

Howard area 'not fruitful'

Nuclear waste dump in Permian Basin?

By JAMES WERRELL
The Howard County area is not being considered as a site for toxic radioactive waste disposal, but two may be built in our backyard, according to John Schriver, geologist for the center for the Federal Environmental Research and Development Administration (ERDA).

With the onslaught of the energy crisis the Federal government is moving closer and closer to the widespread use of nuclear energy as a viable fuel source. In Texas alone, seven atomic power reactors are planned for operation by the turn of the century, according to government sources.

And with the advent of the nuclear age, comes the need for an effective means to store dangerous waste materials. Nuclear waste ranges from high-level, high-heat generating waste to low-level waste, which would include contaminated clothing worn by plant workers. All of it remains dangerous for thousands and thousands of years, and must be stored deep underground.

But with storage there is always the risk of seepage. If the storage area is not stable enough, toxic waste can seep into underground water supplies, or shift to a point where it would leak to the surface.

What is the answer to nuclear waste storage? With the help of the National Academy of Natural Sciences, ERDA has determined that the deep salt beds of West Texas and the Panhandle are among the safest areas for stable storage.

According to Bob Kenf, geologist for the State Water Quality Control

Board, millions of years of salt-sea flooding and drying of this area of the country caused the formation of the salt beds.

These Permian-age salt formations are made up of massive deposits of sodium chloride (table salt) surrounded by calcium sulphate (gypsum) buried beneath a thousand feet or more of sand. Unlike other subsurface conformations, these salt beds are practically non-porous; perfect for the prevention of waste seepage, according to scientists.

Several years ago, according to Kent, the Academy of Natural Sciences was asked to investigate thick salt deposits in the country for the purpose of finding future nuclear dumps. After a review of all publications and literature on the subject, the academy narrowed prospects to five areas of the country.

One of the most promising areas proved to be the subsurface Palo Duro and Dalhart Basins, and a small piece of the Permian Basin, all in Texas.

Last year ERDA contracted with the Union Carbide Company to perform a series of extensive tests in these areas to determine the feasibility of sites. Drilling and testing are scheduled to begin this year, and two tentative sites selected by 1978.

"I'd say we are at the Sherlock Holmes stage in the investigation. We are just looking for clues as to what would be a reasonable site for disposal," said geologist Schriver.

"We are dealing with an incredibly vast area, and a lot of guesswork will have to go into finding the right place."

According to Schriver, Howard and surrounding counties appear unlikely as dump sites because of all the oil and gas exploration that has gone on here.

"Your (Big Spring's) part of the country does not look fruitful. The area we are looking for should be stable, dry and unpunctured. With all the drilling there, the chances of hitting isolated pockets of gas, oil or water is great. An abandoned well hole poses the same problems," he said.

The area that ERDA is interested in, according to Schriver, does cover thousands of square miles in Texas. The subsurface Dalhart Basin runs under Dallam, Hartley and part of Moore Counties. The Palo Duro Basin runs from Deaf Smith, Randall and Armstrong Counties in the north, to Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley and Cottle Counties in the south.

The piece of the Permian Basin under consideration is mostly in southeast New Mexico, but may include a small portion of Loving County in Texas.

The creation of a nuclear dump site will not be an overnight production.

"Once the sites are chosen, every state agency will be involved," said Kent. "Our (the Water Quality Control Board) function will be to examine the environmental questions, and the danger of radioactive waste affecting the water supply. I'm sure that Governor (Dolph) Briscoe is aware of what's going on, and if he doesn't want a site somewhere, ERDA would pull out," he added.

Although the possibility of locating a site near the Big Spring, Midland-Odessa area is remote, it is not out of the question.

"At this point, the chances of putting a dump anywhere near you (Big Spring) are very slight. But we have to categorically rule out the possibility," said Schriver.

Cosden makes 50 million gallons yearly

Benzene rule effect unknown

By BOB BURTON
Cosden President Ken Perry said Saturday that the firm is "studying" its production of benzene after a Labor Department release linked prolonged exposure to the chemical with leukemia.

The Labor Department, citing new medical evidence that benzene can cause leukemia, issued an emergency order to sharply reduce worker exposure to the chemical Friday.

Benzene is a petroleum derivative used as a solvent in the rubber industry and is also used in certain chemical, printing, paint and adhesive processes.

"We don't know that we aren't already in compliance with the new acceptable limits," said Perry. "We have been aware of this benzene problem for several months and we have been looking to find out how it will affect Cosden, but at this time we really don't know, and we really can't comment."

The local plant produces about 50 million gallons of the substance per year, according to Perry. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration issued a temporary order to take effect May 21 after a Department of Health, Education and Welfare study showed the incidence of leukemia among workers at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. in Akron, Ohio to be five times as great as for the rest of the population.

Perry said he didn't know how many of the workers at Cosden were affected by the new ruling.

The reduction would drop the permissible worker exposure to one part of benzene per million parts of air averaged over an eight-hour day. The current standard is 10 parts of benzene per million parts of air.

The order also reduces to five parts per million the highest permissible level of benzene allowed in the air of a workplace for any single 15-minute period during an eight-hour day.

The rule also requires employers who use benzene to provide protective equipment and medical tests, measure worker exposure and maintain strict record-keeping.

Eula Bingham, assistant labor secretary of occupational safety and health, estimated that it will cost industry about $40 million to bring their plants into compliance with the new rules.

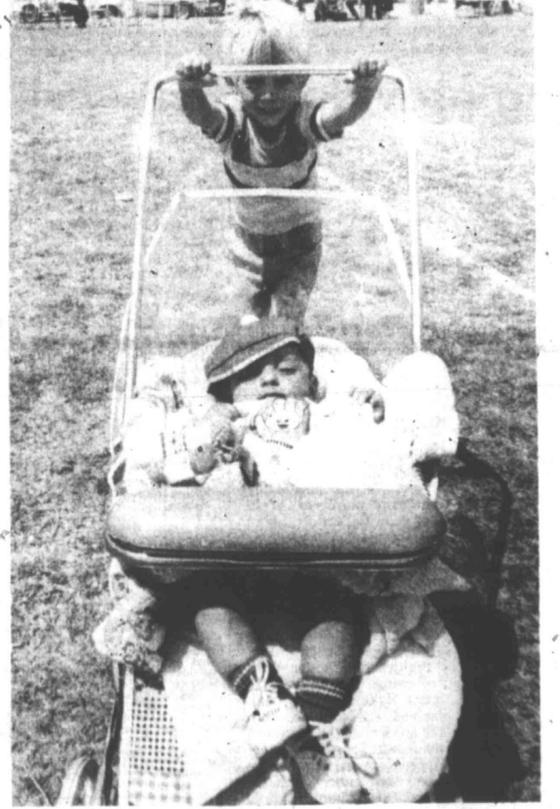

"There has been a lot written about benzene recently," concluded Perry.

"We don't know how they are determining their standards, but we are studying the ruling."

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall cited what he called "overwhelming" evidence linking benzene with leukemia and said, "The need to act is urgent."

"The sad fact is that because of exposure to benzene, many workers have died and many are now suffering from leukemia, an irreversible form of cancer," he told a news conference.

Marshall gave no figures. Ula Bingham, assistant labor secretary for occupational safety and health, said the action was taken after she received a report from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which found that chances of dying from leukemia were about five times as great for workers exposed to the chemical as for the rest of the population.

Area misses brunt of heavy thunderstorm

Cotton farmers rejoiced again Friday as a band of thundershowers moved across West Texas, dropping some rain on Howard County and drenching San Angelo, with unofficial reports there riding as high as eight inches.

Locally, the east part of Big Spring reported 4 inches of rain, Boyce Hale reported 4 inches south of town also. Hale's total for the year runs 5.31 inches, well above normal.

Luther received only a trace of the precipitation, but the April total is approximately four inches.

Ackerly reports .3 inches Friday and an April total of 2.5 inches. Some farmers there are already planting.

Ina Stout, Coahoma, reported the rainfall at about 5 inches, as did the H.H. Wilkerson Ranch near Lomax.

Showers are expected to continue across the state through Sunday, with showers in the north and south possibly becoming severe.

Due to contributions Immaculate Heart school will remain in operation

The Immaculate Heart of Mary School will be open next year, according to a recent announcement by the Board of Trustees. The school has apparently survived a $19,000 budget deficit as well as Webb closing and the expected enrollment drop to turn around a bleak situation.

The projected deficit in a budget of $69,000 was announced in March. Board President Tom Corwin and members Lee George, Sam Campagna, Bill Thompson, George Wilson, and ex-officio member and Parent's Club president Bob West sought outside help from the diocese.

The Webb closing presented other problems to the board. Enrollment would drop from 103 to 70. There was no transportation to draw new pupils to the school. Funds continued to be scarce, especially with the pressure of the base closing on the churches.

Relief came from the Parent's Club, which two weeks after the board reluctantly voted to close the school appeared with a new school bus and $2,000 in committed donations.

The decision was made last week that Immaculate Heart would be open next year, offering preschool through sixth grade education to Big Spring children.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: '58 tax rolls

Q. Are tax evaluators saying that nothing on the tax roll has had evaluation changes since 1958? Wasn't it kept up until Novis Womack quit in 1974?

A. No, tax evaluators are not saying this, according to Carlton Harry. They are saying that everything is still based on 1958 building schedules with a 1968 guideline that they are required to use. Everybody knows that costs of buildings have changed drastically since 1958. Some changes have been made in the tax roll since 1958, according to Harry. For an example, when IS 20 came through, the downtown land on 3rd and 4th Streets was reduced. Also, the evaluators periodically reviewed 20 per cent of buildings and structures on 1958 schedule.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Former trash collector Ray Valine decided recently to use his head, and now says he's making $100 a day in advertising revenues.

On one recent day he was advertising a downtown bar on the left side of his scalp, a steel company above his right ear, and a restaurant on the back of his head.

He said the idea came to him when he was shaving his dark, curly locks so he could paint his head like an Easter egg "and be Captain Easter Egg for a gas station."

His wife, Diana, does the painting. Valine promenades slowly through crowds around the Capitol and downtown malls.

Valine, 30, said he needs the money because his wife is pregnant.

Witnesses save pair from flaming autos

By BOB BURTON
Two persons escaped serious injury Saturday night after witnesses pulled them from their burning cars only seconds before they exploded following a collision at Third and Main Streets.

At 9 p.m. vehicles driven by Nancy Plowman, 426 Westover, and Lupe Arguello, 611 South Bell, collided at the corner of Third and Main.

Minutes after the impact, both cars exploded, sending flames as high as 30 feet into the air and gutting the interior of Mrs. Plowman's tan Ford.

"We were just driving down Third, about a block behind them," said John Smith. "The Ford backed-ended the Comet as it was parked at the red light and pushed it clear through the intersection."

"We pulled over onto Main," his wife, Ellen continued, "and ran over to get them. The front car was burning, but the man inside wouldn't get out, so I went to get the girl."

"It was like TV," Smith said. "She said she had double vision and started talking about her neurologist."

"Shock," said Mrs. Smith. "About 30 seconds after they got out the car exploded."

Arguello apparently owes his rescue to Grador Ross, a Lamesa dog catcher, who pulled the stunned man from under the dash of the flickering death-trap of his car. Reserve Deputy Robert Puente was the first officer on the scene. "I drove up to the courthouse and heard the impact," he said. "As I came around the corner, I saw the flames shooting up. No one was in the cars when I got there."

Patrolman Allen Parrish arrived at the scene at 9:02. "They were there immediately," remembered Smith. "And the fire department was there real quick."

Fire Captain Pete Anderson said the fire was out in two minutes under the water from the one booster sent to the scene.

"We figured our arrival time at about 30 seconds," he said. Police say Mrs. Plowman's car, which is registered to local Postmaster Frank Hardesty, her father, fits the description given of a vehicle involved in two hit-and-run accidents in the Barcelona Apartment complex on Westover minutes before the crash.

Officers who assisted in crowd and traffic control were Mike Kelly, David Caudie, Robert Carouth, Mike Hilers and Sergeant Mike Pearson.

Mrs. Plowman was treated and released at Malone-Hogan Hospital. Arguello was reported in satisfactory condition in Medical Arts Hospital.

Hearts 'n flowers Indifferent society

with Tommy Hart

Terrorists around the world invariably operate behind a political guise and with great confidence. Little wonder. Within their own cult, they are lionized and the odds they will go unpunished are four in five.

A University of California political scientist, Chalmers Johnson, says that acts of terrorism have increased three-fold in the past decade and the 20 per cent who are cornered serve only an average of 18 months in the bucket.

Johnson attributes the increase to what he terms the three Ts — targets, technology and toleration.

Industrialized nations are rich in potential targets for terrorists. Look at the potential objectives in the United States, for example — big passenger planes, nuclear plants, utility firms and water reservoirs, to name a few.

Technology serves a terrorist well, not only by providing sensitive targets but giving them miniaturized weapons and the means for creating nuclear weapons. Sometime in the not too distant future, there'll be political activists coming into possession of an atom bomb and all of us are going to have to take to the hills.

Another important by-product of technology, reminds Johnson, is instant global communications via television satellite.

As for tolerance, no one wants to rock the boat. There is no international effort to control terrorism and that, in a way, encourages its spread. Texans are very smug about the incidence of terrorism because very little of it happens here, but they shouldn't be. Such acts committed anywhere in the world harm the quality of life and serve to restrict civil liberties everywhere.

Separate cruise missiles waste?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office, asserting there is "confusion and uncertainty" in the Pentagon about cruise missiles, doubts that separate missile programs are needed for the Air Force and Navy.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., made part of the GAO report public Saturday. He said "a prime reason for the confusion" stems from a Jan. 14 decision by William Clements, former deputy defense secretary, to expand the cruise missile program to include six different kinds of missiles estimated to cost more than $5 billion.

That decision approved separate development of an Air Force air-launched cruise missile and the Navy's Tomahawk cruise missile.

Cruise missiles are small, pilotless jet bombers designed to strike targets up to 2,000 miles away with nuclear or conventional warheads. Unlike present strategic nuclear missiles, the cruise missiles would travel only a few hundred feet above ground to elude enemy radar.

Proxmire said the Air Force had opposed a suggestion that it adapt the Navy missile on grounds it was too long for aircraft missile racks.

"But the Clements' directive gives priority to a long-range and larger Air Force missile which will require added cost for aircraft modifications and changes to the (missile) rack," Proxmire said.

The GAO report says the Air Force estimates the cost of 2,357 air-launched cruise missiles at $2.9 billion, while the Navy estimates the cost of 1,264 Tomahawks at $2.2 billion.

Bill's no specialist

Back to the jack-of-all-trades

By BILL WERRELL
Specialization is the mainstay of the modern American economy. For instance, it takes a lot of different specialists to build a car, one firm to make the rubber for the tires, another to build the body, more firms for the engine, one for the glass, and on and on. Most everything on the market today is a product of a conglomeration of different minds, materials and workmanship, all limited by each other.

For Bill Brooks, job specialization plays no part in the product which he turns out. He is really a jack-of-all-trades.

Who else do you know who can design a house, build it, make all the furniture and cabinets for it, paint pictures and pen and ink drawings to hang on its walls, grace its livingroom with a hand-carved cigar store Indian, and apply finishing touches by applying hand script to the mailbox? Brooks has always been interested in design and woodwork, and painting, and carving etc. as a hobby. Finally his dream has come true. On March 1, Brooks opened The Design Shop, a business in which Brooks' main interests and hobbies will be the implements of his livelihood.

His business has hit the ground running. He has nearly twice the business he ever expected, and is getting requests for special projects every day.

And no wonder, Brooks is one of the few people left in this world who has the capability and desire to make something as commonplace as a cradle a design masterpiece.

Rather than adapting design to the fastest, cheapest, and most mass productive of tools and materials, Brooks adapts his tools and materials to his design.

Brooks is the craftsman who will fulfill those design needs of his clients which have been ignored by the mass production companies, or which are normally not available anymore.

On special order, Brooks will make "one of a kind" pieces of furniture, or complete cabinets, small wooden knick-knacks, or even elaborate carvings.

He'll design logos or trademarks for businesses from start to the completed art work. Also all types of advertising art, with lay out posters, or highway signs.

Carved wooden signs are a real specialty of Brooks, including the carving of wooden name plaques.

Brooks will also offer a full array of display items for retail store window display.

He is also involved in book illustration and layout and hand lettering of scrolls, certificates and awards.

As mentioned before, Brooks also offers a complete home planning service, including house plans and designs, contacting builders, construction progress and job inspection.

One item which Brooks offers is becoming more and more popular. From an old photograph, or often a good description, he will draw in pen and ink a picture of a family's old home place for display or framing.

For those of you who need a special solution to a design problem or want a special piece of furniture, Brooks' new shop is located at 1708 S. Gregg, or he can be reached at 267-3251.

Police beat — Shooting sends two to hospital

What was reported as an accidental shooting Friday night left a Big Spring husband and wife in separate hospitals. Joe Smith and his wife Pat, 1205 Stanford, were treated for wounds suffered when, according to reports, Smith was passing a pistol to his wife at 11:30 p.m. when it discharged, hitting her in the right shoulder and him in the left hand.

Hospital. Mrs. Smith is in stable condition in Malone Hogan Hospital.

Detective J.D. Carter arrested Robert Eugene Wiggins 3 p.m. Friday at Webb AFB on charges of sexual abuse on a five-year-old boy, Wiggins, a Webb sergeant, was charged in connection with the Wednesday incident in Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena's office Friday. He was released Friday night on $15,000 bond set by Ochotorena.

Detectives John Burson and Jan Hyden are investigating another possible sexual assault on a child. Charges on the Friday incident involving a three-year-old girl will be filed following medical results of tests to validate the complaints.

Joyce Smith, 1002 N. Main St., reported the loss of $640 in cash Friday evening. According to police reports, she left the sum with a friend for an evening while she was out. The neighbor awoke Saturday morning to the $640 and her husband missing. Charley Martinez, 1225 E.

6th, reported the loss of a Webb AFB check for $244.97 Friday. The check, along with a transistor radio valued at $3.40 were taken from his home between 4:30 and 8 p.m. Friday. How the burglars gained entry is unknown.

A small suitcase containing some clothing was lifted from the back of a pickup belonging to Jim Johnson, 3632 Melody Lane, while it was parked outside 703 Williams Thursday evening.

Forty checks marked Raymond H. Allen Sr. were reported missing along with a purse belonging to Joy Allen, Southland Apts. Friday.

In minor accidents over the weekend, vehicles driven by Juanita Morales, 506 N.E. 9th, and Vickie Brown Taylor, 4208 Walnut, collided at 700 N. Lamesa at 10:55 p.m. Friday.

Billy Joe Nicholas, Salt Lake City, Utah, knocked down 300 feet of telephone wire in the parking area at 608 S. Gregg while driving a Peterbilt tractor-truck and towing another vehicle.

Damage was estimated at $300.

A vehicle belonging to Jamey Moorhead, P.O. Box 1931, was struck while parked at the Pizza Inn parking lot at 10:55 p.m. Saturday night. The other vehicle apparently left the scene.

Plane, lightning provide activity

By MARJ CARPENTER

A Colorado Municipal Water District weather plane shooting off flares and a house which burst into flames after being struck by lightning caused a passing motorist to think a plane had crashed during the thunderstorm Friday night.

The motorist was traveling on FM 699 and notified the Midland Department of Public Safety that he saw a plane fall to the ground and burst into flames ten miles east of Big Spring.

The DPS office called Highway Patrolman Davey Jones who in turn notified the police dispatcher. Shortly thereafter, Freddie Blalack, who lives north of Big Spring on the old Gail Highway, reported that he heard a plane low over his house during the storm and was afraid it might be in trouble.

A third call from another farmer north of town started a heavy search northeast of Big Spring. One citizen band channel garbled the message and reported that a plane had struck Blalack's home. Several persons rushed to that location, including several policemen.

George Diaz, police dispatcher, then received a call that a rural home was on fire south of Vealmoor. Volunteer fire units were rushed to the scene.

Meanwhile at Vealmoor, the Audrey Brummetts were forced to evacuate their home quickly when lightning struck and it was deemed a complete loss, burning heavily before help could arrive.

The Brummetts spent the remainder of the night with relatives. Heavy lightning also knocked out two deep freeze units at the Vealmoore Store as over an inch of rain was dumped in that area in a short period of time.

Pascal Odum, of the CRMWD office, told police that the weather plane was flying in the area where the lightning struck the house and that the pilot saw the lightning. He reported that he flew low under the lightning and dropped some flares, probably in the vicinity of the Blalack house. It had some difficulty landing but finally got down safely at the Howard County Airport after 10:30 p.m.

The search was then called off and volunteers put on stand-by in case there were other reports. Right in the middle of the search north of town, a small tornado funnel was sighted by four different persons, including one law enforcement officer. It apparently never touched the ground, although it dipped down in the Vincent area.

DA answers Ballard appeal

District Attorney Rick Hamby filed the State's answer to an appeal by convicted murderer Whittier Jean Ballard Friday in San Antonio.

According to Assistant District Attorney Don Richard, who worked extensively preparing the brief, it was reviewed by trial judge Earl Smith of the 51st Judicial District.

Smith had the option, after reviewing the answer, to grant Ballard a new trial. Instead, he forwarded both the appeal and the answer to the Austin Court of Criminal Appeals where they will be ruled on either with or without oral argument.

"We covered all their points in the brief," said Richard. "Of course, anything can happen, but I'm satisfied we were able to respond to all their points."

Ballard was convicted twice of the December, 1970 murder of Glasscock County rancher Steve Curry. This is his third appeal of the life sentence.

Ford to visit Austin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Gerald Ford will visit Tuesday in Austin, the city he never visited while a president or as a national campaigner.

The former President and Mrs. Ford will arrive at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library on the University of Texas campus Tuesday afternoon for a brief picture-taking session followed by a tour of the library.

From 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Ford will meet with students of the LBJ School of Public Affairs in a question-and-answer session.

University officials said Ford would hold no press conference while on the campus, although newsmen will be allowed to report the hour-long session with UT students.

After the appearance in Austin, the Fords will go to the LBJ Ranch, 65 miles west of Austin, as the overnight guests of Lady Bird Johnson, wife of the former President. There will be no press coverage at the ranch.

Monday is Speakers Day

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Monday will be "Speaker's Day" in the Texas Legislature, a special tribute to Speaker Bill Clayton.

Clayton has asked again that legislators and his supporters refrain from gift-giving, a former feature of the traditional day.

The speaker said he personally would bear the expenses of this Speakers Day. If any money is contributed, he said, it will be divided between the Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo and Girlstown at Whiteface. Both are in Clayton's district.

Panel probes uranium loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Intelligence Committee, concerned about the spread of atomic weapons, will investigate reports that 220 tons of uranium vanished from an ocean freighter nine years ago and ended up in a nuclear reactor in Israel.

According to published reports, the uranium probably is being used to fuel an Israeli nuclear power plant in the Negev Desert that produces enough plutonium each year to build a bomb of the size dropped on Nagasaki.

"The committee is interested in asking concerned agencies what they know about these reports," said a committee source. He said the panel wants to hear from the Central Intelligence Agency and the Energy Research and Development Administration, which monitors international movement of nuclear materials.

U.S. officials have refused to discuss the reports, which have been denied by the Israeli government.

U. S. troops in Panama close to the best

BALBOA, Canal Zone (AP) — The U.S. troops defending the Canal Zone "are very close to being the top of the U.S. military" and are prepared to face any threat to the waterway, says their commanding general.

Lt. Gen. Dennis P. McAuliffe said his 10,000-member force of Army, Navy and Air Force troops are better prepared for an emergency than at any time since the 1964 anti-American riots, which left 23 persons dead.

The force, known as the U.S. Southern Command, has become a major issue in negotiations between the United States and Panama on a new treaty governing the status of the 500-square-mile Canal Zone. Talks on the new treaty resume in Washington on May 10.

A Panamanian spokesman has said the United States has agreed to withdraw all its troops from the zone by the year 2000, but U.S. officials have declined to confirm that report. The 1903 treaty gave the United States control of the zone "in perpetuity."

The principal mission of the Southern Command is to defend the Canal Zone against sabotage or civil demonstrations that may spill over from the neighboring Republic of Panama, which is demanding control of the zone.

"In case of major disturbances or large-scale attack, augmented forces must be provided from other sources," said Col. Antonio Lopez, public affairs officer for the Southern Command.

Reinforcements would probably come from the 82nd Airborne Division based at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Air Force and Navy elements stationed in the United States. Because these reinforcements would need secure landing zones and combat bases, knowledgeable observers speculate that in any new arrangement the United States will insist on retaining the Ft. Kobbe-Howard Air Force base complex near the Pacific entrance to the canal.

"Howard Air Force base is probably our most vital military installation," Lopez said. "Its 8,500-foot runway is the only jet-equipped runway in the Panama Canal Zone."

Although only 11 U.S. warships sailed through the canal during the past year, the waterway "is vital to U.S. strategy in wars like Korea and Vietnam for logistic supply," Lopez said.

The muscle of the Southern Command is the 7,000-member 193rd Infantry Brigade, stationed at Ft. Kobbe. The brigade consists of three infantry battalions, an aviation battalion and a Special Forces group.

Last September, the brigade was placed on standby alert when student demonstrators rioted against the Panamanian government of Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos near the zone border. U.S. troops did not get involved. The Panamanian National Guard used tear gas and clubs to break up the demonstrations.

A month later, four bombs went off inside the zone, but there were no deaths or injuries.

"The four bombings caused a great deal of concern among residents of the Canal Zone and caused this command to increase security of all the military bases to prevent any recurrence," McAuliffe said. The Canal Zone has 14 military bases.

For many years, the Americans trained Panamanian soldiers in the Canal Zone, but McAuliffe said this had been all but stopped "for political reasons."

OWNERS MEET — Dan Kuykendall of Tennessee, president of National Association of Property Owners, is shown discussing the rights of the person who owns property with Mrs. J.M. Sterling, Mayor Wade Choate and Rich Anderson at a meeting held here Saturday, attended by about 200 persons.

Threaten rights of property owners? Citizens hear bills blasted

"The only way to stop bureaucrats is to build tight fences," Dan Kuykendall, president of the National Association of Property Owners told a delegation of close to 200 concerned citizens in a meeting held at Howard College Saturday.

The property owners who came to hear his message included persons from 19 communities stretching from Monahans to Colorado City and to Lubbock.

bill is doing things that I never meant for it to do."

The property owners group halted the Land Use Bill introduced by Udall and plans to fight it each year when it comes back up.

Kuykendall pointed out that the NAPO organization branches out into divisions for farmers, ranchers, independent oil operators and those who own mineral rights, the financial community, the construction industry, forestry and mining.

He pointed out that construction labor unions back them because it cuts off jobs when projects are halted. "Actually, I guess 75 percent of the citizens in the United States are strongly concerned about property rights, but we have to sit back and let a minority of the people set up bureaus under claims of helping the environment that are completely destroying free enterprise and the rights of individuals." Kuykendall pointed out that the snowballing bureaucracies had to be stopped at the bottom — by the people. "We can't count on big business, which is almost as bureaucratic as the government. Any group that has the middle man that works in a mediocre effort all of his life, drawing a salary and benefits, without ever seeing the bottom line, is a bureaucracy."

A drive for membership was then held, with the main purpose of the group quoted as "We will fight anything that hurts the value of your property through government action. We do not include eminent domain, but are talking about programs that destroy the value of the property without every paying a dime."

Weather Rain back in forecast

Rain was back in the Texas forecast for all but the western tip of the state Saturday as severe weather moved into the state.

Showers and thunderstorms were evident from the lower Gulf Coast late Saturday morning north through San Antonio, Waco and east beyond Dallas.

Weather forecasters issued a tornado warning for Cameron County after a tornado was spotted north of Brownsville. There were no reports of the tornado touching down.

Marine warnings were also in effect through most of the morning for boating enthusiasts in Southeast Texas and especially in the Corpus Christi area.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast for today over much of the Mississippi and Missouri River valleys and also over parts of Montana and Wyoming, according to the National Weather Service.

Are we polluting our own water?

So what if the sewage discharge dumped into Beal's Creek has a few too many suspended solids? In this case, our sins could come back to us — and right away, via our water system.

What the city discharges into Beal's Creek runs into the Colorado River which runs into Lake Spence which is the main source of our water supply. Are we polluting our own water?

W.H. MAYES, district representative of the Texas Water Quality Board, says quite probably. Bill Brown, assistant Big Spring city manager for water and sewer, says quite unlikely.

The 1962 city treatment plant cannot meet the 1967 water standards for sewage discharge. The city adds more chlorination to the discharge than is normal, but the solids are still too high, and nothing can be done about the banks of silt that build up in Beal's Creek as a result without major modification to the treatment plant.

But Brown says that the discharge purifies itself as it runs through the 70 miles of streambeds before reaching Lake Spence.

"By the time Beal's Creek runs into the Colorado," he says, "I doubt if anybody could identify water from the City of Big Spring sewage plant."

water quality, he contends, such as agriculture runoff, oil field contributions and, most of all, the natural salt of this region.

The Colorado River is naturally quite salty, and Brown says these natural causes are a far greater pollutant than the city's plant.

"I don't think that we're a problem with the reusability of water entering the Colorado," he says.

MAYES, HOWEVER, says that he believes that not all pollutants will be broken down by sunlight and other factors before reaching Lake Spence, although most would be.

Brown notes that great progress has been made in cleaning up the watershed. Many of our larger industries in this area now catch their waste and contain it rather than putting it into the creek. The Colorado River Municipal Water District has done an outstanding job of removing more than 20 tons of natural salt that would have been washed into Spence, he says.

The city recognizes that the quality of our water is very important to Big Spring and West Texas, and that's the major reason why various plans either to replace or modify the sewer plant are under study. A decision will be made in May or early June.

The house guest

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — In the good old days when your daughter said she was bringing home a friend for the weekend, it meant she was bringing home a girlfriend — and when your son said he was bringing home a friend for the weekend it was a boy.

This not the case any more and it is causing tremendous house guest problems throughout the country.

Since there is never any mention of the sex of the friend on the phone, most parents don't know what to expect or how to handle it.

I WAS over at Ripley's house the other evening when his daughter, Joan, arrived home for the weekend with her "friend" — a tall strapping fellow named Mickey.

Mrs. Ripley was very flustered and said, "Well, Mickey, I guess you want to put your things away."

"Put them in my room," Joan said. "Mickey can sleep in the attic."

Mrs. Ripley said nervously. "Why can't he sleep in my room?"

Joan asked. "Mr. Ripley blew up. 'Because I know he'd rather sleep in the attic.' 'Joan's room is fine with me.' Mickey said."

"Well, it isn't fine with me," Mr. Ripley snarled. "Mickey, do you mind if we talk to Joan alone? There's a beer in the icebox. Make yourself at home."

As soon as Mickey left the room, Joan said, "How could you humiliate me in front of my friend?"

"How did we humiliate you?" Mrs. Ripley wanted to know.

"By asking Mickey to sleep in the attic when you know perfectly well there are two beds in my room."

"IT'S NOT a question of the number of beds," Mr. Ripley puffed. "There's a certain propriety about people sharing rooms when they're not married."

"What propriety?" Joan wanted to know.

Mrs. Ripley said, "I know we're old-fashioned and out of date, but your father and I get very nervous when we know two unmarried people of the opposite sex are in the same room under our roof."

"But Mickey and I aren't strangers," Joan protested. "Where do you think we live in Cambridge?"

"I don't want to know where you live in Cambridge. You're not in Cambridge this weekend! You're in our house!" Mr. Ripley yelled.

"I thought it was my house, too," Joan said.

"It is your house, dear — but it's not Mickey's house. After all, it would seem to me you would enjoy one weekend sleeping alone in your own room," Mrs. Ripley said.

"If I'd known this was going to be such a big deal," Joan said, "I wouldn't have come home."

"IT'S NOT a big deal," said Mr. Ripley. "It's a simple question of moral standards. Ours seem to be different from yours. They may not be better but they are different."

"And that's why you want to ruin our weekend?" Joan asked.

"We're not trying to ruin your weekend, dear," Mrs. Ripley said. "What we're offering you are separate but equal accommodations. That's all the Supreme Court asks of any of us."

"That's very funny," Joan said. "But all the way down in the car Mickey was counting on sleeping in my room. He wouldn't have come if he had known he had to sleep in the attic."

Mr. Ripley said, "He'll sleep in your room over my dead body."

REMEMBERING...

By BILL BROOKS

BOOM TOWN When the first derrick was set up it was regarded with curiosity by most people in the county, so much so that folks would come from miles around just to watch the drilling process and discuss the possibility of a strike, though most doubted that would happen.

When the well came in it was said to be the most spectacular sight. Oil shot more than a hundred feet over the top of the rig. The driller said it was the best well he'd ever seen.

Within a few months the night sky was lit up with derrick lights, flares and burning slush pits. Big trucks tore up and down the dusty roads and strangers started moving in.

Before that when we went into town it was sort of quiet, peaceful with a few local townspeople and farmers standing around the court-house lawn talking about the weather. The discovery of oil changed all that. The streets were jammed with trucks and cars and rigs and machinery. NO VACANCY signs were out on all hotels, boarding houses, and tourist courts. Sidewalks were so crowded with people you could hardly walk. Shacks were thrown together for living quarters and one family I knew even lived in an old oil tank. The tank wasn't as bad as it may sound, they put windows and a door in it and it was fixed up pretty nice, better than lots of folks' houses. There were numerous fights in the streets and once I even saw a man standing on the top of a pickup preachin'. He was screaming to the crowd but most were ignoring him or laughing at him.

A friend of mine washed dishes in one of the cafes. Seems a big roughneck came in late one night and ordered a T-bone steak. The owner said, "Don't have no T-bone steak, you'll have to order something else." The perturbed roughneck grabbed him by the collar, and said, "I'm ordering alright, I'm ordering you to cook me a T-bone steak, if you don't have one you better find one!" The owner ran to the kitchen and grabbed a round steak. He cut the bone out of it then started digging in the garbage can. My friend ask him what he was doing and he whispered, "If the man wants a T-bone steak he'll get a T-bone steak." He dug out a T-bone from the garbage and pounded it into the round steak and cooked it for the man.

Lots of people got rich overnight. A man we knew had been poor all his life. He had an old rocky farm that seldom produced a crop but they drilled him more than a dozen good wells. When he went in to pay off the mortgage the banker said, "Lawrence, looks like you'll have money to buy all the things you need." Lawrence replied, "Danged if I don't think I'll buy some things I don't need for a change!"

The town grew five times larger in little more than a year. But it came through the growing pains with an unexpected maturity. Far-sighted civic leaders saw to it that revenues went towards public improvements. Streets were paved, parks were constructed, recreational facilities were established and new schools were built (some said the finest in the state). The town continues to grow and prosper to this day on the foundation laid by the oil boom.

Tumor can cause high blood pressure

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Doctors suspect my son, who is 16, has a tumor in his adrenal gland which is causing his high blood pressure. Can this be removed safely by surgery? — Mrs. G.S.

An adrenal gland tumor can cause high blood pressure, a condition known as aldosteronism (al-DOS-ter-oh-nism). The adrenal glands produce hormones that control the sodium-potassium levels in the blood. A tumor may have the effect of increasing the sodium and liquid retention, resulting in high blood pressure.

At this point your doctors only suspect this as a cause. Other signs and tests will help confirm it — muscle weakness, low potassium, etc. Adrenal tumor is one of the more common causes of gland-related hypertension.

Depending on the severity of the high blood pressure, either medication or surgery is considered. Surgery is reasonably safe and blood pressure returns to normal shortly afterward.

Although the problem is noted more often in persons between 30 and 50, it can occur as early as 3 and as late as 75. It affects women more than men. It's estimated that from 5 to 10 per cent of all high blood pressure is of a type that can be treated with surgery, either of glands or otherwise.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you discuss the problem of phlegm in the throat? Where does it come from? Is it significant if it changes color or consistency? — C.B.

The mucous lining of the respiratory tract, including the nose and throat, is continually producing mucus (or phlegm). The purpose is to cool the incoming air and get rid of unwanted bacteria and foreign particles. It does this efficiently and unnoticed until it is forced to over-work because of some irritation. Then it overproduces and we have a "running" nose or phlegm in the throat, often a cough.

A dusty atmosphere can be enough to set off heavy mucus formation. Smoking is a source of chronic mucus. Allergy is another source, animal dander being a prime offender. Chronic infection of the nasal sinuses is another common cause of excessive mucus.

In most longstanding cases continuing irritation is the secondary cause of the mucus, and one must search for the principal culprit in the environment. Thick mucus usually indicates an infection, more so than clear thin mucus. Often, if the source is not eliminated, more serious problems develop such as a sinus infection. I discuss this in my booklet on the various sinus problems. For a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If I miss taking one contraceptive pill during a month is it wise to use another form of contraception for the remainder of that month? — J.S.

Yes. The chances of pregnancy are slight, but they increase with each pill missed. In answer to Mrs. F.B., who writes she has been on the Pill for 11 years and recently stopped. She experiences irregularity in menstrual periods. Some irregularity is to be expected, although some women revert to regular ovulation and periods right away after discontinuing the Pill. Also, some women who discontinue the Pill after many years of use may be approaching menopause, another possible factor in irregularity.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give me information as to the cause and cure of discoid or skin lupus. Where does the rash usually appear? — Mrs. P.M.

It's a skin disorder of unknown cause. Faintly red and scaly patches occur, usually on the face (nose and cheeks chiefly), behind the ears, and on the neck. Exposure to sunlight can make them worse. The only treatment is locally applied steroid cremes.

It should be seen by a physician to rule out the more serious kind of lupus — the systemic type.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a low thyroid condition cause a body itch? — Mrs. M.N.

Yes, by causing dry skin. To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have been told that willful sin cannot be forgiven. I was guilty of such a sin and thought I had been forgiven, but now I am worried. Can you please advise? — H.M.

DEAR H.M.: Most sins that we know about in our lives have been willfully committed. We may commit some sins in ignorance, not realizing that what we are doing is wrong. But all too often when we do wrong, we know we are sinning, and therefore we perform an act of the will.

There is only one unforgivable sin and that is blasphemy against the Holy Spirit. "All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men: but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men" (Matthew 12:31). This blasphemy amounts to a complete rejection of the Spirit's work of conviction in our lives, with the result that we refuse to admit that we are sinners in need of a Saviour.

Once you have repented of the sin to which you refer and have confessed it in prayer to God and asked His forgiveness, you have God's certain promise: "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9).

The important thing to realize is that when you doubt that God has forgiven you, you disbelieve the truth of God's promise — and such disbelief is sin. You must confess that sin of disbelief to God and ask Him to help you to accept His Word. Once this is done, you can continue your life without any feeling of guilt in this matter, and with the firm resolution that with Christ's help you will never commit that sin again. You must accept forgiveness in the spirit in which Christ gives it: "Go, and sin no more" (John 8:11).

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

I am writing this in regards to the school boards proposal on closing several of the elementary schools and their proposed plan to scatter our children all over the city of Big Spring.

I am sure that it will be necessary to close several of the elementary schools due to the loss of students who are Webb connected, but why not let the students go to the school which will be nearest to their home like it is now, rather than trying to send them all over town to 5 different schools in 12 years? I would also like to know what is planned if and when Big Spring does get some type of big industry to move in, what is proposed to do with all the new students who will be moving to Big Spring?

I, along with many other people, bought our homes with our children in mind. We bought where our children would be close to an elementary school for six years, and now some idiot in Washington who has nothing better to do than live off the taxpayers and dream up some stupid plan for people in a place where he knows nothing about or has never been, and is probably afraid to come to, changes all of this for mine and your children.

I wonder how long the people in a supposedly "free country" are going to keep taking this sort of dictatorship from a bunch of bureaucrats in Washington before they finally wake up and do something about it. I sometimes wonder if the American people have lost all of their pride and guts to stand up for what they believe in and know is right.

On Saturday, April 23, passing through your town, we were unfortunate enough to have an accident. On the other side of the coin it turned out to be one of the most pleasant days in our experience.

The story: We were on our way to Lubbock pulling a 28-foot travel trailer. In downtown Big Spring, one of our hitch bars snapped, and we were pretty much out of business. Within less than ten minutes, a young man, a former resident of Big Spring now living in Lenora, Allen Springer, stopped to see if he could be of help. Also, while we were still stranded in the middle of town on busy Route 87, two of your fine police officers stopped to render aid. We are so sorry that we did not obtain their names but I guess there was too much excitement. Anyway, they helped us get our rig moved to a safe spot until such time as we could get under way.

Then we were told about a trailer park where we might stay overnight. What a pleasant experience that was — your Comanche Park — convenient, clean, well kept and free. We never thought we would live long enough to enjoy such an experience.

So you can see why we say that in spite of our accident, last Saturday was a most pleasant day. Please pass on to all concerned, our sincere thanks.

Dear Editor:

In applying to HUD for funds to drain our dredge One Mile Lake in Big Spring, our city council has overlooked some of the benefits of the lake.

Restful to the eye, scenic from many vantage points within the city, One Mile Lake supports life other than the mosquito, which the draining would supposedly eliminate. Great blue herons, gulls, and various other water birds frequent the shores and feed on the life within the lake. In the fall, many sand hill cranes winter there.

The positive aspects of this body of water have been overshadowed by a concept that the mosquito population will be greatly reduced. If that is the objective, then the Big Spring and adjoining Cosden Lake could also be drained.

The draining of One Mile Lake is not the solution to mosquito problems in Big Spring. Cleaning the weeds and trash (which harbor the insect) accumulated throughout our town would be a beginning. To attack one lake is a rather quixotic approach to the problem.

We hope the council will reconsider the usage of this money. For if it does not, while denying wildlife the lake that has been a part of this area for decades, it will surely have invested in the most expensive mosquitoes in Texas.

More grain in storage

AUSTIN — Texas farmers are approaching the grain harvest season with 31 per cent more carryover stocks than last year, Agriculture Commission Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service surveys as of April 1 indicate estimated stocks of 188 million bushels, with increases in all commodities except oats, flaxseed, and soybeans over 1976, Brown said.

Soybean stocks are 61 per cent below last year's, with 2.3 million in off-farm storage and 45,000 bushels still being held by farmers. "While other grains have experienced slow markets, soybeans diminished from 6,064,000 bushels April 1, 1976, to the current estimate of 2,346,000 bushels," Brown reported.

"With the market interest in soybeans in the past months, more acreage will be planted this year in Texas, and we certainly hope that the prices remain solid."

Wheat stocks are 50 per cent higher, reflecting the slow export market. Major supplies of wheat are in off-farm storage, estimated to be 75,601,000 bushels. Over 1.5 million bushels are held by farmers, mainly in North and West Texas.

Howard 4-Hers tops in Angelo

The District 6 4-H Livestock Judging Contest was held this week in San Angelo with Howard County 4-H'ers taking top honors in the senior and junior divisions. The Howard County group not only won team honors but they also had the high individuals of both contests.

Jackie Buchanan of Gayhill 4-H won individual awards in overall competition with a score of 512 points. Reagan Brooks of Coahoma 4-H was high in the junior division with 501 points.

Team members on the senior team besides Buchanan are Kent Robinson of Knott 4-H, Bret Griffith of Coahoma 4-H and Paul Ray of Gayhill 4-H. Junior members were Brooks, Bart Griffith, Coahoma 4-H, Scott Robinson and Cole Hunt, both of Knott 4-H. Howard County 4-H'ers judging as individuals were Brent Nichols, Lucky Acres 4-H and Ron Brooks, Coahoma 4-H.

The Senior Livestock team by virtue of winning the district contest will get to go to the state contest in June in conjunction with the State 4-H Roundup. The youth are coached by County Extension Agent, Ronnie Wood.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures prices were mostly lower this week in moderate trading.

On the New York Cotton Exchange, No. 2 cotton futures dropped as much as 45 points on the low side and advanced 30 points. Last week the list ranged from 24 point declines to 150 point advances.

The trading volume for the week fell to 2.26 million bales from 2.47 million the week before. The daily average this week was 451,800 bales compared with 484,700 last week.

The open interest was 2.54 million bales, down 127,900 bales from a week earlier. End advance for weekend editions, April 30-May 1. Sent April 29.

"It was in 1928, we had a sandstorm I'll never forget," Mrs. Dyer, 91, recalled out at Ackerly this week.

"The sand was rolling through the sky like a big brown ocean. I thought the world was going to end. Marvin and I went hurriedly outside to catch the chickens and it hit.

"I suddenly couldn't see and I couldn't breathe. I held my hand out in front of my face away from me and I couldn't even see my hand. Marvin, I gasped. Marvin where are you?"

"He was calling for me and finally I got hold of the fence. He was on the other side. We clasped hands and inched our way along that fence back to the house.

"The children were inside frightened. We moved the piano to the corner of the house from which the wind was blowing. I think the piano kept the house from blowing away. We all sat huddled behind the piano," she recalled.

She also remembered that the rains used to come in a big way, too and that they had an old tin boat that the children used to float down Sulphur Draw when the water got up.

Mrs. Dyer, who resides in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, the J.C.

Beardens in Ackerly, has lived in that part of the world since December 1923.

"We helped start the Methodist Church and Sunday School over at Flower Grove and our children went to school there. Our land was along Sulphur Draw. It's still farmed by some of the family," she added.

She said that Ackerly was organized after they arrived there. "I remember a Mr. Wilson was the first postmaster. There was a Mr. Ingram had a store. Lester and Andy Brown were old timers."

They moved to the area when her husband was 37, because of his asthma. "We came from Parker County," she recalled. Her earlier relatives had settled in Parker County, coming from Tennessee and at one time owned the land that is now a part of Smokey Mountain National Park. It was an area called Cades Cove.

Mrs. Dyer has family records dating back to her great-grandfather, born in Ireland in 1784, who came over to America on a ship with several other families in the late 1700's.

She laughed and said, "One of my cousins dug up all those records, I do well to keep up with my own children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-greats."

She admitted that she has five girls, 16 grandchildren and that there are 13 great-great-grandchildren. However, in between, she said, "There's 30-some. I'm not sure without counting them up."

She looked over a hand-carved organ, "Marvin used to love to play the organ, or the banjo and sing. We had a lot of music and a lot of happiness. He died in 1972," she added quietly.

And she appeared to be quietly content — out at Ackerly where I stopped a spell while out ridin' fence.

For many years before the birth of Christ, women were denied the privilege of drinking. Wild stories are told about women who dared defy this law. One such story tells of a woman who found the key to her husband's wine cellar, and without sampling the contents, proceeded to inspect it. When caught in this act by her family, she was denied all food and drink until she died of hunger. Fortunately, Roman civilization soon afterwards abolished this law, and a lady friend of the first emperor of Rome declared, at 82 years old, that she owed her long life to Bacchus, the god of wine.

Webb plans open house ceremonies

The weekend of May 21-22 is shaping up to be a big one, as plans are being made for the Webb AFB Armed Forces Day Open House and Air Show.

The world famous U.S. Air Force "Thunderbirds" will highlight Sunday's open house activities with an aerial demonstration expected to attract a crowd of several thousand spectators. Their show will begin at 3 p.m.

Gates will be open to the public at noon Sunday, and visitors will be able to view several aircraft parked on the flight line and see the many exhibits in the large hangar nearby.

At 1 p.m., the base will observe the 25th anniversary of the base's being named in honor of 1st Lt. James L. Webb Jr., a Big Spring native who lost his life in the service to his country. The ceremony, which will take place at the flagpole near the Wing Headquarters building, will include the participation of Lt. Webb's son and sister, who will be visiting from out of town.

The Big Spring High School Steer Band will perform an open-air concert at the flight line, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

The open house officially closes at 4 p.m., but visitors may wish to observe the departure of several of the visiting aircraft. All activities are free.

On the preceding day, Saturday, May 21, the base will play host to an expected several hundred civil aircraft owners and pilots for a "fly-in." This event is planned in support of the Air Force's Mid-Air Collision Avoidance Program and is designed to enhance flying safety by providing civil pilots with an understanding of Webb's mission and operations.

Aircraft will begin arriving at 8:30 Saturday morning, with all arrivals requested to take place

Col. White in operation

Marine Lance Corporal Jayland N. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble White of 3601 La Junta, Big Spring, participated in Operation "Varsity Eagle."

He is serving as a member of Battalion Landing Team Two Slant Seven (BLT 2-7), home-based at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

His unit is the ground element of a Marine Amphibious Unit (MAU). A MAU is the force-in-readiness for the U.S. Seventh Fleet; on-call to project combined air-ground forces ashore, if required.

A 1973 graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1973.

Airman Reyes now in Japan

FUSSA, Japan - Now serving at Yokota AB, Japan, with a Military Airlift Command Unit is Air Force Airman First Class Mario O. Reyes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel L. Reyes of 1105 Lindbergh, Big Spring.

Airman Reyes, a personnel specialist, was previously assigned at Webb AFB.

The airman, a 1975 graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School, El Paso, Tex., attended Howard College. His wife, Sylvia, is the daughter of Mrs. Sulema Roman of Big Spring.

STEVE HUGHES

Steve Hughes accepted by West Point

Steve Hughes son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hughes, has been accepted at the U.S. Army Academy at West Point, according to an announcement this week by Ray Lawlis, liaison officer for the academy in West Texas.

Hughes is in the top ten percent of his class academically and has been named to Who's Who at Big Spring High School during the past two years.

He is a four-year participant in football and track, a four-year member of the student council and has been active in both the Key Club and the high school annual staff.

Lawlis said "Hughes is representative of the high standards needed to obtain a nomination to the Academy by Congressman Omar Burleson and we are particularly pleased to announce his appointment."

MSgt. Parsons top noncom

SAN ANTONIO - Master Sergeant Stanley D. Parsons, son of Mrs. Allen E. Burger of Rt. 1, Gary, has been named outstanding senior noncommissioned officer of the quarter in his unit at Lackland AFB.

A neurology technician, Sergeant Parsons was selected for leadership, professional skill and duty performance. The sergeant is assigned at the Wilford Hall U.S. Air Force Medical Center, a part of the Air Force Systems Command.

Sergeant Parsons is a 1960 graduate of Waco High School and attended San Antonio College and the University of Alaska, Anchorage. His father, Maurice A. Parsons, resides at Rt. 111, Garden City. The sergeant's wife, Lucile, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miettunen of 5215 E. Tuxedo Blvd., Bartlesville, Okla.

before 10:30 a.m. The program will include a tour of Webb's facilities, a no-host luncheon, and presentations on flying safety and crash survival. The "fly-in" will conclude at approximately 3 p.m. Those participants desiring to remain overnight to attend the Sunday open house may make their own off-base accommodations. Invitations have been mailed to all known aircraft pilots and owners within the several counties surrounding Webb AFB most likely to be affected by the base's flying mission. Anyone having questions may contact the project officer, Maj. Ed Griffin, (915) 267-2511, ext. 2789. The "fly-in" is co-sponsored by the 78th Flying Training Wing and the Federal Aviation Administration.

Armed Forces Day will be observed officially on May 21 this year, though some observances - including Webb's Open House - are authorized to be conducted during the week starting Monday, May 16, through Sunday, May 22. This year's theme is "Peace Through Readiness."

The U.S. Armed Forces - at all levels - have been encouraged to offer the civilian community an opportunity to become better acquainted with the military establishment by highly visible observances in the civilian domain and open house or similar activities on military installations.

Included in this idea is a desire to portray to the civilian community a sense of the commitment to a challenging and demanding way of life that service in today's all-volunteer Armed Forces requires. All Defense Department components, including the National Guard and Reserve, are scheduled to participate in events across the country and around the world.

Discharge upgrading program offered

As executive agent for the Defense Department's Special Discharge Review Program, the Army is particularly concerned that all those eligible for the program are made aware of their opportunity to participate in it.

The Department of Defense urges all Vietnam era veterans who received undesirable or general discharges during the period Aug. 4, 1964 to March 28, 1973 to contact the Joint Liaison Office, St. Louis, Mo., to determine their eligibility for this special program. The Joint Liaison Office will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. (CDT) seven days a week, until further notice. The toll free telephone number is 800-325-4040 except for those in Missouri, Puerto Rico, Alaska, Hawaii and any foreign country. Former service members in those areas should call collect.

Vietnam era service members presently in a deserter status may also be eligible but must first return to military control for discharge. Military deserters may inquire about their status by telephoning collect the following numbers:

Army AC 317-542-3354; Navy AC 202-694-2386; Air Force 800-531-7500; Marine Corps AC 202-694-2180; and Coast Guard AC 202-426-1317.

Pvt. Sellers in Germany

Army Private First Class William B. Sellers Jr., son of Mrs. Zeba Smith, 3206 W. Ninth St., Big Spring, Tex., recently was assigned as a supply clerk in the 202nd Intelligence and Security Command Company in Katterbach, Germany.

Pvt. Sellers entered the Army in June 1975. He completed his high school education through the General Education Development program.

NEIL FRITSCH

Pvt. Fritsch ends basic

Marine Private Neil E. Fritsch, son of William H. Fritsch of Big Spring, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

BOBBIE L. TARLETON

Tarleton is 78th leader

Lt. Col. Bobby L. Tarleton is the new commander of 78th Student Squadron at Webb AFB. He is replacing Lt. Col. (Colonel selectee) Arthur K. Shumate who plans to attend Wharton Graduate School, University of Pennsylvania, for graduate work, under the Air Force Institute of Technology program.

Tarleton returned to Webb for this third tour in August 1974. He received his wings here in April 1957 and had another assignment as check section chief of the 356th Pilot Training Squadron.

A command pilot with just under 5,000 hours flying time, Tarleton had tours in Germany and Thailand. He has flown the F-4, U-17, T-28, T-29, T-33 as well as the T-37 and T-38. Among his decorations are the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and Meritorious Service Medal.

Tarleton received his commission through the Reserve Officer Training Corps at Clemson, S.C., where he majored in textile engineering.

ADAN DURAN

Pvt. Duran ends tank training

Army Private Adan Duran, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Duran, Westbrook, Tex., recently completed training as an armor crewman at Ft. Knox, Ky.

The training was conducted under the One Station Unit Training (OSUT) program, which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training into one 13-week period.

During the course, students received training in the duties of a tank crewman, including firing in the tank's armament and small weapons. Instruction was also given in field radio operations, map reading, and tank maintenance and repair.

Pvt. Duran entered the Army in January of this year. He is a 1976 graduate of Westbrook High School.

Briscoe appoints dead man

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Dr. Maynard S. Hart of El Paso will not be able to accept Gov. Dolph Briscoe's appointment two weeks ago to the State Health Advisory Committee.

Hart died Sept. 4, 1975. A sheepish Briscoe assistant confirmed Friday that the governor "routinely" reappointed the deceased doctor to another three-year term on the 35-45 member committee. "We were notified about it (Hart's death) some time after the appointments were submitted," said George Lowrance, Briscoe's administrative assistant for appointments.

"It was just a routine reappointment," added Lowrance, who didn't say how the governor's office learned of the mistake.

Christie opposes insurance deregulation

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie says he strongly opposes a bill that would strip away the board's authority to regulate Blue Cross — and, thus, hospital — rates.

The bill has been approved by the House Insurance Committee and awaits a place on the House calendar.

Granted, the board's authority over Blue Cross rates is a sword that hasn't been out of its scabbard in 38 years.

But Christie says it would be needed if the legislature fails to approve a proposed new state commission to control hospital costs. He warns that the alternative would be federal controls.

Blue Cross is about the only source of hospital cost controls in Texas, but critics maintain it usually rubber stamps price increases requested by the hospitals.

If the hospital commission bill dies — as well it might at this late stage in the legislative session — "I would want us to move to the fullest extent of our authority," Christie said in an interview.

Christie said the board "has kicked around" how much authority that provision really gives without reaching any real decision, but "I am opposed to any change in our authority over Blue Cross."

His stance puts him at odds with Insurance Commissioner Joe Hawkins, who wrote the bill.

The board, as such, has taken no official position on the bill.

Hawkins points out that another provision of the measure would enable the board to withdraw approval of a Blue Cross policy form if rates were too high for the benefits provided.

"I just happen to feel it is a lot more appropriate that the board have this authority," Hawkins said.

What about the policyholder if the board exercises the extreme sanction and withdraws approval of his Blue Cross policy in the absence of the power to simply force a rate adjustment?

"The policyholder would have the opportunity to go to the marketplace and get another deal if Blue Cross is too high... A group ought to welcome the action," he said.

There also is another concern.

The bill takes out a requirement that participating hospitals guarantee benefits to policyholders should Blue Cross ever fold.

And that, insurance department sources say, is what makes Blue Cross special and is why the "non-profit" group hospital service corporation doesn't have to maintain minimum reserves, surplus or capital.

Hawkins, a former Blue Cross vice-president, said the public should applaud a section of the bill that would eliminate doctor control of Blue Cross by giving non-medical people a majority on its board of directors.

Lions light bulb sale begins Monday

Members of the Downtown Lions Club will start their annual spring lightbulb sale Monday to raise funds for their sight conservation and work with the blind.

Wayne Henry, chairman, urged residents to buy a packet or two of the bulbs and thus have a part in outfitting children and some adults with glasses and other visual aids. During the past year the club has expended $1,400 for glasses, mostly for school children and for a few adults who could not afford them. In addition, the club also financed an artificial eye for a youngster who was a victim of glaucoma. The club has been conducting this sale for more than a quarter of a century. Besides offering the packet of bulbs for sale, Lions also will be collecting discarded eye glasses from people who would like to donate them. These are sent to eye glass centers where the lens are classified and the frames are rehabilitated for further use.

Also, each salesman is due to have with him a supply of forms for individuals interested in donating their eyes at death to the Lions eye bank. Hundreds of people across the nation are enabled to regain or preserve sight surgically thanks to these eyes.

Right to strike seen for public employes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The former dean of the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs believes the day will come when "some public employes will have the right to strike."

Alan Campbell, appointed by President Carter as chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, made his prediction on the radio show "Capitol Dateline."

"On the right to strike, it seems to me appropriate at the moment that public employes not have the right to strike, but I do guess that over the years we're going to have to make a distinction between what employes have a right to strike and those which don't on the basis of the nature of the services they provide rather than whether they're public or private employes," Campbell said.

Perhaps the strains of the National Anthem are delivered upon the ears of those present for modern sports spectacles because it signifies the last time the spectators are civil to one another and rational about anything going on down on the field.

What ever the reason, Francis Scott Key might resent the excessive implementation of his poem (it later was put to music) to athletic contests, were he alive. He likely would take umbrage at the suggestion that fanaticism is just another way of displaying love for country. In truth, the concept that athletic pursuits represents the fiercest level of patriotism is freely promoted.

God and patriotism out of it. The Star Spangled Banner is a stirring piece of music but, for sports music, I lean more toward "Sweet Georgia Brown." Leave us not get too sentimental over the thought that the weekend heroes are playing one "for dear old Rutgers" or because it is their way of showing they want to "keep America free and rid of Communism."

In the 60s, a sizeable number of young men took it on the duffly for Canada because they could rally no enthusiasm for the senseless thing that went on in Vietnam. The track record of the NFL wasn't too good then, either. Outside of Rocky Bleier, I can't recall a single football mercenary who ended up going into the battle pits in Southeast Asia.

Abraham Lincoln drew some flak from the blues-noses for his crude and indecorous stories. Ordinarily, such talent in a man betrays a vulgar mind. Not so with the 16th president.

None doubted the purity of his character, exalted morality and sensibility. He was forever hunting for wit and he was not possessed of the ability to discriminate between the vulgar and refined substances from which he extracted it. It was the wit he was after, the pure jewel, and he would pick it out of the mud or dirt just as readily as from the parlor table.

Never under-estimate the value of a tourist attraction, even one that isn't regarded as one of the Seven Wonders of the World.

Bill Albright, executive vice-president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, recalls the case of a Kansas community near where he lived.

What was described as the world's biggest man-made well was dug there a few years ago, but capped. Community boosters later decided to capitalize on the venture. They uncapped it and proceeded to advertise the well through various media. Even the most optimistic of community leaders were surprised at the number of curious who stopped to see what man had wrought.

The late Vince Lombardi, long since canonized by zealots in and out of professional football, not only felt God was in his rooting section but promoted the ideas that emotionalism in sports strengthened one's sense of nationalism. It was a heady mixture and one that sold well with the masses.

For the better part of three hours on a typical NFL afternoon, young Tarzans devote their attentions to inflicting physical pain upon each other. The mayhem that results fascinates us all. Psychologists have been prone to say such unrestricted endeavor is good for those of us watching from that neutral territory above the commons. The head shrinkers say the savagery enables us to release our hostilities.

In gentler times, when the sexes were a little more trustful of one another, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was moved to write these lines:

So unto man is woman.
Though she bends him,
she obeys him,
Though she draws him,
yet she follows,
Useless each without the other.

Considering the ridiculous salaries that are being offered (a practice defended with the equally ridiculous argument that government has to be competitive with the private sector), is it any wonder that for every federal job opening in the Washington, D.C., area, there are 30 inquiries and ten applications?

And when you see some of those federal types work, you wonder what they'll do when they retire.

Steers edged by Coogs

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

Everyone knew the Abilene Cooper Cougars had the best long ball hitters in District 5-4A. They didn't have to prove it.

But Saturday afternoon in Steer Park they did prove it. Coogs Randy Jones and Ken Dozier powered out round-trippers in the fifth and sixth innings to salt away a 3-2 victory over the defense-minded Steers.

Bovine hill-master Frankie Rubio, usually the epitome of control on the mound, found his fast ball virtually ineffective as the visitors picked off eight hits. The "Rube" walked four batters and struck out only six, far below his average.

Rubio, in suffering his first district defeat of the season, still showed a lot of class. In the top of the first inning, after sending the top of the order to all three bases, Rubio struck out the next three batters to end the early threat.

The fete gained Rubio a standing ovation by the largest crowd of the season, almost a full house.

The game was highlighted by hustle and remarkable plays by the locals. In the fourth frame, Steer third baseman Arthur Olague made a diving catch of a power shot just before it started to burn worms through the hole for a hit. The play retired the sides and ended another Cooper threat.

In the seventh inning, Steer shortstop Kevin "Peanut" McLaughlin snagged a sure hit up the middle, whirled around and fireballed to first base to retire the sides again and end a threat.

Second sacker Steve Evans was the big bat for the Steers Saturday. He went three for four from the plate and almost went 1.000, but for a super play on the Cooper's shortstop in the seventh that ended the game.

First baseman Tony Mann almost joined the Cougars in a home run display. A well-hit cannonball fell to the wet grass just five or six feet from the fence. Mann had to settle for a head-first sliding-in double.

Kyle Pfeiffer, Rubio and Billy Hayes gathered the other hits for the locals.

Steve Evans batted in Billy Hayes in the third frame for the first local score, while a wild pitch from Cooper pitcher Steve Taylor in the fourth scored Johnny Jones from third.

Cooper scored its first run in the fifth inning on a Randy Jones round-tripper over the left centerfield fence. Designated hitter Ken Dozier hit a homer with a man on in the sixth to put the visitors ahead to stay.

The loss dropped the Steers to 4-1 in the second half. San Angelo is still 4-0, as their game with Abilene Saturday was rained out. That contest will be made up Monday.

Coach Tom Collins' squad plays their last home game of the season Tuesday when they play host to Odessa High in their next-to-the-last meeting of regular season.

In other District 5-4A action Saturday, Lee won its first game of the second half by topping Permian 3-1, and Odessa beat Midland 4-3.

Rangers bomb White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Claudell Washington, Ken Henderson and Willie Horton blasted home runs Saturday to power to Texas Rangers to a 14-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Washington's homer came off starter Chris Knapp, 3-1, with two outs in the third after Chet Lemon had dropped Bert Campaneris' fly ball in center field for an error.

Henderson and Horton both homered in the eighth inning off Wilbur Wood, who was making his first appearance since May 9, 1976, when his left knee was shattered by a line drive off the bat of Detroit's Ron LeFlore.

PAINFUL LEAP — Steer designated hitter Johnny Jones leaps to avoid a tag by Abilene Cooper's pitcher Steve Taylor in fourth inning action of Saturday's 3-2 loss by the locals. Taylor had thrown a wild pitch and Jones had stepped on home safety from third. In leaping to avoid the tag, however, Jones pulled a muscle and was out of action for a few minutes. The run put the Steers out in front 2-0 until the Cooper home run hitters found the range.

Questions arise about Shepard's sports car

DALLAS (AP) — All-America quarterback Darrell Shepard of Odessa High School drove a $9,000 sports car from an Odessa dealership two days after he signed a national letter of intent to play college football at Houston, the Dallas Times Herald said in a copyright story for its Sunday editions.

In a story by Jim Dent, the newspaper said the car was financed by a bank in Brazoria, Tex., whose chairman is a Houston graduate and an active member of the athletic booster club. Brazoria is 500 miles from Odessa.

The Trans Am model automobile, which had "Darrell" in four-inch letters painted across the trunk, was purchased at the Odessa dealership after a call from the Houston bank, the Times Herald said.

The newspaper said the title of the car is registered to Mrs. Rose Shepard, Darrell's mother.

"I had gone here (Odessa) to get it financed and they refused to finance it," Mrs. Shepard was quoted by the newspaper. "It wasn't my first choice to get it financed down there (Brazoria)."

Mrs. Shepard said she is paying for the car.

"I buy all my children cars when they graduate from high school," Mrs. Shepard told the Times Herald. "I bought Brenda Shepard a car and I bought Woodie Shepard a car, too."

Woodie Shepard signed a football letter of intent with Oklahoma in 1975 and drives a Trans Am that is being financed in Edmond, Okla., the Times Herald reported.

The Times Herald said a check of the motor vehicles department in Austin shows Darrell Shepard without a valid driver's license.

Houston Athletic Director Harry Fouke said "This is news to me. All I can say is that I am learning something that you are informing me of. I have to have time to look into it."

Shepard was recently booted off the track squad because Coach Joe Tigh said the 9.8 speedster has missed several practices.

Shepard, the most sought after schoolboy player in the state, had openly pledged himself to the University of Texas before switching to the Cougars.

National signing day was Feb. 15. National College Athletic Association rules prohibit a college or its representatives from helping a "prospect" with any kind of financing. A high school athlete is considered a "prospect" until he enrolls in school.

Shepard's home is valued at $4,500 on the Ector County Tax rolls.

U. S. is alive in Davis cup

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The United States managed to stay alive in Davis Cup tennis competition Saturday by beating Argentina in the crucial doubles match of the American Zone final.

In a two-hour match, Sherwood Stewart of Houston and Fred McNair of Washington, D.C., defeated Elio Alvarez and Ricardo Cano 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, reducing Argentina's lead in the best-of-five series to 2-1.

The remaining two singles matches are Sunday.

Saturday's win was expected since the U.S. team is regarded as having the strongest doubles pair.

Argentina did not field its top player, Guillermo Vilas, in the doubles as had been expected. Argentine non-playing team captain Oscar Furlong said he replaced Vilas with Alvarez in order to give Vilas a chance to rest for Sunday's match against Dick Stockton of Dallas.

Ricardo Cano, who upset Stockton Friday, meets Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in the other singles match. Vilas beat Gottfried Friday.

The series' winner plays Australia and the winner of that series goes against the European champion for the cup title.

Whites lead BSGA tourney

A perfect day for golf greeted the sixty teams that competed in Saturday's opening round of the Partnership tournament sponsored by the Big Spring Golf Association at the Comanche Trail Golf Course.

Beautiful weather with very little wind gave the players added support in their challenge for over $2,000 in gift certificates in scratch and handicap flights, according to Bobby Howell, resident pro.

At the end of the first round Saturday, the father-son team of Jack and Terry White was leading the handicap flight with an amazing card of 64.

With eight teams left on the course Saturday, the team of Pat Weaver and Mark McCraney held a comfortable lead in the scratch division with a 66. Weaver and Bobby Menchaca tied for

Lucchesi offered inducement by Mets

CHICAGO (AP) — Texas Ranger Manager Frank Lucchesi was offered $10,000 by M. Donald Grant, president of the New York Mets, as an inducement not to press charges against Lenny Randle, the Chicago Tribune said in a copyrighted story in its Sunday editions.

Lucchesi, who was assaulted by Randle on March 28 during spring training, turned down the bid Friday, although he continues to maintain a "no comment" position on whether he intends to file suit against Randle, the Tribune story said.

The Mets acquired Randle from the Rangers last Tuesday and on Friday signed him to a five-year contract. Lucchesi, apparently stunned that word of his phone conversation leaked out, said he had intended that it remain confidential honoring Grant's request.

The Tribune said Lucchesi had told only Brad Corbett, board chairman of the Texas club. Corbett, in Chicago for the Rangers series against the White Sox, said, "Can you imagine Grant doing something like that?"

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, reached by the Tribune at his home outside New York City, expressed surprise but declined comment.

Kuhn told the Tribune, "I know nothing about it, but I want to find out the details before I say anything."

The Tribune said Grant reportedly called Lucchesi Friday and told the Texas manager that he (Lucchesi) had been through a lot and ought to be compensated. His offer grew out of the conversation, the Tribune said, and Grant suggested that Lucchesi sign an affidavit not to press charges in return for the compensation.

TONGUE HIGH JUMP — With perfect form and his tongue just right in his mouth, first grader Lathy Williams clears the pole to take top honors in his division of the high jump in Friday's Elbow Elementary Annual Track Meet. The entire school participated in the popular event. See complete results on page 2-B.

Stanton wins region

ODESSA — For the first time in the history of Stanton High School, the track team won the regional meet held here Saturday.

The Buffs, sporting some of the best speedsters in the state, captured 67 points in the Class A division, good enough to head Wellington with 60 and Memphis with 52, the two other top contenders.

Ken McCalister qualified for state in three events, winning the quarter in 50.0, and sharing first place honors in the mile relay, and a second place finish in the sprint relay.

With the win, the Stanton thincads qualified five different athletes in four events for the state meet in Austin May 13-14.

Ken McCalister qualified for state in three events, winning the quarter in 50.0, and sharing first place honors in the mile relay, and a second place finish in the sprint relay.

Dallenbach wins 200

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Wally Dallenbach squeezed past his teammate Gordon Johncock with six laps to go after fighting side by side for 20 laps, and went on to victory in Saturday's $100,000 Trentonian 200 race for Indianapolis cars.

Johncock dropped back to finish more than eight seconds behind. Mike Mosley was second with Salt Walther fourth and Todd Gibson fifth. Only six of the 17 starters were still running at the end.

Dallenbach qualified only seventh at 162.945 miles per hour, but he made a good start, stayed in contention and was right on Johncock's rear wheels when the race was given the green flag after a tow-in for pole position winner Johnny Rutherford, with less than 50 miles to go.

It was Dallenbach's first victory on the U.S. Auto Club championship trail since winning the California 500 in 1973.

He earned $14,000 for his first victory at the 1.5-mile Trenton Speedway. The largest crowd here since 1964, about 20,000, watched.

To cap it off... the lineup lottery

Now we have this new thing in baseball, the Lottery Lineup. You reach in and pull out a lucky winner, the way New York and New Jersey make instant millionaires of some people, only here, in this case, it's just a winning batting order that's involved. Billy Martin started it, and it's working so sensationally for the Yankees that I can just see the day when every ballclub will do it, with a big ceremonial flourish, in the way the other lotteries are run.

Can't you picture it? On Opening Day, the fans in each city are invited to come out early for the drawing. It will replace throwing out the first ball in the hearts of oldtimers.

Somewhere between batting practice and infield, the manager walks out to home plate, hat in hand. Lined up at home plate are Gov. Carey, Mayor Beame, Bronx borough president Abrams, Gov. Byrne of New Jersey who claims a piece by virtue of the Yankees fans residing in his state; Bella Abzug, who claims anything, and a few other statespersons for a total of nine. (In National League cities, eight politicians will do, inasmuch as the manager reserves the right to bat his pitcher ninth.)

ABE PICKS NETTLES TO LEAD OFF
"Ladies and Gentlemen," says Phil Rizzuto, batting leadoff for the New York Yankees.

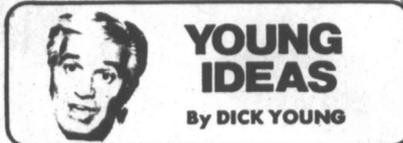

Standing on tiptoes and reaching up, Mayor Beame sticks his hand into Billy Martin's cap, comes out with a folded piece of paper and hands it to Rizzuto.

"Graig Nettles, the third baseman."
"Booooo!" say 54,000 people. "What kind of leadoff man is that, Jughead?"

And so it goes, one after the other with the honorary managers each drawing a winner for the Lottery Lineup. The big shots pick out on opening day, 4th of July, playoffs and World Series. On other dates, George Steinbrenner is allowed to get his jollies off by picking the Lottery Lineup, or some worthy fan selected at random from a 96c hot-dog line. If the team goes into a terrible slump, the manager calls on his clubhouse man.

That's what Billy Martin did to start all this. He went to Pete Sheehy with one of those long yellow pads that lawyers use, and said, "Write down the names of our nine regulars and put them in my cap."

That's what Billy Martin tells me happened. Pete Sheehy confirms it. So does Reggie Jackson, who had the next hand in it. When I heard it, my first reaction was, oh, sure. Do you expect people to believe you had Reggie reach into a hat and he came up with Willie Randolph leading off, and Reggie himself batting third, and Nettles fourth, and Bucky Dent ninth? I'll buy that right after I believe that all wrestling is honest, and ABC's boxing tournament picked its fighters out of Howard Cosell's rug.

Now, the more Yankees I talk to the more I'm convinced it really happened — either that or we have the greatest conspiracy since Watergate.

"Billy leaves the bench around the fifth inning," says Reggie Jax. "It's the day we're losing to Toronto, fifth in a row."

Says Pete Sheehy, clubhouse man with 51 years of Yankee integrity behind him: "He comes in the clubhouse during the game. I don't know what he has in mind, but I write the names down like he tells me, on these yellow slips, and put them in the hat."

"Billy comes back on the bench," says Jackson, "and tells me to pick out the names; it's gonna be tomorrow's lineup."

Jackson says the coaches all gathered around, and a couple other players, while he picked... Randolph Munson, Jackson, Nettles, Rivers, DH, White, White... Chambliss.

THEY TOOK ONE WHITE OUT
"That's right," says Reggie. "I said to Billy, there's a mistake. He said set the second White aside and we'll see. After Chambliss' name, I said, hey, you forgot Dent. So we decided to put Bucky ninth."

"They accused Reggie of palming his own name when he came up third," says Billy Martin.

"Nobody took it seriously till the next day," says Jackson. "Then, when the guys began arriving at the park and asking, the way they usually do, what's the lineup, Thurman Munson would say, Billy's going with the lineup he pulled out of the hat. The general reaction was, well, I'll be damned!"

The Lottery Lineup won that day, and the next, and the next, until it was six straight.

"I did it to loosen up the guys," says Bill The Hat. "If it didn't work, I'd have ditched it after one day. I won't go all year with it. It's not fair to Chambliss. I wouldn't want him eighth all year. You gotta get a better hitter behind him so they'll pitch to Chris."

Pitch to him? Chambliss, No. 8, has been the hottest hitter in the Lottery Lineup.

"He hit the ball on the nose 16 straight times," said Reggie Jackson. "If they rolled it up there, he could hit it with a broomstick right now."

Anyway, that's how you bake a Lottery Lineup. Preheat the manager to 450 degrees, take one Pete Sheehy, one yellow pad, one large hat, and a lot of guys who'll swear it really happened that way.

Littler leads Houston open

HOUSTON (AP) — Gene Littler birdied the par-five 16th hole after a controversial shot onto the green, finished out a five-under-par 67 and opened up a five-stroke lead over George Burns in Saturday's third round of the $200,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament.

Burns, who shared the second-round lead with Littler and was obviously angered when Littler hit into him on the 16th, dropped back with a par 72 under the gray clouds that leaked occasional drizzle.

The 46-year-old Littler completed 54 holes in 202, 14 under par on the 6,997-yard Woodlands Country Club course. Burns, who blew a chance to gain his first four title in this tournament a year ago, had a 207 total.

There were two key holes — the sixth where Burns made double bogey six, and the par-five 16th.

Burns, playing in front of Littler, was standing over a five-foot birdie putt on the 16th when Littler lashed his second shot with a wood from deep rough on the left and ball apparently sailed on him.

It trickled onto the green and Burns, who declined to back away from the putt, missed. He stared with obvious anger back down the fairway toward Littler — generally recognized as one of the game's finest gentlemen — and looked back over his shoulder a couple of times as he stalked off the green.

Littler two-putted for birdie moments later and Burns, obviously still angered, three-putted for bogey on the 17th.

The unemotional Littler followed with a 15-foot birdie putt on the same hole moments later, completing a three-stroke swing in two holes.

Leonard Thompson shot a 70 and was one stroke back of Burns at 208. The group at 209 included Chi Chi Rodriguez, Dave Eichelberger, Lanny Wadkins and rookie Bill Kratzert, who closed up with a 66. Eichelberger and Wadkins matched 70s and Rodriguez had a 71.

Jack Nicklaus rallied with a 67 but, at 211, was a distant nine strokes back going into Sunday's final round. Arnold Palmer had a 71 and was tied at 217 with defending champion Lee Elder, who shot 74. Lee Trevino carded a 75-221.

Evert is roasted at Peanut Classic

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Chris Evert lost her singles match for the second consecutive day, but teammates' steady play made up for it as the Phoenix Racquets defeated the Soviets 30-23 in World Team Tennis Saturday.

The day's events, billed as the "First Annual Peanut Tennis Classic," also included an exhibition doubles match that featured President Carter's brother Billy and the clowning of Bobby Riggs.

A crowd of about 4,000 cheered the tennis and antics. In the professional tennis portion, Miss Evert, the top-ranked women's player in the world, lost 7-5 to 18-year-old Natasha Chmyreva in the women's singles. Earlier, Miss Evert teamed with Kristien Shaw to win the doubles for Phoenix.

Miss Evert has not won a singles match this WTT season. Phoenix came back in the men's doubles when Ross Case and Butch Walts beat Alex Metrevell and Teimuraz Kakulia 6-3.

Case also beat Metrevell 7-6 in the men's singles and Miss Shaw and Walts took Miss Morozova and Kakulia 6-4 in the mixed doubles.

The afternoon's loudest cheers, however, were reserved for Billy Carter, who teamed with Miss Evert following the match in an exhibition against Bobby Riggs and Billy Carter's manager, Tandy Rice.

The President's brother showed an ability to volley at the net, but his backhand was weak and he sent several balls into the crowd.

With a little help from the official scorer, the Carter-Evert team was declared victorious. When asked before the match what kind of training he had done, Carter replied, "Pabel."

The match was played for charity, and sponsors hoped to raise $10,000 to be divided among the Lions Club eyebank and the Sumter County Mental Health Association.

Forsan netters finish regions

LEVELLAND — Alan Hollandsworth and Gary Martin, the regional qualifying boys' double tennis team from Forsan, made a valiant run for the money Saturday in the Class B regional tournament, but fell in the semi-finals round to the team that finally won the meet.

The Forsan duo smeared the Borden County team 6-0, 6-1 Friday, and then took care of the doubles team from Jayton, 4-6, 6-4, 7-6. Saturday, however, they lost to the powerful senior team from Tornillo 1-6, 6-3, 3-6 in the semi-finals.

Weldon Nichols, the boys' singles qualifier from Forsan, lost his first match of the tourney in split sets, 6-4, 6-7, 4-6.

Coch David Redwind expressed admiration for his team, and indicated that all of them are underclassmen and will be returning next year.

If u cn rd ths, sry!

Spring drills for the 1977 edition of Big Spring football commences in all earnest Monday. Approximately 60 boys will be suited up in pads as the three-week program gets underway.

Head coach Don Robbins indicated that a "change in philosophy" on both offense and defense will show up in the drills in preparation for next year.

Defensively, the Steers will work on an Oklahoma 5-2 monster set-up with an Arkansas lane, rather than the 4-3 that they used almost exclusively last season.

"This type of defense better fits the personnel we have," Robbins indicated. "We don't have the big tackles or the big linebackers that a 4-3 needs."

Offensively, the Steers will be running a lot more veer option plays to complement their passing game. Again this is to adjust to the type of backs that will be returning next year.

Spring training will conclude May 21 in the annual Black and Gold game. Scrimmages will also be held on May 7 and May 14. The 1977 schedule is the same as last year, with the sites reversed.

Correction: The home run-hitting Sweathog that was named in a story Friday was Alan Robison, not Allen Gus. Gremlins again took over the typewriter.

Speaking of getting names wrong, a rarity in this section to be sure, but a threat nonetheless, just be glad I'm not twins. Speaking of twins, (segue, segue) there are a number of them around these parts and they all seem to be involved in sports. Just try to keep them all straight in your mind. Last year there was Gary and Larry Batla from Garden City, whose sister Linda plays basketball for Howard College.

There was also Ron and Don Roberson from Forsan, and Rudy and Ruben Garcia from Colorado City. "The Running Garcias" as people in Wolfland like to call them.

There's also Stan and Steve White from Slaton and Kent and Flint McNeil from Winters.

They may not be twins, but I never can get Steer linksters Chris, David and Gary Howell straight. One's not related to the other two. Don't forget the twin sisters on the Steer tennis team, Toni and Joni Cline. See my problem Phyllis.

Buddy Crosby is in the news again. Tommy Hart calls him "the biggest and best" linebacker Big Spring High ever had. He was on the state finals squad in 1963.

Now he is the head of the secret service in El Paso. Once a policeman in Albuquerque, he has been in a number of presidential entourages and was a stand-out on the Eastern New Mexico University football team.

"He was the 'seek out and kill' type linebacker," Hart recalls.

A reminder for all little league managers. If you need scorecard forms, I have them. Also, "so I don't get any calls from mad parents, please drop off the results of all your games.

Some of you do, some of you don't, and I'm the fall guy for those of you who don't. Remember, winning managers are responsible for the releases.

ORLANDO "BOY" OLAGUE — Will be on the mound today as the Big Spring Cardinals entertain the team from Hobbs, N.M. in a 1:30 doubleheader at Steer Park. Olague is undefeated from the hill this year, and the Cards sport a 3-1 season record.

Cards host Hobbs

The Big Spring Cardinals will play host to the team from Hobbs, N.M. today in a 1:30 doubleheader at Steer Park.

The Cardinals are now 3-1 on the young season and are expected to face their toughest competition of the campaign today.

Starting lineup for the Cards will be Ernest Garcia at centerfield, Felix Martinez at third base, Sammy Rodriguez at shortstop, Orlando Olague on the hill, Joe Martiniz, behind the plate, Pano Rodriguez at first base, Albert Alvarez in left field, Tony Rubio at second base and either YSA Rubio or Larry Duron at right field.

Suited up to see action in the second game will be Luis Porros, Phil Bustamante, Freddy Martinez, Terry Brumley, Raul Rubio, Tony Fierro, Mike Tredaway, and Jesse Armendariz. Jody Flores will pitch the second game.

Yanks find guns

By the Associated Press
Thurman Munson and Reggie Jackson homered in support of Ed Figueroa's seven-hit pitching and the surging New York Yankees trounced the Seattle Mariners 7-2 Saturday for their third consecutive triumph and ninth in 10 games.

Jackson's third homer of the season and first in Yankee Stadium touched off a four-run third inning against loser Gary Wheelock, 2-3, and Bill Laxton. Munson homered in the first inning and Willie Randolph tripled two runs across in the second.

Bob Stinson smashed his first home run of the season into the upper right field stands in the third inning for Seattle and Carlos Lopez knocked in the Mariners' other run with a sacrifice fly in the ninth.

In other American League action Saturday, Dwight Evans belted a two-run homer and Carlton Fisk drilled three hits and scored three runs as the Boston Red Sox breezed to an 8-4 victory over the Oakland A's.

Larry Hise drove in four runs and southpaw Geoff Zahn registered his fourth straight victory of the season as the Minnesota Twins whipped the Detroit Tigers 7-3.

Fred Kendall's 12th-inning sacrifice fly broke up a scoreless pitching duel, and Cleveland's Dennis Eckersley fired a three-hitter for 11 innings, leading the Indians over the Milwaukee Brewers 1-0.

Claudell Washington, Ken Henderson and Willie Horton blasted home runs to power to Texas Rangers to a 14-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

In a National League day game, Phil Garner's two-run double sparked a game-breaking five-run third inning that propelled the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-0 rout of the Houston Astros.

Rookie left-hander Randy Lerch pitched six strong innings and belted a run scoring single in a four-run fifth inning, helping the Philadelphia Phillies beat the San Francisco Giants 6-4.

In American League night games, California visited Baltimore and Toronto was at Kansas City. In the National League, it was Chicago at Cincinnati, Atlanta at St. Louis, Montreal at Los Angeles and New York at San Diego.

Sports briefs

BASEBALL
NEW YORK — Texas Rangers pitcher Bert Blyleven was suspended for three days and fined $500 by American League President Lee MacPhail for deliberately throwing at Darrell Porter of the Milwaukee Brewers.

TENNIS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Topseeded Jimmy Connors moved into the semifinals of the $250,000 Alan King Tennis Classic, defeating Stan Smith 6-1, 6-3.

BUENOS AIRES — Ricardo Cano upset Dick Stockton 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 in an opening round match to help Argentina take a 2-0 lead over the United States in the North American Zone final of the Davis Cup.

BUCHAREST, Romania — Ilie Nastase of Romania routed Bernard Bolleau 6-1, 6-4, 6-1 to give his country a 2-0 lead over Belgium in first day action of their Davis Cup tennis qualification match.

MUNICH, W. Germany — Victor Pecci of Paraguay defeated Yugoslav's Nikki Pilić 6-3, 7-5 to reach the semifinals of the $75,000 Bavarian Grand Prix tennis tournament.

Hall to speak at GHS fete

GRADY — Brian Hall, former Texas Tech University field goal kicker, will be the featured speaker at the Grady All-Sports Banquet, set for Friday, May 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the old gymnasium at Grady School.

The annual fete honors those students who participate in athletics at Grady, and is sponsored by the Wildcat Booster Club.

Tickets for the banquet are available from club members, at the school or at the door. They will sell for $3 each.

Hall has received wide acclaim for his achievements in athletic and other endeavors. The former Dalhart High School athlete established Texas Tech and Southwest Conference kicking records despite the handicap of an artificial right leg. The limb was lost when Hall was a youngster.

Konny's Komner

Konny Service

Well, they finally did it! Y.J. and Diar Sherrill are giving up the Marina business and are going to do some fishing themselves for a while. (As some of you may know, the Sherrills ran Y.J.'s Marina at Lake Spence.)

They did, however, want me to express their thanks to all their many friends and customers in the Big Spring area for their patronage during the past five years.

The Sherrills sold the Marina to some pretty good West Texas folks, Charlie and Linnie Travis and Joe and Betty Barrett of Lubbock. Charlie says that he has not done much other than sell cars and fish the last few years, but he's going to give the Marina all he's got.

Joe, on the other hand, spent 22 years with the Air Force. Four years out of those 22, he was with the Thunderbirds. Joe retired in January this year from Webb AFB where he had been the last year.

Both Charlie and Joe are fairly avid fishermen, so I'm sure they can supply you with all the fishing information you need. They will also be able to serve any fisherman from the novice to the pro with just about any fishing supply.

The services that are available now at the Marina include a free paved launching ramp for your boat, lures and tackle of all kinds. They also rent boats and motors along with gas, oil, groceries, ice, picnic supplies, fishing licenses, lake permits, camper hookups and plenty of camping areas.

Charlie and Joe are planning to keep the name of the marina the same (Y.J.'s), but that doesn't mean that changes aren't going to be made.

In the near future, they plan to build some boat slips and have a gas pump on the lake, even though Lake Spence is only about one-third full now. They also have plans to enlarge the trailer park and add a motel.

So things are looking up for Lake Spence. The businesses are improving, more and more facilities are available, and the fishing is great.

Remember, if you have some time when you are at Spence, stop in and welcome Joe and Charlie into the neighborhood. They will be at Y.J.'s Marina, located on the south side of Lake Spence at Paint Creek Park. Or, if for some reason you need to give them a call, their number is (915) 453-3949.

Local fems honored

ABILENE — Sherry Griffin from Coahoma and Debbie Irwin of Big Spring were among the athletes honored Thursday night during the Hardin-Simmons University sports banquet.

Debbie Irwin, a senior, won the most valuable player trophy for the third year in a row in women's volleyball. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Irwin of Big Spring. Debbie didn't miss one game in her four years of competition.

Sherry Griffin scored 509 points and led the Cowgirls to a 17-9 season and was awarded the most valuable player trophy in women's basketball for her efforts. Sherry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin of Coahoma.

Forsan needs an opponent

FORSAN — Bob Evans, head basketball coach at Forsan High School, announced Friday that he is looking for an opponent for Tuesday, November 22, of this year.

Full schedules have caused this date to be open for the Buffaloes, and Evans said that his squad is willing to travel to any Class B, A or AA school for boys' varsity and boys junior varsity basketball games. Contact Evans at 915-263-6571 or 915-457-2226.

TAKE THAT! — Minnesota Twins Rod Carew, right, fights with Detroit Tigers pitcher Dave Roberts in second inning action Saturday afternoon after Carew was hit in the back with a ball pitched by Roberts. Carew was ejected from the game after the fight which cleared both benches.

Little League results — Rockets red glare Sabres

The Rockets of the International League scattered 23 hits to beat the Sabres 25-8 Friday night and remain undefeated.

David Moore, winning pitcher, had a double, while teammate Tommy Gartman hit a triple and four singles. Jon Krug and Michael Barna had a single, double and triple. David Stags hit a double and four singles. Dean Gartman collected a double and a single, and relief pitcher Chuck Kelly had a double and a single.

Tommy Denton and Ronnie Barna each had a single. The Sabres leading hitters were Jeffrey Keller, Pat Kelly, Glen Slate and Joel Hodges.

Cardinals eat Lions

The Cardinals of the National League roared back from a 3-1 deficit and buried the Lions 16-6 Friday night.

George Robbins was the winning pitcher, and Bobby Little was charged with the loss. Robbins struck out nine batters.

Getting two hits for the Cardinals were Mark Johnson, George Bancroft and Kent Wilkins. Capturing two hits for the Lions were Dean McKenzie and Bobby Little.

The Cards are now 1-0 while the Lions are 0-1.

Colts rake Hawks in slugfest

The Colts of the American League punched out 16 hits to beat the Hawks 17-12 Friday night.

Chris Lamb was credited with the win, while Tony Shortes was the losing hurler.

James Beishe, David Deal, Goerge Solis and Chris Lamb all had doubles for the Colts, while Tony Shortes had a two-bagger for the Hawks. Mike Brown had a triple. Mike Fetters and Doug Walker each had two hits.

The Colts are now 1-1, while the Hawks fell to 0-2.

Sparks fly past Cubs

In National Pee Wee League action Friday night, the Sparks blazed the Cubs 9-4 on the four-hit pitching of John Moore (1-0). Mitch Griffin was credited with the loss.

Leading hitters for the Sparks were Hugh Rainey, Lathie Williams, Jesse Farquar, John Moore, Kris Peterson and Kenny Rogers for the Sparks. Doug Merriott, Donnie Peacock and Michael Horton lead the Cubs in hitting.

Pitcher John Moore tripled in the fourth inning and had 10 strike-outs. The Sparks are now 1-0.

Angels skunk Giants

In National Pee Wee League play Saturday morning, the Angels trounced the Giants, 13-0. The game was the league opener for both teams.

Carey Fraser was the winning pitcher, Robert Rodriguez the loser.

Fraser drove out a triple to help his own cause. Catcher Todd McKimney had a double and a single for the Angels. First baseman Neal Bunker and outfielder Randy Odom also had one-basers for the Angels.

The losers had only one hit. That was a single off the bat of Todd Daniel.

Tigers declaw Eagles

The Tigers mauled the Eagles, 10-2, in National Minor League play here Friday. Both teams were making their first league starts.

Bruce Strickland, the winning pitcher, fanned nine and surrendered only one hit. That was a first inning two-run round tripper by Frankie McIntosh.

The Tigers managed four hits, a single each by Shawn Eason, Bruce Strickland, Greg Blythe and Sammy Watson.

The Tigers' big inning was the fourth, when they dented the plate five times.

Printers ink Colts, 20-3

Behind the one-hit pitching only Colt hit, while Rodney of Rodney McMillan, the Printers of the National Minor League upended the Colts Saturday afternoon 20-3.

Robbie Burgess was credited with the loss. Randall Crawford got the

Crappie at Thomas

By Danny Reagan

Lake Thomas seems to be the best place to set your hook right now, although Chuck McCamant swears Lake Champion is brimming over with big black bass.

Mrs. Tidwell at Lake Thomas Lodge indicated that BIG crappie were the main item on the menu over the past week. Numerous fishermen have been catching 1 1/2 to 2 pounders from the bank with minnows.

The Tidwells, who took over the Lodge last year, liked it so much they sold their house in Plainview and have moved to the lake for good. That's good news for the serious angler, because they keep what you need.

"We've got a bunch of new lures this year," said Mrs. Tidwell, "and I still make the best hamburgers you ever tasted."

The droves of anglers have been deleting their stocks of minnows, worms and shrimp but they should have plenty by today.

Drop by and see the Tidwells. The lodge is on the southeast side of the lake by the dam. Mrs. Tidwell will show you where the fish are being caught and what's catching them.

Moss Creek

Ed McCain out a Moss Creek says that the walleye have finally started biting. Six were taken out of the lake last week. The demon-looking boogers are being caught on spinner baits and minnows, and McCain said one man "got the shock of his life" when a three-pounder hit his lure. Those fish are known for their ability to put up quite a fight. One lady caught one on a jig as well.

A few three and four-pound blacks have been taken out of the lake, and the channel cat are still slow, but one man brought out a 3 1/2 pounder on shrimp.

Lake Spence

Channel catfish were showing up increasingly on strings of fishermen at Lake E.V. Spence during the past week. Other catches included yellow and blue catfish, black bass and numerous striped bass, the largest 15 lbs.

Y.J.'s Marina at Lake Spence had new owners in the persons of Charles Travis and Joe Barrett, who acquired it from Y.J. Sherrill. Travis and Barrett said they are expanding merchandise and services of the marina, which is located on the northwest side of the lake off SH 158. Barrett is retired from the USAF at Webb AFB and was one time a crew chief for the celebrated Thunderbird serial acrobatic team. Travis was reared in Lubbock and has been in the automotive business there and at Slaton.

Lake Thomas reports included A.C. Floyd, Snyder, 5 and 7-lb. black bass; Terry McKowsky, Lamesa, 12 crappie to 2 lb.; and Derry and Alice Trice, Lamesa, 12 crappie to 1 1/2 lbs.

Lake Spence reports included: Hillgrove Grocery — C.C. Weir, Robert Lee, five channel cat to 2 lbs. and a 4-lb. striped; Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Cooper, Odessa, 13 crappie to 1 1/2 lbs.; three yellow catfish, and a channel cat and three black bass; Mary Cherry, Odessa, a 6 1/2-lb. striped; R.W. Haynes, Odessa, five channel cat to 3 lbs., six black bass to 3 1/2 lbs., and a 5-lb. yellow catfish; Larry Mason, Odessa, a 5-lb. striped.

Edith's Country Store — Bobby Wells, Odessa, a 15-lb. striped bass; L.B. Garrett, Robert Lee, a 2 1/2-lb. crappie.

Y.J.'s Marina — D.W. Stevenson, Junior Vineyard, and Joe Wise, Levelland, 3 1/2, 4 1/2 and 5 1/2-lb. stripers; Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Freeman, Odessa, 16-lb. yellow cat; Kevin Cobb, Odessa, 2 1/2-lb. black bass; Kevin Lynch, Odessa, 6 1/2-lb. striped.

Triangle Grocery and Ball — Mr. and Mrs. Terry Hodges, Midland, nine black bass to 4 lbs.; Sara Carleton, Hobbs, N.M., 5-lb. striped; H.L. Wright and G.H. Wayland, Big Spring, two channel cat to 2 lbs.; a 5-lb. striped and several crappie to 1 1/2 lbs.; Dee and Cleo Reid, Big Spring, 50 crappie to 2 lbs., six channel cat to 2 lb and six blacks to 3 lbs.; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Counts, Robert Lee, 20 crappie to 2 lbs and two channel cat to 2 lbs.

Wildcat Fish A Rama — James Hood and Bubba Duncan, Robert Lee, 6-lb. yellow cat, two blue catfish to 3 1/2 lbs, 15 crappie to 1 1/2 lbs, and three blacks to 2 lbs.; Fern Norman, Odessa, 8 1/2-lb. striped; Ben Lucur, Odessa, 8 1/2-lb. striped; and John Melott, Snyder, 11-lb. striped.

Colorado City

COOPER'S COVE Several large crappie were caught in the crappie house, also some nice catfish. Joe Siler from Lubbock caught a 6 lb. channel catfish. Rick and Tim Sahl from Hermitage caught 15 large carp. There was lots of boating and skiing last week.

FISHER PARK Mr. Kelley and family from Seminole caught 40 crappie, about 1/2 lb. each, a crappie weighing 2 1/2 lb. and two blue gill that were 1/2 lb. each. Scott McKnight from Midland caught seven crappie, pan size, seven black bass pan size and seven crappie 1 lb. each. Roger Henry and George Paul caught seven black bass 1 1/2 lb. to 3 1/2 lb. each. A traveler from Natchez, Mississippi caught 17 pan size crappie.

LOUIE'S LAKESIDE LODGE Mr. Sweat from Odessa caught a 10 lb. yellow catfish and an 8 1/2 lb. yellow. Ben Danley from Colorado City Lake caught a 25 lb. yellow catfish. D.R. Smith from Brownwood caught 20 nice crappie.

LAKEVIEW CAMP Jack Colbert from Lakeview Camp caught some good black bass, 4 lb. and 7 1/2 lb. and 2 lb. Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Beckmeyer from Lamesa caught several good crappie. W.A. Worley and family caught several nice bass. Lots of fish were caught by the Fishermen's.

STATE PARK Lots of people were out over the weekend, being that it was such a nice weekend. The catfish were biting good.

NEW ANGLE ON OLD TUNE — Paddling down their street in Dallas, Tex., S.B. Bell and E. Attaway decided to try their luck and as a result netted a good-sized carp. The two fishermen claimed the big ones were biting all day up and down the street. Heavy weekend rains were responsible for the unusual angling as the nearby TFinity River overflowed turning Tune Avenue and the neighborhood into an unplanted version of Venice.

Report your coastal stripes

PALACIOS — The landing of a striped bass out at the Parks and Wildlife Department facility in Palacios, they grew to approximately 1 1/2 inches long before being placed in the bay.

"The recovered fish grew roughly one inch per month since stocked," said Hysmith. "It was 13 inches long when caught by Elliot Loy of Houston."

Coastal fisheries biologists reared in a pond at the Parks and Wildlife Department facility in Palacios, they grew to approximately 1 1/2 inches long before being placed in the bay.

"We have been stocking stripers in selected bay during the last two years, but this is the first confirmed catch," said Bruce Hysmith, P&WD biologist.

More than one-quarter million fingerling-sized stripers have been released in the San Antonio Bay system since 1975, and coastal fisheries biologists plan to release another 200,000 this year.

"The striped is a highly desirable game fish that is native to Texas and was once found in salt as well as fresh water," Hysmith said.

Rocket truck hits Bullets

HOUSTON (AP) — The Washington Bullets weren't sure which truck hit them Friday night but they narrowed it down to either Houston's Moses Malone or Calvin Murphy.

Murphy scored 40 points while Malone canned 25 points and got 22 rebounds to lead the Rockets to a pulsating 123-115 victory in the fifth game of their National Basketball Association (NBA) playoff series.

"I told Bernie (assistant coach Bernie Bickerstaff) in the third quarter that we were in trouble," Bullets Coach Dick Motta said of Malone. "He (Malone) was going crazy and we gave him the bait, the opportunity."

And the Rockets took the bait. Trailing 55-52 at halftime, the Rockets made good on 16 of 19 shots from the free throw line in the third

HIDDEN ROCKET quarter to take a lead they never lost. The victory gave the Rockets a 3-2 lead in the series, which resumes

Sunday at Landover, Md. The winner of the Houston-Washington series will play the winner of the Philadelphia-Boston series for the Eastern Conference title and a berth in the NBA championship series.

Houston's Elvin Hayes gave more credit to Murphy for Houston's broadside victory. "Moses played a great game but it was Murphy that made the difference," Hayes said.

Houston substitute forward John Johnson, who helped get the third quarter surge started, said he didn't have any special assignment.

"All I wanted to do was play hard and create some situations," Johnson said. "I had (Wes) Unseld nullified and that meant Hayes had to help out on rebounding and it gave Moses a chance for more offensive rebounds."

Byleven fined

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Bert Blyleven of the Texas Rangers has been suspended for three days and fined $500 for deliberately throwing at Darrell Porter in a game at Kansas City Wednesday night, American League President Lee MacPhail announced Friday.

The suspension is effective immediately, meaning Blyleven will miss this weekend's series at Chicago.

"The action was taken after checking umpires' reports and talking to Blyleven and representatives of the clubs involved," a spokesman for MacPhail said.

Blyleven admitted he deliberately threw at Porter, apparently in retaliation for Texas' Juan Beniquez being knocked down one-half inch earlier. Beniquez had hit his first home run in two years earlier in the game. Porter is the Kansas City catcher.

Student Council attends convention

By JOURNALISM CLASS

The Student Council Officers for next year left Thursday at 8:00 a.m. for the state convention in Austin. Jim Bob Coates, President, Terry Don Roberts, Vanessa Cooper, and Starla McMurray are the officers going. Ken Kelso also went as winner of the calendar sales. Donna James actually won the calendar sales but was unable to attend the convention.

The Austin Municipal Auditorium was the site of the convention. New State Student Council officers were to be elected and a new platform established. The Student Councils in Big Spring's district, including Coahoma campaigned for the Big Spring President for the office of state president.

There was also a workshop Friday, which included discussion groups and problem clinics.

Mrs. Brooks is attending a sponsors' banquet Friday night at the Sheraton Crest Hotel.

The students who attended were back Saturday in time for the Junior-Senior Banquet.

The Journalism class ate at the Western Sizzler Steak House, Monday 25. The dinner, began at 5:30 and lasted until 6:15. Eleven people attended the party.

A Spring Dance was held Friday, April 29 from 8 to 12 o'clock. The dance was held in the Presbyterian Church.

Tuesday, May 3, 1977 the 1941 Study Club will sponsor its annual Senior Party. It will be at Wendall Shive's home. The cuisine this year will be Mexican food. All school were Wesley Overton, seniors are urged to attend Brian Hall, Texas Tech field-goal kicker, will be the featured speaker at the All-Sports Banquet on May 7. Mr. Hall will show a Texas Tech Highlight film of the 1976 season at 6:00 in the field house. Then he will speaking at 8:00, at the banquet to be held in the high school gym.

The Jr.-Sr. banquet was held Saturday night at the Big Spring Country Club. Highlights of the evening were the reading of the Junior prophecy and the Senior will.

The Junior High Band traveled to Odessa Thursday to compete in the Area Concert and Sight Reading Contest. The band received a division three rating for each part of the contest. The Puppy Band played three songs for the concert. The songs played were "Little Scotch Suit," "Newcastle March," and "La Nuit."

Workshop slated

LUBBOCK — A regional school board workshop will be conducted Wednesday in the Senate Room of the Texas Tech University Center.

The workshop is designed to familiarize newly elected board members with duties and responsibilities of trustees. Veteran board members are encouraged to attend to hear presentations and discussions on new topics concerning education.

Approximately 150 school board members will hear presentations on student rights and responsibilities and student conduct and discipline.

A handbook on major topics for discussion will be distributed to those attending.

Texas Tech's College of Education and the Texas Association of School Boards are sponsoring the workshop. Dr. Paul E. Zingraff, chairperson of Educational Administration, and his staff in Administration and Supervision are workshop coordinators.

Forsan Band receives fifth sweepstakes trophy

By STEVE COWLEY

The Forsan Buffalo Band received their fifth straight sweepstakes trophy in Crane last Wednesday. This trophy signifies superiority in all three band competitions; Marching, Concert, and Sight-Reading. Some judges' comments were: "You could compete in a much higher classification," "Fantastic," "Very Well Done!"

Four Forsan students qualified for the State U.I.I. contest next week in Austin. Ron Roberson and Steve Cowley placed 2nd in Debate, Ernie Morgan placed 2nd in Slide Rule, and Ralph Miranda placed 3rd in Number Sense. The winners will depart Thursday for the capital city.

Leaving the same day will be six girls participating in both track and tennis at the state level. They are Karen Hobbs, Julie Poyner, Valerie Adams, Lucy Thixton, and Beverly Strickland (track), and Marcia Nichols (tennis).

The Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom was held Friday night at the Big Spring Country Club.

The Band traveled to Midland Wednesday to listen to the AAA-AAA Band Concert Contest. All of those who went greatly enjoyed the experience.

Homework helpers

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Some students here are spending a lot of time on the telephone weeknights — and their parents love it.

Ma Bell, which already serves as surrogate minister (Dial-a-Prayer), jester (Dial-a-Joke), botanist (Dial-a-Plant), and a variety of other functions, now helps fulfill another need: homework help.

Sponsored by the University Heights Branch YWCA, the "Homework Helpline" assists students who are struggling with Shakespeare, grappling with geometry or toiling through trigonometry.

Monday through Thursday, from 6:30 p.m. 59 8:30 p.m., students from grades one through 12 can call a telephone number and talk to an operator who listens to their questions. The student then hangs up, and the operator telephones a volunteer on call who has knowledge of the subject. The volunteer then calls the student at home.

"It's an amazingly simple concept," says Chris Connell, director of the YWCA branch. The helpline has been open for about two months, and although the volume of calls has been sporadic — averaging six a night — Miss Connell is ringing with enthusiasm.

"Take, for instance, the night a boy called and said he was doing a biology project," she recalls, sitting in her bright yellow, poster-covered office. "He asked me, 'What happens when a frog hibernates?' I had no idea, but I found a teacher at Central State College who called him back. The boy called me later and said, 'Wow, thanks! I think I'm gonna' get an A.' Now that really makes me feel good."

Miss Connell emphasizes that the helpline is not an "instant answer line" for kids who could look up information themselves.

TBP Sets Merit Award

An anonymous donation of $50,000 has enabled the University of Texas of the Permian Basin to establish the UTPB Merit Award, a scholarship program to begin in the 1977-78 academic year, announced U.T. Permian President V. R. Cardozer.

The program will make available several cash awards of $500 to outstanding area junior college students who wish to continue their education at UT Permian. Students at Odessa College, Midland College, Howard College in Big Spring, Western Texas College in Snyder and New Mexico Junior College in Hobbs who rank in the top 20 per cent of their classes and who have the recommendation of their respective college presidents are eligible for the awards, said Cardozer.

The UTPB Merit Awards are not affiliated with the Permian Merit Scholarship program, a four-year grant plan involving donations from more than 50 area businesses. The Permian scholarships will go to graduating high school seniors who plan to attend both an area junior college and UT Permian Basin.

Cardozer explained the $50,000 donation was made with the stipulation that it be used to fund the initial grants and that a like amount be raised to continue funding through investment.

UT Permian's Office of Financial Aid and Placement can provide junior college students interested in the awards with more information and application forms. Head counselors and deans of students of the junior colleges involved also have further information on the program.

Local student at conference

WIMBERLEY — Debbie Albright of Big Spring was among the 120 participants who attended Student Texas Recreation and Parks Society (STRAPS) spring fellowship conference hosted here April 15-17 by Southwest Texas State University's Creative Opportunities for Leisure Time Society (COLTS).

The conference included educational programs for students majoring in recreation related fields. A meeting of the board of directors of the parent group, Texas Recreation and Parks Society (TRAPS) was held concurrently with the conference. The program was conducted at Rocky River Ranch.

Albright is a student at Texas Tech University.

Goliad Jr. High FCA sponsors dance Sat. night

By HELEN HICKS

The 1977 yearbooks, which were issued Tuesday afternoon, featured a blue jean cover with a "Moving On" theme. Climaxing the distribution, an annual signing party was held east of the school. This year's annual staff included Tiffany Whiteside, Jackie Roach, Helen Hicks, Terri Cole, Angel Bihl, Garry Tibbs, Joe Monje, and Tony Hall. Mrs. Cornelia Gary is the yearbook advisor.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes sponsored a dance Saturday from 7:30 to 11:30. The dance was held in the Goliad gym. The FCA sponsor is Coach Gary Bolen. This was not a school sponsored activity.

The National Junior Honor Society banquet will be Thursday, May 19. The banquet will be held at Alberto's Restaurant.

Cheerleader tryouts have been postponed indefinitely until the situation between the schools is cleared up, that is, until the school board reaches a decision as to where the various grades will be housed next year.

The tennis class completed its tournament, with Tracy Snell defeating Julianne Raines for the girls tennis trophy. Aubrey Weaver played John Manley for the boys tennis trophy.

Winners of the wrestling finals held last week were as follows: 79 and under — Luis Ramos; 80 to 99 lbs. — Wesley Hart; 90 to 99 lbs. — Nick Mending; 100 to 119 lbs. — Shane Mayhall; 129 to 129 lbs. — David Cross; 130 to 139 lbs. — Barry Elam; 140 to 149 lbs. — Joe Cuellar; 150 to 159 lbs. — John Wilham; and 179 lbs. — Tracy Reeves.

The band traveled to Midland Thursday to attend the University Interscholastic League contest. They won a first division in concert and a first division in sightreading. There was only one other band out of eleven to receive two first places.

Runnels Jr. High National Honor Society to visit Sonora Caverns

By TAMMYE SPEARS

The Big Spring High School choir came to Runnels to present a program for the student body. The assembly was Thursday during most of fourth period. BSHS choir director is Jack Bowers.

The National Junior Honor Society will be leaving for Sonora Caverns May 6, at 7:00 a.m. After going through the caverns, the students will load up and go to Christoval. There will be swimming, paddleboats, and picnicking for all who wish to participate. The group will return around 7:00 p.m. All honor society parents who wish to take a car, you are welcomed to do so.

The Student Council is having one big activity before school is out. There will be more information given at a later date.

The Runnels Band went to a clinic and were gone all day. The students left at 9:30. The band is under the direction of Steve Waggoner.

All annuals will be distributed May 4th, Wednesday. All students must have their receipt from paying for it. Some choir students have given their receipts to Mrs. Bowers. No annuals will be handed out without showing your paper first.

RUSTY PENDLEY

Pendley going to Oklahoma

Rusty Pendley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pendley of Sterling City, has been accepted to the Southwestern Oklahoma State University School of Pharmacy.

He has completed 70 hours, 60 of which are required as a two-year pre-pharmacy course to enter one of the top four pharmacy schools in the nation.

Honors include the dean's honor roll; serving as vice president of the sophomore class and serving as an officer in Phi Delta Chi, pharmacy fraternity.

After receiving an extern pharmacy license this summer, he will be working with Knight's Pharmacy in Big Spring to complete part of the six-semester, three-year pharmacy program. The program also requires clinical work in Oklahoma City, plus a year of internship, which will be completed in Big Spring.

State agencies may meet in court

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The board's petition requested that the high court command Hill to drop the suit, filed in a district court here March 9.

Hill's suit was the first time in recent history the attorney general has sued a state agency, said TWQB attorney James W. Wilson. "It's also the first time I've heard of a state agency suing the attorney general," he added.

"It is our opinion that it is not only Hill's duty to represent the Texas Water Quality Board, but he is the only one allowed to represent it," TWQB attorney Margaret Currie said Friday. "In light of that, the board is left without any representation."

The attorney general, the board said in its suit, is the only lawyer the Texas Constitution and the statutes creating their agency allows to have.

Hill filed his suit after the board repealed its single set of pollution standards for the aquifer's entire seven-county recharge area. In its place, the board issued separate standards on March 3 for each county.

In the suit, Hill maintained that the new standards are not stringent enough in some counties and endanger San Antonio's water supply.

The underground reservoir, which runs under

Bezar, Hays, Comal, Kendall, Medina, Uvalde and Kinney Counties, provides drinking water for the City of San Antonio.

The recharge area is one where porous limestone is exposed at the surface, allowing rainfall to percolate quickly into the aquifer.

Reading, writing, rifle range

Soviet youth get military training

MOSCOW (AP) — For millions of Soviet children, school doesn't just mean studying history, languages, mathematics and science. It can also involve learning how to assemble and take apart a Kalashnikov machine gun, rifle-range skills, care of military uniforms and proper use of a gas mask.

Those are among the course activities suggested in an instructor's manual published by the Soviet government for the nation's military training program geared for teen-agers in school, as well as for young workers.

"The Soviet Union is a peace-loving state," says a textbook for children illustrated with diagrams of hand grenades, rifles and military tactics. But the book says that since "reactionary imperialist circles" are plotting to increase world tensions, "every young person even before his service in the armed forces must prepare himself for the defense of the Socialist motherland."

Not every school in the Soviet Union has an equally effective military program and some children take the training lightheartedly. But there is apparently at least some training for everyone. The training helps pupils prepare for military service—two years is required for every able-bodied young man without a special deferment—and it provides the country with a ready reserve of civilians familiar with military skills in case of war.

By the time of World War II, school programs and other volunteer defense training organizations had prepared a ready reserve of more than 120,000 pilots trained in flying clubs, 6 million people trained in riflery and 222,000 citizens who could parachute from airplanes—all in addition to the Soviet Union's standing armed forces.

Military training today is carried out in official school programs and by the All-Union Voluntary Organization for Assistance to the Army, Air Force and Navy (DOSAAF). DOSAAF has chapters in many schools and large clubs in big cities.

The DOSAAF organization, which celebrated its 50th anniversary this year, also provides military-related sports and technical training to millions of Soviets who are not school pupils.

The organization now claims to have a total of 76 million members—a third of the Soviet population—many of them factory and farm workers. The minimum age for joining DOSAAF is 14. Western sources believe some of the DOSAAF membership figures may be exaggerated, however.

Big Spring Art Association sponsoring area show today

By CAROL HART
The Big Spring Art Association art show will continue through today at the Gibson's Supply Building located at 2302 Scurry, according to Mrs. Elsie K. Merrell and Al Scott, president and vice-president of the art association. The building is across the street from Gibson's Discount Center.

"Our association encourages the development of artists by sponsoring clinics, workshops, and educational programs," said Mrs. Merrell in explaining the organization. "It encourages art appreciation by offering exhibits to the general public."

The show will begin at 1 p.m. today, and will run until 5 p.m. An awards ceremony is to be at 4 p.m. The exhibit attracts entries and viewers from West Texas and surrounding states. Last year, there were almost 300 entries, and more than 400 viewers attended the show.

Cash prizes are offered to the winners, said Al Scott. "Business men furnish prize money for purchase prizes," he explained. Paintings in oil, acrylic, watercolor, graphics, pastels or mixed media were accepted for the show. A photography and sculpture divisions are also included this year.

"The photography division is new this year," said Scott. "Amateur as well as professional photographers were invited to enter their work. There will be prizes awarded in both amateur and professional photography."

Scott further explained the divisions, saying that it was broken down into professional, non-professional, student, and the aforementioned sculpture and photography. Art teachers, college art majors, and those who have won recognition in state or national exhibitions are entered in the professional division. Amateurs with limited training and experience having never won state or national recognition will be entered in the non-professional division. The student division is made according to school grade levels, elementary, junior high and senior high. Sculpture and photography are open divisions.

Scott also explained that viewers at the show will judge a painting "most popular." This was a category that attracted a lot of attention last year, Scott said.

The public is invited to attend the show, said Scott.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MAY 1, 1977

Artist Paul Milosevich here to serve as art show judge

Serving as judge for the Big Spring Art Association Area Art Show this year is Paul Milosevich, a professional artist who lives in Lubbock.

Milosevich was in Big Spring last year to conduct several art workshops. Mrs. Virginia Whitten brought Milosevich to Big Spring at that time to share suggestions on art work with her art students.

Born in Trinidad, Colo., Milosevich worked his way through college by doing several "odd jobs. Among those were caddy and driving range shagger, prison camp clerk, fertilizer sacker, gas pump jockey, janitor, wheat-harvest hand and truck driver.

In 1965, Milosevich received an MA degree in art from Long Beach State. He then taught at Odessa College, where he was art department chairman at Texas Tech University. He resigned his teaching position to devote full time to his own art work in 1975.

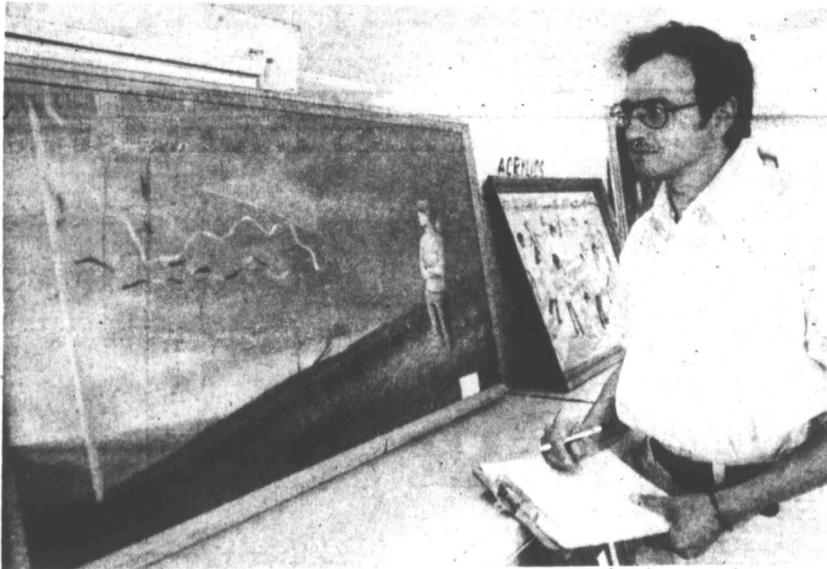

Milosevich's drawings and paintings have received regional and national awards. His murals, portraits and landscapes are in public and private art collections in the U.S. and Europe.

Painting portraits of progressive country artists takes a large portion of Milosevich's time today. He has painted portraits of Tom T. Hall, Willie Nelson, Waylon Jennings, Kris Kristofferson and Rita Coolidge. Tom T. Hall commissioned the artist to paint a series of landscapes of the musician's ranch in Nashville, Tenn., illustrating the changing seasons, to hang in the Hall home.

Milosevich also does portraits and paintings for album covers. He has also worked with reproducing prints of several of drawings, said as limited editions.

AL SCOTT, vice-president of the Big Spring Art Association, holds one of his paintings that was voted "Painting of the Month," by fellow members of the association. Scott has been working on publicity for the Association's art show, which is running through today.

JUDGING WORK — Artist Paul Milosevich views one of the paintings entered in the Big Spring Art Association Art Show. Milosevich, from Lubbock, is a professional artist. He is serving as the art show judge.

CHAIRMAN'S DUTIES — Mrs. Barbara Rogers, second vice-president of the Art Association, is chairman of the Association's Art show this year. She has been in charge of putting the show together.

Mrs. Katie Grimes named HC woman of the year

Mrs. Kathleen (Katie) Thomas-Grimes was named the Beta Sigma Phi Woman of the Year at the Founder's Day Banquet Thursday night at the Webb Air Force Base Officer's Club.

Mrs. Grimes, the wife of Lt. Col. Jerry S. Grimes, is a graduate of Big Spring High School, and attended two years at Texas Tech University and two years at the University of Texas.

The Grimes have lived in South Carolina, France, Idaho, and Texas. They have two children, Speight, 12, and Kristie Lyn, 9. The children attend Marcy Elementary School.

Mrs. Grimes has served as a Sunday School teacher at the First Presbyterian Church, and was a member of the Christian Education Committee there. She also served on the nursery committee.

She is a member of the Webb Women of the Chapel, served three years as a Brownie leader, served one year as cookie chairman for a Brownie troop, and was a Cub Scout leader one year.

Mrs. Grimes has been a member of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Cultural Affairs Committee for three years, and served as publicity chairman for the Starlite Specials for two years.

She worked three years for the YMCA on the membership drive. She has been an advisor for the Family Services, Webb Air Force Base, and served as Loan Closet chairman. She is also a member of the Friends of the Family Services, Big Spring Rehabilitation Center.

She is a sustaining member of the Heritage Museum, and is an advisor of the NCO Wives club.

A past corresponding secretary for the OWC, Mrs. Grimes is also a member of the Webb Tennis Club and the Webb Garden Club, as well as a member of the 1946 Hyperion Club.

She is also a board member of the Big Spring Concert Association, and worked in the membership drive for the concert association.

She is also a Red Cross Volunteer, and a past volunteer for the Big Spring State Hospital. She also belongs to the Marcy PTA and is a past member of the Chi Omega National Fraternity.

Beta Sigma Phi conducts Founder's Day banquet

Members of various Beta Sigma Phi chapters throughout Big Spring attended the Founder's Day celebration Thursday night at the Officer's Club at Webb Air Force Base.

The event was the 46th anniversary of the founding of Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Jeannie Cunningham hosted the affair. She served as toastmistress. Mrs. Debra Wilson, Alpha Beta Omicron, gave the BSP grace.

Each chapter selected a Girl of the Year and a Pledge of the Year. Named as Girls of the Year during the evening were Ms. Mackie Hays, Xi Pi Epsilon; Ms. Penny Stancil, Alpha Kappa Omicron; Mrs. Marietta Gress, Mu Zeta; Mrs. Genie Carroll, Alpha Beta Omicron; and Ms. Normal Friesen, Beta Omicron.

Named as Pledges of the Year were Ms. Ceil Bedell, Alpha Kappa; Mrs. Harla Johnson, Mu Zeta; Ms. Betty Kelley, Alpha Beta Omicron; and Becky Childers, Beta Omicron.

The BSP Woman of the Year is Mrs. Jeannie Cunningham, Xi Pi Epsilon. Others nominated were Mrs. Friesen, Mrs. Hays, and Mrs. Debbie Wegman, Mu Zeta. The selection was based on resumes of the nominee's BSP activities.

Mrs. Katie Grimes was named as Howard County Woman of the Year. Mrs. Rose Stukel announced the winner of the award. Mrs. Grimes was unable to be present for the presentation of the award. Her sister, Mrs. Nancy Allen, accepted it.

Chapter duties for the event were Alpha Beta Omicron, publicity, name tags, and place cards, Alpha Kappa Omicron, entertainment; Xi Pi Epsilon, programs; Mu Zeta, decorations; and Beta Omicron, place and menu.

Taking other roles at the event were Mrs. Penny

Stancil, Alpha Kappa Omicron, who presented the highlights of BSP activities in Big Spring for the past year; Mrs. Freison, Beta Omicron, who lead the pledge; and Mrs. Hays, who gave the message from the BSP - international headquarters.

Providing entertainment at the event were Joe Whitten, the minister of music at First Baptist Church, and Mrs. Mary Raines.

Golfers participate

Women golfers from Lamesa, Snyder, Sweetwater and Big Spring participated in a String Tournament in Lamesa on Tuesday.

The event was the first of the season and about 35 women played. Prizes were given to Madeline Atkins, Big Spring Country Club, putting ball closest to pin; Novalene Addison, Lamesa, longest drive; and Nan Chaplin, Lamesa, longest putt.

Also prizes to Finnie Seale, Snyder, and Sissy Senter, Lamesa, winners of first place in first flight; Juanita Hester and Gelodene Williams, Muni, Big Spring winners of second place in first flight; and Jo Sterling and Vivian Broyles for third place in first flight.

Winners in second flight were Peggy Marshall, Big Spring Country Club, and Alice Ballard, first place; Janet Benton, and Susie Anderson, second place, Muni, Big Spring. Third place was won by Mauvis Jones, Big Spring Country Club and B. Borland.

Big Spring Country Club will entertain Play Day West on May 24.

Miss Brenda Gay Tiller weds Henry Dirks Saturday

Miss Brenda Gay Tiller and Henry Bernhard Dirks III were married Saturday afternoon in the Longview Baptist Church near Muleshoe with Jim Green officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gordon Tiller, Muleshoe, and the late Gordon Tiller. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Dirks Jr., Big Spring.

The couple was wed before an altar decorated with candelabrum holding blue tapers. A bouquet of blue and white spring flowers and greenery also decorated the altar.

The bride was attired in a silk chiffon gown over bridal satin. It featured a fitted bodice with a sheer yoke and high collar trimmed with lace. Sheer sleeves with lace cuffs also were featured. The train was trimmed with lace and appliques of lace adorned the front of the gown. The bride wore a chapel-length veil trimmed with lace and adorned with seed pearls.

She carried a corsage of carnations, baby's breath and gardenias. Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Kay Swint, Muleshoe, sister of the bride. Best man was Steve Hollabaugh, Dallas.

Bryan Swint, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Ushers were Tom Chenault and Walter Taylor, both of Houston.

Ms. Connie Bruns and Ms. Vicki Griffin were candlelighters, with Monica Swint, niece of the bride, as flower girl.

Miss Barbara Dirks, Portales, N.M., sister of the bridegroom, served as vocalist during the ceremony. Pianist was Ms. Lois Killingsworth.

Following a wedding trip to California, the couple will reside in Dallas.

The bride attended Texas Tech University, and graduated from North Texas State University with a BS in home economics. She is employed by Leggs Products as a sales representative.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Texas Tech University with a degree in architecture. He is employed by Dallas Management Services as a design engineer.

A reception honoring the couple followed the ceremony. Serving at the bridegroom's table were Miss Barbara Dirks and Mrs. Kathy Taylor, Houston, both sisters of the bridegroom. Ms. Peggy Carter and Ms. Diane Knight served at the bride's table. Ms. Elaine Williams registered guests. The table was decorated with blue flowers.

May 1-7 is proclaimed National Music Week

With an emphasis on "Children and Music," the Big Spring Music Study Club joins similar organizations affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs in observance of National Music Week May 1-7.

Proclaimed officially in Big Spring by Mayor Wade

Choate, the week's activities will be focused on the importance of music in the schools, with special displays in school libraries, teachers' emphasizing the importance of music in our daily lives and appearances in school music classes by members of the local music club.

Beginning the week's activities will be an appearance at the First Christian Church by the Bell Ringers of First United Methodist Church. A special attraction will be a collection of old sheet music displayed in the Howard County Library, and to start off the week, local churches will include in today's worship services congregational singing of the national hymn of the month, "God of Our Fathers."

John A. Key Rebekah Lodge meets in IOOF Hall Tuesday

John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday evening in the IOOF Hall, with Mrs. LaVelle Hill presiding as noblegrand.

Plans were made for a whistle-stop to be made by the Assembly President, Mrs. Peggy McLean, on May 14 at the Big Spring Rebekah Hall No. 284. Different ceremonies will be exemplified by the local lodges during the morning session, and John A. Kee will present the Draping of the Charter. An initiation will be held in the afternoon session. That evening a dinner and dance will honor the Assembly President and Grand Master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Plans were made for the initiation of Steve Olyer at the May 3 meeting, with a short practice session at 7:00 p.m. Members and officers were asked to wear formals. A program celebrating the

Dear Abby

Face Lifts CAN Be Tax Deducted

DEAR ABBY: I know you're not a tax expert, but I understand that you consult top authorities in all fields, so I'm writing to you.

I am a 59-year-old woman, and believe me, I look every day of it—and then some. My husband recently died after a terrible 18-month illness, and all that weeping and grieving put years on my face.

I'm sure a facelift would not only improve my appearance, but do wonders for my morale, so I've decided to get one. A friend who had one four years ago tells me that a facelift is NOT a tax deductible medical expense. Another friend who recently had one tells me that it is! Is it or isn't it?

WRINKLED IN NEW YORK

P.S. Have you ever had a facelift, Abby?

DEAR WRINKLED: No, I never have, but when I think I need one, I'll certainly give it serious consideration.

And now, I have some good news for you: A new wrinkle concerning getting rid of the old ones developed last year. The I.R.S. ruled that the cost of cosmetic surgery is a legitimate deductible medical expense. Women (and men, too) can now get a complete facelift—chin, neck, jowls, under the eyes, the eyelids—the works—and it's tax deductible!

I am indebted to my good friend, Sylvia Porter, for this up-to-date information. And if you don't own a copy of her MONEY BOOK, get one. It can save you a small fortune.

DEAR ABBY: If an American man marries a European woman, does she automatically become an American citizen? Answer in your column as soon as possible as a very important decision is predicated on your reply.

DON'T SIGN THIS

DEAR DON'T: No one "automatically" becomes an American citizen by marrying an American. There is a three-year waiting period. Then tests must be taken. If the tests are passed, the person must then be "sworn in."

DEAR ABBY: You may not understand how I feel, Abby, but I'm sure your divorced readers will. Seven years ago, after 40 years of marriage, my husband left me and married another woman.

I see him from time to time, and I still care for him. Lately when I receive my alimony check, it is sent in an envelope with a return address sticker reading, "MR. AND MRS. _____"

Abby, when I take that envelope out of my mailbox, it's like a slap in the face. It's bad enough to know that another woman is using the name I so proudly used for 40 years without seeing it in print. Do you think he's doing it to deliberately hurt me, or is he just thoughtless and insensitive?

Should I ask my "ex" to please not use those stickers? Or would that be childish of me?

HURT AT 69

DEAR HURT: There's nothing childish about wanting to avoid pain. He's probably just thoughtless. Mention it to him.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

MAY CEREMONY — Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Guevara, 701 Settles, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Edna G., to Lt. Joe Dan Wilson, the son of Truman L. Wilson, Snyder. Lt. Wilson is stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base. The couple will be married May 28 in the Webb Air Force Base Chapel with Chaplain Marshall officiating.

Miss Marsha Lynn Day weds Gary Lynn Bishop Friday

Miss Marsha Lynn Day became the bride of Gary Lynn Bishop in a formal ceremony conducted Friday evening in the sanctuary of Wesley United Methodist Church. The Rev. Ray Elmore, pastor of the United Methodist Church, Roscoe, officiated for the nuptial rites.

The candlelight setting featured arched candelabra fronted by tall, twin columns topped with white urns arranged with white carnations, yellow Fuji mums and yellow candles in crystal chimneys. Spirals and branched candelabra completed the altar scene.

A prelude of nuptial selections was performed by Steve Baker and Miss Becky Headrick, accompanied by Mrs. Jarrell Barbee, organist.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Day, Rt. 1, Sand Springs, graduated from Coahoma High School and attended Texas Tech University, Lubbock. She is currently employed at the Big Spring Herald. The bridegroom, a graduate of Central High School in San Angelo, is press room foreman for the Big Spring Herald. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Puckett of San Angelo.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to San Antonio and Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop will reside at 1401 Virginia.

When presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a traditional gown of sheer organza over peau de soie enhanced with Cluney lace and seed pearls. The fitted bodice, sprinkled with pearled lace appliques, featured a deep sweetheart neckline edged in delicate lace. Matching lace traced the waistline and adorned the full, bishop sleeves which were gathered to a deep lace cuff. The A-line skirt extended into a chapel-length train, and the entire hemline was edged in a deep sheer flounce edged in the lace. Her mantilla veil of French illusion was edged in Cluney lace and held by a Camelot cap of matching lace and pearls.

The bride's bouquet of white carnations, yellow roses and yellow Fuji mums was backed with lace and tied with yellow and green satin streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Eddie Henderson who wore a pale yellow dotted Swiss gown trimmed in lace and styled with empire bodice, square neckline and long sleeves gathered at the wrist.

The bridesmaids, dressed identically but in pale green, were Mrs. Dean Teagarden of Midland, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Dewayn Crow, Mrs. Floyd Green Jr., and Mrs. Kevin McNally. Each carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies, yellow carnations and mint green camellia buds tied with yellow and green satin ribbon.

Larry Bishop of San Angelo served as best man for his brother, and groomsmen were Paul Day, brother of the bride; Dewayn Crow, Bob Rogers and Joe Awtry. The ushers were Dean Teagarden, Midland, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Kevin McNally. Brandon Bishop, San Angelo, son of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer, and the flower girl was the bride's niece, Stacey LaNell Day of Snyder.

Miss Tina Lovelace registered guests at a reception held in the fellowship hall of the church. Accenting the table was a bouquet of fabric roses filled with rice.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. Chuck Bromm, Mrs. Sebouh Khatchadourian, Mrs. Tony Rodriguez and Mrs. Ralph Monson. The table was covered with a sheer, white, flounced cloth over white linen and was appointed with crystal and silver. The centerpiece was the bride's bouquet.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. John H. Day, Mrs. W. Glyn Mitchell, Mrs. Carroll Choate, Mrs. Cecil Drake, Mrs. Kenneth Scott and Mrs. W.D. Lovelace.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. V.B. Hightower, San Angelo, grandparents of the bridegroom; Mrs. Lillian Gray, Odessa, grandmother of the bride; Martin Gray, Mrs. Lana Winderborn, Jeffery and Johnny, all of Odessa; Mrs. Ray Elmore, Roscoe; and Vernon Peter, Lubbock.

Mrs. Billy Sullivan honored with shower

Mrs. Billy Sullivan was honored at a baby shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Bruce Allen, Coahoma.

Special guest at the shower was Mrs. Sullivan's baby daughter, Jennifer Lea. Hostesses were Mrs. Buddy Anderson, Mrs.

Lonnie Anderson, Mrs. Don Allen, Mrs. Ronnie Ward, Mrs. James Fryar, Mrs. Grady Tindol, Mrs. Mike Rice, Mrs. Dennis Greenfield, Mrs. Alton Allen, Mrs. John Snider and Mrs. Joe Anderson.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a stroller.

COAHOMA CEREMONY — Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Holbrook, Coahoma, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Tammy Lynn, to Kenneth Leon Bearden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin L. Bearden, also of Coahoma. The couple will be married May 20 in the Coahoma Church of Christ, with John Snyder officiating.

Miss Jana Porter honored Be resourceful at evening bridal shower

Miss Jana Porter was honored with a bridal shower Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Garland Sanders, 1701 Johnson.

Miss Porter is the bride-elect of Randy Childs. The couple will wed June 4 in the Baptist Temple Church.

The table was decorated with yellow spring flowers in a crystal compote on a white cutwork cloth. Crystal appointments were used.

Miss Porter wore a long yellow dotted Swiss dress. Corsages of yellow and white were given to the bride-elect and the mothers of the couple, Mrs. Bennie Porter and Mrs. Ronald Garner. The grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Moehn Wyatt, Mrs. Marguerite Garner and Mrs. George Louie were also presented corsages.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Garland Sanders, Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. Daryl Wood, Mrs. Charles Dunnam, Mrs. D.M. Stroup, Mrs. Don McGonagill, Mrs. Walter McWhirter, Mrs. Sam Brown, Mrs. Perry Daily, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. George Walker and Mrs. Pete Ruiz.

Be resourceful — when you're in the midst of preparing a recipe that calls for baking powder and find you're out of it, substitute one-half teaspoon baking soda and one-half teaspoon cream of tartar for each required teaspoon of baking powder, suggests Mrs. Gwendolyn Ciyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Piano playing auditions slated at Howard College

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. David Hodnett, 2718 Lynn, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Angela Dawn, to Jan T. Whately, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Whately, Box 1291. The couple will be married in a garden ceremony at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Boykin, 101 Jefferson, on July 30, with Dr. Kenneth G. Patrick, officiating.

Gustav A. Nelson, an accomplished pianist and teacher, will serve as judge this year in Big Spring for the National Piano Playing Auditions to be held Tuesday, May 3 through Monday, May 8.

They will be held in the Howard College Music building with Mrs. Ann Houser as local chairman.

Big Spring is one of 712 centers in the world where the auditions are held. Last year, 86,000 teachers and students participated.

The program is part of a national program to elevate the level of piano teaching. The auditions began in Abilene. Dr. Irl Allison began them in 1929 and they have spread nationally as an activity of the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

They give piano students an evaluation of their ability and of their continuing development of skills. They also reveal the competence, or lack of it, of those who are teaching piano.

Locally, some 97 students will participate. Participating teachers include, in addition to Mrs. Houser, Mrs. Chester Barnes, Mrs. Bob Simpson, Mrs. S.T. Cheateams, Mrs. J.T. Pruitt, Mrs. Brenda Bedell, Mrs. Brenda McQueen, Mrs. Emilee Beckham, Mrs. Cheley Wilson, Mrs. Marguerite Hyden, Mrs. Mildred Mitchell of Garden City and Harlan Thornton.

The judges degree of Bachelor of Music was earned at the Mac Phail College of Music in Minneapolis and post graduate work was pursued at the Institute of Musical Art in New York under the distinguished pianist and composer, George Boyle, and at the Universities of Minnesota and Michigan. In addition he has studied with the eminent Australian pianist-composer, Percy Grainger, and with Dimitri Mitropolous, formerly conductor of the Minneapolis and the New York Philharmonic orchestras.

He has been a member of the faculties of Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, Minnesota; Hendrix College in Conway, Arkansas; and the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan. He has also taught privately for a number of years.

Before his retirement in 1966, Mr. Nelson served as organist and choirmaster at St. Alban's Episcopal Church and Temple Rodof Shalom in Waco, Texas. He is an Associate of the American Guild of Organists, and was the founder of the Waco chapter of the Guild. He has also been a member of the Texas

Music Teacher's Association and the Music Teacher's National Association.

While residing in Waco, Mr. Nelson acted as conductor of the Twelve Piano Ensemble, and also directed the Young Artist Auditions, both sponsored by the Waco Music Teacher's Association. He has also appeared as soloist in both piano and organ recitals and has acted as an accompanist in several capacities. His pupils have won highest honors in the auditions of the National Guild of Piano Teachers, and have been consistently chosen to appear on the Young Artist recitals. For the past thirteen years Mr. Nelson has been an adjudicator for the national auditions of the National Guild of Piano Teachers. He now resides in Cortez, Colorado where he continues to teach a limited number of students, and serves as organist of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church.

Several homes open for tours today

Tours of several Big Spring homes are to be conducted from 2-5 p.m. today by the Friends of the Howard County Family Service Center, according to spokesmen for the Friends.

Homes to be toured include those belonging to Mr. and Mrs. D.L. Dorland, 711 Belvedere Road; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lewis, 1508 Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Huitt, 2 Chevy Chase; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy D. Williams, 1300 Douglas; and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy L. Morehead, 704 Highland.

The tour will finish with an open house of Howard County Family Service Center, which is located at the rear of Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Refreshments will be served.

Cost of the tour is $5 per person. The ticket will be good for any and all homes and must be presented at each home that is toured.

Two members of the Friends will be at each home to conduct the tour. Tickets will be available at the door of each home, at the Howard County Family Service Center and from members of the Friends.

All proceeds will go to the Howard County Family Service Center. All donations are tax deductible.

A spokesman for the Friends said that a baby sitter will be provided free for people touring homes. The sitter will be at the First United Methodist Church.

SECTION D

SECTION D

There are 94 clubs now

Jogging interest grows

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The jogging craze has spawned a national network of clubs offering runners information, competition, and just plain sociability.

"The growth has been pretty phenomenal," says Jeff Darman of Washington, D.C., president of the Road Runners Club of America. "In the last year we've doubled in size in terms of people. In terms of clubs, we've gone from 60 to 94."

He says the national organization has 16,500 members in 35 states, the District of Columbia and Guam.

A typical club, the Gulf Winds Track Club of Tallahassee, has grown in two years from 35 members to 170. President James Penrod, a doctor, says most members are joggers who wanted more out of running than plodding around their neighborhoods.

"It's basically to promote running and fitness as a regular part of your life," Penrod says. "We've got some people who are national caliber, and mediocre people like me who will never be anything but mediocre."

Gulf Winds membership covers a broad spectrum, but is heavy on professionals and university professors. There are doctors, lawyers, bankers, housewives, students, reporters, lobbyists, a bartender and an airline stewardess.

Members range in age from 9-year-old Jimmy Ibach to Owen "Casey" Cason, 65. A burly bear of a man, Cason is Gov. Reubin Askew's chauffeur.

"Our club presidents range from one who's a card-carrying Communist, and quite proud of it, to military people," Darman says. He says Mayor Kenneth Gibson of Newark, N.J., also is a member.

Running clubs sponsor frequent races with overall and age group prizes. Darman says the competition sparks interest in running as a physical fitness activity.

"Once they get into it, they get hooked on it, and they get into the low-key competition," he says. "They get into this concept of everybody winning by competing against themselves, and I think that's what attractive about the sport."

About 180 runners entered a recent 5,000-meter (3.1-mile) Gulf Winds race promoting the Heart Fund. All finishers were awarded "Ya Gotta Have Heart" T-shirts contributed by the Heart Association and a beer distributor. Overall and age group leaders won trophies and medallions.

Runners pay a nominal entry fee, but it's not enough to cover expenses, Penrod says. But Gulf Winds is supported by beer distributors and a banker who contribute prizes. Athletic shoe stores donate energy drinks to revive exhausted racers.

Gulf Winds dues are $5 a year for individuals and $10 for families. Dues help to support the club's newsletter, which advises members of races throughout the South and offers them training tips.

Top science fiction is available

By JOHN W. DEATS
County Librarian

To quote a dictionary definition, a "classic" is "a work generally recognized as a standard of excellence," being "of lasting significance." Check Howard County Library for some of the following classics of the past century if your interests lie in mystery, the supernatural, science fiction, or fantasy.

E.F. Bleiler is the editor of "Eight Dime Novels," all of which we owe to Horatio Alger. These short adventure novels are typical of American publishing for the mass market between 1860 and 1890, when young boys risked the displeasure of their parents and teachers in order to read them. Stories such as "Dodger and Florence Braving the World" are reprinted exactly as they appeared, complete with illustrations, following the conflict between virtue and vice, hero and villain.

Turning to mystery and the supernatural, few Americans are familiar with Emile Gaboriau, who has been called "the father of the modern detective novel." His best work is "Monsieur Lecocq" (1868), involving the brilliant solution of a triple murder. The central character is thought to have influenced Doyle when he created Sherlock Holmes, some twenty years later. Several of the best ghost stories in the English language are contained in M.R. James' "Ghost Stories of an Antiquary," which has been reprinted often since it appeared in 1904. The author's home ground was Cambridge University, where he was known as a world authority on medieval manuscripts. Another master of his art was Edward Plunkett, 18th Baron Dunsany. "Gods, Men and Ghosts" (1904) contains thirty-four of his best stories, including "The Three Sailors Gambit," possibly the best story concerning chess ever written. Dunsany was an important influence behind the later work of Tolkien and C.S. Lewis.

Science fiction owes much to Olaf Stapledon. His two classics are "Last and First Men" (1931) and "Star-maker" (1937), considered to be some of the most imaginative projections of the future ever written. Their subject is the evolution of intelligence from the present to five billion years into the future. Another great writer and mathematician was Eric Temple Bell, better known as John Taine. "The Time Stream" was published in Wonder Stories Magazine during 1931-1932 as a serial. It combines speculation about the nature of time, the concept of entropy, and cyclical universes. This is fantastic reading.

Roots' pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Wolper Organization and Warner Bros. have signed a new two-year contract with Stan Margulies, the producer of the 12-hour "Roots."

A 10-year veteran with Wolper, Margulies will be in charge of sequels to the Alex Haley saga.

STEWARDS... festival honorees

Scheduled May 6-7 Festival dedicated to local couple

By MARJ CARPENTER

The eighth annual Big Spring Square and Round Dance Festival will be held in Big Spring at the Dora Roberts Exhibition building on the fairgrounds May 6 and 7.

The event is to be dedicated locally to Erma and Frenchie Steward for their effort in promoting square dancing in Texas and Big Spring.

D.W. Overman, festival chairman and Bobbie Alexander, who made the nomination to dedicate the festival to the Stewards, points out that this couple is the incoming state president of the Texas State Squares.

The very year that the Stewards will serve as state president, the state of Texas is seeking to host the 1982 National Square Dance Convention in Dallas. During the Steward's tenure as president, they will submit the bid for the convention during the national convention in Oklahoma City. Their strong opponent is Atlanta, Ga.

The state festival will be held in Houston on the weekend of June 4 at the Astroworld Hotel. The Stewards said reservations are already filling motels and hotels within a 15-minute drive of the Astrodome and Astrohall. There are 10,000 dancers expected at that festival.

Another item with which the Stewards and their staff of state officers will be concerned is establishing a Texas Square Dance Hall of Fame. E.O. Rogers, 84, well-known Dallas caller, has offered to donate his collection of square dance material to a hall of fame.

Five couples have been appointed to explore the state and recommend the location of the Hall of Fame.

The state convention will be brought to Lubbock's New Memorial Convention Center in June 1978 while the Stewards are president.

Frenchie and Erma graduated from square dance lessons in May 1967 one week prior to the state festival in Dallas. They worked at their first state festival by assisting the floor chairman. Since then, they

Women better at job, literary agent says

NEW YORK (AP) — "I've always thought being small a great help," says Audrey Wood. "People let me talk to them and then when I'm really tough, it's an amazing experience for them."

The dean of high-powered Broadway literary agents was cautiously digging at the basics of a celebrated reputation.

"Ideally, women are better at this job than men because it takes great patience, great tenacity and great skill at keeping a writer's spirits alive."

Miss Wood's career began a half century ago as the representative of such talents as DuBose Heyward, extended through such luminaries as Tennessee Williams, Truman Capote and Dore Schary, and today promotes such newcomers as David Berry, Ed Graczyk and Preston Jones.

The unflagging Wood clout for business acumen as well as tender client nurture was demonstrated in a recent six-figure sale of the non-professional performing rights to three plays by Jones, despite their failure to enthrall most Main Stem critics. Although she is hardly a familiar to the general public, Miss Wood at 72 is a well-known in the trade as Shubert Alley. Commitment shows no signs of waning.

LEGAL NOTICES
NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed Proposals addressed to Mr. Robert L. Roberson, President & Board of Trustees, Foran Independent School District, Foran, Texas, shall be received in the board room located in the Foran High School, Foran, Texas, until 7:00 p.m., Monday, May 17, 1977, to which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud, for the furnishing of all labor, materials, equipment and performing all work required for the construction of additions and renovations to Elbow Elementary School, Foran Independent School District, Foran, Texas, in accordance with Plans, Specifications and Contract Documents as prepared by Riner, Huckabone, and Donham, Architects and Planners, Andrews, Texas. Lump sum Proposals will be received for the General Construction which will include Air Conditioning and Electrical Work. The successful bidder shall be required to enter into a contract with the Foran Independent School District, Foran, Texas, and furnish a Performance and Payment Bond in the amount of not less than 100 percent of the contract price, conditioned upon the performance of the contract. Attention is called to the fact that the Contractor must comply with all Federal, State and Local Labor Laws. The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the Foran Independent School District, Foran, Texas, and furnish a Performance and Payment Bond in the amount of not less than 100 percent of the contract price, conditioned upon the performance of the contract. Attention is called to the fact that the Owner is exempt from the payment of the State Sales Tax normally levied against material costs. In order to take advantage of this exemption, material and labor costs must be identified by the successful bidder. In developing this division of labor and material costs, the bidders are cautioned to include all costs and allowances not representing direct material costs with labor. The contract sum, as identified by the Base Bid shall not include any allowance for the payment of State Sales Tax on materials required to complete the work. The successful bidder, upon award of the contract, will be furnished with a permit number which will enable him to purchase the required materials without payment of such tax. Specifications and Plan may be obtained from the Architect in accordance with the stipulations set forth under Deposits and Refunds. The bidder acknowledges the right of the Owner to reject any or all bids and to waive any informality or irregularity in any bid received. In addition, the bidder recognizes the right of the Owner to reject a bid if the bidder failed to furnish any required bid security, or to submit the date required by the bid, or if the bid is in any way incomplete
