

Dam gave no warning before collapse

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP) — Some college students inspected the Kelly Barnes dam two hours before it broke early Sunday and reported it appeared "as solid as a rock," an aide to Gov. George Busbee said today. Flooding from the collapsed dam took at least 38 lives.

Tom Perdue told a news conference that David Fledderjohann and several other students inspected the dam because of the torrential rains and they reported there seemed to be no danger.

The earthen dam burst about 1:30 a.m. Sunday, sending an avalanche of muddy water, boulders and trees to the low-lying campus area of Toccoa Falls Bible College. The greatest destruction occurred at two trailer parks on the banks of Toccoa Creek, a shallow stream that flowed from an 80-acre lake the dam held back.

According to Perdue, Fledderjohann, a volunteer fireman and student at the college, was responsible for checking the dam. He died when the dam burst while trying to warn residents in the trailer park of the possibility of danger.

Perdue did not specify to whom Fledderjohann reported after the inspection. He said the men continued to watch the creek below Toccoa Falls after they returned to the campus area. He said earlier that there was no emphasis in looking for fault. Responsibility for maintaining the dam has not been clearly determined.

"Last year," Perdue said, "the college received $39,500 from the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration for repairs along the creek bank, some roads and some buildings because of flash flooding which occurred Memorial Day last year."

"The FDAA did not include any money for the dam, because it had not been damaged. Part of the money was used to repair the approach road to the dam and F. R. Hanson, vice president of the college, made a visual inspection of the dam Nov. 2 to look at road repairs made as a result of that money."

"Hanson and two employees of the highway department walked the road across the dam Nov. 3. Hanson referred to me that visual inspections of the dam were made at least three times a year and more often when there are heavy rains."

Meanwhile at the disaster scene, unbroken 100-watt lightbulbs rested atop muck and debris only yards from crushed cars and overturned trailer homes hit by the wall of water that smashed into the lower section of the college campus.

"Up that way there were four brick houses. I knew everybody who lived there. Now most of them are gone," said Dr. Harold Windus, director of elementary education at the tiny school.

Everywhere was evidence of family life disrupted.

Part of a child's tricycle and a pink and yellow baby book, its pages blank, were stuck in the mud. Mattresses, torn and muddled, reminded that most of the 38 victims were asleep when disaster struck.

The few houses that still stand are stained by a muddy waterline. Officials want to know whose responsibility it was to inspect the 37-year-old Kelly Barnes earthen dam, which apparently broke under the stress of an 80-acre lake swollen by heavy rains.

Survivors today are digging out of the ruins of their homes and classrooms — and preparing to bury their friends and family members who perished in the flood waters Sunday.

Bill Anderson, a Bible college student from Glen Dale, Md., lost his wife, Karen, 29, and two of their five children — Joey and Becky — when their trailer was ripped apart by the roaring current. Services for them will be held here at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Services for six other victims are scheduled at the Toccoa Alliance Church at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Most of the victims will be buried in their hometowns around the country.

The search continues for the body of Paul Williams, 76, a college maintenance worker and the only person unaccounted for.

PICKING UP THE PIECES — A student from Toccoa Falls College brushes back the tears as she and her dog walk through the debris covered area which was her campus a day ago. The area was hit by a flash flood Sunday which left 37 dead. The area here is a former trailer park.

Ranger probes Glasscock death

GARDEN CITY — The next Glasscock County Grand Jury will hear results of a Texas Ranger's investigation of Sunday's shooting death of a Mexican national, according to District Attorney Rick Hamby.

"It will not be a special grand jury," said Hamby in his Big Spring office "there are some oilfield thefts which will be considered, too. But we will not call a grand jury in Garden City until we have a complete investigation of this incident."

Texas Ranger Eddie Almond is conducting an investigation into the Sunday night shooting death of Tiburcio Griego Santome, 37, Juarez, Mexico. He was killed after he allegedly attacked Glasscock County Sheriff Royce "Booger" Pruitt and deputy G. B. Thurwanger, 51, from the rear seat of a sheriff's car.

Santome, who reportedly has a prior arrest record in San Angelo, was arrested at approximately 7:30 p.m.

Sunday by Pruitt in the community of St. Lawrence, 15 miles south of here. He was taken into custody during a festival in the tiny town, where witnesses said Santome was causing a disturbance.

After a pat-down search, Santome was placed in the rear of the car. He was not handcuffed, although Pruitt did have handcuffs with him. Assistant District Attorney Don Richard said, "Apparently, he was calmed down by other people at the festival before they put him in the car."

Between St. Lawrence and Garden City Santome pulled a wooden-handled and very sharp knife according to Richard, and cut Thurwanger and Pruitt. The knife had a blade approximately four inches long, according to Richard. The front seat of the car was not shielded from prisoners in the rear.

Thurwanger, who received his wounds in attempting to subdue the prisoner, picked up a 9 mm automatic pistol from the console and fired several times, killing Santome.

According to the District Attorney's office, four spent shells were found in the car. "The front seat was blood-stained all over," said Hamby.

Almond is in Garden City today, beginning his investigation. Thurwanger received four stitches Sunday night from a Stanton doctor. The attending physician said that Thurwanger had four stitches taken to close a one-inch stab wound which "entered the fat, but did not enter the muscle" on his arm. According to the doctor the wound had bled heavily.

Santome was pronounced dead by Glasscock County Justice of the Peace John Robinson. In a statement released through the district attorney's office, Robinson confirmed that Santome had been shot, and that immediate appearance indicated he had been shot more than once. He had wounds in the right arm and chest.

Santome's body will be examined by Midland experts to determine how many times he was shot.

Robinson also confirmed that there were no marks apparent on the body other than the bullet wounds.

Pruitt has been sheriff in Glasscock County since January, 1962.

Fate of 200 U.S. prisoners discussed

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Detailed plans for the return of more than 200 Americans in Mexican prisons were being formulated here today at a closed meeting of federal officials from Washington and several southwestern states.

Michael Abbell, a Justice Department lawyer who is coordinating the return program, chaired the session.

He said about 240 of the 585 Americans currently jailed in Mexico are expected to be returned to this country next month.

Abbell said two chartered planes will bring Americans from Mexico City on Dec. 8 or Dec. 9. Then, around Dec. 14, chartered planes will return Americans from Hermosillo, Monterrey, Matamoros and Juarez.

Abbell said all the prisoners would be taken to San Diego, Calif., and processed at the federal Metropolitan Correctional Center there.

Astell said earlier that the Justice Department expects 50 to 60 of the returning Americans will be free as soon as they arrive back in the United States.

Others will be held for a short time and probably be granted parole in January. Some will be transferred to federal prisons nearest the homes.

The return will occur under a treaty and enabling legislation that President Carter recently signed allowing the United States to exchange prisoners with Mexico and Canada.

Black ex-coach gets hearing in Austin

AUSTIN — A black former basketball coach who claims discrimination led to his dismissal by the Big Spring School District will get a chance to present his case next week.

The Texas Education Agency has scheduled a hearing on the James Griffin case for 9 a.m., Nov. 16.

Griffin is appealing his job loss earlier this year. He claims racial discrimination was "the biggest reason" for the failure of the district to renew his contract.

The school district is opposing the appeal but was unsuccessful last September in an attempt to get the appeal thrown out by the TEA.

Griffin is working in Odessa but still makes his home in Big Spring. Don Robbins, athletic director of Big Spring High School, who likely will be called to testify at the hearing in Austin, went to Stanton last week to give a deposition in the case.

Attorney Mike McKinney will represent the Big Spring School District at the hearing in Austin.

THIS IS WEST TEXAS — Beverly Mundell, who works for Skipper Travel Agency, is shown holding onto a post as the wind whips her hair in her face during a sand storm here Monday. However, the Big Spring Experiment Station, said that the ranking of the wind and sand in the storm was only a two on a scale of one to 10.

Voter turnout light today

Morning turnout for the Howard County election was light according to reports from the biggest and smallest precincts.

The largest precinct in the county, Precinct 16, reported only 41 persons showing up at the Wasson Place Fire Station by 11 a.m. of 2,516 registered voters for that precinct.

Polls will remain open until 7 p.m. today.

One of the smallest precincts, precinct 10 at Forsan had only five ballots cast out of a possible 180.

Precinct two, at the Washington Place School, had 26 ballots cast out of a possible 2,012 and precinct 19 had 16 ballots cast at Elbow School out of a possible 662.

The importance of the election has been repeated by county leaders since several months ago when an addition to the ballot called for empowering the county commissioners to appropriate up to five cents on the $100 valuation for industrial promotion and development.

The addition has been called alternately "vital" and "possibly a tax raise" by both sides of the issue, but the voters so far have been indifferent to the results either way.

Also on the ballot are seven amendments which would have a significant effect on the legal, agricultural, banking, cultural, and judicial systems of Texas.

But if voters do not show more interest than they had by 11 a.m., the results will hardly constitute the will of the people.

$20 deposit for water meter check

If a Big Springer thinks his water meter is faulty, it may cost him $20 to find out for sure.

In today's regular meeting of the city council, members voted to require a $20 deposit of any customer who requests a water meter test.

If the meter is accurate to within two per cent, the deposit will be forfeited. If the test indicates that the meter is over two per cent fast, the deposit will be refunded and the water bill adjusted accordingly.

"We have had about 120 meter tests in the last two years, and only two have been inaccurate," said Tom Ferguson, city finance director. "It usually takes two men from two to two-and-a-half hours to pull the meter and test it. That costs the city money," he added.

the meter test if they should decide to have one.

Several suggestions from the Big Spring Traffic Commission were approved by the council. Among the commission's approved requests were a one-hour-parking limit on the 600 block of East Twelfth near Big Spring High School; the construction of a dead-end sign on Indian Ridge at Osage; the construction of a caution light at Second and Owens, and red light at Third and Owens and Fourth and Owens.

Council members also granted permission to advertise for bids for police patrol cars. A total of six cars will be purchased to replace cars presently used.

The fleet of patrol cars will remain at nine, with excess older cars to be sold in public auction next year.

In other business, council members:

— Passed a resolution closing an alley in Block 11 of the Boydston Addition which is adjacent to city property, and has never been used as an alley, according to the ordinance.

— Accepted minutes for the Standards Structural Board meeting of Nov. 1, and approved the appointment of Robert Hirt to the board.

— Gave permission to advertise for bids for new carpeting in the Pro Shop of the Big Spring Municipal Golf Course. Carpet had previously been installed there in 1973, according to Jerry Foresyth, assistant city manager.

— Approved minutes of a Nov. 1 meeting of the City Parks and Recreation Board.

Gambling party may be linked to Farr murder

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for millionaire murder defendant Cullen Davis probe deeper today into a "benefit gambling party" which they contend was a "ripoff" by gunshot victim Stan Farr.

They say only Farr benefitted from the party at the Pelican Bay Yacht Club near Fort Worth and that the spring 1976 incident could be linked to a subsequent shooting spree at the Davis mansion.

Chief defense lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes said he intends to show Farr, 30, was killed by angry business associates and the slaying most likely was drug-related.

Haynes was to resume questioning of Fort Worth barmaid Becky Burns today after sequestered jurors were escorted around town to vote on state constitutional amendments and a state senate race.

Haynes contends it was someone other than Davis, 44, who killed Farr and Andrea Wilborn, 12, the defendant's stepdaughter and one of four victims of the summertime shootings.

Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla, 36, and Gus Gavrel Jr., 22, were wounded in the midnight attack at the mansion where Mrs. Davis and Farr were living at the time.

Davis had moved out after the couple separated in July 1974 and says he was at the home of his blond girlfriend when the shootings occurred.

Haynes paraded an unusual assortment of witnesses to the stand Monday, including two ex-convicts, a car salesman nicknamed "Slick," and the brown-haired Miss Burns, 27.

Miss Burns said she was the night bartender at the Rhinestone Cowboy night club Farr managed until shortly before his death, and that drug usage was not uncommon there.

She said she once entered the kitchen and saw cocaine lying on a table surrounded by Farr, western singer David Allan Coe and Horace Copeland, who was slain at a Fort Worth apartment a year after the mansion shooting.

"What were they doing?" Haynes asked. "They were sniffing it," Miss Burns replied.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Dog catcher limits

Q. If there are two employees at the city pound, why can't one work days and the other nights? A lot of people let their dogs run at night and you can't get any help then.

A. "I wish this solution were workable, but we have tried it and we just need two men on the job," said Bill Brown, assistant city manager.

Brown cited responsibilities such as answering calls to pick up strays, feeding animals, cleaning up after animals and the need for a team in many instances when strays are to be rounded up, as reasons that the round-the-clock system wouldn't work.

"It would be too much for one man. We could use four, but there is a limit on funds," said Brown.

Offbeat: He'll stay

SEATTLE (AP) — Novelist Alan Paton says he holds out only "one gram of hope" for a peaceful transformation of South Africa's policy of apartheid or separation of the races.

Nevertheless, the 74-year-old author says, he won't leave his country.

Paton says he fears the future holds a revolutionary revolution, not an evolutionary one, "because the government is unwilling to make meaningful changes."

"Sometimes you think of apartheid as a fort," he said. "Often it is seen as a prison. But it is really a grave the Afrikaaner has dug for himself."

The author of "Cry, The Beloved Country" spoke in Seattle at a weekend forum on South Africa's future.

Lubbock-Abilene flights

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Texas Aeronautics Commission executive has recommended that Chaparral Airlines, Inc. be permitted to suspend its Abilene-Lubbock flights for two years.

The commission itself will make the final decision, and interested parties have until Nov. 22 to oppose the recommendation made by Joan Whitworth, administrator of the carrier regulation division.

Chaparral requested the suspension on the ground that its Abilene-Lubbock service has been unprofitable because it hasn't had enough passengers and freight.

Mrs. Whitworth found that "revenue from the route has failed to cover even direct operating expenses for the segment."

Briscoe kicks off campaign

DALLAS (AP) — A firm commitment to improved state education and "no new taxes" will form the backbone of Gov. Dolph Briscoe's bid for a third term as Texas' highest official, which would give him an unprecedented 10 years in that office.

In a campaign-opening fund-raiser Monday night, Briscoe pledged his support to the state government's current devotion of 47 per cent of its income to education.

But he reiterated his firm stand against additional state taxes, saying, "There have been no added state taxes in Texas since 1971, the year before I took office. And as long as I'm governor, there won't be any."

The fund-raiser, which attracted about 7,000 people and added about $175,000 to the Briscoe campaign coffers, was highlighted by a multimedia show that presented scenes from the Uvalde native's years as governor.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-level administration official predicts a Soviet offer to halt so-called "peaceful" nuclear explosions probably will lead to a treaty banning all underground tests.

Kissinger receives ovations, boos

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Warnings, disclaimers and analysis were offered by former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger Monday in an address to more than 1,000 students and teachers at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library auditorium at the University of Texas.

Carter maps

talk on TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's pollster says the president's falling ratings in public opinion sampling will bounce back if Congress passes an energy bill to the president's liking.

"The president knew from the start that energy was a politically unpopular issue with everybody," said pollster Pat Caddell in a recent interview.

"But it was a necessary initiative, and if he gets the bill he wants, then he can say that despite all the talk about energy all these years, he was the first president to really do something about it."

Carter is making a nationally broadcast speech at 9 p.m. EST tonight to push for his energy package, which is now in a House-Senate conference committee. The speech will be broadcast live on all three major networks.

On Monday, the White House also announced that Carter's scheduled overseas trip to nine countries, has been postponed so he could devote himself to energy legislation.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance said Carter told heads of state that "his personal involvement was vital to the development of a sound energy legislation."

Powell said the trip might be rescheduled "sometime after Christmas."

Trio to wage

industry hunt

Three Big Springers have traveled to Chicago, Ill. on a hunt for business prospects for the city.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, R.B. Tally, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company executive, and Jack Reading, local manager of the Texas Electric Service Company, left Sunday for the Windy City.

While there, they will attend a variety of luncheon meetings and seminars, and court business prospects for Big Spring. They will compete with a number of other area industrial prospectors during the three-day meeting.

Albright called the chamber office this morning, but could spare only enough time to say he and the other two Big Springers were very busy, and that Chicagoans were initially impressed with Big Spring.

The three will return here late Wednesday night.

All veterans are urged to attend and the public is also invited, according to George Kunkel, head of the All Veterans Council.

Airports pose

double trouble

COLORADO CITY — The city council will again discuss the airport situation when it convenes at 7 p.m. today at City Hall.

The city has two airports, since the one leased by Webb Air Force Base has been returned to the municipality. A study by an engineering firm will be heard tonight.

There are different opinions on whether to use the former auxiliary field. Some think it is too far from town and others do not want to abandon such a good facility.

Henry Kissinger Monday in an address to more than 1,000 students and teachers at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library auditorium at the University of Texas.

The man who made "shuttle diplomacy" famous said the failure of the United States to aid "local forces" in Angola's civil war could encourage military solutions to problems elsewhere in Africa.

He also said the Chilean regime of Salvador Allende fell not because of American intervention but because of Allende's own mismanagement.

Kissinger received standing ovations, some boos and was the target of a small band of protesters who carried a cloth banner with the words "Smash Imperialism."

In the audience was Lady Bird Johnson, wife of the late President Lyndon Johnson.

"I am sure history will understand him (LBJ) better than some of his contemporaries did toward the end of his term," said Kissinger, noting that he knew what Johnson "went through."

Kissinger said in the years since Congress refused to send arms to "local forces" in the Angolan civil war, "the pattern of Cuban intervention and Soviet intervention in Africa has continued after Angola, and it may be that we will have to pay eventually—or somebody will have to pay—a heavier price later on."

Now, he said, Communist bloc military assistance is appearing in the Ethiopian civil war, "and the danger is that if every problem in Africa is settled by the introduction of outside arms, that forces will become the arbiter of affairs in a continent that should be left to its own development, free of outside intervention."

He said he was saddened at the bitter tone of American foreign policy debate during the Johnson, Nixon and Ford presidencies.

"One reason I believe it is important for our country that this administration succeed is because we cannot continue this process of consuming ourselves in internal debate," Kissinger said.

In answer to a student's question about Chile, Kissinger said a Democratically-controlled Senate absolved the Republican administration of the coup that overthrew Allende, who was killed.

Ex-IRS auditor faces shooting spree raps

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A former Internal Revenue Service auditor accused of wounding 10 persons in a citywide shooting spree was said to be depressed by unemployment and marital problems.

Four of the wounded were in critical condition today and paralyzed, maybe permanently, from spinal wounds, doctors said.

Carlos Poree, 35, had been acting differently since last Dec. 17, when he was fired from his $19,332-a-year government job, said his mother-in-law, Dorothy Broussard. The IRS will not say why Poree was fired.

Three weeks ago Poree's wife, Diane, 34, left him. Diane and her father, Alvin Broussard, 61, were the first victims Monday. Shot at Broussard's house in a quiet section of uptown New Orleans near Tulane University, both are partially paralyzed with wounds of the neck.

Police said that after Poree shot them, he drove three miles to midcity and gunned down eight apparent strangers.

Poree was booked with 10 counts of attempted murder, one count of resisting arrest, three counts of simple battery on police officers and one count of armed robbery — the alleged theft of a car at gunpoint.

Poree was hospitalized with serious eye injuries and several facial cuts suffered in a scuffle with police at the city jail.

Police Sgt. Tony Buonagura said Poree attacked an officer and that Poree's face hit the floor in the ensuing fight. Buonagura said the prisoner was not beaten.

Three tourists were wounded in a small French Quarter park after Poree allegedly stopped his car in the middle of Bourbon Street, walked into the park and fired his .38-caliber pistol.

Booze burglars nabbed

Burglars took $82.65 worth of liquor and cigarettes from the Tri-Tri Liquor Store, 3009 West Highway 80, but three suspects were arrested shortly afterward in the 700 block of W. 4th.

According to reports, the burglars entered the store by throwing rocks through the entrance and reaching through the broken glass to unlock the door.

A witness to the crime, awakened by the noise of the breaking glass, called police, and officers James VanNess and Robert Sims, arrested the three suspects shortly thereafter.

Taken in the burglary were 18 bottles of liquor and about six packs of cigarettes. According to Detective Claude Morris, one of the suspects arrested was a juvenile, who has given the investigators a statement describing where the loot is hidden.

Detective Morris said he expects a complete recovery of the stolen merchandise by this afternoon.

House breakers pried open the southeastern bedroom window of the home of Diana Spalding, 1007 W. 7th, and, once inside, took about $600 worth of jewelry and other items.

According to reports, the thieves got out with a 12-gauge shotgun, and a box of shells, a watch, a wedding band, a sterling ring, four sets of ear rings, and a silver dollar between 7:30 and 9:15 p.m. Monday.

Burglars took two microphones from Dale's Auto Paint Shop, 201 Denton, after breaking through the front storage doors between 6:15 and 11:45 p.m. Monday.

According to reports, the microphones were worth about $350. Police dusted the area for fingerprints, but at this time have no suspects.

Burglars broke the latch on the rear door of the residence of Michael Thomas, 1907 Thorp, but once inside apparently decided not to take anything.

Police believe the time of the burglary between 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Monday.

Burglars did not bother to take anything from the residence of Wayne Williams, 1511 1/2 Main, after they broke through one of the rear windows between 10 and 11:45 a.m. Monday.

Thieves took two tires worth $100 from one of the pickups at Bob Brock Ford, 500 W. 4th, between closing, Monday.

According to reports, thieves were not very careful with the jacks they were using and did about $100 damage to the truck fenders, which bore the brand of the Israeli fire. He did not give a casualty figure.

The Palestine Liberation Organization reported the Israeli shelling struck 12 towns and the refugee camps of Rashidieh and Burj el Shemali on the southern fringes of Tyre, 50 miles south of Beirut.

It was the first reported shelling of those camps, which house 22,000 Palestinian refugees, since the raids Israel conducted in retaliation for guerrilla strikes before Lebanon's 1975-76 civil war.

The Israeli barrage, directed by warplanes flying over Lebanon, sent thousands of families fleeing north to Sidon, a spokesman for the governor's office there reported. It stretched from Tyre, 12 miles north of Israel on the Mediterranean coast, to Taibe, 20 miles inland in southwest Lebanon.

The spokesman said ambulances and fire trucks sped from Tyre and Sidon to pick up wounded in Taibe and nearby Nabatiyah, which bore the brunt of the Israeli fire. He did not give a casualty figure.

Draws death punishment

HOUSTON (AP) — A state district court jury has assessed John Charles Zimmerman, 30, the death penalty after convicting him of capital murder in the March 24 rape-slaying of his 10-year-old niece.

The jury in State District Judge Frank Price found Zimmerman guilty and agreed on his punishment Monday following a one-week trial.

Zimmerman was accused of taking the child, Ramona Abner, from class at an elementary school, going to a deserted construction site and raping her and stabbing her to death with a butcher knife.

The defense asked the jury to find Zimmerman innocent by reason of insanity.

The prosecution argued that Zimmerman was capable of controlling his actions at the time the slaying.

Student editor used wrong words

Klan endorsement draws fire

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Carol Kendall says her motive was pure but the words somehow didn't quite come out right.

The 17-year-old Judson High School senior found herself this week in the midst of a controversy over the student newspaper's endorsement of the Ku Klux Klan's "border watch."

Miss Kendall is editor of the weekly Satellite and she wrote the editorial blasting the illegal entry of Mexican aliens into the United States.

"We should be grateful that the KKK is dedicated to upholding the U.S. Constitution," she wrote, adding that she considered the KKK's tactic "an act of Americanism."

The Klan has announced it is patrolling the U.S.-Mexico border and will inform federal authorities of any illegal crossings it detects.

The Klan's action has been denounced by officials at nearly every level who contend that watching the border and enforcing immigration laws is the job of federal police authorities, not the KKK.

So readers of the San Antonio Express-News were shocked Sunday when columnist Paul Thompson told of the student newspaper's support for the Klan's activities.

"The KKK means nothing more or less than the right to take the law into your own hands in the name of white supremacy," one newspaper reader told Thompson.

Judson School District Superintendent William Sevier was apologizing to parents and school board members Monday morning, but he said it was too late to do anything about the editorial, which was published last Friday.

"If you can tell me how to unring the bell, then I'll tell you what we're going to do," said Sevier, adding that no disciplinary action was anticipated.

"How in the world it got past the faculty sponsor is beyond me. This is the very, very poor journalistic effort on the part of one student. It is certainly not in any sense a reflection of the opinion of the staff or student body," he said.

The faculty sponsor, Bill Slaughter, 32, a former editor of the weekly Seguin Enterprise, said he approved the editorial's publication but disagreed with its content.

Slaughter said the editorial, with an accompanying cartoon showing a white-sheeted Klansman, was supposed to have carried Miss Kendall's byline but it was dropped in the printing process.

Much of the editorial is written in first person by Miss Kendall.

She said she researched the piece and was aware of the KKK's past history.

"If I was writing it again, I'd change the wording. I'm not in favor of the KKK and I don't condone anything they have done in the past. But I am in favor of somebody patrolling the border and catching the illegal aliens," she said.

Miss Kendall said a lot of students disagreed with her editorial, "but nobody has been nasty about it."

Slaughter said the newspaper will carry differing opinions from students in the "Letters to the Editor" section of its next issue.

Slaughter said he supported his editor's right to an opinion.

"This was one person's opinion. That's all," he said. "I respect her right to give that opinion."

Sevier said the Judson School District has about 8,100 pupils and ethnically is "very mixed" with blacks, Mexican-Americans, Vietnamese and American Indians.

"If there is such a thing as a melting pot, I'd say this was it," the superintendent said.

Plans for Gala remain hazy

Plans for the Gala continue to be "whenever the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum is complete," Mrs. Kent (Janet) Morgan said here Monday.

"If it's spring, we'll have it in the spring," she stated. She also said that some of the Gala Gourmet cookbooks on order have been taken to the post office for mailing and next week will be placed at First Federal Savings and Loan, Swartz's, the Health Food Store and Turner Properties office for sale.

If picked up, they are $8.95 plus tax for a total of $9.40. They include recipes by many well-known local people and people in the surrounding area.

You still have time to cast vote

Did you remember to vote today? If not, you probably still have time. The polls will be open until 7 p.m. Today's vote did not attract much attention statewide because the seven constitutional amendments were not very controversial.

To me, the question is really a simple one: Is Howard County going to fight back from the loss of Webb Air Force Base and continue to be a thriving, prospering area which provides good jobs for its people, good schools and colleges, with the population base to keep this community a well-rounded one in which to live?

We are part of a changing, mobile society. Every day, we lose something. The telephone operators move to Midland; society reorganizes itself.

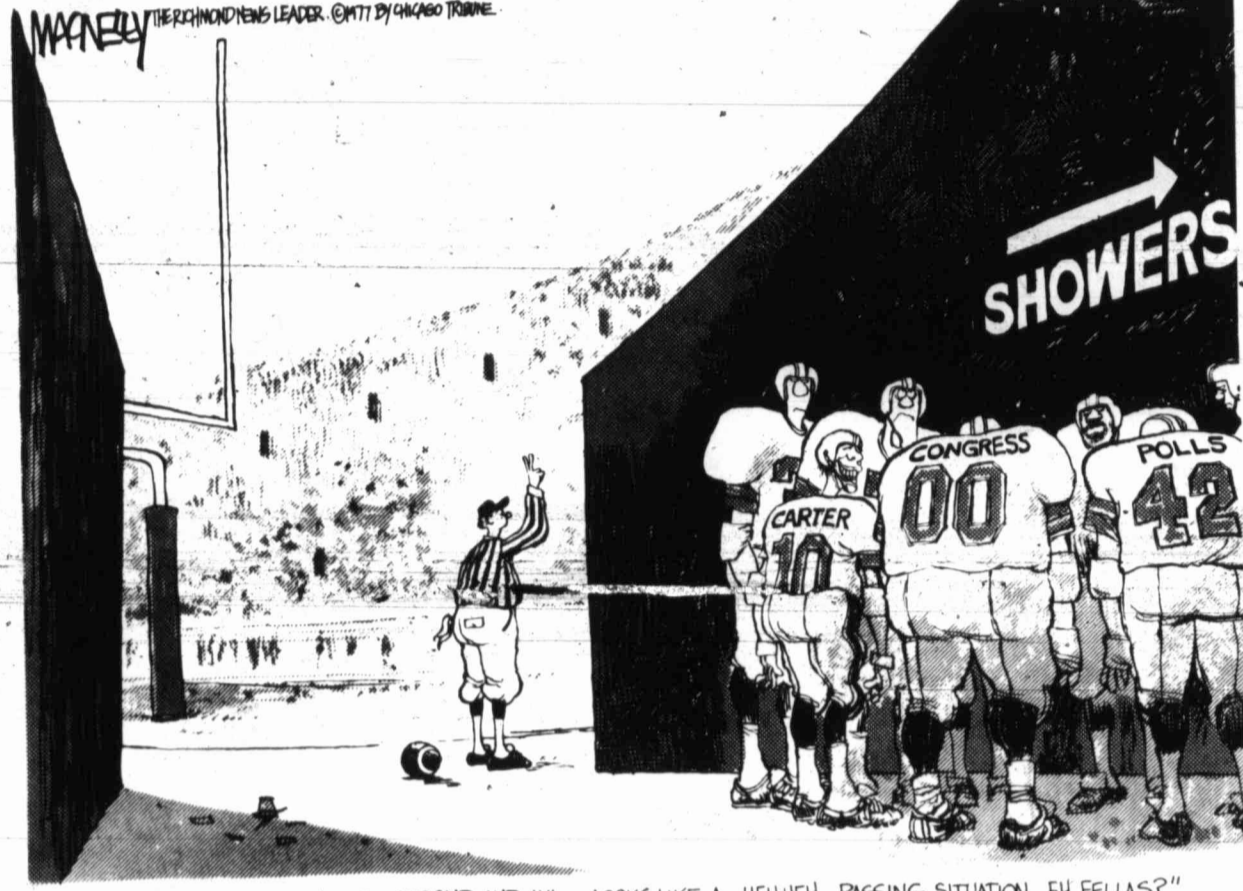

WE MUST BE MOVING forward with as much determination as we can muster, or we will find ourselves sliding backward.

Long-buried FBI documents reveal that then-director J. Edgar Hoover personally approved a break-in and illegal electronic bugging aimed at innocent relatives of James Earl Ray, who was later convicted of killing King.

Whether the FBI actually bugged or burglarized the Peppers' home. Indeed, assassinations expert Harold Weisberg has developed evidence indicating the Justice Department vetoed the plan.

Big Spring women were busy Saturday

Styles shown by LGA women

Thirty exciting and elegant fashions were modeled Saturday night at the Big Spring Country Club by ten members of the Ladies Golf Association.

"Holiday Fashion Moods" featured styles by Swartz and shoes by Pelletier's. Beginning at 7:30 guests were served hors d'oeuvres and champagne, and soon the stage was set for the show.

Mrs. Roberta Shive coordinated the fashions for the show and Mrs. Terry Newman, at the piano, provided the lovely music which accompanied each model's presentation.

President of the L.G.A., Jan Iden, was responsible for the beautiful table decorations of Scotch plaid and red ribbon topiaries. Lighted candles were also placed on the tables.

Mrs. Walter Wheat spoke a few words on each fashion as it was presented to the audience, after welcoming everyone to the show.

She said that softness is the major element in fashions for fall. The day look ranges from the refined to the Chanel-inspired and Oscar de la Renta's pattern on pattern challis.

For night, styles range from the super-sleek to the romantic in lame, sequins and all-over beading.

Mrs. Ron Cohorn started off the show in a tailored, burgundy, ultra suede suit over a crepe de chine blouse featuring the new Pierrot collar.

Other models followed in their day outfits. Mrs. James Cowan wore an ultra suede coat over a cream print dress to form a semi-classic suit. The fabric of the ultra suede is much better than suede, as it is machine- or hand-washable.

Next the models presented fashions of fur. Mrs. John Richard Sparks modeled a natural Swedish blue fox jacket. The "Trotteur-length" and "notched collar" made an elegant silhouette, which is equally appropriate over pants or dresses.

Mrs. Hayes Stripling, Jr., showed an impressive sweep of natural grey street-length mink with a luxurious grey fox collar. This lightweight fur can be worn well day or night.

Mrs. Gary Turner presented a natural Canadian lynx jacket ready to do double duty both formal and casual. This soft racy look will be big this winter.

ANN TURNER models a natural Canadian lynx jacket which can be combined with pants or dresses for many different looks.

ANN McCANN wears a formal evening suit of rust velvet. The blazer and long skirt combine with the feminine blouse to form a classic look for the season.

PAULA DUNCAN presents her Christmas dress of multi-print blouse and blue velvet skirt with matching border.

MARILYN NEWSOM shows a classic though unusual fur of snow-topped mink. The surprise of the fur is zip-out sleeves which create a vest to be worn over numerous fashions.

For the last of the furs, Mrs. Jerry Iden wore a red fox fashioned of light but warm natural skins, featuring suede inlay and backing in a nonchalant shape to go with high fashions or jeans.

Next came the fashions for evenings. Mrs. Dave Duncan presented a gown with Christmas in mind. The multi-print blouse with billowing sleeves provided a distinctive look with the long velvet skirt with its patched and quilted border to match the blouse.

Mrs. G.C. Broughton enchanted viewers with a brown evening "wrapsody" of silk chiffon. The floor-length dress with thin straps at the shoulders was accentuated by a thinly flowing sheer overlay of Celanese Fortrel.

Mrs. Tommy McCann showed another front-runner of the season — the very tailored, very formal suit. The rust velvet long skirt and casual blazer were made even more formal and feminine by the ecru softness of the blouse with its lace neckline.

Mrs. Don Newsom stole the show in a candlelight sand silk organza gown ornamented with gold teardrop embroidery. It was cinched with a delicate narrow drawstring belt of the same material. The white on white of the dress and Mrs. Newsom's blonde hair, along with the explosive innocence of the dress, reminded the audience of another beauty named Marilyn.

After all 30 of the fashions had been presented by the ten models, they came out once more in their evening wear for another view of this season's top looks.

As the name of the door prize winner, Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, was announced, Mrs. Newsom sang a beautiful musical selection to end the show. Mrs. Avery won a $250 gift certificate from Swartz.

Transactional Analysis is theme of seminar

"Blemish;" "Yes, But;" "Corner;" "If It Weren't for You;" and "Now I've Got You, You S.O.B.," are favorite games that people play, according to Bob Avary, president of Bob Avary and Associates, Midland.

Avary spoke on Transactional Analysis (T.A.) at a seminar sponsored by the National Secretaries Association Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Brass Nail.

Guests were registered by Miriam Cohen, vice president of the club, and arrangements were coordinated by Juanita Seitzler, C.P.S.

For the first half-hour of the seminar, everyone drank coffee and got acquainted with one another.

Jane Overman, president of the club, then welcomed members and guests. There were about 40 in attendance. Avary's wife, Helen, was introduced by Avary as his secretary and partner. She teaches a course on T.A. at Odessa College, and Avary teaches a T.A. course at Midland College.

Avary began with an introduction to T.A. "It was developed by Eric Berne, a psychiatrist, about 15 years ago as a psychotherapeutic tool."

Berne is the author of "Games People Play," "What Do You Say After You Say Hello" and other books on T.A.

"T.A. was discovered to be a valuable tool in communications and improving human relationships," Avary said.

The human consciousness is divided into three parts, according to proponents of T.A., the Parent, Adult and Child.

The Parent is composed of what you were taught by your parents, he said. It can be nurturing or critical, and is the site of rules, taboos and prejudices.

The Adult ego state is simply a computer which processes information. It contains the processes by which we recognize problems, examine feelings, and commit to and follow through on decisions.

The Child is the part of us that contains our feelings, emotions, wants, and habits of action, reaction and thought.

Any one of these ego states may be used during a transaction with another person. A transaction is a stimulus followed by a response, or the unit of social intercourse. It may be verbal or non-verbal.

There are three types of transactions — complementary, crossed and ulterior.

In the complementary transaction, both participants are in the same ego state. For example, Adult and Adult or Child and Child.

In crossed transactions, participants are in different ego states. This can lead to problems, and games start. For example, one may be in an Adult ego state and the other may be in Parent.

In ulterior transactions, the transaction has an ulterior or hidden meaning. This will also lead to problems and game-playing.

Games are a series of on-going transactions which have a concealed motivation leading progressively to a well-defined payoff.

The three degrees to a game are: first degree (socially acceptable — the games we all play); second degree (whenever you say, "hush, do you want the neighbors or children to hear," you are playing a second degree game); and third degree (the games that are played for keeps — players end up in surgery, courtroom, mental hospital or morgue).

The criteria for games are: an apparent or pretended Adult message; the message also contains a hidden meaning; there is a complementary response to the apparent message; there is a switch in roles or ego states resulting in a payoff; and it is all out of awareness (sub-conscious).

In a common game called "Blemish," the game player corrects in and says, "This letter was typed very well." The victim responds, "Thank you, Mr. Jones." But the game player hits the payoff, "But, it had one letter that was smudged."

The payoff is getting the other person to feel bad, commit suicide, commit homicide, or go crazy, after setting him or her up to take the bait.

Another game is "Yes, But." In this game one player (No. 1) suggests that he and the other player do something, like go on vacation. The other player (No. 2) responds, "Yes, that's a good idea, but I don't know if I can get off work."

The first player says, "Well, ask, and if you can't, we'll go next week instead." No. 2 says, "Okay, that's fine with me, but you know I've had this cold, and I don't think I feel like it." No. 1 says, "Maybe it'll do you good to get away from the house."

No. 2 says, "Yes, probably, but what will we do with the kids?" No. 1 says, "We can take them to my parents and let them babysit." No. 2 says, "Sure, but do you think we can afford it?" And soon, ad infinitum, until both players are exhausted and disgusted with even going out for the evening, much less on a vacation.

There are five options, according to Avary, when you are "invited" into a game. You can play it with awareness, knowing what is to be the outcome; you can ignore it, or ignore the con and gimmick; expose the game; change it to another degree (second degree to first degree); or change to another game.

Games like this, according to Avary, can be avoided by saying what you really mean and listening to what the other person is really saying, instead of what words he is using.

After talking about games, seminar participants ate lunch and talked to each other for a while. The seminar resumed with information on strokes. Strokes are means of feeling good, both physical and mental. For example "you look nice today" is a positive stroke.

"Strokes are as necessary to human life as are other primary biological needs such as the need for food, water and shelter — needs which, if not satisfied, will lead to death."

Participants of the seminar took a test on their stroking relationships to determine the areas of which they need to work. Some of the statements on the test included "I accept criticism very well," "I openly ask for praise," "I enjoy being bragged on," and "I find it easy to say 'no' to others."

Concluding the seminar, Avary gave a few rules on strokes: "Do ask for the strokes you want; do give the strokes you have; do accept the strokes you get; do reject the strokes you don't want; and do stroke yourself."

Husband's Trips Make Her Jealous

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very attractive middle-aged man who has never fooled around as far as I know.

The company he works for sends him and a professional female co-worker out of town together (just the two of them) on business trips for several days' duration. It seems to me that since it wouldn't be proper for just the two of them to have dinner together here in our home city, it's hardly fair for the company to send them out of town together.

My husband says it's strictly a business relationship, and I believe him. But she's pretty, young and single, and being only human, all that togetherness away from home could hatch a problem that's bigger than both of them.

JUST PLAIN JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: What's to handle? Say nothing. Continue to trust him; expect the best and you'll probably get it. Any other action on your part would be unwise.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl with a story to tell. Last night about 9 p.m. I was walking home alone from the public library. (I live 8 blocks from there.) The wind was blowing hard, and it was very cold. Besides, I had a load of books under my arm.

A car pulled up alongside the curb, and a nice-looking man opened the door and asked, "Want a ride?" He looked okay and was about my father's age, and my feet were about to drop off with freezing, so I said yes and hopped in.

He asked me where I was going and I told him. He drove me there, but before he let me out, he said, "Young lady, I want you to promise me that you will NEVER again accept a ride with a stranger, no matter how 'nice' he appears to be. I happen to be a decent man, but you took an awful chance. You can't tell ANYTHING about a man by the way he looks. Two years ago I had a niece about your age who accepted a ride with a strange man, and three days later they found her lifeless body in a ditch four miles from your home. She'd been raped and strangled."

Abby, I promised that man I would never again get into a car with a stranger. And I never will.

SERVING YOU FOR A BETTER HOWARD COUNTY

A veteran law enforcement officer, J.D. Campbell has been on the Big Spring police force for 23 years, serving under four different police chiefs. He was born in Hunt County and went to public school there. He is taking courses at the Law Enforcement Academy at Howard College. He has also attended numerous in-service training schools. His wife, Willie, is employed by the Big Spring Independent School District in charge of their printing operation. Their son, David is employed by Coastal States and resides in Midland. They are Baptist. His hobbies are golf and fishing. He is also presently treasurer of the Big Spring Five Watters CB Radio Club. Both of them are active members of the Five Watters and help with their many projects. At one time, Campbell was a route salesman for Dr. Pepper. He also served in the Quartermaster Corp in the U.S. Army in World War II in the European theatre. He originally joined the police department "because I always enjoyed working in a service to the public. I especially enjoyed working for many years with young people with Safety Patrols at Schools."

Doris Smith has been with the Big Spring police department for 19 years. She was born in Vealmoor and attended Knott High School, proving beyond doubt that she is a West Texan from ground up. She first began her work for the police because she thought it would be interesting and a way of helping people. She works as the Chief's secretary now. Her family includes two daughters, Debra Smith and Mrs. Donna McCann, one son, Kenneth Smith, and one granddaughter, Denise McCann. Her hobbies include sewing and dancing. Mrs. Smith may pack a typewriter instead of a pistol, but anyone at the police department will tell you how important she is to the city force.

Officer John "Dusty" Choate has been with the department for nearly four years. Choate was born in Big Spring, and grew up in Coahoma where he made a real name for himself on the rodeo gridiron. In 1971 he was named Coahoma's Back of the Year, and that same year was named District 5-AA Halfback. Choate also took his athletic prowess from the stadium to the rodeo grounds where he was touted as one of the top ten bullriding champs by the Alaska State Rodeo Cowboy's Association. Officer Choate brought a varied background to the job. At one time or another he has worked as a farmer, rancher, feedlot cowboy, heavy equipment operator, electrician, plumber, and truck driver. He chose law enforcement as a career in order to "help keep our country free." His parents, Carroll and Joyce Choate reside in Sand Springs. Dusty has two daughters, Michelle Dawn and Jennifer Nicole. The family attends the First United Methodist Church. In his spare time, Choate likes to hunt, fish, play football, ride bulls and work as a rodeo clown.

Migrants transport suit first of its kind

CHICAGO (AP) — A class-action suit filed in federal court charges that thousands of migrant workers are shipped around the country under conditions that are dangerous and unfit even for cattle.

Kristine Poplawski, director of the Migrant Legal Assistance Project which filed the suit last week, said Monday it is the first of its kind and ultimately could have an impact on hundreds of thousands of migrant workers nationwide.

The action asks for about $100,000 in total damages and for an order that the defendants.

The suit said that every spring, migrant workers are hauled from Texas and Mexico on flatbed trucks to fields as far away as Washington State. During the picking season, it said, migrant workers are often shipped far distances every day from their camp to the fields.

Filed on behalf of five farm workers, the suit names among its defendants the Interstate Commerce Commission, the U.S. Department of Labor, the U.S. Department of Transportation and Stokely Van Camp Inc.

It accuses the government agencies of failing to carry out their duties with respect to migrant farmworkers in violation of federal laws.

It accuses Stokely Van Camp and its recruiters of violating farm workers' rights under employment and safety laws.

Officials from the federal agencies or from Stokely were not available for comment.

The suit was filed on behalf of asparagus pickers who were recruited in Texas and Mexico. Some of them were transported in fruit and vegetable trucks to Hoopston, Ill., and others provided their own transportation.

New trial granted in Mossler tussle

HOUSTON (AP) — A Harris County probate judge has granted a motion for a new trial in the contest of a portion of the purported will of the late Houston and Miami millionairess Candace Mossler.

Judge Pat Gregory's decision Monday overturned a last September jury verdict that said a codicil (a legal instrument made subsequent to a will and modifying it) to Mrs. Mossler purported will did not disinherit two of her adopted children.

In a motion for a new trial, attorneys representing Mrs. Mossler's natural children, Norman Johnson and Rita Wilder, alleged that jurors may have been influenced by the fact they were inadvertently given dispositions for four witnesses to take with them to the deliberation room.

The probate court jury ruled in September that the six children, four of them adopted, should share equally in the estimated $12 million estate.

Mrs. Mossler, who died a year ago in Miami at the age of 62, had a 1968 will which equally divided the estate among the six children. However, a 1975 supplement disinherited Daniel and Christopher Mossler and Martha Mossler Meredith. Daniel and Christopher contested the supplement but Mrs. Meredith did not.

State Sen. A. R. Schwartz, who represented the three beneficiaries of the estate, said following the verdict that he would ask for a new trial because of presence of the documents which had not been admitted as evidence in the trial. However, the jury told Gregory its verdict had not been influenced by the documents.

John Holloway, attorney for the disinherited sons, argued during the trial that Mrs. Mossler "became totally out of touch with reality" as the result of drug use.

Schwartz said Mrs. Mossler was sick "but she did what she intended to do in her will."

Student steals tutor's car to scatter players

HOUSTON (AP) — Police say a 15-year old high school student took a teacher's car at gunpoint, sent football players scattering with the vehicle, plowed through a fence and slammed into a garage of a nearby house.

No one was injured in the Monday incident, authorities said, but a considerable amount of property damage resulted.

The youth, a freshman at J. Frank Dobie High School, ran away after ramming the attached garage, police said, but was caught several blocks away by a group of athletes.

Officers said he would be referred to the Harris County juvenile probation department on charges of reckless conduct, felony criminal mischief and aggravated robbery.

Police quoted a teacher as saying the boy pulled a pellet pistol out of a paper sack and demanded her car. When she told him she couldn't find the keys, he ran to her car, found the keys and drove away.

He returned later, police said, and drove onto the football practice field, narrowly missing several students and sending a practicing freshman football team in all directions.

Kathy Adcock told police she had just returned home when the car smashed through a fence and made a 8-foot-10-foot hole in a brick wall of her garage. She said the vehicle damaged several appliances and caused structural damage to the house. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — Seventy-four color photographs depicting "the full spectrum of Israeli life" will be on display at the Jewish Museum here through Dec. 18.

Fayes Florists tops in nation

Faye's Flowers is one of the 1,000 top florists in the United States.

That's what the Florists Transworld Delivery Association said this week when they sent them a plaque as one of the new members of the top 1,000 club.

Bill Draper and his wife expressed appreciation to their customers "for helping us obtain this honor." Draper said, "Don't tell me you can't win national honors in Big Spring. We just did it."

The shop is already getting out their Christmas decorations, since they are known around this part of the state for their clever and beautiful Christmas decorations which they have available.

It won't be too long until they also obtain their Yuletide poinsettias and other Christmas plants.

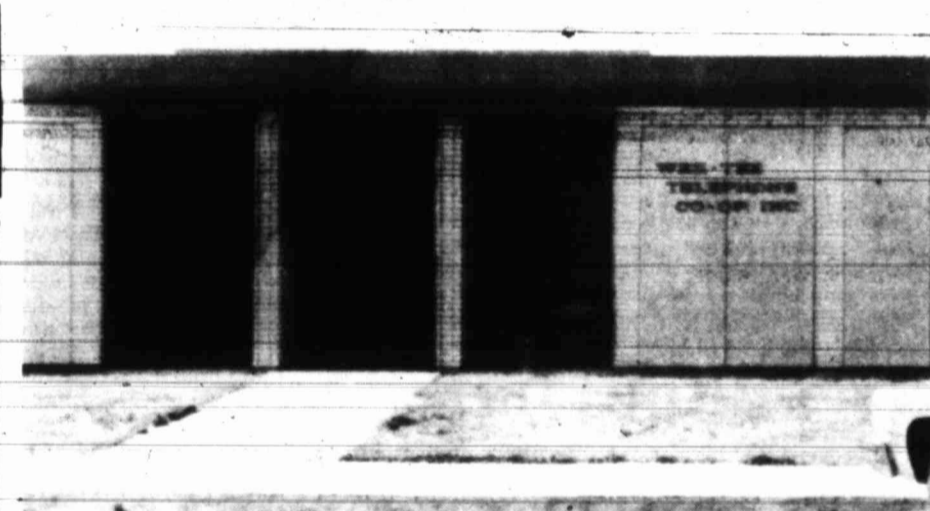

At this time, they have a varied selection of autumn mums which are so popular around the Thanksgiving season.

They also have horns of plenty and artificial fruit, as well as their usual appointments of crystal and brass from points throughout the world.

Faye's continues to have some of the healthiest and prettiest pot plants and ivys around.

Drop by Faye's on Gregg Street soon and pick out something to brighten the home for Thanksgiving and start thinking about Christmas.

As soon as you see all of their delightful items, you will realize why they are in the "top 1,000."

West Tex Telephone offers phones to many

Wes-Tex Telephone made it possible for a lot of folks to have telephones in rural areas in some six West Texas counties.

Their headquarters is in Stanton and they offer up-to-date telephone service. You have a selection of telephone styles.

In the early days of the West Tex Telephone, there were a lot of eight party lines in an attempt to get the lines out to many rural areas from St. Lawrence over to Dawson County and parts of Martin and Howard County.

Now, there are no telephones on more than two-party lines. These are usually by choice for economical reason or because as a rural telephone user, they became used to having another party on the line.

The Wes-Tex Telephone service offers such things as a loud bell to alert a farmer out in the barn if the phone is ringing in the house, long extension cords to move about, and many other innovations.

They started out to serve the rural users and this continues to be their purpose.

Wes-Tex Telephone Cooperative Inc. serves such places as Ackerley, Garden City, Lenorah, Lomax, Luther, St. Lawrence, West Stanton and Vincent.

And their line of communication has been very important to these people through the years.

IS OUR TAP WATER SAFE?
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pettus wondered about this for several years. They had read about pollution and about dangerous chemicals in our drinking water and decided to do something to protect their family.
After several months of research and trial and error methods with water purification inventions, they found a manufacturer with a perfect distillation system: A machine that made home drinking water SAFE and DELICIOUS for only pennies per day.
The system was guaranteed, easy to clean, convenient with no special plumbing or complicated hook-up.
Albert Pettus was so happy with his discovery, that he asked the manufacturer if he could be a distributor for this amazing "Clean Water Machine".
He will be happy to answer questions by calling

Changing law will take time

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new plan by the National Cattlemen's Association to change the law so it will be easier to gain approval for a national beef promotion program make take many months to carry out.

Even if the association succeeds in getting Congress to change the law, the normal rule-making process by the Agriculture Department would require several months before a new vote could be taken.

The maneuvering involves the Beef Research and Information Act, which was put into effect in May 1976. It provides that, if approved by two-thirds of the cattle producers who vote in a referendum, a system of check-offs can be put into effect to pay for projects aimed at promoting beef.

In a nationwide referendum conducted by the department last June 6-17, 231,027 votes were cast. Of those, 130,386 or 56.4 percent were in favor of the program and 100,641 or 43.6 percent were against.

The association's board of directors at a recent meeting in Denver decided that an attempt will be made through new legislation to change the 1976 law so a program can be put into effect if approved by a simple majority — more than 50 per cent — of those voting in a new referendum.

But the press of congressional business virtually rules out action on changing the law this year.

Cotton prices drop about penny a pound

Prices paid for cotton dropped about a cent a pound, according to B.B. Manly of the USDA Cotton Classing Office in Abilene. Growers sold mixed lots for 41 to 43.25 cents per pound in light trading. Cottonseed brought growers 60 to 70 dollars per ton.

The quality of samples classed showed some changes this week. Samples in the White category dropped from 71 per cent. Some other percentages were grade 31 20 per cent, grade 41, 15 per cent, and grade 42, 11 per cent. The per cent of well-graded cotton doubled from 2 per cent to 4 per cent this week. Staple 31 continued predominant, with 47 per cent. Some other percentages were staple, 30, 11 per cent; staple 32, 38 per cent.

Price index plunge noted

AUSTIN — The All Farm Products Index, a barometer reflecting the price situation for Texas farmers and ranchers took a steep plunge during the last month, dropping 17 points, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

"The continued decline of cotton prices added most to the problem," Brown commented. "With upland cotton selling for 11 cents per pound less and cottonseed dropping $4 per ton."

Reporting Service figures show an increasing spread between the price farmers received for their product and the price they paid for commodities, services, interest, taxes and farm wage rates.

"Even though the Index of Prices Paid remained at the level set in October, that index is nine points over the market set this time last year," Brown pointed out.

Arkansas farmers vote to join strike

MCGEEHEE, Ark. (AP) — More than 400 Arkansas and Mississippi farmers voted Monday night to join the national farm strike Dec. 14.

Cingolani of McGehee said Secretary of State Winston Bryant will allow the group to "raise as much cash as possible."

Wheat farmer Bob Duran of Johnson, Kan., one of the speakers for the movement, told the farmers that they "should not plant a crop in 1978 unless full parity was granted by the federal government."

RETIRE COUNTY AGENT HONORED — Oliver F. Werst, retired Glasscock County agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, was one of 28 Extension Service retirees honored at a special luncheon at Texas A&M University, October 27. Werst was presented a special plaque by Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, left, Extension Service director, and Clyde Anderson, El Paso County commissioner and president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas. Werst retired Aug. 31 after 30 years of service, the past 25 years in Glasscock County. He began his Extension career as an assistant county agent in Bexar County in 1947 and then served as Callahan County agent from 1948 to 1951. Werst holds a B.S. degree in animal science from Texas A&M.

Voters choosing 38 mayors

By the Associated Press
Voters are choosing mayors in 38 major cities and picking governors in New Jersey and Virginia, on an election day dominated by local issues and dampened by the weather. Rain has historically benefited Republicans and could affect today's turnouts in both gubernatorial states, where the races are considered close. In Virginia, where some areas have been flooded, Democrat Henry Howell opposes Republican Lt. Gov. John Dalton.

New Jersey's incumbent Democrat, Gov. Brendan Byrne, is challenged by a Republican state senator, Raymond Bateman.

Rain is also forecast for many of the mayoral cities including New York, where Democrat Edward Koch is expected to win easily regardless of the weather.

In several cities, black candidates are trying to capture city halls. In New York, the historically accurate Daily News straw poll gave Koch 53 percent of the vote to 39 for his nearest rival, Secretary of State Mario Cuomo.

New York's major issue, Mayor Abraham Beame's handling of the city's finances, disappeared with Koch's defeat of the mayor in the Democratic primary.

Cuomo is the Liberal Party choice. Republican state Sen. Roy Goodman and radio personality Barry Farber, the Conservative Party entry, also are running, but with little hope.

Neighboring New Jersey still has its overriding issue, the state income tax that Byrne supports and Bateman wants to kill.

Byrne, who weathered a tough Democratic primary, had been trailing Bateman, but both sides now agree the outcome is in doubt.

The New Jersey contest was financed mostly out of public funds, with each candidate receiving $1 million from the state treasury.

In Virginia, Howell has said the state's largest electric utility, major banks and insurance companies reflect a "Tory plantation" policy represented by Dalton.

Dalton, a millionaire lawyer, has said Howell is a liberal and a big spender who would bring the state higher taxes and labor control of the government.

Blacks are trying to become the first of their race to win the New Orleans and Buffalo, N.Y. mayoralties.

The New Orleans election will be held Saturday with a black judge, Ernest Morial, facing Councilman Joseph DiRosa in a runoff.

Coleman Young, Detroit's first black mayor, is expected to be an easy winner over Ernest C. Browne, who also is black.

There are a dozen names on the ballot in Houston, where incumbent Mayor Fred Hofheinz is not running.

It's an all-Democratic election in Cleveland, where Dennis Kucinich and Edward F. Feighan are the finalists. Republican Mayor Ralph Perk was eliminated in the primary.

Other big cities electing mayors today include Seattle; Pittsburgh; Minneapolis; Toledo and Dayton, Ohio; Miami; Louisville, Ky.; and Charlotte, N.C.

Young heads for Rome

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Nearing the 100,000-mile mark as a diplomat, Andrew Young is off to Rome and Stockholm this weekend for his seventh foreign trip in nine months as the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

But unless a new emergency mission to Africa is required, the peripatetic American envoy may be ready after his return to put away his passport for a while, aides say.

Young next week is making a twice-postponed visit to Sweden, whose people he described last May as "terrible racists."

That remark, made during one of his impromptu airborne news conferences, caused a brief international flap and a standing invitation for him to get acquainted with the Swedes at home.

The visit was planned for July, then postponed when Young learned most Swedes would be on vacation. It was delayed again last month by the Security Council debate on South Africa.

Young will fly first to Rome, where he will visit agencies affiliated with the United Nations and speak Monday at a conference of the U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization.

He goes to Stockholm next Wednesday and for three days will meet with government officials and private citizens.

By the time he returns to New York on Nov. 19, he will have logged 96,000 miles on trips to 32 nations on four continents.

The U.S. Mission at the United Nations does not keep comparative records. But longtime observers agree Young already has traveled far more than his 14 predecessors.

"The job was not considered quite so important before," was the explanation by one of Young's aides.

That added importance is due chiefly to one thing: President Carter has given Young the task of helping improve relations between the United States and the black governments of Africa.

That has sent him to Africa three times since February, visiting 13 countries and traveling 63,000 miles.

Young helped British Foreign Minister David Owen put the British-American pact on transition to black majority rule in Rhodesia before the white and black Africans involved.

That peace effort seems to be faltering now, raising the possibility of an emergency rescue mission by the same diplomatic team.

Carter also dispatched Young to the Caribbean region on a 10-nation tour in August.

The U.N. ambassador has been just as mobile at home, criss-crossing the United States for speeches, meetings, dinners and other events.

Bankers face imminent threat

HOUSTON (AP) — A San Francisco banker says interest-rate ceilings on consumer savings should be raised immediately to preserve momentum of the housing industry's recovery from recession.

Richard P. Cooley, president of Wells Fargo Bank said banks and other savings associations face the imminent threat of disintermediation, or an outflow of deposits, as credit-tightening moves force yields on other investments higher.

Cooley told delegates to a national convention of the Bank Administrators Institute that if they are to remain competitive with such investments as Treasury issues, financial institutions that provide construction and mortgage financing must be able to pay more for depositor's dollars.

He urged the Federal Reserve to raise legal ceilings on interest payments by 1 or 2 percent above the current 5 to 7.5 percent for banks and 5.25 to 7.75 percent for other saving institutions.

He also urged that California be selected as a test site for complete removal of interest rate ceilings on consumer savings to determine whether this approach could help end the boom and bust cycles that have characterized the housing industry since World War II.

Hawks open season with flourish

By DANNY REAGAN

Winter finally decided to come to Big Spring Monday night, but the Howard College Hawks were hot anyway, cruising to a 103-91 win over the visiting Laredo Junior College Golden Palominos.

Returning Houston Kashmere product, Russell Sublet, and home-grown Casey Wilder scorched the cords for 30 and 21 points, respectively, while the big men, Eugene Williams and Joe Cooper, snatched down 35 caroms between them (only six short of the entire Laredo team total) to spark the Preybird assault.

"I was real pleased with this first game," said Coach Harold Wilder. "We hit really well from the outside, and outscored them 60-41."

Wilder indicated that the rebounding stats were the most important of the game. Williams pulled down 21, and Cooper 14, giving the much shorter Palominos as much chance as a turtle in a dry well.

"We did pretty good attacking their zone," added Wilder, "but we need to improve our defense somewhat. Turnovers also negated some of our rebounding advantage." The Hawks uncharacteristically gave the ball away 21 times on turnovers, due mainly to over-zealous play on their part, rather than superior defensive actions of the visitors.

The game was a tug-of-war in the early going, and even though the Preybirds were never headed, or even strongly contested during the course of the contest, Laredo brought spunk and strategy into "Poverty Pavilion" to make up for height disadvantage.

"They ran a real good offense," said Wilder. "They were causing our big guys to go away from the basket. They also hurt us sometimes on the fast break, and their strategy on defense was to cut Cooper off from the inside. But Joe had a great game anyway."

Casey Wilder and Russell Sublet fanned the flames in the first stanza, hitting for 10 and eight points, respectively. Casey and Sublet also combined on steal, pass and score plays on more than a couple of occasions. Casey also had eight assists for the night.

Robby Randolph, all-stater from Memphis, Tennessee, also popped the net on long jumpers at opportune times, notching a total of 10. El Pasion Allen Bonds, once he calmed down from a whirlwind dervish to a mere cyclone pumped in nine points and helped the tall guys with the board-sweeping.

Johnny James, a reliable sub from last year's squad, took advantage of his improved skills in the off-season, hit for six points and bobbed up and down among a frustrated Laredo offense like a ricocheting bullet.

The Preybirds were never in trouble during the tilt, even though they were only ahead by four, 87-83, with 3:30 remaining in the contest. The hosts' biggest lead of the night was 12 seconds after intermission, when Sublet pumped in a top-of-57-38, a 19-point bulge.

A near-capacity crowd watched the locals tip-off their 1977-78 season, and area roundball fanatics can again see the Hawks in action this Thursday night in Hawk Gym against the McMurry College junior varsity, a team Midland College beat by 30 points Monday.

Season tickets are still available for all Hawk games. The one ticket is also good for all Hawk Queens games.

No movement among top colleges

By the Associated Press

Led by No. 1-ranked Texas, the nation's nine top college football teams retained their positions today in The Associated Press ratings while defending champion Pittsburgh reappeared in the Top Ten and unbeaten Colgate cracked the rankings for the first time ever.

Texas defeated Houston 35-21 to remain No. 1 for the third week in a row. The Longhorns, 8-0-0 and the nation's only perfect-record team besides No. 20 Colgate, received 61 first-place votes and 1,306 of a possible 1,320 points from a nationwide panel of 66 sports writers and broadcasters.

However, a week ago, with 59 panelists voting, Texas received all but two first-place votes, the others going to runnerup Alabama and seventh-ranked Kentucky. This time, Alabama and No. 5 Notre Dame received two votes apiece with one for Kentucky.

Alabama, a 24-3 winner over Louisiana State, totaled 1,072 points to 1,020 for No. 3 Oklahoma, which thrashed Oklahoma State 61-28. Fourth-ranked Ohio State trounced Illinois 35-0 and received 908 points while

Notre Dame crushed Georgia Tech 69-14 and earned 798.

Next came Michigan with 688 points off a 63-20 whipping of Northwestern, followed by Kentucky with 568 after a 28-6 triumph over Vanderbilt. Eighth-ranked Arkansas, a 35-9 victor over Baylor, received 536 points while No. 9 Penn State beat North Carolina State 21-17 and received 464 points.

Pitt. No. 12 last week, walloped West Virginia 44-3 and received 339 points to supplant idle Texas A&M as the No. 10 team. Following Texas A&M in the Second Ten were Nebraska, Brigham Young, Southern California, Clemson, Florida State, Arizona State, Texas Tech, North Carolina and Colgate, whose 9-0 record is the nation's best.

Last week's Second Ten was Nebraska, Pitt, Clemson, BYU, Florida State, Southern Cal, California and Louisiana State with Arizona State and Iowa State tied for 19th.

However, California lost to Washington 50-31, LSU bowled to Alabama and Iowa State was knocked off by Colorado 12-7.

Texas Tech, which had been in the Top Twenty until losing to Texas a week ago, climbed back in by beating Texas Christian 49-17. North Carolina made it for the first time this season by holding Clemson to a 13-13 tie and Colgate flattened Bucknell 49-17.

DENVER (AP) — Brigham Young University quarterback Marc Wilson set a record for most yards passing in a game with 571 against Utah and was named Western Athletic Conference Offensive Player of the Week today.

Cliff Featherstone of Colorado State was named Defensive Player of the Week on Monday. Featherstone had two interceptions, three pass deflections and a fumble recovery against Arizona.

Hawk Queens soar, 81-50

By MARJ CARPENTER

The Hawk Queens jumped out front of the RangerAnns from Ranger Junior College and stayed there all the way to an 81-50 victory in their home-opener at Howard College Monday night.

The Queens now journey to Canyon to play West Texas State Thursday with their next home game at 7 p.m. Saturday against University of Texas El Paso.

Tami Edwards of Farmington paced the scoring with 26 points. Sherrie Coalsion of Bronte poured in 16 more including eight cool points at the freethrow bucket where she only missed one all evening.

Letha Strickland from Forsan was the only other Queen in the double figures with 10.

But the real story for the Queens was told on the rebound portion of the game with the Queens controlling the backboards most of the time.

Paula St. Julian, Bev Strickland, Kelley Cartwright, Sherrie Coalsion, Jan Phillips, and Linda Batla spent the evening proving that they really didn't want anyone else to have the ball as they alternated in the ball game.

A girl named Sam Morrow was leading scorer for Ranger with 12 points. The Queens had also defeated Ranger in their opener at the RangerAnns home court.

Paula, who hails from Rayne, La. also took advantage of the jump circle to get the ball back for the queens on more than one occasion.

Coach Don Steven's charges play with a cool calm that is unusual in girl's basketball, but sure aids in spinning a game toward victory.

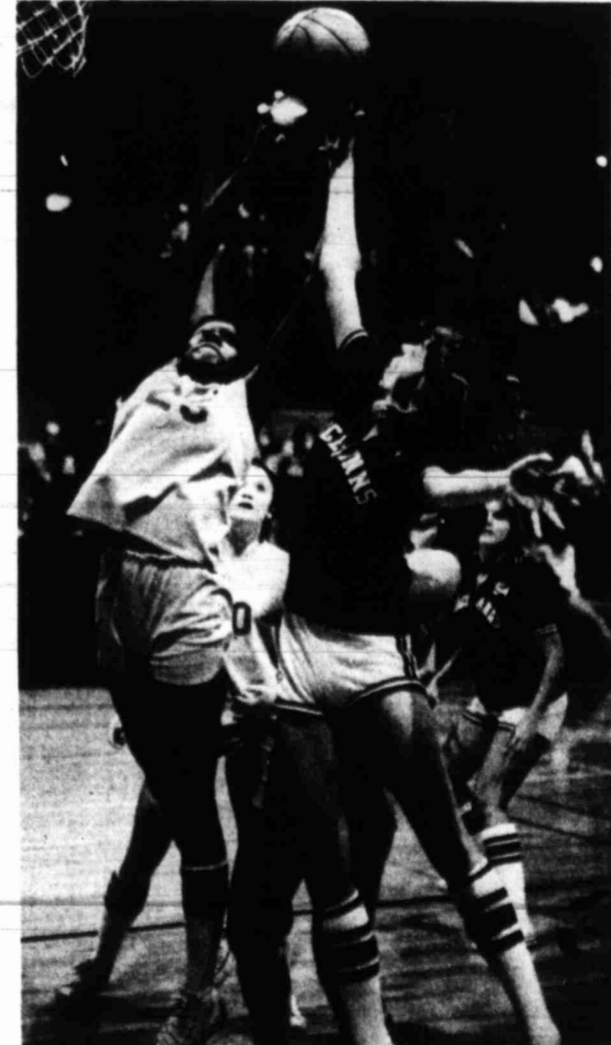

Right after the half, the Anns came roaring back and narrowed the 25-point lead to 18, but the Queens never bobbled as they calmly began to snatch the rebounds and work back toward that good solid lead.

The Queens are going to be a good team to watch this season. They will play part of their schedule in double headers with the Hawks and some of them on their own, such as Saturday night of this week.

The schedule goes all the way into February and ends in a tournament.

Tom inks new Poke pact

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry, the only coach the Dallas Cowboys have ever known, will keep that status and then some, at least through 1991, according to the Dallas Times Herald.

The newspaper reported in its Tuesday editions that Landry, now 53, has signed a new five-year pact with the club. The formal announcement is expected to be made today prior to Landry's weekly news conference.

The signing comes as no earth-shaking surprise despite the fact that the dapper Landry has coached the Cowboys for two years sans contract. His charges are now 8-0 on the season and armchair quarterback by the dozens are quietly speculating on an undefeated year. Landry also hinted last spring he would likely coach at least three more years before assessing the situation further. Landry's old 10-year contract expired in 1975. The delay, he said, was simply a tax structuring and estate problem.

Landry not only coaches the Cowboys, he owns a chunk of the club.

Aside from the actual signing, the newspaper said specific terms of the new pact were not disclosed. However, Tex Schramm, Cowboy general manager and president, said Landry remains in the top financial echelon of his profession.

"When it's all tallied, his compensation for his time with the Cowboys will compare more than favorably with any coach in the National Football League," said Schramm, who confirmed that terms of the contract were reached quickly.

UT to go with new QB

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — If the name Sam Anasley doesn't exactly ring a bell for you, have a little sympathy for Texas Coach Fred Akers.

It's likely that the freshman quarterback will be at the helm Saturday when the No. 1 Longhorns take on Texas Christian.

Anasley was projected into the role Monday night when it was learned that a knee injury to Randy McEachern would keep him out of the contest.

Anasley will be thrust into the spotlight the same way McEachern was when first-string quarterback Mark McBath fell to an injury, to be followed to the dispensary, by backup Jon Aune, all in the same quarter.

McEachern came on in the vicious contest with Oklahoma and led the Longhorns to victory and the climb to the nation's No. 1 ranking.

Anasley has run four times for four yards this season, and completed his only pass for 15 yards.

McEachern had some encouragement for Anasley. "Sam knows what we're doing," McEachern said.

"He's been at it in practice all fall and been at our meetings."

Akers wasn't so convincing. "Somebody's got to play," he said.

McEachern, who was Texas' third-string quarterback when the season started, will try to rehabilitate the injury in time for the televised game against Baylor Nov. 19 in Austin.

Rudy Izzard, a junior defensive back who was a quarterback at San Angelo High School, is a possible backup to Anasley.

Colts muddy 'Skins

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was another Monday night victory, not as impressive as a year ago, perhaps, but right on schedule as far as the Baltimore Colts were concerned.

The Colts slogged through the mud in Memorial Stadium to score a 10-3 decision over the Washington Redskins, with a 12-yard pass from Bert Jones to a diving Freddie Scott providing the winning points early in the final quarter.

While it pushed Baltimore's record to 7-1 and kept it alone atop the AFC East, the hard-earned triumph in the defense-dominated clash of neighborhood rivals was in sharp contrast to the last Monday night game here, one year ago against Houston.

The Colts hosted the Oilers, also in the season's eighth week, and thundered to a 38-14 victory. It proved to be their best effort of the year as they dropped two of their final five games before being easily eliminated in the first round of the playoffs.

But although the margin of victory over the Redskins was much smaller, the Colts felt their latest nationally televised win would show up more decisively in the long run.

"We're hitting our peak at the right time this season," said defensive end Fred Cook. "Last year, I think, we reached our peak too soon. The Houston game was our best, seven weeks before we really needed it. This time we're more confident."

Cook, a four-year veteran, and the rest of the Colts' "Sack Pack" front four put intense pressure on Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann, sacking him five times and helping to create a pair of interceptions by linebacker Stan White.

The Baltimore offense, meanwhile, was controlling the ball, with Jones & Company running off 80 plays to Washington's 54 and using up 12½ more minutes of playing time.

"I said early in the week that we couldn't leave our defense out there all game and still beat the Colts. Well, that's exactly what we did, and I didn't help them any," said Theismann, who completed 11 of 27 throws for 168 yards.

Theismann and the rest of the Redskins, now 4-4 and in third place in the NFC East, thought they had gained a shot at a tie on the final play.

The quarterback's toss from the Baltimore 13 was caught in the end zone by Calvin Hill. But the officials, who had stopped the clock with two second remaining as defensive players lined up, ruled that time had run out before the ball was snapped.

"Everybody tells their players to walk back slowly and take their time," Washington Coach George Allen said. "But he (the official) had stopped the clock. If that's the case, then either the clock is wrong or we had a touchdown."

A poor play by the special teams, a perennially strong point of Allen-coached squads, led to the Colts' winning points in the game played in a steady rain on a field soaked by two days of downpour.

Late in the third period, with the score knotted on field goals by Toni Linhart and Mark Moseley, Washington punter Mike Bragg shanked a 22-yard kick out of bounds at the Baltimore 39.

From there, the Colts moved steadily downfield, with Jones suddenly finding the range on passes that earlier that had been sailing over the heads of open men or splashing in the mud in front of diving receivers.

"It was hard to really zip the ball in this kind of weather," said Jones, who completed 13 of 27 passes for 180 yards.

On a third-and-seven situation, Jones hit Scott with a bullet over the middle, gaining the first down by inches at the Washington 14. Then after a two-yard run, Jones and Scott connected again, this time for the winning TD on a pass that the Amherst graduate had to stretch full-length to grab in the end zone.

"I knew I'd have to dive, but I didn't think I'd have to go that far out," Scott said. "The ball took off a little."

Jones admitted that the scoring toss "wasn't a perfect throw," but said he never wanted to haul it back in once it left his hand.

"I thought it was catchable," he said. "And besides, it was a touchdown. I never want them back."

Lew Jenkins named to Boxing Hall of Fame

Lew Jenkins, who spent part of his early years in Big Spring and who still has strong family ties here, has been named to the Boxing Hall of Fame, along with former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and the late Chalky Wright, one-time ruler of the Featherweight division.

Also named to the shrine Monday were Tom King, who fought in the 1880s, and Jimmy Britt, active in the 1900s.

Jenkins, recognized as one of the hardest hitters in the lightweight ranks, won the 135-pound title May 10, 1940, when he knocked out Lou Ambers.

Lew held the championship until December the following year, when he was outpointed by Sammy Angott. Jenkins fought 109 fights, 66 of which he won. He knocked out 47 opponents.

Lew is the brother of Pete Jenkins of Big Spring. Lew now resides in California.

NCAA lifts MU probation

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — University of Minnesota Athletic Director Paul Giel says he is impressed with the National Collegiate Athletic Association decision to lift an indefinite probation against all university men's sports except basketball.

"I'm sorry the basketball probation was extended," Giel said. "But considering how long all of this has been going on, the lifting of the probation on our entire program should be a morale booster for our athletic department."

The university basketball program remains on probation until Oct. 28, 1978, the university said Monday.

The lifting of the probation was expected after the university ended an impasse with the NCAA by declaring basketball players Mike Thompson and Dave Winey ineligible.

University Vice President Stan Kepler said he expects a decision early next week on the type of suspension the NCAA will hand Winey and Thompson.

That decision is expected to be announced before the Gophers' first basketball game Nov. 16 against the Cuban national team.

The NCAA had contended that Thompson, the Big Ten scoring champion last season, had sold season tickets for more than their face value and that Winey had accepted free lodging at a lake home from a university booster.

The basketball probation dates from the day University President C. Peter Magrath informed the NCAA of the ineligibility action taken against the two 6-foot-10 basketball players.

The basketball probation actually amounts to an increased penalty and means the team will not be able to appear in post-season tournaments next spring or on NCAA-sponsored television games this season.

Mama Campbell may get Heisman

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Ann Campbell remembers when one of her 11 children was "Bad Earl" and a brush with the law was just one step away.

But "Bad Earl" blossomed into the "Tyler Rose," the University of Texas' earth-moving fullback.

Earl Campbell now appears just one step away from college football's coveted Heisman Trophy, but to Mama he's just "a little boy who grew up in the sand."

And the 6-1, 220-pound Earl, one of three Campbell brothers on the Longhorn roster, credits his mother with keeping him on the right course.

"You will never meet a person as great as my mother," said Campbell, who leads NCAA rushers and has sparked the Longhorns to a No. 1 national ranking.

When she was widowed in 1966, Ann Campbell gathered her seven boys and four girls around her in their one-story wooden house down a black-top country road outside of Tyler. Earl was the fifth oldest and in the fourth grade when she laid down the ground rules.

"We sat down together, and I told them I wouldn't be able to pay any fines to get them out of jail," she said. "But if they stayed out of trouble, I could feed them and keep clothes on their back."

"I was strict," said Mrs. Campbell. "I believed in them coming home and going to bed here. If you get in at a decent hour, I can give in, kind of."

"It got through their heads," she said, adding that she never even had to pay a traffic fine for her children.

"It's kind of funny how your mom can do things you don't as you're coming," Earl said. "Hey Earl," she'd say, "you're gonna do things."

"In order to appreciate the good things, you got to be down," he said, referring to the "Bad Earl" days.

"To be honest, I did some bad things. To be honest, I'm proud I did them. That's where my mother comes into the story. I was fortunate to survive. I didn't want to do those things. I fought to stop."

Mrs. Campbell explained that period of her son's life. "He was going over foot's hill," she said. "Smoking maybe two packs of cigarettes a day in junior high school."

Foreman itching to fight again?

By the Associated Press "George been acting funny lately—restless like," said the mother of the former world heavyweight champion. "I spect he may be wantin' to get back in the ring."

"After all, fightin' was his world. It was all he ever did. It was all he lived for. If it would make him happy, I wouldn't raise any objections."

Is George Foreman, who demolished Joe Frazier twice and stopped Ken Norton in two rounds, planning a comeback?

Such a rumor circulated today in the wake of Ken Norton's split decision victory over Jimmy Young and the failure of champion Muhammad Ali to definitely commit himself to a bout with the winner.

Naturally, the first thing to do was put in a call to George. But where was George?

Owl foot out

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice Coach Homer says Wes Hansen, the Owls' sophomore placekicker from Sophomore, has been suspended for the remainder of the football season.

Rice suspended Hansen for disciplinary reasons before Owens' 41-24 loss to Southern Methodist Saturday at Dallas and announced Monday Hansen had been suspended for the team's two remaining games.

The loss to SMU was Rice's eighth consecutive defeat this season.

Decision pends

MOUNT PLEASANT, Texas (AP) — The fate of the Atlanta High School football team will be decided Wednesday by a meeting of District 7AAA superintendents and athletic directors.

Mount Pleasant High School officials Monday filed a formal protest with the district athletic committee charging that Atlanta used an ineligible player in its 12-9 victory Friday over Mount Pleasant. If the protest is upheld, Atlanta could forfeit all its games.

QBC meeting

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will hold its weekly meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the BSHS cafeteria. Game films and scouting reports will be given.

The George Foreman Development Corp., 3120 Southwest Thruway, Houston, Texas, said the boss wasn't around. He had gone to Marshall. That's the little Texas town where George was born.

The phone rang at the 2½-acre Foreman farm. George wasn't there, either. But his mother was. She would pass the message on to George. He was out somewhere evangelizing.

In April, after a shocking defeat at the hands of Jimmy Young, Foreman told of a vision from Heaven which directed him to go out and give the message of the Bible to the masses.

"I go where God leads me," he said.

Less than a month later he announced he was retiring from the ring because of his religious beliefs and his love for his mother.

George's mom, who was separated from Foreman's father when their son was 5, said that was so when George first began his ring career but not necessarily the case now.

Harry M. England, president of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association which sponsors the program, said Monday that all available tickets had been sold after "an unprecedented early demand."

The only seats remaining for possible purchase are those which will be allotted to the competing teams.

Under NCAA regulations, no team may be contacted or invited to any bowl game prior to 6 p.m. Nov. 19.

The Sugar Bowl game in the Louisiana Superdome will match the champion of the Southeastern Conference — a title already clinched by Alabama — against the best available team in the country.

Juniors win

The last two junior high volleyball teams finished their 1977 season Monday night with wins over Colorado City.

Runnels Red defeated visiting Cee City 15-7, 15-11, with Lisa Majors and Kama Menschew scoring seven points each. Delayne Lott and Sandy Puga were named on-defense. The Red team concluded the year with a 7-7 record.

Goliad Black decided on Cee City 15-6, 15-6. Susan Smith (9), Karla Hale (8) and Jackie Ray (6) were the leading high-point servers.

Heavyweight boxing is in trouble. Ali's act is as jaded as Milton Berle's Comedy Hour.

Only Foreman, age 29, is capable of generating new excitement. A 6-foot-4, 225-pound monster, he has proven he can crush any man he can catch, as Frazier and Norton will attest. He was neutralized by Ali's rope-a-dope in Zaire and Young's fancy counter-punching in Puerto Rico, defeats he could charge off to naively.

"He got going too fast, he never got a chance to breathe," said his sympathetic mother. "I see a big difference in him now. He has control of his life. But I wonder about him. I keep thinking he wants to fight again."

Tech makes big time!

DALLAS (AP) — The Arkansas-Texas Tech game scheduled for Nov. 26 has been switched to Thanksgiving Day so it can be nationally televised by ABC-TV, it was learned Monday.

Also, it was learned that the Texas-Baylor Southwest Conference game Nov. 19 will be televised nationally as the second game of a doubleheader with Michigan and Ohio State.

Yet another nationally televised game, Texas A&M and Houston at College Station Dec. 3, has already been announced.

Scouts to see Hogs & Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — There will be representatives of eight bowls at the Southwest Conference football game between Arkansas and Texas A&M at Kyle Field Saturday.

Watching from the press box will be representatives from the Orange, Sugar, Liberty, Sun, Fiesta, Gator, Bluebonnet and Cotton Bowls.

What's next? A fourth Ali-Norton bout? Perish the thought. Fifteen rounds of packaged boredom, proving nothing. A comeback by Smokin' Joe Frazier against Earnie Shavers? The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Old Pugilists wouldn't stand for it. A succession of Bums of the Month for the great Ali? Forget it.

SENTENCED TO LIFE IN PRISON - Convicted murderer Ronny Zamora, 15, wiper hands after being fingerprinted in the courtroom immediately after being sentenced to life in prison Monday in Miami, Fla. Zamora was the subject of the much publicized "TV Insanity" trial in September.

Bush takes

ATLANTA (AP) - Former CIA Director Richard Helms should not have been prosecuted for lying under oath to a Senate committee, his successor at the agency said Monday.

George Bush, who served as CIA chief at the end of Gerald Ford's presidential term, told an Atlanta civic club that Helms should not have been prosecuted for "security reasons." Bush refused to elaborate on that statement.

Helms, who was sentenced to one year on probation and fined $2,000 in connection with his Senate testimony, has said his refusal to disclose information to the committee was based on "national security."

Helms allegedly misled the committee about the CIA's involvement in Chile during the regime of Salvador Allende, who died after his government eventually was overthrown by a military faction.

Although Bush said he disapproved of prosecution of Helms by the Carter administration, he conceded that the president had "inherited a very difficult situation."

Helms' fine and suspended sentence "appears to have been a very moderate" solution to a sensitive problem, said Bush, who now is a businessman in Texas.

Two deputies

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Two former sheriff's deputies have admitted balking at Fort Worth, Texas, money broker out of $400,000 and pleaded guilty to mail fraud charges in a federal court.

Rolph Davenport, 39, and Ponn Weldon, 46, Monday admitted fraudulently causing $100,000 to be sent through the mail from the Texas money broker to a Pasadena branch of California Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Both men were members of the sheriff's major crimes division when they allegedly agreed with one of their informants to set up a fictitious corporation to arrange the transfer of funds. The scheme was foiled when the informant went to federal authorities.

TV records sentencing

MIAMI (AP) - Ronny Zamora, who was defended in a murder trial on grounds that television violence drove him insane, stood silent before the TV cameras that recorded his sentencing to life in prison.

Judge Paul Baker brushed aside sentencing advice from famed psychiatrist Karl Menninger and others on Monday as he sentenced the 15-year-old to a minimum 25 years in jail.

Defense attorney Ellis Rubin, in his final plea for leniency for Zamora, waved psychiatric reports and even petitions from schoolmates in front of Baker.

Baker interrupted, saying "I've even had a letter from Dr. Karl Menninger. But it is not their business. Unfortunately, it is mine."

Zamora's trial and sentencing were open to television and still camera coverage under a one-year experiment ordered by the Florida Supreme Court.

Before sentencing the teenager in the murder of his 83-year-old neighbor, Elinor Haggart, Baker offered Zamora a chance to make a statement to the court. But Zamora stood silent and with judging.

Baker said Zamora should be placed in a "youthful offender facility" where he could receive psychiatric help.

Round ball is coming

Many people are glad to see basketball season coming up. It gives the Steers another beginning. Coach Don Robbins couldn't help but be extremely disappointed with the football season. He tried everything he knew just like many good coaches before him. Contrary to some of the grumblings in the stands, coaches do the very best they can. It's their livelihood and it's the thing they are interested in and they do not like to lose. Whatever is the problem here in football, I am convinced of two things. It's not the coaches, because we've had too many here that did well before they came and after they left.

It's not the fact that Big Spring is the smallest school in the district exclusively. I say this because we also lose in football sometimes to smaller AAA schools. These are a lot of people do a lot of things to try to overcome the losses. And there are a lot of people who care, including most of the boys who are out for football. I am more prone to blame boys 'not out' for sports and their parents who constantly say "It's all political." That is pure hogwash. Any coach will use any kid that's good anywhere he can place him, to the best advantage. Even if he is green polka dot and comes from Star Wars. Part of the problem is probably because not as many youths go out as should, because we have had so many losing years. And there are lots of parents who encourage them not to go out. And then bellyache loud and hard because somebody else's kid isn't winning. I am not talking here about any youth who has an injury or a physical reason to stay out of football. And I'm not saying every youth is geared for it. But there is lots of probable football talent lurking around in the stands.

Three regents reappointed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced the reappointment Monday of three University of Houston regents — Dr. Davis Armistead of Lubbock and Robert Grainger and James Elkins Jr., both of Houston. Briscoe also appointed Charles Schmidt of Amarillo as a regent at West Texas State University and reappointed Dee Osborne of Houston as a regent at the Canyon school. Schmidt is replacing Donald Curry of Fort Worth, whose term expired. Other appointments included: —Statewide Health Coordinating Council, Dr. John Selby Sr. of Lubbock. —Board of Tax Assessor Examiners, Norman Register of Dallas. —Criminal Justice Division Advisory Board, Chief Justice Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court, State District Judge Herman Jones of Austin, and executive director C. Raymond Justice of the Texas Judicial Council.

Handicapped children

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A total of 2,144 handicapped children have been enrolled in public schools since the state began in early 1976 to locate those who might be eligible, the Texas Education Agency reported Monday. The figure is expected to reach 4,735 as new programs are developed within the next few months, said associate education commissioner Don Partridge. The effort to find handicapped children not being served was generated by state and federal regulations, Partridge said. Most of the children not being served were in the 3-5 age group. The largest single group of children referred for service were those with speech problems — 18.8 percent.

Dozen compete in mayor's race

HOUSTON (AP)—A light turnout, estimated by city officials at no more than 200,000 of the city's some 650,000 registered voters, is expected today as voters select a new mayor of the nation's fifth largest city. Twelve candidates — including a millionaire businessman, a black activist, a member of the Socialist Workers' Party, a member of the Nazi party, and a man who said he is running because God told him to do so—are on the ballot. With Mayor Fred Hofheinz refusing to seek re-election to a third term, the list of candidates began to grow and almost insured a runoff election between the top two vote-getters on Nov. 22.

The front runners are Frank Briscoe, 51, former Harris County district attorney, a law-and-order conservative beaten by about 1 percent of the vote in the 1975 campaign; Nobel C. Ginther Jr., 44, a millionaire attorney-businessman, making his first political venture; and Jim McConn, 49, a builder and developer and former city councilman.

These three have spent more than $1 million in an effort to win a job that pays $20,000 a year plus $5,000 in expenses. Briscoe has listed expenses of $466,589; McConn $428,116 and Ginther $290,492. Considered as possible runoff candidates because of the lack of voter interest and the grumblings against the big spenders are Bette Graham White, 38, a community organizer and leader in Hofheinz' 1975 campaign, and Dick Gottlieb, 53, an advertising firm owner, television personality, former city councilman and twice an unsuccessful candidate for mayor.

Others in the race: Dana McNatt, 28, a contractor, member of a unit of the Houston Nazi party who speaks at civic clubs wearing a swastika armband. Ovide Duncantell, 41, a black activist who once said Houston should be "leveled to the ground" because of police brutality. Arthur E. Abrego, 29, an X-ray technician who said God told him to run for mayor one day while he was painting his house.

Diana Sage, 30, a machine operator and member of the Socialist Workers party. Manuel Arturo Velasco, 49, former U.S. Justice Department prosecutor for Houston area civil rights cases. Allan Vogel, 34, a longshoreman, member of the Libertarian party who placed two-minute advertisements during the break of double-features at several Houston X-rated movie theaters.

Midwifery trial off to fast start in Corpus

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — The trial of a Brownsville man that prosecutors acknowledge will "test the waters" of public opinion concerning the practice of midwifery got off to a fast start Monday. Midwifery is a generally accepted practice among the predominantly Mexican-American population of South Texas.

Lawyers seated a seven-man, five-woman jury in less than four hours Monday to hear the case against Miguel Orihuela, 44, charged with injury to a child. Orihuela was arrested last June, six days after the birth of Juan Martin Valenciano. The charge alleges that Orihuela "mashed the head...with an instrument" while delivering the infant in his clinic. Orihuela has been jailed since June on a number of felony and misdemeanor charges in lieu of $197,000 bond. He has indicted by a grand jury June 19 for the single-count felony for which he is being tried.

State District Judge Darrell Hester granted a change in venue to Corpus Christi and is presiding over the trial here. "I'm stumbling with the questions because it's a unique case," Hester told newsmen Monday. "You can ask any of the lawyers — I could ramble on for hours if it was a murder trial."

Defense lawyers contend that Orihuela followed accepted midwife procedures in the Valenciano delivery and did nothing to cause injury. If convicted, Orihuela faces a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

MIKE RANDLE...and spirit poster under them. But it's just about basketball season. Shown above is a picture of Mike Randle, an art teacher at the high school. He's one of many people who tried to encourage the Steers this year during football, any way that he could. This is one of many posters he prepared. Randle is a former all-district basketball player at Big Spring High and he will be assisting Coach Tom Collins, who Big Springers learned to know last year on the baseball field. Here's hoping that the volleyball girls keep winning and get into the playoffs. And here's hoping that Big Spring comes up with a winning cage team. I especially noticed how upset the Permian girls were the night that Big Spring beat them. They were crying. They were humiliated. On the way to the bus, one of them said, "Oh well, we beat you in everything else." I answered, "Oh I don't know about that. We beat you in baseball last year and may beat you in basketball this year. The Mojo is just another team." I guess at least once a month I drift back to sports. That's a bad habit of an old sports writer. I don't know whether sports is all that much advantage for a youth physically. But it does teach him how to fight to win — how to get along with his contemporaries under tough circumstances, how to lose (gosh knows we've learned enough of that) and how to come from behind and fight back. One of these years it's going to all fall right. I keep believing that — out where I occasionally ride by the football fence.

"You can lower your heating bill 24% this winter by lowering the temperature in your home from 74° to 68°."

"A setting of 68° during the winter is the one Texas Electric recommends for both comfort and energy efficiency. For each degree above 68° the energy used for heating your house is increased by approximately 4% per degree.

Lucy Dubuis
TESCO Information Dept.

As shown by the chart the difference between the recommended thermostat setting and 74° is 24%. At 78° the increase in energy usage is 40% or more. Clearly, the lower you set your thermostat the lower your heating bill is going to be. And after last winter, one of the coldest on record, we think a lot of people are going to be trying their best to use less energy.

Remember to change the filter in your heating system regularly, too. A dirty filter causes your heating system to work longer and that costs you more. Check the filter at least once each month.

All forms of energy are costing more these days. If you're serious about saving energy and money, request a copy of our energy efficiency tips booklet on the comment portion of your electric service bill.

Electricity. You count on it today. We're working to keep it that way.
