

Russian bombers fly near coast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet reconnaissance bombers flew within 60 miles of the U.S. East Coast this week and passed over several American warships before retreating when U.S. fighter planes were scrambled after them, Pentagon sources report.

Two TU-95 Bear bombers passed directly over the aircraft carrier Saratoga, an escorting cruiser and two frigates exercising earlier this week in a U.S. fleet training area about 60 miles off the East Coast, the sources said.

The sources said the bombers were closer to the U.S. coast than ever before.

Two U.S. F-4 phantom jet fighters were scrambled from Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, North Carolina, when the Bears appeared over the Saratoga and its escorts. But the Soviet planes flew away without further incident, sources said.

Although the Russian bombers made no threatening moves and were over international waters, some senior American officers are known to be disturbed by the boldness of TU-95 pilots in maneuvering within the U.S. air defense zone.

These officers say the episode fits into a pattern of more assertive Soviet naval, air, surface and submarine activity within the past year.

Soviet TU-95 bombers are equipped with cameras and various kinds of electronic intelligence-gathering devices, as well as two types of anti-ship missiles, according to U.S. intelligence information.

Bear bombers have been flying between Russia and Cuba at irregular intervals since 1970, but always have kept their distance from the U.S. coastline.

The Soviet reconnaissance bombers, with an operating range of about 8,000 miles, have been reaching more widely over the Pacific as well. For example, two Bears flew last Jan. 11 from Vladivostok to within 50 miles of Guam, the site of important U.S. air and naval bases.

TU-95s also have been operating over South Atlantic shipping lanes from bases in Guinea on Africa's west coast.

Last December, Bears flying from Conakry, Guinea, closely monitored a U.S. Navy exercise involving the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt in the western Mediterranean. On that occasion, U.S. Navy F-14 fighter planes went aloft to chase the Russians away.

SOVIET BOMBERS SIGHTED OFF EAST COAST — Two Soviet TU-95 Bear bombers flew within 60 miles of the U.S. East Coast last week and passed over several American warships before retreating when U.S. fighter planes were

Energy plan hikes food cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers will have to pay more for fuel to grow crops and livestock under President Carter's energy plan, and if the entire package of proposals is carried out, including tax hikes, it could mean a two to three per cent increase in retail food costs by 1980, according to Agriculture Department analysts.

Deputy Secretary John White said Thursday, however, that the two to three per cent increase is the "worst scenario" considered possible under the Carter plan and assumes a maximum impact on the entire food-producing chain from farmer to consumer.

For example, two Bears flew last Jan. 11

Energy plan fight 'to the last vote'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter said today he will fight "to the last vote in Congress" for passage of his plan to impose a five-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline if U.S. consumption exceeds his energy conservation targets.

He said the money would be refunded, and a family that does conserve will get back more than it pays in higher gasoline prices.

At a nationally broadcast news conference dominated, like Carter's entire week, by the energy issue, the President also said:

—He doesn't feel threatened by criticism of his administration by former President Gerald R. Ford, who drew Democratic protests by saying that he could have won a new strategic arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union by now. Carter said that historically, "the fraternity of presidents and former presidents" has kept its criticism private. But Carter said he doesn't feel that Ford has violated a promise to keep such comments private.

—No decision has been made about sending tanks to Zaire, the African nation trying to beat off insurgent attackers. "It's highly unlikely I would advocate such a sale," he said.

—He is concerned about possible overexposure during a week that has seen two nationally televised addresses and the news conference, but it isn't likely to happen often. "Attendance at the press conferences is voluntary," he said with a smile.

—The energy program he proposed to Congress Wednesday night would, if fully implemented, cost the federal government $4 billion between now and 1985. He said that would be the overall expense counting expenditures and tax revenues from all features of the program. Carter said that with net spending of $4 billion, the nation will purchase and store one billion barrels of oil, worth $13 billion, as insurance against a future embargo or emergency.

—Carter will meet in Geneva next month with Syrian President Hafez Assad as he seeks "some common ground" for Middle East settlement.

—The administration has information that Katangan insurgents fighting in Zaire were trained by Cubans. "I have no direct evidence at all that there are Cubans in Zaire," he said.

His formal news conference finished, Carter insisted in conversation with newsmen that his figures on gasoline and crude-oil tax rebates were accurate, and that his program would mean refunds of $188 for an average family to offset higher oil prices, and $100 in refunds for each five-cent gas tax boost if that tax is triggered.

The gasoline tax proposal, already stirring strong opposition in Congress, is to add gasoline taxes in five-cent increments up to a maximum of 50 cents for each year in which consumption exceeds government-set target levels.

The President dismissed speculation that his gasoline tax proposal may actually be no more than a bargaining chip, to be dealt away in Congress in exchange for other measures he wants.

He said he is "deeply committed to the standby gasoline tax as part of a comprehensive and well-balanced energy program."

"In my opinion the gasoline tax is a good idea," Carter said. He said it will help families that cut their gasoline consumption, because the proceeds would be rebated to taxpayers.

Asked why he did not ask for authority to impose gasoline rationing as a means of reducing consumption, Carter said he has that power under existing law if there should be a national emergency such as another oil embargo.

The President also indicated he would consider vetoing a tax bill now being debated in the Senate if it contains a business tax credit Carter asked Congress to delete along with the $50 rebate.

The Senate deleted the rebate but rejected a move on Thursday to drop the business credit from the measure.

Carter said he would decide when the final bill reaches him "whether I'll sign it or not."

During the news conference Carter also made these points:

—He pledged his administration will not ignore rapid transit systems but said they would be handled by the Department of Transportation instead of as part of his energy program.

—Asked how he could meet his goal of increased coal production without causing further air pollution, the President said that "in some areas where the air pollution is extremely bad, then we will consider making exceptions and let utilities continue to use, perhaps, oil rather than coal. But that would be a rare situation."

—The President acknowledged that his proposed energy program will have some inflationary impact but said it probably would be less than one-half of a per cent a year. He said computer studies indicate the program would increase, rather than decrease, jobs.

Offbeat: Dog gone good decision

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Forced to choose between two men who claimed the same dog, Judge James Cavanaugh let the dog decide.

So when Bingo responded to one man's "Give me five" by holding up his left paw and shaking hands, the judge said, "Bingo is yours."

But he also promised to buy the other man another dog.

Bingo, a 4½-year-old black and white Alaskan malamute, was given to the Lewis Rubin family 11 months ago. Six months later he disappeared from the back yard.

Three weeks ago, David Baez saw Bingo fight with another dog on the street. He took Bingo home.

On April 9, Rubin spotted Baez with the dog, but Baez refused to hand over his new pet without proof of ownership. Rubin took Baez to court.

After his ruling, the judge promised to raise $100 from "private resources" to buy Baez his own dog.

Courts may decide gas rules

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says it may take a Texas lawsuit to get Washington's attention about President Carter's new energy plans.

"Twenty-two years of federal regulation of the interstate market has been a complete disaster," Briscoe told a news conference late Thursday after returning from Washington.

"Why is it not possible to recognize that price controls do not work for the benefit of this country? The President's proposals extend federal regulation instead of moving toward solutions in the market place.

Adjustments (such as switching from one basic fuel to another) should be made in the market place.

"What bothers me most is substitution of more government regulation for the mechanics of the market place."

Briscoe said he is considering going to court to test the constitutionality of a proposal to extend federal jurisdiction over intrastate natural gas.

The governor said he thought the Washington bureaucracy put one over Carter in selling him the energy recommendations detailed to Congress and the nation Wednesday night.

"I am very disappointed in these proposals," he said. "In the first encounter between the new President and the Washington bureaucracy, that bureaucracy has won and the public has lost."

"I'm just starting to fight for a sound national energy policy. The next step lies in the Texas congressional delegation. I do not think these proposals will pass. The people want less government intervention in their lives, not more."

Briscoe said the Carter program if fully implemented, would cost Texans $6.6 billion a year including $3 billion in taxes on old oil, $2.4 billion on industrial use of natural gas, $800 million on gasoline and $400 million industrial use of oil.

He said the average per capita tax would rise three to four times higher in Texas than elsewhere and utility bills would jump "20 per cent, 40 per cent, even 50 per cent."

Briscoe said he spent the last two days in Washington trying to head off as many of the proposals that he considers harmful to Texas. "My request to them was: 'Stay out of our market. You messed up the interstate market to the point of crisis last winter,'" he said.

$2 million for BS in TIC budget

AUSTIN — The Texas Industrial Commission has voted unanimously to include a $2 million line-item appropriation in the commission's 1978-79 budget on behalf of Big Spring.

A Big Spring delegation recently was in Austin, trying to line up support in the State Legislature for such funding, which it felt was needed in implementing programs to recover from the impact of the upcoming closure of Webb AFB.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, announced this morning that Jerry Worthy, representing the Industrial Team of the chamber, Big Spring City Councilman Ralph McLaughlin, and Howard County Commissioner Bill Crocker visited with the Texas Industrial Commission at its regularly scheduled meeting in Austin for the purpose of submitting a request for funding assistance. Rep. Mike Ezzell of Snyder, who represents Big Spring in the State Legislature said in effect last week that the Legislature was seeking a precedent for granting a request for such a sum and, at that time, had not found one.

Special rider may solve HC problem

"We are attempting to obtain relief for the college in funds for the school year 1978-79," Dr. Charles Hays said when he returned from Austin today.

"I went to Austin, fearful that our funds would be cut back next year, but the legislative council tells me that next year's school year will be funded on this year's enrollment. They assured me that it will not be cut back next spring after the audit, due to a drop in registration," Dr. Hays stated.

"However the following year, we will have a real drop in funds unless we can obtain some emergency funds," the college president added.

Dr. Hays talked to Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls and reported that Farabee said that he would try to work in a special rider on the Senate Bill to help Howard College.

Rep. Mike Ezzell, Snyder, said that if Farabee can get the rider on the Senate Bill, he believes he can keep it on the bill when it reaches the house.

Dr. Hays was relieved when the legislative council interpreted the new regulation to mean that the cutback won't come next year. He was fearful that when audited next spring, and the college might show a drop of a possible 300 students, that the state would demand money back for that year's operation.

"Instead, the big impact will apparently hit us in 1978-79," Dr. Hays repeated.

CAR-TER PROTEST — These two car salesmen don't like President Carter's energy proposals — especially those encouraging people to buy small cars. John Smith, left, and Don Poark, said they were disgusted by Carter's proposals. They said many motorists waved in sympathy at their "demonstration" but kept on driving. Business, they said, was down.

Briscoes in Fiesta

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. Dolph Briscoe planned to join the thousands attending San Antonio's Fiesta today.

Briscoe was scheduled to address the South Texas Press Association convention at 10 a.m. Then at 1:15 p.m. he and Mrs. Briscoe will participate in the Battle of Flowers Parade.

Saturday morning the governor will address the annual prayer breakfast hosted by the Antioch Baptist Church in Houston.

He will be in West Columbia Saturday afternoon for the dedication of the replica of the first capitol of the Republic of Texas, following the San Jacinto Day parade.

Monday, the governor will give the welcome address at the 10th biennial conference of the International Association of Ports and Harbors in Houston.

Two die in crash

SPANGDAHLEM, West Germany (AP) — A seven-man team probed the wreckage of a single-engine plane in which a U.S. Air Force flying instructor and his student pilot died, a spokesman for Spangdahlem air base said today.

He said T. Sgt. Terry Patterson, 32, from Detroit, Tex., and his student, Airman 1.C. John S. Lize, 20, from Port Washington, N.Y., died Wednesday in the crash of the Cessna 150.

The plane, which belonged to the base flying club, crashed about 10 miles southeast of Trier near the Luxembourg border.

18-year-old killed

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — An 18-year-old youth has died in an exchange of gunfire with a convenience store manager here.

Dead on arrival at a Fort Worth hospital was Anthony Eugene Jones, who was free on bond on another robbery and beating charge. Officers said he sustained multiple gunshot wounds in the chest.

Sonny Cox, manager of Virgil Cox's grocery store in east Fort Worth, said he captured a 14-year-old accomplice waiting outside the store. Police said the 14-year-old has been questioned about the murder of a convenience store manager during a robbery.

Gummo Marx dies

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Gummo Marx, 84, the second youngest of the five Marx brothers who gained fame for their comedy classics, died Thursday at a hospital here, a spokesman said.

Gummo, who never appeared before the cameras, had been hospitalized at Eisenhower Medical Center for about a month. He died of natural causes, a hospital spokeswoman said.

The death of Gummo leaves only Groucho, 86, and Zeppo, 74, surviving from the comedy team.

Gummo, whose real name was Milton, became the business manager and agent for the comedy team when the brothers arrived in Hollywood from New York. All of the brothers were born in New York City.

Bill clears Senate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A bill designed to save Texas employers $600 million in unemployment compensation penalties — but raising their jobless tax by about $60 million annually — has cleared the Senate.

A voice vote sent the measure to the House on Thursday for further action.

The measure brings Texas in line with federal standards and raises maximum weekly benefits from $63 to $84, with increases guaranteed as average wages rise.

Failure to enact it would cost Texas employers $600 million a year in penalties, imposed as an increase of 2.7 per cent of payroll in their unemployment taxes.

The bill also raises the wage base on which employers pay the tax from $4,200 to $6,000 per year and extends jobless benefits to thousands of additional workers, including some domestics and farm employees.

Protesters killed

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — The army fired on a procession held in violation of martial law today, killing 10 to 22 persons and wounding about 200 in Karachi, reports from Pakistan's largest city said.

Four persons were reported killed elsewhere in Pakistan, bringing the death toll for today to as high as 26, which would make it the worst day of violence in six weeks of political unrest. The opposition has been demanding the resignation of Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, claiming the March 7 national election was rigged.

Reports from Karachi said a large procession moved toward the Teen Hatti Bridge, where army troops took up positions. The soldiers reportedly warned marchers to disperse but the procession did not stop.

The unofficial reports said the troops opened fire into the crowd, killing 22 persons and injuring about 200. Some bodies were carried away by the security forces while others were still lying in the street, according to one account said.

Indefinite punishment

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — It didn't take Paul Corder long to serve his time.

Corder, sheriff of Twin Falls County, pleaded guilty Thursday to a misdemeanor for failing to keep proper financial records on an office copying machine.

After accepting Corder's plea, Sixth District Court Judge Arthur Oliver said the sheriff would be placed on probation for an indefinite period of time.

The judge paused for about two seconds, then said, "That indefinite period of time has passed."

The penalty for the misdemeanor could have been a $300 fine and up to six months in jail.

Carter: Tanks but no thanks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter said today it is "highly unlikely" he would supply American tanks to Zaire to fight off Katanga insurgents.

At the same time, Carter told a news conference there has been "some stabilizing of the situation lately" in Zaire's Shaba province.

"Our aid," he said, "has been very modest."

The question of tanks came up because administration officials told a Senate subcommittee that tanks and armored personnel carriers are included in the proposed authorization of $30 million in military credit sales.

But the aid for Zaire recommended in a study by Army Gen. James Rockwell reportedly was not related to the current conflict.

"The question has never come to my office," Carter said. He added: "It is highly unlikely I would advocate such a sale."

On another foreign policy subject, the President confirmed that his meeting next month with Syrian President Hafez Assad would be held in Geneva.

And he said "ultimately" the United States should comply with the 1972 Shanghai communique and normalize relations with China.

In discussing Zaire, which the administration is supporting with about $15 million in so-called "nonlethal" equipment, Carter acknowledged "there are some problems with human rights."

But, he said, the same situation applies in many countries and that American assistance "has been very modest."

Earlier in his presidency Carter ordered cuts in military aid to Argentina, Ethiopia and Uruguay for violations of human rights.

The inclusion of 10 tanks and 10 armored personnel carriers on the prospective weapons list for Zaire was confirmed by Lucy Benson, assistant secretary of state for security assistance, at a hearing Thursday by the Senate subcommittee on foreign assistance.

Regarding the Middle East, Carter said he plans to "minimize" his public statements while "trying to learn as best I can the attitudes of the different nations involved."

The President's public outlining of possible elements of an Arab-Israeli settlement startled traditional diplomats and seemed to align the administration on Israel's side on some issues and on the Arabs' on others.

On China, Carter said he had exchanged messages of "friendship and good will"

through his son Chip, who went to Peking with a congressional delegation, and that an increase in communication, trade and

"ultimately compliance with the Shanghai communique to normalize relations" would be in the mutual interest of the two countries.

Expanding business tax break might spark veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter indicated today he would consider vetoing the tax bill now before the Senate if Congress refuses to delete business tax breaks he wanted dropped from the measure along with the $50 rebate.

"I'm not in favor of extending the business tax credit," Carter told a nationally broadcast news conference. Then he added that if it is in the bill that passes Congress, "I'll have to decide ... whether I'll sign it or not."

Meanwhile, Republicans were preparing a fight to include a permanent tax cut in the bill.

Carter has threatened to veto the pending tax bill if it includes a permanent tax cut.

The Republicans prepared amendments to the bill, part of Carter's program to stimulate the economy, to reduce the tax rates in the low- and middle-income brackets.

The Republicans originally proposed the permanent cuts as an alternative to Carter's $50-per-person rebate plan. Last week Carter dropped his support for the rebates and for business tax breaks.

But while it honored his request to jettison the rebates, the Senate voted 74 to 20 Thursday to keep the business tax breaks, worth $3.3 billion over two years. Then it approved amendments increasing those tax breaks up to $4.1 billion.

While the GOP plan would benefit all taxpayers, the biggest proportional gains would go to those with smaller incomes.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., an author of the proposal, said it would mean an average saving of about $200 for persons whose taxable income, after exemptions and deductions, ranged between $12,000 and $18,000. Those with very low incomes would get cash rebates, he said.

Police beat Good time to go fishin'

James Pope, Box W, Holiday Inn, is still talking about the one that got away.

Leaving his car at about 11:45 p.m. in the Holiday Inn parking lot, Pope and his friends went into the motel lobby. Returning 15 minutes later to the car, Pope noticed that someone had gotten away with his tackle box, fishing reels, and a lot of fishing tackle worth over $336.00.

Someone threw a large rock through the double windshield of a Rainbow Baking Company truck, at about noon Thursday, when it was parked at 1606 E. 3rd.

According to reports the windows may cost as much as $250 to replace.

Fernando Williams, 1505 W. First, was visiting friends at 404 E. 9th when somebody stole his keys and car, at about 9 p.m. from in front of the residence.

The car was later recovered at about 11 p.m. by sheriff's deputies in the Silver Heels Addition.

Somebody caused about $10 damage to the southeast window of Runnels Jr. High School, 200 E. 10th, as they were breaking in between 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday.

The burglar also did about $10 damage to a pencil vending machine, as he managed to steal almost a dollar's worth of change from it.

Trustees at Loraine elect Bruce president

LORAIN — The Loraine School board swore in one incumbent, Hubert Meadows and one new member James C. Clifton when they met this week.

Ronald Bruce was elected board president; Meadows, vice president and Clifton, secretary.

The board reviewed an architect's preliminary cost analysis for building and renovation of the existing classroom building and gymnasium.

The board also approved participating in the title I regular and title II migrant cooperative for the 1977-78 school year through the Education Service Center in Abilene.

The board also reviewed a poll taken at its request in reference to the elimination of the senior trip and reviewed transfers going out of the district for the coming year.

They adopted a textbook form request and accepted the resignation of Mrs. Nancy Newton, first grade teacher. Mrs. Gay Carpenter was hired for the 1977-78 year as a second grade teacher. Preston Lightfoot was also given a contract for the coming year.

The board discussed summer work and employees. They looked over plans for a walk-in food and freezer unit. A meeting was also slated for Monday at the high school library for the steering committee for self-evaluation. Don Hampton, architect, will also meet with the school board at 7 p.m. to discuss building and renovation costs.

Coors 'taking hard line'

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — The Adolph Coors Co. said Thursday that 76 per cent of the union jobs at its brewery here, hit by a strike April 5, have been filled.

A Coors spokesman said that 840 of the 1,427 union jobs have been filled by former strikers who crossed the picket lines, 172 by newly-hired employes and 102 by transfers from other Coors operations.

Local 366 of the Brewery, Bottling, Can and Allied Industrial Union has asked the National Labor Relations Board to rule on the legality of the company's action. Ken Debey, the union's business representative, said a preliminary judgment is expected soon.

The union called the strike in a dispute over contract language involving job assignment and seniority. Negotiations resumed Monday, but a 12-hour session failed to resolve the differences. Talks are expected to resume next week.

During this week's session, the company raised the issue of returning to an "open shop," meaning that new employes wouldn't be required to join the union as a condition of employment.

Union representatives said such a provision would be unacceptable. Dan Bodemann, union vice president, said introduction of the open shop issue proved Coors was "taking a hard line" against Local 366.

"The whole reason they pushed us out on strike was so they could raise the open shop issue," Bodemann said. "They want the union label so they can sell beer easier in California, but they don't want the union to have any authority."

'Fundamental' school meetings

At the request of the Big Spring school board, Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction, and Helen Gladden, elementary curriculum coordinator, have scheduled a series of Alternate (Fundamental) School informational meetings on local elementary campuses.

Purpose of these meetings is to present information on the possibility of a fundamental elementary school in Big Spring in 1977-78 and to ascertain community interest in such an educational concept.

Schedule for the meetings: Monday, April 25, 7 p.m. — Lakeview School cafeteria (concerning Lakeview).

Tuesday, April 26, 3:45 p.m. — College Heights cafeteria (concerning College Heights, Park Hill and Marcy).

Thursday, April 28, 3:45 p.m. — Bauer cafeteria (concerning Bauer).

Tuesday, May 3, 3:45 p.m. — Cedar Crest cafeteria (concerning Cedar Crest).

Wednesday, May 4, 3:45 p.m. — Boydston cafeteria (concerning Boydston).

A meeting at Airport school will be confirmed at a later date.

A meeting at Moss, for parents of students attending Moss, Washington and Kentwood, has already been held.

Though these meetings are scheduled on designated campuses, parents of students in grades kindergarten through four may attend any of the campus meetings.

Deaths

P.B. Baldrige

P.B. Baldrige, 88, was found dead at his home about 5:45 p.m., Thursday.

Deputy B.R. McCartney is handling the investigation into the death. According to the Sheriff's Department, Baldrige's body was discovered hanging on the back porch of his home by a neighbor, Mrs. E.J. Holt, at approximately 5:15 p.m. A staphylococcus was found near the body. Justice of the Peace Bob West listed the death as suicide after pronouncing him dead at 5:30. Baldrige's wife, an invalid, was inside the house, awaiting her husband's return.

Services will be at 2 p.m., Saturday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with the Rev. William H. Smythe, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Baldrige was born Oct. 17, 1888, in Plano, Tex. He moved to Big Spring in 1941 from Dallas. He operated the Mayo Ranch Motel until he sold it about three years ago. He then entered retirement.

He was a member of the First Christian Church and the Plano Masonic Lodge. Survivors include his widow, Ina, of the home; and three nieces.

Amelia Holguin

Mrs. N.R. (Amelia) Holguin Sr., 71, died at 12:35 a.m., today in a local hospital.

Services will be at 10 a.m., Monday in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, with the Rev. James F. Delaney, officiating. Burial will occur in Mount Olive Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m., Sunday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel.

Mrs. Holguin was born April 2, 1906, in Marfa. She married R.N. Holguin May 24, 1923, in Alpine. They moved to Big Spring in 1930 from Alpine.

He preceded her in death July 3, 1976. She was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Survivors include two sons, Raymond Holguin Jr., Big Spring, and David Holguin, Phoenix, Ariz.; seven daughters, Mrs. Hope Mendoza, Mrs. Cruz Martinez, Mrs. Anita Valles and Mrs. Isabel Anguino, all of Big Spring, Mrs. Mary Arispe, Waco, and Mrs. Alicia Fierro, of Milwaukee, Wis.; and Mrs. Elma Flores, Houston; a brother, Frank Martinez, El Paso; midnight Wednesday in a Fort Worth hospital.

Survivors include the parents, of Big Spring; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Carlile, Big Spring; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Gaskins, Knott; maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B.E. Gladden, Lubbock; and paternal great-grandfather, A.R. Carlile, Abilene.

Elige Wingo

COLORADO CITY — Elige Levi Wingo, 81, of Colorado City died at 6:15 a.m. Wednesday at the Root Memorial Hospital. Services will be at 2 p.m. today at the Kiker-Seale Funeral Home Chapel.

The Rev. Glenn Roenfeldt and the Rev. Wayne Oglesby will officiate. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Born June 29, 1895, in Erath County, Mr. Wingo married Eva Jones Oct. 13, 1926, in Colorado City. He was a member of the Oak Street Baptist Church.

Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Billie Jean Johnson of Lietchfield, Ky.; two brothers, Ellis Wingo of Ralls and Nolan Wingo of California; six grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Services will be at 10 a.m., Monday in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, with the Rev. James F. Delaney, officiating. Burial will occur in Mount Olive Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m., Sunday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel.

Cotton growers elect

LAMESA — Lloyd Cline, Dawson County banker, farmer and mayor, has been elected president of the Plains Cotton Growers, a 15-county organization for cotton producers.

Joe D. Unfred, Lynn County is vice president and Gary Ivey, Crosby county, is secretary. W.B. Criswell of Idalou is outgoing president.

A large crowd attended the PCG meeting in Lubbock Thursday and heard officials from the Environmental Protection Agency and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

Faced with a large crowd of farmers, both officials soft-peddled their programs. They were asked extensive questions about both their attempts to restrict or ban the use of Treflan and similar herbicides as proposed by the EPA and to impose strict cotton dust standards on the cotton gins as proposed by OSHA.

Ding-a-ling idea tried

NEW YORK (AP) — When you call Jeffrey Lyons, you never know who will answer. It might be Bob Hope.

Lyons, a film critic for local radio and television stations, has induced several of the stars he's interviewed to record a message for his telephone answering machine.

This week, for example, if you call and Lyons is out, you'll hear: "This is Glenda Jackson. Judy and Jeffrey aren't here at the moment. When you hear the tone, please leave your message."

Last week the chore was done by Jack Nicholson. Next week it'll be James Coburn.

Others who have answered Lyons' phone include Sean Connery, William Holden, Milton Berle and Bob Hope.

Meistersingers show Saturday

The big Spring High School Meistersingers will present their last major production of the year at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The pop-variety show will take place in the High School Auditorium, with Broadway selections such as "Matchmaker," and "Do You Love Me," from Fiddler on the Roof, "Consider Yourself" from Oliver, and "I Can't Say No" from Oklahoma.

The show will also feature popular tunes like "Don't Go Breaking My Heart",

"Evergreen", and "The Way We Were".

In addition to a religious series, including "Let My Light Shine" and "Let Them Know", the full choir will present "MacArthur Park" and others.

There will be about 25 seniors, performing their last major production with the choir, before graduation.

The show will be directed by Jack Bowers, with student director David Trim. The presentation is sure to be tremendous, in the tradition of all Big Spring High School productions.

Building under way at C-C State Park

COLORADO CITY — A construction program totaling $1.2 million is under way at Lake Colorado City State Park.

Bill Griffin, park superintendent, says construction has already begun on roads and estimates that the work will be completed during the year of 1977.

Pioneer Construction is handling road and utility contract and Rose Construction has the building contract. These are both Abilene firms.

The work is to include 44 multi-use campsites with electricity and water and 70 tent sites with water. The sites include picnic tables, barbecue grills and trash cans.

Two restroom facilities with showers and one without are also being added to the park.

A new residence for the park ranger is included in the project. Additional parking areas are also being constructed. There are currently six permanent employees at the park.

Arrests clear 13 burglaries

COLORADO CITY — The recent arrests of four juveniles, ranging in age from 11-15, have cleared 13 burglaries.

The burglaries dated from December through April, according to Fred McWhorter, police chief.

The incidents were unrelated and not done as a gang. Total value of missing items was estimated at $570 with total damage of two vandalisms estimated at $350.

The juveniles have been released to their parents at this time.

Weather

Weak cool front finally departs

By The Associated Press

Mild spring weather took command across Texas once more today.

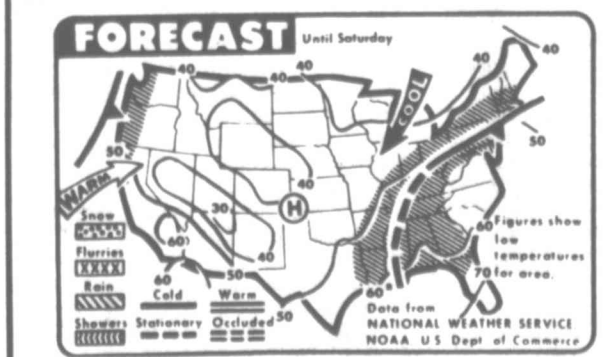

A weak cool front, after setting off downpours of rain for nearly a week, finally departed into Louisiana and the Gulf of Mexico during the night.

A few showers fell in Northeast Texas late

Thursday night and there was even light rain and drizzle in the Texas Panhandle from around Spearman into Oklahoma after midnight.

By this morning, however, it was dry again except in some parts of South Texas still plagued by flooding from the week's protracted rains.

Furious pace is evident here

Big Spring is not sitting back and waiting for Webb Air Force Base to close.

The activity, which is centering around the base reuse steering committee and the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, has been mounting.

AT THE BEGINNING of the chamber's Board of Directors meeting Wednesday, President Roger Brown said that he didn't know what everybody had been doing, but the chamber was proceeding at a rather furious pace.

Several industrial prospects are in the works. The Industrial Team is reorganizing for a broader base.

One thing that will happen, hopefully next week, is the mailing of a 20-page tabloid to industrial

TABLOID COVER prospects. The tabloid will contain photographs and descriptions of all the major buildings which will be available at Webb. It will list characteristics of each building, its wiring, square footage, utilities, year of construction and cost.

The tabloid also will have facts and some promotional information about Big Spring.

It will be mailed to perhaps as many as 7,000 industrial prospects, using a 6,000 active company list furnished by the Texas Industrial Commission. The commission receives 3,000 inquiries a year from firms wanting to move to Texas, now the third most populous state.

The special tabloid was prepared basically by the Herald's staff for the chamber to use in attracting prospects.

Special thanks must go to Bill Mims, associate base engineer who spent many hours developing the characteristics of the some 90 buildings which will be pictured and described in the publication.

ALSO THANKS should go to Capt. Dick Risk, information officer at Webb, for his and the Air Force's cooperation. Photographs in the tabloid were done by the Herald's excellent chief photographer, Danny Valdes. Art work was done by Mike Edwards of the Herald's advertising staff.

The impression that the chamber hopes industrial prospects will have after looking at the tabloid is a feeling for the tremendous number of buildings that will be available, 271 in all with more than half a million square feet of floor space.

The chamber hopes that this will add to the groundswell of interest that is already developing on Webb. Our town is not standing still.

A cat steps out

Around the rim

What a night. Fans will remember the small orange tabby which vanished in December, causing much concern and unnecessary hours awake for yours truly and spouse. Well, that was nothing.

Last night she went on her first date.

IT ALL STARTED about 3 a.m. We, the awkward pseudo-parents of the tale, were fast asleep. All was quiet in the apartment and throughout the complex. Slowly at first, there came the sound of singing.

"What's that?" asked my wife. "Sounds like a drunken version of 'Buffalo Gal'!" I replied, and wandered to the window. My chin hit the sash as the light went on. There was the motliest bunch of rag-tag roamers, all a second ago bellowing out, "dance by the light of the moon," and now vanishing head first over the fence, tails flying.

"Well," I observed, "she's in heat." All was quiet again for at least another 15 minutes. And then, the familiar strains of Wagner's "Entrance of the Gods into Valhalla" wafted into the apartment.

"Not opera, please," I begged, to no avail. I reached for the obligatory shoe, tore open the archetypal window, and tried to nail the lead tenor, a large black creature with peculiarly heartless eyes. But catastrophe struck.

The shoe flew out the window followed by the marmalade streak of our maiden cat on her first voyage into the real world. She was over the fence in a flash, too, and I resigned myself to my fate. It was not to be.

For the next 20 minutes we were treated to "Strangers in the Night", "My Mama done tole Me", "Have I Told You Lately that I Love You", and "This Guy's in Love With You."

I could stand no more. They refused to leave the immediate area; in fact, they had rented the ground under our window. Again, I climbed out of bed and, armed with a flashlight and a rock, went forth to rescue the "helpless" maiden from the heartless ruffians.

WELL, IT WAS a merry chase. Our noble pet had taken a fancy to the Irish tenor with the golden eyes, and as I rounded one corner of the apartment, they disappeared around another. All the 30 or so coughing, grunting, singing creatures and I played musical corridors in and out of the building, me waiting to be arrested as a maniac, they playfully leading me into Spanish bayonets, prickly pear, and mesquite bushes.

Finally, I cornered the brigand and his dame. He lunged at me, looking more like a teenager who, at 4:30 a.m., says he ran out of gas than the glorious highwayman, and disappeared under a fence. She, fur matted and eyes vague, got tucked securely under one arm.

Oddly, she waited until back inside the apartment to decide the era of asking to go out was over. Now it was, "I demand to go out. I will go out. I am already out, if you'll just open the door."

Worse and worse. Sleep was over for the night. Occasionally, one of the returning rovers would try an aria or a ballad, but their efforts were pale compared to the solo being sung inside.

Deciding emergency treatment was required, I borrowed a page from my grandfather's book. Like it or not, she got a cold shower. I had to chase her around the tub with the nozzle, but when I finished the vague look was gone. She was mad clear through.

Only one thing remains to be said. We may still need some help. I haven't been very successful at teaching her push-ups, and that one line from "Stranger in the Night" about exchanging glances still bothers me.

So, que sera, kittens anyone?

Edgar Smith, Act III

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Edgar H. Smith confessed today in open court to the murder in 1957 of Victoria Zielinski. He then pleaded guilty to kidnapping with intent to rape Lefteriya Ozbun in San Diego on October 1, 1976. . . . Edgar Smith was befriended by columnist William F. Buckley Jr. who played a role in Smith's long fight to gain freedom from the death house he inhabited longer than any other person in U.S. history." AP, March 29, 1977.

"Dear Mr. Buckley: "As you may recall, I am the overzealous (former) assistant prosecutor you referred to in Newark on June 8, 1971. If you will recall your comments during a taped interview on that date with WCBS' newswoman, Irene Cornell, you questioned my integrity and ethics because I labeled Edgar H. Smith Jr. a 'danger to society.'"

"THIS LETTER IS not to offer an 'I told you so,' but to suggest that you give serious consideration to offering an apology to the living victims of your 'friend' and 'cause celebre,' Mr. Smith. You should not forget that it was your perverted sense of justice which set in motion the events which eventually freed Mr. Smith to commit another violent crime.

"It is inconceivable that someone of your intelligence did not know long before December 6, 1971 that Mr. Smith was guilty. . . . You chose to make this matter a cause celebre and to publicize your (and Smith's) viewpoint and his unfounded allegations against totally innocent people.

"As a journalist of considerable note you possess substantial power over which there is little check. Such a position imposes a duty of total candor, especially when you have made an error. Under the circumstances the public and the innocent victims of Mr. Smith's defamation deserve a well-published apology." — Very truly yours, Edward N. Fitzpatrick, Newark, N.M.

Dear Mr. Fitzpatrick: 1. I questioned neither your ethics nor your integrity, but the excesses to which your zeal took you when you proposed reading Edgar Smith's love letters in open court to demonstrate something or other. I am not a trained jurist nor a trained psychologist. But the judge who released Smith was the former, and pronounced him "rehabilitated"; and the psychiatrist who examined him prior to his release pronounced him unlikely to return to crime. Your position was what one might call boilerplate hostility.

2. It is hardly out of a perverted sense of justice that one interests oneself in the question whether justice was actually done. Smith's trial lawyer was convinced of his innocence, so was the private investigator. The state's case was riddled with ambiguity, and in one respect (the coroner's report) was inconsistent with Smith's guilt.

3. My power as a journalist can hardly be held responsible for a ruling, after an extensive hearing, by a district court judge that Smith had been unfairly tried, which opinion was sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States.

4. No lawyer I came across in the course of examining the circumstances believes that the Zielinski murder was properly murder in the first degree. That it was second-degree murder was also the opinion of the judge who released Smith.

'Terminal' disease isn't terminal

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my doctor that I have terminal ileitis. I have learned that there is very little known about the disease, that surgery has not proven successful. Is there any cure for the disease? I am taking Bentyl and Sulfathiazine. — A.Z.

Where are you getting your information? Not from your doctor, I guess.

From the tone of your letter it seems you have a misunderstanding of the phrase "terminal ileitis." A better name of it is "regional" ileitis. The word "terminal" is not used in the sense laymen understand it. That is, it is not a hopeless illness from which you are doomed to die.

Here's what the word does mean. The ileum (IL-ee-um) is the last section of the small intestine, located at the point where it joins the large intestine. Terminal ileitis is inflammation of the last ("terminal") 12 or 14 inches of the ileum.

But while it isn't "terminal" (in the sense you took it) it is nevertheless a serious condition. We don't know much about why it occurs, but when it does it interferes seriously with bowel action, specifically the passage of food from the small to the large bowel. Of the medicines you mention, one is to combat the infection, the other to relieve bowel spasm, which can occur.

Bedrest is helpful in acute attacks, but if yours is a chronic condition, then prolonged rest, even an extended vacation, may be needed. If there is extensive deterioration of the bowel, surgery may be needed to bypass the section or remove it.

You are still very much alive and kicking. What you need now is a thorough evaluation and some advice on ways to keep the problem under control.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband's hobby is working with old cars. He frequently spray paints them. I tell him he ought to wear a mask when he does this, but he just shrugs. After painting he coughs quite a bit. Is there a danger, and if so tell me so I can show him your column. — P.S.

I stand four-square behind the warnings your husband will see printed on the paint can or in the instructions he got with the spray gun. Maybe the only one he'll believe is the doctor he may eventually have to go to see for lung complications.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've read recently that the ocean tides had no effect on health. But isn't it a fact that babies are not born with the outgoing tide? — Mrs. W.O.

Hospital administrators would love that arrangement. If that was a fact we could close down all the maternity wards and keep them open only when there was an in-coming tide. No truth in it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is an occasional light-colored stool an indication of gall bladder disease? There is no pain, no vomiting, some gas. — J.B.

Not necessarily. It depends on what you mean by "light." The color can vary with diet. Bile, a substance produced by the liver, contains pigment that gives stool its normal color. The gall bladder stores bile. An absence of bile, either from duct obstruction or other gall bladder disease, would produce a clay-colored stool.

Such a problem would produce other symptoms, including pain and jaundice, a yellowish tinge to the skin. An unexplained change in stool color or consistency is a pretty good reason to be examined. A diet lacking in red meats will also produce a light stool, which in that case would be normal.

"So? I promised to take a bath... but I don't recall anything about using water!"

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

Oil lobbyists never die

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter's new Democratic broom has missed the oil industry's lackeys who still control the policymaking machinery that produces those multi-billion-dollar energy decisions.

There is nothing unique about this. Presidents may come and go; crises may shake the nation. But the oil abettors keep turning up in the right places inside the government to protect the oil interests, remarkably unaffected by elections or politics.

WITH GROWING dismay, we watched the oil stooges tighten their hold on the policymaking positions during the Nixon-Ford years. They are still entrenched as solidly as ever inside the Federal Energy Administration and the Federal Power Commission, although President Carter is sweeping the holdovers out of most other government agencies.

Those officials who try to put the public interest ahead of the oil interests have summed up their frustration in a confidential memo. "Big Oil still controls national energy policy," they declare.

The Carter administration's policies, warns the memo, "will reflect Big Oil's interests because the working data and supporting documentation is coming from the Nixon-Ford holdovers."

Ex-President Richard Nixon, for example, brought Gorman Smith into the Federal Energy Administration. There is no oil in Smith's bloodstream. On the contrary, he came out of the Army, a brass-buttons general, rigid, efficient, honest. But Smith was a friend of oilmen. He came to think like an oilman, to talk like an oilman, to act like an oilman.

The Federal Energy Administration, of course, is supposed to set oil policies and regulate the oil industry. Smith had a powerful voice in the former and was put in charge of the latter. Witnesses recorded his words after he took command of all regulatory programs.

"What makes you think I'm here to make these regulatory programs work," he snorted. "The name of the game in this Administration is to get rid of them — to bring about decontrol."

Smith brought with him from the Army a coterie of colonels not to implement the programs Congress had wrought but to sabotage them. "Managers whose duty it was to make energy programs succeed worked instead to make them fail," charges the memo.

SOME OF SMITH'S deputies, like erstwhile Exxon executive George Mehovic, had direct oil ties. But most were military cronies, who carried out their commander's dictums. Smith put Mehovic, incidentally, in charge of allocating crude oil.

In the words of the confidential memo, the top leaders "set the tone of the agency as an outright tool of Big Oil and special interest." Adds the memo plaintively: "Is it any wonder that lower-level employes have, in some instances, drifted into the granting of special favors?"

Yet Gorman Smith not only escaped the Republican purge but was actually given more power by the incoming Democrats. His wrecking crew is also still engaged in business as usual.

The situation is much the same at the Federal Power Commission, which is supposed to protect the public from exorbitant natural gas prices. But Chairman Richard Dunham, the darling of the oil and gas crowd, has shown more interest in protecting the industry's profits.

For instance, he summarily transferred two dedicated staff lawyers, George Lewnes and Russell Mamone, after they told Congress last year that Mobil and Tenneco were withholding natural gas. Rep. John Moss, C-Calif., is expected to ask the Justice Dept. to investigate the transfers. He complained that the crackdown on the two lawyers was "a very crude but potentially effective way to deregulate natural gas."

Political protocol called for Dunham to offer his resignation after Carter took over the White House. But the new president, though he had replaced more deserving holdovers, asked Dunham to remain at his post.

Still on the job with Dunham is his hatchet man, general counsel Drexel Journey, whose conservative clothes, half-framed glasses and measured tones give him the appearance of a corporate lawyer. But behind the quiet competence is a relentless protagonist for the special interests.

He has been particularly solicitous about the American Electric Power Company, the nation's largest electricity conglomerate. In case after case, he has gone to bat for the company and its affiliates. He was also constantly on the phone to American Electric's attorney, Richard Dicke.

Journey has been so reluctant to offend the special interests that it has taken him three years to finally ask how to refer a criminal case to the Justice Dept. "The absolute refusal by the agency to even consider referring cases to the Justice Dept. for prosecution is itself criminal," charges a confidential memo to Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich.

Footnote: Gorman Smith called the quotation attributed to him "bull — and flatly untrue." He explained: "What I did say was that the Administration's policy was one of decontrol." The suggestion that the Federal Energy Administration was more interested in protecting the oil industry than the public, said a spokesman, was absurd. Both Dunham and Journey maintain they have done nothing improper. Mehovic said he had disqualified himself from any decision directly involving Exxon.

Uncle Charlie visits

Break One Nine. The real Uncle Charlie is coming to town. He is the Federal Communications field operations bureau engineer in charge of enforcement of CBs.

And he will come all the way from Dallas down IS 20 listening to the CB chatter all day.

OSHA warns Billy Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Carter, the President's younger brother, has been ordered by the federal government to clean up debris around his Plains, Ga., service station to meet health and safety requirements.

A spokesman for the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration said today that Carter was cited for housekeeping and safety violations.

Among them were an improperly charged fire extinguisher, two ungrounded electrical tools and failure to display a government notice that the premises are covered by OSHA regulations.

Officials denied that the debris cited included beer cans, as reported by the Detroit Free Press in disclosing the OSHA action.

OSHA officials inspected the station April 14 after the agency's Macon, Ga., office received a complaint in the mail from a Columbus, Ohio, resident. The complainant, who apparently visited the station, sent two pictures depicting "junk and scrap" around the station, the spokesman said.

Carter was not available for comment.

Carter was cited for nine nonserious violations and was given 15 days to correct them the spokesman said. The violations carry no penalty but if Carter refuses to comply, the spokesman said he could be cited for serious or willful violations which could carry a small fine. Details of the violations could not be disclosed, the spokesman said, until OSHA received official notification from Carter that he had received the citation.

the way. He plans to appear at the Big Spring City Auditorium tonight at 7:30 p.m. and will answer questions about Citizen Band radios.

There will also be a FCC Van and Monitoring System on display.

If you are from out of town, tune in Channel 4 or 3 for directions. They will be monitored.

The Spring City Breakers are sponsoring the event which begins at 7 p.m. and ends when they get through. Door prizes will be presented at 7:30 and 9 p.m. Admission is free.

The CBers will come from far and wide, calling for information about the front door and possibly telling you it's clear at the back door as they whistle into town.

They may complain a little bit about a hitchhiker riding on their back door, when somebody without a Citizens Band radio decides to take a free ride.

They will "Ten Four" and "Good Buddy" to each other all down the highway and report those Smokeys issuing green stamps.

The Smokeys may have the stamps out enforce, knowing there is a CB convention coming to town.

The truckers happily reporting the good looking pair of seat covers in a female driven automobile and the poor non-CB motorist caught in the rocking chair section of a convoy may miss all the excitement.

But they will look over their shoulder and let the hammer down when it's reported, Good Buddy, that all is clear from here to there.

However, this isn't the only purpose of citizen's band radios. Before they became famous for avoiding speeding tickets, they were used primarily for emergencies, such as communications during storms and in hunts for lost persons and things of this type.

They still bring lots of controversy as they crackle and pop and sometimes interfere with somebody's television and radio. The FCC man will be the one with the answers to these type of problems and anyone interested is invited to attend tonight.

Visitors have been invited from the area back toward Abilene, San Angelo, Lamesa, Lubbock and Colorado City. Andrews had a seminar earlier for people in the other direction.

Some 32 members of the Spring City Breakers, headed by the Wolf Man will be hosting the event.

What's your 20 at 7:30 p.m.? You might want to come on down to the city auditorium, Good Buddy and hear the man. See you there. And 73.

SS benefits to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're among the 35.5 million Americans who receive Social Security or Supplemental Security Income, there's a silver lining to the latest cloud over the consumer price index. You're going to get a cost of living increase.

The index, which measures inflation, soared at an 18 per cent annual rate during the first quarter of 1977, the biggest three-month leap in two years. But government economists think it will moderate to about 6 per cent by year's end.

The index also rose 5.9 per cent from the first quarter of 1976, and that means that the 33.4 million Social Security recipients and 4.3 million aged and disabled SSI recipients can count on an extra 5.9 per cent in their checks starting July 1.

Those increases will cost Social Security $5.3 billion during the fiscal year that ends Sept. 30, 1978. The financially troubled trust expects to pay out a total of about $92 billion next year. The SSI increase, paid from general tax funds, will cost $265 million.

The cost-of-living increase, which is automatic when the index rises more than 3 per cent in a year, will mean $23 extra each month for the average elderly couple, both of whom are on Social Security and now draw $377 a month.

An average retired worker living alone will get a $13 increase, raising his monthly benefit to $234.

Consumer prices rose six-tenths of 1 per cent last month — an annual rate of 7.2 per cent — following jumps of 1 per cent in February and eight-tenths of 1 per cent in January.

Carter administration economists blamed the sharp first quarter increase on the harsh winter, which drove up food and fuel prices.

The underlying rate of inflation is still in the 6 per cent range, said Courtenay Slater, the Commerce Department's chief economist.

In other economic news Thursday, an Agriculture Department official said that, at worst, Carter's energy package could add 2 per cent to 3 per cent to consumer food prices by 1980.

But Deputy Secretary John White said that is the "worst scenario," and if conservation efforts succeed, food prices might not increase, which is automatic when the index rises more than 3 per cent in a year, will mean $23 extra each month for the average elderly couple, both of whom are on go up any faster than they would without the energy plan.

Budget director Bert Lance said Carter's energy program should boost the inflation rate by one-quarter to one-half of 1 per cent for the next four years, but he predicted its long-term effect on the economy would be beneficial.

At the same time, Lance told a news conference that this year's deficit could be as low as $45 billion to $46 billion.

The administration originally projected a record budget deficit of $68 billion.

The Commerce Department reported that new orders for durable goods in March rose 7 per cent over February. The orders amounted to $58.9 billion, $3.8 billion more than the previous month. A third of the increase came from the auto assembly industry.

New location for Davis trial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — State District Court Judge Tom Cave has set May 9 for a hearing on a change of venue motion for the capital murder trial of millionaire Cullen Davis.

Cave said Thursday he has decided to move the trial from Fort Worth to another Texas city because of "massive publicity surrounding the case."

Judge Cave, who presided over almost two months of jury selection in the case before declaring a mistrial last week, set a change of venue hearing for May 9 to determine a new location.

The judge also refused Thursday to hear a defense motion to have Davis released on bond.

Cave said he lacked jurisdiction to act on Davis' bond release request because a previous motion to have Davis released is currently pending before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

The change of venue announcement came after Dist. Atty. Tim Curry filed an answer to the defense's bond motion.

Davis is accused of capital murder in the shooting deaths of Andrea Wilborn, his 12-year-old stepdaughter, and Stan Farr, a boyfriend of Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla Davis.

Miss Wilborn and Farr were shot to death last August when Mrs. Davis and Gus Gavrel Jr., a visitor to the Davis multi-million dollar mansion, were also wounded in a shooting spree.

Although the judge would not reveal where he plans to move the trial to, he said Thursday "I've got an idea where I'm going to move it. I just haven't nailed it down yet."

After Judge Cave refused to act on the defense bond request, attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes said he will seek to dismiss the appeal now before the New Orleans court to allow Cave to act on the defense motion.

Officer is fired after hairy fuss

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Police rookie Sheryl Landsberg got her waist-length hair cut to the collar, but Chief Gil Thivener said it isn't up to code and fired her.

"I fired her for flat-out insubordination and refusing to follow the same dress code as other officers," Chief Gil Thivener says. "She refused to comply with a direct order and I dismissed her."

Officer Landsberg, 24, fired this week after three weeks on the job as the only woman on the force, says the only regulation in the code is for male officers.

"It said how long your sideburns and mustache could be and that your hair couldn't touch your collar or protrude over your ears," Miss Landsberg says.

When Thivener hired her March 24, Miss Landsberg's light brown hair was almost waist length.

"Since there wasn't a regulation for women, I had my hair cut Monday until it just touches my collar when its curled under," she says. "I didn't want any hassles and decided that if I have to cut my hair to keep my job, I'll do that."

The next day she was told to report with her gear to the chief's office and was fired.

"I offered to cut my hair shorter, but he said no," says Miss Landsberg, who holds a bachelor's degree in criminology from Florida State University and a degree in police science from a community college.

Said Thivener: "An officer has to follow the rules and regulations of this police department. She indicated she had talked to other people who told her she didn't have to comply with the same dress code as other officers."

The chief says the dress code doesn't distinguish between men and women.

"I've got a dress code for police officers," he says. "Her hair was shoulder-length when I saw her. She refused to comply with a direct order and I dismissed her for that and I'll dismiss anyone else for that."

'Steam-rolling' beaches bill?

By the Associated Press
A group of citizens called the Committee to Save Our Beaches is planning a trip to Austin next week to protest a bill which would keep vehicles off Texas beaches.

About 150 persons attended a meeting in Port Aransas Thursday and petitions bearing the signatures of 1,200 protesters were collected.

Bob Coffin, who helped form the association, said the group wants to slow down any "steam-rolling" of the bill through the House.

"We are not going to get beat on the beaches. The majority of people in Texas don't know about the bills. We are not interested in how the bills got started. All we want to do is beat the bills one and for all," Coffin said.

Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, described his bill to keep vehicles off beaches as the only "sane and sensible" approach to the problem of crowded beaches. He said Thursday in Austin the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department would be required to build free parking lots to provide access to beaches.

His comments brought a heated response from Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, who argued that the department "can't keep parking lots free, because they don't have any money."

"The net effect," of the Ogg bill, Schwartz said, would be to close the "best beaches" of the state, where the rich live, and charge up to $6 for parking, "then tell the poor people who can't afford the price to go find a beach down the road."

San Patricio County Commissioner J.P. Luby said he could not recall a single fatality or serious accident on the beaches because of traffic.

"95 per cent of the accidents on the beaches are water-related, and not due to traffic," he said.

Port Aransas Mayor Protem John Bietendorf said an attempt will be made to route the house bill to a subcommittee so its members can look at the environmental and economic impact on Port Aransas.

Tom Hale of the Flower Bluff Business Association called on the citizen's group to pressure representatives in Austin.

"Let's pack the gallery Tuesday night. Let them know that we are damn well up in arms."

Pioneer discovery announced

AMARILLO — At the company's annual meeting held here Tuesday, Pioneer Corporation President K.B. Watson announced the successful completion of a multiple zone gas-condensate discovery well at Vermilion Block 310, offshore, Louisiana. Transco Exploration Company is the operator for a group of seven companies which includes Pioneer's subsidiary Pioneer Production Corporation.

Watson said that the discovery well was drilled to a total depth of 9,916 feet and seven separate gas-condensate reservoir sands were logged between 4,500 and 7,500 feet. On a drill stem test from 7,425 to 7,434 feet, the well flowed 6.6 million cubic feet of gas and 47 barrels of 56.2 gravity condensate per day on 16-64-inch choke with a flowing pressure of 3,120 pounds per square inch.

A drill stem test of a second interval from 6,055 to 6,060 feet flowed 5.5 million cubic feet of gas and 83 barrels of 57.9 gravity condensate per day on an 18-64-inch choke with a flowing pressure of 2,405 pounds per square inch.

Location of a second exploratory test on the block to determine the areal extent of the discovery has been permitted approximately 8,500 feet north and west of the discovery well. This is the first commercial discovery announced on the five Transco-operated blocks acquired at the November, 1976 Federal Lease Sale for $123.3 million in bonuses. A non-commercial gas zone was penetrated on West Delta Block 34. Additional exploratory drilling is planned on this block. Exploratory tests on the three other blocks are presently being drilled.

Vermilion Block 310, covering 5,000 acres, was acquired for $34.2 million bonus bid and is owned by Transco 38.3 per cent; Freeport Oil Co. 25 per cent; Pioneer Production Cor. 10 per cent; Energy Development Corp. 8.3 per cent; the Continental Group, Inc. 8.3 per cent; McMoran Exploration Co. 5 per cent, and Mesa Petroleum Co. 5 per cent.

All of the incumbent directors were re-elected to their positions. They are: C.I. Wall, J. Harvey Herd, Laurence R. Jones, Jr., E.S. Morris, Maurice E. Purnell, Jr., Burton P. Smith, A.C. Verner, W.E. Walker, Jr., and K.B. Watson.

At their regular meeting

prospect

A deep prospect is due in Mitchell County and a test in Borden this week.

American trading and Production Corp., operating from Midland, staked site for a 7,500-foot gas wildcat in Mitchell County, 18 miles south of Colorado City. It is No. 1 W.L. Elwood Estate.

Location is 1,650 feet from northeast and 660 feet from northwest lines of Section 27, Block 16, SPRR Survey. It is six miles east of the Ellwood, North (Yates) gas pool. HMH Operators spotted location for a 4,400-foot project one location east of the lone well in the Garner (Clearfork) field or southeast Borden County.

In Martin County, RK Petroleum Corp., Midland has made plans to drill a 12,200-foot wildcat in the vicinity of the depleted Wolcott multipay area. It is designated No. 1 Hippy Hop.

Drill site is 660 feet from south and 4,561 feet from west lines of Ward CSL League 253, 10 miles north of Tarzan.

following the annual meeting the directors returned all of the officers to their current positions. They are: K.B. Watson, president and chief executive officer, M.D. LaGrone, E.S. Morris, and J.J. Heitz, senior vice presidents; James E. Cannon, C. David Culver, C.J. Gholson, R.R. McCafferty, Larry R. Shortes, Harry H. Walden, vice presidents; William N. Lampe, vice president and secretary; R.W. Lee, assistant vice president and treasurer; Joseph W. Maples, Jr., Charles Vaughan, assistant vice presidents; and Charles E. Sauer, controller. Each will hold the same position in the Pioneer Natural Gas Company division of the company.

TO WED — Former U.S. Senator John Tunney poses with his future bride to be, Kathinka Osborne, whom he will marry Saturday. Mrs. Osborne was a member of the Swedish Olympic team in 1964. Tunney was defeated by S.I. Hayakawa last November in his attempt for a second term in office.

AAUW agrees to give scholarships

The American Association of University Women agreed Monday evening to provide three $400 scholarships for three girls going to college. Also, the organization will contribute $75 to the AAUW National Fellowship Fund.

Mrs. L.K. Gladden, Mrs. Harold Rosson and Mrs. Curtis W. Compton were hostesses for the meeting in the Texas Electric Reddy Room where Mrs. Harvey Rothel presided for the business session.

Ms. Kathy Howard of the local YMCA was guest speaker, choosing the topic, "Get Yourself into Shape!" She explained how physical fitness can be of great value to good health, noting that everyone needs to do some kind of exercise regularly to keep in shape. The program concluded with Ms. Howard demonstrating beneficial exercises and aerobic dancing.

The next meeting will be May 16.

Opportunity For Outdoorsy Woman

DEAR ABBY: I know you aren't running a Lonely Hearts Club, but I've nothing to lose but a postage stamp, so here goes.

I'd like you to help me find a wife. I am 50 years old, I've never been married and I'm in excellent health. I'm a retired S/Sgt (U.S. Navy), get a lifetime pension, have money in the bank and some income property. I own a nice little cabin on 12 acres, deep in the woods near a mountain stream. I love to hunt and fish.

My wife must be the outdoor type. If she's never skinned a rabbit or filleted a fish, she should be willing to learn. Don't send me any widows with kids or women under 40. I'm too old to start raising a family, and I don't care to finish raising somebody else's. She doesn't have to look like Sophia Loren as long as she's strong and healthy.

Enclosed is my picture. (I look short because I'm standing next to a redwood tree, but I am actually 5 ft. 9 and weigh 170.) I'd appreciate any leads you can give me. By the way, you don't happen to be single, do you?

WILLING TO GAMBLE

DEAR WILLING: Don't gamble on strangers—the risk is great enough when you marry someone you know.

No, I don't happen to be single, but I wouldn't qualify anyway because I've never skinned a rabbit, and I'm NOT willing to learn.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and Herbie is 22. We aren't engaged or anything like that, but we sort of have an understanding.

Herbie never lets me know when he's going to take me out. He just drops in and expects me to be sitting home waiting for him. And I always am.

I've even turned down other dates to wait for Herbie. How can I break him of this habit? When I ask him to please telephone in advance, he says he doesn't like to use the phone.

AVAILABLE ANNIE

DEAR ABILE: If Herbie knows you're always available, why should he bother to call?

When he tells you he doesn't like to use the phone, tell him that YOU don't like to use the crystal ball! And the next time he drops in, manage to be "out." If you lose him, you lose him. Life with the likes of Herbie doesn't sound too peachy to me.

DEAR ABBY: My name is "Marjorie." Is that such a difficult name to pronounce? Why then do strangers as soon as they meet me insist on calling me "Marge"? When I tell them in a nice way that my name is "Marjorie," not "Marge," some proceed to call me "Marge-oree" in a most sarcastic and mocking manner.

What makes Americans behave this way? And how can I get them to call me "Marjorie" without all that ridicule and funny business?

FROM LIVERPOOL

DEAR MARJORIE: Nine out of 10 Americans are guilty as charged. A well-bred European addresses a new acquaintance as Mr., Mrs. or Miss.

Not Americans! Charles immediately becomes "Charlie," Robert is "Bob" and Marjorie is "Marge." It's a good-humored American bid for friendliness, not familiarity. Forgive them.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 LaSalle Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

After Five Club gives memorial 'Apartment gardening' practical, decorative

The After Five Garden Club will present a memorial gift to Big Spring State Hospital in honor of Mrs. Dale Smith according to plans made Tuesday during a meeting in the home of Mrs. Rex Greenwood, 1705 Virginia.

Mrs. Joe Peay, cohostess, also presented the program which concerned flower arrangements for churches and tables in homes. She showed how to cut and prepare flowers to be used in arrangements or flower shows. Each member brought flowers and made their own arrangements.

Mrs. Greenwood, who has a large iris garden, brought several kinds and colors to be used in the demonstration.

Mrs. Henry Dirks, president, called for monthly committee reports, and it was announced that the Big Spring Garden Club Council will have a show April 30-May 1 at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Mrs. Dealon Stanley became a member of the club.

Mrs. Doris Chrane of D&M Garden Center discussed "Combating the High Cost of Vegetables" when she was guest speaker Monday evening for Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association at a dinner meeting in Furr's Cafeteria.

Mrs. Chrane said small areas in flower beds can be used for planting vegetables in the event larger areas are not available.

"Even apartment dwellers can have year-round gardening by using containers and hanging gardening in sunny areas," she said. "For dark areas, such as unused closets, rooms or basements, a plant 'grow light' may be used effectively."

Mrs. Chrane went on to detail how a 24x36x8 area can produce as much as 15 pounds of green beans, or how one tomato plant in an eight-inch pot can produce as many as 50 to 60 tomatoes.

"Cucumbers planted in hanging baskets are decorative as well as producing all summer," said

Mrs. Lucille Brown presided for the business session, and a report on last month's convention in Santa Fe was given by Mrs. Helen McDonald and Mrs. Esther Trantham.

Mrs. Nelda Colclazer reported on the Cinderella Pageant which will benefit the AAUW. More entries are needed in the three to 17-year-old bracket, with the entry deadline being May 3. A get-acquainted tea will be held May 1 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room for all entries.

Convention business relayed to local violet club members

The Texas Bouquet African Violet Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. L.B. Edwards, 2703 Crestline, with Mrs. C.Y. Clinkscales as cohostess.

The program, on feeding the soil, was presented by Mrs. O.S. Womack. She named correct nutrients to be added to the soil for various types of plants, pointing out how to detect deficiency in plants.

Each different system was discussed, after which the speaker described some of the newer flowers as well as vegetables.

Mrs. Womack brought reports from the recent Texas Garden Clubs state convention in Houston and mentioned that the Lone Star Gardener and the horticulture publication will be merged.

Members agreed to donate $10 to the American Land Trust to aid in the preservation of 97 acres near Paris, Texas called Trident Prairie.

The announcement was made that the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs will sponsor a show April 30-May 1 at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

New officers will be installed at the May 18 meeting in the home of Mrs. Womack with Mrs. Edwards to present the program.

Watergate pleas denied?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court will remove the last legal barrier keeping former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and ex-White House aide H.R. Haldeman out of prison, according to a report that may have broken the high court's 188-year tradition of secrecy.

The court has made no public statement about the pending Watergate cover-up appeals of Mitchell, Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, but National Public Radio reported Thursday that a majority of the court has decided not to hear their appeals.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger is delaying the announcement in an effort to gain a review by the full court, NPR reported. The report claimed to contain advance notice of what the justices have decided behind closed doors. If accurate, it is believed to be the first breach of the justices' secret conferences in history.

Such conferences are attended by the nine justices only, and no other court official is allowed into their meeting room during the secret sessions.

NPR reporter Nina Totenberg said the justices at their weekly conference last Friday voted 5 to 3 not to hear the appeals of the three high-ranking officials in former President Richard M. Nixon's administration.

The three were convicted on Jan. 1, 1975, of obstructing justice, conspiracy and giving false testimony under oath.

Mitchell and Haldeman have remained free pending appeal. Ehrlichman, who was Nixon's top adviser for domestic affairs, began serving his prison term while his appeal was pending. He is an inmate at an Arizona prison camp.

According to the NPR report which quoted unnamed sources, Burger and Justices Harry A. Blackmun and Lewis F. Powell, all appointed to the court by Nixon, voted to grant review of appeals. Five justices voted to turn them down, and Justice William H. Rehnquist, another Nixon appointee, disqualified himself from participating in the case, the NPR report said. In such appeals, the votes of four justices are needed to grant review.

NPR's report said Burger delayed releasing the result of the court's vote in hopes of persuading one of the five justices to change his mind. The NPR report said Burger was concentrating his lobbying efforts on Justices Byron R. White and John Paul Stevens.

The other justices are Potter Stewart, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall. Burger refused to comment on the report. Reflecting the sensitivity of the secret conferences, one court source refused to talk in confidence with The Associated Press about any aspect of the report.

Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman received sentences of 30 months to eight years in prison.

Minimum income proposal drawing consideration

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Carter Administration is giving serious consideration to a welfare reform proposal guaranteeing a national minimum yearly income of $4,300 for a family of four, the Los Angeles Times reported today. The newspaper, in a story from Washington, quoted an unidentified administration with two children, $3,300 for sources working on the childless married couples project. It said the proposal and $2,200 for single persons calls for establishment of a who are aged, blind or national income floor of disabled.

Fugitives captured

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Two escapees from federal prisons are awaiting transfer back to their cells after being captured by FBI agents and local officers in a wooded area near Enterprise.

Homer R. Hauer, special agent in charge of the Jackson FBI office, said the men were Gary Lavelle Bailey, 26, who escaped from the G. K. Fountain Correctional Center at Atmore, Ala., and William Warren Holland, 29, who escaped from the federal prison at Texarkana, Tex.

Hauer said FBI agents, working with Clarke County Sheriff Harold Hutcherson, highway patrolmen and other officers, captured the two in the early morning hours Thursday after a search which began near midnight.

He said the search began when an alarm was set off in an Enterprise drug store.

Bailey is a native of Clarke County, while Holland is from Arkadelphia, Ark.

Both fugitives were jailed in Clarke County to await transfer to their respective institutions.

Prison hospital bill skips along

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senators approved on voice vote today a bill authorizing construction of a $50 million hospital in Galveston for the use of Texas prison system patients.

The measure goes to the House.

"The Texas Department of Corrections is under federal order to furnish a medical facility for inmates and we have already made plans in the appropriations bill for this," Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, told the Senate.

The medical facility would be solely for patients from the prison system and would be operated as a teaching hospital in connection with training at the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston.

THE SPACE BETWEEN

They reach out, wanting to touch and making a game of it. Who will be the first to give in, so that fingers will clasp in a burst of laughter?
 Childhood play. It isn't always this easy. Later on, we want to bridge the gap that separates us from something or someone else. But often we don't have the nerve.
 Sometimes we want to speak . . . and can't find our voices. Sometimes we honestly want to go to church . . . but it's been so long.
 In anything, the hardest part is the first step. One foot, then another foot . . . which, in the case of the church, leads straight to a wide-open door.
 The rest is easy.

Baptists slate premiere

The Big Spring premiere performance of a new Christian worship celebration "Tribute to the Trinity" will be held April 24 and 25 at 8 p.m. in First Baptist Church, Joe Whitten announced today.

"Tribute to the Trinity" is not just another choir concert, Whitten says. It is much more than that. A fresh, exciting blend of music and narration, it is an expression of both worship and praise. The ministry of the Trinity is presented in a unique blend of new and traditional songs, along with the spoken word.

"Tribute to the Trinity" has premiered in a number of other cities and is winning acceptance from listeners and critics alike.

Participating in the musical presentation Sunday and Monday will be the combined youth and adult choirs of First Baptist. The performance is open to the public and there is no charge for admission. "Everyone is cordially invited to attend," Whitten added.

ST. THOMAS QUEENS — Beatrice Gonzales, Monica Dominguez, and Nora Valles are candidates for the St. Thomas Festival queen. The big event will be held in early July but the girls are already competing for the title.

Film scheduled

A film, "The Coming Invasion of Israel" deals with today's headlines from the Middle East. Using the Bible as its authority, in Daniel II and Ezekiel 36-39th chapters, it reviews this scripture.

Baptist Temple Church will show the film, Wednesday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m.

One of the phenomenon which characterizes the modern world is the rapid rise of Russia to the place of one of the great nations of the world. Only twenty years ago Russia was a broken nation with its manpower destroyed, its cities in ruins, and its industries disorganized, according to the film.

Today, unquestionably,

Salem Baptists host missionary at revival

The Rev. Ron Bostick, a Baptist missionary to the eastern province of Zambia, will be guest evangelist at the Salem Baptist Church.

Revival services start Sunday, April 24 and continue through May 1. Services will be at 10:30 a.m. each morning except Saturday and 8 p.m. each evening. The public is invited to attend, according to the pastor.

The Bosticks are career missionaries serving under the appointment of the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

They plan to return to Africa within a few weeks following a ten-month furlough in the United States.

Special music at the revival will be under the direction of Donnie Long and Ryan Walker will serve as the revival pianist.

Dietz Brothers perform at Lenora Baptist Church

Phil and Andy Dietz are appearing nightly through Sunday at the Lenora Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. with services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

Phil and Andy Dietz are natives of Borger. The twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dietz, they grew up in First Baptist Church there. While in high school they were members of the Texas All-State Choir in 1970. They travelled with a college pop music group on a special U.S.O. tour of the Caribbean. Also during college days, they began an extensive ministry through retreats, conferences, revivals, high school assemblies, banquets, and rallies.

Phil and Andy are accompanied by Don Wallace, a native of Phoenix, Arizona. He has won four soloist awards from Jazz Festivals during his high school career. With the Dietz Brothers, he is accompanying their duet and occasionally joins them vocally.

Revival slated

The Church of God of Prophecy, 1411 Dixie will be having a revival beginning Monday night April 25 and continuing through Saturday, April 30. Services will begin each night at 7:30 p.m.

The evangelist will be Bishop William Blancet from Ranger. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Church of Nazarene has nightly revival in progress

Don Haney is back in Big Spring in conjunction with revival services being held at the Church of the Nazarene, in which Stuart McQuirter, evangelist from Kansas City will do the preaching.

The services are 7:30 p.m. nightly through Sunday. In 1968 while traveling with the World Action Singers of Oral Roberts University as their featured baritone soloist, Don went behind the Iron Curtain and held services in Tallinn, Estonia U.S.S.R. Don's secret meetings with members of the underground church while in Communist Russia and his actual consultations with those who have been "tortured for their Faith", has left an indelible mark upon everything Don does.

In 1973 Don received an appointment from David Wilkerson and joined the David Wilkerson Youth Crusades as crusade associate and organist. In Don's two-year ministry with the Crusades he sang and played to over one half million people.

For many years Haney has been a favorite minister of music and featured soloist in numerous conventions, conferences, and teaching seminars across the country. He travels from coast to coast and to foreign lands.

THE SPACE BETWEEN

They reach out, wanting to touch and making a game of it. Who will be the first to give in, so that fingers will clasp in a burst of laughter?
 Childhood play. It isn't always this easy. Later on, we want to bridge the gap that separates us from something or someone else. But often we don't have the nerve.
 Sometimes we want to speak . . . and can't find our voices. Sometimes we honestly want to go to church . . . but it's been so long.
 In anything, the hardest part is the first step. One foot, then another foot . . . which, in the case of the church, leads straight to a wide-open door.
 The rest is easy.

Baptists slate premiere

The Big Spring premiere of a new Christian worship celebration "Tribute to the Trinity" will be held April 24 and 25 at 8 p.m. in First Baptist Church, Joe Whitten announced today.

"Tribute to the Trinity" is not just another choir concert, Whitten says. It is much more than that. A fresh, exciting blend of music and narration, it is an expression of both worship and praise. The ministry of the Trinity is presented in a unique blend of new and traditional songs, along with the spoken word.

"Tribute to the Trinity" has premiered in a number of other cities and is winning acceptance from listeners and critics alike.

Participating in the musical presentation Sunday and Monday will be the combined youth and adult choirs of First Baptist. The performance is open to the public and there is no charge for admission. "Everyone is cordially invited to attend," Whitten added.

ST. THOMAS QUEENS — Beatrice Gonzales, Monica Dominguez, and Nora Valles are candidates for the St. Thomas Festival queen. The big event will be held in early July but the girls are already competing for the title.

Film scheduled

A film, "The Coming Invasion of Israel" deals with today's headlines from the Middle East. Using the Bible as its authority, in Daniel II and Ezekiel 36-39th chapters, it reviews this scripture.

Baptist Temple Church will show the film, Wednesday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m. One of the phenomenon which characterizes the modern world is the rapid rise of Russia to the place of one of the great nations of the world. Only twenty years ago Russia was a broken nation with its manpower destroyed, its cities in ruins, and its industries disorganized, according to the film.

Salem Baptists host missionary at revival

The Rev. Ron Bostick, a Baptist missionary to the eastern province of Zambia, will be guest evangelist at the Salem Baptist Church.

Revival services start Sunday, April 24 and continue through May 1. Services will be at 10:30 a.m. each morning except Saturday and 8 p.m. each evening. The public is invited to attend, according to the pastor.

The Bosticks are career missionaries serving under the appointment of the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention. They plan to return to Africa within a few weeks following a ten-month furlough in the United States.

Special music at the revival will be under the direction of Donnie Long and Ryan Walker will serve as the revival pianist.

Dietz Brothers perform at Lenora Baptist Church

Phil and Andy Dietz are appearing nightly through Sunday at the Lenora Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. with services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

Phil and Andy Dietz are natives of Borger. The twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dietz, they grew up in First Baptist Church there. While in high school they were members of the Texas All-State Choir in 1970. They travelled with a college pop music group on a special U.S.O. tour of the Caribbean. Also during college days, they began an extensive ministry through retreats, conferences, revivals, high school assemblies, banquets, and rallies.

Phil and Andy are accompanied by Don Wallace, a native of Phoenix, Arizona. He has won four soloist awards from Jazz Festivals during his high school career. With the Dietz Brothers, he is accompanying their duet and occasionally joins them vocally.

Revival slated
The Church of God of Prophecy, 1411 Dixie will be having a revival beginning Monday night April 25 and continuing through Saturday, April 30. Services will begin each night at 7:30 p.m.

The evangelist will be Bishop William Blansett from Ranger. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Church of Nazarene has nightly revival in progress

Don Haney is back in Big Spring in conjunction with revival services being held at the Church of the Nazarene, in which Stuart McQuirter, evangelist from Kansas City will do the preaching.

The services are 7:30 p.m. nightly through Sunday. In 1968 while traveling with the World Action Singers of Oral Roberts University as their featured baritone soloist, Don went behind the Iron Curtain and held services in Tallinn, Estonia U.S.S.R. Don's secret meetings with members of the underground church while in Communist Russia and his actual consultations with those who have been "tortured for their Faith", has left an indelible mark upon everything Don does.

In 1973 Don received an appointment from David Wilkerson and joined the David Wilkerson Youth Crusades as crusade associate and organist. In Don's two-year ministry with the Crusades he sang and played to over one half million people.

For many years Haney has been a favorite minister of music and featured soloist in numerous conventions, conferences, and teaching seminars across the country. He travels from coast to coast and to foreign lands.

Want to quit smoking?

On April 25-29, Dr. Ben Compamanes, pathologist at Majone-Hogan Hospital, Inc. will conduct a five-day clinic for persons in the community who want to quit smoking.

Called the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, this free plan is not a miracle treatment, but as Johnny Cash puts it "it sure makes it a lot easier to quit".

Focusing on the natural way to quit smoking the program uses no drugs or medication. It is a series of five consecutive group therapy sessions usually held for one hour each evening.

The sessions include lectures, and discussions by a minister-physician team on the psychological aspects of the smoking problem;

films on smoking and its harmful effects on body and mind; demonstrations of procedures helpful to overcoming the smoking habit without drugs; and exchange of experiences by participants as they fight the habit under the now recognized effective Five-Day Plan.

A special booklet entitled "Your Five-Day Plan" tells the participant (1) How to relax, (2) How to avoid familiar spots and activities that might lead to a smoke; (3) when to exercise and how to breathe, (4) what to eat and drink, (5) what to think at crucial times, (6) How to meet the habit of smoking on a physical, mental, social and spiritually combined basis.

A buddy system similar to that used by Alcoholics

Anonymous, is a vital part of the program and follow-up after the course closes.

Sponsored by Seventh Day Adventists, the community service is a copyrighted one that works, and is recognized internationally as one of the four really successful stop smoking programs. For further information, please call 263-1211, Ext. 107.

Red Bluff rodeo attracts crowds

DENVER, Colo. — The "biggest little" rodeo in the world, the annual Red Bluff, Calif., Round-up, wound up Sunday paying cowboys more than $34,500 in prize money.

The two-day event began in 1918 as cattlemen's "get-together" on a ranch near the tiny northern California community. Crowds attended the first contest "from near and far" and pitched tents to stay and watch working cowhands try their luck riding saddle broncs and wild steers.

The crowds still come today, and top competitors in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association are always on hand to compete for the prize money. The rodeo also heralds a run of

Rhodes wins promotion

Former Big Spring resident, Anthony Rhodes, has been promoted to manager of the Plains Machinery Company branch facility in Amarillo.

Plains is a heavy equipment distributor for the construction industry and has executive offices in Amarillo at 1012 W. 10th, and branch facilities in nine Texas cities.

Rhodes has been associated with Plains for seven years, and has been with the parts and sales departments of the company in Odessa and Lubbock, before going to Amarillo in 1973.

Tony Rhodes is married to the former Charlotte Shive, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shive, of Big Spring.

AN ENDANGERED SPECIES . . . THE AMERICAN SYSTEM

We, the unconcerned Americans, who support or tolerate the give-away programs that lead to runaway inflation, are slowly extinguishing the FREE MARKET SYSTEM.

The only people who can prevent the decline and fall of the greatest nation in the history of mankind are the very same people — you and I. We've got to support the Free Market System; we've got to drastically reduce federal spending and government regulation; we've got to stand up for business, large and small; we've got to curtail the monopolistic power of labor unions; we've got to recognize productivity in agriculture, business and industry as essential to our nation's survival; and we've got to restore an honest work ethic to a proud, God lovin' America.

Stadler leading Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Masters champion Tom Watson got an extra day of rest, thanks to the rain that postponed completion of the first round of the $175,000 New Orleans Open. As a result, Craig Stadler got extra hours to savor the unfamiliar taste of a tournament lead.

The opening round was rescheduled for completion today — weather permitting. Stadler, who won less than $3,000 last year, shot a six-under-par 66 over the 7,080-yard course at Lakewood Country Club Thursday.

Watson, leading money winner on the tour this year, was two strokes back, tied with Keith Fergus at 68.

All three were among the 75 golfers who teed off in the morning flight. With four foursomes of the afternoon flight still short of the turn, lightning and rain ended play Thursday.

Clyde Mangum of the PGA rescheduled the preliminary round to start at noon today, instructing golfers to return to the spots where rain caught them. He set the second round for Saturday with the final 36 holes to be played Sunday.

Watson complained of being tired after Thursday's round.

"Since the Masters I've had a lot of interviews, a lot of calls from people wishing me well, a lot of mail and telegrams. It's been fun, but I'm tired," he said.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — First round scores of those able to finish the initial 18 holes of the $175,000 New Orleans Open over the par-72, 7,080-yard Lakewood Country Club course. About half of the 150 golfers were caught on the course when rain suspended play. They will complete their rounds Friday afternoon.

Rockets blast Bullets

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets misfired in their playoff opener, but managed to blast off the launching pad in the second game of their National Basketball Association quarter-final series against the Washington Bullets.

Moses Malone scored a career-high 31 points and grabbed 26 rebounds, one short of his season high, as the Rockets posted a 124-118 overtime victory against the Bullets Thursday night.

The triumph tied the best-of-seven series 1-1, with the third game scheduled Sunday at Landover, Md.

Washington, which erased an 18-point Rockets lead in winning the first game Tuesday night, used the hot shooting of Phil Chenier and Kevin Grevey for a 44-32 advantage midway through the second quarter.

The Rockets closed the gap late in the period and trailed by only 53-50 at halftime, before outscoring the Bullets 18-5 at the start of the third quarter.

Rudy Tomjanovich's jump shot put Houston ahead 56-55 less than two minutes into the quarter, and the Rockets never trailed again. Tomjanovich finished with 20 points.

Mike Newlin, who missed a 35-foot shot at the fourth-quarter buzzer with the game tied 108-108, scored six of his 16 points in overtime, including four straight points which broke a 114-114 tie.

Mitch Kupchak, who finished with 21 points for the Bullets, hit a pair of free throws with 35 seconds left in the fourth quarter, sending the game into overtime.

Chenier scored a game-high 37 points. Tom Henderson added 17 points in a losing effort.

"Moses was simply brilliant" said Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke. "He and Kupchak should prove to be an interesting matchup for years to come."

Although his team lost Game Two, Bullets Coach Dick Motta was pleased with the first two games of the series. "Most teams try for a split of their first two playoff games on the road," Motta said. "It would have been nice to grab both games, but we can't be disappointed with our accomplishments."

The other three quarter-final series resume tonight.

Try the banquet, you'll like it

The Big Spring High School Spring Sports Banquet will be held next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

It will be an excellent chance for the public to meet some of the new top quality coaches that came with the second Robbins era, and it will also give the unflappable local sports fan a chance to show the athletes that they have his support.

In recent years, spring sports have seen more success than those in the fall, especially the girls sports. And in the spring, a young man's fancy always turns to thoughts of love. I don't know what all this proves, but the banquet should be interesting.

The Big Spring school system could possibly have the best group of coaches its ever had. Since I haven't been here forever, that's naturally just an opinion, but I think it's safe to say that it would be very difficult for a school this size to find any better quality in track and baseball coaches than we have now.

Go to the banquet and meet Tom Collins, Garland Braun and their staff and tell them you appreciate what they've done. Everyone likes compliments.

And Gerald Myers, don't forget him. It's difficult for me. I was going to Tech when Bob Bass was causing all the stir as basketball coach, and the Coliseum was crammed with almost 10,000 fans every home game.

Gerald Myers sat on the bench as an assistant coach. Quiet and much less volatile, very few people probably knew he was a great All Southwest Conference standout for the school just 10 years previously.

And then Bass went back to the pros, and Myers was named head coach. Many students, yours truly included, thought that that selection meant the end of exciting roundball for Tech. Were we ever wrong! Not only did the basketball action remain exciting, it increased substantially in success.

His team won the conference crown in 1973, and beat conference champs A&M in the 1976 SWC tournament to advance to the Regional tournament. He's quite a man. Come see him.

Steers vs Eagles today

5-AAAA baseball

The second half of the district 5-4A baseball race is almost turning out to be a reversal of the first half.

With a stunning 7-6 victory Thursday afternoon over Abilene Cooper, the San Angelo Bobcats find themselves tied for the district lead with a 2-0 ledger. Odessa High also put the bite on a second half favorite, topping Midland Lee Thursday 2-1, and now sports a 2-0 reading.

Both Angelo and Odessa

carded weak W-L's in the first half.

Big Spring and Abilene are the only other two league teams that are currently undefeated, both standing at 1-0. But that situation will change this afternoon, as the two squads butt bats in Abilene at 4 o'clock.

Abilene Cooper, champions of the first half, are for all practical purposes out of the second half race. All the other teams would have to lose at least two ball games and the Coogs would have to win the rest of theirs.

And Cooper still has to play three tough teams — Midland Lee, Abilene and Big Spring.

In Thursday's other action, the Permian Panthers evened up their loop reading at 1-1 with a 4-2 decision over winless Midland.

Barring bad weather, all eight league teams will be on the diamonds Saturday: Permian at Big Spring, San Angelo at Odessa, Midland at Abilene and Cooper at Lee.

| SECOND HALF STANDINGS | |
|-----------------------|-----------|
| Team | W L W L |
| Central | 2 0 12 9 |
| Odessa | 2 0 13 9 |
| Big Spring | 1 0 12 6 |
| Abilene | 1 0 16 3 |
| Permian | 1 1 10 11 |
| Cooper | 0 2 12 7 |
| Midland | 0 2 4 17 |
| Midland Lee | 0 2 14 10 |

Thursday's Results — Central 7, Cooper 6, Permian 4, Midland 2, Odessa 2, Midland Lee 1, Big Spring at Abilene postponed by rain.

Friday's Game — Big Spring at Abilene.

Saturday's Games — Central at Odessa; Midland at Abilene; Permian at Big Spring; Cooper at Lee.

Cee City, Coahoma favored in district

BALLINGER — The District 6-AA track meet is being held here today, with Colorado City and Coahoma expected to make the biggest noise in the events.

Action starts at 1 p.m., with field events and running preliminaries set for 3 p.m. The finals will begin at 7 o'clock tonight.

The Wolfpack gets the favorite nod because of their strong relay teams, and some very talented individuals. Cee City has the area's best Class AA pole vaulter in Wayne McKee, who jumped 14-9 this year.

Steve Belvins and Pete Parham could also cop top points in the shot and discus for the Wolves.

Frankie Sanchez is a strong quarter-miler, while Rudy Garcia and Ruben Garcia gives Cee City strength in the distance events.

Rodney Lee, a pole vaulter from Coahoma, should also offer strong competition.

Janet cheerful about her racing

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — Janet Guthrie says she's feeling very cheerful about auto racing all of a sudden.

After struggling through some lean financial years with marginal equipment, the 39-year-old driver seems to have put her problems behind her.

She's got a new sponsor and a new car. Her Kelly Girl Chevrolet is doing well on the Grand National stock-car circuit, and her Lindsey Hopkins Lightning is expected to be competitive in the Indianapolis 500 next month.

"Although I'd been driving for a number of years, I really just got completely involved in 1972," Miss Guthrie said here recently while making some test runs in her Indy car.

"I put my life savings — what there was of it — into building a car for a new pro circuit, but it folded before I ever ran the car.

"The period between 1972 and 1975 was a really bad one for me. By the end of '75, I was so deep in debt I thought I'd never get out.

"I think I realized at the time that I might never make it, that the possibility of my having a racing future was getting dimmer and dimmer."

Her perseverance paid off, though.

"Things have really changed for me and now I feel, well, cheerful about the whole thing," she said.

Elementary track meet Saturday

The second annual Big Spring Optimists Elementary Field Day will be held this Saturday at 8:30 a.m., not 9 a.m., at Memorial Stadium for all city elementary school kids in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades.

The meet is open to the public and concession stands will be operated.

LOOKING AHEAD — The lean years seem to be past for professional race-car driver Janet Guthrie. Next month she hopes to be pulling down her visor for the Indy 500.

Ranger routed by Minnesota

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins got eight runs batted in from the fourth and fifth spots in the batting order—the traditional power places in the lineup—but don't look for Lyman Bostock and Mike Cabbage to get big heads over it.

The two young hitters produced four RBIs apiece Thursday night as the Twins routed the Texas Rangers 11-4.

"I don't think I should be

Wrigley honored

CHICAGO (AP) — It was a bad day for baseball — dark and drizzly — but one that set a proper, subdued mood for a memorial service to one of the game's giants.

By the grace of the schedule maker, the Chicago Cubs had Thursday off. And some of them joined baseball's dignitaries at the church where the team's owner, Philip K. Wrigley, was remembered.

"Phil Wrigley was a man of few words, but a man of his word," said a family friend, Norman Ross, in a five-minute eulogy to a man who would have appreciated his brevity.

Wrigley was a man of "integrity, simplicity, concern for others," said Dr. Elam Davies, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church where the service was held.

Ross recalled both Wrigley's adherence to tradition by refusing to put lights in Wrigley Field and his innovativeness, by appointing a "board of coaches" in 1961 in place of a single manager in an effort to bring a pennant to Chicago.

Wrigley died April 12, 31 seasons after the Cubs won their last pennant. He was stricken at home in Lake Geneva, Wis., and died the next day of a gastrointestinal hemorrhage at an Elkhorn, Wis., hospital. Private funeral services were held last week in Lake Geneva.

Wrigley, owner of a chewing gum company which earned $27.4 million last year, rarely attended his team's games and met few of his players in recent years.

called the 'star of the game' just because I had three hits and four RBIs," said Bostock. "We are all stars out there when we win. Sure, I got three hits, but what would those hits have been if (Rod) Carew and (Roy) Smalley hadn't been getting on base?"

Cabbage was hitting .395 going into the game but had only two RBIs, but his performance tripled his RBI output.

"Tonight I just had people on base ahead of me," he said. Then, pointing to a nearby dressing stall at Dan Ford, he smiled and said, "Ford kept making the third out of the inning while batting ahead of me."

Ford, also smiling, said, "You got a point there." Then, he jabbed back, "Look who's talking, you're hitting .400 against right-handers and .002 against left-handers."

Bostock started Minnesota scoring in the third inning with a checked-swing double to the opposite field off Gaylor Perry. That plated one run and then Cabbage responded with another wrong field double that scored two more.

I was fooled and the ball sunk," said Bostock of his "excuse-me" hit. "I checked my swing and it went out to left field. I don't plan those kind of hits. But I was robbed over there in Kansas City the other night, so it kind of eventuated."

Bostock later had a run-scoring triple and a two-run single and Cabbage, a throw-in on the trade last June that sent Bert Blyleven to Texas, added a sacrifice fly and a fielder's choice grounder.

"I got a lot of pleasure out of finishing 10 or 12 games ahead of Texas last year, but I don't try any harder against them than anybody else," Cabbage said. "I can't afford to put any added pressure on myself. It's too long a season."

Geoff Zahn, who had allowed only four runs in his previous two victories.

Ex helps Twins win

By the Associated Press

The Texas Rangers did Mike Cabbage a favor when they traded him to the Minnesota Twins last year.

But he didn't do any favors for them Thursday night.

Given a chance to start with the Twins after warming the Texas bench, Cabbage is making the most of his opportunity — and in his latest outing knocked in four runs to lead Minnesota to an 11-4 victory over his former teammates.

"I don't play any harder against Texas," said Cabbage, denying any revenge motive for his trade. "The season is just too long for that."

However, Cabbage did admit to some satisfaction in one-upmanship.

"I got a lot of pleasure out of Minnesota finishing 12 games ahead of Texas last year," said Cabbage, who was involved in a big trade last June that sent pitcher Bert Blyleven to Texas.

Incidentally, Cabbage's batting average is one of the main reasons that Minnesota is running ahead of Texas again this year in the American League West. He's hitting close to .400.

In the other American League games Thursday, the New York Yankees beat the Toronto Blue Jays 8-6 and the Detroit Tigers blanked the Boston Red Sox 8-0. The game between Chicago and California at Anaheim Stadium was postponed because of a power failure. There were no games scheduled in the National League.

Cabbage had a two-run double and a sacrifice fly and knocked in a fourth run with a fielder's-choice grounder. Lyman Bostock also drove in four runs to share some of the glory. Geoff Zahn notched his third straight victory of the season despite being roughed up for nine hits and four runs in 6-3 innings.

Yankees 8, Blue Jays 6

Chris Chambliss drove in five runs with a pair of doubles and a towering three-run home run, leading New York over Toronto. Chambliss smashed runcoring doubles in the fourth and sixth innings before pounding his homer in the seventh, when the Yankees scored four times to put the game away.

It was only the Yankees' fifth home run in 12 games this season and the first with anyone on base.

NOSE DIVE OVER THE PYRAMIDS — Leigh Hennessy dives in the shadow of a pyramid during a show by a team of American gymnasts Thursday. Miss Hennessy, from the University of Southwestern Louisiana, was a 1976 world double mini-trampoline and synchronized trampoline champion.

Striking NBA refs picket league HQ

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Striking National Basketball Association referees have decided to picket the league's New York headquarters and selected playoff game sites today, their lawyer said.

The National Association of Basketball Referees, on strike since April 10, had called a 48-hour moratorium on picketing Wednesday.

But the group's attorney, Richard Phillips, said Thursday night that the referees would end the moratorium because the league misinterpreted its purpose.

The moratorium "was intended as a gesture of good will, aimed at breaking down existing barriers between the NABR and the NBA," Phillips said.

"The league misinterpreted this as signifying a weakness of resolve on the part of the referees," he said. "The league was mistaken."

Seattle Slew: race ham

NEW YORK (AP) — As Seattle Slew takes his morning stroll around an elm tree adjacent to barn No. 54 at Belmont Park, he seems impervious to the buzzing conversation and clicking cameras all around him.

"Don't kid yourself," said Karen Taylor. "He knows he's the center of attention. He's a ham. Watch his ears perk up when a camera clicks."

Seattle Slew is Karen's favorite toy. Three and a half years ago she told her husband, Mickey, a lumberman in White Swan, Wash., that she didn't particularly care for a mink coat, what she really wanted was a horse.

She thought she might get a saddle horse. Instead she got a thoroughbred named Triangular. That's how the attractive Taylors, each 32, got into the horse racing business. Now they have a thriving stable, of which Seattle Slew is the prize.

The magnificent 3-year-old colt, the color of polished mahogany and with power seeping from every pore, is being hailed as the new wonder horse, a good prospect to sweep the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes for the 1977 Triple Crown.

Hard boots around the track stand and admire him and speak of him with the same reverence they once reserved for Native Dancer and the great Secretariat. Their judgment will be tested Saturday when Seattle Slew goes in the Wood Memorial, a traditional stepping stone toward Louisville's run for the roses.

Although raced only five times — three times as a 2-year-old and twice this spring in Florida and never beaten — he already has built a legend around himself because of his commanding speed and power.

He is a thunderbolt, who takes off like a rocket and dares his rivals to catch him. He is a free spirit, a stranger to restraint.

"He is very professional, very intelligent," says Karen, flashing her dark brown eyes. "When he works out in the morning it is like a man going to the office. He is very relaxed."

Forsan fem golfers end Regionals

LEVELLAND — Annette Cregar and Melanie Beeson from Forsan competed with 33 other girls Wednesday and Thursday in the Class B Regional Golf Tournament here.

Teresa Denham from Booker was the medalist, and the two teams from Booker won first and second place, automatically advancing them to the state tournament.

Annette Cregar finished in sixth place with a two-day score of 216.

Teams from New Home, Roscoe, Hobbs, Nazareth, Wilson, and Lazbuddie also competed on the rainy course.

Intercontinental football

NEW YORK (AP) — Two semi-professional American football teams will tour Europe to play a five-game series for the fledgling Intercontinental Football League this summer.

The Iowa Nite Hawks and the Chicago Lions, both members of the Northern States Football League, leave in June for the series in Austria, Germany and France.

Organizers of the league hope the tour signals the start of increased interest in American football overseas. "There has been a drastic and dramatic decline in soccer interest in Europe," explained Bob Kap, founder of the IFL. "It does not relate to the people anymore."

There are empty stadiums for many soccer games throughout Europe and that is the reason Kap and Carroll Catler, president of the IFL, believe that American-style football will be a hit there.

"What do they need with soccer, when they can have American football?" said Kap.

Last year, the IFL imported two college teams, Henderson State and Texas A&I for three games in Europe. Playing in West Berlin, Vienna and Paris, the two college teams averaged better than 20,000 fans per game. The contest in Austria drew 30,000, more than doubling the combined attendances of seven professional soccer games played in the country that day.

Kap, who once coached the Dallas Tornado of the North American Soccer League, thinks American football can't miss on the continent.

"I'll tell you what," he said. "I'll take American football in Europe and you can have European soccer in the United States. We'll see who has more success."

Eventually, Catler and Kap would like to see a self-sustaining European league consisting of perhaps a half dozen local teams including some American players, just as Japanese baseball teams use ex-major leaguers from the United States.

For the moment, the IFL will offer the Nite Hawks and Lions, two top minor league teams, to promote the sport.

Like so many minor league teams, the two clubs have a host of ex-college players. Their rosters are often scanned by National Football League clubs and three members of the Iowa team, defensive tackle Tyrone Dye, tight end Bill Larson and wide receiver Dave Jackson, all recently were signed as free agents by the Washington Redskins. Jackson and Dye both played at Iowa and Larson came out of Colorado State.

Shreveport upended, Midland nipped 5-4

By the Associated Press

Jackson derailed the Shreveport victory express Thursday night in a bizarre Texas league game that saw the losers use seven pitchers, including their scheduled starters for the next two nights.

The Captains apparently had won their ninth game in 10 starts with a 6-3 lead going into the ninth inning, but Jackson scored three runs to tie the game and went on to win 8-6 in 12 innings.

Other TL results saw Amarillo nip Midland 5-4 and Tulsa crush Arkansas 13-3. A doubleheader between El Paso and San Antonio, who together have played only six games.

Keith Bode led off the ninth inning for Jackson with a home run and the Mets went on to score two more to tie the contest 6-6.

The game finally ended in the 12th when Jackson scored on a sacrifice fly by Juan Monasterio and an RBI groundout by Stan Hough.

Ivan Murrell's sacrifice fly in the seventh inning plated the eventual winning run in Amarillo's triumph over Midland. The fly ball scored Bobby Mitchell from third after Mitchell tripled.

Dan Duran slammed a two-run homer to climax a five-run first inning for Tulsa in its route of Arkansas. Paul Mirabela got the pitching victory for the Drillers.

Houston Aeros after all pucks

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Aeros attempt to eliminate the Edmonton Oilers Friday night in the World Hockey Association playoffs and Aeros Coach Bill Dineen feels his team is in the right frame of mind to do it.

The Aeros, paced by Morris Lukowich, defeated the Oilers, 4-1, Wednesday night in Edmonton to move ahead 3-1 in their WHA best of seven quarterfinal series.

A Houston victory would mark the fifth straight year the Aeros have won a first round series. A victory by the Oilers would send the series back to Edmonton for another game Sunday.

Dineen had predicted the Aeros would win Wednesday because they were "in a better frame of mind."

"We had a good start and took control of the game from the start," Dineen said. "We were sharper mentally and everybody played exceptionally well."

Dineen said the team also seems to be more relaxed after gaining the 3-1 series edge.

"They always seem to find a way to loosen up when it is needed," he said. "They also know what it takes to get back up if they've relaxed too much."

No one played a more important role in Aeros' third victory than Lukowich. The rookie winger scored three times to give him the team-leading playoff goal total of four. He converted passes from Terry Ruskowski, who had three assists.

Aeros goaltender Wayne Rutledge stopped 33 shots, including six acrobatic saves that nullified almost certain goals.

Vern Rapp, 48, took his first subway ride other day during Cards' visit to New York. He thought it was great, got a seat and everything. Even graffiti pleased him "Do they have special drawing sessions for those decorations?" he wondered. Later, gawking at tall downtown buildings, Birds pilot said: "I wonder what would happen if all the people in them came pouring out the street at the same time." They do, Vern, every weekday at 5, and it gets kinda claustrophobic.

It's just good common sense to want great gas mileage these days. But there are more economies built into these Toyotas than just what you'll save at the gas pump.

Durability. It makes sense to buy a car that'll hold up. Toyotas are built to last. That's why you see so many older Toyotas still on the road.

Reliability. It makes sense to buy a car you can depend on. Toyota built its reputation with reliable cars. For example, you can't buy a new Toyota that doesn't have a transistorized ignition system for dependable starting. And there are 27 different Toyota models to choose from. Value. It makes sense to buy a car that'll hold its value. Toyotas have traditionally high resale value. A Toyota is like money in the bank.

One he played with, Earl Monroe, has strange numbness in left arm, result of being belted by Houston's Calvin Murphy at end of season. Tests are being taken.

More and more hitters using cupped bats, with scooped-out far end. Nobody seems quite sure whether there's any physical advantage to such model, or if it's purely mental. . . . Libro Mazzilli, father of Mets' rookie center fielder, gave this advice to Lee: "Remember two things. Think of what you're going to do, and then enjoy doing it. If you don't enjoy it, give it up. Don't let money interfere with your happiness" . . . I disagree with those who say Mazzilli won't be a hitter. He reminds me of Bob Aspromonte. Broke in as a skinny kid, matured, became power-hitter. . . . Wonder if decision of linebacker Brad Van Pelt not to present best offer from another team for Giants to match, suggests he's not too proud of best offer received. Often, there's nothing like learning your true market value to make you appreciate what you have.

Court temporarily bars abortion

MAPLEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — A 23-year-old man who is seeking to prevent a former girlfriend from having an abortion for a fetus she said he fathered, said he's doing it because he doesn't want her "hurt."

"I care for her and she could be hurt by this," said John Rothenberger Jr. "I'm not doing this just for me. It's for her, too. She has a lot to lose — a family to lose, a college education. She has just me to gain."

Rothenberger, a jobless construction worker, obtained a temporary restraining order against the abortion that was scheduled for Thursday.

Rothenberger said he had been dating Wendy Chasalow, 19, for almost two years but that they stopped seeing each other last week when she told him she was pregnant despite the use of contraception. He said she told him he was the father, a judgment he accepted.

"She wasn't mad," Rothenberger said. "She didn't seem so upset. She wasn't overjoyed about it, but it didn't make her angry." He said the couple had talked of marriage and that she wanted to elope on Saturday but had changed her mind by Monday, saying she wanted the abortion. "I'm still very much in love with her," he said.

Rothenberger, who said he plans to enter bartending school next week, said his mother would care for the child while he worked.

A superior court judge and state appeals court rejected his arguments that he had an equal right to participate in an abortion decision and that the six-week-old fetus had rights in the matter.

Both courts said the U.S. Supreme Court had given women an absolute right to an abortion in the first 12 weeks of pregnancy. But Justice Robert L. Clifford in Morristown granted the restraining order until the full state Supreme Court hears the case on Monday.

Miss Chasalow, a freshman at Trenton State College, was not available for comment on Thursday, but some family members in Whippany said she had not had the abortion.

"She called me last night to tell me she was very angry," Rothenberger said Thursday. "She's very angry with what I'm doing."

Rothenberger said he thought Miss Chasalow was being pressured into the abortion by her family, adding that "her parents felt I wasn't exactly the best one for her."

Farm 76,763 bales produced

The Howard County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) revealed today that Howard County farmers produced 76,763 bales of cotton.

Earlier estimates were pointing towards a higher production, roughly in the neighborhood of a bale to the cotton acre. However, the final total revealed a lesser figure, probably due to extensive boll weevil damage that occurred in the Sand Springs and Coahoma cotton growing areas.

The final tabulation revealed that the 76,763 bales were grown on 89,560.4 acres of cotton, for an average of 428 lbs. to the cotton acre. There were 38,300,488 lbs. in total production on Howard County farms.

The 1975 cotton crop in Howard County was about 75,000 bales and made nearly 400 lbs. to the acre. There were approximately 86,000 acres of harvested production in 1975 which bettered 176 production by about 12 lbs. to the acre.

The 1977 cotton crop as estimated by the ASCS in Howard County will have about 92,000-93,000 acres in cotton production. The estimate is higher than previous year actual figures due to new land being brought into production, in addition to some switchover from feed and wheat to cotton land because of higher cotton prices than in past years.

Cotton transfers deadline nearing

The Howard County ASCS committee reported that May 2 is the final date to transfer cotton allotments from one farm to another.

Those farms that do not have a cotton allotment are ineligible to place cotton produced on that farm into government loan if they do not have any disaster protection in the event of a low yield crop caused through no fault of their own, ASCS officials point out.

The committee composed of James (Buddy) Barr, R.C. Thomas and Donnie Reid oversees all farm programs administered at the local county level.

Each committeeman is elected through a public election and serves three-year terms. The committee meet on the 4th Thursday of each month to discuss matters relative to the ASCS farm program as they occur within Howard County.

Among the items attended to each month is action on the agricultural conservation program, the cotton programs, local administrative matters, the feed grain and wheat programs and price support programs.

The Howard County ASCS office will be taking applications for mesquite spraying thru April under its Agricultural Conservation Program.

Eligible producers are urged to meet this date in order to enable the office to effectively manage funding for the practice. Mesquite must not be sprayed until 40 days after green leaves appear and no later than 90 days after leaves appear.

This would mean the program requirements would need all spraying to be done between May 15 and July 10. However, these dates would also be contingent upon cotton growing areas close to spraying sites.

"Caution must be taken to avoid close spraying to cotton which could catch the spray drift and which would kill the young crop," ASCS officials warn.

Tech judging contest to attract 1,600

LUBBOCK — Approximately 1,600 students of vocational agriculture in West Texas high schools will participate in the 50th annual Texas Tech Vocational Agriculture Judging Contest Saturday.

Eleven competitive events will be held in the departments of Animal Science, Food Technology, Plant and Soil Science and Agricultural Engineering and Technology.

Six competitions will serve as elimination contests for Areas I and II of the state Future Farmers of America (FFA) in livestock, dairy cattle, milk and dairy foods, poultry, meats and agricultural mechanics. The other five competitions — cotton, wool, crops, land and range and pasture plants — are Texas Tech contests.

Results will be announced at 2:30 p.m. in the auditoriums of the Agricultural Engineering Building and the Agriculture Building. Immediately thereafter, teams from Areas I and II qualifying to attend the State FFA Judging Contest April 30 at Texas A&M University will be certified.

Professor Levi M. Hargrave is general superintendent of the contest, which is being coordinated by the Department of Agricultural Education of the Texas Tech College of Agricultural Sciences.

HC schedules pecan event

Pecan propagation will be the theme of a workshop to be held at 10 a.m. next Wednesday in the Howard College greenhouse located on the South side of the Howard College campus.

The program will be presented by Dr. Bill Peavy of Fort Stockton, Area Horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The morning session will be followed by some field work at a nearby pecan planting.

A registration fee of $1 will be charged to pay for budding and grafting stock.

All pecan enthusiasts are being invited to attend.
