Foreign Minister Fahmy resigns

Sadat will visit Jerusalem

By the Associated Press
President Anwar Sadat of Egypt will visit Jerusalem for 36 hours starting Saturday night and will address the Israeli parliament Prime Minister Menahem Begin announced today.

But Sadat will make the visit, which he has described as a "sacred duty," without the support of Syria and apparently with major opposition within his own country. His foreign minister resigned today. In Beirut, Palestinian leader Yasir

Arafat condemned the planned visit and urged Sadat to cancel it. In his address to the Israeli parliament, Sadat is expected to call for Israeli evacuation of all lands captured in the 1967 war and establishment of a Palestinian state—standard Arab demands that Israel has previously rejected.

But the visit in itself will represent unprecedented recognition by an Arab leader of the state of Israel.

Begin announced the visit shortly after Sadat returned from Damascus, where he failed to win President Hafez Assad's support for the visit.

Assad called the visit a source of "deep sorrow." The trip has also come under fire from Iraq and Libya.

Egypt's official Middle East News Agency said that when Sadat returned to Ismailia, he received the official Begin invitation for the visit through U.S. Ambassador Hermann Eilts. It was accompanied by a message from President Carter, the contents of which were not disclosed.

Sadat accepted. The U.S. ambassador to Israel, Samuel Lewis, then called Begin, who made the announcement to visiting U.S. congressmen.

At the same time, Egypt's official Middle East News Agency announced that Sadat's foreign minister and key aide since the 1973 war, Ismail Fahmy, had resigned, a move that could indicate deep opposition within the country to the Jerusalem visit.

The agency said Fahmy's letter of resignation cited "new elements which affected the situation," an apparent reference to Sadat's trip. "I feel that I cannot continue in my post and that I cannot continue to share in shouldering responsibilities in these conditions," Fahmy wrote.

In Jerusalem, Begin told a group of American congressmen in the presence of reporters that Sadat would arrive Saturday and would pray in the Al Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem Sunday before addressing the Israeli parliament.

Begin's office confirmed that the prime minister was referring to Saturday Nov. 19. The announcement came as a surprise to most Israelis who had not expected the Egyptian visitor before Nov. 24.

Begin said he hoped Sadat would also visit Yad Vashem, Israel's national monument to Nazi victims and a regular stop on all visits of foreign dignitaries.

Speaking to reporters in Damascus after their meeting, Sadat and Assad — allies in the October 1973 war — acknowledged that they had failed to reach agreement on the Jerusalem visit.

Tower lauds decision

Sen. John Tower (R-Tex.) had glowing words for the spirit of Big Spring and its citizens, and for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation for deciding to set up operations here.

"Obviously Lockheed has recognized the inherent advantages of doing business in Texas. I know that the very positive, energetic and cooperative spirit demonstrated by the citizens and business leaders and city officials of Big Spring had a lot to do with the company's decision.

"This is a very positive step for Big Spring. A city whose determined pursuit of economic recovery and development goals has been truly remarkable since the time of the Air Force's decision to close Webb AFB."

City Manager Harry Nagel said that the city is "prepared to move" as soon as it learns that Lockheed has won its bid to modify fighter planes for the government.

"We are ready to go ahead. But nothing will be done until we are sure that Lockheed has the contract. Then we will move in, tear down Hangar One, and build the new one," said Nagel.

Shah of Iran supports oil price freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today hailed as "welcome news" a statement by the Shah of Iran that the oil exporting cartel should "give a break" to consumer countries and forego any increase for at least a year.

President Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, told reporters that the decision by the shah to work against an oil price increase "is an encouraging one and one we appreciate and find welcome news."

Powell said Carter made no pledge to meet Iran's requests for permission to buy additional quantities of advanced American military equipment.

The shah, who earlier this week said his country would "remain silent" on the question of raising oil prices, told a news conference late Wednesday that Carter had talked him into changing his position from one of neutrality to openly opposing a price hike.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUES — These law enforcement authorities met Wednesday in Midland to discuss possible civil rights violations in the Glasscock County shooting death of Tiburcio Griego Santome. From left to right, District Attorney Rick Hamby, Special Assistant Attorney General Ed Ibar, Assistant Attorney General Dan Maeso, Texas Ranger Captain J.P. Lynch, Texas Ranger Eddie Almond, and Texas Ranger Sgt. Jesse Priest discussed the investigation of the case.

Santome probe not faulted

By BOB BURTON
Two Assistant Attorneys General said in Midland Wednesday that their investigation into possible civil rights violations in the Glasscock County shooting of a Mexican national were not intended to reflect on local handling of the incident.

"Our presence does not in any way imply that local law enforcement is not doing a proper job," said special Assistant Attorney General Ed Ibar. "This should not be viewed as an infringement of District Attorney Hamby's prerogative as D.A. to take any action advisable at the conclusion of the investigation."

Hamby agreed with the state investigator, and said, "The entrance of the Attorney General's office into the investigation of the death of Tiburcio Santome has nothing to do with state criminal investigations."

According to Assistant Attorney General Dan Maeso, the two state investigators will return to Midland from Austin as their investigation requires. Maeso said that should Attorney General Hill decide that action was required, he would request prosecution by the federal government.

Idar and Maeso are a part of a ten-man team handling civil rights investigations under the auspices of the Attorney General's office.

"In prior cases, we had the full cooperation of state law enforcement authorities, and in one particular case, Ranger Dan North was awarded a commendation by the Department of Justice for his part in the investigation," said Idar.

Other cases investigated by the pair included the death of Joe Campos Torres in Houston, and the Morales incident in Castroville.

Said Hamby, "Our investigation will continue in the hands of Texas Ranger Eddie Almond and Ranger Sergeant Jesse Priest. If the investigation should uncover anything of interest to the prosecution, it will be followed up. I have faith in the people of Glasscock County to see justice done."

Santome was shot Nov. 6 by ex-deputy G.B. Thurwanger. Thurwanger and Glasscock County Sheriff Royce (Booger) Pruitt had arrested Santome for creating a disturbance at the town of St. Lawrence. Santome, after being placed in the rear of the car, allegedly pulled a knife and cut both Thurwanger and Pruitt before Thurwanger picked up a 9 millimeter double-action Smith and Wesson from the console and fired four times.

Jurors pondering fate of millionaire Davis

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A large white wooden door with a bullet hole was brought into the jury room today as nine men and three women pondered the fate of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis.

Davis, 44, is charged with the slaying of his 12-year-old stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, the night of Aug. 2, 1976, at his $6 million residence that was at the time the home of his estranged wife, Priscilla.

Mrs. Davis' live-in lover Stan Farr, 30, was killed in the shooting spree by a "man in black" that, Mrs. Davis said, also shot and wounded her and a visitor to the mansion, Gus Gavrel. Gavrel's girlfriend, Beverly Bass, survived unharmed.

Forty minutes after the deliberations began early today jurors asked for a drawing of the door showing where Farr was wounded, but Judge George Dowlen ordered that the whole door be brought to the jurors.

The door has one bullet hole. Mrs. Davis testified it was through that door that Farr was shot the first time. He was later shot three times.

The jurors also requested all the testimony of Mrs. Davis and other statements and other witnesses, but Judge Dowlen asked them to be more specific about which parts of the testimony they needed.

About one hour later, the jurors asked for the Aug. 3 statement Miss Bass gave officer C. R. Davis, but Judge Dowlen told them the statement had not been entered as evidence.

The requests for the statements and testimony appeared to indicate the jury would spend more time than observers anticipated reaching a verdict.

Dowlen said the jury was giving "solid consideration to the case. Obviously, this is not going to be a 'one-hour' verdict. They are seriously considering the evidence."

He added the jurors would deliberate until he was "100 per cent convinced" that they cannot get a verdict.

The jury has three choices: capital murder, murder, and acquittal. The first carries only two penalties, death or life in prison. Murder is punishable by 99 years or life.

Prosecutor Joe Shannon and his team are basing their case on circumstantial evidence because there were no witnesses to Andrea's shooting. However, ballistics experts testified for the state that a bullet found under Andrea's body matched the slugs removed from Farr and there was an eyewitness to Farr's shooting — Mrs. Davis.

'Great American Smoke Out'

By the Associated Press
Smokers across the nation were urged today to stop puffing — at least for one day and possibly forever — in support of the "Great American Smoke Out," sponsored by the American Cancer Society and some local government and health organizations.

A spokesman for the society said the group hoped to get 10 million of the country's 54 million smokers to give up their cigarettes for the day. He said that in a similar program in California, 10 percent of those who quit for a day stopped smoking permanently.

Local society volunteers have been distributing "Quit" pledge cards and petitions for people to sign and rallies and special programs were organized in many cities.

Celebrities and public officials in Detroit scheduled a "Smokeout Burnout" — a bonfire in which they pledged to toss their cigarettes. Georgia organizers planned a drawing for a "Cold (frozen) Turkey" for people who promised July 4th to give up smoking and have kept their word. Comedian Shecky Green, chairman of the anti-smoking program in Nevada, set up a "Great Smokeout Race."

A cancer society spokesman in Albuquerque, N.M., said the local organization's main effort would be concentrated in schools since the group feels "the big problem is among teen-age girls and young women."

According to health authorities, there are 30 deaths every hour attributable to smoking. Causes of death linked to smoking include heart attacks, lung cancer and emphysema.

Joseph A. Califano Jr., secretary of health, education and welfare, endorsed today's program. In a telegram to the American Cancer Society, he urged all smokers "to discard their cigarettes today, as I did two years ago, for a longer, healthier and more productive life."

Among those who have promised not to smoke today is Joel Wachs, 38, a Los Angeles city councilman and chain smoker for 20 years. Wachs has stopped smoking before — his longest no-cigarette period was eight months. "But I always took that one cigarette," he said. "Hopefully, people will realize, and in my own case too, that if you can stop for one day, you can stop for one day longer."

MOTHER CHARGED — Carrie Christine Marsh, left, is shown as she was escorted by Dallas, Tex., police after her arrest in connection with the death of her 9-year-old daughter, Barbara Sue Marsh. Police said the slaying took place at Lake Ray Hubbard near Dallas after a mother-daughter dispute. Mrs. Marsh is held in Dallas County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Dallas mom charged in daughter's death

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas woman, who reportedly often told her children "they were keeping her from the life she really wanted to lead," has been charged with murder in the slaying of her 9-year-old daughter.

Carrie Christine Marsh was charged Wednesday after three hours of questioning by Dallas police.

Barbara Sue Marsh disappeared Friday night from near her East Dallas home and her body was found Saturday morning floating in Lake Ray Hubbard.

She was being held on $100,000 bond after Justice of the Peace Tom Naylor signed an arrest warrant alleging Mrs. Marsh "knowingly and intentionally" caused the girl's death by "striking her with a blunt instrument."

Betty Latham, Mrs. Marsh's 20-year-old daughter, said the woman often told her children they were keeping her from leading the life she wanted.

Police said the slaying apparently followed a mother-daughter argument that may have been prompted by an ultimatum from Mrs. Marsh's boyfriend, who told her to choose between the child and him.

Army Cpl. Davis Eugene Latham, Mrs. Marsh's brother-in-law, said the woman mentioned the boyfriend to her landlord about a week ago and said he "wouldn't marry her because of Barbara."

Police said Mrs. Marsh's story about the child's disappearance included "inconsistencies" that made her a suspect.

Action/reaction: Who paid?

Q. Who paid to clean up the debris at the Howard College Coliseum after the TSTA meeting was held there recently? Was the college reimbursed for the job by the teachers' group, or did the taxpayers pick up the tab?

When the coliseum is officially open, the rental fee will include clean-up charges. Since the coliseum was not open, the work was done by a volunteer group which was headed by Jim Holmes, according to School Supt. Lynn Hise. The volunteer group both put up and took down needed items for the meeting. The meeting brought thousands of dollars worth of revenue into Big Spring that day. But the taxpayer doesn't need to worry he was out any additional money.

COLORADO CITY — Three Big Spring men had a unique "watchdog" over their vehicle, according to sheriff's deputies who tried to search the car.

The three were pulled over by Colorado City authorities following an alert concerning some car thieves in Howard County.

But when deputies tried to search the car, they heard a familiar, and frightening sound. Over the radio to Big Spring came the report, "Search being hampered by rattlesnake in vehicle."

The three men were booked on auto burglary anyway.

Amin's son learning to fly

DALLAS (AP) — The son of Ugandan dictator Idi Amin is one of the Ugandan pilots undergoing controversial training at Bell Helicopter in Fort Worth, claims U.S. Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Dallas.

Mattox said Wednesday that he was informed by "very good exile sources" that Babu Tabani is one of Amin's 34 children by five wives and 30 mistresses.

A group of the pilots confirmed Tabani was in training, but refused to say whether he was Amin's son.

When asked, one Ugandan said, "Where did you get that?"

There are 24 Ugandan pilots and engineers, said to be members of the Ugandan civilian police, training at Bell. Mattox has demanded that the Ugandans be forced to leave the United States.

Mattox alleged Wednesday that the trainees must be members of the military because "the Ugandan police force has no helicopter. All helicopters in possession of the Ugandans are priority military aircraft."

"You are free to come to Uganda and find out" how the helicopters will be used, one Ugandan told reporters Wednesday.

Chem spill snags traffic

MINERAL WELLS, Texas (AP) — The Department of Public Safety today temporarily closed part of Interstate 20 near Mineral Wells after an early-morning accident involving a chemical tank truck loaded with acid wastes.

The driver of the truck, Roy Roberts of Lake Charles, La., was taken by a motorist to a truck stop where a quick shower limited his burns to second degree.

DPS dispatcher R. D. Flory said the truck seemed to be Browning-Ferris Co., ran off a lane and overturned on the grass between the service road and the highway. The tank ruptured spilling the corrosive cargo.

Biko was shackled naked

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Black leader Steve Biko was shackled naked for 48 hours during police interrogation and later driven naked to a prison where he died, police witnesses say.

Another police witness Wednesday said Biko attempted suicide while taking a bath in a prison hospital four days before his death Sept. 12.

Sydney Kentridge, a lawyer representing the Biko family at an inquest into the activist's death, asked what right police have to keep a man chained for 48 hours.

Industrial park funds voted by commission

LAMESA — Dawson County Commissioners approved improvements at the Industrial Park and awarded a bid for a new car for the sheriff's department this week.

Representatives of the Lamesa Industrial Foundation met with the commissioners confirming that the county will continue to lend its sponsorship to an application for industrial development funds to help install water and sewer facilities in the industrial park.

The county had agreed to sponsor the grant application back in 1974 when plans for the park were first developed.

The need for water and sewer facilities did not develop as quickly as anticipated so the Farmer's Home Administration grant was not needed.

However, the park is now developing and efforts will be made to secure the funds in order to further the project.

Yule lighting contest is planned by Chamber

It was suggested to Bill Albright, vice president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, that he 'smile' about the chamber has allotted $50 for accreditation.

The chamber board of directors learned of the good forecast at Wednesday's regular monthly meeting.

"I talked to Mill Fletcher, (director of chamber activities in Washington, D.C.) on the phone. He said he couldn't tell me yet whether the chamber has received accreditation. All he could say was 'smile,'" said Albright.

Board members decided to hold a home Christmas lighting contest for the city and surrounding area. The chamber has allotted $50 for best overall lighting for a home.

Also designated was $25 for both best decorated door and best decorated window.

Mel Prather, co-chairman of the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival, reported excellent results from this year's event. Board members pledged to try to double participation in the festival next year.

Board members also named appointments by position for ex-officio members next year. They will be the Mayor, the Howard County Judge, and the Presidents of the Big Spring Independent School District, Howard College, and the Industrial Foundation.

Near the end of the meeting, Albright admonished members present to "keep their mouths shut" about possible industrial prospects for the city.

"Let's forego the impulse to act like a big shot, and let the word out about a prospect. This could mean disastrous results for our efforts to bring businesses to the city," he said.

In other business, board members decided to hold the annual chamber banquet Jan. 30 at the Big Spring High School Cafeteria if the school facility is available. The banquet had previously been planned for the Howard College Coliseum, but the coliseum will not be finished in time.

Instructed Johnnie Lou Avery to look into the possibility of hiring a full-time employe to book groups into the coliseum in the future, working in conjunction with the college.

Tallied membership at 847, and set a goal of 1,000 members before the annual meeting.

Popular Vic Dana returns to club

By MARJ CARPENTER — Visitors at the Nail Wednesday night from Los Angeles were impressed with the 9 p.m. show and couldn't believe it had happened in Big Spring.

The late show at 11 p.m. includes a variety of songs which Dana and his band have not formally used in their trek across the country.

He sings those, along with selections that include some of the rock and roll numbers from the 50s, and some of the newer country western tunes such as "Luckenbach, Texas" and "Lucille."

He was one of the first stars to appear at the Nail and drew quite a Big Spring following which is back listening to Vic through Saturday this week.

He has made television appearances through the years on the Johnny Carson, Mike Douglas, and Dean Martin shows and the Hollywood Squares.

Since last in Big Spring, he has also done some background music for the Laverne and Shirley television series.

He drove 1300 miles to return here from his last appearance in North Carolina. He laughingly said, "You really have to come to Big Spring to come this way, but I sure enjoy the people when I get here."

The singer presents a variety of pop, soul and country music with enough love ballads to bring real nostalgia and loud applause without having to resort to off-color barroom jokes.

Dressing room facility authorized in Stanton

STANTON — The board of trustees of the Stanton Independent School District approved new plans for a girls' dressing room facility at the high school gymnasium.

Tommy Huckabee, Andrew architect, submitted a plan with bids to be taken Dec. 8.

The 2,000 square foot structure will cost an estimated $80,000. It will be built on the east side of the high school gym and will include two girls' dressing rooms and an office for the coach.

In other action, the board discussed purchasing or leasing a micro film machine, accepted a bid of $1,888.88 from Texas School Bus Sales Center in Austin for a used 1970 GMC bus.

They also approved the 1977 audit made by George Thorburn, Big Spring accountant and hired him to do the 1978 audit.

They voted to drill a new water well on the junior high elementary school campus and to run new water lines for a sprinkler system. New grass will be planted on the school playground and near the gymnasium. Holcombe Pump Service was hired for the project at an estimated cost of $3,907.95.

The board also voted to purchase unemployment insurance from the Texas Association of School Boards. The textbook committee was named and includes Leatrice Brown, Gaye Cowan, Belinda Rivera, Flo Decker, Gene Douglas, Barry Farris, Dorothy Stephens, Russell McMeans, Bill Young, J.M. Yater, Wayne Mitchell, John Anastasio, Larry Helton, Nina Gabbert, and Oleta Young.

Pot importing ring smashed

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — More arrests were expected today as federal and state narcotics agents fanned out across Texas, California and Michigan to arrest alleged participants in a large-scale marijuana importing ring.

Don Heath, a spokesman for the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, said 28 people had been arrested by late Wednesday.

Officers acted on warrants in San Antonio after a federal grand jury returned five sealed indictments naming 60 individuals.

The indictments were to be unsealed at noon today. Heath said arrests Wednesday were made in Austin, Llano, Waco, Blanco, Florence, Marlin, Houston, Dallas and Eagle Pass and warrants were served on two prisoners serving time in the Texas Department of Corrections.

Playboy told to pay $105,000

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for writer Norman Mailer and Playboy magazine say they intend to ask a federal judge to overturn a $105,000 jury award to a South Texas boxer who claims he was libeled by one of Mailer's articles.

The jury deliberated nearly five hours Wednesday before deciding that heavyweight Elmo Henderson, 42, should receive the money.

Henderson alleges he was libeled in a May 1975 article in the Playboy that incorrectly said he had been a patient in a Nevada mental institution.

The jurors said $5,000 was to be shared by Mailer and the magazine, with the other $100,000 to be paid by Playboy because it allegedly knew the statement was untrue before publishing it.

The attorneys said they would ask U.S. District Judge Owen Cox for a judgment overturning the jury's award and planned an appeal if that failed.

Henderson, 42, was a sparring partner for George Foreman during Foreman's preparations to fight Muhammad Ali in a heavyweight championship bout in Zaire in 1975.

Mrs. Gerri Atwell, museum curator, said that the museum continues to take reservations for tour groups. Two recently scheduled tours are for St. Mary's Episcopal School and the Elbow Home Demonstration Club.

Recent visitors have included Mr. and Mrs. Louie L. Pistole of Bryan. He played football at Big Spring High in the 20s. He was here visiting his sister, Mrs. F.M. Thorp. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Pistole, who was the third T&P Railroad superintendent to live in Big Spring, coming here in 1918.

U.S.-Cuba diplomatic, business ties dimming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects for full restoration of diplomatic relations and business ties with Cuba appear dimmed following a secret Carter administration study showing that Havana is stepping up its military intervention in Africa.

The study, based on intelligence estimates, does not quarrel with the steps taken by the administration so far to end 16 years of hostility between Washington and Havana. But its judgment is that the pace should be slowed.

Sources here said an estimated 23,000 Cubans, 19,000 of them military, are now in Angola, where the Marxist government is fighting to suppress insurgents who keep a civil war flaring.

The New York Times in today's editions quoted high-ranking administration officials as saying that Cuba has a military presence in 11 other African countries as well and has suffered hundreds of combat deaths in Angola.

The Times said one administration policy-maker said the Cuban actions make restoration of full diplomatic relations "impossible."

The build-up in Angola as described in the administration study contradicts promises given by Cuba during the Ford administration that there would be a general decrease in Cuba's military presence in the former Portuguese colony.

Instead, the Cuban strength is on the upsurge, bolstering President Agostino Neto, who was carried to power partly by Cuban forces in a civil war with pro-western factions.

The administration has registered its concern in Havana over the African intervention. Sources here said the Soviet Union also has been made aware of the American displeasure.

Earlier this week, the State Department estimated that about 550 Cubans have been sent to Ethiopia, all except 150 of them military. The 550 Cubans represent an eightfold increase since May.

In Ethiopia, the Cubans are assisting a Marxist regime fight invading forces from Somalia, which has broken relations with Havana and expelled resident Russian advisers.

Carter said in mid-February he would be willing "to move toward normalizing relationships" with Cuba if he could be convinced that it wanted to remove its "aggravating influence from other countries in this hemisphere" and "will not participate in violence in nations across the ocean."

"Interest sections," which perform many of the functions of regular embassies, were opened in the two capitals Sept. 1. American business groups, sensing new opportunities, have criss-crossed Cuba with the hope that trade could be restored. And the two countries have reached agreement on fishing zones.

IWY, gays match wits

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah's International Women's Year delegation, which plans to sponsor an anti-homosexual resolution at the national IWY conference in Houston this week, has learned its display will be next to the National Gay Rights Coalition booth.

The Utah booth is to be manned primarily by Texas members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), whose leadership has spoken out repeatedly against the gay-rights movement.

Utah got the last available space, after another group cancelled.

Weather Forecast calling for fog to vanish

By the Associated Press. Dense fog lowered visibility levels to zero nearly today in parts of Southeast Texas while the rest of the state was covered with clear skies.

The fog spread inland from the Gulf coast as far as 150 miles. The forecast called for the fog to vanish as temperatures rise.

Meanwhile, a weak cold front moved into northern regions of Texas. The front lowered temperatures behind it to the 30s and 40s. Ahead of the front readings were in the 50s and 60s.

Weathermen said the front was expected to cover the northern half of the state before it became stationary later today. The front was expected to gradually dissipate later today and early Friday.

The forecast called for more mild temperatures today along with clear skies over the state.

Retail sales up

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Soaring retail sales indicate this will be one of the biggest spending Christmases in Texas history, State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday.

Bullock said city sales tax collections — "a prime indicator of the buying public's mood" — have risen 22 percent this year.

"This increase in retail sales reflects a growing confidence in the Texas economy which we feel will carry over into the holiday shopping period," Bullock said in a statement. "If everything continues to go as expected, Texas merchants should have one of their best holiday sales seasons yet."

Daily Bread

By Phillip McClendon, Pastor

HILLCREST BAPTIST CHURCH

Do you give thanks before each meal? Jesus did. Again and again, we read that He lifted His eyes toward Heaven and offered thanks before the simplest meal.

We should be thankful every day, not now and then. We should be thankful for life's privileges and freedoms.

We should be thankful for God Himself and for His gift of Christ.

If you're a Christian, take time this Thanksgiving to list what you have received through faith in Christ's forgiveness, a new heart and mind, the presence of the Holy Spirit, the certainty of Heaven, and more.

Life has new purpose and meaning. You can thank not merely of your life on earth but of your place in God's eternal plan and purpose. God knows you as a person and you know Him. You have a place in the universe to come, a role throughout eternity. Isaiah exclaims those who would one day encounter Christ, "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined." Isaiah 9:2. Has the light shined into your life? If so, be thankful every day.

SEE IT ON THE NEIL DIAMOND SPECIAL TONIGHT AT 9 PM ON NBC-TV.

Bigger than the small cars, smaller than the big cars. We drove our engineers to the limits. We demanded a car whose performance, room and ride were bigger than the small cars'. A car whose price and handling were smaller than the big cars'. We demanded a lot. And we got it. The new 510 is big where you need it. In leg room, hip room, family room. Datsun engineers even extended the front seat track for extra stretch-out room. And included power front disc brakes for extra stopping control.

The new 510 is small where it counts. On the outside, which means it can slip into the snuggest of parking spaces. And new steering which is light to the touch helps make it easy. Levers, switches, gauges galore. The new 510 abounds in conveniences you won't find in every economy car. Stalks mounted on the steering column control lights, turn signals, wipers and washer. A multi-level air flow system cools you all over and, wonder of wonders, defrosts and defogs even the side windows. An electric defroster helps keep the rear window clear. Built to endure. Every new 510 hitches an all-steel, all-welded unibody to a 2-liter overhead cam power plant we've raced to test endurance, and which won to prove it. MacPherson struts up front and a unique rear 4-link rear suspension help iron out road wrinkles. And beefed-up insulation helps keep the noisy outside out. Just like the big cars. Prices start at just $4,093.* The new 510 is a whole new class of economy car. A series of cars — Hatchback, Wagon, 2- and 4-Door

Steers emerging as powerhouse

Whenever any athletic team can win a championship in the super tough District 5-4A competition, they deserve a sustained round of applause.

The Big Spring Steer volleyball team did just that Saturday night. It was especially sweet because the team defeated Odessa Permian, a perennial athletic powerhouse, by a decisive 15-9, 15-10 margin.

The fans have been really turning out to see the Steers play volleyball, and the championship game was a packed-house affair.

NANCY DEASON

THIS SHOWS not only the school spirit and support which the team was able to muster at Big Spring High School, but it also shows the emerging following for girls' athletics.

The girls are fierce competitors, and their contests are as intense and exciting to fans as any of the boys' competitions. I predict we'll see more and more interest in girls' athletics as school districts in Texas build their programs.

The volleyball program under Coach Nancy Deason has been developing rapidly at Big Spring

High. The team was a district power last fall, and with the championship this year, the Steers are a force with which the other schools must contend.

Indian giver

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The United States made a terrible mistake many years ago when it gave the American Indians a lot of what it considered worthless land to live on. It now turns out that this land has on it — and under it — one-third of all the low-sulphur coal suitable for strip mining, about 55 per cent of the nation's uranium and 3 or 4 per cent of its oil and natural gas.

But the Indians, instead of offering to give the land back to the white man, have formed a Council of Energy Resources and are planning to play hard ball when it comes to leases and mining rights. No amount of persuasion can make the Indians realize that the white man had erred in giving them the wrong land.

A FRIEND OF MINE went out to talk to an Indian council member the other day.

He said "I come in peace. Many moons ago our forefathers did your tribe a terrible injustice. We gave you land on which nothing could grow and no animals could graze."

"We know about that," the Indian chief replied. "Our geologists recently reported that the reason nothing could grow on our land was that there was too much low-sulphur coal in it."

"Exactly. Since you are the descendants of these brave warriors we wish to make amends and give you land that really has some value."

"You are very kind, but we are happy with the land," the chief said. "The royalties from our uranium deposits will see us through many a cold winter."

"But mining uranium is so degrading for an American Indian," my friend said.

"WE'RE NOT GOING to mine it," the Indian chief said. "We're going to let the white man do that. We're going into stock investments, bonds and real estate. We might even buy a few insurance companies, and Boardwalk and Park Place, if they ever get those Atlantic City casinos built."

"But, Great Chief, wouldn't your people be happier living somewhere else besides this vast wasteland of parched earth?"

"Do you know what's under that parched earth? Three or 4 per cent of all the oil reserves in the United States. We're even thinking of joining OPEC and trying to persuade them to raise the price of oil to $15 a barrel."

"But what does an Indian want with oil? Your horses and buffalo need fresh water."

"Our Cadillacs and Lincolns don't. They have fuel injection and once you put antifreeze in them they can go without water for a year. Actually, one of our plans is to open a string of gas stations with the brand name 'Fire Water' and start a multimillion-dollar advertising campaign with the slogan, 'Put an Apache in your tank. How does that grab you?'"

"BEFORE YOU MAKE these hasty decisions, O Mighty Chief, let me tell you what we are willing to trade for your wubby reservations."

"I'm listening."

"What would you say if I told you that the United States government is prepared to make up for the terrible treaties we made with you in the past by giving you in exchange for your land the following: the South Bronx, most of Watts in Los Angeles, all the land on the SST approach to Kennedy Airport and part of downtown Cleveland."

"You would do that for the American Indian?"

"It's the least we can do for all the pain and anguish you have suffered through the years."

"I can't give you my answer now because I have to fly off to Washington in a few minutes."

"Why are you going to Washington?"

"I'm lobbying for the gas deregulation bill," the chief said. "How does Carter expect our people to drill for gas when he's only offering us $1.85 per 1,000 cubic feet?"

"I think they blame us for this mess... they say we're not supposed to flock together."

Poor nutrition can affect menstruation

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter, 15 is 4-feet, 11 inches, and weighs 110 pounds. When she was 13 she got her menstrual period. Then at about 14½ it stopped completely. The doctor gave her a thorough examination and found everything normal.

She has been trying to lose weight, and it's very frustrating for her. She eats very little, but just won't lose. Is this a gland problem? I have made an appointment to see an endocrinologist to see what he has to say. Can you advise as to other ways I can help her? —Mrs. L.C.

You've picked the right specialist for this type of problem. He'll be able to tell you if the amenorrhea (lack of menstruation) is due to glandular disorders. By all means, tell him of the girl's efforts to lose weight. A very stringent diet (which many teenagers seem willing to subject themselves to) can cause menstrual irregularities. I suspect that may have something to do with your daughter's problems. This would be even more likely in your daughter's case because of her age and because, after all, she was not what one would call obese to begin with. She is not too far above normal weight for the statistics you give me.

I'd be interested in the outcome of this case, should you care to write me later on.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: So many women tell me about the weird variety of symptoms to expect at menopause that already I'm a walking "case." How many do most women get and which? —Mrs. H.B.

I could give you a shopping list of symptoms — from the hot flushes to vaginal dryness. But what purpose would that serve? I suppose the flushes and sweating would top the list.

The best rule is to anticipate none of them, expect some, and be prepared for the whole lot. My booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," may help you understand the subject a little better. For a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I went to see my doctor for pain in my arm. He said I had "golfer's elbow." I presume this is about the same as "tennis elbow." Am I right, or is there a difference? —J.P.

Yes, and if you were a racket ball enthusiast, he might have called it "racket ball elbow."

The only difference is in the way joints are used in the various sports. You don't have to be a golfer to get "golfer's elbow" anymore than you have to play tennis to get that kind of joint problem. No matter how you slice it it's all bursitis.

A bursa is a fluid-filled sac at a joint over which tendons ride. It's nature's ingenious joint-lubricating mechanism. All joints that move have bursas.

But nature did not envision men swinging merrily at a tiny ball for hours on end — and didn't provide for it. As a result the bursa becomes swollen and inflamed, a painful price to pay for any unwise exertion.

Heat helps ease the pain, but sometimes other treatment may be necessary, such as draining fluid from the area. Hydrocortisone decreases inflammation.

It might be some time before you get back on the course. When you do, favor the elbow a bit at first. I know a friend who had this. He lost some driving power, but turned into a wonderful chipper.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband, age 77, just came home from the hospital. They gave him a bone scan and said he has Pabst's disease. He has been having severe pain in his left leg. The doctor says they can give injections for it, but that the best way to start was with vitamins to see if they helped. He is taking them. Can you give us any further information on this? —Mrs. L.A.S.

You may mean "Paget's disease." I'm not aware of Pabst's disease.

In Paget's, certain bones become weakened and deformed. A descriptive name for it is "osteitis deformans." The long bones of the legs and the skull are most commonly affected. It's not clear why it happens or why these areas are involved.

Fortunately, treatment is available. Good results have been reported with use of calcitonin. This "blocks" the cells that cause calcium loss and the bone breakdown. At the same time, new bone is deposited and pain relieved. This may be the medicine to which your doctor referred. Another preparation — disodium etidronate — can be taken by mouth. It, too, has produced good results. I have doubts about vitamin treatment, although vitamin D is associated with bone growth (calcium absorption).

Paget's is a "cripples" not a "killer," a final note for other readers. Do not confuse this Paget's disease with the other kind, a breast problem, which I've discussed here previously.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: This may sound like a crazy question, but do you know of any cure for fear of heights? —B.Z.

The only help I know of is in psychiatry — hypnosis, etc.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor did a bladder scope on me and found I have cystitis cystica. He told me if they give trouble they will have to be removed. Just what is this? Can it cause me to have colon and stomach pain? Also, can you explain what a urograph is? And is it painful? —B.R.

In both words the root "cysto" is Greek for sac, or bladder. "Cystitis" refers to the urinary bladder, the organ. "Cystica" means the formation of cysts, which are, in a sense, tiny sacs. Thus, cystitis cystica means cysts in the lining of your bladder.

Pain can radiate from the bladder site and seemingly originate in the stomach or other abdominal structures, as the colon. Actually the colon (large bowel) isn't directly involved.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. R.V. — If your husband has the heart problem under control sufficiently to play golf several times a week, no reason why he cannot have sex, too.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

In an attempt to get a chance to at least try out for the team, I confronted Coach Don Robbins with my dilemma. Robbins informed me that he could do nothing about the actions of Coach Collins (which seems a bit strange since Robbins is the one who initially appointed Collins to the position of head basketball coach.)

In my opinion, both Robbins and Collins are not letting the students who have the desire play, because they are playing only to win. To me, this brought up the question that if Robbins is so confident that Collins can produce a winning basketball team (as he did in baseball), why doesn't Robbins have enough confidence in him to let him be head football coach?

In concluding, I would like to ask the citizens of Big Spring which they prefer: A team playing their hearts out to win, or a winning team consisting of students who are 6-3 and 6-4 who are selected for the team only for their height and community influence? And as a concerned student myself, I would like to ask: How long will this continue to happen?

Judging the judge

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Utah's vexatious Judge Willis W. Ritter, who has become a pain in the federal judiciary, may be in difficulty over his payroll practices.

The Justice Dept. was all set to lay the payroll charges before a grand jury last August but held off at the last minute. The department's Public Integrity Section, meanwhile, is keeping the controversial judge under "active investigation."

THE 71-YEAR-OLD RITTER is a roly-poly, white-haired gentleman with a round, red face. Blinking through glasses, he has the look of a beardless St. Nicholas who, however is not at all jolly. On the bench, he scowls and perspires, dabbing his face with Kleenex.

He bullies attorneys, jails innocent bystanders and frees convicts at the drop of a Kleenex. Once he locked up a reporter briefly, without explanation, for picking his nose in court, so the bailiff later explained. Another time, Ritter cited two dozen postal workers for contempt because their mail-sorting machinery disturbed his courtroom.

He has been under constant fire for his judicial idiosyncrasies. But the U.S. Attorney's office in Utah zeroed in on specific allegations that he had granted wrongful favors to his personal secretary and that he had also favored lawyers who represented him in private litigation.

Sources familiar with the payroll case say that Ritter allegedly authorized his secretary, Vickie Jolley, to continue drawing pay for four months in 1974 and another two months in 1975 when she did not work.

According to confidential Justice Dept. papers, the FBI "scheduled simultaneous interviews of (several) persons for the evening of Monday, August 22, 1977." Among other things, the agents were supposed to seek "the whereabouts and contents of Jolley's leave and payroll records" and "Jolley's relationship with Judge Ritter."

THE JUSTICE DEPT. was prepared even to subpoena the judge's own files since the crucial records "would almost certainly be kept in the judge's chambers." A confidential document, dated August 10, mentioned "the possibility that fraud may have occurred" in the payroll case.

Unaccountably, the Justice Dept. canceled the grand jury but went ahead with some of the interviews. We have obtained the secret list of witnesses and questioned most of them.

They told us that Vickie Jolley "is gone most of the time" and that she does "extracurricular things for the judge." Added one court employee: "The judge is a mean man, better to the criminals than to the people who work here."

The judge's secretary told us she was unaware of any investigation into payroll abuses. When we tried to pin her down, she said, "I have no comment" and hung up the phone. Judge Ritter refused to return our calls. In the past, he has boasted: "I am an old hand at telling the press where to go."

He has also complained that he is a victim of "malicious Mormonism," although it was a Mormon, the late Sen. Elbert Thomas, D-Utah, who recommended him for the federal bench in 1949. Another Mormon, Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, is now leading the fight to remove him from the bench.

Not long ago, the cantankerous Ritter strode into a Salt Lake City shop and spotted Garn's picture on the wall. Sternly, the judge ordered the proprietor to remove the picture.

SECURITY PROBLEM — The lowest bid on a new Coast Guard cutter has been submitted by a Finnish shipbuilding firm called Wartisila. This has alarmed Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who asked the Navy whether any classified equipment would be installed aboard the cutter.

Back came a private dispatch from Acting Navy Secretary R. James Woolsey, acknowledging that the Navy would provide secret equipment for the Coast Guard ships. He conceded that Finnish workers repair Soviet ships and that "highly capable Soviet technicians are present in Finland."

Therefore, he concluded: "The U.S. Navy considers that it is highly unlikely that any precaution exercised by the U.S. Coast Guard or the Finnish authorities would adequately protect Navy classified information."

Footnote: A Coast Guard spokesman told us the decision on the contract will be made before the end of the year.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you believe Christians should give one-tenth of their income to Christian causes? —M.A.

DEAR M.A.: I believe this is a general guideline, but it is not a rigid requirement set forth by the Bible. In the Old Testament, one-tenth of a person's produce was to be given to the Lord's work. By the time of the New Testament, this had been taken to ridiculous extremes by some people, and Jesus condemned the hypocrites who "pay tithes of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith" (Matthew 23:23).

In the New Testament, tithing (giving one-tenth to the Lord) is not mentioned for believers. However, various principles for Christian stewardship are given to us. In I Corinthians 16:2 we are told, "On the first day of every week, each one of you should set aside a sum of money in keeping with his income, saving it up" (NIV). When Paul collected money for the relief of poor Christians, he spoke of the generosity of the Macedonian Christians: "Out of most severe trial, their overflowing joy and their extreme poverty welled up in rich generosity. For I testify that they gave as much as they were able, and even beyond their ability" (II Corinthians 8:2-3, NIV).

Some people may well give more than one-tenth of their income to the Lord's work. Others may have to give less. God knows each individual situation, and He is more concerned about one's attitude in giving than about the gift alone. "Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver" (II Corinthians 9:7).

Clubhouse

POSSE LEADERS — Big Spring parade attenders will be seeing a lot more of these two girls as newly elected Howard County Sheriff Posse Queen and Alternate Queen. Marka Highly, left, has been selected to represent the club as their reigning Queen and will be assisted in her duties by Jean Wanner, right, alternate Queen.

Sheriff's Posse elects Queen and Alternate

When the votes were counted, Marka Highly, 17, was elected Posse Queen for 1978 with Jean Wanner, 15, as her alternate.

The Posse Queen is a good will ambassador for her riding club. She rides out in front of the Posse during parades and represents the club at all activities locally and district wide. This position is held for a period of one year. The alternate takes the Queen's place whenever she is unable to attend specific activities.

Marka Highly is the daughter of Mrs. Darel Highly and resides at Box 56, Sterling City Route. She is a sophomore at Coahoma High School. She plays flute and oboe in the Big Red Band, "Buffalo Trails," and a guard in girls' basketball. She attends the First Presbyterian Church in Big Spring where she is president of her youth group.

Her hobbies include horseback riding, leathercraft, drama and writing poetry. Next fall she plans to attend Sul Ross University and major in advertising communications. Marka says she is very happy to have been elected Posse Queen and will do her best to serve the Posse to the best of her ability.

Jean Wanner, alternate queen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wanner, Rt. 2, Box 104. She is a sophomore at Coahoma High School. She plays flute and oboe in the Big Red Band, "Buffalo Trails,"

Two members recognized

Mrs. John Davis and Elizabeth Martin hosted the November breakfast at the Coahoma Methodist Church of the Past Matron's Club of Coahoma Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star No. 499.

A Thanksgiving theme was used in the table decorations. A large china horn-of-plenty filled with fall fruits was the main decoration. It had pumpkins, oak leaves and a turkey added for color.

Vice president Eula Bess Westmoreland presided over the meeting.

Jane Headrick worded the invocation, and 15 members were present.

Two members who received appointments from the Grand Chapter of Texas were recognized. They are Emilee Beckham, Deputy Grand Matron of District 2, Section 8; and Frances McKinney, A.E.S. Home Endowment Committee.

A breakfast will be held Dec. 3 at the Coahoma Methodist Church at which time the Christmas program will be presented, and members will exchange gifts. An extra gift will be brought by each member for patients at the Big Spring State Hospital.

A Thanksgiving proclamation issued by George Washington in 1789 was read by Florence Read.

Hostesses for the next meeting will be Mrs. Ernest Garrett, Mrs. H.E. Heaton and Mrs. C.J. Engle.

Hyperion Club hears review

Mrs. W.J. Currie held the attention of the members of the 1930 Hyperion Club when she reviewed the book, "The Duke of Duval," an interesting account of the life and politics of the Parrs of Duval County.

The club met in the Dora Roberts Community Center with Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, Mrs. R.W. Thompson and Mrs. H.C. Stipp serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Sam Hunnicutt and Mrs. W.F. Henning were welcomed as new members.

Mrs. E. L. Powell, president, called the meeting to order. She announced that the December meeting would be changed to 10 a.m. Dec. 10 at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Art. Assn. aids auction

Several paintings were donated by members of the Big Spring Art Association for the "Artists For Arthritis Auction" coming up in Big Spring on Dec. 3.

At their monthly meeting the group assembled approximately 15 paintings with promises of more to come to aid in this project. Chairwoman Mrs. W.A. Riley was on hand to receive the donations and to express her appreciation to the artists. The auction will be at Dora Roberts Tennis Center from 4 till 6 p.m. Dec. 3.

Wesley and Dorothy Pierce presented a program of slides made on their tour of Canada this fall. The beautiful scenes were perfect for artists to use in paintings. Terry Patterson was in charge of the program and outlined some of the points in creating good composition in a painting. She suggested that the group watch for these elements of composition as they viewed the slides.

Hostesses for the November meeting were Martha Conway, Linda Rupard and Letha Lewis. New members welcomed in the association included Sherry Dills, Lola Kilman, and Dr. W.A. Riley.

"Tipping Of The Brush" honors went to a landscape by Dr. Riley which will be on display during the month of December at the State National Bank. Runner-up was another new member, Sherry Dills.

Members were reminded of the annual Association Show in the mall on Dec. 10, from 9 till 6. The traveling circuit exhibit of the Texas Fine Arts Association is due to arrive in Big Spring at the Heritage Museum for a local showing.

The Dec. 20 meeting of the B.S.A.A. will be a covered dish dinner and those attending should bring a miniature painting to exchange as Christmas gifts. Hostesses for December will be Barbara Merworth, Willie Carter and Dorothy Pearce and the program chairman will be Martha Conway.

All interested local artists are invited to join the Big Spring Art Association and attend the next meeting which will begin at a new time — 7 p.m.

The film and accompanying program was entitled "11:59, Last Minute to Choose," and Kissinger told the audience about the drug and crime problem in Big Spring.

Mrs. Jimmy Bailey, president, called the meeting to order, and a report was given on the Halloween Carnival held Oct. 29.

The P.T.A. State Convention will be held in Dallas Nov. 16-18.

Refreshments were served and the room count was won by Mrs. Gossett's and Mrs. Fortson's classes.

The next meeting will be a Christmas program Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Thinks She Might Be a Grandmother

DEAR ABBY: I'm still in shock from a telephone call I just received from a young woman informing me that I had an 18-month-old granddaughter! I was speechless. My only child is a 25-year-old college graduate. He's not married, not living at home, and he works 600 miles away. I see him only three times a year.

I phoned him and told him about the disturbing call I had just received. He calmly said, "It's possible." Then he told me he doesn't see the girl anymore, he's never seen the baby, and he has no plans to.

The baby's mother says she is 25 and still loves my son, but they decided a marriage wouldn't work out.

Abby, can I be a grandmother if my sons accepts no responsibility for this child? The young mother invited me to visit her and see the baby.

Will I complicate matters if I go?

STILL IN SHOCK

DEAR STILL: First, get together with your son and find out why he is treating the matter so casually. From what he says, he may not even be the baby's father. Once his legal and moral obligations in this situation have been established, you can decide what role you want to assume in it—if any.

DEAR ABBY: You were too quick to agree with RIPPED OFF, who complained because a co-worker had bought a purse for a fellow worker as a gift from the office gang, and claimed it cost $21. RIPPED OFF later learned that the purse had been marked $16.98!

Consider these figures, Abby:

$16.98.....purse
1.02.....6 per cent sales tax
2.00.....fancy gift wrap
1.00.....gift card
Total.....$21.00

This doesn't include the time spent shopping or the cost of transportation. And the poor woman probably skipped her lunch to boot.

This should serve as a warning to others who shop for a group: Get receipts for everything!

NO RIP OFF

DEAR NO: You're right. I shot from the hip on that one. Rip off my epaulets and demote me to buck private.

DEAR ABBY: My heart aches today for my 14-year-old daughter who went to a school dance last evening and wasn't asked to dance one dance.

When her older brother was her age, and popular with the crowd, I always encouraged him to ask the not-so-popular girls to dance, impressing upon him how much it could mean to a girl who might not otherwise receive one invitation to dance during the entire evening.

I was proud that he followed my advice. I wish other mothers would tell their sons the same thing. Will you help spread the word, Abby? It could mean so much to the girls.

ACHING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You bet I will. An ounce of thoughtfulness can ease a ton of heartache.

If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you knew how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

NEW YORK (AP) — In two marriages often had demanding problems those in marriages whose husband is the breadwinner. A University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist said Saturday that two-career men often have more personal, professional and financial.

"Nobody has space for the minor things that make life easier, like the plumber and toilet paper.

Two-career marriages on increase

NEW YORK (AP)—Partners in two-career marriages often have more demanding problems than those in marriages where the husband is the breadwinner, a University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist said Saturday.

But two-career marriages often have more rewards: personal, professional and financial.

"In two-career marriages, there are simply more things to take care of—the jobs, the house, the children," said Dr. Ellen Berman, a marriage counselor who is an assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania.

"Nobody has spare time for the minor things that make life easier, like calling the plumber and buying toilet paper."

"At night," she said, "both partners are exhausted and don't have much emotional strength for each other or the children, much less friends."

However, said Dr. Berman, who is married to a psychiatrist, couples in two-career marriages experience more excitement together.

"In general both are interesting people," she said. "The husband has fewer financial worries and a wife he can share more things with."

Dr. Berman was speaking at the beginning of a two-day seminar sponsored by the University of Pennsylvania.

Eight couples, mostly from the New York-New Jersey area, paid $250 per person to listen to lectures and participate in small discussion groups on the problems they encounter.

Dr. Berman said people who get involved in two-career marriages tend to have a lot of energy, intelligence and strong desire to be perfect.

"They feel not only should I be perfect, but that everyone associated with me should be—my partner, my children, my house, my dog." They serve artichokes with Hollandaise sauce, not melted butter, even if that's what their 6-year-old requests.

She defined a career as an occupation that takes a lot of a person's time and energy, that follows a developmental sequence and becomes more complicated rather than less. "A career is going somewhere and usually yields money, fame or recognition in the community," she said.

Dr. Berman said research shows women in two-career marriages were often only children or lonely children who had older siblings or who were sick and received a lot of attention.

She said the women often had mothers who were career women, or a very career-oriented father and a frustrated mother.

"You find a mother who tells her daughter, 'don't get trapped like I did,'" she said.

Dr. Berman said couples in two-career marriages sometimes have problems with competing against each other.

"For many of us, being part of a high pressured professional occupation encourages us to be competitive," she said. "Medical school, for instance, puts a high premium on being best."

Dr. Berman said many competitive partners avoid situations where they might try to compete with each other, such as in a game of golf, tennis, bridge or skiing.

"If you know it causes a fight, you can talk about it or you can avoid it," she said. "It depends how important it is."

Government figures show that the number of two-career marriages in the United States has increased dramatically in the past two years. In 1975, the latest year for which statistics are available, both partners in almost half of all marriages in America worked. That compares to about one-third of all married couples in 1970.

Costly convention begins Saturday

HOUSTON (AP)—Officials of the National Women's Conference, which begins a meeting here Saturday, will be charged $25,000 by the city of Houston for off duty police services, the Houston Post said today.

The newspaper also said it was told by sources close to the conference leadership that NWF will pay approximately $22,000 for two Miami Beach men to head a private security force.

Convention chairman Bella Abzug refused to give details of a contract signed with Rocky Pomerance and Jim McDonald, security consultants who specialize in national conventions.

"You pay whatever you have to pay," she said, refusing to say how much that was. The three-day convention is financed with $5 million in federal funds.

Linda Dorian, general counsel for the conference, also refused to say how much public money is being spent for the private security men.

"Take it up with Bella," she said. "I'm not interested in publicizing any dollar amounts. That isn't in the best interests of the convention."

How to CARVE ROAST TURKEY

Let turkey stand for 20 to 30 minutes after roasting—then try one of these easy carving methods.

TRADITIONAL CARVING METHOD

1. Remove drumstick and thigh—To remove drumstick and thigh, press leg away from body. Joint connecting leg to backbone will often snap free or may be severed easily with knife point. Cut dark meat completely from body by following body contour carefully with knife.

2. Slicing dark meat—Place drumstick and thigh on separate plate and cut through connecting joint. Both pieces may be individually sliced. Tilt drumstick to convenient angle, slicing towards plate as shown in illustration.

3. Slicing thigh—To slice thigh meat, hold firmly on plate with fork. Cut even slices parallel to the bone.

4. Preparing breast—In preparing breast for easy slicing, place knife parallel and as close to wing as possible. Make deep cut into breast, cutting right to bone. This is your base cut. All breast slices will stop at this vertical cut.

5. Carving breasts—After base cut, begin to slice breast. Carve downward, ending at base cut. Start each new slice slightly up on breast. Keep slices thin and even.

SIDE CARVING METHOD

1. Carving position—Place turkey on its side, breast away from carver. Remove wing tip and first joint. Hold tip firmly, lift up, and sever at joint. Set this aside for other dishes and leave second point of wing attached to turkey.

2. Remove drumstick—Slice dark meat off drumstick and thigh until thigh bone is exposed. Lift drumstick and cut off at thigh joint. Slice meat from drumstick.

3. Cut away thigh bone—Steady turkey with fork. Run knife point completely around thigh bone, loosening it. Pry one end up, grasp and pull free. With thigh bone gone, generous portions of dark meat can be sliced from turkey.

4. Slicing dark meat—Slice dark meat away from turkey just above removed thigh bone. As you work deeper into the meat, you will discover the "oyster." This choice piece may be lifted whole from spoon-shaped section of backbone.

5. Slicing white meat—Make deep vertical cut in breast just in front of wing joint to serve as base for all breast meat slices.

6. Breast slices—Start from center of breast and cut toward you, making large, even slices. When more slices are needed, turn turkey and repeat process. Remove stuffing from a hole cut under thigh.

Registration deadline moved up

Malone-Hogan Prenatal Clinic, new this year, has received such a tremendous response that they are now filled to capacity for the upcoming course which begins Dec. 7.

Though the deadline for registration was previously announced as Dec. 1, those who have not already registered are asked to register for the next course which is scheduled to begin in February.

Those interested in registering for the second class may call Mrs. Currie at 263-1211, ext. 175.

Does to elect new officers

The Benevolent Patriotic Order of Does met in a regular session at 8 p.m. Tuesday with Ora Jenkins presiding.

The nominating committee gave a progress report on prospective 1978 officers. Nominations and elections of officers will take place at 7 p.m. Dec. 6 in the home of Karen Masters. All members are requested to be present.

Following the business meeting, there will be a social hour. The 1977 officers will be honored for their work, and good wishes will be extended to the 1978 officers-elect, who will be installed at the first regular meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 3, 1978, in the Elks' Lodge Hall.

Salary stand clarified at Stanton

STANTON — Members of the Martin County commissioners court, together with the County Judge Jimmy Mathis, have elaborated on their stand concerning the county's recent conference about salaries in some appointive officers.

The following statement was signed by Mason Coggin, Troy Bradshaw, Ronnie Deatherage and Earl Newcomer, all members of the commission, and Judge Mathis:

"First, we would like to point out that there are no personal feelings against Sherry Henson, nor the $100 additional salary she has been given by order of District Judge Ralph Caton. It is true, that the court did not intend any additional salary to whomever Mr. (Guy) Talbot chose for his assistant, but that is a matter of little consequence, the main matter involved in this controversy is the manner in which it was handled.

"On July 11, 1977, Mr. Talbot met with the commissioners' court at the court's invitation, and at that time he was hired by the court as adult probation officer. The appointment was not made by the district judge (Caton). At this same meeting county attorney David Greenhaw met with the court and asked that he be allowed to hire a secretary, and the court approved such a request, and in the conversation, David agreed that his secretary could serve as the probation officer helper, and that the salary would not be changed. The court did not hire the secretary because this cannot be done. Each official hires the personnel for their office.

"It is in the commissioners' court minutes that Guy Talbot could appoint anyone in the courthouse to assist him, but that they would not receive any additional pay. When Mr. Talbot advised the treasurer's office that they should transfer the $100 from David's secretary to Mrs. Henson, he was advised that the minutes did not give her the authority to do such, and she was told by Mr. Talbot that he would get a court order to do such.

"It was then suggested to him that he meet with the commissioners before taking such action. On the Monday following, which was regular court day, the agenda called for "Probation Items to be discussed." When Mr. Talbot did not appear in court, the court asked that he be called by telephone and asked to come to Stanton to the court. This was done, and he later advised the judges office by telephone that due to prior commitments, he would not be able to come to Stanton.

"After investigating, the court is of the opinion that Judge Caton did have the authority to appoint, set salary, etc., but in discussion with other district judges that say they always take the Russell J. Ramsland, president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, has urged prospective members of the museum to return their membership applications and checks.

He said that the museum has thus far received 145 renewals and new member applications as against 203 in the final quarter of 1976. About $37,000 more from the present membership drive will be needed if the museum is simply to remain even with last year's totals.

Membership sales finance about a third of the museum's operating expenses, the rest coming from admissions and gift shop revenues and from year-end giving.

Anyone who has not received a membership folder and application card can call the museum at 683-4403 and request them, Ramsland said. Many who sell goods and services at retail stores or who work for oil companies are potential members, and queries by them or any others are welcomed.

The museum president declared that the museum is "doing a unique job" in interpreting the Permian Basin and the oil industry to some 40,000 visitors in the current year.

"We think the museum deserves membership support if for no other reason than our explaining what's involved in exploring and drilling for oil and gas, and showing oil people as they are: as Americans who are doing a great job for the country."

Choker convicted in Waco

WACO, Texas (AP) — A Waco jury was to hear more testimony today in the punishment phase of the trial of an Austin man convicted of aggravated rape.

Thomas Earl Grettenberg, 24, was found guilty Wednesday after the jurors deliberated for 45 minutes. Grettenberg was arrested Sept. 4 after a series of assaults in which Austin women were choked and raped.

The trial was moved here after extensive publicity this summer about the attacks.

Grettenberg is also charged with two other counts of aggravated rape and two counts of burglary. He was on probation for a previous burglary conviction when he was arrested and charged with aggravated rape.

Nine Austin women, including eight UT students, were called to the stand during the punishment phase. They testified Grettenberg had a "bad" reputation in Austin.

The women were all alleged victims of the choker.

Daydreaming good for you

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Daydreaming is good for the health and people can slip into any situation that is pleasant for them without using hypnosis or transcendental meditation, says a researcher who studied how to relax.

"All work, not one better than another," said Dr. Louis Dubin, a dentist who teaches a course on hypnosis at the Temple University School of Dentistry. He was part of a four-man relaxation study team for 18 months.

Dubin likened relaxing more to a flight into fancy, a mind-visiting trip to somewhere else—or doing something you like, which always makes a person feel better.

"It used to be if you closed your eyes, sat back in a comfortable chair, maybe listened to music, that this environment of doing nothing was regarded as relaxing," Dubin said in an interview.

"We now recognize that is sometimes a mistake, that relaxation is unique to the individual, that it means different things to different people. Some people are geared to move rapidly. They have to be doing something. Their best way of relaxing is doing what pleases them the most—playing tennis or scuba diving, skiing or driving a racing car.

"Relaxation is a pleasant emotional state which subsequently results in a pleasant physical state," he said.

"Suppose you enjoyed the seashore," Dubin suggested. "You conjure a mental picture of a beautiful balmy day, the sun shining, the water rolling up the beach, the seagull flying by.

"With no other thoughts you let yourself go into whatever is pleasant for you.

You leave your body where it is and transport your mind to another location and experience.

"If you stop being on guard as you do in the course of your business, your professional or your social life, and let go physically and emotionally, all the tension, all the apprehension, all the facade you create for the people around you, you are completely free of all responsibility.

"The muscles relax, the mind relaxes, the physical well-being of the person is almost divorced from his body and he will relate to what pleases him the best."

Dr. Donald Morse, an associate professor of endodontology at Temple's dental school, headed the team that measured the physiological body responses of 37 men and 11 women.

"The real shocker was that the instruction to relax did achieve deep relaxation," Morse said.

Bus carrying about 70 pupils overturns in muddy fields

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—A school bus carrying about 70 children skidded off a foggy road and overturned in a muddy field here Wednesday morning, but there were no serious injuries, police said.

Twenty-three high school and junior high school pupils were taken to Wilford Hall U.S. Air Force Medical Center for examination and treatment of injuries. A few suffered broken bones. The driver of the South-west School District bus told police it was foggy as he topped a hill and saw truck stopped in the road, waiting to turn, with a van waiting behind it.

The driver said he applied the bus' brakes and swerved to the right to avoid hitting the van. He said the bus was moving about 40 to 45 mph at the time.

Ahead of his time

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eli Terry, pioneer in the realm of time-keeping, fathered 10 patents that led to his founding of the first successful clock factory in America, according to Intellectual Property Owners, Inc., the non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation of the U.S. patent system.

Born in 1772, Terry was apprenticed at an early age, then set up his own shop and by 1800 in Plymouth, Conn., was selling all the clocks he could make. At first, like his competitors, he worked only on order for each clock. But Terry overthrew this traditional handcraft approach by designing a shop with waterpowered machines operated by apprentices, which turned out 10 to 20 clocks at a time, says IPO.

One of his contracts called for 4,000 wooden clocks, which caused him to take on two partners, one of whom was the famous clockmaker, Seth Thomas. In 1814 Terry perfected a wooden shelf clock which virtually cornered the market. He sold thousands of these and, protected by his patents, amassed a fortune in the next ten years, the organization reports.

But the most famous of Terry's patents, granted Nov. 17, 1797, was an ingenious "equation clock" which showed both apparent time as a sundial would, and mean time adjusted for a uniform solar day. In later years, when metals became more available, he made brass clocks, some so fine they were used by watchmakers as regulators, reports IPO.

Docs should be allowed to prescribe marijuana?

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government advisory panel is considering whether doctors should be allowed to prescribe marijuana for persons undergoing chemotherapy or suffering from glaucoma or asthma.

The Food and Drug Administration's Controlled Substances Advisory Committee was meeting today to hear arguments on whether federal restrictions on marijuana should be eased.

Marijuana is now treated like heroin and LSD under federal drug abuse laws. Doctors cannot prescribe it except in federally controlled experiments.

Among the witnesses arguing for medical use of marijuana was Robert Randall, a 29-year-old glaucoma sufferer who gets a weekly supply of pot from the government in a test of its effect on eye pressure.

Also testifying was a representative of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, which first petitioned the government five years ago to allow medical use of marijuana.

NORML also favors decriminalization of marijuana for social use, but the FDA panel has no jurisdiction over that issue.

"This is our shot. This is the ball game for us," said NORML lawyer Peter Meyers, who won a federal court battle last spring to force the government to consider reclassifying marijuana.

The Justice Department's Drug Enforcement Administration opposed any change in the law, but an appeals court said the secretary of health, education and welfare must decide whether marijuana has medical value.

The panel, composed of experts from outside the government, will make a recommendation for HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr.

Federal officials say they doubt the panel will recommend a change now because the scientific evidence on marijuana is inconclusive, despite the personal testimony of advocates like Randall.

Robert C. Petersen, associate director for research in the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said marijuana is no panacea for glaucoma, but has shown promise in helping cancer patients avoid nausea during chemotherapy.

If that pans out, the law might be changed to allow prescription of marijuana to cancer patients "in as short a period as a year, maybe," Petersen said.

President Carter's top health adviser, Dr. Peter G. Bourne, recently told HEW that he wants federal experts to scrutinize objectively the potential therapeutic uses of heroin and other abused drugs, including marijuana.

MORTIFIED—Former Gov. John B. Swainson walks from 13th District Court following his arraignment on possession of marijuana charges. Swainson, who also faced arraignment in Jackson County 12th District Court on drunk driving charges, said he was "mortified" by his arrests Wednesday in Jackson, Mich.

Fire killed 35 inmates Jail is open again, minus padded cell

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (AP)—The Maury County Jail is open again — minus the padded cell in which a teenage runaway is accused of touching off a fire that killed 35 prisoners and nine Sunday afternoon visitors.

Another 35 prisoners, some of them survivors of the blaze, were to be moved back to the jail tonight, said Sheriff Bill Voss.

The prisoners had been held in the city jail and jails in surrounding counties.

The smoky June 26 fire started in the synthetic foam of the padded cell. The cell's occupant, Andrew Zimmer, a 16-year-old Wisconsin runaway, was charged with arson. Courts are trying to determine whether he should be tried as an adult.

Arson investigators say the foam material, polyurethane, gives off cyanide gas when it burns. Such material is in common use in jails and prisons throughout the country as padding for cells and mattresses.

Officials blamed smoke inhalation, technically carbon monoxide poisoning, for all the deaths. Only Zimmer was seriously burned.

A.C. Howell, county budget officer, said Tuesday that more than $75,000 was spent on repairs. All of the money, he said, came from an insurance company.

"All we've done is put everything back like it was," he told an interviewer. "Of course we've eliminated the padded cell. We've not put that back in there."

Up-tight White House staff

Tub-thumping for boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Remember when aides to the Vietnam War? The deception was uncovered, which did nothing to advance Nixon's fading fortunes. When President Carter made a similar address last week, on his energy program, White House assistants thought they had devised a better way to do some tub-thumping on behalf of their boss. They invited about a score of Democratic Senate-House energy conferees to watch the speech on television monitors set up in a White House conference room.

Afterwards, Press Secretary Jody Powell escorted them into the press center to offer reporters their instant analyses.

What seemed like a sure-fire publicity gimmick got off to an uncertain start as soon as Rep. Thomas L. Ashley of Ohio led the parade to the press center rostrum.

"I thought it was a forthright speech," Ashley drawled.

Reporters scratched their heads and asked him to repeat the statement several times. It seemed that some had understood Ashley to call it a "fourth-rate speech."

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, another Ohioan, was next at the microphone. Whether Carter's address would have its intended effect "is very doubtful in my mind," he said.

Asked if that meant the speech was a waste of time, Metzenbaum replied: "I wouldn't say it was a waste of time. It was a good effort."

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho was asked what effect the address would have on the conferees working on compromise energy legislation.

"Probably not very much," Church responded, winning ready agreement from some of the other conferees trotted out by Powell.

As the Congress members departed, the press secretary tried to make the best of the situation.

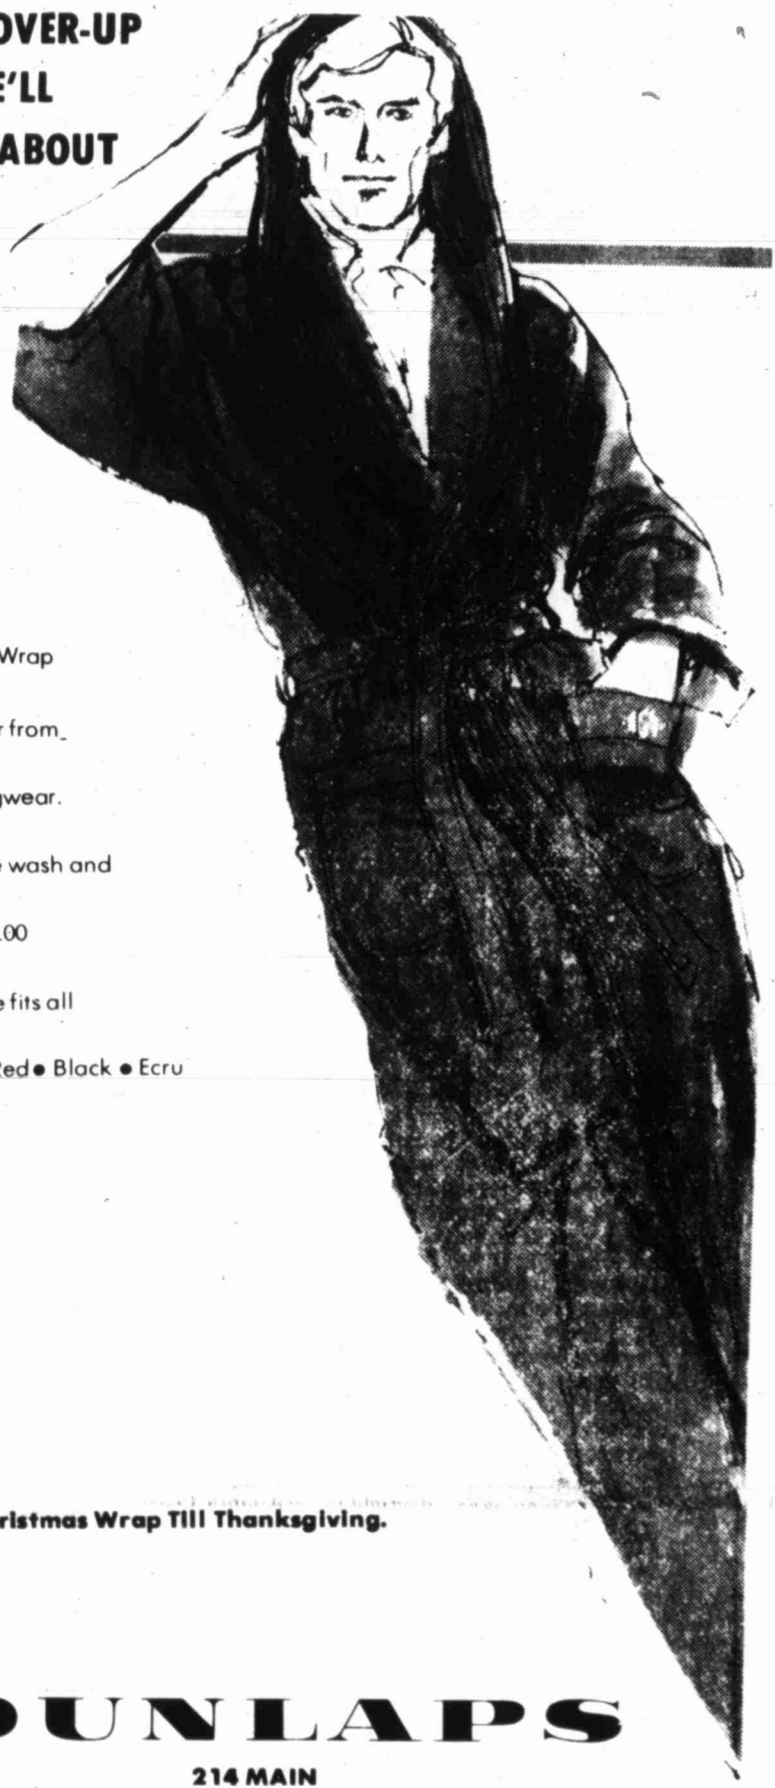

"I want you to know," joked Powell, "that this was another presentation by your up-tight White House staff."

For many years, it was traditional for presidents to accept a live Thanksgiving turkey from representatives of the National Turkey Federation. This week, however, the responsibility fell to Vice President Walter F. Mondale.

As the presentation ceremony ended Tuesday, the vice president's press secretary, Al Eisele, turned to White House reporters and cracked, "I hope that puts an end to the 'whatever-happened-to-Mondale' stories."

A rash of such stories prompted Carter to telephone two newsmen last month to emphasize the substantive nature of Mondale's assignments.

Steers open here Friday

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

The 1977-78 edition of Big Spring Steer roundball will tip off this Friday night in Steer Gym, as the locals, coached by rookie basketball coach Tommy Collins, host Ector in the first game of the season for both squads.

The Bovines are coming off a respectable showing in a scrimmage with Lubbock Dunbar Tuesday night. The two teams played six quarters, and each quintet won three of them. The Steers operated a man-on-man defense the first three quarters, and a zone defense the final three.

"Offensively, we looked good in that game," said Coach Tommy Collins. "Our shooting percentage was good and we ran pretty well. I guess you'd have to say that our biggest disappointment was our rebounding. They out rebounded us badly."

Collins indicated that the squad was not blocking out sufficiently "with the aggressiveness needed for high school ball. The locals only took eight members to Lubbock, but there are 11 players on the varsity roster.

Three returning seniors who saw a lot of action last season for the Bovines are Scott Wilder (5-10), Ken Perry (6-4), and Del Poss (5-10). Other seniors on the team include: Anthony Wright (5-10), Ronnie Forman (6-2), Mark Bergeron (6-0), Kenneth Coffey (6-0), and transfer student Steve Fleckenstein (6-6).

Ysa Rubio (5-9), Mark Poss (6-0) and Wilber Grant (6-1) are the juniors on the squad who spurred on the subs last season.

Collins has been emphasizing the fundamentals of the game, edging towards a man-on-man plan rather than a zone. "The Steers have been in a zone defense for many years," said Collins, "and there have been very few man-on-man principles learned. It'll take some time."

The Bovines will go with a man-on-man defense this season, and will try the "run-and-gun" philosophy on offense. Guards Anthony Wright and Scott Wilder have come to the front recently in accuracy from the floor, while Collins indicates that the team is still looking for an aggressive leader on the boards.

"Our offense is far enough along to compete," commented Collins. "It's not great yet, but it's effective." The Steers' first game of the season, with Ector, should be a wood-burner. "Everyone I've talked to so far says that Ector is very tough this year," said Collins. "They have some really good jumpers, guys who are really quick and can do the job on the boards. We'll have to make some good shots and hit the boards ourselves to beat them."

Collins coached the Steer baseball team to a 17-7 record in 1977 and a second place 5-4A finish in his first year at Big Spring. Before that, Collins was a graduate assistant basketball coach at Northwest Louisiana University in 1975; was the head roundball coach at Bolles School in Jacksonville, Fla. from 1973-75; was basketball coach at University Christian School in Jacksonville in 1972; was head coach at Parker Dam, Calif. Junior High; and head baseball and basketball coach at Parker, Arizona.

Collins played varsity baseball for his alma mater Blackhills State College and graduated from there in 1969. In 1963, Collins attended Baylor as a freshman, for one year, and played basketball.

Count those linebackers

When the Lockheed announcement broke Wednesday, no doubt some people around this office thought in terms of extra subscriptions, and merchants about town thought of more customers, as well as gave a few leaps for the potential economic growth of the city.

But about all I could see was that estimated 1,000 more families in the terms of "Okay now, just how many have sons that play football and will be seniors in 1978-79?" I mean, we're talking here about Big Spring being a contender again in football.

Oops, there I go again. Every damn one of my chickens has been counted, and I don't even have any eggs yet. Of course we're not home yet. As a matter of fact, I would say we're somewhere between second and third on the Lockheed deal, but we have the momentum.

Big Spring won't know for sure until March of 1978 if the firm will definitely be coming to town, but let's do some pipe-dreaming anyway. Probably nowhere near that 1,000 mark will be here in time for football season, and whatever deadline the UIL sets for transfer students (and remember that only seniors transferring in from out of town are eligible to play that same year).

Okay, let's say only half of them will be here — 500. Keep in mind that I have no concept of Lockheed's timetable. Now, suppose half of those families (250) have sons of high school age. Okay, now, just suppose half of those (125) want to play football. Alright, and it just so happens that half of that number (approximately 62.5 sons) are seniors. Land O'Goshen!

Say half of them are good football players (rounded off to 31, please) and half of them (15 or 16) are really GOOD players. By golly, add that to what we have coming back from this year's varsity and junior varsity, you gotta team right here in River City, and that starts with capital "T" and that rhymes with "V" and that stands for victory.

And remember, we're speaking "halves" here. Try thinking in three-quarters for a minute... it'll astound you!

Here's what we're gonna do first. First of all, we beat everyone who whipped up on us this year, which includes a 45-0 trouncing of Permian next year. Then we sweep through playoffs to the state finals and beat the Dallas Cowboys 52-0. Hold on a minute, I think my pipe just went out of control.

The Big Spring Steers open their 1977-78 basketball season tomorrow (Friday) night in Steer gym against Ector. Despite the fact that Ector is favored in the contest, expect to see a lot of local fans out to help Tommy Collins' quintet tip off the roundball antics for the year.

HOUSTON (AP) — Before the game, Buffalo Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons asked star forward Billy Knight to score 40 points.

"As it turned out, 38 was enough," Fitzsimmons said after Knight's 38 point performance carried the Braves past the Houston Rockets, 101-97 in a National Basketball Association Wednesday night.

When Ronnie Coleman, Houston's leading rusher last year, was recovering from hepatitis during training camp, Carpenter was ready to soak up all the playing time he could get at running back.

When injuries riddled the Oilers' fullback corps, Carpenter shifted to that position where last week he rushed 120 yards on 19 carries and caught five passes for 46 yards against defending Super Bowl champion Oakland.

"Getting to play in the preseason helped me more than anything else," Carpenter said. "The coaches gave me more chances and looked at me longer. I got a lot of experience and got a lot of the mistakes out of the way in preseason that most rookies make during the regular season."

Maryland rookie Tim Wilson went out with injuries several weeks ago, giving Carpenter his chance at fullback.

"Football is a game of breaks and I hate to see anybody hurt, especially friends," Carpenter said. "But I've always been ready to play. That's the type of player I am."

Carpenter was ready two weeks ago against Chicago for his first start at fullback. Included in his 75 rushing yards was an impressive 25 gain in which he carried defensive back Virgil Livers the last five yards.

Even with his passenger, Carpenter would have scored if two other defenders hadn't piled on.

Yankee Cowboy ready for Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oiler rookie Rob Carpenter is a Yankee cowboy who left his boots at home when he was drafted by the Oilers because he didn't want to feel out of place.

Carpenter quickly discovered that Texans do indeed wear boots and the Oilers quickly discovered that Carpenter could feel right at home in the Oiler backfield, whether it be at fullback or running back.

The best one-word description of the bullish runner from Miami, Ohio is ready.

Mich-OSU tilt is $$$

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — In two more days, the annual Bo-against-Woody, good-guys-against-bad-guys, good-against-evil showdown will be staged before more than 104,000 persons and a national TV audience.

It will be the University of Michigan against Ohio State at Michigan Stadium Saturday for the Rose Bowl ticket.

Millions of words have been written depicting the strengths and weaknesses of both sides. A hundred times that many words are being used by fans in pre-game anticipation. In the end, only the 60 minutes on the field will count.

It is truly amazing, however, what those 60 minutes of football will produce in revenue for both schools.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Lefty Driesell was regarded as a kingmaker when he reversed Maryland's sagging basketball fortunes. Now, after a slight slump by the Terps, he has a real King on hand to lead a revival.

Albert King of Brooklyn, one of the most highly recruited high school stars in years, should be just what King rebuilding Terps.

Maryland needs to stay afloat in what shapes up as a dogfight in the Atlantic Coast Conference race.

"I don't want to put pressure on Albert," Driesell said. "If we don't have a good year, it won't be his fault. And if we do, it won't be just because of him."

Still, it's no secret that the 6-foot-6 King, from his small forward position, must be the catalyst for Maryland.

'What I've been dreaming about' --Dorsett

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry made Tony Dorsett's homecoming complete Wednesday.

Landry, the coach of the once-beaten Dallas Cowboys, decided to make a full-time employe out of the rookie running back, naming him to the starting lineup for Sunday's game against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"That's great, it's what I've been dreaming about," said Dorsett, who won the Heisman Trophy as collegiate football's all-time leading ground-gainer at the University of Pittsburgh.

"Tony's been running well and we feel we need him in there...it's nothing against Preston Pearson," said Landry. "He'll still share time with Tony."

Dorsett leads the Cowboys in touchdowns with seven and has averaged 4.7 yards per carry in his 522 yards rushing although he has played just half the time.

He also has caught 16 passes for 153 yards in nine Cowboy games.

Landry said the fact Dorsett played at Pittsburgh had no bearing on the starting announcement.

"Preston lives in Pittsburgh and it's an injustice to him if you want to look at it that way," said Landry. "I just felt it was time to do it."

Landry said he still plans to play the 13-year veteran Pearson whose forte is getting in an open field for Roger Staubach's passes. Pearson has caught 28 passes coming out of the backfield.

The Cowboys were riding an unbeaten string of eight games before St. Louis knocked them off 24-17

Oilers look for kicker

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers, without a kicker for Sunday's game against Seattle, were to take a look today at Tom Dempsey, whose 63-yard field goal in 1970 still is the National Football League record, team officials say.

Houston's regular kicker Toni Fritsch suffered a hamstring pull in last week's 34-29 loss to the Oakland Raiders and won't be able to kick against the Seahawks.

"The only thing that's certain right now is that Toni can't kick," Houston Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips said after Wednesday's workout.

"We had hoped to have Tom here today but he couldn't get away in time.

"But that's one thing about kickers, it won't take long to see what they can do."

Dempsey, who played for New Orleans when he kicked his record field goal, was waived by the Los Angeles Rams prior to this season.

Final weekly winners announced

This week's three winners round out the 1977 inaugural version of the Big Spring Herald Sports Department "Above the Call" awards presentations. In the past 11 weeks, certificates of honor have gone out to 43 different local and area gridders.

KENNETH COFFEY, senior wide receiver on offense and cornerback on defense for the Big Spring Steers, turned in his best performance of the season against San Angelo in the final game of the year.

Coffey caught two passes for 76 yards, one a 40-yard touchdown bomb from Mike Abreo. He also recovered a fumble, intercepted a pass and made key tackles during a brilliant defensive performance.

TODD SMITH, senior running back for the Stanton Buffaloes, also had one of his finest nights in a Buff uniform. He racked up 113 yards rushing on 15 carries and scored three touchdowns in Stanton's 48-6 tounding of Shallowater.

Smith, as he has done all year, was an inspiration on the field, after coming back from a broken hand earlier in the season.

TRACY FRAZIER, big junior fullback for the Coahoma Bulldogs, was unstoppable against Stamford last Friday night, rolling up 172 of 213 CHS yards rushing on 21 carries.

who has performed well throughout the season, also scored two touchdowns in the final game of the season for the Big Red.

One of the 43 "Above the Call" winners will be the recipient of the first, and what is to be annual, "Brad Stevens Award" — a traveling plaque to be presented to the one local or area grinder who best exemplified the courage and dedication on the gridiron indicative of the late Forsan star's performances.

Two three-time weekly winners were named throughout the season, both from Forsan — Randy Cregar and Alan Hollandsworth. Three two-time honorees were also named this year: Gary Martin from Forsan, Mike Swinson from Stanton and Tim Greenfield from Coahoma.

The list of elite also includes, from Big Spring: Mike Abreo, Wade Cobb, Doug Archer, Dennis Morrison, Robert Wrinkle, Kent Rice, Billy Johnson, Doyle Rice, Robbie Wegner, Rusty Braun and Kenneth Coffey.

—From Sands High School: Danny Peugh, Jesse Ybarra, Steve Parker, Jackie McDonald, David Hall, Bill Wigginton, Van Gaskins, Edward Guillen and Nathan Zant.

—From Coahoma: Terry Don Roberts, Tim Childers, Randy Phillips, Dusty Douglass, Steve Spears, Mike Ritchey, Ronald Sundry and Tracy Frazier.

—From Stanton: Russell Mims, Miles Tollison, Mitch Elmore, Larry Carroll, Bob Jones, Marvin Jones, Oscar Perez and Todd Smith.

—From Forsan: Ron Roberson and Ernie Morgan.

The "Brad Stevens Award" recipient will be announced during the second week of December.

Dierdorf wants back in now

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Offensive tackle Dan Dierdorf plans to rejoin the St. Louis Cardinals this week, a prospect soothing to his wife if not to the Philadelphia Eagles.

Tammy Dierdorf was forced into an unfamiliar role when the Cardinals, the National Football League's hottest team, upset the Dallas Cowboys 24-17 Monday night.

Her husband, his broken jaw wired shut, anxiously sipped beer and used her as a sounding board for his emotions while watching his teammates climb from behind in the nationally televised game.

"It was very strange," she said. "He learned how frustrating it can be to have to sit and watch. I learned, too — he pointed out the technical things to me about blocking. His great regret was he could not share in the victory. He was really down."

Dierdorf, who had not missed a St. Louis game in six previous seasons, suffered the jaw injury when hit on the chin by the helmet of Minnesota Vikings linebacker Matt Blair two weeks ago.

But even then, had not an infection resulted from impacted teeth, he might still have played in the Monday night game while protected by a special mask.

"It was a non-displaced fracture, meaning the jaw didn't move," he said of the painful injury. "I could have played without further damaging it. It would have hurt, but I could have played."

"I had two impacted wisdom teeth on one side, and we weren't thinking about their getting infected. So it was infected teeth that kept me out, not the broken jaw."

ANAHEIM (AP) — Gene Mauch has one year remaining on his three-year contract as manager of the Minnesota Twins, and while he admits he's legally obligated, he leaves little doubt that he wants out.

The California Angels are interested in obtaining the services of Mauch to manage them in 1978. His fate rests in the hands of Twins' owner Calvin Griffith.

"My position is no different than it was when the season ended," said Mauch Wednesday from his home in nearby Rancho Mirage. "I told Calvin that while I was legally bound to the Twins for another season, I felt I had fulfilled by moral obligation."

"The premise on which I went to Minnesota was that here was a club ready to win, that everything would be done to insure that objective," added Mauch. "The club has now been decimated by the loss of good players and in my mind the premise is no longer operable."

4 Ways To Charge

NO WAY TO KNOW — Minnesota Vikings Fran Tankerton sits pensively in the conference room of Midway Hospital after a press conference Wednesday. The 37-year-old Viking quarterback, who suffered a broken bone in his lower right leg Sunday against Cincinnati, said he would take a wait and see attitude about whether he will return for the playoffs in December, adding, "There's no way to know now."

Kareem out longer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers will have to play without the National Basketball Association's most valuable player the past two years for at least a little while longer.

All-Pro center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who suffered a broken right hand last month, won't return to the Lakers' lineup Friday night as had been previously expected, the team announced Wednesday.

The Lakers said last week that Abdul-Jabbar would probably be able to play Friday when the team entertained the Detroit Pistons.

But Dr. Robert Kerlan's office announced that X rays taken Wednesday afternoon indicated that while the fracture continues to heal, it is still not strong enough to be subjected to heavy contact.

Abdul-Jabbar fractured the fourth metacarpal of the right hand in the opening minutes of the Lakers' season-opener at Milwaukee Oct. 18 when he punched Bucks' rookie center Kent Benson.

"New bone is forming, but it is still not solid yet," said a member of Dr. Kerlan's staff. "The hand is still very sore and there is no way that we could let him get involved in the contact of a game situation."

"Kareem can continue to run and work out, but at this time we feel he is not ready to play. The hand will be checked on a regular basis, and he will return as soon as we are sure that there is no chance of reinjury."

The Lakers have a 6-7 record playing without the 7-foot-2 star.

Abilene, Permian lead final 5-AAAA stats

Abilene High School fielded the best offense in District 5-4A and Permian won top defensive team honors this year, or at least, that's what the final tabulation of league statistics indicate.

Big Spring finished last in both categories.

Abilene racked up 2,102 total yards on offense, 98 yards better than second place Permian. Mojo only allowed 1,204 yards against it in the seven loop contests, 156 yards better than defensive runner-up Abilene Cooper.

The Steers gained a total of 1,076 yards in conference action, while allowing 2,512 against them.

The Steers didn't field a rushing leader in the top 20 listed in the final official 5-4A stats. In the passing department, Steer quarterback Billy Johnson finished fourth in the league with 27 completions out of 74 attempts for 369 yards. Teammate Mike Abreo ranked his career in 9th position with 14 out of 50 complete for 209 yards.

Big Spring's Kenneth Coffey finished the year with 14 receptions for 241 yards and a 17.2 average, including one TD. That reading was good enough for fourth spot overall. Ricky Torres had an official (but incorrect) 14 catches for 159 yards and a 11.3 average. According to game films and Herald records, Torres had 11 receptions for 124 yards. The other Bovine in the top 20 in the district receiving corps was Wade Cobb, who missed the latter part of the season due to an injury, but still finished with seven catches for 99 yards, a 14.1 average and 16th place.

Another Steer who left midway through the season due to injury, Ricky Cluck, finished third in punting. He booted 19 for 706 yards and a 37.1 average. Ricky Myers, who came in with a respectable replacement performance, finished seventh among league punters with 30 punts for 970 yards and a 32.3 average.

Big Spring didn't have a player in the top 20 scoring leaders in the conference. Terry Orr from Cooper led that category with 11 TD's for 66 points. The final stat picture follows:

UT sticks with fish

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Injured Texas quarterback Randy McEachern has returned to practice but Longhorn Coach Fred Akers says he will probably start freshman Sam Ansley against Baylor on Saturday.

Team doctors pronounced McEachern physically fit Wednesday after he showed no signs of the knee injury that kept him out of last week's 44-14 thrashing of Texas Christian.

Ansley, subbing for McEachern, led the No. 1-ranked Longhorns to the victory.

"Unless something changes we'll start Ansley," Akers said Wednesday. "Randy looked good... it looked like he picked up where he left off, but he still has some adjustment to make after missing 10 days."

McEachern was a third-stringer for the Longhorns until injuries depleted the quarterback ranks early in the season.

EYEING COMEBACK — Archie Griffin, the only college football player to win two Heisman Trophies, worries that the Cincinnati Bengals have lost faith in him. He has been benched the last two games, averaging only 3.1 yards this season for Cincinnati's offense.

Inflation is rampant

Brazil is a vast richly resourced country teeming with people, and not a lot else.

Clifford Dane, who was reared in Dalhart and who has been a missionary to Brazil for five years, told the Downtown Lions at their Wednesday meeting in Howard College Cactus Room that his city of Salvador has two million people.

"But," he added, "you have more things here than we have in Salvador. What we have is people."

He sketched the history of the nation tersely, touched on a few problems and contrasted them with those of the United States.

"I'm so proud to be an American," he declared, "but when you begin to worry about things here, consider that you have 10 per cent of the world's population and 90 per cent of the wealth. We ought to seriously consider how we can use that wealth."

Don Pedro I, sensing a take-over by Napoleon, transferred seat of the Portuguese government to Brazil, he recounted. After Napoleon's demise, Don Pedro left his son, Don Pedro II in charge of Brazil and the younger monarch declared independence under a slogan that later became popularized in the United States: "Give me freedom, or give me death."

Since 1964, when the military stepped in 17 hours ahead of a Communist coup, the country has been ruled by junta or dictatorship. As dictatorships go, it is fairly benevolent and is to some degree responsive to elected officials, he said.

The number one problem is inflation—350 per cent in 4 1/2 years. This makes coin-operated vending machines impossible, or prices change by the day. When he went to Brazil he got five crustados for $1 and now it is 16 to a dollar, which itself has inflated by 55 per cent. The basic centavos is so valueless that even street urchins won't bother to pick them up.

Health is another problem, especially for the foreigners, until they learn to eat as Brazilians do (and to take proper medicines which are sold without prescriptions). Diarrhea is the Brazilian equivalent of the common cold, only it can suddenly become amoebic dysentery and be fatal. Food is heavily laced with native spices and often includes a native fish that is so ferocious that he saw a 400 tapir stripped of all flesh within 30 seconds of falling in the water.

Because manufactured firearms must be registered they belong only to the wealthy and the military, but natives fashion their own cap-and-ball rifles and pistols. The latter are used as the final arbiter of arguments, especially among the non-Christians.

It is difficult to describe how wealthy are two per cent of the people, and how poor the other 98 per cent are, he added. Natives in the in-

Shoe swatting is questioned

HARRISBURG, Ore. (AP)—A shredded tennis shoe is being used in Harrisburg schools to discipline unruly students.

"Well, you might say it is better than the paddle," Superintendent Gerald Newton says.

But some parents are upset about the merits of tennis shoe discipline and the Harrisburg Union High School Board will review the practice at its meeting today.

Newton says the board probably will reaffirm its shoe swatting policy. He says on the average no more than six of the high school's 210 students are struck each year.

"Unless a parent has specified he wants it differently, a high school student gets his choice," says Newton. "He either can get a swat from the tennis shoe or be sent home to his parents. Most of them choose the tennis shoe."

terior often are so primitive that they still hunt with blow guns and poisoned darts. Dane exhibited examples of vacquero leather hats, leather jackets, Rawhide ropes, told about horsehair clothes, all in a country which has a mean of 100 degrees temperature. Still, at Salvador, there are 22 miles of unspoiled beaches. Harold Raines, activities chairman, announced a ladies night affair for Dec. 15 at the college. Wednesday's program was in charge of Rev. Phil McClendey.

Troop plans garage sale

A local senior Girl Scout troop will hold a garage sale Dec. 3. The site has yet to be announced.

The girls are raising money for troop projects. Anyone who has donations to donate to the sale, call one of these numbers, 263-3125, 263-2713, 263-7217 or 263-1438 and one of the group will pick up the donation.

Strangler sentenced to die in gas chamber

LAS VEGAS (AP)—A Las Vegas man convicted last month in the beating and strangulation slaying of a Texas woman was sentenced Wednesday to die in the gas chamber at the Nevada State Prison in Carson City.

Henry Deutscher, 35, became the first man sentenced to death under the state's new capital punishment law. The law is similar to the California law in that the jury which convicts a person must later meet in a trial to determine the sentence. The jury which convicted Deutscher in the death last August of Darlene Joyce Miller, 37, recommended that Deutscher be put to death.

Clark County District Court Judge Carl Christensen went along with the recommendation and formally condemned Deutscher on Wednesday. Under Nevada law, a judge may not set an execution date, only the week in which the execution is to occur. Christensen ordered that Deutscher be put to death the week of Jan. 16.

Mrs. Miller, Canyon Lake, Texas, was visiting Las Vegas when her body was found by a high school athlete near Sunrise Mountain. The woman's head had been beaten with a rock, and there were teeth marks on her body. One of the key prosecution witnesses was a local dentist who showed that the teeth marks on the body matched Deutscher's bite.

Deutscher's attorneys are expected to win a stay of execution while they appeal the case in hopes of having the sentence commuted or the state's capital punishment law declared unconstitutional. Deutscher also was convicted of robbing Mrs. Miller.

Food prices will continue to rise next year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices will continue their "seemingly inexorable rise" next year, with the average family's food budget increasing 4 to 6 percent, a government economist says.

Chief of the Economic Research Service in the Agriculture Department, said most of the increase will be due to higher costs for transporting, processing and selling food after it leaves the farm.

Price predictions for 1978 are tentative. They may change due to a number of uncertain factors, including the weather, energy costs and the impact of food legislation, he said.

For example, a new price support program for U.S. sugar producers has just been implemented, and President Carter has imposed new duties on imported sugar.

Farrell said there is little doubt that the new domestic price support program, aimed at guaranteeing domestic producers the equivalent of 13.5 cents a pound for sugarcane and sugar beets, "will significantly influence U.S. food prices" next year.

It has been estimated that increasing the sugar support price to 13.5 cents per pound of raw product equivalent alone will increase domestic food expenditures in 1978 by one-half of 1 percent," Farrell said.

The Carter administration also has announced its intention of curbing grain plantings next year by requiring farmers to set aside 20 percent of their wheat land and 10 percent of their corn acreage from crop output.

Department officials say, however, that those programs will not increase consumer food prices because of huge reserves of U.S. wheat and corn.

Prospective large exports of grain to the Soviet Union and rumors that China may want grain are not expected to affect food prices significantly.

Overall, retail food prices this year are up 6.5 percent from 1976, he said, compared with a gain of 3.1 percent last year. Retail food prices soared 14.5 percent annually in 1973 and 1974 and then slowed to an 8.5 percent increase in 1975.

U.S. wheat sale to China 'unfounded'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite persistent rumors that China has been quietly seeking U.S. wheat, one of the Agriculture Department's top trade officials says there is no evidence now to support those claims.

But Kelly M. Harrison, the department's general sales manager, says "it's a reasonable speculation" that China sooner or later will turn into an important customer of American farmers.

Rep. Glenn English, D-Okla., said earlier this week that "a highly placed USDA official has confirmed to me that the department is aware" that China has bought 20 million to 50 million bushels of U.S. wheat.

English said he was not convinced by the department's denial Wednesday of the report and that he believes the grain has been sold to China by exporters through intermediaries.

Harrison said, however, that "We just cannot confirm it in any way that there was a sale." He said a check by the department of major grain exporters turned up no evidence that English's information was correct.

After China began buying U.S. grain five years ago, the first since its communist regime assumed power in 1949, large sales developed — including a peak of 5 million metric tons of wheat and corn in 1973-74 — but then faded.

Farmers owe $118 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers will owe a record $118.7 billion by the first of the year, a jump of more than 15 percent from $102.7 billion at the beginning of 1977, according to Agriculture Department analysts.

"The estimated $16 billion rise in outstanding debt seen in the past year will be a record by a sizable margin," John E. Lee Jr. of the department's Economic Research Service said Wednesday.

Farmers think crisis is real

WASHINGTON (AP) — About nine out of 10 farmers believe the energy crisis is real and that their costs for fuel and other energy are higher this year, according to a telephone survey by the Agriculture Council of America.

The council, which conducted one of its periodic toll-free telephone campaigns Wednesday said, that 56 percent of approximately 300 callers who were asked questions on energy, said they wanted the government to help by providing some form of tax incentive for reducing farm energy use.

But 26 percent said they were opposed to such federal help, and 8 percent said they were undecided, the council reported.

A spokesman said most calls were from Kansas, Indiana, Nebraska and Texas.

The telephone call-ins are not represented as scientific surveys or 2's. However, those who do call are asked specific questions regarding previously announced subjects. The topic Wednesday was energy.

Conferees ready to nix Carter's rate request

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee is ready to reject President Carter's request that the federal government oversee how electric rates are set, leaving that power entirely to the states.

Refining firm's financial woes persist

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Commonwealth Oil Refining Co. has announced consolidated net earnings of $1.8 million, or nine cents per primary share, for the third quarter of 1977.

But Corco President Gary W. Davis said Wednesday the oil refining firm's financial troubles persist and the company may be forced to seek the protection of bankruptcy laws.

The 1977 third quarter earnings figure compared with $1.2 million, or five cents per share, for the same period of 1976.

The third quarter profits reduced Corco's loss for the first nine months of 1977 to $6.8 million, compared with a net loss of $5.4 million for the 1976 third quarter.

During the first six months of 1977, Corco lost $8.6 million.

Although Corco has all its manufacturing facilities in Puerto Rico, its executive headquarters is in San Antonio. It is one of the nation's largest independent refiners.

Recently, Corco has faced a series of financial crises and in August its stockholders ratified a grant to Ashland Oil Co. of an option to purchase controlling interest in the company for $50 million.

Tesoro Petroleum is the current major stockholder.

The deadline on Ashland's option has been extended twice at Ashland's request and the current option expires Nov. 30.

Davis said in Wednesday's earnings statement that interest expense on the company's large debts "has played a significant role in Corco's recent financial results."

Corco's interest costs amounted to $18.3 million for the first nine months of 1977, an increase of approximately $5 million over the 1976 period due to higher levels of debt and higher interest rates, Davis said.

As a result of its financial problems, the company also experienced an increase of approximately $3 million in legal and consulting fees in the first nine months of 1977 over 1976.

Davis said the due to higher raw material costs and a further weakening in the petrochemical market, Corco expects to show a loss in the fourth quarter of 1977.

$6.1 million profit posted

HOUSTON (AP) — Coastal States Gas Corp. says its subsidiary, Lo Vaca Gathering, made $6.1 million profit the first nine months of the year on sales of liquids stripped from gas but continues to lose money on natural gas sales.

The Wednesday report said the $6.1 million compares with $3.5 million in earnings the same period last year. The third period earnings totaled $2.2 million, up from $1.8 million.

Coastal States released its quarterly financial report Nov. 3. However, no reference to Lo Vaca was made until Wednesday's more detailed report to security holders.

The report said the losses on sales of natural gas from Lo Vaca's intrastate system were attributed to an inadequate interim rate set by the Texas Railroad Commission.

A financial footnote on Lo Vaca said the subsidiary had revenues of $873 million the first nine months, compared with $726 million the same period last year. Revenues the third quarter totaled $292 million, up from $262 million for the same 1976 period.

Conferees were expected to formally replace the administration plan today with a mild substitute setting guidelines for electric rate structures but not requiring states to follow them.

Carter's plan, now abandoned by its House defenders, would have forced utilities to charge lower electric rates during periods of low demand. It also would have ended most discounts to big industries.

House negotiators gave up their fight for the mandatory federal standards on Wednesday, yielding to Senate demands to leave the rate-setting authority with state regulatory agencies.

The House negotiators sacrificed the section to break an impasse that threatened to deadlock the committee, which is trying to resolve differences in energy bills passed by the two chambers.

Their retreat was a setback to Carter's hopes of salvaging in the conference committee those parts of his energy program that were rejected by the Senate.

"We've clearly made a major concession," said Rep. Philip R. Sharp, D-Ind., an administration ally. Conference Chairman Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., called the move "almost capitulation."

Carter's plan, which he said would conserve electric energy by making rates more accurately reflect the cost of producing power, would have affected the nation's 200 largest electric utilities, which generate 90 percent of the electricity used in the nation.

Under the so-called "peak-load pricing" system, utilities would have been required to offer lower rates during "offpeak" hours — between 10 p.m. and 10 a.m. — as well as during winter months and other times when demand is low.

And the president would have generally ended the common practice whereby utilities charge decreasing rates to industries as they use increasing amounts of power.

Meanwhile, conferees on tax portions of the energy program agreed Wednesday to drop $6 billion to $7 billion in tax incentives passed earlier by the Senate by making four business tax deductions available only through 1982 rather than through 1985.

The reduction was made at the suggestion of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.,

chairman of the Senate conferees, and no one objected.

The reduction still leaves about $40 billion worth of tax incentives in the Senate version of the bill. Most are for business, although some would go to individuals who insulate their homes, to elderly Americans and to people who heat with oil, propane or electricity generated with imported oil.

Bubble boy faces bone transplant

BOSTON (AP) — A 16-month-old Dallas infant, nestled in a plastic bubble to protect him against germs, has been flown to Boston where doctors are planning a rare bone marrow transplant.

The infant's 3-year-old brother went along on the flight Wednesday as a potential donor.

Dr. Joel Rapoport, a bone marrow transplant specialist at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. He said the condition affects the clotting of his blood.

The young boy was flown to Boston in a plastic bubble stretched across three seats in an American Airlines plane, according to an airline spokesman.

Hospital officials said Tony would be admitted immediately into a germ-free room at the Children's Hospital.

"That is our version of the bubble," said Nancy Buell, spokeswoman for the hospital, referring to a Houston youth who must live in a bubble to protect him from germs.

Dr. Rapoport said Tony was afflicted with a rare condition, Wiskott-Aldrich Syndrome.

"That is a complicated syndrome of immuno deficiency and abnormal number and function of platelets," he said. "You can say it is abnormal clotting cells."

The surgery has been performed twice on children, Rapoport said, but neither patient was as young as Tony.

Ridin' fence

All the way

with Marj Carpenter

On Tuesday, I kept hunting around for a ride to Abilene to view the bi-district volleyball game and had nearly given up when the call came.

It was one minute to four. Bill Bradley, high school band director, called and told me a group of 34 volunteer band members were riding a school bus to Abilene. "If you want to ride a school bus, come on," he stated.

"When do you leave?" I asked. "In two minutes," came the answer. So off I went to Abilene. Now I always enjoy the band kids. The school had loaned them the bus and they were buying their own meals and going on their own free time to help the volleyball girls.

"Are we going to eat before or after the game?"

one sweet young thing asked. "After," came the reply. Silence followed.

"Mr. Bradley, do you want my candle money now?" asked another. "No. Bring it to school," Silence.

"Mr. Bradley, when can I work off my Hazel?" asked one youth. An explanation followed. A "Hazel" is a demerit for chewing gum or candy in the band hall. Hazel is the vacuum-cleaner and you vacuum the band hall to work it off.

"In the morning," came the answer. "Oh," said the youth.

And so it went. They bounced along in the most uncomfortable seats since the Spanish Inquisition torture chamber and said very little. Most of them studied while there was daylight and talked the rest of the way into Abilene.

But when that group entered the gym and saw the volleyball girls' faces light up because they had come, they swung into action.

They quickly struck up a couple of peppy tunes and the fans from Hirst-Bell looked over in horror. When they saw the cheerleaders come in and the crowd and the band and the radio announcers, they looked stricken.

But the volleyball team and even the volleyball officials, who have waited years for a little show of enthusiasm for volleyball, seemed pleased with the effort.

The band can only play before the games and between the games. But it's enough. Something about the fight song and the old school song really add a little bit.

But this bunch of girls can make it anyway. They love the crowd and the enthusiasm. But they've played together long enough that they've seen days when there wasn't any backing and they know how to bounce with the punches.

They like volleyball and they like each other and they like their coach and they like the school. And it's wonderful.

They were bouncing those volleyballs around and bounced one right into the Coke of one of the KFNE radio announcer's prior to the game.

But they bounce as well as the ball. They bounce with the enthusiastic backing of the Big Spring fans, who are enjoying winning. And they bounce on the days they're not around.

They are real winners and I join the rest of Big Spring in hoping they go 'all the way.' But either way, they're winners and we love 'em.

Back on the band bus, one girl hollered out, "We've lost Alan Bristol." But Alan ain't so dumb. He was back in the gym congratulating the volleyball girls.

And we all do the same — out where I was ridin', ridin', ridin' in a very uncomfortable bus like the band and athletes ride — out past the fence.

Demo delegate free on bond

DEL RIO, Texas (AP) — A delegate to the 1976 Democratic National Convention was free on $20,000 bond today following her indictment on 13 counts charging violations of U.S. immigration laws.

Delia Gonzalez, 39, was freed Wednesday on the bond after appearing before U.S. Magistrate W.P. Wallace.

She is accused of encouraging undocumented aliens to enter the United States illegally. The 13 counts allege violations between April and September this year.

If convicted, Mrs. Gonzalez could be sentenced to five years in prison and fined $2,000 on each count of the indictment returned Tuesday by the federal grand jury here.

Prince eyes 'Plutonium era' risks

Clements enters chase for Gov. Briscoe's job

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan is turning his attention from the age-old problems of refugees to the brand new risks of the looming "plutonium era."

Sadruddin, who retires next month as U.N. high commissioner for refugees, says he will devote more of his energies and financial resources to issues of ecology and energy.

In an interview, the 44-year-old prince also reflected on his 12 years as refugee commissioner, remarked on the lack of support for his work from Communist and oil-exporting countries and discussed the plight of human rights in the world.

Harvard-educated Sadruddin inherited a tradition of international service as well as money from his father, the late Aga Khan III, who headed the Ismaili Muslim sect for more than 50 years and was president of the League of Nations assembly in 1937.

The prince said the problems of nuclear energy have caught his attention in particular.

The cause of the prince's concern is the world's embryonic system of fast-breeder nuclear reactors, which produce plutonium, the raw material for nuclear bombs.

Many critics view the building of fast breeders as a step toward greater proliferation of nuclear weapons. But once the technology is perfected the fastbreeder system may offer virtually limitless nuclear energy.

The prince named names when it came to who helped on the refugee problems and who didn't. "If you look at the record you will find that 10 or 15 percent of the membership has contributed in a meaningful way to eradicate the refugee problem," he said.

"There are some countries that should have done more. I'm thinking particularly of the socialist countries and in 1976, the East European Communist bloc contributed nothing and 12 leading oil-exporting nations a total of only $105,000 to the high commissioner's annual programs. The United States gave $2 million.

The office this year is spending $72 million in helping tens of thousands of refugees from Southeast Asia to new homes in Europe, Africa and the Americas.

Sadruddin himself is a citizen of one of the leading oil producers, Iran, but has never lived there.

The prince said it is becoming increasingly difficult to protect the rights of refugees. States for years has called for establishment of a U.N. high commissioner for human rights to pressure repressive regimes to reform, and Sadruddin said the U.N. Human Rights Commission is "not sufficient. Its procedures are slow and cumbersome.

But he said he has no ambition to be the first human rights czar.

"Dealing with the human rights of refugees you are in a position to contribute in a concrete way to a particular group of people," he explained. "But to deal with questions related to human rights when governments do not agree among themselves ... it would be much more difficult."

DALLAS (AP) — William P. Clements, Jr., a Republican former deputy secretary of defense who says he has no regrets about supporting Democrat Lyndon Johnson in 1964, has entered the chase for Gov. Dolph Briscoe's job.

Clements, who served in the Nixon and Ford administrations, entered race Wednesday — a week after saying he was considering seeking the governor's seat.

Clements said he did not believe his support of Johnson in the 1964 election would hurt his chances.

"I have no apologies to make for that and I would do it again," he said adding that many others supported Johnson because Johnson "was a native son of Texas."

"And, he said, "It gave us the opportunity to elect a Texan president."

The 60-year-old Dallasite may face former state GOP chairman Ray Hutchison in the Republican primary. Former gubernatorial candidate Henry Grover may also enter the race.

Hutchison, a former state representative, has said he intends to make his announcement on Nov. 29. Grover is expected to make up his mind before the first of the year.

Clements said last week he was encouraged to run by prominent Texas and national Republican leaders. His announcement last week that he was considering the race cooled off U.S. Rep. Jim Collins who also had expressed some thoughts about entering the race for governor.

Collins said he would find it hard to campaign against Clements.

Clements served as second in command in the Defense

War coming closer for 'The Waltons'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's an odd thing about "The Waltons," that gentle clan of the Virginia hills. If you don't watch the show much, you tend to think they're still in the Depression era.

But last week's episode had them pausing to hear the war news from Europe, had one Walton boy home from National Guard training and another wishing he could become a Royal Air Force fighter pilot.

And tonight, a family crisis occurs when Grandpa Walton invites Army units on maneuvers to bivouac on his land.

In short, that distant war in Europe is coming closer and closer for members of the durable CBS family series created by Earl Hamner, who grew up in the rural town of Schuyler, Va.

Last season, he says, the series combined the years 1937-38 "because we'd just about used up every aspect of the Depression and we didn't want to start repeating things.

"And since the Depression always had been the villain, we felt we needed a new villain in the form of World War II, which would be especially threatening to a family with that many (four) boys."

As most viewers know, Richard Thomas, who played the oldest son, John-Boy, left the series after last season. But he still is mentioned by the family in various episodes this year, Hamner says.

Last report, John-Boy was in New York, working for The Associated Press, of all things, and writing his second novel.

Hamner, 54, whose hit series is based on his memories of growing up in rural Virginia, says he's keeping this season's shows in a period just before the start of the draft for American men in 1940.

"This is because we don't want to lose any of the remaining boys quite yet," he said. "And when they're drafted, we'll work the stories around them when they're home on leave."

If "The Waltons" is renewed for a seventh season, it would then deal with the Pearl Harbor attack and America's entry into the war.

Leg amputated

Ex-slave, 135, wanted shot of bourbon

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — When former slave Charlie Smith, believed to be the nation's oldest person at 135, left for the hospital he was sitting high on his stretcher, clutching a favorite purse and sporting cowboy hat and boots.

He entered the operating room in style, too.

"Smith was in good spirits and wanted a shot of bourbon before he went into the hospital room," a spokesman at Lakeland General Hospital said Tuesday after Smith's right leg was amputated just below the knee.

A pain in Smith's toe was diagnosed as gangrene, and spreading infection forced physicians to amputate the lower leg, hospital officials said.
