Six persons murdered

MIAMI (AP) — Six men were killed and a man and woman wounded in what police called an "execution-type" slaying in a middle class suburban area northwest of Miami.

lined up in two of three bedrooms in the ranch-style home. Page said all the men had been shot with "a large caliber weapon." But he said investigators do not yet know if more than one gun had been used. Page said the house was "obviously searched" by the killers. "They were looking for something," he said. Neighbors identified the home owner as Livingston Stocker. It was not immediately known if Stocker, who has lived there for five years, was one of the victims. Officers said they believed they knew the identities of some of the victims, but would not release details. Police said they were looking for three men. Witnesses said they saw the three leaving the scene in a white and maroon 1977 Thunderbird, which belonged to one of the victims. Authorities said the wounded man and woman were taken to Parkway General Hospital. They were identified as Johnnie Hall, 45, and Margaret Wooden, 25. Hall was in serious condition with a gunshot wound to the head. Miss Wooden was reported in good condition.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter declared today that Israel's legalization of three settlements on the West Bank of the Jordan River poses obstacles to peace. He also announced progress toward negotiating a ban on all nuclear tests. At a nationally broadcast news conference, Carter acknowledged that he had not discussed the granting of legal status with Prime Minister Menahem Begin on his visit here last week. He called it "an oversight" on his part. However, Carter said he had advised Begin that the establishment of new settlements "would be a difficult thing for public opinion to accept here and in Arab countries."

Carter cites nuclear tests ban progress

He said the search for a new director of the FBI was "proceeding very slowly, very methodically and with the prospect of good results." Assessing his first six months in office, Carter said he had made mistakes "in minor things" — he declined to list them — and said the White House's relations with Congress had been improved. Carter said the major stumbling block to reconvening of the Geneva conference on the Mideast is the Palestinian issue. However, he said until the Palestine Liberation Organization gives up its commitment to the destruction of Israel the administration will not support PLO participation in the peace talks. Carter rejected any notion that he is biased either toward Israel or the Arab countries. And he called on the leaders on both sides to try to cool down the situation in the Middle East by not being so adamant about their positions. Carter said he had discussed the settlements with Prime Minister Menahem Begin during his visit here last week. However, Carter said Begin had not given him advance notice that the Israeli government would recognize the legitimacy of three new settlements, as it did this week. Carter declined to castigate Begin on the settlements. He said he recognized that Begin had campaign commitments. Besides, Carter said, Israel has not made the settlements permanent.

Junior rodeo here has 331 entrants

Tonight at 8 o'clock is the opening performance of the 32nd annual Howard County Junior Rodeo at the rodeo arena at the west end of FM 700 where it intersects with Highway 80. One of four girls will be crowned queen tonight following the grand entry. The four candidates are Laurie Daniels, Lucky Acres 4-H Club; Toni Hale, Coahoma 4-H; Tammy Peugh, Knott 4-H and Jana Wegner, Gayhill 4-H Club. There are 331 entrants in the rodeo itself which is directed by junior directors including Paul Ray, chairman; Kent Ivey, Dirk Perry, Bret Griffith, Lyle Grantham, Sammie Don Buchanan, Van Gaskins, Kent Robinson, Danny Peugh and Brent Nichols. Events in the three nights of junior rodeo will include breakaway roping, bull riding, bareback bronc riding, pole bending, calf roping and ribbon roping. A special event is the goat sacking which usually is accompanied by a great deal of hilarity. Participants must be 19 and under and never have been married. Tickets are $1.50 and a pair of boots are to be given away each night at the show. Two posts still to be filled Howard College is still interviewing candidates for the position of dean of student life and the English-journalism slot. These two posts were vacated recently with the resignations of Tony Ortiz, dean of student life and Miss Ann Ward, journalism instructor. Both accepted jobs in other localities, with Ortiz going to Roswell, N.M., and Miss Ward to San Angelo. The college has had less resignation than usual during the past school year, but were caught with two right at the end of the vacation period making it necessary to hold late interviews. Dr. Charles Hays, president, expressed pride in the quality of the present staff at the college at this time.

Robbers seize $3.54 million PARIS (AP) — Robbers today seized a semitrailer truck containing 17 million francs ($3.54 million) in coins in a holdup near a Paris railroad station, police said. The coins were being sent to the Bank of France from Bordeaux. A truck ordered by the bank had picked up the container and was leaving the Gare de Lyon railway station when three or four armed men stepped in front of it and forced the chauffeur and a guard to get into a car which had carried the gangsters, the authorities said.

Hospital disposal list to be available Aug. 15

A meeting today at Webb AFB established guidelines for the removal of equipment from the Webb AFB hospital. Col. Paul Jacko, representing the Surgeon-Generals office, told City Manager Harry Nagel, City Attorney Jim Gregg, and Dr. P. W. Malone that the Air Force intended to leave $428,000 worth of equipment in the hospital. Jacko assured the group that a list of all the equipment in the hospital, including that the Air Force intended to remove, would be supplied to the city before Aug. 15. Jacko further promised that if any "need to buy" equipment was to be moved from the base, prior information on the removal would be supplied to the city. The Air Force intends to remove $141,000 worth of equipment from the hospital, according to Jacko. Of that equipment, he said, "There will be some things you will want to keep, but they will be few and far between. I can candidly say that everything which will remain will contribute dramatically to your effort." Malone had previously stirred excitement with his proposal of a joint cancer diagnostic and therapy center and Texas Tech-Howard College medical training center. According to Malone, the cancer center could be organized as a satellite of M.D. Anderson Clinic in Houston. Malone told the assembled group today that 2,600 new cases of cancer were predicted for the Panhandle and this part of West Texas, and that no cancer clinic was presently available. Nagel told Jacko that "in this clinic we see the chance to take advantage of a unique opportunity to use what would otherwise be a useless building to the city. We intend to pursue every possibility in connection with the clinic."

Santa Barbara blaze blamed on box kite

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A disastrous brush fire that was started by an errant kite touching a power line has finally been controlled, fire officials said today. The blaze injured 22 persons, destroyed or damaged 385 expensive homes and caused a loss estimated by officials at $50 million. "It's very quiet this morning. There are no flames at all," said Dennis Orbus, a U.S. Forest Service spokesman. "We're just tamping down the hot spots now." The fire which began Tuesday night and was contained Wednesday had burned 740 acres of brush. An estimated 3,000 persons fled the area. Authorities said they were told by a young man who they would not identify that the fire, one of the worst in this scenic community's history, began when his kite blew into a high-voltage power line in Sycamore Canyon. The burning kite fluttered to the ground and set the brush afire. "I shall always regret the part, however innocent, I have had in this tragic matter," the young man was quoted as saying Wednesday. "I am deeply shocked and saddened by the great loss and suffering which has resulted from the fire." The kite flyer was reported in seclusion outside the city, and authorities said no prosecution was contemplated.

Cap Rock's billings may be boosted 30 per cent

STANTON — Rural families in West Texas whose electricity is supplied by Cap Rock Electric Coop may find themselves paying 30 per cent higher rates if the State Utility Commission approves Texas Electric Service Company's recent rate increase request. James Eiland, Cap Rock manager, said this week "for that reason our board of directors voted to join with four other coops in this area to attempt to intervene in the rate case." Eiland added, "If the TESCO increase is granted, it would increase our overall power bill by one million dollars, about 30 per cent."

The others are Lone Wolf Coop, Colorado City; Taylor County Coop, Merkel; Mid-West Coop, Roby and Lyntegar Coop in Tahoka. Eiland said their rates would be raised 30 per cent while others would receive a 23.6 per cent rate hike. They considered this unfair. Eiland said, "We have 2,200 irrigation connects, some serving two or three wells. This area depends on the farmer and such an increase would certainly hurt our farmers." The increase would cost the average Cap Rock customer $103 more per year, according to Eiland.

In Texas Parade Magazine

City to get 'treatment'

By BILL WERRELL. The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce board of directors decided Wednesday to spend $8,750 for an eight-page splash of color photographs and articles dealing with Big Spring in the coming October issue of "Texas Parade". Chamber vice president Bill Albright said that the special report, paid for with the city's motel occupancy tax, is best described as a sales tool. He said that the magazine, "Texas Parade" had readership of about 250,000, and that the 8-page spread would really be an advertisement for Big Spring's potential as a convention and travel center, and for industrial development. Albright explained that the $8,750 would cover not only the expense of the eight-page spread for the magazine's normal circulation, but also included the expense of 5000 more 12-page documents to be distributed by the Chamber. In other business discussed at the board of directors meeting Wednesday afternoon, the directors agreed to contribute $200 along with $200 from the board of Industrial Development, and $200 from the Tourist Development Council to put up a new Chamber of Commerce sign. The $600 sign will be 8 feet by 16 feet and will be mounted on the top edge of the Chamber office building. After another suggestion by Bill Albright, the directors authorized a new program called the "Big Spring Hold-up". THE "HOLD-UP", designed to further advertise and promote Big Spring, will put an out-of-town family in a local motel, and will entertain it with food from local restaurants, and sights of Big Spring. The actual 'hold-up' will occur when officers from the Texas Department of Public Safety will stop a car outside of town; red lights blazing and all. Out of the troopers car will hop a representative from the Tourist Development Council, who will explain to the outsiders that this is a "Big Spring Hold-up". Money for the novel venture will be supplied through local motels and restaurants. Chamber president Roger Brown appointed a nominating committee to nominate members of the Chamber board of directors in the fall. The committee will consist of two members from the present board, Jack Redding and John Arrick, and three others, Polly Mays, Neil Fryar, and Richard Atkins. Johnnie Lou Avery gave a progress report on achieving national accreditation in order to be recognized by the National Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Avery explained that progress toward submitting a self evaluation to the National Chamber was going well and deadline for submission of the report is Aug. 17. The board agreed to commit $300 to pay costs of bringing in National Chamber representatives who will make an evaluation to be submitted to the National Chamber. Bill Albright submitted a new Policies and Procedures Manual of the Chamber, for approval by the Board. He explained that the new policies are not inflexible, and that they would bend to fit different situations. The board approved the new manual. Albright also suggested the planning of a "Fun Breakfast" between now and Nov. 1, when National Chamber Members would give their evaluation of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce to the National Chamber. The "Fun Breakfast" would take the place of one of the quarterly luncheons normally given by the Chamber. Albright explained that breakfasts were much more fun than Chamber luncheons because of the early hours involved. The board of directors, after only a few expressions of doubt, unanimously approved the new idea, and appropriated $100 to kick it off.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: It depends Q. Is there a city ordinance that prohibits the parking of church buses and vans on streets in residential areas? I am not referring to temporary parking, nor do I refer to driveway parking. I refer to permanent parking on the street with the bus or van being moved about twice a week. A. Whether the bus is illegally parked would depend on how many passengers it holds, according to City Attorney James Gregg. In essence, the city ordinance states that it is illegal to park a bus with a capacity of 10 or more passengers within a residential area for any longer time than it takes to load or unload passengers.

Offbeat: Weighty investigations

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — Police here were investigating two weighty crimes Thursday: the theft of 700 used railroad ties and the mysterious moving of a cement loading dock. The 122,000 pounds of ties, worth an estimated $7,000, disappeared in a 48-hour period from a storage area in nearby Hanover Township, police said. A Greenville, S.C., trucking company, reported the disappearance of the ties. The firm estimated it would have taken three semi-truck loads to carry away the loot. Police said they had no idea what the thieves would have for the ties. In the second big crime report, officials of the DCA Food Industries wholesale distribution center said their 30-foot-wide cement loading dock had been moved five inches off its foundation by some unknown source. They estimated it would cost $7,000 to get the dock back into its normal position.

Welfare reform fuss brews

WASHINGTON (AP) — HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. is opposing a cut in welfare benefits for tenants of subsidized housing because of the political battle it would entail, a government paper shows.

After a two-week struggle with the housing industry, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, mayors, governors, civil rights and labor groups, Califano wrote President Carter, "My best political judgment is that the misery is not worth the fight."

But two new controversies broke out over Califano's 60-page welfare reform proposal, parts of which The Associated Press has seen.

Carter is meeting privately today with several Cabinet members to discuss the paper. He plans to unveil his welfare reform by Aug. 4.

At a joint news conference Wednesday night with Califano, five big city mayors accepted the HEW secretary's turnaround on the tenants' issue. But they said they are dissatisfied with his unspecified promises that the federal government will increase the 50 per cent share of welfare costs it pays. States, counties and some cities pay the rest.

A second dispute brewed over Califano's proposal to shift $550 million from housing subsidies to welfare payments. Government sources said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare argues its welfare program will increase the rents paid for subsidized housing by that amount, allowing a similar reduction in government subsidies for these units.

Sources said the welfare proposal on Carter's desk claims HUD agreed with the $550 million figure, but HUD officials vehemently denied that and said no detailed calculation had been made.

But the dispute over Califano's original plan for cutting welfare benefits for subsidized housing tenants appeared at an end.

In one section of the welfare outline, Califano listed such cuts as an option but ended his discussion of them by writing, "I do not recommend this course."

The skeptical mayors who appeared with him at the news conference said they still were trying to get assurance the welfare plan would fulfill Carter's campaign promise of a federal assumption of welfare costs.

Califano said there would be relief for state and local governments, but the mayors complained he would not tell them how much. Mayor Abraham Beame of New York City, which is paying $485 million in welfare this year, said that if the program is not satisfactory "we'll keep up the pressure."

Ford will visit Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Former president Gerald Ford will visit Israel next spring as guest of Prime Minister Menachem Begin, Begin has said.

Speaking in Parliament Wednesday, Begin said he telephoned the invitation to Ford in California when he was in Washington last week.

Sen. McClellan is improving

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John McClellan is improving and does not suffer from any critical heart problems, a cardiologist said after examining the 81-year-old lawmaker.

Dr. Edward Massie visited McClellan at the Baptist Medical Center, where the Arkansas Democrat has been resting since Friday night.

Massie said McClellan should be released from the hospital within a week and would be able to return to his duties in the Senate.

Weather

Tornadoes lash parts of Texas

Rip roaring thunderstorms and occasional tornadoes lashed parts of Texas during the night, and deluges of rain filled the streets in places.

Sheriff's officers reported one twister struck one mile east of Granburg in the area south of Fort Worth and unroofed a farm house. There was no other word of damage there or from other tornadoes sighted near Sealy, which is in the Houston vicinity, and in Hood County near the middle of the state.

One of the heaviest downpours dumped more than two inches of rain at Alief, just west of Houston. Flooding of streets occurred at several points in that part of the state and also near Fort Worth. A bumper crop of thunderstorms ripped through the south part of the Texas Panhandle into the South Plains, and marched eastward through much of North Central Texas while others belabored much of East Texas.

Appreciable rainfall brought some further relief from the protracted July heat wave at many points. Moisture measurements elsewhere included Dallas-Fort Worth 1.08 and Lubbock .92 inch.

By early morning occasional fog and low clouds covered much of Northeast Texas and it was at least partly cloudy everywhere else.

Forecasts—promised scattered thunderstorms again late in the day from the Permian Basin and the South Plains eastward across a broad stretch of the state.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 66 at Marfa and 68 at Lubbock up to 80 at Del Rio and Palacios, and 81 at Galveston. Wednesday's top marks went as high as 102 at Dallas and Junction and 105 at Waco.

WEATHER FORECAST — Cooler air will bring mild weather today to the Pacific coast and most northern areas. Warm weather is expected for the southern states and the Midwest. Showers are forecast for the northern Rockies and from the Southeast to the Great Lakes.

Police beat Patrolman saves auto

A 1970 Cadillac belonging to James McCarty, 1606 Main, was saved by the skin of its grill early this morning.

While on routine patrol, 12:50 a.m. today, Officer W. L. Wimberley noticed flames coming from the alley near the 1600 block of South Scurry. Looking closer, Wimberley found that someone had stuffed a yellow rag into the gas tank of the Caddy and set fire to it. The Big Spring Fire Department was called onto the scene, and the car was saved. Nonetheless damages were estimated at around $200.

Officer Robert Carouth ran into some trouble while off duty 9:40 p.m. Wednesday. According to reports, Carouth noticed two men in their early 20s who appeared to be drunk and disorderly in the parking lot of the Radio Shack on South Gregg. When he investigated, the men began swearing at him, and one of them hit the officer with a beer bottle and his fists.

With the help of Officers Mike Kelly, Mike Hillers and Don Hamilton, the two were arrested after more threats and foul language. The two men faced possible charges of public intoxication, disorderly conduct and assaulting a police officer. But this morning, in municipal court, both were fined $400 for public intoxication and simple assault, not the felony charge of assaulting a policeman.

Vandals used a sharp instrument of some kind to punch holes in two radial tires belonging to Gail Shafer, Kentwood Apartments, sometime over the weekend. The tires were valued at $155.

Burglars stole a ladies watch and a turquoise ring from a jewelry box at the home of Travis Mauldin, 1000 Hearn, sometime last week. The items were valued at $280.

Mrs. Marty Lloyd, 2609 Rebecca, reported that burglars ripped off a 12-volt battery and alternator from her pickup truck which was parked at 1209 Wright. Loss was estimated at $70.

Intruders entered the home of Sammy Martinez, 1002 N. Main, around 7:50 p.m. Wednesday. After breaking through a screen door, the burglars stole four rings. Loss including damage to the door was estimated at $8.50.

In a mishap Wednesday, vehicles driven by Jewel W. Jones, Ballinger, and James W. Warren, 2903 Navajo, collided at Wason and Thorpe, 6:29 p.m.

Mrs. Etta H. Bradley, 406 Dixon, was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital after the car she was driving and a car driven by Larry G. Simer, Coahoma, collided at the intersection of 16th and Gregg, at 9:10 p.m. Tuesday.

SENTENCED — Former Louisiana Congressman Richard Tonry puts on his coat outside Federal court in New Orleans today where he was sentenced to a year in prison and a $10,000 fine. Tonry, who resigned from Congress May 4, pleaded guilty earlier to campaign law violations.

LTV posts sharp dip

NEW YORK (AP) — LTV Corp. on Thursday posted a first-half loss and noted a sharp decline in second-quarter profits, blaming poor showings by its Jones & Laughlin steel and Wilson foods subsidiaries.

For the half, the Dallas-based conglomerate said it had a net loss of $2 million, against income of $16.3 million, or $1.35 a share, a year ago. First-half sales rose from $2.3 to $2.34 billion. In the second quarter, LTV earned $1.6 million, or 7 cents a share, against 1976's $9.4 million, or 79 cents a share. Sales rose from $1.18 billion to $1.22 billion.

In addition to a poor showing by the foods subsidiary, LTV said, "price increases in steel operations came too late to offset rising costs, including higher labor costs that became effective May 1 ... under the agreement reached ... with the United Steelworkers of America"

HILLCREST BAPTIST CHURCH
"And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." Luke 9:23
God will not look you over for medals — but for scars. That is another way of saying He wants no "pampered saints." In today's turbulent world God needs disciplined men — soldiers tried, true, and battle-ready!
The plight of modern man may be summed up in his striving for the road of self-indulgence. The way of least resistance is his goal. Sacrifice, discipline, restraint — the words present ideas and that are hard to come by in our generation.
Discipline is what moderns need the most and want the least. Too often young people who leave home, students who quit school, husbands and wives who seek divorce, church members who neglect services, employees who walk out on their jobs are simply trying to escape discipline. The true motive may often be camouflaged by a hundred excuses, but behind the flimsy front is the hard core of aversion to restrain and control.

NEAR BEER — Grooge Gerlach, Hastings, Minn., shows two mementoes from his beer-drinking days — his abdomen and a garage and playhouse covered with beer cans. Gerlach, 66, says he gave up beer six years ago on doctor's orders. Most of the 2,338 cans collected for the display were picked up in forays along the road, he said. The display consists entirely of special "scenic" cans manufactured by Schmidt beer.

NAACP leaders pressuring Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — NAACP director Benjamin Hooks, ignoring President Carter's warning against criticism of his domestic programs, says Carter should remember that when he meets his maker, he'll be judged on whether "he fed the hungry."
In a speech that brought cries of "Amen," Hooks placed the nation's largest civil rights organization "four-square" behind Vernon Jordan of the National Urban League, who said earlier this week that Carter's policies are inadequate for black and poor people.
Following Hooks' speech Wednesday to the Urban League, Jordan said civil rights leaders are "together" and will continue pressuring Carter despite the President's statement that criticism of his record damages "the hopes and aspirations of poor people."
Just as labor and business leaders lobby Carter for their concerns, "We cannot expect black people and poor people to suffer silently the daily outrages of their lives, to complacently accept joblessness and poverty," said Jordan.
Hooks put in his last day at the Federal Communications Commission on Wednesday and, as incoming head of the NAACP, joined a growing chorus of civil rights leaders petitioning Carter for new policies.
Explaining that as a Baptist preacher he believes Carter has been born again, Hooks told the Urban League: "I believe he has a conscience that can be reached. It's our job to reach it starting here and now."
"I will remind him that when he shall have finished the work that he has been given to do on this earth and he stands before the pearly gates... he will not be judged on the fact that he was an atomic engineer, nor will Peter be concerned about the fact that he was a successful peanut farmer, or a governor of Georgia, or even a president."
"But they will ask him, Brother Jimmy: 'I was hungry, did you feed me?' 'I was naked, did you clothe me?' 'I was in jail, did you come and see about me?' 'I'm not concerned about whether you thought I was a beggar.'"
"But I'm concerned about whether you handed the help to the poor brother that used to be my little one."
Carter told Jordan on Monday that criticism of his administration's domestic record is damaging his attempts to aid the poor. But black leaders insisted their only ability to influence Carter is to "go public with the truth," as Jordan has put it.

No indictments after probe of unidentified official

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Fred Hofheinz says he has been injured by a county grand jury which investigated alleged criminal activity by an unidentified high city official.

The panel completed its five-week probe Wednesday but returned no indictments. It announced it had found no evidence of criminal acts having been committed by the official.

Hofheinz was never formally cited as the subject of the investigation but he said Bill Vawter, the grand jury foreman, used his name in tape-recorded interviews.

"I have been injured here in a way that no action, no statement of the grand jury, no apology from anybody is going to be able to repair," Hofheinz said.

In mid-June Vawter said the investigation had been prompted by widespread rumors about a May 3 police raid in which several persons, including a high official, were alleged to have been arrested. The panel retained Bob Scott, a former assistant district attorney, as an outside prosecutor to assist in the probe.

Hofheinz told newsmen June 16 he had no knowledge of what the investigation was about and said he himself had never been arrested.

Hofheinz is serving a second two-year term as mayor and announced June 9 he will not seek a third term in the Nov. 8 city general election.

One grand juror contacted by the Houston Post indicated there was an attempt to use the jury as a political tool.

"Fred Hofheinz has all my respect," said the juror, who refused to be quoted by name. "Frankly, at first I thought the grand jury was being used. ... I felt we were still being used all the way through."

Asked if this meant it was Hofheinz who was being investigated, the juror would only comment, "It's all spelled out. I spelled it out for you. It's all written there. Can't you read between the lines?"

However, other grand jury members interviewed by the Post denied there was any political manipulation of their probe and most generally followed the lead of Vawter in repeatedly referring to the final paragraph of the panel's report.

That paragraph stated, "It is unlawful for a grand jury to disclose any evidence that has been brought before the grand jury during any investigation. Therefore, it would be improper to comment on any of the facts concerning allegations considered."

Hofheinz stressed that he believed the rumors were the result of an organized effort but he said he does not plan to discuss publicly those he believes responsible for starting them. He also said he might pursue the matter in court.

"Because I am interested in protecting my private rights, I am cautious about making broad accusations," he said. "But this is a political year and, obviously, the first people to look for guilt are those who have a direct interest in tarnishing the reputation of the mayor."

He said he decided not to seek re-election long before the rumors began spreading through the city and that he views the matter as a private rather than a political question.

"Any and all public reactions to this vicious slander might have impact on anything I choose to do privately about it," he said. "When and if I choose to accuse guilty parties, it will be because I believe that they have slandered me in a way I can recover damages in a court of law."

The mayor said if he decides to file suit it probably will be after the Nov. 8 election.

Ridin' fence — A real tragedy with Marj Carpenter with Marj Carpenter

We laughed and stood there outside the building on the way to the flightline and talked about the Thunderbirds. Charlie loved the Thunderbirds and had flown with them some and usually served as narrator.

We talked about how few had been killed in the aerobatic performance team and I told him about the time Capt. Jerry Bolt performed here and his other came for the performance. Danny Valdes got a great picture on that occasion of Mrs. Bolt and Jerry.

That was in Sept. 1972 and in December Bolt was killed in a practice performance. He was the second Thunderbird ever killed and Charlie was the third when he was killed in Cheyenne this week.

I took a couple pictures that day that included Charlie — one of him handing a signed autographed picture of the Thunderbirds to Ret. Col. Ralph Brooks, a former Thunderbird.

When he got back to Las Vegas, he mailed me an autographed picture of the Thunderbirds and wrote a nice note. I had kidded him about being the lone Texan in the group.

I remember that the last time I wrote in sadness over an Air Force pilot killed was a letter to the editor to Andrews in memoriam to Eddie Solomon, Air Force Academy graduate killed in a helicopter crash in Alaska. Prior to that, my last sad similar column was about the brave instructor who passed over the farm house north of town before trying to eject and also about Jerry Bolt, the Thunderbird whom I interviewed here in Sept. 1972 and who was killed in December of that year.

I'm saying all this because, contrary to a letter to the editor recently, I do not enjoy seeing or hearing of fine young men killed.

The letter from a captain at the Air Force Academy the other day blasting me for enjoying Webb plane crashes was far from true. What I was laughing about was not the crashes, but the investigations. And I will continue to laugh at the investigations to keep from crying.

He said that was all I could think of to say about Webb, as it was leaving. Not true... since in recent weeks, I have written about not only the Thunderbirds, the flightsuit party, Col. Owens when he left, Col. Spannaus when he took over, the foreign party at the Turners, the last foreign party at Webb, the man who painted the spirit of Big Spring plane, the Air Shows, the parties for the NCOs, and I don't know how many more events.

I love many of the people at Webb and will miss them. But I still say, the military regulations and the "Mickey Mouse" way some of them act when they have plane crashes is funny.

Those investigations certainly have their funny side. Usually those who carry on the most are people down near the bottom, scratching to get to the top. Rarely is it the officers in charge or head military people who have a lot of class. But somebody somewhere has apparently issued the instructions.

To the reporter, it is both funny and sad. When you've got a college degree, years of experience, are allowed to interview generals and presidents of the United States with no apparent mistakes but are suddenly delegated to the rank of a two-year-old lost at a picnic, it's got to be either funny or sad.

Usually at accidents or airliners, crop dusters or private planes, the Federal Aviation Authority or the local sheriff's office simply warns you not to touch anything and that's the end of the reprimations.

They do not wave arms, yell and holler, order you to stand in certain spots and not move, and almost act indignant because you won't stand at attention.

If it were wartime secrets or great issues of national defense, I could understand it.

But when you get there and the pilots are thankfully safe or tragically killed and the plane is already exploded and there's nothing burning but grass — it's ridiculous not to allow a qualified photographer to take pictures.

They would like for you to wait for their official photographs, but these are seldom ready in time for the deadline.

After you've been in the news reporting business over a quarter of a century and have covered major oilfield explosions, butane truck explosions, trains burning on bridges, train crashes, refinery fires, gas plant explosions, major airline accidents, crop dusters crashing together, private planes which fall into the earth, car wrecks, murders, rapes, aggravated assaults, and bus wrecks — and then go to a military crash where the grass is burning and get screamed at, yelled at, and arms waved at — it's funny, brother. Not the crash — the investigation.

And if it will make you feel better, write another letter in triplicate. Because I still laugh to keep from crying over the way the press gets treated at military crashes, out by the fence.

'Car-Share' program

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials of Houston's "Car-Share" program say the program spared Houstonians $5.7 million in travel costs in 1976.

Sharon Hagan, manager of the computer matching program for persons wishing to join car pools, said Tuesday the program also spared residents 1,200 tons of air pollution during the year.

Program officials said an estimated 2,500 cars have been taken off the city's freeways since August 1975 as the result of commuters teaming up in cars and vans.

Farm — He shouts: 'You cockroaches'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 150 members of the House found themselves competing for attention with unwitting lobbyists — about a dozen cockroaches and smaller varieties of bugs.

During a debate Wednesday on permitting strikers to get food stamps, a man in the visitors gallery shouted "You cockroaches," and hurled a paper bag full of bugs onto the chamber's floor.

None of the bugs hit any House members because the bag landed in the aisle behind the seats of the chamber.

Capitol police said someone quickly stepped on two or three of the bugs and "an officer took the bag out and stepped on some others." Authorities said the remaining six to eight bugs in the bag were sprayed and killed.

Police said they arrested Richard Saks, 23, of Jersey City, N.J., and Thomas George, 22, of New York City.

Capitol Police Chief James Powell said the two men told authorities they were part of a group called Youth for Action, which had a permit to demonstrate for more food stamps. He said about 50 persons were demonstrating outside the Capitol when the disturbance occurred.

Powell said the two men would be charged with disrupting Congress while in session, a misdemeanor that carries up to $500 in fines and up to a six-month jail term. He said they could post a $100 collateral and then forfeit it in lieu of going to court.

The House eventually rejected a move to bar food stamps for strikers.

Young farmers wind up year

KITE LADY — Kitty Corti displays a French military kite, one of 30 varieties she peddles from her converted mail truck. Kitty, who makes some of her kites, tours the resort towns along the Maine coast. See AAA Wire story.

'High flying' hobby now occupation

Woman's job soars when wind does

DAMARISCOTTA, Maine (AP) — Tourists stare, children smile and the sky flashes with color when Kitty Corti's van pulls into town. In summer tourist havens along the Maine coast, Kitty is known as "the kite lady," peddling kites from the back of her converted mail delivery truck.

There are 30 different kinds, all shapes, sizes, colors and materials: bats, butterflies, falcons and centipedes; space birds, air scoops and Donald Duck models; kites with names like French military, Jalbert parafall, Vic fighter and Peter Powell stunner.

If the wind is still, business stagnates. But when the breeze picks up, Kitty launches a 45-foot orange dragon kite or a multicolored wind sock, luring curiosity seekers and potential customers.

Kitty's truck is as much an eyecatcher as her kites. Purchased from the Waterville Post Office, it's bright yellow and orange, with her trade name, "The Kat's Kite," painted along the sides.

Her hobby became a business when she sought a summer job that would let her travel, meet people, remain outdoors and be her own boss.

Fruits, vegetables economical buy

COLLEGE STATION — Fresh fruits and vegetables offer economical variety, egg prices are very reasonable, but meat and poultry prices are higher this week, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, reports.

DAIRY — Cheese, in large supply, reflects budget prices and wide variety. Other low-price items are yogurt, sour cream, two percent and lowfat milk.

FRESH FRUITS — Peaches, cantaloupes and watermelons in plentiful supply have attractive prices. Other seasonal items at the most economical prices are nectarines, cherries, plums, seedless grapes, pineapples and bananas.

FROZEN FOODS — Excellent values are frozen lemonade, strawberries, sherbet, french fries and fried chicken.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Best buys include green peppers, cabbage, corn, carrots and cucumbers — along with head lettuce, okra, purple hull and blackeye peas, zucchini and yellow squash.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Green peppers — now in heavy supply — are best quality if they are firm, crisp, thick-fleshed and well-shaped with a bright shiny surface.

Donations increased

NEW YORK (AP) — Voluntary donations to American colleges and universities reached an all-time high of about $2.4 billion in the 1975-76 academic year, according to a survey conducted annually by the Council for Financial Aid to Education CFAE.

The figure represents an increase of $250 million, or 11.6 per cent, according to CFAE officials who said last year was the first time that the increase in gifts kept pace with the increase in educational expenses.

Individual supporters accounted for the biggest portion of the increase in donations, giving learning institutions an estimated $1.2 billion, CFAE officials said.

Quick way

Quick way to grease muffin pans; put a dot of butter or margarine in each cup and place the pan in the oven for a few seconds — just long enough to melt the butter — while the oven is preheating. Then swish the butter around each cup with a pastry brush.

Loves Him, Not His Dogs

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a bachelor who lives alone in my building. I'm a divorcee also living alone. It all started with a "good morning" when we were both walking our dogs. (He has two.)

Two months ago he said he was going away for the weekend, and I was sure he was going to ask me to go along, but instead he asked me to keep his dogs!

DEAR FOOLISH: As I see it, your neighbor sleeps with you occasionally in exchange for your looking after his dogs. It's a good deal for him, but a dog's life for you.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a person who can't pass a mirror without taking a good long look at herself? Wouldn't you say that she was very conceited?

DEAR WONDERING: Not necessarily. She could be exactly the opposite. Very insecure.

DEAR ABBY: A widowed friend of mine is 50, very wealthy, very attractive and a lovely woman. She recently confided that she longs to marry but can't seem to attract a man.

DEAR CONFIDANT: If she doesn't ask for your advice, don't offer any. There just may be some men who LIKE white hair on women.

DEAR ABBY: Many of your letters are regarding sex problems. Here in Baton Rouge, sex is regarded as a MISDEMEANOR—the more you MISS, the MEANER you get.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Grease sides of pans.

Although for years and years cooks have been directed to grease just the bottom of cake pans, greasing the sides of the pan usually doesn't hurt and the sides of the cake will probably be less crumbly. Greasing the sides of the cake pan is supposed to produce a cake with less volume but as a rule the difference in height is extremely small.

READY AND WAITING — One of the tugs that will guide the oil tanker into Vadez, Alaska, waits at anchor Wednesday afternoon. Storage tanks in the background will be filled to about the four-foot level before the tanker is loaded. Oil is expected to reach the tanks sometime today with the first tanker expected on Saturday.

Crude oil flow stopped

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) — North Slope crude oil, for 38 days on a trouble-scarred road to the trans-Alaska pipeline's southern terminal, has been stopped for the fifth time, this time by a federal order just 15 miles short of its destination.

The cause: 14 questioned welds on pipe sections inside the terminal here.

The U.S. Department of Transportation claims the welds are faulty and don't meet federal standards. Officials of the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. reacted angrily to what one called a "last-minute order" and said the welds are sound.

Alyeska had intended to deliver the Prudhoe Bay crude to storage tanks here Wednesday — well within the Aug. 1 deadline the firm imposed on itself three years ago.

The town's two hotels are crowded with industry representatives, reporters, tourists and government observers who came for the announced arrival of the first oil.

Headed north to Valdez are two tankers — the 120,000-ton ARCO Juneau and the 80,000-ton Sohio Intrepid. The Juneau, expected to arrive Saturday, will be the first ship to carry Alaskan oil to the west coast, putting in to ARCO's refinery at Cherry Point, Wash., early next month. The Intrepid is expected to reach California a few days later.

But for now, the oil is still, waiting in Keystone Canyon 15 miles away.

Transportation officials said Wednesday that Alyeska was notified about 11 claimed flaws on July 21. Since then, they said, three more faulty welds have been found — all made during final preparations to receive the oil.

Several top Alyeska executives, who asked to remain unidentified, called the order unnecessary. They said the questioned pipe sections had withstood pressures 2½ times what would be expected in normal pipeline operations.

Jack Fernsite, acting director of the Transportation department's Materials Transportation Bureau, said in Washington Wednesday the faults were spotted in checks of X ray tests.

Gas curtailment order extended

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A temporary restraining order that prohibits the Federal Power Commission from implementing a controversial natural gas curtailment plan in a five-state area has been extended for another week.

The order, which would curtail the extension of natural gas service to new homes and small businesses in 502 communities of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas served by Cities Service Gas Co., was halted by an order from Judge William R. Collinson of U.S. District Court last month.

Collinson extended his order until Aug. 2. The judge's office said Wednesday a pretrial conference is scheduled for Monday, but no formal hearing date has been set.

The FPC order, which was sought by General Motors Corp., also would revise priorities so that in a cold weather supply crisis industries could get gas for some uses while some "human needs" commercial users, such as hospitals, nursing homes and schools, would be cut off.

Cities Service, based in Oklahoma City, has petitioned for a rehearing on the order. Gas Service Co. of Kansas City, the Kansas Corporation Commission, the Missouri Public Service Commission and the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Kansas City are among those seeking to intervene in the case so they can attack the order.

The Kansas Corporation Commission has said in appealing the order that the FPC is trying to usurp state authority over the gas distributed by Cities Service.

G.T. Van Bebbep, KCC chairman, said that other avenues of appealing the federal intervention are being considered.

One option being discussed would be for the KCC to continue to set allocation priorities for gas distributed in Kansas, he said. Another, Van Bebbep said, might be to reopen the state commission's own gas curtailment plan hearings.

He said the agency's lawyers also are examining state and federal laws to see if the KCC can ignore or sidestep part of the federal order.

"I don't think I would use that term," Van Bebbep said when asked if he was suggesting defiance of the federal government. "But we might take a position one different from that taken by the FPC."

Crystal City may lose gas supply

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Crystal City has until Aug. 26 to pay its back gas bill of $720,765 or lose its gas supply, says Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.

"We don't have any choice on the thing," Lo-Vaca President Bill Greehey said Wednesday. "If we don't discontinue service to Crystal City, we are not going to get the revenue to pay for gas purchases and all our customers are going to suffer."

Crystal City Mayor Francisco Benavides was away from the city on business, a family member said. Mayor Pro Tem Blanca Gamez refused official comment.

The South Texas town buys gas from Lo-Vaca, puts it in the city-owned distribution system and sells it to business and residential customers.

For the past 28 months, Crystal City has refused to pay the interim rate set by the Texas Railroad Commission, recognizing only the contract rate of 36 cents per 1,000 cubic feet (mcf).

Lo-Vaca now gets slightly more than $2 per mcf from all of its other customers.

"We cannot buy gas for $2 and sell it to the city's system for 36 cents," Greehey said at a news conference, which followed his meeting with Crystal City's lawyers.

The Texas Supreme Court has ruled that Lo-Vaca legally can charge Crystal City the interim rate and the town of 8,000 persons must pay or risk losing its gas supply.

Lo-Vaca said it mailed a letter Wednesday to Benavides, telling him of the impending cutoff.

"Human needs" — defined as protection of life — will not suffer from the decision, asserted Lo-Vaca Vice President Don Newquist.

Asked about the "human needs" of sanitary dishes, pots and pans washed in hot water, Newquist said alternatives, such as electric, butane or propane hot water heaters and stoves, were available.

Crystal City obtains its electrical power from Central Power & Light Co. Asked about the possibility of people freezing in their homes this winter, Newquist said, "That is a city policy decision, meaning that the gas will come back on when the city pays up."

Crystal City's schools are heated by electricity and it has no hospital, he added.

Oil fire at Liberty

LIBERTY, Tex. (AP) — Gulf Oil Co. officials said a "major" fire and several small explosions erupted at the firm's bulk oil storage facility at Liberty in Southeast Texas this morning.

The plant's main building and one tank truck were reported ablaze.

A police dispatcher said, "there are some residences out in that area, but they've been evacuated. They have a lot of big tanks filled with gasoline out there and they're afraid one of them might explode."

The officer said initial reports were that the blaze started when a tank truck was unloading.

Another tank farm owned by Mobil is located across the street from the Gulf facility. The fire had not spread to the Mobil plant.

Initial reports from the scene said one fireman received a minor injury when a high pressure water hose bucked from his grip.

Gulf officers asked for help from a sister plant at Port Arthur, and all members of the Sabine-Neches Chiefs Association were put on alert. The organization provides mutual assistance among community fire departments and private firefighting units from various petrochemical plants in the area.

No ambulances were dispatched at once.

Billy Carter's gas biz thrives

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Billy Carter says hot and dry weather is hurting his peanut business, but his service station still has "more business than we can take care of."
 "We're really dry," said Carter, who was attending a benefit party Wednesday at country singer Tom T. Hall's Nashville home. "The crop is almost gone this year."
 Hall said receipts from the $50 per person affair would go to the Nashville Humane Association.

HARDEST HIT AREA — Map locates the area hit by the flood in the Johnstown, Pa., area. Towns hit hardest are underlined. Some towns that were flooded are not shown on the map.

Dollar losing ground

LONDON (AP) — The dollar lost ground to the British pound today but improved against other European currencies amid reports the U.S. government would move soon to halt the dollar's recent slide against major world currencies.
 Within the first hour of money-market trading in London, the pound was marked at just over $1.74, up from Wednesday's closing $1.7395, which was the highest since mid-September last year.
 This represented a rise of two cents this week, a considerable gain for the pound sterling, which has fluctuated very little recently. The pound's lowest closing this year was $1.7042 on Feb. 15.

 The dollar was mostly higher against other European currencies. Part of the rise was believed to result from dollars being used to buy pounds.
 In early dealings today in London, the dollar rose to 2.2635 West German marks from its overnight 2.2590, to 2.3930 Swiss francs from 2.3905, and to 4.8280 French francs from 4.8225.
 Monetary experts in London said they expect the U.S. government to move soon to support the dollar in an effort to halt its slide against major world currencies.

 British financial commentators said the West German government is pressing for an urgent meeting with American, British and French leaders to discuss the dollar's decline.
 The European Commission, a joint executive of the nine Common Market countries, today called for an increase or at least a stabilization of the value of the dollar on international markets. The dollar's price against the German mark has dropped about 4 per cent in the last month — a rapid change in world money market terms.

Adult bookstore owners break even

HOUSTON (AP) — Adult bookstore and theater owners in Houston have broken even in two court decisions — obtaining a favorable ruling from one judge and an unfavorable one from another.

A federal judge issued an order Wednesday that temporarily enjoins the city of Houston from enforcing an ordinance that would close 19 adult bookstores and theaters.

U.S. District Court Judge Ross Sterling set an Aug. 5 hearing date for the city to oppose a preliminary injunction, which would prohibit enactment of the ordinance until the case reaches trial.

Earlier, U. S. District Court Judge Robert O'Connor denied a request from the owners of an adult bookstore that Houston vice squad officers be prohibited from interfering with the operation of the business.

O'Connor ruled that the owners, James D. Cagle and Jim D. Chappell, had failed to prove sufficient police harassment.

Sterling said in his ruling that the bookstore and theater owners would suffer "irreparable injury" if forced to close today, the day the law would become effective.

The ordinance, passed last month by the city council but opposed by Mayor Fred Hofheinz, would prohibit the operation of an adult commercial establishment within 2,000 feet of a school, church or other educational or charitable institution.

The city legal department indicated that during the 10 day injunction period the city will not move against remaining adults establishments not protected by the federal order.

City Atty. Otis King said he felt it would be "bad faith" on the city's part to proceed against those not named in the suit.

City council member Frank Mancuso said he regretted Sterling's decision and speculated the council may find other ways to control pornography.

"Whatever needs to be done, I'm hopeful we can come up with an ordinance that will be effective," Mancuso said.

Attorney Rick Young, who represented the plaintiffs, called the temporary restraining order a "temporary victory" for the shop owners and "a victory for the Constitution."

'HOT STUFF'

Kurt Sproul and Robert Beal are stopping in Big Spring for a fast week with their sizzling new revue from Las Vegas called "HOT STUFF." It is a mini-revue that features fast-paced choreography in their dance numbers, comedy, singing, magic acts, lightning-fast costume changes, and "one of the best-looking casts ever to be in show business." The majority of the cast were in an all time favorite show called Bottoms Up. Kurt Sproul and Robert Beal put their heads together and decided to produce a show very similar but faster, fresher and newer. Sproul and Beal, currently being billed as the youngest producers in show business, have worked with such names as Ann-Margret, Sammy Davis, Jr., Phyllis Diller, Bob Hope, Olivia Newton-John, Mitzl Gaynor, John Davidson, Jerry Van Dyke, Rip Taylor, and a host of other luminaries. The sets and costumes that Sproul and Beal have conceived have been executed by the same companies in Las Vegas who work for all the production shows, such as Hallelujah Hollywood, Follies Bergere, Lido de Paris, and Casino de Paris. Ennea will be providing the background music. "HOT STUFF" will be appearing at the Brass Nail for one week only. We are unable to accept reservations, so make plans early to see the show.

Mass transit buy advances

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Transit Board has approved purchase of as much as $6.4 million worth of downtown property for future underground mass transit stations.

The approval Tuesday was the first concrete move by the city toward implementing plans for underground mass transit lines by 1990.

The purchases must still be approved by the Dallas City Council and the federal government.

Two proposed subway lines are planned to parallel present major freeways. At least $3.8 million of the total will be for nearly a block of property near Thanks-Giving Square in downtown where the proposed lines would cross.

The City of Dallas could end up paying as little as $453,000 of the projected $6.4 million, due to federal and state grants, officials said.
