

Skateboard park eyed New industry lease considered Tuesday

Big Spring City Council members will consider a resolution Tuesday authorizing Mayor Wade Choate to lease property to the first industry to locate on Webb AFB property.

Representatives of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Team and the Webb Steering Committee will be journeyed to a West Texas town to sign the contract with the new industry on Wednesday.

Bill Albright, manager of the chamber, has said the new firm will employ 30 to 50 persons in its initial start-up phase and as many as 150 within a year.

The firm will occupy Webb buildings 1103 and 1104 and the several acres of concrete ramp around them. These buildings are a part of the alert aircraft maintenance hangar and sprinkler system pump station on the west side of the base.

The industry will be the first to sign for a spot on Webb, but officials of the industrial team have said that they are involved in negotiations with several other firms at this time.

The council will also consider granting a special use permit to Keith Bristow and David Terry for the construction of a skate-board park. Local attorney John Burgess, and architect Bill Brooks will be present at the meeting to discuss plans for the facility.

Also at the meeting, a public hearing will be held on proposed improvements of waste water treatment facilities in the city.

In other business, council members will:

—discuss garage and itinerant sales within city limits.

—consider the second and final reading of an ordinance amending the motel occupancy tax.

—consider the second and final reading of an ordinance setting later hours for the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

—discuss the proposed use hearing on revenue sharing funds.

—consider granting permission to advertise for bids for water meters and two radios.

$37.50 more for $25,000 property

Salaries, streets absorb tax hike

By JAMES WERRELL
Big Springers who own $25,000 worth of property in the city will spend $37.50 more in city taxes next year.

The estimate was made by Tom Ferguson, city finance director. At the previous tax rate of $1.40 per $100 at 60 per cent valuation, owners paid only $210.

At the new rate of $1.65 per $100, owners of $25,000 worth of property will pay $247.50.

"We will run pretty close budget-wise. Most of the extra revenue will go for pay raises for police and firemen, and seven per cent, across-the-board raise for all city employees," said Mayor Wade Choate. "Part of the money will be used for seal coating projects for city streets. If we don't do something (to improve the streets) we are going to lose them."

Ferguson provided exact figures. "We will have a $63,000 surplus on the budget. But that really isn't much when you are talking about a budget of $5,345,000," he said. "Without the raise in taxes, we (the city) would be operating at a $130,000 deficit."

According to Ferguson, the city will —consider a request by Billy Bingham to install a mobile home to use as an office next to Billy's Trim Shop, 1806 W. 3rd.

—consider the approval of minutes for meetings of the Parks and Recreation Board, the Webb Steering Committee, and one regular and two special meetings of the City Council.

Second crash for T38

Injured pilot flown to SA

Capt. William Cottingham, one of two pilots who ejected from an ailing T38 Talon aircraft eight miles east of Garden City at about 9:30 a.m., Thursday, was flown to the Wilford Hall Medical Center in San Antonio last night for observation.

Cottingham suffered neck injuries but his wounds are not believed to be serious.

Capt. Jeffrey Schefelker, who bailed out of the T38 Talon training craft along with Cottingham, was checked at the Webb Hospital Thursday and released as an out-patient.

ILL-FATED CRAFT — The actual T38 Talon airplane which crashed in Glasscock County Thursday morning here is shown here in a recent training exercise at its home base, Webb AFB. The craft recently had been involved in a crash in El Paso but had been rebuilt and thoroughly tested before pilots were allowed to take it aloft. Flight control problems eventually led to its demise Thursday. Two pilots ejected from the plane and landed safely.

The ill-fated plane, which had been okayed for flight only the day previously, was the same one which had been rebuilt after it was involved in a crash in El Paso several weeks ago. It had been air-borne only about 15 minutes when Cottingham notified the control tower at Webb that he was having flight control problems.

Another T38 joined up with the ailing craft but was low on fuel and had to return to Webb. Another aircraft, piloted by Lt. Al Leatherwood, took off to lend the Cottingham craft assistance and help direct rescue operations.

The Cottingham plane took off in the direction of a dry lake southwest of Webb but never made it. The two occupants were forced to exit the craft, a fact noted by Lt. Leatherwood.

Once on the ground at a site later identified as the Ben Schaffer ranch, the two remained in the area until they were picked up by Webb personnel who hurried to the scene.

Two Marine Reserve OV10s (helicopters) responded to a request to help in recovery operations and hovered in the area as long as their services were needed.

Connie Edwards, an area rancher who was alerted of possible trouble by Col. Harry Spannaus, Webb's wing commander, via telephone, took off to circle the crash site and help fill in details about the crash site.

Following the crash, Col. Spannaus lauded the cooperation of civilians who helped contain the fires which were ignited by the crashed aircraft and the military personnel summoned to the scene.

"It was the greatest display of rescue operations I have ever seen," said Col. Spannaus.

Contrary to earlier reports, Cottingham and Schefelker did not leave the scene of the crash.

A military investigative team was busy assembling the pieces of the craft today, trying to determine exactly what went wrong with the plane.

It likely will be several days before an official announcement regarding the cause of the crash can be made.

probably run over budget anyway, and the $63,000 surplus will be absorbed. There will also be emergencies in which the funds will be used.

"We used surplus money to buy two new garbage trucks we hadn't anticipated a need for this year," said Ferguson.

Also discussed recently by city officials was the possibility of an updated property appraisal. The last appraisal, the one which is used to set current taxes, took place in 1958.

"There is a need for a reevaluation program," said the Mayor. "Harry Nagel (city manager) will discuss it with Howard College to see if we are in a position to initiate the program. We could get started any time," he added.

Choate explained that the property reappraisal would have to take place before Oct. 1, 1978 if the new values are to be used in assessing taxes for the 1979 fiscal year. Also, said the Mayor, once the reevaluation takes place it could be revised on a yearly basis by the city-county common appraisers.

"I think even with a reevaluation, total property values would come out about the same. Value of some of the newer homes would increase, while values on some of the older homes would decrease," he said.

Rains boost cotton outlook

A rain that fell "just right" for many of the area farmers was widespread throughout the six-county area surrounding Big Spring.

Spokesmen in county agents offices at Mitchell, Sterling, Dawson and Howard counties all reported that the rain was "very beneficial" to the farmers in their areas.

County Agent Bruce Griffith said that even though the showers might cause a little more boll weevil infestation in a few scattered areas, the rain was "very beneficial" and will make that cotton grow all over the county.

Very light hail fell near Flower

Grove and Tarzan but did apparently no damage according to Grover Springer near Tarzan and Joe Wise, county agent in Dawson County.

The rain measured from a 2 at Elbow to over 4 1/2 inches in one section of the southern part of Dawson County. Rains near Ackerly were reported up to three inches, and a construction crew near Garden City reported a gully-washer at that location.

The first rain appeared just before noon Thursday in Stanton. Rains up near Cuthbert and on toward Snyder were over two inches and still raining this morning.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported that there was 1.2 to 1.6 inches at the Lake Thomas Dam, 1.2 at the other Lake Thomas location, 1 inch at the Martin County Pump Station, 4 at Lake Spence and 1.2 at Moss Creek.

St. Lawrence had an inch and Sand Springs and Coahoma had heavy rains with 1.5 to 2 inches.

TESCO rate hike talked at Dallas meet

City Attorney Jim Gregg will attend a meeting in Dallas today to discuss combined city action in regard to the rate increase requested by Texas Electric Service Company (TESCO).

The request for the increase came in June, and the Big Spring City Council suspended action on the request this month.

"The suspension is just a formality. If we hadn't suspended action on the increase, it would have automatically gone into effect 30 days after the request was initiated," said Harry Nagel, city manager.

The suspension will send TESCO officials to the Texas Public Utilities Commission to make a decision on the amount of the increase. Meanwhile, cities such as Big Spring will use the time to discuss the increase, and intervene with the PUC with a proposal of their own.

According to Nagel, several cities will join together to hire the services of a single law firm to represent them before the PUC. Consultants will be hired, and the joint cities' representative will determine what should be a fair rate for electrical power.

"This doesn't mean that we are necessarily against the increase. What TESCO has requested may be fair. We just want to be legally represented at the hearing with the utilities commission," said Nagel.

Gregg will meet in the Dallas-Fort Worth Motel with representatives of several area cities to discuss intervention at the hearing. He will fly back to Big Spring later tonight.

Offbeat: Knock up, anyone?

ATLANTA (AP) — An American should not be upset when his British visitor asks him to "pass the joint."
The Briton is only asking for the roast, according to a brief translation dictionary given to Atlantans who are hosting 380 Newcastle residents as part of President Carter's "Friendship Force."
Although Americans believe they speak English, the dictionary, which also was distributed to the British visitors, makes it clear that the language has differences.

For example, an Englishman who invites his host to "knock up" is only suggesting a tennis match.

Geordies — the British name for Newcastle residents — find zebra crossings elsewhere than in the jungle. Zebra crossing is the English name for marked street crossings.

The handbook clearly explains that the British frequent the baths — swimming pools — in large crowds, while one who decided to drop in on an Atlanta "bathroom" stands the risk of being arrested, or at least embarrassed.

And at the table, American chips are British crisps, while British chips are American french fries.

ARTIST'S CONCEPT OF NEW HEADQUARTERS FOR WEBB FEDERAL CREDIT UNION

FM 700 structure due completion by early summer of 1978

Webb Credit Union building bid okayed

The new Webb Federal Credit Union building moved a step closer to completion Thursday when its board of directors accepted a bid by Haney and Sively construction firm of Abilene for $602,344 to build the 18,750 square-foot building. Other bidders were: J.W. Little, Big Spring, $661,154; R.B. Snead, Odessa, $634,100; Rose and Son, Abilene, $618,000; and Area Builders, Odessa, $626,500.

The future credit union headquarters, which will be located on FM 700 east of Goliad, will be one of the largest financial institutions in the area and will feature such member services as safe deposit boxes of various sizes, a lighted night depository, a drive-thru teller, new loan disbursement area, and separate waiting areas for members applying for loans. The mail and phone loan departments will also be expanded.

Designed to be energy efficient as well as attractive, the new building will use such cost-saving features as a four-foot dirt berm around the outside, double ceiling with double insulation, thermopane glass and double entry doors.

Natural lighting will be used in the entrances and in the main waiting area, which will feature a 20-foot skylight. The floor in the waiting area will be covered in quarry tile and plants will be used extensively throughout the area.

Wade Choate, general manager of the credit union, said "we are excited about the new building for several reasons. First of all, it will be more convenient to our members than our present office on Webb AFB. Second, we will be able to provide many of the services that we could not in the past due to limited space. And third, we will be able to house our entire staff in one building and will be able to expand in the future as requirements dictate."

The modern building is scheduled to be completed in late spring or early summer of 1978.

HAPPY HONEYMOONERS — Sam Money, 19, and his wife of five days, Bridgette, 18, are spending a three-week honeymoon in a tent trailer 25 feet above a shopping center parking lot in Omaha, Neb. They'll earn $1,000 and a four-day trip to Las Vegas, paid by a radio station as part of a promotion, if they can survive another 2½ weeks. As yet they have no bathing facilities.

Steel hike disappointing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, disappointed over U.S. Steel Corp.'s decision to raise steel prices, says the move may undercut the administration's anti-inflation program. Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, complained that the steel industry has raised its prices recently much faster than the other American industries.

Brown eyes troop pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Harold Brown leaves Washington today for a trip to South Korea, from which the United States is planning to withdraw its 33,000 troops. Brown will discuss the withdrawal during his trip and negotiate a transfer of U.S. weapons and equipment to keep Korea secure militarily in light of the troop cutback. His journey comes on the heels of publication of a Pentagon task force study allegedly showing that South Korea would need up to $8 billion in equipment to insure its security, including about 250 jet fighters, and hundreds of helicopters, observation planes, missiles and guns.

Tanker burning

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Fire broke out in the engine room of an oil tanker in the Mississippi River close to an oil refinery today, and an explosion buckled a bulkhead shortly after the 34 crewmen abandoned ship, the Coast Guard said. A Coast Guard spokesman said the 679-foot Dauntless Colcotronis was en route to the Tennessee refinery dock at Chalmette, about five miles downstream from here, when the blaze erupted. All crewmen except one were reported safe on the dock, the spokesman said. One was taken to a hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation. The tanker, which was carrying oil to the refinery, was estimated at 150 yards from the dock. It could not be confirmed immediately if the vessel had dropped anchor, the spokesman said, and there was fear that she could drift into the dock. However, tugs tried to pull the ship farther out. A fireboat sprayed the tanker with water. The explosion buckled a bulkhead between the engine room and the pump room, the Coast Guard said.

Four bodies found

PARK RIDGE, Ill. (AP) — The bodies of four men, all shot several times, were found this morning in an office building, elevator in this affluent suburb northwest of Chicago, authorities said. "I pushed the elevator button and when the door opened I saw them," said B.L. Shershon, an employee in the building. "The four men were piled atop each other in a bloody mass," he said. The bodies were first discovered by a secretary when she arrived for work. "She came screaming out of the building, running across the street hysterical," said an attendant at a nearby service station, from where police were called. At a brief news conference, G. Joe Moffit, director of public safety, said the bodies were discovered at 7:56 a.m. and that each of the men had suffered multiple gunshot wounds. "There will be no identification or conjecture as to what occurred at this point based on the advice of the state's attorney," Moffit said.

Woman chief ousted

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — In a stunning election landslide, the opposition United National Party today ousted Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike, the world's only woman chief of government. The vote, continuing a Sri Lankan tradition of unseating incumbents, made 70-year-old opposition chief Junius Richard Jayawardene the new leader of this island north south of India.

Lawmakers adjourn special session

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An 11-day special legislative session that probably will be remembered most for prompting the resignation of a supreme court justice has adjourned. Gov. Dolph Briscoe planned to sign today the session's major product, a bill increasing state school aid by $945.4 million over the next two years. Before shutting down late Thursday afternoon, lawmakers passed and sent to Briscoe bills tightening state supervision of nursing homes and allowing Texas government to build a deepwater port for supertankers if oil companies fail to do the job.

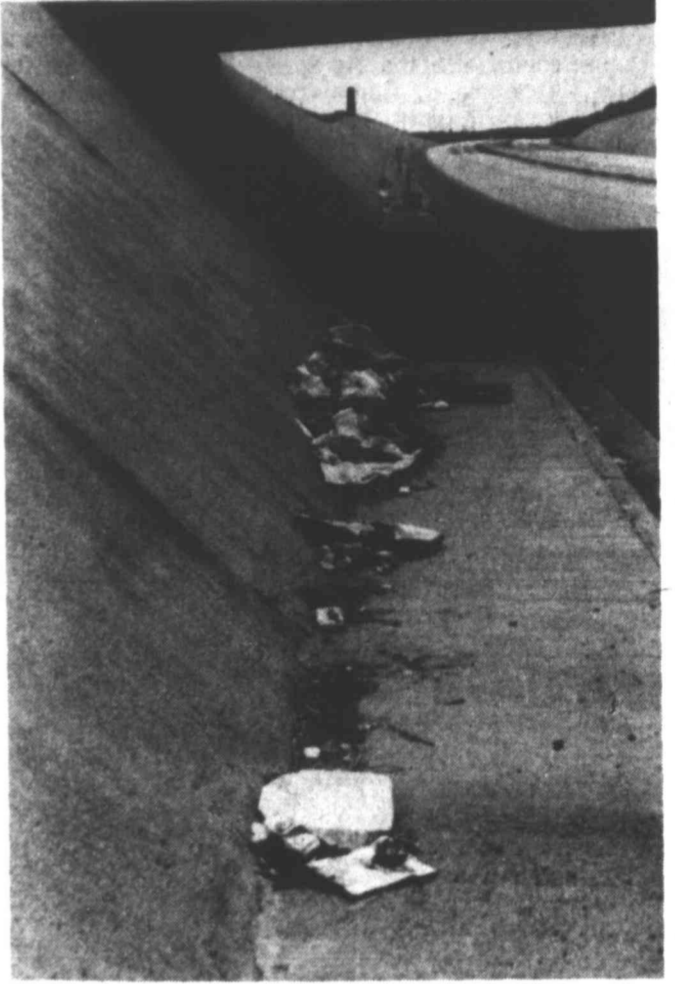

Bound children, mother die in burning house

PROSPECT, Conn. (AP) — The bodies of eight children, some of them bound and gagged, and the mother of seven of the youngsters were found today in their fire-damaged house, police said. "I don't remember any homicides of this magnitude in Connecticut," said state police Commissioner Edward Leonard. A police spokesman said earlier reports that the woman was shot were unfounded. "Some of the firemen found some of the children in their bonds, so we're treating it like a murder," a state police spokesman said. Police said the bodies had all been burned, and the official cause of death won't be determined until autopsies are performed.

The woman was identified as Cheryl Beaudoin, a mother of seven. Police identified her children as Fred, 12, Sharon, 10, Debbie, 9, Paul, 8, Rod, 6, Holly, 5, and Mary Lou, 4. The eighth child was identified as Jennifer Santoro, a 6-year-old cousin from nearby Waterbury. Police said the husband, Fred Beaudoin, was working the midnight to 7 a.m. shift as a machine operator at the Pratt & Whitney plant in North Haven at the time of the blaze. Volunteer fireman Terry Crock said crews had to fight the fire for about 10 minutes before they could get into the house, and that during that time they heard no signs of life from the house. "It's pretty well gutted in there," Crock said.

force investigation launched by Atty. Gen. John Hill, a likely opponent of Briscoe in next year's elections. The House passed the nursing home bill 139-1, and senators accepted the measure, 22-1. The measure ends divided regulation of the 950 nursing homes by both the welfare and health departments, centralizing it in the health department.

They also sent the governor a bill wiping away a technicality that would have made citizens of 39 flood-prone counties ineligible for federal flood insurance. True to his well-known distaste for special sessions, Briscoe submitted only emergency matters, although some doubted the nursing home situation was bad enough to warrant a new state law. Reports in the Lufkin News that patients in some nursing homes were underfed, improperly medicated and even beaten prompted Briscoe to ask lawmakers for action. Skeptics, however, saw the move as a device to draw attention away from a task

Cattlemen nix beef referendum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattle producers have voted down a proposed nationwide plan to pay for a $40-million beef research and promotion program, the Agriculture Department said today. Preliminary returns show that 56.5 per cent of 231,046 cattle producers who voted in the referendum approved of the plan. But a two-thirds majority was necessary to put the program in effect. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said in a statement that "The producers have spoken." The vote was 130,464 in favor and 100,582 against, according to the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service which conducted the referendum held July 5-15. Officials said that 72 per cent of 322,175 beef producers who registered to vote actually cast ballots. An estimated 1.8 million were said to have been eligible to participate. If it had been approved, the plan called for an assessment on producers equal to threenths of one per cent of the value of all cattle sold during the first three years of the program. Wray Finney, president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, which had strongly endorsed the beef plan, expressed "extreme disappointment" that producers failed to vote the required two-thirds approval. "While the plan did not receive the required two-thirds favorable vote, it is significant that a majority of those voting did recognize the need for more adequate funding of research and information programs," Finney said in a statement. The association leader said that he hoped that "producers who oppose the plan because of alleged government involvement will now support existing producer organizations and programs to help the beef industry." According to the preliminary returns, the plan failed to get the required two-thirds approval in some of the largest cattle states. For example, Iowa voters approved the plan by 41.2 per cent; Kansas 60.3 per cent; Missouri 61.8; Nebraska 63.7; North Dakota 42.8; South Dakota 34.5; Tennessee 18.8; and Texas 61.6.

Stolen items are recovered

The Howard County Sheriff's Department recovered items stolen six weeks ago from the Danny Kenemer residence in Elbow Thursday afternoon. Items recovered included a set of dishes which had been passed down generation to generation in the Kenemer family, an auto radio and antenna, a two-gallon picnic jug, a car stereo, a tapeplayer and seven tapes, a tape carrying case, and a transistor radio. A man, already in custody for the July 2 burglary of the R.B.C. Construction site, may be charged with the Kenemer burglary.

Teng regaining power

TOKYO (AP) — China announced today that Teng Hsiangping has been restored to all his old posts — vice premier, Communist party vice chairman and chief of the army general staff. Announcement of the 73-year-old Teng's return to the forefront of the political scene was made by the official Chinese news agency, Hsinhua. In a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, Hsinhua said the action was taken by the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party in a meeting that was held in Peking July 16-21. Earlier this week, wall posters had gone up in Peking supporting the return of Teng to power after months of rumors that the survivor of previous purges was making another comeback. The Hsinhua announcement also made official earlier reports that the "Gang of Four" had been expelled from the Chinese Communist party. They are former Chairman Mao Tse-tung's widow, Chiang Ching, and her supporters who once held highest rank, Wang Hungwen, Chang Chun-chiao and Yao Wen-yuan. The broadcast said they were expelled from the party "once and for all" and dismissed "from all posts both inside and outside the party." There has been speculation that the rehabilitation of Teng could be the first step toward his eventual promotion to premier, the post now held by Chairman Hua Kuo-feng. Teng had been expected to

Winters wants more water

WINTERS — Negotiations are progressing between city officials of Winters and Sweetwater which could culminate in the purchase of water by Winters from Sweetwater's Oak Creek Lake. Under the arrangement, the water would originate from Lake Spence, owned by the Colorado River Municipal Water District, and be piped to Oak Creek Lake, from where it would then be transported on to Winters. Winters would have to lay a pipe line in order to get the water. Winters officials had originally hoped to get government help for construction of a dam and reservoir but their plan was not approved.

Bible school begins Monday

Bible School will begin Monday at 9:30 a.m. at the Salvation Army and run through Friday 29 daily 9:30 to 11:30. All children ages three through 14 are urged to attend. Gospel Light Material will be taught in the classes and lots of crafts will be available to the students. The school will begin each morning in the Chapel with assembly and all classes will be in the basement of the Salvation Army, 600 W. 4th St.

'Pickles' one of free films

Howard County Library is sponsoring a free, all-color film matinee Saturday beginning at 1:30 p.m. Featured this week will be: "Hooper Bloob Highway," Dr. Seuss film, which presents the problems and pleasures of human life. It is animated in the Seuss style. "Pickles" is a series of a dozen vignettes commenting pointedly on the many absurd predicaments we humans get ourselves into. It uses irony, metaphor, and satire to sharpen our focus on some not-so-self-evident truths. "Solo" depicts a lone climber scaling a North American mountain and involves the viewer in the confrontation of man with nature — and with himself. The film conveys the sheer beauty and excitement of mountain climbing and of achieving one's goals. "Tom Cat's Meow" is a fantasy about a Cinderella-like girl who accompanies her pet tom-cat to a mythical kingdom where he is King and she, Queen. The girl's shrewish step-sister does not fare so well.

Renovating courthouse

GARDEN CITY — The Glasscock county courthouse is undergoing renovations in the downstairs offices. The contractors are Tilley and George of Garden City and Big Spring.

Vandals, litterers costing guess who?

Vandals and litterers cost the city $300 for the week ending today, according to Jerry Foresyth, assistant city manager. "That covers man hours used to clean up the litter and repair the damage to city property. Fences were torn down, trash containers were turned over, and we had to spend about five hours just taking cans and cups out of the Big Spring," said the assistant city manager. The irate Foresyth warned that anyone caught littering could be fined by the city up to $200. He also advises that citizens who spot litterers or vandals should immediately contact city officials or the police. "This is the only way to clean up the city; with the help of the citizens," he concluded.

Police beat Local thugs prowling

Criminals and vandals were on the prowl in the early morning hours today. At 12:30 a.m. officials at Young Auto, 1230 W. 3rd, discovered that burglars had stolen 15 auto radiators. The intruders had entered through the back door of the business, and loaded the radiators onto a waiting truck in the alley. Loss was estimated at $300. Sometime between 1:30 and 2:30 a.m. vandals broke out four plate glass windows and damaged the time clock and adding machine at the Big Spring Bowl-A-Rama, East Highway 80. The incident was discovered when Patrolman Raymond Hall noticed the broken windows. Damage was estimated at $400. At around 3:30 a.m. two men came to the door of Augustine Hernandez's room in the Wyoming Hotel, supposedly looking for jobs. According to reports, one of the men asked Hernandez for a cigarette. When he turned to get one, the men fled taking his wallet with them. The wallet contained all of Hernandez's identification papers and $40 in cash. Officials at the Westward Ho Motel have accused one of their employees of making off with $150 from the night desk. The incident occurred sometime between 2 and 5 a.m. Thursday. Mitchem Auto Sales, 809 W. 4th, is apparently out one car. According to reports, the dealership took a check for $500 as a down payment on a 1970 Chevrolet Impala, leaving $285 owed. When the salesman checked the bank account from which the check was written, they found that it was only two weeks old, and contained only $50. Five mishaps were reported Thursday. A vehicle driven by Jordon Voldomero, 506 Douglas, collided with a parked vehicle belonging to Sammy Arsiaga, 806 W. 8th, at 806 W. 8th, 8:59 p.m. A car driven by Jerry G. Dugan, 1601 Meadow, went out of control on wet caliche in the County Fair Barn parking lot, and rolled once, 4:57 p.m. Dugan was unhurt. Vehicles driven by Robert E. Ethington, 502 Austin, and John M. Burson, Sterling City Route, collided at Main and E. Fourth, 5:16 p.m. Vehicles driven by Bridget Milliken, Coahoma, and Mabel P. Reed, Snyder, collided at Third and Johnson, 10:09 a.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Texas Electric Service Company, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of its intent to implement new rate schedules for electric service in areas served by the company, effective August 3, 1977, or as soon thereafter as permitted by law.

The new schedules will result in a 23.63 percent increase in the adjusted gross revenue of the company.

A complete copy of the new rate schedules is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality. Copies are also available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices.

Jaworski: I don't like crooks

HOUSTON (AP)—Former Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski, undertaking the investigation of alleged influence-buying of congressmen by a South Korean businessman, said Thursday he would issue subpoenas without the approval of the House Ethics Committee.

Jaworski said if any "roadblocks are put in my way for a complete investigation, I will resign and let the public know why."

The 71-year-old Houston attorney told newsmen "I insisted on the right to issue subpoenas without the approval of the Ethics Committee. I don't want someone saying to me 'Don't subpoena this person because he doesn't know anything or don't subpoena that person because he is a friend of mine.'"

From the first, Jaworski has demanded a free hand in the investigation and received that Thursday when House Ethics Committee voted 10-0 to give him

"full and complete authority." The committee also agreed to issue any subpoenas sought by the new chief investigator.

Jaworski said he wouldn't pull any punches in the investigation and didn't care "if those involved are Republicans or Democrats. If a crook is involved in this thing, I want to bring him out and I want the public to know about it. I don't like crooks."

In answer to a question, Jaworski said neither he nor his law firm have any dealings with South Korean businessman Tongson Park, who allegedly gave cash gifts to congressmen to ensure favorable treatment of the South Korean government.

Jaworski said some questions have been raised about the possible involvement of House Speaker

Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., and House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Tex., in the Korean affair.

"I want to say now and the public should know that if it had not been for Speaker O'Neill and Rep. Wright, I doubt if I would have accepted the job. Both of these men put their efforts together to convince me to accept."

Jaworski said he had been promised by O'Neill and Wright "full sway in the investigation."

"I have never had more complete assurance that I would have a free hand."

And, Jaworski said, if the probe turns up "evidence of wrongdoings, I wouldn't hesitate one minute to recommend prosecution...I am sure the U.S. Justice Department would prosecute those cases."

Cooling rain splashes plains

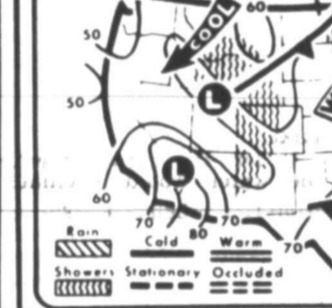

By the Associated Press
Rowdy thunderstorms brought cooling rain and in some cases appreciable moisture scattered all across Texas during the night.

Much of the turbulence died down and then another round of thundershowers broke out this morning from the South Plains into West Central Texas. Warnings of possible flooding in low areas went out in several counties as radar spotted downpours at rates up to two inches per hour in the plains section.

Farm Bumper wheat crop poses few problems

AUSTIN — With the Texas wheat market already burdened with oversupply, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Monday that even more wheat is expected to be produced this season than originally predicted.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said the new estimate of 115,000,000 bushels is a five per cent increase over estimates given in June.

"Taking into account the bumper wheat crop in the state this season," said Brown, "our figures show an 11 per cent increase in wheat production over 1976, which was a record year for us."

"This abundance will not benefit the farmer, who now loses almost $2 on each bushel he raises," Brown continued, "but it will assure continued stable prices on products for the consumer."

In spite of drought problems which dropped harvested acreage 100,000 acres, Brown said, high yields of 25 bushels per acre were common. Although fewer acres were planted, he added, this year's harvest will add to the estimated 3.2 billion bushels of wheat available on the U.S. market at the end of the season.

"The losses our farmers are suffering are a direct result of the lack of long-range national food planning," Brown said, "and the haphazard reactions to up-and-down demand situations by previous Federal administrations."

Brown also said that food shortages around the world have been eased somewhat by good crops in several major wheat producing countries. This is certain to affect Texas' export markets, to which a major portion of the state's producing land is devoted. "Much depends upon the federal farm legislation now under way in Washington," Brown said.

Next: A nuclear fuel shortage too

Remember the battle in Congress over nuclear fuel enrichment last year?

Several Big Spring citizens got involved in the very close congressional votes because this community had been considered a good site for an enrichment plant.

Big Spring had been looked on with some favor because of the region's low population density and because its geology is such that the probability of an earthquake is almost nil.

BUT A PROPOSAL by the Ford Administration to allow private firms to enter the enrichment field ran into opposition in Congress.

The companies involved also wanted some guarantees from the government to attract financing, since the government through laws and regulations has control of the nuclear energy business.

There was a close vote in the House of Representatives, and the private enrichment proposal survived by one vote. John Currie, president of State National Bank, was instrumental in helping the measure clear the House.

However, the measure was killed by a close vote in the U.S. Senate, with neither Texas senator on hand to say yea or nay.

EVEN IF the bill had cleared

Congress, it would have been in trouble since now President Jimmy Carter had expressed his opposition to private uranium enrichment. He had told at least one audience that his administration would not approve the contracts.

The change of administrations left the nuclear question in limbo for this year. The government is going ahead with the planned expansion of its enrichment plant in Portsmouth, Ohio.

But the decision on new enrichment plants, if any, awaited direction from the Carter Administration and its formulation of an energy policy.

THE THREE-YEAR delay may be darn near fatal. While the U.S. is sitting around arguing about who is going to do what, the potential for a severe shortage of enriched uranium that could bring the nation's nuclear power industry to its knees continues to grow.

So we now face nuclear fuel shortages to go along with those anticipated for other forms of energy.

A study released Thursday forecasts a serious shortage in less than 10 years.

It predicts that domestic demand for nuclear fuel will exceed planned capacity by 1983, forcing the U.S. to use stockpiled fuel.

To support even a very modest growth in nuclear power use, capacity must be expanded at a rapid pace by 1988 and 1989, said the study which was made over the past six months by Duke Power Co., the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Edison Electric Institute and Electro-Nucleonics Inc.

The study urges the Carter Administration to set up a self-financed government corporation to take over its nuclear fuel production. It urges that the government involve private industry as contractors, so the experience for a private nuclear fuel industry can be developed.

The study also concludes that utilities had better consider setting up regional nuclear fuel plants in case neither the government nor private industry fills the demand, a likely happenstance.

MEANWHILE, AMERICA'S energy problems grow increasingly severe. Anti-nuclear energy groups occupy Seabrook and hold up development plans for six years in some instances. Costs double, and double again.

The importing of foreign oil will drive the U.S.'s balance of payments deficit to $25 billion this year. Without the energy problem, America would have a $4 billion surplus.

The trade deficit has forced the dollar to a record low against the West German mark and the Japanese yen. The dollar is slipping so that Honda felt compelled to raise the price of its cars last week in the U.S. by $148 to compensate (only two months after an $80 increase per car). The decline of the dollar will keep inflation hot in the U.S., as the Honda car price demonstrates and as happened after the Nixon Administration formally devalued the dollar 8 per cent in 1971 and another 10 per cent in 1973, helping to send inflation into double figures in the U.S.

THE POINT is that the U.S. cannot solve other problems until it comes to grips with the energy crisis.

While the question of nuclear safety is being debated in theoretical terms, America was treated to a one-day actual demonstration of life without electricity in New York City, and it was a $1 billion disaster of economics, property and lives.

The government had better start facing the energy problem or it will be eating this country alive by the 1980s.

What's amiss? Around the rim

Bob Burton

I wonder, am I too old or too young? Why is it that I don't crave something which appears to be normal fare for my cronies — a vintage auto?

There must be something wrong with my psyche. I have all the other normal cravings; records, a shotgun, a pickup truck (circa 1975.), but no vintage auto.

Friend James Werrell mentioned yesterday something about a '58 Caddy. "Looks like a Great White Shark," he said.

BUT DID HE tell you of the insane gleam that lights his eye when you lean too firmly in your faded levis against its sleek surface? Did he tell you that his car is the result of an eight state, several year search, involving father, brothers, friends, neighborhood mechanics and the like?

Ah, it's a rare sight to see his wife, normally a "cuticle cleanie" down on her knees gently polishing the shining chrome on the interior.

"The interior is my responsibility," she told me.

He debates hotly whether the '50 Caddy his brother lost in the middle of Tennessee was better, worse, or whether both cars are beyond comparison.

Now Bill Werrell is mild by comparison. Where James cleans and shines, Bill rips and tears.

Bill has recently bought a vintage '54 Chevy pickup. A beater, as they say. But, like the fanatic Michaelangelo, Bill is creating his masterpiece from the ground up. He has pulled the engine to pieces, literally, and scattered them across Big Spring. While you can lean against his car, you must still speak gently of it, or suffer his wrath.

And if that wasn't enough, sports editor Danny Reagan surfaced reborn a few months ago with a TR4. Reagan did the most complete rebuild of the trio, however, because he refurbished his self-image right along with the car.

REAGAN, FORMERLY a self-effacing Gran Prix driver, now goes through a metamorphosis similar to Clark Kent each time he slides behind the wheel. His normal comfortable walk becomes even more insouciant as he approaches his white meatgrinder. His knuckles whiten reflexively. His shoulders tremble.

It's something to watch.

And I don't own one. It really makes me feel like Swiss Cheese, as if something was completely missing. No old car to prod my memories. No old car to sputter and stall in some downtown intersection. No old car to get under 12 miles per gallon. No old car to pick up the dents and dings that break your heart.

No old car to save and scrimp for because no paint job under $200 can possibly do it justice.

I'm really missing something. I wonder what?

Riding the bear

Evans, Novak

LUSAKA, Zambia — The fortress-like Soviet Embassy here has become the nerve center for guerrilla operations against Rhodesia (Zimbabwe) and Southwest Africa (Namibia), undermining persistent Western hopes that Zambia's President Kenneth Kaunda would become the peacemaking moderate for southern Africa.

Behind the embassy's high, heavily guarded walls, a short walk from the Zambian foreign ministry, Ambassador Vasily Solodovnikov is intimately involved in training, supplying and even deploying guerrillas. Moreover, old diplomatic hands see him doing his worst to settle Western efforts for negotiated settlements in Rhodesia and Southwest Africa. For the Kremlin to cash in on its heavy investment, the guerrillas must win. A genuine free election might well install a non-guerrilla government.

THE SOVIET AIM thus conflicts with popular sentiment in Zambia, possibly shared at heart by Kaunda himself, for a quick negotiated peace in Rhodesia. Nevertheless, Kaunda publicly takes the hard line and may be trapped in positions not in his nation's best interest. Having mounted the Russian bear, Ken Kaunda cannot easily get off.

Solodovnikov has impressive credentials. An expert at the Soviet Africa Institute with intimate links to the KGB, he was architect of the Kremlin's highly successful strategy for Southern Africa. But the pudgy, smiling Russian is no KGB heavy, frightening of diplomatic colleagues. Rather, he assures everybody of his sincere best wishes for the Anglo-American initiative on Rhodesia.

Veteran diplomats don't believe a word of it. Solodovnikov supervised the quick buildup of Joshua Nkomo's new 3,000-man guerrilla army based in Zambia. Having put their money on this new military factor, the last thing the Russians want is a quick settlement.

Indeed, Solodovnikov has made Zambia a hub of military activity in southern Africa. It is a base for guerrilla raids against both Rhodesia and the long sliver of Southwest Africa called the Caprivi Strip. Soviet Aeroflot passenger planes land regularly at Lusaka Airport, gerrying Nkomo's guerrillas to and from training in Angola.

BUT IN TYPICAL Russian style, Solodovnikov is no gracious guest. While using Zambia as a base for military operations elsewhere, he is not beyond attempting a little subversion here. Some 250 Russian technicians, mainly teachers, are suspected by Zambian officials of proselytizing student radicals against Kaunda as an old fuddy-duddy with insufficient revolutionary fervor.

The matter surfaced when the Zambian government accused a Novosti press representative (undoubtedly a KGB man) of subversive activities and told Solodovnikov there would be no publicity if the agent were quietly returned home.

Spinal nerves can be troublesome

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you explain to me what radiculitis is? One doctor told me I had it. He advised physiotherapy. He also told me I have degenerative arthritis. He later referred me to a neurosurgeon, who tells me I have cervical spondylosis. He has me in a cervical collar and says that is all he can do.

He mentioned that I can have an operation, but guarantees nothing. I want the operation and asked him for it, but he will not do it. Why doesn't he want me to have it? He was far from friendly and explained nothing to me. Can you explain this? — M.B.

Which leaves you sitting there with a neck brace and a couple of fancy medical terms, right? I'll try to explain the terms first, then tell you about what I think your main problem is at this point — poor communication.

Radiculitis is usually not an "itis" problem. The word implies inflammation. More often the problem is irritation of nerves emerging from the spinal cord in the neck (cervical) region. "Cervical root syndrome" is another term for it. An injury, such as whiplash, or arthritic changes in the vertebrae (spine sections) can cause or contribute to the situation. A narrowing of disks between the spine sections can occur with age — the "spondylosis" mentioned. All these conditions can aggravate the nerve pressure.

What you should have been told at the time the operation was mentioned is that surgery is a final resort in such conditions. Immobilization of the area is usually tried to see if the problem will not, in a sense, correct itself. Later, traction can be applied as a means of relieving pressure on the nerve.

This must be given time before surgery is attempted. As your doctor said, there can be no guarantees, especially if there is extensive arthritis involvement.

Understanding this should at least give you a better perspective on your physician's conservative approach.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our science class was having a discussion, and we were wondering why a person cannot tickle himself whereas someone else can. — M.S.

A tickle is light stimulation of the skin that causes a reflex response as cringing or laughing. There seems to be some element of anticipation involved.

I've noticed this among young patients. If the doctor puts his own hand on the abdomen of the patient, the reflex occurs. If, however, the person puts his own hand over the abdomen and the doctor exerts pressure over it with his hand there is no tickling response.

When the person touches himself, the reflex is abolished because the elements of both surprise and anticipation is lost. The action is voluntary and the tickler cannot become the ticklee. There may be other, fancier explanations, but this will do for me. I hope it will for you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please advise me as to what causes a dry mouth, usually after I go to bed at night? I get up three times during the night and wash my mouth out. I am 88 years old. — W.F.H.

At your age mouth secretions are often diminished. You probably breathe through your mouth while sleeping, adding to the dryness. Try sleeping on your side, which may eliminate some of the mouth breathing.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

WASHINGTON — An ugly collection of weapons, packed in cartons labeled "books," was shipped recently from the United States to the oil sheikdom of Qatar.

The boxes got as far as the London airport, where they were opened. Instead of textbooks for the University of Qatar, the astonished airport authorities found 12 machineguns; 50 pistols and ammunition to fit them.

The British airport personnel immediately notified the U.S. Customs Service, which alerted the State Department. Then the Transportation Department was brought into the case. Now the incident has escalated into an international incident.

A STATE DEPARTMENT investigation quickly determined that the Qatar embassy had arranged for all the proper licenses to ship the weapons to the sheikdom. They were not intended, apparently, to start a revolution or to mount a commando raid against Israel. The guns were supposed to be delivered as a routine shipment to the Qatar police.

But the driver who hauled the cartons to the Dulles International Airport, it turned out, had previously shipped some books to the University of Qatar in similar cartons. When he was asked what the latest cartons contained, he innocently answered: "Books." The cartons full of arms, therefore, were shipped out as books.

The State Department, convinced that Qatar was not smuggling arms disguised as books, dismissed the case as "human error." This should have ended the incident.

But over at the Transportation Department, the Hazardous Materials Office publishes an obscure newsletter. The editors somehow learned about the case of the lethal textbooks. So the newsletter reported tersely last month:

"Embassy of Qatar... offered shipment of small arms and ammunition to air carrier which was described as 'books' and was improperly marked, packed and labeled."

FUTURE SHOCK: "Star Wars" really started something. Now CBS will make an hour-a-week series out of the movie "Logan's Run," which was a sort of so-so hit with young people. (It starred Michael York, Jenny Agutter and Farrah F-F-M) ... Raquel Welch is tired of waiting for the right film so she'll do a TV miniseries to be directed by Joan Darling, who did so many of the "Mary Hartmans." Guess who'll be writing for Raquel? None other than "Get Smart's" Barbara Feldon — the brunette who used to say, "I want a word with all you tigers!" ... Helen Reddy won't like Bette Midler's special because at one point the Divine Miss M, quips: "Did you hear that Helen Reddy was arrested for loitering in front of an orchestra?" And the producers left the wisecrack in ... Remember the first Mrs. Sammy Davis, Jr. — the blonde May Britt? (Maybe you remember her because she was so good with Marlon Brando in 1958's "The Young Lions.") Well, she's making a comeback; just did an independent film called "Haunts." May got a little fed up with snuggling down in Lake Tahoe with the daughter and the two sons she and Sammy adopted so long ago.

SPOKESMAN FOR both companies vigorously denied that General Motors or Procter & Gamble had threatened Blue Cross in any way. An official Blue Cross spokesman acknowledged that several corporations, including General Motors and Procter & Gamble, had protested the Blue Cross letter. But he also denied that any companies had threatened to withdraw business.

Nevertheless, White House sources say that Washington representatives of Blue Cross called the White House consumer office and tried to water down the June 1 letter.

A Blue Cross executive told the White House sheepishly that the association was not supporting any particular bill. Yet the June 1 letter specifically mentioned the proposed Agency for Consumer Advocacy. The executive also said the Association could not speak for its 84 million members. Yet the June 1 letter emphasized the 84 million membership.

In the end, the Blue Cross official mentioned that the letter was being weakened to "placate" corporate clients. He also confided that General Motors and Procter & Gamble had threatened economic retaliation.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Whenever I share my faith in Christ with other people, I feel almost proud because I know it is something I should be doing. How can I fight this? — M.Y.T.

DEAR M.Y.T.: I am glad to hear you are sharing your faith in Christ. We have a wonderful message to tell the world — that God loves us, and wants men to repent and believe in Jesus Christ, His Son. We read about the early Christians that "daily in the temple, and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ" (Acts 5:42).

However, it is wrong for you to be proud of your witnessing, and it is good that you sense this. The Bible says, "I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible" (Isaiah 13:11). Jesus condemned the Pharisees of His day for their spiritual

Searching for flood victims

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Refugees and a volunteer army battling mud and fatigue have found 46 dead in this flood-ravaged city. Dozens are missing, and damage is put at more than $200 million.

On Thursday, bodies were pulled from bashed houses and twisted rubble littering the scarred seven-county flood area in southwestern Pennsylvania.

"We're expecting more bodies," said deputy Cambria County coroner Arthur Keiper from his makeshift morgue in the East Hills Elementary School near here. Officials said they had no way yet to accurately guess how many might be dead.

Scattered looting was reported throughout the area, and some residents armed themselves to protect what little they had left. Police arrested three men ransacking a Johnstown bar Thursday night.

Half an inch of fresh rain belted this devastated city of 41,000 Thursday afternoon, briefly raising fears of another deluge, before tapering off to a steady drizzle.

"Oh, my God, were people concerned," said county Civil Defense director Elmer Shenk. "It looked like a major storm, and that's all we would have needed."

The city was evacuated shortly before the storm, which set off mudslides in several areas. Winds up to 65

The National Weather Service forecast good weather for the weekend, however, giving cleanup

Big Spring to host PBRPC

LAMESA — Big Spring will be the site of the semi-annual membership meeting of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council in January, according to a decision made at the meeting in Lamesa Wednesday.

Harold Hall, city councilman and past president of the PBRPC board of directors, issued the invitation for the group to come to Big Spring next year for the luncheon meeting.

The group also decided to discuss the possibility of changing the semi-annual meeting of the membership of the governmental agencies in 17 counties to a once-a-year basis.

This suggestion was made by Judge Barbara Culver of Midland and seconded by Hall. Judge Marcus Crow of Seminole said he liked the twice-a-year meeting. All three were put on a committee to study the matter, along with Judge Leslie Pratt of Dawson county.

Judge Pratt and Nelson Hogg, city councilman, welcomed the group to Lamesa. The main speaker was Ralph Webster of the National Association of Regional Councils from Washington, D.C.

Webster pointed out the importance of local government gaining strength through banding together in regional councils.

Attending the meeting from Big Spring were two board members including Hall and Judge Bill Tune. Other representatives from the city included Tom Ferguson and Jimmy Foresyth and Oscar Cagle represented the Howard County Water District.

Judge Jimmy Mathis from Martin County and the city manager, Mike Rhea were there from Stanton. Mrs. Ruby Greenhaw of Lenorah represented the Martin County Hospital district.

Lamesa had a large delegation including Alton Anderson, Dalton Myers, Mrs. Nadine Blair, Janet Eberhardt, Carroll Taylor, Royce Dice, Chuck Latham, James McAllister, Ben Allen, Ann and Mike Duran and R. Feazelle, as well as Judge Pratt.

There were representatives there from Pecos, Midland, Odessa, McCombs, Andrews, Kermit, Fort Stockton, Toyah and numerous other locations.

Mayor Bill Pigmon of Pecos was named as the new municipal member of the board of directors.

The board, in their meeting following the luncheon, approved housing projects for Odessa and Monahan, a grant for the Ector County Association for Retarded Citizens, assistance to the entire area on a project under the Texas Department of Community Affairs and a project funding a public awareness program for the West Texas Home Health Agency.

Dallas mayor violated state law, suit claims

DALLAS (AP) — Three Dallas residents filed a suit Thursday against Dallas Mayor Bob Folsom, claiming Folsom has violated a state statute that says no member of a city council can be directly or indirectly interested in any "work, business or contract" financed with city funds.

The suit claims the city of Dallas spent $92,499 as its share in the construction of a bridge across White Rock Creek that gives access to the Bent Tree Country Club area, a country club owned by Folsom.

The suit also claims Folsom "actively encouraged" the consolidation of Renner, a community where Folsom owns development property, and the city of Dallas. The consolidation has been approved by voters in Dallas and Renner is now part of the city.

No hearing has been set on the suit filed in the court of State District Court Judge Leonard Hoffman.

The three Dallas residents

— J.Z. Woolridge, Ann Bailey and Louise Archuleta — ask in the suit that all such contracts be nullified and ask that Folsom be required to make restitution to the city of all city funds spent on water and sanitary pipeline projects in the Bent Tree area.

"It is the purpose of this action to halt these activities immediately and to require Folsom to divest himself of all properties so affected, and to enforce the mandate of state law," according to a news release attached to a copy of the suit.

Have you ever felt enslaved by the past? Have old regrets, enemies, habits, sorrows, or mistakes prevented you from entering into new days, new experiences, new meanings? The God of Life keeps offering us the gift of new life. The deepest truth of life is that we are creatures born to be reborn. We cannot erase the past, but by the goodness of God we can learn from it, treasure much of it, and go beyond it. Persons can change and be changed.

In the third chapter of the Gospel of John, we read of Jesus' conversation with Nicodemus. To him Jesus said, "Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

The Christian life is a life going beyond what and where one has been. It is a life of dying to the old and being born into the new. Paul wrote, "If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold, the new has come." 2 Cor. 5:17.

TWO MEMBERS of the "Country Edition", the group that will be performing at the second program of the Starlight Specials, are pictured. Left is Dr. Gale Kilgore, who will play rhythm guitar and sing, and right is Don Tolle, who will play fiddle and standard guitar. The evening is set for July 26 and will begin at 8 p.m.

'Country Edition' slated for Starlight Specials

In keeping with the "Country and Western Night" theme of the second program of the Starlight Specials on Tuesday, July 26, the "Country Edition" will perform.

The local group consists of six fiddle-playing, guitar-plucking members. They include Donnie Walker, Leon Langley, Junior Walker, Irlan McCormick, Don Tolle, and Dr. Gale Kilgore.

Singing along with the group on the special night will be 10-year-old Rona Reeves. Rona is a national winner in the Little Miss Southern State Dixie land contest, and has won 39 other first-place positions in various contests.

The program is set to begin at 8 p.m. in the Comanche Trail Park amphitheatre. To help with expenses, the sponsors of the Starlight Specials, the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, will charge 25 cents to those attending.

Other Starlight Specials coming up include Fiesta Night, Aug. 9, and Youth Band Night, set for Aug. 15.

Participants in those programs will be announced later.

Meeting cancelled

Because of vacations, the regular monthly meeting of the Spring City Breakers will not be held Sunday, July 24, as was previously planned.

Members will be contacted by the club reporter as to when the next meeting will be.

Immunization not kid stuff

"Immunization isn't just kid stuff" — adults need to be immunized against diphtheria and tetanus, says Carla Shearer, health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Benefit tea set

The Southwest Regional Association of Women's Clubs is sponsoring a tea, Sunday, July 24, to help fund scholarships to senior high school girls who plan to attend college.

The tea, which will be in the home of Mrs. Glenn L. Person, 903 N.W. 4th St., will be between 3-6 p.m. The public is invited.

Each year scholarships are given to such girls by the association. The club organization awards scholarships on five levels: local, district, state, regional and national.

At the annual Southwest Region Convention in Oklahoma City, seven state presidents from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Arizona, and California will compete for the "Woman of the Year" title. The program is to help fund scholarships.

Mrs. Person will represent Texas as the state president at the convention.

Pretreat, save energy

Pretreat heavily soiled areas and greasy stains in clothing, then use warm wash temperatures and save energy costs. This laundry method is as effective as hot-water washing, says Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

New level reached here

The expectation of life at birth in the United States reached a new high of 72.8 years in 1976, according to data published in the "Statistical Bulletin." A male child born in 1976 can look forward to 68.9 years of life and a female to 76.7 years, gains of 1.9 years and 2.1 years respectively since the beginning of the decade, the Bulletin reports.

Recent gains in longevity are attributed in large part to the continuing decline in infant mortality, decreases in mortality from heart disease, the cerebrovascular diseases, and accidents.

Birth announced

Mr. and Mrs. Will Morgan, 117 E. Washington, Ville Platte, La., announce the birth of a son, Joshua Clifton, July 20, at 3:30 a.m.

Wife Wants Love— At Home or Abroad

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 14 years. I love my husband but I'm thinking seriously of having an affair. It's been years now since he said, "I love you." He can go three or four weeks without making love to me, then it's only because I've suggested it, and I don't really enjoy it when I have to beg for it.

He gets off work at 4 p.m., goes to a bar with his buddies and doesn't come home until 6 or 7. He eats, and then falls asleep in front of the TV before 8. Then he gets up around 10 p.m. and goes to bed.

He's a good father and a good provider, but I can't take it anymore. I need love and attention.

A friend of ours asked me to have an affair with him. I had never even thought of anything like that. Now I can't think of anything else. I haven't made up my mind yet, but if you print this, maybe my husband (or other husbands) will see it and change before it's too late. I really love him and I've tried to get him to a doctor but he refuses. He says he's only 35 and there's nothing wrong with him. Well, I'm only 31 and I need love.

I don't really want to have an affair, but I'm slipping.
HUNGRY FOR LOVE

DEAR HUNGRY: Here's your letter. I hope your husband (and other men who can identify with the above routine) see this and wake up before it's too late.

DEAR ABBY: Our dog will be going to doggy heaven any day now. Frisky is 90 in human years and he's in awfully bad shape. He's nearly blind and he's so weak he keeps falling down.

We can't bear the thought of putting him to sleep, but want to know where to bury him when the time comes.

We can't afford a plot in the pet cemetery, and he's meant too much to our family to just put him out with the trash. The children want to bury him in our backyard, but I hear there's a law against that. Can you help us?

FRISKY'S FAMILY

DEAR FAMILY: When Frisky dies, phone your local animal shelter. They will come and pick him up. Under no circumstances should you put an animal's remains in a trash can that you intend to use again. And in most areas there are laws against burying an animal in a residential section.

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend doesn't shave under her arms or even use a deodorant, and she just plain smells bad! I can't understand how she can go around offending people that way, and then blaming them because she doesn't get invited places.

She's a very sensitive person (all except for her nose), that's why I can't tell her what I have just told you. Any advice?

OFFENDED

DEAR OFFENDED: You can and must tell her how she smells. It's the friendliest thing you can do.

CONFIDENTIAL TO W.S.B.: To succeed in business, stay awake! Spend too much time in the arms of Morpheus and you'll wind up in the hands of the receiver.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Texas schools to keep funding

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — It will be school as usual this fall despite a federal judge's finding that the way Texas distributes state money for education is unconstitutional, say two legislative leaders.

"There's no big crisis about the thing," Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said Thursday, the final day of an 11-day special legislative session on school finance.

"We will proceed with distribution of school funds for the rest of the year," said education commissioner M.L. Brockette.

U.S. District Court Judge Jack Roberts rejected applications Wednesday by the Leander and San Augustine school districts, which challenged the school finance system.

Roberts stated in his order that the districts would not suffer "irreparable injury" if he refused their requests for preliminary injunctions.

He said, however, that relying totally on real estate — and ignoring intangible property, such as stocks and bonds — discriminates against rural school districts in favor of urban districts.

Leander and San Augustine, he added, have a good chance of proving that Texas' school finance system violates the U.S.

Constitution and Texas law if a trial is held on the merits of their plea.

"We're very favorably impressed by the judge's order," said Adrian Overstreet, lawyer for the Leander district.

"We've believed that all along," N.T. Bennett of San Augustine said of the ruling.

Rep. Tom Massey, chairman of the House Public Education Committee, said the order adds importance to a school finance study commission created by the special session and given $200,000 for its work.

The commission "was put in there in anticipation of something like this," said Massey, D-San Angelo.

In approving a $945.4 million school finance bill last Friday, the legislature also created a board to determine the market value of all property — real and personal, tangible and intangible, in each school district.

A Senate committee approved a proposal to ease the controversy by removing from the Texas Constitution a requirement that intangible property be taxed. The proposal was left hanging, however, in legislators' eagerness to quit and go home.

Hobby said, "No responsible judge is going to suspend the operation of government."

Asked if Roberts' finding posed a "potential crisis," Hobby replied, "The legislature meets every two years — that's what it's here for."

Cleveland Athletics, Ski Chalet to open

Cleveland Athletics and Ski Chalet, 215 Main, will hold a grand opening beginning 8:45 a.m. Saturday that shouldn't be missed.

The new sporting goods and ski equipment store carries one of the most complete lines of competitive and leisure equipment in West Texas. Interested in tennis rackets, baseball, football and basketball equipment, shoes for all sports, skis, bindings, boots, and ski-wear, billiard supplies and much more?

Cleveland's is the place to find it.

This is the second Cleveland shop to open in Texas. The other has operated successfully in Plainview for the last four and a half years.

Team Sales Manager Tom Koger serves 53 high schools around Plainview, and already calls on 37 stores in the Big Spring area.

Dick Helms is the manager of the store, aided by a skillful office manager, Connie Helms (his wife). Dick brings his expertise to the store's specially designed ski chalet.

"This will be a certified Solomon Shop, and I am a certified Solomon technician," said Helms.

Ski enthusiasts will know what he means. Solomon is the number one selling ski binding in the world. Helms had to pass a special course, learning about stress on knees and weight distribution, in order to qualify to install and service the bindings and skis.

The chalet will also carry White Stag, K-2 and Dolomite equipment. In addition the chalet will wax, sharpen edges and just about anything that has to be done to skis.

In athletics goods, Cleveland's line reads like a who's who in sports equipment; Wilson, McGregor, Adidas, Rawlins, Head, Puma, Sand Knit, Riddell, and many others.

There are tennis rackets of all types available. And Cleveland's does its own stringing.

Come Saturday and meet the friendly people waiting to serve you at the Cleveland Athletics and Ski Chalet, and maybe leave with a door prize.

EAGLE SCOUTS — Jimmy Ferguson, Tom Purcell, and Charles Purcell of Troop 1776 will leave for the Boy Scout Jamboree at Moccasin State Park, Penn. Monday.

Local Eagle Scouts will attend jamboree

Eagle Scouts Tom Purcell, Charles Purcell and Jimmy Ferguson will leave July 25 for the Boy Scout National Jamboree at Morain State Park, Pa.

The scouts, all of Troop 1776 and sponsored by St. Paul Presbyterian Church, will tour Tulsa, Okla., Abraham Lincoln's Home in Springfield, Ill., Greenfield Village and an auto industry in Detroit, Mich.; Niagara Falls, Canada; and from there will visit New York City, N.Y. Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia, Pa.

They will spend eight days with 40,000 other scouts from the United States, and contingents from all over the world. They will spend their time swimming, and practicing archery, survival, fishing and many other skills.

After the jamboree the scouts will visit the Indianapolis 500 speedway, the Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio; and Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. They should return to Big Spring Aug. 14.

Pouring Back The Ocean

I once met a man with a magnificent philosophy of life. He believed very simply that life should be concentrated on trying to give back what we gain.

Our problem seems to be that so much of our time and effort has to be devoted to gaining, that we have little incentive for returning what we work so hard to acquire.

When my daughter poured a bucket of water back into the ocean I began thinking about our churches. They seem to preach my friend's philosophy.

As a matter of fact, that's where he learned it . . .

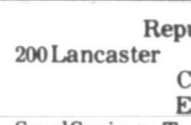

From God!

East Fourth to host singers

The East Fourth Street Baptist Church will host the Cruse Family of Jacksonville, Tex. who will appear here Thursday, July 28 at 7:30 p.m.

The singing group, well known throughout the state for their gospel singing, claim that their message in song and words is: "To God be the glory; great things He has done. So loved He the world, that He gave us his Son."

Through music, through the spoken word, the unique ministry of this Christian family has reached across the state at many appearances.

East Fourth Street Baptist Church officials state that "We are happy to have the Cruse family and extend a cordial invitation to all in the Big Spring area to share with them in this great concert." There will be no admission charge Thursday but a free-will offering will be taken. A nursery will be provided for infants and children through three years of age.

Combined services scheduled

The second in a series of combined Sunday evening services will be held Sunday, July 24 at the First Christian Church at 6 p.m.

The speaker will be Dr. Weldon Butler of First United Methodist Church who will speak on Isaiah. The first talk was on Jeremiah and given by the Rev. Hardland Birdwell of St. Mark's Episcopal Church in services at the First Presbyterian.

The four churches are coming for evening services this summer. Two other services will be held at St. Mark's and First Methodist with speakers to be the Rev. Bill Henning of First Presbyterian and the Rev. Bill Smythe of First Christian.

The public is invited to attend by all four congregations.

Mount Joy will host services

Mount Joy Baptist Church of Knott will engage in revival services the week of July 24 through July 31.

They will meet at 8 p.m. Monday through the following Sunday and at 10 a.m. Tuesday through Friday.

Evangelist Larry Newcomer, pastor of Mill's Road Baptist Church in Houston, will preside over the services.

Officials of the church invite the public to attend any or all of the services.

'Bye, Bye, American Pie' say Children of God group

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — The Children of God have found a new home away from home and a new prophet in his own country — Col. Moammar Khadafy, Libya's deeply religious Moslem president.

Exiles from the cult phenomenon in the United States, some members of the group are receiving moral and material support from Libya in their supervised search for God and fight against drugs, alcohol and the "world's corruption."

Col. Khadafy, who has made the Koran the base of Libyan law, was interested enough in the movement to meet several times with its leaders, to house them for a period, and even to write a song which the "children" have performed throughout the country, and in their communes in other lands.

They now spell his name "Godhafi," to do him special honors and see him as a Christ-like or Mohammed-like figure.

"Do as I do. I pray to God. I'm very happy because I found the road with Allah, Allah, Allah," says the first verse of Khadafy's song. It is addressed to the industrialized nations of the world, and goes on:

"You hate Negroes. You do not pray. You are not good. You have lost your way. Your life is falsehood. Without Allah, Allah, Allah."

Although few of the Children of God speak Arabic, their well-kept, clean-shaven habits have made them something of a hit in Libya with their guitar-strumming and flute-playing band.

They performed recently at an international fair, and give shows at local restaurants, with opening pieces such as "Chukran Allah" (Thank you Allah) and the old U.S. hit, "Bye, Bye, Miss American Pie," which they regard as a theme song for their gradual exodus from the United States, which they have declared doomed.

The movement was started about 1969 by a Californian named David Berg, whom his followers regard as a prophet and call Moses. His "Mo" letters anticipate a violent end to developed nations.

The group, which settled temporarily in Texas, gradually spread elsewhere. They change their names, adopting Scriptural identities, getting support from merchants, parents, street donations and sales of "Mo" letters.

They've appeared at various public places, including the United Nations, dressed in sackcloth, their faces daubed with ashes, symbolizing the coming doom.

They have a French pop musical group, "Les Enfants de Dieu," which has produced several records, and they've recorded commercial cassettes in Brazil. They have discoteques in Rome and Athens and run an antidrug center in Amsterdam.

Berg claims the group has 250,000 converts worldwide, with 5,000 full-time workers in "colonies" proselytizing in 80 countries. But they've run into considerable opposition, including accusations of "brainwashing" in the United States and have been expelled from Lebanon and Madagascar.

"We are the first children's crusade and probably the last one before God's destruction of this wickedly worldly system," says a recent Mo letter, called the "New Nation News."

In recent years, they've increasingly moved away from the industrialized nation's concentrating on Africa and Asia. One of the Libyan-based group, Stephen Bruce Ferguson from Iowa, says:

"This is the land of the future. This is where it's all going to be. You know, the Koran is not much different from the Bible."

Berg, a recluse who never allows himself to be photographed and who now reportedly lives in England, recently met with the Libya's President Khadafy for nine hours, and says they found much in common.

Black Youth Congress due

About 300 Christian Black young people from throughout West Texas are expected to gather at the Permian Basin Baptist Encampment near Stanton July 29-30 for the West Texas Black Youth Congress.

The first meeting of its kind, the Congress is a joint program of six West Texas Baptist Associations, the two-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas and the Odessa Black Baptist churches. The Black youths will study and train for sharing their personal faith in Jesus Christ, said Dr. Vernon Hickerson, Black work consultant for the BGCT Missions Support Section.

The meeting has a theme of "Soul Power from Soul Food." Baptist Associations serving as co-sponsors include Lamesa, Permian, Mitchell-Scurry, Odessa, Big Spring, and Midland.

This is also the first time five Black people have led seminars on interfaith witness in a meeting of this kind, said Dr. Hickerson, coordinator for the Congress along with Mrs. Zelma Parsons of Sherwood Baptist Church, Odessa.

The five Black conference leaders are the Rev. S.C. Nash, pastor, Good Hope Baptist Church, McKinney; the Rev. E.J. Rhodes, pastor of First (Black) Baptist Church, McKinney; Mrs. Jo B. Shedwin, instructor at Odessa Permian High School; the Rev. Ronald Steward, pastor, Holiday Hills Baptist Church, Abilene; and the Rev. D.L. Ellison, pastor of Morning Chapel Baptist Church, Sulphur Springs.

Other key program leaders are Dr. George Worrell, associate in the BGCT Evangelism Division, Dallas; the Rev. A. Jase Jones, Southern Baptist area missionary for interfaith witness, Marble Falls; the Rev. Lenard Leftwich, Permian Basin Camp director; and Mrs. Pam Vessells, Midland.

The program begins at 2 p.m. Friday, July 29, and ends at 5 p.m. Saturday, July 30.

Presbyterian Youth set events

The Youth Fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church has scheduled Sunday evening events throughout the summer for high school and college age youths.

A swimming party on July 10 had 56 young people attending and a discussion and supper on July 17 had 52 in attendance. Another event is scheduled this Sunday evening.

Charities fight losing battle

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — International charities which try to nourish people in starving nations often fight a losing battle, but one group has a method that comes close to providing a perpetual source of food.

When a Heifer Project International plane lands in an underdeveloped country, a herd of cows strolls down the ramp.

The theory is to provide unending sustenance, according to Bill Peck, director of Heifer's Pacific Central Regional Office here. He said farm machinery and equipment may break down, crops may fail, supplies of food and medicine may run out.

"But cows give milk until they die, provide offspring to keep up the supply and serve as catalysts around which community development can happen."

Local Youth ordination set

The Rev. Tom Hadley, a Big Spring youth, will be ordained as a pastor of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod in his home church Sunday, July 24 at 3 p.m.

The ordination services will be held at St. Paul Lutheran Church with the Rev. Carol C. Kohl, local pastor of St. Paul, serving as Liturgist.

The ordination will be conducted by the Rev. George W. Fickenscher, pastor of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church in Houston. He will be assisted by area clergymen.

The speaker will be the Rev. Samuel Nafzger, executive director of the Commission on Theology and Church Relations, St. Louis, Mo.

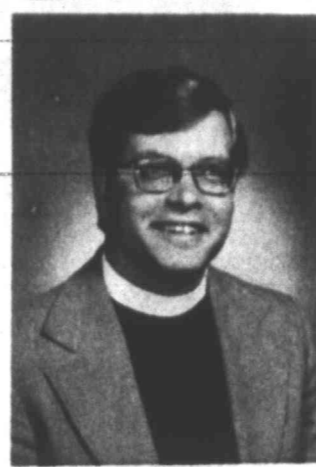

The organist will be Mrs. China Long, organist at St. Paul. Rev. Hadley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hadley of Big Spring was born June 23, 1951 in Wellington, Kansas. The family moved to Hayes where Tom attended school until the family moved to Big Spring in 1965.

He was confirmed at Messiah Lutheran Church in Hayes in June 1965.

Tom later enrolled at St. John's Academy in Winfield, Kansas, graduating in 1969. He then attended St. John's Junior College until enrolling at Concordia Senior College in Ft. Wayne, Indiana from which he received his B.A. degree in 1973.

He married Miss Cynthia Hingst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Hingst of Vernon in 1973.

Rev. and Mrs. Hadley, following their marriage, moved to St. Louis where Tom enrolled in Concordia Seminary. He served as an assistant to the pastors of Salem Lutheran Church in Florissant, Mo., Holy Cross Lutheran of Livingston, Ill., and Immanuel Lutheran of REV. TOM HADLEY Staunton, Ill.

His wife taught school in two Missouri towns. Rev. Hadley then served his internship or vicarage in Houston at Our Redeemer Church. On May 20 this year, he received his Master of Divinity from Concordia Theological Seminary.

He has accepted a call to Hope Lutheran Church in Batesville, Ark. It is a recently organized mission congregation in the Mid-south District of the Missouri Synod.

A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Hadley will be held in the Fellowship Hall of St. Paul Church following the ordination.

Serving in the house party will be members of the local Lutheran Women's Missionary League of which his mother is a member.

B52 may just fade away slowly

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Air Force's B52 bomber, like an old soldier, may just fade away slowly, but its mothball days in the Arizona desert are still a long way off.

"It's the bomber that never dies," said a worker at Kelly Air Force Base here, the prime maintenance depot for the big war birds.

The face-lifting of B52s has been centered here for nearly a quarter century.

Boeing Aircraft Corp. began delivering the huge bombers to the Air Force in 1954 and production ended in 1962 after 744 of the planes were built at an average cost of $9 million each.

About 400 B52s are still flying today, most for the Air Force's Strategic Air Command (SAC). Some of the planes have been retired, a few have crashed and some were shot down during the Vietnam War.

The youngest B52s are now 15 years old. Some of the planes have been around for 20 years and logged as many as 13,000 hours on their frames.

Now, with President Carter's decision to stop production of the $100 million per copy B1 bomber, the B52 will see many more years of service before retirement.

"Obsolescence is a frame of mind," says Col. Gerald Waltman, Kelly AFB's director of maintenance and the man who oversees the ongoing maintenance and modification of the B52 fleet.

How long can the B52 survive as a meaningful weapon in the nation's arsenal?

"We will make it last as long as the country needs it," said Waltman. "We'll bang on it, pray for it and put it back together as long as need be."

A few steps from his office, Waltman can stand on a balcony and look out over the huge, 1 million-square-foot hangar where as many as 14 B52s can be housed at one time under the same roof.

On the floor of the hangar, nearly 1,000 civilian workers are busy on a half dozen B52s and several gigantic C5 transports.

Waltman explained that the B52—158 feet long, 41 feet high and with a wingspan of 185 feet—has undergone constant modification and improvement since its introduction as America's primary, long-range strategic nuclear bomber. It can fly 10,000 miles at nearly 600 mph.

Previous modifications have strengthened the airplane's structure and wings. Modern electronic equipment has given it the ability to fly close to the ground and avoid enemy radar detection.

A "quick start" modification permits all eight jet engines to be started simultaneously, rather than one at a time. The plane can taxi for takeoff almost as soon as its six-man crew is aboard.

Its self-defense mechanisms—Electronic Counter Measures—are the most sophisticated. Its weaponry also has been updated.

Its once gleaming silver skin is covered now with a camouflage paint job. The B52 looks more evil than ever.

flexible plane," said Waltman. "It's a good, solid, stable, versatile airplane."

With the B1 out of production now, the B52 is expected to be modified soon to carry the newest cruise missiles and more complicated electronic equipment.

Millions of dollars more will be spent on each of the planes in coming years, the Pentagon says.

The effectiveness of the modifications was noted by former Air Force Secretary Thomas Reed, who said that during the 1972 Air Force Secretary Thomas Reed, who said that during the 1972 air raids on Hanoi, "against the most concentrated ground defense environment ever assembled," B52 attrition rates were only 2 percent.

The current Secretary of Defense, Harold Brown, says he is "reasonably sure that it (the B52) will last and be able to penetrate the Soviet Union as a low-altitude penetrator into the next decade."

"And I don't say it won't be able to do it after that," Brown added recently. "I'm just saying that I can't see further ahead than that."

Trevino leads Canadian

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Lee Trevino was the first to predict that his first-round lead in the $225,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship would not stand up.

"It's like my little boy said," Trevino quoted. "There's two things that won't last: a dog that chases cars and a pro that misses greens."

Trevino missed more than his share of greens Thursday, but he saved things with what he called "the best putting round I've ever had."

"In all the years I've played golf, and I've played golf for a lot of years in a lot of tournaments, that's the best putting round I've ever had."

"I didn't shoot 67. I putted 67. From where I hit the ball, I should have had about a 72. And it would have been a good 72, not an easy one. "I've got to start hitting the ball better if I hope to do anything."

Trevino, trying to rebuild his game following major back surgery last winter, one-putted 11 times and once holed a 45-footer to save par on his way to the five-under-par effort that put him one stroke in front of nine players tied at 68.

Heading that group was Jack Nicklaus, designed of the tough, hilly, leg-straining 7,000-yard Glen Abbey Golf Club course that is being played for the first time and will be a permanent site for this national championship.

Nicklaus, who has yet to win the Canadian title, shared the No. 2 spot with Bruce Lietzke and Tom Purtzer, each of whom had two eagles on his back nine, George Archer, Tom Kite, Mike Morley, George Cadle, Jimmy Wittenberg and rookie Jeff Mitchell.

Tom Weiskopf, winner of two of the last four Canadian national titles, was at 69, Al Geiberger at 70 and defending champion Jerry Pate at 71.

In a large group at 72 were Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Ray Floyd. Ben Crenshaw blew to an 80.

Atkinson's suit deliberation begins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A six-person federal court jury was expected to start deliberation today of George Atkinson's $2 million slander suit against the Pittsburgh Steelers and their coach, Chuck Noll.

On Thursday, the jury was told there was no doubt Noll was trying to damage Atkinson when he linked the Oakland Raiders' veteran defensive back to a "criminal element" in professional football.

"Mr. Noll was nobody's dummy," attorney Willie Brown said in final arguments. "He knew what he was saying. There is no question he had in mind doing serious damage to Mr. Atkinson's reputation. He showed absolute reckless disregard as to what might happen to Mr. Atkinson in his career."

James MacInnis, the Steelers' attorney, said Noll's explanation of what he meant by "criminal element" — those who wantonly break the rules — shows that his words were "applied and correctly used."

Atkinson is seeking a million dollars each from the Steelers and Noll because of remarks the Steelers' coach made following a Steeler-Raider game last September.

Mel Blount suing too

NEW ORLEANS — All-Pro cornerback Mel Blount filed a $5 million suit against his team and coach, saying there's no way he'll report to the Pittsburgh Steelers training camp Friday.

Blount is angry at being identified as part of a "criminal element" in the National Football League and that the identification came from his coach, Chuck Noll.

Cards outdeal Astros

ST. LOUIS (AP) — J. R. Richard's version of summer heat restricted the St. Louis Cardinals to four hits Thursday night, but each one counted.

In fact, on one of the few occasions Richard elected to ease throttle the Cards' Keith Hernandez proved ready and dented the Houston Astros right-hander for a home run.

"I was standing there with the bat on my shoulder thinking, 'This time ol' J.R. is going to change up,'" said an impish Hernandez in joking tones.

"That fouled up the book a little," mused Hernandez, a fast ball hitter whose drive in the second inning triggered a 4-0 St. Louis victory.

Hernandez' blow, his first homer since June 21, helped decide a pitching duel between the 6-foot-8 Richard, 9-7, and Cards right-hander Bob Forsch, 12-4, who walked five but permitted only three Astros hits.

"I don't know what it was. Sometimes I was standing out there and I just didn't feel good," said Forsch. "I guess I just wasn't concentrating. I wanted to keep them off the bases, because they're a pretty good running team."

Forsch, relying on a lively fast ball, held Houston hitless until former teammate Jose Cruz sliced a double with two out in the fourth inning.

Meanwhile Hernandez' blast represented the only St. Louis hit until Garry Templeton singled, stole second base and scored on two grounders in the Cards' fourth.

Forsch became Richard's sixth strikeout victim to start the sixth but Jerry Mumphrey followed with a single and also swiped second.

Templeton then picked on a 3-1 Richard delivery and hammered a triple to left-center for his second hit and afterward scored the final run on Ted Simmons' second RBI grounder.

"I was happy to get them," conceded Simmons of the RBI, which boosted his season's total to 61. "J.R. was throwing everything."

The shutout was the seventh of his career for Forsch, who also permitted singles by Cruz and Enos Cabell in the sixth and eighth innings en route to his fifth complete game.

"Both of them pitched good," said Astros Manager Bill Virdon in evaluating the performances of Richard, who entered the game with a streak of 22 1-3 scoreless innings, and Forsch.

"Forsch pitched better, I guess," said Virdon. "He was better than at any time before we've seen him."

FOLLOWS THROUGH — Jack Nicklaus follows through on a long drive down the 18th fairway Thursday during the first round play of the Canadian Open in Oakville. The Glen Abbey golf course, which Nicklaus redesigned, seemed to his liking as he finished the day tied at four-under-par with a throng of other golfers in second place.

Hockey merger depends on cash

NEW YORK (AP) — The proposed merger of the National Hockey League and the World Hockey Association may hinge on the financial stability of the WHA clubs applying for membership in the NHL.

Amid reports that at least eight NHL teams are prepared to vote against any accommodation of WHA teams, thus defeating a motion for merger, WHA President Bill MacFarland said Thursday that eight of his league's teams were working on applications to join the NHL.

MacFarland told a Canadian newspaper that Quebec, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Calgary, New England, Cincinnati, Houston and Birmingham "should have everything completed by next week" in order to file for NHL membership.

"The NHL is most concerned with the financial stability of our clubs," MacFarland said. "Although the teams in the WHA lost money last season, the owners and principals making the applications are on a sound financial base."

"The markets in the WHA cities are acceptable, but some of the buildings are short of NHL standards. Quebec, New England and Winnipeg will be adding seats over the next three years to bring them up to the 12,000-seat minimum required by the NHL. Right now, Calgary's position is unclear."

So is the NHL's. During meetings last month in Chicago, the league appeared nearly unanimous in its approval of a merger. At a meeting in Toronto earlier this month, that support seemed to waver and a decision on accommodation of at least six WHA clubs was put off indefinitely.

Now, the fact-finding committee established to investigate the merger is making further studies.

Local Americans, Lamesans win contests

By DANNY REAGAN Sports Editor

As the week-end process continues in the District III Little League Tournament in the city, one local team, the Lamesa team, and two nines from Midland still remain in contention for the crown.

The Big Spring American League All-Stars scored five quick runs in the first three innings of Thursday night's quarter-final match-up to nudge out last year's champion club, the Midland Northern All-Stars, 5-3.

Across town at the American League Park, Lamesa and Midland Tower were engaged in a "Hitathon". The Lamesa squad nipped the Midland team 9-8.

The local American hitmen had a prosperous night on the diamond, garnering 10 hits off Midland's David McFarland. Jamie Thompson soared a two-run homer in the second inning to lead the big sticks.

Teammate Tony Shortes connected for a single and double, and Scott Richardson, the winning pitcher, also hit for a one-and two-bagger. Richardson and McFarland each had 10 strike-outs and only two safeties.

Other hitters for the locals included Marty Rodriguez and Robbie Phernetton with two singles each, and Tom Cudd with one single.

Hitting safely for the Midland Northern diamondmen were Arch Graham, the left-fielder who went three for three for the night, Fred Mills, who had two hits, and Stacy Copeland with the only other hit for the visitors.

Both teams left five men on base, and between them, only committed three errors, two for Big Spring.

In Thursday night's other game, Midland Tower doubled the hit output of Lamesa, 12-6, but fell just short in the run category, 9-8.

However, Lamesa gained impetus early by sending five men across the plate in the second frame with only two hits. Midland scored two runs each in the second, third, fourth and sixth innings, but left eight men on base at crucial times.

Hitting for the victors were Wes Addison, who went three for four with one home run and two singles; David Castillo, two singles; and Richard Caballero, with one single.

Midland Tower hitters included Darrell Holmes (double), Keith Badgett (double), Kevin Taylor (single), Pete Payan (two singles), Judd Ryan (single), Jimmy Martin (single and triple), Jeff Clements (single and double) and Dale Holligan (two singles).

Martin Rodriguez took the win from the mound for Lamesa, and Midland's Pete Payan was credited with the loss. Lamesa left seven runners stranded on the field.

By virtue of their impressive wins Thursday, and provided the elements let them play, Lamesa and the Big Spring American All-Stars will meet tonight at the American League Park for a berth in the Saturday night finals. Gametime is 8 p.m.

Tonight's other game will pit Midland Central and Midland North Central against each other for the other final slot. Gametime is 8 p.m. at the National League Park.

The two winners tonight will face each other Saturday night at 8 o'clock on the National League diamond to determine which one of them will travel to San Angelo Aug. 1 for the bi-district clash with the winner of the District IV tournament.

The eventual victor there will then make the trip to the state tournament in Waco the week of Aug. 8.

Royals are breathneckers

By the Associated Press

The Kansas City Royals, seeking another division title, keep closing in on first place in the American League West. The expansion Seattle Mariners, hopeful of finishing out of the cellar, are all the way up to sixth and wouldn't mind staying there.

The Royals sliced another half-game off the lead of the idle Chicago White Sox Thursday night with an 8-1 rout of the Detroit Tigers and trail the division leaders by just two games. Meanwhile, the Mariners edged Oakland 4-3 and dropped the A's into the basement, one-half game behind Seattle.

"It's easy to get someplace, but it's tougher to stay there," said Seattle Manager Darrell Johnson, whose Mariners have been in last place almost steadily since the start of the season.

"It's kind of like getting to the major leagues. A lot of players get there, but not that many stick around."

Elsewhere, the Boston Red Sox split a doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians, winning the opener 11-4 but losing the nightcap 8-2; the New York Yankees split with the Milwaukee Brewers, winning 7-0 and losing 5-4 in 10 innings, and the Minnesota Twins nipped the California Angels 3-2. Baltimore, Texas and Toronto also had the night off.

Al Cowens had four hits and drove in five runs in Kansas City's triumph while Paul Splittorff fired a four-hitter for his third complete game in 22 starts. The victory was the seventh in a row for the Royals, longest winning streak of the season for the defending champs.

Mariners 4, A's 3 Ruppert Jones and Julio Cruz drove in two runs apiece for Seattle while Glenn Abbott defeated his former Oakland teammates for the third time in four decisions. Abbott lost a shutout bid in the seventh when Wayne Gross hit a two-run homer. Mitchell Page homered in the ninth for Oakland's final run.

However, Jones ripped his 18th homer to get the Mariners started in the second inning and his sacrifice fly in the third made it 2-0. Cruz delivered the other two runs with singles in the fifth and sixth.

Red Sox 11-2, Indians 4-8 Home runs by Andre Thornton, John Lowenstein and Bruce Bochte highlighted the Indians' victory while Butch Hobson for his second hit in Boston's nine-run seventh inning that decided the opener.

FOULED-UP FUNNEL — Most funnels allow water to flow downward, but this one squirts it up into the face of Miami Dolphin defensive tackle Bob Heinz. Heinz and other Dolphin regulars reported to Miami's Biscayne College for their first day of training camp.

Everyone calm down...Dorsett's just fine

IRVINE, Calif. (AP) — It was enough to make the president-general manager of the Dallas Cowboys lose his tan and cause "palpitations." It was the sight of Heisman Trophy winner and top draft choice Tony Dorsett limping to the sidelines after being sandwiched between two tacklers and struck head-on and low by a third.

Pittsburgh who has been tagged by many as the key player to get the Dallas Cowboys back on the road to the Super Bowl — a route from which they were derailed last year because of the lack of a potent running game, suffered what has now been determined to be a ligament bruise on the inside of his left knee.

But the sight of their high-priced running back limping from the field during a scrimmage with the San Diego Chargers was almost too much for Tex Schramm, president — and general manager of the Cowboys.

"It gives you palpitations," Schramm said. Observers said Schramm appeared to lose his tan at the sight of Dorsett limping.

Dr. Marvin Knight, orthopedic specialist for the Cowboys, said Dorsett will likely be out of action three to five days.

If it was, anyone could do it

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't easy being Reggie Jackson.

Good looking, intelligent, articulate and rich, Jackson should have the key to this city. Instead he is being locked out. The fans boo him, his teammates don't understand him and his manager wants to punch him.

"Nine out of 10 guys would love his statistics," said Sal Bando of Milwaukee, Jackson's friend dating back to their championship days in Oakland. "I wouldn't sell him short. With all the pressure he's under, I think he's having an outstanding year."

Bando, a free agent, who signed a $1.4 million contract for five years, says he has not been booed at home — even though he has had his troubles at the plate.

Jackson, who was with his parents and girl friend, then was subjected to a stream of profanities from some of the kids. Jackson couldn't take it anymore. He chased one 13-year-old, but never caught him, he said.

Slow Pitchers slate tourney

The Men's District Slow Pitch Tournament begins here Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in Johnny Stone Park.

Thirteen teams are entered in the tourney, and they are shooting for berths in the state tournament which will be held the weekend of the 30th.

The first round pairings are as follows, with NF designating north field and SF, south field:

1. Texaco vs. G.I. Forum, 6 p.m. (NF); 2. Los Chicanos vs. Downtown Merchants, 6 p.m. (SF); 3. Big Spring Merchants vs. Civil Engineers, 7 p.m. (NF); 4. Kentucky Fried Chicken vs. Cabot, 7 p.m. (SF); 5. Coahoma vs. Stanton, 8 p.m. (NF); 6. Webb vs. winner of game 1, 8 p.m. (SF); 7. Snyder vs. winner of game 2, 9 p.m. (NF); 8. Winners of games 3 and 4, 9 p.m. (SF); 9. Small Tool vs. winner of game 5, 10 p.m. (NF).

In case of bad weather, the entire schedule may be played on Sunday.

Reuss leads Reds' defeat

For three days during the All-Star break, Jerry Reuss heard crickets chirp and the wind blow through the trees in a sleepy New England retreat.

Thursday night, he heard the crack of Al Oliver's bat and the wind of his pitches blowing by batters.

Both kinds of noises were significant to the Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander. The first provided needed therapy and the second a needed victory, as the Pirates beat the Cincinnati Reds 6-2.

"I stuck my feet in the Atlantic Ocean and washed away the first half of the season," said Reuss, talking about his dismal 4-10 record before Tuesday night's All-Star Game. "It seemed the farthest thing from my mind was pitching by batters."

"I slept late, sat on the porch, heard the crickets chirp. These are things I don't hear during the baseball season."

Stacy leads Women's Open

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — The Hazeltine National Golf Club was dubbed a "cow pasture" several years ago during the U.S. Men's Open, but their female counterparts say it's a rather nice place to play.

"I didn't see any cows out there," continued Miss Stacy, the lone competitor to break par Thursday. "I came here thinking this place would be wide open and flat, but it's rolling and tight."

Jan Stephenson, who joined Jane Blalock, Joyce Kazmierski and Amy Alcott in a four-way tie for second at 72, described the 6,313-yard course as "tough, but fair."

Insulted at home games and taunted on the road, he is a man without a city. As the object of hate wherever he goes, the parallel with Jackie Robinson 30 years ago seems valid.

Robinson was not accepted by many players and fans because he was the first black. In some circles, color has a bearing on why Jackson's fan club does not need a big room for its meetings. But for the average fan who looks at statistics rather than skin, the criticism goes deeper.

It is that simple.

Other teams participating in the three-day District 4 Senior tournament. The Indians, with an 11-3 record, feature former Steer baseball players and are managed by Don Spence and coached by Bill Battle.

Teams from Odessa, Haskell, and Sweetwater are also entered. Pairings for both tournaments will be announced later.

'Bird' is a little better

DETROIT (AP) — Pitcher Mark "The Bird" Fidrych of the Detroit tigers is scheduled to test his ailing shoulder with some light throwing Monday.

Teenage tourney set here

The Elks, Rebels, and Indians of the Big Spring Teenage Baseball League will be in district tournaments starting Monday, July 25.

25 G's put up for horse

LEXINGTON, Ky. — A $25,000 reward offer resulted in a tip to authorities and an arrest warrant in the case of a valuable mare stolen nearly one month ago from Claiborne Farm, farm manager John Sosby said Thursday.

Manager Ralph Houk said "Thursday he doesn't have any rehabilitation program for his star right-hander yet. However, he said, doctors think Fidrych's sore shoulder "is a little better."

Reuss allowed but six hits in one of his strongest performances of the season and had plenty of help from his teammates. The Pirate defense contributed three double plays and Oliver drove in a pair of runs.

Reuss also had some assistance from the fans in notching his 100th career victory. The Pirates broke open the game with three runs in the fifth, courtesy of a fan's umbrella.

Leadoff batter Frank Taveras hit a foul popup and Cincinnati first base man Dan Drissen had a chance to catch it near the railing but the ball struck a bright blue umbrella and eluded him.

Judge extends jail closing deadline

DALLAS (AP) — It wasn't exactly a last-minute telephone call from the governor, but Dallas County Sheriff Carl Thomas and county commissioners got a last-minute reprieve from having to close the county jail to new prisoners. U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes agreed Thursday to extend her deadline for closing the jail to new prisoners from 1 a.m. today until 1 a.m. Tuesday because she apparently was happy with progress being made toward construction of a new jail.

The judge had earlier ordered the jail closed because it did not meet state jail standards and commissioners had not taken decisive action in their attempts to choose a jail site, purchase the land and draw up plans.

Judge Hughes first issued the order closing the jail Monday while the commissioners bickered over the site of a proposed new jail.

The order sent the commissioners scrambling for a new jail site, a place to put new prisoners and state permission to bypass a bond election for the needed funds for the new jail.

Before the weekend extension was granted, County Judge John Whittington said, "I don't know if we can (keep the jail open)." "But you can be assured we would stay up nights trying to."

The commissioners voted in June to build a jail on a downtown site. But the Dallas city council, fearing the jail would hinder downtown development, opposed the plan. The city owns a portion of the proposed downtown site.

The selection of a site alone, however, will not satisfy Judge Hughes. She said the site must be paid for.

More than five years ago, Judge Hughes told the commissioners that their jail did not meet state jail standards. She threatened to close the facility.

Tennessee mom proposes son swap

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A Tennessee woman wants to take over the care and feeding of some other woman's son if the other woman will reciprocate.

Mrs. John Guinn of Memphis, Tenn., lives near Millington Naval Air Station, but her son is stationed at Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth. She says her son, 19-year-old John Guinn Jr., doesn't get home very often, so she's looking for a Fort Worth mother who has a son stationed at Millington.

The plan is simple. Mrs. Guinn would "mother" the Fort Worth woman's son and the Fort Worth woman would keep an eye out for John Jr.

"I promise home-cooked meals, a dog to pat, four kids to fight with, a father to be smarter than, lots of love, many 'please drive carefully's' from a worried mom and grandparents, even," the Memphis telephone operator said in a letter to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Airman Guinn said he was surprised at his mother's proposal but "it'd be fine with me."

"Especially after eating at the chow hall. I think they can burn water there," he said.

John Guinn admits that he's finally getting used to being away from home. He has three more years to serve and says he hopes to spend them in Fort Worth.

The airman said it would be nice to occasionally have something else to do other than drink beer with his friends.

What he doesn't miss is being told to drive carefully. "I can drive any way I want to now. All I got to do is watch out for getting in trouble with the man," he said.

Mrs. Guinn, at home with John's four younger brothers and sisters, said she got the WATERMELON MAN — Glen Howell, 810 E. 13th, isn't going anywhere in a hurry as long as holds onto his 85 pound watermelon. The monster melon was grown by Howell's niece in Hattiesburg, Miss. Howell claims that the melon is too big to taste good, but he plans to save the seeds in hopes of a giant offspring.

 They call it Westbrook with Marj Carpenter

Why, nobody knows, but they call it Westbrook. The best information on Westbrook comes from Mrs. Witt Hines in Colorado City. She has worked hard at gathering information on that community. It was called Westbrook back when it was one of four stations set up by the Texas and Pacific Railroad back in 1880.

The four stations were Loraine, Colorado, Iatan and Westbrook. This was prior to the time there were any settlers there.

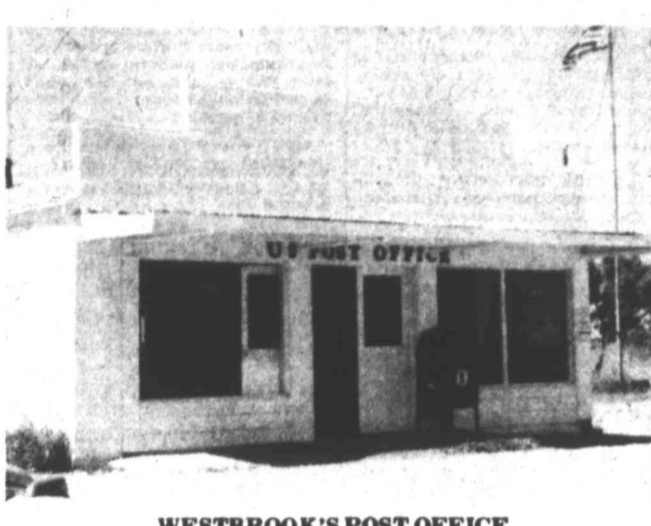

Mrs. Hines said one book reports that Westbrook was named for a farmer but there were not any farmers in that location in 1880. She believes that it was named for a railroad surveyor.

She was trying to track down a report of an early surveyor who told friends that a small West Texas town was named for him.

Some of the earliest people in the 1880s were Charlie Hooper, who operated a store, and Charlie Dale. Along about 1890 and 1891, some settlers began to move into the location.

Among the group were A.B. Hines, who came from Jones County and C.P. (Uncle Pete) Conaway. Those were Mrs. Hines' father-in-law and father, so it is no wonder that she is interested in the early history.

There is a marker on the Westbrook Cemetery saying that it was started in 1890. It's across the road from the First Baptist Church where a one-room schoolhouse once stood. One of the early teachers in that school was a Sam Bullock.

In 1905, some of the early settlers had a big cotton crop and in 1906 and '07, an influx of farmers moved to town. This was the biggest population increase in Westbrook until the first successful oil well in the county was drilled in 1920.

The No. 1 T&P, W.H. Abrams, was drilled in 1920 by Steve Owen. It was owned by Standard Oil Co. The strike depth was only 442 feet. From that well, H.L. Lockhart in 1922 constructed the first pipeline in the Permian Basin. Additional discoveries contributed to the building of the refinery in Colorado City in 1924.

COMING JULY 23:
 Kurt Sproul and Robert Beal's
'HOT STUFF'

Kurt Sproul and Robert Beal are stopping in Big Spring for a fast week with their sizzling new revue from Las Vegas called "HOT STUFF." It is a mini-revue that features fast-paced choreography in their dance numbers, comedy, singing, magic acts, lightning-fast costume changes, and "one of the best-looking casts ever to be in show business." The majority of the cast were in an all time favorite show called Bottoms Up. Kurt Sproul and Robert Beal put their heads together and decided to produce a show very similar but faster, fresher and newer. Sproul and Beal, currently being billed as the youngest producers in show business, have worked with such names as Ann-Margret, Sammy Davis, Jr., Phyllis Diller, Bob Hope, Olivia Newton-John, Milti Gaynor, John Davidson, Jerry Van Dyke, Rip Taylor, and a host of other luminaries. The sets and costumes that Sproul and Beal have conceived have been executed by the same companies in Las Vegas who work for all the production shows, such as Hallelujah Hollywood, Dolles Bergere, Lido de Paris, and Casino de Paris. "HOT STUFF" will be appearing at the Brass Nail for one week only. We are unable to accept reservations, so make plans early to see the show.
