

Hurricane may surprise many Texans

BAT RECOVERS — Mrs. Laverne Tilley, 405 Johnson, picked up what appeared to be a sick bat near the R-70 Theatre Monday, and took it home hoping to keep it until it seemed well enough to fly. She and her husband were both surprised to find the bat swooping low over their bed and heads, making it's familiar healthy sounding radar beeps, later that same evening. Apparently tiring, the bat took a plunge into the waste basket next to the Tilley's bed and has lived there happily for the last few days. According to Mrs. Tilley, the bat has taken to flying around the house every night, getting stronger and stronger, and will soon be ready to take the skies again. Here Mrs. Tilley and her two granddaughters, Christy and Truchy, and her 8-month-old grandson, William, gather around their temporary, and sleepy new pet.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Texas will either tie a state weather record this year or be lashed by a hurricane that could cause disaster in subsidence-plagued Southeast Texas.

The longest the state has ever gone without one of the destructive storms is seven years. The most recent hurricane was Celia in 1970.

The hurricane season began this week and weather service officials say a major storm would surprise many new Texans.

"Sooner or later, one will come," said Davis Benton, chief meteorologist at the Galveston Weather Bureau. "And the problem is that it is difficult to convince people those things can happen."

The coastal area around

Galveston would be especially hard-hit by a major storm.

"We make preparations," Benton said. "For instance we have agreed that if tides in the Galveston area reach eight feet, we will recommend evacuation of the city." Eight to 10 foot tides would cover most of Galveston Island.

Bill Brady, Galveston County Civil Defense coordinator, warned that land subsidence makes it imperative that coastal residents, including those along bays, should know what tidal level will isolate them and evacuate before it occurs.

Benton gave chances of survival in a major hurricane by classifying coastal areas through use of a medical condition terms.

A critical area is one where the chance of survival is "not very good" and includes Texas City, Hitchcock, La Marque, Kemah, Seabrook and Clear Lake areas, parts of Chambers County and Baytown.

Extremely critical areas, where there is a 1-in-100 chance to survive, includes any area on the beach front and not protected by an adequate seawall.

Very critical areas are those where, Benton said, survival odds are "a little

Coffee costs dip

NEW YORK (AP) — The price of Folger coffee is going down for the second time in a week.

Folger Coffee Co., the nation's second largest roaster, dropped the wholesale price of its ground coffee 20 cents Thursday to $3.98 per pound, effective immediately.

Coffee futures prices have been declining for seven straight days on the New York coffee and sugar exchange.

Last Thursday, Folger, a division of Procter & Gamble, lowered its coffee prices by 25 cents to $4.18 per pound.

One day later, General Foods Corp., the largest coffee roaster, joined Folger in reducing its wholesale price 25 cents to $4.18 per pound.

The price reduction just about cancels out recent price hikes, and Procter & Gamble has said the higher wholesale price had not been shipped and would be reduced.

Methodists vote to keep conference units

ABILENE — Delegates to the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference have voted against reducing the number of districts in the 66-county conference.

The First United Methodist Church of Midland will be the site of the 1978 annual spring session of the conference. It will mark the first time in 69 years the conference has convened in Midland.

The session has traditionally been rotated among Abilene, Amarillo and Lubbock.

Conference districts are now headquartered in Big Spring, Abilene, Amarillo, Lubbock, Plainview, Seymour and Pampa.

Hope helps Boys Ranch

LUBBOCK — The Texas Boys Ranch, located northeast of Lubbock, benefitted to the extent of $4,900 from 'patron' tickets sold for the May 27 Bob Hope performance here.

The money will go toward the purchase of clothing and food for 20 West Texas youths who live on the ranch. Monthly ranch costs figure out to $500 per boy, according to ranch administrator David Maley. The ranch is supported primarily by gifts.

The Hope show attracted a crowd of 3,500.

Celebration in Lamesa for 'grand old lady'

LAMESA — Mrs. Zachary (Fannie Louise) Davis will be 100 years old Saturday and invites her friends to visit her at 1007 N. 1st Street from 2-4 p.m.

The grand old lady of Lamesa was born in Sartoria, Miss. June 4, 1877. She was educated in Columbia, Tenn. in an outstanding school for girls at the Columbia Athenaeum.

Some members of her family have lived in the Rectory, the last remaining building of the old school for the past 100 years. Upon the death of her sister, Mrs. Davis donated the home to the Association for the Preservation of Tennessee Antiquity. It is listed on the National Registry of Historic Sites.

On July 25, 1911, Mrs. Davis, then Fannie Smith, married Zachary Taylor Davis. They took a very unusual honeymoon trip to the islands south and east of the Arctic Ocean.

From the wasteland of the Arctic, the couple returned in 1911 to make their home in the near wasteland of South Dakota.

There, they ran cattle on Indian lands with government permission and co-existed with two tribes of Indians. At one time, she was made a member of the Ogallala Sioux tribe in a tribal ceremony attended by 2,000 of her Indian friends.

In 1924 after a blizzard killed their cattle, Mrs. Davis and her husband moved to Lamesa and opened the Davis Furniture Store. The store, often referred to as Davis Hardware, is still at the original location at 406 N. 2nd and members of the family still run it.

Until Mrs. Davis had an accident in December, she came to the store every day.

Two accused of burglary

STANTON — Two Stanton men were arrested by the Martin County sheriff's office Thursday in connection with a rural house burglary near Lenorah two weeks ago.

Jesse Cisneros, 19, and his uncle, Raymond Cisneros, 30, are in the Martin County jail charged with house burglary and theft of a motor vehicle. Bonds were set at $4,000 each by Justice of the Peace M.L. Gibson.

The pair are charged with taking a new stereo system from the Eddie Odom home near Lenorah and stealing Odom's pickup. The pickup has been recovered by Sheriff Dan Sanders.

Vets council meet called

The All Veterans council will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the American Legion Hall, rather than in the V.F.W. Hall as earlier announced.

Plans for the Fourth of July veterans service will be discussed. The constitution and by-laws will also be discussed by the council.

Weather Winds blanket most of state

By The Associated Press

Texas was warm and dry for the first time this week early today as a weak high pressure system accompanied by light winds blanketed most of the state.

The only thunderstorm activity after midnight Thursday came in the Upper Panhandle, where Amarillo reported 0.1 inches of rain. Skies were generally clear to partly cloudy over the remainder of the state, although some early morning fog was reported in East and Southeast Texas.

Predawn temperatures ranged from the mid 50s in the western mountains to the upper 70s in the northeastern part of the state.

Thursday's highs ranged up to 100 degrees at Dallas and Midland to 101 at Wink.

Farm Price supports defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department disagrees with Justice Department claims that federal price supports, marketing orders and dairy cooperatives have resulted in milk surpluses and higher costs to consumers.

The USDA comments were in answer to a report issued Jan. 17 by Justice's antitrust division. It was sent to Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell late last week by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

In his letter to Bell, Bergland said USDA's comments "vigorously question certain of the report's premises and conclusions relating to cooperatives and the marketing order program."

Basically, federal marketing orders set minimum prices that must be paid farmers for their milk in specific areas. The orders are intended, the USDA report said, "to provide a better marketing system than would otherwise prevail."

The Justice report said that a premise underlying antitrust laws is that "a competitive market is superior to a regulated one, that regulations should be the least restrictive possible and that competitive behavior should not be feared but welcomed."

USDA said that agriculture in general and dairy production in particular cannot be viewed in such a narrow light.

"Congress, upheld by the courts, has provided certain legislative exemptions to the antitrust laws for agricultural producers," the department said.

"Legislation authorizing marketing orders and formation of cooperatives recognizes some of the special problems faced by agricultural producers."

The USDA predicted "serious misimpressions" about federal and cooperative milk procedures if the Justice report is taken at face value.

Citing a Justice contention that milk marketing orders have created overwhelming surpluses of milk, the department said:

"Actually, during the period 1973-76, milk supplies have been generally short. At times, market prices have escalated sharply because of the tight supply-demand situation. Milk surpluses have existed on occasions during the life of the price support program, but they have not persisted."

As to a contention that consumers "pay unjustifiably high prices" for milk as a result of the system, USDA said that the price of milk since 1967 "has increased less than the cost of other beverages, all foods or the Consumer Price Index."

Chicken and beans kept Texan's food bill down

AUSTIN — If you served pinto beans and fried chicken in the month of May, you were a wise Texas shopper since the staples were two of only a few which didn't go up in price in the monthly market basket surveyed by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Twelve Texas cities included in the survey registered a statewide average of $20.21 for 20 commonly-purchased items, some 32 cents above a month earlier, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today.

He added, however, that "18 cents, or more than half of the average increase, can be attributed to continuing rises in the price of coffee."

Every city surveyed experienced some increase, with Austin's total of seven cents the lowest rise while El Paso's price of 94 cents the highest monthly jump, Brown explained.

"In the coming weeks, wholesalers will be switching from Mexican and Californian fresh vegetables as Texas' homegrown supplies become increasingly available for market," Brown said. "We should begin to see a leveling off of prices for vegetables. Tomatoes, in fact, dropped in the survey this month by five cents a pound."

"But while seasonal fluctuations and other food cycles will always be with us, I think it's time that we begin to realize that food is no longer cheap and will not miraculously become cheap again."

Remembering that "we spend more time buying just about any other consumer item than we do in our purchases of food," Brown advised, "shop around for food as carefully as you do for any other purchase."

San Antonio once again led the cities with the lowest market tag of $19.21, 19 cents above April, while McAllen-Edinburg's hike of 39 cents again gave them the highest prices of $21.06.

Other Texas cities, with their April totals in comparisons to increases in May include: Austin, $19.30 to $19.37; Laredo, $19.49 to $19.67; Lubbock, $19.66 to $19.97; Abilene, $19.95 to $20.21; Fort Worth, $19.95 to $20.23; Tyler, $19.96 to $20.29; Dallas, $20.01 to $20.31; El Paso, $19.48 to $20.42; Houston, $20.15 to $20.70; and Corpus Christi, $20.60 to $20.99.

Food items included in the survey, are also shown, with their May average price quoted first in comparison to a month earlier: one gallon one-half per cent low fat milk, $1.41 to $1.39; one gallon whole homogenized Vitamin D milk, $1.65 to $1.64; one dozen grade A eggs, $7.70 to $7.78; 12 one individually wrapped package American cheese singles, $1.32 to $1.30; one pound margarine, $.55 to $.54; and 24 ounce loaf white sandwich bread, $.41 to $.42.

Also, one pound whole fryer chicken, $.53 both months; one pound regular ground beef, $.80 to $.78; one pound grain fed round steak with bone, $1.52 to $1.44; one pound family pack pork chops, $1.23 to $1.17; 6 1/2 ounce can light chunk tuna, $.69 both months; one pound bacon, $1.25 to $1.23; and one pound Red Delicious apples, $.50 to $.48.

Also, 18 ounce box corn flakes, $.75 to $.74; one head fresh lettuce, $.39 to $.37; one pound fresh tomatoes, $.63 to $.68; one pound dry pinto beans, $.24 both months; one pound electric perk coffee, $.39 to $.37; 49 ounce box detergent, $1.44 to $1.46; and six ounce can frozen orange juice, $.30 to $.29.

Texas wool clip for 1976 sags

AUSTIN — Texas wool clip for 1976, at 20.1 million pounds, represents the smallest total reported in the state in more than a half century, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today.

The 1976 production, which was also 15 per cent less than 1975, was the smallest since 1919 when production totaled 18.2 million pounds.

At the same time, value of the wool production for the year was up to $15,879 million from $14,868 million in 1975.

Confidential information?

HOUSTON (AP) — United Methodists of the Texas Conference have voted to submit to the next Texas Legislature a proposal to allow ministers to withhold confidential information in a court of law.

The vote came Wednesday during the eighth annual session of the Texas Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church South Central Jurisdiction.

Reasons cited for the decline in sheep numbers include increased production costs, higher grazing fees and competition for land use, predator problems, and poisonous plants.

HOUSTON (AP) — A 29-year-old woman who said she used an intrauterine device (IUD) for two years has filed a $750,000 federal court damage suit, claiming complications from the device left her sterile.

Rebecca Sue Bodmer, a corporate librarian, said the device which was prescribed by her doctor in 1970 was "unreasonably dangerous and injurious."

Named defendant is Ortho Pharmaceuticals, a division of Ortho Pharmaceutical Corp. of Raritan, N.J. Company officials said they had not seen the suit and would have no comment.

Club fire sparks damage suit

SOUTHGATE, Ky. (AP) — Ronald Schuman is badly burned and still suffers the effects of smoke inhalation. His wife, Rosalie, died in the smoky horror of the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire.

On Thursday, a $21.5 million damage suit was filed on behalf of the Bright, Ind., couple, the first of many such suits expected. Official counts say 161 persons died in the fire.

In addition, two Ohio women are reported missing by their families and friends.

Dr. Fred Stine, Campbell County Coroner, said a search for their bodies would begin today. The missing women were identified as Evelyn Shough of Dayton and Judy Bohrer of Western Hills, a Cincinnati suburb. Stine said two bodies still unidentified are not believed those of the missing women, who are elderly. The unidentified bodies are of women in their 20s or 30s, he said.

The Schumans' suit was filed in U.S. District Court in nearby Covington. Named as defendants were the 4-R Corp., which owns the club; Richard Schilling and his three sons, the operators; architect William Roeding of Blue Ridge Summit, Pa.; the City of Southgate and the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

The suit alleges the building was improperly constructed and designed and failed to provide fire safety systems, including properly marked exits, fire walls and nonflammable materials and furniture.

It also accuses the operators of overcrowding the club, failing to warn patrons promptly and trying to put out the fire themselves before calling firemen when it was out of control.

The suit charges the city and the state with failing to inspect and enforce building and fire codes and laws and failing to provide proper firefighting equipment and personnel.

FIRE CAUSE PROBED — A technician checks a fire extinguisher at the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire site in Southgate, Ky., as the investigation into the cause of the fire continues Thursday. The investigators are looking for clues that could detail causes and patterns of the Saturday night fire which has claimed at least 160 lives.

Midland to buy right-of-way

MIDLAND — The Midland city council has committed itself to pay all the cost of right-of-way for a north loop around Midland, if money is not available from any other source.

The council is hopeful the state will participate in the purchase of necessary land, to some degree.

The bill for the right-of-way could go as high as $800,000 according to reliable estimates.

Colonel draws assignment

Col. Paul Brown, deputy commander for Maintenance at Webb AFB, received an assignment as deputy commander for maintenance for the 26th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Zweibrücken Air Base, Germany.

Presently serving as the base closure officer, Col. Brown expects to continue in that capacity until about the first week of August. He arrived here last November from a tour in Thailand and Okinawa.

Two injured in accident

Two persons received minor injuries in a one-vehicle accident in Sterling County on U.S. Highway 87 26 miles south of Big Spring at 3:45 p.m. Thursday.

Jose Dominguez of Roma was driver of a station wagon which left the road when a tire blew out and hit a bridge dead center. One woman and one man in that vehicle were taken to the emergency room at Malone-Hogan and treated for a minor leg injury and a bump on the head.

The station wagon was followed by a pickup. Ten persons from Roma, which is in South Texas on the border, were traveling together as migrant workers. The group included six men, and four women, one of whom spoke limited English.

The accident was investigated by Bill Jennings, state trooper.

Brass Nail Club to open

The Brass Nail Club will open Saturday night following a special reception around 7:30 p.m.

The club, one of the fanciest this side of Dallas, is owned and to be operated by Charlie and Joyce Wash.

It already has sold some 400 memberships, more than any private club has ever sold in Big Spring prior to opening its doors.

There will be a restaurant section of the club which will be open to the public in another week or ten days, which will feature prime ribs, top charbroiled steaks, lobster tails, shrimp, frog legs and another delicacies.

The doors will open to members and guests at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Briscoe to dedicate Texas Tech building

LUBBOCK — Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who will deliver the commencement address and dedicate the new building for the Texas Tech University School of Medicine earlier in the afternoon, will meet with representatives of West Texas news media in the medical school library, 5 p.m., Sunday, June 5. The Texas governor will address the medical school's fourth graduating class at 2:30 that afternoon in the University Center Theatre on the main campus. At 4:30 he will dedicate the new building, located at 4th and Indiana in Lubbock.

Colorado City park lures record crowd

COLORADO CITY — Lake Colorado City State Park is becoming increasingly popular and the recent Memorial Day weekend saw a new record for that weekend with 15,500 visiting the campgrounds.

There is a July 4th weekend which has exceeded that number. Last year's Memorial Day weekend showed 15,200.

Colorado City lawmen were busy during the weekend, with the drowning of the seven-year-old boy from Coahoma and many minor accidents.

The ambulance made several runs. A woman was hit in the neck by a baseball at one location.

One of the more interesting incidents included a Big Spring man and a laborer working on the man's property at the lake.

When they arrived, his boat was loose from the moorings. He handed the worker his wallet and waded out for the boat. While he was in the water, the hired hand left in the man's pickup with his wallet.

He reported the incident to police at 1 p.m. after waiting several hours for the laborer's return. At 3:30 p.m., he returned with the wallet and pickup having taken seven hours to find his way around the lake.

A 24-year-old Colorado City man was charged with driving while intoxicated and marijuana possession after he backed his car off a boat ramp near Lake View Camp on Lake Colorado City.

One Seminole youth was injured in a mini-bike accident at the lake and sent to Root Memorial emergency room, treated and released.

FOREVER AND EVER

This picture was taken just a year ago. It was a perfect afternoon for a garden wedding reception. Joan and Kenny were so much in love.

Now, this morning, a letter came in the mail from Joan telling us that she is coming home. She's thinking about divorce — that the beautiful dream that she and Kenny shared has turned into a nightmare.

Naturally, her father and I will welcome her. This is her home and always will be. But this is a problem that we shall not try to solve by ourselves. We will turn, as we know Joan will, to our church, and to the very minister who both baptized and married her. Maybe all of us, working together, will find a way through God's Will and His Word.

The Church comes very close in times of stress. Remember that.

Vacation Bible schools scheduled here this week

This is the week that a large number of local churches will hold Vacation Bible Schools.

Some have plans to hold theirs later in the summer and some have not yet been announced.

AT TRINITY BAPTIST, there will be a school this week under the theme, "Remember Now thy Creator".

Teachers and workers will be using scriptures from the Bible and workbooks to teach the children "the need to serve God in the days of thy youth."

The need for missionaries will be stressed and the Bible School offering will go for missions.

On Monday, the children will line up in front of the church auditorium at 8:30 a.m., march in for assembly, then to classes to register. On Tuesday through Friday, they will go directly to classes from 9-11:30 a.m.

Awards will be given in each department and the attendance plaque will be presented, according to rules. Ages are toddler through teens.

Refreshments will be served daily and busses will be running. Those needing the bus service may call 7-6344 or 7-6055.

HILLCREST BAPTIST extends an invitation to all the youngsters of the area to come to Vacation Bible School at the Hillcrest Baptist Church located at 22nd and Lancaster.

The school will be in session June 6-10 for all children from three years old through the eighth grade. There will be time for Bible study, missions study, singing, refreshments, games and other activities.

Times for the Bible School will be from 8:30-11:30 a.m. If transportation is needed please call the church office at 263-7127. A picnic is being planned for the final day of the school, Friday June 10.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH located at 8th and Rannels will hold vacation church school June 6-10.

Hours are 9-11:30 a.m. Children pre-kindergarten through the sixth grade are invited to participate.

Co-directors of the school are Mrs. Rip Patterson and Mrs. Wesley Carroll.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST, 14th and Main, will hold Vacation Bible School

June 6-10. The theme this year is "God's Way For The Family".

The school begins at 9 a.m. Monday through Friday and is dismissed daily at 11:15 a.m.

Teachers are: two year olds, Barbara Fryar, Kathy Epley, three year olds, Pam Thompson, Debbie McMillan, four year olds, Marge Sorrells, Sissy Jones, five year olds, Pat Johnston, Sharon Rotan, first grade, Nancy Allen, Jane Thomas, second grade, Sethel Cave, Fabienne Bogle. The coordinator is Loyce Phillips for the above named group of teachers. Third grade, Margaret Horton, Darlene Archer, fourth grade, Pat Moore, Roberta Wiley, fifth grade, Violet Reed, Barbara McWhorter, sixth grade, Evelyn McCall, Evelyn Elrod.

Coordinator for this group of teachers is Norma Cudd. Awards will be given for each visitor brought Monday, the three bringing the most visitors during the Vacation Bible School and to those having perfect attendance.

Refreshments will be served every day. There will be a closing program on Friday evening, June 10 at 7:30 p.m. Jody Stroup will be in charge of the kitchen. Director of the school is Walter Stroup. Anyone needing transportation please call 263-1303.

COLLEGE BAPTIST will hold Vacation Bible School at 11th and Birdwell Lane, starting Monday, June 6 at 9 a.m.

It will continue through Friday, June 10. Special activities, fun projects, Bible study, mission study, recreation and refreshments are the order of the day.

The Bible is at the heart of College Baptist Vacation Bible School. This year's Bible school is for three-year-old preschoolers through high school seniors. For more information or to secure a ride on the church van, call the church office 267-7429.

Theologian Eyes plan

NEW YORK (AP) — A controversial but widely influential Roman Catholic theologian, the Rev. Hans Kung, says Roman Catholic and Protestant churches should now recognize each other's ministries as valid and share Holy Communion.

The basis for such steps, he says, has come through resolution of the major issues originally dividing Christianity.

The ecumenical movement is now ripe for concrete action," he says.

Citing the series of accords reached by theologians representing Catholicism and various branches of Protestantism, he told a symposium of scholars this week at the University of Notre Dame.

"The sum of these documents . . . make clear that the churches today can no longer evade the issue of Eucharistic hospitality or inter-Communion."

He said at the grass-roots level, Catholics and Protestants in many places already participate in inter-Communion, and he called for "open protest" to get the church hierarchy to bring official practice into line with the new understandings achieved.

"The leadership of all the churches can inspire little confidence as long as it does not show itself ready and able to put into practice the results of theological labor," he said.

"Among the matters calling for such realization are: the mutual recognition of ministries, the extension of Eucharistic hospitality and the establishment ultimately of full Eucharistic communion."

However, he said that despite the agreements, church officials invoke stalling tactics that to many seem like "subterfuge to avoid doing what has to be done."

College Baptist host film series

The College Baptist Church, 11th and Birdwell Lane will host a series of ten films based on the book "How Should We Then Live" by Frances Schaeffer each Sunday at 6 p.m. beginning June 5 and continuing through August 7.

This film series by Schaeffer is more than a history lesson, according to a film spokesman. "Each episode, while focusing on a significant era, speaks clearly to 20th century man with answers for modern problems," they point out.

"Time" magazine has called Dr. Schaeffer a missionary to the intellectuals. Hundreds of college students, curiosity seekers, drifters, and spiritually hungry nomads of all nationalities and ages have sought him out in his home in the Swiss Alps. There he has developed a reputation for his ability to communicate ideas and principles to men and women from all walks of life.

From Harvard to the local church, in Europe, North America, and the Far East, he has raised the spectre of the potentially destructive direction of society. "As a voice in the wilderness, for years he has preached that biblical Christianity is not only true, but intellectually defensible and reasonable," according to reports.

Francis Schaeffer has written a number of books including "The God Who Is There," "True Spirituality" and "Escape From Reason." These have been widely read and studied in over 15 different languages. The sales of his books have exceeded one million in the U.S. alone.

Each film is 30 minutes in length with a discussion time, led by the pastor, Dr. Jimmy Law, to follow. The public is invited to attend the viewing of each film and to enter into the discussion time.

Wesley Church hosts farewell

The Wesley Methodist Church will honor their pastor, the Rev. Jene Greer and family following the regular service Sunday night.

The Rev. Greer has been reassigned at the Methodist Conference to serve Trinity United Methodist Church in Snyder.

The farewell event will be held after the 7 p.m. service at 8 p.m. in Fellowship Hall, where refreshments will be served.

Jewish congress wants count

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Jewish Congress is pressing the U.S. Department of Defense to tell how many, if any, Jews are among American military personnel assigned to Arab lands.

A letter from the Pentagon claims it doesn't know, but the Congress points out it would be easy to determine since most service personnel indicate their religious preference in their records, and only 1,214 are on duty in Arab countries.

Rabbi Arthur Hertzberg, the Congress president, initiated the inquiry with Defense Secretary Harold Brown to determine if a presidential executive order forbidding federal agencies from applying any religious restrictions was being complied with by the military in Arab lands.

In a follow-up letter, the Congress said it suspects no Jews are serving in any post in Arab countries, and the Defense Department should take steps to correct its practice so the world will understand the United States will not go along with "religious bigotry as a condition for stationing our troops abroad."

CHRIST IS OUR EXAMPLE
For you have been called for this purpose, since Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an example for you to follow in His steps,
Who committed no sin, nor was any deceit found in His mouth;
and while being reviled, He did not revile in return; while suffering, He uttered no threats, but kept entrusting Himself to Him who judges righteously;
and He Himself bore our sins in His body on the cross, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness; for by His wounds you were healed.

The Camp Chase Confederate Cemetery is the site of the Union's largest prisoner of war facility in the Civil War in Columbus, Ohio.

Water plan help sought

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' top water officials want the state's average taxpayers to help them make water plans for the year 2000 and beyond.

Thursday, the staff of the Water Development Board released a two-volume draft of its planning document that will be under public review for 90 days before public hearings are held.

"We strongly urge and invite legislators, individual citizens and groups and organizations interested in planning to meet Texas' water needs to review this draft document," said James M. Rose, executive director of the board.

The report said there is little excess water storage in surface reservoirs today and the withdrawals from ground-water aquifers is greater than the annual recharge.

As a result the present annual water usage in Texas is about 23 million acre-feet per year, well above the 14.9 million "safe yield." An acre foot is 325,851 gallons.

Rose said the projected requirements for economic and environmental needs are estimated at 33 million acre feet by 2000, 41 million by 2020 and 48 million by 2030.

Board chairman A.L. Black said the draft "brings together a brief description of the laws under which the board must plan, sets forth the planning methods, describes water problems in each area of Texas, assesses current water use, projects future water requirements and identifies insofar as possible, alternative water development projects to solve water supply problems over the next 50 years."

Rose noted that the recent legislature passed a law merging the Water Development Board with the Texas Water Rights Commission and the Texas Water Quality Board next Sept. 1. It provides that the executive director of the new super water agency will prepare and develop a comprehensive statewide water plan.

Dean quits at ENMU

PORTALES (AP) — Dr. Darrell Bulls, dean of the College of Business at Eastern New Mexico University, is resigning July 29 to take a post with Texas Women's University in Denton, Tex.

ENMU made the announcement today. A school spokesman said Bulls, who has been with ENMU since 1969, will become chairman of the department of business and economics at the Texas school.

Bulls began his career at Eastern as director of the computer center and then served as chairman of the department of marketing and director of graduate studies and business. He received ENMU's president's awards in 1969.

Energy

Boren to have last word

ENID, Okla. (AP) — For three days, fuel experts, producers and consumer spokesmen from half the United States have argued how best to meet the energy crisis they all admit exists.

Today, Gov. David Boren, who started it all by sending invitations to governors of consumer states for the Energy Congress, was to have the last word, and he to hear it was to be Fred Weinhold, research assistant to Dr. James Schlesinger of the Carter administration.

William Talley, co-chairman of Boren's advisory council on energy, said Thursday that Boren would present an alternative to the Carter energy program, hinting it might be a compilation of suggestions Boren offered Carter before the President unveiled the administration program.

Boren has said his suggestions were largely ignored by the President. Most Oklahoma industry spokesmen feel the Carter program relies too much on conservation of oil and gas, and not enough on incentives for new production.

One topic that preoccupied the meetings here was deregulation of natural gas, favored by all but a few delegates such as Jerry Ann Penno, director of the office of consumer affairs of the Federal Energy Administration (FEA).

She was one of a minority of delegates representing consumer advocacy organizations passed up invitations extended by the congress organizers.

The deregulation issue came to a head Thursday night when one of its nationally prominent advocates, Texas A&M economist Phil Gramm, debated former Federal Power Commission Chairman Lee White.

Gramm said: "no issue better demonstrates an impotence of the federal government to enter into the free market economy. In 5,000 years of recorded history, there is not one bit of evidence that governments ever benefited consumers by fixing prices."

White countered that taking price controls off interstate natural gas "would have only one sure effect — the price would go up, and the families on the end of those pipelines really don't have much of a choice."

"I used to vote to authorize pipelines, but we'd first insist that there be a market and a guaranteed supply. Now, if those pipelines are running 15 per cent empty, someone got taken."

"I can't take my vote back. But I'd like to say to those companies: 'You said you'd fill those pipelines — now don't say you can't deliver.'"

Gramm said that if Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma, natural gas producing states, "seceded from the union, we'd have to build a fence to keep people and industry out."

He said proposals for mandatory allocation were nothing more than schemes by consumer states "to seize our gas," and chided White that Massachusetts and New Jersey had not had the industriousness to develop rich natural gas deposits off their coasts "while these states continue to clamor for Texas and Oklahoma natural gas at artificially low prices."

"We're propping the rest of the country," said Gramm, by virtue of sacrificing in developing natural resources, "and we in Texas don't want to share those benefits with you."

"It's a small attitude to take that the natural gas is yours and not the country's," White said. "I hope we don't let the debate be determined on the basis of what is best for a single segment."

Gramm said he had not meant that Texans do not want to share the gas, "but the people who want the gas ought to pay the fair market price for it." Natural gas consumers in producer states pay more because federal prices ceilings apply only to interstate gas.

In a question-answer period, John Miller of Allegan, Mich., former president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA), asked White what would be the next target of government regulators.

"Would be it be steel? Coal? Autos? Insurance? Are you advocating a change from the basic American economic system?" asked Miller.

White smilingly responded: "I didn't cause the energy crisis all by myself."

Miller, also smiling, said: "I'd hate to think all those years you spent in Washington were wasted."

White said price regulation is intended as a substitute for the marketplace where there is no marketplace, as in the case where an industry is dominated by a few companies. He said: "I don't think we should leave pricing to the corporations that are motivated by profit alone."

Gramm said he trusted profit-motivated companies in a system of free competition with each other more than he trusted federal government which he called the nation's biggest monopoly.

White said de-regulation is one of the most devious issues in Washington, citing a 204-201 vote in the House of Representatives a year ago.

'Fair plan' is target

DENVER (AP) — The Carter administration will work closely with the National Governors Conference to develop a fair plan for energy impact assistance to the West, a White House advisor says.

The foremost problem facing the administration is massive growth in small communities expected to result from increased mining in the West, Alvin A. Alm said Thursday.

Alm, one of the principal administration advisors on energy, said he and Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm discussed the problem at length on Thursday. Lamm chairs a Governors Conference subcommittee on impact assistance.

A Lamm aide said both men agreed that Carter's impact-assistance plans are insufficient and specifics should be developed jointly by the states and federal government.

Lamm has predicted a fourfold increase in Colorado coal production under Carter's plan, which calls for increased national emphasis on coal.

Alm also told a news conference that: "Stricter federal strip-mining and clean-air controls will eliminate adverse environmental effects feared to accompany the increased mining."

"A standby gasoline tax that Carter wants to implement could have an immediate adverse affect on tourism. But the tourist industry could face "dire problems" in the future if nothing is done to reduce gasoline consumption.

"The administration does not intend to make water available for energy development at the expense of agriculture."

Midland student wins energy essay contest

Dee Calverley, a 17-year-old junior at Lee High School in Midland is the 1977 winner of Drill Bit magazine's energy essay contest for high school students in the Permian Basin.

Calverley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry S. Calverley of 2401 Auburn Pl. in Midland. Mr. Calverley is an employee of El Paso Natural Gas Co.

Second place winner in the contest was Noell Stout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.A. Stout of 905 W. 15th St., Odessa. Miss Stout is a senior at Odessa High School.

Marie Buckner, a junior at Big Spring High School, was third place winner. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buckner of 1413 E. 18th St., Big Spring.

Honorable Mention winners were: Kathy Lloyd, Big Spring; Diana Willeke, Odessa; and Lauri Brock, Midland.

place received $100 and third place $75. All winners were presented with a plaque.

The Energy Essay Contest is sponsored by Drill Bit magazine to further student understanding of the oil and gas industry in the Permian Basin.

Rotary rigs spin in Texas

A total of 779 rotary rigs were turning in Texas during the week ending May 31, compared to 773 for the preceding week.

Those making hole a month ago totaled 762, compared to 603 for the week ending May 31, 1976.

The rig count for the entire United States was down slightly in one week's time (from 1994 to 1985) but up sharply from a year ago, when only 1,524 were turning. A month ago, the count throughout the United States

Sterling County gains extender

A wildcat is slated in Mitchell County and Sterling County gained an extender in Sterling County.

Barron Kidd, Dallas, will drill the No. 1 L.T. Biggs Estate, a 31,100-foot Clearfork wildcat in Mitchell County, 1 1/2 miles east of the Sharon Ridge (Clearfork) field and seven miles north of Colorado City.

Location is 467 feet from the south and 21,173 feet from the east lines of 137-3-H&GN.

IN STERLING COUNTY, the Jameson, Southwest (Strawn oil) field gained its eighth producer and a location southeast extension with completion of Western Petroleum, Inc., Dallas, No. 1-B.R.C. Bynum-East, 10 miles northeast of Sterling City, for 171 barrels of 43 gravity oil per acre, with 40-50% production.

Production was through a 10-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,189-399 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 40,000 gallons and 46,000 pounds of sand.

Location is 2,180 feet from the south and 467 feet from the east lines of 137-3-H&GN.

HELLO WORLD — A baby gorilla named "Caesar" looks out from an incubator after being delivered cesarean at the Los Angeles Zoo Wednesday night. The delivery and operation, which was conducted by a team of doctors that included two specialists in obstetrics and gynecology, was the first ever performed, according to a zoo spokesperson.

'Newcomers' least likely to die in hurricane

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Growing populations in coastal areas make it more difficult each year to issue hurricane evacuation warnings, says the head of the National Hurricane Center.

Neil Frank, director of the center in Miami, said Thursday many areas along the coast are so congested a lot of people might find it impossible to move to safety when a fast-moving hurricane looms offshore.

of 24 hours, but that is not always possible," he said. "With a 24-hour lead time, we have to allow a margin of error of 100 miles on either side of the area where we think the storm will hit. That will cover 300 miles of coastline."

Frank said there is no known pattern by which forecasters can make long-range predictions on the hurricane season, which began Wednesday and ends Nov. 30.

Frank, here to address a conference of disaster agencies, said newcomers in coastal areas are the one least likely to die in a major storm.

Such warnings mean the difference between life and death for thousands in coastal areas which, in a major storm, may be threatened by winds up to 200 miles an hour, torrential rain, and tidal surges 20 feet high.

Frank, here to address a conference of disaster agencies, said newcomers in coastal areas are the one least likely to die in a major storm.

Auto theft count filed

STANTON — Ruben Cantu, 19, is in Martin County jail under a $3,000 bond charged with theft of a vehicle.

A car belonging to Mrs. Sue Douglas, who operates the laundromat across the street from the courthouse, was stolen Wednesday.

The vehicle was recovered after Deputy Chuck James went in pursuit and stopped the vehicle 30 miles north of Stanton.

Christian Yellow Pages

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — A kind of born-again Yellow Pages, restricted to businesses run by Christian fundamentalists, is being attacked by a Jewish organization as a throwback to Nazi Germany.

The man behind the directory says the Jews are being "paranoid." "If you need an electric drill, we think you should buy it from a Christian hardware dealer. If you have a bad tooth, we recommend a Christian dentist," said W.R. Tomson, national director of Christian Yellow Pages. "All we're doing with our directory is saying, 'Here are the Christian businessmen.'" many in the 1930s and led to a nationwide boycott of Jewish stores.

Lawyers for the league reportedly are preparing a suit based on anti-discrimination laws, and the group has threatened to boycott the listed advertisers.

The Christian Yellow Pages is distributed in regional editions in about 25 U.S. metropolitan areas, including San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Ore., Miami, Houston, Dallas, Atlanta and Richmond, Va.

Each edition looks like an ordinary telephone directory, except a large white cross hovers over the city skyline pictures on the cover.

Singlaub stirred debate on Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — He may not be the administration's model of a modern major general, but John K. Singlaub did what the politicians could not. He stirred national debate on the withdrawal of American troops from South Korea.

That is useful, whatever the impropriety of Maj. Gen. Singlaub's public challenge to the administration's Korean policy. For debate is a step toward consensus, or at least understanding, of what had been a back-sheaf issue.

President Carter's plan for phased withdrawal of ground combat forces was a promise long before it became a policy, and anyone who was surprised at what he is doing just wasn't paying attention.

There is ample attention now, in the tardy discussion stirred by Singlaub's assertion that the pullout would lead to a new Korean war.

Carter treated that as insubordination, "a very serious breach of the propriety that ought to exist among military officers after a policy has been made." He called the general on the carpet, relieved him of his post in over the next four or five years now is under inspection, by Congress and the country. The House armed services and international relations committees plan inquiries.

There are complaints in Congress, particularly among conservatives, based, as was Singlaub's dissent, on the contention that withdrawal would invite a North Korean attack on the South.

Carter says it would not, because the South Koreans are able to take care of themselves.

He says the ground forces no longer are needed, and that adequate air, naval and intelligence units will remain to underscore a staunch U.S. commitment to South Korea.

The withdrawal will not save money. By congressional estimate, it will be more expensive to bring the Army's 2nd Division home than to leave it in South Korea.

Singlaub complained that military leaders couldn't get an explanation of the policy. Now they will, along with the rest of the nation.

Whatever problems the debate may cause the administration, it is better that they be confronted now, rather than later, when a pullout is underway.

What is clear is that Carter began talking about the withdrawal of troops from Korea 30 months ago, and raised the issue almost every time he discussed foreign policy. "It was part of our thinking from the earliest days of the campaign," said Stuart Eizenstat, the White House assistant who was Carter's chief adviser on issues.

110 passengers, crew rescued Ferry hits iceberg

HALIFAX, Canada (AP) — All 110 passengers and crewmen of the ferry William Carson were reported rescued early today from ice floes and lifeboats after an iceberg punctured the 6,300-ton ship and it sank off the Labrador coast of northeast Canada.

The 88 passengers and 22 crew members of the Canadian National ferry were reported in good condition. Helicopters took 42 of them to Mary's Harbor, Labrador, and St. Anthony, Newfoundland, and the government icebreaker Sir Humphrey Gilbert rescued the rest, a Canadian National spokesman announced.

Tuesday night on its first scheduled run of the season along the Atlantic coasts of the island and Labrador.

The car-and-passenger ferry was bound for Goose Bay, in Labrador more than 500 miles northwest of St. John's.

The ship sent out an SOS at 9:43 p.m. Thursday reporting ice had ruptured its hull near the Square Islands, 18 miles off the Labrador coast. Thirty minutes later another message said the passengers and crew were abandoning ship.

The ferry sank about three hours later. With it went 1,000 tons of general cargo, including 4,432 cases of beer.

George Pike, a crewman among those taken to the nursing station at Mary's Harbor, said there was time for everyone who had gone to bed to dress and there was no panic. Pike said despite heavy ice in the area, the air temperature was moderate and there was a full moon.

The first helicopter arrived after midnight, he said. Some of the stranded crew members lighted flares, and two Canadian Air Force planes from Prince Edward Island arrived to illuminate the area with searchlights and flares for the rescue.

The icebreaker arrived about 3 a.m.

The village of Goose Bay, 130 miles inland at the head of Lake Melville, exists because of its radio station, used by transatlantic commercial flights, and the lumber industry. It has no road or rail connection with the rest of Canada and most supplies reach the village by coastal ship.

Two truck lines merge

The Texas and Pacific Motor Transport Co., has been merged into Missouri Pacific Truck Lines, forming a single trucking system that will operate over 18,000 highway route miles, Charles T. Groton, president, has announced in St. Louis, Mo. Much of the highway mileage parallels the railroad, but many routes provide freight service to points not reached by the railroad. Headquarters of the country will remain in St. Louis.

The two truck lines, serving 12 states in the midwest, south and southwest, are subsidiaries of the Missouri Pacific Railroad and have been operated under common management for many years.

In addition to truck operations with full truck load and LTL interstate capabilities, the company also provides piggyback, container and small shipment service relating to international trade, as well as domestic and international air freight forwarder service and ocean freight forwarding.

Six tonsillectomies on same patient?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A doctor claims he performed six tonsillectomies on the same patient last year. The government paid the bills. A pharmacist filed a claim for 120 prescription pills a day for 204 days running, also supposedly for one person. Both cases were picked out by computers searching files as the government prepares for its first nationwide investigation of fraud and abuse in the Medicaid program.

The government estimates taxpayers throw away $1 billion a year in state and federal Medicaid charges for care the poor don't receive. Doctors and pharmacists will be special targets of the investigation because they are believed to account for the greatest losses, says a spokesman for Tom Morris, inspector general of the department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The spokesman said nursing homes, laboratories, clinics, hospitals and dentists who are paid under Medicaid for care they give the poor will be scrutinized. Administration sources said Morris' office, created by Congress last year after widespread reports of Medicaid and welfare losses, is informing governors and state and local officials of the probe, hoping to win their support.

Computers have been examining all Medicaid bills for the year ending last February, picking out suspicious looking cases, sources said.

They added that the names picked out are being verified to preclude technical errors. Investigators, along with state and federal prosecutors, will make detailed examinations of the cases.

Among examples of suspected fraud and abuse are double billings, charges for prescriptions that apparently never were filled and payments by the government for patients who don't exist.

The Medicaid program to provide care for those who can't afford it is administered by the states, with the federal government paying an average of 55 percent of the total cost.

(AP WIREPHOTO) FUND-RAISER CONVICTED — Carol Grudzinski, 34, was convicted of theft and other crimes Thursday in connection with a fund-raising drive for Pamela Price, a teenaged cerebral palsy victim whose mother committed suicide. The girl's father testified his wife, Delores, slashed her wrists because she believed neighbors thought she had taken money raised by Miss Grudzinski for Pamela.

'Mean' fundraiser guilty of theft

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Delores Price, convicted her neighbors thought she stole money raised for her crippled daughter, slashed her wrists with scissors and a dull razor blade.

A message scrawled with lipstick on a bathroom mirror read, "I didn't do it." On Thursday, a professional fundraiser, Carol Grudzinski, was convicted of the crime that drove Mrs. Price to suicide a year ago.

Miss Grudzinski, 34, was convicted in a non-jury trial of theft and other crimes in connection with bingo games, gambling and other fundraising activities billed as benefits for Pamela Price, 18, a victim of cerebral palsy.

The prosecution never said how much money was raised for Pamela. One witness testified he contributed $35,000. A bank official testified Miss Grudzinski made a single deposit of $2,000 in checks to a trust account in Pamela's name.

Miss Grudzinski showed no emotion when Judge Charles Durham announced his verdict. Last week she ran crying from the courtroom when Pamela was brought to the stand in a wheelchair.

The Price family's association with Miss Grudzinski began in late 1975. Because the fundraiser earlier had set up an organization called Future of Philadelphia, purportedly to raise funds for the handicapped, Pamela's father, Martin Price, asked her help to raise money for an operation for Pamela.

Special one-a-year, tax-free sales voted

AUSTIN — Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday reminded religious and other nonprofit, tax-exempt organizations they now may hold one sale or auction a year in which they don't have to collect sales taxes.

The special one-a-year, tax-free sales were authorized by the Texas Legislature and apply to tax-exempt religious, educational, charitable and eleemosynary organizations. The legislation had the support of the Comptroller's Office.

Bullock said the new law, which became effective May 24, allows only one tax-free sale or auction during a calendar year and limits it to one day only.

If two or more organizations jointly hold a tax-free sale or auction, neither may hold another during the calendar year, he said.

The bill allows the sponsoring organization to pay the auctioneer a "reasonable fee."

Bullock said the loss of revenue to the state and cities will be minimal.

"Many of these tax-exempt organizations depend heavily on annual sales or auctions to raise money for many worthwhile projects," Bullock noted.

"This will do away with a lot of the red tape, and allow them to put a little more of the money they collect to good use," he said.

Tim Zimpleman

His name is Tim Zimpleman. It's a name that will stick with you easily. And it's a name that you will be hearing a lot of next basketball season when the Hawks once again take to the hardwoods.

Tim is a 6-6, 185-pound graduating senior from Pennington Prep (high school) in Pennington, New Jersey. While there this past year, he scored an average of 15 points a game and grabbed down an 11 carom clip, in leading his team to the New Jersey-Pennsylvania State Championship.

Thursday afternoon, Howard College Basketball Coach Harold Wilder announced the signing of the exceptional ball player. In his sophomore and junior years in high school, he attended Trenton High School, a school noted for very, very good roundball teams that have contributed to the pro ranks.

Tim had the unique distinction of being the only white starter that the predominately black school has had in over 10 years.

While at Pennington Prep, Tim had the best field goal percentage on his team, a more than adequate 67 per cent. He was also named to the All-Penn Jersey first team, the first team All-Prep, and third team All-State.

Wilder stated that Zimpleman was extremely eager to attend HC because he was "looking forward to the good weather", after the chiller the East had last winter.

"I also want to advance myself academically and athletically", Tim said to his future coach.

Wilder was very pleased with signing of such a fine prospect:

"We're planning on using Tim as a perimeter player. He has the height and floor sense to be able to fill a void at this position," Wilder explained.

The discussion of Tim prompted Wilder to elaborate on a change in philosophy for next year's Hawk squad.

"Next year our team goal is to form a team championship," Wilder said. "Our viewpoint will be to try to develop a championship team, rather than developing the individual's game."

Zimpleman will be very important in this role, as he has just finished playing for the New Jersey-Pennsylvania championship team. Other signees, Robert Randolph and Mark McDowell, played on Tennessee state championship teams, as well, this past year.

Tim will be a very important team member as well, according to Wilder. The five returnees HC has back this next season couldn't be better team-oriented individuals. They also have a rep for being nice guys, unlike the temperamental superstars that seem to develop on any team.

Wilder insists everyone he's signed to date is the same way. The only two new members I've met, R.Q. Toller and Casey Wilder, couldn't be nicer. But like the other players on the team, they are also known to have nothing but basketball on their minds after the first buzzer sounds.

There will no doubt be more surprises concerning the Hawk program this summer, and luckily, Tim, Casey and R.Q. have been good ones.

There will be more.

Higuchi leads LPGA

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — "A wonderful competitor ... she tries hard to beat you all the time ... so polite that you can't believe it."

One might not guess that Sandra Palmer, the 13-year veteran was talking about the woman she trailed after the opening round Thursday of a $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

Chako Higuchi, a Japanese who never has won a U.S. tournament, topped the field of 104 with a three-under-par 69 on the 6,196-yard Wykagyl Country Club course. She achieved it with three birdies and no bogeys. Miss Palmer carded a 70 for second place.

What made Mrs. Higuchi's score even more remarkable was her unorthodox swing.

"The book says you aren't supposed to lift your heel when shooting," explained Miss Palmer, who sank a five-foot birdie on the last hole and grabbed the runner-up spot by one stroke over a group of five, including defending champion Pat Bradley of Westford, Mass.

"Chako's drives are so accurate that she almost matches my hits with the No. 9 iron. It's amazing. I'm

Temple may lose stix

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — The 1975 National Junior College Baseball champion may lose its program to inflation.

Temple Junior College's president has recommended that the board of trustees drop baseball from the athletic program. Dr. Marvin Felder said a five-year cost projection showed the school would have to double its budget to remain in baseball competition.

Partnership June 11, 12

The annual Big Spring Country Club partnership tournament will be held on June 11 and 12.

Deadline for entries is 5 p.m. Thursday June 9 with entries to go to C.G. Griffin, club pro. Entries are $40 per party, including a patio party on Saturday evening.

The handicap will be at 9 a.m. Saturday and Scratch at 2 p.m. To enter, call Griffin at 7-5354.

TRYING FOR A BIRD — Golfer Tom Weiskopf, from Columbus Ohio, reacts as he misses a birdie try from the fringe of the fourth green during Thursday's first round of the Kemper Open being played at the Quail Hollow Country Club in Charlotte. Weiskopf fired a 5-under-par 67 and is one stroke behind leader George Archer.

Baltimore coach apologizes

The Baltimore Orioles have been playing nearly flawless baseball of late, but the same can't be said of their manager.

He has made two errors in the last two weeks.

"The only explanation I have is maybe I'm thinking too far ahead," said Earl Weaver.

Weaver, who admittedly committed a tactical blunder that cost Baltimore a recent game against Minnesota, made another strategic mistake Thursday night as the Orioles dropped a 7-4 decision to the Chicago White Sox.

"It was all my fault, it was all my mistake," said Weaver. "That's why I held a meeting and apologized to my players. I told them we're still in first place and if we keep playing like we have we'll stay in first place."

With the bases loaded in the third inning, the Orioles had right-hander Tony Chavez pitching with right-handed batter Jim Essian coming to the plate for the White Sox. At this point, Weaver motioned to the bullpen for left-hander Scott McGregor.

"For some ungodly reason," said Weaver, "I thought first base was open and I was going to have McGregor walk Essian intentionally to get to Ralph Garr. After I motioned for the pitching change, I realized my mistake."

Everyone else in the ballpark realized Weaver's mistake when Essian hit a bases-clearing double, providing the White Sox with a 7-0 lead and their eventual winning runs.

Horton hears a slider center field for a two-run double.

"I'm glad he went to the well once too often," said Horton. "I was happy to get a second chance. I've batted against Jenkins a long time and I can count on three fingers the number of fastballs he has thrown me."

Jenkins took his fifth loss against as many victories while Darold Knowles picked up his first victory of the year in relief of Nelson Briles.

Toby Harrah tagged Jenkins for the Rangers' first homer in 79 innings in the second frame; and Bernie Carbo tied it up in the seventh with a home run off Briles.

Horton said it didn't irritate him that Boston had walked Dave May to get to the Ranger slugger.

"That's good baseball, man," said Horton. "He (Jenkins) didn't make a mistake on me all night. The ball I hit was outside the plate."

The victory snapped a threerun Ranger losing streak and was only Texas' fourth win in the last 12 games.

Horton said the Rangers

Wrong... could it be wrong to lose?

CINCINNATI (AP) — For eight innings, the Cincinnati Reds couldn't do anything wrong.

Then they couldn't do anything right.

Jack Billingham lost his stuff in the ninth, then the Reds lost their shutout and eventually lost the game, 6-4 in 11 innings to the Houston Astros Thursday night.

"I simply thought Jack had had it when I took him out when I did," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson.

Billingham had a 3-0 lead and was within two out of his second shutout of the year when he allowed singles to Jose Cruz and Ed Hermann and was taken out of the game. Rawly Eastwick relieved and Bob Watson promptly tagged him for a three-run homer, tying the score.

The Astros won in the 11th with a three-run rally highlighted by Art Howe's two-run double off Dale Murray.

In the only other National League game Thursday night, the New York Mets defeated the Montreal Expos 7-4.

Watson's homer was one of four hits by the slugging first baseman. He also managed to hit Billingham with a line drive in the second inning, causing the pitcher's leg to stiffen.

Reds learn Astro trix

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I'm quite sure the World Champions are not going to lay down and play dead for us, even though we took three from them in Houston," said Astros first baseman Bob Watson.

Watson, who said the Astros offense has not been what it should this season, had four hits, including a tremendous three-run home run wallop tying the score 3-3 in the ninth inning and setting up the Astros' 6-4, 11-inning victory.

Watson also managed to hit Reds pitcher Jack Billingham with a line drive in the second inning, causing his leg to stiffen and Billingham had to leave the game with one out in the ninth while pitching scoreless ball.

Relief pitcher Rawly Eastwick, who gave up the tying homer in the ninth, was upset by the boos from the stands.

"No, no, no," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. "I simply wouldn't do that to a player." The Reds, behind Billingham's 8-1-3 scoreless innings, held a 3-0 lead going into the ninth.

"I simply thought Jack had had it when I took him out when I did," said Anderson.

The Astros broke the game open in the 11th inning when Art Howe, hitting his third consecutive double, drove home Watson and Enos Cabell, taking a 6-3 lead.

The Reds came back with a run in the bottom of the inning with singles by George Foster, Dave Concepcion and Dan Driessen. Watson fielded Cesar Geronimo's hard grounder down the first base line, tagged out Driessen before he ran and stepped on the base for a game-ending double play.

"I think the man—Driessen—got confused," said Watson. "I took a swipe at him on the shoulder, double play, we win. I guess he got confused, maybe thought it was a foul ball."

The loss dropped the Reds a full 10 games back of the National League Western Division-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who were idle.

The Astros and Reds meet tonight in the second of a four game series.

under the boards, the Sixers might be better off with Mix trying to stop Lucas.

All this must have been going through Shue's mind Thursday as he ran the Sixers through a 90-minute closed-door session which he called "a real good workout," then held a 30-minute team meeting. Shue scheduled another brief practice for noon today.

"As of now I haven't made any lineup changes, although I'll leave that option open until game time," Shue said after the workout. "I'll make my judgment based on what I think, what I feel, from my experience."

"I like to go with our best. I certainly don't over-react. We're in the final three games, and I have to think of what got us here."

That would mean McGinnis, despite all his problems.

Lossless coach Xed

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP) — Manager Mike Krizmanich of the Class A McAllen team of the Lone Star League has been fired — even though his team has not lost a game.

The league season doesn't start until June 10 and Krizmanich was fired during pre-season practice.

Owner Normand Gautreau said the action was a result of a "personality conflict."

HI NOON OPTIMISTS

Postman always knocks

Dear Dick Young: I struggled with the Mets in the beginning and I'm willing to do it now. Get rid of the prima donnas. If Tom Seaver wants to run a ballclub, he should go out and buy one.

—Margaret Erickson, Buchanan, N.Y.
Dear Margaret Erickson: Tom Seaver says he has every right to speak out about what he believes, and he's right. Funny thing, when you and I exercise the same privilege, he gets sore at us.

Dick Young: I can't stand the word "Super Star." Half these are slightly above average and the rest are bums. — Bill Murphy, Suffern, N.Y.

Bill Murphy: "Super Star" is a Madison Avenue aberration of the language. It's the old huckster pitch, making something sound bigger in order to sell it on TV. Soon the word loses all meaning, and they'll have to call a .250 hitter something else. Like God.

Hey Dick: I hear they're making a movie about George Steinbrenner. It's called, "The Price of the Yankees." — Jack Gauritis, Waterbury, Conn.

Hey Jack: It's a high-budget flick, and in the final scene Reggie Jackson and Thurman Munson fight it out by throwing wads of 100 dollar bills at each other.

Dear Mr. Young: I'm amused that they are investigating the Don King fights on ABC. They should check on the records of opponents for the CBS fight stars. Where did they find the people to fight the Spinks brothers, and their heavyweight idol, Lee Catallino, at the unemployment office? — Richard Friedman, Brooklyn.

Dear Mr. Friedman: Stiffs are part of any buildup, and precede TV control of boxers. Television just makes the setups more visible. I'm surprised the networks got involved. They are headed for trouble.

Dear Dick: Mets Fans, Players, Front Office, News Media, etc. I want to set the record straight once and for all concerning the activities of yours truly, The Signman of Shea Stadium. After 12 seasons of trying to add a bit of humor to the now grim baseball scene, I would like to state I do not get paid for what I do. I do not get my seats from the Mets. I do not and have never been asked or told to make any specific sign either for or against anyone. The signs are strictly my own thoughts and creations. — Karl Ehrhardt, NYC.

Dear Karl: Don't you know the flattering comments in your signs are things the players have coming to them, while the caustic critiques are unforgivable insults. Same goes for printed accounts in the daily newspapers.

Mr. Dick Young: In Roy White, Mickey Rivers and Reggie Jackson, the Yankees have at Venus De Milo outfield, beautiful but no arms — Tony Anariemo, Staten Island.

Dear Tony Anariemo: If they could throw, they'd be pitching, considering current condition of some staff members.

Dick Young: Is there no limit to your support of M. Donald Grant? — George S. Ahrens, Farmingdale, L.I.

George Ahrens: I think Grant's treatment of Seaver and Kingman has been fair. I think Grant's refusal to hand over his business to his employees is realistic, as is the Dodgers, Reds, Pirates, Cardinals, and others. I think the Mets' scouting system has gone downhill, and Grant must be held accountable for that. I think the Mets made some bad deals for Staub, for Del Unser, but also got Dave Kingman for $160,000 when no one else wanted him, and Lenny Randle for $20,000 plus Rick Auerbach.

Dear Sir: The so-called "shootout" to decide the soccer games in the NASL is childish. A large percentage of the fans are Europeans, and this could turn them off on American soccer. — Gino Colao, Bronx.

Dear Sir: You're right. They should play sudden-death overtime. Is it true some European ties are broken by a coin-flip?

Dear Dick: Watched the Big (?) Fight at Mamma Leone's with Bruno Bernabo, and the highlight of a boring evening came when H. Coseil mentioned every reporter at ringside except Phil Pepe and you, covering for the biggest paper in the U.S. I guess your rating with him is the same as was his dearly departed variety show's Neilson. — Nick Lapole, Manhattan.

Dear Dick: Many people have mentioned the obvious oversight, indicating that Howard's eyes are bad, or he is not, in truth, the objective journalist he says he is.

SOMETHING'S FUNNY — Gene Shue, 76ers coach, laughs during dressing room news conference Thursday afternoon following workout preparing for Friday's NBA playoff game against the Portland Trail Blazers at Philadelphia. The two teams are tied, 2-2, in the best of seven championship series.

Wilt, O. J. to be honored

By the Associated Press
Wilt Chamberlain and O.J. Simpson top a list of eight personalities who will be inducted into the Black Athletes Hall of Fame.

It's developed into quite a show. The grand ballroom of one of New York's swankiest hotels has been booked for the occasion June 16. The Philadelphia International Orchestra will provide the music. TV star Bill Cosby will serve as honorary chairman.

The entertainment will be gold-studded. Las Vegas couldn't afford it. There will be Alan King, Natalie Cole, Chuck Mangione, Howard Cosell, Miss Universe, the Jackson Five, all on the same bill. Charles Mays, former U.S. Olympic long jumper and now a successful sporting goods dealer living in Jersey City, N.J., was in New York the other day to announce the latest inductees and to talk about his brainchild.

The question was put to him: "If the blacks want equality of treatment, isn't the purpose defeated by promoting such projects based on the color of the skin? Shouldn't the black athlete, now having broken most barriers, be content to strive for a place in existing places of honor?"

Mays, a dapper, slightly-built man obviously with a touch of promotion genius, had a ready answer. "Not at all," he said. "We are not attempting to further polarize the races. It's true that athletes such as Chamberlain and O. J. — the real superstars — will ultimately wind up in the halls of fame of their respective sports." "But what about the other guys — the black men who took the heat and the fire before Jackie Robinson? Who will remember them? Our purpose is to try to give them the recognition they deserve."

Besides Chamberlain and Simpson, the 1977 honorees include Dick "Night Train" Lane, all-pro in football; Wendell Scott, auto race driver; Larry Doby, first black to play in baseball's American League; former lightweight boxing champion Ike Williams; Olympic track and field coaches Neil Jackson and Ed Tampee.

Mays said the idea of a Black Hall of Fame came to him that turbulent day in Mexico City during the 1968 Olympic Games when sprint champions John Carlos and Tommie Smith raised clenched fist salutes from the victory stand as a protest of racial inequality in America.

"Heartsick but sympathetic, I looked at them," Mays said. "I realized that if they had pulled that act 20 years before they would have been killed, probably tarred and feathered, when they came home."

"I knew that neither of them, both world champion runners, would ever have a chance of getting into the Track and Field Hall of Fame."

NCAA track murky

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — While no clear-cut favorite has emerged in the battle for the 56th NCAA Track and Field Championship, several teams sparked by outstanding individual efforts have shown that their interest in the crown may be more than just a dream.

"I've got nine races this weekend," Olympian Herman Frazier of Arizona State said Thursday. "We're here to win all we can."

Frazier, part of the 1,600-meter relay team that won the gold medal at the 1976 Olympics, and his teammates fared well during the first day of qualifying Thursday as the Sun Devils advanced 10 qualifiers to lead the field.

Defending champion Southern California, riding the performance of sprinter Clancy Edwards, who qualified for the semifinals in the 100- and 200-meter dashes and the 400-meter relay, remained in contention for its 27th title with nine qualifiers. Kansas, UCLA and Auburn had nine, eight and seven qualifiers, respectively, and were considered dark horses.

Arizona State, defending champion in the 400-meter relay, qualified in that event again with Frazier running anchor. Its time of 39.82 seconds, however, was a shade slower than the 39.81 posted by Texas. Frazier also anchored Arizona State's 1,600-meter relay squad and qualified for the semifinals in the 400-meter run.

Kansas, meanwhile, was a bit of a surprise during the first day of competition. The Jayhawks advanced two runners each in the steeplechase and 110-meter hurdles, its 400- and 1,600-meter relay teams, and Cliff Wiley in the 100- and 200-meter dashes.

Finals were scheduled today in the 100-meter dash, 110-meter high hurdles, 10,000 meters, hammer throw, shot put and long jump.

Olympians Harvey Glance of Auburn and Johnny Jones of Texas were due to square off in the 100-meter final, but a potential showdown in the 200-meter dash won't come Saturday because Glance, plagued by a nagging groin injury, failed to qualify.

Glance qualified for the 100 final in 10.89 seconds, but was fourth in his 200-meter qualifying heat, with a disappointing time of 21.56. Jones led both events with 10.38 and 21.21.

Glance, who won both events last year, said, "No, I'm not really disappointed in my performance. I think I did the best I could under the conditions."

Europeans leave Paris

PARIS (AP) — The seven-year reign of European tennis stars in the French Open Championships is over. The semifinals this year are a U.S. Davis Cupper, two Latin Americans and an Australian.

The last European to be eliminated, Wojtek Fibak of Poland, predicted that Sunday's final, for a first prize of $38,000, will be between American Brian Gottfried and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

"I have great respect for Vilas, but I wouldn't care to put my money on anybody," Wojtek said after Vilas, the left-hander with the flowing strokes and generous backswing and follow-through, had destroyed him in three straight sets in the quarter-finals.

Gottfried, bidding to be the first American to win this prized slow clay courts title in 22 years, has first to overcome big-hitting Phil Dent of Australia.

Vilas has a semifinal engagement with Raul Ramirez, the man of the hour. In a classic clay courts match Thursday, Ramirez eliminated the defending champion, Adriano Panatta of Italy.

If records mean anything, it looks like a Vilas-Gottfried final. Vilas has played Ramirez seven times and won all seven. Gottfried met Dent only once and beat him comfortably.

But Ramirez, a humorous and philosophical character, warned the fans not to be sure.

Archer scores bullseye

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — It was something of an old refrain from George Archer.

"I'm still trying. It's coming along. It's getting better," he said after a six-under-par 66 had given him a one-stroke lead Thursday in the first round of the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament. But big George has been saying the same thing for two years, ever since an operation on his left wrist almost ruined his career.

He never complained. "It's getting better," he responded to questions during those months he was trying to fight his way back to respectability.

"Coming along," he'd say after missing the cut. There were no complaints. But he almost left the tour.

"I'd decided not to play this year," Archer said. "I was just going home and work on my game, try to work myself back into condition. But then I won the Sahara in Las Vegas (last fall) and that gave me an exemption for this year. That's the only reason I'm out here now. "That operation was a disaster. It took away my left side. My game, my putting, everything, just went. My distance was gone. I've been working on it pretty hard. And it's coming back. I'm getting a better feel on the putter. Even my distance is coming back."

"Maybe one of these days I'll be able to hit it with the big boys."

He hit it well enough to leave three of the biggest of the big hitters — Tom Weiskopf, Jim Dent and Barney Thompson — one stroke behind at 67.

Charles Coody, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Kermit Zarley, and Don Iverson were grouped at 68 in the exceptionally good scoring that was at least partially attributable to players being allowed to get their hands on the ball.

Most of the grass on the 7,160-yard Quail Hollow Country club course was killed by a hard winter followed by a drought.

Ridin' fence They call it Elbow

with Marj Carpenter

They call it Elbow. And almost everybody that you ask "Why is it called Elbow?" would answer with "I don't know. It just is."

But Mrs. Ross Hill, who lived out there from 1922 on, for many years said, "Why it's named for the crook in the creek out there. It's just like an elbow."

So be it. And Elbow can claim something that most of the rural communities in Howard County cannot claim. Their school was a part of the Forsan school system and not only did it survive, it grew.

It changed from a one-room school house probably with no better education at the time than those at Moore and Centerpoint and Knott and other locations. But because of its location and the district with which it is connected, it survived.

That's really all that has survived out there that can strictly be called Elbow. The old Elbow store, run for 30 years by Jack McKinnon, was finally closed down and the only food served around there is in the school cafeteria.

Other than the Hills and the McKinnons, another early family was the I.B. Caubles.

Sometimes it's difficult for Elbow folks to realize just where they are. Actually, they are on the southwest edge of Big Spring, just outside the city limits.

They are listed in the telephone directory under Lomax. Their mailing address is Sterling City Route. Some folks think of them as toward Garden City.

There aren't any officials in Elbow unless you would count Bill Cressler, principal of Elbow Elementary.

There are, however, more than one family that moved across school district lines to place their children in Elbow elementary school in Elbow with plans to attend high school in Forsan.

Elbow folks are Forsan sports fans. They gather at a church parking lot along Wasson Road when they are going to take a charter bus to a football game rather than driving all the way out to Forsan.

Many of them reside in mobile homes, under various mesquite trees in that portion of Howard County.

Ross Hill moved with his parents to the Elbow area when he was an infant and he lived there most of his 70 years. He and his wife now reside in Big Spring.

Most original Elbow residents farmed. It was good farm land then and it's good farm land now.

Last year, Elbow had a little excitement when a county maintainer cut a pipeline and "black gold" ran down the road and into the ditches.

But other than the annual school Halloween Carnival and spring track meet, it's pretty routine and quiet around Elbow, named for the crook of the creek.

And that's the way I found it this week — when out ridin' fence.

Investigators gather weed at Ft. Hood

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Military investigators at Ft. Hood spent much of Thursday gathering up weeds for evidence after two soldiers were apprehended on suspicion of growing and selling marijuana on the post.

Criminal Investigation Division officers found some 1,500 marijuana plants growing in a wildlife area six miles south of Killeen, Tex. The plants were mixed with sunflowers and Johnson grass being raised in the field.

A 42-year-old staff sergeant and a 22-year-old Spec. 4 were released to their units pending further investigation.

Officials said the low grade marijuana is valued at $150,000. The plants ranged from sprouts to four feet high. Marijuana seeds were apparently spread across the field, making it difficult to locate all the plants, investigators said.

Other soldiers may be taken into custody as the investigation continues, the officials said.

Anita is singer, not debater

HOUSTON (AP) — A spokesman for controversial singer Anita Bryant has indicated she will not appear at a debate on homosexuality during her visit here later this month.

"She is a singer, not a debater," said Robert Blake. "If they want to challenge her to a concert, she probably would accept. If they want to debate, they should speak to the people in that business."

Gary Van Ooteghem, chairman of the Texas Gay Political Caucuses, said Thursday he had offered Miss Bryant $1,000 to appear at the debate. He said he had deposited the money with a Houston attorney "to demonstrate the sincerity of my offer."

Miss Bryant has led a highly publicized fight against a Dade County (Miami), Fla. ordinance prohibiting discrimination against homosexuals in housing and jobs.

Ooteghem said he will ask Miss Bryant to meet with him next week to discuss the proposed debate. He said he still has hopes the debate can be arranged. "At least she hasn't said 'no'," he said.

Miss Bryant is to appear here June 16 to sing at the State Bar of Texas Convention and then attend a breakfast the next day sponsored by the Lawyers Prayer Group.

State District Court Judge Paul Pressler, organizer of the breakfast, said Miss Bryant would sing religious music and "give a personal testimony about her faith, which will be nonpolitical."

In his telegram to Miss Bryant, Ooteghem asked her to appear in debate against two already designated opponents, Karen DeCrow, former president of the National Organization for Women, and David Goodstein, founder of the Gay Rights Lobby.

She was first invited by the bar group and the invitation was withdrawn. Bar president Gibson Gayler said the action was taken because of the possibility of violence associated with the singer's appearance. The board of the state bar reconsidered, however, and reissued the invitation.

Bob Green, the singer's husband, said the second invitation was accepted "after we had prayed about it at the family altar."

Executions on TV plea

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys will present arguments here June 14 before a three-judge panel of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals on the question of whether to allow television filming of executions in Texas.

Free lance writer Tony Garrett, then a newsmen for KERA-TV of Dallas, obtained an order from U. S. District Court Judge W.M.

Taylor in January which said the Texas Department of Corrections must permit reporters and cameramen from television stations to witness executions.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill opposed the ruling. He claimed "the public display of an execution into the television media and into homes of this country would be utter nonsense."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 1977
GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent time for getting errands, communications and correspondence that requires personal attention out of the way. Later a new set of problems and annoyances arise so be on your guard.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get together with friends at hobbies that are mutually enjoyable. Watch cash outlay, though. Be careful of interlopers.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Contact bigwigs to gain their okay and support for aims that are important to you. Safeguard reputation later in the day.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are anxious to get out to new interests, but investigate only those that have proved themselves. New friends are fine, but be discriminating.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care of pressing responsibilities early, and use care not to take on any new obligations later. Clear up some misunderstanding with a loved one.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are able to clear up a misunderstanding with a good friend. Be aware of what is going on around you.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good time to take care of all chores - important and dull. Take time to build up your health via right treatments, too.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Good time to go on that shopping spree and update wardrobe. Later, spend some time with good friends.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Change those conditions that do not please, but do not disturb anyone at home by so doing. Later study into new interests and go after the information you need regarding them.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Communicating with others gets good results. Plan travel matters well.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Concentrate on monetary affairs and get them better organized. Avoid getting into debt by some unwise investment.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Go after some personal aim and get it, but don't be so demanding with others. Socializing is fine, but don't overdo.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Consult with an adviser who can steer you in the right direction. Improve relations with friends. Show a loved one more affection.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY or she will be able to grasp ideas quickly and put them to work advantageously. Teach early to complete whatever is begun, since there is a tendency to go from one project to another.
The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
