WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter removed Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub as the U.S. military chief of staff in South Korea on Saturday for publicly criticizing his plans to withdraw U.S. ground troops from the Asian nation.

The Pentagon announced the move after Singlaub, the No. 3 U.S. military man in Korea, met with Carter at the White House for 30 minutes.

A White House aide close to Carter said the decision to remove Singlaub from his post was taken "to make clear that this sort of thing is viewed seriously." But he refused to characterize it as a signal to the military to refrain from comments on administration policy.

"Clearly he cannot be sent back to Korea," where Singlaub was the chief U.S. military negotiator with the North Koreans, the aide said. "The incident would make it impossible to perform his duties."

Carter had ordered Singlaub home from Korea after the general was quoted in a newspaper interview Thursday as saying that "if we withdraw our ground forces on the schedule suggested it will lead to war."

The Pentagon announcement said Defense Secretary Harold Brown had directed that Singlaub "be ordered to report to the chief of staff of the Army for consideration for another assignment."

Brown said: "Public statements by Gen. Singlaub inconsistent with announced national security policy have made it very difficult for him to carry out the duties of his present assignment in Korea."

"I have, therefore, recommended to the President that Gen. Singlaub be reassigned, and with the President's concurrence, I have directed the secretary of the Army to take action to that effect."

The White House source said that "the President's basic feeling after talking with Secretary Brown and Gen. Singlaub was not without some sympathy for the man."

He said Carter decided not to formally reprimand or admonish Singlaub because "even though a mistake, and a serious one, had been made, there was not an attempt to be disloyal or insubordinate, that it was not malicious."

The source said that had Carter not spoken with Singlaub, he would have been inclined to have taken more severe steps. The source would not say what the general said to Carter to change his mind.

Singlaub, who wore his uniform to the meeting, entered and left the White House through a side door, avoiding reporters. He was not available for comment later.

An Army spokesman said Singlaub has decided to reject all requests for interviews or to make any direct comment of his own "in order to put this matter to rest."

Slick-talking Texan gives man $250,000

DALLAS (AP) — Somewhere in a Nevada mining town lives an 80-year-old man who spent 36 years of his life driving a delivery truck.

He won't tell you his name, because he doesn't want you to get too interested in the quarter of a million dollars the nice banker from Dallas gave him.

The old man didn't always think the banker was so nice. When the first phone call came, he figured the slick-talking Texan was trying to sell him some of those LTV debentures he kept referring to.

Darwin Fendley of First National Bank in Dallas was the caller, and he sensed that the old man wasn't quite comprehending. He asked if he could talk with the man's banker.

The two bankers got together, and it turned out that Darwin Fendley really is Darwin Fendley and he really is with First National Bank.

It all started in 1932, when the old man's father was given 47½ shares of the Dallas-based Great American Life Underwriters, Inc. The stock was probably worth around $200 then. It wasn't uncommon to offer such things as inducements to buy insurance policies, and that's how the father came into the stock.

When the father died in Oklahoma, the stock wasn't valued at the probate hearing.

It was considered worthless.

First National was appointed stock transfer agent in 1961 for Great America Corp.'s acquisition of Great American Life Underwriters, Inc. Great America at that time had such other little properties as Braniff Airways and National Car Rental under its corporate umbrella.

Along came LTV Corp., which bought Great America for $400 million.

LTV offered Great America stockholders a debenture deal, and First National was named liquidating trustee.

It turned out that those stockholders who couldn't be located — including the old man's father — would forfeit the money to the State of Texas after a certain amount of time.

That bothered Darwin Fendley.

"I guess we just don't like turning things over to the state," he said.

He traced the stock back to the old man in Nevada, despite the fact that corporate records couldn't provide a proper place from which to start.

"When Fendley called last December he said this would make a nice Christmas present," the old man said, quickly deciding what he'll do with his new wealth.

He's going to trade his old Pontiac in for a new one.

Bad luck, hard times

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — It probably seemed like a good escape plan as the two women inmates of the Federal Correctional Institution were climbing the 12-foot fence that surrounds the facility.

But it began to go bad last week as soon as they hit the ground on the other side.

One woman hurt her wrist. The other tore her dress going over.

Undaunted, they kept going. Crossing a nearby street, however, the pair was passed by a car containing a captain of security and a counselor from the FCI.

The officials notified police, who apprehended the duo at a drive-in theater near the minimum security facility.

The FBI said evidence about the women's escape and 25 minutes of freedom will be presented to a federal grand jury.

And the name of the movie showing at the drive-in? "Hard Times."

Thunderbirds will signal final open house at Webb

Webb AFB has a full day of activities planned for its final public open house.

The morning will begin with the arrival of the crack flying squad, the Thunderbirds, at 11 o'clock. Base personnel advise that the T-birds' arrival can be viewed from anywhere in the city, and it is not necessary to be at the base.

At noon the gates of the base will open to the public, and an hour later, the 25th anniversary observance of the naming of Webb AFB will take place at the flag pole near the main entrance.

The Big Spring High School Band will present a public concert just north of Hangar T-3 on the flight line, at 1:30 p.m. During and after the concert, visitors are welcome to browse through a variety of displays and demonstrations in the same area.

At 2:20 p.m. the presentation of colors and the singing of the National Anthem will take place. Local and visiting dignitaries will view the Thunderbird airshow at 2:40 p.m. and the airshow will officially begin at 3 p.m.

The day's activities will end at 4 p.m.

Daughter of Lt. Webb will help honor hero

The daughter of 1st Lt. James L. Webb Jr., Mrs. Karen Webb Friesen, will be on hand today as Webb Air Force Base commemorates the 25th anniversary of its being named for the World War II combat pilot.

Karen arrived Saturday evening from Freehold Township, N.J., for the special ceremony at 1 p.m. today honoring her dad. She will be joining her brother, Taylor Webb from McKinney, and aunt, Mrs. William L. (Nina Rose Webb) Walker of Levelland, Tex., who had previously indicated that they would be here.

Two large, framed portraits of Lt. Webb, one an original oil painting and the other a retouched photograph, will be presented to the two children during the ceremony. The painting had hung in the Wing Headquarters building, while the photo had been displayed in the Officers' Club. Since the base has been named for closure, the Air Force will honor the Webb family's request for the portraits.

The Century Club of Big Spring will pay the food and lodging expenses of the Webb family members while they are here.

ASIAN KILLER — This is a male and female Schistosoma mansoni, curled one inside the other, which attacks the blood vessels. It was photographed by biology graduate student Bob Miller with an electronic microscope at Texas A&M's Electron Microscopy Center at College Station. There is no known cure for this infection which GI's brought home with them from the rice paddies of Viet Nam. It is transmitted through snails and irrigation water, affects 300 million people in the world and can cause cirrhosis of the liver, enlargement of the spleen and even granulomas in the brain, kidneys and genitalia. The infection is widespread in the Middle East, China and S.E. Asia.

They take to air

with Tommy Hart

A growing number of people in the State Legislature are flying their own planes between Austin and their homes. One is Mike Ezzell of Snyder, who represents Howard County in the lower house.

Mike took his first flying lesson in February, 1975, at the Austin airport, dusting out early in the morning or late in the afternoon to benefit from the expertise of Ron Brewer.

Ezzell received his license in August, 1975, and since has logged more than 170 hours in the air. He is one-fifth owner of a Moody airplane. Other claimants to the craft are Sam Kitching, a Church of Christ minister in Snyder; Joe Jackson, Snyder First National Bank vice; Mel Gilbert, part-owner of radio station KSNY in Snyder; and Bassett Keller of the Snyder Daily News.

Although flying in and out of the Austin airport is not always easy (due to weather conditions), Mike says learning to fly was a piece of cake for him. He plans soon to start Instrument Ground School training.

The plane which Mike flies has a range of about 700 miles and he can go from Snyder to Austin and back on about 32 gallons of fuel. He fills a lot of speaking engagements around the state he ordinarily couldn't, did he not fly.

What does a legislator do when he isn't legislating? The one-time school teacher owns ten per cent of a Snyder firm called Basin Weed Control, which controls foreign plants around oil wells through the application of Soil Steriline. In addition, he directs Mike Ezzell Enterprises, which tackles repair work (including roofing). Mike's father before him was a maintenance contractor. Ezzell says there is a crying need for such services. His dad (Jim), incidentally, died two years ago in Port Lavaca, two weeks before Mike was elected to the legislature.

CEREMONY SCHEDULED — Members of 1st Lt. James Louis Webb Jr.'s family are on hand today to see Big Spring AFB renamed in honor of the lieutenant, a Big Spring native who was killed in a plane crash off the coast of Japan in 1949. Present at the May 18, 1962 dedication ceremony were Lt. Webb's daughter, Karen, and son, Taylor, (flanking speaker's stand) his mother, Rilla, and sister, Mrs. William L. Walker (at far right). Lt. Webb's son and sister are here for a special commemoration ceremony in which the family will be presented an oil painting and portrait that have hung in his memory for several years. The ceremony part of Webb's Armed Forces Day Open House and Air Show, will be at 1 p.m. near Webb's main entrance.

HARD TO RESIST — Two sugar n' spice residents succumb to an urge felt by all tadpoles across the land following a rain when they race down the gutter in front of their homes in the Kentwood Addition. No matter that they get their clothing wet in the surging water and have to listen to the preachments of their maternal parents, the fun that comes with such adventures was worth it.

Action/reaction: No swimming

Q. Are teenagers allowed to swim in the "Big Spring" in Comanche Trail Park? Last Sunday afternoon, a youth leaped from the observation tower into the pond. What can be done about this?

A. Jerry Foresyth, Assistant City Manager, said, "No Swimming" signs are posted. "If somebody dived in, they are lucky to be alive, because there is a big concrete pile under water and many jagged rocks. Anybody, teenagers or otherwise, who leaps off is crazy and does so at their own risk," he added.

Offbeat: Typist's slip

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The slip of a typist's finger made David Sosa a free man after he had served only three days of a two-year sentence for forgery.

But his freedom may not last. According to local records that accompanied Sosa to the Texas Department of Corrections, Sosa had been in jail since arrested Jan. 25, 1976. Huntsville officials gave him credit for "back time" and he walked out May 6.

It was then local officials discovered the record should have read he was jailed Jan. 25 of this year, not 1976.

"I'll file a motion for resentencing," said assistant district attorney Cass Taliaferro. He said Sosa may be ordered to be picked up by sheriff's deputies.

Young preaching change

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young laid aside a prepared text Saturday night and preached a gospel of change through economic power to an audience of South African businessmen.

"I come tonight neither as an ambassador nor as a politician, but essentially as a preacher," said Young, who is black. "In spite of the sins and injustice that engulf us, there is a tremendous need for hope and there is a longing to find a way out of the situation in which we find ourselves."

Young, ambassador to the United Nations and an ordained minister of the United Church of Christ, was interrupted three times by applause. He received a sustained ovation at the end by the 170 businessmen — most of them whites.

Young said the nation's businessmen were bringing about their own economic doom with the apartheid policy of segregation.

"If one believes in the free market system as the best means of change, one would have to include blacks in that system," he said. "And if they are not included, they would have no choice but to look to an alternate system."

He said the businessmen were isolating themselves from the economic potential of the black majority, precluding trade with developing black African nations and eroding economic ties with increasingly critical Western states.

Majority rule in the nation of 4 million whites and 18 million blacks would also put the brakes on military spending, he said.

His flying time was 42 hours and 12 minutes.

Death penalty assessed

HOUSTON (AP) — Vernon Eugene McManus, convicted of capital murder and assessed the death penalty, doesn't believe he will be executed.

"I think there will be another trial, with different results," he said. "The prosecution said they had direct evidence, and the testimony showed otherwise."

McManus commented in a jail interview Friday night shortly after a state district court jury assessed him the death penalty. The jury had convicted him of capital murder in the July 25 slaying of a wealthy Baytown couple.

Don Smith and Mark Vela, his attorneys, said there are several points of apparent error in rulings in the lengthy trial.

McManus, 34, a former area high school football star and later an assistant coach at Lamar University in Beaumont, was accused in the slaying of Paul and Mary Cantrell. The bodies of the electrical contractor and his wife were found in their home. They had been strangled and their throats slashed.

The state contended the Cantrells were killed in a scheme to collect estate and insurance money.

Paula Cantrell Derese, 27, a daughter of the slain couple, was originally charged with capital murder but pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of murder and agreed to be a prosecution witness. Mrs. Derese, who spent three days on the stand, is to be sentenced later.

"I never killed anybody, and I damned sure don't know anybody who did," McManus said in the jail interview.

He did not take the stand during the trial and he said he does not regret it.

"I didn't want to drag my family and my friends, those who count, into this thing," he said. "The state didn't show that I had done anything, and I don't have to get up there and defend myself."

He had no comment on Mrs. Derese's testimony that McManus was the instigator in the slaying of her parents.

"I'm not even going to comment on her," he said. "What can I say? To tell what I really think wouldn't help any."

His trial was originally scheduled to begin April 25 but he disappeared a day earlier. He was arrested April 30 in a Jacksonville Beach, Fla. motel and returned to Houston. The trial began May 9.

It took more than six weeks, a Harris County record, to select a jury. The panel had been selected before McManus disappeared.

'Mr. Clean' is pushing movie bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — House members tentatively approved a bill Saturday to set aside a portion of Texas' oil and gas taxes for a state savings account of nearly a half-billion dollars.

A savings account, said Rep. Lee Jackson, R-Dallas, is the only way to avoid the "constant pressure to spend every penny that we have available."

The House also approved, 123-4, a bill providing stiff penalties for anyone selling, distributing or showing movies or photos of persons under 17 engaging in or observing sexual acts.

The bill, said Rep. Ralph Wallace III, D-Houston, "is designed to prevent countless perversions or molestations of the minds and bodies of the youth of our state."

In asking Wallace a question, Rep. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington, referred to him as "Mr. Clean."

Violators could be sentenced to up to 10 years in prison and fined $5,000.

A final vote on a controversial measure creating a statewide probation system with standards and money flowing from Austin to county courthouses was postponed until Wednesday.

Also postponed — until Tuesday — was another vote on a proposed constitutional amendment to allow electronic banking. A 92-34 vote Friday was eight short of the required two-thirds approval.

Accused bank bandit jailed at Midland

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The FBI announced here Saturday it had arrested two men in connection with the robbery of the Security National Bank in Kansas City, Kan., by a man who threatened to blow up the facility with a bottle of nitroglycerin.

Paul H. Tilley, 19, was arrested May 20 by the FBI in Odessa, Tex., according to a bureau spokesman. He was being held in the Midland, Tex., city jail on a charge of bank robbery.

The other man, J.D. Clayton, 38, identified as a Kansas City, Kan., cab driver, was arrested in his hometown Saturday by FBI agents on a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the bank robbery. He was being held in the Wyandotte County jail.

Porter is currently working to organize a singing group for the church. A part-time lay preacher, Mike some day hopes to go into evangelistic work.

What inspired him to commit his life to spreading the gospel? Mike says he could see the "end in sight" and felt it was high time he started making a contribution toward the betterment of mankind.

"I did enough things in my time," Porter says.

He says he hopes that in some small way he is helping spread the word of salvation to those with whom he performs.

Other members of the Porter band playing here included Gerald Umstead, on drums; Mike Boone, base; Kirk Cummings, lead guitar and vocalist; Karen Ferguson, vocalist; and Donnie Kenney, steel guitar.

Porter, who turned to music as a means of livelihood after graduating from high school, looks forward to reading the Bible daily.

He first took up music at the age of 11. Like millions of others in his age group, he was inspired by the Beatles.

He has since mastered the guitar, the trombone, piano and organ.

For five years, he composed part of a group which provided a musical background for Miss Ford County.

DALLAS (AP) — Public hearings are to be held in Dallas Tuesday and Wednesday on proposed orders to convert major industrial and electrical power generating facilities from oil and natural gas to coal.

The hearings, to be held at the Federal Energy Administration office, will be followed Thursday with a hearing at Oklahoma City on the same issue, according to Delbert M. Fowler, regional administrator of the FEA.

"We are seeking maximum public participation in the decision-making process as we determine whether state air quality plans and other environmental standards can be met," Fowler said.

Asked if the CIA had enough civilian "oversight," Bush said he made 51 appearances before congressional committees in nine months. "(I) had oversight all over the place," he said.

"I just disagree with him (Nixon) — and anybody else — in terms of hyper-criticism of the CIA," Bush said. "The propensity in this country to tear down and nitpick at the CIA I think is wrong. I think we need an intelligence capability second to none. We've got it, and we ought not to always go around acting like it's illegal."

Police beat Joyriders abandon cars

Joyriders hit the Pollard Chevrolet Dealership, 1551 E. 4th, sometime late Friday night.

Following the report of the incident, 7:30 Saturday morning, officers located four abandoned cars "all over town," as one officer put it. The stolen autos included a 1973 Corvette, a 1976 Camaro, a 1977 Monza and a 1974 Toyota Station Wagon.

In addition to taking the cars for a spin, the intruders stole a peg-board containing the keys to 21 cars on the lot, and two license plates. These items were taken from the sales office of the dealership.

All but eight sets of keys were recovered as of Saturday night. Police have no suspects at this time.

James Washburn, 813 Creighton, reported that a burglar slipped into his home through the kitchen window and stole his wallet, Friday night.

According to reports, the intruder took the wallet from Washburn's pants while the victim slept. The wallet contained six $100 bills and two $20 bills.

Warren McCrea, 2707 Carol, reported that he removed the engine from his car early last week for repairs. He left the engine beside the Texaco Station at 1601 Marcy, but when he returned Saturday the engine was gone. Loss was estimated at $300.

Bruce Pitts, 700 Willa, reported that a woman shot out the right front tire of his car 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

According to the report, the woman drove by Pitts' home and fired the shots. Later investigation showed four holes in the tire, made by a .22 cal. weapon. Loss was estimated at $30.

A young vandal tried to break into the Boydston Elementary School, 610 E. 6th, Friday night, according to police.

The vandal broke the glass and wire mesh covering on a door to the school, and chipped the wood around the door's lock. Damage was estimated at $100. Officers are searching for a dark-haired male, about 17-years-of-age, who was spotted at the scene.

Another vandal threw a rock at a car belonging to Doyle Ray White, 1501 W.

5th, while the car was travelling on the 1400 block of W. 5th. The rock hit the left front fender, and caused $100 worth of damage.

Burglars ripped off a car stereo from an auto belonging to Gene Villareal, 105 Carey, 1:45 p.m. Saturday. The auto was parked behind the Western Auto Store. Loss was estimated at $150.

Sally D. Green, 915 Ohio, is in satisfactory condition at Hall-Bennett Hospital following a three-car crashup at 11:50 a.m. Saturday.

According to reports, Ms. Green was traveling south on Highway 350 when her car collided with a car going west on Highway 80 driven by Van Ness Baucum, Sweetwater. The Green car then careened off the Baucum car and collided with a car driven by John M. Cate, 406 Owens, which was going west on Highway 80. No one else was injured in the accident.

Eight other mishaps were reported over the weekend.

Vehicles driven by Robert N. Huijbregtse, 514 Scott, and Leslie A. Lister, Garden City Road, collided at 500 E. Goliad, 2:05 p.m. Saturday.

Vehicles driven by Jesse D. Killey, 1203 Settles, and Hugh E. Rhyne, 1313 Stadium, collided at 411 W. 4th, 2:26 p.m. Saturday.

Vehicles driven by Penny D. Huckabee, Route 1, and Robert J. Creelman, 1302 Colby, collided in the parking lot of the Sonic Drive In, 11:34 p.m. Friday.

Vehicles driven by Pedro Salazar, 1406 State Park, and Ester Flores, 606 N. San Antonio, collided in the parking lot of the Kwikie Drive In No. 1, 11:42 p.m. Friday.

Vehicles driven by Alfred V. Johnson, 1607 W. 2nd, and Richard Alcantar, 502 N. Rannels, collided at 212 N. Gregg, 3:57 p.m. Friday.

Vehicles driven by Lilia Honosos, 3500 W. Highway 80, and Weldon Wood, 2609 Wason, collided at Utah and U.S. Highway 80, 5:08 p.m. Friday.

A parked vehicle belonging to Debra D. Cox, 1903 Choclaw, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at 219 W. 3rd, 4:03 p.m. Friday.

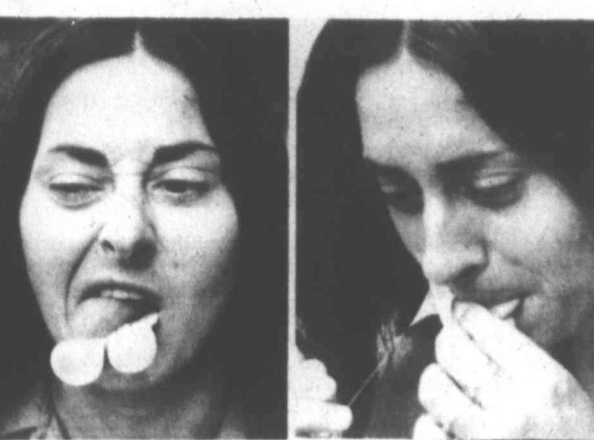

Vehicles driven by Teresa Flores, 209 N. Goliad, and Enrique M. Alvarez, Garden City Route, collided at Fourth and Gregg, 7:14 p.m. Friday.

Guitarist Porter embraces new dimension - religion

Guitarist Mike Porter and the outlaw Express performed in the Pump Room of the Mid-Continent Inn during Open House here this weekend but the 'gig' is temporary.

Head of the Lubbock musical group for two years, Mike's life has embraced a new dimension — religion.

The 25-year-old, born in Crosbyton, quit the band three weeks ago to go to work for the First Baptist Church in Spur, where Norris Taylor is the minister.

Porter is currently working to organize a singing group for the church. A part-time lay preacher, Mike some day hopes to go into evangelistic work.

What inspired him to commit his life to spreading the gospel? Mike says he could see the "end in sight" and felt it was high time he started making a contribution toward the betterment of mankind.

Asked if the CIA had enough civilian "oversight," Bush said he made 51 appearances before congressional committees in nine months. "(I) had oversight all over the place," he said.

"I just disagree with him (Nixon) — and anybody else — in terms of hyper-criticism of the CIA," Bush said. "The propensity in this country to tear down and nitpick at the CIA I think is wrong. I think we need an intelligence capability second to none. We've got it, and we ought not to always go around acting like it's illegal."

Asked about "dirty tricks," Bush replied, "When you're involved in human intelligence, you're involved in risking your life to get intelligence that some Iron Curtain country doesn't want you to have, you don't go about it by knocking on the door, saying, 'Please, sir, give us the plans on how to

Twister dips near Webb AFB

A small twister dipped into an open field near Webb AFB Friday, but did no damage.

The funnel was reported to the National Air Service at Midland Air Terminal late Friday afternoon. The tornado reportedly touched down for about three minutes in the field, and then disappeared, leaving the field none the worse for wear.

The only other manifestation of bad weather in the city was a short but intense rainfall.

Striking at different spots, the average precipitation came to about .6 inches, according to several local rain gauges.

Some reported intermittent hail, but none damaging.

In most cases, rainfall lasted only about 15 minutes, leaving the sky almost cloud-free as it departed. The skies should remain clear through Monday with temperatures in the high 80s during the day, and near 60 at night.

Skies were clear west of a Wichita Falls-San Angelo line. Winds in the Panhandle were strong, with gusts reaching 40 miles an hour.

Forecasts called for scattered showers and thunderstorms over East and South Texas, ending early Sunday. Sunny skies and mild temperatures were predicted for the rest of the state.

Marine warnings were hoisted for most of the Upper Coast, with most of the thunderstorms occurring from Palacios to Houston.

Victoria recorded more than an inch and a half of rain Saturday morning.

A New York Times writer, Jane E. Brady, identifies mental depression as the sickness of the 70s.

"The feeling is familiar to most everyone — nothing seems satisfying, things don't work out, you can't get yourself to do much of anything and your mental landscape is bleak," Ms. Brady writes. "It's called depression."

"Many things can get a person 'down,' including the weather (mid-winter doldrums are an annual event for some), the letdown after the excitement and activity of the holidays, insufficient sleep, too much work and too little time in which to get it done. The ordinary everyday 'blues' are fortunately usually brief and self-curing and, although they take the edge of life, are not terribly incapacitating."

"However," cautions Ms. Brady, "for millions of Americans, depression is a far more serious, sometimes even life-threatening thing."

"Most serious depressions are reactions to stressful life events — loss of a job or a spouse, serious financial setback, a serious injury or illness, the end of a love affair. After a reasonable number of weeks or months, most such depressions usually lift and the world and life begin to seem brighter."

"But with some people, depression is a recurring phenomenon that is provoked by events that others seem to weather with little difficulty and get over very quickly. And for others, depressions happen 'out of the blue,' unrelated to any particular situation, and totally incapacitates its victim."

Mrs. Brady says many famous people have suffered from severe depression. The problem rivals schizophrenia as the nation's No. 1 mental health issue and is currently increasing among people below the age of 35.

Some experts say the social tensions of the times — the erosion of trust, unrealistically high expectations for success, disintegration of the family, social isolation and loss of a sense of belonging to or believing in some stable, larger-than-self institution — foster a society especially prone to depression.

One of Big Spring's visitors at today's Open House at Webb AFB will be Capt. Carl Baker of Luke Field, Arizona, who is bringing along a highly sophisticated aircraft called the F-15.

Ten years ago, Baker and Miss Dana Rosene of Big Spring were featured in the Herald's Bride and Groom section. Dana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rosene of 1309 Sycamore, won't be here. She's back in Phoenix, where the past May 8 the third Baker child, son David James, was born. The Bakers also have two girls, Shelly Ann 5 and Karla Kay 2½.

The F-15 represents a $26 million investment. Last November, Carl flew one of the craft, appropriately painted in Bicentennial colors, to the Far East in an operation called Fastpac.

Carl won't linger here long. He's due to report for duty at Luke Monday morning. To put it simply, the F-15 moves with some celerity.

Theodore Spencer wrote these lines, for me and thee:

The day was a year at first
When children ran in the garden;
The day shrank down to a month
When the boys played ball.

The day was a week thereafter
When young men walked in the garden;
The day was itself a day
When love grew tall.

The day shrank down to an hour
When old men limped in the garden;
The day will last forever
When it is nothing at all.

I'll get back to you on this: One of the networks is supposed to be working on a series featuring an Alaskan sled dog and an Irish potato. It would be called "Husky and Starch." Believe.

Overtures were made to newscaster Paul Harvey about appearing as a speaker for the Texas State Teachers Association district meeting here in the fall but officials later decided to look elsewhere.

If you dance with Harvey baby now, you pay $7,500 — and the ante goes to ten big ones in November. No one is worth that, not even Billy Carter.

President Tolbert of Liberia has petitioned the Firestone Rubber Co. for grant wage increases to 40,000 employees in his country, and maybe it's high time. Firestone has been doing out $1 a day to the Liberians lucky enough to be employed by the firm.

There hasn't been a round of salary boosts within the Firestone Liberian operations since 1974 and living costs meanwhile have gone up 42 per cent.

Couldn't you describe inflation as a period when you go broke in a prosperous kind of way?

A gifted journalist once described other gifted persons as those who did something well and never in their lives felt compelled to consult anyone else how to conduct their persons.

"They possessed that one radiant qualification: the knowledge of excellence. They wrote, edited, acted, drank, sang songs, served the nation, wrote history and made enemies in their own pattern," wrote Lucius Beebe. "If anything is worth doing it is worth doing in style and on your own terms."

FROM COLUMBIA TO TEXAS
... this was Felipe's second home

He returns to second home with Tech degree

By MARJ CARPENTER

Felipe Toro came back by his second home to show off his degree from Texas Tech this week.

And for the first time, his parents came to Texas to visit him.

Felipe, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Alvaro Toro in Medellin, Columbia, earned his bachelor of business administration degree with honors at Tech.

He originally came to Texas back in 1973 and stayed as a foreign exchange high school student in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas in Big Spring.

That soon became his home away from home and when he went to Texas Tech, he came back to Big Spring regularly. Each year in the summer, however, he went home to Columbia.

His parents came to Lubbock to attend his graduation and came on to Big Spring to visit the Thomas family.

Mrs. Thomas recalled that the first night she took Felipe to Tech, he looked so forlorn that she took him back home with her and returned on the day that classes began.

Felipe now plans to attend the University of Texas and earn his master's degree in international business.

His father said, "We sent Felipe to Texas to school because your universities are so much better than ours."

The young Columbian said that what he misses most about his home town is the greenery and the high mountains. His father, however, added quickly, "But it is really pretty around here. We like it."

Felipe has three little sisters, one of whom is attending the university at home, and the other two are in high school.

Dr. Toro conducts a private medical practice and also teaches at the medical school here. He earned his medical degree in Chicago.

They also have visited extensively in the Miami and Deep South area but were on their first trip to Texas.

They said the temperature in their home country is between 68 and 82 degrees all year. "It never gets very cold or very hot," they pointed out.

He said that Columbia is even younger than America, having received its independence from Spain in 1810. Their government is a Central Unitary System with a president.

Felipe said, "They play a lot of American music in Columbia and everyone wears blue jeans there like the rest of the world."

But it's home to Felipe. And Big Spring and the home of the Thomases is his second home. When he graduated from high school here, the Thomases' son Mike, was a junior. He is now at the University of Texas which Felipe will attend next year.

Strauss among guest speakers

DALLAS (AP) — Robert S. Strauss, President Carter's special representative for trade negotiations, is to be among the guest speakers for the fourth annual International Trade Conference of the Southwest.

The conference opens Tuesday and will continue Wednesday on the campus of Southern Methodist University.

Some 400 senior level business executives from the United States and foreign nations are expected to attend the conference. The conference is sponsored by the Center for International Business.

Rail town recaptured

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — The government said Saturday a joint Zairean-Moroccan force had recaptured the strategic rail town of Dilolo and attacked the last two villages in rebel hands in what appeared to be a final drive to end the 2½-month-old war in Shaba province.

The government news agency AZAP said about 100 rebels were killed in the attacks on the mission villages of Kapanga and Sandoa. This would make it the bloodiest battle reported thus far in the conflict.

It was not clear, however, whether the villages had been recaptured by the government force, and there was no word on government casualties.

President Mobutu Sese Seko announced the capture of Dilolo, on the Angolan border about 200 miles west of the Shaba copper-mining center of Kolwezi. Dilolo was the first major town overrun by the rebels after they invaded from Angola March 8.

Mobutu did not say whether there had been any fighting in retaking the town. Sandoa is about 80 miles north of Dilolo and Kapanga about 70 miles farther north.

The government reports could not be confirmed because foreign reporters have been barred from covering the war firsthand.

In Brussels, Belgium, a spokesman for a group claiming to speak for the rebels said he had not received word that Dilolo was recaptured but that even if it had been lost, "the struggle will continue."

Mobutu expressed his pride and great satisfaction for the courage and spirit of sacrifice with which the joint Zaire-Moroccan forces fulfilled their mission in retaking Dilolo.

Some observers said the invaders in Dilolo may simply have returned to Marxist-governed Angola. The rebels, believed to consist mostly of Lunda tribesmen from Shaba, have tended to avoid contact with the strong government force as it pushed westward across southern Shaba in recent weeks. About 1,500 troops had been sent from Morocco to reinforce the Zairean army.

The invasion and the counter-offensive followed the route of the Benguela railroad, which runs through Dilolo and carried Shaba copper ore to the Angolan coast. It has been closed since 1975, when Angola's civil war began.

The invaders were believed led by separatists who fought an unsuccessful war in the 1960s to make Shaba, then called Katanga, independent from Zaire.

Remnants of that force, led by the late Moise Tshombe, slipped across the border to Angola at the end of the war and the Portuguese, who then ruled Angola, allowed them to remain.

Family news editor for Herald named

The position of family news editor for the Herald has recently been filled by Susan Hampton, a May 1977 graduate of Texas Tech University.

Miss Hampton succeeds Jo Bright, the former family news editor for the Herald.

During her senior year at Tech, Miss Hampton worked as a reporter for the Texas Tech student newspaper, the University Daily.

Subjects which she studied while at Texas Tech besides her major subject of journalism included political science, English, philosophy, economics, advertising, public relations and German.

Miss Hampton is from Houston, where she attended elementary school, junior high school and senior high school. She graduated from Westbury High School in Houston.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Hampton, reside in Stafford, Tex., a small community near Houston.

Miss Hampton is a member of Kappa Tau Alpha, the national mass communications honorary society, Sigma Delta Chi, the society of professional journalists, Women in Communications, Inc. While at Tech she was also a member of Women's Service Organization, a group which assisted the university and Lubbock community in various duties.

SUSAN HAMPTON
Miss Hampton finds Big Spring interesting and says she is looking forward to being an active member of the community.

When the CB radios spoke British

Imagine five young men from London suddenly tossed into the rather quaint culture of West Texas for six weeks.

Drinking Dr Pepper for the first time. Arguing about who talks funny. Leaving one of the world's most populous compact areas for a land with room to roam.

Charles Beil, president of First Federal Savings and Loan, said that five English visitors on the Rotary Group Study Exchange had an experience when they first arrived in West Texas that went something like this:

THE ENGLISHMEN and their hosts were traveling down a broad plains highway convey-fashion with the Texans drawing into their CB radios. There are no CBs in England, so naturally, the British guests were curious, and soon they were talking to each other over the radio in their very non-CB London accents. Suddenly, a Texas trucker broke in on the channel and exclaimed, "Mercy me, my Japanese radio is done speaking British."

The five men from London spent four days in Big Spring with families from the Big Spring Rotary Club. The host families reported to the club last Tuesday on how their visits with the Londoners went.

Builder Jerry Worthy, who coordinated the Big Spring stay of the five, said his English guest reacted to the Frost-Nixon interview in much the same way Americans did: "He wanted to see it, but he didn't want to. He wanted to talk about it, but he didn't want to."

One of the Englishmen had telephoned his family in London from another town, and the visitor's wife also talked for a few minutes with the Texas hosts. When she got back on the line with her husband, she asked,

"They don't really talk that way, do they?"

Attorney Bob Miller said his house guest had commented on the pride in the community and pride in themselves which West Texans have. He said he felt the exposure of West Texas ideas and values would have an effect upon the visitors.

Pharmacist Jimmy Anderson said that his guest couldn't believe that Americans would eat something like pancakes for breakfast. Anderson said that after comparing the two health care systems, he was convinced the United States should not want to change.

RALPH MCLAUGHLIN, a Big Spring businessman and a former Rotary district governor of West Texas, told how his house guest had requested, only that he not be served Mexican food. McLaughlin said the young man explained that on his first night in Texas he had eaten a pepper without knowing what it was.

McLaughlin told Big Spring Rotarians that he was gratified by participating in this group study exchange program since it had been under his term as district governor that the plan had been launched to exchange groups between West Texas and London.

Under the group study exchange program, only the sponsor is a Rotarian. The rest are young business and professional men who Rotary feels will benefit from learning about another country. The Rotary Foundation pays for the travel expenses, and the local Rotary Clubs bear the rest of the expense.

"If Rotary did not do one other thing," McLaughlin said, "the Rotary Foundation alone is justification enough for this organization."

The big race

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The TV network sports departments were trying to think of a new sports event which would capture the imagination of the American people — and also bring in $120,000 a minute in advertising.

ONE OF THE producers said, "I've got it. What about a race between a hare and a tortoise. It's never been done on television before."

"That's it," said the network vice president. "It's a natural. We'll make it bigger than the Kentucky Derby."

The producer went to see the manager of a hare. "We'd like your boy to race against a tortoise on prime-time television. We're willing to put up a prize of $150,000 winner-take-all."

"It sounds interesting," the hare's manager said. "But my boy isn't going to compete against a tortoise on TV for winner-take-all unless he gets a guarantee of $50,000 if he loses."

"Naturally," the producer said. "We wouldn't announce a winner-take-all event unless the loser was guaranteed a purse."

The producer signed the hare up and then went to see a promoter of tortoise races. The promoter said, "I've got 10 tortoises you can pick from."

The producer said, "We want a champion tortoise who has won his last 10 races."

"I've got one," the promoter said. "He's working out in the Everglades now, but he should be ready by next month."

"How do we know he's a winner?"

"HERE'S HIS RECORD in Tortoise Track Magazine. It's the official book for all tortoise racing throughout the world, and no one has ever questioned it. What's the purse?"

"We're offering $150,000 winner-take-all, with a guarantee of $50,000 to the loser."

"We'll do it provided we keep the advertising rights to the tortoise's back. I think we can sell them to a tire company."

The producer and promoter shook hands on the deal.

Then the promoter went over to a swamp near Kennedy Airport. There were several tortoises snoozing in the sun. "Anyone want to race a hare on television?"

Not one tortoise looked up.

"Listen, there's $150,000 in it for the winner and $50,000 for the loser."

A tortoise peered out of his shell. "That's not bad."

The promoter said, "My share will be 80 per cent, win or lose."

"That's a lot," the tortoise said.

"You want your big chance on TV or don't you?" the promoter said. "I know a hundred tortoises who would give their tails for this opportunity."

THE TORTOISE SAID resignedly, "Okay. Anything to get out of this swamp."

Once the contracts had been signed the network flacks went to work promoting the event.

The buildup was unbelievable. By the evening of the race, which was held in the capital of Zaire, 60 million people had tuned in for the "greatest sporting event in television history."

Howard Cosell and Eddie Arcaro were sent over to do the commentary. Howard and Eddie both agreed there was no question in their minds that the hare would easily win.

When the gun sounded, the hare took off and led by 3,000 lengths.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL BROOKS

HOME REMEDIES

Most of the communities around where I grew up were about as shy of doctors as they were of skyscrapers and consequently, most "doctorin'" was done in the home, usually by a granny or neighbor who had the knack for it. Home remedies were traded or passed around freely whenever anybody had a need. Just about any kind of affliction could be treated with some concoction whose ingredients could be found in most homes. Things like coal oil, epon salts, turpentine, baking soda, castor oil and certainly of no little importance — whiskey.

Other items good for curin' were found in the fields and pastures if one knew where to look and what he was looking for. Various roots, barks, leaves, saps, and berries as well as some types of clay could be made into medicines. It was common knowledge what was good for curing but if you were in doubt you could always ask around. Chances were you'd get several different answers for one particular ailment but shux, people now-a-days like to get more than one medical opinion.

There were remedies for nose bleed, warts, whooping cough, sneezing, sleeplessness, belly ache, diarrhea, fever, biliousness, constipation and bedwetting, all-be it the remedies were sometimes harder on a person than the affliction. For example, a person who was tired, weak or pale was sometimes treated by drinking water that had set for several days with nails in it. Supposedly the rusty water contained just the right thing to perk a person up and make him strong.

Something I remember all too well was the fact that everytime I would fuss with my brother or sister or was grouchy I was sure to get a dose of sirup of pepsin. Seems a person's attitude is linked somehow to his bowels and naturally when one is stubborn the other will be too. Anyhow when I heard the words "sirup of pepsin" my attitude immediately became more tolerable.

Many households had a big illustrated medical book. Just about all pertinent medical knowledge was housed therein, a ready reference as to the cause and cure of any ailment. The book was usually kept high on a shelf in the closet, out of reach of children who might look at the illustrations and see something they shouldn't. The books were sometimes obtained free when you subjected yourself to a five-year subscription to some farm magazine but they could also be bought by mail order.

Some people swore by certain remedies while other people died by those same remedies. Lots of folks believed like one man in our community who said, "Brother, when it comes your time to go you're goin' an' there ain't no amount of medicine gonna keep you here."

But I'm glad I live only a short distance from fine hospitals, doctors and drug stores and don't have to depend upon coal oil and turpentine to keep me well.

Heart pacemaker interference rare

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you print something about pacemakers? I have one and am very careful of electrical appliances because I'm told they can interfere with their working. How dangerous are appliances? — M.K.

The potential for interference from electricity was recognized soon after pacemakers came into use. There have been relatively few documented cases of serious interference, however. Modern units are great improvements over earlier ones, and new safety requirements make them effective instruments for control of heart rhythm problems.

Still, users are wise to be aware of potential problems. The most publicized source recently has been the microwave oven, which is becoming almost a common household appliance. Leakage can occur around the doors, so warnings are displayed prominently.

Other possible sources of electromagnetic leakage are the diathermy machines (for deep heat). They should be kept at least a yard away from the pacemaker. Surgical diathermy (the burning needle), the X-ray machine, high energy radios and television and radar devices are other possible sources. The proper grounding of any electrical device is always important.

If you are concerned (as you should be) consult with your cardiologist. He knows the track record of the type of the device you have. Some are more resistant than others, depending on age and manufacturer.

But by and large, problems with the pacemakers have been rare, making them safe and valuable instruments.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm interested in cholesterol and its relationship to my angina pain. I guess I'm one of the few remaining butter freaks. But I'm told the cholesterol in butter makes it a no-no for me. What do you say? I am 41 years old. Also, I'd like your cholesterol booklet. I'm sending 35 cents to you in care of The Big Spring Herald along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope. I hope it says I can continue using butter. — Mrs. T.R.

You're in for a disappointment. Butter contains saturated fats, the kind that are sources of cholesterol. Oleo contains the other kind of fat (unsaturated), which is not high in cholesterol. If your angina pectoris can be traced to arterial deposits (which it often is) then cholesterol reduction is in order for you.

The odds are that if you are a butter lover you also favor other no-no foods, so the booklet may be a source of still other disappointments. In fact there are pages devoted to dietary do's and don'ts.

Also, don't think that angina is as simple a matter as eating high cholesterol foods or not eating them. It may require a changed lifestyle at the table and away from it. I really think you should be getting some guidance about that as much as about cholesterol, so I'm sending you the angina booklet as well.

Dar Dr. Thosteson: Is vitamin B-6 good for arthritis? From some material I've read it seems to be. If it isn't why should anyone be allowed to say it is? — Mrs. P.C.

Because good nutrition is good for anything that ails you, including arthritis — and vitamins are a part of good nutrition. But read on.

Vitamin B-6 is also called pyridoxine. Its main role is helping the body use protein from food. It is readily available in even a modest diet — from meats, wheat, corn, yeast, eggs, milk, vegetables, and other foods. You can see that deficiencies are not common.

A lack can be associated with alcoholism or use of certain drugs, notably some of the high blood pressure medications (hydralazine) and others used in T.B. (isoniazid). There is also an uncommon situation in which the vitamin is not properly absorbed from the gut.

Except for these exceptions there is no need for supplements. It will do nothing for your arthritis, which, as I've said a hundred times, cannot be cured, only controlled.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know this may sound silly, but I would like to know what you think of the craze of citizen's band radios. I have heard some pretty bad things over my husband's set, and wonder if they are evil. — Mrs. C.W.

DEAR MRS. W.: I have a radio in my car, and I often find it of great use in keeping me in touch with some of my associates. These radios, like many things that technology has given us, can be used for good, or they can be used for wrongdoing. Think of radio in general. A radio station can broadcast a false view of life, yet the same apparatus can be used to send the gospel into countless homes. Incidentally, I have read of some Christians who have used their CB radios to witness for Christ to those they have contacted.

The thing that is sinful is not the instrument, but the person behind the instrument. Paul said, "I know, and am persuaded by the Lord Jesus, and there is nothing unclean of itself" (Romans 14:14), but he went on to say that some things can be stumbling blocks to some people if they are used in a selfish or sinful manner.

There is another thought to ponder about the CB craze, however. I think it points out the loneliness of many people today, and the fact that people want to reach out and have personal relationships with others. A radio is a poor substitute for a true friendship, but many see it as better than nothing at all. Maybe it should remind us of the many lonely people around us, and challenge us to be friends to them for Christ's sake. In that way we can point them to God, who is "a friend that sticketh closer than a brother" (Proverbs 18:24).

Ex-Herald women's editor, Candy Smothers, who celebrated her birthday Wednesday on Bourbon Street in New Orleans, asks:

"To finish the session on schedule, it's said members of the Texas Senate may have to work overtime. Does that mean as many as eight hours a day?"

A civil liberties group says Texas sends too many people to jail. Its answer is to free more of them... but hasn't anyone thought of fewer crimes?

Ex-Quanah quiller Troy Bryant, who is observing his birthday today and plans to enroll May 31 at Howard College, insists:

"There is still some feeling that school pupils should be protected from cruel and unusual punishment... like homework."

I think it was Sissy Mann who declared:

TENNIS IS ONE of the toughest sports to learn. The forehand and backhand aren't so hard, but many of us never get used to shaking hands with opponents who have clobbered us.

Proof-positive Sitty Landers provides the quote of the week uttered by singer Loretta Lynn:

"It sure is nice to have a President who don't speak with an accent."

I was dumfounded when Senate Republicans indicated they knew the difference between "profits" and "windfall profits."

GOPers are having trouble putting their energy act together. GOP plan calls for oil price decontrols but doesn't say how fast, seeks "windfall tax" on oil company profits but doesn't say what kind of tax, awards tax breaks for energy savers but ducks penalties for energy hogs.

Republicans give no estimate of their plan's effect on consumer pocketbooks. Overall philosophy is that government ought to let oil companies solve problems through free market system.

Price gouging

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — In supermarkets across the country, shoppers are spending more for groceries and enjoying it less. For the giant food chains tend to choke off competition and drive up prices.

A congressional study has found that food prices are higher in cities dominated by the supermarket chains. They jacked up prices at least $662 million in 1974 — a practice the study calls "monopoly overcharges."

But the study, based on subpoenaed confidential data, stopped short of naming the food chains responsible for the price-gouging.

THIS IS AN oversight that we are now able to rectify. The Joint Economic Committee described the price climb, for example, in "a highly concentrated Eastern city."

The city is Washington, whose food sales are dominated by four large chains: Giant, Safeway, A&P and Grand Union.

Together, they control 76 per cent of the grocery business in the Washington area. This near monopoly has stifled competition, the study contends. As competition has been shut out, the supermarkets have quietly raised prices. The study charges that in 1974 excess prices hit $83 million.

The committee also cites southern cities, which have identified as Raleigh-Durham, N.C. Four major food chains — Winn Dixie, A Colonial and Kroger — control 61.3 per cent of the market. This has resulted in higher prices, the study says.

In a West Coast city that we are told is Seattle, Safeway holds an overwhelming 26 per cent share of the market. The Safeway chain, together with Albertson's, dominates the food business in Seattle, according to the committee. This has contributed to above average prices.

In contrast, the top four chains in St. Louis — Schnuck, Kroger, National Tea and A — control less than 50 per cent of the market. The extra competition, suggests the study, has helped to prevent prices from skyrocketing.

The food industry has taken vigorous exception to the committee's findings. The study relied on "limited data," failed to take into account differences in costs and income in different cities and "sharply contradicts a study by the Dept. of Agriculture," a spokesman for Food Marketing Institute told our associate Larry Kraftowitz.

CONGRESSIONAL SOURCES insist, nevertheless, that the study relied on "the most comprehensive data ever made available to any researchers." Dr. Willard Mueller, who directed the congressional study, told us: "The findings provide strong evidence that 'monopoly overcharges' are likely in markets where sales are highly concentrated among a few large firms."

The trend toward market domination, meanwhile, has alarmed congressional investigators and

Cotton planting in full swing

COLLEGE STATION (AP)— Warm, open weather in most sections caused Texas crops to make good growth during the past week. Cotton is squaring in South Texas, sorghum is heading and corn is tasseling. Cantaloupes, watermelons and peaches are also ripening in southern sections, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Good weather has also allowed hay making to get into full swing in numerous counties, with a good harvest in prospect. Alfalfa harvesting is also increasing in the Plains and West Texas.

Wheat harvesting is in full swing in southern sections and will begin in North Central Texas and the Rolling Plains in the next few weeks. Yield prospects are good to excellent.

Cotton planting is in full swing in the South Plains where field conditions permit. Continued scattered rains over the area have caused some delays in field work. Sorghum planting is also active where fields are not too wet, noted Pfannstiel. Cotton planting is far behind schedule in the Rolling Plains due to wet weather, and some replanting is still being done in the Central Texas Blacklands.

Peanut planting is active in many counties but only limited acreage has been planted in central and north central areas due to continued wet fields.

Livestock conditions are continuing to improve over the state as grass growth has been good due to favorable moisture conditions. Spring calf crops have been good in most areas and market prices have started to strengthen, said Pfannstiel. Reports from district extension agents show the following conditions.

PANHANDLE: Moisture is still short in western counties. Wheat is headed out and maturing. About 20 per cent of the sorghum crop has been planted, and up to 30 per cent of the cotton is in in some counties. Rains in eastern counties have caused delays in planting. Sugar beets and potatoes are making good growth.

SOUTH PLAINS: Cotton and sorghum planting is increasing although scattered rains are keeping some fields too wet for planting. Corn planting is about complete. Wheat is maturing and a good harvest is in prospect. Onions, potatoes and sugar beets are making good growth.

ROLLING PLAINS: Sorghum planting ranges from 25 to 45 per cent complete in most counties but cotton planting has barely started due to wet weather. Wheat is moving toward maturity, with yields up to 40 bushels per acre in prospect. Some harvesting should begin in about two weeks. Hay harvesting is active, with most of the oat crop being cut for hay. Some fruit trees with a heavy set are beginning to shed some of the crop.

NORTH CENTRAL: Cotton planting has been active where field conditions have permitted; about 80 per cent of the crop is in. Corn and sorghum are doing well. Wheat harvesting will start in two to three weeks; some oats are being cut for hay. The pecan crop looks good, with spraying about to start for casebearers. Pastures continue to improve.

NORTHEAST: Corn and sorghum are making good growth. Planting of soybeans, sweet potatoes and peas is in progress. Wheat and oats have generally been grazed out. The first cutting of hay is under way. Cattle are gaining weight.

FAR WEST: Cotton planting is in full swing, with early fields making good growth. Wheat and oats are maturing. Alfalfa yields are good. Onions and cantaloupes are making rapid growth. Some pastures and ranges remain below average due to lack of moisture.

WEST CENTRAL: Small grains are maturing and a good harvest is in prospect.

Most sorghum has been planted and is off to a good start. Cotton planting has been limited due to wet fields. Peanut planting will begin soon. The Gillespie County peach crop looks good.

Ranges are in good shape and are producing plenty of grazing.

CENTRAL: Soil moisture is plentiful in most counties, with wet field conditions delaying such operations as haying and cultivation. Corn and sorghum are doing well but some cotton is still being replanted due to recent heavy rains. Small grains are maturing rapidly and the crop looks good. Livestock have good grazing but are being bothered by a heavy population of face flies.

EAST: Peanut planting is active while corn and sorghum are making good progress. Most oats are in the soft dough stage. The first cutting of hay is in progress. Early peaches are being harvested. Scab disease is appearing in some pecan orchards. Pinto beans are in the snap stage. Livestock have plenty of grazing.

SOUTH CENTRAL: Cotton, corn and sorghum are making good growth. Wheat and oats are maturing. Some vegetable gardens are coming into full production. The pecan crop continues to look good, with spraying under way for casebearers. Some hay is being harvested. Pastures and ranges are average.

SOUTHWEST: Wheat harvesting is in full swing, with yields above average. All crops look good and are making normal progress. Early peaches are ripe, and peaches are making excellent growth. Ranges are in exceptional shape and all stock looks good. Sheep shearing is about complete.

COASTAL BEND: Rains have slowed harvesting of oats, wheat and flax. Cotton is squaring, sorghum is heading and corn is tasseling. Peanuts are coming up slowly. Some hay making is under way, with fair yields. Range and livestock conditions are good.

SOUTH: Harvesting of squash, cabbage, carrots and onions remains active. All crops are making good growth, with cotton squaring and sorghum heading. Watermelons and tomatoes are ready to harvest in Brooks County. Peaches are being harvested in Duval County and cantaloupes are about ready to harvest in Starr County. Livestock conditions are improving.

Scientist evaluates nematode control chems

LUBBOCK — High Plains cotton producers faced with the task of controlling those tiny, wormlike plant parasites known as nematodes now have some hard facts on which to base their decisions.

An evaluation of two chemicals used in nematode control by an Agricultural Research Service — USDA scientist shows one results in higher cotton yields over the other.

Dr. Dalvin Orr, nematologist based at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, says many growers in the last two years have turned to using a granular-type systemic pesticide known as aldicarb, trade-named Temik, favoring it over a conventional soil fumigant known as DBCP (Nemogon, Fumazone).

Reason, he says, is that aldicarb is easier and less costly to apply since it is placed in the seed bed during planting. DBCP, on the other hand, requires a pre-plant application which means additional labor, fuel and time, but is less expensive to buy. It is injected into the soil as a liquid and diffuses as a gas.

Orr says that as fuel and

Wind erosion damage cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — This season's wind damage to land in the Great Plains probably will be the fifth worst since federal records began in 1935, the Agriculture Department reported today.

As of April 30 some 7,042,389 acres were damaged by wind in 10 Great Plains states, more than two-thirds of it in Colorado and Texas, the department's Soil Conservation Service said.

The damage, the worst in 20 years, occurred during the first six months of the seven-month wind erosion season which began last Nov. 1 and ends on May 31. A year ago, after six months, 6,044,352 acres were damaged.

Land is considered damaged by wind if enough soil is removed or deposited on it to cause a further erosion hazard or impair its capacity to produce crops.

According to USDA records, the damage is already the most since more than 10 million acres were stripped in 1956-57. During several years of the mid-1960s, losses were near or above that mark, peaking at more than 15 million acres in 1954-55.

Although another month remains in this wind erosion season, recent rains in much of the Great Plains along with spring plant growth have lessened the possibility of further widespread soil loss.

The agency says it has no figures to illustrate the percentage of land represented by the wind erosion in the 10 states. But in at least a few counties in eastern Colorado, Texas and other states the damage has been relatively widespread.

In addition to land damaged by wind, the report said more than 10.5 million acres were "in condition to blow" as of April 30, a decline from nearly 13 million on the same date of last year.

The report also included some revisions for land previously reported damaged.

A month ago, for example, the USDA agency said that nearly 6.8 million acres were damaged through March of the current wind season. The latest report revised the damage as of March 31 downward to 6,343,409 acres, nearly half a million less than previously reported.

According to agency records, the 7,042,389 acres damaged so far this season ranks behind: 15.8 million acres in 1954-55; 10.3 million in 1956-57; 9.8 million in 1955-56; and 9 million in 1938-39. The agency has no official comparable record of wind erosion damage prior to 1935-36 when it was 4.8 million acres.

Officials said that wind damage this season has been worse than last year in Colorado, Texas, North Dakota, New Mexico and South Dakota. There has been less in Kansas, Nebraska, Montana, Oklahoma and Wyoming.

Wind erosion damage to land since last Nov. 1 through April 30, compared with the same six months of last season, was: Montana 256,623 and 879,254 last season; Nebraska 298,580 and 346,147; North Dakota 582,600 and 220,050; South Dakota 467,203 and 416,677; Wyoming 13,180 and 21,080.

Also, Colorado 2,371,430 acres and 866,815 last season; Kansas 310,750 and 904,288; New Mexico 500,850 and 285,525; Oklahoma 161,820 and 605,872; and Texas 2,079,353 and 1,498,644.

Beef exports discussed

Congressman George Mahon, 19th District Representative, met recently with Ambassador Robert Strauss, the President's Special Trade Representative, to discuss strategy for increasing U.S. beef exports to Japan and other countries. Also attending the meeting were Representatives Jack Highower and Bob Krueger of Texas.

"The High Plains is one of the largest beef-producing areas in the United States and we must work actively to develop 'better' foreign markets," said Mahon after the meeting.

Ambassador Strauss, also a Texan, agreed with the Texas group that greater stress should be placed on agricultural exports and that early fall.

Presently the U.S. has about 12 per cent of the beef import market in Japan and Japanese import quotas prevent more American beef from being sold in that country. U.S. beef can be shipped to Japan and sold to the Japanese consumer at $10 to $15 per pound for choice beef. "It is important we push for a greater share of this highly desirable market," said Mahon.

Ambassador Strauss reported in the meeting that he had had two discussions in recent months with Japanese government officials on the subject of beef imports and that President Carter had discussed the problem with Japanese Premier Fukuda when he visited Washington recently.

'Buffalo Bill: The Legend of the Westerner'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A colossal monument will be hoisted upright outside the National Cowboy Hall of Fame here sometime in the next few days.

It depicts one man who took the American West around the world and honors all who dared to seek new lives on the frontier.

The bronze equestrian statue of William Frederick Cody — a scout and showman better known as "Buffalo Bill" — may be the largest free-standing sculpture west of the Mississippi.

"At least I don't know of any larger besides Mt. Rushmore," said Dean Krakel, managing director of the hall. "And I've seen about all of them."

Krakel, along with Oklahoma City sculptor Leonard McMurry, 63, is no stranger to huge monuments. The two teamed earlier to bring the massive "End of the Trail" sculpture to the hall, which is owned by 17 Western states.

The "End of the Trail," by James Fraser, is 18 feet tall and occupies a space of honor at the hall. Described as the Pieta of the American West, the imposing plaster is a monument to both the nobility and tragedy of the American Indian, Krakel says.

The 33-foot tall bronze entitled "Buffalo Bill: The Legend of the Westerner," will be the capstone to the 12-year-old hall's development. It will rise more than four stories atop a natural stone and bronze base.

Encircled by fountains and lighted from below, the

HC offers welding courses

Howard College has been notified that it has been approved by the Texas Education Agency for a grant in excess of $15,000 to conduct classes in auto mechanics and welding for the educationally deprived adults who are in need of skills for gainful employment. Those completing either of these programs will have had the basic skills for entry level employment.

The two courses will be offered beginning Monday through June 30. During this period the students will be attending classes and receiving lab instructions for 24 hours a week and will work on the job 16 hours a week. They will receive pay for the on-the-job training, and if they qualify for the CETA program will also receive compensation for the classroom hours. In addition, the grant will pay all the students' tuition, fees and related costs.

Adults who do not have a high school diploma and who are wanting to update educational and job skills are invited to call Dr. Bobby Wright's office at Howard College for more information or to register for the course. All students must be registered by 8:30 a.m. Monday.

Ample job opportunities are available for those completing the course. Certificates of completion will be awarded at the end of the 6 weeks period.

The automobile mechanics course will be taught by John Freeman, with the aid of a lab assistant, Joe Hernandez, who is a graduate auto mechanics student. The course will cover the basic fundamentals of auto mechanics.

The welding course will include the basic fundamentals of welding of both gas and arc welding.

Memorial Day mail schedule

The U.S. Postal Service will operate on a normal holiday schedule on Monday, May 30, in observance of Memorial Day.

No residential, business or rural delivery will be provided. No window service will be provided. Lockbox and caller service is dependent on local customs and conditions, but generally is limited to distribution to main post office boxes. Special delivery service including delivery of perishables and holiday collection service will be provided as usual.

rearing horseman with rifle brandished upward will be visible for miles. On a hill, it will tower above U.S. 66, which provided latter-day pioneers an easy access to the West.

"He is beckoning — the opening of the west," Krakel says. "Hell, no one had that charisma, that thrill, that dash. He is a universal symbol of the West. He is the idea Europeans still have of the West today."

Krakel conceived the idea of such a statue years ago, he says, but the actual project took form only after he saw a late night rerun of a 1944 film about Buffalo Bill. It starred Joel McCrea, former Cowboy Hall of Fame board director, in the title role.

The statue is actually a likeness of McCrea as the famous westerner. McCrea will be inducted as one of the handful of living honorees of the hall when the statue is formally unveiled June 19.

McMurry, a small man with an easy smile, took on the project without hesitation. "It's just a matter of a little more time and a little more money," he says. "No job is too big."

But the cost of the huge monument was a matter to deal with, Krakel says. After a 30-inch plaster model of the work was displayed, two members of the hall's board of directors agreed to share the cost of the project.

Krakel says that cost has climbed to about $250,000.

Mrs. Nona Payne of Pampa, Tex., and Jasper Ackerman of Colorado Springs, Colo., agreed four years ago to finance the bulk of the work.

Then, McMurry set out to finish details of the monument, which he said was calculated to "look impressive on the hill and make a nice silhouette in the sky." An eight-foot plaster casting was enlarged to a full-sized plaster cast — more than three times larger. Then, at a foundry in Italy, the final bronze casting was done.

The 19-ton monument was sliced into five pieces for ship transport. It was unloaded in Houston and trucked to a spot in back of the hall about three weeks ago.

But Krakel says the most difficult portion of the trip may remain. A crane will be brought in to hoist the statue and transport it the several hundred feet to its final destination.

"That is something I really want to see," says McMurry.

Webb firemen douse Borden County oil field flames

Webb AFB firefighters are credited with helping save some valuable energy substance Tuesday night when they responded to a plea to put out a fire in the Borden County oil field.

Deputy Fire Chief MSgt. Dennis Garland and his crew took the base's 1,500 gallon water tanker and the Chief-2 pickup to the fire which was fed from a blowing valve on pipelines at a pumping station.

Adding to the hazard were two 10,000 gallon storage tanks nearby which were half full of crude oil. The site was about two miles from the area where a Webb T-37 had crashed about a year ago, 37 miles north of here.

"Mostly, we gave advice to the AMCO people, using their own equipment," said Sgt. Garland. The foam they took was not needed as they used water and dirt to block off and put out the fire.

Other Webb firemen on the crew were SSGT. James N. Hone, Steve Dick and Lionel Rogers. The fire had been burning about two hours when they got there at 6:30 p.m. and it was completely out by 9:30. The crew returned to Webb at 11 p.m.

The call for help came from Joe Nelson Jr., area manager of operations for AMCO in Snyder. He was referred through the City of Big Spring and Howard County in accordance with a mutual assistance agreement worked out with the base.

President's instant registration slapped

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — If President Carter's proposal to adopt "instant" registration for voting in Federal elections is approved, it is a good guess it would not be long until it applies to primaries.

The conduct of elections in the States is not the business of the Federal Government. The President's proposal would eliminate any pre-registration to vote. A person would simply need to walk into a polling place on election day and present some form of identification to be able to vote. What this form of identification is, no one yet knows, but it certainly could not be made foolproof. At this very time, false identification used in various forms of fraud is a serious problem. It is estimated that the use of false identification costs the American taxpayers $10 billion annually in cases ranging from welfare fraud to illegal immigration. There seems to be no problem at all in producing any kind of required identification. There would be no problem in producing the same to vote although such an elaborate effort would probably not be necessary. The theory behind the no pre-registration proposal is that many citizens are prevented or discouraged from voting by restrictive registration laws. The concern of low voter turnout is understandable. Only 53 per cent of electorate bothered to vote last November.

It does not follow, however, that universal registration means universal voting. According to surveys, only 2 per cent of last November's non-voters listed registration as the reason they failed to vote.

Texas Electric Service Co. reached another milestone in its fuel changing program last week when a third lignite-fired power plant began commercial operation.

After several weeks of successful test operations, Unit 1 of the Martin Lake Steam Electric Station began generating up to 750,000 kilowatts of electricity on a full-time basis.

Eventually there will be four identical generating units at Martin Lake, making it the largest power plant in the state. The plant's total cost will be almost $1 billion.

Martin Lake is part of Texas Electric's program to reduce its use of high-priced natural gas in favor of less-expensive lignite and nuclear fuels.

"Building these new plants costs a lot of money, but to keep using natural gas would cost our customers a whole lot more," Texas Electric President Bill Marquardt said.

It would take 126 million cubic feet of natural gas everyday to generate as much electricity as the new Martin Lake unit will put out. "This lignite unit saves a lot of gas for the country and a lot of money for our customers," Marquardt said.

Martin Lake is owned jointly by Texas Electric, Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light — all subsidiaries of Texas Utilities Co.

Martin Lake Unit 1 rises some 24 stories above the East Texas piney woods near Henderson. Its giant stack towers more than 40 stories. Stretched out beside Unit 1 in descending stages of completion are units 2, 3 and 4.

Surrounding the units on three sides is the 5,000-acre lake which provides cooling water for the plant (and the site of a new state park). To the east of the plant stretch 20,000 acres of land owned or leased by Texas Electric and its sister companies.

Beneath that land — 30 to 160 feet deep — is the fuel that will be producing electricity into the next century. That fuel is lignite — a soft, brownish-black coal.

The power plant's appetite for the lignite is ravenous. When all four of Martin Lake's generating units begin operating at full load, they will burn more than a ton of lignite every two seconds. (That's four tons of lignite in the time it takes to read this paragraph.)

The mining operation necessary to feed that appetite is a fascinating combination of engineering and brute strength. An enormous dragline with a boom the length of a football field and a housing the size of a gymnasium removes the dirt above the lignite in 130-ton bites.

For obvious transportation reasons, the 6,000-ton dragline is delivered from the manufacturer as an enormous "kit" and is assembled on-site. The overgrown erector set sells for $8.7 million.

A brigade of comparatively small machines works quickly around the giant dragline like pilot fish around a whale. But even these machines are hardly small.

Down in the trench a shovel scoops up lignite 16 cubic yards at a time and loads it onto huge truck-like "haulers." The haulers carry their 100-ton loads to a train which carries the lignite the 12 miles to the plant.

Meanwhile, other machines shape the refilled trenches back to the land's original contour, fertilize and seed it back to productivity.

The mining operation goes on 24 hours a day, seven days a week just to keep the single generating unit supplied with lignite. A whole new set of mining equipment will be added as each generating unit is completed.

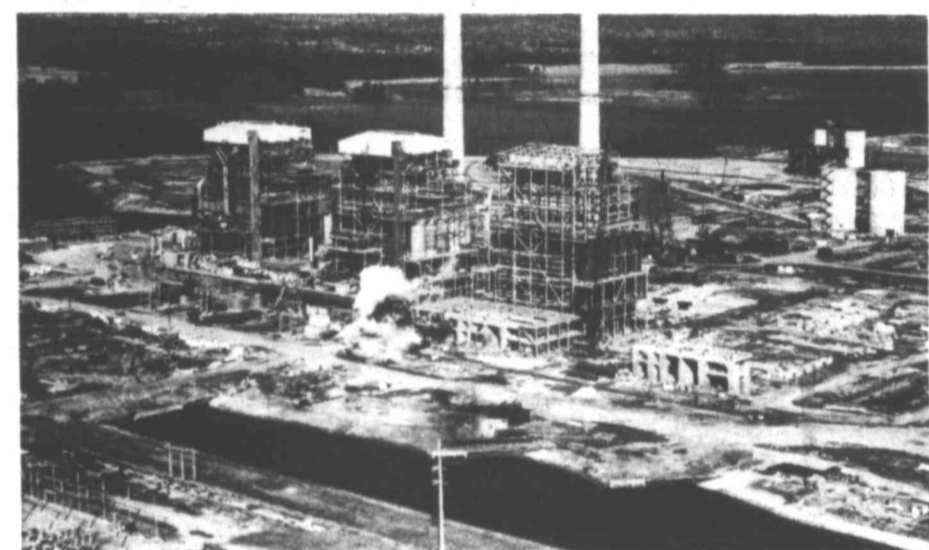

With the completion of Martin Lake Unit 1, the TU companies have five lignite-fired generating units operating at three sites. Another five lignite units are under construction, including the three at Martin Lake. The companies are also building two nuclear-powered units at the Comanche Peak plant near Glen Rose.

Texas Electric will spend more than $600 million over the next three years on construction.

"Our rates are going up largely as a result of building these lignite and nuclear plants, but rates would be even higher if we were still clinging to this sky-high natural gas," Marquardt said.

"We generated 28 per cent of our electricity with lignite last year. If we had generated that electricity with natural gas instead, it would have cost customers $8 million more."

Firm plans to construct gas transmission line in Texas

Perry Gas Transmission, Inc. 215 West Wall, Midland, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Perry Gas Companies, Inc., announced today its plans to construct a major gas transmission line from the eastern portion of the Texas Panhandle to the north Texas area.

The line will be designed for a maximum capacity of 215 MMcfid when compression is added, and will represent an investment of $41,000,000. Also, according to Charles R. Perry, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Perry Gas Transmission, Inc., a contract has been executed with United Texas Transmission Company and others, for the sale of over 600 billion cubic feet of gas to be delivered through this line over the next ten-year period.

Under the terms of these sales agreements, arrangements have been made for temporary delivery of the gas within 30 days. Perry Gas Transmission, Inc., has tentative commitments for up to 250,000 acres acquisition program from newly developed leases in the eastern portion of the Texas Panhandle.

The line will originate the Lipscomb, Hemphill, and Gray counties, Texas, and will run due south to a point in Nolan County, where the gas will be delivered to others.

Also, according to Perry, arrangements have been completed for financing the construction of this line through a private placement of debt and equity issues. Survey for the line will start immediately, and it is contemplated that the construction can be started

'New' gas mystery

HOUSTON (AP) — Oilmen are puzzled by the definitions for "new" natural gas as proposed in President Carter's energy package.

They contend the definitions are so restrictive many bright prospects for new gas reserves would never be explored. Most such prospects, they contend, would lack economic incentives in that they would not qualify for the "new gas" ceiling price.

Objections to the definitions have been placed before the house Subcommittee on Energy and Power by representatives of the natural gas supply committee, an organization of major, independent and individual gas producers.

David H. Foster, executive vice president of the group, said those who drafted the definitions totally ignored the geological, engineering and economic realities of the industry.

"If one had set out to fashion a provision calculated to discourage exploration activity and to minimize the already speculative chances of success in wildcat ventures, one could scarcely have done a more thorough job," Foster said.

C.M. Allen, a Phillips Petroleum Co. geologist who has been working with the industry committee several years in a technical capacity, agreed.

"These types of restrictions in the bill make no sense from a geological or an economic standpoint," Allen said.

Allen added that the bill now before congress has many other definitional criteria that would greatly complicate its administration.

"The administration of these criteria, both within the regulated companies and within the regulating agency, would be a total nightmare," he said.

Allen said the Carter bill would restrict the "new" price for offshore areas to leases issued after April 20.

"The bill would assure that there could be no supply response in this area for at least 3 1/2 to 5 years after the first lease sale due to the long lead time required to explore and develop new prospects," he said.

For onshore wells, the "new" price would be restricted to discoveries that are 2.5 statute miles or more by surface measurement from any old well or that are 1,000 feet or more deeper than any old well.

Allen said the probable category of potential supply yet to be discovered was estimated recently at 215 trillion cubic feet. This includes potential new supply to be developed from the growth of known gas fields and new pools discovered by further exploration associated with existing fields.

"The administration bill would foreclose the bulk of this gas from qualifying as 'new natural gas' because of its proximity to production," he said.

Allen said the 1,000 foot or greater depth requirement would apply only if a discovery is not from the same producing zone as any old well within 2.5 miles.

A "producing zone" is then defined as a geological formation having common characteristics "whether or not there is communication between the portions thereof."

Allen said a literal interpretation of that definition would seem to foreclose all gas from qualifying within a 2.5 mile radius of an old well.

"All formations which produce crude oil or gas have at least two common characteristics," he said. "They must have porosity and permeability in order to contain and produce oil and gas."

Allen offered the definition of "surface measurement" as an example of nightmare situations he believes the regulatory agency would encounter.

The definition: "the term 'surface measurement' means the distance at mean sea level between the points at which vertical lines, drawn through the nearest points of any two (well) completion locations, would intersect the surface of the earth at mean sea level."

"It is not hard to imagine the chaos and uncertainty that will result in drawing the needed circles and lines required to ascertain the eligibility of a new gas prospect for the new gas price," Allen said.

Sacroc scheduled for data scanner

SNYDER — A computerized monitoring and alarm system will soon be scanning production data at the large West Texas oil field here known as Sacroc and alerting field operators when anything goes wrong. It will not only be the latest in oil field surveillance systems, but the largest of its kind in the country.

The system, expected to be completed in September, will replace one that is outdated, can't be expanded to handle changing field conditions and poses parts replacement problems. It will not only feature data storage and retrieval at a central location, but an electronically synthesized voice that will be able to inform field operators by a radio of the nature and location of any difficulties in the far-flung oil field.

The field operators, for their part, will be able to radio the system for assurance that all is well and to hear answers to any of 124 questions they may wish to ask about current production conditions.

Del Clement, staff electrical engineer in Denver for Chevron U.S.A.'s Central Region, said many benefits are expected. Operators will have to spend less time making the rounds of the oil field and checking randomly for trouble. Quicker information and response will forestall lost production and will enhance environmental protection. More reliable production information will be retained.

Production people have to be continually advised of field conditions, not only to correct problems but to measure well outputs, allocate pipeline shipments and monitor the complex water injection and collection systems. Sacroc's new system will measure field-wide performance swiftly and efficiently. A backup computer will take over if the first falters.

Sacroc is an acronym standing for Scurry Area Canyon Reef Operators Committee. The acronym dates from unitization of the field in 1954 when companies decide to coordinate production. Chevron, the field's largest interest-holder at 18.4 per cent, became the operator.

D-FW boom triggers investors crash landing

EDITORS NOTE: It would be, they said, the world's biggest airport, surrounded by hotels and restaurants and industry and fine homes. It triggered a land boom of staggering proportions. The stakes were high, the action fast. Some won. Most lost. Others are still playing. Now the airport is there, but the trappings are conspicuously absent. A look at Airport '77 and the illusion surrounding it.

By MIKE COCHRAN and TOM DE COLA

Associated Press Writers

GRAPEVINE, Tex. (AP) — On the night of Sept. 21, 1973, the movers and shakers of North Texas gathered to toast the symbol of a new era: the mighty Dallas-Fort Worth airport.

The mood was euphoric as trumpeter Doc Severinson's horn sounded a clarion call for the good times, a launching of an economic boom.

Tom and Ruth were not invited, but no matter. When the ultra-modern airport opened four months later, they expected to prosper along with everyone else. It was boomtime.

The black-tie revelry saluted an airport, but it represented much more.

This was not just another airport. This one, they said, would trigger an unprecedented land and industrial boom. It would bring new restaurants, hotels, shopping centers, light industry and teeming warehouses.

New cities would spring up and existing communities would expand and flourish. Dallas and Fort Worth would truly become one mighty Metroplex.

New people, new money. They would pounce on the land around the airport and transform it. They would turn the gentle, empty landscape into a prosperous spread of freeways and buildings.

Tom and Ruth wanted a piece of the action, and so did those with larger, even enormous amounts of money to invest.

Like hundreds of others, the couple took their life savings—in their case, $20,000—and answered the siren's song of the real estate syndicators.

D-FW Airport land speculation was the hottest game in town, if not in the entire country, and both high and low rollers were playing it.

It would cost Tom and Ruth their money, their marriage and more.

"Tom was reluctant," a close friend in the real estate business explained recently. "But everyone was doing it and everyone was making money. We watched land jump from $1,000 an acre to $5,000, then $10,000, $20,000 and even $30,000."

"They expected to double their investment in less than a year," the friend said. "Nobody thought it would end."

But it did end, a victim of recession, greed, miscalculation, inflation and perhaps in isolated cases, fraud.

All those factors created what was in the end an illusion.

For Tom and Ruth, the venture ended in debt, despair and divorce. Tom suffered a heart attack and died. Not unlike many others, they had caught the speculative roller coaster on the downgrade.

Now, with the airport a reality, one looks back in bewilderment and wonders what happened. How? Why?

John Kidd, Dallas real estate investor: "I call it the Greater Fool Theory. Everybody got into the game, thinking a greater fool would follow who would pay even more. What brought it down was we ran out of fools ... we woke up one day and there weren't any new people in the pot to play."

Ken Good, Dallas financier: "It was greed and horrible judgment more than outright fraud. You had people not qualified to sell a pair of shoes selling million-dollar pieces of land."

Bill Thompson, Dallas real estate broker: "It was just basically a fever."

A $2 million investor: "It was disenchantment with the stock market and the oversupply of investment firms and funds and the greed to get rich quick."

Whatever, one burned investor put it this way:

"We all got so greedy and mentally distorted that we committed a lot of money based on rumors. Everybody was affected. I felt like I had to edge up to that wicked mistress."

"I was fascinated by it. Anyone who buys and sells land couldn't help but be fascinated by it."

Another: "I've never seen anything like it before. It was an illusion. I bought an illusion ... but my losses were no illusion."

In September 1973, Dallas realtor Henry S. Miller Jr. prophetically observed:

"I continue to be concerned about the amount of indiscriminate land speculation taking place in the major metropolitan areas of Texas served by our offices."

"We must keep reminding ourselves that it is people who use land, and therefore people make land value."

From the opulence of his 30th floor office, overlooking much of the Dallas landscape he helped shape, Miller looked back on the airport land boom and said:

"Even though I foresaw this and predicted this (the decline), I was not immune ... We did get caught up in the hysteria. We did not always follow our own convictions."

"It was only a question of time until the bubble would break."

Historically, he had observed, "periods of intense land speculation run their courses, and whether the end of such periods finds the last price paid for land too high depends on what the user can afford to pay for it at that time."

For the most part, the airport debacle consisted mostly of speculators selling to other speculators, syndicates selling to other syndicates.

Legitimate "users," such as developers and industries, were turned off by artificially inflated prices.

Thus, to this day, land that once changed hands 10 or 12 times, that escalated from $2,000 an acre to $30,000 an acre, is back in the hands of the original owners, mostly farmers.

"You can drive right next door to the airport now and there's still people farming it. When you think of how much money changed hands ... and the best, most productive use of the land is still to raise cows, it makes you wonder," said John Kidd.

"I don't know of any other experience like this in history. It is one of the few times I've ever seen the very best miss by 100 per cent."

"To this day, in many instances, there's not a cloud of dirt there that has been seven or eight years ago. Nothing happened. It was an illusion."

It's generally accepted that "airport land" comprised about 100,000 acres, half of which was not owned by developers and therefore available for speculation. At an average cost of $8,000 per acre, the land speculation game was played in a $400 million ballpark.

Ken Good, whose ambitious Metroplex office park-hotel complex fell victim to a cutoff in financing, said the whole thing was a "horrendous experience."

"I sold my house, hocked my car and fought like hell to survive for two years."

He survived. Many didn't. Among the most active in the land activities was real estate broker Horace Vail of Dallas, who traces the phenomenon back to Feb. 28, 1967, when former Gov. John Connally signed a bill allowing creation of the airport authority.

Vail said an estimated $56 million in cash was paid to landowners of the original 17,500 acres on which the $700 million airport new lies.

Those landowners, many of them farmers, opted to escape the capital gains tax and pumped the money back into land around the airport perimeter, triggering the boom.

The market was further accelerated by the "syndicates" or "syndicators," who pooled money from large and small investors to buy specific tracts of land.

They were, of course, "betting on the come," gambling mostly with other people's money that the land would escalate in value and could be resold quickly at a profit. The Greater Fool Theory?

"Then the big money started coming in," Vail said, "but they based their evaluations on fictitious values."

Finally, there emerged the real estate investment trusts, called REITs. REITs operated much like mutual funds, permitting the public to buy stock in speculative ventures.

Sponsored normally by banks, insurance companies and real estate firms, REITs contributed to the "unwise spending," said Vail, lending money on false values.

Thus the stage was set for disaster.

The economy turned sour, a mixture of inflation and recession. Interest rates rose dramatically, contributing to a collapse of the money market.

The run of foreclosures and bankruptcies began.

"Foreclosures triggered a shutoff of lending—100 per cent," Vail said. "It shut down as fast as I've ever seen anything shut down."

He said two sources for buying property totally disappeared: "The small investor couldn't borrow to turn over to the syndicators, and REITs cut off loans because of the foreclosures."

The syndicators, he said, "disappeared like flies, and it snowballed from there. Most of the real estate brokers who syndicated went broke...the people who got out early made money, big money. The people who got in late, after 1972, all lost money."

Land that had risen from $3,000 or so an acre rose to $25,000 and higher, plunged below its original level and, said Vail, "Even the real knowledgeable people got burned."

As Millard and Bob Dilg, of Dilg Properties in Grapevine, said: "There had been so much PR about the airport that selling land was almost like selling pancakes."

The ads in the official commemorative dedication program in 1973 were predictably upbeat and fanned the fires of speculation:

From a real estate company: "It's the largest airport in the world and around it lies 'Sleeping Giant' of exciting land potential."

From a development corporation: "Our latest property, the Hilton International opens in late 1974. It will serve as a major accommodation to the New Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport." The hotel has yet to be built.

From an insurance company: "The Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, largest in the world, is a symbol of the tremendous growth of the entire Southwest Metroplex. And there's more to come. As a result of this ultra modern facility, established businesses and industries will prosper, new ones will emerge and more families will make their homes here."

From a regional marketing organization: "Dun & Bradstreet reports that only New York and Chicago have more million dollar companies than Dallas-Fort Worth. The airport can only accelerate this trend."

Whether the circumstances that caused the boom and bust were cosmic coincidences that can never be repeated may be open to question.

Land prices around the airport are becoming more "realistic," the new players say. There is fresh optimism, but the pace now is slower and more cautious.

It's become a "users" market more than a speculative endeavor.

"I don't suppose the people in this area would go through that again," said one investor. "Syndicates are dead," echoed another.

"I don't think it's going to happen again real soon," a realtor said. "A lot of people did lose a lot of money. They should have been concerned with what the true value of the land was and what the use was going to be."

Said Bob Dilg: "If you can't build anything on the land, you can't use it."

Although one investor noted ominously that "the sharks and barracudas are moving back in," Kidd said:

"We went 'way up and 'way down. We played a game that was totally an illusion. But it looks now like realism has set back in."

"We're back where users can find attractive locations to buy at a price they can afford to pay. They couldn't do that during the height of our madness."

Isaac Hayes rich, poor

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — One-time soul music king Isaac Hayes says he doesn't have enough money to provide for his family, but he admitted in court his week that his children occasionally take a limousine to school.

The admission came during a hearing Thursday in U.S. Bankruptcy Court where the Academy Award-winning singer and his wife, Mignon, filed a petition last year listing debts of $9 million.

Under questioning by a lawyer for Union Planters National Bank, Hayes said his only income was from friends and his business managers.

"The money was given to me to survive," he said. "Money for food, for a place to live. To pay utilities and for transportation and transportation sometimes includes having a chauffeur-driven limousine to take my children to and from school."

Hayes said he and his family, including four children, are living in a one-bedroom "bachelor pad" he owns.

Band members elect officers

Blane Hinton was elected new president of the Big Spring Steer Band and was announced at the annual banquet held Saturday night at the high school cafeteria.

A Good Old Days theme included early baby pictures of band members blown up to poster size in the decorations. The first edition of "The Pride Drive Press" was distributed and included announcements of the band appointments for the coming year.

Hinton, who has lived in Big Spring since the sixth grade, began his band career at Runnels and made honor band in the seventh and eighth grade. He also has been in honors band in high school. He also serves as drum major.

Other candidates for president were Lynn Peach, Jennie Speegle and Mike Tarleton. The drum majors will again be Hinton and Debbie Shroyer, head drum major.

The twirlers are Anita Butler, head; Cindy Cowan and Shonna Garrison. Campus Revue production assistants will be Kim Andrews, head and Mike Tarleton, assistant.

The Silk and Rifle captains

BLANE HINTON and his baritone horn are Paul Ruiz, head and Scott Vick, assistant.

Other new officers are Mark Key, vice president; Denise Young, secretary; Kim Andrews, treasurer; Jerry Clayton, junior representative and Scott Shortes, sophomore representative.

Members of the recruiting committee are Melody Dabney and Twayne

Bledsoe, chairmen along with Toni Myrick, Denise Young, Gilberto Chavez, Kim Andrews, Russell Burchett, Mark Key, Carl Condray, Benny Bradberry, Kent Cook, Rodney Young and Anita Butler.

Section leaders include flute, Jennie Speegle; double reeds, Angie Fulgham; clarinets, Paul Ruiz and Jim Griffin in marching season; low clarinets, Cheryl Gillenwater; saxes and woodwind, Lt. Gilberto Chavez; cornet and brass, Lt. Alan Bristol; horn, Debbie Chroyer; trombone, Larry Wheat, baritone and tuba, Kim Andrews and percussion, Lt. Bruce Ziman.

Banquet chairmen next year are Jim Griffin and Linda Thames. Bus captains include Bus 1, Shroyer; Bus 2, Ziman; Bus 3, Sheila Crockett; bus 4, Vick and Bus 5, Bledsoe.

Uniform committee includes Carl Condray, head and Jerry Clayton, Cindy Rudd and Gloria Hammon.

The public relations group is headed by Angie Fulgham, and Joe Edwards, Scott Vick, Larry Wheat, Tammy Collier, Paula Little and Susan Bristol.

The art committee includes Jennie Speegle, head and Toni Myrick. Joe Edwards, Sherri Rogers, Susan Bristol, Debbie Butler, Lisa Griffice, Johnnie Blalack, Paula Witte, Teresa Strowd, Debby Thompson, Nancy Porter, Joni Jones and Rhonda Ray.

APPRECIATIVE OF RECEPTION — When the Rip Griffin complex held an open house here this weekend, among greeters of the public were the five people pictured above. From the left, they are Mr. and Mrs. Rip Griffin of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Taylor and Tommy Reed. The Griffins own the truck terminal building, which includes a restaurant and a western clothing store. Tommy Reed will manage the complex. The new Mid-Continent Inn adjoining the truck stop, formally opened Saturday, is managed by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. Griffin said he was impressed by the reception he and his coworkers received here.

Neil Diamond's performance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Neil Diamond, who wrote and performed such hit songs as "Solitary Man" and "Cherry, Cherry," has completed a drug education program to which he was sentenced after his arrest on marijuana charges about a year ago.

Municipal Court Judge David Percy said Friday that Diamond's performance in the course satisfied the terms of the sentence.

Diamond, 35, once attended New York University as a premedical student on a fencing scholarship. He was assigned last November to the program after he elected not to go to trial.

By STEVE COWLEY
As this is the last column of the year, I would like to go back and capsule this year's events at Forsan High. This has been one of Forsan's most outstanding years ever as far as both team and individual awards. Football: Forsan's football team this year was the best team our school has fielded in many a year. The team piled up a 12-1 record, and allowed only 13 points to be scored against them all year. Forsan went all the way to the state quarterfinals before bowing to Groom by one point in a wind-blown contest. Alan Hollandsworth placed on the Second All-State Team.

Awards assembly Slated Tuesday

Mr. Sides presented deserving students with band jackets. Band camp scholarships were given to deserving band students. The John Phillip Sousa Award was given to the most outstanding high school band student. Also awarded to high school band members were the Distinguished Musician's Certificate and the Louis Armstrong Jazz Award. The Distinguished Musician's Award was presented by the United States Marines Youth Foundation and by the National Band Association. The Louis Armstrong Jazz Award was given to high school stage band members. Senior band members received senior band pins. The Director's Award was given to the most outstanding junior high band member. Fourteen songs will be performed by the three bands. A special vocal number was performed by Robert Williams, Kathy Woolverton, Robby Ruppard, Mike Henry, and Jay Phinney. They will perform "Can't Get It Out of My Head" by the Electric Light Orchestra.

Goliad Outstanding students are presented awards

By HELEN HICKS
During an Awards Assembly Friday, the American Legion Award was presented by Dr. Halvard Hanson to Jon Manley and Deanna Carlile. This award recognizes high qualities of courage, honor, leadership, patriotism, scholarship and service. Jim Freeze was recognized as the outstanding band student, while Carrie Hayes, Mark Warren, Charlotte Beil and John Little were named outstanding choir students. Other recognition went to Rosa Dunn for physical education and to the cheerleaders, Charlotte Beil, Tori Knight, Debbie Fulcher, and Pam Carey.

Students must turn in all books and pay all fines by May 26 or their report cards will not be mailed to them. The Runnels and Goliad bands are having their swimming party from 5:00 to 7:00 at the City Pool Monday evening, May 23. There will be an Art Exhibit Monday during the advisories in the Visual Aides room. Sculptures, textile designs, printing, drawings, and ceramics will be exhibited. The exhibit is open to the public. The Goliad Student Council has purchased doormats to place at the front doors of the school. Since the mats will not arrive for a few weeks, they will be presented to Goliad next year.

STATE PROJECT — Big Spring High School woodworkers had a student win a first place at the state meet. Craig Wyrick, 1st year woodworker, won first place in his division with the entry of a butcher block table and benches at the Texas Industrial Arts State Competition in Waco.

Local youths will travel to Austin

Six youths from the high school in the county will attend the American Legion Boys' State June 8-14 in Austin. The group includes Donny Knight, Del Poss, Kenneth Coffee and Ricky Torres from Big Spring High; Ronald Roberson, Forsan; and Bobby Dunn, Coahoma. G. Roscoe Cone, chairman of the committee for the local region Post 355, announced the delegates. Sponsors include the Coahoma State Bank, Forsan Oil Well Service, the State National Bank, and Morris Robertson Body Shop. A chartered bus will pick the delegates up in Big Spring early June 8. Registration is that afternoon at the University of Texas.

Megaphone page to stop

This will be the last Megaphone page for this school year. The page will continue to run next fall and all correspondents will be contacted at a later date.

Band: The band just continued what is becoming a tradition in Class B band competition.

The band just continued what is becoming a tradition in Class B band competition. I don't think there is a Texas music educator who will quibble with the fact that Forsan is the best Class B band in the state. The band took its fifth straight sweepstakes trophy, and qualified seven members to travel to the state solo and ensemble contest, which will be held on the 30th of May. Good luck to the participants!

Graduation practice will be held on June 23

Graduation practice will be held on June 23 at the high school. It will cost $20 per course for three periods a day. Some of the courses are: English 1-3, government, health, American History and World History, fundamentals of math and introduction to Algebra I.

Taxpayers will pay millions

Harassment suits pile up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Improper government spying and harassment, much of it during the Nixon administration, is the basis for more than $1 billion in damage claims from individuals asserting that their rights were violated.

It will cost the taxpayers millions of dollars just to provide the lawyers to represent the government and the present and former government officials named as defendants in the 143 civil suits, the General Accounting Office said Saturday.

The GAO, the congressional auditing agency, conducted the study for the House Government Operations subcommittee on government information and individual rights. The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., made the report public.

The report provides the most complete list of lawsuits growing out of the Watergate era and disclosures of improper and sometimes illegal spying and harassment by the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency.

Some of the cases, such as the Socialist Workers party's $40 million suit against the FBI and other government agencies, have been widely publicized but others are less well known.

The Justice Department represents the government whenever the government is named a defendant in a civil suit. In most cases, the department represents present and former government officials sued for actions they took in the course of their jobs.

But when those actions are the subject of a federal criminal investigation and there is some evidence the official may have committed a crime, the department pays a private attorney to represent the official in the civil case.

If the official is charged with a crime in that case, the department will not represent him or pay for his own lawyer in the civil suit.

The department also calls in private lawyers when there's a possible conflict of interest if government attorneys represent several defendants with different interests.

The GAO report said that, as of Sept. 21, 1976, the department had paid $440,000 to private lawyers in seven cases arising from the harassment and spying campaigns. This includes fees to two law firms representing four FBI men sued by the Socialist Workers.

The government is paying private lawyers for these other officials:

—Former CIA Directors John McCone, Richard Helms, James Schlesinger and William Colby and several other ex-CIA men named defendants in a suit brought by Grove Press Inc. The case involves the CIA's Operation CHAOS to gather intelligence on political dissenters in the United States in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

—Helms, Schlesinger, Colby, other ex-CIA men, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, and former officials of the Postal Service in a $120,000 suit filed in Rhode Island by a citizen complaining of Operation CHAOS.

—McCone, Helms, Schlesinger, Colby, Mitchell, and former postal officials in a class action suit filed in California by a citizen. This involves the CIA's mail-opening operations.

—Several military officers named defendants in a $1.6-million suit brought by the Berlin Democratic Club, alleging that the Army wiretapped telephone conversations and opened private mail to spy on the club in Germany.

—Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, defendant in a suit filed by one of his former aides, Morton Halperin, whose home telephone was tapped when Kissinger and Nixon were trying to find who was leaking information to the news media.

The court last December ruled that Mitchell, Nixon, and his one-time chief of staff, H.R. Haldeman, must pay damages but found that Kissinger and other defendants were not liable.

Knotty pay raise question

AUSTIN (AP) — Compromise talks began Saturday on differences in the House and Senate versions of a bill to operate Texas' public schools the next two years.

In a surprise move, House negotiators were bound to seek a statewide property board that would head efforts to determine and equalize property tax values in each school district. Senators vote 16-15 against the proposal on Friday.

"This is the only way we are going to get any accurate figures on property taxes for the next legislative session that we can use to distribute state funds to these school districts," said Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, originator of the motion.

Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, argued against the motion saying the instruction to conferees would leave the House conferees with "their hands tied behind their back . . . you need flexibility to negotiate."

An effort to defeat Peveto's motion was defeated 72-61.

The 10 men named to find a compromise to one of this session's toughest issues were: Reps. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo; Jim Kaster, D-El Paso; Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville; Hamp Atkinson, D-New Boston, and DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, and Sens. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas; A.M. Aikin, D-Paris; Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena; Grant Jones, D-Abilene, and Max Sherman, D-Amarillo.

The Senate passed Friday night, by 28-3, an $820 million school financing bill that was a rewritten version of the $695 million school finance bill passed by the House.

The Senate version included $335 million in teachers' pay raises while the House passed a separate $373 million pay bill.

In passage of the Senate bill numerous amendments were made to the original $820 million package recommended by the Senate Education Committee.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, committee chairman, said at least four votes were changed to oppose the committee plan by the vigorous lobbying that went on Friday by school administrators and the Texas State Teachers Association.

Mauzy contended the amendments tended to favor richer districts and those that are not making maximum tax effort.

Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, succeeded by 19-12 vote in reducing the statewide gross local fund assignment of school districts from $562 million to $492 million. The local share, divided up among the state's almost 1,100 school districts, would be $343 million in the House version.

Mauzy claimed Jones' amendment would insure that those districts "making the least tax effort" would "get twice as much help as under the committee plan."

Another Jones' amendment, adopted 17-14, slashed the committee's proposed $248 million for equalization aid to poor districts to $108 million, about the same as the House version. Equalization would go only to districts with less-than-average wealth. Additional bonus aid would go to the 25 per cent of the poorest districts.

The Senate refused, 16-15, to put back in the bill a state property tax board, similar to one approved by the House. Sen. A.M. Aikin, D-Paris, said senators would have a hard time explaining to local tax boards why a state board was needed to supervise them.

Under the pay raise portion of the bill, beginning teachers would increase from the present $8,000 to $9,024 the first year and to $9,204 the following year.

The Senate bill includes $110 million more for school maintenance and operation and $11 million more for transportation.

Unlucky 13 indicted in state bank 'looting'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Law officers began carrying out a weekend round of arrests after a federal grand jury returned a pair of indictments charging 13 persons with banking violations involving the now-defunct Citizens State Bank of Carrizo Springs.

The arrests of those indicted began Friday and continued through the remainder of the weekend.

The indictments were returned last Thursday, but U.S. Atty. John Clark kept them sealed until Friday.

An intensive examination by the state banking commissioner resulted in the closing of the bank last June.

One indictment charged former bank president Richard George with one count of misapplying bank funds and one count of making false entries in bank records.

The other indictment contained 49 counts and named 12 defendants.

Among the 12 was Enrique Salinas of Eagle Pass, who was principal stockholder of the bank when it was closed. The 12 are charged with misapplying bank funds, conspiring to falsify bank records and making improper loans "with reckless disregard for the best interest" of Citizens State Bank.

The bank investigation led state officials to write off millions of dollars in loans. Examiners said many of those loans were made to bank officials, members of their families and friends.

Generally, the indictments indicate that false entries often were made in bank records to conceal the true recipients and purposes of loans.

The 49-count indictment cites a total of 36 loan transactions involving $1.9 million and alleges those transactions involved misapplication of bank funds.

Clark said the indictments represent "the end of the first phase of the investigation."

"The investigation is continuing with respect to other targets," Clark said, "and I anticipate that we will be recommending additional indictments to the grand jury within the next couple of months."

Clark said his office and that of Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill cooperated in the investigation.

The restaurant's faulty plumbing system drips grease, detergent and an occasional shower of peas, carrots and other assorted vegetables on George Lane, his customers and his equipment.

"It's true," says Bill Holtzinger, assistant manager of the Convention Center which is responsible for operation of the tower. "George gets it sometimes."

"You can see it falling in a stream," Lane says. "Some customers find spots on their clothes, and detergent gets on the merry-go-round and the bumper cars. It eats into my paint and I have to repaint a couple of times a year. That costs me around $30,000."

Holtzinger says the plumbing in the restaurant has always been faulty, despite modifications. "We've tried and tried to correct it, but the system still can't handle peak loads."

Mel Sueltenfuss is the assistant director for public works in San Antonio. He says he'll take a new look at the problem.

AWARDS RECIPIENTS — Leticia Hernandez and Dickie Wright won the American Legion Citizenship awards presented by the local American Legion Post at Rannels Junior High Friday. Names of the two students will be engraved on the plaque they hold. The award is permanently displayed in the Rannels trophy case. Leticia is the daughter of Mrs. J.B. Hernandez, 303 N. Aylford. Dickie is the grandson of Mrs. Annie Mae Huey of 917 Ohio. Roscoe Cone made the presentations on behalf of the American Legion Post.

Negotiators whack state spending bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — House and Senate spending bill writers hope Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a pleasant surprise for them Monday morning.

Bullock is due to give the appropriations conference committee a new estimate of state income for the next two years—which the committee hopes will cover a $15.45 billion compromise bill they approved Friday.

The negotiators cut $37 million from the bill Friday after they were told it was about $100 million over present estimates of 1978-79 income. The conferees decided to stop there in hopes that Monday's estimate would be higher than previous.

There have been unofficial reports recently that state tax collections, particularly of the sales tax, are higher than expected.

Should the comptroller's estimate be lower, then the conference committee plans to attach an addendum to the compromise bill with additional cuts in state agency budgets.

"It is highly probable that we will not need to do any more trimming after we get the revenue estimate," said Sen. A.M. Aikin, D-Paris,

Unser escapes bad injury at 500 trials

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Al Unser ran over a 3-pound chunk of iron that fell off Janet Guthrie's car, a tire disintegrated, and Unser went spinning into the retaining wall at more than 200 miles per hour. Saturday in pre-qualifying practice for the May 29 Indianapolis 500.

Unser's white and blue Parnelli-Cosworth, a carbon copy of the one he qualified last week on the front row, was mangled beyond repair. But Unser was able to slither out of the wreckage under his own power.

Five Cards in Odessa

The Big Spring Cardinals are taking a day off this Sunday from their busy season schedule... all but five of their members that is.

Team players Felix Martinez, Jodie Flores, Joe Martinez, Frankie Rubio and Sammy Rodriguez will be in Odessa today as members of the East All-Star team in their 2 p.m. clash with the Western All-Stars.

Players from the 12-team league will participate in the annual meeting.

The Cardinals will be back at Steer Park next Sunday for a double-header. The first game, starting at 2 p.m., will be against Merkel. That contest will be immediately followed by a game with the Snyder club.

"I'll be sore all over later," said Unser, who was otherwise uninjured. "I hope to tell you I hit the wall a ton."

Unser was extremely displeased that one of the track observers had not spotted the large, spiny turbocharger drive wheel on the track before he arrived on the scene.

The two-time Indy winner explained, "I came out of the second turn and the entire (back) straightaway was clear, and I thought I could get a good, clean lap. So I stood on it."

"I had to be going 215 m.p.h. when I hit. There was no time to even get on the brakes."

"That wheel had to have been laying on the track at least three-quarters of a lap before I got there, and they still didn't have the yellow light on in the third turn."

"The wheel was laying right there in the middle of the damn track. That's what steams me; them not turning on the yellow."

After Unser kicked up the piece, it plunged into Mel Kenyon's car, a short distance behind, and went clear through the radiator like a cannon ball.

"I sort of turned around and hit the wall with my back end," Unser continued. "Then I whipped around and hit it a ton with front end, then slid along it."

"I hit the belt release right now and I was trying to get out before the car even stopped."

Apparently a flash fire followed the impact.

Slew's two down, one to go

BALTIMORE (AP) — Seattle Slew took command on the final turn and sizzled to a Preakness victory Saturday that brought him a step closer to the Triple Crown.

Slew took charge from Cormorant, who had battled him from the break until midway in the final turn, and reached the end of the 13-16th miles ahead of 30-1 shot Iron Constitution. Run Dusty Run, second to Seattle Slew in the Kentucky Derby, was third and Cormorant was fourth.

The time was 1:54.2, just two fifths of a second off the stakes and track record set by Canonero II in 1971.

The victory on this bright, sunny day at Pimlico will send Seattle Slew into the June 11 Belmont Stakes with a chance at becoming thoroughbred racing's 10th Triple Crown winner. Secretariat was the last to do it, in 1973.

The triumph was unbeaten Seattle Slew's eighth and enabled him to duplicate the feat of Majestic Prince in 1969. The Prince went into the Preakness unbeaten and also made the race his eighth win, but he failed in the 1½-mile Belmont.

Seattle Slew, owned by Karen Taylor, beat the surprising Iron Constitution, racing for the fifth straight Saturday, by 1½ lengths. Run Dusty Run was another two lengths back and 1¼ lengths in front of Cormorant.

Slew paid $2.80, $2.80 and $2.20 in picking up the winner's share of $138,600 from a purse of $191,100.

Iron Constitution, owned by Harry T. Mangurian Jr., returned $12.20 and $5 while Verna Lehmann's Run Dusty Run paid $2.80.

Completing the order of finish were J.O. Tobin, Sir Sir, Hey Hey J.P., Counter Punch and Regal Sir. Each starter carried 126 pounds.

For much of the race, Seattle Slew and Cormorant ran together with the other seven bunched a clear distance behind them.

Unlike the Derby, Seattle Slew had no problems getting out of the gate Saturday. Jean Cruget sent him out of the No. 8 slot while Danny Wright brought Cormorant out of the No. 1 post position and the two colts battled for the lead going past the stands the first time.

Seattle Slew had a slight edge going into the clubhouse turn, but Cormorant was in front entering the backstretch.

Cormorant continued to lead Seattle Slew down the backstretch, then Cruget asked Seattle Slew to move.

Once again the Slew had the right answer.

As they hit the quarter pole, Seattle Slew was in front, Cormorant was second and Iron Constitution was coming on in third.

For a time in the upper stretch, it looked like Iron Constitution might be able to catch Slew—but the winner held him clear. Run Dusty Run, ridden by Darrel McHargue, made his usual late run to get the show over the tiring Cormorant.

It was only the second time in 16 races that Run Dusty Run has finished worse than second.

Seattle Slew ripped through the first quarter in 22.5 seconds. The time for the half mile was 45.3 and the six-furlong clocking was 1:09.4. Seattle Slew reached the end of the mile in 1:34.5. Canonero's time for the mile had been 1:35.

Slew's solid win was another blast at critics who have doubted the colt's ability and have said he has shown he can be beaten. However, he has not shown that to any other horse on a race track.

It was also further vindication for Cruget, the Frenchman who has constantly been criticized for his handling of the colt although he has gotten him into the winner's circle every time he has raced.

The Preakness was the first race Seattle Slew has run on medication. Trainer Billy Turner said before the race the colt would run on Butazolidin as a precautionary measure because he feared the track would be hard and stinging.

JUMPING OUT — Two-time Indy champ Al Unser jumps out of his race car as a fireman rushes in to assist him after Unser crashed in the third turn at the Speedway during practice Saturday morning. Unser hit a part which had fallen off Janet Guthrie's car, shredding his left front tire and causing him to lose control and hit the turn three wall. Unser has already qualified for the front row in his other car. The car was demolished but Unser escaped with bruised knees.

Wadkins keeps Memorial lead

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Host Jack Nicklaus, victim of a four-stroke swing on a single hole, birdied the 18th and closed within a stroke of longshot leader Bobby Wadkins in Saturday's third round of the $225,000 Memorial Golf Tournament.

Nicklaus, the tournament's sponsor and prime mover, had to rally from a double bogey seven for a 70 and a three-round total of 210.

Wadkins, 25, a softly-drawing native of Richmond, Va. who has yet to win in three years of tour activity, shot a 69 and put together a 54-hole total of 209. That was seven under par on the Muirfield Village Golf Club course that was designed and built by Nicklaus as his dream course.

It turned into something of a nightmare for the mighty Nicklaus, however, when he got around to the 538-yard 11th hole.

Nicklaus, who had birdied two in a row and appeared to be making his move, was tied with Wadkins at the time and the huge gallery was tensed and expectant. They waited for the Golden Bear to sweep past the kid who got into the elite, invitational event only as an alternate.

5-4A Coogs eliminated

EULESS — The Abilene Cooper Cougars were knocked out of post-season play Friday as they lost the second and deciding playoff game to Eulesless Trinity 4-3.

Cooper dropped out of the picture in the bottom half of the last inning when Eulesless catcher Tim Shillings broke a 3-3 tie with a two-out single, driving in the winning run. Cooper had dropped the first game of the best two-out-of-three series Wednesday 5-2.

Eulesless goes on to meet Fort Worth Southwest in the regionals.

Vukovich joins 500 field

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bill Vukovich, whose father won the Indianapolis 500-mile race twice and was killed while leading in his bid for a third consecutive victory in 1955, joined the field for the 1977 race Saturday.

The 33-year-old Vukovich changed cars before the third day of qualifications began, joining the Gilmore-Foyt team. He'd been having trouble in the Lightning-Offenhauser and decided to leave the car.

"It wasn't any problem with the car," said Vukovich. "It was more personal battles that I really don't want to get into. A.J. (Foyt) suggested last week that I might want to drive for him, but he's always teasing. This time he wasn't and I decided to drive for him after Friday's practice."

Vukovich was one of six drivers to qualify for the 61st Indianapolis 500 on May 29. Other qualifiers were Tom Bigelow, Lee Kunzman, Vern Schuppan, Joe Saldan and Steve Krisloff.

The qualifying time of 186.393 miles per hour by Vukovich, who was in the race for the 10th consecutive year, was a disappointment to him.

"We had too much rear wing on the car," he said. "And that was my fault. I told A.J. I wanted more rear wing. He said the car didn't need it and I should have listened to him. However, I figured it was my skin so I insisted on the adjustment and A.J.

"Now I'll know to listen to him. It's the best car I've ever had, but after the rear was adjusted I had trouble turning it," he said.

Bigelow had the best qualifying speed Saturday with a 186.471 m.p.h. Kunzman, hoping to be in the race for the first time since 1973 when he finished seventh, had a 186.384 m.p.h. Krisloff, 30, qualified for the seventh consecutive year with a 184.691 m.p.h.

Saldan, a rookie from Lincoln, Neb., had 184.596 m.p.h.

Schuppan, last year's rookie of the year with an 18th place finish in the 1976 contest, had 184.578 m.p.h. — making his car the slowest in the field.

Six spots will be filled in the final day of qualifications Sunday, beginning at noon EST, if more than six cars qualify the slowest cars will be dropped.

The average qualifying speed to date is 190.121 m.p.h., nearly six and a half m.p.h. faster than last year's average for the first 27 cars.

Black and Gold sweat

By DANNY REAGAN

It started with a fifteen-yard pass from Billy Johnson to super receiver Kenneth Coffey, and it just kept getting better.

Oh, there were a lot of rough edges, but that old spirit of Spring football was there. The shoulder pads were cracking and the players were grunting, and both Black and Gold teams played as if they were playing their opening game of the 1977 season.

In a sense they were, and Head Coach Don Robbins was pleased with that attitude.

"I think they've come a long way during training," Robbins stated, "but they have a long way to go. We instituted a major change in both offensive and defensive theories and not much has carried over from what we did last year."

"The secondary and passing games are basically the same, but the kids had to learn a completely different line play."

All but four of the 54 players who participated in Spring drills suited up for the game. A broken arm, hand injuries and a few bruises accounted for the missing players.

Robbins admitted that a few problems might arise next year but they could be overcome with work.

"We're not near as deep as we'd like to be, and our size isn't the biggest," Robbins said, "but we're stressing to the kids that they have to report to us in the fall in excellent condition, because perhaps five or six of them are going to have to go both ways next year."

Robbins stated that he has encouraged all the athletes to find summer jobs, preferably out in the hot sun doing some healthy physical labor. The future Steers are also expected to keep up their individual running and weight-lifting programs during the summer months so they can be bigger and stronger.

The coach brought up a sound point when he said that the people the Steers will be playing against next year won't be doing anything different.

"You don't stay the same in football," said Robbins, "you either get better or get worse."

Robbins also stated that the mental attitude of the team was very good:

"I'm sure they're quite glad it's over with," Robbins commented. "They've worked hard and it's been a long year for these kids. With the maximum participation we strive for, it's been a long nine months for most of them."

The head coach was very optimistic about next season in one respect:

"Our program will be better next year because we've had these kids for one year now. They're physically capable of playing."

Robbins didn't mention the mental capability of next year's Steers, but to most people, therein lies the big question of success.

Saturday night, the Steers looked mentally ready and capable of playing someone other than classmates and friends. The Arkansas 5-2 looked extremely good. The stacking and stunting of the linebackers deceived the offense and could very well be effective against the larger teams next season.

But the most encouraging sign last night was a sign of returning aggressiveness that has been absent from local squads for years. The headhunters may not have surfaced as yet, but everyone was hitting, and that's the way to end Spring training.

KICKING GAME — One of the most important aspects of a good football program. Saturday night in Memorial Stadium, Spring training ended for the Steers in an exhibition of gutsy effort that hopefully spells a brighter picture than first expected for next season's squad.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, MAY 22, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Unless you take yourself in hand you can develop a decided chip on the shoulder attitude which could lead to an argument or fight. Instead, stick to the duties and work you understand and you can make this a most constructive period.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try not to be so self-centered and think of the needs of others and bring happiness into their lives. Try to live by the Golden Rule.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you try to force your wishes on others, this can become a bad time for you. Use tact, especially with partners, and get good results.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Elevate your consciousness to greater abundance and make the future much brighter, happier for yourself. Be wary of strangers.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Avoid needless arguments with a person on whom you depend. You may be under some misapprehension.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 22) A good time to think about the right philosophy you want to follow in the future and have a more abundant life. Stop criticizing others because you do not understand their way of thinking. Keep the peace.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) You want to get along with friends because you have not approved of their actions lately, but try to help them instead of finding out what pressures they have been under. Maintain your cool.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are angry with bigwigs and associates, so do nothing rash since you may be the one at fault. Plan time for visiting with neighbors.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Not a good time to get into a new project as you can be sadly disappointed. Keep promises you have made.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You made a promise and should keep it in good faith, even though you are not in the mood. Don't pick on a loved one because you are feeling low.

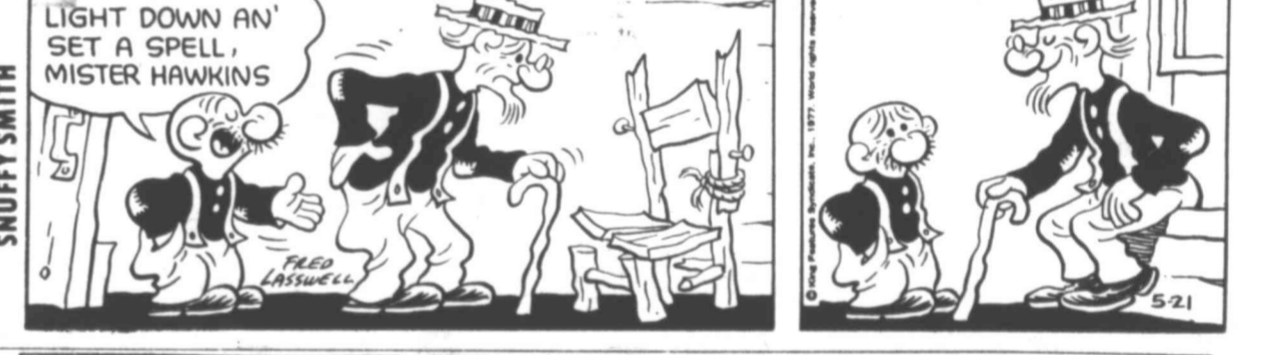

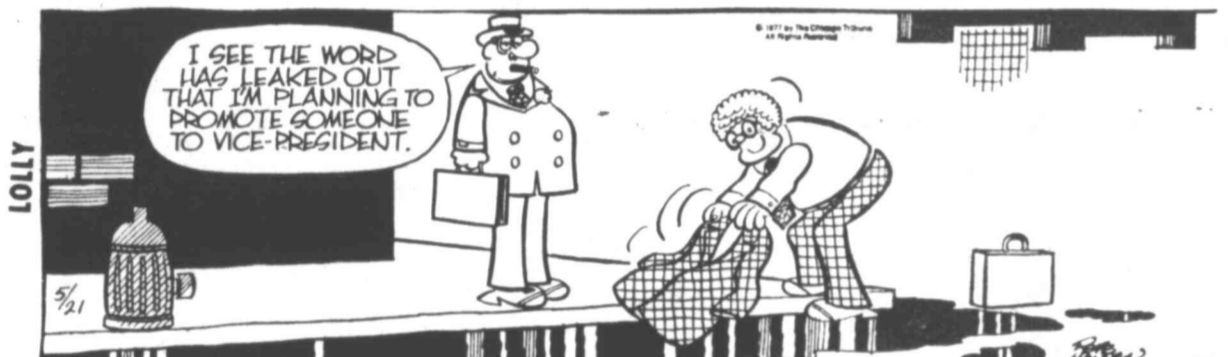

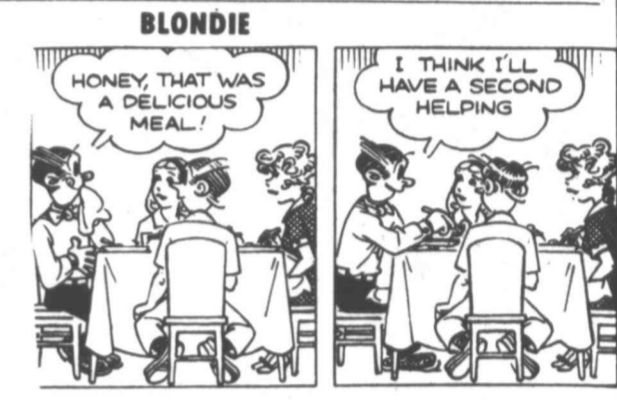

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be reasonable with others. Instead of being so antagonistic, avoid that person who gets you all wound up and unhappy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good time to iron out differences; those close to home. Don't overtax yourself or ruin your health.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Look on the good side of male, loved one, and do not pick at flaws. You are not perfect. Spend some time on hobby.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY or she will always be looking for a light and should be taught to be more thoughtful of others so that the life can be successful. There is much ability at problem solving vocations. Philosophical studies are interesting to your progeny. Sports a must!

"The Stars" impel, they do not compel. "What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!"

Rubio, Olague make All-District

FRANKIE RUBIO All-district hurler, MVP

The Big Spring Steer baseball team may have fallen short of their major goal for this year, a district championship, but two players from that team were honored by the coaches and sportswriters of District 5-4A.

Frankie Rubio, who was the district's leading pitcher with a record of 7-2 and 70 strike-outs, was chosen Most Valuable Player in the league, an honor rarely given a player who is not on the champion's team.

Rubio, who only gave up 12 earned runs in nine games (55 innings) for an exceptional 1.60 ERA, was also chosen as one of the two all-district pitchers. Mark Mullen from San Angelo was the other hurler honored.

Rubio also hit for a .349 average during district action and had 11 RBIs.

Arthur Olague, the Steer's senior third-sacker, was the only other local player chosen on the all-district squad. Olague impressed the coaches and sportswriters around the league with his ability to handle the tricky infield ball with skill.

Olague hit for a .296 clip in loop action and had seven RBIs.

San Angelo's Joe Dominique was named coach of the year, and the Bobcats had more players chosen, four, than any other squad. Midland Lee, Midland High and Odessa High did not have a single player on the elite. Abilene High had three players named, and district champs Cooper only had two.

Here are the complete results from the ballots of the eight district coaches and representatives from the five newspapers:

1977 DISTRICT 5-4A ALL-DISTRICT
Pitcher — Frankie Rubio, Big Spring; Mark Mullen, San Angelo.
Catcher — Randy Jones, Cooper.
First base — Jody Martinez, San Angelo.
Second base — Byron Roberts, Abilene.
Shortstop — Joe Paul Bramhall, San Angelo.
Third base — Arthur Olague, Big Spring.
Outfield — Joe Jones, Abilene; Herman Reese, Abilene; Chris Dawson, Permian.
Utility infielder — Barry Russell, Cooper.
Utility outfielder — Carl Brainerd, San Angelo.

Wait until Sunday

Leon Hobbs, husband to "Fearless Frances" takes exception with my prediction that Rodney Allison, quarterback from Texas Tech, will be the next Heisman Trophy winner.

I admit that my scarlet and black prejudices were flapping in the breeze when I glorified Allison, but Hobbs' is using his bias to attack my prediction. Leon, who is probably known more for being the older brother to Forsan's super trackster Karen, is the biggest University of Texas fan since Marj Carpenter.

And for that "reason" he says that Earl Campbell will take home the coveted award — if the bruiser stays healthy, Leon quickly adds.

I'll have to admit that Campbell has a shot at it, but this really isn't the year for him to make his Heisman move. He was injured most of last year, and subsequently didn't get the publicity that flashy Allison received.

Also, with new UT Coach Fred Akers inaugurating his new program, which he has already announced will be more pass-oriented, I feel that Akers will be more interested in proving himself as a coach, than giving the ball to Campbell 30 times a game in hopes of creating a Heisman Trophy winner.

"Jumpin' Jerry" Foresyth, super Aggie, would no doubt recommend piston-driven A&M running back George Woodard for such honors. But of course, what does Jerry know? Anyway, juniors rarely win the trophy.

Surely there are other candidates scattered throughout the country, but for the first time in 20 years, it looks like the Southwest Conference has a good shot at copping the honor.

The Dallas Cowboys announced Saturday the signing of fifth-round draft choice Andy Frederick of New Mexico and 12th-round selection Greg Peters of California.

Wilder chooses HC

Casey Wilder, the 6-4 all-district basketball ace for Big Spring High School this past season, has decided to attend Howard College and play on the Hawk quintet next year.

Casey, the elder son of Hawk mentor Harold Wilder, made his decision after much consideration. "I've always liked the way my dad's teams play," Casey said, "the running style of basketball is the only way to play."

"I've always wanted to play for my dad, because he's a good coach," Casey added. He also admitted he liked Big Spring and didn't want to leave just yet.

His father and future coach was very pleased with his son's decision. "I've checked with a lot of coaches that have coached sons and I've heard a lot of good points and bad points. There's been some successes and some disappointments. It generally depends on the personalities of the individuals involved. I think it will be a nice experience for us," Wilder said.

Wilder is pleased with his son's style of play, a team-oriented pattern of play with very little forced shots and an ability to make a good pass to a teammate.

Casey, one of the best college prospects to come out of District 5-4A this year, will be making a drastic change in playing position, from a scoring forward to a point guard. Instead of working his way into the basket and having a teammate pass the ball to him, he will have to bring the ball down, set up the offense and throw to someone else.

"There'll be a lot of work and discipline involved in it," Casey commented, "but I'm looking forward to it."

Coach Wilder feels Casey is a good size for point guard and is optimistic about what next season will bring.

"Casey visited the University of Texas and had been accepted to the school, but he decided himself to come to HC. I'm looking forward to it," Coach Wilder stated.

CASEY WILDER Signed with Hawks

The two were the first of the Cowboys' 14 choices in the May 3-4 college draft to agree to terms. Each signed a series of one-year contracts at undisclosed terms.

Frederick 6-6 and 241 pounds, was a defensive tackle at New Mexico but probably will be tried in the offensive line by the Cowboys. Peters, 6-5 and 257, was a defensive lineman before moving to guard as a senior at California and is expected to remain in the offensive line at Dallas' training camp.

Rookies report to the Cowboys' Thousand Oaks, Calif., training base on July 10. The first pre-season game is Saturday night, August 6, against San Diego at Texas Stadium.

Philip Ringener of Big Spring is probably headed back to town from San Francisco as you read this. Philip was one of 12 non-professional bowlers out of 20,000 nationwide that qualified for the Brunswick National Mixed Doubles Tournament held in the Bay City this weekend.

Don't know how he did yet, but he and the other 11 bowled six games. The best total, plus handicap will catapult one man and one woman into the nationally televised finals on CBS, May 28 on the "Sports Spectacular" program.

All bowlers received a color television set for their efforts and the final winner will be in line for a 1977 Ford Thunderbird.

For your information, softball fanatics, Phyllis, unblasted Sweathogs, etc., there will be an action-packed tournament at the MacKenzie Ball Park Diamonds in Lubbock June 3-5.

Entry fee is $60 per team, and a $100 gift certificate will be awarded to the champions. Trophies will also be given for home run leader, golden glove award and most valuable player. Door prizes will also be given at every game. For further information, contact Tournament Director Steve Paxton at 806-762-6411 ext. 308.

Flexibility to make Dallas Cowboys super

DALLAS (AP) — Future trips to the Super Bowl by the Dallas Cowboys could depend on the teachings of a man who has never coached football above the high school level.

The names and faces of coaches like Tom Landry, Dan Reeves and Mike Ditka are as familiar as many of the team's players to Cowboy fans, while conditioning and flexibility

More lawless fishermen

CORPUS CHRISTI — During the months of March and April Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens along the lower Texas Coast made spot checks of boaters and fishermen to see if they were complying with fish and water safety laws.

Of the 3,171 fishermen checked in March, wardens found an average of 10 per cent of them lacked a valid fishing license. And of the 1,022 boaters checked three per cent were found to be in violation of the Texas Water Safety Act in some fashion.

An even greater number of fishermen in the same area were stopped by wardens in April — 5,234 — but the number who did not have a license had dropped to six per cent of the total.

But water safety violations started climbing in April and six per cent of the 1,461 boaters visited by the wardens were cited.

Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement division director Henry Burkett said he has ordered reports of such checks on a statewide basis starting in May.

P&WD sales of both fishing and combination hunting and fishing licenses still are running behind last year's figures for the same period.

From September 1976 through April 1977, 518,844 of the $4.25 fishing licenses had been sold, down 51,932 for the period September 1975 through April 1976.

Resident combination hunting and fishing licenses are down by 12,163.

Woody is Mr. Nice?

DALLAS (AP) — Ohio State football Coach Woody Hayes, often crusty and at times belligerent with the news media, has shown he can turn on the charm when he puts his mind to it.

He may never qualify for a Mr. Warmth award, but the fiery Buckeye coach displayed a pleasant demeanor and a ready smile during a Dallas visit Thursday to promote Ohio State's Oct. 1 football game in Dallas against SMU. It will be the Buckeyes' first football trip to Texas.

He admitted his tantrums have sometimes caused embarrassment for himself, but he added, "Sure I've been embarrassed, haven't you? But Teddy Roosevelt said if he could be right 51 per cent of time, he would keep trying. Actually, the things I'm more ashamed of are the things I didn't do."

But he said he pays no attention to the Ohio State student newspaper and alumni who condemn his on-field conduct.

Coach Bob Ward is virtually unknown outside the Dallas organization.

But Cowboy coaches, players and Ward himself agree that as improved scouting and drafting techniques serve to balance the talent in the National Football League, team conditioning and strength will play a bigger part in deciding team success or failure.

Gone forever are the days when NFL players can depend on training camp to get in shape, Landry says. Conditioning is now a year-round affair.

"I think the Russians and East Germans proved that in the last Olympics," Landry said at the Cowboy practice field in North Dallas last week. "American athletes always have stressed skills and haven't concentrated on weights and conditioning. With our conditioning program, we're trying to get away from that."

Ward, whose tanned, athletic frame, boyish face and Robert Redford-like smile belie his 43 years, hopes the Cowboys are getting a head start on the rest of the NFL one year after he became a full-time member of the Dallas staff.

"The year is carefully divided into the season itself, the post-season, and early and late pre-season," he says. "Part of the year is used to build strength and endurance and part to maintaining what we've got." On this day, Ward was wearing a drab gray T-shirt and shorts with a Dallas cap and mirror sunglasses. He was standing at midfield timing 60-yard dashes.

The first group of four to race by included star defensive linemen Ed "Too Tall" Jones and Harvey Martin. The second included smaller players like Aaron Kyle and Mel Renfro, who is attempting to rehabilitate bad knees.

After each spring, Ward would call out the times and record them on a note pad.

"We try to train every factor to the nth degree—speed, speed-endurance, pure endurance, pure strength and strength-endurance," Ward said between races. "This is a speed drill, each man running 10 sprints with plenty of rest in between. Another day, we will run the sprints one after the other to build both speed and endurance. For pure endurance, last Sunday we had some linemen running 10 miles at eight minutes per mile."

The Martin-Jones group whizzes by again and Ward calls out to Martin, "Seven-flat."

All-Pro Martin grimaces, obviously disappointed. "I wanted to keep 'em all under seven," he says.

Ward says that one of his favorite expressions is "Fatigue makes cowards of us all." Translated to his work with the Cowboys, Ward is trying to see that the other teams turn coward before Dallas does.

It's not surprising to learn that he earned a doctorate at the University of Indiana after hearing him use phrases like "aerobic capacity" in making a point.

He also keeps detailed time-performance graphs and records of player strength before, during and after the season.

For weight training, the Cowboys have a covered area adjacent to their practice field that has contraptions straight out of a medieval torture chamber.

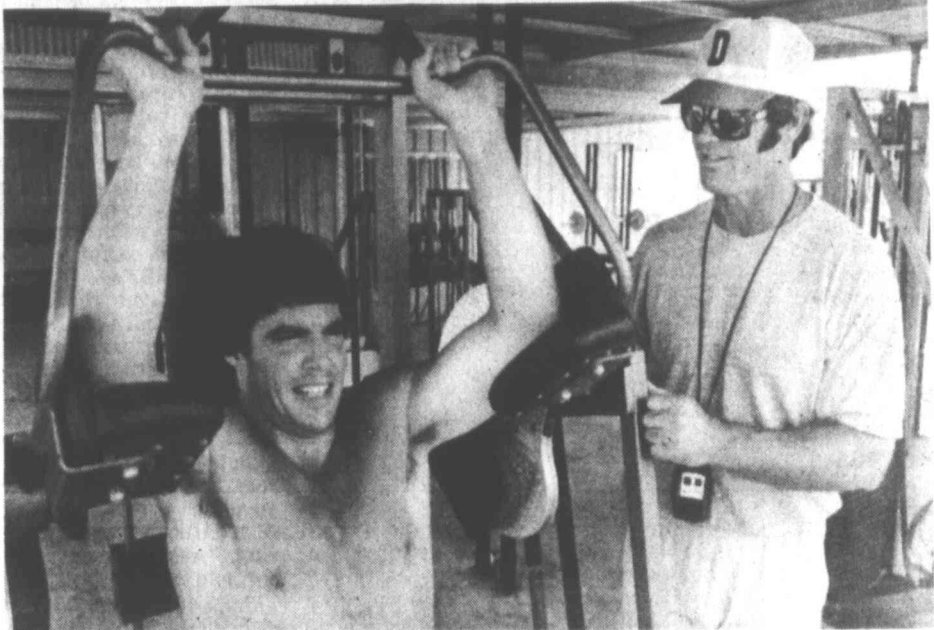

Given highly-motivated athletes, the increase in strength can sometimes be dramatic.

Over a three-month period, running back Doug Dennison improved his "squat" lift capacity from 300 to 780 pounds.

Defensive back Aaron Kyle, who Ward says is the strongest player on the team using a body weight ratio, can "clean" lift 284 pounds. He weighs 185.

Randy White currently is the strongest player on the team, with Jones closing fast. Both should be "clean" lifting over 400 pounds later this year, Ward says.

"Conditioning is a trend in

Little League results Elks, Pals split games

The Elks and the Pals of the American Minor League split their contests this week, with the Pals taking Tuesday's game 19-15, and the Elks coming back to win Saturday's tilt 16-10.

Randy Hayworth was the winning pitcher in the first game, while Mike Leuchner took the loss. Leuchner was the winner in the second game, while Kevin Herron was the loser. Herron also cracked a homer in the first game.

Other hitters for both games were Sammy Muniz (homer), Jack Owens (4 hits), Paul Prudhomme (3 hits), Gary Wright (2 hits), Darrel Adamson (2 hits) and Stacy Kilgore, (2 hits).

Cubs to fum Giants

On the strength of Rocky Sharpnack's three-run homer in the last inning, the Cubs of the National League scored seven quick runs in the last frame to decision the Giants 9-8.

Mitch Griffin was the winning pitcher, and Chad Wash was credited with the loss. Matt Garrett had a double in the game, while Tony Studevill and Robert Rodriguez each had triples. Mitch Griffin, Matt Mays and Doug Mariott also had hits.

Tigers pluck Eagles

The Tigers of the National Minor League upended the Eagles 17-7 Saturday. Bruce Strickland was the winning pitcher, while Mike Dodd took the loss from the hill.

Ricky Porras and Kenneth Kirkham had singles for the Eagles, and Dodd had a double. Louis Puga had a single and a homer for the Tigers, while Robert Murdock and Greg Blythe each had two singles. Anding, Eason, Strickland and Watson had hits as well.

Hawks tame Colts

The Hawks of the American League took advantage of six runs in the second inning to down the Colts 11-1 last Thursday.

Tom Cudd was the winning hurler and Ricky Wallace took the loss. Shortes and Churchwell had two or more hits in the contest as the Hawks upped their record to 3-5, and the Colts fell to 2-6.

Oilers patch Pirates

Robbie Phernetton, in pitching a no-hitter, led the Oilers of the American League past the Pirates 7-3. Marty Rodriguez was the pitcher for the swash-bucklers.

Phernetton and Scott Richards had two doubles each, and in the highlight of the game, Wesley Beauchamp hit a home run over the left field fence scoring three runs for the Oilers in the fifth inning. The Oilers are now 6-2.

Devils give Rebels yell

The Devils of the National League held the Rebels to only two hits, made 16 themselves and went on to defeat the Rebs 13-3.

Vince Coates, who struck out nine batters, was the winning hurler, and Anthony Dominguez took the loss. Roy and Loy White, Tommy Futierrez and Ricky Daniels all had three hits, while Coates and Bryan Raney had two.

Rob Oliver and Jon Tennerstat had the hits for the Rebs.

Angels wing Sparks

The Angels of the National Pee Wee League beat the Sparks 8-3 Saturday, with Carey Fraster (3-0-1) taking the win from the mound. Bobby Madigan was the losing hurler.

The Sparks were held hitless, but Todd McKinney, Joe Bingham, Deeg Young and Kevin Morrison all had hits for the Angels. McKinney had the only extra base hit of the contest.

Queens sign two

Don Stevens, head coach of the Howard College women's basketball team, the Hawk Queens, announced the signing of two new players Saturday.

Beverly Strickland from Forsan High School and Sharla Jameson from Eola High School have signed letters of intent to play for the local squad next season.

Beverly is a 5'7" senior forward who has started for Forsan teams since her freshman year. During her four-year career she scored a total of 2,237 points for a 19.0 average. She was an all-district selection her freshman and senior years and third-team all-state her junior year.

As a senior, Miss Strickland scored 30 or more points in 12 games of her 28 game schedule, amassing a total of 775 points for a 28.0 point average. She had an individual high game of 40 points and shot at a 70 per cent rate at the free throw line.

In addition to her basketball ability, Beverly has garnered many honors in other areas of school life. She played volleyball two years, was district champion in the 880-yd. dash her junior and senior years, played in the Forsan Band for four years where she made the all-region band her freshman, sophomore, and junior years, Howard County Honor Band her senior year, along with many other band honors.

In addition, she was class favorite for three years, cheerleader for two years, National Honor Society for two years and held many class offices.

In her senior year she has been selected as all-school favorite, won the Optimist Youth Achievement Award, the Zales-Herald Youth Achievement Award, and will lead her graduating class across the stage as their valedictorian with a 96.78 grade point average.

"It is this type of student-athlete that we at Howard College strive to interest in our campus for we know that the likes of Beverly will enrich many programs of our school," commented coach Stevens.

Sharla, a 5'7" forward, was coached throughout her high school career by George Hazel. Under his leadership, in the four years that Sharla started for Eola, she compiled a 102-28 won, lost record, winning two district championships outright and tying for a third.

This past season Eola advanced to the Region I tournament finals before being defeated by eventual state champion Nazerath.

During this four-year span, Miss Jameson was all-district three years, and in this past season was an all-region I tournament selection as well as a second-team all-state forward selection while scoring 864 points per game average.

As a freshman Sharla averaged 17 points per game, sophomore a 30.0 point average, and as a junior she maintained a 29.0 average, for a career total of 3,164 points for a four-year average of 24.0 points per game.

In addition to her basketball ability, Miss Jameson was district 13-B singles tennis champion the past two years, advancing this year to the state meet in that sport. She was editor of the high school annual, and is the valedictorian of this year's senior class with a grade average of 94.5.

"We feel fortunate to add Sharla to our list of quality players for next basketball season as she was sought after by several schools," said Stevens.

Ali's next bout with knife & fork

LANDOVER, Md. — Having done his bit for NATO by carrying Spain's Alfredo Evangelista through 15 rounds, Muhammad Ali now faces the toughest opponent of his life. He is taking on the Hollywood film set, a hard-hitting foe that attacks the body with French sauces and fancy desserts.

Ali is a sucker for those belly shots. He has no defense against the knife and fork.

For the next month it will be party, party, party. His life story, "The Greatest," is about to hit the screens. Premieres and pool parties, these will be his immediate life and as his ego swells, so will his gut.

"You are the greatest that ever put on a glove, champ. Have another piece of pie."

HOW ABOUT AN ICE CREAM, CHAMP?

"I saw your movie, Mr. Ali, and I think you're just adorable. Can I get you another drink? Oh, you don't drink? An ice cream, then."

That is the present danger. The body of which he is so proud, the preening, posturing body that came in at 221 for Evangelista, will inflate rapidly. Two-thirty... two-forty, maybe more. Flab goes on fast, comes off slowly, at 35. Ali knows this. He also knows his weakness for fattening foods. That is why he wants another fight in July, a conditioner, a setup. It will force him back into the gym before he becomes too large. If he waits till September, taking off the suet will be agony.

So, Madison Square Garden has pulled out all plugs, trying to rush through an Ali-Shavers bout for the Shavers, the semi-windup would be Holmes-Bobick, 10 rounds.

"It would serve as an introduction of Larry Holmes to the big time," says John Condon, Garden veep. It also would indicate if Duane Bobick can rebound from his 58-second numbing by Norton, or whether Duane should go back to brawling with his brothers in the backyard at Bowls, Minnesota. Earnie Shavers would make an interesting opponent for Ali, much more so than did Evangelista; a successor to the Thrilla in Manila, the Evangelista match was the Yawner in Landover.

"You have seen a miracle," Ali said after the ball. "You have seen a 35-year-old man dance for 15 rounds." Maybe, but I doubt a fan pays from $150 to $200 to see Ali just dance when he can get Shirley MacLaine a helluva lot cheaper. Truth to tell, Ali danced for bits and pieces of 15 rounds. Half the time, he simply sat on the ropes, resting. Only the jab, the head-popping jab, was the old Ali, the great Ali. The rest of the time he fakes it, the way Sinatra does but Ali does it so well, like Old Blue Eyes, it's a pleasure to be conned.

The real miracle was that Alfredo Evangelista went 15. Here was a guy with 15 pro fights under his belt, none longer than eight rounds. He figured to fall flat on his face by the 10th, but at the end, the 12th bell, he was still chasing Ali.

Evangelista couldn't solve the rope-a-dope. Ali's armadillo pose completely frustrated Alfredo, had him banging at gloves, or trying to pry the arms apart with a wedging uppercut, or occasionally pounding a kidney ineffectually. It was frustrating. And boring.

SHAVERS COULD BREAK ALI'S ARMS

Ali's aggressive rope-a-dope is what makes Earnie Shavers such an intriguing opponent. Shavers hits like a demolition ball. It is conceivable that, attacking the shell, he could break Ali's arms.

The thing that makes Earnie Shavers a potential setup for Ali is the chin.

summer. Don King hopes to intercept that one by proposing young Larry Holmes as Ali's next conditioner.

King has Holmes pretty much under control. The manager of record is Richie Giacchetti, who works for King. Giacchetti says he is not bound body and soul to King; that he is free to accept a fight from another promoter.

We'll see. Madison Square Garden, another promoter has a plan that includes Larry Holmes. It would be a doubleheader. On the same card that headlines Ali-

Too windy

By Danny Reagan

The old nemesis of the angler dominated the fishing scene this past week... that scourge called wind.

Ed McCain at Moss Creek thought the wind was going to blow all the water out of the lake, and has only seen one bass and one walleye (2 lbs.) brought out of the lake this week.

"It's terrible," said McCain, "not many people are coming out because of this doggone wind."

Lake Thomas

Mrs. Tidwell at Lake Thomas Lodge had the same opinion of the wind, but did have a few catches from earlier in the week to report.

David Minton of Snyder hooked a 3-lb. bass of whit shyster, while Quincy Beck took one 1 1/2-lb. on a lure. Nola Fenter of Snyder caught a 2 1/4-lb. crappie, a 2 1/2-lb. blue cat, and 15 smaller crappie.

Madeline Wilson caught a 1 1/2-lb. channel cat, and Ray Rinard, Jackie Rinard and David Kenner caught 34 crappie weighing between 1 1/2 and 2 1/4 pounds. O. B. Smith from Seminole caught a 4 1/4 lb. black bass on a minnow, while John Carolyn Carrouth of Big Spring caught six crappie, weighing 4, 2 1/2, 1 1/2 and smaller.

A yellow cat weighing 8 pounds was also brought in off a trotline.

Lake Spence

Striped bass, ranging from 3 to 13 1/2 pounds, dominated fishing at Lake E. V.

Spence during the past week. Most fishermen reporting had at least one striper on the string. Others had yellow catfish going up to 21 pounds, channel cat to 7 pounds, also a number of white bass, black bass and crappie.

Reports from various concessions included:

Edith Country Store — Reuben Velazquez, Odessa, 14 white bass to 2 lbs., and a 4-lb. striped bass; W. D. Martin and L. D. Fletcher, Odessa, two stripers to 3 lbs., two crappie to 2 lbs.; Earl Lindsey, Robert Lee, four crappie, three white bass, and a channel catfish to 3 lbs.; D. Jordan, Sterling City, a 5 1/2-lb. stiper.

Hillside Grocery — Calvin Sanders, Midland, two yellow catfish to 15 lbs.; Bill McKinney and Hilton Goff, Odessa, ten yellow cat to 15 1/2 lbs.; Lewis Godwin, Odessa, two yellow cat to 21 lbs., two stripers to 12 lbs., and 12 channel cats to 7 lbs.

Triangle Grocery — Betty Taylor, Lamesa, and Lawton Taylor, Snyder, 30 white bass to 1 1/2 lbs.; Mr. Drake, Robert Lee, two stripers to 3 lbs.; Jackson Daniel and Chandler Thomas, Big Spring, two stripers to 5 lbs.; Rod Rodriguez, Odessa, three stripers to 13 1/2 lbs.

Y.J.'s Marina — Larry Hamilton and Penny Hamilton, Odessa, three stripers to 10 1/2 lbs.; Howard Wallser and Joe Miner, Big Spring, 15 bass, also a 5 1/2-lb. striper; Chris Cartman, San Angelo, 7 1/4-lb. striped bass.

Reports from Lake J. B. Thomas reflected good fishing with a few walleyes being hooked near the dam.

Mexican baseball strong

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — The Mexican Baseball League is a stronghold for American players—some former major leaguers.

The Mexican League is Triple-A and sanctioned by the National Baseball Association. It includes 16 teams—Durango, Saltillo, Mexico City Reds, Mexico City Tigers, Laguna, Puebla, Aguascalientes, Cordoba, Monterrey, Chihuahua, Tamasopo, Coahuila, Tampico, Poza Rica and the border towns of Nuevo Laredo, across from Laredo, Tex., and Ciudad Juarez, across from El Paso.

The Mexican League, which celebrated its 50th year last summer, was strongest before Jackie Robinson broke the color line. The league was a haven for American, Cuban and other Latin ballers.

Hurt by the devaluation of the peso this year, the league now has a foreign player limit of four per team. It was cut from five last year.

Mexican-American players, mainly from Texas and California, had been counted as native Mexican players until last year.

One of those Mexican Americans who signed before the new ruling is Robert Rodriguez of San Antonio, Tex.

Rodriguez, a 19-year-old outfielder out of state baseball powerhouse South San Antonio, went to the Nuevo Laredo Tecolotes (Owls) after being bypassed in the pro draft.

Rodriguez hit .373, .423, .443 and .476 on prep teams that had a 108-18 record.

Rodriguez is now one of six American players among the top hitters in the Mexican League. He is second with a .369 average after the first five weeks of 1977.

Other American top hitters are catcher Dave Christiansen, Laguna, .351; Mike Walseth, Tigers, .340; Ted Ford, Durango, .331; John Roy Matias, Juarez, .328; and Curtis Moore, Chihuahua, .323. Ford played with the Indians and Rangers.

In the pitching department, Californian Roberto Castillo is the ERA leader at 1.13. Pitching for Monterrey, Castillo set a league mark by hurling all 18 innings in a 2-0 victory. A week later, Poza Rica lefty Ricardo Sandate, former Phil farmhand from Corpus Christi, Tex., broke the record with a 19-inning stint. He lost 2-0.

Other current top pitchers are Mike Nagy, former Red Sox and Cardinal, with Tabasco; and Mike Paul, ex-Indian, Ranger and Cub, with Tampico.

Another U.S. big league-ex, Gary Ryerson, was the league's top pitcher last year with a 1.52 ERA and a league record 10 shutouts. Former New York Met hand, Larry Fritz, won the batting title with a .355 average in 1976.

Howell offers golf clinic

Bobby Howell, golf professional at Comanche Trail Golf Course will offer a free Junior Golf Clinic again this summer, from June 6 through June 10.

He will offer free instructions to all area youth interested in learning to play golf.

All interested youth should sign up in advance at the Municipal Golf Shop or call 263-8311, ext. 78 to enroll. Signups must be completed by Friday, June 3, so that classes may be scheduled.

A boys' clinic will be held daily from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., with the girls' classes lasting from 10 a.m. until 11 a.m. There will be a nominal charge of 50 cents per day for each student's use of balls. Each participant must bring his or her own clubs.

The Clinic will end Friday, June 10, with a nine-hole tournament for all students beginning at 9 a.m. A lunch will be furnished that day.

The event was won by another Air Force cinder star, Rex Harvey, who amassed 7,443 points.

Legas and Harvey are training camp roommates at Bolling AFB, D.C., where the two are among the top Air Force track stars getting ready for the Interservice Track Meet slated for June 2-3 at Gaudet College, Md.

"I was supposed to throw the javelin and run the intermediate hurdles," said Legas. "Right now, I don't know if I'll be able to perform at all. I know I won't be able to run the hurdles. But they want me to stay on and try to throw the javelin."

Legas won the Interservice Meet in his specialty, the javelin in 1974 and took second in 1975. "Last year, I didn't train at all because we were working 12 hours a day," said the instructor pilot with 83rd Flying Training Squadron. "The Air Force coach called me up and asked me to compete anyway. I flew up to Sacramento and finished third."

Injuries are nothing new to the athlete who holds the school record in the javelin at Brigham Young with a toss of 264 feet (a throw of 231 feet won this year's Southwest Conference meet).

In 1968 and 1972, Legas qualified for the U.S. Olympic Trials; but injuries forced him to withdraw from competition. At the 1969 NCAA Championships, he qualified for the finals; but another injury forced him to How about a blue cat? I imagine that is what Helen Freeman of Odessa thought when she pulled in her 14 1/2-pound blue cat the other day. She didn't expect one that size, but she said it was a nice surprise anyway.

That's about how this week of fishing went. All in all, the fish were biting and the fishermen were smiling. Even a couple of fellows from Big Spring had a good time. Howard Wallser and Joe Winer pulled in 16 bass, which included a nice 5 1/2-pound striper. That's pretty good fishin', boys!

This week's column is going to be a little different. In fact, it is going to be my last.

As things would have it, I met this handsome young man not too long ago, and well, the wedding bells just had to chime sooner or later. We are going to move to Lubbock, and that means that we both have to give up things we love.

In the meantime, though, Lake Spence will carry on. The fishing will steadily improve, and the days will begin to get warmer and warmer so that the water will be better and better.

Just make sure that you carry out the rules of water safety. Have fun, but be cautious and safe as well. This sounds a little bit like a mother's sermon to her son going off on an afternoon fishing trip, but safety is important and is too often neglected.

I want to thank those people who have read my column. I have really enjoyed writing for you, and wish that somehow later I can pick up where I left off. But for now, my future is full of dreams that need to be chased while youth is still upon me.

Well, I guess it's time to say good-bye (as they say in the movies). Remember to always keep an open mind and a clear conscience so that when another spring cleaning comes around, the "old attic" won't be quite so dusty.

Bye-bye,
Konny

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Konny added a special type of flavor to the Sunday sports section and provided a different style of outdoor reporting that I'm sure appealed to a variety of readers. I regret the loss.)

Rockets came from nowhere

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets came from nobody status to the brink of the National Basketball Association (NBA) finals in one season, and head Coach Tom Nissalke figures the Rockets have nowhere to go but up.

"We've nowhere reached our potential as a team," said Nissalke, who took the Rockets to the fourth best record in the NBA and the Eastern Conference finals before being eliminated by Philadelphia.

"Moses Malone is the best rebounder in the league right now and in two or three years he'll be the dominant player in the game," Nissalke said of Malone, acquired from Buffalo prior to the start of the season.

"Then we've got Kevin Kunnert who is only 24 and he'll make tremendous improvement next year," Nissalke said. "This year was the first time he ever got any individual coaching (from assistant Del Harris) and with more coaching he'll skyrocket."

The seven-foot Kunnert symbolizes the "water buffalo" tag placed on the patterned offense Rockets in the playoffs, but Kunnert and the Rockets almost "buffaloes" the 76ers in the Eastern Conference finals.

Kunnert's deadeye turnaround jumper and rebounding skills helped take pressure off Malone and forced the 76ers to play five-man defense.

Nissalke came to the Rockets last year with the reputation as a winner and also a controversial figure who was a strict disciplinarian.

"I told my players before the season started that I expected to have seven or eight confrontations during the season," Nissalke said. "But this team has been amazing. We didn't have one confrontation. Sure, there were some players unhappy because they weren't playing more but we stuck together as a team."

Nissalke's choice to make Maryland guard John Lucas the first player taken in last year's NBA draft, also proved a smart move in the final series against Philadelphia.

Lucas became an almost immediate starter and quarterback of the Rockets' offense and led them to the NBA's Central Division title. He had not been as effective in the first round of the playoffs against Washington and the first two games, both losses, against Philadelphia.

But when Lucas finally got control of the game's tempo, the Rockets rebounded from a 3-1 deficit in the series with a victory at Philadelphia last Sunday, and could have forced the series to the seventh game if he had not lost a controversial sixth game 112-109 Tuesday night.

Nissalke said the rest of the Rockets also will improve, including forward Rudy Tomjanovich, guard Calvin Murphy and reserve guard Mike Newlin.

"Their improvement will be more subtle however," Nissalke said. "But Jack Ramsey (Portland coach) saw our final game and he told me he'd never seen Newlin and Murphy play better. Rudy has his obvious limitations but he's played well and will continue to play well."

Traditional roles for military women thing of past

By SUSAN HAMPTON

Today we not only salute the men who have traditionally made up the bulk of the Armed Forces, but the women who now serve our country and communities in similar fashion.

Women have almost always been a part of the United States' Army, Navy, Air Force and to a small extent the Marines, but in past times they were usually limited to mundane jobs in the women's auxiliary corps.

Things have changed and they keep changing, however. Now there are over 300 fields women can choose from when they enlist, depending on their skills and interests, according to Capt. Wanda Wood, chief of women military at Webb AFB. The newer fields open to women, she said, include aircraft maintenance, avionics and meteorology.

In fact, all fields in the Air Force except 11 are open to women, Capt. Wood said. One field that remains off-limits to women is combat training, which entails flying.

A testing program to see if women can indeed fly military jet aircraft is currently being conducted at Williams AFB in Arizona, Capt. Wood said.

Unfortunately, the Thunderbird aircraft will not be carrying any women as they soar through the Big Spring sky today, but you can be sure that they will someday, perhaps in years to come as they put on another show in West Texas for enthusiastic onlookers.

Featured are just a smidgen of the Webb AFB women airmen and officers. These women have varied and interesting jobs which keep them busy and needed at Webb. And they, like all women in the Armed Forces today, know what they want to do and are doing it.

Perhaps the most unique jobs going for Air Force women these days are the ones that work directly with the aircraft. Such a job is held by Airman I.C. Renetha Gay. A petite blond, she works on the flight line at Webb every day as a jet engine mechanic.

"I love my job because it's something different to do," AIC Gay said.

Sr. Airman Vicki Richter is an avionics instrument systems specialist. She probably knows aircraft instruments as well as any male instrument specialist at Webb.

Capt. Gaila Miller, along with Capt. Wood, has a job at Webb which calls for leadership and action.

Capt. Miller's duties range from billeting to housing supply, no small task at a large Air Force base such as Webb.

These officers are career women in the Air Force and they say they love their jobs. Speaking about open days on bases, such as the one at Webb today, Capt. Wood said, "It's a good time for everyone not associated with Webb to come out and take a look at what goes on."

Capt. Miller commented on open day by saying it is a chance "to see tax dollars, yours and mine, at work."

Another woman officer at Webb, Capt. Maggie Irwin, has a more traditional role as a nurse. But she carries the extra load as charge nurse for the primary care clinic.

AIC Yanna Phillips is a law enforcement specialist at Webb. A growing career for women everywhere, law enforcement interests Phillips and she feels as competent as any man doing the same work.

Women will probably do office clerical work because many enjoy doing it and it is a job that many people are needed for. Webb has its share of these women but a new twist to an old scene is that men are working right alongside these women in the offices, striking familiar "womanly" poses over file boxes and typewriters.

Some of the Webb women in administrative positions include Sr. Airman Denise Wimberly, document control clerk, SSgt. Joan Folio, administrative specialist, AIC. Deborah Jackson records clerk in the personnel office and 2nd Lt. Cloretta Yates chief of the customer assistance section.

Miss Kimberly Dee Casey weds Michael Glen Paul

Miss Kimberly Dee Casey and Michael Glen Paul were married in a garden ceremony Saturday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Rhoton. The rites were performed by Robert Webb.

The couple was married before an arch entwined with smilax vines and set with large arrangements of greenery. Potted daisies were arranged to form an aisle.

The bride wore a gown featuring a princess cut bodice with a square neckline, accented with a continuous lace-edged ruffle dropping to a deep square cut in the back. The sleeves were baby-doll style in georgette with three vertical rows of lace on the outside of each sleeve completed with a lace-edged ruffle. The overskirt was georgette with a wide ruffle around the bottom, dropping into a brush train trimmed in lace. The veil was entwined in lace with scattered lace motifs. A lace terra headpiece featured a bow in the center and was accented with pearls.

Miss Rhonda Rhoton was maid of honor. Marvin Boyles was best man.

Bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Hudson and Miss Missy Paul. Ushers were Johnny Wright and Kyle Casey.

Lyle Wayne Sanders was ringbearer.

Ms. Annabeth Deats provided music at the piano.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Casey, 2315 Mishler, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Paul, Sand Springs.

Following a trip to San Antonio and Fort Worth, the couple will reside at 821 W. 8th.

MRS. MIAHCEL GLEN PAUL

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended Howard College and is assistant manager at The Final Touch.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Coahoma High School and is employed at Casey's RV Center.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the Blue Room of the Dora Roberts

Community Center. The table was covered with a net cloth. Greenhouse smilax swagging was across the front and sides of the table. Arrangements of white and yellow daisies were placed at each corner.

Servers included Mrs. D.P. Day and Mrs. Linda McSwine. Presiding at the guest registry was Mrs. Richard Milstead.

Souffle

SOUFFLE AU CITRON
(Hot Lemon Souffle)
4 to 6 servings

You'll be "hooked" on souffles when you get your first whiff of the delightful aroma of this refreshing beauty.

Butter
Sugar
1-3rd c. sugar
1 1/2 tps. grated lemon peel
3 tps. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. salt
1-3rd c. butter
4 eggs, separated
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
Butter bottom and sides of a 1 1/2-quart souffle dish. Sprinkle sugar over buttered surfaces. Make 4-inch band of triple-thickness aluminum foil long enough to go around dish and overlap 2 inches. Lightly butter 1 side of foil band and sprinkle with sugar. Wrap around outside of dish with sugared side in. Tie with string. Collar should extend 2 inches above rim of dish. In medium saucepan beat together 1-3rd cup sugar, lemon peel, lemon juice and salt until well blended. Add butter. Bring to boil over medium-high heat, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat. In small mixing bowl beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and lemon-colored, about 5 minutes. Into yolks blend a little of hot mixture. Return yolk mixture to saucepan and blend. Wash beaters. In large mixing bowl beat egg whites and cream of tartar until stiff but not dry, just until whites no longer slip when bowl is tilted. Gently but thoroughly fold yolk mixture into whites. Carefully pour into prepared dish. Bake in preheated 350 F. oven 25 to 30 minutes or until puffy, delicately browned and souffle shakes very slightly when oven rack is gently moved back and forth. Carefully remove foil band. Serve immediately.

JULY CEREMONY — Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Murr, Junction, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kay, to Bobby Price, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Price, Big Spring. The couple will be married July 16 in the First United Methodist Church in Junction.

JUNE DATE SET — Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Nabors, 701 W. 17th, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rachel Sue, to Joseph Anthony Sciretta, son of Mrs. Maria A. Sciretta, Bayville, N.J., and the late Michael Sciretta, the couple will marry June 10 in the St. Mary's Episcopal Church with the Rev. Harland Birdwell officiating.

Calnan receives check

A check for $1,400 was presented to Cal Calnan, director of Family Services by Mrs. Mary Ernsting, president of the Friends of Family Services.

The presentation was made Thursday as a result of the money taken in during the recent Tour of Homes held here, according to Mrs. Guil Jones III, project chairman.

Ms. Dean is honoree

Ms. Mary Beth Dean was honored with a bridal shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. C.D. Turner.

Hostesses included Mrs. Daryle Hohertz, Mrs. Harold Wilder, Mrs. Paschal Odom, Mrs. John Richard Sparks and Mrs. Louis Stallings.

An arrangement of silk flowers in three assorted baskets decorated the glass-topped serving table. Silver appointments were used.

Ms. Dean is the bride-elect of Tom Michaelis. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Peters.

The couple will be married May 28 in the Webb Air Force Base Chapel.

Mrs. Dudley is installed

Mrs. Jerry Dudley was installed as president of the 1948 Hyperion Club for the coming year during a meeting Thursday.

The event was held in the home of Mrs. Roy Lamb. Mrs. Henry Thompson was cohostess. The tables were decorated with beehives.

Mrs. C.W. Mahoney presided over the installation.

Other officers are Mrs. Thompson, vice president; Mrs. Jack Irons, recording secretary; Mrs. John Hodges, treasurer; Mrs. W.E. Archer, parliamentarian; Mrs. R.W. Whipkey, reporter, and Mrs. Lamb, corresponding secretary.

Meetings will resume in September.

Council meets for breakfast

The Council For Exceptional Children met for breakfast at Coker's Restaurant May 13.

Officers for the coming year were installed by Ms. Kay Wilson, outgoing president.

Officers are Mrs. Sandra Hicks, president; Mrs. Evelyn Hyman, vice president; Mrs. Mary Trim, secretary; Mrs. Carol Stephens, treasurer; and Mrs. Donna Straub, membership chairman.

The council will sponsor a student from Big Spring in the Texas Special Olympics, to be held in Austin.

The next meeting will be in August.

Best age

Based on physical and maturational factors, the best age for women to have two children is age 28 and 30 — and for men at age 30 and 32. This does not, however, account for individual differences, says Debby Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Jogging their way to better health

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Huffing and puffing a bit as they go, thousands of Americans are jogging their way to what they hope will be better health and slimmer figures.

The National Jogging Association in Washington says it has 10,000 members, up from only 3,500 members three years ago. The association's Rory Donaldson predicted that membership will double again within two years.

What is jogging and how does it differ from walking or running?

"During a walk, one foot is always in contact with the earth," said Donaldson. "During a run, both feet break contact with the earth. Jogging is a type of running."

According to Donaldson, the major difference between jogging and running is speed. "Commonly, a gait which has you going seven minutes a mile or faster is a run," he said. A slower gait is a jog.

Another jogger had a less scientific explanation.

"Jogging is what you do when you're fat and want to lose weight," he said, over Donaldson's protests. "Running is when you want to express yourself."

One of the advantages of jogging, said Donaldson, is that it requires the body to use a lot of oxygen over a relatively long time. That helps put the heart and circulatory system in shape.

You don't need a lot of fancy equipment to jog, but you will want a good pair of shoes. Tennis or gym shoes aren't the best because they don't offer the support, cushioning and stability needed.

Donaldson said good jogging shoes range from $19 to $40 a pair. "Nineteen dollars will buy a very good shoe," he said. The most common material for jogging shoes is nylon. Leather shoes also are popular, Donaldson said, but tend to be more expensive.

Once you get a pair of jogging shoes, use them only for running to prevent them from wearing out too quickly. Worn out shoes can throw you off balance and cause pain in the feet, knees or lower back.

Here are some of the basics of buying jogging shoes, according to the association:

—Look for soles that have a tough outer layer of rubber and a softer mid-sole that runs the full length of the shoe. The soles should be flexible, but the section under the arch should provide firm support. You might want to consider built-in arch supports.

—Make sure the heel is wide and stable and provides a slight lift, similar to the lift given by the heels in street shoes. —Don't try on the shoes in an air-conditioned room. Your feet may swell from the heat during jogging.

—Ask about resoling; most good shoes can be resoled.

Some joggers like a special suit for running; others are just as happy with a T-shirt and shorts. Either way, you should avoid tight fitting garments. Don't wear rubberized or plastic clothing since it doesn't give sweat a chance to evaporate. High socks also prevent adequate heat loss.

The nine-year-old jogging association says the sport is not necessarily for everyone. If you're over 30, the association says, you should check with your doctor before you begin an exercise program. If you're over 40, you should take a treadmill stress test to make sure you're in shape for jogging.

"The basic rules of the jogging road are quite straightforward," Donaldson wrote in a recent association publication.

"Take it easy, have fun doing what you're going, don't hurt yourself."

One of the best ways to tell if you're overdoing it is to take the "talk test." If you cannot carry on a conversation while jogging, the chances are you are trying to go too fast or pushing yourself too hard.

The association recommends starting slowly and building up the exercise program a little at a time.

Rapist stalks city

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The rapist has promised to kill. So far he hasn't, but this city lives in fear.

Porch lights burn all night. Lock sales have soared. A citizen's group is offering a reward of more than $10,000. There is talk of vigilante groups cruising the streets with CB radios in search of the man.

Since October 1975, at least 23 women have been attacked by a young white male known as "the east area rapist" because he strikes repeatedly in the same middle and upper-middle income neighborhoods of modern, spacious homes east of the state Capitol.

The last victim was raped Tuesday night. She said the rapist promised he would kill two people if he saw stories about the attack.

"There are people who have reported they are sleeping in shifts and that sort of thing," says Bill Miller, press spokesman for the Sacramento County Sheriff's Department.

"Wednesday night we had 2,500 more calls through the switchboard than we normally have. Over 2,000 were calling with information they thought would help catch the rapist. And there were more calls about prowlers and suspicious persons," Miller said.

Sheriff's deputies say they think they can tie the 23 rapes to one man between 19 and 30 with dark blond or brown hair.

In his earlier attacks, the rapist broke into homes where no man was present. But he is growing bolder. Now he also strikes in homes where husbands lie sleeping beside their wives. They wake to find the rapist pointing a gun at them.

He usually wears gloves and some sort of hood or mask with small slits for his eyes and mouth. Typically, he rummages around a house and robs before leaving. He ties up his victims.

The sheriff's department won't say how many people it has working on the case.

"We're doing the maximum," says Miller. But he admits the department is no closer to knowing who the rapist is than it was months ago.

Shower given for Miss Riffey

Miss Mary Riffey, bride-elect of Calvin June, was given a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening at the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

The guests wore yellow corsages and Miss Riffey received spring flowers.

The serving table was decorated with an imported cloth with a yellow linen cloth underlying it. The centerpiece was made of yellow roses and white daisies with baby's breath.

The mothers of the future bride and groom, Mrs. Otis Riffey and Mrs. F.C. June, respectively, were present at the shower, along with the grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Ida June.

Hostesses for the shower included Mrs. C.R. Rhoads, Mrs. Jerry Musgrove, Mrs. Jonny Mills, Mrs. Frances Castleman and Mrs. James Riffey.

The couple will be married July 23.

Ceremonies mark work

The formal opening ceremonies of Heritage Museum last week marked the culmination of six months hard work and anticipation of the finished core exhibit which had been in the minds of the museum board for a long time. The opening drew some 500 visitors.

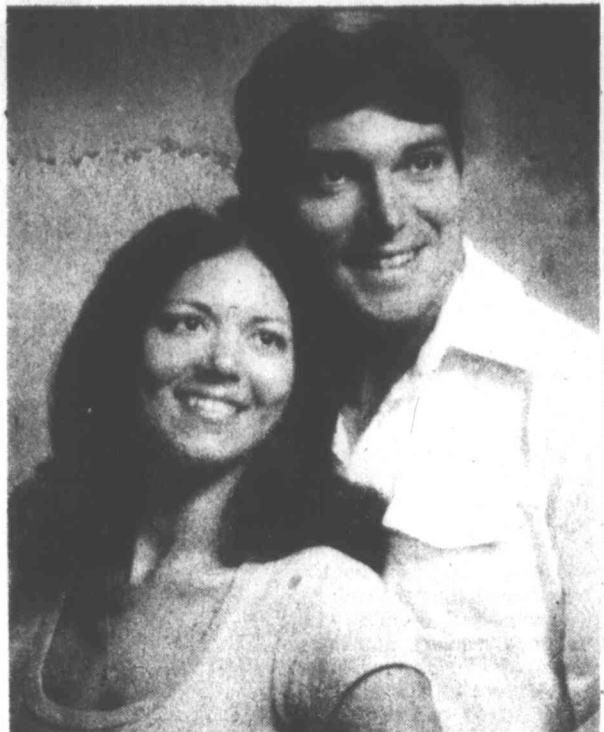

After the excitement of opening ceremonies, the museum is off and running. Activities are leveling off in a most satisfactory manner, according to Mrs. Gerri Atwell, curator. People have been streaming in since the opening to view the exhibits, and several school and Scout groups have made reservations for special tours.

The officials of the museum were especially pleased with the turnout for the opening. It was also announced this week that the pictures from the Heritage Museum barbecue are on display at the museum and are for sale.

New and renewal memberships continue to come in at a rapid rate. "Their interest is an indication to us that the museum is worthwhile, and an important segment of our community," Mrs. Atwell added.

Memberships received are Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brown, Mrs. E.L. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Justiss, Mr. and Mrs. John Quigley, Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Blagrove, Mr. and Mrs. James Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Coffee, Mrs. Pyrie Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Chears, Mr. and Mrs. M.R. Koger.

Others include Dr. and Mrs. R.B.G. Cowper, R.E. Guttee, Mr. and Mrs. Hays Stripling Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill M. Sheppard, Mrs. W.H. Dear Abby

Prayer Antidote For Snake's Bite

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago I married my high school sweetheart. A week later I lost my job. Then I heard that the Alaska pipe line paid $12.80 an hour, with plenty of overtime (time and a half and double on Sundays).

My wife and I decided that I should go, and I'd send her all I could save to be deposited to a joint bank account. In eight months she banked $16,000. She wanted to buy a home, so I agreed.

When I returned at the year's end, she'd bought a home all right! But it was in HER name, and she had another man living with her. What an explosion! Bidding them adieu amidst blows and broken furniture, I returned to Alaska.

That was three years ago. Since then I've banked $87,000. Now comes a letter from my wife telling me she has split with her boyfriend, and through a "legal technicality" HE has gained possession of "our" home and she needs money to protect "our" property.

Abby, you don't have to tell me not to send her any money, but please tell me how to forget a wife I know is poison, but think of all day and dream of all night.

I know I need legal advice, but I also need an antibiotic for the love bug. Help me.

JOE IN FAIRBANKS

DEAR JOE: You don't need an antibiotic for an insect bite—you need an antidote for a snakebite. Drive thoughts of HER out of your mind with thoughts of HIM. And when the going gets rough, pray for strength to get you through the day. The Lord never gives us a heavier burden than we can carry.

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I can remember I've wanted to be an airline stewardess. I am now 19 and have been told by some people that I am too tall to be a stewardess. I am 5 feet 11. Is that too tall?

I'm attractive and intelligent. Can you help me?

TALL IN NY

DEAR TALL: Each airline has its own regulations. Write to the airlines of your choice and inquire.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old girl who is able to cook a whole meal alone if I need to. I am surprised at the number of girls my age who don't know anything about cooking or housekeeping.

Recently a girlfriend was at my house, and I asked her to help me peel some potatoes. She said she had never peeled a potato in her life. Isn't that ridiculous, Abby? She was my age.

My mother started teaching me to cook when I was 9. Please tell mothers to teach their daughters how to cook and keep house when they are young so they will be prepared when they are older.

PREPARED AT 12

DEAR PREPARED: A sensible idea for boys as well as girls!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

DEAR ABBY: I have a backyard neighbor who has been watching me for the last two years. I thought perhaps he wanted to be friendly, but when I see him on the street, he turns his head.

He has a 9 to 5 job and is home on weekends. Every time I look out of my back window I see him in his backyard, staring at my back door, waiting for me to appear.

He has driven past my home several times, slowing up to look. Even the neighbors have mentioned it.

He is married, but I seldom see his wife. We have never spoken to each other, either, but I'm sure she knows that I am her neighbor. My husband and I don't want to cause any trouble as we plan on living in this neighborhood for a long time, but this man gives me the creeps.

Do you think I should go to the police? He really hasn't done anything except stare at my back door and drive around my house.

Should I initiate a conversation with this man or perhaps talk to his wife? Please help me.

FRIGHTENED

DEAR FRIGHTENED: You may be unjustifiably suspicious, or you may have a point. While with your husband, initiate a friendly conversation with this neighbor. His reaction should tell you something.

Miss Sharp, Milliken exchange wedding vows

Miss Chantal Mireille Sharp and Brad Russell Milliken exchanged wedding vows Friday evening in the First Baptist Church in Coahoma with Dennis Teeters officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Sharp, 401 Ramsey, Coahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill A. Milliken, 309 Ramsey, Coahoma.

The couple was wed before a column arch centering the altar. Columns held arrangements of white mums and yellow carnations, with three candles in crystal chimevases atop each. Spiral candelabra flanked the altar. The eternal candelabra held the large memory candle and two tapered candles were placed beneath the arch.

bearer. Candlelighters were Dee Sevey and Penny Blubaugh, with Karlina Greenfield as flower girl.

Providing music at the ceremony were Nancy Wood at the organ and Jay Phinney as vocalist and guitarist.

Following a wedding trip to San Angelo and Lake LBJ, the couple will reside at 1313 Mulberry Ave., Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and is employed by the State National Bank.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Coahoma High School and attended Howard College. He is employed by Bilt-Rite Pallet Co.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the fellowship hall following the ceremony. Serving were Mrs. Guy White Jr., sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Mark Milliken, Miss Nancy Wood, Mrs. Donnie Croft and Mrs. Billy Jack Darden.

Others were Mrs. Price Morris, Mrs. Monroe Teeters and Mrs. Dwayne Clawson.

Miss Lori Lovett registered guests.

The centerpiece on the bride's table was a white urn white mums and yellow carnations with three candles in crystal chimevases.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Clara Sharp, and Mrs. J.E. Wagon, both of Texarkana; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Duncan, Brownfield; Miss Lori Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Milliken, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Milliken, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Milliken, and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Morrow, all of Midland.

MRS. BRAD RUSSELL MILLIKEN

When presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional A-line silhouette gown. The fitted bodice was encrusted with daisy clusters forming a deep yoke below a high-rise neckline. A trio capelet encircled the shoulders and formed the sleeves. Tiny Venise lace traced the edges. Lace clusters marked the waistline. The soft, flowing A-line skirt was gathered to form a deep chapel-length train in the back. The entire hemline was etched with lace above the deep gathered flounce that was edged with tiny lace. Her double-tier circular veil of French illusion was gathered to a matching venise lace camelot.

The bride carried a cascade of yellow roses, daisies, blue gypsophilas, pink straw flowers and baby's breath tied with blue satin streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Terry Sharp, sister of the bride. Mark Milliken, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Miss Joyce Sharp, sister of the bride, and Miss Debra Duncan, Brownsfield, were bridesmaids. Groomsman were Guy White Jr., and Alan Roman of Midland.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of yellow crepe, cut in an A-line. They wore a cape of yellow floral chiffon, and carried nosegays of pink and blue feathered carnations and yellow daisies and baby's breath tied with blue and yellow satin streamers. Their headpieces consisted of blue and yellow silk flowers.

Steve Fraser and Steve Wolf were ushers. Darrell Spears served as ring

Memorial program presented to group

Mrs. Alfred Moody presented a memorial program to members of the American Gold Star Mothers during their meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. T.D. Peacock, 3623 Dixon.

Mrs. Ruth Mitchell was a guest at the event.

Mrs. Truett Thomas presided at the business session. Mrs. Herbert Smith reported that 53 patients were served cake and coffee at the Veteran's Administration Hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. Huey Rogers gave a report on the reception given by the DAV's honoring the Gold Star Mothers. She also discussed the Americanism program given by Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds.

Mrs. T.D. Peacock, community service chairman, reported that the chapter has contributed $138.50 to the sick and needy. The chapter has also contributed 23 trays of food, 54 visits, 43 cards, 26 phone calls and 8 flower arrangements.

The next meeting is June 16 in the home of Mrs. Herbert Smith.

Discontinues ruling

Secretary of the Treasury W. Michael Blumenthal today discontinued the rule requiring women co-owners of U.S. Savings Bonds, or women beneficiaries, to be identified as "Mrs." or "Miss" on the face of the savings bond.

In abolishing the long-standing requirement, Secretary Blumenthal noted that identifying the marital status of women but not of men on a Federal debt instrument or security was a discriminatory practice.

The title requirement for women co-owners and beneficiaries had been retained by the Treasury to facilitate identification of savings bond claimed to be lost, stolen or destroyed. All bonds now being issued bear social security numbers.

The 39,000 savings bonds issuing agents will be provided with application forms on which the title requirement is deleted.

LADIES . . . . . DO YOU SOMETIMES FEEL HELPLESS?

If you feel that way about your car, let's change the feeling, you and I. Saturday afternoon (May 28), from 2:00 to 4:00, we're offering a free clinic at Don Crawford Pontiac-Datsun. At this first clinic we can go over the general things a car owner should know; how to fuel your car, check fan belt tension, etc. But the clinics afterwards will be decided by you. The suggestions we receive from the questionnaire below, and at the clinic, will be the determining factors for the following sessions. Whatever is of interest to you, as a woman, about our business — sales techniques, warranty coverage, how to replace spark plugs . . . let us know.

We at Don Crawford Pontiac-Datsun want this program aimed at your needs and interests. Help us by returning this questionnaire, either at our next clinic or by mail, so we can "aim to please." Send to the Attention of: Jim Sartor, 502 East FM 700, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Car maintenance clinic to open

Don Crawford Pontiac and Datsun will open a clinic Saturday primarily designed to familiarize women with basic automobile anatomy, lore and maintenance.

According to Jim Sartor, who will head up the program, the clinic will offer guidance and instruction only in those things of interest to the class, and such topics as replacing a head gasket will not be brought up unless asked for by the class.

The first clinic, starting at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Don Crawford Pontiac and Datsun garage, will include instruction in things such as how to fill your car at a self-service station, how to check the tires, and tire pressure, installing new wiper blades, checking the headlights, the oil level, the transmission fluid, vacuum and radiator hoses, the air filter, coolant level, and other knowledge necessary to perform routine maintenance to a car.

Sartor said that the clinics will be aimed at what the students want, and would meet as often as was desired.

He also said that the clinics have the back-up of the General Motors Corporation, and Datsun, and if enough community interest is shown in these clinics, there will be an inexhaustible inflow of equipment and knowledge to continue the classes.

The first class content is based on the questionnaire forms which have been filled out by interested students.

Men are also invited to the clinic. Questions about the classes should be sent to Jim Sartor at 502 East FM 700 in Big Spring.

Family tracing discussed by club

Mrs. Sue Ann Damron presented a program on genealogy to members of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club Thursday.

Mrs. Damron is librarian for the Genealogical Society of Big Spring.

When tracing family genealogy, Mrs. Damron said, one should start with himself and a birth certificate.

"Many types of records are available, such as census, military, Bibles, probate, land, and county histories. In many cases, death certificates, marriage records and pension records help prove backgrounds," she said.

Mrs. Damron advised against trusting family stories as literal. She said every detail of one's background should be checked out.

In other business, club officers were elected. Mrs. Leroy Dolan was named president. Others are Mrs. Dale Soles, vice president; Mrs. R.P. Morton, council delegate; Mrs. L.Z. Rhodes, secretary; and Mrs. L.M. Duffer, treasurer.

Mrs. Duffer won the door prize.

The next meeting is Sept. 1.

Volunteer service program scheduled at center

The Veteran's Administration Volunteer Service program will be held at the Dora Roberts Community Center at 3 p.m. today.

Mrs. Dene Sheppard, Chief of Volunteer Services, will preside at the program to honor those volunteers who have given a lot of their time and effort to help give the services that the Veteran's Administration Hospital offers.

Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Bill Albright, will give the welcome after Scot Sheppard leads in the Pledge of Allegiance, and A.C. Hicks leads the invocation.

Hospital Director Jack D. Powell, will express his appreciation of the volunteers, and then Big Spring's famous "Nuts and Bolts" will present some sing-along entertainment.

Presentation of the VAVs awards will follow the entertainment when Mildred Spanish, RN, will give a certificate of appreciation to those volunteers who have served 100 hours.

Francis M. Graham, Ph.D., staff psychologist at the hospital, will give certificates of merit for 300 hours work followed by Linda Chamberland, Chief of Dietetic Services, who will give outstanding awards to volunteers with 500 hours service.

For 1000 hours service, Tom Balderach, Administrative Assistant to the Chief of Staff, will give certificates of devotion to duty to W.T. Evans, VFW, and Selma Hicks.

Kay Boadle, secretary, Volunteer Service, will present the Texas Service Pin and Bar to Martha Moody, ARC, for 13,000 hours of service; J.H. Taylor for 9,500 hours of service; Mr. and Mrs. A.E. True for 6,000 hours; Edith Murdock, 4,500 hours; H.M. Haygood, Huey J. Rogers, and Louise Horton, for 2,500 hours of service; Weboline Doggett, for 2,000 hours; and Burnie and Elsie Prevo for 1,500 hours of service at the VA Hospital.

Tom Balderach will give the Veterans Administration Bronze Emblem to Weboline Doggett, Burnie Prevo and Elsie Prevo.

The Veteran's Administration Silver Pin will be awarded to H.M. Haygood and Huey J. Rogers.

Those receiving awards for 500 hours of service will be:

Ted Phillips, N.A.; Mrs. Ted Phillips, N.A.; Mildred Sterie, VFW; Sallie White, VFW; Dorothy Johnson, N.A.; Gertrude McCann, DAVA; A.J.

Donation set

The Downtown Lions Auxiliary voted to donate $50 for the Crippled Children's Center at Kerrville when they met for coffee Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Harlan Huijbregtse.

The refreshment table featured colors of avocado green and melon red, and was highlighted by a centerpiece of azaleas. Silver and crystal appointments were used to complete the decorations.

Mrs. B.M. Keese and Mrs. John Quigley presided at the punch bowl and silver service, respectively.

Mrs. John F. Smith was cohostess.

Cemetery meet set

WESTBROOK (SC) — Anyone interested in invited to the annual meeting of the Westbrook Cemetery Association on May 30 at 11 a.m. in the Westbrook Golden Age Club Building. Those who are coming are asked to bring a basket lunch.

After several inquiries made concerning whether a large contribution to a possible savings account or trust fund to maintain the cemetery from the interest that would be received, the association now reports it receives interest on willed money and a 15-year subordinated capital investment certificate.

If interested in making a contribution toward the future of Westbrook Cemetery, contact President Alvin Byrd, Rt. 1, Box 3, Westbrook.

Classic cheese souffle

6 servings

Sophisticated, timeless and easy, this souffle will turn any meal into an occasion.

Grated Parmesan cheese
1-3rd c. butter
1-3rd c. all-purpose flour
1 tsp. instant minced onion

1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1 1/2 c. milk
1 c. (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese

6 eggs, separated
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar

Butter bottom and sides of a 2 1/2-quart souffle dish or casserole. Dust with Parmesan cheese. In medium saucepan melt 1-3rd cup butter. Blend in flour, onion and mustard. Cook and stir over medium-high heat until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Stir in milk all at once. Cook and stir until mixture boils and is smooth and thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in Cheddar cheese until melted. In small mixing bowl beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and lemon-colored, about 5 minutes. Into yolks blend a little of hot mixture. Return yolk mixture to saucepan and blend. Wash beaters. In large mixing bowl beat egg whites and cream of tartar until stiff but not dry, just until whites no longer slip when bowl is tilted. Gently but thoroughly fold yolk mixture into whites. Carefully pour into prepared dish. For a "top hat," hold a spoon upright and circle mixture to make a ring about 1 inch from side of dish and about 1 inch deep. Bake in preheated 350 F. oven 35 to 40 minutes or until puffy, delicately browned and souffle shakes very slightly when oven rack is gently moved back and forth. Serve immediately.

A little lower Valuable new experience

By WILFRID M. CALNAN
Director of Howard Co. Family Service Center

I drove through the huge city early in the morning. The medical installation I approached was mammoth, something out of the 21st Century. Quickly I experienced my first shock. The receptionist did not have my name on her appointment sheet. Or she thought that she did not. In a few minutes she discovered that my first and last names had been reversed on the list.

Then there were forms to fill-out. They seemed voluminous. Then my first interview. The hospital representative was very pleasant but the feeling of discomfort persisted. It seemed that I was having to give more and more of myself up by revealing every detail of my life.

Then my first long wait. Eventually a nurse summoned me and left me in a doctor's examination room with the instruction to strip and put on a gown to prepare for the doctor's seeing me. Giving up more of myself.

It seemed to go on endlessly. Clinic personnel were always kind and understanding, truly concerned people. But the system seemed almost to grind one up, with its demands and delays (Later I was to learn that personnel were caught in the system just as is the patient). It seemed to take all my controls away from me, to detract from my self-command, to make me feel less like a man.

As I gain perspective, I see this experience as being of special value to me as a counselor and to the people who come seeking direction. I can know as few counselors can know what it is like to be a patient or client. I can remember how it feels when something is seriously wrong in a person's or a family's life and yet there is uncertainty as to what it is. I can remember how it feels to give up intimate information about oneself so that the helping person can secure the data that will tell what the problem is. I can remember how important it is for the counselor to be punctual, to speak frankly and directly to his clients, to pursue facts in the interest of my clients. I know from the people who so warmly helped me through my recent experience how important it is to be warm, to be caring, to be unselfish, to be in its grasp. I have the example of the physician who doggedly pursued data and insisted on a particular course of action so that I could return home and take up my normal life again.

I am grateful that in a special way I have been given new understanding of what it is to be a patient or client. For the sake of the troubled who use my services I hope that I never forget.

Lakes due to attract 56 million visitors

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Army Engineer officials announced new plans today to meet growing crowds of visitors to reservoirs and lakes in the Tulsa district.

As park areas fill, rangers will direct visitors to overflow camping areas and other less crowded portions of the lake, the engineers said. In areas where crowding has led to disturbances and problems, camp sites will be designated for overnight camping only.

Continuous stay at a camp site will be limited to 14 days. Other visitors such as sightseers, skiers, hikers, swimmers and picnickers will be provided areas for their particular activities.

An estimated 56 million visitors are expected at the 32 lake and navigation projects in the Tulsa district this summer. The district includes Oklahoma and parts of Kansas, Texas and Arkansas.

Last year more than 52 million persons visited the sites, compared with 30 million six years ago. Fourteen of the Tulsa projects had more than one million visitors each.

"Our efforts in trying to accommodate all visitors is leading to serious destruction of our parks and recreational areas," James P. Jones, chief of the operations division, said.

"To keep the parks clean and enjoyable for visitors and to keep these areas as near their natural state as possible, overnight camping this year will be limited to developed sites which are designed to take the heavy vehicle use and visitor foot traffic."

Apparent turnaround in ROTC enrollment

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 10,000 college graduates will become military officers this summer, marking the first increase in commissions through the Reserve Officer Training Corps since 1970.

The numbers reflect an apparent turnaround in ROTC enrollment two years ago after a steady eight-year decline resulting from an anti-military mood, often marked by open hostility, on many campuses during the Vietnam war.

The ROTC's recovery appears to be continuing, judging by an 8 per cent rise in enrollments this year to a total of 81,544 men and women cadets at 356 colleges and universities.

The services view the turnaround as vitally important because the college ROTC program is a major source of young officers, particularly for the Army.

In recent years, as never before, the services have been drawing on college manpower for young officers.

All in all, Pentagon officials report, the climate on campus has changed drastically from what it was in the late 1960s and early 1970s when ROTC buildings were attacked and military instructors harassed.

year alone, the armed services reported 225 acts of violence aimed at ROTC.

"ROTC buildings and programs provide a visible and convenient target for campus dissidence directed toward the federal government," a Pentagon official told Congress in May 1972.

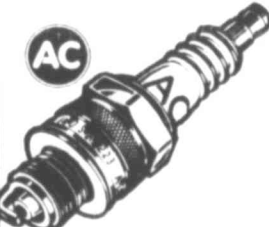

Damage ran into millions of dollars, according to official estimates.

As a result of student and faculty demands, 14 universities dropped ROTC entirely. Many schools switched from compulsory to optional programs. Some stripped ROTC programs of academic credit.

ROTC hit bottom in the 1974 school year with about 63,300 cadets, the lowest number since World War II.

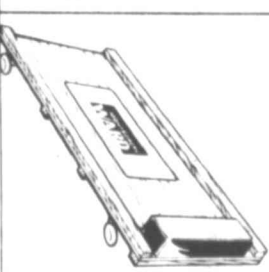

The following year, enrollment turned upward to 68,000 and this has resulted in increased ROTC officer graduations two years later.

The services began opening ROTC to women in 1969 and their numbers in 1969 and their numbers in 1969 and their numbers in 1969

Water under the bridge

with Marj Carpenter

"When they told us that we would have over 94 acres of our place under Colorado City Lake, we thought we were ruined," Mrs. T. W. Daugherty recalled at Root Valley Fair Lodge in Colorado City last week.

"But the Good Lord looks after those of us who are too ignorant to look after ourselves," she laughed.

"It turned out to be just fine. We were paid for the land under the lake and we have leased 107 lots on the west side of the lake," Mrs. Daugherty added.

MRS. T.W. DAUGHERTY
...recalls old times

She was the former Savanna Brookshire. She and her husband farmed for a long time around Loraine prior to obtaining the property which later became part of the lake and part of the bank of the lake.

"We began farming about 1918," she recalled. They had four sons and four daughters. Their daughters live in Fort Worth, California, Temple and Colorado City. The daughter in Colorado City is Lillian Barkley.

The four sons include one who goes by simply O. Daugherty and lives in Abilene. He comes down about once a week and looks after the property for his mother.

Their lots include the portion of the lakeside that is the Big Spring Boy Scout lease.

"One of my real regrets about the whole thing was that the water inundated an old Indian Hill," Mrs. Daugherty recalled.

"There was a portion of a handbuilt rock wall, a big round rock where they used to grind corn and we found all kinds of arrowheads and Indian artifacts in that area. That's all under water at the bottom of the lake," she stated.

Their property touched both Morgan Creek and Cherry Creek so the Daughertys "knew as soon as we heard them talking lake that we were going to be inundated."

However, Mrs. Daugherty said, "It's turned out fine. A lot of folks have enjoyed leasing those lots and living near the lake. Out here in West Texas, it's nice to be near the water."

"That's the reason we were so proud of that property to start with — it had water running through," she recalled.

She further recalled that in the early days in Colorado City, "They used to have a buggy sort of thing pulled by mules to ride around town. They used it kind of like a streetcar or an intown bus," she added.

"They had opera houses and things too. It was quite a town. I think it's going to come back. Things are looking better around here," Mrs. Daugherty added.

But then Savanna Brookshire Daugherty is one of those wonderfully-spirited women who take things like they come. If your farm is turned into a lake, you lease the shore lots.

If you are confined in a nursing home, you rejoice over your children that visit.

If the town is doing better, you are glad.

Because with Mrs. Daugherty's spirit, trouble is just "water under the bridge."

I thought about that as I headed home, crossing the bridge over Morgan Creek, when I was out ridin' fence.

It will be long time between paydays for many students

Students enrolled in Veterans Administration education programs are reminded that it will be a long time between paydays following receipt of their May 1 allowance check.

Some 1.5 million veterans, dependents and service members have received a notice with their May 1 check telling them their May check is the last under VA's prepayment system.

The Veterans Education and Employment Assistance Act of 1976 eliminated prepayment of monthly allowances for VA trainees, effective June 1. The monthly check for June enrollment will be issued July 1. Subsequent VA checks will follow each additional month of enrollment, according to Jack Coker, Director, VA Regional Office in Waco.

New procedures for advance payment also become effective June 1. Advance payments at the beginning of a school term for the first month, or partial month, plus the following month, will be made only if the student makes the request in writing to the school and the school agrees to process the advance payment.

Previously, advance payment was automatic with enrollment.

The student's written request for advance payment must be included with the enrollment certification submitted by the school to the VA and must be received by the VA at least 30 days before the start of regular registration, Jack Coker stressed.

Following receipt of the advance payment, no additional VA check will be mailed for approximately three months, because of the elimination of the prepayment provision.

Students who receive an advance check in September, covering enrollment through October, will not be eligible for an educational payment for November enrollment until December.

Disabled veterans enrolled in VA vocational rehabilitation programs are encouraged to contact their VA rehabilitation specialist to discuss whether an advancement payment is feasible.

Complete information on all VA educational assistance programs is available from veterans representatives on campus or local VA regional offices.

NEWSPAPER CARRIERS... A TRADITION OF SERVICE

HE NEEDS TO BE PAID ON TIME, TOO
"PLEASE, PAY BEFORE THE 5th OF THE MONTH"

The young girls and boys who deliver your newspaper today are carrying on a fine tradition established more than 150 years ago during the days of the Penny Press. They are also learning to manage their own businesses in the tradition of free enterprise, a valuable experience for their future.

Your newspaper carrier is in business for himself. He buys his newspaper at wholesale and sells them at retail. The difference is his profit. He pays for his newspapers every month, so it's important that he collect from his customers each month.

Why not set aside his money so it will be ready when he calls! That way, it will be helpful to him and convenient for you.

Galbraith's story 'breathes'

History of money

By JOHN W. DEATS
 COUNTY LIBRARIAN

In the tradition of Kenneth Clarke's "Civilization," Alistair Cooke's "America," and Jacob Bronowski's "Ascent of Man," the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) has released a major new television series to the American public. John Kenneth Galbraith's "The Age of Uncertainty" should help to make the seemingly "dry" topic of historical economics more palatable to millions of viewers.

The subject of the development of economic practices and the underlying theories behind them is set against an historical backdrop of wars, revolutions, and dynamic social change from the time of Adam Smith and the Enlightenment to the present. The first was an era of great optimism, which the prevailing opinion was that man's logic could ultimately solve even the most awesome problems. The modern "age of uncertainty" marks a direct contrast, when men are no longer naive about the serious obstacles such as over-population, adequate food supplies, and a more equitable balance between the industrialized nations and the Third World. In between are the lives and philosophies of the acknowledged giants of economics: Ricardo, Malthus, Spencer, Marx and Keynes.

Galbraith has the enviable talent for making his narrative "breathe," as he liberally spices the stories of major personalities with anecdotes and dry wit. For instance, he realizes that the infamous Karl Marx was largely supported through his leanest years in London by serving as an overseas correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune. During this period (the 1850's), Marx was being watched by the Prussian secret police, one of whom infiltrated the family's squalid Soho district apartment. He described it in his report as particularly four from cigar smoke, where "everything is broken, tattered and torn... covered with dust, so that to sit down becomes a thoroughly dangerous business." Thus lived one of the most influential men in history.

However entertaining it is, the book leaves one with a better understanding of basic principles of banking, the gold and silver standards, the root causes of inflation and depression, and some aspects of international finance. A vivid account is given of the Great Depression, beginning in 1929, and why it took so long for the Government to react sufficiently for recovery. Germany received much faster by putting millions to work on the famous autobahns and developing all phases of its industry.

Most people identify Galbraith with the liberal Democrats and the presidential campaigns of Kennedy, Johnson, McCarthy, and McGovern. He is an articulate economist from Harvard, a former ambassador to India, and a friendly rival of arch-conservative, William F. Buckley. During World War II, he served in Washington in an extremely powerful post, as head of price controls. Among his best known books are "The Great Crash, 1929," "The Affluent Society," and "Money: Whence It Came, Where It Went."

Six Flags preps for Memorial weekend

ARLINGTON — Six Flags Over Texas will begin its daily operating schedule Saturday one week earlier than originally planned.

General Manager Dan Howells said the change was made because of "an unusually heavy influx of out-of-state visitors and a very significant number of inquiries regarding the week prior to Memorial Day."

In past years, the Memorial Day weekend has traditionally marked the beginning of the Arlington theme park's daily schedule for the summer months.

Six Flags will open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday of that week. However, park officials urged that persons planning to visit on Friday, May 27, arrive early. The facility will close at 5 p.m. that day, due to a prior commitment for a private outing for employees of a major company that evening.

Howells said attendance through May 15 was up substantially over 1976's record-setting pace.

Memorial Day weekend will be celebrated at Six Flags with performances by the 5th Dimension on May 28 through 30.

They will perform two concerts each night at the Music Mill Theater, singing many of their 14 gold record hits such as "Up, Up and Away," "Aquarius-Let The Sunshine In," "Wedding Bell Blues" and "Last Night I Didn't Get To Sleep At All."

Two new members, Danny Beard and Majorie Barnes will be performing with the group. Beard appeared in Broadway productions of "The Wiz," "Pippin," "The Me Nobody Knows," and toured Europe with different groups. Miss Barnes starred in productions of "Hair," "The Great MacDaddy" and "The Magic Show" before joining the 5th Dimension.

Other three members have a varied background. Florence LaRue Gordon has a degree in elementary education. Lamonte McLemore was a baseball player and photographer. Ron Townson was trained in classical singing and toured with Dorothy Dandridge and Nat "King" Cole.

Concerts are scheduled at 8 and 10 p.m. Saturday, May 28, and at 6 and 8 p.m. Sunday and Monday, May 29 and 30.

Six Flags will open from 9:30 to midnight Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday and Monday.

Watercolor workshop

Bud Biggs, noted Dallas watercolorist and teacher, will demonstrate a complete watercolor painting at the Sands Art Center in Monahans next Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Biggs is conducting his eleventh annual watercolor demonstration and workshop for the Monahans Art Association. A showing of new watercolor paintings by Bud Biggs will be displayed at the demonstration. Registrations for the class have been filled for sometime, but tickets for the demonstration will be available at the door for $3.

After completing the Monahans workshop, Mr. and Mrs. Biggs will go to Cloudcroft, N.M., where Bud will teach his annual workshop at the Ramon Froman School of Art.

Delicious Dining

Richard Townsend

It has been said that a way to a man's heart is through his stomach. And indeed, this romantic sentiment has received much support from some of the greatest connoisseurs and writers. The supreme gourmand Brillat-Savarin claimed that "The discovery of a new dish does more for the happiness of man than the discovery of a star." G. B. Burgin claimed that "good dinners are so much rarer than good women, and far more piquant." And in Don Juan, Lord Byron wrote: "All human history attests that happiness for man — the hungry sinner — Since Eve ate apples, much depends on dinner."

It has also been said that once you have eaten at the WESTERN SIZZLER, 208 Gregg, 247,444 you will be back again for more. We are known for our family style restaurant where the food is fabulous and our prices can't be beat. Not only do you get all of this but eating in our western style atmosphere puts the finishing touches on everything. Stop in soon whether it be just for lunch or bring your whole family, they will love you for it. Open 11 a.m. - 9:30 p.m.

C-City Playhouse sets comedy fare

The Colorado City Playhouse production of 6 Rms Riv Vu (six rooms, river view) will be staged the first full week in June, the sixth through the eleventh.

Director of the Play, Tandy Curlee, said that the tickets will go on sale May 31.

There have been two cast changes since the original player announcements. Roger Sweatt had to drop out of practice because of conflicts with his business schedule and his part has been taken by the Rev. Jim Hill, pastor of the First Christian Church. Tammy Marcom was also replaced by Trina Taylor of Snyder, a veteran of prior Playhouse productions.

With the changes, the cast reads as follows:

Paul Friedman and Ann Miller, the lead roles, will be played by Fred and Donna McWhorter.

The expectant mother will be played by Trina Taylor, and the expectant father by Don Crout.

The woman in 4A will be played by Karen Gilliland. Janet Friedman will be played by Donna Watson, Richard Miller by Larry Lange, and the superintendent by Jim Hill.
