Words are greatest gift

'I love you, mommy'

BOSTON (AP) — The words "I love you, Mommy' are the greatest Mother's Day gift for Jean Blackler and Martha Ziegler.

They are mothers of autistic children, those who are withdrawn, acting as if people and objects almost don't exist, their speech parroted, repetitious, their bodies rocking, their hands moving aimlessly. They live in their own closed world.

"Autism does not mean mentally retarded," says Mrs. Ziegler. "But autistic children usually are mentally retarded, at least partially. And we often say that functionally they are retarded because they're not able to learn all the things that other children are able to learn. They don't develop any language at all. Many of them children are not mentally retarded. "We're just beginning now to learn more specifically what autism may be and what's wrong in the brain or in the central nervous system that gives these children so many problems with language, and perhaps because of that, with behavior in making it so hard for them to function in the normal world," says Mrs. Ziegler.

Christopher Blackler is 12, but memories of his earliest days are still vivid in Jean Blackler's memory. As this Mother's Day approached, she choked up with emotion as she recalled them.

"One of the things that I found very hard to take from Chris at birth - and I didn't realize it was a problem — he stiffened up in my arms. He would not let me cuddle him. He would not let me kiss him. "I didn't question this to begin with. I just thought he was one of those kids who really wasn't affectionate. But it was very painful to live with. Hindsight-wise, you know, it broke my

"I think he was 6 years old before he actually looked at me and said, 'I love you, Mommy.' He says it all the time now. He happened to say it the first time when we were in the middle of a very busy street. And I cried."

Martha Ziegler's daughter, Mary Ann, was born 13 years ago.

"One of the things that was so painful for me was that when my daughter was very small, when she would fall down or hurt herself, she would not respond to mothering and warmth the way other babies do.

"You could not, through holding and touching and loving, help her. That was always most painful to me.' But there is laughter, too.

"Mary Ann brings us a lot of joy." says Mrs. Ziegler, 47, who has a normal son age 11. "It is not totally a life of sadness and regret. Our daughter has a lot of sense of humor.

She likes to tease. "It took us a while before we realized that she was manipulating the rest of us. She can turn the household upside down. She may lose a mitten or a favorite teddy bear and before we know it, we're all engaged in a search. After a while, you realize there is a little game going on here." Mrs. Ziegler gave up a career as a college English teacher to care for Mary Ann.

Both she and Mrs. Blackler, 38, who has two other children, have worked hard with the autistic ones in trying to teach them language, reading stories to them, explaining things, showing them things.

"I'm told now it was one of the best things I could do," says Mrs. Blackler, "because I was getting at

PRICE 35c $5 million found near

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - A wealthy recluse was found shot to death Saturday in her home here where police discovered more than $5 million in cash stuffed in trash cans, drawers and tool boxes

slain woman

Police said the home had been set afire. The blaze had been set in two places, and police said they found evidence that gasoline was used to ignite the fire.

Marjorie V. Jackson, 66, clad in flannel pajamas and a housecoat, was found dead on the kitchen floor. She had been shot once at close range with a .22-caliber pistol, Deputy Coroner Charles Green said.

Money found in the house totaled $5,015,480, according to the Marion County sheriff's department. Most of the money was in $100 bills.

Mrs. Jackson was the widow of Chester Jackson, son of the founder of the former Standard Grocery chain. Jackson died in 1970, leaving an estate estimated at $14 million.

Green said he thought Mrs. Jackson had been dead two to four days, although fire investigators said it was unlikely the fire had been smoldering Marion County police Lt. Elmer L. McDowell said the home did not appear to have been ransacked.

Investigators were puzzled over what they described as a "very big spread" of food on a table. They said it appeared as if guests were expected, although Mrs. Jackson was rarely known to entertain.

McDowell said telephone wires behind the fenced-in house had been cut. A small gate at the rear appeared to have been forced open, he said.

In the past, deputies had responded to numerous burglary and vandalism reports at the home, but when they arrived, they said Mrs. Jackson would order them off her property.

Neighbors, upset at the overgrown condition of Mrs. Jackson's yard and shrubbery, had filed complaints with authorities seeking to have the 3-acre estate cleaned up.

In May 1976, the FBI said it was investigating a shortage of funds in the Jackson trust. An Indiana National Bank vice president later pleaded guilty to embezzling $534,000 from it and is awaiting sentencing.

World leaders vow to wage fight against inflation

LONDON (AP) - President Carter and other leaders of the world's most powerful industrial nations, hitting it off personally and politically, pledged Saturday to wage a coordinated fight against inflation, unemployment and trade barriers. "There was a very large feeling we were all on the same wavelength," said Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau. "We are approaching problems in a common spirit.

Carter told reporters the four-hour opening session of the two-day summit had been "great, excellent,

British Foreign Secretary David Owen said the meeting was "good fun and enjoyable," and other British sources described the atmosphere as extraordinarily friendly.

The leaders and their aides said the first meeting was marked by broad agreement on how the non-Communist world should speed its recovery from the worst economic recession since the 1930s.

They said there was no confrontation or acrimony on such delicate matters as the rate of economic expansion, nuclear nonproliferation and the erection of trade barriers to protect domestic industries.

Carter and the others smiled broadly when they emerged from the first meeting at 10 Downing St., the prime minister's official residence.

Shunning official limousines, the party walked amid gawking tourists through St. James's Park for a luncheon at Lancaster House.

Carter's other summit partners were British Prime Minister James Callaghan, host for the gathering; Prime Ministers Takeo Fukuda of Japan and Giulio Andreotti of Italy, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing.

New story on death

with Tommy Hart

An American anthropologist named Lorne Blair says he met a native of New Guinea who took part in the murder of David Rockefeller, son of the former vice-president. Young Rockefeller dropped out of sight in 1961 while visiting New Guinea. The story as Blair heard it was that David was slain by cannibals of the Asmet tribe, who then ate him. Apparently, young Rockefeller's death was to avenge those of four local honchos dispatched by Netherlands police in 1958. To New Guinea tribesmen, "they all look alike."

Up to now, it has been presumed that Rockefeller either drowned or was eaten by crocodiles. Young David was in the bush on a study trip for New York's Museum of Primitive Arts at the time he vanished.

23 children, count'em

DALLAS (AP) — Can the mother of eight find happiness married to the father of 15?

Barbara O'Keefe of Dallas can, especially on Mother's Day when the 23 O'Keefe children cook up their annual surprise to commemorate the event.

"Last year each one made a special card for me," the trim, 43-year-old Mrs. O'Keefe said. "They used construction paper and all the appropriate accessories, and each wrote a sentiment or poem of their own," she said. "They are very precious and I saved them all."

This year's Mother's Day event was being kept secret until the big day.

Barbara, a widow, and Thomas O'Keefe, a widower, found themselves living on the same street in South Bend, Ind. They began seeing each

"At first, I never thought of it as dating," she said. "I thought he was being nice. Suddenly, I realized I was going with him, and a year and a half later (in 1975) we married.'

The couple were transferred to Dallas last year when O'Keefe's company relocated to the city. The O'Keefe "kids" range in age from 5 to 30, with 12 currently in residence at Dallas and another five back-and-forth between home and colleges. Six are married and live in other states. The problems with such a large family are obvious, but things are working out well. 'We just now got a new table that can seat all of us," Mrs. O'Keefe said. "We had been using a card table set up next to the old dining room table." She said she wasn't sure how much money the family spends a year on food, but said a guess of $15,000 would only be "a little high." The O'Keefe's bed down in some 20 beds located in five suite-sized bedrooms. Their home has six bathrooms and two laundry rooms.

One of the biggest problems is getting around. "Like today, getting them to all their soccer and baseball games was a hassle," she said. The family has four cars and four licensed drivers. Mrs. O'Keefe said all the children living at home pitch in and help with cleaning, cooking and other housework.

It all seems to be working, although as Mrs. O'Keefe said, "I'm a little surprised myself."

22 band members pass out

LAKE CHARLES, La: (AP) - Twenty-two high school musicians who were among thousands marching in a band competition passed out Friday night when they were caught in the exhaust of a row of idling buses

The 22, many of them from Texas, were given oxygen at two local hospitals and released after several hours.

"They had about 75 buses in line on two sides of the street and these kids had just got through marching," said sheriff's Capt. Autus Wagster.

'It was hot and there was so much dampness in the air it was like it had been raining. These kids walked down between the buses and when the exhaust hit them they just started dropping,'

Sixty-one bands from 54 high schools in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Tennessee and Texas were entered in the three-day competition staged by local merchants.

Sponsors estimated 6,000 band members attended, and motels as far away as Lafayette, La., and Beaumont, Tex., were booked for the band members because local motels were full.

'None of them were seriously ill. It was a little carbon monoxide poisoning plus exhaustion," said Dr. Arthur Rhoades, who helped treat the 14 students taken to Lake Charles Memorial Hospital. Another eight were treated at St. Patrick's Hospital.

Administration sources said the transfer of general revenue funds to the Social Security system would only come into play when unemployment is over 6 per cent. Such a transfer was said to represent Social Security taxes lost due to high joblessness For example, when the

Wood flooring is here to stay but they sure need a lot of tender love 'n care. To protect the surface, you should wax properly at least two or three times a year. This waxing not only protects the wood but brings out its natural grain and beauty. It is important that you use the right kind of wax. A solventbase wax is the most efficient. Water or water-based wax will eventually darken wood, warp the strips of flooring and dry out wood. There are three kinds of solvent-base wax — paste, liquid buffing or liquid selfpolishing. Use paste if your floors are worn (most difficult to work with): liquid buffing has to be rubbed to bring one shine (easy to apply); liquid self-polishing is spread with applicator. That's not unusual coming from a developer, who sees dollar signs in everything

Those who have lived in the state long could question such logic. In fact, they say already there are too many demands of the state's highway system, its schools and, most importantly, its water.

Cocktails before meals are served as appetizers. They should not be sweet, and they should not be accompanied by much feed — this is because they are intended to stimulate the appetite, not quench it. The base's mission should not be to house clubs and organizations looking for a free or cheap place to hang their NATURALLY, THERE will be some misunderstandings on this point. I have heard several people express intent upon expanding their long-established local group into some site they had picked out on the base.

The City of Big Spring, too, has had inquiries, and it took the unusual step of issuing a press release to discourage such hopes.

But some people will still think that their group should have the right to a "free" building at Webb. First, nothing will be free at Webb. The facilities will rent at attractive, but close to market, prices.

Operating a municipal airport of that size, much bigger than Big Spring really needs at this point, and the maintenance of the grounds and buildings will be a most costly undertaking for the city. It is unlikely that the city can break even on the operation for many years to come. All the revenue that can possibly be brought in will be needed - and more.

While the Federal Aviation Administration will be cooperative in working out lease agreements, anyone locating at Webb can expect to pay a fair share of the operating costs. There can be no giveaways.

Our community is at a crucial point in its search for new industry and new jobs. We must attract both if we are to keep from stagnating from the loss of

Therefore, priority for base facilities must go to industries that will bring new jobs and dollars to Big Spring. We have no other choice.

I HOPE THAT the newly formed Steering Committee will be tougher than Genghis Khan when it comes to Webb Facilities. The land and buildings must go to firms or agencies that will bring new jobs to Big Spring. They must go to organizations that can and will pay for the large operation the city will be forced to

I realize that public school and college officials recently toured the base to look at facilities which they may want.

Unless their plans involve new programs which can either support the efforts to attract an industry or bring additional jobs to town, I think this sort of thing should be strongly discouraged. With the drop in enrollment expected at the public schools and the college, both should have more facilities than they need right now. This community already has enough organizations, governments, clubs and charities that we could easily expand - ploomph - and fill the base right up with no gain at all.

The Steering Committee must not allow this to happen. The men who make up this committee are going to face many hard decisions. They will be forced to say 'no" more times than a conservative banker. They will make quite a number of people unhappy. But they must stand firm. Webb is a resource. We can use it wisely, and hopefully we will soon return our town to a healthy, vibrant state.

Or we can waste it, and drift downward for a decade.

WASHINGTON There's something going on in America now that not many people can put their finger on. There is a malaise and a feeling that nothing is happening. I felt the same way and discussed it with Rademacher.

He has a theory and it's worth exploring. "It's the television reruns that are doing it to all of us.'

I listened attentively. "MOST PEOPLE IN this country are so TV-oriented that they don't know how much it affects their lives. When the networks start rerunning their shows, people feel their lives have been stopped and won't start again until the fall when the fresh segments begin again."

'It's frightening but it's true," agreed. "When I see a rerun of a Mash program, I get the feeling I've been there before. It's a real downer.'

"We all get that feeling," Rademacher said. "For tens of thousands of years people have lived their lives by the seasons. There was spring, summer, fall and winter. You got new hope and spirit as the weather changed. It kept your juices flowing. But now that people lives their lives through the tube and there are only two seasons - the regular TV period and the rerun season - no one has much to look forward to during the "Talk about 'deja vu,' " I said. "The problem is that the verun season is getting longer every year. As costs of TV shows go up, the networks and TV producers are making fewer shows and putting on more reruns. When people watch a rerun they feel that nothing new has happened to them that day.

"I WATCHED A repeat of a Carol Burnett show the other night," I said. "And I laughed at the same jokes I laughed at the first time I saw it. I have to admit it made me sick."

"It's like reading a newspaper you've read before!" Rademacher said. "How do they expect the American people to think of fresh ideas and be creative if night after night they have to watch the same programs they saw in the fall and the winter?

"But the worst part of it," he said, "is that as soon as the networks start their rerun season people tend to repeat themselves at home and in the office and they say the same things to each other that they said during the regular TV season.

'My wife and I do that,'' I agreed. "Everyone does it. Even the President of the United States. No one thinks of anything new to say until the middle of September.'

"The TV networks have sure put this country in a rut," I said. "Of course, the news reports aren't reruns, are they?"

"WE'RE NOT CERTAIN of that," Rademacher said. "Most of the news in the spring and summer sounds like you've heard it before. I think that's why Walter Cronkite goes off the air for three months. He doesn't want people to think he's a rerun."

Rademacher said that historically spring was always the season when everyone came alive. "But since TV it is now the fall that everyone looks forward to, when the network shows blossom on the air bringing hope and joy to advertisers all over the land:

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Gen. George Brown, the brass-hatted blabbermouth who head the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has managed to insult American Jews, Israel, Iran and Great Britain in succession. He has even suggested that the constitutional right to privacy be ignored by wholesale opening of citizens' mail.

Now the tart-tongued general was vented his wrath against Congress. But the Pentagon, we have discovered, has managed to make it appear that Brown was actually praising the legislators.

IN A LONG interview last year with writer and cartoonist Ranan Lurie, Brown charged that Congress lacked the courage to stand up to the Soviet Union in Angola. Although the Joint Chiefs traditionally refrain from criticizing Congress, Brown said brashly: "We certainly didn't act that way (courageously) in Angola. You know we didn't. Congress prohibited us from spending money to provide some balance to the Soviet initiative . . The Pentagon later released a transcript of the interview, but amazingly, it quoted Brown as praising Congress. "No one involved in Congress is prohibiting us from spending money" to counter Soviet intervention, the military version Admittedly, the tape is/unclear on first hearing, as we learned from listening to it ourselves. Pentagon officials acknowledged their transcript was wrong but insisted it was only an inadvertent mistake. In the past, the loose-lipped Brown has descried Jewish "ownership" of American newspapers and banks, called Israel a "burden" on the United States, and described Britain's military as "pathetic." Brown has not heard the end of this lastest brouhaha. For Lurie, who broke many of the stories about Brown's previous insults, is now charging the Pentagon with covering up the general's attack on Congress. POWER PLAY - In a secretly recorded telephone conversation, a Federal Power Commission official has admitted that his agency is favoring Texas utility magnates at the expense of consumers. The agency's tilt, in defiance of President Carter's energy plan, could cost consumers almost $200 million by the end of the decade. Carter has urged that regional electricty systems hook up with each other. This would cut rates and save power by allowing electricty to move across state lines as the need arises. Most of Texas, however, is not connected to the nation's power system. And most of the huge private utilities in Texas want to keep it that way. The electricity moguls complain that buying new equipment for the hook-ups would cut into their profits. but they also want to avoid regulation by the FPC - which would come with a nationwide hook-up.

mission estimated that linking up Texas utilities to neighboring states could save the consumers almost $200 million in 1980. The Nixon Administration was then courting the utilities and the commission was filled with pro-industry Texans, including counsel Gordon Gooch and Commissioner Rush Moody. Indeed, Gooch now represents Texas utilities fighting the proposed hook-up. Understandably, the 1972 study came to nothing.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me if it is possible for a person to have varicose veins on the arms? - Mrs.

DEAR MRS. R.: It may surprise

You see, the Bible tells us that we are all sinners and have broken the law of God. None of us, no matter how good we may be, can claim that we are without sin. "There is none righteous, no, not one" (Romans 3:10). But God is a holy God, and He cannot tolerate sin. All of our good works - our striving to be good - will not wipe away the stain of our sin. All of our religious actions, even our membership in a church, will not take away our sin if we have never received Christ and trusted Him for

of salvation - through faith and trust in Christ. We could not save ourselves, but Christ took our sins on Himself and died in our place on the Cross. "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Romans 5:8). When we stop trying to win God's favor by our good deeds and religious works, and invite Christ into our lives, God has promised to forgive us and save us. "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Romans 5:1).

three-month period was $266,726,000 compared to $255,854,000 in 1976.

Earlier in the year, R.I. Galland, chairman of the board, had announced an anticipated decline in first quarter earnings. Commenting on results, Galland said operations improved in March but not sufficiently to offset the adverse factors

El Paso power rate increases requested

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) - designed to provide revenues Citing the effects of inflation needed to cover higher and costs, El Paso Electric utility asked Friday for rate increases averaging about 19 per cent in Texas and 33 per cent in New Mexico, effective early in June.

The applications were filed at El Paso, Anthony, Clint and Van Horn in Texas and with the New Mexico Public Service Commission in Santa

A spokesman for the company said the "typical" customer in New Mexico would receive bills about $7.66 higher each month, while his Texas counterpart would see bills rise by about $4.38 per month.

Similar rate requests were to be filed with the Federal Power Commission for higher rates on sales to other utilities, and with the Texas Public Utility Commission for sales in unincorporated areas in its Texas service area.

Reasons for the difference in the Texas and New Mexico applications were given as differences in state laws and the cost of doing business in the sparsely-populated New Mexico service area as opposed to the more densely-settled Texas area. "The new base rates are operating expenses experienced by the company since Jan. 1, 1975," said EPE President Evern Wall. "We have reached a point where we can no longer absorb the increases in prices of everything we must buy to run an electric companyy."

In accordance with Texas law, fuel charges will be excluded from the proposed base rate and will be shown as a separate line item on monthly bills.

New Mexico laws require Pay increase fuel costs to be included in the base rates, thus the New Mexico base rate would be higher, but the "adder" fuel costs would be lower.

Wall said proposed return rates of 7.5 per cent in Texas and 7.35 per cent in New Mexico are the minimums necessary for the company to attract capital for ex-

Man is responsible for protecting and conserving soil, water and other natural resources provided by God. Emphasis on that awesome responsibility will be the highlight of Soil Stewardship Week, May 15-22.

Theme of this year's nationwide observance is "When We Care." "The theme is designed to help everyone examine his own motives and actions in the conservation of God's manifold gifts," points out Dr. B.L. Harris, soil and water use specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service. The Service Extension with the National Association of Conservation Districts and Soil and Water Conservation Districts throughout the state in the week-long observance.

"At a time when pressures are growing regarding the use of our natural resources, it is vital that we reflect on our dependence on God for all things," emphasizes Harris. "We must be continually mindful of all the priceless gifts bestowed upon us by our Creator air, soil, water and sunshine which make all living things possible.

22, 1975, he said, "Nixon should do some soulsearching and tell the American people the truth." Jaworski's article in Newsweek indicates he believes the resigned president did not do so.

malpractice negotiations

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) -After making the Senate cool its heels for more than two weeks, the House has called for negotiations over the smoking medical malpractice issue.

Representatives voted 106-26 on Friday to call for a conference committee to negotiate differences tween the chambers over the Senators amended the House bill drastically before passing it on April 19, upsetting a delicate compromise between trial lawyers and several health care organizations. Most of the amendments came from the Texas Medical estimated $17,500 a year in Association, which was not a > party to the compromise. Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, the sponsor, said if the Senate changes are not removed, "we will have no medical malpractice legislation this session." One item of controversy is a Senate provision allowing judges to reduce awards in malpractice cases by the amount of money a victim might already have received from his or her own insurance.

"I hope to have it (a bill) back to the floor of the House next week," Uher told reporters.

The House passed and sent to Gov. Dolph Briscoe for signature a bill requiring insurance companies to offer "underinsured motorist coverage."

It would fill the gap between actual cost of injuries received in an accident and the amount of liability insurance carried by the atfault driver. The bill also adds property damage to the present uninsured motorist coverage.

Another major feature shifts from the policyholder to the insurance company the often impossible burden of proving whether a motorist was uninsured.

Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, beat a hasty retreat from his crusade to force the Senate to take up his property tax "reform" bill. He knocked four bills off the morning calendar of local and uncontested bills because they were sponsored by senators who had not publicly agreed to vote to

Emergency radio system budgeted for hospital

In August of '76, administrator Norman Knox of Malone-Hogan Hospital, Inc., announced the inclusion of the proposed 1977 hospital capital budget the purchase of an emergency radio system that would connect the hospital, the physician, and the ambulance by means of a direct radio frequency.

The system would allow the ambulance driver to radio the hospital that an emergency is on the way, permit the physician to give directions and prescribe treatment for the patient while en route, and would provide communication with the police and fire departments. In case of telephone service being out, the equipment would provide communication means either locally or statewide.

The Malone-Hogan volunteers have purchased this radio system for the hospital, according to Mrs. Wade Choate, president.

"As one of the regionally designated major receiving hospitals for the region, MHH would be one of the hospitals to which victims of area disaster would be dispatched," Mrs. Choate remarked. "The volunteers feel that it is important to the community and area that the radio system is made operational now in Big Spring," she added. The group was allowed to buy the equipment at the cost projected for the city-county group earlier.

Operating within the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, the radio system is a part of a program funded by federal grants. Dubbed the Permian Basin Emergency Medical Services (EMS), the five-year plan would set the scene for the implementation of a statewide program for improving emergency medical services. When completed, the

Mr. and Mrs. Loys Milstead came over from Lamesa and Wayne Cook, a retired chaplain at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, was the main speaker. He is also an exstudent of Moore.

Twila Moore recalls that she attended the school when it was first opened and it was a one-room school house that group. They keep up with went through the seventh grade. This was in 1906. She recalls that Miss Bertha Willis, sister of Mrs. teachers, and people in Florence Read, was the first teacher. There were about 25 students at that time and they walked to school from the surrounding farm area.

Some of them walked many miles. There was no law requiring the school district to get the students to school if they lived more than two miles away. It was parent's responsibility and they took care of that by "setting the kid on the road early enough to have time to

They all have a lot in common. They're not gripers. They have a good basic education. Almost all of them have good manners and a friendliness that spills

They learned their ABCs and a whole lot of basic truths in that little school in Moore. That school may have as high a percentage of turning out really fine citizens as any school around

It's a shame that it's gone but the wind whistles a little as it blows by that area and if you listen closely, you can almost hear the voices of those Moore studnets when they were young and reciting their multipacation tables and singing "America" at that little rural school northwest of Big Spring.

I drove by the area and thought about them the other and I was impressed with the fact that they are 'quality folks''. I thought about them when I was out ridin' fence.

The Steers saw all hopes of a share of the 5-A baseball crown die when they lost to the San Angelo Bobcats 2-

Despite the many special setbacks collected by the Steers, the victory would have to go to Mark Mullen, Bobcat pitcher, who ruined Big Spring's hopes for the first half title earlier in the year.

Run, Dusty, Run grabs second Seattle Slew slides in LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "It's the greatest show on earth," Karen Taylor said of the Kentucky Derby after her beloved Seattle Slew overcame a stumbling start Saturday to become the star performer.

"It looked like a typical start for Seattle Slew," said trainer Billy Turner. "He always breaks last."

And the dark bay colt always has finished first. Saturday it was by 134 lengths over late-charging Run Dusty Run. "He fell all over the place at the break," said jockey Jean Cruguet. "He didn't break too fast. It was pretty tight going up between horses after the break, but when you have a lot of horse and speed enough, it's easy.

"He rode a very, very cool race. That's the way you win the Derby,' Turner said of Cruguet, who has been criticized by some trainers and in the media for his handling of Seattle Slew, even though the Slew has never lost under the Frenchman's riding.

For a time on the backstretch, it looked as if the Slew wasn't going to fire. Turner, watching a rerun of the 103rd Derby in the Churchill Downs press box, commented, "Right here I thought that he was going nowhere. He just wasn't running

Turner still seemed flustered long after the race. He had been unable to get back to his box and had to watch it on a television set—and for part of the 11/4 miles he watched the wrong horse. "I thought he was fourth," said Turner, when actually the Slew never was worse than second. "I hit him to get him going turning for home," said Cruguet. Seattle Slew was four lengths back of For The Moment with a half-mile left. He began a drive on the turn and at the quarter pole he was a head in front of For The Moment.

At the top of the stretch, Seattle Slew put away For The Moment, drew out to a threelength lead, then held off Run Dusty Run, who finished second by a neck over Sanhedrin.

Seattle Slew negotiated the 11/4 miles on a track labeled fast in a relatively slow 2:02 1-5. Seattle Slew joined Majestic Prince as unbeaten Derby favorites to reach the winner's circle for the famed blanket of roses that shoots a horse's value into the millions of dollars.

The winner got home 134 lengths in front of Run Dusty Run. Sanhedrin was a neck further back and 31/4 lengths in front of Get the Axe, who carried Willie Shoemaker on his 20th Derby trip.

Shortly after the finish, Jorge Velasquez, who rode Sanhedrin, claimed foul against Run Dusty Run and jockey Darrel McHargue for interference in the stretch. The foul claim was quickly rejected.

Seattle Slew had trouble right at the start of this running of America's most famous horse race. He stumbled HOUSTON (AP) - Former world heavyweight boxing champion George Foreman said Saturday he is retiring from the ring because of his religious beliefs and his love for his mother.

"Because of my religious beliefs, I believe it wrong to hit and beat up on another person even if it is a sport,' Foreman told radio station KYOK.

Foreman said "it all started in Houston as a street fighter and that's where it's going to end.

"I've been lucky in the past not to have killed anyone in the ring and I thank God that I never hurt anyone seriously while I was boxing," he said.

Foreman said he had not decided what he would do in the future except that he would be engaged in religious activities

"My mother never really wanted me to fight," said Foreman, who was born in Marshall, Tex., where he now makes his home, but was raised in Houston. "She was always worried and nervous when I was in the ring about my losing or getting hurt," he said.

'And thanks to God, she will not have to worry about it any more because I'm not fighting any more. Foreman, 28, won 46 bouts and suffered two losses - to Muhammad Ali and Jimmy Young in his last fight

Andretti drives

MADRID (AP) - Mario Andretti, still flying high in the V-12 Matra-powered from his United States Ligier, took the outside front-Prix victory, Grand dominated two days of qualifying trials to take the pole position Saturday for Sunday's Spanish Grand Prix. The tough little Italo-American from Nazareth, Pa., at 37 one of the two oldest drivers on the grand prix circuit, was the only driver to get under 1 minute 19 seconds around the 15 curves on the compact 2.115-

mile Jarama track. And he did it twice in his black JPS-Lotus 77, setting his pole time in the cool of Friday morning's first session, then doing it again in the Saturday afternoon Andretti's pole time was 1:18.70, two-tenths of a second slower than Britain's James Hunt last year, for an average speed of 96.76 miles an hour.

'It was tough to get a clear run for a fast time with 31 drivers-some of them slow and careless-trying for the 24 race spots," Andretti said. "But the car is really fantastic and the whole Lotus team is right up there, high, in top form.

France's Jacques Laffite, row spot. The snarling red Ferraris of former world champion Niki Lauda of Austria and Argentina's Carlos Reutemann fought their way Saturday onto the second row of the grid for the 75-lap, 158.72-mile race.

South Africa's Jody Scheckter, who amazed the racing world by winning in Argentina, the first race for his new Wolf, was fifth fastest alongside Britain's John Watson in a Brabham. And Hunt, the reigning world champion but winless this year, could make only seventh in the new M-26 McLaren. Team boss Teddy Mayer put the 5-year-old M-23 in the garage and made Hunt use the new car. "We've got to start developing it sometime," Mayer said.

The youngest driver, 22year-old British rookie Rupert Keegan, qualified his Hesketh in 16th spot in his first championship outing since leaving the Formula 3 ranks.

The only Spanish driver to enter, Emilio Villota, qualified 23rd out of the 24 in his newlybought McLaren.

Hawg crappie

By Danny Reagan

Larry Poyner, a five-year-old local angler, was out at Lake Thomas last week with his grandmother Mrs. David Poyner, when he hooked onto a two-pound crappie off the dock

Area fishing news

He couldn't manage to land the fish by reeling it in, and he wouldn't let anyone else touch his rig, so he backed down the dock until the fish was out of the water.

This was just one of the anglers who experienced good luck at Lake Thomas last week, according to Mrs. Tidwell at the lodge

A Snyder man brought in 13 crappie between 11/2 and 31/4 pounds to lead the pack. Chick Hall of Ira took a 31/2 lb. bass on a twister, and a Post man caught a 31/2 lb. channel cat on liver.

Mike Zedlitz caught 14 of the "largest perch you ever saw" on worms, and Gerald McCasland of Big Spring landed a three and a four-pound Walleye. Richard Owens caught a seven-pound yellow cat on trotline minnows, and Wayne Henry of Big Spring took a five and a 21/4 pound black bass.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Wood of Lamesa caught a lot of crappie from ½ lb. to two pounds, while Kenneth Conner of Big Spring and Vince and Duke Hatfield of Vincent raked in 70 good crappie in two days.

Mrs. Tidwell insists that the crappie are biting very very well, and said that a lot of people are catching them on minnows.

Moss Creek

Mrs. McCain out at the concession indicated that fishing was "real good" this past week. Channel cat, walleye, black bass and crappie headline the catches.

There were several "pounders" caught in the crappie category, mainly on minnows, and a few four and five pound black bass also found an inviting hook.

The veteran fishermen still insist that there are some really big black bass in Moss Creek. Robert Lee, the academy award winner for his hot dog chili recipe, remembers seeing an 11-pound black bass being hauled out of the lake in the early ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - The bitter feud between the Kansas City Royals and the Texas Rangers was kept between the white lines Friday night and Ranger righthander Doyle Alexander mastered the Royals with junk that would scarcely break a window pane.

Alexander (4-1) allowed just six hits as Texas followed homers by Willie Horton and Bump Wills to a 5-2 victory over their Western Division rivals.

The last time the two teams met, Ranger ace Bert Blyleven was fined $500 and suspended for three days for deliberately hitting Royal catcher Darrell Porter. When Texas shortstop Bert Campaneris was hit in the leg by Larry Gura (2-1) in the first inning Friday night the 25,728 fans in Arlington Stadium began "There was no way we were going to retaliate because that was an accident," said Ranger manager

Frank Lucchesi. "We just beat their brains out on the field. There's enough hate in this world without looking for trouble...I've never looked for trouble." Lucchesi, who was called a clown (Emmett Kelly) by Royal manager Whitey Herzog in Kansas City, took out the lineup card although earlier he said he wouldn't. Herzog delegated a messenger with his card. "I had heard Lucchesi wasn't going out so I wasn't either, "said Herzog. Asked if he missed Herzog's company at home plate, Lucchesi held up a notepad in which he had written 'Whitey Herzog--no comment.' In the Kansas City dressing room, Royals heaped praise on the crafty Alexander, who signed a six-year contract for $150,000 a year in the off season after being obtained in the reentry draft. "That was Alexander the great," said Amos Otis. He mixes things up and the John Mayberry and Al Cowens timed his slow motion curves for solo home runs.

"Alexander doesn't overpower you but he's just plain stinky," said an admiring Mayberry. Alexander, who pitched for both Baltimore and New York last year, said "I think I'm pitching right now better than I have in the last three or four years. I'm getting the ball right where I want it.' Lucchesi said "I am more impressd by Alexander every time I see him pitch. He's very deceptive and tremendously hard to follow.

April is over and May is now upon us (just in case you missed it). Anyway, the weather is beautiful down here at Lake Spence, and the fishing is getting better and better. If you're a white bass fisherman, now could be your time. The whites are really biting at Spence. Jack and enjoyed bringing in 49 whites. These whites were schooling near those oil mounds on the north side of Spence. Most of the bass were caught on Hot Spots of all colors.

The catfish haven't been idle either. Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Freeman of Odessa brought in three yellow cats to 26% pounds. Most of these big cats were caught on trotlines near Yellow Wolf Creek The stripers are on the prowl, and they are biting top water baits anywhere they find them. Several nice cat-ches came from Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Landtroop of Pecos who pulled in three stripers from four to ten pounds. Larry Mason also had a nice striper weighing in at nine.

For sometime now, gripes have been heard rising from quite a few fishermen about the striper limit being too low. After all, it is very depressing to catch several nice stripers and throw back all but one.

Well, those gripes must have floated to the ears of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department because the striper limit has been raised.

That's right! Now you can catch three stripers per day and have six in your possession. This was resolved at a TP&W meeting during the middle of April and went into effect immediately (or just as soon as the lake patrols and the game wardens around the state get their official You might take this into consideration when fishing.

There are several advantages to this new limit. One obvious advantage is to the anglers themselves. Now if you catch a striper in the morning, it won't ruin your whole fishing day, because you can keep on fishing for a bigger striper than you caught earlier. This means more enjoyment for the fisherman.

Another advantage is that stripers, who mainly feed on gizzard shad, will not cause the shad population to become sparse. This will enable nature to be in better balance.

The chances for a record striper being caught by any fisherman will be raised. This is an advantage that all striper fishermen enjoy immensely.

Lindy's flight key to pioneer aviation

EDITOR'S NOTE - A half-century ago, there was a race of sorts among France, Britain and the United States to be first to fly the Atlantic nonstop. The United States. in the name of a man called Lindbergh, won. But all the world benefited, for "The Lone Eagle" and his 331/2hour flight led the way to commercial aviation and the space program.

NEW YORK (AP) -Before the heavyweight bout at Yankee Stadium, Joe Humphries, the announcer, asked the crowd of 40,000 to rise. Pointing to the sky, he asked everyone to say a prayer "for a boy up there tonight who is carrying the hopes of all true-blooded Americans." A hush fell over the stadium.

At an Iron and Steel Institute banquet in New York City, the toastmaster pointed to the American flag and said: "I am proud to live under that flag. I am thinking of a young American boy who left this morning for Paris with a sandwich in his pocket. May God deliver him safely."

Will Rogers wrote in his daily newspaper column: 'No attempt at jokes today. A slim, tall, bashful, smiling American boy is over the middle of the Atlantic Ocean where no lone human being has ever ventured before."

What limitless possibilities aviation holds when planes can fly nonstop between New York and Paris. The year will surely come when passengers and mail will fly every day from America to Europe Possibly everyone will travel by air in another 50 years.' Fifty years? That's now.

We have gone far beyond Lindbergh's early expectations, not only in conquering the seas, but space as well. John Glenn, the first American to orbit the Earth, said Lindbergh's flight "triggered aviation to what followed tercontinental travel and the space program. You need a catalyst to start anything. That's what Lindbergh's flight did."

Teen books tell of young troubles

By FLORENCE TYLER CHILDREN'S LIBRARIAN

Howard County Library is establishing a new section of non-fiction materials for young adults. It should prove to be helpful to the student working on a research paper or the young adult interested in pursuing a particular subject. These young adult books are located beside the magazines on the main floor of the library.

Here are some recent additions to this collection. "Black Holes, White Dwarfs and Superstars" by Franklin Branley is one. Though the subject is mindboggling and still vastly unsettled, Branley comes through with a clear, totally non-mathematical presentation of what is currently known about the life cycle of stars. This is a very readable book on a very complex subject.

"How to Get It Together When Your Parents Are Coming Apart" by Arlene Richards-Irene Willis explains how 18 million people under eighteen in the United States experienced divorce or separation of their parents. This book is a guide to help adolescents deal with their parents' marital problems, divorce and its aftermath. The book would also be helpful for adults that work with teenagers.

'Mom' Includes Your In-Law

DEAR READERS: Over the years I have had a recurring problem in my mail.

It may strike you as being rather petty, but it is of sufficient importance to have cropped up regularly. And oddly enough it's a universal problem, found in letters from Ireland, Italy, South America and the Middle East! Because it concerns "Mother," I've selected this letter to publish on the weekend of Mother's Day:

DEAR ABBY: I am a newly married person and I don't know what to call my mother-in-law.

I can't address her as 'Mrs. Smith" as I did before I was married. And addressing her as "Molly" would seem presumptious and lacking in respect.
She has asked me to call her "Mother," but my own mother is still living, and I would have great difficulty calling anyone except my own mother "Mother." Can you help me?

DEAR STUMPED: I think I can provide a solution to your problem, and to all others who share it, by publishing a letter from a reader who wrote to me some time ago:

Immediately my vision was broadened, and I came to understand that "Mother" applied to all women with children. That was the moment I was lifted out of the narrow rut of thinking that the title belonged only to my

I soon put this knowledge to practice. When I wanted to attract the attention of friends, neighbors or even strangers, I would say, "Mother, watch your little one!"
You'd be surprised how quickly they reacted, having been reminded that they were mothers. The title is rightly theirs, and it never interfered with the special meaning it held for my own dear mother

If we would all use the term freely, the next generation would learn from our example and thus alleviate a sticky

Clothing experts answer questions on TRIS

By JANET SARGENT, County Extension Agent Clothing experts have - and are answering - major questions posed by consumers about the now-banned TRIS finish flame-retardant fabric

Since the April 7 ban of TRIS from the U.S. market by the Consumer Products Safety Commission, consumers are asking how to make garments safe that were purchased before that Consumers can follow a specific procedure to wash the excess TRIS finish from fabric surfaces — or they can return unused merchandise still in original packages and receive a refund. Also, if they choose, they may discard these garments without fear of environmental damage. Many consumers ask if they can remove the finish with soap and chlorine

To make a garment safe — according to the Commission - consumers should wash the garment three or more times according to the recommended care instructions on the label, using DETERGENT - NOT

This removes much of the chemical from the fabric surface — and it removes the risk of illness, but it still allows the flame retardant protection to remain, Commission experts say.

Also; consumers ask how they will know if a garment is finished with TRIS. TRIS is sometimes used on 100 per cent polyester - and always on acetate, triacetate and blends of these fibers. Consumers may find out about polyester garments by asking at the store in which they purchased the garment because only the manufacturer of a polyester garment knows if it is TRIS-Many other consumers children's sleepwear, are not TRIS-finished. They have other flame-retardant finishes that have not been proven harmful.

Still other consumers ask if there is a difference between flame-resistant and flame-retardant - and the answer is "no." They both refer to fabrics that will not support a flame after the source of fire is removed.

Also, there are exact requirements for returning TRIS-finished merchandise and receiving a refund. Only garments that are in the originally purchased condition may be returned to the store where purchased.

The Corpus Christi Court of Civil Appeals said the policy was "clear and unambiguous" on that point, and the supreme court agreed without writing a new opinion of its own

To Nature Conservancy

Sandylands are donated

SILSBEE — Temple-Eastex Inc., the forest products subsidiary of Time townsield plant of in-Inc., has donated 2,138 acres of arid sandylands in the Big Thicket area of East Texas for preservation by The Nature Conservancy, a leading national nonprofit conservation group.

The tract of land, regarded by naturalists as a rich biological laboratory, was turned over to The Nature Conservancy, which will manage it as a nature sanctuary. The gift was made under the auspieces of the American Land Trust, a national citizens' committee working jointly with the Conservancy in a two-year campaign to identify and save land of significant ecological value.

Ceremonies marking the transfer of the tract were held last week on the site near Silsbee in Hardin, County. Officials from Time Inc., Temple-Eastex, the Conservancy and the Trust were joined by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson in the dedication program. Also present were members of the Big Thicket Association, which led the campaign for the protection of the arid sandylands area when it was not included in the 84,500-acre Big Thicket National Preserve, established in 1974.

The tract has been named the Roy E. Larsen Sandyland Sanctuary, in honor of the Vice Chairman of Time Inc. Mr. Larsen, who will be 78 years old next week, was one of the original members of the staff of Time magazine when it was launched in 1923. A lifelong conservation advocate, he helped form the Nantucket (Mass.) Conservation Foundation and donated large tracts to that organization and to the Connecticut Audubon Society.

Lying along the eastern bank of a sinuous 7.6 milestretch of Village Creek, the Larsen Sanctuary contains arid lands more typical of points further west. In prehistoric times the creek meandered over its floodplain, depositing sand accumulations that today sustain such desert plants as prickly pear cactus and yucca. Channels and oxbows, severed from the main stream over the years, survive in stages of "succession" - an evolutionary biological process in which the abandoned ponds fill up with organic debris and turn acidic. The three major succession stages are present in the Larsen Sanctuary: open water ponds, NEED A Comfortable used car? $1,00 ponds invaded by rushes, sages and sedges, and the stage, thick with azaleas.

AUSTIN producers continue on their livestock seesaw as latest auction sales reports show up for hogs and goats but below for cattle, calves, sheep and lambs, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today.

Cattle and calves marketed through auctions during March decreased 15 per cent from a year ago, though they were above the previous month by 18 per cent for a total of 510,000 head

"At the same time, Brown explained, "the 1,480,000 cattle being fed for slaughter market on April 1 in Texas is also down by 12 per cent, from a year ago, and three per cent from March 1.

reporting less activity both at the feedlot and auction markets, ranchers are gearing up to register for the federal research and information program referendum, scheduled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) for early summer.

"Since Texas has the largest percentage of cattle in the country, our vote in the upcoming referendum is vitally important and I hope that all producers will register and vote their convictions," Brown said.
