Filibuster threatens bill paying

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leader of a Senate filibuster on natural gas pricing said today he's ready to continue blocking legislation to raise the national debt ceiling until the Senate rejects a proposal to free gas from price controls.

The move by Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., threatens the government's ability to pay its bills.

If the debt ceiling bill is not passed by Saturday morning, the beginning of the new fiscal year, the government will lose authority to borrow money to pay bills.

In holding the debt measure hostage to the natural gas bill, Abourezk hopes to force the Senate to reject an industriesupported plan to lift price controls from natural gas.

"This will mean government won't be able to write any more checks," Abourezk said. But he said he was prepared to continue to object to efforts to pass the debt-ceiling bill "until we're done with the natural gas issue."

Senate Republican leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., called Abourezk's tactics "unconscionable."

Baker and Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, meanwhile, reported little progress in efforts to resolve the stalemate that has stalled Senate action on the natural gas portion of President Carter's energy program for 10 days.

Baker said there is only a "fifty-fifty chance" that competing sides in the issue will be able to even agree to set a time to vote on various alternatives. A Saturday Senate session was scheduled and Baker said it might be another week before the issue is finally resolved.

Meanwhile, in a quick shuffle almost unnoticed by Senate leaders, the Senate today actually voted approval of a compromise proposal by Byrd and Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., to allow gas prices to rise more than the President wants but without lifting the price controls.

Justice officials to visit South Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department officials will meet in Seoul with South Korean government authorities to discuss "satisfactory terms and conditions for communicating" with Tongsun Park about alleged Korean influence buying in Congress, the department said today.

The United States to face trial on federal charges of bribery and corruption.

The brief department announcement was the first official indication that U.S. authorities may be approaching some sort of agreement to question Park outside the United States.

Informed sources in Seoul had said earlier that the South Korean government would allow Justice Department officials to question Park.

They said the agreement in principle was reached Thursday at a meeting in New York between Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Korean Foreign Minister Park Tong-jin.

The Justice Department announcement gave no further details about the time of the meeting.

It said only that U.S. and Korean officials have agreed that Justice Department representatives should go to Seoul to meet with the Korean Ministry of Justice to discuss arrangements for meeting with Park.

The South Korean government responded by saying it was up to Park to decide whether he would return or not.

El Paso Ambulance outbid local firm

El Paso Ambulance and Rescue Service underbid the Alert Ambulance Service Inc. of Big Spring by more than $14,000 for the Veteran's Administration Hospital contract according to Gene Wiel, assistant chief of supply at the hospital.

Wiel explained it is federal law that VA hospitals do not make ambulance contracts for more than one year at a time. He said 10 different services were contacted by the hospital in order to ask bids on ambulance service for the V.A. Hospital for 1978.

Of the ten services contacted, there were only three bidders who replied including Alert Ambulance Service Inc., Big Spring; Cross Ambulance Service, Fort Worth; and El Paso Ambulance and Rescue Service Inc. in El Paso.

Bids were based on what the ambulance services estimated their cost would be per trip for an emergency medical care vehicle within the city limits and outside the city limits during the day, cost per trip for ambulance service within and outside the city limits at night; cost per trip of non-emergency vehicles within and outside the city limits day and night, and cost of oxygen and waiting time.

Of the three bidders, Cross Ambulance Service estimated the lowest cost, with a yearly cumulative figure of $114,531.25. El Paso was next lowest with a bid of $119,959.25, followed by Alert Ambulance which estimated yearly operation cost at $134,070.75.

Wiel explained the V.A. Hospital was required to make a contract with the lowest responsible bidder. For various undisclosed reasons, Cross Ambulance Service was not able to locate here, and El Paso Ambulance and Rescue Service Inc. was selected by the hospital as next lowest bidder.

Wiel stressed the point that the El Paso corporation was selected for purely business reasons, and the selection of a new ambulance service was no reflection on the efficiency of Alert Ambulance Service, which has served the hospital this year.

United Way hits 20 per cent

The United Way campaign has picked up 20 per cent of its $130,800 goal since it started Sept. 20, according to campaign chairman Charles Beal.

Beal reported at the weekly report meeting Thursday that $24,257 has been collected or pledged.

The Out-of-Town Division, chaired by Ken Perry, was the unquestionable leader over the other divisions with a hearty 77 per cent of its total already in and the Residential Division chaired by Polly Mays and Edna Womack was a close second with 70 per cent of its goal already received.

Agencies receiving funds from the Big Spring United Way are The American Red Cross, The Big Spring Boys' Club, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, The Boy Scouts, Family Service Center, The Girl Scouts, Planned Parenthood, The Salvation Army, The Westside Community Center, YMCA, and YMCA Lakeview.

Report luncheons for the United Way will be held regularly at noon on Thursdays now through November 1st. Next week's luncheon will be held at the Brass Nail and all division chairmen and United Way workers are encouraged to attend. Persons wishing to contribute to the United Way are asked to come by the United Way office on the third floor of the Permian Building or call 267-5201.

Action/reaction: No layoffs

Q. Is there anything to the rumor that Cosden is about to lay off a bunch of refinery workers?

A. "A rumor that Cosden is getting ready to lay off refinery workers is unfounded," Ken Perry, president of Cosden said here today.

"We have made no move nor have we discussed laying off anybody," Perry emphasized. The refinery president said that they were holding costs analysis of some of the departments in a study on how to improve the operation.

"Possibly, this is why the rumor got started," Perry stressed.

Offbeat: Babe's gator

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Beside bringing a lot of rain and wind to Louisiana, Hurricane Babe also left city officials here with a problem — a 6½-foot-long alligator in the sewer system.

Authorities turned Wednesday to state wildlife agent Ray Young, who had a ready solution. He climbed into the sewer and chased the critter out into the waiting lassos of police.

"The gator turned a lot in the hole until we got him out and got a wrap around his mouth," said policeman Wallace King. "I don't know if I'd have done it or not."

The alligator, which officials believe was washed into the sewer by heavy rains spawned by Babe, will be released in a game reserve.

At Big Spring rally

Hill slaps Briscoe's record

By BILL WERRELL
Attorney General John Hill dropped into the Howard County Airport Thursday to reinforce his formal announcement to run for governor.

Stating that far too often candidates leave their campaign announcements in Austin, Hill said he'd been on the road for two weeks to make sure the people of Texas knew his intentions and became familiar with him.

After saying he was especially pleased to be back in Big Spring after the heavy pre-campaign support he got here, he assured the crowd of approximately 100 that his duties as attorney general would not be neglected throughout his campaign.

Hill said he was optimistic about the gubernatorial race because both contenders would be running on their own records.

He cited his own record and of his stand on the public utilities question,

JOHN HILL and his fight against a rate increase request by Southwestern Bell.

"I have tried to represent the public interest, and when it comes to the utilities, I support the consumer. Public utility base rates should reflect only the minimum needed to keep the installation in service," he said.

Hill also stated he was disappointed the governor did not take a stronger stand on sales tax and the utilities. He assured that if he got into office there would be no sales tax on utilities, and that in his administration, alternate fuel sources would be explored.

Hill went on to talk about the high property taxes in the state, and stated that Texans were bearing the weight of a billion-dollar increase under the leadership of Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

He pointed out that the state government was wasting money on ineffectual programs and that if he were elected priorities would change.

In reference to this, Hill said school teachers and law enforcement people should be the recipients of more of our tax dollars rather than wasting revenues on useless governmental committees.

He said that Texans needed a respected voice in Washington in reference to energy policies and farming, and that as governor he would supply this need.

Hill then stated that Gov. Briscoe had been "drifting" for the last six years, and had not been dealing with our problems head on.

"I have eight years experience in the executive office, and will appreciate the opportunity to be governor of Texas," he said.

"We will win, ten years is too long for any one person to hold that office in Texas. It stinks of dynasty," Hill said in relation to Briscoe's term as governor.

Elderly tax exemption left off statements

Eligible senior citizens should not be alarmed when they receive tax statements without the usual $3,000 deduction for those over 65 years of age.

"This is usually included in the statement, but we made a mistake with the computer this year, and it was left off," said Tom Ferguson, finance director for the city.

In order to correct the matter, said Ferguson, those entitled to the deduction should await until they receive their statements. They should then report to the tax office located behind City Hall where officials will correct the statement.

In order to become qualified for the deduction, senior citizens have to have filed with the Howard County Tax Assessor's office in the courthouse, according to Ferguson.

Short-tempered gunmen free four more hostages today

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) — Hijackers holding a Japan Air Lines DC8 jet released four more hostages today as Japanese officials rounded up prisoners in Japan and $6 million to meet the terrorists' ransom demands.

Bangladesh Foreign Secretary Dobraki Hussain said negotiations were going well. But other officials said the five gunmen were growing irritable and short-tempered in the third day of the siege and were communicating less with the outside.

These officials also said the terrorists had not been told that one of their demands would not be fully met — three of the nine prisoners in Japanese jails whose freedom the hijackers demanded had refused the offer to leave.

Japanese officials said the ransom flight Saturday would arrive here more than seven hours after the hijackers' latest deadline and would carry no more than six of the prisoners.

The Bangladesh officials said it was not known whether the hijackers said to be members of the ultra-leftist Japanese Red Army, were willing to extend their deadline once again.

The latest hostage release brought to nine the number of passengers freed since the plane was seized Wednesday. All four passengers freed today — a Japanese woman, an Indonesian woman and an Egyptian couple — were ill.

While the standoff continued here, a lone white hijacker said to be armed with a grenade and pistol commandeered a domestic French airliner and forced it to land at Paris' Orly Airport, where he reportedly demanded to broadcast a message on European radio. There was no indication of a link between the hijackings.

There were indications the hijackers wanted to leave Dacca after the prisoners and money arrive.

September may be hottest, driest ever

Big Spring residents tried to another record high Thursday when the mercury reached 101 at the experiment station. The previous record was 99 in 1963.

Experiment Station manager Bill Fryrear promised that if the temperature reached at least 96 today this would be the hottest September ever in Big Spring. According to Fryrear, the previous high was in 1931 when the average high was 95. Fryrear said he was fairly sure that would be smashed today.

If the temperature hits 100, this month would be the September with the highest number of days over 100 degrees in Big Spring history, also. September, 1963 had four days over the century mark, but September, 1977 has had four in a row, all in this week.

Unless we get a deluge of rain, this will be one of three Septembers in history to go without measurable rainfall in Big Spring. It would be the driest back to 1939, and would join that year and 1922 as the really parched falls in Big Spring history.

According to Ronnie Wood of the county agent's office, the rain shortage can't help or hurt the present cotton crop.

"We get all the important rains in August," said Wood. "Rain now would only affect next year's crop. If it doesn't rain within the next 30 to 60 days, there could be problems in putting up land through the winter."

Two former policemen on trial for murder

Numbing parade of witnesses expected

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — After weeks of dramatic testimony, jurors steered themselves today for a numbing parade of character witnesses for two former Houston policemen on trial for murder in the death of a Mexican-

American prisoner. Defense attorneys began calling character witnesses Thursday afternoon for Terry Denson, 27, and Stephen Orlando, 21, who are charged with beating Joe Campos Torres and shoving him into the murky waters of Buffalo Bayou. Campos Torres' body was pulled from the bayou on May 8 only a few blocks from Houston police headquarters.

Defense attorney Mike Ramsey said he expected it would take through today to present all of the character witnesses. Campos Torres' former U.S. Army sergeant, Sgt. Donald Myers of Ft. Bragg, N.C., testified Thursday that Campos Torres once told him "he jumped on a couple of civilian policemen" while in the Army.

Myers told the jury that Campos Torres, 23, boasted of being an expert in Taekwondo, a Korean martial arts form that emphasizes kicking.

Of the alleged incident between Campos Torres and two policemen at a town near Ft. Bragg, Myers said, "He had kicked one of them pretty bad."

Myers did admit under cross-examination, however, that Campos Torres practiced the karate-like technique as "a self-defense maneuver" and that U.S. Army records showed Campos Torres had failed a water survival test.

The jury was not permitted, however, to hear Myers testify that Campos Torres was kicked out of the Army for chronic alcohol and drug abuse. State District Court Judge James Warren ruled the testimony was irrelevant.

Earlier Thursday, Judge Warren overruled defense efforts to try to show Denson and Orlando acted in self defense in dealing with Campos Torres.

Denson was recalled to the witness stand as defense attorneys attempted to establish that self-defense was an issue and reiterated that he did not push Campos Torres into the bayou.

Denson said he was standing at the edge of Buffalo Bayou holding Campos Torres with his left hand and gesturing with his right when the prisoner reached back for him. He said he slapped Campos Torres' hand away, stepped back and the prisoner fell into the water.

After Denson left the stand, the jury was sent out and Judge Warren began hearing from officers who testified that Campos Torres had been a police problem in the past.

R.B. Stewart, a former patrolman who is now a Houston narcotics officer, said he had arrested Campos Torres on previous occasions and Campos Torres had threatened to use karate on him. Patrolman J.L. Doss also testified that Campos

Torres had threatened to use karate.

Judge Warren, however, overruled motions to let the jury hear the testimony until the defense can convince him that Campos Torres was the aggressor the night he was taken to the bayou.

Thursday's attempt to show self defense was a continuation of defense efforts from the day before.

Billy Graham says he has nothing to hide

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Billy Graham says his evangelistic association has '13 Report' budget victim

DALLAS (AP) — KERA-TV's "13 Report," one of the last public broadcasting local daily news shows in the nation, has died of deterioration, station spokesmen announced this week.

The program had garnered several awards since it began under the name "Newsroom" in 1970. The show was originally hosted by Jim Lehrer, current host of the nationally televised "MacNeil-Lehrer Report."

KERA program director Pat Perini said a tight budget and declining quality contributed to the show's demise.

"It is the consensus decision of the public affairs staff that the quality of the program has deteriorated," he said.

nothing to hide, has done nothing illegal or immoral and will begin issuing annual reports disclosing how it spends up to $25 million in yearly contributions.

Graham, whose organization is headquartered in Minneapolis, told a news conference Thursday that the question of disclosure for religious organizations had not really come up until this year.

"And no churches or church-related organizations are required by law to do so," Graham said. "But the mood of the country is moving in that direction, and I think we will gladly conform to it."

The Graham organization recently has been criticized by the Better Business Bureau for failing to provide prospective contributors with information on how money is spent.

"At the proper time, we will be fully cooperative," Graham said at the news conference.

"My job is to do the spiritual, ministry," Graham added. "I give myself to preaching and writing."

He said the association's board and executive committee have handled financial details and the board will decide, at a weekend meeting, what to disclose. A Graham aide said an announcement is expected next week.

"When people give to our association, they trust that it's being handled properly and wisely and invested for the advancement of the Kingdom of God, which all of it is," Graham said.

He added that "the Gospel is free but the bucket you carry the Gospel in costs money."

Graham broadcasts on hundreds of radio and television stations, publishes a three-million circulation magazine, circulates 100 films and has eight evangelistic teams which have carried crusades to all continents. The association employs 500 people, 400 of them in the Minneapolis headquarters.

Graham also tried to clear up suggestions that his organization had kept secret a $23 million World Evangelism and Christian Education Fund.

He said the secrecy was caused by the news media's inattention, not his design.

"That fund has been as public as we could make it, but nobody's been willing to print anything about it until now," he said. "There's nothing illegal, immoral or unethical about that fund — in fact, we're proud of it."

Recently, Graham said the fund had been first revealed in 1971 but that he had not publicized its growth to $23 million for fear it would bring a flood of requests for grants.

State trooper is missing

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A state trooper from Shepherd, Tex., who has been missing for nearly a week, is under investigation by the Department of Public Safety, according to a DPS spokesman.

DPS Trooper Ted W. Bowlin, 40, a 17-year veteran assigned to the highway patrol, has been suspended without pay since he failed to report for duty on Sept. 24, the spokesman said.

"Trooper Bowlin was and is the object of an investigation that was initiated by the DPS," the spokesman said. "He subsequently failed to report for duty and was suspended without pay."

"We don't know where he is," the spokesman added. "We are looking for him as a missing person since no charges have been filed against him."

The spokesman declined to give further details of the probe.

Toyota judgment

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Houston woman has won a $475,000 judgment against Toyota Motor Co., which a jury decided was responsible for injuries that blinded her in an auto accident six years ago.

The judgment for Elaine Tyer was said to be the highest ever awarded in this county but fell short of the $2.5 million she sought in her lawsuit.

"What they gave me will make things a little easier. Of course, you couldn't put a monetary value on my eyes," Mrs. Tyer said.

Mrs. Tyer was blinded when her face struck the dashboard of her Toyota during a collision.

Her lawyers contended that a defectively designed dashboard was to blame for her injuries. Toyota responded that her head struck the top of the dash, not the edge, and the fractures that injured Mrs. Tyer's eyes happened because her facial bones were weak.

Toyota also produced testimony that the dash actually exceeded government safety standards.

The verdict is appealable to the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here and, ultimately, to the Texas Supreme Court.

Weather C-o-l-d f-r-o-n-t reported in sight

By the Associated Press. Relief (it's spelled c-o-l-d f-r-o-n-t) was in sight today from the heat wave that has left Texans sweltering in summerlike temperatures with October just around the corner.

The National Weather Service said a cold front is expected to enter the Panhandle sometime during the night and will cross most of the rest of the state Saturday.

But at least one more day of the record-breaking heat was on tap as forecasters said temperatures will reach into the 90s and possibly approach the 100-degree mark today.

The state was practically cloud-free during the pre-dawn hours except for a few patches of low clouds in the San Antonio-Austin area.

There has been no rainfall since noon Thursday anywhere in the state. Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s except in the Panhandle where they dipped as low as the lower 60s and upper 50s. Some early morning readings included 58 at Dalhart, 63 at Amarillo, 78 at Wichita Falls, 75 at Texarkana, 78 at Dallas-Fort Worth and Waco, 75 at San Antonio, 74 at Lufkin, 71 at Houston, 77 at Corpus Christi, 76 at Brownsville and Del Rio, 78 at San Angelo, 80 at El Paso and 67 at Lubbock.

Forecasters called for possible late afternoon thunderstorms over the eastern half of the state while skies were expected to remain mostly clear over the western half of the state.

The judgment for Elaine Tyer was said to be the highest ever awarded in this county but fell short of the $2.5 million she sought in her lawsuit.

Stars on top and star toys underneath Christmas trees

DALLAS (AP) — Thanks to the smash movie "Star Wars," Christmas trees this year will have stars on top and star toys underneath — if toy makers get their holiday wish.

Between the annual Spring toy show here, at which manufacturers unveil their Christmas offerings, and the Fall show, which opened this week, something has happened to change the direction of toy merchandising.

"Star Wars."

The movie has become a national phenomenon and the toy industry has been quick to cash in on the boom.

Many manufacturers have dusted off battery-powered robots, and some companies that have offered space-age items on "Star Trek" or "Buck Rogers" themes are busy trying to meet buyer demand.

But the genuine article, toys based on "Star Wars," will come only from Kenner Products, which scooped up the license for what Kenner President Bernie Loomis called, "a considerable investment."

And the toymaker is trying valiantly to make the investment pay off, by coming up with a unique marketing idea: gift certificates.

"It takes several months to go into production on an item, so we don't even have one to show the buyers," Gerry Daugherty, a Kenner salesman said.

"But we are offering a gift package that includes a Star Wars display stand, stickers, club membership card and postage-paid mail-order card for a set of four plastic action figures from the movie — Luke Skywalker, Princess Leia Organa, Chewbacca the Wookiee and the robot R2-D2, registered under the trademark "Artoo Detoo."

The hitch, though, is the mail order part. Buyers are uncertain about the problems parents might encounter when they find out they will have to wait several months before getting the toys.

"We'll have advertising stressing the early-bird certificate," Daugherty said, "so children will know what they are getting and won't be disappointed. Then they'll be able to get the whole set later, Darth Vader, See Threepio, Ben (Obi-Wan) Kenobi and other characters from the movie."

But one toy store owner was not convinced.

"Kenner told me my allotment was 60," said a dealer from Beaumont, Tex. "I took 12."

The shop owner then visited the Ideal Toy Corp. display, which offered a "Star Team" line and promising immediate delivery of action figures including "The dastardly Knight of - Darkness," "Robot Zeroid" and "Zem 21."

"I'd rather have something for my kids to play with right away," said a Dallas mother. "Can you imagine their faces on Christmas morning when they unwrap an envelope? They'd be madder than a Wookiee!"

Rats looking for water Thirsty pests

ORINDA, Calif. (AP) — Thirsty rats and ants are slipping into many San Francisco Bay area homes looking for water made scarce during California's two-year drought.

"We've had more calls about rats, and they've been looking for water, definitely," said Peter Davidson, service manager for Corky's Pest Control here.

Homes in the bay area have been under orders to ration water for about a year.

Exterminators say calls to rid homes of rats and ants have gone up by as much as 40 per cent in the past three or four months.

Davidson said the pests have prompted calls from homeowners who never had problems before. Many of them have creeks near their homes that have dried up, he said.

"And they've stopped watering their lawns, so there was no water out there the rats could get and no puddles, either," Davidson said.

"They're looking for dripping faucets, anything like that," he said. "And the calls aren't from slum areas, but from nice neighborhoods like Walnut Creek, Concord and Moraga," all suburbs east of Oakland.

There has been no indication from health officials as to whether the pests pose a health hazard.

Bill Wallace, chief deputy agricultural commissioner of Contra Costa County, said reports of the pest invasion are "not horror stories, exactly, but it's really something of a nuisance this year."

He also said his agency has received "far more calls than usual about ants" this year.

Carl Koehler, an entomologist with the University of California in Berkeley, said the school's extension service has received about twice as many complaint calls about ants than it did last year.

The major culprit, he said, are Argentine ants. Those pests, Koehler said, are about a 16th of an inch long, and may travel in packs of thousands. The drought has forced them into backyards to sip water intended for the lawn or shrubs.

Once in the yards, they quickly move into the homes in search of sweets, their favorite food, Koehler added.

Parts of Colorado have been under water restrictions for most of the summer but here is an example of good water use planning. Drink for man and beast along with watering the lawn!

City Manager Vickers quits

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — City Manager Lee Vickers, who held his post for eight years, yielded to city council pressure Wednesday and resigned.

In his letter of resignation submitted at a special meeting of the council, Vickers said "about 3 weeks ago, a delegation of council members advised me that several problems in various departments had not been satisfactorily resolved and that a majority of the council felt it would be best for McKinney if I would submit my resignation."

Vickers would not specify what the problems were. His resignation is effective Oct. 14.

Gideons set goal

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The 78th international convention of Gideons, who last year distributed 16.5 million Bibles or New Testaments in hotels, motels, hospitals, prisons, airplanes and schools, set a goal of distributing 18.5 million copies of the Scriptures in the year ahead.

Neutron bomb funds approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is giving President Carter approval to produce the neutron bomb, a new atomic weapon that opponents fear will greatly increase the risk of all-out nuclear war.

The House of Representatives on Thursday approved an authorization bill to enable the President to spend money for the neutron bomb if he chooses to do so. The Senate previously approved a similar bill.

The neutron bomb is a small warhead that would be placed on Lance missiles and artillery shells. It produces twice the deadly radiation of a conventional nuclear bomb but less than a tenth as much explosive power, heat and fallout. This means the bomb can kill people while causing little damage to buildings.

The warhead is designed to replace the approximately 7,000 nuclear warheads now deployed in Europe.

Carter has not announced whether he intends to approve production of the controversial weapon, but he did ask for the authorization that both houses have now granted.

The key House vote came on an amendment by Rep. Ted Weiss, D-N.Y. The amendment would have blocked Energy Research and Development Administration money from being used for the neutron bomb. But the amendment was defeated 297 to 109.

Weiss and his supporters said the neutron bomb would "lower the threshold" to nuclear war.

Definitely not news show Oswald 'trial' slapped

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If you have kids and they see ABC's "Trial of Lee Harvey Oswald" tonight and Sunday, remind them it only is an entertainment show, a morbid one, but definitely not a news show.

And frequently remind them, for each show only does it once, that Oswald never was tried for the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy, having been shot dead by a guy named Jack Ruby.

Emphasize it's only a "docudrama," a hybrid program form in which fact often is blurred with fiction, surmise and speculation, a form that rapidly is becoming a blight on television.

"Trial" is the worst of the lot. It so thoroughly mixes history with hypothesis on such an important subject that ABC should have its corporate head canded for ever airing the thing.

This $2.5 million exercise tries to hook you immediately. Its first scene is of Oswald — excellently played by John Pleshette — in an isolation cage, awaiting the verdict of his 43-day "trial."

(ABC, to hype the program, refused to show Sunday's "verdict" in advance to reviewers.)

Don't get any idea "Trial" unfolds in chronological order, sets a clear line between recreated reality and courtroom invention. It bobs and weaves, mixes it all up, during its two-night, four-hour trip.

The assassination in Dallas, complete with crowd cries of "I think it (gunfire) came from the grassy knoll," is effectively, chillingly recreated, as is the killing of officer J. D. Tippitt and Oswald's capture.

But there's nothing real in the scenes of Ben Gazzara as an ambitious, ambiguous prosecutor, or where Lorne Greene, Ponderosa tonsils akimbo, heads the defense team for Oswald.

The show seems weighted on the side of conspiracy, any conspiracy. So Greene logs much time chasing reports of assassination involvement by the Mafia, the CIA, the FBI, Russia and anti-Castro Cubans.

Gazzara should do likewise. But in one scene — and no evidence even suggests it ever happened — President Johnson phones him and in effect orders him not to go conspiracy-chasing.

He quotes LBJ as having said he's been "assured there's no conspiracy ... it wouldn't be good for the country to have that suspicion."

(CBS News exhaustively studied such suspicions and, in a 1975 documentary, said it could find no proof of any conspiracy, no evidence that Oswald didn't act alone in killing Kennedy.)

Keep an eye on an early moment tonight in which Oswald and his Russian-born wife, Marina (Mo Malone), squabble over the TV set. She rebuffs his advances to watch clips of Kennedy on tour.

After all the conspiracy chatter, Sunday's show, in what was intended as a powerful scene, strongly suggests Oswald really killed Kennedy because Marina paid more attention to the president on TV than Oswald in the flesh. Thus does another theory check in for posterity.

Sand Springs fire doused?

Some people think the Sand Springs fire is out. It had been burning since Sunday over better than half a section south of IS-20 and west of Salem Rd.

According to County Commissioner Ikie Rupard, the fire flared up twice during the week, each time calling up the Sand Springs and Jonesboro fire departments.

"The problem was the terrain," said Rupard, "it was burning up the Sand Springs draw and we couldn't get equipment to it."

Rupard said that a maintainer from the county and from CCI Industries in Coahoma had attempted to cut fire lines, but in the early going the wind would whip the fire over the lines.

The difference proved to be the four-wheel drive fire fighter from Webb AFB. "It went places only a half-track could have gone," said Rupard, "and when it had done everything it could a bunch of men went in with shovels to put the rest out."

Rupard said that the fire had been watched since Wednesday night and hasn't flared up again. "It's out, I hope," he said.

Abuse in mental institutions unfurled

ALAN BRISTOL
Alan Bristol gets Eagle Scout badge

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The chairman of a committee that investigated alleged abuses at the Mexia State School urged House members today to bear down on its review of the school and to expand its probe to other state schools for the mentally retarded.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Bristol, Alan has been in scouting since 1968. He holds brotherhood rank in the Order of the Arrow, and is a member of Troop 5. The Troop is sponsored by the First Baptist Church.

Alan is a senior at the high school, vice-president of his class, and second vice-president of Key Club. He plays trumpet in the band and is a member of the youth council at the First Methodist Church.

In testimony prepared for the House General Investigating Committee, Bernadette Jenney recommended that the committee impanel a group of "nationally known experts" to review Mexia and other schools.

She is chairwoman of an investigating committee created by the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens. It reported earlier that it was apparent that "there is a pattern and practice of abuse of residents" at Mexia.

Jail fire headlines not wanted in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The chairman of the Commission on Jail Standards doesn't want Texas jails making headlines. Recent headlines in other states have told of fire deaths.

Chairman James Greenwood III of Houston recommended Wednesday that more attention, including fire drills, should be given to making jails safe from fire "to avert the tragedies we have read about in other states."

As a preface to the commission meeting, executive director Guy Van Cleave had noted: "Recent tragedies in incarceration facilities in Tennessee, Connecticut, Florida and Indiana have emphasized the vulnerability of these institutions to fire with its subsequent smoke and fumes."

The commission discussed the padding in cells for "violent" prisoners as a possible fire hazard.

Van Cleave said he was paying $850 to test a new material that "won't support combustion," but he added that he had rejected another material after finding out it would burn.

"We don't have to test it," he said. "I set it afire in my office and it burned very well."

Greenwood stated that more than 70 per cent of Texas' county jails do not have adequate firefighting equipment and more than 80 per cent do not have proper equipment for removing smoke and fumes.

Van Cleave said, "There is nothing quite like a jail. It is so confining that a little smoke goes a long way."

"Maybe the bottom line," Greenwood said, "is to take the padding out of the padded cells."

Wayne Smith of the state fire marshal's office said the National Fire Protection Association had concentrated on prison safety and would not address fire safety standards for jails until 1979 — "only about 50 years too late."

Gene Karaffa of Waco, past president of the association for retarded citizens, said she received the "sickening, frightening news" May 4, 1976, that her son had been the victim of homosexual abuse at the Mexia school.

Mrs. Karaffa said she was later informed that her son probably had been abused again and it may have happened a third time.

She said she and her husband visited the school every 10 days and had yet to find a dormitory fully staffed.

She said her son — who can speak only three words — had walked to school in shirtsleeves in 38-degree weather.

To illustrate what she said was poor planning at the school, Mrs. Karaffa said her son gets his "weekly treat," a hamburger and soft drink, at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday.

She said she refused to let her son take part in weekend recreation after another mental patient fell off a ferris wheel and, according to the patient's mother, "broke nearly every bone in his body."

The only way to restore "human dignity" and "take away the degradation," she said, is through outside professional help.

Asked to name specific abuses, Mrs. Karaffa refused, saying it would "betray confidences."

Federal campaign tops 157 per cent

"Air Force personnel at Webb have again demonstrated a warm feeling for the people of Big Spring by conducting a very successful Combined Federal Campaign," said the base project officer, Maj. Bennie D. Manley.

With almost all donations being reported, the base had achieved 157 per cent of its goal. The $6,277.80 contributed exceeded the $4,000 goal by that percentage.

Military personnel contributed heavily. They had a choice of donating to the local campaign or waiting to donate at their next station. "I'm extremely pleased that almost all of them chose to donate here," said Major Manley.

Wing Commander, Col.

Harry A. Spannaus also said he was very happy with the results.

Each individual unit on the base went over its goal with percentages ranging from 427 to 105. There were 499 people left at the base; 169 civilians and 330 military, which made the average individual contribution more than $12.

Each Federal agency in the area contributes to the CFC and the total receipts are divided between the Big Spring United Way, 13 national health agencies and six international service agencies. The United Way will receive 71.59 per cent, the health agencies 23.32 per cent and the service agencies 5.09 per cent.

Marriage Choking From Smoking Wife

DEAR ABBY: When I first dated my wife she was 16. On our third date, when she asked me to buy her a pack of cigarettes, I told her I thought girls who smoked looked like tramps, and that was the last time I'd take her out. Three months later she called and told me she'd quit smoking, so I started dating her again. We dated for three years during which time she never smoked in my presence, so with a solemn promise that she'd never smoke again, we were married.

She kept her promise for three years. Then I started to find evidence that she was smoking again. When I confronted her, she denied it.

For the last 10 years, she's been smoking openly and I detest it. What can I do? I've told her it was useless for her to spend a fortune on expensive clothes because when she lights a cigarette, she looks like a $20 hooker.

I have nothing against hookers. In fact, if I could find one who didn't smoke I could use her services because my wife's tobacco habit has certainly put a crimp in our love life.

DETESTS CIGARETTES

DEAR DETESTS: What can you do? Love her or leave her. But don't nag her, or she'll increase her smoking as an excuse to calm her frazzled nerves.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had dinner with my parents, my brother and sister-in-law, and their 14-month-old baby.

For two and one-half hours, we talked either about or to the baby, who was allowed to toddle around the dinner table the entire time. We all had to watch our food and coffee every minute.

There was absolutely no chance to visit. All the conversation was centered around the baby. At first I was just annoyed, but then I became bored stiff and, finally, angry. Am I intolerant?

Abby, please say something about parents who monopolize the conversation with talk about their children and permit the child to be the center of attention for an entire evening.

BORED IN LONG BEACH

DEAR BORED: Your complaint is neither uncommon nor unjustified. Parents, please note.

New skipper takes rehab helm

Champe Ellen Philips has worked in hospitals during World War II, as director of a rehabilitation center in El Paso for 19 years, as a consultant in Saudi Arabia and as a therapist in Saigon and aboard the S.S. Hope hospital in Ecuador.

But she said her most challenging job came this week when the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Board of Directors named her temporary director.

She takes the job at a time when the center is reorganizing to cut costs, and she has been enlisted to work in the interim as director as well as being a physical therapist.

MS. PHILIPS, a native of Big Spring and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E.C. (Shine) Philips, succeeds Jack Davis, who resigned this week as a cost cutting measure.

Davis said he had been encouraging the rehab board to either find ways to raise more money or to cut back on costs. The board did not replace an occupational therapist who resigned, and last week it agreed to go back to a part-time director.

Ben Bancroft, this year's board president, said that Davis had done an excellent job, but the board had to get expenses back in line with revenues and it had decided to return to the system used several years ago where a therapist also served as the administrative officer.

Ms. Philips would seem to be an ideal person for the INTERIM DIRECTOR—Champe Ellen Philips, a native of Big Spring, has been named the interim director of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. She is a physical therapist at the center.

job. While she grew up in Big Spring and graduated from Big Spring High School in 1940, she had not lived in Big Spring until two years ago when she returned to take a position as a physical therapist at the center.

The daughter of a long-time Big Spring pharmacist, she earned a degree from Texas Women's University in Denton in 1944, received her physical therapy certificate at a Utah hospital during World War II, and received a master's degree in psychology in 1969, also from TWU.

She also has taken courses at the University of California and at Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

AFTER WORLD War II, she became a physical therapist at the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center in Dallas. Then she became director of the El Paso Rehabilitation Center, where she remained for 19 years.

Her stay in El Paso was broken by a two-year duty aboard the S.S. Hope in Ecuador.

She also has worked as an instructor in the School of Physical Therapy at TWU and at the Crippled Children's Center in McAllen.

From 1970 to 1971, she worked as a therapist in the Children's Medical Relief International in Saigon. She later worked at two universities in Louisiana before becoming a rehabilitation consultant in Saudi Arabia from 1974-1975.

Her honors include the Distinguished Service Award of the El Paso Association for Retarded Children and the Service to Mankind Award of the El Paso Sertoma Club.

Ms. Philips said that her main objective right now is to make sure the door of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center stays open and that the center remains financially sound.

The patient must come first, she said, but the patient cannot come at all if the center is not staying in the black.

She said she wanted to be a close part of the community.

THE PHYSICAL therapist said that she has found that people in Big Spring are proud of the center and want to see it do well.

She said many people think that the center has all the money it needs because it has a very nice building on 3rd Street and carries the name of the Dora Roberts Foundation.

But the center does have financial needs and must charge fees for its rehabilitation services, she noted. Fees are charged on an ability-to-pay basis, and the center's services are free for those who cannot pay. The Dora Roberts board wanted to see the center return to fundamentals, and Ms. Philips is the one who appears a likely choice by the board to guide that effort.

500 Mennonites gain reprieve

WASHINGTON (AP) — An eleventh hour reprieve by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service has allowed the 500 Mennonites now living in West Texas four more months to secure permanent visas.

The spartan-like religious group was due for deportation this Saturday. The new deadline, however, is now Jan. 31.

The Mennonites came to the arid Seminole area of Texas from Canada and Mexico and bought 6,400 acres for $2.6 million.

INS spokesman Vern Jervis said the decision to HAND IN HAND — Sacramento County Sheriff's deputies Dainese Taylor and Terry Clippinger were not on patrol as they strolled down the street hand in hand. They had just left the county clerk's office with a new California marriage license. The deputies, both jailers, will wed Oct. 9.

postpone the deadline was made because of the hardships the Mennonites would suffer if they were forced to leave before they could harvest this year's crops and pay back the loans they took out to finance them.

Meanwhile in Dallas, the U.S. Attorney's office has launched a probe to determine if the hard-working farmers were lured to West Texas with false promises from real estate brokers.

Frank Wiebe, a Mennonite leader who came from Canada, said members of his church told him two "real estate people" had visited members of the sect in Mexico, about moving to Texas.

"I talked to a man (a Mennonite who migrated from Mexico) today (Thursday) and he said a couple of real estate people were in Mexico and they said that Mexico would turn into communism and people got scared.

"They (Mennonites) didn't know they were real estate people and told them it was easy to come to the U.S. and get their green card (a permanent visa)," Wiebe said. "They told us in Ontario that it would be easy to get our green card here, just to buy some land."

Leonel Castillo, INS

commissioner, called the Mennonites "uninformed" and said, "They simply apparently were the victims of schemes."

Although INS officials maintain the four-month delay is designed to give those being deported time to settle their business affairs, it also gives Texas legislators time to shove through special legislation that would allow the group to stay in the country.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, has promised to introduce such a bill and a number of other congressmen, including non-Texans, have volunteered to sponsor it.

A group of local businessmen in Seminole have bought a recreational-vehicle manufacturing plant and they are trying to get the Department of Labor to allow them to hire the Mennonites to run it, thus giving the group a legal basis for staying in the country.

But the Labor Department demands a widespread advertising program seeking American workers for any job before it allows the importation of foreign workers. The advertising requirement has not yet been met.

The extension of the deadline will give the Seminole businessmen enough time to go through the labor certification process and perhaps enable the Mennonites to stay by that means.

Otherwise, the INS' Jervis said, there is no way his agency can allow the Mennonites to remain in the country indefinitely.

Diamond merchant missing

CHICAGO (AP) — A broker is reported missing with up to $300,000 in gems from New York's diamond district where police are investigating the murder of another merchant and the disappearance of a fortune in diamonds.

Abraham Shafizadeh has been missing since July 28, the day before he left for Puerto Rico on business, his relatives said, and they fear he may have been killed.

They say police have suggested that the disappearance is linked to organized crime.

The diamond broker's brother, Dr. Farokh Shafizadeh-Hakimi, told The Associated Press in an interview Thursday night that Shafizadeh may have been carrying diamonds worth between $250,000 and $300,000.

The Manhattan Missing Persons Bureau confirmed it was investigating the 31-year-old Shafizadeh's disappearance, but released no details.

"New York police would not comment."

Hakimi and his wife, Dayla, who are Shafizadeh's only living relatives in the United States, have been to New York and San Juan in search of the missing man.

"Each day we have less hope," said Hakimi, an electrical engineer for Standard Oil in Chicago. "All I want is to find his body and give him a decent burial."

The couple said they thought the New York City police had not devoted enough attention to the case.

"He was over 18, single and, therefore, it was not illegal to leave home. He is just a missing person," they said New York police told them.

"They said he flew to Puerto Rico so it is the problem of police there," Hakimi said. But he said New York police never determined that Shafizadeh definitely was aboard an American Airlines flight to Puerto Rico for which he had a ticket.

The couple said they held off calling the disappearance to the attention of news media because in New York's diamond business, if "they (brokers) get publicity, that's the worst thing for them."

The body of 25-year-old Pinchos Jaroslavic, a diamond broker who vanished last week with up to $1 million in gems, was discovered Wednesday in the Manhattan office of diamond cutter Shlomo Tal, who led police to it.

Tal, 31, told police he was present on the eve of Yom Kippur, when, he said, two gunmen beat Jaroslavic unconscious and left him. Police quoted Tal as saying the robbers let him go but later called him at home and ordered him back to the Manhattan office "to tie the body in a plastic bag and hide it..."

Five days later, Tal said, he was kidnapped by the same two gunmen. Police found Tal asleep in his car in the borough of Queens.

After a hearing Thursday, Tal was being held under $75,000 as a material witness to Jaroslavic's murder.

A grand jury reportedly is investigating the murder.

Hakimi, an Israeli citizen of Iranian descent permanently living in the United States, said Shafizadeh's partner notified him that Shafizadeh apparently never arrived in San Juan or returned to work.

Sheriff owes IRS

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service claims Tarrant County Sheriff Lon Evans still owes $36,000 in fraud penalties and back taxes for 1970, 1971 and 1972.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said it learned the IRS mailed a "notice of deficiency" to Evans last summer detailing its claims. The IRS civil complaint alleges Evans and his wife paid $23,799 less during the three-year period than they should have.

The complaint alleged Evans willfully attempted to avoid paying $11,889 in taxes and penalties during the same tax period.

Despite the allegations, the newspaper said the Justice Department's tax division suddenly decided against prosecuting Evans last April after federal prosecutors spent months preparing their case.

In records filed with the U.S. tax court in Washington, Evans contended a six-year statute of limitations for prosecution of tax cases had expired. He declined to comment further on the matter.

Tax officials in Washington also declined to comment on specifics of the case but said the statute of limitations does not apply if fraud is evident in assessing back taxes. However, they said the government does not prosecute cases older than six years.

In his original answer to the potential court action, Evans said he received "substantial contributions" presumably for political races that were erroneously included in computations of his net worth. The sheriff filed a statement Sept. 14 in Washington asking the tax court to declare there are no deficiencies for the three-year period and absolving him and his wife of any liability for future payments.

Ma Bell asking judge to disregard award

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A federal judge will hold a hearing Monday on a Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. motion asking him to disregard a jury's $3 million award to fired Bell executive James Ashley and the family of the late T.O. Gravitt.

The company's motion for a judgement, filed late Thursday with U.S. District Court Judge Peter Michael Curry, said a portion of the jury's verdict, returned earlier this month, cannot be supported by evidence presented in the case.

Ashley and the family of Gravitt, head of Bell's Texas operations until his suicide, sued the company for $29 million in damages, contending that an internal investigation drove Gravitt to suicide and led to the wrongful firing of Ashley.

Pat Maloney, attorney for the Gravitt family and Ashley, had earlier filed a motion seeking the judgement returned by the jury. "In other words, give us the money. It's not much, but we'll take it," Maloney explained Thursday.

The Bell motion argues that the jury verdict doesn't support awarding any damages to Ashley and contends that no evidence was presented to show Bell drove Gravitt to suicide.

The Indians could send a rallying call many, many miles by drums. Each drummer, stationed on a lonely ridge, would listen for the sound of distant drums, and relay the message to others waiting across the valley. Overnight a dozen tribes could be rallied to a common cause.

We don't need such crude methods of communication today. Men with a common purpose can join forces around the world at a pre-arranged time.

BELLS AROUND THE WORLD

World Wide Communion Sunday is such an expression of unity. In every Christian land the church bells will summon men and women to the Lord's Supper on this Sunday.

And the universality of this great religious event will not depend on bells relaying the message from town to town. It will depend on folks like yourself coming to their Church to receive this Holy Sacrament.

Church leaders to deal with conflict management

COLLEGE STATION, (Sp.) Handling conflicts that arise within the church bodies can often be a traumatic experience for ministers and lay leaders. To assist church leaders in this undertaking, a part of this year's Town and County Church Conference will deal specifically with conflict management.

The conference will be Oct. 6-7 at the Rudder Center on the Texas A & M University campus.

The key issue to be discussed at the conference deals with the "Right to Food" movement. This has been a source of conflict in church bodies and will become even more so in the future, point out Dr. Dave Ruesink, sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Dr. Mervin Yetley, assistant professor of rural sociology with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Phillips is a member of a number of professional and honorary societies, has a host of publications to his credit, and is listed in Who's Who in the Midwest and American Men of Science: The Social and Behavioral Sciences.

In the workshop on conflict management, Phillips will deal with such issues as the effects and dimensions of conflict, and the importance of communications in dealing with conflict.

According to Ruesink and Yetley, the "Right to Food" issue has especially become a conflicting issue in many rural church bodies composed of both agricultural producers and businessmen. That's why a special session the afternoon of Oct. 6 will deal with handling this conflict and other issues with opposing viewpoints.

Leading the conflict management workshop will be Dr. Howard Phillips, a sociologist at Ohio State University and the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service since 1952 when he began serving as a 4-H county extension agent. He later was an area extension agent and then state leader in resource development before joining the sociology staff as an instructor in 1966.

Phillips has conducted numerous research projects dealing with rural leadership.

Relating closely to the conflict management issue will be a session on community development the evening of Oct. 6. An overview of educational programs useful for community leaders in stimulating local development will be presented by Dr. James I. Mallett, state leader in community resource development with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and other members of his staff.

Major community problems identified at the "grass roots" level will be discussed by Mallett and his staff. These include economic development, housing, recreation, health delivery systems, community services and facilities, and apathy and lack of leadership. A synopsis of five educational programs dealing with these major community problems will be presented, with each educational program designed around the unique requirements of the specific community problem.

Catholics eye employment woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The general secretary of the U.S. Catholic Conference, Bishop Thomas C. Kelly, says "the inability of our economy to provide sufficient jobs for our people is a serious national failing" and constitutes a major moral challenge to the country's leaders.

He told a meeting of the Full Employment Action Council that if the current high unemployment rates "were the result of forces beyond our control, it would be tragic enough," but "they result from inaction, apathy or attempts to control inflation through high joblessness" and are "morally intolerable."

Ridin' fence — They call it Camp Elizabeth

with Marj Carpenter

Camp Elizabeth was located between the area of the Big Spring and Sterling City. It was Sterling County and is older than Fort Concho in San Angelo.

A marker was placed on the site alongside Highway 87 in 1936 by the Texas Centennial Association. Some vandals have stolen the seal of the monument and litter marks the area.

If you can look past the litter to rolling hills, you can imagine an early fort and cavalry riding out across those hills. One of the earliest mentions of the Camp is 1853 when it was first established as a camp for Texas Rangers. It is 11 miles up river from Sterling City.

M.A. Harrison, an early buffalo hunter, told a tale about the camp in the late '60s and '70s saying that Camp Elizabeth was built near a spring. Harrison was reported to have been away from camp skinning buffalo when he was attacked by Comanches. He mounted his horse and tried to escape down a rocky hill. The horse fell and Harrison's leg was broken. He was rescued by Rangers from Camp Elizabeth.

SITE MARKED
.....look past the litter

In 1874, Camp Elizabeth was taken over as a Fort Corcho Outpost and made into a hospital. In 1886, the camp was abandoned as an officers quarters, hospital, farrier shop and rock corral. For a long time, the remains of the camp were there for all to see. The hospital had been 20 by 50 feet and officers quarters had been 20 by 30 feet.

There had been two target practice areas and a parade ground. A spring was about a 100 feet away. The soldiers slept in tents.

There were Negro troops stationed there at the time it was abandoned. The buildings were left empty and for a while, crooks, and derelicts of all kinds hid out at the camp.

The people on a nearby ranch, called the U Ranch, didn't like this so they tore down the buildings and used the rocks to dam up the river. That dam still stands eight miles from Sterling City.

In a new book of history on Sterling County, it tells of an Uncle Bill Kellis, an old buffalo hunter, and he told a tale which was supposed to have happened to buffalo hunters during the 1870s.

It seems they were camped at the Big Spring. Comanches attacked them and besieged them for two days. Two of the buffalo hunters crept past the Indians and headed for Camp Elizabeth. Near the camp, they were attacked by Indians. They dug in behind a rock and began to fire at the Indians' horses. They claimed Comanches would not try to fight on foot.

The shooting was heard at Camp Elizabeth and the troopers came to their rescue. They came over the hill, sounding the charge with the bugle and the Indians fled. They took the two buffalo hunters on to Camp Elizabeth and the troopers headed for the Big Spring.

It's hard to visualize. The buffalo hunters were holed up in the rocks around the spring. When the cavalry topped the rise, about where the American Legion Post now stands, can you imagine their feelings as the bugle sounded and the troops came roaring down the hill toward the spring and the Indians fled?

The old pit that the two buffalo hunters had dug in to fight from near Camp Elizabeth was visible as late as 1908. At one time, some of the old empty cartridges were found there.

Col. Wm. R. Shafter of the 24th Infantry was supposed to have stopped at Camp Elizabeth at one time. He was one of the first ones to journey through the sand over around Andrews and there is a dry lake there called Lake Shafter to this day. He had quite an entourage with a 700-mule pack train, a herd of beef and 85 wagons, as well as nine troops of Cavalry.

I can stand out there and look at those hills and the pastures and just imagine all of that happening. If you listen closely, you can hear the hoofs of the horses, covered only by the West Texas winds. . . . out near Camp Elizabeth where I ride fence.

Kidnapers free girl unharmed

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A 17-year-old girl was released unharmed Wednesday night after two men abducted her from a Shreveport shopping center and forced her to drive to Texas, police said.

Ginger Guthrie said the kidnapers, both in their early 20s, abducted her as she was heading to work. She said they released her in Weatherford, Tex., 20 miles west of Fort Worth.

She said she was slapped once for making a wrong turn, but otherwise was unharmed.

The men were being sought early today.

Officers foil murder plot

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — East Texas law officers believe they have broken up a plot to kill a Palestine attorney and a Tyler resident, authorities said.

George Edward Hutcherson, Sr., 59, of Palestine was arrested and charged with two counts of solicitation for capital murder and was being held Thursday in the Anderson County jail on $600,000 bond.

Palestine attorney John B. McDonald, identified as a target in the plot, said he had known he was a target for several days.

Earlier this week the Texas Supreme Court had refused Hutcherson's appeal of a civil case in which the jury found he transferred property to one of his employees in an attempt to defraud creditors and the Internal Revenue Service.

McDonald represented the employee in that case.

Texas Ranger Bob Prince would not identify the Tyler man also on Hutcherson's alleged death list.

Hutcherson was arrested late Wednesday afternoon at a burned out club he owns.

LOW AND OUTSIDE — Challenger Earnie Shavers, left, ducks to escape a right hook from world heavyweight champ Muhammad Ali in 12th round action during their 15-round heavyweight title bout Thursday night at New York's Madison Square Garden. Ali retained the title after the judges awarded him the winning decision with a count of 9-6, 9-6, 9-5-1.

Ali wins unanimous decision

NEW YORK (AP) — The way it looked on national television, it was all over after the 12th round. As many as 50 million people in the TV audience knew Earnie Shavers would lose. Muhammad Ali said he knew it.

Then, why didn't Shavers know it?

"I thought I was ahead. My corner told me I was ahead," Shavers said after losing his only shot at the world heavyweight title in a 15-round decision to Ali Thursday night at Madison Square Garden.

"I threw a couple of pretty good shots, but I didn't hit him real hard. I was trying to save myself," said Shavers. "I didn't go after him because I thought he might have been faking it."

The simple fact of the matter was that after the 12th, the TV audience had been informed by NBC — which was revealing the referee's and judges' decision round-by-round — that Ali had eight checkmarks on his side of the card. Shavers' only chance was a knockout.

Over on Ali's side of the ring, they were keeping track. Trainer Angelo Dundee had arranged with Eddie Hrica, a Baltimore-area fight promoter, to shuttle between the dressing room TV set and ringside to keep tabs on how things were going.

No such arrangements had been made on Shavers' side of the ring, and no one in the Garden audience of 14,613 was aware of the cards. After some discussion, John F.X. Condon, head of Garden publicity, said it was decided not to transmit the NBC information to the live audience or to reporters. The New York State Athletic Commission had recommended against it as being possibly disruptive, Condon said.

"But we didn't tell Ali," Dundee said. "We didn't want him to know. He might have let up, and you can't do that against a guy like Shavers."

Ali, however, said he had been told at one point during the fight that he was ahead, and that he would have thought so anyway. He looked like a fighter trying to hang onto his lead in the 13th and 14th rounds, which went to Shavers on the cards of the two judges and the referee, Johnny LoBianco.

"I took some punches that would have knocked any man out," said Ali, his face swollen from the beating he had taken from Shavers, considered one of boxing's all-time hardest hitters.

"Hurt me? Yeah, he hurt me a couple of times," Ali said. "I was almost knocked out two or three times. I was out on my feet. But the experts told you right. I can take a punch ... I knew I had it won ... I am the greatest fighter of all time."

After the 12th round, the two judges' cards had Ali ahead 8-4, and LoBianco had it 8-3 with one even. That's when Shavers, who had never gone past 10 rounds in his career, came on strong. Shavers won the 13th on four solid rights to Ali's head, while the champion danced, covered up and hardly threw a punch. The 14th went to Shavers in a more spectacular fashion.

Shavers came out swinging those lumberjack fists that have scored 19 first-round knockouts in 54 victories (52 knockouts in all). He caught Ali in the corner and a mighty right landed.

Ali's feet went out from under him, and the count on the auditorium loudspeaker went to "two" before LoBianco waved off the count, saying it was a slip. But Ali was in trouble.

Shavers continued to press, and he caught the champion with another right as Ali lay against the ropes.

"My corner told me I was three rounds ahead on points," said Shavers.

A&M tilt, family feud highlight SWC action

By the Associated Press

While third-ranked Michigan and fifth-ranked Texas A&M tangle before 104,000 fans at Ann Arbor in the intersectional biggie of the week, there's a family feud in the Astrodome that bears more than just passing interest.

As a matter of fact, the defending Cotton Bowl champion Houston Cougars — remember them? — could be put to a severe test by a Revengeful Baylor in the spotlight Southwest Conference game Saturday.

Houston ambushed Baylor last year in Waco to start a Cinderella season ending with victory over Maryland in the Cotton Bowl.

The Cougars have lost quarterback Danny Davis for the year and that puts Delrick Brown squarely in the spotlight.

"When Danny went out, everybody got down in a real hurry," said Cougar receiver Don Bass. "After the (Penn State) game, we had to accept the fact that Delrick, not Danny, was the man to lead us."

"Danny and I had worked out all together all summer, lifting weights, running, throwing passes. But Delrick is working well with the team now. He throws a better pass than Danny, a perfect spiral that always hits you in the numbers. Danny would throw the pass to you but you never knew whether it would wobble or spiral at you."

Greg Wood will start at quarterback for the Bears who are 10-point underdogs.

Baylor goes into the game chopped up from its confrontation with Nebraska.

Ali feeling his age

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm older. A younger Ali wouldn't have gotten hit with those rights."

Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali said his age, 35, was a factor Thursday night in his successful 15-round defense against challenger Earnie Shavers.

Ali delayed his post-fight press conference by more than an hour after scoring a unanimous decision.

Asked why he had taken so long in his dressing room, Ali replied, "I'm tired."

The champion termed the Shavers fight one of the toughest of his career.

"This man was good. This man will be the next world champion. I've done enough. There's nothing more for me to gain. I've got to get out soon," he said.

Ali said the gruelling 15-round fight had left him "almost as tired as Manila," referring to his 14-round classic against Joe Frazier two years ago.

"People sure get in shape when they fight me," he said. "I thought this would be an easy fight. This man never went 15 rounds, but they really get ready for me (Alfredo) Evangelista, (Chuck) Wepner ... they get in shape to try and beat the legend."

"But I was in shape, too. I refrained from things I shouldn't do. Something stopped me from doing those things."

"You think I'm not in shape? You go 15 rounds."

Red Sox sale!

BOSTON (AP) — Shades of Horatio Alger. There's still room at the top for the ambitious office boy. Also for a journeyman catcher and a professional sports trainer.

Haywood Sullivan, who hit just .226 with 13 homers in 312 games during a major league career which spanned seven years, and Buddy LeRoux, who spent nearly 25 years catering to pro athletes, are the new owners of the Boston Red Sox.

A 13-member group, headed by Sullivan and LeRoux as general partners, was awarded the Red Sox Thursday, ending months of speculation. The group was chosen by the executors of Thomas A. Yawkey's estate from among five qualified bidders.

The biggest surprise was that Yawkey's widow, Jean, and LeRoux were listed among 11 "limited partners." Mrs. Yawkey and her husband, who died in July, 1946, after owning the Red Sox for 43 years, have treated Sullivan almost like a son.

"We have to hammer out the contract, but for all intents and purposes the club is sold," said Joseph LaCour, an executor with Mrs. Yawkey and Joseph Curran.

hoping position.

"People can still say Billy Martin hasn't won two championships in a row," says the manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

Weaver's reference is an obvious needle aimed at the New York Yankees manager, who has laid claim to the American League East title, when in truth it is not officially his yet.

The Yankees lost a chance to lock it up Thursday night, dropping a 4-1 decision to the Cleveland Indians while Weaver's Orioles and the Boston Red Sox stayed mathematically alive by winning their games. The Red Sox defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 7-3 while the Orioles stopped the Detroit Tigers 6-3.

"That was a funny quote," said Weaver, referring to a statement by Martin that is getting more notoriety by the day. After the Yankees clinched a tie for the East title with a victory over Cleveland Wednesday night, the New York manager said that he could now be credited with two consecutive division titles in the same city. The Yankees won the AL East last year and Martin had won two others, with Minnesota and Detroit.

The Orioles open a three-game series with the Red Sox tonight.

Haller, hollers and picks

Jim Haller, head basketball coach at Baylor, was in attendance at Wednesday night's scrimmage in Hawk Gym.

One of the youngest coaches in the Southwest Conference, Haller took over in mid-season last year for the Bears, when Carroll Dawson stepped down. Haller has also coached at McLennan College and Waco Richfield, and had been an assistant coach at Baylor for three years prior to his promotion.

If you'll recall, last season's top scorer for the Hawks, Mike Little, joined the Gold and Green roundballers after last year's debut as a Hawk. Haller was impressed with Mike, and with the blessings of Harold Wilder, Little signed with Baylor.

Haller was in Big Spring Wednesday night to eyeball a couple of other Hawks that should scorch the hardwoods this season. The personable coach spoke freely about Little while he concentrated on the action.

"I know he's (Mike) one of the top six or seven players we have," commented Haller, "but he doesn't seem to have much confidence in himself yet. He's always telling us how awful he is, but I know what he can do."

Little, who thrilled Hawk supporters last season with his deadly accuracy and break-neck play, has just cause to feel nervous and have self-doubts. Not because he lacks the skills or incentive; but because there is somewhat of a difference between playing Western Junior College Athletic Conference ball against players not much more than a year older, and trying to break into the Southwest Conference as a sophomore. It has to be a little scary.

Haller indicated that Little is slowly gaining weight back after a bout with mononucleosis this past summer, and physically, the former Abilene High star will be ready to go when practice begins for all SWC schools, Oct. 15.

Mike's big brother, Richard, was an All-Southwest Conference guard for Texas Tech a few years back. Other former Hawks that played for SWC teams in recent years include Thomas Bledsoe (TCU), Lawrence Young (TCU) and Kirk Papp (UT).

Speaking of the Hawks, they looked pretty good Wednesday night in their controlled scrimmage with the Big Spring All-Stars. Fast breaks were outlawed, so it wasn't that easy to determine just how flashy the 1977-78 version of the Preybirds will be, but Coach Harold Wilder had a few choice words about them.

"At this point in the season, I've never had more solid players than I have now," Wilder stated. "And by solid player, I'm talking about a guy who can get the job done. There's more in that category than ever before."

"Consequently," continued Wilder, "everyone is important, and we're counting on everyone to do their job, and I think they will."

All 13 Hawks got into the act Wednesday night, and they showed some scintillating stuff. With opening game still more than a month away (Nov. 7 against Laredo here), they seem to be progressing as a team very quickly.

With five returning sophomores and a host of talented freshmen in the ranks this year, the Hawks have to be considered favorites to capture the conference crown. Clarendon, with four returning starters, and Odessa, with the majority of their squad back, are also contenders.

The Hawks can be seen Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Hawk Gym in a practice session scrimmage against Odessa College.

I haven't done the following thus far this football season, because, frankly, everyone does it, and I don't want to be compared with the Cowans, Henrys and Lawlers of this world. Actually, the real reason is because there hasn't been any time.

No, actually, I've never really been that good at it. But today, I'd like to do it, because I think I can do it well this week.

"It" is a point-forecast of the various area games, complete with timely, erudite, profound and completely conjectural comments.

Let's start with the Big Spring-Abilene bout, and just see if I can be as tacky as the Abilene sportswriters. The Eagles have a very talented quarterback and tailback, but the Steers have a defense that is for real. Result? Bald Eagles. Coach Robbins said his charges needed 21 points to win, so BIG SPRING 21, Abilene 14.

David Thompson's Buffaloes are gradually getting ready for their all important bout with Seagraves. Unfortunately, New Home happens to be a homecoming "hors d'oeuvre" for the battling Buffs. Product? Homewrecking. STANTON 38, New Home 6.

This one is going to keep me going the rest of the season. Wylie has been chosen to win District 6-AA this year. They currently sport a 3-1 record and have outscored their opponents 71-34. The Coahoma Bulldogs, on the other hand, stand at 0-3, and have been outscored 20-66. Coahoma is at home and hungry. Wylie is away and fat and sassy, ripe for an upset. So, COAHOMA 20, Wylie 14.

Robert Lee proved that the Forsan Buffaloes are a team to be reckoned with this season. Very healthy and coming off that frustrating loss, Dawson has some reckoning to do. Resultant reconnoiter? FORSAN 31, Dawson 13.

The boys up Ackerly way are a brave bunch. Outnumbered game after game, they still keep coming back. But against O'Donnell, the odds are too great. Result? O'Donnell 45, SANDS 6.

And in other area prep action, how about these apples: Colorado City 22, Merkel 21 (Talk about a hungry pack of Wolves!); Garden City 30, Borden County 16 (BC's been over-rated, GC's been unjustifiably ignored); Andrews 27, Brownfield 7; San Angelo 38, Cooper 21; Odessa 10, Midland Lee 7 (upset special of the week) Permian 48, Midland 7; Klondike 54, Grandfalls 0; Sweetwater 9, Lamesa 0; and in a heart-breaker for "Jumpin' Jerry" — Michigan 17, Texas A&M 12 (four field goals for superfoot).

JUST A FRESHMAN — George Bell is a 7-foot-6 freshman basketball player at Morris Brown College in Atlanta but his coach doubts that he will play him much because of his height. Bell missed most of his high school basketball eligibility due to a knee injury and an operation on his pituitary gland to correct his growth pattern.

Introducing another plus from us

ZERO-PLUS

A new service that allows you to dial all Long Distance calls yourself.

Beginning October 3, if you're a customer whose telephone number is in the Big Spring 26X exchange, you will be able to dial all Long Distance calls yourself. Of course, you're accustomed to dialing your own station-to-station calls the fast and convenient One-Plus way. But, beginning October 3, you also will be able to dial your own collect, person-to-person, credit card and bill-to-third-number Long Distance with Zero-Plus dialing. Zero-Plus can be used at home or office or from coin telephones. Zero-Plus is fast, easy and convenient.

Zero-Plus Dialing . . . How it works:

Just dial "0" (zero), plus the Area Code if it's different from 915, plus the distant number. For example, suppose you want to call person-to-person to 621-8997 in St. Louis. You will find St. Louis in the Call Guide section of your directory with Area Code 314.

So when you hear the dial tone, dial:

"0" (zero) + 314 + 621-8997

When the operator asks, "How may I help you?", explain the type call you've dialed and give the necessary information. (Regular operator-handled rates will apply for all Zero-Plus calls.)

To make a call within the 915 area, just dial "0" (zero) plus the distant number.

You don't need to dial the Area Code.

AWAITING TREATMENT — Routed from their homes by a chlorine gas leak a water treatment plant in the Philadelphia's East Falls section, Marguerite Hillandbrand, Dorothy Loggsinger and Margaret Hall await treatment at Roxborough Memorial Hospital. Nearly 200 persons were affected by the gas, but none seriously, according to hospital officials. Residents returned to their homes shortly before dawn today after the leak was corrected.

Faces life prison sentence

Ex-marshal convicted

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Former Castroville town marshal Frank Hayes faces a life prison sentence after being convicted late Thursday night of violating the civil rights of a Mexican-American prisoner gunned down while in his custody.

A federal jury deliberated about three hours before returning the guilty verdict.

Hayes' wife, Dorothy, and his sister-in-law Alice Baldwin were also convicted for their part in concealing the body of laborer Richard Morales. The two women face lesser penalties.

transported Morales' body to the Hayes family farm in East Texas and left it in a shallow grave. It was unearthed two days after the shooting.

"I'm very happy, but it took two years to do it," said attorney Ruben Sandoval, who represents the Morales family and was instrumental in securing the federal civil rights indictment against Hayes.

Hayes' attorneys indicated they would appeal the conviction.

Earlier Thursday, Texas Ranger Joaquin Jackson testified that Hayes was "a very scared man" when he was questioned the day after the slaying.

Jackson said he asked Hayes where Morales' body was and Hayes responded, "There is no body."

Slay suspect

Tullos charged

GROVETON, Tex. (AP) — An East Texas man who police say had been living in the woods since the Monday shooting death of a bank official here has been charged with murder in connection with that death.

Lanier Tullos, 28, of Groveton is being held in the Trinity County jail on $100,000 bond in the death of Robert Rush.

Rush, 28, was gunned down as he sat in his office at the First Bank in Groveton where he was an assistant vice president.

Patients abuse blamed on high turnover rate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The state mental health commissioner testified today that the high turnover of employees at Texas' institutions for the mentally ill "offers the potential for abuse."

Dr. Kenneth Gaver's comment was in response to questioning by a House committee that chairman DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, said is investigating complaints of patient abuse.

Gaver said the turnover of employees involved in direct patient care reaches 70 per cent a year, including 10 per cent who "simply walk off and never tell us."

Asked if the turnover rate "adds to abuses," Gaver replied, "It certainly creates conditions — you've got brand new people and it takes awhile for them to learn what to do and what not to do. The constant turnover of people offers the potential for abuse."

Gaver said the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation employs nearly 25,000 persons.

Davis mistrial motion aborted

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Tempers flaring in an angry exchange of insults and accusations, attorneys triggered an aborted mistrial motion Thursday in the capital murder trial of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis.

State District Court Judge George Dowlen swiftly denied the request and cleared his courtroom for an overnight cooling-off period.

The incident evolved almost humorously, but suddenly erupted into the most explosive confrontation between state and defense lawyers since testimony began six weeks ago.

Fort Worth Police Det. Greg Miller faced a new round of questioning today as prosecutors resumed presentation of their case against Davis, 44, a Fort Worth industrialist on trial in the death of his young stepdaughter. Twelve-year-old Andrea Wilborn was the first to die in the shooting spree at Davis' Fort Worth mansion on Aug. 2, 1976.

The defendant's estranged wife, Priscilla, 36, was wounded, her lover Stan Farr, 30, was slain and a mansion visitor, Gus Gavrel, 22, was left partially paralyzed by a gunshot wound.

Thursday's stormy episode unfolded moments after defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes completed cross-examination of Miller, a member of Fort Worth's Crime Scene Search Unit.

Haynes, quoting frequently from a police manual not in evidence, spent almost three days attempting to show that officers did a haphazard job of collecting evidence from the Davis mansion.

Prosecutor Joe Shannon requested access to the manual, contending the state was entitled to see it although he had successfully opposed its admission as evidence.

"You can't have your cake and eat it too," Haynes said, refusing to surrender the document.

With the jury present, Shannon told the court the prosecutors "have reason to believe it's been altered."

"How can they claim something they haven't seen has been altered?" demanded defense lawyer

Phil Burlison.

At that point, Judge Dowlen decided to send the jurors back to their motel. As the jury disappeared down the hall, Burlison told the judge he considered Shannon's accusation "an insult" and raised the mistrial issue.

"The motion for mistrial is denied," Judge Dowlen responded with a frown.

Shannon argued then that he should be permitted to look at the manual because Haynes had used it to "leave an unfair impression with the jury that Officer Miller had deviated from accepted search procedures."

Furthermore, said Shannon, he had reason to believe a key portion of the manual had been "xeroxed out."

"That's a spurious allegation and he's taken liberties with the truth, if the court please," Haynes declared.

Judge Dowlen ordered both sides to furnish him with their respective copies of the manual and said he would determine what, if anything, the defense had altered.
