Energy issue boiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is gearing up to tackle President Carter's wide-ranging energy proposals, with a special committee planned in the House just to deal with the package.

Carter will announce his program April 20 at a joint session of Congress, two days after Congress returns from its Easter recess. But preliminary disclosures of some of his proposals have already touched off lively debate on Capitol Hill. The proposals are expected to contain some new taxes.

To handle the many-faceted program in the House, Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill says he will name an "ad hoc energy committee" composed of 25 Democrats and 12 Republicans.

The proposal is an effort to ease the jurisdictional rivalries among House committees that have hampered consideration of energy legislation in the past.

O'Neill cited the chaos that accompanied House action in 1975 of a major energy package as a justification for such a panel.

All House committees that have some say over energy matters will be represented on the ad hoc panel, O'Neill said. He said at least seven committees are involved: Ways and Means, Public Works, Commerce, Interior, Armed Services, Merchant Marine, and Science and Technology.

Initially, parts of the energy package will be farmed out to these separate committees, which will then have 60 days to make their recommendations to the new panel, O'Neill disclosed.

He said the ad hoc committee will then put all the parts together so that the energy program can reach the House floor as a single bill.

"I hope it flies. No one has every tried to put together an overall policy like this before," O'Neill told a reporter.

He said the ad hoc committee would not change the substance of the work done on the package by the separate legislative committees, but might prepare amendments to be voted on by the full House.

O'Neill said he'll obtain formal House approval for setting up the panel on April 19 and appoint its members after Carter submits his energy program on the following day.

More than 125 House Democrats have already asked to be on the committee and that deciding its roster will be a hard job, O'Neill said.

"I think 50 per cent of the House is trying to get on this committee," he said.

The Senate does not have the same jurisdictional problems as the House, largely because of an internal reorganization earlier this year that established a new Energy and Natural Resources Committee to handle all energy legislation.

Headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., this committee will get the bulk of the President's energy package.

EASTER — Symbolic of the most important holiday of the Christian church are two young Big Spring children, dressed in their Easter finery attending a church of their choice. Tanya and Cameron Clinton are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dub Clinton. The symbols of Easter — new spring finery, Easter bunnies, and other traditions revolve around the story of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Industrial development stressed in land of tomorrow

Laredo rebounds after 'surprise' base closure

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles about two cities that have survived base closures and some of the things which happened in the process.

By MARJ CARPENTER

On April 17, 1973, the wing commander at Laredo Air Force Base was in the Officer's Club eating lunch. The local radio station barked out the news, "We have just learned that the Laredo Air Force Base will close down, probably by September."

The wing commander dropped his sandwich. The announcement was a complete surprise. And that was all the warning that Laredo had of the impending doom.

Big Spring came along at a time when a new requirement called for an environmental impact study to close down a base. The community then faced a full year of sparring for position. A year of battling went by to no avail.

Laredo civic leaders recall that they grabbed every available telephone and airplane and called and flew to Washington and fought vigorously for several days attempting to save their city's largest single employer.

"However, we were told right away that it was hopeless so very quickly we had to rally our forces and try to keep the community from an utter panic," Gen. (Ret.) Milton Adams, head of the Greater Laredo Development Foundation, recalls.

The base was completely closed down by Sept. 30 of the same year. Most people on the base were actually gone by August.

"We were stunned," Adams recalls. "I was a retired wing commander here and was already working for the industrial foundation. I knew this was the most efficiently run Air Training Command base in the nation. I couldn't believe it."

Adams chuckled, "But when we were closed, Webb was then the next most efficiently-operated base. I'm talking about cost per flying hour. It doesn't make much sense."

Laredo is normally a town that is heavy with unemployment because of the constant influx of the labor market from right across the river in the "Dos Laredos." The city has around 12 per cent unemployment, normally according to the Texas Employment Commission.

Right after the Air Base closed, unemployment rose to 17 per cent. Marta Pena, a high school student at Nixon High School, said, "I was a freshman. I remember people were all upset about so many people losing their jobs. It happened about the time school was starting. Nobody seemed to know what to do."

Marta, along with five of her girl friends, Sylvia Lozano, Adrian Romo, Cindy Gamboa, Aurora Luna and Mary Margaret Melendez are members of a drill team at Nixon High School, one of four high schools in the city.

They were at the Chamber of Commerce one morning last week to help with the industrial fair. The Industrial Commission really stresses industry in that city.

They were having industrial displays, a special luncheon with a visiting Congressman for speaker, and the local magazine "Saludos" had put out a special industrial edition.

At the same time the local newspaper, "The Laredo Times" ran a story that the Webb County Commissioners had finally come up with an endorsement of an industrial park development at an air base location.

The former air base is nearly full. The city took it over officially 20 months after the base closure date. However, the city actually was leasing property prior to that date, on a special agreement with the government.

Everything on the base has been leased to some small industry or office space or warehouse space, except the barracks. The industrial park is being formed to build a possible shopping center across the front acreage of the facility.

Things appear to be booming again in Laredo. A new bank had an official ground breaking there on Friday. This will be Laredo's fifth bank.

There are 96 sub-leases on the air base. This is not counting the housing which was handled separately, ac-ording to Col. (Ret.) Gail Peck, who is airport director.

The City of Laredo took over the base facility and changed the airport to an International Airport. "That sounds big, but we only have Texas International flying in here. Then we have four private fixed base operators at the airport," Col. Peck stated.

"The air terminal was completely remodeled and was funded by the Economic Development Administration two years ago to the tune of $1.37 million. The terminal building was reconstructed, a new entranceway was built directly from the highway to the Air Terminal, and all of the different buildings were placed on a separate metering system.

"We had some problems with figuring out charges on a single meter for the entire base when we started leasing out buildings."

The town is now about to get on its feet, in spite of the setback of losing the base and a second setback of the devaluation of the peso.

Both were hard on Laredo but it's hard to tell it now. The people who lived in the immediate vicinity of the air base remember the disaster of the closure more vividly than do their counterparts downtown.

Right after the base closed, apartments in many areas of the city were operating at only 40 per cent capacity. Trailer home parks were only ten per cent full.

Panic was about to hit when providence stepped in and deep gas was discovered near Laredo. Oil crews came pouring into town, along with truckers and related industries. They were hunting trailer courts and apartments.

"How lucky can you get?" asked Mayor Joe Martin Jr., who has been mayor of that city since 1954. "We worked hard to replace the payroll that left with the air base, but we lucked out on renters for the apartments and the trailer parks."

Easter will not be very egg-citing for Letitia

Letitia Hernandez spent most of this weekend studying spelling while others were enjoying the Easter holidays.

But Letitia, 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Johnny Hernandez, is excited about the prospects of competing in the regional contest at Lubbock next weekend.

She said, "I have been studying about two hours each evening after school and have spent most of my weekend going over the words."

Letitia is an eighth grade student at Runnels Junior High. Back when she was in Lakeview Elementary, she first entered the spelling contest when Mrs. Larson Lloyd was her teacher.

"I won in the fifth grade and the sixth grade, but in the seventh grade, I was defeated before I got to the county contest."

However, Letitia did not give up. This was her final year for competition and she worked hard at it. She even missed her favorite television show last week, "Starky and Hutch" because she was studying spelling.

Her favorite subject in junior high is English under Mrs. John Talmadge. "I won with the word asterisk but I'll have to know a lot of other words," she laughed.

Her father, the late Johnny Hernandez, was a draftsman for the city of Big Spring. Two of her sisters are married. She still has two sisters and a brother at home.

Letitia is a member of Sacred Heart Catholic church. Like all of her family, the church and the school are important to her, and so is the spelling contest for Letitia.

The faceless ones

with Tommy Hart

The simple, garden-variety millionaire would be lost in professional sports these days. The conglomerate, faceless and indifferent at the prospect of losing money, is very much in the saddle.

Anyone who maintains he is doing it because of his love for the endeavor is trying to sell you so much snake oil.

First and foremost in any multi-million dollar sports deal is the tax consideration. If the team the conglomerate might be buying is capable of consistently showing a profit, that's a plus — but it's not too important. A money-losing team can be just as valuable — depending on what other businesses the hydra-headed monster controls — as a big money maker.

Charley Finley of Oakland, the star-crossed character of the American League, can afford to absorb the losses sure to incur with the As as long as his insurance business prospers. If he prospers, in part, because he's able to keep his name in the papers as a party of controversy.

The late Joan Payton ran the New York Mets for years as if it was one of her favorite charities. Despite her indifference toward the box office receipts, the Mets made money. Who among us can identify anyone in the front office of the Houston Astros? Since the pace got a little swift for Judge Roy Hofheinz, the affairs of the club are being manipulated by people who are more at home selling cars and real estate.

Connie Mack operated in the biggies for years on the proverbial shoestring, as did Clark Griffith. There might be a place for both in baseball these days but it wouldn't be in business management, not in this era of the high rollers.

Action/reaction: Birds argument

Q. Two of my friends got into a fierce argument over birds. One said she had seen a flock of geese out on the Andrews highway. The other said there are never any geese in this country, and that she had to have seen Sandhill Cranes. Are there any geese?

A. One of the local bird watchers, Mrs. Ed Corson said there are geese that migrate through here every spring and fall. The local bird watchers and the Midland area birdwatchers have counted thousands of them at different times on bird counts. Either person could have been right. It could have been geese. It could have been sandhill cranes.

Bank robbery, murders

KODAK, Tenn. (AP) — Two bank employees and a customer were shot to death and a third employee was critically wounded during a robbery here Saturday, authorities said.

Police said the victims were apparently lined up inside the bank, a trailer, and shot "execution-style."

"I pulled into the bank parking lot about 10 a.m. and there was a man standing there," said Jack Whaley of Knoxville. "He told me, 'You better not go in there — something's happened.' I then walked to the back of the trailer, looked in the window and saw four people lying there."

"I could see the two men lying on one side and the two women were on the other."

Police, who questioned Whaley and the other man, said hundreds of spectators gathered at the Kodak branch of Citizens National Bank of Sevierville, causing traffic to back up on Tennessee 66.

FBI agent Harold Swanson said an unknown number of men escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

The state highway patrol in Knoxville said authorities had a description of the robbers' car, bearing North Carolina license plates.

Police said Kyle Beeler of Knoxville, who was the manager of the bank branch; Earl G. Underwood of Sevier County, a customer, and Linda Sims Davis of Sevier County, a bank teller, were killed in the robbery.

Bank teller Harriet Swaggerty of Sevier County was listed in critical condition at a hospital in Knoxville, authorities said.

Underwood was a Sevier County magistrate and director of rental properties for the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

Canned money in Big D

DALLAS (AP) — Alice Jordan and her husband spend an hour and a half each day digging through trash containers in affluent North Dallas looking for aluminum cans to sell.

Many people probably feel sorry for the couple. They shouldn't.

Mrs. Jordan said the can hunts have paid for vacation trips to Europe for the past three years.

"We had an especially good year this year," Mrs. Jordan said. "We're planning on Greece in the fall."

Many people like Dr. George Raymond are concerned about the people who swarm throughout North Dallas apartment complexes and residential areas looking for cans and bottles.

"I keep seeing this old lady every morning sneaking up to trash bags and pulling out aluminum cans and bottles," Dr. Raymond said.

"You can't just go up to someone and ask if they are starving or something," he said. "I mean they don't look ashamed or anything. You don't want to hurt their feelings. But I know it must be a terrible trauma to have to sort through trash cans."

Mrs. Jordan said she goes through the garbage out of greed.

"My husband and I walk five miles every day," she said. "And we don't come from another part of town. We live in North Dallas."

Don Sherman, a retired insurance executive, said he also scours the North Dallas apartment bins during his morning walk. His bounty last year brought in $1,500.

BOY AND BUNNY — This happy Easter bunny brings forth a matching smile from Joshua Wooten, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Wooten, 1509 E. 5th. Joshua and his parents will be joining other members and guests of Big Spring Country Club at the traditional Easter buffet which begins at 12 o'clock noon today. In addition, there will be a children's Easter parade and egg hunt.

Missing woman

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A faded 1973 Ford parked at an apartment complex here for the past two years has renewed Dallas police's efforts to find the driver, Mrs. Janice Kay Carrol.

Police Sgt. Elwood Hoherz said a fellow detective ran a check on the vehicle about a month ago after noticing it had not been moved for some time.

Dallas police said Mrs. Carrol, 35, vanished July 16, 1975 after she failed to return home from a softball game. She was employed at First National Bank here.

"The first time, we didn't get a hit, meaning the car didn't register to anyone indicating anything was wrong," said Hoherz. But (Det. Elden) Swenson went by there again and the car was still there. He ran it again and got a hit."

Hoherz said it seemed hard to believe the car could have been at the complex for two years without attracting someone's curiosity but added, "The complex is right there at Baylor University and there are students moving in and out all the time. Also, I understand they have changed apartment managers there two or three times in the last eight months so..."

Hoherz said the car, with 1975 license plates and inspection sticker, was inventoried by police and impounded. He said a hatchet was found in the trunk along with some beer cans and cigarette butts. Everything was shipped to the Dallas crime lab.

Both Waco and Dallas officers said nothing was found in the car to indicate foul play in Mrs. Carrol's disappearance.

Dallas police said they understood the woman was the mother of two children and that her family moved to Colorado sometime after she turned up missing.

Police said Mrs. Carrol reportedly had several friends here.

Refinery tax proposal to get airing Monday

By JIM DAVIS
Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The proposed state refinery tax, which has been marked by surprises, rumors, threats and fears of plots, will get its first full public airing Monday before the House Ways and Means Committee. It may die quietly soon after that.

A bill calling for a tax on refineries is nothing new to the Legislature. At least one has been introduced for the past several sessions.

But previously the bills always came from liberals and were easily snuffed out by the powerful conservative interests that normally dominate the Capitol. The surprise this year is that support has come from as high as Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and the sponsors in both the Senate and the House are among the top conservatives.

They want to tax crude oil going into refineries at 5 per cent of market value and use the income to wipe out property taxes by local school districts except for construction projects. Income would be about $1.8 billion for the coming biennium.

Property tax relief is a popular goal of this year's legislative term, so much so that the refinery tax proposal apparently is closer to passage than it has ever been before.

A popular argument for the tax is that it would put about 70 per cent of the burden on out-of-state interests which purchase Texas oil products.

An added bit of sugar would dedicate one-fourth of the income from the refinery tax to the Highway Fund, always a popular item with the conservative interests.

The proposal has particular strength in the Senate, where Hobby swings a lot of weight and powerful Sens. Peyton McKnight of Tyler and Bill Moore of Bryan are pushing for the tax. Add in the probable liberal support and the measure sounds like a sure bet.

But tax bills must originate in the House and the prospect of getting a refinery tax out of there seems slim. Gov. Dolph Briscoe said last week there was so little chance of passage of the bill he didn't see any reason to comment on whether he would sign it.

House Speaker Bill Clayton hasn't come right out and said he opposes the proposal, but in a letter sent out from his office the tax is called "undesirable."

The letter says there is no evidence that such a tax would hurt the Texas refinery business in competition with other states. It also says the expected new revenue would be less than the ad valorem (property) tax will produce for education.

Twenty representatives remain as co-authors of the bill to be presented to the committee Monday — including conservative powers Jim Nugent of Kerrville and Lynn Nabers of Brownwood.

Rep. Buddy Temple of Diboll, who is jokingly to replace Clayton as speaker and sponsored an unsuccessful refinery tax bill two years ago, at first signed up as a co-author but removed his name last month.

He said he had not known when he added his support that the bill called for taxing crude oil going into the refineries. His bill in 1975 put the tax on the outgoing refined products.

"I'm not sure what the effect of taxing the input would be," he said. It could cause higher prices for farmers because refineries produce some products used for agricultural purposes, he said.

Temple said he still might vote for the bill but he withdrew his name because of "uncertainty."

If Monday's hearing is anything like the one on refinery tax proposals two years ago, the House gallery will be packed with well-dressed executives of the oil and refinery industries.

Their spokesmen will argue that the tax will cause future refineries to be built outside Texas. Tax supporters will maintain that other states have taxes too and the tax is not going to cause any refinery to be moved elsewhere.

Views on the proposal will break down in the Legislature geographically in many cases. Refineries are principally clustered along the coast or in West Texas areas such as Big Spring and Lubbock. Representatives from these areas tend to oppose the proposed tax.

Rep. Joy Wyatt of Victoria, for example, is an opponent, and an important one. He is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee that will hear the bill and says it is unfair to put such a tax burden on a particular industry.

Sen. Carl Parker of Port Arthur thinks the whole proposal might have been just a way to stir up support for funding highway construction.

Under this theory, most lobbyists — other than the highway lobby — were not being too helpful in getting a well-funded highway bill through the Legislature. It was hard to stir them up because the big threat of any new tax on them had been removed by Briscoe's often-pronounced "no new taxes" policy.

When a new tax finally was proposed and Briscoe didn't unequivocally indicate that he would veto it, the lobby was given the impetus to show its loyalty by backing more highway money, Parker reasoned.

Another theory involves large landholders who are determined to get relief from school taxes and don't care what the refinery owners think. People who own oil in the ground just want to make sure it isn't taxed there, the promoters of this theory say.

Still others believe no one really ever thought a refinery tax would pass this year but there were other reasons for bringing it up: Perhaps to get support of an interim study. Or maybe just to stir things up and take the heat for tax reform off the legislators.

FACE TO FACE—Little Elaine Toffenetti got an early Easter treat from bunny stand-in Russell Armstrong at Webb AFB Saturday, when youngsters 3 to 8 years of age searched for the eggs the bunny left at the base pavilion. As it turned out, Elaine got to meet the Easter Bunny himself face to face.

Webb's personnel office will be issuing work calls

Webb AFB's civilian personnel office will be issuing work calls for many area youth to fill temporary jobs on base this summer. Special qualifications are necessary for lifeguard positions while applicants for other jobs can use skills they have or get on-the-job training to develop new skills.

To qualify as a lifeguard, the applicants must possess a current Senior Life Saver's Certificate or Water Safety Instructor's Certificate. In addition, Air Training Command requires lifeguards to have cardiopulmonary resuscitation training.

Students listed on the Summer Employment Register in the civilian personnel office will be the first ones considered as lifeguards. The federal government participates with private industry in the summer employment for needy youth. Eligibles are those educationally and economically disadvantaged in ages 16 through 21. Jobs are provided to the youths from low income families and for youths who need incomes from summer jobs in order to return to school in the fall.

Students who apply for the summer employment for needy youth should register with the Texas Employment Commission. The rate of pay under this program is the minimum wage rate set by the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Youths are not considered for a summer job in the same department or agency in which their father or mother is employed unless they are selected from the list of eligibles resulting from the examination, and employment has first been offered to all other available applicants with the same or higher scores.

JEFFREY NEWTON
Newton goes to Sheppard

SAN ANTONIO—Airman Jeffrey P. Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Newton of 1212 Lloyd St., Big Spring, has been selected for technical training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., in the Air Force communications field.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, and studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Newton is a 1976 graduate of Big Spring High School.

Gen. Bradley lauds Rommel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley, the nation's only living five-star general, considers German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel one of the 10 greatest military leaders of all time. He does not count Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Gen. Douglas MacArthur among them, however.

Prospective parents course

A course for prospective parents is planned by the Webb AFB hospital to last six weeks, beginning Thursday. Each Thursday's session lasts from 7 to 9 p.m.

Lt. Col. Joan R. Prusko, R.N., and Capt. Sandra Lazaroff, R.N., will conduct the series which covers: pregnancy, labor and delivery; physical and emotional changes in the expectant mother, attitudes of the family toward the new event; preparation for the baby; and bathing and care of the baby during the first three months.

Husbands and wives and all young adults are welcome.

Toastmasters give talks

The Junior Officer Council (now called Company Grade Officers Council) recently sponsored a demonstration meeting of Toastmasters at Webb AFB. More than 50 base people attended along with some Toastmasters from Lubbock and the area governor, Warren Rutz from Midland.

Purpose of the event was to show military and civilian personnel how they could improve their skills in listening, thinking and speaking.

Hasty RAP two selected

AIC James A. Doswell Jr., of Field Maintenance, and AB Jason T. Dowd, of Supply, both of Webb AFB were selected for project Hasty RAP. They will work with Air Force recruiters in their hometowns.

Airman Doswell will go to Newport News, Va., while Airman Dowd goes to Rockford, Ill.

Briefings for homeowners are scheduled Wednesday

Briefings for homeowners who will be affected by base closure are scheduled Wednesday at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. in Withycombe Hall at Webb AFB.

Open to military personnel and civilian employees, the briefings will answer most questions related to property and its disposition under the Homeowners Assistance Program.

Representatives from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will conduct the meetings. They will also be available, by appointment, on Thursday and Friday to handle all questions on an individual basis.

Individual appointments can be made at the conclusion of the Wednesday briefings.

Energy policy keeps us in dark

When it comes to an energy policy, Big Spring and the rest of the country wait in the dark.

President Jimmy Carter is expected to throw some light on the subject in about 10 days.

Then we'll know how bad the president feels Americans need to hurt.

LITTLE GLEAMS ARE leaking out like rays sneaking around a darkroom door. Some of them are hints by administration officials. Others are gossamer threads. There may be even a few trial balloons going up.

Big Spring, as an energy producing center, has more than just a passing interest in what President Carter proposes.

Rumors are that the President is holding firm on his pre-election contention that the nation does not need incentives for domestic drilling. Although I doubt his point of view would survive another Arab boycott, it does seem to have made it through the cold winter of 1977.

That Carter will not offer incentives for exploration is probably bad news for the independent oil operators of West Texas.

Other hints suggest that the Carter Administration's comprehensive energy policy will be a severe one. Hints like, "It will make Carter unpopular," or, "It will change the American lifestyle."

THE SPECULATIVE stories constantly predict that the President will put more tax on gasoline. The amount ranges from 10 cents to 50 cents a gallon, with 25 cents being an average guess. I doubt Congress would go along with anywhere near that much at once.

Dollar a gallon gasoline would affect the West Texas lifestyle, if not all of America. We drive our cars more out here where distances are so vast.

And we drive bigger cars, or at least we did. Speculation is that new mileage rules will, in effect, prohibit the big automobiles so many West Texans prefer.

The Texas goal of price deregulation also seems unlikely to be included in the energy package.

In among all this bad news, can there be some good? Rumors are that Carter will lean more toward nuclear power than his campaign for President indicated. I think perhaps he realizes there is no other choice.

But he said Thursday he prefers the more conventional types to the breeder reactors which could spread the bomb to places like Uganda.

A change in the Carter attitude toward nuclear energy could be a bright spot for Big Spring in the months to come, since Big Spring has been studied as a possible site.

Until the President unleashes his comprehensive energy program, there's nothing for us Big Springers to do but wait.

Sure hope the President knows what he's doing.

Spring break

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — There was a time when the college "spring break" took place during Easter vacation. Parents could plan on having all their children home at the same time. This cut down the cost of food and made it possible for the owners of the house to make appropriate plans to handle all the refugees at the same time.

BUT THIS HAS all changed and now each school in the country has its spring break at a different time, which means you wind up with one or more children at home any time from January to June.

This is how it goes now.

Mrs. Baker tells her husband: "George is coming home for spring break two weeks after Easter."

"When does Ellen go back?"

"Her spring break ends on Good Friday."

"She's been here for a month."

"I know they've had a longer spring break than usual because the school ran out of gas."

"When does Marsha get her spring break?"

"She had hers in January. She'll be home in April."

"Does she get two spring breaks?"

"No, she'll be home in April for the summer. Her school closes the day after Easter."

"What are we going to do with her in April? Our summer doesn't start until July."

"I HAVE NO idea. All her friends will still be in school and she'll probably drive us nuts."

"When is Freddy coming home?"

"He arrived last night. He said his spring break ends May 15th."

"What are we going to do with him?"

"He wants to go skiing in Colorado, but his girl's spring break starts in two weeks and he also wants to see her. He hasn't made up his mind what to do."

"I can't afford to send him skiing," Mr. Baker said, "and also pay his tuition at school."

"He's not sure he wants to go back to school after his spring break. He says he has only two more weeks before the summer vacation and it hardly seems worth it."

"Then why doesn't he get a job?"

"He says if he gets a job and then decides to go back to school he'll be cheated out of his spring break."

"What about Sarah?"

"I thought she was coming home next weekend, but it turns out she has the choice of a spring break or going with her class to Heidelberg. She decided to go to Heidelberg."

"Well, that's a break."

"The trip costs $2,000. She needs the check by Thursday."

"I'M NOT GOING to lay out $2,000 for her to go to Heidelberg."

"She says if you don't her teacher will flunk her in German."

"It was my understanding that when we sent our kids off to college we would see them at Christmas, Easter and in July and August. I think that's enough for any parent."

"Well, don't get mad at me. I don't make up the holiday schedules. Oh, by the way, your nephew Jody called this morning."

"What did he want?"

"He said his spring break starts on April 25th and he wanted to know if we could put him up with three friends when he comes to visit Washington."

"Wasn't it great," Mr. Baker said, "when all the kids lived at home and went to high school and we never saw them at all?"

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS

STRING GAMES

Idle hours can be passed enjoyably with a simple piece of string. There were many string games we used to play but I can't remember the steps to most of them. The names of some I used to do are: Cup and Saucer, Crow's Foot, Jacob's Ladder, Seesaw, Baskets and Cradle. The string we used was strong twine about 36 inches long with the ends tied together to form a big loop. Different games were started in different ways but usually the string was looped over both hands, then threaded back and forth over the fingers picking up loops from one hand with the fingers of the other, dropping them off some fingers and picking them up with others. The finished configuration resembled, remotely, what the name of the particular game implied.

For some of the more complicated games another person had to help you with some of the loops and sometimes you had to reverse your hands and turn them through the string. Simple string games like Cup and Saucer had only five or six steps while harder ones sometimes had fifteen to twenty but once you learned the steps your fingers could fly through the game so fast it would amaze anyone watching.

There was another game I remember in which you looped the string around your neck. With some practice you could appear to slice the string right through your neck. People watching you would demand to see how you did it but you could usually go through it several times before they caught on to the secret. Slicing a string through your neck was one game that had to be practiced carefully and mastered after you demonstrated it. A string game somewhat different to those mentioned was played by threading a large coat button onto a looped string. With the button in the center and the string looped over both thumbs you could twirl the button around a few times then start pulling in and out on the ends of the string to make the button go wild. The faster you pulled, the faster the button would go until it would finally start humming. It sure would tangle up in your sister's long hair if you got too close though.

String games were such a fun part of our past, I believe it would be worthwhile to teach them to our children.

JACOB'S LADDER

Alcohol can cause sugar drop

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have low blood sugar. Should I try to cut down on alcohol consumption? A friend of mine is diabetic and it has become a no-no for her. Low blood sugar is just the opposite from diabetes, as I understand it, so it doesn't make sense for me to have to cut back on drinking. Please straighten me out. —G.F.

Medical logic doesn't work that way. Alcohol must be used very carefully, if at all, by both diabetics and those with low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). The fact that one has too much sugar in the blood and the other not enough makes no difference. The important fact is that alcohol disturbs the correct sugar balance which both the hypoglycemic person and the diabetic must control. One actual cause of hypoglycemia in some persons is alcohol consumption.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In your reply on anemia you mention the cause as being poor diet, loss of blood, blood poisoning, bone marrow disturbances, etc.

I suffer from anemia and have recently been in the hospital. Why is it that several doctors have mentioned it can be caused by arthritis, but none ever puts it down in writing on reports? Can it be caused by arthritis? —M.M.

Eighty per cent of persons with rheumatoid arthritis may have a form of anemia. Just why this happens is not clear. There is no apparent cause-and-effect relationship. The anemia doesn't appear to affect the course of the disease either way. One authority suggests that iron supplements are perhaps worth a try. Improvement would be more apt to occur in women.

In medical reports the primary disease is usually the one noted. Listing of the expected secondary disorders is not necessary. For example, weight loss, enlargement of glands and fever are other symptoms associated with rheumatoid arthritis, but may not be listed.

If you had pernicious anemia (a primary disease by itself) or any major disorder of the blood-forming system, they would be listed in the report.

The aspirin therapy, used widely with rheumatoid arthritis, may contribute to anemia by promoting bleeding. For a more detailed explanation of arthritis and control methods see my booklet on the subject (35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Recently my gout has been getting more painful. I am 65 years old and a widower since ten years ago.

I'm told that my worsening gout is due to increased uric acid in my system brought about by the fact that I have had no sexual release. I've been told that the uric acid of gout doesn't accumulate if it is released through sexual discharge. I have resorted to masturbation to eliminate the acid buildup, and I must say that immediately my gout did improve. —G.C.

This is one of the more bizarre bits of conjecture I've heard. I can't conceive the physiological basis for it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will sitting on a cold stone wall harm you or cause constipation? —P.A.

No harm if you don't mind the coldness or hardness.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you recommend skin-planting to remove scars left by acne? —Miss E.T.

The success of this treatment (called dermabrasion) depends on the depth of the scars. With skillful use some scars can be helped and disguised quite effectively, but guarantees are not offered.

I have reports of both good and indifferent results. See a dermatologist and ask for a frank evaluation. He will be able to predict with some accuracy just how much the procedure can be expected to help in your case.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is a headache to be expected after a spinal tap? —H.D.

Yes, you can expect a mild headache, but it is not inevitable.

Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A few days ago a casual friend of mine committed suicide. I knew he had some problems, and now I feel guilty because I didn't do anything to help him. Are my feelings of guilt justified? —S.J.

DEAR S.J.: It is perfectly natural to feel some guilt if you knew that you could have done more for your friend than you did. Often we are embarrassed when we know someone has a problem; we try to avoid it, hoping it will go away or that someone else will handle the situation. But I believe many of us could be helpful to others if we would more directly try to help.

You will, of course, want to confess this neglect to God, and seek His forgiveness. Remember that He has promised to forgive us our sins when we sincerely confess them to Him and repent of them.

Although you can't change what has happened, remember that there are many other people in the world like your friend. I believe God will use this experience to help you see your need to be more sensitive to others. The problem, really, is that we do not love others as we should, and we need to pray that God will increase our love and concern.

Incidentally, if this man had a family, perhaps God could use you to help them in this difficult time.

The Bible says, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ" (Galatians 6:2). As a Christian you have a special responsibility and opportunity to show the love of Christ to others.

When Big Spring's Floyd Sorley entered the field of Education 36 years ago as a combination teacher and coach at Clifton, Tex., his annual pay was just under $900 a year. He later coached football at DeLeon and the sons of some of the players he taught teamed together to help DeLeon to a state championship a couple of years ago.

Floyd's son, Tom, now at the University of Nebraska, has every intention of giving the pros a whirl after he leaves college.

Education could be described as something you get when your father sends you to college but it isn't complete until you send your son or daughter there.

After all is said and done, it's the politicians who say it, and the taxpayers who do it.

I have to admire the man's candor but Gen. George Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, makes me shiver just a bit, too.

Brown told high-ranking military officers and government officials last year that Congress had meddled and behaved irresponsibly in defense and foreign aid.

"Congress seems very much to me like a man who is kibitzing a chess game," Brown told an interviewer, "and occasionally reaches in and moves a chess piece and thereby screws it all up."

Brown also remarked: "If any citizen of this country is so concerned about having his mail being read or is concerned about his presence in a meeting being noted, I'd say we ought to read his mail and we ought to know what the hell he has done."

The general also expressed the conviction that Israel's armored forces are stronger than those of the United States. If that be the case, it makes one wonder just what the Pentagon is doing with the record arms budget voted it by the Congress of the United States. Brown is the same military commander who wound up in the soup in 1974 when he contended that the Jews have an undue influence on U.S. banks and newspapers. Last year, he was moved to remark that Israel was a defense burden to the U.S., a remark which didn't exactly endear him to Zionists around the globe.

Brown may be destined for early retirement. His candor could, however, reflect the fact that some within the military are convinced foreign affairs are better left to those trained in the martial arts rather than those taking the burdens in the fields of diplomacy. If I were going to the horse track, I'd hate to carry the Pentagon's luck for backing a succession of dictators round the globe.

There've been about 3,200 persons buried in Trinity Memorial Park here since it was opened by Orville Shapland in 1950.

If Big Spring School Supt. Emmett McKenzie takes that superintendent's job at Alvin, as expected, he'll be paid something like 40 big ones, annually. That's about $4,000 more than he makes here.

I would say that the odds are good that McKenzie's successor, in case he does leave, would come from within the local ranks.

Dress designers will tell you that the deeper the décolleté plunge, the shakier our economy becomes. Long skirts are supposed to be a sign of economic hardships. Short skirts, on the other hand, signal that the economy is in sensational shape.

The English poet of the last century, William Wordsworth, is responsible for these gems of wisdom:

That best portion of a good man's life—
His little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love

It was also Wordsworth who wrote:

Speaking to a group of newsmen in Dallas recently, House Majority leader Jim Wright said:

"This country cannot afford to institutionalize an unemployment rate of 7% to 8 per cent. . . . Every time the unemployment rate goes up one per cent, the national debt increases by $16 billion."

Wright also professed admiration for President Jimmy Carter. Said he of the chief executive:

"He does not promise more than he can fulfill. It is better to promise less and achieve less than to promise more and not achieve one's goal."

The obituary of Harold V. Ratliff, the late, devoted sports editor of the Associated Press, was written seven years before he died. Harold, who was a great friend of Big Spring, had a stroke in 1970 which friends felt sure would do him in, after which the incumbent AP sports editor, Denne Freeman, set about to write the death notice.

One of the funniest routines ever to appear on television was the Nairobi Trio, a group of derby-hatted musical apes, created by the late Ernie Kovacs. It can be seen again at 9 p.m., Wednesday, April 20, on Channel 13. Kovacs, who exited from this world in 1962, was an original.

Pyron to map correct use of CB radios

Carl E. Pyron, engineer in charge of the enforcement division with the Federal Communications Commission office in Dallas, will be in Big Spring April 22 as featured speaker for a community-wide discussion on Citizens Band radio.

Pyron is expected to emphasize voluntary compliance on the part of individuals who own and operate CB radios. According to the enforcement officer, "bad things" can happen to those who don't follow FCC regulations, and the penalty can involve fines, imprisonment or both.

Pyron will not only discuss the proper methods of operating CB radios, but will explain why interference on local televisions and radios is often experienced. A question and answer period will follow his prepared talk. A highlight of the guest appearance will be a display of an FCC mobile monitoring van.

The public meeting is being held under the sponsorship of the Spring City Breakers which is headed by Layne Conners (Wolf Man). Conners said the club has asked Mrs. Polly Mays, mayor pro tem, to present Pyron with a "Key to the city."

The event will be held in the municipal auditorium, beginning at 7 p.m. It is free of charge, however, donations will be accepted from those persons who want to have the opportunity to win door prizes. Farm Testimony time lost

LAMESA — Dawson County farmers and ginners suffered a loss of an hour and three-quarters of testimony time as a result of a requested change from Washington D.C. to Lubbock. The loss of vital testimony time was discovered by Chamber of Commerce executive, Alan Bligh while he was in contact with the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

The Dawson County delegation had originally been granted two hours of testimony time in Washington, D.C.

However, because of the tremendous amount of testimony scheduled before the local delegation, a request was submitted for that time to be transferred to Lubbock where one of two field hearings will be held. Such a move was viewed as advantageous for the local delegation because of the closeness to home.

However, according to Bligh, the chamber has been advised each organization and individual will be limited to 15 minutes each at the field hearings.

Although the deadline for applications to testify was last Friday and Dawson County had planned to have only two spokesmen, the group is now submitting additional applications to testify since the time limit has been imposed.

The Lamesa Chamber has offered to assist anyone with their applications.

The OSHA hearings in Washington are expected to take two more weeks. The field hearings in Lubbock and Mississippi could take similar lengths of time unless arbitrarily ended. The cotton industry is apparently rallying in opposition to the proposed cotton dust standards which exceed those standards already in effect.

The proposals are apparently so drastic that they could result in the economic destruction of the cotton industry, according to Dawson County spokesmen.

The Lubbock hearings are scheduled to begin May 10 and a number of Dawson Counties plan to be on hand.

Ribbon winners from Lamesa high included these three youths along with Wayne Crane, Jenny Brown, Arditia Groat, Tony Barron, George Dominguez, Dennis Dings, Ginger Witte and Renee Shafer. Lamesa students also won several special awards.

Two assistance teams plan to visit Webb AFB

Two assistance teams plan to visit Webb AFB in the near future to discuss the impending installation closure.

William J. Sheehan, director of the Office of Economic Adjustment, and a party of two will arrive Thursday to meet with a group of local citizens to discuss the development of the base re-use plan. U.S. Cong. Omar Burleson, who represents Big Spring and Howard County in Washington, will also attend, as will representatives from the State of Texas Industrial Commission.

Joe Meis, deputy assistant secretary of the Air Force (Installations), accompanied by five others, will arrive next Sunday evening for talks the following day with base officials and community leaders. Meis was at Webb last month with outgoing Secretary of the Air Force Thomas C. Reed.

Meis became deputy assistance secretary of the Air Force March 11, 1976. He is the senior civilian assistant of the Air Force (Installations and Logistics) in the area of Installations management. As such, he is the point of final Air Force coordination and review on matters involving installations, real estate, facility construction, family housing and real property maintenance management worldwide.

Meis is a native of Hays, Kan., where he was born Feb. 24, 1922. He attended public schools in Sharon Springs, Kan.

He served with the 45th infantry Division at several stateside locations during the 1940s before going overseas in 1943 to take part in the assault landings at Sicily, Salerno and Anzio in Italy and in Southern France. He ended active duty with the military in 1946, but was recalled as a lieutenant colonel for service in Japan during the Korean War.

Meis is married to the former Louise E. Robertson of Abilene, Tex. They have three sons.

Trudeau vacationing

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has begun a 10-day vacation with friends in this coastal resort town about 60 miles south of San Francisco.

The prime minister may visit Los Angeles and Disneyland over the weekend, an aide said.

Trudeau reportedly was awaiting a report Friday on snowfall at Snowbird ski resort near Salt Lake City before deciding whether to follow through on plans to ski.

The prime minister's wife, Margaret, remained in Ottawa with the couple's three children. A Canadian reporter was quoted earlier as saying the couple had decided on a three-month trial separation, but there was no comment from the prime minister's office.

IT'S DEPENDABLE

Dependable yields of consistently high quality fiber even in drought years. That's what made LX 571 a long time favorite with farmers here about. And it's nice to know that you don't have to give up something else for drought resistance. Farmers appreciate the good gin turn-out of fairly long staple fiber which makes in the premium range under normal conditions.

At maturity you'll like the looks of LX 571's storm resistant bolls and at harvest you'll appreciate how well it strips one-time-over.

LX 571 along with other Lankart varieties accounts for over 60% of the cotton planted in the Altus Classing Office territory and have for a number of years... strong testimony from people who know how to grow cotton in this area. If you think this might be a dry year

CHECK THESE LX 571 CHARACTERISTICS:

- Good dryland cotton
- Good root system for drought resistance
- Top yields
- Good gin turn-out
- Medium early maturity
- Storm resistant bolls
- Excellent stripper variety
- Well-adapted to one-time-over harvesting

CHECK THESE RESULTS:

Information from cotton variety comparisons made in 1976 in various locations in Texas and Oklahoma:

- Childress, Texas
On dryland without fertilization LX 571 (Lankart) made 687 pounds of lint per acre. The cotton which was machine harvested had a micronaire of 4.7, staple length of 30 and a gin turnout of 28.8 percent.
- Haskell, Texas
In a dryland cotton variety test, LX 571 produced 685 pounds of lint to top the test and beat the second variety in the test by 12 pounds per acre. The fiber graded 50, had a staple length of 32, micronaire of 5.4 and a gin turnout of 29.5 percent.
- Wall, Texas
LX 571 also topped this test of eight varieties on non-irrigated land without fertilizer. It produced 544 pounds of lint with a staple length of 34. Micronaire was 4.7, solidly in the premium range.
- Delhi, Oklahoma
Under extreme drought conditions and without irrigation, LX 571 made a lint yield of 250 pounds per acre. The cotton graded 40, had a staple length of 30/32, a micronaire of 5.2. The gin turnout was 29.9 percent.
- Cooperton, Oklahoma
In this test on the Kenneth Boyd farm, Lankart LX 571 produced 348 pounds per acre of very good cotton. It graded 50 with a staple length of 33/32, micronaire of 5.0 and had a gin turnout of 28.6 percent.

Penny's 'Golden Rule'

As American begins its third century, the J.C. Penney Company will celebrate 75 years of service to the American consumer.

Founded as a small dry goods store in a western frontier town, the company has grown into one of the retailing giants of the 20th century with more than 2,000 stores in the United States, Puerto Rico and Europe. In 1976, the firm opened 75 new stores and did $8.3 billion worth of business.

In 1902, James Cash Penney opened a cash-and-carry store in a small frame building in the coal mining town of Kemmerer, Wyo. He invested his entire savings of $500 plus $1,500 he borrowed to buy one-third interest in the 25-by-40-foot store. Penney called his store the "Golden Rule," and his idea was to apply the Golden Rule philosophy to business. Penney died Feb. 12, 1971, after seeing his idea evolve into the unique business that J.C. Penney Company is today.

Although the company serves consumers principally through its nationwide chain of JC Penney department stores and its rapidly expanding catalog service, it is also the druggist of millions through its Thrift Drug subsidiary; insurer of hundreds of thousands of others through its JC Penney life, health and casualty insurance companies, and operators of 37 The Treasury discount stores and a chain of supermarkets.

In addition, Penney has extensive retail operations in Belgium and Italy under the names of Sarma and JC Penney.

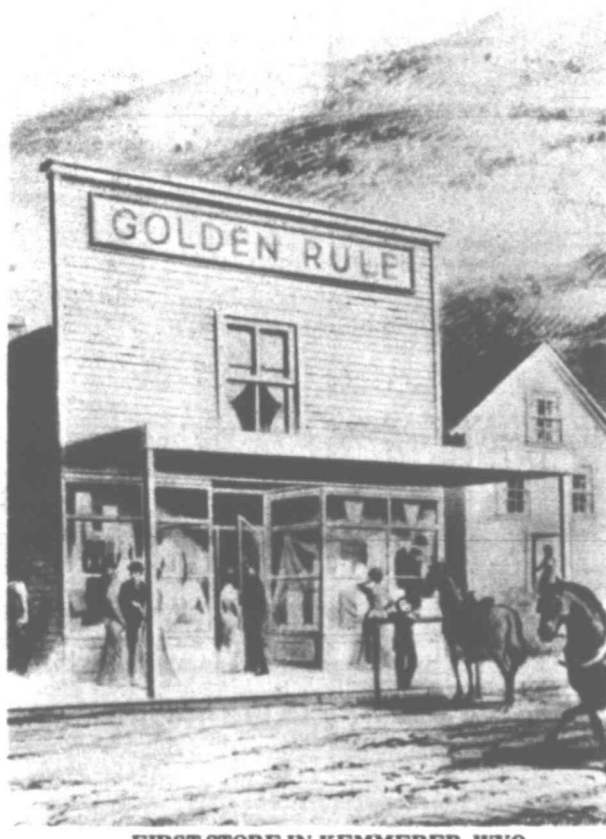

When Penney named his first stores the "Golden Rule" he knew it meant pioneering a new merchandising idea, radical in the cut-throat competition of the early 1900's.

He determined to sell merchandise at prices as low as possible and introduced the then novel idea of one price to all with no haggling. Many sales at small profits, he reasoned, were better than a few sales at large profits. Quick turnover of merchandise gives him a continuous flow of working capital.

Penny's first customers soon learned they benefited from his idea — values at the "Golden Rule" were better, prices lower. In the first year in that little store, homemakers bought $28,898.11 worth of merchandise, a remarkable amount for a store of that size at that time. From the beginning, Penney hoped to spread his storekeeping ideas to other small communities. He wanted to build a small group of Penney stores operating under partnership ownership. He hoped eventually to build "not a chain of stores, but a chain of men held together by an idea."

"YOU'RE A LIAR!"

SOMETIMES YOU FEEL LIKE TELLING THE WHOLE WORLD THAT. AND WHY NOT? YOU KNOW HOW THINGS ARE. IT SEEMS YOU CAN'T TRUST ANYONE ANYMORE. OR BELIEVE ANYTHING YOU SEE OR HEAR. PEOPLE SAY ONE THING AND DO ANOTHER. ALL YOU GET ARE FALSE PROMISES AND WORTHLESS GUARANTEES.

If that's the case, where can we put our trust? There has to be someone or something we can believe in. It's hard to live in a world where you can't depend on anybody or anything from one day to the next.

Well, there is someone you can put your faith in. And there always has been. He's the one person who has kept all the promises and commitments He has ever made.

His name is Jesus Christ. For 2000 years people like yourself have been able to put their total faith in Him. And thousands today are living proof that you still can.

Jesus said, "In this world you will have many trials and sorrows; but take courage, for I have overcome the world." Christians today are living proof that Jesus Christ can still deprive the world of the power to harm. That He is eternal, and can be trusted as much now as ever.

If you would like to know more about people who are living proof... if you need more information, or have made a decision to accept Jesus Christ... there are people nearby ready to share that with you. Please let them know.

Phones take giant jump

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-one million new telephones were put into operation over the globe during 1975, according to the latest edition of "The World's Telephones," a booklet published annually by the American Telephone and Telegraph's Long Lines department.

The number of telephones as of Jan. 1, 1976, the most recent statistics available, was 379.6 million, an increase of 21.2 million or 5.9 per cent from 1975.

Hong Kong, Taiwan and Turkey moved into the category of having a million or more telephones each, joining 33 other political entities sharing this distinction.

Still at the top of the list is the United States with 148,983,000 telephones. Japan is second with 44,789,101 and the United Kingdom is third with 21,030,053. The Soviet Union's 16,949,000 phones put it in fourth place.

Energy Deregulation clouded

By MAX SKELTON
(AP Oil Writer)

HOUSTON (AP) — David H. Foster says his crystal ball on natural gas deregulation has become a bit clouded in recent months.

Foster is the executive vice president of the Natural Gas Supply Committee, a producer group that has lobbied for years for deregulation.

Last Nov. 30, Foster confidently predicted the new 95th Congress would take up the matter quickly and that there was a good chance for passage before spring cherry blossoms appeared in Washington.

Foster had some justification for optimism. Deregulation had lost in the 94th Congress by only a two-vote margin and Jimmy Carter, as a presidential candidate, had indicated he favored decontrol of new gas production.

Foster is still optimistic for passage this year but acknowledges that deregulation once again has become a political enigma. He blames the weather, renewed charges producers are withholding supplies, and the emergence of a growing concern that free market prices for natural gas would not improve the supply situation.

Prior to this past winter, Foster said, producers had been hoping a return to a normally cold winter after three consecutive mild seasons might give congress and the consuming public a clearer message about the reality of the natural gas shortage.

"But this past winter, with record cold temperatures, with thousands of plants and schools closed and with millions of workers laid off from their jobs, was simply too severe, too tragic in its consequences to give a clear political message," he said.

"People were cold, they were economically hurt and they became angry. In such times there is always a very normal tendency to want the government to do more, not less, to solve the problem."

Foster said producers must factually combat the fresh wave of supply withholding charges or the industry will lose a credibility battle.

"Although these charges are, for the most part, old and obviously groundless, they have been revitalized by the new administration's zeal to do things better and cleaner and more responsibly," he said.

"Certainly, all of us hope they will do just that and put these charges finally to bed."

Foster said the third factor that has slowed down deregulation is the most serious of all.

"There has emerged a growing concern as to whether market clearing prices for natural gas will really do the job in terms of improving the supply picture at a socially acceptable cost to the consumer," he said.

He said proponents of such an argument contend there is not much natural gas yet to be discovered and, therefore, the only result of free market pricing would be higher consumer prices with no appreciable increase in deliverable supplies.

He added that such critics would extend price controls to intrastate markets and would try to make certain in some way, perhaps, a constitutional amendment, that producers understand once and for all that deregulation would never happen.

Foster said he feels producers are not taking this problem as seriously as they should despite a number of congressmen and members of the new administration finding it very appealing.

Oil company presents 25-year service award to Paul Sheedy

A 25-year service award has been presented to Paul Sheedy by Atlantic Richfield Company. The award was made by L.E. Vandever Sr., supervisor in the Coahoma Area.

He spent two years in the Armed Forces and returned as a roustabout in 1955. He has worked since that time as both a pumper and a roustabout in the Coahoma area.

The ritual took place at Atlantic-Richfield's monthly safety meeting in Coahoma.

Entertaining large gatherings of people can be inexpensive and easy if you choose a menu carefully. Eggplant is a tasty vegetable you can prepare in many different ways. The Greeks make an elegant dip out of eggplant in the following manner. Bake the vegetable whole for 30 to 45 minutes (depending on its size) at 375 F. Chop the meat of the eggplant and mix in 1/2 cup of onion powder, garlic powder, lemon juice and sugar. Then add 1/2 cup of mayonnaise. For a smooth texture, run the mixture through a blender. Serve this eggplant chilled on sesame crackers as a dip, or arrange it on a bed of greens for a side dish on the buffet table.

The WESTERN SIZZLER, 288 Gregg, 347-7444 would be very happy to help you with your next party. We can accommodate up to 120 people and we do all the work. Teen success in business

DALLAS (AP) — No one in Steve Bielamowicz's eight-member family can remember any gifts he got for his 10th birthday eight years ago, but they remember the day vividly.

It was the day Steve came down with the high fever that later was diagnosed as encephalitis.

For a six-month period Steve's family was given little hope that he would ever get out of bed again because brain damage was almost a certainty.

But a miracle happened and the brain damage was minor and today 18-year-old Steve is a high school senior and an enterprising businessman.

Two months away from his high school graduation, Steve is the owner of three rental houses in Dallas, purchased with his own capital and maintained with his own craftsmanship.

"Actually the third house I bought doesn't really belong to me yet," says young Bielamowicz. "I got a loan from the bank to buy it, but I hope to have it paid off soon."

Steve spends most of his time in school, at his 12-hour per week job in a grocery store and keeping watch over his rental property.

It was wages from his job as a grocery sacker, paper boy and summertime yard worker to take his first step into real estate two years ago.

He bought a HUD repossessed home for $2,050, taking almost all of his savings.

Young Steve then bought paint and a little lumber, rolled up his sleeves and went to work repairing the two-bedroom frame house. In a short period, young Bielamowicz had rented out the house for $110 per month.

Soon he was building up his savings account again. As soon as he had enough money saved, he bid $1,350 on a two-bedroom brick home and invested another $1,000 in materials.

He has completed a new roof for the home and is now working on the interior.

"I hope to have it ready by May," he says. "I've already got a family ready to move into it as soon as it's ready."

(AP WIREPHOTO) YOUNG BUSINESSMAN — Steve Bielamowicz, 18-year-old Dallas high school senior, is shown doing repair work in one of the three rental houses in Dallas, Tex., purchased with his own capital and maintained by his own craftsmanship. Steve spends free time watching over his rental property and working 12-hours weekly at grocery store.

Even as the remodeling work on the second house is progressing, Steve purchased the third house.

ODESSA — Reminds some people of making cheese the old fashioned way — the manner in which the Big Spring Steer baseball team is making its bid for a share or maybe even sole possession of the first half District 5-4A crown.

The cream rose to the top of the churn in Odessa Saturday afternoon in the form of home runs by catcher Kyle Pfeiffer and rightfielder Mike Harris, and two hits by second sacker Steve Evans, who knocked in two runs.

The 6-2 victory over the Broncs was not as close as the score sounds. The Bovines had 12 men left on base, while Odessa could only get a total of seven on all day, two by errors, two by walks and three by hits.

Offensively, the locals weren't as potent as they should have been, with only eight hits. Usual power-man Frankie Rubio went hitless in three trips to the plate, striking out twice.

But the "Rube" was credited with his fifth pitching win of the district campaign against no setbacks, as he gave up only one hit, no earned runs, and whiffed eight Bronc busters.

Charlie Vernon relieved Rubio with one out in the fifth, as coach Tom Collins decided to save his pitcher's arm for the San Angelo game Tuesday. Vernon gave up two hits, one run and struck out one batter.

The Steers scored their first run in the second inning as big Mike Harris took two strikes and a ball from OHS hurler Johnny Sullenger and then sent the next looping curveball screaming over the leftfield fence, 315 feet away.

The round-tripper tied the score at one-all, as Odessa had scored in the first on a combination of a wild pitch, error and passed ball.

Catcher Kyle Pfeiffer then led off the third frame by sending the ball to almost the same spot Harris did for his homer.

A few tense moments occurred in the third inning, as Frankie Rubio and first baseman Tony Mann went after a pop up fly and collided. Both hit the dirt and stayed their for a few seconds, but both players were able to shake off the cobwebs and continue play.

The Steers scored three times in the fourth, as Jones hit a double over the third baseman's head, Spence got on first on an error, and then Evans sent Jones home with his single. Another error on Odessa's second baseman sent Spence and Evans home.

The locals tallied their last run in the fifth, when Jones stepped on the diamond after Evans hit his second leftfield liner of the day. Jones had stolen second base after singling, to set up the run.

Vernon only needed three pitches to retire the Ponies in the sixth inning, but found himself with loaded bases in the seventh, as the hosts were trying to work up a mild sweat on the Steers by getting on by way of a hit, a walk and an error.

John Morrison of Odessa sacrificed his buddy John Presley in, but then Vernon struck out the next batter, and Adams grounded to Vernon for the easy play at first to end the game.

With Saturday's shocking 15-1 upset of Abilene by Midland Lee, and a subsequent 13-10 victory by Cooper over Midland High, the Steers remain in a tie for the first half lead with Cooper. Both teams hold 5-1 records.

The Steers will play their final game of the first half Tuesday afternoon at 4 p.m. in Steer Park against question mark San Angelo. If the locals can knock off the Bobcats and Abilene can tame the Cooper Cougars, Big Spring will have sole possession of the first half crown.

Watson, Crenshaw lead Masters

TOM WATSON
Tied for lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Tom Watson, grimly determined to avoid the collapses that have tormented him in his last two starts, rammed in a birdie putt on the final hole and tied dynamic Ben Crenshaw for the third-round lead Saturday in the 41st Masters golf tournament.

Watson's downhill, five-foot effort on the two-tiered 18th green finished a round of 70 and gave him a three-round total of 209, seven under the grudging par on the 7,030-yard Augusta National Golf Club course.

Crenshaw, who typifies the power and pride of the youth movement that has swept the tour this season, muscled his way to a 69—talking to the ball in flight, twisting his stocky frame in body English, dancing in delight when a go-ahead putt dropped, visibly agonizing when another putt missed.

Watson, winner of two titles and a leading $135,000 in winnings this season, and Crenshaw shared a one-shot advantage over Rik Massengale going into Sunday's final round of this, the first of the year's four major tournaments.

Massengale bolted into his high position with a five-under par 67 that put him at 210.

Jack Nicklaus, the famed Golden Bear who has won this prestige-laden tournament a record five times, shook off his putting woes with a 69 that left him very much in contention at 212.

He was tied with Jim Colbert, who had a 69 in the sunny, warm spring weather.

The group at 213, only four strokes back and very much in the race for the famed green jacket that goes to the winner, included Hubert Green, South African veteran Gary Player, Tom Kite and 44-year-old Rod Funseth, who shared the second round lead with Watson.

Funseth went to a 74. Player, the only foreign winner this tournament has produced, had to come back from a crippling double bogey to shoot 72.

1st baseball weekend hectic

By The Associated Press
Mike Ivie's two-run triple in the ninth inning broke a 3-3 tie and triggered the San Diego Padres to a 6-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Saturday.

Ivie tripled off Cincinnati relief ace Rawly Eastwick to knock in the winning runs. Bill Almon's single knocked in Ivie with an insurance run in the nationally televised game.

In other National League day games it was St. Louis 8, Pittsburgh 2; the New York Mets 8, Chicago 6 and Montreal 4, Philadelphia 3. In American League afternoon action it was Milwaukee 3, the New York Yankees 2; Texas 5, Baltimore 1; Kansas City 16, Detroit 2; the Chicago White Sox 3, Toronto 2, and Oakland 7, Minnesota 4. Cleveland at Boston was postponed by cold weather.

In Pittsburgh, the Pirates were rocked for four first-inning runs by St. Louis. Bake McBride had three runs batted in for the Cards. Lou Brock tripled on the game's first pitch by Bruce Kison and came home on a grounder by McBride, who added a solo homer in the second and a run-scoring single in the eighth.

Pinch-hitter Joe Torre's tie-breaking two-run double in the ninth inning powered the Mets past Chicago. The Mets got two-run homers by Dave Kingman and Roy Staiger. The Cubs got one by Bobby Murcer. Montreal struck for three home runs in the sixth inning—a two-run shot by Ellis Valentine and solo blasts by Tony Perez and Gary Carter—to nose out Philadelphia.

A two-base error by right fielder Reggie Jackson paved the way for three unearned Milwaukee runs in the fifth inning that gave the Brewers their victory.

Jackson dropped Jim Wohlford's drive in right-center after a long run and Charlie Moore sacrificed Wohlford to third. Von Joshua grounded to second and Wohlford beat Willie Randolph's throw home for the Brewers' first run. Joshua stole second and scored on Robin Yount's single. Yount raced to third on a hit-and-run single by Cecil Cooper and scored as Sal Bando bounced into a force play.

Juan Beniquez drove in three runs and Gaylord Perry pitched a five-hitter for Texas. Beniquez sliced a two-run double to right in the third inning and singled to drive in a fourth-inning run.

Al Cowens drove in four runs and George Brett hit a three-run homer in Kansas City's rout of the Tigers. The Royals scored nine runs in the third inning, three on Brett's homer, and two on a triple by Frank White. Alan Bannister singled for one run in the fifth inning, then scored the White Sox' winner on Richie Zisk's single. Earl Williams slammed a sixth-inning homer to propel Oakland over Minnesota.

In night games it was Atlanta at Houston and San Francisco at Los Angeles in the National League and California at Seattle in the American League.

WANTS TO BE FREE — Dave Kingman of New York Mets exercises with bat prior to Saturday's Chicago Cubs-New York Mets game in Chicago. Kingman is in midst of bitter salary dispute and repeated earlier how he would not sign 1977 Mets' contract if he was not under contract by opening day.

'Jimbo' to beat 'Nasty'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jimmy Connors has already beaten Romanian Ilie Nastase in head-to-head combat twice so far this year. So local oddsmakers feel that "Jimbo" will make it three in a row Sunday in the $100,000, winner-take-all final of the 1977 World Championship Tennis Challenge Cup.

Nastase won the initial WCT Challenge Cup competition in Hawaii last year. Connors did not play in that tourney. Although Nastase is the only player in the world to hold a career edge over Connors, Sunday's match will be on Connors' home court at Caesars Palace.

Nastase has won 15 of the 21 meetings between the two men over the past six years, but Connors has won 13 straight matches at the famed hotel on the Las Vegas strip in the past 27 months, earning $760,000.

While betting on sporting events staged within Nevada is illegal, most sports books here make Connors an "unofficial" 2-1 favorite. The best-of-five set match will be nationally televised by NBC.

Nastase is not discouraged by Connors' home court advantage or the feelings of the oddsmakers.

"I'm looking at my game, and right now it's pretty good. I'm on my game now," Nastase said.

Nastase insists that the real pressure is on Connors, the No. 1 ranked player in the world.

"He'll have the problem because he'll have to prove that he can't lose here," Nastase said.

The heat and wind bothered Nastase considerably when he lost to Connors in a $250,000 match in Puerto Rico in early March.

Although the wind won't be a factor here because the match will be indoors, temperatures have been in the upper 80s this week, and the sports pavilion could heat up a bit if a capacity crowd of 3,500 fills in. Should the arena begin to heat up, the players' ages may become a factor. Connors is 24; Nastase 31.

In the past several days, Nastase and Connors have been cool toward each other. Some believe they are feuding. There has been none of the friendly chatter or banter which the two "bad boys of tennis" used to exchange.

No one really knows for sure what the apparent disagreement stems from, but Connors' old manager and confidante, Bill Riordan, will be on Nastase's side of the court on Sunday.

Teenagers set two records in AAU's

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Two American teenagers, Olympic gold medalist Jill Sterkel and Bonnie Glasgow, and Canadian Olympian Nancy Garapick set records Saturday in qualifying for the national Amateur Athletic Union indoor swimming meet.

Miss Sterkel, 15, a high school sophomore from El Monte, Calif., who swam on the United States' gold medal winning 400-meter freestyle relay, lowered the 100-yard freestyle mark.

Miss Sterkel's time of 49.72 seconds wiped out her own American standard of 49.85 set a year ago.

Miss Glasgow, 17, from Baltimore, set American and American open records in the 200 individual medley in the Branin Natatorium. She clocked 2:04.61, erasing the mark of 2:04.74 set by Jenni Franks of Wilmington, Del., in 1975.

However, her open standard lasted only minutes. Miss Garapick, an Olympic backstroke, claimed the mark two heats later with 2:03.73. She is not eligible for the national record because she is Canadian.

John Naber, swimming in his last individual competition, failed to qualify for the 100 freestyle finals. The king of the backstrokes, retiring from the sport after this short course competition, was timed in 45.19, far off leader Andy Coen's pace of 43.80.

The 100 freestyle final Saturday night was expected to be a close duel among Coen, No. 2 qualifier Jim Montgomery and third-place Joe Bottom. Montgomery, the Olympic 100-meter freestyle champion, was timed in 44.42. Bottom, a University of Southern California star, did 44.53.

Scott Spann, an Auburn University freshman who won the college crown last month, paced the 200 individual medley trails with 1:50.88, more than two full seconds slower than his national record.

READY FOR ANOTHER FIGHT — Muhammad Ali, right, clowns with Alfredo Evangelista of Spain, left, as promoter Dong King tries to keep them apart during a New York news conference, Wednesday. During the conference it was announced that Ali and Evangelista have planned a heavyweight title fight for May 16, in Landover, Md. It will be Ali's first title bout since last September.

Ali will fight again

NEW YORK (AP) — "You ask, 'Well who is he?'" said Muhammad Ali. "You didn't know who Jimmy Carter was until he won."

The heavyweight champion was talking about his scheduled May 16 title defense against Alfredo Evangelista of Spain at the Capitol Centre in Landover, Md.

"I'm gonna take this fight seriously," Ali said at a news conference Wednesday to formally announce his first fight since his disputed, but unanimous decision over Ken Norton last Sept. 28.

Then in the next breath Ali was talking about fighting the winner of a Jimmy Young vs. winner of the May 11 Ken Norton-Duane Bobick fight.

Of course Bobick could be a problem for Ali even before they meet in the ring.

Madison Square Garden

Evangelista is listed as No. 8 in the World Boxing Association's rankings and 10th by the World Boxing Council.

His loss to Zanon in Evangelista's home town of Bilbao made his record 13-1-1 according to The Ring Record Book, and 16-1-1 according to Eddie Mafuz, Evangelista's American representative. Mafuz, who also interpreted for Evangelista, said all the victories were by knockout.

Some of the victims include Jose Urtain, Rudi Lubbers, Bepi Ros and Lucien Rodriguez.

For the opportunity to prove "that he has the ambition and the ability to be the heavyweight champion" Evangelista will get $85,000.

Ali is guaranteed $2.7 million for the fight, which will be carried live by ABC as part of a television tripleheader. The other two fights are not set, but one could be a World Boxing Council junior lightweight title defense by Alfredo Escalera of Puerto Rico against Tyrone Everett of Philadelphia in Philadelphia.

YOUNG IDEAS
By DICK YOUNG

IT'S A YEAR FOR A YOUNG, HUNGRY CLUB

It's different this time. How you gonna figure Graig Nettles' dissatisfaction, Thurman Munson's pique, Dock Ellis' unrequitedness, when calculating the Yankees' pennant chances? How do you relate Pete Rose's disenchantment to a .290 team batting average when figuring the Reds' chances? Will Dave Kingman's depressed psyche make him strike out more for the Mets. Can he strike out more? Will he be with the Mets?

This time, I'm tempted to pick with a pin, the way people pick horses. Fundamentals still count, but it's not that simple any more. Now you have to look inside a man's head, inside another man's bank account, inside a clubhouse door to anticipate the morale factor.

THE YEAR TO LOOK FOR INTANGIBLES

Of all the years of your life, this is the year to look for intangibles. This is the year a young club, a hungry club, can steal a pennant from a rich club, a fat-cat club. This is the year a team can have it all on paper, and not have it at all. This is the year when a team that doesn't figure, a team full of Mark Fidryches, a bunch of young guys playing together for the sheer hell of it, the pure joy of it, instead of hating the guy next to him because he makes 10 bucks more, or 10 thousand more, or 10 times 10 thousand more; can hustle the pennant while the big stars are eaten up by envy.

And even that premise has a flaw. It all depends...

... It all depends on how they get off," figures Ralph Houk. "If a club with a lot of big stars gets off good, that jealousy stuff will take care of itself. If not, if they come to the ballpark saying, 'That sonofabitch isn't earning his pay' then it can be a long season."

Ralph Houk has seen it both ways. He has managed Yankee clubs that won with superstars, and Yankee clubs that finished 10th with much the same guys. He has been molding a bunch of kids and a few veterans into a new unit at Detroit, the kind of club that fits the could-steal-it mold of this uncertain season, but Mark Fidrych had to go tear up his knee in Florida, and there went Ralph Houk's season. There went a lot of ticket sales for the Tigers, and for the other clubs around the American League.

And so I will stab elsewhere in the AL East. How does Milwaukee grab you? Young. Coming. Went into the free agent pit just once, for Sal Bando. The young Brewers can't resent Bando. He had paid his dues. There will be no dissension there. Alex Grammas can hold them together.

The Red Sox, they had their dissension last year. They came apart with Fisk and Burrell and Lynn holding out, getting hoed, brooding. They had the bad green taste in their mouth. They, too, could finish ahead of the more talented, the deeper Yankees.

And then there are the Calangels over in the other division. The Calangels are part parent player and part poverty player. Gene Autry matched George Steinbrenner check for check, million for million, free-agent for free-agent, but the chemistry is different. The Angels had not been winners before. They did not have champion players resentful of newcomers riding in a Rolls Royce. The Calangel newcomers are low-key guys, easy to take, easy to mix.

"Rudi, Baylor, Grich, they are solid-type ballplayers, men who play to win," said a manager in the AL West. He didn't want to be quoted as picking a team over his own. "Add those guys to the pitching they have, and you're looking at a team that's gonna be awful tough."

I agree with him. They seem to have added the big bats without buying the headache. KC, the defending champ, is having pitching troubles. The Calangels and Texas Rangers both could move ahead of the Royals.

That's how I see it: Angels, Rangers, KC, the unblivened un-Campellized Twins, the disintegrated A's, the struggling White Sox, the brand new Seattle in the AL West; and in the East, a wild stab at the Brewers, then the Red Sox, the Yankees, the on-coming Tigers, the nest-flown Orioles, the poor Indians, and the brand new Toronto.

The Mets are neither as good as Don Grant thinks they are nor as bad as Tom Seaver says they are. They finished 10 games over .500 last time, with much the same team.

Braves snub Farrah

ATLANTA (AP) — Wanted: a "leader of men" to throw out the first ball for the Atlanta Braves at their home baseball opener Friday.

A spokesman for the National League team says they're not having much luck finding one.

The club already has asked Jimmy Carter, his mother "Miss Lillian," actress Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Canadian Prime Minister Elliott Trudeau's wife Margaret, actor Sylvester Stallone and Queen Elizabeth of England.

All turned down the offer, except television and poster star Farrah, who indicated she'd toss out the first ball for $50,000, said Bob Hope, the Braves' public relations director.

The Braves turned her down, he said.

Hope said he had been counting on the Carters, who "had informed the team that either the President or his mother, Miss Lillian, would be on hand."

But Thursday, Miss Lillian said she couldn't make it. And Friday, the White House said the President couldn't make it either.

"All I wanted was a leader of men," said Hope.

So he finally called former President Gerald Ford.

"I was a little hesitant since Carter is a Georgian, but I figured it was certainly appropriate because Ford was President," he said.

A Ford spokesman said the former President might make the appearance, and Hope is hoping for confirmation Monday.

Ferguson's blast leads Astros past

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros catcher Joe Ferguson says he was at the mercy of Atlanta reliever Bob Johnson in the 11th inning Friday night but Johnson might disagree.

Ferguson mercilessly blasted a solo home run in the 11th inning to lead the Astros to a 3-2 season opening victory over the Braves.

"You're really at the mercy of the pitcher in a situation like that," Ferguson said. "He knows you can hit it out of the park and he'll try not to give you a pitch you can hit."

Johnson, who relieved starter Andy Messersmith to start the 10th, couldn't keep it away from Ferguson however.

"I wanted to hit it somewhere in an alley," Ferguson said. "I was the last guy in the lineup with a chance to do something like that. I just wanted to hit it somewhere to get on base and score a run. But I got it up and out of the ball park."

The Braves got the early lead when American League transfer Jeff Burroughs blasted a two-run homer off Houston starter J.R. Richard in the first inning.

The Astros scored one run in the first on a sacrifice fly by Jose Cruz and tied it in the sixth on Willie Crawford's double.

That's how the score remained until Ferguson ended it in the 11th with a leadoff homer on the second pitch from Johnson.

An opening night scored of 25,871 in the Astrodome was Houston's largest opening day crowd in 10 years and Richard said it makes a difference.

"The crowd helped me more than anything," said Richard, who last year became Houston's second 20-game winner in the team's history. "They really got me charged up to pitch."

Burroughs, obtained by the Braves in exchange for five players from the Texas Rangers, said moving over to the National League won't be a disadvantage.

"I don't think it will take a year for me to get used to National League pitching," Burroughs said. "After you see a pitcher once or twice you should be ready. But you can't guess right all the time with any pitcher even if you see him for 20 years."

Richard and Messersmith both left in 10th. Ken Forsch replaced Richard and got the victory, while Johnson replaced Messersmith and got the loss.

Arnie plays for the fans

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — It's Arnie's Army — those worshipping, unflagging fans — that stoke the fire in Arnold Palmer's golf clubs.

Birdsong is still singing

HONOLULU (AP) — Otis Birdsong of Houston scored 27 points to spark the South squad to a 120-110 victory over the East team Friday night in the Aloha College Basketball Classic.

In an earlier game in the second night of action, the Midwest downed the West 123-102.

The south's victory was its second of the tournament.

Mike Glenn, a hot shooting guard from Southern Illinois, picked up where Birdsong left off and finished with 21 points while Cedric Maxwell of the University of North Carolina-Charlotte had 20.

Ed Jordan of Rutgers paced the East with 22 points and Tony Hanson of the University of Connecticut added 20.

In the first game, Kim Anderson of the University of Missouri scored 23 points as the Midwest blitzed the West in the second half.

The West, badly beaten Thursday night by the South, trailed by only four points, 58-54, at halftime.

But even then, Arnie says, the fire sometimes goes out.

"The fans — they're the reason I'm still playing," the 47-year-old links legend said, contemplating his 23rd tee-off today in the Masters Tournament. "I don't feel that much of an obligation to the sponsors, the game itself or my personal pride any more."

"The fans want me to play. They tell me so in thousands of letters. So I play — play perhaps more than I should."

"I'm inspired, but this creates a serious problem. In the early days I played my behind off to finish as high as I could — 10th or 15th. Today that's not good enough. It's not enough just to finish high. They want me to win."

"I am sure it has cost me tournaments. When I see I can't win, it takes some of the fire out."

Afire or cold as a herring, Palmer continues to create magnetic sparks in the game, particularly here at Augusta where his popularity and flare for drama turned the Masters into one of the premier events of sports.

This was never more apparent than Wednesday, the final practice day, when Palmer played nine holes with the defending champion, Ray Floyd, and long-mark rose to 500-217, trumpeting a coaching career that began inconspicuously two decades ago.

The personable Pan Am mentor has hit a few sour notes along the way.

His first team—the 1957 University of Dallas squad—lost its first 22 games.

"We had all freshmen," he recalled. "They did the best they could."

hitting Tom Weiskopf, one of the tournament favorites.

It was a onesome and a twosome. Moving from green to tee, Floyd and Weiskopf proceeded almost without interruption while Palmer was besieged by hordes — men voicing encouragement, "Go get 'em, Arnie," goggle-eyed ladies, and tykes no bigger than a six-iron.

"I don't know why the kids keep coming around," Arnie said, signing every sliver of paper thrust in his grasp. "Some weren't even born when I began winning here."

Once when Palmer nailed a drive down the middle of the fairway, somebody in the gallery yelled, "This is the year, Arnie." Then came an echo from another direction, "Yeah, if you'll start putting."

It hasn't been Arnie's year since early 1973, when he won the Hope Classic. He hasn't captured a major crown since the 1964 Masters, his fourth in seven years.

His hair has streaks of gray now. He holds a menu two feet away to read the small print and he cocks his head when spoken to because his hearing is not so good in one ear.

ARNIE'S AT IT — Arnold Palmer, winner of four Masters Tournaments, hits the ball out of the sand during a Wednesday practice round for the 1977 Masters in Augusta, Ga. Play will begin Thursday.

Ogletree gets 500 at Pan Am College

EDINBURGH, Tex. (AP) — To his players, Al Ogletree is a saint. To Pan American University baseball fans, he's a dynasty builder. To opponents, he's the devil in disguise.

Earlier this week, Ogletree notched his 500th career victory, joining but a handful of collegiate coaches who have reached that lofty plateau.

The silver-haired Ogletree reacted to the milestone in his typical, unassuming manner.

"We've had some big victories, I guess," he said softly. "But it's the friendships you develop over the years with your players and fellow coaches that I remember most."

"He's a first-class gentleman," noted a long-time Ogletree associate. "You can't help but love the man."

Pan Am captain Steve Dunn iced Ogletree's 50th victory celebration cake with a three-run home run in the first inning as the Broncos slapped South Dakota State, 8-3.

The victory lifted Pan Am's record to 30-18 for the season. Ogletree's career

Subscription increase explained

I have been asked to explain the mudpie fight between Art Lawler, associate sports editor of the Abilene Reporter and Jack Cowan, ex-Big Spring sports editor and newly designated (as of today) sports editor of the San Angelo Standard Times.

It's a long story but I'll try to condense it down, hopefully in time for the District 5-4A track meet next weekend in Abilene.

First of all, the whole mess started when Abilene Cooper's track coach Glenn Petty, who has a rep of being somewhat sanguine, thought there should have been a violation on the San Angelo sprint relay team for passing out of the exchange zone.

Petty was also upset about an alleged SA "jumping" from the 100-yard dash blocks, and also because his pole vaulter wasn't given the customary three tries at a new meet record.

Then Petty and Ken Fannon, the Angelo track coach, exchanged words about the whole situation and Lawler just happened to be standing in their midst and recorded the incident as he saw it. That was in last Sunday's paper.

Atrocities misspelled

Tuesday, Cowan, usually a defensive stand-out in column making, elected to carry the ball himself and gave Lawler a little skin-scraping for his account of the "atrocities".

"People in Abilene who didn't attend the SA Relays but relied on Lawler's report must have the feeling the entire city of San Angelo spent all of March plotting how to best cheat the Cooper athletes," wrote Cowan.

But Lawler, who is known as a firebrand on offense when it comes to column writing, probably took offense from the quote "you get the impression Lawler followed Petty around like a puppy the whole meet."

If you think I answer my critics, you should see Lawler. The next day (Wednesday) Lawler's column was headed up "The Great Coverup Pilot". Cowan is very good with those passive-aggressive potshots that come in like V-2 rockets over London, but Lawler pulls his Howitzer right up to your front door and blasts away.

Used car salesman

HEADING FOR THE FLAG — Isao Aoki of Japan hits out of the sand at number 4 hole during Saturday's round of the Masters Golf Tournament in Augusta, Ga. The ball is shown at the edge of the flag marking the hole and continued to drop in the cup for a birdie shot.

"If Cowan, not Ron Ziegler, had been press secretary for Richard Nixon, chances are the Republicans would still be in power today," grape-shotted Lawler in his lead graph. That right there would have made any respectable Democrat mad as hell.

Cowan is an Independent but the quote was effective anyway.

But again, retutations and counter-retutations ignored, I told you Lawler didn't like being called a puppy, so he came back with a dog-image himself: "His mouth foaming now, Cowan continued..." and then Lawler mentioned the puppy dog quote.

As any debater knows, both sides to any argument can be presented effectively enough to confuse even the staunchest "mind-already-made-upper", but that really wasn't the point in these attacks. These guys were doing everything but slurring each other's mother.

Capitalizing on the readership of this feud that was no doubt increasing the daily sales of both papers, Cowan came back the next day (Thursday) with the last (so far) installment in the sports grudge match of morning columnists.

Mad dogs and writers

The "going berserk" and related "mouth foaming" quotes were the first mentioned by Cowan. But it was really the tie to Nixon that prompted the last retort.

Cowan then accused Lawler of "shoddy reporting" wished him luck with winning a Pulitzer or Oscar and of course answered back to what Lawler had answered back before about his answer, each having proved, of course that he was right and the other wrong.

One last important aspect of all of this to remember is that Lawler and Cowan are the best of friends, even though their readers must now think otherwise. And both of them are fine understanding human beings, top-flight sports writers and a credit to their profession.

Recognizing a good thing when I see it, (my files are getting thin as well) Stanton Reporter editor Terry Neill and myself will start column fights soon in our respective papers. Subject — "Did Bobby Morrow actually have a false start in 1947?" Watch for it.

Royals drub Tigers 16-2

DETROIT (AP) — Al Cowens drove in four runs and George Brett hit a three-run homer Saturday to lead the Kansas City Royals to 16-2 American League drubbing of the Detroit Tigers.

Eight of the nine starting Royals batters knocked in at least one run.

Kansas City scored nine runs in the third inning off Ray Bare and Jim Crawford, three on Brett's homer and two on a triple by Frank White.

Amos Otis hit a solo homer in the fourth.

In two games, Otis is 5-for-6 with six runs scored, four RBI and three walks. He scored four of the Royals runs Saturday.

Andy Hassler pitched six shutout innings for the victory. Dennis Leonard took over in the seventh and gave up Detroit's two runs in that inning. The first scored on a double by Ron LeFlore, who then raced home on a throwing error by second baseman White.

Zeber new Yank dark horse?

NEW YORK (AP) — There are some famous baseball names on the New York Yankees these days—names like free agents Reggie Jackson, Catfish Hunter and Don Gullett, MVP Thurman Munson, pennant hero Chris Chambliss, home run king Graig Nettles.

And George Zeber.

Who?

George Zeber of Orange, Calif., who was so far down the list when spring training began that Sylvester "Rocky" Stallone was a combination of Joe Louis, Muhammad Ali and Jack Dempsey by comparison. He hadn't even been on the Yankees' 40-man winter roster since 1974.

Zeber was considered a prospect when he began his pro career in 1968, but in seven minor league seasons—two years were spent in the Army—he never batted above .267. In fact, after climbing as high as the Class AAA International League in 1973, a knee injury forced him back down to the Class AA Eastern League the following season.

So what is George Zeber doing in the Yankees' dugout, in uniform, no less? You won't even find him among the non-roster players in the team's press book except at the bottom of the numerical list where it says simply, "71 Zeber," a uniform number usually reserved for tackles, not infielders.

"I was pretty late getting to camp," Zeber explained. "About a week before spring training I got a call from Gabe Paul (club president). All he told me was that they were short an infielder. Then on the first day of camp he told me there was one spot open and they were giving me a chance."

were 21 or 22, sure. But I've been preparing myself a long time looking forward to it. I feel like I belong.

"I came close to quitting quite a few times. Several times my wife talked me into staying with it. I was ready to pack it in after my knee operation, but I decided I might as well invest several more years.

"It's kind of ironic. This was my fifth trip to spring training with the Yankees. The first four times I was on the major league roster and didn't make it. This time I was a last-minute non-roster addition and here I am."

Spring Sports Banquet set for April 26 here

The date for this year's Spring Sports Banquet at Big Spring High School has been set, and Gerald Myers, head basketball coach at Texas Tech University, will be the guest speaker at the event.

The banquet, which honors all boys and girls spring sports teams, basketball included, will be held at the high school cafeteria Tuesday, April 26, at 8 p.m.

The public is invited to purchase tickets and come here the noted coach from Texas Tech.

In just six-and-a-half seasons as head coach at Texas Tech, Gerald Myers has become recognized as one of the all-time coaching greats in the Southwest Conference.

Since taking over for Bob Bass in January of 1971, Myers has compiled an enviable 121-57 (.680) record and has led the Red Raiders to the NCAA playoffs twice. His record is the best among active coaches in the SWC and ranks him second all-time behind only Francis Schmidt.

In addition, under Myers, Texas Tech has won a Southwest Conference title, finished second three times and third twice, a record unparalleled by any current SWC coach.

Myers' teams are known to be team-oriented, fundamentally sound and strong in team defense. Combining a fast-break offense and a tenacious man-for-man defense, Tech has averaged more than 18 wins a season with Myers at the helm.

A graduate of Borger High School, Myers' prep jersey number has been retired there and he was named an honorary Borger Ambassador in ceremonies last year.

The 6-foot Myers, Tech's first All-SWC performer in any sport as a sharp-shooting guard in 1959, has had a sterling coaching record in both high school and college ranks. Before being tabbed as an assistant by Bass, Myers had rebuilt the cage fortunes at Houston Baptist. Prior to his stint at Houston Baptist, he had a 150-50 (.760) record in seven years as head coach at Lubbock (Monterey).

Myers also has recruited well in compiling his record at Tech. He has had seven All-Southwest Conference players and two All-Americans in six years. Also, Tech has had two conference scoring champions and a pair of league rebound champs.

Myers and his wife, Carol, have a daughter, Laurie, 16.

Rangers win 5-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Juan Beniquez drove in three runs and Gaylord Perry pitched a five-hitter in 45-degree weather as the Texas Rangers beat the Baltimore Orioles 5-1 Saturday.

Beniquez sliced a two-run double to right in the third inning and singled to drive in a fourth-inning run. In the seventh, he walked, stole second and scored on a single by Cleudell Washington.

The 38-year old Perry, bidding to join Cy Young and Jim Bunning as the only hurler to win 100 games in each major league, notched his 98th American League triumph and the 22nd of his career.

Brewers 3, Yanks 2

NEW YORK (AP) — A two-base error by high-priced right fielder Reggie Jackson paved the way for three unearned Milwaukee runs in the fifth inning, and Jerry Augustine allowed only four hits in eight innings as the Brewers defeated the New York Yankees 3-2 Saturday.

Augustine surrendered a hit in each of the first two innings and walked five over the first three innings.

Golfers finish fourth in Angelo

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring High School boys golf team shot the fourth best total score Friday in the fourth District 5-4A golf tournament of the season, but still stand eighth overall out of the 14 teams.

The locals, led by David Howell's 75, finished 13 strokes off the pace set by San Angelo No. 1's 303.

Midland Lee was five strokes back of that with a 308. The Bobcats and Rebels appear to have the top two slots cinched in the conference race which will be decided next Friday in Abilene, the site of the final tournament.

Angelo has a season total of 1,202, while Lee is 1,205. Big Spring No. 1 has carded a 1,286, while Big Spring No. 2 is ninth in the standings with a 1,293.

John Burroughs and Barry Quartet's 56 wins Webb

Playing under ideal conditions, 40 golfers tackled the Webb course Saturday for an ABCD, best ball tournament and blistered the layout with a number of par-busting rounds.

Heading the 10-team field were Jack Hargraves, Henry Kelly, Billy Harrison and Vic Richter who scored a two-stroke victory with a 16-under-par 56.

The winning foursome carded three eagles, 10 birdies and five pars to edge out two teams that finished with 14-under-par 58 totals.

Taking second on a tie-breaker were Jim Halverson, Larry Wimberly, Bebra Johnson and Ed Couch. Neal Cleveland, John Stancil, Tony Brown and Hal Lewin finished third.

The next tourney on the calendar is a flighted, full handicap event slated for 10 a.m., April 16.

Mets 8, Cubs 6

CHICAGO (AP) — Pinch-hitter Joe Torre's tie breaking two-run double in the ninth inning powered the New York Mets to an 8-6 victory Saturday over the Chicago Cubs.

Felix Millan opened the ninth with a single, his fourth hit of the game. After Bruce Bozicari bunted into a force out, Dave Kingman singled and Torre doubled to center. Nino Espinosa got the victory.

The Mets built a 6-0 lead with two runs in the first inning and four more in the second.

The Cubs got to starter Jerry Kosman for a pair in the fifth on a bases-loaded pinch single by Gene Clines. They tied it in the eighth on a two-run single by Larry Blitner and Bobby Murcer's two-run homer.

Crappie fishing good everywhere

The fishing's getting a little better. Bombed out at Moss Creek last week, but was just about the only one. Ed Couch of Odessa, a regular visitor to the lake, had the crappie waiting in line to sink their teeth into his hook.

He was using a red and a yellow crappie jig (1-32 ounce), and was having a big old time bringing them in as fast as he could. Not many big ones, but an active afternoon.

Couch was fishing through the hole in the dock down from the third pavilion on the north side of the lake. I was casting out by the point from that dock, hoping to find a stray Walleye, but no luck. Couch told me he caught a 14-inch Walleye last year about this time from that dock.

A four- and a five-pound black were taken from the upper end of the lake in the shallows on plastic worms last week by a couple of guys from Midland. The catfish are still not moving about, still too cold, but the small yellow are beginning to throw themselves on worms and shrimp.

CRMWDER Joe Pickle avers that the stripe fishing is still very good by the dam at Lake Spence. He told of a 24-pound female that was taken in a net by T&P officials who capture the females for their eggs and then release them.

The strippers will probably hang around the dam for a couple of more weeks before they depart for scattered areas. There are also quite a few up the river.

Lake Spence

Crappie suddenly were biting at Lake E.V. Spence

GOOD STRING — The Booth family from Midland had an exceptionally fine day with black bass at Spence last week, catching six that weighed in at a total of 17 1/2 pounds. The largest black was caught on a "Big O", the next biggest on a top water Peco Pop, and the rest on blue worms.

during the past week, and white bass were being reported in increasing number. The usual run of striped bass held firm, along with channel and yellow catfish catches.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission crew has begun its annual striped bass propagating project at the lake. Under the direction of Bill Follis, San Angelo, technicians have been catching female and male strippers and fertilizing the eggs in special tanks maintained by TPWC at the lake. Also, white bass males are being caught for use in producing hybrids.

Reports from the lake included:

- Triangle Grocery — Dee and Cleo Reid, Big Spring, 43 crappie to 2 lbs., also 10 white bass to 2 lbs., six black bass to 3 lbs., eight channel catfish to 4 lbs., and an 8 lb. striper.

Shad explosion

DRUMORE, Pa. (AP) — Fishermen and fish commissions in three states, who have tried without success to bring back the American shad to the Susquehanna River, are snagged on a new issue — a population explosion of gizzard shad.

In the past five years, the gizzard shad has increased a thousandfold in one section of the 444-mile river. Building fish ladders around four major dams, an idea that would reopen spawning runs, would now open the door for the gizzard shad.

The fastly American shad is a migratory herring that spawns in fresh water and matures in the ocean. Shad roe is a delicacy, and the fish is prized by sportsmen and commercial fishermen.

The gizzard shad also is a one-time native of the river. A toothless, bony fish, it grows to a length of 12 inches and tastes like mud.

Some, like the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, believe it can be a blessing — a source of food for gamefish. Some alarmed sportsmen see it as a menacing plague — a threat that could displace other fish in the river.

NEW WHITE BASS RECORD 5 LB. 9 OZ.

World record set for white bass

AUSTIN — They say March is the month to catch white bass, and you won't get an argument from David S. Cordill, an Austin area angler.

Cordill, of Spicewood, Tex., caught what will probably be certified as a new world record white bass on the Colorado River below Longhorn Dam, a five-pound, nine-ounce fish that was 20 1/2 inches long and a 17-inch girth.

If the catch is certified by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, it will surpass the current world record white bass, a 5-pound, 5-ounce landed in Fergeson Lake, Calif. in March 1972.

Curiously, the state record was also caught in March, in the vicinity of Cordill's catch. Current state record of five pounds, four and one-fourth ounces was landed below Longhorn Dam in March 1968. Cordill caught his white with a white jig on a spin cast reel and flyrod using 12-pound test line.

That area of the Colorado River, the stilling basin, has produced some excellent sized fish, according to David Pritchard, P&WD inland fisheries chief.

Happy Easter! And what a better way to celebrate than to come down after church today and rest with a rod and reel on the banks of Lake Spence. The weather this week has been good, and the fishing promises to be even better.

There were several good catches this week. They include Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Barker of Kermit who caught 91 crappie and several black bass. Another good catch came from one of our local residents, Georgia Horner, who brought in a 3 1/2-pound black.

The crappie were also biting for Mr. and Mrs. H.D. Wash. They took 60 in addition to several blacks. C.C. Weir of Robert Lee really enjoys bringing in those yellow cats, because this week he brought in a 20 pounder and a 5 1/2-pound stripe. (He caught a 30-pound yellow cat a couple of weeks ago!)

C.W. Freeman had some good luck when he caught his 9 1/2 and 3 1/2-pound blue cats. So you see, the catches are improving as the weather improves.

If you're wondering where all those crappie were caught, well I'll tell you. For the most part, they were caught in the creeks like Salt Creek and Paint Creek. The bait used was minnows.

The black bass are in shallow water up the river. They seem to have no particular lure right now that they especially enjoy.

As for the strippers, when the wind is out of the west, the dam is still a pretty good spot to fish. At other times though, they can be found scattered from anywhere in the lake to up the river trying to spawn, and they are trying to spawn, by the way.

The water temperature is just right at about 64 degrees in the river and about 58 degrees by the dam. This means that the river is and will be a good place to start stripper fishing for some time.

As you are celebrating Easter this year, just remember the real reason for Easter. Stop and think about it for only a few seconds (if that's all you can spare) today while you are hunting Easter eggs or while you are eating your Sunday lunch. Your Easter will be a lot more meaningful.

Rookies have strange names

By the Associated Press

It starts in spring training with a couple of sharply pitched games or a few well-placed line drives. If a rookie does those things often enough, he begins turning heads and before he knows it, he's on a major league roster.

When the season starts, strange, unfamiliar names begin surfacing in box scores. If the numbers next to them are consistently productive, you'd better learn those new names. They're going to be around for awhile.

That line in the Kansas City Royals box, for example, is no garble. Joe Zeb is a real person and the Royals are glad the young outfielder is available to fill in for injured Tom Poquette. Zeb batted .297 for Omaha of the American Association last season and an impressive spring earned him a spot with the defending American League West champions. Initially, he'll replace Poquette, who batted .302 as a rookie last season.

And Detroit Manager Ralph has high hopes for a young pitcher, Dave Rozema. Rozema started spring training as a nonroster player and earned a job for himself. He has rookie company in the Detroit outfield where Steve Kemp has won a regular job. The free agent escape hatch decimated some teams and provided important opportunities for promising new faces. No team will have more rookies than the Oakland A's, who'll replace a fistful of departed stars with strange names you've never heard before.

So who needs Joe Rudi, Sal Bando, Gene Tenace and all those other guys anyway?

Baltimore, which lost Reggie Jackson, Bobby Grich and Wayne Garland in the wallet war, has seven rookies on its roster. Rich Dauer, who led the International League with a .336 average at Rochester, is the new second baseman, replacing Grich. Pitchers Dennis Martinez and Scott McGregor, both with earned run averages of 2.50 or better during the spring, will try and pick up the slack left by Garland's departure. For Jackson's bat, the Orioles offer Larry Harlow, who hit .333 during the exhibitions, or designated hitter Eddie Murray (.304).

In New York, the Mets are counting on young Lee Mazzilli to play center field. They know he can field and run but they're a little worried about his bat after he hit just .195 in a 24-game trial last year. Across town, the lone Yankee rookie is infielder George Zeber, who won't work nearly as much in the star-filled Yankee lineup as Mazzilli will with the Mets.

Atlanta Braves shortstop Pat Rockett was supposed to be headed for the minors but survived when regular Darrel Chaney was injured.

Two other rookies made the Atlanta squad. They're outfielder Brian Asselstine, who hit .293 at Richmond of the International League last season, and pitcher Rick Camp, who was 10-11 with the IL club. Camp made the Braves last season but was cut when Atlanta signed free agent Andy Messersmith.

Right-hander Bob Stanley is the lone rookie to win a job with the Boston Red Sox. He won three of the six games he pitched in during the exhibition season. The Sox are also carrying rookie outfielder Dave Coleman but that's only until Fred Lynn recovers from an ankle injury.

Three rookies play important roles in the Philadelphia picture. Second baseman Fred Andrews, who hit .297 at Oklahoma City last year, is the heir apparent to the job vacated by free agent Dave Cash, who moved to Montreal. Infielder/outfielder Dane Long is likely to play plenty of first base while Rich Heberner recuperates from a rib injury. The same thing is true of rookie pitcher Randy Lerch, who may replace injured Jim Lonborg.

Two other Giant rookies, Terry Whitfield and Jack Clark, figure to form a lefty-righty platoon in right field.

Slim founder speaks out

HOUSTON (AP) — A snow white cat with an elegant air about him walks slowly through the spacious den. His name is Slim.

His playmate Virginia, equally white and aloof, is elsewhere about the manicured grounds of the Heldman residence.

Virginia and Slim are very special cats.

"They're so special an entire tennis circuit was named after them," laughed Mrs. Gladys Heldman, who founded the Virginia Slims tennis tour that took women's tennis off the back courts and turned top women players into center court superstars.

Slim suddenly darted through a half-open patio door into a warm spring morning as if to escape the maelstrom of the coming work day.

Despite starting a tennis magazine from scratch and turning it into a $1 million property, promoting tournaments, writing books and founding the $1 million women's tour, Mrs. Heldman hasn't rested on her laurels. She remains a dynamo of energy.

Her husband Julius, an oil company executive, best describes Mrs. Heldman's amazing drive: "She is a free soul. She can work two days without stop or sleep forever. She is not bound by tradition or convention. That kind of originality there isn't enough of."

The phenomenon is easily observed. Amid the steady ring of the telephone, conferring with her secretary, inquiring about the maid's health, Mrs. Heldman wedges in recollections of:

Fighting the tennis establishment for equal pay for women; starting the women's futures tour that qualifies young players on the major circuit; starting a third circuit (now in progress) to fill the void between the end of the U.S. tour and the start of the European circuit and finally back fighting the establishment again for the right of transsexual Dr. Renee Richards to play on the ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try to get an influential friend to give you the added support you need for some special project you have in mind.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do those things that will give you added prestige with the public in general. Use more modern methods for handling your credit.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put new ideas to work that will help you become more successful. Forget any failures of the past. A newcomer could prove helpful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find a better system for taking care of your obligations. Be more kind to your mate and get better results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) An associate could now give you advice that is worthwhile so be sure to follow it for your betterment. Show that you are dependable.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Delve right into that work load and it will soon be behind you. Sleazebag an old friend who could deter your progress.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Engaging in new interests now could bring you a feeling of prosperity and happiness. Show more affection for family members.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try a different tack at home and get better results in the future. Be careful of one who stands in your way of progress.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good day to visit clients, friends and relatives. Show them that you are one who can be depended upon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to handle any monetary affairs personally today and don't rely on others so much. Cut down on unnecessary expenses.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A time to follow your own inclinations and to listen to what others have to suggest. Be careful of strangers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are now able to obtain the date you require so that you can advance in your career. Show family that you are devoted.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have creative ideas and the ability to express them successfully. Upon reaching maturity your progeny will be able to modernize old ideas as they become profitable. Give some religious training early in life.

HOWARD SHIVERS

Big Spring youth wins awards in science fair

Howard Shivers, Big Spring High School student, was his school's only representative in the Permian Basin Region Science Fair held in Alpine March 31 and April 1 but he did very well.

Howard's project, "What

You See Is What You Hear," was a special type of shotgun microphone that he had devised himself.

All of the electronic circuitry he designed and put together at his home. In fact, all of the project had to be done by him in order to meet science fair rules. He won the Junior Engineering Technological Society Award for excellence in engineering, the first place trophy in engineering and alternate sweepstakes.

The Permian Basin Regional Science Fair picks the two best science projects to represent this region at the International Science Fair. These two projects are designated as sweepstakes winners. An alternate sweepstakes winner is picked to attend the International Science Fair in case one of the sweepstakes winners can not attend.

This alternate sweepstakes winner must have the third best project in the Regional Science Fair. This is the first time any student from Big Spring High School has won this honor.

Howard is already working on a project for next year's Permian Basin Regional Science Fair, and he plans on trying his best to win the sweepstakes so that he could represent Big Spring High School at the International Science Fair. His next year's project will be "Vibrational Stress Analysis on Humans."

Way down South

with Marj Carpenter

Got back into town Friday from behind the Mesquite Curtain, way down in Laredo. I visited in the old historical part of town there one evening and discovered that they had seven flags fly over that city and at one time — for almost a year in 1845 were known as the Republic of the Rio Grande.

I'm not sure that the area between the Nueces and Rio Grande Rivers is not still the Republic of the Rio Grande. It probably would be except a lot of the citizens in that part of the world — which is my old native land — love our welfare programs too much to secede.

But at any rate, it was a lot of fun to go away off down yonder and see how some of the rest of the world is living.

My kids have always teased me about knowing people all over Texas. And I am one of the lucky ones that has a lot of friends. On the way down, I stopped to visit Vance and Ursula Chisum whom many people here will remember. He's police chief again at Uvalde and loves it.

His biggest problem facing him was that they were expecting over 30,000 to pour into Garner State Park for the Easter holidays and he was bracing for the ordeal.

Saw my old friends, Bob and Dottie Ervin from Pleasanton, who came over to Laredo to make sure that I got to go to Nuevo Laredo. And we even ran into one old friend over there in Mexico. Bob is oilfield-oriented and went down to the Laredo area during the gas boom.

He's lived in Pecos, Andrews, Odessa and Crane. And I know there's people here in Big Spring who know him — including Carl Coleman who coached Bob years ago in Pecos. Now Carl, of all people, will realize that going to Nuevo Laredo with Bob Ervin and wife is an experience.

Also ran across Sarita Cavazos Ochoa who has lived in Laredo 30 years. Her dad was a foreman on the King Ranch in Kingsville and she's an old college friend. Her brother, was Dickie Cavazos, outstanding Texas Tech football player in the late 40s and early 50s.

But the funniest occurrence was early Tuesday morning along about Asherton. Asherton has all of 200 people. As I went driving through, a car got in front of me and slowed down. I went around. He passed me a second time and slowed down.

The third time we played this game, he pulled over and stopped. I kept going. The car behind me immediately started up again in hot pursuit. I was a little bit uneasy.

It passed again and the driver was waving madly. He pulled off the road again. This time, I decided to stop and leave the motor going and if I didn't like the looks of the situation, I would take off.

When the driver got out, it was a young man who grew up around our house in Pecos and used to sit in the tree house with my kids.

Johnny Toone is now an engineer for Central Power and Light out of Uvalde and was helped by Bishop.

He laughed and said, "When I got up this morning, I said to myself, 'I bet I see Marj Carpenter driving down the road at Asherton and there you were.'"

Hughes estate taxes request

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas and Nevada administrators of the Howard Hughes estate are seeking court authority to pay $1.4 million in federal income taxes.

A petition filed Thursday with Harris County Probate Judge Pat Gregory asked permission for William R. Lummis, a co-administrator in Texas, to pay $907,775. It also suggested that the Nevada administration pay $501,900.

The taxes would be for the period Jan. 1 through April 5, 1976, the day Hughes died while being flown to Houston

We had a good early morning visit there by the side of the road and then took off going our respective routes.

It's a small world — and friends are what make it fun — out where I was ridin' a South Texas fence.

from Mexico for medical treatment.

Lummis, a cousin of Hughes, said the administrations in Texas and Nevada have agreed, subject to court approval, to pay the taxes according to the ability of each administration to pay the cost.

Temporary administrators now handle the estate in Texas, Nevada and California.

The Lummis petition said that as of last Monday the Texas administration held $2,853,685 in cash or the equivalent and the Nevada administration had $1,577,277.

LULAC leader disappointed with Carter's appointments

By the Associated Press

Two Texans who head large Mexican-American groups have joined U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger, D-Tex., in expressing disappointment for President Carter's failure to name a Hispanic-American as ambassador to Mexico.

American G.I. Forum National President Antonio Morales of Fort Worth blamed the press for "failing miserably in letting the people know there are many Hispanics in America with knowledge and the desire to participate in government."

Morales said the G.I. Forum, a predominantly Mexican-American veterans group, did not endorse anyone for the ambassadorship.

But he listed bilingual specialist Dr. Jose Cardenas of San Antonio, State Sen. Raul Longoria and U.S. Rep. Eligio de la Garza of Texas as possible appointees. Gov. Patrick Lucey of Wisconsin got the appointment from President Carter.

League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) President Manuel Gonzales of Waco indicated a preference for San Antonio contractor Bob Montalvo or past LULAC national President Oscar Laurel.

Gonzales said LULAC did not endorse anyone for the ambassadorship other than to say it wanted a Mexican-American.

Both Morales and Gonzales will be in Washington next weekend for a "March of Recognition" that will include representatives for Cuban, Puerto Rican, Spanish and Mexican-American groups in the United States.

"We're trying to wake up the administration to the fact that Hispanics are being left out" of decision-making opportunities, Gonzales said. "It seems like Mr. Carter has built a wall around the White House as far as the Spanish-speaking are concerned."

In Washington, Krueger sent a telegram to Carter Friday that said in part, "It is distressing that a Democratic administration has not found a Hispanic-American who it considers deserving of the post."

"HI THERE, FELLA!" — Charles Butler, right, eight-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Butler gets down to business as he checks to see if this is the bunny that brings the eggs. Looking rather skeptical is Connell Edwards, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Edwards.

WEARING A PRETTY pink and white check gingham dress, Brooke Arrick takes time out to rest under the sheltering shade of a big willow tree. Brooke, 2, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Arrick, and she's willing to share the bounty in her basket.

The Easter Parade

by JOE BRIGHT

"..... but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy." — 1 Timothy 6:17

Raindrops and roses, butterflies and babies — spectacular springtime bursting from the earth to prove immortality and reward man's trust in the joyful message of Easter.

In the music of the bells, the silence of the heart and the laughter of little children, one listens for the lesson of love.

WITH EASTER baskets instead of bonnets, Ashley McCann, 3, and sister, Tara McCann, 4, are ready to take their place in the Easter parade. Wearing identical navy and white polka dot dresses, they are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy McCann.

IT'S TULIP TIME, and young Matt Turner, 3, already knows how to please a pretty girl as he picks a posie to present to his friend, Stephanie Lain, Matt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Turner, and Stephanie, 7, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Lain.

PUTTING ALL your eggs in one basket isn't always as easy as it sounds. Raygan McCann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy McCann, seems to have reached an impasse, so Rickey Hamby Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hamby, prepares to help her out of the predicament.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, APRIL 10, 1977

Ceremony performed in Baptist sanctuary

TO WED — Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Walker, Big Spring, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marcy Tetteleton, to Kent Rainey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Rainey, Big Spring. The couple will marry June 18 in the College Baptist Church. Miss Tetteleton is also the daughter of Lonnie Tetteleton of Bowie.

Soil Builders hear tips on planting

The Organic Soil Builders met at the U.S. Agricultural Experiment Station, for their May meeting, and Charles Yates of the Station staff was welcomed as a new member.

The program was presented by Spencer Wolfe, president. Planting methods was his topic, and he spoke of "hardening off" plants before planting them in the garden. To do this, expose them out of doors during the day, returning them indoors during the night, for about a week. This helps to adapt them to the weather. He reminded the group to use organic materials where possible and suggested a new method for planting tomatoes. Since this area has so much caliche to contend with, this method should be successful. Dig a hole about 10 inches in diameter, 12 to 18 inches deep, and place compost and good soil in the hole to the level of planting which should be several inches below the rim of the hole. Put the plant firmly in place and water. Wolfe also recommended the use of wire barrel-type cages to support the plants or an alternate method of tying plants to a frame.

Preach Martin reported that 50 Arizona cypress trees have been planted at Moss School. This completed the project of extending the wind break of Arizona cypress trees at the school. This project had the financial assistance of the Oasis Garden Club which has had a beautification project at the school in conjunction with their Garden Therapy Program with Special Education Children.

Mrs. Wolfe served refreshments.

Miss Beverly J. Green and Lt. James D. Sargent were married in an afternoon ceremony Saturday in the College Baptist Church.

Jack McCall, minister of Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ, officiated. The couple stood before an altar decorated with an arrangement of yellow gladioli and green carnations. Three fan palms and two branched candelabra formed the background.

The bride was attired in a gown of silk chiffon over bridal satin, featuring a fitted bodice with low, round neckline of bridal satin and an overlay of silk chiffon making a stand-up collar. A deep scallop of pearl-studded Venise lace encircled the bottom of the softly gathered skirt which fell from a natural waistline. Appliques of lace formed a triangle in front. Full gathered sleeves were cuffed at the wrist.

Her chapel-length veil of illusion, trimmed with lace and studded with seed pearls, was held by a headpiece of lace covered with pearled flower petals. She carried a nosegay of white sweetheart roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Bradley Green, Odessa sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a long sleeved V-neck gown featuring a wide waist and gathered skirt.

Ms. Juni Childress, El Paso, and Miss Laura Caudill, Big Spring, were bridesmaids.

Lt. Jimmy Webster was best man, with Lt. Chuck Mortensen and Lt. Joe Zander as groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Terry Newman

MRS. JAMES D. SARGENT

provided music at the piano and Miss Margaret McGee was vocalist.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will reside in Jacksonville, Ark.

The bride, a graduate of Abilene Christian University, was formerly a teacher in Big Spring public schools.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Louisiana Tech University. He is presently stationed at Little Rock Air Force Base.

A reception, following the ceremony was held in the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Carolee Caudill and Miss Evelyn Hyman served refreshments, and Miss Mary Wright, Midland, registered guests.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Lillie Green, El Paso, grandmother of the bride and Mrs. Winnifred James, Harvey, La., grandmother of the bridegroom.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jabor, Rt. 2, Box 8, and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Edgar, Dallas, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Toni Jo, to Benjamin Craig Medley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Medley, 2811 MacAuslan. The couple will be married July 7 in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church with the Rev. Louis Moeller officiating.

Presents program on Amish customs

A monthly meeting of Coahoma's Mary Jane Club was held Thursday morning in the country home of Mrs. Quail Dobbs. Mrs. Boyce Sneed served as cohostess.

A donation was made to the Cancer Crusade. Mrs. Carroll Choate furnished literature, and a discussion was held concerning crime prevention. It was suggested that the club use crime prevention as a program topic in 1977-78.

At a recent gathering of the group the following senior citizens were honored: Mrs. J.W. Kilpatrick, Mrs. Otis Williams, Mrs. Grace Long, Mrs. Leroy Echols, Miss Susie Brown, Mrs. Cassie Buchanan, Mrs. P.F. Sheedy and Mrs. J.D. Miller.

Mrs. Donald McKinney presented the morning's program on the Amish people of Lancaster County, Penn. Mrs. McKinney detailed Amish customs, their foods, clothing, farms, religion, habits, child rearing, homes and home furnishings. A pictorial trip through a typical Amish home was taken by the group.

Mrs. Sneed and Mrs. Dobbs served Shoo-Fly Pie, a recipe taken from a Pennsylvania Dutch cookbook, as refreshments along with banana split pie and coffee. The refreshment table was centered by an Amish couple standing by their family buggy — each dressed in typical Amish costume. White and silver appointments were used.

Mrs. Marshall Day was the winner of an Easter basket provided as a door prize. The final meeting of the year will be an annual salad luncheon in the home of Mrs. Dwaine Clawson, May 5, with Mrs. Larry Nix and Mrs. Ted Fowler as cohostess.

Bridal gifts presented at shower

A bridal shower honoring Miss Janet Coffman, bride-elect of David Higgins, was held Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Edwin Bednar, 1610 Osage. Greeting guests were Miss Coffman, her mother, Mrs. C.L. Coffman, and the future bridegroom's mother, Mrs. William Higgins of Coahoma.

The bride's colors of blue and white were carried out in corsages presented to the honoree, Mrs. Coffman and Mrs. Higgins, and in the centerpiece which was a candelabrum with a fountain flowing with blue water. The white cake was decorated with a miniature bride and groom. Silver appointments were used.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Carl Coleman, Mrs. Cecil Peurifoy, Mr. Bill McMahon, Mrs. Bennie McChristian, Mrs. Kenneth Stephens, Mrs. VOLLIE Sorrells and Mrs. Avery Falkner.

The couple were married Saturday evening at the Church of Christ, Fourteenth & Main.

MRS. MIKE DEAN

Wichita Falls site of nuptial rites

Miss Nan Cranford and Mike Dean were married Friday evening in the First Baptist Church, Wichita Falls. Dr. William Pinson and the Rev. Kenneth Flowers performed the ceremony.

The couple stood before an altar adorned with brass candelabras, greenery and votives. Easter lilies set in urns completed the nuptial setting.

The bride was attired in an ivory peau de soie gown with fitted bodice featuring organza front and back yokes. Full organza sleeves were finished with buttoned satin cuffs.

The bodice was overlaid with pearly embroidered Chantilly lace, and lace motifs accented a skirt which extended into a chapel-length train.

Maid of honor was Miss Bonnie Bird, and B. J. Dean, father of the bridegroom, was best man. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Cranford and Miss Janice Cranford, sisters of the bride, and Miss Donna Dean, sister of the bridegroom.

The ushers were Dr. Reg. Cranford, Big Spring; Tommy Bragg, Mark Cor-dray, Randy Lovelady, Iowa Park; and Buddy Jo Jayes, Snyder. Groomsmen were Mark Peterson, Burk-burnett; Brent Patterson, Iowa Park; and David Buffington.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cranford, Wichita Falls, former residents of Big Spring. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Dean, Wichita Falls.

Following a wedding trip to Runaway Bay, Bridgeport, the couple will reside at 1723 Lucile, Wichita Falls.

The bride, a graduate of S. H. Rider High School in Wichita Falls, is a student at Midwestern State University. She is employed at First Baptist Church, Wichita Falls.

Hyperions take Diamond M tour

Members of the 1955 Hyperion Club traveled to Snyder Tuesday to tour the Diamond M Museum. On display were sculptures in ivory, rose quartz, jade, china and metal.

Original paintings by Windberg, bronzes by Remington, and western oils by Wayne Baize and Koehner are included in the exhibit.

The collection of the Diamond M Museum contains artifacts which belonged to the late C.T. McLaughlin. McLaughlin came to Scurry County from Pennsylvania, and when he purchased a tract of land, friends told him he'd "never make anything out of it." But when oil was discovered on the property in the 1940's, he was on his way to being a wealthy man. As his wealth and travels increased, McLaughlin's collection of art pieces grew. His primary interest lay in western art.

Prior to the trip to Snyder, club members were served coffee and donuts in the home of Mrs. H.B. Perry, hostess. Cohostesses were Mrs. Jimmy Morehead and Mrs. Walter Wheat.

New officers elected for the 1977-78 year are Mrs. James Cave, president; Mrs. Robert F. Penner, vice president; Mrs. W.A. Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. John Ritenour, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J.T. Anderson, treasurer; and Mrs. Jerry Snodgrass, parliamentarian.

The next meeting of the club will be a luncheon May 3 at the Alliance of Clubs clubhouse. Hostesses will be Mrs. Cave, Mrs. Snodgrass, Mrs. James Cowan and Mrs. Garland Morrison.

Drying is one way to preserve food

By JANET SARGENT
(City, Ext. Agent)

Drying is one of the oldest methods of food preservation. It is also one of the simplest methods and requires only basic equipment.

Successful drying depends upon the removal of enough moisture to prevent spoilage. This must be done as fast as possible at a temperature which will not seriously affect the flavor, texture or color of the food.

Enzyme activity in the food must be retarded or stopped. Otherwise, color and flavor changes would continue during drying and storage. Pre-treatment such as an antioxidant coating, blanching or sulfuring is often recommended.

Fruit selected for drying should be of the highest quality possible. Wilting or inferior material will not make a satisfactory product. Immature produce lacks flavor and color. Over-mature produce may be tough and fibrous or too soft.

Two methods are recommended for drying fruit — sun drying and oven drying. Products dried in controlled heat generally will be superior to sun-dried ones in color, flavor, cooking quality and nutritive value. Controlled heat also requires less drying time than sun-drying.

Whatever method you use, keep the following in mind. Cleanliness and safety are important throughout the process. The quality of the finished product will be no better than that of the raw

AAUW discusses wills as 'family insurance'

The American Association of University Women Study Group met Monday morning in the home of Dr. and Mrs. James R. Cave, with Mrs. Cave as hostess.

Mrs. Paul Kionka introduced the program, which was entitled "Wills." Mrs. Philip J. Parker and Mrs. Neil Wiloughby gave the program.

"A will is family insurance after death," the women said. The purpose of a will is to give direction in writing for controlling the disposition of property at death.

Dying without a will is known as intestate, and many things can happen. "One can avoid court supervised administration by a properly drawn will," the women said.

"If you leave no will, your property will go to who or whatever is designated by law. By making a will, you can leave your property to persons or charitable institutions of your choice."

"A carefully planned will drawn by your attorney will fulfill your responsibility to your family. Lack of a will may bring them financial hardships."

Mrs. Guy discusses native bulbs

A program entitled "Native Bulbs of Israel for American Gardens" was given by Mrs. Paul Guy at the Planters Garden Club meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. A.C. Moore.

Mrs. Cass Hill presided.

Mrs. Guy said "Israel is a small country, but the geographical area is marked by a great diversity of topographic, climatic and edaphic characters. It is situated at the meeting place of three continents and three climatic and vegetational regions.

"To illustrate the variety and richness of the vegetation, within a radius of five miles from Jerusalem, one can find more than a thousand plant species belonging to seventy families," said Mrs. Guy. "The native vegetation of Israel and its neighboring countries is unusually rich in geophytes, namely, plants having subterranean storage organs like bulbs, corms, rhizomes tuberous roots."

Mrs. Guy said that the most common and beloved flowers in Israel are the cyclamen persicum. The Poppy Anemone is probably the most popular of the wild flowers of Israel.

The tulip, native to Israel is "worth introducing into southern American gardens," said Mrs. Guy.

Mrs. Guy said that bulbs normally like a good well drained loam. As a rule, bulbs require ample watering, especially in flowering time.

"Care should be taken not to remove any foliage until it has died down, as the bulb needs this to manufacture food for the next season," said Mrs. Guy.

MRS. STEPHEN CRAIG WOLF

Wedding ceremony conducted Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Craig Wolf are on a trip to Austin following their wedding Saturday afternoon in the Vincent Baptist Church with the Rev. Ray Cunningham, pastor of Slide Baptist Church, Lubbock, officiating. Upon returning, the newlyweds will reside at Vincent where he is engaged in farming.

Wolf, a graduate of Coahoma High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wolf, Vincent Rt., Coahoma.

The bride is the former Jean Ann Parks, daughter of Don Parks, Big Spring, and Mrs. Kenneth Langley of Dallas. A graduate of Coahoma High School, she attended Angelo State University and formerly was employed by Dunlap's in Big Spring.

The couple recited their vows as the wedding party stood before an altar illuminated by arched candelabra and branched candelabra entwined with jade foliage. Nuptial music was performed by Mrs. Ed Settles, organist, and Jay Pinney of Coahoma, vocalist.

Carrying a Sylvan bouquet of yellow roses, white daisies and baby's breath, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white organza, the bodice overlaid with elaborate lace which extended over the shoulders to form brief caps over sheer sleeves ending in lace cuffs. The Watteau train, sweeping to chapel-length, featured lace edging. Her headpiece of pearls, petals and net held a veil of illusion bordered with lace.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Ricky Pinney of Coahoma, and bridesmaids were Miss Lusia Phinney, Coahoma, and Miss Sharon Anderson of Rockwall. Mrs. Phinney's square-necked gown was of green crepe overlaid with sheer flocked print, and the bridesmaids wore identical dresses in yellow. Their hair was adorned with daisies tied with ribbons, and each carried a nosegay of daisies and baby's breath tied with satin streamers.

Jackie Wolf of Dallas attended his brother as best man, and groomsmen were Jody Bennett, Sand Springs, and Brad Miliken, Coahoma.

The two flower girls were Julie Bandy of Garland and Terresa Mann of Friona. Serving as ushers were Mike Carter, Stephenville; Eddie Mann, Friona; and Troyce Wolf. The latter also lighted the candles.

The reception was held in the educational building where the bride's sisters, Mrs. David Wright, Palestine; Mrs. Dave McPherson, Killeen; and Mrs. Charles Bandy, Garland, presided at the refreshment table.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of daisies, baby's breath and freesia in a crystal basket. Appointments were silver and crystal. The bridegroom's table, laid with a green cloth under white lace, featured gold appointments.

Out-of-town guests included David Wright, Palestine; Dave McPherson, Killeen, Charles Bandy, Garland; Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Walker, Lamesa; Mrs. Jackie Wolf, Dallas; Mrs. Eddie Mann, Friona; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Berry, Keller; and Mrs. Mike Carter, Stephenville.

Flame room meeting site

The Texas Star African Violet Club met in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company recently.

It was reported that the Big Spring Garden Council won four awards in Amarillo. The Council voted to plant a tree in memory of Mrs. Billie Smith. The Council has also planted 36 trees at the Heritage Museum.

The program was given by Mrs. A.C. Moore.

4-H team gives demonstration

A demonstration on horticulture was given by Dawn and Scott Underwood of Gay Hill 4-H Club at Thursday's meeting of Elbow Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. R.P. Morton was hostess.

Using charts and outlines, the speakers stressed having fertile and well drained soil correctly prepared before planting. They advised applying sufficient water during the growing season, equivalent to one inch per week. A long handled hoe is the best weed control tool to use. Avoid spraying if possible, and use only recommended sprays if needed.

Mrs. Morton gave the devotional. It was announced that the club will provide cookies for the state hospital in May.

The next meeting is a salad luncheon April 21 in the home of Mrs. L.Z. Rhodes. A demonstration will be given on glass inking and making plant hangers.

Senior girls honored by Hyperion club hears program about art

Forsan club

FORSAN (SC) — The Forsan Study Club held a salad supper Monday evening in the Forsan High School home economics department honoring all senior girls.

The honorees were Margaret Findley, Marci Nichols, Tonia Freeland, Nikita McMurry, Elena De Los Reyes and Denise Bedwell. The girls' mothers and their sponsor, Miss Gloria Dodd, also attended.

The serving table was covered with a cutwork cloth and centered with a bouquet of spring flowers. Other tables featured place mats and candle arrangements.

Hostesses were Ms. Loretta Yarbrough, Mrs. Ruby McElrath and Ms. Nola Story.

Mrs. Eunice Thixton, club president, introduced the senior girls and their mothers.

The next meeting will be at 12:30 p.m. May 7 at the Spanish Inn, Big Spring.

The 1970 Hyperion Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Delbert Donelson, 2613 Rebecca where the program, "The Many Worlds of Art," was presented by Mrs. Earnie Perrow.

Mrs. Perrow holds a degree in fine arts from the University of Colorado and attended the Instituto d'Allende in Mexico. She has been active in advertising and interior decorating and now is professionally associated with Marie Rowland Real Estate Co.

"Every woman is a potential artist," commented Mrs. Perrow. "The definition of art includes creative works in general." She emphasized that women can not be afraid to be creative and, at the same time, be able to enjoy the satisfaction of their own original production. She cited Grandma Moses, a primitive artist, whose paintings were easily understood, calm and with no prospective. "Always be aware of style as one should be able to see the artist reflected in original creations where personal style is developed," she said.

Mrs. Perrow asked the group, "How do I know if this is a good painting? Look at an art work and absorb what you see instead of what someone or book tells you that you ought to see. When investing in a painting make sure it is signed in the lower right corner and a number telling how many copies of the original picture have been screened. There will be a guarantee on the back stating the date of sale, salesman's name, firm and address if questions arise in the future concerning the painting's authenticity. One should ask permission to take the painting out of its frame and hold it up to the light to determine if any water marks are visible on the canvas that would decrease the value of the painting. Most people cannot afford original art works and invest in prints of originals to accent the decor of homes."

"Looking at color will draw an emotion of response," commented Mrs. Perrow. "Abstract art is simple and will have rhythm and emotion. Remember to employ balance, imagination and experience with similar art work. Trained artists only understand their own work and have difficulty defining another's style."

Mrs. Perrow closed by stating, "To be the total woman you need to create some form of art." She showed roses made of velvet ribbon and sprayed with fragrance and a fire extinguisher being made into a lamp.

The wedding of Miss Diane Leigh Fisher and Jerry David Deramus was solemnized in a Saturday evening ceremony at Fannin Terrace Baptist Church, Midland. The Rev. Bill Cathey officiated.

WGA awards announced at coffee

Awards were made for weekly play during March at a business meeting and coffee Tuesday of the Women's Golf Association, Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Carl Gooden, chairman, announced that play will continue at 11 a.m. for the next month and awarded golf balls to the winners of weekly play for March. Mrs. Flo Hallam won "Chip 'n Gimme Tournament," March 8; Mrs. Madeline Atkins won "Bogey or Better Tournament," March 15; and Mrs. Billie Dillon won March 22 and 29 for "Best Poker Hand" (four 5's) and "Free Shot Tourney" March 29.

It was announced that all women club members are eligible to take free golf lessons the last two weeks in April and the first two weeks in May on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9 a.m.

Deramus, Odessa.

The bride was attired in a traditional silk sheer gown enhanced with Nottingham, Venice, Cluney and insertion lace. Ruffled Cluney lace edged with the ribbon insertion lace formed a ring neckline and created the wide cuffs of the lace bishop sleeves. The fitted bodice featured an inlay of Nottingham lace edged with Venice, and a wide lace panel edged in Venice lace enhanced the A-line skirt. The insertion ribbon lace traced the center of the gown from neck to hemline. The skirt fell into a bouffant fullness sweeping to form a chapel-length train. Venice lace enhanced the skirt above the deep lace hemline flounce. Her chapel-length mantilla veil was gathered to a lace Camelot bordered with lace insertion.

Mrs. Mark L. Shepard, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Scotty Richardson was best man. Bridesmaids were Ms. Gena Keneipp and Ms. Kay Smith. Doug Hillman, John Legendre, David Fisher and Erven Fisher III were ushers.

Eric Fisher served as ring bearer, with Kelli Schultz as flower girl.

Following a wedding trip to Corpus Christi, the couple will reside at 4000 W. Illinois, Midland.

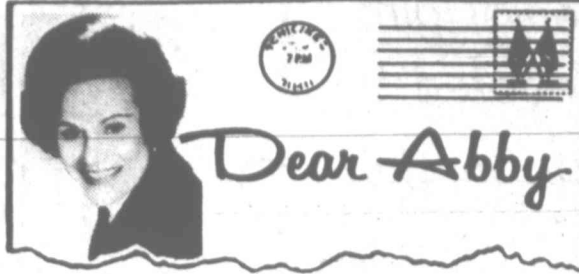

The bride, a graduate of Midland High School, is employed by Hytech Energy, Midland. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lee High School and is employed by Challenger Rig and Manufacturing of Odessa. A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church.

Angelo Wants It All in the Family

DEAR ABBY: Angelo and I have an unusually good marriage. He's considerate, generous and loving. His only fault is not wanting outsiders for friends. (He considers anyone outside his family an "outsider.")

Angelo comes from a large and clannish family. They're nice people, and I really like them. I like apple pie, too, but I don't want it seven nights a week!

Whenever an outsider invites us over, my husband says, "Let's not get involved." The only people we ever see socially are his relatives.

We've taken some fabulous trips, but he always has to have a brother, sister or cousin along. Now he wants to plan a trip to Europe with his parents!

Am I unreasonable to want to socialize with somebody besides his relatives? What's wrong with him?

SMOTHERED IN RELATIVES

DEAR SMOTHERED: I suspect your husband is reluctant to face the challenge of new and unfamiliar social situations. You're not unreasonable to want friends who aren't relatives. Hang in there and encourage Angelo to expand his social boundaries. It will add a new dimension to your considerate, generous and loving man.

DEAR ABBY: I am moving to Atlanta, Ga., and several friends here have said, "You MUST look up 'Mr. Wonderful'—here's his name and phone number. Just call and say you are a friend of mine."

Abby, is it proper for a new woman in town to call a stranger and put him on the spot that way? I can't just call a man and say, "Hello, I'm Margaret Brown. I'm 35, divorced, have two children and am self-supporting. I'm attractive, a lot of fun, my measurements are 36-25-37, and Howard Hossenleffer told me to call you."

I'm afraid if I don't call I might miss something, and if I do call, I'll appear pushy. How should this be handled?

FROM TAMPA

DEAR FROM: Ask all your big-hearted friends to write "Mr. Wonderful" and suggest that he call YOU. That way, the go-between can clue the friend in on all the vital statistics and leave it to him to call you if he's interested.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S.S. IN SIOUX CITY: If your man keeps you cool in the summer and warm in the winter, stocks a plentiful cupboard, comes home sober right after work without having fiddled, spindled or mutilated his paycheck, you've got a prince. Take good care of him.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Caldecott Award given

By FLORENCE TYLER
The Children's Services Division of the American Library Association has recently announced the winners of the much-coveted Caldecott book award.

The Caldecott Medal is named in honor of Randolph Caldecott, an English artist who in the late 1800's pioneered in book illustrations for young children. This medal has been awarded annually since 1938 to the most distinguished picture book for children.

The 1976 medal has been awarded to the book "Ashanti To Zulu: African Traditions" by Margaret Musgrove. For the illustrations Leo & Diane Dillon it was a second consecutive Caldecott, a feat no one has accomplished before. The winning team has composed a stunning series of paintings depicting tribal customs throughout Africa. The child's eye will be rewarded many times over by the deeply colored scenes of African life as he reads the 26 paragraph-length descriptions of the various tribal customs from A to Z, (Ashanti to Zulu).

Goes where no man has gone before

X-rays examined by robot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Above us, invisible to our eyes and different from the familiar panorama of stars and planets, is another sky we barely know.

These hidden heavens blaze with energy from exploding galaxies, drying stars. Objects called pulsars emit powerful radio beams that switch on and off with uncanny regularity. Here and there mysterious "black holes" suck in matter and light with gravity of such force that the laws of physics are twisted to extremes.

When we gaze into the sky, our eyes see only objects that emit visible light, which is just one type of radiation given off by stars. During some of the most violent phases of a star's life — the end, for instance, when stars explode and collapse — radiation is given off in the form of X rays or gamma rays as well as visible light.

On April 15 a rocket will send into orbit around the Earth a robot observatory with instruments that can do what the human eye cannot — detect X rays and gamma rays.

Scientists hope that X ray and gamma ray astronomy, along with the study of visible light and radio waves, will increase our knowledge of the cosmos. Ultimately, they hope it will lead to advances in energy production, since stars are far more efficient generators of energy than anything made by man.

"Visible light from the atomic processes in stars and galaxies tells us what is going on in their outer atmospheres," says Dr. Robert Hofstadter, a physicist and astronomer. "X rays tell us what goes on at even greater depths."

Because the X rays are blocked by our atmosphere from reaching Earth, they can be studied only by instruments positioned above the atmosphere. Until now, X ray astronomy has been carried out mainly by short-lived rockets and balloons and a small satellite observatory called Uhuru.

The satellites, costing a total of $237 million, will be launched from Cape Canaveral over the next three years.

The main job of the first observatory, called HEAO-A, is to scan the entire sky for X rays and beam to Earth information that will help astronomers compile a map of X ray sources.

Jap Hollywood has no yen

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese just don't have that old yen for movies anymore, and the film industry is feeling the pinch.

In 1960, the average Japanese went to about a movie a month. Now he sees less than two a year, compared with five or six for Americans. And in the last 15 years, the number of theaters in Japan dropped from 7,500 to 2,500. Nikkatsu, Japan's oldest movie company, has $27.6 million deficit.

Imports such as "Jaws" and "Towering Inferno" are making inroads in Japan, which long had been one of the few countries where domestically produced films made more money than imports. But last year, for the first time, revenue from foreign films exceeded that of Japanese movies.

The malaise has hit each of the Big Four Japanese movie companies — Nikkatsu, Toho, Toei and Shochiku — which produced the bulk of domestic movies. They released 552 feature films in 1960 and 169 last year.

"Production costs are up tremendously, and it is very difficult to get investors for film making. The major companies are afraid to spend too much money," says Mrs. Kashiko Kawakita, head of the Japan Film Library Council.

The average budget for a film in Japan ranges from $300,000 to $800,000, peanuts by American standards where $1 million scrapes the bottom of the barrel and upwards of $20 million for "King King."

"There aren't as many people who want to spend a quiet evening at the movie theater," says Susuma Suzuki, secretary general of the Motion Picture Producers Association of Japan.

The industry, aware of the change in leisure time tastes, turned theaters into bowling alleys. Some of the major companies diversified, investing in condominiums, cooking schools, flower shops, golf courses, restaurant chains, sauna baths, car rental agencies and billiard parlors.

Now there are complaints that the companies are putting all of their money into far-flung enterprises instead of producing good films.

In Japan, unlike the United States, movie companies produce the films, distribute the films and book the films in the theaters which they own.

Porno films are forbidden, so the industry's board applies a strict code of ethics to avoid seizure and prosecution.

Wyatt will play key role in refinery tax tussling

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Taxes ought to be adjusted while there is a state surplus, regardless of the threat of veto, says the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Victoria, says he hopes Gov. Dolph Briscoe will permit new or additional taxes in one area so long as taxes are cut in another and the net tax burden remains the same.

"I think that's the best time in the world to adjust, when you're not under tremendous pressure. In other words, maybe we should raise the sales tax another cent and reduce property taxes. The governor on occasion has said he will look at a tax bill like that," Wyatt said.

In any event, the legislature should concentrate on its own business and leave it up to Gov. Dolph Briscoe to take care of his, he said.

"If the governor wants to veto a bill, fine. I see no harm in the legislature passing one, whether it be a refinery tax or sales tax or, you know, something else."

"It's the governor's prerogative to veto. It's the legislature's prerogative to pass," Wyatt said.

Implicit in that assessment is the political truth that vetoes sometimes can hurt governors at the ballot box.

Wyatt's committee handles most of the tax bills. As chairman, he is one of the most powerful men in the House.

Like a lot of politicians, Wyatt loves power and needed only to make an early selection of the right candidate for speaker to get his hands on some of the levers of government.

He supported Billy Clayton in January 1974, when Clayton looked no better than even money for finishing in a tie for second. Carl Parker of Port Arthur led nearly everybody's list as the favorite, and Fred Head of Athens appeared to have as good a chance to upset him as Clayton.

Wyatt had worked in Rayford Price's campaign in 1972. Clayton made him his campaign manager, and they took over the top floor of the historic Driskill Hotel in the final days to sweep the race with a telephone blitz.

"I had a great deal of time and was willing to spend my time on the speaker's race and did," Wyatt said.

Clayton rewarded him with the Ways and Means chairmanship, and Wyatt, a six-year House veteran with a degree in government from the University of Texas, dropped into that slot like a goldfish into a pond.

A 35-year-old bachelor, Wyatt has plenty of time to devote to government, one of his two great passions. The other is the Texas coast.

On his office wall hangs a painting — eight feet long and only a couple of feet high — of a solitary man standing in marsh grass alongside a coastal highway.

Wyatt goes to the coast, especially Matagorda Island, "as often as I can."

And when he is alone and the breeze is blowing and he hears the gulls and smells the salt water, what does he do?

"I just exist. You know, I'll get my float and go out, paddle out as far as I can in the bay and just let the damn thing float, you know, back to shore," he said.

Wyatt's father is a pumper for an oil company. His mother teaches government and speech at Bloomington High School.

Wyatt reaped a storm of criticism last year after he made a less than romantic characterization of the whooping crane.

"My statement was: they are dumb and blind birds, that more of 'em had been killed from flying into TV antennas than have been shot down."

He got telephone calls and letters from nearly everyone who thinks birds are pretty. Actually, Wyatt said, he wants to see the whoopers survive as much as anybody. He simply saw no point in defying them during discussions about the future of Matagorda Island.

Like a lot of people, Wyatt eats more than he should, but he has alternately stuffed himself and dieted.

"I'm a nervous eater," he said, sitting behind a desk with a brownie on one corner. A plate of cookies sat on a table in his secretaries' office outside.

He does not eat sweets regularly, he said, but "if I ever start, I'll eat a whole bowl."

Before his first legislative campaign in 1971, he carried 165 pounds on his six-foot frame. At the end of the primary in May, the scales said 192. Today, he weighs 204, but he has been as high as 240.

He trimmed down after deciding "I was either going to end up weighing 300 pounds and looking like Jesse Unruh or I was going to take it off."

A large fly walked across his desk. Wyatt picked up a pack of cigarettes (he smokes two packs a day) and dispatched the fly with what is known in baseball as an aspirin tablet pitch — so fast it looks like a white pill.

Wyatt shuns labels. "I feel like there are three ways to classify members of the House: on social votes, on business votes and on fiscal votes. Business — labor, environmental votes. Fiscal are budgetary in state government — whether to vote tax money for welfare or higher education, etc. I say I'm a fiscal moderate, a business conservative and a social (human rights) liberal."

His committee "has the unique ability to look at the income of the state, determine where it's going, where it should go, and furthermore to determine if it does go to one given place, what's going to happen to you down the line."

On the highway bill, for example, Wyatt said his committee "ought to have something to say about that because ultimately they're going to have to raise the taxes to pay for those damn highways."
