

On energy scene

Carter warns 'the sky is falling'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is preparing to warn the American people that "the sky is falling" as far as energy is concerned and that there must be sacrifices now to hold off abrupt and painful shortages in the future.

Carter is beginning an intensive campaign to win public acceptance of his national energy plan, which he will outline tonight in his second "fireside chat."

The energy policy will be revealed in depth on Wednesday when Carter addresses a joint session of Congress. The Oval Office address has been dubbed by some White House officials as Carter's "the sky is falling speech." It will begin a week largely devoted to persuading the public and Congress that stringent mandatory measures are needed to meet the nation's energy needs.

One White House official familiar with the prepared address said Carter "will tell them we must conserve now to avoid real hardships later on."

Carter's address will be broadcast on all major television networks at 7 p.m. CST.

The official said Carter will describe in straightforward terms the history of the energy crisis worldwide back to the 1930s, then will ask in advance for support of the tough energy package to be unveiled before Congress on Wednesday night.

Tonight, Carter is expected to compare the gravity of the energy problem to America's part in World War II, with a personal appeal to national unity and sacrifice designed "to avoid another Pearl Harbor," the White House official said.

The President remained in Washington over the weekend to put final touches on the energy package.

Aides to White House energy adviser James Schlesinger said final decisions on parts of the program were still being made Sunday afternoon.

The proposal has not yet been made public officially, but its major elements were one of Washington's worst kept secrets and were widely reported last week.

One source said over the weekend that an additional federal gasoline tax, which could rise to 50 cents a gallon by the mid 1980s, will be included in the plan. The federal gasoline tax now is four cents per gallon.

The source said there are other potentially controversial items, which remain unknown outside a small circle of presidential energy advisers. He declined to reveal them.

Carter will make three separate television appearances during the week to talk about energy problems and his proposals, which he has acknowledged will cost him 15 to 20 points in public opinion approval polls.

Besides tonight's speech and the address to Congress, the President also has scheduled a news conference Thursday morning to discuss energy.

In addition to the gasoline tax, Carter's program also is expected to offer tax incentives for homeowners to insulate their houses; require utility companies to convert to coal; allow domestic oil prices to rise to the world price level set by the 13 Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

No quick solution seen here for energy woes

Despite President Carter's expected "drastic" proposals tonight, area oilmen remain singularly unimpressed with any expected quick solutions to the energy crunch.

Local oil producer Ted Groebel said that the only proposal which would affect him directly was the flotation of oil prices to the OPEC level. Groebel said that phase of a Carter solution would correct long-standing inequities.

"I don't feel very kindly for 'em," he said wryly. "It's about time they woke up. They've been screaming 'import, import' for years. I kind of agree with the bumper sticker that says let them freeze."

Groebel pointed out that local oil prices now per barrel are at $5.25 for old oil up to about $12.00 for new. Import prices are $13.00 per barrel.

But, he believes, the major impact of such remedies as an increased federal gas tax or a gas-guzzler excise tax will serve chiefly to drive his own costs up, and make things tougher for everyone.

"The oil isn't gonna last forever," he predicts, "and we will need coal. They aren't making any more oil and we have more coal reserves than oil reserves, so I guess that utility companies will have to switch sometime."

Oil producer Ray Albaugh is more blunt. "He's crazy," was the first response. "He's off his rocker. Those taxes will just make things worse." Albaugh calls the gas hike, the car tax, and the tax incentives for insulation useless or worse. He believes they will only upset the economy.

"The answer to the energy crunch, the best short-term answer, is letting the oil price float to market value," he said, tipping his hat to one Carter proposal, "and to give the wildcatter a break on taxes. He's paying on everything now. The answer for this country is to get more oil out of the ground."

Of Carter's proposal for converting utility stations to coal, Albaugh comments, "All right, but they can't do it overnight, you know."

In short, these area oilmen view Carter's proposals with skepticism. The only answer, they say, is the one the rest of the country may not like to hear: the price of local oil is going up.

FBI, Justice fight over prosecution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like boxers dancing around each other, the Justice Department and the FBI are sparring over the issue of prosecuting FBI men for illegal bugging, wiretaps, and mail-opening operations.

The case is taking on political overtones though both sides have insisted for a year that decisions must be made strictly on the basis of the law.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley, in his first known effort to influence the department's decision, has publicly asked Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell to reconsider the indictment of a former bureau supervisor and the charges planned against other bureau men.

Q. Isn't it true that flying at Webb AFB will cease after July 15 for T33s and that the T37s have already quit flying?

A. Not according to the Webb information office. A spokesman says that both trainers are still in the air, that no date to end the flying has been set, and that no date is likely to be set until after the Congressional review period has expired.

Offbeat: Strong arm stuff

OTTUMWA, Iowa (AP) — Some people are afraid to shake the prize-winning mechanical hand that 15-year-old Frank Reynolds built after watching the television show, "The Six Million Dollar Man."

The hand forces 32 pounds of pressure when the polyurethane fingers noisily whir about.

"Some people wouldn't even touch it," Reynolds said. "I guess it scares them."

The arm is the third Reynolds has made and it won him first prize in the statewide Hawkeye Science Fair in Des Moines.

The arm is covered with a shirt sleeve and the hand with a plastic glove that makes it look remarkably real. It cost $340 and took about 1,000 hours to build the arm, he said.

Reynolds, said he wants to be a doctor specializing in replacing body limbs with mechanical ones hooked up to the nerve system.

"Stuff like this interests me," he said.

Russian oil crisis predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia now is self-sufficient in oil, but in a few years it will face an energy crisis that is likely to sharpen U.S.-Soviet rivalries in the Middle East, CIA analysts predict.

This is one of the most startling and, in the view of analysts, significant conclusions in a still-secret report to President Carter. That report, mentioned briefly by Carter last Friday, warns of a potential global oil shortage in less than 10 years.

Until the new CIA analysis was made, most experts had regarded Russia as the only major power without any serious worries about future energy supplies.

Russia now ranks as the biggest oil-refining nation in the world and has

Anti-Concorde demonstrators claim victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Demonstrators protesting landing rights for the Concorde supersonic transport at Kennedy airport here are claiming victory, even though they failed to shut down the airport as they predicted.

An estimated 550 cars converged on the airport Sunday and managed to slow auto traffic. The caravan was smaller than the 1,500-car demonstration that snarled roads leading to the field in February 1976.

The question is whether the demonstration will do what was intended — to keep the faster-than-sound English-French jet from being allowed to land at Kennedy. The protesters say the SST is too noisy and is an environmental hazard.

Capt. Ralph Combariati, commanding officer of the Port Authority Police at Kennedy, said the demonstrators "were effective. They made themselves heard."

Police said no passengers missed planes due to the protest, although some delays were reported.

The demonstrators undertook the protest action despite a State Supreme Court justice's order on Friday. They promised weekly repeats until the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey makes permanent its year-old ban against the Concorde's landing at Kennedy.

Backers of the Concorde say it is no noisier than the loudest subsonic plane. They also say they need the lucrative New York business to make the aircraft profitable. The plane, which carries only 100 passengers and uses more fuel than standard jets, reportedly lost $54 million in its first year of operation.

The 12 commissioners of the bi-state agency delayed decision on the Concorde last week for the third time pending evaluation of the SST's performance at Dulles Airport near Washington, D.C.

been lavish in exports, especially to its East European allies who receive an estimated 75 per cent of their oil supplies from the Soviet Union.

Russia also sells oil to West Germany, Denmark, Iceland and other NATO countries. On occasion, particularly during the Arab oil embargo after the 1973 Mideast war, oil exports gave Moscow a tool for applying political pressure.

U.S. intelligence analysts believe a sharp decline in Soviet oil supplies will force Russia to compete with the United States and Western Europe for Persian Gulf oil.

That, in turn, likely will sharpen U.S.-Soviet political rivalry in the already volatile Mideast, the analysts say.

On the other hand, a cutback in Soviet exports to East Europe would make communist countries there less dependent on Moscow.

Apart from political considerations, a reduction in Soviet oil exports to Western Europe could have economic consequences for Moscow because, analysts say, these sales account for much of Russia's hard currency acquisitions.

According to the CIA study, Russian oil production may peak as early as next year and certainly by the early 1980s. The study says significant declines will follow.

New discoveries have failed to keep pace with a growth in Soviet oil production, the study says.

Planting nears for farmers

"It couldn't have been a better rain or at a better time," County Agent Bruce Griffin said here this morning when looking back at the rainfall in the county since Thursday.

Total rainfall varied from 3.3 to 5.2 inches, but rain fell all over the county making it possible for all farmers to plant on time this cotton season.

"Most farmers will probably plant about the first of May, although a few plan to plant a week earlier. The soil temperature should be between 60 and 65 degrees and some days it is," Griffin added.

Ranchers are also pleased with the rainfall which they claimed is "just right for growth of grass on this year's range."

In town, some rain gauges measured as much as 5.02 total since Thursday. The experiment station showed a total of 3.32 including .38 on Saturday.

Its soil temperature recording showed a high of 64 and a low of 58.

At Luther, the three-day rain totaled 4.2 and was four inches east of there. In Forsan, the total was 3.5 inches and Coahoma, the total was 3.25. Sand Springs had 3.3. Ackerly measured 2.9.

In surrounding communities, Glasscock County measured two inches. Agent Oliver West said some of the farmers plan to plant around April 20 if it's dry enough.

In Dawson County, the rainfall was heavier in the eastern portion of the county. Joe Ed Wise, agent, said "It was a great rain — nice and slow. But we averaged only about an inch or a little over. We could really use another shower before planting time, but this really helped."

"There was already an extremely good underground moisture condition enhanced by an inch of rain on March 30," he added.

Martin County rain averaged close to 1.75 inches. Mitchell County Agent Bob Benson said their rain varied from 2.5 to 3.5 inches in Mitchell County.

"We are already planting grain sorghum and probably will plant cotton about mid-May," he said this morning. "We expect around 12 to 14,000 acres of grain this year."

Benson said, "This rain was unbelievably well timed for our farmers."

Owen Ivie of Colorado River Municipal Water District, said that Robert Lee caught one half vertical foot elevation which is around 3,000 acre-feet and Lake Thomas caught around 1,200 acre-feet. "Most of this rainfall went in the ground rather than in runoff, but we were glad to catch what we did," Ivie added.

Briscoe allows school bill debate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe today cleared the way for full House debate on all subjects covered by the $708 million school finance bill that was knocked off the calendar last Thursday after three days of consideration.

House members were to start over on the school finance legislation when they convened this afternoon.

"I am sending an emergency message on every bill the speaker requested," Briscoe told reporters.

Speaker Bill Clayton sustained a point of order Thursday against further debate of the school finance bill. He said he had no choice because it contained several provisions not covered by Briscoe's emergency message allowing it to be taken up ahead of the general appropriation bill.

The bill subsequently was trimmed to fit the governor's emergency message, and five additional bills were calendared covering provisions outside the original message.

Briscoe's new messages authorized those five to be considered before the appropriation bill also.

The measures would: —Specify that a district would not immediately lose state aid even if the new data for distributing such funds indicate it should. This is called a "hold harmless" provision.

—Provide teachers for migrant children under the Foundation School Program.

—Increase state funding for driver education.

—Increase the number of teachers for kindergarten through third grade.

—Mandate a school tax freeze next year, followed by reductions in most districts in 1978-1979—if it turns out such a bill is needed.

Staff members of the House Public Education Committee believed mandatory property tax relief fell within the governor's original message but are taking no chances.

"We put that in just in case for some off the wall reason it is knocked off," said a committee staffer.

Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, who raised the point of order against the school bill Thursday, distributed data he said proved it is inequitable. Rich districts get more relief in the form of additional state aid than poor ones, he said.

He listed three districts as examples — North Forest, a property poor district; Tyler, an average one; and Utopia, a rich one. North Forest would get $188 per pupil in additional aid, Tyler $96 and Utopia $271, Bryant said.

In mandated tax relief per pupil, North Forest would get $22.70, Tyler $24.30 and Utopia $145, he said.

"Utopia has 20 times the tax base per pupil that North Forest has, yet will receive 33 per cent more state aid per pupil under this bill," Bryant said.

The bill, he said, "moves Texas one step closer to the state or federal courthouse" because of its alleged inequities.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's new government impounded the passport of ex-Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's son Sanjay and named a judge to investigate his financial dealings and alleged abuse of Mrs. Gandhi's influence.

Confiscation of the passport prevents 30-year-old Sanjay from leaving the country.

Local newspapers said the government also picked up the passport of Bansi Lal, Mrs. Gandhi's defense minister. Home Minister Charan Singh indicated the reports were correct.

Mrs. Rabin fined

JERUSALEM (AP) — A district judge fined Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's wife $26,852 for the $21,101 she and her husband kept in two illegal Washington bank accounts, and Rabin announced he would take an extended leave of absence on Friday. Rabin, who was fined $1,611 last week because he was a coholder of the accounts, said he would turn the government over to Defense Minister Shimon Peres. Peres succeeded Rabin as leader of the Labor party after his attempt to cover up the size of the account failed.

Premier's party rules

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Premier Leo Tindemans' Social Christians emerged today from national elections still Belgium's largest party and with six more seats in Parliament. Tindemans indicated he would ask the opposition Socialists to join in a coalition. There was no immediate response from the Socialists, who campaigned against the premier's austerity program.

Invaders driven back

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — President Mobutu Sese Seko's troops have driven the invaders in southern Zaire back 15 miles and checked their advance on Kolwezi, the copper-mining center, the government news agency AZAP says. The government report said Zairean troops launched a counter-offensive Saturday night and captured arms, medical supplies and one wounded prisoner.

Mondale has better job?

DETROIT (AP) — Vice President Walter Mondale says he's got a better job than President Carter.

"Just think about it. On Inauguration Day, I rode all the way ... the President had to walk," Mondale said in a tongue-in-cheek speech at the Michigan Democratic party's annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

"And you notice when I get off a plane, I'm not carrying any luggage. I've got a man to do that. The President has to carry his own," the Vice President said.

"And look where we travel — I go to Paris, Rome, London. He goes to Pittsburgh, Springfield and Charleston, W.Va.

"When I went to London, I stayed with the queen at Buckingham Palace. He went to Clinton, Mass., and stayed with beer distributors."

Rumsfeld gets big job

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — Former Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld has been elected president and chief executive officer of G.D. Searle & Co., an international health care company.

Rumsfeld, 44, an ex-Illinois congressman and chief aide to former President Gerald Ford, will assume his new positions June 1. No salary was announced.

Rumsfeld, who is teaching at the Northwestern University Graduate School of Management, was elected on Sunday by the executive committee of the Searle board of directors.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate abandoned plans to take up President Carter's economic stimulus tax bill today, because he has discarded proposals for a $50 payment to most Americans.

Sources close to the bill's managers said they decided on further discussions as to how to handle the remainder of the tax bill, a major component of the administration's two-year, economic stimulus package. The Senate Finance Committee scheduled a meeting Tuesday morning.

Before leaving for a 10-day Easter recess, the Senate had scheduled the big Carter tax bill for immediate attention on its return today. The House already passed a version that included Carter's plan to send $50 rebates to most Americans in a one-shot economic stimulation effort.

But Carter has given up on the $50 payments and Senate handlers of the bill now seem certain to put off action while they decide whether to consider the measure at all. They could decide to salvage portions of Carter's plan by attaching them to other measures.

Republicans, meanwhile, were repeating their demands for a permanent tax cut in place of the one-time rebates and other payments, even though Carter said at a news conference Friday he would veto any legislation containing such provisions.

With the removal of the immediate prospect of a long debate over the $50 payments, Congress turned its attention to Carter's proposals for a national energy program. The President is to present them formally at a joint House and Senate session Wednesday, but is to outline them to the country in a broadcast talk tonight.

It already is generally known that the energy package combines mandatory conservation measures, such as an increase in the gasoline tax of as much as 50 cents a gallon over a period of several years. The package also is expected to include a tax of up to $2,500 on new gas-guzzling cars, along with incentives to both individuals and businesses to conserve fuel.

Pair trying to sue after vasectomy, abortion fail

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The parents of a child conceived despite a vasectomy and born despite an abortion have asked a Superior Court to rule that they may sue two doctors for damages.

Frank and Dorothy Speck decided against having any more children after their first two daughters were born with neurofibromatosis, a rare crippling disease which forms tumors on the nerves.

Their third daughter, Francine, was born with the same disease.

Their original suit against the doctors who performed the vasectomy and the abortion was thrown out by an Allegheny County judge.

But the couple's attorney, Thomas Hollander, argued that the ruling ignored the issue involved in the litigation and has asked the Superior Court to reinstate the suit.

"Each doctor breached his agreement with the Specks, each was negligent and each misrepresented the success of their respective services," argued Hollander.

"We are not saying they are bad doctors. We are saying that in this case they made a mistake."

Three years ago, the couple decided their limited income and the risk that they might produce a third sickly child made permanent birth control necessary.

Speck had a vasectomy in April 1974, and Dr. Richard Feingold allegedly assured him no further contraceptive measures were necessary.

However, Mrs. Speck became pregnant a few months later. The Specks decided she should have an abortion and it was performed in December by Dr. J.J. Schwartz, who allegedly said it was successful.

It was not. Francine was born four months early — afflicted with neurofibromatosis.

The suit seeks damages for Francine's pain and suffering as a result of the unwanted birth and the cost to her parents of her medical care.

Filings boost is noted here

Both district and county courts gained in number of cases awaiting trial during March. County Clerk Margaret Ray and District Clerk Peggy Crittenden reported an increase in filings.

On the district level, 201 criminal cases awaited trial at the beginning of the month. Fifty-six were filed during the month, and 15 disposed of, leaving 242 awaiting trial. Of the dispositions, eight came on guilty pleas, two on jury verdicts (for murder and sale of marijuana), and five were dismissed.

In civil proceedings, 1,493 cases were pending at the beginning of the month. Ninety-two were filed, and 48 disposed of, leaving 1,537 awaiting trial for April.

In county court, 507 criminal cases were pending at the first of March. Ninety-three cases were added and 10 disposed of, leaving 590 cases awaiting trial. Of the pleas, nine were guilty or nolo contendere and one was dismissed.

Two hundred and seven civil cases awaited trial on March 1. An additional seven cases were added and seven were disposed of, leaving 207 cases awaiting trial in April. Four of the dispositions were dismissals by the judge.

Aniceto Fierro, 604 N.W. 5th, reported that one of the windows in the front of his home was lost to a flying whiskey bottle late Saturday night.

Virginia Hill, 200 N.W. 2nd, reported to police that someone had taken her purse when she left it in the ladies' lounge at the Jet Drive Inn. at

Beef referendum looms Faith in program asked

The registration and voting will be at the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

One of the three largest cattle producing states — either Iowa, Missouri or Texas has to be one of the states approving the financing plan in order for it to carry nationally.

The investment needed for the program is provided by a collection of 3-10ths of 1 per cent on the sale of each animal. It's based on a "value added" system that guarantees each person pays only his fair share.

Texas is listed as a separate area in the initial geographic breakdown with seven members on the Beef Board. County Agent Bruce Griffin made arrangements for the local meeting.

A similar meeting is scheduled tonight in Colorado City at City National Bank with Dink Rees, Mitchell County Beef Development Task Force chairman, urging all persons who own or have owned beef or dairy cattle within the last 12 months to attend this meeting.

Mistrial sparks feud

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — An offshoot of millionaire Cullen Davis' capital murder trial here may be a separate confrontation today between defense attorney Richard (Racehorse) Haynes and Tarrant County Dist. Atty. Tim Curry.

After nearly eight weeks, the Davis case collapsed in a mistrial when District Judge Tom Cave determined one of the eight jurors selected had expressed an opinion about Davis' alleged guilt to a friend.

At a press conference afterward, Haynes implied Curry wanted the mistrial to occur.

Curry responded by threatening to file a grievance with the State Bar Grievance Committee for unethical practices. Curry said today he was not "just popping off" when he made the threat.

"No. I was very serious," Curry said. "I have the transcript from the press conference in my pocket, but I haven't had a chance to go through it all yet."

Curry said he would probably make a decision on whether to file the grievance after reading the transcript.

Meanwhile, Curry and his staff are awaiting a defense motion asking for a new bond hearing for Davis. The 43-year-old industrialist has been confined in the Tarrant County jail since last fall when Cave ordered him jailed without bond.

Davis is charged with slaying his stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, 12, during a midnight shooting spree at his $6 million mansion here. One other person died and two more were wounded.

Davis faces charges ranging from capital murder to attempted murder in all four shootings.

"We are expecting something to be filed sometime this morning," said Curry, adding that in order for Cave to grant a new hearing, the defense must present some new and relevant evidence in the case.

During the last bond hearing, the state presented two witnesses, and both identified Davis as the gunman.

Priscilla Davis' estranged wife, and Gus Gavril Jr., a chance visitor at the mansion that night, told the court Davis was the man who shot them.

Broadus is winner here

Sgt. Morris Broadus of Big Spring will be one of two representatives from the district of Toastmasters International who will compete in the Area-3 contests to be held in Lubbock.

Sgt. Broadus won first place in the Tall Tale division at the district meet here over the weekend, with a speech on "How to Kick the Television Habit."

First place in the other division was won by Ms. Sharon Goodwin of Odessa on "ERA — One Person's Opinion." These two first-place winners will represent the district in the contest.

Other speakers here over the weekend included Richard Palmer, Big Spring; Tom Hoot, Odessa; Dave Randle, Butch Barrie, Tom Buford, Wayne Slemmons and Glenn Burch, all of Midland.

The Spring Club of Big Spring was host for the event. Richard Palmer of Big Spring is administrative governor for the eastern part of the area. Broadus is local president.

The local club held its weekly meeting this morning at Coker's and Sgt. Jerry Sugar won the ice breaker for the day. Best table topics awards went to Rod Lewis and Randy Hollar and Palmer was evaluator.

Weather — Some flooding still troubles Texans

Texas' siege of storms slacked today but flood crests still tumbled down a number of streams.

Rains which sent water rising in many areas also diminished, although scattered showers persisted in early morning over about the southeast half of the state, generally east and north of a line linking Port Arthur, Abilene and Wichita Falls. A few showers also fell between Canadian and Shamrock on the east side of the Texas Panhandle.

Forenoon fog in the central part of the Panhandle dropped visibility below one-quarter mile at Amarillo and to a mile or less along the Texas Coast.

TMA wants malpractice bill transplants

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Medical Association set out today to graft amendments onto a malpractice insurance bill that it insists "falls far short" of reducing rates that have soared in the past 2-12 years.

The association announced that 15,000 responses from people favoring its position would be awaiting senators in their offices before they debate the House-approved proposal.

It stated that of all the medical malpractice suits, 70 per cent have been filed since 1972 and 18 per cent last year alone.

It said despite "many, many hours" of discussion with legislators, the Texas Trial Lawyers Association and Texas Hospital Association, "no agreement could be reached" on a bill.

Sponsors in the House, however, hailed the measure that it passed, 135-1, on March 24 as a "fragile compromise."

Key provisions limit malpractice judgments to $500,000, except when medical expenses run higher, and require that all malpractice suits be screened before trial by panels of three doctors.

The bill also requires 60 days' notice before a patient could sue his doctor.

TMA president L.S. Thompson Jr. of Dallas said the bill "isn't even half a loaf. It's one-fourth of a loaf — and that is not enough to have a meaningful effect on reducing rates."

Malpractice was only one of at least four major proposals on the legislative calendar today.

The session seemed to reach its nadir of futility last Thursday when objections wiped out four days work on a $708 million school bill.

Downpour hampers barbecue

An evening at the Gary Turner Ranch Saturday honoring foreign students at Webb Air Force Base turned out to be an adventure in getting there through the rain.

The bus loaded with the students got stuck en route to the ranch and was pulled out with pickups and jeeps by ranch hands.

Over 100 persons attended the event which was hosted by the committee and members of the hospitality committee of the Century Club.

Chairmen of the event along with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Turner and Mrs. Dorothy Garrett were Jimmy Taylor, Adolph Swartz and Capt. Ernie Perrow.

Guests were served assorted hors d'ouvres including baskets of Spanish tomatoes, fresh vegetables, stuffed jalapenos, sausage, and fresh fruit.

Barbecue, beans and all of the trimmings were served from tables laid in checked tablecloths and centered with arrangements of guided cowboy boots and tumble weeds.

Bales of hay were stacked in the barn for seats and the barbecue served off the patio of the ranch home.

Communities invariably recover

The President's Economic Adjustment Committee has published a booklet entitled: "Economic Recovery: Community Response to Defense Decisions to Close Bases."

The booklet was passed to me by Big Spring City Manager Harry Nagel for what information might be pertinent to readers of the Herald.

THE MOST INTERESTING chart showed that in 22 communities that had lost bases, the employment at the base had actually recovered even before the military level.

A the 22 bases, military employment had been 45,429.

The booklet said that present employment on the bases now totaled 46,667. It also claimed that 25,759 new jobs had been created off base which were related to the base conversion activities.

Many of the towns used a portion of their base for education purposes, and the employment figures did not include 27,558 students.

Granted, these were 22 bases where the communities did not sit back on their thumbs. They leaped forward and made things happen.

ONE OF THE examples given is Amarillo, which lost 7,137 jobs when its air base closed. The booklet contends that 7,458 new jobs on and off the base have been created since the base phase-down began in 1964 and ended with closure in 1968.

Big Spring is not alone in facing this problem. The Department of Defense says that 1,400 military bases and establishments have been closed since 1968. Most of them were small, but many were much larger than Webb.

The closures created problems in the communities, but they were not anything that hard work and determination could not solve.

What to do

Around the rim

Bill Werrell

What should one do if it ever rains again?

We all spent most of last week under pregnant black clouds, rain, some hail, and often heard reports of special events cancelled because of the precipitation.

We all nodded our heads and said, "Well, that's too bad, but we sure need the moisture. At least there won't be any more dust storms for awhile."

I WAS ABLE to go along with these sentiments for awhile, and was even enthusiastic to a point.

That point came to an end when I awoke to the sound of the soft drizzle of rain drops on my roof Saturday morning.

Enough was enough, it was raining on my day off. I raised up in bed and peered out the window, and seeing my ears weren't playing tricks on me, I gazed about the room.

There was the brand-new croquet set, a birthday present from the day before, sitting by the door. Over in the corner, the fishing pole, all ready to go, and with new line on the reel. Coiled by the rod, was my new purple worm lure which Reagan had guaranteed for a big bass.

Hanging over my head in all its colorful splendor was my winged box kite, recently repaired and ready for another bout with the wind, or mesquite tree, it was just waiting for a nice day.

I lowered myself back into my pillow and pulled the blankets over my head, contemplating the fact that today was the perfect day to sleep well into the afternoon.

HAPPILY HUGGING my pillow, I thought about how this was, then my feet began to sweat, my stomach to growl, and my comfort, to diminish.

It was time to get up and face the reality of finding something to do on a rainy day.

My spirits were low as I thought back to what used to be an enjoyable way to spend these days which had to be spent indoors.

First there was the shoebox, full of crayons, blunt point scissors, bits of colorful string, paste, and scribing paper, and all the other rainy day equipment recommended by Captain Kangaroo.

With these implements, I used to build railroad yards of oatmeal box locomotives, fleets of pie-plate battleships and cracker box cities.

Next, I remember "Testors" cement, plastic model airplanes and submarines, and headaches from glue inhalation.

There were also the games mother made up, like; "Who can make up the bed fastest," or "Let's clean the basement."

Lacking a basement to clean, the desire for a headache, and my shoe box, I sat in front of the TV Saturday, and bent giraffes out of pipe cleaners.

Finally the truth

William F. Buckley, Jr.

On Feb. 28, 1972, Sen. James Buckley said on the floor of the Senate that the Shanghai Communiqué signed by President Nixon and Chou Enlai was being "widely interpreted both at home and abroad as signaling the ultimate abandonment of Taiwan." Senator Buckley was not alone. Mr. Joseph Kraft had written from Shanghai, "The big American loss, of course, came with respect to Taiwan. The final communiqué . . . makes no mention of the security treaty that binds the United States to support Taiwan against a takeover by force. It was the first time Mr. Nixon himself has climbed down in so explicit a fashion."

STAN KARNOW OF the Washington Post had written, "Mr. Nixon acknowledged that the United States 'does not challenge' Peking's claim that Taiwan is Chinese territory, and that there is only one China. He further reaffirmed that the Taiwan question should be resolved 'by the Chinese themselves,' thereby emphasizing that the United States no longer bears responsibility for the problem. These U.S. positions thus concede to the Chinese government what it has been requesting for years."

Now all this deeply alarmed President Nixon. He was being challenged in New Hampshire in the Republican primary by Representative John Ashbrook, and he was otherwise nervous about the forthcoming political contest and the possible defection of American conservatives. So what did he do? He called in Senator Goldwater and lied to him.

Sen. Goldwater, on March 1, addressing American conservatives in general, cautioned them not to heed the "terrible distortions" of the communiqué made by "newspaper reporters and news commentators." He told us all that he had talked "personally" to President Nixon and to Henry Kissinger, (then National Security Adviser) and to William Rogers (then Secretary of State), and that they reassured him that nothing was lost, no change in attitude toward Taiwan was in prospect. "We have not given away one single thing to the Red Chinese," said the Senator, serving as Charlie McCarthy to Richard Nixon.

We now know that Sen. Goldwater was bamboozled. Hardly his fault, inasmuch as one tends to believe statements made eye-to-eye by Presidents of the United States, notwithstanding the historical case for skepticism.

In February of this year Joseph Kraft wrote that "It now seems apparent that Nixon and Kissinger virtually assured Peking that they would scrap the Taiwan connection in a couple of years." This didn't surprise Kraft, who had interpreted the communiqué as promising that, in effect, but — interestingly enough — it did surprise Carter, whose aides called on Nixon's lawyers to come up with the working papers drafted after the meetings between Nixon and Chou. And, sure enough, there it was: Nixon promising to "normalize" relations with mainland China.

"Normalize" means: rescinding the mutual defense treaty with Taiwan and withdrawing diplomatic representation — at which point China would vouchsafe to receive our ambassador. We shall see whether President Carter proceeds to bring on "normalization." There is time to argue the merits of the matter, since the word is Mr. Carter does not intend to move until the fall.

TRICKY DICK. I remember, a fortnight before we all packed off for China, an hour with Mr. Robert Abplanalp, one of the two closest friends of the President, a genial, intelligent man, devoutly anti-Communist.

One symptom doesn't 'disease' make

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can you tell me about Simmond's disease? My periods stopped 12 years ago. I've seen numerous gynecologists, but none of them seem to offer any cures. I'll be 30 this year and I still can pass for 21.

My family doctor feels that I shouldn't worry about this disease because it only makes me more anxious than I already am. Is this a problem for an endocrinologist? — Mrs. L.K.

This is a rare and serious problem with some fairly dramatic symptoms, most of which you don't mention in your letter. Did one of those gynecologists mention Simmond's disease to you, or is this your suspicion?

S.D. is an underfunctioning of the pituitary gland, the bean-sized "master" gland whose hormones control other glands in the body. The symptoms thus reflect deficiencies in other glands, including the thyroid. Periods may stop, but that is only one possible symptom. You would be listless and show loss of pubic and underarm hair. Your skin would be dry and you would have low blood pressure. The whole picture is one of undernourishment, and instead of looking younger, as you say you do, you would be inclined to look more aged.

The only symptom you mention is absence of menstruation. There can be other reasons for this.

Diagnosis of S.D. is not made easily. It requires specific tests and long observation. You mention seeing numerous gynecologists. Why not stay with one long enough for a thorough evaluation?

As serious and difficult as S.D. can be, there is something that can be done. Missing hormones, whether of the pituitary or other glands, can be supplied.

An endocrinologist (a gland specialist) would be able to tell you whether you have S.D. or not. I suggest you see one, because it appears this is going to haunt you until you find out for sure.

A little medical information is sometimes more dangerous than none at all. I see this in some of my mail, where a writer has consulted a medical text armed with a symptom or two, then settled on a disease to match them, usually the most serious one available.

I can't say for certain this is what you have done, but I have a strong suspicion it is.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I received my copy of your booklet on gout. Will you kindly let me know what purines are? The word is not listed in the dictionary. — C.B.

I can't imagine writing anything concerning gout without including references to purines. You must have speed-read your copy — or page 10 is missing (which I doubt): "Purines are amino acids which turn to uric acid in the system." I go on to list foods high in purines (such as organ meats). The relationship to gout is that uric acid may lead to the formation of urates, the ultimate culprit in gout. Read the booklet again — more slowly.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A while back you had an article on diaper rash. My daughter had this problem with her new baby. She had been using disposable diapers, and switched to regular ones. The rash disappeared. I thought this might help other young mothers who have this problem. — Grandma.

It can be a factor, and it is worthwhile switching — either to another brand or to cloth diapers to see if there is any improvement.

Nothing against disposables, or against one brand or another. Some tots may be sensitive to them, that's all.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that dwellings of brick emanate dangerous radiation that is injurious to health. In your opinion is there any truth in this? — Mrs. A.K.

Never heard of it, until now. I don't know any reason to believe it.

Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Fidel 'fantastic'

Liz Smith

Sand in my shoes: Karen Lerner, one of the producers of NBC-TV's underpraised rarity, "Weekend," was invited personally to accompany Sen. George McGovern on that recent visit with Fidel Castro in Cuba. After NBC's camera crews covering the Cuban and South Dakota college basketball games had left, McGovern asked Karen to stay on for four hours of talk with Fidel.

The attractive brunette, Karen, who is one of the innumerable former wives of Broadway's Alan Jay Lerner (but one of the ex-Mrs. L.'s who works hard for a living) says this of Cuba's premier.

"He is fantastic, a charming man with a soft gentle voice. He didn't speak English because he said he was 'out of practice.'" One thing the premier discussed was his problem in getting exercise on his recent six weeks trip to Russia and Africa. Castro confided that he had to jump up and down in his hotel rooms to stay in shape.

So, CIA, if you were wondering what that incessant thumping noise was from Castro's room, now you know.

It never rains, but . . . Here's word on another of the ex-wives of the man who helped write "My Fair Lady" and other hits we all know and love. This time it's the blond Michelle Lerner who has made a deal to sell her first screenplay "Michelle Esquire" to the French filmmaker Claude Chabrol. The movie is about Michelle's experience as a 20-year-old trial attorney in Paris and she wants Isabelle Adjani to portray her younger self defending an American rapist. And they want Jack Nicholson for the rapist.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: On learning that she has cancer, my daughter has turned her back on everyone and has given up hope. Is there any Scripture that might revive her hope? — J.P.

DEAR J.P.: Hope in what? That she will get well?

God can do anything He wills. Occasionally He wills to heal. However, since the only certain thing about life is death, we must be prepared.

A dear friend of mine found that his wife was dying of cancer. He prayed and believed God had healed her. Suddenly, she died. I will never forget the letter this man wrote after burying his loved wife. "We have learned there is a greater miracle than that of healing," he wrote, "there is the resurrection."

Pray that God will through your daughter see that help Jesus' death on the Cross for her, all glory lies ahead.

Big--and bigger

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Out of obscurity, International Telephone and Telegraph has leaped into the top ranks of international industrial corporations.

This spectacular growth was not achieved by the traditional routes to corporate success. ITT is not known for developing new products or introducing revolutionary marketing techniques. Nor has ITT produced a new mousetrap, a cheaper one or a better-packaged one.

ITT has soared to the industrial heights by buying up existing companies at an ever-accelerating pace. The consortium has also laid political pipelines that reach into the inner councils of governments around the world.

IN WASHINGTON, ITT opened an office five blocks from the White House. Like the great government departments, ITT had its Office of Congressional Liaison and its Congressional Relations Section. One side of the Congressional Relations Section worked the Democrats, the other the Republicans.

We keep our own charts on corporate activity; they graph not the statistics found in business journals, but the corporate handouts to politicians. On this indicator, ITT showed a rising curve in the 1960s that kept pace with its climb on Dow Jones.

The company gave away free plane rides, cut-rate vacations, touring cars for congressional junketeers, legal business to the law firms of public officials and other forms of gravy, including a highly organized program of campaign contributions.

We exposed most of this in the early 1970s. We also reported that ITT had developed a cozy relationship with the Nixon Administration. Together, they conspired to block the duly elected president of Chile, Salvador Allende, from assuming office. ITT officials at first denied, but later admitted, their complicity. They continued to insist that corporate money hadn't been used to influence political events in Chile. Then ITT Chairman Harold Geneen confessed that $350,000 may have been funneled to Allende's opponents.

Meanwhile, ITT has faded from the headlines. But many conscientious stockholders have been working quietly to clean up the company. More than 150 church groups, for example, own corporate stock. They have banded together under the Interfaith Center for Corporate Responsibility to demand a detailed account of all "political contributions, bribes and other questionable payments of $2,000 or more that may have been funneled candidates" by ITT.

SHIPPING IN THE back door of the Securities and Exchange Commission, ITT executives tried to get excused from publishing this request in their annual proxy statement. But the commission turned thumbs down and ordered them to publish Chilean resolution.

An ITT spokesman said the company wanted to omit the resolution from its proxy statement because it was similar to another resolution.

BROKEN PROMISE — President Carter has made an extra effort to keep his campaign promises to the American people. But like most presidents before him, he has finally broken one.

The broken promise involves a story we reported on Sept. 22, 1976. We reported that then-President Gerald Ford, prodded by Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander, abandoned the use of tax enforcement to catch drug traffickers.

Top narcotics dealers rarely handle the drugs themselves. Instead, they rake in huge profits from street sales and hide their illegal spoils in foreign banks. Clearly, Internal Revenue is an essential agency in making strong cases against these moneyed mobsters.

Helsinki in Leningrad

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — If proof is needed that the 1975 Helsinki agreement signed by the Soviet Union changed nothing inside Russia, the arrest and five-year jail sentence for a young Belgian political activist will supply it in detail.

The nearly unbelievable case of Antoon Pyppe, a 31-year-old Flemish citizen of Belgium, is particularly depressing for Westerners who believed that the fine print in "Basket II" of the Helsinki accords — the section promising human and civil rights — would in some small way moderate human life in the Soviet Union. Apparently not. Pyppe now becomes the first Westerner to be sentenced to jail for "anti-Soviet agitation" since the final act of the Helsinki agreement was signed by the Soviet Union and 34 other countries.

HIS ARREST, trial and sentence to five years at hard labor constitutes Moscow's first public disclosure that the post-Helsinki fate of Soviet citizens is shared by citizens of free countries who publicly lobby inside the Soviet Union for Soviet compliance with its Helsinki undertakings.

The verdict of guilty against Pyppe was brought on by his insistence on handing out political pamphlets in the vicinity of the Leningrad University on March 23. Addressed to "the citizens of the Soviet Union," Pyppe's 2,000 pamphlets (of which about 42 had actually been distributed) lobbied for such wicked ends as the "implementation of all clauses of the Helsinki accord" and "withdrawal of all forces from the countries of Eastern Europe."

Precisely these aims are the ideological and political goals of an outlawed Russian liberation movement called the Union of Russian Solidarity, singled out for commendation by Pyppe. In an open letter to the Belgian press before his Dec. 20 departure for Leningrad, Pyppe declared that it was "my right actually to participate in the free exchange of ideas and information between East and West . . . After signing the Helsinki agreement, the Soviet leaders insist on their right to continue the ideological offensive outside the Soviet bloc. This right is reciprocal."

THAT ASPIRATION is remarkably close to the public statement of Jimmy Carter just two days after Pyppe's arrest (apparently sheer coincidence). The President said then:

"Mr. Brezhnev and his predecessors have never refrained from expressing their view when they disagreed with some aspect of social or political life in the free world and I think we have a right to speak out openly when we have a concern about human rights wherever those abuses occur."

Pyppe agreed, but got himself arrested and jailed when he tested his theory at Leningrad University.

JUST HEDGING AROUND — Raymond L. Kennedy at 410 W. 8th, said he's cut this wax leaf ligustrum hedge back from the porch roof several times, most recently when he painted the house. However, that bush likes it up at the top of that rain spout, so it stays there. "I probably couldn't grow it there if I was trying," Kennedy added.

Violence toll upped by rain-slick roads

Rain-slicked roadways contributed to the violent death toll in Texas during the weekend. Reports of 14 fatalities between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday were tabulated by The Associated Press — 10 in traffic accidents, three from gunfire.

The city spent $19.70 last month for distilled water to provide drinking water for the City Water Office where there is no piped-in water. "Some of that water is used in the laboratory there to check the biochemical oxygen content of our city water. There are also copious amounts of grain alcohol used in the lab, but, as far as I know, none of this is used for drinking purposes," said Bill Brown, assistant city manager.

and a drowning. These were among the victims: Robert Garza, 19, was killed on Interstate 35 about a mile west of Palacios early Sunday when a car rammed into a palm tree. A companion suffered injuries. Two Center residents died early Sunday when their vehicle hit a culvert on Texas 87 near Timpson in Shelby County. They were Ola Patton, 43, and her daughter Annette, 17. Mrs. Patton's husband, Wyatt Patton Jr., was taken to a hospital in Shreveport, La., for treatment of injuries believed to be critical. Ronnie Westerman, 28, drowned Sunday while trying to cross a small dam over Salt Creek in Graham. A head-on crash before dawn Sunday killed Fawn Specht, 20, of El Paso on a downtown street there.

Group seeking salary boost

SNYDER — Snyder teachers are petitioning the Snyder school board for a pay raise. Ollie Peak, a spokesman for the teachers, told the trustees recently that teachers' salaries have gone up 28.39 per cent during the period from 1970 until 1977 but the cost of living has escalated 49.3 per cent.

Teacher raise request tabled

BROWNWOOD — The Brownwood school board has tabled a request for a teacher's pay raise. Trustees had been asked to consider $200 per year pay boosts for all teachers in the system. Had the raises been granted, the money would have had to come from increased taxes.

Tower in dark about package

MIDLAND — U.S. Senator John Tower (R-Tex.) told an audience of 250 here last week he had no idea what will be included in President Carter's energy package due this week. "I can't even guess," Tower said. "All I can do or anyone can do is make suppositions from rumors and a few leaks that have been reported." Judging from the rumors circulating in Washington, says Tower, the oil producer is in for a lot of trouble. He said he was referring to the rumor of controls on natural gas destined to spread into the intra-state market. Tower added he did believe there would be a heavy thrust on conservation in Carter's message.

Benton C. Bordelon Jr., 26, a narcotics agent, was found shot to death near Richmond in Fort Bend County early Saturday. Investigators obtained an arrest warrant accusing two Houston men of capital murder. Officers said Bordelon, who was in Texas on an undercover narcotics assignment, was shot six times.

A Fort Worth man was shot to death outside a cafe there Friday night. He was as Samuel Wyatt, 26.

Diana Beasley, 29, died Saturday when a pickup truck overturned on U.S. 287 north of Amarillo.

A Houston woman died Saturday in a two-car accident in Montgomery County. Officers identified her as Pamela Pope Campbell, 24.

Robert Walter Whitehurst, 44, of Livingston, died Friday night when his car ran off a farm road near Livingston.

Alfredo Chavez of Juarez, Mexico, was killed on a residential street just east of downtown El Paso Friday night. He was the lone passenger in a vehicle that was in collision with another car carrying three persons.

Maria Galvon of El Paso, a passenger in the other vehicle, also was killed.

Brown is mayor

CISCO — Hugh (Chief) Brown has been sworn in as mayor of Cisco. Brown took office Tuesday along with two new city council members, Narvin Fleming and Louise Allison.

Casa Manana books stars

FORT WORTH — Florence Henderson, popular and talented singer-actress of Broadway, movie and television fame, is the first star of the one week special concerts to be announced for the Casa Manana summer season.

Miss Henderson, star of the popular television show, "The Brady Bunch", will appear Sept. 5 through Sept. 10, according to Bud Franks and Jack Bunch, co-producers. She has been a frequent guest on the "Johnny Carson Show", also filling his place as host for the "Tonight Show", as well as many other television specials.

Another star, Jean Pierre Aumont has been signed to appear in the musical, "Gigi", to play June 27 through July 9. Aumont will play the role of Honore, which was played by Maurice Chevalier in the movie version. The movie, stage and television personality will be making his first appearance in Fort Worth on Casa Manana's round stage.

Make plans now for park visit

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
The National Park System expects crowds this year to top the record bicentennial turnout. It's time to plan if you expect to be among the millions visiting federal sites this summer.

Ninety-nine areas in the national park system, including 37 national parks, have campgrounds. In all, there are 293 sites in the system, such as monuments, memorials, historic houses and battlegrounds, according to spokesman Duncan Morrow.

Morrow said there were 238.8 million visits to the national park system in 1975 and 267.8 million in 1976. The service expects about 280 million visits this year.

The most popular period at national parks is from mid-June to Labor Day, Morrow said. He said the Park Service more than doubles its staff during the busy months, adding 10,000 employees to the permanent staff of 8,000.

The familiar parks such as Yosemite, Yellowstone and Grand Canyon will be crowded as usual, Morrow said, but many lesser-known facilities offer equal attractions with more elbow room.

Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina and Tennessee, for example, gets more than 10 million visits a year. Eighty miles away, the Cumberland Gap National Historic Park, which includes a section of wilderness trail cut by Daniel Boone, draws only half a million visits.

Visiting national parks involves two fees — one for entrance, another for camping.

Entrance fees per carload of visitors range from nothing at some spots to $3 at Yosemite and Carlsbad Caverns. If you arrive by other means, such as by bicycle or bus, the charge is 50 cents per person.

Camping fees also start at zero, although Morrow warned: "If you're paying nothing, you're getting just about what you're paying for, a space." Most camping fees range from $1 to $4 a day per campsite, depending on such items as restrooms, electrical connections, water and security forces.

There are ways to cut costs, particularly if you plan to visit more than one park or site in a year.

The Golden Eagle Passport costs $10 and is good for admission to all national park system areas during the calendar year in which the pass is issued. One passport admits a carload of people to drive-in attractions such as parks or a family to walk-in sites such as historic houses. Write to the National Park Service or the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (both in the Interior Department), Washington, D.C., 20240. Make checks or money orders payable to "Golden Eagle."

Persons 62 and older can get free Golden Age Passports entitling them to free admission to park system areas and 50 per cent discounts on camping fees. You must apply in person at a national park, supplying only proof of age.

Advance planning can help you avoid crowded areas, but there is not much you can do in the way of reserving a campsite. Only four national parks — Acadia in Maine, Grand Canyon in Arizona, Mt. McKinley in Alaska and Chickasaw (formerly Platt) in Oklahoma — accept reservations. Several low-cost government publications offer help to would-be park visitors. All are available from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

"WHY ME?"

WHY ANYONE? THE CAR BREAKS DOWN. THE DISHWASHER GOES ON THE BLINK. THE KIDS ARE SICK. THE BOSS IS ANGRY. THE BILLS ARE PILING UP. AND YOU JUST SPILLED COFFEE DOWN THE FRONT OF YOUR SHIRT.

Granted, for a while everything seems to be going for you. You're content and happy. And nothing can top that feeling. But when something does go wrong... and it will, again and again... how do you deal with it? How do you keep it from getting you down? How do you get, and how do you maintain, a little peace of mind?

LOTS of people with the same problems are living proof that the answer is Jesus Christ. Not that they don't have problems anymore. But they know that problems aren't theirs alone any longer.

They're living proof that it isn't you against the world. There's someone else who's ready to solve your problems with you. They're living proof that you can cope with daily problems, live with them and learn from them... with His help. They're living proof that Jesus Christ is alive, and "you will have peace through union with Him," exactly as He said.

IF you would like to know more about people who are living proof, if you need more information, or have made a decision to accept Jesus Christ, there are people nearby ready to share that with you. Please let them know.

For a little peace of mind, and a lot more.

Please tell me more about people who are living proof that Jesus Christ is a real person, with real solutions for today's problems.

I am now trusting Jesus Christ to change my life.

I would like to reaffirm a prior commitment I made to Jesus Christ.

I need more information. Please get back to me.

Big Spring garden club members view display

Big Spring Garden Club members viewed a display of floral arrangements created by Mrs. D.S. Riley, Mrs. D.O. Gray, Mrs. J.C. Pickle, Mrs. Robert Strippling and Mrs. John Knox recently.

Mrs. Riley demonstrated the method of arrangement used in a tri-color, line arrangement. She used iris and Lady Banksia in a low vase.

Mrs. Gray exhibited an arrangement of iris and ulips in yellow and white.

Mrs. Pickle showed how Lady Banksia can be used in an arrangement without accompanying flowers. She pointed out that heavily flowered branches, such as those of Lady Banksia, may be trimmed of blossoms in order to give a pleasing effect.

Mrs. Knox presented an arrangement of fornicia, lilac and iris. She also displayed a vertical arrangement of Dutch Iris in a round, low vase.

Mrs. Strippling displayed a vertical arrangement of Dutch Iris in a round, low vase.

Mrs. Pickle gave a report on the importance of birds in Texas. She stressed their ecological balance in relation to people, waterways and insect control.

Mrs. Riley distributed schedules for the April 30 - May 1 Standard Flower Show, to be in the Dora Roberts Community Center. The event is open to the public. Admission will be 50 cents. The Big Spring Garden Club Council is sponsoring the show.

Entrants are urged to bring their specimens from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on April 30. Entries may be removed from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. on May 1. Questions concerning the show may be answered by Mrs. John B. Balch, chairman at 267-6735, or Mrs. James W. Cowan, co-chairman, at 263-6273.

In other business, members were introduced to a new organization dedicated to co-operative land conservation, called the American Land Trust. The Trust was begun in 1976 by leaders in conservation, business and civic affairs.

The next meeting is a salad luncheon May 4.

Mrs. Martin to attend

Mrs. L.V. Carruth, noble grand, presided at the recent meeting of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284.

A letter was read from the district deputy president, Dee Martin, from John A. Kee Lodge 153, stating that she would attend the Tuesday meeting to give the President's Program.

All members are to be present at 6:30 p.m. for a dinner preceding the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Dear Abby

An Apology To West Virginians

DEAR ABBY: For many years we West Virginians have been trying hard to let outsiders know that we are not all barefoot, illiterate, backward mountain folk. But no matter how we try to point up our economic strengths, our flourishing industries, our symphony orchestras and our cultural progress, someone always shoots us down.

The media also does its part by playing up every West Virginia coal mine disaster, prison riot, or national tragedy or scandal.

Can you imagine our delight when in a recent basketball game, we West Virginia Mountaineers defeated Notre Dame, the perennial powerhouse Irish, before a television audience of millions!

We are not all dumb Hillbillies; Cyrus Vance, President Carter's choice for secretary of state, Robert C. Byrd, the majority leader of the U.S. Senate, Pearl Buck, the famous author, the late Pete Lisagor, a highly respected newspaper correspondent, Peter Marshall, host of the Hollywood Squares, actors Don Knotts and Fuzzy Knight, and sports idol Jerry West were all from West Virginia.

We were very disappointed when you, Dear Abby, our favorite columnist, ran a letter in your column that read in part: "Should we allow our daughter, a fifth-generation American, to be married without dignity like a West Virginia Hillbilly?"—and you made no effort to correct that writer.

Surely, an enlightened writer like yourself can't share that bigoted misconception of our beautiful Mountain State.

I think you owe us West Virginians an apology. PROUD WEST VIRGINIAN MARTINSBURG, W. VA.

DEAR PROUD: You are right. I plead guilty to the sin of omission. I should NOT have allowed that blatantly bigoted remark to go unchallenged.

As you know, I try to keep my answers brief, but that is no excuse for failing to set that woman straight.

I didn't realize the seriousness of my mistake until I received an avalanche of letters from irate West Virginians.

I have learned a very valuable lesson. I apologize. Thank you for taking me to task. I had it coming!

Very truly yours, Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About unwanted visitors in a hospital: When a patient has an unwanted visitor, if the patient will just close his eyes and pretend he has dropped off to sleep, the visitor will quietly leave.

I am a Gray Lady and I often suggest this to patients who complain that company wears them out.

GRAY LADY

DEAR GRAY LADY: Take it from an old Gray Lady (either way): Never underestimate the persistence of some visitors. Some have been known to sit for hours waiting for the patient to "wake up."

DEAR ABBY: In reply to DISGUSTING IN CHICAGO, you wrote: "One of life's most baffling mysteries is what people 'in love' see in each other."

That caused me to recall these words from "THE LITTLE PRINCE": "It is only with the heart one can see rightly; what is essential is invisible to the eye."

Mrs. L.B. McElrath visited in Coleman with relatives this last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Monroney, and family of Snyder were recent guests of Wayne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Monroney. They also visited in the home of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cowley.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cowley honored their son on his 17th birthday in April with a dinner party. Guests were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Monroney and his sister, Brenda Cowley from A.S.U. in San Angelo.

Modern woman's forum meets in Yandell home

The Modern Woman's Forum met Friday in the home of Mrs. B.F. Yandell.

Mrs. Hugh Duncan led the club in the collect and pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Ed Singleton reported that she delivered clothing for Girlstown at Whiteface.

Mrs. Bert Affleck Sr., was appointed to fill the vacancy of corresponding secretary, left by the death of Mrs. W.E. Moren.

Mrs. H.M. Rowe, federation counselor, urged club members to continue interest in public issues and public officials, by offering opinions, suggestions and cooperation. Issues and problems which confront us in today's world affect homes, families, communities, the state and nation, she said. Club members should keep informed.

"After all, there is but one race, humanity," was the quote by Moore which Mrs. Duncan used in introducing a program on international affairs.

Mrs. T.G. Adams discussed our relations with Canada and Mexico.

The next meeting is April 22, with Mrs. Hugh Duncan.

ATTACKED — U.S. Davis Cup team captain Tony Trabert (foreground) is knocked to the ground by protester Sunday at the Davis Cup Tennis matches in Newport Beach. A policeman rushes in to apprehend the protester, who along with three other men and five women, ran onto the courts protesting the South African teams participation in the matches.

HEINSOHN HAS A WORD — Boston Celtics coach Tommy Heinsohn has a wide-mouthed word with substitute referee Joe Crawford during NBA quarterfinal playoff game with the Philadelphia 76ers in Philadelphia Sunday. Crawford was one of the minor league referees who officiated while striking NBA referees were picketing game outside Philadelphia's Spectrum. Celtics won, 113-111.

LANIER RESTRAINED — Bob Lanier (16) of the Detroit Pistons is held back from behind by Golden State Coach Al Atteley Sunday after fighting erupted between Charles Dudley of the Golden State Warriors and Eric Money of Detroit (not shown) during playoffs at Oakland Coliseum. The Warriors won the game 109-101.

Boxing bouts are KOed by network

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Boxing Championships, which were launched on an aircraft carrier, have been grounded by ABC-TV.

ABC, noting inaccurate records and questionable rankings, announced over the weekend that it was suspending telecasts of the tournament. The network said promoter Don King has agreed with the action pending a full investigation by an independent special investigator, which will be appointed by the network's legal counsel.

An investigation also is underway by the U.S. Boxing Tournament Committee, headed by James A. Farley Jr., chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission. That committee was formed by King.

The announced suspension meant the tournament was being halted because ABC provides the $1.5 million total purse money for the competition in eight weight classes.

In past weeks, the tournament has been buffeted by charges of kickbacks and favoritism, and it already was the subject of a federal grand jury investigation in Baltimore when ABC announced the suspension Saturday, about three hours before a scheduled telecast of three tournament semifinals.

ABC did televise two three-round exhibitions by heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali originally to be part of the show with three semifinals bouts from Miami Beach.

Ali is scheduled to fight little-known Alfredo Evangelista of Spain in Landover, Md., in a title defense promoted by King and to be telecast by ABC.

Impressed with up-and-comer

Golden Bear wins another

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus was vastly unimpressed with a golfing milestone he passed — but he was very considerably impressed with young Bruce Lietzke.

"I look to Bruce to be one of two or three guys in the future to dominate the game," Nicklaus said after beating Lietzke in three holes of sudden death for golf's prestigious Tournament of Champions title Sunday.

"He's long. He's strong. He plays very well. He thinks well," Nicklaus said in assessing the powerful, 25-year-old Lietzke, one of the leaders in the youth movement that has swept the pro tour this year.

"He will win a lot of golf tournaments. He has all the equipment." He also positively idolizes Jack Nicklaus.

"He's been my idol since I was 8 or 10 years old," Lietzke said. "I got in a lot of fist fights defending him when I was a kid. You know, he was a young player then and coming along and beating Arnold Palmer and a lot of people didn't like it."

"Then, when he got on top and stayed on top, I felt good because he'd always been my man. And now, to play with him, well, I just feel like I've grown up with him."

And there was no disappointment involved when Nicklaus rolled in an 8-10 foot birdie putt on the third extra hole to beat Lietzke in the chase for a $45,000 first prize.

"It's a great thrill," said Lietzke, who has won twice and finished second twice already this season. "I'm not at all disappointed... To lose to a man like Jack Nicklaus is nothing to be ashamed of." Nicklaus, once five strokes off the pace, had six birdies, five bogeys and seven pars on the way to a 71 and a tie with Lietzke at 281 for the regulation 72 holes. Lietzke birdied four of six holes in one back-nine stretch on his way to a six-under-par 66 on the 6,855-yard La Costa Country Club course.

It was Nicklaus' second title of the year and 62nd of his unmatched career. It put him in a tie with Ben Hogan on the all-time victory list, behind Sam Snead's leading 84.

"It's not an accurate record," Nicklaus said.

"Nobody really knows how many Sam won, or how many Ben won. It's just a guess that's in the record books. At one time they counted my four-ball wins, then they took them away. Some others haven't been counted for one reason or another. It's not a record I've paid a lot of attention to."

Tom Purtzer, who needed a birdie on the final hole to make it a three-way playoff, took a bogey instead and was tied for third with Australian Graham Marsh and Johnny Miller.

DISBELIEF — Jack Nicklaus looks on in disbelief as his chip shot rims the cup on the 16th hole of La Costa golf course Sunday during the final round in the MONY Tournament of Champions. Nicklaus bogied the hole and went on to a sudden death playoff with Bruce Lietzke which he won on the third hole. He ended up with a -7 under par total of 281.

NBA best-of-three rounds Celts rally to beat 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Boston's Jo Jo White started out like he might have to buy a ticket for the next game. White had four first-half points and picked up his fifth personal foul 6:03 before halftime.

But before he was through, his Boston Celtics' teammates were pounding him on the back.

White scored 17 points in the second half, including the final two of the game, as Boston rallied for a 113-111 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers Sunday and a 1-0 lead in their National Basketball Association best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal playoff series. The second game is scheduled Wednesday night at Philadelphia.

Meanwhile, the NBA's best-of-three preliminary rounds were decided. The Washington Bullets defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 104-98 to enter the East semifinals; the Golden State Warriors advanced to the Western Conference semifinals with a 109-101 victory over the Detroit Pistons, and the Portland Trail Blazers also moved into the West semifinals, besting the Chicago Bulls 106-98.

The Bullets open their series against the Rockets Tuesday night at Houston and Portland faces the Nuggets at Denver and Golden State meets the Lakers at Los Angeles Wednesday night.

The 76ers' Julius Erving had tied the score 111-111 on a driving dunk shot with eight seconds remaining. But Erving, one of the great clutch players in the history of pro basketball, missed both ends of a two-chances-to-make-one free throw opportunity.

With six seconds left, White took the inbound pass and shot. The ball rebounded to the Celtics' Sidney Wicks, whose shot was rebuffed by Erving.

The ball bounced to White along the baseline. He shot again, and with the ball in the air, time ran out. His 21-foot jumper went in, capping a Boston rally that began from 13 points back in the first half and 10 behind in the second.

"I feel empty," said Erving, who led both teams with 36 points. "We came to win and we don't have anything. We're 0-1."

Doug Collins collected 27 points for Philadelphia. White wound up with 21, as did Dave Cowens. Wicks tallied 23 and John Havlicek 19 for the Celtics.

Warriors 109, Pistons 101
 Rick Barry scored 35 points, lifting Golden State past Detroit in a game marred by a brawl in which Warriors' fans tangled with Pistons' players.

Detroit's Eric Money and Golden State's Charles Dudley began swinging under the Pistons' basket with Detroit leading 67-64 and 6:10 remaining in the third period. Before they could be pulled apart by referees, fans had joined the action and one of them slugged Pistons forward M.L. Carr.

"We expended all that effort helping each other out in the fight and had nothing left," said Detroit center Bob Lanier, who scored 33 points and grabbed 15 rebounds.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, APRIL 19, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There are delays and difficulties now followed by strange or unpredictable happenings that will perplex you. A good opportunity to show just how well you can handle them by your own ingenuity and resourcefulness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Profit from a recent experience you had. You get right answers now which have eluded you in the past. Be wary of strangers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be more objective and look at present obligations in a more practical way in order to solve them properly. Stick to principles.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have personal problems that require you approach them from a different angle. A loved one is in a bad mood, but it is temporary.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make an effort to take care of routine chores although your heart isn't in it. A good friend comes to you for help. Show your loyalty.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A routine problem has you upset because of the tension it causes, but study it objectively and you will be able to solve it. Take care of a credit matter also that you have been postponing.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are eager to make some changes but it is best that you wait another day. A new attitude toward an old problem sees you solving it wisely. Have second thoughts before giving an answer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Check your facts before you confront a bigwig. A loved one may be having problems and could be cranky at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may not like some of the news that you receive, but don't worry about it. Some of it will be good and reassuring. Romance could enter the picture.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Keep your poise and avoid arguing with a co-worker. Don't rely on unasked for advice; make up your own mind.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try not to go off on some silly jaunt at the expense of important work you should be doing. Help loved one with a problem and improve relations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get an early start and take care of pressing matters. Forget about entertaining now. Something is brooding you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be extra careful in motion of all kinds during this time. Be more tactful and avoid arguments. Become more friendly with neighbors.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be a problem solver early in life. Education should be slanted along trouble-shooting lines. Police work, the law and the like, or in real estate and property management. A good chance for your progeny to become a big wheel in the community.

"The stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

WORKSHOP PRINCIPALS — Don Richard, assistant district attorney here, and Frankie Boyd, eye one statistical data displayed by Belva Harrington of Malone-Hogan Hospital here. The three took part in a workshop Friday for 50 Texas Medical Record Association personnel at the hospital. Ms. Boyd is also an attorney-at-law. Ms. Harrington, A.R.T., is director of medical records at Malone-Hogan. The program, entitled "Looking to Tomorrow," covered projected changes in the field of medical records and other pertinent items.

Ridin' fence

A world of records

with Marj Carpenter

We are recorded nowadays everywhere. Everyone in America is a part of the Social Security records. We are also a part of the Internal Revenue records.

We are also recorded in the county clerk's office upon our birth. We are recorded there when we die. We are also recorded in the county in which we get our marriage license. And if we are divorced, the records are in the district court's office.

If we are in the military, we are given a serial number and numerous other numbers to keep up with. We become a part of a military record. Some military people turn themselves inside out to keep their record clean. We are recorded when we get a speeding ticket, or commit a crime.

They say we also are recorded if we take welfare, although I sometimes wonder if anybody reads those records. Me, I haven't yet been on the welfare record, the military record or the divorce records; but we're all recorded somewhere.

IN FACT, citizens nowadays get to feeling like they are just one big number. But there is still another place where we are properly recorded. And it may be the most important one of all.

It's the medical records. If you've ever been sick, brother, you're a part of the medical records.

Crenwelge is on committee

Twelve high school homemaking students soon will be named to represent and lead over 75,000 of their fellow students as state officers in the Texas Association, Future Homemakers of America.

The state nominating committee for FHA will announce the posts of the 11 state officers and one national officer candidate for 1977-78 at the Astroarena in Houston, during the annual state FHA meeting, April 21-22. Judy Jenkins, Plano, is committee chairperson.

Members of the nominating committee represent the ten areas of Future Homemakers in Texas.

Among members of the nominating committee is Denise Crenwelge, 2805 Apache Drive. Her advisor is Mrs. Virginia Martin, 2517 Larry Drive, both of Big Spring.

Consultants to the nominating committee are Joe Marie Phillips, chief consultant, Homemaking Education, Texas Education Agency (HE-TEA), Austin; Ruth Smith, consultant, HE-TEA; and Marie Healey, Area V advisor, Denton.

More than 6,500 members and advisors of FHA are expected to attend the convention. Members are homemaking students from junior and senior high schools throughout the state. Delegates of the meeting will represent 2,301 chapters in Texas. The organization is under the guidance of Homemaking Education, TEA, Austin.

And it is a complicated business. Just this weekend, the district meeting of the Texas Medical Records Association was held here. Mrs. Belva Harrington of Coahoma, medical records director at Malone-Hogan Hospital Inc., is district director. And you have to have all kinds of accreditations to be a medical records person.

The early historians of medical records claim that medical records go back to the stone age. On the walls of caves used by early men in Spain are drawings showing amputations and skull surgery. These pictures are actually the earliest known medical records.

Throughout history, records have been kept of medical diagnoses and treatment. In 3,000 B.C., medicine was considered a form of magic. The Greeks built temples for the care of the sick, which became the first hospitals and training centers for physicians.

As medical study and research became greater, more physicians and surgeons kept more detailed medical records.

Some of the earliest medical records are reported to be in the handwriting of Benjamin Franklin. Barest essentials were recorded until 1803, when hospital authorities ordered detailed records to be kept on the most medically interesting cases.

But in those days, you had to be an interesting case, to get recorded.

I WAS TRYING to think about my own case and decided I would have been most uninteresting. I've had three babies with no complications. I was in a car wreck in Three Rivers, with my mother driving and two of my children asleep in the back. I went through the windshield and had uncomplicated lacerations, a bruise on my knee and lost the set out of my diamond ring. And the latter, which was the most disastrous, didn't even get recorded.

I had a double hernia operation one year in Pecos, which was an apparent success and I never had to go back for additional treatments.

Then in Big Spring, when a "peek-up" decided to run over me while walking across the street, I had a shattered wrist and a busted back. This accident at least made me a part of Big Spring medical records since they adequately pieced my wrist back together and I'm typing today. But I think the good Lord that I have never been a medically interesting case.

Record keeping remained haphazard and incomplete until around 1913 when the American College of Surgeons began an effort to standardize maintenance of hospital records. Today, hospitals must have adequate medical record systems in order to gain and keep accreditation.

To Belva Harrington and all of those others in this community who keep the dossiers on us all and piece together the space of information between the hospital and the doctors, we say 'thank you.'

It's undoubtedly another one of those jobs that we don't really appreciate unless we've walked in their shoes.

But somebody out there is busily recording our ailments — out where I'm ridin' fence.

Hustle 3

Working for area

By Bill Albright

Executive Vice President, Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is one of our strongest partners in working for a better economy and improving our quality of life. This organization — the largest regional chamber in the country, has been working for West Texans for almost 60 years. It's record of accomplishments is a history of successful achievements which champion the ability of Texans to provide a model of society which is the envy of the entire country.

High on the list of priorities, vital to our existence — is free enterprise. Recently, the W.T.C.C. was honored by The Freedoms Foundation with the George Washington Honor Medal. The chamber was cited for its contribution in a campaign to educate Americans on economics. The title of "Free Enterprise, for 200 years of America's Strength" has received nationwide acclaim.

This honor is not new to the West Texas Chamber. In 1975 the Honor Medal was presented for the "Profits Create Jobs" campaign.

We salute our partners in freedom and urge continued support of this great organization. Big Springs' Ralph McLaughlin is chairman of the Free Enterprise Committee and director for the W.T.C.C.; other Big Spring directors are Harold Davis, Jerry Worthy and Rene Brown. And by the way congratulations to President Bill Colyns of Midland on a great year.

SHOP BIG SPRING FIRST Ancient Spring City proverb says "He who shops Big Spring first, is twice blessed." Now what does that mean? Well, the first blessing is that "He" saves money because he doesn't spend 20 cents per mile to go to and from . . . Let's see, 20 cents x 100 miles equals $20,000. Also, "He" saves time and that's often overlooked, but pretty valuable when you're in a hurry to get things done.

Then of course, there's that blessing of economic benefit, where each dollar spent in a community, turns over or is spent again, seven times before it becomes used up. And finally dollars spent in Big Spring produce tax money which help to pay for our schools and government. Guess we'll have to change that proverb to "thrice blessed." We really help ourselves when we buy things from our own Big Spring merchants.

SHOP BIG SPRING FIRST Hey Big Spring! Let's match the efforts of those great folks at Webb. You've seen, and we keep hearing about the "manicured look" at the base. Well, let's manicure our part of the community. Let's dress up our image for spring and for all the nice people who will be visiting our city. Here are some quick abbreviations that might work.

"KAW" — Kill A Weed; "PUT" — Pick Up Trash; "ASP" — Apply Some Paint and so on — let's get it all together for a "CUC" — Clean Up Campaign. And just to make it all work don't forget the "HHH" — Hustle-Hustle-Hustle!

KNOW YOUR FOOD

PUT SOME SPICE IN YOUR LIFE

Since the dawn of civilization, spices and herbs have been part of history. Invaluable in food preparation, they lend distinctive flavor to everyday as well as more fancy dishes. Learning to season well is an art that's satisfying to learn. Beginners are urged to be adventuresome and experiment... but to under-season! More can always be added, if desired. Spices are dried seeds, buds, fruit, flower parts, bark or roots of plants, usually of tropical origin. Herbs are leaves and flowers of plants, usually from temperate zones.

Since spices and herbs gradually lose flavor and color, they are packed in small, tightly sealed containers. This helps make sure they'll be used before they deteriorate. Today, instant onion flakes, parsley flakes, celery flakes, and mixed vegetable flakes are available as very acceptable substitutes when you don't have the fresh products on hand.

Most spice and herb containers carry tips on use. Study the labels. Always store spices and herbs in a cool, dry place, away from the cooking area and bright sunlight. Reseal the container tightly after each use.

Check the date on the spice package when you buy. Spices will stay fresh in tightly resealed packages for several months after reaching this date, but they don't improve with age. If you're in doubt as to freshness when you use a spice, note the aroma. If the aroma is weak, the spice is old and should be replaced.

NOTE: This column is reprinted with more helpful information in a free leaflet that includes a thrifty recipe which illustrates good use of spices and seasonings. Come pick up your free copy at Safeway. No purchase necessary.

Supervisors and Operators for LPG Operations.

Aramco, the world's largest oil producing company, and the largest producer and exporter of liquefied petroleum gas, needs several LPG Operations Supervisors and Operators for career opportunities in Saudi Arabia.

Supervisor, LPG Operations.
In this job you would coordinate operational activities between each unit for operating and maintenance activities. You would provide work direction to the operators in the absence of the unit head, and in the event of an emergency, function as central point for areas under his responsibility. During relief periods, and with a minimum of preparation, you could be called on to act as unit head.

You must be a high school graduate and have a minimum of 8 years experience in process plants and oil handling operations.

Operator, LPG Operations.
You would be required to operate LPG compression and distillation plants, and refrigeration and glycol handling plants during your shift. You would need to be fully qualified to operate in all LPG plant areas and on all equipment. It is necessary that you be able to read and understand the Producing Instruction Manuals related to the various operating and safety procedures of the LPG plant and perform your daily work accordingly.

You are required to have a high school education, and at least 5 years of plant operation experience. Because of the nature of the job, you must have a thorough knowledge of safety regulations.

Why work for Aramco?
Besides the challenge and career opportunities of your job, working for Aramco overseas offers several excellent advantages. You'll receive a good salary and savings plan, plus a generous tax-protected expatriate premium.

And you can travel the world if you wish, because on the average of every 12 1/2 months you receive 40 fully paid vacation days, as well as round trip vacation travel fare to the U.S. Add to this an average of 12 paid holidays each year.

In addition, Aramco offers a comprehensive medical program and a generous retirement plan, plus excellent recreational facilities.

Interested?
If so, and you're qualified, please write for an application. We'll be back in touch with you as soon as possible.

Town is trying to oust nudists

PLANTERSVILLE, Tex. (AP) - An inordinate number of volleyball fans and pine cone hunters have surfaced ever since Jim Chase opened a nudist colony in a Southeast Texas forest last month.

But for every Peeping Tom, there is someone in Grimes County demanding that county commissioners close down the place.

More than 100 fully-clothed citizens led by the Rev. A.G. Stredny of St. Mary's Catholic Church showed up last month at the county courthouse in Anderson armed with petitions bearing the signatures of a thousand county residents.

Stredny's church is located only a few miles up FM 1774 from Nudist World.

Chase insists that many of the signatures are duplications, but the number of names is still impressive, considering the county's population is less than 12,000.

County Atty. Joe Falco told the pro-clothes group that he agreed with them, but he knew of no law that would allow the commissioners to put the nudists out of business.

Falco also was in the embarrassing position of having represented in his private law practice John Haynie Stoneham when Stoneham sold 131 acres of Grimes County land to the American Nudist Federation Inc. (ANF).

Stoneham and Falco say they both expressed surprise when they learned of ANF's plans to build Nudist World.

"If I had known what that place was going to be used for, I wouldn't have become involved in it," Falco said.

Lloyd Cline named president of PCG

LUBBOCK - A recognized leader in cotton, financial, civic and church circles, Lloyd Cline of Lamesa, is elected president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at the PCG Board meeting in Lubbock last week.

Cline, a director since 1966 and co-chairman of the PCG Finance Committee, succeeds W.B. Criswell of Dalou, who becomes chairman of the PCG Board.

Crswell had completed the two-year maximum time permitted in office under the organization's by-laws.

Elected vice president of the 25-county cotton producer association, replacing Cline, was Joe D. Unfred of New Home, former PCG secretary-treasurer.

Unfred was first elected a director from Lynn County in 1965 and Ivey has been a Crosby County director since 1972.

Cline is actively engaged in cotton production on almost 4,000 acres and is president of the First National Bank of Lamesa, a position he assumed in January of this year after starting with the bank in 1948 as a bookkeeper.

He is a producer delegate to the Along with annual reports from President Criswell and Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, the crowd heard addresses by Grover Wrenn, Deputy Director of Health Standards for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, and Edwin Johnson, Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticide Programs in the Environmental Protection Agency.

Following his election as PCG president, Cline pledged his best efforts to "maintain PCG as the best regional cotton producer organization in the Cotton Belt."

Election of PCG officers followed the organization's 20th annual membership meeting, attended by some 400 High Plains cotton producers and allied businessmen.

At the meeting, Cline was elected a director from Lynn County in 1965 and Ivey has been a Crosby County director since 1972.

How Farabee, Ezzell voted

In a vote taken in the Texas Senate last week to establish penalties for illegal wiretapping, Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls balloted against the proposed legislation. The bill passed, 26-5. Farabee represents Big Spring in Austin.

In the Texas House, a vote was taken to require tax relief for local school districts in the school finance bill. A 'yes' vote would have left tax relief up to the school boards, a 'no' vote would have required tax reduction. The vote resulted in 74 'nos' and 66 'yesses.'

Rep. Mike Ezzell of Snyder, who represents Big Spring in Austin, favored the legislation with his vote.

Elmer C. Rosenbaum, Big Spring, will attend a three-day career conference meeting of New York Life Insurance Company agents at Keystone Lodge, Colorado, in Lamesa.

Rosenbaum will join other agents and company executives for educational work in life underwriting, health and employee protection insurance.
