BS Schools to get $1 million more

An additional $1,041,900 will be given the Big Spring schools by State of Texas as a result of action taken by the State Legislature in last week's special session, according to Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls, who represents Howard County in Austin. "The new education law represents a balanced approach to school funding," Sen. Farabee said, "and is a great improvement over past plans.

The new plans provides for local property tax relief, increased salary benefits and additional sums for equalization aid."

Farabee voted to concur in House amendments to the original Senate bill, stating: "Under the new plan, rural areas will fare better. This legislation uses agricultural values based on productivity in its apportionment of state and local fund requirements."

The Legislature passed the new law during the first week of the special session. The prompt action by the House and Senate should allow local school districts to set their budgets immediately for the 1977-78 school years.

Rep. Mike Ezzell of Snyder, who also represents Howard County in Austin, found he had little time to relax following passage of the school bill. He expressed elation over an amendment which he said could have cost school districts in his area was deleted from the school bill that ultimately was referred to Gov. Briscoe.

Ezzell was one of the leaders in the House efforts to perform the necessary surgery on House Bill 1.

Ezzell thinks the Big Spring school district fared best of all the school districts within his legislative district, as a result of refinements to the bill.

The Snyder legislator immediately went on to other things. A nursing home bill introduced by Ezzell will be considered during the special session, thanks to approval given by Gov. Briscoe.

The bill was in committee Monday. Specifically, Ezzell's bill strengthens licensing requirements of nursing homes and permits the state to take economic sanctions against nursing home operators who fail to offer protective services for the elderly. It delegates more of the responsibility for checking on nursing homes to the State Health Department rather than the Welfare Department.

Ezzell conceded that his bill would not solve all the problems in the nursing home industry but would, in effect, give the Health Department more tools to work with in correcting unacceptable situations.

Bauer only problem?

HEW may take schools to court

By BOB BURTON
Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) officials expressed "disappointment" today over recent actions by the Big Spring School Board and would not rule out the possibility of litigation in the matter.

Citing an "inability to reach a decision with HEW", the board moved Thursday to maintain the neighborhood school system threatened by federal desegregation guidelines.

The board's plan upheld the closing of five schools due to dropping enrollment and funds, but did not accept busing for purely racial reasons. The one exception to this is Lakeview School, the only "de jure" school in the system, whose students will be bused to Marcy school next year.

A.J. Howell, the acting head of operations for secondary and elementary education, said, "As you know, we have been involved in administrative proceedings with the district. Positive steps have been taken, but they have not gone quite so far as was necessary."

Contrary to the opinion of interim superintendent Lynn Hise, who held that there were secondary problems hampering the negotiations, Howell expressed his opinion that Bauer presented the only obstacle to HEW approval.

This was in reference to the plan approved May 12, which would have made Lakeview a fifth grade center and Bauer handle Head Start, kindergarten, and first graders from Lakeview and Bauer areas.

"THE PROBLEM centered around Bauer," said Howell. "They were busing rural youngsters past Bauer, a racially-identifiable school, to other buildings. That contradicts the Byrd and Esch Amendments."

"Now," continues Howell, "we will schedule a hearing to determine what available remedies exist within the system."

Howell would not rule out the possibility of submitting the case to the Justice Department for litigation.

When asked what rule is used to determine a racially-identifiable school, Howell explained that, under the Pratt decision, a 20 per cent or better deviation from the area population would label a school.

He also stated that usually, in negotiations such as this, the discussion is held between school officials, the HEW office of civil rights, and attorneys from both sides.

Discussions now are carried on strictly by attorneys, who relay their findings to the board.

DR. JOHN BELL, the Education Branch Chief in Dallas, maintained that the Dallas office of HEW has been

"disengaged" from dealing with Big Spring since the board was serving with a hearing notice approximately two years ago.

"Any action taken by our office would be purely advisory," he said. "I wish this matter had been resolved while we were actively involved in it, but since the notification, we have been completely out of it."

Howell also dealt with charges that HEW had "tentatively approved" the May plan, and then reneged on its promise. "Maybe they (the school board officials) were led to believe it, but there was no one with the authority to promise them that. I can say anything, but my superior has to approve it before it is acceptable."

Howell continued to say that, while Lakeview was claimed to be the only "de jure" minority school in the system, Bauer had been built while Mexican-Americans were counted with Anglos, a practice which is no longer accepted.

The impact of this is that, while the board believes it has handled part of its desegregation problems, HEW thinks differently.

"DE JURE" means "under the law" and implies that a school was built as a minority school, thus establishing the dual school system alien to the legal statutes of today. Lakeview, maintains the board, was its only de jure school, and as such, was dismantled in the present plan to handle Head Start and kindergarten — thus solving the problem.

However, HEW also maintains that Bauer is also de jure, and as such remains a neighborhood school and a remnant of the dual system.

Whoever is correct, the impetus has certainly been passed to Washington, and, however smoothly school starts in August, it will not get under way with federal approval.

100 in NYC

Marines can't take 117-degree heat

By the Associated Press

It was so hot. It was so unmercifully hot Monday that 19 rugged Marines participating in war games were overcome and had to be evacuated by helicopter from the Mojave Desert to Camp Pendleton in southern California. The temperature reached 117 at one point.

It was so hot along the railroad tracks near Paintsville, Ky., that the rails expanded and 16 cars of a 110-car freight train jumped the tracks. No one was injured. Temperatures had hovered near 100.

And the nagging heat became more unbearable as the National Weather Service announced that in most places, there would be no lull for most of the week. The heat reached across the country from the Atlantic Coast to the Rockies and into the Southwest desert.

The thermometer reached 107 in Las Vegas, Nev., and Gila Bend, Ariz. Near Phoenix it was 112. In New York it was an 11-year record 100. In Roanoke, Va., it reached 102, another record.

The heat wave may hit Big Spring, but the town won't feel it so much as some other areas in the country, according to Bill Fryrear, director of the Big Spring Experiment Station.

"The heat is more typical for us, more so than New York City," said Fryrear. "It will probably get warmer here, but the relative humidity will also drop. When this happens, evaporative coolers work better, and people's houses will probably feel more comfortable. All in all, we will not be as uncomfortable as people in high humidity areas," he explained.

Air conditioning was turned up all over the country. Power companies in Pennsylvania and Minnesota asked customers to cut back on using electrical appliances. There were spot outages or outbacks in Massachusetts and New York City, where a 25-hour blackout caused so much trouble last week.

A minor traffic accident turned into a three-hour tieup on a Massachusetts highway when 150 cars waiting for a truck to be towed away overheated and stalled.

Poultry farmers in Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and Massachusetts reported thousands of chickens had died because of the heat.

Forest fires raged on in Utah, Wyoming and Montana.

Air pollution hovered over the nation's capital and wide areas of Kentucky, Minnesota, Rhode Island and Maryland as stagnant air masses refused to pass on.

Bush seeking Mahon's seat

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — George W. Bush, son of former CIA director George H.W. Bush, today announced his candidacy for the 19th congressional seat held for four decades by retiring U.S. Rep. George Mahon.

The younger Bush, a 31-year-old Republican, said he is counting on strong name identification but "I'm going to campaign on my own ability to win."

The candidate's father also served as national Republican Party chairman.

The younger Bush is an independent oil operator in Midland and serves as board chairman of Field Services Inc. of Odessa.

Boll weevils not in Knott

Cotton crop 'looking good'

By MARJ CARPENTER

"The cotton is fruiting faster this year and most of the cotton that is going to the gin is already on the stalk in Howard County," James Lee, county entomologist said this morning at the monthly agriculture breakfast.

Tim Hall, director of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, pointed out that the total of acreage in Howard County was officially totaled this week and is up to 95,500 acres.

This is an increase over the approximate 90,000 acres last year and involves about 11,000 acres of newly broken ground in the county. Some old acreage was not replanted.

The general consensus was that the cotton crop "looks great" this year and was further along than last year's crop at the same period. The hot dry July has helped the boll weevil problem, although a shower in late July would not harm the crop.

Lee spoke on the boll weevils and pointed out that the heaviest infestation is north of Sand Springs and south of Coahoma, both of which were anticipated from the trash count.

There are some in the Vincent area, some in Lomax, one field badly infestated in the Luther area and a few all over the county except in a small area between Knott and Ackerly.

Although the weevils are "not in Knott", it was determined by the study that nobody in the county can be complacent about the weevil.

"The days of saying the weevils won't come to West Texas are over," Bruce Griffith, county agent pointed out. A lot of the work being done by the county entomologist, and the county extension service through the experiment station and on test plots is seeking avenues of weevil control.

All phases are being checked, including late planting, study of varieties, study of spray at certain periods and other possible means of control.

"We won't know all results until the harvest," Lee told the farmers today. It has already been determined that late planting has aided in that the period when the over-wintering weevil came out missed the third square development.

Farmers with a variety that was slow to grow or slow to fruit are as well off as the late planters. Some of the hardest hit fields have lost their bottom squares, which often are the high quality cotton.

Lee also reported on the bollworm count and showed a computer printout that is being used in an attempt to determine when the worms will peak in the county. It looks as though the big peak will be around August 20 unless weather conditions change this prediction.

As a whole, it was reported at the meeting at Coker's Restaurant today that the crop is "looking good" and "there's a lot of it."

No increase included in '78 county budget

The 1978 budget for Howard County which was adopted by the Commissioners Court Monday, showed no tax increase.

Assessed valuation of the budget for 1978 is $129,802,127, and increase of $21,550,803 over the 1977 figure.

The total assessed valuation for the budget is based on a figure approximating 25 per cent of the true market value of property assessed.

The proposed county tax set for 1978 is based on a 95 cents per $100 valuation, the same rate the county budget has adopted for the last several years.

The total amount of county taxes levied for the budget, based on the rate described above, is $1,233,120.20.

An increase in revenue from taxes is projected to be $194,496 over last year's total. According to Virginia Black, county treasurer, the increase will come from new values such as buildings and oil wells. She said most of the increase would come from oil wells set at the old rate of valuation.

Mrs. Black said that there had been a five per cent overall salary increase for county employees, but that this would not affect the tax rate.

The budget remains much the same as it was last year, with no new items or employees.

An increase of $22,113 in total expenditures is projected for 1978 over the total expenditures of this year.

Action/reaction: Why FBO operation?

Q: If Trans Regional Airlines cannot get along with the county commissioners and were forced to close down the airline because of lack of cooperation, how come they are still operating a Fixed Base Operation, spray service, and flying school from the Howard County Airport?

A: Because, according to R.E. McClure of Trans Regional, those three things have been revenue producing while passenger service was not even close to breaking even. Trans Regional requested permission to stop their passenger service because, said McClure, "the town does not produce enough passengers to support the airline."

After delay

Congressional hearing on Webb

One delay in the process of returning Webb Air Force Base to civilian control may be resolved at 10 a.m. July 29 when the disposal hearing on the base is held in Washington.

Cong. Omar Burleson's office announced Monday that the hearing, postponed since June, had at last been scheduled and Webb will be on the agenda.

"The congressman has talked to the chairman of the subcommittee every day and implored him to have the meeting," an aide said.

The hearing will be conducted by the Subcommittee on Military Installations and Facilities, a subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee.

The subcommittee will have full jurisdiction, Cong. Burleson's aide said, so it will not be necessary for the Webb disposal to go to either the full committee or to the Senate.

If the decision is favorable to the Air Force's recommendation to dispose of Webb, the report will go back to the Air Force and then over to the General Services Administration (GSA) to begin action.

The GSA reportedly has been prescreening federal agencies which might have an interest in portions of the base in order to speed up the process. GSA can also begin the transition to civilian occupation of the base by making interim leases for buildings with the Webb Steering Committee.

This would enable industries to begin locating on the base some months before it is actually returned to full civilian authority.

Cong. Burleson's aide said that the House Armed Services Committee has encountered great difficulty in scheduling its subcommittee meetings because of the press of many matters — most recently the American aircraft downed over North Korea.

The aide said that Cong. Burleson, who represents Big Spring in the nation's capital, expects no difficulty with the disposal hearing, but she noted that the subcommittee has several options. It could agree with the disposal report; it could hold the report over; or it could disapprove of the report, she said.

Prosecutions possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prosecutions may grow out of the Justice Department's investigation of alleged Korean attempts to buy influence in Congress. Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell said Monday that, "We expect there will be prosecutions." He indicated the department was moving more swiftly on the Korean case than on others because "it touches the public interest." Meanwhile, Speaker of the House Thomas P. O'Neill promised he would see to it that the congressional probe of the scandal moves ahead speedily. He said he wants quick appointment of a new chief investigator to replace Philip A. Lacovara, who resigned last week.

Carter won't back down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources are suggesting that President Carter's position against taxpayer-paid abortions for poor women is based strictly on moral considerations. The sources said Monday that the President received no factual information from his Domestic Policy Council before announcing his support of a controversial Supreme Court decision. The nation's highest court ruled earlier this month that states are not under any obligation to pay for poor women's abortions.

Asian allies concerned

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's foreign policy is reported causing consternation among America's allies in the Pacific. Members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) apparently are having misgivings about U.S. policy, and have expressed their doubts both privately and publicly in recent weeks. Members of the association are: Indonesia, the Philippines, Thailand, Malaysia and Singapore. Their concern stems from the administration's human rights campaign, its interest in establishing normal relations with China and Vietnam and its plans to withdraw ground troops from South Korea.

Prinze's death accident?

LOS ANGELES — Maria Pruetzel, the 56-year-old mother of the late television star Freddie Prinze, says she is certain that her son's death was an accident and not suicide. Mrs. Pruetzel, who appeared at a news conference Monday, announced plans to write a book which "will factually set forth the true cause of Freddie's death and will also attempt to reach out to young people, like Freddie, who are presently seeking a show business career, to warn them of the pitfalls of instant fame and success." Her attorney, Martin Friedlander, told newsmen that Mrs. Pruetzel could stand to lose all or part of Prinze's $500,000 life insurance policy if a positive finding of suicide in Prinze's death the last week of January is allowed to stand. Prinze, 22, starred in the NBC television series, "Chico and the Man." Renny Martin, a spokeswoman for Mrs. Pruetzel, said a release date for the book is about two years away and the mother has yet to secure a ghost writer or a publisher.

Elderly patients mistreated?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sad stories of the abuse of helpless elderly patients in nursing homes conflicted Monday with state officials' testimony that many complaints aren't justified. The Senate Committee on Human Resources approved a bill, 9-0, to allow the state to move quicker in shutting down homes that threaten the health of their patients. Nursing home employees could go to prison for deliberately injuring patients. There also are civil penalties of $25 to $1,000. House committee testimony on a similar measure lasted most of Monday and was scheduled to resume Tuesday. The House Committee on Health and Welfare continued testimony on that chamber's version of the nursing home bill today. Lyle Hamner of the Texas Senior Citizens Association, endorsed both the Senate measure and the companion bill by Rep. Mike Ezzell, D-Snyder. Hamner said the quality of nurses aides, who have direct contact with patients, often was low. In one case, he said, a man was hired as a janitor but was told after reporting for work, "We need you more as a nurses aide." Soon, he said, the janitor was given keys to the drug cabinet and was administering medication.

Wilson suggested that one way to get at the problem of abuse and neglect would be to pass a law similar to the one on child abuse. It provides criminal penalties for failure to report abuse or neglect and established a central registry of abuse reports in the welfare department.

Water flows after break

A break in an eight-inch, cast iron main caused a water leak on Ryan Street behind the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital Sunday. "From what I can tell at this point, it was a relatively small leak," said Bill Brown, assistant city manager. "There was no decrease in the pump pressure at the filter plant." Brown conceded that even a small leak could represent a loss of thousands of gallons of water. "But when you are talking in terms of millions of gallons, that isn't very much," he explained.

Promises, promises, promises

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — Sirimavo Bandaranaike, the world's only incumbent woman head of government, faces stiff opposition in national elections focusing on this tropical island's monumental economic problems. About 6.6 million Sri Lankans are eligible to vote in Thursday's election for the 168 members of the unicameral National State Assembly, where Mrs. Bandaranaike's Sri Lanka Freedom party now holds a comfortable coalition majority. Political observers say the contest is more one of personalities than ideology. Both Mrs. Bandaranaike and her chief rival, United National party leader Junius Richard Jayewardene, favor a nonaligned foreign policy and socialist economics. But some economists say the deteriorating agrarian economy, based on tea, rubber and coconut exports, cannot support the bounteous social welfare programs of this island nation — the former Ceylon — off India's southern tip. Jayewardene, nonetheless, has promised eight pounds of free cereal a week for each Sri Lankan in an effort to improve his party's conservative image. The socialist Bandaranaike government already provides a pound of rice a week, free education through university level and free medical care.

Century III meet Sunday

A special Century III gathering will be held in the Howard College Community Room at the Dora Roberts Student Center at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, officially wrapping up last year's Bicentennial operation. Key workers have been invited to the event which will include the official Bicentennial color slide and sound show of local events. Invitations went out this week from Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery and Mrs. Janelle Davis, who were co-chairman of extensive celebrations in Big Spring and Howard County.

The parade preceding the 42nd annual event begins downtown at 5 p.m. A special guest will be Denise Fuchshuber of Grapevine, 1977 Queen of the American Association of Sheriff's Poses and Riding Clubs. Dances will be held each evening after the rodeo. Providing the music will be the Big Spring band of Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys.

Tune hearing 46 pre-trials

County Judge Bill Tune was hearing 46 pre-trial cases in Howard County Court starting this morning. The cases on the docket include 28 driving while intoxicated charges, and other charges including carrying prohibited weapon, trespassing, harassment, possession of marijuana and assault. One county court case has been set for trial on July 29 on Betty Louis Hamilton on a carrying a prohibited weapon charge.

Flores posts $2,500 bail

Ralph Flores, 19, who is charged with burglary, was released on a $2,500 bond from the county jail this morning. Flores suffered a gunshot wound in the right buttock as he was apparently fleeing the scene of a burglary of the 87 Liquor Store, 1007 North Johnson, Sunday night. The shot was fired by Police Patrolman Jerry Pruitt who also thinks he winged one apparent burglar who fled the scene. Bond was set by Municipal Judge John R. Coffee.

City sales tax rebates climb

Big Spring received a check Monday for $51,521.37 in city sales tax rebates, up $22,315 over the same period for 1976. The check covers the period from May 27 to July 1, and raises the total payments for this year to $422,187.89. This represents a 10 per cent increase over the $381,650 total for the year to date in 1976. "I couldn't even hazard a guess as to why the checks have been increasing," said Tom Ferguson, city finance director. "I've really been expecting them to drop because of the Webb closing, but they just keep going. Part of the increase is because of inflation, but that isn't the whole reason. All I can say is that I hope they (the checks) stay up there," he added. A number of area cities also experienced a rise in rebates. Coahoma received $1,458.70 as compared to nothing in 1976; Colorado City, $6,523.61 over $5,710.50; and Lamesa, $15,745.72 over $8,203.88. Stanton and Sterling City received nothing for the period either year. Statewide, city sales tax rebates are running 20.3 per cent ahead of last year, according to Bob Bullock, state comptroller. The state total for the period came to $23.6 million. The July checks boost to $190.7 million the total that has been rebated to Texas cities for the first seven months of this year. This compares to $158.6 million for the same period last year. "These rebates are just another sign of the strength of the Texas economy," Bullock said. He also noted that state sales tax collections in Texas are registering a bigger percentage increase in any other state. Bullock said the City of Houston will get a July sales tax rebate check for $4.7 million and Dallas and San Antonio will receive $3.2 million and $1.3 million, respectively.

Trio appointed for EMS study

Commissioners Ikie Ruppard, and Louis Brown and County Attorney Harvey Hooser were appointed to serve on the committee which is investigating the possibility of bringing the Emergency Medical Service to Howard County, in the afternoon session of Commissioners Court Monday. Other members of the committee include Big Spring City Council members Polys Mays and Harold Hall. A discussion with County Attorney Hooser took place in relation to the law suit filed against the county in Federal District Court by deputies Bernice Nail and Rachel Shaffer. The commissioners instructed Hooser to file his answer to the suit with the Federal Court by July 31. The suit involves the question of Sex Discrimination as it applies to the employment of deputies Nail and Shaffer. The Commissioners adopted the new budget, adjourned as a board of equalization. The tax rate was left at the same level in the county with no increase.

Dean expected to resign

Tony Ortiz, recently named new dean of student life at Howard College, was expected to resign officially at today's meeting of the college board to accept a position in Roswell, N.M. Ortiz, who came to Big Spring as counselor for the college, was recently appointed dean replacing Mrs. Anna Smith, who took early retirement. Ortiz will apparently work in the counseling field in Roswell schools.

Police beat Music lover strikes

Burglars ripped off $2,400 worth of merchandise from the home of Martha Wieting, 509 1/2 Nolan, sometime between 6 and 11 p.m. Monday. Entering through a living room window, the intruders gathered up a color television set, a stereo receiver and a cassette tape deck. They left through the front door. An unsuccessful burglary attempt caused $50 damage to a soft drink machine at the Mid Continent Inn, FM 700 and IS 20 West. According to reports, a motel employe heard someone kicking the machine around 10 p.m. Monday. When the employe checked, he found that the burglar had unsuccessfully attempted to pry open the front of the machine. A five-pound bag of peppers was stolen from the garden of Betty McChristian, 3800 McChristian, 5 p.m. Monday. According to reports, Ms. McChristian noticed two men in her garden. When she asked them what they were doing there, they replied, "Stealing peppers," and then fled through Comanche Trail Park. Loss was estimated at $2.50. Brenda Hewitt, 14, 703 Galveston, was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital after she stepped out of a moving car, 10 p.m. Monday. According to reports, Ms. Hewitt was a passenger in a car driven by Terina Ann Williams, 1300 Douglas. Ms. Williams had pulled up in front of the Hewitt home to drop off her passenger, and had not come to a complete stop when Ms. Hewitt stepped out.

Two burglaries reported solved

Two residential burglaries in the county were cleared up Monday and involve a 16-year-old juvenile youth, according to Sheriff Aubrey Standard. The two burglaries cleared include the residence of Al Webb in Apt. 77 behind the Texas Lounge and the resident of Capt. Rob Pellibeau on the Garden City route. Other rural burglaries are expected to be cleared within the next few weeks and involve several citizens, including some juveniles and some adults, according to Sheriff Standard.

Jurors for Juarez trial questioned

The attempt to seat a jury for the trial of Ismael Juarez, Jr., charged with aggravated robbery, began this morning in 118th District court. Prospective jurors were being questioned concerning their knowledge of the 1976 robbery of Winchell's Doughnut House which left an attendant stabbed 30 times. Pre-trial hearings were held Monday afternoon with Richard Abalos, attorney for the defense, requesting suppressing of certain evidence. The request was denied by Judge Ralph Caton. On the stand in the pre-trial hearing were Juan Rodriguez, eye witness to the incident; Capt. Avery Falkner of the Big Spring city police and the arresting police officer from Colorado City. Juarez earlier appealed a motion by the district judge to certify him as an adult, despite the fact he was 17 at the time the incident occurred. This appeal was denied in Jan. 1977. Questions to the jurors by Don Richard, assistant to District Attorney Rick Hamby, this morning centered around knowledge of the case through the news media or other sources.

Deaths

Spring died of heart failure Monday at his home at the U.S. Air Force Academy. He is survived by his wife, Lois, and his children Steve, Rob, and Laurie of the home. A memorial service will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the U.S. Air Force Academy Chapel. Burial will be in his hometown of Stanbaugh, Mich. Friday at 11 a.m.

Minnie De Long

Services will be at 10:30 a.m., Wednesday in the Kiker-Seale Funeral Home Chapel here, with Monty White officiating. Burial will occur in the Colorado City Cemetery. Mrs. De Long was born July 30, 1893, in Comanche County. She married John De Long March 17, 1912, in De Long. He died Nov. 11, 1973. Survivors include four daughters, Mina Woodridge, Wichita Falls, Sally Murphy, Abilene, Mildred Shetley and Bell Marsh, both of Sulphur, La.; two sons, H.W. De Long, Coppas Cove, and Bud De Long, Abilene; two sisters, Willie Lee Robbins, Austin, and Mable Watkins, Gilham, Ark.; a brother, Leonard Lee Dodson, Simsport, La.; 20 grandchildren; 30 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Ed Turnbow

LAMESA — Services for Ed Turnbow, 77, of Lamesa, are set for Wednesday at 10 a.m. in Crestview Baptist Church here with the Rev. C.G. Griggs, pastor, officiating. The Rev. Billy Bush, pastor of Northside Baptist Church, will be assisting. Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park under direction of Branon Funeral Home here. Turnbow died about 4 a.m. Monday in Medical Arts Hospital here after a long illness. The Texas native had lived in Lamesa since 1917. He married Margaret Lee May 18, 1968 in Lamesa. Survivors include his widow; four stepdaughters, Margaret Bruton of Hobbs, N.M., Sandra Lee Whittaker of Lubbock, Mrs. Wayne Crane of Lamesa, and Mrs. Hazel Kelly of Calif.; four stepsons, Forest Lee Jr., of Seminole, N.C. Lee and Bobby Earl Lee, both of Lamesa; two sisters, Edna Chapman and Bertha Gibson, both of San Angelo; a brother, Virgil Turnbow of Pecos; 21 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Howard Shore

LAMESA — Services for Howard Leon Shore, 70, of Lamesa will be at 3 p.m. today in Branon Funeral Home Chapel here with the Rev. Bill Hardage, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Lamesa Cemetery under the direction of Branon Funeral Home. Shore died about noon Monday at Medical Arts Hospital here after a lengthy illness. The Davis, Calif., native had been a Lamesa resident for the past five years. He was a retired policeman. Survivors include his widow, Gladys Ann; a sister, Mona Lower of California; a brother, Fred Shore of Fontano, Calif.; five sisters-in-law; and three brothers-in-law.

Dean expected to resign

Tony Ortiz, recently named new dean of student life at Howard College, was expected to resign officially at today's meeting of the college board to accept a position in Roswell, N.M. Ortiz, who came to Big Spring as counselor for the college, was recently appointed dean replacing Mrs. Anna Smith, who took early retirement. Ortiz will apparently work in the counseling field in Roswell schools.

Police beat Music lover strikes

Burglars ripped off $2,400 worth of merchandise from the home of Martha Wieting, 509 1/2 Nolan, sometime between 6 and 11 p.m. Monday. Entering through a living room window, the intruders gathered up a color television set, a stereo receiver and a cassette tape deck. They left through the front door. An unsuccessful burglary attempt caused $50 damage to a soft drink machine at the Mid Continent Inn, FM 700 and IS 20 West. According to reports, a motel employe heard someone kicking the machine around 10 p.m. Monday. When the employe checked, he found that the burglar had unsuccessfully attempted to pry open the front of the machine. A five-pound bag of peppers was stolen from the garden of Betty McChristian, 3800 McChristian, 5 p.m. Monday. According to reports, Ms. McChristian noticed two men in her garden. When she asked them what they were doing there, they replied, "Stealing peppers," and then fled through Comanche Trail Park. Loss was estimated at $2.50. Brenda Hewitt, 14, 703 Galveston, was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital after she stepped out of a moving car, 10 p.m. Monday. According to reports, Ms. Hewitt was a passenger in a car driven by Terina Ann Williams, 1300 Douglas. Ms. Williams had pulled up in front of the Hewitt home to drop off her passenger, and had not come to a complete stop when Ms. Hewitt stepped out.

Burleson denies rumors

Responding to a question put to him in a telephone interview with the Abilene Reporter-News, Rep. Omar Burleson has denied rumors he has decided not to seek reelection. The Abilene newspaper quoted the Harte-Hanks News Bureau in Austin as reporting the story was circulating around the state capital. A.L. (Dusty) Rhodes, an Abilene attorney, has already indicated he may seek the office, even if Burleson decides to run again. Burleson indicated he will make up his mind about offering for the position again as early as next month. He said knowing he would have an opponent "would not be a major consideration" in his decision concerning 1978. "What my wife wants me to do will influence me more than anything," the Abilene paper quoted Burleson as saying. Congress recesses Aug. 6 and Burleson plans to return to the area shortly thereafter. Burleson resides in Anson. Only six members in the lower house have more seniority than Burleson and only George Mahon among the Texans have served in the House of Representatives longer. Mahon has already announced he will retire at the end of his current term. Burleson entered Congress in January 1947 and has served continuously since that time. The Anson Democrat is the fifth-ranking Democrat on the prestigious Ways and Means Committee, and is the sixth-ranking Democrat on the House Budget Committee which works with the Senate Budget Committee to set budgetary limits for the Congress.

Elections called in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Politically embattled Prime Minister Ian Smith has dissolved parliament and called national elections, signaling the start of a new personal campaign to end Rhodesia's racial war on his own terms. Smith's nationwide radio and television announcement Monday night amounted to a virtual rejection of the current U.S.-British peace effort. "I do not believe that there is much hope of a successful outcome of these negotiations," he said. He said a U.S.-British diplomatic team had informed him last week "there was no hope of anything other than 'one man, one vote,' no special representation for whites" in a future black majority-ruled Rhodesia. The 58-year-old prime minister said that with the backing of the electorate — almost all white — he would join with black Rhodesians "prepared to work peacefully and constitutionally with the government" to draw up a new constitution by the end of the year. He called the new elections for Aug. 31. Smith's statement was a clear indication that he is ready to strike out on his own to forge a negotiated settlement with moderate blacks, freezing out the more radical leaders of the nationalist Patriotic Front, which is waging a four-year-old guerrilla war against the white minority regime.

CRMWD heading for record July

Barring a drastic change in the weather for the wetter, the Colorado River Municipal Water District may be heading for a record July. It's almost certain to eclipse July 1976, which showed a dip when mid-summer showers dulled demand. So far, deliveries have been maintaining the June level when the district delivered an average of 70.74 million gallons a day. Through the first half of July, the district has averaged 72.2 million gallons a day compared to 22.9 million gallons in June of this year and only 15.4 million gallons in July 1976. Big Spring has been averaging 10 million gallons a day, up slightly from the 9.67 million gallon daily average in June and 7.8 million gallons a day in July 1976. Snyder has been averaging 3.75 million gallons a day, about the same as for June but well over the 2.71 million gallons a day in July 1976. Midland has been averaging 15 million gallons a day, up slightly over 14.5 million gallons a day in June, but well over the 11.3 million gallons a day in July 1977. Except for a few minor breaks, the system has been functioning smoothly and meeting demands in stride, said Paschal Odom, assistant general manager who directs operations.

Muslim inmates win non-pork suit

HOUSTON (AP) — Muslim inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections will receive one non-pork main dish at least every 72 hours under terms of a consent decree issued Monday, ending an eight-year old suit against the State of Texas. The ruling came in the court of U.S. Dist. Court Judge Robert O'Connor Jr. A suit was filed by inmates who claimed their Islamic religious beliefs were being violated by the state prison system. Under terms of the decree, the inmates will be able to observe dietary laws of their religion as well as have a full time Islamic minister and two hours of religious activities each week. Attorneys estimated there are 200 to 500 Muslim inmates in TDC units. The dispute arose after TDC officials said it would be inconvenient and costly to change the present menu in which 60 per cent of all meat served is pork.

'SOAP' sex-amination demanded by marchers

DALLAS (AP) — A small protest in front of the Dallas ABC affiliate against a proposed television series "SOAP" was used "to call attention to sex and violence on TV," says one of the organizers. The marchers, who gathered Monday in front of WFAA-TV in protest of the proposed series, were part of a planned protest in 11 cities nationwide backed by the National Federation for Decency, a spokesman said. "What we wanted was to call attention to sex and violence on TV using SOAP as a focus," said Mark Nelson, spokesman for "Citizens for Clean Television" who said he has never seen the pilot film for the proposed series. "We had about 10 or 12 people there and there were others who joined us. Everybody that we talked with on the sidewalk was in agreement with our position." Nelson said he has gathered his information about the proposed series from news accounts. He said he is not sure what the group's next move might be but hinted further action will likely be coordinated with whatever the NFD plans. Dave Lane, WFAA station manager, said, "Our concern is that we haven't even agreed to air the program."

Another energy suit to begin

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Although San Antonio's lengthy gas supply controversy appears near a settlement, another energy supply law suit — involving billions of dollars and the city's electric supply — is about to begin. San Antonio and other Texas cities are just completing negotiations on terms of an out-of-court settlement of more than $1 billion in suits they filed against Lovaca Gathering Co. and Coastal States Gas Producing Co., suppliers of natural gas for the city. The legal sparring about to begin involves Westinghouse Electric Corp. and soaring prices of uranium for the South Texas project, a nuclear power plant under construction in Matagorda County. Court proceedings, which some estimate may take as long as four months, begin on the case in Richmond, Va., Sept. 8. Attorney James Baskin of San Antonio has spent the last year taking advance depositions across the country for the trial that involves 10 utility companies, including City Public Service Co. of San Antonio, which has a one-fourth interest in the nuclear project. Westinghouse contracted with the project to provide 15 million pounds of uranium oxide, which is fabricated into fuel. In September 1975, Westinghouse notified Houston Lighting and Power Co., also a partner in the project, that it wanted out of the contract. The firm had agreed to provide the uranium at a cost of about $8 per pound, the going price at the time, said Baskin. But the market jumped and Westinghouse asked to be relieved of its price commitments.

Energy Wildcats in Howard

Wildcats were slated in Howard and Borden County and a Martin County wildcat indicated production in the Devonian this week in the oil patch. West-Tex Drilling Co., Abilene, will drill the No. 1 J.L. Jones heirs, a 7,800-foot wildcat in Howard County, 22 miles northeast of Big Spring, 3/4 mile west of depleted shallow production in the current one-well coronet (Canyon) field, 1 1/2 miles south-southeast of the Vincent, South (Strawn) field and 2 1/2 miles southwest of the Ara-Mag (Canyon reef) field. Location is 660 feet from the south and 2,500 feet from the west lines of 11-26-H&T.C. Victory III Petroleum Co., Houston, will drill a 9,800-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Borden County, 7 1/2 miles southwest of Gail, 6 1/4 miles north of Fusselman oil production in the good, Southeast (Canyon and Fusselman) field and 2 3/4 miles northeast of the Luck-Pot (Canyon reef) field as the No. 1 Coleman Farms, Inc. Location is 1,320 feet from the south and 2,310 feet from the west lines of 46-3 2-5N-T&P. It is also 3/4 mile north of Tidewater Oil Co. No. 1-C Clayton & Johnson, a 9,783 foot failure, abandoned May 17, 1961, which topped the reef at 8,190 feet; Fusselman 9,620 feet on elevation of 2,485 feet. It is also 3/4 mile east-southeast of Don Ameche 1 Johnson, a 9,734-foot failure abandoned Oct. 27, 1950, which topped the Pennsylvania at 5,706 feet; Mississippian, 6,696 feet; Devonian, 7,154 feet and Ellenburger, 7,190 feet. Miller Exploration Co., Midland, No. 1-13 Gay Wade, in 13-260 Borden CSL, Martin county Devonian wildcat, one location south of the dual opener of the Breedlove, East (Spraberry and Siluro-Devonian) field, which is currently not producing from the lower zone and 3 1/2 miles south of Patricia, recovered 1,840 feet of gas-cut water blanket, 465 feet of gas-cut 45-gravity oil and 30 feet of gas-cut mud in the Devonian. Tool was open 4 1/2 hours on the test taken from 11,803-26 feet. Final shut-in pressure was 4,646 pounds. The project was drilling below 11,830 feet on a 12,000 foot contract. Earlier it recovered 20 feet of oil and drilling mud on a 370-435 feet.

Weather Storms dangle hint of relief

By the Associated Press
Occasional showers and thunderstorms dangled a hint of relief from protracted heat before Texans here and there during the night, and more were in prospect today. All the moisture during the evening dried up by midnight, however, with no marked effect on the temperatures. Readings near dawn stayed as high as 80 degrees at Galveston on the coast and in the 70s elsewhere aside from some lower 60s in the West Texas mountains. Monday's top marks went as high as 100 at Dallas and Wichita Falls.

HEW reneges on Big Spring plan

Pity the poor school administrator who must deal with the Health, Education and Welfare Department of the federal government.

The Big Spring Independent (I suppose Independent should be in quotes these days) School District has certainly had its problems.

The district has been in a hassle with HEW since 1972 over racially identifiable schools in Big Spring, but it appeared earlier this spring that the problem might be solved.

After all, HEW representatives had visited Big Spring and helped the district draw an integration plan. The HEW officials in the regional office seemed to like it, even though it did leave one racially identifiable school, Bauer Elementary on the northeast side of town.

THE BOARD of Trustees announced the plan to the public, and that took some courage since the plan almost ended the neighborhood concept and required additional busing — such as the transportation of all fifth graders to Lakeview Elementary on the northwest side. School officials said they wanted to draw the integration plan for Big Spring, rather than have it done in federal court.

But only a couple of weeks after the plan was announced, it became apparent that the Board of Trustees' problems might not yet be ended.

Speaking at the Big Spring Rotary Club, school board president Roy Watkins announced that it appeared HEW might not approve the plan its own people helped to draw.

HEW officials in Washington are dissatisfied with the first grade configuration at Bauer, according to a statement from the board.

"HEW now insists on the district increasing its busing of students beyond the level of extensive busing to which the district agreed in the original plan," the statement said.

THE BOARD decided HEW was giving no consideration to the educational program of the district, and with the school year drawing near, Big Spring announced another plan last Thursday.

The newest plan does not even come close to accomplishing what HEW wants. In fact, it goes in exactly the opposite direction.

It appears now that the solution will have to be in federal court, a battleground that has not been good to local school districts.

The danger is that a circumstance like the one that occurred in Beaumont could repeat here. A federal judge might order an integration plan upon the district the day school begins, throwing the entire educational system into chaos.

HEW and the Texas Education Agency are almost certain to cut off federal and state funds to Big Spring schools at a time when the schools will be pressed financially because of the loss of students from Webb Air Force Base.

Of course, Big Spring schools might win a landmark case in federal court which would limit such busing. The trend in the nation has been to deal with this problem a bit more reasonably of late than was done half a decade ago.

But most likely, the federal court judges will order a busing plan that the trustees will like even less than the original one.

In this time there is no good excuse for racially identifiable schools. There is no way a school district can win as long as it has racially identifiable schools.

BIG-SPRING officials dealt with HEW in good faith, but they had not received good faith in return.

Big Spring school officials said they repeatedly advised HEW that time was critical if the district was to prepare for the opening of school in August.

"The response to this has been total procrastination on their part (HEW) and not even the courtesy to return phone calls made by the district," the trustees' statement said.

So the trustees have gone back to the neighborhood concept, and HEW is sure to disapprove. The stage is set for confrontation.

While one would have to wonder about the wisdom of such a course of action by the Big Spring Board of Trustees, no one could fault them for lack of courage.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Nothing to lose

Around the rim

Troy Bryant

A good way of making a point is by making up a fairy tale to illustrate it. That's a pretty popular way of doing it, except that it simplifies complex matters too much, distorting the real situation.

Nevertheless, here's a story illustrating what happened in some countries that are now Communist. Let's hope it doesn't happen here:

ONCE UPON A time in a barnyard not too far from here, there lived the usual complement of farm animals.

Included in the group of animals living there was a little red hen. This hen was the most powerful animal in the barnyard because she laid eggs and gave them to the old farmer in exchange for favors. He liked eggs.

So, she was put in charge of distributing all the food, which the farmer provided, to the other creatures.

One day she began hiding some of the food; there became less and less for the other barnyard animals.

"There's a food shortage," she said, "so I'll just have to start charging money for my work and for the extra cost of finding food."

The other creatures weren't too happy about this so they went to the farmer.

"Little Red Hen is trying to gouge us," they told him.

"Nonsense," the farmer said, eating another fried egg, "Don't you have any trust in your fellow barnyard creature?"

So they were forced to pay Little Red Hen's price for the food. Meanwhile, the Little Red Hen was getting fatter and fatter while the other creatures were forced to endure rationing, shortages, and hunger.

On day Teddy the Mule found Little Red Hen's cache of food and told the others.

"Excess profits! Excess profits," they cried.

"Balderdash," said Little Red Hen, "Can't you see that I'm working to keep your trust? It's hard work distributing the food to all the creatures in the barnyard. You know, in just a few days, there won't be any food for anyone there's such a shortage. If it weren't for me you would all starve right now! Tomorrow, the price of food will be double."

"Who will buy these wheat seeds from me?" Little Red Hen asked.

"Not I," said Princeton the Pig. "Not I," said Anita the Duck.

So Little Red Hen flung the seeds onto the ground. Later they sprouted and time for harvest was near.

"Who will pay me to harvest the wheat?" Little Red Hen asked.

"Not I," said George Field Mouse.

"Not I," said Patricia the Heifer.

So Little Red Hen snatched up the wheat ears, made bread and offered it to the animals.

"Five dollars a loaf, take it or leave it," cried Little Red Hen.

"No thanks," said the Sorrel Horse.

"Arise, workers!" Karl the Goat said. "You have nothing to lose but your hunger pains!"

Begin's footwork

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — A top aide of Prime Minister Menahem Begin bluntly advised a U.S. Senator 10 days ago not to let worry over Arab oil affect U.S. Mideast peace plans, adding that Israel itself was in position to "handle" the oil question if the need ever arose.

That apparent reference by Gen. Ariel Sharon to a possible future Israeli operation against, say, Libya's oil fields did not go down well with Sen. Jacob K. Javits, a leading member of the pro-Israel bloc in Congress.

SHARON: HERO OF the 1973 Yom Kippur war, is Begin's minister for agriculture. More important, he is chairman of the government's Ministerial Settlements Commission, giving him a key role in Begin's interventionist policy on new Jewish settlements on the West Bank, one of the hottest issues between Begin and President Carter.

What Sharon said may not reflect in any way the thinking of the prime minister, but it rang a new alarm bell in Mr. Carter's ears just three days before Begin arrives for crucial talks here. Indeed, it jarred official nerves throughout the Carter administration, nerves that have become unusually sensitive in the war of words between Washington and Jerusalem.

Sharon also advised Javits, who has tried hard to use his good offices as go-between for Jimmy Carter with Begin's new hardline government, to tell the President that the West Bank legally belongs to Israel and to stop pressuring Israel to give it up.

What Sharon told Javits may only be a side drama, political gamesmanship to prepare the way for Begin's visit and keep the Carter White House off balance.

In fact, Mideast experts now see some reason to hope that Begin, an acknowledged territorial expansionist, might actually give a little on the crucial West Bank question — if first there were a clear "understanding" by the U.S. that Israel holds title to all of Judea and Samaria (a title, Begin insists, that derives from the Old Testament delineation of the "land of Israel").

BUT MR. CARTER is unlikely to try to bestow on Israel a territorial right over 600,000 Palestinian Arabs that is denied violently by all Arab countries and consistently by every U.S. President since Israel seized the West Bank in 1967.

Consequently, if Mr. Carter can't pay the prime minister's price for genuine (as opposed to pro forma) Israeli bargaining with the Arabs on the West Bank, another way to avoid an immediate impasse in next week's talks must be found.

What some diplomats here think Begin has in mind is an appeal to Mr. Carter for delay. In view of the disagreements between the U.S. and Israel, and of the multiple and sometimes conflicting United Nations resolutions and other international documents dealing with the long Arab-Israeli struggle, the U.S. and Israel should sit down together and define precisely where each stands.

Head chiggers off at the pass

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How can I keep the chiggers from being embedded in my skin? I've tried bathing, usually a few hours after coming in from the garden. Is this too late. — J.A.R.

This is for you and the other chigger victims, who are usually heard from at this time of the year.

There are several good repellents to use, but they should be used liberally on pant legs, hose, cuffs, and collars. There are many good commercial brands. One called Deet is among the best. Another is Indalone. Dimethyl carbate and benzyl benzoate are chemical names to look for. The latter is good because it remains effective after rinsing and washing. Put the repellent on your hands and spread it on the clothing. Tying the pantleg above the cuff will help.

Bathing "a few hours" after exposure is too late. You should bathe promptly and with a thick lather from a strong soap of the Fels-Naptha variety. This will remove most of the chiggers before they can burrow into the skin.

You should also contact a pest control company to see if spraying will eliminate the critters. Ask your local health department or agricultural organization about other control measures.

There are always new products coming onto the market in response to the need of the chigger sensitive folks, so I suggest you ask your pharmacist or your doctor if he has any specific suggestions.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told I have degenerative arthritis. It's in my hip and knees chiefly. I am on Indocin three times a day. Is there any relief other than this for my pains? I am slightly overweight. Is this part of the problem, and should I reduce? What does the future hold? —

Mrs. D.L. This type of joint disease affects the spine, hips, and knees, chiefly — generally all weight-bearing joints. Injections of hydrocortisone into the joints might be tried. Prolonged use of oral Indocin can leave side effects in the form of stomach irritation, chiefly, as well as blood changes.

You can expect continued trouble if you remain heavy.

In severe cases newer surgical techniques (as hip replacement) have been a blessing for many sufferers. Wet heat is also quite effective in milder cases. Often hot compresses or a hot tub bath help. Readers have told me they have found several helpful bits of information in my booklet, "How to Control Arthritis." If you want to study it, mail 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Big Spring Herald, and I'll send you a copy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. B — You are describing what seems to be venereal warts. You need treatment lest they spread further. If you hesitate because your doctor is a friend of your family's you should, quite simply, find another doctor. The warts are contagious.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told after pictures were taken that I have a small knob on my thyroid gland. They want to take more pictures in six months. In the meantime I take tablets of thyroid extract every day. Isn't six months too long if the lump happens to be cancer? How dangerous is this? — E. C.

Thyroid extract is often given for treatment of thyroid nodules. It takes time to note the effect, and six months is not too long. The great majority of these lumps are non-cancerous. Malignancy could have been confirmed if there was a suspicion (by a biopsy).

The extract can in time correct underactive thyroid, which may have caused the nodule.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a child of nine years have shingles? My nephew has broken out with a rash around the body. It sounds like your description of shingles recently. — Mrs. F. L.

I doubt it's shingles. It is possible but unusual for shingles to appear in anyone this age. Bleb formation should follow the rash in shingles. A dermatologist could identify the type of rash he has.

Shingles can be a painful disease! For a copy of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A friend of mine who claims to be a Christian told me he had been able to get by with some cheating on his income taxes. He laughed it off and said the money would only have been wasted by the government anyway. What do you think of this? — F.W.

DEAR F.W.: There is no doubt that your friend is wrong, for the Bible is very clear on our obligations as Christians and citizens. Jesus Himself commanded us to "Render therefore unto Caesar (that is, the government) the things which are Caesar's," and made clear that this applied to taxes (Matthew 22:16-22). The Bible says, "Give everyone what you owe him: If you owe taxes, pay taxes; if revenue, then revenue" (Romans 13:7, New International Version). I believe that cheating on income taxes is just as much stealing as is robbing a bank; we are deliberately taking (or keeping) that which is not rightfully ours. One of the ten commandments says, "Thou shalt not steal" (Exodus 20:15).

This person is not only neglecting a duty that God commands; he is actually hurting the cause of Christ, especially if others learn about his actions. The apostle Peter commanded, "Submit yourselves for the Lord's sake to every authority instituted among men: whether to the king, as the supreme authority, or to governors . . . for it is God's will that by doing good you should silence the ignorant talk of foolish men" (I Peter 2:13-15, NIV).

Pray for your friend, that he will realize that this sin needs to be confessed and restitution made.

Bureaucratic detente

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The top brass of the Justice Department's Antitrust Division and the Interstate Commerce Commission got together in the backrooms the other day to discuss their mutual animosities. Everyone shook hands and immediately afterwards, the antitrust officials began pulling their punches to spare the ICC from embarrassment.

Here are the fascinating events that led to the detente between the two bureaucratic baronies:

THE ICC's reluctant regulators had been fuming over some stinging criticism from the Justice Department's trustbusters. The antitrust Division uncharitably had blasted the ICC for several anticonsumer decisions.

This stirred the ICC's new boss, A. Daniel O'Neal, to seek a peace conference with the Justice Department's acting antitrust chief John Shenefield. They sat down together behind closed doors, each attended by aides.

An O'Neal aide asked the antitrust officials, please, to stop issuing "cheap-shot press releases" against the ICC. O'Neal put it more delicately; with apparent sincerity, he offered to incorporate more antitrust philosophy into ICC decisions.

By all accounts, the trustbusters were so overcome by O'Neal's cooperative attitude that they rushed out and reversed an earlier decision to challenge another ICC ruling.

This was a ruling to deny a small bus company, Latin Express Service, the right to provide limited service between Miami, Fla., and Union City, N.J. The company wanted to serve Spanish-speaking travelers who had difficulty on Greyhound and Trailways buses.

Latin Express, for example, would have provided bilingual drivers and food with a Spanish flavor. Yet ICC denied the little company permission to run only two or three round trips a week. The ICC ruling, incredibly, claimed this limited service might harm the busing giants, Greyhound and Trailways.

The Antitrust Division, which is supposed to encourage competition, objected to the ridiculous ruling. One fuming antitrust official called it "so outrageous as to boggle the mind." It was "absurd," he said, "to think Latin Express could have diverted enough revenue from Greyhound or Trailways" to endanger them.

The Antitrust Division, therefore, decided to challenge the ICC decision, and another sharp statement was started through the bureaucratic machinery. But then the trustbusters, basking in the warm glow of their meeting with O'Neal, changed their minds about the Latin Express case.

A spokesman acknowledged, quite candidly, that the antitrust chiefs didn't want to attack the ICC so soon after the truce with O'Neal. So the spirit of detente prevailed, much to the outrage of some antitrust officials who thought the Latin Express decision was a travesty.

A la Hemingway

Art Buchwald

VENICE, ITALY — Every person who comes to Venice is influenced in some way by one of the great writers who has written about the city. Hemingway has probably influenced me more than anyone, and without "Across the River and Into the Trees" I doubt if I'd even have enjoyed being there.

TAKE, FOR EXAMPLE, the night when I went to dinner at the Gritti Palace Hotel with my wife. It was a good dinner, an imposing dinner, a strong dinner, and the lobster he was good. When he arrived he was dark and green and unfriendly and cost a day's wages, but when they grilled him he was red and I wouldn't have traded five sleeping bags for him.

I looked across the table at my wife. She looked good. Almost as good as the lobster. "She looks as lovely as a gondola," I thought to myself, "or Stan Musial or Joe DiMaggio. She could drive a home run into the canal if I let her." I held her hand tightly. "I love you and I'm glad you're you," I told her. "Daughter, let's go for a ride in a gondola after dinner."

"So you can ogle the Italian women?"

"Please, daughter. You must try to understand my attitude. When you have killed so many you can afford to be a little wild."

"How many have you killed?"

"One hundred and eighty sures, not counting possibles."

"And you have no remorse?"

"None."

"WELL, I DO, and you'd better watch your step."

"Come, daughter, come, let's not think of women. We will find a gondola and you will be you and I will be me and the gondolier will be him."

"I'm warning you about this daughter business."

We found a gondola which was long and good and brave and true and it was our gondola for as long as we wanted it, for that's how it is in Venice. A man can either take a gondola or leave it alone. Only tourists and lovers take gondolas in Venice, I thought. Tourists and lovers and people who can afford them.

"Why can't we take a motorboat?" my wife asked. "A gondola is awfully slow."

"Because you're my wife and we're alone and it is Venice and I want to hold you close and I want you to hold me close and anyway it's cheaper than taking a motorboat."

"The canal smells," she said.

"SO DOES WAR. So do the Russians. So do lobsters and garlic and perfume. Everything smells, daughter. We've just got to get used to it. Have you ever wrestled a bear?"

"I want to go back to the hotel," my wife said. "The gondola or the lobster has made me sick."

"All right, I'll take you home and read you Dante and tell you about war and the very brave boys and guys like Pete Quesada and Red Smith and the Montana National Guard. Now before you get sick, daughter, kiss me and love me straight and true."

It must have been the last "daughter," because before I knew it I was in the canal with all my clothes on. But it was good to be alive and wet and in love and in Venice. Hemingway couldn't have had a better time.

60-month new car loan coming

By the Associated Press
If you think three or three and a half years of new car payments is almost eternity, you're not going to enjoy what you are about to read.

Fighter plane plows into occupied barracks

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — Naval Air Station officials say it was miraculous that an F8 fighter plane carrying 2,000 pounds of fuel didn't explode when it flew into a tinder-dry, occupied barracks at 200 mph.

Three men in the barracks, which houses transient enlisted men, suffered only cuts and bruises in Monday's crash.

The pilot, Lt. Erik Gregory, ejected and parachuted to safety — landing just outside the base's sick bay.

"I don't know why it didn't catch fire and crash," said Lt. Gregory, who said both of the airplane's control units malfunctioned. "It shook me up pretty badly."

The wooden barracks, built in 1941, were due to be replaced in two years, said Capt. Jim Foster, commander of the base. Officials said the plane was going about 200 mph when it hit the building.

"It's very interesting and significant that it did not catch fire," Foster said.

The 60-month new car loan is coming. Yes, that's five years. Inflation has driven car prices to a point where many Texans simply can't come up with the huge monthly payments required for 36 or 42 months.

Of course, with the 60-month loan comes lower monthly payments and a higher interest bill.

At least one dealer in Texas is already offering the 60-month plan and has been for more than a decade.

One dealer, Ted Arendale Ford of Arlington, between Dallas and Fort Worth, ran a fullpage newspaper ad earlier this month informing the public of its decision to offer the lengthy loans.

"We're not encouraging 60-month loans," said Arendale new car sales manager Ross Stoker.

"We're just saying they're available. A lot of people don't want to get themselves tied up for that long. But a lot of people can't afford a car any other way."

The big advantage, of course, is lower payments. On 42 months, a $5,000 car costs $135.03 monthly with $1,171.26 total interest. However on the 60-month plan, the monthly payment is $103.54. But the interest is $1,712.66.

A Dallas credit agency started the trend in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, according to Stoker. "They've got it out on the West Coast and then it started here. So naturally, we have to stay competitive."

"They're doing it in the East. I think it's eventually going to come to that here," said Bob Bryan, executive director of the Consumer Credit Counseling Service in Dallas.

Farm No danger of invasion

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Foreign interests own millions of acres of U.S. farmland, but state and federal officials don't think Americans should be too worried.

"I don't see any danger of an invasion yet. But I think it should be monitored," says Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Robert Lounsberry.

"This is an emotional thing now because we're really not talking about a lot of land. But I can see where it might be a problem in the future," he said.

The U.S. Commerce Department, under a 1974 federal law, is surveying foreign ownership and says preliminary reports show 4.9 million acres of land owned by foreigners, who hold leases on an additional 62.8 million.

The U.S. Agriculture Department disputes the figures, but admits it has none of its own.

The USDA also says the current totals are not significant but, like Lounsberry, maintains its concern "is not the quantity at this time, but (the) possible implications for future investment policy."

The USDA also said it considers pinning down who owns the land an important task and notes that Iowa is the leader in finding out.

State documents show that $8.3 million worth of Iowa farmland is controlled by foreign interests, with West Germans holding title to $6.4 million worth.

The holdings amount to only 6,823 acres, two-hundredths of 1 per cent of Iowa's 34.2 million acres of farmland.

The alien ownership reports are required by an Iowa law passed in 1975 and were taken from documents on file in the secretary of state's office.

According to the documents, West Germans — mainly two families — hold 5,225 acres in the state. Lesser amounts of land are owned by Canadians, Guatemalans, Italians, Dutch and Swiss.

Ranger's love letter

with Marj Carpenter

One of the most interesting items in the county clerk's office here is a love letter written by an early Texas Ranger to his wife.

It was filed as a will since he knew that he was likely going to die and had written her instructions as to what to do with all of the property. That letter has been featured in the Big Spring Herald in both a feature and a column during the past five years, so I don't intend to dwell on it in detail today.

But it is an example of how personal the court records used to often be. Nowadays, they're not personal. Everybody in the world seems to be angry and wanting to sue somebody.

One of my favorite tales during the Estes days in Pecos was from the schoolground. A seven-year-old boy fell off a school swing and the chain came down and cut his head. The teacher was leaning over him and asked, "I wonder if we should take him to a doctor?"

The little boy sat up, rubbed his head and said, "Doctor, hell, get a lawyer, I'll sue." It was typical of that particular era in the town where lawsuits and countersuits were being filed daily.

And today is even more ridiculous. I was particularly glad to see a doctor turn around and sue the folks that had filed a malpractice suit recently.

Many of those lawsuits are ridiculous and are causing medical costs to skyrocket for everyone.

But the one that took the cake is the family in Florida suing the school because their daughter didn't learn. Maybe the school ought to file a countersuit on the parents for marrying each other when their genes apparently produced a mentally retarded child. How ridiculous can you get?

Everybody who ever taught school knows that there are some children who cannot learn, because they simply were not dealt a full deck.

Some of those are the most lovable children of all. They are dependent, loving, and sweet — but suing school districts all over the world won't make them learn their multiplication tables.

Think of the implications — if families can sue doctors because the patient died, and schools because the student didn't learn — we could work up a whole list. We could sue the weather bureau because they predicted rain and it didn't. Or we could sue the church because they failed to give us proof that we would get to heaven.

Or we could sue our inlaws for producing a mate that filed for divorce.

The list could be endless. There was a popular song in 1946 called "Sioux City Sue." There ought to be one now called "Sue, Americans, Sue."

It's really getting ridiculous. Out where I'm ridin' fence.

Perfect crime

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It took him 103 years, but former San Francisco alderman Henry Meiggs finally has pulled off the perfect crime — posthumously.

Superior Court Judge Harry Low on Monday dismissed an indictment against Meiggs, who forged and cashed $365,000 in stolen city warrants in 1854 and fled to South America.

"The statute of limitations has run out and Mr. Meiggs has gone to the great beyond, where he has had his accounting at a higher court," quipped Low.

Meiggs, who built the city's first wharf on property where famed Fisherman's Wharf now stands, established himself as a much-needed developer in Peru.

Attempts to extradite him from Lima, Peru, failed as Peruvian authorities pleaded ignorance of such procedures. Meiggs went on to acquire new wealth and became a national hero by building railroads in Peru and Chile.

While building his South American fortune, Meiggs had pangs of guilt which forced him to send restitution to the city treasury and his creditors in San Francisco, which he had fled in heavy debt.

The move to exonerate Meiggs was made by Bernard Averbuch, author and former San Francisco newspaperman.

Assistant Dist. Atty. John Dwyer, arguing against the action at the lighthearted hearing, said: "I would hate to see a precedent allowing members of the Board of Supervisors to take a half a million and go to South America."

"At Texas Electric, where I work, our job is to provide you with the electricity you need.

But higher construction and fuel costs are making it more expensive to do.

I can tell just by looking at my electric bill.

One thing I do at home is to keep a checklist right on my air-conditioning/heating unit. I have the months listed, and every time I clean the filter I check off that month — so I make sure I check it at least once a month. I couldn't remember it otherwise, and it's important.

A dirty filter limits the air flow through there — and that uses more electricity."

Electricity. You count on it today. We're working to keep it that way.

Overdose killed heiress

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A coroner's jury has decided that the drug overdose which killed Texas oil millionaire's daughter Sandra Ilene West last March was accidental.

The nine jurors ruled that Mrs. West, 37, who was buried May 18 in her baby blue 1964 Ferrari and a silvery lace nightgown, succumbed after taking an overdose of barbiturates and codeine. Their verdict was handed to hearing officer Frederick Lacey shortly after deliberations were resumed Monday morning.

At least one juror said later that they believed negligence on the part of others had led to the death but they believed the negligence was not intentional.

Nurses and doctors who tended the oil heiress testified last Friday that Mrs. West had been denied access to drugs because she was known to have abused them. Her physician, Dr. Raymond E. Weston, described her as psychotic with a tendency toward paranoia and hallucination.

She had been subject to "highly bizarre behavior," Dr. Weston testified.

A court ruled the strange Ferrari burial request legal despite court action of relatives who sought to block it. She was buried May 18 in the crated car next to her husband's grave in San Antonio, Tex.

Her husband, Ike West Jr. of Comfort, Tex., died in 1968, leaving her a $2.85 million estate. Her doctors said her odd behavior began as a result of the shock from his death.

Witnesses testified at the hearing that Mrs. West began giving away expensive jewelry and other objects "like a child trying to gain attention by giving gifts."

Hughes will hunt costs $630,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lawyers and aides have spent 6,000 hours and $630,000 looking for the real will of industrialist Howard Hughes, according to court papers.

Documents filed Monday in Superior Court said that during the 15-month search for the will, 34 lawyers and paralegal aides examined the records of 94 banks and individuals in 13 states and four foreign countries.

The documents, filed by lawyers and the estate's special administrator, Richard Gano, also showed that more than 430 people have been contacted or interviewed in an effort to find the will. It could divide up an estate valued at from several hundred million to more than $1 billion.

The documents said two people who have not been contacted are Nevada Republican Sen. Paul Laxalt and one-time Hughes aide Robert Maheu.

Life sentence for kidnaping girl upheld

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The life sentence imposed for kidnaping at little Indian girl in Dallas was neither cruel nor unusual, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said.

Robert William Bondurant was sentenced to life in prison after he took little Nicole Moore from her mother's home and left the child wandering on a New Orleans street two weeks later.

The plea to the 5th Circuit contended that since 4-year-old Nicole was freed unharmed, and Bondurant was mentally confused at the time of the crime, the punishment was excessive.

However, the 5th upheld the punishment imposed by U.S. Dist. Judge Robert W. Porter of Dallas.

"Such sentencing was not arbitrary or capricious action amounting to a gross abuse of discretion," which is the standard for review of a sentencing court's discretion," the 5th said.

"Nor can we say that the sentence herein was so greatly disproportionate to the offense committed as to be completely arbitrary and shocking to the sense of justice," and thus constitute cruel and unusual punishment," the 5th added.

Nicole Moore disappeared from Dallas May 3, 1976. She was found May 16 wandering through the hallways at the Tulane School of Medicine with a note pinned to her dress giving her identity and home.

PRESIDENT CARTER WILL STAY HERE — Elizabeth Cooper of Yazoo City, Miss., uses her telephone at her home recently. Mrs. Cooper has been working out details for a visit by President Carter, who will stay overnight at her home after his upcoming town meeting in Yazoo City.

Miscellaneous shower given Tuesday

Miss Angela Hodnett, bride-elect of Jan Whatley, was honored Tuesday evening with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Bob Brock, 512 Scott Dr.

Hostesses included Mrs. Brock, Mrs. George Amos, Mrs. David Duke, Mrs. Bob Peercy, Mrs. Delores Wickline, Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. Coy Mitchell and Mrs. J. C. Ebersole.

Others were Mrs. Marion Newton, Mrs. Frank Mashburn, Mrs. J. R. McMurray, Mrs. Don Grantham, Mrs. Guy Mitchell, Mrs. Pascal Odom, and Mrs. Bill Reed. They presented the honoree with a set of stainless steel cookware.

The honoree was presented a corsage of apricot and yellow daisies, as were her mother, Mrs. David Hodnett, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Tommy Whatley. Other special guests included the bride-elect's grandmothers, Mrs. Ross Boykin and Mrs. Loyd Hodnett, and the prospective bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. A. O. Vanderford.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's aunt, Mrs. Paul Graves, and the bride's cousin, Miss Paula Graves, both of Hereford.

Miss Hodnett was attired in a long dress of yellow Quiana knit, featuring a scooped neckline and empire waist, accented with long ties on either side.

The refreshment table was covered with an ecru, scalloped edge linen cloth centered with arrangement of apricot and yellow daisies in a silver urn. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Yellow napkins with the names of the engaged couple were placed on the table.

Whatley and Miss Hodnett will be married July 30 in a garden ceremony at 101 Jefferson St., with Dr. Kenneth Patrick officiating.

Beef prices higher says market expert

Soft-shell squash quality is high and prices low; beef prices are up a bit, and dairy specials are many in Texas grocery markets this week.

Current economical food buys, compiled by Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, are the following:

FRESH VEGETABLES — Budget buys include yellow crookneck and straightneck, zucchini and white flat, or "patty pan," squash — along with green beans, cabbage and corn. Other economical good-quality items are cucumbers, carrots, head lettuce, radishes and green onions — as well as snap beans, okra and southern peas, such as blackeye, purple hull and crowder.

BEEF — Prices are slightly higher, but specials include chuck roasts — the arm, the blade and the boneless blade roasts — along with fresh briskets, hamburger, sirloin tip roasts and liver. Other specials appear on sirloin, chuck and round steaks.

DAIRY — Look for specials on many dairy products — milk, yogurt, sour cream and a variety of cheeses.

FRESH FRUITS — More peaches on the market offer better flavor — however, quality varies as do prices. Nice quality appears in cherries, nectarines, plums and apricots in most markets — and lower prices make cantaloupe and watermelons more economical.

POULTRY — Fryer chickens, turkeys and turkey parts offer real economy for the summer. Egg production may rise slightly in upcoming months; currently eggs are one of the good protein buys. Buy refrigerated eggs and keep them refrigerated to retain quality.

PORK — Production is decreasing as usual for this season, but it remains above last year's levels. Best buys are bacon, smoked picnics, whole semi-boneless hams, end chops — and canned ham, one of the most economical buys present.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES — Budget buys lean toward easy-fixing picnic-type foods, such as tuna, crackers, peanut butter, sandwich buns and breads — and pork and beans.

FROZEN FOOD CHESTS — More economical buys appear on prepared dishes, such as fried chicken, Salisbury steak, stuffed peppers and complete dinners.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Choose soft-shell squash that's free from blemishes and is fresh looking. Avoid squash with hard rind or stem that is dry, hard, blackened or shriveled. Squash should be firm and heavy for its size.

Knott home site of shower

The home of Mrs. J. E. Peugh, Knott, was the setting for a baby shower honoring Mrs. Kelly Gaskins Friday afternoon.

Special guests were Mrs. Henry Butler, Idalou, and Mrs. Mike Jordan, Haskell, mother and sister of the honoree.

Also attending were Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, the father-to-be's mother; Miss Kayla Gaskins, his sister; Mrs. Nona Gaskins, Knott, and Mrs. Gaston Martin, Lamesa, Gaskin's grandmothers.

The special guests were presented corsages of yellow daisies and baby rattlers.

The refreshment table was covered with white lace over yellow linen. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Hostesses besides Mrs. Peugh were Mrs. Robert Nichols, Mrs. Son Ditto, Mrs. Johnny Peugh, Mrs. Dudley Coleman, Mrs. Bob Hunt, Mrs. Kenneth Schuelke, Mrs. Bud Hughes, and Mrs. Lloyd Robinson.

Others included Mrs. Jerry Roman, Mrs. V. J. Coleman, Mrs. Bob Hill, Mrs. Jack Hopper and Mrs. J. H. Burrow.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a high chair and picture frame.

Visitors Welcome In Her Kitchen

DEAR ABBY: "Stay Out of My Kitchen" was a cute verse, but you might have helped the lady more had you encouraged her to let her visitor come on in.

Consider the alternative, with the visitor sitting there, staring at your four walls, feeling that she had put you to a lot of trouble and wishing she had not come.

Because of my husband's job, we moved nine times to strange towns where I didn't know Soul One, but we made friends easily by allowing people to know us as we were. If you can summon up the courage to let the visitor see the dirty dishes in your sink, it's a good bet that she'll think, "Gee, that's just the way MY sink looks," and a friendship will begin.

Instead of asking a guest to get out of the way, tell her what you want from the cabinet and ask her to hand it to you. People always feel more comfortable when they're useful.

FRIENDLY SOUL

DEAR FRIENDLY: A surprising number of readers agree with you. Meet another "FRIENDLY SOUL":

DEAR ABBY: May I suggest that the woman who doesn't want her guests to follow her into the kitchen drop her foolish pride and wake up to the fact that her friends do not come to see what kind of a housekeeper she is, but to visit with her.

I have a little verse framed and hanging in my kitchen which reads:

COME IN, SIT DOWN, RELAX, CONVERSE.
MY KITCHEN DOESN'T ALWAYS LOOK LIKE THIS.
SOMETIMES IT'S EVEN WORSE!

Sign me . . . A FRIEND

DEAR ABBY: I notice from your column that you, too, must have been brainwashed into believing that everyone should have a will.

This is something I would very much like to know about, but I can't seem to get a straight answer from anybody. Isn't it entirely possible for a couple with a modest estate and no minor children to put all their property in both their names and eliminate probate court with its huge fees, delays and red tape?

My husband and I have twin wills and we're beginning to wonder if this doesn't invite the courts to handle something (for a huge fee) that would take care of itself. In other words, wouldn't the property all go to the remaining spouse with no help from the probate court?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: The laws differ from state to state. So, since your question is a legal one, ask a lawyer. I am constantly amazed at the number of people who are reluctant to pay a modest legal fee when it could solve their problems and give them peace of mind.

DEAR ABBY: My pet peeve is the accepted, though asinine, custom of seating wedding guests so that the bride's family and friends are on one side of the church and the groom's are on the other.

When the usher asks me, "Whose side are you on?" I always have the urge to say, "Must I choose sides? They haven't even started fighting yet."

Taste buds age too

Taste buds age, too, says Vivian H. Blair, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "By age 60," says the specialist, "half of the 'taste' in the taste buds is lost."

Food 'detectives' keep watch

ROCKVILLE, Mo. (AP) — In a tiny cluttered office in the Food and Drug Administration's giant complex here, two men keep watch over government efforts to protect you from products that can injure or kill.

In a corner of the office is a chart and on this particular day there is a notation scribbled at the right side: "Confirmed: Botulism."

The chart shows the site of the outbreak and the suspected cause. The botulism entry is the first for the day but only one of thousands of similar entries that send federal investigators scrambling to track down and eliminate the source of poisonings or injury.

The two men who run the FDA's epidemiological investigations section, Richard Swanson and Dan Brand, situate their desks so they can look up and read the board at any time to see similar developments and monitor the discoveries of more than 800 investigators around the country.

It is the job of Swanson and Brand to size up and act promptly when a rash of sickness or injuries occurs or appears likely, caused by a product regulated by the FDA.

Although they cover a variety of problems, including injuries, their work is probably best known in cases investigated.

For example, Brand received a call at home at 8 p.m. March 31 with a report of apparent botulism poisoning in Michigan.

More than 45 persons became ill over a period of 10 days and detailed reports of field investigators led to a restaurant in Pontiac, Mich.

The problem turned out to be jalapeno peppers canned at home and served in the restaurant, which specialized in Mexican foods.

Mound to be high point in All-Star game

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Sutton, who has dreamed of pitching in Yankee Stadium, and Jim Palmer, who has done well in the same ballpark, drew the starting assignments for tonight's 48th All-Star Game.

Sutton, the ace right-hander of the Los Angeles Dodgers, and Palmer, Baltimore's right-handed stopper, have fared well in previous All-Star appearances. Sutton, making his first start, has blanked the American League in five previous innings, while Palmer has hurled eight scoreless innings against the National League.

Palmer started in 1970 and 1972 without picking up a decision, but was a middle-inning reliever in 1971, the last time the AL beat the NL. Besides the five straight victories, the NL has won 13 of the last 14 All-Star confrontations.

"The starting assignment is a treat in one respect. Not many guys get to do this," said Palmer, whose career record is 20-11 against the Yankees. "The All-Star Games really haven't been so one-sided recently. Only the results have been."

The AL's chances would seem better if injuries had not ransacked its pitching staff. Out with assorted ailments are Mark Fidrych of Detroit, Frank Tanana of California and Vida Blue of Oakland. California's Nolan Ryan refused to play, leaving the AL with only three starting pitchers and four relievers.

"Despite all our injuries, I still think we have an outstanding squad and we're going to break that (losing) streak," AL President Lee MacPhail said Monday.

Chub Feeney, the NL president, smugly countered MacPhail's pep talk by saying, "We expect to do what we usually do."

Sutton relishes the opportunity to start for the NL, a dream come true for the pitcher who wanted to become a Yankee during the team's penny-pinching days.

"Only the fact that the Yankees weren't willing to pay me more than $2,000, and I would have played in Yankee Stadium before," Sutton said. "I spent all my childhood dreaming of one day pitching in Yankee Stadium."

"I grew up on a farm in Pensacola, (Fla.), and I

National League and Brett with the American League team when the All-Star game gets underway Tuesday evening at the stadium.

occupied my days pitching mental shutouts with Mickey Mantle making the last out catching the ball near the monuments."

Sutton won't be on the mound to watch the final out, giving way to another pitcher, probably after three innings if NL Manager Sparky Anderson's game plan is not torpedoed by the AL bats.

It was somewhat of a surprise that Anderson, the Cincinnati skipper, was starting Sutton, with whom he has had a running feud, accusing the Dodgers' ace of illegal pitching practices. Anderson maintains that Sutton attempts to make a round ball square, or some other shape, through some devious method.

"I knew I was a cinch to start when I got a note from Sparky last week asking me what grain of sandpaper I wanted him to order," joked Sutton.

Before Anderson's announcement, Cincinnati's Tom Seaver was expected to get the starting nod, giving the New York fans an opportunity to welcome him back following last month's trade from the Mets to the Reds.

Seaver will pitch some time, said Anderson, whose pitching staff is weighted down by injuries to John Candelaria of Pittsburgh, Steve Carlton of Philadelphia and Joaquin Andujar of Houston.

That leaves the NL with Gary Lavelle of San Francisco, Rich Gossage of Pittsburgh, Rick Reuschel of Chicago, Seaver and Sutton.

The AL staff includes Sparky Lyle of New York, Bill Campbell of Boston, Jim Kern of Cleveland and Dave LaRoche of California—all relievers. The starters on the staff are Palmer, Jim Slaton of Milwaukee and Dennis Eckersley of Cleveland. AL Manager Billy Martin of the Yankees said he was leaning toward Eckersley to relieve Palmer.

The NL starting lineup will have Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan leading off, followed by first baseman Steve Garvey of Los Angeles and Dave Parker of Pittsburgh, who will be playing right field. George Foster of Cincinnati will bat cleanup and play centerfield. Then the NL will send up left fielder Greg Luzinski of Philadelphia, third baseman Ron Cey of Los Angeles, catcher Johnny Bench of Cincinnati and shortstop Dave Concepcion of Cincinnati.

The AL starting lineup is: Minnesota first baseman Rod Carew, who is batting a major league-leading .394; second baseman Willie Randolph of the Yankees; third baseman George Brett of Kansas City; Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, who will be in centerfield; outfielder Reggie Jackson of the Yankees; outfielder Richie Zisk of Chicago; catcher Carlton Fisk of Boston, and Red Sox shortstop Rick Burleson.

Cowboys fine Dorsett

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Tony Dorsett may be able to pick a hole between defensive linemen better than most but when it comes to picking excuses for missing curfew he's minus yardage, according to his teammates.

Dorsett, the million dollar bonus baby and anticipated messiah of the Dallas Cowboys backfield, missed midnight curfew at the Pokes' training camp here Saturday. With him was fellow rookie running back Fred Williams of Arizona State.

"We misjudged the time and traffic," Dorsett offered. "And besides, there was an accident on the freeway."

Dorsett admits he and Williams are the subject of more than a few hoots around the Cal Lutheran College dormitory and on the field. Even head coach Tom Landry is treating the tardiness lightly.

Until all veterans are in camp, Landry has allowed 50 per cent discount on fines, which is normally $175 for first violation. Hence, Dorsett and Williams had to cough up $85 apiece.

"No one seems to believe it but there was an accident," Dorsett continued in a pleading voice. "They keep saying they've heard that one before. But it won't happen anymore. You can believe that."

There was no indication that Landry gave any credence to speculation that Dorsett might develop a Peck's Bad Boy attitude after inking the highest contract in Cowboy history.

The Heisman Trophy winner was involved in an earlier altercation in a Dallas bar before leaving for camp.

"I'm not the least upset," Landry said of the missed curfew. "That can happen to anybody. I know they were trying to get here. This is not unusual, especially if they went to LA for the first time. They probably misjudged the distance."

Then Landry pointed out to a reporter a fact of life everyone, especially Dorsett, is coming to grips with.

"If it wasn't Tony Dorsett, you wouldn't be sitting up here in my room asking about it," he said. "That's the unfortunate part of being Tony Dorsett."

Locals upset Midland LL

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

The Midland Eastern All-Stars came to Big Spring Monday to battle the local squad of National All-Stars. In some circles, they were given the nod to win the District tournament here.

The Midland team went to bat 23 times in the six-inning contest. Big Spring pitcher Jenks Valenzuela posted strike-outs 17 of those times.

Midland lost, 6-3.

With the upset victory, the local Nationals advanced to a Wednesday night meeting with the Midland Central team at the American League park at 8 p.m.

In the other game played Monday night in the District III tourney, the Big Spring International All-Stars were not as fortunate. They fell to the Midland North Central team, 7-5.

Midland North Central will go up against Midland Southern at 8 p.m. Wednesday on the National League field.

Tonight's action will also see another Big Spring team eliminated from the playoffs, as the local American League and Texas squad square off against each other at 8 p.m. on the American League field.

Lamesa and Midland Western knock heads at 8 p.m. in tonight's other game at the National League park.

Matt Warren was the big stick in the National's victory. The talented left-fielder smacked two doubles in three at-bats, to drive in two runs. George Bancroft had two singles, and teammates Kevin Watson, Jenks Valenzuela, Tommy Gutierrez and Roy White each had one single.

Robert Leon Woodruff was the losing pitcher for Midland, as his comrades produced five hits: Tommy Joe Dewitt, Rickey Madrid, Teddy Terrazas, Tony Contreras and Damon Polk, all singles except Contreras'. He had a two-bagger.

James Stroud belted three singles. David Anguiano posted two doubles, and losing pitcher Dean Gartman had a single, but it was not enough for the Internationals, as Midland North Central rang up eight singles to edge the locals.

Adam Montgomery was the winning moundman. The Midland hurler had seven strike-outs, the same number as Gartman. Hitting one-baggers for the visitors were David Hicks (2), Pat Reece (2), Eric Griffin, Kevin Boeck, Ted Leps and Mark Henderson.

Oh! Too many tailbacks

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — If anything is keeping Dallas Cowboys Head Coach Tom Landry awake at night, it must be his tailback problem. The problem, however, is deciding which of several outstanding tailbacks the Cowboys can keep.

Rozelle is against calculated violence

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Atkinson's blow to the head of Lynn Swann has no place in professional football, according to National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"I am fully convinced that there is no place in professional football for the kinds of fouls committed by Atkinson," Rozelle said in a statement read in federal court Monday.

"Such conduct is clearly outside the rules and calculated either to disable opposing players or to 'intimidate' them into less effective performance."

"If there is to be an 'intimidation' factor in professional football, it must be the kind that results from superior playing performance—not from unbridled or calculated violence," he added.

Rozelle's comments were made in a final report on disciplinary action taken against Atkinson, the Oakland Raiders' defensive back, following the Swann incident and an incident in which New England's Russ Francis suffered a broken nose when hit in the face by Atkinson last year.

Rozelle was not present Monday for the sixth day of Atkinson's $2 million suit against the Pittsburgh Steelers and their coach, Chuck Noll, but his comments were read by Steelers' attorney James MacInnis.

Rozelle said visual evidence of the Swann incident is inconsistent with Atkinson's claim that he believed Swann was the target for a pass from quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Joe ready for hard knocks

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Joe Namath doesn't think defenders will be any tougher on him as a Los Angeles Rams quarterback than they were during his 12 years with the New York Jets.

There had been reports that opponents took it easy on him in recent years because the Jets were not in title contention.

"I think they've been as physical on me as they could be on anyone," the new member of Rams said at a news conference Monday.

"If any man goes light on any opponent, it comes out in the films and the coaches won't like it at all. The name of this game is to harass the quarterback."

Namath became a free agent this year and was signed by Los Angeles May 12.

He worked out with the club for the first time Monday.

Namath currently is the No. 2 quarterback, behind young Pat Haden, the former University of Southern California star who earned the job last year.

Namath admits he wants to be No. 1 and will work hard to become the starter. He also would like to call his own signals even though he knows the Rams' coaches have been doing it the past three seasons since John Hadl was traded to Green Bay.

"I'm trying to do well in a new situation," the 34-year-old Namath said. "This is a new situation, new numbers and new terminology. Until everything becomes familiar, I can't be confident."

Namath even listened in on conversations between coaches and defensive linemen in his bid to become familiar with the Rams' system.

Asked if he considered himself the starting quarterback, Namath said, "No... I'm second string."

"Pat and I talked last night. He said he felt strange in this situation, but as long as I've been playing football, the man who does the best job starts. We all have a common goal, to win."

Haden agreed it would be an interesting situation and said he would learn a lot from the veteran who has been assigned as his roommate during the early training period.

John Smith, a rookie tailback last year who broke a foot in a pre-season game and was shelved for the entire year, turned in a stellar performance in pre-season practice here Monday.

Smith is battling for his professional life with the likes of Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett and veteran tailbacks Preston Pearson, Doug Dennison and Charles Young.

Realizing just how fierce the competition is going to be, Pearson, Dennison and Young have reported to camp early.

Good news came from Dallas Monday when team officials learned that Able Joe, a rookie free agent fullback from Cheyney State, suffered only a sprain and not the knee injury that had been suspected.

Joe, a brother of former pro running back Billy Joe had a cast put on the leg and is expected to be out of action for about two weeks. It had been feared that he had suffered a more serious knee injury.

Rookie guard Greg Peters, a 12th round draft choice from California, underwent surgery in Dallas Monday because of a knee injury and will be out for several weeks.

OUT! — This unidentified player for the Big Spring National All-Stars was thrown out at home plate early in Monday night's game. However, the locals came back to defeat Midland Eastern 6-3 in a major upset of the District Little League tourney here.

Home runs doom Midland Cubs

By the Associated Press

Tom Thomas and John Dean slammed two home runs each Monday night to lead Shreveport to an 8-3 Texas League victory over Midland.

In other games, San Antonio swept a doubleheader from Jackson by scores of 3-2 and 4-0. Tulsa moved out of the Texas League East cellar by defeating Amarillo 10-8 and El Paso edged Arkansas, 3-1.

Rick Honeycutt gave up only seven hits in going the distance for Shreveport and fattened his season record to 6-4. The homers by Thomas and Dean accounted for five of Shreveport's eight runs. Jack Ledbetter, now 9-5, took the loss for Amarillo.

Randy Rogers homered in the first inning of the first game to give San Antonio a 1-0 lead over Jackson. Joe Beckwith, now 2-2, picked up the victory and Jeff Grose, 4-4, was tagged for the loss.

In the second game, winning pitcher Don Standley aided his own cause by getting two hits and scoring the only run needed in the third inning.

He is now 2-2. Luis Lunar, 1-3, was the losing hurler for Jackson in the nightcap.

Paul Mirabella, who went seven innings, picked up the Tulsa victory as the Drillers took a 9-2 lead in the seventh inning with the help of bunched-up singles and some Amarillo errors. Amarillo exploded for six runs in the eighth, but Tulsa was able to hang on and add an insurance run in the ninth.

Mirabella is now 7-5. Galen McSpadden, 5-8, was the losing pitcher.

Singles by Steve Stroughler, Jay Peters and Carney Lansford helped El Paso break a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning and give the Diablos a 2-1 lead over Arkansas. Back-to-back doubles by Gill Kubski and Floyd Rayford in the ninth gave El Paso an insurance run. Dave Schuler took the victory for El Paso and boosted his record to 3-1. Joe Edlen took the loss, his first of the season after three victories.

Arkansas collected a string of singles against El Paso, but couldn't manage any long ball hitting and left nine base runners stranded.

Only two games are scheduled tonight as some of the teams are taking the night off to watch and to let their fans watch the major league All-Star game. Tulsa is scheduled to play at Amarillo and El Paso at Arkansas. Shreveport and Midland will play a doubleheader Wednesday to make up for Tuesday's date and San Antonio's and Jackson's Monday night doubleheader replaced their scheduled Tuesday night game.

HOLLYWOOD JOE AT RAMS' CAMP — Joe Namath, acquired from the New York Jets two months ago, tries his famed arm as he began the first day of Los Angeles Ram training camp drills at Fullerton, Calif., Monday. He's recovering from a rib-cage muscle pull but told newsmen the injury is about 90 per cent healed. He fired some at medium range and then a couple of bombs. Namath is 34.

Tors issue equipment

LAMESA — Lamesa football coach David Bonds will issue shoes and socks to players Aug. 3. The varsity squad will begin two-day workouts in shorts Aug. 8 and will undertake practice in pads Aug. 13.

The Tornados will scrimmage Kermit Aug. 19 and Seminole here Aug. 26. The Lamesas open their season against Carlsbad, N.M., Sept. 2.

Bonds predicted the Tornados will be considerably improved over last season. Seven defensive and five offensive starters return from last season.

Lamesa will operate from the Houston Veer. Bonds is expecting a squad of about 66 players.

Baseball's attendance explained

CHICAGO (AP) — In a small corner of the Chicago White Sox' exploding scoreboard is a pitch-o-meter, designed by Bill Veck in 1960. Its purpose was to speed up the game by timing a pitcher and forcing him to deliver the ball within the allotted 20 seconds when there were no runners on base. It sits idly now, not to be used in this day and age. "No, I haven't slowed down or mellowed," said the 63-year-old Veck, who last season came back to baseball and purchased the White Sox. Now, he has them leading the American League West. "Years ago I was for change, then I noticed a social trend," said Veck. "A few years ago, a nostalgia wave hit this country. You heard music you hadn't heard in 20 years. It was then that I stopped talking about changes and speeding up the game. "In the 1960s there was a period of unrest, speed and violence in this country. There was the war in Viet Nam. There was mugging, meanness and violence. In this spirit, football and basketball were natural sports. "I talked about change then, but now I have stopped," continued Veck. "I realized the people were seeking social stability and baseball was the unchanged sport that gave them what they wanted. "Suddenly people were tired of violence. They were seeking stability and escape. They were tired of concrete, steel and artificiality. "They found baseball again, a sport to be savored," said Veck. "The game is perfect for the time right now and that's one of the reasons attendance is up all over the country. "During the '60s and early '70s, I advocated change. I went around to 20 campuses a year giving speeches. Nobody threw any rocks at me but I felt the atmosphere was perplexing. I thought we had to change. But not now. Where else but at a ball park can you stand up and yell and holler your head off without landing in the pokey?" It all reflects in White Sox attendance figures. The White Sox are on a splendid pace, having attracted 866,819 fans in 41 home dates this season. They are averaging 21,145 a game, and if they remain in contention or win their division, they possibly could surpass the club record of 1.6 million set in 1960. They are currently 251,625 ahead of last season.

Sports briefs

BASEBALL
NEW YORK — Jim Palmer of the American League's Baltimore Orioles and Don Sutton of the National League's Los Angeles Dodgers, were named the starting pitchers in Tuesday's 48th Annual All-Star Game at Yankee Stadium.

TENNIS
CINCINNATI — Third seeded Harold Solomon swept the first three games and went on to defeat fourth-seeded Mark Cox 6-2, 6-3 to win the singles title in the $100,000 Western Tennis Championships. The victory was Solomon's straight victory over Cox. Solomon never lost a set in the week-long tournament.

Only two from Texas

NEW YORK (AP) — Texas' two major league baseball teams will have slim representation in tonight's Major League All-Star game at New York's Yankee Stadium. Pitcher Joaquin Andujar is the sole representative of the Houston Astros while shortstop Bert Campaneris is the only Texas Ranger on the roster.

Knicks nip Nets neatly

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knicks of the National Basketball Association may have gained the home court advantage against the New York Nets in their court battle to prevent the Nets from moving to New Jersey. The two NBA clubs have been in court almost daily since July 6, when the Nets announced their plans to move the franchise from Uniondale, N.Y., to New Jersey. The Knicks have sought to block the move under terms of an indemnification agreement that the Nets signed when they joined the NBA last year. Under terms of the agreement, the Nets need the Knicks permission to move to any of New York City's five boroughs, Westchester or New Jersey. The Nets contend that the wording of the agreement permits a move to New Jersey. They also contend that the agreement violates federal antitrust statutes. But New York Federal Judge Robert L. Carter may have the last word in the hearings. Carter ruled Monday that he, not the Federal Court in New Jersey, had jurisdiction over any disputes that might arise from the legal settlement that permitted four teams from the American Basketball Association to join the National Basketball Association in 1976. The ruling should move the jurisdiction of the territorial suit between the New York Knicks and the New York Nets from a federal court in Newark, which the Nets seek, to one in New York, preferred by the Knicks.

WORKOUT FOR GABRIEL — Veteran Philadelphia Eagles quarterback Roman Gabriel strains as he runs five consecutive hundred-yard "strider" conditioning tests as the Eagles regulars held first day of training camp in Chester, Pa., Monday. Gabriel faces $32,000 fine for failing to show up last week and says he has lost position as starting signal caller.

Honorary captains picked for teams

By the Associated Press
Remember enthusiasm? It once was a standard piece of equipment for major league players, carried around as faithfully as a favorite bat or beat-up glove. They are bringing it back for one more curtain call tonight at Yankee Stadium where the American League and National League meet in the 48th All-Star Game. The pre-game home plate conference held for the exchange of lineups will include a pair of honorary captains, familiar figures for New York baseball fans. And when they stroll onto the field, Joe DiMaggio and Willie Mays will help recall the glory days of baseball, days when the game and not the contract — what counted most. It was Commissioner Bowie Kuhn who decided on the honorary captain concept for the All-Star Game three years ago, and with this year's contest in New York, baseball could not have selected two more popular ex-Stars for the honor. Inflation has cheapened our language and there are players on hand for tonight's game labeled All-Stars, who hardly deserve the designation. That never was a problem with DiMaggio and Mays. There are other players who aren't here by their own choice, players who preferred three days off rather than playing one more game in the long season. And the real Stars, DiMaggio and Mays, shudder at that thought. "A lot of times, I hear guys say they don't want to go," said Mays. "They'd rather have the three days off. "Well, let me tell you this: Once you play in one of these games, you always want to come back. Just being in that clubhouse... what a thrill," said Mays, who was in 24 All-Star Games. "Some people say the All-Star Game isn't what it used to be. Don't you believe it. I've been out of baseball three or four years now and when I have to watch it on television, I wish I was there."

Desire favors NL All-Stars

By the Associated Press
"Every time I look at my house, I see Jackie Robinson," said Willie Mays. "Every time I look at my pocketbook, I see Jackie Robinson." So be it. When baseball trots out its finest talent tonight at Yankee Stadium, millions of people will be looking—in the flesh and on TV—and they will be seeing Jackie Robinson. No shadow hovers over this midseason extravaganza more than that of the fierce competitor from UCLA and from the Negro leagues who, through the connivance of Branch Rickey, broke the game's racial barrier in 1947. While baseball men pondered today the strange dominance of the National League over the American League in the series, particularly over the last quarter of a century, Mays drove straight to the heart of the dilemma. "I think it's because we have had more desire," said the black man from Alabama who joined the Giants in 1951 and became one of three players in major league history to hit more than 600 home runs. "The National League was the first to accept black ballplayers. When they came up, they were more aggressive. Translated into stark figures, the National League has piled up a decisive margin of 28 victories against 18 defeats and one tie over their American League counterparts. The National League has won the last five All-Star games, 13 of the last 14 and 18 of the last 21. It is a devastating record.

What was it about the All-Star Game that turned on Mays? It was the innate enthusiasm that Willie brought with him to the ball park every day. Before Mays became one of the National League's best, DiMaggio was one of the best in the American League. And, like Mays, he was a true All-Star.

Meredith couldn't refuse

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When ABC's Monday night football shows began in the fall of 1970, Don Meredith of Mt. Vernon, Texas, began his national TV career, working with Frank Gifford, and some guy named Cosell. On Sept. 13, when Monday night's regular-season begins with a Miami-Buffalo duel, Meredith — having acted and sportscasted on NBC since 1974 — rejoins Gifford and Cosell on ABC's airwaves. The ex-Dallas Cowboys quarterback bid adieu to NBC last week, not because he was unhappy there, he says, but because ABC made him an offer he couldn't refuse — namely, more time off for acting.

Meredith, 39, says he's not required under his new ABC pact to work the three exhibition games next fall on ABC's pro football roster, only the network's 14 scheduled to end Dec. 11. And, when interviewed by phone from New York last week, he was getting set to talk with ABC brass not about sports, but about a possible TV movie. He gets to do two per year under his new contract. "I think the bottom line is, I really wanted to come back," the tall, easy-going Texan said of his return to the ABC works. "I enjoy doing the Monday night games, but I'm very impressed with some of the things that've happened over on the entertainment side of ABC since I was last here." It may be hard for some to think of Dandy Don as a thespian, despite several excellent "Police Story" episodes he's appeared in, but he says he was thinking of acting even while a Cowboys star.

BORED BORG — Wimbledon winner Bjorn Borg and his girl friend Mariana Simionescu appear bored as they watch other competitors warm up before World Team Tennis matches here Monday night.

The best of times, the worst of times

WASHINGTON (AP) — This has been the best of years and the worst of years for Brian Gottfried. He burned the winter indoor circuit, winning more money and tournaments than anyone else and taking a place among the top players in the game. Then, in what should have been a triumphant summer, things turned sour. He lost a critical match in Davis Cup play to Guillermo Vilas of Argentina. Then he lost to Vilas in straight sets in the final of the French Open. He bottomed out with an early round defeat at Wimbledon at the hands of Byron Bertram. Gottfried heard the whispers that he was burnt out. On Monday, following a two-week layoff, he heard them again after he struggled with unknown collegian Chris Lewis finally winning his first round match in the $25,000 Washington Star tournament.

Gottfried, second-seeded here behind Vilas, was plagued by inconsistent serving. Each time it appeared he was ready to dispose of Lewis, whose best previous showing was as a semifinalist in this year's NCAA tournament. Also advancing Monday in featured matches were 16th seeded Australian Dick Coubert, 6-1, 6-4 over Dean Joubert of South Africa; Argentina's Ricardo Cano, a 7-6, 6-2 winner over Bernie Mitton of South Africa; and Ray Moore, the only South African who won Monday with a 5-7, 6-2, 6-4 win over Anand Armitraj of India.

NEW OPPORTUNITY

Due to growing market and demand, Dallas based company is seeking a local individual who is interested in the possibility of making $50,000 plus per year in Big Spring. Investment secured by inventory, equipment and a strong radio and newspaper advertising campaign. Let us show you our newest operation located in Abilene. We realize there is very little information in this ad, but what we have to offer cannot be explained in a few simple words. If you are serious about owning your own business and can invest $15,000, call Tom Miller at 915-677-2821 for details, or write 12700 Park Central, Suite 410, LB-32, Dallas, Texas 75251.

SERVING YOU FOR A BETTER HOWARD COUNTY

TONY CHAVEZ
 Tony Chavez, a member of the Big Spring City Police force nearly three years, was born in Alamogordo, N.M., April 22, 1942. He now resides on the Sterling City route here. His schooling includes GED, the Fireman's School and the Police Academy and he has some college credits. He is affiliated with the Catholic Church. Other members of the Chavez family include his wife, Josephine, and a five-year-old daughter, Madonna Chavez. His hobbies include art, golf and baseball. His commendations include the Merit Award, the Medal of Valor and Advanced Certification. Previously, he was employed by the Fire Department and the Police Department at Alamogordo and has been in similar work at Grants, N.M., Slaton, Tex., and Lamesa. Because he felt he wanted to make a contribution to better society, he chose police work as his life's vocation, and has never regretted it. In all, he's been in police work for 12 years.

JUAN P. PALACIOS
 Juan Palacios, a member of the Big Spring Police Department for nearly 5 1/2 years, served in the Air Force for 20 years before embarking on a new career. He joined the military July 12, 1951, serving in the communications field. He saw duty in Germany, Spain, Japan, Vietnam, the Philippines, Korea and many parts of the United States. His commendations include the National Defense medal, Good Conduct medal, the Air Force Commendation medal for meritorious service and twice was awarded the Outstanding Unit award. Born in Kingsville, Tex., Sept. 10, 1931, Palacios attended Henrietta M. King High School there. He also attended Central Texas College of Austin and completed 240 hours in an air conditioning school. Later, he enrolled at Howard College and in 1975 received an associate degree in Applied Science. He attended the Department of Public Safety School where he studied photography, latent prints, I.D. Officers School and Preservation of Evidence. He was also enrolled in the Law Enforcement Academy at the Midland Air Terminal. He resumed his law enforcement career here to become sergeant in charge of identifications and records. He is married to the former Elfriede Born of Vellberg, Germany. They have a son, Ulrich, born in Stuttgart, Germany; and two daughters, Eva, 20, also born in Stuttgart; and Juanita, 19, born in Victoria, Tex. Juan's hobbies are softball, both fast and slow pitch, horseshoes, fishing and working on his home, which is located on the Sterling City Route.

WILLIAM SHANKLES
 Deputy William Shankles has been with the Sheriff's Department for only four months. But his law enforcement career is a long one. He spent five years with the police department and sheriff's department in Idabel, Okla.; 11 years with the Lamesa Police Department; and a year as special investigator for the District Attorney in the 106th Judicial District. Shankles attended public schools in Oklahoma, and the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement at Howard College. He also attended the Texas Police Association School for Police Management in Wimberly, and various criminal investigation seminars. He has a wife, Betty, who is a clerk for the U.S. Department of Agriculture. They have three children. Shankles, an outdoorsman, lists his hobbies as hunting and fishing.
