

After high-speed chase

Police bullet kills assault suspect

By JAMES WERRELL and MARJ CARPENTER

A local 19-year-old man was shot to death by police after he attempted to abduct the wife of a college athletic director and led officers on a high-speed chase Thursday night.

Juan Galaviz, who has "had addresses all over town," according to Police Chief Stanley Bogard, died approximately 20 minutes after being shot once in the left temple by Sgt. Leroy Spires.

According to reports, Spires fired after Galaviz reached for his right coat pocket. The pocket was later found to contain the same knife thought to have been used in the assault.

The incident began at approximately 10 p.m. Thursday. The Midland College basketball team had just defeated the Howard College Hawks, and Mrs. Martha Poss, wife of Midland College Athletic Director Delnor Poss, lingered inside Hawk Gym to savor the victory, and talk to friends.

SHORTLY THEREAFTER she walked to her car in the nearly empty parking lot. As she attempted to unlock the car door, the tall, long-haired man emerged and grabbed her by the wrist, threatening her with a knife.

According to reports, the man then tried to force Mrs. Poss into her car, but she refused and struggled briefly with him. He then took only the billfold from her purse, spreading the rest of the contents over the parking lot, and drove away alone.

Mrs. Poss ran back into the gym, and two officers, Paul Carson and Gene Alexander were summoned immediately. Minutes later as Hawk coach Harold Wilder and one of the officers stood talking at the scene, the assailant came circling around in Mrs. Poss' car.

Wilder yelled, "There he is," as the officer drew his pistol and ordered Galaviz to stop. But the car screeched out of sight, heading north on Birdwell.

THE OFFICERS gave pursuit, and spotted the suspect at the corner of Fourth and Birdwell. Alexander floored the patrol car, heading south on Birdwell, after the suspect turned around, and according to Bogard, the two cars were traveling 105 miles-per-hour as they crossed FM 700.

The stolen vehicle turned left on 25th Street and then led the pursuing patrol car on a criss-cross route through the Kentwood Addition.

The route led back onto 25th Street and back towards Birdwell. But as the suspect topped the knoll at the corner of the intersection, he was met by the sight of three patrol cars, lights flashing, straddling Birdwell near Cole.

The stolen car slid around the corner and attempted to make a U-turn on Birdwell back toward Twenty-Fifth. But it was trapped between the roadblock and the pursuing police car.

WHEN OFFICER Alexander saw what the frantic youth was attempting, the policeman rammed his patrol car into the driver's side of the stolen vehicle, knocking the man into the corner of the front seat.

At this point, according to Chief Bogard, Sgt. Spires, who had been waiting at the roadblock, ran with pistol drawn to the driver's window of the stolen car.

"The sergeant said, 'Don't move,' and the suspect went for his right coat pocket," said Bogard. "The officer fired one shot which hit Galaviz in the left temple."

SGT. LEROY SPIRES

Officers applied bandages to the man's head in an attempt to stop the bleeding, and summoned an ambulance immediately. Searching the suspect's coat and a pair of jeans pinned together with a safety pin, investigators were unable to find any identification whatsoever.

HE WAS pronounced dead by the doctor in attendance at Malone-Hogan Hospital, approximately 10:30 p.m.

He was later identified by fingerprints as Galaviz, a man who was on probation for 10 years following a 1975 burglary conviction. He was last arrested Nov. 4 on a suspicious persons ordinance, at which time he gave his address as 503 South Bell.

The body was taken to Abilene at 7 a.m. today for a complete autopsy ordered by Peace Justice Bob West.

Seven-year veteran Spires will be interviewed today by 118th District Attorney Rick Hamby, who will investigate the shooting. Big Spring Police Detective George Quintero will investigate all other aspects of the incident.

Local Probationary Officer, Mrs. Linda Graham, accompanied Spires on patrol Thursday as part of her regular duties, and will be questioned later as a witness to the shooting.

Galaviz is the son of Domingo Galaviz, 503 S. Bell, and Mrs. Rita Cantu, 1511 Johnson. He was a native of Big Spring, had lived here all his life, and had attended Big Spring public schools.

Service for Galaviz will be held Monday at the St. Thomas Catholic Church at a time to be determined later. Rev. Allen Brelizet will officiate and burial will be in Mt. Olive Memorial Park.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, are five brothers, Ray Galaviz, Chenito Galaviz, Frankie Galaviz, David Galaviz, and Domingo Galaviz Jr., all of Big Spring; four sisters, Janie Galaviz, Rosalinda Galaviz, Mary Galaviz, and Lupe Galaviz, all of Big Spring; his paternal grandmother, Juana Galaviz, Big Spring; and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ramundo Lujan, Stanton.

Assault victim says 'I can't believe it happened'

By MARJ CARPENTER

"I just didn't think something like this could happen in Big Spring," Mrs. Delnor (Martha) Poss said Thursday night after she was threatened by an assailant outside the Hawk Gymnasium.

She was sitting at her Big Spring home in her kitchen obviously shaken and trying to keep herself under control as she was surrounded by her

MORTALLY WOUNDED — Juan Galaviz, suspected assailant of Mrs. Martha Poss, lies dying in the front seat of the Poss car which was stolen 30 minutes earlier. family and close friends. "My car was parked in the most lighted area in that 'U' out front of the ad building," she added. She then said, "I stayed a little late visiting. I was thrilled that Delnor's team (her husband is athletic director at Midland College) had won. I went to the car and I noticed the youth kind of standing outside of the gym. I didn't think much about it."

SHE CLASPED her hands together tightly like she was trying to hang on and added, "When I put the car key in the door to unlock the car, he grabbed me and he held a knife on me and told me to get in the car."

"I was so scared and was trying to think what to do. I knew if I got in the car, I was done for, so I jerked my billfold out and handed it to him and said, 'Take my money.' He already had my car key. He grabbed it out of my hand."

"Then I said, 'Please, let me keep the pictures of my boys' and I pulled them out and he got mad and thought I was trying to keep something from him. He grabbed the purse and told me to get in the car or he would kill me."

"I STARTED screaming and jerked back and he was swinging that knife in a big circle right at my stomach. I kind of put my hand out and got a little cut on the hand. I also bumped my head against the car or something."

"He kept swinging that knife and I kept screaming and running and ran all the way to the gymnasium screaming. Nobody heard me. There weren't many cars left and I guess the windows were up and radios on and everything. Anyway, nobody heard me until I ran in the foyer and there was Coach Wilder."

Coach Harold Wilder, head coach at Howard College, said that as soon as he could understand what happened, he called the police. Then, Gene Alexander, one of the policemen at the game, and Wilder and Mrs. Poss went back out in the parking lot.

THEY WENT over in front of the gym and were picking up her credit cards when the Poss car came back into the driveway. Wilder said, "I was hollering. There he is. Stop him. Shoot or something. He parked at the end of the drive for a minute. I don't know if he came back for the credit cards or what. When the officer ordered him to stop, he took off again. I thought maybe he could shoot out the tires or something."

Mrs. Poss recalled, "He was tall and had long hair. He had on a toboggan. He was wild-eyed. I just can't believe that it happened — not in Big Spring, right under the lights after a game. I've gone to games all my life." Then she looked around at her boys and said, "I was just so scared — so scared."

Would take lie detector test

Robbins denies making statement

Harte-Hanks News Bureau

AUSTIN — The Big Spring athletic director firmly denied today he ever told James Griffin the community wasn't ready for a black head coach.

Griffin's attorney, Gerald Fugit of Odessa, asked Don Robbins if he ever made such a statement.

Robbins replied: "No, sir. I never did. So help me God."

Asked if he would be willing to take a lie detector test, Robbins said, "I certainly would."

Griffin was head basketball coach at Big Spring for two years but his contract was not renewed last summer.

He claimed his job loss was caused by racial discrimination, principally on the part of Robbins, and is seeking reinstatement as coach.

His appeal is being heard by a hearings officer for the Texas Education Agency.

Griffin testified yesterday that in his first private conversation with

Robbins, he was told Big Spring wasn't ready for "a head black coach."

He indicated he believed his problems began when Robbins came to Big Spring in January 1976. Griffin had been a teacher-coach for two years before becoming head basketball coach.

Robbins said he found the sports program at Big Spring "kind of loosely run and kind of run down." He described Griffin's attitude as "belligerent, nonconforming and threatening."

The threats involved claims that Griffin would go to federal authorities with discrimination allegations if Robbins continued to press him to make changes, the athletic director testified.

Robbins faulted Griffin for not properly supervising basketball coaches in lower grades, not providing basketball play books for other teams in the system, and not preparing budget and inventory lists. Griffin yesterday testified that a student told him Robbins used a racial slur in saying that professional basketball basically was for tall blacks.

Robbins today said that when Griffin asked him about the racial slur, "I told him I did not (use it), and would not."

Robbins said he had worked with black coaches before and coached many young black players. He said he judged people solely on performance.

He said he did talk to the students about playing football in addition to basketball, and said that the professional basketball teams are dominated by players either very tall or black. "I used the term black," he said.

The athletic director did admit using a word generally construed to be a racial slur on another occasion. He said he used it during a football coaching staff session, but only in a light vein. In testimony yesterday, Griffin complained that he had been asked to help with some racial problems in Big Spring schools.

"I felt I was being used as a guinea pig," he said. "Several coaches were bigger than me."

Asked for an explanation, he said he felt like the schools were using him as "someone to experiment with — being put on the spot."

The hearing on Griffin's appeal is expected to continue at least through this afternoon.

The school district has still not put on any witnesses and has eight scheduled to testify.

United Way nears goal

The 1977 Howard County United Way campaign is on the brink of success.

Champ Rainwater, UW office secretary, revealed yesterday that $117,120 of the $130,000 goal, or 89.5 per cent, had been raised or pledged.

Rainwater and Daryl Pittman, president of the UW committee, both predicted the goal would be exceeded when the final gifts are in.

Contributions by employees of Cabot Carbon brightened the outlook considerably. Cabot workers, who contributed a total of $500 a year, exceeded that figure by 400 per cent this time. Cabot gifts totaled $4,345 this year, which means that the 63 employees donated an average of $70 each.

Edsel McCrea coordinated Cabot's efforts for the UW committee.

Trade with Mexico

60 prisoners back in U.S.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Loved ones gathered today to welcome home Americans jailed for years in Mexico, most of them convicted for smuggling drugs.

They are returning on a plane that first took imprisoned Mexicans home to jails in their own land. The 36 Mexicans and 60 Americans are participants in the first prisoner exchange between the two countries, set up in a treaty signed in September 1976.

Among the returning Americans are a 60-year-old grandmother and a 2-year-old girl born in prison.

Cheer fund over $430

Donations to the Christmas Cheer Fund being administered by the Salvation Army have now pyramided to $437.50.

Among latest gifts are: Mr. and Mrs. Travis Myric, $5; Mrs. Mollie O. Crawford, $25; Ellen Ezell, $7.50; and Ruth Class, First Baptist Church, Sand Springs, $10.

Checks should be made out to the Christmas Cheer Fund and can be forwarded either director to the Salvation Army or to the Herald.

If all deprived families in the Big Spring area are to receive food for Christmas dinners, friends of the fund are going to have to rally behind it. Brig. Ball of the Salvation Army said upwards to $8,000 is needed to insure the success of the project.

A charter plane was to leave Houston with 11 Mexicans on board, stop in San Diego to take on 25 other Mexicans and fly to Mexico City, where 26 women, 34 men and the baby will replace them for the flight back to the United States tonight.

The waiting American families were told the repatriated prisoners would be taken directly to the downtown Metropolitan Correctional Center here. Their first chance to talk together will come Saturday morning, said Walter Lumpkin, warden of the federal prison.

Lumpkin said that about 25 percent of the 235 prisoners qualified to return to the United States would be paroled within three days.

Those ineligible for parole will be sent to federal prisons nearest to their hometowns after processing, he said.

Elizabeth Lankton, the grandmother from Oceanside, Calif., and Jeanne Luella McMichael, 52, of Fullerton, Calif., were arrested at the Mexico City airport on a flight from South America. Seven pounds of cocaine was found in a false-bottom handbag, officers said.

The two women were sentenced to seven years. They are coming home after serving three years and nine months.

The first few days in prison, said Mrs. Lankton in an interview in Mexico City, were spent in a "very, very cold cell with a concrete floor, concrete walls and a concrete bunk. I was given no blanket, nothing. For three days I had nothing to eat."

Webb leasing delay not just GSA's fault

City Manager Harry Nagel, who had blamed the General Service Administration for holding up the Big Spring industrial effort, has now leveled his gaze at other agencies and unnecessary federal regulations.

"I have received word that the Corps (Army Corps of Engineers) and the Air Force are also partially to blame for the holdup," said Nagel. "It is also the fault of some of the laws that govern the exchange of federal properties."

Nagel explained that a typical request would follow a circuitous route through a maze of agencies before it could be enacted.

"The request would first go to the closing officer appointed by the Air Force, then the Air Training Command, then to the Air Force, then to the General Services Administration office in Washington, then the district GSA office, then back to the Washington GSA office, then to the Corps, and finally back to us (the city)," he said.

Nagel has contacted the office of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and has forwarded a list of all property requests and the date the request was made.

"Maybe we can modify or cut out the review by so many agencies. That seems to be what is holding us up," Nagel concluded.

Offbeat: Won't pay ticket

CONOWINGO, Md. (AP) — Robert H. Brown hasn't been to Baltimore in nearly 20 years, although it's less than 30 miles away from his home here.

But that hasn't kept him from getting a Baltimore traffic ticket. Last August, the mailman brought him an envelope containing a ticket for being illegally parked in Baltimore on Aug. 8.

The city wants $14 for the offense. But Brown, a retired Army civilian employee, contends he wasn't anywhere near Baltimore. He says he was delivering a birthday gift to his grandson, visiting a sister and going out on a date with a "young girl" in Newark, Del., that day.

"I don't mean she's all that young, but she's younger than me," said the 68-year-old Brown.

Since then, he has been writing motor vehicle authorities but to no avail. He is especially eager to clear up the matter because motorists with outstanding traffic offenses this week may not receive their registration forms for new license plates next year.

Despite this, he stoutly maintains, "I don't intend to pay" the ticket.

Coast Guard rescues six

CAMERON, La. (AP) — An offshore oil crewboat battered by 10-foot waves sank in the Gulf of Mexico 34 miles southeast of this coastal town today but the Coast Guard rescued all six men.

A spokesman said the cutter Point Hope, out of Sabine, Texas, picked five of the men out of the water. A helicopter from New Orleans hoisted up the sixth man, who was injured.

The chopper flew the injured man to Cameron for treatment, the spokesman said.

Identities of the six men were not available.

Earlier reports were that seven men were aboard the crewboat, the El Paso, but the Coast Guard said one man had been left off an offshore platform shortly before the boat ran into trouble.

The Coast Guard said it received an emergency radio report from the El Paso at 9:39 a.m. saying the boat was sinking. The reason for the sinking was not known.

Some kids hassle Santa

DALLAS (AP) — Some of the kids are angelic, but this department store Santa Claus worries about the little monsters — the kids who throw up, wet, bawl, put candy in his beard or try to tear it off.

Marcus R. Echart, 23, is a diesel mechanic moonlighting as Santa Claus — a very, very patient diesel mechanic moonlighting as Santa Claus.

"You get lollipops up your nose and candy canes in your eyes," said Echart-Santa with a chuckle. "You've got to keep a smile. As long as I'm in that suit I'm Santa Claus."

Ninety percent of the kids, he said, ask for choo-choo trains, bikes and dolls. As for children from the orphanage, "They ask for the world."

Some cynical kids hassle him.

"How many reindeer do you have?"

Or, "How long does it take you to get from the North Pole to Dallas?"

And there are the non-believers.

One 6-year-old got on his lap not quite sure Santa was real. "I knew he was the kind of kid who didn't clean up his room," Echart-Santa said.

When Echart-Santa told the child he knew he threw his clothes under the bed and in the closet, the little boy was shocked. And he believed.

But Echart-Santa says he's very careful about what he tells the kids about the myth of Santa Claus, adding that he relies on signals from parents before promising any Christmas presents.

Snow closing schools

Raw icy winds pushed fresh snow across sections of the Midwest and Northeast today, stranding motorists on clogged highways and forcing schools and businesses to close.

Temperatures dropped sharply as icy winds blew out of the Rockies and sliced through the nation's midsection. In Dallas, the mercury dropped from a record high of 80 Thursday afternoon to 30 this morning.

Scores of schools in the Kansas City area were closed for the second straight day and early morning temperatures hung at around zero. Schools in Chicago were open, but many schools in other parts of Illinois were forced to close.

And snow continued to fall through the night in the Northeast and Midwest. Pittsburgh got 6 inches; Erie, Pa., 7; Binghamton, N.Y., 6; northwestern Indiana, 4, and sections of Wisconsin were under as much as 9 inches of snow.

Up to 8 inches of snow were forecast today for Vermont, where major highways were already slick with snow. Up to 7 inches fell in Illinois and 4 more inches were forecast for Michigan, northern Ohio, extreme northern West Virginia and most of New York. New Hampshire and Maine were to get between 4 and 8 inches.

In the Dakotas, temperatures of 25 to 30 below zero combined with winds of 15 to 25 mph for wind-chill indices of 60 to 80 below. Temperatures of 40 below were predicted today in both states.

"The freeways are a mess," said a Michigan state police dispatcher in Detroit on Thursday. "Rush-hour traffic is bad enough on a good day. Today it's horrible."

Dozens of abandoned cars lined freeway shoulders, most buried under snow from passing plows. Detroit's zero reading Thursday set a record for the coldest Dec. 8 since 1882.

The snow was blamed for the death of Lloyd Jakubos, 48, of Lapeer, Mich., in a crash on state Route 24, state police said. Carl Johanson, 67, of rural Manitowish, Wis., died Thursday of an apparent heart attack suffered while he was shoveling snow.

The new snow, added to the crusty accumulations of the past week, buried some communities in snow as deep as 36 inches.

Near blizzard conditions existed in Minnesota, where roads were blocked in the western and southern portions. Temperatures — well below zero in most of the state — were not expected to top 10 below today.

Thursday's heaviest snow, 4 to 9 inches, was across the southern Great Lakes region. Meadville, tucked in the northwestern corner of Pennsylvania, was still digging from beneath 30 inches received since Monday when the new storm began, piling up snow at a rate of an inch an hour.

State police said many tractor-trailer rigs and private vehicles were abandoned on Interstates 79 and 90 in Erie County.

King trying to meditate Arab dispute

CAIRO (AP) — King Hussein, trying to mediate the Arab dispute over President Anwar Sadat's peace overtures to Israel, unexpectedly returned to Jordan today after his talks with Sadat were cut short.

Syrian President Hafez Assad, meanwhile, toured the Persian Gulf trying to get Sadat's bankrollers to use financial pressure to stifle the Egyptian leader's one-man peace campaign.

In Brussels, Belgium, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance said before leaving on his own Middle East tour that Sadat's planned Cairo peace talks next week could lead to "an agreement in principle covering a comprehensive settlement."

He said Washington and Moscow are deeply divided over the talks. "I do not believe they (the Russians) would support in any way the Cairo conference," he said.

Vance, who spoke with reporters at the end of a meeting of Atlantic alliance foreign ministers, was scheduled to arrive in Cairo later today.

Sadat and Hussein met for 2 1/2 hours Thursday night, and Egyptian newspapers and Jordanian diplomats said the talks were to resume today.

But 10 minutes after a grim-looking Sadat arrived at Kubbah Palace for the expected meeting today, the two rode off to Cairo airport and the Jordanian monarch flew home.

This prompted speculation that Hussein's mission had failed, at least for the moment. He had met Wednesday with Syria's Assad with no apparent results.

Assad arrived in Kuwait today from Riyadh, where he met Thursday with King Khaled of Saudi Arabia and Crown Prince Fahd, the Saudi prime minister. Saudi Arabia is the chief contributor of oil wealth to impoverished Egypt.

Police beat Two assailants rob retiree

Juan Jalomoa, 66-year-old retiree residing at 602 N.W. 4th, reported that two assailants robbed him at knife-point of $170, 2 p.m. Thursday. According to reports, the two men, one black, the other Mexican-American, assaulted him at the Kimbell Warehouse.

The black man reportedly stabbed the victim in the hand while his partner took the cash. Jalomoa was treated and released at Hall Bennett hospital.

Investigators are intrigued by the incident because of the similarity between the description of the Mexican-American assailant and that of Juan Galaviz, who was involved in the assault and attempted abduction of Mrs. Martha Poss.

"We don't really have anything positive, but we will check to see if it was the same person in both situations," said Chief Stanley Bogard.

Sneak thieves ripped off two rings belonging to Larry Stephens, 200 Brown, while he shot pool at the Drifter Lounge, 11:57 a.m. Thursday. The turquoise ring and Big Spring High School Senior Ring, which were sitting on a stand next to the pool table, were valued at $245.

Car burglars lifted a radiator cap, distributor wire, battery cable, dipstick and oil cap from an auto belonging to Wally Watkins, Palmer House, around 12:15 a.m. today. Loss was estimated at $47.

Three mishaps were reported Thursday.

A vehicle driven by George Russel, 1403 Tucson, struck a parked vehicle belonging to Lester Rose, 1200 Wood, at Wood and Rosemont, 11:29 p.m.

A vehicle belonging to Bob Brock Rent-A-Car, 500 W. 4th, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the parking lot of the Mid Continent Inn, 2:11 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Willie R. Franklin, 1211 Utah, and Valentine Levario Jr., 1500 Oriole, collided at U.S. 87 and FM 700, 6:53 p.m.

Christmas baskets info

The Salvation Army is now taking applications for Christmas baskets anyone needing assistance should make their applications by Dec. 15. Our Christmas Cheer checks will be mailed out on Dec. 16. Our toy day will be on Thursday, Dec. 22. Only those cases that have been cleared and received a toy ticket will be invited to attend our toy shop for their children — Brig. Ball said.

The Kiwanis Club and the Key Club will be manning the Salvation Army Christmas baskets at the Postoffice, Woolworth's and Gibson's all day Saturday. The Kiwanis Club has won the trophy for the last four years for raising the most money in the Christmas kettles on their particular day.

Next Friday the Civitan Club will ring the bells from 1 to 5 p.m. at Woolworth's Saturday, the 17th The Noon Lions club will man the kettles. Saturday the 24th the Rotary Club will man the kettles. The Lions Club has always placed second in raising the most money, and will be trying again this year to beat out the Kiwanis Club. Our many friends are urged to drop their donations in the kettles while they are downtown, or send a donation to the Salvation Army to help defray the expense of our Christmas program.

Farm leaders map breakfast

The monthly agriculture breakfast will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Western Sizzler.

Farmers and agriculture leaders are urged to bring their wives to the special Christmas breakfast, according to Bruce Griffith, county agent.

Deaths — Isaac Forman

Isaac Eugene Forman, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Forman, 4106 Muir, died at 2:47 p.m., Thursday in a Lubbock Hospital. He lived only 5 1/2 hours.

Graveside services were held at 11:30 a.m. today in Mount Olive Memorial Park, with Eules Johnson, minister of the Northwest Church of Christ, officiating. Arrangements were under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, include a brother, Frederick Reid, of the home; a paternal grandmother, Mrs. Elmira Forman, Big Spring; and a maternal grandmother, Mrs. Swilla Reid, Waco; and a number of other relatives.

Frank Jackson

Frank Jackson, 80, died at 5:30 a.m. today in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene after a brief illness.

A federal grand jury earlier indicted Real County Commissioner and rancher Lanny Leinweber, suspended U.S. government predator trapper Andrew Allen of Uvalde and Real County ranch foreman Norman M. Pape.

The trio was charged with conspiracy to kill federally-protected golden eagles and to violate laws against airborne hunting. Allen and Pape additionally are charged with killing golden eagles.

The jury deliberated for about three hours Thursday before reaching for the day without reaching a verdict. The panel resumed its work this morning.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ray Jahn told the jury in his closing argument Thursday it should ignore the reputations of the men and convict them on the basis of corroborating evidence and testimony.

Jahn said the Watergate scandal proved a man's position and reputation are no reason to think him innocent.

Dunagan resigns as chairman

Evans elected County Demo chief

Evans R. Evans was elected Democratic County Chairman during a Thursday night party meeting held in the county court room of the courthouse, succeeding Raford Dunagan.

Dunagan, who succeeded Harvey Hooser to the position in February 1976, said he was quitting to devote more time to his job and to his position as music director of his church (Hilcrest Baptist). Dunagan is materials and tools supervisor at Cosden Oil & Chemical Company's local refinery.

Evans, is executive director of Big Spring's Halfway House.

Coincidentally, Larry Don Shaw, who took an active role in the last presidential campaign, has been named regional coordinator for the Young Democrats in the Western Region of Texas. Shaw has been serving on the State Executive Committee of Young Democrats and, in that role, has been helping formulate policy for the organization.

Evans, who with his wife, Susan and two children, lives on Glenna Street near the Silver Heels addition, said his first goal as chairman would be to contact each precinct chairman and get their views on what they would like to see accomplished within the party; organization in depth on the precinct level; determining the number and kind of projects that would attract more people to the Democratic Party; and forming an 'oversight' committee wherein the processes of local governmental units can be observed.

Evans said he did not care for political labels and hoped the party could, in a sense, become a "big house embracing all kinds of Democrats."

Born in Fort Worth, Evans first became actively involved in politics while serving as a director of a rehabilitation program in Naples, Fla.

After Evans had been elevated to the position, the precinct chairmen went on record commending Dunagan for the job he had done in the 22 months he had served the party, applauding in particular his ability to unify the party.

Evans said this morning it was also his aim to try and get women to take a more active role in the party.

While serving as county chairman, Dunagan attended State Democratic conventions at Houston and Fort Worth and attended a Democratic worship at Austin.

One of Evans' first jobs will be to name a successor to Mrs. Margaret Ray as County Democratic Secretary. Mrs. Ray resigned in order to turn her attentions to the race for County Clerk. She is now the incumbent and faces a campaign for reelection in 1978.

In his letter of resignation to the Howard County Democratic Executive Committee, Dunagan said he felt he could no longer function effectively as chairman of the county committee "because the office requires more time than I can now give."

He added he was deeply grateful for the vote of confidence given him by members of the party as a whole and for the support and cooperation of the party's executive committee.

Shaw, who cast his first political vote shortly after he turned 18, is a graduate of Texas Tech where he majored in Agricultural Education.

As a worker among Young Democrats last year, he helped produced an unusually heavy registration of voters among younger people.

Shaw is the son of Larry Shaw, a dedicated party worker. The younger Shaw is involved on a partnership basis in farming and the cattle business.

He recently purchased a residence here on Barnes Street.

Jurors pondering eagles 'kill'

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A federal court jury today pondered the fate of three Texas men charged with conspiring to kill golden eagles from a helicopter over the scenic ranching country west of San Antonio.

The jury had two clear alternatives: —believe the defendants, all prominent men in their communities, who denied on the witness stand any involvement in the alleged scheme; —believe a helicopter pilot who testified he flew the men on hunts in which at least 70 golden eagles were gunned down over Real County.

A federal grand jury earlier indicted Real County Commissioner and rancher Lanny Leinweber, suspended U.S. government predator trapper Andrew Allen of Uvalde and Real County ranch foreman Norman M. Pape.

government for living expenses since agreeing to cooperate with prosecutors, testified he flew the defendants on hunts for golden eagles between December 1975 and January 1977.

Heintzelman said Leinweber never shot at any eagles, but that both Allen and Pape gunned down at least 70 of the birds from the helicopter. He said Pape shot most of the eagles.

Leinweber, Allen and Pape all took the stand during the four-day trial and flatly denied the charges against them. They said Heintzelman was "a liar."

The defendants testified Heintzelman flew them on hunts but that only predatory coyotes, bobcats and some hogs were their targets.

EAGLE TRIAL DEFENDANTS — A federal court jury deliberated the fate today of former U.S. government predator trapper Andrew Allen, left, Real County ranch foreman Norman M. Pape, center, and Real County Commissioner Lanny Leinweber, right, on charges they conspired to hunt golden eagles from a helicopter in the rugged hill country of west central Texas.

County, a rugged, hill area about 80 miles west of San Antonio, claim golden eagles attack and kill their baby sheep and kid goats.

Defense lawyers, who paraded more than a dozen character witnesses before the jury on behalf of the accused men, noted the absence of character witnesses for Heintzelman.

"Gerald Heintzelman lied to you," defense lawyer James Monnig told the 10 women and two men who heard the case. "And I believe he lied to you for the money."

The defense lawyers told the jury the defendants and their character witnesses are "the good people."

Ranchers and relatives of the defendants crowded the federal courtroom here during nearly all of the trial, which began Monday.

Real County has a population of about 2,400 people, mostly ranchers. All four county commissioners are ranchers, and so is County Judge W. B. Sansom, who has held his post for 41 years.

A jury of 10 women and two men listened to the evidence.

Ma Bell to test ruling

DALLAS (AP) — Southwestern Bell officials say the telephone company will challenge a Court of Civil Appeals ruling that upholds the ratemaking formula used by the Texas Public Utility Commission.

The court ruled Wednesday that the PUC's method, using a rate base consisting of original cost of equipment minus depreciation, was within the limits set by state law.

"We will request that the court reconsider its agreement with the PUC's use of an original cost rate base," said a Bell spokesman. "We are convinced that state law calls for a fair value rate base."

The impossible took a little longer

The United Way is getting very close to doing what many people believed it could not.

The communitywide charity drive is pulling near its goal of $130,000, even without last year's sizable help from Webb Air Force Base.

I heard many people predict that the United Way would be unable to reach its goal, which was approximately the same as last year's effort.

But United Way officials, especially Campaign Chairman Charles Beil, were determined not to force our local charities to cut back services because of the base closing.

Beil got his campaign organized early and well, and it now appears that his work, plus that of the tens of community volunteers, will pay off.

AT THURSDAY'S weekly report, the campaign stood at $117,000 with several large donations yet to come.

If everyone keeps plugging and winds up their jobs, the drive could be over its goal within a week. While this is several weeks later than the early November wrap-up Beil had sought, it is still sooner than most previous years.

United Way President Dearl Pittman seemed particularly happy over the way the campaign was going Thursday.

He admits that he was pessimistic about the chances of reaching the goal this fall.

"It looked like a long haul," he said, "but a lot of people really came through."

One, for example, which he cited Thursday were the 63 employees at Cabot Co. which had increased their United Way giving from $500 a year ago to $4,345 this year. Edsel McCrea of Cabot also served as one of the co-chairmen of the loaned executive division of United Way.

PITTMAN SAID that part of the success of the campaign came from some changes which Beil made in the method of organization. These changes, Pittman said, will help the drive even more in years to come.

But much of it came from community volunteers who they were going to "step out and go after the goal."

A successful United Way is important to Big Spring at this time because it is another demonstration that the community can win, that it can make it without Webb, that it can pull together for a common goal when needed.

So we're close. Let's wrap it up next week, and the impossible will be accomplished.

Abortion foes

William F. Buckley, Jr.

They are talking these days about "social conservatism," a movement which at all levels has reached a new pitch of self-assertiveness. This is that branch of conservatism that concerns itself with different, though not unrelated, issues from those instinctively associated with the right.

"The shift in public sentiment," writes Terence Smith of the New York Times commenting on the recent Gallup public opinion poll that reveals that 47 per cent of respondents describe themselves as "right of center," "seems most striking on social issues."

"This new 'social conservatism,'" the writer goes on, "has given rise to a rash of phenomena, including the anti-abortion backlash, the demand for unrestricted use of laetrile, the anti-E.R.A. drive and the indignation aroused by the Bakke case, the so-called reverse discrimination case now before the Supreme Court."

That would appear to be an idiosyncratic roster of issues for anyone to grip with a single hand, but in fact they are related however attenuatedly.

THE OPPOSITION TO abortion is based on the intuition that the individual must be protected from wilfulness, whether of the state or of another individual. What it is that defines a human being calls for expert philosophical judgment informed by science. Not so very long ago, the majority of Americans entertained doubts on the question whether a Negro was an individual. The evolution of the idea that the individual has certain inalienable rights is a distinctly conservative idea (to use common terminology; a century ago, it would have been thought a liberal idea). Opposition to euthanasia is based on the presumption against doing away with an individual. Opposition to abortion is based on the presumption that the fetus is nearer to being a human being than it is to being a meaningless arrangement of protoplasm.

The desire for the free use of laetrile is related to conservative skepticism about scientific infallibility. "That which we know scientifically we know as certainly as if it had been revealed to us by God," Galileo wrote: endorsing a cosmology which, a few centuries later, Einstein invalidated. All reports suggest that laetrile accomplishes nothing. But on the whole, conservatives incline to permit the human being to exercise his own judgment in the matter, arguing against the corporate authority of the professional medical community.

The opposition to E.R.A. issues from the conservative indisposition to assign to positive law the authority to make metaphysical propositions. To say that women are equal to men is exactly that — a metaphysical proposition. Because on no differentiated scale are they equal. Biologically they are different, temperamentally they are different, psychologically they are different. To suggest that the law treat them in exactly the same way as the law deals with their biological counterparts is in the nature of constitutional irony. That woman should be protected by the law, all conservatives agree. That women should be protected by men, most conservatives tend to agree.

THE BAKKE CASE once again assigns to the state a responsibility to prefer persons of one race over persons of a different race in special circumstances. Here conservatives have been historically inconsistent. We were not the loudest in protesting Jim Crow laws. There we yielded, in my judgment did so erroneously, to the temptation to superordinate states rights over individual rights.

Vegetarianism unwise for tot

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son and his wife are vegetarians. Their little girl is now 17 months old and just weaned from the mother's milk. She is not allowed meat, fish, fowl, eggs, milk, or any milk products. Her diet includes soybeans and, of course, fresh vegetables, fruits, nuts, and grains. I am worried that she is not getting enough protein. What is your opinion? Also, she is not allowed to have any immunization or vaccination shots. — Mrs. C.

Many people, for their own reasons, prefer this mode of life. It seems to be getting to be more popular. If your son and his wife understand vegetarianism and what it entails nutritionally, they are probably able to cope with it, and you shouldn't interfere. Many do not know.

There are some things I can tell you about it that are generally true.

There are three types of vegetarians. Some eat no animal products, including egg and dairy products. Some don't even use honey. The lacto-vegetarian uses milk and eggs. Your son and his wife have chosen the strictest of regimens — no meat, fish, fowl, or milk products.

Are vegetarians healthy people? Yes, most are, but they must be well-served in food values. Otherwise, there is the tendency to get short-changed in the matter of protein. Those who use milk and eggs can keep in satisfactory protein balance. Others tend to lose weight and many become anemic.

This strict a vegetarian diet for a 17-month-old child in my opinion is not wise. Without milk the calcium and Vitamin D requirements are lacking. Vitamin B is obtained only from cereal, meat, fish, or fowl sources. A deficiency in B raises the anemia question. Protein obtained from non-meat sources can be incomplete. Protein is present in nuts, legumes, vegetables, and fruit, but it is doubtful a child of that age can consume enough to get its required share. Supplements must be considered.

The non-immunization and non-vaccination matter is a moral quagmire.

I'll state only my medical reservations about this, and your son and his wife may (rightly or wrongly) disagree. These are preventive measures to spare youngsters the ravages and crippling effects of preventable infectious diseases. With a low-protein diet, a youngster may not develop adequate natural immunity to cope with all sorts of infections.

From a medical standpoint it's not a good idea to inflict potential medical burdens on a child. As to the vegetarianism, it is best to examine such youngsters periodically to determine how they are faring nutritionally.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 24 and have two children. After the birth of my last child I noticed air passing from my vagina, especially during exercise. Do you know what might be causing this? I've never heard of it. — S.S.

Sounds like a recto-vaginal fistula, an abnormal passage due to a tear between the rectum and the vagina. It's not that uncommon. You should mention this to your doctor. It can result from pressures of pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could anemia cause a woman to miss her menstrual periods? — Mrs. O.Y.

In some women it might, but the amenorrhea (absence of menstruation) should be investigated anyway.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Vitamin C a day is needed for good health? — H.A.

A 150-pound man needs about 60 milligrams of Vitamin C to maintain health. That's about the amount in an average-size orange.

Shingles can be a painful disease! For a copy of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Facts about Shingles," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents.

They're after Ali

Around the rim

James Werrell

It looks as if the wolves are nipping at Muhammad Ali's heels again.

As noted in Dick Young's Wednesday column and by commentators at Ali's last fight, the World Boxing Council wants to strip the champ of his title if he doesn't meet Ken Norton on the canvas right away.

This is absurd and unfair. The only requirement of a world champion is that he risk his title against a top contender at least once every six months.

He is now saying, according to Dick Young, that what Ali is doing now "is not good for boxing, and I love boxing."

BUT, IT SEEMS that King has an up-and-comer, Larry Holmes, who could help King make some big bucks if Ali is out of the picture. "So much for 'I love boxing'" as Young so aptly puts it.

I guess that it is naive to think that you can mix money and a low-lifer like King and come up with a rose.

But I thought the stature of the fight game had risen several notches in the last few years, and that the boxing community would have sense enough to show Muhammad Ali a little deference.

Ali ushered boxing into the world of multi-million dollar purses where images of his opponent and him bounced off of satellites from Manila to Maine.

NORTON, WHO HAS been whipped by Ali before, claims that his defeat of Jimmy Young entitles him to a rematch with "The Greatest" by Jan. 5. And if Ali refuses, he, Norton, should automatically become world champion.

The WBC agreed, and issued an edict saying that Norton's wish would come true if Ali didn't cooperate.

Sports whiz Tommy Hart claims that the edict has no teeth; that the New York State Boxing Commission is the real power in the boxing world; and that Ali will laugh in the faces of the WBC members.

There may have been better fighters, but not a one was better suited to punch his way into the atomic age. And Ali did it, above all else, with style.

It is inconceivable that anyone is even thinking of stripping the title from a man who had it taken away once before on shaky grounds, and won it back with such courage and skill.

Sure, Ali has fought some pushovers recently, but where else is new talent to get a shot at the big time? And where else can the like of Ernie Shavers earn several hundred thousand bills in one night?

The champ will eventually meet Norton in the ring for what may be Ali's last fight as World Champion. And he has earned the right to do it his way.

Besides, who has the right to determine which fighter is the number one contender? Certainly not the likes of "Ring Magazine" and its sister rags that helped make a mockery of the series of bouts recently televised on ABC. If you remember, certain fighters "belonging" to certain promoters found their names at the top of the magazine's rankings shortly before the ABC fights were to begin.

In the background to all this is the stink of big money and small motives.

Take promoter Don King, the Cleveland ex-con who rode Ali's coattails into the world's bigger rings, for example.

WASHINGTON — There is now indisputable documentation that Dr. Robert Linn, the guru of the controversial and possibly lethal liquid protein diet, ignored a warning by a respected medical authority and rushed into print with his best-seller book, "The Last Chance Diet."

Linn was told in unmistakable language that publication of the book could lure millions of overweight Americans into taking dangerous and unnecessary health risks. Various brands of predigested liquid protein are available over the counter without a doctor's prescription.

Government investigators suspect that at least 31 reported deaths may be linked to the diet. The diet combines fasting with the use of the liquid.

The warning to Linn that publication was premature and rash was sounded by Dr. George Blackburn, a Harvard Medical School professor who is widely credited with pioneering the liquid protein concept. We have obtained a copy of the stern letter that Blackburn fired off to Linn after reading galley proofs of "The last chance Diet."

As one doctor to another, Blackburn told Linn: "You have already made a major mistake by starting patients out on a fast protocol (procedure) without completing their medical workup. You should initiate nutritional education and behavior modification which requires classes, written material and careful patient counseling. We have conclusive proof that modified fasting alone is worthless without these other disciplines."

Congressional probes charge that Linn's book devotes "only scant attention" to these essential procedures. They are seriously concerned that the public looks at "The Last chance Diet" as just another faddish do-it-yourself method of shedding pounds and unwittingly begins the diet without medical guidance.

Blackburn posted this alert in his letter: "No outpatient fasting (that is by a dieter on his own) can be undertaken until complete history, physical exam, laboratory tests, EKG and chest film have been completed."

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Can you explain the Lord's teaching on having more than one wife? In the Old Testament God seemed to bless some men who had more than one wife. — S.R.

DEAR S.R.: God originally ordained that a man and a woman should form the husband and wife relationship and become as one. "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh" (Genesis 2:24). This was before sin came to the earth. As soon as sin entered the heart of man, he began to disobey God. From then on God had to work through imperfect people.

An example of how disobedience to God in our married lives will lead to further disobedience in other ways is found in the life of King Solomon: "For it came to pass, when Solomon was old, that his wives turned away his heart after other gods" (I Kings 11:4).

In Old Testament times, man found it difficult to adhere to many of the laws because of his sinful nature. But now, following the laws is within the grasp of every Christian because of the aid of the Holy Spirit who empowers us. That is why Jesus calls us to even greater acts of obedience than in Old Testament times, because He has sent us the power we need.

When looking for leaders in the church today God expects obedience to God's way of life. The Bible says a church leader "must be blameless, the husband of one wife" (I Timothy 3:2). That is the standard God sets, and no Christian should be satisfied with anything less in their own lives.

A man's faithful relationship to his one wife is a picture of Christ's faithful relationship to His bride, the church. We must not spoil that picture.

Dear Editor:

Quoting Marj Carpenter's comment in the Dec. 6 Herald about the injustice done in the G.B. Thurwanger and Royce Pruitt investigation.

How about the "injustice" done to Tiburcio Griego Santome and his family? It seems to me Mr. Thurwanger had no business to be with Mr. Pruitt when Mr. Pruitt was on duty. Is this or is this not against police regulations to have an unauthorized companion while a law officer is on duty?

Furthermore, it seems Thurwanger acted as Santome's judge, jury and executioner, seemingly because every law officer has to be trained on how to disarm a person with a knife (drunk or otherwise), not kill him.

This is not to sensationalize in this case. Nothing will ever bring the Santome children their dad back.

If Marj Carpenter can put in her "two cents worth" so can I but with compassion on my part.

If I didn't make myself understood, it's because I'm not educated buy I do have a heart and a conscience.

I only pray that Thurwanger and all the people like him can find peace in their hearts concerning the fatherless children of the executed Mr. Santome. What I say is let justice be done in a public courtroom, not in the back seat of a car.

'Believers' in Laetrile hunted

The National Cancer Institute, which has shied away from testing Laetrile on cancer patients because of ethical concerns, now is looking for persons who believe Laetrile reduced their tumors.

Dr. Guy Newell, deputy director of the institute, said Thursday he hopes 200 to 300 persons will make their medical records available for the study.

If remissions are documented, Newell said, "then the chances are very good that we would do a clinical trial."

"I promise you we're going into it with an open mind. We have not prejudged the outcome at all," said Newell.

The ethical questions center on the fact that Laetrile has not reduced tumors in laboratory animals. Several major studies have concluded substance, which is made from apricot pits and contains cyanide, is worthless and possibly harmful.

The Food and Drug Administration has just sent out a poster to one million doctors and other health professionals warning against use of Laetrile.

Newell said he wishes FDA had held off on the poster campaign for at least six months it will take the institute to conduct the retrospective study.

Newell said it may cast "some bias on what we're going to do. It might make both patients and doctors reluctant to cooperate with us."

Newell said the FDA, which bans interstate shipments of Laetrile, has agreed not to use any information doctors may submit for the study to initiate any criminal action.

But the agreement would not give doctors immunity from prosecution on information gathered by customs agents or others, he added.

Thirteen states have legalized Laetrile, and a federal judge in Oklahoma on Monday ordered FDA not to interfere with its importation or use. The agency is expected to appeal.

Newell said he does not think the study will encourage cancer patients to try Laetrile "any more than if we do nothing at all."

He noted that its backers claim 50,000 to 75,000 persons use Laetrile, and concern about the substance is spreading among both state legislators and doctors.

Newell said the institute hopes to hear from doctors who are not promoting Laetrile but who have patients who have tried it.

Persons who want to participate in the study should ask their doctor to notify the cancer institute, Newell said.

The institute is looking for evidence that the persons had cancer, that they did not use other therapy within a month after starting to take Laetrile, and that their tumors did grow smaller.

Social Security odds improve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees today removed a roadblock that stood in the way of a major Social Security bill, but then found that other parts of a proposed compromise had fallen apart.

As a result, there was no assurance the conferees would be able to complete work on the bill this year. But the odds appeared somewhat better than the 20 percent chance predicted Thursday by a Senate aide.

The big sticking point Thursday had been a series of unrelated welfare amendments added by the Senate. Late Thursday, leaders of the House conferees adamantly opposed any compromise on that issue.

But, informed there would be no Social Security bill without some of the welfare provisions, the House delegation caucused this morning and reluctantly approved a compromise.

The key element of that compromise is an immediate, $187-million federal grant to help states, cities and counties pay their welfare costs.

The figure is half what the Senate had approved at the urging of Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, D-N.Y., who heads the Senate Finance subcommittee on welfare. But the House, which wanted the money tied to President Carter's welfare-revision bill next year, would go no higher.

Even with the compromise, on welfare, the conferees still faced other major obstacles to agreement on the basic Social Security bill.

Waiting in the wings were major disputes on an unrelated amendment allowing a tuition credit for college students, on whether employers and employees would continue to pay equal shares of payroll taxes and on whether any income-tax revenues should ever be channeled into the Social Security system.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House conferees, said the House would vigorously oppose the Senate's proposed tuition credit, which would be worth up to $250 a year per student.

Whatever is finally approved — whether this year or next — would mean higher payroll taxes for 107 million Americans and likely would triple the taxes paid by some workers over the next 10 years.

Social Security, which pays monthly benefits to 33 million Americans, is in trouble because of high unemployment, inflation and some overly generous benefits voted in 1972. The giant system is paying out more money in benefits than it is taking in through taxes.

Congress and the Carter administration would like to repair the damage before the 1978 election year.

Sulfa found in pork

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government intends to hold a meeting next month with swine industry officials to see what can be done to stem a persistent high showing of sulfa drugs showing up in the nation's pork supply.

A knowledgeable source said Thursday that the meeting will be called by the Food and Drug Administration and the Agriculture Department, probably in mid-January.

Although intended mostly to gain information on the subject, federal authorities also are expected to stress to hog producers that they must be more careful in using sulfa as feed additives or be prepared for tougher government rules on their use.

Sulfa drugs have been used in animal feed for many years to help stimulate growth and to prevent certain diseases.

The FDA sets the amount of drugs allowed in meat in the form of residues after the animals are slaughtered, and the Agriculture Department is responsible for monitoring them for illegal traces as part of its meat inspection system.

Currently, the FDA allows a maximum sulfa residue of one-tenth of 1 part per million in pork.

The Agriculture Department said Thursday that during the third quarter of this year, 614 illegal traces of sulfa were found among 4,426 samples of pork examined for the drug. That represented a violation rate of 13.8 percent, compared with 13.4 percent in the second quarter.

One expert in the department's Food Safety and Quality Service said more than one-half of the violations involved sulfa residues of less than 1 part per million but that some samples contained as much as 5 parts per million.

New schedules of fees adopted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has adopted new schedules of fees charged for federal grain inspection in the United States, including rate cuts for some services and increases for others.

Officials said Thursday that the new rates will go into effect Jan. 9.

Leland E. Bartelt, head of the department's Federal Grain Inspection Service, said that "export volumes have dropped and original market estimates were set last Jan. 5."

Also, he said, studies showed the fees could be adjusted "to better equate them with actual costs" of inspection services.

Funds from cotton producers sought

The Howard County Cotton Producers Association is continuing its efforts to secure voluntary contribution from cotton producers to support the Habitat Management project near Sand Springs.

The project is a joint effort of the Howard County Cotton Producers Association and the Martin County Cotton Insect Control Association.

The Martin County producers association will be contributing over $2,000 to the project.

The objective of the project is to evaluate the possibility of reducing boll weevil damage by manipulating the boll weevils overwintering quarters. In order to do this, several techniques will have to be studied to see which is the most practical, economical, and effective.

Farmers borrowing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are borrowing money from the government at a record pace to build new bins and other facilities to help store this year's bumper grain crops.

The Agriculture Department, meanwhile, said that new loans for storage and drying facilities totaled more than $74.9 million in October, compared with less than $11.5 million in October of last year.

During the 1976-77 fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, loans financed by the department's Commodity Credit Corp. for grain storage and drying amounted to a record of $156.9 million, against $50.9 million in 1975-76.

'Commencement' for oil executives

AUSTIN — A special "commencement" program will be held at The University of Texas Thursday evening (Dec. 8) for a group of Algerian oil executives who are completing more than eight-months' study of modern management techniques in UT's Graduate School of Business.

The 17 Algerians are at the mid-management level of Sonatrach, the national Algerian oil company with which the Graduate School of Business has a management development contract.

They are the second class of Sonatrach executives to receive UT instruction. The first class of 16 was in residence in 1976-77. A third class of 27 already has arrived on campus.

The Thursday ceremony will be held in UT's Thompson Conference Center, beginning with a 6 p.m. reception and followed by a dinner and presentation of certificates.

The wives and families of those in the second and third Sonatrach classes will attend, as will several UT faculty members.

E.W. Walker, president of the UT System, will speak briefly at the graduation ceremony. Deans George Kozmetsky (business) and Ernest Gloyna (engineering) will award certificates.

Robert E. Anderson, director of Management Development Programs for the Graduate School of Business, says the UT project is the only noncredit continuing education program for Algerians being conducted in the U.S. Sonatrach pays all the expenses.

The intent of the program is to train the Algerians in U.S. management techniques to allow them to improve their own country's development and at the same time to gain understanding in working with U.S. companies.

For example, one of the persons attending the Thursday program will be George D. Carameros, Jr., of Houston, president of El Paso Natural Gas LNG, a company which has a contract for Sonatrach to supply it with a large order of liquefied natural gas.

Two Sonatrach representatives are coming from Algeria for the Thursday event, including Omar Hamza, director of central personnel. From Washington, D.C., will come two other Sonatrach officials — Abdallah Bitam, head of the training program, and Abderrahmane Benghomrani, head of administrative affairs.

Bus bill rolls along

DALLAS (AP) — The intercity bus industry is out to change its sagging image and is even willing to trade years of independence for a little financial help from the federal government, says an industry leader.

The leaders will head for Washington next month to present a proposed federally-funded plan aimed at polishing the tarnished reputation of bus travel.

"If Congress doesn't address the problem, the bus companies will be put into receivership," said

Trailways President Kevin Murphy.

"They can't let that happen...If they want to tie some strings to it (grant money), we're willing to face up to that. They've done it to the airlines and I don't see where it's hurting them."

Murphy said a bill outlining funding and accompanied by a spending plan will be presented Jan. 17.

Murphy wants to improve the reputation of bus terminals nationwide, which have become known as havens for muggers, prostitutes and drug dealers. Terminal renovation would coincide with revitalization projects in many of the nation's downtown areas, he said.

People are responsible for building the bad image of bus terminals. And, Murphy said, people can change it. An integral part of his campaign involves rallying the support of groups primarily identified with bus travel.

"It's shocking the discrimination practiced against bus riders," he said. "Look at who we serve. We represent the largest group of passengers; the poor, minorities and women. There has been a complete disregard for these people. The man with money drives out to the airport and there's all that security. You don't see pimps and hookers out there."

Murphy said funding could be substantially reduced after the terminals are built and a smaller amount could be allocated on a continuing basis for maintenance.

As for political support, Murphy said he feels confident Texas Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower will support the plan. Others, he stated flatly, should join in.

"I don't know of any who is against it," he said.

Top ICC exec will be fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Interstate Commerce Commission official will be fired next month over allegations of ties to organized crime, sources say.

The official, Robert L. Oswald, ICC secretary and congressional liaison, has been the subject of a continuing Justice Department investigation into his alleged ties with reputed New York crime figures. The investigation became public last summer.

ICC Chairman Daniel O'Neal confirmed Thursday that he had given Oswald "30 days' notice" of the commission's action "based on several allegations of improprieties or failure to abide by the commission's code of conduct."

Oswald, who has refused to discuss the case in the past, could not be reached for comment.

O'Neal, in a telephone interview from St. Louis, said, Oswald "has 15 calendar days to respond."

O'Neal said federal privacy regulations prevented him from detailing the alleged improprieties he was referring to.

But other ICC sources, who asked to remain anonymous, said Oswald was the subject of a Justice Department investigation into allegations he may have involved himself in an ICC decision on a trucking franchise issued to the family of the late Carlo Gambino, reputed one-time leader of organized crime in New York City.

A high ICC official said the decision to fire Oswald was made after a review of the Justice Department investigation.

Federal officials confirmed earlier this year that the ICC's trucking franchise files of the Gambino case were subpoenaed along with the personal files of Oswald and his deputy, Richard Kyle.

The investigators had subpoenaed ICC files involving a five-year legal battle by Joseph and Thomas Gambino, sons of Carlo Gambino, for permission to haul garment shipments from New York City to Long Island.

NBC's Edwin Newman says:

Silence needed in TV biz

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's news and public affairs commentators might consider a little silence now and then, just to give the viewer time to think, says NBC's Edwin Newman.

"I believe some silence is helpful to thought," says Newman, himself a thoughtful man, "and I believe to some extent radio and television discourage thought and reflection."

"I'm talking about something everybody in this business comes to at one time or another. You're on the air and you want to show you're more amusing and more trenchant than the people you're working with, or against."

"We ought in some sense encourage thought," Newman says. "I'm saying we ought to make an effort to shut up."

Newman speaks with the authority of a correspondent who's been on the spot more than once — often, he says, in situations in which a little dead air might have been better than commentary.

"When John F. Kennedy's body was returned to Washington in 1963," he recalls, "I was on a building over Pennsylvania Avenue. And when the caisson bearing the coffin came into view, I had to show I could be more vivid and more colorful in my description than anyone else along the line."

"As I was talking someone in the control room say, 'Tell him to shut up.' It was very good advice."

Ask to offer low bus fares

DALLAS — Trailways, Inc., the national bus system, has announced it has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to extend the company's $39 and $65 medweek fares through Jan. 1.

The fares were scheduled to expire Dec. 3.

"We wanted to offer these low fares through the holidays to prove we care about our passengers — that we are looking out for them," said J. Kevin Murphy, Trailways president.

"It's pretty unusual for a transportation company to discount fares at the busiest time of the year," he said, "but we felt we should do it."

Fares allow midweek travelers to go one-way interstate anywhere in the country for $65. If regular prices on tickets are between $39 and $64.99, the special fare is $39. Children under 12 travel for half the special fare, and children under five travel free.

FBI spent 72-hours probing the Kennedy boxcar caper

WASHINGTON (AP) — It all started when Allen Bressler and Edward Van Washenova opened the boxcar.

Like a small barn on wheels, it squatted on the railroad tracks in Newport, Mich., in the December cold 10 days after John F. Kennedy was killed in Dallas.

The boxcar was waiting for grain from Kahlbaum Brothers, a mill that contributed much to the economy of Newport and virtually all to the economy of Bressler and Van Washenova.

Their job was to get the boxcar ready for loading. But what the two saw inside brought them up short.

Before the day was out, their alarm would set in motion an intense, 72-hour effort by four FBI agents to trace the whereabouts of the boxcar during the previous eight months, find out who might have been inside, discover why he did what he did and learn what he knew about the murder of a president.

The hunt was typical of the dogged effort the FBI mounted in pursuit of almost every tip they got after Kennedy's assassination on Nov. 22, 1963. Files made public this week, 14 years later, make some of the unsuccessful efforts look ridiculous.

When Bressler and Van Washenova opened the doors on New York Central Boxcar No. 124475, they saw printed on the wall in yellow chalk: "Lee Oswald, Dallas Texas." The city and state were underlined.

Printed to the right were these words: "Future man of destiny, Apr. 4, 1963."

That was eight months before the assassination. How did the writer know? Was this evidence of a conspiracy?

On the spot, Bressler and Van Washenova dropped any notion of filling the boxcar. They set out to find Harold McCormick, manager of the mill. They told him what they'd seen.

Then they called the FBI.

The Detroit field office handled the tip. Agent Paul Costello went to Newport and talked to McCormick. The manager told him Boxcar 124475 was rolled up to the mill on Friday evening, Nov. 29 — seven days after Kennedy was shot.

Agent Costello walked out to the tracks. Inside the car, he found the writing. He also found this written in black: "201 Southeast, 199 Portland, Oregon, U.S.A., North America, earth moved, forward all mail to the moon, 632 SE Crater, Lupas as moon dark side."

Costello began measuring. The letter "D" in Dallas was 7 feet from the floor of the boxcar. "Apr. 4, 1963" was 5 feet, 8 inches from the floor. That gave him an idea how big the writer was.

Next, Costello talked to Bressler. The mill hand told him he found the door of the boxcar shut, but that its seals were old and had been broken. Van Washenova said the same.

Agent James E. Cullen photographed the inside of the boxcar.

Now there were two choices: Assume the words about Oswald were written after Kennedy was killed. That would mean tracing its whereabouts since Nov. 22. Or assume the more ominous — that the words were written before the assassination.

As early as April 4? Earlier?

That would mean tracing the boxcar all over the country, talking to innumerable people, spending day after day, tying up agent after agent.

Agent Lawrence M. Cooper in Detroit decided to do both.

From Martin Howe, freight service manager for the New York Central Railroad, he found:

On assassination day, Boxcar 124475 moved from Detroit to Vassar, Mich. — It was unloaded at the Super Food Co.

—Five days later, it moved empty back to Detroit.

—After that, it moved empty from Detroit to Newport.

Also from Howe at the New York Central, agent Cooper got an itinerary for the boxcar: reaching back to March 4.

Sketchy as the itinerary was, it was 49 lines long, listed cities from Seattle to Weehawken and named railroads from the Western Pacific to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

Boxcar 124475's cross-country wanderings became agent Cooper's problem.

Agent Horace Beckwith got the job of tracing the car in Michigan since Nov. 22.

And agent Beckwith got a break. At Super Foods in Vassar, manager Frank Stevenson said Boxcar 124475, filled with Quaker Oats, had been sealed from assassination day until Nov. 26. On that day, it was unloaded by a receiving clerk named Russell Torrey.

Beckwith found Torrey in the Super Foods warehouse. Had he unloaded a boxcar full of Quaker Oats on Nov. 26?

Well, yes, he had.

Did he notice Lee Harvey Oswald's name scrawled inside?

Well, in fact, sometime that Tuesday afternoon, before he had completely finished lugging the Quaker Oats out of the boxcar, he'd stopped working for a few minutes and written Oswald's name inside the car with yellow chalk he used to mark freight boxes.

He'd been listening to the radio constantly and heard Oswald's name over and over, and all about what had happened in Dallas.

What about the phrase "future man of destiny?"

He'd heard a radio announcer, or a fellow employee at Super Foods, or somebody, use it.

And April 4, 1963? Oh, that? That was his own birthday — the day he'd turned 25.

Just doodling, Torrey said.

Grubbs makes it official

COLORADO CITY — Walter Grubbs of Abilene and formerly of Colorado City has revealed a poorly kept secret — that he will seek the 61st State Legislature post being vacated by Elmer Martin.

Grubbs formally announced he is in the race while standing outside the Mitchell County courthouse Wednesday afternoon.

Martin, coincidentally, attended the event.

Grubbs, an aide to U.S. Congressman Omar Burleson for many years, has named Ed Aiken Jr., Sweetwater, his campaign manager. Doyl Adams, Abilene, will serve as Grubbs' campaign treasurer.

Grubbs lived in Colorado City for 35 years and served on the Colorado City Council for six years. Part of that time, he was mayor. For a time, Grubbs worked for Cong. George Mahon in Washington.

Grubbs said that inflation and the battle of the farmers to get a fair market price for their products are matters that concern him most. Grubbs reminded an estimated 50 listeners that agriculture and oil compose the backbone of West Texas economy. He declined the opportunity to label himself either as a conservative or a liberal.

Grubbs graduated from Colorado City and attended Kansas State University.

The 61st Legislative District is made up of Mitchell, Fisher, Jones and part of Taylor counties.

Gold dust helps Armstrong sparkle

EDITORS' NOTE: The Worldwide Church of God has an annual income of nearly $70 million and real estate holdings valued at more than $100 million. But despite appearances, the brilliance perceptibly dulls below the surface. Here, in the fifth of a five-part series, is a look at Garner Ted Armstrong's organization.

TED ARMSTRONG

By BARBARA RIEGELHAUPT
Associated Press Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — On the surface, the world of Garner Ted Armstrong literally sparkles.

As heir to the religious throne held by his 85-year-old father, Herbert, Garner Ted, 47, stands to inherit the Worldwide Church of God — with a baptized membership of more than 65,000 spread out over every continent on the globe with an annual income of nearly $70 million.

The younger Armstrong already is recognized internationally for his religious broadcast, "The World Tomorrow," carried by about 400 radio stations worldwide. The majority of the stations are in the United States and Canada but the broadcasts also are translated into Spanish and French and beamed to the far corners of the earth.

At the church's opulent Pasadena headquarters, on the campus of church-run Ambassador College, the Armstrongs can cast a quick glance around and survey much of the Worldwide Church of God's wealth right in their own backyard.

The view includes the first building the church ever bought, a gleaming hilltop mansion.

By 1974, records on file at the Pasadena city assessor's office showed that the church had acquired nearly 200 prime properties in a 30-acre area of the city since 1946, the year before the college was founded.

Continuing their campus gaze, the Armstrongs can see the $11 million Ambassador Auditorium, whose interiors are made from emerald-green granite, cut and polished in Massa-Carrara, Italy. The walls are lined with rose onyx from Turkey and Persia, cut and polished in Italy. It's the biggest installation of such stone in the world.

Hanging from the ceiling is the most brilliant sparkle of Armstrong's glittering world — a 30 foot chandelier resplendent with 1,375 crystals, all imported from Belgium.

"It's the finest building in the world, square foot by square foot," says Stanley Rader, general counsel and vice president of financial affairs for the church. For the auditorium's opening in 1974, the Armstrongs brought the Vienna Symphony to the United States, at a cost of $112,000.

While a church spokesman declined to specifically estimate the church's real estate worth, he estimated the property worldwide at about $100 million at cost, with considerably higher market values. Yet, despite appearances, the brilliance surrounding Garner Ted perceptibly dulls below the surface.

In October, a group of former Ambassador students published a magazine criticizing the Armstrongs and some top aides for misuse of funds.

The full-color 90-page publication cost about $10,000 to produce. Five of the six publishers graduated from Ambassador College and had been in the church from four to 15 years. The sixth publisher attended Ambassador for two years.

The writers say "Ambassador Report" is the first concerted attempt to document accusations against the Armstrongs and those high in the organization. The October issue, the magazine's first, was distributed to about 5,000 persons who had either sent donations for the project or whose names had been referred to the publishers.

"Six students can not tell a spiritually organized church how the money should be spent," Rader said in response to the accusations.

"The Armstrongs are responsible to God and, to a certain extent, to the brethren. The brethren give steady approval by continuing to support the church. The church grows and its programs become more and more effective."

However, all attempts to interview Garner Ted were unsuccessful. His chief aide, Dr. Robert Kuhn, refers callers to attorney Rader, fourth down in the line of authority from patriarch Herbert. Rader is equally elusive, but finally accommodated a reporter with a 45-minute phone call placed from Tokyo, where he was visiting on church business.

Because of the cloak of secrecy enshrouding the tax-exempt Worldwide Church of God, it is virtually impossible to unravel the complex growth of the church from humble beginnings. Its origins were traced to Herbert W. Armstrong's first broadcast religious sermon in 1934 on radio station KORE in Eugene, Ore. Today it is a financial monolith.

Until recently, Ambassador College, which receives about $25 million of church funds each year, had three campuses. The campus in Bricklet Wood, England, was shut down several years ago and the campus in Big Sandy, Tex., was closed last summer, with the students transferred to the Pasadena campus. Ambassador College continues to hold the vacant facilities in England and Texas, however.

Past financial reports have indicated that 85 percent of the church's income came from tithes, or required donations, on the gross income of its membership, with the remainder in donations from recipients of the church's weekly magazine, The Plain Truth, and others, including Garner Ted's broadcast audience.

Rader said the church never makes public appeals for funds, noting that the closest it comes to that is the church's practice of sending literature to regular donors, telling them about the church's building program and explaining where the money is going to.

"But there is no passing of the hat in church or during campaigns," he said.

The church's seeking three tithes — one tenth for the church, one for religious festivals and every third year a tenth for the church's poor members — was one practice harshly condemned by the Ambassador Report's staff. Rader said the tithing is purely voluntary, although it is such an important principle of the church, members who don't are likely to feel "conscious-stricken," he said.

But even more distressing to the Ambassador Report group than the tithing itself was the way the funds ostensibly have been used — to finance international trips for the church's leadership, to furnish luxurious homes for them, to bedeck the auditorium in ostentatious glitter, to finance the college's several airplanes, including a $3.5 million Gruman Gulf Stream II jet.

The Armstrongs, who say they are not evangelists and make no effort to convert or proselyte, have contended that their plane trips are part of their mission to spread the Gospel.

However, the Armstrongs' jet-set living caused dissension within the church even before the publication of Ambassador Report. By early 1974, 35 ministers had left the fundamentalist, Saturday Sabbath-keeping sect and informed its members they planned to form separate congregations.

They charged the aging Herbert with concealing sexual improprieties of his son and with living high on the members' tithe money. Garner Ted had disappeared for several months in 1972, amid speculation by the separatists that he was guilty of a number of sins, adultery leading the list. But he was quickly reinstated, the theory being that Garner Ted's absence from the air waves cost the church a good chunk of its income.

In response to the separatist ministers' accusations, Garner Ted said at the time, "I would not address myself to the charges, either to confirm or to deny."

At the time Garner Ted was disfellowshipped, the senior Armstrong told followers that a financial crisis was facing the church, more serious than one it faced two years earlier.

"I had to ask you then," Armstrong wrote in a letter to the brethren, "even to go to your bank and borrow what you could pay back within two years on a monthly repayment basis, and you brethren responded generously, and the crisis was successfully weathered."

"I simply have to tell you brethren that we now face an even more desperate crisis, and reluctant as I am to do so, I am forced to ask you to respond again as you did before."

During the time Herbert Armstrong was asking the membership for money, information from the Internal Revenue showed the college took in $32 million in 1970, $35 million in 1971 and $41 million in 1972.

"The furor in some quarters," noted Stanley Rader in the recent interview, "is not going to deter the onward thrust of the work of the church."

Rev. Ike rides to his church in $85,000 auto

Lack of money root of all evil

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Somewhere inside the anonymous, glass-walled office building, a receptionist answers calls to the unlisted phone number: "Good morning, 6410."

To people who accidentally dial or pass by outside, there is no hint that they have come upon one of the nation's wealthiest religious groups.

For this nameless, modern building belongs to the empire of Frederick Eikerenkoetter, better known as the Rev. Ike.

The organization operates with a secrecy about its own financial affairs that oddly contrasts with its leader's exuberant celebration of the joys of spending money.

The studied obscurity of Ike's organization, the United Christian Evangelistic Association, is reflected by its headquarters.

There is no name on the door of the three-story building at 910 Commonwealth Ave. In the bare lobby, the only hint of what lies on the floors above is emergency switches labeled "computer rooms," "tape storage" and "key punch."

But it is impossible for outsiders to see these rooms. The stairway and the elevator are locked.

"Ike's basic attitude is that the work that is done here is private," said Kenneth Kolman, the association's director of operations. "He has chosen to keep it very closed."

Estimates of the association's annual income range from $6.5 million to $15 million, but the real figure is secret.

The headquarters provides the behind-the-scenes organization for the flamboyant personal style of the Rev. Ike.

Requests to interview Rev. Ike were constantly refused and Kolman was very short on answers when questioned during a telephone interview.

Ike is a handsome, impeccably groomed 42-year-old black man who preaches the advantages of a positive self-image. And lots of money, Ike says, does wonders for self-esteem.

"It is the lack of money, not the love of money, which is the root of all evil," Ike says.

He tells his followers: "We are not interested in pie in the sky by and bye. We want our pie now, with ice cream on it and a cherry on top."

Ike practices what he preaches. He wears $1,000 suits. His fingers glisten with diamonds and gold. He rides to his New York church in an $85,000 automobile.

At last count, Ike had 16 Rolls-Royces at his disposal. He has a choice of spending the night at a house in Redondo, Calif., an apartment in New York City or the church's parsonage in suburban Westchester County.

On Sundays, he preaches at his 5,000-seat United Church in the Washington Heights section of Manhattan. It is an ornate former movie theater filled with antique French furniture and valued at $2 million.

Ike draws a yearly salary of $40,000, but Kolman says most of the jewelry, cars and other symbols of wealth are paid for and owned by the church — the United Church, Science of Living Institute.

The tax-exempt church, in turn, is supported largely through donations. When the collection plate is passed on Sunday, Ike likes to say, "Please do not give change. Change makes me nervous in the service."

He urges followers to write to him, and much of the church's cash is contained in the piles of mail that arrive each day at a post office box in the Boston suburb of Brookline.

Kolman says the mail is put in sealed containers at the post office. Then it is taken to a bank, where bank employees open it and take out the money. They write the amount they find on the envelopes, then send all the mail to the headquarters.

"The money goes directly into the hands of the bank so that nobody in our operation gets their hands on it," Kolman said.

Although no money is handled at the headquarters, Kolman said the building is unmarked to avoid the threat of holdups.

The organization's books are audited by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., a nationally known accounting firm. They are also checked by Ike's wife, Eula.

"She comes in and helps keep me honest," Kolman said. "She examines every single expenditure. There is a great system of checks and balances within the organization."

Financial decisions are overseen by a seven-member board of directors.

But Kolman said the directors' identities are another church secret.

Kolman, who was an accountant before he joined the church 10 years ago, said the board decides whether to accept investment suggestions made by him, Ike and the church's lawyer.

Most of the money, he said, is put into government securities and bank accounts.

However, he added, "There's not all that much invested, because the money is turned around very quickly into radio broadcasts, television and magazines. The purpose of the ministry is to get the philosophy across to the great mass of the people, and this is an extremely expensive thing to do."

Ike's sermons are heard on 85 radio stations each week with 15- or 30-minute programs, ranging from daily to weekly broadcast. He discontinued producing television programs four years ago.

The church, founded in 1962, does not officially have members. But it receives mail from 1.3 million people each month. Most of them live in New York and the South.

Kolman says the following is mostly black, though in California they are 90 percent white.

"Figures and information are filed with Internal Revenue, and Internal Revenue and the post office examine us very, very carefully," Kolman said. "If they didn't think that things were proper, we wouldn't still be here."

"What it really amounts to is that we do everything that's required of us. Beyond that, the Rev. Ike feels that it's nobody's business."

Higher education 'fruitcake'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A state university president passed around red fruitcake tins Thursday to show legislators that organized research isn't something to sneer at.

"Fruitcake!" said a member of the joint House committee on state college administration.

"No, better for you than that," answered Mary Evelyn Huey, president of Texas Woman's University at Denton.

Inside the Christmasy looking cans were several different kinds of cookies made with cottonseed flour.

"We have developed the recipes and analyzed their nutritive values in our research kitchens," she said as some committee members cautiously nibbled at the cookies.

"The orange ball cookies have half the protein content a child needs for one day," Mrs. Huey said.

"I bet they're loaded with calories," a committeeman said.

"No calories. Eat all you want," Mrs. Huey replied.

She said her point was that "we have an important contribution to the food problems of this world... a product of our farms that often goes to waste," yet the legislature is miserly with research funds.

TWU's cottonseed research comes from "special items," cajoled from the legislature, not from formula-based appropriations for organized research. She said the legislature left TWU's organized research budget for this year at the fiscal 1977 level and cut it in half for next year.

"I would suggest to you that these items... could be covered by formula funding simply by appropriating contribution to the food problems of this world... a product of our farms that often goes to waste," yet the legislature is miserly with research funds.

needed answer," Walker said.

Walker said the biggest problem colleges and universities have with the legislature is communication.

"Too many of us seem to think that it is beneath us to carry on a meaningful dialogue with the Legislature... Too many of us think the Legislature ought to accept us at our face value and let us alone," he said.

But Walker said "this is nothing less than a disastrous attitude" for institutions that depend on the legislature for funds.

"I believe the Legislature has a right to know what we are accomplishing and what our goals are," he said.

Mrs. Adams named College Business Teacher of year

Mrs. Reva Adams, Business Administration instructor at Howard College, has been named College Business Teacher of the year for District 18, Texas Business Education Association.

Mrs. Adams received her Bachelor of Business Administration degree from West Texas State University and her Master of Business Education from North Texas State University. She has also completed additional graduate work from Texas Tech University and Sul Ross State University, as well as from the Texas Education Agency and from Accounting workshops.

Mrs. Adams has 33 years of teaching experience and is currently teaching accounting and office machines at Howard College where she is also Office Education Association advisor, and was Phi Theta Kappa advisor from 1972-74.

She was named Outstanding Educator of America in 1975, and has been treasurer of Delta Kappa Gamma 1974-76. She has current membership in:

Texas Junior College Teachers Association, Texas Business Education Association, Delta Kappa Gamma, Delta Pi Epsilon, and Teachers of Accounting-Two Year Colleges.

Mrs. Virginia Bishop, Monahans High School, was named High School Business Teacher of the Year for the District.

Miss Kelly is honored with bridal shower

Lisa Kelly, bride-elect of Warren Dean, was honored with a bridal shower Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C.H. Wasson, 1702 Yale. The honoree, her mother, Mrs. J.C. Kelly, and sister, Mrs. Leonard Sampson, were presented with corsages by the hostesses.

Covered with white satin overlaid with lace, the serving table featured a centerpiece of white mums and candles. Appointments of crystal and gold flatware were used to serve the lime green punch and white wedding cake, baked in the shape of two bells and trimmed in lime green.

About 45 guests were served.

Miss Kelly was presented with an enamel cookware set by the hostesses. They included Mrs. J.M. Griffith, Mrs. H.B. Perry, Mrs. E.L. Terry, Adelle Smith, Mrs. Orene McElrath, Mrs. Mark Lightfoot, Mrs. S.A. Lewis, Mrs. H.F. Heard, Mrs. M.A. Long, Mrs. J.L. Farris, Mrs. Jim Shaw and Mrs. C.H. Wasson.

The couple will be married Dec. 17 at the 11th and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ.

It's a girl, Hopes report

Mr. and Mrs. Ronny Hope of Dublin are the parents of a baby daughter born Oct. 30 in Dublin. The child has been named Ronda Marie.

The father is a former Big Spring resident, having attended public schools here before starting a tour of duty in Vietnam. He later enrolled at Tarleton State University in Stephenville.

His wife is the former Trisha Gordon of San Antonio.

Hope is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Edwards of 1703 Yale, Big Spring.

Counseling can make the difference

By EILEEN MCGUIRE
Divorce is no stranger to Big Spring.

August court records revealed that Howard County reached a landmark in the number of divorces filed that month and district clerk Peggy Crittenden confirmed that divorces had been increasing throughout the summer months.

Several years ago, nationwide statistics indicated that one out of every three marriages in this country ended in divorce. That ratio is now one out of every two.

While statistics continue to point towards a deterioration in marriage and the family unit, Wilfrid M. Calnan, Director of Howard County Family Service Center, regularly reports in his "A Little Lower" column that "We can turn it around."

Calnan, affectionately referred to as Cal by those who know him, has been helping individuals, marital partners and families work out their problems for nearly four decades. He sees an average of 150 families a day at a cost of anywhere from 50 cents to $30 an hour, depending on the income and financial responsibilities of each individual family.

Calnan believes that more marriages could survive if marriage counseling preceded divorce action.

"We need people coming to us earlier," he said, pointing out that most seek crisis intervention only after the emotional pain has become acute.

Of those who go directly to the lawyer, bysteping marriage counseling, perhaps as many as half of those divorces could have been prevented as surveys reveal that counseling does indeed work in more than 50 per cent of the cases.

If you find yourself snapping at your spouse and not resolving your differences, fighting unfairly, losing enthusiasm for your marriage, or disagreeing over the more serious aspects of your life together such as sex, parenting or money, it's time to take a good look at your marriage.

"We expect people to fight in marriage," Calnan said, "but when the argument strays to other issues, such as something that happened two years ago, that's unfair fighting. Now is what counts, not something that happened in the past."

"In a good marriage, every day should be new. You should wake up in the morning ready to start a new day with enthusiasm. I'm not saying that marriage should be an adventure every day, but there should be some enthusiasm."

According to Calnan, serious disagreements over the way the children should be raised can be a dangerous situation for the entire family.

Another sign that your marriage is in trouble is when money gets out of control, an indication that the couple is not getting together on financial decisions. Abuse of credit and consistent bad budgeting can lead to serious problems in marriage, he said.

With marriage counseling available to everyone, regardless of economic status, and at a success rate of better than 50 per cent, why don't more people take advantage of it?

According to Calnan, as sophisticated as we are, our society still tends to look down on those who seek professional help with their problems. Divorce is acceptable; preventing divorce through marriage counseling is not.

"It's hard for anyone to acknowledge that he or she is a failure," he said. "We like to think that we can solve our own problems. And if an individual can't handle his or her own affairs, he tends to see that as something 'bad'." Calnan explained that when someone attempts to better himself by seeking professional help when the need for it is apparent, he should be commended for that action, not put down.

"Yet, we've had Air Force personnel who have sought counseling and then run into problems with the Air Force because of it. It may be wrong, but groups think badly of people who have problems."

Another reason he gave for people shying away from marriage counseling is the embarrassment that they feel and the embarrassment that they would feel if anyone discovered what they were doing.

"One reason that so many marriages are ending in divorce," according to Calnan, "is that marriage and divorce are too easy."

"People spend 16 to 20 years preparing for a career and very little time, if any, preparing for marriage. People should think of marriage as a career — it's every bit or more important as a vocation."

For those contemplating marriage, Calnan suggests that they ask themselves "Could I live without this person?" If the answer is yes, there's a chance that the marriage will be a successful one. If the answer is no, they're headed for trouble.

"In marriage or any other relationship, one partner can be responsible for no more than 50 per cent of that relationship," he said. "Assuming too much responsibility can be just as harmful as not assuming enough."

Once married, it's Calnan's opinion that the couple should sit down and evaluate their marriage at least once every five years. He suggested that they might even let a third person, such as a marriage counselor, in on the evaluation.

"They should take a good look at needs that aren't being fulfilled to see if changes are needed," he said. "A marriage should be dynamic; it should grow and change with us."

Not only should the marriage be evaluated at five-year intervals, but any couple beginning divorce proceedings should have their marriage evaluated by a professional first.

"Divorce is so easy that people don't have to struggle enough to make the marriage a success," he said. "I tend to think Britain has the right idea. Over there, any couple who wants a divorce has to see a marriage counselor first."

He expressed gratitude for local attorneys who do refer potential divorce clients to the Family Service Center because, he said, once divorce action has been committed to paper, a couple who may have had doubts will more than likely go through with it.

For those who are uncertain as to what road to take — marriage versus divorce — counseling can help a couple or individual sort out those feelings, enabling them to make a decision they can live with.

If divorce is found to be the only sensible alternative, counseling can help the individuals get through the crisis and turn what appears to be the closing of one door into the opening of another. "Divorce counseling has a real purpose," Calnan said. "It's important in evaluating what went wrong so that the individual can know exactly what happened and why and grow from it. It also helps the individual to deal with the hurt."

Marriage counseling. The term implies failure, shame and a last-ditch effort to breathe life into a dying or dead relationship. It also implies hope and the very real possibility of rekindling something you once felt so strongly that you committed the rest of your life to another person.

According to Calnan, a bad marriage does not have to stay that way, nor does it have to end in divorce.

"The pain can be alleviated," he said. "And the couple can grow and come to know each other again through the pain."

Tell make-out artist it's no — or goodbye

Dear Doctor Wallace:
I am 15 and my boyfriend is 17. I'm a girl who doesn't smoke, drink or make out (sleep with boys).

My boyfriend doesn't smoke, or drink but he sure does like to make out. He wants me to sleep with him, but I want to stay pure until I get married.

I don't know how to tell him this. I want to keep him.

W.G., Centralia, Wash.
Dear W.G.:

I respect your moral conviction and your boyfriend should also!

Explain to him that you care for him very much but that you intend to stay pure until you marry. If he truly cares for you, he will abide by your wishes.

If he won't take no for an answer, tell him goodbye!

Dear Doctor Wallace:
I have invited a 16-year-old boy to a girl-ask-boy dance. I have to buy the tickets and supply the transportation.

Now comes my problem, the boy is a good driver and has never had a ticket. Still — my dad doesn't want him to do the driving and mom told me that my dad is going to drive us.

I'm so embarrassed, I News Service, in care of this could die — What should I do? My girlfriends are supplying their dads' cars and their dates are driving.

R.S., Oklahoma City, Okla.
Dear R.S.:

Don't mope about it. Turn the problem into something good.

Tell your date that you have hired a chauffeur for the evening. Also inform him that you went to this great expense because he is such a neat guy.

Chances are good your date will really think he has something special — you!

Dear Doctor Wallace:
I am 17 and a girl hot-rodder and six months ago I met a 17-year-old guy who is also a hot-rodder. We talk shop and race our hot rods which is lots of fun. I like him very much. How can I find out if he likes me and how can I get him to take me out?

Hot-Rod Cathy, Joliet, Ill.
Dear Cathy:
If he asks you out, he likes you — now to get him to ask you out.

The next time you two are going to race your hot rods (law-abiding, hopefully) make a small wager such as loser takes winner to lunch and a movie — you can't lose!

Questions may be sent to Dr. Robert Wallace, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Abby

Families Anonymous Helped This Mother

DEAR ABBY: In answer to CURRENTLY IN LIMBO, who was sure her well-known husband was on drugs but didn't know what to do about it, you were absolutely right! He must admit that he needs help before anything can be done for him.

But what about the wife? She's going out of her mind worrying about him. A few years I was in a similar situation—only it was my son who was on drugs. I felt so guilty and helpless, I didn't know where to turn. Then I discovered FAMILIES ANONYMOUS.

After attending one meeting I had my first good night's sleep in years! From other members who had experienced the agonies I had been through, I learned how to handle my son. When he saw the change in my attitude, his attitude began to change and so did he. It was just like a miracle!

He is now clean and happily married, and best of all, we are a loving family.

Abby, please check us out and tell your readers about this wonderful group!

GRATEFUL

DEAR GRATEFUL: I have checked you out, and know that you are a legitimate self-help group. There are no dues or fees, no forms to fill out, no formal sign-up, no last names and visitors are welcome.

FAMILIES ANONYMOUS meets in nearly every major city of the United States (and Canada) to teach parents how to communicate with rebellious, delinquent or difficult to handle children of any age.

For the location of a meeting in your area, write: Families Anonymous, Inc., P.O. Box No. 344, Torrance, Calif. 90501, and please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for their response as they are a non-profit organization run by volunteers.

DEAR ABBY: Five months ago I gave my father a gift certificate to a massage parlor for his 55th birthday. Since many months had passed and he had not used it, I wondered why.

Then a letter appeared in your column from HURT WIFE, asking why a church-going, happily married man would visit a massage parlor. You offered a number of reasons? "Curiosity, lust, an itch for variety, fear of missing something, temporary insanity...etc..."

I gave my father a gift certificate to a massage parlor for a perfectly legitimate reason—to treat him to a relaxing massage. The fact that he has not yet taken advantage of it, I attribute to prejudgments such as yours. I think you owe all legitimate masseurs and masseuses an apology.

HURTSON

DEAR SON: And to them I apologize. But my judgment about massage parlors is based on the fact that literally thousands of dubious massage parlors have sprung up in recent years. And the massages (unlike beauty) offered there are more than skin deep.

Make snacks nourishing

When youngsters come bounding home from school, are there nourishing snacks available? They'd better be if you want to set a good pattern for between-meal breaks. After all, the habits could last a lifetime.

Shiny apples, grapes, homemade cookies and chilled mugs of milk. Wouldn't that appeal to a hungry youngster? If you want to add a bit of sophistication to the picture, why not miniature kabobs of apple squares threaded with cubes of Cheddar and Swiss cheese and grapes?

Kabobs might also be made of those leftover sliced wieners alternated with cheese cubes, cherry tomatoes and cucumber chunks. Or, make a cheese spread soft enough for dunking celery and carrot sticks. The same spread can also be used on crackers or sandwiches.

With the new, fast 'burger makers in many homes, they can make a grilled cheese in just moments. If that's not available, a heavy skillet can do the job. Spreading the sandwich on the outside with butter helps to brown it attractively and makes it taste better.

Bazaar was successful

Members of Beta Omicron Sorority met Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Stephanie Roll.

An interesting and stimulating program on formal education was presented to the group by Rose Stukel and Lauretta Glass.

Plans were made to give a Christmas basket to a needy family.

Beta Omicron reports that they are grateful for the support given their bazaar last Saturday and that the bazaar was a success.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Jack Taylor, Gail Route, at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 12.

Does elect new officers

The Benevolent Patriotic Order of Does, Drove No. 61 of Big Spring, elected officers at their meeting Tuesday in the home of Karen Mason.

1978 officers elected were president, Shirley Bodine; first counselor, Alma George; secretary, Ora Jenkins; treasurer, Karen Mason; inner guard, Betty O'Brien; conductor, Ann Carson; one-year trustee, Irma Vines; two-year trustee, Peggy Rogers; and three-year trustee, Kay Williams.

The officers will be installed at the next meeting.

After the business meeting was completed, members were treated to a feast of Christmas goodies by the hostess, Mrs. Mason.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 3 at 8 p.m. in the Elks Lodge Hall.

Xmas likened to a cake

The Busy Bee Hobby Club met in the home of Mrs. Merle Hodnett for their annual Christmas party and gift exchange.

Mrs. Hodnett presented a program on the ingredients that make up Christmas.

She compared the holiday to a cake recipe, the religious element being the flour, Christmas music representing the sugar, and the Christmas tree, the gift of life, representing the eggs. The gifts, she explained, are the milk of human kindness. Mix it all together with butter, the Christmas spirit, bake it and decorate it.

Just as you decorate a cake, you decorate Christmas to suit your own taste using lights, glitter, pretty ornaments and the manger scene, she said. Finally, you are ready for the big feast, the climax of Christmas.

In summary, Mrs. Hodnett stressed that religion and celebration, gifts, music, pageants, trees and decorations and feasting are the basics of Christmas throughout the Christian world.

The home was decorated in the holiday theme. Coffee and tea were served before the group went to Furr's for lunch. While they visited, German Christmas carols were played.

Myers mark 50th year

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Myers will be honored with a reception on their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday.

The reception will take place from 2 to 5 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church, Knott, and all friends and family members are invited to attend.

Hosting the affair will be the couple's children and grandchildren and members of the church.

They called it Valley View

with Marj Carpenter

There's not really a valley out that way — but there is a sort of draw in the area.

But Valley View was a rural school in Martin County on the eastern edge. It was very close to Howard County. The school was there in the years between 1922 and 1949.

And in its heyday, it was an outstanding school.

You can ask anybody who used to attend school out there, or even talk to those who used to visit the school to play ball.

"It even had brick outhouses," Sheriff Dan Saunders recalled.

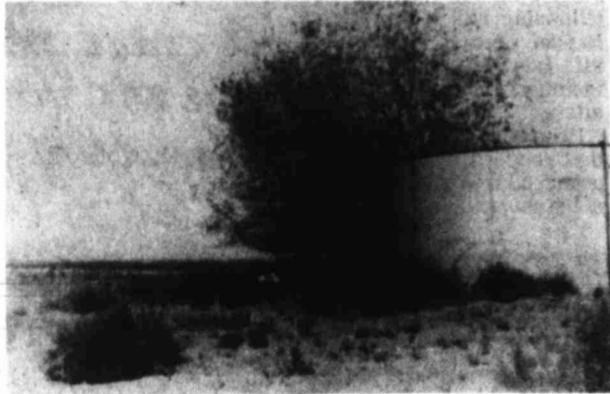

Valley View School had some other things going for it, besides the brick outhouses, which so many people remember.

It also had an early Home Economics and Manuel Training course. This was a long time before many of the area school developed such a program.

In 1949, the school was consolidated with Lenorah and Tarzan on a vote. It was one of the reasons that the new school was named for neither Tarzan or Lenorah. The new school was called Grady and is located half-way between Lenorah and Tarzan. This still isn't too far from Valley View, which was located exactly five miles east of Lenorah.

The old cornerstone from the school includes the names, W.P. Reid, president; V.C. Schroeder, secretary and J.R. Marshall, W.L. Clements, D.Z. Gibson, C.W.V. Stokes, R.F. Glenn and J.R. Haggard.

Mr. Reid, who is 88 is still living. His son, Stanley Reid is a barber in Stanton and recalls going to school in

RED BRICK SCHOOLHOUSE ... is no more

Valley View, starting there in about 1924. He said that it started out as a one room school with the brick school built in 1929, shortly before the Depression hit.

The land originally belonged to Clements, one of the board members named on the cornerstone. It was later purchased by Horace Blocker and then recently by Clarence Fryar.

Fryar tore down what was left of the old empty building and hauled off the bricks. He now has the cornerstone to the school at his farm.

Cotton is to be planted where the school once stood. There is not a building anywhere around and even people who once went to school there may drive right by on the road and miss it.

You have to get out and walk past a small grassy slope which holds an old tree and a few scattered brick that missed the load out. There's still a tank at that location.

There's also a lot of folks around in Martin County that went to school out there. And

HC to offer exams for college credit

Howard College announced today that four new examinations in the field of dental auxiliary education will be administered as part of the College-level Examination Program (CLEP) during the third week of every month at The Counseling Center. The 45-minute examination in oral radiology; head, neck, and oral anatomy; tooth morphology and function; and dental materials are the newest series of examination in CLEP, the national program sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board.

People who have learned on their own — on the job, through military training, in non-credit courses, at home — may take CLEP examinations in 47 professional and college subjects and 5 CLEP general Examinations in the basic liberal arts. Howard College is one of more than 1,800 colleges and universities that accept CLEP credit today. The cost to the student is $20.00 for one exam, $30 dollars for two, and $40.00 for three or more.

The new dental examinations — like the other CLEP examinations — can help students advance more rapidly through a dental auxiliary curriculum and become certified or licensed in the dental field without duplication of training. Jane, for example, has worked as a dental assistant for several years, but plans to go back to school to learn new knowledge and skills to advance further in her profession. Rather than repeat courses in subjects that she already knows a great deal about from years of experience in the dental office, Jane can demonstrate her knowledge on the CLEP examinations and move on to new and advanced courses. The test will be valuable to people who have acquired skills and knowledge in dental laboratory technology and dental hygiene, as well as in dental assisting.

The new tests were developed under the joint auspices of the American Dental Association's Council on Dental Education, the College Entrance Examination Board, and the Educational Testing Service with funds from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan. For more information about CLEP contact Dr. Wayne Bonner, Counseling Center, Howard College.

Shrine Crippled

Children's Party

The annual Shrine crippled Children's Party will be held Saturday, Dec. 17, at the Brass Nail Restaurant. As in the past, crippled children in the Big Spring-Howard County area are invited to attend as the guest of a Shriner.

Entertainment is planned for the youngsters and Santa Claus will present each a gift after a turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

Efforts have been made to secure the names of eligible crippled children but if the parent or guardian of such a child has not been contacted, they should notify Jerry E. Mancill at 267-2579 or 267-2570 as soon as possible.

All Shriners are being encouraged to attend this special event.

Local Lions lured to meet in Stanton

STANTON — Members of Lions International in Zone II recently held their second advisory meeting of the year here, with chairmen Russell McMeans presiding. Twenty-one people were present.

The possibility of forming new area clubs and a president's council were discussed by Paul Bozeman of Midland. Cecil Bridges, Stanton, discussed monthly reports.

Eddie Reich, Sweetwater, talked about methods of getting new members, retaining present members and re-instating old members.

The next zone meeting will be held in March. The Mid-Winter Conference and Cabinet meeting are scheduled in Sweetwater Jan. 27-28. Big Spring will be the site of the district convention April 28-29-30.

The state convention is locked in for Lubbock May 26-27-28 while the international convention is scheduled for Tokyo June 21-24.

Julian E. McLean, Sweetwater, is the Lions' district governor.

HAPPY MOMENT — Earl Campbell of the University of Texas gets a kiss from his mother, Ann, as he keeps one hand on the Heisman Trophy after it was awarded to him in New York Thursday night. Campbell was honored as the outstanding college football player in the country for the 1977 season.

'Someday' is now for Earl, Heisman is his

NEW YORK (AP) — When Tony Dorsett won the 1976 Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player in the land, Earl Campbell was in the training room at the University of Texas trying to ease the pain of an injury-filled junior season.

"I saw it on TV," Campbell said, "and I said to myself... 'Someday.'"

Someday arrived Thursday night as Campbell, a 220-pound blockbuster from the rose fields of Tyler, Tex., won the 43rd annual Heisman Trophy. The announcement was made on national television to cap an hourlong-plus CBS "spectacular" that wasn't nearly as spectacular as Campbell's slashing runs.

Trailing Campbell in the voting were Notre Dame tight end Ken MacAfee and Oklahoma State running back Terry Miller... or, if you prefer, Miller and MacAfee.

points based on a 3-2-1 count, as well as a breakdown by regions. This time, no one from the DAC seemed to know what was going on and every question about the voting drew a reply of, "I can't tell you what I don't know. There's nothing we can do about it."

The DAC insisted that no one from the accounting firm was around. CBS was incredulous.

"They (Harris, Kerr, etc.) are the chink in the armor," said a spokesman for the network. "As far as we're concerned, they're holding this thing up."

But this was Earl Campbell's night and nothing could detract from it, not entertainers like Connie Stevens, Leslie Uggams, Elliott Gould, Robert Klein and assorted pompon girls and dancers. Nothing could spoil it, not even gimpyness O.J. Simpson's debut as a song-and-dance man, although his song-and-dance duet with Gould came out more like grunt-and-shuffle.

"I guess I'm too happy to cry and too happy to smile," said the poker-faced Campbell, who led the nation in rushing with 1,744 yards — he had just 653 a year ago when he was plagued by leg injuries and missed four games — and became the No. 1 ground-gainer in Southwest Conference history with 4,444 career yards.

"I deserve what happened to me tonight because I worked so hard," he continued. "Last year, I knew there was gonna be a tomorrow and I started working out in the middle of May. The Heisman Trophy means 22 years of hard work. If you only knew how hard I worked you'd say, 'Earl deserves it.'"

Campbell's situation figures to make him (1) an early selection in the National Football League draft next spring and (2) rich. First, though, he has one college game remaining when the No. 1-rated Texas Longhorns meet fifth-ranked Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 2.

Then it's on to the pros, where Campbell hopes to "do what I've wanted to do since I was in the fourth grade. I think I've got a great future ahead of me if I take advantage of it."

CAMPBELL IN ACTION — Earl Campbell of the University of Texas rushes for yardage during a game in October with Rice University. Campbell won the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player in the country for the 1977 season in New York Thursday night.

Family is proud!

TYLER, Texas (AP) — There were many cheers, a few tears and some "Hook 'Em Horns" hand signs from eight of Ann Campbell's 11 children Thursday night when brother Earl, a Texas Longhorn running back, won the Heisman Trophy.

"I'm so excited, I don't have any more fingernails," said Ruby Fields, one of Earl's older sisters. "I just can't believe it. I'm so proud."

Eastwood reruns. He drinks root beer, and he and his girl were once told to leave a local bar because they refused to order an alcoholic drink.

Now it's on to pro football as a certain first round draft choice.

He says he will take part of his pro money and buy a new house for his mother, who raises roses for a living.

"I'm going to do everything in my power to see that the remainder of my mother's days will be the happiest days of her life," says Campbell. "If you ever loved anybody so much that when you talk about them it gives you tingles inside, well, that's the way I feel about my mom."

Eight of Campbell's brothers and sisters and nine other friends and relatives gathered at Mrs. Field's house to watch the nationally televised Heisman Trophy presentation to the player voted college football's premier player for 1977.

"We are the most proudest brothers and sisters in the whole world," said sister Martha Campbell. "I love him. I love the whole family."

The presentation came one day before the 16th birthday of Margaret Campbell, Earl's youngest sister. "I got my birthday present," she said.

Queens win big

SAN ANGELO — The Howard College Hawk Queens extended their season record to 10-1 Thursday night by virtue of a rousing, two-fisted 87-65 win over the Angelo State University fems.

"We couldn't even get an offense set up," said Stevens. The Queens attempted an incredible 61 free throws in the foul-plagued contest, sinking 45 of them. Jan Phillips led the club with 24 points, as Tami Edwards and Linda Batla contributed 14 each. Paula St. Julian was the only other Queen in double figures with 11.

The Queens will travel to South Plains College for a 7 o'clock game Saturday — a contest that could very well be the toughest of the season so far.

Earls gives God credit for gift

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Heisman Trophy-winner Earl Campbell got religion at Hopewell Baptist Church No. 1 near the Campbells' unpainted frame house outside Tyler. He says he got his talent from God.

"The way I look at it, it's a gift that God gave me and this is what I am meant to do," Campbell, a daily Bible reader who prays before each game, says of the extraordinary talent that made him the 1977 Heisman Trophy winner.

His religion, and his love for his mother, remain the major influence in his life. He once thought about becoming a Baptist minister. But the Lord won out when Ann Campbell tried to persuade her son not to play football in high school.

"I dis-encouraged Earl," says Mrs. Campbell, a widow who has raised 11 children in the five-room house, "but he always loved football."

Now, the Texas athletic dining hall doesn't close on Sunday until Campbell and his twin brothers, Tim and Steve, return from services at Olivet Baptist Church here.

"I'm just happy that I realize who the Supreme Being is," says Campbell. "Without him, I don't feel I could do anything. With him, I feel I could just move 'em out."

Campbell recovered from a severe thigh injury that held him to half speed last year to win the 1977 college rushing and scoring championships with 1,744 yards and 114 points. A total of 1,054 of those yards came after at least one would-be tackler hit him.

Athletic Director Darrell Royal, who coached Campbell for three years in a 20-year career at Texas, says Campbell has to be the greatest player in the school's history.

He also has been one of the more popular, patiently signing autographs and speaking at banquets and club meetings. No one can remember seeing him angry.

Campbell's teammates call him "the father of the team." He is serious and diligent.

He dieted from 242 to 220 pounds prior to this season, with a regimen that included 200-300 sittings a day. Although he barely had a C average in high school, he has flunked only one college course — English — and has made mostly B's and C's. He will lack only four courses to get a degree in communications after the spring semester.

Campbell has had the same girlfriend, 21-year-old Tyler nurse Reuna Smith, since the ninth grade, and he celebrates Texas football victories by watching television in the dormitory. He's especially fond of Clint

Tower glows for Campbell

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The famous 27-story University of Texas tower glowed orange with a 10-story white "I" on all four sides for the first time since 1970 Thursday night to celebrate Texas running back Earl Campbell winning the Heisman Trophy.

The tower is only lighted orange with the white "I" when the Longhorn football team wins a national championship.

The Longhorns, ranked No. 1 this season, won a national championship in 1969 and won a national title in some pre-bowl polls in 1970. If they defeat Notre Dame in the Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl game, they would capture another national crown.

Elsewhere in Austin, celebrating UT students and fans crowded onto Guadalupe Street — "The Drag" — at the edge of the campus. Several cars were adorned with "Earl" painted on the windshields.

Hawks drop third straight game

It was "Same song, third verse" for the Howard College Hawks Thursday night, as they dropped their third conference game in a row, and the fourth out of the last five outings.

The Midland College Chaparrals blew into Hawk Gym, and behind a 19-point output by flashy freshman Cullen Mayfield, the visitors shaded the Preybirds 93-83. The locals looked good in the opening minutes of the contest, but fell behind on miscues, trailing by as many as 17, 38-21, during the first half of play.

"At least we started out pretty good in the initial few minutes," said Head Coach Harold Wilder. "But then we turned the ball over five times out of the next six that we went down the court, and after that we were just scrapping to get back even from then on." Wilder indicated that the problem was "pretty much the same thing." The Hawks were making the plays and getting the shots, but failed to dominate the rebounding, and committed turnovers at critical times.

The Preybird coach commented that most of the local players were really not playing very well at this point in the season. "Another thing," Wilder added. "When one guy makes a mistake, it compounds another guy's mistake...like missing an open shot, and another player fouls trying to rebound. Once you start to correct some mistakes, a lot more of errors resulting from the original mistake will disappear."

Sophomore Russell Sublet continued his scoring dominance for HC — hitting 28 points. Joe Cooper (12) was the only other local in double figures.

The Hawks were cold from the floor during the first half, and committed 17 fouls and 13 turnovers during that time.

The Hawks will travel to Odessa Monday for their final game before the Holiday break. They return to action after Christmas in the ABC Olympic Classic, Jan. 5-7.

WILLIAMS' LAYUP — Howard College Hawk sophomore Eugene Williams is seen scoring two points against Midland College Thursday night in Hawk Gym.

Williams quickly garnered four fouls and sat out much of the game. The Preybirds went on to drop their third conference game in a row, a 93-83 decision to the Chads.

Preps to decide champs

By the Associated Press
Champions will be crowned in the Class 3A and Class B divisions of the Texas Schoolboy football playoffs this weekend with semifinals in the other three conferences.

Former champion Brownwood and Dickinson will tangle Saturday afternoon in the 3A semifinals in Austin's Memorial Stadium.

In Class B, it's Lone Oak against Wheeler Saturday night at Iowa Park.

Lone Oak is probably the most unlikely of the championship teams.

"We weren't even picked to get out of our zone much less our district," said Lone Oak Coach Bobby Fannin.

The Buffaloes have won 14 consecutive games but will be underdogs against powerful Wheeler which has been rated highly all year. Lone Oak didn't crack the Top Ten polls until late in the season.

Brownwood is an old hand at playoff games but Dickinson has shocked every highly ranked team that has challenged the South Texas club.

Here's how the other divisional playoffs shape up:

In the Class 4A semifinals, Odessa Permian, twice state champions, meets Plano at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in Jones Stadium, Lubbock.

No. 1 ranked Port Neches-Groves plays former state champion San Antonio Lee at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in Houston's Astrodome in the other 4A semifinal.

The Class 2A semifinals pit Childress against Wylie at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Wichita Falls and Bellville against Yoakum Friday night in Memorial Stadium in Austin.

UT players fuming over Irish clippings

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Remarks by Ken MacAfee of Notre Dame that his team is playing Texas in the Cotton Bowl to win the national football title has fanned the flames of what already shapes up as a fierce Jan. 2 game.

About 15 Texas players were gathered around a television set at the athletic dorm Thursday night to watch teammate Earl Campbell receive the Heisman Trophy as college football's best player when MacAfee accepted the award as best offensive end.

After viewing numerous Notre Dame film clips, Texas Longhorn trainer Joey Rawls quipped, "Did Notre Dame put this on?"

MacAfee, a three-year All-American tight end, also used the occasion to tell of Notre Dame's desire to be No. 1.

"They're No. 5 in the nation, and he's saying that..." said defensive tackle Steve McMichael.

"That kind of hacked me off," said defensive back Ricky Churchman, who probably would be responsible for pass coverage on MacAfee. "And I'm one who can do the most about it. That stuff MacAfee said, that's stuff you say in your hometown paper, not on national television."

"They can talk all they want," said offensive tackle George James. "We're going to win the game."

Forsan boys beat Ranking

GREENWOOD — The Forsan Buffs took an opening round win over Rankin in the Greenwood Tournament, but the Forsan fans fell to RHHS.

Randy Cregar's 17 markers led Forsan to a 68-63 verdict, but Julie Poyner's same number (17) went in a losing effort, 66-53.

In other action, the Borden County girls dropped Sundown, 49-38, the Sundown boys defeated Borden County, 63-44, and hosting Greenwood beat Ira, 56-37. Joe Hall hit 10 for Ira.

STUDY IN SABLE — Heavyweight champ Muhammad Ali is a smiling study in sable fur Thursday night as he models full length coat during fashion show at World Trade Center in New York. He was among the sports greats who modeled during the Northside Center for Child Development benefit.

NFL teams to play the numbers

By the Associated Press
It has become a numbers game, this chase between the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Cincinnati Bengals for a title — and the numbers don't merely reflect wins and losses.

Saturday's game between the arch-rivals in the Central Division of the American Conference will have all the fury of past meetings, including the Steelers' 20-14 triumph over the Bengals earlier in the 1977 National Football League season.

And it will have more. Usually, just winning is enough. But in Cincinnati's case, winning by seven points or more is enough, while, for the Steelers, a fivepoint loss would not be fatal. They could still take the title by winning their regular-season finale in San Diego — or could back in if Cincinnati loses its last game against Houston.

The situation is this: If the Bengals win Saturday (and a howling sellout crowd in Riverfront Stadium will be lending Cincinnati all the support it can muster), they and the Steelers would be tied with 8-5 records. If each won its final game, they would be 9-5 overall and 4-2 in the division. The next tie-breaker would be the point differential between the clubs in the games between them. Since the Steelers won the first meeting by six points, the Bengals have to win by at least seven Saturday. If Cincinnati should win by six, the next tie-breaker would be points scored and allowed in division games, and the Steelers are far ahead of Cincinnati in that area.

In Saturday's other game, a National Conference showdown with the loser eliminated from wild-card contention, Washington is at St. Louis. On Sunday, it will be Miami at New England, Detroit at Baltimore, Minnesota at Oakland, Green Bay at Chicago, Buffalo at the New York Jets, Houston at Cleveland, the New York Giants at Philadelphia, Tampa Bay at New Orleans, Seattle at Kansas City, Atlanta at Los Angeles and San Diego at Denver. Dallas is at San Francisco Monday night.

Washington hopes history will repeat itself. Last year, the Redskins won both of their games against St. Louis and, by virtue of that sweep, grabbed the NFC wild card berth despite having the same 10-4 record as the Cardinals. This year, the Redskins won the first game 24-14 on Billy Kilmer's three touchdown passes. Joe Theismann now is Washington's starting quarterback.

Mustang teams win opening round tilts

STERLING CITY — The two talented varsity squads from Sands High School continued their hardwood domination, by taking wins over Garden City in opening round competition of the Sterling City Tournament.

Bill Floyd again led the Ackerly Fillies with 29 points, to a 62-46 win over the Bearkittens. Susan Martin added 26 and Jolie Kemper bucketed seven. The girls now stand at 15-1.

Bill Wigginton, in his best night of the season, scored 22 for the boys, in their 84-48 run over GCHS. David Long added 20, and teammate Martin Nichols had 13. They boys remain undefeated at 14-0.

Both clubs will go against Clint today — girls at 3:30 p.m. and boys at 5 p.m.

Big deal shocks winter meeting

HONOLULU (AP) — An 11-player deal involving four teams and including such stars as outfielder Al Oliver, pitchers Bert Blyleven and Jon Matlack, and first baseman Willie Montanez, shocked baseball's winter meetings in a turbulent session of trading and executive decisions.

The mammoth trade among the Texas Rangers, Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Mets and Atlanta Braves overshadowed such things as the reinstatement of suspended Braves' owner Ted Turner, a new four-year contract for National League president Charles Feenee, an American League turn-down of a group seeking to buy the Boston Red Sox, and a $5 million reorganization of the Cleveland Indians.

Texas owner Brad Corbett started the four-way swap that changed the look of the National League East, made the Rangers a favorite in the American League West and began the reconstruction of Turner's hapless Atlanta team.

Corbett began Thursday talking a minor deal with the New York Mets when he discovered the Mets coveted Montanez, slugging first baseman of the Braves.

So, the Rangers' owner talked Atlanta into dealing him Montanez for reliever Adrian Devine, outfielder Tommy Boggs and minor league infielder Eddie Smith. Turner was delighted to unload Montanez' reported $300,000 yearly salary for three young inexpensive players.

Now, with Montanez in hand, he talked the Mets into delivering left-handed pitcher Jon Matlack and first baseman-outfielder John Milner to Texas for outfielder Tom Grieve and a player to be named later.

Corbett, however, wasn't through. He had been trying all week to grab outfielder Al Oliver from Pittsburgh, one of the game's premier hitters. So, he convinced the Pirates to take Milner, and with Matlack in the fold, delivered right-hander Bert Blyleven to Pittsburgh for Oliver and rookie shortstop Nelson Norman.

It was a coup. Corbett had a fine pitcher in Matlack, much better than his 7-15 record with the Mets, and a consistent hitter and excellent fielder in Oliver. Pittsburgh got a good hitter in Milner, and the pitcher they so badly needed in Blyleven. The Mets picked up needed power in Montanez, and as Turner said, "we got some young players more interested in baseball than money."

It was believed to be the biggest winter meeting deal since 1954, when the Baltimore Orioles and New York Yankees engineered a 17-player trade.

Grady boys advance

MIDLAND — The Grady Wildcats, 7-2, survived an opening round fight with Klondike in the Greenwood Tournament, advancing on a 52-49 win.

Ronald Chee led the Cats with 22 points. Alex Perez hit for 12, and other scorers included Mike Tate (5), Jimmy Mitchell (2), Roy Madison (4), Key (6) and Lozano (1).

Faye Welch hit 30 for the Grady girls, but Klondike came out on top of a 72-46 score. Paige Echols scored 37 for the KHS fems.

The Grady boys and Forsan square off today at 5:05 in second round action. The fem-squads from the two schools met earlier today (10 a.m.) in the consolation bracket.

Seventeen men die when copter crashes

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Seventeen men perished when a helicopter bringing fresh workers to an oil-and-gas rig in the Gulf of Mexico crashed and fell into the sea while trying to land in high winds, according to the company that operates the rig.

Petroleum Helicopters specializes in ferrying men and supplies to and from the oil and natural gas rigs scattered along the Louisiana and Texas coasts. The flight Thursday was taking workers to start a seven-day shift.

"It all happened so fast," said Mike Peschier, one of two men who survived the Thursday crash. "I just heard a noise and we started spinning around and flapping in the air. It just went on over the edge of the helicopter deck."

Bob Harper, a spokesman for Pennzoil Producing Co., which operates the rig, said 17 men were dead and that relatives had been notified. But the Coast Guard searched the rough seas today in hope of finding other possible survivors.

The cause of the crash remained uncertain.

"The weather was not a factor," said Jim Michel, a spokesman for Petroleum Helicopters Inc. of Lafayette, owner of the 19-seat helicopter.

Ex-Odessa fire chief draws fire

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A public review of allegations that State Fire Marshal Charles Meadows issues licenses to operators in the profitable fire extinguisher business without checking their qualifications is set for next Thursday.

"I'd like to get to the bottom of it," said Sen. Bill Patman, D-Ganado, a member of the Senate Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs.

"We're going to give everybody a chance to clear this record — get it all out on the record," subcommittee chairman Ron Clower, D-Garland, added Thursday.

Clower instructed the staff to notify Meadows; chairman Hugh Yantis of the State Insurance Board, which oversees the marshal; and former insurance chairman Joe Christie, now a U.S. Senate candidate; and others of the hearing.

Yantis restored Meadows, a former Odessa fire chief, to full authority after Yantis succeeded Christie.

A subcommittee staff report said Christie had taken away Meadows' administrative and managerial responsibilities after an internal evaluation had disclosed the fire marshal's office "was having serious difficulties with work backlogs and processing problems."

Subcommittee researcher Darryll Grubbs said fire marshals in the Dallas-Fort Worth area complained to Clower after Yantis restored Meadows' authority.

He said approximately 1,000 persons and 400 to 500 companies are involved in the "highly competitive... lucrative" fire extinguisher industry.

Among the complaints of marshals and "reputable" persons installing and servicing fire extinguishers, Grubbs said, was that Meadows "is simply selling licenses without adequate investigation of the applicant's background and abilities."

"What do you mean by 'selling'?" asked Clower. "They (operators) claim you can walk into that (fire marshal) office over there, pay $75 (the registration fee) and be handed a license," Grubbs said.

He said marshals and operators claim that the required periodic inspection of equipment "amounts to little more than a phone call from the (state) fire marshal's office to see if the operator is still in business."

One marshal complained, Grubbs said, that "his five-year-old daughter could pass" the examination given to those who apply for licenses.

Grubbs said marshals praised a newsletter that was started under the Christie reorganization as being "very effective in reducing the number of dishonest operators." The newsletter told of hearings on suspected violators and "served to warn disreputable operators of the determination of the state fire marshal's office to more effectively police the industry," Grubbs said.

Meadows, he said, discontinued the newsletter, stating he did not feel it justified the $300-a-month publication cost.

Also, Grubbs said, "there are criminal and civil charges pending against several operators in the state who are still holding licenses."

"We feel that a serious problem exists within the extinguisher industry and the state fire marshal's control of this area," he said.

Nursing home to pay fines

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General John Hill said Thursday he has obtained an agreed judgment from the owners of Oak Cliff Nursing Home of Dallas to halt alleged violations of state law.

He said the home's owners, Paul Young III and S. W. Creechmore Jr., and administrator Dick Pratt had agreed to pay $5,000 in civil penalties plus $1,000 in costs of the suit.

State District Judge J. Roll Fair of Dallas will sign the judgment next week if an inspection by the Texas Health Department shows the home meets minimum standards, Hill said.

The attorney general's suit alleged the home had misrepresented the quality of care its residents would receive and had failed to meet standards and provide adequate care.

Hill alleged that one patient's bedsores were not properly medicated, resulting in maggot infestation of a leg, which later had to be amputated. He also alleged that another patient received severe ant bites over a large part of his body.

LIKE SOLDIERS

There's beauty to the morning after a snowstorm, with the world turned white. The trees march in line like soldiers buried under the weight of their packs. Branches bend under the load, sometimes they break. But, more often they're resilient enough to withstand the storm... and still keep growing.

Can we say the same of ourselves? Do we stand up under burdens, or do our hidden shoulders snap and break? It might help us to bear heavy loads if we realized that we're never alone. The world is full of others staggering along under their own burdens, and most of them manage to keep going. And the lucky ones who have a true faith even realize that the pilgrimage has a reason, a meaning, even though they may not understand it.

Where do you find faith? You don't. It comes to you. And the Church is the first step toward such a meeting.

Lamesa Baptist group to convene Dec. 15

The Lamesa Baptist Association will hold its monthly Worker's conference at the Eastside Baptist Church, 509 NE 4th,

Dorcas Class holds annual yuletide event

The Dorcas Sunday School Class of Wesley United Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Cecil Stephens, 806 Birdwell lane for their annual Christmas party.

A salad supper was served to 14 members and four visitors. Mrs. Carl Elliott gave the devotional and read the story "The Gift of the Magi."

At a short business meeting session, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Richard Mitchell, president; Judson Lloyd, vice-president, and Mrs. Tricey Butler, secretary-treasurer.

Reports were made on the needy family which was helped at Thanksgiving, and on the family to be helped during the Christmas holidays. Gifts were exchanged by the members. Guests present were Ms. Kathy Durham, Ms. Maxine Jones, Mrs. August Aamodt, and Mrs. Tom Allen.

Lamesa, December 15. The Associational W.M.U. and the Associational Executive Board will meet at 6:30 p.m. Supper will be served by the host church at 7:15 p.m., according to the Rev. Don Long, moderator.

The program this month will begin at 8 p.m. This program will be a summary of the book, "Exodus: Called for Redemptive Mission," by Page H. Kelley. This is the suggested book for January Bible Study that Southern Baptist have each year.

Chapter summaries will be given by: J.L. Bass, Friendship Baptist Church; Jerry Becknal, Midway Baptist Church; Billy Bush, Northside Baptist Church.

Bill Hardage, First Baptist Church, Lamesa; Robin Butler, Welch Baptist Church; E.R. Holder, Key Baptist Church; C.G. Grigg, Crestview Baptist Church; J. Roy Haynes, Gail Baptist Church; and Dan Rice, First Baptist Church, Lamesa.

Request stand

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The general assembly of the Christian Church Disciples of Christ urged normalization of U.S. diplomatic relations with Communist China, after several delegates who had once lived in China advocated such a stand.

Church of God hosts continental singers

"Act One Company" will present a program of music, drama and comedy today at 8 p.m. at the First Church of God.

The ninety-minute program of the company combines comedy sketches, exciting music, pantomimes, and monologues. Set in a fast-paced format, their purpose is not only to entertain but also to communicate. Through the program they use various means of asking honest questions, raising issues and offering positive solutions. Through drama they expose us as we really are; through music they confront us with a challenge; through humor they make us laugh at ourselves. "Act One Company" is currently on an 11-month tour of performances across the United States.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend, according to the Rev. Alan Tinnerstet.

Crystal cathedral under construction

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — Ground-breaking ceremonies took place last Sunday for the "Crystal Cathedral," to be made entirely of glass and larger than Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris, France.

The cathedral, to be built in the shape of a four-pointed star with seats for 41,000 worshippers visually open to the sky, will be the new home of the Garden Grove Community Church led by the Rev. Dr. Robert H. Schuller. It widely is known for its dramatic services both for those inside and in a parking area.

The "Crystal Cathedral" is scheduled to be completed by 1980.

Christians name new pastor here

Larry Farthing is the new minister at the Christian Church of Big Spring, which meets at 21st and Nolan.

Having moved here the week of Thanksgiving, from Muskogee, Oklahoma, he and his wife have three children. Tracy is a sixth grader at Goliad Junior High. Jason is in the fifth grade at Kentwood Elementary, and Marcia is a kindergartener at Kentwood. They reside in the Christian Church parsonage, 2604 E. 16th Street.

Prior to a ministry of one year in Muskogee, the Farthings were ten year residents of Texas. He has been minister of First Christian Church in Kermit and North Austin Christian Church in Austin, where he led in establishing one of Austin's fastest growing churches. A member of Lions International, Mr. Farthing is eager to get acquainted with the Big Spring community.

Ohio Baptists back Anita's stand

HEATH, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's state convention of Southern Baptists took a stand against homosexuality and expressed appreciation for singer Anita Bryant's drive against laws to guarantee legal rights to homosexuals.

Similarly, in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., the state Southern Baptist convention adopted a resolution declaring the "homosexual acts are clearly sin."

Christmons slated Monday

"Christmons in Christmas," a musical narration, will be presented in the chapel at Big Spring State Hospital, Monday evening, December 12, at 7 p.m. The presentation of Christmons will be led by the chapel choir and the adolescent unit. The Christmons being used in the service are made by patients through the education department of the hospital.

The service centers around the historical "Christian monograms." These Christian symbols are in some ways the signs of one's faith and are representative of Christ.

Following the service there is to be a reception in the foyer of the chapel. The public is invited to attend.

Plan to overhaul laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans who take prescription medicines would know more about the effects and safety of what they are using under a bill the Carter administration is drafting, government sources say.

The draft, believed to be the most sweeping proposal to overhaul the nation's prescription drug laws in 71 years, also would streamline government procedures for approving new medicines and for taking dangerous ones off the market.

Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials, who requested anonymity, said Thursday the proposal is in the hands of HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. and the White House, besides being circulated among key congressmen.

The draft legislation would require the pharmaceutical industry to give the consumer information on a medication's safety and effectiveness, which the industry is now required to make available only to government agencies in order to get the product approved.

Under the proposal, manufacturers in many cases would have to summarize the results of tests on safety and effectiveness in easy-to-read package inserts, an FDA source said.

One FDA official said the proposed move is "part of our long-standing goal" that product information "be laid out in a readable way" for the purchaser.

A drugist also would be required to place on every package the name of the product's maker. Some of the major manufacturers have come under criticism recently for promoting and selling medicines under their trade names although they are manufactured by someone else.

A key element of the draft legislation is shortening the time it takes for the government to approve a new medicine and to take a potentially dangerous medicine off the market.

Under the proposal, Califano would be given authority to approve a new product merely by issuing an official order known as a "monograph." The monograph would include a description of the medication as well as evidence of its worth that led to its approval.

If other evidence emerges that would warrant taking the product off the market, the secretary would issue a revised order suspending sale of the item or revoking its earlier approval, a source said.

Consumer groups have long complained that the procedures for taking a potentially dangerous medication out of circulation are far too cumbersome and mean that such a product could remain on the market two years or more.

Even if the FDA declares a medicine an "imminent hazard," the present process may take six months.

Mother arrested

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — After a door-to-door search that took police to some 800 residences here Thursday, a 16-year-old girl has been arrested in connection with the Wednesday death of a new born infant.

Police said the girl was the mother of the baby found in a parked car. Officials also said the teenager apparently delivered the baby herself.

The girl was taken to a hospital for medical treatment after the arrest at her apartment. No charges had been filed late Thursday.

The apartment is adjacent to a parking lot where two high school girls found the baby, wrapped in a sheet and placed in a paper bag, on the front seat of a car Wednesday.

Tarrant County Medical Examiner Felix Gwozdz said the child died from exposure in 20-degree weather.

A note left near the baby read: "Please take care of him. His name is Gary Don and I love him."

Mrs. Barbara Jennings, mother of one of the girls who found the baby, said her daughter had a class with the girl arrested.

"The girl was pregnant, but she was in school up until Monday. I guess the girl was in a panic and thought we'd find it before it died. She knew my daughter had been driving that car to school for the last few days," Mrs. Jennings said.
