Double amount expected

$400,000 pledged for industry

By BILL WERRELL
The Big Spring Industrial Foundation has tallied almost $400,000 to use in attracting new industry, after a campaign of only two months. "This fantastic contribution is only a portion of what total pledges may come to," said Adolph Swartz, head of the campaign.
In his financial report this morning to the Industrial Foundation officers and directors, Swartz said that he had already deposited $100,149.65 of contributions in the bank in the name of the foundation, and had received pledges of $385,199 to be paid over the next three years.

Spring.
The present campaign to solicit funds for the Industrial Foundation started in late April. In just under two months, through making contacts with banks, real estate offices, shopping centers, doctors, and other representatives of financial muscle, Swartz, called the "Dean of the Fund Drive" by Bill Pollard, was able to solicit nearly the entire deposit and pledge by himself.

Swartz said that in 1950 the Foundation had raised $50,000, and in 1965, they had raised another $165,000, but never has the Foundation ever met with such success as they have in the last two months.
SPECIFICALLY, ACCORDING to Pollard, the money may be used to secure buildings, or land sites for the use of potential new industry which would be beneficial to Big Spring.
Roger Brown, president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, expressed special thanks to Adolph Swartz on behalf of the Chamber, and promised a plaque to be hung in his honor in the Chamber of Commerce Offices.
Swartz attributed much of the success to the hard work of other members of the Foundation, but was told by Clyde McMahon that he was being too modest, and that before the report the Foundation's fondest hopes for the campaign were in the area of $200,000.
position he took as a candidate. He said he wasn't guided by his campaign position, but by his belief that the pilotless cruise missile is an adequate strategic weapon without the new manned bomber. He said the cruise missile should be deployed.
The President, noting that he hopes for a U.S.-Soviet summit meeting soon as part of continuing consultations with Moscow, said also that his decision on the B1 might signal the Kremlin that the administration is striving for progress in Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.
Carter said his decision was based on his judgment of military requirements, given the development of the cruise missile and the fact that modernized B52 bombers can be used to carry that weapon within its 1,500-mile range of enemy targets.
The President said he believes Congress will support his decision against the B1.

Malpractice testimony begins

The $300,000 lawsuit against Dr. C.B. Marcum continued today in 118th District Court. Testimony was taken Wednesday from Marcum concerning the procedure followed by Patsy Mitchell before and after her intestinal bypass operation.
Contrary to the article on Wednesday's front page, the suit no longer names any defendants except Marcum.
The original petition, which had been changed several times did name 20 doctors, Malone-Hogan Clinic, and Medical Center Hospital.
Medical Arts Hospital was never a party to the suit as was erroneously reported in Wednesday's Herald.
The Herald regrets the errors.

City dads see TESCO hike as 'high'

BY JAMES WERRELL
Texas Electric Service Company many have to take its case to the Texas Utility Commission if the gut reactions of the Big Spring City Council members are any indication.
Texas Electric filed a request Wednesday for a 23.6 per cent system-wide increase in revenues. The request is first filed with the city. Then public hearing is held, and if the request is denied it is shuttled to the utility commission in Austin for final review.

Figures show that if the rate hike is granted the average homeowner's bill here would jump from $22.31 to $27.71 per month.
"I know costs are up, fuel is up, but a 23 per cent hike is still pretty darned high," said Mayor Wade Chaste. "I really don't have any set opinions on the proposal at this time, but it seems pretty high. It will be on the next agenda of the council on July 12, and we will take a thorough look at it," he added.
"IT'S A PRETTY stiff jump," said council member Ralph Brooks, referring to the proposed hike. "I don't anticipate that the Texas Utility Commission will support that much of a raise. They (Texas Electric) will probably have to settle for less, something closer to a 10 to 15 per cent raise."
"With the building program they (Texas Electric) have planned and the restrictions on the building of nuclear plants, I can understand why they are asking for higher rates. But I'm not sure that a 23 per cent raise is needed," said council member Polly Mays. "In the past, Harry Nagel (city manager) has gone into it, and we have given Texas Electric a lesser increase than it requested. I don't know if that will be possible this time, but I hope there is a compromise, something lower than 23 per cent," she concluded.

"IT SEEMS TO me, personally, that my utility bills are going up every month, and it is unlikely that the gas adjustment clause (granted to Texas Electric earlier) could account for this. I just don't know," said council member Harold Hall. "They (Texas Electric) usually ask for more than they expect. They have gone into the construction business, and they are probably trying to pick up some money for that nuclear plant that turned out to be so much higher than they expected. I haven't made up my mind. We (the council) will have a few meetings on it before any decisions are made," he added.
"I have just received the material from Texas Electric and I haven't had a chance to go over it. At this point I am undecided on the increase," said council member Ralph McLaughlin. "The increase seems large, but I am well aware of the rising costs of construction. I can't fault them for raising rates," he added.

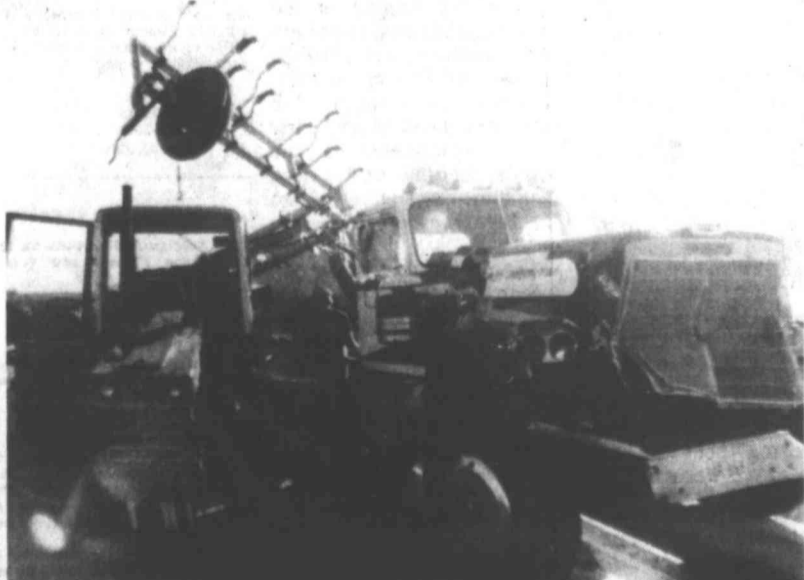

Truck, farm tractor wreck halts traffic

BY MARJ CARPENTER
Traffic was backed up on IS 20 for over an hour this morning while wreckers worked to remove wreckage from the bridge just west of Big Spring.
A farm tractor and 20-row plow belonging to Elbert Long and driven by Jenaro Perez Amaro, 40, was struck from behind by a truck driven by William Blaize, 28, of Odessa.
The two vehicles collided on the east end of the bridge and went 180 feet hooked together with the truck bending the guardrail on the south side and narrowly missing being dumped into the ravine below.
Amaro was taken to a local hospital with possible fractured ribs.
State Trooper Ben Lockhart was investigating the accident and Deputy Bill Whitten assisted him in stopping traffic as they came down on the bridge.

Within a matter of minutes, traffic was backed up in two lanes all the way back to the Ramada overpass.
A spokesman at Rip Griffin's Truck Stop said they were directing trucks that inquired through town and out of town on Old Highway 80.
The largest wrecker in the area was summoned from Odessa to try to remove the bent equipment and vehicles.
The law officers were able to get one side of the bridge cleared and were directing traffic through slowly, stopping it and allowing a few across at a time most of the morning.

BRIDGE BLOCKED — An accident occurred on this bridge on IS 20 west of Big Spring this morning between a truck and a farm tractor which halted traffic on the highway for over an hour before one lane of the bridge could be cleared.

CONFUSION — A truck and tractor wreck on an IS 20 bridge west of Big Spring this morning halted traffic and caused massive confusion. The equipment bent up in the air was strung out and blocked the bridge.

Kidnaper promises to release scout

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Charlotte Grosse's parents waited for a second telephone call today, hoping it would bring word that the man who dragged their 15-year-old daughter from a tent at a remote Girl Scout campsite had kept his pledge to free her.
But there was no word throughout the worried night and into the morning, more than nine hours after the abductor allowed the girl to call her parents at home in nearby Nokomis to tell them she was all right and that he promised to set her free.
"I'm baffled," said Sarasota County Sheriff Jim Hardcastle. He said he couldn't understand why the man had allowed her to call home and speak with her father, Richard Grosse, but then didn't release her.
Hardcastle said he wasn't giving up. "There was no indication when she would be released," the sheriff said. He said that Charlotte told her parents the man was "going to get rid of her at a telephone booth."
Sheriff's Capt. Thomas Stimson said Charlotte also told her parents she would be released in Manatee County, the county where she made her first phone call. Manatee is just north of Sarasota County.
"I don't think he'd let her go this far if he wasn't going to turn her loose," Stimson told a morning news conference.
He also said that the FBI joined the search at 5 a.m. today, about 24 hours after Charlotte's disappearance.
Charlotte, clad only in underclothes and a Mickey Mouse shirt, was dragged by the hair by a heavy-set man at dawn Wednesday as her sister and a friend looked on in horror.
Her sister ran from the tent screaming, "Charlotte's been stolen!"
Sheriff officers and volunteers scoured down the search to about 30 patrolmen in the wooded area where the teen-ager was taken captive and teams of officers and detectives in cars canvassing the area.
"They don't know where to look but the search is concentrated in the Bradenton area," a sheriff's spokesman said. "They don't believe she's in the wooded area any more."

Action/reaction: None budgeted
Q: In regard to the city manager's statement that there is no money for the proposed pay raises for policemen and firemen, how can he justify the $18,000 position offered to Col. Spannaus? I think they are overlooking the people we depend on every day.
A: City Manager Harry Nagel said that he did not remember saying there was no money. "What I said was there is none budgeted."
Nagel also pointed out that to provide equal pay raises for all public safety officers would cost roughly $125,000—over seven times the amount paid Spannaus. He further explained that the base should become self-sufficient and pay for itself eventually.
"And if they don't like our staffing the base, what else do they want us to do with it?" he finished.

House members decide to keep $12,900 raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House of Representatives aren't going to give back that $12,900 pay raise they got in February.

The House easily rejected an amendment Wednesday that would have cut the money to cover the pay raises for fiscal 1978 from a $928.8-million legislative appropriation bill.

The amendment would not only have deleted funds for the congressional pay increases, but would have cut out raises for more than 20,000 upper-level federal employees.

After voting to keep their raises, which sent congressional salaries spiraling from $44,600 to $57,500, the House went passed the bill, 251 to 161.

It now goes to the Senate, where no strong opposition has appeared.

Much of the opposition in the House was to the way the raise came about.

Under the law, a special commission reviews congressional salaries every four years, along with those of the vice president, cabinet members and other high-level federal employees.

The President may alter the commission's recommendations before sending them on to Congress.

In the past, unless Congress rejected the proposals, they took effect. This was the case with this year's raise.

Subsequently, however, the House changed the procedure to practically guarantee that future raises will have to be voted on.

During debate Wednesday, leaders promised they will clear the way for a vote on a provision that future raises won't take effect during the session in which they were approved.

Supporters of the pay raise argued Wednesday that it is only the second for Congress in eight years.

The boost from $44,600 to $57,500, they said, does not match the jump in the cost of living or trends in private employment during that time.

Opponents said

congressional salaries, even at the old level, were about three times the national average. Congress, they said, was partly responsible for the inflation against which it was protecting itself.

The legislative appropriation bill that now goes to the Senate includes $503 million for work directly tied to Congress and $381.8 million for related agencies, such as the Library of Congress, the Government Printing Office and the General Accounting Office.

Confab lures two local men

A.C. Jones and Verlin Krouss, both of Big Spring, were in San Antonio June 23-25 for the 43rd annual convention of the Fifth Southwestern Exposition of Texas Motor Transport Association, the statewide organization representing the truck and bus industry in Texas. Convention meetings were held in the San Antonio Convention Center.

Highlighting the program were addresses by State Comptroller Bob Bullock, America Trucking Association's President Bennett Whitlock; TMTA Chairman Tommy Morris, president of M & M Trucking Inc.; a spokesman for the energy industry, a management consultant and an insurance representative.

Amazing brain waves machine

BY BILL WERRELI*
 Moments after the electrodes were attached, Wesley Thomason's brain waves were being sent from the fourth floor of the Big Spring Veteran's Hospital to a special lab in Houston, via the telephone.
 Sound like science fiction? Well, it's not. The Veterans Hospital has procured an electroencephalogram machine, which, through the miracle of modern technology, is about the size of an attaché case.
 Electroencephalograms (EEGs) are now a painless test for the patient requiring measurement of the head in millimeters and placement of 20 disc electrodes with special cream.
 Some of the indications for the use of electroencephalography in clinical practice are seizure disorders, brain tumors, cerebral vascular disease, recovery from previous stroke syndrome, vascular headaches, migraine syndrome, head injuries, and psychiatric disorders.

 "I think this is the first machine of its kind in the entire Veterans' Administration System," said Dr. Margolis, chief of Staff at the Hospital.
 He explained that previously if a patient needed an EEG test he had to be sent to Houston, Dallas, or to another hospital with the EEG facility.
 According to Dr. Margolis, the expense, and bulkiness of the central EEG machine can be avoided by using a terminal like the one at the V.A. Hospital.
 "Our machine is really small, but through a telephone connection it enables us to send EEGs to Houston for immediate diagnosis by Dr. Meyer L. Proler," said Margolis.

 With the terminal, taking the electroencephalogram is an easy process and in Mr. Thomason's case it was handled by two lab technicians, Manuel Gutierrez, and Bill Stafford.
 Thomason's head was measured off in millimeters for the exact placement of 20 electrodes. Then, with a special saline, the electrodes were painlessly attached to the scalp, and to the EEG machine.
 Then with a simple phone call, the machine was connected to the main terminal in Houston, and under the eyes of EEG specialist

Dr. Meyer Proler.
 Once connected in Houston, the EEG only takes about ten minutes. An immediate diagnosis by Dr. Proler is given by phone, and in two to three days a complete written report and EEG tracing is received from him at the V.A. Hospital.

With the services available locally, an immediate diagnosis is made, which results in greater convenience for the patient and the physician and at the same time reduces the cost.
 "It really works great, and I think we've already done about 50 of these tests," said Margolis.

Skimpy showers dot West Texas

By the Associated Press
 Skimpy showers left just enough moisture to make humid weather more oppressive at some points in Texas today, and south winds shoved damp air inland from the coast as an unwelcome reinforcement.
 Thunderstorms again ranged through West Texas from the Panhandle to deep in the Rio Grande Valley, dying down soon after midnight.
 New showers cropped up after daybreak in Central Texas northwest of Austin.
EXTENDED FORECAST
 WEST TEXAS: Chance of showers Saturday and Sunday. Partly cloudy Monday. Little change in temperature. Highs in the 90s. Lows in the 70s.
FORECAST
 WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy through Friday with scattered, mainly late afternoon and night thunderstorms. Low tonight 63 north to 73 south except 55 mountains. High Friday 88 north to near 100 Big Bend.

No major change was indicated by official forecasts.
 Early morning temperatures ranged from 81 degrees at Galveston and Palacios on the coast down to the middle 50s in the West Texas mountains. A 100-degree reading at Presidio in the Big Bend of West Texas was the state's warmest Wednesday.

Cancer survival rates improved

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A University of Texas researcher reports dramatically improved survival rates in some lung cancer patients treated with a combination of radiation and chemotherapy.
 Dr. Robert Livingston, assistant professor of medicine at the UT Health Science Center here, said life expectancy was doubled for a small group of patients with small-cell cancer of the lung.
 Doctors commonly associate small-cell lung cancer with cigarette smoking, and Dr. Livingston said survival rates were increased with the new "sandwich therapy."

 "The treatment involves sandwiching a period of radiation therapy between two periods of chemotherapy," he said in a news release.
 "In patients with limited small-cell cancer, median survival rates doubled from six months to a year, and about 20 per cent of these patients are expected to live beyond 18 months without the disease."
 The research was conducted by the Southwest

Oncology Group, an association of 38 academic institutions in 15 states. Dr. Livingston reported on the study recently at the California Medical Association's annual meeting.
 He said there are about 100,000 new cases of lung cancer every year, of which about 20,000 are small-cell cancer.
 "Not many patients with small-cell cancer, which is related to cigarette smoking, survive more than a few months after diagnosis," Dr. Livingston explained.

Farm Cotton record noted

Howard County farmers have planted the largest cotton acreage in several years, according to an estimate by the local agricultural experts.
 The estimate indicates that Howard County may have as many as 95,000 acres in cotton this year in comparison to 90,000 last season. This was up from the 86,000 of the previous year.
 In the Plains Cotton area, Lubbock experts indicate that a 25-county area has 3,402,000 acres standing in cotton after 166,000 acres were lost for the season as a result of damage from hail, blown sand and washing rains.
 Howard County has had a minimal loss this year due to the elements. Around Welch in Dawson County there was some hail loss.
 There was some loss from hail in Howard County and in the Luther and Knott areas, but part of this acreage has been replanted since the hail was in the waning days of May.
 Original plantings in the South Plains 25-county area were estimated at 3,568,000 acres, an increase of 781,700 acres, or about 28 per cent.
 This year, the cotton acreage on the High Plains is the largest since 1952.
 Agricultural officials say early yield prospects, bolstered by beneficial June rains, are pointing toward the possibility of a record high production, although a "lot could happen before the crop is harvested."

 Lurking around the corner are such dangers as hot dry days in the end of the summer, possible damage from wilt or other cotton pests or diseases, possible late hailstorms or heavy rains and flooding damage, or a freak early freeze.

 All of these things are items that farmers think about as they work to keep their cotton crop growing in a healthy manner.
 Cotton is squaring well and blooms are expected to begin showing in some fields within a few days or by next week.

THE SAVINGS SPECIALISTS

Farmers reminded

Howard County farmers were reminded that they need to report 1977 acreages of cotton, wheat, corn, grain sorghum and barley to the county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office by July 15.
 The 1978 farm program legislation now under consideration in Congress provides that if a set-aside is necessary next year, the amount to be set aside may be based on a percentage of the acreage planted for harvest in 1977.
 Fall seeded crop acreage must be reported prior to harvesting if possible. Farmers who have already begun or completed harvest should contact the ASCS office immediately. Crop acreages and the crop use must be reported on a field-by-field basis.
 Farmers who fail to report wheat, cotton, corn, grain sorghum and barley acreage will be considered to have no planted acreage and may be ineligible to participate in 1978 program benefits.

She borrowed money for banker

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A Mexican woman says she borrowed almost $40,000 from the now-defunct Citizens State Bank of Carrizo Springs and gave most of the proceeds to her cousin, Enrique Salinas, who was principal owner of the bank.

Blanca Alicia de Aldaco gave the testimony in a sworn deposition taken Wednesday at the federal courthouse here.

She said she never saw any of the money she signed notes for, although at least $16,000 of the total supposedly went to pay for a house she purchased in Eagle Pass.

Mrs. Aldaco is among 13 persons indicted last month for alleged banking law violations at the Citizens State, which was closed in June 1976 by the state banking commissioner. Salinas is also charged in the case.

Mrs. Aldaco, in about four hours of testimony, detailed three loans she received from the bank.

Mrs. Aldaco related the following story in her testimony:

She moved to Eagle Pass from Mexico in 1975 because of marital problems. Salinas helped her find a home and arranged financing through the Citizens State Bank where he was a stockholder.

She signed a blank promissory note from the bank, which later was filled in for $9,400. But she said she never received the money and that the signature on the back of a $9,400 cashiers check made to her was a forgery.

In November 1975 she signed another blank promissory note, also brought to her by Salinas. The note was later made for

Jaycees election

SEATTLE (AP) — Delegates to the National Jaycees Convention elected 11 national vice presidents Wednesday to serve on the U.S. Jaycees executive committee for 1977-78.

They are: Sam D. Willits, Redfield, S.D.; Robert J. Blackwell, Monticello, Ind.; Bernie P. Dolan, Rugby, N.D.; Dock C. Hanks, Corsicana, Tex.; Kenneth R. Hawkins Jr., Merrimack, N.H.; and Jack G. Hayes, Edmond, Okla.

Solar energy grant made

HOUSTON (AP) — A joint $644,100 grant for solar energy research and development has been awarded the University of Houston and Texas Tech University.

The Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) made the announcement of the grant Wednesday and said the UH-Tech consortium, called the Energy Foundation of Texas, Inc., will study ways to collect, store and transmit energy from the sun.

UH officials said part of the work will be to perfect the UH Solar Energy Laboratory's solar tower central receiving system, an array of mirrors on the ground that track the sun, reflecting light to a collector atop a tower.

A 1.5 megawatt test system with a 200-foot tower and 300 tracking modules, each with 25 four-foot square mirrors has been built in Albuquerque, N. M., said Dr. Alvin F. Hildebrandt, director of the UH program.

He said a 10 megawatt pilot plant is to be built in Barstow, Calif. It will feature a 1,000-foot tower and thousands of mirrors. It is scheduled to be completed in 1980.

$40,000. She said she received a $40,000 cashiers check from the bank and endorsed it to buy two new cashiers checks — one for $16,000 to pay for her house and the other for $24,000 to Salinas' Bensal Corp.

In March 1976, Salinas came to her with a cashiers check made to her for $88,000. She and Salinas took the check to a bank in Eagle Pass where Mrs. Aldaco opened a checking account and deposited the $88,000.

She then withdrew $87,500 in a cashiers check and took it with Salinas across the border to Piedras Negras to a Mexican bank.

The day after cashing the check, she said Salinas brought her a promissory note to repay the $88,000 to the Citizens State Bank and she signed it.

Mrs. Aldaco, who has been in the Bexar County Jail here in lieu of bonds totaling $100,000 since her arrest, said she has never repaid any of the loans.

She said she allowed Salinas to handle her finances because "he was a banker and I trusted him."

The indictment against Mrs. Aldaco alleges she misapplied bank funds by giving a portion of the loan proceeds to Salinas.

Trial of those charged in the case is scheduled to begin here July 11 in federal court.

Women's groups laud rape ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women's groups are praising the Supreme Court's decision that knocked down the death penalty in rape cases, saying such strong punishment made it difficult to win convictions. Women's groups have organized rape crisis centers, worked to improve police treatment of rape victims and campaigned for changes in laws that required a rape victim to produce witnesses who heard her scream or saw her resist. But for the most part they have worked to decrease rather than increase the penalties for rape crimes. Capital punishment in rape cases has been denounced as an actual barrier to enforcement of rape laws. Marjorie Smith, an attorney with the Women's Rights Project of the American Civil Liberties Union, said the "whole idea of the death penalty for rape has been an outgrowth of Southern concern about rape by black men of white women. It has been completely wrong. The goal of the women's movement has been to get convictions when rape has been committed but not to exact overly severe penalties or even to have them on the books," she said. A Chicago-based group, Women Against Rape, said after Wednesday's ruling: "We never advocated more severe penalties. Judges are reluctant to put rapists away for long terms for what judges think are relatively minor acts. In Illinois, rape carries a 4-to-20-year sentence and this is hard to convict on." Eleanor Small, president of the National Organization for Women, said only one in 10 rapists is apprehended and of those, only one in 10 is convicted. "One reason for those appalling statistics is that the penalties are seen as too severe," she said. "NOW thinks rape is a serious and heinous crime and should be severely punished — but the fact is that the judges and juries aren't convicting." She said less severe penalties may bring more convictions. The case before the court involved Ehrlich Anthony Coker, 27, a white man who was convicted of the 1974 rape of a 16-year-old Waycross, Ga., housewife. He raped her after escaping the same night from a state prison where he was serving a life term for rape, kidnapping and murder.

Trim death penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's action striking down the death penalty for persons convicted of rape may signal the court's intention to outlaw capital punishment for any crime but murder. Wednesday's decision marked the first time the court has outlawed the death penalty for a specific crime. As a result, Ehrlich Anthony Coker, a rapist, kidnaper and murderer, will not die in Georgia's electric chair. Instead, he faces a probable life sentence with the possibility of parole in seven years.

The high court voted 7-2 to spare Coker's life, with a majority of six justices ruling that rape may never be punished by death. The decision came as the justices ended their court year. They will not return to the bench until Oct. 3.

In an opinion written by Justice Byron White, the court said, "Rape is without doubt deserving of serious punishment, but in terms of moral depravity and of the injury to the persons and to the public, it does not compare with murder, which does involve the unjustified taking of human life."

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who along with Justice William H. Rehnquist, said the states should be free to decide for themselves whether the death penalty for rape is cruel and unusual punishment, saw a "clear implication" in the majority's reasoning that only convicted murderers may be executed in the future.

He said the decision "casts serious doubt" on whether any crime in which a life is not taken — treason, espionage, kidnapping, terrorism, hijacking — could be punished by death.

Justices Potter Stewart, Harry A. Blackmun and John Paul Stevens joined White. All were members of the court's 7-2 majority last July when the death penalty was restored as a valid punishment for murder. Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall, who oppose capital punishment for any crime, concurred.

While Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. voted to overturn Coker's sentence, he said some rapes might be so brutal and heinous that they deserve the death penalty.

Civil liberties and women's rights groups lauded the court's ruling.

Eleanor Small, president of the National Organization for Women, said the ban on the death penalty for rape should increase the number of rape convictions.

Lawyer David E. Kendall, who argued Coker's case before the justices, said the decision "brings to a close one of the most shameful and racist chapters of this country's criminal justice system."

Ban stop killed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted Wednesday to kill a House-passed measure that would prohibit any government ban on saccharin use for 15 months.

But the Senate is expected to act later this summer on a bill to impose an even longer suspension of the proposed saccharin ban than the 15 months the House had voted.

The Senate action came on the $14 billion money bill for the Agriculture Department, Food and Drug Administration and other agencies. The measure eventually passed on a voice vote.

Proposals by Sens. William Tower, R-Tex., and William Scott, R-Va., to adopt the 15-month delay approved by the House were withdrawn after lengthy arguments and promises by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to tie up the measure with debate for at least two days.

The money bill now goes back to a House-Senate conference to resolve the saccharinban prohibition and dozens of other differences.

Kennedy chairs the Senate health subcommittee which is working on his proposal to delay the FDA's proposed saccharin ban for 18 months, pending further studies.

Kennedy's bill would allow the FDA to take tainted batches of saccharin off the market during the delay period and allow the agency to require warning labels on the product.

Forget Rose Bowl; Attend Blessed Event

DEAR ABBY: I am expecting a baby, and Jan. 1 is my due date. When I told my husband, he said, "Gee, that's tough because I've already ordered tickets for the Rose Bowl game." (He and three of his buddies always go to the game.)

I told him he shouldn't plan on going next year, but he says he'll make plans to go, and if I'm not in labor when it's time for him to leave for the game, he'll go. If I am, he'll cancel his plans and sell his ticket.

Abby, when I had our first baby, my water broke and the baby was born within a few hours.

I want my husband with me through everything. Don't you think being with me should be more important to him than that football game?

My mother lives nearby and she could take me to the hospital, but I still want my husband there. What do you think?

MARRIED TO A FINK

DEAR MARRIED: The Rose Bowl game is an annual event. Having a baby (I presume) is not. Also, the game will be televised, so he could "see" it and be with you, too. I say the birth of the baby takes precedence over the Rose Bowl game. And if your husband complains, kick him in the end zone.

DEAR ABBY: I am a bachelor who has been corresponding with a lonely widow for several months. It all started when I answered a personal ad she placed in a San Francisco newspaper.

We have never met, but we've talked on the phone several times. I am going to San Francisco to meet her soon.

My question: How should I greet her when we meet for the first time at the airport? Should I follow my feelings and kiss her on the lips? Or would a handshake be more proper?

COLOR IT YOUR WAY

There is no such thing as a "bad" color in home decorating. The best rule to use in picking a color scheme is simple: choose what you like. Remember, you're the one who will be living with that color scheme.

It used to be said that you should use only colors that are close to each other on a standard color "wheel," such as yellow and green. Or complementary colors that stand opposite each other on a color wheel, such as yellow and blue.

But many designers will break that rule, and you can, too. Just use a combination of colors that look good together to your eye. We would suggest that you limit your choice to two or three basic colors, plus neutrals, in a room. More than that will begin to lose any sense of unity in the overall scheme.

Looking for draperies to match a color or a plan you have in mind? You'll find scores of patterns, textures, sheers and solids in every color range in our fabric display. Or call us to see samples in your home or office. Call today!

(AP WIREPHOTO) INSURANCE COMMISSIONER INDICTED — State Insurance Commissioner Joe Hawkins, right, answers a question from a reporter as he stands with Travis County Sheriff Raymond Frank, left back ground, following Hawkins' indictment by a grand jury Wednesday. In its formal accusation, the grand jury said Hawkins committed perjury when he testified he never used the airplane maintained by the troubled Great Commonwealth Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, except for official business purposes.

Resignation accepted

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — E.J. Vorhis has become the state insurance commissioner in the wake of the resignation of Joe Hawkins, who was indicted by a Travis County grand jury on aggravated perjury charges.

State Insurance Board chairman Joe Christie said the board accepted Hawkins' resignation Wednesday afternoon, shortly after the holdover grand jury returned the sealed indictment.

In a prepared statement, Christie said Hawkins appeared before the board and tendered his resignation, which was "effective immediately."

Christie said Vorhis, the board's chief examiner, will serve as commissioner through Aug. 31. He praised Vorhis as a man of "unquestioned integrity who has the respect and trust of the board, his fellow employees and insurance regulators throughout the country." The indictment against Hawkins alleges he rode on an insurance company airplane for non-business purposes on May 29 and May 31, 1976, but that he testified that he had not done so.

The indictment says the airplane, owned by Great Commonwealth Life Insurance Co. or its parent, American Commonwealth Financial Corp., was not used on either trip for purposes related to either company.

The May 29 flight was from Baton Rouge, La., to Many, La., and was a fishing trip, the indictment says, while the May 31 trip was from Shreveport, La., to Austin, Tex.

More than a dozen witnesses, most of them working under Hawkins, testified before the jury. Hawkins also testified.

The jury said it had considerable material to turn over to the next grand jury and also other material to give to the House committee. "Also, it is anticipated that civil action by the attorney general of Texas will result in part from this investigation," the grand jury said.

Tuesday, State District Judge Tom Blackwell approved an offer by Dist. Atty. Ronnie Earle to grant immunity to Roger Le-Blanc of Baton Rouge, owner of Great Commonwealth Life Insurance Co. of Dallas.

It was not known whether Le-Blanc already had cooperated with the holdover grand jury or if he will cooperate with the next regular grand jury.

The investigation is believed to have focused on how rigidly the insurance department made Great Commonwealth adhere to its regulations.

Waggoner Carr's sin

DALLAS (AP) — Former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr says there was a Texas side to the Nixon-Watergate scandal that never came out because of the national focus on the furor in Washington.

It's that part that Carr says he tells in his recently published book, "Waggoner Carr—Not Guilty."

"The Watergate that we knew is from the national standpoint, what happened in Washington, from the nerve centers up there," said Carr during a visit here Wednesday.

"But the Texas Watergate was part of the Nixon plan for re-election that never got published because it took such a backseat to the break-in and subsequent national events."

The 58-year-old attorney contends in his book that criminal charges leveled against him in 1971 were part of a Republican plot in Washington to discredit Democratic leaders in several states.

"It seemed in 1971 that my biggest sin was being a past leader in the Democratic Party of Texas," he said. Citing similar officials in several other states who were supposedly Republican targets, Carr said, "In each case, the states had gone for Sen. Hubert Humphrey during Nixon's successful campaign for the presidency in 1968."

In his own case, Carr spent 39 months fighting criminal and civil actions stemming from a series of fraud allegations by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

They became the now-famous Sharpstown scandal. "They (the Nixon Administration) had all the power."

Hospital ordered to pay $2 million

HOUSTON (AP) — A hospital and its parent companies has been ordered by a state judge to pay $2 million in damages to the family of a woman who died in the hospital three years ago.

State District Court Judge Paul Pressler ordered the sum paid Wednesday to the woman's husband, Pasadena, Tex., electrician Daniel Lord, 30, and their two children.

The $2 million sum was $5 million less than the amount awarded by a jury last June.

A suit alleged that Carolyn Ann Lord, 27, was asphyxiated when she was unknowingly given nitrous oxide gas instead of oxygen in the delivery room of Southmore Medical Center following child birth. The incident occurred on the first day of operation of the hospital.

The jury found Southmore Medical Center and its parent companies, American Mediacorp Inc., Mediacorp Management Inc., and American Mediacorp Development Co. were liable.

The suit had asked for only $2 million and Pressler said Texas law provides that a defendant should not be exposed to more risk than that for which he is being sued.

Armed robbery suspects nabbed

PULASKI, Va. (AP) — Pulaski County sheriff's deputies say they are detaining two men, one from San Antonio, Tex., wanted in Van Buren County, Ark., in connection with an armed robbery.

Deputies identified the two as William D. Smith, 74, a native of Washington state, and M. T. Cantu, 27, of San Antonio, Tex.

They were arrested near Claytor Lake Tuesday after trying to buy $650 worth of camping gear with a check on a Colorado bank that deputies said no longer exists.

Deputies said Smith is wanted in Arkansas on charges of aggravated assault and armed robbery and that Cantu matches the description of "an Indian accomplice possibly wearing a blond wig."

Both were arrested without incident after the manager of Kamper Korral on Virginia 660 called the sheriff's office to report his suspicions about the check. Smith told investigators the check was his pay for delivering two trucks to Oklahoma. But deputies said the bank on which the check was written had gone out of business and the man who supposedly wrote the check could not be found.

Cantu was charged with carrying a concealed weapon when deputies found a small derringer when they searched him.

SHOPPING — Rodney and Linda Pearson give a 1977 model Honda Accord the once over in a showroom on Detroit's northside Wednesday afternoon. This Honda Accord had already been sold, and normal waiting time delivery is three months to a year due to the demand and limited availability. The car has become the hottest foreign car to hit the U.S. market in two decades.

Waiting for Accord

DETROIT (AP) — You may have to wait up to a year for delivery of Honda's Accord, the hottest foreign car to hit the U.S. market in two decades, and then you may pay $400 over list price for the privilege of waiting.

As a result, the Japanese car, which this month celebrates its first birthday here, has been the subject of charges that dealers are exploiting its popularity through price gouging.

Industry observers say they haven't seen anything like it since the 1950s, when the Volkswagen Beetle was short in supply and long in demand.

The national sales manager for American Honda Motor Co., the U.S. distributor, says he can't remember such eager buyers since the end of World War II. "I'd say there's a four-to-six-month wait on the average," said Cliff Schmillen.

A salesman at a suburban Detroit Buick dealership which also sells the Accord said he has received phone calls from would-be buyers in California, where they said the wait is up to a year. Honda has doubled last year's monthly import total of 2,500 Accords. Company officials say they can't raise shipments again until 1978, and then they expect only a 20 per cent boost.

Why is the car so popular? The consensus is that the Accord is a good buy for the money. It also has received rave reviews from car and consumer magazines.

The Accord was introduced last year with a manufacturer's suggested retail price of $3,995. The "base" price included such options as a rear window wiper-washer and defroster, side window defroster, five-speed transmission, tachometer, electric clock, coin box and AM-FM radio. Such amenities are added-cost options on American cars.

The price has gone up to $4,265 since then, and it will go up again to $4,465 as of July 15, because of a strengthening of the Japanese yen relative to the dollar.

Job fair in Harlingen

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' next job matching fair will be held July 23 in Harlingen, Gov. Dolph Briscoe's office announced today.

More than 70 companies from throughout the Rio Grande Valley and elsewhere in Texas listed more than 400 jobs that will be offered the unemployed on July 23, the announcement said.

Jobs offered included bookkeepers, secretaries, nurses, police officers, welders, bank tellers, production managers, purchasers, physical therapists and sales persons.

The job matching fair, to be held at the Harlingen Tourist Center, is sponsored by the Texas First program in the governor's office as a means of bringing job seekers and employers together.

Other fairs have been held previously in other parts of the state.

Juror No. 2 sought for Davis death trial

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys were going after juror No. 2 this morning in the capital murder trial of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis.

It took prosecutors and defense lawyers only two days and 11 prospective jurors before both sides agreed Wednesday to seat a local department store clerk.

Marlyn Haessley, 32, was sworn in and escorted to her home where she picked up her personal effects. She was taken to an Amarillo motel where the jury will be quartered during the trial.

State District Court Judge George Dowlen ordered the jury sequestered to prevent them from reading news accounts of the case.

Davis, 43, is charged with the Aug. 2, 1976 shooting death of his stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, 12. He is also charged with capital murder in the shooting death of his estranged wife's boyfriend, Stan Farr, 30, and two counts of attempted murder.

CHRIS CONCENTRATES — Defending Champion Chris Evert of the United States sits in a moment of concentration on the Centre Court here Wednesday, during a break in her women's singles semifinal match against Britain's Virginia Wade. Evert unexpectedly bowed out of the competition after being beaten 6-2, 4-6, 6-1 by Wade, who will meet Betty Stove of the Netherlands in the final. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Evert is human . . .

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — There she was on the center court of Wimbledon, exposed to the world.
 Chris Evert is human, after all. Chris Evert can cry.
 Cut a vein and real blood seeps out. Not ice water. Look beneath those lean arms swinging the racket with such relentless precision, and what do you find? Not fibers of steel, as we've come to suspect, but ordinary sinews that can be fragile and refuse to respond to a person's will.
 Lay open the pretty head that lies beneath that bouncing, shoulder-length blonde hair. Is that a computer in there with intricate wires, transistors and flashing lights? No, sir, it's a human brain just like yours and mine.
 Search the soul and you discover no machine device immune to pressure, frustration and dismay.
 It has taken years to prove it, but Chris Evert, little Miss Icicle, has shown that she, like all God's creatures, is subject to heartache and pain.
 The eyes of the 22-year-old reigning monarch of ladies' tennis were red and damp when she greeted the press after an unbelievable 6-2, 4-6, 6-1 loss to Britain's Virginia Wade Wednesday in Wimbledon's semifinals.
 "I could not reach deep inside of myself and pull out what I needed to win the match," she explained.
 It wasn't vintage Evert that bowed to Miss Wade. This was not the coldly methodical automaton that burst upon the open scene at age 18 in 1972 and proceeded to take over full dominance of the sport, winning Wimbledon in 1974 and 1976 and the U.S. Open at Forest Hills in 1975 and 1976.
 She committed a total of 25 unforced errors, mostly on her forehand. She served six double faults. She was obviously nervous and her usual confidence fell in ragged tatters.
 "I just played a bad match," she acknowledged unflinchingly. "I couldn't get psyched up. I think Virginia wanted to win worse than I did."
 Chrissy looked as if she wanted to burst into tears any moment, so the press mercifully excused her.
 It was the first time in her entire career — both on and off the court — that anyone had seen her composure waver.
 Before Chrissy took the court against Miss Wade, observers were humming a funeral chant for women's tennis.
 "It's divided into two parts," one said. "Chris Evert and everybody else. No one else is close."
 "How much longer are people going to pay to watch Chris beat Ginny Wade for the 23rd time?" another asked.
 Chris' over-all record against Virginia was 22-5. Only Billie Jean King is close in career statistics, trailing Chris 7-10, but Billie Jean got only three games in Monday's match.
 "Chris' only rival is Chris herself," says Jerry Diamond, director of the Women's Tennis Association. "She needs constant new challenges. When she doesn't get them, her game deteriorates."
 "Without challenges," agrees Chris, "I lack motivation. If I am not tough mentally, people beat me."

. . . Queen? Dunno.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — "The Queen doesn't care too much for tennis," Britain's Virginia Wade said of Queen Elizabeth II. "Maybe we can make her like it."
 Miss Wade, who impressed Chris Evert, the world's top-ranked player from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in the women's semifinals of the centenary Wimbledon tournament, will get her chance to convince the Queen in Friday's final, against towering Betty Stove of The Netherlands. The Queen is scheduled to be among the spectators for the first time since her coronation 25 years ago.
 The 31-year-old Miss Wade, the green-eyed vicar's daughter, ended 14 years of frustration in the world's most prestigious tournament, reaching the final for the first time with a stunning 6-2, 4-6, 6-1 victory Wednesday over Miss Evert, the defending champion and the tournament favorite.
 The 6-foot-1 Miss Stove thwarted hopes of an all-British final for the first time in 16 years, beating Sue Barker 6-4, 2-6, 6-4 in the other semifinal.
 The men's semifinals, featuring three Americans, were scheduled today. Jimmy Connors, the No. 1 seed from Belleville, Ill., played John McEnroe, the unheralded and unseeded 18-year-old from Douglaston, N.Y., the first qualifier ever to reach the semifinals, and rapidly rising Vitas Gerulaitis from Howard Beach, N.Y. faced defending champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden.
 The winners meet Saturday for the coveted title. Other finals Saturday will be the men's, women's and mixed doubles.
 Miss Wade, playing with a new attitude, provided the most excitement so far for the British fans. To the ecstasy of a packed center court crowd, she thwarted the bid of Miss Evert to capture her second straight Wimbledon title and her third in four years in one of the best center-court duels at Wimbledon in several years.
 Displaying composure, confidence and consistency — trademarks that previously had been missing from her game in big matches — Miss Wade outdueled the usually icy cool Miss Evert in the long baseline-to-baseline exchanges and forced Chris into numerous forehand errors.
 "I have never played so well," said the delighted Miss Wade, seeking to become only the third Britisher to win the women's championship at Wimbledon in 40 years. The others were Angela Mortimer in 1961 and Ann Haydon Jones in 1969.

Connors advances

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Jimmy Connors reached the final of the men's singles at the Wimbledon tennis championships, downing the tournament's most surprising youngster, John McEnroe, 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 today.

Offer denied
CLEVELAND (AP) — Ted Bonda, president of the Cleveland Indians, has denied published reports that an unidentified group has offered $8 million for the financially strapped American League baseball team.
 "I've had no bona fide offers to buy the Indians since I started (as president) three years ago," Bonda said Wednesday night.

'The Bird' sings his song, Red Sox hum along

By the Associated Press
 The last thing the Boston Red Sox needed Wednesday night was to face Mark "The Bird" Fidrych.
 The Red Sox and Fidrych continued going in opposite directions last night, Boston losing its sixth straight game while Fidrych won his sixth in a row with a 7-2 conquest of the Red Sox.
 "When Fidrych puts on a uniform, he has fun," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer, whose team's lead in the AL East has dwindled to one game over the New York Yankees. "He puts on a uniform to have fun."
 Fidrych and 51,745 fans at Tiger Stadium had all the fun as Jason Thompson drove in three runs with three hits, including his 15th homer of the season, a wallop into the third deck in right field.

It was the Tigers' third consecutive triumph over the Red Sox and their fourth victory in a row, the team's longest winning streak of the year.
 In other American League contests, California shut out Kansas City 7-0 behind Nolan Ryan, Milwaukee blanked Minnesota 1-0, Cleveland beat Baltimore 11-8 in the opener before losing 5-3 in the nightcap of a doubleheader, Seattle topped Chicago 3-1 and Texas beat Oakland 4-0 in the opener before dropping the doubleheader's second game, 4-1.

Angels 7, Royals 0
 Ryan, 10-7, pitched a five-hitter and fanned 12 to reach the 200-strikeout mark for the season. It was Ryan's 13th complete game in 19 starts.
 Rookie Thad Bosley was the hitting star for the Angels in his first major league game, collecting a triple, single three runs batted in.
 Brewers 1, Twins 0
 Rookie Larry Sorensen, 2-1, gave up just six hits to the high-powered Twins, although he needed relief help from Bob McClure and Bill Castro in the ninth.
 The only batter to solve Sorensen was Rod Carew, who went 2-for-2 to raise his batting average to .411.

Inside scoops
 Wanna find out the inside scoop on the Little League playoffs, or just about any other sporting event in town? Ask "Photo Lab" Danny Valdes.
 The Herald's Chief Photographer knows his baseball. You can redeem that in green stamps. Comes from his Cuban background and years of gut-driven play. At least, this is what Danny tells me.
 Actually, Valdes hears, sees and captures a lot that most people fail to. He is so many places so often he would just have to.
 I asked him why he thought three of the four teams that made the Little League semi-finals were from the Texas League.
 Regardless of what you think, it's not the fact that a lot of the players are cousins of Frankie Rubio, young men who are going to be the future mound-kings for the Steers.
 "I'll tell you why," Valdes answered me. "The only reason they are winning like that is because they hustle . . . they hustle like you wouldn't believe."
 Danny wasn't saying that none of the other teams hustled. He was just saying that those three teams hustled "like you wouldn't believe."

 Linvel Mosby, Pecos' super-hurler, has signed a contract with the Texas Rangers and is in Sarasota, Fla. with the Rangers Rookie League team.
 Pecos Coach Steve Peters announced that the talented youngster signed the pact last Saturday night, after the All-Star game.
 Mosby, who was injured early in the season, came back to lead the Pecos Eagles to the District 2-AAA championships. Pecos advanced to the Class AAA finals before losing to Uvalde. Mosby compiled an 11-1 record last season, including three no-hitters and one perfect game.
 Mosby, a right-hander, was drafted by the Rangers earlier this month. Mosby was also an all-West Texas wide receiver for the Eagles' football team and led all District 2-AAA scorers in basketball.

Muny Flag tourney set for July 4th

Comanche Trail Golf Pro Bobby Howell announced today that a "Fourth of July Flag Tournament" will be held Monday at the Municipal Golf Course.
 The tourney will be individual play, full handicap, and has an unusual kick to it.
 Each player will be given a small flag and when the participant uses his allotment of strokes (course par is 71, and a person with a 20 handicap would have 91 strokes), he or she places the flag in the ground at the exact spot the ball lies.
 Those who finish the 18 holes ahead of their handicap will play hole one, two, etc. until the strokes are completed.
 Entry fee is $4 per person, and gift certificates will be awarded for place finishers. Tee-off is anytime Monday.
 "There should be flags all over the course by the end of the day," said Howell.

Networks beefing up sports

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC, in an attempt to beef up its winter programming, is getting into the sports anthology business. Next January the network will launch a Sunday sports variety show similar to ABC's Wide World of Sports and CBS' Sports Spectacular. The show, which doesn't have a title yet, will run between one and two hours and will include a healthy portion of Olympic-type events which, hopefully, will whet American appetites for the 1980 Summer Games in Moscow. ABC's Wide World was the first of these catch-all sports shows. Wide World began in 1961 and is still the most successful regular sports series on television. CBS followed with Sports Spec-

Rangers split A's, Perry's 47th S-O

OAKLAND (AP) — The Texas Rangers did it with experience and the Oakland A's used youth as the teams split a doubleheader at the Coliseum Wednesday night. Gaylord Perry, a 38-year-old veteran, pitched a six-hitter to blank the A's 4-0 in the opener. Rookie Rick Langford tossed a seven-hitter to give Oakland a 4-1 victory in the nightcap. "I'll keep pitching as long as I can help my team," Perry said. "Right now, I feel like I could pitch five or six more years." Perry pitched the 47th shutout of his major league career which dates back to 1961. His record this season is 7-6 and it includes three shutouts. The Rangers got the only run they needed in the first inning off losing pitcher Mike Norris. Toby Harrah led off with a double and scored on a single by Ken Henderson. Juan Beniquez hit a homerun in the second inning and then scored another run after drawing a walk to open the seventh. Oakland had only two runners as far as third base in the game and none after the third inning. Langford almost matched Perry's performance in the second game. In evening his record at 6-6 for the season, he struck out three and did not walk a batter. "It was a typical game for me when I'm pitching well," Langford said. "I don't strike out many batters and I don't walk any." The A's got 11 hits off losing pitcher Dock Ellis, who played for them earlier this season. A two-base hit by Willie Crawford broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning. Oakland scored two unearned runs later in the game. Manager Billy Hunter of the Rangers was pleased with Perry's performance in the opener. "He was super. He seems to get better with age," Hunter said. The first-game victory was special for Hunter because it was his first since taking over as manager of the Rangers Monday night.

Padre's Ivie league decks Astros, 7-4

HOUSTON (AP) — San Diego's Mike Ivie took care of two slumps in one night. After going hitless in his last 24 at bats, Ivie lashed three hits and drove in three runs as the Padres decked the Houston Astros 7-4 Wednesday night and ended an eight-game San Diego losing streak. "My arms had been tired and I was bothered with a cold for a few days," Ivie said of his hitting woes. "I had even tried using lighter bats. Something had to give because I know I'm a better hitter than my .277 average indicates." Ivie, Dave Winfield and George Hendrick each collected first inning singles off Houston starter and loser Dan Larson, 0-3, to give the Padres a 1-0 lead. Ivie singled home another run in the third and capped a five-run explosion in the sixth inning with a two-run single as San Diego ended a six-game road trip. A two-run triple by Dave Roberts and Houston catcher Joe Ferguson's throwing error tallied the other three Padres runs in the sixth. Cesar Cedeno fielder's choice scored a first inning run off Padres starter John D'Acquisto. A third inning throwing error by Roberts, a fifth inning RBI single by Ferguson and Jose Cruz' run scoring single in the seventh ended the scoring. Dave Freisleben hurled the fifth inning in relief and picked up his first victory of the season against five losses. Dan Spilner allowed only one run over the final four innings as he picked up his third save of the season.

Webb Panthers win championship

The Webb Credit Union Panthers won the Ladies Softball City Championship with an unblemished 12-0 record. The Panthers easily outscored their opposition by a lopsided margin of 15-3 runs per game average. Facing the Panther attack were eight players who hit for a season average of .500 or better. Gaia Miller was the big stick with a .851 batting average, while Dale Johnson provided the power. Johnson belted eight round-trippers, and posted a .631 reading. Other hot lumber belonged to Gussie Foreman (.600), Debbi Cross (.528), Patty Harpel (.585), Keran Schexnayder (.529), Jan Harrison (.500) and Debbie Ponder (.500). The Panthers faced some of the best teams in We- Texas at the San Angelo Ladies Invitational Tournament June 18-19, and came away with third place. Dale Johnson was selected for the All-tournament team, and Schexnayder powered one over the fence during that tourney. The Panthers will be disbanding due to the Webb closure. They ride off into the sunset after compiling a very successful record, inning six out of seven championships. The team has only lost one game in the last three years of league play. Jan Harrison was the Panthers pitcher. She finishes her Big Spring career with a 27-1 record. Finishing behind the Panthers this year in the city were 2. State National Bank Angels, 3. V.A. Bubble Ups, 4. Couden Babes, 5. Directory Dolls, 6. City Bombers, and 7. Wall's Wildcats.

B-1 bargaining power

BY OMAR BURLESQ, M.C.
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In the days immediately ahead, we will know whether or not we are going to have the B-1 Bomber as a third leg of the three most important parts of national defense.

When President Carter was a candidate, he indicated in a speech in Oklahoma that he was for the new bomber to replace our aged B-52's. On another occasion, he indicated to a group to whom he was speaking that the B-1 Bomber should not be funded.

More recently, as president and commander-in-chief, he has indicated he favors putting the B-1 into production and will have to make a decision right away.

Today's bombers are delivery vehicles for about one-half our nuclear force. The B-52 fleet is a quarter of a century old and has been out of production for years. Younger men in the Air Force are not as old as the planes they are flying.

The B-52, designed in 1948, is high altitude operational. The Russians developed an anti-aircraft missile capable of shooting them down from their high level of flight. If the B-52's were not outmoded otherwise, it was proved in 1960 that, if the Soviets could shoot down our U-2 plane, they certainly could reach our B-52. This simply means that our best bomber aircraft has greatly declined in its usefulness.

The Soviet Union is building a modern bomber known as the "Backfire." They are rapidly increasing the number and accuracy of its missile warheads, making them capable of launching a disarming strike against our land base forces, including our B-52's on the ground.

The B-1 aircraft can be dispersed in a number of our airfields, other than strategic bases. It has a remarkable lifting capability, which means it can get off the ground in a hurry. It is able to fly at very low levels, avoiding detection by radar. It is twice as fast and only two-thirds the size of our old B-52's, but can carry twice the payload.

Some opponents to building the B-1 advocate modernizing our B-52, but it would still be a slow, vulnerable airplane.

Expensive? Of course. Some opponents of the strongest possible national defense say we can not afford a new bomber and, in fact, say we can not afford other weapons to protect this Country. We can't afford it — we can't afford a thousand and one things the Federal Government is doing if we simply look at it in dollars and cents. The other side of the coin is that we cannot afford not to have it.

If our defense capabilities are neglected — should our Country become more vulnerable to attack — then all the good things we have are not likely to be worth much. If we in this age fail to provide the best possible protection for the future, we fail in our responsibilities.

As has been said here on many occasions, there is no more certain way to maintain peace than to be prepared for the worst. Our chief adversaries in this world understand strength. We can have all the SALT talks and negotiations on disarmament there are to be had, but unless we deal from a position of strength, we will have little bargaining power.

Ridin' fence

with Marj Carpenter

On the final day of the month, I have gotten into the habit of talking about a variety of subjects. Kind of a hodgepodge. The enclosed picture of a miller is quite a large one and somebody got real excited about it and called Danny Valdes.

Danny said he thought it sounded so big on the telephone that he thought it might be going to fly away with a house or something. It was a good sized miller and like all the other insects this summer, there's a bunch of them around town.

We've had woolly worms, grasshoppers, caterpillars and millers. This must be the year of the insect.

Of the columns written in June, the one about Sugarloaf Hill caused the most comment. Some letters came in about it and many people commented out in town. Some recall that they called it Sugartop.

A Mrs. Cain recalls that they used to shoot fireworks up there and Mrs. Alfred Tidwell wrote that they have cut movies of their four children trying to scale the hill in the winter. "They did a lot of slipping, sliding and rolling."

One of the Tidwell relatives returned from California and wanted to show her child Sugar Loaf Hill only to find it chopped down.

Everywhere I went for a few days somebody commented on it. Even here at the Herald — both Bob Rogers and Danny Reagan used to climb that hill and play on it.

YEAR OF THE INSECT
... giant millers invade

An article I wrote about the woman who heads Maryland Press women fainting from the heat in Pyote back during World War II brought another interesting call.

A woman who works at Anderson Music Company here says that her brother ran the only boarding house in Pyote at that time and so undoubtedly the press woman stayed at that boarding house.

It's hard to imagine when you whip by Pyote nowadays that there was ever any kind of a boarding house there at all.

There's been a little confusion about the Fourth of July. Last year, it rained out the fireworks and arrangements were such that we couldn't get them back until the sixth or seventh or some such date.

That kind of took the enthusiasm out of the fireworks group. Through the years, the Webb Air Force Base personnel and the Chamber of Commerce have come up with fireworks ... which cost close to $3,000.

Nobody ordered any this year and the Jaycees came along about last week and began to check on fireworks. That's probably too late to line them up, or get the money.

But the Jaycees are going to sponsor games and events, out at Comanche Trail Park. They can use some more club booths. Call Neal Roberts or Morris Molpus Jr.

The Evening Lions are going to hold a noon day barbecue. And the Veterans Council will hold their parade at 8:45 a.m. Monday down to the new flagpole east of the courthouse.

Highland South neighborhood will once again hold their neighborhood parade. So there will be some Fourth of July activities here for the home folks. It may seem like a let down from all of the Bicentennial Hulabaloo, but it may be just enough to have fun without having to run in several different directions.

Anyway, here comes July — out where I'm ridin' fence, and where I'm not ridin'. July is coming regardless.

Texas Recipes

East Texas Barbecued Pecans

- 1 tablespoon Imperial Granulated Sugar
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 2 cups pecan halves
- 1 teaspoon butter or margarine

Seasoned salt

Mix Imperial Granulated Sugar and vinegar in quart jar; add pecans and shake to thoroughly coat nuts. Place in shallow baking pan and toast at 250°F, stirring frequently, until lightly browned. Add butter or margarine and seasoned salt to taste, about 1/2 teaspoon, and toss to coat nuts. Continue baking until toasted. Cool and store in tight container. Refrigeration keeps them crisp. Yield: 2 cups.

Economy version

Substitute wheat, rice or corn cereal squares for half of the pecans.

Cocktail Party Snacks

Sales tax breaks for new groups

AUSTIN — Comptroller Bob Bullock said Tuesday that a new law passed by the Legislature will broaden the definition of groups eligible for exemptions from the sales and use tax.

Bullock said new groups that could qualify for exemptions include those that are scientific or literary organizations, to conduct public safety tests or to prevent cruelty to children or animals.

In addition, Bullock reminded church and religious groups that another new law — already in effect — exempts their purchases or rentals of buses from the motor vehicle sales tax.

H.B. 2080, effective August 29 this year, provides that any group qualifying for exemption from federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code Section 501 (c) (3) may also qualify for exemption from the Texas sales and use tax, Bullock explained.

The Comptroller added, however, that the new law stipulates that every item purchased by such a group under that exemption must be related to the group's purpose and that no item purchased can be used for the personal benefit of any individual.

Bullock said Texas sales tax law already provides for exemptions for organizations created for religious, educational, charitable or eleemosynary purposes.

He urged organizations that qualify for federal income tax exemptions but have not yet qualified for Texas sales tax exemptions to apply to his Sales Tax Division by sending in a copy of their exemption under Section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Any groups not certain whether it qualifies should contact the Sales Tax Division either in writing or by calling the toll-free WATS line number, 1-800-252-5555.

The Comptroller said that G.B. 190, effective June 10, exempts the sale or rental of a motor vehicle to a church or religious society if the vehicle is designed to carry more than six people and if it is to be used primarily for transportation to and from church or religious services or meetings.

Homecoming at Knott

A total of 65 persons attended the 25th annual Knott Homecoming Saturday at Knott.

This was the largest crowd in several years. An ice cream supper was held and entertainment provided by the Johnny Shortes family band.

Mrs. Leon Riddle was named new president, replacing Joe Barnes. Claude Fryar was elected vice president replacing Gary Riddle. Mrs. Gary Riddle will serve as treasurer and Mrs. Son Ditto as secretary.

The gift for being the oldest ex-student present went to Lee Castle. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Riddle had traveled the greatest distance to attend the homecoming and the class of 1946 had the largest number of class members present.

Stanton paper wins first

The Stanton Press-Reporter was the only West Texas newspaper to place first in any division of the Texas Press Association Contest held last week in Galveston.

The paper, published by Terry Neill, won first place in general appearance and also placed third in news photographs.

Last year, the paper won General Excellence in its division of weeklies between 1,200 and 2,500 circulation.

The news photograph which won was a trailer house fire at night which was taken by Neill.

The Stanton Press-Reporter is one of several weekly newspapers which are printed by the Big Spring Herald composing and press room.

Hawaiian and Chinese foods can be found at Kimo's Palace

By CAROL HART
Preparing meals is more than a hobby for James Jodoi, owner of Kimo's Palace, a restaurant located on U.S. 80 near the Webb Air Force Base runway. Jodoi is known in this area for the Polynesian delicacies he serves his customers.

Jodoi can make a variety of recipes, but his restaurant is known for its Hawaiian and Chinese cuisine. He explained that the Hawaiian menu is derived from a variety of ethnic dishes, such as those coming from Samoa, China, Japan, Korea and Portugal. Jodoi added that Americans were not geared to the tastes of some of the dishes from Hawaii, such as raw fish.

Jodoi prepares many of his recipes with the help of a cookbook called HAWAIIAN AND PACIFIC FOODS, by Katherine Bazore. The book explains that Hawaiian luaus, which are big feasts prepared on special occasions, include many foods, such as raw fish, which are often eaten bones and all. Jodoi said he prepares meals with American tastes in mind, as few Americans enjoy raw fish, bones and all.

Jodoi explained that the word Kimo is his nickname, and means James in a dialect spoken in Hawaii. He is from Honolulu, where he was born and raised. He still has a brother and a sister in Honolulu.

Although he is a native of the islands, Jodoi began his restaurant career on the mainland. "I started in the Big Spring is as good as any place I've ever lived," Jodoi said.

Jodoi has also ventured into writing a sort of cookbook. Called "FISHERMAN'S DELIGHT, MAGIC RECIPES FOR FROZEN FISH," the booklet deals with ways to make frozen fish taste fresh. He plans to sell the book, and wants to write more when he can find the time.

Several recipes from Jodoi's recipe reference cookbook by Katherine Bazore appear here.

BEEF CHOP SUEY

1 lb. round steak
2 carrots
2 turnips
1 large onion
6 green onions (with tops)
1 c. bean sprouts
1 tsp. salt
1/2 lb. Chinese peas, if desired
1/2 c. soaked dried or canned mushrooms
3 tbsps. peanut or salad oil
1 1/3-3rd tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. soya (Soy Sauce)
1/2 tsp. finely chopped fresh or dried ginger root soaked in 2 tbsps. water
1 c. water
1 tsp. sour wine

Slice the meat into strips 2-inches by 1/2-inch by 1/8-inch. Cut the mushrooms and vegetables into strips 2-inches by 1/8-inch by 1/8-inch. Combine 2 tbsps. flour, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 tablespoon soya to form a smooth paste. Squeeze the liquid from the ginger, add to the flour mixture, and pour over the meat. Heat 1 tablespoon oil, add all the vegetables except the bean sprouts, fry slightly, then add 1-3rd cup water, and simmer for 3 minutes. Fry the meat in 2 tablespoons oil, stirring frequently. After 5 minutes, add the cooked vegetables and bean sprouts. Make a smooth paste by combining 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon soya, and 2-3rd cup water. Add this to the vegetable-meat mixture and cook for about 3 minutes or until the gravy has thickened.

One cup canned bamboo shoots may be substituted for the Chinese peas, and the bean sprouts omitted. Pork chop suey may be prepared in the same way, using 1/2 pound smoked ham and 1/2 pound lean pork. For chicken chop suey, use 3/4 pound chicken and 1/4 pound ham.

Chop suey is not a typical Chinese dish but the name means a mixture of meat and vegetables so that the combination of meat and vegetables may be varied to suit the taste. 8 servings.

CHICKEN—JAPANESE CHICKEN SUKIYAKI (TORI NO SUKIYAKI)

2 3/4 lbs. tender chicken
4 c. thinly sliced canned bamboo shoots
1/2 c. sake or sour white wine
2 tbsps. fat or salad oil
1/2 bunch watercress (1/2 pound)
3/4 c. sugar
1 1/2 c. water and liquid from mushrooms
2 1/2 c. thinly sliced canned or soaked dried mushrooms
1 1/2 c. shoyu
1 bunch green onions (with tops)

Clean the chicken and cut it into 1-inch cubes without removing the bones. Wash and cut the green onions and watercress into 2-inch lengths. Wash and soak the dried mushrooms, if they are used. Heat the fat in a heavy iron or aluminum frying pan, add 1/2 of the chicken, and fry 15 minutes. Add some liquid if necessary to keep the mixture from burning. Add 1-3rd of the sugar and 1/2 cup shoyu. Cook 3 minutes and add 1-3rd of the mushrooms and bamboo shoots. After 5 minutes, add 1-3rd of the onions, watercress, and sake. Serve hot with rice.

The watercress may be omitted. One cup canned water chestnut or 2 thinly sliced yam bean root make an excellent addition. If desired, 1 1/2 cups canned komiyaku strings may be added.

EGGS—JAPANESE SCRAMBLED EGGS (TAMAGO YAKI)

8 eggs
2 tbsps. sugar
1 1/2 tbsps. shoyu
1 tsp. butter or bacon fat

Beat the eggs, add the sugar and shoyu. Heat the fat in a frying pan, add the egg mixture, and cook over a low flame. Stir occasionally until the eggs are partially firm. Serve hot for breakfast or lunch. (1 serving, approximately 2-3rd cup, 62 grams — 125 calories.) 6 servings.

STEAMED EGG AND PORK CUSTARD (CHU YUK TSING TAN)

4 eggs
1/2 c. lean pork or leftover meat (1/4 lb.)
1 tsp. finely chopped green onion (with tops)
1 c. water
8 water chestnuts, if desired
3/4 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. soya (Soy Sauce)
2 tbsps. peanut or salad oil

Peel water chestnuts and chop them very fine. Chop the pork very fine, add salt, and fry it in the hot oil. Mix the chestnuts with the pork. Beat the eggs slightly, add water and soya, combine with the pork mixture, and pour into a Chinese serving dish or casserole and sprinkle the onions on top. Steam for 30 to 45 minutes or until the custard is firm. Keep the water in the steamer at the simmering temperature during the entire cooking period. If the custard is steamed on top of the rice, hot water should be used in preparing the custard. Serve hot for breakfast or any other meal. 6 servings.

CHICKEN—FILIPINO CHICKEN EN ADOBO (ADOBONG MANOK)

2 1/2 lb. young chicken
2 tbsps. finely chopped garlic
5 tbsps. vinegar
2 bay leaves
1 1/2 tbsps. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
Boiling water
2 tbsps. fat
1/2 c. thick coconut milk, if desired

Clean the chicken and cut it into 2-inch pieces. Combine the chicken, vinegar, and seasonings. Add enough boiling water to barely cover the chicken, cover, and simmer until the chicken is tender and the water has evaporated. Add the fat and fry the chicken until it is brown. Serve hot with or without coconut milk. See directions for Coconut Milk. Use 1/4 cup coconut liquid to 1 coconut, or 1/2 cup hot milk to 1 cup packaged coconut.

If coconut milk is not used, pork and chicken may be prepared together in this manner. One-fourth as much pork as chicken should be used. 8 servings.

EGGS—KOREAN EGG CUSTARD (KYEILAN JIKAI)

4 eggs
1/4 lb. lean beef or pork, chopped fine
6 tbsps. finely chopped green onion (with tops)
3/4 c. water
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. white sesame seed, browned and pulverized
2 tbsps. shoyu

Beat the eggs slightly, add the other ingredients, mix thoroughly, and pour into a serving dish or pan. Steam for 20 to 30 minutes until the mixture is firm. Keep the water in the steamer at the simmering temperature. The meat may be omitted. (1 serving, approximately 1-3rd cup, 55 grams — 66 calories.) 6 servings.

SHRIMP AND EGG CUSTARD (HA TSING TAN)

3 eggs
2 tbsps. finely chopped dried or canned shrimps
1 1/2 c. water
1 tsp. soya (Soy Sauce)
1/4 to 1/2 tsp. salt

Wash the dried shrimps or clean the canned ones by removing the black vein running along the back. Chop and soak the shrimps in the water for 15 to 30 minutes. Beat the eggs slightly and combine with other ingredients. Pour into a Chinese serving dish or casserole and steam for 20 to 30 minutes as directed in the recipe Steamed Egg and Pork Custard. (1 serving with dried shrimps, approximately 1-3rd cup, 49 grams — 41 calories.) 6 servings.

Tween 12 and 20 Fire and brimstone sermons turn her off

By ROBERT WALLACE, Ed.D.
Copley News Service

wanted to let off a little steam. Thanks for reading my letter.

Mamie

Dear Doctor,
I am afraid to go to church anymore. Every time I go, I feel terrible. The preacher is always telling me that I am a sinner and that if I don't change my ways, I will suffer for eternity. I always feel his sermon is directed at me.

When the services end my parents always add to the problem by staring at me and then they always ask me if I got the message.

I know I'm a good person who loves her fellowman. Why must churches always preach fear and damnation?

Dear Mamie,
I'm sure you can have a much greater influence on this intolerable situation by staying in the sorority and letting your feelings be known than by dropping out.

Dear Doctor,
Do you feel that a girl should be able to be on a boys' athletic team if she is good enough? Please answer in the newspaper.

Dora

Dear Ernestine,
Not all churches make fear and damnation as their primary contribution to the congregation. Many churches use love and charity as their foundation.

I would suggest that you have a private discussion with your minister and share with him your thoughts on his sermons. I'm sure he will be glad to know your feelings.

Dear Dora,
Boy! This is a loaded question and has many ramifications. The other side of this question is: Should boys be allowed to be on Girls' Athletic Association teams? Usually, by their sheer strength and size, boys have an advantage over girls in athletics. If schools eliminated boys' and girls' athletic teams and then selected the best athletes to participate on various teams, I'm sure the teams would consist primarily of boys.

Dear Doctor,
I have been initiated into a sorority in college, and after initiation I was stunned to find out the sorority has an unwritten rule that no blacks or persons of Jewish heritage are allowed. I joined this particular sorority because I enjoy the company of the members, but I feel like dropping out because of the racial bigotry.

While thinking it over, I

But back to the question — Yes — if a girl is good enough to compete on an "all boy" athletic team, she should be allowed to, but, because of the size and strength of boys, I do not feel boys should be allowed to participate on girls' teams.

Questions may be sent to Dr. Robert Wallace, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

Recipes for roast, rice and lo-cal pie

ROTISSERIE ROAST

Insert rotisserie rod lengthwise through center of the roast. Balance roast and tighten spit forks to fasten meat securely so that it turns only with the rod. Insert a roast meat thermometer so the bulb is resting in the thickest part but not resting in fat nor touching rotisserie rod. Cook at moderate temperature over ash-covered coals to desired degree of doneness. The meat thermometer will register 140 degrees F. for rare; 160 degrees F. for medium; 170 degrees F. for well-done. For roast weighing 4 to 6 pounds, allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound for rare; 20 to 22 for medium; 22 to 24 for well-done. For a 6 1/2 to 8-pound roast, allow 16 to 17 minutes per pound for rare; 18 to 19 for medium and 20 to 21 for well-done. When thermometer registers about 5 degrees below desired degree of doneness, remove roast from rotisserie and allow to "set" 10 to 15 minutes before carving.

LUNCHEON MEAT SPANISH RICE

Prepare chocolate and vanilla pudding mixes separately as directed on package, using nonfat or whole milk. Cool each about 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Spoon into pie shell by tablespoonful alternating fillings. Then cut through filling with a spatula in wide zigzag course; repeat in opposite direction. Chill at least 4 hours. Makes 8 servings.

1/2 c. uncooked rice
1 tbsps. fat or oil
1 small onion
1/2 green pepper
1 stalk celery
2 1/2 c. canned tomatoes
2 1/2 c. cut-up canned luncheon meat

Cook rice in fat or oil until lightly browned. Chop onion, green pepper and celery. Add to rice. Stir in tomatoes. Heat to boiling. Lower heat. Cover and cook about 25 minutes until rice is tender. Add meat to rice and heat until meat is hot.

PUMPKIN PIE

1 envelope (4-serving size) D-Zerta Low Calorie vanilla pudding
1 1/2 c. nonfat or whole milk
1 c. canned pumpkin
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1/8 tsp. ginger
Non-caloric sweetener to equal tsp. sugar
1 baked 8-inch Lower-Calorie Pie Crust, cooled without added salt

Place pudding mix in saucepan. Gradually add milk; cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat. Add pumpkin, the spices, and sweetener; mix well. Pour into pie crust. Chill until firm — about 3 hours. Garnish with prepared low calorie whipped topping, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

1 envelope (4-serving size) D-Zerta low calorie chocolate pudding
1 envelope (4-serving size) D-Zerta low calorie vanilla pudding
1 baked 9-inch Lower-Calorie Pie Crust, cooled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeons removed a small skin cancer from the outside of President Lyndon B. Johnson's left ankle almost four years after he took office, a Navy spokesman said Wednesday.

The surgery was not announced at the time.

"There was never a recurrence," the spokesman, Cmdr. Thomas Coldwell, said of the cancer.

"From 1965 through December 1969, some 30 to 40 lesions were removed from the President. All were benign, except for the one episode in October 1967."

Coldwell said he had received authorization from Johnson's widow, Lady Bird, to make the surgery public. Mrs. Johnson earlier had denied reports that Johnson had a skin cancer on his hand.

Coldwell said the surgery on the ankle was performed in the President's private quarters at the White House.

Inquiries into Johnson's skin condition were prompted by a story in the current issue of Reader's Digest in which Dr. Edmund Klein, a dermatologist and cancer researcher in New York, says Johnson had skin cancer.

However, Coldwell said the lesion Dr. Klein refers to in the story was diagnosed as benign. It was removed on Jan. 7, 1967, from the middle finger of Johnson's right hand, the Navy spokesman said, after Dr. Klein was consulted about treating it with a new ointment.

Mrs. Johnson had asked about the possibility of using the ointment, Coldwell said.

"After consultation with Dr. Klein on Jan. 5 or 6," Coldwell said, "it was concluded that while the ointment, 5FU, was a good alternative, the treatment would have required twice-daily application for 14 days and therefore was not preferable to the one-time surgical procedure that was eventually used."

Dr. William M. Narva, chief of dermatology service at the National Naval Medical Center in nearby Bethesda, Md., performed the surgery that removed the finger lesion, Coldwell said. He said that operation, too, was performed in the President's quarters at the White House.

"On Oct. 16, 1967, ten months after the treatment for which Dr. Klein was consulted, Dr. Narva observed on the lateral aspect (outside) of the ankle of the President's left foot a small ulcerated lesion," Coldwell said.

"A biopsy was taken and the preoperative impression was basal cell epithelioma," Coldwell said. Basal cell epithelioma is a common type of skin cancer that rarely

"Microscopic examination the next day confirmed the clinical diagnosis."

Dr. Narva removed additional skin from the lesion area on Oct. 18, Coldwell said. "On Oct. 19, histology revealed that the residual basal-cell epithelioma was adequately removed."

None of this information was announced at the time. But Coldwell said he had no indication the information was officially classified by the Navy.

Johnson died in January of 1973 of heart disease.

Mexico land suit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agreed Wednesday to hear the Mexican government's objections to a Wichita Falls judge's claim that he has power over Mexico in an $874,000 suit over land expropriation.

It set a July 13 hearing on Mexico's request that it order State District Court Judge Calvin Ashley to drop the proceedings.

C. J. Brannan sued Mexico in Ashley's court in December, seeking compensation for 218,000 acres in State of Zacatecas that Brannan claims were taken from him in 1963 and 1967.

Over the Mexican government's objection, Ashley ordered Mexican authorities to answer some two dozen written questions, dealing mainly with that nation's legal right to expropriate property without payment.

Mexico claimed in its petition to the supreme court that it is not subject to the authority of a foreign court.

"This is a power he (Ashley) does not possess, but to even pretend to exercise such a power would be an affront to a sovereign nation. . . . Finally, by attempting to interfere in the internal affairs of Mexico, the Wichita County district court has interfered with the exclusive power of the United States government to conduct foreign affairs," the Mexican government's petition said.

New quarters for oil firm

Tompkins Oil Co. is in the process of moving into its new headquarters at the former Crawford Pontiac location, 504 E. 3rd Street.

Charles Tompkins purchased the Crawford property and is remodeling the main offices for occupancy by Tompkins Oil. It was completely carpeted and offices for the company executives have been completed, with moving occurring this week.

There is also a warehouse area and the firm owns the larger warehouse on the lot across the alley and the adjacent property on East 3rd.

An official opening will be held when the new facility is completed, according to Tompkins.

Nazi leader plans march despite ruling

CHICAGO (AP) — Nazi leader Frank Collin says his group's planned march on July 4 in the heavily Jewish suburb of Skokie "is still definitely on — even if I have to break the law." Collin said action by the Illinois Appellate Court "is proving to me that the courts aren't obeying the law, so why should we?"

The appellate court on Tuesday scheduled a July 8 hearing on a lower court injunction that bars the Nazi march.

The American Civil Liberties Union, which is representing the Nazis in court, said the court's action apparently will delay the march at least until July 8. But Collin said he would go to court today to seek a temporary restraining order lifting the injunction and overriding Skokie's refusal to grant a parade permit.

Collin said if he was not granted the restraining order, "I'm not sure what I'll do. But if I get the feeling I'm getting the run-around, I'll break the law and march on July 4 no matter what. The U.S. Supreme Court ordered the Illinois courts to either revoke the injunction or to review it quickly."

Meanwhile, Skokie Rabbi Lawrence Montrose said hundreds of anti-Nazi sympathizers may want to hold a counterdemonstration in Skokie. "I don't think they'll have to come," Montrose said. "I still don't know what to tell them for sure, but I'm feeling more confident that the Nazis won't march here on July 4."

The Jewish Defense League announced Tuesday

Presbyterians refuse to halt study of gays

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. has refused to halt a study into the ordination of homosexuals.

Delegates debated the emotional issue for an hour Tuesday at the church's 189th General Assembly before they overwhelmingly directed a year-old task force to continue its work and report in 1978.

At the same time, however, the Assembly reaffirmed its position that "the practice of homosexuality is sin (and) that it would at the present time be injudicious, if not improper" to ordain gay ministers.

The move to forbid ordination of homosexuals lost 381 to 278. Then the assembly, by a show of hands, adopted a majority report continuing the controversial task force which already has held public hearings here and in San Francisco, Cleveland and St. Louis.

The motions to kill the study, or at least wipe out the reference to ordaining gay ministers, were made by the presbyteries of Huntsville, Ala., and Pittsburgh, Pa.

The defeated Pittsburgh resolution said the question of ordaining gays "is a cause of unrest in the church" and "not a productive endeavor." It added:

"There is no need to spend time or money in a further study of that question since the Biblical authority on the point is clear and unequivocal."

The Assembly ended its week-long meeting today.

'Atlantis' tops on tube

NEW YORK (AP) — "Man from Atlantis" on NBC, which ended a string of first-place weekly finishes, was the top-rated prime-time-television show last week, according to the latest A.C. Nielsen figures.

Another Monday night show, an abbreviated ABC comedy special, was the last of 64 rated shows.

Tuesday's Nielsen figures giving national averages for the week ending June 26 put ABC back in first place with a 14.6 rating, which represents an estimated 10.4 million households. NBC had a 14.4, representing 10.3 million, and CBS had a 13.3, or 9.5 million.

In order, the top 10 shows were:

"Atlantis," 25.1, or 17.9 million; "Charlie's Angels," ABC, 24.2, or 17.2 million; "Laverne & Shirley," ABC, 21.4, or 15.2 million; "M.A.S.H.," CBS, 20.7, or 14.7 million; "Happy Days," ABC, "How to Break Up a Happy Divorce," NBC's Sunday movie, and "One Day at a Time," CBS, each 20.4, or 14.5 million; and "Quincy," NBC, and "Baretta," ABC, both 18.9, or 13.4 million.

The next 10 shows were "Barney Miller," ABC; "Kojak," CBS; "The Paper Chase," ABC's Sunday movie, and "Barnaby Jones," CBS, tied in 13th place; "Fish," ABC; "60 Minutes," CBS; "Jeffersons," CBS; "What's Happening," ABC; and "Shields & Yarnell," CBS, tied in 18th place; and "Hawaii Five-O," CBS, and "Panic in Echo Park," an NBC movie, tied in 20th place.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California officials have telegraphed federal officials their "extreme concern" about reports that the Carter Administration is considering the permanent use of alien workers.

A telegram was sent Tuesday to U.S. Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell and the commissioner of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, Leonel Castillo.

The telegram, by Mario Obledo, state Health and Welfare secretary, and Martin R. Glick, director of the employment development Department, also expressed dismay at the recent decision permitting use of foreign workers to harvest crops in Texas.

The INS decision permits Mexican nationals to cross the border into Southwest Texas, despite opposition of the Department of Labor, following the personal intervention of President Carter.

As for the permanent use of aliens, "Such proposals are particularly distressing in light of the current extent of unemployment in this country," the telegram said.

It said a similar importation in California would have a serious adverse effect on resident farm workers.

Porno ordinance illegal, mayor says

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Mayor Fred Hofheinz has branded unconstitutional an ordinance passed by city council that would prohibit adult book stores and movies from operating within 2,000 feet of churches or schools. Hofheinz said he has serious doubts about the legality of the anti-pornography ordinance, which he described as a form of zoning. Houston residents repeatedly have rejected zoning ordinances.

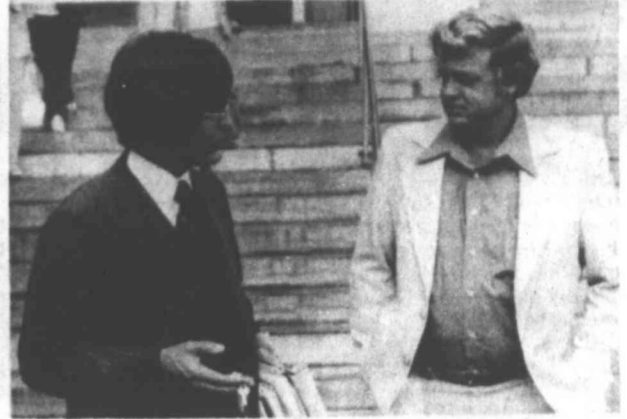

"There isn't a square foot in this city that isn't within 2,000 feet of a church or school," Hofheinz declared. "We are dealing with the question of government to restrict the land use in a city that doesn't have a comprehensive zoning law and prides itself on this fact." Councilman Frank Mancuso said the council had approved a good ordinance. "To sit around and say it is unconstitutional is a waste of time," Mancuso said. "It is best to get it on the books and let the courts decide." Joe Spiegel, operator of several adult theaters, said he will file a court challenge. "They are not trying to regulate," he said. "They are trying to put out of business everything adult-oriented." Dr. Albert Walling, president of the Greater Houston Clergy Association and head of the Community Standards Coalition, said he was delighted with the ordinance.

"I thank God for the councilmen who voted for this," Walling said. "I think for all practical purposes this will protect most areas of the city." The ordinance prohibits the operation of an adult book store within 2,000 feet of a school, church or other educational or charitable institution. Present establishments are allowed 30 days to relocate. Hofheinz said he thinks the ordinance will be tested in court within 30 days but if it holds up in court, it will be vigorously enforced. Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill, while in Houston last week, told newsmen the 2,000-foot ordinance probably would survive court tests. A jury deliberated 40 minutes Monday in returning a guilty verdict against an adult book store clerk who had been charged with selling an obscene film. It was the third such conviction since police and Dist. Atty. Carol Vance started a crackdown on pornography last February. Michael T. Keller, 54, was sentenced to a 30-day probated jail sentence Monday and also was fined $500. Keller was charged with selling the film "Oversexed Secretary" to an undercover vice officer.

Trying to rekindle old flame

LOS EBANOS, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Joel Shiner is trying to rekindle the flame from campfires which burned more than 1,000 years ago.

The archaeologist has spent the last two summers on a hill near this border village sifting through soil and gravel in hopes of reconstructing the campsite of an Indian tribe which roamed the Rio Grande Valley "probably around the year 1000 A.D."

Shiner, a professor at Southern Methodist University, is aided by 12 students from Pan American University.

"We start with the idea that this was a community of people," he said Tuesday. "We hope to be able to describe the life of that community."

To attain that goal, Shiner and his students must check out everything—watch and listen for every clue.

Obviously, 1,000-year-old Indians don't do much talking.

"The rocks talk, the shells talk, even the dirt talks to you," explained Shiner.

"We map each item we find around the campfires. We'll take the items to the lab and put them under a microscope to determine their use. A rock used as a tool to scrape deerskin, for example, has different striations on it than one used for chipping arrowheads.

"By noting the position of tools relative to the campfire, we can determine a number of things," he continued.

"The tools historically used by women in Indian tribes — the scraping tools for turning deerskin into leather, for example — are found on one side of the campfire and the men's tools for making arrowheads are on the other side.

"And it's interesting to note that the women always worked on the downwind side of the fire," he said with a smile.

Shiner theorizes the Indians were known as "Cohuiletecan" based on old Spanish letters and documents.

"But you might as well call them 'Brand X' for all we know for sure," he added.

Texas truck driver killed

SPAVINAW, Okla. (AP) — A Texas truck driver was killed Tuesday when the brakes failed on his rig, the Highway Patrol reported. Kenneth Dale Hughes, 25, Paris, Tex., was killed about 7:30 a.m. Tuesday when the brakes failed on his semi-trailer rig one mile south of Spavinaw on Oklahoma 20 in Mayes County.

The patrol said the truck's air brakes failed as it was coming down a long hill. A passenger, Freeman Reed, 53, Pilot, Tex., leaped from the truck. He was hospitalized at Pryor in good condition with arm and leg injuries.

Two ex-cops face murder charges

HOUSTON (AP) — Two former Houston policemen have been indicted by a Harris County grand jury on charges of murder in the death of Joe Campos Torres Jr. and a third former officer has been indicted on charges of misdemeanor assault. Indicted on charges of murder Tuesday were Terry W. Denson, 27, and Stephen Orlando, 21. Joseph James Janish, 22, was indicted on assault charges. Harris County Dist. Atty. Carrol Vance recommended the indictments in connection with the death of Torres, whose body was found May 8 in Buffalo Bayou, three days after he had been arrested during a disturbance at a bar. The grand jury in Dist. Judge William M. Hatten's court indicted Denson and Orlando on charges of pushing Torres off a downtown dock into the bayou and causing his death.

Special status for Laetrile?

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Unless representatives of the State

Department of Health Resources change their minds, the controversial drug Laetrile may become the first drug in the state to be manufactured without first demonstrating its safety and effectiveness.

Health department spokesmen, who two weeks ago were considering requesting an attorney general's opinion on interpreting the Laetrile law passed by the 1977 legislature, have now settled on an interpretation themselves.

Hal Nelson, assistant chief of the department's legal division, said Monday the staff had ironed out what it had earlier seen as a possible conflict in the law that will permit the manufacture and sale of Laetrile within the state as of Sept. 1.

Drug war changes hit

Apparent changes in the direction of the nation's war against drugs drew fire from several fronts at the opening of a conference to assess the involvement of Americans in illicit drugs.

The conference is jointly sponsored by the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies and the Drug Abuse Council in an effort to draw experts from many fields to try to formulate new policy directions.

President Carter is due to unveil his comprehensive drug policy later this summer, including an outline of a strenuous fight against the growing use of heroin, barbiturates, amphetamines and even alcohol and tobacco.

But the nation's effort to fight illicit drugs already is changing.

One key direction of the new policy is an effort to work with foreign countries to better control the growing of the poppy used to manufacture heroin and morphine.

Attempts to work with Turkey and Mexico already have produced results.

The current quality of heroin on the street reportedly is at an all-time low and the price has been skyrocketing the last few months.

The worry is that with the supply and quality going down and the price going up there will be an increase in crime by addicts to pay more for heroin.

Not so, say those backing the Carter effort. They feel the price goes up more and more users will begin to participate in programs to withdraw them from drugs. That includes the methadone programs which are being replaced by programs with a new drug known as Laam.

Carter is expected to increase funding of treatment programs for drugs as well. Lacking from the priority list are funds to work on the seeds of drug abuse as seen by experts: Unemployment, poverty and racism.

A new direction for law enforcement certainly will be part of the Carter plan. This would include increased efforts against organized crime rather than attacks against those addicted to the drug.

The week-long conference is being attended by representatives of the White House, numerous universities, pharmacology and mental health organizations. One of their major concerns is a past problem in filtering their messages on drugs through the media to the general public.

In an effort to correct this they asked representatives of the press to participate in the discussions.

Also attending are news persons from the New York Times and the Chicago Sun-Times.

State's Sunday closing law upheld

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The supreme court once again has upheld the state's Sunday closing law and ruled that it was not applied in a discriminatory fashion against S. S. Kresge Co. in Dallas.

Without writing a new opinion, the court said today it found "no reversible error" in a decision of the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals upholding an injunction against Kresge's.

Kresge's complained that other stores were being allowed to sell certain prohibited items on both Saturdays and Sundays while the "blue law" was being enforced against it.

"We hold that the (blue law) does not violate either the federal or state constitution and that as a matter of law (Kresge's) has not shown a discriminatory enforcement of the statute in violation of their constitutional rights," the appeals court said.

Kresge's claimed it told the Dallas district attorney's office in 1974 that competitors were selling the listed items on both Saturdays and Sundays but nothing ever was done.

But Kresge's was prosecuted on a complaint of the Dallas Retail Merchants Association, the store said.
