

College coliseum opening moved back

By MARJ CARPENTER
Completion date for the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on the contract is Jan. 21, 1978 and Howard College officials now agree that it is a more realistic completion date than late October.

The contractor early in the year had expressed the hope that they might be finished by October or November. Many citizens fixed that date in their mind as a completion date.

However, weather delays when pouring the bleachers, and delay in obtaining steel have caused the project to move back to the contract date as the time it may be finished.

Board members at the college have apparently been receiving flak from citizens about the progress of the facility. They raised some questions at their meeting Tuesday.

The board agreed that it was difficult to discuss problems when they had not invited the architectural firm to be present. The college president was instructed to invite a representative from the firm to attend all future meetings until the coliseum is completed.

Board members expressed dissatisfaction with air conditioning units at the top of the building, with at least two directors expressing the belief that they "show more than we thought they would."

The painting has not yet been done in that area, however, and at this point, the air conditioning units and building are two different colors.

Harold Davis, board member, pointed out "I don't think the contractor is managing his time right." He outlined possible ways that workmen could be working on one area with one portion of the construction, while others are completing another area.

The board also discussed changes which the college had made after the work progressed on the project.

The board talked over another part of the coliseum management when Dr. Charles Hays presented a schedule of possible rates for charging for the facility.

The rate schedule was discussed and included different rates for different types of activities and ranged from $40 for a single room to $600 for large commercial concerts. The board also plans to charge table and chair rental fee for banquets to replace tables and chairs when necessary.

The board decided to further study the rate schedule and get proper definitions of commercial and non-commercial events prior to approval.

One phase of the coliseum management, which was not even mentioned Tuesday, was the policy of no alcoholic beverages in the facility. This has caused many questions in the community as to whether many groups will even rent the facility and brought strong objections from the tourism council which had donated funds toward the project thinking it would be used for attraction of tourism.

Fund records gain of $880

A few more days like Tuesday and the Bible Fund will top its $10,000 objective.

Between 12 noon Tuesday and the same hour today, a total of $800 poured into campaign headquarters, raising the total to $2,311.

The drive, which would insure Bible chairs at the county's three high schools, has come a long way but still has a long way to go.

Those desiring to give can forward their checks either to The Herald or to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, First Baptist Church, who coordinates the drive on behalf of the Howard County Ministerial Alliance.

and in 1977 at a performance, right. The performer died Tuesday at Memphis, Tenn. at the age of 42.

Fans mourning for Elvis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Fans of yesterday and today, old and young, teenyboppers and their middle-aged mothers, gathered today on Elvis Presley's doorstep, not to scream and cheer but to mourn. Their king is dead.

Elvis Aron Presley, the Mississippi truck driver whose hip-grinding performance style helped launch the sexual revolution as he became America's greatest king of rock 'n' roll, died Tuesday afternoon of a heart ailment. He was 42.

A crowd of more than 200 mourners had gathered by midmorning outside the gates of Graceland mansion, where Presley's body was to be on public view from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. CDT today in a special solid seamless copper and steel casket.

Jim Stewart, night supervisor at the Memphis Funeral Home where the body was taken after Presley died, said the casket was similar to the one the singer chose for his mother when she died in 1958.

"We don't even keep this casket in stock. They are very expensive," Stewart said, adding it had been flown in from Oklahoma City late Tuesday night.

Outside the mansion, a special police security detail was assigned to direct traffic and keep watch over the crowd, which ranged from young children and teenagers to people in their 40s and 50s.

At one point during the night, the gates opened, several cars came out, and the crowd swarmed around taking pictures and trying to get autographs. One of the cars carried Vester Presley, an uncle who was chief of security, and his wife.

Vester Presley said Elvis' former wife, Priscilla, whom he divorced in 1973, arrived at the mansion at about 3 a.m.

"She is taking it hard. She is in a total state of shock," he said. Stewart said the switchboard at the funeral home received calls from all 50 states and from as far away as Guam and Johannesburg, South Africa.

Vester Presley said the decision to open the casket to public view was made by the singer's father, Vernon Presley.

Dr. George Nichopoulos, longtime physician to the swivelhipped, throaty baritone who was known as the "King of Rock 'n' Roll," said an autopsy revealed a constriction in one of the main arteries to the heart, which restricted blood flow and brought on a heart attack.

"What caused it? Any one of a number of things," he said following Presley's death Tuesday. Nichopoulos said his patient, who carried about 175 pounds on a six-foot frame as a young man but recently had been reported grossly overweight, had been taking a number of appetite depressants, but did not have a drug problem.

Dr. Jerry Francisco, the Shelby County medical examiner, discounted rumors that Presley, who had been a virtual recluse at his white-columned Graceland mansion for 20 years, had suffered from a drug problem.

"There was no indication of drug abuse at all," Francisco said. "I was aware of the rumors and that is why I mention it."

Delbert "Sonny" West, who was a Presley bodyguard for 16 years, said in Chicago just hours before Presley died that the singer was heavily addicted to drugs and haunted by fears that drove him into seclusion.

Presley, whose recording of "Heartbreak Hotel" helped to put him on top of the entertainment world 21 years ago, was discovered unconscious at Graceland in suburban Memphis on Tuesday afternoon.

Presley was found dressed in pajamas and lying face-up in the red-carpeted bathroom next to his second-floor bedroom.

He was taken to Baptist Hospital in a Fire Department ambulance while Nichopoulos and emergency medical technicians worked to revive him.

The doctor said attempts to revive Presley, who appeared in 31 films — including "Love Me Tender," "GI Blues," and "Jailhouse Rock," continued because of a slight chance life still existed in his body.

She stayed home today Fan here saw Elvis 7 times

By TOMMY HART

She didn't dress in basic black today but Lana Swann's world caved in Tuesday, when news that rock singing idol Elvis Presley had died in Memphis reached Big Spring.

Lana, who lives with her understanding husband, Mark, at 3207 Auburn, didn't go to work at Cosden this morning, knowing her tears would make it hard for her to pursue her duties.

Lana needed a secretary to handle all the calls from friends who wanted to express their concern over her bereavement. She estimates she received at least 15 calls after news of Elvis' death spread.

Mrs. Swann, who down through the years has engaged in some spirited arguments with non-believers over her idol, wasn't so overcome with grief not to compose a poem about Elvis. Entitled "Elvis, Gone But Not Forgotten," it reads:

*A part of me today has died.
I cannot count the tears I cried.
Elvis is gone, to be seen no more.
I've loved him since the age of 4.
A legend is dead; it's hard to believe,
It hurts so much, the way I grieve.
Since I remember, he's been around.
With him, happiness I have found.
He never did harm to anyone
Yet so many people only made fun
Of his hip-shaking ways and style of clothes
I tried to ignore comments like those.
They said he was old just two years ago,
And that his age was starting to show.
Now that he's dead at forty-two,
They say he died young, sad but true.
I hope that Elvis forgave those folks
Who found much pleasure in making jokes
Just because he added some weight.
To make amends, it's now too late.
Elvis, I'll never forget you, it's true;
And I'll go on loving you.
For in my heart you'll always be Until there is no more of me.*

It may not be Shakespeare, but then Presley wasn't Caruso.

Lana first heard a Presley record at the age of four years and was hooked for life. Her prize possession is a scarf Elvis wore while offering a concert in Odessa, which he gave to her after calling her up from the second row to kiss her. Presley first daubed the perspiration from his face with it, then wrapped it around her neck.

Lana recalls the experience so shook her, she fell on her way back to her seat.

Lana so reveres the gift she brought it home and wrapped it in cellophane without ever washing it.

Few would argue that she was and is Elvis' most devoted fan. She's seen the great one seven times in person. She has a book written about him, has visited his homes in Memphis and Palm Springs, Cal., has collected 57 of his albums and will go on amassing any memorabilia she can find concerning him. She's also written other poems about the singer.

She saw Presley for the first time in person at Lubbock in company with her mother, Mrs. R.W. Karnes of Big Spring, also a Presley fan. That was in 1972.

Two days later she flew to Orange County, Cal., to catch a Presley concert. When Presley popped up in Abilene for a concert in 1974, Lana was there. In order to obtain tickets to the concert in Odessa last year, Mrs. Swann stayed in line on a cold April night to obtain tickets, protected against the elements by a blanket.

Lana will remember forever the song Elvis was singing in Odessa when he looked her way and motioned for her to come to the stage. It was "Love Me," a very appropriate title, she thought.

Lana saw her dreamboat again in Lubbock May 31, 1976 and was in Dallas for a concert when Presley played there Dec. 28, 1976. She drove to and from Big Spring the same night in order not to miss work.

WITH HAROLD LOYD
Presley's cousin

Coincidentally, she lived in Wiesbaden, Germany, with her military parents in 1968-69. It was in Wiesbaden where Elvis dated his future wife, the only time he ever took the matrimonial plunge. (The marriage didn't work out).

She thinks Elvis was a great human being for numerous reasons, pointing to the fact that he was never involved in scandal and was always bestowing gifts on people he didn't even know.

On a visit to Memphis to visit the Presley home, Lana was occasioned to talk with Presley's cousin, Harold Loyd, a sentry at the house. Harold told her that Presley was having weight problems due to a groin twist.

Lana concedes that life must go on but her memory of Elvis will remain forever green with her.

Action/reaction: Who pays?

Q. Who is paying for the giant water lines to the new Webb Credit Union Building? How much will it cost?

A. The "giant water line" is an extension of the existing water and sewer lines to serve the Webb Credit Union Building. The extension will meet specifications set up by the city so that it may be extended if necessary at a later date. Webb Credit Union has paid for the extension at the same rate that any developer would pay, according to Bill Brown, assistant city attorney. Total cost was $1,664.

Offbeat: Rubber duck, Henry K here

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — It's late at night and you're fiddling with the knobs on your ham radio. Suddenly, you tune in Henry Kissinger.

Henry Kissinger? The accent on the airwaves belongs to Ed Bolton, unemployed night club entertainer, singing-dog trainer, short wave radio enthusiast and Kissinger impersonator.

Bolton's Kissinger is so convincing that ham operators around the country have called their local newspapers to say they've chatted with the former secretary of state.

"My Kissinger is better than Rich Little's. And he's a millionaire and I'm sitting here counting my change. There has got to be something wrong," Bolton lamented.

Besides mimicking world leaders (Adolf Hitler and Franklin D. Roosevelt included), he says he can impersonate the whole Amos 'n' Andy cast, sing operatic solos and entertain "in the style of Robert Goulet."

The 46-year-old Bolton says he's trying to sell his Kissinger routine to the revived "Laugh-In" television show — as soon as he can raise the money for a flight to Hollywood.

Kidnaping in Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A man being sought as a possible kidnap victim was found on the Oral Roberts University campus today and was taken into custody by police.

Carl Justice III had been sought since Tuesday morning when his luxurious car was found with a window broken out and a $300,000 ransom note in side.

Sketchy reports indicated he was "incoherent" at the time he was picked up and that he resisted arrest. He was taken to the city police station.

Justice's car was discovered parked near the Soul Brother's Car Wash and Soul Brother's Lounge about mid-morning Tuesday.

FBI agents entered the case Tuesday night after television station KOTV received a telephone call from a man in Los Angeles suggesting that Justice may have been abducted by someone who was trying to block publication of a book he had written. The book describes his stay in a Texas prison and includes information on the assassination of former President John F. Kennedy.

Authorities said they were puzzled by the motive and the large ransom demand, but refused to rule out the possibility that the incident was a publicity stunt.

A KOTV newswoman reported that she received the call from a man calling himself the Rev. Dennis Johnson of the Black People's Cultural Association in Los Angeles.

The Rev. Johnson told the reporter he had received a telephone call from someone identified only as "Pat" who apparently was upset that Justice planned to publish an account of his life in the prison at Huntsville, Tex., and what he may have learned about Kennedy's death.

The station also reported that Justice has tried to arrange an appearance before the U. S. House committee investigating assassinations.

Divorce rates spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau, noting increased divorce rates, declining birth rates and the postponement of marriage by young people, says over half of all American households have only one or two persons. In a report issued Tuesday, the agency said that in March, 1976, 51.2 per cent of the nation's households contained no more than two persons, compared with 40.9 per cent in 1960.

'Practical deeds' needed

MOSCOW (AP) — President Leonid I. Brezhnev says some of President Carter's recent statements "sound positive" but he challenged Carter to translate them into "the language of practical deeds." Brezhnev, in a speech Tuesday welcoming Yugoslav President Josip Broz Tito, picked up Carter's feeler toward the Kremlin in a speech last month in Charleston, S.C.

Young talks canal pact

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (AP) — Ambassador Andrew Young after a 12-day tour of Caribbean nations says the standing of the United States in Latin America and the rest of the world depends on Senate ratification of the new Panama Canal treaty. "If it works, we're on our way. If it doesn't work, we're in trouble," the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations told a news conference Tuesday at the end of his 10-nation swing.

Funeral homes report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission's proposed regulation of the country's funeral homes has won the backing of a man who presided over hearings last year in several U.S. cities. Jack E. Kahn, in a report delivered to the commission and made public Tuesday, charged that morticians have dominated state efforts to eliminate deceptive practices. "Substantial misrepresentations" by the industry have left consumers "disadvantaged economically and in some cases emotionally," he said.

College tax rate to remain same

The Howard College board of trustees was able to hold the tax rate the same, even though the budget is up by $252,512.

The tax was set after their public hearing Tuesday at 70 on the $100 valuation with .56 going to local maintenance and .14 to interest and sinking fund.

Last year, the tax was raised from .60 to .70 due to the bond issue for the coliseum but board members were able to hold the line this year due to an increase in valuation of oil properties in the county.

Oil values were up $22,425,887, but on the revised budget showed a $15 million increase. This was partially hurt by a $3 million decrease in local values which left $12 million increase in valuation. There is an assessed value in the district of $110,630,070.

The increase in the budget is offset by the tax increase, due to the oil valuation increase of $155,168. The state funds are up $201,089. Tuition is anticipated to drop due to the closing of Webb AFB by $28,600.

The board, in addition to approving the revised budget, the budget for the coming year and setting the tax rate, also filled several positions at the college, meeting in executive session to discuss personnel.

Terry Newman was named dean of students with his salary set at $16,500 on a one-year contract. He was formerly assistant dean of men at Baylor University.

Steven Clark was hired as drafting instructor. John B. Marder, who had been working on his master's in journalism at Texas Tech was named English-journalism instructor. Bill Gerber was named coordinator of the Lamessa Center.

Charlotte Green, a RN from Snyder was hired as instructor in the nursing program. Mary McClendon, a RN from the Veterans Administration Hospital, was also named to instruct in the nursing school. Mrs. Jan Foreyth was transferred from the business office to the position of manager of the book store.

The board also discussed the possibility of obtaining a van for the recruiter from carryover funds in the budget.

It was pointed out that the recruiter has been successful and that the girls dorm has only three vacancies left, which is the fullest it has been in several years.

The board also discussed taking bids on typewriters to replace one-third of the typewriters each year. They approved taking bids on a new cash register for the book store and also heard a report from Harold Davis on two changes in the tax appraisal contract.

Davis told the board that they approved the tax appraiser changing values on irregular sized lots but that they would not be entered in as final until all lots were changed. They also gave him permission to change errors.

All board members were present with Dr. Charles Warren presiding. Others attending included Dr. P.W. Malone, K.H. McGibbon, Jimmy Taylor, Don McKinney, James Barr and Davis.

Staff members present included Dr. Charles Hays, Dean Ben Johnson, Mike Bruner and Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery.

Convicted slayer

Plea to stay execution

DALLAS (AP) — A desperate plea to stay the Friday execution of convicted slayer Mark Milton Moore was rushed by courier to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin this morning.

A court clerk said the court is in recess but added that two justices were in town and that some action could probably be expected later today.

Moore and Curtis Leon Jones, both of Dallas, were convicted of the November 1973 rape, robbery and murder of Martha Janette Williams, 22, a secretary who was working alone in her office at the time of her death.

Moore was 22 at the time of the slaying. Jones was 16 and a juvenile. However, he was certified as an adult and sentenced to 50 years in prison.

All regular avenues of appeal have been exhausted in Moore's case. The United States Supreme Court refused to hear Dallas defense attorney Jim Finstrom's appeal last May. His client had originally been sentenced to die Jan. 14 but the high court postponed the execution to allow Finstrom time to prepare his case, which they ultimately refused to hear.

Finstrom's most recent request alleges, in part, that the Texas death penalty is discriminatory against his client's race and that Moore's confession should not have been admitted as evidence by the trial court.

The American Civil Liberties Union was admittedly caught napping on the Moore case. Judy Time, director of the Dallas ACLU, said, "I'm ashamed to say it, but this sneaked up on me. I've been in Yugoslavia for a month and when I came back and found this out, I was shocked. All along, I've been thinking that Moore's (execution) was the second of September."

Mrs. Time pointed out that the ACLU attempts to head off upcoming executions nationwide. She said she hopes to hear from the ACLU's main offices in New York before the day is over.

Only one execution — that of convicted Utah slayer Gary Gilmore — has been carried out since the Supreme Court upheld the death penalty in several states last summer.

Screening set for students

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center will hold its fourth annual School Screening Program Thursday, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Rehabilitation Center.

Areas which will be tested are the following: Physical Therapy: posture, which includes testing for flat feet, curved spine, sway back, abdominal muscle tone, etc.; Occupational Therapy: testing for visual perceptual and motor development problems; Speech Therapy: testing for articulation problems and auditory sequential memory problems; and also an oral examination; Audiology: testing for middle ear problems; Dentist: general dental examination for cavities, decay, overbite, etc.; Eye: testing for disease and visual acuity; Behavioral: testing for personal and family adjustment of the child.

Dr. John Fish will be available from 12:00 noon to 1:30 p.m. to perform a visual exam for disease. A technician will perform a check of visual acuity. Dr. John Key, as in years past, will be available from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon to provide a dental exam.

The Jaycees will be on hand to assist children from station to station through the screening.

For more information or appointments on can call the Rehab Center at 267-6387.

Mysterious malady hits 160 in plant

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — A Texas Instruments doctor says he believes it was mass anxiety and hyperventilation and not gas inhalation that caused about 160 employees of the firm's plant near here to become ill late Tuesday.

However, a doctor at an Odessa hospital where about 95 persons were taken for treatment said those who were not treated for hyperventilation were treated for inhalation of activated resin fumes.

Dr. Milton Schulman of Texas Instruments, who flew to Odessa from TI's headquarters in Dallas, said all the employees were treated and released.

A Texas Instruments spokesman in Dallas said operations at the plant resumed normally early today after a team of specialists examined the plant and found no organic cause for the problem.

Spokesman Dick Perdue of Dallas said only one employee fainted at first and three others then followed shortly. The building was evacuated and other persons became ill outside the building.

A justice of the peace at the scene told a newsmen he smelled a distinct odor of some sort in the parking lot, but a TI official said it was probably automobile exhaust fumes.

A female employee of the plant told a newsmen she became ill outside the plant after the evacuation as persons "all around me" became ill. She said she suffered numbness in her arms and legs, was dizzy and had nausea.

First reports indicated that a gas leak was the cause, but TI spokesman Dick Perdue of Dallas said hydrogen sulfide has been ruled out. Reports from police officers and firemen at the scene first indicated that the problem was caused by hydrogen sulfide.

"Hydrogen sulfide had nothing to do with it," said Perdue.

Carson Smith, director of personnel for the plant, said only four persons passed out inside the building and the others became ill outside in the parking lot "in the fresh air." The employees were complaining of nausea and shortness of breath.

Perdue also said that earlier reports of firemen entering the building with gas masks were not true. He said one fireman entered the building carrying a gas mask.

A doctor at the emergency room at Odessa Medical Center said it was "90 per cent hysteria and 10 per cent mild gas inhalation." He said, however, that at least some of the persons had inhaled some type of gas.

Ambulances, police cars and Texas Department of Public Safety vehicles were used to haul the employees from the plant, located at the Midland Air Terminal between Odessa and Midland to the hospital.

Texas Instruments sent a team of experts from Dallas to the plant during the night to investigate the incident.

Curiosity nearly kilt him

LONDON (AP) — What does a Scotsman wear under his kilt?

Magistrates at London's Bow Street court heard on Tuesday how an Irishman with a need to know tried to find out.

Police witnesses said James O'Connor rushed up to Peter Keaney as the kilted Scotsman took a Sunday stroll beside the river Thames in London and yelled: "I'm going to find what you've got under there."

But Keaney, 26, was not abiding.

Police said a fight started and O'Connor received a cut arm from Keaney's skean dhu, the traditional dagger worn with Scottish dress in the top of the sock.

Keaney, who pleaded guilty to unlawfully wounding, was given a suspended six-weeks jail sentence.

Footnote: Tradition says Scots wear nothing under their kilts.

For the birds

ALMOND, Wis. (AP) — Lester Lant has built a 30-room mansion that is strictly for the birds — literally.

Lant built the giant birdhouse this year to replace one his father had constructed atop an old tower in 1907.

When the 150-pound birdhouse is in place, Lant says onlookers will see colored glass panes, lights and a fountain.

'The King' is dead

Generation feels old

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Suddenly a generation feels old. Elvis, the slick-haired, sneering-lipped, slinky-tipped king of their teen-age rock 'n' roll dreams is dead.

It is enough to say Elvis; just as it was enough to say like, the fellow in the White House when the king claimed his throne.

His hips twisted, his body shook, he had a way of looking at you sideways, with his chin pulled in, that said more than his curling lips could. He was as cocksure as a strutting rooster and twice as proud; as proud and as certain as his adolescent fans longed to be.

From the tips of his blue suede shoes to top of that 40-weight oil hairdo, he was the most. That's what they said in those days. "The most."

Ducktails were as common as Elvis fan clubs. Kids who hoped to go to Harvard tried to speak with the inflections of the sons of Mississippi dirt farmers — just like he did.

That didn't worry the parents so much. It was the sex that concerned them. That's what Presley was about. Sex. He brought it out into the open. He took the raunchy back beat of the black blues and made it top 40 fare — with just enough whitewash to give it the patina of respectability.

There's a red-haired woman with two children, a woman who'll be 30 this year and who used to watch Elvis play pickup football on a grade school playground in her Memphis neighborhood.

When she heard the news Tuesday night all she could say was, "Who? Who? Who?" Her voice rose with each question, as if the news would change. A part of her — a blushing, rubber-necking, gosh-and-golly schoolgirl memory — seemed strangely more distant.

She used to hang on the gate of Graceland mansion, hoping for just a peek of Elvis. "Just waiting to see a glimpse of the king," she said. "And I did. A couple of times. In my mind he was unapproachable. My gosh, he was a star. No, he wasn't just a star. I just felt giddy, you know? How 13-year-old girls do. What girl just didn't feel tingly all over the place just thinking about him?"

Some of her peers remember having their first really serious fight with their parents over Elvis. There was one night in particular, a Sunday evening back in 1964, when Ed Sullivan gave the nation its first look at his newest bad boy. Families fought at dinner tables over whether children could watch the show.

The tube was going to bring a kid with a saucy Southern drawl and swivel hips who needed a haircut to life in their living rooms. From the looks of him, he didn't care a brokentiger string for what the parents thought. And the kids loved him for that.

There were so many screaming bobby-soxers in Sullivan's studio audience that nearly no one in TV land could hear Elvis' voice through the din. Didn't Sullivan say something to them about being quiet? And remember that girl in the long dark skirt who stood up in the aisle and fainted?

"Love me tender, love me sweet, never let me go. You have made my life complete, and I love you so." The kids didn't have to have that explained to them.

There wasn't much the folks could do. Anyway, the guy mumbled.

He was the king. The king is dead. And a generation suddenly feels old.

Conspired to monopolize?

Braniff, TI face federal raps

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Braniff Airways Inc. and Texas International Airlines Inc. face a second federal indictment in less than three years on charges the two firms conspired to monopolize airline traffic among three Texas airports. A federal grand jury returned the indictment Tuesday accusing the companies of trying to squeeze Southwest Airlines Inc. out of the market that included flights between Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

The first indictment against Braniff and Texas International, which was returned in February 1975, was dismissed by a federal judge last Feb. 22.

A Braniff spokesman in Dallas said the company had not had a chance to study the new indictment but "it appears to be a repeat of old and discredited charges that were made in the indictment of February of 1975."

"We will defend the case vigorously and will demonstrate to the court that all of our conduct was fully consistent with the antitrust laws and with the standards of airline competitive conduct as enforced by the CAB (Civil Aeronautics Board)," the spokesman said.

Sam Coats, Texas International's general counsel, denied the charges and said his firm will exert every effort to have the charges dismissed again.

In dismissing the earlier indictment, U.S. District Judge Adrian A. Spears criticized prosecutors' conduct of the investigation. The new indictment accuses Braniff and Texas International of conspiring from around May 1971 to at least 1973 "to impair the ability of Southwest to commence and maintain operations as an air carrier among the major Texas cities."

Southwest began regular flights in June 1971 between Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston and between Dallas-Fort Worth and San Antonio. A few months later, Southwest started service between Houston and San Antonio.

Southwest became a strong new competitor for Braniff and Texas International, which had dominated that market.

The indictment charged that Braniff and Texas International together plotted their strategy for fighting the Southwest challenge.

Cold front pushing its way into state

By the Associated Press

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were being reported in the Texas Panhandle today along and north of a cold front pushing its way into the state.

There were also some reports of shower activity along the gulf coast. Elsewhere, skies were clear to partly cloudy and temperatures remained quite warm.

Early morning readings were mostly in the upper 70s and the lower 80s. Some early morning readings included 68 at Dalhart, 81 at Wichita Falls, 82 at Dallas-Fort Worth and Waco, 76 at Lufkin, 73 at Houston, 74 at Alice, 76 at McAllen and 77 at Lubbock.

Forecasts called for more scattered thunderstorms over most of the state, with the Panhandle and the area along the Red River expected to catch the brunt of most of the shower activity. Highs were expected to range from the 80s in the Panhandle to near 105 in the Big Bend country.

Willie's staying in Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Relax rednecks. Willie's staying. Rumors abounded around the Austin area recently that Willie Nelson, high priest of a brand of country music dubbed "Redneck Rock," was leaving Texas.

Not so, says Nelson. "Any stories ... about my leaving and moving somewhere else, are just not true," Nelson told Dallas Morning News entertainment editor Pete Opper. "I would never leave Texas — I couldn't leave."

The rumors apparently started when it was learned that Nelson bought a house in Colorado and rented a seaside apartment in California. Hence, the speculation about a permanent change of address.

"I will never be out of the state of Texas more than 30 days at a time," said Nelson. "I have so many things going on in Texas that I really can't take my attention away from the state for too long at a time. I have too much money invested in Texas and there are other reasons why I will never leave the state."

Nelson said he plans to get in some skiing during the winter months at his Colorado home.

Executive salaries in Southwest

NEW YORK (AP) — Salaries of top executives of companies in the Southwest rose 11.3 per cent to an average of $82,700 in 1976, according to a new survey of executive salaries.

The survey, released here Tuesday by Financial Executives Institute, also shows that the average total compensation paid in the Southwest, which includes Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, ranked sixth among seven regions studied.

Nationwide, top executive pay increased a record 14 per cent in 1976, following a relatively flat rate of less than one per cent in 1975.

Strong demand for experienced executives, improvements in corporate profitability and more emphasis on financial management contributed to the dramatic increase, institute officials said.

City water passes 'horse test'

So many bad things have been said about the Big Spring water in the last couple of weeks that I feel compelled to defend it.

A lot of the rumors you may have been hearing are untrue.

For example, it is simply not true that the city's water supply accidentally got hooked into the new Alaskan oil pipeline. If that had happened, we wouldn't have anything flowing for years.

One can also discount the story that the city of Big Spring's new activated carbon filter is taking out the water and only leaving tar and nicotine. The Food and Drug Administration has not yet given the water a tar rating — nor has it even considered forcing a warning label on water faucets that the stuff could be hazardous to your health.

THE WATER does have quite a bit of chlorine and other mineral content, but it's not nearly enough to float a bar of lead. I disagree with one sidewalk critic who suggested that the city import from the Great Salt Lake to dilute it.

I can also squash the rumor that someone in the water department might be in cahoots with certain beverage distributors to drive up the summer per capita consumption.

MANY BIG SPRING residents, I have heard, have turned to purchasing foreign water for drinking and cooking. That leaves their Big Spring water to be plowed for growing tomatoes.

But I think they are doing exactly the wrong thing. One must stay in shape for West Texas water. I know, because I grew up on a small farm where the well water was gyp. I could quench my thirst on it so long as I stayed home. If I went away two weeks for summer camp, my body would get out of condition, and the hair on my chest would die.

I suggest not importing water for consumption here in Big Spring, but instead taking Big Spring water with you wherever you go. That way, your taste buds will stay tough enough to drink it straight, or on the rocks, whenever you choose.

Every West Texas town in which I have lived with surface water occasionally had problems with lake inversions. Some of the old-timers look upon it as a test to see if people really want to live out here or not. It keeps the faint-hearted culled out, so to speak.

AS BAD AS the water in Big Spring has been recently, it cannot match the water in the last town I lived in:

Huntsville. This little town 70 miles north of Houston gets its supply from ground water, so it should be excellent, right?

Wrong, algae breath. Huntsville's water had occasional problems with iron, and the brown muck that flowed out of the faucets would make Mr. Clean faint. If it got in the washing machine with clothing, goodbye wardrobe. I never knew a person who dared bathe in it when it was running brown. It made a bathtub ring the White Tornado wouldn't budge.

So you see, we're actually lucky to have water as good as that in Big Spring. It saves you money if you mix a salty dog.

Any West Texan will tell you you're lucky to have water at all, and if you don't have to test it first by giving your horse a drink and watching him for an hour, you're miles ahead.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Lesson for all

Around the rim

Susan Hampton

For those of us who have been keeping up with the "Son of Sam" case, we now know that a New York resident was the key to the crackdown and capture of the alleged criminal. If a lesser person had refused to "get involved" or to commit themselves to police and press investigation and questioning, New York would still be terrorized.

WE SHOULD ALL LEARN something from this brave example of heroism. For too long people have thought that staying away from any action which might get sticky or complicated is the safest measure. The thought of many is that bad repercussions could possibly come from being the one who "tattled".

The action taken by the woman who thought she confronted the 44-caliber killer the night of his last attack, after her own fear of being in the middle, should be lauded.

Granted, sometimes certain people are stirred by ridiculously benign things. Consequently, they use precious police time and other enforcement agencies' time in doing so. These people should learn when to "cry wolf" and when not to.

A television movie was aired recently concerning the subject. The movie revealed much of the pettiness in people when it came to "getting involved". About five persons heard and saw a rape and murder of a young woman who lived in their apartment building but none of them called the police, because each had a "good" excuse.

What we must realize is that we add to our own danger as well as others when we do not contact authorities when we see someone harrasing a person or a gang of boys slashing tires. Just because they are not doing the same to us does not mean it will never happen. It very well might.

TAX DOLLARS WHICH go into paying salaries for extra police to investigate crimes, such as the one which recently ended in New York, could be cut if citizens took a more active role. Not the citizen's arrest type of help, but the watchful eyes and listening ears of dependable people could go a long way.

When a person is in danger, no excuse should be more important than the safety of him. A popular slogan of the day, "Watch out for number one" is a negative attitude in today's society. If we are to live as a group of citizens trying to save our country, our fuel and our natural resources areas, we must watch out for number two, number three, and number four.

Panama

-- si

William F. Buckley, Jr.

So far as one can judge (in the absence of the treaty text and its surrounding protocols) there is only one substantive objection to it, and that is its provenance. Mr. Ronald Reagan is targeted for special disdain by the lobbyists for the new treaty because they view his arguments as simplistic, amounting to nothing more than warmed-over chauvinism. In fact his objections are shared by critics whose turn of mind is not that of, say, the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Mr. Herman Phleger, one of the most distinguished lawyers in the country, legal adviser to the Department of State under President Eisenhower, and architect of the far-seeing, far-reaching Antarctic Treaty, heatedly denounces the new Panama treaty — on the same ground as Reagan, namely: The United States negotiated under duress.

The other arguments against revising the treaty are frail. It is conceded by our military that the Panama Canal is simply not defensible against sabotage or missile bombing. Efforts to protect it against sabotage would need the cooperation of the Panamanians themselves: — and even then, an enterprising saboteur could conceivably put the Canal out of action for a while. Certainly by introducing an explosive in a cargo vessel.

THE DEFENSE of the Canal, to the extent it is possible to defend it, is by guarding the sea and air approaches to it. This we have done, this the Panamanian Government is prepared in a separate protocol to charge us to continue to do; and this we can do under our own initiative after the turn of the century when the Canal is turned over fully to the Panamanians.

Respecting the economic point, the Panamanians undertake to guarantee passage to all shipping at non-discriminatory rates. As to the subsidy, we commit ourselves to a flat 50 million dollars' rental, which is reasonable, plus an unspecified jolt of economic aid to the new operators — which is not unreasonable. Our principal moral obligation, in economic terms, is to provide a comfortable transition to the American Zionians into other jobs in American installations as their number is gradually reduced in the Zone.

Now to the Reagan-Phleger position: It is correct that one's instinct is to resent bargaining under duress. Especially so in the current situation inasmuch as the Panamanians, rather than merely asking the United States kindly to reconsider arrangements entered into in 1903 with less than a scrupulous regard for the presumptions of nationhood, launched a sloppy, eristic campaign to discredit the plain fact that the United States exercises sovereign rights over the Panamanian Zone. It is much easier to give something up to people who ask for it, than to people who tell you it isn't really yours to give up.

But the point (I have stressed it before) is that it is becoming to a mature and self-confident nation to waive, where it is appropriate to do so, such formal considerations. Viewed in another way, we can hardly be impatient with rioting youth in the fever swamps of Panama considering the number of rioting youth we indulged in the fever swamps of Berkeley and Columbia.

Thyroid glands--'hot' and 'cold'

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Just recently I had a cold thyroid lump removed. The doctor was talking to me and saw a slight swelling. He did a thyroid scan and a couple of days later told me it had to be removed immediately. This took me by surprise. I'm 40 and have always been in very good health.

What does the thyroid gland do to your body before and after such surgery? Is it cancerous? I would like your opinion.—H.H.W.

It's difficult to discuss the thyroid gland in limited space, but a good deal of my mail includes questions about it. I should describe it briefly before getting to your specific questions.

The thyroid is a two-lobed gland located in the neck, just in front and around the windpipe. When it enlarges it is recognizable as a goiter. Now to your questions.

Most people discover such lumps themselves, so your's was probably relatively small. You can be thankful you have an observant and competent doctor.

The function of this important gland is in the manufacture of hormones that regulate the body's rate of metabolism—i.e., of the physical and chemical activities that support it. As with any secreting gland, lumps can develop, although just why is not clear. Excesses of other such glands are the ovaries and the breasts.

Some of the growths are cysts, others are lumps containing, as in your case, extra thyroid tissue (tumors). Often they behave just like the normal thyroid tissue.

To understand the terms "hot" and "cold" when used by a doctor, you must understand that the thyroid gland uses iodine from our food to produce its hormones. The iodine is sort of a raw material for the gland.

The scan you refer to tells how active the extra thyroid tissue (lump) is in absorbing this iodine. If it is quite active the lump is called hot, if there is no absorption of iodine it is "cold." The cold lumps are usually cancerous, slow-growing and slow to spread. In fact, there may be no symptoms from a cold thyroid, which would account for your apparent good health.

After removal there may be a hormone deficiency (hypothyroidism), and that depends on the amount of normal thyroid tissue removed with the lump.

On the brighter side of the picture thyroid surgery is usually quite successful. Your doctor will undoubtedly check you periodically to determine whether you require thyroid supplements.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why does my breath have a strong odor when I get up in the morning, then improve during the day? It's the same mouth. This has always puzzled me.—Mrs. I.N.

Heavy "morning mouth" odor has several causes—mouth breathing, which dries out the tissues, and overnight stagnation of saliva are chief among them. Another important factor is that the mouth tends to be inactive while you sleep. There isn't the constant tongue movement, the swallowing, chewing or flow of saliva. During the waking hours this keeps the tissue cleansed and lubricated. This is why odors from such items as tobacco, alcohol, and food tend to be more intense after arising.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was in the hospital and the doctor told me my alkaline phosphatase was very high in my blood tests. What is it and what causes it to be high? Could this cause pain in the back? I have it in my lower back.—Mrs. R.S.

Phosphatase is an enzyme found throughout the body. It may be elevated in a number of illnesses, especially those affecting the liver, intestines, or bones. Special tests are available for pinpointing the source.

In your case, with your back pain one might suspect the bones as the source.

A number of disorders involving the bones can be involved—Paget's disease, fractures, tumors, and the like.

Only follow-up tests will show why the level was up or whether it remains high.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why don't doctors give electrocardiograms to children to prevent heart attack or heart disease at an early age?—A.D.

Electrocardiograms are used in diagnosis. They have no preventive or curative values. You don't seem to understand how heart problems develop; they usually do so slowly, over years, from such chronic factors as high blood pressure, arterial deposits, and the like.

Electrocardiograms are used when congenital (birth) defects or rheumatic heart disease are suspected. Infant heart rhythms are usually unpredictable and ECGs would be of limited use on a routine basis. The stethoscope in the hands of a skilled physician is sufficient to detect serious abnormalities.

"Bad Breath Can Be Corrected" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's booklet explaining the causes and cure of bad breath. For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have become so discouraged in our church. I have a real burden for our young people, but almost no one else thinks they are important. Am I wrong in my feelings?—Mrs. L.S.

Dear Mrs. S.: No, you certainly are not. I believe a church that neglects its ministry to young people is not only being foolish (because the future of the church will eventually be in their hands), but is failing in its God-given mission. Such a church probably has little vision, not only for its young people, but for all people who are without Christ.

Why are the young people so important? One reason is because they are more open to the gospel at this time of their lives than they will probably ever be again. Once a person reaches full adulthood the probability that he will turn to Christ in later years is very small. Most decisions for Christ are probably made in the teenage years. It is interesting to me that the apostle Paul often took at least one young man with him missionary journeys (John, Mark, Timothy).

Another reason young people are important, especially today, is because they are subject to such intense temptations—far greater than almost any other in our history. Countless young people become enmeshed in drugs or sexual sin today, and ruin their lives before they ever reach adulthood.

Talk with your minister about your concern, and pray for specific ways you might begin a personal ministry (such as a Bible study) with your young people.

Cassie Mackin leaving NBC

Liz Smith

Tepid Flashes! Cassie Mackin, the blondly prim and proper NBC anchorwoman who made her name during the 1964 political conventions, is indeed leaving for ABC. Her contract with NBC was up and though the network had an option to pick up her services and match any offer, it decided again not to fight ABC. When it comes to giving up women, NBC is really liberated. . . . Liza Minnelli's show "Shine It On" lumbered out of Chicago to San Francisco for an opening tomorrow. Halston flew out to redo Madame Minnelli's entire wardrobe. Said one insider: "Everyone is in a state of exhaustion; they won't change the terrible title they've stuck on this which nobody can remember; the Theadora Van Runkle costumes got the worst reviews ever; Liza is the one getting raves. And, of course, it's always possible they'll replace Martin Scousese as director!" . . . The art world is talking about former Times art critic John Canaday, just returned from a lecture tour for the State Department.

Muzzling voice

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — A letter by the American ambassador passionately defending President Carter's human rights policy, published on July 30 in Poland's most prestigious newspaper, was barred from the Voice of America's (VOA) Polish-language broadcast by intervention of the ambassador himself.

In an Aug. 3 cable to Washington from Warsaw, Ambassador Richard Davies argued that since the newspaper, Polityka, had "courageously" published the letter, broadcasting the text by VOA would serve no purpose. The VOA's unseasoned director immediately capitulated to the detente-conscious State Department, which instinctively prefers good bilateral relations to the Carter human rights crusade.

NO DECISION for many years has so infuriated the professional news staff at VOA. It violated strong guidelines giving total news autonomy to VOA, rather than the parent U.S. Information Agency (USIA) — guidelines issued by USIA director John E. Reinhardt May 4.

The result is an erosion of both VOA's credibility and the President's world crusade for human rights. The Davies letter, responding to Polityka's earlier criticism of Mr. Carter's human rights policy, was an emotional but highly effective defense of that policy. The newspaper, obviously waiting for clearance from Communist boss Edward Gierak, held the letter three weeks before publishing it.

The news value of an American diplomat's letter published in a Soviet satellite state is beyond question. Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty, subsidized by but independent of the U.S. government, both carried much of the letter. The British Reuters news service published the entire text.

The reason for this extensive coverage is obvious: publication of the letter in a Communist newspaper was a major political event, signifying either deliberate Polish defiance of Moscow or an important prelude to this fall's Belgrade conference which will draw a balance sheet on human rights. No U.S. official here or in Warsaw knows the true reason, but the mere fact of publication was on its face a triumph of the President's policy which deserves maximum exploitation.

INSTEAD, THE Voice of America ran merely a 69-word commentary in its Polish-language broadcasts on Aug. 1, containing no verbatim quotations. The appeal from Davies, perhaps understandable under a narrow interpretation of his own duties as ambassador, carried the field, the pledge in Reinhardt's guidelines that "VOA will be solely responsible for the content of news broadcasts" was ignored.

USIA officials insist the decision not to run the text of the letter was made by VOA itself. Technically, in the absence of a specific directive issued to VOA, the decision-maker was VOA's new and inexperienced director, Manhattan radio station owner Peter Straus. After Davies' intervention, Straus suggested that broadcasting the text of Davies' letter could wait until VOA received a true copy in Polish.

But VOA editors believe that on the strength of the cable from Davies' embassy, there was inescapable high-level bureaucratic reluctance at USIA to broadcast the text of the letter. When the Polish-language copy finally arrived here last week, neither Straus nor anybody else made a move to change the decision.

DAVIES, A DIPLOMAT widely experienced in both the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, used his influence on an earlier occasion to muzzle the Voice of America's Polish-language broadcast. That was in June 1976, when he fought the VOA's carrying word to Poland about food riots in Polish cities.

But that was during the Ford administration era when VOA was run by a tough-minded station owner from Mobile, Ala., named Kenneth R. Giddens and his deputy, a career USIA officer named Serban Vallimarescu. Davies' advice was not followed, a decision that angered Henry Kissinger's State Department and that may have explained Vallimarescu's demotion to a lesser job soon thereafter. (Five years earlier, however, Giddens had demoralized VOA by killing a broadcast to Greece for diplomatic reasons.)

The permitted intrusion of Davies in the latest effort to silence the Voice will provide new congressional support to give VOA complete autonomy. Sen. Charles Percy's amendment to do just that was adopted by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee early this year but died in the full committee. Percy's renewed effort next year will be helped by the case of the missing letter.

Dear Editor: May I offer a salute to our local fire department. While most of us slept the other night (at 3 a.m.), two trucks and crews controlled a fire at my business.

I have never seen so much filth, smoke and burning debris in my life. Not only was the crew efficient and prompt, they were courteous and understanding toward me as a person.

Illegal aliens often victims of extortionists

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP) — Although they steal in America looking for a better way of life, illegal aliens often find themselves the victims of extortionists and narcotics traffickers, says a veteran Border Patrol agent. Smugglers, charging aliens from $250 to $500 for passage to large American cities such as Houston, Dallas or Chicago, usually turn extortionists once the alien finds a job. Or the smuggler might entice the alien into carrying narcotics across the border in lieu of payment, says Tom Ball, the chief Border Patrol agent in this Rio Grande Valley city. "Alien smuggling is a big business," Ball said Tuesday. "Last month we caught 69 smugglers and there's no telling how many we missed. They range from the organized crime types to the ones we call weekend smugglers." The "weekend smugglers" are persons from Houston or San Antonio or Dallas who "come to the border for a weekend or partying and carry a couple of illegal aliens back with them to pay for their trip."

Ball says the going price for smuggling usually depends on the destination. "They usually get $250 to $350 for smuggling an alien to Houston or Dallas and $500 for Detroit or Chicago. "It's a C.O.D. (cash on delivery) sort of thing," he continued. "A relative in Dallas or Chicago might say, 'I want my brother with me...bring him to me. The smuggler gets half of his fee as a down payment and the other half when the brother arrives.' Or the alien might become a "body carrier," smuggling hard narcotics across the border in exchange for transportation to a large American city. The alien usually keeps paying for his ride. "These people lend themselves to extortion very easily," says Ball. "The smuggler will get them in, say, Houston and come around each payday and say, 'Look, either you pay me more money or I'll have to turn you in.' It's a vicious circle."

Ball celebrated his 37th anniversary with the Border Patrol last month. He has served as chief agent in such alien-crossing hot spots as Tucson, Ariz., and Chula Vista, Calif., where the Border Patrol is currently intensifying its efforts to halt the illegal flow. For the past 15 years, he has been stationed in this border city near the Rio Grande. "The illegal alien problem will never be solved by enforcement along the border," he predicted. "You can't put enough agents on the border around the lock to stop them."

"We also need some means of importing a temporary source of labor," he continued. "I'm not talking about a bracero program where millions came across to work but a situation that would allow employers to hire foreign laborers when the American work force can't fill the jobs. "And we need to crack down on employers who hire illegal aliens."

'Doreen' brings rain

By The Associated Press
Tropical storm "Doreen" was expected to bring three inches of rain to the southern California coastal and desert areas with up to six inches likely in the mountains.

Because of the storm, a rain warning and flash flood watch were continued today over much of southern California.

Flash flood watches also extended over northwest Arizona and southern Nevada. A flash flood watch was continued over the southern mountains and the southwest portion of Colorado as thunderstorms continued to threaten with locally heavy rains.

Because of heavy rains in western New York, a flash flood watch was continued over western portions of the state.

There was some flooding in Indiana early today with four inches of water over some roads near Tell City, about 35 miles east of Evansville.

There also will be scattered local flooding this morning from Arkansas and southern Missouri across the Ohio Valley to New England and through inland portions of the Gulf states as well as the southern Appalachians.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 41 at Minot, N.D., to 88 at Fort Worth, Texas.

Party will feature cake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mae West, the brassy, buxom sex symbol of the 1930s, celebrates her 84th birthday today.

Miss West, who was born Aug. 17, 1893, in Brooklyn, recently completed her latest movie, "Sextet."

Warren Toube, one of the producers of "Sextet," Danny Briggs and Bob Sullivan will be hosts for a party at Chasen's, a posh Los Angeles restaurant.

Thirty of her closest friends were invited. The party will feature a standup cake in the shape of Miss West.

Davis juror hunt waged

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers for the defense and prosecution continue their week-long search for a final juror today in the capital murder trial of Fort Worth industrialist Cullen Davis.

Attorneys for Davis used their 13th strike Tuesday to excuse a potential final juror.

Thus, the defense has but two and the state three remaining strikes, the vehicle by which attorneys can excuse prospective jurors without cause.

It was a week ago Tuesday that the 11th juror was selected. A total of 145 prospects have been examined since the trial began June 27.

Davis, 43, is on trial for the 1976 slaying death of his stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, one of two persons slain during a shooting spree last summer at Davis' Fort Worth mansion. Two others were wounded.

Doctor separates truth from myths on eyecare

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Reading in poor light will ruin your eyes, you were probably told as a child. But it's not so.

"Reading in dim light may be fatiguing just as it's fatiguing to walk two miles," says Dr. Joseph A.C. Wadsworth, chairman of the ophthalmology department at Duke University Medical Center. "But you're not hurting your legs by walking, and you won't damage your eyes by using them, even if you don't have enough light."

The belief that inadequate light is harmful is just one of dozens of misconceptions about eyes and eye care Wadsworth cites. Most of these mistaken ideas are harmless, he said in an interview, but a few are dangerous and need to be corrected.

A child who shows a tendency to be cross-eyed should be taken to an ophthalmologist as soon as possible so the problem can be corrected. The notion that the child will outgrow the condition in time is false and to wait until he is 6 or 7 years old can result in permanently weakened vision in one eye.

What about regular rinsing of the eyes?

"It's completely unnecessary unless you get something in your eyes," Wadsworth says. Most commercial eye drops will make irritated eyes feel fresher and look whiter, but they have a disadvantage most people are unaware of, he added.

"The drops work by shrinking the size of swollen blood vessels in the white of the eye. But after the drops wear off, the eyes may be redder than they were originally. If the drops are used frequently, chronic redness can result because the tiny vessels lose their ability to contract normally," Wadsworth explained.

A boric acid solution — a teaspoon of boric acid in a pint of water — is healthier and cheaper, he says.

Wadsworth says that, contrary to popular belief, persons who wear glasses need not have their prescriptions or their eyes checked every year so long as they are comfortable and their vision is normal.

A slight change in the strength of glasses, which can be made almost every year, is both expensive and unnecessary, he said.

Older persons usually lose their ability to focus on close objects as their natural lenses stiffen, he said. If the lenses cloud over with cataracts, the lenses need to be removed surgically when they interfere with an individual's activities — driving, for example.

"Surgeons remove the entire lens, so it won't grow back any more than an appendix will grow back," he said. "After surgery, the patient needs either spectacles or contact lenses in order to see clearly."

Another misconception he cites concerns the excessive watching of television.

The bridegroom works at Hester and Robertson Mechanical Contractors, Inc.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Davis home.

'Far out' designer softens look

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
The pretty designer with the parrot-green hair, Zandra Rhodes of London, whose dress fashions include the chains, safety pins, holes and tears of the street styles known as "punk" fashions, is taking a more conservative approach in designing home fashions for Americans.

"America has turned the home furnishings market into a fashion industry, a moving market," she says. "Americans care terribly how their homes look and they are proud of every room. In Europe people don't invite you to see their bedrooms or bathrooms as they do in America."

Although "the sky is the limit" in American home fashion, she says, the bath rugs she has designed are conservative, considering her reputation. But she points out she has always seemed "more vivacious in the media" than she really is.

Only her little "squiggle," a worm-like motif, shows up as the motif on the rug. The squiggle, which has become more or less a trademark,

"works its way into many things and more or less takes over," she says.

Zandra's street fashions and her line of topless nightgowns and slips are widely known. Her fashion inspiration has come from many sources. One dress, sunbursts on a red background, is based on a trip to Mexico; a beautiful green accordion-pleated silk chiffon is the color of an early morning landscape. She isn't sure what her summer trip to Utah will provide but she was taking her sketch pad with her.

"I trained as a textile designer at the Royal College of Art in London, but in the '60s all the factories considered my work too extreme and too personal. I decided to set up my own print works and for two years I sold my work to dress designers. I didn't like what they were doing with them so I began to make my own dresses."

Her success was built on personal initiative with "some American backing," she says. Her day began at 5 a.m. and she had one operator helping her do everything. Now she has 30 people working for her and has three shops in England.

"After getting a lot of publicity about my dresses, I can get back to do what I was trained to do in the home fields, such as sheets, and the rugs for Regal."

The small rug designs are in soft colors, such as pale biscuit and lily white, dusty pink, trellis blue and celadon, which are coordinated with bed linens she has designed for Wamsutta in a shadowy motif trimmed with her own accordion pleating.

Wants to Turn in 'Defective' Twin

DEAR ABBY: My 24-year-old daughter has made a decision that is breaking my heart. I honestly wonder if she's in her right mind.

At 16 she married because she was pregnant, and now she has seven children. The last two are identical twin girls born only five days ago. She and her husband have decided to keep one of the twins, and give the other up for adoption. Abby, can you believe this? Their reason is so terrible, that I'm almost ashamed to tell you.

One of the twins was born with a club foot and a cleft palate. The other twin is perfect. Both are beautiful and otherwise healthy. They want to keep the perfect one and give the other one away. The thought of separating those twin babies makes me sick.

I've tried to tell my daughter that the club foot and cleft palate can be corrected with surgery, but she says that six children are all they can afford.

I offered to take the defective baby, but she says it would create problems to have her in the family. She's already contacted an adoption agency, and a childless couple is waiting to adopt the twin.

Can you help me? Please hurry.

HEARTSICK GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: Urge your daughter to see a psychiatrist. She could be disturbed, or suffering from a temporary depression from which she would recover. Should she go through with the adoption it will not be final for a year. Perhaps she'll regain her senses by that time, but if so, what a cruel ordeal for the adoptive parents!

DEAR ABBY: My sister has developed an allergy to doing dishes. The minute she starts doing the dishes, she sneezes. It's not just one sneeze, but a long string of them. Mama says she can't help it, so I have to do the dishes alone. What should I do? I think my sister is just trying to get out of doing the dishes.

DISHWASHER

DEAR DISH: Your sister could be allergic to the soap powder or liquid detergent you use for dishwashing. A doctor could determine this. If that's the case, it's time for a change. (What a spot for a commercial!)

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in response to HATES HUNTING. If he doesn't want to go hunting, he doesn't have to, but is he willing to help foot the bill to save wildlife? Hunters contribute about $230 million annually to preserve wildlife. (Also, sport hunting has never endangered a species.)

Sadly, there are slob hunters who drink while hunting, and "shoot everything that moves." Fortunately, they are a small minority, which is growing smaller because in many states there are mandatory safety courses for hunters under age 18 or 24.

As for hunters killing others (or themselves) by mistake, in 1976 there were nearly 100,000 deer hunters in New Mexico, but only six hunting accidents involving guns! (No fatalities.)

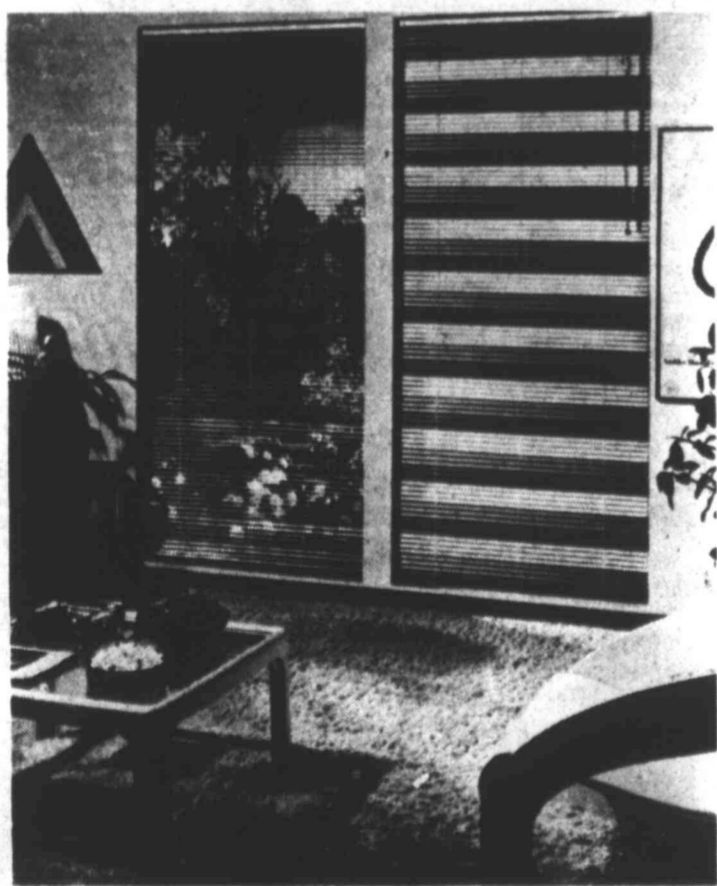

Hunters appreciate wildlife more than any other group. Please be fair, Abby, and give us hunters equal time.

L.L. IN N.M.

DEAR L.L.: In the interest of fairness, I'll give hunters equal time. But I still feel that until hunted animals can shoot back, they don't have an equal chance.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Work break can lessen stress

NEW YORK (AP) — A walk around the block; time out for meditating or reading; lunch hour exercise at a health spa. These are some of the ways business professionals find relief from job stress, reports a registered nurse in the occupational health field.

Interviews conducted by Dawn D. Kinsler, health administrator of Texas Commerce Bank, Houston, revealed individual workers' personal habits played a major role in creating stress, she says. Among them: poor dietary habits, elimination of daily breaks from work routine and skipping breakfast or lunch.

Ms. Kinsler, writing in "Occupational Health Nursing," official publication of the American Association of Occupational Health Nurses, suggests a number of ways to reduce excessive work stress.

These include understanding organization objectives, having ready access to superiors, starting a task with adequate facilities and supplies, maintenance of maximum organization and efficiency, a positive attitude toward success of an endeavor, being assertive rather than aggressive and not relying on others for positive self-affirmation.

Relaxation at home, according to Ms. Kinsler, can carry over into the work setting for a general sense of well-being. Weekends with proper rest and good nourishment, leisure time spent with entertainment, sporting events, exercise programs and generally "doing your own thing" were advocated.

A short talk was given by George McAlister on his recent book, "Dominoes — Texas Style."

A report on the recent veterans convention in Houston was given by auxiliary member Bernice Micallef.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 10 at the Kentwood Center.

What are calories?

What calories do — and don't do — to weight control is often confusing.

"Technically, a calorie is a unit of measurement equal to the amount of energy required to raise the temperature of a liter (about a quart) of water by one degree centigrade. Bodies use this energy for breathing or moving," Mrs. Mary Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist, says.

Calories are provided by the food eaten. Each gram of sugar and starches (carbohydrates) gives four calories, for protein, four calories per gram, and for fat, nine calories per gram. If a person eats more calories than he needs, whether it is in carbohydrates, proteins or fats, then he gains weight — if he consumes less, then he loses weight, the specialist says.

"One pound of fat is equal to 3,500 calories. By eating 500 calories a day more than you need for one week, in one week you have gained one pound. If you eat 500 calories less than you need in a day for a week, then you lose one pound."

"Nutritionists have been aware of energy as it relates to weight control for many years. Since 1770, it has been known that you take less energy when resting at a comfortable temperature, twelve hours after your last meal, so you need less calories during the night."

Sewing club meets

The Sew and Chatter Club met Wednesday evening for their annual picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood.

Members brought their husbands as guests. The hostess, Mrs. Porter, showed slides of their trip to Hawaii.

A donation to the Bible fund was made.

The next meeting will be Aug. 24 at the home of Mrs. Ruby Billings, 1603 Runnels.

Degree received

Miss Gayla Dell Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Williams, 902 E. 15th St., graduated Aug. 11 with a M.A. in business education from West Texas State University in Canyon.

Miss Williams will teach in the business department at the Colorado City High School the coming year.

She graduated from Howard College in Big Spring and received her B.A. from W.T.S.U.

Martin law due to save state

COLORADO CITY — State Rep. Elmer Martin has authored a bill which may make money for landowners and save money for highway districts.

The bill will allow mowing and baling of bar ditches along the state highways provided permission is given by the district highway engineers.

Owners of the land next to the rights-of-way will be given first option to mow them. The farmers can obtain needed hay and the state will save money on mowing fees.

The law is expected to save the state highway fund almost $150,000 the first year it is in effect and to increase savings to $176,000 by 1982.

Crop payments are possible

COLLEGE STATION — Wheat and feed grain farmers who have no acreage allotments or who have overplanted their allotments for these crops may become eligible for government disaster payments under the farm bill agreed to by congressional conferees, according to James E. Goad, chairman, Texas State ASC Committee.

"Under provisions of the conference bill, a farmer who has suffered reduced yields due to a natural disaster may be eligible for a payment based on the number of acres actually planted for harvest," Goad said. In the past, payments were based on the farm's allotted acres.

Farmers who wish to file or refile a disaster payment program should contact the Howard County ASCS Office.

Alabama judge to direct FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter plans to nominate Frank Johnson, a deep South judge with a strong civil rights record, as the next director of the FBI, knowledgeable administration sources say.

The White House was expected to announce today that Carter will send Johnson's name to the Senate, which must confirm his selection. The choice ends a seven-month search for a director to take charge of the bureau and its 8,000 agents.

Carter and Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell chose the 58-year-old federal district judge to succeed Clarence M. Kelley after rejecting four candidates recommended by a presidentially-appointed search committee, the sources said.

By choosing Johnson, a Republican, Carter and Bell may have a candidate who can sail through the Senate hearings with little, if any opposition.

But Sen James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee that will first consider Johnson's nomination, would not comment Tuesday night. "I know the whole score," Eastland said, "and I don't leak stories. I have no comment."

Johnson's nomination is certain to please civil rights groups who assailed the bureau in the 1960s for allegedly ignoring beatings of black activists in the South.

That charge came while J. Edgar Hoover, the director, was carrying out a secret campaign to discredit the movement's chief leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Johnson's record seems to show a quality Bell particularly sought in an FBI director. The attorney general had said he wanted someone strong enough to control "the dominant personalities" in the bureau's hierarchy.

While Kelley was respected for his sincerity and good intentions, he was often criticized by congressmen and others who deal with the bureau for being too weak to control the old Hoover hands still holding powerful FBI jobs.

Kelley is retiring Jan. 1. His announcement last winter that he would step down followed criticism by Carter during his campaign for the presidency.

Appointed a federal judge in Alabama in 1965, Johnson has handed numerous victories to civil rights activists pressing suits before his court.

His judicial record has earned him bitter enemies in his home state, chief among them Gov. George C. Wallace, his one-time law school classmate.

Price-fixing charges hurled

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A spokesman for cattlemen who have filed suit against major supermarket chains says the beef producers can prove the stores set meat prices despite one company's statement that similar suits have been thrown out of court.

The suit was filed in federal court here by more than 150 Texas and New Mexico cattlemen alleging that 26 defendants, including major supermarket chains, have stifled competition by agreeing on beef prices.

The defendants include Safeway and A&P, two of the nation's largest grocery companies.

A Safeway spokesman at the company's Oakland, Calif., headquarters said Tuesday the company has not heard of the suit but added, "We have had a number of suits filed by cattlemen and this sounds similar."

"A number of those others have been terminated with respect to Safeway by court orders confirming that we do not and have not engaged in any unlawful activity in connection with the purchase or sale of meat. We do deny any allegation that we have violated any law," spokesman Felicia Del Campos said.

But a cattlemen spokesman said the top chains set the price. "No one else will pay more to the packers," he said.

The spokesman said beef prices have fluctuated as much as 25 cents per pound since 1973 but consumers have not seen the change at the supermarket because of price-fixing by major retail chains.

Producers have received as low as 30 cents per pound of beef and as high as 57 cents per pound during the last four years, the spokesman added.

"We've had big drops like this several times yet the retail prices have never changed," he said. "The retailers can control the prices paid to packers and if they pay less it's passed down to the producer."

The suit alleges that some of the top chains, including A&P and Safeway, accept bids one day prior to other retail chains. The major supermarkets set their prices and the nationwide prices are then based at those levels.

He added that producers and consumers lose in the scheme while the supermarkets continue to sell beef at artificially high prices.

Farmers in 30 states to share drought aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers in 30 states will share in an additional $50 million in drought-relief aid included in the new appropriations measure for the Agriculture Department recently signed by President Carter.

About $100 million in similar aid was distributed to 24 states in May.

Under the program, USDA pays 80 per cent of the cost of carrying out water and soil-conservation practices on farms necessitated by droughts in officially declared drought-emergency counties.

The new state-by-state allocations are:

- Alabama, $4 million;
- Arkansas, $800,000;
- California, $11.3 million;
- Colorado, $3.9 million;
- Florida, $4 million;
- Georgia, $6 million;
- Idaho, $3 million;
- Illinois, $500,000;
- Indiana, $400,000;
- Iowa, $1.8 million;
- Kansas, $200,000;
- Michigan, $1 million;
- Minnesota, $200,000;
- Missouri, $800,000;
- Montana, $500,000;
- Nebraska, $500,000;
- New Mexico, $300 million;
- North Carolina, $2 million;
- Oklahoma, $200,000;
- Oregon, $200,000;
- South Carolina, $1.5 million;
- South Dakota, $400,000;
- Texas, $500,000;
- Utah, $3 million;
- Virginia, $600,000;
- Washington, $1 million;
- West Virginia, $1.2 million;
- Wisconsin, $200,000, and Wyoming, $200,000.

Persistent pigeon pecks for pay

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Pigeons warble and wobble and walk funny when they're about to eat, but it's not because they're stupid, says psychologist Peter Killeen.

Killeen, director of graduate studies in physiological psychology at Arizona State University, is using a $50,000 National Science Foundation grant to show that pigeons aren't acting out of ignorant superstition. They're playing the long shot.

When a pigeon repeats any activity that was sometimes followed by food, the behavior is called superstitious, Killeen explains. The pigeon may pace and stare before pecking, or turn in circles and peck several times at a nail, for example.

It makes as much sense as a person knocking on wood to forestall bad luck or scratching his head for inspiration.

But it's not stupid, says Killeen. "I call it 'why-not' behavior — playing the long shot when there's nothing to lose."

To demonstrate that pigeons can play the long shot as well as humans, Killeen rigged a box with a computerized set of lights and a feeding device.

"Elaine," one of Killeen's pigeons, steps into the box and begins pecking at a white light, which is flanked by red and green lights. After a few pecks, the white light goes off and Elaine pecks the red light, signifying "I did it."

Indeed, the pigeon, not the computer, turned off the light, and Elaine is rewarded with a shot of grain.

After a few seconds, the grain hopper snaps shut, the white light goes out while she's looking at it but not pecking. Elaine pecks the green light for "I didn't do it" and gets another shot of grain.

The kicker comes when Killeen programs more grain for "I did it" responses than "I didn't do it" responses. Elaine pecks away at the white light and it goes out, but the timing is too close and she can't tell whether she did it or not.

So she plays the long shot, pecking the "I did it" light. She may be wrong and get no grain at all, but if she's right

Identity of 'water czar' still mystery

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The two most active candidates for Texas "water czar" were rejected but their present No. 2 men were named Tuesday as acting director and deputy director of the new Texas Department of Water Resources.

The department, a merger of the three existing state water agencies, goes into business Sept. 1.

Charles Nemir, now assistant director of the Texas Water Development Board, was named acting director. Dick Whittington, No. 2 man in the Texas Water Quality Board, was appointed acting deputy director.

Selections were made in executive session by the six-member water development board, which will make policy for the new department.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he will appoint a three-member Texas Water Commission this week. The commission will operate within the new department but will issue permits and settle water rights disputes independently.

The board rejected Hugh Yantis, director of the water quality board, and James M. Rose, director of the water development board staff, for the $43,700 top job.

Also passed over was Bob Schneider, director of the Texas Water Rights Commission.

Rose, 56, was offered a subordinate job in the water development field but turned it down.

Yantis, 63, made it clear from the start that he was interested only in the top job.

He issued a memorandum to his staff Tuesday morning saying he had been informed by the board "that I will not be executive director of the Texas Department of Water Resources."

Rose made a brief statement at the board's open meeting, disclosing plans to form a new business and saying, "I deeply appreciate the offer of this board... of a $40,000-a-year job that was hard to turn down."

He later said he would form a partnership with two Dallas businessmen, Bob Alpert and Ron Chamness, in a firm that will help political subdivisions with natural resources planning. Alpert is owner of the Alpert Corp., a development and financial firm, and Chamness owns Continental Mechanical Engineering.

Board chairman A. L. Black would not say why Rose and Yantis were passed over, but each has been a controversial figure and has enemies in the legislature.

Rose was a strong advocate of consolidating water agencies. Yantis at first opposed the idea publicly but later became a convert.

The board adopted a $19.2 million budget for the new agency for the coming fiscal year, retaining all employees of the three agencies but assuming a normal 10 per cent attrition rate.

Pardons chief thinks some folks should be 'eliminated'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Dr. George Killinger, new chairman of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, says he is not an advocate of the death penalty but there are some people who should be "eliminated."

"I do see some crimes that for the good of society that person shouldn't be here. I think he is a beast," Killinger said on a weekend radio panel program (State Capitol Dateline).

"I am against the death penalty except for the very, very heinous, just barbaric crimes," he said. "It is better to eliminate certain people rather than keep them on death row or keep them in prison where they are still dangerous to human beings in prison, not only to guards and administrative staff but to other inmates."

"Some people can just never be helped."

"And there are some compulsive sex offenders that I would never vote for parole, particularly men who prey on young children and this type of offender," Killinger said.

He said he did not favor expanding the death penalty law, adding, "It should be limited to the very serious and very aggravated offenses which are not included."

Killinger said despite the death penalty, "I think some people will still murder. I think there are psychotic and psychopathic individuals that we can predict will murder, I mean like Son of Sam, but that is not what we are interested in. What are the dynamics, what's back of it? I'm not interested in what did he do, but why did he do it."

Safety plus

NEW YORK (AP) — The safest form of public conveyance is not the train, bus, taxi or airplane, but the taken-for-granted elevator or escalator, according to the latest survey by a manufacturer of the up-and-down equipment.

Although such traffic in the United States rose by about 2 per cent last year, when some 360,000 elevators and escalators carried 50 billion passengers, a study by Otis Elevator discloses a total of 1,427 accidents reported, compared to 1,486 for 1975.

Search for escaped Nazi war criminal called off

LUENEBURG, West Germany (AP) — Escaped Nazi war criminal Herbert

Kappler is in the Lueneburg area, where he probably will be allowed to live out his life a free man, District Attorney Gerhard Reifenberg said today.

Reifenberg confirmed that West Germany's constitution prohibits Kappler's extradition to Italy to complete serving a life sentence.

Earlier, West German police said they called off their hunt for the ailing, 70-year-old wartime Gestapo chief in Rome because of the constitutional ban.

Kappler, reported dying of intestinal cancer, was smuggled out of a Rome military hospital early Monday by his wife. Italian officials said his illness had reduced him to 105 pounds, and she apparently took him out in a big suitcase.

West German officials said Mrs. Kappler telephoned Monday that she had brought her husband to West Germany, but his whereabouts were not known. Italian Premier Giulio Andreotti ordered his ambassador in Bonn to begin extradition proceedings, and a police hunt was ordered for the missing man.

The Federal Criminal Office in Wiesbaden announced Tuesday night that the police were no longer involved. It said the courts would have to decide whether action might be taken against Kappler. But the constitution prohibits

Body of young woman found in desert

LAS CRUCES (AP) — The badly decomposed body of a young woman found in the southern Dona Ana County desert near the New Mexico-Texas state line was undergoing an autopsy, investigators said.

Dona Ana County sheriff's investigator Henry Diaz said the body was found in a ditch beside New Mexico 404 near Anthony Gap.

Diaz, who estimated the woman was in her late teens or early 20s, said a positive identification has not been made. He said foul play is suspected but the condition of the body made the autopsy necessary to determine cause of death.

The body had been in the ditch five or more days before it was discovered, Diaz estimated.

extradition of West German nationals to face legal action abroad, and the West German government had repeatedly asked the Italian government to send him home to die.

The constitutional ban on extradition already is protecting about 250 Germans sentenced in absentia for war crimes by French courts.

Kappler had served 30 years of a life sentence for ordering the 1944 Ardeatine Caves massacre in Rome of 335 Italians. They were shot in reprisal for the death of 32 German soldiers in a Partisan ambush in Nazi-occupied Rome.

Kappler's escape touched off protests from Partisan veterans and Italian Jewish groups. Thousands attended a memorial service Tuesday at the Ardeatine Caves.

Fearing hostile demonstrations, Andreotti and West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt postponed a meeting they had planned for Friday in Verona.

In West Germany, however, the feeling was widespread that Kappler had more than atoned for his crimes by his long imprisonment.

HHH enters hospital for routine checkup

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey has been admitted to the University of Minnesota Hospital for what is described as a routine checkup and drug treatment.

Humphrey, 66, was accompanied Tuesday afternoon by his wife Muriel, a hospital spokesman said. It was not known how long Humphrey, whose bladder was removed because of cancer last year, would be hospitalized.

The Minneapolis Tribune reported that one hospital doctor, who asked not to be identified, said Humphrey was having intestinal problems and it was decided to have him hospitalized for a detailed examination.

The doctor said there is no evidence of any return of the cancer and that the intestinal problem could have been caused by drug or radiation treatments Humphrey has received, or by the surgery itself. But he said nothing definite could be determined until tests are completed.

The hospital statement said that since his bladder surgery, Humphrey has had periodic chemotherapy treatments in New York and Washington.

Seymour couple charged in murder of child

GRAHAM, Tex. (AP) — The parents of a 14-month-old infant whose partially decomposed body was discovered on a ranch near here have been charged with murder in connection with the child's death.

Harley Junior Collins, 22, and his wife, Vera, 19, both of Seymour, were charged Tuesday with the beating death of their son, Michael Dewayne Collins. They were held in lieu of $20,000 bond each, which was set by Justice of the Peace N.L. Barrett of Graham.

Authorities in this North Texas city said the couple's two other children are in the custody of the state welfare department.

A daughter, who was six months old at the time, was taken away from the Collinses in 1974, officials said. A two-year-old son was taken into custody following the report of the alleged kidnaping.

The Collinses claimed Michael was abducted from a Graham motel room Aug. 1. They reported the alleged kidnaping to Olney police officials when they moved to that city one week later.

The Collinses said the abductors were two women who claimed to be welfare officials. The parents said they delayed in reporting the abduction because the women were supposed to contact them within two or three days.

A posse was formed to look for the child and Jim Nance, special investigator for the Graham police department, said the boy's body was found Monday night in a hole "covered with limbs and grass." Nance filed the charges, alleging that the Collinses beat Michael to death with a shoe.

Don Styles, a welfare department spokesman from Wichita Falls, said other two Collins children "are in protective custody of the welfare department in Young County now. They are with relatives."

Mom, don't be so mean

ATLANTA (AP) — President Carter has been told if he wants a book of his mother's letters to his family, he'll have to buy it like anyone else.

The President called Monday while his mother, Lillian, was holding an autograph party to celebrate publication of the book.

"You'll just have to buy one," she was overheard to say into the telephone. Mrs. Carter, known as Miss Lillian, said later it was the President, who wanted to know if she would give him a copy of the book.

A group of family friends from Plains purchased a copy of the book and carried it through the line for Miss Lillian's autograph and said they would send it to the President.

The President's sister, Gloria Spann, collected the letters and had them published.

BEGGING TO DIFFER — Cincinnati Reds runner Dave Concepcion throws his arms up and yells in disbelief after being called out on a stolen base attempt at second base in the second inning of a game with the San Diego Padres in Cincinnati Tuesday night. Umpire Paul Runge ruled that Padres shortstop Bill Almon, left, had tagged Concepcion, but the Reds runner claimed Almon missed with the tag. Runge's decision stood.

Texas kills Brewers; regain their style

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Much of the 11-3 mugging dealt the Milwaukee Brewers by Texas Tuesday night is detailed in the box score, but that doesn't reflect the degree of motivation which Ranger Manager Billy Hunter believes was involved.

And Hunter didn't mean merely the motivation spawned by prospects of playoff money, even though his surging Rangers have climbed into a second place tie with the Chicago White Sox, half a game out of first in the American League West. Rather, Hunter said he thought his players were embarrassed after having blown a 5-0 lead and lost 6-5 to the forlorn Brewers Monday night.

"I didn't say anything to them after that game. I think that game itself did that. I think it told our players something in better words than I could ever think of," said Hunter, whose team is 32-15 since he took over as manager June 28.

The Rangers didn't take long to make amends. Mike Hargrove blasted loser Moose Haas' (8-8) second pitch into the right field bleachers, his ninth homer of the year and fifth in the Rangers' last six games. It was the third time in Texas' last four games that he led off the Rangers' half of the first inning with a homer.

The Rangers scored again in the first as Bert Campaneris singled, stole second and raced home on the first of Claudell Washington's four hits. They added six more runs in the second as 12 of their first 15 batters in the game reached base and the 16th, Bump Wills, hit a sacrifice fly.

"That's what you call getting your brains beat out," Brewer Manager Alex Grammas said. "No matter how many times you see something like that, you just hope it doesn't happen to your ball club."

A single by Jim Sundberg, a walk and an RBI single by Campaneris produced the Rangers' first run in the second and chased Haas. After Campaneris stole second again, Washington slammed a two run double and scored on a single by Willie Horton.

Dave May then singled, and a single by Toby Harrah and Wills' sacrifice fly made it 8-0.

Don Money hit his 20th homer in the Brewer second, but the Rangers made it 11-1 with three runs in the fourth on a bases loaded walk to Wills and a two run double by Sundberg.

"What pleased me the most tonight is that when we got the eight run lead, we didn't let up," Hunter said.

Hunter didn't even let up when it was 11-1. He sprinted from the dugout in the Ranger fifth to contend, futilely, that Brewer reliever Bob McClure had used a balk move to pick Campaneris off first base.

Glance goes great guns

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Harvey Glance, America's top sprinter at the World University Games, says he won't repeat the mistake that cost him a medal in the 100 meters at the Montreal Olympics.

"I just got off to a bad start at Montreal. I hope I can maintain my strength for the entire race this time because it has been a long season," Glance said Tuesday evening following a workout on the Tartan track at Vassil Levski National Stadium.

"It's one of the better tracks I've run on—Tartan is my best surface. I look forward to running well here," the captain of the men's portion of the 180-member U.S. team said.

About 5,000 athletes from 90 nations, the biggest gathering of sportsmen outside the Olympics, are competing in 10 sports disciplines at the 10 days of competitions, starting Thursday.

Glance, a student at Auburn University, earned his ticket to Sofia by winning the NCAA 100-meter title this spring in 10.21 seconds. That's his fastest electronic time this season, but slower than the 10.11 clocking he posted at the 1976 Olympic Trials.

At the Olympics, Glance was edged out of the bronze medal by Russia's Valery Borzov, 10.14 to 10.19.

Haseley Crawford of Trinidad won the gold medal in 10.06 and Don Quarry of Jamaica took silver in 10.08.

Glance said his disappointment vanished when he helped the United States team win the 400-meter relay title at Montreal.

"That gold medal would have to be my biggest sports thrill," he said. "It's what every athlete is aiming for. To be No. 1 in the world is real super."

Glance said he hopes to run the 100-meter dash again at the 1980 Olympics in Moscow. "If I do it will be just great because I will have accomplished everything I had hoped to accomplish in track and field," he said.

The wiry, mustachioed runner competed on the European circuit this summer before coming here. Slowed by a bad ankle in the early races, Glance kept improving and won his last two starts at invitational meets in West Germany, clocking 10.23 in Mainz and 10.24 in Dusseldorf.

"In the last two races, I started to run stronger and, at the same time, consistently. That's what I'm aiming to do here," he said.

YANKEE FLYER — New York Yankees second baseman Fred Stanley leaps over sliding Chicago White Sox Lamar Johnson as Stanley throws to first base trying for the double play in Tuesday night's game at Yankee Stadium. Johnson was forced on Chet Lemon's grounder to shortstop Bucky Dent. The Yankees won, 11-10.

Is Renee just one of the girls?

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Renee Richards has taken a giant stride toward her goal of competing for the women's singles title at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

State Supreme Court Justice Alfred M. Ascione issued a preliminary injunction Tuesday barring the U.S. Tennis Association, the U.S. Open Tennis Championship Committee and the Women's Tennis Association from excluding Dr. Richards, a 43-year-old transsexual, from the U.S. Open because of her inability to pass a sexchromatin test.

In a 13-page decision, Ascione held that there was "overwhelming medical evidence" that the 6-foot-2, 147-pound ophthalmologist, formerly known as Richard Raskind, "is now female."

To demand that Dr. Richards pass the Barr body test in order to be eligible to play in the Open was "grossly unfair, discriminatory and inequitable," Ascione said.

Lawyers for the USTA said they would review the decision before deciding whether to appeal. Qualifying for spots in the women's field begins next week.

"I feel ecstatic," Dr. Richards said, when told of the ruling. "I can't believe it. It's really a vindication of everything I've tried to prove in the last year. Whether I win the tournament doesn't mean anything in the long run."

Her attorney, Michael Rosen, said he had "faith in our cause, faith in Renee and most of all faith in our system of justice." He added that he was prepared for an appeal. "If they want to be archaic and litigate it further, they can," he said.

Joe Zingale, who has signed Dr. Richards to play for the Cleveland Nets of the World Team Tennis, said he hoped she would be in action for the Nets for tonight's playoff match against Boston. But Dr. Richards wasn't too excited at the prospect of playing WTT right now. "All my training has been geared towards Forest Hills," she said.

Dr. Richards underwent a sex-change operation two years ago and since then has competed against women tennis players, although not on the major women's tour. She filed suit after tournament officials demanded that she take the sexchromatin test to prove she was a woman.

Ascione noted that in the Open's 95-year history the USTA had never before demanded any sex determination beyond "observation of primary and secondary sexual characteristics. It seems clear that defendants knowingly instituted this test for the sole purpose of preventing plaintiff from participating in the tournament."

BUMP BOUNCED — Texas Rangers' Bump Wills hits the dirt after getting out of the way of a high tight pitch from Milwaukee Brewers pitcher Sam Hines during the fourth inning Tuesday night in Milwaukee. The pitch was ball four and forced in a run from third as the Rangers blasted the Brewers 11-3.

Astros work on Braves again, 4-1

ATLANTA (AP) — "I just managed to make some good pitches when I had to," said Mark Lemongello. "When I needed it, I was there."

Lemongello, 5-13, yielded 10 hits and needed ninth-inning relief help from Bo McLaughlin Tuesday night before giving the Houston Astros a 4-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

He worked out of several jams along the way, handcuffed the heart of the Braves' order in the clutch and really had trouble only with one man—Atlanta pitcher Dick Ruthven.

Ruthven, 4-9, drilled the first home run of his career off Lemongello in the third inning and came back with a triple high on the right field fence in the fourth.

"He wears me out," Lemongello said. "I've faced him about four times and he must have eight hits against me. I have a tendency to give in to pitchers, and some of them can hit."

Manager Bill Virdon lifted him in the ninth after Atlanta got its first two runners on base.

"He had to be tired," Virdon said. "He threw 150 pitches."

McLaughlin came on and got Barry Bonnell to bounce into a double play and fanned Jeff Burroughs to end the game and record his fourth save.

Houston took advantage of two throwing errors to account for a pair of unearned runs off Ruthven, who gave up an earned run in the first when Terry Puhl singled, went to third on Rob Sperring's single and scored when Cesar Cedeno forced Sperring at second.

A throwing error by Jerry Royster allowed a run in the third and another crossed in the fifth when Bonnell threw into the dirt past first.

Sperring, who had four hits Monday night, came back with two doubles and a single Tuesday night, doubling home an insurance run in the eighth.

Sperring hadn't started for the Astros since June 13.

"I just tried to stay in shape," he said. "I take a little luck, too. A couple of balls just inside the line may be foul tomorrow night."

Ruthven said he got a bigger thrill out of his triple than his home run because I didn't just get up there and swing like a maniac because I had hit a home run."

Sports calendar . . . Champ banquet

A banquet honoring the State Champion McMahon Indians of the Teenage Baseball League is scheduled tonight at the Western Sizzler Steak House, 208 Gregg.

The public is invited to join the 7 p.m. banquet honoring the champs, who brought home Big Spring's first piece of the state bacon.

Reservations may be made by contacting the manager of Western Sizzlers.

Athletic Director Don Robbins wishes to remind freshmen who want to enter the football program to get moving.

Fresh gridders should draw socks and shoes from the Runnels Junior High Field House as soon as possible. Workouts will begin very soon, according to Robbins.

Comanche Trail Park hosts a partnership tourney over the weekend. Registration deadline is Friday at 6 p.m. The two flight tourney costs $40 per team, and is a partnership, handicap and scratch. All ages and golfers are encouraged to take part, and try to get in on the over $2,000 worth of prizes awarded to the top eight slots in each category.

The handicap flight will get off Saturday morning and the scratch in the afternoon.

Pecos varsity squad will scrimmage Lubbock Dunbar at Memorial Stadium 5 p.m. Thursday.

"It should be a pretty good scrimmage. These are two tough 3-A teams," said Don Robbins, Big Spring athletic director.

The public is invited to turn out for the scrimmage to see the teams in early season action.

Registration for the Pee Wee tackle football program will take place Friday and Saturday at Steer Gym.

Friday sign up will run from 6 to 8 p.m. Two sessions will be held Saturday, one from 9 a.m. to noon, and another from 1 to 6 p.m.

All boys who are aged 10 through 12 and are in fifth or sixth grade are invited to join the program. This includes boys in the surrounding areas such as Forsan and Coahoma, and Sand Springs.

Each boy must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Cost for registration is $10.

Team practice will begin today. Players will be contacted by their team coach as to when and where to report for workouts.

Captains and all members of the Mens Major Bowling League are encouraged to attend a meeting Thursday at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held at Bowlamama.

Tornado needs win tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Martin Cohen scored his first two goals of the 1977 season Sunday night to lead the Los Angeles Aztecs to a 3-1 victory over the Dallas Tornado in a North American Soccer League playoff game.

A crowd of 5,295 at the L.A. Coliseum watched the Aztecs take a 1-0 advantage in the "best-of-two" series. If the Aztecs win when the teams meet in Dallas Wednesday night, they represent the Southern Division in the NASL playoff semifinals.

If the Tornado wins Wednesday night, two 15-minute sudden death periods will be held following the match. Should neither team score in the sudden death periods, a tie-breaker shootout will be held.

Rice faces defensive vacuum

HOUSTON (AP) — It would be hard to find a more serious problem for the Rice University football team than replacing All-American quarterback Tommy Kramer but Coach Homer Rice has found one—plugging a porous defense that allowed more points than Kramer could score.

The Owls have three quarterback prospects with the potential of making the loss of Kramer, the nation's leading collegiate passer last year, less severe.

Sophomore Jeff Swab, junior college transfer Mark Snyder and freshman Randy Hertel are scheduled to battle for the title of "the new Tommy Kramer" when fall practice begins.

NFC pros come and go

The Detroit Lions were roaring over the acquisition of running back Marv Hubbard. Howard Twilley was warning the Miami Dolphins not to give away his uniform, and the Chicago Bears were upset over the unexpected retirement of linebacker Ross Brupbacher.

Those were among the major developments Tuesday at the training camps of the 28 National Football League teams.

Detroit, acting like "Paper Lions" in recent years—they have made the playoffs only once in the past 19 seasons—were rejoicing over the signing of the rugged Hubbard to a multiyear contract.

Hubbard, obtained from Oakland after starting with the Raiders for seven years, set the Super Bowl champions' singleseason rushing record of 1,100 yards, in 1972.

Twilley, a standout pass receiver with the Dolphins for 11 years, is on Miami's injured reserve list because of an injured knee.

At his home in Tulsa, Okla., where he is recuperating, Twilley said: "I only want to come back if I can play. I don't want to act like I'm giving up, but I'd rather stay in Tulsa if I can't help the team."

Hubbards, Brupbacher apparently has not fully recovered from a knee operation and was upset over being cast in a backup role with Buffone's return.

"I've had a good career, a long career. It would really bother me to do anything to tarnish that."

While Kramer was leading the nation in passing with a high octane passing attack last season, the opposition was "siphoning off Rice victories through its anemic defense."

Practicing lawyer in Louisiana, Brupbacher apparently has not fully recovered from a knee operation and was upset over being cast in a backup role with Buffone's return.

"I'd like to get to the point where we don't have the physical mismatches that we encountered last season," said Rice, trying to improve the Owls from last season's 3-8 finish. "We're building from scratch but two years from now we'll have the kind of players we're now playing against."

Only six defensive starters and five offensive regulars return from the 1976 crew. Chief defensive losses include four year lettermen linebackers Mark Bockeloh and Eddy Collins. Other offensive losses are tight end Kenneth Roy and running back James Sykes.

Swab, a sophomore from Tulsa, Okla., came out of spring training as the No. 1 quarterback but Snyder could challenge him when he learns Rice's Triple Pocket Combination offense, a precisely measured setup that has passers throwing to a certain point rather than reading the defensive players.

Strong safety Ray Brown, the National Conference leader in interceptions in 1974, signed a series of one-year contracts with the Atlanta Falcons. The Falcons also placed free agent running back Sonny Orange from Southern Mississippi on waivers.

Minnesota General Manager Mike Lynn said the way still was open for talks geared to bringing All-Pro guard Ed White back to the Vikings. White announced his retirement because of a contract dispute.

The Seattle Seahawks said they had withdrawn their latest contract offer to their latest lineman Tom Lynch, their No. 1 draft choice from Boston College.

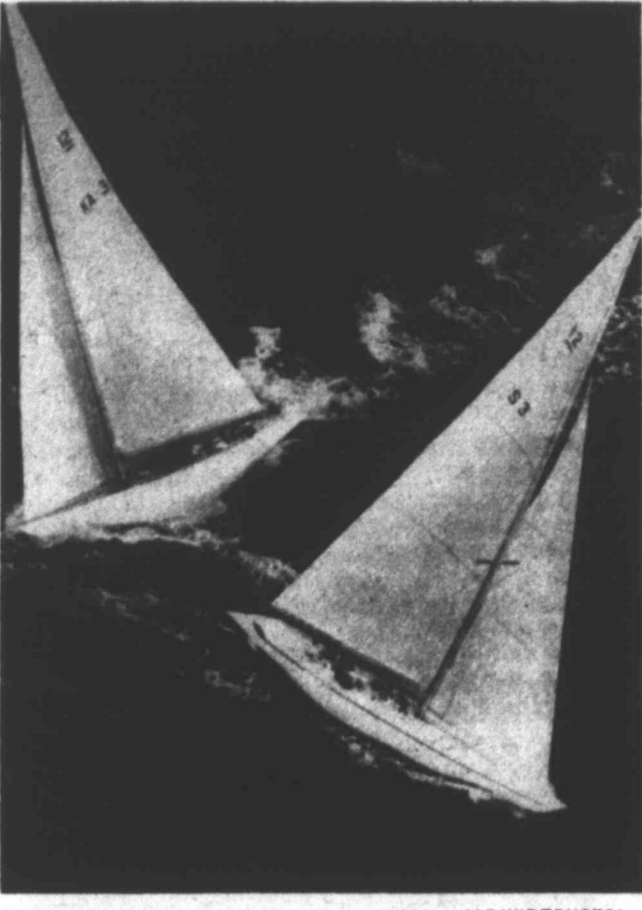

Los Angeles Rams to San Diego, said he was considering ending his retirement and signing with the Chargers.

And the Baltimore Colts placed veteran defensive back Delles Howell on waivers.

St. Louis Cardinals Lou Brock is finding the last few steals as he goes for the all-time base stealing record held by Ty Cobb the hardest to get. Brock needs 6 more stolen bases to break Cobb's record. He now has 887 stolen bases. Brock was thrown out in his one attempt Sunday against the Montreal Expos.

Veteran wide receiver Billy Parks also walked out of the Bears' camp, apparently ending his hopes for a comeback. He had been out of football for one year.

Swab, a sophomore from Tulsa, Okla., came out of spring training as the No. 1 quarterback but Snyder could challenge him when he learns Rice's Triple Pocket Combination offense, a precisely measured setup that has passers throwing to a certain point rather than reading the defensive players.

MARKER MANEUVER — The Swedish Challenger Sverige, right, makes her move as Australian entry Gretel II makes her turn at buoy marker Tuesday in their fourth semi-final meeting of the American's Cup. Sverige beat Gretel II by 53 seconds.

Dorsett returns to full drills

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys expect No. 1 draft choice Tony Dorsett to return to full drills today as they continue preparation for Saturday's preseason game against Miami.

The only veteran definitely out for Saturday's game at Irving because of injury is tackle Jim Eidson, who is still recovering from a neck sprain. Right guard Barton Lawless, who didn't play in the 23-17 loss to Seattle, may also miss the matchup against the Dolphins.

Dorsett, the Heisman Trophy-winning running back from Pittsburgh, sat out the Seattle game last Saturday with a knee injury. Tuesday's practice at the Cowboys' training camp here focused on the work of Randy White at defensive tackle. White has been switched from strongside linebacker to tackle, and third-year man Thomas Henderson and second-year man Mike Hegman worked in the strongside slot Tuesday. The only veteran definitely out for Saturday's game at Irving because of injury is tackle Jim Eidson, who is still recovering from a neck sprain. Right guard Barton Lawless, who didn't play in the 23-17 loss to Seattle, may also miss the matchup against the Dolphins.

Howe's homer aids Houston

ATLANTA (AP) — Houston third baseman Art Howe made his first start at Atlanta Stadium in an Astro uniform Monday night a memorable one in keying a 15-3 rout of the Atlanta Braves.

winning pitcher J.R. Richard added a solo homer in a two-run third inning as the Astros took a 11-0 lead.

The Astros exploded for six first inning runs off loser Buzz Capra, 2-9, as Rob Sperry drilled a two-run home run and Howe capped the inning with a grand slam.

Houston added four runs in the third, capped by Terry Puhl's two-run triple, one of his four hits.

"I've never started here before with the Astros," said Howe who came to Houston in an offseason trade with Pittsburgh. "I couldn't hit home runs sitting on the bench."

Richard, 12-9, left the game after the fifth inning with a slight stiffness in his arm. He allowed only one hit, a single by Rowland Office in the third.

"But I think the one tonight would have left any park, anywhere. I think everyone swings a little harder here because you've heard about this park," said Howe who connected for his eighth homer of the season, a blast into the left field seats.

The Braves scored three times off reliever Dan Larson, breaking a string of 26 scoreless innings in the eighth on Junior Moore's sacrifice fly. Atlanta added a pair of runs in the ninth on Barry Bonnell's run-scoring double and an infield out.

"I was thinking grand slam when I went to the plate. I couldn't help it," he said.

Atlanta Manager Dave Bristol wrapped up the contest in one sentence. "This was certainly an ugly game, wasn't it?"

'Tell us what you know about Gravitt'

Bell pressure alleged

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. executive James H. Ashley says his 1974 suspension was an attempt to pressure him into incriminating the company's top Texas official.

Ashley gave the testimony Tuesday afternoon in the state court trial of a $29 million damage suit against Southwestern Bell. He filed the suit with the family of the late T. O. Gravitt.

Gravitt was Bell's top Texas executive when he committed suicide at his Dallas home Oct. 17, 1974. Ashley was a $55,000-a-year company official in San Antonio when he was suspended Oct. 9, 1974, and fired a few weeks later.

The suit alleges Southwestern Bell drove Gravitt to insanity and suicide and wrongfully fired Ashley as a result of an improper internal investigation conducted in 1974.

Ashley said he knew nothing of any investigation until Oct. 9, 1974, when his boss drove him to a San Antonio hotel and suspended him for reasons that included alleged sexual promiscuity with female Bell employees.

He said he was interviewed at the hotel by two Bell security agents who told him if he made a "full disclosure" about Gravitt that "things would go well for me."

"They (security agents) seemed obsessed that Gravitt, through me perhaps, was getting massive amounts of money" through a kickback scheme with a local printing firm, Ashley stated.

"The whole thrust was to 'tell us what you know about Gravitt,'" Ashley said.

He said that when, despite warnings that he tell the truth or possibly lose his job, he insisted he knew of no wrongdoing by Gravitt, the security men turned to allegations of sexual impropriety.

Ashley said he denied any sexual involvement with any Bell employee because "there was no substance to any of the allegations."

Ashley said the security agents told him they had wiretapped his telephone and would continue the taps. They warned him not to discuss his suspension or the investigation with anyone, he said.

Ashley, who said he was the first fifth-level (high) Bell executive ever fired, testified earlier Tuesday afternoon about company policies he considered immoral or illegal.

A contention of the suit is that Ashley and Gravitt were targets of the internal investigation because they became critical of some company procedures.

Ashley said he and Gravitt believed methods used by Bell to get rate hikes in Texas were "dishonest." And, he said he had complained about being

Four charged in ambush slaying of fishermen

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — Authorities here have charged four men, three of them fugitives, with first-degree murder in the ambush slaying of two Lake Texoma fishermen March 1, according to Dist. Atty. Jack McGahey.

Charged Tuesday were: Clifford Sexton, 32, Calera; J.R. "Silas" Jones, 42, Durant; Roy Lee Leed, 32, Dallas, and Charles Maines, 32, Denison, Tex.

Sexton was arrested Monday night in Denison, where he is being held.

The bodies of commercial fishermen Ernest Fielder, 35, and Junior Metcalf, 33, Platter, were found at a fishing camp a mile north of Platter in Bryan County.

Police said as the pair drove into the camp their pickup was blasted by gunfire from all sides. More than a dozen bullet holes were found in the truck.

Metcalf's body was found under the truck camper and Fielder was 30 yards away, as he apparently tried to crawl to safety.

McGahey said he believes the ambush was connected with a 1976 assault on one of the suspects — Jones — in front of his Black Garter Club in Cartwright. Fielder was charged with shooting with intent to kill in that incident and was free on bail when he was killed.

Cello school in Brazil

JOAO PESSOA, Brazil (AP) — Aldo Parisot, the Brazilian-born cellist whose career has been giving concerts and teaching at Yale University, started an international cello school in this northeastern Brazilian city of 200,000 this summer.

The school is in the same part of the country as one started by Parisot's stepfather, Tomazzo Babini, who was once principal cellist under Arturo Toscanini. When Babini died, the school died too.

The new summer cello school lasted for six weeks and took 40 students from the United States, Brazil, Europe and Israel. They were selected after submitting applications and audition tapes.

UW trustees meet today

The United Way Trustees will meet at 5:15 p.m. today to announce the 1978 Budget Goal in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

According to Dearl Pittman, President of the United Way in Big Spring, a new divisional chairman will also be recommended to the 75 trustees who are expected to be at the meeting.

The budget goal has already been decided upon, but formal announcement of a monetary figure will not come until an announcement this afternoon.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUG. 18, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day that's fine for tuning in on other persons and better understanding what they wish or expect from you. Be sure you do nothing that could upset your close ties.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Come to a true meeting of minds with associates. A good time to engage civic affairs and gain more prestige in your community.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make sure you handle business matters early in the day. Take steps to improve your appearance and make a fine impression on others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take inventory of your financial situation and make plans to improve it. Avoid one who wants to lead you astray.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Check your surroundings and make plans for improvements. Study every phase of a new plan you have in mind.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Contact associates and make new plans that are workable. Obtain the information you need from the right sources.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen to what a financial expert has to say about making investments. Don't take risks that would deplete your assets.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Doing what you most desire is wise right now and you can be happy with persons you truly like. Relax at home tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Investigate whatever you do not understand during spare time and come up with the right answers. Be logical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal day to be with congenials and express happiness. You can gain a personal aim now that means much to you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handling outside duties today is wise since the planets are favorable. Show family members that you are devoted to them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Dive into new interests that can bring greater abundance in the future. Making new contacts of worth is wise now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Follow your hunches today since they will lead you in the right direction and bring you benefits. Improve your appearance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have great magnetism and should be taught to be of help to others. Any profession that requires precision is fine here. Be sure to give the best education you can afford. A good religious training early in life is needed.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

WANTED EXPERIENCED new car salesman

Okie wants to do something for inmates he left behind

FARMERS BRANCH, Tex. (AP) — When W.W. "Doc" Taylor arrived at the federal prison in Seagoville, Tex., last year he was designated "inmate of the Week" by the other prisoners.

Recently when the one-time wheeler, dealing money broker left the minimum security facility, the inmates held the Doc Taylor Golf Classic on a course he helped build.

Now, after serving eight months on a conviction for conspiracy to bribe a state official, Taylor wants to do something for those inmates he left behind.

"I intend to do a Ralph Nader on the criminal justice system. If I sound vindictive, how can you not be vindictive?" Taylor said.

His reform effort began while he was at the federal facility at Seagoville. He filed a lawsuit listing his grievances. A judge called it "trivial" and threw it out.

The reformist attitude was not spawned by prison beatings or tales of jail horrors.

"I received every courtesy. Nobody ever physically hassled me," he said.

But he said there were a lot of little things that added up to big irritations.

"I called out to find out what I could bring and carefully packed those items. When I got there, they wouldn't let me take them in. They said my wife would have to mail them in. She did and they wouldn't accept them," he said.

Officials told him he could make phone calls if he had dimes. He brought a handful of change but it was confiscated. Many prison rules, he said, are unwritten and enforced at the whim of prison officials.

"The harassment never stops. I used to go along. Now I'm going to see that we — everybody — get every right we're entitled to."

Prior to his conviction in an Oklahoma City court 2 1/2 years ago, Taylor enjoyed a luxurious lifestyle — complete with $300,000 house and large staff.

But his financial empire collapsed when he became associated with a lame duck Oklahoma governor and a Fort Worth man.

Taylor was convicted, along with then Oklahoma Gov. David Hall, of conspiring to bribe a state official. He fought it in the appeals courts but lost. To this day he maintains he was the victim of a Oklahoma politics.

A quick chain of events, including the use of a hidden tape recorder taped to the secretary of state, ended with the indictments of Taylor, Hall and Kevin Mooney of Fort Worth.

He spent much time in the prison library and helped other inmates wade through the complicated legal volumes.

But will it fit on T-shirt?

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (AP) — In 1937 when Mary Lyon, the founder of Mount Holyoke College here was looking for a name for her new institution, a friend from nearby Amherst suggested "Pangynaskaen Seminary."

This Greek term for "all the powers of woman — physical, intellectual and moral," never caught on, but it caught the attention of the press which laughingly reported the proposal. The unexpected publicity paid off.

Rep. Wyatt plans to run

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Joe Wyatt Jr., D-Victoria, filed formal notice Tuesday that he plans to run for the Congressional seat held now by U.S. Rep. John Young, a Corpus Christi Democrat.

Wyatt said in a statement released through his Austin office that he had filed a statement of organization with the chief clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives and the Federal Election Commission in Washington. He said Zac Lentz would serve as his campaign committee chairman and Joseph B. Bumgardner as treasurer.

Wyatt said he planned to spend the next several weeks traveling the 14th District in an effort to further acquaint himself with their specific problems and their feelings toward their government. Following that, I hope to make a formal announcement of my candidacy for the U.S. Congress.

JANETTE SCOTT

Britain because she had previously had them named wards of an English court, barring their removal from the United Kingdom.

Mitchelson earlier won their release after arguing in a British court that since the children were U.S. citizens enrolled in school in California, they should be returned to the United States.

Singer taped his ex-wife's telephone conversations

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Mel Torme has admitted listening in on his ex-wife's telephone conversations and recording them because he said he was afraid his children would be taken out of the country.

In a deposition filed in Superior Court on Monday, the 52-year-old singer said he eavesdropped on a conversation last year between his wife, British actress Janette Scott, and her former fiancé, British film producer Kevin Francis, in England. The Tormes were still married at the time.

Torme and Miss Scott, 38, were granted a divorce on grounds of irreconcilable differences last May, but are still in fighting in court over custody of their children and the property settlement.

Miss Scott's lawyers had wanted Torme to answer questions about the eavesdropping in the custody fight, but Torme refused until granted immunity last week from federal charges.

Mitchelson said Torme was afraid Miss Scott would take the children to Great

Vowell resigns welfare post

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Saying a younger man was needed as the welfare system reaches a watershed, Raymond Vowell has retired as state welfare commissioner, effective Aug. 31.

Vowell, 62, has been commissioner since July 1, 1971. His resignation will take effect two days after his title is changed to "Commissioner of Human Resources."

Citing President Carter's welfare reform proposals, Vowell said this is a good time to change commissioners.

"I believe the Board of Public Welfare should have the opportunity to select a commissioner with more potential tenure than I can offer, to guide the department through the many changes ahead. The person chosen will face at least five years of intense pressures," Vowell said.

He said the department was entering a new era, "one which can be expected to bring about radical transformations in programs serving people."

All three members of the welfare board have been informed of his resignation, Vowell said. The welfare board will name Vowell's successor.

A source in the welfare department said two and perhaps all three board members "tried to talk him out of it."

"Few people understand the complexities involved in administering a department of this magnitude, particularly when much of what it does is controlled from the Washington arena," Vowell added.

Vowell said he was healthy and expected to consider several options for "service to people."

In 26-year state government career, Vowell has been superintendent of a school for the retarded, director of the state mental health and mental retardation agency, vice-chancellor for public affairs of the University of Texas System and welfare commissioner.

Vowell's six years as welfare commissioner have included implementation of the food stamp program, a new program of reporting and preventing child abuse and creation of a welfare fraud detection unit.

Fish tale

PORT LAVACA, Tex. (AP) — Calhoun County Marine Extension agent Joe Sarovik was doing so well in the Masters Fishing Tournament Monday that another boat pulled alongside his and the fisherman asked what was Joe's secret.

"Well," said Joe, "you have to bless the boat." He then offered to do it for the frustrated fisherman.

"Now count slowly up five and you will catch fish," Joe told the fisherman who followed instructions to the letter.

At the count of five the started screaming.

The blessing, however, turned into a curse for the marine agent. His boat developed engine trouble, rammed a light buoy and had to be pulled into port by the Coast Guard.

A.A. publishes 'Too Young?' pamphlet for teen drinkers

A new cartoon pamphlet is the result of an unlikely collaboration between a semiliterate teenager from a New York ghetto and a middle-aged, Ph.D. university professor — both members of Alcoholics Anonymous.

The pamphlet is entitled "Too Young?" It tells the drinking stories of six teenagers, using the illustrative style made popular by Mad Magazine and the National Lampoon. One story shows what happens when the young person reaches A.A. The pamphlet also contains a quiz of picture-questions headed "Check Up on Your Own Drinking."

The pamphlet is priced at 25 cents a copy and may be ordered from the publishers at Box 450, Grand Central Station, New York, New York 10017. School, alcoholism agencies and others may take advantage of discounts for quantity purchases.

"Too Young?" is published by Alcoholics Anonymous World Services, Inc., and was two years in the making. It began with a teenage A.A. member recording her own experience and observations. The college professor rewrote the manuscript to make it readable and coherent, and it was then reviewed and revised by several committees of A.A. members, including many young people. A careful and extensive search was made to find an artist whose technique had proved to be popular with teenagers.

Lamesa lawmen given picnic

LAMESA — Law enforcement officers in Lamesa know they are appreciated.

The Lamesa Chamber of Commerce hosted a law enforcement picnic Monday night in a Lamesa park for 43 law officers, their wives and children to total around 140 persons.

All of the steaks and accompanying food were home cooking. The Optimist club prepared drinks, sweets and hot rolls. The chamber prepared the steaks, potatoes and salad. The Women's Division of the chamber furnished the decorations.

Mrs. Dorothy Haney, active chamber director, made a short talk and ten door prizes were given away during the evening.

New gimmick

DAVIS, Calif. (AP) — In her search for a successor to the "pet rock" gimmick, Patricia Moore left no stone unturned. She's pinning her hopes on the "solar dryer," a new name for the clothesline in this conservation-conscious town.

Mrs. Moore figures she's a step ahead of the town planners who are drawing up a new ordinance that encourages clotheslines instead of energy-gobbling dryers.

In 1968, she and her partner, Merry Burns, began making dolls from old-fashioned wooden clothespins.

Ridin' fence

And school's starting

with Marj Carpenter

Can you believe it's so near the time for school to begin? If the legislature hadn't lopped off five days, it would be starting next Monday.

This startled me because each month I've been writing a hodgepodge or catch-call column near the first of the month.

I didn't realize I'd gotten all the way into the middle of August without doing this. At the risk of sounding even older than I am, I'll say, "Where do all the days go?"

But there were a couple of tales I wanted to tell that wouldn't fill up a column. For instance, there was a girl at the opening performance of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" who was as white as a sheet.

She wasn't in the cast. She was in the audience. Her name was Karen Hoyt and she drove from San Angelo to watch her sister, Marshann, in the play.

Outside Sterling City, her car began to thump. It thumped and thumped so she pulled over to stop and as she got out, she heard a hissing sound in the radiator. She just knew that the radiator was blowing off steam so she raised the hood.

When she did, an angry rattlesnake fell out on the ground. She had apparently run over it, thrown it up into the motor and you've heard the rest of the tale.

She was paralyzed with fright. She finally crept around to the side of the car, slammed the hood, got in and took off. She was still shaking at the play. She does not mind the Jaycees rounding up the rattlesnakes.

Incidentally that play was great. The students who put on the dinner theater at Howard College this summer really did themselves and the school proud.

Another item I wanted to comment on happened earlier in the week. I always think when my own kids are home that I have the most interesting family around.

Big Spring rider wins event in bull riding

Rusty O'Donnell of Big Spring scored the highest individual score in bull riding in the National American Junior Rodeo Association finals last weekend.

He finished fourth for the year in the 16-19 age group. His high score in the finals was 86. He plans to attend

Howard College and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Poe.

O'Donnell was also first in the Saturday night performance. In 1972, he was 12 and under champion steer rider. In the spring, he attend the Jim Shoulders Bull Riding School and finished first out of 15 riders

Vandals force closure of park swimming pool

Vandals kept Big Spring swimmers from enjoying the Comanche Trail swimming pool the last few days of the summer season. The pool had to shut down Tuesday after unknown persons threw dozen of beer bottles and other bottles into the pool during the night Monday.

The regular pool schedule would have seen the pool close the end of the week before school starts. Jerry Foresyth, parks director, said that the pool pump would not pick up the small slivers of glass.

Lifeguards picked up large sections of bottles for several hours Tuesday. They were to drain the pool today and sweep it down and remove all smaller pieces of glass. Work was expected to continue to completely clean up the operation through Thursday.

"It's really a shame that any persons would get any kind of enjoyment out of ruining a facility which is available to the public at a very minimal cost of 25 and 50 cents." The park director stated.

The pool had reported one of the biggest seasons in several years, according to Foresyth.

*Our unique
Ultra Suede Dress*

Possible only because our buyer went to New York, discovered one of the most poetic dresses ever made in UltraSuede,
the avant garde of UltraSuede. Have it now, remarkably well priced.
