

More poor folks in United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of Americans once listed in the lower middle class were pushed below the poverty level by 1974's strange combination of spiraling inflation and long-term unemployment, government figures show.

New Census Bureau figures show the number of people the government considers to be poor rose nearly 11 per cent between 1974 and 1975.

In 1974 there were 23,370,000 Americans listed as poor. The 1975 figures showed that more than 2 1/2 million more people were living in poverty.

"These were years when there were an additional number of people who fell below the poverty line — people who would not normally be poor," said Arno L. Winward, staff assistant for poverty statistics at the Census Bureau.

The bureau released two reports Wednesday, giving statistics on poor people in the United States and on overall changes in the income of individuals and families from 1974 to 1975.

The bureau's poverty report said the number of Americans with an income below the $5,500 poverty level increased 10.7 per cent from 1974 to 1975. That means there were 25.9 million poor people in America. It was the greatest percentage increase since 1959.

Figures from the report on income showed that median family income was $13,720 in 1975, about 6 per cent higher than the 1974 median. That means there were as many families making more than $13,720 as there were making less than that figure. Yet, the report shows that after being adjusted for a 9 per cent increase in prices, the 1975 median income was actually $360 lower than it was in 1974.

Poor families with lots of children, families headed by women normally make up much of the poor population.

There was an increase of two million or nearly 13 per cent in the number of poor whites in 1975. There was an 11 per cent or 2.3 million increase in the number of poor under 65, and 17 1/2 per cent increase in the number of poor husband-wife families, the figures show.

Former Stanton coach accepts McCamey post

STANTON — Bob Richardson, guidance counselor at Stanton High School, has resigned to accept a position in the McCamey school system.

Richardson also served as varsity assistant football coach, head track coach and head football coach and athletic director at Stanton on one occasion.

Mrs. Nell Richardson, Bob's wife, also quit to accept employment at McCamey. The two reportedly will be making $5,000 annually more at McCamey than they were at Stanton.

Richardson succeeded Bill Young as head coach and athletic director at Stanton two years ago. He held the coaching job one year before becoming guidance counselor.

Tom Rayburn, Big Spring, was named to replace Richardson. Steve Park, formerly of Forsan, will become an assistant coach on the high school level. Joe Rivas was named to coach in junior high school while Mrs. Karen Sue Helton and Mrs. Jane Myrick Little have been hired as classroom teachers.

Park is a graduate of Texas Tech. He coached at Coahoma three years and Bronte one season. At Coahoma, he was a junior high coach but moved to high school when he moved to Bronte.

Congress retains power to veto warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is giving President Carter authority to go ahead with development of controversial neutron warheads, but is retaining the power to veto any effort to place the weapons into production.

After nine hours of frequently emotional debate, the Senate Wednesday night rejected 58 to 38 a move headed by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., to cut out funds for the weapon contained in a Public Works Appropriations Bill.

The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee which must decide whether to leave in a limitation allowing Congress to reverse a presidential decision to produce the warheads designed for use by NATO forces in western Europe.

Carter has said he will decide next month whether to order production of the warheads, which kill more by highly concentrated radiation than the explosive power of more traditional nuclear weapons.

In his unsuccessful fight to kill the neutron appropriation, Hatfield had significant Democratic support, including Sens. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, Gary Hart of Colorado and Majority Whip Alan Cranston of California.

A closer vote had been expected. Hatfield lost a similar attempt by a 43 to 42 vote July 1.

One reflection of the importance placed on the issue by Carter was the presence of Vice President Walter Mondale, who was dressed in a tuxedo and would have been called upon to break any tie votes.

Hatfield and other opponents of providing funding said there is a danger a president might be tempted to use the weapons in the false belief that they would not set off a general nuclear conflict.

Beyond that, Hatfield said there is some scientific evidence that the warheads might create a radioactive hazard to civilian populations, despite the arguments of the Carter administration that the weapons' damage would be limited to a small area.

But many senators who voted with Hatfield said they were not necessarily opposed to the warhead, but instead wanted to insure the Senate reserved its role in setting nuclear weapons policy and did not give the President "a blank check" to go ahead with production.

Both Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd and Minority Leader Howard Baker supported the neutron warhead. But in the end, Byrd and Baker proposed the compromise which passed the Senate 74 to 19 and provides that if both Houses of Congress vote to kill the weapon a production decision by Carter would be reversed. Congress would have 45 days to act on such a proposal, and given the Senate vote on the Hatfield amendment, any congressional veto seemed unlikely.

The Byrd-Baker compromise passed after Kennedy failed in an attempt to allow a veto by just one House of Congress. Until Wednesday, the cost of the neutron warheads, to be installed in artillery shells and Lance missiles, had been classified secret.

But in a legally required report which Carter sent to Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the midst of the debate, the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency set the cost at $32.1 million for production through 1980.

Belgium celebrates Rubens' year

NEW YORK (AP) — Belgium is celebrating the 400th anniversary of the birth of artist Peter-Paul Rubens this summer, and almost 160 museums have scheduled Rubens-related exhibitions.

The central event is the exhibit of about 60 drawings and paintings at the Royal Museum of Fine Arts in Rubens' home town of Antwerp. The Royal Museum of Fine Arts Brussels is also paying tribute to the artist with a summer-long exhibit "Plastic Arts in the Southern Netherlands in the Century of Rubens."

Wife of Texas congressman shot to death

Your junk could be someone's treasure! List it in Classified!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jane Young, the wife of a Texas congressman who figured in last year's congressional sex scandal, has been shot to death in her suburban home. Police said today the shooting appeared to be a suicide.

Mrs. Young, 55, the mother of five, was found unconscious in bed at 7 p.m. Wednesday by her husband, Rep. John Young, D-Tex., police said. Officers said she had a bullet wound in her right temple. A .22 caliber pistol lay nearby. She was taken by ambulance from her McLean, Va., home to nearby Arlington Hospital, where she was given emergency treatment for almost an hour before she was pronounced dead at 9:15 p.m., said nursing supervisor Carol Harrah. No suicide note was found, police reported. A police spokesman said, the cause of death was under investigation pending a ruling by the Fairfax County medical examiner. But the spokesman added that the wound was "apparently self-inflicted."

Fighter gets dancing kick

BUCKHEAD, Ga. (AP) — Jerry Rhome, a 21-year-old professional karate fighter, gets a kick out of dancing. Rhome takes dance lessons from Terri Griffin, a 19-year-old Georgia State University student. "Kicking is very important in karate because people like to see kicks, and in order to kick, you have to be flexible. And who is more flexible than a dancer? So I went to Terri for help," he explained. Miss Griffin, this year's Miss Black Georgia, intends to become a professional entertainer some day, and she says that the benefits have been mutual. She has devised new dance steps for herself and children after watching Rhome's karate moves, she said.

not be reached. His son, John, told callers: "We will have no comment. Please call back tomorrow." The Youngs' children range in age from 25 to 14. Young's name surfaced in the sex scandal when a former employe, Colleen Gardner, accused him of putting her on his congressional payroll at a salary that reached $26,000 a year, mainly for sex. She said he refused to allow her to do much meaningful work. "Poppycock," Young snorted. At the height of the sex scandal, Mrs. Young called the Corpus Christi, Tex., Caller-Times and defended her husband against Mrs. Gardner's accusations, according to reporter Peter Applebome.

He quoted her as saying: "John and I have had 26 fine, good years together and I'm not going to let something like this destroy a relationship. Oh, Lord, mercy no. Her allegations don't concern me. What does concern me is that anyone would take her word and report it."

The sex scandal, involving a handful of members of Congress, forced Rep. Wayne L. Hays, the once-powerful chairman of the House Administration Committee, to resign from Congress. He was accused by one-time aide Elizabeth Ray of hiring her for sex. The Justice Department investigated the allegations against Hays and Young but closed its books on the sex scandal last December after saying it could not find enough evidence to prosecute anyone. Young was re-elected last November.

Mrs. Gardner's lawyer, Sol Rosen, said Wednesday night that Young has filed a $6 million lawsuit against Mrs. Gardner, Rosen and the New York Times charging libel and defamation of character in their roles in making public allegations against Young.

Rosen said the suit was filed June 9 in U.S. district Court here.

He said he also filed a suit last September accusing Young of libel and slander for remarks made last summer in announcing his proposed suit.

Flying is only second best, Patti says

Anyone who has flown in an olden cockpit over the Oregon countryside with a mere slip of a girl at the controls, and looped the loop and rolled the barrel and generally cavorted upside down in the sky, knows that no other damn foolishness exists.

"There's nothing like aerobatics and no way to describe the exhilaration, the euphoria," said Patti Johnson. "Some people think it's better than sex. I don't, but it sure is second best."

Patti Johnson is one of fewer than a dozen women among the nation's small group of pilots, about 150, who are serious aerobats.

She is 24, stands 5-4 and weighs 110. When she tucks her short brown hair into a leather helmet and pulls big goggles over her skyblue eyes and climbs into her tiny biplane she is Amelia Earhart reincarnate, freckles and all.

For all the kicks her daily life provides, though, Patti Johnson is in no way frivolous about aerobatics.

"We resent being called daredevils, or stunt flyers. Those words have a ring of carelessness to them. Aerobatics is an art, a combination of a science and an art.

"You work on your airplane until you know exactly how it will perform best for you, mechanically. That's the science. Then you fly your maneuvers precisely in an imaginative, flowing sequence. That's the art.

"We're judged in competition sort of the way figure skaters are judged. We do required maneuvers—loops, rolls, spins, turns, and endless variations of them. It's how you put them together and perform them that matters."

The way Patti Johnson

performs them has ranked her among the nation's top one-third in the advanced category, a cut below the elite unlimited class.

She figures that when she gets her airplane balanced and tuned to her satisfaction she will take on the 15 or so flyers in the unlimited division. Aerobats compete in two events a year, one at Fond du Lac, Wis., the other at Sherman, Texas.

Average the scores at both events and you get a national champion, currently a pilot with an aerobatic performance as flowing as his name, Leo Loudenslager, of Sussex, N.J.

She took up flying as a hobby when she was 17, quickly became good at it and quit work as a registered nurse to become a flying instructor. To qualify, she had to practice spins and went up in an aerobatic plane to learn.

"From then on, I was hooked. I thought it was the greatest thing in the world. I still do," she said.

My, yes. To soar above the eastern horizon into the sky, to float inverted and breathless, staring straight down at the checkered ground, to zoom earthward and see the western horizon appear from behind, to do all of this in one roaring, whispering sweep of sights and sounds and feel your body grow heavy and light and giddy and tense is an experience not easily matched.

Right, Patti. Second best.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

AEROBAT — Patti Johnson and her tiny Pitts biplane fly loops, rolls and cavort in general through the skies. Patti, 24, says aerobatic flying is the second best thing in the world and she aims to be the world champion.

Supports role of homemaker

Mrs. Mike McKinney enjoys duties of 'housewife'

By CAROL HART

Mrs. Mike (Margie) McKinney, 2322 Brent, is a homemaker who takes exception to the term "just a housewife." She explained that she felt keeping a home and family make for a full-time job, and that women should make no apologies for being housewives.

"I like being at home," she said, adding that she feels her job entails quite a bit of work.

"It is up to the husband to make his wife feel worthwhile at home," Mrs. McKinney added.

Mrs. McKinney enjoys the things she is called upon to do concerning her home. She enjoys preparing meals for her family, and added that she and her husband enjoy preparing dinner parties for friends.

"I love to cook," she said. "I have ever since I was a child. My mother didn't know anything about cooking when she married. She later became a gourmet cook. She made sure her daughters had every opportunity to learn to cook."

Caring for the McKinney's two children, Burns, 3½, and Meredith, 7 months, keeps Mrs. McKinney busy. Concerning her children, she said she has a philosophy that "my housework can wait. I like to spend a lot of time with the kids."

Mrs. McKinney and her family have resided in Big Spring since November 1973. She explained that while she was growing up, she lived in many different areas, as her father was involved with the Army. She was born in Germany, and the family also resided in Texas, Oklahoma, Georgia and Florida.

Although her brother and sister chose the military as a lifestyle, Mrs. McKinney said "I chose not to go that way. I wanted to live in one place."

Although she has chosen to work within her home, Mrs. McKinney was at one time a case worker for the State Commission for the Blind. Following her marriage, she found the job involved too much traveling and didn't allow her enough time to keep her home and to be with her husband. She chose to stay home with her family.

Although she finds little time for hobbies, Mrs. McKinney enjoys working with crewel. She was inspired to try the craft when she and her husband received a crewel work picture for a wedding gift. "At the time, I thought it would be too difficult to work with," she said. Following the birth of her son, she decided to try her hand at the craft, and eventually taught herself the art. "I don't have much time to do it. I just work on a piece a little at a time."

Mrs. McKinney has had to cut down her involvement with several clubs since the birth of her daughter, but does participate with various organizations. She is a member of the Creative Homemakers Home Demonstration Club, and works with the Friends of the Family Services.

McKinney was recently named president of the American Business Club, and Mrs. McKinney inherited the title of president of the Armdoes, the ABClub auxiliary. "I hope there is an interest among the wives in the club," she said. The women's auxiliary has not been active during the last two years. Mrs. McKinney plans to stir up interest in the club.

McKinney is also outgoing president of the area Texas Tech Ex-students association. The group is planning a hamburger buffet Friday night, and Mrs. McKinney is assisting her husband with plans for the affair. Mr. and Mrs. McKinney are both Tech graduates.

The McKinney family enjoys doing things together, such as spending time in a farmhouse near Sylvester that belongs to McKinney's family. McKinney is a hunter, and Mrs. McKinney said she and the children "like to go along," while he hunts.

"Mike takes a lot of interest in the kids," Mrs. McKinney noted. "A lot of men don't know what to do with kids this young," she said. "We are fortunate that his job allows him time for the kids." McKinney is an attorney.

The McKinneys also find that preparing meals can be a dual duty. The family enjoys outdoor cooking, and Mrs. McKinney will handle the marinating while he handles the actual cooking. When the meal is completed, Mrs. McKinney will "wrap up and freeze" any leftovers to serve during busy days. "We cook out all year," Mrs. McKinney said.

Several recipes that Mrs. McKinney enjoys preparing for her family appear here.

MRS. MIKE MCKINNEY looks over leaflets provided through the office of Ms. Janet Sargent, Howard County agent. The leaflets concern safety techniques in home canning, and are available to the public.

Recipes from Mrs. McKinney

MARINADE FOR BRISKET

- ¾ c. soy sauce
- ¼ c. salad oil
- 1 c. lemon juice (bottled or fresh)
- 2 tbsps. onion flakes
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. sage
- 4 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
- 4 ozs. liquid smoke

This makes enough marinade for a very large roast. Marinade brisket or any other beef roast at least 8 hours before cooking. I usually start marinating the night before we plan to cook it. Cook roast slowly on outdoor grill, baste occasionally with marinade.

SPAGHETTI SAUCE

- 1-1½ lbs. ground beef (lean)
- 1 large onion (chopped)
- 1 large clove garlic (chopped fine or pressed in garlic press)
- 1 large can tomato puree or sauce
- 1 large can tomato paste
- 1 large can tomatoes
- olive oil (just a little)
- pinch of oregano
- 1 large bay leaf

dash of Worcestershire
small can mushrooms (stems and pieces) or ¼ lb. fresh mushrooms
¼ c. dry red wine
Sauté chopped onion and garlic in olive oil. Add ground beef and brown lightly. Add dash of Worcestershire sauce and lightly salt. Add tomato paste, 1 can water and puree. Pinch of oregano and whole bay leaf. Cook over low heat an hour or two. Add can tomatoes, with liquid. Add mushrooms and wine and cook about another hour.

You might want to add water while sauce is cooking if it becomes too thick. The longer it cooks, the better. It should be fairly thick when it is served. Serve over spaghetti with salad and French bread.

HAM SAUCE

- 1 tbsp. dry mustard
- 3 tbsps. chili sauce (or catsup)
- 3 tbsps. brown sugar
- ½ c. dry red wine
- a few drops of lemon juice

This is especially good to baste a ham steak cooked on the grill. For a larger ham, slice ham before cooking on grill and tie together with twine, then baste as you cook.

TURKEY OR CHICKEN TETRAZZINI

Serves 6-8

- 1½ c. diced celery
- 1 c. diced green pepper
- ¼ c. chopped onion
- ¼ lb. fresh mushrooms sliced or 4-oz. can mushrooms
- ¾ c. butter or margarine
- ¼ c. flour
- 2 c. milk
- ½ lb. sharp cheddar cheese
- 2 tbsps. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
- 1½ c. sliced cooked chicken or turkey
- ¼ c. freshly squeezed lemon juice

In large skillet: Cook celery, green pepper, onion, and mushrooms in butter until onion is just transparent. Celery should still be a little crisp. Add flour and blend well. Add milk all at once; cook stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Blend in remaining ingredients. Stir until cheese melts.

Serve over spaghetti pasta. Serve with tossed green salad and French bread.

GARLIC MINT TOMATOES

- 4-6 large ripe tomatoes
- 20-24 lg. mint leaves (cut fine)
- 2 cloves garlic (pressed or chopped fine)
- 1 tsp. salt
- 5 tbsps. salad oil
- 5 tbsps. water
- 3 tbsps. vinegar

Put mint, garlic and salt in small bowl. Mash with back of wooden spoon till mint is well crushed. Add oil, water and vinegar. Mix thoroughly. Peel tomatoes and cut in sixths. Place in glass jar and pour dressing over tomatoes. Refrigerate for at least 3 hours. Will keep for several days in refrigerator.

SHRIMP DIP

- 1 large pkg. cream cheese
- 1 c. thousand island dressing
- ½ c. mayonnaise
- 2 minced pimientos
- 1 small grated onion
- ¼ c. minced green onion
- 3-6 tps. tobasco
- 1 tsp. seasoned salt
- 1 tsp. horseradish
- 2 lbs. shrimp (chopped (4 8 oz. packages of tiny frozen shrimp)

Cream softened cheese with dressing and mayonnaise. Stir in remaining ingredients adding shrimp last. Makes about 3 pints of thick rich dip. You can cut the amount of shrimp used in half and still have an excellent dip.

Good hot or cold!

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

- 2 cup up chickens
- 1 onion (sliced)
- 1 green pepper (sliced)
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 tbsps. parsley (minced)
- ½ tsp. oregano
- ¼ tsp. red pepper
- 1 lb. can tomato puree
- 2 tbsps. brown sugar
- 2 tbsps. prepared mustard salt and pepper
- ¼ c. vinegar
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire
- 1 4 oz. can mushrooms (chopped)
- 1 chicken bouillon cube

Combine all ingredients except bouillon cube and mushrooms and pour over chicken in roasting pan. Cook uncovered at 350 degrees oven for 1½ hours. Heat bouillon cube in juice of mushrooms. Pour mushrooms and juice over chicken and cook 30 minutes longer. This is great served with rice, tossed salad and garlic bread. It is easily multiplied; and a whole electric roaster full makes a great easy entree for a large party.

CHICKEN KIEV

- 3 whole chicken breasts, boned
- 2 tps. season-all
- ½ tsp. black pepper
- ¼ tsp. onion powder
- ¼ tsp. savory

- 6 tbsps. cold butter
- ¾ c. flour
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ c. milk
- 1½ c. toasted bread crumbs

oil for frying
Cut boned chicken breasts in half lengthwise and pound to flatten. Mix all of seasonings together and sprinkle on one side of each piece of chicken. Put one tablespoon of butter in center of each ½ breast; fold edges over butter, envelope fashion. Seal with toothpicks. (1) Roll in flour, (2) dip in egg beaten with milk, (3) roll in crumbs. Repeat! Fry in 3 to 4 inches vegetable oil, 375 degrees, 12 minutes or until golden brown. Remove toothpicks and serve hot.

I suggest you season and put the butter in chicken and seal and refrigerate a few hours before cooking.

GREEN BEAN CASSEROLE

- 2 tbsps. minced onions
- 4 tbsps. butter
- 5 tbsps. flour
- 1 c. milk
- ½ c. dry white wine
- 1 bouillon cube
- 14 oz. can mushrooms
- 2 pkgs. frozen green beans (cooked) — French style or cut
- ½ c. shredded blanched almonds
- ½ c. grated cheddar cheese
- paprika

In large skillet saute onions in butter. Blend in flour; add milk, wine and bouillon cube, stir constantly until cube dissolves and sauce boils and thickens. Add mushrooms with liquid. Add green beans and almonds. Put in large greased casserole; sprinkle with grated cheese and paprika. Bake in 375 degree oven for about 20 minutes.

Best buy on market

Anyone who is fond of clams should also incline toward the mussel, a fellow mollusk which is about the best buy on today's soaring seafood market.

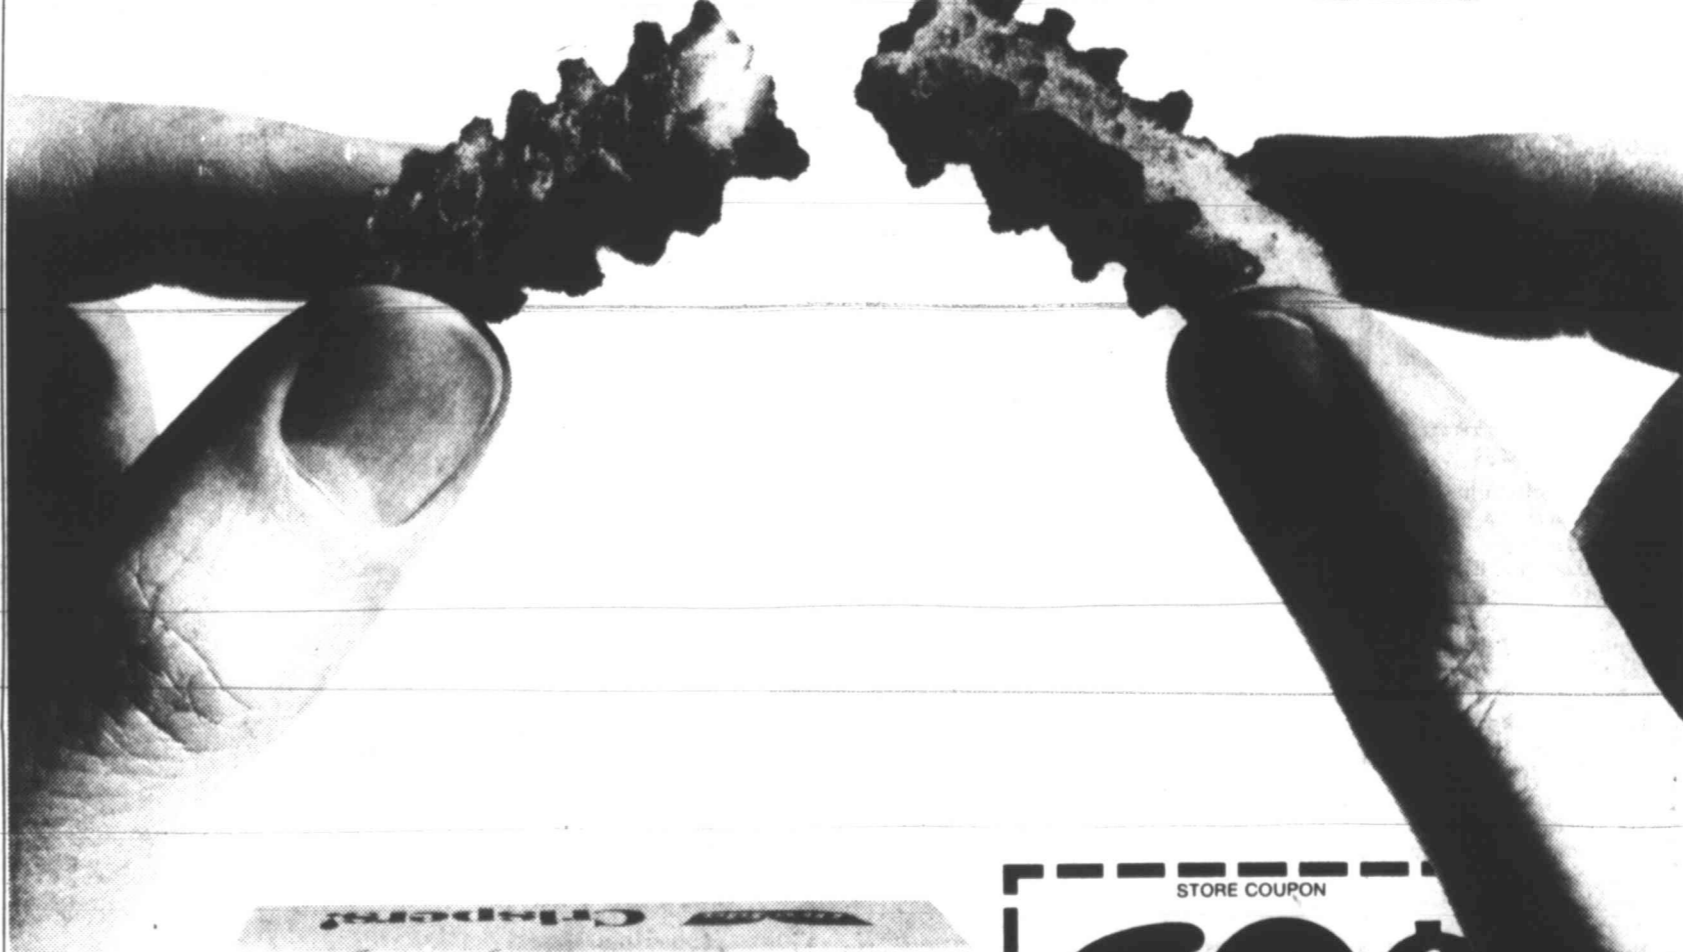

Mussels share many of the characteristics of clams and can be prepared in much the same way, although they are rarely eaten raw; at least not in this country.

The blue mussel abounds along the Atlantic Coast from the Arctic to Cape Hatteras. The mussel is also available in certain seasons on the West Coast.

Like its cousin the clam, the mussel may gape open before it is cooked but unlike the clam, it usually doesn't close its shell when handled. There is a test, however, to see whether a mussel is fresh and alive. Run cold water over the shell for a minute or so. If it still does not close throw the mussel away.

In case you decide to go hunting for mussels by the seaside on your own, there are also a few words of caution. For one thing, make sure the mollusks dwell in government-certified unpolluted water. Also make certain that whenever you find mussels clustered, they are submerged and exposed with the rise and fall of the tide.

Ore-Ida introduces french fries so crisp, they snap.

NEW Ore-Ida Crispers!

If you want french fries that are extra crisp, try new Ore-Ida Crispers. Regular french fries merely bend. But new Ore-Ida Crispers are so crisp, you can actually snap them. That's because they're specially made for oven heating. They have little ridges that lift them off your cooking sheet and let the heat circulate around them evenly. So you get french fries that are probably crisper than any others you've eaten. New Ore-Ida Crispers! Snap 'em up.

Convicted nurses will appeal

DETROIT (AP) — Defense attorneys for two nurses found guilty of poisoning patients are trying to overturn the convictions but say they see few grounds for appeal.

"It was a bright and intelligent judge and he didn't make many mistakes," said defense attorney Thomas O'Brien.

The nurses, meanwhile, said they were shocked by the verdicts and disillusioned with the U.S. justice system.

The two women were convicted Wednesday on charges of poisoning patients with a muscle-relaxing drug at a veterans hospital where more than 50 persons suffered breathing failures during a two-month period in the summer of 1975.

Attorneys for Filipina Narcisco and Leonora Perez planned to meet today with U.S. District Court Judge Philip Pratt and federal prosecutors to discuss defense motions for a mistrial and a directed verdict of acquittal.

Miss Narcisco, 31, of Ypsilanti, and Mrs. Perez, 33, of Ann Arbor, were convicted on three counts apiece of poisoning patients at the Ann Arbor Veterans Administration hospital.

They also were found guilty of conspiracy. Miss Narcisco was found innocent on one count of murder and one count of poisoning.

The nurses, free on an extension of their $75,000 bond, face possible life imprisonment.

"All of my faith is gone," Mrs. Perez said after the trial. "I know I did not get a fair trial... I know there was no evidence to convict us."

Miss Narcisco added, "I have never been so shocked in my life as by what happened today. I had no thoughts of being convicted before today."

The prosecution contended the two women put the drug Pavulon into intravenous feeding devices, causing the victims to stop breathing.

More than 50 breathing failures were reported at the hospital in July and August, 1975. Several of the victims died, but it was never clear how many of the deaths were traced to the drug.

Prosecutors refused to say if they believed the two nurses were responsible for breathing failures not included in the indictments.

But, said Asst. U.S. Atty

Richard Yanko, there were "similarities and uniqueness" about all the respiratory arrests.

"One could conclude that all those events were perpetrated by the same individual or individuals," he added.

The jury of nine women and three men deliberated for nearly 94 hours over 15 days before returning the verdict.

"My conscience is clear," said one of the jurors, Clara Cyplyk of Detroit. "We all (the jurors) feel that was the right decision."

She said the decision was based on the "weight of real evidence against the two. The prosecution's case satisfied us."

"If we had come out with a verdict after two days, there might be reason to question it, but we looked at everything calmly and logically for two weeks and there's no way we came to the wrong decision."

It pays lawyer to advertise

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A young lawyer here is beginning to believe what businessmen have suspected for decades: it pays to advertise.

After the U.S. Supreme Court ruled recently that lawyers could advertise, Eddie Spitzer, who has been practicing law here since 1973, placed an ad in a local newspaper asking readers, "Do You Need a Lawyer?"

The ad gives potential clients Spitzer's prices for handling uncontested divorces and legal separations, uncontested adoptions, simple wills and deeds or mortgage work.

"I've had some results from it," Spitzer said. He is believed to be the first lawyer in the state to advertise his services since the Supreme Court ruling.

Spitzer said the reaction from fellow lawyers has not been critical. Some colleagues have told him they are thinking about advertising, too.

Spitzer said he was pleasantly surprised that on a recent visit to his dentist, everyone in the office knew him from the ad.

"Hopefully, that will help me in the future," he said.

Huntsville site of police trial

HOUSTON (AP) — A state judge has ruled that two former Houston police officers indicted on a charge of murder in the death of a young prisoner will be tried in Huntsville.

State District Court Judge Allen Stillely granted a defense motion Wednesday to change the location of the trial after attorneys for Terry Denson, 27, and Stephen Orlando, 21, argued their clients could not receive a fair trial in Houston.

The attorneys argued that news media coverage of the incident, statements by public officials about the case and citizen demonstrations would make it impossible to select an impartial jury in Harris County.

"To have a trial in this county at this time would be highly questionable," said Stillely who set the trial for Sept. 7 in the court of State District Judge James Warren.

Sleeping ills fade in Harris County

HOUSTON (AP) — Health officials say St. Louis encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, should not be a problem this year in the Houston area.

Bob Barrow, a biologist with the Harris County

Mosquito Control District, said Wednesday the disease usually shows up first in birds during the spring months but to date "there has been an almost total absence of the viral reaction."

The culex mosquito gets the virus from the birds and transmits it to humans.

Last year there were 26 confirmed cases in the Houston area, 19 suspected cases and three deaths.

HILLCREST BAPTIST CHURCH

The church has developed a great machinery of organization. Efficient, smooth, and effective, it has well-organized groups and programs for people of every age.

It grinds along, raising its budget and using its "Madison Avenue" techniques to promote its program.

But all about us, men are caught in the grip of life, tied with unbreakable tensions. They are held fast by the grip of sin and self. Deep down in the secret rooms of their hearts, they are crying for help. They are seeking something — they are seeking THE WAY.

I am not opposed to machinery. I plainly see the foolishness of a hastily contrived, haphazard organization. But we are not contending with flesh and blood. Evil is not afraid of machinery. It is not fearful of machinery or organizations, or sermons or preachers. Evil is only afraid of God. Because God in Christ Jesus is the only One ever to conquer it.

Machinery without God is dead. Machinery that is oiled by constant, earnest prayer, and that is sparked by the power of the Holy Spirit of God is the great force of the church. "And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God; Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching therewith all perseverance and supplication for all saints." Ephesians 6:17-18.

NOT SO OLD — Winner of the "Old Fiddlers Contest," a highlight of the annual Martin County Old Settlers Reunion in Stanton last weekend, was 15-year-old Ricky Boen (center) of Odessa. Flanking him are Damon Boyd (left), who finished second; and Big Spring's Don Tolle, who placed third. The 44th annual reunion attracted a record 800 people.

Food giants may merge

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — Kellogg Co., the cold-cereal giant, and Tropicana Products, a major orange juice producer, say they will make a third stab at getting together for breakfast.

Under a new agreement in principle announced Wednesday, Kellogg would swap 1.55 of its shares for each of the Bradenton, Fla. — based Tropicana's 9.4 million outstanding shares.

There are 76.3 million shares of Kellogg stock outstanding.

The tentative agreement marks the third time since 1974 that the two food giants have discussed such a merger.

At current market values, the Kellogg shares would be worth about $378 million to Tropicana shareholders.

The agreement in principle has been approved by both boards of directors, but is subject to further approval of the boards and "if necessary, the shareholders," the firms said in a joint settlement.

"The proposed transaction is intended to be tax free and to be accounted for as a pooling of interests," Tropicana officials said.

Kellogg officials declined further comment on the talks Wednesday.

Kellogg, which has 19,000 employees worldwide, has its main plant in Battle Creek, Mich., with subsidiary cereal plants in Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Nebraska and California and overseas operations.

Kellogg produces and markets ready-to-eat cereals and other food products in the U.S. and overseas. Tropicana processes, packages and distributes citrus products.

Two earlier efforts at merging were unsuccessful.

An initial agreement between the two firms was reached in April, 1974 but was not completed. At that time, Kellogg offered a one-for-one stock swap valued at $158.6 million but Tropicana called the deal off without comment a week later.

In May, 1976, executives of the two firms agreed in principle that Kellogg would acquire Tropicana through an exchange of 1.5 shares of Kellogg stock for each of Tropicana's outstanding 9.4 million shares. That proposal had a market value of $313.6 million but again the deal was called off.

The proposed deal is the second in recent months involving a Michigan food giant. Gerber Products Co., a manufacturer of baby foods, currently is in federal court seeking to prevent a takeover by the Anderson Clayton Co., of Texas, a diversified food company. The case is scheduled for trial in federal court in Grand Rapids Sept. 12.

Water rights struggle

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma must "get off the fence" in the struggle for water rights or it will lose to surrounding states, a water study group says.

Oklahoma Water Inc., a group promoting development of the state's water resources, gave the warning in a report this week on the study of a plan to transport water from Arkansas to Texas.

"Oklahoma must get off the fence and hasten the completion and adoption of a statewide comprehensive water plan, and initiate the actions required to bring such a cooperative venture about," the report said.

"It's time that we initiated some actions instead of reacting to what Texas and others have already done."

"If Oklahoma fails to do this, she may be left on the sidelines while other states put waters which otherwise would legally belong to Oklahoma to work for themselves."

The issue is over water which leaves the state of Oklahoma and flows in to Arkansas and Texas.

"At first glance, there appears to be enough water for everyone," the report said.

Estimates, according to the report, are that the annual outflow from Arkansas is about 76.5 million acre-feet and after allowances for that state's needs by the year 2020, it would be reduced to 43 million acre-feet.

"When compared with the projected need of the Texas High Plains of about six million acre-feet per year, the issue seems hardly worth a squabble. Closer scrutiny of the report, however, reveals additional facts and leads to several questions," the report said.

Questions raised, according to Oklahoma Water, Inc., include future use of surface water in Oklahoma, allowances for navigation, high and low flows, consumption demand and other requirements and the demand in Texas.

The Oklahoma group said the Arkansas-Texas study would allow the six million acre-feet for maintenance of present High Plains irrigation levels in Texas. There are more than 13 million acres in the area suitable for irrigation, more than doubling the current amount, it said.

"Watering these additional acres, which would be a reasonable expectation, would logically double the amount of import water needed for irrigation alone," according to the report.

"No mention is made of the need for municipal and industrial water for the High Plains in the report. One could reasonably speculate that Midland, Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo and other smaller cities in the region, will require additional water supplies as the agricultural economy expands with import water, precipitating growth."

The report said that western Oklahoma must also soon have import water.

Oil swindle suit filed by big bank

CHICAGO (AP) — The Continental Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago has sued two of its former officers, accusing them of defrauding the bank of at least $617,853 in an alleged Texas and Oklahoma oil swindle.

The suit filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court contends that the two men personally profited by concealing their interests in two oil companies that did business with the bank and with the bank's customers.

Someone fires at lineman

MONROE, La. (AP) — Somebody shot at a lineman who remained on the job after 34 others quit in the wake of the sale of the city-owned power plant here, police said.

Police Chief Willie Buffington said the man told officers he was checking a substation meter when a pickup truck stopped nearby and a man fired five shots in his direction.

Buffington said that, as a result, a policeman will accompany all utility trucks while they are in service.

"We are very concerned that anyone would attempt something like this," said Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard. "We don't take a thing like this lightly."

All but two of the linemen resigned after a city referendum approving a plan in which the Louisiana Power & Light Co. will take over the municipal power plant and its lines.

They said they no longer had any future in the system. The city made arrangements for private electrical companies to handle the work pending the LP&L takeover in September.

The former officers are F. Gaylord Nance and Richard T. Fogle, both now of Dallas. Nance was a second vice president in the trust department when he resigned on Feb. 28, 1975. Fogle was a trust properties officer when he resigned on Oct. 1, 1975. They were responsible for investing money from trust accounts in oil and gas interests.

Continental, the eighth largest bank in the nation, seeks the recovery of an undisclosed amount of money and land allegedly lost in the fraud and a court order freezing the assets of the oil companies controlled by the men.

Due to Nance's and Fogle's "breaches of duty," the suit said, Continental already has had to pay customers $617,853 for oil and gas interests lost.

However, the suit said the bank's total losses and its obligations to customers who lost money in the alleged fraud are not known.

In addition, the suit said Continental has spent more than $1 million on its own investigation into the matter and for legal fees.

The suit said that unknown to the bank, Nance and Fogle set up Arrow Oil Corp. in Oklahoma in 1972 and Texoil Exploration Co. in Texas in 1974.

It listed one example of how the men allegedly defrauded the bank in 1973. An oil explorer in Tulsa offered to sell the bank, for their customers, leases in three Oklahoma oil and gas prospects. Acting as a bank officer, Fogle allegedly bought the leases for his Arrow company instead of for a bank customer and later resold the leases to bank customers at a personal profit.
