Webb T38 trainer crashes

Two AF pilots 'hit silk'

By MARJ CARPENTER
A T38 Talon trainer from Webb AFB crashed at approximately 9:30 a.m. today on the Ben Schaffer ranch south of Big Spring and eight miles east of Garden City.

The two-man crew bailed out with Capt. William Cottingham instructor pilot in Standardization-Evaluation Branch reported by one source to have minor injuries and to be complaining of his head hurting. Cottingham's new assignment is in Kadana, Japan.

The student in the fixed wing program who bailed out was Capt. Jeffrey Schefelker, an American student who was reported to be unharmed. The two men walked into the ranch of Lorin McDowell, east of the crash site and were picked up there some 45 minutes after they were first seen bailing out. Schefelker has not yet been assigned.

This was the second time that a pilot has walked into one of the McDowell ranches after successfully bailing out of a Webb trainer. In March 1976, an Iranian pilot ejected safely and walked to the McDowell Ranch in Borden County.

This time, they walked to the McDowell Ranch which is near the Howard-Glasscock County line. The crash was in Glasscock County.

First on the scene was Sheriff Booger Purit of Garden City and the town's new emergency ambulance, driven by Betty Pate and Dennis Calloway. Since the pilots were not at the location where the plane was burning, they were actually picked up later by Webb AFB ambulance.

The bail-out was reported to Sheriff Purit by Mrs. Doug Smith, who lives on the Garden City highway approximately ten miles east of Garden City. Mrs. Maxine Kalfmann also saw the pilots coming down in parachutes. It was reported by persons on the McDowell Ranch that one of the chutists appeared to have some trouble.

A plane circled the men on the ground, which Deputy Bill Chadwell of the Howard County Sheriff's office thought might be a plane from the ranch of Connie Edwards.

State Trooper Davey Jones led the Webb convoy of ambulances, fire trucks, security officers and information officers to the scene.

Mrs. J. C. Newell, daughter of the ranch owner who lives on the ranch, said, "I was snapping green beans when I heard the plane and the crash. I rushed out and saw smoke coming up in the pasture. I don't know which way the plane was going."

It was thought by one officer at the scene that the plane may have been headed southwest since the main point of impact was a little further to the north.

The wreckage had started fires in at least two locations on the ranch and was scattered into a half-mile area with very few large sections of the plane left.

Mrs. Newell drove her pickup to the scene and was halted by the military. "This is my ranch," she stated, but they assured her that an officer would contact her regarding damage.

Lt. Col. Don Tokar was apparently in command at the scene and Capt. Tom Michaelis was there from the Webb Information Office.

The last fatal crash of a Webb plane was in January 1973 when two men attempted to eject from a T38 just north of Big Spring. The student ejected safely and the instructor rode the plane safely over an occupied farm house and ejected too late.

Two months prior to that in November 1976, there was a fatal crash at a ranch north of Gail in Borden County. The last two crashes have been near McDowell Ranches in two different counties and there have been no fatalities.

A board of qualified Air Force Officers will investigate the accident. Webb Security has posted a guard on the Schaeffer Ranch gate to keep persons out of the vicinity until the investigation is successfully concluded.

At 1 p.m. today, the Webb office of information said that both pilots are listed in satisfactory condition in the Webb AFB hospital.

Capt. Cottingham is from Waco, and Capt. Schefelker is from Manawa, Wis., according to the information office.

IN CHARGE OF CLEANUP — Lt. Col. Don Tokar supervises the firefighting and cleanup operations at the site of an Air Force T38 trainer crash this morning. Tokar arrived on the scene just after reporters had taken charge of operations.

SCATTERED WRECKAGE — Mangled and charred remnants of a downed Webb AFB T38 litter the countryside 15 miles south of Webb, after a mid-morning crash. The trainer and student pilot escaped serious injury by ejecting from the aircraft.

WEBB FIREFIGHTING — This Webb AFB fire truck arrived to fight the grass fires resulting from the impact of a Webb AFB T38 this morning. The crash area was hidden in mesquite 100 yards north of this scene. Also on the scene to fight the blazes was the Glasscock County fire truck, manned by volunteers.

To offset Webb closing

BS could get $23.2 million

By JAMES WERRELL
If a bill proposed by two Michigan senators is passed Big Spring may be eligible for $23.2 million in economic aid.

The bill, sponsored Wednesday by Republican Robert Griffin and Democrat Donald Reigle Jr., would require that 10 per cent of the estimated 10-year savings gained by closing five Air Force Bases be channeled back into the affected communities. Webb AFB was listed by the sponsors as one of the five bases to be covered by the bill.

The savings gained by closing Webb AFB would come to $232 million in ten years, according to estimates in the recent Environmental Impact Study. At 10 per cent, over a period of 10 years, this could mean a revenue to the city of $23.2 million per year if the bill passes. The money would be disbursed through the U.S. Economic Development Administration and Office of Economic Adjustment. It would be used for projects which create new jobs and to improve opportunities for new business and industry.

"That $23.2 million a year would sure bolster the economy of the city," said Harry Nagel, city manager. "The cost of the city's taking over Webb and making necessary improvements there would certainly be alleviated," he added.

Would economic aid of this magnitude make a drop in city taxes possible?

"I'm not sure. We will have to wait and see what restrictions are placed on the use of the money if the bill passes. We won't know for awhile anyway. The bill will get bogged down in committee hearings for a long time," said Nagel.

"This is a good concept," said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., of the bill. "The bill itself is not printed, and I want to discuss it with (Sen.) Griffin. But there is a need for a more centralized, more coordinated effort to oversee economic programs. A vehicle such as this could serve toward that end," he added.

According to aides from Tower's office in Washington, D.C., the bill will face a long series of committee hearings before it ever reaches the floor of the Senate.

"The bill will be referred to the Committee on Government Affairs for consideration. It will be up to the committee as to when it wants to hold hearings on it (the bill)," said Will Ball, Tower aide.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff (D-Conn.) is chairman of the committee while Charles Percy (R-Ill.) is the GOP's ranking member.

"Sen. Ribicoff's job is to see how the administration feels about it (the bill), and he could call hearings after that. Sen. Tower is aware of the bill, but he is not on the committee, and neither is Sen. Bentsen (D-Tex.)," said Ball.

The other bases covered by the bill are Kincheloe AFB, Mich.; Loring AFB, Maine; Craig AFB, Ala.; and Richards-Gebaur AFB, Mo.

The two Michigan senators condemned assistance now available and said it was appropriate for the federal government to help communities affected by its decision.

Webb land eyed for industrial site

The Big Spring Industrial Foundation requested that the Webb Steering Committee approach the General Services Administration with a request to look into purchase of 300 acres of land south of Webb AFB, in an executive session of the Steering Committee Wednesday afternoon.

The request by the Industrial foundation came about when efforts to purchase land north of the base fell through. The Industrial Foundation had requested the purchase of the land in order to build an industrial park, which would provide facilities to attract new industry.

Under Federal title 9 Public Utility Grants, a railway spur, water, and a sewage system would be provided by the Federal Government at the site at no cost to the city, after the initial purchase of the land. According to City Manager Harry Nagel, if the price is right, purchase of the land by the City of Big Spring might take place in October 1979.

The steering committee also made a formal request to the Air Force and the Federal Aeronautics Administration to consider leaving the Webb VORTAC, the ILS, and the middle marker for civilian airport use.

In a letter to the FAA, Mayor Wade Choate requested the assistance of the FAA in planning development of an instrument approach into the air-industrial park and airport. He explained in the letter that it was extremely important in our efforts to bring new industry to Big Spring to have the selling point of a full IFR terminal capability for their logistical and business travel use.

Jaworski vows impartial probe

HOUSTON (AP) — Leon Jaworski, now the chief investigator of the Korean influence buying scandal, said today, "When I begin work, it will make no difference to me who is involved in this matter, be they Republicans or Democrats."
During his second news conference in two days, Jaworski said, "If I find a crook is involved in this matter, I want to bring him out and I want the public to know about it."

The former Watergate prosecutor said some questions had been raised about the possible involvement of House Speaker Thomas T. O'Neill, D-Mass., and House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Tex., in the Korean matter.

"I want to say now and the public should know that if it had not been for the insistence of Speaker O'Neill and Rep. Wright, I doubt if I would have accepted this job. Both of these men put their efforts together to convince me to accept," Jaworski added.

Jaworski said the investigation possibly might go beyond the South Korean allegations, "but I have no firm knowledge at this time of other possible charges."

Egypt, Libya clash

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Libyan and Egyptian armored and air forces engaged in a massive clash along their desert border today, resulting in the destruction of 40 Libyan tanks and two planes, Cairo radio reported.

Israel radio also reported there was a battle. But Libya had no immediate comment on the reported fighting.

Cairo radio quoted a military spokesman as saying that 30 Libyan army trucks were destroyed and 12 members of the 9th Libyan armored division were taken prisoner along with 30 saboteurs.

Today's clash climaxed a series of border incidents in recent days. Egypt has accused Libya of planting a series of bombs and conducting other sabotage in Egypt.

The two countries have contended for influence in the Arab world, leading to confrontations in Lebanon and the Horn of Africa.

Since the 1973 Arab-Israeli war, they have quarreled over how to approach that conflict. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has urged reconvening a Mideast conference in Geneva while Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy has opposed compromise with Israel.

Two injured in rollover

Mary Jane Cervantes, 907 N. Scurry, and Patsy Oliva, 1207 Young are in stable condition at Cowper Clinic after the automobile they were in plunged over a concrete culvert three miles north of Big Spring, on U.S. 87 about 12:20 today.

Robert Oliva, 1207 Young, was also in the car but was uninjured.

According to Oliva the car was driven by Mary Cervantes when it went out of control, hit the culvert and flipped over three times before coming to a rest about 50 yards from the highway.

'Kidnaping' only a quarrel

A supposed kidnaping led Big Spring and Howard County law enforcement officials on a merry chase around noon today.

According to a woman who called the Big Spring Police Department, her sister was abducted by an estranged husband who held her at knifepoint. The couple was last seen by the sister as they drove north from the intersection of Timothy and Longshore.

An all points bulletin was issued to all patrolling officers to be on the lookout for the alleged kidnapper and his victim. He was apprehended on Wasson about one and a half miles from the scene of the incident by both police and sheriff's deputies.

But when officers questioned the wife, she said that the whole incident was merely a domestic quarrel, and she may choose to continue in the company of her estranged husband.

Moments later, however, while all parties involved were still gathered together by law enforcement officers, it was decided that a complaint may be brought against the husband after all. Justice of the Peace Bob West will be consulted later today.

Colorado City police chief rescues driver

COLORADO CITY — An Abilene patrolman David Hancock of Colorado City said Heiser was driving east on a dirt road and attempted to stop at a stop sign on State Highway 208.

Hancock said the truck skidded sideways, turned over and threw Heiser from the cab with the truck rolling over on top of him.

Traffic was stopped in all directions from the intersection as quickly as possible and the volunteer fire department from Colorado City stood by as butane poured out of the truck.

A fireman said, "we lucked out." The butane was scattered by a strong southerly breeze.

James Campbell, city manager said, "Boy that could have been bad. At first, some vehicles drove right by the scene. We were really lucky."

The truck is owned by Fraley Butane of Abilene. Highway

A. None, whatsoever, according to Bill Cahill of the home office of America Petrofina in Dallas. Cahill said he didn't know where the story could have gotten started. When Paul Meek, the former Big Spring resident who is now president of America Petrofina, heard about it, he responded with the question: "Who's smoking cocaine now?"

DEMONSTRATES CANCER DETECTING DEVICE — Dr. Lawrence Minkoff sits in a 1 1/2 ton magnet that is part of the Fonar, a device being tested at Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, N.Y. The Fonar, which is designed to detect cancer cells emitting radio signals different from healthy cells, should ultimately be able to scan the entire human body, painlessly and without harm, according to its inventor, Dr. Raymond Damadian, associate professor of medicine and biophysics at the medical center.

Brenda Vaccaro weds

DALLAS (AP) — Actress Brenda Vaccaro says she has found the "right man" at last. Wednesday evening, she announced to a small group of family and friends "Let's get it over with" and married 36-year-old attorney William Bishop. The bride, 37, did not have far to travel. She is currently on location in Lawton, Okla., where she is making a film called "Moonbeam Rider." The ceremony was in keeping with the kind of image the bride projects on the screen — total informality. The groom sported dashing blue corduroys and a red plaid shirt. The bride was dressed in a grey pants outfit. Traditional vows were exchanged with one exception. "Hold on a minute," Ms. Vaccaro interrupted. "Let's take out this 'til death do us part' and 'as long as we both shall live' stuff. Nothing lasts forever."

Johnstown flood toll rises

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The third major flood in 88 years to hit this southwestern Pennsylvania town has left at least 37 dead and a devastated landscape. Seven counties were battered Wednesday when torrential rains overloaded small creeks and rivers in a 70-mile stretch. Civil Defense officials estimated 2,000 persons were homeless in Cambria County alone. It was not known how many were dislodged elsewhere. The Johnstown flood of 1889 killed 2,200 people, and a flood in 1936 killed 20 people.

Bridges named after her

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Retired U.S. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith on Wednesday became the first person in Maine history to have two bridges in the same town named after her. Before signing the bill naming the new bridges in her hometown of Skowhegan, Gov. James B. Longley presented Mrs. Smith with a longstemmed red rose. A rose was her trademark in the Senate, where she served from 1949 to 1973. Longley also proclaimed Wednesday as Margaret Chase Smith Day. The bridges are located in the town where Mrs. Smith grew up. Mrs. Smith served 8 1/2 years in the U.S. House before being elected to the Senate, and is the only woman to have been elected to both chambers.

Penny for your thoughts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Sam Stratton, D-N.Y., is sending more than 200 nickels back to his constituents, under the franking privilege, on grounds they may be improperly trying to influence his vote on a consumer bill. "Whether the cold cash is hundreds of five-cent pieces or a wad of $100 bills, the principle is still the same, and it's all bad," Stratton said. The nickels are part of a campaign by Congress Watch, a Ralph Nader-inspired group, to win passage of a federal consumer protection agency. They urged persons to send nickels, claiming that was all the agency would cost each taxpayer per year.

Two accused of aiding USSR spies

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Two men accused of aiding Soviet bloc spies planned to use a cabin cruiser to smuggle components of the top-secret U.S. cruise missile to Soviet agents in Cuba within the next two weeks, the FBI says.

Carl Weischenberg, 33, a West German, who officials said is awaiting trial in his own country on charges of high treason and is now living in Freeport, in the Bahamas, and Carl John Heiser, 32, of Highland Beach, Fla., were arrested Wednesday at Fort Lauderdale International Airport as Weischenberg prepared to board a plane for Freeport.

They were formally charged with "acting as agents of East Germany and the Soviet Union without prior notification to the Secretary of State," a charge less severe than espionage because the government wants to expedite the case, a knowledgeable source said. "When you have a foreign national leaving the country you want to act quickly," the source said.

The charge carries a fine of $5,000 and up to 10 years in jail.

Heiser and Weischenberg were ordered held without bond after a brief hearing before U.S. Magistrate Peter Palermo in Miami. Another hearing was scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Daniel Ennis of Miami says Weischenberg and 11 other persons are awaiting trial in West Germany on charges of high treason involving sale of West German data processing materials to Soviet bloc nations.

The FBI said Weischenberg had offered Heiser $250,000 for components of the cruise missile, a pilotless weapon which can fly a pre-programmed route to its target at extremely low levels. It did not say how Heiser would have gotten such components.

President Carter has chosen the weapon as one of the United States' first-line offensive weapons of the future.

In a 14-page affidavit, the FBI said Weischenberg presented Heiser with "shopping lists" for materials, including IBM microfilm cards, manuals and tapes, Memorex computer programs, Bendix computer drive shafts and nuclear fuels.

FBI officials did not say what the various computer cards, tapes and programs contained. IBM, Memorex and Bendix are major defense contractors. The FBI affidavit detailed dozens of alleged meetings, telephone conversations and trips to Germany by Heiser and Weischenberg dating back to April 1976.

Poage took favors from South Africa?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whether he knew it or not, Rep. W. R. Poage accepted financial favors from South African sugar producers who needed his good will to share in the U.S. market, the Justice Department says.

Poage's relationship with South African lobbyists was described in a government lawsuit Wednesday, and the Texas Democrat confirmed parts of the account.

The situation may raise fresh questions about the close relationships between special interest groups and members of Congress with influence over legislation affecting them.

A Justice Department source said there is no possibility of criminal charges in the Poage case because the statute of limitations has expired. That rule requires campaign finance violations to be prosecuted within three years after they occur, and most other federal offenses must be prosecuted within five years.

Poage is the key figure in the story. At 77, the crusty Texan is the oldest member of the House. As chairman of the agriculture committee for more than a decade, he made important decisions about the government's farm policies. He lost the chairmanship in 1974 in a fight with the Democratic "young Turks" in the House but continues as the committee vice chairman.

Players on the South African side include two New York lawyers, John R. Mahoney and Philip R. McKnight, registered as lobbyists for the South African Sugar Association, an organization of sugar producers.

The South Africa Foundation, which is based in Durban, South Africa, and maintains a Washington office, is another major figure.

According to the Justice Department, the association is financed by South African business leaders and its purpose is to promote a favorable South African image.

In the civil suit filed in U.S. District Court, the department accused the foundation and the two lawyers of submitting "false and misleading" statements about their lobbying activities.

They failed to disclose that the sugar producers put up the money for favors to Poage, to Rep. William Wampler of Virginia, the ranking Republican on the agriculture panel, and two other committee members, the suit said. Government lawyers declined to identify those two.

With the lawyer-lobbyists smoothing the way, the sugar association provided Poage and the two unidentified congressmen with "a private executive jet in November 1970 to travel (from South Africa) to Rhodesia and back to South Africa," the suit said.

Hearing may cool airline-county beef

(Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau) AUSTIN — The dogfight between Howard County's commissioners and Trans Regional Airlines may finally be resolved at the Texas Aeronautics Commission meeting Aug. 3.

Bob Krause, TAC general counsel, said the staff recommendation will be presented to commissioners at the meeting.

Joan Whitworth, head of carrier regulations, said the commission had finally received Howard County's answer to Trans Regional charges that county officials were uncooperative.

The county was supposed to present its side of the fight by June 13. After the deadline passed, County Attorney Harvey Hooser requested an extension, saying county officials wanted to look at Trans Regional arguments before answering them.

Technically, Hooser also missed the second deadline July 11 but since his letter was posted July 11 Whitworth said it would be accepted.

Trans Regional wants to move out of the Howard County Airport and use facilities at Webb AFB. The airline expects Big Spring city officials to manage the Webb facilities in about a year.

In the meantime, company officials want the TAC to suspend its license for a year. If the license is suspended, the company will be able to return to the operation without a lengthy licensing period.

Hooser asked the TAC to cancel the license instead of suspending it. If the license is cancelled, Trans Regional would have to reapply for a TAC license, a process that requires a hearing.

Suspending the permit might keep another carrier from the Big Spring area, Hooser argued in his letter.

Krause said such a problem is unlikely. "I doubt if it would even deter anyone," he said. "TAC members could license another airline to serve Big Spring even if Trans Regional still had its license, he said.

County officials told the TAC in Hooser's letter that they had cooperated with Trans Regional in several ways. The county had repaired some parts of the terminal and had paid utility bills, the letter said. The county quit paying the terminal's electric bills in March.

According to the Justice Department, the association is financed by South African business leaders and its purpose is to promote a favorable South African image.

Lay that pistol down!

Three Big Springers stared down barrels of pistols in two separate cases of assault reported Wednesday.

Evaristo Trevino, 1410 Mesa, and Lisa Anguino, 1501 Oriole, left a Robin Street home late Wednesday night after visiting the residents there. As the couple turned the corner of the home, they were confronted by another Robin Street resident who reportedly pointed a pistol at Trevino and said, "Stay the hell out of this neighborhood."

Then, according to Trevino's account, the man pointed the pistol over Trevino's head and fired off a shot. Officers arrived at the scene 11:45 p.m. and arrested the assailant in his own front yard after discovering the pistol in the man's truck.

Also arrested were two family members from the home where Trevino had visited earlier. One was suspected of interference with an officer in the line of duty, and both were suspected of disorderly conduct.

Trevino's assailant may face charges of disorderly conduct and discharging a firearm inside the city limits.

According to Big Spring Detective C.P. Ward, the argument is part of a neighborhood feud that has been brewing for quite some time, and may involve a series of recent burglaries which have occurred there.

The other incident occurred while Thomas J. Musgrove Jr., 1312 Stadium, drove along the 1600 block of South Gregg, 11:35 p.m. Wednesday.

According to reports, Musgrove's 1972 Ford Mustang was intentionally rammed by a Lincoln Continental driven by a man.

The Continental then pulled up beside Musgrove, and the driver pointed a revolver at him, saying, "Get your a-- off of this road."

The Continental then disappeared driving south on Gregg. Investigating officers have the license number of the Lincoln and will search for its owner today. In one other incident reported 3:15 p.m. Wednesday, the back tire and rim were stolen from a bicycle belonging to David Pedterson, 2201 Cecilia. The bike was parked at the Municipal Swimming Pool. Loss was estimated at $25.

Five fender-benders were reported Wednesday. Vehicles driven by Donald R. Canbill, 4057 Vicki, and Anita Booth, Midland, collided at FM 700 and Goliad, 1:34 p.m.

Young and old take bicycle jaunt

By MARJ CARPENTER Around 40 cyclists came pedaling into Big Spring for the second year in a row on a bicycle jaunt from El Paso to Orlando, Fla.

The cyclists actually began at Anaheim, Calif. but rode a bus to El Paso where they began their actual riding. They average 60-65 miles a day in high temperatures under the Texas sun. "And it takes us several days to get through Texas," Dana Morrison, director of the tour said Wednesday.

The group spent the night in Comanche Trail Park in the campgrounds. "We really like the facilities here," Morrison stated.

They had come from Odessa the previous night, and were having a big time as they found shady spots for their sleeping bags and pitched tents in the area.

One of the tour members was celebrating a birthday and they had purchased a birthday cake for the occasion. One of them also stopped by the roadside and got a cold watermelon and they were dividing it up among the group.

The bicycles are ten speed. The only "bicycle built for two" in the tour was ridden by Lewis and Alice Thomason of Huntington Beach, Calif. The couple had apparently decided that life began at 40 as they were both in their early 40s and making

Thunderstorms boom near Davis Mountains

By the Associated Press
Hot and muggy weather enveloped Texas in an oppressive cloak today. As a nonstop heat wave blazed on, steamy air billowed across the state from the south and southeast.

At the same time occasionally heavy thunderstorms boomed near the Davis Mountains between Van Horn and Pecos, near San Angelo and from near Del Rio toward Rocksprings and Brackettville, all in western areas of the state, and between Dalhart and Channing in the northwest corner of the Texas Panhandle.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy with scattered thunderstorms through Friday. Some heavy thunderstorms likely north tonight. Low tonight mid 60s north, upper 50s mountains and low 70s southeast. High Friday 80s north to 90s south except near 100 Big Bend.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Chance of thunderstorms Panhandle and extreme southwest mainly Saturday. Otherwise continued dry weather with rather warm afternoons through Monday. Highs in the 90s except near 100 Big Bend valleys. Lows mid 60s to mid 70s except mid 50s mountains.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast today across much of the nation. Cooler air is expected to spread from the northern Plains into the Midwest, Great Lakes and Northeast. Hot weather is forecast along the southern half of the Atlantic coast and warm weather for the rest of the country.

Sharp increases in cost of food

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher costs for food and a broad range of services pushed June consumer prices up six-tenths of 1 per cent, matching the previous month's boost in prices, the government reported today.

The rise was a disappointment to government economists who had hoped some moderation in consumer prices would follow a slowdown in wholesale price hikes in May and a sharp wholesale price drop in June.

Retail food prices, which climbed seven-tenths of 1 per cent in May, rose by eight-tenths of 1 per cent in June and marked the sixth straight month of sharp increases in the cost of food.

The government planned to release a second report on the nation's economic health later today and it was expected to be more encouraging. A preliminary estimate from the Commerce Department indicated the economy had another strong quarter, with prices were relatively steep for one month, it was less than the eight-tenths of 1 per cent rise in April and January and the 1 per cent jump in February.

Over the past three months, consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 8.1 per cent, down from the 10 per cent annual rate during the first quarter of the year. The Labor Department said its Consumer Price Index last month stood at 181.8 per cent of its 1967 average, meaning that a marketbasket of goods and services which cost $100 ten years ago now cost $181.80 last month.

The Consumer Price Index is based on a selection of 400 different goods and services believed to represent the marketbasket of the average urban worker who heads a family of four.

In a separate report, the government said that real spendable earnings — after tax earnings adjusted for inflation — increased 3.4 per cent in June, the largest monthly increase in two years.

The increase resulted from a change in tax deductions which lowered withholding rates effective June 1.

Over the year, real earnings rose 3.3 per cent as a result of both the reduction in taxes and a three-tenths of a per cent increase in weekly earnings over and about any inflationary increase in them.

While food prices continued their sharp rise, the cost of nonfood commodities rose by only two-tenths of a per cent in June following increases of four-tenths of 1 per cent in each of the three previous months.

Imagine: Farmers don't need July rain

Saying that farmers don't want rain in the heat of July sounds like some kind of fairy tale.

But, according to Howard County entomologist James Lee, it is true.

Following the monthly agriculture breakfast this week, I asked Lee how Big Spring area cotton farmers might trade off the need for moisture against the problem of controlling insects.

Lee said the farmers would probably prefer to wait until August for another rain because the ground moisture is good now, and, best of all, the heat is killing boll weevils.

Amazingly, cotton farmers may be in a better position this year to thwart the little pests than last year, even though Lee says large numbers of the weevils survived the winter.

The entomologist's traps caught many weevils up to 450 in one trap as they came out of the brush and weeds where they make their winter home.

JAMES LEE

But as the first generation of weevils has been trying to mature, it has been hot and dry, and the grubs have been drying up inside the cotton squares, Lee said.

For much of Howard County, this may delay the boll weevils arrival en masse until too late for the insects to do big damage.

After the first generation of weevils is gone, then let it rain, said Lee, whose program is beginning its second year in Big Spring.

Lee said the late planting of many farmers and the fast fruiting of the crop has also helped keep the weevil numbers smaller than they might have been.

There are "hot spots," he said. Damage runs up to 55 per cent in some places, and weevils have been found even on the west side of the county.

Lee displayed a map which shows pins on any field where the weevil damage is more than 1 per cent. He said that most of the pins were concentrated now in the Sand Springs and Coahoma south area, but that the groupings of pins would move like waves across the county from the southeast to the northwest as the season progressed.

Lee also described a trial program in Howard County to spray the weevils before they have a chance to lay their eggs for the first generation. He emphasized that he was not advocating such a program at this time, and that it was only an experiment.

But he said that early results looked promising. The test, of course, will be in the harvest, he added.

Once the weevil lays its eggs or gets into the squares, he cannot be killed by spraying.

Howard County Agent Bruce Griffith said that officials will be going to the cotton producers' association with a program to do battle with the boll weevil.

"He (the weevil) is always here," Griffith said. "He's adapting, becoming more acclimatized to the area."

The already long, long war between the cotton farmer and his number one pest can be expected to continue, even in the drier portions of the state.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

First defeat

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON—Rejection by President Carter of CIA director Stansfield Turner's bid for control over the National Reconnaissance Office (NRO), one of the nation's most important spy agencies, signals at least temporary decline in Adm. Turner's soaring bureaucratic power.

That rejection, not yet announced, was decided on late last week when Defense Secretary Harold Brown and the military high command convinced top White House aides that the Pentagon must retain control over NRO's espionage activities. These include such essential spying operations as picture-taking from high altitudes by satellites and U-2 type aircraft, sampling air particles and intercepting communications.

A COMPROMISE has been pieced together, at Brown's suggestion, that will give Turner partial control over NRO's budget. But as one of the President's chief advisers told us, "Not even Stan Turner could pry NRO away from the military. It's the lifeblood of their war planning."

The battle swirling around President Carter involves NRO and other parts of the pending intelligence reorganization, embodied in options called Presidential Review Memorandum (PRM) No. 11. There has been no fiercer struggle in the young Carter administration. PRM 11 went to Mr. Carter on July 13, with strong indications that he was leaning toward giving Turner what he wanted: overall control of NRO, with power to dictate use of its "assets."

Brown's counterattack gained the backing of budget director Bert Lance and national security director Zbigniew Brzezinski. Their potency postponed the decision and then persuaded the President that, except for budgetary oversight, NRO should stay with the Air Force.

The defeat for Turner may prove temporary. Having played a major role in killing the President's widely acclaimed Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board (PFIAB), Turner has powerful allies in Congress. The Senate Intelligence Committee is working on a reorganization that favors Turner's centralization plans.

MOREOVER, THE PRESIDENT and the Senate committee reached informal agreement several months ago to work together in reorganizing the CIA and the entire intelligence community. The Senate committee is now leaning toward complete transfer of NRO budget and operational authority from the Pentagon to the director of intelligence.

Nevertheless, Turner's rapid escalation in a brief four months to become a Carter confidant has been slowed, a political fact transcending the battle over control of NRO. A part of that declaration was bad staff work inside Turner's office which trapped him in an embarrassing mistake last week that the Pentagon has been at pains to point out.

The General Accounting Office, the congressional watchdog agency, asked Turner about the Pentagon-approved sale of $1.2 billion in highly-specialized radar aircraft (AWACS) to Iran. In response, Turner sent a highly-publicized written reply that certain top-secret equipment on the aircraft could jeopardize U.S. security. Infuriated by this fanning attack, Defense Secretary Brown telephoned Brzezinski to say that none of the seven AWACS planes contained the top-secret equipment (a coding machine).

He's embarrassed by sunken chest

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a problem that may seem trivial to others, but it is of great concern to me. I am a male, 19 years old, and I am disturbed because my chest is flat and sunken. My ribs protrude outward much farther than seems normal. In addition there is an odd depression just beneath my chest.

When I questioned a doctor about this, he told me it was common. I have never noticed anyone else with it (they're probably hiding). I've heard all the sermons about beauty being only skin deep (usually delivered by those with more than their share of sex appeal), but I am still hoping that through exercise or even some kind of operation, I can remedy my appearance. Any suggestions?—Q.A.R.

It's called "funnel chest," an abnormality in development of the breast bone. If you look closely in the shower rooms or at the beach, you'll see many degrees of this defect.

You are a bit too late, I'm sorry to say, in your hopes for corrective surgery. The reason: at your age the bones and cartilage are pretty well fixed and are no longer pliable. Exercise and surgery are effective in youngsters before puberty, but even then it is a rather formidable operation.

I sense your chest depression is not terribly deep. There are instances where the heart can be crowded and breathing affected. One of my grandsons has the problem and was studied extensively by a pediatric surgeon. After X rays and other tests it was shown that the defect did not affect the heart or lung functions, and he was dismissed.

I hope you are able to overcome your embarrassment. You certainly had nothing to do with the malformation. If you swim or otherwise go bare-chested, put on a flimsy white T-shirt and forget about the matter. Look to your other attributes.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please comment on the eye condition called "keratoconus," particularly whether or not it is thought to be inherited?—R.H.

It is a condition affecting the cornea, the clear outer portion in front of the pupil. The word means cone-shaped cornea. Instead of the cornea conforming to the rounded shape of the pupil, it protrudes outward conically causing a distortion of vision. The cause is a weakness or thinning of the cornea which allows normal pressure in the eyeball to bulge outward, much like a weak area in an inner tube. This coning usually occurs in the center of the cornea and is not the kind of bulging seen with exophthalmos (thyroid disease).

It is not a common condition and to my knowledge is not inherited. In some instances it can progress slowly and reach a standstill. In some it can be corrected with glasses. Cornea transplants can be considered.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a disease called "bullous emphysema"? I am not sure I spelled it correctly, but this is what I understood my doctor to say. He said I had this in addition to emphysema. If you know about this, would you please describe what an X ray of this condition would look like?—C.M.

Yes, there is such a disease, and you spelled it perfectly.

Bullous emphysema is emphysema that is complicated by formation of cysts (bullae). Those are air spaces which occur in the already over-stretched lung tissue. Occasionally the bullae enlarge sufficiently to require special treatment. X rays reveal less dense gaps in lung tissue in the area of the bullae. You may want to consult my booklet, "How to Control Emphysema." For a copy, send 25 cents to me care of the Big Spring Herald, along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You mentioned diaper rash recently. My grandchild is one year old. His mother is lax in changing his diapers and therefore he has this rash. I scolded her for this, but she tells me her doctor tells her the rash is caused by the baby teething. Could this be true?—R.P.

No, that's a ridiculous diagnosis. Are you sure that is what was said? Common sense on the mother's part should tell her she is remiss in her care of the child. The usual cause of the rash is ammonia created by the urine as it evaporates.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A friend of mine carries no medical insurance. When his wife said something to him about it, he said if she had faith in God, she would trust that God would provide for them if they got sick. Do you have any opinion about this?—S.P.M.

DEAR S.P.M.: I respect the opinion of this individual, but I personally do not agree with his position. It is certainly true that God has promised to take care of us, and that we are not to rely solely on material possessions or our bank account for security. "Command those who are rich in this present world not to be arrogant nor to put their hope in wealth, which is so uncertain, but to put their hope in God, who richly provides us with everything for our enjoyment" (I Timothy 6:17, New International Version). But this does not mean we should never take out insurance. God after all, may fulfill His promise to take care of us in some instances by using our insurance.

Insurance is a modern invention, and there is nothing exactly like it mentioned in the Bible. However, throughout the Bible we are told not simply to believe that God will help us, but to take practical steps to protect ourselves and others against the uncertainties of life. Joseph, for example, was commanded of God to store grain so there would be food during the seven years of famine (Genesis 41). The perfect wife described in Proverbs 31:10-31 took practical steps to give her family security against cold and hunger.

On the other hand, Christians are commanded to help those who are in need. No insurance policy can shield us completely against anything, and we should meet needs whenever we can.

If you're ever in Cincinnati, avoid at all costs the perils of Perry.

Perry's Auto Parts, that is. Better known as The Grouch's Floating Wreck and Rust Show.

I ended up at this auto graveyard after a long and tortuous search of about 30 others in the city. You see, the flex plate (between the flywheel and the torque converter) on my newly acquired 1958 Cadillac had self-destructed and had to be replaced.

I went through the phone book, calling yard after yard, and the answer was nearly the same everywhere.

"A '58 Caddy huh? That's the one that looks like a great white shark. Sorry, can't help you."

Then I called Mr. Perry. "Yeah, we got a flex plate. But I ain't about to do anything about it now. That's half a day's work. Call me Monday." Click.

I could tell this man wanted my business.

I WENT TO meet him on Monday much as David had gone to meet Goliath. But I had no slingshot. And more importantly, I had no socket wrenches.

"Where the hell are your tools?" asked Mr. Perry, ever the charmer.

"Tools?" "Don't give me that. How were you going to get your flex plate? Did you think it would fall off the motor?" asked Mr. Perry.

But providence shone upon me. There was another guy there looking for a trans for a '70 Cadillac who offered to give me a hand.

"I think there's a '58 engine out that way," said the helpful Mr. Perry with a sweeping gesture that indicated most of southern Ohio.

My wife (who stood silently with her arms crossed looking toward heaven through this entire adventure), my new friend with the wrench and I set off into the swamp.

Rights non-existent

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The uproar over human rights has ignored the world's most brutal dictatorship. Adolf Hitler at his dict was not as oppressive as the communist rulers of tiny Cambodia.

In a nation of 7 million people, an estimated one million have already died from mistreatment and executions. But the entire populace has been enslaved in a fashion that violates every international standard of human conduct. Only the communists have any rights in Cambodia. They have tried, with frightening success, to hide their horrors from the world. They have sealed off their country tightly. The borders are mined and patrolled.

ONLY NINE nations have opened embassies in the capital city of Phnom Penh. Yet these diplomats, most of them communists themselves from friendly countries, are restricted to a street about 200 meters in length. When they wish to conduct official business, they are picked up in a government car and escorted to their destination.

Yet a few refugees managed to escape, some of them after harrowing experiences. They told essentially the same story about the conditions they had left behind. Some even brought out bootleg photographs of the atrocities.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: It appears to me that the public is entitled to know what they are paying for, and subsequently eating all in the name of lower price and better nutrition. This is especially true when some of the finer restaurants are making such an unreal profit on "fake steaks" at the same price as the real thing.

I feel that the public is being "promoted" into thinking "different is better."

Considering the following, which appeared originally in the publication Gulf Coast Cattleman: "A report issued by the National Live Stock and Meat Board says that 'Stakelets,' non-meat cubed steak and 'Grillers,' imitation ground beef patties, are now being test-marketed by Miles Laboratories' Morningstar Farms.

"As with make-believe ham, bacon and sausage, the artificial 'beef' products are made only from vegetable protein. As with their other advertising, Miles claims 'no cholesterol, no animal fat' with some tricky wording.

"Stakelets" headline, "... beef has as much cholesterol as pork sausage," is accompanied by a graph showing both beef and pork sausage having about 70 mg cholesterol per 100 grams raw weight. The Meat Board says an uninitiated reader wouldn't realize that's not really high — that both beef and pork are below levels for several fish and poultry foods.

"The ad also claims '... beef is second only to eggs as the single largest source of cholesterol in the American diet.' That's true, but only

The mud was ankle deep. All around us for three square miles were piles of twisted metal, parts and pieces of engines and transmissions, and thousands of other recognizable remnants of Detroit's flights of fancy.

"That looks like a '58 engine," said the friend.

And there it sat on a small patch of dry land in the distance.

"That's where you'll find your flex plate," he told me.

"Where?" I asked, not knowing a flex plate from a paper plate.

So he obliged by removing enough engine parts so that the edge of the flex plate was barely visible.

"Ok, you're on your own," he smiled at me.

AND SO I WAS. But now I had to ask Mr. Perry for tools and advice; about as much fun as snakebite.

In the process I was treated to Perry's rules of business.

"If a woman calls, just tell her you don't have the part. Can you imagine a woman alone out there?" he said, again gesturing to the swamp. "Kids are the same, not worth the trouble."

"It sounds like a tough way to make a living," I commented.

"Are you trying to tell me how to run my business? Listen kid (so I was a kid!) I know what I'm doing."

After three hours of hard labor and four trips to consult Mr. Perry, who grew stronger with each new insult while I weakened, the flex plate came loose.

Drenched with sweat, knuckles bleeding, I asked him how much the part cost.

"Ten bucks."

"How does eight sound?" I said.

"How does fifteen sound?" he said, clenching his fists and actually snarling.

I paid him the ten bucks and left him, lord and master of an underwater junk pile and the meanest man I have ever met.

We picked up their stories from intelligence sources and began publishing them as early as June, 1975. But U.S. intelligence agencies were hesitant to accept the word of refugees. All other intelligence channel had been effectively cut off.

But the reports can no longer be dismissed. Too many independent witnesses have now reached the outside. The story of the brutal Cambodian repression, therefore, can be told with authority.

It began even before the communists swept to victory in April, 1975. Some of the last classified cables out of Cambodia reported that the communist guerrillas had turned upon the civilian population with a sudden savagery.

The last American ambassador, John Gunther Dean, gave Washington this secret assessment of the communist ruthlessness: "Inquiries as to motives of the KC (communists) have produced a similarity of response, with the answers varying only in degree of sophistication.

"The refugees express the view that the KC forces control most of the land area but need more people. The attacks are seen by the refugees as enemy punishment inflicted on them for rejecting KC offers to come over to the KC side."

because Americans love beef and eat a lot of it, on a per serving basis, beef is relatively low in cholesterol.

The Meat Board says that Miles Labs is smart enough to never make specific reference to heart disease or claim consumers would avoid heart disease by using their product — government regulations don't allow such health claims.

Moreover, the Meat Board says that people who buy these products to protect their hearts should be advised that such analogs have a relatively high content of sodium — which should be avoided by heart patients with high blood pressure or fluid retention problems.

"Maybe the beef industry needs some kind of research and education program to tell beef's side of the story to consumers."

Dear Editor: Yesterday I lost my billfold at the grocery store. I was frantic when I arrived home and discovered my loss. The billfold contained about $40, and a lot of credit cards and other important things.

My worries were needless because when I arrived back at the store a lady had found it in the parking area and turned it in. I asked if she left her name and was told she did not.

On the trip home I thought how lucky we are to live in "friendly" Big Spring where people of this sort live. Whoever she was I wish to say "Thank You."

Federal tax return time

Employers must report and pay Social Security and withheld Federal income taxes for the second quarter of 1977 by July 31.

Persons who have deposited the entire quarterly tax liability on time in a Federal Reserve Bank or authorized commercial bank have until August 10 to file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return," the Internal Revenue Service said.

Employers should use the pre-addressed Forms 941 mailed to them by the IRS or obtain copies of the form from the nearest IRS office.

IRS Publication 15, "Circular E — Employer's Tax Guide," provides more information and is available free from local IRS offices.

Dwight L. Moody once said, "I have had more trouble with myself than with any other person I have ever met." Probably most of us could say something like that. Inwardly we experience turmoil and struggle. That is a part of what it is to be human. Some of the struggles of the inner life are difficult. But it is out of such struggle that some of the greatest things of life are born.

To be a human being is to experience inner frustration. We all have hungers, needs, desires, purposes, and many of these are fulfilled only in part or not at all. Sometimes we feel like the person who wrote, "you gave me wings to fly, then took away the sky." The apostle Paul testified to the conflict in his inner life: "I do not understand my own actions. For I do not know what I want, but I do the very thing I hate. I can will what is right, but I cannot do it. For I do not do the good I want, but the evil I do not want is what I do." (Romans 7:15, 18b, 19).

Apparently man was intended to grow through frustration and inner conflict. His conflicts are not only with realities outside himself but in his own nature. The inner life most worth seeking is one that is marked by growth through the inner battle of the spirit.

Farm

LIZ ON THE FARM — The tractor driver is Elizabeth Taylor, who was making the rounds recently on her husband John Warner's 2,000 acre farm in Virginia. "I love the farm and our life out there," says Miss Taylor in an interview. "I have the feeling it's where I began and where I'm going to end." The interview and this photo will appear in the August issue of the Ladies' Home Journal.

Safety week proclaimed

County Judge Bill Tune has proclaimed the week of July 25-31, 1977 as Farm and Ranch Safety Week in Howard County at the request of Howard County Farm Bureau. The local farm organization is coordinating activities within the county for the special safety campaign.

In his proclamation, Judge Tune said "accidents on Texas farms and ranches claim more than 200 lives each year and thousands of disabling injuries." According to recently published reports of statewide and Farm Bureau member accidental deaths, Texas farm and ranch people died during 1976 at the following rates: traffic, 95; firearms, 34; drownings, 25; tractors 21; falls, 20; fires and burns, 17; plane crashes, 15; suffocation and asphyxiation, 13; electric current, 8; struck by object, 7; machinery, 6; other vehicles and trailers, 6; explosion, 5; animal, 4; poisoning, 3; lightning, 1 and beating, 1.

Howard County recorded 2 farm-ranch deaths. Howard County Farm Bureau President Neil Fryar said, "the theme for Farm Safety Week is 'Safety Is A Good Investment.'" Agricultural producers have substantial investments in land, facilities, equipment and livestock. Too, they invest skill and a full measure of time and energy. Still, dividends are never assured. But there is one investment that always pays: safety. Usually it's a modest investment at that, and quite often it costs you nothing.

"For instance, it costs nothing to have a positive attitude toward safety, to have a home escape plan, store poisons out of the children's reach, read and follow labels and instruction manuals, train family and employed workers on the safe way of doing things, to work, drive and play in ways to minimize mishap and misery — "Safety Is A Good Investment."

Among TEA area supervisors who will assist in the meeting is Hulan Harris, Big Spring. Hotel headquarters for the conclave will be the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

Archbishop poses threat Felony theft

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A silver-haired archbishop, now touring South America to line up support against Vatican attempts to modernize the Roman Catholic Church, is posing the most serious threat of church schism in a century.

French Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre, leader of a traditionalist movement claiming followers throughout the world, has been personally admonished by Pope Paul VI in public speeches and private letters, suspended from his priestly functions and threatened with the ultimate penalty of excommunication.

Why is the Pope so worried about a 71-year-old bishop who says a 16th-century Mass now banned by the Vatican?

Those who view the church as too restrictive in its sexual codes, too conservative in its social views or too regal in its hierarchical structure often wind up "dropping out" in a kind of personal schism.

But Archbishop Lefebvre and his followers, though probably less numerous than liberal dropouts, pose a threat of formal group schism.

The attention the archbishop has attracted has helped him win a large base of support in France and Switzerland, but evidence of more widespread sympathy can be seen in the success of his trips recently to the United States, South America and Rome itself.

He has set up an international seminary in Econe, Switzerland, where he trains his own priests to preach the traditionalist line in their homelands. This led the Pope to suspend him from his priestly functions last year. Besides ordaining priests, the maverick prelate, as an archbishop, can consecrate other bishops, raising the threat of an ecclesiastical hierarchy outside Rome's. His followers might even draft Archbishop Lefebvre as an antipope. At that point, excommunication would be a mere formality and the schism would be a reality.

It was the Second Vatican Council of 1962-65 that pushed Archbishop Lefebvre into rebellion.

Initiated by the late Pope John XXIII to modernize the church, the council approved reforms in the way the church views itself, in the way it worships and in its relations with non-Catholics and the secular world.

Archbishop Lefebvre accuses the council false compromises with liberalism, modernism and communism." He extends his criticism to personal attacks on Pope Paul's leadership.

"It is not we who have entered into schism," the archbishop said in one interview. "It is the Pope who causes schism to the extent to which he breaks with the church." Pope Paul, in a personal letter to the archbishop pleading with him to reconsider his position, accused him of setting himself up as the sole judge of the true tradition of the Catholic Church.

"What is indeed at issue is the question — which must truly be called fundamental — of your proclaimed refusal to recognize, in its whole, the authority of the Second Vatican Council and that of the Pope," the letter said.

Felony theft raps dismissed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Felony theft charges against Sharon Flippen, former deputy director of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, have been dropped. Travis County Dist. Atty. Ronnie Earle says she is innocent.

"The initial investigation showed probable cause to indict, but further investigation of the entire matter has revealed to my satisfaction that Ms. Flippen is innocent of the accusations brought against her," Earle told a news conference Wednesday.

Carter, Begin agree on Mideast peace conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin are in agreement on a Mideast peace conference to be held this fall and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance will personally seek Arab participation.

Begin concluded his talks with Carter on Wednesday after proposing a peace plan that would provide for Israeli withdrawals from some former Arab lands. The two leaders also agreed to a Geneva peace conference, to be held in October, and Begin received a partially positive response to his requests for new U.S. arms.

Some Arab capitals already have rejected the Begin peace formula and Carter said he would send Secretary of State Cyrus Vance to the Middle East on Aug. 1 to try to talk Egypt, Syria and Jordan into joining the Geneva conference.

Informed sources said the United States is expected to announce it is giving Israel about $100 million to fund mass-production of the Israeli-built Chariot tank, plus armed hydrofoils for its navy and other unspecified military hardware.

Sources said Washington gave Israel no final answer on its request for permission to coproduce F16 jet planes at its aviation industries near Tel Aviv. The Israelis badly want such a deal, but the sources said that at best the United States would sell Israel about 100 F16s direct from U.S. manufacturers.

Begin disclosed the peace plan he brought to Carter, telling a news conference that it consisted of:

- Readiness to negotiate with Egypt, Jordan, Syria and possibly Lebanon for full peace treaties without preconditions. By preconditions, said Begin, he meant Egypt's demand that Israel promise, before talks begin, to vacate all captured land.
- Establishment of joint committees, each consisting of Israel and one Arab state to actually negotiate the treaties.

- Exclusion of the Palestine Liberation Organization, "whose aim is to destroy Israel," from negotiations, but to allow Palestinian delegates to join a Jordanian delegation, provided they are not PLO members.
- Readiness to negotiate on neutral ground outside Geneva, or indirectly through a U.S. mediator, if the Arabs were unable to attend Geneva without the PLO.

Begin's formula differed from that of previous Israeli governments in that he refused to say whether he would offer to trade captured Arab land for peace.

Unofficial reports here and in Jerusalem say Begin would exchange parts of the Sinai Desert and Golan Heights for peace treaties with Egypt and Syria, but would hold onto the West Bank of the Jordan River while giving its 700,000 Arab residents autonomy.

This clashes with the U.S. view that Israel must give up virtually all captured Arab land in exchange for peace. But Carter refused to restate this approach, saying the time had come "to be reticent" and allow the adversaries to negotiate among themselves.

Timberline unit, WPA project, historic landmark

GOVERNMENT CAMP, Ore. (AP) — Halfway between the equator and the north pole God raised a great mountain, a monument to nature. Upon it man raised a great edifice, a monument to creation.

The mountain, Mt. Hood, was born of volcanic fire; the edifice, Timberline Lodge, of flaming desperation.

"You couldn't replace Timberline Lodge if it were destroyed any more than you could replace Mt. Hood if it erupted again," said Charles Lake. "They say it would cost six or eight million dollars to build this lodge today but any figure is meaningless. It couldn't be built today. It is unique."

So it is, and that is one reason Timberline Lodge has been designated a national historic landmark. It is one of a kind.

Charles Lake is one of a kind too, one of a special kind whose sense of wonder at the natural magnificence around him has never dimmed. In these heights and forests, where he has lived all his 35 years, each day holds mystery and adventure.

Charles Lake, an erect, big-shouldered man, is the engineer for Timberline Lodge, the one who sees to its good repair. He does so fondly. He also doubles as assistant manager, keeping books balanced and guests happy.

Timberline Lodge was a WPA project.

When President Roosevelt established the Works

Project Administration to combat the Great Depression, hundreds of idled artisans and craftsmen climbed the slopes of Mt. Hood, built a tent city at Government Camp, and went to work.

They cut timber from the mountain's flank and pried up boulders to fashion massive walls and beams to match the massive mountain.

They built a foundry. From discarded railroad track they forged huge andirons and strap hinges and heavy hardware for heavy doors. They built looms. From discarded army uniforms and blankets they wove draperies and upholstery and they hooked rugs by hand.

Woodcarvers came. From discarded cedar telephone poles they made newel posts for the great stairway and carved in them the fauna of the mountain: owl, eagle, bear, opossum. On lofty wall panels they carved mountain scenes in relief. Other artists went to work with oils, watercolors, tiles.

Always the mountain challenged them, the awesome 11,245-foot peak looking down on their endeavors like a snowcrowned overlord.

"It inspired them," Charles Lake said. "They felt they had to equal its grandeur. If a beam wasn't just right or a joint didn't fit perfectly they made a new one. If the design didn't suit them they changed it as they went along. Their only standard was excellence."

Charles Lake aims to keep it that way. It wasn't easy. If something needs replacing, a hand-forged hinge, say, or a hand-hewn board, he regards it his bounded duty to replace it just as it was, not with some assembly-line substitute.

A volunteer group called Friends of Timberline helps out, hooking rugs, restoring furniture.

MRS. JACK Y. SMITH checks a dish in her microwave oven. Since she obtained the microwave about one and a half years ago, she has discovered it to be a valuable kitchen aid.

Mrs. Jack Y. Smith finds 'toy' economical kitchen aid

By CAROL HART
Mrs. Jack Y. (Edna Faye) Smith is now an avid supporter of microwave cooking, although her family thought the oven would prove to be "a toy" when she first obtained it.

"I've had the microwave oven about 1 1/2 years, and I'm real enthusiastic about it. I've used it constantly," she said.

Mrs. Smith can list several advantages to using the oven. Topping the list is economy. Meals can be prepared in the microwave oven in less time than a conventional oven. Energy and time are saved through this method. The microwave oven also requires no warm-up period, as do most conventional ovens.

Mrs. Smith added that the microwave oven does not heat up a kitchen the way her conventional stove does. And the microwave is quick-cleaning, as nothing ever burns and sticks to the interior. "You can wipe up spills with a dishcloth," she said.

Clean-up following meals may also be quicker. Napkins and paper plates can be placed directly in the oven when warming foods, Mrs. Smith explained.

The list of disadvantages is small, Mrs. Smith said. She said some meats will have a tendency to retain an uncooked look, with a red look on the outside. Foods left in the microwave over 30 minutes begin to brown, she added.

For foods not requiring over 30 minutes in the microwave oven, other methods, like various toppings, can give the food a brown appearance.

Mrs. Smith added that recipes calling for milk will occasionally boil over. She recommended using larger containers for recipes calling for milk.

Mrs. Smith learned to use her microwave with recipes from cookbooks designed for microwave cooking, and through recipes given to her from friends. She added that there have been several area seminars on microwave cooking, but she has not attended the events.

Mrs. Smith had several tips concerning microwave cooking. She said in many recipes, the food continues to cook internally after the oven has been shut off. She recommended letting foods stand in room temperature for a short period of time before serving. Some foods that come out of the oven will become more tenderized if left standing for a few minutes.

Different brands of microwave ovens have different features and different instructions, Mrs. Smith advised. "Each brand has a feature that another doesn't have," she said. Mrs. Smith will often rotate dishes in her oven, or stir them for better end results. Instructions with microwaves will explain the best method for the particular oven.

Concerning the reported dangers of microwave cooking, Mrs. Smith said she has never worried about them. She feels the ovens are not dangerous. "The first one came out a number of years ago. They have been tested for several years," she said.

Mrs. Smith has found that preparing meals in the microwave can be unique. "It's fun, I've enjoyed it," she said of her microwave oven.

Mrs. Smith and her husband reside at 206 Washington Blvd., and have been residents of Big Spring "about 44 years," she said.

Her husband retired about two years ago from Cosden, where he served as director of industrial relations. The two years since his retirement have been "about the nicest years we've ever had. We follow no set routine. That's the joy of being retired. We don't have to do things on schedule," she said.

Mrs. Smith is a homemaker, a vacation she has followed since her marriage. "I've never had a desire to work outside the home," she said.

Several hobbies, in addition to household duties, keep Mrs. Smith busy. She enjoys working with crevel, and does some Tole painting. "I also love to read," she added.

She is also a charter member of the Woman's Forum.

Mrs. Smith added that she and her family enjoy working with their lawn and garden. She said they spend much time planting and attending to flowers, and one spring planted 500 bulbs in their garden.

The Smith's son Steve is at home with them now, having recently graduated from West Texas State University, with a degree in business. He is working for Cosden. Their daughter, Mrs. Louis McKnight, is residing in Amarillo. Their grandchildren, Mark, 14, Melody, almost 13, and Megan, 7, plan visits during the summer with their grandparents.

One of Mrs. Smith's favorite pastimes is cooking, and she has collected a variety of recipes to prepare for her family. The oldest cookbook in her collection was published in 1928, and her newest concerns microwave menus.

Mrs. Smith said that if her family doesn't like a recipe, she throws it away. Several recipes that the family enjoys, some designed for microwave ovens, and others for conventional ovens, appear here.

Find boyfriend nearer your age

by ROBERT WALLACE, Ed.D.
Copley News Service

Dear Doctor:

I was dating a boy who is 19 and I am 15. It didn't take long for age to play an important part in our relationship because I am still in school while he is working full time.

We stopped seeing each other because of this but we still have feelings for each other. I want to start seeing him again but I don't know if this is the thing to do. Help!

L. A., Joliet, IL

Dear L. A.:

I receive many similar letters such as yours and my response is always the same. Find a boy who is closer to your own age and enjoy your school co-curricular program.

A boy out of school hinders your school social life. Also at 15 and dating a boy 19, I feel the four-year age difference is too great.

Dear Doctor:

I applied for a part-time job after school but I was told I could only work a certain number of hours because of my age.

I went to another place and the guy there told me he couldn't hire me because of a law regarding hiring minors. He didn't explain what the law was.

Can you please tell me what he was talking about?

R. T., Great Falls, MT

Dear R. T.:

You didn't state your age but, if you're 14 or 15, you can pump gas, bag groceries or clean dishes provided you don't work more than three hours on a school day or 18 hours in a school week.

If it's a non-school day, you can only work eight hours, then marinate 24 hours in the following:

1 can tomato soup
1 green pepper, sliced in rings
1 large onion, sliced
3/4 c. salad oil
1 tsp. mustard
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar
1/2 c. white vinegar
1 bay leaf.
This will keep in refrigerator indefinitely.

and no more than 40 hours in a non-school week. And you aren't permitted to work before 7 a.m. or after 7 p.m. except from June 1 to Labor Day, when the evening hours are extended to 9 p.m.

But there are exceptions to these rules. For example, you can deliver newspapers, act in television, movies, radio and theatrical productions, gather evergreens and make evergreen wreaths.

At 16 you are eligible for any job except those the secretary of labor declares hazardous. At 18 you can be hired for any job at any time for unlimited hours, whether the work is hazardous or not.

Dear Doctor:

My family has been discussing the merits of a college degree. We all agree that a college graduate should make more money than one who does not graduate.

Do you know how much more a college grad should make?

P. R., St. Paul, MN

Dear P. R.:

I assume you mean how much more does a college graduate make than a non-graduate until retirement.

A recent study done by Harvard University shows that the average college graduate working from age 25 to 65 will make $44,000 more than the non-college grad. That more than covers the cost of tuition, even to Harvard.

Remember, there are exceptions to all situations. Some presidents of corporations never attended college and some college graduates are unemployed.

Questions may be sent to Dr. Robert Wallace, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

Convenient product has long history

One of the handiest bits of convenience on the grocery shelves today is the product, dehydrated parsley flakes.

Our great-grandmothers used to dry parsley and all kinds of herbs for their own use, but it wasn't until the end of World War II that parsley flakes were dehydrated and sold commercially. California, Texas and Louisiana are the big parsley-growing states, where both the moss-curl and flat-leaved plants thrive verdantly. In the speedy dehydrating process, eight parts of fresh parsley are concentrated to one.

Parsley flakes usually are sold in larger containers than most herbs and spices says the American Spice Trade Association because they can be used freely and in a great variety of dishes.

Denim gets 'good marks'

Denim is "getting good marks" in school, on the fashion front — and worldwide, according to Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In a recent survey of college women, three-fourths said they wear denim more than half the time because of its practicality and comfort, Mrs. Culp said.

Denim production has increased two and a half times in the past decade — and it has become an American symbol worldwide, she added.

HOW TO SELECT CARPET . . . Style . . .

Just as there are furniture styles, there are also classic carpet styles. Every home has its own individual style. A home appointment is sometimes the only way you can see how actual samples will look.

COLOR . . . Color schemes express moods. They can be bright and lively, serious and conservative, formal or informal. The carpet and walls, are the two largest areas, control the color scheme of your home. The carpet is usually the leading color.

QUALITY: In any carpet there are clearly visible signposts to quality, but there are also hidden qualities your eyes never see. The more fiber a manufacturer packs into the carpet the better it will wear.

WEARABILITY: Soft, plush carpets that perform in light traffic areas like bedrooms would not be suitable in heavy traffic areas such as hallways, stairs, and entry areas.

For more information on how to select the right carpet for your home come in and talk to one of our professional salesmen.

Why Did Bowler Go for Massage?

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently confessed to me that he and some of his friends went to a massage parlor after bowling one night. He swore he had never done anything like that before and he doesn't plan to do it again. I forgave him, but I can't help feeling betrayed. Abby, he is the last man on earth I would ever suspect of doing such a thing. We have a very satisfying sex life, and my husband has always been a very religious, churchgoing man. What makes a happily married, religious man go to a place like that?

HURT WIFE

DEAR HURT: Curiosity. Lust. An itch for variety. The fear of missing something. Wanting to be "one of the boys." Being too chicken to refuse when one of his pals suggested it. Temporary insanity. I don't know which of the above applies to your husband, but I'll wager one of them does.

DEAR ABBY: I am 30 years old and in love with a man 29. We are talking about getting married, but we disagree on one important point. He wants children and I don't. Since the death of my first husband, five years ago, I am more convinced than ever that I do not want children because they will infringe on my freedom. I don't want to share my husband's time with anyone else. The world's problems—crime, violence, famine, disease, pollution and the threat of overpopulation—are more than just a theory. Besides, I'm afraid that I am so set in my ways now I will not have the patience to raise a child properly. I would appreciate your opinion.

NO CHILDREN

DEAR NO: I agree, you shouldn't have children, but for probably the most important reason of all. You don't really want any.

New drug helps sufferers

There is a new medication in tablet form to lower elevated blood cholesterol levels when diet is not sufficient. The new drug, known generically as probucol, has been trademarked Lorelco (an acronym for lowers elevated serum cholesterol). According to the medical director for Dow Pharmaceuticals, Dow Chemical USA, in Indianapolis, the company that is making the drug available, Lorelco exhibited a low incidence of side effects in clinical trials over a period of eight years. The chemical structure of the new medication is described as different from other agents used to control cholesterol. The tablets are taken with breakfast and the evening meal. The fact that the drug is convenient to take and is palatable is expected to help patients in following the cholesterol reducing program prescribed by their doctor.

Action taken by federal government

New product labels being sought

By the Associated Press
The federal government is trying to take some of the guesswork out of shopping by encouraging manufacturers to provide labels telling consumers everything from how well a product performs to how much noise it makes. Most of the programs are still in their infancy, but officials said efforts will be made to avoid overlapping labels and duplication of information. The latest move is a Commerce Department program on performance. The program, which is strictly voluntary on the part of the manufacturers, is designed to give information on such things as load capacity, strength and durability so shoppers are better able to compare competing models and brands of appliances and other products. The data will be provided by manufacturers on the basis of tests developed by the Commerce Department's National Bureau of Standards. The government itself will not do the actual testing. Other federal programs in the area of product information include a proposal by the Environmental Protection Agency for noise labels and efforts by the Federal Energy Administration to help shoppers learn about operating costs and energy consumption of appliances. Thus far, the performance labeling project is limited to a one-year pilot program which began June 24. The first step, according to officials, is to decide which products should be labeled and both consumers and manufacturers have been asked for suggestions. The government hopes to develop labels for between one and three products in the first year. At the end of the 12-month period, the results will be evaluated so officials can decide whether to continue the program. Robert Mills of the Office of Product Standards said last week that the office was still collecting comments, but hoped to have recommendations ready for Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps within a few weeks. "He would then publish proposed labels and proposed fees," Mills said. The labels will include a Department of Commerce logo. Mills said there already were indications of interest from some manufacturers. He said fees for use of the labels had not been set, but added, "We're talking like a 10th of a 10th per cent of the price of the retail product."

Department of Commerce were supposed to do.

Warning: Cigarettes may kill you

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warning to smokers: Cigarettes may kill you.

Warning to women: Prolonged use of estrogen, a sex hormone, may increase your risk of cancer.

Warning to food makers: Watch what you say about your low-calorie foods, and how you say it.

In separate announcements Wednesday, the federal government moved to give you protection and more information about products you use every day:

—The Federal Trade Commission asked Congress to approve a new warning label for cigarette packs. The agency says the old warning that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health understates the hazard.

—The Food and Drug Administration ordered manufacturers of estrogen to provide to every user of the hormone a brochure warning that prolonged use increases the risk of cancer of the uterus. The brochure also says there may be a relationship between the drug, used to treat menopausal problems, and other types of cancer.

—And the FDA proposed new rules on what foods can claim to be low calorie and restricting advertising that makes such claims.

In its annual report to Congress for 1976, the FTC asked lawmakers to consider two possible new warnings to replace the one used on cigarette packages since 1970.

“Warning: Cigarette Smoking is dangerous to Health, and May Cause Death from Cancer, Coronary Heart Disease, Chronic Bronchitis, Pulmonary Emphysema and Other Diseases,” was one alternative.

The second was: “Warning: Cigarette Smoking is a Major Health Hazard and May Result in Your Death.”

The FTC also proposed that all cigarette packages and advertising contain information on tar and nicotine content.

In addition, it recommended that packages of small cigars include warnings that they also may pose health hazards “if smoked in the same quantities” as cigarettes and “if the smoke is inhaled.”

In announcing the brochures for users of estrogen, the FDA said it wants the warnings printed in common language, so everyone can understand them. Distribution must start by Sept. 21.

Estrogen prescription drugs are used by about three million women to treat menopausal and postmenopausal symptoms. The agency said women using the drugs for a year or longer are multiplying their risk of uterine cancer by five to 10 times.

The agency proposed ordering a similar warning brochure for the hormone progestin, used primarily by women with menstrual problems.

In proposing strict rules on what foods can claim to be low calorie and recommending advertising restrictions, the FDA said it wanted to let weight-conscious consumers know which foods “may particularly help them attain and maintain their proper weight within a balanced and nutritious diet program.”

Under the regulations, a food may claim to be low in calories only if a single serving contains no more than 40 calories, and a gram contains no more than four tenths of 1 per cent calories.

JAWORSKI MEETS WITH PRESS — Houston lawyer and former Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski meets with the press Wednesday afternoon in Houston after agreeing to his selection as chief investigator for the House Ethics Committee. The committee is investigating the Korean influenced buying scandal in Washington.

Jaworski discloses vow

HOUSTON (AP)—Leon Jaworski, the former Watergate special prosecutor, says he has accepted the job as chief investigator of the South Korean influence-buying scandals because he had been promised “the ability to go all the way no matter who it may hurt, how it may hurt, or what cause it may hurt.”

Jaworski told a Wednesday news conference, “I have never had more complete assurance that I would have a free hand. I also want to tell you this is going to be placed in writing in a resolution.”

The Houston attorney said he had been promised twice in the past two days by House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., and House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Tex., “full sway in the investigation.”

The payoff scandal arose from allegations that several congressmen received financial payments from Tongsun Park, a South Korean businessman who has been accused of being a lobbyist for his country.

Jaworski, in private practice since Watergate, said, “If there is the slightest effort to suppress the investigation, I would not only go to the leadership of Congress, I would go to the public. I don't think it is the leadership of Congress that controls this. What controlled Watergate was the public reaction.”

Although he will be briefed by aides during the next few days, Jaworski said he plans to begin his probe Aug. 15.

Asked to compare the South Korean scandal to Watergate, Jaworski said, “It is still a matter of searching out the facts. I have no idea what is behind all of this. But when I went into Watergate I didn't know what was behind it. I had no idea former President Nixon was so involved.

“But this is not the point. The point is to find what the truth is, a search for truth and if it wasn't for that, I wouldn't be coming out of the woodwork, so to speak.”

Although he is becoming a special prosecutor for the second time in recent years, Jaworski said, “I have never been one to favor the idea of a special prosecutor. I think it can be overdone. If I thought it was a place for a special prosecutor, I would say so. But, I believe it should be an unusual situation.”

Jaworski said the lack of a grand jury may make it difficult to get some information, but added, “I think I will get what I want.”

He said friends had said the same thing now as they said before Watergate: “How foolish can you be.”

“They say to me, ‘you came out smelling like a rose on Watergate. Now you are going into this. You never know how it is going to turn out.’”

Jaworski said, “That's not the criteria. The thing is finding the truth so the American people can know and then let them make their own judgment.”

Kyle examines Dorsett

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Kyle Dorsett and Aaron Kyle seem to have a lot in common — both are No. 1 draft picks of the Dallas Cowboys, both are small in stature and can outrun almost everybody.

But while the media dog Dorsett's every step at the Dallas training camp this summer following his signing of a $1 million contract, Kyle remembers that he was in a fish bowl only briefly last season.

"If I had all the attention Tony has, I'm not sure I could have handled it," Kyle said this week. "It would have bothered me a lot more than it seems to be bothering him."

When Kyle came out of Wyoming last year, the first cornerback the Cowboys had ever taken in the first round, instant stardom was predicted. But he did not start and Coach Tom Landry admitted he did not progress as well as hoped.

"Sometimes when a defensive back first starts playing pro football, he doesn't have the knack," Landry said. "Anticipation is what it really comes down to. You must learn to anticipate what receivers will do. When Aaron does this, he'll be fine because he has the speed and aggressiveness to be a top cornerback."

Landry continued, "He looks a lot better this year. The time he's spent here this year has been very beneficial to him."

Kyle says he feels sorry for the rookies in the Cowboy camp because "I know what they're going through. I just tell them to take it easy, that things will come to them sooner or later."

"Things are as different as night and day to me this year. I don't feel nearly as much pressure because I know what's going on, what I'm supposed to do. I'm not nearly as tense and with the added knowledge, I have a lot more confidence."

Kyle said he was disappointed that he didn't start last season, "but Benny Barnes came on and had his best year (at cornerback) and Mark Washington and Mel Renfro are outstanding cornerbacks, too, so it was nothing to be ashamed of."

Heisman guys showcase today

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — A routine rookie scrimmage between the Dallas Cowboys and San Diego Chargers was to become a Heisman Trophy showcase today.

Heisman winners Tony Dorsett of the Cowboys and Johnny Rodgers of the Chargers were making their first appearance in National Football League uniforms in the scrimmage on the campus of the University of California-Irvine.

A few young veterans as well as rookies will participate in the scrimmage.

Dorsett won college football's most prestigious award after last season when he led Pittsburgh to a national championship.

Rodgers won the Heisman Trophy at Nebraska after the 1971 football season, but this year will be his first in the National Football League after a stint in the Canadian Football League.

Also appearing in the scrimmage will be Joe Washington, former Oklahoma running back who missed all of last year with a preseason knee injury. Washington was second to Archie Griffin in Heisman voting two years ago.

Another name from the past who will participate in the scrimmage is former Dallas Cowboy backup quarterback Clint Longley, who will share San Diego signal calling duties with former Baylor star Neal Jeffrey and Mike Ernst.

Longley was traded to San Diego last year after he punched Cowboy veteran quarterback Roger Staubach in a locker room incident.

TONY DORSETT AND FRIEND Preparing to blow his own horn as Cowboy

Overlookees looking at pennant

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox, overlooked in preseason pennant predictions, will attempt to keep fooling the experts when the American League division races resumed today.

"I don't see anybody running off and hiding in either division," said Chicago Manager Bob Lemon whose White Sox led the defending champion Kansas City Royals by 2½ games in the AL West, with the Minnesota Twins five games behind.

Third baseman George Brett of the Royals, for one, doesn't think the White Sox can hold on.

"I'd have to say we're favored even though we're 2½ games back," said Brett, buoyed by a six-game winning streak which the Royals hoped to continue now that the All-Star break was over.

"I'd have to say we're coming. We've come a long way since the start of the season and we're playing the best baseball we have all year. It seems like when the trading deadline passed last month we started playing better."

"It was like we were waiting for the club to make some kind of move, and when they didn't, we realized we'd have to sink or swim with the players we had and we decided to all swim together."

Pitching apparently will be the decisive factor, in both the AL West and in the East, where the Orioles led the Boston Red Sox by one-half game and the New York Yankees by three games. "Whoever gets the pitching will win," said Lemon, a Hall of Fame pitcher.

"No one in the West has had outstanding pitching," added Chicago outfielder Richie Zisk. "You can't expect us or Kansas City or Minnesota to go out and keep

Lasorda wants to 'maintain'

NEW YORK (AP) — Having disposed of the American League in another All-Star Game, all the National League stars get back today to the more important business of settling the divisional races.

"Nobody knows what the future holds," said Los Angeles Dodgers Manager Tom Lasorda. But if the last 70 games are anything like the first 92, Lasorda won't have any complaints. In the only major league race that isn't close, the Dodgers hold a commanding 9½-game lead over the two-time world champion Cincinnati Reds in the National League West.

"I'm hoping we can maintain it, but there's still a long way to go," said Lasorda, who has seen previous Dodgers' teams succumb to the persistent patter of Cincinnati footsteps.

Since their blazing 22-4 start, however, the Dodgers have been merely a 37-29 team, a .561 pace. "We haven't hit recently and I've been unable to give Steve Garvey, Ron Cey, Bill Russell and Dusty Baker a rest due to the fact that some of our other guys have been hurt," Lasorda noted.

"I figure that if they play 600, we've got to play over 700," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. "We've got to play like heck. I think we have to win 50 of our 73 games, and that's not an easy chore when you're only 48-41. We're capable of it, but I think that they're going to have to stagger a little for us to catch them."

Despite the recent addition of Tom Seaver, the Reds' pitching has to be the biggest disappointment, Anderson said.

In the NL East, the lead of the surprising Chicago Cubs has dwindled from 8½ to two games over defending champion Philadelphia in the last few weeks.

"We haven't been playing too good," admitted pitcher Rick Reuschel, one of the NL's top winners with 12 victories. "But we're still in first place and that's a pretty good indication that if we can ride through this slump we should be okay."

Jackson denies assault

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives who investigated an incident involving Reggie Jackson have decided not to file assault charges, but the New York Yankee outfielder still is not in the clear.

A 13-year-old claims Jackson chased him and stomped on his wrist in the players' parking lot following the All-Star Game Tuesday night. The youth's mother says she is seeking legal advice before deciding whether to file a summons against Jackson.

"For someone to say I kicked him in the ass, I never reached him. The kid fell down. As he did, Scotty (George Scott of the Boston Red Sox) reached me, put his hand on me, and said: 'Let's go back to the car.'"

Chris Howe, a high school freshman, says Jackson mistakenly thought he had made an abusive remark. "He started running after me," the New York City youth said. "I tripped and he stomped on my hand. I said, 'Reggie, I said nothing to you.'"

Jackson had been standing near his car signing autographs for 15 or 20 minutes when some of the youngsters around him apparently became abusive.

"They began saying things about me and my family and my girlfriend," Jackson said. "I didn't mind taking it for myself, but when they involve my family and my girlfriend, that was enough. Then when this kid made that remark about my mother, I couldn't take it."

SLIDING INTO HOME — National Little League All-Star Pete Valenzuela is seen here tearing into home plate during Monday night's opening round win over Midland Eastern 6-3. Wednesday night, the local National All-Stars fell to Midland Central by the same score.

Local LL Nationals eliminated

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

The Big Spring National League All-Stars appeared as if they were going to blow the Midland Central Stars out of the park Wednesday night.

Three walks, a fielder's choice, hit batter and power homer by Pete Valenzuela had the locals sporting a 3-0 lead after the first frame. The evening looked like a long one for the visitors. However, Midland Central exploded in the fourth inning to add four runs to two others, and the Big Spring nine didn't scratch after the initial inning. That adds up to 6-3, good guys on the "L" side.

Besides Valenzuela's round-tipper, the only other hits for the Nationals included two singles, one each by Rod Harris and Loy White.

The locals had only one strike-out as a team, but they left nine of their number stranded on the bags. Shortstop to first baseman combos, and robbing play by the Midland outfielders throttled the Big Spring cause.

Mound-ace Tommy Gutierrez started brilliantly for the locals, but fell into the tarps in the fourth and had to be relieved by Scott Eggleston, who was subsequently relieved by Robert Hunter in that same disastrous frame.

Byron Campbell started the game from the hill for Midland, but was relieved early by capable Tommy Davis, who posted the win. Hitting for the Midland Central Stars were Barry Blackwell, with a single and double, and Tim Davis (double), and Walter Paul Miller (single).

In Wednesday night's other contest, Midland North Central came from behind to edge Midland Southern 7-6. Midland Central and Midland North Central will meet in a semi-final game Friday night at 8 p.m. on the National League diamond.

Mike Mercurio grabbed the win for North Central, and John Couarrubias took the loss. Garnering hits for the victors were Pat Reese, Mike Mercurio, Russell Denver, Jay Ramsey, Todd Brown and David Hicks (2).

Hitting safely for Midland Southern were Manuel Hinojos, John Couarrubias, Daniel Morgan, Keith Culp, Albert Reed and Terry Hunter.

Tonight, Midland Tower meets Lamesa at 8 o'clock on the American League field, while Midland Northern and the only remaining local team, the American All-Stars, crash heads on the National League diamond, also at 8 o'clock.

The winners of those two games will meet Friday in the other semi-final game.

THROUGH the fieldglasses

By Danny Reagan

Little Leaguers--big hearts

I'm sorry, but I'm still a kid when it comes to baseball, especially playoff contests. Noting quite compares with the taste of a banana snowcone, unless of course it's a rainbow snowcone. And don't forget the hot dogs and snowcone seeds.

Put them all together, they spell mother, apple pie, home and LITTLE LEAGUE.

Counting tonight, there are three more evenings of District III playoff action remaining in the city. Man, what a relief from reruns, spending a lot of money and the mid-July blazes that set in after vacation.

If you keep your ears open, (avoiding the flying seed hulls that fill the air), you can pick up quite a lot at a Little League game.

In a scoop that is personally satisfying to me, I can now report that there will be onions on the chili dogs at next year's Little League concession stands.

When that rumor was brought up and immediately confirmed by a very prominent source sitting next to me, a small ripple of applause filled the air. "Little sisters do love the big brothers, contrary to popular belief. More than one pint-size fem booster was exhorting her older kin to 'hit a grounder Tommy', or 'get a foul ball!'"

Enthusiasm was the key word at Wednesday night's game between the Big Spring National All-Stars and Midland.

"Give me the limit!" shortcake Kimberly Hobbs told the concessionaire, handing him a dime for some bubblegum.

"Hecainhit! Hecainhit!" the players chattered.

High school baseball (especially last season) and major league games are of course exciting to watch, but the enthusiasm of the players seems to be the fullest at the younger age.

"They may not have won," said a favorite spotter of mine, of the local team, "but they looked like they wanted to win more."

The kids are worth seeing. They play their hearts out and the business they are about on the field is as serious to them as yours is to you.

And you don't have to have one of your own out there playing to get involved in the game. The only kid I have is still in the twinkle of my wife's eye, but the game is still entertaining to watch.

And if you go, don't forget a quarter or two to place in the collection coffee cans. The local Little League district needs your financial support as well. But it's worth it. Remember, I want those onions next season.

Oilers get Garrison

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Oilers today claimed Gary Garrison, 10-year wide receiver veteran who was placed on waivers by the San Diego Chargers.

Pat Pepper, Oiler assistant general manager, said he is optimistic Garrison will report to Houston although he also now has an option of becoming a free agent.

The Oilers also announced George Reihner, a second round draft choice and an offensive guard from Penn State, has verbally agreed to a contract and is en route to the Oiler training camp at Nacogdoches, Tex., to finish negotiations.

Midland Cubs gain first shut-out 2-0

By the Associated Press

The Midland Cubs ended a season-long search for a shutout in the Texas League Wednesday night and in the process got a double dose of fine pitching.

Darrell Turner hurled a five-hitter as Midland beat Shreveport 6-3 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Cubs then finally got their first shutout of the season in the second game, winning 2-0 as Jeff Albert hurled a second five-hitter.

In other games, East leader Arkansas topped West pacesetter El Paso 6-3, San Antonio moved within 1 1/2 games of El Paso with a 1-0 triumph over Jackson and Tulsa nipped Amarillo 3-2 in 12 innings.

Joe Hernandez hit a two-run homer in the first game for the Cubs while Steve Davis and Jay Buckner added solo shots in the second game.

San Antonio's Charlie Meyers led off the seventh inning with a homer for the Dodgers and that was all starter Bob Welch needed. He allowed only three hits in seven innings before reliever Dan Smith finished off Jackson with two hits in the ninth.

Danny Darwin pitched all 12 innings in Tulsa's victory over Amarillo, allowing only eight hits. The winning run for the Drillers scored when Billy Sample walked and went home on Dan Duran's double.

John Young knuckered in three runs on a fielder's choice, a double and a single to lead Arkansas over El Paso.

first-round pro football draft pick of the Kansas City Chiefs, signed a series of one-year agreements with the Chiefs early today.

The early morning signing of Green brought all the National Football League club's draft selections under contract with the exception of Eric Harris, who is playing in the Canadian Football League.

"The fact that we have Gary signed and were able to do so without him missing any workouts is certainly a good feeling for me and I know it is for Gary as well," said Chiefs General Manager Jim Schaaf, who concluded negotiations early today with Green's lawyer, Thomas Vaughn.

Green reported last week that he and the Chiefs were about $25,000 apart on a contract. Terms of the five one-year contracts he signed today were not disclosed.

He arrived in the Chiefs' training camp at Liberty Monday night and signed just in time to participate in the club's first workouts today with about 60 other players. Veterans are due in camp Friday, but more than 20 have already reported.

The All-America defensive player figures in Kansas City's defensive secondary as the likely successor to the retired Kerry Reardon at left cornerback. The Chiefs said he would also see duty on the punt return unit.

Spurs sign first choice

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs have announced the signing of second round pick Jeff Wilkins, their first choice in the recent pro draft.

Wilkins, a seven-foot center who specialized in blocked shots at Illinois State during his collegiate career, signed the "make-good" contract with the Spurs Wednesday.

The 37th pick overall in the pro draft, Wilkins is the highest draft choice ever signed by the franchise, which started as the Dallas Chaparrals in 1967.

The "Big Dipper" led Illinois State last year with 631 points, an average of 21.8 per game.

He blocked 103 shots and averaged 11.1 rebounds.

"I want to play in San Antonio as long as I can," Wilkins said. "Coach (Doug) Moe told me I wouldn't be starting, but I know that (Billy) Paultz is going to need a rest."

The Spurs also signed Dan Henderson, a 6-7 forward from Arkansas State, their second pick; Richard Robinson, a guard from New Mexico State, San Antonio's seventh round pick; and Jerome Gladney, a 6-8 forward from Arizona, an eighth round choice.

TEARING UP THE COURSE — Jack Nicklaus sends the turf flying as he hits a fairway shot during Wednesday's practice round at Glen Abbey golf course in Oakville. Nicklaus designed the course, scene of the 1977 Canadian Open which starts Thursday. The Canadian Open is the only major national championship he has failed to win in 15 seasons on the PGA tour.

Pate, Nicklaus are favored in Canadian

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Don't ask Jerry Pate about his neck injury.

"I'm sick of hearing about it," Pate said. "The problem is solved."

Pate, defending champion in the $225,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship that began today, was sidelined for a couple of months with back, hand and arm trouble that eventually was diagnosed as a pinched nerve in his neck.

"I'm tired of people asking me if I can ever come back," he said.

"Look, I had the best record as a rookie in a long time. I won the first tournament of the year this year. "I'm only 23. "Does that sound like I'm over the hill?"

The fact remains, however, that he has earned only $144 since his victory in the Phoenix Open that kicked off the lucrative 1977 golf tour.

Pate, who scored his first pro victory in the U.S. Open last year, capped his rookie season with the title in this national championship, compiling probably the finest first-year record since Jack Nicklaus in 1962.

His Phoenix triumph proved he was one of golf's best young players. Then the injury problems occurred.

"I'd like to win again, get in the World Series," he said.

And, as the defending titleholder, he was among the favorites in the field of 156 chasing the $45,000 first prize over the new, permanent site for this national championship, the 7,129-yard, par-72 Glen Abbey Golf Club course.

The course designer ranked as the man to beat, however, that's Jack Nicklaus, who was commissioned by the sponsoring Royal Canadian Golf Association to design the course in suburban Toronto.

Nicklaus, who has yet to win this tournament, has three victories this year and second-place finishes in his last two starts.

Ali fight nearing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Muhammad Ali-Earnie Shavers heavyweight title fight that had been faced with legal technicalities the past few months has taken a step toward becoming a reality.

It was announced Wednesday that Ali would defend his championship against the fifth-ranked challenger in a scheduled 15-round bout Sept. 29 at Madison Square Garden, to be shown on home television by NBC.

Shavers, who has a 54-5-1 record with 52 knockouts, had signed May 16 via telegram to fight Ali at the Garden for an estimated $200,000. He later signed with Top Rank Inc., for $300,000 for the same bout.

Subsequent litigation in New York Federal court ensued.

In a recent decision, Justice Robert Owen ruled that the Garden had a legal contract by virtue of the telegram. However, at the same time, the Garden agreed to increase Shavers' purse by $100,000.

Garden spokesman John F.X. Condon said Wednesday, "At the moment we are clear of law suits and we can see legal daylight for the first time in many months. It's been a lot of blood, sweat and tears, but we finally got it."

Bob Arum, chairman of Top Rank Inc. doesn't agree.

"As far as we're concerned, nothing is set. The matter will be settled in New York State Supreme Court," Arum said.

Knicks, Nets still at it

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Association will settle their territorial dispute in a New York court, not in New Jersey as the Nets wanted, a federal judge in Newark has ruled.

U.S. District Court Judge

H. Curtis Meador agreed Wednesday to move the suit to the Southern District of New York after several days of legal wrangling before Judge Vincent Binno.

Binno, who ordered the Knicks not to initiate court action in New York or anywhere else, withdrew from the case Tuesday, turning it over to Meador.

The Knicks, however, ignored the order and filed a claim with U.S. District Court Judge Robert L. Carter in New York last week seeking to uphold an indemnification agreement between the teams under which the Nets agreed to give the Knicks territorial rights in New Jersey and $4 million.

The agreement was part of a deal permitting the Nets to join the NBA when the American Basketball Association folded after the 1975-76 season.

Carter presided over all the court cases involving the merger of the leagues. The judge said last week he believed he had jurisdiction and Meador would send him the case.

Nets owner Roy Boe wants his team to play in the new Rutgers University Athletic Center in Piscataway, N.J., next season and until a basketball arena is built at the Meadowlands Sports Complex in East Rutherford, N.J.

The Knicks say their agreement with the Nets clearly gives them control of New Jersey and prohibits the Nets from moving there without their permission.

Sutter hurt

CHICAGO (AP) — Bruce Sutter, the Chicago Cubs' relief ace who leads the National League with 25 saves, may be sidelined for 10 days because of a back injury.

A club spokesman said Sutter, who missed Tuesday night's All-Star game because of the injury, was examined Wednesday by team physician Dr. Jacob Suker. The injury was diagnosed as a hemorrhaged muscle in the right-hand side of his back, the spokesman said.

Although the injury is painful when Sutter lifts his pitching arm, Suker said the injury does not involve shoulder muscles used in pitching.

BSGA holds tournament this Sunday

The Big Spring Golf Association is holding its sixth tournament of the season this Sunday at Comanche Trail Golf Course.

The Louisiana Draw event will tee off at 1:30 p.m., with a noon entry deadline, and a 12:30 fee deadline. Entry fee is $3, and merchandise prizes will depend on the number of entries.

Hall, Gonzales, Harris and Dudley are committee members for the tourney.

A&I tops in NFL?

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&I, the national small college football champion the last two years, has more representation in the National Football League than most major colleges.

Ten former Javelinas are veteran NFL players and another four rookies are in training camp this week.

The rookies are fullback George Franklin and offensive lineman Paul Rich, both with the St. Louis Cardinals; Dan St. Leger, center with Buffalo; and Larry McFarland, offensive tackle with San Francisco.

The Jav veterans in NFL camps are fullback Don Hardeman with Houston, defensive back Dwight Harrison with Buffalo, tight end David Hill, defensive lineman Ernest Price and safety Levi Johnson with Detroit, quarterback Randy Johnson with Green Bay, defensive back Alvin Mathews with Seattle, defensive back Eldridge Small with the New York Jets, wide receiver Jerrald Taylor with Los Angeles and offensive guard Eugene Upshaw with Oakland.

Sri Lanka campaign marked by violence

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — This island nation's voters, in the habit of rejecting incumbent politicians, chose today between their woman prime minister and an opposition leader who favors a "grand coalition" government to fight the country's economic problems.

About 6.6 million citizens were eligible to vote in Sri Lanka's first national election in seven years. All 168 seats of the unicameral parliament were at stake.

Sirimavo Bandaranaike, the world's only incumbent woman head of government, has been prime minister since 1970, leading a leftist coalition. But political analysts said her Sri Lanka Freedom party might lose its parliamentary plurality in today's balloting.

The six-week campaign was marked by violence.

Police reported that at least 10 persons were killed and about 90 injured in election-related incidents.

The chief opposition leader, Junius R. Jayewardene of the United National party, said Wednesday that as prime minister he would invite all other parties to join his cabinet, a move that would end the traditional see-saw of politics on this island, the former Ceylon, off India's southern tip.

Since independence in 1948 the United National party and the Freedom party have ruled alternately for 14 and 15 years, respectively.

In campaigning for reelection, Mrs. Bandaranaike, 61, hoped to avoid the fate of two other prominent incumbents in the Indian subcontinent this year.

Mrs. Bandaranaike, an avowed socialist, is the widow of former Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike, who was assassinated in 1959.

CHARLIE'S ANGELS — Emma Hudspeth (sitting) and Ada Tunsted are part of the senior citizen crime fighting squad in Issaquah, Wash. The duo, who sign off on their two-way police radio as "Charlie's Angels," patrol homes left vacant by vacationing owners.

Train suit overdue?

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An official of a group that promotes better rail passenger service says Amtrak's threat to sue the Missouri Pacific Railroad over its handling of an Amtrak train is "long overdue."

Amtrak told The Associated Press that it was considering legal action against MoPac, which operates the Inter-American train on most of its trip through Texas, Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois. It has been so late that between March 2 and July 2, one out of four northbound trips ended in St. Louis and passengers were bused the last 300 miles to Chicago.

"They (MoPac) are simply in direct violation of federal law in repeatedly sidetracking it for freights," said Dan Monaghan, of Dallas, a member of the board of the National Association of Railroad Passengers. "I know the last time I rode it, I counted seven sidetrackings between here (Dallas) and Little Rock."

Amtrak says MoPac has one of the worst on-time records for any of the 18 private railroads that operate Amtrak trains, and that when MoPac trains are late, they are twice as late as the national average. The Inter-American was late 92.3 per cent of the time in April, and Amtrak says freight train interference was the leading cause of delays.

The federal law which created Amtrak in 1971 and allowed railroads to turn over their unprofitable passenger business to the government, says "intercity passenger trains... shall be accorded preference over freight trains..." Amtrak says.

Monaghan said he thinks Amtrak will present evidence "that points up the fact that they (MoPac) are violating federal law."

Local youth at YCC camp

SAN ANGELO — Michelle Couvillim, Big Spring, is among approximately 100 young men and women from across Texas who are spending eight weeks of their summer participating in the Youth Conservation Corps at Angelo State University in San Angelo.

The YCC program provides summer jobs and an educational experience to youths aged 15-18.

Angelo State University has contracted with the Department of the Interior of the federal government to conduct the YCC camp, providing the room and board and programmed work and free time activities.

The young people are working around San Angelo area lakes, erecting barricades, concrete shade covers, barbecue pits and other projects. While they are involved in the outdoor projects the camp participants spend about 25 per cent of their time in ecology studies.

As part of their ecology studies, the young people will take trips to Big Bend National Park, Padre Island, and the Caverns of Sonora.

In their free time, the participants will be able to make use of university facilities including the swimming pool and the Houston Harte University Center. Fiestal del Concho also was on their agenda.

Government computers bilking possible

ARNOLD'S
Come walk thru our
"Wonderful world of Carpets"
1307 Gregg Ph. 267-6851

WASHINGTON (AP) — Security for a nationwide

communications system linked to government computers is so poor that a private insurance company could file false claims for federal welfare checks and go undetected, federal auditors say.

Thirty-three federal agencies have 2,190 terminals on the Advanced Record System, which auditors from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said has serious weaknesses.

"Security procedures and controls over data transmitted through the ARS network need to be strengthened to prevent use of the system for unauthorized purposes," an auditor said.

The communications system, run by the General Services Administration, receives messages from agencies' terminals and sends them to their proper designations.

For instance, a claim for Supplemental Security

Income, federal welfare for the aged, is filed at a local Social Security office. The request for payment would be typed on a terminal and transmitted to the computer system, which in turn would send it to the Social Security computer in Baltimore.

But the system cannot tell which terminal is sending a message. A deliberate attempt to disguise a terminal's identity can succeed.

The auditors used a terminal in Washington, but not a Social Security terminal, to test the system with requests for Supplemental Security Income claims directed at the main Social Security computer.

"We found that the SSA computer rejected the messages when the sending terminal's (codes) were used. However, when the (codes) of an SSA field office were used, the message was accepted and the claim was established and processed for payment," the auditors said.

The audit, released by Reps. John Moss, D-Calif., and Charles Röss, D-N.C., did not say fraudulent claims had been entered in this manner, only that it could be done.

Appointments made by RRC

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Bob R. Harris, a veteran of 22 years with the Texas Railroad Commission, has been named acting chief engineer of the agency's oil and gas division.

He fills a vacancy created by the retirement of Arthur Barbeck.

Also announced was the appointment of Billy Thomas, also a 22-year veteran of commission service, as acting director of technical hearings.

Harris, 56, has served as director of research and inspection since the oil and gas division was reorganized in 1963.

Thomas, 54, is a senior staff geologist.

agency admitted its procedures are not foolproof.

The Social Security Administration said in response to the audit that its procedures should prevent issuance of checks based on such false entries. But the

The agency is the largest user of the system, employing about 1,200 terminals for Social Security, SSI, Medicare and other programs.

Some private insurance companies which help administer Medicare at the state level have terminals hooked to the system.

The Social Security Administration said it is trying to plug the holes in the system.

Rare guns burglary

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP) — The Buffalo Bill Historical Center in Cody, Wyo., recently made a first-ever loan of a large antique gun collection to a museum here. It might be a long time — if ever — before it is loaned again.

The collection, said by historians to be priceless, was discovered missing from the Nave Museum Wednesday.

Officers said the museum had been burglarized sometime between Sunday night and Wednesday morning because the museum had been closed since Sunday night.

Insured value of the collection was estimated at $60,000. The guns—including a U.S. Harper's Ferry 1803 model rifle, one of only two known to exist—were to have been moved to the Witte Museum in San Antonio in mid-August on a nationwide tour.

Included in the collection were nine flintlock rifles, 15 percussion Civil War period guns, 16 early cartridge guns and 18 western guns of the 1875-1900 era. Out of the collection, 17 were pistol and 41 were shoulder arms according to museum officials.

Police and museum officials said another rare gun in the collection was a first model Colt-Patterson revolving cylinder rifle, one of only about 200 manufactured.

Many of the other weapons were priceless as far as historical value is concerned, museum officials said.

The burglars entered through a window, officers said. A cleanup crew discovered the burglary early Wednesday.

Adult book stores look

HOUSTON (AP) — Twenty-five persons, including employees of adult book stores, have been subpoenaed to testify before a grand jury today, according to Harris County Asst. Dist. Atty. Bob Shultz.

Shultz declined to comment on the nature of the evidence he will take to the grand jury, but indicated it concerns the operation of adult book stores in the area.

"This is part of our ongoing investigation of pornography that has picked up a great deal of general interest since the Houston Post stories on the matter this past weekend," Shultz said.

The Post printed a series of articles dealing with child pornography in the Houston area.

Shultz said publicity about pornography and vice problems is useful in that the reaction to it serves as a yardstick in measuring community standards.

Shultz said his office is criticized for charging book store clerks and not the owners.

"Well, the clerks are the easiest to get," he said. "You need a few of those convictions before you can determine what the community will accept."

"It's a real gamble to go after a bookstore owner only to find that the community has no objection to the material that's being sold," Shultz said.

The attorney said present state law makes it difficult to convict a pornographer with anything more than a misdemeanor charge.

"If we find a guy with 75,000 genuinely obscene movies all we can get him on is a Class B misdemeanor," Shultz said. "Even people with films involving children in sex acts can only be prosecuted if you can prove that they knew these were children."

Shotputter no legal eagle

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Olympic shotputter Brian Oldfield did not understand the legal proceedings against him when he was convicted and fined a total of $600 on a simple assault charge here Monday, according to his lawyer.

Lawyer Allen Rountree said Wednesday Oldfield was "totally unaware of what was happening" in municipal court when he was found guilty and fined $200 on each of three charges resulting from a weekend incident at a Galveston night club.

Rountree said he is considering appealing the case although Oldfield has paid the fines.

Municipal Judge Tom Youngblood said testimony showed the 6-5, 280-pound Oldfield had slapped the night club manager after being told he could not enter the premises wearing athletic shoes.

Youngblood said Oldfield was also found guilty of assaulting two policemen.

Police reports indicated that one of the officers struck Oldfield with a baton.

Oldfield laughed and said "that didn't even hurt," according to the reports. The report also said the officer then drew his gun and Oldfield asked "You going to shoot the nation's shotput record holder?"

VIGIL OVER HANCOCK'S PANE - Security guard keeps his eyes peeled for cracked glass at Boston's 60-story John Hancock Tower Wednesday. All 10,344 panes were replaced with stronger glass two years ago, but they still crack and fall out. Now guards will spot cracks by change in color, yell to clear the streets, then alert technicians to reverse the air-conditioning fans to create a slight sucking force that will make the faulty glass fall inward.

Capital murder charges dropped

DALLAS (AP) - Investigators have dropped capital murder charges that had been filed against a Dallas man they thought sexually molested and killed a seven-year-old girl last year. Homicide Capt. Donald Milliken said the charge against Everett Barton Gary, 28, was dropped Wednesday after a polygraph test was administered to Gary. He was arrested Tuesday and charged with the killing of Yolanda Drayton whose body was found tied to a telephone pole on July 5, 1976. The arrest was made after witnesses told police they could identify Gary as the killer. "The information was just bad," Capt. Milliken said. "What can I say." The witnesses went to police after Gary was arrested last week in connection with a police fencing operation. Gary had been charged with robbery, burglary and theft. Police said the witnesses had been afraid to volunteer information on the killing while Gary was at large. But Milliken said lie detector tests given Wednesday confirmed that Gary was not near the South Dallas scene at the time of the killing.

School ruling far-reaching

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas' system of distributing state education money based solely on the value of the district's real property is unconstitutional, a federal judge says in a ruling that could have far-reaching impact on state school financing. U.S. District Court Judge Jack Roberts of Austin said taxing real property and automobiles while ignoring "intangibles," such as stocks and bank deposits, violates the U.S. Constitution as well as Texas law. He refused, however, to halt August state payments to local school districts, as requested by members of the Leander and San Augustine school boards, who filed the suit. Several state officials, including Gov. Dolph Briscoe, said they are not alarmed by the ruling, stressing that it is not final. But others believed the ruling places the current school finance law in jeopardy. The Leander and San Augustine district officials argued that the current system of financing schools based on real estate taxes puts an unfair burden on rural taxpayers with little untaxed wealth. Roberts said he agreed with the argument but stopped short of immediately scrapping the entire school finance plan now in effect. "This system of distributing state funds to support public education violates the federal equal protection clause" of the U.S. Constitution, Roberts ruled. "Texas' current system of distributing state aid to local school districts treats local districts and their taxpayers with the same amount of taxable property differently without any rational basis thus violating the equal protection clause," Roberts continued. The school finance bill passed recently by a special legislative session does not put a tax on the "intangible" property.

Insurance exec resigns to aid Christie race

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Joe Christie's race for the U.S. Senate has a new campaign director but the State Board of Insurance is minus a top executive. Douglas Barnert said Wednesday he resigned as assistant deputy commissioner of insurance to set up a campaign committee for the State Insurance Board chairman's political race. Christie has not yet announced formally. Earlier, on June 30, Barnert requested a leave of absence then resigned July 13 after board member Durwood Manford said a leave of absence for political purposes would be improper. Barnert said in his letter of resignation that when he requested the leave he had expected to be gone from the board only a short time. "However, in the initial stages of our organizational and fund raising efforts, I have found broad and widespread support for our potential candidate. It appears highly likely that I would have had to extend my leave past the original request and through November of 1978," Barnert said.

Aborter steals $500,000 mare

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The FBI says it's looking for an itinerant "horse fancier" in connection with the theft last month of a $500,000 mare in foal to Triple Crown winner Secretariat.
The FBI said Wednesday that an arrest warrant has been issued for William Michael McCandless, 30, charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. McCandless' last known address was Nashville, Tenn., said FBI spokesman Allen Whitaker.

The mare, 10-year-old Fanfreliche, was stolen from Claiborne Farm near Paris, Ky. on June 25. The horse is owned by Jean-Louis Levesque of Canada. Whitaker said McCandless was spotted recently in Texas and Tennessee, but added that there hasn't been any sign of the horse.

"The thrust of our investigation is to get the horse to safety first and then bring the individual to justice," Whitaker said.

Fanfreliche, the champion 3-year-old filly in North America and Canadian horse-of-the-year in 1970, already has produced a foal, L'Enjoleur, that has twice been named Canadian horse-of-the-year.

Dr. Walter Kaufman, a veterinarian, has said that Fanfreliche is "an habitual aborter" and needs a special drug to maintain the pregnancy.

The mare last received the drug June 22 and was scheduled to receive it again three weeks later. Kaufman said that without the drug there is a 90 per cent chance of abortion.

$262.7 million

Austin budget
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — City Manager Dan Davidson presented the Austin city council a $262.7 million budget for next year but said today it would not require a property tax increase.
The council will make a final decision on the budget before Oct. 1, when the city's fiscal year begins.

The budget is a 7.6 per cent increase over this year's $244 million spending. It included a 5 per cent wage increase for all city employees.

Sea of Green

with Marj Carpenter

There's a sea of green cotton between Big Spring and Lamesa. In Howard County, more and more land is being put into cultivation with approximately 11,000 new acres broken out this year.

In Dawson County, there is cotton from one county line to the other with no brush left. Good cotton prices and good crops last year are probably the reason.

Dawson County is the biggest cotton producing county in the United States last year and one other year during the past five years.

This is all very wonderful for agriculture production, but deep in my heart, I hope we keep a little bit of brush and ranchland around.

But anyway, the crop looks great and the agriculture experts report that the cotton is fruited up good and everything looks fine. A shower the end of July or early August wouldn't hurt.

You'd think by all of that good information that the farmers have no worries. However, farmers always have worries. They worry about insects, verticillium wilt, boll worms, boll weevils and hard rains and wind that knock the fruit off of young cotton.

So what we're really wanting at this point — to have another good cotton crop which is good for the entire area and all of the merchants — is a nice soft shower in a week or two.

Speaking of showers and getting wet and all of that, I appreciate all the people who got a laugh out of me trying to wash out to the Atlantic Ocean in Florida.

That's not the first time, I've been plenty wet. Those of you who have known me long have heard the story about the time I fell in the water at Six Flags. Oh yes. I really did.

It was Memorial Day in 1963. Another Pecosite and I had taken two troops of Girl Scouts to Six Flags. We had a chartered bus. And we had 32 girls and my young son.

It first rained on us in Colorado City. We got out at Root Park to have a picnic lunch and the bottom fell out of the skies. The girls all rushed back to the bus. The driver said, "There's a rule against eating on the bus." He looked out at the downpour and then at the hungry girls and said, "Oh well, eat. Rules are made to be broken."

But when we got to Six Flags the next day, I assigned the girls to the good old Buddy System and Maurine Whitley and I took my eight-year-old son with us. Well, we lost him. Over on the island with the pirate stuff. I was a little bit panicky and as I started across that buckley bridge, I spotted him walking along by himself.

I stepped to the edge of the bridge to call out. About that time, somebody stepped in the middle of the bridge on each side of me and buckled that bridge up in the air. The bridge went up and pitched me over the cable into the drink.

I thought, "It will be shallow" as I hit the slick mud. I slid right on down to where it wasn't shallow and went completely under. Maurine said she could see the tips of my fingers trying to hold a camera up out of the water and her heart sank.

Some college kids who worked there quickly went into the dyed-green water to get me out. I swam to the shallows. I put my camera and umbrella on the bridge and turned back to dive again "Where in the world are you going?" one of the college kids asked. "Back for my billfold," I answered and I brought it back. I laid it on the bridge and turned around to see if I'd left anything else.

The youths stated, "Lady, please get out. If you've lost anything else, we'll find it." Most of the tourists were gathering on the banks and the bridge trying to see what was happening.

Incidentally, I found my son. He joined the crowd to see what was happening. He asked as I climbed back on the bridge, "What are you doing, Mama?"

I told him that I was hunting him. "I wasn't in the water," he entoned.

That's the way it was — wet — back in the old days when I was out by the amusement park fence.

Posse to serve as jail guards?

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County commissioners and toher citizens might soon be serving as temporary jail guards in transporting inmates to other facilities if a federal judge closes the county jail, the sheriff says.

U.S. District Court Judge Sarrah Hughes ruled Monday that the allegedly overcrowded jail must be closed to new inmates, effective Friday.

The order came after commissioners failed to buy a site and set up preliminary plans for a new facility. Commissioners were to meet in emergency session today on the matter.

Sheriff Carl Thomas said Wednesday he was seriously considering invoking an old state statute that gives a sheriff authority to "round up a posse" to help "execute the legal process" if the order takes effect.

Asked why he might use the statute on commissioners, Thomas cracked, "I think it would be good for them to learn the operation of a jail."

"I'll do anything I can to keep criminals from being turned loose on the streets," said Thomas, who estimated that jails in the City of Dallas, suburban cities and neighboring counties will all be filled to capacity with overflow inmates by next Wednesday if the county jail is closed.

Commissioners have authorized the sheriff to enter into contracts with the neighboring jails. And Thomas said transferring the new inmates and providing guards for them will require "a lot of manpower that I don't have."

That's where using the "Posse Cimitatus" comes in. "I would rather have volunteer help, but I may have to use non-volunteer assistance," he said.

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — A 25-year-old Fort Worth man who allegedly fired at a U.S. Customs agent, took four persons hostage, stole two cars and led officers on a three-hour chase, sits in the Hidalgo County jail under bonds totaling $1.1 million.

Constantio Vasquez Castoreno was charged with two counts of aggravated robbery in connection with the alleged car thefts, four counts of kidnapping and one count of assaulting a federal officer.

Castoreno was arraigned Tuesday on the state charges of robbery and kidnapping and placed under $100,000 bond on each of the six counts. Wednesday, U.S. Magistrate Cruz Tijerina set a $500,000 bond on the federal charge of assaulting an officer.

Police said the hostages taken during the chase were not harmed. Castoreno's refusal to allow customs agents at the international bridge linking Reynosa, Mexico, with this Rio Grande Valley city sparked the incident, police said.
