Carter threatens to veto gas bill

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Accusing big petroleum companies of trying to add at least $20 billion to the price of natural gas, President Carter threatened Saturday to veto a gas-pricing bill if it conflicts with the interests of the people.

"I hate to veto a bill that a Democratic Congress passes," Carter declared, "but you can depend on it—I'll protect your interests when the bill comes to my desk."

Speaking to between 3,000 and 4,000 cheering, whistling supporters of Democratic gubernatorial candidate Henry Howell at a rally in Norfolk's Azalea Gardens, Carter endorsed Howell's populist, proconsumer stance and said the candidate is campaigning to "keep the big boys honest."

"We have the same problem in Washington about powerful companies having too much influence," Carter said.

Later, at a $1,000-a-couple Howell campaign dinner at Colonial Williamsburg, Carter reported "some progress" toward a comprehensive nuclear test ban treaty and toward a new strategic arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union.

"We don't yet know what our success might be," he said. "But at least we made progress forward." He did not specify the nature of the progress.

"I don't yet know what the result will be," Carter said, adding that the progress came in three hours of talks he had Friday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Elsewhere in his Williamsburg speech, the President said it is time for the United States "to get over" Vietnam, scandals in the CIA and Watergate. He said he sensed "a burgeoning hope for the future."

"We can withstand challenges," he said. "We can overcome mistakes that might well destroy a lesser government or a lesser people."

Speaking on the nation's economy, Carter said: "Although the monthly figures go up and down slightly, there's a basic stability there."

The President didn't stay to eat the dinner of snapper turtle soup and roast tenderloin of beef with the 140 couples at Williamsburg. Instead, he left before the appetizer course to attend a Congressional Black Caucus banquet in Washington later Saturday evening.

Carter spent six hours campaigning in Williamsburg, Norfolk and Roanoke for Howell, a former lieutenant governor who is running against Republican Lt. Gov. John Dalton. Howell, the acknowledged leader in the race, was an early supporter of Carter's White House bid.

The President's trip cost the Howell campaign an estimated $20,000, but that expense was well covered by the $140,000 realized from the Williamsburg dinner.

Referring in Norfolk to the petroleum lobby's efforts to add immediate deregulation of natural gas to the energy bill, the President said:

"The gas companies are very powerful in Washington as you well know, and want to deregulate immediately and add a tremendous cost to the American public. ... $20 billion to the price of natural gas already discovered in Alaska alone."

In a Senate test vote Thursday, an effort to scrap an industry-backed natural gas deregulation bill failed by a 52-46 vote. The House already has passed Carter's gas-pricing plan, which would continue controls on gas shipped across state lines while lifting the price ceiling from the current $1.45 per thousand cubic feet to $1.75.

The President said his energy proposals call for an end to regulation of natural gas prices over time and include "enough incentive and encouragement for exploration."

Illegals are brave in land of the free

Editor's note: This is the first of a four-part series on trials and tribulations of illegals living in Big Spring.

By BOB BURTON

Jasinta did not celebrate Dies Y Seiz last week as the rest of the Mexican-American community did. Jasinta can't celebrate her independence. She is a Mexican national, and she has been illegally living in Big Spring since 1970.

She crossed the Rio Grande Aug. 18 with her two sons and her daughter. She had $10 and the clothes they wore. She has worked steadily since she came to Big Spring. Some of the conditions she has worked under here belong in another age, another country. She is 34.

She was born in Chihuahua province. Her mother died at her birth and her father died nine years ago. In 1969 she found herself with three children, separated from her husband, and working 12 to 13 hours a day.

"I just had a hard life," she remembers. "In Mexico there is no help for a woman alone with children. I thought about it a long time. Each person has to get along in Mexico, with the problems they have."

"The idea of coming to the U.S. came to me myself. I wasn't sold it. I didn't discuss it with anyone."

When she decided to cross, she sold the family's furniture, clothing, belongings. "It took months," she said, "but eventually I moved to Ojinaga."

There she went to work in a restaurant. She met a friend to take care of the kids. She was there two weeks.

"I went to the town asking to find someone who could get me across. I don't know whether other people who worked at the restaurant used it as a jumping off place for the United States, but I had only been there a short time when I met Manuel."

He was a "coyote," the slang term for a professional wetback runner. Manuel came to the restaurant and spoke to the owner. He collected nine people who wanted to come to the United States. There was some haggling over the price.

"He wanted $300 for all nine," Jasinta remembers, "but we convinced him that $170 was all we could afford." Manuel took the money and left.

"He must have crossed to the United States," she continued, "but I didn't know where he was at the time. In the afternoon, we were picked up by Tony, Manuel's assistant, who drove us to the river where we were to cross. I had my children with me. We walked down the bank and climbed into a canoe, three at a time. It was about 7 p.m. We were rowed across by a boy who got $9 from Tony for his trouble. Then another car pulled up on the American side. Manuel leaned out and we all got in."

She remembers that they drove "all night" in the crowded car. She had no briefing session, no papers, no instructions. She climbed out of the car with an eight-year-old daughter, a five-year-old son and a three-year-old son in her arms. It was still dark. She was on Gregg Street in Big Spring, north of the tracks.

She stood on the street corner until 10 a.m. the next morning. Then she approached the owner of a lunch stand.

"The owner there opened the door, then it would probably have taken me a year to earn the money to come across again."

Five days later, her children were enrolled in Big Spring public schools. Two weeks after she arrived in Big Spring she applied for a social security card, and got it. She still does not have a driver's license, but she needs one. "I want to drive my kids to the high school," she said. "I'm afraid to let them ride the bus." They walk now. She has never seen any of the other occupants of Manuel's car on the long ride up from the border since that night.

"If I could have found a job in Mexico, it would have been better for me," Jasinta believes, "but I don't think I could have educated the children as well. I thank God that He helped me, because I had some hard times."

"But," she insists, "I haven't hurt anyone but myself. I work hard and I take no breaks. Some Big Spring people come here and work a day or two. Then they start to complain about time off for lunch. I work harder than they do, and I don't hurt anyone but myself when they won't allow me to do those things they'll allow an American."

"The hardest part of the crossing was living on $25 per week," she recalls. "Ten went for rent and to feed us all on $15 each week was very difficult. I never took welfare. Sometimes I could eat at work and my children ate at Head Start."

"Now," she says with pride, "I rent my home. I own my furniture, and I have a savings account."

Her only complaint is that she is unprotected as she goes to look for work. "I am defenseless," she said. "They can pay what they like."

She does not believe that she forfeited her defenses when she left Mexico and crossed illegally into the U.S.

so I just walked up to him. I told him the whole story and he hired me on the spot. I worked there two months, from 8 a.m. to 1 a.m., six days a week. He paid me $25 each week.

"Sure, I was afraid, but also I wasn't afraid. I had decided I wanted to be here. It could have happened, I could have been sent back. But I was determined. If I had been sent back ILLEGAL BUT DETERMINED — Jasinta crossed from Mexico into the United States seven years ago. She brought her three children with her, and she said she was determined to stay. Now she says that, even if she is deported, her children will remain in Big Spring. "They stay here," she insists.

Big Spring woman killed when struck by vehicle

Mrs. Tom (Emma) Slaughter, 1305 Gregg, died shortly before midnight Friday after being struck by a car as she was crossing South Gregg in the 1300 block.

According to police reports, the 78-year-old woman was struck by an automobile driven by Stanley Howell Wallace Jr., 2903 Crestline, as she attempted to cross Gregg from a grocery store parking lot to her home across the street.

The tragic accident occurred at approximately 9:54 p.m. Police officers Dusty Choate, John Edwards, David Caudle and Robert Carouth all

with Tommy Hart

The feedback I get is that Jerry Clower, the comedian who played to a large crowd, during Fair week here, wasn't all that funny. His penchant for name-dropping doesn't compliment his material.

Probably no celebrity can match the impact Ken (Festus) Curtis had on the local community when he appeared during the Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion here a few years ago. If Clower wasn't too accessible, Curtis reasoned his contract dictated that he be "on call" from the time he came to town until the time he left.

Most men, it is told, die with a whimper rather than a roar.

When Count Carl Gustaf von Rosen was shot down during a guerrilla attack in the Ethiopian town of Gode, 270 kilometers from the Somalia border recently, scant notice was made of his passing.

In reality, Von Rosen had led an adventurous, action-filled life that most men would like to emulate. Von Rosen had made risk and Africa his life's pursuit. He had fought in the air for breakaway Biafra — a lost cause from the start. He had flown in the Congo in 1960 and was in the skies above Ethiopia when Mussolini's planes came roaring across the sun-baked desert scrub in 1935.

The Scandinavian had flown in Europe, too, fighting for the Finns against the Muscovites in 1939-40 and had lined up with the Netherlands against the Germans. Throughout his life he had sought the sound of gunfire and courted death high above the meadows of the farmers who wished for peace.

Always, it seems, he was aligning with causes where the odds were overwhelmingly against him. A lot of men are willing to live with their ideals but few are prepared to die for them.

Q. Why has KBST not run a story on Jim Baum, manager of KBYG, who has formally announced for Congress?

A. Baum sent out 100 news releases to news media, two local radio stations, KBST and KHEM, say they received none. Baum said it was an oversight. KBST was not invited to a news conference announcing the candidacy either, according to Carl McMillan, news director. The station spokesman said they have announced the candidacy of Snowden and Rhodes, who have formally filed. The station checked on Monday with the Secretary of State's office, the clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives and the federal election bureau and at that time, Baum had not paid the $1,500 filing fee and filed formally for the position, according to McMillan.

Offbeat: Bandit may see red

EAST WINDSOR, N.J. (AP) — The robbery of a bank here may have brought a tear to the eye of the hold-up man, especially when he realized he probably will get caught red-handed, police said.

The gunman left the Franklin State Bank with the bag of money he asked for, police said, but the bag also contained a canister of red dye that he hadn't requested.

The canister is designed to explode and emit a powder that permanently stains anything it touches.

And as an added touch, an enterprising bank teller tossed a vial of tear gas into the money bag, authorities said.

A LITTLE MORE LEG LADY — German sculptor Michael Schwarz may have been thinking of the ancient war cry of the press photographer, but at any rate came up with this work displayed Saturday in a Duesseldorf exhibition. The work, in plastic, entitled "Boccia" drew a quizzical glance from the gentleman at right.

Mennonites future hazy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. George Mahon says 500 Mennonites who recently migrated to his West Texas district may not be deported as scheduled next month, but their long-term future remains uncertain.

After spending this spring and summer setting up a farm community, the Mennonites are now facing deportation.

Mahon said he expected that the Oct. 1 deadline for the Mennonites will be extended temporarily by government immigration officials. That would not, however, solve the Mennonites' long-term problems.

"I don't know if we'll be able to find a way," he said.

Mahon said last week he doesn't see how they could pull up their roots in Mexico and Canada without first checking U.S. immigration laws.

"They're known as very intelligent people, and the law is very clear," Mahon said.

The Mennonites, an evangelical Protestant group known for simple, agrarian lifestyles, have said that a land dealer misled them about the availability of permanent resident status when they purchased a $2.6 million tract near Seminole.

But Seminole real estate appraiser Seth Woltz, who helped bring the Mennonites to Texas, shrugs off the accusations. "What to I know of immigration law?" he said.

The Mennonites arrived this spring on their 6,400-acre new home with temporary visas, mostly from Mexico, that have run out.

There are long waiting lists for the available slots in the Mexican migration quota for those who do not have close relatives already living in the United States.

Mahon said many Mexican-Americans who have been waiting to get relatives and friends into the country within the quota might be annoyed if the Mennonites got special treatment.

He has been checking possible alternative solutions to the Mennonite dilemma, but so far, the search has been almost fruitless.

Mahon and his office tried to persuade the Labor Department to grant the settlers temporary work visas, certifying that the Mennonites were needed to perform work for which American labor was not available. The Labor Department, mindful of the 7.1 per cent general unemployment rate, has refused.

Another approach was to persuade the government to admit them as refugees, of a sort, from Mexico. One reason the Mennonites left, they say, was the Mexican land redistribution program that limits the amount of land an individual can hold and gives the excess to landless peasants.

"But it would be very difficult, diplomatically, for the U.S. government to certify that if they returned to Mexico they'd be in jeopardy," Mahon said.

Odessan dies in fiery crash

HOLLIS, Okla. (AP) — An Odessa man man was killed Friday night in a flaming crash 24 miles north of here.

Investigators said George William Lepley, 41, died when his one-ton truck struck a guard rail and bridge abutment and burst into flames on state highway 30.

A passenger in the truck, 41-year-old Clifford Edgar Crawford, also of Odessa, was ejected but was not seriously hurt.

Crawford, who was treated and released from a Hollis hospital, managed to pull the victim from the truck before it burned.

POAGE OPTS NOT TO SEEK RE-ELECTION — W.R. (Bob) Poage, Waco, long-time Congressman for the 11th District, announced Saturday that he will retire at the end of his current term in office. The former chairman of the Agriculture Committee said it was time for a "new face" to carry on his job.

Police beat TV set, $400 stolen

Burglars had to remove an air conditioner from a window at the home of Mrs. Mary White, 1404 Settles, in order to get to a black and white television set and approximately $400 cash sometime Friday.

According to reports, the burglars used an unknown tool to open the living room window enough to remove the air conditioner. Once inside the thieves found the cash and took the TV. Before making a run for it the burglars were kind enough to replace the air conditioning unit in the window.

Total loss to Mrs. White, amounted to about $450. Victor Garza 507 Douglas must have been surprised when police found four large caliber bullet holes in the left front door of his car at about 3:20 a.m. Saturday.

According to reports, Garza had called the police earlier in the evening, complaining that he had heard shots. Upon investigation, police found the four bullet holes in the car door. Police reports indicate that 30 caliber or larger bullets were used.

Hoping to find the weapon used in the early morning shooting on Douglas, police stopped a suspicious looking vehicle at the intersection of 17th and Gregg, at 3:30 a.m.

The weapon was not found, but police arrested three men for possession of marijuana. According to reports, the pot was found under the front seat of the car and amounted to less than two ounces.

The J and K Shoe Store, Highland South Shopping Center, reported the possible theft of approximately $1,157 from the safe in the store sometime Monday or Tuesday.

According to reports, the missing cash was made up of the receipts and cash from the Saturday before. The Saturday receipts were kept in a separate money bag from the Monday and Tuesday receipts and all were kept in the store safe.

The safe is normally kept unlocked during business hours, and the money bag was not discovered missing until Wednesday.

Loil Green, 8305 Cornell, got scared Friday night when someone tried to break down the back door of her house.

According to reports, Mrs. Green was in her bedroom when someone came to the back door and rang the bell over and over again. When she did not answer she said there was a lot of noise as if someone were trying to break the door down.

Upon investigation, police found that the entire inside facing of the door had been wrenched loose, and only the chain seemed to be holding the door closed.

At this time police have no suspects to the attempted break in.

At approximately 6:50 p.m. Saturday, Police Officer Troy Hogue arrested a juvenile for the theft of a motorcycle stolen last Thursday.

The arrest, which was made on the 1000 Block of W. First, also led to the recovery of the street bike worth approximately $450. The motorcycle belongs to John Freeman, 706 W. 14th.

Criminal mischief makers did approximately $150 damage to the coolant unit of Helen's Barber Shop, 3601 W. 80.

According to reports the incident happened about 8 a.m. Friday when somebody used a club to bash in the rear of the unit which was mounted in one of the shop windows.

For good measure, the destructors also ruined a sign outside the shop. Total damage amounted to $170.

Burglars broke into the home of Sidney Brewer, Gail Rt. Box 103A, between Thursday morning and Friday at 8 a.m.

According to reports the burglars broke one of the southwestern windows of the home to gain entry. Once inside they broke into the gun case. It is unknown at this time what was taken during the burglary.

Cars driven by Judy B. Kloss, 1802 Wasson, and Beverly D. Davis, 700 Lorilla, collided at 6th and Gregg, at 1:40 p.m. Friday.

Cars driven by Sherry L. Waddell, Gail Rt. Box 163, and John C. Womack, Coahoma, collided in the Howard County Fair ground parking lot at 7:50 p.m. Friday.

Carter's kitchen cabinet growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — When he accepted Bert Lance's resignation, President Carter probably doubled the size of his kitchen cabinet.

If the President's departed budget chief emerges unscathed from a handful of federal investigations into his check-writing, plane-riding and money-borrowing practices, he's likely to join fellow Georgian Charles Kirbo in the exclusive club of presidential advisers without portfolio.

"I can almost assure you that he'll continue to be a friend and now an adviser from the private sector," said one of Carter's closest associates. "I'd expect the President to look to him for advice, and he might even be given some special assignments along the way."

This official conceded he could not be certain, but predicted that Lance might serve Carter in an even "more obvious and visible way" than Kirbo, the Atlanta lawyer who is the kitchen cabinet's only present member. Like Kirbo, Lance almost certainly wouldn't get paid for his advice.

Kitchen cabinets are those intimate friends of presidents who advise them informally. The term "kitchen cabinet" reaches back at least as far as Andrew Jackson. It was the popular name applied to his intimate political friends.

More recently, presidents such as Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Lyndon B. Johnson have had kitchen cabinets including such unofficial advisers as Thomas Corcoran, George E. Allen and Abe Fortas.

Standing in the way of an immediate backstairs role for Lance at the White House are the investigations and his need to put his personal finances in order. Trouble on either front could jeopardize his kitchen cabinet status. Moreover, the White House is aware it would look better if a decent interval passed before there was any hint of a Lance reincarnation.

In any case, one White House aide expressed doubt Lance can ever rival the patriarchal Kirbo, the President's senior in age and demeanor, as an unofficial elder statesman. This aide pictured Lance as one to think out loud with Carter, whereas Kirbo, in a quiet, fatherly way, gives succinct, well thought-out advice.

Nonetheless, two administration officials said Lance has a more mature relationship with Carter than two other Georgians on the payroll — top presidential assistant Hamilton Jordan and Press Secretary Jody Powell.

"Not to denigrate the President's relationship with Powell and Jordan, but that's kind of a father-son thing," said one.

Lance's letter of resignation did not include the customary offer to be helpful whenever he could. And Carter, in his emotional announcement last week that Lance was leaving, said nothing about calling on him in the future.

However, the President made it clear that he values Lance's judgment and counsel. "I don't think there's any way that I could find anyone to replace Bert Lance that would be, in my judgment, as competent, as strong, as decent and as close to me as a friend and adviser as he has been," Carter said.

"There has been a special relationship between me and Bert Lance that transcended official responsibilities or duties or even governmental service over the last six or seven years."

Kirbo's relationship with Carter goes back even further — some 15 years. His special status with the President is underscored by the fact that Carter has made available for his use when he comes to Washington the hideaway office that former President Richard M. Nixon maintained in the Old Executive Office Building.

It was in this same building, next door to the White House, that Lance presided over the Office of Management and Budget.

Might Lance use the old Nixon office, too? Kirbo has said it has "enough damn room ... for a platoon of men."

"My hunch is that he won't," a Lance associate said. "That would put him back in the same building he had to leave, and I don't think that's very likely."

Kirbo averages two trips to Washington a month, interspersed with exchanges of telephone calls and memoranda. "When there's a problem up there, I sort of feel like I ought to be there," he said recently.

One of the occasions that brought him to town was Lance's predicament. Kirbo was here when Carter publicly embraced Lance last month and told him: "Bert, I'm proud of you."

The Lance associate indicated the former budget chief might play a similar role.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see him ... coming back into town quietly, like Charlie," he said. "You know, I've seen it again and again. Whenever there's some problem, you see Charlie around here."

Ken Galbreath named manager at Sav-U

Ken Galbreath, new manager at SAV-U, is not new to the business, having accumulated over 20 years experience in various grocery stores throughout West Texas.

He requested a transfer to Big Spring while he was managing a Piggly Wiggly store in Midland. Previous to that, Galbreath spent a year at Foodway and eight years working for Furr's Super Markets.

Having received a B.A. degree in Personnel Management from Texas Tech, Galbreath says he really loves Big Spring, and the grocery business.

After all, he started when he was 11 years old in a store in which his father was produce manager, and has not really been away from the business since.

He has a wife, Janis, and they are living in the Barcelona Apartments in Big Spring.

Economic indicators still strong

Webb Air Force Base is almost closed, so how has Big Spring fared? The answer is still: Unbelievably well.

The economy of the town remains startlingly strong, and all the economic indicators have held at levels unpredicted by even the most optimistic.

As base reuse consultant Jack Corbett of Checchi & Co. said last week, "All the dire things predicted for Big Spring have not happened. In a sense, it has been instead the beginning of a new era. If anything, I think the community itself did not appreciate its own talents and abilities. I have been impressed by Big Spring. I never doubted the ability of the town to withstand the closing of the base."

THE GREAT portion of the blow has already been delivered. Col. Ron Miller, base closing officer, says that military strength at the base has fallen from 1,500 June 1 to what will be 315 persons Oct. 1.

The civilian strength has dropped from 648 to 173. Most of the persons remaining at Webb on Oct. 1 will be part of the caretaker force which will stay at Webb until far into next year.

By April of next year, Miller said the caretaker force will include 55 military and 126 civilian employees. Miller also said 167 buildings at Webb are now vacated by the Air Force. The caretaker force will occupy 16.

Of the 465 Capehart housing units, 139 will be occupied, all on the first two streets of Albrook and Chanute.

The base commissary has become a subsidiary operation of the one at Reese and will be shut down by December. The Base Exchange also will operate at a reduced rate through December.

The exodus months from Webb are almost over, and the Big Spring has shaken off the punch unafazed.

One good indication of how well the town has survived is demonstrated by the city water connection figures. The numbers are actually up from January if that can be believed. Here's how they look:

March 1976 — 9,116
January 1977 — 8,935
March 1977 — 8,942
May 1977 — 9,005
July 1977 — 9,009
August 1977 — 9,046

Electrical residential connections in the city has shown a slight decline for the past three months from 8,688 in May to 8,444 in August. But this drop has averaged less than 1 per cent a month — far less than anticipated. Total electrical connections have declined even less.

Retail sales, as reflected by city sales tax receipts, were off for August, but only by about 5 per cent. Because of the way the State Comptroller's Office keeps records, the receipts are not accurate for comparison on a month-by-month basis. The cumulative city sales tax receipts for the year are running $546,423, or almost 2 per cent above the $536,637 figure at this time last year.

SOME ECONOMIC indicators are even climbing. For example, total car titles changed during the month of August were 1,365, compared to total car sales of 1,212 last year. This is a gain of almost 13 per cent.

Postal receipts jumped from $69,924 in August 1976 to $74,544 in August for this year, a neat little 7 per cent gain.

For anyone who is wanting to see a town turn to ghosts and tumbleweeds, they'd better go watch some place other than Big Spring.

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — During the first week of September as the Lance affair became a crisis, President Carter's top economic policymakers met over breakfast and reached an informal agreement that is building consternation through Wall Street.

The agreement: when Dr. Arthur Burns concludes eight years as head of the Federal Reserve Board next January, he should not be reappointed chairman — not even for a two-year short term. That means Mr. Carter must overrule his senior advisers to keep Burns running the nation's central bank.

TO WASHINGTON insiders who all year have regarded Burns as done for, this may seem like a dog-bites-man story. But to the shaky world of high finance — not only Wall Street but Tokyo, Frankfurt and Zurich — it is a shock. Fairly or not, the money men regard sacking Arthur Burns as a Carter decision not to fight inflation. The consequences of that perception can only further the sluggish capital investment.

The politically important timing of the breakfast meeting shows how shaky Burns' future really is. With Lance's prospects for survival even more hopeless than that at this writing, there was speculation at middle administration levels that Burns might be needed at the Fed to reassure business after the departure of the budget director.

In fact, there was no sign this was even discussed over bacon and eggs in the White House. Present were Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, chairman Charles Schultz of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and Stuart Eizenstat, chief domestic policy adviser. Burns' future was not a formal agenda item, but his name came up in conversation. All three agreed a new face was needed at the Fed in January.

ONLY BLUMENTHAL'S position was slightly surprising. He has developed an amiable relationship with Burns over weekly breakfast meetings and refrained from criticizing the chairman, publicly or privately, when action by the Fed boosted interest rates last spring. But like Eizenstat and Schultz, he believes Burns should go.

Lance, preoccupied with his own survival, was not present at the September breakfast and will not discuss the Burns question. But he has been publicly critical of Burns' money management policy, and friends say Lance months ago recommended against reappointment.

With the administration's economic high command in agreement, there would be no doubt of the final decision if Gerald Ford were President. Jimmy Carter is not that predictable, but it is difficult to see how he would reappoint Burns unless strong countervailing advice came from somewhere. So, friends of Burns would like to see pro-Burns whispers put in the President's ear by two canny, business-oriented Washington power brokers: Sen. Russell B. Long and Robert Strauss.

LONG'S COURSE is beyond either manipulation or prediction. As for Strauss, the incapacitation of Lance has broadened his duties as trade negotiator to fill in as informal emissary to the business world. But there is no sign he feels any differently about Burns than Mr. Carter's other senior advisers.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS

DRILLING A WATER WELL

We had a large dirt tank over on the back side of our pasture. A draw had been dammed up and if rain came it would hold water for a good long while. Cows could get drinks there and it wasn't a bad swimming hole either. Dad got the idea that if we had a well there and a windmill to pump it the tank would stay full of water the year round. He hired some men with a rig to drill for water.

We sat at the tank and could hear them a long way off crashing through the mesquite thickets making a road where there wasn't one. Then I got my first glimpse of a "spud" — it was a massive greasy wooden frame on rusty iron wheels and attached to it were various sizes of iron and wooden pulleys with wide, flat belts and spools of cable. The contraption was being pulled by a noisy dilapidated army surplus half-track (which army I never knew but they must have lost the battle). It took the better part of the day to set up the rig, put guy wires down, and get everything ready to drill.

Early the next day, after a stern lecture from both parents of how we could watch but not get too close, the men didn't seem to my brother and I ran the whole mile or so to the well site so we wouldn't miss a single thing. The rig was working when we got there and the hole was already several feet deep. A big, heavy iron bit on a cable was being dropped repeatedly into the hole. Up and down it went pounding the bottom of the hole sloshing muddy water out. I got excited and told my brother they had already struck water but the men said they had filled the hole with water from the tank to help in the drilling. Fresh water was put in the hole and as the bit pounded the dirt it made a muddy slush which was bailed out. Then more fresh water was put in and the process repeated. The well was deeper each time it was bailed out.

The bailer was a big long pipe with a dart valve in the bottom. When it hit the bottom of the hole the valve opened, filling the pipe with the muddy slush. It was quickly brought up, swung over into a trough and emptied — the slipperiest stuff I had ever seen, just right to wade in. Well, it seemed like fun while we were doing it even if Mother didn't understand (she expressed her disapproval the minute she saw our clothing that evening). The men didn't seem to some gruesome stories about kids who had fallen into wells and were never seen again. He let us look down the hole once while they weren't drilling but he held tight around our waists while we did.

The rig chugged and shook as the drilling went on for a week or so. When they struck water the bailer was used to check how good the well was. They bailed as fast as possible and judged the well by how many times they had to bail it to get it dry. They finished their job by putting a casing of 8" pipe in the well. Dad was proud of the new well, he said it was better than the one we had at the house. He soon had a windmill erected above it pumping fresh water the year round for the stock.

Whooping cough requires isolation

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it really necessary to isolate a child who has whooping cough? — Mrs. F.T.

Yes, both for the protection of others and of the child himself. The disease usually runs its course in about six weeks. The possibility of infecting others may last for about eight weeks. The first symptoms include running nose, slight fever, and persistent cough with a whoop. The disease lowers the child's resistance to other infections, such as pneumonia, which is why I say isolation is as important for his own protection.

This dangerous disease could be wiped out if all children were protected by immunization. Unfortunately, there is still a long way to go before this happens.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 51 years old and was told recently that I have necrobiosis lipoidica diabetorum. Can you explain this condition to me? There is a history of diabetes in my family, and I understand there is a connection. Does this mean I have this condition, whatever it is, instead of diabetes? Is it something I will always have, or can it be cured? How is it treated? Should I be dieting? My doctor did not tell me to do so. I am somewhat overweight. — Mrs. W. B.

Let's cut that tongue-twister down to size and call it "N.L.D." for short.

It's a matter of degeneration of what is called the collagen tissue. That is specialized tissue that supports and connects internal organs, attaches muscles to bones, and forms bones and the walls of blood vessels. Diseases affecting this tissue are jumped together under the heading "collagen diseases." Although the "N.L." part of the problem usually occurs with diabetes, it can appear as a forerunner of it. Disfiguring red areas form on the skin, varying in size. It also causes occlusion (blocking) of tiny blood vessels such as those serving the skin.

It's important for you to find out some important facts promptly. You should have sugar tolerance tests to determine whether or not you are now diabetic. The fact that your doctor used the term "diabetorum" implies he has detected or suspects diabetes. With a family history of diabetes, that would be more than likely.

You should lose weight and take every measure available to control whatever diabetes exists. Uncontrolled, the red blotches may eventually ulcerate. There's no other answer but control of the diabetes. This is just another reason why I titled my booklet on the subject, "Diabetes: The Sneaky Disease." If you wish further reading, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Big Spring Herald, and I'll mail you a copy.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I heard you say once that Jesus was not a white man but had olive skin. However, recently I saw a television show in which Jesus was represented as having blue eyes. Wouldn't this make him one of the white race? — W.M.A.

DEAR W.M.A.: I do not know what television show you saw, but at this point, at least, it was not an accurate portrayal of Jesus. If you look closely at the genealogies of Jesus given in Matthew 1 and Luke 3, you will see that they both trace the ancestry of Jesus directly back to Abraham, the founder of the Jewish race. While the Bible does not tell us what Jesus looked like, there is every reason to believe that He resembled others of His race at that time.

The important thing to remember, however, is that Jesus Christ came to save men of all races, and that in God's eyes there can be no such thing as racial bigotry or pride. This is a lesson that is hard for some to learn. Jesus rebuked His disciples because they wanted to destroy the Samaritans, who were members of another race (see Luke 9:51-56). When Peter first witnessed to people of another race, he exclaimed, "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons" (Acts 10:34). Paul declared, "In this new life one's nationality or race or education or social position is unimportant; such things mean nothing. Whether a person has Christ is what matters, and he is equally available to all" (Colossians 3:11, Living Bible).

If there is racial prejudice within us it needs to be confessed before God, and we need to ask Him for love for those who are outwardly different from us. After all, down inside we know that all men need Christ and His forgiveness, and by faith in Him they can come to Him and be made sons of God.

Brezhnev successor?

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Some of the sharpest eyes in the West will be watching Leonid Brezhnev, the undomitable old overlord of the Soviet Union, on October 4. That's the day he is expected to choose a deputy who might eventually step in his shoes.

Officially, the heir apparent will assume the cumbersome title of first deputy chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet. This is a new position created by the new constitution the Presidium will adopt on October 4. The job probably will go to the man next in line to succeed Brezhnev.

The selection, therefore, could determine whether world affairs will become more turbulent or tranquil. For the ruler of all the Russians has the power to rock the world boat.

NO ONE EXPECTS Brezhnev to forsake his boat-rocking powers in the immediate future. But he will be 71 in December and he is beset by nagging afflictions. Those who keep an eye on the Kremlin think they detect signs that he may be faltering.

Second in power to Brezhnev appears to be Andrei Kirilenko, who controls Soviet industry. But he is already 71 and, therefore, too old to replace Brezhnev for long. So Kirilenko may be bypassed for a younger leader.

The one who seems to take charge when the old Politburo patriarchs are out of town is 59-year-old Andrei Kulakov. Nominally, he directs Soviet agriculture and keeps a low profile. He is inexperienced in foreign affairs and lacks leadership stature. But in the backrooms of the Kremlin, he has become a power. He might dominate a new collective leadership when the old crowd moves on.

There is an outside possibility that the No. 1 post could go to Kiril Mazurov. He is now second in command to Aleksai Kosygin in the Council of Ministers. But Mazurov has demonstrated the cold bureaucratic skills it takes to get ahead in the Kremlin. He is also a Belorussian, who would be acceptable to the rival Russian and Ukrainian factions in case of a standoff in the Politburo.

It is sheer power, however, that is most respected in the Kremlin. A ruthless younger leader, skilled at intrigue, cannot be overlooked. One who is rising fast is Grigory Romanov, the Leningrad party boss, who is a cunning party in-fighter.

Another possibility is Vladimir Shcherbitaky, the Ukraine party boss, who is not visibly dynamic but has close ties to Brezhnev. Still another junior official who bears watching is Vladimir Dolgikh, who has a reputation for speaking his mind and getting away with it.

Of course, no one outside the Kremlin really knows which leaders will emerge as the old men of the Politburo fade from power.

CONCORDE QUESTION: The Concorde may be the world's noisiest airliner, but its engine roar is a lullaby compared to the political uproar it has raised on Capitol Hill.

Perhaps the loudest objections have come from Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., who is fighting to keep the Concorde from landing at more U.S. airports. He not only has raised a public howl but has also made some private moves against the Concorde.

In a confidential letter Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, Scheuer expressed "grave personal doubts" over the federal testing of the Concorde's noise levels. He submitted 82 blunt questions for Adams' transportation experts to answer.

Scheuer, for example, demanded to know why the Concorde made more noise than a Boeing 707 three miles from the landing strip but suddenly became more quiet than a 707 one mile away. He suggested the Concorde pilots "have been cutting their engines as they fly over" the noise testing points.

At first the complex noise monitoring tests were conducted by students from Virginia Community College. "What were their qualifications for performing these tests?" asked Scheuer.

He contended the Concorde noise levels are higher than the government will tolerate in factories.

Oil estimates 'pessimistic'

HOUSTON (AP)—Two professors at Texas A&M University say the most frequently quoted estimates of new oil reserves to be discovered in the United States probably are pessimistic.

Dr. J. S. Osoba and Dr. W. J. Lee say such estimates are based partly on unfavorable trends of the recent past.

They made their observations in a monograph in which they analyzed the oil and gas pricing portions of President Carter's National Energy Plan.

They concluded the plan holds no incentives for explorations and better recovery techniques.

Osoba and Lee contend, however, that most estimates of oil and gas reserves yet to be found show considerable incentive for further exploration in the United States.

"Even these existing estimates probably have a pessimistic bias because they are based in part on extrapolation of recent trends which include the era of poor incentives for exploration," they said.

The most quoted estimates were said to range from about 60 billion barrels to 568 billion barrels of additional recoverable oil.

The Department of Petroleum Engineering professors said said one of the most quoted estimates of recoverable oil in the United States was made by Dr. M. King Hubbert in 1967 in the Bulletin of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

Hubbert predicted that 62 billion barrels of recoverable oil remain to be discovered. Osoba and Lee say this, along with the current 30 billion barrels of reserves, suggests about 90 billion barrels of oil remain to be produced.

In 1972, a National Petroleum Council study predicted the total volume of oil to be found in the United States as 722 billion barrels, of which 220 billion would be recovered.

"This leaves about 500 billion barrels of recoverable oil yet to be found and produced," the professors said.

In 1971, the American Association of Petroleum Geologists estimated that 825 billion barrels of oil would be found and that 258 billion barrels would be recovered.

"This prediction leads to the conclusion that about 120 billion barrels of recoverable oil remain to be discovered," Osoba and Lee said.

In 1972, the U. S. Geologic Survey indicated 1895 billion barrels of oil would be discovered in the United States and that 560 billion barrels would be recovered. "This would leave 420

Missing girl hid under coats

FAIRHAVEN, Mich. (AP)—An 8-year-old girl whose disappearance sparked a statewide search was found safe and asleep in the back seat of the car her father used to search for her.

When Becky Jo Hogsett failed to return home from school Thursday, her parents notified police. Later, neighbors told police a child fitting the girl's description had been seen getting into a car with a man.

State police joined the search, and so did Becky's father.

Friday morning, she was discovered hidden under a pile of coats in the back seat of the car, where she said she had been all along.

She told police she had a fight with her brother, walked around for a while and then hid under the coats.

ROCK 'N ROLL — Two Howard County Fair patrons hang on tight as they rock back and forth in mid air at the carnival which has been open for six straight nights during a successful fair. Good crowds attended every night.

New subsidiary formed by W. R. Grace & Co.

NEW YORK — W. R. Grace & Co., whose 167-unit restaurant division is expected to produce sales in excess of $150 million this year, has formed a new subsidiary to open and operate a national chain of fast food restaurants featuring Mexican dishes.

The new subsidiary, DTG Inc., is 80 per cent owned by Grace and 20 per cent owned by shareholders of Del Taco, Inc., a 64-unit, Mexican-oriented California fast food chain. DTG has obtained the exclusive U.S. rights, outside of California and a portion of Yuma, Ariz., to use the 10-year-old Del-Taco trademarks along with the key management, the systems and methods and all of the know-how from Del-Taco, Inc. DTG's initial effort will be in Texas, where it plans to have units opened in early 1978.

Grace's Restaurant Division presently consists of Far West Services, a 142-unit chain of specialty restaurants and coffee shops, and El Torito-La Fiesta, a chain of Mexican dinner houses.

Grace & Co. an international chemical company with related natural resources, activities and selected consumer services, operates an agricultural chemicals plant on IS 20 East in Big Spring.

Speedy trials law 'awesome burden'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A task force created by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to help speed up criminal trials was told Friday that meeting time limits imposed by the legislature could be "an awesome burden."

The task force focused first on compiling statistics on the backlog of criminal cases and assessing the impact of similar speedy trial legislation on the federal level and in other states.

Task force chairman Robert Flowers called for reports by Oct. 14, with the next meeting tentatively set for Oct. 21.

Briscoe created the task force through an executive order Sept. 1 and instructed it to develop a plan to reduce any current backlog of cases prior to July 1, 1978, when the time limits go into effect.

He asked for a report with recommendations to implement the law fully by Feb. 1, 1979.

Briscoe did not attend the first meeting Friday, writing Flowers that "my schedule is such that I am unable to be present."

The speedy trial law passed by the 1977 Legislature states that a "court shall grant a motion to set aside an indictment, information, or complaint if the state is not ready for trial" within a certain time.

The time limits range from 30 days "of the commencement of a criminal action" against a person accused of a misdemeanor to 120 days for a person accused of a felony.

There are numerous exceptions, including if the defendant is incompetent to stand trial or if he is attempting to avoid arrest and prosecution.

"Insofar as is practicable," the law states, criminal trials shall be given preference over civil trials and criminal trials for persons in jail shall be given preference over other criminal trials.

"Meeting the time limits could be an awesome burden," said Flowers.

Capital murder charge filed in shooting death of secretary

HOUSTON (AP)—Harris County detectives said Edward Payne Jr., 24, of McNair was charged Friday night with capital murder in the shooting death of a Beaumont secretary who was abducted from her residence last Saturday.

The body of Patricia Ann Dauch, 42, was found on an abandoned couch in a dump area near east Harris County rice fields last Sunday. She had been shot eight times with a .32 caliber revolver, an autopsy showed.

Harris County Detective Steve Minerich said Payne was arrested in Louisiana along with two youths in the dead woman's car.

Minerich said Payne made a statement in which he said he saw Mrs. Dauch washing her car in her driveway.

Traffic deaths total 2,419

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Traffic accidents have killed 2,419 persons in Texas this year, the Department of Public Safety reported Friday.

This is an increase of five per cent over last year's 2,300 deaths during the first 9-1/2 months.

Fatal accidents are running seven per cent over the 1976 pace, with 2,122, compared with 1,974.

Grady grad completes battlefield training

Marine Private Francisco Cantu, son of Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Cantu Jr. of P.O. Box 52, Lenora, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1977 graduate of Grady High School, he joined the Marine Corps in October 1976.

Promoted to commander

Lt. Commander Harry B. Griffith received word Monday that he has been selected for promotion to commander.

Cmdr. Griffith is a native of Leesburg, Fla., and a graduate of Auburn University with a degree in civil engineering. He received his master's from Texas A & M. He is married to Claudette Barnaby, the daughter of Cmdr. and Mrs. Neel Barnaby. They have two children.

Griffith has had duty in Parris Island, Fla., and two tours of duty in Vietnam. He also served at McMurdo Island, Midway Island, and Roosevelt Roads. He is presently commanding officer of Navy Construction Battalion school in Gulfport, Miss.

MoPac to spend $130 million for new freight equipment

ST. LOUIS — In the largest purchase of new freight cars and locomotives in its history, the Missouri Pacific Railroad will spend $130,725,000 for new freight equipment for delivery in 1978 and for additional cars in 1977, John H. Lloyd, president, announced today.

MoPac will place orders totaling $115,000,000 for its initial 1978 equipment program, which will include 2,441 freight cars and 60 locomotives, Mr. Lloyd said.

An additional 550 cars, at a cost of $15,725,000 will be added to our 1977 program, bringing total expenditures this year to about $126,000,000 for 3,177 cars and 70 locomotives, he added.

Freight train equipment to be included in the 1978 orders will include: 1,000 open top hopper cars of 100-ton capacity; 300 wood chip hopper cars of 100-ton capacity; 699 multi-level racks to handle automobiles on flat cars; 41 high roof box cars of 100-ton capacity; one 200-ton capacity flat car; 400 units of various types of equipment; 50 diesel locomotives of 3000 horsepower and 10 diesel locomotives of 2250 horsepower.

Hooray for the Swedes. They found some time ago they could reduce the number of automobile accidents simply by banning auto horns in Stockholm. For that reason, they voted them out.

The Associated General Contractors newsletter says that the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that ten per cent of the people are on unemployment, 30 per cent are on welfare and the rest are on tranquilizers.

The CB craze, rampant for some time now, has produced an unpleasant legacy.

Those who would be entertained by and communicate with CBs are becoming aware that thieves and vandals often monitor the calls and swoop down like so many vultures during times of distress and wreak their mischief.

During the year ending this month, the Federal Communications Commission received an estimated 50,000 complaints involving CB radios. That, I think you'll agree, is an abundance of beefing, even without the use of electronic equipment.

There are 22 million CB radio units operating in this country. Texas, with 890,250 licenses, leads all other states in this gear.

CBs and those who use them perform a multitude of services in a multitude of ways, but there is a seamier side. There are reports of sex clubs using the airwaves. A massage parlor saw its business increase 30 per cent when it installed a CB unit for appointments.

The airwaves are being befouled, too, by the language some operators use. On more than one occasion, a church's public address system has picked up CB radio conversations at the most untimely moments.

Not much can be done about the problems that do exist. If you're hooked on the endeavor, you take your chances.

The C.O. Hitts of Big Spring (he's the former VA Hospital chaplain) arose the morning of Sept. 14 in Tin Cup, Colo., to discover the temperature was a cool 17 degrees and their water pipes had frozen. Outside the frost looked like a heavy snow. By that time, two fresh snows had fallen in the mountains around them.

That's when the Hitts decided it was time to vacate their summer home in the Rockies and head for Big Spring and its warmer climes.

Probe into slaying of sect leader waged

DENVER (AP) — The FBI says its investigation into the slaying of the leader of a polygamist sect is not over, despite the arrests of four persons in connection with the murder.

FBI agents and local police, in coordinated raids Friday, arrested three persons in Colorado and a fourth in Texas on federal fugitive warrants filed in Salt Lake City last week.

Ramona Marston, 20, and Lloyd Vernal Sullivan, 51, were arrested in Denver. Victor Lee Chynoweth, 30, was picked up in Sedalia, Colo., and Mark Earl Chynoweth was arrested in Dallas.

The warrants said complaints had been filed against them in Utah, charging them with first-degree murder, criminal homicide and conspiracy in the death of Rulon Clark Alfred, 71.

Allred, an ex-communicated member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) and leader of an unnamed polygamist sect with several thousand followers, was gunned down last May in his office in suburban Salt Lake City.

Bond of $100,000 was set for Miss Marston and bond for Sullivan and Victor Chynoweth were set at $50,000 Friday after they appeared before U.S. Magistrate Royce Slickler in Denver. A removal hearing, similar to extradition proceedings in state courts, was scheduled for Oct. 3.

Mark Chynoweth was being held on $50,000 bond in Dallas and a removal hearing for him was scheduled for Sept. 29.

World military expenditure is currently running seven times the level of official development aid to the Third World, which would be a tipoff on the direction we're going.

There's far less agitation for the four-day work week than there used to be, although the Nobel prize-winning economist, Paul A. Samuelson, terms it a momentous social invention.

Government figures show that no major corporations showed extensive use of four-day work weeks last year and the practice has shown no substantial growth since 1973.

Social theorists promoted the idea, insisting it would change life styles by giving workers more leisure time and strengthen marriages, since working spouses might be at home more. However, the idea of ten-hour work days (which would be necessary for a 40-hour week) didn't appeal to many. For one thing, the idea didn't mesh with school schedules. The longer workday meant working mothers couldn't see children off to school or be there to prepare a meal when they returned.

Here's an odd one: The anti-obscenity law of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is so specific in its language to describe what sex acts can't be portrayed in books, magazines and records that it would be illegal to sell the ordinance itself on the community's news racks.

There's no truth to the rumor that the Super Bowl game you'll be seeing in January was filmed last month, although it might turn out to be a better game if it had been.

I've always been told that flattery should be used like perfume. Smell and enjoy it, but don't swallow it.

Golf, they say, is like the perfect marriage. It's not supposed to be possible.

There are pamphlets circulating in El Salvador which say, "Be patriotic, kill a priest."

The circulars are believed to be the work of a right-wing paramilitary organization called the White Warriors Union. The pamphlets indicate the depth of animosity between church and state in the Central American nation.

Since January, the government has arrested five padres and expelled 16 others. Two Salvadoran Jesuits have been assassinated. Only the threat of excommunication by the Vatican and pressure from Washington have kept a blood bath from taking place.

The Deseret News, a newspaper owned by the Mormon Church, identified the four as followers of Ervil LeBaron, leader of the Church of the Lamb of God, another polygamist sect that split from the Mormon Church.

In a copyright story in its Friday editions, the News said 10 persons were named in warrants issued in connection with Allred's death, all of them followers of LeBaron.

LeBaron is reported hiding in Mexico and also is being sought on arrest warrants, the newspaper said.

The FBI said the warrants also said that they had been charged in Utah with criminal conspiracy for allegedly conspiring to cause the death of Merlin Kingston.

Kingston was identified by the newspaper as the leader of a group called the Davis County Co-operative, which reportedly has extensive holdings. The newspaper called it a polygamist group that had been threatened by LeBaron and his followers.

Cutest, best dressed, best behaved pets picked

The Howard County Fair Pet Show, sponsored by the Big Spring Kennel Club was a great success Friday when 38 local pets competed for such labels as cutest, best behaved and best dressed.

The Best Pet in Show award went to a basset hound owned by Craig Knoeke, 1310 Wood. Knoeke's hound also placed first as the show's best dressed pet and came in second place as most unusual dog.

Other dogs to place in the best dressed dog category were pets owned by Elana Himes, Rt. 1, Robert Gilbert, 2007 Morrison, and Kerrie Kirby, who placed second, third, and fourth.

Kerrie Kirby, Sterling City Rt. 1, was judged to have the cutest dog, with cute canines owned by Mike Crenshaw, Box 156, Sharon Eason, 1314 Stadium, and Robin Snodgrass, placing second, third and fourth.

A dog owned by Jackie Ray, 1309 Mount Vernon, was judged best groomed, followed by dogs owned and coiffed by Leane White, Rt. 1, and Robin Snodgrass, 2704 Crestline.

Terry White, 1203 Stanford, was judged to have the smallest dog, while petite pets, owned by Robert Williams, Sand Springs, Mike Crenshaw, Box 156, Big Spring, and Bellinda Hatler, 2905 Goliad, ranked second, third, and fourth places in this event.

The best behaved dog award went to a dog belonging to Cathy Blackshear, 1803 Alabama. Other well-trained pets included dogs owned by Jim Scarborough, Bossier City, La., Robin Snodgrass, 2704 Crestline, and John Gilbert, 1210 E. 15th.

Connie Edgeman, Big Spring, was judged to have the largest dog, but was in close competition with Wesley Griffith, 2700 E. 24th, and John Gilbert, 1210 E. 15th.

An opussum owned by Cissie James, Sterling City Rt. 1, was judged most exotic pet, and Lathy Williams, Sterling City Rt. 1, came in with the second most exotic pet with his hamster.

Dane Driver, Sterling City Rt. 1, won first place award for having the most unusual cat, followed closely behind by another unusual looking cat belonging to Kent Ballard, Rt. 1.

Kent Ballard, Rt. 1, also got a first place prize for having the largest cat, while Steffanie Sue Evans, got first prize for the smallest.

Ballard captured one more first for having the best dressed cat, and Steffanie Sue Evans, 3606 Boulder, scored again for having the cutest cat.

VA medical system merger spurs attack

Max Cleland, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, said Friday he has strongly recommended to Congress that the Veterans Health Care System remain intact.

The recommendation was contained in a response to a study by the National Academy of Sciences which suggested the VA medical system be merged with the private sector.

"The NAS report does not document a need for action of this kind or show that it could be accomplished to the advantage of America's Veterans," Cleland said.

Termining the recommendation "unfounded and unrealistic," Cleland said "I have reported to Congress that such a move would be tragic, both for the veteran and the American people we would be irresponsible if we agreed to it."

Cleland added, "We also oppose any such change because it would cost the taxpayers substantially more to care for veterans in the private sector. A new cost comparison study by the VA shows that on the average acute medical and surgical care costs 10 per cent more in private hospitals than in the VA."

The NAS study, ordered by the 93rd Congress in 1973, took three years to compile and cost $6 million. Legislation authorizing the study gave the VA 90 days to respond to recommendations of the NAS study committee. The NAS made its report last June.

Nowhere in the NAS report, Cleland noted, "Is there information that manifests clearly an ability or a desire on the part of the private sector to provide the comprehensive care that American veterans need and deserve."

The NAS study made 37 major recommendations. In its response, VA concurred with 13 NAS recommendations, agreed in a limited way, but not in specifics, with 10, and disagreed with the remainder.

The recommendations included several proposals addressing matters of policy. These, VA found, are not supported by data collected during the NAS study effort, but are "conclusions based on subjects observation or personal opinion."

Other highlights of the VA response included the finding that the NAS study did not provide the expected guidance in ascertaining the VA's needs for staffing and resources for operation of the VA system, as Congress had mandated in the legislation calling for the study.

Instead, the VA response noted, "The NAS report over-generalized on the basis of limited data."

VA also said it believes no reassessment of the need for construction of eight new VA hospitals, approved by President Ford in 1976, is required because there has already been adequate review. The NAS study called for a new review.

The VA concurred with an NAS recommendation that it should provide more outpatient surgical care, but noted that many VA patients come from some distance to clinics and provision would have to be made for some type of living arrangements for them.

Washington (AP) — Here is how Texas legislators voted in key roll calls before Congress last week:

Archer, Collins, Burleson, de la Garza, Gammage, Gonzalez, Hall, Kazen, Mahon, Milford, Poage, Roberts, Teague, and Young. Not voting were Reqs. Brooks, Hightower and Krueger.

The House voted 277-129 against an amendment by Rep. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., to delete funds for the Clinch River project. Voting for the amendment were Reqs. Eckhardt, Jordan and Mattox. Voting against were Reqs. Archer, Collins, Burleson, de la Garza, Gammage, Gonzalez, Hall, Hightower, Kazen, Krueger, Mahon, Milford, Poage, Roberts, Teague, and Brooks.

The Senate voted 52-46 against killing an amendment by Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and James Pearson, R-Kan., to deregulate onshore natural gas prices and gradually deregulate onshore prices. Voting in favor of the amendment were Sens. Bentsen and Tower.

The Senate rejected, 73-21, an amendment by Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, to lower the gas price proposed by President Carter from $1.75 per thousand cubic feet to $1.45. Voting against the amendment were Sens. Tower and Bentsen.

Legionnaires disease kills 11 persons since August '76

ATLANTA (AP) — Legionnaires disease, which struck an American Legion convention in Philadelphia last year, has killed 11 persons in scattered locations since August 1976, the national Center for Disease Control says.

Forty-eight cases of the mysterious disease, in 18 states and the District of Columbia, have been reported to the CDC since August 1976, a CDC spokesman said Friday.

Twenty-nine persons connected with last summer's Legion convention were killed by the disease, which the CDC said was caused by bacteria that have been in existence since at least 1965.

The CDC said the disease is being studied to try to determine how it is spread.

The center said an antibiotic, erythromycin, appears to be the most effective treatment of the ailment, which has pneumonia-like symptoms.

Public health officials in Ohio are monitoring four hospitals in the Columbus area where seven cases and one death were reported recently.

Included in the totals since August 1976, are the first two laboratory-confirmed cases in Philadelphia since last summer. Those patients, a 70-year-old woman and a 50-year-old man, became ill about the middle of July, but the CDC said it could find no common link between them. Both were hospitalized and released.

Texas faces crises in oil, gas, energy, education, highways, agriculture and many other areas because of Briscoe's failure to provide leadership, Smith said.

Briscoe's wife, Janey, really runs the show, Smith said, and it is she who really enjoys the prestige that goes with the office.

"He sat right behind me in the House of Representatives (in the 1950s), and Janey sat right beside him then. And at that time I think she was the dominating factor in the family, and I'm sure she still is," Smith said.

Briscoe is asking to be governor for 10 years, Smith said. "Ten years is simply too long, because the first six years he's served have proven he shouldn't serve 10 years, because he has absolutely been a status quo governor. He's not shown any leadership," he said.

Smith, Briscoe and Atty. Gen. John Hill all have announced they will seek the Democratic nomination for governor in 1978.

Hill lacks name identification and experience, Smith said.

"I just don't think he can win. He's a good guy, but I just don't think he can win. And I've always liked John Hill," Smith said.

East Texas farm spared

Park officials back off

CONCENTRATION — Competition for Howard County domino champion was fierce at the fair Friday and extending into Saturday. The front table includes Hack Wright, with his back to the camera; Chester Coffman, Dr. Jim Mathews and Lloyd Arnold. Watch that double five Hack.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Scotts of Monticello can continue living their chosen lifestyle, which a neighbor compares with that of the 1920s, now that the State Parks and Wildlife Commission has decided not to force them off their farm.

Commissioners voted unanimously Friday to rescind a July 22 order designating a site for a new state park on Bob Sandlin Reservoir and authorizing condemnation of the land.

A new site will be sought. Included was the 133-acre farm where Roxie, Bessie and Scotty Scott and Mrs. Edith Scott Walls raise their own meat, fruit and vegetables and slaughter their own meat.

Scotty, the man of the household, cuts the cordwood that warms the family in winter. He says he goes to Mount Pleasant, the nearest big town, twice a year—to see the dentist.

The Scotts and their neighbors made a tearful plea at an Aug. 25 hearing in Mount Pleasant for the commission to spare what remains of their original 1,000-acre homestead. The rest was condemned for the new reservoir and by Texas Utilities Generating Co.

In its resolution Friday, the commission said its July 22 "decision was based upon erroneous information."

It said it had learned since then that most landowners "do not desire to sell their land at any price" and "undue hardship could be brought upon these owners should they be forced to relocate their homes."

During the Mount Pleasant hearing, a neighbor testified that the Scotts and Mrs. Walls "live 40 to 50 years in the past, off the fruit of the land."

"It would kill some of these people" to be forced off their farm, he added.

The family hired Rep. Buck Florence of Hughes

Springs to represent them before the commissions, and he met with commissions for more than an hour in private.

The commission staff already had recommended that the condemnation order be rescinded before Florence made his appearance.

Florence said the decision proves "that a bureaucracy such as parks and wildlife is receptive to the needs, wants and desires of the general public."

Texas lands 27 new industries in August

AUSTIN — Twenty-seven new industries chose to locate in Texas in August, according to the Texas Industrial Commission and the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas at Austin.

Impact calculations produced by the Industrial Commission show that the new firms will create 2,361 spin-off jobs in addition to the 1,260 direct employment positions. The total annual economic impact on Texas is $155,498,394 annually.

TIC Executive Director James Harwell noted that the $155+ million economic impact is the highest recorded since September of 1974.

"New locations have more than doubled since last year during the same period with August reaching a record high for this year," Harwell said. "What better proof of an economic upswing?"

New industries and their locations are: Commercial Plastics, Amarillo; National Steps of Texas, Inc., San Marcos; Azon Texas, Arlington; K.D.'s Portable Buildings, Cleburne; American Air Filter Co., Dallas; Sims Eloquent Trophies & Engraving, Fort Worth.

Merchants, Bankers told Fair hiring practices fight pushed by Rags

ATLANTA (AP) — Male merchants and bank officers had better keep their eyes on checks being cashed rather than on the shabby women offering them.

That's the message from Sgt. Roy Pitts, an Atlanta Police Department forger expert who has been investigating a rash of counterfeit check cashings.

Pitts said attractive, scantily clad women have been able to cash some bogus checks because merchants are titillated and bankers' eyes are on the wrong kind of figures.

"Some of them (the women) are good-looking and wear clothes that are very short or low-cut," Pitts said. "She knows she will have to get her check approved by an officer of the store or bank, and most of these officers are men."

Fake checks have surfaced at several locations in the last three months, with only one conviction. The forgers have eluded capture despite making at least one mistake, of faking the word "school."

The word "school" was misspelled on counterfeit checks from the city school board, but bank tellers didn't catch the mistake.

AUSTIN — Unable to get the predominantly conservative, male, white Texas Legislature moving in the field of equal employment, Rep. Paul Ragsdale of Dallas is striking out on his own to fight for all who have a right to the jobs.

Only time has launched his efforts. Shortly after he was elected to the legislature in 1976, he initiated the East Texas Project, aimed at the group of county commissioners, city councils and school districts throughout East Texas.

He should be lauded for his efforts to end discrimination in the hiring of public employees and to have elected public bodies representative of the citizenry.

Ever since he came to the legislature, Rags, he as is commonly known, has filed legislation to create a commission to work to eliminate discrimination in state employment.

The closest he came was in 1973, when the appropriate bill included a rider requiring all state agencies to not affirmative action aimed at ensuring fair practices for all.

That rider was eliminated by an attorney general's opinion that the legislature could not enact such laws merely by riders to appropriations bills.

Stymied at the state level, Rags is going to the federal government and courts for help. He has just asked U.S. Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell to authorize the filing of discrimination on lawsuits against several state agencies.

State government, or for that matter all government, should set an example for private industry in fair hiring practices.

Ragsdale isn't the only official upset by governmental hiring practices. Nolan Ward, chairman of the Texas Employment Commission, has been taking regular pot shots at the Merit System Council for administering tests he feels discriminate against minorities.

The Merit System gives job qualification exams for several state agencies.

Rags expects some help on his request for federal suits against state agencies dealing with agriculture, alcoholic beverages, highways, parks and wildlife, rehabilitation and those using the Merit System.

He's asking women's and Mexican-American organizations to write Bell asking for quick action on the suits, which lower U.S. Justice Department employees have recommended.

The financial rewards for employees who have suffered discrimination are not nearly as important to Rags as getting a conciliatory agreement on record. Such agreements are much like affirmative actions plans, with detailed recruiting and hiring practices.

Several efforts have been made to get state agencies to develop plans to increase the number of minority members in higher echelon jobs.

But Rags' real heart is in his East Texas Project. Using the federal courts, he already has forced redistricting of several county commissioners courts and city councils. More suits are planned.

Six children of Candy to share equally

HOUSTON (AP) — A probate court jury has ordered that the six children of the late Houston and Miami socialite Candace Mossler share equally in her estimated $15 million estate.

Two adopted sons, Daniel Mossler, 26, and Christopher Mossler, 25, had contested a purported will that disinherited them and a sister, Martha Mossler Meredith, 27. Mrs. Meredith did not contest the document.

The two Mossler brothers had contended that their mother was not herself when she cut them out of her estate.

Mrs. Mossler died in Miami last October at the age of 62. In 1966, she had been a defendant in a sensational murder trial in which a jury found her innocent of the slaying of her husband, millionaire Jacques Mossler.

A&M conquers de-Allisoned Tech

INJURED ON PLAY — Texas Tech quarterback Rodney Allison reels back in pain as he is pinned behind the line of scrimmage by Texas A&M's safety Carl Grulich. Allison was pulled out of the game with a leg injury in the first quarter of Saturday night's game at Lubbock.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Barefoot Tony Franklin's whiplash leg boomed field goals of 48, 25, 51, and 37 yards in the fourth period Saturday night and the 6th-ranked Texas Aggies nudged 7th-ranked Texas Tech 33-17 in a rousing Southwest Conference football game before a record Jones Stadium crowd.

Tech's gallant Red Raiders struggled for three quarters without the aid of their wizard quarterback Rodney Allison, who went down with a severe ankle sprain late in the first quarter and viewed the game on crutches from the sidelines.

The Aggies, now 3-0 overall and 1-0 in SWC play, fell behind 7-0 on a 51-yard screen pass from Allison to Mark Julian, but rallied before the screaming throng of 56,008 behind David Walker's pin-point passing and the pulsating dashes of running back Curtis Dickey.

Tech, now 2-1 over all 1-1 in SWC games, led 10-7 at halftime when Bill Adams kicked a 57-yard field goal with time running out.

However, the defending SWC co-champions faltered without their leader in the game as the Aggies repeatedly sacked reserve quarterback Tres Adami.

Walker hit tight end Russell Mikeska for an 11-yard touchdown pass and flicked a 68-yard screen pass to Dickey.

Franklin's first field goal tied the game 17-17 with 13:14 remaining in the fourth period. Franklin, who has kicked field goals of 65 and 64 yards, then kicked field goals with 4:51 to play, 1:56 and with 22 seconds remaining.

Linebacker Roderick Reed ran an interception back 25 yards for the Aggies' final touchdown.

In the first three quarters, the score changed hands like a fast moving basketball game.

Dickey streaked 68 yards for the touchdown with the screen pass to make it 14-10, but Tech charged right back midway in the third quarter as Billy Taylor barged two yards for a touchdown after an Aggie fumble on the Cadet 16-yard line.

The Allison-to-Julian screen pass tricked the Aggies so completely that Julian was untouched on his touchdown run.

But the next time Tech got the ball in the first quarter Texas A&M safety Carl Grulich blitzed and trapped Allison for a 20-yard loss. Allison, who took Tech to the co-championship last year went down in a tangle and was carried from the field on a stretcher.

The Tech offense was never the same from then on.

A shoulder-to-shoulder goal line stand kept the Aggies away from the touchdown early in the second quarter when they had a first down on the Red Raider five-yard line. Massive 285-pound fullback George Woodard battered the Tech middle four consecutive times, but the Red Raiders held thanks to linebacker Mike Mock and defensive end Andrew Thomas.

But the Aggies were not to be denied as they scored their only first half touchdown late in the second quarter when Mikeska made an acrobatic diving catch behind Greg Frazier for a touchdown.

Dickey caught six passes for 117 yards as the lefthanded Walker completed eight of ten passes for 142 yards.

The Aggies, who went in the game leading the nation in rushing with an average of 369 yards per game, were held to 147 steps by the tenacious Tech defense.

Dickey gained 48 yards on 17 carries and Woodard, bothered by a groin pull gouged 59 yards in 18 sorties.

Taylor was the leading rusher for the Red Raiders with 65 yards in 14 tries.

Adami could complete only five of 14 passes for 66 yards and had two intercepted. The victory was sweet revenge for the Aggies who were upset 27-16 last year in College Station.

The previous record crowd for Jones Stadium was 54,187 in 1976 for the Texas game.

Some pick the Giants

DALLAS (AP) — The unbeaten New York Giants and their trivia question quarterback, talented rookie Jerry Golsteyn, take dead aim on the equally unbeaten Dallas Cowboys and their questionable offense Sunday in a showdown of National Conference Eastern Division leaders.

Golsteyn, a 12th-round draft choice two years ago who missed the 1976 season with a knee injury, led the Giants to a 20-17 upset victory over Washington Sunday in his National Football League debut.

The rangy 6-foot-4, 210-pound Golsteyn, who played collegiate ball at Northern Illinois, beat out such veterans as Dennis Shaw and Steve Ramsey in the Giant training camp.

He completed seven of 14 passes against Washington for 123 yards and one touchdown and suffered but one interception.

Two years ago Golsteyn walked out of camp but was talked into coming back by then Coach Bill Arnsparger.

Coach John McVay, explaining the cuts of the veterans, said "we wanted a quarterback who could grow with the club."

While Golsteyn will be a new face to Cowboy fans, they'll remember Doug Kotar and Larry Csonka who controlled the ball here last year although the Giants lost 9-3.

"They (The Giants) believe they can knock you off the ball and they did last year," said Cowboy assistant Eral Allen. "We only had the ball for three plays in the first quarter."

Dallas' sputtering offense ignited at the proper moment last Sunday in a 16-10 overtime victory over Minnesota.

The Cowboy running game was sluggish and quarterback Roger Staubach had trouble finding his receivers because of a leaky offensive line — the youngest the Cowboys have fielded in years.

"Our offensive line looked better," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "Tackle Pat Donovan did well. The offense moved when it had to but we had a lot of breakdowns."

However, the Dallas defense with four players at new positions shut down the Vikings.

"We certainly can't afford to let down against the Giants because we haven't been consistent," said Landry. "We have to put forth a great effort to win."

Dallas has dominated the series, leading 20-9-2 overall and New York hasn't won since 1974.

Dallas is in excellent physical condition while Giant defensive end George Martin, who returned an interception 30 yards for a touchdown, will be out with a knee injury.

Some 60,000 fans were expected at Texas Stadium for the 1:05 p.m. CDT Kickoff.

AL East is up for grabs

The Baltimore Orioles and Boston Red Sox both crept a bit closer to the first place New York Yankees in the American League East Division race Saturday.

While the Yankees were rained out in Toronto, Jim Palmer won his sixth consecutive game with a seven-hitter as the Orioles defeated Cleveland 4-1. Ken Singleton and Eddie Murray slammed successive solo homers in the ninth inning to give Palmer his 19th victory against 11 defeats.

Boston topped Detroit 6-2 as Fred Lynn, Carl Yastrzemski and Ted Cox homered. Cox hitting his first major league home run. Bill Campbell picked up his 29th save by pitching the final 11-3 innings in relief of winner Mike Paxton, 10-5.

Dave Goltz won his 19th game of the year with a seven-hitter as Minnesota topped Milwaukee 4-3 and Texas beat Oakland 3-1 as Doyle Alexander threw a six-hitter.

Cookie Rojas' single broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning and Willie Wilson drove in what proved to be the game winner in the sixth as the Kansas City Royals defeated the California Angels 4-3 for their sixth consecutive victory.

In the National League, Philadelphia's Steve Carlton, 23-9, the winningest pitcher in the majors, shutout Montreal 1-0, reducing the Phils' magic number for clinching the NL East to two. Garry Maddox' single scored Richie Hebner with the only run.

Pittsburgh beat Chicago 7-3 as Al Oliver smashed a two-run homer and Pirates rallied for four runs in the sixth inning. The St. Louis Cardinals game at New York was rained out.

In night action, Cincinnati was at Atlanta, Los Angeles played Houston and San Francisco visited San Diego in the National League. Chicago was at Seattle in the American League.

SETTING UP A SCORE — Ben Cowins (28) gets slowed down by Mike Field a defensive back for Tulsa after the Arkansas speedster had gone 28 yards to set up the Razorbacks first score. Arkansas led the Hurricane 24-0 at halftime.

LSU makes Rice patties

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Sophomore wide receiver Carlos Carson caught five touchdown passes — including bombs for 76 and 67 yards — to lead Louisiana State to a 77-0 college football victory over Rice Saturday night.

The first four touchdown receptions were thrown by sophomore quarterback Steve Ensminger. The fifth was from another soph quarterback, David Woodley.

Senior fullback Kelly Simmons scored two touchdowns on runs of three and 19 yards. Sophomore tailback Jerry Murphree scored on runs of three yards and one yard.

LSU's other scores came on an eight-yard run by Woodley and a 10-yard interception return by sophomore defensive end Willie Gunnels.

Five of LSU's touchdowns came in the third quarter, when the Tigers expanded a 28-0 halftime lead.

Only three times was Rice able to keep the ball for more than four plays in a row.

In the first quarter Rice got to its own 44 in nine plays. In the second quarter, Rice held the ball for seven plays and got to the LSU 32, but missed a field goal attempt. The Owls got 10 plays in a row late in the second quarter, driving to the LSU 42.

It was the most points ever scored on Rice and the most points scored by LSU since 1936, when the Tigers beat Southwestern Louisiana 93-0.

LSU set all sorts of individual records in the game. Ensminger's four touchdown passes broke the team record for the most of those in a single game. Among the LSU quarterbacks who had thrown three touchdown passes were NFL legend Y.A. Tittle and Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones.

The 10 extra point kicks by Bobby Moreau was also an individual record for an LSU player, as were Carson's five touchdown pass receptions.

Tailback Charles Alexander picked up 150 rushing yards for LSU before retiring early in the third quarter.

The victory evened LSU's record at 1-1 after an opening loss to Indiana. Rice is 0-2, having lost its opener to Florida, 48-3.

Foster reaches 50 home runs

George Foster loves the Atlanta Braves ... loves to hit against them, that is.

Foster blasted his 50th home run and became the first major leaguer since Willie Mays turned the trick in 1965 to hit that many in a season as Cincinnati scored a 5-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Foster, who had four hits and two RBI Friday night, became the first Reds' player and only the fifth in National League history to accomplish the feat. Ralph Kiner, Hack Wilson, Johnny Mize and Mays were the others.

"I was thinking about getting the 50th here (in Atlanta) because the games left are getting fewer and it's easier to hit homers here," said Foster who connected off Buzz Capra in the ninth inning.

It's true that Atlanta Stadium's confines are friendly, but not as friendly as the Braves pitchers have been to Foster.

The Cincinnati center fielder, who is hitting .325, has blasted nine homers against Braves owner Ted Turner's pitchers. He has now set his sights on Hack Wilson's NL record of 56 for a season.

In other NL action, Pittsburgh blanked Chicago 2-0, St. Louis crushed New York 10-6, Philadelphia whipped Montreal 6-1, San Francisco outlasted San Diego 6-4 and Houston edged Los Angeles 4-3 in 12 innings.

Don Werner drove in two runs and Dan Driessen hit a sacrifice fly for the Reds, giving Paul Moskau his fifth win in 11 decisions.

Horned Frogs crushed by USC Trojans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Third-string tailback Dwight Ford rushed for 117 yards and two touchdowns and Frank Jordan kicked three field goals Saturday as second-ranked Southern California mauled outmanned TCU 51-0 in an intersectional college football game.

Ten different Trojans figured in the scoring, as USC reserves played more of the one-sided contest than the starters did.

Equally impressive as the Trojans' offense, which rolled up 642 yards, was their overpowering defense. Led by tackle Walt Underwood and linebacker Garry Cobb, the USC defenders completely smothered the Horned Frogs' offense.

The victory, USC's third of 1976 was its 14th in a row extending over two seasons, and also the 14th consecutive loss for TCU, winless in three tries. Both streaks are currently the longest in college football.

Ford, a 5-11, 187-pound junior who was red-shirted last season, averaged 13 yards on his nine carries, and scored on runs of nine and 70 yards.

Jordan, a junior transfer, booted field goals of 49, 28, and 45 yards in the opening half as USC rolled up a 23-0 lead.

regained his feet and threw the clearing block as the Ponies, now 2-1, went ahead 28-11 at the half.

Arthur Whittington put SMU ahead 7-3 with a 77-yard touchdown gallop in the first quarter before poised freshman quarterback Mike Ford guided the Mustangs for two second-quarter touchdowns. He punched in from five yards out for one score and tossed a 3-yard scoring pass to Paul Rice for the other.

Hontas set school records for most completions, most total yards, most passing yards, most pass attempts and most consecutive pass attempts without an interception.

Tulane took an early 3-0 lead on a 24-yard field goal by Ed Murray.

Different approaches get different results

L.A., N.Y. in dogfight for 1984 games

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A spartan Los Angeles and a more flamboyant New York both expressed confidence Saturday they would be chosen to stage the 1984 Summer Olympic Games.

Los Angeles appears to be favored to win.

Each city will make a final 60-minute presentation Sunday before the 65-member U.S. Olympic Committee executive board votes immediately on whom the American representative will be.

The USOC selection is virtually assured of staging the Games because no other city in the world has made a bid.

The International Olympic Committee will make its choice next May in Athens.

"We will have given it our best effort," said John C. Argue, president of the Southern California Committee for the Olympic Games. "We are confident Los Angeles will get the bid."

Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley heads the delegation. He will be the leadoff speaker in the Sunday presentation, which will include a 20-minute audio-visual show which Argue described as "polished and professional."

In the competition, there has been criticism of the Los Angeles bid because it consisted primarily of mimeographed fact sheets while New York's was a slick, expensive printed, full-color brochure detailing its proposal.

Gov. Hugh Carey and Mayor Abraham D. Beame head the New York delegation which will follow the Los Angeles presentation.

In another contrast in styles, most of the Los Angeles delegation arrived Friday, although Bradley did not reach here until Saturday evening, and stayed at a hotel in downtown Colorado Springs.

Two members of the New York group arrived Friday by most of the delegation, including Carey and Beame, arrived in mid-afternoon Saturday and were booked into a plush resort hotel, site of the final presentation meeting.

Both groups lunched with the USOC executive board and representatives of 32 Olympic sports governing bodies and were scheduled to attend brief protocol sessions with the executive board Saturday evening.

LAUNCHING A WINNER — Oklahoma field goal kicker Uwe von Schamann kicks a field goal past the efforts of Ohio State defenders Kelton Dansler (32), David Adkins (94) and Eddie Beamon (67) to win the game with three seconds left, 29-28, in Columbus Saturday. Sooner Bud Hebert (33) watches the kick.

Bufs keep slate clean

ROSCOE — The mighty Stanton Buffs, even without All-American halfback Marvin "Lemon Juice" Jones, went head to head against the undefeated Roscoe Plowboys here Friday night and came away with a 3-1 record and all the plowshares in Texas.

The Buffs got yardage as they could, losing the battle of the stats, but winning the battle of the scoreboard, 13-7.

Stanton drew first blood in the early going when quarterback Tommy Morrow found wingback Kendel Blocker on a 44-yard screen pass with 11:15 left in the second quarter. Blocker booted the extra point to put the Buffs up 7-0.

Roscoe bounced back eight minutes later when tailback Tracy Witherspoon sliced through the Stanton defense on an 18-yard run with 2:41 left in the half.

Stanton closed out the big money plays in the third quarter when the defense levered a fumble out of a punt return and gave the pigskin to fullback Bob Jones, who scored on a four-yard run shortly thereafter to put the Buffs firmly on top with 4:41 left in the period.

The Buffs mixed the pass and run effectively to hand the Plowboys their first defeat. In the first half, most of the offensive yardage came out of the passing game, but key performances came from Richard Perez who replaced the injured Jones at tailback and Colleton Huffman, a defensive halfback who stopped a desperation Roscoe drive in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter. Huffman made an open-field tackle on a Plowboy receiver to keep Roscoe from a first down and turn over possession safely to Stanton hands. Huffman was injured on the play, but was released from the hospital Saturday morning with a bruised back.

Roscoe gained 226 yards total offense, 212 of it on the ground, to accompany 13 first downs, but while the Buffs gave plenty of yardage between the 30-yard lines, they were downright miserly after that.

Roscoe started drives in side the Stanton 50 three times in the last quarter, but could not score.

Roscoe bounced back eight minutes later when tailback Tracy Witherspoon sliced through the Stanton defense on an 18-yard run with 2:41 left in the half.

Okies top Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fumble-prone Oklahoma blew a shocking 20-point second-period lead, then rallied in the final 1½ minutes on Elvis Peacock's two-yard touchdown run and a 41-yard field goal by Uwe von Schamann with three seconds left for an incredible 29-28 triumph over Ohio State Saturday in the first meeting between the two giants of college football.

Until the stirring finish, third-ranked Oklahoma had tried its darndest to give the game away, losing four fumbles and throwing two interceptions.

Coach Barry Switzer had said his Sooners "lead the universe in turnovers," and all that charity gave them the astounding total of 19 turnovers in three games.

But ironically, it was a fumble by second-string quarterback Greg Castignola with 6:24 remaining that swung the tide back to Oklahoma after the fourth-ranked Buckeyes had surged to a 28-20 lead by playing error-free football since early in the game.

The Sooners stormed 43 yards in 13 plays after Dave Hudgens recovered Castignola from the ball and Reggie Kinlaw recuperated at the Ohio State 43.

The Buckeyes turned back a two-point conversion run by Peacock. But Oklahoma was successful on an on-side kick which everybody knew was coming and smartly moved into position for the winning field goal, which the West Berlinborn von Schamann booted with a 15-mile-an-hour wind at his back.

Stanton closed out the big money plays in the third quarter when the defense levered a fumble out of a punt return and gave the pigskin to fullback Bob Jones, who scored on a four-yard run shortly thereafter to put the Buffs firmly on top with 4:41 left in the period.

The Buffs mixed the pass and run effectively to hand the Plowboys their first defeat. In the first half, most of the offensive yardage came out of the passing game, but key performances came from Richard Perez who replaced the injured Jones at tailback and Colleton Huffman, a defensive halfback who stopped a desperation Roscoe drive in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter. Huffman made an open-field tackle on a Plowboy receiver to keep Roscoe from a first down and turn over possession safely to Stanton hands. Huffman was injured on the play, but was released from the hospital Saturday morning with a bruised back.

Roscoe gained 226 yards total offense, 212 of it on the ground, to accompany 13 first downs, but while the Buffs gave plenty of yardage between the 30-yard lines, they were downright miserly after that.

Roscoe started drives in side the Stanton 50 three times in the last quarter, but could not score.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' big-play offense turned two second quarter opportunities into touchdowns and the 16th ranked Razorbacks went on to defeat Tulsa 37-3 in an inter-sectional football game Saturday.

The Razorbacks, who start Southwest Conference play next week, are off to their first 3-0 start since 1969.

The Razorbacks put the game away in the second quarter. Nursing a 10-0 lead Arkansas took over on the Tulsa 47 following a pass interception by linebacker William Hampton. On first down quarterback Ron Calcagni tossed to flanker Donny Bobo in the flat and he went all the way, aided by a block by Steve Heim.

Two minutes later, Tulsa failed on fourth and one on its own 28. Doug Barvegen covered 46 yards on a first down flanker around. Two plays later Roland Sales sliced into the end zone for a 24-0 lead.

It might have been worse, except alternate quar-terback Houston Nutt suffered two pass interceptions — one at the Tulsa one, and one in the Tulsa end zone.

Tulsa penetrated the Arkansas 40 once in the first half and that ended when Steve Cox missed a 47-yard field goal attempt. Cox, a native of Charleston, Ark., kicked a Tulsa record 57-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Argue said the bid by Los Angeles, which lost out to Moscow four years ago in the final competition for the 1980 Summer Games, would be essentially the same as the one made to the USOC site selection committee in August.

There were reports earlier this week, since denied, that the USOC had attempted to put pressure on Los Angeles to improve its bid by hinting New York, once considered just an also-ran in the competition, had been coming off strong.

In response to questions raised by the selection committee, Los Angeles said it still maintained that it could stage the Summer Games at a cost of $183.5 million without any taxpayer money, but would be willing to build a covered swimming stadium and an Olympic Village to house the athletes if federal money became available.

"We believe that Los Angeles already has the facilities to hold the Olympics," said Argue. "That's one of the problems. We have so many facilities available that we overwhelmed the site selection committee by naming them all."

"We have several places to hold the swimming events. And in our climate, we don't need a covered stadium in the summer," he continued. "We have made plans for a central location for housing the athletes, but we also have a fallback plan, the use of dormitories at several of the colleges. We will be ready and able to hold the Games."

New York's bid has a built-in $230-million deficit and is contingent on the city receiving federal funds to construct some of the needed facilities.

Hill, Crenshaw tied for tourney lead

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Mike Hill sank a 25-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole and tied defending champion Ben Crenshaw for the third-round lead in the wind-whipped $50,000 Ohio Kings Island Open golf tournament.

Hill, winless on the tour since 1972, came from three shots behind in the last three holes. He got an assist when Crenshaw shot a double-bogey five on the par-3 16th.

The two were deadlocked with a five-under-par 54-hole total of 205, three strokes ahead of Tom Kite and Argentine-born Tony Cerdia.

Gusting winds and occasional light rains played havoc with the field at the Jack Nicklaus Golf Center. Crenshaw, who started the day one stroke behind Hill, had a one-over-par 71. Hill turned in a 72, victimized by four bogeys and a doublebogey six on No. 6 after two straight birdies.

"I was fortunate to shoot a 72," said Hill. "The wind affected everything. To me, it seemed like it made the course 10 shots harder. The birdie at 18 saved my whole day."

Crenshaw's double bogey, his first of the tournament, left him fuming.

"It was stupidity," he said, second guessing his decision to go for the pin, rather than playing it safe by aiming for the heart of the green.

Instead, he ended up on a paved cart path, took a free drop, and chipped his second shot short of the green, landing in thick rough. Once on it, he missed a five-foot putt.

Jim Dent, Gary Groh and Miller Barber were four strokes back at 209. Barber, who won the tournament in 1974, vaulted back into contention with an eagle three on the par-5 18th hole for a two-under-par 68.

Baylor dominated

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — I-back L.M. Hipp scored once and Randy Garcia hit Ken Spaeth with a touchdown pass as 14th-ranked Nebraska dominated Baylor 31-10 in a nonconference college football game Saturday.

Curtis Craig added a flashy end-around run covering 22 yards for another Husker rushing tally, and the Nebraska defense managed to add a touchdown as well.

Billy Todd's field goal and extra points, along with a two-point conversion pass from Garcia to Craig, rounded out the Husker scoring.

Hipp ate up chunks of yardage as he rushed for well over 100 yards, coming off the bench to replace injured starter Rick Berns in the main Nebraska running slot.

Baylor's scoring came on a 5-yard pass from Sammy Bickham to David Seaborn in the second half and a field goal in the first.

Nebraska led 23-3 at the half on a field goal and three touchdowns in the first quarter, the 22-yard field goal by Todd and a blocked punt accounted for the Huskers' 10 points, while Baylor's Robert Bledsoe kicked a 42-yard field goal.

Randy Rick blocked Luke Prestridge's punt and Husker teammate Larry Young covered the ball in the Bears' end zone for the Nebraska defense's touchdown.

Hipp rambled 14 yards for his second-quarter touchdown and Craig's scamper came with 1:38 left in the half.

Did you hear the one about . . .

This is my post-Tech and Aggie game column. It's a little hard to decide whether to be happy or sad at the outcome. You see, I'm writing this Friday afternoon, a few hours before I head up Lubbock way, and the game won't be played for another 24 hours.

Of course, by the time you read this in print, the score will have been plastered all over the front page, if interim sports mogul Bob Burton has carefully followed the sealed orders I left for him, and you will know who will be eating crow for one more year, me or "Jumpin' Jerry" Foresyth.

I probably saw Foresyth (will see?) in the sardine crowd at Jones Stadium. He was the one with his hair dyed maroon, and swinging an over-sized paperback, entitled "1,001 more Aggie Jokes" at anyone dressed in Scarlet and Black.

What can I say about the game? It had (has?) to be one of the best in recent football history. Of course, with my alumni prejudice and the close proximity of Tech to Big Spring, I had hoped (do hope?) for a runaway, but I'll settle for the 10-point victory.

(If Tech lost, please disregard the last sentence).

The Steers and yours truly have had this "off" week opportunity to think about the upcoming district debut against the Abilene Eagles. Let me turn back the pages of yesterday to Oct. 1, 1976 in Big Spring's Memorial Stadium.

The Steers and yours truly swooped into town a year ago with speed enough to blaze a trail up and down Memorial Stadium all night long. For almost three quarters in that contest, the Steers plucked out feather after feather, denying the "overdogs" right to blast the lowly Bovines off the turf.

In fact, the Steers actually led AHS 22-12 in the third quarter. The Eagles were piling up the yardage on the locals, for sure, but the Steers wouldn't be down and die . . . at least, not until their sudden loss of poise after that go ahead touchdown.

You see, the Steers kicked off under pulling in front of the visitors. A little unnerved at the change of events, the Warbirds fumbled the ball over on their own 32-yard line. Unbelievably enough, it looked like it was going to be a runaway, with the underdogs

Royals want Yankee rematch

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Having clinched the American League West title for a second consecutive year, the Kansas City Royals generally express no preference for their AL title foe. But the feeling is that they'd like another shot at the New York Yankees.

"We're as good as any team in the American League," declared first baseman John Mayberry. "It makes no difference who we have in the playoffs, just so we go to the World Series."

The Royals took the title with a 7-3 victory over the California Angels Friday night as Dennis Leonard

Forssan succumbs to Lee

By MARJ CARPENTER
ROBERT LEE — Forssan Bufaloes got boxed in the corner of the corral Friday night by a group of Robert Lee Steers who came out on top of a 7-6 ballgame.

That's not a score that Forssan likes. The only game they lost in 1976 was in the state quarter-finals when they came out short on a 6-7 score.

It's also a prophecy of things to come and the days when it will be tougher for the Buffs. Robert Lee is an A school and next year Forssan will be an A school, probably playing in that district.

The 1977 season is Forssan's last chance to go all the way in the B bracket, and thus far, they are not hurt in that category. The 1976 game between Robert Lee and Forssan was also a close one and was tied through the half.

When Tom Posey, big Forssan tackle, got a neck injury in the warmups at Robert Lee, it helped spell disaster for the Buffs. The extent of his injuries were unknown at presstime, but the Steers enjoyed romping through the spot he would have been all night.

The lone Buffalo score came on a third period pass which connected to Ron Roberson who went four yards for the tally. Angel Miranda hurried the scoring pass. Roberson also scored the first touchdown of the season this year in the tough Bronte game, that time on a pass from Randy Cregar.

The two easy Forssan games in the last two weeks with Borden County and Sands have not done a whole lot to pull the Forssan offense together.

Passes have made some touchdowns for Forssan but they have also spelled some disaster, since each game has seen at least two interceptions of passes off their mark.

The Buffs also gave away two fumbles for four turnovers in the game while the Steers gave up one interception and one fumble.

The Buffaloes will play at Dawson next week.

carrying away the bone.

But the Steers fumbled it back to the visitors two plays later and Abilene marched it right down the field, 70-yards for go-ahead TD of their own. The Longhorns came right back and appeared to have scored on a fourth-down fake punt, but an illegal procedure call nullified any points.

After that, the Steers lost all the starch in their pants, and Abilene went on to blitz the home team 43-22.

Abilene doesn't have quite the speed it had last year, but they have plenty more than the Steers. The locals have supposedly fielded a better ballclub this season. Their record, and the comments of various coaches seem to bear that out.

Hopefully, the Snyder crusher is out of sight and out of mind, and the Steers have what it takes to ignore all the people who say they can't win again. I hope so. That ride back from Abilene after a loss is more depressing than listening to Marj Carpenter singing "The Eyes of Texas."

"Things have gone my way," says Oilers rookie wide receiver Eddie Foster who started in his first NFL regular season game in Houston's 20-0 win over the New York Jets on opening day. "When I was at the University of Houston, I wanted to play in the Cotton Bowl and I did," he continues. "Then I wanted to be drafted and I was."

"I was hoping to get drafted by the Oilers and I was. Up until now, I've been pretty fortunate." The Oilers are trying to save Billy Johnson for passing situations and kick returns so Foster is expected to share a receiver spot with Gary Garrison while Ken Burroughs is used on the other side. Foster was a tight end in college, but his size (5-10, 185) made him a wide man for the pros. The eighth round draftee isn't complaining about the change.

"I was originally moved from wide receiver to tight end in college because I've always been a pretty good blocker," he says. "I thought the change might hurt me when it came time for the draft, but now I realize it was an advantage. Since I was blocking guys who weighed 260 pounds, it helped me develop that part of my game. I got a lot of headaches, but it was worth it. I'm sure glad to be blocking guys my own size again."

Steeler-Raider hatred fanned

LAMESA — Lamesa's Golden Tornados wrapped up their first football victory of the year here Friday night, outlasting Hobbs, N.M., 21-14.

The win came after the Lamesa coaching staff had reshuffled the club's offense.

Lamesa fell behind early when Quarterback Flint Knight barreled over from the one-yard line with 7:20 left in Round Two.

Three minutes later, Roy Gomez raced five yards for Hobbs' second tally. The Eagles converted after each touchdown.

Josh Robinson, Lamesa back, scored with just nine seconds left in the half on a five-yard run. The try for point failed.

It was all Lamesa in the second half as the Tornados dug in to hold the visitors scoreless.

STERLING CITY — Sterling City's Eagles slipped to a 2-2 record Friday after a 19-0 shutout handed down by the Eden Bulldogs.

Two of the Bulldog tallies came on passes from 'Dog quarterback Alex Rogers to end Frankie Medders. The first was in the second quarter on a 74-yard bulleye to give Eden a 13-0 lead at the half.

The second Rogers-Medders strike came after Grady recovered an Eagle fumble on the SC six, completed the scoring for the night, and topping off a 112-yard passing performance by Rogers.

Eden's Tommy Ham was the Bulldogs' big back for the night, keying the 109-yard rushing game of the Bulldogs and garnering the first tally of the night when he plunged across the Eagle goal line from six yards out with 5:27 left in the first quarter.

"The Eagles rolled up a competitive 101 yards on the ground, but couldn't assemble their passing game. They tried the aeriels twice, but could only pick up one yard."

S'water moves Graham

SWEETWATER — It was an uneven battle, but never lose. The dust cleared the Sweetwater Mustangs had scored early and late to steal homecoming victory from the Graham Steers.

Sweetwater moved early in the game, scoring on a 79-yard drive on their possession. It was significant that the Mustang score came on the ground, as the whole evening would be keyed by the success of the Sweetwater ground game.

The Mustangs took advantage of their second opportunity when, on the following kickoff, Steer quarterback Charles Casey fumbled and the Mustangs had possession on the Steer 19.

Brothers Matt and Beau Patterson provided the Sweetwater fireworks seven plays later when they combined on an eight-yard aerial to give the Mustangs a lead they would never lose. Terry Henson kicked his second extra point and the score was 14-0.

Graham tallied once just before the half and closed the gap to a nervous 14-12 after a bad snap on a Mustang punt turned possession over to Graham on the Sweetwater 20.

Quarterback Charles Casey, who rolled up 127 yards passing on the night by completing 7 of 21, got the last Graham tally by sliding over left tackle in a fourth and three situation.

The close game simmered

Andrews is shiny

SNYDER — Andrews kept its record unscathed by mauling the Snyder Tigers, 25-0, here Friday night.

Only a tie with Big Spring marks the Mustang record. Snyder was coming off a 12-7 win over Big Spring. Andrews is ranked No. 10 in the state and should climb higher this week. The Tigers are 1-3.

Andrews' candidate for all-state honor, Booger Brooks, managed Andrews' first tally on a 14-yard run in the opening round. Billy Green added the extra point.

Andrews went father ahead with 3:16 left in the quarter when Weldon Jones returned a punt 86 yards to score. The attempt for the PAT failed.

In the third period, Kenny Hearne scored for Andrews from the one with 9:07 remaining. The attempt for the PAT again was aborted.

Brooks broke loose on a 36-yard touchdown round late in the third quarter for Andrews' final tally.

Andrews made 282 yards rushing to 155 for Snyder but

Post pounds on Cee City

COLORADO CITY — A powerful Post team outlasted Colorado City, 21-14, here Friday night.

Randy Baker scored what proved to be the winning touchdown on a fourth down play with a minute left in the contest. Baker covered two yards on a running maneuver.

The touchdown climaxed a 58-yard drive for Post's all-winning record intact. The Antelopes are 4-0.

Post recovered a Cee City fumble early in the second quarter and cranked up to march 45 yards to pay dirt. Halfback Cliff Kirkpatrick was the final two yards and Center Leslie Looney booted the extra point.

The Wolves fought back with a tally, going 59 yards in four plays. A 49-yard pass from QB Frank Sanchez to end Jay Feaster paid off with six points for the Wolves.

Post linebacker Raymie Holly blocked the attempted kick for extra point and Colorado City still trailed, 7-

Ira falls to Christoval

CHRISTOVAL — Despite bright spot end David Moseley, the Ira Bulldogs got behind early and stayed behind in a Class B non-district battle Friday.

The Bulldogs were on the end of a 49-12 powdering by the undefeated Christoval Cougars who lifted their record to 4-0 while Ira fell to 1-3.

For Christoval, Tim Hays and Joe Jaquez each tallied twice and Kyle Green caught two paydirt tosses from quarterback Corky Solomon.

Ira hauled down its points in the second and fourth quarters, but still faced a 30-6 deficit at the half and were looking down the barrel of an additional score before they could muster any second half activities.

Quarterback Fred Kesner, along with Moseley, was the only spark generated by the Bulldogs.

Coyotes win, 35-9

GAIL — A stingy defense and powerhouse running back Ernest Rhinehart led the Borden County Coyotes to their first victory of a season that started tough. The Coyotes chewed up the Loraine Bulldogs, 35-9.

Rhinehart, a big strong country boy, rambled all over the field. They sought him here, they sought him there, but the Loraine defenders couldn't keep him from scoring four TDs and pacing a 250-yard rushing attack.

Both Loraine and Borden County are now 1-3.

Allen tricks trumped by New York Giant rally

I guess I admire George Allen for the same reason so many people despise him. He'll do anything to beat you. He has all sorts of tricks, some dirty, some clean, some slightly soiled.

That's how he almost stole the opening football game from the Giants, which would have been a shame because the Giants needed it more than the Redskins did. What George Allen did this time was have his defensive team pull an Edgar Bergen on Jerry Golsteyn, the Giants' rookie quarterback. Bad George tried to jam the Giants' cadence, by having a Washington linebacker shout an occasional hut... hut... into the proceedings, while Golsteyn was crouched over the center.

I guess that's why Doug Van Horn and a few other Giants kept jumping the snap, and messing up the Giants' drives in the first half. There were an awful lot of damaging in-motion penalties called, and when coach McVay was asked about them afterward, he graciously chalked it off to first-game anxieties. Evidently there was a bit of first-game ventriloquism thrown in by The Allen Gang.

"It's our fault," says the Giant's offensive coordinator, Bob Gibson. "We should have been prepared for the trick, but we didn't have time to get to it. It's an old Allen gimmick. We'll work on it."

ONLY QB CAN SAY HUT... HUT
Practicing ventriloquism on a football field is illegal. When the Giants have the ball, only the Giants' QB is permitted to say hut... hut... hut. It is perfectly all right for the linebacker to call out a defensive signal at the same time the QB is doing his hut-hutting. That is where we get into the gray area of propriety.

Says Art McNally, supervisor of NFL officials: "The defensive signals should not be comparable to what the offense is doing. If a club brings such a violation to the attention of the officials, they will act on it."

Anyway, dirty tricks and all, the Giants did overcome, cashing in on a series of breaks that made old fans think they were back in the Steve Owen days. That's when the Giants' big play was a blocked punt, and the Giants' best offense was their defense. It still is.

In those times, and in the ensuing regimes of Jim Lee Howell and Allie Sherman, when the defense would trot to the sidelines, turning the ball over to the offense, the entire audience would rise to its feet and applaud the defensive unit. They still do, with the modern embellishment, the added chant of "dee-fense... dee-fense," borrowed from basketball.

In the 20-17 victory over George Allen's ventriloquists, 10 Giants' points were scored by the defense. In the first half, when Billy Kilmer was throwing worse than Ken Holtzman, a little flare to the left was picked off by George Martin, defensive end, who gambled 30 yards into the end zone. Shortly thereafter, a big Redskins lineman was blocked onto Martin's right knee, tearing some ligaments, so that after the game he slouched there in front of his locker with a big brace on his leg and a big forced smile on his face. He didn't know whether to laugh or cry. He had scored the only TD of his life, and now he will sit for four weeks before they decide if an operation is necessary.

The offense is coming along. It played conservatively for the most part. Given a 10-0 lead, the Giants tried to sit on it, wishing to avoid mistakes, because that is how a George Allen team lives, by others' mistakes.

It is ironic, then, that with the score 17-17, and Washington with the ball, and with less than two minutes left, Troy Archer stripped the ball from Mike Thomas' arms, and Harry Carson fell on it, and the Giants, like their opportunistic forebears, won the game on Joe Danelo's FG.

IT COULD HAVE BEEN EASIER
It could have been easier. The Giants had a TD plunge by Willie Spencer voided because a lineman jumped offside on a counterfeited hut-hut, and a long pass-interference call set up a Redskins TD. Next to basketball, football is the sport of the officials.

After the game, Pete Rozelle sat in the press lounge watching the Jets play Houston on monitor. The Jets, like the Giants, are struggling back to respectability after their plunge from the mountaintop. The Jets have a new president to lead them, Jim Kensil, former aide to Commissioner Rozelle, and former defender of NFL officials.

Rozelle watched Dan Pastorini throw a pass on the monitor, watched the Jets called for pass-interference, watched Houston score. The commissioner smiled a faint smile.

"I suppose I'll get a call from Kensil in the morning, complaining about the bad officiating," he said.

TALE OF THE TAPE—Here are the vital statistics on heavy-weight champion Muhammad Ali, left, and challenger, Earnie Shavers. The two met Thursday in a title bout at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Does Mathias have another Webb idea?

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Bob Mathias, the two-time Olympic gold medal winner and former congressman, has spent the last three months here trying to convert an old weather-whipped air force base into a training center for young athletes.

"When I first arrived June 15, there wasn't even one chair to sit on," he said during a break in a meeting of the U.S. Olympic Committee, whose members are staying at the center.

"Now we have the cafeteria open. We've already had our first athletes, some junior hockey players," added Mathias, decathlon winner in the 1948 and 1952 Olympic Games. "So it looks like we're whipping it into shape."

The delegates to the USOC meeting were scheduled today to tour the Colorado Springs Olympic Training Center, of which Mathias is director, and visit the facilities of the U.S. Air Force Academy and other schools in the area.

The committee is scheduled to hear final presentations Sunday morning from officials of Los Angeles and New York in the competition to see which city will receive the USOC nod to be the American choice for the 1984 Olympic Summer Olympic Games.

Whichever city receives the approval of the 65-member USOC executive board is virtually assured of being the final choice as host for the Games because no other cities in the world have submitted bids. The International Olympic Committee will formally make its decision in Athens next May.

Los Angeles is considered the front-runner, but reports have surfaced indicating that New York has been making a good late impression on USOC members.

Ut players are talking to themselves now

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Coach Fred Akers of Texas has got Longhorn football players talking to themselves, and whatever they are saying seems to be working.

The disclosure that a self-styled hypnotist, Dr. Walter Meyer, had joined Texas' "human development program" has triggered an interest in Akers' methods, which actually started in spring training.

"I'm amused by those who seem to think it is some form of hypnosis—which it is not, by any stretch of the imagination," Akers said in a telephone interview.

"We don't use swinging watches," he said. "It's not even close to that."

Based on two games, however, it seems to be working.

Unranked Texas whipped Boston College, 44-0, and Virginia, 68-0, and climbed to the No. 9 spot in The Associated Press' college football rankings.

The Longhorns have an open date this Saturday.

Akers said Meyer volunteered to help with the program.

"We've tried to get the players to sit down and relax, talk to themselves, control what they want to think about, tune out outside influences," said Akers.

He said it helps players with football, their studies and in their personal lives.

"It's intended to improve every phase of their lives, hopefully from now on," he said.

Asked how the effectiveness of the program could be judged, Akers said a player's performance does not necessarily improve.

"The improvement," he said, "might come in a player not being so frustrated. Experience, confidence and concentration eliminate frustration.

It's a method to eliminate any psychological hangup a player might have."

Asked if the relaxation and concentration techniques were particularly valuable in the countdown to kickoff, Akers said, "That's when they do it (talk to themselves)—before kickoff."

Since Akers was directing the program himself before Meyer showed up, he was asked to describe what he actually did with the players that enabled them to relax and concentrate.

"It's a coaching technique and really no one else's business. I wouldn't want to describe my plays to anyone."

Ali returns to fateful Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali defends the world heavyweight title against Earnie Shavers Thursday night in what will be Ali's third championship bout in Madison Square Garden. The first two were milestones in Ali's career.

On Feb. 6, 1967 Ali knocked out Zora Foley in seven rounds at the Garden in what was his last fight before being stripped of the title by the world's boxing organizations for his refusal to accept military draft.

Then March 8, 1971, Ali tried to regain the title against Joe Frazier in what was the last heavyweight championship bout in the Garden. Ali was knocked down in the 15th round and outpointed for his only loss in 21 championships fights.

Ali, 35 and unimpressive in six defenses since stopping Frazier in Manila Oct. 1, 1975, is favored to beat Shavers, whose title bid comes at age 33 and eight years after he turned pro.

Season and putting both gone Nicklaus packs up clubs

MASON, Ohio (AP) — "I couldn't putt," said Jack Nicklaus as he packed away his golf clubs for the season, ending a disappointing year on a sour note.

After going six years without missing a cut, Nicklaus failed for the third time this year to qualify for the final 36 holes in the $150,000 Ohio Kings Island Open.

After shooting a two-over-par 72 Friday, Nicklaus flew home to North Palm Beach, Fla., to analyze his once-dominant game.

"I think Jack is exceedingly tired," said tour colleague Tom Kite.

Nicklaus shot rounds of 73-72 for a five-over-par 145 total, two strokes over the qualifying limit. Nicklaus, concluding his second straight year without winning one of the Big Four titles, said he was through with competitive golf for the year.

The collapse, which included a double bogey on the final hole, prevented him from overtaking Tom Watson for the season money-winning title.

His loss was a heavy blow to the tournament, which was already faced with the hardship of conflicting with today's televised Ohio State Oklahoma game and Sunday's Seattle-Cincinnati National Football League game.

Meanwhile, beleaguered Mike Hill entered today's third round clinging to a one-stroke lead and hoping he can climb out of a 1977 tailspin.

Defending champion Ben Crenshaw, hoping the tournament will be a springboard for a comeback of his own, was one stroke back after his second straight round of 67.

Kite and Calfee slipped to 69s after opening rounds of 66.

The trio of Craig Stadler, Gary Groh and Tony Cerda went into today's third round three strokes back. Jerry Pate, the 1976 U.S. Open champion, shot a 67 to remain within four shots of the leader, tied at 137 with Fred Marti, Bill Pelham and Sam Adams.

Coahoma falls, 28-14

TAHOKA — The Coahoma Bulldogs are still looking for their first win after dropping a 28-14 decision to Tahoka here Friday.

"We played some good ball after the first eight minutes of the game," commented Coach Roy Winters. Tahoka scored twice in the early first quarter to gain a lead they would not relinquish to Coahoma threats throughout the evening.

The Tahoka offense depended heavily on Clifford Bailey, their fullback, who scored with 9:31 and gain with 6:07 in the first quarter.

The Bulldogs settled down to work and in the second quarter managed to punch over for seven points and get within striking range. Quarterback Tim Greenfield and fullback Tracy Frazier accounted for most of the Bulldog yardage, with Greenfield completing key losses to halfback Ronald Sundry and end James Devers.

The Big Red had a chance to even the score in the third quarter when they took the ball on their 40 and drove to the Tahoka 21 before they lost a fumble.

Soon afterwards, Tahoka regained their insurance on a 27-yard pass from quarterback Ed Roberson to halfback Reggie House.

While Coahoma scored again in the last quarter, Tahoka managed to pull out with a fourth quarter tally by Bailey.

Winters cited offensive guard-defensive lineman Mike Ritchey as a real standout for the game for Coahoma. Winters refused to be discouraged over the Bulldogs third loss, saying that he thinks the team has improved enough to start winning.

5-4A teams have laughs this week
Only two teams in 5-4A played over the weekend, and for both Permian and Midland Lee it was more a question of narcissism than football.
Permian laughed through a 64-0 quashing of Roswell and Midland Lee yawned through a 40-7 triumph of El Paso Irvin. Both teams displayed their offenses more for the crowds than for competition. Permian rolling up a total offense of 519 yards, 446 on the ground, while Midland Lee compiled 391 total yards with a 322 rushing figure.
Permian dragged down its third pre-district win, and was never in danger of losing its No. 3 AP and No. 1 Harris ratings.

Forsan High Organizations discuss business for the year

By STEVE COWLEY Student organizations are getting busy at Forsan this year. The Student Council at their sponsor Mrs. Neefe met Tuesday to discuss business and activities for the year. The National Honor Society met Wednesday and decided to start their own fundraising project, with the funds going toward a possible trip in the spring. The Forsan Buffaloes had a field day last week as they blasted the Sands Mustangs 62-0. The top-sided contest allowed everyone on the Buffale bench to get a chance to play and gain valuable experience. Alan Hollandsworth was named

Again, Runnels had a good pep rally led by the cheerleaders. The student body really showed alot of spirit. Let's keep this kind of spirit going and back our schools all the way. Both of our volleyball teams played this week. The red team played the Snyder gold team in the Runnels gym and came out on top. The white team played the Snyder black team in the Goliad gym and were defeated. Their next volleyball game is Monday when they travel to Snyder. Stanton High Different dress for special days

By DEE DEE ADKINS Maybe one of the most exciting things about pre-district football season is homecoming. Its preparation gets weeks of attention and its memories sometimes last years. Homecoming is the student council's annual responsibility and weekly meetings go toward the organization and, also, the details. This is what the council came up with for homecoming, September 30. Monday is Western Day for all the cowboys, Indians, can-can girls, and other figures out of the old west. Students are even recommended to dress as a Buffalo! Tuesday is Freshmen Day, the day most freshmen dread and their "superiors" relish. The fish are required to wear inside-out jeans that are rolled up to the knee, a T-shirt with the school song printed on it, no make-up, mismatched shoes and socks, and sign around the neck saying "Beat New Home!" Recovered from Davis mansion

Jurors glimpse bullets

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Jurors got their first glimpse Friday of bullets recovered last year from the blood-splattered Fort Worth mansion of millionaire Cullen Davis.

The jury also viewed a color photograph of Davis' 12-year-old stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, the first victim of a midnight shooting spree that left two dead and two gravely wounded.

It is the killing of Andrea for which Davis is on trial for his life.

The dark-haired industrialist is accused also of wounding his estranged wife Priscilla, 36, and killing her lover, Stan Farr, 30, a bearded giant of a man with whom she shared the mansion.

Gus Gavrel, 22, returning his date Beverly Bass to the mansion, was cut down by a paralyzing bullet that remains lodged in his spine.

Prosecutors began Friday the tedious process of introducing physical evidence designed to link Davis to the August 2, 1976 shootings at the $6 million showplace estate.

Among the first items offered as evidence were five bullets, including one recovered from the basement utility room where Andrea's body was found.

It is not certain how many bullets investigators recovered at the scene but, according to testimony, the black glad gunman is believed to have fired 10 shots. Farr was struck four times, while the other victims were cut down by single shots. Gavrel said he saw the gunman fire three times through a plate glass window.

The murder weapon has not been recovered.

Competency challenged

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed and remanded today the two-year, aggravated-assault sentence for Robert Johnson of Jefferson County because the trial court failed to hold a hearing on his competency.

Johnson allegedly assaulted a deputy constable who had a warrant for Johnson's arrest. Johnson argued he was the wrong man and resisted when the constable tried to handcuff him.

"A five- to 10-minute struggle ensued," according to court records.

Johnson denied striking the constable and testified he had been jumped by five police officers.

At the time of the trial, a new standard on when a competency hearing is required had been taken from case law and incorporated into statutory law, the appeals court said.

The old standard required evidence sufficient to raise a reasonable doubt in the mind of the trial judge.

Prosecutors said in their opening statement to the jury they intend to show that the bullet which killed the girl was fired from the same .38 caliber pistol used to kill Farr.

This is essential to state's case since there were no eye witnesses to the slaying of Andrea.

Among other items offered as evidence Friday was a piece of plastic, allegedly a part of a garbage sack used by the assailant to conceal his pistol.

Investigators also lugged into the courtroom a heavy white door, punctured by an apparent bullet hole and removed from the mansion as evidence.

The hall door opens onto a stairway leading up to the master bedroom and it was Mrs. Davis' testimony that the first shot that struck Farr was fired at that point.

Mrs. Davis and Gavrel both have testified that Davis was the man in black who shot them. Miss Bass remains as the third and final eyewitness to the shootings.

We have letters

By WILFRID M. CALNAN
A.C.S.W. Director
Howard County Family Service Center

The pre-occupation of this column with pertinent subjects has delayed responses to letters that we have received. We are sorry. We will try to start making up for it today.

"Dear L.L.,
I am disturbed by your column of August 8. Here, who apparently is your favorite social worker is responding to seventeen-year-old Gene, who asks 'What do you think about using marijuana?' Generally Herb does a pretty good job of telling Gene why he believes marijuana is harmful. Then, surprisingly, he states that he doesn't care whether marijuana is harmless or not."

Well, I have news for you. I have just been reading an article by Dr. Hardin Jones, professor of medical physics and physiology at the University of California at Berkeley. Dr. Jones lists fourteen reasons why marijuana is a harmful drug. Let me just cite four of these:

— He (the marijuana abuser) has shifted from a self-activating, interesting, and interested person to one who is withdrawn and given to disordered thinking.

— Memory, especially short-term memory, is shortened.

— Marijuana is a hypnotic drug, and the hypnotic spell is long lasting.

— The young marijuana user tends to remain thin and under developed for his age.

"Just looking at these four reasons why marijuana is harmful, I can't see why Herb doesn't really care."

"Do you tolerate this kind of attitude?"

Signed, Maude A.

Dear Maude,
I can understand how Herb may have offended you. I really think that you should know Herb. He's 100 percent enthusiastic about anything that he gets in to. The point that he was trying to make to Gene, was that the only justifiable high for a person to be on is the high of life.

Believe me, Herb does care about harmful substances. Just recently he has startled our staff. An inveterate pipesmoker, he has given up his pipe. Completely! Thrown all his pipes away!
"Then he's astounded us completely by what he has been telling the parents in his family life education group. He's been saying that candy is a harmful substance for children. He has even suggested to the parents that abuse of candy could predispose youngsters to drug abuse later. This is hard to believe. But Herb makes a convincing case."
"Please be assured. Herb does care about the use of marijuana. He is completely opposed. Sometime ago he gave me twenty reasons why it is harmful. He really cares. Hope this answers your questions."
"Sincerely, L.L."

Health director gets $48,000 job, plus car

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Dr. Albert Randall, Houston, Tex., city health director, has been named commissioner of the South Carolina Department of Health and Environmental Control.

Randall, 54, succeeds E. Kenneth Aycock, who resigned under pressure this spring after four years at the agency's helm.

Randall has headed the Houston agency for seven years. He previously was with the Texas Health Department.

He will begin work in mid-November at a salary of $48,600 a year, plus a car. The pay is the same Aycock received.

New Texas law applies to wrecks on freeways

AUSTIN — A freeway is supposed to be just that: free. And when a wreck on the main lanes disrupts the free flow of traffic, it can mean big trouble. Usually lasting about 45 minutes, the disruption is dangerous and costly.

That's the reason for a change in the law and a change in public understanding of the law. Many drivers think one should not move vehicles involved in freeway accidents under any circumstances until police arrive.

A new state law, House Bill 368, allows the immediate moving of vehicles involved in accidents on the main lanes of the freeway to a point of safety, providing the vehicles can be moved safely.

Wrecks on the freeway have some serious secondary effects. Wrecks on the freeway often cause other wrecks. At best, freeway wrecks slow the free flow of traffic as a result of other drivers wanting to see what's going on. That slowdown on the freeway can be dangerous.

The new law applies to freeways in population centers of 100,000 people or more. That includes central cities and adjacent incorporated cities and unincorporated urban districts.

In some large cities, notably in Houston, "accident investigation sites" have been provided on freeways by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Ideally, these sites are located out of sight of the freeway in order to eliminate the traffic slowdown by curious rubbernecking drivers.

The new law provides that if the vehicles are operable, they must be removed to an accident investigation site, or to place of safety on the frontage road, to the nearest cross street or any nearby location where the investigation can be completed in safety.

Groucho gives her $150,000

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Groucho Marx's will, which provided $1 to any heir who contested it and the balance of their prescribed inheritance to charity, was entered into probate without opposition.

Superior Court Judge Edward Rafeedie approved admission of the will Friday and named the Bank of America as executor.

The will leaves most of the comedian's $2 million estate to his three children and $150,000 to his long-time companion, Erin Fleming.

Groucho, who died Aug. 19 after a lengthy illness, also designated Miss Fleming his business manager.

Fair week, volunteer week — a double-hitter for Big Spring

Local man honored, volunteers saluted

By EILEEN MCGUIRE

"Texas is a state founded on the spirit of voluntarism and where its people thrive on helping others as well as themselves to a good life," says Governor Dolph Briscoe.

"One out of every five Texans is making a gift of time and talent to a chosen area of volunteer service — helping others or working for filling a community need — and this citizen movement is growing."

It is in recognition of those dedicated individuals who serve selflessly in hospitals and nursing homes, social and health agencies, schools and churches, that Governor Briscoe declared the week of September 18-24 to be Texas Volunteer Week.

In our own community, there is a man who has been selected by Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, the Commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, to receive the 1977 Commissioner's Award for volunteer service.

That honored individual is Jack Y. Smith, Cosden Oil and Chemical retiree, who has long served as a volunteer in the field of mental health.

Criteria for the award includes service, dedication, support, loyalty and continued efforts that are monumental evidence of the volunteer's concern for the treatment and care of the mentally ill and mentally retarded citizens of Texas.

This is the third time that the award has been presented. The first to receive it was Mrs. Bert Kruger Smith of Austin and Haskell Fine of Kerrville was the second.

Smith's community activities include serving as past president for the Downtown Lion's Club, past chairman of the American Red Cross, charter president of the YMCA, past president of the Big Spring Country Club, past chairman of the United Fund, as well as being active in Girl Scouts, Boys Scouts and the First Baptist Church.

Smith has also served as a city commissioner and at one time was on the board of directors for the Salvation Army.

His accomplishments also include a long history of personal involvement in mental health development in Texas.

Having helped organize the first

Volunteer Services Council to the Big Spring State Hospital in 1957, Smith served as the Council's first chairman from 1957-58 and again from 1959-60.

Smith had a big hand in the financing of the Big Spring State Hospital Chapel, beginning with his being on the advisory committee to raise funds for the project in 1964, he raised more than $182,000 toward the project while serving as treasurer for the All-Faith Chapel fund.

The Chapel was dedicated in 1971 and in 1972, he was appointed chairman of the All-Faith Chapel committee to oversee the project funds.

He served as both president of the State Mental Hospital Development Association and as vice chairman of the Volunteer Services State Council, in charge of mental hospitals, in 1961. From 1963-64, he served as chairman of the latter agency.

More recently, he served on the committee appointed to administer the Preston E. Harris Memorial Fund.

Governor John Connally honored Smith for his "immeasurable contributions on behalf of the mentally retarded citizens of our state" in 1966 and again in 1968 for his contributions to the statewide planning for vocational rehabilitation.

Recipient of the Big Spring State Hospital "Friend of the Hospital" award in 1970, Smith initiated the Jack Y. Smith award in 1974 to be presented annually to an outstanding volunteer or volunteer group serving the Big Spring State Hospital.

In 1972 he was named Boss of the Year by the PBX Club of Cosden and has also served as chairman for the Quarter Back Club.

Currently, Smith is the Volunteer Council treasurer at Big Spring State Hospital and is chairman of the swimming pool project. Under his chairmanship, a gazebo in a mini-park area on the BSSH campus was constructed.

Smith resides with his wife, the former Edna Faye Rutledge, at 206 Washington Boulevard. They have two children, Steve, an accounting major graduate of West Texas State University, and Jacqueline, (Mrs. Louis G. Knight) of Amarillo.

"Mr. Smith's contributions to the mental health field are wide in scope and show clearly how local and statewide concerns can be balanced effectively," Dr. Gaver commented.

JACK Y. SMITH

"His service is an excellent example of the influence a volunteer can have on enhancing care for our mentally disabled citizens."

On receiving notification of Smith's honor, Adolph Supak, MHA, acting superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, said, "Big Spring State Hospital is especially proud of Jack Y. Smith, a volunteer who has served our facility with great faithfulness for many years. "We share with many others in extending our sincere congratulations to this man who stands tall in the world of voluntarism."

Smith will be honored with the presentation by Dr. Gaver and members of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation office at a public reception in November.

So long, volunteers

By ERMA BOMBECK

I had a dream the other night that every volunteer in this land had set sail for another country. I stood smiling on the pier, shouting "Good-by phone committees. Good-by disease-of-the-mouth. No more getting out the vote. No more playground duty, bake sales and three-hour meetings.

As the boat got smaller, I reflected: "Serves them right, that bunch of yes people. All they had to do was to put their tongues firmly against the roofs of their mouths and make an 'o' sound — no. It would certainly have spared them a lot of grief. Well, who needs them?"

The hospital was quiet as I passed it. The reception desk was vacant. Rooms were devoid of books, flowers and voices. The children's wing had no clowns, no laughter.

The home for the aged was like a tomb. The blind listened for a voice that never came. The infirm were imprisoned on wheelchairs that never moved. Food grew cold on trays that would never reach the hungry.

I fought in my sleep to regain a glimpse of the ship of volunteers just one more time. It was to be my last glimpse of a decent civilization.

Women's convention to meet in Houston

ERAmerica, the nationwide alliance of over 130 organizations working for the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, will host a major fundraiser in Houston—Nov. 18—E.R.A. advocates Alan Alda, "Hawkeye" of the M.A.S.H. television series, Kathleen Nolan, the actress-president of the Screen Actors Guild and Congresswomen Barbara Jordan, Elizabeth Holtzman and Margaret Heckler are among early supporters of the event.

ERAmerica reports that the event will give pro-E.R.A. forces a unique opportunity to provide thousands of dollars for the E.R.A. war chest and will demonstrate overwhelming support for the amendment to the nation. The fundraiser will take place as the National Women's Year Conference opens in Houston.

"E.R.A. is the big one for women — is in support of full citizenship. As the curtain goes up on the first National Women's Conference sponsored by Congress, women delegates and friends of E.R.A. in Texas and the nation will have the chance to express their belief with dollars. As a Texan, I know we will roll out the greenback carpet for this worthy cause," says ERAmerica Co-chair Liz Carpenter.

"E.R.A. ratification is crucial, and we are getting down to the finish line," says Co-chair Elly Peterson. "This fundraiser will provide fuel so that we can finish the race — and win."

For further information and tickets, contact Kathy Scafe, (512) 476-9887, 701 W. 15 St., Suite 202, Austin, Tex., 78701. Sponsor tickets for the event are $100 and patron tickets are $250. General tickets are available for $15.

Popular artist visits meeting

The Big Spring Art Association had Carolyn Walker of Colorado City as the guest artist for their September meeting. Carolyn, a popular artist, teacher and gallery owner, has recently returned from Cloudfort, New Mexico, where she was assistant to Jan Herring in a series of art workshops.

Mrs. Walker introduced the local art group to several new techniques of painting which she learned while working with artist-author Jan Herring. As a demonstration, she painted a rooftop scene of the Mexican village, Taxco, showing the cathedral domes. She then offered the finished picture to be sold at the meeting by written bids. Ms. Joyce Sandford was the lucky purchaser.

Mrs. Walker also gave away one of her matted prints and that winner was Barbara Merworth.

Barry Callum, artist and new staff member of the Big Spring Herald, was introduced to the group as a visitor.

Hostesses for the meeting were Ms. Roberta Ross, Ms. Ruth Sweatt and Ms. Adele Smith.

The resignation of Ms. Bess Wagner as secretary of the Association was regretfully accepted and Elsie Merrell was elected to take the vacant office.

Members were reminded of the Oct. 1 Big Country Art Show at the Civic Center, in Colorado City; the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Fair on Oct. 22 and 23 at the Dora Roberts Center; the Midland Art Show, Oct. 23 - Nov. 6; and the West Texas Arts and Crafts Festival, Nov. 11 and 12, at the Westgate Mall in Abilene. All of these events are open to local artists and information may be obtained from the Big Spring Art Association.

"Tipping of the Brush" honors went to Al Scott for his watercolor painting of an old car and barn which may be seen during the month of October at the State National Bank.

Interested persons are invited to attend and join the Art Association at any of their monthly meetings, each third Tuesday of the month, at 7:30 p.m., at the Kentwood Center.

The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 18 for which an interesting program is being planned.

Delightful Dining

Sorrel is one of the lesser known gourmet delicacies of the world. More commonly known as sour grass, it flourishes like grass throughout the spring, summer and fall. Unlike caviar, truffles, cockscombs, and foie gras, sorrel is easy to come by, and can be bought from most grocers. The sorrel plant's functions are many. Some of its more elegant uses are in such Epicurean delights as Crêvettes à l'oseille (Shrimp with sorrel); Saumon à l'oseille (Salmon with sorrel sauce); Potage Germain (Cream of sorrel soup); and Sorrel and potato soup.

Do you enjoy steaks, chops, chicken, or seafood? Well then you haven't had the best until you have eaten them at COKER'S RESTAURANT, 309 Benton, 247-2318. Doctor develops Home Treatment to Rinse Away Blackheads

See Blackheads "Wipe Off" After A Single Queen Helene Skin Treatment

A leading New York dermatologist has developed a simple medicated home treatment that rinses away blackheads & whiteheads in a matter of minutes.

The treatment starts with a thorough skin cleansing. A special laboratory developed whipped cleansing cream is used that takes off not only surface dirt, but also softens and loosens pore-caked grime with its emollient action. It liquefies as soon as it is applied and literally floats the dirt right off your face.

After this is issued off, a delightful, mint-scented cream is applied. Within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this specially medicated cream into a plastic-like masque. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws on waste matter in the pores. In 8 or 10 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your tissue. And your skin feels clean — really clean — and refreshed and smooth, like velvet!

The third step in the treatment is an exhilarating application of a unique anti-septic astringent — a facial "mint julep" that sponges and tightens emptied pores and tones up your complexion.

Nothing Else Like It

Even after a single treatment, women who have been troubled by blackheads for years see a marked improvement. Many find it hard to believe their eyes. Some blackheads and whiteheads just rise away. Others are softened and made ready to be drawn out by future treatments. Enlarged pores appear to be smaller. The skin looks smoother and firmer — feels fresher and more alive!

Anyone Can Use It

In short, after a single treatment taking only 15 minutes, you can expect to see results that normally you would not dare hope for even after many weeks — but don't expect everything at once. Damage done by years of neglect can't be undone in a day. Yet with 3 or 4 treatments a week, you may confidently look forward to startling complexion improvements within 30 days. Then one treatment a week — or every second week — will probably be all your skin will need to keep it clear, lovely and healthy looking.

The medically developed products used in this treatment are manufactured and quality-controlled by QUEEN HELENE. They are Queen Helene Whipped Cleansing Cream, Queen Helene Medicated Masque and Queen Helene Penetrating Astringent. The three items are sold as a complete skin and beauty kit for 5.00. CB rules may change COLLEGE STATION — The government is seeking Citizens Band (CB) rules input, announces Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

Do-CB owners need to be licensed, and do CB rules need to be simplified—these are questions the government is asking, says the specialist.

To have your ideas on the proposed rules considered, or for a copy of the proposed rules, write to: Docket Number 21318, Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

Due to growth in CB radio use, there has been a crowding of the airways with an estimated 20 million or more essentially non-trained and non-technically oriented users.

To best use this limited natural resource, the radio spectrum, certain rules are necessary.

JANUARY RITES — Mrs. Horace Garrett, 715 Edwards, announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Sue, to Stan Parlee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parlee, 3312 Cornell. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Horace Garrett. The ceremony will be held Jan. 7 at the First United Methodist Church, Big Spring.

Save money, use 'younger' cheese

Cheese prices vary with "curing," says Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System. The older the cheese, the costlier. Cheese are cured from two to twelve months, the specialist says, so when flavor is not of first concern, use a "younger" cheese.

Children's Letter To Divorced Parents: Let Us Love You Both

DEAR ABBY: It seems that more and more parents of teenage children are being divorced these days. I struggled with that decision for nearly two years, and finally joined their ranks.

I received the following letter, which was signed by each of my children. Their ages are 17, 15, 13 and 12.

I hope you will think it worthy of your column.
NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR DIVORCED PARENTS: We love you both for different reasons, so please don't feel that because we love one of you, we cannot love the other. Try to understand that even though you no longer love each other, we still love both of you.

We cannot be expected to know what went wrong with your marriage, nor do we want to know the details of who did what to whom, so please don't try to tell us your side of it. Don't ask us to judge either one of you, just help us to accept your parting so that we can build a life of our own though our parents live apart.

We still need to be loved by both of you, so please don't allow your resentment, however justified, to destroy our relationship with our grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins on both sides.

We know you both love us, so please let us love you both.
YOUR CHILDREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a clerk-typist in the registrar's office at a small midwestern college.

The other day, about half an hour before lunch, the registrar asked me if I would like to have lunch with him. We went to lunch, he picked up the tab, and I thanked him.

The next day, his secretary took me aside and told me in a very confidential tone that the registrar was mortified when I didn't offer to pay for my own lunch as he had only $10 with him and my lunch came to $3.50! Then the secretary said she was asked to "hint" to me that whenever anyone goes to lunch with the boss, it's "dutch."

I felt humiliated and upset to have been criticized behind my back for a wrong I didn't commit. Am I wrong to assume that when a gentleman asks me to have lunch with him, I am his guest? I thought he would have been insulted had I offered to pay for my own lunch under the circumstances. Please set me straight.
PERTURBED

DEAR PERTURBED: Had you offered to pay for your own lunch, you would not have offended a gentleman, because your boss isn't one. Furthermore, a man who asks his secretary to "hint" to you that all his invitations mean "dutch" is both cheap and gutless. Relax, dear. You committed no wrong.

Candlelight ceremony performed on Ranch

Randy Clerihew and Miss Carolyn Roane exchanged vows in a candlelight ceremony at the West Texas Ranch for Christ, Blackwell, at 4 p.m. Sept. 24. The Rev. Stan Cosby, White Deer, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Roane, Silver Heels Addition, Big Spring, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Clerihew, Olney.

The couple recited their pledges in front of an altar decorated with a large arrangement of yellow carnations, yellow gladioli and gold, amber and orange mums. Candelabrum with lit candles stood on either side of the altar.

Mrs. Elna Sweet, Blackwell, at the piano, accompanied vocalist Mrs. Susan Cosby of White Deer.

The bride chose a gown of candlelight English net and silk-faced satin. The gown featured a sheer yoked empire bodice outlined in embroidered Alencon lace. Lace accented the high neck, long sheer sleeves, hem of the full skirt, and bordered the veil. The fingertip-length mantilla veil was of matching net and lace.

She carried a bouquet of ivory orchids, baby's breath and greenery.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Gene Brown, Mexia, sister of the bride, wore gold flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of matching flowers. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Matt Brown, Stephenville, and Miss Sherry Burgess, Irving, had amber and orange flowers in their hair and bouquets. All three attendants wore soft mink-brown formal-length dresses with sheer matching attached capes.

Ken Speck of Holiday served as best man.

Groomsman and ushers were David Clerihew, Hobbs, N.M., Johnny Clerihew of Olney, both brothers of the groom, and Clay Belcher, Fluvanna.

Billie Sue High, San Angelo, was flower girl and Doyle Lee Parsons, Blackwell, served as ring bearer. Candlelighters were Allen and Dayla Alderman, Sweetwater.

A reception was held following the wedding in the Discipleship Lodge at the ranch. The bride had a three-tiered cake of yellow and gold colors with statuettes of a bride and groom atop it. The table was draped with a candlelight cloth and was centered with an arrangement of carnations, gladioli and mums in the hues of gold, yellow, orange and amber. The groom's cake was German chocolate. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Members of the house party were Miss Vicky King, Eastland; Miss Joann Whitehead, Morton; Mrs. Don Harrod, Hico; Ms. Lisa

Bridesmaid's luncheon honors Miss Wickline

A Bridesmaid's Luncheon was given in the home of Mrs. Ross Boykin, 101 Jefferson, Saturday afternoon, in honor of Miss Teresa Gail Wickline, bride-elect of John Myers.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Ross Boykin, Mrs. David Hodnett and Mrs. Jan Whatley.

Placecards for the dozen guests were set on tables decorated with blue and yellow appointments and African Violets for cen-trons, Big Spring; and Mrs. Phillip Harrison, Eastland.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard College and is presently in her senior year as an elementary education major at Tarleton State University at Stephenville.

The groom is a graduate of Olney High School and attended Tarleton State University. He is presently engaged in ranching in Olney.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. David Valencia, sister of the bride, of Lamesa; Mrs. Jeff Tate, grandmother of the bride, from DeLeon, Texas; Mrs. Clarence Myers, mother of the groom, Fort Worth; Mrs. Steve Johnson, sister of the groom, from Hugo, Okla.; and Miss Karen Jenkins, Austin.

Mrs. Delores Wickline, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Geary Williams also attended.

THE FAMILY SERVICE CENTER

Wilfrid Calnan is a certified social worker and is the director of the Howard County Family Service Center, located at 306 W. 3rd St. "I am not a shrink, and I don't judge people, or tell them what to do. I am a 'professional friend' of the people in Big Spring and Howard County."

Since its beginning in 1975, the center has helped over 150 families each year through family counseling, marriage counseling, and individual therapy. Anyone in Howard County can call for an appointment; there is no red tape and all counseling is completely confidential.

As a result of Calnan's work, many couples were able to rebuild their decaying marriages. Three girls who attempted suicide are now leading happy, productive lives. About 18 per cent of Calnan's caseload deals with emotional depression. Other cases include child abuse, child custody, teenage marriage, pyromania, kleptomania, and the problems of the single parent. Without the counseling, many would turn to suicide, alcoholism, drug abuse, delinquency, divorce, or insanity.

The center plans to expand counseling services in the future by adding more space and adding more counseling. In addition, the center will have in school education programs on marriage. Without the United Way contributions, the center could not operate. The center is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. with additional hours on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. For more information call 263-1362 and ask for Susan Grace or Wilfrid Calnan.

Future fruit, vegetable harvests uncertain

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
The California drought led to dry up the nation's supply of fresh fruits and vegetables this summer, but the prospects for future harvests and prices are still in doubt.

"Without at least average winter precipitation in the mountains, 1978 will be the severest test yet," said Charles W. Porter, an agricultural economist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

California is the nation's biggest fruit and vegetable producer. Porter stressed that even if crops from California are smaller than usual, some of the difference will probably be made up by growers in other states, but problems could remain.

Porter spoke at a recent conference sponsored by the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, a trade group whose 2,700 member firms account for over 80 per cent of total U.S. commercial fresh fruit and vegetable sales.

Despite the unfavorable weather in 1977, starting with a freeze in Florida, Porter said none of the dire predictions about widespread shortages came true. There were week-to-week fluctuations, some of them severe, but no long-lasting market disruptions.

Porter explained the Florida situation this way: "When the freeze hit ... the supply of tomatoes, peppers, eggplant and cucumbers ... was restricted to salvage operations. Snap beans were immediately wiped out. As a result, fresh vegetable prices soared."

Imports of items such as tomatoes from Mexico increased steadily into May. And by then, Florida was selling spring tomatoes and farmers who replanted after the freeze started marketing their produce. Texas and California were starting their usual shipments. Supplies of some items were above normal.

"During April and May, grower prices tumbled," Porter said. The supply pattern through the spring was one of bunched-together marketings. When

COLLEGE STATION — Why do women who are physically abused by their husbands decide not to end the marriage?

It would seem to a casual observer that no one would willingly put up with constant physical attacks by her spouse — but in fact, many do.

Reasons why some choose to remain in such marriages are complex and involve more than just severity of the assaults, Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist, says.

A lack of research on wife abuse represents a major hurdle for counselors and social service workers — who have so little formal training in this area — but are called upon for assistance in these cases, she added.

"In response to this need, more research is being done to shed some light on the problem."

"One study conducted recently with 80 families selected from a private social service agency and policy files looked at how victims responded — and gave some answers to the questions of why victims of conjugal violence stay with their husbands," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

"First, the study indicated that the more severe the violence, the more likely the wife is to seek help from the police or social agencies. And the more frequent the attacks (once a week), the more likely she is to call the police — while the woman who is abused only occasionally (at least once a month) is more inclined to get a divorce or legal separation."

"But these indications may be somewhat misleading — perhaps because divorced or separated women are ashamed to admit that they tolerated abuse as long as they did or because they fear harmful revenge," the specialist said.

Also research indicates that the courts rarely intervene unless the woman suffers fatal or near-fatal injuries, she added.

Wives with children to care for and fewer resources often feel "locked in" to their marriage, thinking that they would be financially unable to provide for their family.

the spring vegetable production increase and the stepped-up import activity are balanced against the reduced winter volume, fresh vegetable supplies the first half of 1977 turned out to be only 2 per cent less than a year earlier."

produced 40 per cent of the country's fruit and vegetables.

Porter said many important vegetable districts irrigate with water from wells, rather than from reservoirs critically low from the drought. By using well water and, in some cases, digging deeper, growers managed to produce normal crops. Producers in other states, meanwhile, anticipating smaller supplies from California, stepped up plantings of such things as cabbage, peppers and sweet corn.

"Grower prices are now very close to 1976 levels," Porter said, and "Retail vegetable prices have ...

followed the trend of grower prices."

When it comes to 1978, however, Porter said, "No one knows how much longer ground water supplies can be heavily drawn upon ... No one at this moment is very certain whether well water supplies in the West would carry us through another year like 1977."

Teach kids about money

COLLEGE STATION — Teach kids about money, recommends Lynn White, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Children need to know how the family uses its resources.

Perhaps talking in terms of "today's money, yesterday's money and tomorrow's money" will help them understand, the specialist says.

Today's money is their allowance, the family's paycheck and money on hand.

Yesterday's money is the part of today's money that will be saved. In the future, at the time of its use, it is yesterday's money.

Encourage children to list the things they want to buy in future that they will want to save yesterday's money for.

Remind them to think about special spending: school supplies, clothing, recreation needs and other expenses of their own.

Tomorrow's money, actually credit, is not yet earned, but can sometimes be "advanced." The family's "tomorrow money" may come from any lending source.

Clubhouse Environment discussed

Miss Frankie Geneva Boyd, Big Spring Attorney, spoke at the Big Spring Desk & Derrick Club at its monthly meeting held Sept. 19 at the Texas Electric Reddy Room. An environmental scientist before entering law school, Miss Boyd's talk was on the old industry and environmental law.

A former biology instructor at Big Spring High School, Miss Boyd has practiced law in San Antonio and is a member of the Phi Alpha Delta fraternity. She was also a charter member of and staff writer for the Legal Research Board of St. Mary's School of Law.

While living in Borger, Texas, she was a research chemist for J.M. Huber Corporation.

In her speech to the Club, Miss Boyd stated that our desire for a higher standard of living and production of so much energy to meet the demand helped to create pollution problems.

Government agencies have been created and legislation enacted to set up standards to be met and to help work out problems resulting from pollution or the lack of safety for employees. The Environmental Protection Agency was created for the protection of the environment, and the Occupational Safety and Health Act was passed for the protection of employees in industry.

She stated that the answers were hard to find, but that a mass of energy balance was needed so that such protection would not hurt the economy but protect all concerned. She also stated that she thought the oil industry had been most cooperative in working out pollution problems.

Mrs. W.E. Barnett gave some of the highlights of the Association of Desk & Derrick Clubs Convention held in Denver, September 15-18, and a short business session was held.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Doris Perkins and Mrs. Barnett won the attendance prize.

Club explains cotton uses

The Oasis Garden Club conducted a garden therapy program at Moss Elementary School on Wednesday afternoon.

A program on cotton was presented by Mrs. Clarie Conger, Mrs. Jewell Tubb and Mrs. Thetus Dunagan. They explained to the children how cotton is planted and grows to mature cotton bolls and illustrated the talk with a full and grown plant which had both green and open bolls.

Each child was given an open boll from which they removed the seed from the fiber. The uses of both seed and fiber were discussed.

Miniature bales of cotton were also shown to demonstrate the result of the ginning process.

The Airport Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Raymond Key, 1190 E. 6th. Mrs. B.A. Bunn served as the hostess and gave the Devotional, Genesis 2:8-10. Mrs. Raymond Key, President, presided.

Roll call was answered with each of the five members and one guest present giving a new salad recipe.

A report was given by Council Delegate, Mrs. B.A. Bunn.

Mrs. R.F. Davis won the door prize.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 4 at the home of Mrs. Raymond Key. Mrs. R.F. Davis will be the hostess and the program will be given by County Agent Don Rogers.

Chapter plans Founders' Day

The Texas Delta Delta Chapter of Phi Sigma Alpha met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Callie Jo Mason who served as hostess for the meeting.

Officers were installed by Mrs. Betty Warden for the 1977-78 club year. They are Mrs. Callie Jo Mason, president; Mrs. Teresa Bunch, vice president; Mrs. Jean Cantrell, secretary; Mrs. Betty Warden, treasurer and extension officer; Mrs. Laura Erhardt, Prevent ravelling

When covering buttons or belting with a sheer or loosely constructed fabric, first fuse matching lining fabric to the wrong side of the fashion fabric. This prevents the button form—or belting—from showing through and prevents ravelling, too, advises Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

Organize your sale

COLLEGE STATION — Successful garage sales depend on organization, advises Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

She suggests the following ideas for planning and staging a "neighborhood marketplace."

Advertise your garage sale with signs in the neighborhood (if customary), bulletin boards at community centers and grocery stores — and classified ads in the newspaper. Most shoppers check newspaper ads Wednesday through Saturday — advertising these days will bring your sale its widest readership.

Draw attention in the ad to big items you want to sell — list brand name, color, size or other characteristics.

Consider combining your sale with a neighbor or friend, or having a "block sale" — in which several people on the same block hold sales at the same time.

Holding a sale with others provides company during the lulls and help during the crowds.

Check local ordinances for permit requirements for holding a garage sale. Many cities limit the frequency and length of a sale, as well as the number and placement of signs.

Be ready the day before by organizing the items for sale. Price all items ahead — this will keep prices reasonably, even under crowd pressure.

Expect someone to come the day before or several hours early just to get a headstart on the other shoppers.

Couple honored on anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Sandridge recently celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary in the Centerville, La. home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H.D. Sandridge.

Assisting with the dinner party were their two daughters and husbands, Carl and Margie Kluck of Arkadelphia, Ark., and Harold and Doretha Crow of Centerville.

The honored couple was presented with a money tree and each of the 55 years of their marriage was reviewed, with an important event emphasized for each year.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandridge were married on Sept. 23, 1923, near Cooper, Tex. Mrs. Sandridge is the former Mary Ola Duncan.

Mr. Sandridge farmed for the first three years of their marriage until moving to Okla. where he worked in the oil fields.

The couple moved to Big Spring June 1, 1929, and Mr. Sandridge went to work for Cosden shortly after. He had been employed at Cosden 36 years when he retired in 1965.

Members of the Baptist Temple Church, the couple reside at 1601 E. 17th. They enjoy sports and playing cards with friends. They also enjoy their ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Others attending the anniversary party were Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Crow, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Walden, Mrs. Ronald Hill with Wendy and Heather, Wesley Kluck, Mr. and Mrs. John Townsend, and Stanley, Carol and Paul Crow.

Two of their granddaughters, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Stewart and Lisa Sandridge of Houston, were unable to attend.

His name is . . . uh

As you get older, it seems harder to remember names, and the human brain is subject to other difficulties, too.

At Cornell University Medical College in New York, Dr. Fred Plum, chairman of neurology, is starting a three-year program to learn just what happens and how to deal with such problems. Dr. Plum sees memory and cognitive disorders as a "major public health problem in our aging population," says the publication, Medical World News. Some 22 million Americans now are age 65 or older.

By one estimate, every day after age 65 the average adult loses 100,000 brain cells, known as neurons, which are involved in thinking, memory and other functions. They just drop out and die. But don't fret too much. You are born with some 10 billion of the non-reproducing cells.

DATE SET — Ellen Barnes, 610 Tulane, and Cecil Winterbauer, 2004 11th, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carol Ann, to Bob James Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Allison, Big Spring. The ceremony will take place Oct. 8 at the home of her sister, Mrs. Michael Shults, 4008 Dixon, at 2 p.m., and will be officiated by the Rev. Claude Cravens, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church.

Engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Don Halbert, San Angelo, announce the engagement and upcoming marriage of their daughter, Susan, to Terry Phillips, San Angelo, son of Mrs. Dell Bartlett, 1802 Goliad.

The wedding will be performed Nov. 6 in the Park Heights Baptist Church Chapel, San Angelo, by the Rev. Fred Wiesen.

Two-dollar bills will save money

Expect more two dollar bills, says Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

Sifting "two's" into circulation to substitute for a proportionate number of "one's" means less paper money will have to be printed. This will save the Treasury $5 to $6 million annually, the specialist says.

You probably can get away with high speeds in West Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Col. Wilson Speir might just as well be trying to enforce Prohibition as the 55 miles per hour speed limit. And he knows it.

The director of the Department of Public Safety admits that his troopers are scattered so thin that Texans can let their speedometer needles creep as high as 60 and get away with it.

Some local prosecutors say the highway patrol seldom files tickets for speeds below 55 mph.

Legislators seem to like it that way and allowed only a token increase in the highway patrol this year. They also put a stop to the use of helicopters to catch speeders.

"The factor of voluntary compliance is pretty damn low. I would estimate that 75 per cent of the drivers violate the 55-mile limit," Speir said in an interview.

It's not that the highway patrol isn't trying to enforce the unpopular speed law. Troopers made 307,524 speeding arrests in 1973, the last year of the 70-mph top limit. The total jumped to 676,432 tickets in 1974 and reached 773,015 last year.

"We just don't have enough manpower to have as much enforcement as it takes to bring about voluntary compliance on a statewide level," Speir said.

On a typical day, 578 highway patrol units are on duty, or an average of one for every 122 miles. Troopers have other things to do besides clock speeders — chase drunk drivers, appear in court, enforce criminal laws, answer accident calls, and the like.

So, choices must be made, limits drawn, says Speir.

"Our people are instructed to enforce the law and to file a case in speeding when they are convinced there is a substantial violation of the law," he said. What's a "substantial violation?"

"We mean a degree that would get a person above the arguments of nominal speedometer error, tire slippage, human error in reading the radar. We do not encourage our people to be too technical. We are trying to get above the argumentative stage," he said.

So when do you pass the argumentative stage?

"I am not going to tell you they have got a three-mile (mph) tolerance or a five-mile tolerance. If I told you there was a three-mile tolerance or an eight-mile tolerance, then people out in the state could drive that much above the limit," Speir said.

He added that other factors might enter into a trooper's decision whether to write a speeding ticket, such as whether a driver was weaving in and out of traffic or using a car with defective equipment.

Then, he said, "Some counties are stricter about prosecution than others. If the county attorney feels five or six miles (mph) over the limit is not substantial, then that would indicate the trooper would be batting his head against a brick wall if he filed cases under that limit."

But some prosecutors say the initiative really lies with the patrolmen.

"We used to have a cut-off in Travis County of 61 mph. I believe it is now 65 mph. I never see any below that. The lowest I ever tried was 61 mph," said Asst. County Atty. Randy Mercer.

A visitor told Speir he felt comfortable driving 65 mph past a radar unit.

"I wouldn't — you might get a ticket," he said.

"I feel even more comfortable at 60," the visitor said.

"I don't think you would have a problem at 60 unless you were cutting in and out or violating some other law," Speir replied.

Speir denies emphatically that there are any areas of the state where a driver can open the throttle wide and drive 70 with impunity.

But he acknowledges freely that one probably can get away with high speeds in many parts of West Texas.

"You are aware that in areas where traffic is really heavy, you might not have as much speeding. Officers are more thinly scattered in West Texas because there is not as much traffic.

"To be honest with you, where we have wide open spaces, our officers are probably more tolerant of speed. Human nature would dictate that where there are wide open spaces, they would be more tolerant of speed. But they are not authorized to be," Speir said.

Highway patrolmen are assigned stretches of highway by their sergeants, based on where accidents are most likely to occur, Speir said. While there is no rule requiring patrolmen to work highways near cities, Speir said, "I can see why some would — availability of courts and, also, near the cities you have larger amounts of traffic."

Congress imposed the 55 mph limit on the states in 1973, and it took effect in Texas in January 1974. Conservation of gasoline was the objective, but the lower limit also coincided with a dramatic drop in highway fatalities.

The Texas Energy Advisory Council estimates that Texans now drive an average of 58 mph on the highway, using 160 million gallons of gasoline less each year than if the limit had remained 70.

Dropping the average to 55 would add another $80 million to the saving, it says.

"I don't think there is any question that it has saved lives. But I think a 60-mile limit would have saved as many lives

Public health battle forces new hearings

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A court fight over a Texas public health program was sent back to Sherman by a federal appeals court Friday with orders to hold new hearings.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court canceled a ruling made by U.S. Dist. Judge William Wayne Justice and gave instructions on the point to be settled by the full hearings.

Texas Area 5 Health Systems Agency, Inc., and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare filed the appeal after Judge Justice agreed that the agency's board of directors and executive committee did not meet legal standards.

Justice agreed with Texas Acorn and nine individuals who filed suit contending there were not enough people on the board with incomes under $10,000.

The judge granted a partial summary judgment and enjoined the agency from operating. The 5th reversed him and said he misinterpreted the law involved.

There is no strict requirement that the membership of the board must confirm directly to a demographic breakdown of the area population, the 5th said.

That is, there is no necessity that the poor be represented by a board member who is poor, or the rich by a board member who is rich.

"We do not believe that only consumers with low incomes can represent low income consumers," the 5th said.

You know Charlie

with Marj Carpenter

Charlie probably knows as many people in Big Spring as anybody does.

You know Charlie. He works for Texas Electric. And he's a friendly guy.

When he goes to get the mail, he visits along the way and he's a walking good will advertisement for the service company.

Charlie got a belt bucket at a special dinner given by the company Friday night. It was for forty years service with Texas Electric.

And every bit of it has been in Big Spring. He went to work here for Texas Electric on Sept. 16, 1937, so Charlie has his own Dies y Seis celebration annually.

He moved to Big Spring Aug. 29, 1937 from McKinney. His brother-in-law worked for Texas Electric at that time. His name was Sam Leach and he is now dead.

Charlie had worked for the Texas Electric Railway in the McKinney area. "They used to have all of those commuter trains. People would go to the horse races at Arlington Downs or go down to Waco, Hillsboro, Sherman, Corsicana and Dennison."

Charlie laughed and said "Those were the days. There used to be special trains to football games and things and everybody would have a big time."

Charlie has always been

an avid sports fan and everybody in Big Spring knows it. Charlie loves the Dodgers. He's had a running feud going on for years with Tommy Hart, who is a Yankee fan.

In football, for some reason known only to Charlie, he's an Oklahoma fan. But as far as the Southwest Conference goes, he's an Aggie. This has proved to be a good idea because a lot of his bosses have also been Aggies.

Charlie and Viola Merritt, who married Charlie 12 years ago after his first wife died, are very active in the Baker Chapel Methodist Church. There is really no telling how many pounds of beef that Charlie has barbecued for that church.

And by telling everybody in town about it, he has been one of the main salesmen for the barbecue for that church. For years, Charlie would tell everybody about the barbecue, then go cook it, then sell it and give all the money to the church.

When beef first went up, Charlie went into shock. He quit barbecuing because he couldn't bring himself to put the price up.

But when he realized that people had adjusted and were paying good prices for barbecued beef everywhere else, he went back to fixing that barbecue. In fact, this past Saturday, Charlie was barbecuing for the church. Last week, in addition to the 40-year Texas Electric bell buckle, he received a pocket knife with his name on it for ten years of safety. "I had a good week," he stated.

Charlie is a walking Texas Electric advertisement. He wears one of their shirts, sports the belt buckle and a tie pin and carries the pocket knife.

Charlie is one of those rare individuals. He's proud of his wife's three boys, his boy and girl, and his 13-year-old grandson, Roger Henry. He's not mad at anybody. He thinks the world is basically good. He likes his job. He loves his family. He loves his church and loves the Lord.

No wonder so many people enjoy stopping to talk and joke a minute with Charlie Merritt — out where I'm ridin' fence.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are now able to get out from under confusions by applying your good common sense and using practical methods that do inspire trust and confidence in others. Put extra effort on the comprehensive plans that have breadth of scope to them: for best results.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Think over how far you have advanced in your life's goals and how to make greater progress. Come to a better understanding with a loved one. Avoid one with a jealous streak.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Study, learn well and do whatever makes both your life and theirs better. A new acquaintance of worth can now be turned into a good friend. A tendency to splurge.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Do not do anything that could take away from the respect you now enjoy within your community. Gain the goodwill of a powerful person so that you can become more successful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): If you adhere to proven standards you find that you soon expand in your own line of endeavor. Look to new contacts for the greatest help now. Be of good cheer, even if you are under pressure.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Study responsibilities well and know how to handle them most efficiently. Find a better way to please a close one. Show you are a good family member.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Discuss with associates how you can become mutually more successful. Look into civic matters that puzzle you. Do not waste time with persons you do not really like.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Get into wholesome amusements that appeal to you. Don't neglect matters that can be most helpful to you now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Get busy early and improve home conditions so you have more comfort and harmony there. Entertain good friends. Show you are an excellent host or hostess.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): A good time to meet with allies and formulate a better plan of action for the future. Contact an expert who can give you advice you need. So some enterprising, but on a modest scale.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19): You understand your financial position well now and can plan how to have a greater abundance. Meet with an expert and get good advice. Careful of strangers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Make plans now for greater success and happiness along both business and personal lines. Contact as many influential persons as you can. Take no chances with your reputation.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will comprehend the thinking of others and can become very successful, provided there is a good education given in the ethical, moral and spiritual aspects of life. There is some musical talent here also.

Is our planet unique in the starry universe, or are there many worlds which offer various life forms a home? Man's imagination has long peopled the heavens, and the "Star Wars" and "Star Trek" phenomena will probably not be the last of their kind. Yet, often the realm of fact holds just as many possibilities as the world of fiction, as in the books which follow.

George Abell is one of the fifteen scientists and writers who consider "Extraterrestrial Intelligence: The First Encounter." For the skeptical, he uses the laws of mathematical probability to narrow the field of life-supporting planets to 100 million within our own galaxy. Taken into account are factors such as the age of the local star, number of planets and their distance from the light source, the presence of crucial elements, and other limiters. Isaac Asimov traces the history of our romance about life on other worlds. For instance, in 1835 the New York Sun ran a series of articles about the discovery of a moon which enjoyed earthlike conditions and teemed with life. It took some time to convince the public that they had been victims of a hoax. Other writers address key issues, such as whether the first encounter would threaten traditional religion or serve as a catalyst for deeper insight. Would the political and social scenes deteriorate due to panic, or should such a discovery be withheld from the public? How would aliens regard "earthlings?" Leonard Nimoy adds some fascinating thoughts as to what it was like to portray the famous Mr. Spock, a television alien on the series, "Star Trek."

Ronald Bracewell is a noted radio astronomer, writing lucidly in "The Galactic Club: Intelligent Life in Outer Space." He describes the limit of radio astronomy as a means of contact. Project Cyclops was proposed in 1971, and would gather up to 1,000 giant radio telescopes for the purpose of scanning the heavens for radio signals. Bracewell speculates on just what messages we would transmit and expect to receive, and also reports on the difficulties of interstellar travel even by fusion powered rockets.

John Baxter's "The Fire Came By" concerns a well documented explosion occurring in Siberia in 1908, leaving no crater (as would a meteorite) but flattening trees and scorching earth over many square miles. To quote Sir Francis Bacon: "For as God was the help of our reason to illuminate us, so should we likewise turn it every way, that we may be more capable of understanding His mysteries; provided only that the mind be enlarged, according to its capacity, to the grandeur of the mysteries, and not the narrowness of the mind."

Opree coming to Odessa

An all-star cast of entertainers will perform at the Odessa Brand New Opree at 7 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 24 in the Globe of the Great Southwest.

"The Country Express" will be the center stage band. This seven member group was one of the favorites at the Ector County Fair last week and have been well-received by Opree audiences each time they played. Members are: Mark Lummus, Bill Provance, Randy Lummus, Neva & Bob McAlpine, Herman Williams and Jim Gregg.

"The Pierce Family" of Stanton will be the featured bluegrass band. This popular group entertained during the Shakespeare Festival for International Travel Writers' Night. Members are: Charles, Laura Beth, Carletta, and Stella Pierce.

Tami Whitmire, talented recording artist recently won a six-foot trophy in the Imperial-Miss-America World Grant Talent pageant to add to her collection. A protege of Happy Shahan, she is well on her way to stardom. A former Crane resident, she now resides in Odessa.

requests for return appearance at the show. She has loaned her singing talents to radio stations in Ft. Worth, Dallas and Abilene, the Louisiana Hayride, concerts, jamborees, civic events, county fairs, etc. She recorded an album this month in Nashville and returns in October for more recording.

Rona Reeves, also of Big Spring, will be making her debut at the Opree this Saturday, but she is no newcomer to the stage. This young lady will celebrate her eleventh birthday on Sept. 26 and has already won the national title for her country western singing talent. This past summer, she won the title over 59 other contestants in Ft. Worth competition. Her title is "Miss Southern States Dixieland" and she has 43 1st place trophies. The sixth grader is an honor student, cheerleader and dancer, as well. She lends her talent to area fairs and community events. She is scheduled to sing for the Chevrolet New Car Show, Oct. 5.

There are no reserved seats at the Odessa Brand

New Opree and full houses are more the rule than the exception. The box office opens for ticket sales on a "first come, first served" basis at 6:30 p.m. Show time is 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for students and senior citizens and 50c for children under twelve. The University of Texas of the Permian Basin pay the admission fee for their full time students.

In Hip Pocket Theater In Watermelon Sugar opens

Richard Brautigan's novel "In Watermelon Sugar," adapted into play form for the stage and directed by Johnny Simons, will open the fall season at Hip Pocket Theatre, running weekends September 29 through October 22.

Brautigan, who is well-known for his departures from conventional novels and poetry, has created a delightfully warm and mellow community of characters out of watermelon sugar.

In fact, everything in his town of IDEATH is made from watermelon sugar. The story is an unfolding of relationships that center around the narrator of the play, who is Brautigan himself, played by Steve Garrett. He is a writer living in a shack on the edge of town.

Margaret, played by Margaret Murphy, is his first love gone sour, but who continues to hope that things will change. Pauline, Carol Wurz, is his new love and his favorite.

Then there's the schoolteacher (Virgil Phelps) and Doc Edwards (Gene Woods), Charley (Kenneth Sallman) and Fred (Richard Harris) who works at the plank press, the Grand Old Trout (Jimmy Joe Steenbergen), and Al who cooks carrots. He's played by David Estes.

And then there's the Statue of Mirrors (Deborah Freed) in which all of life is reflected.

It's a play about conversations and things that happen in IDEATH day to day, like work, baths, breakfast, and dinner. It's about the beautiful trout hatchery and how it was built and the things that happen there.

It's the story of Inboil, played by Douglas Balentine, and his Gang and the place where they used to dig, the Forgotten Works, and all the terrible things they did, and how quiet and nice things are in IDEATH now that they're gone.

It's a play about their status and the places where the dead are buried so that they are forever with light coming out of their tombs.

It's about the piney woods and cold clear streams filled with trout and long walks taken at night.

It's a play that perhaps presumptuously deals with every aspect of the living out of our lives — with love and death and youth, growing old, finding and losing, God and war, anxious anticipation and disappointment.

In Brautigan's hands the common become uncommon, the expected story is unexpectedly told in a totally unique writing style and approach. "In Watermelon Sugar" is like a futuristic return to Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," but with a new twist.

Cheesecloth screens will provide the added dimension of slides created by John Moore and Linda Boydston, and a laser beam will be used for special lighting effects.

Electronic music by Fripp and Ino provide the background tapestry, with costume design by Diane Simons and puppets created by James Maynard.

Fantasy props of lanterns, fish, stars, moths, and rivers will enchant the audience in the unfolding of the story, and Douglas Balentine has created lighting to enhance the multi-dimensions of the play.

Dinner is provided prior to the show by the Back Door Restaurant from 7-9:00 p.m. Show time is 9:00 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 each, with dinner and drinks extra. Hip Pocket Theatre is located at 9524 Highway 80 West in Ft. Worth, and is a part of the Grissom and Friends Artists Compound. Reservations can be made by calling 244-9869 or 244-9994.

OS Steer Roping is gearing up

POST — Tom Ferguson, the world champion all-around cowboy and rodeo's first $100,000-a-year prize winner, will be in the field of 36 top steer ropers — including 10 of the 15 who qualified for the recent National Steer Roping Finals — in the 7th annual OS Ranch Steer Roping here, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 2.

Some 3,500 or more western fans are expected to be on hand for the "OS weekend" which also will feature a Saturday afternoon, Oct. 1, match roping between defending world champion calf roper, Roy Cooper of Monument, N.M., and Phil Lyne of Artesia Wells, Tex., two-time former champion (1971-72), besides calf roping, team roping, barrel racing, and a cutting horse contest.

Thirty-seven of the nation's top cowboy and western artists will exhibit over $200,000 worth of western art in the OS ranch house nearby while all the roping is going on. Art sales of about $100,000 are anticipated.

The OS Steer Roping and Art Exhibit is a benefit crowd pleaser for West Texas Boys Ranch at San Angelo. Over $40,000 was raised during the weekend last year for the Boys Ranch operation.

Half or more of the artists exhibiting will attend the "OS weekend" in person and be guests in Post homes.

Walt Garrison, who quit running the football for the Dallas Cowboys for rodeoing, will be the arena director, Jim Prather, OS boss and "weekend" innovator announces.

Farm Harvesting cotton in WT

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Harvest operations progressed well over most of Texas during the past week, with harvesting of cotton, corn and sorghum winding down in eastern areas and increasing in western sections. Yields of most crops are fair and down some from the previous year due to the extended dry weather, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Hay yields have been particularly short, but recent rains in some sections should boost additional cuttings.

AGRI-BARBECUE — The long chowline moves through the doorway of the Howard County Fair Barn. Ambassadors are shown on the left. Welcoming the hundreds of ranchers and farmers and their families who attended the event Friday.

Cotton is still opening in the Plains and the harvest season is about to get into full swing. About half the state's cotton crop is grown in the South Plains, and the crop generally looks good. Some peanut harvesting is under way in Central and East Texas as well as in Southwest Texas. However, yields will be down due to the dry summer.

Much field activity now centers around fall land preparation and planting of such small grains as wheat and oats, noted Pfannstiel. Recent rains have provided planting moisture in some locations, but other areas still need rain.

Cattle marketing is active as ranchers continue to cull herds in preparation for the coming winter season, said Pfannstiel.

Reports from district extension agents showed the following conditions:

PANHANDLE: Wheat planting is about 75 per cent complete, with early fields up to good stands. Corn harvesting is active, with yields lower than expected. Cotton harvest will start soon. Harvesting of hay and carrots continues. Pastures and ranges are generally providing good grazing. Calves from last fall and this spring are moving to market.

SOUTH PLAINS: Farmers are busy applying desiccants to cotton. The crop is generally about two weeks ahead of schedule. Corn harvesting is about complete while the sorghum harvest is starting. Some harvesting of sunflowers, peppers and cucumbers continues. Wheat planting is about 75 per cent complete. ROLLING PLAINS: Sorghum harvesting is 75 to 80 per cent complete in the major producing counties. Cotton is opening rapidly and some fields are being defoliated. Wheat seeding is active, but a good general rain is needed to germinate the crop. Calves are moving to market at heavy weights. The stocker cattle market is strong.

NORTH CENTRAL: Cotton harvesting is about 75 per cent complete and the peanut harvest is about to start. Cotton yields have been fair but down from last year due to the dry summer. Planting of wheat and oats is increasing. Fall gardens are making good progress and pastures are improving from recent rains. Cattle marketing is active.

NORTHEAST: Cotton harvesting is under way while the sorghum harvest is complete, with below average yields. Early soybeans are being harvested along with sweet potatoes and hay crops. Some small plantings are emerging. Cattle marketing continues to increase.

FAR WEST: Some early cotton fields are being harvested. Sorghum harvesting is also active. Some ranges are in critical shape.

Texas corn production

AUSTIN — This year's Texas corn harvest, already one-third completed statewide, promises to approach the record 1976 crop, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown reported today.

The expected production of 176 million bushels is a two-per cent drop from the 180 million bushels harvested last year, Brown noted.

Dry weather and problems with spider mites on the High Plains are expected to cut average yields by 10 bushels per acre, Brown added.

Production estimates just released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service for the major growing regions are: Northern High Plains, 127,305,000 bushels; Southern High Plains, 21,920,000 bushels; South central, 7,285,000 bushels; and Upper Coast, 8,030,000 bushels.

Brown also reported that peanut production this year is forecast at 453 million pounds, down two per cent from the 1976 crop. Again, dry weather and insects, especially on dryland crops, are expected to cut yields by 25 pounds per acre, he said. Harvesting is 16 per cent complete statewide.

A record soybean crop of 19.5 million bushels also is forecast this year, Brown noted.

Appaloosa events slated at Sweetwater

SWEETWATER — The Nolan County Fairgrounds here will be the scene of the Appaloosa Cutting Futurity and Maturity, and the Appaloosa calf roping and heading and healing competition, produced by the Appaloosa Horse Club, Inc., and sponsored by the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce, will be held Sept. 29, 30, and Oct. 1.

This competition is held in order to pit the top Appaloosa cow horses in the nation against each in one big show, and the cutting futurity has $1,000 added to the prize list. These three-year-old Appaloosas were initially nominated before

Soil survey published

"A soil survey of Glasscock County has recently been published and is available to the public," stated Ken Dawson with the Soil Conservation Service in Big Spring.

The new publication shows the location of the soils in Glasscock County on detailed maps and provides descriptions of each soil in the county.

Other information in the survey include the potential yields of cropland and rangeland on the various soils. Also included are the limitations of each soil for construction of ponds, terraces, waterways and the suitability for irrigation.

Dawson said, "With the completion of this soil survey, we now have full coverage for all counties in the Big Spring area."

The Glasscock County Soil Survey is available at SCS offices in Sterling City, Big Spring and Stanton. For more information contact the Soil Conservation Service in Big Spring, in the Post Office Building.

Powell Ranch tour planned

Gov. Dolph Briscoe will be among several hundred guests in touring the Powell Ranch near Fort McKavett Thursday, Sept. 29.

Jimmy Powell has carried out an extensive range management program since 1969. He has increased his stocking rate from 24 to 55 animal units per section. When animal units of deer are added, the total carrying capacity per section has increased to an unbelievable 60 animal units per section.

The tour will start at 9 a.m. Mr. and Mrs. Powell will host a barbecue lunch at the historic Fort McKavett, about six miles from the ranch.

After dinner speakers will be Gov. Briscoe, J.A. Whittenburg III, President of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; Bill Schneeman, President of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association; Kenneth Keykendall, President of the Texas Section of the Society of Range Management; and Dr. W.A. "Dub" Waldrip, General Manager of the Spade Ranch.

If you would be interested in attending with a group from Howard County contact the Soil Conservation Service 267-2557 by Tuesday.
