Rhodesian leader's decisive move

Offer 'paves the way' for peace

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Moderate black nationalists gave qualified support today to Prime Minister Ian Smith's dramatic offer to steer Rhodesia to black majority rule in one-man, one-vote elections.

A spokesman for one moderate black leader, the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, called Smith's offer a "decisive move...which paves the way for black and white Rhodesians to sit down together and work out a blueprint for Zimbabwe which will bring peace and prosperity to our land."

Zimbabwe is the African name for Rhodesia. Sithole heads a faction of the African National Council.

Smith did not mention a date for elections. Jeremiah Chirau, leader of the moderate black Zimbabwe United Peoples Organization, said Smith's acceptance of majority rule could mean the end of guerrilla fighting. He appealed to black nationalist guerrillas to "come home peacefully," calling them "misguided young men who think that the path of violence can lead to anything constructive."

The independent Rhodesia Herald, reflecting white middle-of-the-road thinking, called Smith's surprise support for universal adult suffrage "a dramatic start" to bring peace to Rhodesia.

Both moderate black leaders operate from within Rhodesia. There was no immediate word from black nationalist guerrilla leaders operating from Zambia and Mozambique.

Claiming the British-American peace plan has failed, Smith told a news conference Thursday he believed an internal agreement between his white minority government and moderate black leaders would end Rhodesia's bloody five-year-old guerrilla war.

"It is time we got on in Rhodesia and came to some finalities so that we can bring to an end the kind of madness which exists today where Rhodesians are killing Rhodesians at a pretty fair pace," Smith said.

Chirau, who leaves Saturday for a trip to the United States and Britain to boost international support for his organization, told a group of white farmers in the town of Marandellas, about 50 miles south of Salisbury, that whites would not enjoy privileged status in a black majority-ruled Rhodesia.

interview that several "non-negotiable conditions" were still outstanding. These include a general amnesty for political detainees and restrictees; an end to political trials, and suspension of detentions and executions.

However, the Rhodesian military command refused to comment on reports that its ground and air forces have invaded neighboring black-ruled Mozambique in search of black Rhodesian guerrillas. There have been no reports of casualties.

A spokesman for the Mozambique general staff in the capital of Maputo said the raid began Wednesday morning near the border town of Chimoyo. Stiff fighting was reported in progress Thursday.

Mozambique is used as a launching pad for cross-border raids by Rhodesia's black nationalist guerrillas fighting to topple Smith's minority government. The Rhodesian military command has admitted making several attacks on Mozambique "in hot pursuit" of the guerrillas.

Elsewhere in southern Africa, at least 19 persons were injured when a bomb planted in a flowerpot exploded Thursday in an underground shopping mall in Johannesburg, South African officials said. Justice Minister James T. Kruger claimed urban terrorists were responsible.

The Rhodesian prime minister launched his initiative at a news conference in the city of Bulawayo, 225 miles southwest of Salisbury. It was the first time Smith had expressed support for the concept of national elections in Rhodesia based on universal adult suffrage.

Fell four floors Jail escapee back behind bars

Roy Dean Boyd is in satisfactory condition, and occupying a cell in the Howard County jail, after he fell from a fourth floor window of the courthouse in an escape attempt Wednesday night.

He was released from Malone-Hogan Hospital at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday after treatment for a fractured ankle, a sprained wrist, a broken tail and a sprained wrist, and a broken tail bone.

Boyd, apparently attempted to escape by tying sheets together in order to use them as a rope to help him down. The attempt could have been successful had the knot which Boyd tied to the center strut of the window held.

Boyd got out his cell with two other prisoners by beating the jailer after convincing him to come into the cell to take out the garbage.

What happened at this point is still unknown. Apparently the prisoners were in desperate haste, and ripped out both phones (perhaps to use the wires as rope) and tore out part of the ceiling of the jailer's closet in an attempt to hide, according to Sheriff

A.N. Standard.

The prisoners then took sheets from the jailer's bed and linen closet, and tied them together, to make a long rope of sheets.

After tying one end of the rope to a fourth floor window strut, Boyd elected to go down first. Unfortunately for him, his knot did not hold, and he fell about 40 feet, landing in a heap with the sheets, just west of the main entrance to the courthouse.

Seeing Boyd fall was enough to make the other two escapees change their minds about leaving the courthouse by that exit.

Shortly after Boyd's fall, a janitor informed Deputy Eddie Owen that a man just fell from the fourth floor window.

After investigating, Owen called for help and an ambulance. The four prisoners were subdued by other armed men including Sheriff Standard, Dan Hutchinson, and Police officers Tony Lujan, and Jerry Pruitt.

The jailer, Milton Howard Wilson, and Boyd were both taken to the hospital. Wilson was treated for facial bruises, and released.

Farmers stage protest

A day of mourning for Indians

After savoring the mixed blessings of home-cooked turkey, family reunions, holiday traffic and indigestion, the nation awoke today to a month-long shopping season, with stores full of gifts, and elbowing crowds full of Christmas cheer and grim determination.

Looking back at history, a group of Indians said Thanksgiving was a day for mourning, not gratefulness.

And on Thursday black comedian Dick Gregory ended Thanksgiving in jail after protesting South African racial policies outside the White House and the South African embassy.

Meanwhile, farmers upset about prices readied a parade on President Carter's hometown, Plains, Ga.

But Carter himself spent a peaceful day at the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md., eating cornbread-stuffed turkey, giblet gravy, candied sweet potatoes, green beans, waldorf salad, rolls and butter, cranberries and pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale, staying in Washington, said he let his wife sleep while he fixed his family's turkey himself, giving his Navy stewards the day off.

In his Thanksgiving proclamation, Carter recalled the first such national message in 1777, and said Americans "can look to the future with hope and confidence" because "we have tamed a continent, established institutions dedicated to protecting our liberties, and secured a place of leadership among nations. But we have never lost sight of the principles upon which our nation was founded."

Fanciful Thanksgiving parades by arch-rival department stores were held in New York, by Macy's, and in Philadelphia, by Gimbels.

Meanwhile, in Plymouth, Mass., some 20 Indians held a vigil. Russell

Peters, president of the Mashpee Wampanoag Indian Tribal Council, which is feuding with Mashpee, Mass., over land rights, said: "For Indians, Thanksgiving is now a day of fasting and mourning."

With his wife Lillian and Massachusetts state Sen. William Owens, Gregory was arrested and accused of demonstrating within 500 feet of the South African embassy. The three refused release without bail and said they would wait in jail until arraignment today.

Outside Plains, Ga., thousands of farmers on tractors and escorted by crop-dusting airplanes prepared a rally today to voice their demand that Congress set a floor price on agricultural products to ensure that they will get back production costs and a small profit. Otherwise, farmers say they will go on strike starting Dec. 14.

For many Americans, Thanksgiving also meant the hazards of travel.

By early today, more than 155 people had died on the highways.

A twin-engine private airplane crashed in Beckley, W. Va., killing six people from an Illinois family who were apparently on their way to a Thanksgiving gathering.

And 800 Amtrak passengers were delayed up to seven hours between Seattle and Los Angeles because a freight train had derailed near Dunsuir, Calif., and the passengers had to be bused around the site.

Salvation Army kettles appearing Saturday

Salvation Army kettles will appear on Big Spring streets for the first time Saturday morning, manned by members of the Salvation Army advisory board and the Key Club. The kettles will be located at the post office, Woolworth's and Gibson's.

Most local service clubs will supply personnel to man the kettles this season. The Kiwanis Club, which has won the trophy for raising the most money several years, will be out in force again, as will representatives from the ABClub, Downtown Lions, Civitan, Optimist and Rotary. Young people from the Salvation Army will also ring the bells for the Salvation Army, appealing for donations.

Money from the kettles helps the Salvation Army underwrite the expense of seeing that all needy families in Big Spring will not feel denied at Christmas time.

The Herald is sponsoring the Christmas Cheer Fund again this year and will list all contributions mailed or sent to the newspaper. Checks should be made out to the Christmas Cheer Fund. If the donor wishes, he can send them directly to the Salvation Army.

Food and toys are more costly than they were last year.

Approximately 300 families will receive a cheer fund order for Christmas dinner. The Salvation Army provided 700 children last year with toys. In addition, the agency provided gifts for patients in the Big Spring State and Veterans hospitals. Special parties were also conducted at rest homes and gifts provided. Three extra-parties-for-groups with which the Salvation Army works all year were also hosted by the agency.

Brig. Ball of the local SA post said that approximately $8,000 was needed to finance the entire project and most of that would have to come through donations. Ball offers a reminder that such donations are tax-deductible.

Among latest donors to the Cheer Fund are Mr. and Mrs. Grady Cunningham, who forwarded a check for $100 to the Herald. That raises the total given thus far to $130.

560 may die before holiday ends Sunday

Traffic accidents had claimed more than 175 lives on the nation's streets and highways by noon today, with more than half of a four-day Thanksgiving weekend still ahead.

At noon EST, the death toll stood at 175.

The National Safety Council has estimated 460 to 560 persons could die in traffic over the weekend that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

The council said an average of 530 holiday deaths occur during a non-holiday period of equal length at this time of year.

Thanksgiving auto travel claimed a record number of lives in 1968, when 764 persons died. The toll last year was 467.

Travel this year was aggravated in northern areas by snow that stretched intermittently from the Pacific Northwest to New England. Travel advisories were in effect for a dozen states from Washington to Michigan.

New policemen, firemen added by federal grant

Five new police officers and four new firemen for Big Spring will be provided to the city through the Federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

"We have been given a grant for $81,000 to pay the salaries of these men for the first year," said Nabar Martinez, program director for Big Spring's Human Resource Center.

Interviews for the positions will begin Monday at the local office of the Texas Employment Commission. In order to qualify for one of the posts, applicants must be in the low income bracket, and must have been out of work for 15 of the last 20 weeks.

Those interested should contact the TEC Office, 406 Runnels, at 267-7437.

Actress-model eleventh in series of murders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An aspiring actress-model became the 11th victim in a series of murders of young females whose partially clothed or nude bodies have been turning up under bushes and shrubs in northern suburbs for more than a month.

An autopsy Thursday on the body of Jane Evelyn King, 28, found near a freeway in Griffith Park, showed she had been strangled, as had all but two of the other victims.

It was not immediately known whether Miss King had been sexually assaulted as some of the other victims were. County Coroner Thomas Noguchi said further tests were being performed.

The West Los Angeles woman, last seen Nov. 9 by friends as she left the Church of Scientology Celebrity Center in Hollywood, "was known to accept hitchhiking rides," police Lt. Dan Cooke said.

Miss King, who had been dead several days when her body was found Wednesday, was identified through dental charts and fingerprints, Cooke said.

Another victim, Lissa Kastin, 21, also was last seen in Hollywood as she left her job as a waitress. Her strangled and sexually assaulted body was discovered Nov. 6 in a Glendale ravine.

Glendale police have prepared a composite drawing of a man seen driving a car believed to be Miss Kastin's.

Los Angeles and Glendale police, the county sheriff's department and the coroner's office have set up a 32-man task force to investigate the 11 slayings, many of which have occurred within a five-mile radius.

Farm strike gets support in California

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two Texans promoting a national farmers strike next month say they've received some support in California.

But Fred Hering, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, says few California farmers would back such a strike.

The Sacramento Bee said Thursday that Oran Watson of Tulia, Tex., and Gerald McCathern of Hereford, Tex., report having won favorable reaction at meetings with California growers.

Watson and McCathern are leaders of a group that is asking farmers to refuse to sell any products or buy equipment or supplies after Dec. 14. The group is demanding an average increase in the prices for farm products of about 50 percent, which would raise consumer food costs about 20 percent, the story said.

Major national agricultural organizations have denounced the plan, however.

UW collections at 83 per cent

The collections for the United Way are 83.4 per cent complete with $109,113.04 in the bank before Thanksgiving, according to Martha Cohorn.

It is anticipated that if all cards are turned back into the United Way office, the fund drive will go over its projection of $130,000.

Two divisions in the drive have exceeded their goals, including the CFC group of federal employees and the residential division.

Anyone who still has cards out are urged to work them and turn them back in as soon as possible, according to Mrs. Cohorn.

Action/reaction: Too many?

Q. Why are all the question marks after the headlines in the Herald? Are your stories based on fact or assumption? The headline states a fact, then adds the question mark. Are you unsure of your source or yourself? There were eight question marks following heads in a recent paper I read.

A. Eight are too many. All Herald news items are based on fact. However, some stories are qualified and the headline writers treat them in that light. It's easier to alert the reader in that manner than it is to write an accompanying story.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — What 19-year-old mechanic wouldn't welcome a chance to take the police car he was working on out for a spin? The Iowa Highway Patrol, however, didn't take kindly to the way Deon Luedtke did it.

Officers said Luedtke picked up a friend and drove the patrol car 25 miles over country highways with red lights flashing and siren blaring. What's more, the transmission Luedtke had worked on leaked oil on an exhaust pipe and a fire started, but he managed to put it out.

He was arraigned Wednesday on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Inside: Arkansas racer backs win

ARKANSAS UNIVERSITY freshman Bobby Duckworth dropped a certain touchdown pass at Jones Stadium during a junior varsity game between Arkansas and Texas earlier this season. He more than made up for it Thursday as he caught a touchdown pass in the closing minutes to help Orange Bowl-bound Arkansas defeat Tangerine Bowl-bound Texas Tech, 17-14. See p. 1B.

DAVID AND JERRI Conarroe are both handicapped. In the past two months, their house has been broken into at least three times and each has been attacked once at home. But Bobby has changed all that. The 80-pound German shepherd already has sent one intruder crashing through the back door, leaving his tattered shirt behind. See p. 8A.

PREREQUISITE OF THE JOB — Without so much as a glance for a girl, Prince Charles left, arrives at London's Connaught Rooms to address the 150th anniversary banquet of the Printers' Charitable Corporation. The 29-year-old heir to the British throne, who has gained his reputation for kissing pretty girls during his recent overseas tour, said in his speech that getting kissed by girls is "one of the perks of the job."

Prince kissed porn star

LONDON (AP) — When one is a prince, one never can tell whom one is kissing.

It now turns out that an Australian beauty Prince Charles of England kissed publicly in Adelaide on Nov. 9 apparently was a part-time actress in blue movies.

Pictures of Charles, 29, kissing Sylvia Cresnar, 28, on the lips while he was on a tour of Australia appeared in newspapers around the world.

The woman initially was identified as a shop assistant.

But Charles told 900 guests at a charity banquet Thursday night: "I understand she was a part-time actress in blue movies."

He cautioned the banquet guests not to believe everything they read in newspapers.

"They claimed I grabbed a lady in the crowd in Australia and planted a smacking kiss on her," he said. "In fact, it was the other way around. These things are inevitable and one must relax and enjoy oneself."

Comedian arrested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comedian-activist Dick Gregory, his wife, Lillian, and a Massachusetts state senator have been arrested for demonstrating within 500 feet of the South African embassy.

The Gregorys and state Sen. William Owens were arrested Thursday and were offered their release on personal recognizance.

However, Officer C.E. Reed of the District of Columbia police department said they insisted on remaining in jail until their arraignment today.

Bus negotiations resume

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Negotiations between the Amalgamated Transit Union and strike-threatened Greyhound Lines are resuming after a Thanksgiving recess.

Union officials had said they planned to use the one-day break to refine their contract demands for the resumption of talks today.

"We're working on language drafts — trying to iron out drafts in language we can understand," said Don Rhodes, vice president of the AFL-CIO union's Greyhound bargaining unit. He and council president Owen Jones spent the holiday working on the contract demands.

The current contract expired Oct. 31, and union leaders have been given authorization to call a strike, but Jones has said the contract will remain in force day to day as long as negotiations continue.

Drivers and terminal workers make an average $6.21 an hour or 25 cents a mile.

Melting snow causing flooding

By the Associated Press
As new snow fell in areas from the Rockies to the Midwest, melting old snow was causing some flooding in Oregon today.

Locally heavy snow was expected through portions of the northern and western mountains of Wyoming, and travelers' advisories were in effect in parts of Idaho, Washington State, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

A heavy snow watch was in effect for southern Wisconsin, and winter storm watches were posted over parts of Ohio. For tonight, the watches reached western New York and northeastern Pennsylvania.

In Minnesota, one to three inches of snow fell Thursday night, leading to the death of David Lynn Cannedy, 23, of Amarillo, Texas, in a two-car collision.

Nebraska had snow flurries, and one to four inches was expected in Illinois—the first significant snow there this season.

In Colorado, where light snow fell Thursday, ski business was booming but high winds were buffeting the front range of the Rockies.

In Oregon, rain melted a blanket of snow in the state's western region, and the National Weather Service said coastal streams would overflow their banks locally, with major flooding on the Coquille River of southwestern Oregon. More rain was expected today.

A cold front extended from the Atlantic across extreme north Florida to the Florida panhandle, then along the Gulf Coast to south Texas. With it came variable cloudiness and patchy dense fog over parts of Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida, with showers over Florida.

Arizona and the southern half of California were sunny and warm.

The National Weather Service forecast snow from the upper half of the Mississippi Valley to the Great Lakes region and the upper Ohio Valley today; rain from the lower Ohio Valley to the Appalachians and through the middle and South Atlantic Coast; showers from the northern half of the Pacific Coast into Idaho and northern Utah, with snow in the higher elevations and the extreme northern Plateau; cloudy skies over the central Plains and in Colorado and southern Texas; clear or partly cloudy weather in other areas.

Temperatures were expected to stay cold from the northern Plains into the Great Lakes but to be warmer in the northern Rockies. The rest of the northern United States was expected to be seasonally cool, and most of the South to be mild.

Overnight temperatures ranged from 19 below zero in International Falls and Warroad, Minn., to 73 in Key West, Fla.

Here are some temperatures and conditions around the nation:

Eastern U.S.: Atlanta 53 cloudy; Boston 40 clear; Chicago 31 snow; Cincinnati 32 cloudy; Cleveland 35 cloudy; Detroit 33 cloudy; Indianapolis not available;

Louisville 38 cloudy; Miami 67 partly cloudy; Nashville 38 clear; New Orleans 57 foggy; New York 38 clear; Philadelphia not available; Pittsburgh 31 hazy; Washington 42 cloudy.

Western U.S.: Anchorage 11 clear; Denver 36 clear; Des Moines 22 snow; Fort Worth 53 cloudy; Kansas City 34 partly cloudy; Los Angeles 64 clear; Mpls-St. Paul 4 snow; Phoenix 54 clear; St. Louis 36 foggy; Salt Lake City 4

Vandals leave their marks

Vandals and unsuccessful burglars left their marks on three area stores Wednesday.

A large picture window was broken with a beer bottle at the McMillan Printing and Office Supply Company, 1712 Gregg, around 11 p.m. Wednesday. Damage was estimated at $400.

Two plate glass doors were smashed at the Giant Food Store, 611 Lamesa Highway, around 6:15 p.m. Wednesday. Damage was estimated at $150.

Intruders kicked in the west door of the Wright Way Furniture Store, 1209 Wright, Wednesday night, and damaged the north door while inside. Nothing has yet been found missing at the store, but damage to the doors was estimated at $70.

Burglars also kicked in the door at the home of Curtis Warren, 101 N. Goliad, sometime between 1 and 2 p.m. Wednesday. Once inside they stole a fountain pen, $24 in cash and four bottles of cologne.

Total loss was estimated at $89.

Flames claim three

Beaumont, Texas (AP) — Three women were killed and a fourth was in critical condition when a fire raged through a halfway house for alcoholics here Thanksgiving Day.

The woman who escaped, 28-year-old Gloria Stegell of Beaumont, and Billie Coleman Lewis, 43, who was a nurse.

Although the cause of the fire was under investigation, officials said preliminary indications were that it was accidental.

The fire started shortly after 1 a.m., District Fire Chief J.H. Pickering said. Apparently it began in a living room on the ground floor and raced up to the second floor where the bedrooms are located, he added.

The Texas Commission on Alcoholism provided a grant of $31,000 in 1974 to start the facility, which is known as the Franklin House. It is run by Land Manor Inc., which is a private firm that also operates several nursing homes.

"When we came in we were alerted that some people were inside, but it was just impossible to get in," said Pickering. "The building was totally engulfed."

He said, "every room in the facility was gutted by fire."

Two of the victims were found in one bedroom and the third woman was found in another bedroom.

Mrs. Stegell, who had jumped from a second story window, was picked up by a passing motorist who called an ambulance.

Eight to 12 women usually live in the facility, officials said, but five had departed the day before to visit with relatives during Thanksgiving.

Four motorcyclists

killed on Texas roads

By the Associated Press
Four motorcyclists involved in collisions with cars were killed during the Thanksgiving holiday on Texas highways, while three other people died in a head-on accident near Norias in South Texas.

The Associated Press count, which runs from 6 p.m. Thursday through midnight Sunday, lists 11 deaths on Texas highways.

Three women died in a house fire in Beaumont and a man apparently died of asphyxiation at Laredo.

A 23-year-old Wickett woman, Kathryn Courtney Canall, died when she was a passenger on a motorcycle that was struck by a car early Thursday one mile south of Monahans. In Austin, Louis Ortiz, 19, was killed Wednesday evening when his cycle and a car collided.

Two Texas men died early Thursday near Freer in Duval County when their motorcycle and pickup collided on State Highway 44.

Steven Lewis Hornbuckle, 23, of Portland, and John Wade Costley, 19, of Rockport, were killed in that mishap. Three persons died early Thursday in a two-vehicle accident on U.S. 77 near the tiny ranching community of Norias. The victims were Jose Efrain Urdiales of Brownsville, Sharon Hanchen of Phoenix, Ariz., and William Rogers Jr., whose address was unknown.

Others who have died on state highways are:

—William M. Miller, 55, of Montgomery, Ala., killed Wednesday evening at a street intersection in Lubbock.

—Patsy Francine Milam, a 26-year-old airline flight attendant from San Antonio, killed when her car ran off U.S. 83 in Rannels County near Ballinger.

—Katherine S. Brown, 29, of Houston, fatally injured Thursday morning in a two-car head-on collision in Lubbock County.

Kids without a country

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — About 4,000 children of American-Thai parents are in the process of losing their Thai citizenship through a decree designed to safeguard Thailand's national security.

The children were abandoned by their fathers or are simply the product of casual unions during the Indochinese war years when the United States kept upwards of 50,000 military personnel in Thailand.

Interior Ministry officials say a 1972 decree aimed at preventing children of Vietnamese refugees from obtaining Thai citizenship now is being applied to the "Amerasians," as they are known here.

The decree reflects Thai suspicion of the tens of thousands of Vietnamese who fled to Thailand in the 1950s after the French war in Vietnam.

Successive Thai governments have said some of the Vietnamese were Communist agents or at least easy targets for conversion to Communism.

Thailand has been flooded by Vietnamese refugees who escaped their homeland after the Communist takeover in 1975, and the Thai government is constantly tightening restrictions against them.

Loss of Thai nationality will deprive the children of the right to vote or participate in the Thai government when they grow up.

Officials say they also may have trouble getting government jobs and could face travel restrictions.

Robert M. Hearn, head of the Pearl S. Buck Foundation in Thailand, an international child relief agency, said the children might, through a complicated process, be eligible for U.S. citizenship.

The children "live in Thai homes, with Thais. They're not going anywhere. Maybe one in a thousand would be interested in becoming an American," Hearn told The Associated Press in an interview.

The foundation sponsors 1,227 "Amerasian" children, taking care of their welfare and schooling, providing counseling services and other help through funds from American donors.

RETIRING COMMISSIONER REFLECTS ON SYSTEM — James B. Cardwell, shown in this file photo, says something is out of whack with the federal retirement and Social Security systems. Cardwell, at age 55, is retiring as commissioner of Social Security after 35-year government career. When he leaves office he will begin drawing a government pension and for the first time in his life begin paying taxes into the Social Security system.

Something is out of whack with SS

WASHINGTON (AP) — a group he has criticized in the past: double-dippers who draw both a federal pension and Social Security benefits.

Although Civil Service pensions are designed to be self-sufficient, about 44 per cent of all retired federal workers draw benefits from both systems.

Some federal employees gain Social Security coverage for work they did before or after their government service.

Cardwell is taking a top financial job at the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, a private entity, that will pay $53,000 annually. He frankly admits that he wishes his new job was not covered by Social Security because he does not expect to work the 8 1/2 years he would need to qualify for Social Security benefits.

"If I could look at it very selfishly, I would like to err on the side of not participating in Social Security after having gone this long without participating," he explained in an interview. "But that would be very selfish and I'm willing to pay my share, even if it never accrues to me."

Cardwell also wants to avoid becoming a member of

They call it Welch

with Marj Carpenter

They call it Welch. And they also call it Shack Town. But if you call it Shack Town in Welch nowadays, you have to pay for everybody a round of Cokes and coffee in the cafe.

Because they have tried mightily to ditch that name once and for ever. "It's bad enough that we have to be on the Punkin' Center telephone exchange and when we're off trying to call home long distance, the operators always giggle when you ask for Punkin' Center," one Welch resident proclaimed.

Ted Turner, who has lived in Welch over 50 years, says, "I guess I'm the No. 1 sorehead around here. Gene Hendon must be No. 2," and he laughed.

"We had some wild days back when we consolidated the schools. We haven't had that much fun since," he laughed.

Welch actually began back in 1924, a few years behind Punkin' Center. Their community also started with a cotton gin, one built by the Kirklins Brothers from Oklahoma. The Holdum Grocery and a cafe followed and soon there were quite a few little houses built around. That's when it was called Shack Town.

In 1935, a promoter named J. T. Browning moved in and bought a chunk of land from L. I. Britt. Britt donated land for a school and a church.

DAWSON COUNTY SCHOOL.

Browning bought a whole plot of land to form the town and he even owned the streets in the town. As long as he was alive, he paid county taxes on those streets, but after he died, the county took over the streets.

Browning named the community Welch and obtained the post office there in 1936. Nobody knows why he called it Welch — whether it was a family name or whether he was Welch in origin or what.

He was accused of having gone over to Pride and stolen the Pride Methodist Church and moved it to Welch in the night. Very few people have ever been credited with literally stealing an entire church. But Browning did.

Then the real fun began. The man decided to try to consolidate five schools. There was Welch, Fairview, located four and one half miles south of Welch; Midway, four miles to the north; Pride, three miles east and Lou three miles west.

Welch was in the center and the logical place for the school but everybody did not agree on this subject. Fairview was especially distraught since they had about 70 kids in their school. Midway, Lou and Pride had less.

Browning, even though he owned the streets, was caught on one of these streets and beaten up. But the school consolidation vote continued and in the fall of 1939, the vote passed. Welch won.

The school was constructed in Welch, but there was too much hard feelings to call it the Welch School. So it was named Dawson County School.

The communities of Midway, Fairview, Pride and Lou all died thereafter. Pride still has a cemetery and that's something Welch doesn't have. But most Welch citizens are buried in Lamesa. A few still are buried in Pride.

The town finally got a road during World War II and they had pavement all the way to Punkin' Center which is 21 miles and then to Lamesa which is 24 miles.

Hendon says, "Then our kids had a road out of town and most of them left and never came back."

Turner says, "I was here when a child and my dad was a dairy farmer. My family has always farmed around here. But starting with FDR, they began to help the little farmer — help him right out of business, and our kids don't have much reason to stay. We are without an industrial base and so we dwindle and die. There's about 500 out here now."

"For a long time, when I was a kid, we were really isolated," Turner recalled. "We'd get into Brownfield or Lamesa once in a while. But we had no pavement, no telephones and no electricity." The community is now served by rural telephones and an electric co-op out of Tahoka. The community also has a Baptist, Methodist and Church of Christ.

Van Carr is school superintendent. They have a lot of community gatherings, church and school gatherings.

"We're all pretty close out here whether we are agreeing or not," Turner added. The oldtimers like Turner and Hendon and Mrs. Toad Jayroe all call it home. Because they've been there a long time. But they worry about the future — out at Welch where I ride fence.

No room for 1-in-4 hospital patients?

A most pregnant Big Spring woman wakes her husband up in the middle of the night: It is time to reenact the fabled scramble to the hospital.

The harried husband grabs the prepacked suitcase, loads his wife into the car and heads toward the hospital—in Midland.

But he doesn't make it. The baby's hometown becomes Interstate 20 at Stanton.

This seemingly far-fetched situation where a Big Spring couple would be forced to drive to Midland to have a baby delivered may not be imaginary.

It is a possibility should new federal government guidelines intended to reduce hospital costs be passed.

But the proposed new guidelines would cut health care costs by cutting health care services, a frightening prospect to many rural Texans.

HERALD FAMILY Editor Eileen McGuire surveyed our local hospitals for a story in Wednesday's newspapers, and she found hospital administrators uniformly worried about what the proposed regulations would mean for Big Spring if they are adopted.

For example, the guidelines would limit the number of hospital beds in Big Spring perhaps to as few as 160. Our community now has 265 beds.

The result could be the closing of three of the four public patient hospitals in Big Spring.

As another example, the guidelines would prohibit obstetrical units in hospitals with less than 500 births (unless they are 45 minutes or more drive from a larger hospital).

This would mean that only Malone-Hogan could qualify for a delivery room, and Malone-Hogan would barely make it.

But whoa, the problem doesn't end there. The regulations also would prohibit obstetrical units in hospitals with less than 2,000 births annually if the hospitals are near a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA).

All the births in Big Spring taken together are less than 1,000 a year, and since our community is within 35 minutes of the Midland-Odessa SMSA, the guidelines could be interpreted as prohibiting hospital births here.

So our opening story could become a reality.

THESE GUIDELINES are being proposed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (who else?).

Texas hospital officials have said that 88 per cent of all the state's hospitals would be affected with the impact being worst in rural areas. They have said that the result would be that Texas hospitals would end up refusing one-in-four patients who seek admittance.

The guidelines do a number of other things. They set minimum usage on equipment which would mean none but the largest hospitals could have units such as cardiac care.

They establish an annual occupancy rate of at least 80 per cent, and they limit the number of nonfederal short-term hospital beds per 1,000 persons. The stated goal of the regulations is to reduce the number of hospital beds.

Why is our government proposing to do this to us? Sunday's "Publisher's Corner" will contain a personal-opinion stab at interpreting this question.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Ways to save

Around the rim

Bill Werrell

Most of us buy gasoline by brand name, octane rating, lead content, or strictly on the basis of price.

We have learned to live with higher prices, and to this day buy all the gas we want and waste about half of what we buy.

Everything that has happened to gasoline in the last five years has made it scarcer and more expensive. But consumption keeps going up, and so will the price. There are good ways and bad ways to buy gasoline, and you don't have to be a petroleum engineer to learn how.

Octane rating is a numerical rating of a gasoline's ability to resist detonation, or fuel knock when used as a motor fuel.

up, and with the coming of catalytic converters in 1975, no lead could be tolerated at all in some engines.

Another additive, MMT, brought unleaded gasoline back up to about an 87 octane reading. About 25 per cent of gasoline sold in America today is unleaded and about 40 per cent of this is boosted with MMT.

All of this suggests that the octane rating of the gas you buy is important.

IF YOURS is a late model car designed for unleaded fuels only, your choices are limited. These cars have the same octane requirements, and the octane rating of unleaded gas is closely regulated and uniform. Your best buy—then—is the cheapest unleaded gas you can find.

Older cars using leaded regular or premium have either low or high compression engines, with octane requirements varying accordingly. Octane ratings displayed on gas pumps are derived by averaging a research octane number and a lower motor octane number for the same gasoline. Usually these numbers are about eight points apart. To find the requirement for your car, (if the manual expresses it in a research number), subtract four to obtain the average displayed on the pump.

It is possible that you could economize with a lower rated fuel than your auto manual suggests. To find out, run your tank until it's almost empty, then put in a few gallons of lower grade gas. If no knocking results, try an even lower grade. When knocking begins again put in a few gallons of premium to stabilize the condition and once your tank is low again, fill up with the lowest grade your engine has demonstrated it can handle.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A young woman in our church led a very bad life before becoming a Christian, but now she knows past is all forgiven. However, her parents have now divorced, and she is very bitter and unforgiving toward them. Do you think she is really a Christian? — Mrs. R. K. DEAR MRS. K.: I cannot judge whether or not she is a Christian, nor can you; only God knows that. The Bible does teach that people will change in their behavior when Christ comes into their lives, and it warns us about false professions of faith that do not lead to a changed life. The Bible says, "For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do" (Ephesians 2:10, New International Version). The Bible also says, "Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you" (Ephesians 4:32).

On the other hand, we also know from God's Word that Christians are not perfect. Although Christ has come to dwell within us by the Holy Spirit, we also still have our old sinful nature. The young woman in your church may very well be a true believer. It is wrong for her to be filled with bitterness, but like all of us she needs to learn more about victory over sin in her life.

Let me make a suggestion to you. This young woman is going through a very difficult time, and she may not even realize how much bitterness has crept into her life. She needs the prayers and sympathetic help of other Christians. Her bitterness may be wrong, but it would be just as wrong for others to stand off and condemn her. Help her realize how much God has forgiven her and how much she should forgive others. The Bible commands us, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ" (Galatians 6:2).

Hibernating Communists

Evans, Novak

PARIS — Although the gloom is naturally concealed at the fortress-like Communist party headquarters here, the inner mood of the party these days is one of beleaguered worry tinged with desperation.

The reason is not hard to find: the spectacular Communist decision to break its five-year union with the Socialist party of Francois Mitterand has forced one of those 180-degree reversals that litter the Communist landscape back to the Russian revolution.

Party leader Georges Marchais (actually a closet opponent of the party's decision to break the Union of the Left) had made Mitterand the shining symbol of the Socialist-Communist union and its Common Program. Now Marchais's job is to convince disillusioned party cadres that Mitterand is some sort of anti-Marxist, and anti-worker traitor. These are the same cadres who were promised by Marchais for the past year that sweet victory awaited the Union of the Left in the election now scheduled for March 1978.

"IT IS becoming clear that the leaders of the Socialist party have heard the siren song and are setting forth," Marchais told his central committee in a battle-cry speech last month. Setting forth where? For a new political union with "national and international forces opposed to genuine political change—in other words, the hated bourgeois center—just as 'the Social Democrats are managing the affairs of capitalism' in Britain, West Germany, Austria, Portugal and other West European states.

The sin of the Mitterand Socialists, says Marchais, is their refusal to agree to an economic revolution that includes full nationalization of major holding companies and their affiliates, a 50 per cent increase in family allowances, a tax on capital and wealth, and worker elections of board chairmen in nationalized companies.

MARCHAIS'S POLITICAL dilemma is profound. Even with a $2 million kitty to hold the party cadres in line and whip up new members for the March election, can he justify sacrificing such other economic goals as higher minimum wages, agreed to by the Socialists, just because Mitterand will not buy the whole new Communist package?

These other, lesser parts of the Common Program did indeed appear to be within reach before the September break of the Union of the Left. As of today, however, the prospect appears remote of either a healing of the breach or of enough informal Communist support for Socialist candidates in the election to give the Socialists control of a new minority government. Indeed, the reverse may occur: a Communist decision to cut key Socialist candidates in selected districts in the runoff (second) balloting, a process that could cost Mitterand between 50 and 60 seats he would otherwise win.

In short, the economic goals for workers seem far from Marchais's mind today, even the goals that formed the Common Program before the Communists escalated their demands and forced a rupture of the left. The Communists' real goal may be more complex: to whittle down the fast-growing Socialist party, no matter how much the Communists damage themselves in the process, and then move into a rebuilding process of the left after the election.

"What a pleasant surprise! How do you do... or don't?"

Your chance of getting gallstones

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: To paraphrase an old line about the weather, "Everybody talks about the gall bladder, but nobody knows much about it." Can you explain in plain words just what it is and what it does? I hear about gallstones, which so many people seem to get. Just what are the odds of my getting them in my lifetime? — J. O.

You're right about one thing: many folks do have mistaken notions about this organ (it's not a gland). One woman complained to me once that she "had a gall bladder." She thought it meant she had gall (bile) in her urinary bladder.

The gall bladder gets the name by being the storage place for bile. That's a greenish-brown substance, one of the more important of the digestive "juices." It's important for breaking down food fats.

But bile isn't produced in the gall bladder. The liver does that, sending it directly into the small intestines where actual digestion takes place. Bile is such an important substance that the liver produces enough for a "reserve" supply. That is what is stored in the gall bladder. After a meal high in fats, the gall bladder releases some bile into the small intestine.

You can understand why the gall bladder makes its presence felt digestively when there is trouble there. There is pain in the upper right mid-abdomen. This often follows a fatty meal. When such symptoms occur the gall bladder is a suspect.

Stones form easily in the gall bladder because of the concentration of thickened fluid there. It's easy for substances like cholesterol to crystallize into stones. The stone begins with a tiny particle.

The average person has a one-in-five chance of developing stones. Gall-bladder infection (cholecystitis) is the chief cause, and the gall bladder is all too prone to infection.

The organ can be removed and one can live quite comfortably without it. The liver goes on producing the bile. You just have to be careful about high-fat meals.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have phlebitis in one leg, and am taking anticoagulant medicine for it. How much and what kind of exercise would be good for me? Is bicycle exercise suitable? I am 62. — Mrs. H. L. I can't give you a specific answer.

The amount and kind of exercise depends on the state of your phlebitis — the amount of pain and swelling. Your physician can evaluate that and advise.

Will he take test?

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Justice Department attorneys have agreed it will take a lie detector to get the truth out of Korean payoff man Tongsun Park if he accepts the deal to "give his testimony in exchange for immunity."

Park has made so many conflicting statements, the prosecutors acknowledge, that his testimony would be worthless in court unless it can be bolstered with supporting evidence. They will insist, therefore, that Park submit to a lie detector test as part of the deal. Their hope is that Park, with a polygraph machine monitoring his veracity, will provide enough new information that they will be able to build on it. They will seek corroborating evidence, which they will then use to make more cases against congressmen who have accepted bribes.

The prosecutors admit it will be tough to nail many congressmen. The Justice Department has determined, for example, that Park highly exaggerated his influence on Capitol Hill. He boasted to his Korean cohorts that he was close to congressmen whom he had merely met and that he had passed out cash, which he really had diverted to his own use.

IT LOOKS AS IF Park was a skilled con man who misled even his own government. On the other hand, the Justice Department has solid evidence contradicting the South Korean government's claim that Park was merely a businessman who acted on his own.

His link with the Korean Central Intelligence Agency has been established to the satisfaction of the prosecutors. They are aware, however, that Park didn't flash his KCIA credentials on Capitol Hill and offer "bribes" to congressmen. He told congressmen, on the contrary, that he was a businessman who wanted to contribute to their campaigns.

It will be difficult to prove there were any strings attached to the contributions. Not until later would Park drop by and make a pitch on behalf of South Korea. The Justice Department, therefore, might have trouble in court differentiating between political contributions and outright bribes.

The prosecutors will be able to prove, however, that some congressmen were secretive about their dealings with Park and concealed the cash he gave them. This raises suspicions, at least, that they really didn't regard the money as legitimate campaign contributions.

AUTO STATIC: In a move that could squeeze the nation's small radio manufacturers out of business, General Motors is forcing auto dealers to buy some of its 1978 models with built-in GM radios.

Car radios have traditionally been optional equipment, and dealers have been free to purchase them from independent firms. But General Motors has decided that its own radio will be standard equipment on every 1978 Buick Riviera, Oldsmobile Toronado and Chevrolet Chevette. The dealer will have no choice.

This GM action has raised the hackles of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who has fired off a confidential letter to the Justice Department's antitrust chief, John Shenefield. The new GM policy, Kennedy complained, has "tremendous potential for inflicting irreparable injury on independent radio manufacturers." The relationship between radio firms and auto dealers could be "disrupted," he wrote, by this "selective intrusion into their market."

The Justice Department has launched an investigation into the matter, which will also focus on other auto parts and accessories.

Footnote: General Motors had no comment as we went to press. Ford Motor Company, meanwhile, will also install radios in every 1978 Pinto and Mercury Bobcat in order to remain "competitive," a spokesman said.

SCHOOL BUS SAFETY: Thousands of unsafe school buses are still on the road because of a bus-sized loophole in the law. Congress ordered strict safety standards for the nation's school buses back in 1974. But any bus chassis manufactured before the April 1, 1977, deadline doesn't have to meet the tougher standards.

SOME MANUFACTURERS, therefore, drastically stepped up their production to beat the deadline. Their tactics have been uncovered by Rep. Andrew Maguire, D-N.J., who has asked highway safety chief Joan Claybrook to blow the whistle on these unsafe buses.

"Hundreds, if not thousands, of school bus chassis built before April have been purchased by school boards and manufacturers," Maguire warns in a confidential letter, "so that cheaper, but less safe bodies can be installed."

WHO'S NEWS: President Carter is fascinated with foreign affairs and devotes a large share of his time to managing the nation's diplomacy.

Dear Editor:

I attended the Pro-Family Rally held in the Astro-Arena in Houston, Saturday, Nov. 19. I was very impressed to witness and to be a part of that meeting! The rally was financed by contributions from those dedicated to our cause.

The program was a fast-moving one with God-family-country spirit—with short messages from nationally-known speakers, interspersed with excellent entertainment. It was a positive and uplifting reaffirmation of our beliefs in the basic values which have formed the greatness of our country. The Pro-Family Rally was planned to let our lawmakers in Washington and our State Houses know that the IWY (International Women's Year) conferences do not represent us.

The Astro-Arena was packed and 2,000 people were standing outside. At least 17,000 people were present. All 50 states of the United States had representatives present at the Pro-Rally. Over 300,000 "Requests to the President and to Congress" Resolutions (signed sheets from all over the United States) were taken to the meeting and were flown to Washington and presented to President Carter and our Congressmen.

Resolutions sent were against the following: Abortion, ERA (Equal Rights Amendment), Federally funded and controlled 24-hour child development centers for all children, plans for government-financed restraining centers for "displaced homemakers", for school sex education and family planning (including providing contraceptives and abortion information), affirmative action (which includes quotas and hiring women over qualified men), removing all preferences for veterans; abolishing Roberts Rule of Orders giving full legal and social status to homosexuals; world disarmament, reduced national defense, reduced work with no cut in pay.

President Carter appointed a National IWY Commission and Congress authorized $5 million for State and National IWY conference. (50 states and 6 territories have been completed) and the National (just completed in Houston). Bella Abzug promised the Congress the money would be used to "afford an opportunity for every kind of women, representing every viewpoint, in every State of this nation to make a statement of her concern" (in Congressional debate, Dec. 1975). This sounds good and evidently Congress believed her; but the intent of Congress has been ignored and thwarted.

The delegates at the IWY Conference in Houston who were Pro-Family, etc. were not given a fair chance to speak their views about any issue. When they asked to speak and said something against the views of the majority of women, present at the IWY Conference the chairperson would bang her gavel and say, "On to the next microphone, please." We saw this happen on the television coverage in Houston. The IWY requested Monday of this week for more Federal money to be granted to them for other meetings such as the one just completed.

How long are we going to allow our tax money to be used for such things (that we do not endorse or agree with most of the views presented)?

The IWY Convention in Houston did not fairly represent American Women. It was designed to form a blueprint for future legislation which will influence the social, moral and spiritual structure. Since about 80 per cent of the delegates embraced the feminist (women's lib) philosophy, there is no doubt that the recommendations emanating from the conference endorsed ERA, Federal child development centers, federally-funded women's centers, abortion, homosexual "rights" to freely flaunt their "lifestyles" in the schools, the removal of all preferential treatment for veterans—just to name a few issues.

Those of you who feel the unfairness of the whole IWY Convention as I do, please write letters to the President of the United States, your Congressmen and Senators and tell them that these women do not speak your views.

The following is a quote from Edmund Burke, "All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is for enough good men to do nothing."

Wife beating, child abuse are commonplace crimes

Workshop reveals violence is learned in the home

By DUSTY RICHARD
Increasing evidence shows that the family home can be the scene of violent acts, club women were told recently.

Violence in the home may range from the punishment of children to an occasional homicidal assault by one member of the family on another, said Janet Rogers, Howard County Home Demonstration Agent, at a leadership training workshop for members of Howard County Home Demonstration Clubs and other women's organizations.

The workshops are held to give information and material to members of H.D. clubs, so that they can teach the material to other club members.

Mrs. Rogers said that almost one-third of the murders in the U.S. occur between members of the same family, and in Detroit alone, four out of five murders involved people who knew each other.

For the study, Mrs. Rogers used material compiled by Dorothy Taylor, Family Life, Education Specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

When we think of violence in the home, she said, we consider only physical violence. However, other kinds are psychic or verbal abuse. Often verbal abuse precedes physical violence.

Data suggests that aggressive behavior is more closely tied to the emotional consequences of frustration of hopes and the day-to-day stress among people who have important, complex relationships.

The home is the main place for abuse for two reasons: it is here that most of the family life and interaction take place, and it is the protected region of family behavior. When people are hidden by their own walls, there is no need to keep up a "front" of harmonious and conflict-free life.

The typical scene of family violence is in the kitchen, because it is one place in the home where family members routinely congregate and so is the site of most family interaction.

The living room is the second most likely place, for similar reasons. The television set may even be the start of violence if a family member views the T.V. as competition for attention.

Most homicides occur in the bedroom, because it is a difficult room from which to escape. The violence occurring here revolves around sex and intimacy.

The least violence occurs in the bathroom, according to Mrs. Rogers, because there is usually a lock on the door, and can serve as a refuge in times of violence.

Because family violence is considered deviant by most of society, families apparently try to hide it by waiting until no one is around. Violent families usually isolate themselves from neighbors, and neighbors tend to stay out of it because they fear involvement and getting hurt.

Mrs. Rogers said that there are three criteria for child abuse.

First, a parent must have the potential to abuse. Factors leading to this potential are: the way that the parents themselves were raised; the inability to trust others; a marriage in which the spouse is unable to give; the presence of a poor self-image and the possession of unrealistic expectations for the child.

Second, there must be a child — a very special one. This child is seen differently by his parents. He may fail to respond in the manner that the parent expects, or may really be different — retarded, precocious, hyperactive or possessing a birth defect. And, perfectly normal children can be seen as spoiled, bad, slow or stubborn.

Third, there must be some form of crisis, or a series of crises, that sets the abusive act into motion. It is unlikely that the crisis is the cause of abuse, but it may be the precipitating factor.

The view that child abuse is caused by parents who don't know their real strength while disciplining their children has been shown to be false.

According to Mrs. Rogers, the kind of help that abusive parents respond to involves relationships that are more intense and personal than usual therapeutic relationships.

This therapy involves help in feeling good about themselves; comfort when hurt; someone they can trust and lean on; someone who will not be exhausted when the parents defeat all attempts to help them seek pleasure in life; someone who will not criticize them; someone who will help them understand their children; and someone who will give to them without making them feel of lesser value because of their needs.

The literature on child abuse suggests that the abused child grows up to be the abusive parent, and the few studies that have been made of marital violence suggest that it is also passed from one generation to another.

Wifebeating is one of the most commonplace of crimes. Assaulted spouses have generally been ignored in our society, and so have come to consider that their ordeals are shameful, or that they are their own faults. Sometimes a wife will not report incidents of abuse by her husband, because even though the mistreatment is humiliating, they dread the further humiliation of others finding out. Most women put up with this behavior because they feel as if they have no other choices, because of economic dependence, and because of psychological or societal pressures.

In recent research findings, said Mrs. Rogers, 48 per cent of family violence was related to alcohol. Most of the time (44 per cent), reports indicated that alcohol was present in both the offender and the victim.

One in three alcoholics is a woman. Women comprise the biggest increase in the problem-drinking population in recent years. Women often cite family disagreements as reasons to drink, and are more likely to fall into deep depression than male alcoholics.

Alcohol and drinking may serve as a trigger for long-standing marital disputes, said Mrs. Rogers. Alcohol may also serve as an excuse for behavior that is normally prohibited by society and family standards.

Suicide, the last form of violence studied, comes in one of three forms, according to the material used by Mrs. Rogers.

One is the "altruistic" suicide. It is the suicide demanded under certain circumstances by a society or culture. For example, hara-kiri pilots and Hindu widows who cremate themselves on their husbands' funeral pyres are altruistic suicides.

Most suicides in the U.S. are "egotistic," that is, occurring when the individual has no ties with society. Persons who are isolated tend to kill themselves more often than do church or family members, said Mrs. Rogers.

The third kind of suicide is "anomic." They happen when an relationship is suddenly severed. Losses of a job, a spouse, the love of a family member or even a change in one's financial status can trigger an anomic suicide.

The conclusion of the study was that violence is learned behavior.

"Violence towards family members is learned by experiencing violence while growing up in a family. When an individual experiences violence as a child, he is more likely to engage in violence as an adult," according to the material used by Mrs. Rogers.

Participants in the study of violence in the home included Evelyn Vigar, Ruth Morton, Delores Norred, Inez Petty, Nadine Hodnett, Joyce Orr and Sandy Stretcher.

Dear Abby

Husband Cruel To His Stepson

DEAR ABBY: I have three children from two previous marriages. My new husband of two years is a wonderful provider and husband, but by no means is he a father to my son.

He gets along well with my two daughters, but he does not like my 8-year-old son. I can see the hatred growing day by day and there's no way I can stop it.

When my son asks him a question, he says, "Shut up!" When the boy asks me why Dad is so mean to him and Dad hears him, he says, "Don't go running to your mother or you'll get a whipping!"

He won't show the boy any affection because he says showing affection to a boy will turn him into a homosexual. Abby, I am stuck. I've suggested counseling, but my husband says I'm the only one who's nuts, not him.

I want us to be a happy family, but it's like butting my head against a stone wall. I've tried everything and gotten nowhere. Can you help me?

LOSING THE WAY IN GA.

DEAR LOSING: Anyone who believes that showing affection to a boy will turn him into a homosexual, and that counseling is only for "nuts," is woefully ignorant. If I were you I'd go alone for counseling to learn how to handle this unreasonable man who gets along well with your two daughters but is cruel to your son. (You can bet it has something to do with his male ego and competition.)

He may be a good provider, but until he learns to be a loving, fair and patient father to your son, he's no bargain. Think about it.

If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you knew how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Lodge drapes charter

June Wiggins received a certificate of perfection in the unwritten work from the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 at their meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Margi Norwood, Noble Grand, presided over the meeting with the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Under the direction of Corynne Cunningham, the lodge charter was draped for thirty days in memory of Sister Margaret Watts, past president of the I.A.R.A., and Sister Sadie Patterson, past president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas.

Parents make wishes too

Every year there's one more candle. Jeannie makes a wish — and blows them all out with a single breath.

Jeannie's parents make wishes too. But grown-ups' wishes are called hopes, and they can't be achieved by merely blowing out candles.

Jeannie's parents take her to church every Sunday. There she learns right from wrong and acquires the faith that will sustain her throughout life.

At candle-blowing-time her mother and father smile. It's a smile of confidence, of conviction. They know that their hopes for Jeannie can best be realized in a Christian environment.

First Assembly of God sets film presentation

"Corrie: Behind the Scenes with The Hiding Place," a new full-length color release from World Wide Pictures, will be shown at First Assembly, 4th and Lancaster, on November 27. A single showing is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m.

"The Hiding Place," a true story filmed in Holland and other European locations, is based on the experiences of Corrie ten Boom, who, with her father, sister, and brother, provided refuge for countless Jewish families.

A secret room was constructed in their home as a hiding place for use during Gestapo raids. The ten Boom's activities were discovered, and they were sent to prisons and concentration camps.

According to Kenneth Bliss, Director of Distribution for World Wide Pictures, "The Hiding Place" has been extremely well-received, both by audiences and film critics. "Corrie was produced to give people who have seen 'The Hiding Place' or read her many best-selling books an opportunity to hear her share many of her memories about her life in Holland, her family, and her lifetime of service to others."

Bliss added that the film "offers a great lesson in the perseverance of a personal faith in a very dark and trying period of world history. Corrie ten Boom, now in her eighties, has a tremendous vitality, a deep spiritual commitment, and a profound love for her fellow man. We believe we have succeeded in transmitting a part of her zest, personality, and source of strength through this film."

Bliss noted that the film includes "interesting sidelights on the experiences of the cast and crew during the filming of 'The Hiding Place.'"

The Rev. W. Randall Ball, pastor of First Assembly, stresses that the showing of "Corrie" is open to the public free of charge. "We encourage families to plan to attend together, for what we believe will be a memorable experience," he concluded.

Baptist Temple Church hosts Don Haney Sunday night

The Baptist Temple Church will host Don Haney in concert at 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 27.

David Wilkerson, author of the best-selling book "The Cross and the Switchblade" says, "Don Haney is an excellent gospel singing artist, organist, and man of God. Don has ministered as soloist with the World Action Singers from Oral Roberts University and enjoys a good reputation throughout the country. Don loves to sing about the Savior."

For Haney, the world is his workshop. He has traveled extensively and ministered to capacity crowds wherever he goes. Countries hosting Don's ministry in song include: Israel, Finland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Northern Ireland, England, West Germany, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, Haiti, and Canada. He is a former Big Spring resident.

In 1968 while traveling with the World Action

Singers of Oral Roberts University as their featured baritone soloist, Don went behind the Iron Curtain and held services in Tallinn, Estonia U.S.S.R. Don's secret meetings with members of the underground church while in Communist Russia and his actual consultations with those who have been "tortured for their faith", has left an indelible mark upon everything Don does.

In 1973 Don received an appointment from Wilkerson and joined the Wilkerson Youth Crusades as crusade associate and organist. In Don's two years ministry with the crusades he sang and played to over 1/2 million people.

For many years Haney has been a favorite minister of music and featured soloist in numerous conventions, conferences, and teaching seminars across the country.

MT. BETHEL ROYALTY — Joe James and his mother, Mrs. Katherine James were crowned king and queen in the 53rd Anniversary Homecoming at Mt. Bethel Baptist Church.

Mt. Bethel anniversary is success

Mt. Bethel Baptist Church crowned a king and queen at their 53rd Anniversary Homecoming Sunday.

They were Mrs. Katherine James and her son, Joe. The Rev. V.P. Perry, who was ordained in Mt. Bethel in 1947 preached the anniversary sermon.

He is now pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Amarillo. Mrs. Faye Warner was chairman for the meeting.

The Rev. Freddie Nelson is present pastor of the church. Mrs. James and her son thanked their many friends for donations to the church.

Hardin-Simmons hosts Bible meet

Hardin-Simmons University will host the 12th Annual Bible Study for Pastors in the West TEXAS area Thursday, Dec. 1, in Room 208 of Moody Center.

The topic of this year's study will be the book of Exodus.

Activities will formally begin at 10:40 a.m. with a welcome by H-SU President Dr. Jesse C. Fletcher. Following this, Rev. Jack Weir, assistant professor in Bible at H-SU, will speak on the topic "Exodus: Introduction and Exposition of Chapter One."

The program is open to pastors, laymen and staff

Local Baptists deem meet success

The local Baptist churches in the Baptist Association reported great success in their recent mission schools held in all of the area churches.

The First Baptist Church reported record crowds last week during their emphasis on missions, as did East Fourth, Westside, Mt. Bethel, La Fe, Prairie View, First Baptist in Stanton, Lenorah, Courtney and Tarzan.

Speakers alternated from one church to the other and included T.O. Upshaw, a missionary in Texas; Ronald James Miller, a home missionary at the Southern Baptist Home; Jesse Raymond Stogsdill, a missionary in the Cherokee Indian Association; Jack Merritt, former missionary to the Indians in New Mexico; Eva Ramirez Ortega, who served with her husband among Spanish-speaking people in Arizona; Dale Moore, missionary to Nigeria; Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Goad, missionaries to the Philippines; Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Dane, missionaries to Brazil; and Rev. and Mrs. Reiji Hoshizaki, missionaries to Japan.

Presbyterians hold anniversary

The 86th Anniversary of the First Presbyterian Church was held Sunday, Nov. 20. Dr. Harold A. Anderson, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. spoke to adult classes at the Sunday School hour in the chapel.

Dr. Anderson also spoke at the 11 a.m. worship service in the sanctuary.

At 6 p.m., a churchwide covered dish dinner was held. Following the dinner, a program of singing, a program of slides of people in the church and scenes of the earlier years was narrated by the Rev. Bill Henning, pastor.

There was also a table of pictures, scrapbooks and early memorabilia of the church. About 100 attended.

The church has been served by 20 pastors during the 86 years with several serving twice. Dr. R. Gage Lloyd has the longest term with 24 years. Retired ministers in the church include Dr. Lloyd, Dr. Shirley Guthrie and the Rev. Allen Holley.

The Reunion of Judah and Israel

The word of the Lord came to me saying, "And you, son of man, take for yourself one stick and write on it, 'For Judah and for the sons of Israel, his companions'; then take another stick and write on it, 'For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim and all the house of Israel, his companions.'"

"Then join them for yourself one to another into one stick, that they may become one in your hand..."

"And say to them, 'Thus says the Lord God: Behold, I will take the sons of Israel from among the nations where they have gone and I will gather them from every side and bring them into their own land; and I will make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Israel;... — Ezek. 37:15-17; 21-22 (NAS)."

'Now we don't have to be scared'

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — David and Jerri Conarroe, a handicapped couple, aren't afraid of prowlers anymore. They have a friend in Bobby, their new 80-pound German shepherd.

The Conarros had spent two months living in fear of intruders. Their apartment was broken into three times and each had been attacked once. Although they've had him less than a week, Bobby already has sent an intruder crashing through the back door, leaving a tattered shirt behind.

"Now we can sleep without worrying. We don't have to be scared," Conarroe said of their new protector.

Conarroe, 27, is crippled with a spinal disorder and his 25-year-old wife has a speech impediment.

"It's hell. It's so frightening to be defenseless because you're handicapped," Conarroe said. "It's hard to lie on the floor, unable to move because someone so much bigger throws you down and then grabs your wife."

Conarroe suffers from spina bifida, a deformity in which structures of the lower spine do not unite properly. Because of the disease, Conarroe says he is defenseless against an attacker.

"What this essentially means is if I had to defend me or my wife, someone could punch me in the ribs and I'd melt into a pile of oatmeal," he said.

"My wife has a speech impediment and when she gets nervous or scared, she can't hardly speak. When the guy came in our house the first time, she couldn't even scream."

A FRIEND AND PROTECTOR — Jerri and David Conarroe, both handicapped, say they have been bothered by intruders three times in the past two months. This week they acquired Bobby, an 80-pound German shepherd attack dog. They had one break-in since, but Bobby lit out after the intruder and came back with his shirt. "Now we don't have to be scared. We can sleep without worrying," says Conarroe.

Their worries eased this week, though, when Conarroe's father bought them Bobby — a usually friendly German shepherd who is short-tempered when it comes to intruders.

Monday night the couple went out for a walk with Bobby. When they returned home, they let the dog go into the apartment first.

"Just as I turned on the light I saw this guy standing by the table," Conarroe said. "Then I saw Bobby lunge over the table after him. I heard this crash; I guess it was the guy falling through the back door.

"By the time I got out the back alley, Bobby had hold of the guy by the skin on his stomach. I gave Bobby the command to retreat and he came back with the guy's shirt."

Arkansas racer backs beat Texas Tech leg-ally

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Earlier this year, freshman Bobby Duckworth dropped a certain touchdown pass in a junior varsity game between Arkansas and Texas Tech in Jones Stadium.

Duckworth atoned for the gaffe and then some Thanksgiving Day with a 59-yard grab-and-run touchdown pass from quarterback Ron Calcagni, much to the ever-loving relief of sixth-ranked Arkansas and a sweating Orange Bowl committee.

The clutch reception by the 6-foot-3, 195-pound youngster from Helmburg, Ark., gave Arkansas a 17-14 nationally televised Southwest Conference victory over battling Texas Tech, which was out to prove it deserved a Tangerine Bowl bid after the Red Raiders were spanked 45-7 by Houston last week.

"I thought about the ball I had dropped when I got off the bus today," said Duckworth. "I wasn't about to drop this one."

Duckworth, using his sprinter speed to blaze behind the Tech secondary, caught the bomb with only 6:18 left in a physical game which gave Arkansas a 10-1 regular season, best for the Razorbacks since 1965.

The Razorbacks trailed 14-3 at halftime until Calcagni went to work with an 11-yard third period scoring pass to Donny Bobo.

Then came the fourth-quarter play that Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz had inserted into the offense for the first time this year.

"The play to Duckworth was put in this week and we thought it was the appropriate time to use it," said Holtz. "He's only a freshman but he's going to be a great one."

Holtz visited the Tech dressing room after the game, telling the Red Raiders "you're a helluva team and it took everything we had to win the game. I guarantee you have every right to be proud of the game."

Then Holtz bounced into the Arkansas dressing room where Orange Bowl committee members Bob Laferty and Joe Subers were waiting.

"I promised you we would be 10-1," said Holtz, who then quipped, "only I didn't promise you we'd run them out of the stadium."

The Orange Bowl opted for Arkansas last Saturday when most observers believed Penn State, which still has Pittsburgh on its schedule Nov. 26, would get the bid. The gamble was, of course, that the Razorbacks would whip Tangerine Bowl-bound Tech.

Things looked dark for the Razorbacks after the Rodney Allison-led Red Raiders scored two first half touchdowns on one-yard plunges by Billy Taylor. Arkansas only had a 50-yard field goal by Steve Little and three first downs to show for the first 30 minutes of play.

Mayo dies on Thanksgiving

DETROIT (AP) — "Auld Lang Syne" echoed from the Tiger Stadium organ that day in September 1970 following a Cleveland Indians-Detroit Tigers baseball game.

Soon afterwards, Mayo Smith showered and dressed for the last time as manager of the Tigers.

"It always will end this way," he said. "I said it before: you either get fired here or somewhere else."

Smith, who guided Detroit to an American League pennant and World Series triumph over St. Louis in 1968, had just been fired by Tigers General Manager Jim Campbell. Billy Martin eventually was named Smith's successor.

"That hour glass is filled with sand and time will take its course," Smith said as he left the press room for the last time.

Cosell linked ### to scandal

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC sportscaster Howard Cosell has refused to discuss a Congressional report labeling him the key figure in the scandal surrounding the network's telecast of the U.S. Boxing Championships.

Cosell was pinpointed as the one responsible for the removal of the executive who questioned the tournament's validity in a 72-page report released Tuesday by the House Communications subcommittee.

"I don't have to respond to that rubbish," said Cosell. "I don't have to say anything because Congress has said everything. I don't have to fight to stay on top. I'm No. 1."

The Congressional report said that Alex Wallau was removed as producer of the tournament after he described some of the fighters as "disgraces."

CONVENIENT HANDLE — Texas Tech cornerback Willie Stephens (23) catches Arkansas quarterback Ron Calcagni (18) by the helmet as Calcagni scrambles for first down yardage in the first quarter Thursday. Tech safety Larry Flowers (24) grabs Calcagni's jersey, helping Stephens make the tackle. Arkansas came from behind in the fourth quarter to win the Thanksgiving Day game, 17-14.

Aggieland revving up

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Top-ranked Texas risks its unbeaten season and a trip to the Cotton Bowl against the 12th-ranked Texas Aggies Saturday in the 84th renewal of one of collegiate football's bitterest rivalries.

An overflow crowd of 57,000 fans in Kyle Field will watch the Southwest Conference showdown pitting the unbeaten Longhorns against the twice-beaten but dangerous Aggies.

"Even the people watching from the sidelines will be doing so in a dedicated manner," said Aggie Coach Emory Bellard.

"They ought to triple the price of the tickets," said new Texas Coach Fred Akers, who is no stranger to the Longhorn-Aggie wars.

Akers was an assistant nine years under Darrell Royal.

Both coaches have praised the other teams as per usual before the opening kickoff.

"For the past four or five years they have had as much physical talent as anyone in the country," says Akers. "They're a top football team and we're a top football team. It's a great rivalry and should be a great game. The stakes are high."

Bellard says, "Texas has a very physical and quick defense. They and Arkansas are great teams in that regard. And Earl Campbell is as likely a Heisman candidate as anyone. If I had to throw a vote right now he's as likely to get it as anyone. He is truly a great back."

Clemson aims to defend

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Defending champion Clemson aims at a repeat triumph in its own IPTAY Invitational basketball tournament and its third in the five-year history of the event when the Tigers and Texas Christian open play at 7 p.m. Friday.

Ohio University and Rhode Island tangle in the nightcap. Championship and consolation games in the tournament — named for Clemson's "I Pay Thirty a Year" booster club — will be Saturday.

Center Wayne "Tree" Rollins has graduated but most of the others on the 1976-77 Clemson team, which compiled a school record 22-6 slate, return. Coach Bill Foster expects fast, gritty play from the squad, which features seniors Stan Rome, Colon Abraham and Jim Howell.

TCU has a brand new coach in Tim Somerville, who replaced resigned Johnny Swaim earlier this week, and hopes it will improve on last year's 3-23 record. Dependable 6-6 junior forward Tim Marion, who averaged 11 points and eight rebounds, and junior college transfer Steve Scales, who pumped in 17 points and 12 rebounds, are his mainstays.

Ohio has 11 lettermen on Coach Dale Bandy's team, among them senior forward-guard Steve Skaggs, who scored 19 points a game last year. The Ohio Valley school expects improvement from the 7-19 record of a year ago.

Rhode Island, coached by former Villanova mentor Jack Kraft, returns Sly Williams and 12 other lettermen from a team that broke even in 26 games. The 6-7 sophomore Williams averaged 20 points for the Rams, and Kraft calls him and the others his best ever in four years there.

WJCAC teams advance

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico Military Institute, Odessa Junior College, Western Texas Junior College and Ranger Junior College were first round winners in the Wool Bowl basketball tournament.

Western Texas' Adam Beadle pumped in 24 points to lead the defending tournament champion past Oklahoma City Southwest Junior College 74-72.

Gerald Smith hit 18 points to lead the Oklahoma City team in the fourth annual basketball competition, which began Thursday and ends Saturday.

Another Texas team, Ranger Junior College, remained in the winner's bracket with a win in the second opening-round game by edging New Mexico Junior College of Hobbs 76-73.

Marshall Sauls of Ranger hit 30 points to lead all scorers, while Dennis Morgan popped in 26 for NMJC.

New Mexico Military ran away with its opening-round game with a 104-61 win over Wayland Baptist College JV of Plainview, Texas. Top scorer for NMMI was Ken Moblely with 27 points.

In the fourth opening-round contest, Odessa, Texas, Junior College blasted Navajo Community College of Chinle, Ariz., 92-77.

Donny Johnson led the Odessa scoring with 22 points, while Gilbert Perera's 18 points was tops for Navajo Community College.

DRIBBLING SKILLS — During halftime at Tuesday's Big Spring Steer game with Snyder, the 1977 edition of "Little Steers" made their debut before the home folks. The elementary age youngsters will perform drills during intermission of Steer and Howard College Hawk home games this season.

Dorsett hurt, may not play

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett bruised his right knee in practice Wednesday and is listed as questionable for Sunday's game against Washington, Cowboys officials said.

A team spokesman said Dorsett would be examined by team doctors Thursday, but would not practice.

"It's probably going to be gametime Sunday before we'll know if he can play," the spokesman said.

Dorsett hurt the knee when he ran an off-tackle play and was hit by fellow rookie Dave Stalls, a defensive tackle.

The high-priced rookie, who won the Heisman Trophy at Pittsburgh last year, hurt his left knee during pre-season, but has performed well enough for Coach Tom Landry to insert him into the lineup, usually sharing time with Preston Pearson.

Tech lost field goal kicker Blade Adams with a knee injury in the first half and his replacement, linebacker Mike Moch, had a 31-yard attempt blocked by Patrick Martin in the third quarter. That seemed to give the Razorbacks life.

"It was an even game until we lost Blade, then we had to change our offensive thinking," said Sloan. "And we had a mixup on a third-and-two play deep in their territory. We were supposed to run but we passed. That happens."

"Arkansas has a great team and deserves to be in the Orange Bowl, but we deserve to be in the Tangerine, too. I told the Tangerine people that when we have all of our people well we feel we are as good as anybody. We have a very competitive football team."

Injuries were so bad to the Tech offensive line going into the game that Sloan called them "the Swiss cheese seven."

But he had nothing but praise for his patchwork lineup and added, "The Rodney Allison you saw out there wasn't even 90 percent because of his earlier injury. If he had been 90 percent, he would have scored three times."

Allison, Tech's senior quarterback, missed a month of the season with a small broken bone in his leg and runs with a limp.

Tech, who meets Florida State in the Tangerine Bowl Dec. 23, finished the regular season 7-4.

Arkansas finished its SWC campaign at 7-1 and stands a chance of a co-championship if Texas A&M upsets No. 1-ranked Texas Saturday. Defending co-champion Tech was 4-4 in league play.

Hours after the game, Sloan, whose family is ill with the flu, was pouring over the statistical sheets of the game.

OFF TO THE RACES — Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton (34) races to end zone for touchdown in third quarter of Thursday's game against Detroit Lions' Paul Narmoff (50) gives chase. Payton took pass from quarterback Bob Avellini to give Chicago the go-ahead touchdown. Chicago won, 31-14.

Dolphins eat roasted Redbird

By the Associated Press

Bob Griese missed his Thanksgiving turkey, so he feasted on the next best entree: St. Louis Cardinal.

Griese ripped an injury-riddled St. Louis secondary with six touchdown passes, including three to wide receiver Nat Moore, and directed Miami to a 55-14 rout of the Cardinals Thursday to keep the Dolphins' National Football League playoff hopes alive.

"I didn't think it was going to be this easy," Griese said after coming within one touchdown pass of equalling the NFL onetime record. "The line was blocking well and it was just a matter of hitting the open man."

Griese's six touchdown passes established a Miami club record and was the most productive game for a quarterback since Joe Namath threw the same number against the Baltimore Colts in 1972. Miami's point total also established a team record.

In the other Thanksgiving Day game, Chicago overcame a 7-0 halftime deficit and defeated Detroit 31-14.

Griese marched the Dolphins, 8-3, to touchdowns on their first two possessions against the Cardinals, 7-4, who were playing without safety Mike Sensibaugh and cornerback Lee Nelson.

He culminated the first drive with a 4-yard pass to Moore and climaxed to second with a 7-yard pitch to Duriel Harris.

"They had a situation (injuries) and we had an opportunity. We could run and we could pass."

Griese chose mostly to pass, completing 15 of 23 for 227 yards. He closed his first-half aerial barrage with touchdowns of 9 and 28 yards to Moore and hit Gary Davis and Andre Tillman with strikes of 17 and 37 yards in the second half.

The defeat snapped a six-game Cardinals winning streak. It also was the most points surrendered by St. Louis in their 58-year NFL history.

Cardinals Coach Don Coryell had a simple analysis after the game: "We just got the holy heck kicked out of us by a team that is far superior to us," Coryell said.

Bears 31, Lions 14
Walter Payton scored two touchdowns, one on a 75-yard pass from Bob Avellini, and Chicago exploded for 31 points in the second half to defeat Detroit.

Avellini also threw a 40-yard touchdown pass to Bo Rather and scored on a one-yard plunge as the Bears moved within one-half game of the Minnesota Vikings in the National Football Conference's Central Division.

"We were lucky to stay close in the first half with all the mistakes we made. But we hung in there and didn't collapse," Bears Coach Jack Pardee said. "In the second half we executed better and took the game to them."

Detroit scored on a 52-fumble return by Ed O'Neil and a 16-yard touchdown pass from Greg Landry to David Hill.

Pistol Pete

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pete Maravich snatched the ball from Brian Taylor, glanced quickly at the clock which showed four seconds remaining, and sprinted for a layup at the buzzer to give the New Orleans Jazz a 131-129 victory over the Denver Rockets.

Maravich's basket broke the tie created by Len Robinson's 18-foot field goal seconds before. It was a tense ending of a National Basketball Association contest that saw 11 lead changes and 15 tied scores Thursday night.

"Can you believe this?" shouted Jazz Coach Elgin Baylor. "What a game! What a win!"

In the NBA's only other game, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Phoenix Suns, 97-82.

Baylor confessed that he thought Robinson's shot was short. But he happily described the field goal and Maravich's play as "perfect."

Nugget Coach Larry Brown called Maravich's basket "a tough way to lose. We should not lose games like this, because we worked hard to come back. We had control of things."

Maravich led all scorers with 31 points, while Robinson chipped in 29 as the Jazz recorded its fourth straight victory.

Denver got 29 points apiece from Dan Issel and David Thompson.

Weekend of rivalries spotlight action

By the Associated Press

They started it when Howard Jones was coaching at Southern Cal and Bill Spaulding at UCLA almost a half-century ago.

After the Trojans won the first game 76-0 in 1929, and then the second 52-0 in 1930, they decided that the Bruins weren't quite ready for big league competition.

It wasn't until 1936 that the Southern Cal-UCLA series was resumed, and that year it resulted in a 7-7 tie.

Roundballers tipping off season en masse

By the Associated Press

He wasn't just another guy named Joe.

"He taught me a lot about life," St. John's Coach Lou Carnesevca says of Joe Lapchick. "The most important thing I learned from him was humility. He once gave me a card that said, 'Peacock Today — Feather Duster Tomorrow.'"

"I remember that — and I still carry that card in my wallet after all these years." To St. John's Sports Information Director Bill Esposito, Lapchick was the ultimate humanist and the all-time No. 1 public relations man.

"He was the fellow who put us on the map nationally," says Esposito. "Joe WAS St. John's when he was here. He was always selling the product, selling the school. He not only made a lot of friends for himself, but for St. John's as well."

The revered "Big Indian," most successful of all St. John's coaches before his death in 1970, has been remembered by a lot of people for a lot of different reasons — but never officially until the Joe Lapchick Memorial Tournament was started in 1975.

Now in its third year, it's become a fitting testimonial to a powerful legend.

The tournament opening tonight at St. John's Alumni Hall, one of several around the country starting the 1977-78 college basketball season with a bang, includes a four-team field of 20th-ranked St. John's, Old Dominion, Niagara and Lafayette.

Along with the Lapchick tourney, four others will be started tonight and another proving that the Bruins at last belonged in the same league with their red-hot intracity rivals.

It's been that way since, and one of the nation's most legendary college football rivalries continues tonight with the usual clash of cymbals and the normally-present high stakes.

This time, however, the roles will be reversed: Southern Cal is cast in the part of spoiler, for a change. The Trojans, who in past years have made the Rose Bowl almost a permanent home, will be trying to knock UCLA out of it and at the same time, make a dash for the Bluebonnet Bowl.

A victory over the 17th-ranked Bruins will get Southern Cal that consolation prize and allow 14th-ranked Washington to sneak into the Rose Bowl on Jan. 2 for the first time since 1962.

Before the Trojans and Bruins meet tonight, two other bowl pictures will be cleared up. The winner of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game earlier in the day claims the Big Eight championship and a rip to the Orange Bowl against Arkansas Jan. 2. The loser's consolation prize will be a Dec. 19 date at the Liberty Bowl to play North Carolina.

Third-ranked Oklahoma needs a victory or a tie in the big game while No. 11 Nebraska must win to get a shot at the Razorbacks in the Orange Bowl.

The Razorbacks enhanced their Orange Bowl role with a comeback 17-14 victory over scrappy Texas Tech Thursday. The Red Raiders, a Tangerine Bowl entrant, held a 14-3 lead at halftime of the Thanksgiving Day game before the sixth-ranked Razorbacks scored twice on touchdown passes by Ron Calgan.

In other Thanksgiving Day games, Larry Fortner's 10-year touchdown pass to Paul Warth in the final period sparked Miami of Ohio over Cincinnati 12-7 and Ricky Patton ran 85 yards for a TD in the fourth period, leading Jackson State over Alcorn State 23-16.

Meanwhile, several other traditional rivals will be waiting in the wings for Saturday's competition.

Among them will be Pitt and Penn State, both bowl-bound. The Nittany Lions are heading for the Dec. 25 Fiesta Bowl and Arizona State hopes to be waiting for them. The Sun Devils need a victory over Arizona tonight to clinch a piece of the Western Athletic Conference crown. Pitt will play Clemson Dec. 30 in the Gator Bowl.

Second-ranked Alabama, prepping for a Jan. 2 Sugar Bowl date against Ohio State, plays Auburn. Louisiana State, which plays Stanford in the Dec. 31 Sun Bowl, goes against Wyoming. Georgia faces Georgia Tech, Florida plays at Miami, Fla., Vanderbilt meets Tennessee, Texas Christian faces Baylor, Houston takes on Rice and Utah plays New Mexico in some of the major ones.

The best known of the rivalries will be the Army-Navy game before a usual sellout crowd of 100,000 at JFK Stadium in Philadelphia.

Forbes 'pied'

BOSTON (AP) — Former Boston Bruin Dave Forbes laughed as he wiped gobs of shaving cream away from his eyes. He had just been "pied." And an entire television audience saw it.

Forbes, drafted by the Washington Capitals from Boston earlier this year, was being interviewed live on TV between periods of the National Hockey League game between Washington and Boston.

In the middle of a Forbes comment, a figure appeared on the TV screen and slapped the pie square into Forbes' face. The pie pusher fled off the screen and WSBK interviewer John Peirson, without losing composure, continued the interview.

Forbes paused for a second, then asked Peirson, "Do you have a towel?"

Sports writers at the Boston Garden said Forbes could not have been angered by the mess. They said the attacker was John (Frosty) Forristall, an assistant trainer for the Bruins and a

Surging demand for old newspapers

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a surging demand for yesterday's newspaper, to wrap the house in.

Or, to put it in the words of executive of what is sometimes called the waste paper industry, "there has been a dramatic demand for news in the past few months."

News to this executive is not the news that is printed on the paper, but the paper on which the news is printed. The paper stock, in other words.

The home insulation industry wants it, the very newspaper you are reading, to be recycled as insulation, and they are willing to pay premium prices for it, about 50 per cent more than last year's figures.

Wholesalers in some areas are selling to newsprint consumption mills at $65 to $70 a ton, and sometimes more, with the buyer paying the freight, according to "Official Board Markets," sometimes called "The Yellow Sheet" of the industry. Those are the latest prices quoted for what is called No. 1 News in the Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Detroit markets.

In California, prices are about $37 to $42; in the Southeast, $55 to $60 and in the Northeast, from $23, the Boston low, to $50, the Philadelphia high.

Why so high in the Midwest? That's where the insulation makers are situated.

While these are not the quotations your Boy Scout or Girl Scout troop can expect, industry officials say that generally speaking such local collectors, who then sell to wholesalers, are also earning 50 per cent more than they did a year ago; in some instances up to $50 a ton.

The actual price received in community paper drives depends not only on the needs of the local dealer but also on quality.

No. 1 News means used or unused newspapers, stacked and tied or baled, with no contaminants.

Robert Kilburg, president of the Paper Stock Institute of America, explains "The unprecedented demand is due to the pressure now being placed on news supplies by the insulation industry to meet homeowner needs."

Millions of Americans, he noted, are insulating their homes to minimize fuel costs, "encouraged by pending passage of a tax rebate for home insulation in the emerging energy bill."

The technology of grinding used newsprint and processing it with fire-retardant chemicals to make cellulose insulation is at least 50 years old, but the demand for the product wasn't nearly as great as it is now.

Many insulation manufacturers will use only newsprint rather than various forms of papers because of its ability to absorb chemicals added in the processing and because it has other special qualities.

The end product of the manufacturing process is sold to dealers and directly to homeowners to be blown into existing or new structures, or poured from bags between and over attic joists.

The rockets were launched to 1,200 feet, leaving billowing clouds of white

Dockers voting today

NEW YORK (AP) — If local issues can be settled at several key ports, the 50,000-member International Longshoremen's Association expects to vote on a proposed three-year contract Monday.

Union president Thomas W. Gleason indicated Thursday that voting probably would begin at 7 a.m. Monday on a contract for dockworkers at 34 Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports. The balloting could take several days.

Unresolved local contract issues in Baltimore, Philadelphia and Mobile were to be discussed today. Gleason contended interport rivalries, in which shipping associations are seeking a competitive were the only obstacles to full accords at the two East Coast points and along the eastern portion of the Gulf coast.

Gleason expressed confidence the dockworkers would accept a 32 percent package increase which, by the proposed contract's final year, would raise the current hourly pay of $8 to $10.40 and hourly benefits to $3.75 while providing income for longshoremen idled by automation.

A vote to accept the contracts would end an eight-week shipping tie-up that has cost the jobs of tens of thousands of workers in many industries and hurt the national economy with several billion dollars in lost production.

The strike remained selective and confined to "automated" shipping except in Baltimore, where a general strike by 4,000 longshoremen against everything began Wednesday with Gleason's blessing.

Thieves wipe out SMU items

DALLAS (AP) — The theft of toilet paper, light bulbs and other janitorial supplies from Southern Methodist could reach the $50,000 to $100,000 level, according to an attorney handling a defendant in the case.

Mark Donald said he understood the "shortages were tremendous." Although the director of security at SMU, Bill E. Caffee, refused to estimate the losses, he said they are significant.

Caffee said the losses were first noticed after a June 1976 inventory. Two inventories have been taken since then, he said, including an unscheduled one in February.

Items taken included cases of light bulbs, paper towels, toilet paper, mops and other janitorial supplies, an SMU official said. The supplies were then apparently being sold to businessmen, he said, who probably were told that they came from an inventory of a cleaning company that was going out of business.

Donald's defendant has reached an agreement with the district attorney that recommends three-year probation sentences in each of three misdemeanor charges. Also, the defendant must pay $206 for items that were stolen.

A second employee at the university has been indicted but has not been caught.

Farm

FARMERS PROTEST WARMUP — A long line of tractors, their lights on in the dusk light, approach the outskirts of Plains, Ga. Thursday afternoon. The farmers, protesting farm prices, plan a tractorcade 10,000 strong through President Carter's hometown Friday. Also planned is a fly-by of crop dusting planes to coincide with the tractorcade.

Tractorcade rally rolling

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Farmers demanding higher produce prices ordered an army of tractors escorted by crop-dusting airplanes toward President Carter's hometown today for a rally.

The president was more than 650 miles away. But a shopkeeper who is also a state senator and Carter's cousin announced plans to watch and added, "We're glad to have them."

Thousands of farmers spent Thanksgiving night at meeting points near this southwestern Georgia hamlet, preparing to drive their tractors into Plains for the rally.

The farmers want Congress to set a floor price on agricultural products that would ensure that they will get back their production costs and at least a small profit when they sell their harvest.

Unless Congress takes action on the farmers' demands, farmers across the country have vowed to go on strike starting Dec. 14.

As the farmers prepared their demonstration, Carter was at the presidential retreat in Camp David, Md. His mother, Miss Lillian, was home in Plains, but it was not known whether she or the president's brother, Billy, planned to watch the "tractorcade."

State Sen. Hugh Carter, the president's cousin, said he had not been invited to the rally but he planned to be in his antique store on Plains' main street, a good vantage point for watching almost anything in the tiny downtown area.

"All I know is they will be here," he said. "I'm sure they are welcome here and we're glad to have them."

Directors of the Georgia Agriculture Aviation Association voted unanimously late last week to hold a "fly-out" of 25 to 40 crop-dusting planes during the rally to show their support for the farmers' cause.

Tom Kersey, the Unadilla, Ga., farmer who helped organize the farm protest movement in the Southeast, had said he expected 10,000 tractors at the rally.

He said at least 1,000 tractors stayed overnight in Americus on Thursday, 450 in Reynolds, 1,000 in Albany, 1,000 in Smithfield, 500 in Vienna and several hundred in Cordele.

Clerk's policies to be discussed

LAMESA — Dawson County Commissioners will discuss the errors and omissions policies for the county clerk's office and take action on a rental contract of the Mental Health building when they meet in special session at 10 a.m. here Monday.

The commissioners will also grant permission to the Continental Oil Company to lay a pipeline across a county road.

Deadline for plowing up cotton

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown reminded farmers in 44 East Texas counties Wednesday that midnight Nov. 30 is the deadline for plowing up cotton.

An estimated 78 percent of the statewide cotton crop has been harvested, compared to 34 percent at this time last year, Brown said in a statement.

Upland cotton production in Texas may reach five million bales this year, which would be the largest crop since 1949, Brown said.

The counties included in the Nov. 30 deadline include Angelina, Anderson, Bell, Bosque, Brazos, Burleson, Burnet, Cherokee, Coryell, Ellis, Falls, Freestone.

Miss Teenage America Pageant tonight

DALLAS (AP) — Eight semifinalists will be competing Friday night for top honors in the Miss Teenage America Pageant, but for the first time in the 17-year history of the pageant, males will share at least a portion of the spotlight.

The finals, to be held in the Great Hall of the Dallas Apparel Mart, will be televised on NBC beginning at 8:30 p.m. (CST), hosted by Richard Thomas, television and film star, and Becky Reid of Dallas, the current Miss Teenage America.

The semi-finalists are Mary Jones, Miss Teenage Akron; Leslie Griffiths, Miss Teenage Anchorage; Lynn Easter, Miss Teenage Ansbach, Germany; Lynn Bopely of Zanesville, Miss Teenage Columbus, Ohio; Beth Glod, Miss Teenage Lafayette, La.; Carole Renick of El Toro, Miss Teenage Laguna Hills, Calif.; Tammy Nerby, of Rochester, Miss Teenage Minneapolis-St. Paul, and Jill Hahn, Miss Teenage Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The new Miss Teenage America will receive a $15,000 scholarship, a guarantee of $5,000 in personal appearance fees, $1,000 for personal expenses, a wardrobe, encyclopedias, cosmetics and a life insurance policy.

In addition to the top awards, two contestants will receive special recognition on the show and for the first time eight males will also be honored for special awards.

Sherrie Deanna Gong of Palo Alto, Miss Teenage San Jose, Calif., will be honored as Miss Teenage Friendship and Anne Jansen, Miss Teenage Little Rock, Ark., will be honored as Miss Teenage Leadership.

Nine males will receive recognition and $1,000 scholarships as teen achievers during a special salute on the telecast. They were selected by well-known national youth groups. They are Nieu Khac Ngo, 16, of Fullerton, Calif., a Vietnamese refugee to be honored as outstanding member of the Boys Clubs of America; Jeffrey Craig, 17, of Royersford, Pa., representing 5.8 million 4-H Club members; James Hoffman, 17, of Renville, Minn., president of the American Legion Boys Nation, and Michael Nahrstedt, 17, of Shawnee Mission, Kan., news story champion of the 1977 Quill and Scroll journalism competition.

Also, David Golub, 16, of Schenectady, N.Y., and Wendy Galente, 14, of Scotia, N.Y., will split a $1,000 scholarship for their recognition by Teen Magazine as the U.S. champions in roller skating free dance.

Eight cheerleaders from Houston, Texas, Sharpstown High School will be honored as nation's top cheerleaders.
