Watergate burglar arrested

NEW YORK (AP) — Convicted Watergate burglar Frank Sturgis was held in lieu of $25,000 bail today after allegedly trying to force a change in the testimony that ex-spy Marita Lorenz gave to a congressional committee.

WATERGATE BURGLAR BOOKED — Watergate burglar Frank Sturgis, right, is booked in a midtown New York City police station. He was arraigned Tuesday on charges of trying to coerce Marita Lorenz, a former CIA agent and girlfriend of Cuban President Fidel Castro into changing her testimony to a congressional committee investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Sturgis, a 53-year-old former Marine who once fought at the side of Cuban President Fidel Castro, was held on a charge of harassment and coercion.

Kennedy. The News quoted unnamed sources as saying Miss Lorenz' comments do not alter the fact that Kennedy was shot by Lee Harvey Oswald from the Texas School Book Depository, but that it does fit in with conspiracy theories that hold there was more than one person firing at Kennedy as he rode through Dallas in a motorcade.

with Rastro because of the Cuban leader's turn to Communism, he recruited and trained Miss Lorenz for the CIA in an abortive attempt to kill Castro. Miss Lorenz claims to have been sexually involved with Castro at one point.

Sturgis served a federal prison term as one of the five men caught in the Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate in 1972 — the incident that started the downfall of then-President Richard Nixon.

Rothblatt also charged that Miss Lorenz was "a psychotic woman" who was writing a book about her CIA activities and "is interested in only one thing — selling her book."

Pair due to be charged to day

A spokesman for the District Attorney's office said today that felony charges will be filed against the 30-year old man and his 60-year old mother who were taken into custody on misdemeanor assault charges in connection with the disappearance of 68-year old Laura Hawkins.

Mrs. Hawkins, who gave a statement to the Howard County Sheriff's office Tuesday, was found Oct. 22 at the bottom of a ravine near 16th and Lancaster after being reported missing by members of her family.

The mother and son had been reported living with the woman several days before her disappearance.

Mrs. Hawkins, who had been hospitalized since the incident, told authorities that the pair had thrown her into the ravine and left her there following an argument at her house at 600 Aylford.

Q. Is the high school ceasing publication of a school newspaper after 35 years? If they do, what will be used as a tool to teach journalism and what will be used to keep communication between the various departments at the school?

A. Supt. Lynn Hise said that he was not aware there was a problem, but upon checking into it found that an announcement had been made on the high school speaker that the publication would be cancelled unless more subscription could be sold. He added that a study committee plans to look into the problem and determine the best route to continue a high school publication at Big Spring High.

Offbeat: Dipper nabber

BALTIMORE (AP) — They say you can't keep an old firehorse in the barn when the siren goes off. The legend apparently holds true for old-time crime-stopper Cornelius Behan, now Baltimore County police chief.

It seems that Behan caught quite a few pickpockets in his early days on the New York City police force. In time, the dippers he nabbed would recognize him even as they were pilfering wallets and purses.

"You're Behan, aren't you?" the red-handed thieves would say.

"Yes, I am," Behan always replied. "You're under arrest."

Recently, Behan said, he was in Ocean City attending a Maryland police chiefs' convention and stopped by the hotel newstand to pick up a paper.

"You're Chief Behan, aren't you?" the clerk asked.

"Yes, I am," an off-guard Behan answered reflexively, "and you're under arrest."

Rufner was in love with Priscilla Davis

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — W.T. Rufner testified today he was in love with Priscilla Davis and saw her socially before she separated from her millionaire husband July 31, 1974.

He said they once shared a couch at a friend's home before that time and that they traveled together to a Willie Nelson picnic four weeks before the separation.

Defense lawyer Richard Haynes sought to show the two were lovers before Cullen Davis moved out of his $6 million mansion but he and Rufner could not agree on the definition of "love."

The long-awaited courtroom duel between the bearded Arlington electrician and the crafty Houston attorney got off to a delayed start and was something of a standoff in the early stages.

The judge in Davis' murder trial ordered a noon recess before Haynes could establish at precisely what point the two became lovers.

A prosecutor said defense team leader Richard "Racehorse" Haynes "is playing with dynamite by putting this guy (Rufner) on the stand. It could blow up in his face, or it could blow up in our face. Nobody knows what this guy is going to say or do."

"It will be interesting," Haynes smiled as he prepared to interrogate Rufner Tuesday afternoon.

"I am ready," declared Rufner, 38. "I've got some things to say."

But as the session opened Wednesday Rufner and attorneys on both sides went into conference with Judge George Dowlen.

Average bill up over $3 Rate increase approved

BY JIM DAVIS
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

The Public Utilities Commission today approved by a vote of two-to-one a $4.3 million, or 13.19 per cent revenue increase for Texas Electric Service Company.

Company spokesmen said this will boost the monthly bill for the average residential customer from $24 to between $27.25 and $27.50.

The Big Spring City Council had tabled any action on the proposed hike at its regular meeting Tuesday. In effect this left the decision of what the increase would be on the shoulders of the PUC.

Cities still have the opportunity to appeal the decision of the commission to district court.

TESCO had been seeking a total revenue hike of about $79 million, or 23.63 per cent.

Commissioner Garrett Morris opposed the majority order, claiming the company deserves only $32.2 million in additional revenue.

Morris said the order favored by Chairman George Cowden and member Alan Erwin is unfair to TESCO customers.

He specifically referred to the approved $7 minimum monthly service charge as being too high and disagreed with methods of including construction costs in the rate base.

Morris said the minimum service charge "makes users who use very small amounts of electricity pay an exorbitant amount." He said this goes against a previous trend set by the commission and against President Carter's energy program.

TESCO prexy expresses concern over decision

Bill Marquardt, president of Texas Electric Service Co., said today he is "very concerned about what this PUC ruling may mean to our customers."

"We need enough money to keep our fuel-changing program on schedule. That's the only way our customers will have reliable service at the lowest possible price," Marquardt said.

The Public Utility Commission today granted Texas Electric a $44 million increase rather than the $79 million requested by the company.

The PUC order means the average monthly residential bill will increase from about $24 to about $27.25, according to a quick estimate by Texas Electric.

Texas Electric is building power plants that use lignite and nuclear fuel, which are cheaper and more abundant than natural gas.

Marquardt said it is too early to know exactly what effect the PUC ruling will have on the company's fuel-changing program.

"For the sake of our customers, we'll try to keep the fuel-changing program on schedule. That means we'll need another rate increase sooner than planned," he said.

expressed disappointment at the commission's order. He said the cities' experts had found that TESCO needs only about $27 million in additional revenue.

Butler said any decision on appealing the order to district courts would await discussion among the cities.

Promoter sues Billie Sol

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — A land promoter has filed a $6 million damage suit against Billie Sol Estes, the former 'fertilizer king' who was convicted in a massive West Texas fraud in the mid 60s.

The suit against Estes was filed Tuesday by Don Trull in state court alleging that he paid Estes $125,000 which was forwarded to Billy D. Pyron, a co-defendant, for the purchase of land in Big Spring, Abilene and Andrews.

The suit also claims the deal included the purchase of three financially beleaguered corporations in Abilene "owned or controlled by Estes."

Trull currently is free on bond charged with aggravated kidnapping and aggravated assault after an Aug. 9 incident in which he allegedly held one of Pyron's aides hostage in Pyron's plush Tyler office which he threatened to burn.

Trull claimed he was attempting to force Pyron into repaying him for the losses he reportedly lost in the Pyron-Estes business deal in September 1976.

He said he had agreed to the land purchase as part of a deal in which Estes promised him a $1.6 million loan to underwrite the purchase of a cattle-feeding operation in the Texas Panhandle. The loan, however, failed to materialize and the money never was returned nor was the land transferred, Trull alleged.

After the August incident, Pyron, who denied all the allegations, said he too had been a victim of an Estes business deal and filed a libel and slander suit against Trull.

Estes is currently under investigation by the Internal Revenue Service and the Texas Attorney General's Office. Investigators are attempting to determine if Estes violated terms of his rigid 15-year parole which bars him from any self-employment or promotional business deals.

Hatcher draws 50 in prison

HOUSTON (AP) — Stephen Hatcher, a frail-looking, bespectacled young man, was sentenced by a state court jury Tuesday to 50 years in prison for the April 1 shotgun slaying of his wife.

Hatcher, 24, will be eligible for parole after serving 15 years.

The state district court jury found Hatcher guilty Monday and then assessed the punishment during the second phase of deliberations.

During the trial, Hatcher took the stand in his own behalf, and testified, "I loved Ann. I never intended to kill her. It was an accident."

The prosecution brought to the stand several witnesses who testified Mrs. Hatcher had been badly beaten shortly before her death and that her husband had threatened her life.

Hatcher was arrested April 3 at a camp site on Lake Sam Rayburn. He led police to his wife's shotgun-riddled body, submerged in five feet of water in a large oil drum about 25 feet from the shoreline.

The defendant said he put his wife's body into a car and drove to the lake because "that is where we had spent our summers together. I uncovered Ann and she was more horrible looking than the first time I had seen her after the shooting. She was so disfigured. She was so cold. I put her in a garbage can and pushed it into the water."

Hatcher also testified he attempted to burn the car, "because it smelled of her blood."

He said, "I was afraid nobody would believe it was an accident. She really came out of nowhere in a dark room and ran into one of the shotguns I was carrying. It was a freak accident. I swear Ann Hatcher left this world while she was going to greet her husband."

Alice Sloan, who worked with Mrs. Hatcher at a Houston department store, testified she received a call from Hatcher late one night in January 1977.

"He (Hatcher) asked me, 'What time does the store close?' I told him about 10 p.m. Then he said to me, 'Then she has to be out (bleeping) around and I'm going to break her arms and legs and she won't be (bleeping) around anymore,'" Mrs. Sloan testified.

Howard Dickinson, a porter at the store, said he was sweeping once when he saw the Hatchers talking. Dickinson said he heard Hatcher tell his wife, "You are going to mess around and make me have to kill you."

Kidnap suspect jailed

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — West Texas authorities say they know six-year-old Johnny Turner Jr. is somewhere in rugged Yellowhouse Canyon — though a numbing search has failed to turn up the missing first-grader.

"He's here somewhere, we know for sure," said one detective at the scene. "It's just a matter of time now."

While authorities regrouped and planned a renewal of the search, Philip Carey Brasfield, already free on bond on a child molesting case, was charged Tuesday with aggravated kidnapping in connection with Johnny's disappearance.

Although no official statement was made, authorities indicated they were not optimistic about finding the child alive.

Johnny was disappeared last Wednesday from a low-income apartment building area in a predominantly black Lubbock neighborhood.

Justice of the Peace Charles Smith set bond at $100,000 for Brasfield, of nearby Slaton. The charges were filed Tuesday.

Police questioned Brasfield for several hours following his arrest Monday night at his home.

While he was kept in jail, searches, on foot and on horseback and aided by a helicopter, combed the rocky, weed-choked Horseshoe Bend portion of the canyon between Lubbock and Slaton.

They said they found only two footprints and some tire tracks.

Florence Turner had told police that she saw her son playing in front of the apartment building at about 6:20 p.m. last Wednesday. A few minutes later, when she tried to call him in, he was gone, she said.

Witnesses told police they had seen a white man, apparently in his 20s, with a small black child in a car at a service station the night of the alleged kidnapping.

Police officers said Brasfield, who was indicted last May on a child molesting charge and released on a $10,000 bond, was arrested after Lubbock detectives "gathered information and witness identification."

Officers declined to reveal any details about the arrest itself or the questioning of the suspect.

Since last Wednesday evening, searches have looked through the brush of the canyons in the area around Lubbock. But searches in other sections of town were canceled Monday night and all efforts were concentrated in the Horseshoe Bend area.

The child, described by his mother as a "shy, quiet boy who loved school and was real crazy about his teacher," was in the first grade at Iles Elementary School.

"He loved to go on fishing trips with the family," she added.

SEARCH — Six-year-old Johnny Turner, Jr. is still missing today but the search continues with full force. The police picked up their search at sunrise having 'only footprints to guide them' through the weeded canyon area north of Slaton.

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal agents say they seized a cache of semi-automatic weapons, pistols and more than 10,000 rounds of ammunition at a warehouse.

HISTORICAL BRICKS — Katie Weber, Howard College art instructor; Mrs. Carol Hunter, on the tourism committee and Jerry Foresyth, assistant city manager, are shown silk screening Potton House bricks which are to be for sale as souvenirs.

At Potton House

Paints are matched

BY MARJ CARPENTER
The Potton House continues to be prepared as a tourist attraction for Big Spring with the bright paints on the top of the house matched to the early paints which were used by many railroaders in the Big Spring area.

The committee preparing the house matched the paints to scraps of paint left on the woods and also to the colors that were available to T&P families at that time.

The bricks that were stacked out back are original sandstone bricks comparable to those in the house. These bricks may have been made at the sandstone quarry near Barstow which turned out many of the bricks for West Texas buildings at that time.

The bricks are being cleaned up and a silk screen silhouette of the Potton House is being put on each brick along with the words "Potton House." They will be sold for $5 each and are available through the Potton House committee. Later they will be for sale at the house.

David Todd of Dato Products did the screen printing and the art classes at Howard College are going to help place the printing on the bricks.

It is the dream of the tourism committee that eventually, some art shops might spring up in the area of the early Victorian home which is being prepared to be open to the public.

Already Mrs. Simon Terrazas has a doll museum in that area that holds one of the best doll collections in the Southwest. The Western Sizzler restaurant is on the corner and in time, the entire block could develop into a tourist attraction block.

Money obtained from sale of the special bricks will be used to improve the Potton House and its furnishings as an example of Victorian Architecture in Texas.

The home, later occupied by the Hayden family, has been designated by the National Archives as an example of Victorian architecture and also has been marked by the Texas Historical Survey Commission.

Vandals cut four tire stems on a car belonging to Theodore A. Osmulski, 901 E. 6th, while it was parked on the lot of Howard College. The damage was estimated at only $2, but all the tires were flat.

Sabrina Thomas, 2304 Thorp, reported that she left her flute in the Big Spring High School Band Hall for six hours Tuesday, and when she returned it was gone. The instrument was valued at $239.80.

Head count misleading

Big Spring attendance figures showed a total gain of 28 students on their October 28 weekly enrollment report, but the figures are misleading, according to Harold Bentley, assistant superintendent.

elementary school total showed a loss of seven students while Goliad and Runnels showed losses of three students. 37 students were gained by the high school.

But according to Bentley, the 37 students have been attending high school since the beginning of the year.

"Every six weeks into the school year we are required to conduct a state attendance survey. In the course of this survey we discovered 37 students who had never been registered and were not showing up on our totals.

They had been there from the beginning, we just had not had proper records of them.

Bentley said that the otherwise dropping attendance was normal for this time of the year, and that he was heartened by the small numbers of students the district was losing.

"It is encouraging that, although we are losing students, other families are still moving into Big Spring," he said.

Tuesday. According to reports, a man in his early 20s wearing a dark blue shirt and ski hat and little else, motioned to the girl to come over to the pickup in which he was sitting. When she did, he exposed himself.

Vandals entered a home at 800 1/2 Nolan belonging to Mike Weaver, 201 E. 6th, around 3:30 p.m. Tuesday. As Weaver entered the home, the vandals fled through the back door.

They had broken the lock on the front door, written on the walls, spread trash throughout the home and burned the furniture with cigarettes. Damage was estimated at $500.

Two mishaps were reported Tuesday.

Vehicles driven by Connie M. Vanderbilt, 1514 A. Wood, and Francisco R. Cortina, 310 N.W. 10th, collided on the 300 block of Main, 1 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Jackie W. Owens, 3313 11th and Linda F. Bradberry 1718 Yale, collided at IS 20 and Birdwell, 4:05 p.m.

Mounties kick up crisis

MONTREAL (AP) — Disclosure of illegal activities by anti-terrorist squads of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is creating a new crisis for Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and his Liberal government.

Allegations are mounting that RCMP undercover operations in the early 1970s were directed at the Parti Quebecois (PQ), labor unions and other legal groups as well as terrorists. One PQ leader spoke of a "mini-Watergate." A Conservative member of Parliament whose office was bugged told the House of Commons: "I wonder, the way things are going, if we will see the incredible situation here in the House of Commons when the Prime Minister will stand up and say, 'I am not a crook.'"

Trudeau has denied ordering or trying to cover up illegal police activities and expressed regret for them. But he said in a weekend television interview that "we are in a world where there is terrorism and blackmail, and the police are forced to respond to those who would destroy Canada."

The federal police's anti-terrorist operations were stepped up after the "October 1970 crisis," when the terrorists of the Quebec Liberation Front (FLQ) kidnaped the British trade commissioner in Montreal and murdered the Quebec provincial labor minister, Pierre Laporte.

The Parti Quebecois at the time was believed linked to the FLQ because both advocated the secession of French-speaking Quebec from Canada. But last November the PQ won the Quebec provincial election and took over the provincial government.

The disclosures about the activities of the RCMP's Security Services were made in testimony before a Quebec provincial commission investigating the illegal 1972 raid by federal, provincial and city police on the Montreal office of a leftwing news agency.

PERRY COMO

Como awarded $257,509

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Perry Como has been awarded $257,509 for injuries he suffered when he tumbled from a stage while taping a 1971 Christmas special for NBC.

The 65-year-old singer had sought $1 million in damages on grounds of negligence. He tumbled from a divided stage while filming "Perry Como's Winter Show," suffering a compound fracture to his left knee and injuries to his left foot and hip.

Como contended he was unable to perform for more than six months and lost $1 million in income.

Goodman plans jazz concert.

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny Goodman gave a little party to announce that he'll give a concert in Carnegie Hall in January to commemorate the first jazz concert held there 40 years ago.

Goodman also headed that concert — which proved a smashing success — on Jan. 16, 1938. The anniversary concert will be Jan. 17, 1978, because Carnegie already is booked for the 16th.

Tuesday quoted himself talking to his wife, "I said, 'I don't know about 40 years. But I suppose it would be optimistic, really, to wait 50 years.' She said, 'Not optimistic — unrealistic.'"

Totie Fields

due back soon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A spokeswoman for comedian Totie Fields, who underwent a mastectomy last week, says the entertainer expects to resume her career within three months.

Doctors amputated Miss Fields' left leg 18 months ago because of a circulation problem. After that, Miss Fields, 46, suffered two heart attacks and underwent surgery on her left eye.

Nobody rides free on ferry

SEATTLE (AP) — Nobody rides free on the Vashon Island ferry and that includes seven firemen aboard a fire engine. The State Ferry System will bill the City of Seattle for the roundtrip by a fire engine that rushed to the island on a call Sunday.

The city will get a bill for $22.70 — $15 for the new, 29,000-pound pumper and $1.10 per fireman aboard, Shelley Radtke, a ferry system spokeswoman, said Tuesday.

Not to be overlooked, a Seattle fire battalion chief, who accompanied the fire truck to Vashon, and his car will be billed $3.80 — the usual roundtrip fare for car and driver, Ms. Radtke said.

"By law we are supposed to receive payment for everything," she said.

Elsewhere, temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s with Brownsville's 61 the highest overnight low.

Northwesterly winds added to the chill in central and eastern portions of the state.

Skies were mostly cloudy in the eastern half of the state and in eastern portions of the Panhandle and clear over the western third of the state.

Throat slash killed child

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County Medical Examiner Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk says Ramona Abner, 10, died from a large slash to her throat "in association with forcible rape."

The medical examiner testified Tuesday in the trial of John Charles Zimmerman Jr., 30, charged with capital murder in the death of the girl who was his niece.

He is accused of killing her last March 24 after picking her up from school. A butcher knife with a 10-inch blade was found near the body.

Jachimczyk testified the girl suffered numerous stab wounds on her body but said the significant one was a large slash to the throat. Zimmerman is married to a sister of Sandra Abner, 31, the dead child's mother.

Society must act to protect children

Who will protect the children if the parents do not?
The law must.

But our justice system is not always the best when it comes to contending with the most difficult of all questions: child abuse.

To me, child abuse is a problem in our violence-prone society that must be dealt with severely and seriously. There are few worse crimes.

I UNDERSTAND WHY our system tends to do everything possible to leave children with their natural parents. It must be that way. However, there are times when the system fails to protect children from their parents when it appears obvious that this should be done.

FOLLOWING a tip last week, Big Spring Herald reporter Bob Burton confirmed what local authorities already suspected. The Freeman children were living again with their mother in Tulsa.

The mother, Carol Freeman, is under twin indictments in Big Spring on charges of rape of a child, incest, injury to a child, and indecency by exposure.

Judge Ralph Caton of the 118th District removed custody of the children from their parents. And the public in Big Spring had every right to expect that the judge's ruling would be the reality.

THE TEXAS DEPARTMENT of Welfare first tried a foster home in San Angelo, but then custody was given to the natural father in New Hampshire, after the New Hampshire Department of Child Welfare had looked into the matter.

NOW IT seems the natural father, who retains custody, has allowed the children to return to their mother. The Child Protective Unit of the Oklahoma Department of Institutional and Social Rehabilitative Services says that Oklahoma law requires that the child be in "danger" before going to the courts, so it plans to do nothing for the time being except to watch the situation closely.

There you have it. Across three states and several governmental agencies, the children are back again in a situation where neither the courts nor the Big Spring child welfare people felt that they should be.

Surely something can be done to put teeth into the laws protecting children.

— J. TOM GRAHAM

More than doll

Around the rim

Eileen McGuire

In 15 years of schooling, I learned nothing to prepare me for what is no doubt the most important role I will ever play in this life and certainly the most confusing — that of being a mother.

Recently I read that despite easy access to contraceptives and legal abortion, more and more teenage girls are having babies at earlier ages than ever before and they are electing to keep their babies.

Possibly this new generation of teenagers is more advanced than mine was, but I suspect that most of these girls are just as unprepared for raising children at ages 15 and 16 as I was at 19.

The closest I came to any kind of an education on what was about to happen to me was a home economics class in which I learned to make homemade brownies from scratch and saw something that resembled a dress.

When I married, everyone assumed that the next step was to produce a couple of children, including me. No one mentioned that a child is much more than a doll with moving parts — a notion carried over from my childhood days. No one warned me, not even Mother, that in order to raise secure, happy children, you must first be a secure and happy adult.

IN A RECENT issue of Ms. Magazine, homemaking was defined as "providing an environment where whole, happy people can grow." That kind of environment requires one or more adults who are happy with themselves and with the world around them, planning, a bit of wisdom, and the gradual development of a house into a home. All I could offer a child was homemade brownies.

When my first child was born, I had never even seen a newborn baby. To make up for my lack of education, I spent months prior to his birth reading all the how-to-books I could get my hands on. I was ready. I knew every problem and phase I was going to encounter from zero months to six years. Unfortunately, my little blue bundle never read those books.

Whatever the books said he was going to do, he didn't and whatever he did, the authors forgot to research. Colic was supposed to be uncomfortable, not painful, toilet-training was deemed possible, and bottle-weaning something that took a few months, not a year. And when I brought our second son home, the books told me to expect a little jealousy over the new baby; they didn't mention that my first child would have no part of me, much less the baby, for weeks.

BEFORE I had my own children, I heard lots of things like "A baby is a both responsibility" and "Don't rush it, make sure you're ready." Ready for what? A cooing, cuddly baby who grows up into a charming, smiling five-year-old?

Perhaps it would be more effective if responsibility was spelled out for what it really is — work, worry and expensive. Not that children aren't charming and cuddly, but they are also often wet, hungry, sick and they cry in a very loud monotone.

Two of the most important people in the world to me, I can't imagine being without my children now, but there are still times when I would rather have freedom instead of fulfillment. Like when my husband and I get a last-minute urge to attend a movie that's playing for one last night, or when a 1500 mile drive to our Michigan home with a couple of toddlers and all the equipment they require becomes a crowded, not to mention traumatic, experience.

PRE-NATAL CLASSES, offered at hospitals in nearly every locality, do a pretty good job of teaching young parents the mechanics of the care and feeding of an infant, but still rare are the required high school classes that let future parents know what it's really like to be a parent for 24 hours a day for the next 18 years, before they make the decision to become one. Our society is only beginning to accept the fact that not all people who can reproduce are cut out for the role.

I wonder how many abused children and frustrated, unhappy parents could have been spared if they'd had these feelings explained to them before they'd found themselves responsible for the molding of human personalities that can easily grow up unable to cope with a complicated world.

Being a mother has been a rewarding experience for me, full of surprises — not always pleasant ones — and valuable lessons, but it has also been an experience of self-denial, self-discipline, constant affirmation that it was indeed worth it, faith that my children will somehow grow up avoiding the playground pushers and speeder demons, and struggling not to feel guilty about living my own life along the way.

IF MORE mothers hadn't been ashamed to admit that there was a bad side to motherhood and if I had received some sort of an education on what parenting is really like, I probably still wouldn't have been ready for the task, but at least the decision would have been made with some degree of intelligence rather than a vision of super mommy before me.

Having a baby is easy and can be done with no or little forethought; raising that baby to be a well-adjusted adult with a positive outlook and attitude toward himself is the tough part.

I suggest that in addition to sex education and home economics for both sexes, that all school systems incorporate into their curriculum a mandatory course on the stuff sound marriages and effective parents are made of. If not for the prospective parents, then at least for the future generations of children.

Gloom in kingdom

Evans, Novak

AMMAN, Jordan — The temptation for Israel "to use its military might while it is at its peak" is the most dangerous political fact in the world today and one that directly threatens President Carter's peace efforts.

King Hussein, now in his 25th year on the throne of Jordan, couples that warning with another conclusion that cuts at the heart of American policy toward Israel since its conquests 10 years ago in the Six-Day War.

"It has been said that a strong Israel is a moderate Israel," the King told us during an exclusive interview in his family palace called El Hashemia. "I am afraid it is now clear that that is not true."

HUSSEIN EXPRESSED the usual hope that Mr. Carter's plan to reconvene the Geneva conference will succeed and praised Mr. Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance for the most forthright peace efforts ever made by an American administration. But his inner mood was melancholy, not optimistic. The reason is found in his somber view about Israel's real intentions, and its ability, thanks to the billion-dollar-a-year military pipeline from the U.S. to make good those intentions.

"I firmly believe that they are not interested in any withdrawal from the occupied territories, particularly the West Bank and Gaza," he said. "They have in the back of their minds a base in all of Palestine, after 2,000 years, and I don't think they will part from it even for true peace."

The King had just sent the President a request for clarifications and modifications in the U.S.-Israel working paper on the procedural arrangements for Geneva. Clearly, the task for coordinating Syria, Egypt and Jordan on a common Arab position is proving to be no picnic.

FOR EXAMPLE, on the central question of PLO (Palestine Liberation Organization) attendance at Geneva — absolutely ruled out by Israel — Jordan is not at all interested in making a fight. Since the PLO has been designated by the Arab world as "sole representative" of the Palestinians on the West Bank (in clear view across the river from El-Hashemia Palace) Jordan theoretically is not even a direct party for the Geneva talks about Israel's withdrawal.

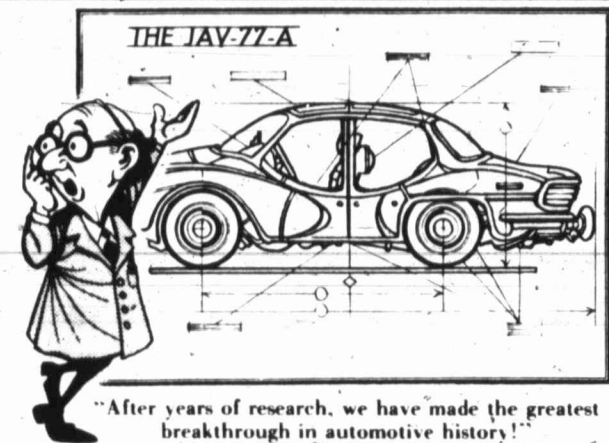

But the king was vague about this. The PLO issue, he told us, is "rather important" and it would be "of great benefit" to have the PLO at Geneva.

The real question, he said, is not so much the PLO (described by one high government official here as the rotten apple in the Geneva barrel). Rather, it is to let the West Bank Palestinians themselves decide their future — "the people of Palestine as such, without pressure from any one, should exercise the right of self-determination under international auspices."

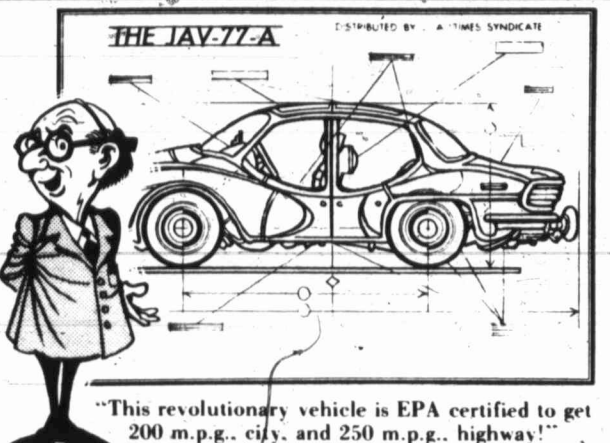

Hussein's deepest worry is neither the PLO nor the West Bank but what he sees as Israel's real game in the Pre-Geneva jostling: "to outmaneuver the Arabs and remove any blame from themselves for lack of progress" in getting to Geneva or in a breakdown of diplomacy thereafter.

THUS, HE IMPLIED Jordan, Egypt and Syria should at all costs agree to go to Geneva and not let Israel's procedural demands deflect them. Otherwise, "Israel may get off the hook" and blame the Arabs for a breakdown and then, on any one of a multitude of manufactured pretexts, bring into play its immense military power.

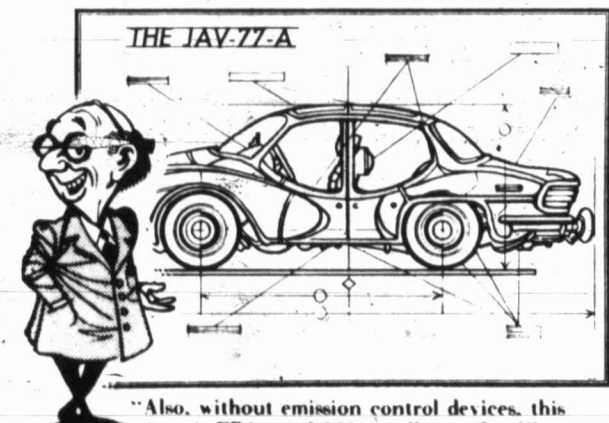

However it may appear in the West, this view of a militaristic Israel capable of brazen exploitation of its U.S.-supplied power is today one of the underlying realities in the Arab world — a reality some students of Mideast politics have warned about for years.

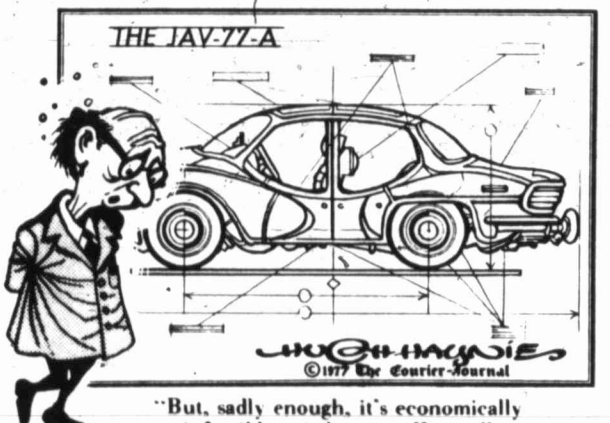

"After years of research, we have made the greatest breakthrough in automotive history!"

"This revolutionary vehicle is EPA certified to get 200 m.p.g. city, and 250 m.p.g. highway!"

"Also, without emission control devices, this car is EPA-rated 100% pollution-free!"

"But, sadly enough, it's economically infeasible... it burns coffee..."

New ways sought to aid arteries

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please comment on chelation treatment for angina pectoris as opposed to coronary bypass surgery. Also, please discuss thermograms for testing arteries as opposed to arteriograms.

Mrs. D.T.S. It would be handy to be able to flush out our plugged arteries the way we do a plugged up kitchen drain. But blood vessels are a bit more complicated than household plumbing.

One use of chelation (kee-LAY-shun) is a heavy metal poisoning (as from lead and others). The word is from the Greek, and it means "claw." In metal poisoning, certain medicine is taken to "bind" the offending metal molecules in the blood, thus preventing absorption in the body. Prolonged use can be harmful.

But chelation has not gone beyond the experimental stage for problems like atherosclerosis, where the arteries are plugged, as with cholesterol plaques. The only practical way to "unplug" coronary arteries as in angina pectoris (chest pain caused by lack of sufficient blood supply to the heart muscle) is to open the artery and clean it. Surgeons can also reroute the artery around the plugged portion — the bypass to which you refer.

Valuable experimental work continues into other uses of chelation, but for now we have to settle for the older, tested treatments.

Thermograms are "heat pictures," made with film that is sensitive to that radiation given off by all living matter, including body tissue. By recording this heat, pictures are formed to pinpoint tiny bits of malignancy, etc. Such pictures are often difficult to interpret medically. Arteriograms are X rays of arteries taken after the vessels are injected with special dye to make them stand out in contrast with surrounding tissue. This remains the most reliable way to evaluate the situation inside vessels.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 65 years old. Eight years ago I had my breast removed. It took a few years to actually accept the fact. Now, for the last three years I have had dark spots that appear on my arms and legs. At first they were small, but now they are the size of quarters. They are bluish and then they disappear.

I am worried. My doctor says they are nothing to worry about, but I am very upset. I worry that I have cancer somewhere in my body. — N.N. One has to see the spots to make any definite comment. It is possibly a form of purpura — a blood platelet disorder that interferes with proper blood clotting. But women your age often have innocent blemishes.

It could be a vitamin C or calcium deficiency. A complete blood count is in order. I doubt it is related to your breast surgery. CONFIDENTIAL TO A.N. — Your inability to perform is not an unusual situation for men widowed after many years of marriage. The fact you have nocturnal emissions is in your favor. Inability to perform at will is probably psychological. Most likely a subtle sense of guilt prevails. Your friend overcame this and you should in time. Be patient.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think Christians are still supposed to keep the Ten Commandments; after all, we are living in a different period of time? — W.N.O.

DEAR W.N.O.: Yes, Christians must still obey the Ten Commandments. It is true that many of the regulations found in parts of the Old Testament are no longer directly applicable to our lives, although they may point out some principle about God that is still true. But the Ten Commandments reflect the moral nature of God Himself, and that never changes. It is interesting that every one of the Ten Commandments is either repeated by Jesus or followed by Him in His daily life.

Remember that the Ten Commandments deal with areas of life that are at the heart of society (see Exodus 20). They safeguard human life ("Thou shalt not kill"), family life ("Honour thy father and thy mother...Thou shalt not commit adultery"), property ("Thou shalt not steal...Thou shalt not covet") and even personal integrity ("Thou shalt not bear false witness"). If these are disregarded, the result is chaos and anarchy in society. The Ten Commandments also deal with the most important obligation we have — our obligation to worship and serve God, our Creator.

Wined and dined

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Panamanian Ambassador Gabriel Lewis has just concluded a quick correspondence course on how to win friends on Capitol Hill and influence their votes on the Panama Canal treaties.

He was instructed confidentially to court senators at "breakfast, lunch and dinner," to buy "a meal or two" for hungry reporters, to pass out contributions to the right senators and, above all, not to count on President Carter's inept lobbyists.

AMBASSADOR LEWIS sought the advice of a professional persuader, N.C. Livingstone, on what he could do to help persuade the Senate to ratify the Panama Canal treaty. The ambassador got back a candid, five-page memo on the letterhead of Hill, Livingstone Associates, a Washington consulting firm.

Livingstone cautioned that the White House lobbyists, headed by the harassed Frank Moore, were babes in the legislative woods. "Few members of Frank Moore's congressional liaison staff at the White House have any real credibility or demonstrable expertise on Capitol Hill." Livingstone tipped off the ambassador: "To trust the White House to win ratification of the treaties is to take a severe risk."

Instead, the memo advised the Panamanians to "concentrate on good, old-fashioned flesh-and-blood, shoe-leather diplomacy." Explained the memo: "Build personal ties and rapport with members of the Senate and their staffs. Court them at breakfast, lunch and dinner." In a sentence, Livingstone urged: "Live at the U.S. Senate for the next six months."

Another section of the memo, entitled "Persuasion by Contribution," offered this confidential advice: "Next year is an election year. Perhaps a dozen members of the Senate could be influenced by the promise of contributions or the threat to withhold such contributions. Prominent business and labor leaders could provide such pressure on key undecided members."

Perhaps as an afterthought about the Korean scandal, Livingstone added cautiously: "This is, to be sure, a sensitive matter, but it is in no way unusual in U.S. politics." The memo included some instructions for manipulating the media. First, it recommended that the Panamanians "forget about the Washington Post and the New York Times." These eminent newspapers, explained Livingstone, "are already on your side."

Instead, he suggested that they concentrate on smaller papers whose Washington correspondents, he said, are often slighted. "Invite them personally to the embassy, grant them interviews, buy them a meal or two," he advised. Stressed the memo: "Most journalists from the smaller publications don't often get invitations of this kind."

As another effective tactic, Livingstone recommended that the Panamanians generate grass-roots pressure. This could be accomplished, he said, by recruiting businessmen and labor leaders to contact senators personally, by establishing close contacts with "key opinion generators in each state" and by creating a citizens committee of "prominent Americans."

I.D.?

William F. Buckley, Jr.

I am associated, in one of my lives, with what the professionals call a "little magazine." It is a journal of conservative thought and opinion, a small chapel filled with jeweled objects on which the season's lights refract through stained glass windows wonderfully, variously, inexhaustibly, illuminating the truths we live and die for. The tablet-keepers of that magazine received an affluatus recently, causing us to come out in favor of a national identity card, and we woke the next day to find ourselves surrounded by the faithful, hurling objects at us, charging that we had profaned the very foundations of our church. It is un-American to have an I.D.

That is, in my judgment, a venture in ideological mystification. What is un-American is the invasion of privacy. The documentation of individual Americans is not in itself a violation of privacy. What is done with that documentation is what matters.

BEFORE WE HAD a federal social security act, we did not need federal social security numbers. It would be chaotic to attempt to do without social security numbers; and, so far as one can judge, Americans nowadays accept not only social security, but social security numbers; and there has been no abuse. Before the age of passports, there were no passport numbers; but there is no rational resentment of passports nowadays if it is conceded that the identification of the individual is important.

Which brings us to the critical question. Much having been written on the problem of immigration, the subject of an identity card arises. It appears that there is available a technology for the manufacture of an identity card that is virtually proof against forgery. By definition, anything produced by craft can be reproduced by craft: so that although it is unsafe to say that the contemplated identity card will be absolute proof of the identity of its holder, experts assure us it would take the resources of a superpower to duplicate it.

What have we got, if we have an identity card? A means not of dam-

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Publisher: Ever since your arrival in Big Spring I've been trying to figure out just what it is we have in common. Immediately upon meeting you I discerned that there was a person who shared some mutual interests with me.

At first I thought perhaps it was your taste in cars, since I noted that you drove a small one. But upon further investigation I discovered you didn't own the same brand as I. Then, after further reflection I thought that perhaps you were a "closet Episcopalian," but you never came out of your closet. I waited weeks at the church door for you to show up but to no avail. I then considered the possibility that we shared like political philosophies, but after having read several of your editorials I find that you are as politically confused as I.

Then the truth at last! Your editorial in the Oct 31 paper in re the delights of Art Buchwald's gifts solved the mystery as to our mutual interest, for I too find him one of the most gifted writers of our age. What the world needs now may be "Love, sweet Love" but it also could use a few more Buchwalds (but not too many!) They are the people who help us not to take ourselves too seriously in a world which has gone a little crazy.

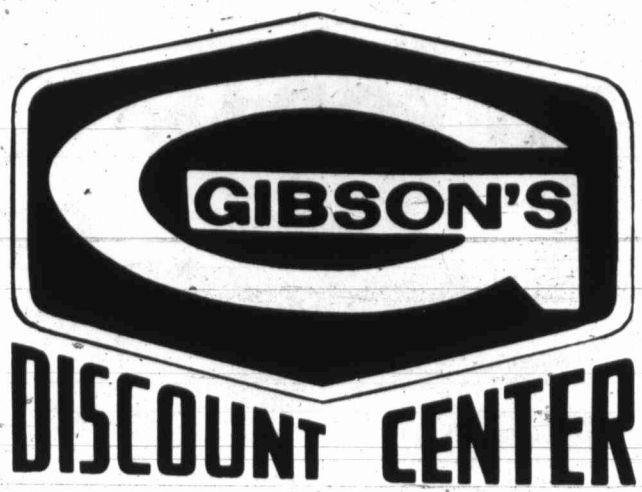

Thanks, we needed that!

'Knott Neighbors Reunion'

with Marj Carpenter

Eighteen years ago, a group of Knott women who had moved to Big Spring, began what they called a "Knott Neighbors Reunion."

Women, who are still living who attended that first gathering include Pearl Shortes, Velma Roman, Lucille Sample, Minnie Younger, Mrs. J.W. Phillips, Mrs. Grady Dorsey, Mrs. Frances Glenn and Mrs. Lillian Spalding.

This year they met out at the home of Mrs. Mamie Lee Merrick. Mrs. Nadine Hodnett outlined the importance of friendship and told the history of the hymn "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

The tie that binds these women in friendship is Knott and the "sad and glad" things that used to happen there.

Mrs. Dorsey drew a big laugh telling the old story from back in the bootleg days when a bootlegger traveled through Knott and somehow, half the men in the community got hold of his wares.

When fellows failed to show up for supper, some of the wives went up to the gin and discovered their husbands passed out all over the place. They sent for the manager but he was passed out in the office.

But they had a lot more church gatherings and

She's gained 'freedom since moving from governor's mansion'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jeanne Mandel, wife of suspended Gov. Marvin Mandel, says she gained a new sense of freedom and privacy when she moved out of the governor's mansion in Annapolis. She also gained a weekly laundry chore and now has to search for a parking place.

Mrs. Mandel, 39, says she's had to make a number of adjustments in her new status as just another Maryland housewife since her husband was convicted and sentenced on federal corruption charges.

The Mandels now live in a $675-a-month rental house on five acres outside Annapolis. Former Lt. Gov. Blair Lee, sings and school programs than they had "nipping on the bootleggers' jug."

The group attended many of the different little community schools in the area and compared notes on the old days. They also share recipes and try out each others' salads.

And they catch up on how the children are all doing — and the grandchildren.

This year's group included Nora Gaskins, Ruby Shank, Velma Airhart, Veda Nichols, "Lucille Sample, Evelyn Kendrick, LaVerne Gaskins, Fay Gist McArthur of Spur, Minnie Unger, Cordelia Castle, Mrs. W.A. Burchell, Mrs. Joe Myers, Mrs. Herman Jeffcoat, Mrs. Ruth Olsen, Mrs. Effie Allred, Mrs. Bill Turner, Mrs. Ruby Allred, Mrs. Laura Roman, Mrs. Dorsey, Mrs. Spalding, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Velma Roman, Mrs. Shortes, Mrs. Hodnett and Mrs. Merrick.

There is so much history among the group in the room that it is difficult to comprehend it all.

The group knows the difference between Knott, East Knott and West Knott and who had which store in which locality.

They remember schools such as Moore, Brown, Highway, Merrick, Fairview and many more.

They remember the days when you plowed with a horse and followed the plow and they understand the present days of mechanical cotton strippers.

They have seen sand storms and hail storms and snow storms across the prairie.

They have raised children and grandchildren that love the land. And they enjoy getting together and talking about them.

They have a deep and understanding friendship that spans three generations and neighbors that were miles apart yet close together in spirit.

They represent rural America at its best and enjoy getting together now and then — out where I enjoy ridin' fence.

Veep's wife needs energy

ATLANTA (AP) — Joan Mondale, who told city managers that the arts can bring a "burst of energy to the downtown section," needed more energy herself as she competed with Mayor Maynard Jackson on an art exhibit swing set.

Vice President Walter Mondale's wife, an unofficial roving ambassador for the arts in the Carter administration, had asked to see the Isamu Noguchi "Playscapes" in Piedmont Park.

She tried out the swings, but couldn't pump them as high as the mayor.

"Oh, we're out of shape," she said.

The $500,000 "Playscapes" was built by Atlanta's High Museum of Art, the city and the National Endowment for the Arts, and Mrs. Mondale said she would "spread the word" about using art in playground equipment.

But higher construction and fuel costs are making it more expensive to do.

I can tell just by looking at my electric bill.

One thing I do at home is to keep a checklist right on my heating/air-conditioning unit. I have the months listed, and every time I clean the filter I check off that month — so I make sure I check it at least once a month. I couldn't remember it otherwise, and it's important.

A dirty filter limits the air flow through there — and that uses more energy."

Senate debates Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to raise Social Security taxes for workers and their employers is before the full Senate, with Republicans challenging what they call a "soak the businessman" approach.

The GOP objected to the Senate Finance Committee's vote Tuesday to end the tradition of employers and employees paying an equal share of payroll taxes to support the system.

Employers eventually would pay almost double what their workers contribute to the system under the committee's bill, which the Senate could start considering as early as today. A House bill passed last week would retain the equal tax burden.

measure, the tax for the lowest-paid workers would rise about 20 percent in the next decade, and the levy for the highest-paid would more than double.

The purpose of both bills is to save the Social Security fund from running out of money. Social Security now is paying out more in benefits than it takes in through taxes, and the situation is expected to worsen unless remedial action is taken.

Taxes already are scheduled to go up under existing law, but not enough to support the system.

Under existing law, the average worker earning $11,000 annually will pay $22 more next year in Social Security taxes. The ceiling to which taxes are applied will climb from the current $16,500 to at least $17,700 in 1978. And, the maximum tax would rise from the $965 now to $1,071 next year and $1,896 by 1986.

The Senate bill, combined with increases already in the law, would set the maximum tax on employees at $1,525 in 1981. It would rise gradually to $2,263 by 1986.

An employer's maximum would rise to $3,068 in 1979 and $5,625 in 1986.

The House bill contains a maximum tax on employer and employee of $1,945 in 1981, rising to $2,854 by 1986.

The bills would have about equal impact on the $10,000-a-year worker. The $585 he now pays annually would rise to $655 under the House version in 1981 and go to $710 by 1986. The Senate bill would mean a tax of $660 in 1981 and $705 by 1986.

Contact spider man for creepy Yule gift

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — For a Christmas gift that will crawl up your arm, sit on your nose and look you directly in the eye, try one of Jim Carroll's hairy Mexican Red-legged Tarantula spiders.

"It's not the pet for everyone," the pet shop owner admits. But it could be the perfect answer for those who don't have the time to house train and care for a dog or cat.

As one of the large, brightly-colored spiders crawled up the side of his face, Carroll noted the advantages of having a tarantula as a playful pet:

—They don't object to being caged, don't have to be taken for walks and don't bark or meow.

—They can go up to three months without eating, though they prefer to be fed at least twice a month. And when they do eat, they're not picky. A grasshopper or a baby mouse is exquisite cuisine for a tarantula.

—The monthly food bill for one of them, Carroll said, is about $1.

—They're long-lasting pets, too. Females live for about 23 years, while males reach maturity at about 11, mate once and then die.

Most of Carroll's tarantulas are males because they're easier to catch. Females don't often come above ground, he said.

Carroll, who doesn't stock dogs or cats and deals primarily in small birds and reptiles, sells his three-to-five-inch tarantulas for $14.95, complete with cage, and will put on a demonstration for potential buyers.

He may let a eight-inch tarantula crawl across his face, dragging its bony fangs up his cheeks, past his eyes and onto his forehead in a breathtakingly daring display intended to prove how harmless the hairy creatures really are.

"It's really hard to get them riled up," he said, explaining that if they do bite, their venom is only about as potent as that of a bee or wasp.

Of course, they aren't highly animated. You can't teach them how to fetch, play dead or roll over, Carroll said, but if you poke them with a sharp instrument, they will rear up on their hind legs.

Somewhat nearsighted, they can't see more than two inches in front of them, though they have eight eyes.

And, Carroll has learned, they aren't very sociable toward one another. If you put two of them in a cage together, the stronger one will kill the other and devour him.

"I only lost one that way," Carroll said. They have private cages now.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, ranking Republican on the finance committee, says the GOP has a good chance to win retention of equal payroll taxes. He said the American people would reject the anti-business slant of the bill.

Curtis said Republicans also want to keep a House provision that would gradually eliminate the earnings ceiling, which restricts the amount a recipient may earn without losing some benefits.

Both versions of the bill would raise taxes for workers. Under the Senate report, Hitler met Lorret's mother in 1918 while serving in World War I. The boy was given her name and not told his father's identity until 1952 when his mother was dying.

Did Hitler have a son?

LONDON (AP) — Did Adolf Hitler have a son? The Sunday Times of London quotes Dr. Werner Maser, 55, a respected historian of the Nazi era, as saying Hitler's son is a 59-year-old Frenchman named Jean Lorret.

Maser says he has known for 12 years that Hitler had a son, located Lorret two years ago and has been working since then to authenticate that he is Hitler's son.

The newspaper said Lorret is seriously ill and willing to talk about his parentage.

The letter was donated to the Detroit Public Library for the auction this weekend. Hemingway ordered that his private letters never be published.

The identity of the buyer was not released.

Moon walker says it's important for you to get away from it all

CHICAGO (AP) — Edgar D. Mitchell, a computer salesman who once walked on the moon, says it's important for everyone to "get away from it all once and a while."

E.D. MITCHELL thought of the limitless capability of man. I saw how small, how insignificant the world is in the universe."

If you can't arrange a trip to outer space, Mitchell suggests a trip to the country, to a city or "wherever you can go to get a different perspective on life, on why we exist."

Mitchell, an Apollo 14 astronaut, became the sixth person to walk on the moon on Feb. 5, 1971. The trip, he said, changed his view of life.

Lopez is candidate for governor in '78

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Ricardo Lopez, 31, who said he feels like Don Quixote, announced Tuesday that he will be an independent candidate for governor in 1978.

Lopez told a news conference he resigned Monday from the Department of Public Affairs "after three years of seeing initiative being turned down by the governor's office."

Lopez said he had registered with the secretary of state as his own campaign manager. He said he was confident he would be able to get the thousands of signatures needed to get on the ballot.

"I am an Mexican-American but I will not be running as a member of the Raza Unida Party or of the Democrats or of the Republicans," he said. "In the last few years I have voted with Raza Unida, and with the Republicans and with the Democrats, and have found that none of them have the answer."

Lopez said he was born in Eagle Pass and attended Eagle Pass public schools. He attended Sul Ross, Texas A&I and the University of Texas where he graduated in 1971 with a degree in sociology. He said he was once on the school board at Eagle Pass.

Three new names were included in this week's "Above the Call" award winners, one repeater cropped up again and one school was without an honoree this go-around.

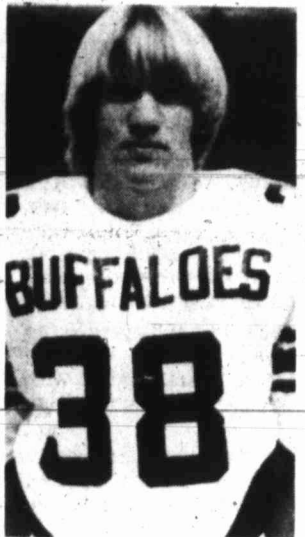

DOUG ARCHER, junior offensive quick guard for the Big Spring Steers, inspired his teammates and coaches with grit-tough one-on-one pass blocking. From his position, he graded out highest on the Bovine offense.

RANDY CREGAR, one of the Forsan Buffaloes' most reliable performers, was honored for the second time this season. In last week's stunking of Sterling City, Cregar scored on an 11-yard touchdown romp, threw a 28-yard pass himself, and saved an enemy score with a diving tackle.

RANDY PHILLIPS, 190-pound, junior offensive tight end and defensive tackle for the Coahoma Bulldogs had his "third real good game in last week, according to Coach Roy Winters. Phillips scored three times for the 'Dogs, twice on pass receptions, and once on a recovered fumble in the endzone.

RUSSELL MIMS, 150-pound senior safety for the Stanton Buffaloes, spearheaded a Buff defensive brick wall that held powerful Plains to less than 140 yards rushing. He also intercepted a pass and returned it 40 yards, and was honored for his inspirational leadership on the field, according to Coach

David Thompson. There will be no individual weekly winner from Sands High School this week, at the request of Coach Travis Mulanax. "Every one of our kids played so well, they all put forth such an effort that no single one can be chosen," said Mulanax, in reference to the fine defensive effort against Dawson last Friday, which the Mustangs lost 7-0. A certificate will be presented by the Herald Sports Department naming the entire Mustang squad for its courage and desire.

Schramm talks referees

DALLAS (AP) — Tex Schramm, the president and general manager of the Dallas Cowboys, has been known to erupt like a dormant volcano periodically about National Football League officiating. His fist pounding against the desk followed by a cry of outrage as a yellow flag floated to the tartan turf against his Cowboys has seldom disturbed writers in the Texas Stadium press box who concentrate on A, the game, or B, the latest cheerleader recruit. Some things don't change and the emotional Tex is Tex. Schramm has been relatively silent this (7-0) year but certainly not without an opinion in the current furor over the proficiency of the part-time NFL employees in striped shirts. Asked if he believed the NFL office is lax in finding a solution to the problem, Schramm said Monday, "I don't think sufficient work is being done. I think the referees should be held more accountable." The influential Schramm said, "I think 80 per cent of the referees who are good are taking the rap for 20 per cent. Certain people are just more capable of working under stress and making quick decisions with accuracy." Schramm said, "I don't rule out the possibility of having one full-time official per game who works the year around for the league. If we had say 10 guys, they could hold seminars for the other (part-time) officials. Schramm said he was talking about "quality" full-time people. He added, "I just don't think we could turf 80 (full-time referees) because it would be very difficult and besides we would have a lot of guys sitting around. I don't think that would be 'that great a career.'" Currently, the NFL scouts the college ranks but Schramm concluded that "there should be a larger turnover based on performance and that there should be more scouting of potential officials." Schramm said, "We have a lot of intelligent, top quality people right now who are referees. For example, Tommy Bell was one of the best. But he had to retire to devote more time to his law practice." Football is the only major professional sport that does not have full-time officials. Most are in private business such as insurance. Houston Coach Bum Phillips said, "If he (an official) can cost me my job, I'd like to be able to cost him his." Dallas Coach Tom Landry, asked if he believed the NFL could use full-time officials, said, "It would help if they were at it all the time." Schramm said right now "we need to have a much stronger enlightened approach to the hiring, firing and grading of officials." He added, "You don't blame the guy (the referee) you blame the guy who employs him."

Will Shepard cause grudge?

HOUSTON (AP) — The "Darrell" Shepard Situation, apparently is the least talked about subject on the universities of Texas and Houston football teams but is a lively topic with everyone else. Shepard, one of the most intensely recruited athletes in the state early this year, appeared headed for Texas but suddenly changed his mind and signed with the Cougars. Houston eventually was placed on one-year's probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for recruiting violations related to Shepard amid unproven rumors that it was the Longhorns who turned in the Cougars. Sounds like good fodder for stirring up a grudge match when the Longhorns bring their No. 1 national ranking here Saturday against the Cougars, right? Wrong say both Houston's Bill Yeoman and Texas' Fred Akers. "The only time I ever talk about it is when someone in the news media asks about it," Yeoman said Tuesday. "The kids could care less. All they ever watch is when Darrell throws well or runs hard, then they notice the Darrell Shepard situation."

Then if he puts one on the ground, they notice that too." Akers denied again Tuesday that he reported the Cougars but says he would have if he'd had the information. "I don't think any coach would withhold it if he had information like that," Akers said. But Akers says he hasn't given it another thought. "I haven't given it (losing Darrell Shepard situation) (See "Not..." p. 2B)

Knee injury may have been miracle

BUFFALO (AP) — A depressed O.J. Simpson said four weeks ago that "it will take a miracle" for him to achieve his greatest goal — to play in a Super Bowl. His Buffalo Bills teammates think that miracle may have come in the form of an injured knee. After the Bills' humiliating 56-16 loss to the Seattle Seahawks Sunday, Simpson's left knee, ailing for three weeks, was examined by two Los Angeles specialists. Tuesday the Bills announced that Simpson will undergo surgery for cartilage damage early next week and will miss the remainder of the season. Some of his teammates feel he has played his last game as a Bill, but may turn up in the uniform of a National Football League contender next season. "Luckily the injury wasn't a serious thing. It won't end his career," said Joe DeLamielleure, an All-Pro lineman and a team leader. DeLamielleure noted that it's no secret Simpson would welcome a trade to a contender and that Simpson might be more excited about coming back next season if he were traded. "I see no reason why they should keep him. It's going to Bluebonnet scouts about be a rebuilding process here that's going to take a few years. He deserves a chance to play in a Super Bowl. We'd all like to see it," he said. Reggie McKenzie, offensive lineman and a close friend of Simpson, indicated on his morning radio show that Simpson would not return as a Bill. Wide receiver Bobby Chandler said, "There is a feeling that he might not be back, but nothing was said as such. But the definite feeling is there." Last season Simpson asked for a trade to the West Coast, preferably to the Los Angeles Rams, but the Bills' asking price was reportedly too high. Simpson signed a three-year contract, then began simmering as the Bills finished 2-12 last year and lost six of their first seven games this season. He concluded, "I just want to get my years over and get out of here."

Carlton cops Cy Young

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Carlton, the left-hander who parlayed power and finesse into 23 victories for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1977, was named winner of the Cy Young Award today as the National League's outstanding pitcher. It was the second time Carlton has won the honor, awarded annually to the outstanding pitcher in each league after a vote of a committee of members of the Baseball Writers Association of America, two from each league city. He also won it in 1972. Carlton, the major leagues' winningest pitcher who compiled a 23-10 record in leading the Phillies to the East Division title, was an easy winner in the Cy Young balloting, receiving 17 of 24 first-place votes and 104 points.

Tommy John of the West Division champion Los Angeles Dodgers was second with 54 points, including three first-place votes. Tom Seaver of Cincinnati and Rick Reuschel of Chicago tied for third with 18 points each. Seaver getting two first-place votes and Reuschel one. Others receiving votes were Pittsburgh's John Candelaria, 17 points and one first-place mention, and Chicago's Bruce Sutter, a relief pitcher, five points. Five points are awarded for a first-place vote, three for a second and one for a third.

Frogs Ailing for Tech game

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Texas Christian will only have two, maybe three, healthy offensive guards for Saturday's game against Texas Tech, says Horned Frog Coach F.A. Dry. Dry has seen three of his top four guards go down with injuries in the past few weeks. Starter Bill Kinder has missed the last two games, with water on the knee, while the other regular, freshman Frank Hartman, suffered a shoulder injury in last week's loss to Houston. Kinder's replacement, senior Jim Blackwelder, is out with a neck injury. Dry said Blackwelder is definitely out for the Southwest Conference contest against Texas Tech, while Hartman is questionable. Kinder should be back, however, Dry added.

Carlton is currently on a three-week hunting expedition in British Columbia, Canada, a spokesman for the Phillies said. Phils Manager Danny Ozark, from his home in Vero Beach, Fla., said he felt Carlton would get the award "from September on. He was pitching that well. He won some big games for me." After winning 27 games in 1972, Carlton tailed off to three mediocre seasons — 13-20, 16-13, 15-14 — in Ozark's first three years as manager of the Phils. But last year he bounced back to 20-7, and he topped that this summer. Ozark attributes the comeback to the Phils' reacquisition late in 1975 of veteran Tim McCarver, who has become Carlton's designated catcher.

Free agent market opens Friday

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm anxious to see what my market value will be," said New York Yankees pitcher Mike Torrez, looking ahead to Friday's re-entry draft of baseball's free agents. "I can't sell myself short."

The 32-year-old right-hander, who won 17 games for the Yankees during the regular season and two in the World Series, reportedly is seeking a five-year contract for between $1.75 million and $2 million.

He could have pulled out of the draft as late as Monday night by signing with the Yankees, with whom he and his agent, Gary Walker, have been holding steady negotiations. The Yankees reportedly have offered between $1.25 million and $1.5 million, and say they will continue to try and sign Torrez.

"We never stopped negotiating and we still won't," says club President Gabe Paul. "You've got to run the ball out."

That's not the situation in Chicago, where White Sox owner Bill Veeck says he is not going to try and sign outfielders Oscar Gamble and Richie Zisk, both of whom will go through the draft Friday.

"It would cost $1 million a year to sign them for anywhere from three to five years," said Veeck. "That's what their two paychecks would have added up to in 1978."

And Calvin Griffith, owner of the Minnesota Twins, says he will make no effort to sign nine of the 11 players from his organization who will become free agents, the exceptions being outfield stars Larry Hise and Lyman Bostock.

The 65-year-old Griffith is a strong opponent of the free agent system. "It's going to be the ruination of baseball," he predicted. "One of these days the owners are going to get hit with a sledgehammer and see what damn fools they are."

There are several wrinkles in this year's draft with new categories added to the option playoffs who formed the talent pool a year ago, when Reggie Jackson of the Yankees was the most expensive selection at $2.9 million. Among the new categories is a list of players with major league contracts for 1976 who were outrighted to minor league teams.

Clubs losing players in the six-year veteran category will be compensated with free agent selections from next June.

The Toronto Blue Jays will open Friday's draft, followed by Atlanta, Oakland, the

New York Mets, Seattle, San Diego, Milwaukee, Montreal, Cleveland, San Francisco, Detroit, the Chicago Cubs and California.

Then Houston, Minnesota, St. Louis, the White Sox, Cincinnati, Texas, Pittsburgh, Boston, Los Angeles, Baltimore, Philadelphia, the Yankees and Kansas City.

But the order really means little, since a player may be drafted by as many as 13 teams, then is free to negotiate with any of them, as well as the club which he played for in 1977.

Fromholtz upsets Chris

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — Dianne Fromholtz has gotten off to the best possible start in a $250,000 round robin tennis tournament — upsetting top-seeded Chris Evert 7-6, 6-4.

Fromholtz, seeded No. 8 going into Tuesday night's first phase, got the first and only service break of the match in the second set when she broke Evert's serve to take a 4-2 lead.

She won the tiebreaker in the first set 5-4 after trailing Evert 3-1 at one point. Fromholtz evened the match and won the final point when Evert hit the ball into the net following a disputed baseline call.

"I mainly attacked and played my own game and incorporated a few more angles," said Fromholtz after the surprising win. "It's hard for a backhand player to come up with short ground strokes. Evert had been out of action for three weeks because of an injured leg, but said after the match that the injury didn't bother her. "Physically I feel O.K.," she said. "I felt O.K. in practice."

Evert still has a chance to win the round-robin competition. To reach the finals, Evert must win her next two matches and Fromholtz must win her next two. Evert plays Martina Navratilova tonight and Virginia Wade Thursday.

Fromholtz plays Navratilova Thursday and Wade Friday.

In other matches, Wade defeated Navratilova 7-6, 7-5 and Wendy Turnbull beat Betty Stove 7-6, 6-2.

In matches scheduled tonight, Kerry Reid was to go against Stove, Navratilova was scheduled to go against Evert and Turnbull was set to play Billie Jean King.

The singles portion of the $250,000 tournament ends Saturday, with the winner receiving $75,000.

Aggie Walker given respect

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — It's not a new story to David Walker, this "no respect" bit.

He was once a 16-year-old starting quarterback at Texas A&M. And his confidence took a licking.

Then he got hurt and decided to hook it out of Aggie land because he was being used as a third stringer shortly before the 1975 season.

He returned in 1976 from his Sulphur, La., home and led the Aggies to a 10-2 season that included a Sun Bowl victory over Florida.

This year he has directed Texas A&M to a 6-1 ledger. But last Saturday's game was typical. "No respect. Southern Methodist said, in effect, 'Walker we're going to guard everybody in the backfield but you. Run if you can.'"

Walker ran and ran and ran. He gained 182 yards and scored one touchdown. He also passed for two more scores in the 38-21 victory.

The performance earned Walker the Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week award.

"It was his best football game since he's been here," said Aggie Coach Emory Bellard. "He really played a physical game."

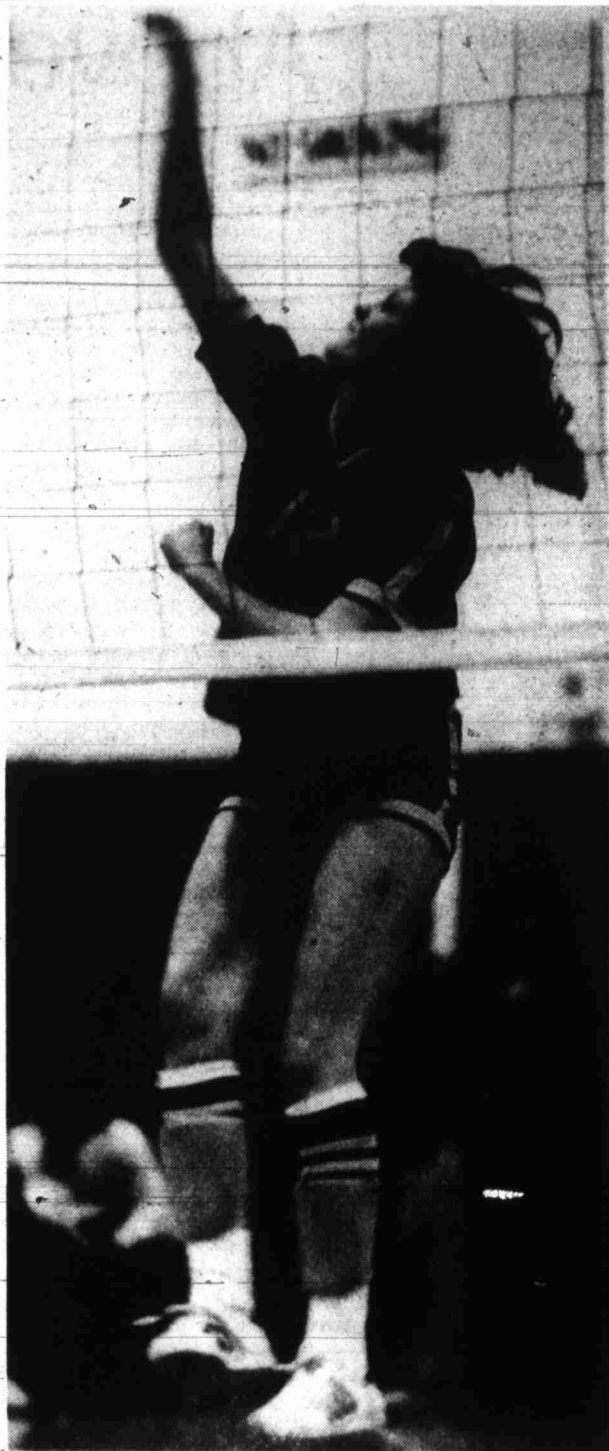

Walker won the respect of SMU Coach Ron Meyer, who said, "The guy is one heckuva good athlete. But A&M can hurt you in a lot of ways. And Walker does a good job of using every weapon they have and he's a better runner than a lot of people think."

Walker said, "SMU was taking the pitch man and the fullback every time and that left it up to me to make something happen."

Walker has 902 yards total offense this year for the 10th-ranked Aggies, with 342 of the steps coming overland.

In his first start against Texas Christian as a freshman, Walker ran for 81 yards—that was back in 1973. It was his best single game rushing until last Saturday.

"If David Walker wasn't hurting after the SMU game, he's abnormal," said Bellard.

SOCK IT TO ME! — Is just what volleyball stalwart Suzanne Johnson is doing to the whiteball Tuesday night against Abilene Cooper. The Big Spring fems remained undefeated in District 5-4A second half play with an easy 15-4, 15-9 win over the visitors.

Volleyball teams crush Cooperettes

Despite a sluggish showing, the Big Spring varsity volleyball squad kept its second half slate spotless by virtue of a 15-4, 15-9 win over visiting Cooper Tuesday night. The victory upped the season record to 26-3 and the loop ledger to 5-0.

Leading scorers for the varsity were Kathy Birdwell (15), Casie Green (7), Becky Ragan (4), Sherri Kelley (3) and Rose Magers (1). Birdwell came back from two-day illness and played her best game of the season, according to Coach Nancy Deason.

"We played only well enough to keep the game under control," said Deason.

Forsan fems open season

FORSAN — Two of the three Forsan girls basketball teams that opened play Tuesday night won their contests with New Home.

Julie Poyner's 21 markers and Valerie Stevens' 20 led the FHS varsity fems to a 67-45 over visiting New Home. Jaylene Saunders, also pumped in 12 points for the hostesses.

In junior varsity action, the Forsanites were nipped in overtime 46-44. Isabel Miranda's 21 points led the Forsan girls, while LaVonne Brumley contributed 14 in the near win.

The Forsan Jr. High distaff side decided their opposition 14-11. Joanie Poyner (6), Karla Cregar (4) and Rhonda Gaskins (4) led the scoring for FJH. Next game for the high school girls will be next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Borden County.

MSA elects vips

Big Spring's Miss Softball America Organization met recently to elect new officers for the coming year.

Those elected were Kenneth Boothe, president; Frank Salazar, vice president; Alice Henry, secretary; and Marvin Woolridge, treasurer.

Other officers included Bobby Brasel, player representative; Mr. Calhoun, minor coordinator; Mrs. Hillbrunner, minor coordinator; and Jane Upton, area commissioner.

No new prep rankers

Defending state 3A champion Beaumont Hebert's 23-game winning streak came to an end and Decatur, ranked No. 4 in 2A, lost to No. 6 Jacksboro, but the rest of the teams in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football poll followed the form charts last week.

Port Neches-Groves in 4A, Gregory-Portland in 3A, Bellville in 2A, Seagraves in A and Wheeler in B all easily retained their places atop their divisions.

Crosby provided the biggest shocker of the week's games, upending Hebert 6-0 after losing 72-16 last year in the first meeting ever between the two teams.

Decatur took its unbeaten record and slight favorites' role against No. 6-ranked Jacksboro but lost out 16-13. Neither however, dropped out of the rankings and no newcomers made it in.

Not very likely, Jack!

(Cont. from page 1B.) Shepard much thought to tell the truth," he said. "When he signed with someone else, I quit thinking about it right then."

Yeoman doesn't think the Longhorns have forgotten last year's 30-0 Houston victory in Austin that snapped Texas' 42-game home winning streak.

"I somehow feel that on their summer jobs this year, that many of their players, when they threw that shovel of dirt or drove that nail or whatever they had thoughts of this game in mind," Yeoman said. "I think this is what is great about this rivalry."

For a series of only three games, the rivalry really got intense quickly. The series record stands even at 1-1-1. Texas whipped the Cougars 28-7 in 1953 and in 1968 the two teams battled to a 20-20 highly publicized tie in Austin prior to last year's shocker.

Yeoman says the 72,000 fans expected for Saturday afternoon's game is what it's all about.

"The fact that so many people are interested is comforting," Yeoman said. "It may not be too comforting to us down on the field but at least it will be good to know our efforts are paid for."

Pony crowds lagging behind

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Southern Methodist, beset with poor home attendance, has agreed to shift its 1978 football opener with Florida from Dallas to the Tangerine Bowl here, says an SMU official.

Athletic Director Dick Davis told an Orlando newspaper Tuesday that the school's Faculty Committee has given him the go-ahead to negotiate the move from the Cotton Bowl.

"We believe we have a ball game in Orlando as far as we are concerned but, of course, Florida and the Tangerine Bowl people must also agree," Davis said.

Florida Athletic Director Ray Graves, who met with Davis and Orlando officials last week, said he would present the plan to UF's athletic board.

Although there were still a few things to be worked out, the major problems were solved when he met with Graves and city officials, Davis said.

The major reason for the switch was the fact that the Mustangs draw poorly in the Cotton Bowl. Last year,

Longhorns lost 'nother

AUSTIN (AP) — The No. 1-ranked Texas Longhorns, already cut to the bone in the quarterback department, has lost another signal caller, says Texas Coach Fred Akers.

Akers said Tuesday that freshman Sanford Coggins went out with an ankle injury suffered in a junior varsity game with UT-Arlington.

Coggins joins freshman Les Koenig on crutches, making four Texas signal callers now using crutches to walk.

Mark McBath has a broken leg and Jon Aune a knee injury. Both were hurt in the Oklahoma game.

That leaves starter Randy McEachern, who was third string when McBath and Aune went down, freshman Sam Ansley, and redshirt junior Ted Constanzo, also recovering from knee surgery, as the only quarterbacks on the Texas roster.

SMU's game with Arkansas was shifted to Shreveport, La., where it drew 32,000.

Florida's opening crowds within the state have averaged more than 50,000 over the past five seasons, while SMU draws about 20,000 in Texas.

The Mustangs could earn more than $200,000 gross by moving their game to Orlando, officials here said, while revenues in Dallas would be $80,000-$100,000.

City officials are anxious to sign up Florida and other state schools to play at the 50,000-seat Tangerine Bowl, which sits idle most of the year except for the annual Tangerine Bowl game late in December.

If terms are agreed to by all parties, the game Florida-SMU game would be played Sept. 16.

NEW YORK (AP) — Back in 1949 and 1950 when Charlie McClendon played for the University of Kentucky the coach was a fellow named Paul William Bryant, also known as "Bear."

"He was," McClendon remembers, "the meanest son of a gun I ever saw," adding: "It was a gift from heaven for a boy from Lewisville, Ark., to have an opportunity to go to Kentucky. It was certainly the greatest experience for me."

"Coach Bryant was a disciplinarian. He knew how to win and he taught me how to win."

Come Saturday, McClendon and Bryant will be on opposite sides of the field in Baton Rouge, La. — Bryant and second-ranked Alabama on one side, McClendon and No. 18 Louisiana State on the other.

For the selection in this game, lend an ear to Bear Bryant, who twitted this corner for fruitlessly picking Mississippi State to beat his Crimson Tide last week.

"I think Alabama's gonna win," he says. Okay, Bear, so do we... Alabama 24-14.

Last week's score was 52 right, 19 wrong and two ties, a 732 percent including Indiana over Minnesota in one of the Upset Specials. For the season we're 350-141-12 — 713.

Texas at Houston: The Longhorns are No. 1, having outscored seven opponents 264-44, but running back Earl Campbell warns that they "aren't playing as well as we're capable. Something little always seems to slow us down. Maybe we're saving it for somebody down the line." Like Houston, maybe... Texas 21-10.

Oklahoma at Oklahoma State: Guess which team wants revenge for last year... Oklahoma 38-21.

Georgia Tech at Notre Dame: Guess which team wants revenge for last year... Notre Dame 35-7.

Ohio State at Illinois: No revenge motive here. Illinois hasn't beaten the Buckeyes since 1967 and the point difference in the intervening nine years has been 331-90 in favor of... Ohio State 49-7.

Northwestern at Michigan: Would you believe this as the Upset Special?

Not unless you want to be put away... Michigan 41-0.

Kentucky at Vanderbilt: The Wildcats, on probation, aren't going anywhere after the season, except possibly higher in the rankings... Kentucky 28-7.

Baylor at Arkansas: Most of the Southwest Conference headlines have gone to Texas, Arkansas, Texas A&M, Texas Tech and Houston and they've overlooked a pretty good club on the banks of the Brazos in Waco. Upset Special of the Week... Baylor 23-16.

Penn State at North Carolina State: Back to revenge. The Wolfpack beat the Nittany Lions — how's that for an animal act? — in 1974 and 1975 but Penn State got hunk last year 41-20. And this year... Penn State 34-14.

Nebraska at Missouri: Of Mizzour got back in the upset business last week, shocking Colorado. But the Cornhuskers also seem to be on the right track... Nebraska 21-17.

Pitt at West Virginia: When these backyard rivals get together y rasscount things like West Virginia losing its last three games... Pitt 28-17.

Clemson at North Carolina: Clemson has been one of the nation's surprise teams but the bubble is due to burst. If not this week, then next against Notre Dame... North Carolina 17-7.

Stanford at Southern California: The Trojans uncharacteristically have lost three of their last four games, beating up only on hapless Oregon. It's time for the real USC to stand up... Southern Cal 31-21.

Washington at California: Will Washington be looking ahead to Southern Cal or will California be looking back to Southern Cal? The former... California 34-24.

Wyoming at Arizona State: Wyoming dethroned ASU last year and the Sun Devils don't take kindly to things like that... Arizona State 29-12.

Colorado at Iowa State: The Golden Buffs, ranked third in the nation just three weeks ago, appear somewhat tarnished after a tie with Kansas and losses to Nebraska and Missouri... Iowa State 24-21.

Memphis State at Tennessee: Do you know how close Memphis is to being unbeaten? A four-point loss to Ole Miss and one-pointers to Louisville and North Texas State, that's how close... Tennessee 20-13.

South — Florida State 27, Virginia Tech 13; Mississippi Valley 23, Alcorn State 21; East Carolina 33, Appalachian State 17; Auburn 21, Mississippi State 14; William & Mary 27, The Citadel 13; Florida 28, Georgia 14.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Your self-confidence and personal security are strengthened by friendly aspects. Accent is on money problems, as you are able to concentrate on them now and solve them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take care of important commitments before you participate in recreations you crave. Show devotion to a loved one. Watch reputation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are able to improve health and appearance considerably today and become more popular and successful. Postpone pleasure trips until you have more leisure time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You need the help of allies to get what you want, so be sure to cooperate with them and get it. Be particularly careful in travel.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Stick to practical and orthodox methods so you do not get into some unfortunate kind of trouble. Forget foolish spending.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Resist high pressure salesmanship. Be careful in expenditure of money and energies.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't expect much help from your mate who is too concerned with the worries of others. Be more cheerful and get more accomplished.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't force your views on a good friend, but let him or her use own good judgment. Avoid a social affair where trouble could ensue.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Business, money and travel matters tend to be turbulent. What can be delayed should be postponed until another time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't go off on any foolish tangent at the expense of whatever is important to you. Consult an ally who can assist you in solving a money problem.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Pay pressing bills. Use tact and diplomacy in making collections. Loved one may be in a bad mood, so smile and don't antagonize.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) An associate is pushy today, so be tactful and wait for a better time to state own views. One who has opposed you for a long time could give you trouble again, if you permit.

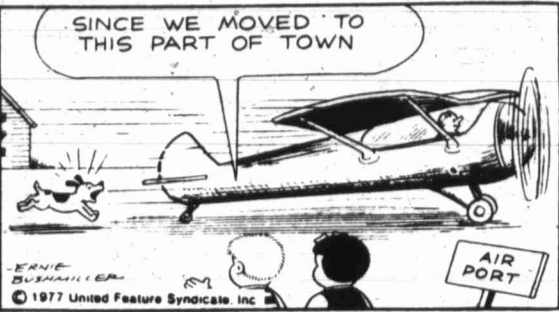

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get down to all that work ahead of you even though your heart isn't in it. Keep promises you have made to co-workers. Avoid strangers.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will want to assume more responsibility than is good for him or her. Teach to take rightful place in the scheme of things, and permit others to do likewise, and then this becomes a successful chart.

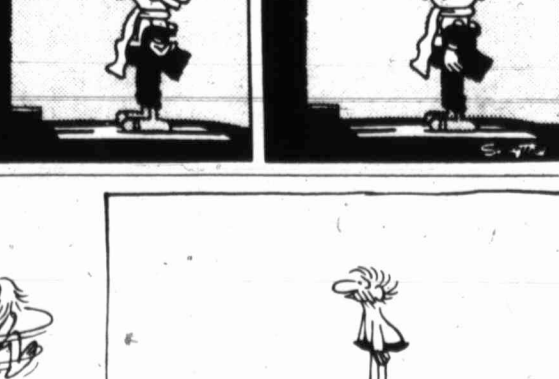

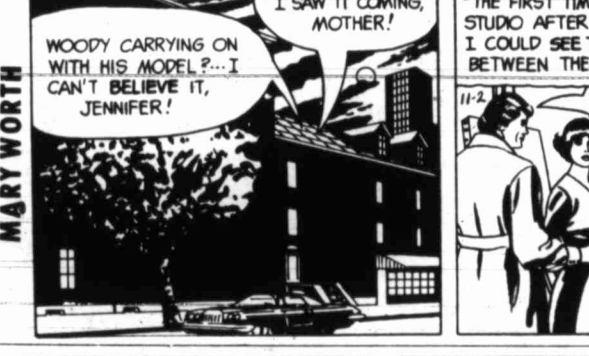

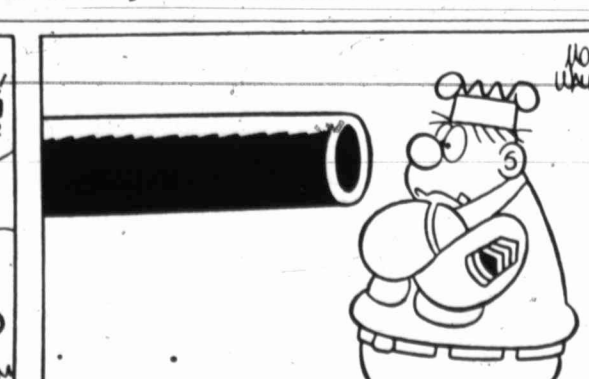

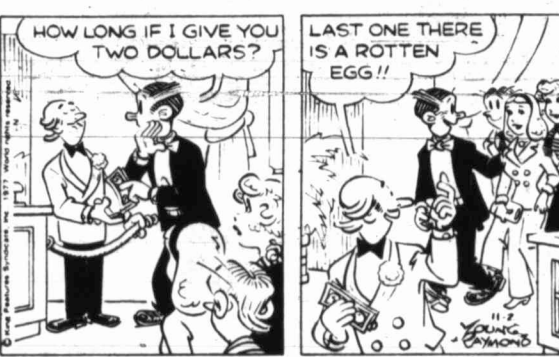

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Cathy Valdes reigns as Miss Howard College

By EILEEN MCGUIRE

The Tenth Annual Miss Howard College Pageant attracted a large crowd last night and then kept viewers happy with two hours of campus wear, swimsuit, and formal dresses modeled by 24 attractive finalists.

Introduced by Gary Stretcher, master of ceremonies, fashion moderator Johnnie Lou Avery described each contestant and her attire as each girl walked across the stage and ramp.

Each contestant was sponsored by both a campus organization and a local business and judged after each competition on a scale from one to ten for swimsuits, poise, how well they turned and how they related to the judges.

Judging the contestants were local attorney Roger Brown, superintendent of schools Lynn Hise, Coahoma architect Daryl Hohertz and wife Bonnie, Nabar Martinez from the Permian Basin Planned Parenthood Association and his wife Alma, Washington Elementary School teacher, an ex-campus beauty, Paula Talbot, co-author of "Gala Gourmet" cookbook Ann Turner, and interior decorator Brenda Wood.

In between competitions, the audience was kept entertained by the HC Chorales, directed by Ken Sprinkle. In addition to "You Are So Beautiful" and "Reach Down That Hand" performances by the group, soloists Patty Swindel and Ken Carney made a big hit with their respective selections "Bring On The Clowns" and "A Weekend In New England."

While the judges tallied up their final vote for the tenth Miss Howard College and her court, Mrs. Avery noted some interesting facts about the girls. Of the 24 contestants, 20 are full-time students, 17 carry their class load plus work 15 per more hours per week, 14 are attending school on scholarships or awards and 19 are freshmen.

The girls ranged from 17 to 20 in age, 5'2" to 5'9" in height, and 103 to 135 pounds in weight. Brunettes totaled 19 in addition to five blondes, no redheads.

The average grade point for the 24 beauties is 3.4, the lowest being 2.8 and the highest a perfect 4.0.

Mrs. Avery credited Ken Sprinkle and journalism instructor John Marder for being mainly responsible for the pageant's success. The entire show was put on from within the campus and was presented by the Campus Press Club and sponsored by HAPPY WINNER — Cathy Valdes, 18, is the new Miss Howard College and a pretty ending to last night's pageant. She was selected from a group of 24 girls for the title.

Rasberrys to celebrate 50 years of marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Don Rasberry will celebrate their golden anniversary on Saturday with a reception at the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

The reception is slated for 2 to 4:30 p.m., and all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Hosting the event are the couple's children, grandchildren and their families. The Rasberrys have two sons and two daughters. They are Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Dorothy) Wood and Mr. and Mrs. James (Wilda) Rice, both of Denison, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Rasberry of Waco, and Big Spring resident and Cosden employee Cecil Rasberry.

Born in Comanche County, Don moved to the Ackerly Community with his parents in November, 1926. Mrs. Rasberry, the former Mary Graham, was born in Johnson County near Burleson, and moved to the Ackerly community from Winters, Tx.

The couple first met at a candy-pulling party in the Ackerly community. After ten months of dating, they decided to marry.

Mrs. Rasberry recalls that a funny thing happened on the way to the wedding. Her father, the late J.W. Graham, sister Leona, and boyfriend were to accompany the couple to Lamesa to witness the ceremony. Once in Lamesa, her father and Leona decided to do a little shopping while the couple went to get a coke. When her father and Leona had left, the couple decided that since Don was so timid, they would just give the absent pair the slip and go on without them.

The couple was married by Justice of the Peace Owen C. Taylor with Mrs. Taylor and his secretary as the only witnesses. Later, when Mrs. Rasberry's father returned to the car, he asked the newlyweds if they were now ready to "go get this thing over with" only to be shocked by the news that he'd missed the whole thing.

The first year of their marriage, the couple lived in a small house near Don's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Rasberry, and Don farmed with his father.

The next year, Don and his bride moved to Iraan, where Don worked in the oil fields, but after ten months of homesickness, the couple returned to the Ackerly community where they farmed for the next few

Moving to the Knott community in April of 1938, Don farmed there for the next 14 years during which time the couple witnessed two complete crop failures and resulting debts. They concluded that "farming in all those dry sandstorms and dry years was sure enough for the birds," gave up farming and moved to town.

Taking a job at Reeds Service Stations, working 12 hours per night, Don says he never did get used to sleeping in the daytime.

Next, he tried his hand as an employe for the State Highway Department in 1954 and there he remained for the next 16 1/2 years as a maintenance driver for the state vehicles.

At age 62, in June of 1970, Don retired due to bad health and now does odd jobs around the house and often helps out his neighbors with some painting or servicing their air conditioners.

Regular members and workers of the 11th and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, Don and Mary enjoy working in their yard, gardening, sitting up with the sick and visiting in any of the area hospitals. They also belong to the Kentwood Center where they get a dose of western music every second and fourth Thursday of the month plus an area-wide luncheon — every — second Wednesday.

Serving at the register at the couple's reception will be the Rasberry's granddaughter, Mrs. Barry (Larna) Webster, assisted by their grandson's wife, Mrs. Lonnie Wood, both from Sherman.

In charge of cake and punch will be Mrs. Howard

They Came to Dinner Bringing Their Own

DEAR ABBY: I had a dinner party recently, and invited five couples. I worked hard because I wanted everything to be just right.

Two of my guests brought their own "dinner" in a jar. It was some kind of diet concoction.

I was angry and thought they had a lot of nerve accepting my dinner invitation when they knew they weren't going to eat anything. I told them how hard I had worked preparing the dinner, and urged them to "fall off the wagon" for just that meal, but they wouldn't do it.

I finally decided to be a good sport, but deep down I was hurt. What do you think of such guests, and how would you have handled it?

STILL BURNING

DEAR BURNING: Guests who are on special diets should say so when they're invited out. Were I the hostess, and dieters appeared with their own "dinner," I'd have said nothing and permitted them to "drink their dinners" as inconspicuously as possible. (Never would I attempt to get them to "fall off the wagon" or make them feel guilty for sticking with their diets.)

DEAR ABBY: I read with pleasure the letters in your column from women who thought sex was overrated and said they were tired of "faking it" in the bedroom.

It's about time somebody told the truth about sex. I am a normal man, and I don't go crazy over sex either, but I have to be careful where I make that statement.

Women are lucky they can "fake it" in the bedroom. We men have no choice. We have to "perform" in order to prove our "masculinity," and I, for one, am sick of it! Many times I have wished that I could say, "Not tonight, dear, I have a headache."

Women have no idea how much pressure we men are under.

PRESSURED

DEAR PRESSURED: If you allow yourself to be "pressured" in order to preserve the "mucho macho" illusion, that's your problem. For my part, a man is just as entitled to have a "headache" as a woman.

DEAR ABBY: Last night I went to sleep with the pillow over my ears to drown out the noise of my parents quarreling. I am the oldest of four, and I feel sort of responsible for the younger ones. My folks have been fighting ever since I can remember.

They fight about little things, like who put gas in the car last, and also over big things like money or my father's not spending enough time with my little brothers.

Abby, this is giving me a nervous stomach because they fight a lot at the supper table. What can a 13-year-old girl do?

FIGHTERS' DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Parents who quarrel a lot are not likely to accept criticism, advice or suggestions from their young children. Indeed, they would probably resent it, so there's nothing you can do. Just pray (and so will I) that they see this letter, recognize themselves and do something about it.

FORMER CIA AGENT MAY BE READY TO TALK ABOUT WATERGATE CAPER

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — James McCord says he may be ready in a few months to talk about his role in the Watergate burglary.

McCord told reporters covering his appearance before the Larimer County commissioners Monday that he would talk about Watergate when several pending civil suits are settled.

McCord has refused to talk with reporters since moving to this northern Colorado city a year ago after a four-month jail term.

He appeared before the commissioners as a representative of a local group seeking county funds for a program to aid the handicapped.

Energy scoreboard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of President Carter's program to conserve energy and reduce U.S. reliance on foreign oil rests with House-Senate conferees following completion of floor action.

All elements of the energy legislation, first proposed by the president in a nationwide television address last April, are before the negotiating panel. The committee now has the task of working out a compromise on the complex energy conservation and tax legislation.

But enroute to the committee, how has the president's energy program fared since he unveiled it last April?

Here is a rundown on how
