Kerr-McGee leases in 13 sections

Uranium testing near Knott

Officials of the Kerr-McGee Corporation in Oklahoma City today confirmed that they had purchased mineral leases and put down test holes for uranium in a 13-section area around Knott in Howard County.

According to Pat Petree of the corporation, the area is still being developed by the company.

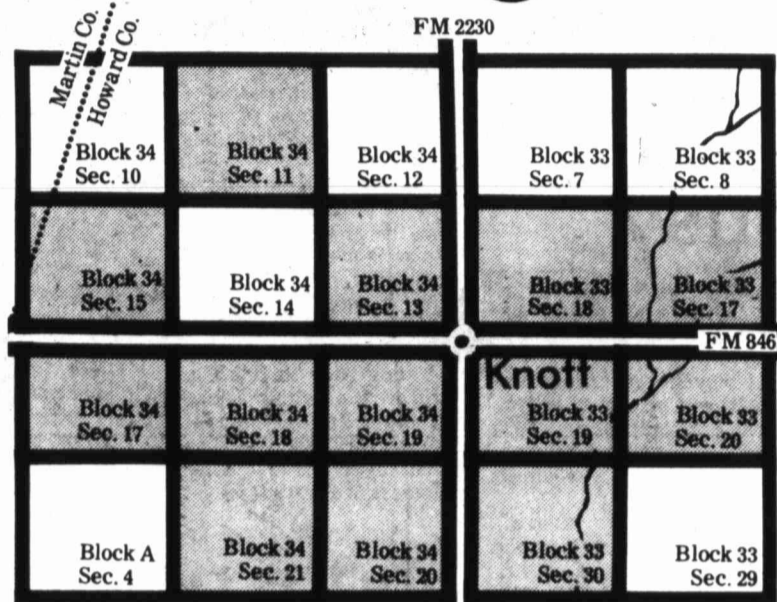

"I don't know whether we have a find yet or not," said Petree, "but even if we do, that does not necessarily mean mining. First we would have to determine whether the concentration was high enough to warrant the investment."

Fred Fallis, geologist for the company, said, "I don't know how we became interested in Howard County specifically, but what we usually do is similar to oil prospecting."

"We either have a geological picture of the area and some sections or sediments look promising, or we have what is called airborne radiometrics."

"That, essentially, is a geiger counter in an airplane which flies over some property. When we get the proper sort of reading, we will purchase mineral leases and put down some test holes, usually a mile or two apart."

"We use an electric log in the drilling process, but we also measure the gamma ray curve in the hole."

URANIUM LEASES BOUGHT — This map shows the area in which Oklahoma City-based Kerr-McGee Corporation has been drilling test holes looking for uranium. The leases were purchased by the company as early as February, 1976 and as late as August, 1977. Shaded areas indicate sections where mineral leases are owned by Kerr-McGee.

Usually we don't go any deeper than 2,000 feet."

In a series of purchases beginning in late February of 1976 and stretching through August, 1977, Kerr-McGee has acquired the mineral rights to sizeable portions of land in northwestern Howard County.

A total of 31 separate purchases were made through salesmen from Midland and Albuquerque and, according to one landowner who sold his lease, prices from $5 to $50 per acre were paid. The landowner went on to say that the company had put down test holes about a year ago, but he hadn't heard of any results.

The company has purchased the rights to parcels out of blocks 33 and 34, including pieces of sections 11, 13, 15, 17, 18, 19, 20, and 21 out of block 33 and parts of sections 17, 18, 19, 20, and 30 in block 34.

Rep. Mickey Leland seeks Jordan's post

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Mickey Leland's office said today that the black legislator from Houston will announce Thursday as a candidate for the congressional seat being vacated by U.S. Rep. Barbara Jordan.

The brief announcement said Leland will hold a news conference at 9:30 a.m. (Whitehall Hotel) in Houston to declare his candidacy.

Leland, a Democrat, is in his third two-year term as a state representative.

Strike begins

Panhandle farmers block food deliveries

FARM PICKETS — Farmers demanding parity prices for farm products set up pickets and blocked the entrance ways to the Borden plant in Amarillo early this morning. About 25 tractors were at the plant while farmers, such as Al Moore of Wildorado, Tex., stood outside the gates. Borden agreed to close down for 24 hours and the farmers agreed to let Borden deliver to hospitals.

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — The men who produced the goods prevented their delivery Tuesday as angry Texas farmers parked heavy tractors in front of grocery warehouses across the Panhandle to spark a nationwide strike.

The farmers' actions blocked delivery trucks at warehouses of Affiliated Food stores, Safeway and Borden Milk.

"They let us send trucks out to serve hospitals and rest homes," said Borden Milk's general manager Jim Graves, "but a lot of schools are not going to receive milk today."

Three large tractors rumbled to the driveway at the Affiliated warehouse early in the morning and blocked it.

"All our stores have been called," said Affiliated spokesman Lewis McNeice. "Nothing will be delivered today except perishable items, meat and milk. No dry food products."

McNeice said the action of the farmers would affect about 80 stores in the Panhandle area.

Graves said about 150 stores would be affected by the creamery's failure to supply milk.

Nearly 300 tractors rolled into Amarillo from nearby farms and scores of others were reported on the way to Dimmit, Pampa and other towns where similar blockades were planned.

Police said there had been no incidents of violence.

The Panhandle has been a strong supporter of American Agriculture, the Colorado-based group that is organizing the farmers' strike.

Farmers are protesting low prices paid for their products. They claim that the cost of producing exceeds the prices they get for their grain.

Until Tuesday, the proposed strike had received little support in most of Texas with the farm unions — the Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas Farmers Union — declining to offer official support to the strike. Only a few hundred showed up for a rally earlier this month in Irving's Texas Stadium that was expected to draw thousands.

While farmers in the Panhandle were implementing their plans, the president of the Texas Farmers Union, which has been sympathetic to the strike despite a lack of official endorsement, said the protest "has run its course."

Jay Naman said farmers should try to convince consumers that 100 percent parity prices would not hike costs to the consumers.

"We think we can convince consumers of this," he said. "There's a lot of heat on the Department of Agriculture and the logical way for them to divert it is to go to the consumer and say it (100 percent parity) will result in higher prices. The agriculture department has been trying to enlist the consumer against the farm strike."

Naman added that in many cases prices would not change even if farmers gave their products to processors at no charge.

"Take an $18 cotton shirt. It's got 40-50 cents worth of cotton in it. A 55-cent loaf of bread has three or four cents worth of wheat in it," Naman said.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland stuck by his earlier statements that he does not think the farm strike will have any effect on consumer food prices or grocery prices.

He said Tuesday on the eve of the Grand jury will hear Galaviz death evidence

District Attorney Rick Hamby said today that he would present the results of the investigation his office is conducting into the death of Juan Galaviz to a grand jury.

"We will present the results of the investigation being conducted by my office and the Texas Rangers to a Howard County grand jury for possible indictment," said Hamby.

"All evidence gleaned from the investigation will be presented and I urge any citizen that may have information which could be revelant to the case to contact my office."

Hamby said that statements had been taken from officers at the scene of the shooting, but that no formal statement had yet been taken from Police Sgt. Leroy Spires, who shot Galaviz while trying to arrest him.

We are interested in any factual input a citizen may have," the district attorney said. "We are conducting an open investigation and we are determined to follow up every lead."

Spires is presently working his regular police duties.

Galaviz was killed by one shot fired by Spires Thursday night after the 19-year-old allegedly attacked a woman in the Howard College parking lot following a basketball game and then led police on a high-speed chase.

Texas Rangers from Midland and Snyder are handling the investigation.

Liquor law violations in seven clubs

An undercover operation by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, checking all of the local clubs over the weekend, found violations at seven clubs, according to authorities.

The commission also called for the arrest of 14 drunks, one juvenile and one person charged with disorderly conduct.

The clubs will receive notices of results of the violations in early 1978. Clubs where violations were reported included the Lamplighter, The American Club, the Pump Club, the American Legion, The Big Spring Country Club, the Elks, and the Wooden Nickel.

The undercover agent checked every club in town in the operation.

The violations were mostly minor and will probably result in brief, token closings of the clubs, but at least one club is accused of more senior violations.

Cheer fund money doubles

The Christmas Cheer Fund is looking better, thanks to $720 turned in recently to Brig. Ball at the local Salvation Army post.

The total has now reached $1,425. The aggregate included two donations turned into The Herald Tuesday. One was for $10 and came from Lalla Baird Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church. The other, also in that amount, was from the Mary Jane Club, Coahoma.

Checks should be made out to the Christmas Cheer Fund and be forwarded either to the Salvation Army or to the Herald which, in turn, turns them over to Brig. Ball.

College cage team killed

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A plane carrying college basketball players and team supporters was trying to turn back with a sputtering engine seconds after it took off in rain and dense fog when it crashed into a muddy hillside, killing all 29 aboard, witnesses said.

The crash of the chartered twin-engine DC-3 Tuesday night killed the entire 14-man University of Evansville basketball team and its coach. In addition, the three crew members and 11 other persons were among the dead.

All 29 of the victims were identified, but two of the bodies were left at the scene overnight because the weather hampered recovery efforts.

Mark Moulton, the color announcer for the team who was not on the flight, said the team had been scheduled to leave during the afternoon, but was delayed for more than three hours until the plane finally arrived to pick up the passengers.

The plane took off and then appeared momentarily on radar, turning back toward the airport, before disappearing, Hogue said. There was no emergency radio contact with the plane, he said.

The wreckage, scattered over a 20-foot bluff overlooking railroad tracks near a subdivision, was still smouldering this morning. Only the tail section remained intact.

"We're going to check the weather, the quality of the aircraft and we'll also investigate whether the airport should have been operating under the existing conditions," Hogue said.

Written proposal for school due Tuesday

The first draft of the proposal to locate the Texas Tech Medical School in Big Spring is finished, according to J. Tom Graham, chairman of the local committee pushing to locate the school here.

"We have put together the first draft of the major proposal, and we will offer some alternate proposals so that all possibilities are covered," said Graham.

The major proposal calls for the location of the medical facility at the existing Webb AFB Hospital. The 60,000 square-foot hospital is "probably the finest in West Texas and worth about $5 million," said Graham.

Big Spring will compete with Midland and Odessa to entice the medical school to locate here. Each of the three cities will submit a written proposal Tuesday to Texas Tech for review.

The next bid for the facility will be made on Jan. 11, when each of the cities will offer an hour-long oral and visual presentation to Tech officials.

The final decision as to where the school will be located will be made by Tech's Board of Regents with advice from the university's medical staff.

"There will be no real winner or loser in this thing," explained Graham. "Each of the cities will benefit no matter what the outcome is. All three will receive interns and additional medical staff," he added.

But, nonetheless, gaining the facility of Big Spring would be a real coup.

"It would definitely enhance Big Spring's already strong image as a medical center in West Texas," said the committee chairman.

Local farmers ignore strike

Despite tractorcades from Abilene, Cross Plains, Rising Star, and other West Texas farming areas, Howard County and neighboring farmers simply do not have an interest in joining the radical tide.

According to County Agent Bruce Griffith's office, no late surge of farmers eager to journey down public highways in tractors to call attention to their problems has cropped up here.

In Abilene, however, two meetings today are expected to draw over 400 farmers from Anson, Merkel, Hawley, and other rural towns.

The farmers are protesting ever-rising production costs and dropping returns on their crops. In Howard County, despite the recent radicalization of farmers nationwide, the attitude seems to be that there are better things to do.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: No pushbuttons

Q: Why doesn't Big Spring have pushbutton dialing, and when are we going to get it?

A: According to Robert Hurt, Big Spring manager, earnings are the difference between dialing and punching. "The equipment we have in Big Spring now works fine," he said, "and to replace it would cost a great deal of money. Our Big Spring operation does not presently generate enough earnings to make the changeover possible."

Offbeat: 'Ho-ho-ho' to you chief

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Edmund Hedge had to lose 30 pounds to qualify for the Police Department earlier this year. But despite his dieting, he's been drafted as a Santa Claus.

Hedge, who weighs in at 200 pounds or so, was chosen as "Santa" in an impromptu audition of policemen because he had the best "Ho-ho-ho," said Police Chief Samuel Fandel.

Ironically, the call to the police for a Santa came from the New London Public Library, whose "regular" Santa was unable to work at this year's children's party because he had lost too much weight.

Fandel said he thought Hedge would do all right. "He can always wear a couple of pillows," the chief said.

TV's best: Can't say it

For a guffaw or two, how about a show with a proper name you can't pronounce — "Szyzzyk," which starts at 7:30 p.m., over CBS. The hero seeks funds to pay for a new gym. There's also an 8 p.m. movie, entitled "The Next Man," featuring the man who once played 007, Sean Connery, that's probably worth a look. Connery plays a Saudi Arabian marked for assassination.

Tuition credit fuss blocks SS

WASHINGTON (AP) — With only one day left until planned congressional adjournment, Republicans are trying to salvage a $250 income tax credit for parents of college students in the final version of the Social Security bill.

All sides in the dispute over the tax credit, which is blocking a vote on Social Security, were talking optimistically as a Senate-House conference committee prepared today to try to settle their differences.

But sheer numbers gave the Democratic leadership the upper hand, and those leaders — especially on the House side — don't want the tuition credit attached to the Social Security bill.

Anticipating an agreement, House leaders scheduled final floor action on Social Security for Thursday, the target adjournment date for this year's congressional session.

Social Security is in deep financial trouble. The pending bill would correct most of the problems with a tax increase that would cost workers and their employers $227 billion over the next decade.

There is no compelling reason the bill has to be passed this year. But President Carter and Democratic congressional leaders want the bill out of the way before the 1978 election campaign, which could discourage many congressmen from voting for a tax increase.

There was increasing evidence that Senate members of the conference committee would give in and allow the credit to be stripped from the bill. Three of the 10 senators on the panel have indicated publicly they would turn against the amendment in the interest of clearing Social Security.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the conference committee, said he thinks a Social Security bill will emerge this year. But Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., chief sponsor of the tax credit, said he will be satisfied with nothing less than a House vote on that provision.

House Republicans are trying to figure out the best way to get such a vote.

One proposal being considered would remove the Roth amendment, as most House Democrats on the conference committee insist. But when the compromise bill gets to the floor of the House, Republicans would ask their colleagues to send it back to the committee with instructions to accept the Roth amendment.

Either way such a move went, Roth would have the vote he wants.

Right on John Wayne

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Wayne glanced at Jane Fonda and cracked, "I'm surprised to find you at the right of me."

The two met at the annual awards of the Hollywood Women's Press Club. The conservative actor presented the politically radical actress with the club's award as "Star of the Year."

Miss Fonda, previously recognized by the club for helping give Hollywood a bad image, said about Sunday's award: "It sure beats a lemon... I'm glad to receive this from you, Mr. Wayne."

Wayne, another recipient of the "Star of the Year" award, said: "I've had the good fortune of knowing Jane's father (Henry Fonda) for 40 years and I've enjoyed watching Jane and Peter (her brother) develop into fine talents."

Airlines jet stuck in mud

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — All 77 passengers and crewmen escaped injury Tuesday night when their DC9 jet skidded off a Ryan Airport runway and got stuck in the mud, officials said.

Workers were trying today to free the Texas International Airlines jet, which airport firemen said was bogged down 150 feet off the end of a 5,800-foot runway.

The cause of the accident, which occurred during bad weather, was not immediately known.

The plane had been landing at the end of a flight from Houston. Since Baton Rouge was the final stop, no passengers had to be diverted to other flights.

The runway was closed, but a staffer at the Ryan Airport control tower said the airport was continuing to use its other runway, which measures 6,900 feet.

Gusty winds due in Panhandle

By the Associated Press
Clear skies, light winds and cool temperatures prevailed in Texas today as a weak high pressure area settled over the state during the night.

Forecasts called for fair skies and warming temperatures today. Highs were expected to be in the middle 60s in North Texas and the 70s over the remainder of the state. Gusty winds were expected in the Panhandle during the afternoon, but most of the state could expect calm weather.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 21 at Marfa in Southwest Texas to 54 at Galveston on the coast.

Some early morning readings included 29 at Amarillo, 30 at Wichita Falls, 45 at Texarkana, 38 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 47 at Austin, 38 at Lufkin, 42 at Houston, 50 at Corpus Christi and Brownsville, 41 at Del Rio, 35 at San Angelo, 29 at El Paso and 34 at Lubbock.

SMU faculty cuts announced

DALLAS (AP) — Citing a decline in student enrollment, the president of Southern Methodist University has announced a 6.5 percent cut in the university's full-time faculty.

James H. Zumberge said 35 instructors will be dropped from the staff of 532 next year. Comparable cutbacks will be made in the fall of 1979 unless student enrollment increases, the president said.

"We've had a significant decline in enrollment, but we haven't had a concomitant decline in faculty members. So we're rapidly approaching a condition where we have more faculty to teach less students and if that were allowed to continue indefinitely, we'd be out of business," Zumberge said.

The Dallas school's full-time enrollment dipped to 7,400 during the current semester. The enrollment was 8,000 in 1975.

The 35 faculty positions will be cut through "retirements, resignations and normal attritions so no one is going to lose his job or be let go from the faculty," according to Zumberge.

Stories of miraculous escapes abound in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Many told of miraculous escapes from death or injury when a tornado struck Tuesday near a crowded Houston freeway, at least 40 others injured and an estimated 600 homes and buildings were destroyed.

Agents lived in poverty for years

Big fish escape FBI

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For four years, a young FBI agent lived in poverty and developed a convincing dialogue of Marxist jargon in an effort to enter the clandestine world of the political underground.

Last month, says undercover agent Richard Giannotti, the word came down from radical cohorts in the Prairie Fire Organizing Committee to help bomb the office of a conservative California legislator.

Instead, he and agent William Reagan — considered trusted members of a small "combat team" that called itself the Revolutionary Action Squad — ditched their secret lives to help engineer the group's arrest.

Giannotti, officials say, was in the underground for seven years.

It has the earmarks of another dramatic FBI success story, but bureau officials concede privately that the big fish got away.

Although one alleged radical leader was arrested, 62-year-old Clayton Van Lydegraf, the best known remain at large — including Bernardine Dohrn, Jeffrey Jones, William Ayres, Cathy Wilkerson and Kathy Boudin — all of them with the radical Weather Underground, officials say.

"If we knew where they were, we'd pick them up tonight," says one FBI official.

Besides Van Lydegraf, others arrested were Judith Bissell, who had been sought for a 1969 Seattle bombing, Leslie Mullins, Curtis Marc Perry and Michael Thomas Justesen. All were active in New Left political groups during the 1960s in the Seattle area.

The five were to be arraigned in Superior Court today on charges stemming from an alleged plot to bomb the office of state Sen. John Briggs, an outspoken opponent of homosexual rights.

Van Lydegraf, according to the FBI, is a leader of the Prairie Fire unit, an above ground group that in the past has been a support group associated with the super-secret Weather Underground.

The group takes its name from a writing by Mao Tse-tung, who encouraged revolutionary activity by noting that a single spark can start a prairie fire.

The Prairie Fire committee directed the five suspects' activities, according to FBI documents filed in connection with last month's arrests. The bureau documents say the committee leadership includes five women and Van Lydegraf, who resides in San Francisco.

Agent Giannotti lived with Van Lydegraf for more than a year, according to FBI files, and gained the radical patriarch's confidence. But he never learned the whereabouts of the better known radical leaders, most of whom have been fugitives since 1970.

Elmer Lindberg, special agent in charge of the FBI's criminal section in Los Angeles, says, "The purpose of the agent's penetration was to find underground people."

Reagan and Giannotti amassed "a wealth of knowledge about how the underground operates," according to Lindberg. He judged the results of the lengthy infiltration "worthwhile," but said the question as to whether the agents should blow their cover to arrest a small group of five "was a difficult decision."

Fishing rights nine miles out
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas now has undisputed authority over foreign fishing as far out as nine miles into the Gulf of Mexico.

Attorney General John Hill said Tuesday that the federal government has given up its claims to jurisdiction over foreign fishing in Texas coastal water beyond three miles offshore.

The only other state with similar jurisdiction is Florida.

"We secured this jurisdiction through extended Congressional and court battles with the federal government in the 1950s in order to preserve our state's right to offshore mineral and other natural resources which the federal government wanted for itself," Hill said in a statement.

"This suit was an effort to put a chink in the legal armor we have successfully used for decades to protect our offshore lands from federal takeover."

Hill said the issue was ended Tuesday with the filing of a joint motion to dismiss by the federal government and the states of Texas and Florida in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Recent agreements give state authorities power to enforce federal fishing laws between three and nine miles in the Gulf of Mexico.

Civil Defense Director Bland McReynolds said if the twister had moved into the downtown area "it would have gutted most of the modern buildings."

Authorities said if the funnel had crossed the bumper-to-bumper freeway during the morning rush hours, the death toll would have been staggering.

Rescue and repair workers scrapped and dug through the shambles left of the homes and the buildings in search of other victims until halted by darkness.

Police and sheriff's deputies then set up tight security in the devastated area to prevent looting.

Whitey Martin, chief of the Houston Fire Department's ambulance service, said, "There could be more dead. There could be many more injured. Some maybe under debris or lying somewhere in a ditch. We hope not, but that is a possibility."

Many of the 40 injured persons suffered minor injuries.

McReynolds, who flew over the path of the tornado, five miles long and 300 to 500 feet wide, said, "The destructive force I saw snapped trees two feet in diameter like a matchstick and would have destroyed anything in its path."

Police officers said Billy D. Hester, about 50, a superintendent for a construction company, was killed when the tornado lifted his pickup truck from a highway and hurled it about 350 feet into an oak tree.

Describing the death of Hester, Dave Largent, 29, a coworker said, "It started raining and we all went into the office. Somebody outside yelled tornado. We went out and saw it. It was coming right at us."

Largent said most of the 100 workers at the site took cover in a nearby culvert, but Hester jumped into his truck and drove off. He died.

The area looked like it had been heavily-shelled during a war.

A large metal warehouse was molded into a surrealist sculpture. A mobile home rested atop another residence. Tree limbs, hunks of metal, slabs of wood, strips of tin, and other debris blocked many nearby roads, snarling traffic and causing additional troubles for police.

Thunderstorms continued to rumble across the area during the day, building muddy, slimy pools, and hampering the work of those attempting to replace the snapped electric lines and the humbacked telephone poles.

Marilyn Gordon, 21, of Crosby, Tex., said she was driving to her job early Tuesday when "suddenly this house was coming toward me. It was flying as I stopped in the middle of the road. I managed to duck down."

Her new car was demolished by the house, and, she said, "It was a miracle I wasn't killed."

Nunnie Stevens, 75, was in bed when the twister hit. She said, "I was just dazed as pieces of glass flew across my bed. Wasn't the Good Lord good to spare me."

James Boyer, 55, was en route to his feed store and trading post when, "I began having trouble holding my car on the road. Then I heard some CBers reporting a tornado right where my store is located. I turned around and got out of there. I was lucky."

Mrs. R.L. Neyland, 77, said she heard a loud roar and "I stepped into the kitchen and here came glass and everything else. I stretched out on the floor and then saw the china cabinet coming at me. I would have been crushed if the cabinet had not fallen partly across a chair. Praise God for saving me."

Manuel Hernandez, his wife and four children, sorted through the wreckage of their home, wondering what happened to their pet dog "King".

Hernandez said when the twister hit, "The walls started to cave in on the house. I grabbed my wife's hand and put my feet up and caught the wall and then it

European makers of chemical cumene sued by Gulf Oil

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gulf Oil Chemicals Co. says it has filed anti-dumping complaints against European producers of a chemical needed to make plastics, adhesives and synthetic fibers.

The Houston-based Gulf Oil Corp. subsidiary said Tuesday it had charged that European manufacturers, particularly in Italy and the Netherlands, were selling the chemical cumene "at unrealistically low prices."

U.S. trade laws forbid the sale of imports below the cost of production or for less than home market prices.

Gulf Oil Chemicals said imports have tripled in recent years and now account for about one third of all U.S. cumene consumption.

"Continual price reductions by U.S. producers in an effort to compete with the dumping of cumene from Europe have seriously injured the domestic industry," the company said in a news release.

Gulf is the nation's largest cumene producer with capacity to make 800 million pounds annually. The U.S. uses about 2.5 million pounds each year.

"The general public doesn't know what cumene is, but they certainly use in their houses many products made from cumene," said Peter Gilderson, coordinator of aromatics for the company.

Gilderson said it is found in countertops, the adhesives in plywood and many other household goods.

Gulf noted that cumene is the only benzene derivative that can be imported without duty in the United States.

European nations impose duties on the chemical when it is imported, the company said.

Escapes accused in shotgun killings

BEAVER, Okla. (AP) — Two jail escapees accused in the shotgun slaying of an Oklahoma undersheriff and a Kansas man will face preliminary hearings Jan. 5 on first-degree murder charges.

James Lewis, 29, and David Richardson, 21, who escaped from the Wagoner County jail in northeastern Oklahoma on Nov. 24, were returned to this Panhandle town late Monday after being captured in Utah. They had waived extradition.

They were charged Saturday in the slayings of Kenny Miller, Beaver County undersheriff, and Danny Cambren of Liberal, Kan. Their bodies were found in a ditch near the Kansas-Oklahoma border.

The pair were arraigned Tuesday by Beaver County Associate District Judge James L. Land who set the date for the preliminary hearing.

The two were arrested Sunday in Price, Utah, after a hitchhiker, riding with the two men, heard a description of the men on their car radio.

The pair released the hitchhiker unharmed and he called police.

Utah authorities said that as they closed in, Lewis and Richardson pulled up to a house. They said Richardson ran toward a nearby river while Price allegedly forced his way into the house and held John and Edith Peccioni hostage until he was talked into surrendering.

Too Young To Understand

Some people avoid bringing children to funeral services. Their justification for this, usually, is that the children are "too young to understand."

Today's psychologists tell us that this is a mistake. Children must accept a loss and adjust to it... just the same as anyone else in the family.

And they need to share in the experience that the family is going through.

PLAN

TOT SURVIVES PLANE CRASH — Three-year-old Shara Sneed was found alive in the wreckage of this plane that crashed in the Texas hill country northeast of Kerrville. Killed in the crash were her father, Gerald Wayne Sneed, her mother, and five-year-old brother. The girl was found in the wreckage 35 hours after the crash and was hospitalized.

May have saved his daughter's life

Dying dad's last act of love

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — A dying father's last act of love, moments after his airplane crashed into a brushy ridgetop in the rugged Texas hill country, may have saved his 3-year-old daughter's life, officials say.

Shara Sneed, trapped for 35 hours in the wreckage of the small plane, was rescued Tuesday morning by searchers who said they found her "mumbling and groaning."

Her father, Gerald Wayne Sneed, a 33-year-old San Antonio lawyer who was piloting the single-engine airplane, was killed along with his wife, Susan Parr Sneed, and their 5-year-old son, Shannon.

Rescuers unstrapped Shera from the back seat of the plane, which had crashed Sunday night on an 1,800-foot hill about three miles from the Kerrville Municipal Airport, about 65 miles northwest of San Antonio.

A hospital spokesman said Shera was in stable condition in intensive care Tuesday evening, suffering from a fractured leg and arm.

"Shera was just mumbling and groaning when we got there," said Dan Waters, president of the First Texas Flying Service in Kerrville and a family friend. "It was nothing you could understand. She had a few abrasions but other than that she looked pretty good."

Major Anne Farrell, Civil Air Patrol search project coordinator, said the back seat of the airplane apparently loosened and slid forward on impact, jamming partially under the front seat.

It appeared, she said, that Sneed tried to drape himself over his daughter to protect her from the 28-degree nighttime, a gesture "which undoubtedly helped her survive the elements."

Major Farrell said the plane did not burn and that "the wreckage wasn't so bad. But the plane hit hard."

The wreckage was spotted Tuesday morning by a plane flown by Jim Thompson, co-owner with Sneed of the wrecked aircraft. A helicopter airlifted the little girl off the hilltop.

She told departing searchers Tuesday afternoon that, "Looking at that wreckage, it looks like the boy and the father might have lived, certainly for a few hours."

"But the weather was so bad, we just couldn't find them and get to them," she added.

The plane crashed Sunday night during a persistent drizzle. Air traffic controllers in San Antonio had received a radio signal from the plane reporting it was low on fuel and was attempting to reach the Kerrville airport.

The family almost made it. Major Farrell, Thompson and others at the crash site said the aircraft needed only about another 20 feet of altitude to clear the ridge as it approached the airstrip.

Spencer Treharne, also of the First Texas Flying Service, said Sneed was "an excellent pilot" who knew the Kerrville airport.

First Texas Flying Service put five airplanes on the search and worked independently of the Civil Air Patrol, Treharne said.

A thick, low overcast kept searchers out of the air until Tuesday morning when the skies cleared.

Thompson and Waters "reenacted" the route that Sneed was following and found the Sneed plane "just about where we thought it would be," Thompson said. "It looked like they just ran out of fuel before getting over the ridge. It would have been downhill from there."

The crash site was about three miles northeast of the airport.

Atheist O'Hair claims in U.S. suit Nativity scene illegal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Starting early on her "year of litigation," atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair has filed a federal court suit to force state officials to remove a nativity scene from the Capitol rotunda.

Mrs. O'Hair said Tuesday that the scene is "sectarian" and as such, violates the principle of church-state separation.

"If they are going to have this, they should have Hanuka and a representation of the birth of Krishna," she told reporters.

She also asked the court to award her, her son Jon and "the class they represent" $9 million in punitive damages from the defendants, Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Attorney General John Hill and Homer Foerster, director of the State Board of Control.

Mrs. O'Hair held a news conference next to the 20-foot Christmas tree in the Capitol. The nativity scene is just beneath the bottom branches.

She said the tree doesn't offend her because it "is pagan and we are happy to see pagan symbols."

Asked how an atheist could accept even pagan symbols, Mrs. O'Hair said, "Everybody understands the pagan gods were made up by pagans. It's time everyone understands that Christian gods were made up by the Christians."

Her suit joins one filed previously in federal court to stop the Austin City Council from opening its weekly meetings with prayer.

She said Texans and Austinites could look forward to "a year of litigation" to end all religious activities by government.

"If you think the Negroes put up a good fight, or the women, wait until you see the atheists," Mrs. O'Hair said.

Her suit says maintaining the nativity scene or creche in the Capitol amounts to an unconstitutional "establishment of religion."

She also asked the court to require Briscoe, Hill and Foerster to answer 20 questions in writing, such as the meaning of the nativity scene "in Christian historical tradition."

Manpower agency probe continues

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Dealings among a language academy, the federal Manpower program and one of the program's former directors took the spotlight Tuesday as a Cameron County probe into the Manpower agency continued.

Most of the attention focused on a $3,000 loan former director E.A. Gonzalez made to Carlos Rodriguez, owner of the Texas Language Academy, which later received a federal contract.

Gonzalez's testimony came during a Court of Inquiry called by State District Court Judge Darrell Hester. A Court of Inquiry is a little-used legal procedure that is similar to a grand jury investigation.

Gonzalez said that in 1972 he loaned the money to Carlos Rodriguez, owner of the Texas Language Academy.

He told the court that in exchange for the loan, he was to receive a percentage of any profits. Gonzalez said there were no profits, and that Rodriguez paid back the loan.

The academy was the recipient of a $100,000 Department of Labor contract to train 24 unemployed Cameron County residents to become grocery store cashiers.

Rodriguez had said Monday that he had business dealings with Gonzalez's successor, Andy Muniz, including payment of a country club fee while negotiations for his grant were taking place.

Hester asked if there was any relationship between those dealings and the grant. "I won't say they're totally unrelated," Rodriguez said. "I thought it would do me some good somewhere along the line like anybody."

Gonzalez said the loan he made to Rodriguez in 1972 had no bearing on the academy grant, made in 1977.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There is some confusion and muddled thinking now so first make sure of your motivations and standpoints, then of your facts and figures. Later, you are able to gain the goodwill of those you like by letting them know you are aware of their wishes and aid them to obtain them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good time to take care of small annoying situations. Evening best spent in company of good friends.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Avoid arguments with a good friend or there could be a serious severance of connections. Don't be forceful with anyone.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get all the facts and figures connected with some project before you get into it. Don't go off on unwise tangents.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be careful of your good name and don't take any unnecessary risks. Don't be arrogant with those in authority or you get into deep trouble.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study obligations well and then know how best to discharge them. Try to please a loved one more.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Partners can be very demanding, but if you hold your ground you can come to a good understanding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Instead of complaining about the work ahead of you, get into it and get it done. Take care of a health matter that has kept you under the weather for so long.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Not a good time to consider entertainment or recreation now. A loved one may be out of sorts. Be careful in driving.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't take your anger out on closest ties. Regain your equilibrium and accomplish a good deal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Arguing with a partner could bring serious trouble so avoid and then you can accomplish a good deal. Be careful in motion of any kind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Some practical problem needs your undivided attention. Make property more functional and attractive as well.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get rid of that feeling of despondency and get to work and accomplish a good deal. Improve appearance and feel better.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have fascinating ideas early in life. Teach early to be disciplined and discriminating in order to avoid having a confusing life. There is the ability to think and understand lofty thoughts. The success here could be phenomenal.

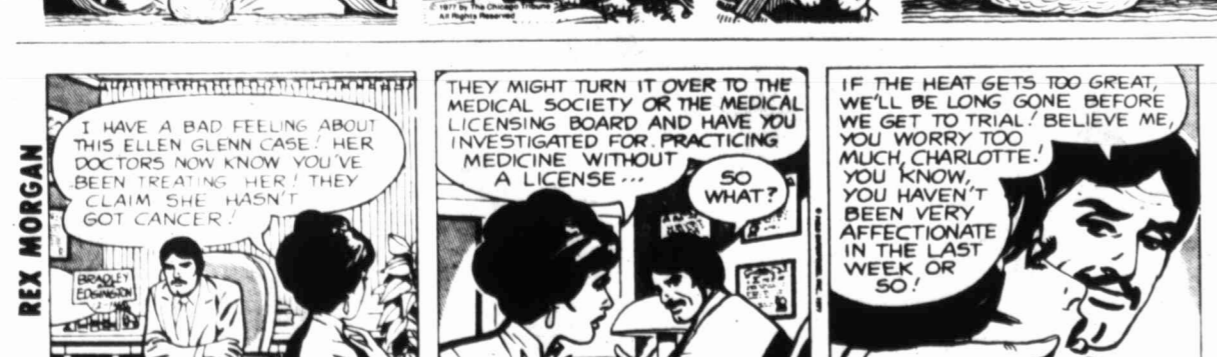

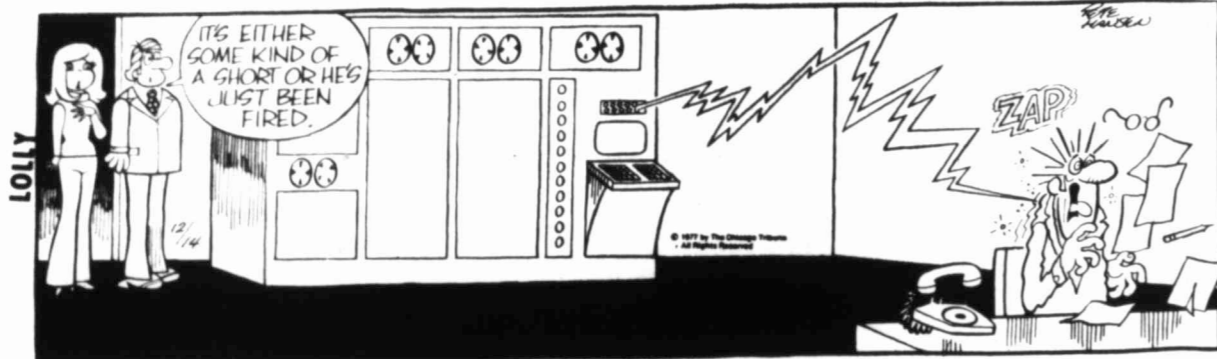

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The Crockleys at Christmas Trauma for all seasons

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Every December the Crockleys, a couple we met on a cruise years ago, check in with one of those mimeographed Christmas letters that for trauma and tribulation make a prime time suds opera like "Soap" sound like the worst of Louisa May Alcott.

We don't even recall what the Crockleys look like, it's been so long, but we feel we know them all intimately, better than our own kinfolk, from this annual inventory of family births, graduations, travels, marriages, operations and allied gossip. Granny Hotchkiss, Uncle Phil (the bachelor who is always going off somewhere to be cured of an unspecified ailment), the twins Enid and Persimmon, Aunt Eugenia (lonely, frail, keeper of some secret flame or scandal), the boys Tom, Elwood and Reggie (now grown up with children of their own) and baby Rudy (the last left in the nest) are forever going off on exotic vacations, taking up strange hobbies, changing from and getting into adventures one can hardly bear the 12-month wait between letters to catch up on.

Hearing from the Crockleys at Christmas is like having Dickens arrive on your doorstep with his analyst. My wife and I race each other to the mail box to find out what befell our favorite fun and frenzy family during the past year. Did Tom remarry? Is Uncle Phil cured and of what? Was Persimmon able to women's liberate the Yale wrestling team? Will Elwood ever come home?

Wait, it's here. The latest Christmas letter from the Crockleys:

"Dearest Friends,
"Hi there, again, and what a year it has been for all of us here at the ranch. You'll notice we've moved again. Daddy Crockley just had to carry out his dream of raising musk ox in Vermont. He's had the idea ever since President Nixon went to China and brought over a pair for the Peking Zoo. Mother Crockley, game for anything, just loves the big bovine ruminants, even if she did get a bad shock from the electrified fence last month.

"Speaking of accidents, Granny Hotchkiss broke her collarbone on Rudy's skate board going down Mather Hill and had to give up her tango lessons. For a while she and Uncle Phil were in the same hospital, but he was sent home after burning a hole in the sheets with his water pipe.

"Not to worry. They are both fine now. Uncle Phil is into transcendental meditation with Carmine Sutra, a guru from Butan he met on the all-night bus coming back from the sanitarium in Calgary. Phil brought him home for Thanksgiving. He speaks only Urdu but strums that sitar like a regular Johnny Cash and the twins were enchanted. But for her job down at the abattoir, all computerized now, Enid would have run off with him. You know what a romantic she is.

"The whole family was together at Thanksgiving for the first time in ages. Elwood walked in just as Aunt Eugenia was popping her bourbon brownies into the oven, giving us the happiest shock of our lives. He had been living with some Lapp reindeer herders in Saivomoutka, Sweden, and hadn't heard the Vietnam war was over. Elwood had some kind of operation out there and now wants to be called Elvira.

"Reggie and Kathy celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary in June. As usual, he was off on the gold cruise with his nuclear submarine somewhere under the North Atlantic, and she went to see "Jaws" to sort of be with him on their special day. Next Sunday we are all going over to the Beatrice Webb Nursery school to see their youngest, Nancy, almost 5 now, in "Oh! Calcutta!" What a cute idea, and it didn't cost Kathy or the other parents a sou for costumes.

"Tom and Rita, the new wife, went backpacking along the upper Amazon on their honeymoon, taking along both their sets of children to help with the long portages. There was some trouble coming through customs because Frampton, Rita's youngest nipper, wouldn't surrender his tarantula collection. She seems so right for Tom. Her analyst gave her away at the wedding and tore up half his bill as a present. Aunt Eugenia, who dotes on Tom, even danced at their wedding upstairs in the Moose Hall. "It did her so much good to get out after all those years, she consented to read her poems at the library. There was some fuss from a reactionary element who complained even D. H. Lawrence never used language like that.

"Persimmon dropped out of Yale, saying she didn't want to be a jock after all, and is now demonstrating water beds in the Claussen's window. Since the Crockleys are an ancient family, with a crest and a motto and for all we know a castle somewhere, we all crossed into Canada for the queen's jubilee and brought back a trunk load of duty free whiskey. So as another year of trips and tribulations and trials, plus a few laughs and many memories, draws to a close, we wish one and all the happiest of Christmas and a great New Year ahead. Be sure to keep in touch... from all the Crockleys."

'Way to go, Jackie Jo' Cowgirl homecoming

ANTLERS, Okla. (AP) — For just a moment Monday afternoon, world champion barrel racer Jackie Jo Perrin appeared to lose her composure.

But the freckled-faced 13-year-old quickly checked tears that had begun to well up, and sat smiling uncomfortably as her hometown welcomed her back. Several hundred of the town's 3,100 residents turned out under drizzly overcast skies to greet Jackie Jo.

The 88-pounder attracted national attention during the National Finals Rodeo Dec. 3-11 in Oklahoma City.

Not only was she the youngest contestant to ever compete in the championship rodeo, she was the first to win girls rookie of the year and the world title at the same time.

The eighth grader finished ahead of 14 other top Girls Rodeo Association barrel racers to win the championship.

When she returned home Monday afternoon, she was surprised to find two dozen horseback riders, nearly every Antlers student, a crowd of neighbors and family friends and all of the town's dignitaries waiting to greet her.

Jackie Jo got a bigger homecoming reception than this small southeastern Oklahoma town has ever given anyone.

Killer loses review bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Condemned Texas murderer Kenneth Albert Brock lost his bid today to have the Supreme Court review the death sentence he received for the 1974 slaying of a Houston grocery store clerk.

The court refused to hear Brock's 13-point appeal attacking his sentence and his conviction.

Brock was convicted in the shooting death of Michael Sedita, a night clerk at a Houston grocery store on May 21, 1974. Brock was in the process of robbing the store when spotted by a passing policeman.

Brock fled on foot, taking Sedita hostage. He shot Sedita after the clerk fell down in an apparent attempt to escape.

Brock's appeal centered on his trial's jury selection and what his attorney called an inappropriate application of the death penalty in the case.

Director Clyde Bell said.

"Heck, we haven't ever had a celebrity like her before. We didn't really know what to do."

The Antlers High School band played "Everything's Coming Up Roses" as the champ stepped up on a gaily decorated flatbed trailer.

She was given a queen's bouquet of red roses as she stood among town council members, horse club representatives and other dignitaries.

Then in quick succession she got two plaques, a horse warmup coat, a corsage of $5 bills and a lifetime membership in the Kiamichi Country Saddle Club.

"Jackie Jo, you've probably done more to pull us all together than anyone I know," Mayor Charles Uhles said.

"We're all proud of you and proud you're from Antlers and Pushmataha County."

When the red-haired champ stepped to the microphone she didn't make much of a speech.

Jackie Jo thanked everyone for coming out, singling out her classmates for special thanks, and then gave her parents credit for supporting her as she rode in more than 62 rodeos and then won the 10-performance finals in Oklahoma City.

"I don't know what else to say," she said.

Her O'Buck Junior High School classmates carried her to school on their shoulders past downtown store windows bearing white shoe polish slogans such as "Welcome Home World Champ" and "Way To Go, Jackie Jo."

As she disappeared down the block, her father said, "It's sure good to be back home and know people care so much about you."

Mike's home ... Where's Booger?

Talked with ex-Steer Mike Harris Monday. He's home for the holidays from East Texas State University.

Mike was the Steers' leading rusher in 1976, with 242 yards gained on 58 carries — a 4.17 average. As a freshman for the Lions this year, he didn't see much action, relegated mainly to a few kickoff returning chores.

But the 6-3, 210-pounder will no doubt be kept busy next season. Recruited mainly for his size and talent at the tight end slot, Mike was faced with playing behind two senior tight ends this year.

He indicated that ETSU should be much stronger next year, and if they could just find a quarterback, they would be formidable indeed in 1978.

Told Mike that Booger Brooks was rumored to be interested in that school. Unfortunately, I was thinking of Angelo State at the time. Ol' "Snowcloud Roy" Ivie from the Standard Times informed me during the last Steer football game this year that rumors were rampant that the talented QB might opt for the Rams.

Roy said Tuesday that ol' Boogeroo Brooks would probably forget the gridiron and ride rodeo for Tarleton State.

At any rate Mike, sorry that I had Booger joining you at Lion Country.

Hawk Coach Harold Wilder has been experimenting with different lineups in hopes of breaking through a four-game losing streak the Hoopsters are currently waging through.

Wilder has augmented his original starting big, power guys — Joe Cooper, Russell Sublet, Eugene Williams, Allen Bonds and Casey Wilder — with a three-guard offense featuring Elroy Green, Russell Sublet and Allen Bonds at guards, Eugene Williams (center) and Elmer Johnson at forward.

"That lineup may be small, but they're very quick," said Wilder. The Hawk Coach has also experimented with substituting Johnny James for Allen Bonds in the original five, to make a very tall quintet.

The slowest conference start for a local Hawk squad in a long time may still have a chance for recovery. But with only 12 conference tilts remaining, HC would probably have to win all but one to make the regional tournament.

That's going to be a tall order for Santa Claus in this year's WJAC. All the teams are tough.

Bob Hope will become an honorary member of The Harlem Globetrotters Thursday, Dec. 22, according to president Stan Greeson.

Hope had this to say about the invitation to become a member: "To be perfectly frank, I deserve to be a Globetrotter. For the past four years, I've been chasing O.J. Simpson through airports. The fact that I can't catch him should have no bearing on the honor. In fact, I was recently given an award for completing my first million miles — and that was just to and from airports."

"I understand the Harlem Globetrotters have starred in 94 countries. So have I, and I'll keep going until I find one that'll let me stay. The Trotters are famed for making baskets. I've been making baskets myself lately, and if the psychiatrists let me out for an hour, I'll be there for your presentation."

Sports Banquet tonight

According to Big Spring Quarterback Club Co-captain Jerry Foresyth, there are still a few tickets left for tonight's Big Spring Steers' Fall Banquet.

Tickets will be sold at the door and are $3 per person. The Banquet is sponsored by the Big Spring Quarterback Club and all proceeds go to support Big Spring athletics.

Sales have assured that the high school cafeteria will be at near capacity tonight at 8 o'clock, when this year's football and volleyball teams are honored. All sports teams at the high school will also be guests.

Bunny Martin, magician, yo-yo expert and charismatic speaker will be in attendance. Martin has performed at sports functions throughout the southern United States and is a personal favorite of the Dallas Cowboys.

Fourteen members of the team, Coach Bobby Watson and nine others traveling to a game in Tennessee peached Tuesday night when their chartered DC-3 plane crashed in flames.

McCutchan, who stepped down at the end of the 1976-77 season after coaching 31 years and compiling a 514-314 record, was asked to help identify the players.

Teamwide tragedies have recent history

By the Associated Press

The crash of a chartered plane carrying the University of Evansville basketball team was the latest in a series of crashes having teamwide impact.

Fourteen members of the Evansville team, their coach and 14 other people were killed Tuesday night when a DC-3 crashed in fog and rain shortly after takeoff at Dress Regional airport, police said.

The entire Marshall University football team — 45 players and nine coaches — was killed on Nov. 12, 1970, when its plane crashed while approaching an airport in Huntington, W. Va.

One of two planes carrying members of the Wichita State football team crashed Oct. 2, 1970, in Colorado en route to Logan, Utah, killing 14 players.

Sixteen players on the California Poly at San Luis Obispo football club died on Oct. 29, 1960, when their chartered plane went down in Toledo, Ohio, after a game against Bowling Green.

Eighteen members of the U.S. Olympic figure skating team died when their craft crashed in Belgium on Feb. 15, 1961 en route to the world championships in Czechoslovakia.

European teams also have been hit hard. Eight members of England's Manchester United soccer team were killed in a plane crash near Munich, Germany, in February 1959. Ten years earlier, the Italian championship soccer team Torino of Turin was wiped out when its plane crashed in the center of Turin.

Midland Lee coach resigns

MIDLAND — Star-crossed Jim Acree, head football coach at Midland Lee High School, has submitted his resignation to school administrators.

Acree, former SMU coaching aide, has been at Lee the past eight seasons. He has been under intense pressure since the 1977 season began.

Acree's 1977 season began on probation by the District 5-AAAA executive committee Aug. 24 for violating University Interscholastic League rules which prohibits the use of illegal contact equipment during the first four days of fall practice.

Though the school trustees acted recently to retain Acree during the 1978 season, speculation has been rife in recent weeks that Acree had decided not to return.

Steers to enter Reese AFB Classic tourney

LUBBOCK — The Third Annual Reese AFB Christmas Classic high school basketball tournament will be played in the Reese gym this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and the Big Spring Steers will be in the middle of the President's trophy division fight.

The first game each day will begin at 10 a.m., but the Bovines will meet Morton at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in their first-round battle. Games will be played every hour and a half, with the final game of the day beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The sixteen participating teams have been divided into two divisions. The eight large schools will be participating in the President's Trophy Division, and the eight small schools in the Commander's Trophy Division. Each team is guaranteed to play three games, one each day, as both divisions will decide their champion through a traditional single elimination bracket.

This year's Classic promises to be the most exciting yet with the return of not just two, but three defending champions from last year's Classic. That is because Abilene Cooper and Morton who were declared co-champions of last year's Landry prefers to play 'whomever'

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry is refusing to play the "who-he-wants-in-the-playoffs-game."

Either Chicago or Minnesota will meet the Dallas Cowboys in the first round of the National Conference playoffs Dec. 26 in Texas Stadium.

A writer slipped Landry — still groggy on only two hours sleep after a wild 42-35 victory over San Francisco Monday night — a sneak question at the Cowboy coach's weekly press conference Tuesday.

"Would you prefer Chicago or Minnesota?" Landry was asked.

Landry laughed off the question and then proceeded to list reasons why either team would provide formidable opposition.

"I do know that Walter Payton is a problem," said Landry of Chicago's record-smashing runner. "He doesn't look like he's doing anything and he's got 100 yards. He lets you know he is in town.

"Minnesota has all that playoff experience and the Vikes can beat you on any given day. Tommy Kramer may be a rookie quarterback but he can get hot."

Landry was amazed at the high-scoring aspects of the 49er-Cowboy national television joust.

Browns look for new coach

CLEVELAND (AP) — Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns, said Tuesday the search will begin immediately for a successor to stormy tempered Coach Forrest Gregg, who has resigned.

Modell said, "I've tried to follow a system of internal growth, but maybe it's time to go outside (the organization) for some new thinking and new perspective."

"We'll pick the best man for the job, regardless of his popularity or recognition," Modell added. "Name value is not important and we'll proceed with deliberate speed."

Plane crash stuns ex-coach

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Arad McCutchan, who spent three decades building the University of Evansville into a small college basketball power, had the tragic task of identifying the bodies of players he had recruited.

Fourteen members of the team, Coach Bobby Watson and nine others traveling to a game in Tennessee peached Tuesday night when their chartered DC-3 plane crashed in flames.

McCutchan, who stepped down at the end of the 1976-77 season after coaching 31 years and compiling a 514-314 record, was asked to help identify the players.

"I keep thinking about all the people who have to learn about it," said the man who led the Aces to five national Division II championships. "People like the families and wives of our group. I don't know who to call 'cause I know how hurt they're going to be."

"There were 24 of our people on the plane. At times like this you must turn around and face things," he said, choking back tears.

"But I've never had to face anything like this."

Assistant coach Ernon Simpson was in Owensboro, Ky., on a recruiting trip Tuesday night. He was watching a high school game when he was paged and told Sloan retired from the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association two years ago and is an assistant coach with the Bulls.

Buse, who led Evansville's 1971 club to the NCAA title, now plays with the NBA's Phoenix Suns.

"That's terrible," he said. "I had never had anything like that happen to me, you know, where it happens to someone you know..."

"I had met the coach this spring. He was a heckuva nice guy and I thought he was going to do really well there. I'm just at a loss for words."

Borden County teams win big

GAIL — Both Borden County High School varsity basketball teams took wins Tuesday night over their respective O'Donnell opponents.

Blaine Dyess and Ty Zant led the Coyotes with 11 points each, as BC tripped OD, 54-49.

Talley Griffin scorched the cords for 30 markers, as the fens easily handled the visitors, 57-22.

Monte Hall would have trouble making this deal

HONOLULU — Most of the ballplayers traded on busy Wednesday were named Mike Parrott, Tommy Moore, Carlos Lopez, Joe Kerrigan, Randy Miller, Don Stanhouse and Bryn Smith. There's a reason for this.

In the present scheme of things, Lyman Bostock, Larry Hise, Mike Torres, Goose Gossage, Elliott Maddox, Ron Blomberg, the big ones, the recognizable ones, trade themselves. The Lords of Baseball deal in Bloomington's basement stuff. They have no other choice. Their game, right down to the trading of talent, has been taken away from them.

Do you realize that, for one brief moment, Al Hrabosky was traded by the Cardinals to Kansas City? The deal was called off when the Cardinals learned it would cost them $100,000, payable to Al Hrabosky, because of hidden bonus clauses in his contract.

You wouldn't believe some of the things that are surfacing. Only now are some of the clubowners and most of the general managers awakening to the clauses they have agreed to in the contract with the players' union.

INCENTIVES . . . A NEW TERM

Marvin Miller, who occasionally writes a column under the name of Red Smith, is the head of the players' union. He has, single-handedly, reversed the capitalistic system. Under his interpretations, the employees run the company. They tell the boss what he may and may not do.

Al Hrabosky has written into his contract numerous covenants called "incentives." This is another facet of the bright new world. Being paid a salary of $100,000 or $200,000 no longer is incentive enough to work hard. The modern athlete needs a little something extra to make him hustle, to achieve.

And so it was stipulated in Al Hrabosky's contract that he would receive an extra $12,500 if he made the All-Star team in 1978, and $12,500 if he made it in 1979. He would receive $12,500 if he were a Cy Young winner next season, or the season after. And another bonus if he were MVP. There were a couple of lesser awards for making something like the Topps Bubble Gum team, and it all came to $100,000 over two years.

You might think it would be a simple matter to transfer these obligations to Al Hrabosky's new team, but no. It doesn't work that way. If he is traded, he needn't wait to win those awards. He collects right now. The team trading

The Mets got Tim Lincecum in what they call a "clean contract," meaning salary only, no tricks, no eternal commitments. There are players on the market here, would you believe, who will be paid past the year 2000 under their deferred payments. Kansas City is loaded with these distant obligations.

Amos Otis, from the day he retires, is to receive $25,000 a year for 25 years. George Brett, after he stops playing, gets $50,000 per for 10 years.

Paul Splittorff gets $16,000 for 15 years. The Texas Rangers tried throughout the meetings to unload Bert Blyleven, and finally made it via a frenetic four team deal that must have been put together by Bert Lance. It was only six months ago that Texas tied up Blyleven by contracting to pitch him through 1987 and pay him not to pitch at $110,000 per, through the year 2004 AD.

A dozen or more teams turned down that financial burden before Pittsburgh decided to assume it. (As for the Mets' end of the four-teamer, I'm not crazy about it. They could have had longhopper John Mayberry and lefty Andy Hassler from KC for Jerry Kosman. That seems better).

USUALLY DAMAGED GOODS

So, if a name player is traded, it's usually a piece of damaged goods, like Andy Messersmith, and even then his permission was required before the Yankees and Braves could finalize the deal.

It's like the perceptive Dave Kingman told Don Grant last spring: "You owners aren't running this game any more. We are." It's the owners' fault. They signed without looking.

"We have met the enemy," said Walter O'Malley yesterday, "and it is ourselves."

Dallas can't afford to coast against Denver

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Experience tells the Dallas Cowboys that they can't afford to coast Sunday when they meet the Denver Broncos in their National Football League regular-season finale.

The game will match the Cowboys, whose 11-2 record is the best in the National Football League.

A year ago Dallas took an 11-2 record into its last game against Washington and lost. Their momentum lost, the Cowboys also lost their first-round playoff game to Los Angeles.

"We can't let up," emphasized running back Preston Pearson, who caught a 36-yard touchdown pass and scored on a 3-yard run in Monday night's wild 42-35 victory over the San Francisco 49ers in a nationally televised game.

"If we let up now, we'll let up when it really counts."

"Last year we lost to Washington and it carried over into the playoffs," noted defensive end Harvey Martin. "Defensively, we've got to be a whole lot better against Denver. We want to beat them and enjoy the momentum."

"For either team, a victory is going to be a boost," said cornerback Benny Barnes. "Hopefully by the time the playoffs come around there won't be a letdown like there was tonight (against the 49ers)."

The Cowboys entered the game with the NFC's best defense, surrendering just 101 yards per game passing. But the 49ers, behind quarterback Jim Plunkett, passed for 269 yards and four touchdowns.

"The guys on defense feel like we only survived the game," said Barnes. "We expected them to run the ball more. We got away from our zones and started playing manto-man and it hurt us."

"Our offense was excellent," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It's the best offense we've had in a time. Of course, the defense wasn't too good. Maybe this game will help us. We expected a tough game."

"We'll go up against Denver head-to-head," said Landry. "We'll play everybody. We want to play well against them."

Rookie Tony Dorsett, who rushed for 92 yards Monday night, moving to within 43 yards of a 1,000-yard season, virtually was the only

Cowboys' player to downplay the importance of the Denver game, perhaps because he wasn't around for the end of last season.

"We'd like to win to get the momentum going into the playoffs, but if we don't, it's nothing to cry about," he said. "We've accomplished what we set out to do — get into the playoffs."

Forsan squads beat Westbrook

FORSAN — Both boys and girls varsity teams from Forsan took easy wins over Westbrook Tuesday night.

The Buffaloes remained unbeaten at 12-0 with the 73-48 victory. Dennis Baggett and Randy Cregar led the Buff scoring surge with 18 and 17 points, respectively. Angel Miranda followed with 11, Tom Posey added nine, Gary Martin hit eight, Craig Clark sunk seven, Kevin Low got two and Martin Schattel hit one.

Terry Webb and Daryl Rich scored 20 and 10 points, respectively, for Westbrook.

The Forsan girls (9-8), breezed to a 76-42 win on the efforts of leading scorer Valerie Stevens (24 points).

Other Forsan fems in the scoring column were Kristi Adams with 15, Julie Poyner with 12, Jaylene Saunders (10), Monica Dyess (8), Lisa Day (5) and Lisa McMillan (2).

Rene Lopez and Tammy Dorn led Westbrook with 20 and 15 points.

The Forsan boys travel to Stanton for a 6:30 p.m. contest Friday, and then all three Buff squads host Roscoe Monday night beginning at 5 p.m.

Jazz wail before 31,119

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Coach Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers says he hopes fans in Houston tonight will be understanding about the incident that left his team short-handed in a loss to the New Orleans Jazz.

The Jazz, led by Pete Maravich with 40 points and Leonard "Truck" Robinson with 26 rebounds, beat the Lakers 117-94 in a National Basketball Association game before 31,119 fans Tuesday night.

A trade and a suspension forced the Lakers to fly in Jamaal Wilkes, sick with the flu, from Los Angeles so the team could suit up the required eight players.

A trade earlier in the day had sent James Edwards and Earl Tatum to Indiana for Adrian Dantley and Dave Robisch, who didn't arrive in time for the New Orleans game.

Also missing from the Lakers was Kermit Washington, out with a 60-day suspension for breaking the nose and jaw of Rudy Tomjanovich of the Houston Rockets, whom the Lakers play tonight.

West and the Laker players wouldn't comment on the suspension. In response to a question, West said he hoped fans in Houston, where the Lakers play tonight, would understand that an incident like that could happen anywhere.

Tuesday night's game attracted the second-largest crowd at a single game in NBA history. The largest, 35,077, was at the Superdome last month to watch the Jazz and Philadelphia 76ers.

The Lakers, paced by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar with 33 points and 16 rebounds, led the Jazz early, but the Jazz took the lead by out-scoring Los Angeles 20-2 during one stretch in the second period.

The Jazz led 49-48 at halftime and 77-71 after three quarters and pulled away in the fourth. The victory snapped a seven-game losing streak for New Orleans and lifted the Jazz record to 12-15. Los Angeles fell to 10-16.

A spokesman said the Rangers sent lefthander John Poloni and "cash" for Jenkins who is returning to Texas after a two-year absence.

Jenkins, 34, first came to Texas in 1974 from the Chicago Cubs for Bill Madlock and in his first year as a Ranger he posted a 25-12 record to win the Comeback Player of the Year award.

Grady quintets win two out of three

IRA — Two of the three Grady High School roundball clubs won games over Ira Tuesday night.

The JV boys won their opening game of the season, 40-27. Scorers for the Wildcats were Eli Silva (14), Larry Key (12), Brad Tunnell (6) and Tim Tate, Terry Kirkwood, Ruben Gutierrez and Ron Deatridge, all with two each. Roy Mitchell led Ira with 16.

The Grady girls exploded in the final quarter for 27 points to edge the strong Ira fems, 53-50, improving their record to 6-6 in the process.

Scoring for Grady were Faye Welch (36), Ginger Madison (15) and Tammy Nelson (2). Kim Layne led Ira with 20 markers, while relative Donna Layne followed with 16. Kristi Hughes and Cindy Huddleston added 12 and two points, respectively.

The Wildcat boys also mounted a furious fourth quarter drive, outscoring Ira 21-12 then, but the effort fell two points short, and GHS lost 63-61.

Alex Perez led Grady with 18 points, as Mark Tate and Jimmy Mitchell added 14 apiece. Other GHS scorers included: Leland Key (5), Ronald Chee (4), Joe Lozano (4) and Roy Madison (2).

Leading scorers for the Bulldogs were Jimmy Hall with 18, Fred Kesner with 12, David Mosley (16) and Keith Bryant (9).

Sands team defeated

JAYTON — The Sands Mustangs dropped from the ranks of the unbeaten

Ponies' record now stands at 16-1, and will open district play next Tuesday against Borden County.

Leading scorers for Sands were Martin Nichols (14), Larry Feaster (12), David Lund (8) and Van Gaskins (6).

The SHS girls also felt the sting of Jayton's bite, falling by a 71-46 reading. Susan Martin and Jill Floyd were the only scorers for the Fillies, with 23 points each.

Sands' varsity boys team will visit Big Spring Thursday to play the Steer JV's in Steer Gym at 8 o'clock.

Stanton's 5's klobber KHS

STANTON — Both Stanton varsity squads continued their dominance of the hardwoods by sweeping two games from Klondike Tuesday night.

Tommy Morrow's 17 points led the boys to a 62-40 decision, while the Buff fems held on for a 55-53 win over a scrappy group of Cougarettes.

Swimmers lose tough meet

The Big Spring High School swim team turned in a pretty good showing against Monahans this past weekend, but eventually fell to the powerful team.

In the girls' 104-65 loss, Laura Robbins was the high-pointer for the Steers. She was a member of the medley relay team which took second, placed second in the 200 Intermediate, and took first place honors in the 100 Butterfly.

Bill Hart led the boys in their 108-62 loss. He was a member of the first-place medley relay team and also took first place in the 100 Butterfly.

Mark Spannaus also took first place in the 100 Breast, and Kirk Nelson finished right behind him.

The swimmers' journey to San Angelo this weekend for a meet and will be entered in the Texas Tech Invitational Swim Meet Jan 6-7

Notre Dame over Texas and other fairy tales

NEW YORK (AP) — After last season's bowl predictions, the question was what were we going to do for an encore?

Certainly you remember that this corner called the correct winners of all 11 bowl games, exclusive of the Independence Bowl.

This time, we have an additional treat in store for you. Not only are we going to take a crack at all 13 bowl games — including the Independence — but we're going to do it twice — once on a won-lost basis and also against the point spread.

The final week of the regular season, by the way, produced a 21-7-1 mark for a .750 percentage, bringing the season's count to 568-227-16 — .714.

We'll run down the bowl games in order, but to give you a sneak preview and so you don't have to jump to the end to find out our Cotton Bowl pick, it's Notre Dame over Texas.

Independence Bowl — Louisiana Tech, 7-1-2, vs. Louisville, 7-3-1, no line; Maxie Lambright's Louisiana Tech Bulldogs are a perennial power in the Southland Conference and they have a potent aerial game with Keith Thibodeaux pitching and Rod Poppe catching. Vince Gibson's Louisville Cardinals can run the ball, but Tech has one of the nation's top defenses, too. Strangely enough, we're picking...Louisville 21-14.

Liberty Bowl — Nebraska, 8-3, favored by 6 over North Carolina, 8-2-1: When Oklahoma polished off Nebraska 38-7, Coach Barry Switzer crowed, "We're going to the beach (Miami), not the river (Mississippi). Nebraska's at the river when they'd rather be at the beach. This formula's called desire...North Carolina 24-21.

Hall of Fame Classic — Maryland, 7-4, favored by 7½ over Minnesota, 7-4; Minnesota's Gophers must have peaked in that 16-0 upset of Michigan because they haven't been very impressive since. The Terps injuries should have healed by now...Maryland 24-10.

Tangerine Bowl — Texas Tech, 7-4, favored by 7 over Florida State, 8-2: This one presents a formula known as the lame duck coach. It's Steve Sloan's finale at Tech as he heads for Ole Miss. That's got to hurt the Red Raiders, no matter how fired up they are. Besides, the Tangerine Bowl's in Florida State's neighborhood...Florida State 27-17.

Fiesta Bowl — Penn State, 10-1, favored by 6½ over Arizona State, 9-2: This is one of those formulas where Penn State really has nothing to gain while Arizona State is itching to knock off a big-name team like the Nittany Lions, just as it did to Nebraska two years ago. But Joe Paterno keeps saying this could be his best team ever and Joe usually says what he means. Forget the formula. Penn State 28-14.

Gator Bowl — Pitt, 8-2-1, favored by 7 over Clemson, 8-2-1: Same reasoning as the Fiesta Bowl. Clemson is striving for big-time recognition, but Pitt has too many guns...Pitt 35-21.

Sun Bowl — Louisiana State, 7-3, favored by 3½ over Stanford, 8-3: A game of contrasts — LSU's Charles Alexander, one of the nation's top runners, against Stanford's Guy Benjamin, one of the top passers. LSU has been here before and the Tigers should know enough to keep their distance from friendly Juarez, Mexico. In a wild one...LSU 38-31.

Peach Bowl — Iowa State, 8-3, favored by 2½ over North Carolina State, 7-4: The Cyclones from the Big Eight Conference finally got a bowl invitation after being overlooked a year ago. It's up to them to make the most of it...Iowa State 26-13.

Bluebonnet Bowl —

Southern California, 7-4, favored by 4 over Texas A&M, 7-3: In John McKay's last college game, USC embarrassed A&M 20-0 in the 1975 Liberty Bowl. McKay is gone — but the Aggies haven't forgotten...Texas A&M 28-21.

Rose Bowl — Michigan, 10-1, favored by 13½ over Washington, 7-4: Are you aware that Michigan hasn't won its final game since beating Ohio State 17-3 in 1966? Since then, the Wolverines have dropped three Rose Bowls, one Orange Bowl and are 0-4-1 when they closed out with regular-season windups. Time for a change...Michigan 35-14.

Sugar Bowl — Alabama, 10-1, favored by 1½ over Ohio State, 9-2: In combined victories, no coaching match-up in history — in a bowl or anywhere else — can match Alabama's Bear Bryant (27) vs. Ohio State's Woody Hayes (231). Even Woody has to play second fiddle to the Bear...Alabama 24-14.

Orange Bowl — Oklahoma, 10-1, favored by 13 over Arkansas, 10-1: Why the large spread between a pair of 10-1 teams? While Arkansas was struggling to beat Texas Tech 17-14 in its last game, Oklahoma was drubbing Nebraska 38-7, after crushing Oklahoma State 61-28. Get the picture? It looks like...Oklahoma 27-17.

Cotton Bowl — Texas, 11-0, favored by 6½ over Notre Dame, 10-1: If Texas wins, the Longhorns are the national champs. That would be too cut-and-dried. If Notre Dame wins, however, imagine all the fun when the final AP poll comes out. The controversy might last forever...Notre Dame 24-23.

KEEPS YOUNG BY YELLING — Wearing a self-coined Los Angeles Rams Super Bowl sweatshirt, 66-year-old Gypsy Boots sits on the sidelines ringing his bells and rooting for the Rams in a recent game. Gypsy, who refers to himself as the "ageless athlete," has been rooting for teams the past 55 years, starting with Red Grange's last game. While walking on his hands Gypsy said, "I keep young by exercising my mouth by yelling."

Trading brisk in NBA

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Coach Bobby Leonard, another blockbuster trade under his belt, is rapidly becoming the premier wheel-dealer in the National Basketball Association.

For the third time since last summer, the Indiana Pacers have shuffled off their proven stars in hopes of winning a few more games. This time, it's high-scoring forward Adrian Dantley.

Everything in this business a lot of times is a gamble, but we feel like it's a pretty good gamble," said Leonard, whose Pacers finished fifth in the sixteen Midwest Division last season. Over the summer, he dealt away All-Star forward Billy Knight, the NBA's No. 2 scorer, and All-Star guard Don Buse, who led the league in assists and steals.

Then on Tuesday, lodged in fourth place seven games behind division-leading Denver, the Pacers sent Dantley, last year's NBA Rookie of the Year, to the Los Angeles Lakers. Dantley, obtained from Buffalo in the Knight trade, is the third-leading scorer in the league this season with a 26.5-point average.

In return, the Pacers got 7-foot-1 rookie James Edwards, flashy guard Earl Tatum and an undisclosed amount of cash. The Lakers also obtained reserve center Dave Robisch, a six-year veteran, in the deal.

Dantley fills an unexpected void for Los Angeles, which lost forward Kermit Washington for at least 60 days when he was suspended and fined $10,000 for slugging Houston's Rudy Tomjanovich.

After winning the Pacific Division last year, the Lakers were 10½ games back of Portland in fourth place before Tuesday night's game at New Orleans.

"I'm dealing in cold, hard facts about basketball," said Leonard, who also is Pacers general manager. "I can't recall a team being a contender, getting in the playoffs, whatever, without a big center."

In Edwards, a Laker third-round draft choice from the University of Washington, the Pacers have their first seven-footer and a player Leonard thinks has high potential.

But Dantley, the only NBA player so far this year to gain 200 points, 200 free throws and 200 rebounds, was a high price to pay.

"For the time being maybe we give up a little bit at forward," Leonard said. "We may add a forward. It's easier to get a forward than it is a 7-foot, 1-inch center."

Security tightened for Rockets-Lakers match

HOUSTON (AP) — Added security measures are planned for tonight's National Basketball Association game between the Houston Rockets and Los Angeles Lakers in anticipation of fan reaction to Kermit Washington's one-punch fight last week with Houston's Rudy Tomjanovich.

A Summit spokesman declined to say what security measures would be taken. "It may be an emotional game, but it won't be a violent one," the spokesman said.

Washington has been suspended 60 days without pay and fined $10,000 for decking Tomjanovich in a game last week in Los Angeles. Tomjanovich remains in a Los Angeles hospital with a fractured jaw, nose, skull and concussion.

A spokesman for the NBA office in New York said Summit representatives have been in close contact with Jack Joyce, the league's director of security.

The NBA spokesman called the precautions extraordinary.

Washington punched Tomjanovich in the face as Tomjanovich came in to break up a fight between Washington and Rocket teammate Kevin Kunnert.

Washington said he thought he was being attacked and didn't know it was Tomjanovich.

Tomjanovich, who talked Tuesday morning with Rocket guard Calvin Murphy, disputed Washington's story.

"Rudy said their eyes met just before the punch," Murphy said. "He said he should have known that Kermit was crazy and should have put his hands up."

Murphy also said "He (Tomjanovich) told me the doctor said he was lucky to be alive."

Rupp services draw ex-players

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Adolph Rupp, eulogized as a man who strove for excellence in all things, was buried Tuesday as many of his former players paid a final tribute to their coach.

Rupp, who in 42 years transformed the University of Kentucky's basketball program into a national power, was buried after a brief funeral service.

Rupp, 76, died Saturday night at the UK Medical Center, where he had been hospitalized since Nov. 9. He suffered more than a year from cancer of the spine, and was also plagued by diabetes and heart and kidney ailments.

Among the players on hand were representatives of each of Rupp's four NCAA champions — Wah Wah Jones and Ralph Beard from the 1948 and 1949 teams dubbed "The Fabulous Five"; Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey from the 1951 titlists, and Vernon Hatton, Adrian Smith and John Crigler from "The Fiddlin' Five" of 1958.

Dr. M. Glynn Burke, pastor of Central Christian Church where Rupp was a member, characterized college basketball's winningest coach as a man whose life "was a quest for excellence."

"He wanted to bring out the best in the game itself, the best in each of his players, the best in his teams. He wanted first-class performance and wasn't satisfied with anything less," Burke said.

Rupp won 874 games in 42 seasons, including the four NCAA titles, a National Invitation Tournament crown and 27 Southeastern Conference championships.

Rupp was buried in a brown suit, his traditional uniform during his years with the Kentucky Wildcats, in a private graveside ceremony.

Dear Abby

Make Them Help With the Dishes

DEAR ABBY: Christmas is coming soon and I dread it. I belong to a large family and we all go to Mom's for Christmas dinner. Some of us bring prepared dishes and help fix the rest of the meal once we get there. After dinner all the men retire to the living room, and along with them go a couple of their wives. The wives just sit without even offering to help with the dishes or to clean up the mess. It's always the same ones. They arrive with their husbands and children just in time to eat, and they never lift a finger to help.

How would you word it to let them know that they are expected to pitch in and help?

HAD ENOUGH IN VA.

DEAR HAD: Use the direct approach. Go into the living room and ask for "volunteers" for K.P. duty. And if they don't volunteer—draft 'em!

DEAR ABBY: A very likeable and popular girl whom we shall call "Ya' know" is driving us all batty with a habit she has acquired.

Her otherwise intelligent conversation is punctuated by frequent and seemingly endless "ya' knows."

We are so distracted by all those "ya' knows" in every sentence that we would like to say something to her, but we don't want to hurt her feelings or get her angry at us. Any suggestions?

HER FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: Tell "ya' know" in a friendly, nonjudgmental manner, and observe her reaction. If she appreciates being made aware of this distracting habit and says she'd like to overcome it, offer to help her further by responding, "Yes, I know" each time she drops a "ya' know" into a sentence.

But if she resents your well-intentioned criticism, say no more and accept her, "ya' knows" and all.

DEAR ABBY: The other day I came across a poem that seems to state perfectly my reason for writing to you:

"Daughter has her master's Son his Ph.D. But Dad is the only one Who has a J-O-B."

My husband is ready to retire and we still have all four of our grown, college-educated children living with us. We love them all, but we can't go on supporting them forever. With no jobs and little money, there is little likelihood of their marrying and giving us grandchildren before our lives are over.

Dad and I can't figure out if it's the fear of a challenge, love of their parents or laziness that keeps our children at home and jobless. We are not people of means, and we haven't spoiled any of them. They all have worked hard for their educations, but their lives have come to a dead stop. Where do we go from here?

M. FROM MASS.

DEAR M: YOU don't go anywhere. But your college-educated children should go daily in search of employment, and keep going until they land something. If they can't find jobs for which they are trained, they should take whatever they can get in the meantime.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am money-minded when I probably should have only "love" on my mind, but I have a question to ask. I am engaged to be married soon, and my fiance and I have never talked about money. I know he has a good job, but I don't know how much he makes. I don't even know if he carries any insurance other than what he has on his car.

SOON-TO-BE-BRIDE

I work and intend to continue for a while after I'm married, but I don't know if I should plan on supporting myself or not. Should we have a joint checking and savings account? Would it be wrong of me to bring up these things before we are married?

DEAR BRIDE: It would be wrong NOT to! Every couple should set up a budget together before marriage and decide how much to allow for rent, entertainment, insurance, clothing, etc. And be sure you allow for possible illnesses and accidents. (All kinds!)

Getting married? No matter how little you have to spend or how unconventional your lifestyle, it can be lovely. Send for Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Cause and remedy of bus incident still a mystery

About two weeks ago, a bus containing students from Goliad and Runnels Junior High Schools and Big Spring High School was disrupted by student rowdiness and the bus driver stopped the bus and made all the students walk home.

In an interview last week, Harlan Huijbregtse, principal of Goliad Junior High School said that he had received only one complaint of student misbehavior aboard buses before this incident.

"It was several weeks ago; the offenders supposedly went out the back door."

He said that he had no idea who caused the unrest.

"I don't know; I don't ride the bus."

As to what he attributed the rebellious actions of the students, he stated:

"I don't know."

Huijbregtse said that he guessed offenders should be put off the bus, and added that he did not know what should be done to students who were not participating in the rowdiness.

He said that he believed that school bus drivers were required to take a course on driving and on procedures to follow if students act up, but added that he had nothing to do with such a course.

Community figures recall favorite childhood gifts

BY DUSTY RICHARD

As yet another Christmas rolls around, memories often turn to Christmases past. The Herald contacted a few Big Springers to find out the presents that had impressed them most as children.

George Weeks, co-owner of Gibbs and Weeks, remembers best a bicycle he received when he was about eight. He said that since it was during the Depression, many people did not have much money and so the bicycle was second-hand, but as he said, it was a present. He believes that children in those days appreciated their gifts more because the only time they got presents was at Christmas, "and maybe their birthdays." Today's children, he opined, receive presents all year long and do not have to wait until Christmas.

Gordon Bristow, local entrepreneur, said that scale model replicas of World War I cannons were the gift that he liked most.

"There were five altogether, but I didn't get them at Christmas; I had to wait until about the third week in January because they didn't come in. I got them because at the time Mother thought I was going to go to West Point. I liked the lines of them—the huge wheels and the stark lines—like something out of 'Dr. Zhivago.' The snow with the stark dark lines of the cannons against the whiteness represented man's small victory over the idiotic environment into which we are born. They were very existentialist—I still have them."

Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena said that when he was 8 he received all the accessory parts with which to fix up his old bike, and that meant much to him.

"New tires, a little bell, new pedals, and some other things that I don't remember—this is the present I remember best."

The Rev. Harlan Birdwell, pastor at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, said, "My family was rather poor, and since there were eight children in the family we got only one present each. When I was 8, I received a white toy ambulance that was still operable the next Christmas."

Big Spring Police Chief Stanley Bogard said that a saddle that he received at the age of 13 impressed him most.

"I already had a horse, but I had to use a borrowed saddle. My parents gave it to me."

Sam Shultz, manager of Penney's, remembers a watch that he got from his mother.

"An old jewelry store was going out of business and was auctioning off their jewelry. I hassled my mom and buy a Bulova Curvex watch for me in November. She made me put it in the closet until Christmas so I used to sit in the closet and wear the watch. It was practically worn out by Christmas! I was about 12 or 13. Times have changed since then. Just the fact that you got a present at Christmas was a thrill; nowadays the thrill just isn't there. Kids get toys and presents whenever they want them."

Rick Hamby, District

Attorney, said that the best present he ever got as a child was a little red fire truck that he could get in and pedal around.

"I was about 4 or 5. No, I didn't want to be a fireman, I wanted to be an itinerant kamikazi pilot."

Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate liked best a black pony that he received from his parents when he was 9 years old. He said that at the time he lived on his parent's ranch at Moss Creek Lake. He doesn't remember the name of the pony.

Specialist defines arthritis, warns against 'miracle' cure

BY JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

There was a county-wide educational program on "Diet and Arthritis" today at 1:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The program, open to the public at no charge, was presented by Marilyn Haggard, Food and Nutrition Specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

What is arthritis? It's a disease that hits one out of every 4 families. Literally the word arthritis means "inflammation of a joint." Researchers have not yet been able to pinpoint the cause of arthritis.

The warning signs of arthritis are: persistent pain and stiffness upon arising; pain or tenderness in one or more joints; swelling in one or more joints; recurrence of

MARYLIN HAGGARD

If you think you may have some form of arthritis, see your doctor as soon as possible. Early diagnosis along with prompt and proper treatment is the key to control of the disease and prevention of crippling.

Each case of arthritis is, to a greater or lesser extent, different from all others. No single method of treatment is appropriate for all people. But prompt treatment can prevent many of the serious complications which may result if the disease is left to run its course.

Arthritis is a serious disease and not one which can be self-treated.

It is very likely that you or someone in your family will suffer from some degree of arthritis. It's also possible that you may fall for a quack cure or medication. Fraud's and rackets rob arthritis victims of over four hundred million dollars each year. This includes many intelligent and sensible people.

Arthritis symptoms may come and go. If they happen to disappear after taking a "miracle" cure, the victim may attribute his relief to the quack product.

The Arthritis Foundation offers the following clues to help identify quacks:

1. He may offer a "special" or "secret" formula or device for "curing" arthritis.
2. He advertises by using case histories and testimonials from satisfied "patients."

3. He may promise (or imply) a quick or easy cure.
4. He may claim to know the cause of arthritis and talk about cleansing your body of poisons and pepping up your health. He may say surgery, X-rays and drugs prescribed by a physician are unnecessary.

5. He may accuse the "medical establishment" of deliberately thwarting progress, or of persecuting him, but he doesn't let his method be tested in tried and proved ways.

Punch party, luncheon honor bride-to-be

A punch party honored Sue Garrett, bride-elect of Stan Partee, at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday afternoon.

The honoree and her mother, Dorothy Garrett, were presented corsages in the bride-elect's chosen color of apricot.

Flowers in an apricot shade graced the refreshment table which was laid in a printed pastel green cloth.

Silver and crystal appointments were used to serve Christmas punch and assorted holiday refreshments.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a crystal vase.

The hostesses included Barbara Anderson, Mildred Anderson, Mary Joy Cowper, Anna Marie Fish, Edith Gossett, Kate Irons, Maudine Kasch, Martha Keaton, Louise McAdams, Roberta Miller, Marilyn Newson, Frankie Powell, Myra Robinson, Nancy Thompson, Mattie Bell Tompkins and Joyce Weaver.

Around 180 women attended the event during the party hours between 2 and 4

TEN GUESTS ATTENDED a bridal luncheon Monday in honor of Sue Garrett, bride-elect of Stan Partee.

The luncheon took place in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Taylor 2800 Birdwell.

The table was laid with a cutwork cloth. A floral arrangement of apricot carnations, white mums and baby's breath centered the table. Gold leaf candlesticks were also placed on the table.

The hostess gift was a plant stand.

Special guests were the mothers of the bride and groom.

'One-sided' campaign

Aspirin ads pain FDA execs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is calling for a cease fire in a bitter advertising struggle between makers of aspirin and non-aspirin pain relievers.

FDA Commissioner Donald M. Kennedy has asked Sterling Drug Co., makers of Bayer aspirin, to stop a "one-sided" advertising campaign against Tylenol, the top selling aspirin substitute.

Bayer's broadcast and print advertisements quote an FDA news release and an FDA advisory panel that said Tylenol and other acetaminophen products are no safer than aspirin, and large doses of them can cause liver damage.

At the same time, Kennedy faulted Tylenol for taking statements about aspirin's safety out of context from the panel's report and not mentioning the potential liver damage problem from overdoses of Tylenol.

The Federal Trade Commission has jurisdiction over nonprescription drug ads. Kennedy wrote FTC Commissioner Michael Pertschuk last week, asking him to consider action against misleading ads in the $750 million a year market for over-the-counter pain killers.

"I'm concerned that the fierce competition among manufacturers of non-prescription drugs and their advertising battles currently being waged in the media are causing confusion that will ultimately result in erosion of public confidence in self-medication products," Kennedy told Pertschuk.

He wrote to Dr. J. Clark Wescoe, chairman of the board of Sterling, saying the Bayer ads "misrepresent the safety issue presented in the panel report and associate the FDA in what is clearly a one-sided presentation of that issue."

Ridin' fence

Watch the highway

with Marj Carpenter

Last week, I had the opportunity to ride the charter bus with a great group of Big Spring High School students to the volleyball finals in Austin.

They were a fun group of kids and they were good representatives of Big Spring and from several different ethnic groups... including my ethnic group which is nearly extinct (DIGS — that's Dutch-Irish-German-Scotch).

Part of the time I called the roll to see if all 48 of us were back on the bus. And one of the kids told my mother, "When Marj calls the roll, you listen and she comes down hard on being careful while walking across highways."

Sure, I do kids, 'cause I love you. And because four years ago today, I was hit by a pickup while walking across a city street. I ended up with two crushed vertebrae in the old back and a shattered wrist and a bunch of bruises, and a lot of time spent in an armcast and a back brace. And I'm lucky to be alive.

So I get kind of over-cautious about people crossing streets. The few weeks before Christmas are times when you can easily get smacked, because drivers are thinking about Decking the Halls and such things and also hunting that elusive parking slot to stop and shop. So, be careful out there, you all.

Anyway, it's easier to ride the bus with Marj, Janice Rosson and Craig Fischer than it was to ride the Wells Fargo Stage.

My friend Bill Fryrear sent me a set of rules from the Wells Fargo Company for stage riding in the good old days. He pointed out that in those days nobody worried too much about people's rights.

The rules went as follows: "Adherence to the Following Rules Will Insure a Pleasant Trip for All.

1. If ladies are present, gentlemen are urged to forego smoking cigars and pipes as the odor of same is repugnant to the Gentle Sex. Chewing tobacco is permitted, but spit WITH the wick, not against it.

2. Firearms may be kept on your person for use in emergencies. Do not fire them for pleasure or shoot at wild animals as the sound riles the horses.

3. Abstinence from liquor is requested, but if you must drink, share the bottle. To do otherwise makes you appear selfish and unneighborly.

4. Don't snore loudly while sleeping or use your fellow passenger's shoulder for a pillow; he (or she) may not understand and friction may result.

5. Buffalo robes are provided for your comfort during cold weather. Hogging robes will not be tolerated and the offender will be made to ride with the driver.

6. Gentlemen must refrain from the use of rough language in the presence of ladies and children.

7. Forbidden topics of discussion are stagecoach robberies and Indian uprisings.

8. In the event of runaway horses, remain calm.

Leaping from the coach in panic will leave you injured, at the mercy of the elements, hostile Indians and hungry coyotes.

9. Gents guilty of unchivalrous behavior toward lady passengers will be put off the stage. It's a long walk back."

And that's as it should be out where I ride fence.

Supreme Court gives media greater freedom from libel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today let stand a lower court's decision throwing out a $61,000 libel award against the New York Times and the National Audubon Society.

The justices refused to review a ruling by the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals characterized as "in every way a landmark" on the right to report serious charges against public figures.

The court's action sets no legal precedent, but courts in the 2nd Circuit, encompassing New York, Connecticut and Vermont, and elsewhere in the country, may rely on the appeals court reasoning in deciding future libel suits. If so, public figures could find it more difficult to succeed in such claims.

The case considered by the justices today centered on a 1972 article in the New York Times reporting that the Audubon Society had charged five prominent scientists with lying about the effects of pesticides on American birds.

The society long has been an outspoken opponent to the use of the pesticide DDT, claiming it is extremely harmful to birds.

Three of the scientists named in the Times article sued for libel, and were awarded $61,000 by a federal trial jury in early 1976.

Last May, however, the appeals court overturned the award.

It ruled: "What is newsworthy about such accusations is that they were made. We do not believe that the press may be required under the First Amendment to suppress newsworthy statements merely because it has serious doubts regarding their truth."

New York Times attorney Floyd Abrams said the court's ruling that "neutral" reporting is protected by the First Amendment "is in every way a landmark ruling."

"Until this case, no court had made as clear the proposition that when a journalist reports defamatory charges by one public figure against another there can be no liability, regardless of the journalist's own views about the accuracy of the charges," Abrams said.

The three scientists who appealed to the Supreme Court are J. Gordon Edwards, professor of entomology at San Jose State University; Thomas H. Jukes, professor of medical physics at the University of California at Berkeley; and Robert H. White-Stevens, professor of biology at Rutgers University.

Because their libel suit
