

Reps trying to keep Webb hospital gear

Big Spring's congressional representatives claim they are taking action to oppose the removal of hospital equipment from Webb AFB. According to City Manager Harry Nagel, on Monday the city learned of a recommendation by the Surgeon-General's office to remove "a lot" of equipment from the base hospital. Such a plan would severely cripple the recent efforts to convert the facility to use either by Texas Tech medical school as a training facility, or the possible conversion of the building to house a cancer clinic under the auspices of the Malone-Hogan Foundation. Senator John Tower's administrative assistant, Will Ball, told the Herald today that the senator had met with Mrs. Antonia Chaves, President Carter's nominee for the post of assistant Secretary to the Air Force in charge of manpower, reserves, and installations.

According to Ball, Chaves responded that she would check into the matter and get back in contact with Tower. Chaves, although not yet confirmed by the Senate to the post, is nevertheless handling the day-to-day activities as a designate, and is expected to be confirmed by next week.

Congressman Omar Burleson, according to administrative assistant Judy Curtis, has contacted both the Office of Economic Adjustment (OEA) and the Air Force. Although Curtis called the removal of the equipment "a routine Air Force procedure", Burleson has formally requested that "all possible prudence" be used in asking for equipment. He has further requested that the Air Force provide him, in advance, with a list of the specific equipment they will wish to remove and with an attached justification for each item.

Curtis emphasized that the list Burleson received would be made immediately available to the Webb Steering Committee.

figures recommended in Gov. Dolph Briscoe's address to the legislature on Monday.

The two bills are close on teacher pay — roughly $340 million, counting additional teacher retirement contributions, based on a percentage of the salary increases.

Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, was the lone dissenter on final passage of the Senate bill.

Mengden objected to several features, including a new state agency that would set standards for appraisal of taxable property and review each local district's valuations to assure they are accurate.

"I am very fearful that this bill will destroy local control over school taxation," Mengden said.

Local man burned in tanker blast

ODESSA — An explosion resulting from the collision of an automobile and a gas transport truck has left one woman dead and a Big Spring man in Medical Center hospital.

Dewayne Lovell, 38, Wasson Rd., Big Spring, was apparently driving a gasoline transport truck belonging to Petro Chemical Transport, 3708 W. 80, Big Spring, when the truck collided with a car belonging to an Odessa woman. In the ensuing explosion, the woman was killed and Lovell received second degree burns over 70 per cent of his body.

The explosion occurred at approximately 10:15 a.m. today. According to police on the scene, the truck had run a red light, and one unconfirmed report said the truck's horn was sounding, as if his brakes had failed.

According to Odessa assistant police chief George Scarpa, the fire was out before 1 p.m., although a policeman and a fireman were treated for minor injuries resulting from crowds and the flames. "Our investigation is far from complete," said Scarpa.

Police reserve needs applicants

The cut-off date for applications to be a Reserve Officer of the Big Spring Police Force is Friday.

The police force is in the process of selecting qualified persons for appointment to the police reserve.

The selection will begin immediately, and appointment into the reserves will follow completion of a 72-hour basic police course to be taught at Howard College.

Applicants must be 21 years old, be a United States citizen, have a level of education acceptable by the screening board, be free of all physical defects, of a good moral character, never convicted of a felony, and have a good driving record.

A rigid background investigation will be made of each applicant, including a fingerprint check, a driver's license check, a credit rating check, and a physical examination.

Having been satisfactorily screened, applicants may be selected to attend the Police Reserve School, and upon satisfactory completion of this course, applicants can then be appointed to the reserve force.

Vote delayed on school bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A small hitch — called the Texas Constitution — kept the House from voting today on a public school finance bill.

It will come up at 9 a.m. Thursday for sure.

Speaker Bill Clayton had hoped for a vote on his $960 million version as a substitute for the Senate's bill. But that would have required a four-fifths vote to suspend a constitutional rule.

The $943.5 million Senate bill was read for the first time this morning, and the constitution says each of the three readings of a bill must take place on separate days. So just to take up the bill would have required a four-fifths vote.

Clayton said he still hopes for final passage of the bill Thursday — again requiring a four-fifths vote — so a conference committee can begin negotiating a compromise between the two chambers.

Any chance of the House accepting the Senate's bill? he was asked.

"None," he replied. But Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, leader of House liberals, said, "There is a very strong chance we have the votes for Senate Bill 1."

He added that Clayton's forces are "working the floor like the dickens" to line up the votes needed for the speaker's rural-oriented measure.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, has said repeatedly he hoped the House and Senate could agree on a single bill without the need for a conference committee.

But Clayton said that was not likely. The Senate's bill and the one approved Tuesday afternoon by the House Public Education Committee are polls apart on the gut issue: expenditures to equalize rich and poor districts versus reduction of local tax burdens for the Foundation School Program.

The House bill provides $131.4 million in additional funds for equalization and $354.8 million to cut local fund assignments (LFA) for the foundation program.

But the Senate bill allots $233 million to reduce LFAs and $210 million for equalization — roughly the

Martin speeding case before appeals court

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An Odessa lawyer told the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today the state's 55 miles-per-hour speed limit law is unconstitutional.

Paul N. Kenworthy appealed his own speeding conviction — he was doing 65 — and the $105 fine levied against him by a Martin County judge.

Kenworthy told the court the 1973 statute unconstitutionally delegated the legislature's power to the Texas Highway Commission. What the legislature did was tell the commission to adjust the limit — then 70 miles per hour on major highways — as necessary.

Congress had dictated the 55 m.p.h. limit as an energy-saving measure and said states would lose federal highway aid if they didn't comply.

In his brief, Kenworthy said the legislature "cannot delegate to an administrative board the power to make a law prescribing a penalty."

He said it was the legislature's place — not the commission's — to determine matters of policy on fuel conservation and "the advisability of retaining federal highway funds."

"The possibility of losing federal highway funds was very apparent to the legislature and it was easy enough to determine in passing the statute," Kenworthy said.

"The present case is not a question of needing the particular expertise of an administrative agency, but rather political expediency in passing a 55 mile-per-hour speed limit."

The high court took the case under advisement.

Nuclear weapon use still cloudy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is walking softly through a discussion of possible U.S. use of nuclear arms.

At one point during a nationally televised news conference on Tuesday, Carter seemed to move U.S. policy toward the position that use of a single nuclear weapon would bring worldwide devastation.

But then he added that he wouldn't say exactly what his policy would be in any specific situation.

"My guess is, and no one would certainly know, that the first use of atomic weapons might very well quickly lead to a rapid and uncontrolled escalation in the use of even more powerful weapons with possibly a worldwide holocaust resulting," said the commander-in-chief.

"This is a prospect that is sobering to us all."

But he prefaced his comments by saying:

"One of the concepts that must be avoided is an exact description ahead of time of what I as President would do under every conceivable circumstance."

The first statement seemed to put Carter on one side of the decades-long debate over whether a "limited" nuclear war would be fought, or whether the use of one nuclear weapon would trigger full-scale nuclear exchanges. In the past, U.S. policy has seemed to consider, at least, the possibility of a limited nuclear war.

But Carter's statements were not unequivocal.

Herman Kahn of the Hudson

Institute and a leading expert on nuclear war and escalation, says Carter is "playing both sides of the fence," trying to talk to the Russians and U.S. allies at once.

"He's saying to the Russians: 'Don't try it. We might use it,'" Kahn said. "He's saying to our side: 'Don't worry. We won't.'" Closely connected with the issue of a "limited nuclear war" is the question of a first strike: would the United States be the first to use nuclear weapons?

Carter said at his news conference: "I believe that the nation that uses atomic weapons first would be under heavy condemnation from the other people of the world unless the circumstances were extremely gross, such as unwarranted invasion into another country."

This put Carter in the mainstream of policy followed by his predecessors, that the United States would not be the first to strike with strategic nuclear weapons such as powerful long-range missiles.

U.S. nuclear forces have been designed to withstand a surprise atomic attack, and then retaliate with devastating force.

County answers Trans Regional

Howard County has filed an answer to Trans Regional Airline's request for a suspension of services. The request was granted temporarily May 1, 1977, but the final decision has yet to become permanent.

According to County Attorney Harvey Hooser, the answer was "intended to clear up misconceptions in the original request, including the accusation concerning Howard County's cooperation with the airline."

Although the request was granted by the Texas Aeronautical Commission because of "dropping passenger load", the original request filed by R.E. McClure attributed the airline's troubles to lack of cooperation with the county.

The request has not yet been received in Austin, according to Harry Rogers of the TAC, but if it arrives postmarked on the 11th, Rogers believes the answer will be accepted.

The next step, he explained, would be an informal hearing to consider the county's answer, followed by a permanent ruling by the examining official.

Oil pump firm will build at new site

BMW Monarch Corporation, now located on the Snyder Highway, is moving its operation over to FM 700 just west of Berkley Homes.

Paul Shaffer, President of Chaparral Contractors, said that the oil pump company picked the site because of the excellent access to other towns, and said that the whole area west of Berkley Homes may be a possibility for an industrial park in the future.

The new building will be 30 feet wide and 75 feet long, and construction should be completed by September 1. Cost indicated on the building permit is $20,000.

Prison quiet after fatal clash

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — San Quentin Prison was described as tense but calm today after Black Muslim and Nazi inmates battled with clubs and knives in racial clashes that killed three convicts and injured five in an honor wing.

Prison officials were keeping inmates confined to their cells in a prison-wide lockdown.

When the conflict erupted in an honor wing of the prison on Tuesday, Mike Luxford, acting information officer, said, "The lid's flying off."

"The hospital looks like a battleground. There was blood and people everywhere. It's an incredible mess."

Prisoners are being kept in their cells in a lockdown that officials say will probably last a week.

Luxford said there have been three major racial fights in the last 10 years at the prison.

"But when three people are killed, it's a pretty large-scale incident ... Anytime somebody loses their life over the color of their skin, nobody wins," he said. "The climate here is all tension and fear."

Inmates attacked each other along corridors in the prison's north and west wings with makeshift knives and clubs before guards firing rifle shots quelled the disturbances.

The deaths and injuries came in two separate attacks by members of the American National Socialists on members of a Black Muslim prison sect, officials said. The fights took place in the prison's west wing "honor block," which houses 364 men, as prisoners lounged outside their cells after meals, officials said.

The first fight, two white inmates attacking a black prisoner, was broken up in the morning when guards spotted them and fired a warning shot. Prisoners were ordered into cells, but Charles Jack Captain, 31, a black inmate from San Francisco, was stabbed in a stairwell.

Captain, serving a two-year-to-life sentence for assault with a deadly weapon, died a few hours later of wounds in the back and side.

Some nine hours later, at about 5:30 p.m., members of the Nazi group "made a move against the Black Muslims, who were superior in arms and numbers. Violence resulted," Luxford said.

A white inmate was huried to his death from a third-story prison tier and a second was stabbed to death. Neither was immediately identified.

Two whites and three blacks were injured, three of them seriously. One injured black, identified as Jimmy Louis Hunt, 24, of San Francisco, suffered superficial stab wounds, Luxford said.

Prison officials said there were two other fatal stabbings at San Quentin this year.

Carr trying to halt trial of Don Yarbrough

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Associate Texas Supreme Court Justice Don Yarbrough's lawyer said today he will go to federal court in an effort to stop the legislature from trying his client Friday.

"They're only concerned with whether they've had enough time to prepare for trial. They're giving no time at all for us to get ready," said Waggoner Carr. Carr called it a "rush to judgment," and said, "It's about as bad as anything I've ever been in."

"The judgment has already been made. The members already have expressed themselves," Carr said.

The legislature is scheduled to meet as a committee of the whole to consider an "address" resolution Friday morning.

Yarbrough's lawyers filed 10 documents with the House and Senate Tuesday, claiming, among other things, he cannot be removed from office because the allegations against him are sufficient to bring impeachment proceedings against him.

Yarbrough argues that the section of the state constitution that legislators are trying to use to oust him from his supreme court seat provides for removal "for willful neglect of duty, incompetency, habitual drunkenness, oppression in office or other reasonable cause which shall not be sufficient ground for impeachment."

The House concurrent resolution of address accuses Yarbrough of perjury, forgery and solicitation of the "commission of the offense of capital murder."

These are high crimes and misdemeanors, Yarbrough says, and those are the allegations that have historically been made in impeachment proceedings.

Offbeat: Dial a burglar?

ROCKY RIVER, Ohio (AP) — Detectives in this Cleveland suburb have a mystery on their hands: Who gave the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. a listing for a "Burglar Dept.?"

The listing is the first one under Rocky River in the new Cleveland area telephone directory.

"That's the number for the Detective Bureau," an embarrassed Police Chief Richard Lough said.

He said the telephone company put a new telephone system in City Hall recently and theorized that the listing came from a temporary worker manning the switchboard.

"People are calling from all over to report burglaries," he said.

PLO rejects plan

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) rejected President Carter's statement that any Palestinian territory established by a Middle East settlement should be tied to Jordan and not independent. "We insist on a 100 per cent independent Palestinian state on every yard of Palestinian soil freed from Israel by military action or diplomacy," said a PLO spokesman. Carter told his news conference Tuesday he agreed with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Jordan's King Hussein that "the Palestinian entity, whatever form it might take, should be tied in with Jordan and not be independent." Carter said the final decision is up to Israel and its Arab neighbors. "As far as we are concerned," PLO spokesman Mahmoud Labadi said, "the ultimate decision on the Palestinian future should and will be up to us, and no one else."

Take that . . . and that!

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Police officer Steve Forman thought he was seeing things when he spotted a man early Tuesday beating on his car with a baseball bat. "This is my car and it won't start," the motorist explained. "I'm teaching it a lesson." Forman verified that the man was the registered owner of the battered 1966 model Oldsmobile, then drove away. "It's not against the law to beat up your car," the officer concluded in his report.

Women's role compared

(AP) — Karen DeCrow, the past president of the National Organization of Women, will be employed by American Express to conduct a 17-day tour of four European countries to show tourists how the role of women in those countries compares with their role in the United States. "It's the first trip of its kind that I've heard of, and I'm excited about it," Ms. DeCrow said Tuesday. "It will be an educational trip that I think will be a lot of fun. Let's face it, why do people travel? It's for the fun. The main purpose of the trip is to have fun." The tour will include visits to Sweden, which is regarded as one of the most advanced societies in women's rights, and Ireland, which is "almost medieval" when it comes to women's role in society; and Denmark, she said.

Rusk backs rights stand

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — President Carter's strong human rights stand is "very appropriate," but U.S. leaders must remember the importance of relations with the Soviet Union, former Secretary of State Dean Rusk says. "However deep the differences between us and the Soviet Union on human rights, at the end of the day we have to find ways to inhabit the same speck of the universe at the same time," Rusk said at a question and answer session Monday at the Taft Institute of Government at the University of Georgia.

Nursing homes hit

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — The number of violations of nursing home standards in Texas is much higher than the national average, according to a federal investigator who labels the nursing home situation in Texas as "critical." A report issued Tuesday by U.S. Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin said "The situation in Texas clearly requires ongoing congressional oversight as well as strong and prompt action by appropriate federal and state officials." The report was prepared by investigator David Holton of the House Select Committee on Aging under orders of committee chairman Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla. The investigation had been requested by Wilson following a series of stories in the Lufkin News about alleged irregularities and violations in Texas nursing homes. The report said the stories published — including reports of unsanitary conditions, starvation diets and neglect by nurses' aides — were "substantially accurate." "If the enforcement effort in Texas is not massively overhauled, strengthened and made more effective," the report said, "one cannot help but predict that the horror stories like those out of Lufkin will continue." Investigations showed that Texas is far above the national average in total number of violations. "Standards for dietary sanitation conditions," it said, "were violated in 11 per cent of the U.S. nursing homes. During the same period, 33 per cent of Texas nursing homes violated those standards."

Son of elderly man reports abuse of dad

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Seven San Antonio nursing homes are being investigated, including one for possible abuse of an elderly patient, according to a spokesman for the Texas Department of Public Welfare. The probe is being conducted by investigators for the Texas Department of Public Welfare. A DPW spokesman said one local home was under investigation as a result of an elderly man being beaten. The other six are being investigated for "possible deficiencies in diets of patients and under staffing violations." He declined to name the seven institutions until the investigation is further along. "The son of an elderly man reported the abuse of his father and this incident was confirmed. What we haven't yet determined is if the man was beaten by staff member of the home or by another patient," the spokesman said. The spokesman said the beating took place May 7 and the man received two black eyes and other injuries. "If we find deficiencies in the diets of patients, we'll turn those cases over to the Texas Department of Health," the spokesman said. He said three of the nursing homes being investigated are on state records for previous state standards violations. He said there is a heavier run than usual of people reporting violation as a result of reports of state standards violations at Lufkin.

TESCO requesting 23.6 per cent hike

COLORADO CITY — A 23.6 per cent increase in electric rates here being sought here by Texas Electric Service Co. B.B. Hardee, office manager for TESCO, appeared before members of the city council Tuesday night to make the request. The average bill, Hardee said, will go from $22.31 to $27.71. The projected boost is in line with what TESCO is seeking in other cities served by the utilities company. The council voted to suspend the rate increase for 120 days. Members will reconsider it on or prior to Dec. 3. Councilmen also decided to make an exception in the city's mobile home ordinance in order to accommodate 87-year-old Mrs. Betty Winn, who told the council she wanted to replace her old mobile home with a new one. Mrs. Winn said she wanted to live at the site because her son lives next door. The exemption for Mrs. Winn was unanimously passed by the council. The council also authorized purchase of a new Caterpillar front end loader from Treanor Equipment Co., Abilene, although Treanor submitted the high bid among four received. City Manager James Campbell recommended the purchase, explaining he believed the availability of parts and service would be better.

Scottsboro suit dismissed

WINCHESTER, Tenn. (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. has been cleared of any liability in a $6 million libel suit brought against it over a movie, but the plaintiff says she will fight the decision. After four days of federal court testimony, Judge Charles Neese dismissed the case for what he said was a lack of evidence showing NBC to have libeled Victoria Price Street, the plaintiff. The suit was filed over NBC's television movie "Judge Horton and the Scottsboro Boys." "There is no evidence of any fault against NBC," Judge Neese said. "The only way anyone could find a verdict against NBC would be through speculation, guessing." Mrs. Street was the main witness and one of the alleged victims in the famed northern Alabama "Scottsboro Boys" rape case of the 1930s. She contended that the network libeled her in its movie by suggesting she lied during the rape trials which sent nine black men to prison for a total of 130 years.

MULTI-MILLION DOLLAR LIBEL SUIT DISMISSED — This 1933 file photo shows defendants in the Scottsboro trial going to court in Decatur, Ala., under armed guard. A federal judge Tuesday dismissed a $6 million libel suit against NBC, ruling that the network had not been proven negligent in airing the movie "Judge Horton and the Scottsboro Boys." Victoria Price Street, a plaintiff in the original Scottsboro trial, had brought the libel suit against NBC.

Consumer spending dips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The third straight monthly decline in consumer spending is raising new questions about whether the economy faces a substantial slowdown in months ahead. The decline in consumer spending began in April, the month that President Carter withdrew his proposal for a $50 tax rebate for each American. Carter said the rebate no longer was needed to stimulate the economy. Some government economists privately say they think withdrawing the rebate plan was a mistake, and that the economy now may be paying the price. But Maynard Comiez, a leading Commerce Department economist, said it still is too early to say whether the economy is headed for a significant slowdown. He said the Carter administration had expected the economy to grow at a slower rate in the second half of the year than the 7 per cent growth rate in the first. "A lot of things look more and more like 1976," Comiez admitted, but quickly added, "I'm not saying there's going to be a pause." In 1976, the economy grew rapidly in the first half of the year, then suddenly ground to a near halt as consumer buying and production slowed and unemployment climbed. President Carter sounded optimistic about the economic outlook at his news conference Tuesday. "I have been impressed with the long-range projections that have been given me. I feel very good about our economy," he said. The Commerce Department reported Tuesday that retail sales in June totalled $59.23 billion, down very slightly from the May total of $59.24 billion. While the decline was less than one-tenth of 1 per cent, it followed a decline of three-tenths of 1 per cent in May and one-tenth of 1 per cent in April. Carter announced on April 14 he was withdrawing the rebate plan. Retail sales had increased sharply in February and March. Since retail sales figures are not adjusted for inflation, the actual decline in volume of purchases was probably even greater than the dollar decline. Consumer spending had been the major force behind the economy's recovery from the 1976 slowdown. Unless business investment rallies to pick up the slack, the economy could flounder again, Comiez acknowledged. "I still think business investment is an open question. It's one of the keys," he said. "I think it's too early to say whether there will be a sharp slowdown." Budget Director Bert Lance said in an interview last week that the administration would not rule out a new economic stimulus if the economy does enter a new slowdown period, although he added he doesn't think this will happen. He acknowledged that the several recent adverse economic reports could be interpreted as signalling a possible slowdown. In addition to retail sales, these included the rise in unemployment to 7.1 per cent in June and the first decline in the government's index of leading economic indicators in several months in May.

Bid to change rules after game is over

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A leader of a conservative group says it's the fault of the International Women's Year's state committee that the state delegation to a national women's conference does not follow federal guidelines.

Leaders of the Alabama Committee said Tuesday that they would challenge the delegation at the November meeting in Houston, saying it does not meet requirements because it is mostly white, middle class and Protestant.

Mrs. Albert Lee Smith Jr. of Birmingham, vice president of the Eagle Forum, a group opposed to the EQUAL Rights Amendment, said the delegation was elected under rules set by the IWY Committee.

"They handled the election. If it was illegal, it was their responsibility and their fault," she said.

The Eagle Forum gained 20 of Alabama's 24 delegates to the Houston meeting in voting at a conference in Montgomery last Saturday. "And now they're trying to change the rules after the game is over. They're just being poor losers," Mrs. Smith said of the committee.

The committee said at a news conference that the delegation does not meet guidelines calling for "special emphasis on the representation of low-income women, members of diverse racial, ethnic and religious groups and women of all ages."

Brother-sister robbery act?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Austin police arrested a brother-sister team in less than half an hour after the Travis Bank & Trust Co. was robbed late Tuesday.

Charged with aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon were Barry Lane Bennett, 24, and Bonnie Bennett Hudgins, 22, both of Zachary, La.

Bank officers said a man waved a .32 caliber revolver at bank teller Melissa Casbeer and demanded only $50 and $100 bills. He fled with less than $5,000, they said.

Police said the money was recovered when Bennett was arrested at an apartment in north Austin. He offered no resistance.

Police and FBI said Bennett and his sister had lived in the apartment for about two weeks.

A third person was initially taken into custody but officers said later the man was only visiting the Bennett apartment when Bennett was arrested. The third person was not charged.

Weather Heavy rain falls east of El Paso

Texans mopped their brows today and sweated another day deeper into unrelenting July heat.

Occasional showers and thunderstorms brought moderate to heavy rain just east of El Paso in extreme West Texas and scanty moisture elsewhere from that city to the Guadalupe Mountains.

Aside from early morning clouds in the Hill

Country of Central Texas the skies were clear and the sun cruelly bright across the rest of the state.

Early morning temperatures ranged through the 60s and 70s. Half a dozen cities shared the state's top mark of 100 degrees Tuesday.

There was little resistance from the protesters, and officers were careful to be gentle.

A deputy who helped make arrests said, "Thank God there was no violence. We kind of had to pry them apart. It was sort of a game, but we have a sense of humor, too."

The dispersion of the Tent City did not end resistance to alteration of the tree-topped hill by a planned $6 million gymnasium annex. The May Fourth Coalition voted Tuesday night to hold more rallies, and some discussed reoccupying the hill.

John Coble, 20, a student at Miami Univ. at Miami, Ohio, said he was in junior high school when he saw the television reports of the Kent State shootings.

"It touched me deeply, even at that age," the Toledo native said after he was released from the Portage County Jail.

"But here's one of the really instructive things about this whole day. We had just conducted a nonviolent protest and yet outside the courthouse I heard two (local) women say, 'There should be a bullet for every one of them.'"

Among the first arrested Tuesday were the parents of Sandy Lee Scheuer, one of the four students killed. Sarah Scheuer said she decided that morning to be arrested. "I don't want the gym built there," she said after being taken into custody with her husband, Martin.

KENT, Ohio (AP) — The tents are gone. The demonstrators have been fingerprinted, photographed and jailed. The two-month-old protest on Blanket Hill by the May Fourth Coalition is over.

Steel town imperiled by fumes

ROCKWOOD, Tenn. (AP) — This valley steel town remained imperiled today by noxious brown fumes still drifting away from the site of a tanker wreck that splashed toxic bromine over a highway.

National Guardsmen finished evacuating the last of Rockwood's 5,259 persons early this morning, including 55 patients in a local hospital. Some 1,500 residents had refused to move and had to be forcibly evacuated.

"I can't overemphasize the danger involved in breathing this chemical," said Col. Russell Newmann of the National Guard. Forty persons were treated and released at area hospitals following the spill.

"It can be lethal. The people who are in Rockwood are in imminent danger in the possibility of a wind shift and an additional spill of the chemical."

Steve Webster, a Civil Defense officer from Knoxville who helped coordinate the evacuation, said the "bromine can be fatal when it vaporizes and it vaporizes under normal atmospheric conditions. The liquid will burn and the vapor can kill you."

A Dow Chemical Co. emergency team today planned to move the tanker, which still contains about half its 1,800-gallon load of liquid bromine.

Ex-Childress cotton dealer to go on trial

PADUCAH, Tex. (AP) — Former Childress cotton dealer Vaughan D. Nowlin is to go on trial here Sept. 19 on a charge of felony theft by check.

State District Court Judge Robert T. Balch Tuesday said Nowlin, who faces 13 charges of theft by check, will be tried in September on only one of the indictments. That charge accuses him of issuing a worthless $43,002.49 check to Prentiss Fields as payment for 187 bales of cotton. The check, dated March 5, 1976, was returned by the bank, marked "not sufficient funds," according to the indictment.

Nowlin, who now lives in Durango, Colo., was named in 13 indictments accusing him of theft by check. He was also named last year in a civil suit filed by 31 farmers who claimed Nowlin failed to pay them a total of $375,240 for cotton they sold to Nowlin Cotton Co. of Childress.

Nowlin is also being sued by three Big Spring area farmers through local lawyers Lanny Hamby and Mike McKinney. The plaintiffs are asking for over $70,000 in lost cotton receipts. According to the attorneys, the suits have been pending for over a year, since Nowlin used the receipts as collateral on a loan. When the loan collapsed, the lender quite naturally took the collateral and according to the attorneys, left their clients unpaid for their cotton.

The judge denied a defense motion for a change of venue. In his attempt to get the trial moved out of Paducah, Nowlin testified that he fears for his life and said he does not believe he can get a fair trial in Cottle County.

Girl slain in Longview

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A 25-year-old Longview man was jailed in lieu of $100,000 bond today after being charged with first-degree murder in the beating death of his nine-month-old stepdaughter.

Peace Justice Charles Cashwell accepted the charge and set the bond for Terry Reed, who was arrested Tuesday.

Police picked up Reed after young Rachel Goldstein died in Longview's Good Shepherd hospital. Doctors said she had bruises to the face, head and arms, and cuts on her legs.

Webb transition won't be costly

I have talked to a number of people who do not understand how the City of Big Spring is going about regaining control of Webb Air Force Base.

They are asking some basic questions about the procedures, such as:

- Will the city have to buy the base?
- How will it be used?
- When can the city expect to have title to the facility?

SO I THOUGHT that I would spend one column explaining the Webb situation as best I understand it. I have sat in on many of the Webb Steering Committee meetings and have tried to follow the progress as closely as I can.

First, very few things are absolute at this point. The process is only beginning, and almost any portion of it could be revised.

It is almost certain, however, that the city will gain control of Webb with no cost, or very little cost, to the local taxpayers.

The purpose of the Webb Steering Committee, appointed jointly by the city and Howard County, is to make this transition to civilian control as smooth as possible. This committee is only a temporary body. Once the base is turned over to the city, a more permanent board or authority will be established by the city to oversee the operation of Webb.

THE BASE is being divided into several blocks for its return to civilian control. The steering committee, along with the consultants doing the base reuse plan, are determining just how these blocks are divided up.

One block will be the aviation portion of the facility. This will include the east runway and most of the flight line. It will be given back to the city through the Federal Aviation Administration for use as a municipal airport. Most likely, this portion of the base would include a recapture clause allowing the government to use it in time of national emergency.

Another block of the base will be designated the industrial park. It also will come back to the city through the FAA, and it will include most of the industrial-type buildings. Revenues the city will gain from leasing these buildings must go to support the entire airport complex.

A third block may be returned to civilian control through the Health, Education and Welfare Department. This block would make some of the facilities available for use by local or state governmental agencies for medical or health or education programs. The buildings will be given to the agencies with no cost, but they must be used for HEW purposes, or the deed will revert to HEW.

A fourth portion of the base is being lumped into what the consultants call the "buy package." This package consists of fair sized-portion of land without buildings. The city will attempt to purchase outright this property from the federal government's General Services Administration. The purpose of the "buy package" is to provide land which would be completely free of recapture or restraint for industry which might require such property.

FOR VERY little cost, the city will require the use of the base and its expensive improvements.

The catch is that the city will also have to maintain the facility, provide security for it, provide fire protection, mow the acres and acres of grass, and so forth.

Can Webb be made self-supporting as a municipal airport and industrial park?

No one knows for sure, but it looks very hopeful at present.

A preliminary estimate indicates the base could produce annual revenues of $400,000 to $600,000 a year, which would be adequate for the short run, and perhaps for long-term maintenance as well.

Initially, the city hopes to sign some maintenance agreements with the government for upkeep in the interim stages until the deed can be conveyed to Big Spring, probably sometime next year.

This money, plus the buildings that will already be under lease on the base, should give the city a running start at making the facility a break-even proposition.

A recent Action-Reaction question received by the Herald read, "One can see raises for fire fighters, but how many burglaries have been solved by the police in the last six months?"

The police have solved 106 burglaries in the last six months.

According to Captain Jimmie McCain, burglaries are on the rise. In the first six months of 1976, there were 322 burglaries, compared to the first six months of this year with 352 burglaries.

This increase of burglaries by approximately 9 per cent is an indication of an overall higher crime rate in the area.

ACCORDING TO statistics compiled by Captain McCain, overall increase in crime as compared to the crime rate during the first six months of 1976, amounts to 61 per cent.

While burglaries in a town this size may at first not seem to amount to much, on second thought, and a look at the figures, the burglary rate would suddenly seem astronomical.

In the short months between January 1, and June 30, of this year total loss to burglaries, theft, and auto theft amounted to over $380,000. Of this phenomenal figure, nearly half, $143,641 is due to burglaries.

Of this figure, approximately $20,000 of the lost goods are attributable to three big burglaries which happened near the end of June, and hence has not yet been recovered.

Of the remaining $120,000 or so, the pitifully understaffed detective division of the police force has recovered nearly half, $52,600.

The detective division of the department, normally functioning as a seven-man force, has been cut to five investigators in the last few months, due to medical reasons. Under normal conditions, or with a seven-man force, each investigator would have a work load of about 40 cases per month.

Yet, with this tremendous work load, the department has managed to clear fully 36 per cent of all the burglaries which occur in Big Spring.

When appraising the efficiency of the Police Department in financial terms, it is significant that some perishable goods taken in burglaries are commodities which the police could not possibly recover, such as money, food, beverages, and gasoline. Restitution of these irrecoverable items must be sought through the courts.

YET THE MONEY figure which these articles represent is a portion of the total figure of loss due to burglaries. In other words if the police were able to solve every single burglary committed, it would not necessarily represent a total financial reimbursement to the victim of the burglary.

According to Captain McCain, the total financial figures of loss are determined strictly by what the burglary victim tells police officers his stolen property was worth.

McCain said that often these figures are based on sentimental value. In appraising recovered properties, the police derive a money figure by the value of the items at a fair market rate. Hence figures representing a fair market value and sentimental value are often far apart.

It is significant that the detective division of the Big Spring Police Department clears 20 per cent of all major crimes in Big Spring. The national average clearance rate for major crimes amounts to 18 per cent.

Face of Africa

Evans, Novak

LIBREVILLE, Gabon — The recently concluded African summit here posed this seeming paradox: while lionizing Idi Amin and choosing Communist-backed guerrillas to rule Rhodesia, the conference was actually dominated by conservatives worried about deepening Soviet penetration in Africa.

The Organization of African Unity's (OAU) annual meeting, therefore, revealed this face for black Africa: no real regard for human rights; irrepresible enjoyment in kicking the white man around; a right-of-center orientation that views the Kremlin's African offensive with far more gravity than does Andy Young.

THIS DISAGREEMENT about the Soviet threat is not the only difference between the reality at Libreville and the Carter administration's idealization. Apart from coincidental agreement on Rhodesia, the black Africans here have no more interest in President Carter's crusade for world human rights than does Moscow or Pretoria.

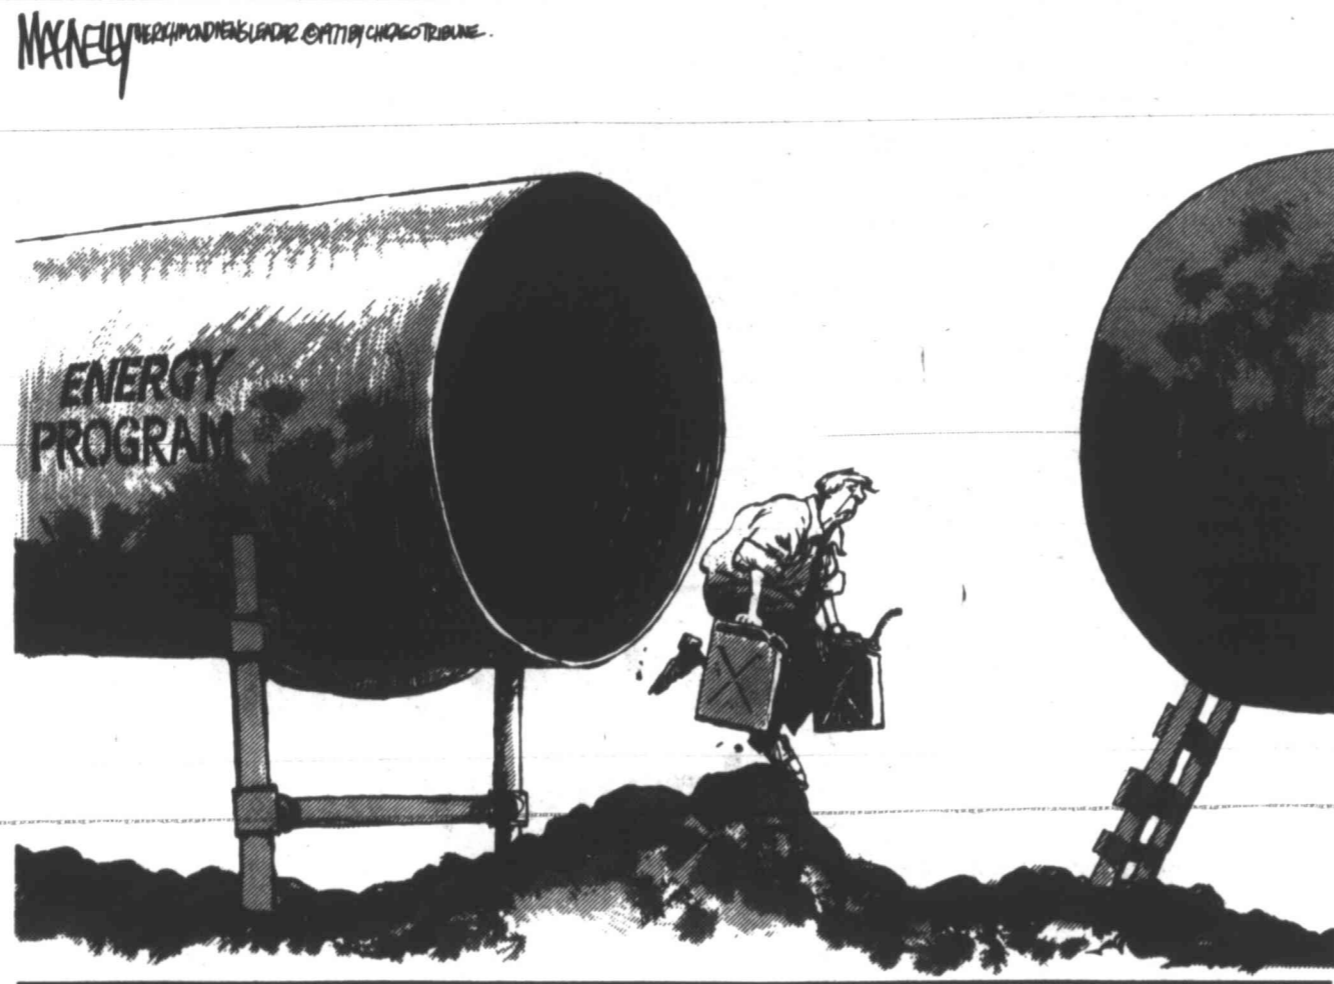

While Amin and Rhodesia dominated the headlines, the Libreville summit moved rightward from OAU meetings of recent years. The conference went on record, though euphemistically, against spreading Soviet interference in African affairs. An Algerian effort to muddy the language picked up only 18 votes (including the five "front-line" states) out of 49.

U.S. diplomats, discreetly watching from the corridors here, attributed this rejection of the radical bloc to new U.S. initiatives against white minority rule in southern Africa. Hardly anybody else agreed. Rather, the Russian hand in last spring's rebel invasion of Zaire has set most of the continent — especially French-speaking Africa — eyeing the Russian bear with suspicion.

But the triumph here by Uganda's President Amin shows anti-Soviet attitudes do not mean African leaders are with the West in heart or mind. Not only was Marshal Amin cheered whenever he set foot into the conference center, but his comic opera allegation of a Western plot to kill him and other African leaders drew sustained applause. Amin's colleagues said nothing about mass murder in Uganda. Nor would they say a word against him privately to reporters.

THE GIVEAWAY was the delighted laughter and applause with which Amin's self-description as "conqueror of British imperialism" was greeted. "Any policy that belittles the white man will always find favor with the black African," an Arab African delegate confided to us.

Delight with Amin's twisting of the poor old British lion's tail is not mitigated by concern that the splendidly uniformed marshal kills people. Nor were the statesmen here interested in lesser crimes against humanity: an accelerating level of killings by Ethiopia's militant leftist regime; slave labor in Equatorial Guinea; political repression in Burunda, Guinea, and in varying degrees in other countries throughout Africa.

Underarm sweating can be cured

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have severe perspiration under my arms. This is embarrassing and causes problems with clothes. I sweat so heavily that it travels down to my waist. The only time I'm dry is when I'm asleep.

Please help. Is there a drug or operation that will cure this? I asked my doctor and he says nothing can help. I've used every kind of deodorant there is. I am 22, 5 foot 7, and weigh 130 pounds. Is this a serious problem? Ms. C.J.

Depends on what you mean by serious. Many women (some men) write complaining about this, but they are not all seriously ill. Local applications will not help. Medication taken by mouth to reduce perspiration is apt to have unpleasant side effects — mouth dryness, blurring of vision, etc.

Two operative procedures are available. One is to remove a small segment of skin from the axilla (armpits) that contain the overactive sweat glands. A plastic surgeon could give you advice on this.

The other procedure is to destroy the glands by cryosurgery (freezing). A strong light locates the gland, which is then treated with a probe under local anesthesia. Some British surgeons have reported minimal scarring and good results.

Deodorant is what the name implies. It deodorizes but will not reduce sweating. Some folks suffer from extreme problems of perspiration, so surgery, while certainly not to be undertaken frivolously, has its place. Relief of such embarrassment can change a person's life.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My seven-year-old son has fluid in his ears which is causing hearing loss of from 20 to 30 per cent. He will have tubes put in them for several months for drainage. He cannot get water in his ears during that time. Why? It happened when he was four and he had his adenoids and tonsils removed.

What causes this? Is it preventable or treatable in any other way? He is being treated by a good specialist. — P.W.

This is called serous otitis, which means fluid accumulation (serous) with ear inflammation (otitis).

The condition can result from an infection or an allergy. Absence of his tonsils and adenoids lessens the likelihood of infection being a cause of the latest attack. I would lean more toward the allergy theory.

If the allergy-producing substance can be identified, desensitization to that substance might be the ultimate answer to the ear fluid production. The tiny tubes placed in the ear drums drain fluid out, but that means substances such as water can get in as well. The danger is of infection, so care must be taken. You don't want to add infection to what I suspect is an allergic problem.

You may need the help of an allergist as much as you need an ear specialist. He has probably treated similar problems before and can advise you. Getting at the cause of the fluid production and treating that could end the hearing problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Your material on hiatal hernia arrived yesterday. The third and fourth paragraph of the booklet describes my particular case. I have a rupture, the old-fashioned word used by my father. I was surprised you did not suggest what kind of a brace I can buy to shove it back in place. Kindly reply as soon as possible. — L.T.C.

Those paragraphs discuss the other (groin) kind of hernia, entirely different from hiatal hernia — which is in the gullet. No gadget will reduce hiatal hernia. Reread the booklet.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What do you think about a divorced person working in a church in a position such as church secretary? — H.A.

DEAR H.A.: Many Christians today have placed divorce in a separate category from all other sins. I am opposed to divorce and regard the increase in divorces today as one of the most alarming problems in society. However, I know the Lord can forgive and heal, even when great sin may have been involved. All sin is serious in God's eyes. But Christ came to forgive us, and if God forgives someone for their sinful past, so should we.

The church is made up of forgiven sinners. When Paul wrote the Corinthians, he gave a long list of types of evil men who would not be admitted into heaven, and then he added, "And such were some of you" (I Corinthians 6:11). They had been forgiven, and were now part of the church, the body of Christ.

If a divorced person has repented of sin and been converted to Christ, I can see no reason why that person should not be allowed to make a contribution to the life of the church, whether it is through paid labor or volunteer work. Of course, this is assuming that the person involved has the necessary spiritual maturity for the task that is required of all those who work for the church. The Bible teaches that all believers have been given gifts by God, and they should be used to help others.

Carter threatened

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The Secret Service has now joined the search for Evil LeBaron, the prophet of violence, who claims he receives "military orders" from a wrathful God to strike down false prophets and unrepentant sinners.

He got the Secret Service on his trail, apparently, by adding the names of President Jimmy Carter and Vice President Walter Mondale to his execution list.

INVESTIGATORS ESTIMATE that the fiery LeBaron has already arranged the "religious execution" of at least 20 people who have aroused his ire. He didn't exactly bring down lightning bolts from the sky. Most of the victims, according to investigators, were bushwacked in cowardly fashion.

Most of the assassins are also women who have been indoctrinated to carry out his commands. "I am God's spokesman," he has told them. They believe and obey.

LeBaron's reported goal is to establish God's kingdom on earth. For this purpose, he has stockpiled weapons and is recruiting a peasant army in Mexico. According to investigators, he intends to kill religious and political leaders who stand in his way.

Meanwhile LeBaron has eluded the lawmen of two nations in the colorful canyonlands and desolate deserts of the U.S. Southwest and the adjacent Mexican wastelands. This is Butch Cassidy country — a wilderness of rock formations, red-rock ravines, sagebrush and cactus — where the legendary Wild Bunch hid out at the turn of the century.

The "sagebrush prophet" wrote to Carter, according to Secret Service files, shortly before the election. The letter, although not threatening, warned Carter that his Baptist Church was led by "false prophets."

Not long after the election, both Carter and Mondale received threatening letters from a D.W. Payne, who claimed to speak for the Society of American Patriots. "That sounds like Ervil," one of his relatives told us.

Sure enough, investigators traced the letters to a post office box rented by two of LeBaron's wives in Southern California. The evidence is not hard enough, however, to obtain an arrest warrant. But in view of his violent record, the Secret Service is seeking the elusive LeBaron for questioning.

We have been working on the LeBaron story, off and on, for a year. We had heard whispers of mysterious murders and strange disappearances among the polygamists who live on the edge of the southwest wilderness.

All conservatives?

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The minority leader of the Assembly of the State of New York, the estimable Perry B. Duryea, has addressed individually presidents of corporations, large and small, doing business in New York, asking their help in setting up priorities for legislative reform.

Clearly the counterrevolution is at hand when an ambitious politician feels he can write letters to corporation presidents soliciting their advice without hazard to life and limb. Traditionally, in politics, corporation presidents are acknowledged by politicians only to denounce them, or to solicit campaign contributions from them. Mr. Duryea is on the new line. Because unless they pass a constitutional amendment making it illegal to leave one state for the purpose of doing business in another state, mobile companies and the people who run them are going to react to economic pressures, and in these, Mr. Duryea points out ruefully, New York State excels.

HE BEGINS WITH a few direct statements. New Yorkers have been told "that job losses have been stemmed when, in fact, 162,000 private sector jobs have been lost in the past two years."

"We are told that New York State's problem is a regional one, and that jobs throughout the northeast are fleeing to the 'sun belt.' But 55 per cent of the manufacturing jobs which have left this State settled just across our borders in adjacent states."

"We are told that we have turned the tide on State spending, yet welfare reform is stalled and spending by the State's own bureaucracy is up 90 per cent for this current year.

"The fact is that New York's problem is just that: a New York problem."

He then gives the comparative figures: New York's corporate tax rate is 10-12 per cent; its income tax rate on a $50,000 salary is 9 per cent; its highest personal income tax rate is 15 per cent. Compare New Jersey at respectively 7.5 per cent, 2.3 per cent and 2.5 per cent; Pennsylvania at 9.5 per cent, 2 per cent and 2 per cent; and Connecticut at 10 per cent, 0 per cent and 0 per cent.

Last week Senator Moynihan delivered an impressive speech on the economic problems in New York, lodging the blame substantially on the economic drain going out from New York to Washington. But he alluded to other problems, and cited events during the preceding week:

"The week began with a major revelation by the New York City Comptroller's office that while New York spends $500 a year more than most major American cities for each public school student, most of the extra money goes to administrators, and the City is actually spending 'substantially less' than the national average on instruction. In that report we also learned that only 71 per cent of all high school students in New York City attended school on any given day during 1976. For Cleveland the proportion was 96 per cent."

"On Monday, the Temporary Commission on City Finances reported that inefficiency in the administration of Medicaid costs the City $400 million a year."

HAPPY AT THE NEWS — Mrs. G. Gordon Liddy and two of her five children register their feelings at their home in Oxon Hill, Md., Tuesday after receiving the news their husband and father was granted a parole to take effect Sept. 7. The early release of the man who sought political dirt on the Democrats in the 1972 election was made possible through the intervention of President Carter who cut Liddy's 20-year sentence to 8 years. The boys are Tom, 14, left, and Ray, 13.

Energy — Seadock group needing help

HOUSTON (AP) — Six remaining members of an oil and petrochemical consortium say the group needs new shareholders or efforts to build a deepwater crude oil unloading terminal for supertankers 25 miles off the Texas coast near Freeport will die.

A spokesman for the group commented Tuesday after Gulf Oil Corp. dropped out of Seadock, Inc. the second oil firm to depart the consortium in two days.

Following an hour-long meeting, the remaining six members said in a statement they "will continue to hold the project together long enough to determine whether or not enough new shareholders can be found to support the venture."

But they added, "Unless we get some new shareholders, however, the project is dead."

Dave Coslett, information officer for Seadock, said the consortium began with three members and reached a peak of 13 member companies in 1974. Since then, he said, seven companies have "gradually dropped out" and no new members have joined.

The three most recent companies to leave constituted the majority shareholders in the operation.

Mobil Oil Co., which pulled out in April, had about 15 per cent interest in the terminal. Exxon Pipeline Co., which dropped out Monday, was the biggest shareholder with about 22 per cent. Gulf's holdings amounted to about 15 per cent, bringing to about 52 per cent of the operation that has dropped out recently.

Gulf Board Chairman Jerry McAfee, in announcing his firm's withdrawal, cited "restrictive government requirements as set forth in the license for Seadock issued by the U. S. Department of Transportation."

He said the license raised serious questions as to the rights of the owners of Seadock to operate and manage the terminal and imposed unprecedented open-ended liabilities on individual shareholders.

The charges by Gulf echoed similar accusations by Exxon officials Monday. However, the Houston Post quoted Department of Transportation officials as saying the department is not considering softening the terms of its permit in the wake of the pullouts.

A spokesman for Shell Oil Co., a member of the consortium, said Exxon's departure alone placed the project in "serious jeopardy."

Dow Chemical Co. officials said they are "very concerned for the future of Seadock," but for the moment have "elected to remain in the Seadock organization."

Meanwhile, Gov. Dolph Briscoe said he has talked with Hugh Scott, president of Seadock, about the situation and offered whatever assistance the state could render. However, the governor said he did not know what the state could do until after Seadock's directors decide their next course.

Liddy's wife will clean house

WASHINGTON (AP) — When G. Gordon Liddy goes home on Sept. 7 after 52 months in prison, he will find a clean house and five children grown to adolescence in his absence.

"The first thing I'm going to do is clean this place up," Liddy's wife, Frances, said Tuesday after the U.S. Parole Commission set the date for her husband's release.

She looked around her home and apologized for the clutter, bikes propped against the dining room table, sheets over one chair, a front window in want of repair.

"I was a little disappointed that it would be as long as September," Mrs. Liddy said in an interview only an hour after she heard on her car radio that her husband would be paroled. She was driving near the Watergate complex when she heard the news.

Liddy, whose planning and direction of the Watergate burglary set in motion the events that forced Richard M. Nixon's resignation, is in the federal minimum security prison at Allenwood, Pa.

He has received several job offers, Mrs. Liddy said, including "two that are interesting." She added that she and her husband want to remain in the Washington area because their children, two girls and three boys, ages 13 to 18, participate in school activities. They are on the swim team and in student government.

Mrs. Liddy, who said she gets up at 4:30 a.m. every day to drive one son to swim practice, was bringing him home when she heard the news.

Her easy smile faded when asked how she has managed during the more than four years that her husband has been in prison.

"I don't know how I managed," she said. "It's hard to be the only parent. But Gordon has been a big help. He kept in constant contact with the children through letters. And they would go to visit him regularly."

Tom, Liddy's 16-year-old son, recently received a full scholarship to Washington's prestigious, private St. Alban's School. He said the children visited their father two or three times a month, taking their school essays for him to read.

"He always wants to know what the neighborhood looks like, if the flowers are blooming, if the trees are in leaf, if the Japanese beetles are out," Tom said.

The Liddys live in a two-story brick house in a middle-income housing development in suburban Oxon Hill, Md. Numerous kittens played in the pink petunias and blue ageratum in the flower box on the front stoop. A sad-eyed mutt called Hound Dog patrolled the neatly groomed front yard.

Mrs. Liddy said that since President Carter intervened last April and commuted Liddy's sentence to a maximum of eight years, she and her husband have talked by telephone every day. Last month, their phone bill was $230, she said.

Liddy's term began on Jan. 30, 1973, when a jury convicted him and James W. McCord Jr., of conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping. He was sentenced later by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to serve a term of six years, eight months to 20 years. By commuting Liddy's sentence, President Carter made him eligible for release anytime after July 9.

Deregulation debate deadlocked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The debate over deregulation of natural gas remains deadlocked with both President Carter and congressional supporters of deregulation standing fast in the debate over deregulation's impact on gas consumers.

At his news conference Tuesday, Carter reiterated the administration position that deregulation would cost consumers at least $70 billion by 1985, in return for a negligible amount of additional gas.

The comment came after a reporter asked about a study by three Republican congressmen, who said deregulation would actually save consumers $47 billion because of the "hidden costs" of Carter's plan.

The dispute has been underway since the administration's energy expert, James Schlesinger, unveiled the $70 billion figure last month just before a key subcommittee vote on deregulation.

Rep. Bob Krueger, D-Tex., said the Schlesinger analysis was at least $40 billion in error. He said he told that to Carter in a private meeting two weeks ago, but little ever came of that meeting.

"Clearly, the assumptions in Dr. Schlesinger's paper were erroneous. But the White House has stonewalled it," Krueger said.

Dave Stockman of Michigan, one of the three Republicans who presented the competing, pro-deregulation study, was pleased that it got any reaction at all from the White House.

Stockman said the main goal of the study was to get the proponents of deregulation out of the defensive position Schlesinger put them in. A key House Commerce Committee vote on deregulation is expected this week. It may tell whether the pro-deregulation study has fulfilled its purpose.

All of the estimates published to date differ on numerous details, such as whether gas prices would rise to $2.50 per thousand cubic feet or $3 if they were deregulated. But they all agree that prices would rise.

The main points of contention are whether deregulation, as opposed to Carter's proposed $1.75 price, would result in significantly greater exploration and production of gas. The administration says it would not. The deregulation proponents say it would.

Going on from that premise, the deregulation proponents assign a "hidden cost" to the Carter plan. It is the amount consumers will have to pay for more expensive alternate fuels to replace the natural gas that would be produced under deregulation.

An independent study by the Congressional Budget Office, which Carter cited Tuesday, actually disagreed with both sides. It supported the White House estimates of the amount producers would derive from higher gas prices under deregulation. But it also said that deregulation would be a significant spur to exploration and production, although not as much as the deregulation proponents predict.

The CBO economists also rejected the "be significantly more" saying that alternative fuels would not be significantly more expensive than natural gas at the deregulated price.

The exchange with the President was a sign that the White House is not interested in a compromise on the deregulation issue and intends to fight it out on the floor of the House, Krueger said.

Price freeze resisted

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Radical states within the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — OPEC — said today they would resist any attempts led by Saudi Arabia and Iran to freeze the price of oil in 1978 at current levels.

Libya's oil minister, Ezzedin Mabrouk, said, "There will probably be a new split in the organization if the Saudis maintain this position."

An Algerian spokesman said he felt there must be "some corrections" on the current $12.70 per barrel price before the end of the year. Algerians reported Venezuela was also against a hold on prices, although Venezuela officially declined to comment.

Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the powerful Saudi oil minister and the main proponent of a price freeze, indicated success of his efforts would depend partly on the world economy and progress toward a Middle East peace. The Saudis have often linked moderation of oil prices with progress in the Arab-Israeli dispute.

At a news conference, he praised President Carter for his efforts toward a Mideast peace and his energy conservation program.

"Unfortunately the program has not been accepted by Congress. We think it is a step in the right direction," Yamani remarked.

Yamani said he had not discussed the freeze with the OPEC membership. But he told a news conference: "We'll do our best to convince everybody within OPEC" to support it.

The "discussion" of oil prices, however, was not on the agenda of the two-day meeting, which ended shortly before noon today. OPEC Secretary-General Ali Jaidah read a brief final communique which said that an interim committee had been set up to continue discussions on the crude oil price differential issue.

The differential issue is basically an internal matter within the organization and has no effect on petroleum product prices at the consumer level.

Yamani and Interior Minister Jamshid Amouzegar of Iran first raised the possibility of a price freeze during a television interview Tuesday after the opening of a semiannual OPEC meeting here. But they hedged by saying a freeze would depend on economic conditions at the end of the year and on acceptance of it by all members of the organization.

Saudi Arabia and Iran are OPEC's biggest producers and in the past have been rivals for leadership of the group. But in their joint TV appearance, Amouzegar agreed with Yamani on everything.

"We want to see to the world economy," said the Iranian. "Today there are 15 million unemployed in the industrialized world. We are members of the earth and we cannot overlook that."

Despite their talk of not wanting to hurt the economy of the industrial nations, both ministers admitted there was likely to be an oil surplus in the next two years which would tend to hold prices down. When an oil glut developed in late 1974, OPEC unity was shelved and Saudi Arabia, Iran and several other members cut prices temporarily.

Lives In Brazil

American shares home with children

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Edna Blanche Deakins decided 20 years ago to do something about the problem of abandoned children in Brazil. Today, she still has her work cut out for her.

A recent government report estimated that of 100 million people in this South American country, 15 million are children living without adequate food, clothing or shelter. Some have been abandoned by their parents.

In Sao Paulo, the 7.2 million person industrial heart of Brazil, an estimated three out of every 10 children either are abandoned or living in squalor.

Headlines in Brazilian newspapers often tell of babies left in garages, trash cans or on the streets. One child was found in the bathroom of a ferry.

The orphanages that exist are jammed. "You can hardly get a child into a state-run orphanage here," Miss Deakins said.

What happens to most abandoned infants? "They die," the 64-year-old Anaheim, Calif., native said simply.

Miss Deakins tries to provide a home in Sao Paulo for as many abandoned children as possible. Since 1967, she has reared about 300 children and has 22 living with her at present.

Miss Deakins told the Associated Press in a telephone interview that she decided to come to Brazil because "I just felt it was the thing the Lord wanted me to do."

"I always loved children," she said.

When Miss Deakins, who had been a secretary in the United States, arrived in Brazil, she "just rented a house and started taking in children."

She explained that "when I met people, I'd tell them what I wanted to do. It spread like wildfire. I got children from all over."

Miss Deakins, a Baptist, was briefly associated with a religious group called the American Soul Clinic, but after five months struck out on her own.

She said she had no income then "but I came down here with the faith that God would supply our needs and through various people he has done so."

Donations began coming in from service organizations, churches and individuals.

"We have lots of food donated," Miss Deakins said. "Everybody who comes to visit me brings something for the kids."

The Deakins home has a five-member Brazilian board of directors including ministers and businessmen. It is registered with the Brazilian government.

Miss Deakins' "family" ranges in age from 23 months to 20 years. The older ones attend public schools and go to the Bible Baptist Church on Sundays.

"I've had to turn many away because there is not enough room for them," Miss Deakins said. Currently, she and the children live in a four bedroom house with three baths and "it's really crowded." She said she would like to build a house of her own to deal with the overcrowding.

Miss Deakins recently received a donation of a plot of land and she estimates it will cost $65,000 to build a house.

She manages somehow to feed, clothe and house her children on $40 a month each. "But if I buy a house I can do it on $25 a month and I can take in 10 more children," she said.

Raising the money for a new orphanage will take awhile, but Edna Deakins is not worried. "God will supply our needs," she said.

Survey shows indoor plants 'in' as hobby

SREAMWOOD, Ill. (AP) — Keeping live plants is not just a fad, but an increasingly popular trend, according to a national survey recently conducted for a company in the horticulture field.

"Plants are becoming necessary items in the same sense that cars, refrigerators and television sets are considered necessary items," said Dick Husby, marketing manager of Phillips Products' Garden Scene floralware, which commissioned the study.

Horticultural therapy is becoming recognized as a legitimate profession, along with physical and occupational therapy, says Husby. He adds that psychologists say that working with plants can help to release tensions, cultivate one's self-esteem by developing responsibility for another living thing and teach new skills.

"Several horticultural therapy programs are proving successful in rehabilitation programs with prisoners, drug addicts, alcoholics and the mentally and emotionally disturbed," Husby said.

For example, the Veteran's Administration has horticultural therapy programs in use in nearly all VA hospitals. Two of the country's best-known drug rehabilitation centers, New Hope Manor in Garrison, N.Y., and Odyssey House, both have extremely active horticultural therapy programs.

The survey shows that more than three-quarters of the households in the United States keep plants, and the number is rising steadily. The people questioned gave a number of reasons: "enjoying having them," "their aesthetic and decorative value"; "plants are a hobby"; "they improve the quality of the air"; "I enjoy watching them grow."

People in increasing numbers prefer live plants to artificial ones, the survey shows. In an earlier survey more than 88 per cent said they preferred live plants. This preference jumped to nearly 93 per cent a year later.

Aesthetics aside, the survey also showed that people have a caring and protective attitude about their plants. More than 6 per cent of the people questioned said they fertilize their potted plants, and over 66 per cent said they often read books or articles about plants.

Popularity of containers has changed in the last few years. Top hanging baskets, particularly, have increased enormously. Terrariums lost in popularity.

Plastic pots enjoyed nearly a 50 per cent increase in popularity. The reason for this increase appears to be that plastic containers can take many forms and textures, whereas the traditional clay container is limited in design, Husby said.

People are also learning that plastic containers can be beneficial to many types of plants, since they hold moisture longer. In addition, since plastic pots hold moisture, plants do not have to be watered as often, a special concern in the drought-stricken Western areas of the country, he said.

People prefer simple to ornate containers by a ratio of three-to-one, the survey indicated. Medium sizes are far and away more popular than small or large ones. And as far as colors, earth tones and terra cotta are the favorites of nearly 40 per cent of the plantkeepers. Green, gold or yellow are next in the order of preference, with white, brown, blue, red and clear far down the list.

People are keeping plants all around the house. Most are in the living room, followed in order by the kitchen, bedroom, dining room and den. Bathrooms are becoming increasingly popular settings for plants, too, since people are realizing that plants enjoy the extra heat and humidity present in bathrooms, Husby pointed out.

Older Man Wants To Start Dating

DEAR ABBY: I am a 61-year-old bachelor who never married because I took care of my widowed mother who just died at the age of 93.

I am somewhat withdrawn and never had any girlfriends, although I'm told I'm above average in looks.

I am acquainted with a gal who looks about 30 and used to work in my bank. We were both invited to the same party last Christmas, and I haven't seen her since because she's not at the bank anymore.

I sent her some flowers for St. Valentine's Day, and she wrote me a very nice letter thanking me. (I'm enclosing a copy of it.)

Should I call or write to her to thank her for the note, and ask her to dinner?

I have about $140,000 in the bank so I could probably afford a wife if I could get one. Or do you think I'm too old to be considered eligible?

BASHFUL IN ARIZONA

DEAR BASHFUL: I think you're too ELIGIBLE to be considered OLD. From her note I would say she is pining to date you. Don't waste any more precious time. Call and ask her to dinner!

DEAR ABBY: I've been hearing so much lately about life after death, and since I've donated my eyes and kidneys to the organ banks I'm kind of worried for fear there might be something to this.

After all, if I do come back, gee willikers, I don't want to be walking around with some of my parts missing, do I? Can you advise me?

JACK IN ST. PETE'S

DEAR JACK: Don't worry. If there IS life after death, when you return you'll have all the parts you need.

DEAR ABBY: A young mother whose baby had died said she felt no consolation when friends said, "Don't worry, you'll have another baby." She went on to say, "if my husband were to die, I doubt that anyone would say, 'you'll have another one.'"

Well, don't you believe it. Within a month after my husband died, people were saying, "You're still young and attractive enough to find another man." I wasn't even thinking about finding another man. I just wanted to get over my grief.

Another thing that bothered me after becoming a widow was the number of people who said, "If there is anything I can do for you, just let me know."

All you people out there who really want to help a widow: Don't wait for her to call you, call HER, and invite her to dinner or to a movie or on a family outing, the way you did when her husband was still living.

I'm not out after anybody's husband, but I do need to be around adults, and to feel that people still care about me. I'm 35 and the mother of three.

YOUNG WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: Try Parents Without Partners. They're a great group. And a timely reminder to those who are still lucky enough to be going two-by-two: Invite a widow, divorcee, or any single male or female to your next party or family outing.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Light housekeeping

NEW YORK (AP) — For lighting hallways, stairwells and other areas where changing light bulbs is a nuisance or dangerous operation, use long-life bulbs, suggests Herbert A. Anderson of the Duro-Lite Home Lighting Institute. Anderson points out that long-life bulbs consume the same amount of electricity as standard bulbs of the same wattage, give approximately the same amount of light and last 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 times longer.

Farm Suit filed on behalf of farm workers

ABOMINABLE SNOWMAN — This model is a free interpretation of the abominable snowman, the manlike animal believed to live in the Himalayas, who will be the star of "The Yeti," a new fantascientific movie which will be made by an Italian film company. The Yeti, 9 meters (29 feet) high weighing 1, 6 ton will be airfreighted next week to Canada where part of the exterior scenes will be filmed. The model of the monster was presented at Rome movie studios, today.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Rural Legal Aid has filed a class-action suit in federal court claiming President Jimmy Carter used his political pull to pave the way for Mexican laborers to work in the Presidio Valley of Texas which deprived Texas migrant farmworkers of attainable employment.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell, Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) Commissioner Leonel

Castillo, INS Deputy Commissioner Mario T. Noto and Griffin and Brand, Inc., a McAllen-based firm which purchased crops in the Presidio Valley, are named as defendants.

The suit was filed Monday afternoon and lists 27 migrant farmworkers as plaintiffs and "at least 250 farmworkers whose contracts were canceled by defendant Griffin and Brand, Inc. as a result of the defendants' unlawful submission and approval of visa petitions for temporary foreign workers."

Jimmy Carter, at the request of Congressman Richard C. White of Texas, personally contacted Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall. Secretary Marshall then passed the President's wishes onto the Justice Department. On the same day, the visa petitions were granted by (INS)

Acting Commissioner Mario T. Noto.

The suit asks for a preliminary injunction "restraining defendants from approving nonimmigrant visa petitions which have been submitted by an employer where said employer has failed or refused to observe the employment policies of the Department of Labor."

Although the suit acknowledges the government's right to grant temporary work visas to foreign workers after receiving a petition from the prospective employer, the suit maintains this can only be done if domestic workers cannot be found.

"We don't see any reason why farmworkers should be imported especially with the unemployment rate in the Rio Grande Valley," said James Herrmann, the Texas Rural Legal Aid attorney who filed the suit. "Our interest is not letting the INS do this again. We'd like to see the government comply with their own regulations."

"It's a harassment suit, that's all it is," countered McAllen Mayor Othal Brand of Griffin and Brand, Inc. "In this country, anybody can file a suit."

grown up in the fields and the crops were overripe."

Brand added that a "substantial salvage" of the pepper, onion and melon crops was possible "as a result of Commissioner Castillo's decision to permit the entrance of foreign workers."

The McAllen mayor also said he had spoken with the Department of Labor and to one of Congressman White's aides on behalf of the Presidio farmers but "I was only one of 100 voices."

Oscar Spencer, a Presidio area farmer, said earlier that growers needed about 2,000 persons to work the harvests in the area.

Assassination probed

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The assassination of a retired military officer who was president of the country 32 years ago may have been the work of the underground leftist organization that killed El Salvador's foreign minister two months ago, says an Army leader.

Two men shot Osmin Aguirre Salinas, 82, in the back Tuesday as he was talking with his grandchildren in front of his home, a National Guard spokesman said. The killers escaped on foot.

"We suspect it was an act of terrorism, possibly by the Farabundo Marti Popular Liberation Front," said the spokesman.

Castaneda was elected president and replaced Aguirre Salinas.

Named for a Communist peasant leader killed in a 1942 uprising, the Marti Front admitted kidnaping Foreign Minister Mauricio Borjonovo in April and murdering him three weeks later after the government rejected its demand for the release of 37 persons the Front claimed were political prisoners.

El Salvador's ambassador to Guatemala was kidnaped two weeks later in Guatemala City and released after two days, but his abduction was the work of a Guatemalan group, the Guerrilla Army of the Poor.

The military-backed National Conciliation party has been in power in El Salvador for nearly 16 years. Its victory in the February presidential election touched off opposition charges of vote fraud, clashes between antigovernment demonstrators and security forces in which the government said five persons were killed and charges by the government and its supporters that foreign Jesuit priests were fomenting unrest.

Despite continuing sporadic violence and threats from the Marti Front, the inauguration of Gen. Carlos Huerto Romero as president on July 1 was peaceful.

Minimum pay compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key member of Congress is predicting quick action on a proposal to raise the minimum wage by 35 cents following a compromise on the issue between President Carter and organized labor.

The House Education and Labor Committee will consider the proposal early next week, Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., said Tuesday after meeting with Labor Secretary Ray Marshall.

Perkins, committee chairman, said he expects final congressional action before the August recess.

Officials say an estimated 3.1 million American workers are paid the minimum wage, $2.30. Under the proposal, reached after months of negotiations, their pay would rise to $2.65 an hour on Jan. 1.

Future increases would be tied to the nation's average hourly manufacturing wage. Under the formula, the hourly minimum would go to an estimated $2.89 in January of 1979 and about $3.15 in January of 1980. It would remain at 53 per cent of the manufacturing wage thereafter.

Some issues remain to be worked out, including changes in the current system of permitting restaurants to pay only half the minimum wage since their employees receive considerable extra income from tips.

The compromise on the minimum wage, announced Tuesday by congressional leaders and confirmed by President Carter at his news conference, breaks a months-long impasse and averts what appeared last spring to be a serious showdown in Congress between the new administration and organized labor.

Labor leaders had wanted a $3 hourly minimum to take effect next year with future increases tied to between 55 per cent and 60 per cent of the average blue collar worker's wages. But Carter said he would accept no more than a $2.50 minimum and an indexing set at 50 per cent.

What about football season?

Maybe after Thursday we'll know something about this season in Big Spring High School athletics.

That is the night the School Board meets and possibly decides on a new plan that could be suitable to HEW's liking. Of course, a lot more will come out of that meeting, but of prime interest to these pages will be that if the plan is accepted, the coaches can then be placed in assignment.

The reduced enrollment in the district this year will not make coach-placing an easy matter, either. Point to illustrate: BSHS is currently without a trainer. Cherub-faced Mike Biles went to Houston for a $3,400 pay raise, no classes and to be closer to his family.

Most trainers are certified to teach Biology, Physical Education or Health Education. At this point in time, BSHS has no openings in any of those classes.

Athletic Director Don Robbins indicated that there are three "very good" applicants under consideration (graduates of Texas Tech, Sul Ross and Tarleton State), but they can't fit into a teaching slot.

And teaching slots will be critical to fill this year with a surplus of teachers in some fields and a lack of them in other.

A qualified trainer is most important for any athletic program. The trainer at Andrews teaches social studies. So there is a chance that the position can be filled to suit a certain academic need. It's just wait and see right now.

The local coaches are becoming understandably impatient. Coaches school opens the 24th of this month in Ft. Worth.

and they would certainly like to know what they are going to be coaching before they go to a coaching school.

The University Interscholastic League has finally "tentatively" set dates for fall football.

August 10 will be the first day that District 4A schools can issue football shoes and socks. August 15th is the first day that fall conditioning drills can get underway, and August 25th is the first date that 4A schools can have intersquad scrimmages.

BSHS will be finishing a two-year contract that Bob Burris set up when he was athletic director here. That means that the Steers will again scrimmage Sweetwater (probably Aug. 25, 26 or 27), prior to the season kickoff and they will play the same foes as last season, only with fields reversed.

In a year when the Steers will have to avoid snakebite as they have never done before, the schedule tends to favor them somewhat, in that their toughest opponents will be coming to Memorial Stadium.

Here's the complete schedule:

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, JULY 13, 1977

SECTION B SECTION B

Alexander overcomes Orioles' 1st frame

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Texas pitcher Doyle Alexander knew he was in trouble when Baltimore's Ken Singleton lashed one of his fast balls for a three-run homer in the first inning.

And after Alexander's teammates frittered away a bases-loaded opportunity in their half of the inning, he figured it was going to be a long night.

"When Singleton hit it, I thought it was just a long fly," said Alexander, who allowed only three hits in the final nine innings Tuesday night as Texas edged Baltimore 4-3 in 10 innings. "When it kept going, I thought, 'Uh oh, I'm in trouble now.'"

"When we didn't get anything after having the bases loaded, I thought it was going to be a long night."

Toby Harrah drilled an RBI single in the bottom of the 10th, driving home Bert Campaneris with the winning run. Campaneris, who had walked, moved to third on a perfectly executed hit-and-run play by Juan Beniquez.

It was the sixth straight victory for the rejuvenated Rangers. And it was especially sweet for new Rangers Manager Bill Hunter, who spent 13 years as an Orioles coach before coming to Texas.

"That was lovely, wasn't it?" Hunter said of his team's rally. "It was quite satisfying."

The game was televised back to Baltimore, where Hunter's family still lives.

Alexander, 9-5, walked the leadoff batter, Tom Shopay, in first before surrendering a double to Billy Smith. Singleton, one of the American League's hottest hitters, then rifled his 11th homer into a gusty wind and over the left center field wall.

That early flurry nearly sent Alexander to the showers. "If he (Alexander) had gotten in further trouble, I would have had to take him out then," said Hunter.

In the next nine innings, however, the lanky right-hander didn't allow an Orioles runner past first base. In one stretch, he mowed down 17 of 18.

"I thought Alexander threw a great game," said Singleton. "He was the main reason they beat us."

The Orioles, who had won 10 of 11 games before Tuesday, lost a chance to grab the lead in the American League East. Boston, which also lost Tuesday, remained in first by half a game.

Baltimore starter Rudy May, who worked out of the bases-loaded jam in his first inning, gave up Ranger runs in the second and fifth innings. But at one point, he had retired 20 of 21 Rangers.

The normally weak-hitting Jim Sundberg, who is on a 14-for-29 tear, sent the game into extra innings in the ninth with a double over Shopay in center field.

The loss went to reliever Dick Drago, 2-2, who came on in the 10th.

Texas briefs

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers assistant general manager Pat Peppier said Tuesday contract negotiations with second round draft choice George Reihner and third round pick Jimmy Giles are the only remaining problem areas.

"The rest are pretty much resolved but I'm a little superstitious about it (announcing the players until they are actually signed)," said Peppier, who is in charge of negotiating Oiler player contracts.

Nine of the 14 players the Oilers took in the National Football League draft remain unsigned, including first round pick Morris Towns of Missouri.

Reihner, a 4-4, 263 guard from Penn State, was the 38th player taken in the NFL draft. Giles, a 6-3, 225 tight end from Alcorn State, was Houston's second of three third round choices.

Astros-Angular. HOUSTON (AP) — Joaquin Andujar, who blossomed into a solid starting pitcher since coming to Houston in a trade from Cincinnati, said Tuesday it would be good of Reds Manager Sparky Anderson to name him to the National League All-Star team.

"I'm not worried about playing in the All-Star game," said Andujar, 9-5. "But my family would be proud and it would be good for the city of Houston."

"It would be fine for Sparky to pick me now to play on the All-Star team since he didn't give me a chance to pitch when I was in Cincinnati," said Andujar, who spent six years in the Reds farm system prior to the trade to Houston.

Oilers-Training. HOUSTON (AP) — With training camp nearing for the Houston Oilers, center Carl Mauck says he's been impressed with the hard work of disgruntled quarterback Dan Pastorini during drills at the Oiler practice field.

Mauck said the Oiler offense will be improved this season and he thinks Pastorini will be big part of it.

"I've only been here two years but I'd bet my life that Pastorini has never worked any harder than he has the past two months," Mauck said. "If the guy keeps up that kind of dedication, he's going to be the kind of quarterback that wants to be and everyone else wants him to be."

Pastorini, who asked to be traded after last season, is playing out his option with the Oilers.

Track Signs. ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Six high school track and field athletes, including the son of one of the school's most famous athletes, have agreed to attend Abilene Christian University.

One of the signees is Ron Morrow of Arlington High School, son of former world record sprinter Bobby Morrow, who won three gold medals in the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, Australia.

Cards ink

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League have signed two free agents, bringing to 76 the number of players who will report to their 1977 training camp on Friday.

Linebacker Terry McCabe and defensive back Rollen Smith signed with the Cardinals Monday.

McCabe was a two-year starter at Austin Peay State University. Smith was a two-year starter at the University of Arkansas.

changed drastically." Stevens said that for years Wayland College and Temple Junior College, schools with strong early girls' programs, had their own way, but no longer.

The coach said that the strongest U.S. girls' teams were in the South and Southwest. The national champion was Panola Junior College at Carthage, and runner-up was Seminole (Okla.) Junior College. Temple Junior College finished third, and South Plains College was fifth.

The Queens lost to the national champions in the Houston Tournament last year, but they defeated South Plain in Big Spring.

Stevens said that he felt the Queens had a good year, considering it was their first. The first two or three weeks were spent teaching the players not to stop at center court (as in high school girls' rules), he said.

He noted that this year will be the last for Texas high school girls to play under the half-court, six-player rule. Next year, they will play five-person, full court like the high school boys, and as it is played in colleges.

Stevens said the Queens did not have a "big girl," and he was still looking for one in his recruiting for this season. But the Queens offset their handicap for lack of size by pressing full court and fast breaking, he said, "and we won some games that we shouldn't have."

On the college level, girls' rules are similar to boys' except that there is no center court rule and the offensive team must shoot ever 30 seconds, Stevens said.

Carew accrues beaucoup of votes

NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe it was Rod Carew's near-400 batting average. Perhaps the close races in both American League divisions caused it. Or maybe major league baseball is just more popular than ever.

Whatever the reasons, more than 12 1/2 million fans cast votes in All-Star balloting and that enabled five American League players to top the three million mark in votes. The biggest beneficiary of the voting increase was Carew.

The Minnesota first baseman, having his greatest season in an already-illustrious career, gathered 4,292,740 votes, more than any player in the eight-year history of the fan balloting, according to the final tabulations released Tuesday by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Carew easily outdistanced first base runnerup Chris Chambliss of New York, nearly doubling Chambliss' 2,373,906 votes. Carew received 15,005 votes more than National League-leader Steve Garvey, the Dodgers' first baseman.

Before this season, just three players had reached the three million mark in selections. The two next highest vote-earners in the AL were catchers Carlton Fisk of Boston with 3,476,028 and Thurman Munson of the Yankees with 3,362,177. Outfielder Carl Yastrzemski of Boston and third baseman George Brett of Kansas City also topped the three million plateau.

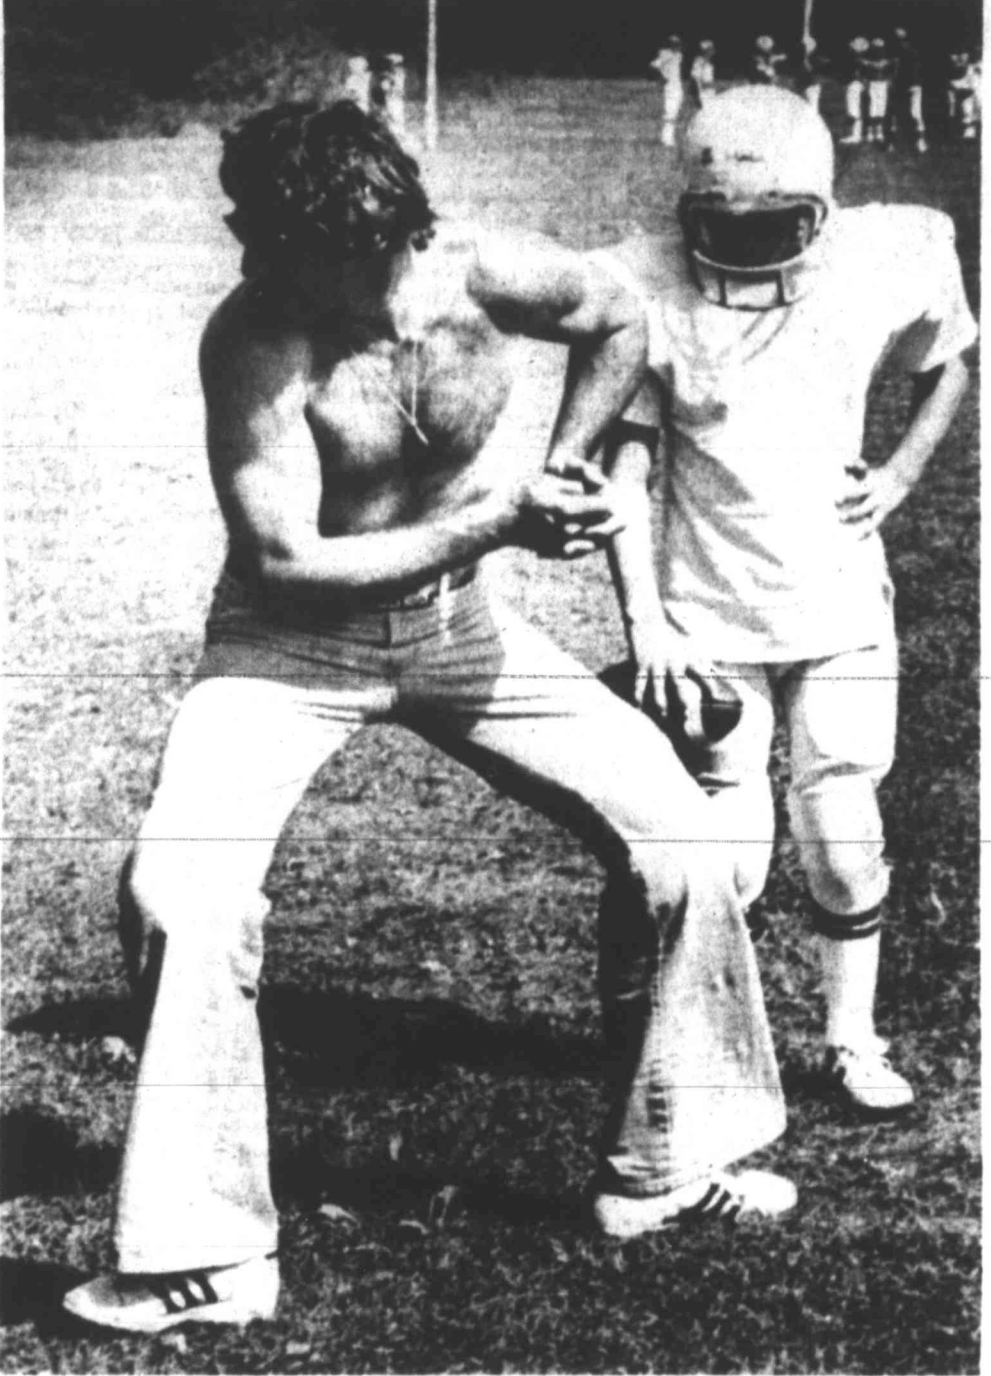

Joining Yastrzemski in the starting outfield for the game, which will be played July 19 at Yankee Stadium, are Reggie Jackson of the host team and Richie Zisk of the White Sox, who was elected to the AL squad in his first season in the league.

The Yankees' will have another starter in the AL lineup in second baseman Willie Randolph, an easy winner with 2,846,479 selections to 2,053,642 for Don Money of Milwaukee.

In the closest race in five years, defending league champion New York just missed having another starter at shortstop when Rick Burleson of Boston edged out Bucky Dent of the Yankees by 3,426 votes. It will be the first start in the game for Burleson.

George Scott, who leads the AL in home runs, finished third in the balloting at first base and RBI leader Larry Hise of Minnesota was a somewhat overlooked sixth in the outfield voting.

The pitchers and the reserves for the American League team will be announced later this week.

NAMATH'S THE NAME—And, football in his game. New York Jets' former star quarterback Joe Namath gives a few ball handling pointers to youngsters recently during football camp for some 400 youngsters at Nichols College, Dudley, Mass. Namath is scheduled to go back to playing with the big boys soon in Los Angeles, when he reports to the Rams.

Watson wants win streak

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Tom Watson and Jack Nicklaus, who hooked up in one of golf's great duels last week in the British Open, could be headed for a replay in the $250,000 Pleasant Valley Classic.

"My next goal," Watson said last weekend in reply to a question in Turnberry, Scotland, "is Pleasant Valley. I want to win there, too."

"I'm a great believer in keeping a good thing going." And Watson, now mounting the greatest challenge ever to Nicklaus' longtime role as the game's outstanding player, definitely has a good thing going.

In addition to the Masters and British Opens, won in the face of Nicklaus' challenges, Watson has collected three other American titles and one Spanish crown. He has finished fifth or better 14 times and, with a leading $269,000, is within reach of the record $353,000 Johnny Miller won in 1974.

"I'd have to win two more to do it," Watson said. "Right now I'm scheduled to play 10 more tournaments. If I get close, I may add some events at the end of the year."

Both Nicklaus and Watson were late arrivals for this event that begins Thursday on the hilly, 7,191-yard, par-71 Pleasant Valley Country Club course.

Nicklaus took a brief rest at his home in Florida. Watson played an exhibition in Chicago.

Stevens applauds fem athletes

The rules may be the almost same, but women play a different brand of basketball than men, said Howard College Coach Don Stevens, and that's what makes it so exciting.

Stevens, who became women's basketball coach at Howard College last year after coaching girls at Forsan High School, said that the women players are "so intense, so dedicated, and they do some surprising things on the basketball court."

Stevens, who guided the college's Queens to an 18 won, 11 lost record in the team's first season, said that women's basketball can be addictive to fans who see several games.

The coach told the Big Spring Rotary Club in its Tuesday noon meeting at the Settles Hotel that the playing ability of girls and boys cannot be compared because the style of game is so different.

"In a tense situation," he said, "a boy will do one thing; a girl will do something else."

The Lamesa High School and Texas Tech University graduate said that "the green light is on" for women's athletics in the U.S.

Girls' teams are at the point that boys' teams were 20 years ago, eager to play and seeking recognition, he said. Recruiting, for example, once meant simply taking a choice among the women players available since there were too many players with too few colleges to take them, Stevens said.

Now that has changed so that as Stevens tries to recruit in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana, he bumps into crowds of other coaches doing the same thing. "In one year's time," he said, "the situation has

WANTS TO RISE TO GREATNESS — Tony Dorsett, last year's Heisman Trophy winner, works out chinning himself at the Dallas Cowboy's rookie camp Tuesday in Thousand Oaks, Cal. Dorsett expects great things in his first season with the Cowboys. Such things as: beating veteran Preston Pearson out of a job, gaining 1,500 yards, and making the NFL forget such folks as O.J. Simpson and Walter Payton.

Dorsett admits he's no superman...yet

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — "Some people think I'm a Superman," said a certain Heisman Trophy winner recently. "I'm not. Some people in Dallas think I can lead the team to the Super Bowl alone. I can't." That's Tony Dorsett talking down the super-expectations others have been puffing up for him. "If I'm starting, I'm hoping to surpass 1,500 yards this season." That's also Tony Dorsett, puffing up a few expectations of his own. Dorsett, the Dallas Cowboys' million-dollar baby from Pitt, doesn't like to talk about championships—those are the doings of teams, not hotshot rookies. What he has been talking about here in the Cowboys' training camp is what Tony Dorsett expects of Tony Dorsett this season. Such things as: —Beating veteran Preston Pearson out of a job. —Gaining 1,500 yards. —Making the NFL forget such folks as O.J. Simpson and Walter Payton. Here's how he plans to do it. "First I want to make the starting unit," he says. "Pearson is an 11-year veteran. I'm young and full of go. Everyone's job is on the line. Whoever is there, I'll be pushing him for a job." Next, he says, "I want to stay healthy—if I do, I think I'll have a successful first year. One-thousand yards would be a good year. With the personnel here, I feel I can have a good year and gain 1,500 yards (something O.J. didn't accomplish until his fifth NFL season). But I've got to start." He's a little man, as National Football League players go, so Dorsett has been lifting weights. "I weighed 188 this morning. I hope to go over the 190 barrier this year. I'm not a big person physically so I have to be strong."

"I don't lift weights for weight—I don't want to be a Greek God—I lift for strength." Dorsett, who for awhile seemed bound for Seattle in the NFL draft, considers himself "the luckiest person in this year's draft." "I didn't want to go to Seattle," he told reporters Monday. "I couldn't have been much help to them." With Dallas, of course, he has a much better line that will probably be opening a few more holes than he would have seen in Seattle. And that just might make some of Dorsett's dreams come true. "I am a competitor," he says. "I want to be one of the best, if not the best."

Swann is now marked man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lynn Swann shouldn't have been surprised when he was lobbed from behind by George Atkinson, former All-Pro receiver Lance Alworth was testified.

"When you do the things Mr. Swann has done, you almost become a marked man," Alworth said during the second day of Atkinson's $2 million slander suit against the Pittsburgh Steelers and Coach Chuck Noll.

"Mr. Swann for the rest of his career is going to be a marked man and will receive a lot more blows," Alworth added. "Football is a violent game and a lot of blows are passed that are almost superhuman."

Alworth, who played 10 years for the San Diego Chargers and Dallas Cowboys, was called to the stand before a U.S. District Court jury to explain what receivers come to expect from the men who defend against them. "They try to intimidate you in a couple of ways—verbally, in hopes that you will respond and lose your concentration, and physically, by hitting you as

Antitrust spectre hangs

CHICAGO (AP) — The possibility of a challenge to that principle is what led O'Brien to call today's meeting. He wanted to bring the governors up to date on the dispute between the two New York franchises, the Nets and Knicks, a dispute which threatens to blow up into a court case in which the Nets would contest the principle of territorial exclusivity.

"I don't call frivolous special meetings," said O'Brien. "Anything that has the potential impact on professional sports that this does, people must have a chance to ask questions of the Nets, Knicks, me, whoever."

The Nets want to move from Uniondale, N.Y. to New Jersey. The Knicks say a clause in the indemnification agreement signed by the Nets when they entered the NBA last year prohibits them from playing in specific areas, including New Jersey. The Nets signed this agreement, and paid a $4 million indemnity, in order to get the Knicks to waive their 75-mile territorial exclusivity and let the Nets into the league.

The Nets are ready to go to court to challenge this interpretation of the agreement. If they do not get a favorable ruling, then they are prepared to challenge the territorial exclusivity concept, claiming it gives the Knicks a monopoly on pro basketball in the metropolitan New York area and violates federal antitrust statutes. The league does not like the idea of the territorial concept going before a judge. "This is the basis upon which 'home team' identification and fan loyalty rest," said O'Brien, "and upon which the investment of millions of dollars necessary to establish, build and maintain a successful sports franchise is predicated. Without this concept, a sports league cannot survive."

Edwards, Fought fight for primo

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Oklahoma State University's Dave Edwards and Jay Fought of Portland, Ore., produced their second subpar rounds in as many days Tuesday and tied for medalist honors in the Trans-Mississippi amateur golf tournament.

Edwards matched the 68 he shot in Monday's qualifying round at Hogan Park course to take the lead away from Miller. Fought, low amateur performer in the 1976 U.S. Open at Atlanta, shot a three-under-par 67 at Hogan Park Tuesday to tie Edwards.

Miller, low amateur in this year's U.S. Open, recorded a first-round 64 at Hogan Monday, but had trouble at MCC and soared to a one-over 73. All alone in second place with a 138 total was David Rasco of Metairie, La.

Bunched at 139 were Joe Hager, Dallas, Blaine McCallister, Fort Stockton, Tex., and Bill Brackford, Houston.

NHL--WHA merger?

TORONTO (AP) — The National Hockey League's Board of Governors opens meetings here today and is expected to hear bids from those World Hockey Association teams seeking entry into the NHL. An NHL expansion fact-finding committee met Tuesday with representatives of the WHA in preparation for today's meeting. The NHL announced last month that it had authorized its committee to pursue negotiations with the WHA leading to an expansion of the NHL by not less than six teams. Cost per expansion franchise is reported to be $2.9 million.

Edwards and Fought both carded 36-hole totals of 136 slip past first-round leader Lindy Miller, a Fort Worth, Tex., native who played on the OSU team with Edwards. Miller finished third at 137, five strokes under par. Playing the 7,400-yard, par-72 MCC layout Tuesday,

'Camp of Champs' opens at HC next week

The Howard College "Camp of Champs" Basketball summer camp will get underway next Monday on the local college campus. Under the guidance of Camp Director Harold Wilder, the highly-respected basketball clinic will tip-off its fifth consecutive year of play. The camp will run from July 18 to July 22, and registration will be held from 9 a.m. until noon on Monday, the 18th. The first meeting of the participants and coaches will be at 1 p.m. that first day, and play will commence at approximately 5:30 p.m. nightly.

Harold Wilder will be assisted by coaches David Middleton, assistant director from Brazoswood; Oakie Hagood, games director from Big Spring, James Griffin from Big Spring; Glen Gleghorn from Greenwood; Randy Smith from Midland; and Larry Mauldin from Merkel. Locals Bubba Stripling and Scott Wilder will also be camp counselors, Gary Stretcher will be dorm director, and Brian Rossen will be in charge of statistics. Eighty-two boys from grades five through junior varsity, have already signed up for the camp.

Coach Wilder emphasized three basic goals for the camp: 1) Fundamentals—Using the successful coaching philosophies of Coach John Wooden of UCLA and Bill Charmin of the Lakers, the camp will be concerned with "proper execution of fundamentals as quickly as possible as the key to basketball." "If that's the case for the extremely talented basketball player," said Wilder, "it seems even more so for beginning players. We're going to work very hard on fundamentals." 2) Get game experience—The camp will be divided into two groups, big league and little league. Players in both leagues will be divided up into teams of five. Every night from 5:30 until 11:30 p.m. each player will play in at least one game, playing the entire game. The teams will be divided as equally as possible. "They come to camp, they play basketball," said Wilder. "There's no substitute for game experience." 3) To have fun—All camp members will spend five days and four nights on the campus, sleeping in the college dorm and eating three meals a day at the college cafeteria. And there will be more than just basketball at the camp. "We will have domino, checkers, pool, and other tournaments for the players when one group is working on the court," said Wilder. Bowling and miniature golf are also possible activities for the young aspirants. "There'll be a lot of things to do," said Wilder, "but of course the main thing is basketball. We hope that by having camps like this, we can promote and improve the basketball in our area."

LISTEN UP MEN! — Howard College Head Basketball Coach Harold Wilder explains the days proceedings at last year's Howard College "Camp of Champs". This year's edition of the basketball clinic will get underway Monday, July 18.

Split exists in Catholic Church?

DICKINSON, Tex. (AP)—A split in the Roman Catholic Church exists today between traditionalists and the Vatican, says a spokesman for a group of Mexican Catholics who support rebel Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre.

The spokesman, in the small Texas city of Dickinson not far from the Gulf of Mexico, told The Associated Press, "on one side are those who have followed the rites of the church for 20 centuries. On the other side are those who changed our church within the past 15 years."

A small delegation of Mexicans met with the archbishop Monday night at the Queen of Angels church, consecrated one day earlier by the prelate as "the center of the true Catholic faith all over America."

Archbishop Lefebvre had planned a visit to four cities in Mexico but canceled the trip when he reportedly was advised that a visa would not be granted for his party.

He left Tuesday for Miami, Fla., en route to Bogota, Colombia. A sister, Maria Teresa Lefebvre, said he will arrive in that country later this week.

The Mexican delegation came to Texas to meet with the archbishop, who has been in conflict with Pope Paul VI over the issue of celebrating mass in the Tridentine rite—in Latin—or the new liturgy approved by the Second Vatican Council whereby mass may be celebrated in the languages of the parishioners.

The Vatican has hinted that the archbishop may be excommunicated.

The spokesman for the Mexican group said the followers of Archbishop Lefebvre would consider excommunication "an illegal act. We would not accept it and we would continue to follow the traditional teachings of our church."

The spokesman refused to disclose his name, the names of others who visited with the archbishop, or the number who met with the prelate. He said, "We cannot do so because we are afraid that we may be denied the right to return to Mexico."

"Those who want to change the church are being led by those from other religions and by the Marxists. We have no fear of being excommunicated. Those are only words from some people who are demanding we forsake the traditions of our faith."

Archbishop Lefebvre also has opposed recent moves by the Roman Catholic Church to reach some agreement with Communist countries and engage in ecumenical talks with Protestant denominations.

In Mexico, Foreign Ministry officials said there was no official decision not to grant the archbishop a visa.

However, those with the prelate's party said he had been advised that "the Mexican State Department had denied him entry and that broadcasts had been heard alerting border patrols to prevent his entry, either by car or by airplane."

Antonio Rius Facius, spokesman for the archbishop's reception committee in Mexico, said Mexican bishops had put pressure on national officials to make entry difficult.

recently ordained 14 priests at his seminary in Switzerland in direct defiance of a Papal order.

And, Father Hector Bolduc, whose church was consecrated by the archbishop Sunday, said, "he will continue to ordain priests. He will ordain at least 20 next year."

Police fences recover loot

DALLAS (AP)—Got a "hot" 250-pound African lion you need to fence? Don't try Trend Associates as one thief recently did.

The firm went out of business Tuesday with the disclosure that the men operating the going business on an industrial street in the southwestern portion of the city was actually being operated by Dallas police officers and FBI agents.

The officers started a six-month phony fencing operation that has resulted in the recovery of millions of dollars worth of stolen property, including the lion. They put out the word that they were in the business of fencing stolen merchandise and got plenty of business.

So far, more than 25 persons have been arrested and officers indicate that more arrests are coming.

The merchandise recovered includes 75 automobiles, motorcycles, some large tractor-trailer rigs, 110 color television sets, 100 stereo units, 87 rifles, pistols and shotguns, two tractor-trailers loaded with heavy equipment, 500 automobile and truck tires and 280 batteries.

Dallas police chief Don Byrd said officers have been unable to determine where the lion came from.

At a news conference Tuesday after Trend Associates went out of business, Byrd said the operation is a "message to hoodlums and burglars that we intend to arrest them if they are dealing in hot merchandise."

Officers said charges filed so far in connection with the operation include state charges of burglary, theft, robbery and receiving and concealing stolen property. Federal indictments are anticipated for such charges as theft of government property, theft from interstate shipments and federal firearms and postal violations.

Byrd said officers spent about $53,000 purchasing goods, part of a $238,052 grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to finance the operation.

About 65 per cent of the items were stolen in local burglaries, about 30 per cent from out of the Dallas area and a small amount came from out of Texas, officers said.

Okie wheat crop record

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A record Oklahoma wheat crop of 169 million bushels has been harvested and dumped on an already overloaded market, the Oklahoma Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Tuesday.

The harvest easily topped a 1975 record of 160.8 million bushels.

"Wheat prices will remain sluggish for the near future," said Gary N. Mennem, Oklahoma State University extension economist.

Storing the wheat appears to be the best alternative for wheat farmers, Mennem said.

In light of the massive harvest, Oklahoma farmers are beginning to favor placing limits on the acreage devoted to wheat. President Carter has suggested cutting the amount of wheat acreage by 20 per cent.

However, the farmers say they will have to be compensated for being forced to take land out of production.

"If farmers have no compensation, they'll have no profits—and you can put that in capital letters," said Tonkawa farmer Bob Vincent.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although you are in the midst of some confusion and emotionalism now, you find you have the ability to do something of an unusual or progressive nature that can impress those who may appear to be critical. Be wary of one with a greedy streak.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Fundamental affairs should be first on the agenda now. A new project appeals to you, but don't go into it as yet. Objectivity is important now.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Have a more up-to-date approach at home affairs and better the condition there. Help to make any changes that are important and right.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Maintain present security and do whatever will add to it. Don't commit yourself to anything that could prove disastrous.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You feel dissatisfied so do something constructive instead of complaining. Take time to enjoy good friends but don't irk them in any way.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Carry through with some responsibility you have or you could easily get into trouble. Try to placate a loved one who is not in a good mood.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If there is an important change you want to make, study it well and wait for a better time to go. A good friend can show how to gain some personal aim easily. Be careful of outsiders now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show that you are an excellent citizen and a bigwig will be helpful to you now. Handle a credit affair wisely instead of postponing it again. Spend more time at home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Any new goals you may have should be studied carefully. Make sure they are the right ones for you. Your intuition is not working well now but can be relied upon later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Keep any promises you have made and try not to renege on them or you get into trouble. Avoid that tendency to downgrade a loved one and maintain harmony instead. Be more generous.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't argue with partners because you are not familiar with all the facts and figures involved, but get these clear in your mind first. Take no chances where reputation is concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) It is important you carry through with work at hand despite the many interruptions that may come up. Control your emotions and have better health. Take any needed treatments.

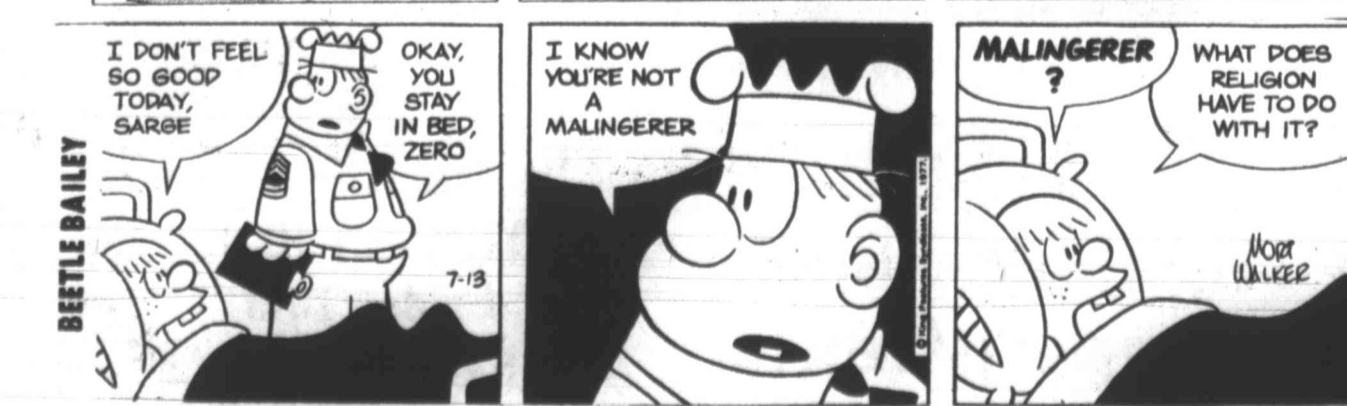

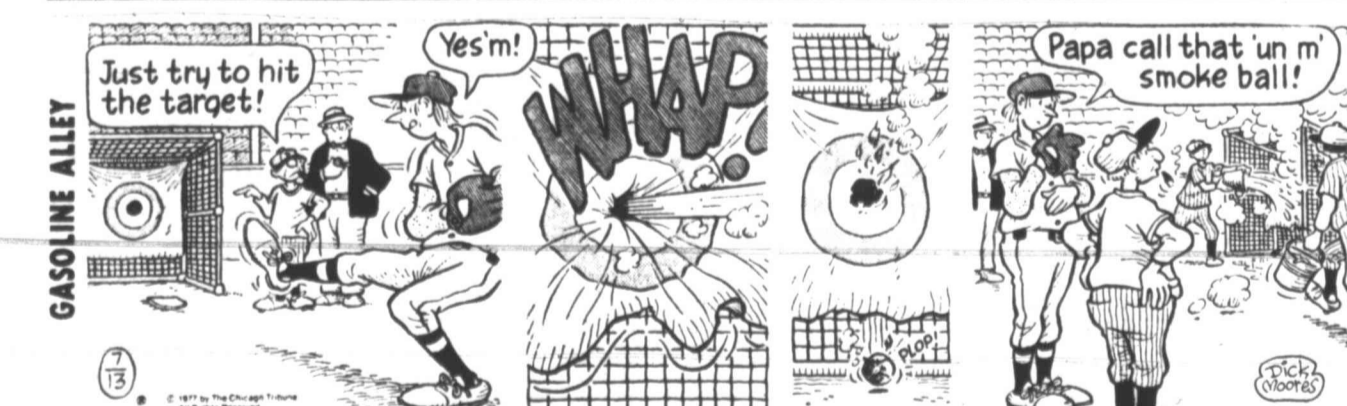

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Before you give up tried and true pleasures be sure you have something better to replace it. If you use sarcasm with a loved one, you will regret it later. Be wise in money matters.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be full of divine discontent and will be pugnacious. Exercise patience, but be firm and teach to use more reason.

COTTAGE FOR SALE — Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss sits outside Hammersmith Farm, the 28-room mansion in Newport, R.I., she wants to sell for $989,000. She holds Witherby, a Jack Russell terrier.

Jackie's childhood home for sale

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis' childhood home, where her romance with John F. Kennedy bloomed, has been put on the auction block because the former First Lady's mother needs the money.

"I don't want you to sell it," Janet Auchincloss quoted her famous daughter as saying when she broke the news that the 58-acre Hammersmith Farm was for sale for $989,000.

"All my children hate it, and I hate it, but it is absolutely necessary," Mrs. Auchincloss said Tuesday.

She explained that her late husband, Hugh D. Auchincloss, had devoted his personal fortune to try saving his Washington brokerage firm, Auchincloss, Redfern and Parker, before his death in December 1976.

"I was very proud of him for doing it," she said, "even though I knew it wouldn't work."

Hammersmith, one of the oldest working farms in Newport, is alive with memories. It was there that Mrs. Onassis taught a younger half-sister how to get around the strict Auchincloss and where a 14-year-old Jackie set fire to the library sofa while sneaking a cigarette.

Here lived a nursemaid in a little 18th century cottage on the estate, where she invited the Auchincloss children to "come into my castle and I'll give you some cookies and milk."

The children called the cottage The Castle and the name has stuck to this day. Mrs. Auchincloss now lives in The Castle.

Leading a reporter on a tour of the grounds, Mrs. Auchincloss marveled at how well they are kept. She has had to make do with four gardeners on grounds once tended by 32 workers.

Mrs. Auchincloss says that her daughters by her first husband, John Bouvier — Jackie and Lee Radziwill — and her children by Auchincloss were reluctant to see the place go because they liked it "to be here for whenever they happened to feel like dropping in. Caroline Kennedy was here Friday and Saturday and I never know when the others are coming."

Poor little Red

with Marj Carpenter

A few years back, somebody came up with a contemporary and conservative version of "The Little Red Hen."

Since that time, the silly story gets updated every few years. One of the ones that I have enjoyed the most lately went something like this:

Once upon a time, there was a little red hen who scratched around the barnyard until she found some grains of wheat.

"How about that?" she said and then she called in her neighbors. She was all excited and told them that if we plant this wheat, we shall have bread to eat." "Who will help me plant it?"

"Not I," said the cow.
"Not I," said the duck.
"Not I," said the pig, and

"Quit bothering me," said the duck.
"Out of my classification," said the pig.
"I'd lose my seniority," said the cow.
"I'd lose my unemployment compensation," said the goose.
"Then I will" sighed the little red hen, and she did.

When it came time to bake the bread, the little red hen tried again, "Who will help me bake the bread?"

"That would be overtime for me," said the cow.
"I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the duck.
"I'm a dropout and never learned how. I don't help but must be helped," said the pig.

"If I'm to be the only helper, that's discrimination," said the goose.

The little red hen sighed, "Then I will." And she baked five loaves and held them up for her neighbors to see.

They all wanted some. In fact, they all demanded some. "No," said the little red hen, "I can eat the five loaves myself."

The cow yelled, "Excess profits."
The duck cried,

"Capitalist leech."
The goose shouted, "I demand equal rights." The pig simply grunted. They all hurriedly painted "unfair" picket signs and marched around, shouting obscenities and got their pictures in the local paper and on television.

The government agent came and told the little red hen, "You must not be so greedy."

"But I earned the bread," said the little red hen.

"Exactly," said the agent. "That is the wonderful free enterprise system. Anyone in the barnyard can work real hard and earn as much as he wants. But under government regulations, the productive workers—must divide their product with the idle."

They lived happily every after.

But the little red hen's neighbors wondered why she never again baked bread.

How it tastes doesn't matter

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The food at the Virginia State Penitentiary may not be gourmet cooking, but an inmate who must eat it isn't being subjected to cruel and unusual punishment.

The 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals made that ruling Tuesday as it dismissed a suit filed by an inmate who contended that his constitutional rights were being violated by being forced to eat the food.

Theft conspiracy three admit guilt

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three men have pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to commit theft by falsifying vouchers during construction of low-cost housing in Crystal City.

Jimmie Lopez and Natividad Granados of Crystal City and Albert Ramirez of Laredo had been indicted on charges of submitting the bogus claims to the Crystal City Housing Authority.

Their trial was moved to Austin on a change of venue. State Dist. Judge Darrell Hester of Brownsville sentenced each defendant to three-year terms, probated.

A fourth man indicted in the case, Reynaldo Mendoza Sr., president of Crystal Contractors Inc., died last month.

The three men told Hester they thought the money went to a payroll for persons employed through the influence of Zavala County Judge Jose Gutierrez, a Raza Unida party leader.

The case involved a check for $46,914 endorsed by Lopez on April 5, 1974. Granados, a clerk with the contractors, helped prepare the voucher, and Ramirez, a foreman, signed it.

The money apparently was given to the Citizens State Bank in Carrizo Springs, which financed the construction of the housing project.

The State Banking Department closed the bank last summer after it failed.
