Mennonites in West Texas

Pioneers look for new life

SEMINOLE, Tex. (AP) — It could be a scene from a Hollywood western frontier epic.

The hard-working menfolk toil in the fields trying to urge crops from the West Texas plains. The women dress plainly and wear no jewelry. The children do their lessons in a one-room ranch house school.

It could be a movie scene but it's happening in 1977.

And these frontiersmen speak German.

These new pioneers are Mennonites — looking for a homeland. A colony of 600 uprooted their families from Mexico (too much political unrest) and Canada (too cold) and headed for Texas. They have purchased more than 7,500 acres near the New Mexico border.

They are not looking for a new life. Rather, Bishop Henry Reimer says, the colonists want to go back to their traditional lifestyles — including black wedding dresses and hard work.

"This is why we come to Texas," the leader of the Old Colony Mennonite Church said. "To get back to the old ways and to keep the kids on the farm and keep their German."

The Mennonites are Protestants and use a German version of the Bible. The family is responsible for instilling religion in their children.

They began arriving in the Lone Star State last fall. Eventually, they hope to bring thousands more settlers to the vast property.

In addition to the crops the men have started a dairy herd and plan to establish cheese factories, machine shops and a furniture factory.

They have received a warm welcome from area residents. Seminole Mayor Bob Clark said the Mennonites are not "welfare people."

"They take care of themselves, control their children and they are work-oriented; and, for that reason, I am glad they are here," Clark said.

Local bank president Dwayne Herman also thinks the new neighbors will be an advantage for the region.

"The only negative comment I've heard is that they might not spend as much money here because they are self-sustaining," Herman said.

The Mennonites say they will pay local taxes although they could claim a religious exemption for their church-owned land. They say they'll pay the taxes until they build their own school system.

Bishop Reimer hopes Texas will provide the right atmosphere for the children to "learn like we grew up."

"We have to work for our kids — what else do we have to work for? In the Bible it says we should keep them in their mother's language," he said.

And they are doing just that. The lessons are taught in German. English is taught as a second language.

In the small schoolhouse the children (ages six to 13) sit on wooden benches. The boys on one side and the girls on the other. The Bible is the only textbook.

School requests heard Friday

It will also hear the Budget Subcommittee report from Harold Hall, chairman.

The meeting will be held at 9 a.m. Withycombe Hall, Webb AFB. Jimmy Taylor is chairman of the Education Subcommittee.

Administration nixes A7 sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration has decided not to allow a proposed sale of 110 U.S.-built A7 fighter planes to Pakistan, informed sources said today.

The sale was disallowed on the basis of President Carter's new arms control policy, they said.

LTV Corp., which builds the A7 in Grand Prairie, Tex., has been seeking government approval for the $700 million sale for a year.

But State Department sources suggested that the sale was disapproved for two reasons: the addition of the A7 plane to the Pakistani air force would be seen, particularly by India, as a disruption of the balance of power on the subcontinent; additionally, the plane would significantly improve the sophistication of Pakistan's armed forces, which Carter has said his policy is supposed to prevent.

The sources said that another controversial sale proposal for 250 F18L planes to Iran by the Northrop Corp. may also be jeopardized by the same policy. But they said no final decision has been made.

The A7 has been a primary light attack plane for the Air Force and, in a modified version called the A7E, for the Navy since 1964. The administration has been trying to terminate the A7 program, with Carter calling the plane "obsolete."

But Texas congressmen have thus far managed to keep a few A7's in each year's defense budget to prevent the LTV assembly line from shutting down.

SUICIDE POSE — Edward Nylander posed for this photograph days before his charred remains, sitting in a similar yoga position with a skull on his lap, were found in a cave beside an empty gasoline can. On April 1 he mailed 10 friends packets containing a meticulously printed, single-page letter and a copy of his photograph. The county coroner has ruled that the 29-year-old son of a retired Air Force sergeant committed suicide.

Suicide victim left directions

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — It was no ordinary suicide.

On April 1, Edward Nylander sent 10 friends a photograph of himself.

Ten days later, his charred body was found in a cave next to a can of gasoline, in a yoga position with a skull in his lap — just as he had posed for the photo.

He had also sent the friends a meticulously printed letter, detailing how they could contact him after his death.

Nylander was 29, the son of a retired Air Force sergeant. He was a graduate of Oberlin College in Ohio, an Optimist International Youth Award winner, a factory worker, a pinball freak, a student of Eastern philosophies and a self-styled guru. He was also a suicide, the county coroner said.

He had revealed an intention to kill himself to a close friend.

According to the letter he sent his friends, Edward Nylander would be reincarnated. By meditating on his picture, starting at three minutes and working up 20 minutes, his friends would be able to reach him, he wrote.

The picture showed a young man with a thin beard and wire-rim glasses, and smiling, before a mandala with a skull in his hands.

A hiker found the body in the foothills west of Boulder.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Doors locked

Q. The doors to the Westside Day Care Center have been left unlocked at night several times recently. That is a temptation to kids in the neighborhood. Who is supposed to check on that duty?

A. Board members report that the manager is supposed to check on that duty. The manager says that the doors are locked daily. Apparently, the questioner is keeping a close check on the facility and would surely notify police if they noticed any suspicious persons on the premises.

Group to petition for city-county ambulance

By MARJ CARPENTER

Concerned citizens discussed the possibility of obtaining a city-county operated ambulance service when they met at Howard College for a public meeting Wednesday night.

Mrs. Diana Weir, who started the campaign with a letter to the editor, presided and opened with the words, "Ambulance service is like insurance. You don't worry about it until you need it and then it may be too late."

Most of the group of 44 persons present were for various reasons concerned with the present ambulance service and wanted to change to an Emergency Medical System. Troy Jones, an LVN and an employee of Alert Ambulance defended the present service at one point, but was greeted with derision from members of the audience.

Mrs. Weir told the group, "We are not here to criticize but to try to improve. The time has come for us to take action in trying to become a part of the EMS system rather than simply talking about it."

DEAN WILLIAMS from the EMS Division under the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council explained the background of the program in the 17-county area and pointed out that Howard County is already participating in the training portion of the program.

A large number of city firemen have taken the EMS training on a voluntary basis. Recommendation of the group is that the fire department take over the service and obtain two ambulances. A second advance course for paramedic training is planned for the future at the college.

The city and county were offered half the price of two ambulances two years ago through federal funding, but turned them down at that time because there were no funds to operate the system.

Investigations by Mrs. Weir, assisted by an attorney, presented a fact sheet to the group meeting Wednesday night.

The last day of June is the final day that the governmental units can obtain half the cost of ambulances for Big Spring and Howard County. This is, however, a drop in the bucket compared to the full cost of the service.

A fact sheet showed that it would cost $200,000 the first year to set up two emergency ambulances, and pay the needed trained employees.

MRS. WEIR ALSO showed the group a fact sheet from the tax assessor which showed that a raise in taxes that would cover a cost of $200,000 per year would be $8.67 annually on a 100 per cent property valuation on a $10,000 home. This would be about 72 cents per month.

No figures were presented on tax rate increase per $100 valuation, which would be needed to compute taxes on homes larger than $10,000 in value or in businesses or other tax property. The figure was used simply as an example.

The point which Mrs. Weir was making to the group was that it would only cost pennies per month to have city-county EMS service.

She hastened to add that this did not mean the taxpayers would then get free ambulance service. It would cost $40 per call, according to figures presented at the meeting. The tax raise would pay the initial cost of setting up the operation.

The cost per call would pay the continued cost of operation. Mrs. Weir pointed out in her statements "Perhaps you would pay the 72 cents per month and never need an ambulance. But if you did, it could possibly mean the difference between life and death. Is your life, or the life of a member of your family worth the price of less than a dollar a month?"

Williams pointed out that Texas laws were very lax on requirements of equipping ambulances or required training for the attendants. Requirements of the Federal Emergency Medical Systems, however, are strong and require a long list of equipment on ambulances and trained personnel.

Williams quoted the old idea of ambulance care as "We call, they haul and that's all."

Alvie Harrison, fire chief, said that the fire department is willing to operate the system if the city approves. Other spokesmen were Bob Harmon, EMS instructor; Andy Anderson, Permian basin EMS engineer, and Rich Coffman.

Harold Hall, city councilman was present at the meeting and told the group they would have to take their request to the commission and to the county. Roy Watkins, school board president and Lynn Hise, acting superintendent of schools, also attended. There was no county representative present.

ONE OF THE items pointed out by Mrs. Weir was that "In Texas, hair can only be cut by a barber with a minimum of 1200 hours of training, nails manicured by a professional with 150 hours of instruction and the director at a funeral home has had one full year of training. However, under current Texas law, the ambulance attendant responding to a life-or-death medical emergency needs only to have eight hours of first-aid training. He may even arrive in a pickup truck equipped with only a first-aid kit and a traction splint."

Dr. Carl Marcum, representing the medical community, pointed out that the changeover to Emergency Medical System had the full backing of the county medical association.

The group organized, naming Mrs. Weir chairman and named Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simpson, Dave Faulkenberry, Mrs. Barbara Henderson and Mrs. Brenda Cline to the board.

Other volunteers who will assist the board are David Simpson, Buddy Owens, Richard Coffman, Jimmy Woods, Barbara Bradley, Ricky Womack and Mrs. Frances Ferguson.

They plan to begin an immediate campaign to obtain signatures to a petition asking for a changeover to an Emergency Medical System.

At the present time, Malone-Hogan has installed a receiving radio in their emergency room which is connected to radios in Alert Ambulances for faster communication.

Police connect three burglaries

It is now known that house burglars scooped up thousands of dollars worth of merchandise in a weekend raid on three local homes.

"Of course we can't say for sure, but we think all three burglaries were done by the same people," said investigating Detective Richard Cantwell.

The burglaries to which he referred occurred at the homes of Dr. Houston J. Zinn, 2511 Allendale, Dr. John Fish, 907 Mountain Park, and Adolph Swartz, 909 Mountain Park.

All of the homeowners had left town for the weekend. Fish and Swartz returned Monday, but Zinn did not return to discover the intrusion until Tuesday.

In all three burglaries the culprits used a heavy wrench or pair of pliers to pry doorknobs off of the front door of the homes. The doors were then pried open with a screwdriver or tire iron, according to police.

When the burglary at the Fish residence was discovered 1 p.m. Monday, it was impossible to tell exactly what had been stolen. The intruders had ransacked the home, dumping dresser drawers onto the floor, and flinging clothes from the home's closets.

By this morning police had compiled a list of missing items that exceeded $13,000 in value. Stolen were a pair of diamond earrings, two mink coats, a 12-piece silver set, a ladies watch, a pair of pearl earrings, a pair of gold earrings, 270 sets of proof coins, and a collectors set of silver medallions commemorating postmasters in America.

Value of the missing merchandise at the Swartz home has not yet been assessed. Stolen were a digital watch, a diamond ring, a pin watch, a gold ring watch, three gold chains, a gold cigarette lighter, a gold ring mounted with rubies and diamonds, a silver and turquoise necklace, a silver and turquoise belt, a variety of rhinestone jewelry, and a series of traveller's checks which can be cancelled.

Zinn lost a white mink coat, a bracelet watch, a .38 cal. pistol, a .22 magnum derringer, a set of silverware and a watch. Value of the items was estimated at $5,575.

"There were also some pillowcases, no sheets just pillowcases, stolen at each home. I guess they (the burglars) used them to carry the stuff off," said Cantwell.

SHE CHEWED . . . — A lioness rips apart a $500 mannequin and her $1,700 fashion attire during a photographic session at the Denver Zoo to advertise Anne Klein fashions. Her mate sniffed at the model, roared a few times, and then walked off, but it took her just thirty seconds to rip the whole works to shreds.

'Heeeeear's Johnny'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Johnny Carson returns to "The Tonight Show" next Tuesday after taking two weeks off to recover from a recurrence of an old injury and one week for a vacation. Carson got a pinched nerve in his neck several years ago when he fell off an exercise board at his home. Carson had scheduled a vacation the week of May 30, but remained at home to recuperate.

Beware: Watch-rabbit

NEW YORK (AP) — The ASPCA is warning burglars that the animal society's Manhattan offices are guarded by a watch-rabbit. That's right, a watch-rabbit. His name is Harvey and he is not to be messed with. Harvey is a trained attack rabbit whose unidentified owner handed him over to officials of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals 10 days ago after he bit six people. ASPCA Executive Director Gordon Wright says the animal society then turned Harvey over to the Department of Health, which held him for observation before releasing him back to the ASPCA. Wright says Harvey is not up for adoption because "we don't adopt out attack animals." "In the case of the attack rabbit, we will probably keep it — to protect our premises," Wright said. Harvey is described as an "adult-sized gray and white rabbit."

Army captain now Emperor

France (AP) — Fifteen Central African Empire imperial guardsmen have arrived in this Normandy village to perfect their horsemanship for the Dec. 4 coronation of Emperor Bokassa I. Bokassa, 56, a former French army captain, seized power in a military coup in 1966 and was later named President-for-life of the Central African Republic. Last December, he changed the landlocked country's name to Central African Empire, proclaimed himself emperor and ordered his subjects to leave his presence walking backward. The 15 guardsmen arrived Monday at a stud farm near Lisieux in Normandy. A spokesman at the farm said the guardsmen were already accomplished horsemen, but would need two months to become used to the large European steeds to be used at the coronation. Bokassa has ordered 24 white thoroughbreds for the ceremony.

U.S. warns Rhodesia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government has warned the white Rhodesian government to call home its 700 troops hunting black guerrillas in Mozambique or face the consequences. U.S. officials said pressure tactics are being discussed with Britain and several African nations. They said another condemnation of Rhodesia's white minority government by the United Nations and economic pressure exerted through South Africa were being considered.

'Tax Rebel' convicted of failing to file income tax return in '74

MIDLAND — William Rinehart of Odessa, a member of the so-called Tax Rebels of Odessa, was convicted here Wednesday of failing to file an income tax return for money earned in 1974. A jury of six men and as many women returned the verdict in about 30 minutes. The trial was held in federal district court here. Rinehart, 51, is an unemployed machinist. Rinehart said he had not filed income tax returns for either 1975 or 1976. Rinehart will formally be sentenced June 22.

Panama deal made

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — American and Panamanian negotiators are near agreement on a treaty to phase out U.S. control of the Panama Canal and a separate pact to guarantee neutrality of the waterway, sources close to the negotiations say. They said substantial agreement was reached during the talks that recessed Wednesday in Washington and are to resume in Panama in 10 days. The sources said a final agreement could be ready by the end of June. It would be subject to ratification by the U.S. Senate and a Panamanian plebiscite. The sources said the negotiators have agreed on Dec. 31, 1999, as the date for Panama to take complete control of the canal and the canal zone, now administered by the United States. Three years after ratification of the agreement the canal and the zone would become Panamanian territory although the United States would continue to operate the waterway from a sector about 60 percent smaller than the existing zone until 1999.

Colton Wright named local fire marshal

Colton Wright, 27, a four-year veteran on the Big Spring Fire Department, has been named as the new Fire Marshal for the city. Wright will replace Fire Marshal Howard Dodd who died last week. Wright had recently been appointed as an inspector and assistant to Dodd at the time of the marshal's death. He had trained under Dodd, and attended an arson prevention school in Austin recently. Previous Big Spring Fire Chief A.D. Meador will step in to take over Wright's training for the rest of this summer. "We were real lucky, A.D. said he wasn't doing anything this summer, so he volunteered to come over and give us a hand," said Fire Chief Alvie Harrison. Wright is a resident of Sand Springs. He has a wife, Sandra Ann, and a daughter, Nicole, who is eight-months-old today.

Musical program

A musical variety program will be presented at the Kentwood Older Adult Center, 2805 Lynn, 7 p.m. Saturday. The program will include The Van Koutz Band from Gail. Mellwayne Cook of Stanton will play the piano for the group which is composed of high school students. A quartet from the First Baptist Church under the direction of Alton Underwood will also appear on the program. The public is invited, and admission is free.

Farm Youth Horsemen ride for miles

Howard County Youth Horsemen held a long 45-mile trailride on the hottest day of the year Sunday sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hull and Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Walker. The trek included an overnight campout along the way to Gail. Sixteen horseback riders left the Hull home at 1 p.m. Sunday and rode north 24 miles to the Phinizy ranch. They camped at that location with permission of the owner. They were also allowed the use of the corals. A pickup and trailer accompanied the group to supply drinking water and be available if an emergency arose. Others joined the group at the campsite and formed a circle resembling the wagon trains of pioneer days. A supper of sandwiches, chips and cold drinks were served. At 6 a.m., they were served sausage and eggs with the Hulls doing the cooking. The group brushed and saddled horses and rode 18 more miles. The museum committee in Gail gave the travelers the red carpet treatment, serving refreshments and answering questions as they visited the museum. The group, which had grown to around 40, held a picnic under the only shade tree in Gail. They then loaded tired hot horses into trailers, climbed into air conditioned pickups and headed home.

Youth VA vols to be picked

The Veteran's Administration Hospital Youth Volunteer service will start on June 14 with an orientation program. According to Dene Sheppard, Chief of Volunteer Services at the hospital, the number of youth volunteers employed at the hospital this summer will be cut drastically, and that selection of potential volunteers would be very competitive. As youth volunteers, not only is the patient care and entertainment at the hospital enhanced, but the education, the self-enrichment through helping others, and the valuable experience of serving as a volunteer can be helpful later in obtaining paid employment. In order to be a youth volunteer, one must have completed the 8th grade, have parental consent, and have an interview with Dene Sheppard before attending the orientation on June 14.

Cattle producers invited to meeting

LAMESA — Dawson County and area cattle producers are invited to attend a special meeting on the proposed Beef Market Development Program to be held at 7 p.m. Monday at the Woman's Building on the Dawson County Fairgrounds. Beef Development Task-force county chairman, J.P. Senter, will preside at the session. "This is a program by cattle producers and for cattle producers," Senter said. "It's important that it be understood and supported." The Beef Market Development program hopes to raise $30 to $40 million through voluntary contribution each year to invest in consumer education, research, and foreign market development. Cattle producers will vote on the proposed program this summer in a national referendum.

Hunt girl in Odessa

The trail of Vickie Lou Bjorn may have been extended to Odessa, according to the Howard County Sheriff's Department. Sheriff A.N. Standard said that a woman riding the TAOS bus line from Odessa to Marfa may have identified the missing girl as having been left behind in the Odessa terminal. According to Standard, a woman told the Ector County Sheriff's Department that she noticed a girl fitting Bjorn's description left behind when the bus pulled out. When she remarked on this to the driver, according to Standard, he replied that they were on a schedule and could not turn back. Twenty-year-old Bjorn has been missing since May 25, when her mother placed her on a bus bound for Marfa. She has not yet arrived. The girl, who is reportedly mentally-impaired, was to change buses twice before reaching her destination. The search for the missing girl has spread statewide, and is now concentrated in Odessa on the strength of Greyhound manager Jim Owen's testimony that the girl boarded the bus to Odessa that day. Owens has identified the girl from a photograph.

Rain poses woes in wheat fields

WASHINGTON (AP) — With most of spring planting completed by Wednesday, farmers in many parts of the country now are anxiously waiting — as always this time of year — to see if the rains come on time and the crops grow well. Others, with winter wheat ripening in the southern Great Plains, need clear weather, at least for a few days, so that combines can move into rain-drenched fields for the harvest, according to the Agriculture Department. By Sunday, the department says in its weekly weather review, 98 per cent of this year's corn crop was planted, slightly ahead of the pace a year ago. About 76 per cent of soybeans were in the ground, compared with 70 per cent last year. The winter wheat crop, first of the major commodities to be harvested, was rated in "good" shape nationally by the end of May, and the harvest edged into Oklahoma, where rains have slowed the combines. Rain also was a problem in Texas wheat fields. Rain delayed final corn plantings in the western Corn Belt and progress lagged in Kentucky and Michigan, the report said.

Failed to stop charges filed

Charges were filed Wednesday in Justice of the Peace Bob West's court against Juan Flores Pereira for failure to stop at the scene of an accident and give information. Pereira was involved in the accident May 27. He has posted $5,000 bond set by Municipal Judge John Coffee.

Drought loans authorized

Cong. Omar Bursleson announced Wednesday that the following counties in the 17th Congressional District have been designated for emergency drought assistance: Borden, Howard, Coleman, Crosby, Dawson, Floyd, Garza, Kent, Lynn and Scurry. Individuals and communities in emergency drought impact areas are eligible for special loans and grants from the Department of Agriculture, Interior, Commerce and Small Business Administration. Applicants must meet special eligibility requirements established by each agency before assistance may be provided. Participants and agricultural programs authorized last May 4 must sign up for specific drought assistance no later than Sept. 30 and must complete whatever work is being financed by the aid by Nov. 30.

Will success spoil Old Soreheads Day?

STANTON — Stanton's first Old Soreheads Trades Day, scheduled all day Saturday on a blocked-off downtown street, promises to be a huge success. Terry Neill, the Chamber of Commerce's chairman for the project, said that clubs and individuals are cooperating to insure the success of the venture. The booths will be set up just south of Stanton Variety Store and north of Stanton Electric. In addition, the downtown merchants will stage sidewalk sales. The entire block will be roped off, according to Neill, and 8x12 foot spaces will be rented for $10 each. Any kind of merchandise can be displayed. The Chamber operates on the theory that one man's trash is another man's treasure and has appealed to the public to clean out closets and storerooms. Those displaying merchandise can set up their displays as early as 8 a.m.

READY FOR HOSTAGES — This area of Groningen's hospital is prepared to receive the hostages still being held by South Moluccan terrorists since the hijacking of the commuter train outside of Assen, The Netherlands, on May 23. Hostages might stay for 24 hours in this room where first aid could be provided if needed.

Snipers blast TV towers

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — South Moluccan terrorists opened fire today on television towers erected by police near their hijacked train to keep it under day and night observation, a Justice Ministry spokeswoman said. There was no report that anyone had been hurt in the sniping. The spokeswoman, Toos Faber, said the heavily armed terrorists, holding at least 55 hostages on the train, were shooting sporadically at TV observation masts in fields several hundred yards from the train, which is halted on a major rail line eight miles north of this northern Dutch city.

Asked whether the gunfire hit the masts, she replied, "Not yet." She declined comment on a Dutch newspaper report that the terrorists had shot at Dutch marines placing listening devices under the train during the night. The tall masts were put up Wednesday to relay closed-circuit pictures from hidden television cameras pointed toward the train, she said, and the gunmen soon demanded that they be taken down. While authorities were trying to talk to them by telephone about the TV towers, the terrorists began shooting, Mrs. Faber said. The seven to 11 terrorists aboard the train have periodically opened fire since they and another group of four terrorists seized the train and the village school at Bovensmilde, 10 miles away. The second group, which also fired its weapons after the takeover, holds four teachers at the school. Most of the gunshots during the 11-day twin sieges were fired into the air. No one was hurt. The Dutch government and the terrorists on Wednesday rejected each other's first nominees to mediate the crisis. "The situation remains very serious," Premier Joop den Uyl said in a television appearance. "There is no clear indication that a solution is in sight."

Police beat Bandit scores

An armed robber invaded the home of Johnny Schultz, 403 Valley, while he slept, 12:30 a.m. today. According to reports, Schultz was awakened in his bed by a tall man holding a long kitchen knife. The midnight intruder then demanded Schultz's wallet, took out $55 in cash, and ordered the victim to stay in bed. While Schultz did as he had been told, the robber cut the wires to the phone in the residence, walked through the front door and drove away.

Burglars pried open both a window and a back door at the home of Velma Campbell, 1506 E. Cherokee, sometime between 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday. They gathered up a black and white television set, an AM-FM radio, an eight-track tape player and two stereo speakers. Loss was estimated at $325. Geneva Edwards, 200 Goliad, reported that a man drove a white Buick Le Sabre onto her yard, striking and killing her young Airedale puppy. The man then drove off.

Two radios and a speaker were stolen from three cars parked at Bob Smith Auto Repair Shop, 3911 W. Highway 80, sometime between 7 and 8 p.m. Tuesday. Loss was estimated at $85. Five mishaps were reported Wednesday. Vehicles driven by Mark W. Reeves, 2770 Larry, Christopher T. Burnett, Sterling City Route, and Ralph L. Fox, 907 Abrams, collided at 3800 La Junta, 10:25 p.m. Vehicles driven by Janet Heiman, 4207 West Highway 80, and Jimmie D. Ray, 407 E. 5th, collided on the 100 block of East Fifth. Vehicles driven by John F. Simpson, 4039 Vicky, and Lockie D. Beach, 203 E. 9th, collided on the 300 block of East Ninth, 6 p.m. Vehicles driven by Peggy D. Smith, 1408 Oriole, and Jim L. Brown, 1508 Oriole, collided at 1508 Oriole, 6:35 p.m. A parked vehicle belonging to James R. Wells, 1010 Bluebonnet, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the College Park Shopping Center, 8 p.m.

Weather Thunderstorms moving southward

By The Associated Press

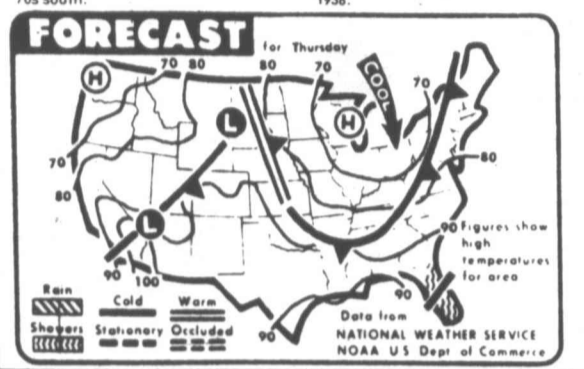

A line of thunderstorms that buffeted portions of South Central and Southeast Texas Wednesday weakened and moved into the Gulf of Mexico today, but a new group moved into the Texas Panhandle.

The storms were reported at dawn from near Lefors to south of Clarendon and from northeast of Borger to east of Silverton. During the night, much of the eastern Panhandle and adjacent areas in Oklahoma were been treated to a lightning display. The thunderstorms were moving southward.

U.S. depression by 1985 forecast

ENID, Okla. (AP) — An energy adviser during the Nixon administration predicts that "by 1985 the United States is going to have a very severe depression." He says President Carter's energy policies would bring on the depression even sooner.

John J. McKetta made the prediction Wednesday night at a public forum closing the first day of a three-day producer-consumer energy conference.

McKetta, who was named in 1970 by then-President Richard M. Nixon to head the National Energy Policy Committee, said that in 1985 the nation will have "an energy shortage that will make your hair stand on end" no matter what steps are taken now to combat the energy crisis.

He blamed "the shortsightedness and lethargy of Congress" toward worsening energy prospects.

President Carter "has no provision in his plan for increasing (energy) production except coal and the amount of coal is a measly five per cent a year and I would expect that the industry itself is already on a greater growth curve," McKetta said.

He also said Carter was "foolish" for halting work on breeder reactors for nuclear power generation and called the president "basically anti-oil."

McKetta, who was president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers in 1962, is now a professor of chemical engineering at the University of Texas.

Earlier Wednesday, the chief economist of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Jack Carlson, called for a 6 per cent annual increase in the real price of crude oil to be written into the Carter energy program, which he said now calls for no increase and would wipe out small increases now possible.

Carlson said such a change would mean that by 1985 the United States could have an increase in production of 4.2 million barrels a day instead of the 3.6 million increase Carter envisions.

Gadgets to invade privacy

CHICAGO (AP) — A congressional commission is planning to recommend sweeping legislation to protect Americans from computerized invasions of privacy.

"The potential for abuse is horrifying," said David Linowes, head of the Privacy Protection Study Committee. "With records compiled on all people almost from the day they're born, it could be like Big Brother."

The commission will present its package to Congress in mid-July, Linowes said Wednesday.

The group is expected to recommend that the law require an individual's authorization for any transfers of personal data, including name and address, from one organization to another.

Another recommendation under consideration would force companies to destroy records on individuals after specified periods.

Significant abuses of supposedly confidential medical records, tax returns and credit information were uncovered by the commission during two years of hearings and more than 300 interviews, Linowes said.

The group was created by the Privacy Act of 1974.

"Information is being made available today for many purposes for which it was not originally intended," Linowes said in a telephone interview.

"We were really surprised how readily available an individual's federal tax return can be," Linowes said. "I saw a copy of a manual used by one company to train its employees to obtain tax returns by impersonating a local government official."

With existing data, he said, "anybody who wants to spend enough money can find out where a person travels, his medical history, what books he reads, who he associates with, what courses he takes in school, his sexual preferences. And with enough of that information, you can pretty much determine the very nature and substance of a person."

Space pay cuts noted

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post said today a Johnson Space Center spokesman has confirmed that 60 of the higher ranking space agency employees have been notified they will be getting substantial pay cuts.

Some of the employees will be reduced two grades and some will be reduced one grade, the spokesman said.

The reductions in pay could range from $5,000 to $10,000 annually. Fifty-one of those affected are based at the center near here. Nine others are at other locations, such as Cape Canaveral, White Sands, N. M. and Palmdale, Calif., the spokesman said.

regulations they retain for two years, even after the reduction in grade is effective, the pay they were getting at their former grade, the spokesman said.

"The reductions in grade are aimed at eliminating surplus of staff positions and lowering the supervisory ratio resulting from a center reorganization under way in which several units are being consolidated," he said.

He said a lessening of the activity at the center because of fewer programs to manage caused an excess in supervisory personnel. The effective date of the reductions is July 10. Those affected were notified May 26.

Sheriff hot on trail of fugitive

COLORADO CITY — Sheriff Bill McGuire said today that he thinks they might capture an escaped Colorado City murder suspect before the weekend is over.

"We think we have some leads. Of course, they may turn out to be wrong," Sheriff McGuire said in relation to taking into custody the 27-year-old man who has been at large since Monday afternoon.

Billy Wayne Williams escaped from jail when he was brought downstairs to be administered medication. He made his break when the deputy escorting him stepped into the next room to answer a telephone. Williams is described as 5 feet 8 inches and about 150 pounds and has an Afro hair style. When last seen, he was wearing blue jeans and a white shirt. He often wears a derby hat.

Williams is charged with the slaying of his wife three months ago in Sweetwater. The sheriff said that he is considered dangerous.

He was being held in Mitchell County for trial in Nolan County, which is currently in the process of building a new jail.

Job facing Spannaus is big one

The announcement Tuesday that Col. Harry Spannaus, wing commander at Webb Air Force Base, will be staying on at Webb as the director of the city's airport and industrial park there is most encouraging news for the community.

COL. SPANNAUS, who will be retiring after 26 years of Air Force service, has the managerial experience to help the City of Big Spring make the Webb facility a going operation.

The job will be a big one — a challenge of major proportions of both the city and Col. Spannaus.

The colonel joked at the press conference that he now has 3,000 persons at Webb, and the city will probably be asking that the job be done with 12 employees.

City Manager Harry Nagel

responded with a smile that the number may be more like 10.

Col. Spannaus will be the man whose task it will be to make the changeover from military to civilian operation at Webb, and to run a municipal airport, and to see that as many buildings are leased to prospective industries as possible.

The job of making the Webb facility pay as an airport and an industrial park is one of the toughest looking challenges I have ever seen.

But no one could be better qualified to tackle it than Col. Spannaus.

SEVERAL OF THE communities which have gone through base closings have advised Big Spring to find someone like Col. Spannaus for the airport and industrial park, and the Webb Steering Committee decided that Spannaus was the man, and it was lucky enough to be able to hire him.

The wing commander had an opportunity to go to what he described as a good position in Korea with the Air Force, but he turned it down to stay in Big Spring.

"For once, my family came first," he said. "We want a home."

Spannaus said his family likes this area and he welcomes the chance to help Big Spring recover from the closing of Webb.

Spannaus said that he had talked with Gen. John Roberts, commander of the Air Training Command which operates Webb, about taking the position with the City of Big Spring. The general, Spannaus said, was cooperative and supportive.

Spannaus will retire officially on Dec. 31, but he will go on terminal leave Nov. 1 and be ready to work for the city.

Thus, the nucleus begins to form around an organization which hopefully will cause a fallen military base to rise as an industrial park and soon again be a contributor to the well-being of Big Spring.

Real bias

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — There is a lot of talk about reform in education. I haven't given this problem much thought until recently when I went on the commencement talk circuit.

It dawned on me that everywhere I went there was something wrong with the graduating class. I couldn't put my finger on it until the students started to receive their diplomas. Then it hit me! The most prevailing discrimination in our schools has to do with people's names.

IN EVERY graduating class, the students whose names started with A, B, C and up to L had the best seats up front. The graduates whose last names started with M and ended with Z were stuck in the back. They could not even see the platform because the A to L people were wearing mortarboards and blocking their view.

The A to L group were always the first in the graduation procession marching smartly down the aisles as parents kept snapping photos of them. The M to Z group straggled behind listlessly, failing to keep in step, knowing that by the time they walked by their parents would have run out of film.

After the hymns and speeches the president started to award the diplomas. The audience would be up for the A's and the B's and these students would get the loudest applause. But I noticed as time went on the crowd would become more and more bored, and the applause got less and less. By the time the president got to Mindlin, the only applause you could hear was from the graduate's relatives. When Wyzinski received his diploma it was so quiet you could hear a pin drop.

If it was just graduation exercises we wouldn't have to worry about the problem. But alphabetical discrimination begins the day a child enters grammar school for the first time. Most children on their first day of school are excited about their new life experience.

THEN THE TEACHER starts calling their names: "Abernathy, you have the first seat. Altschuler, you have the second seat. Brown the third" and so on. As she reads off the names of the child, whose last name starts with a P, an R or an S, is in panic. Will there be enough seats left for him? There usually are, but of course they're in the back of the room. This is the child's first realization that for the rest of his or her life he or she will have to wait until the A to L group's needs are attended to.

When report cards are given out, the Petersons and Raphaels and the Steiglitzes have twice as long to wait for the ax to fall as the Allens, Berliners and Kennedys. In gym classes the Caldwelles and Daltons and Evertons and Flahertys get the best lockers and newest equipment. A Youngstein usually winds up with a pair of gym shorts that don't fit him.

When the kids move on to high school the alphabetical discrimination continues. If they apply for college, the A to L group's applications are always on the top of the pile. It takes weeks, sometimes months, for the college admissions director to get down to Shreiner and Thomsing.

MANY STATE universities have been aware of the problem and to solve it they give students numbers instead of names. The only thing wrong with this system is that the numbers are issued alphabetically, and the A to L group get the lower numbers and the M to Z group are stuck with ones so long that they are impossible to remember.

"Now, gentlemen... unless we use our heads and get these evil genes back into...uh...gentlemen...?"

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Jumpy leg irks oldster

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I suffer from jumpy legs, which makes me wonder if this phenomenon is new to you or a common ailment. I enjoy excellent health and enjoy life in general.

I have good legs otherwise, meaning they are nice and shapely, and my weight fully dressed is 110 pounds. I have an active life, play tennis, and have always walked. So what gives with this otherwise healthy lady! What causes the jumping, thus robbing me of much needed sleep? It starts about half an hour after retiring. I mount a flight of stairs many times a day and do not gasp for breath. — Mrs. C.L.

I'll bet not many could come close to guessing your age, Mrs. C.L. — which is 82. I wish space allowed me to print the cute poem you included in your letter.

Your complaint, jitter legs, also called "restless legs," is common. Women are especially affected. The cause is not clear, although there are several theories. It can be related to faulty circulation, excessive muscle use, diabetes, thyroid disorders, or some sleep disturbance. It can occur in periods of light sleep, especially.

There are several treatments that can be tried, including leg massage, heat (as with a hot water bottle or an electric blanket). Medicines, as vasodilators, aspirin, vitamin E, and mild sedation, alone or in combination, have been tried. Of the tranquilizers, Valium has had more success in this than the others. Since it is a prescription item, you would have to discuss it with your doctor.

Restless leg is a nuisance ailment, and has been responsible for millions of hours of lost sleep over the years.

At 82, and with your otherwise splendid health, I hope you can find a way to put this problem behind you. If you don't have my booklet on leg cramps, you might get a copy. It may offer other leads and tips. For a copy send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a diabetic. I get shakes in the morning. My doctor told me to drink orange juice, which I do, but I have found that vodka and tomato juice takes away the shakes just as well. I take 50 units of insulin for control. Will the vodka and tomato juice be harmful? I'm 73. — H.C.J.

Your doctor probably wanted you to get a source of quick glucose. You will get some glucose from the tomato juice. The vodka would be a mild sedative. Has anyone suggested adjusting your insulin dosage or a bed time feeding? There's nothing sacred about the 50 units.

Discuss your "remedy" with your doctor. As long as you are under control, the "bloody Mary" would be no more harmful than the "screwdriver" (the former being vodka and tomato juice, the latter vodka and orange juice). But one drink often leads to two.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am taking a pill called Aldactazide, and have noticed an enlargement of my breasts. Is there any connection? Have you ever discussed this or heard of it? — Mr. G.J.L.

Aldactazide is a combination of potent diuretic (water releasing) drugs commonly used in high blood pressure. It may cause gynecomastia — the breast enlargement you mention — which is not so harmful, but it may indicate the dose you're getting is too high. A lower one would end the problem.

You should report this to your doctor along with any other symptoms, such as dizziness or headaches, which can also be among the undesired effects of the drug. This is a good lesson for others taking medicines. Often, the various reactions to drugs are important as indicators of improper dosage. Reporting reactions to the physician can lead to correction of the dose.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible to have high blood pressure and hypoglycemia at the same time? My doctor has doubled my dosage of high blood pressure medicine and I have been having headaches and feel weak and dizzy. I am 58. — Mrs. G.W.V.

Yes, you can have both at the same time. But I suspect your symptoms are caused by the high blood pressure medicine. Report them.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For a better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a habitual liar; it hurts my family, but I just can't seem to stop. What is wrong with lying? I don't see why they make such a big deal about it. — L.K.F.

DEAR L.K.F.: The Bible is very clear about lying: "Lying lips are abomination to the Lord" (Proverbs 12:22). One of the Ten Commandments is: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor" (Exodus 20:16).

So the first thing that is wrong about lying is that God forbids it. I know that lying is very common today, but that does not make it right. God is a holy God, and He has promised to judge the person who lies. "He that worketh deceit shall not dwell within my house: he that telleth lies shall not tarry in my sight" (Psalms 101:7). Lying is a serious matter to God.

But there is another thing that is wrong with lying, and it is one of the reasons God forbids it. As you seem to recognize, your lying is hurting other people, and, whether you realize it or not, it is hurting you. How can there be a strong sense of family unity if there is suspicion and distrust because someone constantly lies? How will you ever be trusted with any responsibility in your job if you become known as a liar? In fact, your constant lying may keep you from getting a job. In the long run it can ruin your life.

I wonder if you have ever really asked yourself why you enjoy lying? Some people lie because they think it makes people think they are better than they really are. Others lie as a means of escape, to keep from facing the truth. Still others resort to lying because they are trying to get out of difficulties caused by particular sins they have committed.

Whatever your reason, the first step is to face up to the fact that lying is wrong. Then ask God's forgiveness for this sin, and ask Him to help you tell the truth. "Putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour." (Ephesians 4:25).

Daily ritual

Around the rim

According to most authorities, today's kids watch thousands of hours of TV before they even set foot inside a school. If this is the case, I hope that Captain Kangaroo is around long enough to be included in my future offspring's viewing.

I began watching the Captain at about the age of three, as I'm sure most people my age did. After the first time I saw it, it became a daily ritual that was as sacred as anything could be to a three-year-old.

BUT I WAS not the only one who watched the Captain. I noticed that my Dad started putting his socks and shoes on in front of the TV, and laughing as hard as I did at Mr. Moose, Bunny Rabbit, Dancing Bear, Grandfather Clock and, of course, Mr. Green Jeans.

Dad wasn't alone. Mom would watch along while the oatmeal came to a boil, and she got a giggle out of it too.

As I grew older, I eventually quit watching Captain Kangaroo. At about nine, I decided I had outgrown him.

I also later assumed that my parents had been patronizing when they watched him along with me when I was a kid. I was sure that they had just laughed along so as not to traumatize me or something.

It was not until a few weeks ago, when I was a little late for work, as usual, and couldn't find the keys to my car, when I happened to notice that Captain Kangaroo is really class entertainment.

The morning news was over, and I was under a chair looking for the keys, when the theme song that was the hymn of my childhood came lilting over the Sony.

Saves lives

WASHINGTON — Bureaucratic red tape, if not President Carter's human rights policies, may have saved a few poor souls in El Salvador from being gunned down by the military dictatorship's soldiers.

The incident is worth recording as sad evidence that the bureaucrats in their State Department cubicles were paying little attention to the President's statements. Early in February, the military government of El Salvador placed an order with an American arms dealer for $96,227.85 worth of weapons, including hollow-point bullets and submachine guns.

THESE UGLY GOODS, according to license applications didn't mention that the government had scheduled national elections on February 20, and expected trouble from a restive populace. The weapons were to be used, apparently, against opponents of the military regime.

State Department officials approved the sale, with the exception of a few items, in time for delivery before the election. But in a bureaucracy, a decision is seldom final. Any bureaucrat worth his salt will seek the endorsement of others to reduce his own liability. The weapons sale approval, therefore, was bucked to other desks for comment.

The national elections were held in El Salvador, meanwhile, without the extra hollow-point bullets and sub-machine guns. Ballot boxes, conveniently stuffed beforehand, were substituted for the real thing. Additional votes were cast in the names of citizens in the cemeteries.

Poll watchers, who questioned these tactics, were intimidated and arrested. To no one's great surprise, the military-backed candidates were triumphant. Protests by the opposition party were brutally suppressed. The government claimed only five people were killed, but our sources say at least a hundred El Salvadorans died.

This sort of unpleasantness could have backfired on the officials who approved the arms sale. They reconsidered the approval which, blessedly, was still circulating in the bureaucratic labyrinth. As one official put it delicately: "The passage of time had produced a different set of conditions in El Salvador."

THE PREVIOUS DECISION, therefore, was revoked. The sale of some weapons was flatly disapproved; others were held up for "further consideration." The bureaucrats, in other words, had unwittingly prevented the sale of arms which probably would have been used by the military dictatorship to fire upon those who dared to protest the fraudulent elections.

PEOPLE POISONING — Thousands of people have been poisoned and at least 40 people have died during the past five years as a result of the overuse of pesticides in Central America. The cotton fields have been saturated with some toxic chemicals that are now banned in the United States.

These are the findings of a United Nations environmental team, which conducted an 18-month study of pesticide use in the cotton-growing areas of El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua. "To varying degrees," the team reported, "almost all components of the Central American ecosystem have Glancing up, I noticed that the Captain (Bob Keeshan) hasn't aged a bit. At least not from my memories of him from when I was a four-year-old. And Mr. Green Jeans (brilliantly played by Lumpy Barnum) is still with him, along with Mr. Moose, Bunny Rabbit, etc.

BESIDES THIS stunning troupe, they have added Mr. Luctor the Conductor, Mr. Bainter the Painter, and a guest personality each day.

These guests have included Pearl Bailey, Hal Linden, (who regularly plays Barney Miller), Kevin Dobson (who usually plays Crocker on "Kojak"), Theodore Bikel (a folksinger who played Mr. Binstrel the Minstrel on the Captain's show) and many others.

"Who cares?" you say. I do, for a couple of reasons. The first is that the excellence of this show confirms that I wasn't completely wasting a big hunk of my adolescent life watching it.

Second, the airwaves are almost devoid of genuinely funny, sophisticated entertainment for kids. Saturday morning TV (produced exclusively for children) is a perfect example of how bad the wasteland can be. Captain Kangaroo is the best thing for young kids on television, and that includes "Sesame Street" (which I also sometimes watch).

I am not exactly sure where this is leading, except maybe to recommend that the next time you are late for work and looking for your keys, tune in the Captain. I am beginning to think that the show was not made expressly for me when I was three, but also for my father to watch while he put on his socks.

AT THE SAME time, the environmental devastation caused by the pesticides has forced some impoverished small farmers to leave their land. Their pitiful plots have become so contaminated that they cannot grow enough corn and beans. This has turned them into peons who survive by working for the large cotton plantations.

It was not until some of the land barons' own cattle became contaminated that they began to be concerned about the problem. In the past 15 years, at least $1.7 million worth of beef cattle have been tainted by pesticides.

The UN team was brought to Central America to assess the damages and to introduce pest management techniques. Earlier UN efforts had already brought a gradual reduction in human poisoning from 6,078 cases in 1972 to 2,074 in 1975. The new UN team was able to reduce pesticide use by as much as 63 per cent on test plots.

Footnote: One insect that has resisted the poisonous environment is the tough malaria mosquito, which seems to thrive on pesticides. The Central American governments are now using costly propoxur to fight the deadly mosquito. The result has been fewer sprays and a rise in the incidence of malaria.

Gourmet fare

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — Translated into French, and folded in with eggs and cream, earthworms can be passed off as gourmet fare. But according to a fish bait firm, they're even good when swallowed unadorned.

A dish called "Quiche Lorraine avec Ver de Terre," concocted by a fourth-grade teacher from New Jersey, won first prize Wednesday in the second annual Ver de Terre Recipe Contest at California State Polytechnic University.

Ver de terre means earthworm. "Some of the judges were hesitant before they started the judging because they haven't eaten earthworms. But afterward all said they liked them," said John Burke, vice president of the marketing firm for North American Bait Farms, which put on the contest.

"We don't think that earthworms will be on everybody's table," Burke admitted. "But the contest gives us a chance to tell people that earthworms are 73 per cent protein and are low in cholesterol."

Besides, he added, "when you mix them in another recipe, you can hardly taste them. When you eat them plain after boiling them, to me they taste an awful lot like shredded wheat."

Strawberries favorite here

Strawberries have always been a favorite in this country and historians remind us that settlers arriving at Jamestown "found the wild berries growing in profusion and rejoiced in them." For many years Portsmouth, Virginia, was called "Strawberry Bank" because the tart-sweet aroma of the berries greeted mariners even before they sighted land.

It was in Portsmouth that strawberry socials were born. Once a year at the height of the season, the good ladies of the community outdid themselves in creating all sorts of strawberry splendors. Gradually, the idea took hold and strawberry desserts remain as a prize-winning attraction at many state and county fair booths.

If the ladies at Portsmouth considered themselves creative in the mid-17th century, the ladies (and men) of this late 20th century are carrying on the tradition and in a far easier fashion.

Lemon Sugar Strawberry Shortcake, Swedish Shortcake, and Strawberry all three have one ingredient in common — apart from fresh strawberries. Each features Birds Eye Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping. No fuss, no muss with a fresh, creamy taste that's made to order for homemade desserts the year around.

LEMON SUGAR STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

4 c. all-purpose biscuit mix
 3 tbsps. sugar
 5 tbsps. butter or margarine, melted
 1/2 c. milk
 1/2 tps. grated lemon rind
 Melted butter or margarine
 1 tsp. sugar
 1 qt. strawberries, hulled and sliced
 2 tbsps. sugar
 1 container (9-oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
 Combine biscuit mix, 3 tablespoons sugar, 5 tablespoons melted butter, the milk and lemon rind in a bowl; mix until all ingredients are moistened. Knead remaining dough and roll into a second 8-inch circle. Place on top of buttered circle. Brush top with melted butter and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Cool.

Sprinkle strawberries with 2 tablespoons sugar. Carefully separate the two circles; fill and top with strawberries and whipped topping.

SWEDISH SHORTCAKE

1 1/2 c. sifted all-purpose flour
 1/2 tsp. double-acting baking powder
 1/2 c. butter or margarine
 1/4 c. milk
 1/4 c. sugar
 1 pt. strawberries
 1 tsp. sugar
 1 container (4 1/2-oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
 Sift flour with baking powder. Cut in butter; stir in milk and mix thoroughly. Chill dough about 1 hour; divide in half. Flatten and roll each half into an 8-inch circle on lightly floured board. Place circles on ungreased baking sheets and prick with a fork at close intervals. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup sugar. Cut each circle to form 8 wedges. Bake at 400 degrees for about 10 minutes, or until lightly browned. Loosen from baking sheets; cool 10 minutes. Remove from baking sheets and cool thoroughly on rack.

Slice strawberries, reserving 8 whole berries for garnish. Add 1 tablespoon sugar to sliced berries. Place wedges from one pastry layer on serving plate to reform a circle. Spread about 1 cup of the whipped topping over entire surface; add a layer of sliced strawberries and cut through to separate each serving. Top with remaining pastry wedges. Using a pastry bag, garnish with remaining whipped topping and reserved berries. Makes 8 servings.

STRAWBERRY SNOW

1 pt. strawberries, hulled and halved
 2 tbsps. sugar
 2 egg whites
 1/4 c. sugar
 1 container (4 1/2-oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
 2 tbsps. orange liqueur
 Or use 1 tsp. brandy extract.
 Sprinkle strawberries with 2 tablespoons sugar and chill. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Gradually add 1/4 cup sugar and beat until mixture will form stiff shiny peaks. Fold in whipped topping, sweetened strawberries and liqueur. Chill about 1 hour. Makes about 5 cups or 8 servings.

Interest in homemaking career for Mrs. Johnston

By CAROL HART
 Mrs. Pat Johnston, 1712 Goliad, came to Big Spring in 1972 to teach homemaking at Big Spring High School. Her interest in the home and activities surrounding it began at an early age.

She remembers preparing an oatmeal breakfast for her mother at the age of four. By the time she was 9, she was into cookies, cakes and other recipes.

She said that she finds the results of time spent in the kitchen "very satisfying." She and her husband, James D. Johnston, enjoy hosting dinner parties. "I love for someone to ask for a recipe," she added. She said that usually indicated "they enjoyed what I prepared."

Mrs. Johnston gave two tips she feels are important when preparing recipes. "I'm a fanatic about exact measurements and exact timing when cooking." She feels that the finished product will not be as good as it could have been if measurements and timing are not followed closely.

Mrs. Johnston is a graduate of Stephen F. Austin University in Nacogdoches and holds a degree in home economics. She is a native of Dallas, where her mother, Mrs. John J. Jolly, still resides. Her husband and his father, D.D. Johnston, own the Johnston Construction Company in Big Spring.

Mrs. Johnston works as a substitute teacher at high school and at Runnels and Goliad Junior High Schools in the home economics departments. "She is also actively involved in the community."

She will be the chairman of the Home Demonstration Council for the 1977-78 year, and parliamentarian for the Creative Homemakers Home Demonstration Club, which she organized in 1975 to meet the interests of young women in Howard County.

Mrs. Johnston would like to be an assistant home extension agent for this area, and is awaiting action on her application for the position. She feels it important to share her knowledge in the homemaking field with people interested in home improvement.

Mrs. Johnston is also involved with the Rosebud How-to-Grow Garden Club. She serves the group as recording secretary and as reporter. She is also a member of the 1970 Hyperion Club, serving on the program committee.

The Johnston family attends the 14th and Main Church of Christ where Mrs. Johnston teaches Bible classes. She will be teaching a class at Vacation Bible School for the church next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will celebrate their anniversary today. The couple married June 2, 1973. They have one daughter, Janet Renee. Mrs. Johnston said she plans to prepare a special meal at home for the occasion.

Summer plans for the Johnston family include traveling. The couple went to Europe on their honeymoon and saw eight different countries. "It was such a pleasure to sample food from each country," Mrs. Johnston said.

The family traveled to Canada last summer, where the food is "not spicy, but very bland," said Mrs. Johnston.

The family plans to go to England this summer. Her father was from England, and the family may visit relatives while there. "It will be an opportunity to taste more food," added Mrs. Johnston.

Interest hike burns Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Suddenly everything isn't so cozy between the Carter administration and Chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board.

The President didn't seem to mind when Burns almost single-handedly scuttled the new President's $50 tax rebate plan. Carter said the economy was getting along fine without it.

But the administration is making it clear it doesn't like recent actions by Burns and the board to increase short-term interest rates.

Bert Lance, Carter's budget director, has been highly critical of banks for raising their prime interest rate twice in recent weeks to 6 3/4 per cent. He warns their actions could impede economic growth and encourage inflation.

While Lance denied he was seeking a confrontation with Burns, sources left little doubt Wednesday that Burns is the target of the criticism because he and the board took the actions that caused banks to hike their interest rates.

"They aren't going to take Burns head-on," one White House source said. "They are talking to bankers, but they hope other people will listen," with the 73-year-old Burns being one of the "other people," he added.

Burns, an appointee of former President Richard M. Nixon, is nearing the end of his term as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. Carter has not said whether he intends to reappoint him chairman when the term ends in January.

The Federal Reserve has decided to tighten growth in the money supply out of concern that inflation could be getting out of hand and also out of worry that the money supply was growing too fast.

The money supply grew at a record annual rate of 19 per cent in April, which Burns and the board clearly felt was excessive and inflationary. Its target for money growth for the year is 4.5 to 6.5 per cent.

When the Federal Reserve tightens the money supply, it takes money out of the banking system, which causes a tightening of credit and higher interest rates.

But Lance told reporters Wednesday there is a clear risk that the short-term interest increases could result in higher long-term rates, which could discourage home-buying and business investment, besides slowing economic growth.

"The American people see high interest rates as synonymous with high inflation," Lance said. "We need interest rates that are at a reasonable, stable level to encourage business investment."

A spokesman for Burns said he would have no comment on Lance's remarks, made at a news briefing.

Burns warned Congress on May 3 that inflation "casts a cloud on our nation's ability to maintain a satisfactory rate of economic growth into 1978 and beyond." Prices increased at a 10 per cent annual rate during the first four months of the year, much worse than expected.

Wolf ordered extradited

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP) — William H. Wolf, 18, has been ordered extradited to Texas to face a murder charge stemming from the stabbing of his mother.

Berrien County Circuit Court Judge Chester Byrns issued the order against Wolf on Wednesday. Sheriff's deputies said Wolf would be turned over to Texas authorities today.

Wolf is charged with killing Bobbie Kay Wolf, formerly of St. Joseph, at her home near El Paso. The woman's body was found April 15, 1974. Her son was arrested in Berrien County on the Texas charge last March 7.

MANCHAC RESIDENT — Mrs. Virginia Succow, postmistress at Manchac, La., stands at the waters edge at the tiny fishing village that has been sliced in two by a state highway and more recently by Interstate 55 (background). The village, which is only a dot on the map, is famous over southeast Louisiana for its seafood.

Progress: Island of ironies

By JULES LOH
AP Special Correspondent
MANCHAC, La. (AP) — So far progress has shoved aside nearly all of this village and nearly half its people.
The 48 families who have survived are bracing for another assault. If it doesn't work this time — well, there's just no more room for a fourth try.
The village is an island, an island of ironies in the middle of the great Manchac Swamp of southern Louisiana.
Here alligators win the prize as most fearsome, egrets as most graceful, Spanish moss as most melancholy, crawfish as most bountiful, and highway builders as most persistent. They're going to pave that swamp yet.

Their current effort, Interstate 55, is a concrete monster just being born. It looms 20 feet overhead and rests atop great pilings pounded 250 feet into the goo.
At $7 million a mile it is a valiant try. It isn't the first. "When I came here 33 years ago there were only two automobiles in the village," Virginia Succow, the postmistress, recalled. "There really wasn't any place to drive a car, just the one road."
The one road ran through Manchac from LaPlace at the southern edge of the swamp to Ponchatouls at the northern edge.
It crossed Pass Manchac, the village's southern border, on a wooden bridge. A pass is an arm of water connecting two lakes, in this case Lake Maurepas and Lake Pontchartrain. The Illinois Central railroad tracks paralleled the road.

Driving from south to north, then, a motorist crossed the bridge and came upon the village of Manchac: A cluster of buildings bordering the road on the right, a canal running alongside the road on the left, houses lining the canal. An uncomplicated scene. A fishing village of about 80 families, bait store, church, boatyard, postoffice.
That's the way Mrs. Succow found Manchac when she arrived in 1944 as a wartime bride.
Fourteen years later the state deemed the road inadequate. Work crews arrived. They dug a new canal to fill the old canal — which itself had been dug for the clay to build the old road's base. Then they laid down a new, wider road on top of the filled-in canal. They also built a new concrete bridge alongside the old wooden one. Two roads, two bridges, side by side.
Mrs. Succow and others who lived along the old canal had to move back and make way. Not too far back, though, or they would fall in the new, enlarged canal.
Not forward either. Across the two roads and the line of stores ran the railroad tracks and beyond the tracks uninhabitable swamp.
The new road left no room for most of them. About 30 families had no choice except to take the money offerred them and leave.

The new road served Louisianians well. It became the key road north from New Orleans and handled heavy traffic. Not only was it two lanes wide but it was six feet higher than the old road, up out of the swampland, built to last.
After a few years, however, it was only five feet higher. Then three feet. One foot. Today, 20 years after it was built, it has sunk to the level of the old road, lower in spots, higher in others, a roller coaster thrill at 55 miles an hour.
Time for a new road, a new round of picking up and moving.
The Interstate is scheduled to be finished in 1980.

Government warns women of birth risk

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government warned women recently that if they take more than two drinks a day during pregnancy they risk giving birth to deformed or retarded children.

Dr. Ernest P. Noble, director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism told a news conference that recent scientific evidence led him to issue a public caution on the dangers of what he called fetal alcohol syndrome found in the infants of mothers who drank heavily during pregnancy.

"Both the risk and the extent of abnormalities appear to be those related increasing with higher alcohol intake during the pregnancy period," Noble said in a statement being distributed to the nation's physicians and health care facilities.

Women who drink as much as six cans of beer, glasses of wine or mixed drinks a day during pregnancy may have babies with all the symptoms of the syndrome, Noble said, while those who take more than two drinks but less than six may produce children with one or more symptoms.

The symptoms include children with IQ levels between 60 and 70 — considerably below average — hyperactivity, heart murmurs or other cardiac defects, small heads, low-set ears, small eyes, flat noses with upturned nostrils, carp-shaped mouths, poorly developed limbs, joined or otherwise malformed fingers and genital abnormalities.

"The best scientific evidence available indicates that with two drinks a day or less there is no indication of adverse effects," Noble said. But several studies now are under way and the institute is devoting 10 per cent its $7.5 million research budget to finance more research.

ALCOHOL IN PREGNANCY — Dr. Ernest Noble, director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, tells a news conference Wednesday that if a woman takes more than two drinks a day during pregnancy she risks giving birth to deformed or retarded children. Noble said recent scientific evidence led him to issue a public caution on the dangers of what he called fetal alcohol syndrome found in the infants of mothers who drank heavily during pregnancy.

Noble said the institute is considering a proposal to require a caution for pregnant women and those likely to become pregnant on alcohol bottles and cans, but he stressed that was only at a discussion stage and no such recommendation is being made at this time.

Asked how common the syndrome is, Noble said the institute estimates that 5 per cent of the three million women who give birth each year are heavy drinkers and perhaps one in 100 of their babies are born with fetal alcohol syndrome.

This would indicate that 1,500 babies a year have the full blown syndrome and "probably several fold more" have some of the symptoms, Noble said.

He added that estimate is probably low.

Meanwhile, the National Council on Alcoholism said Tuesday it will launch a nationwide campaign warning women of the dangers of drinking during pregnancy.

Council officials said at a news conference in New York City "a safe decision" for a pregnant woman would be to abstain from alcohol.

"Although it is not definitively known whether social drinking produces abnormalities in infants, alcoholism researchers are sufficiently convinced that excessive drinking during pregnancy incurs a high risk of fetal malformation and mental retardation," they said.

Dr. Joseph Cruse of the University of Southern California said that of 3.1 million live births expected in the United States next year, 250,000 babies are likely to be born with congenital abnormalities. He said 6,000 such cases may be due to what is called "fetal alcohol syndrome."

Symptoms of fetal alcohol syndrome include growth retardation, especially of the head, as well as heart defects and congenital eye and ear problems.

Cruse put the risk of fetal alcohol syndrome defects at 10 per cent if a woman drinks between two and four ounces of hard liquor daily.

The rate could go as high as 74 per cent for those who drink 10 ounces a day, he said.

He recommended that women who are pregnant not drink at all.

Pick utensils carefully

Take pots and pans seriously — in buying and using, Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, advises brides and other consumers in the market for cooking utensils.

Even the finest range cannot overcome problems caused by poorly designed or mistreated utensils.

"Mistreatment from careless handling — and from children playing with them — can cause utensils and their cooking performance to suffer."

Tips for a safe trip

COLLEGE STATION — Many travel agents can help plan traveling vacations — but others are just plain fraudulent, warns Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist.

"While reputable travel agents have the information and expertise to help vacation planners, other agents misrepresent tours and accommodations, omit certain costs from the 'total-price' information or fail to explain all the details of a trip," she said.

Ms. Kerbel is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Although consumers have little protection against travel agency fraud, there are safeguards they can practice, the specialist added.

—Look for agents who are members of the American Society of Travel Agents or International Air Transport Association. These trade organizations may be able to help consumers with a complaint against a member agent.

—Deal with established, local agents — people who will be in business after your vacation. Also, ask friends to recommend an agent — or ask an agent for names of people they served, and contact those people for recommendations.

—Read any contract an agent asks you to sign — to determine refund rights if an airplane flight is cancelled or if you cancel the trip. Always learn the cancellation policy at the time you make a reservation.

—Make certain everything that is promised is included in the contract you sign — including accommodations, facilities and services. Otherwise, make sure the contract states that these items are not included.

Probation officer trusts Bible for discipline

Spanking the child is not considered child abuse, according to Ed Cherry, Howard County Juvenile Probation Officer for six years.

"I believe in 'spare the rod, spoil the child,' just like it says in the Bible. Parents should take a belt to their children if they get out of hand," Cherry said in an interview Wednesday.

Cherry, a down-to-earth ex-law enforcer who has an interest in the well-being of children, commented on rearing children by saying parents should spank them to ensure the best discipline possible.

"And parents should start disciplining the child early in his life. The pre-school years are not too early to spank the child," he said.

"Spanking is necessary, but for some parents it does not do any good," he said. If that happens, Cherry said, the parents should resort to something else.

Disciplining should start in the home, he said. Nowadays, parents do not spend enough time with them as it is. They (parents) want to stick their children with someone else, just to get the child out of their way.

Cherry does not believe that is the way to rear children. He said he thinks parents should watch over their children and teach them right from wrong.

"Some parents expect the sheriff's office, the juvenile probation officer and the police department in town to discipline their children. That's just not the way to do it," Cherry commented.

Child abuse is a very serious subject with Cherry. Although he feels spanking is not a form of it, parents hitting their children on the head, arms, legs or other parts of the body is considered abuse.

"Child abuse occurs when a two or three year old has his arm broken by his parents, for no reason at all," he said.

Cherry feels things such as alcohol and drugs in the home contribute to child abuse. Also when both parents come home from work tired and irritable and start taking it out on their children. "That's considered child abuse to me," Cherry added.

When children reach the age of 12, taking certain privileges away should be substituted for spanking, because they are too old for that kind of punishment, he said.

Runaway children develop from a permissive parental atmosphere, he said. "The kids just decide they want to run away and they do. The parents do not even try to stop them because they know they can't."

Broken homes, where the parents have separated or divorced produce the most delinquent children because of the confusion and strain placed upon the child, he said.

STERN DISCIPLINARIAN — Ed Cherry, juvenile probation officer for Howard County, says the only way to discipline children who misbehave is to spank them. If that does not work, he says, parents should resort to other forms of punishment.

Turn in Wishbone For Some Backbone

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago when I was 16, I fell in love with my brother's best buddy. He was 19 and gave me no encouragement.

I am ashamed to admit it, but the summer I turned 18 I threw myself at him in a way he couldn't turn down, and we had an affair. He was my first and only, but I was neither his first nor his only. He told me about the others.

He never once said he loved me, but I told him I loved him. He said he couldn't get serious about any girl, but I notice he's got a steady now. He treats me like a sister except for those times I beg him to be a lover to me.

I feel so cheap, Abby, but I can't help myself. I love him so much. When I see him with a girl, I get physically sick. I turn down dates with other guys just to sit home and play records that remind me of him.

How can I make him love me?

IN LOVE AND MISERABLE

DEAR IN LOVE: You can't. And if you invest any more time and longing on this hopeless situation you're asking for the misery you feel. A begging, brooding girl is unattractive, so substitute that wishbone for some backbone and force yourself to get busy with other things and thoughts of other people. You can get over him if you try, and try you must. Pray for strength. It works!

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for your understanding letter to TEN YEARS TOO LATE. You said, "No one steals affection; people are usually drawn together by a mutual need." How wise you are.

When I was 26 I looked into a pair of dark eyes and felt as though I had met the other half of my own soul.

I wasn't married, but he was. God knows how much I longed to have a romantic encounter with this man, but I ran from my feelings as though they were poison.

In these days when most people seem to grab whatever (and whomever) they want without a thought of the consequences, perhaps I was foolish because never again did I feel that way about a man. Foolish or not, I honestly believe that this way I have fewer regrets.

No answer is necessary, Abby. I just wanted to get this off my chest.

BETTY

DEAR BETTY: Thanks for a powerful letter.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon, and when my aunt asked me what I wanted for a wedding present, I replied, "How much do you want to spend?"

Well, my mother heard me, and she really took me apart! Abby, I still can't understand why my question was out of line.

I know that my aunt is going to buy me something, so what's wrong with finding out what she had in mind? I can use anything from a can opener to a color TV.

My mother said I should have told her that all I wanted were her "good wishes." How hypocritical can you get? This aunt happens to be the richest one in our family.

JUNE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Since she asked, I see nothing wrong with offering a few suggestions. You could have started with the can opener and ended with an eye opener—like a color TV.

Dancing Mescaleros

with Marj Carpenter

I'm getting way out in the north pasture with this one, but the third annual All-American Indian Dance Championships begin tomorrow at Mescalero, N.M.

For those of you who don't know, that's just this side of Ruidoso where an awful lot of people go on weekends anyway because they enjoy the horse races at Ruidoso Downs.

I personally love to find an excuse to go over to New Mexico. I like Ruidoso and the races. I like Cloudcroft and the pines. I like Lincoln and the early Billy the Kid Museum. I like the Tinney Mercantile.

And those Indian dances sound interesting as well. For those who are going to the races this weekend, you might want to stop in Mescalero and watch the dances.

Indian tribes from across the nation have registered for the competition offering $10,500 in prize monies in ten categories.

Added attractions include the appearance of Miss Indian America XXIII, Kristine Rayola Harvey, Indian arts and crafts exhibits and gourd dancing.

There is also an invitational six-mile race, reminds me of the time in the late 1800s that they had a race from Toyah to Pecos of an Indian on foot and a cowboy on horseback. I really do not know whether they thought that was fair or not.

They placed many a wager on that deal and it even got written up in the New York Times. Somebody took a picture of the start of the race and it was used on a post card for a while.

The cowboy won but just barely. I think the race in Mescalero has everybody on foot. That might be a little fairer.

There are Northern and Southern Drum groups and they have a distinctly different tempo that is of great interest to spectators. They also have different colorful costumes of different tribes.

Masters of ceremonies will be the Rev. Thomas Roughface, a Ponca of White Eagle, Okla and Theodore Rodriguez, a Mescalero Apache from San Francisco, Calif.

Wendell Chino, Mescalero Apache president says, "We feel it is important to endorse continuing the traditions contained within the dances and crafts of the native Americans."

I agree with him. I was thinking about the New York World's Fair in 1964. The New Mexico exhibit was one of the most successful state exhibits.

My good friend Bill Leffwich, an artist who years ago lived in Pecos and now lives in Hollywood, N.M., was in charge of that exhibit. It featured Indian arts and crafts, had some of the Mescalero Indians from near Ruidoso there to talk to the tourists, featured Indian dancers on a round platform every hour and served Mexican food at a cafeteria across the back of the patio.

People poured into the exhibit, completely ignoring the Texas exhibit which had a Broadway type musical featured, when the real Broadway was only a few miles away.

Only the talking Abraham Lincoln exhibit prepared by Walt Disney for Illinois outshone New Mexico. The Indians really brought them in — along with the Mexican food.

And if you want to see some of those same Indians dancing, they do so this weekend at Mescalero.

Some may say that's a little fur piece for ridin' fence, but I never go up that way that I don't see several from Big Spring and the surrounding area.

That's in the north corner of the far pasture — when I'm out ridin' fence.

Dealing in real estate produces abnormalities

COLLEGE STATION — People involved in real estate transactions usually are not in a normal state of mind.

That's the conclusion of Richard I. Evans, University of Houston social psychologist, who addressed students attending the Studies of Advanced Real Estate Subjects (SOARS) program at Texas A&M University. SOARS is sponsored by the Texas Real Estate Research Center.

People are not their normal selves during a real estate transaction because of unusually high stress, Evans said.

"Real estate transactions rank very high as a life-stress event," he explained. "The highest life-stress events naturally are things like the death of a spouse or divorce, but ranking not far from these events are real estate transactions."

Coupled with high stress, the buyer or seller probably has a negative stereotyped opinion of business and of people who sell, Evans added.

"Along with politicians, business in general has dropped in the esteem of the public," he observed. "Through no fault of the real estate practitioner, the negative image of business and selling is inherited."

The notoriety of some of the fraudulent real estate schemes also contributes to the negative image, he contended.

The realty person, thus, is almost always dealing with people who are very suspicious and in a state of considerable stress, the professor continued. In this condition, clients are vulnerable and may not be able to grasp the complexities of the transaction.

Evans advised the students to alleviate this problem by taking some simple precautions.

The realty practitioner must first make certain that the client is paying attention when important information is given, he advised. In order to distinguish from "polite" attention, the practitioner should actually inquire whether or not the client is prepared to give full attention to the matter.

Once attention has been gained and the information given, the practitioner must be certain the client has comprehended the information — that all of the terminology has been understood and details are not confused.

Evans said another necessary step is to determine if the client has retained the information. Being in a stress situation, the client may easily forget important information.

A final step takes place after the transaction is completed. The practitioner should get feedback from the client to see if the client is satisfied and that the transaction proceeded as expected, Evans concluded.

Carpenters pay boosted

Carpenters in the Big Spring area recently received a 5.8 per cent cost-of-living salary boost.

The amount totaled 45 cents an hour, of which 20 cents will be payable July 1 and the other 25 cents next Jan. 1. The contract covers one year.

The union was offered a second year contract with two additional 25 cent increments but union spokesmen said this would have to be voted upon by their general membership June 13.

Several other items were discussed during the 4½-hour meeting. One concerned retroactive pay; another 35 cents per hour travel pay for all works beyond 20 miles in Big Spring; another the option to divert wages to Health and Welfare or to the pension fund.

A spokesman for the contractors fended off the demands as being harmful to the best interests of both labor and management 'at this time.'

THROUGH the fieldglasses

By Danny Reagan

Kaleidosports

Thankfully, next year when football season arrives, I will have had a year experience and not five days, per last season. This is, of course, assuming I last that long in this, the most mutable of all timepieces in the clock shop of Big Spring journalism.

Assuming I do, there are a few innovations that are in the works. First of all, the five city area in the Herald circulation area that I like to think of as having the most interested sports fans (i.e. Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan, Stanton and Sands.) is going to be covered as it hasn't been since "Mack" Hart gave up the reins.

Pre-season visits, comprehensive photos and statistics, plus hopefully on-the-spot coverage by reporters (a la Marj Carpenter and Forsan) of the home games will accomplish this, plus a closer communication, which, by the way, has developed nicely during this first year.

Secondly, throughout the football season, there will be weekly certificate awards by this Sports department to one player from each of the five schools for the "gutsiest" performance by a player on that team the preceding week.

These awards will be presented after consulting with the individual coaches and reporter who covered the game. This will culminate at the end of the season in a special traveling trophy presentation to the one five-city-area individual, out of the approximately 50 weekly winners, who has been determined by a panel of coaches and reporters to be the most dedicated, and courageous football player for the past season.

This trophy won't necessarily go to the "fastest" or "strongest", but the athlete who never gave up. The trophy will be called the "Brad Stevens Memorial", and next year will be the first of what is hoped to be an annual award, and will hopefully grow to be a respected presentation.

The award is named after Brad Stevens, the outstanding Forsan football player who was killed in March of 1976 in a car accident.

Five young, local, female athletes are in Canyon this week for the West Texas Tennis camp that runs this week at West Texas State University.

More than 110 boys and girls have signed up for this the first of three summer sessions.

WTSU tennis coach David Kent said "We try to do two things in the camp. One, we try to improve each individual's game, and two, we try to have some fun."

The five Big Springers in attendance are Dawn Estes, Charlotte Beil, Laura Moore, Julie Ann Raines and Debbie Fulcher.

Pat Weaver, recent winner of the Big Spring City Golf Championship, probably owes his fine athletic ability to his consistent running program.

Last year, he ran around Scenic Mountain (approximately two miles) at least once a day. Now, he gets up at 6 a.m. and runs over to the YMCA and back.

Everyone was compiling sports tests for everyone else Wednesday afternoon, and one interesting question was "Which West Texas high school had the most players go to pro football?"

Answer: Big Spring with seven: Charley Johnson, Charlie West, Cliff Patton, Olie Cordell, Bob Flowers, Jimmy Evans and Danny Birdwell.

Cubs try psychology

By the Associated Press
Give Chicago Cubs Manager Herman Franks a forum and he starts sounding like Muhammad Ali.

"The St. Louis Cards will win it (the National League East pennant) easy," Franks said Wednesday night.

"Why? They've got a better ball club than we have. They have plenty of speed. They've got more guys that really fly."

"I'm not setting anybody up," Franks continued. "We need a left-hander. The only one we have (Willie Hernandez), I have to save for the bullpen."

Despite Franks' opinion, the Cubs are in first place by 1 1/2 games after edging the Cards 4-3 in 13 innings Wednesday night.

St. Louis Manager Vern Rapp responded to Franks' appraisal, saying, "It sounds like psychological warfare. He doesn't want the load on his shoulders."

In other NL games Wednesday, San Francisco edged San Diego 2-0, the New York Mets stopped Montreal 6-4. Pittsburgh blanked Philadelphia 3-0 in a rain-shortened contest, Cincinnati defeated Atlanta 5-2, and Los Angeles won Houston 6-2.

Starter Rick Reuschel and relievers Bruce Sutter and Hernandez, 2-1, combined to strike out 16 Cardinals. Sutter fanned nine in his five-inning stint.

But it took Steve Ontiveros' third hit of the game — a oneout single in the 13th, to score Jerry Morales with the winning run.

Bobby Murcer hit his eighth homer of the year, a two-run shot, for the Cubs, while St. Louis sent the game into extra innings when Lou Brock doubled with two out in the ninth and scored on Ted Simmons' fourth hit of the game.

Giants 2, Padres 0
Ed Halicki hurled his first complete game of the season, scattering six hits in leading San Francisco over San Diego. Halicki struck out 11 and walked only one in snapping the Padres' five-game winning streak.

Rob Andrews singled in the sixth and eventually scored on Jack Clark's single. Andrews also scored the Giants' second run, slamming a double and coming home on Darrell Thomas' single.

Lee's back, et al slowly returning

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The road back will be a long one for Lee Trevino.

"It won't be this year, and it might not be next year, but I'll be back," Trevino said. "A little thing like a disc ain't gonna knock me out."

But the operation on his back last year put Trevino's storybook career in jeopardy and sidelined him for more than two months. The results of that operation have forced him into a situation that may take years to correct.

"There's a change in the muscles in the back," Trevino said before teeing off today in the first round of the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament. "With the muscles changed, I've had to rebuild my swing, build it differently."

"With my swing different,

Manager Joe Torre his second straight victory as John Stearns belted his first major league grand slam home run, capping a five-run fifth-inning rally.

Tom Seaver, 5-3, posted his first victory since April 30 and his first victory in Montreal since Oct. 3, 1972. Skip Lockwood relieved Seaver with two out in the seventh after Dave Cash hit a run-scoring triple and Tony Perez an RBI single.

Pirates 3, Phillies 0
John Candelaria tossed a two-hitter and Pittsburgh scored all of its runs in the first inning as Philadelphia saw its chances for a comeback ruined when a torrential downpour stopped the game after 7 1/2 innings.

I'm having to rebuild my whole game. You can't do that overnight. It's gonna take time. It probably won't happen this year. I probably won't win. It might not happen next year.

"But it will happen. I will be back!"

Although he doesn't count himself a contender, Trevino, winner of five major championships and one of the most popular people ever to play the game, ranked as a sentimental favorite in the 72-hole tournament on the winter-damaged 7,160-yard, par-72 Quail Hollow Country Club course. First prize is $50,000.

Mayberry croons Herzog's tunes

By the Associated Press

"Do it my way," Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog crooned to slumping slugger John Mayberry ... and Mayberry's bat finally is providing some sweet music.

On an off-day last week, Herzog had Mayberry experiment with a new stance. It paid off Wednesday night when the big first baseman walloped three homers and drove in five runs as the Royals bombed the Toronto Blue Jays 11-3.

"I gave him 200 games to do it his way," said Herzog, who patiently watched Mayberry slump from a .291 average with 38 homers in 1975 to .232 and 13 homers a year ago, "so I thought it was time he should take a suggestion from me. He was very receptive to the idea and he's hit about 500 balls in batting practice since then."

In other American League games, the Chicago White Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-2, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the Texas Rangers 7-5, the Minnesota Twins nipped the New York Yankees 4-3, the Cleveland Indians shredded the Detroit Tigers 6-4 and the Oakland A's downed the Seattle Mariners 6-3.

Mayberry hit a two-run homer off Jerry Johnson in the fifth inning, a solo homer off Mike Willis in the seventh and another two-run shot off Tom Bruno in the ninth, all towering blasts over the right field fence in Toronto. Al Cowens chipped with a 5-for-5 game — three singles, a double and a triple.

White Sox 4, Orioles 2
Ralph Garr's two-run single with the bases loaded and two out in the seventh inning broke a tie and prevented Jim Palmer from snapping a deadlock with Dave McNally as the winningest pitchers in Baltimore history.

Winner Ken Brett hurled a six-hitter after coming into the game with a hefty 5.55 earned run average.

Twins 4, Yankees 3
Rod Carew's two-run single off relief ace Sparky Lyle with two out in the ninth inning capped a three-run Minnesota rally. Lyle replaced Ron Gaudry after the Twins opened the ninth with singles by Craig Kusick and Jerry Terrell, followed by Butch Wynegar's potential double play grounder which took a bad hop over the head of third baseman Graig Nettles. After a grounder and a strike, Lyle walked Roy Smalley, before Carew delivered his winning hit.

56th annual NCAA foreigners meet

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — It is supposed to determine the best college track and field school in the United States. But the 56th annual NCAA Track and Field championships may be won by the team with the best foreign athletes.

The five-day meet at the University of Illinois got into full swing today with qualifying and trials in 17 events. The decathlon was held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Washington State, Brigham Young and Texas-El Paso have several foreigners and loom as top contenders for the team title, won by Southern California last year for the 26th time.

Washington State boasts two members of the Kenyan Olympic team who will be defending their NCAA titles. They are Joshua Kimeto in the 5,000 meters and John Ngeno in the 10,000 meters.

Another member of Kenya's Olympic team returning is James Munyala of Texas-El Paso, the NCAA 3,000-meter steeplechase champion.

Greg Joy, a member of the Canadian Olympic team now competing for Texas-El Paso, was expected to challenge Nat Page of Missouri in the high jump. Page jumped 7 feet, 4 1/4 inches last week.

"It will be decided by the foreign teams," said UCLA Coach Jim Bush. "USC and UCLA, the American teams, probably will finish fourth and fifth."

"We thought we might be the last American team to win the championship but with Millard Hampton injured it isn't possible."

Hampton, a member of the American 400-meter relay team that won a gold medal at last summer's Olympics, pulled up lame at the Pacific 8 Conference meet and may not be at full strength.

"I figure 50 points will be the best we can do," said Southern Cal Coach Vern Wolfe, whose team won this year's Pac 8 title. "And I don't think 50 points will win it."

Arizona State also is expected to be in contention for the team title. Its 1,600-meter relay team, featuring Olympian Herman Frazier, is the NCAA champion.

Three of last year's runners still are on the team which set a college record of 3 minutes, 1.9 seconds at the Penn Relays.

Five other NCAA champions will be trying to retain their titles.

STAR HUNT — Singing star Mick Jagger visits the Cosmos soccer team locker room in Giants Stadium Wednesday night after the game with Lazio of Italy. Steve Hunt of the Cosmos, left, greets Jagger. Lazio of Italy won the exhibition game, 3-2.

Gottfried french toast

PARIS (AP) — Brian Gottfried is two matches away from becoming the first American to win the French Open tennis title in 22 years. And his confidence is sky-high after one of the finest victories of his career.

Gottfried defeated Ilie Nastase of Romania Wednesday night for the first time on a slow clay court. And for the first time in his life, he won a five-set match after losing the first two sets.

"I feel now I might manage anything," the star from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., said.

Gottfried's win over Nastase in the quarter-finals, 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3, provoked the volatile Parisian crowd on the center court of Roland Garros to one of its most frenzied displays of cheering and counter-cheering. The atmosphere toward the end of the three-hour, 20-minute duel was more like a football game.

By the end, Gottfried had mastered the mercurial Romanian completely. Yet for most of the first two sets the American was outplayed.

Nastase had a devastating spell in which he won 11 games out of 12.

Gottfried was playing his usual game, thumping down big services and moving up to the net for the volley. He found these tactics did not work against Nastase, one of Europe's clay court specialists. Nastase played a thoughtful game from the back of the court and steered strokes past his opponent for the points that mattered.

The match began to turn Gottfried's way when he broke Nastase's service for a 3-1 lead in the third set. From then on it was Gottfried who applied the pressure.

"I started spinning my service and not coming into the net behind it," Gottfried said. "That was when I started winning."

Those are European grass court tactics, which few American players have exploited successfully on the slow surface at Roland Garros in the last two decades. The last American to win the men's title was Tony Trabert in 1955.

Gottfried's semifinal opponent will be Phil Dent of Australia, who edged Jose Higueras of Spain 6-1, 6-3, 3-3, 6-7, 6-3.

The other two quarter-finals were scheduled for today — Adriano Panatta of Italy, the defending champion, vs. Raul Ramirez of Mexico, and Guillermo Vilas, the Argentinian left-hander, vs. Wojtek Fibak of Poland.

Now that Nastase is out, Panatta is the only man in contention who has won the title before.

An American is in contention for the women's title, too: Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., is in the semifinals with three East Europeans — Florenta Mihai of Romania, Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia and Regina Marsikova of Czechoslovakia.

Ms. Newberry defeated Kathy May of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-4, 5-7, 6-2 in a baseline duel that contained much negative, defensive tennis. Ms. May made more mistakes and lost.

Ms. Newberry won the Italian women's title in Rome 11 days ago. Now she is in line to emulate two famous American stars, Maureen Connolly and Chris Evert, and complete the big European clay courts double.

Bosox sluggers box, mug Rangers

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Don Zimmer wonders where his Boston Red Sox would be if they ever get any pitching — like perhaps leading the American League East.

Boston outslugged Texas 7-5 Wednesday night as Carl Yastrzemski clouted two home runs and Rick Burleson delivered a clutch two-run double.

"Really, we're fortunate to be as close as we are and I know in my heart our pitching will start getting better," said the Red Sox manager.

The Red Sox have hit 40 homers in their last 19 games to pull within one and one-half games of AL East leader Baltimore.

"This team has shown the character to be able to bounce back all year," said Yastrzemski after Boston overcame a 5-0 deficit to whip the struggling Rangers. "This team very easily could be out of it... but we've come from behind time after time. There's a lot of pride on this club right now."

Zimmer sounded like a man who might be ready to take Luis Tiant out of the Red Sox rotation. Texas thumped Tiant for five runs before the 36-year-old Cuban left with what was announced as a pulled hamstring.

"If his injury doesn't get better then Reggie Cleveland will pitch Sunday," said Zimmer. "The injury isn't bad but I might keep him out. Whether Tiant stays in the rotation is a decision for the future."

Yastrzemski said "I seldom think about home runs but I thought I should've had three tonight. Last time up I got a great fastball that I fouled off and it was the best pitch I saw all night."

The 37-year-old Boston outfielder said "this might be the last year for me but I'll make that decision next year. I just wouldn't want to stay around as a designated hitter. I enjoy playing defense."

Rookie Mike Paxton pitched one and two-thirds innings of one-hit relief to gain his first major league victory against a loss. Bill Campbell went the last three innings and struck out five Rangers. He allowed only a double for his eighth save.

Doyle Alexander was tapped for his second loss in eight decisions.

Bums strum, drum, while Astros hum

HOUSTON (AP) — Ron Cey of the Los Angeles Dodgers has a warning for other teams in the National League's West Division.

"It's come to the point where if the other teams get too much further behind, they'll be fighting for second place," Cey said.

The veteran Dodger third baseman drove in three runs with a double and a single Wednesday night as Los Angeles broke a four-game losing streak with a 6-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

Tommy John hurled six innings to pick up his sixth victory in eight decisions this season for the Dodgers before giving way to reliever Charlie Hough, who blanked the Astros over the final three innings to gather his 14th save of the season.

SMASHES RETURN — Boston Lobsters' Martina Navratilova smashes a return to Phoenix Racquet's Chris Evert, in their singles match Wednesday night of their World Team Tennis match in Boston. Miss Evert won the match, 6-1.

SAILING ALONG — Julius Erving of the 76ers sails through the air past Trail Blazers' Bill Walton as he prepares to score two of his 24 points in their NBA championship game Tuesday night in Portland. Portland won, 130-98, to even the best-of-seven series at two games each.

Dr. J's bunch rationalizing

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When the beleaguered Philadelphia 76ers boarded their 8 a.m. flight out of Portland Wednesday, the television in the first class section was tuned to a news program showing highlights of the previous night's playoff slaughter at the hands of the Portland Trail Blazers.

It was the final indignity, a fitting climax to the Sixers' lost journey to the Pacific Northwest, a six-day sojourn in which rain was a constant companion and during which time the Sixers managed to look positively awful in losing two lopsided decisions to the Blazers.

"We were embarrassed," said George McGinnis, the Sixers' slumping forward who once again looked conspicuously out of place on the court. "When it rains, get your umbrella."

Despite the steady showers in the Rose City, Big George wasn't referring to the weather. He was thinking back to the way the Blazers sliced apart the Sixers with consummate ease in a 130-98 romp Tuesday night which evened the National Basketball Association championship finals at two victories apiece.

"They blitzed us," said McGinnis. "I have no explanation for it. But everybody on this team, in this organization, has to be embarrassed."

"They ran a clinic on us," agreed All-Star guard Doug Collins, who managed just 11 points. "Yeah, I'd say they embarrassed us."

Perhaps, but apparently it hurt too much for most of the others to admit it. Instead this free-wheeling bunch, branded as outlaws and renegades by its own top banana, Julius Erving, let out its frustrations in ways which recalled baseball's Oakland A's in their rambunctious heyday of a couple years back.

Erving questioned some of Coach Gene Shue's substitutions, relaying via newsmen his idea that other moves might have been wisser. In particular, he suggested Joe Bryant and Darryl Dawkins ought to be getting more playing time.

"We've got to use our horses," said Erving. "We have a lot of depth. We have some guys who can play on the bench."

Bryant, a reserve forward, lambasted Steve Mix, another reserve forward, questioning Mix' attitude and contending he puts personal achievement ahead of the good of the team.

"In the finals you should be playing the game the way it's supposed to be played instead of worrying about your job," said Bryant. "He's a good player, but he's not good enough to run his mouth the way he does."

So what does all this sound and fury signify? Probably nothing.

If any team can rebound from a 32-point loss for a victory in a big game, it's this wild bunch. And if the 76ers do bounce back, it will almost certainly be with the same cast of characters.

Texas sports briefs — Duniven now Bengal

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sixth-round draft choice Tommy Duniven signed Wednesday with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League.

Duniven was the fifth quarterback in Texas Tech history to pass for more than 1,000 yards in a season, connecting on 72 of 125 passes for 1,038 yards and five touchdowns in 1976.

"He's by far the best young quarterback candidate we have had in several years," said Paul E. Brown, general manager.

Amateur golfers battle

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Lone Star State amateur golfers gathered at Kerrville's Riverhill Country Club today to begin the battle for the state championship.

The 68th annual tournament attracted 127 golfers to the difficult course.

After a rain-abbreviated practice session Wednesday, several competitors said par rounds may be good enough to capture the title. San Antonio's Jim Dissoway won last year's tournament at Fort Worth.

Invitations lost?

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — Broward Community College of Florida, Temple JC and Midland JC captured the top three places after the first round of the National Junior College Athletic Association Women's Golf Tournament.

The three schools were the only to show up. Thirteen teams had been invited.

Broward leads with a 337 team total. Temple was eight shots behind and Midland had a 397 total.

Tornadoes to swirl

DALLAS (AP) — The third-place Dallas Tornado gets a chance to pick up ground in the Pacific Conference Southern Division race when it hosts the Seattle Sounders tonight.

The Tornado, with 53 points, trails division leader Los Angeles by nine points. The Dallas squad is eight points behind second place Las Vegas.

BB prepples slated

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The top two class 4A high school basketball teams will be included in the draw for the first annual Sun Bowl Prep Basketball Tournament Dec. 8-10 at El Paso.

State champ Dallas South Oak Cliff and state runner-up Fort Worth Dunbar have accepted invitations to the event.

UT's Suber out

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senior Longhorn halfback Ivey Suber underwent surgery Wednesday for a damaged achilles heel.

Suber, who had a year of eligibility remaining, will not play this season for Texas. He is a Fort Worth native.

Jane back from Hell

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — Jane Blalock has gone through her "five years of hell" and now is enjoying a little bit of heaven.

"I don't know when I have been happier, everything is falling into place again," said the pert, 31-year-old former New England school teacher whose career was almost shattered by charges of cheating lodged by fellow members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

"Most of those involved in the incident are now either gone or no longer major factors on the tour. Some have apologized. Some haven't. A wave of new, young girls has moved onto the tour. They're fresh and enthusiastic. They are athletes. Jealousies and animosities are the farthest things from their minds."

Jane, never abandoned by the fans, is one of the favorites in the $100,000 LPGA tournament this weekend at the Wykagyl Country Club. She will be facing some of the players who sought to run her out of the game seven years ago.

"Time heals all wounds," she said. "There is some bitterness left. I don't like to talk about it. They don't like to talk about it. The memory of it is gradually fading away."

Needless to say, Jane was not left without scars.

Under pressure, she talked about it during a cocktail break at the Westchester Country Club. The subject was hard to escape. After all, she had dealt with it quite fully in her autobiography, just published, entitled "The Guts To Win."

The title is apt. She is a gutsy girl. She never bent while her rivals had her spied upon, harassed and tormented her at almost every turn. Those she thought to be her closest friends suddenly turned on her.

JANE BLALOCK

She was suspended, ostracized, fined. Many wondered how she was able to endure it.

"I suppose it's my New England upbringing," said Jane, daughter of a Concord, N.H., newspaper man. "They accuse me of not having a nerve in my body. I hurt inside like anyone else. I just don't show it."

It was 1972, three years after Jane had joined the tour, that her house came tumbling down.

Abruptly one day she was hauled before a committee of her peers and told that she had been found to be illegally improving her lies on the greens.

GRAND JUROR — Superior Court Judge Maurice Sponzo arrives at Litchfield Superior Court where he issued a report on the Peter Reilly case Wednesday. Sponzo served as a one-man grand jury investigating the 1973 slaying of Reilly's mother and the state's prosecution of Reilly. Sponzo concluded that several figures, including Reilly, share blame for Reilly's unjust conviction on a manslaughter charge, which has been dismissed.

He did not kill his mother

Unjust conviction

LITCHFIELD, Conn. (AP) — State police, the state's attorney, the defense attorney and Peter Reilly himself were responsible for Reilly's unjust conviction in the murder of his mother, a one-man grand jury has concluded.

Reilly, now 22, spent five months in jail awaiting trial for the 1973 slaying. A groundswell of support from his friends and backers helped get him released on $60,000 bond.

Two months later, he was convicted of first-degree manslaughter and sentenced to 6 to 16 years in prison, but he remained free pending appeal.

With support from a new defense team and playwright Arthur Miller, questions concerning the handling of the case were raised. Reilly's conviction was overturned and a new trial was ordered last spring. Renewed charges against Reilly were dropped late last year when State's Attorney Dennis Santore said he had found suppressed evidence in his predecessor's files that would have cleared Reilly.

The current investigation arose from controversy over the handling of the case.

Superior Court Judge Maurice J. Sponzo, acting as a grand jury under a state law that allows him to investigate but not indict, issued a report Wednesday that said the prosecutor in Reilly's first trial, the late State's Atty. John F. Bianchi, "committed serious and prejudicial error" by withholding evidence requested by the defense that eventually cleared Reilly.

Veteran defense attorney Catherine Roraback probably would have uncovered the crucial evidence that Bianchi withheld if she had dug deeper into available clues, Sponzo added.

Connally maps political goals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally says his political activity for the present will be concentrated on trying "to shake the Republican party loose from the doldrums it has been in."

Connally, 60, told a news conference Wednesday prior to addressing a builders' conference the GOP should create a "shadow cabinet" of experts to critique the Carter administration.

He suggested the critics could be former cabinet members but said he was not suggesting that he be one of them.

Connally declined comment on speculation he would seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1980.

He listed a number of changes in the political system that he believes the Republicans should advocate in revitalizing the party.

Among these were: —A constitutional amendment outlawing deficit spending except in time of war or extreme emergency.

—A limit on terms of office to one six-year term for presidents, one eight-year term for senators and two four-year terms for U.S. representatives.

—Mandatory retirement of federal judges at age 70.

—Reconfirmation of federal judge appointments every 10 years.

A Democrat turned Republican, Connally was treasury secretary under Richard Nixon.

'Turtle Lady' devotes life to 'pals'

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Tex. (AP) — Obeying one of nature's strongest — and strangest — instincts, an Atlantic Ridley turtle returned to her birthplace this week, lumbered ashore and laid 143 eggs.

After carefully covering the fruit of her labors with sand, she crept back into the Gulf of Mexico and swam away.

On the surface, the turtle's feat was not spectacular but to the "Turtle Lady" and the other members of the Atlantic Ridley Seat Turtle Project, Tuesday morning's discovery was a godsend.

"They will always return to the place they were born," said Ila Loetscher, the legendary "Turtle Lady" of this resort community off the South Texas coast. "We don't know why. They just do. The females lay eggs and the males will return here to die."

Eleven years ago, Mrs.

Loetscher and a group of conservatinnists concerned about the Ridley, one of three sea turtle species on the endangered list, traveled to Rancho Nuevo, Mexico, and returned with 2,000

Ridley eggs. The ping pong ball look alikes were buried on this island at a location referred to as "Ranchito Tortuga," the little turtle ranch. "It takes eight to 10 years from the time they are hatched until they will return to lay their eggs," said the 72-year-old widow. "In 1974, one turtle returned. We named her alpha, the beginning. She laid 117 eggs but only 17 hatched due to poor fertilization.

Since that time, the turtle patrol annually roams the beach searching for signs of another homecoming.

Mrs. Loetscher's beach house reflects her devotion to the hard-shelled reptiles.

Ceramic and carved turtles clutter a coffee table. Ashtrays, paintings and potholders press to her turtlemania.

A silver turtle-shaped necklace dangles from her neck and a turquoise turtle rings her little finger.

"I can't begin to compute the amount of money I've spent on turtles," she said as Chizuko, a wounded turtle lay in her lap recuperating from an operation that removed part of his flipper. "They are such lovable, adorable creatures.

"About 30 years ago, there were 30,000 Ridley females who would nest in Mexico every year. The number dropped to 1,200. Hunters cut off their heads and flippers for the skin and if the trend had continued, the Atlantic Ridley would have become extinct in five years."

Twelve turtles splashed around in their individual kiddie wading pools when Mrs. Loetscher entered the room. "They can recognize my voice," she said.

"They are as individual and understand as much as people do. With a little training, they would do quite well in Washington."

Mrs. Loetscher moved to the island in 1954 from New Jersey. After her husband, a chemical engineer, succumbed to cancer.

THE TURTLE LADY — Mrs. Ila Loetscher poses with Chizuko, one of her wounded friends, while other members of her hard-shelled admirers vie for attention. The "Turtle Lady" has spent the last 11 years caring for turtles, especially the Atlantic Ridley Seaturtle which is an endangered species.

the homicide," but he added, "I conclude that there is not sufficient evidence to warrant the trial of any person at this time."

On Sept. 29, 1973, Reilly returned home and found his mother's nude body on her bedroom floor. Her throat had been slashed, her legs and ribs broken.

"I'm not going to make any accusations as to who may have committed the crime," Reilly said in a telephone interview after Sponzo's report was released. "I have theories... I tend to feel there was more than one person."

"I think the people of the state of Connecticut deserve to know who killed Barbara Gibbons. I deserve it," said Reilly, who now works at a service station.

The judge stopped short of saying Reilly was innocent, but he added that "there is no likelihood" he could be convicted on the 9,000 pages of evidence collected from 92 witnesses who appeared before him since Feb. 3.

Texans split vote on porpoises kill proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Texas House delegation split evenly Wednesday on a proposal to reduce the number of porpoises killed annually by tuna fishermen, it marked a landmark of sorts for the 95th Congress. It was the first time the Texans had come close to supporting an environmentalist's initiative.

The tuna-porpoise amendment, which passed overwhelmingly, contained little or nothing to persuade a Texan to vote against it. The only people directly and adversely affected were tuna fishermen, and they are concentrated largely on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Porpoises are lovable animals. But not even their protection could arouse a majority of the delegation.

It is often that way on environmental issues in Congress. The Texas delegation voted overwhelmingly to relax air pollution standards last week, with Reps. Bob Krueger and Bob Gammage helping lead the fight.

Reps. Ray Roberts and Jim Wright and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen are leaders in the effort to take control over all wetlands development from the Army Corps of Engineers. The Texas delegation is solidly behind the Trinity River project, which many environmental groups strongly oppose.

A recently compiled rating for the 1976 Congress by the League of Conservation Voters underscores the point. Only two Texas legislators, Reps. Bob Eckhardt and Barbara Jordan, got favorable ratings.

Ratings by pressure groups like the League of Conservation Voters are based on a collection of votes that the rating group considers crucial. In this in-

County vote payments

AUSTIN — Comptroller Bob Bullock mailed checks totaling $826,677 to 251 Texas counties Tuesday as payment for issuing and processing voter registration certificates from February 1, 1976 through January 31, 1977.

The payments ranged from a low of $6.80 to Donley County to $117,141 to Dallas County, Bullock said.

The counties are paid 40 cents by the State for each voter registration certificate issued or canceled, he explained.

Three counties — Brewster, Fisher and Madison — did not submit the necessary paperwork on time, said Bullock, and will be reimbursed at a later date.

Howard County's payment amounted to $1,460.80. Other areas counties and the money each received included:

Borden, $36.80; Dawson, $426.40; Glasscock, $49.60; Martin, $89.20; and Mitchell, $451.20.

'Mex-Fair 77' lures firms

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A total of 368 Mexican business firms will participate in the fifth Mexican Industrial and Commercial Fair in San Antonio Sept. 17-20, the Mexican Foreign Trade Institute said.

Jorge Canavati, deputy director of the Mexican Foreign Trade Institute (IMCE), the fair organizer, said that the "Mex-Fair 77" will include products ranging from the steel industry to handicrafts.

The fair, an annual event since 1973, will be held in San Antonio's Convention Center.

Canavati said participating firms include 42 firms in the steel industry, 20 in the general industry, 50 construction material products, 51 food and beverage, 40 furniture, 21 leather goods, 15 textiles, 21 jewelry, 61 handicrafts and 13 provide services for exporters.

Earlier this week San Antonio Mayor Lila Cockrell, who headed a group of San Antonio businessmen here, said the city of San Antonio will finance 50 per cent of the cost of the four-day fair and will provide the administrative facilities.

Banker Tom Frost said two San Antonio business groups have shown interest in having a permanent exhibition of Mexican products and added that plans are already underway to turn several buildings in downtown San Antonio into exhibition halls.

stance, the league included 23 votes. Some were on environmental and conservation staples like air pollution standards.

But others were on such questions as allowing federal aid to finance abortions. The league said that was an environmental issue

"because overpopulation is a root cause of environmental problems."

What the ratings really measure is not necessarily how a congressman treated the environment, but how often he agreed or disagreed with the rating group.

On that scale, with a perfect score being 100, Rep. Dale Milford got a zero, in part due to absences on key votes. Reps. William Archer, Omar Burleson and James Collins scored 3, 4 and 9, respectively.

Not surprisingly, some Texas congressmen have little but contempt for the environmental movement.

Rep. Charles Wilson, whose rating was 34, refers to the environmentalists as "loonies, fern fanatics and bog studies." To him, they are an arrogant elite.

Wilson cited two reasons for the anti-environmentalism of him and his colleagues — the rural character of much of the state and the working class background of most voters.

People in rural areas, he said, face direct economic losses from environmental regulations. A proposal to change some national forests in his district to wilderness areas, which would prohibit logging, has aroused "im-Wilson said only the urban "leisure class" has the luxury to contemplate such things as the preservation of rare birds and flowers. In his district, he said, people are more worried about basic things, like their livelihoods.

That is a feeling that apparently is shared in other sections of the country. The environmentalists have run into increasing difficulty this year because organized labor has begun to fight alongside management to defeat environmental initiatives it fears would hamper the economy.

Consumers searching harder for bargains

Higher prices for a wide variety of items pushed up the family grocery bill last month, forcing consumers to search harder than ever for bargains, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The survey showed that most of the increases affected food rather than nonfood products. Coffee prices continued to soar. Recent cuts by roasters did not affect the supermarket shopper since the retail prices consistently had remained below wholesale levels.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed the marketbasket total at the checklist store increased during May in 12 cities, up an average of 3.5 per cent. It declined in only one place — Salt Lake City, where the bill at the checklist store dropped 1.9 per cent.

On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores increased just over 3 per cent in May, compared to an average boost of 1.4 per cent during April.

Nonfoods represented 20 per cent of the items surveyed; they represented only 16 per cent of the increases. The most frequent food increases came in the price of pork chops, coffee and frankfurters.

To some degree, the increases reflect higher prices paid to farmers for their products. The Agriculture Department said Tuesday that farm prices went up 2 per cent from April 15 to May 15, the sixth straight monthly boost.

In many cases, however, the price paid to the farmer represents only a small fraction of the cost paid by the consumer. The rest of the money goes for such items as packaging, processing, transportation, labor and overhead, all of which have risen steadily.

Comparing prices at the start of June with those six months earlier, The AP found the marketbasket bill had increased at the checklist store in every city, up an average of 9 per cent. Much of the boost was due to the rising price of coffee which is averaging about $3.79 a pound at the checklist stores in the survey cities.

When coffee was removed from the totals, the marketbasket bill at the checklist store showed an increase of an average of only 1.5 per cent in six months.

One of the few bright spots during the first half of the year has been a steady decline in the price of eggs. The government said the prices paid to farmers for eggs and poultry dropped 5 per cent in the month ended May 15 and were 6 per cent lower than they were a year earlier. The AP survey showed the price of eggs dropped at the checklist store in eight cities during May.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Judge takes aim at smugglers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Enforcing a law making it against the law to hire illegal aliens would be difficult, the new U.S. Attorney for the Western District of Texas said Wednesday.

But Jamie C. Boyd said he plans to aggressively pursue laws against smuggling illegal aliens across the border.

"I take a dim view of the professional smuggler," he said after taking the oath of office Wednesday. Boyd said smugglers often charge illegal aliens $400 to carry them across the border "in almost inhuman conditions."

Boyd succeeds Republican appointee John Clark as the area's top federal prosecutor.

A new law making it against the law to hire illegal aliens would require more courts and more prosecutors, Boyd said.

Texas patients will be losers?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Texas patients will be the losers as a result of a state medical malpractice bill seen by the Texas Medical Association as just slightly better than nothing, according to the TMA president.

Dr. John Smith of San Antonio said the bill passed by the legislature will lead to continued hikes in medical costs.

"The legislature did not act responsibly on the malpractice insurance crisis," he said, adding that Texas doctors are "bitterly disappointed" with the measure.

He said a bill approved by the Senate would have been better than the House-approved measure. But a conference committee approved a bill including most of the House bill and little of the Senate action.

Sheriff tired of being nice

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County Sheriff Carl Thomas says he's through being a nice guy and is tired of dealing with the "intellectual pygmies" who sit on the commissioners' court.

Thomas' latest split with the court — there has been a running battle since his election last year — involves 11 cars the sheriff's department uses for administrative work. Under a court policy approved in a split vote Wednesday, Thomas would have to relinquish the vehicles.

"They are not going to get those cars even if I have to file an injunction. I've worked with them all I'm going to work with them. I've tried to co-operate with them...and here they knife me in the back every chance they get," Thomas said.

Texas lawmakers to miss 'freebies'

By SCOTT CARPENTER

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — It's going to be tough for the 181 Texas Legislators to get used to their calm home lives again. During the past five months in Austin they've been wine and dined and partied to about the limit of human endurance.

Many have gained quite a few pounds from the river of liquor and plate after plate of food they consumed at the myriad of receptions and banquets that accompany a legislative session.

Most were at absolutely no charge to the "leges," as they're called by those who pick up the tabs.

Legislators didn't even have to bring their own toothbrushes to Austin for the session — each got one free from the dental hygienists association.

The State Constitution prescribes the compensation for a member of the Texas Legislature — $600 per month plus $30 per day they are in session. That comes to $11,400 for the year of the regular session.

Of course that's not a whole lot of pay compared to what most make in their private lives. There are other emoluments, however, such as free meals and drink during sessions, and small gifts, which are heaped upon them.

They also get their egos fed daily by the legislative groupies who flock to the Capitol when the legislature is in session to take jobs as sergeants at arms, secretaries and administrative assistants.

There are those who don't participate in all the frivolity. The hardest working ones usually do take time for relaxation and play.

One lege recorded all the freebies. The printed invitations to parties given by associations filled three file folders. They were to receptions, lake parties and dinners where the lege was asked to bring a spouse or date, or sometimes to invite the entire staff.

The letter from the Texas Trial Lawyers Association invited the lege and all his guests to the daily luncheon thrown at TTLA offices on the days the legislature is in session.

If they get tired of receptions and dinners thrown by groups such as the County Judges Association, League of Women Voters, Coors Beer, Sheriff's Association and a host of others, there are always lobbyists ready to take small groups or individual legislators for a meal or a drink or two.

In April, the chief lobbyist for the Texas Municipal League reports spending $1,263 on "entertainment" in his lobby report to the secretary of state. During the first four months, the TML lobbyists, whose salary is paid by city governments, spent $2,744.

The two lobbyists for the Texas Association of Realtors report combined entertainment spending during the first four months of the session of $1,768.06. For the three months before the session began, Mark Hanna and Gerhardt Schulle report $1,481 of entertaining.

Carter is too conservative?

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th DISTRICT, TEXAS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A discussion of this nature should probably be left to the editorial writers. On the other hand, since it is a matter of interworkings between the President and the Congress, certain impressions might be of interest.

It is still too early to know for sure but the President may turn out to be a rarity: one who means what he says about restraint on Federal spending.

This is the impression on some of us who have met with him and had a rather frank and open discussion. The more conservative Members of Congress are heartened by what they heard. The liberals did not like it at all.

Other than Welfare revision, Mr. Carter mentioned no new programs and, in fact, said that budget increases would come from higher hospital costs, retirement programs, public housing, public works and recommended that there be restraints in these and other programs.

The Administration's chief budget officer, Director Bert Lance, advised that if the budget is to be balanced by 1981, new programs would not be possible and that revisions in the tax and welfare systems could not be made in less than three years.

The President's chief economic advisor, Dr. Charles Schultz, echoed the President's oft-stated position that the Administration means to balance the budget in four years, reduce unemployment to around 4.75 per cent and get inflation down to near a 4 per cent rate.

As has been said heretofore, there is a skepticism as to whether all this will be done but the very fact that these appear to be strong determination on the part of those men gives encouragement. Thus far, the main reaction among our fellow Democrats of the more liberal persuasion is a comment that the President is "too conservative."

While one can differ with details of the President's budget policy, his stated goals are commendable. What he seems to be saying is that deficit spending is not a free lunch; that the Treasury must borrow to pay the Government's bills and that there has got to be a limit to it.

In the next few weeks and months, confrontations are likely to develop between the Congress and the President over the level of spending. Just last week, the Subcommittee on Appropriations handling welfare voted out a bill of about $1.4 billion above that recommended by the President. The same is going to be true in other legislation which is just now beginning to emerge to the point of seeing their costs. If the President sticks to his guns, there are likely to be some vetoes coming along in the summer.

There are some faint signs of concern in the Congress for restraints on spending and the deficits which it creates. It is just possible the President may have his way if he is really determined to hold the line. The trouble is that this attitude is not noticeably prevalent in the higher echelons of the leadership in Congress.
