

Pair may be tied to 28 'bag murders'

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A bloody hacksaw, a carpet and the hair of a pet dog have linked two roommates to at least 28 "trash bag murders," police say.

The items were listed in an affidavit filed by sheriff's deputies which showed that physical evidence taken from the bodies of several murder victims matched items found in the home shared by David Hill and Patrick Kearney, both avowed homosexuals.

The two Redondo Beach men were arraigned Tuesday on two counts each of murder. But Riverside County Sheriff Ben Clark said they might be tied to many more slayings that occurred over a seven-year period.

"There are at least 28," Clark said of the cases being linked to the pair. "There may be more."

He said the estimate came from conversations with the two men, who are talking openly with authorities. Kearney, a former electronics technician at Hughes Aircraft Corp., led authorities to six alleged grave sites over the weekend.

The sheriff's affidavit indicated that Kearney, 37, and Hill, 34, were first suspected in the series of mysterious murders when a friend of theirs, John LaMay, was found dismembered last March 18.

In an interview with authorities in April, Kearney and Hill said they both had had homosexual relationships with LaMay over a period of two years, the affidavit said.

During that visit, sheriff's deputies obtained samples of dog hair, carpeting and the men's body hair, which eventually were matched with evidence found on the bodies of LaMay and other victims, the affidavit disclosed.

At the men's home, investigators found a hacksaw coated with dried blood that matched LaMay's blood type, the documents showed.

In May, when authorities were closing in, the affidavit said, the men wrote to Kearney's grandmother in Barstow asking her to sell their house and pay their bills because they were going away.

On May 26, Kearney mailed a letter of resignation and his security badge to Hughes Aircraft.

Authorities say that Hill and Kearney fled to El Paso, Texas, but were persuaded by their families to return and surrender. They walked into Clark's office Friday, pointed at their wanted poster and declared, "We're them."

Clark told a post-arraignment news conference that the men had been advised of their right to remain silent, but had continued to volunteer information about killings, which might reach a total larger than any known mass murder in American history. Previous cases on record include the killings of 25 migrant farm workers by Juan Corona and the murders of 27 teen-aged boys in Pasadena, Texas. Elmer Wayne Henley was found guilty of six of those murders.

Yarbrough confesses

Voter forgiveness asked

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Beseiged by his accusers, Texas Supreme Court Justice Don Yarbrough admits he has sinned against God and the voters, but God has forgiven him in a "glorious way." He says he hopes the voters will, too.

Yarbrough — thought to be the first Texas justice to be indicted for a crime — made no mention of quitting the job he has held for only six months.

In an emotional statement that had him on the verge of tears, Yarbrough, 36, told a hurriedly called news conference Tuesday:

"I call you here today in order that I might publicly and without reservation confess to each of you my wrongdoing."

Yarbrough was indicted last Thursday after allegedly forging an Alabama auto registration and license tag receipt and lying to the Travis County Grand Jury.

The indictment came one day after Harris County Dist. Atty. Carol Vance said he had tapes of conversations linking Yarbrough to a plot to kill former business associate Doug Ford and Victoria banker Bill Kemp, a witness against Yarbrough in another proceeding.

A State Bar of Texas disbarment trial alleging that Yarbrough has violated the law and the bar's code of ethics is set for Aug. 1, and more than a dozen civil suits have been filed against him. The Texas Judicial Qualifications Commission also is considering whether it should try to remove Yarbrough from the nine-member court.

In addition, Speaker Bill Clayton announced Tuesday the House will consider Yarbrough's removal at a hearing July 15 — four days after the legislature convenes in special session.

"Without reviewing the substance of my concerns—now so well-known to each of you," Yarbrough told reporters, "I want to say that I never intended that anyone be harmed... it's not in me."

"I did make a mistake," he said. "I did sin against my God and against the people who elected me as their servant. I offer no justification nor excuse for indeed there can be none. I have asked my God through the power of Jesus Christ to forgive me and I know in a very glorious way that He has forgiven me. I do apologize and ask forgiveness from those people in our state who supported me and from those who did not.

"I have God's peace and assurance that He's in control of the situation for the first time in many months, and that is a most wonderful and comforting experience."

At Yarbrough's request, several police officers guarded doors and kept reporters from getting within 10 feet of the frowning justice. Members of his family, including three young children, sat on the front row.

After reading his brief statement, Yarbrough, with an enigmatic grin, walked from the supreme court chamber, ignoring at least one reporter's request to answer questions.

Hardesty says

Voters need Postal response

By MARJ CARPENTER

"Price of stamps wouldn't go up as fast and as often if the Postmaster General had to face the public across the post office window," Frank Hardesty, local postmaster said here today.

Hardesty has just completed a term as president of the Texas Postmasters. It was an eventful term which included attending the Inauguration of Jimmy Carter as President of the United States.

Prior to the inaugural events, Hardesty also attended a meeting in Washington, D.C. with all of the state Postal Service presidents to discuss with Congressmen and Senators the need of aid for the Postal Service.

They supported the $2 billion McGee Subsidy Bill which passed. "This probably saved 3,500 small post offices," Hardesty stated. "It's possible some of those that they were discussing closing might have been around here. We never were shown a list," he added.

He admitted that the Postmaster General was discussing raising the cost of a stamp to 16 cents. "The Postmasters are against this. We have to try to explain to people why the stamp keeps going up and up," Hardesty stated.

Hardesty added, "I think we were better off with the Post Office answerable to Congress and the President. They in turn are answerable to the people."

"The way it is now set up, the Postmaster General is simply head of a large corporation and answers to no one," Hardesty maintained.

The local Postmaster, who is so highly regarded among his own counterparts, said that he thought the post office needs to get into the business of electronic transmission of messages.

"This would mean that you could pay a fee and send a message electronically to another post office and that message would be delivered that day."

"If we don't get into this field, somebody else will," Hardesty stated. "Banks and other services are already doing this with financial matters. It's definitely something that the post office needs to strongly consider."

Then the outgoing state president said, "Times change and equipment changes and we have to change with it. We're not delivering the mail in saddlebags anymore."

He recalled that the biggest furor came when the Postal Service talked about closing down Rural Free Delivery routes.

"That really hit people where they live. That's where the post office and service began — delivering mail to people out on the farms and ranches. I don't think they'll ever be able to shut that down because it would make people so angry."

Hardesty is also hopeful that Saturday deliveries will continue. "They tried to say that would make a big savings and it wouldn't save anything. It would throw the workload over on Friday with a lot of time and a half overtime and they'd end up spending the same amount of money — or more," the postmaster stated.

Summing up this year at the top of the state organization, Hardesty said simply, "I enjoyed it. The postmasters are a great bunch to work with. We've got out problems — most of which come from above."

Then he added, "But Post Offices have been so important to the American people. I hope we can keep them that way."

TNHA fights stiffer rules?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, says he has proof the Texas Nursing Home Association (TNHA) is fighting efforts for increased regulation of nursing homes.

Mengden, in a press release distributed in Austin, said a recent memo distributed by the TNHA "outlined their plans to attempt to diffuse the recent revelations by the Lufkin News that scores of Texas nursing homes residents are beaten, underfed and given inadequate medication."

Mengden enclosed a copy of a memo which he said was on the stationery of the TNHA and apparently signed by TNHA President Doug Pendergras.

The memo referred to Mengden's recent request that nursing home reforms be included in the July 11 special session and said "State Senator Walter Mengden has seized upon the situation to focus attention once again on his noxious proposals which were defeated during the regular legislative session just adjourned."

Action/reaction: Nobody asked

Q. Why didn't we have fireworks this year? My out-of-town visitors and my children were disappointed.

A. Perhaps because no organization had a representative to ask Webb AFB officials if they would again help with the display. In the past, Webb AFB has shared the sponsorship of a show that cost upwards to $3,000. Everyone assumed that Webb would not be interested because it is destined for closure later this year. Base officials, however, said they were never approached with such a request. The fireworks have been detonated from atop Scenic Mount in Big Spring State Park in the past. Permission for such must be initiated six months in advance. Clubs like the Kiwanis and Jaycees sponsor fireworks displays in neighboring cities. Some called City Hall to complain but cities are not permitted to use public funds for such undertakings.

Offbeat: Jail playground

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Prisoners in the Travis County jail have a rooftop playground now.

Twice a day a bus transfers 12 selected prisoners from the jail to the new recreational facility atop the nearby county parking garage.

The $90,000 playground consists currently of a basketball court surrounded by a high mesh fence, plus several guards. Sheriff Raymond Frank said he plans to add volleyball and badminton courts.

"No one has to go," Frank says about the twice-daily trips. "There's no pressure or anything like that, but I don't expect many to turn the offer down."

Webb congressional hearing delay matter of priorities

In Tuesday's meeting of the Webb steering committee, Mayor Wade Choate informed the members of a Congressional delay in the dispersal process.

According to Choate, Webb real estate must be passed through a subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee before it can be handled by the General Services Administration and leased to industries.

The House hearing was originally scheduled for May, but has been postponed through June, and is now planned for late July.

Until the meeting is held, industrial prospects must be kept waiting to see which facilities will be available and when they will become so.

What is the holdup in Congress? According to Judy Curtis, Congressman Omar Burleson's administrative assistant, Burleson has received indications from the chairman of that subcommittee that the hearing would take place between July 18 and the end of the month.

Despite the fact that no firm date for the hearing has yet been set, Ms. Curtis believed that the hearings would take place this month. When asked whether it wasn't just as likely to take place in August or later because no date had been set, she replied, "No. I don't think so. But it isn't written in concrete or anything."

She also dispelled a rumor about the holdup concerning Houston's Ellington AFB. The rumor held that Ellington (Senator Lloyd Bentsen's battle) was being hotly contested in the House subcommittee, and the debate was holding up such procedures as Webb and Craig.

"I see no reason this should hold up consideration of Webb," said Ms. Curtis. "The reason the subcommittee did not handle Webb in June was because it was involved with military construction authorization. That project was part of the appropriations budget and was simply a matter of priorities."

According to Ms. Curtis, Cong. Burleson has been in frequent contact with the subcommittee chairman to press for resolution of the Webb dispensation.

Stanton suspends TESCO rate hike

STANTON — Stanton City Councilmen voted 4 to 1 to suspend the requested Texas Electric Service 23.5 rate increase request for 120 days to await the decision of the state Public Utility Commission.

One councilman, Terry Neill, was the dissenting vote, as he wanted to deny the request.

The three options of cities within the Texas Electric Service Co. area are approval, denial and suspension. The service company is in the position of applying to increase rates for funds needed to develop alternate sources of energy with nuclear and lignite plants.

In other action Tuesday night, the council amended the water rate to add a $1 late charge for persons who fail to pay their water bill by the 10th of the month. This is a new fee in Stanton.

It also took a look at its dog problem. There had never been a strict dog ordinance or a dog catcher in Stanton. However, City Manager Mike Rhea said that he was instructed by the council to write a tough dog ordinance and the council will then discuss enforcement.

The council approved sharing with county commissioners the cost of a new trench at the landfill. Mayor Danny Fryar reported on talking with the commissioners concerning this project.

It approved payment of $14,238.91 to Panhandle Construction Co. for work on the sewer system under Community Development fund grant.

Wayne Harrison of Andrews, engineer, reported that they are about three weeks short of being completed. A payment to Harrison was also approved.

The total for the project was expected to be $71,733 with payments of $56,371.25 already made. However, additional collection lines and other additions may bring the total to closer to $90,000, according to Rhea.

The council also approved purchasing a police band radio for the second police car. It tabled any action on changing the water bill for the Hospital Auxiliary Thrift Shop.

Council members present included Johnny Louder, Bill Coggin, Jack Cook, Howard Jenkins, Fryar and Neill.

NOW WHAT, OFFICER — Vanessa Cooper of Midway looks distressed when stopped for a routine driver's license check by Patrolman Jimmy Wallace. During the past two weeks, driver's licenses have been checked at several locations in the city. The license turned out to be correct so Ms. Cooper had no problems.

GROUP JUMP — Now here's a way to beat the heat. Not only were these kids "cooled" in the traditional sense when they hit the waters of Wilknet Creek Park in Toronto Tuesday, but they were also "frozen" by a fast shutter speed to form a kind of still-life sculpture of skin, hands and happy faces. The jumpers were campers at a day camp.

Gas rationing tussle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter wants broad authority to impose gasoline rationing in the event of an energy crisis, but a key member of Congress says it is unlikely such authority will be granted. Administration sources said Tuesday that the President is going to ask for standby authority for rationing that could reduce gasoline consumption by at least 25 percent. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said he was surprised at the report of Carter's plans. "I doubt Congress, barring some situation that does not now exist, some national emergency... will grant that authority to any president," he said.

Sunny future for energy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new congressional study suggests the government isn't going far enough in its exploration of solar energy as an option to electricity and natural gas. The study by the Office of Technological Assessment, released Tuesday, contends it could be possible to use the sun's rays to produce heat and hot water for large commercial and residential buildings by 1980.

Four skyjack jetliner

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Four young leftists escaped from Chile by hijacking a jetliner with 56 other persons aboard but failed to secure the release of two leading Socialists imprisoned by the Chilean junta. Nobody was hurt. The Peruvian government arranged temporary asylum for the three men and one woman at the Venezuelan embassy and said it would try to get the Venezuelan government to let them go to Caracas.

No political ambitions?

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan's new military ruler, Gen. Muhammad Ziaul Haq, says he has no political ambitions and a new National Assembly will be elected in October. "I want to make it clear that I have not assumed responsibility because of any political ambitions," the army chief of staff said in a broadcast Tuesday night. He added that the army's bloodless coup Tuesday was not prompted by "any interested person."

Escapee captured

INDEPENDENCE, Kan. (AP) — A man who broke out of the Montgomery County jail was captured near Albuquerque, N.M., Tuesday night after he was stopped for a traffic violation, the county attorney's office here said.

Charles E. Perry, 30, of Wann, Okla., was arrested after a New Mexico highway patrolman checked the license plate on the Oklahoma pickup truck Perry was driving and found it had been stolen.

Authorities said Perry stole a car after the escape Monday. The car apparently was abandoned but had not been found.

Another escapee, Richard Hayes, 21, of Pasadena, Tex., remained at large today. Kansas authorities said he allegedly stole a pistol, rifle and shotgun from a truck after his escape and later commandeered a pickup truck.

They were among four men who broke out of the jail before Monday. The others were recaptured within four hours of the escape.

Perry and Hayes had been held in the Montgomery County jail on aggravated robbery charges.

Huey Newton's bail called 'ransom'

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — There were no clenched fists in court or chanting protesters outside when jailed Black Panthers leader Huey Newton kept a court date postponed from 1974 when he fled to Cuba. Newton, standing quietly to one side of the judge's bench, was arraigned Tuesday on murder and assault charges and agreed to return to court July 19 to enter his plea. Bail was set at $100,000 at the request of the prosecutor who called Newton "a substantial flight risk."

Reputed Chi mobster in Fort Worth jail

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Reputed Chicago crime syndicate figure Harry Peralto Aleman remained in the Tarrant County Jail early today, awaiting transfer back to Illinois to face federal charges. Aleman waived removal from Texas to Illinois when he was arraigned Tuesday before U.S. Magistrate Alec McGlinchey. He was jailed in lieu of $75,000 bond, which was set by a federal judge in Illinois when federal indictments were returned against him.

If Aleman posted bond, he would have to report to Chicago on his own, said Ted Gunderson, special agent in charge of the Dallas FBI office. If not, he would be transported back to Chicago by federal marshals. Officials would not say when Aleman would be transferred.

Aleman faces charges of racketeering, interstate transportation of stolen property and violating federal firearms regulations. FBI agents arrested Aleman Monday night at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport as he stepped off a plane from Acapulco, Mexico.

Aleman was arrested as a result of a routine customs check of passengers entering the country. His name was listed in a National Crime Information Center computer as being sought by federal officials in conjunction with an indictment handed down June 30 in U.S. District Court in Chicago.

Aleman, who was acquitted recently of a syndicate-style slaying, has been identified by state prosecutors as a syndicate assassin. Authorities said Aleman was traveling under his own name and was apprehended as he stepped from an American Airlines jet.

Three waive extradition

Three persons arrested by Highway Patrolmen here Sunday have waived extradition to Arkansas.

Dale Richard Avery, Karen Marie Jacobs, and Harold Leo Norton were arrested Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in I-20 near Coahoma. They were driving a car which was reported stolen and were first noticed by Colorado City trooper Marvin Keenan. Keenan ran a check on the license and pursued the car towards Coahoma. Big Spring troopers Ken Joyce and Dean Richardson, meanwhile, helped intercept the trio, and brought them back to Big Spring.

The three will be picked up by the Little Rock, Ark. police department. Norton is wanted on charges of forgery and grand larceny, according to troopers.

Fugitive charges were filed Tuesday in Justice of the Peace Bob West's office.

Huff in trouble

Ronnie Paul Huff is in custody of the Howard County Sheriff's department facing a revocation of probation. Huff had charges filed against him in both Justice of the Peace offices over the weekend. He was charged with burglary in Justice of the Peace Bob West's office and forgery in J.P. Gus Ochotorena's office.

Huff was placed on 10 years probation in the spring of 1977 in connection with the February 22, 1977 burglary of property belonging to Edward J. Lawson. He is being held without bond.

The burglary charge is in connection with an incident involving the property of Gilbert Franco. The forgery involves a $146.95 check to Western Kawasaki drawn on a check belonging to Gilbert Franco.

One-Arm Dove Hunt

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Omar Burleson has advised the sixth annual One-Arm Dove Hunt in Olney, Tex., will be held Sept. 9-10. This annual get-together is held for one arm or hand amputees.

Various activities will be scheduled for those who want to hunt or simply enjoy getting together for a visit. Anyone desiring further information about this event, may contact Jack Northrup, Box 582, Olney, 76374.

continue efforts to get his 35-year-old client released on his own recognition.

"He did not return to walk out the door," Otis told Municipal Court Judge Donald Arne. "He returned to face the charges against him."

Otis said Newton had voluntarily come back to the United States, although he was "living a free and happy life and could forever in Cuba."

Newton is charged in the shooting of a 17-year-old girl who died after he fled the country. He is also charged with assault in the alleged pistol whipping of his tailor and an alleged altercation with a policeman at an Oakland bar. He also is accused of the false imprisonment of two women in a bar.

Newton told his supporters when he arrived at San Francisco International Airport on Sunday that the charges were part of a government conspiracy to destroy him and the Black Panther party, which he helped organize in 1966.

He left Cuba for Canada on June 25 where he was detained and told he would have to leave.

At the arraignment, his wife, Gwen, and Black Panthers party chairperson Elaine Brown were among several dozen supporters who filled the small courtroom. Many wore "Justice for Huey" buttons, but no one spoke out during the court session or raised their fists to greet Newton.

A decade ago, rows of Black Panther party members in leather jackets and berets marched and chanted, "Free Huey."

Miguel S. Orihuela, 44, was arraigned Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Ed Sarabia who set bond at $75,000.

Orihuela allegedly "intentionally and knowingly caused the death of Cesario Escobedo Rodriguez by injecting into the person of Genoveva Rodriguez (the child's mother) an unknown substance while she was pregnant," according to the charge read by Sarabia. "In simple words, you're being charged with murder," the judge told Orihuela.

Cameron County Assistant Dist. Atty. Joe K. Hendley said Orihuela gave Mrs. Rodriguez an injection that rendered her unconscious.

"He then induced labor," said Hendley. "The baby died three days later and weighed 3.57 pounds. The mother was in about her seventh or eighth month of pregnancy."

Terrapin race
LADONIA, Tex. (AP) — It took some last-minute summer rains to flush out enough competitors to "run for the tomatoes" and save this weekend's Ladonia 500.

And 9-year-old Scott Franklin has been taking advantage of the situation, capturing and training his 25 terrapins for the race in this tiny Fannin County community.

Scott knows a good thing when he sees it. On the day of the race, he and his 5-year-old brother Shawn will be selling the terrapins for 50 and 75 cents each to competitors in the 500.

For the more expensive price, a purchaser can get a model that Scott says is "real, real fast" although he doesn't think he has any that will beat the record set in 1973 when a terrapin covered the 500-inch course in 35 seconds.

Just a few weeks ago officials of the Frontier Day Celebration were worried that there might be too few terrapins to have a good race during the fifth annual event.

Hot, dry conditions, said Bob Hayes, the "racing commissioner," had forced the terrapins into seclusion. But when the rains came, so did the terrapins.

Now Hayes figures as many as 50 terrapins will be vying for the crown Saturday in a race where only one racer, the record holder, Homer Whitkohl, has ever broken the one-minute barrier.

Davis trial dragging
AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys in the capital murder trial of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis have agreed on the last three jurors they've questioned — unusual for such a trial, says Dist. Atty. Tim Curry.

Jury selection was to continue today. Only eight jurors were selected in the eight weeks of Davis' first trial in Fort Worth, which was declared a mistrial last April before jury selection was complete.

Carl Prah, 33, a customer service representative for Braniff International, and Roy Biggers, 60, a Santa Fe Railroad engineer for 30 years, were accepted Tuesday and became the third and fourth jurors selected.

They were the only two prospective jurors questioned Tuesday afternoon, as the trial entered its second week.

James Wendell Watkins, 27, an office foreman at an Amarillo fruit company, was selected Friday, the last prospective juror questioned before the trial recessed for the July 4th holiday.

Curry, the chief prosecutor, said it is unusual for lawyers in a capital murder case to accept three jurors in a row. Davis' first trial had gone a month before four jurors were selected.

Davis is charged with slaying his 12-year-old stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, in a shooting spree in August 1976 at his lavish, $6 million mansion in Fort Worth.

His trial was moved to Amarillo on a change of venue. The millionaire industrialist, who has been jailed since the shooting, is also charged with killing Stan Farr, 30, his estranged wife's boyfriend, and wounding his wife, Priscilla Davis, 35, and Gus Gavrel, a family friend, in the pre-dawn shooting.

The four jurors were selected out of 20 who have been questioned since jury selection got under way June 27.

State District Court Judge George Dowlen had told attorneys last Friday that they might have to begin working night sessions or until 8 or 9 p.m. to speed up the jury selection process.

Mrs. W.E. Brown, 87, died at 1:20 a.m. today in the Stanton Memorial Hospital in Stanton, after a lengthy illness.

Services will be Thursday at 4 p.m. in the Downtown Church of Christ in Lamesa, with O.H. Pabor, retired Church of Christ minister, assisted by Bob Cheatham, pastor of the Downtown Church of Christ.

Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park, under direction of the Branon Funeral home.

Mrs. Brown was born Aug. 4, 1889, in Wolf City, and married W.E. Brown Aug. 31, 1910 in Sherman. He preceded her in death in January 1970.

She came to Dawson County in 1927 and was a 74-year member of the Church of Christ.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A.C. Latson, Okitaasca, Mrs. Leland Boystun, San Diego Calif.; two sons, William Allan Brown, Sylmar, Calif.; and Maurice Brown, Lamesa; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Womack, Tulsa; and Mrs. Ruth Muller, Dallas; two brothers, Paul Russell, Dallas; and Marshall Russell, Denison; 12 grandchildren, and 23 great-grandchildren.

Man strangled, shot

CAIRO (AP) — A former religious affairs minister kidnaped three days ago by members of a fanatic Moslem cult that preaches "sacred terror" was found strangled and shot through the eye today in a villa near the Giza pyramids, police said.

A medical examiner said 64-year-old Sheik Mohamed Zahabi had been dead since Monday. Police said he was strangled and then shot apparently as a coup de grace.

Police arrested three university dropouts at the villa outside Cairo and said one of them confessed to the killing, the official Middle East News Agency reported.

The agency said the three youths were mohamed Abu Donya, Safwat el-Sheikh el-Zeiny and Anwar el-Ma'moun. It said all were under 21 and left school to get away from what they called a sinful society and live in strict accordance with the Koran, the Islamic book of scriptures.

The agency's report did not say which one confessed to the killing.

Zahabi's body was clad in the white nightgown he was wearing when he was kidnaped from his suburban villa at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Zahabi, who was minister of religious affairs from April 1975 to November 1976, was kidnaped by members of an outlawed sect called Jaamat al-Tafkeer wal-Hijra, which means society of "condemnation" of heretics and "flight" from sin.

Zahabi waged a vigorous campaign against the sect while he was a member of the cabinet.

The kidnapers said they would kill him unless they were paid $500,000 in ransom and 60 imprisoned members of the sect were released from jail.

Raped by nine

'Scottsboro Boys' libeled woman?

WINCHESTER, Tenn. (AP) — A 70-year-old woman, one of two who said they were gang-raped 46 years ago by the nine "Scottsboro Boys," is bringing her $6 million libel suit against NBC to the courtroom.

The trial that starts today stems from the suit by Victoria Price Street who contends NBC, in its television movie, "Judge Horton and the Scottsboro Boys," libeled her, slandered her and invaded her privacy by suggesting she was a woman of questionable character who lied during the famed rape case.

She and Ruby Bates said they were raped by nine black youths in northern Alabama while hitching a ride on a train on March 25, 1931.

The movie said both

The government responded by rounding up members of the sect, which preaches "sacred hatred and sacred terror" against those who do not live literally by the Koran. The group's leader, Shukri Ahmed Mustafa, is still at large.

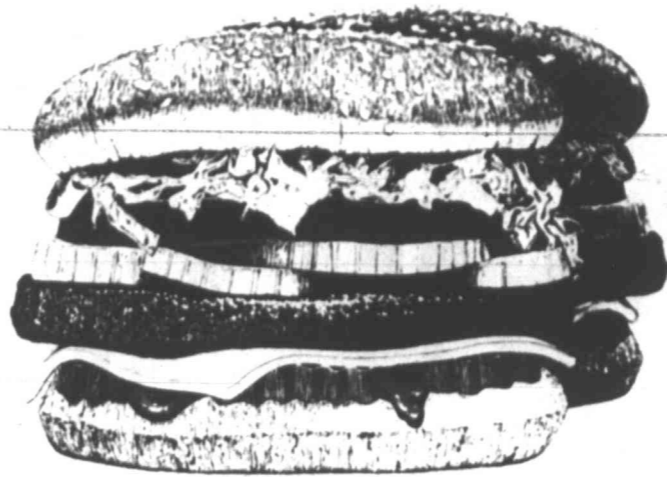

The Interior Ministry reported the arrest of 11 members of the Society and said arms, explosives and pamphlets were found in two of the sect's hideouts. But the ministry said the government carried on "intensive negotiations" with the kidnapers along with the raids.

women died in 1961. Both quickly sued, but Mrs. Bates, of Yakima, Wash., has since died.

Lawyers for Mrs. Street said they plan to call about six witnesses during the trial, which is expected to run four or five days.

Main witnesses for NBC are expected to be television scriptwriter John McGreevy and Dr. Dan Carter of Emory University in Atlanta.

Dr. Carter, who advised NBC on the movie, is the author of "Scottsboro — A Tragedy of the American South," which argues that the black men convicted of rape were the victims of racial prejudice.

Pipeline shutdown

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Workmen were replacing a faulty L-shaped portion of the trans-Alaska pipeline in an effort to get the oil moving again through the 800-mile line.

Spokesman Lou Cancelmi said the pipe section was being replaced. The slow process of introducing oil to the pipeline was expected to resume late today.

Alyeska had at first said the shutdown Monday resulted from the apparent failure of a 1½-inch drain plug, but federal and state officials said the problem was more serious.

Cy Price, deputy state pipeline coordinator, said he understood the problem involved a defect in an L-shaped portion of the pipeline and Alyeska later confirmed that report without giving details.

Weather

Mangy dog days linger in Texas

By the Associated Press
They call these the dog days, and that kind of weather shouldn't happen even to a mangy cur — the protracted spell of hot and sultry days usually lingering from about now until early September.

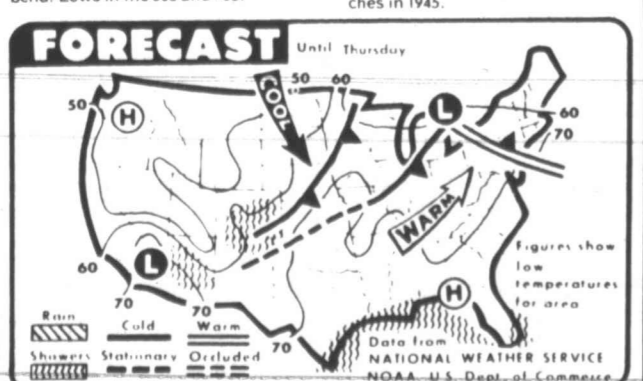

After the usual scattering of overnight thundershowers but little rain, skies cleared in most areas this morning except for a few showers around Galveston, Port Arthur and Beaumont. Low clouds formed in the vicinity of San Antonio.

Temperatures dipped far down to 57 degrees at Marfa in the West Texas mountains. Elsewhere the range was up to 79 in Waco. Tuesday's top marks went as high as 100 at Dallas and Wichita Falls and 101 at Fort Worth, Presidio and Texarkana.

Forecasts promised increasing clouds and scattered thundershowers in East Texas. Except for isolated thundershowers along the Rio Grande it was expected to be fair in West Texas. No letup in the July heat was indicated.

They're lining up for the 17th in '78

Whether or not Congressman Omar Burleson, who represents Big Spring in Washington, will seek re-election next year is not known.

But one thing appears certain: There will be a fight for the seat in Congress which he has held for the last three decades.

The seat is the 17th Congressional District, a sprawling collection of 33 West Texas counties which is larger than eight states.

CONG. BURLESON, a Democrat from Anson, has represented the district for 31 years, although Howard County has only been a part of the district since the late 1960s.

Burleson is 71 years old, and there has been some speculation that he might not run again. This has ignited talk of who might try for the seat should he decide to step down.

State Senator Grant Jones of Abilene is considered one who might run if Burleson does not, but Jones had indicated that he would not oppose the veteran congressman.

One Abilene man is giving what he calls "serious consideration" to the race. He is A.L. (Dusty) Rhodes, a 45-year-old Oklahoma native who graduated from Abilene Christian University and who has oil and farming interests.

OMAR BURLESON

STEVE CHILDRESS

Rhodes was in Big Spring last week, and he looked very much like a candidate. He said he was not putting his name in the hopper for whichever time Burleson might not run. Rhodes talked like a candidate that intended to win.

Burleson, a former county judge, will be tough to beat in most of the district. The 17th is basically rural and conservative, and Burleson has about as conservative a voting record as possible in Washington.

The names of a few other Democrats have been kicked around as possible candidates, but they do not appear to be organizing as yet.

On the Republican Party side, one Big Spring man has been making some preliminary sounds as if he might consider a race.

STEVE CHILDRESS, owner of Trinity Memorial Park and a former congressional aide for five years, has talked to several people about whether he should make the race.

Childress knows something about politics and life on Capitol Hill, but his disadvantage is that he is new to the area and would have to start from farther back than some others. Childress came to Big Spring in early 1976 from Waco, and while he has been active in civic affairs here, he is not widely known across the far-flung 17th District which reaches up to Floyd County in the north and as far as Cooke County in the east.

Washington insiders think Burleson will run again, and aide Walter Grubbs, manager of his Abilene district office, has been quoted as saying Burleson "has no plans except to run again."

The congressman has said he will announce his decision in early August.

But either way, it appears the 17th District will have a race, or maybe two.

Many don't file

Around the rim

Tommy Hart

As someone said recently, even the dullest minds are capable of making some clever deductions — which is the reason tax agents have to be part birddog as well as part auditor.

I wouldn't propose such neglect but Internal Revenue agents say that millions of Americans file their tax forms in the nearest trash can and do their best to forget about them.

WHAT'S MORE, the IRS people concede, their chances that they will never be brought to heel are better than 50-50. Even if they're corralled, there is virtually no chance they will be prosecuted, assuming that they set about to erase the debt.

You may reason that the watchdogs of the taxing bureau will be snapping at your ankles anytime after April 15 but the agency simply doesn't have the troops to lean on a lot of the errant yeomanry.

Non-filers usually fall into one of two categories: They either procrastinate or they don't want to pay or reveal their sources of income. Invariably, their fountains of support are difficult to trace.

If your conspiracy in dereliction dates back a few years, don't think you can hide behind the statute of limitations. For tax delinquents, the government says the law doesn't apply.

But the defaulter has something going for him. To confirm a case, the government must prove that the delinquent's failure to file was willful. The IRS sentries will tell you that kind of case is not easy to substantiate in court.

If you want a tip on a growing stock, try soccer. Interest in the game is spreading. A man close to the scene, Commissioner Phil Woosnam of the North American Soccer League, says that inside a decade this country would become the center of the world game.

SOCCER, SAYS Woosnam, has caught on with the youth and that is the key.

Will it be bigger than pro football or baseball? Yep, says Woosnam, no doubt about it.

Woosnam cites examples of the new interest in the game. The average gate in Miami has gone from hundreds to 23,000. A game in Minneapolis recently drew a throng of 49,000. Cities with no soccer tradition like Seattle, Portland and San Jose, Calif., have sold between 10,000 and 15,000 season tickets.

Upwards to five million youngsters may be involved in the sport in this country in the next few years. The World Cup has a magic ring in other parts of the world — it is the World Series and the Super Bowl Game of soccer — and Woosnam reasons America will be fighting for it no later than 1986.

'1984' today

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Having written about repression in South Korea, we have sought to put the story in perspective by investigating conditions in North Korea. By all accounts it is ruled by one of the cruelest regimes in the world.

Western analysts don't have a full picture of what goes on above the 38th parallel, except that it is one of the most isolated societies on earth.

The border is tightly controlled. The few details that have leaked out provide a dim outline of a highly authoritarian government and a brutally regimented society. In the '1984' — in spades.

EVERY ASPECT of North Korean life is controlled. The day is literally divided into 480-minute segments: Eight hours are spent on work; eight hours are spent on study and mass organization; eight hours are given to eating, sleeping and other necessities.

The degree of party membership is greater in North Korea than in any other Communist country. The Communist party is supplemented by mass organizations for every element of society — youth, women, labor. There is tremendous psychological pressure upon everyone to join, to conform, to participate, to show a "positive" attitude.

Even children of 5 and 6 are regimented into organizations, where they are taught to run wooden bayonets through the "U.S. imperialists."

All property in North Korea belongs to the state. People are permitted to work garden plots, for example. But they don't own them; they are merely on loan. Food and clothing are rationed; travel is restricted. When North Koreans leave their home districts, for whatever reason, they must carry their travel permits and ration cards.

THE FEW WHO travel abroad are thoroughly screened beforehand. While in another country, they are required to remain virtually to themselves. They avoid all contact with foreigners, remain in their hotel rooms, visit no restaurants, attend no movies, stroll in no parks.

Of course, North Koreans have no freedom of expression. The common man is convinced, not without reason, that someone is watching him at all times. There is no free press; religion has been outlawed. A former Christian mission complex in Pyongyang, for instance, has been converted into Kim Il Sung University.

WEST POINT STORY — Several West Point cadets were caught last year cheating on their exams, a violation of the honor system. Now the board that oversees the military academy has had its own honor questioned.

The Military Academy Board of Visitors is supposed to keep a stern watch over West Point. But one of the appointees, Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., has accused his fellow visitors of improprieties as bad as anything the cadets did.

In a private letter to President Carter, the congressman has complained about the honor violations of the overseers. Under the West Point code, a cadet is supposed to turn in any offenders.

Moynihan on NY (II)

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Senator Moynihan, having arrived at the conclusion that outside factors are primarily responsible for the plight of New York City, proceeds to list them. They are: 1) The "overall pattern" of Federal taxation and expenditure, involving an economic drain. 2) Federal environmental policies. And 3) Federal tariff policies.

We have noted that political leaders of New York can hardly complain if they endorse, as they have historically done, redistributionist economic measures handled by the federal government, and if New York proceeds to be taxed to support such measures.

AS REGARDS anti-pollution, Moynihan explains that "The Commissioner (of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation) is saying that there are lots of crumbling buildings in New York City, and that this is one reason there is a lot of dust, and further that if no economic expansion is permitted by the environmental regulations there will be a lot more deterioration of buildings, and, ultimately, a lot more dust."

Mr. Moynihan is then extremely careful. What he wants to say is that some environmental standards imposed on the cities by a Senate committee 13 of whose 15 members come from states largely made up of prairies, lakes and meadows are simply inappropriate for industrial cities. But he cannot antagonize directly so powerful a lobby as the environmentalists, so he says, "It is not my purpose here to argue that the particular standards in question are overly strict" (that exactly is his purpose) . . . "I would assert, though, that when environmental laws prohibit us from building (certain) plants; when they place over our cities standards that we do not always meet in the heart of our forests . . . then we begin to see that the economy of the city and of the state are as much affected by these laws as they are by the laws of economics."

The third bill of particulars Mr. Moynihan cautiously introduces. "It is still, perhaps, heretical to say this, but the doctrinal dedication of the Departments of State and Treasury to removing trade barriers has permitted severe economic dislocations in New York."

HE SPEAKS, in particular, about the garment industry, which between 1969 and 1976 lost one third — 82,000 — jobs. Most of these job losses, he implies, were lost because of foreign competition.

Mr. Moynihan is right to be apologetic, inas much as free trade is the basis of a civil international comity. Apart from this, there are Americans in New York and everywhere in the republic who are working to produce goods for foreigners, which they could not pay for save as they earn money by selling to the United States. Moynihan quotes a report from the Bureau of Labor Statistics to the effect that the garment industry was "the highest paying industry in the country in 1939" while today, "the high paid industry is autos, and the garment industry is at the bottom."

NOVACBY THE FOUNDED NEW LEADER © 1977 BY J. TOM GRAHAM

High noon

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — While concerned by rapid escalation of the counter-attack on Jimmy Carter's Mideast peace plan by the American-Jewish community, high administration officials privately warn that Israel's political allies here fail to understand how committed the President really is to his plan.

"They're trying to pressure us in the same old way," a high official told us, "but the ground rules have changed and we're not going to buckle."

ACCORDINGLY, THE stage is being set for a high-noon confrontation of truly awesome scope in which both sides are well equipped to do heavy damage against the other — but perhaps not powerful enough to impose their will. A warning of just such a dangerous confrontation in the immediate future will probably be conveyed to President Carter in the White House this week, when he receives the highest level of American-Jewish leadership — a committee representing the Conference of Presidents of Major Jewish Organizations.

The Carter White House mood is somewhat reminiscent of the Eisenhower White House mood in those days of early 1957, after Israel's first pre-emptive conquest of the Sinai peninsula in secret consort with the British and French. Despite threats of political retaliation from top Democrats in Congress — led by then-Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson — Eisenhower's prestige was sufficient to compel Israel to withdraw completely.

But today, except for a territorial analogy, the political climate is different. Israel is by far the strongest military state in the Mideast and the pro-Israel lobby here is much better organized. Far worse, there is not much sign of any change in the real attitude of Menahem Begin, the new prime minister of Israel, despite one signal after another sent from the Carter White House or State Department.

FOR WEEKS, the Carter administration has counted on the clarity of the principal elements of the President's settlement plan to do one of two things: win over the support of at least an important part of the American-Jewish leadership; or modify the position (seen here as intolerably harsh) of Prime Minister Begin's insistence that the West Bank — populated by 600,000 Palestinian Arabs — belongs to Israel.

With Begin's visit only two weeks off, officials here have grown forlorn about his flexibility, and the record appears to support them. For example, on June 26, the authoritative Jewish Telegraphic Agency reported that Begin told the Zionist General Council in Jerusalem that Israel had "a good chance" to hang on to the West Bank and to block any Palestinian state in its debate with the American administration.

The next day Moshe Dayan, maverick politician named by Begin as foreign minister, was reported by a leading Israeli newspaper, Yediot Achronot, as having drafted a new Israeli "peace" plan based on Israel's "permanent" retention of the West Bank and carefully phased withdrawals from the Golan and Sinai.

The doctor: He gets letters

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My wife and I have an argument. I say you have to make up the letter you use in your column. She says you don't, that they are all from real people. If they are, why don't you use full names, etc.?

Inventing letters for this column would be carrying coals to Newcastle. My problem is in selecting those to be used from the hundreds of thousands I receive each year. Others ask if I get much "crank" mail. I can count on the fingers of both hands the number of genuine "crank" or "silly" letters included in that volume of mail. Once in a while a reader will disagree with a point made in a column and let me know about it in no uncertain terms. I don't consider this "crank" mail.

Some letters are long (the longest I can recall being 21 pages of single-spaced typing). Some are elegantly brief. Once I got a postcard with a single word and a question mark — "ileum?" I explained to that reader that the "ileum" (Il-ee-yum) is the lowest section of the small intestine before it joined the large intestine. On a monthly, sometimes even weekly, basis, my mail covers the anatomical waterfront from head to toe, from acne (the skin disease) to Zeism (a condition attributable to too much maize in the diet).

I try to select letters that are of greatest interest to the greatest number of readers, occasionally touching on specific diseases that are less common but nevertheless occur now and then. Nor am I reluctant on occasion to try to settle differences of opinion among readers (as that between yourself and your wife).

I don't use names or addresses because I consider reader correspondence confidential as would any doctor considering any patient's problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, who is 6, has what doctors call a "portwine stain." It runs under one eye and across his nose. Can this be corrected? This is very important to me. What about tattooing it? — Mrs. M.M.

Your son has a birthmark, an enlargement of tiny blood vessels which occurs in prenatal life. It is obvious at birth and may extend over wide areas. I suspect that at 6 your son's has reached its full extent. Such blemishes above the nose and on the eyelids may disappear with time. The technical name for this, if you wish to look into the matter further, is "nevus flammeus."

There is really not much you can do about it. The pigmented area is usually smooth. About 10 per cent of the population have such marks somewhere on the body. Cosmetic creams used to disguise the area are quite effective. Tattooing ordinarily is an ineffective method. You shouldn't display concern in front of the boy lest you create a complex about it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm 19 years old and had a baby a year ago. Ever since the baby, I've had a greenish discharge with a strong odor. I've been to my doctor's, but he never said anything. Is this a sign of cancer? A Pap test didn't show it. — A.R.

A greenish discharge may be associated with certain infections, but a negative Pap smear should have ruled out cancer.

If your doctor didn't say anything about it, why didn't you? Go back and this time open up the lines of communication between you and him.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it true that if a man urinates after sexual intercourse he will have less chance of picking up a VD germ? — L.J.

I can reduce the chances, but it certainly is no guarantee, no more so than if a woman douches afterward.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If a woman finds lumps in her breast, what are the chances of her needing a mastectomy? — Mrs. W.W.

Recent statistics I've heard indicate that for every 14 lump detections one mastectomy is necessary.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am really bothered by temptation, and I wondered if you could recommend some books for me to read that would be helpful. — E.N.

DEAR E.N.: I normally do not recommend specific books in this column, although you might want to go to a Christian bookstore in your area and ask about something that would be helpful. There are many practical books from a Christian standpoint.

There is one book, however, that I would recommend you read for help in this matter. That is the Bible! I am convinced that it will help strengthen you more than anything else you could read. Read it, study it and memorize it. It is God's Word, and through it God can redirect your thinking and make you less open to temptation. The Psalmist said, "Thy Word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against Thee" (Psalm 119:11).

Look at how the Lord Jesus dealt with temptation. At the beginning of His ministry He was deeply tempted by Satan. (You can read about it in Matthew 4:1-11.) What did He do when Satan spoke a tempting thought to Him? He answered Satan by quoting Scripture, and Satan could not withstand the Word of God. Not that Jesus did not use some strange supernatural power to defeat Satan. He used exactly what is available to every believer — the Word of God.

The Bible, you will find, gives us many guidelines about fighting temptation. For example, we should avoid a tempting situation whenever possible. "Flee also youthful lusts," Paul told Timothy (II Timothy 2:22). Learn His Word and obey, and temptations will begin to fade.

CETA may change lives of many

By BILL WERRELL
The federal Comprehensive Employment Act, (CETA) may provide the means to change the lives of many economically disadvantaged high school students in Big Spring.

Under CETA, three different projects for youth in the area are being conducted in Big Spring.

Nabar Martinez, head of the Human Resource Center, said that these projects are new to the area, and were the only ones being conducted in Texas at this time.

The three projects consist of a pre-vocational career exploration program, a youth journalism project, and a youth tutoring program.

Martinez expressed the fact that this may be one of the few federal youth programs which will actually return the taxpayer's investment in the near future.

"Hiring underprivileged kids to pick up trash, or do some other type of 'busy work' in the summer is a waste of time and money. Giving them a chance to investigate careers, or improve their education through the tutoring or journalism project, will widen their horizons significantly, and work toward the wealth of the community," he said.

Welfare department statistics prove that welfare is an inherited thing, said Martinez. It is not unusual for children of parents who are on welfare to assume that role, too, when they are old enough. The children will carry unemployment or partial unemployment on as a family tradition.

Wanda Spratt, director of the pre-vocational, career exploration program said that children often inherit the job horizons of their parents, and many grow up to believe they are only suited to work at low paying, dull jobs.

How a person arrives at a career decision can mean the difference between professional fulfillment and a long series of work experiences leading to the job hopping and unemployment, she said.

Choice of the right job depends on the quality of career guidance one receives at home, school, and through summer programs such as CETA.

"Through rap sessions, formal in-class guidance and field trips as well as guest speakers, we hope to match personal talents and goals with those demanded by a given field of work," said Ms. Spratt.

A high school diploma is the number one requirement in the 25 common job characteristics and requirements, as defined by the U.S. Department of Labor. The career exploration program will stress the importance and advantages of remaining in school and earning the high school diploma said Ms. Spratt.

In her classes, Ms. Spratt will provide vocational exposure, counseling and testing for her students. But for many other aspects of the program the students will have to turn to themselves for answers.

For the career exploration part of the course students have taken field trips to farms, ranches, oil rigs, city hall, the newspaper and radio stations, and have had many guest speakers into the class room to explain their employment.

"When we have a guest speaker, he is not only asked about the good points of his job, but the bad points as well," so that the students get a full picture," said Ms. Spratt.

Students are also taught the method of writing a good resume, job interview preparation, and letters of application.

The youth tutoring

TINKER, TAILOR, SOLDIER, SAILOR — Wanda Spratt talks over career ideas with Belinda Lopez, and her assistant, Deborah Hurrington.

program is built around an old idea with a new twist, "Teaching is Learning".

The idea is that underachievers will learn through teaching other, younger, underachievers.

Young people need an opportunity to test themselves, to reaffirm their abilities, and to assume responsibility and, according to the Youth Tutoring program, tutoring offers such opportunities.

Tutoring is a powerful learning experience said Bettye Brown, head of the program. To bring a pupil to a higher level of skill the tutor must understand what he teaches. He discovers new insights, approaches, and new ways of attacking the lesson.

The tutoring program under the direction of Ms. Brown is composed of underachievers from high school, ages 14 to 21, and underachievers in grade school who need tutors.

"What it comes down to is underachievers teaching underachievers," said Ms. Brown.

Each tutor is assigned a younger pupil who needs some extra help with his reading. The tutor must make up his own teaching plan for each day, and a comprehensive progress evaluation on the individual student is handed in each week.

Once trust is given to the tutor from both the supervisor and the pupil, he develops a new sense of responsibility, and as the young people tutor they learn how to learn.

"Some of the tutors we hope will be encouraged enough by the program so that they'll stay in school," said Ms. Brown.

Not only is the tutor's personal development enhanced, but the tutee often increases his reading up to the ability of a normal grade level and sometimes surpasses it. All texts used in the program are the same used in the schools, so that real advancement is possible and measurable, said Martinez.

The program will also give some of the tutors interested in teaching as a career a new insight into the profession.

The Summer Youth Journalism Project, will involve a publication put together by other CETA youth.

The publication will be a guide for teenagers living in Big Spring and will be published July 24, in the Big Spring Herald.

The publication, under the direction of Marion Edmondson, should give students of journalism a look at what is involved in putting out a newspaper.

Members from the Department of Labor in Dallas, and from the Texas Department of Community Affairs, investigated the Big Spring CETA program, and came back with a very optimistic view.

'San Antonio Rose' popular at party

Tom Castle's band headed a music variety program at the Kentwood Center on Saturday.

The band gave a 45 minute recital of its favorites, including "Way Down Yonder", "Tennessee Rag", and "San Antonio Rose". Band members include Castle on the violin; Johnny Shortes, A.C. Powell and Gertrude Hamlin on guitars; Herb Eastham on mandolin; Mrs. Eddie Cook on piano; and Lester Wilbanks handling the vocal assignments.

While the band took a break, a male quartet featuring Alton Underwood, Lynn Hise, Terry Sims and David Holmes sang four popular religious songs including "Looking This Way".

Marshall Brown sang "How Great Thou Art" solo, with the audience heartily joining in on the chorus.

Don Raspberry, assisted by Mrs. Eddie Cook at the piano and Gertrude Hamlin on her guitar, gave a 10-minute recital on his harmonica, which was highlighted by "The Tennessee Waltz".

The band returned to complete the program with request numbers by the audience, including "Listen to the Mockingbird" and "The Wabash Cannonball". Jimmy Simmons did the vocals to a number of popular numbers as the band played. Simmons was at his best in "Blue Kentucky Mountains" and "A Picture of Life's Other Side."

There were eight out-of-state visitors and seven local visitors in the crowd of 147 who attended the performance.

The report states that 1,821,200 women are expected to be in the Texas labor force by 1980, an increase of 220,000 from 1970. Of this total, the report estimates, 610,400 will need child care facilities.

'Moving plan' cuts costs

A six-point "moving plan" can help the do-it-yourselfer cut costs and protect belongings, says Pat Seaman, a housing and home furnishings specialist, who designed it.
 Her plan is this:
 1) Plan the move well in advance.

2) Obtain information about packing and unpacking, the travel route, facilities and costs.
 Then plan a timetable that allows ample time for packing, loading, rest, traveling and unloading.

3) Schedule the required vehicle ahead of time. Make sure it is properly licensed — and in safe working order just before the trip.
 Practice driving it — know how to make corners, handle the vehicle in tight traffic, back it, and generally how it handles.

4) Obtain heavy-duty packing boxes and perhaps rent pads for furniture protection. Moving companies sell boxes, and wax-coated boxes used for transporting poultry to grocery markets and fast food chain restaurants are good, too.

5) Line up necessary assistance for the day of the move.
 6) Buy adequate insurance for protection of household goods and the vehicle.

7) Keep flexible for changes in the weather and other surprises.

Records reveal woman captain

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Patten, called the "Florence Nightingale of the Ocean," is one of the few women to have had their names inscribed in the annals of the sea, records recently discovered reveal.
 In 1856, Capt. Joshua Patten was assigned to sail "Neptune's Car" from New York to San Francisco. Below decks, as recorded in the historic "disaster books" of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Co., was a cargo valued at $800,000; appraisal of the cargo to day would be $10,000,000.
 At sea only a few days, Captain Patten was forced to depose his chief mate for mutiny and put him in irons. Malaria then felled the captain and his two remaining officers.
 Responsibility for the navigation of "Neptune Car" now rested on young Mary Patten, the records show. Faced with the decision to return to New York or continue the long trip to the West Coast, she ordered her crew to sail on.
 On the ship's southward sweep toward Cape Horn the weather turned frigid. Rounding the Cape is the dead of winter, the clipper ship shuddered in the storm-filled Antarctic. The insurance company's records show that only Mary's expert handling kept the clipper from capsizing in the heavy seas. When not at the helm, Mary was down in the cabin tending her ill husband, as well as the other sick.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR RECORD BOOK — Mark Hallisey, 13 (foreground), and his brother, Eddie, 11, have pieced together what must be the world's longest 'string' of fountain straws. The string extends 180 feet and contains about 3,000 used straws, most of which came from the Jet Drive-In Theater. Perhaps Guinness Book of Records will include the 'rope' in its next edition. Airline will fight, not spray

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is ordering planes leaving a Washington airport for California sprayed with DDT after finding live Japanese beetles on board a plane, but one airline says it will fight, not spray.

King Lovinger, an Agriculture Department spokesman, said Tuesday the "routine" spray order was aimed at protecting California's agriculture industry from the beetles. But United Airlines, citing an Environmental Protection Agency ban on DDT for farm use, has refused to spray its aircraft. United spokesman James Linsie said representatives of his company and two other airlines involved plan to meet today with officials of the Agriculture Department and the Federal Aviation Administration to discuss the spraying program.

Five Americans freed by Cubans

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — "I never thought America was so free," says a young Californian who spent the Fourth of July in Havana after Cuban forces seized the ketch he said he was sailing to Panama.

Robert Skafte and four companions were freed Tuesday. They said two other Americans from another sailboat were still being held in Cuba.

Skafte said the Cubans conceded the 46-foot ketch Musica was in international waters, but they had apparently mistaken it for a sailboat they believed had fired on one of their fishing boats.

The U.S. Coast Guard had been aware of the incident since monitoring the Musica's radio distress signals during the seizure Sunday but had made no public announcement, a spokesman said.

The Coast Guard said it informed the U.S. State Department of the capture.

The State Department had no immediate comment on the seizure.

Skafte, a 19-year-old student from Newport Beach, Calif., had sailed from Marathon in the Florida Keys on Sunday morning.

Aboard were the ship's owner, Dr. Donald Reidt, a professor of medicine at the University of California-Irvine, and three others who, like Skafte, wanted to learn to sail. They were identified as Paul Holthus, 20, Orange, Calif.; Terry Scott Kohrs, 20, Kansas City, Mo.; and Susan McCarthy, 16, Encinitas, Calif.

About 32 miles off the Cuban shore, Skafte said, a fishing boat approached the Musica.

"We told them we were going to Panama, and they said, 'Adios' and left," Skafte told The Associated Press in a telephone interview Tuesday night.

Suddenly, two jet fighter planes appeared and began making passes over the Musica, "dropping some kind of bomblike things that would make a big noise and water would shoot up," Skafte said. "I thought, 'God, there's some kind of war starting.'"

Two gunboats then approached and the Musica was boarded by a Cuban military officer and four armed men, Skafte said. The Cubans stayed aboard for an 11-hour run into port at Bahia de Cabana.

The Americans were interrogated individually, then driven to Havana and held in a dormitory-like facility, he said. About dawn on July 4, "We had breakfast: soda crackers, water and Cuban coffee," said Skafte.

He said more questions followed. During the day, the Musica crew discovered two other Americans had been taken captive. Skafte, who had been debriefed by Coast Guard officers on arrival in Key West, would not reveal their names.

"They're still down there," he said.

He said he and the others were taken back to the Musica at about midnight Monday.

"We said, we're free. It's the end of Independence Day and we're free," said Skafte.

The Musica radioed the Coast Guard again after being released. The ship arrived at Key West on Tuesday afternoon. An exhausted Skafte said the experience gave him a new view of democracy. "I'm not glad it happened, but it gave me a chance to appreciate America. I never thought America was so free."

TENT CITY — Two members of the May Fourth Coalition talk by their tents at Kent, Ohio. The 130 protestors have vowed not to move voluntarily.

Westbrook teacher

with Marj Carpenter

Minnie Lee and Mabel Hood were school teachers. That's what they meant to be. And that's what they were.

The two women were the daughters of the R.A. Hoods. He was an early farmer and stockman in the Spade Community in Mitchell County.

The only two children of that family had 20 years difference in their age. Mrs. B.F. (Mabel) Logan, 79, retired from the Big Spring schools and lives in Big Spring.

Mrs. T.C. (Minnie Lee) Moore, 59, retired this year from the Westbrook Schools where she had taught school for 33 years.

All of that time, she taught the third grade except for one year when she had another assignment.

It was a major loss to the system when she retired and they held a special reception in her honor.

She laughed and said, "I quit for two reasons. One, I wanted a few years to do things with my husband and enjoy my retirement. Two, I had already taught the children of the first children I taught and was about to start on the grandchildren. I thought that was enough."

She was born at Spade, graduated from Colorado High School and had a B.A. degree from Texas Tech (when it was a small college). She had graduate work from Hardin Simmons and Texas Tech.

When her husband was in the service she taught two years away from Westbrook. She came home when her mother was to have surgery to help her with her recuperation period. When her mother got better, she went to work in Westbrook and stayed there for 33 years.

Mrs. Moore has seen lots of changes. "There have been as many changes in schools during the past 33 years as there is a difference between the oxcart and the spaceships to the moon," she stated.

"The children have changed. A lot of them are less respectful. They are more knowledgeable on some subjects and less knowledgeable in others. Television has made a difference.

"Westbrook used to have fairly stable families that stayed there and now many of the students come and go on a transient basis," she added.

She recalled that her father moved to Spade from Erath County in 1901. "My husband and I live there now. We have deep roots in that area," she added.

Last week, the Westbrook folks who loved Mrs. Moore went by to visit her at a special reception honoring her for her years of service to the community.

"I really enjoyed it and love them for giving me the reception. I will miss them. But I really am kind of glad to have a few years to enjoy traveling and other things," Mrs. Moore stated.

Then she added quietly, "I hope I helped somebody along the way."

And from the way Westbrook feels about Minnie Lee Moore — I'm sure she helped more than she will ever know — out in one of the areas where I ride fence.

Cut-rate stamps proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service, meeting to decide whether to raise mail rates, has a request from President Carter for special cut-rate stamps for consumers.

Carter's request, made in a letter to Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar, asks him to consider a "citizen-rate" for first-class mail, but specifies no price. One proposal that has been mentioned would make available a $1 booklet of eight stamps costing 12.5 cents each.

Bailar is expected to pass along Carter's request when the Postal Service Board of Governors meets today to act on proposed new rates that could take effect early next year and to discuss eliminating Saturday delivery.

Carter's proposed rate, recommended last week, could be used by individuals, not businesses.

"I believe that as a matter of national policy it would be in the public interest to pursue the concept of a citizen rate first-class postage for use by consumers," the President wrote.

Bailar said several months ago that the first-class letter rate probably would go to 15 cents if Saturday delivery was eliminated and 16 cents if it was continued.

Although rate increases bring the mail agency substantial criticism, the proposed reduction in delivery is generating as much controversy in Congress this time.

Key members of Congress disputed the finding and a bill is pending in the House to order continued six-day delivery service.

Rangers victims of trip

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Kansas City Royals have just put together an impressive 9-3 road trip and the defending American League Western Division champions didn't pick on any crumbles.

The Royals pounded Ranger righthander Bert Blyleven for three home runs in a 6-4 victory Tuesday night then headed home after the 12-game road swing.

"That's one hell of a record," said Royal Manager Whitey Herzog. "I'll tell you, we didn't have any goals when we set out when I saw the pitchers we were going to have to face."

The Royals beat such high-priced pitching talent as Doc Medich, Vida Blue, Frank Tanana, Nolan Ryan, Dennis Eckersley, Gaylord Perry and Blyleven on the successful swing.

"You've got to be real happy with that," said Herzog. "We're really fortunate to be where we are because we really haven't been playing well."

The Royals are lurking in third place, just one game behind the Minnesota Twins. Frank White, Al Cowens and Hal McRae slammed home runs off Blyleven, now 6-9, who was pitching for the first time in two weeks because of a groin injury.

White slapped a solo homer in the third inning. Cowens ripped a two-run home run in the fourth inning and McRae blasted a towering three-run homer in the fifth inning to chase Blyleven.

MOVE YOUR LEG — Texas Ranger, Bert Campaneris, slides into the leg of Kansas City Royals' catcher, John Wathan, during the sixth inning at Arlington Stadium

Cubs turn down Oakland's Allen

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, it appears, are not interested in acquiring slugger Dick Allen from the Oakland A's.

Manager Herman Franks, who last weekend said he was interested, said Tuesday that "You newspaper guys are making too much of this story. As of now there is nothing to it."

Tuesday he also has no interest in acquiring Allen, who has been a controversial figure for most of his 15-year major league career.

"I don't know where Allen is and I doubt if Charlie Finley knows where Allen is," Kennedy said.

He had said Sunday that A's owner Charlie Finley had contacted him and given him permission to talk to Allen, who was suspended two weeks ago for leaving the team in the middle of a game. At that time, Franks said he would welcome the 35-year-old slugger.

Bob Kennedy, the Cubs' general manager, said

Wreck kills Don Carlton

MILAN, Mich. (AP) — Professional drag racer Don Carlton was killed here when he lost control of a car he was testing for Chrysler Corp., a company spokesman said.

Carlton, 36, apparently lost control of the car Tuesday at the end of the test track and the car flipped over a number of times before coming to rest, officials said.

The driver died at the University of Michigan Hospital in nearby Ann Arbor.

Carlton was driving an altered 1977 Dodge Colt at the Milan Dragway, which the company had rented for the tests.

Ashford mashes Astros

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Rookie infielder Tucker Ashford, 22, says a week with the San Diego Padres is teaching him life in the majors is one of ups and downs.

Ashford experienced both feelings while pacing the Padres to a 12-inning, 8-7 victory over the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

The third baseman was up in the ninth inning when, with two out and the Padres trailing 6-3, he ignited a three-run Padre rally to tie the game and send it into extra innings with his first big league homer.

"I was just trying to get a hit," said Ashford. "The one thing I've always hated to do is make the last out to end a game. I don't know if my homer ignited the rally, but we did score two more runs after it, so things worked out."

In the 10th inning, Ashford said he felt down after dropping Astro leadoff hitter Jim Fuller's infield popup for a two-base error.

Fuller eventually scored on a single by pinch hitter Rob Sperring to lift the Astros to a 7-6 lead.

"That was my most embarrassing moment in baseball," said Ashford. "The ball hit on the heel of my glove and bounced away. I felt like a fool out there lying in the middle of the infield. I'm just happy I had a chance to redeem myself."

Ashford's chance came in the 12th after Dave Roberts led off with a walk, was sacrificed to second by Gary Sutherland and then George Hendrick was intentionally walked by Astro knuckleball specialist Joe Niekro.

That brought up Ashford, who promptly was taken aside by Padre manager Alvin Dark and given some advice on how to hit a knuckleball.

"He said the best way was to choke up on the bat a couple of inches and use a minimum of body movement—just mostly the wrists and forearms," said Ashford.

Three Big Spring netters advanced to the finals in their respective divisions this morning in the Highway 80 Tennis Tournament at the Figure Seven Tennis Center.

Danny Olesen, the top-rated player for the Big Spring Steer tennis team last year, participated in the 16 boys singles finals, and sister Kim Olesen made it to the 14 girls singles championship.

Vicky Murphy, who played high school tennis in Big Spring and college tennis in San Antonio, advanced to the women's singles finals.

Van Manning one of the best tennis players in the state, according to Barry Stephens, tennis pro at the center, advanced to the mens' singles finals.

Manning finished second in the Odessa tournament, and won the Andrews and Midland 80's. He barely lost to the top-ranked player in the state at the Lubbock tournament, dropping a three set thrilling match there.

Approximately 250 tennis players participated in the two and a half day event.

OPEN THURSDAY TILL 8:00

Jax, Billy still not exactly buddies

TORONTO — It began as a simple discussion in Billy Martin's office, about the All-Star balloting, then veered off to his philosophy of managing to win, and wound up, inevitably, involving Reggie Jackson.

Billy Martin will manage the American League All-Stars this time, and it's not as though he hasn't had experience in such matters. He has been managing the New York All-Stars for several months now, with sporadic success, trying to blend the divergent individuals into a common-cause unit. He will apply the same thinking to his selection of the AL squad, and its direction on July 19.

"Is there a DH in the All-Star game?" said Martin. "It's not like the World Series, is it, where they alternate having the DH and not having it, every other year?"

NO DH IN ALL-STAR GAME

"I don't think they use it at all," said a newsmen. "I'll check it out and let you know." (The DH is not used, assures Bowie Kuhn's office, in the All-Star game.)

"Then you have to pinch-hit for your pitchers," said Martin. "So I guess you have to pick eight or nine pitchers."

He started writing down names. "I think I'll start that lefthander in California," he said, meaning Frank Tanana. "Or maybe Fildrych. I like Fildrych."

"What's the latest voting?" said Billy Martin.

"Fisk is leading Munson, but it's very close," said a newsmen. "Carew has it big at first base."

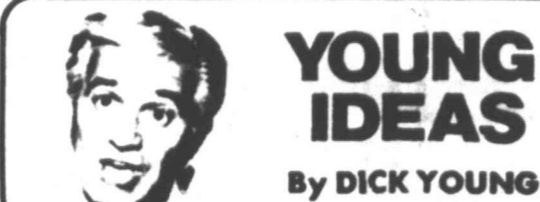

"He's great," said Martin. "I hope he hits for four-hundred."

"Are you going to take him out after three innings?" said a newsmen. "He got mad as hell when they did that a few years ago, remember? I think it was Dick Williams. Said Carew had hurt himself sliding into second. Carew denied it. He wanted to play."

"He'll play all the way for me," said Billy Martin. "I'm not taking him out. I'll just move him to another position." That will give Billy a chance to move his man, Chris Chambliss, in at first base.

Martin asked about third base. He was told that George Brett, KC, leads Craig Nettles by a substantial margin. "I'll get Brett out of there and put Graig in," said Martin.

YOUNG IDEAS
By DICK YOUNG

"He's a better fielder. That's what you win with, pitching and defense. That's the kind of team I want to wind up with."

Such thinking brought up an interesting point in the outfield. The voting process bunches all outfielders; does not distinguish right fielders from left fielders or center fielders.

"Yastrzemski, Lynn and Ziak look like they'll be one-two-three, which is fortunate," said a newsmen. "It gives you a left fielder, center field, right fielder in the starting lineup. Reggie is fourth in the voting. Will you pick him?"

A grin accompanied the question. "I'll pick the guys I can win with," said Billy Martin. He wasn't grinning. "That's what I'll always do," he said. "That's the way baseball should be played. That's the way it was, and that's the way it will be again. Personalities have nothing to do with it. I play the best man at every position."

Billy Martin didn't wait for the next question. He anticipated it.

"He's mad at me anyway," he said. It was obvious who he was.

"How do you know he's mad at you?"

"Three coaches, five players and two mutual acquaintances told me," said Billy Martin. Now he was grinning. "I told them who cares?" he said.

"WHY SHOULD JACKSON BE MAD AT YOU?"

"Why would Jackson be mad at you again?" said the newsmen.

"Because I put Blair in for defense the other day. Paul Blair is the best damn defensive outfielder in baseball. Why shouldn't I put him in for the late innings. Show me a better man on this team, and I'll put him in. That's the way it has to be. All good players think that way. All good players think team first, and themselves second. That's the way it was with me."

That's the way it was before there was so much money involved. They don't think team as much now," said the newsmen.

"That's right," said Billy Martin, "but we'll get back to it. We'd better."

Tornado coach hangs up cleats

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Tornado General Manager Dick Berg, who used zany promotions to establish a soccer beachhead in football-crazed Texas, will be leaving the North American Soccer League team at the end of the season.

Berg, 33, who was in his second season as general manager of the Tornado, said Tuesday that he was resigning to accept a job with another club in the NASL, but declined to mention the name of the team.

"I am not announcing where I am going and I won't until the last day of the season," said Berg.

Berg came to Dallas from San Jose, where his promotional gimmicks helped hike attendance to 17,000 per game.

HEADING FOR THE RECORD — New Zealand's Dick Quax (18) leads West Germany's Karl Fleschen, right, and fellow New Zealander Rod Dixon, left, Tuesday in 5,000 meter event of the International Track and Field Meet at Stockholm. Quax went on to set a new world record of 13:12.86 in the event. Dixon, injured, did not finish.

Midland defeated

By the Associated Press

El Paso's Steve Straughter rapped two home runs and a key two-run ninth-inning double as the Diablos rallied to edge Midland 12-9 Tuesday night and extend their second half lead in the Texas League West Division.

In other games, Shreveport slipped past Arkansas 1-0, Jackson topped Tulsa 4-1 and San Antonio outlasted Amarillo 9-7.

El Paso trailed 9-6 heading into the ninth inning and was down 9-7 with two outs in the inning. Straughter had four hits and five RBIs to pace El Paso.

Jerry Quigley, 1-0, got the win in relief for El Paso, which finished a 12-game, 10-day road trip with an 8-4 record and a 1½ game second half lead in the West. Byron Wilkerson, 4-4, was the loser for Midland.

The Cubs were paced by Tony Pepper, who had three hits, and Karl Pagel, who rifled his 24th home run of the season.

Jim Kidder's eighth-inning, run-scoring single propelled the Captains past Arkansas. Chris Batton, 2-0, twirled a six-hit shutout for Shreveport, while Len Streitz, 6-7, was the loser.

However, Tulsa's loss to Jackson left the Travelers still two games on top in the East Division.

Jackson got its four runs on only three hits. A bases-loaded single by Bill Gifford in the seventh inning iced the game for the Mets, who were tied with the Drillers at 1-1 going into the inning.

Juan Berenguer, 5-6, was the winning pitcher, while Danny Darwin, 5-3, absorbed the loss.

Amarillo's Ivan Murrell, a former major leaguer, drilled his third home run in as many nights for the Gold Sox, who fell victim to a San Antonio offensive assault led by Art Fischetti.

Mike Martin, 5-3, went six and two-thirds innings to gain the win for San Antonio, which was forced to use four relievers, including three in the ninth inning.

Greg Wilkerson, 4-3, took the loss for Amarillo.

Fish better with Lemons

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Tex. (AP) — When University of Louisville basketball coach Abe Lemons starts talking about the big ones that got away, he's referring to those agile seven-foot New York City centers and not his July Fourth fishing excursion.

After spending 12 luckless hours on a charter boat about 25 miles off the Texas coast in search of sailfish and blue marlin, Lemons couldn't remember when he'd had so much fun.

"I remember getting beat 127-67 one night in California when I was coaching at Oklahoma City," he said. "I enjoyed that more than this. At least you know when the game is over you can leave."

Lemons and the five other fishermen who boarded the "Margret Ann" for the daylong exercise in fatality were told the fishing conditions were perfect.

"We'll be going to the 100-fathom mark," said Capt. Jim Tom Harris. "That's where the big fish are found. The water temperature is just right."

Nary a nibble.

"I wonder who told the marlin to stay at 100 fathoms," dead-panned Lemons. "Maybe the fish took the holiday off."

Lemons and crew weren't the only ones bitten by the hard-luck bug. None of the seven boats trolling the deep blue waters along with the 33-foot "Margret Ann" recorded a catch Monday.

"It's been said that deep-sea fishing is 90 percent boredom and 10 percent panic," noted Capt. Harris.

No one got a chance to panic Monday. The deckhands baited the hooks, set the lines and the fishermen took turns sitting in the chair waiting for a chance to try their luck against one of the splendid creatures of the deep.

"I'll give you a dollar to take my turn," said Lemons who continued napping.

The sea even robbed Lemons of participating in one of his favorite pastimes. Eight hands into a poker game, one of the players became seasick.

"That must have been a BAD hand," quipped Lemons.

"You know it's a funny thing about fishermen and hunters," he said. "A guy living in the middle of a deer herd will pack up and go to Colorado to hunt deer. And a fisherman might live on a lake full of fish, but he's got to go to the coast to fish."

"It's a lot like basketball recruiters who have to go to New York City to get the good players. They don't stop in Kentucky. Hell no. They've got to get to New York City."

As the "Margret Ann" churned homeward through the indigo blue sea late Monday afternoon, Lemons commented on his Fourth of July cruise thusly: "It may have been the worst day I ever spent in my life."

Crum turns down offer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — University of Louisville basketball Coach Denny Crum didn't get a pay raise for passing up the coaching job at UCLA, the university athletic director says.

Saxton inks NMJC pact

HOBBS, N.M. — Mark Saxton, 6-3½ inch forward for Lovington High School, has signed a grant-in-aid to play basketball for New Mexico Junior College.

Saxton averaged 16 points a game last season and was his team's leading rebounder. He was named to the all-state team in New Mexico.

In August, Saxton will appear in the annual New Mexico All-Star basketball game in Albuquerque.

"He's in the third year of a five-year contract," Athletic Director Dave Hart said shortly after Crum had told a Tuesday news conference he would remain at Louisville.

"It doesn't mean that I wouldn't renegotiate his contract if need be, but we didn't," Hart added.

Hart said Crum did not use the UCLA offer "for bargaining power or personal gain."

Crum, who reportedly makes about $35,000 a year, not counting additional income from television commercials and personal appearances, said it was "probably the toughest professional decision I've ever had to make."

When your alma mater calls, it's not an easy thing to say no," Crum said.

Crum said his decision was motivated by feelings and concern for his family, his love for the university, "but most of all my love for the people and fans of Louisville."

UCLA Athletic Director J. D. Morgan issued a statement which made no mention of an offer to Crum.

"Denny was a seriously considered candidate for the position as head basketball coach at UCLA," the statement said. "We have interviewed other candidates and will consider others."

Crum met last week with Morgan and other UCLA officials now seeking a replacement for Gene Bartow, who resigned to take a post at the University of Alabama-Birmingham.
