Supreme Court says

Nixon can't keep tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that former President Richard M. Nixon is not entitled to control his White House tapes and documents. The decision is the first step toward allowing the public access to the materials.

The justices, voting 7 to 2, decided that Congress acted within its authority when it passed the law in 1974 seizing nearly 5,000 hours of tapes and 42 million pages of documents generated by Nixon's presidency.

The court rejected all arguments by Nixon's attorneys that the law was unconstitutional.

Congress has before it proposed regulations providing for public access to the materials. If the regulations, drafted by the General Services Administration, are adopted, they might still be subject to challenge through the courts — a process that could take years.

Still pending before the high court is a suit to make the 30 Nixon tapes played at the Watergate cover-up trial available for copying, sale and broadcast. Public access to those tapes, however, is included with the other materials covered in today's decision.

There was no comment immediately from Nixon or his lawyers.

Former Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who argued the case for the government before the Supreme Court, said, "The United States government paid for the installation of the devices that resulted in the tape recordings, paid for the material that was used" and therefore the materials belong to the people.

Nixon has had access to all the material for use in writing his memoirs and Jaworski said he felt that was appropriate. But, he added,

"I think that the titles to them as well as the control and supervision of their use should be exercised by the government."

The decision is a victory for the government, which has fought for the last three years to hold on to the nearly 5,000 hours of tape recordings and the millions of pages of documents.

REACHING OUT — President Carter, left, watches, as Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez greets crowds who were on hand to watch welcoming ceremonies for him at the White House today. Perez is in the Capital to meet with Carter and other government leaders.

Venezuelan chief lauds human rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez today praised President Carter's human rights campaign as representing a shift without parallel in the history of American foreign policy.

At a welcoming ceremony on the White House South Lawn, Perez said the "warmth and sincerity" of Carter's human rights commitment is being felt throughout Latin America.

Carter, in turn, lauded Perez as "an active and effective spokesman for Third World nations, one who can truly represent the highest aspirations of the people of Latin America."

The two leaders are meeting amid signs of increasing American interest in expanding Venezuela's role as a U.S. oil supplier.

Perez represents one of the few democracies remaining in Latin America and is highly regarded by the Carter administration because of his outspoken support of human rights.

He also praised Perez's leadership in seeking reduced military expenditures in Third World countries and his stand against the proliferation of atomic weapons.

He also noted that Venezuelan friendship for the United States was demonstrated in 1973 when, in a boycott by the Arab oil cartel members, Venezuela continued petroleum shipments to this country.

The U.S. role as a defender of human rights and the decreased emphasis on the American role as "an economic and military superpower" represents an unparalleled shift in the U.S. global outlook, Perez said.

A 21-gun salute greeted Perez as he arrived here after an overnight stay in colonial Williamsburg.

"Venezuela has earned the admiration of those who believe in freedom and in the open processes of government," Carter said.

House cancels proposed raise, mulls old one

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted today to cancel a prospective cost-of-living pay increase for members of Congress, federal judges and high officials. But it faces a close vote on rolling back a raise now in effect.

The vote to rollback the raise may come Wednesday and could result in wiping out the $12,900 annual pay raise members began receiving March 1. Leaders expect an extremely close vote.

Today's vote, 397 to 20, sends to President Carter a bill already passed by the Senate rescinding the cost-of-living raise Congress members and others in the upper pay brackets would get Oct. 1.

Many middle and lower grade federal employees, however, will still get the cost-of-living increase. The bill only denies the cost-of-living adjustment for this year to those who received the big increase in March.

The cost-of-living hike has not yet been computed, but is expected to be about 6.3 per cent, which would have meant approximately a $3,500 raise for members of Congress.

Truck driver, wife killed in crash

TEMPLE — Frank Leslie Norton, 41, and his wife, Cleo, also, 41, of 1509 S. Ave N in Lamesa were both killed instantly when a truck he was driving crashed through a bridge railing and burned at 11:03 p.m. Monday.

The accident occurred 4.7 miles north of Troy in Bell County on I-35. The truck reportedly swerved to miss a small car that darted in front of the vehicle and crashed through the guardrail, exploding and burning.

E.E. Lightsey of Mexia was driver of a pickup which received minor damages as it was hit just before the truck-tractor went over the rail. Lightsey was not injured.

Norton and his wife were team truck drivers. Justice of the Peace Joe Harrison of Temple, made the death ruling for the couple. State Trooper Don Rice of Temple was investigating officer.

The bodies were taken to Harper-Talasek Funeral Home in Temple and were to be transferred today to Branon Funeral Home in Lamesa.

The Nortons were married Feb. 12, 1954 in Timberlake, S.D. and moved to Lamesa eight years ago. They worked for Holliday Trucking Company and were lifelong members of the Lutheran Church.

Their survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Kathy Magellan, San Angelo; Mrs. Kim McClure, and Miss Julie Norton, both of Lamesa; two sons, Danny Norton and Allen Norton, both of Lamesa and one grandchild.

Her survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Marian Vandervost, Hogue, N.D.; Mrs. Irene Bootsma, Pollack, N.D. and one brother, Maynard Whitmire, Harriet, S.D.

His survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Glady Moore, and Mrs. Jettie McNew, both of Dardanelle, Ark. and three brothers, Paul Norton, Lovington, N.M.; Raymond Norton, Billings, Mont.; and Ted Norton, Lamesa.

Search for scout killer abandoned

LOCUST GROVE, Okla. (AP) — Authorities abandoned the organized ground search today for a 33-year-old escapee charged in the grisly sex murders of three Girl Scouts at a summer camp near this northeast Oklahoma town.

An Oklahoma Highway Patrol spokesman said the search for Gene Leroy Hart, a convicted rapist, was called off "primarily because there hasn't been any productive information to indicate that we know what specific geographical area he is in."

A Cherokee backwoodsman, Hart was familiar with the snake-infested timberlands and limestone channels in the area. Some officials had expressed doubt from the start that he could be flushed out.

"Right now, our critical shortage is in information and the FBI, Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation and the Mayes County Sheriff's Office are getting that information," said Lt. Kenneth Vanhoy of the OHP in announcing the full-scale search had been ended.

Since last Thursday, SWAT teams, FBI agents and state police and local officers had made daily sorties into the tangled underbrush, but found no trace of Hart.

"These hills belong to the deer, to the ticks, to the rattlesnakes and the copperheads," said one man familiar to the area. "This is limestone country and the limestone is full of channels — mostly unexplored."

Most of the residents scattered through the 10-square-mile search area are of Indian descent, and investigators believe Hart may have taken refuge among them.

"He's related by blood to half of the county," one officer said. "He has a lot of relatives in the area and some of them might have hidden him in the past."

Officers believe Hart, 33, a convicted rapist, fled to the same hill country in 1973 after he escaped from the Mayes County Jail in nearby Pryor.

Hart is accused in the deaths of Doris Milner, 10, Lori Lee Farmer, 8, and Michelle Guse, 9. Doris was strangled and the other girls were beaten on June 13, the first night of an outing at Camp Scott.

Mayes County Dist. Atty. Sid Wise said the autopsy report showed that all three had been "sexually molested in some form ... I can't say anything further out of compassion for the parents."

Hart was linked to the slayings when investigators at the camp site found two tattered photographs of women who attended a 1968 wedding. Authorities believe Hart printed the photographs in a prison darkroom after working as a photographer's assistant for the wedding.

B52 pilots almost mutinied during war?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some B52 bomber crews approached the point of mutiny in the closing days of the Vietnam war because inflexible planning resulted in unnecessary and unreasonable losses, a former Air Force pilot has charged.

"The North Vietnamese couldn't have had a better situation if they had had a man in on the planning," said Dana Drenkowski, a 1968 Air Force Academy graduate.

An Air Force spokesman said today records of the period were being reviewed in light of the article but that the Air Force would have no comment until later this week.

The spokesman, however, said, 15 B52s were counted as combat losses in raids known by the code name of Linebacker II, while a total of 17 B52s were lost in Southeast Asia during the entire war. The Linebacker II raids occurred between Dec. 18 and Dec. 29, 1972.

Drenkowski made his charges in an article to be published in next month's Armed Forces Journal International. The article was taken from a multipart manuscript scheduled to begin publication in the September issue of Soldier of Fortune magazine.

Drenkowski said Strategic Air Command planners forced cell after cell of B52s to fly down corridors at exactly the same headings, altitudes and airspeeds. The same flight plan was required long after chaff — thin aluminum strips which confuse enemy radar — drifted away from its protective position.

Average bill now $22.31, would be $27.71

TESCO wants more for electricity

Texas Electric Service Company will file a request for a 23.6 per cent system-wide increase in revenues tomorrow morning.

The request, to be filed with the City of Big Spring and the Public Utility Commission in Austin, would provide the company with an additional $79 million in revenues.

An average homeowners electric bill in Big Spring during a test year in 1976 was $22.31, but under the new rates, that bill would jump to $27.71. The last local increase was a nine per cent one requested in September 1975 and according to Texas Electric manager Jack Redding went into effect March 1976.

Under the new process of filing through a utility commission, the raise goes into effect 35 days after filing. The city commission has that period to either approve the increase, deny the increase or suspend the rates for 120 day.

If the city approves or suspends the rate request, a public hearing must be held 30 days before or 30 days after the rate request.

If the city denies the increase, Texas Electric has to right to appeal to the state utility commission.

TESCO will ask for an increase which will affect the following communities in the Howard County Area: Big Spring, Ackerly, Coahoma, Forsan, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Snyder, Ira, Garden City, Westbrook, Stanton, and Colorado City.

The communities served by a different utility service, Gail, Lubbock, Abilene, Sterling City, San Angelo, and Sand Springs, will not be affected by the proposed increase.

To justify the increase, Redding said:

"We must continue building new power plants that use cheaper and more abundant fuels than natural gas. It's the only way our customers will continue to have reliable service at the lowest possible price."

"Texas Electric is in the middle of a program to build lignite and nuclear-powered generating plants to reduce its use of natural gas. This year alone $243 million is needed for this construction program.

"The Company's new lignite-fired plants will generate 32 per cent of the electricity used by Texas Electric consumers this year. By 1983, the lignite, coal and nuclear plants will generate 81 per cent of customers' electricity.

"This $79 million increase will allow us to continue raising the hundreds of millions of dollars necessary for this long-range program.

"The size of the increase under the proposed rates will vary with the type of customer and the amount of electricity used."

"In general, residential customers will see a 25.1 per cent average annual increase with larger increases in the summer and smaller increases in the winter.

"Even with this increase, Texas Electric's rates will remain among the lowest in Texas and all the country."

The rate increase request will be filed at the same time tomorrow morning in cities across the Texas

Electric Service Company area and with the PUC. Cities set rates within their own boundaries, and the PUC has authority in all unincorporated areas. The PUC also hears appeals from cities and utilities.

Action/reaction: Can't work

Q. Is it against the law to use county and city prisoners to clean, weed, etc. vacant lots?

A. According to Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard, yes. "To use pre-trial, pre-sentenced prisoners," said Standard, "would be a violation of their constitutional rights. The only county in the state which uses sentenced prisoners in this capacity, to my knowledge, is Harris. Such action requires state legislation and consent from the commissioners court."

"Also, we don't have enough sentenced prisoners to make up such a work crew," he finished.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — There are no suspects yet in the robbery of the Good Body health food store, but the manager figures the burglar was having trouble with his love life.

Manager Alan Spooner conducted an inventory to find out what was missing Monday, and came up with this list: 12 cans of ginseng tea, several quarts of unsweetened papaya juice, several bottles of vitamin C, one container of cashew butter and a small amount of cash.

"It's weird," Spooner said, "especially the ginseng. It's supposed to be an aphrodisiac, you know."

Jury to get Yarbrough evidence

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The county grand jury planned to hear today from a former business associate of Don Yarbrough, who claims the supreme court justice — wearing rubber gloves — supervised the forgery of an automobile title.

A subpoena was issued Monday for John William "Bill" Rothkopf, who also has told the Houston Post that Yarbrough plotted the murder of Victoria banker Bill Kemp.

Rothkopf, a 58-year-old salesman, claims Yarbrough plotted to hire a $2,000 hit man to keep Kemp from testifying before a Houston grand jury about an allegedly forged $200,000 letter of credit.

The auto title forgery case falls in Earle's jurisdiction because Rothkopf said Yarbrough supervised the alleged criminal act in the justice's Austin motel room on May 16.

"I intend to initiate and conclude this matter with all dispatch," Earle told reporters after a 2-1/2-hour conference with Dist. Atty. Carol Vance of Houston.

He said Yarbrough would "be afforded the opportunity right away to come and tell his side of the story."

Yarbrough declined through his secretary to comment.

Earle said "other matters" concerning Yarbrough might also come before the grand jury.

"Anything else I would say would be in the nature of rank speculation," Earle said.

Vance said he couldn't comment further because "my office has an ongoing investigation concerning allegations Mr. Rothkopf has made."

He said the kill-for-hire allegation is "under investigation at this time. We can't predict where that might wind up," he said.

Yarbrough called Rothkopf's tale of the alleged plot on Kemp's life "absolute fantasy. It reads like a dime novel." The Houston Post said the auto title figured in a Houston civil court case when Yarbrough testified Jan. 26 that he deeded the vehicle to Rothkopf in return for what he owed a Houston contractor for bookcases.

Yarbrough produced a purported receipt signed by Rothkopf to show that if anyone owed money for the bookcases, it was Rothkopf.

Boll weevil count down

COLORADO CITY — Indications are that the fall boll weevil suppression program in Scurry County reduced the number of boll weevils there.

Rep. Massey, who will discuss recent legislation, was chairman of the House Public Education Committee during the 65th Legislature.

He also served on the House Administration and Natural Resources Committees. Krueger will discuss pollution problems and permits as they pertain to agriculture. He supervises the Water Quality Board's District 9 area which consists of 20 counties.

Mitchell County, whose producers turned down the program in a close vote has shown an increase of weevils. David Kattes, extension service entomologist for both counties did a recent survey to show the percentage of weevils that had overwintered in the area.

The county showed a seven per cent average in Scurry County as against 27 per cent in Mitchell.

The same fall spray program was proposed for Mitchell County that was used in Scurry County. There was some concern over killing beneficial insects as well as weevils.

Following the business session, a tour will be taken of the Mueller Supply Company.

Wife beatings obscured by conspiracy of silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 28 million American women are physically abused by their husbands but the problem is obscured by a "conspiracy of silence," says an author of a study on wife-beating.

Richard C. Levy, who wrote "Wife Beating — The Silent Crisis" with Roger C. Langley, charged Monday that physical abuse of women is not seriously regarded by many people and institutions.

Levy said he and Langley found more than half of the married women in the United States are victims of wife-beatings, of which about 10 per cent involved lethal weapons.

Yet, he said in an interview, the government is only beginning to show an interest in the problem, while many individuals still view it in a humorous vein.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress which Levy described as "a $25 million package which would authorize the National Institute of Mental Health to set up ongoing research on the incidence of domestic violence."

He said that in researching the book, he and his partner found shelters for battered wives springing up all over the country. But, Levy said, "the federal government has got to come up with some sort of guidelines for these centers."

"A marriage license is a hunting license," Levy said. "It gives a man five free beatings because the woman typically doesn't report such abuse until the fifth attack."

Compounding the problem is an attitude by many law enforcement agencies that wifebeating is a nuisance, he said.

Levy said many police departments refuse to charge a husband in a wife-beating case unless a battered wife requires a certain number of stitches to close a wound.

After checking with the FBI, the American Bar Association, HEW, members of Congress and police organizations, Levy said, "We found culpable ignorance."

He said he and his partner based their conclusions on questionnaires they sent to hospitals, police departments, counseling services, crisis centers and individual attorneys in 25 cities.

"The questionnaires started pouring back at us when Ralph would say, 'Alice, you're going to the moon!'"

Levy added: "If I told a joke about battered children, you'd think I was a sickie."

He said American society clings to its traditional lenient attitude toward wife-beating, even occasionally poking fun at it.

"We studied TV.

Remember the Jackie Gleason Show? Remember the punch line you waited for when Ralph would say, 'Alice, you're going to the moon!'"

Levy added: "If I told a joke about battered children, you'd think I was a sickie."

SINATRA'S MONET GOES FOR $81,600 — Auctioneer accepts a bid of $81,600 on Claude Monet's "Entry to the Port of Gouphar" Monday during auction of a collection of French impressionist paintings owned by singer Frank Sinatra. Auction was held at Sotheby's in London. The collection fetched $457,810 — less than predicted by the famed auction house. Three of the dozen paintings in the collection were withdrawn after failing to bring bids above their reserve price.

Farm Wheat price war?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is not going to be involved in a wheat price war with other big grain countries, despite the biggest U.S. surplus in 14 years and prospects for another huge world harvest, says Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

But if the world harvests turn out as large as now seems likely, American wheat farmers may have to cut back on 1978 production in order to qualify for federal price supports, Bergland said Monday. Meanwhile, Bergland is waiting for the 1977 world crops to materialize and for Congress to complete new farm legislation before deciding whether to require farmers to "set aside" part of their land in 1978.

"If we go to the set-aside for the 1978 crop, it'll be if all else fails," he told a news conference.

Bergland said he does not know at this time how much land farmers might be required to hold back next year.

"It could be 10 per cent, it could be 20," Bergland said. "My guess is it will be in that range."

Although the program, if adopted, will be voluntary, farmers will have to take part of their land from production to qualify for price support loans and other benefits.

"We think that in itself is a rather strong incentive to gain voluntary compliance in the program," Bergland said.

Argentina, have large supplies.

"There's nothing to prevent a (price) free-for-all," Bergland said in response to a question. "No, there isn't. We've told a number of countries who have asked, that wheat is a bargain in the United States and that it'll never get cheaper and that now is the time to buy if they're interested."

Bergland, who returned last weekend from a 19-day trip to the Far East, said he also plans to have details of a U.S. global grain plan ready for a meeting of the International Wheat Council in London by September.

Meanwhile, the United States is harvesting another bumper wheat crop and other countries such as Canada, Australia and

Century Club disbands

Century Club members voted Monday to disband the organization which was formed to support Webb Air Force Base and to return the group's remaining money over to the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce for industrial prospecting.

In a meeting chaired by club President Adolph Swartz at La Posada, members decided that the Century Club was formed for a specific purpose and that function had now ended.

About $3,000 will remain in the treasury, said Jimmy Taylor, after all expenditures are in, including a farewell gathering on July 14.

Members discussed briefly whether to submit a ballot to the membership to see if members preferred the money to be returned or given to the chamber, but the idea was rejected after Walter Morrison pointed out that this would be illegal for a tax-exempt organization and that the club could lose its tax exempt status.

Century Club members decided to go ahead with the farewell party at Webb after Swartz said he felt this should be done as a parting gesture for Big Spring's many military friends now and through the years.

Money to be used is that budgeted each year by the Century Club for change of command ceremonies.

The Century Club was a group formed three years ago to support Webb. It was made up of 100 men who each gave $100 to the effort.

It functioned under both the Base Community Council and the Big Spring chamber.

Swartz said that as best he remembers the idea came from then Herald Publisher Dub Pearson and a number of other men in the community who felt a special effort to show appreciation for Webb should be made.

The club's current officers and executive committee will continue through the July 14 farewell party before the group ceases to function.

Carter keeping busy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is boosting one of the nation's two Democratic candidates for governor with a meeting in the Oval Office. But a spokesman for the other candidate says he has gotten no similar invitation.

Carter invited Henry Howell, the Democratic candidate for governor of Virginia, to lunch today at the White House. Before the luncheon session in the Oval Office, Carter set aside time to pose with Howell for photographs in the Rose Garden.

A spokesman for the other Democrat, Gov. Brendan Byrne of New Jersey, says Byrne has been invited to the White House for an energy meeting July 6. But Byrne believes the same invitation was sent generally to all governors.

It is not an invitation for a personal session with the President, the spokesman said.

Carter scheduled today's meeting with Howell after an Oval Office session with Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill. One source says the administration is considering a variation of Rostenkowski's proposal for a 3-cent gasoline tax to replace Carter's proposed 5-cent standby gasoline tax, killed in Congress.

But a Carter aide said the main reason for Rostenkowski's visit was to discuss his trip to an East-West trade fair in Poznan, Poland.

The President also arranged arrival ceremonies to welcome President Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela.

Carter scheduled sessions with the South American leader in the Oval Office and the Cabinet Room. He invited Perez and his wife to a state dinner tonight in the executive mansion.

Howell, who scored an upset primary victory, had campaigned for Carter in his successful drive for the governorship in Georgia.

Byrne is an early Carter supporter, too. But not as early. Byrne originally planned to endorse Carter after the New York primary.

But Carter lost that race to Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, and Byrne didn't endorse him until two days after he won the Pennsylvania primary in late April, 1976. Then a Carter-Byrne slate took a bad beating in the New

Welfare hearings

The State Department of Public Welfare is conducting public hearings in Midland today concerning the proposed Comprehensive Annual Services Program Plan (CASPP) for Title XX in Texas. The proposed CASPP explains how Title XX social services seek to enable individuals to function in their communities with minimal dependency.

Title XX of the Social Security Act is the major source of federal funds for social services administered by the Welfare Department. Approximately $187 million will be allocated for Title XX social services in Texas during the 1978 program year.

The proposed CASPP provides a narrative description of how the Welfare Department is organized to provide services. It describes planning and public review processes, and how the Department coordinates Title XX services with other human service resources.

The proposed CASPP also contains definitions of services to be provided. Each definition describes the purpose of the service, clients to be served, and service activities.

The public hearings being held throughout the state provide the public the opportunity to comment on the proposed CASPP. The Midland hearing is being held at the Midland Room of the Midland National Bank building, 500 W. Texas, Midland.

Persons wishing to have input into final planning for the CASPP, but who are unable to attend today's hearing to give testimony in person, are encouraged to submit their comments in writing to the Title XX Information Center, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

Jersey primary.

Carter appeared with Byrne that September in the state capital of Trenton before a crowd of about 1,000. Byrne was roundly booed. Carter did not return until October, when Byrne was out of the state on business. Knowledgeable Democrats said at the time they learned Carter would not appear with Byrne because of the booing.

In developments at the White House on Monday: —Carter appointed a commission to study the effectiveness of the volunteer Army and to propose military pay, benefits and pensions fair to taxpayers and to members of the armed forces.

—Defense Secretary Harold Brown told Carter the number of women in the military services is now 6 per cent of the total armed forces. White House deputy press secretary Rex Granum said Brown pledged to try to improve advancement opportunities for women.

Hail damages Welch cotton

LAMESA — Cotton fields in the Welch area in northwest Dawson County were heavily damaged by hail Monday evening. An estimated 2,000 acres were hit.

Golf ball size hail pelted a three-mile square area south of the Welch community, with the result that the cotton crop was wiped out.

High winds accompanied the storm front, damaging some irrigation equipment and blowing over some power lines.

Lamesa itself had about .25 inch rain, and no damage.

BIG SPRING HERALD presents
A Lively Week In London
October 11-19

Enjoy a splendid week in London as Britain celebrates the Silver Anniversary of Queen Elizabeth's coronation in 1952. It will be an especially memorable trip, and one with a price as reasonable as you will find.

The package tour includes:

- Seven nights accommodations, with continental breakfast each day as well as other services.
- Round trip air transportation from D-FW Airport; two half-day sightseeing tours of the city by private motorcoach.
- Complete program of optional tours, informational books and maps on London, flight bag and passport wallet.
- U.S. and British departure taxes, baggage handling, transfers and portage tips at airports and hotels.

The Big Spring Herald is proud to be sponsoring this charter tour to England, in which three other Harte-Hanks newspapers in West Texas will be participating.

The tour will originate at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, and will not stop at New York City.

Persons taking the tour will be treated to London's Fall theater season, and should appreciate the fact that there will be far fewer tourists during the off-season month.

You will stay in first-class hotels during your stay and call on all the famous places you have read and heard about.

Your hosts for the "Lively Week in London" will be Harold and Doris Canning, both of whom are full of vitality and looking forward to making this tour a memorable one for you.

Harold is business manager for the Big Spring Herald, a post he has held since 1966. He is a native of Newfoundland, Canada, and he spent several years in London during World War II and knows the city well.

His wife, Doris, is secretary to Interim School Supt. Lynn Hiss at Big Spring Public Schools.

They are a fun couple and will be excellent hosts for the 9-day tour.

Used as tool for shaping adult life Allowance is learning experience for young

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — A properly planned allowance given to children in their formative years can help lead to financially solvent adulthood, believes the president of a national financial services organization based here. "A child's weekly allowance can be used as an important tool in successfully shaping his adult life, says W. Scane Bowler of

Pioneer Western Corp. "The entire spectrum of money management — saving, investing and budgeting — can be taught through that simple process."

Bowler offers these suggestions on allocating the allowance:

- Determine actual monetary needs. Discuss those needs with the youngsters. Make sure they fully understand why and how you have arrived at a specific sum.

- Promise this amount on a regular basis and keep that promise, or don't promise it at all.

- Be consistent. Rules need not be ironclad — but they should be firm. The child must realize that he or she has to live within the allowance.

- Don't put a dollar sign on achievement. Monetary rewards should not be associated with good behavior or good grades in school. This can lead to unnatural pressures for money — in some cases, it can even be a cause of cheating.

- Do not be overly concerned with what other parents in the neighborhood are giving their children. Do not permit allowances to "follow the Joneses."

- By all means, encourage the children to keep track of their expenditures as well as their income. This will act as a directional signal for future budgeting and savings.

- Carefully manage your own finances. Children are quick to pick up their parents' habits — both good and bad.

Employees at hospital receive award

Representatives from the Governor's campaign for U.S. Savings Bonds participation among employees of the Texas department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation (TDMHR) were on hand Monday at Big Spring State Hospital to present the facility with a certificate entitled "Award for Patriotic Service" designating the hospital as 'Puppets' can help Encourage children to help with housework by designing hand "duster puppets" from old socks. Draw faces on several with marking pens. number one participant among TDMHR facilities. This has been the history for this facility the last 4 years. "These awards are simply ways we recognize the efforts by TDMHR facilities," according to George Watkins, State Coordinator appointed by Governor Dolph Briscoe. Currently, one out of every four state employees is a payroll savings bonds participant. In Big Spring State Hospital's case, two out of every four employees subscribe to the bond payroll savings plan.

Accepting the awards were Adolph Supak, Assistant Superintendent, BSSH, and Gerald Wright, BSSH local facility coordinator. On hand to make the presentation from Austin were Watkins, Bill Reno, Chief of Personnel and Training, TDMHR, representing Commissioner Dr. Kenneth Gaver, and Gary Hughes, TDMHR department coordinator.

Save sewing time

Making a habit of using a sewing machine "doodle pad" will save sewing time by insuring that the machine is threaded and adjusted properly before beginning to sew. Use a similar weight, type and thickness of "doodling" fabric if scraps of the fashion fabrics are unavailable, suggests Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Linen shower given

A linen and miscellaneous shower was given last Thursday evening in the Reddy Room of the Texas Electric Service Company Building for Miss Becky Curtis, bride-elect of Dennis Smiley.

Tables at the shower were decorated in yellow gingham. The centerpiece was made of baskets of napkins and kitchen gadgets. Refreshments served included a fruit bowl, punch, coffee, assorted cheeses and crackers, mints and nuts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Vera Robertson, Mrs. Ileana Valdes, Mrs. Zina Wood and Mrs. Johnnie Stenberg. Out-of-town guests included the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Hagler, Abilene, the mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Robert (Joan) Curtis, Odessa, the mother of the future bridegroom, Mrs. Margaret Smiley, Sweetwater, Mrs. Wanda Curtis, Odessa and Mrs. Laurie Scott, Odessa.

Both Miss Curtis and Smiley have been teachers in the Big Spring school system. Miss Curtis was an art instructor and Smiley taught science and coached tennis teams at Big Spring High School.

Dear Abby

It's Never Too Soon To Meet Future In-laws

DEAR ABBY: Our only son, Sammy, is a wonderful young professional man who practices in another state. He recently became engaged to a girl who lives where he practices. We have met her and think she's a nice young woman, but we're wondering what kind of family she comes from.

Sammy telephoned last week, saying he wanted to bring the girl and her mother here to meet us. I discouraged him, saying it was too soon—that I preferred to wait until after summer to have them here.

Today he called again to say they are coming! I was shocked to think that this girl and her mother would set aside formalities and come without my personal invitation. (I'm sure they pressured Sammy into it.)

Of course I'll be hospitable, but what do you think of people who would come without a personal invitation from the hostess?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: After a couple has announced their engagement, it is never "too soon" for the families to meet. (In fact, it's customary to meet BEFORE.) I suspect you aren't too keen on Sammy's girl; your preference to "wait" reveals your reluctance to accept her.

If you don't want to lose your "wonderful son," you'd better mellow fast, Mother, and forgo the "formalities."

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend asked me if he could borrow my car, so I said okay. (His was in the shop.)

When he brought it back I noticed a cigarette butt with lipstick on it in the ashtray. I asked him how it got there, and he said he didn't know.

Do you believe it's possible that he doesn't know how to get there? Or do you think he's lying to me?

Your answer is very important to me, so please give it some thought.

HURT

DEAR HURT: One swallow doesn't make a spring, and one cigarette butt shouldn't necessarily hang a man. I would have to know more about your boyfriend and his record of reliability before expressing an opinion.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more letter about the mockingbird? (A man signed DESPERATE couldn't bear to hear the song of a mockingbird because his wife who loved the bird had died.) It wasn't a mockingbird's song that broke my heart. It was the sweet fragrance of the honeysuckle that grew on our back fence. Every time my husband would cut the grass, he'd pull a sprig of it, place it in his back pocket and whiff it every few moments.

Then my husband died suddenly. When I buried him, I buried the father of my two small sons, my lover, my teacher and my devoted companion.

During the first few months after his death, it was hot and humid, and the whole yard was heavy with the fragrance of honeysuckle. It seemed to follow me wherever I went. Of course, it reminded me of him.

Many people have told me to cut that honeysuckle bush down, but as it grows, so do I. My memories of him shall never die.

Friendship class meets

The Friendship Class of the Wesley United Methodist church met last Sunday for a balloon-decorated birthday party in the home of Mrs. C.A. White, 607 Elgin.

Mrs. J.C. Ray was the honoree.

At the party, in which five members and five visitors attended, Mrs. J.B. Brigrance read a story on quilt-making and Mrs. Alta King read a poem and gave the opening prayer.

COLLEGE STATION — square footage possible for suggests. "Space emphasis" in home family indoor freedom.

To save space — and money — build fewer walls, she advises.

"Fewer walls mean fewer halls — which need only five per cent of total floor space — freeing the surplus for well-planned storage space.

"When storage needs are met, most bedrooms can be smaller.

"That, in turn, frees living areas of the cluttered, closed-in feeling — and adds spaciousness to family living areas."

Most important, she says, is to budget for the most one room do-for-two, she

Also, the master bedroom might play a double role by serving as a sitting room by day.

Save space in a compact kitchen and bathrooms, too, by planning them with "step-savings" in mind.

Overall, stay stingy with footage in lesser-used areas — and spend the leftover — and spend the leftover freely in family breathing

Treatment is life-long project

"Blood pressure control is a life-long project for a patient, even after the blood pressure is under control," Roger B. Hickler, M.D., of the University of Massachusetts Medical School told a medical symposium recently.

A minimum of three office readings on different days is important before persistent elevated blood pressure can be determined, he stated. It is often necessary to try several medications before establishing the best drug or combination of drugs for the individual patient with the disease, and the process may take months before the most effective, best tolerated program is established.

Dr. Hickler observed that many patients have preconceived ideas about hypertension and assume that one reading, and a few pills will take care of the problem.

Bad news for migrants

Texas migrant workers who are thinking of going to the Northwest for the harvests there had better think twice this year.

That is the word from Milton G. Klein, director of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare.

Klein told Texas Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell that Idaho is expecting a severe drought this summer.

"This will have a serious effect upon the number of agriculture jobs which will be available in the State of Idaho," said Klein.

"We are already receiving reports that a higher than usual number of migrant laborers are coming to Idaho thinking that work will be available here. Actually, there will be much less work available in Idaho than there is normally.

"I think it is our duty to inform migrant laborers that work is not available in this state to save them the expense of making the trip to Idaho. To do so would simply serve to further deplete the limited resources which many of these people have," Klein concluded.

Vowell said that Texas State Department of Public Welfare staff throughout the state will be notified so they can advise migrant workers or their families who receive Texas Welfare services of the situation in Idaho.

Horn named city editor in Odessa

ODESSA — Robert E. (Bob) Horn Jr. has been named city editor of the Odessa American, succeeding John Sliney, who resigned.

Sliney is now associated with the law firm of Warren Burnett of Odessa.

Horn, 51, joined the news staff of the American 11 years ago as area editor. He has also served as oil editor and as alternate editor on the wire desk and the city desk.

A native of Vernon, Texas, Horn got his start with the San Angelo Standard Times in 1941. At one time, he worked in the composing room of the Big Spring Herald.

He became editor of the McCamey News and the Iran News in 1964, holding that position until he moved to Odessa in 1966.

Horn was a 1944 graduate of San Angelo Central High School. He attended both San Angelo Junior College and Odessa College.

He and his wife, Chris, are parents of two children, Judy Miller, director of planning and inspection for the City of Odessa; and Robert T. Horn, who is employed at the Oilpatch Restaurant.

UTPB offers money course

The University of Texas of the Permian Basin will offer a course in financial institutions at Howard College during the second half of the summer term.

This course is an introduction to the American financial system, including all those institutions that serve as lenders or borrowers of money, the most prominent of which are banks, Savings and Loan Associations, Credit Unions, and Insurance Companies.

It studies the flow of money from the original savers through the appropriate financial institutions to the final borrowers, indicating the way each one participates in the smooth running of the economic system.

The course will highlight the importance of the individual investor or depositor and of the individual bank or financial institution in the system.

The class will be taught from 6 to 8 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday nights at Howard College. The instructor will be Dan Allen, assistant vice president of the State National Bank of Big Spring.

Mark Tiller on dean's list

Mark Tiller, Coahoma, made the dean's list for both semesters of his freshman year at the University of Texas.

Tiller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney G. Tiller, Coahoma. He is majoring in physics.

Hester, Robertson offer solutions to hot and cold

Hester and Robertson Mechanical Contractors have the answers to your heating and cooling problems.

If you've been too hot this summer, it may be because you do not have an adequate or efficient cooling system.

You might want to try the round one, Carrier, or the new Compact.

The distinctive appearance of Carrier air conditioners tells the world you've got the best, no matter which model you select.

Look for the box units that show which homes have central air conditioning. Look closer and you may spot the two new shapes. Both are Carrier. There's the round one and the Compact.

Carrier gives a whole new approach to quiet dependable air conditioning. The curved coils expose more surface to the outside air and the units are quiet and exceptionally efficient.

Or if you think your air conditioning has been fine, start thinking about the heating for a cold winter.

Call Hester and Robertson at 263-8342 or drop out on

Indian saved Ft. Davis

with Marj Carpenter

One of my favorite West Texas stories is the story of Indian Emily, who saved Fort Davis.

The Indians in the Davis Mountains in the late 1800s were in the habit of making regular raids on the fort, usually when many of the soldiers were gone on scout duty.

On one of these raids, a large wagon train had pulled into the fort without the Indians knowing about it. Their scout was asleep at the switch.

There were many teamsters with these wagons, all heavily armed and when the Apaches went into raid the fort, they were soon forced to retreat, leaving their wounded behind.

One of the wounded Indians was a little ten-year-old girl. A widow at the post took the little girl and reared her. She attended school and learned to speak English and was named Emily.

The widow had a son in West Point, named Tommy, who was assigned to Ft. Davis upon graduation. Emily, who was then 16 years old, promptly and secretly fell in love with the young lieutenant. He was dating the young ladies on the post at the time.

One evening at a party, his engagement was announced to the daughter of one of the officers. Emily disappeared. She was not heard from for many months, and most people decided she had returned to the Apaches.

One night a sentry saw someone running across the parade ground and called out for the person to halt. He made a second challenge and when there was no response, he fired.

The crack of the rifle was followed by a scream and when the sentry rushed to the spot, he found Emily mortally wounded.

Before she died, Emily gasped out, "My people are coming in large numbers to attack the post. Do not let them hurt Tommy."

Because of her warning, the fort was ready for the attack and the Indians were repulsed. Emily was buried with military honors and today there is a nice monument at Fort Davis marking Emily's grave on the north side of the old military reservation.

I think it's one of the saddest love stories in West Texas.

I always liked Fort Davis stories. A Mrs. Steve (Viola) Ward in Pecos, who lived into her 90s told me the story of the last attack near Fort Davis before the Indians quit raiding that post.

She was 12 years old at the time. Her family lived near the fort. One day when her father was gone, the Indians attacked their ranch.

The mother sent Viola's 10-year-old brother for help and the mother crouched in the window firing at the Indians. Viola was reloading one musket for her mother while she shot the other. The boy made it away from the ranch and reached the fort and obtained help.

Mrs. Ward recalled, "The Cavalry came over the hill on horseback, just like they do now in the movies. It was wonderful. It also was the last time that anybody recalls the Apaches attacking any ranch in the area."

And I remember that when I went to interview Mrs. Ward for the story, I had taken my son along. He was four years old at the time.

He sat spellbound listening to the Indian story and still recalls, "the old lady who talked about fighting the Indians."

The Indians used to be out there. And next time you go through Fort Davis, take time to stop and look around. You can almost feel the Indians looking over the top of the mountain, down toward the fort.

Out in one of my favorite spots — when I'm way out ridin' fence.

Art recovered, officials jailed

BUFFALO (AP) — The FBI has recovered a stolen Rembrandt painting, arrested two prominent Buffalo officials and extended a crime and corruption investigation to six other states, agents say.

Federal, state and local investigators operated video-tape cameras in a store where an FBI informer bought stolen goods for 15 months, leading to the arrests and extending the probe, according to FBI and local officials.

The informer has been given a new identity and is no longer in Buffalo, officials add.

Twenty-three persons, including the Democratic majority leader of the Erie County Legislature and an assistant district attorney, were arraigned on state and federal charges, including burglary, grand larceny, robbery, arson and possession of stolen goods.

Police valued the recovered stolen property at $500,000, including the $250,000 Rembrandt painting, "Le Rabbin" or The Rabbi, that was taken from The Leon Bonnat Museum in Bayonne, France, in 1971.

FBI agents are seeking a fugitive in connection with the Rembrandt theft.

Ad ban on lawyers overturned

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — John Bates and Van O'Steen, who riled the legal fraternity last year by advertising their rates, say they'll resume ads for their law clinic "almost immediately," following a Supreme Court decision that overturned an advertising ban on lawyers.

"This means all the professions are going to be vulnerable to attack from the outside," said O'Steen. "This could be the beginning of the end for self-regulation for lawyers, and that's good." New ads will appear "as soon as we gear up for it," Bates said on Monday.

The February 1976 newspaper ad that eventually produced Monday's Supreme Court ruling said: "Do you need a lawyer? Legal services at very reasonable fees."

The ad listed prices for uncontested divorces, adoptions, bankruptcies and changes of name.

Bates and O'Steen operate a clinic that provides legal services at reduced prices. They said it is designed for persons who cannot afford private attorneys but are not poor enough to qualify for legal aid. The clinic uses paralegal assistants and automated equipment to reduce the cost of routine legal services.

The two lawyers said the ad was designed to challenge the Arizona Bar Association's rule banning such advertising, adding that they believe such ads are necessary to get enough customers to make a low-cost clinic work.

The bar association brought disciplinary action against the lawyers and was upheld by the Arizona Supreme Court, which ordered that a written notice of censure be issued.

William Canby, the Arizona State University law professor who argued the case before the high court for his two former students, said the ruling "will drive fees down, at least for some legal

Child care tax break denial lifted

DALLAS — A tax provision which denied a business expense deducted to persons providing child care service in their homes has been lifted.

This exception to the law, part of the tax bill signed into law on Monday, May 23, 1977, eliminates the exclusive use requirement if the residence is used to provide day care services to children, handicapped person, or persons age 65 or older.

Previously, the law specified that deductions for business use of the home for child care services would be allowed only if the part of the home claimed was used exclusively and regularly for business. For example, a taxpayer could not deduct a family room used for child care by day and for family entertainment by night.

Cauthen back in top form

NEW YORK (AP) — In the continuing adventures of Steve Cauthen, boy-jockey from Walton, Ky., it was another big day.

The 17-year-old riding sensation lost his "bug" but won a race at Belmont Park on Monday and launched himself on a new sideline — promoting sales of his own Country-Western record entitled "And Steve Cauthen Sings, Too."

Cauthen's apprentice era ended at Belmont Park as he completed his first full year of racing, thus losing his five-pound allowance — or "bug." Starting today, he'll be on equal weight terms with the other jockeys.

He rode one winner in four mounts on his final day as an apprentice, completing a year that brought him from obscurity to national acclaim. He has won 284 races this year with purses totaling approximately $3,050,000. Last year he won 240 races before coming to New York. Thus his first year of riding produced 524 winners and more than $5 million in purses earned.

And in New York, Cauthen went to a department store to kick off sales of his record, autographing copies for customers.

The store's record department manager, Frank Lampel, seemed pleased.

"He sold 100 records. He did better than Helen Reddy. She only sold 80," said Lampel. "Considering he's not a major recording artist, he had a good day."

Rangers make A's

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's hitting attack stirred just enough to take new Texas Manager Billy Hunter's eyes away from the cameras a few seconds.

"Hey, the score is 3-1," Hunter said with some alarm during the fifth inning of Monday night's game as he posed for pictures in the Oakland Coliseum press box.

The Rangers held a 3-0 lead when Hunter arrived from the airport after a flight from Cleveland to the West Coast. The way Mike Marshall was pitching, those three runs looked like more than enough.

Then, for a brief time, there were doubts.

The A's scored two runs in the fifth on a single by Manny Sanguillen, a triple by Tony Armas and a grounder by Willie Crawford. But they got no more and lost 5-2 to the Texas team run by interim manager Connie Ryan.

Paul Lindblad came on for Marshall, who left after six innings because of a twisted right knee. The former Oakland reliever saved the victory that made Marshall's record 2-2.

The Rangers' hitting stars were two other ex-A's, Claudell Washington and Bert Campaneris.

Washington clouted a 420-foot, two-run homer in the Rangers' three-run third inning which began with a single by Campaneris. Texas chased Paul Mitchell, 0-2, in that inning.

"Mitchell was throwing too many pitches over the heart of the plate," said Bobby Winkles, who in 17 days as A's manager has seen the team win just four of 16 games. "We'll put him in the bullpen a while."

Washington, who has had injury problems this season, said, "I've been struggling, guessing at pitches. This time I guessed right—looked for a fastball and got it."

Your manager today is...

OAKLAND (AP) — Billy Hunter, the Texas Rangers' fourth manager within a week, takes over tonight and team owner Brad Corbett vows, "No more changes."

Hunter accepted the job offer Monday morning, while in Cleveland with the Baltimore Orioles. He arrived at the Oakland Coliseum—still wearing an Orioles' necktie—to watch the last 4½ innings of a 5-2 Texas victory over the Oakland A's.

"I like the score," said Hunter, who also likes the Rangers' chances of winning the American League West title.

"The personnel is great, we're not too far behind, and the division is up for grabs. I just hope we can put it all together," he said in a press-box interview while interim

BILLY HUNTER through the 1979 season. Eddie Stanky, hired last Wednesday after Frank Lucchesi was fired, also signed a three-year contract but quit after one game.

"I'm looking forward to meeting Billy. I never even got a chance to say hello to Eddie Stanky," said relief pitcher Paul Lindblad after Monday night's game.

"A lot's happened in my rookie year," said second baseman Bump Wills. "I never expect to play under four managers in a week again."

Dock Ellis, traded to Texas by the A's on June 15, noted, "I've had seven managers in 2½ months. That might be a record."

He began the season under the New York Yankees' Billy Martin and was with the A's when Bobby Winkles replaced Jack McKeon.

Neilson inks pact

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs announced today they have signed Roger Neilson to a multi-year contract as coach of the National Hockey League club.

Neilson became the 13th coach of the history of the Maple Leafs. He replaced Red Kelly who was fired in mid-June by club owner Harold Ballard.

Neilson, 43, who last season was coach and general manager of the Dallas Black Hawks of the Central Hockey League, made a verbal agreement with Ballard early today while starting an Africa safari in Johannesburg.

Before Neilson joined the Dallas club, he was coach and general manager of the Peterborough Petes in the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A Hockey League for seven years.

Ballard said June 17 that Kelly's back injury was the major factor in the decision not to rehire the former NHL star.

Astros rally in ninth

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston has waited almost half the season for Lady Luck to smile on them but Astros first baseman Bob Watson thinks the Astros may finally be getting a full grin.

Watson's ninth inning single that rallied the Astros to a 7-6 victory over the San Diego Padres Monday night was only one of the delightful turnarounds that blessed the Astros.

"I have to believe that the breaks finally are starting to fall our way," Watson said. "I also think San Diego is in the kind of losing streak that we've been in where nothing seems to go right. Tonight for the first time, things just seemed to go our way."

"The worm might just have finally turned our way."

In the decisive ninth inning, a double error by Padres reliever Rollie Fingers and centerfielder George Hendrick allowed Enos Cabell to score the tying run and set up Watson's game-winning hit.

San Diego started the ninth with a comfortable 6-4 lead and ace reliever Fingers in control on the mound.

But pinchhitter Ken Boswell led off with a single before Julio Gonzalez flew out to center field. Cabell then doubled, scoring Boswell and cutting the lead to 6-5.

With Cedeno at the plate, Fingers tried to pick Cabell off second base. The throw sailed into centerfield where Hendrick bobbled the ball, allowing Cabell to score the tying run.

Cedeno then doubled and scored the winning run on Watson's scorching single.

Fingers, the loser, had to agree Lady Luck had touched the Astros for this game. "I've given up more bloop hits this year than I have in my entire career," he said. "I thought I had good stuff but those are the breaks of the game."

The Astros took a 4-2 lead into the sixth inning on a

Wimbledon story one of change

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King, on the comeback trail after a cartilage operation — her third in all — has her sights firmly fixed on beating the record she shares with Elizabeth Ryan for winning the most Wimbledon titles — 19.

Miss Ryan, American born who has lived in Britain for many years, won her titles — all of them in women's and mixed doubles — between 1914-1934. Billie Jean has equaled that in 11 years and collected a post-war record of six singles titles on the way.

She failed to gain anything here last year, but came back again this time for that elusive 20th win that will stamp her name alone in the record books.

She's only got one chance out of three now of doing it this year. She teamed with Karen Susman and lost in the first round of the women's doubles, then lost again Monday in the singles to Chris Evert.

Her only chance of pulling off the record in 1977 lies in the mixed doubles. With her partner, Phil Dent, she won her way through to the last 16 Monday by beating Ray Ruffels and Virginia Wade in two sets.

Billie Jean, 33, is mentally still the same fierce competitor she always has been. But physically, last year's operation has taken its toll.

Miss Evert, who gave Billie Jean her biggest Wimbledon beating since her first year here in 1961, said after her 6-1, 6-2 victory, "the fire has gone out of her eyes. She didn't seem to have any zest."

Billie Jean roared with laughter when she heard of the comment. "Mentally I'm in good shape — physically I just don't know," she said.

Will she come back again next year?

"After that (her match against Miss Evert) I'll certainly be back," she said.

Then she hedged a little. "I'll know more about that in six months to a year, when I see how I'm going on physically," she said. "I'm still not quick enough, but I'm working hard on my knee and six months or so should tell me whether I can carry on as I have done. There are still one or two shots I need to work on hard and I find my mind still wanders too much."

Miss Evert meets Britain's Virginia Wade, while Sue Barker, another Briton, meets Betty Stove in the semifinal Wednesday.

Miss Wade beat Rosemary Casals of the U.S. 7-5, 6-2, Miss Barker beat Kerry Reid of Australia 6-3, 6-4 and Miss Stove beat Martina Navratilova, the Czech who now lives in the United States, 9-8, 3-6, 6-1. It will be the first time since 1961 that Britain has had two women in the semifinals.

Today the men were to occupy center stage, with quarterfinals between Jimmy Connors, Belleville, Ill., and Byron Bertram of South Africa; John McEnroe of New York and Dent; Vitas Gerulaitis of New York and Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif., and Ilie Nastase of Romania and Bjorn Borg, the defending champion from Sweden.

She won four championships at Forest Hills. She became the sensation of Wimbledon, winning six ladies titles and 13 doubles

King philosophical about new Queen

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King is the Joe Frazier of tennis.

Cut her to ribbons. Smash her from pillar to post. Knock her down. Spit on her. Put your heel in her eye. Then pivot.

She bounces back, swinging.

"Retire? Quit tournament tennis? You gotta be kidding," the plucky, 33-year-old grand dame of Wimbledon champions snapped after a humiliating 6-1, 6-2 loss to Chris Evert Monday before a packed center court gallery in the aged Wimbledon stadium.

"It just means I've got a lot more work," she said. "I've got to make myself match tough. I gotta be tough mentally as well as physically."

"I gotta go out and kill myself for the next six months. It's a long, arduous process. I will suffer."

"But I'll be back."

It's a warning her contemporaries would do well to heed. Billie Jean may lose a battle but she loses very few wars.

People around Long Beach, Calif., remember her as the pudgy little fireman's daughter who played baseball with her brother and other boys in the corner lot, sliding and slashing with the best of them.

Tennis? She'd never be a good tennis player, they said. She didn't have the graceful strokes and the lightning speed. All she did was pounce and puff, fuss and fume, knock the cover off the ball and beat everybody.

She won four championships at Forest Hills. She became the sensation of Wimbledon, winning six ladies titles and 13 doubles

CONGRATULATIONS — Robert Eggleston, center, is congratulated by his teammates after slamming a three-run homer in the first inning of Monday night's opening round playoffs between the Rangers of the National League and the Comets of the International League. Robert and the Rangers beat the Comets 15-0. See other scores on page 3B.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Act quickly now and put in effect a new and interesting plan you have been postponing. Make more of an effort to get on the good side of co-workers and higher-ups.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal time to look into new ventures or travel. Making new associates who can be of help to you is good. Take no chances with your help.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your intuition is good regarding how to handle obligations better in the future, so follow it. Try to be more cooperative with mate or loved one and get better results. Avoid a troublemaker.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Matters concerning your partners are vital to you now, so handle them most intelligently, make fine plans for the future. Situations arise so that you know better where you stand with others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have a good deal to do and can cooperate better with associates and get right results now. Take time to improve health, also.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are highly inspired how to gain your finest aims and can go after them in a positive way and make a better position for yourself!

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Improve affairs at home and achieve greater harmony. Entertain good friends and get good results. Avoid a troublemaker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get the information you need so that you can make new projects more successful. Use caution where your temper is concerned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study new interests well so that you can command a greater abundance in the near future. Talk over with an expert how to become efficient.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make necessary changes now, and stop procrastinating. Put off socializing for a later time.

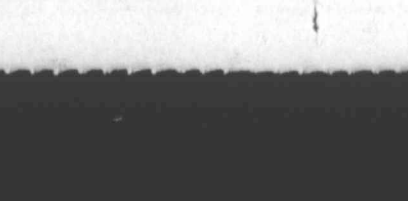

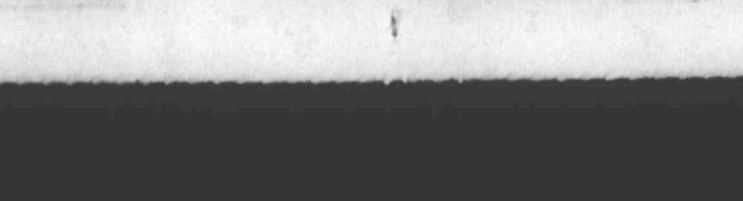

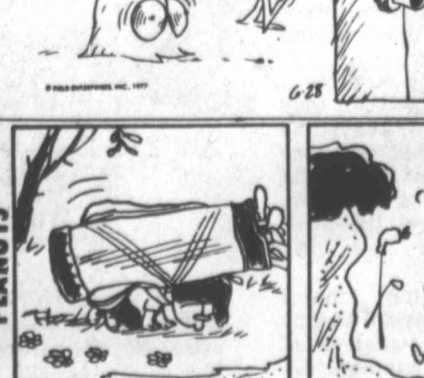

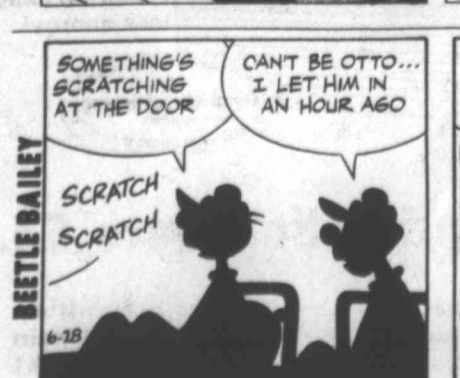

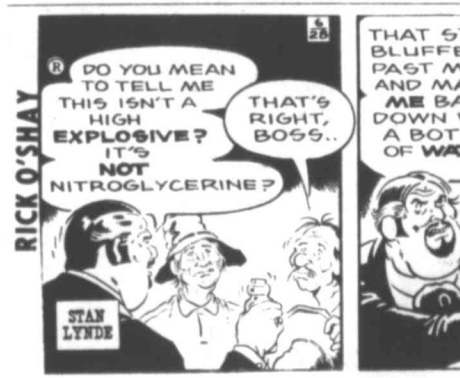

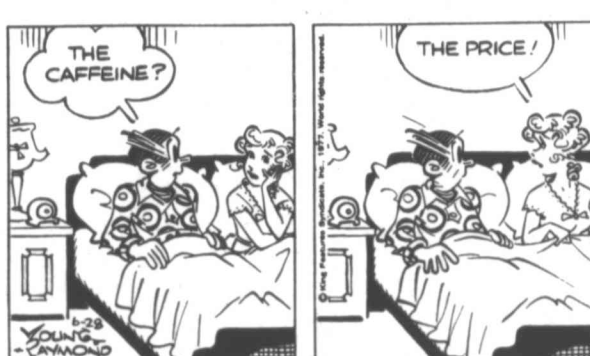

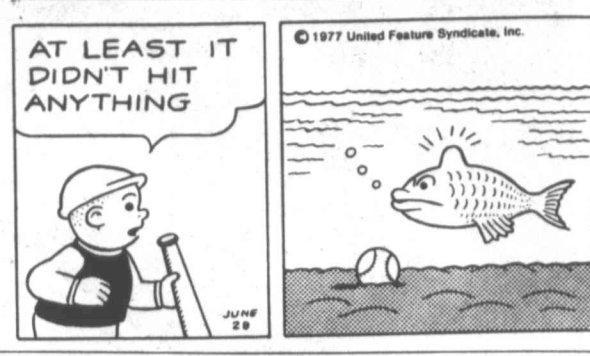

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Concentrate more on the idealistic side of your affairs and less on the material and get good results. Be more concerned with the problems of a loved one and have better understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to be your gregarious self today and should follow through with this and get good results. A good time to meet new people.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get into those civic and career affairs that can bring you greater success and happiness. Make your capabilities known to bigwigs for good results. Be careful of a jealous friend.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will get an early start on a career and hit upon the right philosophy of life. Add foreign languages to the educational career since there will be much travel to other countries in this lifetime. Take care your child does not cultivate the wrong type of persons early in life. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, reaffirming the role of federal judges in ending school segregation, says courts have the power to require remedial programs for children whose education has suffered because of past discrimination.

Supplying what one attorney called a "banner day for the cause of civil rights", the court ruled Monday in a pair of unanimous decisions in cases from Dayton, Ohio, and Detroit.

Desegregation powers affirmed

The justices ruled that the powers of federal judges in cases of unlawful school segregation are not limited to the reassignment of pupils.

While the justices decided that the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals went too far in ordering a system-wide desegregation plan for Dayton schools, they said widespread solutions may be fashioned if widespread discrimination is found.

In Dayton, however, the court said an integration plan that last year forced the busing of 18,000 of the school district's 41,000 pupils was too broad for the effects of discrimination found.

More significant is the fact that the court did not, as some civil rights groups had feared it might, retreat from a 1963 ruling in a Denver case that judges may impose systemwide remedies in northern cities when such remedies are required.

In the Detroit case, the justices said federal courts may order school districts to upgrade programs aimed at helping black pupils who were discriminated against by official policies.

The court also ordered Detroit schools and Michigan to share in the cost of an $11.6-million effort to revamp remedial reading, service teaching training, testing and guidance counseling services in Detroit.

In other matters, the court:

- Decided by a 5-4 vote that lawyers have a constitutional right to advertise the fees they charge for routine legal services, a ruling expected to greatly benefit consumers.
- Let stand a lower court's unprecedented ruling in a California case that white employers may, under the Civil Rights Act of 1964, sue employers for discriminating against blacks because the alleged bias deprives white workers of inter-racial associations.

- Struck down an Alabama law that had imposed height and weight standards for prison guards. The justices said Alabama officials had not proved that the standards are not discriminatory against women. While the court's decision does not invalidate similar laws in other states, the justices handed women a significant victory in ruling that, under federal law, they may challenge such standards.
- Agreed to review the constitutionality of Ohio's death penalty law under which 70 men have been sentenced to die.
- Took away the last chance federal prisoners John Mitchell and H.R. Haldeman had to overturn their convictions in the Watergate cover-up, refusing to reconsider an earlier decision not to hear appeals by the two former aides to former President Richard M. Nixon.

THE LAST PICTURE SHOW' sequel hot issue

ARCHER CITY, Tex. (AP) — A sequel to the Academy award-winning movie "The Last Picture Show" may be forthcoming. But the city council of Archer City, where the movie was filmed, will be writing the screenplay.

City councilmen are considering whether the 86-year-old housing the Royal Theater, inspiration for native son Larry McMurtry's best-selling book and the motion picture, should be condemned as a hazardous structure.

The Royal was gutted by fire about 10 years ago and was closed. The roof has caved in. There's a hole in the floor — and the popularity of television makes talk about restoring Archer City's last picture show seem financially unsound.

Much of the movie depicting life in a small Texas town during the early 1950s was filmed here in 1970.

About 100 Archer City and Wichita Falls residents appeared as extras. The finished product was received with mixed reaction because of its explicit language and scenes.

The city council is experiencing the same mixed reaction as it considers tearing down the Royal. Some people want it

Scouts head for mountains

Two local Boy Scout Troops have left civilization behind, and headed to the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains.

Troop Five, sponsored by the First Baptist Church, and Troop 249, sponsored by the Westside Community Center will rough it until July 2.

Hiram Garcia is scoutmaster of Troop 249, and Troop five is lead by Bill Bradford, scoutmaster, and his assistants, Curt Strong and Dane Green.

Troop Five campers include Noel Wilson, Patrick Connelly, Mike Stevens, Kevin Mitchell, Kurt Schwizerhof, Marc Almond, Mark Taylor, Tim Hun-

New industry session closed

The Webb Steering Committee met in closed session at 4 p.m. Monday to consider contract details for prospective industries for the closing military base.

The committee will meet again at 9 a.m. Wednesday on the base.

Traffic death toll guessed

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimates that between 500 and 600 persons may die in traffic accidents over the July 4 weekend.

The worst Independence Day traffic death toll on record was 758 during a four-day observance in 1972.

During last year's three-day weekend holiday, 497 persons were killed.

The coming July 4 holiday extends from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday and is considered a three-day observance.
