

One Mile Lake: Hazard or haven?

DISPUTED LAKE — This is a view of the One Mile Lake from IS 20 northwest of the city. The shallow body of water may be a breeding ground for mosquitoes or a priceless bird sanctuary, and a hot dispute has erupted over which it is.

Editor's note: The following is the first in a series of articles concerning the controversy over the draining of One Mile Lake.

By JAMES WERRELL

To some it is a priceless natural bird habitat, to others only a mosquito infested swamp.

What is it? It is the One Mile Lake, destined until Monday to be drained by the city as a health hazard to the people who live around it.

And what happened Monday? Officials from the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) informed City Manager Harry Nagel that funds for the project would be frozen.

Bebe McCasland, "one of those durned environmentalists" by her own definition, had alerted the HUD office in Dallas that the city was about to drain the last shallow water bird habitat in Howard County, and make the health problem worse in the bargain.

According to Lynn Prince, the HUD official contacted by Ms. McCasland, the $165,000 in funds for the project have been frozen "until certain procedural things are cleared up."

Meanwhile, city officials are fuming, residents around the lake are outraged, and local environmentalists are overjoyed that the project may be stalled in red tape for as much as a year.

The project was conceived two years ago at public hearings to determine Goals For Progress for the city. Certain areas on the north side of the city near the One Mile Lake had been inundated by swarms of mosquitoes and a stench presumed to originate in the lake.

The residents and sympathetic city officials reasoned that if the lake were drained mosquitoes would have no water on which to lay their larvae and the problem would end. The proposal immediately took a high priority on the official list of Goals For Progress.

But the group hadn't counted on the wrath of the environmentalists. What to lakeside residents was merely a breeding ground for mosquitoes, was a unique and precious bird sanctuary to area nature lovers.

According to them, the lake is the last shallow water body in Howard County. If it is drained the birds from all over the world that light there will leave, never to return.

The environmentalists further state that the real mosquito problem is caused by the high weeds surrounding the lake, and the trash in that part of town which holds standing water every time it rains. If left alone, the lake will sustain minnows and birds which help keep down the insect population naturally, they claim.

Using this argument, Bebe McCasland single-handedly brought the project to a halt, at least temporarily and maybe permanently.

"It was an official citizen's complaint. Under the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, Public Law 85-624 the city will have to check with the Environmental Protection Agency to determine whether the project is warranted," said Ms. Prince.

After dealing with the EPA the city may have to apply to the Department of Interior Permit Division for permission to continue with the project, according to Ms. Prince. No one is able to estimate how long the process will take.

And what of the lakeside residents? Both they and the environmentalists have geared up for a long battle.

Residents and businessmen from the northside have begun to circulate petitions asking to resume the project. Bird fanciers have begun to gather data on the types of wildlife that could be affected by the drainage of the lake.

Is it sanctuary or swamp? Both sides have their opinions and tempers are growing short.

School enrollment true to estimate

Estimates of public school enrollment loss due to Webb AFB may not have been exaggerated, according to early registration figures.

So far, total enrollment figures for the district are at 5,065. Projected enrollment was set at 5,272. Although registration figures are not complete yet, the bulk of the registration has passed. "We always have some stragglers," commented assistant superintendent Harold Bentley, "but most of the students have registered."

These figures are not directly comparable with the ADA figures used by the school district to compute state aid. The ADA is based on average daily attendance, which is put at roughly 95 per cent of the enrollment. Discounting Head Start, and using only half the figure of half-day kindergarten attendance, the enrollment for the coming year is 4,865, 95 per cent of that figure is 4,621. Assistant Superintendent of Business Don Crockett put the figure at 4,700, down approximately 1,000 from last year's average daily attendance of approximately 5,700.

Here are the enrollment figures: Bauer, 270; College Heights, 387; Kentwood, including half-day, 307; Lakeview, including Head Start, 220; Marcy, 546; Moss, 206; Washington, 334; Goliad, 755; Runnels, 412; Senior High, 1,628.

Action/reaction: Finding bad ones

Q. With taxpayers paying the bill (as usual), why were most of the lights burning on the Big Spring State Hospital grounds at 10 a.m., Tuesday?

A. Head of Engineering at the State Hospital, Cliff Stovall, said that it was necessary to turn on the lights Tuesday morning to find which ones were malfunctioning. He explained that the problem was solved and the lights were turned out shortly thereafter.

Offbeat: Trash in Plains

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President Carter's hometown, deluged by mountains of trash left on the streets by tourists, has turned to the North for help.

Mayor A.L. Blanton said the four-man street-sweeping crew will be aided by a $15,500 vacuum-power sweeper purchased from the Tennant Co. of Minneapolis, Minn.

He said it should have been delivered before Carter's visit to his hometown last month.

"But it didn't get here," the mayor said. "We raised hell."

The sweeper is due to arrive next Wednesday. Mayor Pro Tem Earl Godwin estimated about 3,000 visitors a day come to Plains, leaving empty beer and soft drink cans, candy wrappers, napkins and other debris all over the place.

"It's a mess," said Blanton.

Korean witness goes before panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Suzi Park Thomson, the reluctant witness in the House investigation of alleged South Korean attempted influence-buying, arrived on Capitol Hill today, reportedly ready to begin answering questions.

The former secretary to retired House Speaker Carl Albert planned to meet in a closed-door session with investigators for the House Ethics Committee in an attempt to head off a contempt of Congress citation, her lawyer said.

She appeared with her lawyer and a young woman described as her niece. She had no comment but her lawyer said she might talk to reporters later.

Investigators had sought to question her earlier, but she insisted on answering the committee's questions only in public, saying she feared secret testimony would be distorted against her.

Sources said the committee held off deciding on a contempt action Wednesday after the lawyer, Phillip Hirshkop, promised that Ms. Thomson would answer all questions about the alleged influence-buying.

But Hirshkop said Ms. Thomson did not intend to answer questions about her personal life.

In another development, special committee counsel Leon Jaworski said Wednesday he is confident the panel will get testimony from Korean rice dealer Tongsun Park despite his vow not to cooperate.

Jaworski called Park's testimony "highly significant" and said the committee has a strategy — which he refused to spell out — to get it.

But Jaworski, the former Watergate special prosecutor, added, "I don't believe his testimony is something that is either going to make cases or is fatal to cases."

Ms. Thomson has said she knows nothing about any scheme to buy congressional influence.

The committee's investigators threatened last week to cite her over her refusal to answer three questions.

Her lawyer said she was asked whether she knows of "payoffs" by Park or former South Korean ambassador Kim Dong Jo to members of Congress plus what she knows of a 1975 congressional trip to Korea.

Former BSSH official denies Rusk patients mistreated

RUSK, Tex. (AP) — Some patients are held in solitary confinement without doctor's orders for up to 18 days at the Rusk State Hospital, ac-ording to a former nurse who claims she was fired after trying to report incidents of patient abuse.

Mary Cooke, who was fired in June, also said this week that patients at the East Texas facility are organized into "goon squads" to discipline fellow patients.

Mrs. Cooke's husband, Dr. Edwin T. Cooke, was also fired. Another physician, James O'Hara, was also dismissed. He claims it was because he was friendly with the Cookes.

The trio's allegations include tales of abuses at the facility including mishandled drugs, illegal confinement of patients, understaffing and "dehumanizing" procedures.

Dr. Robert Shelton, superintendent at the hospital, denied the allegations in a Tuesday news conference. He also said a Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation lawyer in Austin advised him not to state why Mrs. Cooke had been fired.

Dr. Sheldon was clinical director at the Big Spring State Hospital from May 16, 1973 to Nov. 30, 1974 before going to the Rusk State Hospital.

Hearings set for this week for the three former employees have been rescheduled for next month at the request of the trio's attorney.

Mrs. Cooke said the "goon squads" or "bully boys," as they are known at the facility, are encouraged to discipline fellow patients.

Dr. Cooke said, "It's simple, the staff knows that they cannot strike a patient, but it causes no problems if another patient does."

Dr. O'Hara said since he arrived at the hospital in October 1975 14 doctors have left — including seven psychiatrists. He said they were "pushed out" or "just got fed up" with conditions at the 950 patient hospital.

Mrs. Cooke told of a patient who had voluntarily committed himself but was unable to leave when he wanted. She said the patient wrote a letter requesting discharge but it was destroyed by staff persons.

"When a person admits himself or herself, anytime after ten days, that person can request to be discharged and the hospital is legally required to honor the request unless the person is a danger to himself or others and then the doctors at the hospital have to begin commitment proceedings," the nurse said.

Dr. Cooke said conditions at the hospital were "shocking."

"I just didn't believe conditions such as this could exist in the 20th century," Dr. Cooke said.

Governmental bodies to meet to discuss reappraisal

The Howard County Tax Appraisal Board realized the essential weakness of its own structure and moved to avoid it Wednesday.

The board met to consider reappraisal of Howard County property, and by the end of the meeting, board members realized that the proposal of reappraisal was bigger than all of them.

A motion by Howard College representative Harold Davis and amended by Forsan School Superintendent J.F. Poyner calls for a joint meeting of all the governmental bodies of the board.

"I think we have an issue worthy of that," said Davis. "It's the most important issue we've faced, and we need to bring our authorities down here to speak to each other about it rather than trying to report everything that was said."

The meeting is tentatively scheduled to take place Sept. 21 at 2 p.m. in the county courtroom.

Appraiser Earl Dean told the assembled body at the beginning of the meeting that reappraisal would cost $250,000 to do "in house" in one and one-half years.

Dean said that the job, if done at all, should be done completely. "We're trying to correct for some of the patchy work we have now," said Dean, "and another patchy job just won't solve the problem."

Dean said he intended to come up with a complete set of "cards" and a map of the county showing each parcel of land and its owner. Over half the estimated cost of the reappraisal would be involved in the mapping process.

The main reasons for the reappraisal, according to Dean, is to correct for depreciation in Big Spring houses over 30 years old, and to get the properties and businesses not presently on the tax roll included.

Jack Watkins asked the board whether, as long as they were cleaning up inequity in the taxing situation, they would be reevaluating the utilities in Big Spring.

"I'm not prepared to answer that," said Dean.

J.F. Poyner told the board that he approved of the joint meeting, but that "I can't see it (reappraisal) in the light of cost versus returns. I think I am speaking for the seven Forsan Board members."

The crux of the Appraisal Board's problem lies in the fact that it is a cooperative body which has very little actual power delegated to it. The board is designed to "monitor the activities of the appraiser's office," according to Big Spring School Superintendent of Business Don Crockett.

The board cannot approve reappraisal. "It's representative bodies must approve the funds for such an undertaking. That is why all the bodies need to confront each other, and a joint agreement be reached. Otherwise the Howard County Tax Appraisal Board faces a break up."

Energy, canal debate looms

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Control of the Panama Canal will be one of the subjects up for discussion at the Southern Governors' Conference meeting Aug. 27-31 in San Antonio.

Other resolutions at the 43rd annual meeting concern mostly the energy and economic needs of the 19 Southern states and territories.

Seven policy statements and resolutions to be considered by the governors have been prefiled with the Southern Governors' Conference.

Conference action on the resolutions will come when the resolutions committee reports Tuesday, Aug. 30.

The proposed resolution on the Panama Canal was offered by Louisiana Gov. Edwin W. Edwards, said the proximity of the canal to the Southern states "makes its continued control and operation under the terms of the existing treaty imperative."

It calls on U.S. Senators representing the Southern states "to oppose vigorously any treaty which would alter, remove or reduce the existing control over and operation of the Panama Canal and the Panama Canal Zone as presently and historically exercised by the United States of America."

The conference also will be offered a lengthy policy statement on energy that was prefiled by Oklahoma Gov. David L. Boren, chairman of the conference energy committee.

A similar stand on deregulation of natural gas was adopted recently at a meeting of Midwestern governors. Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Southern Governors' Conference chairman, said at the time that he hoped the Southern governors would follow with a stand on "phased" deregulation.

The policy statement sent to Southern governors for pre-conference study includes the specific recommendation that "federal legislation should be enacted which would remove wellhead price controls on natural gas. The legislation should also contain provisions designed to limit or eliminate windfall profits. The deregulation should be phased into effect to mitigate its impact on consumers."

The policy statement on energy also calls for "maximum efforts" to develop all outer Continental Shelf areas including the Atlantic seaboard; for a maximum but reasonable time to replace natural gas with coal as a boiler fuel; for a study to see if the federal government should "oversee" renovation of railroad beds for long-haul coal transportation, at no cost to the taxpayer.

Tornado touched down in DeSoto

A brief summer storm churned and flashed through several Dallas suburbs Wednesday night leaving the cities without power for up to an hour.

DeSoto police received several reports of a tornado touching down around 6:30 p.m. in the northeast section of the city. High winds also blew through the suburb.

Electric service to some 6,500 DeSoto and Lancaster was interrupted for about 45 minutes as a result of the storm.

Damage was also reported to portable buildings, patio furniture and one department store.

A quickly moving storm also roared through West Texas leaving El Paso under up to an inch and a half of rain.

The National Weather Service reported especially heavy storm clouds along the Red River just east of Wichita Falls.

Elsewhere this morning, clear to partly cloudy skies prevailed. Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from the 60s in the mountains, the 70s in the north and the 80s along the coast.

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy today, tonight and Friday. Widely scattered afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms today and tonight. Highs today and Friday 90s in the mountains and north to 105 in the Big Bend area. Lows tonight should be in the 60s in the north and mountains to mid 70s in the south.

WEST TEXAS: Slightly above normal temperatures Saturday through Monday. Chance of mainly afternoon and nighttime showers and thunder storms. Highs mostly in the 90s... up to about 100 lower valleys of the Big Bend. Lows 60s north to the mid 70s south except 50s mountains.

$1.4 million budget adopted by officials

Dawson County Commissioners adopted a $1.4 million budget for 1977-78; a figure which will not require an increase in taxes for citizens of the county.

The budget, approved in the regular meeting of Dawson County Commissioners Monday, was prepared by County Judge Leslie C. Pratt, and is based on an estimated assessed value of $61,500,000.

The assessed value, an increase of $3.5 million over last year is significantly conservative since the actual tax roll stands at $62,786,450, an increase of $4.4 million which in turn will generate $37,772 in additional tax income for 1978.

The natural increase in values in Dawson County, chiefly from oil values, has kept the county from having to increase taxes to meet the demands of inflation.

In other business in the Commissioner's Court, Phillips Petroleum Company was given the go ahead to start construction of an oil pipeline southwest of Lamesa.

Energy Moving to cut off gas

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Plans by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. to cut off its gas supply to Crystal City have moved closer to reality following a federal judge's refusal here to enter the controversy.

U.S. District Court Judge John H. Wood Jr. on Wednesday dismissed a petition by five Crystal City residents to obtain a temporary restraining order against Lo-Vaca to prevent the company from cutting off the city's gas supply on Aug. 27.

Wood said his court lacked jurisdiction to act on the request by the residents of the South Texas city.

Lo-Vaca officials say they will cut off the gas supply to the city-owned gas distribution system because the city will not pay over $800,000 owed to the firm for gas already supplied.

The dispute arose when Crystal City refused to pay more than the 36 cents per 1,000 cubic feet (mcf) called for in the city's supply contract with Lo-Vaca signed several years ago.

Lo-Vaca officials say they will cut off the gas supply to the city-owned gas distribution system because the city will not pay over $800,000 owed to the firm for gas already supplied.

Crystal City argued the case to the Texas Supreme Court, which ruled that the city must pay.

Judge Wood in his order dismissing the petition said the residents failed to show that the State of Texas was sufficiently involved in the activities of Lo-Vaca to meet the federal court requirements of showing state action before the court could act.

Wood said Lo-Vaca is a private utility and the fact that the Railroad Commission sets the rates the firm may charge does not mean the utility is state controlled.

New gas-saving motor oil to be marketed

HOUSTON (AP) — Exxon Co. USA said today it plans to start marketing in September a new gasoline-saving motor oil that improved mileage an average of 4.5 per cent on road tests.

Randall Meyer, president, said gasoline consumption in the United States could drop by more than 200 million gallons a year if only one out of every 20 cars used the new oil instead of typical multi-grade oils.

Meyer said the new oil is expected to result in savings equivalent to about three cents per gallon of gasoline for the average motorist or about one gallon per typical tank of gasoline.

The mileage improvement was attributed to a reformulation of Exxon's Unifino motor oil through new technology that reduces the friction between moving parts in automobile engines.

The new light-colored and nonsynthetic motor oil was a four-year project of Exxon Research & Engineering Co.

By Phillip McClendon Pastor HILLCREST BAPTIST CHURCH

The more of Jesus Christ you try to keep, the smaller He becomes; the more of Him you try to give away, the larger He looms. Strange, but true.

There is only one place you can practice Christianity and that is on people. Walk a block down the street, and look every person squarely in the eye and say to your unseen companion, "Oh, Christ, bless the deepest need of this life and fill it with your strength!" Call an aged person on the phone and say, "I was just thinking about you and the Lord said I had better call you and tell you that it's about time we got together for a visit."

Kiss your husband or wife twice in the morning instead of the usual peck, tell the children that you love them today more than you ever have.

Call your pastor and say, "Pastor, I want a job in the church!" If there is a long silence at the other end, you had better hang up and go at once to the parsonage for he may have had a heart attack!

All this boils down to one thing. You have had your quiet time with God and talked to Him about yourself, now take Him with you through the day and get your mind off yourself. This is the secret of loving service and of spending joy.

New venture in Mitchell

R.L. Burns Corp., Dallas, plans to drill the No. 1-16 Ellwood as a 1/4 mile west outpost to the Mitchell County portion of the Jameson (Strawn oil and gas) field, but separated by depleted producers, 6,000 feet southwest of a wildcat, and seven miles north and slightly west of Silver.

Location is 660 feet from the northeast and southeast lines of 16-15-SPRR. Contract depth is 7,000 feet; ground elevation, 1,938.1 feet.

The wildcat, Mallard Exploration Inc., Midland, No. 1-11 Ellwood Estate, in 11-15-SPRR, scheduled 7,000-foot wildcat, which apparently is still a location.

Former major 'ready to jump into sea'

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Fulfilling the role of a seabound, modern-day Samaritan, Capt. Charles T. Willcox delivered his cargo of 15 Vietnamese refugees to this South Texas city ending a 61-day journey to freedom for three families from their Communist-controlled homeland.

"When we picked them up, they didn't have any food or water," said the captain of the Cavendish, a British tanker. "They couldn't have made it much longer."

Chung Van Xom, a 42-year-old former major in the South Vietnamese army and the only English-speaking member of the group, said he was "ready to jump into the sea" before being plucked from the South China Sea by Cavendish crewmen.

"Fifty-one other ships had gone by us," Xom told the platoon of newmen on Oil Dock No. 11. "The Cavendish picked us up. We took seven days supply of food and water with us. We had been on the sea for 15 days."

Xom and 14 others left South Vietnam on June 25 in a 33-foot boat. They were rescued by the Cavendish on July 9 after displaying for several days a sign that read, "No food. No water. Seven children."

One of the ships that passed the struggling band was a U.S. aircraft carrier, said Xom. "But it was about 10 miles away... it might not have been able to see us."

Lo Van Hai, an eight-year-old sporting a shy smile and a pair of oversized tennis shoes given to him by a crew member, was the first to leave the ship after U.S. Customs and Immigration officials met with the refugees.

U.S. Catholic Conference officials from Washington and representatives from the local Catholic Diocese greeted Hai and the others with smiles, hugs and promises of help in relocating in a strange country.

When asked to describe life in the homeland he escaped two months ago, Xom's relieved smile was replaced with a contemptuous stare.

"Life is terrible... very, very terrible," he said.

And what do most Vietnamese think of the Communist regime?

"Hate them," he said strongly. "We know the real face of the Communists. They trick the people."

The refugees—ranging in age from six to 52—were wisked from the dock in a yellow school bus and taken to a local Catholic boys' academy where, officials said, they will stay until efforts to locate sponsor families are successful.

Bob Van Horn of the Catholic group from Washington, said thousands of refugees attempt to escape Vietnam in boats but "very few are successful. Very few of them are picked up on the high seas. These people are very, very lucky."

Van Horn also said the 15 refugees were the first to directly enter the U.S. without first going through another country that would grant them asylum.

Carter's actions ire top official of VFW

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jimmy Carter was the first president not invited to a national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in 27 years, and he probably will not be invited next year either, a top VFW official says.

Julian Dickenson, adjutant general of the VFW, said the group's leadership had been disappointed by Carter's election and that his actions in office had done nothing to change that feeling.

Threats to sue Ma Bell helped cost exec his job

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A key factor in the decision to fire former Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. executive James Ashley was his threats to sue the firm and damage its reputation, according to the testimony of a top Bell official.

Louis Bailey, Southwestern Bell's vice president for operations, said Wednesday that reports compiled by Bell security agents concerning Ashley were also considered in making the decision.

Bailey's testimony was a part of the firm's defense in a $29 million damage suit filed by Ashley and the family of T.O. Gravitt, who headed Bell's Texas operations when he committed suicide on Oct. 17, 1974.

State District Court Judge Peter Michael Curry refused to allow Bell attorneys to place into evidence the thick, bound volumes containing the reports of the Bell security agents. Curry, however, reserved the right to change his decision later.

Bailey also testified that Gravitt was not a target in the controversial 1974 internal investigation by the company.

Bailey, who is assigned to Bell's St. Louis office, was Gravitt's immediate boss. He said Gravitt was informed of the probe on Oct. 9, 1974, the same day Bell executive James Ashley was suspended in San Antonio.

The suit alleges Gravitt was hounded to his death and Ashley wrongfully fired as a result of the internal probe.

Bailey said the investigation "had to do with sexual irregularities going on in the San Antonio area." He said the reports were "pretty much rumor" initially.

But, when the rumors persisted, he discussed the matter with other Bell corporate officials.

As a result, he said, an investigator was sent to San Antonio although Bailey said the investigator was advised to be extremely "careful, quiet and discrete" because of the "delicate nature" of the investigation.

The investigator felt the rumors were substantiated during his initial trip, and corporate officials decided he should return, Bailey said.

At this point Bailey said Southwestern Bell President Zane Barnes was briefed on the investigation and he approved.

The investigators reported that the names of Ashley and Gravitt were mentioned in interviews conducted as part of the continuing probe.

Bailey said it was decided in early September at an annual Bell business conference in Dallas that Ashley would be suspended on Oct. 9. The decision was made in a hotel room with Barnes present.

Bailey and two other Bell officials from the St. Louis corporate headquarters, flew to San Antonio Oct. 9 and instructed C.L. Todd to suspend Ashley pending completion of the investigation.

The same executives including Bailey met with Gravitt in St. Louis later that day and briefed him on the investigation and Ashley's suspension. Gravitt was told his name had been mentioned and therefore he could not be involved in the probe.

Later Gravitt called Bailey and provided information for the investigation. Gravitt told Bailey he did not support Ashley in the investigation.

Actress sues rock star

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rock star Rod Stewart has been sued for $15 million by Swedish actress Britt Ekland, with whom he lived for 2½ years.

The couple split up 10 days ago when Stewart moved out of the home they shared in the exclusive Holmby Hills section of Los Angeles.

Miss Ekland's complaint states that the couple began living together two days after they met in March 1975, and that a few weeks later they publicly announced their "love relationship" and intent to de-emphasize her career to further his.

The actress claims that she helped to promote his record albums, applied his makeup at rock concerts and counseled and supported him in his career.

Her help contributed to $10 million of Stewart's earnings and another pending $20 million recording contract, the complaint states.

Miss Ekland asks the court to order Stewart to continue paying the mortgage on her home and to pay her $5,000 a month support until the suit is settled.

Ex-banker draws 10 in prison

HOUSTON (AP) — Joseph P. DeLorenzo Jr., 37, convicted of misapplying funds of the Central National Bank, was sentenced to 10 years in prison Wednesday.

U. S. District Court Judge Woodrow Seals directed that DeLorenzo, a former president of the bank, be imprisoned the maximum five years in each of the two cases involving violations of federal banking laws.

Investigators claimed the bank suffered a loss of at least $2 million as a result of banking irregularities.

Seals also sentenced Dennis B. Wittman, 41, to serve five years in a case in which he was named co-defendant with DeLorenzo. In that case the two were charged with conspiring to misapply $1.6 million in bank funds.

Guilty of selling obscene film

HOUSTON (AP) — Ralph Kell, 32, was convicted Wednesday by a county court jury of selling an obscene film.

The jury assessed him a six months jail term and a $1,000 fine.

Kell remained free on bond pending appeal of the case tried before County Criminal Court at Law Judge Jimmie Duncan.

Kell, who owns bookstores at four locations in Houston, asked the jury for probation but told the panel he would remain in business if granted the request.

Amnesty plan increases flow of aliens into U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One day last week, a Border Patrol agent in Laredo, Tex., was hailed by four Mexicans. Stopping his car, the agent was told the four wanted to turn themselves in, claim their amnesty and get work permits. Instead, they became U.S. government statistics.

They are among 50,705 illegal aliens reported rounded up and deported along the Mexican border since President Carter announced his amnesty plan on Aug. 4.

Officials said Wednesday a survey of Border Patrol stations along the Mexican border found that the number of aliens captured and deported for the first three weeks of this month is 51 per cent higher than last year's figure of 33,495.

Government experts admit they have no way of knowing exactly how many aliens entering the country escaped capture during the same period. The Border Patrol usually estimates that two-thirds of the alien who cross the border get away.

That would mean that 100,000 aliens have sneaked into the country from Mexico without being caught since the amnesty proposals.

The agents who run the stations along the Mexican border say interviews with the captured aliens indicate that the amnesty proposals, as well as worsening Mexican economic problems, are the reasons for the increased flow of aliens.

But aliens who enter the country now are misinformed if they think that Carter's proposals will help them. First, they must be approved by Congress to become law.

Carter's plan would only apply to aliens who arrived before 1977. Aliens who could prove they arrived before 1970 would be eligible for permanent resident status under the Carter plan. Aliens who came between 1970 and 1977 would be eligible for a five-year temporary resident status.

But apparently, many Mexicans, like the four arrested in Laredo, do not understand the details of the proposal. "A lot of the ones we've caught mention the amnesty when we ask them why they came," said chief agent Roger Stout of Laredo.

Stout and his colleagues point out that the flow of illegal aliens was increasing by about 20 per cent each year before Carter made his suggestion for amnesty. Two new factors have exacerbated the economic woes that drive poor Mexicans across the border in search of work, they say.

Officials say a second factor in the increase in the number of Mexicans trying to get into this country illegally is the drought which has devastated the agrarian economy of Mexico.

Another reason is the recent slide of the peso, which has dropped from 13 to the dollar to 32 to the dollar, officials said.

Candy called possessive

HOUSTON (AP) — An attorney representing two adopted children of Candace Mossler said the late millionaire was a very possessive person who made abnormal demands on her family.

John Holloway, representing Dan and Chris Mossler, testified Wednesday in the opening of a trial in which a six-member jury will determine if Mrs. Mossler was under stress when she approved an amendment to her will which disinherited three adopted children.

Herbert Lackshin, a long-time attorney for Mrs. Mossler, testified she was alert and sound of mind when she approved the amendment.

Mrs. Mossler's 1968 will divided her estimated $12 million estate equally among six children, four of them adopted.

However, a 1975 supplement, purportedly signed by her, disinherits three of the adopted children, Dan and Chris Mossler and Martha Mossler Meredith. Mrs. Meredith has chosen not to contest the document, attorneys said.

Mrs. Mossler, who died last year at the age of 62, was acquitted of murder charges in 1966 in the death of her husband, Jacques Mossler.

Pilot caused Croce crash?

DALLAS (AP) — The plane crash that killed singer Jim Croce and four others may have occurred by the pilot becoming disoriented, according to a physician's testimony.

Dr. Harry Gibbons, a former Federal Aviation Administration official, testified Wednesday for the plaintiffs, Croce's widow and survivors of other crash victims.

The Croce group filed suit in U.S. District Court here against Roberts Airways and Mustang Aviation of Dallas. They allege the pilot, Robert Elliott, who also died in the crash, caused the mishap.

The two defendants have countered claiming Elliott suffered a heart attack just before the plane struck the trees at the end of an airfield in Natchitoches, La. in September, 1973.

Dr. Gibbons said chances for "spatial disorientation" would be greater if someone was exhausted or nervous, as the plaintiffs contend Elliott was at the time of the crash.

"I think that spatial disorientation from take off acceleration is far more likely to be the probable cause (of the crash) than anything else," Gibbons told the jury. He added, however, that a heart condition could have been a contributing factor in the accident.

The trial is expected to continue today.

Lifestyle creates demand for simple meals

By SUSAN HAMPTON
Easy, simple meals which are nutritionally balanced but take very little effort to prepare are one Big Spring woman's ideal way to cook.

Mrs. Ruth Mitchel, who lives 4 miles out of Coahoma with her husband, Glyn, who works at Cosden, is an active, admittedly impatient woman, who enjoys "almost any kind of food" but says she does not like the time it takes to make it.

"I've never been one to stand over a hot stove," Mrs. Mitchel said. Her recipes attest to that. Although some of them take a while to prepare, they are the kind a person can "walk away" from and do other things at the same time, she said.

Mrs. Mitchel is the Howard County Fair secretary and has been since its second year of operation. The first year the fair began, she was a director. "One of my greatest experiences as a child was with a county fair," Mrs. Mitchel recalled.

It was natural, she said, that she help boost the county fair here. She remembers going to the first planning meeting of the fair at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

After the first year, the other directors elected her to perform as year-round secretary. The job is slowest during the months of October to April, with only an hour of her time needed each week to keep up with correspondence and to keep the officers and directors up-to-date on important matters.

However, from April to the time of the fair, she is busy with making up the catalogs and mailing them to the civic and service organizations and contacting persons for commercial booth sales.

Mrs. Mitchel and her husband have two grown children, a son, Jeff, a highway patrolman in Brownwood, and a married daughter, Dale, a student at West Texas State University in Canyon. As they were growing up, she said, she kept busy away from home with work, which did not leave much time to prepare elaborate meals. "And the children governed what I cooked while they were at home," she said.

Now she is retired from her job but keeps just as busy with her many civic and social activities including her job with the fair, church activities with the Coahoma Methodist Church, bridge playing, gardening and raising horses with her husband.

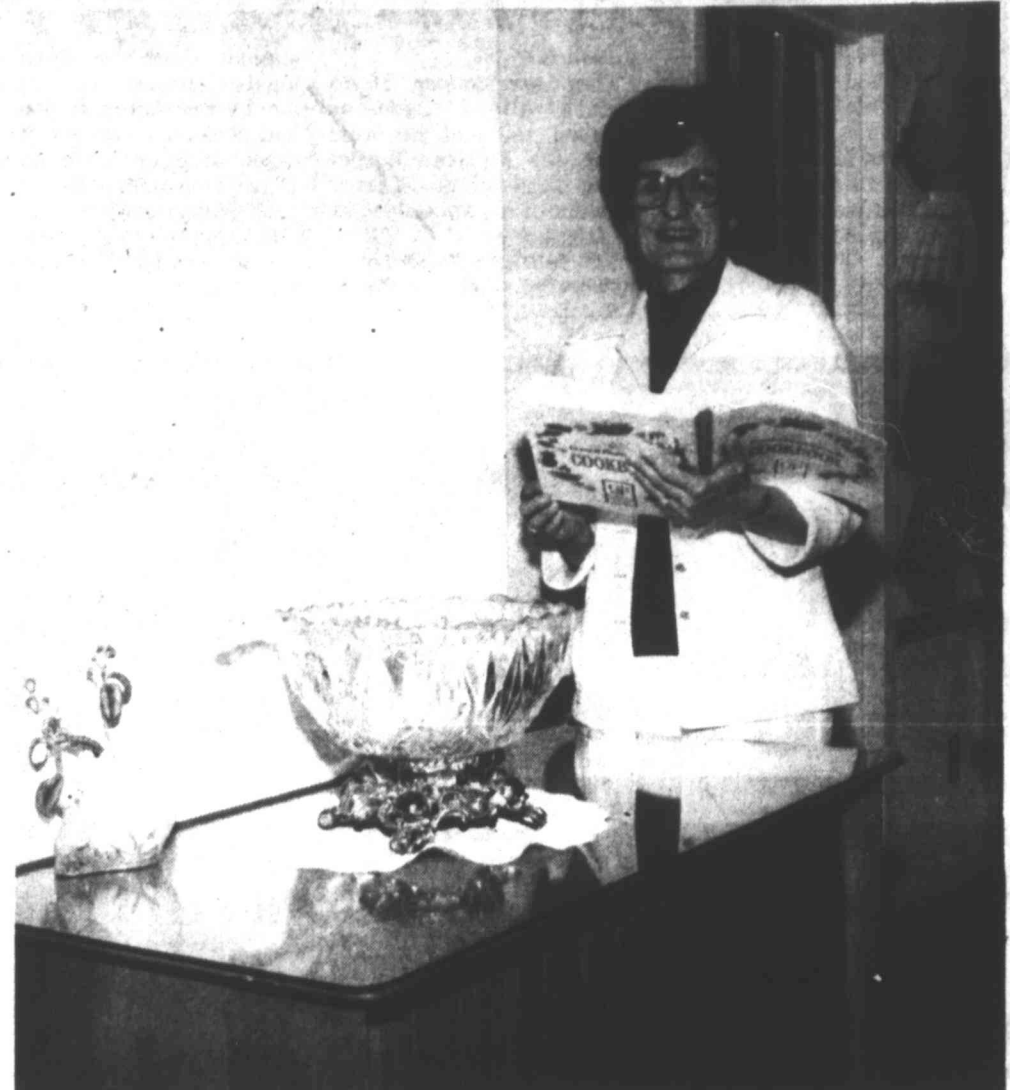

In her garden at their home, the Mitchels have two fruit-bearing trees, a plum tree and a peach tree. She said she has spent more time this year than other years canning and freezing the fruits.

They also grow black-eyed peas, string beans, tomatoes, which she said did not produce well this season and a cucumber vine.

In an effort to develop patience, Mrs. Mitchel took up oil painting about three years ago, but she has not painted for about a year.

When asked if she gave her daughter any helpful advice when she got married, Mrs. Mitchel said her daughter could probably give her more advice. "Both children were 4-Hers and learned a lot of things," she said.

Although some of the things with the new lifestyles of young couples, including her daughter's, disagree with her way of thinking, Mrs. Mitchel lets them go by. To quote an old phrase, "to each his own" could sum up Mrs. Mitchel's lifestyle and what she feels about others.

MRS. RUTH MITCHEL, Howard County Fair secretary, loves the type of recipes which are easy and effortless to prepare. With her many civic and social activities, Mrs. Mitchel admits she does not have the time nor the interest to "stand over a hot stove."

Italians to publish wine magazine

By TOM HOGE

AP Newsfeatures Writer
A group of Italian journalists have launched a quarterly magazine in the United States and Canada which will be devoted mainly to the wines of that country. It will also seek to acquaint American readers with some of the better Italian food specialties.

"We have no intention of trying to compete with your American wine and food magazines," said Vincenzo Buonassisi, senior editor of the publication which is called "Italian Wines & Spirits." "We merely want to give Americans a fuller knowledge of our wines, since they do stand in first place now among wines imported by your country."

Total Italian wine imports to America for 1976 came to 17.6 million gallons, or a little more than one out of every two bottles brought into this country. The Italians, who go in for cooking with wine in a big way, have some set rules about how to go about this. For instance, if you use wine as an ingredient to cook a certain dish, you should use the same wine to drink with that dish.

3/4 c. chopped onion
2 cloves garlic
3/4 lb. ground beef
3 1/2 c. stewed tomatoes (2 cans)
6-oz. can tomato paste
2 tbsps. salt
2 tbsps. oregano
1/4 tsp. pepper
Brown meat and onion. Add stewed tomatoes, tomato paste, garlic, oregano, salt and pepper. Cook slowly for 2 hours. Cook lasagne noodles as directed. Rinse and drain.

In a 13x9x2 dish, place a layer of noodles, a layer of meat sauce and cover with large curd cottage cheese and one package of shredded mozzarella cheese. Place another layer of noodles and another layer of meat sauce and another layer of cheese. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Place in 400 degrees oven for 1 hour.

I use 1/2 of this recipe of meat sauce at a time and freeze the second half, making the lasagne dish in a smaller container. Occasionally I have used the second half of the meat recipe as a spaghetti sauce.

It-really-happened programs

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Several years ago, public TV offered two fine shows, "The White House Transcripts" and "The Watergate Cover-Up Trial," re-enacted accounts of the end of Richard M. Nixon's era.
The guy who made those shows — with actors, stage sets and verbatim dialogue from the Watergate tapes and trial — is using the same technique again for four more it-really-happened programs.

He's Thomas McCann, who with KERA-TV in Dallas and $625,000 from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting — CPB — has come up with "Eyewitness," a public affairs miniseries for public TV.

The first one-hour show, about a jetliner crash, the Karen Ann Quinlan case and the trial of a Massachusetts masseur on a prostitution charge, is being fed stations tonight by the Public Broadcasting Service.
(Check local listings, as it may air on different nights in various areas. KCET here, for example, won't show it until Sept. 7.)

As with his first two shows, McCann says the miniseries reenacts major news stories "directly from public documents, verbatim, and we try to come as close as we possibly can to the real situation..."
But there are exceptions. In the jetliner segment, about the 1974 crash of an Eastern Airlines DC9 in South Carolina that killed 71 persons, he didn't use the names of the pilot or copilot.
This, he says, is both out of consideration to the fliers' families and because the copilot survived "and is trying to make a living again flying airplanes. There was no need to use his name."
He said the 10-minute segment, shown entirely in the plane's cockpit, uses the fliers' words as taped on a cockpit voice recorder, later made part of National Transportation Safety Board documents.
At the end, he said, newsmen Andrew Macmillan recounts the board's findings on the probable cause of the accident.
McCann says "Eyewitness" is an outgrowth of a 90-minute pilot show CPB funded for $125,000 a year ago.

THE FIRST senior citizen bowling league in Big Spring, the Guys and Dolls, enjoy their fun times each Friday night at the bowling alley. Pictured are a few of the members, in foreground, Virgie Dyer and the oldest member, T.K. Price. Senior citizens bowling league sparks interest

By SUSAN HAMPTON
A bowling league with an age requirement of 55 or older?

"That's the youngest a person can be to join," according to team member Madge Rogers, speaking of the new year-old Guys and Dolls Bowling League in Big Spring.

Rogers herself is a member along with her husband, R.D. She barely beat the age limit, having turned the magic number, 55, only last year.

The league was formed last September and will soon see its first anniversary, and, hopefully, an increase in members.

The fun night for the oldest is every Friday night at the local bowling alley. They begin promptly at 6 p.m.

The league is divided into different age classes to give each "a fair shake", according to Rogers.

Class A is the oldest class, with participants 70 years of age or older. Class B is made up of 65-69 year old "youngsters." Class C is comprised of 55-59 year old players.

The oldest participant is T.K. Price, who is a mere 74 year old.

Rogers said bowling for her is "good exercise." She is required to keep active on doctor's orders since she has had open heart surgery.

Except for bowling in her women's league on Wednesday mornings, she walks each morning for a few hours in a local mall.

"I live from one day to the next," she said. Bowling is enjoyable and if I can keep on doing it, that is great."

She tries to keep a bowling average of about 130, but she said some of the players bowl in the 190's.

According to Inez Bearden, secretary for the league, the group has already the required 40 members for the 10 teams. But she said, they "could always use subs," meaning

Bride-elect entertained at Reddy Room

A wedding shower honoring Miss Robin Nix, bride-elect of Greg Walker, was given Thursday, Aug. 18, at the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Mrs. Donny Trim, Mrs. Roy New, Mrs. T.J. Musgrove, Mrs. Sage Johnson, Mrs. Harvey Harris, Mrs. Jackie Touchstone, Mrs. Ricky Brown, Mrs. Charles Carter, Mrs. Marlon Hall, Miss Jo Ellea Gamble and Mrs. Don Tolle were the hostesses of the event.

The table was covered by a beige tablecloth trimmed with beige lace. The centerpiece was of pink carnations, red roses and baby's breath. Crystal and silver were used to serve. The bride was given a silver coffee set as the hostess gift.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ed Cherry, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Hoyle Nix, attended the shower along with the groom's mother, Mrs. Jackie Darden from Coahoma, and the groom's grandmothers, Mrs. Ida Walker and Mrs. Evans, both from Loraine.

The couple will be married Sept. 3 in the First Baptist Church of Coahoma, with the Rev. Guy White officiating with the Rev. Monroe Teters, First Baptist Church of Coahoma, and the Rev. Wayne Stevens, Crestview Baptist Church.

Bake sale scheduled

The Howard County State Foster Parents will be having a chili dog, bake sale Saturday at the Highland Mall.

All proceeds will be used to purchase the necessities for the foster children.

Wants to Beg Off Her Bare Invitation

DEAR ABBY: I met a very nice woman a few months ago and we started going away together on weekends. Now she tells me she belongs to a nudist club and she's trying to talk me into going along with her to a nudist retreat.

I honestly don't think I could do anything like that, but I don't want her to think I'm chicken. Any suggestions?

BILL

DEAR BILL: Tell her you're afraid it will be the end of your relationship if you see too much of each other.

DEAR ABBY: Our 21-year-old son recently married his high school teacher, who is 39. These two had been secretly seeing each other for three years. She was married and had two children, but because she fell in love with our son, she got a divorce.

All this was done behind our backs. We didn't know a thing about it until they had been married for nearly a month!

Now that they are married, they want us to forget the past and accept them.

We love our son but find it difficult to forget the deceit and coverup that went on during the courtship.

How should we act now that they are married?

HURT PARENTS

DEAR HURT: Accept his wife and say nothing about the past. What was, was.

DEAR ABBY: There are so many people in their 60s who are alone and lonely for companionship, and I know why.

I am a man nearly 65. I'm retired and on Social Security. I own an old car and work a few hours to keep it running. For the past two years, I've been trying to find a lady to go steady with, but I've given up. I can't afford it.

I've met a lot of women about my age, and they are wonderful company. But the trouble is, they all expect a man to take them out a couple of nights a week, wine them and dine them, go to drive-in movies, and for drives and lunches.

One of them said, "My company should be worth that much." Well, how about MY company?

I wouldn't expect a woman to share car expenses, but if we both have about the same incomes and know how to stretch a dollar, we could have a wonderful time if we shared expenses. Neither one of us is a prize package anymore. Why act like it?

LONESOME IN L.A.

DEAR LONESOME: You'd be surprised how many lonely women in their 60s would buy the deal you propose. Why don't you lay all your cards on the table? You could draw a queen.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have a CB radio. Last month I met someone in person that I used to talk to on the radio. We go to the same school, so he was easy to meet.

This person is 15 and spends his weekends at Juvenile Hall. He told me last week that he has six months more at Juvy Hall, after which he will be on probation for a long time. He said he would rather kill himself than to keep going back there for weekends, and that is what he is planning to do.

He said his mother is finally sick of him, and his stepdad couldn't care less about him. I asked if he didn't have some relatives he could stay with, and he said nobody wants him.

Do you think it would be a wise decision to ask this person to come and live with my family because that's exactly what he needs. A family. I think living with us could help him a lot. What do you think?

T.S.

DEAR T.S.: I think you are to be commended for your concern about this person's welfare, but it's up to your parents to make that decision, not me.

Texas social workers selects local man for award

The Board of Directors of the National Association of Social Workers has announced from its Austin Headquarters that Wilfred Calnan, A.C.S.W., has been selected as Social Worker of the Year for 1977, one of five distinguished social workers honored this year.

The award will be presented on October 22nd at the State Convention in San Antonio for Calnan's contributions to the social work profession and the people it serves. In particular, Calnan was cited for his leadership of several agencies in Texas over more than twenty-five years, his leadership in making Howard County Family Service Center a viable agency, leadership in the development of the West Texas Non-Metropolitan Unit of the Texas Chapter, and Chairman of reorganization efforts of the Association in 1974. Calnan, as Director of Howard County Family Service Center, has provided its leadership and social work services since February 1975. This program is an extension of Big Spring State Hospital's Outpatient Clinic program. He has received numerous honors including: Social Worker of the Year of Howard County, 1975, Social Worker of the Year, West Texas, Non-Metropolitan Unit of N.A.S.W., 1975, and a Distinguished Services Award in 1976, from the

WILFRED CALNAN

Texas Chapter of N.A.S.W. Jake Glickman, Administrative Officer, cited Calnan, for his outstanding service to the Big Spring community. "It is unbelievable the number of individuals and families that Cal has helped since he began working here. I recall that one citizen in this community told me that people here don't have marriage or family problems. Well, now a lot of them don't, thanks to Cal."

Calnan's work with community agencies has enabled them to be more effective with their own work. His articles in the newspaper, and speeches have helped people become more sensitive to the needs of parents and children.

Combination shower given at Burden home

Miss Judy Marrs and DeLane Scott were given a combination shower and shower Aug. 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Burden, 424 Edwards.

Other hosts of the event were Mr. and Mrs. Don Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hinshaw.

Refreshments were served from a wooden table accented with apricot and mint green. Wooden appointments were used and the centerpiece was a crockpot filled with wooden utensils, apricot silk flowers and greenery tied with a green-and-white checked ribbon.

The bride-elect was presented with a corsage made of apricot silk flowers. She was attired in a mint-green street-length knit dress.

Members of the First Pentecostal Church were invited. About 45 were attended.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W.S. Marrs, parents of the bride-elect, and Tommy Marrs, brother of the bride-elect, all of Pine Bluff, Ark., and Mr. and Mrs. John Perry and daughter Valerie of Granite City, Ill. Mrs. Perry is the sister of the bride-elect.

Miss Marrs and Scott will be married Aug. 26 in the First United Pentecostal Church.

New members initiated

New members were initiated into the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 last Tuesday.

They included Mrs. Gay Smith, Mrs. Agnes Miller and Mrs. Katie Sherrod.

A letter from Mrs. Peggy McLean, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, constituted Mrs. Marion Savell as Lodge Deputy of No. 284.

Create closet for child

"Create" a child's closet, suggests Glenda Moore, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

If closet space is at a premium in your child's room, install a clothes rod as part of the decor, the specialist suggests.

THROUGH the fieldglasses

Taking a real hard look

One advantage to working on the Herald football tabloid (coming Aug. 31 to your local newspaper), in addition to meeting with all the new coaches and players, is the experience of certain knowledge being forced into my head, like a size 12 foot into a size 8 shoe—if it gets in, it stays in.

Just recently, I finished a lengthy article on the 10 opponents the Big Spring Steers will face this year. Look for it in the Herald tabloid (coming Aug. 31 to your local newspaper).

There was ample time, during the examination of these 10 ballclubs, to compare the Bovines with their foes, and I've come to a startling conclusion, one that might shake you, the "when-will-they-ever-have-a-winning-season-again", Steer football fan.

The locals will be facing some pretty stiff opposition this season, but the meat they will be viewing across the gridiron counter won't be as prime as it was last year. A lot of people are gone from the enemy camps—people who meant the difference between a win and a loss for Big Spring, and people who meant the difference between losing small and losing big.

After my rookie season covering football, objectivity came a lot easier. Last year, the old alma mater spirit got to me and realism was replaced by surrealism. I told you they'd win every game just because that was supposed to keep all the parents happy.

The Steers aren't going to win every game this year. I'm relatively sure, after viewing the other district teams, that none of their loop foes will win every game either. The conference is closer than it's been in years.

However, I am also relatively sure that the Steers have a more than realistic shot at winning half their ballgames—exactly half, to be exact.

I won't mention any names yet (watch for Aug. 31 tab), but hardly anyone, except Andrews of course, is returning much more than a skeleton of what they were last year. Not many starters returning, you see.

So here's my pre-season prediction, based on a realistic evaluation of the physical facts that have stared me in the face these past weeks. The Steers will win two pre-season games and three district contests, therefore compiling a 5-5 record, the best reading in seven years for the locals.

Of course, the only variable in football that means a flip really is emotion. Forget weather, field conditions, etc. So any prediction, of course, could be shot down in flames if the underdog team is feeling a little more inspired than the other squad.

That means that if the Steers fail to play with that very important emotional drive, a 5-5 season will be just a dream again. But if the emotion seethes in the local encampment, a 500 1977 season is definitely within reach.

Phipps going home again

CLEVELAND (AP) — The biggest question about tonight's National Football League preseason meeting between the Chicago Bears and Cleveland Browns is what kind of reception the fans will give quarterback Mike Phipps.

The former Browns' quarterback says he doesn't care, but it will be interesting to see what his "homecoming" will be like after seven years of a love-hate relationship with the Cleveland fans.

The Bears, 3-1, and the Browns, 1-2, are preparing for the regular season. Phipps, who will play the first three quarters against his ex-teammates, says that is all that is on his mind.

"I'm really going to enjoy this," he said. "I hope I do well, but if I don't, it won't be the end of the world. It's just an exhibition game and the exhibition season has never been too popular in my mind."

Phipps, traded to the Bears last winter for two draft choices, is in a battle for Chicago's No. 1 quarterback job with incumbent Bob Avellini. It was Avellini's turn to start in Jack Pardee's rotation, but the Bears' coach switched so that Phipps could get the major share of the action against his old teammates.

In Cleveland, Phipps often was booed lustily by the fans and blamed for most of the ills the Browns suffered. The big raps against him were that he never approached the potential he showed at Purdue and that the Browns traded popular receiver Paul Warfield.

Scrimmage costs a $1

Jerry Foresyth, one of the co-captains of the Big Spring Quarterback Club, announced today that the Friday night football scrimmage between the Steers and Sweetwater in Memorial Stadium will cost a dollar a person.

It was reported in Wednesday's sports section that the scrimmage was free. That is not so.

Foresyth indicated that the Quarterback Club would also operate the concession at the game, with the proceeds going to the Club's treasury for support of local athletics—specifically, the athletic banquets.

Foresyth, and other co-captain Wayne Henry, urge all Steer fans to join the local boosters club.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association's move to rejoin the U.S. Olympic Committee has prompted a call for reconciliation with the Amateur Athletic Union.

The NCAA's 18-member governing council voted Wednesday to ask its more than 840 member institutions for permission to rejoin the Olympic committee if steps toward reorganizing it are continued. Approval is expected in the NCAA's convention in January.

Rangers find range again

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Mason, a light-hitting infielder, broke a tie with his first homer since the 1976 World Series, and the Texas Rangers went on to whip the Boston Red Sox 6-3 for a sweep of their rain-interrupted Wednesday night two-night doubleheader.

The Rangers survived some poor baserunning and a two hour, 22 minute rain delay in winning the opener 3-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Gaylord Perry and Adrian Devine.

The sweep enabled Texas to move into second place in the American League West, two games behind Kansas City. Boston fell into a second place tie with Baltimore, two games behind the New York Yankees in the East. The Red Sox' losing streak is now at seven games.

Mason, who homered for the New York Yankees in the World Series last fall, and then went to Toronto in the expansion draft before being acquired by the Rangers in May, led off the seventh with his homer into the right field stands, snapping a 3-3 tie. It was only the 12th homer of his career.

COLLISION AT FIRST — Texas Rangers' pitcher Gaylord Perry, top, slams into first baseman Mike Hargrove as both go for the ball. Boston Red Sox lead-off batter Rick Burleson, who popped to short right infield Wednesday, drives head first toward first but is called out by Umpire Joe Brinkman.

Lee judgment is said just, fair

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — "We did have a just and fair hearing and we were guilty," said a Midland Lee high school official after its football team was barred from possibly representing the district this season.

Sam Cox, athletic director of the Midland Independent School District, added Wednesday the school was disappointed that it will not be able to compete for the district championship.

Earlier Wednesday, the Class 4A team was barred because it violated University Interscholastic League rules by using football dummies during non-contact drills last week.

The UIL district executive committee invoked the harshest penalty at its command for the violation.

The first fall day of drills was Aug. 15, but contact equipment was not permitted until four days later.

Bailey Marshall, UIL director in Austin, said he initially heard about the incident in a call that a television station was showing the Midland team practicing with dummies.

Head coach at Midland Lee is Jim Acree, who was in his eighth season. The team finished with a 10-2 record last year.

Astros stop two streaks, 1 stone

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Joe Niekro stopped two streaks in one night.

The veteran knuckleballer hurled a five-hitter Wednesday night as the Astros snapped a six game losing streak with a 3-1 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Enos Cabell collected three hits and drove in a pair of runs as Houston broke Philadelphia's six game winning streak.

Cabell's third inning RBI double and Joe Ferguson's sixth inning run scoring single accounted for the first two Houston runs off losing pitcher Larry Christenson, 12-5. A one out walk to Ron Sperring, a single by Terry Fuhl and Cabell's check swing base hit to right tallied the Astros' final run as Houston snapped Christenson's eight game winning streak and handed him his first loss since June 1.

China in Olympics?

college coaches and athletes. The NCAA assailed the AAU over what the collegiate organization termed the AAU's control of the U.S. Olympic program.

NCAA officials said the decision Wednesday still depends on congressional action to restructure the Olympic committee along lines recommended by the President's Commission on Olympic Sports. They said the restructuring would effectively end the AAU's hold on franchises for various sports, giving challengers more voice in arbitration on who makes up each sport's governing body.

"We feel there is a significant change in the USOC, and the council is enthusiastic about the potential of moving into active participation with the committee," said NCAA President J. Neils Thompson.

Penalty exacted against 'Dogs'

SWEETWATER — Coahoma High School was placed on probation for the 1977-78 school year by the District 3-AA executive committee here Wednesday for alleged violation of a UIL rule.

Supt. of Schools W.A. Wilson, who was present for the meeting, said the school was guilty of the violation and would accept the punishment without appealing it.

The penalty will not keep the Bulldogs from competing for championships in any sport but rather is simply a warning to adhere to rules in the future.

The violation was for conducting two workouts prior to the time annual physical examinations were given to players.

Wilson headed a delegation of nine Coahoma school men to the meeting.

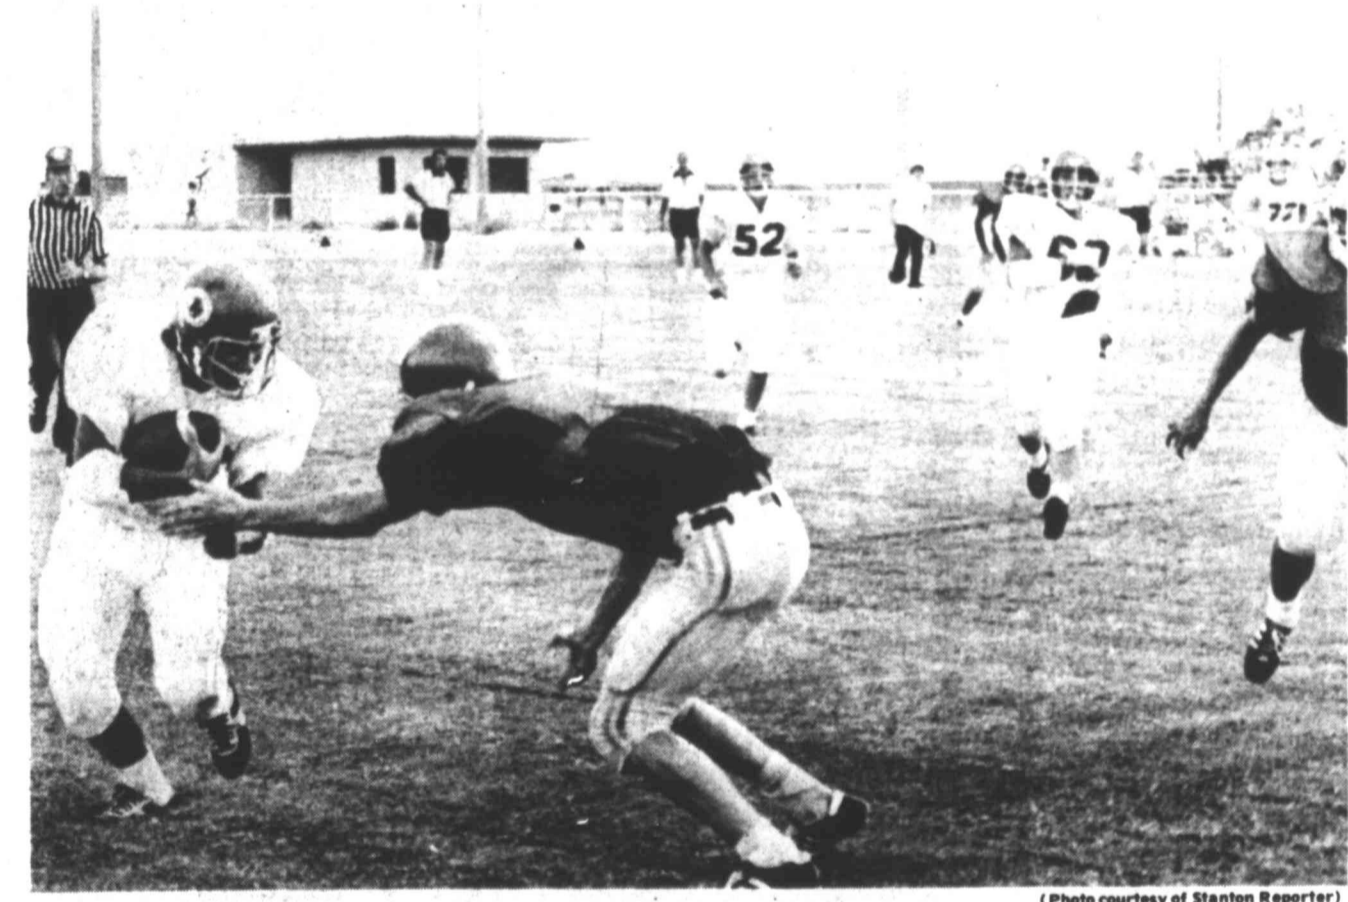

Aggie passer looking good

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback David Walker completed 10 of 12 passes while fullback George Woodard and halfback David Brothers ran for 118 and 110 yards, respectively, in Texas A&M's first controlled scrimmage here Wednesday.

And Coach Emory Bellard said he was "darn pleased."

He said the first offensive team was sharp, blocked crisply and made few mistakes.

"We just need to develop our reserves," he added.

"SHAKE ON IT BUDDY?" — Stanton's Todd Smith (dark jersey) seems to be reaching out to shake this Iranian halfback's hand during action in the Stanton-Iranian varsity scrimmage last Friday. Smith actually was closing in for a tackle, with Buffalo Mike Swinson (far right) coming in to assist him. Stanton scored four times and held Iran to one tally in the test. The Buffs will scrimmage Coahoma this Friday at 7 p.m. in Coahoma.

Stanton boosters to 'Meet the Buffs'

STANTON — Football supporters of the Stanton High School Buffaloes will have an opportunity to meet the varsity team next Tuesday, Aug. 30, when a "Meet the Buffaloes" hamburger dinner will be held.

The annual event, sponsored by the Stanton Buffalo Booster Club, will begin at 6:30 p.m. at Stanton High School. Tickets for the dinner will be available at the gate Tuesday and are currently being sold by members of the booster club.

Each Buffalo will be introduced at the dinner by his "Buffalo Buddy". Each year a booster club member takes one member of the local grid team as his "Buddy", en-

Coahoma ducats sell

COAHOMA — Season tickets to Coahoma Bulldog home football games are now on sale to last year's ticket holders, but anyone can buy them after Friday.

Reserved tickets for the five home games are being sold for $7.50 as opposed to the gate price of $2 for each game.

UT fish to go under knife

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two Texas freshman football players will undergo surgery today that will sideline them from 10 days to a couple months, school officials said.

Terry Tausch, a tight end from New Braunfels, suffered a knee injury in the recent allstar game and will have cartilage removed.

Linebacker Ronnie Greer of Ennis will have minor surgery to repair a torn tendon in his finger, sidelining him for 10 days.

The Postman always knocks and knocks

Dear Mr. Young: For reasons that defy sanity, the name of Joe DiMaggio, the greatest living ballplayer, never is included among list of superstars elected to Hall of Fame in the first year of eligibility. It is a living monument to the stupidity and pettiness of sportswriters. — Anthony J. Barrese, Staten Island.

Dear Mr. Barrese: Different election rules existed when Joe DiMaggio retired in 1951. No five-year wait was required, only one year. He first appeared on 1953 ballot, receiving 117 votes, with 198 needed. The following year, he received 175. On his third try, in 1955, he made it with 223 votes. Thus Joe actually was elected sooner than the others in the matter of years-after-retirement (4). I can only guess that writers of those days voted for players who had been moving gradually up the list, figuring Joe's turn would come. I can try only to explain it, not excuse it. He is the greatest ballplayer I have seen.

Dear Mr. Young: Tell Ed Ott he is an animal to have done such a terrible thing to Felix Millan, one of the nicest guys in baseball. — F.M. Herman, Westchester.

Dear Mr. or Ms. Herman: You are right, Felix is one of the nicest. You are wrong, Ott is no animal. He acted in self-defense. Millan got in the first shot. For a nice guy it was a nice shot.

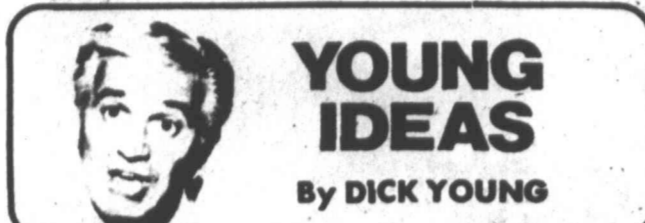

Dear Dick: If the White Sox make the World Series I hope Bill Veck buys them some baseball uniforms and donates the softball outfits to the girls on the "Little Orphan Annie" team. — Al Tivity, Clifton, N.J.

Dear Al: It's not the uniforms, it's the men in them. The White Sox have more pinstripe spirit than the better-dressed clubs.

Dear Dick Young: What are you doing, getting involved in soccer? You predicted it would be a flop. Sorry to disappoint you. — Roberto Viola, Brooklyn.

Dear Roberto Viola: I think I said soccer would have to be opened up to satisfy American tastes; that the fans would not buy 1-1 ties. The NASL has stepped up goal-production and eliminated ties, and quite frankly they have made it big about five years before I thought they would.

Mr. Young: Perhaps you can explain why a reputable network continues to permit this overbearing bore, Howell Cosell, to espouse his personal philosophy while repeatedly demonstrating a tremendous lack of basic sports knowledge. Newspapers do, however, owe him a great debt. Never has one man driven so many people away from watching sports on TV, forcing them to read the newspapers to find out "how it really is." — Kenover Coakley, Harve de Grace, Md.

Mr. Coakley: I suppose ABC considers him commercial, in a repulsive way. ABC has gained prominence as "the obnoxious network," and works hard at it. And you are right about Howard's contribution to journalism. He makes us look good.

Dear Dick: Among Don Grant's tragic deals was letting Ken Singleton go, and giving Rusty Staub for Mickey Lolich. — David DeFine, Bronx.

Dear David: You forget that the Mets got Staub in the Singleton deal. You can't blame them for getting rid of both without crediting them for getting one, or am I making the mistake of trying to be fair?

Dear Dick: If Rene Richards is just another girl tennis player, how come there aren't any other 6-foot-2, 42-year-old girls for her to play against? — Einstein from the Bronx.

Dear Einstein: I guess they're not growing them like they used to.

Dear Dick: Now that Roy Boe has removed his basketball team to the Jersey swamps, why not call them The Mosquito Nets? If they pay for this suggestion, give my share to charity. — Jack Gaskill, Flemington, N.J.

Dear Jack: Boe says he's not buying, so send your contribution directly to the United Fund.

Dear Dick: TV has given us Charley's Angels and Blansky's Beauties, so why not a series called "Georgie's Millionaires"? It's the story of a bunch of rich people complaining week after week — Steve Bennett, Cresskill, N.J.

Dear Steve: The pilot was hilarious.

"TWO TON" TONY — "Two Ton" Tony Galento a former heavyweight boxer, is recuperating after part of his left leg was amputated. The 67-year-old boxer now lives in Orange, N.J.

Pair of 4-hitters lead Santone attack

By the Associated Press

Marv Webb and Jeff Leonard each collected four hits, leading the San Antonio Dodgers to a 9-1 victory over the El Paso in the Texas League, while Jackson closed out its season at home Wednesday with a 2-1 win over Shreveport.

Webb hit for the cycle, including a two-run homer, and Leonard also cracked a homer, his 12th of the season, as Joe Beckwith upped his record to 5-4 in going the route.

San Antonio collected 17 hits and pulled within two games of the West Division leaders El Paso.

Jackson, playing before 2,843 fans in the finale, had to go 11 innings, but they won their fourth straight game from Shreveport. The win also elevated Jackson into third place in the East Division, one-half game

Mad Hungarian happy (mad)

By the Associated Press

St. Louis reliever Al Harbosky believes his strength lies in his facial decoration.

"I feel comfortable and happy with myself," Harbosky said Wednesday. And that can only mean bad news for opposing batters.

With his beard, Harbosky was one of the National League's top relievers, the feared "Mad Hungarian." Then he was instructed to shave.

"Before (he was allowed to grow his beard back), I was a miserable person," Harbosky said. "Baseball has a job. There was no fun. Now I'm getting happier and happier."

CATCHER PAYS THE PRICE — Dodger catcher Steve Yeager made the tag on Dave Parker of the Pirates as Parker tied to score from first on an Al Oliver single Wednesday. Parker was out at the plate and Yeager was out of the game. Dodger manager Tom Lasorda said, "I think Yeager would have had a better chance with a pickup truck." Yeager apparently suffered no serious injuries.

Old 'new' names to be heard on collegiate scene

Upstart Pitt provided a different look on college football's national championship throne last year. But most of the teams directly behind the Panthers were familiar names in such races and many of them have designs on the 1977 title.

For instance, Southern California and Michigan, which finished 2-3 behind Pitt in last year's Associated Press ratings, generally are considered the teams to beat in the Pacific-8 and Big Ten Conferences, respectively.

Oklahoma, the national champion in 1974 and 1975 and a strong-closing fifth last season, is the heavy favorite in the rugged Big Eight Conference. The experts say Alabama will return to the top of the Southeastern Conference after a one-year absence and the same is expected for Arizona State in the Western Athletic Conference, while Maryland has become an almost automatic choice in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Southwest Conference, having ended years of domination by Texas, appears to be another three-team scramble among last year's contenders — Houston, Texas Tech and Texas A&M.

Among the independents, much of the preseason sentiment belongs to Notre Dame, although Pitt could change that by beating the Fighting Irish in the opening game, just like a year ago.

Tony Dorsett, who became college football's all-time rushing king while leading Pitt to the national championship, is gone, along with 10 other starters, both kicking specialists and Coach of the Year Johnny Majors, who, having lifted Pitt from rags to riches, now will try to bring his alma mater, Tennessee, back to national prominence.

Majors' successor is Jackie Sherrill, Pitt's former assistant head coach, who spent last season as head coach at Washington State. With Dorsett gone, Sherrill will allow quarterback Matt Cavanaugh to throw more to such talented receivers as Gordon Jones and Willie Taylor.

Pitt will be challenged by Penn State in the East, provided the Nittany Lions get past their opener against Rutgers, whose 10-game winning streak is the longest in the country. Yale is the preseason favorite in the Ivy League.

In the SEC, Alabama likely will be challenged by Florida, which never has won the conference championship; defending champion Georgia; Mississippi State, coming off two years probation, and Kentucky, going on two years probation.

Alabama must rebuild its defensive line, but a high-powered offense featuring quarterbacks Jack O'Rear and Jeff Rutledge, receiver Ozzie Newsome and running backs Johnny Davis and Tony Nathan, may overcome any defensive deficiencies.

Maryland has a record string of 20 ACC victories and there seems to be no end to the Terrapins' domination. Mark Manges and Larry Dick could be the best 1-2 quarterback punch in the nation. North Carolina probably will be the No. 1 challenger.

Appalachian State is a solid choice in the Southern Conference, while South Carolina, East Carolina and Memphis State should be the strongest Southern independents.

In the Midwest, the annual Michigan-Ohio State showdown is expected to decide the Big Ten race, as usual. Although Michigan has a few defensive holes to fill, the Wolverines boast perhaps the premier offensive line in the country, a veteran quarterback in Rick Leach and outstanding runners in Harlan Huckleby and Russell Davis.

The big news is that Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, who adores pile-driving fullbacks, is switching to a pony backfield with relative lightweights Jeff Logan and Ron Springs as the chief ball carriers. The Buckeyes also have eight returning starters on defense.

In the Midlands, Oklahoma will field the fastest backfield in its history. Quarterback Thomas Lot, halfback Elvis Peacock and fullback Kenny King all do the 40 in 4.4

seconds, while the other halfback in the explosive wishbone, heralded sophomore Billy Sims, lags behind at a mere 4.5. Despite all the speed, the Sooners' season depends on how well nose guard Reggie Kinlaw and linebacker Daryl Hunt recover from knee injuries.

Almost everyone except Kansas and Kansas State — and that means Colorado, Iowa State, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma State — can be considered a Big Eight contender. Oklahoma State has one of the nation's top runners in Terry Miller, who gained 1,546 yards during the regular season and added 173 in the Tangerine Bowl last year.

Notre Dame has its entire defensive unit back and the Irish are booming end-Ross Browner as their top Heisman Trophy candidate.

If he wins it, Browner would be only the third lineman in history and the first since Leon Hart, another Notre Dame end, did it in 1949.

However, the Irish will have to overcome the loss of Al Hunter, the only 1,000-yard rusher in the school's history, who was suspended for a violation of dormitory rules.

Western Michigan, Ohio University, Bowling Green and Kent State hope to unseat Ball State in the Mid-American Conference, while Tulsa and West Texas State are getting plenty of support in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Houston and Texas Tech tied for the Southwest Conference crown a year ago, but Texas A&M may pass them.

OFFENSIVE PUNCH — Quarterback Van Gaskins hands off to fullback Jackie McDonald, as halfbacks Bill Wigginton (far left) and Max Hernandez carry through with the play. These offensive starters for the Sands Mustangs in Ackerly are hoping to start a new era in winning Mustang football, fool the "experts" who have them picked last and make their new coach, Travis Molinex, proud of them.

WATCHING DADDY WORK — Two of Tito Fuentes' sons try to get his attention as he returns to the dugout after making an out in Wednesday night game at Oakland Coliseum. Fuentes, a former San Francisco Giant, is a popular figure in the San Francisco bay area. He now plays for the Detroit Tigers and was facing the Oakland A's and Vida Blue. A's won 3-1 in first game of a double header.

More TV football imminent

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility of Thursday night and, perhaps, Sunday night football appears more and more likely as the National Football League's talks with the three networks continue.

The NFL's TV contracts with NBC, CBS and ABC all run out at the close of this season. The current talks are centering on four-year contracts to cover the 1978-81 seasons. It is probable that NBC will again end up with a basic American Conference package, CBS with a National Conference package and ABC with its Monday night games.

Sources say, however, that this time around the NFL is offering a fourth package to include about a half dozen Thursday and possibly Sunday night games. And to sweeten the pot, the NFL is reportedly offering rights to the first and fourth Super Bowls in the four-year deal to whomever accepts the Thursday night package.

In other words, whichever network accepts the risks involved in televising football against prime time programming on Thursday and/or Sunday nights, and also agrees to the added expense, also gets two of the four Super Bowls currently being negotiated.

Sources say that CBS, currently running third in the ratings game, is definitely interested in the fourth package. NBC is interested in Thursday nights but wary of Sunday nights. ABC, which has the strongest prime time schedule, may be reluctant to give up some of its entertainment programming for another night of football.

At the same time, however, ABC has been coveting the Super Bowl for some time, and may find the lure of getting two of them too much to resist.

It may not be charitable to offer such speculation but it seems a remarkable coincidence that, at a time when NBC's contract with the Soviet Union for TV rights to the 1980 Summer Olympics is due to come under Congressional scrutiny, the network executives most responsible for the deal have both been replaced.

Carl Lindemann Jr. left as vice president of sports a few months ago and now Bob Howard has been replaced as president of NBC-TV. Lindemann and Howard were the prime movers for NBC in the Olympic deal. If Congress should find some cause for concern in the contract and call NBC on the carpet, the network can now point out that "those responsible are no longer with us." Very convenient.

The new fall season is fast approaching with network programmers, like quarterbacks looking over the defense, switching signals, juggling personnel and desperately looking for an opening in enemy defenses.

NBC, using the growing popularity of boxing as a weapon, scheduled a blockbuster four-night show for Sept. 14 to run smack against ABC's special two-hour premier of "Charlie's Angels", its hit female detective show. The "Night with the Heavyweights" features top contenders Ken Norton and Jimmy Young in separate bouts.

DALLAS COWBOYS

Trying to bounce back

COWBOYS FACT SHEET

THIS WEEK — The Dallas Cowboys (1-2 in pre-season play) host the Baltimore Colts (2-1) on Saturday night in a nationally televised (NBC) game at Texas Stadium. The Cowboys dropped their second straight decision last Saturday night, 20-14 to the Miami Dolphins, while the Colts defeated the Minnesota Vikings the night before, 29-7. Dallas is the defending champion in the National Football Conference's Eastern Division, and Baltimore is the defending champ in the AFC East. The Colts will be playing in their third consecutive national TV game, having earlier defeated Houston, 14-7, and Minnesota. Baltimore lost its opening game at Denver, 14-8. Dallas posted its only victory so far when it stopped San Diego to open the pre-season, 34-14, then lost in overtime at Seattle, 23-17.

KICKOFF — 8 p.m. (CDT) Saturday at Texas Stadium. Crowd estimate: 55,000 to 60,000.

TELEVISION — Telecast nationally by NBC with Curt Gowdy and John Brodie, but not live in Dallas unless sold out by 8 p.m. Wednesday.

RADIO — KRLD (1080 in Dallas), KFJZ (1270 in Fort Worth) and the nine-state Cowboys Radio Network with Verne Lundquist and Brad Sham.

SERIES STANDING — The teams met on Sept. 26 last year at Texas Stadium, and it was a thriller with Dallas pulling out a last-second 30-27 victory. Overall, Baltimore leads the regular season and playoff series, 4-3, including a 16-13 triumph in Super Bowl V following the 1970 season. The Cowboys and Colts haven't met in pre-season play since 1971, when Dallas took a 27-14 decision in Baltimore. Baltimore owns an all-time 5-2 edge over the Cowboys in summer action.

THE COACHES — The Cowboy's Tom Landry ranks second (behind Don Shula) among winningest active coaches with a 17-year record of 137-93-6. Landry is sixth on the all-time list of winningest NFL coaches. His teams have rolled to 11 straight winning seasons, 10 playoff appearances, three Super Bowls and one World Championship, 24-3 over the Miami Dolphins in Super Bowl VI.

The Colts' Ted Marchibroda has a two-year record of 21-7, directing a resurgence in Baltimore that has seen the Colts win two consecutive AFC East titles.

NEXT WEEK — The Cowboys travel down to Houston to meet the Oilers in the Astrodome for the "Governor's Cup" before a sellout crowd on Saturday night, Sept. 3.

Farm Meat prices rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher farm prices for animals are pushing up what consumers pay for beef and pork and probably will continue to do so the rest of this year.

Retail beef prices, computed by the Agriculture Department for all cuts, rose to more than $1.38 a pound in July, up about a penny from June. Pork prices jumped to more than $1.32 a pound last month, up 6.4 cents.

The prices were included Wednesday in a monthly report on price spreads for farm-produced food. Compared with a year ago, the retail beef price was about the same, but pork was down sharply, averaging 10 cents a pound below what consumers paid in July 1976.

Officials said the market price of choice-grade steers sold by farmers averaged $40.30 per 100 pounds in July, compared with $39.74 in June. Hogs were $45.76 per 100 pounds, compared with $43.86 in June.

A year ago steers sold for $37.92 per 100 pounds and hogs for $48.26 a hundredweight.

Another analysis by USDA livestock experts said retail beef prices are "expected to rise gradually through the remainder of 1977" and that pork prices, which normally decline seasonally in the fall as production increases, probably will hold steady.

The report on price spreads — the difference between what farmers get for their raw products and

Tobacco price supports eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland is setting up a special task force to review the government's tobacco price support program and to develop recommendations for changes.

At the same time, Bergland gave his endorsement Wednesday to the concept of tobacco programs. Critics have said it is inconsistent for the Agriculture Department, on the one hand, to provide tobacco aid to farmers while the U.S. Surgeon General, on the other, claims that smoking is harmful to health.

"By act of Congress, tobacco is classified as a basic U.S. agricultural product," Bergland said in announcing his task force. "It provides a major source of income for about 600,000 farm families in 16 states, many of whom are small farmers for whom tobacco often is the only cash crop."

Also, he said, tobacco is a $1.4 billion export item and plays "an important role in helping offset the billions we are spending for oil imports." Federal, state and local governments also get about $6.1 billion from tobacco excise taxes.

"For these reasons a modest, modernized program to maintain economic stability for tobacco producers and tobacco-producing areas and to continue earning U.S. dollars abroad from this source is in the best interest of the country," Bergland said.

Butter inventories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Butter inventories, reflecting increased dairy production, have soared in the last year, says the Agriculture Department.

As of July 31, nearly 205.3 million pounds of butter were held in the nation's cold storage facilities, an increase of 247 per cent from the 82.9 million pounds on hand a year ago.

Cheese inventories also have risen, although not as rapidly as butter. Stockpiles total about 589.2 million pounds against 508.9 million on July 31 of last year, the department said.

Farm markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were lower at midday.

The average price for strict low middling 11-16 inch spot cotton declined 1 point to $2.54 cents a pound Wednesday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were 25 cents to 40 cents a bale lower than the previous close. Oct. 54.55, Dec. 54.65 and Mar. 55.50.

what consumers pay for food — showed that the "farm value" of beef last month was 81.3 cents a pound, compared with 79.9 cents in June, reflecting the increase in live cattle prices.

But that is not what farmers get for live cattle since it takes nearly 2.3 pounds of steer on-the-hoof to make one pound of supermarket beef. It is, however, the cattle producer's share of what consumers pay for beef.

The middleman's spread for transporting, processing and selling beef in July was 57 cents a pound, down half a cent from June, meaning that the price margin was squeezed by that much as cattle prices rose. Put another way, middlemen absorbed half a cent of the 1.4-cent increase in the farm value of beef during the month, with the result that the average retail price rose less than one cent a pound.

Pork included a farm value of 82 cents in July, up a full four cents from June. The middleman's share also increased to 50.1 cents from 47.7 cents in June, thus accounting for the boost of 6.4 cents in the retail price from June to July.

Overall, a 65-item market basket of a U.S. farm-produced food used in the monthly analysis registered an increase of one-tenth of 1 per cent in middleman charges from June to July, after increasing 2 per cent from May to June. The spread was up 4.1 per cent from July 1976.

Returns to farmers for the market basket were up 1.5 per cent overall from June, the report said. "Farm values increased sharply for eggs, poultry and fresh fruits and vegetables, while farm values for oilseed products dropped substantially," the report said. But compared with last July, farmers got 1 per cent less as their share of the market basket.

Dad's sex life upset Lucinda?

DALLAS (AP) — A North Dallas man who says he was shot by his daughter glared at the girl Tuesday and told a court hearing here the teenager told him "Daddy, you're going to die and mother is going to die."

Lucinda Stout, 16, is accused of stabbing her mother to death with a butcher knife and shooting her father during a June 11 violent spree at the family's home. The hearing was called to determine whether she should be tried as an adult.

Harry Stout had not seen his daughter since the night he was shot.

However, defense attorney

William Alexander, Miss Stout's court-appointed guardian, accused Stout of slaying his wife and forcing his daughter to shoot him in self defense.

Stout, 38, denied the allegation. He said he had no reason to kill his 34-year-old wife Sharon after 20 years of marriage. He admitted to an extramarital relationship nine years ago but said it had not been a problem in recent years between him and his wife.

Dr. Saleem Ateek, staff psychologist at the Dallas County Juvenile Detention Home, said Miss Stout was filled with "turmoil" about her father's alleged extramarital affairs and her mother's "weak" acceptance of the treatment she received at home.

Drs. Ateek and James Grigson said Miss Stout is mentally competent and "very intelligent." Dr. Ateek testified that Miss Stout's relationship with her mother was better than that with her father.

Signal Mountain message

with Marj Carpenter

The Indian warrior had an extra duty. He had inherited that duty from his father before him.

His father spent long hours teaching him the details of signal fires.

He knew just where to look for dry leaves and green grass, dry wood and green wood for the fire from Signal Mountain. The Comanche warrior usually could find dry leaves quickly and dry and green wood were easy to come by, but you had to know just where to look to find the green grass in the long hot days of summer.

He also knew that different kinds of wood made different color smoke. His father and grandfather before him had taught him the differences in woods available in this area.

He was with the returning Comanche warriors and he knew that one of the tribe waited on Scenic Mountain scanning the horizon and waiting for the smoke signal.

The tribe was gathered on Scenic Mountain to be near the big spring or "the mighty water" as they called it on the plains.

He got up Signal Mountain and got the fire going. It was allowed to blaze but kept to a smoky haze.

Squatting over the smoldering and smoky fire, he covered the fire with his blanket and repeated with quick maneuvers of the blanket his message.

He sent out a succession of long columns, alternated with shorts ones.

The dry wood sent up a clear white smoke. He could maneuver the blanket to make round puffs or egg-shaped to emphasize his message.

When he piled on green fuel, he got a darker smoke with a different meaning.

His messages varied. Different smoke signals delivered such messages as "Fought a batt", "lost a great chief", "lost five warriors, seven horse", and more cheerful news such as "Have four prisoners, two scalps and 100 horses."

The messenger sitting on Scenic Mountain would race to the village and relate it to the official tribe messenger who would race through the village delivering the word.

Squaws would worry about which five warriors were dead until the warriors arrived on the horizon on the following day.

The squaw of the great chief began to mourn and was comforted by others who wondered if they would feel the same on the morrow.

The pace was hurried and all began to prepare for a feast of both celebration and mourning on the morrow.

Young girls were sent scattering to their tasks and children were set to watch the papposes.

Young lads stood and scanned the sky studying the last of the smoke signals and hurried away to try to snare young rabbits for the pot.

That was Big Spring. It was a selected area of the Comanches with ample water, and hills for protection and a signal mountain in the distance.

An ideal place to live. Times have changed but the mountains remain — out where I ride fence.

Women in this small town on the Australian island of Tasmania are angry because the only doctor refuses to prescribe birth control pills.

Dr. Desmond Bracken, a 64-year-old general practitioner, says he won't issue the prescriptions necessary to obtain the pill because he opposes mechanical and chemical methods of contraception.

"They cannot make me change my mind," said Bracken, who took over the medical practice in the mining town of 3,000 three weeks ago.

"A lot of us can go elsewhere, and will," said Joy Hiddestone, "but the nearest town is 25 miles away over a winding road."

The doctor told a protest meeting Monday he opposes the pill on religious grounds and because he believes it is unsafe.

"The women insist, whether I think so or not, that they have the right to tell me what to do," Bracken said later. "This is a dictatorial attitude."

The doctor, married 33 years, said he believes oral contraceptives cause fatal side effects, including cancer.

Swaps politics for peanuts

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President Carter's son Chip has switched from politics to peanuts.

Chip, 27, his wife, Caron, and their infant son, James Earl Carter IV, drove to Plains Tuesday after flying to Atlanta from Washington.

They are staying in the President's house and Chip was expected to report to work at the family's peanut warehouse today.

He recently resigned his part-time, $8,000-a-year job with the Democratic National Committee in Washington.

There has been some speculation that the warehouse will be sold, but family members won't say what part Chip will have in any change.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 26, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Avoid making drastic changes or doing dramatic things which are in your mind. Go along with other persons as well as you can, giving them the benefit of any doubts. Do whatever you have to do in proven ways.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be careful in dealing with friends today who are apt to be out of sorts as arguments could follow. Don't be forceful where some personal aim is concerned.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Taking no risks with your worldly status is wise. Do not jeopardize credit in any way. Be more diplomatic in business. Take time for some charitable work.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to make radical changes, but it is best not to do so. Your intuition is not accurate during day but rely on it implicitly by night.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be conventional in the handling of obligations. You get good ideas how to advance more quickly. Don't irk a loved one.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to cooperate with partners more and don't criticize and all works out better for all of you. Do whatever will stamp you as an excellent citizen.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be more efficient at your work and don't waste so much time talking to others. Discuss with co-workers how to speed up production.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Iron out some wrinkle from a project you are working on. You want to enjoy yourself at amusements, but wait for a better time. Have better rapport with loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Home affairs are difficult so get out into the business world and get much accomplished. Be careful not to start any arguments at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't criticize partners but encourage them instead and you can then make real progress. Handle problems early and then work on a hobby you like.

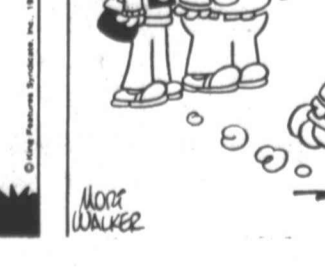

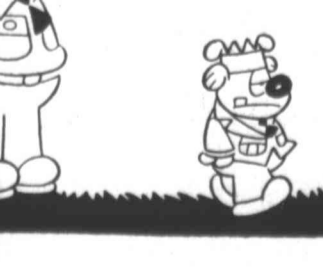

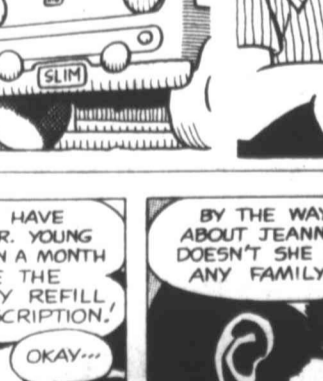

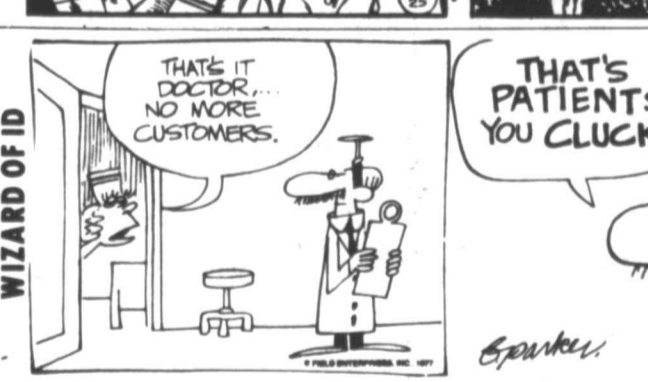

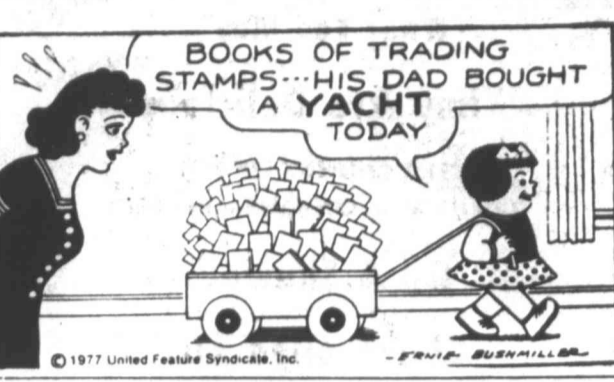

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show that you are sensible in the handling of money. Make new plans to advance. Improve budget, also. Watch reputation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you are discontented, don't show it to others. Be with good friends later and your outlook is better.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you feel imposed upon, do something about it and clear the air. Handle annoying tasks so they are behind you. Control temper at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be full of doubts and questions early in life and will need encouragement and good guidance. Then life can be successful and happy. There is much concern for fellow man. Education should be slanted along lines of public work, personnel work, humanitarianism, charities, etc. The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

WHARTON, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force veteran who was among 13 persons found in an unlicensed "rest home" in a rural area near here says the some five months he spent at the home were "living hell."

"The ones who were out of their heads were the lucky ones," said Larry Ukkestal, 31.

Speaking from his room at the Veterans Administration Hospital at nearby Houston Wednesday, told of filth, shortage of food, confinement and abuse at the hands of keepers while at the home which investigators claim was really a prison for mentally disabled persons.

Jack Kemp, an investigator, said the 13 patients were at the rural three bedroom home in the Spanish Camp community when investigators went there on a tip.

He said some of the patients were found locked in a garage without sanitary facilities. He said five men used a single gallon can for a toilet.

Elmer Arnold Tompkins, 34, of Van Nuys, Calif., was being held in the Wharton County jail on 12 counts of false imprisonment. Bond was set at $60,000.

Authorities sought Lillian Gobert, 35, also of Van Nuys, who is charged with seven counts of false imprisonment.

Kemp said the patients were held prisoner in the home while Mrs. Gobert administered their disability and pension checks.

"I know about those guys locked in the garage, too," said Ukkestal. "They never got to wash or shave. They all had bad head problems. It was pretty gross in there, the smell and filth and all."

"One day those guys started fussing and the man came in and made them start hitting each other. He made them stand up and slug it out. They were all crying and asking him to stop."

Ukkestal, an Air Force veteran released on partial disability, said the journey to Spanish Camp began last April at another rest home operated by a woman in Van Nuys.

"She came in one day and said she had to shut down quick," he said. "She gave some of us tranquilizers and packed eight of us in a camper. We went all night and day and the next night we got to Spanish Camp."

He said most of the veterans were 100 per cent disabled and received $700 monthly from the government.

"All the checks went to her and the man," he said. "We only got an allowance for tobacco."

He said it was good "if we got two meals a day."

Ukkestal said he was in the Van Nuys home because he suffers from a brain tumor that makes him physically uncoordinated but does not impair his thinking.

"Every time one of the guys said he wanted to leave the woman would say we didn't have a chance because the cops would just pick us up and bring us back," Ukkestal said. "Someone was always around to grab one of the guys if he wandered down the road so we believed her."

(AP WIREPHOTO) FIVE LIVED HERE — Wharton county investigators said five male residents were locked in this unventilated garage at home in Wharton, Tex. The five were among 13 mentally disturbed men and women who were kept at the home virtually without supervision. The patients were removed to state and VA hospitals. Two persons have been charged in the case.

City will help pay for wedding

HOUSTON (AP) — Nancy McCarty and Jim Leavelle plan to be married Oct. 1—and the City of Bellaire will spend $140.35 to help with the expenses.

City officials feel they owe them that for inconveniences they have caused.

How did public funds get involved in such a private affair?

It seems Nancy and Jim, both 19, had made plans to be married at the Rice Avenue Church of Christ in Bellaire.

But when the Houston suburban city needed a special election to fill council vacancies, Gov. Dolph Briscoe scheduled it for Oct. 1.

And Bellaire traditionally uses the Rice Avenue Church of Christ as a polling place. And just about the time the polls would be closing, Nancy would be due to start down the aisle.

So the city made a decision. Nancy and Jim will be married Oct. 1 in a different church—rented with City of Bellaire funds. The city also is paying for reprinting of the invitations.

Nancy and Jim could have forced the city to move the polling place, a change the Civil Rights Act says needs clearance by the Justice Department.

City Manager David Doty said getting clearance would have required 60-80 hours of work and an especially swift answer from the department.

"I cried on the parents' shoulder," he said. "They were very understanding."

Nancy said she would have been willing to change the wedding date but her parents and Jim's said no, that too many out of town guests were planning on Oct. 1.

Jim said he was disappointed the wedding had to be moved from his church and considered refusing.

"Then I thought how badly it would hurt Bellaire," he said. "I just wanted to get married."

Sewer woes in Coahoma

Coahoma Council members will discuss the sewer problem at the Mobil and Texaco Service stations at the regular meeting of the Coahoma City Council at 7:30 p.m. today.

Other items for discussion on the agenda will be the sub station proposed by the Texas Electric Service Company and county-wide tax reappraisal.

Also considered will be tires for the front end loader, and a new clutch for the big maintainer.

City personnel and the fire department will be discussed, and the council will also hear from William Hale, in reference to his water bill.
