

No wrongdoing, no coverup, Lance says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance, appealing to the American people to be "the jury in this proceeding," told the Senate today that while he may have made mistakes running his Georgia banks he engaged in no wrongdoing and no cover-up.

"I am secure and comfortable knowing that my conscience is clear and that the people's verdict will be a fair and just one," the burly director of President Carter's Office of Management and Budget told the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee.

Drawling slowly and solemnly, Lance told the two senior members of the committee to their faces they have been unfair in their public statements before this, his day in court. Speaking "more in sorrow than in anger," Lance told the senior Republican, Sen. Charles Percy, that his actions were "puzzling... regrettable."

Percy replied that he had questioned the dates on some of Lance's personal checks and whether they were timed to help him obtain a tax deduction.

"It was wrong for me to even raise the possibility," Percy conceded.

Then, one by one, the President's long-time personal friend replied to allegations made in past weeks that his personal and bank dealings, most of them before he joined the Carter government, were marked by irregularities and improprieties.

When he finished reading his 1 1/2-hour statement, he got a half minute of hearty applause from spectators in the hearing room.

Lance told the panel and a national television audience that his rights had "been treated in the most irresponsible and destructive manner" and allegations against him have been "erroneous... misrepresented... and exaggerated." Moreover, he said, "some are completely misunderstood because those making the charge do not have all the facts...."

"I did not ask for this fight, but now that I am in it, I am fighting not only for myself but also for our system,"

Lance declared. "I was a successful businessman in my home state, and I thought I had an important contribution to make by coming into government service."

The budget director has said again and again he will not quit. His demeanor and his words appeared to underscore that determination.

But even as he spoke, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill told reporters that because of Lance's financial problems "the image of the President is going down a little bit."

Seated at a long table covered with green felt and emblazoned with a nameplate — "Mr. Lance" — the budget director told the committee: "The rights that I thought I possessed have gone, one by one, down the drain...."

"Were my rights protected?" he asked. "We'll let the American people answer that."

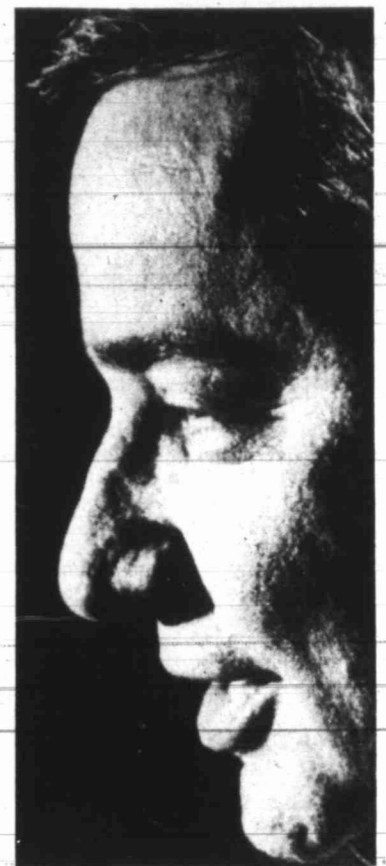

He declined to "contend that I made no mistakes" when he ran the Calhoun First National Bank of Calhoun, Ga., of which he was board chairman, and the National Bank of Georgia, in Atlanta, which he served as president.

"But to accept the assertion that I could not even manage a small country bank, one must ignore the objective facts," he told the committee, which recommended his confirmation as the nation's budgetmaker last January.

Lance told the panel he had answered questions from its members and from its staff fully and accurately in January and had withheld nothing.

In regard to personal loans he received from banks with which his own banks had special relationships, he said, "in no instance was there a finding that the terms of my loans were more favorable" because of the business ties.

Lance vigorously denied he had backdated any checks to allow him to take income tax deductions for 1976, a possibility suggested by Percy last Friday. Lance also made it clear that he did not take any improper deductions.

"I deeply regret that Sen. Percy saw fit to act in this regrettable manner in making a charge which has no merit whatsoever," Lance declared.

Won't touch $946,000 Midland rejects housing grant

DALLAS (AP) — Midland officials wouldn't touch the federal government's rental subsidy plan for a million dollars — not even a federal grant worth nearly $1 million.

But Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials in Dallas said Wednesday that they recommended denial of the grant because the West Texas city failed to comply with the rental subsidy specifications for the past two years.

The Midland City Council rejected the $946,000 grant 4-2 Tuesday night, saying they opposed the concept of the rent subsidy requirement and didn't want federal strings attached.

"The basic principle of rent subsidy by the government is wrong," Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. said. "The short term effect for those receiving it may appear to be good, but the long term effect on them, their neighbors and the community will be bad."

Leo Garrett of the HUD Community Development Program regional office in Dallas said the rental subsidy program is a legal requirement of the housing assistance program under which Midland had applied for the grant for the past three years.

The rent subsidy money also came from federal funds and all the city had to do was submit a plan along with the

Coliform level exceeded in water, safe now

Though Big Spring's water is now safe, the Texas Department of Health and Resources advised the city that the water "failed to meet the microbiological water standard" sometime in July, according to city officials.

According to Bill Brown, assistant city manager, 11 samples of local drinking water are analyzed for purity each week. In one of July's samples, the city water failed to meet the standards for coliform bacteria.

A coliform organism is an indicator of contamination and is not harmful in itself. The limit is one coliform per 100 ml as the average of all routine monthly samples collected.

As soon as the city was notified of the violation, further sampling revealed that the condition no longer existed.

"Please be assured that every effort will be made to prevent a recurrence of this condition and that your water supply is bacteriologically safe," said Mayor Wade Choate in a statement Tuesday.

request for the community development grant request, Garrett said.

The community development grant can be used for "almost anything the city wants to use it for" in low income areas, Garrett said. Dallas and Grand Prairie are using the rental subsidies program, he added.

Midland received $259,000 in 1975 and $576,000 in 1976.

"This year they had requested $946,000 and again they did not include the rental assistance program," Garrett said. "All they had to do was agree to furnish the rental assistance to low income people."

The first two years the grant was approved without the rental program "because the feeling in Washington was that many cities did not understand the program," Garrett noted.

He added that when Midland requested the grant without the rental assistance plan, regional officials in Dallas recommended to the federal government that it be denied.

The deadline for submission of the plan was Wednesday.

After the vote against the grant, Angelo said the city could take over all projects except housing rehabilitation. "It's just a question of when," he said.

But Dr. Viola Coleman, who had argued for grant, said of the decision. "I can't believe they were so insensitive to human needs."

Queen to be crowned at Diez y Seis dance

The Big Spring Mexican-American Service Council is sponsoring a dance and queen contest as a celebration of Diez y Seis Friday at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

The dance celebrates Mexican-American Independence day, particularly the courage of a small group of insurgents who, on Sept. 16, 1810, declared independence from Spain for the territory of New Spain, which included what is now Guatemala, Mexico, Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, and California.

The best known of the revolutionaries was Father Hidalgo, accompanied by men named Morelos, Allende, Aldama, and others.

The event, which begins at 7 p.m., will begin with an entrance dance with the flags of Mexico and the United States. That will be followed by La Marcha. Then, Mexican folk dances such as La Raspa, El Harave, and Las Chapanacas will be performed.

The dance itself will feature Sangre Latina to provide music.

But the highlight of the evening will come in the competition for "Reyna del Diez y Seis." Three women are contestants for the crown. Miss Anna Abelar, 18, is a student at Howard College and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Abelar. Miss Maria Luisa de los Reyes, 20, is an X-ray technician and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luis de los Reyes, Forsan. Miss Janie Rodriguez, 18, is a student at Howard College and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Rodriguez. The queen will be chosen by popular vote during the dance.

The proceeds from the dance will be used in various educational, cultural, and financial channels to help the needy in the chicano community. The dance will cost $3 per person and $5 per couple. Everyone is invited to attend.

TEA grants funds for welding program

Howard College has been notified by the Texas Education Agency that an industrial staff-up grant in the amount of $38,401.00 has been approved to train adults in industrial job skills.

This grant proposal was initiated by Dr. Bobby Wright, Dean of Occupational Education at Howard College, in an effort for Howard College to work with Lubbock Manufacturing Company in supplying their employee needs.

The first class for welders will begin on Monday, September 19, 1977.

Lubbock Manufacturing is expanding its facilities to Big Spring and began production this September. This new industry will require in excess of 100 welders. These, new welders will have to meet entry level skills with the ability to progress to a highly specialized welder that Lubbock Manufacturing requires.

Lubbock Manufacturing will provide the tools, equipment and training personnel for the training once the initial training process has been effected by Howard College.

Howard College will accomplish the initial training in nine consecutive classes of 120 hours of instruction in each class. (6 hours per day—5 days per week for 4 weeks equals 120 hours). The trainees will attend classes at Howard College for four hours daily for four weeks. Two hours training will be in the Lubbock Manufacturing plant under the instructor's supervision, and the trainee will work for an additional four hours following instruction. Lubbock Manufacturing will pay the trainee for the six total hours daily that the trainee is in the plant performing work and training.

The Texas Employment Commission will recruit with Lubbock Manufacturing in obtaining the personnel for the training program and employment with Lubbock Manufacturing.

Howard College and Lubbock Manufacturing will train nine classes of approximately 10 trainees per class to perform basic welding and progress to a very specialized welding to meet Lubbock Manufacturing needs.

The trainee is not obligated to continue work with Lubbock Manufacturing nor is Lubbock Manufacturing obligated to hire a trainee that does not accomplish the desired level of competencies. Only trainees 16 years of age or older who are not full-time public school students will be eligible for training.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Concrete seats?

Q. A lot of concrete is being poured in the spectators' area of the new Howard College Coliseum. Is that what the public is going to sit on, or is something more to be added? Seems to me concrete will get awfully hard for people who have to sit there two or three hours for a basketball game or a show.

A. You don't have to worry about becoming a dead-end because seats are to be placed on top of the concrete. The board has already made the selection. There will be two styles and those with arms are in a reserved section and a pullout section, but all seats are comfortable, according to a Herald staffer who sat on them the day they were selected.

Offbeat: Gay hookers unveiled

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Men may be in for a surprise if they pick up a prostitute on the streets of San Antonio.

Police say one of ever two hookers plying their trade in this South Texas convention city is a "drag queen" or a male homosexual dressed in women's clothing.

Capt. James Despres, head of the police vice squad, said of 100 prostitutes arrested in recent months under a stiff new prostitution law, about half have been males dressed as women.

The new state law allows a maximum fine of $1,000 and a jail sentence up to six months upon conviction for prostitution.

Despres noted that last week a man dressed in women's clothing was shot to death during a brawl in a local bar.

TV's best: Redd Foxx

Redd Foxx will headline his own musical variety show this fall featuring some of the biggest names in show biz. The show, called "Redd Foxx" premieres tonight at 9 o'clock on ABC.

Inside: Do you beat your wife?

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE Commission on the Status of Women has rejected a program to help battered wives, saying efforts to help women who are beaten by their husbands would constitute an "invasion of privacy." One Republican legislator interprets the action as an invitation for a man to beat his wife. See p. 5A.

MILLIONS of Pakistanis fast for an extra day as religious committees fail to sight the new moon ending the holy month of Ramadan. See p. 4B.

AT LEAST FOUR TEXAS universities unknowingly conducted research projects — some funded by covert CIA grants — aimed at helping the CIA find ways to control human behavior. See p. 6A.

The Fords are winding up a month vacation in Vail and returning to Palm Springs today.

Rudd surrenders again

CHICAGO (AP) — After seven years in hiding, former radical leader Mark Rudd surrendered for the second time in two days today to face criminal charges after ending seven years as a fugitive.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Rudd as he stepped from a plane at O'Hare International Airport. He was handcuffed and brought by car to the Criminal Courts Building.

Rudd faces charges of aggravated battery, mob action, resisting arrest and jumping bail, stemming from the 1969 "Days of Rage" street violence in Chicago.

There was no explanation why he was seized at the airport when his announced intention was to report voluntarily in court.

Wearing handcuffs and escorted by sheriff's police, Rudd was whisked past reporters in the Criminal Courts Building and made no comment.

Energy plan criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of southern and midwestern governors are criticizing President Carter's energy plan, now shorn of a proposal to reform the way utilities charge for electricity.

Oklahoma Gov. David Boren told the Senate Finance Committee that Carter's energy plan is a dead-end street because it focuses entirely on conservation and makes no provision for meeting long-term needs.

Boren said Carter's plan "provides for the most part only the rationing of a shortage, not for any long-range victory for the consumer through more adequate supplies."

He spoke on behalf of the southern and midwestern governors' conferences.

Carter wants to raise gasoline taxes to make the fuel more dear to consumers. The governors say profits, not taxes, should rise to give the industry an incentive to develop new supplies.

Meanwhile, the Senate Energy Committee Wednesday threw out most of Carter's plan to reform electricity pricing.

Only shreds of the President's utility plan survived. Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., the panel chairman, called the utility rate proposal an unwarranted intrusion into state regulation.

Death toll reaches 23

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The death toll in the Kansas City flash flood rose to 23 today while the damage estimate climbed to $50 million. Twenty-two bodies were found in Kansas City. The 23rd body was found in Leavenworth, Kan., about 35 miles to the northwest.

Retirees can earn more?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired people would be able to earn more money on the side without losing some of their Social Security money under legislation that has been approved by a House subcommittee. The House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security recommended raising the income limit by $1,500 Wednesday. The panel acted after hearing its chairman, Rep. James A. Burke, D-Miss., maintain that some elderly people now have to eat pot food.

Massive terrorists hunts

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government put 10,000 police and troops on full alert today to hunt for a new left-wing terrorist group that claimed responsibility for the worst rash of bomb explosions in Mexico in decades. Police said 23 blasts injured five persons and did an estimated $20 million worth of damage in Mexico City, Guadalajara and Oaxaca between midnight and 3 a.m. Wednesday. The police said 17 more homemade time bombs were found and disarmed.

Cargo plane crash kills 20 persons

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An Air Force plane slammed into a mountainside on a high security Army base, killing all 20 persons aboard when it exploded on impact a half mile from any bunker containing fissionable material, authorities said.

The four-engine plane crashed on Marzano Base, where nuclear weapons are stored, three minutes after its take off from Kirtland Air Force Base at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Kirtland base operations confirmed there were no survivors, said Walter Sprick of the Federal Aviation Administration. "One big fireball and that was it," a nearby resident said.

Air Force crews using flares and helicopter spotlights recovered at least 15 bodies in a pre-dawn search. Authorities said all those aboard were military personnel.

A spokesman at the plane's base said it was used frequently by high ranking military personnel and American and foreign dignitaries.

Former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is among those who have used the plane, the spokesman said.

The aircraft, which was scattered over 10 acres after impact, was used as a model for modifications to Air Force One, the president's plane.

An air traffic controller said he tried to warn the pilot the plane was in trouble.

Water Babies registration

The YMCA is now taking registration for their fall "Water Babies" swim class. This swim class is designed for youngsters ages six months to three years of age. A parent is required to accompany the child in the water at all times. The Water Babies class will begin Monday and continue through October 5, on Mondays and Wednesdays from 1:30 until 2:30 p.m.

Fees will be $10.00 for non-members and there will be no fee charged for children of YMCA family members. Enrollment will be limited, and early enrollment is encouraged.

For further information call your local YMCA at 267-8234 or come by the "Y" at 8th and Owens.

Time not ripe for AP Bureau in Peking

HONG KONG (AP) — Chinese officials told a visiting delegation from The Associated Press that the time is not ripe for an AP bureau to open in Peking, Keith Fuller, the president and general manager of the news cooperative, reported today.

Fuller said the Chinese did not specify whether the opening of China to U.S. news organizations would have to await the establishment of full diplomatic relations between Washington and Peking.

Fuller and 12 other executives and directors of the AP arrived in Hong Kong today after a 16-day tour of China. They visited Peking, Shanghai, Changsha, Kweilin, Canton and Inner Mongolia.

CARGO PLANE CRASHES — Twenty persons were killed when the C135 military cargo plane they were aboard, similar to the one shown here, crashed into a mountain Wednesday night just after takeoff from Kirtland Air Force Base, authorities said. There were no reports of survivors.

SS office hours changed

Don Minyard, manager of the Big Spring Social Security Office, has announced a change in public office hours. Beginning Monday the office will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., including the noon hour, Monday through Friday of each week.

Reason for this change is to allow office personnel an hour of uninterrupted time each morning to process benefit applications and related work.

There will be no changes in the regularly scheduled out-of-town social security trips.

Local trustees meet tonight

The Big Spring School District Board of Trustees will meet today over an agenda which includes possible action toward the hiring of a new superintendent.

A budget amendment on the agenda would permit the moving of Cedar Crest portable buildings to Marcy to handle attendance problems there.

A report from Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business, will discuss the closed school buildings.

Probationer prison bound

Guy Talamantez, 212 NE 10th, who had been on ten years of probation for assault with a deadly weapon, was sentenced to five years in the Texas Department of Correction Wednesday in 118th District Court.

Talamantez had his probation revoked on a recommendation from probation officer Guy Talbot for DWI offenses and failure to report to his probation officer.

He had been on ten years probation for the felony offense which occurred Jan. 12, 1975.

Police beat Three hurl rocks at local officer

Officer Gene Alexander met with trouble as he walked out of the Dixie Domino Parlor, Northwest Fourth and Lancaster, 5:15 p.m. Wednesday.

According to reports, as Alexander stepped out of the parlor he was met by three men who were apparently angry with the officer for a recent arrest in which he had been involved. Alexander told investigators that the men threw large rocks at him, hitting him twice in the hand, and tried to block his exit.

He informed them that he was a police officer, and then summoned help from the station. With the aid of Sgt. Jimmy Wallace and Officers Richard Johnson and Jerry Edwards, four suspects were arrested.

Three face charges of assault on a police officer, disorderly conduct and public intoxication. The fourth suspect faces only a charge of public intoxication.

Mrs. Fred Butler, 2500 Cindy, took an expensive coffee break Wednesday morning.

According to reports, Mrs. Butler walked out of her office in the Permian Building for 15 minutes to take a coffee break and left her purse behind. When she returned, someone had stolen her billfold from the purse.

The billfold contained $80 in cash, a number of credit cards and a driver's license. Including the value of the billfold itself, loss was estimated at $100.

Burglars hit the Queen Bee Lounge, 2711 Wasson, sometime around 3 a.m. Wednesday. Stolen were an ice chest, four cases of beer and a padlock. Loss was estimated at $37.35.

Thieves ripped off a four-piece set of pink lawn furniture also around 3 a.m. Wednesday. The wrought iron furniture was valued at $150.

Burglars attempted unsuccessfully to break into the home of Carl Duggan, 1212 Mulberry, sometime between 6 and 10:15 p.m. Wednesday. The intruders cut a bedroom screen and let the Duggan's dog loose, but were unable to gain entry to the home. Damage was estimated at $20.

Only two mishaps were reported Wednesday.

Vehicles driven by Arthur V. Hornell, Dallas, and Alex Garcia, 407 NW 9th, collided at Northwest Fifth and Lamesa, 4:44 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Andrew L. Anderson, Anyder, collided with a Southwestern Bell Telephone Company line on the 2600 block of South Gregg, 11:29 a.m.

Deaths

C.J. Staples

C.J. Staples, 75, died Monday in Tucson, Ariz. He had been a resident of Phoenix for many years.

He lived in Big Spring from 1935, to 1949, where he managed the Safeway store.

His wife, Walter, preceded him in death one year ago.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. John (Marleta) Wagner, Tucson, Ariz., and two grandchildren.

Mary Blevins

Mary Blevins, 74, Breckenridge, sister of G. Coldiron of Big Spring, died at 10:20 p.m., Tuesday in a Breckenridge Hospital following an extended illness.

Services will be at 3 p.m., today in Satterthill Chapel of Grace in Breckenridge. Burial will occur in Breckenridge Cemetery. By profession, she was a nurse.

OSHA move draws fire

LUBBOCK — An effort by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration to limit the amount of cotton dust in textile mills could lead to an increase in the price of cotton fabrics as much as 17.6 per cent, Robert E. Small, board chairman and first vice president of the American Textile Manufacturers Institute said here Wednesday.

Small addressed the annual meeting of the Food and Fiber National Institute of Achievement in the Memorial Civic Center.

"As proposed, this standard will cost the textile industry some $2.8 billion for compliance," Small told his listeners.

"What this means to you is that the industry will have to increase its prices by 17.6 per cent just to maintain its normal return on investment."

Small added that the "great tragedy" of the standard is that it is unnecessary because the industry is protecting employees against the hazard of respiratory problems with medical surveillance programs, work practice procedures and engineering and administrative controls.

Small said that less than one per cent of the more than 37,000 cotton textile workers tested by doctors have shown both objective and subjective symptoms of reactions to the dust.

Jaworski wants to eye fine print

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leon Jaworski and House ethics committee chairman John J. Flynn want to see the fine print before they consider South Korea's latest offer to help Jaworski question Tonggus Park.

Jaworski told reporters Wednesday he's still mulling Seoul's conditional proposal to aid attempts to get Park's testimony as part of the committee's investigation of alleged South Korean influence buying in Congress.

"I have no bags packed or anything," Jaworski said.

Flynn declined comment on what the committee might do "until we have a proposal before us."

Lamesa charged with killing wife

LAMESA — Raul Ramirez, 26, has been charged with the murder of his 32-year-old wife following a shooting just after midnight early Wednesday morning.

He is in the Dawson County jail in lieu of $50,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Richard Nelson.

Police learned of the shooting at 12:25 a.m. Wednesday when a nurse at Medical Arts Hospital called to report a gunshot victim had been brought to the hospital but was dead on arrival.

Three minutes later, a man walked into the police department to turn himself in for shooting his wife. He was taken into custody at the station.

Witnesses told officers that the couple had been having domestic trouble lately. They told police that around midnight, the murder victim and two friends, Virginia Cervantes and Charlie Lopez Jr. drove in front of the Ramirez home at 908 S. 6th and began honking the horn.

The wife then hurriedly changed seats with Mrs. Cervantes so her husband wouldn't know she had been driving the auto and had done the honking.

The witnesses told police that he came out of the house, walked to the car, reached through the window as if to hug his wife in the middle of the front seat and shot her in the chest.

The friends rushed to the hospital with the woman. Officers have taken possession of a .22 caliber pistol believed used in the shooting.

Services for Mrs. Ramirez will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in St. Margaret Mary's Catholic Church. Burial will be in the Lamesa Memorial Park.

Survivors include her husband, four daughters, Mary Stella Campos, Ann Dean Campos, Gloria Campos, Dora Briones; three sons: Gilbert Campos, John Briones, Jr. and Willie Briones, Jr.; her father Willie Hilburn of Greeley, Colo., her mother, Mrs. Estrella Uresti of Lamesa; a sister, Bertha Gonzales, and a brother, Rudy Hilburn of Greeley, Colo.

Energy Sterling County venture watched

A wildcat was slated in Sterling County and a Mitchell project was rescheduled as a wildcat. There were also confirmers in Glasscock, Martin and Mitchell County.

Resources Investment Corp., Midland will drill the No. 1-100 Reed, an 8,000-foot Cisco gas wildcat in Sterling County, 1 1/2 miles north and slightly east of upper Cisco gas production in the Crede, East upper Cisco gas and Wolfcamp oil field, one mile south and slightly east of a 7,160-foot failure and 13 miles northwest of Sterling City.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the west lines of 100-2-H&TC. East field, is at 7,300 feet.

The "failure, Shaheen & King Resources No. 1 Reed, was abandoned Nov. 11, 1963.

IN MITCHELL COUNTY, Sun Oil Co. has amended only to add wildcat at its No. 7 Frankkie Stubblefield, previously scheduled location south steped to 6,214-foot Strawn production in the Mitchell County portion of the Jameson, North (Strawn oil and gas) field and four miles south of Silver.

The project was drilling below 454 feet at the last report. West-Tex Drilling Co., Abilene, is the contractor. Location is 882 feet from the south and 2,011 feet from the east lines of 227-1A-H&TC. Contract depth is 6,450 feet.

IN GLASSCOCK COUNTY, Adobe Oil Co., Midland, will drill the No. 2-45 Ballinger as a one-mile northwest outpost to the opener and lone producer of the Deadwood (Fusselman oil) field, 9 1/2 miles north of Garden City.

Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of 45-33-28-T&P. Contract depth is 10,150 feet.

The discovery, Belco Petroleum Corp., Houston No. 1 Edwards was finished July 6 for 529.45 barrels of 44.8 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,139-1 through an 18-64 inch choke and perforations at 10,009-023 feet.

IN MARTIN COUNTY, the RK Petroleum Corp., Midland, will drill the No. 3-A Juliette Wolcott as a 1 1/2 mile south-southwest outpost in the four-well northwest extension area and 4 3/4 miles northwest of the original portion of the RK (Devonian oil) field, nine miles north of Tarzan.

Location is 660 feet from the south and east lines of 250-Hartley County School Land. Contract depth is 12,000 feet.

IN MITCHELL COUNTY, Sun Oil Co. will drill the No. 8 Central National Bank (A) as a 1,406-foot north and slightly west offset to R.L. runs Corp. No. 1 Banks "72" reopener and current lone producer in the F.P. Pennsylvania oil field of Coke County, eight miles south-southwest of Silver.

Location is 2,036.7 feet from the south and west lines of 72-2-H&TC (S.M. Conner or some maps) Abst. 1739.

The re-opener was finished Dec. 1, 1975 for 190 barrels of 39.6 gravity oil, no water, with gas-oil ratio of 2,187-1 through a gravity oil, no water, with gas-oil ratio of 2,187-1 through a 20-64 inch choke and perforations at 6,109-114 feet.

Local student scholarship semifinalist

Elizabeth Claire King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. King, 606 George, was named a National Merit Semi-Finalist at Big Spring High School.

Both of her parents are instructors at Howard College.

She was among approximately 15,000 who have been named semifinalists in the 23rd annual National Merit Scholarship Program. These academically talented students will have an opportunity to continue in the competition for about 3,900 merit scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1978.

Semifinalists are named from over 1 million students enrolled in 17,500 high schools who entered the 1976 Merit Program by taking the 1976 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Semifinalists are the highest-scoring students in each state; the number named in a state is proportional to that state's percentage of the nation's total graduating senior class. The semifinalists, most of whom will complete high school and enter college in 1978, represent the top 10 percent of the nation's most academically talented young people.

Breast cancer detection

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national breast cancer detection program should be continued, but its use of breast X rays should be restricted because of their potential for causing the disease in some women, a National Cancer Institute advisory group said today.

The report, presented today at a breast cancer screening meeting, said X-raying breasts, a process called mammography, effectively finds cancer that goes undetected by other methods.

But too much is unknown about the possibility of radiation causing cancer for mammography to be used routinely on all women, particularly those under age 50, the study said.

Attending the meeting at the National Institutes of Health is a group of scientists, physicians and laypersons who hope to develop a consensus on whether the detection program should be continued and what it should include.

The report reviewed data from the $54 million Breast Cancer Detection Demonstration Project, cosponsored by the National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society, in which up to 270,000 volunteer women aged 35 and older are being screened for five years.

The value of the project has been questioned not only because of mammography, but also because it is still unclear if early detection improves long-term survival, as many medical authorities believe.

Project officials say the program so far has uncovered more than 2,500 cancers, using various screening methods.

The advisory group, headed by Dr. Oliver H. Behars of the Mayo Clinic, last January began reviewing the project to see what has been learned and if it could be applied to future controlled studies to resolve unanswered questions about early detection.

The current program began in 1973 with 12 medical centers and later expanded to a total of 27. Each center project is to screen about 10,000 women a year for five years, using a variety of methods, including physical examinations and thermography.

The advisory group recommended dropping thermography as a routine procedure in the program because it missed many cancers detected by X rays. Thermography is a method of measuring heat variations in the breast in hopes of spotting cancer "hot spots."

At a briefing, Behars said thermography still has potential and should be kept as an option. But he said the method, which has no risks and is cheaper than X rays, isn't yet good enough to stand alone.

The report said routine yearly mammographies should be restricted to women aged 50 and over, who are at highest risk of the disease. Women age 40 to 49 should have X-ray exams only if they had previous breast cancer or close female relatives had the disease, an indication of hereditary risk factor.

The study group said women 35 to 39 years of age should be screened with mammography only if they previously had breast cancer. The current program guidelines also allow this group X-ray exams if close relatives, such as a mother or sister, had cancer.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Freshman Sen. Edward Zorinsky, saying too many people in Washington feel comfortable spending other people's money, is returning to the government $313,016 in unspent office funds.

"I feel like one drop in a bucket helps," said Zorinsky, a Nebraska Democrat, whose unused funds will revert to the treasury on Sept. 30, when the current fiscal year ends.

"Sometimes a bucket can get filled if enough drops fall into it," he said in a telephone interview today. Zorinsky, who has been in office only nine months of the fiscal year, said he would be returning more money to the treasury if he had been in the Senate for the entire fiscal year.

He said he simply didn't spend all of his appropriation for administrative aide salaries as well as money provided for such items as telephones, travel, stationery and other office expenses.

In addition, the senator is vowing to make his 19 staff workers earn the 7.5 per cent pay raise that will automatically be given to thousands of other federal employees in October.

Zorinsky, who serves on the Agriculture and Commerce Committee, also refused to use $139,278 authorized for hiring committee aides.

"The taxpayers can no longer afford to pay for all the services the federal government wants to provide for them," said Zorinsky, who winces at the thought of being dubbed a crusader.

Showers dampen Alpine vicinity

By the Associated Press

Thundershowers dampened portions of Southwest Texas early today to spoil an other beautiful clear, cool morning.

Rainfall in the Alpine vicinity was about .50 of an inch.

Elsewhere, skies were mostly clear and winds were light as a large high pressure area dominated the state's weather picture.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the low 50s in the Panhandle to the low 70s in the south.

Forecast for the week: Highs 60 to 70, lows 40 to 50. Partly cloudy with some showers.

Forecasts called for mostly fair skies in western and northern portions of the state and partly cloudy skies in southern and eastern portions of the state.

Afternoon highs were expected to reach the middle 80s to middle 90s except in the Big Bend country where highs were expected to reach the upper 90s.

WEST TEXAS — Mostly fair through Friday. Warmer, most sections today. High today mid 80s north, low 80s mountains to upper 90s Big Bend. Low tonight upper 60s, southeast High Friday upper 90s Big Bend.

EXTENDED FORECAST — WEST TEXAS — Mostly sunny and warm days, fair and mild nights Saturday through Monday. Highs 80s and 90s. Lows mostly in the 60s except 50s mountains.

WEATHER FORECAST MAP — Today's forecast predicts rain for the Ohio River Valley, just south of the Great Lakes and including Indiana, Illinois and Missouri. Weather elsewhere will remain moderate, according to the National Weather Service.

Alaska lands battle looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus is asking Congress to preserve more than 90 million acres of Alaska wilderness, a move expected to spark an environmental battle of epic proportions.

At issue is the future course of the nation's last frontier, thousands of square miles of wilderness lands whose development will be determined by Congress.

The battle pits preservationists against developers.

Andrus seeks to protect an area almost the size of California for national parks, wildlife refuges, wild and scenic rivers and national forests. Estimates of the amount of land Andrus will ask Congress to preserve range from 91.6 million acres to 92.8 million acres.

Environmentalists want even more land to be protected from development. In bills before Congress, they are asking that nearly 120 million acres be preserved.

Developers argue that the amount of land to be preserved is far too extensive and would block future development of oil and gas reserves, minerals and timber.

A walk along One Mile Lake

Some thoughts while walking along the edge of One Mile Lake:

The beauty of One Mile Lake, which is tremendous when viewed from atop Scenic Mountain, began to change as I parked my car along the Interstate 20 access road and began to walk along the lake bed.

The perspective, I thought as I walked along in the late summer heat, is quite different down on the lake itself.

Where the water has evaporated, the lake bed reveals its problem: salt and minerals.

The saline compounds form a white powdery crust upon the ground where the water has retreated.

IT'S A WALK of some distance from the IH 20 bridge to the place where the lake's water actually stood that Sunday afternoon. It gave me time to notice the low railroad track to the south and the salt cedars along the north bank.

The lake stretches to the edge of the developing City of Big Spring. The Ramada Inn, for example, overlooks the western part of One Mile Lake.

As I reach the water, I notice at once that it is quite stale. It is most uninviting to the swimmer or wader.

But on that afternoon, the water was literally alive with swarms of minnow-like fish. They were so numerous that they caused small ripples as they surfaced in schools.

It made me think that Howard County Entomologist James Lee was probably correct in his opinion that One Mile Lake is not a significant mosquito breeding area.

AND THERE were birds, lots of birds. They obviously survive very well on One Mile Lake, as they seem to do also on the several other salt lakes and creeks between Big Spring and Stanton.

I didn't see any birds that looked like they might be either rare or endangered, but then again, I probably wouldn't recognize a rare species without a zoosign to tip me.

At the edge of the lake, I suddenly had a desperate sinking feeling. In a second, I had sunk above my knees in the most awful black and smelly mud. I had to keep slopping along in that slimy stuff to keep from going in waist deep.

I retreated from the vicinity of the water only to find that the black mud would stay with me until I could get to a garden hose.

The lake bed is soft everywhere. A footprint fills quickly with salt water; the water table is that high.

And that, apparently, is the most serious problem with One Mile Lake.

The low valley portion in Big Spring (roughly along the railroad) is plagued by this high salt water table.

It causes infiltration problems on the city sewer lines and on the sewer treatment plant. It causes problems for some businesses in downtown Big Spring.

Whether draining One Mile Lake would help, I am not qualified to say, but the magnitude of the problem is visible there.

IT'S ALSO difficult for me to tell if One Mile Lake would contribute to potential flood problems. Of course, channeling moves the water faster and lessens the danger of flood, but there often are undesirable aspects to that too.

The lake has an esthetic value (provided one stays far enough away from it, preferably Scenic Mountain). It is an enclave of nature surrounded by the march of mankind.

Yet nature continues to dominate over the majority of West Texas, and man certainly must have his enclaves too.

The high salt water table is a serious problem for Big Spring. Flooding could also be.

So One Mile Lake will probably remain a complicated issue that is unlikely to be resolved to everyone's satisfaction.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Classic tradition

Around the rim

James Werrell

I am a medium-fan of baseball.

I would rather spend a day sipping margaritas beside a pool in Acapulco than watching a ballgame. But, nonetheless, I have spent some very enjoyable afternoons in the ballpark and in front of the TV, watching grown men put the big stick to the little white sphere.

As I have said, I'm a medium fan. I couldn't tell you Joe Pepitone's lifetime batting average, much less Tito Francona's.

BUT BASEBALL, FOR ME, is a game of classic tradition. It's "America's National Sport" and one that reeks of history, good spirits, prowess on the playing field, brotherhood among fans.

That is not to say that baseball is a dusty relic of a game whose real energy lies in moldy piles of baseball cards or the minds of senile men. It can still reach the epic stature of heroic struggle and triumph (as witness the '75 Reds-Red Sox World Series).

And that is why I'm a little upset with football. Every year it seems that football edges a little further into baseball's terrain as America's favorite obsession.

If one could really measure such things, it would probably be found that football already surpasses baseball in popularity. After all, it is faster, more violent, and in some ways more colorful.

Baseball is the game for hot, lazy summer days where the crowd sits in short-sleeved shirts, drinking lots of beer. Football reflects the harsh, cold edge of a winter day.

Football is more sophisticated, with strategies revolving around blood ends, scrape backers and slant tackles. Baseball's strategy still centers pretty much around the player who is going to "hit one for mom."

BUT STILL I'M UPSET. The gargantuan gridiron machine grinds ruthlessly on with its Cosells and over-coverage on the tube, and total media push to work football into the national psyche. I haven't even heard the first "football is just a slice of life" aphorism of the season yet, and already I'm sweating.

Pennant races are still close enough to be interesting in both leagues, but already the struggles on the diamond have been buried by the pigskin onslaught. Monday night football has replaced baseball on the TV, and the football season hasn't even started yet.

The worst ramifications of this could be that we "give away" our national pastime to the Japanese, and are left with nothing but a year-long football season here and there.

And if football becomes any more of a national obsession than it is now, you can find me dressed in my Reds' cap and a straightjacket humming "Take Me Out To The Ballgame."

King's career

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — America has produced few Don Quixotes more curious than the Rev. Clennon King, a gallant black knight, whose clanking crusades have led him into a host of misadventures.

His most celebrated sally was an attempt to join Jimmy Carter's segregated Baptist church in Plains, Ga. This turned out to be another tilt with the windmills. But King later pressed on to Hawaii for another joust with Carter's embattled former minister.

Next, the rambling reverend turned up in Washington where, for a moment of triumph, he attended Carter's new church. The last published account had him lecturing the assembled Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which the revered Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. led to glory. The two Reverend Kings, it should be added, were not related.

CLENNON KING's public capers have given him a cloudy image. He is looked upon by some as a rabble rouser, by others as a civil rights symbol. It might be useful, therefore, to clear away the mist.

It took us more than two weeks, scattering messages across the country, to reach King. The phone at his Divine Mission Church in Albany, Ga., has been disconnected. Messages sometimes can be relayed to him through his neighbors, usually children, who answer the pay phone at the service station next door. But such messages often bring no results because, one of his friends told us, King is dodging bill collectors.

Even this tenuous link with the world may soon disappear. Our associate Jim Grady finally got the exclusive reverend to answer the telephone at the Albany Journal, a weekly newspaper, which employs him as a part-time columnist and circulation assistant. King sadly informed us that his major concerns these days are financial; indeed, he said, his landlord had ordered his mission out of the building.

He assumes he will find the money to get by. He paid for his recent Hawaiian foray by writing checks on his "hopeful" account — an account he hopes people will put money in, because he has none to support it.

The bankrupt but undaunted knight comes from a prominent black Georgia family. He began offending his fellowmen as a young history teacher at Mississippi's all-black Alcorn College. He wrote a series of articles for a Mississippi newspaper offering a hazy brand of laissez-faire, vaguely segregationist attitudes toward America's racial problems. This infuriated Alcorn's black student body which brought enough pressure to get him fired.

Unrepentant, King took an even stronger stand in a series of articles for right-wing publications like the American Mercury. White racists ecstatically embraced this reasonable black man who preached a sophisticated form of segregation, suggested subtly that the integration movement was communist-tainted and charged that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People "Fights Freedom."

After leaving Alcorn, King decided to further his own education. Never one to take an easy road, he picked the segregated University of Mississippi.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Every business in your community will be visited soon by a representative of my office, and I would appreciate your help in informing these businessmen and women that our visits are of a friendly nature.

What we are doing is something that has never before been attempted by the State Comptroller's Office — to pay personal calls on every business in the state. It's going to be a big job, but one that will reap dividends for both the taxpayers and our office.

Our mission is to inform each taxpayer of what is expected of him under the law, to give him any assistance he may need and to answer all of his questions. The door-to-door canvassing program got under way September 1, and will involve all 40 of our field offices throughout the state.

By catching and taking care of any small problems on the spot — before they become big ones — we'll be doing the taxpayer a favor, as well as ourselves. The program will also give taxpayers the opportunity to get to know employees of my office with whom they will be dealing.

You will probably be getting some calls from businessmen and women in your community about the canvassing program. I hope that you will assure them — as we are attempting to do — that we are there for the sole purpose of assisting them in any way we can.

If you have any questions about the program, or know of any businessmen or women who do, give us a call on our toll-free Tax Information line, 1-800-252-5555.

Dear Editor:

It's wonderful the way your city is working together for a better Big Spring.

Sure is an improvement, since we were last in your Spring City. We are so anxious to see Potton

House, when it is open to the public.

After a wonderful lunch at the Western Sizzler, we visited your Doll Museum. I can't believe the Doll collection, I think I was most impressed with the English Personality collection, the beautiful Royal Robes were so realistic. I have never seen them anywhere before. As all the world loves a doll, it was a real pleasure.

We will be back.

Dear Editor:

Your article in the Sunday, September 11 edition of the Herald concerning the Equal Rights Amendment basically disgusted me.

I find the ignorance of people concerning the Amendment appalling. It seems that some women are afraid of responsibility and therefore wish to hold back those with careers and ambitions that differ from caring for the home and serving a husband. Ladies, the choice is still yours with the ERA if you wish to keep house with male dominance, but give a chance to those who value partnership in a marriage, and who must work to support a family. If a woman assumes responsibility in a position as a man she should not receive a lesser salary merely because "most men are the main providers." The point is that many women are in charge today in their family situations.

As far as the draft is concerned, how can it be fair for an 18-year-old boy to be drafted and sent to war while women are not required to fulfill any service at all?

People are all entitled to their own opinions, but I wish that those who oppose it for what appears to be selfish reasons would extend more thought and consideration to those who have to work.

Lies-- all lies

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — While the miseries "Behind Closed Doors" was very entertaining, I'm afraid it's going to give people a wrong impression of Washington. Since it was meant purely for entertainment, the producers took liberties with the way things work at the White House and in the rest of the town. This could damage the cause of clean honest government which the people in the country expect of Washington and fortunately get.

The idea of the film is as farfetched as anything ever seen on the TV screen. It is unthinkable that a President of the United States (in this case Jason Robards) would use his power and that of the CIA and the FBI as well as unsavory people in the White House to do harm to his political enemies. While this makes good theater, it obviously could never happen. If anyone suggested such a thing, the President would fire him immediately.

In "Behind Closed Doors," the characters, supposedly based on such real people as Bob Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, John Dean, John Mitchell, Howard Hunt and many others, were portrayed as schemers and sinister hatched men, ready to protect the President at any cost, even if it meant violating the law of the land.

THIS, OF COURSE, makes a good story, but it could never have happened. The men who have worked in the White House always came from the best families, were educated in the best schools and raised in the American tradition of fair play and patriotism. They never would have resorted to any illegal act to further the re-election of the President. It just wasn't in them, and even if a President had suggested it, which no President would, they would have immediately resigned rather than carry out his orders.

The television drama also gave another very unreal picture of Washington. It showed a businessman trying to buy an ambassadorship for his wife with a large political campaign contribution. Now this is where the writers have gone too far.

In the history of American diplomacy, no ambassadorship has ever been given in exchange for a political campaign contribution. If this were true, we would have ambassadors all over the world who didn't know what they were doing, and we would have some of the most unqualified people in the country reporting back to Washington on the affairs of state.

FOR THOSE of us who live in Washington, the most unfair incidents in "Behind Closed Doors" concerned the women of this town. The TV series showed them going to bed with men in power to whom they weren't married. The CIA director in the plot even left his wife for a widow, and a young college girl had an affair with a White House aide in hopes of getting a job.

The implication was that the morals in Washington are "loose," and that people go to bed with each other whether they're married to them or not. This is a terribly unfair picture to show because it gives the wrong impression of what Washington is all about. As long as I've lived here, I've never known sex to play any part in government.

Washington women think too much of their reputations to bed down with a man just because he is in power.

"LISTEN TO THIS ONE, MR. SMITH — IT'LL MAKE YOUR MOUTH WATER!"

Some women 'tough out' menstrual distress

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am married and have two children. My periods are regular and accompanied by the usual minor aches and pains. Every so often I have a lot of trouble. I become so crabby and irritable I can't even stand myself. I cannot handle the usual situations that arise in running the home and caring for my family. I can't think straight. These symptoms can start anywhere from three days to two weeks prior and usually clear up with the onset of my period. Your advice, please? — Mrs. D.P.

That's the classic picture of premenstrual tension. Don't think you're alone. Millions of women have this in varying degrees. Some are emotionally strong enough to "tough it out," as the saying goes. Don't feel ashamed if you are not.

It is not known precisely why this happens to some women and not to others. Current thought is that water retention occurring seven to ten days before menstruation plays a role. This can be controlled rather easily. Cut your salt intake materially for about a week before your period. If that doesn't help, your physician can prescribe a diuretic to help release water during this time. This usually helps significantly. A mild sedative might help during your bad week.

I would not like to see a parade to the medicine cabinet of women with mild and expected premenstrual symptoms. But in your case there seems no point in letting this physical problem upset your life and disturb family tranquility. Have a frank discussion of the matter with your own physician.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are there any exercises I can do with the neck and head to relieve muscle tension that causes headaches? I do not want to take muscle relaxers or other medication for this. Aspirin does not help much. When I have a hectic day at work I tend to get this tension. I would feel better if I could relieve it a bit by exercising. — T.B.

Rotating and flexing the head should relax the neck muscles. Try this after submerging yourself in a warm tub of water. Heat applied to the back of the neck with a hot water bottle should help also. Exercises should be the calisthenic type — stretching and the like.

If your job is sedentary, requiring long periods of sitting, be sure your chair is the proper height and gives support to your back. You can try a few simple exercises during the day. My booklet, "How to Tame Headaches," should give you other leads. For a copy, send a quarter and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Add this to your bedwetting "cures." I bought my youngster a shiny new flashlight to be used only for going to the bathroom at night. It worked like magic. — Mrs. H.D.

Good. Consider it added to my "collection." It's not always that simple, unfortunately. But often something like this is all that's needed where no actual physical problem is involved.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a mother of two young children who often put things in their mouths. I have always felt that mothers should know how to do a tracheotomy in case normal procedures do not work. Please explain the procedure and point out exactly where you would make the incision — Concerned Mother.

What would give me cause for concern is the thought of millions of mothers prepared, kitchen knife poised, to perform this delicate procedure. Even basic first-aid methods must be done with great care. So let's forget the kitchen surgery — unless you happen to be a surgeon.

Any first aid manual, which you can obtain from a Red Cross chapter, will outline proper methods for dislodging items from gullets in emergencies. The most popular method (the Heimlich technique) is performed with the victim standing or sitting. You put your arms (hands locked) around the victim from the rear. With the locked hands placed BELOW the rib cage (usually this is at belly button level) exert firm quick pressure inward. The resulting force of air upward will, in most cases, release the obstruction from the gullet.

It is wise, before trying this method, to ask the choking victim to indicate by a nod of the head or some other sign that he has swallowed something and is not suffering a heart attack or some other ailment.

The tracheotomy (opening the wind pipe) is a last-ditch effort when all else fails, but it requires professional skill.

Bed-wetting can be a frustrating problem but it can be controlled. To learn how, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Bed-Wetting: Ways to Stop It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: How do you really know you are saved in God's eyes? I have given my life to Christ as best I know how, but I wonder if I am really a Christian? — Mrs. M.G.

DEAR MRS. G.: I believe one of the oldest tricks of the devil is to make Christians doubt their salvation. When we doubt our salvation, we doubt God's Word, and when we doubt God's Word, we are powerless and ineffective tools for Christ.

A lot of people believe that they are saved only if they have some powerful emotion or overwhelming feeling. However, every Christian has times when feelings are not strong, no matter what our experiences may have been in the past. But it is not our feelings that save us — it is Christ. How can we know we are really saved? Because God's Word tells us, and God cannot lie. If you have put your personal faith and trust in Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior, the Bible says God has made you a member of His family. "God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in His Son. He that hath the Son hath life... These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life" (I John 5:11-13). As someone once said, "God said it — I believe it — that settles it!"

Remember that God loves you. And if you begin to doubt, remember the promises He has made to you and the way He loves you. Learn to thank Him for that love. When we know Christ, nothing "shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Romans 8:39).

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired people could earn up to $4,500 next year without losing Social Security benefits under a plan approved by a House subcommittee.

As part of the compromise, the subcommittee agreed that the whole subject would be considered again when the panel takes up long-range changes in Social Security, probably next year.

The subcommittee is now putting together legislation to keep the deficit-plagued Social Security system alive. All the votes it is now taking are subject to later change or reversal. Burke, the panel chairman, predicted the move "wouldn't get 50 votes against it" if it reaches the House floor.

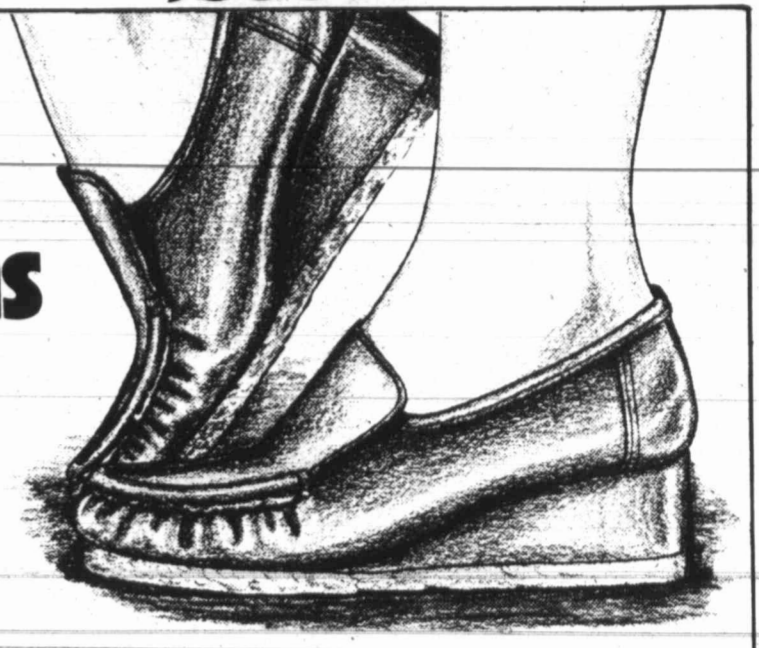

Partly offsetting the cost of raising the income tax, the subcommittee voted to remove from the law a quirk that allows a retired person to earn as much as he can in a month if he forfeits his benefits for that month.

The cost of raising the earnings limit was estimated at $2 billion in 1979, $2.4 billion in 1980 and $2.5 billion in 1981. The savings from eliminating the monthly option were calculated at $400 million a year.

The subcommittee's move, approved 9 to 3, was a compromise between proposals to abolish the limitation and others for a smaller or later increase. Republicans had suggested phasing out the limitation over three years.

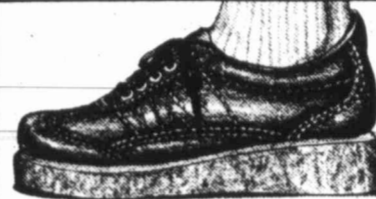

The subcommittee recommended adding some six million federal, state and local government employees to the system and voted to end the option state and local governments and nonprofit organizations have of withdrawing from Social Security.

Air Force at fault

Death of baby suit

MIAMI (AP) — Michelle Pope's baby died at delivery because a base hospital was on a three-day holiday and the limited staff failed to give her "proper care and treatment."

The Air Force admits it was at fault. It has offered $15,000 in restitution. But Mrs. Pope and her estranged husband, Army Sgt. James Pope, say it's not enough to make up for their mental suffering and the breakup of their marriage.

"I never saw my baby. I had to ask if it was a boy or a girl. I wanted her to have her name, not just be a dead baby," Mrs. Pope testified Wednesday.

A federal judge set a final hearing for Friday to decide the government's liability. It was not known how much the Papes are asking.

Testimony showed Jessica Marie was alive and well in her mother's womb when the time for delivery arrived and passed but that labor should have been induced.

But the Homestead Air Force Base hospital staff failed to give Mrs. Pope needed tests when she arrived because no doctors were on duty during the 1975 Veterans Day holiday. The night-duty nurses, the government added, were not certain of their ability to treat the woman.

The Air Force said fluid was drawn from the woman's abdominal wall in a "nonmedical" procedure usually done to test the condition of the baby or to help induce abortion.

"I knew what was going on, but I didn't want to know," Mrs. Pope testified Wednesday in a choked voice.

She said when the baby was delivered, the doctor would not speak to her or show her the baby.

"I looked over and the nurse was crying," Mrs. Pope recalled. "Then I knew."

She said her divorce one year later was caused by the mental anguish she and her husband suffered because of the baby's death.

'You can't legislate love'

Invitation for man to beat his wife?

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Feminists are seeking to dump a women's rights commission which has opposed abortion, the Equal Rights Amendment, and the "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" TV show while supporting the lady bug as the state insect.

The latest flap surrounding the New Hampshire Commission on the Status of Women occurred when the panel refused to act on a program to help women who have been beaten by their husbands.

Although there was no formal vote, the nine of the 10 commissioners said they were against the program. Commissioners at Monday's meeting said they saw it as an intrusion of government into the personal problems of New Hampshire citizens.

"You can't legislate love in the home. The government isn't designed to interfere here," said commissioner Simone Mason of Salem.

And commission member Gloria Belzil of Nashua simply said of the program's defeat, "Some women libbers irritate the hell out of their husbands."

Dorothy Craigie, commission chairman, said the panel has not dismissed the wife-beating problem but plans to "study the problem and come up with a recommendation."

The dissenting member of the commission, Frances Drown, said she would continue to pursue the program to help battered women at a special conference of women's groups set for next Wednesday.

The commission's record also includes support of prayer in the schools and opposition to the repeal of a law banning lesbian activities and to a federal family and child services program.

But the rejection of the battered wives plan outraged feminists groups and women legislators.

Republican Rep. Gale Morrison called on conservative Republican Gov. Meldrim Thomson, who appoints commission members, to remove those who voted against the program.

She said women legislators have banded together to try to abolish the commission because "we felt that the group did not represent any of the issues we stood for or were working for."

Republican Rep. Susan McLane, head of the House Ways and Means Committee, called the panel's rejection of the battered wives plan "worse than absurd... They practically said a man has the right to beat his wife."

$3.9 million VST on Mississippi snagged

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Coast Guard's new $3.9 million system to reduce collisions on the busy Mississippi River has been delayed one month for further study.

The Vessel Traffic Service (VTS) system, similar to one at the Houston-Galveston area, had been scheduled to start operations today, but opponents won political intervention.

The postponement was requested by Rep. David Treen, R-La., and Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., members of the House subcommittee on the Coast Guard and navigation.

Rear Adm. W.W. Barrow said the delay "will provide the Coast Guard and the Federal Communications Commission additional time in which to study possible communications problems foreseen by the towing industry."

Finding ways to control human behavior cost CIA

By the Associated Press
At least four Texas universities may have unknowingly helped the CIA find ways to control human behavior in the 1960's, say officials of the schools.

University of Texas Assistant Deputy Chancellor Robert Hardesty said Wednesday that the CIA informed school administrators it had given UT covert grants of $17,896 in 1961 and $16,644 in 1962 for behavioral research.

Texas Christian University Chancellor Dr. James Moudy, who said he recently viewed CIA files in Washington, announced later Wednesday that CIA funds were channeled surreptitiously through an intermediate party to support bioelectronics research at TCU around 1969.

Last month, the CIA notified the University of Houston that the school may have performed behavior control research for the CIA during the last decade. Dr. Phillip G. Hoffman, UH president, said the school destroys such records after five years. However, Hoffman said the CIA told him the research did not involve drugs or humans.

The Baylor College of Medicine in Houston revealed in 1975 that it had conducted two research projects funded by the CIA, one of which involved an assessment of how drugs affect persons taking polygraph tests.

A statement from UT said the CIA became interested in the development of a microscopic quartz "thermocoupler" capable of measuring heat changes in human cells.

The CIA was interested because of potential application "in connection with the problem of body antennas, personnel tagging, polygraphy and other areas," the statement said.

Dr. Moudy said the names were blocked out on the CIA's TCU file, but enough was left in print for him to determine the document was a survey of bioelectronics literature by the university's Institute of Behavioral Research with a total outside funding of approximately $10,000.

A TCU spokeswoman said the project originated in a proposal Dr. Saul Sells, who heads the institute and denies any prior knowledge of the CIA link, sent to the Human Ecology Fund of New York. She said that organization sent the funds to TCU's business office "in normal fashion."

The UT announcement said its CIA research was funded by an unnamed private medical foundation in Washington, D.C. "and no one at the University of Texas was ever aware of CIA involvement."

In Houston, Dr. Hoffman said the CIA told him the UH research was done in the early 1960s and involved funds totaling less than $50,000 over a five-year period.

"Funding was secured from what appeared to be legitimate funding sources as a result of the submission of research proposals through normal channels," said Hoffman. "The university had no knowledge that the funds came from the CIA."

Baylor spokesman Frank Weaver said the research project on polygraph tests involved consenting volunteers being given one of three substances, a stimulant, a sedative or a placebo, before taking the tests. The contract was originally awarded by the U.S. Air Force but was subsequently declared to be a CIA-supported contract, he said.

Weaver said there were no adverse drug effects on the volunteers.

The other project, he said, was openly funded by the CIA and involved an analysis of voice patterns as an indicator of emotions.

announcements followed recent news stories detailing CIA Director Stansfield Turner's accounts to congressional investigators that 44 colleges had been involved in research between 1953 and 1964 that dealt with ways to alter human behavior.

257 pounds of pot seized

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Federal Border Patrol officers discovered 257 pounds of marijuana Wednesday in a pick-up truck which they stopped to search for illegal aliens.

The three men in the truck were charged with possession of marijuana and intent to distribute. They were indicted by a grand jury later in the day and released on $2,500 bond each.

Federal authorities identified the men as Stephen C. Hopkins, 28, of Lewisville, Texas; Gary Lee Chambliss of Hoover, Ala.; and Terry R. Clements, 29, of West Brocton, Ala.

The marijuana was found in the rear of the truck, which was covered by a camper top. The officers said they became suspicious after noticing that all the window panels on the truck were covered.

Siamese twins born

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A rare set of conjoined twins, commonly known as Siamese twins, were born to a southwest Arkansas woman Wednesday.

The twins were taken to the Arkansas Children's Hospital at Little Rock where the children's condition was listed as guarded. The mother's name was withheld by the hospital.

Pediatric surgeon Dr. Steve Goldby said a decision has not been made regarding possible separation of the twins.

Goldby said that only about 120 cases of Siamese twins have been recorded in medical history and that only two to six instances of successful separation are known.

The mother gave birth to the twins by Caesarean section and is listed in good condition at a southwest Arkansas hospital.

'Love birds' will serve Midland-Odessa area

DALLAS (AP) — Southwest Airlines was born an unwanted child in a crowded industry, but the young upstart with the "love" motif finally has gained a place in the Texas skies.

Behind it now are court victories over bigger competitors and a solid position in the profit column. The Texas intrastate carrier was incorporated as Air Southwest Co. in 1967, but underwent a name change and a Supreme Court test spurred by interstate airlines before its first flights got off the ground in June 1971.

After heavy initial losses operating among Dallas, Houston and San Antonio airports, Southwest showed a net income in 1976 of $4.9 million.

Southwest didn't have to recruit a boss. M. Lamar Muse went after the job.

Muse, a non-pilot, took the reins as president in 1970 after stints with other airlines and as an independent financial consultant.

"This was something that was needed," Muse said. "I was sitting around doing nothing. Southwest a certificate with one employe and $145 in the bank."

The meld worked, and from an initial public offering at $11 per share, stock closed earlier this week at 22 3/4.

The airline inaugurates service today between Austin and Dallas, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Midland

Odessa and Lubbock. It also serves Harlingen in the Rio Grande Valley, San Antonio and Houston.

If Muse has his way, the airline's 737 fleet will add Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange and Amarillo to the list of Texas destinations.

A spinoff, Midway Airway, would like to fly among several out-of-state points beginning in 1980 from a Chicago base.

The Chicago operation would be contingent upon the Civil Aeronautics Board letting Midway Airway operate under a two-tier rate structure, avoiding what Muse calls the "market-stuffing fares" now a part of CAB approval.

That issue is at the heart of what Muse believes to be the secret to Southwest's success, and he thinks the CAB will knuckle under.

"The current climate is right," he said. "They'd be hard put to turn us down. They'd have to prove those routes are different from the ones we fly in Texas ... and they really aren't."

The commuter concept, combined with an ad campaign based on "love," — it flies out of Love Field in Dallas — and the two-tier rate structure has proved to be a winner in Texas.

Basically, the two-tier structure offers an executive fare during business hours and a lower fare during evenings and weekends. Depending on the number of legs involved in a given flight, those fares range from $15 to $60.

The commuter concept was bolstered by victories in hardfought battles to maintain service from close-in airports at Houston and Dallas as opposed to flying into and out of larger airports some distance from the business centers of both those cities.

As for love, it's everywhere.

Cocktails are "love potions," airplanes are "love birds," a cash register that dispenses a ticket in 10 seconds is a "love machine," and hostesses advise passengers to buckle up "because we love you."

The image conjures up pictures of leering, vested businessmen boozing it up and ogling the hostesses, with no women passengers in sight, and mention of that prompts Muse to tell you about his hobby.

"I always count people getting off our flights when I'm around," Muse said, "and sometimes I categorize them. Once I watched 36 people get off a Lubbock flight and only nine of them wore ties. And there were women on board, too."

He said Friday traffic includes many unescorted children, either dividing up time between divorced parents or off to see grandma in another city for a weekend baby-sitting fee of $15 one-way.

Originally, Muse said he spent two weeks in San Diego observing the operations of PSA, a California intrastate airline. "They weren't reluctant to help us at that time, because we were thinking about leasing three airplanes from them," he said. "When we decided not to lease them, we became persona non grata around there."

Asked his feelings about PSA now, Muse said, "I'd like to buy 'em and show 'em how to run an airline."

The feuds with Dallas-based Braniff International and Houston-based Texas International are nearly legendary. BI and TI (then Tran-Texas) fought against Southwest's original certificate from the Texas Aeronautics Commission and fought to have Southwest forced to operate from the outlying airports in Houston and Dallas. Southwest has been successful in all those fights.

Although Muse doesn't mind tweaking TI and BI, he defended Braniff's position in competition to fly to Europe from Dallas.

Latest reports seemed to favor Pan American in the race to Europe from Big D.

"It oughta be Braniff," Muse said. "But the CAB is not known for rational decisions."

Meanwhile, Southwest soars merrily along, with August 1977 showing record income.

Two passengers departing Dallas for San Antonio this week were Rick Rogers, 29, of Irving, and Wanda Pellusch, 52, of Laredo.

"The price and being able to leave from Love Field are the big factors for me," Rogers said. "I've been flying Southwest for three years now and have never had a bad experience with them. And my wife and children go with me a lot, too."

Mrs. Pellusch said she's had bad experiences with another airline and would fly Southwest, given a choice.

Massage Parlor Patron Not There for Backrub

DEAR ABBY: In reply to HURT WIFE, who asked, "What makes a happily married, religious man go to a place like a massage parlor?" you replied: "Curiosity. Lust. An itch for variety. The fear of missing something. Wanting to be 'one of the boys.' Being too chicken to refuse when one of his pals suggested it. Temporary insanity." Abby, did it ever occur to you that maybe he just wanted a massage!

ARTHUR

DEAR ARTHUR: It's possible. But if YOU had been writing this column for more than 20 years, I'll bet that's the LAST answer you'd have come up with.

DEAR ABBY: I may be old-fashioned, but I can't see teaching sixth and seventh graders sex in the schoolroom. They are a long way from needing that kind of information. Why rush them? If you start putting ideas about sex into their heads, first thing you know, they'll start experimenting.

No wonder we have so many unmarried mothers among teenagers. I read in your column that venereal disease is now an epidemic in this country. What can be done to stop all this sex education, Abby? CONCERNED IN ILLINOIS

DEAR CONCERNED: If there really WERE all the sex education you claim there is, we'd have LESS teenage pregnancy and V.D.—not more. No one has to put "ideas" about sex into the heads of children. It's there already. Sexual feelings and curiosity about sex are natural and normal in all children. And so is experimenting.

Ideally, parents should provide their children with a proper sex education, but surveys show that most of them do not, so some schools provide it. Unfortunately, the only states that have laws requiring sex education in the schools are Hawaii, Kentucky, Michigan, Maryland, Missouri and North Dakota. (Louisiana expressly forbids it.) The old saying, "What you don't know can't hurt you" is not true. On the contrary—it CAN hurt you. And it's hurting all of us.

DEAR ABBY: Why do people place so much importance on manners? From the time kids learn to walk and talk, adults hassle them about manners and being polite.

I don't see what good it does to stand up when an older person or a lady comes into the room. And there are dozens of other rules that come under the heading of "manners" that make no sense at all. Maybe you can explain it to me.

DON'T GET IT

DEAR DONT: To answer your question, no one said it better than the late and great Amy Vanderbilt:

"Good manners are the traffic rules for society in general. Without good manners, living would be chaotic, human beings unbearable to each other. Reduced to a phrase, good manners is consideration of other people in respect to their feelings, their safety, their privacy and their full social rights and privileges."

Worldwide organization studying diabetes

Worldwide organization studying diabetes

EDITOR'S NOTE — Diabetes knows no national boundaries, but a worldwide study about to reach fruition indicates that its frequency and its effects differ from country to country. The logical question the World Health Organization study hopes to answer is "why."

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Why is there a higher incidence of diabetes in East Pakistan?

Why are Japanese spared some tragic complications of the disease?

Pursuing answers to these questions, and raising others, is the aim of a worldwide study which culminates its first phase Oct. 1 with a meeting in Geneva.

The multi-national endeavor is coordinated by the World Health Organization of the United Nations. Scientists will gather to review the results of a three-year international study and plan further work on the disease which knows no national boundaries.

Dr. Kelly West, clinical professor of medicine at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center, is a member of the planning panel of the study and planning chairman of the International Diabetes Federation.

"It could be that the standard diet of diabetics is not well conceived," he says. "Carbohydrates may not be bad for diabetics. But the study suggests that certain old truths will hold up well. For instance, fat diabetics should reduce their calories."

Diabetes, characterized by insulin deficiency and excess sugar in the blood, affects 10 million Americans and causes 300,000 deaths in this country each year, according to the American Diabetes Association (ADA).

The only U.S. group in the study is Oklahoma Indians, selected because of their high incidence of diabetes and because tribal records are available.

The study is focusing on diabetics' susceptibility to blindness, heart attack and other coronary disorders, kidney failure and gangrene of the foot leading to amputation.

"We are finding that differences among societies are greater than had been thought," West says.

For instance, studies show that the incidence of diabetes among some American Indian tribes is 20 times greater than that of the population in East Pakistan.

One goal of the multinational effort is to resolve the old scientific argument of how much "genetic and environmental" influences lead to frequency of diabetes.

"If we could reduce amputations because of diabetes from 30,000 to 20,000 a year, that's 10,000 people who wouldn't have to have a leg cut off."

West says that international studies such as this usually are "bureaucratically cumbersome" and almost impossible to include both capitalistic and communist countries. But he says the WHO study is a "happy exception."

Among places where studies are underway are Havana, Moscow, Poland, East Berlin, New Delhi, London and Hong Kong.

West adds that he expects the study to be just a beginning, regardless of the results.

Committees appointed

The home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas was the setting for the Monday night meeting of the Potpourri Club.

New officers for the club are Mrs. Garrison Walker, president; Mrs. Wesley Deats, vice-president; Mrs. Joe Horton, secretary; and Mrs. Gerald Harris, treasurer.

Committees appointed are Mrs. Earl Lush and Mrs. J.W. Lipton, Telephone Committee; Mrs. Gerald Harris, Mrs. Dee Thomas and Mrs. John Coffey, Ways and Means Committee; Mrs. Claude Thomas, Welfare Committee; Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith, State Hospital Committee.

Yearbooks were distributed at the meeting and members took turns telling about their summer.

The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 10, at the Howard County Library. Mrs. John Deats will present the program.

Commander visits district meeting

Veterans of World War I Barracks No. 1474 and its Ladies' Auxiliary met for a regular business session at Kentwood Center Saturday.

Visitors were the District 19 Commander, Sid Lowery and his wife, who is president of Dist. 19. Aux.

Mrs. Naomi Lowery; vice president of Dist. 19, Mrs. Ona Tyner; the state publicly chairman, Mrs. Mary Forrest, all of Lubbock, and the past commander, Fritz Mogford, Colorado City.

During the ladies' business session, Mrs. Lowery spoke on one of the objectives of the district — that of continued membership of the wives, widows and daughters of the veterans. She also spoke on the forthcoming Dist. 19 Convention which will be held in Lubbock, Oct. 22.

Mrs. Mary Forrest urged members to attend the Veterans' National Convention to be held in Fort Worth Sept. 16-22.

Auxiliary president Mrs. Jennie Barber announced that a garage sale to benefit the Auxiliary will be held Sept. 17 at 606 W. 17th St.

A report was given that 85 patients were served cake and coffee at the Veterans Hospital Aug. 23 by Mrs. Mattie Wren and Mrs. Bernice Micallef.

The barracks commander introduced the speakers at the luncheon.

Mogford spoke on the needed support for Legislative Bill No. 55, which, if passed, will give WWI veterans and their dependents additional benefits.

Lowery also spoke on the pending legislation and urged members to write to their Congressmen in support of this bill.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 8 at Kentwood Center.

Decorations were in the bride's colors of ginger and off-white. Crystal and silver appointments were used and the centerpiece consisted of an arrangement of white and ginger spider mums and carnations.

Corsages were presented to Miss Wickline, Mrs. Dolores Wickline, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Jeff Tate-DeLeon, grandmother of the bride.

Hostesses of the shower were Mrs. Grover Wiley, Mrs. Robert Blessingame, Mrs. Jerry Conley, Mrs. Dan Lewis of Lubbock, Mrs. Wilbur Cunningham, Mrs. David Hodnett and Mrs. Carlos Humphrey.

Approximately 30 guests attended.

Child Study Club explores P.E.T.

By EILEEN MCGUIRE
To study the child, preschool and school ages, in its relationships to the parents, to other children, both male and female, and to study the child in its place in school and the community, and assist in establishing the child in the community whenever possible, is the goal of the Child Study Club which is celebrating its 40th anniversary this year.

Appropriate to its goal, the club's first meeting of the year, held Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Don Grantham, featured the Rev. Carroll Kohl, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church, who spoke on the subject of Parent Effectiveness Training, also known as P.E.T.

is relatively unknown in Big Spring, it is a worldwide concept of "no win, no lose" problem-solving for families. According to Kohl, "The generation gap occurs when the child becomes big enough so that he no longer has to do what the parents tell him."

"P.E.T. is a problem-solving method which overcomes the size factor." P.E.T. is a course designed to teach parents how to be more effective parents. The course was designed by Dr. Thomas Gordon, author of the book "P.E.T.", in 1962. It is taught throughout the United States and in several foreign countries, with the number of parents enrolled in these courses doubling each year.

Russians cook-up 'unbeetable' combinations

By the Associated Press
Russian cooks have a way of teaming beets with sour cream that's beguiling. The best known of these combinations is the cold soup called borsch that's become standard American fare.

Another popular combination is cold cooked beets (diced or julienne), sour cream and grated horseradish. It's a delicious go-along for roast beef or hamburgers.

water. However, the time will depend not only on their size, but on their maturity. Once cooked, the beet skins are easily slipped off.

FRESH BEET PUREE

7 medium beets with tap roots and 1-inch tops about 1½ lbs.
2 slices white bread
2 tbsps. butter
1-3rd c. minced green pepper
2 tbsps. minced onion
2 tbsps. lemon juice
½ c. commercially prepared sour cream
Salt and pepper to taste

Scrub the beets in cold water. In a large saucepot in several inches of boiling water, boil the beets, covered, until tender — about 40 minutes.

Meanwhile, cut the crusts from the bread, dice into ¼ to ½-inch squares. In an 8-inch skillet melt the butter; add the bread and brown slowly, stirring as necessary. Slip the skins from the beets; puree through a food mill — there should be about 2 cups.

In a medium saucepan, stirring often, heat the beets, green pepper, onion, lemon juice, sour cream and salt and pepper. Turn the beets into a serving dish. Top with the crotons. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

TWEEN 12 AND 20 Girl wants to rival Rapunzel's tresses

By ROBERT WALLACE, Ed.D.
Copley News Service

Dear Doctor:

I am a 14-year-old girl and I want to set a record by having the longest hair of any girl in school.

I'd like it to touch the floor but my mother said that hair will only grow so long and then stop. It doesn't sound right to me so she told me to ask you.

Barbara, Gastonia, N.C.
Dear Barbara: Mother is right. Your hair will only grow to a certain length.

Your hair grows about half an inch per month. After a three-year growing period, your hair goes into a resting stage for a few months, then falls out little by little to make room for the new hair.

Dear Doctor: I'm all shook up and need your advice.

I just started going with a guy from a nearby town but before I was seeing him, I was dating a guy from my home town.

I really like the guy from my town better but he doesn't want to go steady. He just wants to date me.

My question is this: Should I continue going steady with my new boyfriend or should I pray that the guy I really like will go steady with me?

M.U., Covington, Ohio

Dear M.U.: Why is it so important for you to go steady? If you like the boy from your town and he wants to date you, do it. Unload the guy from out of town.

Dear Doctor: I'm a 14-year-old girl and my problem is that I still suck my thumb. I don't seem to worry much, and I have a lot of friends, but I am a bit overweight.

My mother thinks I have stopped sucking my thumb a long time ago, so I'm afraid to tell her.

Could it be that I have a mental problem? Please help!

Confidential, Aledo, Ill.

Dear Confidential: No, you don't have a mental problem.

The need to suck is innate in humans. That is why so many people smoke cigarettes.

What you now have is a habit and it can be corrected, but it is going to be challenging. Only you will know how to stop it.

Questions may be sent to Dr. Robert Wallace, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

They can cook, too!

The 25 members which make up the Child Study Club are not only active members of the community, but wives and mothers as well. By pooling their talents and ideas, they've made their club a success. Now they pool their recipes, in order to give other homemakers some fresh ideas for the kitchen.

2 tsp. soda
2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. allspice
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. cloves
Cream sugar and oil together. Add eggs and pumpkin; mix well. Sift together dry ingredients. Add dry ingredients alternately with water. Pour into two well-greased and floured 9x5-inch pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours or until tests done. Let stand 10 minutes. Remove from pan to cool.

OKRA SALAD
By Mrs. Sandra Haneey
Fry okra and drain grease real well.
Add:
6 sweet pickles, chopped up
2 tomatoes, sliced
1 bunch of green onions
Toss okra and vegetables. Serve hot or cold.

DATE BARS
By Mrs. Bonnie Neal
½ c. shortening
½ c. brown sugar
1½ c. flour
1 tsp. soda

½ c. salt
1½ c. oats
Cream shortening and sugar. Add dry ingredients, mix until crumbly. Firmly pat ½ of mixture in greased pan (sheetcake pan).
Filling:
1 lb. box of dates
1 c. water
1 c. sugar
Cook ingredients together until creamy. Spread filling on mixture. Add remaining portion of mixture and bake at 350 degrees for approximately 30 minutes.

PARTY-CHEESE BALL
By Mrs. W.A. Riley
2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese
2 c. (8 oz.) grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 tsp. chopped tomato
1 tsp. chopped green pepper
1 tsp. finely chopped onion
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. garlic powder
Dash cayenne
Dash salt
Finely chopped pecans
Combine softened cream cheese and cheddar cheese, mixing well until blended. Add rest of ingredients and mix well. Chill. Shape into ball, roll in chopped pecans.
For variety you can roll this cheese ball in finely chopped parsley, dried beef, or chopped toasted almonds.

APPLE SOUR CREAM RING
By Gail Beringer
½ c. chopped walnuts
1 tsp. cinnamon
1½ c. sugar
1 medium cooking apple
½ c. butter or margarine
2 c. flour
1 8-oz. container sour cream
2 eggs
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. vanilla
2 hours before serving or day ahead:
In small bowl combine nuts, cinnamon and ½ cup sugar, set aside. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 9-inch tube pan.
In large bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat butter or margarine with 1 cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add flour and remaining ingredients and beat at low speed until blended, constantly scraping bowl.
Spread half of batter in pan. Sprinkle with ½ of nut mixture, and again with 1-3rd of nut mixture. Spread evenly remaining batter and sprinkle with remaining nut mixture.
Bake 65 to 70 minutes until cake pulls away from side of pan. Cool completely on wire rack.

STRAWBERRY CAKE
By Mrs. Londa Henry
1 box Duncan Hines

Strawberry Cake Mix
1 box (3 oz.) Strawberry Jello
4 eggs
1 envelope Dream Whip (unmixed)
¾ c. oil
Dissolve jello in one cup hot water. Mix with remaining ingredients. Bake at 325 degrees for 50 minutes in a tube pan.
Icing:
Beat about 10 minutes, the following:
½ pkg. partially frozen strawberries
1 egg white
½ c. sugar
This cake is best when kept in the refrigerator or freezer.

CREPES MARQUIS
By Carol Strong
3 eggs, beaten
2-3rd c. flour
½ tsp. salt
1 c. milk
2 bacon slices
½ c. chopped onion
1 c. boned chicken
1 c. chopped green pepper
1 2½-oz. jar mushrooms, drained
2 c. shredded sharp cheddar cheese
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
Combine eggs, flour, salt and milk. Beat until smooth. Let stand 30 minutes. For each crepe, pour ¼ c. batter into hot, lightly greased skillet. Cook on one side only. Heat oven to 350 degrees. Fry bacon until crisp, drain. Reserve 2 tbsps. bacon grease. Crumble bacon. Cook onion and green pepper in grease until tender. Add bacon, chicken, mushrooms and 1½ cup cheese. Mix lightly. Fill each crepe with about ¼ cup cheese mixture, roll. Place crepes in 11¼x17½ inch baking dish; top with tomato sauce. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Sprinkle with remaining cheese, continue baking until cheese melts.

THREE C BREAD
By Mrs. Jean Prudhomme
3 beaten eggs
½ c. cooking oil
½ c. milk
2½ c. flour
1 c. sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt
2 c. shredded carrot
1 and 1-3rd c. coconut
½ c. snipped maraschino cherries
½ c. raisins
½ c. chopped pecans
Combine beaten eggs, oil, milk. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda, cinnamon and salt. Add egg mixture, mix just until combined. Stir in carrot, coconut, cherries, raisins and pecans. Turn into four well-greased and floured 16 oz. fruit cans. Bake at 350 degrees 45 to 50 minutes. Remove from cans and cool thoroughly. Wrap and refrigerate overnight or until used.

Bacteria prevention
If you use a wooden board for cutting up poultry or meat, scrub it with soap and hot water after using it. This cleaning will keep harmful bacteria from spreading when you use the board to cut up other cooked foods.

Hill trampling in dust

Briscoe riding clean trail

By JIM DAVIS
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — If Gov. Dolph
Briscoe ever allowed himself
Ridin' fence to giggle, there would have to be a flood of tee-hees coming out of the Governor's Mansion these days.

While Briscoe rides the high and clean trail of the dignified incumbent, his biggest threat, Atty. Gen.
John Hill is forced to take another path. Hill is tramping along in the dust and trading verbal barbs with the state's controversial comptroller, Bob Bullock.

To each his own

with Marj Carpenter

A discussion came up in Stanton this week as to whether they should have PTA or not. Before I comment very much on the subject of Parent-Teacher Association, let me say that I have a lifetime membership in the organization.

But I still am not sure that they are always necessary.
It varies with the school system. I've seen PTAs accomplish some great things. And I've seen them be absolutely dull and unnecessary organizations.

For instance — both here and in Pecos, the PTAs raised most of the money for the air conditioners in the schools if there were air conditioners. In both cases, the school districts at that time were unable to pay for air conditioning.

Parents got high behind and held carnivals and events to raise money for the equipment. These were good projects. But I'm sure the parents underwent some funny experiences in the process.

I remember in Pecos, when my kids were small and I thought they needed air conditioning, we fried hamburgers at the fair each year to raise funds for the coolers.

I remember one particular year when it rained for three days until the entire parking area around the fairgrounds was a sea of mud. My friend,

Betty Dale and I were on the cleanup committee the very last day and got to carry the hotplate burners, the leftover hamburger meat, the buns, and all the rest to the car through the sea of mud.
I fell down once. She fell down once. One of the hot-plates fell in the mud once.

I was muttering, Betty said, "Marj, what are you saying?" I said, "Before I had children, I taught school in Odem and the teachers in the PTA had to fry hamburgers at the football games. The parents never showed up. I vowed if I ever became a parent, I would not join the thing. Please tell me what in the devil I'm doing this for?"

To which Betty snapped,
"For air conditioners. And at this point, I don't care if they all burn up."

I remember those little notes the kids brought home.
"Please help our room be one hundred per cent so we can win the banner." How sneaky can you get. But I've been on the other side. If I're going to have the thing, teachers have to go and parents should have to go too.

In Andrews, they thought they found a compromise. Of course, that school system had oil money and they had air conditioners. So they had what they called a lay advisory committee. I had never heard of one until I went there. Some interested parents were appointed from each school. Some teachers and some administrators were named.

They met four times a year and had committees to study needs of the school in between meetings. They would then report back to the school board with the needs.
And a lot of good was accomplished. That worked for that school system.

Something else might work for another system.
But I never will forget the first time
I heard of the lay advisory group. I moved to Andrews when my son was in the fourth grade. He took a lot of my telephone messages and did the best he could with them.

I'll admit I was puzzled when I found his note. "You are sposed to be at the hi school at 7 to go to a leg arisory meeting."

Well I went — and that's what it was — a "leg arisory" meeting. But it wasn't too bad a group. But then like I say, some Parent-Teacher organizations are real go-getters. And some places do all right with nothing at all.

Everybody has to work out their own methods — that really means I'm chicken and don't intend to get caught in that discussion — out where I'm ridin' fence.

Bullock assumed his obvious surrogate role in a meeting of the Texas Energy Advisory Committee last week. He came prepared to defend Briscoe and criticize Hill on energy matters.

Hill obviously hoped to show leadership by presenting a resolution on Texas' energy views. He got the resolution through but had to defend himself against Bullock in doing so.

Only Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's intervention kept the exchange from growing beyond a few preliminary darts.

Hill's campaign lieutenants know they have to keep their general from fighting with the other side's corporal. Obviously they need to work on their strategy.

***
The Texas State Board of Public Accountancy seldom draws crowds to its meetings, and you can bet its Sept. 16 session is no exception.

Not many Texans are likely to travel to Williamsburg, Va., to observe the nine-member board in action.

Pauline Thomas, board executive director, said the Virginia session was scheduled because the board members will be there for a national convention of state boards of accountancy.

The members' expenses will be paid by the state, she said, but not because of the board meeting. The state picks up the tab for attending the convention itself.

Merit Breakthrough Remains Unduplicated.

'Enriched Flavor' tobacco makes MERIT unique among low tar cigarettes.

Since the introduction of MERIT, a number of other low tar brands have come along. But MERIT remains unique — the only low tar cigarette with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

MERIT delivers what others can only promise: the flavor of higher tar cigarettes. The kind of flavor made possible by a breakthrough in tobacco technology.

Here's how it was done:

By cracking cigarette smoke down into separate elements, researchers were able to isolate certain flavor-rich ingredients that delivered taste way out of proportion to tar.

These flavor essentials were then packed into MERIT, giving it extraordinary flavor.

Taste tests against a number of higher tar cigarettes proved it.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested. Cigarettes with up to 60% more tar!

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

And you can taste it.

Steers must find Tiger-stopping formula

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers have a chance to make a little history Friday night in Memorial Stadium. If the Bovines can knock off the highly-touted running game the Snyder Tigers are bringing to town, then they can do something they haven't been able to do since 1963... finish the pre-season campaign undefeated.

Fourteen years ago, under the same coach, the Longhorns took an unblemished slate into district wars. That was the year they beat Snyder 23-6. That was the year they also finished with an 8-2 mark, the best the locals have posted in 23 years.

That was "then," and in a little over 24 hours, it will be "now" for the locals. "Now" rears its head above the northern horizon in the shape of three dozen Tigers with wings on their feet. "Now" is going to be tough.

The Snyder Tigers, who have an 8 o'clock meeting with the Steers tomorrow on Big Spring turf, are not visiting the city with an empty bag of tricks.

The Tigers return five starters this year, and every one of them is going to be a foot-long claw in the sides of the Bold Gold. Richard Willis (245-lb DT), Clay Peterson (160-lb RB), Scott Crenweige (215-lb RT), Hubert Thompson (180-lb DE) and Gary Hamilton (170-lb NG) are the nucleus with which Snyder will attempt to drop its nuclear bomb on the Bovines.

In addition to maximum running threat Clay Peterson, the Tigers will use aces such as an extremely big and strong defensive line, and "a whole lot of enthusiasm," according to SHS Head Coach Mike Jenkins, to show a winning hand.

The Steers may have a few aces in the hole, however, to neutralize the big boys from up the road. Senior fullback Robbie Wegner, in his 1977 running debut against Hobbs last week, compiled an impressive stat sheet, which included 91 yards rushing. What didn't show in the figures was the cannon-fire dives that Wegner used to intimidate the would-be tacklers.

The Steers, who slacked off a bit through the airways against the Eagles last time (thanks to the efficient running game), may have to send a few more of their messages topside against the Tigers. The Snyder defense is not the porous wall that Hobbs was.

Kenneth Coffey, Del Poss, Greg Moore and Wade Cobb will be the likely targets of quarterback Mike Abreo's aerial barrage. The success, or lack of same, of the Steer tank crew, will no doubt decide the intensity of that barrage.

The locals have spent considerable time on learning various defenses this week. Snyder found an old trick that almost beat a new dog in the tried and true Power I that they threw up against a startled Borger last week. The Steers will either see that offense or the equally effective Veeer.

Fierce battles in practices this past week have shown that the Steers haven't let up in mental preparation. After two losses to powerful teams, the Snyder Tigers couldn't be hungrier for a win. It's anyone's guess who'll be dinner.

Stanton faces Badgers

By TERRY NEILL
STANTON — Stanton's undefeated Buffalos will journey to McCamey this Friday night to test the improved Badgers in a non-district Class A clash. Kickoff time will be at 8 p.m.

Stanton stopped Wink last Friday night, 27-0, while McCamey came from behind to defeat Reagan County and even its season mark at 1-1. Stanton will carry an unblemished, 2-0, record into the Fracrus, following wins over Tahoka and Wink.

Coach David Thompson was pleased to get the win over Wink, but at the same time was a little disappointed that his team did not score more in the second half, when the Buffalos could only manage one touchdown. "We played well defensively in the second half, although Wink never gave up and kept coming at us. We should have scored more points though," Thompson commented.

Bob Jones, SHS fullback, was named outstanding offensive back by Thompson for his 103-yard rushing performance. Jones was also named winner in the Big Spring Herald's "Above the Call" award. The award is given each week to an outstanding griddier at five area schools. After the season concludes one final winner will be named for the season.

Danny Ireton was named outstanding offensive lineman by the SHS head mentor, and Craig Graves and Mitch Elmore, ends, were named outstanding defensive player for the Wink contest. Thompson said the players graded out higher in the films than their teammates.

"McCamey has a real good football team. They are physical and just try and wear you down. Their backs are not real fast but they are tough and they have an extremely good quarterback," Thompson stated. Bobby Acosta is the Badgers' man-under, and is a tough runner and talented passer. Thompson reports Bobby Valdez is another bright spot for the MHS squad at running back and flanker Raul Arana has good hands, scouting reports indicate.

Johnny 'Ham' is doubtful

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas running back Johnny "Ham" Jones is doubtful for Saturday's game against Virginia because of an ankle injury, says Longhorn Coach Fred Akers.

"We surely underestimated his ankle injury," Akers said Wednesday. "but he still couldn't run on it and he now appears doubtful for this week's game."

Split end Alfred Jackson, who sprained an ankle in last week's 44-0 win over Boston College, is expected to return to practice Thursday, trainers said.

will make the game and help us make it a sad occasion for them," Thompson concluded.

Ranger's Alexander worth it

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Doyle Alexander is making some $150,000 a year for the Texas Rangers and the sinkerball-pitching right hander was worth every nickel of it Wednesday night.

The only problem is that Alexander hasn't possessed his sinker ball all season, even though he's the winningest hurler on the Ranger staff at 15-10.

He muffled California on three hits and the Rangers nicked the Angels 2-1.

Landry names Poke captains

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry has named permanent captains for the season — a rare move for the longtime Dallas coach.

Quarterback Roger Staubach and wide receiver Drew Pearson were selected Wednesday to head the offense, while linebacker D.D. Lewis and defensive end Harvey Martin were picked for defense.

Tech's Thiel is returning

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech offensive tackle Kenny Thiel, out for about three weeks with an injured ankle, will return to action Saturday night against New Mexico, says Red Raider Coach Steve Sloan.

Thiel is a senior from New Deal and missed last week's opener with Baylor.

By the Associated Press

It is being proved again that hot-shot press clippings from a player's college days don't impress National Football League coaches.

Two former Heisman Trophy winning quarterbacks — Pat Sullivan and Steve Spurrier — have been dropped by NFL teams.

Running backs Sonny Collins of Kentucky, Kermit Johnson of UCLA and Mike Adame of Northwestern — former stars at major universities — were cut Wednesday, joining Jim Bertelsen of Texas in the ranks of the unemployed.

Wide receivers Randy Vataha and John Gilliam, defensive end Bob Lurtsema, defensive back Rolly Woolsey and fullback Mike Franckowski were given new NFL contracts after getting the axe.

Sullivan, waived Wednesday by San Francisco, spent four years with the Atlanta Falcons before playing out his option and joining the Washington Redskins. He was cut by the Chicago Bears before the 49ers gave him a tryout this year.

The 49ers also cut Johnson Wednesday, along with linebacker Rod Martin. They also placed linebacker Mike Baldassar and quarterback Steve DeBerg, acquired on waivers from the Dallas Cowboys, on the twoman taxi squad.

Adamie was released by the Chicago Bears to make room for Gilliam, who had a standout 10-year career with the Minnesota Vikings but was cut Wednesday by Atlanta, who signed him last year.

The Falcons cut five players, including Collins, running back Billy Pritchett and rookie receiver Shelton Diggs of Southern California.

Vataha was claimed on waivers by the Green Bay Packers from the New England Patriots, who cut him Tuesday. Vataha, who teamed for years with quarterback Jim Plunkett at Stanford and New England, replaces rookie offensive lineman Gerald Skinner of Arkansas on the Packers' active roster. Skinner was put on injured reserve.

Lurtsema, an 11-year veteran acquired by Seattle from Minnesota last year, was re-signed by the Seahawks Wednesday after being cut Tuesday.

Astro's still winning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie left-hander Bob Knepper of the San Francisco Giants is having his problems with Enos Cabell and Cesar Cedeno, but the rest of the Houston Astros haven't figured him out.

A single by Cabell and Cedeno's homer gave Houston a 2-0 victory over Knepper last Saturday at the Astrodome.

Wednesday night, Cabell belted three singles, and Cedeno added two more for the only five hits off Knepper, who blanked the remainder of the lineup for a 3-2 victory at Candlestick Park.

"He's a real good pitcher," said Cabell, who scored both Houston runs. "The big thing is he moves his fastball around real well."

"He's not untouchable," added Cedeno. "but he has good stuff and is really tough when he can get his breaking ball over."

Knepper, 9-8, entered the ninth with a three-hitter and a 3-1 lead. One-out singles by Cabell and Cedeno chased the youngster and Art Howe cracked a run-scoring single off Dave Heaverlo.

John Curtis came in for the final out and became the only San Francisco pitcher other than Gary Lavelle and Randy Moffitt to register a save this season.

The Giants' bullpen has surrendered but two earned runs on 24 hits in its last 30 innings over an eight-game span.

"The bullpen has been the least of my worries," said Giants' Manager Joe Altobelli, "but Knepper hasn't been too bad either. If he keeps it up he may be just what the doctor ordered as a left-handed starter."

Knepper fell behind 1-0 in the fourth, but Mike Sadek's run-scoring double produced a 1-1 tie off loser Joe Niecko, 12-6, in the fifth.

San Francisco won it with two runs in the sixth, Darrell Evans belting a triple between singles by Rob Andrews and Willie McCovey.

Freshman John Wade will replace Gaither and Mark Labhart, another freshman, will take over Wright's position, Dry said.

Frog Dry uses fish

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian Coach F.A. Dry will use two freshmen against Oregon on Saturday to fill holes left by the loss of two defensive starters.

Senior defensive end Jerry Gaither of Waxahachie, who set up TCU's first touchdown with a 31-yard interception return in last week's loss to Southern Methodist, could be out for the year with a pinched nerve in his shoulder, trainers said Wednesday.

Right cornerback Ricky Wright, a junior from Freeport, quit the squad Wednesday.

Freshman John Wade will replace Gaither and Mark Labhart, another freshman, will take over Wright's position, Dry said.

Raiders, Patriots, Bengals picked to finish in the AFC

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Raiders, as any schoolboy knows, are the class of the American Conference, right?

Wrong. Oh, any schoolboy in the Bay Area might say that. But there are a lot of youngsters in, say, greater metropolitan New England and regional Cincinnati and maybe a few other communities who will say... well, who'll say that if you limit your thinking to the National Football League's defending champions.

The Raiders are unquestionably the best of the West — San Diego will probably step in to replace Denver as the division's distant runner-up this season — but New England and Cincinnati have every right to demand equal billing. The Patriots, the only team to beat Oakland last year, appear poised to outrun Baltimore for the Eastern title this time. And the Bengals, nosed out by Pittsburgh in last year's scramble to the top of the Central Division, should outclaw the Steelers this time.

It's tough predicting division winners — but that's a breeze when compared to trying to figure which team will be the AFC entry in Super Bowl XII next Jan. 15 in New Orleans' Superdome.

The Raiders may be the reigning champions and they may look every bit as good as they did when they demolished Minnesota for the title. But as any Super Bowl champion (except perhaps for Green Bay, Miami and Pittsburgh) will say, winning the title is the easy part. Defending it is a different story.

Before the AFC lines up for the playoffs, here's how the final regular-season standings will look:

WEST DIVISION Oakland Raiders San Diego Chargers

Denver Broncos Kansas City Chiefs Seattle Seahawks

EAST DIVISION New England Patriots Baltimore Colts Miami Dolphins

Buffalo Bills New York Jets

CENTRAL DIVISION Cincinnati Bengals Pittsburgh Steelers Houston Oilers Cleveland Browns

biggest numbers of them all: Oakland 32, Minnesota 14.

With Stabler and Branch and Van Eeghen and Dave Casper and old reliable Fred Biletnikoff on offense, with terrors like Otis Strunk, George Atkinson, Ted Hendricks and others on defense, with Al Davis continuing to bring diverse (and sometimes outcast) talent together, and with John Madden masterminding it all into the most successful team of the last decade, there's no sign of relief in sight for the rest of the West.

career in Denver, will be whether erratic quarterback Craig Morton has what it takes to keep the Broncos moving. If he can (and with help from Haven Moses, Riley Odums and Otis Armstrong, he should), the Broncos again will be winners.

Kansas City still is rebuilding. So the Chiefs' big plus will be avoiding the cellar, thanks to the Seahawks' defense still is a light year or two away from respectability.

If anyone considered the Patriots as flukes last year, this one will convince them that youth shall be served. With exciting Steve Grogan at quarterback, running on his own as well as running an offense starring runners Saxe Cunningham, Don Calhoun and Andy Johnson, plus an occasional pass to Russ Francis, New England will continue to steamroller the opposition.

The same, of course, can be said of Baltimore, with quarterback Bert Jones, 1,200-yard rusher Lydell Mitchell and blazing receiver Roger Carr.

Raiders face Lobos

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech will meet the University of New Mexico in a non-conference game in Lubbock. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Texas Tech defeated the Baylor Bears last week 17-7 before more than 46,000 fans in Waco. New Mexico defeated the University of Hawaii 35-26 before 26,532 fans in Honolulu.

The Red Raiders are coached by Steve Sloan who is in his third year at the Texas Tech helm. Bill Mondt is in his fourth year at New Mexico. Sloan is a 1966 graduate of Alabama and Mondt is a 1969 graduate of Colorado.

Texas Tech leads 18-2-2 in a rivalry begun in 1931 in Lubbock with a 32-6 Red Raider win. Texas Tech edged the Lobos 20-16 last year in Albuquerque.

A crowd of more than 42,000 is expected for the game. New Mexico was 4-7 last year. Texas Tech was 10-2 (7-1 in SWC).

In his four years as a head coach, Steve Sloan has compiled an overall record of 29-16-1 (.630). He is 17-7-0 (.708) in three years at Texas Tech.

"We barely escaped across the New Mexico border with a 20-16 win over the Lobos last year. They really had us beat until we connected on a long touchdown pass in the fourth quarter," said Sloan. "The rivalry between Texas Tech and New Mexico is very intense and we're expecting a game similar to the games we've had the last two years."

Texas Tech's win over Baylor was the 300th football victory in the school's history. The Red Raiders have played 548 games and are now in their 53rd season. Overall, the Tech record is 300 wins, 221 losses and 27 ties.

Coach Steve Sloan described the game with Baylor as the Heat Bowl. "I was barely able to climb the stairs to get to the dressing room at halftime," Sloan said. "The only thing that kept me going was thinking how bad it would look if the head coach collapsed on the way to the locker room." The temperature on the field at kickoff was 112 degrees.

The Tech defense held Baylor to only 32 yards passing in the season opener, the lowest passing output by an opponent since the Raiders held Texas to 21 yards passing last season.

Sloan praised the running of fullback Jimmy Williams in the Baylor game. Williams rushed for 56 yards on six carries, including a 38-yard scamper. He also caught a touchdown pass. "Jimmy was hurt much of last season, but against Baylor he ran like he did two years ago as a sophomore," Sloan said.

New Mexico will arrive in Lubbock at 1:13 p.m. Friday on Continental Flight 241. The Lobos will conduct a short workout Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. in Jones Stadium. The team will return to Albuquerque immediately following the game. New Mexico Sports Information Director John Gonzales will arrive in Lubbock Thursday.

In their season-opening win over Hawaii, the Lobos rolled up more than 400 yards total offense. Quarterback Noel Mazzone led the New Mexico attack, throwing for one touchdown and running for two more.

Defensive back Alan Emerson will be out for several weeks with a knee injury. Several other Raiders are nursing assorted bumps and bruises.

STEER BAND BEAUTIES — Not only does Big Spring High School have an undefeated football team and the best band in West Texas, it also has the prettiest twirlers in the free world. Left to right, Shanna Garrison, Cindy Cowan and Anita Butler are caught in action during the halftime show at Hobbs last week.

Ali playing hide-n'-seek?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Ken Norton continues to wonder whether Muhammad Ali will ever fight him again. "I'll believe it only when I climb into the ring with him," said the No. 1 challenger from Los Angeles, who beat Ali once and then lost two disputed decisions to the current heavyweight boxing champion.

Norton, at 223 pounds, first has a date with Jimmy Young on Nov. 5, and the two tuned up with easy victories in nationally televised bouts at Caesars Palace here Wednesday night.

Norton says Ali wants to avoid him, but the heavyweight champion — who has a title fight on Sept. 29 against Earnie Shavers — has gone on record saying he would put his title at stake against the Norton-Young winner.

Young, a 213-pound Philadelphian, started slowly but picked up speed and boxed his way to a one-sided 10-round verdict over Jody Ballard, 205, of Houston.

Norton started even slower and got tagged a couple of times. But at the end of the fifth round he knocked out No. 10-ranked Lorenzo Zanon, an awkward 207-pounder from Milan, Italy. There were only two seconds left in the stanza when a left hook started Zanon on the way out, so the time goes as 3:08, eight seconds after the round's scheduled end.

Neither Young nor Norton said he was impressed by each other's showing, but each made a point of watching the other. "I hope Norton doesn't think he's going to do the same thing to me," said Young after watching the kayo on television. "He doesn't hit hard enough to hurt me," said Norton of Young. "He can't punch, but he does have speed."

Olesens fell in 1st round

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — Ginger Olesen and her son Danny, 16, formerly of Big Spring, were defeated in first-round play in the Equitable Family Tennis Challenge on September 8 at Forest Hills, where the U.S. Open was in progress. The Olesens lost to Jim Reiman and his daughter Cindy, 16, of Peoria, Illinois, by scores of 6-2, 6-2. The Reimans were then defeated in the quarterfinals.

The Olesens had won local and section events earlier enabling them to advance to the Forest Hills playoffs, where they were competing against 15 other sectional winners for the national title. The tournament began with 128 local events in 49 states, conducted in cooperation with the United States Tennis Association.

Hot Shotters vie Saturday

The Boys' Club of Big Spring will sponsor the Pepsi Cola-National Basketball Association Hotshot Contest. Any boy or girl age 9 through 18 may enter if they are not listed on any varsity team.

The six possible local winners will compete in an area playoff in San Antonio in October, and the National Championship Playoff will be in February during the NBA All-Star game.

Any youngster wishing to enter may call 263-1822 or come by the Boys' Club for an entry form. Local competition will begin Sat., Sept. 17 and continue every day through Sat., Sept. 24.

LANCE RALLY — Residents of Calhoun, Ga., hometown of Bert Lance, held a rally in support of the budget director Wednesday evening. Lance is to appear before the Senate committee investigating his financial affairs, in Washington today. The rally, in the words of one participant, was, "to let the people know that Lance is not a crook."

'Calhoun for Bert'

CALHOUN, Ga. (AP) — It was like an old-fashioned revival meeting as the hometown folks stomped their feet, prayed and cheered one of their own — Bert "Good Ole Georgia Boy" Lance.

About 1,500 people — more than one-fifth of Calhoun's population — turned out in a demonstration of support for the director of the federal Office of Management and Budget on the eve of his appearance before a Senate panel investigating his financial affairs.

The crowd gave a standing ovation as the high school band played "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "I Did It My Way."

They had placards saying "Calhoun for Bert" and "Bert's A Good Ole Georgia Boy." They used words like "love," "friendship," and "honesty" to describe Lance, who did not attend the rally.

"I'll tell you what kind of a guy he is," said Jack Purcell, who used to be the catcher on the softball team when Lance was pitcher.

"I called him up last year to come speak to the graduating class of the school where I was principal. And even though it rained and the loudspeakers didn't work, he came and he spoke. And when I sent him a check for speaking to the class, he sent the check back because he didn't do it for the money. That's the kind of guy Bert is."

A downpour drove the crowd from the high school football field across the street to a gymnasium, but it didn't dampen their spirits.

Lance's minister, the Rev. Emory Brackman, told of the "very generous" contributions of time and money that Lance and his wife, LaBelle, made to the First Methodist Church. He recalled that Lance received "the highest honor" a United Methodist can receive when he was elected to the church's General Conference.

Grandparent vs. grandchild Jobs battle boiling

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — We are now witnessing, or perhaps are involved in, the battle of the generations for jobs, the pitting of grandparent against grandchild in a fight to be an active member of the labor force.

For teen-agers — it is a matter of gaining a foothold in a labor market for which they have been poorly trained. For those 65 or over, the task is one of convincing employers that the skills they have are still of use.

And while some may wonder why there isn't room for both, the less theoretical among the populace are concerned that chaos might result if those on top don't make room for those coming in at the bottom.

Who should be served — youth or age? Or can both be served?

The immediate legislative consideration regarding youth is whether and by how much we should raise the minimum wage, now $2.30 an hour. The chances are high that it will go to $2.65 an hour this year, a figure that represents a compromise.

Organized labor wanted the figure higher, but business interests sought to have it remain the same or be lowered, especially for teen-agers. As it was, they said, it constituted an impediment to the employment of the unskilled.

A lower rate, said business interests, would encourage small business enterprises to employ youngsters at jobs involving minimal skills, and enable them to acquire training on which they could later capitalize.

Instead, it is argued, the jobless teen-ager makes his anger known through crime. Or, if all aggressiveness in him is defeated, through idleness and various forms of emotional disorders.

The elderly — the connotation misrepresents in that the expected life span of a 65-year-old male is 78.7 years, and a 65-year-old woman, 83.1 years — defend themselves with a disturbingly direct logic.

In a country that stresses individual liberties, they say, it seems more a convenience of the establishment than a rational act to declare everyone age 65 to be in need of retirement.

To argue that makes no more sense than to declare summer over because Labor Day has past. That assumption also is meant to serve the bureaucracy, which states that efficiency dictates that school begin then. It has little to do with the temperature.

Neither does age 65 have much to do with physical, mental or emotional condition. It has instead to do

Denton files for Congress

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Former State Rep. Lane Denton of Waco announced today as a Democratic candidate for the congressional seat being vacated by Bob Poage.

Denton, 36, is the first Democrat to announce for the 11th District.

He was elected to the Texas Legislature in 1970 and served six years.

Denton owns and operates a 100-acre farm and raises cattle near Waco.

Millions fast for extra day

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Millions of Pakistanis fasted an extra day today after religious committees throughout the country failed to sight the new moon to end the Moslem holy month of Ramadan.

Religious authorities postponed until Friday this Moslem country's most joyful holiday, celebrated like Christmas and New Years at once. This meant another day of shopping for food and sweets and for holiday gifts.

The postponement was a surprise to Pakistanis who had jammed buses, trucks, trains and wagons to reach family gatherings in time for Eid ul Fitr, the "festival of breaking the fast."

Nine religious leaders making up the Ruet-e-Hilal, or Central Committee for Sighting of the New Moon, met at sunset Wednesday atop Islamabad's main firehouse. The government meteorological director was present with charts of probability on sighting the Eid ul Fitr moon in various parts of the country.

Five special telephone hotlines linked the central committee to subcommittees gathered on rooftops in Karachi, Lahore and other major cities. They were hooked up to district committees.

Sunset was followed by evening prayers, then a flurry of telephone checking, inquiries from people who had learned the hotline numbers, and a reported moon sighting at Peshawar, a city known for eagerness to end the fast but, according to the charts, also for zero probability of a new moon.

The central committee decided there had been no authenticated moon sighting. Chairman Maulana Arifullah Qadri announced on radio and television that Ramadan, the Moslem month of daytime fasting, would have 30 days instead of 29 this Islamic year of 1397, and Eid day, beginning the month of Shawal, would fall Friday instead of today.

Officials said Pakistan's moon-watch committees make up the most systematic system used by any Moslem country for fixing the lunar calendar months. The panels were formed several years ago after disputes over sighting of the new moon resulted in feasting in one part of the country while fasting continued in another.

The religious committees planned no official moon-viewing today. By the 30th night of a lunar month, it was explained, the sun and moon are farther apart in the sky and there is no difficulty in finding the moon.

Ex-police chief sued for $1.5 million

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Castroville police chief Frank Hayes, who admitted shooting a Mexican-American construction worker to death two years ago, has been named in a $1.5 million civil rights suit filed here by the victim's family.

Richard Morales' mother, father and widow filed the suit in federal court here Wednesday against Hayes, the city of Castroville and Medina County.

Hayes was convicted of aggravated assault in July 1975 by a state district court in connection with Morales' slaying. He was sentenced to 2 to 10 years in prison.

During testimony at that trial, he admitted killing Morales after arresting him on two misdemeanor theft warrants.

Hayes is scheduled to go on trial in Waco Sept. 26 on federal criminal civil rights charges.

Farm Ragland may land FmHA position

WASHINGTON (AP) — A black state housing official from Virginia may be named state director of the federal government's Farmers Home Administration.

Officials of FmHA, an agency of the Agriculture Department, confirmed Wednesday that Edward A. Ragland, the state's executive director of housing, is being considered for the federal job.

If he is appointed, Ragland will be the second black to head state operations of FmHA, the department's biggest rural development agency. Lowell A. Pannell, San Jose, Calif., was named Sept. 9 to head state FmHA operations in California, Hawaii and Pacific island trust territories.

Ragland, 60, resides in Milford, Va., and is a career employe of the state. He taught vocational agriculture before going to work for the state and is a graduate of Virginia State College in Petersburg.

Officials say Ragland is being considered as part of a move to include more blacks, Hispanics and women in supervisory jobs in the agency.

The FmHA operates various loan and grant programs intended to help low-income farmers and other rural residents get better housing, expand agricultural production, improve community water and sewer services and develop small-town businesses and industries.

Congress this summer approved a 1977-78 budget for FmHA of more than $8.5 billion, up from about $6.6 billion for the current fiscal year. Most of the money, however, involves loans that are insured or guaranteed by the agency and originates from private lenders, not Treasury Department funds.

Women are being considered as candidates for FmHA state director jobs in a number of states, including Alabama, New York and Pennsylvania, according to agency officials.

At least two women, one of them black, also have moved into senior jobs with FmHA's headquarters here.

Betty V. Walker, who is black, was appointed last month to be executive assistant to FmHA administrator Gordon Cavanaugh. Holder of a doctor of law degree from Harvard University, she previously was an attorney in Washington for the Southern Railway System.

Sara J. Yager, a legislative aide to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland for six years when he was a Minnesota congressman, has been named an assistant to Cavanaugh for congressional affairs. She also was an aide to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, a fellow Minnesotan, in 1963-66, including the years when he was vice president, a spokesman said.

Great Plains wheat improves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The quality of hard red winter wheat grown in a vast expanse of the Great Plains has improved significantly with this year's harvest, says Michael L. Hall, president of Great Plains Wheat Inc.

Hall said the protein content of this year's crop, an important measure of quality, is "remarkably higher" than in the past. More than 63 per cent of the grain tested 12 per cent protein or higher, meaning that many farmers will get premium prices for their wheat.

Figures on hard red winter wheat — which includes production in Kansas and neighboring states — show that the 1977 protein content average about 1 per cent more than the 1976 harvest, Hall said in a statement issued by the Great Plains office here.

Consequently, Hall said, foreign buyers can order wheat "confident that it will be of a high standard and quality" for making bread.

Appreciation day planning

STANTON — The Mustangs Soil and Water Conservation District and the Texas Extension Service are assisting officials of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce in planning Agriculture Appreciation day in Stanton.

A farm tour, luncheon and style show will be held with Reagan V. Brown, Texas commissioner of Agriculture to speak at a luncheon at the community center at noon. A style show, featuring all cotton fashions, will precede the meal.

At 10 a.m., chamber officials will host the annual farm tour beginning from the First National Bank. Mike Black is director of the events.

Cotton week in Lamesa

LAMESA — The Lamesa Cotton Growers will meet at 2 p.m. Monday as part of cotton week in Lamesa.

Jerry Harris, president, will preside and call for a report on Cotton, Inc. from Donnell Echols. Donald Johnson will give the Plains Cotton Growers report.

Tony Price, executive vice president of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association will speak on "Cotton Gins in Trouble."

Door prizes will be given at three times during the meeting. Paul Dixon, district supervisor for the Agriculture Marketing Service will be given by Paul Dixon and Don Lewellen. Ed Breihan, vice president of the National Cotton Council will speak on "Why Cheap Cottons?" Others present will be Bob Bickley, manager of West Texas Oil Mill and Allen Herzer, manager of Lamesa Cotton Oil Mill.

Earl Sears, administrative vice president of the National Cotton Council will give the final report.

Plan for better jobs, income

EDITORS' NOTE:
President Carter's proposed welfare reform program features a mandatory work requirement for "employable" recipients. Here, in the second of a three part series, is a look at the newest, and probably the most troublesome element in the Carter plan.

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
AP Urban Affairs Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — Out here, in a day-care center 2,700 miles from the White House, welfare expert Willie Williams sees a wild card in President Carter's complicated welfare package.

A seven-year welfare veteran who took a job as a day-care counselor and worked her way off the dole, Mrs. Williams says, "The jobs program will be a big help. But the pay is so low, people will need welfare anyways. So what's the point?"

The point, say Carter aides, is to hold down costs and to provide an incentive for public workers to seek jobs elsewhere. In hearings that are scheduled to begin this month, administration officials will try to convince Congress that this jobs approach will work.

Subpoverty wages are just one of the problems that make the jobs plan the most troublesome element of Carter's package of expanded welfare coverage, tax refunds and work.

Carter wants to move poor people out of the welfare system and into private jobs, but his program offers almost nothing to aid the transition. And in many areas, the private jobs just don't exist.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall says this is the most serious weakness of the jobs plan.

A huge welfare work force could hold down salaries for regular public employees doing similar work at higher wages. For this reason labor unions vigorously oppose minimum-wage welfare jobs.

There is a serious danger that some government officials will replace regular employees, paid from local tax receipts, with "bargain basement" public service workers paid from the welfare fund. The process, Marshall's No. 2 worry, is called "substitution."

San Francisco manpower boss Eunice Elton says: "If welfare workers are of any use at all, there will be a tendency to rely on them."

As Mrs. Williams points out, the minimum wage won't allow the welfare work force to escape poverty without also drawing cash welfare benefits — especially in expensive cost-of-living areas like New York or California. Dependency on welfare will continue.

Typically, a mother or father heading a family of four would receive benefits of $1,444 to supplement the minimum wage of $5.52. These are the key problem areas that surfaced in discussions with public officials, manpower experts, union leaders and welfare recipients from Seattle to Baltimore, San Francisco to New York.

Carter's "program for Better Jobs and Income" would put 2½-million poor people to work in 1.4-million public service jobs, either full or part time. Federal welfare money would pay the salaries.

But the political opposition and built-in pitfalls threaten chances for success as the program begins its journey through Congress.

In an interview, Secretary Marshall acknowledged the problems and said administration leaders already are working to correct them.

The work requirement would force "employable" recipients to accept a job if one is available.

But where other mandatory-work plans failed, Carter's could succeed because he offers more than ultimatums — he also offers jobs. And there is a wage incentive for people to keep them.

Says George Washington University manpower expert Sar Levitan: "You can't create jobs without spending money. You can't do it without dollar signs and zeroes."

Carter's plan has plenty of those: 8,800,000,000 dollars ($8.8 billion) earmarked to pay for the public service jobs.

The number of current public service jobs would be doubled at only a 49 percent increase in cost because the current program for 725,000 jobs pays prevailing wages, usually much higher than the minimum.

Carter's plan would require an estimated seven million people who are eligible for welfare to work. Some will find low-paying, nongovernment jobs and will receive income aid from the government. But the economy doesn't absorb everyone who wants to work, and the public service jobs are planned to take up the slack.

Work requirements are attractive to many taxpayers who support the costly welfare system, but experts agree that jobs — not required participation — are what's needed to make the work plan succeed.

Study after study indicates that poor Americans want to work as much as the rest of us. Most recently the 10-year University of Michigan survey — "5,000 American Families: A Study in Economic Progress" — said poor Americans usually take work whenever they can find it.

It is hoped that the welfare work force will use public service jobs as a stepping stone to private employment. Public jobs lapse after 12 months and jobholders go on reduced welfare benefits for eight weeks in which they are supposed to seek a regular job.

If they come up empty, they are again eligible for a public service job. If one isn't available there is a safety net, a guaranteed income of $4,200 for a family of four.

"The safety net is critical here," says Arnold Packer, an assistant secretary of labor. The income net is especially important in areas of high unemployment where private jobs just don't exist.

Some poor people — "We don't know how many, exactly," says Marshall — will get help from state or local manpower officials in finding private employment.

Public service workers would be required to accept any private sector job that is offered, but the only dollar-and-cents incentive to find

AFA meeting in Midland

The Air Force Association, which had been active in Big Spring, working with Webb AFB personnel, is now broadening out to a Permian Basin Air Force Association. The group will make application to change its name and the area of its activities.

The present association met at the former Webb Officers Club the past weekend to make plans for the future. The group will still meet quarterly with two of the meetings to be held each year in Big Spring. One will be held in Midland and one in Odessa each year.

Gen. (Ret.) Edwin White of Midland is currently president of the organization and the next meeting will be in late November at the Midland Country Club and will be a dinner meeting. The date will be announced.

The other officers of the organization are all from Big Spring and include Dr. John Key, operational vice president; Dr. Clarence Peters, manpower vice president; Mel Prather, secretary — and Jack Alexander, treasurer. Col. (Ret.) Ralph Brooks is the immediate past president.

private employment is a tax refund of $54 a month. Even Labor Department experts say that might not have much impact.

Carter did not propose tax credits for companies that hire welfare workers. A credit now exists under the Work Incentive Program and Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long probably will want to retain it.

The welfare work force will be working at a wide variety of low-skill jobs such as cleaning up public parks, emptying hospital bedpans and tending day-care centers.

Unions will seek assurances that regular workers, punching the timeclock at prevailing wages of $4 to $8 an hour in some cities, will not be replaced by low-paid members of the welfare work force.

The AFE-CIO says it will use its clout in Congress to defeat the low-pay provision and replace it with a prevailing-wage scale. And Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, says: "We stand together on this."

However, Baltimore manpower chief Marian Pines notes, "It would be next to impossible to move people out of public service jobs if we paid the prevailing wage. And it would cost a fortune."

The manpower officials believe one way around the thorny wage and substitution questions is to have welfare workers divide their time between public service jobs and training or job-search programs.

Another troublesome problem is that the Carter plan would phase out the current public service jobs, paying prevailing wages, established under Title VI of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Mrs. Pines warns, "We've got big trouble if we lose this aid. A lot of cities would be totally screwed up."

In some troubled cities — San Jose, Calif., Hartford, Conn., and Newark, N.J., for example — one of every five city workers is paid with CETA money. New York City will count 28,000 city CETA workers by the end of this year. These workers are paid the prevailing wages; many do regular jobs and they are eligible to join a union.

Some of the biggest welfare states actually lose money in the switch from Title VI to the welfare jobs program, and Jerry Wurf warns, "If Carter's program doesn't work in the big cities and the big states, it doesn't work at all."

The nine states that lose CETA money in the transition are New York, California, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, Oregon, Hawaii, Nevada, Alaska and the District of Columbia.

Marshall is seeking an antirecession public service jobs program that would protect hardship areas independent of the welfare package, but the ultimate decision on that rests with the White House and Congress.

Local manpower officials will implement the jobs program, and they are worried about dozens of technical problems.

Their biggest fear is the spectre of two classes of employees working side by side at differing wages.

Mrs. Pines says: "Our labor staff and personnel people are shivering in fright of this thing."

"It's unbelievably complicated," says Robert McPherson, manpower director in the Seattle area. He predicts nothing but trouble with the city's 39 separate public employe unions.

Despite their misgivings, the manpower community is willing to make a go of the Carter plan, should it pass Congress.

ELECTRIC CAR — Toy Company engineer Charles Cummings, 45, Cincinnati, Ohio, sits at the wheel of the electric car he made for $3,500 by using modified parts. A 65 mile-per-hour speed will be achieved with the addition of one more motor.
