in the museum and its value to the community."

Further information about memberships may be obtained by calling Mrs. Gerri Atwell, curator, at 267-8255 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

New memberships include Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Randle, Mrs. Lola Sheppard, Mrs. Allen Early, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lomax, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eason, Dr.

and Mrs. Robert Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. T.W. Neel, Mrs. Callie Jo Mason, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston, Mrs. Corene Lancaster, Mrs. Mable Kuntz, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Hull, Mrs. Anita Paulsen, Mrs. Evelyn Zachariah, Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin Elrod, Forsan, Dr. and Mrs. H.T. Hansen, Mrs. Bill Currie, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. K.H. McGibbon, Mrs. W.P. Edwards Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H.D. Cowden, Gene Mikeska and Dr. Carl B. Marcum.

Mrs. Garner McAdams, general chairman for the annual Chuck Wagon party, slated May 5 at the Dora Roberts Community Center, has put together a delightful program which promises to make this one of the best parties ever. She has expressed the hope that those wishing to attend the party will acquire their memberships soon.

Joe Pickle, chairman of the permanent exhibit committee, and the association is planning a formal opening in April. As work is continuing inside the museum, landscaping will be completed by the Big Spring Garden Club Council.

This year's museum officers, other than Mrs. Mansfield, are John L. Taylor, vice president; Mrs. Walter Wheat, secretary; and Dan Allen, treasurer.

SPRING SHOWERS are always welcome in West Texas, and when it rains you'll shine in this hooded rain-dress. To make it, you'll need Butterick Pattern 5073, any tightly woven fabric and some "Scotchgard" fabric protector in the spray can to help your fabric shed both rain and stain.

Artists invited to enter area show

All Big Spring artists, whether amateur or professional, are invited to enter the forthcoming Big Spring Area Open Exhibit and Art Show to be held in Gibson's supply building, 3202 Scurry, April 30 and May 1 according to Mrs. Elsie Merrell, president of Big Spring Art Association.

Adequate purchase awards will be awarded to winners, with no award less than $50, and cash awards will be given in each division, professional, non-professional, student, sculpture, and photography. Entry fee will be $3 per entry for all except members, which will be $2.

The show will be judged by award winning artist, Paul Milosevich of Lubbock.

Entries will be received at Gibson's supply building April 29, from noon until 6 p.m. All work will be displayed until 5:00 p.m. May 1 and must be picked up from 5 to 6 p.m. that day.

"This show is an annual affair," said Mrs. Merrell. "More than 400 viewers attended last year's show and the public, of course, is invited to attend this year."

Sugar, spice dresses for little girls

Sugar 'n' spice 'n' everything nice, that's what little girls will be made of this spring, as young fashions go innocent and romantic this season.

Eyellet and lace, ribbons and embroideries adorn little girls' sunsuits, dress-with-panty sets, and dresses for an angelic look, especially in white.

But to illustrate that little girls have ginger in them too, they'll also be sporting T-shirts with amusing, sassy messages, in bold, sunny colors, to wear with their beloved jeans and shorts.

For the young net set, tennis fashions run the gamut from adorable little tennis dresses to painter shorts. Appliques, piping, and stripes add colorful touches to young tennis gear for spring.

ABWA welcomes two new members

Mrs. George Colvin and Mrs. A.J. Dean became members of Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, during the group's spring enrollment party last week in the Blue Room of Dora Roberts Community Center.

Mrs. Ann Jones, chairman of the event, led other members in a skit entitled "The Last Flower."

Mrs. Lucille Brown, chapter president, extended the welcome, and hostesses were Mrs. Nelda Colclazer, Mrs. Ruth Manuel, Mrs. Velma Graham and Mrs. Margaret Wiles.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white linen cloth and appointed with crystal. The centerpiece was a large pink candle encircled with pink flowers.

The next meeting of the chapter will be at 7 p.m. Monday in the fellowship hall of the First Christian Church.

WEDDING PLANNED — J. L. Christon and Mrs. Sue Christon, both of Stanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Vickie Lynn, to Mark L. Greenhaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Greenhaw of Lenora. The wedding ceremony is slated April 15 in the First Baptist Church, Stanton.

WOC making plans for workshop

Spring offers variety of fabrics for sewing

The Women of the Chapel (WOC) Webb AFB, are making plans to attend an area spring workshop at Reese AFB, Tex., April 12. Transportation, lunch and baby-sitters will be provided for those wishing to attend. Reservations for the area workshop must be made by March 31 by calling Mrs. Joyce Braswell at 263-0353 or 263-2275.

Mrs. Braswell, WOC president, has appointed a nominating committee for elections coming up in April. She also extended thanks to Kaki Morton for "her wonderful talk last week about the children of Hope Chapel Mission. It was enjoyed by all," she said.

Home-sewers will be delighted with the great variety in fabrics this season, ranging from large handkerchief prints to natural fibers and blends.

Knits are just as important as ever, but with a difference... now knits are softer, lighter, brushed or looped. They may feature bright stripes or come in heathery tones... however you look at them, knits will be news this spring.

Polished cottons, gauzes, chambrays, Indian cottons, crinkle blends, silky linen looks, and worsteds are just a sampling of the fabrics available this season.

Prints abound... dainty rosebuds, plaids, ethnic stripes, calico chevrons...

A fashion show in 19th century

Big girls played with dolls. Real honest to goodness dolls. And they didn't play for fun. It was their way of putting on a fashion show.

Before each show fashion designers and their seamstresses were busy sewing doll-size garments. Then, when the big day arrived, the new fashions were displayed mostly in miniature, on dolls carefully constructed for this purpose.

Of course men were not admitted. The sight of women's "unmentionables" would be too much for mixed company.

'Take it easy' You can take it off --or leave it on

If you're undecided as to whether you prefer the romantic, fanciful look for lounging around the house or whether you want a sophisticated, tailored approach you'll be glad to know that loungewear fashions feature both moods this spring.

Pajamas with a long, matching coat give you the understated look you love, while long, floral print dresses, trimmed in eyelet lace, let you indulge in romantic daydreams.

This spring, the fashion trends will show you at your best. Bare shoulders, legs and arms revealed by strapless tops, hip-hugging skirts and romantic-fantasy evening dresses offer a feminine look.

But, the gaucholotte, jeans and pants in general are still very much in style. Pants are again teamed with jackets, vests and blazers for a neat-looking pantsuit effect. Separates also include skirts and blouses worn with vests and blazers for a classic look that's great for daytime or informal evenings. Linen and synthetic fabrics blended with linen are popular this spring in skirts and jackets. The dress suit, which went into decline a few years ago, is back, thanks to the new look in separates.

Blouses are created in every print and color imaginable. Stripes go in all directions on spring blouses, which are usually a blend of cotton and synthetic fibers.

Casual, comfortable chic 'in' for spring

Easing into spring, fashion loosens up into big, oversized styles designed to fit the new look of casual, comfortable chic. Up top, hair takes a break, too, in soft easy-care styles that are full and feminine.

After a year of uptight man-tailored suits, the going is easy with most designers opting for daytime dressing in blouson tops, oversized shirts, and peasant blouses that fall off the shoulders of daytime Carmens. Below a cinched or obi-wrapped waist, look for full, flapping skirts, soft culottes, or daytime trousers with pajama-type fit.

Headlining the new easy-livin' styles, hair is cut to chin-length, loosely curled and swept off the face. To keep the new styles in place, beauty experts at Gillette recommended White Rain non-aerosol hair spray featuring a non-sticky, no-lacquer formula that leaves hair feeling "touchable" and looking fashionably soft.

On the other side of the style-spectrum, hair is growing away from the super short wedge and bobs to greater lengths, cut blunt and falling perfectly straight to the shoulders.

Hairstyles that see the "long and short of it" are keeping company with the yo-yo-ing hemlines that feature a small dose of short-shorts and mini-skirts down to floor-dusting peasant dresses. But overall, hemlines compromise with waist-gathered dirndls and pleats that reach to the calf.

With the return to more feminine dressing this spring, you're sure to stay chic, comfortable and "in place" with the help of the right grooming aid and some super-soft separates made for today's easy-going woman.

Does anyone care whither hemlines?

In which direction are hemlines heading this spring? Up or down?

Last fall, hemlines again dipped below the knee for dresses and skirts. This spring, they may go up again as several high-fashion designers are trying to bring back the mini length.

Most dress manufacturers are producing clothes with a mid-knee length for skirts and daytime dresses as a sort of compromise. Shorter evening dresses are also becoming popular again with the hemline falling just above or below the knee.

Actually, experts in the fashion world advise women to select the length that is best for them. A tall woman may prefer a hemline which stops mid-knee or lower to give a skirt a balanced look in proportion to her bodice. A shorter woman may find the knee-top length most flattering.

The mini skirts of the 1960's looked great on young women and teenage girls with shapely legs. But the short, short skirts looked awkward, exposing skinny or heavy legs and thighs. And many mature women still wanted a hemline that covered their knees.

The answer may be the mid-knee length or just-below-the-knee in sports-wear styles for the majority of women. However, if you prefer shorter or longer dress lengths, you will still be able to find them in abundance at your favorite dress shops, department stores and boutiques.

Hit solution

During the Napoleonic Wars, the French governor of the Seychelles Islands hit upon a unique solution to the problems of war. Each time a British ship appeared, he surrendered. When it left, he ran up the French flag again. After the war, Britain gained control of the colony, but the governor stayed on, changing his name from the French De Quinsey to the anglicized De Quincy.

Ridin' fence

It's an industry

with Marj Carpenter

Last Tuesday night, I was fortunate to be a guest at the Permian Basin Medical Society monthly dinner meeting.

And as I sat there looking around, it dawned on me that there was well over 350 years of education in that room.

Big Spring has general practitioners, surgeons, orthopedists, pediatricians, ophthalmologists, genitourinarians, diagnosticians, obstetricians, dermatologists, radiologists, psychiatrists, and I don't even know what else.

I know we have, in plain folks language, foot doctors, eye, ear, nose and throat doctors, those that hopefully know what's wrong inside, sawbones, kidney specialists, arthritis experts, bone doctors, head shrinkers, and plain old docs.

Back in 1973, when I got "smacked" by the back and broke my back" and ended up in the hospital, my daughter arrived in Houston from England and called me long distance.

She was raised in Pecos, so she simply placed a call for Marj Carpenter in the hospital, Big Spring. She was really startled when the operator said, "Big Spring has six hospitals."

She said she was stammering around and the operator said, "Who are you trying to reach?" and she gave the name. The very helpful operator said, "Oh I know where she is. She's been getting calls all day."

The fact that started Cathy was that a town this size would have so many hospitals.

Along the way we hear a lot of criticism of things that did not come to Big Spring — like the oil production offices or the area airport and other items.

But everybody forgets to comment on the good things that some of our early concerned citizens obtained for this community — like the CRMWD office and like such things as the Big Spring State Hospital and the Veterans Administration Hospital, just to name a couple.

The fact that Big Spring also has some of the best private hospitals in the entire West Texas area is an extra bonus.

And we have some top-notch physicians here. Harley Reeves of Odessa, when he was here for the public hearing of the Health Systems Agency, said that "in the entire 17 counties, this is the only community that didn't say first of all, 'We don't have enough doctors.'"

Big Spring still has some needs in special medical fields, but as a whole, we are a very fortunate community — medically speaking.

If you think you wait long hours to see a physician in Big Spring, you ought to get at the end of the long lines in some of these communities who have very few doctors, or in some cases — none at all.

The local doctors were listening to a Dallas physician talk about a special problem that would not very often arise for them, but they are interested in upgrading themselves professionally "and always learning more."

When we're out in the doctor's office impatiently waiting, reading the old magazines and cussing the system, we might need to think about how it's going to be if we back ourselves into the corners of socialized medicine.

Then you get assigned a number, my daughter tells me — since she lives in England where the socialized medicine is a reality. She says you don't necessarily get to choose your physician. It really doesn't sound all that great to me.

I really like to pick out who I'm going to get to gripe at. The high cost of medicine and the rise in costs in recent years has been brought about partly by the malpractice suits.

Oswald's friend is 'missing'

DALLAS (AP) — Testimony by a Dutch journalist before the House Assassinations Committee in Washington has focused attention on a Bishop College professor who knew Lee Harvey Oswald and reportedly has been "missing" from several days.

Oswald, according to the Warren Commission fired the shots that killed President John F. Kennedy in Dallas in Nov. 1963.

Bishop College officials admitted that George de Mohrenschildt, a Russian-born professor of French at the school, had left on a three-day leave for New Orleans on March 1 and had not returned. However, they did not appear to be concerned, noting that De Mohrenschildt had missed only two days of school before the spring break. He is expected back in school Monday.

De Mohrenschildt testified before the Warren Commission in 1964 and said he had befriended Oswald long before the Kennedy assassination.

Dutch Journalist Willem Oltmans quoted De Mohrenschildt Wednesday as having said he knew in advance what Oswald was going to do.

YMCA classes begin in April

The YMCA is now taking registrations in new classes that will begin in April.

For everyone interested in tennis lessons, beginning and intermediate, the Y has two instructors and two different lesson times. The instructors are experienced, one young woman having taught tennis at the YMCA in Atlanta, Georgia; and a young man who is playing tennis at Howard College. They will teach two sessions: the first in April through May, and the second in June through July.

There will be a baton-twirling class for beginners taught by Miss Shanna Garrison, who is one of the Big Spring High School Steer Band twirlers.

Lifesaving will also be taught, with Jill Odom and Louie Smith, instructors. The ever-popular water babies class will be offered again; this class for preschoolers (with a parent).

There will be a beginning drawing class, and there will be a guitar class. The guitar class will be taught by the capable Don Tolle. Most of these classes will be offered on the "Y's" summer schedule, also, which will start on June 6.

The public is invited to express interest in classes that the "Y" does not offer. If there is enough interest, and a teacher is available, the class would be added to the schedule.

The Big Spring YMCA is a family-oriented YMCA. There is usually an activity scheduled for all members of the family. The YMCA is obliged to charge a fee for classes in order to pay special instructors, building expenses, and materials.

The fees are nominal, but in the regular program a Y membership is all that is necessary for participation.

Summer memberships are available for school-age children. For $9, a child can participate as a Y member from June through August, taking all swim classes, gym classes, and activities for youngsters in his age group.

A few questions worth asking before you buy your next car.

Ask your Ford dealer why his Pintos have only about half as much trunk space as VW's Rabbit.

Ask your Honda dealer why his tiny Civics have less head, shoulder and hip room than VW Rabbit.

Ask your Chevy dealer why his Chevettes do not have engineering features like front wheel drive, fuel injection and four wheel independent suspension, while VW Rabbit has all these and more.

Ask your Toyota dealer why his Corollas have only 86 cubic feet of passenger and trunk space compared with VW Rabbit's 96.

Ask your VW dealer for a test drive in his spacious, yet economical Rabbit* that runs on the cheapest gas you can buy.

The car with all the right answers.

VW Rabbit

One of the New Generation Volkswagens.

*Rabbit gets 37 mpg on the highway, 24 in the city. (That's EPA's estimate for manual transmission. Actual mileage may vary, depending on driving habits, car's condition and optional equipment.)

Reformers seek attorney general post

By SCOTT CARPENTER
Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Two bright young men are readying for a slugfest to see who will move into the 7th floor office in the State Supreme Court Building to be vacated by Atty. Gen. John Hill after the 1978 election.

The two know each other quite well. Secretary of State Mark White is the senior of the two by 15 months. Price Daniel Jr., at 35 was just a year behind White as the two went through Baylor University's undergraduate school and then law school.

Both call themselves "reformers" who want openness in government. Neither will criticize nor canonize Hill. Each says he'll run the office his way, not like anyone before.

Daniel is having a poll run by an undisclosed Dallas outfit to see how he'd do against White, Harris County District Attorney Carl Vance or Rep. Sarah Weddington of Austin. Vance and Weddington have talked about running for attorney general, but the talk has dwindled.

It doesn't really matter what the poll shows, though. Daniel plans to be in the race. White plans to run a poll soon, and says friends have already run one poll for him. They didn't give him specific numbers, but said it was positive, and that he had a "good" name identification rating. Poll results apparently will affect White's decision to run.

Name identification, the ability of voters to recognize your name, is important in years like 1978, when the Texas ballot will be filled with names and races.

With the odds for a hotly contested race for governor and a real fight in both Democratic and Republican primaries for the U.S. Senate, it appears that name identification will be all important in the probable Daniel-White race.

Daniel takes comfort in that. He says he's sure the polls will show him with a high degree of name identification, both from his own service as the reform speaker of the House who cleaned up the rules left from the naughty Gus Mutscher regime and from his service as president of the 1974 Constitutional Convention, which presented nothing to the voters after months of work.

He certainly will gain from the name identification of his father, the former House speaker, attorney general, U.S. Senator and reform governor of Texas in the 1950s. Price Daniel Sr. currently serves on the State Supreme Court.

Daniel and his father haven't worked out what would happen should Price Jr. get elected. Recently, when cases from Price Jr.'s private law firm have come before the court, Price Sr. has excused himself from hearing them.

Daniel feels White's name identification would be limited "to what the state paid for." This is a reference to an article written for the liberal Texas Observer by White's former public relations man. In the article, Rusty Todd charged that the voter registration program conducted by the secretary of state's office was given as its first duty pushing White's name, and selling the program as his.

White thinks his record as secretary of state gives him a positive name identification. He feels the work he's done on voting rights should bring him plaudits from conservatives and minority members alike.

Daniel said minority group members, particularly Mexican Americans, don't understand White's opposition to the federal voting rights application to Texas which will hurt White.

White served three years as an assistant attorney general. He developed a consumer protection image as head of the fight against home repair rip-offs under the administration of Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin. He went into private law practice in Houston before Briscoe named him secretary of state in 1973.

The governor, White says, is enthusiastic about his candidacy. While even a vague endorsement by Briscoe is a plus, it also has its negative impact. It would leave Briscoe and White open to charges that the governor, who says he'll probably run for reelection, is trying to handpick his attorney general.

If both Briscoe and White run, it certainly will hurt White's chances of getting campaign contributions. Briscoe, in a tough fight with Atty. Gen. Hill, is bound to be calling for all the money he can raise. White doesn't think he'll have problems raising the money needed for the race even if Briscoe seeks reelection.

The closest thing to a disagreement between Daniel and White in the past came on the question of whether the secretary of state or a separate state agency — an ethics commission — should administer the 1973 reform acts pushed through the Legislature by Daniel and endorsed by White.

FIRST SEALS TO GOVERNOR — Jason, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Daniels of Houston, presents the first set of 1977 Easter Seals to Gov. Dolph Briscoe. A victim of spina bifida, Jason has been served by the Easter Seal program in Houston since he was two years old. He is a first grader in the local society's special education program. The Easter Seal campaign, which began March 1, continues through Easter Sunday, April 10.

Vocation council submits annual plan

Members of the Big Spring Public School's General Vocational Advisory Council met Tuesday night in the Vocational Department at Big Spring High School. Members of the council also serve as chairmen of each of the respective Vocational Program Advisory Committees, thereby representing 57 committees for 16 different program offerings in the school offer.

Each year the public schools are required by the Texas Education Agency to submit an annual plan for vocational education reflecting the programs in operation for the year, the number of students served by each program, costs of instruction and other pertinent facts.

The plan serves as an application to the Texas Education Agency for programs for the coming year that can be justified. It also served as a projection of program offerings within the school for the next five years.

The annual plan for 1977-78 was reviewed by the committee and signed by L. W. Whisenant, chairman. Whisenant represents the Metal Trades and is foreman of the welding shop at Webb AFB. Other members participating were Loyd Underwood, for agriculture, a self employed farmer-ranger; Sherrill Carroll, for auto mechanics, the owner of Carroll Auto Parts; John Gary, Sr., for building trades, co-owner of Gary & Hohertz architects-planners; Craig Fischer for industrial co-operative training (ICT), assistant principal at Big Spring High School; Harold Bentley for laundry and dry cleaning services, personnel administrator for Big Spring schools.

Also participating and serving in the position of executive secretary for the committee was John Bagnall, vocational administrator for the vocational programs. Consultant for the committee is Harvey Rothel, vocational counselor.

The planning of future vocational offerings to well over 1,000 students for the coming year is but one of the many problems facing the community due to the undecided future of Webb AFB.

Other points of interest of much concern to members of the group were brought out, such as the loss of funds to the public schools for the purchase of equipment due to the restrictions placed on the school because of the allegations of H.E.W. that the school system is in non-compliance of the Civil Rights Act.

The laundry and dry cleaning program would have been eligible to receive assistance at the rate of 96 per cent reimbursement on the purchase of replacement equipment through funds handled by the Texas Education Agency, if it were not for the charges of non-compliance to the Civil Rights Act.

The Vocational Office Education program was eligible for the purchase of $150 worth of additional equipment on a 60 per cent reimbursement, but was denied the funds because of the charges.

Proposed state legislation affecting future vocational education was also discussed. One proposal would endanger the future services of vocational administrators, supervisors and counselors to the students in many of our school systems now eligible to the public schools under present law.

Another legislative proposal would increase the required student load for many vocational programs, requiring in many cases the expansion in facility space to accompany the extra expense equipment which would be required.

The supporters of this bill claim economy as its credit, by serving more students per class period. If this bill were to pass, students in many school systems will be denied specialized vocational training because the increased enrollment requirement needed to maintain the unit cannot be achieved, and the local school systems cannot afford to maintain the units without the present level of financial assistance received from the state.

Other proposed legislation would reduce all instructional units to ten months operation. This would impose a great burden on all the employers of students in the Cooperative Training programs, as well as the students themselves, since the time now required for ground work in preparation for student counseling, job interviews and placement of academic subjects would all have to occur after the school session begins.

The supervised projects of young farmers and many other services to the agriculture community by the Vocational Agriculture teachers would also be lost. The Homemaking teacher summer programs would also be a noticeable loss to many concerned participants in the community.
