

Carter plans visit to black Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter announced today he will embark in late November on an 11-day, four-continent trip that will include the first visit of an American president to black Africa since World War II.

Carter's journey to South America, Africa, Asia and Europe will, in geographical terms, be the most ambitious ever undertaken by a U.S. president. He will be conferring with close allies, new-found friends and sometime adversaries.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt was the last president to visit black Africa, stopping in Liberia during 1943.

The eight-nation tour, which will begin on Nov. 22, the 14th anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, was announced on Carter's behalf by his national security affairs adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Absent from Carter's itinerary are any contacts with Soviet or Middle Eastern officials directly involved in the two major foreign policy questions that currently confront the President — arms curbs and the search for a Middle East settlement.

The journey, described by Brzezinski as underlining Carter's commitment to "constructive change" in the world, will take the President to Venezuela, Brazil, Nigeria, India, Iran, France, Poland and Belgium.

He will return to the White House Dec. 2.

Lo-Vaca cuts off gas

Crystal City folks hissed off

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — Crystal City, the Texas town that could not pay its natural gas bill had its supply cut off this morning.

Officials of Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. turned off a valve in Corpus Christi, about 200 miles east of the small South Texas city of 8,000, and the supply of natural gas to 1,200 customers gradually hissed to a halt. The city owes Lo-Vaca about $800,000.

It was the end of more than two years of legal battles between Lo-Vaca and Crystal City centered on whether a utility company can pass through to consumers the additional costs of fuel. The Texas Railroad Commission had approved the cost increases. Eventually, so did the courts and Crystal City lost the war.

Other small cities in the state had found themselves in a similar position, but had passed the price hikes to customers and held the cash in escrow.

Councilman Ruddy Espinoza Jr. told newsmen that Lo-Vaca had turned off the gas to the city by remote control from Corpus Christi. A Lo-Vaca spokesman said the gas was cut at 9:26 a.m.

A reduction in the gas pressure caused valves at the edge of town to shut off automatically.

Crystal City utility workers under the supervision of Texas Railroad Commission, immediately began to purge the Crystal City gas system of any remaining gas in the pipeline.

Espinoza said, "The people of Crystal City are going to be left without natural gas. Butane is the main possibility as an alternative, but, again, it is a financial problem."

Espinoza said 63 per cent of the Crystal City population lives below the poverty level.

The town has refused to pay Lo-Vaca more than the 36 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas agreed to in a long-term supply contract. Because of soaring natural gas prices in the unregulated Texas market, the Texas Railroad Commission ruled that Lo-Vaca could charge about $2 per mcf.

City officials have maintained Crystal City's 8,000 residents, most of whom are Mexican-American, simply cannot pay the bill, which has built up since January 1975.

Courts have upheld the commission's authorization of higher prices despite the long-term contracts.

Crystal City, however, had still refused to pay and had prevented earlier cutoffs through legal maneuvers.

But on Wednesday, an appeals court in El Paso barred further legal proceedings in the case and Lo-Vaca notified Crystal City officials that the gas would be turned off.

The Texas Supreme Court honored that ruling late Thursday when it refused to consider the appeal of a damage suit against Lo-Vaca by a Crystal City resident.

FREEDOM TEARS — An elderly woman cries as she arrives on American soil, Thursday after leaving Cuba. She is part of a band of American Citizens and their Cuban relatives that were given permission to leave Cuba by President Fidel Castro.

Tearful homecoming

31 U.S. citizens back from Cuba

HOMESTEAD AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — The last time Armando Rodriguez tried to come to America was by wooden dinghy, in 1968. He was caught and spent 4½ years in a Cuban prison.

This time a grinning and exuberant Rodriguez strode off a plush jet cradling a teen-aged daughter in his arms.

He was one of the 24 Cuban nationals and 31 U.S. citizens allowed to leave Cuba in the latest moderation of the back-fence tension between Fidel Castro's government and the United States.

After discussions last month with Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Castro sent word through Church that the Cuban relatives also could leave, setting up the flight Thursday aboard an Eastern Airlines 727 chartered by the State Department.

It was the largest group arrival since the conclusion of the Freedom Flights in 1973 that brought nearly 261,000 Cubans to the United States.

The American citizens had always been free to leave. But many remained because their families could not go with them.

"All I ask is that they let me die and be buried in America," said Luis Rivera, the first refugee to leave the plane. He later spotted an American flag and saluted crisply. Rivera said he had served with U.S. Armed Forces in the World War II invasion of Normandy.

"We're here," cried Eva Cejas, embracing her niece, Lucy Villa, at a nearby Miami hotel. They had not seen each other for 17 years.

The Rodriguez family was typical of Cubans who benefitted from Castro's announcement Aug. 11. Rodriguez, his wife, Mayda, and three of their teen-aged daughters are Cuban citizens. They were allowed on the flight because one daughter, 18-year-old Irene, is a U.S. citizen. She was born in Tampa, Fla., when the family lived there before returning to Cuba in 1961.

Rodriguez, 38, caught the eyes of many as he carried his daughter,

New ambulance company asks to serve city

Big Spring City Councilmen will consider whether to grant permission for a new ambulance service in Big Spring at their regular meeting Tuesday at 9 a.m.

El Paso Ambulance and Rescue Services, Inc. has asked for a certificate of convenience and necessity so that it may begin serving the community.

Alert Ambulance currently is the only ambulance service available in the city.

Council members will again face the question of whether to allow a skateboard park in Big Spring at Tuesday's regular 9 a.m. meeting.

The council will consider the second and final reading of an ordinance changing the zoning of a little more than an acre of land from Single Family to Light Commercial. The area is located off of FM 700 behind the Barcelona Apartments.

If the zone change is allowed, owners Keith Bristow and David Terry will construct a skateboard park on the property. But residents in the area, represented by local attorney R.H. Weaver, have hotly disputed the zone change, and may do so again at Tuesday's meeting.

In other business, council members will:

—consider a second and final reading of a zone change in the Fairview Heights Addition for the purpose of constructing a duplex apartment.

—consider a request by Margaret Ray, county clerk, for a quit claim deed on Lot 6, Block 3, East Park Addition.

—consider an emergency reading of a resolution authorizing Mayor Wade Choate to submit a Title Nine application to the Economic Development Administration for grant funding.

—consider second and final readings of ordinances concerning land use and control measures of flood prone areas of the city.

—consider allowing the city to advertise for bids for a half-ton pickup for the City Parks Department.

New compromise sought on natural gas pricing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd disclosed today a new effort is being made to reach a compromise on natural gas pricing.

Failure to reach an accord could jeopardize passage of President Carter's energy program, Byrd told reporters.

Carter's proposal to continue price controls on natural gas was dealt a major blow Thursday night when the plan was defeated in a trial vote.

Instead, the Senate decided to continue debating a rival industry-supported plan to deregulate new gas.

Meanwhile, the House passed, 317 to 47, a bill to authorize spending $6.7 billion on civilian research and development by the Energy Research and Development Administration.

The authorization includes $150 million in funds for a nuclear breeder reactor project at Clinch River, Tenn., which is opposed by President Carter.

Since the Senate agreed on $75 million for that project, differences will have to be settled in conference. The President was described by House sources as considering vetoing the bill if considerable funding for Clinch River were included.

Senate aides said the proposed natural gas pricing compromise would apparently involve a gradual deregulation of new gas prices, possibly over a five-year period.

Although industry forces viewed Thursday's vote as a key victory, there was some doubt that they could muster the needed votes to get a deregulation bill out of the Senate.

For one thing, some administration allies are planning a filibuster and had proposed scores of amendments to the legislation.

Byrd said that deregulation opponents might be willing to compromise because "they have indicated they want to have a bill passed."

The Senate leader said the ultimate compromise would have to be made in a House-Senate conference committee.

As a deeply divided Senate continued debating the energy bill, Byrd scheduled an unusual Saturday session. But many Senate leaders predicted the debate would continue through next week and possibly longer.

Mini-tour, barbecue honors area farmers

A farm mini-tour this morning in connection with agriculture day at the fair highlighted cotton variety demonstration plots in Howard County.

The annual agriculture tour three weeks ago included grass plots, cattle feeding projects, cotton variety tests and tests at the Experiment Station.

The tour this morning was a shorter variety and stuck to the highways, checking the cotton variety test plots in the Sand Springs area and other locations.

One of the main highlights of both tours was a review of the boll weevil habitat management location. Agriculture leaders in the county have been attempting to raise $7,000 for the project.

Martin County farmers have raised an additional $2,500. The plans are to work with a variety of controls to overcome the boll weevil and destroy its winter habitat. Boll weevils only move about 100 yards from where they spend the winter.

Low trash in areas, such as shinnery and other low brush, attract the weevil. The Sand Springs area was selected because it has cotton close to shinnery and other brush.

As explained by county agent Bruce Griffith, and the area entomologist, James Lee, the project will be using some sprays which are granular and deemed safe. These are experimental sprays which have to be used on test plots before they can be put on the market.

The group will also do some chaining and burning of brush in the project. They are attempting to prove which will be the most effective and most economical measures to control the boll weevil in Howard and Martin Counties.

The group returned from the weevil habitat project to the Howard County fair barns where they were guests of honor along with other farmers and ranchers and their families.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsors the annual agri-business luncheon with the help of many Big Spring businessmen in honor of the local farmers and ranchers.

The Ambassadors, headed by Bob Moore, serve as hosts for this event.

Mrs. McClellan swung the hammer at a single tile on the Paramount's front wall, but it glanced off and cracked the glass in the ticket booth.

Ticket seller Vickie Vertel dived for cover, but no one was hurt. The sledgehammer blow was to have been a symbolic one, signaling the start of the $168,000 restoration project.

School seeks court action

Teacher assaulted by mother

Linda Alexander, 29, a first grade teacher at Bauer Elementary School, was allegedly struck in the mouth Thursday by a stick-wielding black woman after the teacher held the women's daughter ten minutes after class for disciplinary action.

Ms. Alexander, in her first year of teaching, was taken to Medical Arts Hospital where seven stitches were required to close the gash on her upper lip. The incident was reported to police at 3 p.m. Thursday.

According to Superintendent Lynn Hise, the district will draw up a restraining order for the protection of the teacher. The order will be filed in 118th District Court.

Charges against the woman have not yet been filed although both the county and district attorneys are aware of the case. According to District Attorney Rick Hamby, "This does not appear to fit the definition of an aggravated assault. It offends me, but it isn't a felony."

County Attorney Harvey Hooser said that he would file the case if it was not taken by the D.A.'s office. The case would then be handled in county court as a class A misdemeanor, carrying maximum penalties of a $2,000 fine and one year in prison.

Hise said that Ms. Alexander was at work today at Bauer, but that the student was not present. He said that the district had made no move to deny the student access to the classroom.

"But we are upset and concerned that this kind of thing would happen," said Hise. "Our position and purpose for being is to help the boys and girls. That is a difficult task in itself. Although we encourage parent-teacher conferences, when the parents take the position that assault is the best course, well, we don't feel our teachers should have to be intimidated or concerned about this kind of thing.

"We deplore this incident and are in full support of the teacher in filing whatever charges are appropriate."

Hise pointed out that, to his knowledge, the student had been kept after school to catch up on work not completed during the day. He said that he believed the action of the teacher was disciplinary, but helpful, not punitive.

Hise said the school did have a program for discipline which included swatting, but he said that this kind of alternative is used only in extreme measures and that to his knowledge was not considered Thursday.

COMEDIAN MARRIES — Comedian Richard Pryor, 36, and Debbie McGuire, a former actress and model, pose after their marriage at Pryor's Los Angeles home Thursday. She is described as being in her mid-20s. Pryor was married once before.

Pryor ties the knot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Saying "this is the first time I've been married — in my heart," comedian Richard Pryor has married former actress and model Debbie McGuire.

Pryor surprised cast members when he appeared for taping the third "Richard Pryor Show" at NBC and announced his marriage.

The 36-year-old comedian married Miss McGuire, 25, at his suburban Northridge home Thursday morning before going to work, NBC spokesman Frank Farrell said.

Pryor's film career began its ascent after several guest appearances on television specials, when he co-starred as Piano Man in "Lady Sings the Blues" with Diana Ross.

Since then he has played comic roles in "Uptown Saturday Night" and "Silver Streak" and is currently starring in "Greased Lightning," a film about racing's first black stockcar driver, Wendell Scott.

He has received Grammys for two comedy albums, "That Nigger's Crazy" and "Bicentennial Nigger."

Pryor and his bride were to fly to New York today, where he was to begin filming the movie version of "The Wiz," a musical based on "The Wizard of Oz," with an all-black cast.

A spokesman for the producers of Pryor's television show said Pryor had been married once previously and the marriage ended in divorce.

Gramm runs again

DUNCANVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M economist Phil Gramm, unsuccessful in his bid to unseat Sen. Lloyd Bentsen last year, has entered the race for the Sixth Congressional District seat held by Olin (Tiger) Teague.

Teague, who has held the seat since 1946, is suffering from health problems that may keep him out of the race.

The 35-year-old Gramm told a Thursday press conference here, "I have no doubt that he will retire." The Democratic candidate added that Teague's years in the House have provided "the finest representation."

Gramm said he will stay in the race regardless of Teague's plans.

Also in the race area Don McNeil, 37, of Alvarado and Chet Edwards, a 25-year-old Teague aide who says he will run only if Teague bows out.

The district includes parts of 11 counties from the southern portion of Tarrant and Dallas south to Brazos.

No soft life here

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department has warned Americans clamoring to get out of Mexican jails not to expect a soft life if they are transferred home to serve out their terms.

A 92-page pamphlet explaining the transfer program to American prisoners cautions them not to expect stereotypes in their cells, conjugal visits or maid service, which some enjoy through bribery in Mexico.

Dissidents to leave

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is suddenly encouraging, even pushing, dissidents to leave the country as two major dates approach on the political calendar.

The first is next month's 35-nation Belgrade conference, where Western delegations are expected to accuse Moscow of not living up to East-West human rights agreements signed at a summit conference in Helsinki, Finland, in 1975. The other is the 60th anniversary Nov. 7 of Russia's Bolshevik Revolution, a date already billed here as a milestone of Soviet national unity.

'Full steam ahead'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Carter says Bert Lance committed no crimes, the Justice Department is promising to move "full steam ahead" in the criminal investigation of Lance's financial affairs.

Carter, Gromyko are talking SALT

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter personally involved himself in U.S.-Soviet arms limitation negotiations today as he met with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the White House.

Posing for photographers before their meeting in the Oval Office, Carter expressed hope to Gromyko that "we will be successful in reaching some agreement."

Carter also said he would like to get to know Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev personally before too much delay.

"I think there are chances," Gromyko said.

Earlier, however, national security affairs adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski said no consideration has been given to arranging a meeting between Carter and Brezhnev on the four-continent trip the President is planning.

The administration's decision to unilaterally remain under the restrictions of the expiring agreement is swiftly encountering opposition from Congress.

The administration position was disclosed Thursday in a letter from Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance to the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, John J. Sparkman, D-Ala.

Vance decided on the tactic when it became apparent that the current Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty, signed in 1972, would expire on Oct. 3 without a new U.S.-Soviet agreement to replace it.

Vance and President Carter were continuing negotiations today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the White House.

WTCC exec keeping mum on 17th race

In a telephone conversation with a Herald newsman this morning, J. Fike Godfrey of Abilene, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said he preferred not to comment at this time on stories that he would offer as a candidate for the 17th District U.S. Congressional seat being vacated by Omar Burleson.

Rumors that Godfrey will campaign for the office have been circulating in the Abilene area for some time. Godfrey said he was aware of the stories but had neither tried to dignify nor deny them.

The WTCC official said several things would have to be cleared with government agencies, should he elect to get in the race.

On occasions in recent weeks, Godfrey and the WTCC have seen fit to question policies of both the administration and some leaders in Congress.

Tobacco spit champ named

Both of these events were sponsored by the Ackerly Young Farmers group. They also sponsored the Jerry Clower show and made a profit to set up a scholarship fund to be used for an outstanding agriculture student at Sands High School.

Lon McDonald, club officer, thanked the public for backing all their events at the fair this year.

Adopted lover appeal lost

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A Rhode Island man who wanted to adopt his girlfriend may not, a Superior Court judge has ruled.

"It may be that public morality in our community has reached a low ebb," Judge Joseph R. Weisberger said Thursday, rejecting an appeal from a 30-year-old man seeking to adopt his 20-year-old girlfriend.

"However, it is the opinion of the court that it has not yet descended to such a nadir as to require a Probate or Superior Court judge to implement an adoption between persons whose relations is essentially that of paramours," Weisberger said.

Weisberger's ruling upheld a decision by a Central Falls probate judge who refused to approve the adoption of Karen Mary Jones by Duncan Clinton Fraser.

Aram K. Berberian, the couple's lawyer, had conceded that the pair were "lovers," Weisberger said.

"To suggest that the adoption statute requires such interpretations is to concede that the legislature of Rhode Island intended a sardonically ludicrous result," Weisberger said.

The judge noted that state law forbids a man to marry his daughter and added that such a prohibition means that sex between a man and his adopted daughter might constitute incest.

Berberian has championed the practice of a man adopting his lover and claims to have done so himself. The lawyer maintains that adoption protects the man from the possibility of alimony payments.

It was not clear whether Fraser proposed adoption for those reasons.

Drugs recovered, arrests expected

The Howard County Sheriff's Department Thursday recovered 46 vials of drugs taken Tuesday in a Seymour drug store burglary.

According to Sheriff A.N. Standard, he received an anonymous phone call from a woman Wednesday afternoon. The caller asked whether Big Spring had suffered any drug store burglaries recently. On checking, the sheriff found that a burglary had taken place in Seymour Tuesday.

The anonymous caller led deputies to Roby, where two Big Spring residents were in custody on charges of burglary. Seymour authorities also suggested another Big Spring man who was suspected of pulling the Tuesday heist.

Following the lead, deputies Thursday recovered the vials of missing drugs.

Deputy Bill Shankles and Texas Ranger Eddie Almond have been working the case from the Seymour end and expect to clear at least five local burglaries, all of which all occurred last fall in the rash of county burglaries in the Hilltop Road area.

Standard also said that there could be additional arrests in connection with the case.

WEATHER FORECAST: Plains: expect forecast: Midweek

Many Indochinese refugees expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food shortages and economic malaise may bring 60,000 or more Indochinese refugees to the United States during the next three or four years, according to testimony before a Senate committee.

Food shortages in the area are growing, witnesses said, with rice already in short supply in the central marketplace of the Laotian capital of Vientiane.

The Laotian food shortages are the result of drought there, witnesses said, plus a "lack of incentive" among farmers under the socialist economic system.

The testimony came during Senate hearings on legislation to extend refugee resettlement programs in the United States. The two-year emergency aid program for Indochinese refugees expires next Friday.

Representatives of a coalition of volunteer agencies who just returned from Southeast Asia said signs of food shortages in Laos already are showing as the result of recent drought. State Department officials indicated food aid to that country was under consideration.

Wells Klein, an official of the Coalition for Effective Resettlement of Indochinese Refugees, told of visiting Vientiane's central market and finding it virtually empty of rice, the region's staple food.

"We saw one two-quart basket of rice, and when we inquired about the price, the woman invited us to 'come in back' to discuss it," Klein said.

He said Laotians are not facing famine now, but may in a few years if the situation doesn't improve.

Philip C. Habib, the assistant secretary of state who heads the department's refugee task force, told the committee the estimate of 60,000 refugees is based on experiences thus far with the "second wave" of refugees, those who have fled their countries since the communists seized control of the region in 1975. Habib said most came here for economic rather than political reasons.

But witnesses and senators questioned what the "third wave" will mean to state and local governments now relying on the federal aid program to finance resettlement of the refugees.

The administration has proposed to extend the refugee aid program at sharply reduced levels. But some senators have proposed to maintain current funding for another year, then scale it down gradually over the next two years.

Persons earning $30,000 a year could pay by 1982 twice as much Social Security taxes as they do now under a proposal before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The draft bill, advanced Thursday by the Social Security subcommittee, is aimed at increasing money going into the financially troubled Social Security system to assure the system will remain solvent.

The full committee begins considering the measure probably next Wednesday and hopes to move the bill to the House floor by early October in time for Congress to act on it before adjournment.

"Time is of the essence

Social Security taxes may soar

WASHINGTON (AP) — We have to assure the elderly that their checks will be forthcoming," said Committee Chairman James A. Burke, D-Mass.

The exact amount of the tax increase for employees over the next five years remains to be worked out, but the major boosts are aimed at higher income brackets.

Tentative proposals within the bill could mean a payroll tax as high as $1,980 in five years for persons earning $30,000 or more. Currently the tax is levied only on earnings up to $16,500.

The increases are necessary to keep the Social Security reserves equal to at least one-fourth of a year's payments under the system.

Weather Thermometer, calendar differ

By the Associated Press

The calendar said it's autumn, but the thermometer said it's summer as another day of 90-degree-plus weather was expected to scorch Texas today.

Temperatures were expected to again reach the 90s in most areas of the state with readings as high as 102 expected in the Big Bend country of Southwest Texas. Highs along the gulf coast are expected to reach only into the 80s.

Thunderstorm activity reported in portions of West Texas during the night had mostly dissipated by dawn and only a few showers were being reported in the Panhandle. Some clouds were noted over far West Texas and in the central portion of the Panhandle early today, but the rest of the state had clear skies and mild temperatures.

Early morning temperature readings ranged from the 60s in the mountains of Southwest Texas to near 80 at Galveston. Some early morning readings included 65 at Amarillo, 71 at Wichita Falls, 74 at Texarkana, 75 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 78 at Waco, 77 at Austin, 71 at Lubbock and Houston, 79 at Corpus Christi, 75 at Brownsville, 77 at Del Rio, 76 at San Angelo, 70 at El Paso and 73 at Lubbock.

TRACTORS IN THE STREETS — Protesting farmers drive their tractors through the streets of Pueblo, Colo., on their way to a meeting with Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland Thursday. A caravan of more than 50 farm vehicles and hundreds of cars brought more than 2,000 farmers and their families to protest low farm produce prices and threaten Bergland with farm strikes if farmers don't get more money for their crops.

Farmers asking guarantees

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Farmers pressing for federal guarantees of higher crop prices have received little encouragement from Secretary of Agriculture Robert Bergland and are threatening to strike in December.

Nearly 2,000 farmers from Colorado and a half-dozen other agriculture states packed a steamy city auditorium in Pueblo on Thursday. They heard Bergland, a former farmer from Minnesota, declare: "I know something of the risks, heartaches, excitement and frustration of this business ... but I'm not able to work miracles."

Bergland heard more than two dozen speakers from such states as Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska, Delaware, Minnesota and Wyoming tell him they will be out of business by next year if prices don't go up.

The farmers are demanding that the government assure them 100 per cent of parity, a guarantee that federal price support and loan programs will give them a return on their crops equal to what it costs to produce them and a modest margin of profit.

Without this guarantee, the farmers say that on Dec. 14 they will stop planting crops, selling agricultural products and buying production equipment.

The turnout was organized by a two-week-old grassroots group called American Agriculture, formed to push for farmers' demands that the federal government guarantee them at least a break-even price for their crops.

Victor died from heart failure, nervous stress

WINCHESTER, England (AP) — Victor, the giraffe who made world headlines after he did the splits and couldn't get up, died from heart failure and nervous stress, said an autopsy report issued today.

Government veterinarians performed the post-mortem on the 15-year-old, one-ton giraffe at an Agriculture Ministry laboratory in this city 70 miles southwest of London.

Victor died at Marwell Park Zoo near here Tuesday during an attempt to hoist him to his feet in a canvas sling made by Royal Navy sailmakers. He had been spread-eagled in his compound for five days, having flopped down while trying to mate with one of his three female companions.

"The only abnormality was severe damage to the muscles on the inside of Victor's right hind leg. There was almost certainly some associated nerve damage," said David Aston, assistant zoo director.

He stressed that giraffes are extremely nervous animals and that the bellyflop undoubtedly caused great anxiety in Victor. This condition was worsened by alarm over efforts to put him back on his spindly legs.

Nation's producers cut back

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a sharp 1976 rise in the number of birds raised the nation's turkey producers intend to cut back their breeding stock about 4 per cent this winter, the Crop Reporting Board says.

The board also reported this week that 5.4 billion eggs were laid by commercially producing chickens in August, a drop of 1 per cent from a year ago due to 600,000 fewer hens. The Sept. 1 rate of lay was 64.3 eggs per 100 hens, up slightly from the year before.

Cowboy Tom Mix' daughter dies

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Ruth Hill, daughter of the late movie cowboy Tom Mix, died Wednesday at the age of 65.

It seems a new ruling by the District of Columbia's Alcoholic Beverage Control Board will force Washington restaurants that feature side orders of "adult entertainment," including topless and bottomless dancers, to admit minors.

The board said prohibiting minors from entering such establishments would be a violation of the D.C. human rights law.

The law bars discrimination based on "race, color, religion, natural origin, sex, age, marital status, personal appearance, sexual orientation, family responsibilities, physical handicap, matriculation, political affiliation, source of income, or place of residence or business."

The local ordinance also requires a licensed "hotel, tavern, restaurant, ordinary, simple room, tipping house, saloon or eating house" to admit "any quiet and orderly person or persons."

The ABC board was asked this week to approve the alcohol license of the Godfather Supper Club in Northwest Washington.

The board refused to grant the license on three grounds, neighborhood opposition, the character of the entertainment and the management's policy of excluding minors.

The board said it wanted to "make it crystal clear to all the ABC establishments that they must abide by the law."

A D.C. official said the board's decision dramatized the need to overhaul the city's restaurant licensing practices.

"Any 12-year-old can walk into a topless joint that has a restaurant license, order a coke and watch the girls until his eyes give out," the official said.

44th birthday for Davis

Unusual day at trial

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — For a murder trial, it was unusual day, with touches of festivity, frivolity and poignancy and a 44th birthday for millionaire defendant Cullen Davis.

The courtroom's sound system picked up a CB radio transmission and a reporter's paging device interrupted testimony Thursday.

Lawyers swapped an unusual number of snide, but lighthearted, remarks, and the continuing good humor of State District Judge George Dowlen surfaced repeatedly.

A juror provided a bubble or two with a wad of bubble gum.

And the spectator ranks included Davis' former wife Sandra and the defendant's two young sons, Cullen Jr., 13, and Bryan, 11, who came for their father's birthday.

The youngsters took front-row seats as testimony in Davis' capital murder trial approached the end of its fifth week.

Actually, Thursday's session provided few new revelations and was confined mostly to routine defense cross-examination of a prosecution witness.

Special Crime Scene officers were summoned today as prosecutors prepared to produce the physical evidence of its case against Davis for the 1976 slaying of his stepdaughter Andrea Wilborn, 12.

The girl was the first to die in the midnight shooting spree in Davis' lavish mansion.

The defendant's estranged wife, Priscilla, 36, was wounded and her boyfriend, Stan Farr, was killed in the carnage that left Gus Gavrel Jr., 22, partially paralyzed with a bullet lodged in his spine.

In a moving reunion Thursday, Davis emerged from the courtroom at the noon recess and was embraced by his sons, one crying and the other on the verge of tears.

"I wanted to be with you alone," the elder son told his father before they joined a private birthday luncheon inside the courthouse.

Can bickering stop in Washington?

For a while on Wednesday, it looked like Washington was being evacuated to the more tranquil reaches of West Texas.

We had 35 federal employees here for what is called the "team visit" to Big Spring. Along with a few state employees, they made quite a gathering in the Officer's Club.

The purpose of the visit was informational. Each agency had a chance to view the town and the closing air base so it will know precisely what is being discussed. Each agency had a chance to hear something of the plans for the reuse of the base.

And citizens of Big Spring were given opportunities to provide ideas and suggestions about possible approaches to reuse.

ALTHOUGH THE visit was very much a formality, it was a useful one. Each level of government should have a better idea of what the other is doing.

That seems to be something we cannot accomplish in Washington. As a Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Industrial Team leader Winston Wrinkle noted this week, it is rather ridiculous for one government agency to think it can save millions by closing the base and for two others not to have a few thousand dollars to expedite the task.

But that's where we are. The specific hold-up agency at this point is the General Services Administration, but Big Spring has been assured that the roadblocks can soon be broken.

It seems to me that after closing our air base, the least the government could do is to move quickly to return ing it to the city. If the government will only reduce the red tape down to mountain size, Big Spring can recover rapidly, and that will reduce the cost to the government.

Alas, however, nothing is simple in our governmental process. I only hope that we do not lose an industrial prospect because of needless and petty delays.

AT THESE meetings during the "team visit," there was plenty of talk about federal grants and loans to help Big Spring reuse the base.

Many of the programs could be most beneficial to our city and to our efforts to provide jobs for our people.

Yet, as one Big Spring man noted, so far it remains in the talking stage. We have not seen one green bill to date.

OFFICIALS ALL SAID that they were impressed by the progress Big Spring has made, and one said the effort "compares favorably with any other closure the Department of Defense has been involved in."

The officials said that they were anxious to see the Big Spring base become a "model conversion project." The government needs this success story to demonstrate that rapid reuse from military to civilian purposes can be accomplished easily.

We know that it can be achieved on this end. The Industrial Team's triumphs are proving that Big Spring will work to recover from the closing and will succeed—perhaps to an incredible degree.

The only question is if Washington long enough to do the things it said it would for Big Spring.

Instead of long hair, most of them had crewcuts. Most had tanned faces and calloused hands. But they were still marching in a protest line, a non-violent page right out of the handbook of Vietnam protesters and black civil rights leaders.

The farmers went to Austin this week, saying "We know this is not where farm policy is made in this country, but this is where it starts."

THEY DROVE tractors down the streets and met with officials. Most of the officials' comments got printed. Few of the farmers' did. They wanted to protest the upcoming farm bill, and the low prices of cotton, wheat and other products.

They were apparently ready to act like a temperamental minority to get the proper attention from the proper authorities.

But all they got was some hot air. Gov. Briscoe told the farmers what they already knew, that although farming was a "success story" it wasn't very successful for the "individual ranchers and farmers." Agriculture Secretary Reagan Brown called for a national agricultural policy.

I'm actually pretty happy that the area farmers here were too busy getting their crop in to drive their tractors to Austin. They certainly didn't miss much and they have the additional advantage of getting to wait and see what comes of this change in the farmers' traditional long-suffering posture.

Farmers in this country and farmers in Texas have historically been tremendously successful in production. Texas produced twice as many cattle as its nearest competitor in 1975. Texas has traditionally been third or better in cash receipts for livestock and crops, and has led the country in production of cotton, grain sorghums, sheep, wool, and vies with Louisiana for most rice.

Texas farmers have also had to contend with some of the most changeable weather in the country. And the federal government has been kind to Texans in at least one way, for example when in 1975 $142 million of $801,046,157 in nationwide farm payments came to this state.

BUT FARMERS have always had trouble deciding to present an organized front. Maybe it is the nature of the job, but they usually resent being told to do this or that for the good of an organization. Most of them farm because they like it, and most of them are farmers and businessmen.

Probably the best comparison would be between the farmers and the oilmen. Both produce a raw product essential to the U.S. and to the world. There's nothing that will replace oil for heat in the winter and there's nothing that will replace bread on the table and clothing on your back.

But finding a starving oilman is a lot harder than finding a starving farmer, and the reason is supply and demand. I find it hard to believe that on the world market, without the massive giveaway programs of the federal government, the farmers couldn't find a reasonable buyer. But while the OPEC nations have felt no compunction about holding the world hostage for their oil, the U.S. has not yet gotten around to starving the world into submission for its food.

Some might say we're trying, with the surplus here and the hunger in third-world countries, but if that's so, the sleek fat cats signs are missing on the farmers.

Like the old song says:
The farmer is the man,
The farmer is the man,
He buys on his credit until fall,
Then they take him by his hand
And they lead him from his land,
And the merchant is the man who gets it all.

Inside story

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The press is reporting on the forthcoming book by Mr. Raymond K. Price, former principal speechwriter for Richard Nixon, whose title ("With Nixon") is entirely straightforward. Mr. Price was, is, and will be with Nixon, though to be sure he has his misgivings. The news story is that on reading the final draft of his April 30, 1973 speech, President Nixon thought of resigning his office. I have to admit that if I had had to read that speech, I would certainly have resigned, and probably cut my throat.

Now that sounds like an unfriendly thing to say about a fellow writer, so under the circumstances I reveal that I have been a friend of Ray Price since I was 21 years old. A year behind me at college, he joined the Conservative Party of the Political Union. He was then 18 years old but looked as though he had just celebrated his tenth birthday; there was never in the history of American youth, any lad of fresher, more innocent mien.

YOU WILL understand the surprise in my grizzled set, veterans all of World War II, when we woke to discover that young Price had become the balance of power in the Political Union, dominating absolutely a young band of freshman who voted exactly as Price instructed in all matters.

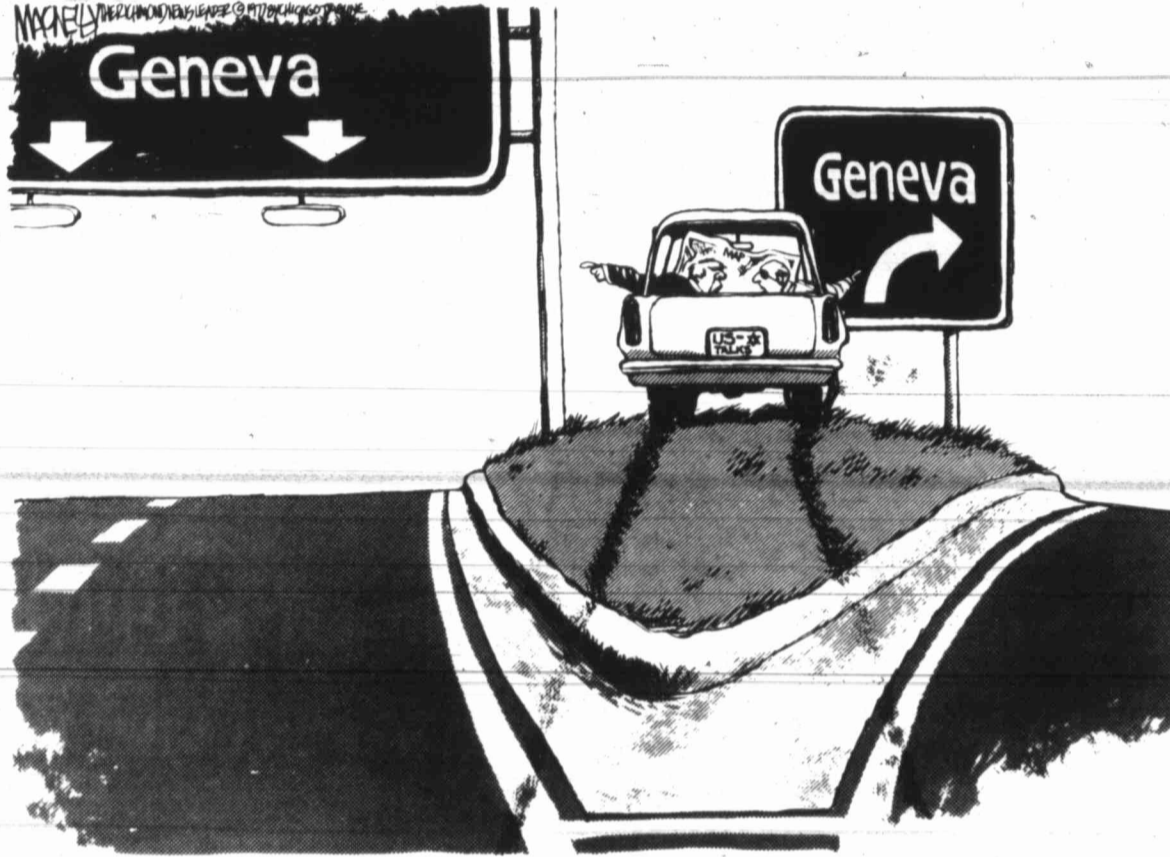

His surptitious nickname was "Ange-et-demon," which is how a Yale they say "Angel-boy and demon." In his current book he denies the whole notion of Tricky Dick. You gotta be Tricky, says old Ange-et-demon, in order to manipulate people to do the right thing, like avoid world wars, and vote for Richard Nixon.

Now the April 30 speech was without exception the worst presidential speech in modern American history. It is the one best remembered by its conclusion: "Since Bob Haldeman and John Ehrlichman are the finest civil servants I have ever known, I am forthwith firing them." That was the analytical high point of that address, which inflamed America against Nixon, convincing the majority that, indeed, the President was far gone in disimulation.

On seeing the final draft of that speech, Ray Price writes, the President turned dramatically to his speechwriter and told him that he, Price, had always served as Nixon's conscience, and if Price thought that Nixon should himself resign, "just write it into the next draft, and I'll do it."

One can readily understand Mr. Price's reactions under the circumstances. They would almost certainly have been yours and mine too. He implored the President not to resign (remember, at that point the Nixon people still believed him to be substantially innocent). Such scenes must have occurred at least once in the career of every leader who seeks reinsurance by proffering his own life for his country on the very clear understanding that he will be talked out of it.

One assumes that Price used all the conventional arguments to talk Nixon out of doing something he didn't want to do in the first place. But listen to the clinching argument. It was this: that if Nixon resigned, Agnew would become President. Not having seen the text, I cannot advise how many exclamation points are appended in the original to that statement, designed to terrify even the stoutest hearts.

Lead poisoning still problem

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I just read an article in the newspaper about two children who died of lead poisoning because their mothers boiled water for the formula in an electric kettle soldered with lead. I have an 18-month-old son, and used that kind of kettle. Obviously, it didn't kill him, but I'm wondering if lead could have been built up in his system.

Can you answer some questions for me? What are the signs of lead poisoning? Does any lead eaten remain in the system or does it eventually leave? What damage does it do? What is done to determine the amount of lead in a body? Is it of any value in the body? What are some of the common things that could cause lead poisoning? Is there any way to remove lead? How do I find if my kettle is soldered with lead? — Mrs. G.D.

Lots of good questions. Your electric utility company should be able to tell you if the kettle is soldered with lead. If so, use another kettle. If you have not noticed any symptoms in 18 months of using your kettle, chances are pretty good it is safe.

Now to your questions: —Children are exposed by nibbling paint chips from old houses or chewing furniture painted with lead-based paints. Prior to World War II lead-based paint was common. Today it is outlawed for such uses in this country. Beware some of the imports.

—Symptoms of lead poisoning are irritability, abdominal cramps, anemia, pallor, and weakness. The victim often has a history of pica — the chewing or eating of material other than food.

—In the body, lead is attracted to soft tissue and bones. It leaves the body through feces and urine, but very slowly, and that's the chief problem.

—It affects the nervous system, the blood cells, and the brain when consumed in large amounts.

—There are various tests used to check lead levels. These include blood tests, stool examination, hair analysis, and X rays, which may show bone changes.

—If tests show elevation of lead, a drug called EDTA (edthamine) is injected intravenously or taken by mouth. This helps remove it from its storage places in the blood or bones.

—Lead poisoning (also called "plumbism" — from the Latin word for lead) is found chiefly in children up to five or six years of age in neighborhoods that are old.

The lead industry has done much to combat the problem, but despite this more than 20,000 cases of poisoning are reported each year.

There's no apparent value of lead in the system, yet we all have some amount of it, mainly because it is present in minute amounts in food and in the atmosphere.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a mastectomy a year ago. I had cobalt treatments and the doctor advised against me taking any more hormones. So did the surgeon. But my regular doctor wants me to take a small dose for vaginal dryness, nervousness, insomnia, and depression.

What do you think about the estrogen? Would you advise me to take the pills or not? — Mrs. M.M.

Even knowing as little as I do about your individual case, I'd have to line up on the side of the two physicians who advised against it. There are non-hormone medicines you can be given for the other problems. The greatest risk is of cancer, especially in a person who, like yourself, has a history of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is or was the appendix good for? — M.B.W.

It serves no purpose. It's a wormshaped out-pouching from the first section of the large bowel. It may have been a vital part of the primitive digestive system.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a high blood sugar cause vaginitis? — M.M.

Yes, by making the vaginal tract more susceptible to infection by yeasts, molds, or bacteria.

Vaginitis can strike any woman at any time in her life. You can find out about the causes — and the cures — for this troublesome complaint in Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment." To get your copy, write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can an infection, like tonsillitis, cause acne to flare up? — S.O.

Pus-producing infections can play a part, especially in cystic acne. Emotional stress, which may accompany any illness, can also contribute to a flare up. So can drugs of the bromide or iodide variety. Since many medicines contain these substances, you have to be on the lookout for them on labels. They include some vitamin preparations.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a foreign student in this country, and have become a Christian during my time here. Now I am afraid to go back to my native land, since it is difficult for Christians there. Do you have any advice? — M.Y.

DEAR M.Y.: I am thankful you have committed your life to Christ. You will want to pray for God's direction about returning to your country, but personally I would encourage you to go. Millions of people in your native land have never really heard about Jesus Christ. I believe God could use you in the lives of many in your country, if you are open to being used as His witness. Because of your education you may have many opportunities to point others to Christ, and they will in many instances be more open to you than they would be to a foreign missionary.

It is essential for you to prepare spiritually for your return. Learn to come to God each day in personal prayer. Seek the fellowship of other Christians. And above all, become a student of God's Word, the Bible. You may not understand everything you read in it right now, but ask God to make you obedient to its teachings and truth. Be saturated with the Word of God.

Also, begin to pray now that God will give you Christian friends when you return to your country. I am a believer in your country, and you need to seek them out and identify yourself with them. They have been through many of the spiritual battles you may face, and can help you.

Remember above all that God loves you, and He will be with you. "He hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee. So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me" (Hebrews 13:5-6).

First, they prayed

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—The first morning that Bert Lance faced his Senate inquisitors, he dropped by the oval office for a quiet prayer with President Carter.

The beleaguered budget director slipped into the White House at daybreak, just before Washington sprang to life. He brought three Bible passages — I Peter 2:17-25, Joshua 1:5-7 and Ecclesiastes 3:1-8 — which he read aloud.

"For this is thankworthy," Lance read from First Peter, "if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully."

"For what glory is it, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? But if, when ye do well and suffer for it, yet take it patiently, this is acceptable with God."

From Joshua, Lance emphasized these lines: "As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee. . . . Only be thou strong and very courageous. That thou mayest observe to do according to all the law."

HE ALSO READ THE FAMOUS passage from Ecclesiastes: "To every thing there is a season and a time and to every purpose under the heaven. . . . A time to break down and a time to build up. A time to weep and a time to laugh. . . . A time to keep silence and a time to speak."

After quoting the scripture, Lance uttered a brief prayer. Then the president also prayed out loud and Lance departed for his first day under the kleig lights.

Later in the oval office, President

Carter mused quietly: "I was talking the other day, just a group of us who have been close, and we all decided that if we could have named 2,000 different things that might have caused me any problem or any embarrassment, that Bert Lance's character would have been the last thing we would have guessed about."

The president showed no inclination to fire Lance. "I have never been convinced, at least until this moment, that Bert Lance has done anything illegal or unethical," said Carter. "And if I should find that he did, my guess is that Bert and I would decide together that he ought to resign."

He was troubled by the unfair impact, he said, of the "almost unbelievable accumulation of allegations." As he put it: "Even if they are false, (this) provides some people with a chance to say, well, even if he is innocent, his effectiveness has been damaged or destroyed."

"I can't bring myself to accept the fairness of that. . . . My judgement of the American people is still unshaken and I think to the extent that they are familiar with the facts, do understand the charges, do understand Bert's reaction."

The president interrupted himself to suggest that, in the end, people will rely on his assessment. "I think in the long run, for many American people, I will be the final judge. If I say I think Berk ought to step down, I think they will say, well, that is okay. If I should decide I think Bert ought to stay on, I think many people will say that is okay."

Dear Editor:

I think our Howard College should be praised for its remodeling and new look on campus. It looks great to me, and the citizens of the city should look forward, build a new image, if Big Spring wants to go forward and not backward. We must not sit back on our heritage.

Take a look at Midland and Odessa. They didn't get that way by sitting back. I praise the college and its leadership.

CHARGES KNEIVEL WITH ASSAULT — Film executive Sheldon Saltman (left) tells newsmen from his hospital bed that motorcycle stuntman Evel Knievel and an unidentified man attacked him on a studio lot with a baseball bat causing compound fractures of the arm and wrist. Knievel, shown leaving police station Wednesday night, was arrested for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon in the alleged attack. Knievel was apparently on his way to surrender when picked up by a patrolman who saw him on the freeway.

Police mull defense

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys for two former Houston policemen on trial in the death of a prisoner say they'll use a three-day weekend recess to decide whether to present defense testimony next week.

"If we decide to go forward it will take about five days to present our testimony," said Bob Bennett, attorney for Terry Denson, 27, who is on trial with Stephen Orlando, 21, for the drowning death last May of Joe Campos Torres, 23.

The trial, moved to Huntsville on a change of venue, resumes Monday.

Denson and Orlando are accused of participating in a beating of the handcuffed Torres and pushing him into Houston's Buffalo Bayou.

Torres' body was recovered May 8 from the bayou three days after he had been arrested at a bar disturbance. He was not handcuffed when he entered the murky water.

The state rested its case Thursday after presenting its 17th witness in the three weeks of testimony. State District Judge James Warren denied two defense motions for directed verdicts before recessing the trial until Monday.

The defense has contended the officers did not intend serious injury and could not foresee that Torres would die.

Harris County Medical Examiner Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk testified Thursday there was a reasonable certainty that a person thrown in the water in the apparent condition of Torres would drown.

Jachimczyk said Torres had bruises on his abdomen, right hand and wrist, both shins and right temple. He could be bruise to the temple could have been caused by a severe blow or by Torres striking a submerged object in the water.

Margaret Torres of Houston, the victim's mother, was in the courtroom when Jachimczyk presented color slides showing the condition of Torres' body. Mrs. Torres buried her face in a companion's shoulder, unable to watch.

Jachimczyk also testified that Torres blood alcohol level was twice as high as needed for a drunken driving conviction and he was wearing heavy clothes and boots when he entered the water.

Denson and Orlando were among five officers fired from the force after Torres' death.

Two of the former officers, Glenn L. Brinkmeyer, 25, and Louis G. Kinney, 27, testified for the state under immunity from prosecution. A third, Joseph Janish, 22, has been charged with misdemeanor assault and is scheduled to be tried next month.

A sixth officer, rookie Carless Elliott, 20, was not fired. He reported the incident to his superiors and served as a key witness for the prosecution.

Consumer credit goofs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consumer responds to a bank's advertisement of the convenience of having bills paid automatically from his account. But a computer goofs and $120 is paid to the phone company instead of $12.

Only then does the consumer learn that electronic payments systems do not give him the legal safeguards on his money that he has under traditional methods of payments.

Esther Peterson, consumer adviser to President Carter, described this scenario Thursday in urging Congress to write a law giving consumers the same protection afforded now in transactions by check or credit card.

The first electronic payment systems now are being marketed by banks. Eventually a consumer is expected under such systems to be able to pay for store merchandise by having the amount of his purchase deducted from his bank account instantaneously.

The computer technology now exists for such a method of payment, and the first electronic systems now are being offered.

"Banks, in the absence of a federal law, have little incentive to discuss the rights which consumers will lose if they switch to electronic funds transfer," Mrs. Peterson said.

National merit Gary named winner in architect contest

Six Big Spring High School seniors were listed in the commended status of the National Merit Scholarship tests.

Semi-finalists were announced last week and included one Big Spring High School student. The commended students are not eligible to participate in the scholarship program but are listed among the top five percent of high school seniors in the United States.

In Big Spring, the six included Ray Abilar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reynaldo Abilar; Burton Kim Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Oxley; Julie Davidson, daughter of Kenneth Davidson and Mrs. Mary Ann Davidson; Angela Fulgham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Fulgham; Deborah Shroyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Shroyer and Hardy Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilkerson.

Winning designs were sent after to the convention of the National Institute of Architectural Education in New York where they will be exhibited.

Gary was also among three Tech students who received $500 scholarships presented by Lubbock chapter of the American Institute of Architects. The other two fourth-year students were from Abilene and Euless.

'Gutter filth' costs Playboy

CHICAGO (AP) — Playboy, the magazine that raised eyebrows with what were considered sexually explicit photographs in the 1950s, says it is now threatened by the "gutter filth" of the 70s.

The magazine has hired and fired executives, cut back on its worldwide hotel and club enterprises and even put its famous mansion up for sale to fight the competition.

"All the changes show they've been reduced to desperate methods in a fight they're losing," says Bob Guccione, publisher of Penthouse, Playboy's chief rival.

Playboy Enterprises, faced with a decline in profits from $11 million in the peak year of 1973 to $1 million in 1975, has closed a hotel in Jamaica and a club in Detroit, and begun removing the famous bunny label from records, a limousine service and a modeling agency.

Founder Hugh Hefner put his 54-room Chicago mansion on sale for $2.5 million.

And as Playboy's circulation continued to decline, Hefner hired Derick Daniels last fall from the Knight-Ridder newspaper group to be his chief operating officer. Daniels is said to have been lured by an annual salary of $250,000, plus a $225,000 bonus.

Daniels set to work firing five vice presidents and 95 other employees. He says it's "like changing pants in the middle of a 100-yard dash."

Although Playboy has become more explicit in its photographs, Daniels insists the magazine will not "join our competitors who are yapping along in the gutter. We won't become a journal devoted to gynecology."

Playboy Vice President Mike Murphy says the "gutter filth" published in Playboy's 37 or so competitors makes it easier to attract advertising. "We have a publication that people don't have to be ashamed to see their ads in. We're finding that major companies don't want to see their names in Penthouse or Hustler."

Murphy says Playboy is "the only men's magazine that if you take away the girls you still have a magazine."

"Let 'em try it, I'd love it," says Guccione. "We've stolen their thunder. They're no longer the No. 1 men's magazine — we are."

The latest Audit Bureau Circulation figures, however, still show Playboy with a circulation of just over 4.9 million, compared to Penthouse's 4.6 million. But while Penthouse's circulation has risen by nearly 600,000 in the last year, Playboy's has fallen almost 500,000.

Daniels has cut advertising rates by reducing the circulation guarantee from 5.5 million to 4.5 million, and raised advertising by 30 per cent. He says the magazine lost mostly only its younger and older readers, who didn't attract advertisers anyway.

Daniels says corporate profits are beginning to rise again. "I feel no ill will," said Guccione of Penthouse. "Playboy had their time. Now it's over."

Girl Scouts council sued for $3 million

TULSA (AP) — The Magic Empire Council of Girl Scouts has been hit with two lawsuits seeking more than $3 million in damages for the deaths of two of the three Girl Scouts slain at a summer camp near Locust Grove.

The lawsuits allege the council was negligent despite suspicious events leading up to the deaths at Camp Scott in Mayes County.

Lori Lee Farmer, 8, Doris Denise Milner, 10, and Michele Guse, 9, all from the Tulsa area, were sexually assaulted and murdered June 13 on the first day of a scheduled two-week camp.

The parents of the Farmer girl are seeking actual damages of $1,577,400 in their suit and the parents of the Milner girl are seeking damages of $1,567,400.

Parents of the Guse girl did not join the suits.

The parents allege in the lawsuits that the council "failed to exercise care and caution even though numerous events and occurrences of which it knew or should have known would have motivated a reasonable and ordinary camp operator to be extremely careful and cautious and to take extra measures or actions."

Local woman honored on 83rd birthday

Mrs. Ann Boutwell was honored Sunday with a surprise open house in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jerry (Annabel) Barker, and granddaughter, Mrs. Richard (Delynda) Reed, in celebration of her 83rd birthday.

Born in Mitchell County, Mrs. Boutwell moved to Big Spring with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Nutt, 56 years ago when the community was just beginning. She was married to the late H.C. Boutwell.

Mrs. Boutwell has been a member of the First United Methodist Church for the past 56 years and at one time served as secretary of the Sunday schools.

Though Mrs. Boutwell has lived 83 years, this was her very first birthday party. About 30 attended, including many out-of-town friends who had not been back to Big Spring in the past 25 years.

Cake and punch were served to guests from a table covered with a handmade lace tablecloth with an apple green underlay. The cake and punch carried out the apple green color scheme. A granny doll, overlooking a heart filled with miniature daisies, was used as the centerpiece. Crystal and silver appointments were used. A corsage of red carnations was presented to Mrs. Boutwell.

Organization challenged

The Big Spring Howard County Retired Teachers' Association met on Tuesday at the Howard College Cafeteria.

Following a luncheon, Dan Conley, program chairman, introduced Dr. P.W. Malone who spoke of the prospects for the acquisition of Webb Hospital and its facilities for a Cancer Clinic.

The proposed Clinic would be used for early detection and treatment of cancer. He challenged the Retired Teachers to join in a volunteer program to promote such a project.

New members joining the organization were Mrs. Larue DeViney, Mrs. Gladine Cox, Miss Francis Kelley, Mrs. Jane Walker and S.A. Walker, retired principal of Goliad Junior High.

President Noel Reed announced that the next meeting will be Oct. 18 in the Howard College Cafeteria.

Law Says Divorce Must Be Published

DEAR ABBY: You've often heard the line, "I never thought I'd be writing to Dear Abby," but this time, you were so off base, I had to write.

You told MINNESOTAN if she requested that the news of her divorce be withheld from publication, the editor would probably respect her wishes.

Baloney! I don't know about Minnesota, but in Iowa divorces are published by law.

We sometimes publish divorces as news—not on our front page, but usually listed with other court house records—whether or not we're requested to keep it confidential.

Some newspapers in this area publish entire court proceedings on the front page—"blow by blow," so to speak.

Please don't go telling your readers they may edit their local newspapers. With your background, you should know better.

RUSSELLS: OECHSLIN, EDITOR-PUBLISHER, INDEPENDENCE, IA.

DEAR ED-PUB: I should have, but I didn't. An editor who shall remain nameless, lest he become jobless, gave me a bum steer. Thanks for setting the record straight. I needed that.

DEAR ABBY: I play softball, and not to brag, but I'm considered a pretty good player.

There's this girl I sort of hang around with. I'm not really all that involved with her, but she's been coming around to watch me play quite a lot lately, and that's my problem.

Last season I didn't mind her watching me play, and I played okay, but this season, for some dumb reason, every time I see her I get nervous and I play lousy. Maybe I'd play lousy, anyway, but when I see her there, I play extra lousy.

How can I get her not to come around when I'm playing without getting her mad at me? She's a neat kid and I don't want to hurt her feelings.

SOFTBALL SOFTY

DEAR SOFTY: Level with her. Tell her you want to find out for sure if you're playing lousy because she's there. She might be flattered to learn that you think her presence is affecting your game.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Painter-poet opens one-woman show

WASHINGTON (AP) — Can a woman who was once voted one of the 10 most beautiful coeds at the University of Texas make it as a painter and poet in cynical Washington?

Linda April Raines, 29, of Houston, thinks she can, and she has recently opened a one-woman show of her work here to prove it.

Ms. Raines says she decided she didn't want to wait 20 years for the world to discover her work. Since her previous occupational background is in advertising and public relations, she decided to help the art world along a bit.

Ms. Raines published her own volume of poems and paintings called "Cherish and Abandon." Engaging the services of a Washington public relations specialist, she found a gallery on Capitol Hill to display her work.

Last week, Ms. Raines' show had its debut. She put on a red dress and stuck a red rose in her auburn hair. She hung the paintings on the fashionably bare brick walls of the gallery and arranged for Rep. William Archer, a Houston Republican, to make a speech, welcoming her to Washington.

Then, Mr. Raines and a guitar accompanist performed a short recital of her poems. Someone in the invited group of 20 patrons was rattling ice cubes and champagne bottles during much of the recital, but afterwards, Linda April Raines thought things had gone "quite well."

Ms. Raines' paintings, which carry price tags ranging from $200 to $1,500, are in the manner of the 19th Century French post-impressionist, Georges Seurat; his style is called pointillism.

She composes her pictures with dots of paints; newspapers use the same principle when they print color comics on Sunday. Pointillists are interested in the mechanics of color interaction and perception in their soft-landscapes and portraits. Ms. Raines says she can do more with the style than Seurat and his followers could because she has modern acrylic paints. None of the regular art critics from the Washington media reviewed the opening, and a few days afterwards, Ms. Raines said she was not sure how the paintings were selling.

Sixth-grader is railroad man at age 12

PECATONICA, Ill. (AP) — Twelve-year-old Joey Moth couldn't wait to grow up to become a railroad man. So he didn't. Wearing a conductor's cap and an Illinois Central-Gulf T-shirt, Joey passes out printed calling cards touting his "Pecatonica Railroad Museum" in the family garage.

He has a well-lighted, neatly-arranged display of thousands of railroad paraphernalia. There are dozens of railroad spikes, spike buckets, signal lights, tie plates, old timetables, tools, railroad lanterns, Amtrak brochures, old airbrake hoses, and even a potbelly stove from a caboose.

Joey has a guest register signed by 230 visitors this past summer, some from Canada, New York, Oregon and Florida. There is no admission charge, but Joey will take donations.

"Three railroad men left me $1 each," he said. "I got $45 during the summer. It goes into the bank with the $200 I got from selling my three sets of model trains with 120 cars.

"My bedroom was so full of the stuff I couldn't get to my bed. I'm saving to open a big museum. I want to buy a depot along the tracks. I want a couple of miles of tracks and a switch engine."

A Pennsylvania Railroad advertising calendar from 1935 hangs on one wall and a Postal Telegraph clock on another.

Pointing to a 10-volume set of 1906 encyclopedias, "Modern American Railway Practices," Joey notes: "They tell about steam trains and how to work on them and how to build your own system. There aren't too many sets like that left."

Outside the garage, Joey has spiked a short section of old tracks to ties, installed a couple of switches and put up an old railroad crossing sign.

"Most of the stuff was given to Joey when the railroad was closed through Pecatonica," said his mother, Marilyn. "Other stuff he finds walking along old railroad grades. Ever so often I drive him to Seward (seven miles) to watch the trains go by. And he likes to chat with the railroad crews. He sweeps out the Illinois Central depot while he's there.

"He's read all the railroad books the libraries have around here," she continued. "And we've been to the Burlington Northern yards in Dubuque (Iowa). Joey went right up to the boss and told him he knew how to run a switch engine. And they took him up in the cab and let him do it. The way he talks with those railroad men you would think he worked on the railroad. Joey wants to go to work in Dubuque right now.

"He's only a sixth grader," said Mrs. Moth, "and he wants to quit school.

He says it interferes with his railroading. That's all he thinks about."

Fall from bleacher in school gym breaks neck of Angelo girl

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — An 11-year-old junior high school student was killed Wednesday when she fell from a bleacher in the school gymnasium, officials said.

Authorities said Cara Lynn Spieler died of an apparent broken neck in the accident at Lincoln Junior High School. Witnesses told investigators that Miss Spieler struck her head on a tile wall as she was falling to the floor. One student told police the girl fainted before falling.

Justice of the Peace Richard Self said he was withholding an official ruling pending further investigation into the incident.

Clergy candidate in 19th district

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Rather than just advising people to get involved in the community, the Rev. Morris Sheats has decided to take an active role — a run at the 19th Congressional District seat.

Sheats announced Thursday his candidacy for the office that will be vacated by veteran U.S. Rep. George Mahon next year.

"After years of urging audiences to whom I spoke to become a part of responsible government, I find that I personally must respond to the needs of our day," Sheats told a group of about 75 persons gathered on the lawn of the Lubbock County Courthouse.

Many of them were parishioners at the interdenominational Trinity Church, where Sheats serves as senior pastor.

He said he plans to campaign Tuesday through Saturday and return to the pulpit each Sunday.

The Democrat said his campaign plans have spawned little negative reaction from his congregation.

Fielding a reporter's question, Sheats said he hasn't garnered much of a campaign bankroll, but doesn't foresee any problem in raising an estimated $260,000 in campaign costs before the 1978 Democratic primary.

"It is my desire to be part of the solution to today's problems by offering my services as congressman," Sheats said.

There is no reason why clergymen can't be as effective in Congress as lawyers or other professionals, he continued.

His experience in leading a congregation from 100 members to 4,000 members while supervising a staff of 40 has prepared him for congressional duties, Sheats said.

Sheats said he is primarily concerned with "out of control growth of government regulation and red tape" and the need for an effective energy program.

Sheats, 37, already faces two contenders in the Democratic race. State Sen. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, and former State Rep. Jesse T. George of Brownfield.

The only Republican contender so far is George Bush of Midland.

POLITICAL CORNER — Mike Ezzell, state representative, takes time to talk to two young people at the Howard County Fair this week. Ezzell and Ray Farabee, state senator, share a booth at the fair.

BUSY SIGN MAKER — Signs by Paul Warren were a big attraction at the Howard County Fair this year. This group is waiting patiently while he completes a special order sign in the commercial booth division of the fair.

Pets, shufflers to grab fair spotlight

There will still be lots of fair events through Saturday night. Tonight at 7:30, the Pet Show kicks off as well as the Howard County domino tournament.

Saturday morning, the Steer and Heifer Show and the Shorthorn show are scheduled. They will both be under way by 9 p.m.

The Youth Horse Show also starts Saturday morning in the rodeo arena. Mrs. Wanda Driver is chairman of this event which includes both halter and performance classes.

There will also be a Howard County roping in the arena in the afternoon with the finals at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Fair officials have been pleased with the night crowds at the fairsgrounds, but said the daytime crowds were down, partially due to the extremely hot weather.

The farm and ranch barbecue was held at noon today and brought the largest crowd for any daytime event.

The Shriners collected close to $17,000 to help crippled and burned children with their circus profits. The Young Farmers at Ackerly also made a profit on the Jerry Clower Show for their scholarship fund.

Midweek saw the poultry and rabbit show with Natalie Grant showing the grand champion rabbit and Mrs. Woodie Robinson the reserve champion.

Rickie Sneed showed both the grand champion and reserve champion chicken.

There was also a division in the fan tail pigeons with Lloyd Murphy winning three firsts and a second in this division.

In chickens, Mrs. Robinson placed first with a white Cornish Game rooster. Christi Grant placed first with a white Leghorn pullet and Brenda Grant placed first with an Austro pullet.

Woodie Robinson collected two firsts with a Domineck rooster and a yellow white Banty cross. Robert Williams had a first place Seabright rooster and pullet. Ricky Sneed placed first with a pair of Partridge bantams, rooster and hen. Sneed also had a Plymouth Rock rooster place first and Robert Williams had one place second.

Williams had both the first and second place BB Bantam rooster and pullet and also the yellow Buff Cochins rooster.

Scott Sheppard placed first with a pair of dark Cornish bantams with Perry Bailey second. David Spencer placed first with an Old English Game rooster and Iver Spencer was first with a S.S. Hamburg banty pullet. David Spencer had the first place Salmon Faverolle pullet.

Spencer placed both first and second with light Brahmas pullets and Cathy DeVelle showed the first place game rooster and pullet.

In the rabbit show, Woodie Robinson had the first place Black Dutch doe and buck.

Natalie Grant showed the first place New Zealand doe with Vance Christie second and Lance Christie third.

Woman gets 20 years for her role in death

ODESSA — Esther Jean Lamb has been sentenced to 20 years in the Texas Department of Corrections for her role in the death of Kristy Leigh Mathias, age 31 months, who died last January following a beating.

Mrs. Lamb heard sentence pronounced upon her Thursday by 70th Judicial District Court Judge C.V. Milburn. Mrs. Lamb had been convicted Wednesday by a jury on a charge of injury to a child.

The woman's husband, Howard N. Lamb, 30, drew a life term in prison in January after entering a plea of guilty on a murder charge.

Jurors in the woman's trial ruled that by failing to seek medical attention for her daughter after her husband had inflicted bodily injury upon the child, Mrs. Lamb was negligent in her duties as a mother and thus contributed to the child's death.

According to Ector County District Attorney John Green, the child had been subjected to abuse throughout her life, a factor that played a significant role in the assessment of the maximum sentence in the mother's trial.

Mrs. Lamb told the court she was still in love with her husband.

Authorities in Ohio had taken the baby away from the Lambs for abuse reasons, at the time she was only 11 months old.

Dr. David Dawson, who performed an autopsy on the child after it died, said the victim actually died of peritonitis, an infection of the abdominal cavity caused by a ruptured intestine related to the beatings.

Dr. Dawson told the court that, in his judgment, the child's life could have been saved through proper treatment.

In a statement made to police, Mrs. Lamb said the child had been beaten Dec. 24, 1976, after which she did not seek medical treatment. Neither did she file a complaint at the time. The child was beaten again Jan. 5 of this year, she recalled, and died the following morning.

The Jan. 5 injuries to the little girl included a broken right arm, multiple bruises over the face and along the hairline and bruises on the arms and legs.

Midland notified grant denied anyway

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Remember that $946,000 federal grant the Midland city council said recently it didn't want? The city has been notified by federal officials that its application for the grant has been denied anyway.

Mayor Ernest Angelo said Thursday the city was notified Wednesday of the denial by Housing and Urban Development Department.

The controversy stemmed from Midland's refusal to include a mandatory rental assistance program as part of the grant.

Midland has received similar grants — without the rental assistance — for the past two years. In voting to refuse the grant, the city council said it didn't agree with the rental assistance program.

HUD Assistant Secretary

Robert C. Embry Jr said in his message to city officials:

"The city's refusal to incorporate in its Housing Assistance Plan goals a program of lower-income rental assistance, despite a clear indication of need for such assistance and the availability of housing assistance funds to carry out such activities, renders the goals plainly inappropriate to meeting the housing needs and objectives identified by the city."

Angelo responded, "I regret that HUD has decided to continue their position of arbitrarily denying Midland's application. A reading of the law clearly shows that HUD had the authority to approve the application if they so desired."

"I'm convinced we had a legal application."

Farm USDA treaty facts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A campaign by the Agriculture Department to help sell President Carter's Panama Canal treaty to the American public so far has produced only mild response from rural areas.

About 2,600 copies of "Fact Sheet... U.S. Agriculture and the Panama Canal Treaties" have been mailed to newspaper, magazine, radio and television farm editors, state agricultural officials, extension offices and others to explain the treaty and how farmers depend on the canal.

The push began Sept. 15 when Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland and other administration officials briefed farm groups, exporters and other agricultural interests on the treaty. Later, a similar session was held for reporters.

Bergland said the briefings were entirely a USDA show and the project was not ordered or otherwise directed by the White House. He said the information material would be sent to USDA field offices which then would make it available to the public.

A spokesman said Thursday that requests for information have been coming into the USDA at the rate of "about five a day, which is routine for something that's just been mentioned" so recently.

Meanwhile, a nationwide Associated Press public opinion poll conducted Monday night showed that the treaty is opposed by the American people, with 50 per cent of the adults questioned saying they are against the pact which would relinquish U.S. control of the canal to Panama by the year 2000. Twenty-nine per cent favored the treaty and 21 per cent were undecided.

Two Howard youths among 4-H winners

Two Howard County 4-H youths were among the top winners in the annual J.T. Rutherford 4-H Achievement awards for District 6 recording judging.

First place winner in the girls' division was Dana Jill Westbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Westbrook of Big Spring.

Second place in the boys' division went to Brent Rhoton, son of Mr. and Mrs. S.C. Rhoton Jr. of Howard County.

Dana, who won the first place, has been active in 4-H club work for eight years and had projects in home environment, clothing, horse, swine, lamb, beef heifers, food and citizenship. Dana was also in 1977 state record book winner in Home Environment. She exhibited the reserve champion Poland China at the 1972 State Fair of Texas. She has held all offices in her local 4-H club and has also been very active in FHA and school activities.

The first place in the boys' division, just ahead of Brent was Randy Garner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Garner of Sheffield in Pecos County.

Each of the winners receive a 4-H achievement medal and a large rotating trophy presented to the high achieving 4-H girl and boy. The county that gets three different 4-H members names on a trophy retains permanent possession of the trophy.

Other winners in the girls' division included Rebecca Everett, Crockett County, second; Bonnie Meek, Ward County, third; Stacy Garner, Pecos County, fourth; Denise Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Schwartz, Glasscock County, fifth; Melissa Gholson, Reeves County, sixth; Fayne Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon A. Welch, Martin County, seventh; Cynthia Haechten, Ector County, eighth; and Lerrri Fitzhugh, Upton County, ninth.

Texas third in farm cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The list of the top 10 states in sales of crops and livestock last year is unchanged for the most part, although Ohio dropped from 9th to 11th and was replaced by Wisconsin. Rankings of states in terms of "cash receipts" from agriculture were included Thursday in a new report on 1976 farm income statistics. Cash receipts are what farmers get for commodities they sell before they deduct their expenses.

Yanks still on schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the value of U.S. farm exports sagged a bit in July, it appears that American farmers are still on schedule for seeing a record $24 billion in overseas sales this fiscal year.

The Agriculture Department said Thursday that July exports were valued at $1.75 billion, down from $1.88 billion in June. But during the first 10 months of the 1977 fiscal year which began last Oct. 1 farm exports totaled $20.7 billion, up from $19.2 billion in the comparable period of 1975-76.

"Everybody knows that Gail is named for Gail Borden, just like the county." Mrs. Edna Miller, resident in Borden County since she was born in 1906, said this week.

I hated to tell her that I was among the ignorant who did not know that important fact. Borden County was one of the 74 counties surveyed in 1876 when the huge Bexar County was cut apart by the state legislature.

It was divided into 74 counties and they were all named for famous Texans. Borden County was named for Gail Borden, who had become rich and famous when he developed the condensed milk process. But I believe Borden County is probably the only one of the 74 that turned around and gave the county seat the first name of the county's honoree.

Probably the earliest cattleman was Col. C.C. Slaughter who was one of the first cattleman in most of the area between Lubbock and Big Spring in every direction. The Beal family also was reported to have brought cattle into the area in those early years. The men who settled the Spade Ranch over in Mitchell County also were very early cattlemen. Bob Beal, a grandson of the original Beals still has a ranch on the Colorado River in Borden County.

In 1891 there was a small settlement called Durham in the southeast part of the county. The John Wilburn family resided where Gail now stands. Gail came to be in about 1906. Tom Love was the first county sheriff in Borden County and is one of the most colorful of all the early county sheriffs in all of the West.

WHEN GAIL HAS A CROWD . . . they have a big one

In the early days, Bill Cook was a notorious outlaw, as sought after as Billy the Kid. He made the mistake of coming to hide out on a ranch in Borden County. Sheriff Love found out and followed him relentlessly all the way into New Mexico where he arrested him in a show storm. He returned to Fort Smith Arkansas and turned him over to Hanging Judge Parker.

The sheriff was supposed to get a $500 reward but he was never paid. The early commissioners court put an iron plate marker on the first bridge crossing the Colorado River to make it possible to come to Big Spring. This was long before historical markers were put up. The marker told about Sheriff Love capturing Bill Cook. When it was taken down, it was placed in the Borden County museum, one of the best little museums in West Texas.

They probably had the best Bicentennial Celebration of any town around last year, as well. They had 5,000 people attending a parade that included buffalo, Indians, stage coaches and some of the most authentic early west floats you have ever seen.

Borden County was made up of Indians back when it was first named Borden County. It now has 900 square miles and 800 residents so they have lots of room. Their peak population was around 1,500 folks.

Some of these became very discouraged in the years of 1917-18 during a drought and blizzard. In 1917, the seed on weeds and plants did not even sprout.

Mrs. Miller's grandfather W.K. Clark who bought property at Durham in 1890 before the county was officially organized in 1891, was also an early sheriff after Love. He served about eight years. Her father, W.A. Clark was also sheriff in later years.

Mrs. Miller's husband was also from an early family. His grandfather, Frank Miller lived in a dugout on the ranch.

It's a fantastic county with many wonderful early stories. And the wonderful thing about Borden County is that it has people who like to preserve that early west history.

That's why the Bicentennial there was such a success and why the museum is so authentic.

Borden County and Gail are proud of their early heritage, proud of that beautiful drive from Gail to Post, proud of the ranchers who make up most of their economy, proud of their excellent school system and proud of being from Gail—out where I ride fence.

Ex-mobsters guilty of forgery

DALLAS (AP) — Two ex-underworld figures, who had their names changed and were re-located in Dallas by the Justice Department for protection, have been convicted here on federal forgery charges.

Federal agents had given Edmund Graifer and Salvatore Cardinelli, both originally from New Jersey, constant protection in return for their testimony against the New Jersey underworld. Cardinelli, renamed Salvatore Cataldo, and Graifer, renamed Edward Green, were convicted Thursday under their assumed names of using a forged document to obtain a $9,000 loan from a Dallas bank in 1974.

Both were released on $500 bonds after U.S. marshals told the court they were in constant contact with them. During final arguments, defense attorney Roy Beene called the trial a "case of politically inspired prosecution."

Beene said Graifer and Cardinelli wrote up a false bill of sale for tools they put up as collateral only to protect their identities.

What is the story behind this "For Sale" sign? Is it just a house that's for sale, or is this a tale of happiness or sorrow — of success or defeat?

Let's hope this story has a happy ending! But this isn't a world of make-believe we live in. God made us human beings, not puppets. He has given us minds and bodies, nerves and muscles — and weakness as well as strength.

Maybe the story behind this house is a happy one. Maybe it's a sad one. Regardless, the people who lived here, like all of us, will be able to accept both good fortune and bad if there is yet another house in their lives.

The House of the Lord, the Church, has been built to endure through the ages. Here we will always have a home — during our lives on earth as well as throughout eternity.

Steel workers fired, production reduced

PITTSBURGH (AP) — increased foreign competition and declining profits, is laying off thousands of workers and cutting production. Whatever happens in the industry is likely to be felt by all consumers because steel is used in everything from paper clips to railroad tracks.

Was Candace Mossler totally out of touch?

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury attempted again today to determine if Candace Mossler "became totally out of touch with reality" because of drug use, as is claimed by attorneys for two adopted sons contesting the late millionaire's will.

The jury received the case late Thursday.

Daniel Mossler, 26, and Christopher Mossler, 25, filed a suit to contest a supplement to Mrs. Mossler's will.

Mrs. Mossler's 1968 will divided the estate, valued at $12 to $15 million, equally among six children. But the 1975 supplement disinherited thousands of workers and cutting production. The crisis has already led to one bankruptcy and a flurry of layoffs, including those in steel towns like Youngstown, Ohio, where Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. plans to dismiss 5,000 persons within three months.

Neither steel industry sources nor the United Steelworkers could say Thursday just how many workers are out of work, but estimates range up to 100,000.

The pace of cutbacks has picked up since mid-year. About 3,000 steelworkers were laid off when the Alan Wood Steel Co. in suburban Philadelphia went bankrupt after losing $34.4 million over the last three years.

Bethlehem Steel, the nation's second-largest producer, said it would lay off 7,300 workers in flood-ravaged Johnstown, Pa., and Lackawanna, N.Y., after losing $75.4 million through June 30.

U.S. Steel, the nation's largest producer, has announced some layoffs, including 200 in the Youngstown area. It has also asked 10,000 management employees to forego a cost-of-living increase.

Other producers have either announced reductions or are considering them.

More cuts are likely. Some analysts argue the current crisis may be healthy, however, because it may eliminate marginal firms and leave a stronger, more profitable steel industry.

The industry is struggling with a number of problems, some historic, some political. Imports are its principle target, however.

The American Iron and Steel Institute, a trade association representing 95 per cent of the nation's producers, estimates that imports will account for 19 per cent of the domestic market in 1977.

THAT'S THE WAY TO THROW — Texas Rangers Bert Blyleven pitches in a game earlier in the season. Thursday night in Anaheim, California, Blyleven threw his first no-hit game to lead the Rangers to a 6-0 win over California Angels.

Blyleven hurls first no-hitter

ANAHEIM (AP) — Bert Blyleven may ask the Texas Rangers to allow him to pitch every 16th day next season. If he can guarantee the same result that he produced in his latest effort, they might agree to such a plan.

Blyleven, sidelined since Sept. 6 with a pulled muscle in his groin, returned with a flourish, firing the first no-hitter of his career and the third of the major league season Thursday night as the Rangers blanked the California Angels 6-0.

Blyleven, 26, seemed destined for such a feat. He has four one-hitters to his credit and is currently just 20 strikeouts away from 200, a plateau he has reached in each of the last six seasons.

"It was like the world stopped when Thad Bosley swung at that last pitch," said Blyleven, who fanned the Angels' rookie to complete his gem. "I hope I can do it again some day."

Blyleven, 14-12, faced only 28 batters, one over the minimum. Ron Jackson reached first base safely leading off the third inning on an error by Texas shortstop Bert Campaneris, but Andy Etchebarren grounded into an inning-ending double play.

After Jackson got aboard, Blyleven retired the next 19 batters before pinch-hitter Carlos May drew a walk on a 3-2 pitch with two outs in the bottom of the ninth. Bosley then struck out for the third time to end the game.

By winning, the Rangers avoided elimination for at least one more day in the American League West. Kansas City, which clinched a tie for the division championship Wednesday night, could win it outright tonight if the Royals beat the Angels at Anaheim Stadium or if Texas loses at Oakland this evening.

Ironically, the Rangers

and Angels were involved in the other two no-hitters this season. Kansas City's Jim Colborn pitched a no-hitter against Texas on May 14 and Cleveland's Dennis Eckersley tossed his no-hitter against California on May 30.

Blyleven said he began thinking in terms of a no-hitter early in the game.

"I first realized it in the second inning when I looked at the scoreboard and saw that (Angel pitcher Paul) Hartzell and I both had one going and I thought it sure would be nice.

"In the third and fourth innings I really started to concentrate on a no-hitter and the next thing I knew it was the eighth inning."

Blyleven received a temporary setback with two outs in the eighth. On a 3-1 pitch to Mario Guerrero he said he pulled the groin again. Blyleven said he never saw Guerrero foul the pitch off "but I thought by the sound of it that he had gotten a hit."

The game was delayed momentarily to determine if Blyleven could continue, but as he said later, "I wasn't going to leave, even if I had to throw underhanded."

Guerrero popped out to end the eighth and the ninth

Big Spring fish beat Coahoma

Ben Watson sparked the combined Big Spring 9th grade units to a 30-12 win over the Coahoma freshmen Thursday night.

Watson rushed 134 yards on 15 carries, scored three touchdowns himself and threw for another one. Also racking up the ground yardage for the locals was Mark Law, who picked up 124 yards on 17 attempts. Law also scored a TD.

Tommy Madigan raked up 23 markers on six carries, and Edward Vela added another 11 on the ground in three rushes.

Coach Ed Henry indicated that his troops played an "outstanding" game, the second half after a sluggish beginning. "And defensively, we played pretty well during the entire game," Henry said.

Rudy Ortega was the defensive hero of the night. He was credited with 20 tackles. Edward Vela also intercepted a pass from his linebacker slot.

The local freshmen split up again into the Brahmas and Toros next Thursday, with the Brahmas hosting Snyder for a 7 p.m. contest in Memorial Stadium, and the Tech vs A&M: 'This means war!'

By the Associated Press

Texas Tech quarterback Rodney Allison was so scared he almost got sick the last time he played the Texas Aggies.

When the sixth-ranked Aggies and seventh-ranked Texas Tech Red Raiders tangled Saturday night, the All-Southwest Conference quarterback believes he'll have a little more poise. He hopes it will be enough.

Tech blitzed the Aggies 27-16 last year and went on to share the SWC title with the Houston Cougars. Allison came off the bench for starting quarterback Tommy Duniven, who suffered a shoulder separation.

"I almost threw the ball out of bounds on the first pass," said Allison. "I didn't stay nervous long."

Allison, the little magician who makes Tech's explosive offense so difficult to decipher, said "I think at the end of last year A&M was the best team in the country. We were lucky to catch them when we did."

He added, "This is going to be a real war. We still haven't played as well as I think we are capable of, but we are improving. It should be a heckuva game. I'm just glad it's here."

Texas Tech coach Steve Sloan said besides George Woodard and Curtis Dickey, two tough running backs, the Aggies have one of the best kicking game in the country.

"I mean Tony Franklin can kick it (a field goal) from anywhere and that fullback (Woodard) causes

Runnels defenses Snyder

Runnels' White team kept its remarkable defensive record intact by mauling Snyder's Gold unit, 32-0, here Thursday evening. The Yearlings have yet to be scored on this season.

The Yearlings got on the board with 3:32 left in Round One, when Tracy Spence passed to Bobby Earl Williams. The play covered 54 yards and occurred on the second play of a 55-yard drive. Richard Evans added two extra points by carrying the ball into the line.

With 7:15 left in the half, Evans raced three yards for Runnels' second touchdown,

Sutter keeps Phils from clinching title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "In my mind the Phillies have it clinched," said Bruce Sutter.

Sutter may believe the Phillies have the National League East division clinched with a 6½-game lead over second place Pittsburgh with 10 games to play. But he isn't about to help them clinch it.

Sutter came on in the eighth and gave up just one hit in chalking up his 30th save of the season in Chicago's 5-3 victory over the Phillies Thursday night. The victory went to reliever Paul Reuschel, who worked one inning in support of starter Dennis Lamp.

The Phillies appeared to agree with Sutter. They weren't concerned with losing two straight at home to the Cubs and walking a treadmill with that magic number of four — any combination of four Phillies' wins or Pirates' losses.

Phillies' manager Danny Ozark said his club is playing good ball and needs to get a few more runs on the scoreboard. He looked like a guy counting his winnings.

Just a word of caution, however, not panic. The Phillies of 1964 were 6½ games ahead with 10 games to play. And do you remember what happened?

To refresh your memory they lost 10 straight and finished second.

In other National League action San Diego edged Cincinnati 3-1, Atlanta whipped Houston 8-4 and Montreal blanked St. Louis 2-1.

The Phillies took a 1-0 lead in the fourth off Lamp on consecutive singles by Greg Luzinski, Jay Johnstone and Garry Maddox.

But Chicago went ahead 2-1 in the fifth. Bobby Murcer singled and Steve Ontiveros walked. Phils starter Jim Lonborg got the next two batters, intentionally walked Mick Kelleher to load the bases, then gave up that two-run single to Lamp.

In the bottom of the fifth, Larry Bowa singled with two out and Mike Schmidt tripled. The Cubs took a 3-2 lead on Ontiveros' single in the sixth. However, the Phillies tied it on singles by Luzinski and Johnstone and Bob Boone's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the inning.

FB Woodard won't start

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Junior fullback George Woodard will be on the bench nursing a pulled groin muscle when Texas A&M squares off with Texas Tech in a Southwest Conference showdown in Lubbock tomorrow.

Aggie Coach Emory Bellard said today that junior Eddie Hardin will start in place of Woodard who was injured in last week's game with Virginia Tech.

"We won't determine whether George can play until game time," Bellard said. "But Hardin definitely will start."

Varsity volleyball remains undefeated

The Big Spring varsity volleyball squad started slow Thursday night, falling behind 10-1 in the first game to the visiting Midland High feds, but Nancy Deason's charges hung in there for a 15-13, 15-10 decision that kept them undefeated in league play with a 2-0 record.

There was only 1:40 left on the clock when Big Spring rallied for the first game win. When the locals got started, Rose Magers, Suzanne Johnson and Becky Ragan did a good job spiking the ball, according to Deason.

"Magers and Johnson did an outstanding job at the net blocking on defense," Deason said, "and Sherri Kelley and Magers had nice place sets when the Midland serves forced us into bad relays."

Karen Tibbs and Casie Green were credited with their usual consistent backcourt game. Scoring for Big Spring were Sherri Kelley (8), Kathy Birdwell (7), Casie Green (6), Rose Magers (5) and Becky Ragan (4).

The varsity now sports a 14-2 season record and a spotless 2-0 record in district.

The Junior Varsity also remained undefeated in league play, by virtue of a 15-1, 15-12 drubbing of Midland. The JV's showed a strong offensive and defensive effort, according to their coach.

Sherry Byrd and Salena Harris had good net games, with help of strong setting by Brenda Beil. Penny Ray was high-punter with 12, while Beil had seven.

The subs now show a 7-1 season record and a 2-0 slate in league play.

Both teams will be on the road to Permian next Tuesday, and Deason hopes for a good following to Odessa.

Spicer in 'Bama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — University of Alabama Coach Gene Bartow says he should know within a day or two whether former Baylor cager Larry Spicer will enroll.

The 6-foot-8 junior center dropped out of Baylor recently after a meeting with the coach.

Bartow said Thursday "I've known his family a long time. He's also talked with Memphis State. I understand."

Clint Longley tries Canada

TORONTO (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboy and San Diego Charger quarterback Clint Longley has been added to the roster of the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League.

Longley, who arrived in Toronto for a trial with the Argonauts last week, will replace player-coach George Mira, who aggravated a groin injury during Toronto's 19-13 victory over Montreal last Sunday.

Longley is best remembered for a fight he had with Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach a year ago that led to his trade to the Chargers.

Dallas Cowboys to meet vastly improved Giants

THIS WEEK — The Dallas Cowboys (1-0) host the New York Giants (1-0) in a contest between NFC Eastern Division rivals who opened the season last Sunday with narrow victories over quality opponents. The Cowboys edged the Minnesota Vikings, 16-10, on Roger Staubach's four-yard touchdown run in overtime at Bloomington. The Giants surprised the Washington Redskins at Giants Stadium, 29-17. Dallas is the defending NFC East champion.

KICKOFF — 1 p.m. (CDT) Sunday at Texas Stadium. Crowd estimate: 60,000-65,000.

TELEVISION — Telecast regionally by CBS (blackout in Dallas unless sold out by 1 p.m. Thursday) with Pat Summerall and Tom Brookshier.

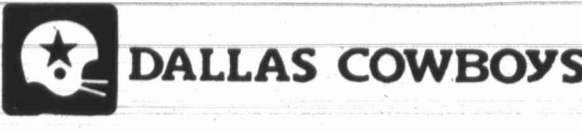

RADIO — KRLD (1080 in Dallas), KPJZ (1270 in Fort Worth) and the nine-state Cowboys Radio Network with Verne Lundquist and Brad Sham.

SERIES STANDINGS — The Cowboys own an all-time 20-9-2 edge over the Giants, including five in a row, but for the past several years all of the games have been close battles. The Cowboys won last year at Giants Stadium, 24-14, and at Texas Stadium, 9-3. The last New York victory came in 1974 at Dallas, 14-6.

THE COACHES — Tom Landry, the veteran coach in his 18th season with the Cowboys, owns a career record of 138-93-6 and ranks among the six winningest coaches in NFL history. The Cowboys have compiled 11 consecutive winning seasons under Landry, running up a 113-40-2 record during that span. They have also made 10 playoff appearances since 1966, including three trips to the Super Bowl and a World Championship in Super Bowl VI.

This is John McVay's second year as coach of the Giants, after he replaced Bill Arnsparger at mid-season last year. The Giants compiled a 3-4 mark in '76 under McVay and their opening win last Sunday brought his NFL mark to 500. McVay previously coached Memphis of the now-defunct World Football League in 1974-75.

HOW IT SHAPES UP — Cowboys Coach Tom Landry was talking about his old team, the New York Giants, Sunday's opponent in the 1977 home opener in Texas Stadium at 1 p.m.

"Their win over the Redskins last Sunday surely did a lot for their confidence since they are a young club. My heart is always with the Giants because of my years associated with them as a player and coach. Now we must get ready to play them again. With their win last week, I don't see how we can afford to let down. If we do, we're going to be struggling."

"Defensively, I don't see too much difference in their team. Last year when we played them the second game we couldn't score against them (in a 9-3 Cowboys win in Texas Stadium). We had to kick three field goals. They're sticking with a 4-3 alignment, much more than they did last year. A 4-3 team today is a rarity. I know we've got to have a great effort right now to win."

Assessing his own team's performance in the 16-10 overtime win over the Vikings last week, Landry said: "This is a bright Tuesday for us after Sunday. It was really an exciting game for us to play. I don't know how it was from the stands, but I know it was a tough football game and one in which I knew a break or two was going to change the game one way or the other. Fortunately, we came out of it in good shape."

"We were moving well, we had very few injuries. I don't think anyone will miss the game Sunday unless something shows up tomorrow when we go out to practice. Bill Gregory (defensive tackle) ought to be back after missing the last game (knee sprain)."

"Cliff Harris was outstanding defensively with 10 tackles and two interceptions and got one of the game balls. Preston Pearson, who is playing better now than I've ever seen him, got the other game ball. Preston has been making great plays for us."

"Many others played well on defense — Harvey Martin, Aaron Kyle, Bob Breunig, Larry Cole, Randy White, you could almost pick out anybody."

"Offensively, we didn't move the ball as well as we'd like to. We're still not where we'd like to be offensively. It seems to be a breakdown on one or two people. But I think in time we'll run the ball better — our running game needs to improve."

"Actually, the offensive line looked much better than it appeared from the sideline. They were aggressive and working hard, but we just weren't putting enough blocks together to bust open their defense."

In response to numerous questions about rookie Tony Dorsett, Landry replied:

BAT FOR A BAT — A fan at the Houston-Atlanta National League game Thursday night trades a bat, out of the hands of Braves' pitcher Eddie Solomon, that ended up in the stands. Braves' Jerry Royster (13) makes the trade with the fan as Don Collins (42) looks on.

OUT OF REACH — Boston Red Sox third baseman Butch Hobson watches a hit by Detroit Tigers' Ron LeFlore get past him after making a dive for it in the first inning of Thursday night's game in Detroit. Detroit won the game, 5-4.

Dallas, Oakland, L.A., Pack picked

Call it a preview of the American Conference championship game and a bunch of guys from New England, Cincinnati, Baltimore and maybe a few other towns will come over and tap dance on your face — with cleats.

But there's no getting away from the fact that Sunday's game between the Steelers and the Oakland Raiders will generate enough heat to keep Pittsburgh's steel mills going until Christmas.

Oakland won both meetings last year — the come-from-behind 31-28 beating that featured George Atkinson's come-from-behind greeting of Lynn Swann and the 24-7 trouncing in the AFC title game when the Steelers were missing a little thing called a running game.

The Steelers are as healthy and hungry as ever — but no matter. The Raiders will come out on top once again.

Last week's mediocre mark: 8-6, 571. This week's picks:

- Raiders 20, Steelers 17
- On a head-to-head matchup, we like Ken Stabler's ability and play selection over Terry Bradshaw's. We also wonder just how much of Pittsburgh's success last Monday night was due to San Francisco's ineptitude.
- All else aside, we stick with a champion until it's been knocked off, and when it comes to the Raiders, it may not happen this year — Super Bowl XII included.
- Patriots 24, Browns 13
- We're not ready to believe in the Browns just yet. If they can get past the Pats (and Pittsburgh or Oakland the next two weeks), then we'll believe. Right now,

Getting cut hard on family too

DALLAS (AP) — A dream world came easy for Barb Jensen. Her new home was nearly completed, her first child was due in two months and her husband was a Dallas Cowboy fullback in a city agog with the Cowboys.

But the harsh realities of the National Football League shattered the dream when the second-year running back was swapped to Denver in the final, brutal days of roster trimming. Jensen, a 6-3, 240-pound physical specimen who once caused Cowboy officials to remark, "I think you're going to hear a lot about Jim Jensen," had less than 24 hours to join the Broncos.

The former Iowa star left behind a stunned, pregnant wife, who had to pack, sell the almost-built house they had worked on since February and move to Denver.

"We're still in a state of shock over it," Mrs. Jensen said Tuesday in a telephone interview from Denver. "We weren't prepared mentally. The coaches gave us no advance notice at all."

"It's tough, but football is a big business. And the head office just doesn't have a lot of feeling for personal problems," said Mrs. Jensen, who was faced with finding a doctor to deliver their baby — and an apartment complex that took children.

"We still don't know why we were traded," she said. "Jim was the only back who stayed healthy during the entire preseason, and he had been playing on all the specialty teams and all I just don't know how they justified trading him."

"The hardest part was saying goodbye to our friends, and knowing we may not see them again," Mrs. Jensen continued. "And leaving the house. We designed it, and it was going to be completed in three weeks. We had all that time invested in it."

The Jensens have no friends or relatives in Denver and the Broncos are on the road during much of October — when the baby is due.

"I'm probably taking it better than a lot of wives would, because I really love the game. A lot of wives just stay in their hometowns during the season. And if we had children in school, it might be different."

"But Jim really loves it here in Denver," she added. "We're glad that if we had to get traded, at least it was here."

"We don't have any bitter feelings, because we have so many close friends on the team. We still cheered for the Cowboys last weekend," Mrs. Jensen said. "It's just not that easy to change your loyalties."

Two jail inmates seek $30,000

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Claiming they were subjected to "cruel and unusual punishment," two inmates in the Starr County jail have filed a class action suit in federal court seeking $30,000 in damages.

24-year-old Ricardo Saldana, said he was placed in solitary confinement for "allegedly making excess noise by banging on the walls." Saldana said the isolation cell was so small he was forced to sleep in a sitting position and was denied food and water for a 24-hour period. "Plaintiff Saldana had to use a drain in the floor as a toilet and he was provided no toilet paper," the suit claims.

Saldana, a Starr County resident, is an inmate of the jail in Rio Grande City awaiting trial on attempted burglary charges, according to the suit.

John A. Biegajski, 32, the suit's other plaintiff, served nine months of a one-year sentence for negligent homicide in the jail.

Biegajski, also a Starr County resident, alleges jail personnel waited four days before informing his wife that he needed a prescription filled causing "serious withdrawal symptoms including muscular spasms and mental disorder."

BANDS ACROSS THE SEA — The band of the Grenadier Guards marches across the Brooklyn Bridge into Manhattan Wednesday as a preview to their appearance in New York over the weekend. The Grenadiers and the Scots Guards are here on a tour as part of Queen Elizabeth's Silver Jubilee.

The suit said that at the time the Commission on Jail Standards was formulating rules, Starr County was in the process of building a new jail.

"On November 8, 1976, the proposed rules were brought to the attention of the Starr County Commissioners' Court at its regular meeting by attorneys for Texas Rural Legal Aid, Inc. who urged that the new jail be constructed so as to conform with the new jail standards," alleges the suit.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE
FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: New beginnings can be yours after you first get rid of the various duties you have agreed to do. To gain the greatest possible potential benefits, think in terms of extending activities in new directions.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go after some new goal of a personal nature and gain it. Later be with good friends and go to a new place. Find the right new outlet for better self-expression.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get work done early and then get into activities that bring you a better public image. You can advance quickly. Be sure to dress in very fine style.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen to those with ideas different from your own and learn much from them. Your work keeps you busy, but when you finish, go out for some relaxation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You feel piqued but all changes and you can have a fine time with those you like. Show that you are a person who has know-how.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Know what is expected of you by associates and then try to please them. A civic matter is better straightened out later. Be diplomatic.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use more modern methods and finish work ahead of you and gain the right benefits from it. Have conversations with co-workers and get good results. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan amusements for later on, but first finish regular tasks. Spend more time with mate, loved one and be happier. Avoid a tendency to seek out persons radically different from you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to spend much time at home and improve matters there. Wait until later in the day to look into some new interest. Entertain at home in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Update your thinking and get routines improved and derive greater benefits from them. Plan time for visiting friends and relatives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get into practical affairs and improve your position in life considerably. Go to some business expert for advice you need when you are in doubt. Be wary of strangers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Remove stumbling blocks in the path of your progress and then sail along smoothly, gain aims easily.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take care of chores early and then you free time for friends after lunch. Listen to what an advisor has to say confidentially for gaining some aim important to you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have much charm and ability at whatever is of a unique nature, so encourage this free thinking early and there could be much success during lifetime. Be careful of diet here and don't force to eat whatever is not palatable to him or to her.
